

Newest Pool

Set for opening Sunday is the new swimming pool at the Big Spring Country Club. The pool, now being completed, measures 60 feet by 30 feet and ranges in depth from three to nine feet. It is situated just east of the club building. A feature of the pool not shown is a fan-shaped patio which includes a wading pool for children. Rim of the pool is tiled, and floor and walls are painted blue.

Solons Fight Through Night On AEC Bill

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON (U)—Senate critics of the administration's atomic legislation fought on doggedly today through worn by an all-night session and beaten badly on a test vote which upheld President Eisenhower's order for a new private power plant in Arkansas.

Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) served notice he would keep the session—which began at 10 a.m. (EDT) yesterday—going right on into Sunday if necessary to pass the bill.

Knowland spoke of the long debate as a filibuster, but opponents denied they were trying to talk the measure to death.

They were plainly out, however, to dramatize the issue and build it up to importance in the election campaign. Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) told newsmen he would stump the nation to call "the people's attention to the capture of the Eisenhower administration by the private power trust."

At 10 a.m. (EDT)—the 24-hour mark of the session—Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) was in the midst of a speech he had begun at 5:16 a.m. Fewer than half a dozen senators were in their seats and one of the Senate's two women members, Sen. Bowring (R-Neb.), was presiding.

Many senators had remained close by through the night, however, napping on cots set up in cloakrooms or on couches in their offices. And through the night, there were always a few spectators in the public galleries.

The big test vote, taken before midnight, defeated 55-36 an attempt to block Eisenhower's order for a new private power plant in Arkansas. A second vote, 56-35, then clinched it by giving affirmative approval for the plan.

There seemed scant prospect of any final vote before late in the day at the earliest. Sen. Gore and Hill (D-Ala.) were definitely set to follow Morse with speeches. Others were expected also to want the floor.

Morse started with a 41-page prepared address which took him about three hours. When he finished with that, he referred to it as the "first part of this speech."

He was next going to "turn for the Eisenhower administration by the private power trust."

At 10 a.m. (EDT)—the 24-hour mark of the session—Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) was in the midst of a speech he had begun at 5:16 a.m. Fewer than half a dozen senators were in their seats and one of the Senate's two women members, Sen. Bowring (R-Neb.), was presiding.

Many senators had remained close by through the night, how-which Congress thus far has refused to provide funds.

A group of Democratic senators, with the support of Sen. Cooper (R-Ky.), Langer (R-Ind.) and Morse (Ind-Ore), assailed the proposal as costly and as a move to undermine TVA. Administration backers called it the cheapest way to obtain power needed in the area.

Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday that anyone who says he is seeking to destroy TVA is in error—to put it mildly.

After defeat of the Anderson proposal, the Senate adopted a rival amendment by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) specifically to authorize AEC contract with the private power group. Voice vote approval was clinched on a 56-35 rollcall.

Disposition of that issue still left the 104-page administration bill to overhaul drastically the 1946 Atomic Energy Act. In the main, the bill would permit the government to furnish overseas allies with limited data on the use of atomic weapons and would permit private industry to help develop peaceful atomic power.

No one claimed to know when a vote would come on the bill, which has not yet been considered by the House.

There were objections that the bill would lead to a monopoly by a few firms in the atomic power field. Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) proposed to authorize the AEC to produce commercial power. The bill would permit AEC to sell only power which was a by-product of research plants.

Seriously Burned Lubbockite Seldom Smiles In Hospital

DALLAS (U)—Don Kemp, 25, Lubbock patient at Baylor Hospital here, still smiles, but not often.

Kemp was critically burned March 30 when the metal rig of an irrigation well drilling machine tangled in a power transmission line on a farm near Shallowater in West Texas. His partner, Robert Ayers, 18, of Lubbock was killed.

Kemp, father of three, was burned so badly that both legs and most of one arm had to be amputated. The other arm is all but useless.

Doctors said today it would be a month or two before he can leave the hospital. He is undergoing physical therapy treatments in preparation for artificial limbs.

"It's happened to guys before—but it still hits you pretty hard when it happens to you," Kemp said.

Kemp says he may try to use his workmen's compensation to go to school or set up a business "but I'm not sure I could even do that."

His wife, Larue, spends most of her time with him. Both are looking forward to a return to their children, Ronnie, 5; Karen, 3; and Kathryn, 2, in Lubbock.

At Least Three Die In Fireworks Blast

CRANBURY, N.J. (U)—State police said at least three persons were killed and three seriously injured in an explosion and fire at the Unexcelled Chemical Co. fireworks plant today.

At least eight persons were treated at the scene.

The blast, heard two miles away and followed by a mushroom-shaped white cloud, blew up a galvanized iron building and knocked another smaller structure off its foundation.

The victims were believed to have been working in the wrecked building.

Howard-Glasscock Reunion Plans All Set For Friday

All is in readiness for the annual Howard-Glasscock Old Settlers Reunion which gets under way at 10 a.m. Friday in City Park, Nath Allen, president of the reunion association, reported today.

Fires will be started tonight, and early Friday enough meat to feed 1,000 people will be placed over the coals.

On the schedule for the day, in addition to individual visiting, is a round of activities including a talk by Rep. Obie Bristow, the introduction of political candidates, an old fiddlers' contest, and a Friday night dance at the Hoyle Nix Hall northeast of Big Spring.

The election of officers also will take place during the afternoon.

Bristow's talk is scheduled for 11:45 a.m. Dinner, including beef and goat barbecue, red beans, onions, son-of-a-gun stew, pickles, iced tea and coffee, will be served at noon.

Candidates of both Howard and Glasscock Counties will be introduced, starting at 1:30 p.m., and each will be permitted to talk for one minute. The fiddlers' contest will follow this phase of the program.

Master of ceremonies will be Lum Harris. Allen serves as "foreman and head chef" for arrangements for the reunion. He is assisted by L. C. Matthews, Ben Schaffer, Harris, J. M. Calvin, A. Knappe, Rip Bailey, Kelly Burns, Dr. U. E. Wolfe, John Masters and others, in charge of arrangements for the dance are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Choate.

Officers for the association, in addition to Allen, are Ben Schaffer, vice president; Mrs. Dick Sides, secretary-treasurer; and Joe Hayden and Temp Currie Jr., finance committee chairman.

Latest contributions to the reunion fund include those from Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wasson, $20; H. R. Hayden, Tom Currie, C. C. Coffey, A. J. Stallings, Alden Ryan, Dr. C. W. Deats, E. E. Brindley, R. G. Wilson Estate and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wilson, each $5; A. M. Burns, $2.50; and Mrs. L. N. Thornton, $2.

Wentz Declares Insurance Firms Basically Sound

Nothing is basically wrong with the insurance industry, Mark Wentz, state fire insurance commissioner, told more than a score of underwriters here Thursday morning.

"It is difficult for any of us to reconcile any contention that our insurance companies are not good companies and that all companies are bad simply because of a failure of a few," he declared. "It is no great secret that a successful business is usually the result of sound internal management—that and little else—and reverses are the results of faulty and unsound internal management."

Wentz, for more than 20 years a Big Spring resident and who was named to succeed the late Paul Brown recently, was making his first visit home since assuming the duties of his office. While in this area he plans to be at Midland and Odessa during the day and at Lubbock and El Paso Friday. He will spend the weekend at home before returning to Austin.

Reasonable men, he told underwriters, cannot believe that simply because the Board of Insurance Commissioners cracks down on companies conceived in fraud that the insurance business is in a "mess."

"The board will always attempt, with all the power at its command, to protect the public and the insurance business in Texas from fraudulent operations," Wentz declared. "We have acted in the past and we shall continue to act whenever and wherever it is deemed necessary for the protection of the public or any segment of the industry. The board is charged by law with the duty of intervening in those cases when the financial failure of any insurance institution appears imminent. If any doubt is cast upon this, then all of us can only assume that the basis of criticism is simply that we are discharging the duties of the very laws which we have sworn to uphold."

Following his talk at the Settles, Wentz visited informally with life, fire and casualty underwriters and others who attended the meeting.

House Nixes Postal Rate Increase Plan

WASHINGTON (U)—House members, after rebuffing the Eisenhower administration's bid for higher postal rates, voted today to force before adjournment action on a controversial pay raise for half a million Post Office employees.

Administration leaders lost out yesterday in an all-or-nothing effort to pass a one-package bill to boost postage charges by 233 million a year and postal workers' pay by 5 per cent.

Brought up under procedure requiring a two-thirds majority for approval, the measure mustered a 228-171 vote, 38 short of the needed majority.

Immediately, enough members signed a petition to force out of a committee pigeonhole an administration-opposed bill to raise postal salaries 7 per cent. Such a petition needs 218 signatures. A majority of the 435 House members.

Rep. Corbett (R-Pa.), author of the 7 per cent bill, told newsmen this insures action on a pay bill.

Unless GOP leaders decide to go along, however, there was doubt that the bill could be brought to the floor before Congress adjourns. Under House rules, it could not be considered before Aug. 9, and Congress is shooting for adjournment by July 31.

Boy, 12, Is Held In Death Of Girl

ALBANY, N.Y. (U)—A 12-year-old boy was held today in the blue-eyed slaying of a sweet-faced 8-year-old girl whom he never had known.

State Police said Gerald Savate admitted killing Gerald Bonnette Dallaire into the cellar of a partly built house yesterday, then choking her and beating her on the head with a rock and a length of pipe.

"I was seized by an idea that came into my head, and I blacked out," police said the boy told them.

What the idea was, police did not learn. They said the boy, an eighth-grader, had not tried to mistreat Bonnette sexually.

Banks To Close For Saturday's Election

Banks will be closed Saturday on the occasion of the Democratic primary.

During the day, the statutes provide that no beer or liquor can be dispensed. The Texas Liquor Control Board district offices here reminded that package stores must remain closed until 8 p.m., one hour after polls close. No beer may be dispensed until 8 p.m., an hour after polls have closed.

Allies Agree To Hold Meet On Asian Pact

Formal Call To Be Forthcoming Soon

WASHINGTON (U)—The United States, Britain and other friendly nations have agreed to call an international conference late next month to write a defensive alliance designed to protect the non-Communist lands of Southeast Asia against Communist conquest.

Highly placed diplomatic authorities said an announcement of the meeting is expected shortly.

The agreement was reached, these officials said, among Secretary of State Dulles, Undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith, British Foreign Secretary Eden and others at Geneva after it became certain that the fighting in Indochina would be ended by negotiated peace with the Communists.

LOVE FOR DOGS COSTS BOY LIFE

DETROIT (U)—Little Joey Bednar's love for dogs cost his life today.

The 6-year-old youngster could not have a dog of his own because he was allergic to dog hair, but he still loved the animals.

When a neighbor found a stray dog last night and locked it in his garage until he could determine who owned it, Joey wanted to make sure the dog did not go hungry. The boy climbed up on an overturned barrel and peeked in through an open window to make sure the dog was all right.

The window dropped suddenly, breaking Joey's neck.

Builder Says FHA Urged His Profits

WASHINGTON (U)—A Los Angeles builder told investigating senators today that Federal Housing Administration officials taught builders exactly how to profit from a postwar government-backed housing program without putting up "any capital."

The witness, Arthur B. Weber, said he couldn't remember the name of the FHA man he said came from Washington to tell him and other builders how to make money from the government program.

Weber, testifying under oath, said that he cleared $87,543 on two projects and later sold his interest in them for an additional profit of $125,000.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), chairman of the Senate Banking Committee which is conducting the housing investigation, asked Weber: "Do you feel that you were promoted in this" by the FHA?

Weber replied: "There is no question about that. Frankly, I wish we had never seen them. We acted in good faith. Our hands were tied."

Court-Martial Set To Open Today On Ft. Dix Charges

PT. DIX, N.J. (U)—Lt. Robert S. Morgan of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., goes on trial by a special court-martial today on a charge of forcing a company of trainees to stand at attention in 90-degree heat.

The charges against Morgan, 28, and a sergeant followed an Army investigation into the June 21 incident.

As soon as Morgan's case is concluded, a new panel will sit to consider the charges against Sgt. Richard J. Witbeck, 24, of Wellington, Ohio.

Both have been accused of taking mass disciplinary action against Co. L of the 272nd Infantry Regiment. Several of the trainees were said to have fainted.

Morgan and Witbeck were relieved of their duties after the incident.

County Finishing Work On East 2nd

County workers are completing excavation and fill work on the portion of East Second Street outside the city limits, Joe Barbee, county road foreman, reported today.

Some excavation also has been made inside the city limits, but work on the city's portion of the street is being delayed by the necessity of changing the routing of a portion of the new street. All right-of-way was secured, but a change in routing to eliminate a sharp curve necessitated negotiations for a different strip of land.

County workers have made a cut into a hill adjacent to the east city limits, using the material to "fill" the lowlands area eastward to Birdwell Lane. A culvert has been constructed near the east end of the new street, and a smaller culvert still must be constructed nearer the city limits, Barbee said.

Candidates Rap Others' Stands

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

Candidates gathered their forces Thursday for a final two-day assault to capture Saturday's primary voters.

Gov. Shivers was due in Conroe, Huntsville and Dallas Thursday and at Dallas, Victoria and on to his Woodville home Friday. His opponent, Ralph Yarborough of Austin, planned four statewide radio talks and two television appearances in two days.

Both candidates received endorsement of prominent Texans in the campaign's fading hours. Both attempted to inject new issues. Both hurled new charges.

An important sidelight to the campaign—selection of convention delegates and their strength—posed a problem for the State Supreme Court.

The court indicated Wednesday it might not rule at all in the intra-party Democratic controversy.

The question was: Shall all the votes cast for Shivers for governor in 1952 be used in computing convention strength, or just the Democratic votes?

Shivers, in Houston Wednesday, called Yarborough's utterance that funds were being collected to steal votes in East Texas "wild, insulting and ridiculous."

Yarborough said Shivers helped put over what he called a "phony" natural gas tax law. Yarborough said at Athens Wednesday night: "The Supreme Court held this natural gas law unconstitutional and according to the press, my opponent said...of the decision that it did not come as a surprise."

"In other words he helped put over a phony tax law and he made no effort to pass a substitute at a special session."

Shivers struck at Yarborough's "vote-stealing" statements in radio and television speeches.

"He has slandered all the people of East Texas," the governor said. "He has insinuated that all of the county officials and the election judges in East Texas are dishonest."

MAN GIVES SELF UP

Texarkana Police Chief Doubts 'Phantom Killer' Suspect Guilty

TEXARKANA, Ark. (U)—Police Chief Max Tackett said today he doesn't believe a man identified as Robert Martin Chandler of Stamps, Ark., is the "phantom killer of Texarkana."

Tackett said Chandler is being held in Miller County Jail, and police are still investigating his story. But the chief added the story appears unreal to him.

Detective Capt. Wayne Bateman said at Shreveport last night a man who identified himself as the "phantom killer of Texarkana" yesterday surrendered to police because "my conscience was bothering me."

Bateman identified the man as Robert Martin Chandler, 36, of Stamps, Ark.

The man's arms, Bateman said, were scarred from the finger tips to the shoulders. Chandler told officers he had punished himself for the crimes by burning his arms with cigarettes, Bateman explained.

Bateman said the crimes which Chandler said he committed involved the brutal beating of one couple, and the killing of five other persons. Another person, shot after her husband had been killed, recovered.

For weeks after a second double slaying in 1946, Texarkana blacked out and called a voluntary curfew which kept everyone off the streets at night.

No charges were filed.

Texas Rangers have been working on the case continuously, Deputy Sheriff Tillman Johnson, left Texarkana as soon as they were informed of the man's "confession."

Bateman said the suspect was a "weird-looking" giant weighing about 225 pounds and more than six feet tall.

The man said he committed the crimes while he was a soldier at Searles Field in Shreveport. He is married and has a daughter, 15, by a previous marriage.

Bateman said the man told him that he killed the first couple on a road leading into Texas.

"All I got out of that was a lousy 27 bucks," he said. He denied having raped the girl but said, "I messed with her a little bit. I didn't hurt her much."

He told Bateman he killed a younger couple later and that he mutilated the body of the girl "pretty badly." He said that he attended the funeral of the younger girl and went to her house.

He said he knew the girl's mother's first name.

He said that he also killed a man on Highway 67 and that he

Ruling Asked On Disposition Of Justice Fees

An opinion has been asked of the attorney general concerning disposition of fees earned in Justice Court here.

Lee Porter, county auditor, said he had asked for such an opinion.

"I understand that a statement has been circulated to the effect that fees of the justice of peace of Precinct No. 1, place No. 2 had not been turned in. The justice of peace has turned in all moneys requested of him. I had allowed the justice of peace to retain his fees because of my interpretation of the law."

"At the time the justice of peace Precinct No. 1, place No. 2 was created, each of two justices of peace in one precinct could be allowed up to $2,400 per year."

"The county pays $2,400 per annum ex officio salary to justice of peace Precinct No. 1, place No. 1, and $600 per annum salary to justice of peace Precinct No. 1, place No. 2. My interpretation of the law has been that if the justice of peace Precinct No. 1, place No. 2 could earn in fees of office up to the maximum of $2,400 per annum as allowed by law, he would be entitled to retain fees up to but not to exceed that amount."

"At my request the county attorney has asked the attorney general for an opinion to see if the correct interpretation has been made. In view of this, the justice of peace has stated that if any error has been made in allowing him to retain fees, he stands ready to turn such fees over to this office."

Young Pedestrian Hurt In Accident

Paul Darrow, who was struck by a car Wednesday evening at the intersection of 3rd and Benton, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Big Spring Hospital.

The youth suffers from a fractured leg, lacerations, and abrasions, according to hospital attendants. He reportedly had a good night's rest.

Young Darrow was hit by a car shortly after 5 p.m. yesterday. He was going across Benton in an easterly direction. The car, headed north, was driven by Glenda Adams, 16, of Gail Road, police records show.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Darrow Sr., 609 West 17th. He was taken to the hospital in an Eberley-River ambulance.

