AMAZING CRIME STORY RELATED

Oriental Plot To Blast Ships In U. S. Ports Is Uncovered

(By The Associated Press)

SEATTLE, Jan. 21.—A bizarre story of an Oriental plot to blow up ships laden in American ports with scrap iron and war materials for Japan was checked by authorities today while steamships in Seattle's harbor were warned to beware of a crude, home-made floating bomb.

Police Captain Marshall Scrafford said George Partridge, 23-year-old Canadian, reported "Orientals" had employed him and Rolphe M. Forsyth, school teacher of Vancouver, B. C., to dynamite the ships. He said he did not know the nationality of the "Orientals."

Drowns In Attempt

Forsyth drowned in an attempt, Partridge said, to blow up the Japanese liner Hiye Maru, first objective of the plot.

He said he last saw Forsyth early yesterday splashing into the numbing waters of Elliott bay, pushing a railroad tie to which was lashed a suitcase loaded with explosives.

Forsyth's nude body, clad only in a life jacket, was found a short time later by a Japanese seaman.

Story Is Unfolded

Partridge, arrested as a suspected box car thief, unfolded the weird bombing story when Forsyth's body was found. At noon he said the Hiye Maru was to be blown up by a time bomb set for

Robberies And Slayings Are Brought Out

Virtually All Of The $50,000 Ransom Paid In Ross Case Found; Bodies Recovered

(By The Associated Press)

ST. PAUL, Jan. 21—An amazing story of kidnapings, slayings and bank robberies attributed to Peter Anders, surly, swarthy former lumberjack, was related today after recovery of the bodies of Charles S. Ross, abducted Chicago manufacturer, and James Atwood Gray, from a cave deep in the northern Wisconsin woods.

Whisking Anders back to St. Paul after a tortuous two-day foray into the frozen fastness of Minnesota and Wisconsin, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, said virtually all of the $50,000 ransom paid in vain for Ross' release had been recovered.

Killed During Argument

The 30-year-old one-time logger in the Pacific northwest detailed each of numerous crimes in a confession covering thousands of words, said Hoover, adding that Anders had slain his accomplice, Gray, during an argument.

The FBI chief said Anders had confessed kidnaping John Borcia and his wife, Olivia, of Chicago, and robbing one Minnesota and three Wisconsin banks. The Borcias were released without payment of ransom.

When arrested Friday at Santa Anita racetrack near Los Angeles, Anders possessed about $14,000 of the ransom money, Hoover said. An additional $30,000 was found hidden in Minnesota. Anders said $3,000 of the balance was stolen from his car in New York City.

Pal Was Slain First

The bodies of Ross and Gray, the latter nude, were found just before dark yesterday in a small, brush concealed cave in a desolate section about 12 miles northwest of Spooner, Wis. Hoover said the killer slew Gray first and then shot the 72-year-old kidnap victim.

Anders chained the bodies in the vault-like burial place and then covered them with brush and de-

Leaders From Auto Industry In Conference

Agreement To Make Changes In Installment Buying Of Cars Is Expected To Be Reached

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 — A noontime conference between President Roosevelt and automobile company heads was preceded today by a forecast from Senator Brown (D-Mich) that the group would agree to regularize installment selling in the motor industry.

Brown and other informed persons described leading auto manufacturers as ready to accept some proposals for eliminating practices regarded by Mr. Roosevelt as detrimental to the industry and unfair to automobile buyers.

Would Limit Credit

Brown and others familiar with the preliminary negotiations said agreement might be reached between the president and the motor company heads to:

Limit credit on car sales to 18 months instead of 24.

Require down payments which would leave purchasers burdened with no more than a certain fixed percentage of their income—perhaps 25 or 40 per cent.

Eliminate or restrict deficiency judgments against car owners whose automobiles had been seized for non-payment.

Talk About Anything

Although installment buying and "high pressure" salesmanship were high on the list of topics, Mr. Roosevelt said he would talk with the auto men about anything they wished to bring up.