Boys Nation Part Set

Rhee Heads To U.S. Saturday To See Ike

By MURRAY FROMSON

SEOUL (U) — Stubborn old President Syngman Rhee leaves Saturday for Washington, probably to be told that there is almost no hope of realizing his fondest dream — a Republic of Korea embracing the Communist-ruled north.

Ostensibly the 78-year-old President is going to Washington to discuss a new unification policy with President Eisenhower, since the Geneva conference failed. And publicly he still rails the South Korea's 22 million people with the cry "go north."

But an informed government source says privately Rhee has all but abandoned hope of seeing this divided and war-shattered peninsula reunited before he dies.

President Eisenhower's Far East advisers almost certainly have told him that North Korea must be written off as a loss to the Communists, observers here say.

Intelligence reports from North Korea indicate Red China has turned the area into a vassal state, tied tightly to Peking both politically and economically.

If unification is all but a dead issue, the agenda for the top level Washington talks slated to open Monday will include the urgent need of pumping more vigor into South Korea's economy and strengthening its army.

Rhee is expected to demand a greater voice in the spending of U.S. millions on Korean rehabilitation. And there have been reports that Eisenhower would approve a buildup of the 20-division ROK Army.

Eisenhower has called in some of his top experts on Korea for conferences before Rhee's arrival.

Eisenhower is expected to seek additional advice from Gen. James A. Van Fleet, who just completed a three-month survey of U.S. military assistance programs in Korea, Japan, Formosa and the Philippines.

Van Fleet, former commander of the 8th Army in Korea, is known as the father of the modern ROK Army.

No one here will predict the outcome of the important talks in Washington, but all agree that Eisenhower will go into the sessions thoroughly briefed on South Korea's varied and troublesome problems.

Death Ends Partnership Of Linemen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U) — Death, high on a utility pole on a storm-swept country road, has ended the 30-year partnership of two veteran electric linemen.

Sixty-eight-year-old Reber Brown lost his last fight to save his buddy, Harry Finks, 69.

Finks was on a pole near Reese Station early yesterday, repairing broken lines during a thunderstorm, when a swinging wire sent 5,900 volts of electricity through his body.

Brown called for help on the repair truck radio. Then he climbed the slippery, wind-tossed pole to his partner's dangling body and tried to give him artificial respiration. When help arrived Finks was taken to a hospital. He was dead when he got there.

Finks and Brown were well known as team of linemen in Central Ohio where they worked for the Ohio Midland Light and Power Co.—Finks for nearly half a century, Brown for 30 years.

They both were eligible for retirement and had "planned to quit but somehow never quite got around to it."

They had had their brushes with death before. About a year ago, Finks got some "pretty bad burns." Brown was hurt last month when his spurs slipped and drove his shoulder against a pole.

Both times, one helped the other to safety.

But now that Finks is gone, Brown says he is retiring.

"That was my last day," he says. "I'm not going back any more."

Price Belgium Gets For Its Uranium Ore Political Issue

By JOHNNY SWAELENS

BRUSSELS, Belgium (U) — Belgium rules the greatest uranium-producing area in the world—the Belgian Congo—and the price she is getting for the atomic ore is a hot political issue at home.

No one outside top government officials knows what that price is. Almost everyone else, from the Communists to extreme right wingers, is convinced it is far too low. And the government is accused of virtually giving away the precious ore to the United States and Britain.

The Communists are attempting to play the touchy subject both ways. In Belgium, they stand as defenders of the nation's interests against "American imperialism."

In the Congo, they pose as crusaders for independence of the natives.

Much of the government's difficulty arises from the secret agreements under which the ore is sold to the United States and Britain. The agreements were first signed in 1944. Their terms have been altered somewhat in post-war years, but some top Belgian political leaders still have expressed dissatisfaction with certain provisions.

Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak has run into opposition even within his own Socialist party. Sen. Henri Rolin, a leader of the "Socialist Movement for Peace," said the agreements "which were concluded without the Parliament having been informed are evidently in conflict with the constitution."

"Theoretically," Sen. Rolin added, "the Congo uranium mines are private property but, in fact, it is the Belgian state which signs contracts with Great Britain and the United States."

An indication of the financial return on the operation can be gained from financial statements of the Union Miniere de Haut Katanga, one of the big uranium-producing outfits. Its shares have nearly doubled in price—from $370 to $722 since 1945.

The company declared a $29 dividend in 1953, $4 higher than the previous year. This compared with a dividend in 1945 of $4.

Runaway Crane Hits Automobile In Tulsa

TULSA, Okla. (U) — A 20-ton crane rolled madly down 15th Street for seven blocks yesterday before it smashed into a car and then backed to a stop four feet inside of a drugstore.

The crane's operator, E. J. McKenzie, stayed with his vehicle. He said the brakes failed. He passed about 20 cars.

He maneuvered through traffic but couldn't avoid hitting a car owned by M. L. Stirling, who suffered a concussion and bruises. The automobile was demolished.

RANDALL SHERROD For SHERIFF

Randall Sherrod can and will do the job like it ought to be done.

Randall Sherrod will express his thanks by doing the best that is in him.

Randall Sherrod has the strength, experience and courage of convictions to make you a good sheriff.

(Pd. Pol. Adv.)

I want to thank voters of Precinct No. 3 for the opportunity they gave me two years ago to serve as commissioner. Although I have done my best to see all of you, I know that is impossible, but I do want you to consider this a personal appeal for your support.

Through your cooperation, Howard County has in the last few years made real progress. You have a new courthouse which will be even more attractive and useful when landscaping and access plans are completed. You have provided funds for the free-way through part of the county after regular tax funds were applied as far as they would go. In all things the commissioners court has done its best to get greatest values for your money and at the same time go forward. If you will re-elect me, I will continue to work hard for an honest, fair and economical administration.

ENID, Okla. (U) — A popular bunch of civilians arrived at Vance Air Force Base yesterday. They are the advance guard of Nationwide Food Services Inc., a Chicago catering firm, which will do KP at Vance on an experimental basis for 11 months beginning Aug. 1. Nationwide, under the contract, will furnish all kitchen police and cooks while the Air Force furnishes the food and equipment. This is the Defense Department's first such experiment to determine whether private contractors can do the job cheaper than the military.

Miss South Carolina Is Named Miss U.S.A.; Miss Texas Fifth

By JAMES BACON
LONG BEACH, Calif. (U) — Miss South Carolina, a Dixie coed who is all woman, today is the new Miss U.S.A.

Miriam Stevenson, 21-year-old college senior from Winnsboro, S. C., won last night over 45 other entrants for the title which will pit her against 32 foreign beauties for the Miss Universe crown.

Miss Stevenson's first words to newspapermen after she won were: "I can't believe it."

Asked if she knew she would have to lose her Southern accent now that she has won a movie contract with Universal-International Studio, she answered: "Sho nuff."

Of voluptuous build, the wholesome-looking winner has perfect measurements: 36-inch bust and hips and 24-inch waist. Her 120 pounds are well distributed over a 5-foot-6 frame.

She had come here without luggage except for an evening gown which she had designed herself and a bathing suit which contest officials gave her. That was all she needed.

Her luggage, lost on an airliner that brought her here last week, hasn't caught up with her yet. She scored heavily in the bathing suit and evening gown competitions but it was her naturalness and humor in the pose and personality talk that won her the judges' nod.

Contestants were asked to give a brief speech on "the most important thing in my life." Miss South Carolina brought down the house when she told the big crowd at Municipal Auditorium that the most important thing in "mah life was to get mah luggage back."

Runners-up in the contest were in this order: Miss Virginia, Ellen Whitehead, an 18-year-old Chatham, Va., brunette; Miss New York State, Karin Hultman, 22, of Rochester; Miss New York City, Renee Roy, 23-year-old actress, and Miss Texas, 20-year-old Betty Lee of Austin, one of the tallest girls in the contest.

Miss Virginia, who gave the winner stiff competition, took her loss cheerfully and said, "It went to the prettier girl."

Miss South Carolina is a senior at Lander College in Greenwood, S. C. She is a major in home economics and can cook and sew. She wants to get married but says she wants to take a crack at a movie contract.

She also wins a new convertible, plus a number of other prizes.

Tonight she and the foreign beauties will go through preliminaries of the Miss Universe contest. Judging will last late into the night, with the finals tomorrow night.

West Germans To Finish Autobahn Highway Network

BONN, Germany (U) — Bustling West Germany is preparing to complete a job Hitler left unfinished 13 years ago. It will finish the famed autobahn—superhighway—network in a seven-year construction program costing $304,640,000.

Hitler started the road-building project in 1933 as a military invasion route to Poland, Austria and France. He built 2,100 miles of autobahns. West Germany inherited 1,450 miles. Now in an effort to spur trade and travel, it will extend the system to Swiss and Belgian frontiers, and fill gaps in the route linking the North Sea with the Alps.

Seven main stretches totaling 368 miles will be built. Construction will be financed in part by heavier taxes on large trucks and on gasoline and diesel oil.

The autobahns are Europe's finest roads. A 14-foot strip of grass separates the double lanes. There are no telephone or telegraph lines or billboards. The autobahns bypass cities. There are no intersections and no speed limits except those established by the military for occupation personnel.

'Problem' Drivers In New York Face Sessions In Class

NEW YORK (U) — From now on, the city's problem drivers are going to get "the works" the scientific way.

Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh said yesterday that all persistent traffic violators will be given a choice — six sessions of a night driving school and a sentence based on their performance there—or a heavy sentence on the spot.

Murtagh said the new school, scheduled to open Oct. 1, will give the drivers "everything," including psychiatric examinations, driving lessons and safety lectures.

The problem drivers, Murtagh explained, are "the ones who keep having accidents, who are chronic speeders, who keep running through red lights."

Aged Bride, Groom Prepare To Marry

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (U) — An 83-year-old bride-to-be stared straight at the future today and remarked: "Youth may be . . . golden . . . but the real treasures are when and where you find them."

She is Lillie Mertz. Possibly she was referring to her prospective husband, Charles Boyer, 73.

Deer Invade Army Electronics Post

FT. HUACHUCA, Ariz. (U) — Invaders are causing consternation at this Army electronics proving ground.

Brig. Gen. Emil Lenzner, commanding officer, called in experts from the State Game and Fish Commission for help.

He told them herds of deer are coming down from the mountains each night to eat the newly planted shrubbery and lawns at the post.

Chief Sorrells, chief law enforcement officer for the commission, said the Army post is "the greenest spot in the country, and it's been dry up in the mountains."

Sorrells suggested: "Wait until the rains bring out the mountain grass. Then the deer will stay home."

Senate-House Joint Panel Okays Tax Bill

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (U) — Republican leaders today predicted final congressional approval, possibly next week, for the biggest tax overhaul program in 15 years.

A House-Senate conference committee late yesterday agreed on a compromise version of the big bill to cut taxes next year for millions of individuals and many business firms a total of about $1,363,000,000.

President Eisenhower has hailed the plan as the cornerstone of his entire domestic program, predicting it would encourage business growth, remove scores of inequities and lead to more and better jobs.

But Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) served notice today he would renew, when the measure returns to the Senate for final action, a running fight many Democrats have waged against one provision in the bill—a cut in income taxes on dividends received by corporation stockholders.

On this politically touchy issue, the conference committee agreed to permit taxpayers to deduct their first $50 of dividend income. In addition, they could subtract 4 per cent of their remaining dividends directly from the tax bill they otherwise would pay. A man with $10,000 income from dividends could get a tax cut of slightly more than $400.

This was a compromise between a more liberal House plan which would have allowed a deduction of $100 and a tax credit of 10 per cent on dividend income; and a more restricted Senate provision which would have permitted only the $50 exclusion. The compromise version is expected to cost the Treasury about 204 million dollars the first year and $63 million annually when it takes full effect.

The bill, running almost 1,000 pages, revamps almost every tax law on the books, at least technically. However it does not change major rates.

It permits scores of new or bigger deductions for medical expenses, child-care expenses, dependents who make more than $500, sick benefits, soil conservation outlays, and other items.

Both Senate and House Republican leaders forecast easy approval next week.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) of the Senate Finance Committee said in an interview the compromise is "an excellent bill." He predicted a Senate okay when the bill gets on the crowded Senate calendar.

Sen. George (D-Ga.), senior Democrat on the Finance Committee, said the final bill has "many good features and many dubious ones, but the good outweighs the bad. On the whole, it's a very good bill."

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), who got a 75-15 Senate vote for his amendment to strike out much of the House-approved dividend tax cut, said the dividend compromise "doesn't sound too good from where I'm sitting." But he wouldn't commit himself to lead a new fight.

Douglas, however, said the percentage tax cut on dividends is "a special privilege to only 1 per cent of the population."

The conference committee in its final actions knocked out of the bill a House-approved plan to cut taxes about 147 million dollars a year on income earned by corporations on their operations abroad.

The committee also struck out an amendment by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) which would have eliminated the tax exemption granted to charitable or educational foundations if they made any grants to suspected subversives. Such giant enterprises as the Rockefeller, Ford and Carnegie foundations argued this could wreck their operations.

Greek Beauties Meet

Rica Dailina (right), Greece's original entry in the Miss Universe contest, is greeted upon her arrival Wednesday in Long Beach, Calif., by Effie Ardoulakakis, her temporary replacement while Rica sought to overcome her visa difficulties. Secretary of State Dulles personally intervened to help her get the visa which had been held up because she once illustrated a book written by a Communist poet. Effie retired from the contest after learning Rica was coming after all. (AP Wirephoto).

'Middling Size' Vote Total Appears Probable Saturday

A vote of at least middling size appears to be shaping up for Saturday.

In two places, there are predictions of a larger vote even than in the record 1952 presidential election. In most places, the turnout is bound to be considerably smaller—but still not what you would call a "light" vote.

There is no chance of a total vote even approaching that of the 1952 general election, when 2,077,846 Texans cast ballots only 1,600,000 poll taxes having been paid.

"Not over a million is my wild guess," said Robert Johnson, head of the Texas Election Bureau, an unofficial vote-counting agency.

That could be described as a moderate turnout by normal Texas standards. Before the 1952 record, the high total was 1,356,000 votes, and these were cast in July when, as now, there was keen interest in the race for governor between Gov. Shivers and Ralph Yarborough.

One place where the vote is expected to exceed that cast in 1952 is Victoria in South Texas. Registration in Victoria County totals 9,246 compared to a previous high of 9,145 in 1952. County Democratic Chairman Gene Houchins predicts a turnout of 8,000 to 8,500. There were 7,441 votes cast in 1952. Eight local contests attract many voters.

Another county where local contests and interest in the governor's race are expected to bring a new record is Lamar in North Texas. The Paris News reported 12,000 persons could vote in the county and at least 11,000 probably will. The vote two years ago was 9,460.

At Fort Worth, County Clerk Mel Faulk said after the absentee ballot closing that 1,226 voters had appeared in person to mark their choices and 443 ballots had been received by mail. Two years ago, a total of 1,553 absentee ballots set the old record.

Absentee ballots cast at Waco also set a record for McLennan County. A total of 725 has been marked up, as compared to a final total of 688 in 1952.

Smith County and Tyler had marked up a primary election absentee record of 894 votes. The previous record was 749 in 1952.

A record 2,917 absentee ballots have been cast for the Democratic and Republican primaries in Harris County. W. D. Miller, county clerk, said at Houston 2,824 Democratic and 93 Republican ballots had been cast by the deadline.

Miller said he expected about 122,000 of the county's 220,000 eligible voters to cast ballots Saturday. Here's how the vote appears to shape up in some other sections:

Dallas—Politicians forecast a turnout of 60,000 to 75,000 voters. El Paso—Estimates range from 15,000 to 19,000 votes. The total in 1952 was slightly over 19,000.

Lubbock—Robert Dennis, chairman of the Lubbock County Democratic Executive Committee, estimated 15,000 would vote. That would represent roughly 80 per cent of the county's strength. Lubbock County cast 27,787 votes in 1952.

Wicinita Falls — County Clerk Dora Davis estimated the vote would be less than half the 1952 total.

Sherman—The Grayson County Democratic chairman estimated the vote at 13,000 to 14,000 in a potential 18,000-vote county.

Borger—Hutchinson County has 8,000 eligible voters, as compared to 13,000 in 1952, when 10,500 votes were cast. About 7,000 votes are expected this year because of interest in races for two county commissioner's posts.

Amarillo—John McCarty, Potter County Democratic chairman, predicted the primary vote would be about 70 per cent of the total in the primary two years ago, when about 7,000 votes were cast.

I want to thank you for the fine support you gave me two years ago. Although I do not have an opponent, I will appreciate every vote in Saturday's primary election. I will continue to fill the office to the best of my ability.

Family Keeps Vigil After Suicide Pact

NEW YORK (U)—The family of 19-year-old Helene Jacobs kept a vigil today as the shapely brunette remained unconscious following a mystery suicide pact with another girl.

Her companion, Madeline Jean Sommer, also 19 and a beautiful blonde, was found dead yesterday in the East Side art gallery-apartment where the girls turned on gas after a night of wine drinking.

Both girls, clad only in scanty night clothes, left farewell notes. Miss Jacobs still groaned when the building superintendent broke into the apartment. She was taken to Roosevelt Hospital where her condition appeared improving.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jacobs of Chicago, and an uncle, Philip Goodman, flew to New York late in the day after police notified them.

As Mrs. Jacobs, her eyes brimmed with tears, stepped off the plane, her first words were "is she dead?"

Meanwhile, police had questioned relatives of the dead girl, who had been missing for a week from her Bergenfield, N.J., home.

Two days ago the Missing Person Mrs. Irene Sommer, her wid-look for Madeline, who was described as having had "suicidal tendencies."

Mrs. Irene Sommer, her widowed mother; Miss Judy Sommer, a sister, and another relative, Frank J. Vaglah, of Scarsdale, N.Y., were questioned by police.

Madeline did not explain why she wanted to kill herself. All she left was a terse note asking that her mother be notified.

Helene, however, left a lengthy letter, which said in part: "Today I die. Not as casually as I should, but then I've always been spasmodically violent anyway. I died simply enough because I haven't enough life within me to nourish myself through long, long years. Be as kind to yourselves as you have ever been to me and be as kind to yourselves as I have been to you. Love Mark and listen to him."

Mrs. Jacobs, who was given the note, explained tearfully that "Mark" was the girl's brother, who was in Chicago and "all right."

Helene had been attending summer classes at Columbia University. The combination art gallery apartment on East 8th Street off 5th Avenue was lent to her for the summer by the management of the Rose Fried Gallery. Miss Rose Fried, who operates it, now is vacationing in Europe. She is a friend of the Jacobs family.

Miss Jacobs' father is a prominent Chicago labor lawyer.

To The Voters Of Precinct No. 1:

I have endeavored to contact each of you, but in case I have missed you, please consider this a sincere appeal for your vote and influence. Through your cooperation during my administration Howard County has made real progress. With a new Courthouse, Farm-to-Market roads, Fourth Street and now the Free-Will in the process of being built, I am keenly interested in the welfare of my Precinct and Howard County. If you feel that it is Democratic for me to be re-elected for a second term as your County Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, I will administer the County's business in a fair and impartial manner.

Elect A Full Time Worker

Voters in Precinct No. 2:

I have no other business therefore I will devote FULL TIME to the office of county commissioner. This office is much too important to be just a side line. The county commissioner's office pays a salary adequate to live on therefore the office is entitled to a full time public servant.

I have had eight years experience in commissioners' court procedure, four years of which was as county judge in Winkler County and four years as county commissioner here in Precinct No. 2, several years ago.

I have always been in favor of the county unit plan road department with a competent road engineer to be employed by Howard County at all times. I will co-operate to give Howard County a business administration.

I will sincerely appreciate your votes and your influence. Respectfully submitted,

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Beads were given as rewards for the best shots of the young Indians.

When the weather grew cold, Lewis and Clark and their men decided to build cabins for themselves. They were in an area which now makes up part of the state of North Dakota. The Mandan Indians lived in the section.

Work was started on the cabins in early November. Soon there were visitors—a French fur trader and his Indian wife, along with their infant child. This little family group lived in a Mandan village across the river. When they were invited to dwell with the white men, the father and mother accepted gladly.

The cabins were built from logs of ash, elm and cottonwood trees. While the work was going on, Mandan Indians brought food. One day the whites received buffalo meat, on another corn and on a third venison.

The weather in December became bitterly cold. On a Monday the thermometer read 11 degrees below zero. On Tuesday it was 21 below, and on Wednesday 38 below. The next two days were less bitter, but on Saturday the temperature plunged to 40 degrees below zero.

During the intensely cold weather, the white men stayed inside their cabins most of the time. If the temperature rose to a little above zero, a hunting party was likely to set out. Buffaloes were the chief game, and there was good cheer in camp when hunters brought one of them back.

The Mandan Indians had several ways of hunting the buffalo, including a method which was highly wasteful. This method called for a man to act as a decoy.

The decoy would throw a buffalo robe over his shoulders and would let the buffalo horns rest on his head. Then he would seek out a buffalo herd grazing near the edge of a cliff.

Pretending to be one of the herd, the decoy would go into the midst of the buffaloes. Then he would give a signal, and other hunters (hidden in the area) would start shooting. Made fearful by the noise, the herd was likely to follow the decoy when he rushed toward the cliff and seemed to jump over the edge.

Actually the bold fellow would go into a niche, or hole, in the rock, and would hide there while the herd rushed over the cliff. Usually he escaped harm, but at times a decoy was trampled to death.

Pravda Calls For New Korean Talks, U. N. Seat For Chinese

By STANLEY JOHNSON
MOSCOW (U)—Pravda called today for new Korean negotiations and U.N. membership for Communist China as a follow-up to the Geneva agreement on Indochina.

The Soviet Communist party organ hailed the Indochina settlement as a great Communist victory and declared that Geneva had exposed the "bankruptcy" of American foreign policy.

The paper said in a three-column front-page editorial that "the U.S. delegation prevented" a peaceful solution in the earlier Geneva talks on reuniting Korea but public opinion "demands that the governments concerned continue their efforts to revive the discussion."

As a result of Geneva, Pravda said, "it is now clear to all how bankrupt are attempts by American diplomacy to prevent the Chinese people from entering the international arena and taking the place due them among the great powers."

"The peoples demand that China should take its lawful place in the United Nations," the paper declared, "and it will take it however much certain thick-skulled American politicians, bound by material interest to Chiang Kai-shek, fight against it. If this does not take place, the United Nations will be unable to fulfill the tasks assigned it by its charter."

(The United States opposes admission of Red China to the U.N. on the ground it has never abandoned its role of the aggressor in Korea. The Western Allies broke off the Korean phase of the Geneva conference June 15 after the Communists refused to agree to U.N.-supervised elections to reunite the divided peninsula.)

Pravda's editorial was chiefly a blast at the United States. It mentioned Britain and France only briefly.

The editorial said the Geneva agreement banning foreign military bases in Viet Nam "deals a blow to the plans of American aggressive circles, which were counting on the inclusion of South Viet Nam plus Laos and Cambodia in an aggressive pact and creation there of military bases directed against the countries of the democratic camp."

The paper claimed the United States was defeated in efforts to block future elections in Viet Nam and to prevent the inclusion of Poland among the true supervisors.

"The collapse of attempts by U. S. ruling circles to impose their will on other countries is now clear," the newspaper asserted.

Pravda's demand that East-West negotiations on Korea be reopened echoed statements at the Geneva conference's closing session yesterday by Red China's Premier Chou En-lai and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Galveston Financier W. L. Moody Jr., 89, Funeral Is Pending

GALVESTON (U)—W. L. Moody Jr., 89, president of the Galveston News and Tribune and head of the $400 million dollar House of Moody Enterprises died yesterday.

Moody died of pneumonia after appearing in good health the day before at his office.

Funeral arrangements were awaiting arrival from Europe of a daughter-in-law and other relatives.

Moody conducted his vast operations until he became ill and was taken to John Sealy Hospital here where he died. He was in charge of newspaper, cotton, hotel and insurance enterprises, all on a large scale.

The American National Insurance Co., largest of his interests, has 2½ billion dollars of insurance in force with assets of 365 million dollars. It is among the 20 largest insurance firms in the nation.

Presidio's 109 High Tops State

By The Associated Press

Texas' deadly heat wave continued Thursday with its high temperatures cut some by cooling Gulf breezes.

Dallas, where three of the state's eight fatalities have occurred, burned into its 18th consecutive day of 100-degree temperatures. Four persons have died in Fort Worth and one in Denton.

At dawn skies were clear except for slight cloudiness in an area bounded by San Antonio, Palacios, Victoria, Alice and Del Rio. Temperatures ranged from a cool 64 at Marfa to 83 at Galveston and 81 at Dallas.

Wednesday's temperatures ranged from 109 at Presidio to a low maximum of 88 at Corpus Christi. The only rain was .02 of an inch at El Paso.

Customer Really Drops In For Gas At Dallas

DALLAS (U)—A customer really dropped in on a Dallas filling station yesterday.

Woody Taylor was startled to see a small plane swoop over his station several times, then land on the roadway. The pilot taxied up to the station and asked for five gallons of gasoline, said he was running low after a crop dusting job. He asked directions to an airport and flew away.

A Bible Thought For Today—

We cannot attain this state by avoiding action. The greatest mistake is idleness. God wants us to be fruitful. "Ye shall be blameless." — Gen. 44:10.

The Test At The Ballot Box Is Who Is Best For Texas' Welfare

Blowing aside the great volume of smoke generated in the governor's race, the basic question for Texans to answer is: "Which man will make the best leader for Texas?"

Without attempting to be dictatorial about anybody's vote, The Herald feels that Allan Shivers is the man.

He has, without exception, put Texas first. The matter of confirming ownership of the state lands is yet to come up, with considerable close work to be done with Congress and the national administration in setting up workable rules and regulations. Allan Shivers put Texas first in the original tidal lands fight, and can be depended upon to continue to do this.

As state senator, lieutenant governor and governor, Allan Shivers has supported, sponsored or signed every major piece of school legislation during the past 20 years. In the recent teacher salary matter, the Governor favored an increase but justly insisted that taxes must be levied to raise the necessary money, as the state Constitution requires. His handling of the final settlement demonstrated his calibre as a leader. Governor Shivers has worked in harmony with the Legislature, and many forward-looking laws have been passed. Such harmony is essential to the welfare of our state.

Governor Shivers has made good on his plank for old age pensions. He told the old people of Texas he would seek a constitutional amendment to increase their pensions, and the electorate will vote on that amendment in November.

During Shivers' administration more miles of farm-to-market roads and state highways have been built than in any other comparable period. Texas added almost 9,000 miles to its network last year alone. When Allan Shivers became Governor, conditions in the state hospitals were deplorable. One of his first official acts as Governor was to call a special session of the Legislature to appropriate $20 million in additional administrative funds and $35 million in building funds to improve those conditions. During his tenure the average amount per patient spent by the state was increased from $516 per year to $768.50. This is more than the national average, but the Governor himself says there is more to be done.

During his administration, the state's prison system has jumped from one of the worst-rated in the country to one of the best. It is running efficiently and economically.

We are less concerned with all this talk of "conservation" and "liberalism" than we are with what is best for a stable, wholesome and progressive state. Allan Shivers has demonstrated that he is skilled in statecraft, has the foresight, the knowledge and the courage to do what is best for Texas. That ought to be the test.

How Are Things In Pawnee? Well, Yvonne Gives Us Welcome Word

In this particular moment when tempers and language sometime become interperate, and our mail contains some vitriolic if not stinging missives, it is refreshing to hear from Yvonne Clarkson.

She writes: "I am Yvonne Clarkson and my home town is Pawnee, Okla. All my relatives live there so my Aunt Hazel called us and she said that hens were 8 cents a pound and eggs are 39 cents a dozen and it was $10 today Tuesday 20."

Now that's just about the friendliest most home-like, down-to-earth letter we ever received.

There may be cynics who think it is small concern that Yvonne would sit down to impart such trivial information to us. But it is not trivial, for Yvonne has shown an aptitude for a fast disappearing American art, that of a downright newswriter.

Moreover, she has shown a much appreciated degree of faith that what she has to say would be of interest to the newspaper.

We will leave off worrying about the state of the nation and the world and give up our fretting about politics now that we have welcome word from Pawnee. Someone might have written a volume on the heat, poultry prices and assorted other subjects, but they couldn't have captured more flavor and news than Yvonne did in her brief note.

Republican Worries Mount In New Jersey, May Lose State

Former Governor Harold Hoffman, the Rigoletto of the Circus Saints and Sinners, was for many years one of the leading Republicans in New Jersey, and held political positions after he left the governorship. He was a gay extrovert, an excellent raconteur, a brilliant wisecracker and an enormous spender. After Harold Hoffman's sudden death, it was discovered that he had embezzled funds of the bank over which he presided and possibly other funds.

The Hoffman scandal has wracked the Republican organization of New Jersey and has given high hopes to the Democrats. Few Republicans in that state believe that there is any chance of carrying the state in 1954. Worse than the harness-racing scandal in New York State, the Hoffman scandal strikes a blow because it was wholly unexpected. No one even suspected that Harold Hoffman was not an honest official, eking out a difficult existence. He had managed to keep his secret from the public. I had seen Hoffman on many occasions during the past 10 years and he always gave the impression of not having a worry in the world. It was a marvelous performance.

The Harold Hoffman scandal has hard the candidacy of Clifford Case for the United States Senate. New Jersey Republicans, on the whole, had no desire to nominate Clifford Case. He is an outsider favored by the White House. His affiliations with Paul Hoffman and the Fund for the Republic of the Ford Foundation do not improve his popularity in New Jersey with old-guard Republicans; and the support afforded him by the A. D. A. definitely places him in opposition to those Republicans who believe in local autonomy.

There is an old history of a party split in New Jersey, arising out of the famous alleged double-cross of Senator Robert A. Taft by Governor Alfred Driscoll in the 1932 campaign. Taft was certain that he could carry New Jersey in the primaries and the governor told him that he would be strictly neutral. The governor's emissary was Senator H. Alexander Smith. At the last moment, the governor intervened and Taft lost the State. All the explanations offered by Driscoll and Smith never satisfied the Taft element in New Jersey who, to this day, are antagonistic to the dominant group in the party. The verities of this particular double-cross are so numerous and varied that it serves no purpose to sit in judgment over them now. Suffice it that it produced a split. The Taft Republicans are responding to the nomination of Clifford Case by opposing his election.

To add fuel to this fire, Clifford Case felt called upon to try to read Senator Joe McCarthy out of the Republican party which, of course, is none of Case's business, that being the proper decision for the Republicans of Wisconsin. Case may feel strongly on the subject but politically it was a distinctly foolish thing to do.

New Jersey is divided on McCarthy, the line of cleavage being clear and distinct. The Taft element and the Clinton Republicans are pro-McCarthy; the New York suburbanites who vote in New Jersey, the Driscoll Republicans and the active Eisenhower Republicans are violently anti-McCarthy. Between them no compromise is possible. Because of the nature of the population of certain cities in New Jersey, an extraordinarily large number of Democrats in New Jersey are pro-McCarthy and while they will not vote for a Republican, they are in a position to stir public feeling.

The unusual situation in New Jersey is that some powerful and influential Republicans are organizing to have Case withdrawn as a candidate. In this effort, they will undoubtedly fail. Some groups are proposing an active campaign to influence Republicans to boycott the election for a United States Senator.

The sum total of all this activity is that it is now generally held that Clifford Case will not be elected in New Jersey, despite the support of President Eisenhower. On the other hand, Case has the support of the C. I. O. and other labor leaders. How important this is cannot be estimated because New Jersey labor is essentially Democratic locally, although the Republicans have carried the state for Senators. It is doubtful that Case's labor support and the large sums of money at his disposal will offset the split in the Republican party because Republican victories have resulted from adding to the normal Republican vote independent and Democratic elements.

POTOMAC FEVER

WASHINGTON — Senator Flanders post-pone his Senate showdown against Joe McCarthy. These fellows who go into the ring against McCarthy spend almost as much time getting rubbed down by seconds as they do running away from him.

Agriculture Secretary Benson sports a bad case of sunburn. Just when we get a secretary who knows enough to come in out of the rain, it stops raining.

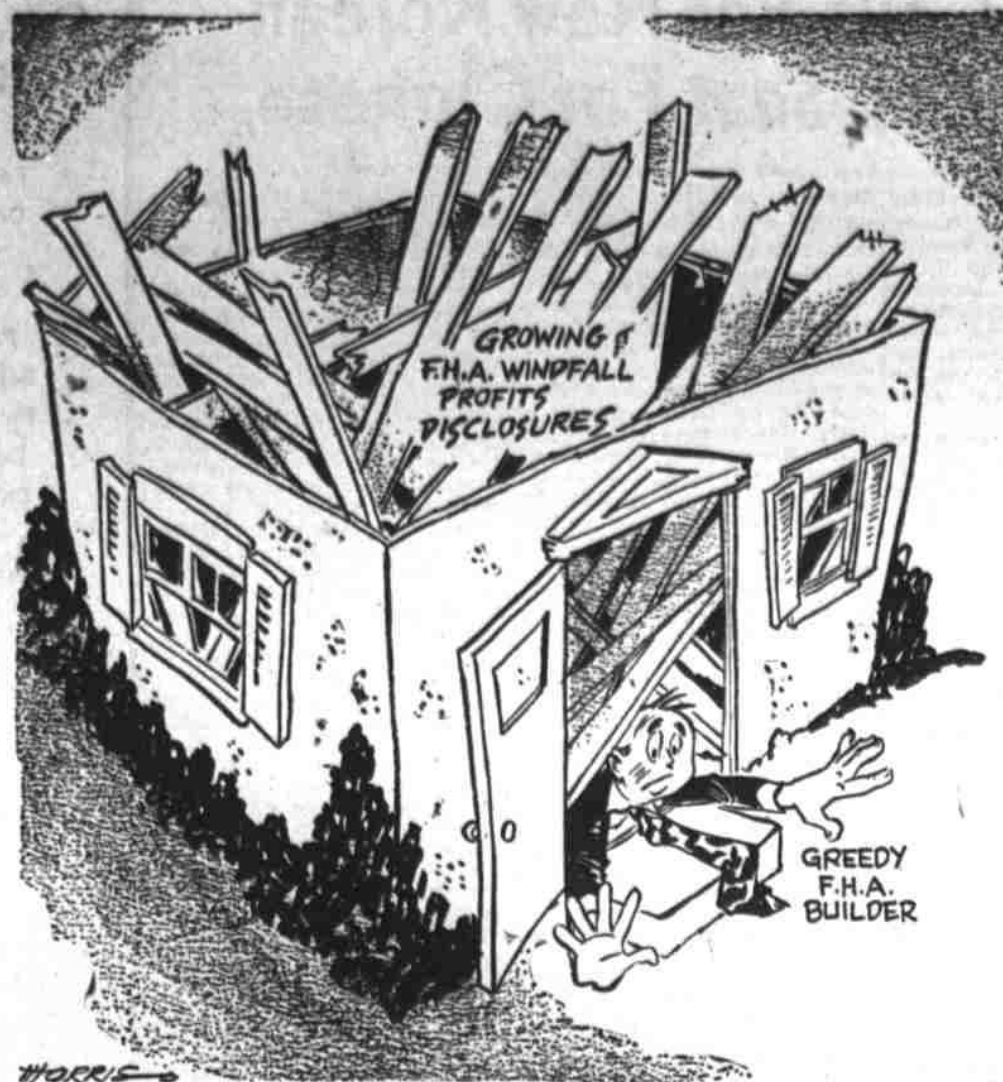

Senator Fulbright says Ike ought to quit if the Democrats win in November. This is an excellent hot weather contribution. You can always tack it to a tree during lawn parties and pop watermelon seeds at it.