Edsel Ford, president of the Congress Breaks Deadlock As Housing Bill Gets Approval

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 — Agreement on the administration's housing bill by a senate-house committee broke today the three-week deadlock that has held up congressional approval of measures passed at the recent special session.

The conference committee eliminated a senate amendment to require payment of prevailing wages for construction of homes financed under the program.

To Revive Industry

Senator Lodge (R-Mass), author of the amendment, said he would try to reinstate it when the senate votes on approving the compromise bill. Administration supporters have expressed hope the measure will go far toward reviving the lagging construction industry.

Conferees on the farm bill reported they had settled most of the troublesome issues. They hope to get the legislation on the statute books by Feb. 1.

The committee voted yesterday to pay cooperating farmers on the same basis as the present soil conservation benefits.

Oratory Still Pouring

Despite prograss on holdover activities, there was little improvement in the senate filibuster situation that has prevented consideration of any new legislation. Confident southern senators still held up the anti-lynching bill by a flood of oratory.

Nevertheless, senators in touch with backstage negotiations forecast a break would come within another week or so. Noting the accumulation of work for the senate, they said the bill would not be permitted to block other legislation much longer.

The house was not helping the senate's parliamentary situation by speedily passing one appropriation bill after another. Leaders hoped to approve the $553,000,000 naval supply bill today — the third appropriation bill to be sent to the senate in less than two weeks.

The house tentatively approved yesterday an amendment by Rep. Scott (D-Calif) to halt all naval promotions and retirements for a year while congress worked out a new promotion system for the service.

Uncle Sam Taking No Chances On Hawaii; Bombing Squadron To Bolster Defenses Of Islands; Transfer To Be Permanent

(By The Associated Press)

HAMILTON FIELD, Calif., Jan. 21—The United States army moved toward bolstering Hawaii against a possible air attacker today by announcing it would transfer a powerful 13-plane bombardment squadron from here to the strategic islands.

Thirty officers and 180 men involved in the transfer will sail from San Francisco Feb. 1 aboard the army transport Republic.

The bombers, twin-motored ships of the latest design, will be sent to the islands by boat and not by flight as has been the navy's custom the past year in transferring 48 planes from the mainland to Hawaii.

Transfer of the planes, comprising the 31st bombardment squadron, will give the islands what unofficial observers estimated was approximately 228 fighting planes, 75 of which are believed to be naval ships.

The transfer, a move toward bringing Hawaiian air defenses to full strength, will be permanent.

Snow And Rainfall Reported In Area

Coming on the heels of several days of unusually high temperatures for mid-winter, a heavy shower, accompanied by sleet and a trace of snow, brought a third of an inch of moisture early this morning, according to the state experiment substation.

Rainfall was .34 of an inch. Thursday's maximum temperature was 71 degrees and the minimum this morning was 35.

Temperatures Are High

Last Sunday the maximum was 75, with temperatures of 71 and 73 since then.

West Texas Gas company's main line station south of town reported a minimum of 35 degrees at 7 a. m. with no change at the 8 and 9 o'clock readings.

Fort Worth and Denver dispatchers said a quarter inch of rain fell at Plainview and as much at Sterley.

Reports Are Received

Turkey, Hart, Sterley, Petersburg and Quitaque, on the F.W.D.C., reported an eighth inch of moisture; Silverton, Lockney and Plainview a quarter inch.

Muleshoe, on the Santa Fe, had a four-inch snow, with Texico two inches. West of Clovis, heavy snow fell, it was reported.

Other reports by the Santa Fe included: Canyon to Abernathy, including Floydada and Lockney, quarter inch rain; Sudan, quarter inch rain and snow; Amherst, inch rain; Littlefield, Anton, eighth inch rain; Shallowater, quarter inch rain and snow; Slaton, inch rain; Southland, inch; Post half inch, Justiceburg and Dermott, two inches; Snyder, tenth of inch rain; Seagraves quarter inch rain; Brownfield and Meadow, shower; Ropesville, quarter; Bledsoe, half inch; Lehman and Whiteface, eighth inch rain and snow; Levelland, shower; Crosbyton, Ralls, half inch rain; Lorenzo and Idalou, quarter inch; Lamesa, half inch; O'Donnell, Tahoka, Wilson, inch.