Masses of army worms attack crops in Minnesota. Defense officials doubt these worms are really Army—since they're able to make progress without any help from the Marines.

Maj. John Eisenhower gets brief duty at the White House. Republicans always have the hope that an Eisenhower will learn to like the place.

The Bureau of Prisons says the nation's prison population has increased to 172,000. Things have been a little crowded ever since word got around that Uncle Sam gives you free board and room in lieu of taxes.

Senate investigators hear that the son of a Texas oil millionaire shared in housing windfall profits. No wonder the Democrats loved the little fellow so much. He sure needed it when they got through with him.

Armistice In Indochina Would Seem To Indicate Shift In Commie Tactics

WASHINGTON — Now that the Geneva conference has given the Communists half of Viet Nam, the puzzling question remains: Why were the Communists willing to make the agreement and end the war?

They had the French on the run in Indochina when the Geneva conference began last April and were continuing to push them up to the time the armistice was signed.

They may feel confident they can win control of all Viet Nam in elections to be held in 1954. That would be the first time the Communists had won new territory through free elections.

This armistice would seem to signal a shift in Communist tactics, at least temporarily. Their twin goals will remain the same: To subvert where they can and to weaken Western resistance by splitting the Allies.

Instead of trying to subvert and at the same time split the Allies by shooting, as in Korea and Indochina, they may feel they can accomplish both ends better in a period of peace, or at least give it a try.

So long as shooting continued they were in danger. If, instead of settling for half of Viet Nam, they had tried to take it all from the French by force, the United States and Britain eventually might have intervened. The result might have been world war.

Just forcing the French to give them half of Viet Nam was a Communist victory over the West, which had been too divided to agree on a plan for stopping them militarily.

This was twice within a year that communism had pushed the West into a position where it was glad to settle for an armistice instead of fighting on to a victory, in Korea in 1953 and now in Indochina.

It was a lesson which could hardly be lost on the millions of Asians, who for centuries had been forced to regard the West as invincible when dealing with Asiatics.

This realization and the memory of what happened in Korea and Indochina may have a weakening effect on Southeast Asians if they have to make a decision on allying themselves with the West against communism.

Since French Premier Mendes-

France had promised to resign this week unless he obtained an Indochina armistice, it might seem that Russian Foreign Minister Molotov would have wanted to prevent an armistice.

For resignation by Mendes-France would have forced the French to choose a new government, perhaps weaker than the present one and more of a push-over for Communist pressure.

On the surface that might appear logical. But Molotov had to take something else into consideration: That Mendes-France's failure, and resultant French exasperation and frustration, might have produced a strong military leader and bitterness against the Russians.

It was a gamble and Molotov apparently chose to take it easy.

What Russia wants is to prevent creation of the European Defense Community — the single European Army — urged by the United States.

The French have stalled on this plan which would put them in a single army with the West Germans. Russia has been anxious to prevent both EDC and German rearming. Now, faced with the prospect of peace everywhere in the world for an indefinite period, the French may be more reluctant than ever to join EDC.

If the United States and Britain go ahead with reported plans to let the Germans rearm independently if the French won't join them in EDC, there will be a wedge between the three Allies.

Marriage, Birth Records Wouldn't Survive A-Bomb

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK — My frivolous thought for the day recently cast a feeble ray of optimism on the effects of an atomic bombing. It could, I thought, just happen to do a little good for a very few survivors by destroying (1) birth certificate records and (2) marriage records.

The boon would be great to women in their 40s who long to be 31. Who could deny their claim to eternal youth if the record were destroyed? To some women the claim of youth appears so precious that apparently they would gladly forfeit their stocks, bonds and bank accounts to a holocaust.

Then there is the case of some married couples. Imagine John and Mary wandering back to the wreckage, and suppose that Mary has been tired of married life with John for some time. As they approach each other in the smoking ruins, John cries, "Darling!" Mary scowls at him and says, "Get away from me. Who are you anyway?" John, aghast, exclaims, "Your beloved husband." Smiling triumphantly, Mary says, "Prove it, you heel." And there goes another marriage.

This frivolous thought occurred to me as I was strolling down the west bank of Fifth Avenue on my way to chat with a man named Charlie Costigan.

Costigan, who lives in Oradell, N.J., was preoccupied at the time installing a 30-ton door on a massive vault in the new Manufacturers Trust Co. building. This vault, by the way, sits right up front in the building behind what will be one of the world's biggest sheafs of plate glass. Thus if a burglar ever starts tampering with Charlie Costigan's big door he'll attract quite an audience on Fifth Avenue.

Costigan is a lean, limber, quick man who looks 50 and is 60 years old. The Mosler Safe Co., which employs him and his crew of men to go around the country installing vaults, says there are only a half-dozen men in the nation who can do the job that Charlie does.

This hasn't gone to Costigan's head. He is, in fact, remarkably modest. When confronted by the statement he "flips vault doors like pancakes," he smiles helplessly at the floor.

"I am," he says, "a traveling mechanic."

The obvious fact about a vault is that it's no safer than its door. If you've ever put on a screen door you know it's a tricky operation. And when you visualize a 30-ton door that must fit to a hundred-thousandth of an inch and swing at the pressure of a finger you can imagine the highly exacting nature of Costigan's work.

"It is," he says, "all a matter of balance."

While we talked, his crew was jacking up the 30-ton door and cribbing it preparatory to the big moment when they'd swing it across the opening and Costigan would delicately set it in place.

Finally I put the big question to Costigan. "This vault would withstand an atomic bombing—wouldn't it?"

"Why, yes," said Costigan thoughtfully. "Yes, I think it would."

Then, I told Costigan about my frivolous thought, my Fifth Avenue fantasy. He listened politely, but gradually he took on the expression of a man who feared another was putting words in his mouth.

Slowly he backed away. "Well," he said, "I've got to get back to the job."

He was happy to get his hands on something solid like a 30-ton door that had to fit to a hundred-thousandth of an inch.

Summers On The Farm Caused Youngster To Welcome School

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald-Editor's Note.

Weather of the past 10 days takes me back a few years to a sunflower-studded Johnson grass patch and a callous-compounding hoe handle.

Except it was hotter then, and there wasn't any drugstore to duck into for a cool drink, no air conditioner to rest under, nor any shade except that of a flimsy mesquite at the far end of the cotton rows.

Water was the only thing we knew to drink, at least in the field, and by the time it hung in a syrup bucket in the mesquite's sprinkling of shade for three or four hours, it was everything but cool.

But it was nice to rest under that mesquite, after completing a "round" with the hoe, and to sip the tepid water.

And it was even nicer, about half way down a row of cotton-and-Johnson grass, to see a shade coming as a cloud slipped underneath the sun. A cooling breeze always seemed to stir just as the shade arrived.

I've never tasted anything more refreshing than one of those slight breezes in the fleeting shade of a floating thunderhead.

Another looked-for relief was in the whirlwinds which occasionally swept across the fields. If one of those whirling breezes danced within a quarter of a mile every kid in the field would throw down his hoe, cast off his straw hat and make a dash for the "dust devil"—dirt, leaves, wind and all. Also longed-for, but seldom enjoyed, was a shower that would drive hoe hands out of the field and to a half day of leisure. Although the crop might not need it, and even if it did make the grass and weeds harder to dig out the next day, a rain never was discouraged by the farmer's offspring.

Our little farm was especially "blessed" with a good stand of Johnson grass and more than a few sunflowers and "cuckie-burns." And Dad always maintained it was the farmer's duty not only to cut those things down, but to kill them out.

We killed them out, too. About every two or three years. And then the spring rains would overflow the creeks and we'd get a new transplanting of Johnson grass, cuckieburns and sunflowers from the neighbor's places upstream.

My sister and I couldn't quite understand the rush to get the weeds cut out of the cotton. When we finished that we were dispatched to the fence rows and turnrows to chop the weeds that always flourished there.

There's one thing about summers on the farm, though. The kids are never sorry when school opens in the fall.

Matter Of Fact—Joseph and Stewart Alsop

Ralph Bunche's Accusers Due To Face Inquiry For Perjury

WASHINGTON—The transcript of Dr. Ralph Bunche's loyalty hearing has been officially referred to the Department of Justice, for investigation of possible perjury by Dr. Bunche's accusers.

This action, without known precedent in the history of governmental loyalty and security cases, was taken by the Chairman of the International Organization Employees Loyalty Board, Pierce Gerety. This board is the special group set up by the Civil Service Commission to test the loyalty of American employees of the United Nations.

The Board heard the case of Dr. Bunche some weeks ago. The six members unanimously found that there was "no doubt as to the loyalty" of the eminent Negro leader and chief American member of the United Nations Secretariat.

The case is given great additional interest by the fact that Dr. Bunche's accusers, the ex-Communists Manning Johnson and Leonard Patterson, are both on the payroll of the same department of government that is now to investigate them.

Manning Johnson is a leading member of the group of informers and professional witnesses that the Justice Department maintains under the classification of "consultants to the Immigration and Naturalization Service." Leonard Patterson is a lesser figure in the same group.

The story of the Johnson-Patterson accusation, and of how it was refuted to the complete satisfaction of the loyalty board, has never been told.

The story revolves around a conference on Negro problems held at Howard University, in Washington, D. C., in 1934. Dr. Bunche's chief accuser, Manning Johnson, who was a Communist from 1930 to 1940, testified that the Communist Party's National Negro Commission met in New York shortly before the Howard University conference.

According to Johnson, the Communist National Negro Commission decided to seize upon the opportunity presented by the Howard University conference to gather American Negroes into the "popular front movement"—a strong feature of the party line of the period.

Johnson swore that another Communist, James Ford, said in New York that Bunche was a "comrade" who would be "useful." He stated further that when the conference was held in Washington, Ford introduced Bunche to him with the phrase, "Comrade Bunche, meet Comrade Johnson." Finally, Johnson asserted that after the Howard University conference, the same James Ford had again described Bunche as an "under-cover" member of the party, and had even complained of Bunche's "deviations."

So much of Johnson's testimony was essentially hearsay, and thus not subject to effective final refutation. But on one point, Johnson became more specific and opened his testimony to independent check. He swore that he, James Ford and Bunche jointly attended a strategy meeting of eight or ten top Negro Communists that was held during the Howard conference.

He admitted that he did not remember much of what passed at the meeting. But he was extremely positive that Bunche was there. He asserted firmly that it was a purely Communist get-together. And he stated, again quite positively, that the strategy meeting had been held at the Florida Avenue office of a Negro organization of that era, the Joint Committee on National Recovery, which was acting as co-sponsor of the Howard University conference.

Leonard Patterson generally corroborated this testimony of Manning Johnson, but in much more careful terms. For example, he described Johnson's informant, James Ford, as a "second-rate" and a "braggart," who liked to impress the Communist party leaders with his effectiveness as a recruiting officer, and was always given to name-dropping to prove it.

To the less specific accusations of Johnson and Patterson, Dr. Bunche replied, also under oath, that he had indeed served as Director of the Howard University conference in 1934. But he stated that this was a non-partisan meeting, which had heard speakers of all political colors. He flatly denied any share in guiding the conference towards a Negro "popular front movement." And he said that he could not remember any meeting with an introduction to Johnson, who he only vaguely recalled as a reputed labor organizer.

A popular front-type organization, the National Negro Congress, did in fact grow out of the 1934 conference at Howard University. But Dr. Bunche testified that he had always strongly opposed the National Negro Congress. Later, he said, he tried to attend an annual meeting of the Congress as a reporter for Dr. Gunnar Myrdal's "American Dilemma" study of the Negro problem in this country. And his opposition to the National Congress was so well known, that the Congress leaders treated him rudely and sought to eject him despite his purely reportorial capacity.

There were other points in the Bunche testimony that damaged Johnson in the eyes of the loyalty board. For example, he showed that he had published articles attacking the Communist party in the period when Johnson said he was following the party line. Again, Dr. Bunche read off a list of all the American Negro leaders he could bring to mind, and Johnson boldly characterized every one of them as party members, fellow travelers or plain suckers, with the sole exception of Altheus Hinton, who served as counsel for the top Communists in the New York Smith Act trial.

The real climax of the drama was provided, however, by Dr. Bunche's surprise witness, this man, whose name will not be given for reasons that will become apparent, had been a close friend of Bunche's since college days, until the period of the famous Howard University conference. They had then quarreled because the friend strongly supported the "popular front movement" whereas Dr. Bunche fought it; and they had not spoken to one another until the day after Johnson's testimony.

This former friend was important to Dr. Bunche for the very good reason that the friend had been the actual owner of the Florida Avenue office where Manning Johnson alleged Dr. Bunche had attended the strategy meeting of leading Negro Communists. When Dr. Bunche heard Johnson's allegation, he thought the matter over all night, telephoned the friend in Washington the next morning.

The result was electrifying. The friend is now the prosperous owner of a business that grosses about a million dollars a year; a respected leader of the Washington Negro community, and a happy family man with a wife and four children. But when Dr. Bunche told him of the Johnson story, the friend immediately confessed that he too had been a member of the Communist party at the time of the Howard University conference, and had known Manning Johnson and James Ford as fellow Communists.

Nonetheless, the unnamed friend insisted upon taking the stand. He not only stated under oath that there had been no such Communist strategy meeting in his office as the gathering described by Manning Johnson. He also described his experiences as a Communist in a manner that is said to have impressed the loyalty board very deeply with his bona fides, sincerity and intelligent understanding of the Communist conspiracy.

At any rate, the hearings closed with a clear and direct conflict of sworn testimony showing in the record, And so the transcript was forwarded to the Justice Department for the investigation of perjury that is presumably now going forward.

Two May Be Company; One's Better If Traveling

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newswriter
That once-forlorn creature, the solitary bird of passage, today is the pet pigeon of the travel people. At the moment everybody is being urged to head for distant places, in groups and teams if they must, but preferably alone.

Perhaps this development stems from the increasing popularity of plane travel, for obviously it's far simpler to schedule a solo passenger than, say, a jolly party of 15. Or perhaps the makers of itineraries and the sellers of tickets figure that those who prefer traveling in packs will do it that way anyway, whereas the lone wolves need a little encouragement, particularly if they are women.

However, I prefer to believe that the present emphasis on the pleasures of small-unit travel comes from the tourists themselves, red-covering the hard way that Thoreau—the philosophical gentleman who "traveled widely in Concord"—told them exactly 100 years ago, to wit:

"The man who goes alone can start today, but he who travels with another must wait till that other is ready."

This can in no way be construed as an advocacy of separate vacations for married folk. By law and by popular opinion, husband and wife constitutes a single unit, together with children, if any. The saga of Walden, and wise travelers who have followed him, merely were urging extreme caution in the selection of companions in tourism.

The most unhappy couple I've seen in a long time recently returned from a six-week spin along the Grand Tour route in the company of their dearest friends, the young couple next door with whom they have every reason to believe they got along.

Not only were they on the verge of cutting each other dead after their enforced intimacy, but they quite frankly had a wretched time. Joe and Jane were fun-loving and gregarious; Harry and Alice were in deadly earnest about missing not a single cathedral, museum and historic sight.

Presumably, Harry and Alice found Joe and Jane's hangovers as unpleasant as Joe and Jane found Harry's eternal picture-snapping. Anyway, NEXT time, they'll go it alone.

Choice of a traveling companion or companions can be equally unhappy for unattached females, however youthful and attractive. I've never heard a girl, traveling alone, complain about the perils of the current exchange to good restaurants, a flock of female tourists constitutes nothing more than a hazard to be avoided at all costs by any footloose male. Not, of course, that all single women are husband-hunting while sight-seeing, but there's no point in closing the door deliberately on opportunities.

Most experienced travelers thus wind up preferring the freedom and independence that comes from touring on their own. And in this day of seeing the world on a two-week vacation, another quote—this time from Kipling—is apropos: "He travels fastest who travels alone."

So does she.

Don't Go For 'Fads' In Your Make-Up Routine

ROME, Italy — When I arrived at Dawn Addams' apartment in an exclusive section of Rome, I was surprised to find her speaking Italian quite fluently. "Languages are easy for Dawn," her attractive husband, Prince Massimo, told me. "And she knows French well enough to make a movie in Paris."

At luncheon we were served delicious miniature asparagus, the size of young green beans. This was followed by several meat courses. The big meal ended with a serving of whipped cream over tiny wild strawberries which had an exotic flavor.

"How do you eat like this and keep your figure?" I asked Dawn.

"When I first came over I gained," she explained. "But that was because I was trying every new dish anyone suggested. But now I have no trouble because we do not have a lot of pasta—spaghetti and ravioli. Besides when I am working I'm so nervous that I can't eat. So between pictures I try to gain a little weight."

"Have you had to make any major adjustments living in Italy?" I asked.

"I've lived in so many places that making adjustments is easy for me. I went to fourteen different schools including some in India and Brazil," Dawn told me, adding that she traveled a great deal with her father who is a Captain in the British R. A. F.

"When you live in a new country you're all right so long as you don't try to go against their system," Dawn added. "Living here I've learned to get into low gear. It's quite relaxing. Italians have a different conception of time than we do."

"Do you enjoy a siesta every day?" I asked.

"I stay at home but I don't go to bed—I don't like sleeping in the middle of the day. But nothing is done in Rome between one and four, and I think this is a wonderful system."

We had coffee in the living room which was rich with beautiful art treasures.

I asked Dawn about the vogue for going without lipstick. Quite a few young girls here in Italy, especially actresses, use plenty of eye make-up and even tinted foundations but they leave their lips natural. This new style gives a strange unbalanced look to the face.

"I've never adopted the no-lipstick fad," Dawn confessed. "And I think it is dying out over here."

"Definitely," Prince Massimo agreed. "You see much less of it now than you did a year ago."