Another Crash Victim Dies

(By The Associated Press)

STAMFORD, Jan. 21. — Mrs. J. N. Lanctte, 59, of Post, died in a hospital here last night from injuries received in an automobile accident near Anson Tuesday. Mrs Lanotte's sister-in-law, Mrs. Allie Clark of Littlefield, was killed instantly, in the crash. Her brother, Allie Clark, was doing "fairly well" at an Abilene hospital this morning. His condition is serious.

Funeral Set Today

Funeral of Mrs. Lanotte will be held this afternoon at the Church of Christ in Post.

Mrs. Lanotte was a pioneer resident of Post, having lived there for many years with exception of 18 months the family spent in Lubbock in 1934 and 1935.

Surviving are her husband and the following children: Mrs. Maggie Childress and Clarence and Rosemary Lanotte of Post; Frank Lanotte of Monahans; Lloyd Lanotte of Lubbock; Mrs. Adrian Perkins of Colorado Springs, Colo.; and Mrs. Daisy Smith of Abilene.

Expulsion For Unions Seen

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21. — Unless there is a last-minute change of intention, the American Federation of Labor's executive council will expel at least two C.I.O. unions at its Miami meeting starting next Monday.

Definitely slated for the axe are John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and Sidney Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers. Federation leaders are talking also of severing the last technical tie between the A. F. of L. and the C.I.O.'s refinery and metal mine unions.

Campaign Is Planned

All sides agree that expulsion in itself would be unimportant. Suspension of the C.I.O. unions a year and a half ago amounted to expulsion. As long as the C.I.O. unions even technically remained A. F. of L. members, however, the federation could not start what it now plans—a campaign to break the C.I.O. financially.

The United Mine Workers and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers have been two of the main sources of C. I.O. revenue.

As long as these unions even technically are in the A. F. of L., the federation is bound by its constitution to keep out of their territory. Once they are expelled, the federation can (and expects to) move in, with unions of its own.

New Troubles Are Plaguing Farm Areas

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Agriculture department officials said today several new farm problems were adding to their troubles with low prices and an apparent excess in crop supplies.

They said the new problems included:

Drouth conditions and dust storms in the great plains region.

A growing agricultural relief load.

Moving From City

A new movement of city unemployed into rural areas for work, shelter and relief.

To help meet the drouth condition, field men were sent into the affected area to appraise, take options on and buy before July 1 approximately 2,000,000 acres of farm lands deemed unsuitable for crops.

The government is prepared to buy this land for about $7,500,000 —money which would help many drouth-stricken farmers to establish themselves on more favorable land elsewhere in time to plant crops next summer.

Extend Outright Relief

The Farm Security administration sought to extend outright relief grants to needy farm families, the number of which was reported to be increasing. Officials said the relief cost in January probably would exceed $3,000,000, compared with $1,782,758 in November.

On January 1 the farm labor supply was about 13 per cent larger than the demand, reports showed.

President's Birthday Balls Rapped By Clovis Pastors

First Dusters Prove Theory

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Jan. 21. — The first dust storms of the year causing considerable soil movement, proved the necessity for soil and moisture conservation practices on a wide scale, H. H. Finnell, director of the soil conservation service in the southern great plains region, said today.

"The drifting soil, which, in the form of dust storms, is plaguing a large portion of the plains area again, is coming from fields lacking in vegetative cover," Finnell said.

Conditions Improved

Conditions in the wind erosion area, comprised of parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico, were much improved over last year, a survey made on the 26 soil conservation service demonstration projects indicated, he said.

During the blowing season last year, more than 300,000 acres in these demonstration areas were subject to wind erosion damage. This year, only 100,000 acres were reported subject to erosion of this type.