"Most women strive to make themselves look attractive—not only here in Italy but in every country," Dawn added. "A fad that doesn't add anything can't last."

Sen. Maybank Asks Slash In Rents In Windfall Cases

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. Maybank (D-SC) said today federal housing officials should act at once to "cut back on windfall profits and reduce the inflated rents of tenants who are paying for them."
Maybank, senior Democrat on the Senate Banking Committee, said in an interview:
"Everybody's made money in these housing project deals except the tenant. He's the guy who's been paying for it."
He declared housing officials have been slow to act on alleged abuses under various apartment project programs involving government-insured mortgages.
The committee, headed by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.), summoned several more builders to testify today in its investigation of reported irregularities in federal housing programs. They included Alexander Muss of New York, whose brother David Muss already has been heard; Alexander Korman of New Orleans, and Edward Carmach of Murfreesboro, Tenn. Capehart said all would be questioned on big apartments built with loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Maybank said that up to a half-billion dollars in profits have come "right out of the pockets of the people who now occupy those apartments."
In speaking of "windfall" profits, he referred to those where builders or promoters pocketed the difference between an FHA-insured mortgage loan and actual construction costs. In some cases aired before the banking committee, these differences have amounted to a million dollars or more.
These are loans made by private lenders, with the FHA guaranteeing that if the borrower-builder does not make good on his loan the FHA will.
These loans are repaid primarily with income from rents. Since the inflated loans themselves must be repaid, and not just the actual cost of the project, rents in many cases are said to be higher than the value of the property justifies. FHA requires that the rents be tied to the size of the loans.

Federal Deficit Below Forecast For Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower announced today the government "made a better showing than expected" in the fiscal year just ended by winding up $3,029,000,000 in the red on June 30.
That was a deficit of a quarter of a billion dollars less than Eisenhower had predicted for the fiscal year 1954 in his January budget message. It was $6,893,000,000 less than former President Truman forecast for the same year in his final budget.

And it was $6,411,000,000 below the $9,449,000,000 by which the government overspent its income the year before.
The presidential announcement, based on the Treasury's statement of the nation's finances on June 30, closing day of the fiscal year, was handed to reporters by presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty.

The 7 1/2 per cent reduction from the deficit predicted in January—when the fiscal year was half done—was achieved, Eisenhower said, despite a sharp fall in the government's income under the predicted level.

The government's receipts in the 12 months ended June 30 ran 3 billion dollars lower than predicted, the President said, but the administration meanwhile whacked spending 3 billion dollars below what had been forecast.

That made the deficit a quarter of a billion dollars less than had been expected.
The Treasury's year-end figures showed that fiscal 1954 tax receipts from individual income taxes were a billion dollars less than previously estimated and that corporation tax receipts were down over 1 billion dollars. The bulk of the spending cut, about 2 1/2 billion dollars of it, was in national security outlays of all kinds, with direct military outlays absorbing the biggest cut.

The reduction of the fiscal 1954 deficit to nearly three billion dollars, Eisenhower said, takes the administration "two-thirds of the way" toward balancing the budget. He was referring to the nearly 10 billion dollars deficit predicted for the year when the Eisenhower administration took over.

Cattle Prices Here Average $1 Lower

Prices were an average of $1 lower across the board at the Big Spring Livestock Auction Company's sale Wednesday.
Fat bulls sold up to 13.00, fat cows up to 10.50, butcher cows from 7.00 to 9.00 and canners to 5.00.
Fat butcher yearlings went for 14.00 to 16.00, with a few choice animals higher. Stocker steer calves inspired bids up to 16.00. Heifer calves went for 13.50 to 14.50, cows beside calves from 8.00 to 11.00 and hogs up to 23.00. An estimated 500 cattle and 25 hogs went through the ring.

U. S. Attacks On Cease-Fire Draw Ire Of British Press

LONDON (U)—U.S. criticism of the Indochina cease-fire terms touched off blistering editorials and bitter cartoons in a wide cross section of the British press today.

The angry reaction extended even to some conservative newspapers which up to now had strongly defended America against British fault-finding.

One of these, the arch-Conservative Daily Mail, said British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden singlehandedly kept the Geneva conference going amid "cries of 'appeaser'" and added:

"Only yesterday American senators referred again to 'another Munich'—showing they have no idea what Munich was."

"What, anyway, is their policy?" "Do they want another 100,000 American boys killed and maimed for another Panmunjom?"

The big-circulation Daily Mirror published a vitriolic cartoon depicting U.S. Secretary of State Dulles seated glumly under a calendar dated "July 21, 1954" as two gaudily dressed businessmen burst in, shouting indignantly, "peace has broken out!"

The Laborite Daily Herald quoted a writer in the New York Times as saying, "the Communists have scored another major victory in the struggle for the world," and commented:

"That is his judgment on the cease-fire in Indochina, and his view is widely shared on the other side of the Atlantic."

"But Mr. Anthony Eden is no Communist. Nor is Monsieur Mendes-France. Nor is Mr. Nehru. Yet all these and multitudes of other people of every race hail the sanity of the settlement as a triumph for the art of negotiation. The contrast between these two viewpoints is stark and shattering. Was it really wrong to stop the fighting?"

CANBERRA, Australia (U)—Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies warned his country today not to forget "Communist aggression or defense preparations which that aggression renders necessary."
In a statement on the Indochina cease-fire, the Prime Minister said "our security in Australia depends upon converting the temporary halt into a permanent one."

SINGAPORE (U)—Malaya's two biggest newspapers viewed the Indochina armistice today with mixed emotions.

Said the European-owned Straits Times of Singapore:
"The Chinese-owned Singapore Standard commented editorially: 'The armistice in Indochina brings peace not only to the peoples of Indochina but acts as a shield against those irresponsible people who see another war as a solution to our problems.'"

Sportswriter Rice's Will Up For Probate

NEW YORK (U)—Sportswriter Grantland Rice left an estate of more than $30,500, most of it willed to his widow and a daughter.

Terms of his will were made public yesterday during the filing of a probate application in Surrogate's Court. Rice died July 13.

His widow, Mrs. Katherine N. Rice, was given life use of a summer home in East Hampton, N.Y., estimated to be worth more than $25,000, and shares in a Fifth Avenue cooperative apartment.

Florence R. Butler, a daughter, of Venice, Calif., will receive the residue of the estate, except for a $3,000 bequest to a nephew, Grantland Rice.

West Is Slight Favorite In All-Star Go Tonight

Four Cayuses In Contest

CARLSBAD (SC) — The West has the power and the East the pitching in the annual Longhorn League All-Star game, which will be played here before a capacity crowd of 2,500 this evening.

Big Spring, which has four players in the game, is aligned with the West. Mike Rainey and Bert Baer, pitchers; catcher Bob (Huck) Doe and third sacker Julio Delatorre are Bronco representatives in the contest.

Rainey, a 16-game winner, was designated as the starting hurler for the West but he may be used sparingly. He played five innings in last night's game with Midland and turned up with a sore shoulder.

If Rainey doesn't start, it could be Hank Williams of Carlsbad or Bart DiMaggio of Artesia.

Professional odds makers have installed the West as a slim 5-4 favorite to whip the East. Much of this presumption can be based on the fact that the Westerners have hit about 50 more home runs through games of last Friday.

West Manager Pat McLaughlin will direct his charges from the bench. He is still incapacitated from an accident last week. Artesia's Jimmy Adair will be his representative on the field and the actual coaching chores on the baselines will be handled by Roswell's Pat Stacey and Big Spring's Pepper Martin.

Much comment has arisen when Stacey was not selected on the team—the first time in the league's seven-year history—but he will be on hand after all.

Aggressive Rudy Briner, considered the best handler of pitchers in the league, will have his ace lefty Ralph Atkinson and equally sharp righty baller Audie Malone ready.

Also available is Wes Ortiz of Odesa and Ollie Ortiz of Sweetwater.

West pitchers Bert Baer of Big Spring, Hank Williams of Carlsbad—he may play and if he doesn't Artesia's Bart DiMaggio will replace him, Bob Weaver of the Potashers and Lefty Tom Sawyer of Roswell are ready to go.

The fans will all be hoping to see big Joe Bauman of Roswell "lose one" and the ponderous slugger will be capable of doing that for Montgomery Field could be considered one of his favorite parks outside of his home stable at Fair Park.

A few quiet fireworks are expected at the league meeting in the La Caverna Hotel at 2:30.

Harry James, loop prexy, announced that the entire staff of eight umpires will work the game in four and half inning stints.

A final factor is that the East pitchers have a slightly better overall won and lost mark.

Little Leaguers Drill Nightly

Play in the American and National Little League will be suspended indefinitely in order that the teams can practice for sectional play.

All-star teams in the two circuits have been selected but the date for the game has not been set.

American Leaguers will work out at the Little League park from 6 to 8 p.m. nightly while the National Leaguers will take over at 8 p.m. and work until 10.

Porky Oliver Shoots 66 In PGA Play At St. Paul

ST. PAUL (AP) — Sam Snead, maneuvering with a sharp list to starboard and a grouchy look that was the natural result of a stiff neck, had to climb a tree on the 15th hole to make a reasonably good score in the first qualifying round of the 36th PGA championship.

Ed "Porky" Oliver, suffering from a painful kidney ailment that has forced him to drop out of several recent tournaments, holed putts from all over the course for a five-under 66.

And 28 players shot 71 or better over the barren, un-hardened course to turn the opening round of the nation's toughest test of professional golf into a race.

Capps Again On Sidelines

Billy Capps, the oft-injured Corpus Christi manager, was back on the Big State League sick list Thursday, this time probably for a month.

Capps suffered a broken finger Wednesday when hit by a pitched ball during Corpus Christi's 12-8 triumph over Tyler. The hard-hitting Clipper field boss isn't due back in the lineup for a month, or more, club officials said. Capps had been injured twice before this season.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The Longhorn League could conceivably have its fewest number of 20-game mound winners this season since 1940, when Big Spring's Julio Ramos was the only hurler to reach the mark.

Right now, it appears Big Spring's Mike Rainey and Frank Pickens of Midland will make it, barring injury.

Bob Weaver of Carlsbad could do it but he'll have to hurry. Wayne Goodell of Artesia is a possibility. Bill Ewen of San Angelo and Wes Ortiz of Odesa would be up there if they were with better ball clubs.

The Borger club was $10,000 in the red when it quit the WT-NM League. After it checked out, it auctioned off three of its players to other league clubs for $650.

It's later than you think. The Big Spring Broncos have only 23 home games remaining on their 1954 schedule.

They play Roswell, Carlsbad, San Angelo and Odesa four times each, Sweetwater three times and Artesia and Midland twice each.

Some observers may be wondering why the Corpus Christi club, with a lineup so long on power (most of the regulars are hitting .300 plus), hasn't been able to overtake Waco in the Big State League race.

Waco has a team that will probably be playing for Pittsburgh three or four years hence. Branch Rickey has concentrated a powerful lineup at Waco.

John Reeves is in real trouble as president of the Texas League. A tipoff is the fact that his umpires have been quitting in wholesale lots.

A league president who doesn't take care of his umpires is not doing justice to his job, whether he's in Class D ball or the majors. A prexy can have his hirelings take care of other chores around the office but he should see to it personally that he maintains the best staff of umpires there is to be had.

Reeves' failing, perhaps, is that he is a former club president and, as such, was in more than a few wrinkles with the umpires. Probably he hasn't become reconciled to the fact that they are a very necessary part of the baseball scenery.

Too, Dick Burnett of Dallas swings a lot of weight in the league, despite all reports you might have heard to the contrary. He's supposed to be very displeased with Reeves.

A story out of Milwaukee says the Braves spent $15,000 for baseballs alone in 1953. They used 12,000 of them. They expect to invest even more in the spheroids this season.

The club uses an average 45 to 50 balls daily at home for batting and infield practice. On the road, the average runs to about 30 a day. More balls are lost in the Polo Grounds in New York, incidentally, than in any other park. That's due to the short distances down each foul line.

The Milwaukee club had eight dozen balls left at the end of last season. The management had the players autograph those and passed them out to the team's friends.

The Big Spring Broncos struck with pent-up fury Wednesday night at a team that had carried them to 12 innings before yielding the previous evening.

The homecoming, gunning for fourth place in the Longhorn League and a spot in the Shagbush playoffs, buried the Midland Indians under a 20-2 score to sweep the two-out set and reduce the Warriors' lead over them to six games.

Mike Rainey, favoring a sore shoulder, worked just long enough to receive credit for his 16th win of the campaign to again become the leading hurler in the circuit in games won.

The Tampa veteran bowled out after five innings and Albert Hill came on to contribute a splendid relief chore.

Five balls were boosted out of the park by the aroused Broncos, one each by Bob Martin, Floyd Martin, Julio Delatorre, Huck Doe and Jim Zapp.

The round-tripper by Bob Martin, his fourth in the past three games and his 18th of the year, occurred in the first inning and came with two mates aboard. It actually settled the issue then and there.

Delatorre collected his 28th four against par for the 64 available places in the match play bracket.

That was the story as 135 of America's leading pro golfers headed into today's qualifying second round of the PGA tourney.

Against the prospect that a 36-hole total of 146 or better would be needed to get into the showdown stage of match play, starting tomorrow.

Snead's "shot" from a post oak tree was the high spot of the opening round in which the pros took Keller's par of 36-35-71 to pieces, just as had been predicted.

The West Virginia wallower, suffering from a recurrence of the stiffness in his neck that plagued him all through the Open championship, almost pulled out of the tournament. But he decided to give it a try and until he hit the 225-yard 15th, Snead was doing very well.

There his tee shot drifted and the ball lodged in the fork of a tree, some 15 feet above the ground. Sammy, stiff neck and all, had to go up there after it. He knocked it out and got a five on the par three hole for a creditable score of 35-36-73.

The real business of the tournament begins tomorrow when 64 golfers buckle down to head-to-head matches. There'll be two rounds of 18-hole duels Friday.

Two strokes behind Oliver were a trio of tournament toughened players: Cary Middlecott, the 1949 U. S. Open champion; married Johnny Revolta, a 43-year-old veteran who is rated as one of the nation's top teaching pros; and 47-year-old Orville White of Aiken, S.C.

Dog Fights Are Shaping Up Now Amid Also-Rans

By The Associated Press

By now only five teams have serious ideas about reaching the World Series this fall but a whole hatful of others in both leagues are still scrapping to see who will help cut up the swag.

Players on the first four teams in each league share in the World Series receipts.

It's generally conceded among all but the diehards that either the New York Giants or Brooklyn will be the National League representative against Cleveland, the New York Yankees, or the Chicago White Sox.

But a check of the standings shows dog fights in both circuits immediately below these private pennant races.

In the National League four teams are bunched a game and a half apart from third through sixth place. Philadelphia holds third by a percentage point over Cincinnati and Milwaukee with St. Louis still a big factor.

The American League is running with a five-team "second division." Fourth place Detroit is a fat 22 lengths out of the lead and 17 1/2 behind the third place White Sox.

But the Tigers hold only a single game edge over Boston and Washington and just eight games separate them from the tallied Baltimore Orioles.

In the upper brackets yesterday Cleveland took a half game lead over New York when the Yanks crumbled before Chicago, 15-3, while the Indians were playing their second straight tie in Boston. Rain halted the 7-7 contest in the top of the ninth inning.

The Giants maintained their seven game advantage over Brooklyn with a 2-1 triumph at Chicago. The Dodgers tripped Cincinnati, 5-1.

St. Louis outscored Pittsburgh, 13-12, Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee, 6-1, and Washington shaded Baltimore, 6-5, in other action.

Brooklyn's Carl Erskine turned in the outstanding pitching performance, retiring the last 23 Cincinnati batters in order after Bob Sockowski homered in the second inning. He got plenty of support for a change with Carl Furillo's five-hit spurge leading the 15 hit attack. Erskine gave up two hits and struck out 10.

A pinch single by Bill Taylor drove in the winning Giant run in the ninth inning at Chicago. He scored Hank Thompson who had singled and moved around on a sacrifice and an infield out. Sal Maglie checked the Cubs on four hits.

The White Sox scored early and often against the Yankees, opening with five runs in the first and closing out with five in the ninth. Minnie Minoso and Johnny Groh collected four hits each. Virgil Trucks stayed long enough to become the first American League pitcher to win 13 games but he wilted from the heat in the seventh and needed help from Morrie Martin and Harry Doriah.

Home runs by Jim Hegan, Al Rosen and Larry Doby lifted Cleveland from a 6-0 deficit into a 7-6 lead at Boston but the Red Sox pushed across the tying run in the sixth and kept it that way until rain intervened. The game was called after a 17 inning tie Tuesday night.

Only five Milwaukee batters got on base against Robin Roberts and the only run off the Phil's ace was Eddie Mathews' 22nd home run, hit with two out and the bases empty in the ninth.

Pitchers wore out the grass between the bullpen and the mound in Busch Stadium during the Cards-Pirates' 31 hit duel. St. Louis used eight, equalling the National League record. Pittsburgh used five hurlers.

The Athletics' victory over Detroit broke a 10-game losing streak. Sonny Dixon tamed the Tigers and Joe DeMaestri, Lou Limmer and Jim Fingen hit home runs for the winners.

Washington wasted an early lead against Baltimore, then won in the ninth when an easy roller dribbled through Jim Brideweser's legs with the bases loaded and one out. The loss was another heartbreaker for Don Larsen, who now has lost a dozen games.

Y Aqua-Carnival Re-Set For Thursday, July 29

Originally scheduled for Saturday night, the YMCA Swimming Meet and Water Carnival will instead be staged Thursday evening, July 29, at the municipal pool, Director B. B. Lees has announced.

The first annual meet was held in Aug., 1948. It is being resumed after having been suspended in 1953. The aqua-carnival climaxes the annual "Learn to Swim" program conducted annually under the auspices of the local YMCA.

DIRECTORS BEHIND HIM

Burnett Vows He's After Prexy's Job

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Dick Burnett, Dallas club owner, says he is going after John Reeves' job as president of the Texas League and that he has five other league directors backing him.

He made the statement last night to Jack Fiser, sports editor of the Shreveport Times, who said he found no director who would say he planned to support Burnett.

But the showdown will come at Fort Worth tomorrow morning when the club owners meet in connection with the annual All-Star game scheduled tomorrow night at LaGrave Field.

Burnett, who is mad at Reeves because he claims the league president instigated a complaint against him from six other clubs that caused George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, to gag Burnett in his talk of a major league franchise for Dallas.

The clubs—Beaumont, San Antonio, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Shreveport and Fort Worth—claiming the talk was damaging to the Texas League.

Burnett told Fiser "the only directors who won't vote against Reeves are Bonneau Peters of Shreveport and Spencer Harris of Fort Worth. I have the support of five other directors to get Reeves out at this meeting, we're sure to get him at the winter meeting."

Fiser said he talked to other league directors and that the nearest support for Burnett came from Art Rountown, general manager of the Houston club, who said that while Houston was far from satisfied with operation of the league, he questioned the wisdom of removing the president in mid-season.

Stan Melville, San Antonio general manager, said he hadn't made up his mind and denied that he had committed himself. He added that he didn't think this was the time to change the league president.

Houston is fired at Reeves because he said adequate policing was absent at Houston the night Fort Worth Manager Al Vincent went into the stands to sock a heckler. Vincent was reprimanded by Reeves.

There also has been some discussion of the umpiring situation. Five umpires have been released or have quit. Two were let out as an economy measure. Three resigned.

Reeves was named to the presidency last winter when Alvin Gardner resigned because of press of business.

LEES IS ONE OF THE FINEST CRIMINERS EVER TO APPEAR IN THE MEET

He is staging his first show this year. He succeeds Bob Hardy as director of the meet.

This summer, 624 persons were enrolled in the two "Learn to Swim" sessions held, as compared to the 39 who took part in 1948.

Of the number enrolled this year, 271 took part in the first session and 351 in the second. Of the total, 284 learned how to swim or at least got along in the water by themselves.

In seven years, a total of 1,352 have learned to swim locally under direction of YMCA teachers.

Teachers who have been working with Lees include Nancy Smith, Tommie Jo Williamson, Sue Barnes, Pat Tidwell, Nanette Farquhar, Lila Turner, Kenda McGilbon, Ann Richburg, Clara Freeman, Suzanne Reynolds, Sally Cowper and Bettie Anderson.

Special attractions in the July 29 show, in addition to the swimming events, will include the presentation of the Aqua Queen, a water ballet and clown acts.

Pupils in the YMCA swim classes vote on the Aqua Queen and results will not be known until show time.

Trophies will be awarded to the high point person in each division. Medals go to the first three places in each race in the Senior Boys' and the Girls' Division.

Ribbons will be given in the Junior division for the first three places in each race.

George Oldham will serve as master of ceremonies of the water carnival while Glen Puckett will be the starter in the swimming meet.

Other officials include John Drebbel, timer and judge; Dr. T. J. Williamson and Pete Cook, judges in swimming events; Helen Ann Hardy and Tommy Hart, diving judges; and Harold Roosen, recorder.

The show is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. It is free to the public.

Man Sentenced For Killing Wife

RENO (UP) — Dr. Morston J.
Thorpe was sentenced to 10 years to life yesterday for strangling to death his wife Eliza, 35, in a frenzy he blamed on sexual frustration.

The holding 50-year-old X-ray specialist pleaded guilty of second degree murder.

Police said Thorpe told them he beat his wife May 30 when she resisted his advances after he found her in a nightgown doing laundry.

They had occupied separate rooms the past two years of their seven-year marriage and both had undergone psychiatric treatment.

fiscal year beginning Sept. 1, 1954 and ending Aug. 31, 1955.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Bids will be accepted for air cooling units to be installed in the auditorium building of Howard County
Junior College, on or before 5 p.m.
August 5, 1954. Bids may be mailed to the office of the President of the College or left with the President's secretary and stored.

um Building, Big Spring, Texas.

NOTICE OF HEARING TO APPROPRIATE PUBLIC WORKS OF THE
STATE OF TEXAS

Notice is hereby given, to whom concerned, that the COLORADO RIV-ER MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT, the post office address of which is Big Spring, Texas, on the 17th day of May, 1954, filed its application in the office of the Board of Water Engineers for the State of Texas, in which it applies for a permit to amend its present permit No. 1394, as amended, to include the right to utilize not to exceed 15,000 acre feet of water of the Colorado River, for the additional use of mining and recovery of minerals.

This application does not involve the appropriation of any additional water nor any change in location of diversion and storage.

A hearing on the application of the said COLORADO RIVER MUNICIPAL WATER DISTRICT, being held, will be held by the Board of Water Engineers for the State of Texas, in the office of the Board at Austin, Texas, on MONDAY, AUGUST 9, 1954, beginning at ten o'clock A. M., at which time and place all parties interested may appear and be heard. Such hearing will be continued from time to time, and from place to place, if necessary, until a final decision has been made relative to said application as the said Board of Water Engineers may deem right, equitable and proper.

Given under and by virtue of an order of the Board of Water Engineers for the State of Texas, at the office of the said Board at Austin, Texas,

Humble Employees Denied Wage Hike

BAYTOWN (AP)—A six per cent wage increase has been denied union employees at the Baytown Refinery of Humble Oil.

Gordon Farned, plant manager, told the Baytown Employees Federation that operations do not justify a wage increase. Humble officials said the refinery is operating at 79 per cent of capacity.

Union officials had based their request on an increase in the individual output of workers.

Mundt Calls For Lavenia Case Explanation; Adams May Quit

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said today the Senate Investigations subcommittee is "trying for an elemental factor in American justice" in seeking an explanation for the denial of security clearance to Thomas W. Lavenia.

The Defense Department has refused to clear Lavenia, office manager and assistant counsel to the subcommittee, to handle secret documents. It has declined to say why on grounds that to do so would require disclosure of confidential information.

"Somebody's got to say this boy is guilty of something," Mundt said in an interview. He is ranking Republican member of the subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

McCarthy accused the Defense Department last night of having "improperly maligned" Lavenia. He made public letters demanding that representatives of the Defense and Justice Departments appear at a closed session tomorrow to explain the denial of clearance.

McCarthy said he had written Secretary of Defense Wilson: "The department's refusal to supply us information in this case leaves a cloud upon both the department and Mr. Lavenia. . . . To hide behind a technicality that the information is of a 'confidential nature' helps neither Mr. Lavenia nor your department in what appears to be much more than merely an unfortunate situation."

The New York Times reported in a Washington dispatch, meanwhile, that administration and congressional sources said they expected the "early resignation" of John G. Adams as counselor of the Army.

Adams was a key figure in the row between McCarthy and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides, which the subcommittee investigated at 35 days of public hearings. The Times said pressures for Adams' resignation had been developing since the hearings ended June 17, and it added:

"Now informed officials expect him to go, perhaps before the final report, with recommendations, is made . . . within the Eisenhower administration. It was acknowledged at a high level that Mr. Adams would go but that he might be given another position outside the Army Department."

Adams, reported vacationing in Canada, could not be reached for comment.

comment. Secretary Stevens was also out of Washington. Secretary Wilson told a news conference Tuesday he had asked for no resignations in the wake of the McCarthy-Army hearings and that some were pending.

Roy M. Cohn, who like Adams was a key figure in the hearings, resigned this week as subcommittee chief counsel.

Lavenia, a former Secret Service man, told newsmen he thinks the reason he wasn't cleared now is that in 1936, as a student at the St. Johns University Law School in Brooklyn, N.Y., he was elected vice president of the American Law Students Assn., a group McCarthy has termed Leftist. Lavenia said he attended only one meeting and walked out of it.

Bonus On Paving
BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—City officials are very well pleased with street conditions on College Drive.

Mayor Jesse Webb Jr. yesterday knelt and patted the blacktop. Public Works Director J. Lester White waxed eloquent over the workmanship and valued it at several thousand dollars.

Neither the city nor the state did the paving and they don't know who did.

Who Stole De Bell?
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The wedding chimes disappeared from the Church of the Immaculate Conception and it was assumed that somebody had stolen them.

Police were notified by the Rev. Victor Bazzanella and a search was started.

But the priest himself solved the mystery a few hours later.

He said he was informed his own parishioners had the chimes taken out for repairs and had forgotten to tell him.

Thanksgiving Day
WADESBORO, N. C. (AP)—Neighbors of Aster Gray of Wadesboro were feasting on turkey today.

A bolt of lightning struck Gray's poultry house, killing 106 turkeys.

And Don't Go Near
DENTON, Ga. (AP)—A pair of ducks that can't swim are living evidence of the drought in this area.

When they had reached the age of eight weeks without ever seeing a puddle big enough to paddle in, their owner, Eddie Williams, 6, decided it was high time they got a chance to do what's supposed to come naturally to all ducks.

He filled a tub with water, tossed them in and stood by to watch. And a good thing he did, too. Eddie barely saved them from drowning.

Now they apparently consider water a death-trap for dryland ducks and won't go near the dangerous stuff.

Three Railroad Men Die In Crash Of Train, Gas Truck
PITTSBURG, Tex. (AP)—Railroad workers were repairing today damage caused by the fiery collision of a freight train and gasoline truck in which three men were killed.

The victims were caught in the cab of the Diesel engine and burned to death before they could jump.

Killed were engineer Joe Cain, 35, of Hughes Springs, fireman Billy Smith, 30, of Greenville, and O. W. Phillips, 30, of Hughes Springs, the head brakeman.

The truck driver, E. J. Hewitt of Houston, jumped after the collision and had only minor injuries.

The truck was from the Ora Deer Oil Co. of Houston.

The Louisiana & Arkansas train was leaving Pittsburgh at Daingerfield. The engine, tender and two coal gondolas were wrecked.

The three crewmen were burned beyond recognition. The fire continued for more than two hours after the 1:15 p.m. accident.

Princess Leaves Dance Party Late
LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret came home with the milkmen and the chaps gave her a cheer this morning after an all-night dance at the Savoy.

It was just after 5 a.m. when the fun-loving Princess called it quits at Lord Hambleton's party and drove home to Clarence House. She had wound up the all-night do by dancing the Charleston.

Charwomen on their way to cleaning jobs in London homes and office buildings recognized the Royal car waiting outside the hotel. Margaret smiled at the day-break reception when she emerged and drove off.

The party at the Savoy was a coming-of-age outing for Katherine Smith, Hambleton's sister. The host entertained his royal and ordinary guests with calypso songs and Cossack dancing.

Big Spring Aggies Set Meeting Tonight
The Big Spring Texas A&M Club will meet tonight at the home of Hayes Stripling Jr., Matthews and West Park.

Stripling, vice president, said that a film entitled "We Are The Aggies" will be shown at the called meeting. He urges as many members as possible to attend.

Wetbacks Urged To Re-Enter U. S. As Legal Braceros

WESLACO (AP)—Mexican wetbacks, deported from the Rio Grande Valley by the thousands each day, are being urged to come back to Texas as legal immigrants.

Governors of five Mexican states and Valley farmers joined in the appeal for legal workers today.

Some 2,425 illegal workers were sent by bus to El Paso yesterday for deportation to the interior of Mexico. Such shipments have gone on almost daily since the Border Patrol started rounding up the aliens last week.

Some 25,000 wetbacks returned voluntarily to Mexico when the roundup started.

President Eisenhower and Sen.

Lyndon Johnson and Price Daniel of Texas took notice in Washington of the wetback problem.

The President said he hoped Congress will approve measures to help stop the wetback flow into this country.

Johnson and Daniel told the Rio

Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce that a Senate Judiciary subcommittee would hold hearings soon on the situation.

In Midland, Rep. Ken Regan called the wetback built to El Paso "an inhumane solution to a difficult problem."

Operation Playground

Methodist young people recently pitched in to clean up and level the back yard of the residence on NW 4th which serves as the church's mission. With rake and hoe, shovels and wheelbarrow, they knocked off the bumps and weeds (above left). Then they discovered the base remaining was a sandbed. Clyde McMahon fixed that by hauling in new material. Various classes and groups donated items of equipment. Now the yard is serving as a playground. As high as 18 have turned out at times to use the recreational facilities.

WIND, DRYNESS CITED

Fire Precautions Urged By Crocker

Fire chief H. V. Crocker today warned the people of Big Spring that hot and windy weather, such as is prevalent in this area, promotes fire possibilities.

He pointed out that it does not take much to start a fire because practically everything that can burn is dry. This includes weeds, grass, trees, and even the lumber in houses.

And if a fire does start, Crocker explains that strong winds are likely to spread it to other dry items which might be near.

"So far this summer the people of Big Spring apparently have been very careful, and we in the fire department appreciate it," Crocker said. "We have had only a few grass fires."

Crocker explained that people seldom set fire to trash and leave it nowadays. Practically every trash fire is watched until it is extinguished, he said. "People are more fire conscious than they used to be," he stated. "They know that if they want to protect their homes and other property that trash and other small fires which they make must be out before they leave."

Nevertheless, there are still a number of fires in Big Spring. And when there are fires, Crocker urges that the fire department be called.

"Call us first and then go back and fight the blaze with whatever you have available," Crocker said. "People who try to fight their fires before they call us usually find that they wait too late. Fires get out of hand easily."

If a fire occurs in a house, Crocker urges that the house be closed up. If possible, the room in which it occurs should be closed off from the rest of the house, he said.

"If the house is left open and the wind gets to the blaze, the fire will spread quickly," he said. When the house is closed up, on the other hand, chances are that the fire will spread very little. When rooms which are on fire are closed off, the damage can usually be confined to that room, he explained.

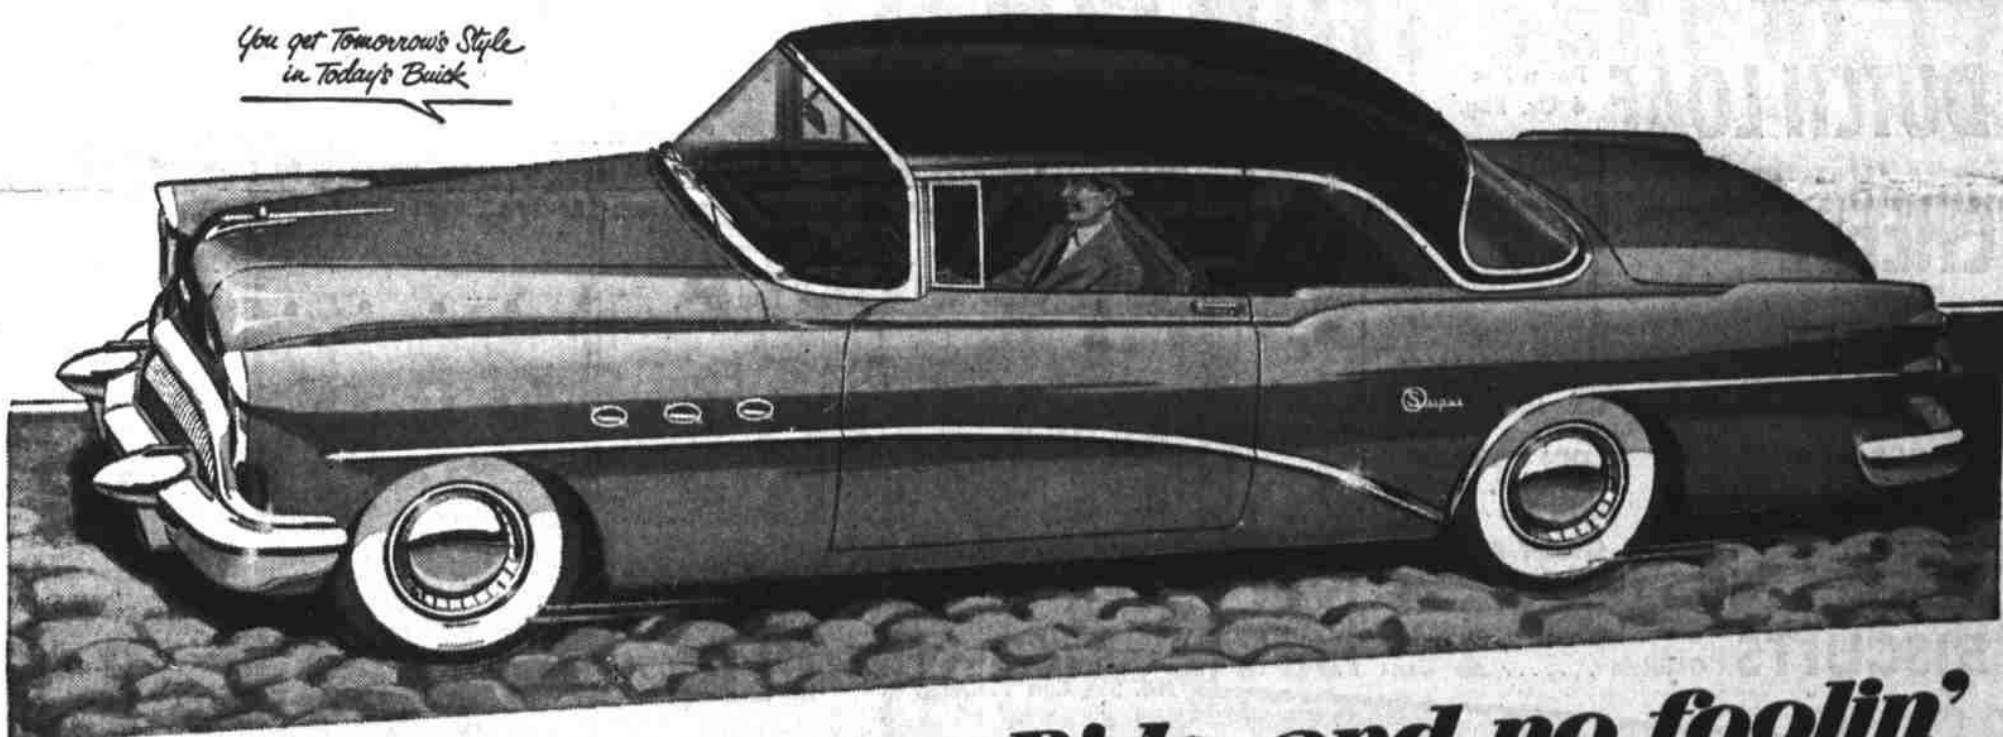

"If closing up a house prohibits a person from calling the department, he should close it up anyway and phone from next door," the chief pointed out.