Contour tillage, supplemented by terraces where necessary, has held the water on fields where it fell and conserved moisture for crop growth, he said.

"Dust storms will continue this year, and in years to come, in direct proportion to the amount of unprotected acreage in the wind erosion area," Finnell predicted.

Portland's Three Newspapers Again Buzz With Activity

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 21. (AP) — Portland's three newspapers, reopened after a six-day printers' strike, buzzed with activity today as editions were made ready for a news-hungry public.

Printers gained a 45 per cent per day pay increase but failed to reduce working time from 7 1-2 to 7 hours. The settlement provided a year contract, retroactive to January 1, with hour and wages arbitration or conciliation on July 1 after 30 days notice by either party.

Child Has His Heart Washed Twice Daily And Surgeons Now Believe He Will Live

LONDON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Two-year-old Geoffrey Knight, whose case appeared hopeless a week ago, has his heart washed twice daily.

Surgeons at the hospital believe he will live.

The boy was suffering from pneumonia when it was discovered fluid pressing on his heart had enlarged it to three times normal size and only complete drainage could save his life.

Saturday a surgeon cut away two of the child's ribs, split the pericardium sac enclosing the heart and stitched the severed portions to the chest wall to permit drainage and daily washing with warm salt water.

Inquiry Into Land Office Is Slated

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Jan. 21.—Governor James V. Allred announced today he had employed A. R. Stout of Ennis, a former assistant attorney general and county judge, to assist in examining witnesses when a senate committee begins an inquiry into land office policies next Wednesday.

The governor said Stout, also a former member of the legislature, would be paid from a special fund provided the executive department for law enforcement purposes.

In addition to questioning witnesses at the committee hearing, Stout would analyze data which nine auditors at the governor's direction are assembling from records of the land office and, the governor said, would attempt to "develop all facts."

"He has already gone to work," Governor Allred said. "Others will be employed if necessary to get the job done."

Asked if he would personally take part in the hearing, he said he did not expect to do so, but "it will be very hard to keep out."

The governor reiterated criticism of bids under which some public lands have been leased, terming them difficult to understand. He claims the state had not obtained the maximum returns from such leases.

Land Commissioner W. H. McDonald has said his leasing policies were to the state's best interest and that his records were open to inspection at any time.

Purchase Of Old-Time Ranch In New Mexico Announced

ALBUQUERQUE, Jan. 21. (AP) — The purchase of the Adobe ranch, one of New Mexico's best-known old-time outfits, was disclosed today by an agent of A. T. McDannald of Houston, Tex., the buyer.

Oral Keen of Amarillo, Tex., announced McDannald had acquired the ranch, a part of the old V-Cross-T properties, from the Red River Cattle company owned by Major E. O. Braught. The price was not disclosed.

The Adobe is situated near Magdalena, N. M. The deal included sheep and cattle on the ranch and about 150,000 acres.

Young Life-Term Murderer Is Dead As Prison Break Fails

LANSING, Kas., Jan. 21. (AP) — A young life-term murderer lay dead in the Kansas prison morgue today, shot when eight convicts attempted to escape in a fog last night.

Cecil Thornbrugh, 25, serving life for killing a county jail guard, was wounded fatally as he stood on a cell house he and five others had scaled with the aid of long steel hooks.

Clifford Ottinger, 21, was critically wounded after he and a companion, Carnes Addington, had climbed a wire fence.

His Last Sale Proves Fatal

Jose Soria, 28, San Antonio Mexican, was doing all right selling shirts until he walked into a barber shop at 908 Thirteenth street this morning.

E. L. O'Neal liked the shirt offered him so much he grabbed the Mexican and held him for S. O. Boyd, police patrolman.

Sold Two Others

The shirt was O'Neal's. The Mexican explained he had stolen it and two others from a line in the residential district. He sold the other two on the streets, but shrugged at his selection of a business establishment for the last sale.