Crocker says that his fire fighting personnel are running into a lot of bridged fuses—those with pennies behind them. Pennies behind fuses prohibit the circuit from being broken when there is a heavy load and sometimes lead to fires, he explained.

"The thing to do is put in good fuses, and if they blow get an electrician. The trouble is probably an overloaded fuse, which is common during this day and time because of new electrical equipment."

A warning also was issued to parents concerning their children who play with matches. Two fires were caused only last week by children playing, and as the wood was dry and wind strong quite a bit of damage resulted at both.

You get Tomorrow's Style in Today's Buick

It's a Million Dollar Ride—and no foolin'

You can see for yourself the gay and gorgeous styling that's sure to be the fresh note next year, too.

And you can easily learn that here is power a-plenty—the highest V8 power, Series for Series, in the annals of Buick history.

But what you can never know, till you try it yourself, is the feel of a Buick in motion.

It's a ride as precision-soft and firm as only coiled steel can make it.

Yes, coil springs on all four wheels. And a full-length torque-tube drive for true tracking. And a massive X-braced frame for solid steadiness. And specially calibrated shock absorbers, V-braced struts, wide-rim wheels, a unique front-end geometry—plus a host of other betterments too numerous to mention.

You feel the result of this advanced engineering every mile you drive—in what is literally and figuratively a Million Dollar Ride.

You feel it in the superb and buoyant cradling. You feel it in the serene levelness of your going over ruts and ridges. You feel it in the precise snubbing of jars and jounces. You feel it in a new kind of steadiness, handling ease, curve control.

Only thing for you to do, we believe, is to come try this miracle of motion—and we'll be glad to oblige.

That way you'll also learn firsthand about the style, the power, and the value that have made Buick such a best-selling success this year. For Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

(Smart tip: With Buick such a beautiful buy this year, think what a winner it's bound to be at trade-in time! Come see us this week!)

NO OTHER CAR GIVES YOU ALL THIS:

GREATEST STYLING ADVANCE IN YEARS with completely new bodies across the board; lowered roof-lines, longer and higher fender sweep, exclusive sweeppear design.

NEWEST VISIBILITY ADVANCE with backseat windshields that give area around full 360° arc.

PINEST MILLION DOLLAR RIDE—tube drive, longer wheelbases—these stabilize "cornering," insure more positive control, more responsive handling.

HIGHEST V8 HORSEPOWERS in Buick history—first advanced vertical-valve V8 engines with up to 8.5 to 1 compression and 200 hp—plus more fuel efficiency from new Power-Head Pistons.

BIGGEST VENTILATION ADVANCE in Buick interior comfort; new, screened intake just below windshield brings in huge quantities of outside air at hood-high level, free of road heat and fumes.

PLUS THE WIDEST SELECTION OF MODERN FEATURES—available on most models either as standard equipment or extra-cost options:

TWIN-TURBINE SYNCHRO-FLUX • SAFETY POWER STEERING
AUTOMATIC-BOOSTER POWER BRAKES • POWER-POSITIONED 4-WAY FRONT SEAT
POWER-OPERATED RADIO ANTENNA • EASY-EYE GLASS
ELECTRIC WINDOW LIFTS • WIRE WHEELS • DRAFT-FREE AIRCONDITIONER

Brig. Gen. Velochana Invasa, of Thailand, and Lt. K. G. Herring, Big Spring, Texas, are "buddy seats" for a simulated parachute jump from a 250-foot tower at Fort Benning, Ga. Gen. Invasa, deputy chief of the Thai Army Field Forces, is due to return to his country Friday after a week's orientation on American training facilities. Lt. Herring is connected with the Infantry School's Airborne Department at Fort Benning.

Riding The GRUB LINE With Franklin Reynolds

What has been described as, and what we'll affirm is: "The most unique soldier narrative in Confederate history," is at last being made available by the News Messenger at Marshall, Texas.

It is: "Fourteen Hundred and 91 Days In The Confederate Army: A Journal kept by W. W. Heartsill for four years, one month and one day."

Originally it was printed on a $10 hand press in a barn at Marshall, the home of Heartsill, and only 100 copies were produced. It was illustrated with 61 photographs and these, supplied by Heartsill's companions during the war, were simply pasted in the volumes. Paper wasn't easy to come by when the diary was first printed and so Heartsill used just whatever paper came his way, that would do for the job.

As a consequence this journal had become the most eagerly sought volume of contemporary Confederate history. None of the original volumes, first printed in 1876, has ever turned up for sale, and it's just as well, perhaps, that they didn't, because if they had only a few interested persons would have been rich enough to buy it.

But now it is available to book lovers, historians and collectors through a facsimile printing process, which reproduces the pictures as well as the text, and copies may be obtained for $6 each by ordering from The News Messenger at Marshall.

It is the story of the W. P. Lane Rangers, a Confederate Army unit that served in both the Trans-Mississippi and with the Army of Tennessee. The photographs themselves are quite a rarity, and they have been faithfully reproduced in this facsimile volume which has been edited by Bell Irvin Wiley.

There's humor in the day-by-day diary of the Marshall soldier, including the imaginative appearance of "Lincoln's Fleet" on Devil's River, at Camp Hudson. The same sense of humor is reflected in the author's preface, where he has written:

"Sacred history records one event that will never occur again—the flood—and as sure, a second edition of this journal will never be printed by the undersigned on an Octavo Novelty Press."

Heartsill, a family name still known and respected in Marshall, explains that "On the 9th day of December, 1874, the first page was printed—the last on the 28th of June 1876."

Recounting his difficulties the author confided that "In cold weather the ink was too thick, in the summer I would sometimes get too much on the roller, and thus I worked, and have succeeded in turning out a very poor work mechanically, and I might truthfully say, altogether."

The author points out to the reader that:

"You will find this journal chock-full of three things, first, doings of the W. P. Lane Rangers; second, bad orthography; and thirdly, a great deal of shocking grammar." Admittedly, the author was not a master of literary style of grammar or of spelling. But his simple, straightforward account of the daily activities of a soldier has now become the most prized possession of collectors of Texas history. Those who take advantage of this opportunity to get a facsimile copy will find in the volume a charm, historical appeal, and direct eloquence that combine to far outshine the errors in grammar and spelling.

The range of subjects coincides with the range of activities of the Lane Ranger company. Beginning as they left Marshall after being felled by the ladies, the day-by-day account goes on through the war. It chronicles the story of the East Texas troops in West Texas; of the author's duty with Bragg's Army in Tennessee; a word picture of the bloody Chickamauga campaign; and perhaps the most accurate description on record of actual living conditions in the war-torn South.

Book lovers, historians, libraries and collectors are indeed indebted to Bell Irvin Wiley for editing the facsimile volume and to The Marshall News Messenger for making it available to the Southwest. Wiley's interest now makes available a volume previously unobtainable, the original edition being the prized possession of families in the Marshall area.

We cherish the hope, too, that somebody else will do something similar for a few other of the rarer and least obtainable volumes of Texas history. In the interim a letter to Marshall will bring a copy of Heartsill's journal.

Fingerprint Records Serve To Protect Individual, Too

It is estimated that the fingerprints of 55 million individuals—more than one-third of America's 150 million population—are recorded at Federal Bureau of Investigation's Identification Department in Washington, D. C.

But this does not indicate that a corresponding number of persons are criminals. The use of fingerprint records exclusively for criminal identification has long been outmoded, local law enforcers report. A principal part of records on file in FBI headquarters are for the protection of the individual.

Personnel at local sheriff and city police offices believe that the number of recorded fingerprints is increasing faster than the population. Two persons at the police office record the fingerprints of persons booked. Deputies do the duties at the sheriff's office. The records, along with pictures, are then submitted to the FBI. Local files have been kept since 1924, when the FBI was created.

The FBI's files include the fingerprints of all Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps personnel as well as the prints of civilians wishing to have their fingerprints on record as a protection against accident, amnesia or loss of identity.

Fingerprints pertaining to criminals are maintained separately, local policemen said. These records are used by police agencies from all parts of the country for the purpose of locating criminals wanted in connection with local violations. An average of more than a thousand fugitives per month are located by using the FBI's files. A wanted notice is posted in the FBI Identification Division when a criminal escapes after committing a crime. When he is arrested for any cause again, the FBI notifies the interested agency.

FBI agents also assist law enforcement agencies in locating missing persons for friends and relatives. Through this means many of the approximately 200,000 U. S. citizens who disappear yearly are located.

Fingerprinting is the only unchangeable and infallible means of positive identification known to man, a sheriff's deputy said. "No two are identical."

Fireboats can pump water at such high pressure that the streams can batter down brick walls.

Education Said Answer To Traffic Fatality Problem

If traffic fatalities increase at their present rate, by 1982 more people will be killed in wrecks than are born each year, said John D. Hunter in a speech at the Big Spring Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday.

Hunter, San Angelo insurance agent, represented the Southwest Insurance Information Service of Dallas. He was introduced by George Oldham, executive secretary for the Citizens Traffic Commission, in a program arranged by Charles Weeg.

Traffic accidents in this country in 1953 cost 38,500 lives, injured 125,000 and caused property damage in excess of $3,000,000, the speaker said.

Hunter said the majority of traffic accidents are caused by speeding, intoxication, carelessness and antiquated highways. Only five per cent of the automobiles involved in crashes have mechanical defects, and road conditions are responsible for but another five per cent of the accidents, he said.

Solution to the problem is driver education, Hunter declared. All accidents would be prevented if all drivers were made perfect.

Four steps listed as a means of meeting the problem were driver training courses in all high schools, strict law enforcement, strict driver's license requirements, periodic examination of drivers, and the setting of "good driving examples," on the part of all motorists.

Hunter said that during the Korean War two persons were killed in traffic for every one killed in battle, and that 36 were injured in traffic accidents for every soldier wounded in the war.

He rapped auto manufacturers for building and advertising more powerful and faster cars each year, and scored fuel producers for the emphasis they place on "getting there first" with their respective brands. He praised tire manufacturers for stressing safety in their products and advertising.

Hunter said the insurance information service was created by some 40 insurance companies for the purpose of "getting out the facts about losses" due to traffic accidents. Insurance premiums are based on past losses, he said.

City's Soap Box Derby Champ To Face Fun, Thrills At Akron

One of the big experiences of his life is coming up soon for Charles Edward Morris. Fourteen-year-old "Lefty," you may recall, is the Big Spring champion in the Soap Box Derby. And as such, he will be departing August 10 for Akron, Ohio. There, on August 15, he competes against champions from all over North America and Germany, in the 17th All-American Soap Box Derby.

Lefty is getting things in readiness for the trip. His racer is being repaired (it got a shaking when it was picked up, along with Lefty, by admirers after he won the race here) and repainted. It will be crated and shipped to Akron in time for final inspection.

Lefty will be accompanied on the big trip by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Morris, and his younger sister, Virginia Ruth. The Morris family will go by train, and return in a new Chevrolet automobile, being arranged for delivery to them in Akron by Tidwell Chevrolet Company, sponsor of the local race along with The Herald and the Lions Club.

From the moment they arrive in Akron, Thursday noon, August 12, the champions will be the center of all activity. There will be lots of work along with the fun when they go to the big Derby track to "tune up" their racers for the big day.

Climax will be the race on Sunday, August 15, for the $15,000 in college scholarships and other valuable awards. After the race will be the Banquet of Champions where prizes will be presented. Each boy will receive a handsome wrist watch and an All-American Soap Box Derby racing diploma.

Derby Downs, built on a hillside at the edge of the city, is a fitting setting for the "greatest amateur racing event in the world." The smooth concrete strip is 975.4 feet long and has all reserved seats along it with a capacity of about 60,000. It is beautifully landscaped and has all the mechanical facilities to handle the race and the crowd efficiently. There are devices for split-second timing, and precision starting and facilities for press, radio, newsreel and television coverage of the race.

Upon arrival Thursday preceding the race, champions mount the Golden Stairs outside the Mayflower Hotel, are serenaded by the Official Soap Box Derby band and cheered by the crowd as their names are announced.

After being outfitted at headquarters, they are moved to Derbytown which will be their home while they are in Akron. Fifty trained counselors are assigned to them.

Friday is "Test Run Day" at Derby Downs where each boy is allowed a trial run down the hill and a chance to put finishing touches to his racer.

Saturday is fun day when the champions are entertained at Derbytown by the celebrities.

Sunday is THE day!

Eisenhower Denies Opposition To TVA

WASHINGTON (U) — President Eisenhower said that anybody who accuses him of trying to destroy the Tennessee Valley Authority is in error—to put it as mildly as possible.

As for his legislative program in general, Eisenhower said he thinks it is coming along in good shape although Congress is not giving him everything he asked for.

He spoke without rancor of Tuesday's House vote turning down his four-year public housing program, and said simply he will make recommendations to the next Congress aimed at meeting the housing needs which will exist at that time.

But in the TVA dispute, he said, it is a question of building steam plants to produce electricity. He said the problem is: If the federal government is going to undertake the building of the plants, why not do it in such places as the Missouri Valley before doing it in the already developed Tennessee Valley region.

Scientists estimate that the average depth of the ocean is 13,000 feet.

Mexican Police Nab Gangleader Aged 12

MEXICO CITY (U)—Mexican police have arrested the leader of a widely sought gang of robbers. He's 12 years old.

The boy, Carlos Vazquez Reyes, confessed to leading a ring which has been burglarizing jewels and other valuable articles from homes, police said.

The young gangster refused to name his accomplices, saying, "I am the leader and I will not squeal on them."

Coffee Firm Issues 10 Pct. Bonus To All Employees

HOUSTON — The Duncan Coffee Company has declared a 10 per cent bonus for all of its hourly wage and salaried employees, based on their pay for the first six months of this year. Announcement of the bonus declaration was made by H. M. Duncan, president and founder of the company.

Announcing the bonus, Duncan said, "In appreciation for the loyalty and sincere efforts which our employees have repeatedly demonstrated, it has been decided to give this mid-year 10 per cent bonus. This will make 36 consecutive years in which the company has given at least a 10 per cent extra bonus to its employees. We are proud of this record and hope it will be possible to continue it, without interruption."

The Duncan Coffee Company was founded in 1918 and is now one of the world's largest importers and roasters of coffee. It has long been a leader in the field of employer-employee relations. In addition to yearly pay bonuses, the company has established a network of employee benefits, which include life insurance and accidental death and dismemberment insurance plans, and low-cost hospitalization, sickness, accident and police insurance. The company also maintains a regular "service" bonus for employees, calculated at 1 per cent of base pay for each year of continual service upward to 20 per cent.

Absentee Vote Sets New High In Houston

HOUSTON (U)—A record 2,917 absentee ballots have been cast for Saturday's Democratic and Republican primaries in Harris County. W. D. Miller, county clerk, said today 2,824 Democratic ballots had been cast by the deadline Tuesday night. There were 93 Republican ballots.

Pardons Board Sets Appeal By Whitaker

AUSTIN (U)—The State Board of Pardons has set for Aug. 6 an appeal for clemency by Walter E. Whitaker Jr., sentenced to die Sept. 1 for the slaying of his Lubbock schoolgirl sweetheart.

The case originally had been set for July 27, then was postponed to Aug. 3 and later to Aug. 6 on the request of his parents who told the board they were unable to appear here on the earlier dates.

Whitaker, son of a well-to-do

Hartford, Conn., family was originally sentenced to die in the electric chair Aug. 2. Gov. Allan Shivers then granted the customary 30-day stay of execution.

Slain Detective Had Conquered Disease

OKLAHOMA CITY (U)—The widow of Detective Bennie Cravatt, killed while stopping an attempted holdup last week disclosed that he was given up for dead with a rare ailment 13 years ago.

Mrs. Cravatt said her husband was one of a few victims to survive Hodgkins disease, a lymphatic condition almost always fatal.

Japanese Paroled

TOKYO (U)—Sixteen Japanese sentenced as World War II criminals by Allied military courts were paroled Wednesday after serving one third of their terms.

Broiled Turkey New Item On Summer Menu

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Broiling turkey is a kitchen technique that deserves to have wider acceptance. We first got interested in this way of cooking the bird via one of our favorite cookbooks—published early in the century. There we found it featured on at least half a dozen menus. Three of these late-Victorian ways of serving broiled turkey are particularly appealing: with broiled bacon and water cream, grilled sweet potatoes or thin slices of lightly broiled Virginia ham.

If you want to try broiling turkey, get yourself one of the young broiler-fryer turkeys now available. We have used the four-to-five pound (ready-to-cook weight) turkeys with great success, and they are meaty enough to give generous servings.

To prepare the bird for the broiling pan, have it quartered and the neck, wing tips, keel bone and spinal bone removed. Clean in cold water and dry. Before broiling, we like to rub the quartered turkey with a generous amount of olive oil and dust it with paprika; we season with salt and freshly-ground pepper after broiling.

Use the bottom part of the broiling pan without the rack, or some other shallow pan, and place the turkey skin side down on it. The top of the turkey should be 7 to 9 inches from the heat, and the heat or pan should be adjusted so that the turkey begins to brown lightly in about 10 minutes. If it doesn't, your pan is too low or your heat not high enough; or if it is browning too quickly, your pan will have to be lower or your heat decreased.

We brush the bird—using a pastry brush—with the fat and drippings in the pan, or add more olive oil if needed. We turn the bird once in a while, according to the way it is coloring, until it is cooked through and the skin is crispy-brown. This takes us about an hour, but a longer time may be necessary. You may use butter, margarine, or some other fat for the turkey, and you may also season with salt and pepper before broiling.

If you have an electric glass tray you will find it perfect for serving. We like to cut the wings from the breast meat, and the drumsticks from the thighs before putting the broiled turkey on the tray; this makes eating easier and also helps family and guests to share their favorite parts. With the tray plugged into a convenient outlet, the turkey stays deliciously hot without drying out.

We preface a broiled turkey supper, recently, with a quick chowder of clam soup. To make the soup use a can of New England type clam chowder or a can of vichyssoise, a can of minced clams (about 7-ounce size) and a cup of cream or milk—or a mixture of cream and milk—to start with, and more cream or milk to get the flavor and consistency you like. Let the soup stand in the refrigerator long enough to blend flavors and chill. At serving time, sprinkle each serving with minced chives; or use finely chopped green onion tops—although chives are best.

With the broiled turkey we served curried rice and chutney. To prepare the rice, steam a cup of converted-type rice according to package directions until the water has been absorbed. Toss with 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon (or more) of curry powder and a handful of pignolia nuts. If pignolia aren't available, use silvered blanched (but not toasted) almonds. Our salad was a variety of greens—lettuce, romaine, escarole, and chicory—with thinly sliced cucumber and French dressing.

We had a frosted cake for dessert and a bowl of cherries. The cherries were floated in ice water in a crystal bowl—a French and Italian way of serving to which we are addicted. When cherries aren't in season, try serving small bunches of grapes this way. You'll like the cool way the fruit tastes, fresh from its icy bath, and your guests will admire the glamorous way it looks!

For a simpler menu, serve broiled turkey with corn-on-the-cob, a summer salad and melon.

Three Canned Meats Make Party Loaf

Looked over your grocer's canned meat shelf lately? You'll find a broad selection of canned meats sure to make main dish news at your house, says Reba Staggs, home economist.

For example, canned beef stew, ready prepared for you and served after a few minutes heating time, is perfect topping for split hot biscuits. At another meal, you can easily add a south of the border touch with tamales. Heat them, then serve with a mixed vegetable salad for a luncheon quickie. Breakfast or lunch either have a hearty find in Vienna sausages sliced into fluffy scrambled eggs or into corn pudding.

A dinner idea from the canned meat shelf is a luncheon loaf frosted with whipped potatoes. Completely cover the loaf with whipped potatoes, then place in your oven to heat the loaf through and to brown the potatoes.

Celery Pinwheels
Cut base from celery bunch. Separate, and dry stalks. Fill each stalk with tangey cheese spread. Press stalks together in shape of original bunch and tie with string. Chill. To serve, cut into 1/4 to 1/2 inch slices.

A La Mode Brownies Kids' Treat

For her youngsters Mom will want to present this tempting dessert. It's one the children will be doubly pleased with because it's prepared of both cookie and ice cream. In other words, it's Chocolate Brownies a la mode.

CHOCOLATE BROWNIES
1/2 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup lard
1/2 cup chopped nuts
2 squares chocolate
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
Sift flour and salt together. Place lard in mixing bowl and cream until soft; add warm melted chocolate and stir until thoroughly blended. Beat the whole eggs until light and fluffy; add sugar, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition; add egg mixture to chocolate mixture and fold in flour, nuts and vanilla. Bake in a shallow 8-inch pan in a moderate oven (350°) for 25 to 30 minutes. Cut into squares.

Put Ice Cream In Baskets For Party

A party idea is to serve ice cream in cookie baskets, which are also molded around custard cups.

ICE CREAM IN BASKETS
1-3 cup maple syrup
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sifted flour
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 quart ice cream
Heat maple syrup to boiling point. Add butter; stir until melted. Remove from heat. Stir in flour, sugar and vanilla. Drop by tablespoonsful on a well greased baking sheet about four inches apart. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees F) about 14 minutes or until golden brown. Yields six cookies.

Remove from oven. Allow to cool only one minute. Carefully remove each cookie with wide spatula on inverted custard cup. If cookies become too hard to shape, they may be returned to oven for a few seconds. Fill each basket with spoonfuls of your favorite flavor ice cream.

For That Salad
A fruit salad often benefits from the addition of cheese. For something pretty, chill a cheese spread and roll teaspoonfuls of it in small balls. Now roll the balls in toasted chopped nuts.

Make Chicken Memorable, Barbecue It Outdoors

If you like your chicken hot and spicy...and if your park is equipped for cookery...here are some recipes that will make you remember this year's picnics for many, many seasons to come.

BARBECUED CHICKEN
Build a fire of charcoal or hardwood. If wood is used, let it burn down to a glowing bed of coals. Slow cooking with low, even heat is the secret of success with this kind of fare.

Have the chickens halved, by splitting down the back, washed, drained and chilled. (A lot of folks do all right barbecuing cut-up broilers that are available at most meat counters.) Dip the pieces in sauce and put them on the grill. Place them skin side up. Turn the pieces every now and then, being careful not to pierce the meat. If pieces are punctured, savory juices drip into the fire. Baste with sauce from time to time. Keep the fire low as the chicken won't cook too fast. Birds should weigh from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 pounds (dressed). Cooking time 1 to 1 1/2 hours.

BARBECUE SAUCES
You should use two sauces in barbecuing chicken out of doors, one for the first 50 to 60 minutes and another for the last 15 minutes. Here are two recipes, which will make enough for five chickens.

Beginning Sauce: 2 1/2 cups vinegar, 1/2 cup water, 3/4 pound butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons salt, 2 teaspoons black pepper.

Finishing Sauce: 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1/2 medium onion, 1/2 of 8 to 9 oz. bottle of prepared barbecue sauce, 2 tablespoons of vinegar, 1 1/2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons of Worcestershire sauce.

Dip chicken in beginning sauce to start, then baste each time chicken is turned. Turn every 4 to 5 minutes. How about eating chicken in the park next weekend?

Stuffed Dill Pickle

Cut thin slice from stem end of three dill pickles. With apple corer or sharp paring knife, remove centers. Stuff centers, using cream cheese, pimento cheese, and deviled ham. Chill 3-4 hours, then slice thinly. Arrange three slices of each in shamrock fashion on individual salad plates, using thin strips of pickle for stem.

For Meat Loaf

If you're short on bread crumbs needed for that meat loaf, substitute bran or corn flakes.

Vary Sauce For Veal Servings

Veal's delicate flavor makes it an excellent food for serving with rich sauces. Food expert Reba Staggs points out that since veal is young and has only a light fat coating it is best cooked by slow moist heat, making it simple to prepare the meat with a sauce.

This meat combines well with a wide range of flavors. For instance, after the veal steak (arm or blade, sirloin), cutlet or chop (rib, loin or kidney) is browned, add condensed tomato soup or tomato juice or cream of mushroom soup in place of the usual cooking liquid, water. Sour cream is another ideal cooking liquid to produce a rich sauce in which to serve veal. Cream of celery soup, sweet-sour sauce or currant jelly

ELLIS NOODLES N' BEEF
A Big Meal at Little Cost

Signs burned with hot water are other possible cooking liquids. With the liquid added, cover the utensil tightly and let the meat cook slowly until tender. This will be about 45 minutes to one hour, depending upon the thickness of the meat.

MRS. R. G. THOMPSON AND HER THREE D'S

This Cheese Loaf Is 'Catching' As Peanuts

Anyone with three young boys would hardly find the time to entertain, but Mrs. Richard G. Thompson does.

If she isn't having relatives in her home for the weekend, chances are she's having friends in to see something special on TV or to play bridge.

One of her tastiest snacks for serving at little informal gatherings is a cheese loaf that is delicious spread on potato chips, crackers, celery or on practically anything. It's like peanuts, you can't stop eating it. You're very apt to trump your partner's ace while thinking how much you'd like to get up and go over to the snack table for another helping.

Mrs. Thompson, her three boys and Capt. Thompson live at 1709 Ayilford. The captain is an assistant flight commander at Webb Air Force Base. Bowling, the boys, and cooking and keeping house are Dorothy Thompson's special interests. She also squeezes in time to teach a class of three-year-olds at the First Baptist Church. She will be an assistant den mother next fall.

CHEESE LOAF
Ingredients:
4 different glasses of prepared cheese spreads (Mrs. Thompson prefers pimiento, sharp, Old English and relish)
1 large package cream cheese
1 medium onion (minced fine)
Garlic salt to taste
Black walnuts
Method:
Mix cheese, onion and garlic salt well with electric mixer. Put nuts in bottom of ring mold and pour in cheese mixture. Chill at least 12-24 hours for best flavor.

Cover-Up Salmon Is Ideal For Dog Days

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Keep this recipe in mind for those dog days when you don't want to heat up your kitchen for any length of time, but still want to give your family at least one hot dish for lunch or supper. We call it Cover-Up Salmon. It's quickly put together, then broiled in a matter of minutes.

When we tried this entree, Alice McComb—one of the best cooks we know—was helping us test recipes. Alice immediately went to work on a variation of our salmon recipe, and we are giving you her version because it has a delightful added touch.

This dish is frankly fancy looking, but don't let appearances mislead you. It is filling enough for the heartiest male appetite. Under the mask of mayonnaise there is a generous serving of the salmon.

There are so many appropriate accompaniments to Cover-Up Salmon. Here are four of them that are particularly suitable in warm weather.
1. Bundles of whole green beans (home-cooked or canned) marinated in a vinaigrette sauce. To make the sauce just mix olive or other salad oil, vinegar, a suspicion of dry mustard, salt and freshly ground pepper. The beans should be cold, of course, and at serving time may be topped with thin rings of onion.
2. A relish of whole-kernel corn, finely diced celery and sweet red or green pepper in an old-fashioned dressing of vinegar, sugar, salt and freshly ground pepper.
3. Drained bundles of canned or frozen cooked asparagus "tied" with strips of canned pimiento.
4. Thin slices of fluted cucumber and sprigs of water cress.

COVER-UP SALMON
Ingredients:
One 1-pound can red salmon
4 slices bread
1 tablespoon lemon or lime juice
½ cup mayonnaise
Method:
Open salmon can at one end; carefully turn out salmon in one piece. Cut salmon crosswise, into 4 slices. Use empty salmon can to cut each slice of bread into rounds. Place bread rounds on broiler rack to toast lightly on one side. Place salmon slices, using wide spatula, on untoasted side of bread rounds; sprinkle with lemon juice. Place on broiler rack with surface of food about 3 inches below heat. Broil 5 to 8 minutes, or until salmon is heated through. Watch so as not to scorch and adjust rack or heat if necessary. Cover top and sides of salmon with mayonnaise; broil 2 to 3 minutes longer. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

BACON FAT DRESSING
2 slices bacon, cut into ½-inch pieces
1 egg, well beaten
3 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
Wash and dry salad greens and break into pieces. Sauté bacon bits in small skillet. Remove skillet from heat; remove bacon bits and drain on a paper towel. Combine egg, vinegar, sugar and salt. Gradually stir in cooled bacon fat. Return to skillet; cook over very low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Pour over greens; add bacon bits; toss lightly and serve immediately. Makes six servings.

RUSSIAN DRESSING
2-3 cup mayonnaise
3 tablespoons chili sauce
1 tablespoon finely minced onion
Combine ingredients. Serve over lettuce. Makes seven-eighths cup. For something just a bit unusual and temptingly good, try spicy mayonnaise.

HONEY CREAM DRESSING
½ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons strained honey
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
Combine mayonnaise and honey, fold in whipped cream. This is an excellent dressing for fresh fruit salads. Makes 2 ½ cups.

STRAWBERRY FRAPPE
3 cups milk
1 12-ounce package frozen strawberries, defrosted
1 pint ice cream
Pour milk into bowl. Add frozen strawberries and beat with rotary beater or electric blender, about one minute. Just before serving, top each glass with a large scoop of strawberry ice cream.

Here's How Frappe Is Quickly Made
A quick way to make a frappe is to utilize a rotary beater or electric blender.

STRAWBERRY FRAPPE
3 cups milk
1 12-ounce package frozen strawberries, defrosted
1 pint ice cream
Pour milk into bowl. Add frozen strawberries and beat with rotary beater or electric blender, about one minute. Just before serving, top each glass with a large scoop of strawberry ice cream.

Economical and good is ice cream made from packaged pudding and pie mixers. Only add milk, flavoring and sugar to make two quarts of this delicious frozen dessert.

In Bowl Or Jam, It's Cherry Time

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Serve a sweet cherry bowl now in the backyard, after a supper of grilled frankfurters or hamburgers on rolls, so you can take it easy at mealtime for a change! Then when you feel energetic, keep your eye on future menus; take advantage of the sweet cherry crop fresh on the market and preserve some of the fruit to brighten less sunny days. Because cherries are low in pectin and acid, our recipe for Sweet Cherry Jam calls for handy bottled pectin.

SWEET CHERRY BOWL
Ingredients:
2 pounds sweet cherries
4 apricots
1 avocado
Salad greens
French dressing
Method:
Wash cherries, drain and heap in center of a large bowl lined with salad greens. Around to outside of the cherry mound alternate slices of apricot and avocado. Serve with French dressing. Makes 6 servings.

SWEET CHERRY JAM
Ingredients:
3 pounds (about) sweet cherries
¼ cup lemon juice
Method:
Stem and pit cherries; chop fine and measure ¾ cups cherries into a very large saucepan. Add lemon juice and sugar to fruit; mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in pectin. Skim off foam with metal spoon. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into sterilized jelly glasses. Cover jam with ¼-inch thick hot paraffin. Makes about 11 medium glasses.

Hawaiian Salad Tasty July Dish

HAWAIIAN SALAD
1 12-ounce can luncheon meat, cut in thin strips
1 tablespoon vinegar
¼ teaspoon prepared horseradish
1 cup mayonnaise
2 cups shredded cabbage
2 cups coarsely diced celery
¼ cup minced green pepper
2 cups cubed fresh pineapple or 1 No. 2 can pineapple, drained and cubed Blend vinegar and horseradish with mayonnaise. Toss with remaining ingredients. Serve in lettuce-lined salad bowl. Six servings.

Sardines Go Into Clever Appetizers

SARDINE SURPRISES
1 tin sardines, drained on absorbent paper
Lemon juice
Plain pastry (¾ cup flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, cold water)
Roll pastry very thin. Cut into squares the length of sardines. Cut each square diagonally to form two triangles. Lay a sardine on each piece of pastry and sprinkle with lemon juice. Fold point of triangle opposite diagonal over sardine and press tightly to opposite side. Place on ungreased baking sheet and store in refrigerator until ready to use. Bake 15-20 minutes at 450 degrees F. Serve immediately.

Timely Tips

Cook vegetables in as little water as possible. Cover to prevent loss of vitamins and color. Do not stir. Do not add soda. Peel all vegetables thinly. If possible cook unpeeled to retain vitamins under the skin. Sprinkle fruit slices with lemon juice to retain color.

ABOUT YOUR DISTRICT COURT

During the course of this campaign for District Judge, my opponent has published a series of advertisements which have been critical of my tenure in office as your District Judge. Some of the insinuations my opponent has made — those involving my personal life — I consider too far below the dignity of the office of District

Judge to warrant a reply. I believe that any person who offers himself to the people for the office of District Judge should have a deep reverence for the truth. Certain statements have been made and certain facts and figures have been quoted which are so erroneous that I feel it is only justice to the people that they should know the truth.

The TRUTH

The TRUTH

Of the more than 150 District Judges in Texas, only two have reported saving any time with pre-trial hearings; most who have experimented with this procedure report that it actually wastes time. Most delay in courts is due to the tactics of some attorneys.

Out of the 3,634 cases disposed of since I have been your District Judge, there have been only 13 reversals by the Appellate Court.

The Judge in the District "just west of here" tried only 23 civil cases in 1951 while I tried 37. (See Sworn Affidavit below.)

The Judge in the District "just west of here" tried only 28 civil jury cases in 1952, while I tried 19. (See Sworn Affidavit below.)

Please examine the Sworn Affidavits below and you will see that many judges have served in Midland and Ector Counties. I have served over there many times myself, as well as in Ward and Hockley Counties. There is nothing unusual about Judges helping each other.

I have tried as many or more cases than the Judge "just west of here," and the Legislature considered the Judge just west of here so busy that it has now created a new Court for Midland County, effective September 1, 1954.

I experienced a period of illness in late 1952 and early 1953. However, since I returned to work on March 1, 1953, I have not missed one single day from my work on account of illness.

My opponent has said or insinuated that I waste time of jurors by failing to hold pre-trial hearings.

My opponent has said or insinuated that I waste tax money by being reversed in the higher courts.

My opponent has said or insinuated that the Judge in the District "just west of here" tried 56 civil jury cases in 1951 while I was trying only 32.

My opponent has said or insinuated that the Judge in the District "just west of here" tried 109 civil jury cases in 1952 while I was trying only 29.

My opponent has said or insinuated that the Judge in the District "just west of here" had no help from outside Judges during 1950, 1951 and 1952.

My opponent has said or insinuated that the Judge in the District "just west of here" has tried many more cases over a period of years than I have tried.

My opponent has said or insinuated that I am a sick man, physically unable to perform the duties of District Judge.

My Opponent's Criticizing Of The Handling Of The Court Docket Is Nothing New

1. In 1934, when he was an UNSUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE for District Judge, he criticized Judge Charles Klapproth's handling of the docket.
2. In 1938, when he was an UNSUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE for District Judge, he criticized Judge Cecil Collings' handling of the docket.
3. In 1950, when he was an UNSUCCESSFUL CANDIDATE for District Judge, he criticized my handling of the docket, even though I had served for only a few months.

THE DOCKET, WHICH IS IN GOOD SHAPE, HASN'T SUITED HIM FOR 20 YEARS!