A burglar, probably of small size, went to a lot of trouble for less than $4 in loot from the Dryer and Lee Oil company at 201 East Broadway Thursday night, according to Bill Mabray, assistant police chief and identifications officer, who is investigating.

The burglar, the officer was advised, entered apparently by unlocking a side door, scrambled through a small storage room, unfastened a piece of tin over a small inside window and climbed through that into the business office. The money was taken from a cash drawer, Mabray was informed.

Miss Bertha Moreland of Ropesville reported to police theft of a suitcase containing clothing, from an automobile parked near a downtown theater.

CLAIMED BY DEATH

PARIS, Jan. 21. (AP) — Henry Kistemaeckers, 65, playwright and novelist, died today.

Assistance Of C Of C Asked In Locating Missing Man

Assistance of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce was asked this morning in locating L. W. Russell, who came to Lubbock area several months ago and when last heard from was pulling bolls 10 miles south of the city.

His sister, Mrs. W. H. McCarty of 404 Bridge street, Albuquerque, said he had been in frail health and she feared he may have become ill. She added that he has a wife and two children. The note requested that he either communicate with his sister or with his mother, Mrs. Johnnie Russell of 415 South Broadway, Brownwood.

Three Injured In Collision Of Cars Early This Afternoon

Three persons were rushed to Lubbock sanitarium a few minutes after noon for treatment of injuries suffered in what was reported to sanitarium attaches and members of the Texas Highway patrol as a collision of automobiles near Idalou.

Injured were W. M. and T. J. Lee, O'Donnell brothers who were said to be moving to Lorenzo, and Jack Scott of Lorenzo.

The victims suffered head and body lacerations. More definite diagnosis was not immediately available, but none was believed dangerously hurt.

No other details were available.

Mann Expected To Announce As Candidate For Office

(By Staff Correspondent)

RALLS, Jan. 21.—Gerald C. Mann, former secretary of state and also former assistant attorney general, is in a receptive mood as a candidate for attorney general, he indicated here last night. Mann was guest speaker at the Ralls Chamber of Commerce banquet.

"I have made no public announcement of my candidacy," he told the crowd, "but I will say I am not denying anything."

Later Mann, in answer to a direct question as to when he would announce his candidacy, said, "It may be in a short time."

List Of Defendants In Federal Price-Fixing Trial Is Cut

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 21. (AP)—The list of individual defendants in the government's gasoline price-fixing conspiracy trial was reduced to 31 today as the case was about to go to the jury in federal court.

Judge Patrick T. Stone announced he had granted a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal for Fred L. Koopman, Bartlesville, Okla., vice president in charge of purchases of the Phillips Petroleum Corp.

Minor Damage Is Occasioned By Slaton Theater Blaze

SLATON, Jan. 21. (Special) — Fire in the projection room of the Palace theater here last night did minor damage but will necessitate suspension of performances for a few days, according to information given this morning.

Cause of the fire was uncertain and no estimate of loss was available. Herschell Crawford is operator of the theater.

Accidental Poisoning Given As Cause For Man's Death

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 21. (AP) —Accidental poisoning was blamed today by Dr. Howard Dishong, coroner, for the death last night of Dr. Harvey Shepherd Thatcher, 52, head of the University of Arkansas medical school pathology department.

The coroner said it was likely that the pathologist had been drawing acid through a tube during an experiment and had accidentally swallowed some of it.

Would-Be 'Candidate For State Governor' Under Observation

A "candidate in the wilderness hunting a lost cause" and who felt the weight of "Raw Deal" economic and social problems to the degree he sought to enter the gubernatorial race, this morning was under observation of county court and of Dr. W. L. Baugh, county health officer.

A lunacy hearing may be conducted early next week, said Judge J. J. Dillard. Relatives had asked such procedure.

The man, 79, wrote the judge Jan. 2 from Arizona, where he was visiting from Lubbock county, broaching his compounded ideas of government and morality in general.

"Politicle, or rather Raw deal conditions in Texas are enough to make the angels weep, and holy roller preacher cuss," he said.

"The politicle Hoodlums of your state are doing every thing in their power to make every man woman and child in Texas Drunk so that they can skin them from heel to head and sell their hides for Taxes And Revenue."

Students In Fourth Day With No Sleep--Call It Great Fun

(By The Associated Press)

ATHENS, Ga., Jan. 21.—In the "interest of pure science," five weary University of Georgia psychology students — two youths and three co-eds—entered their fourth day today without sleep.

Their goal is 100 sleepless hours, to be reached Saturday noon.

They blinked heavy eyelids, yawned a bit and declared the experiment, to show the effect of sleeplessness on mind, body and behavior, was "a lot of fun."

"I feel light—like I was walking on air," said blonde Saidee Hodgson of Athens, Ga., in her 60th hour of "no sleep." She weighed 127 pounds Monday morning. She said she had lost two pounds.

On the other hand, stocky, 150-pound Robert Schnautz of Port Chester, N. Y., declared "I feel right at tops and my appetite is better than usual."

Tall, gray-haired Dr. A. S. Edwards, 52, head of the psychology department, said the

Colorful Printed Hat Is Matched With Fabric Of Dress; Note Stilt Shoes

Colorful sun hats printed on a bright yellow pique background make this dirndl-like beach dress one of the prettiest in current southern resort collections. The wide-brimmed hat matches exactly one of the hats on the fabric, and the shoes are the widely discussed stilt models with two-inch cork soles.

Wilks-Jarratt Marriage Is Read Early This Month

The marriage of Miss Genevieve Jarratt and Alva S. Wilks, former students at Texas Technological college, took place January 4 in Roscoe at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Mahon, Rev. Sam H. Young, presiding elder of the Sweetwater Methodist district, officiated.

Mrs. Wilks is a daughter of Mrs. F. T. Jarratt, 2418 Fourteenth street, and Mr. Wilks is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wilks of Slaton. He is employed at Freed's Women's Apparel shop.

The couple is at home at 1312 Avenue K.

Mrs. Guy Wheatley Is Club Hostess Here Thursday

Mrs. Guy Wheatley, 1211-A Fourteenth street, was hostess to Entre Se club members Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Hubert Wiley of Slaton and Mrs. Charles Spencer of Plainview, former Lubbock residents, were honored with gift showers.

Bridge was played, Mesdames Ernest Ohnemus and Ray Johnson making high and second high scores.

Others attending were Mesdames Wilbur Cooper, Robert Cooper, Dwain Rodgers, George Germany, Ben Jenkins, Hugh Newton, George Martin and Powell McWhirter.

Ellis-McWhirter Marriage Is Announced Here Today

Announcement was made this morning of the marriage of Miss Jesse Ruth McWhirter, daughter of Mrs. Willie McWhirter, and Henry Ellis of Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Audrey Ellis of Dublin, which took place late last summer.

Mrs. Ellis, a graduate of Texas Technological college, is to continue her school year as teacher at Sylvester. Mr. Ellis is a Tech student and employed by Beasley Motor company. The couple will be at home in Lubbock next summer.

Students Religious Council Has Supper, Business Hour

Thirty-five persons attended a supper meeting of the Tech Students Religious council at First Methodist church Thursday night, Cecil R. Matthews, chairman, presided for routine business discussions.

The meal was served by members of the Scarritt circle. Women's Missionary society, of which Mrs. M. C. Overton is chairman.

January Bride Is Party Honoree

Honoring Mrs. W. E. Bass, jr., who was Miss Charleen Boyd before her marriage January 1, Mesdames M. R. Milner and Jewel Stevens entertained with a shower Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. D. Boyd, 608 Avenue L.

Those who attended or sent gifts were Mesdames C. Phipps, G. McKelvy, E. G. White, Henry Stevens, W. L. Atkins, H. R. Miller, Nat Starnes, Raymond Tucker, Al Wilcox, Georgia Myers, E. S. Self, Ray Sandlin, Jess Lewellyn, S. C. Roberts, C. C. Cox, Jim Walker, Yvonne McNeil and Miss Minnie Robert.

County Clubs Have Study Of Salads

"Growing Winter Salads" is the topic around which activities of home demonstration clubs in Lubbock county have been centered in January, a subject which includes a demonstration by Miss Clara Pratt, home demonstration agent.

Monroe club, in irregular session, met all day Thursday at the Milam orphanage in Lubbock and quilted five quilts for the orphans. Two of the quilts had been pieced by club members and the others were pieced by women of Monroe community. All materials were furnished by the club women.

At high noon, Mrs. W. T. Milam served a covered dish lunch to Mesdames D. F. Baker and H. W. Pate, guests, and the following members:

Mesdames W. O. Fortenberry, J. B. Johnson, John Harrell, John McGuire, K. P. Shannon, O. W. Moore, A. L. Faubion and H. E. Singley.

The next regular meeting will be at 3 p. m., January 25, in the home of Mrs. W. O. Fortenberry, Mrs. Harrell will be hostess.

Members Bring Salads

Members of the City Line club brought winter salads to a meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Carter Shaw. Roll call was answered with salad recipes. Miss Pratt demonstrated the making of a green salad and told how to make a farm garden.

Others attending were Mesdames W. H. Long, J. J. Allen, W. H. Crosby, A. R. Keys, R. C. Hall, C. E. Lillie, E. E. Wilson, Vergie Lillie, P. M. Wheatley, A. W. Montgomery, W. N. Williams, Harvey Tunnell and a new member, Mrs. T. K. Martin.

The hostess served coffee and wafers with the salads.

In Hart Home

Mrs. L. K. Hart was hostess for a meeting of the Posey club Tuesday afternoon. Miss Pratt showed how to make three salads and how to build a frame garden. The club elected Miss Arlene Grinstead program leader. Ten members, including one newcomer, were present.

The club will meet February 1 with Mrs. E. R. Fincher.

Description Given Of Perfect Guest

BY RUTH MILLETT

He (or she) arrives when he is supposed to arrive. And he leaves when he should leave—or maybe a little before.

If he is bored he doesn't sit back and let himself go, he stirs things up a bit himself.

You can count on his judgment and tact. He won't insult Mrs. Gray or get Mrs. Black started on religion.

He won't encourage your children to disobey you, or teach them words you have never let them hear, give them candy between meals, or correct their grammar.

He will let you know that he thinks the dinner is exactly what he would have ordered.

He doesn't tag along after you when you go into the kitchen to give last minute instructions to the cook, or when you go into the hall to answer the telephone.

If you have to leave him alone for awhile he picks up a magazine and at least makes a pretense of reading it.

He turns the conversation away from himself—though not too obviously—and toward someone who is being ignored.

He doesn't say anything unflattering about any of your friends who aren't around. And he doesn't make veiled remarks about anyone present.

He doesn't tell you about his troubles or talk hard times.

He doesn't burn cigarette holes in your furniture or best table cloth.

He doesn't grab the conversational stage and parade one story after another across it.

When he says he must go, he goes without further ado. And he doesn't think up a long-winded story to tell you after you have him at the door.

You know him, don't you. He's the guest you're going to ask back to dinner.

Program Of Talks And Music To Be Given At AAUW Tea

Mrs. N. H. Holt will substitute as speaker for Miss Margaret W. Weeks at a Saturday afternoon tea given by Lubbock branch, American Association of University Women, as a courtesy to senior girls of Lubbock High school. The affair will be given in the lounge of the women's dormitory at Texas Technological college. Miss Weeks is to be out of town.

Mrs. Holt will explain the meanings and purposes of A. A. U. W. Mrs. Mary W. Doak, president, will welcome guests. Mrs. Ethel Terrell, high school dean of girls, will speak. Mrs. H. W. Moore will sing and Miss Ruth Graydon will play a violin selection.

DON'T BULLY CONSTIPATION

If you suffer from common constipation, due to lack of bulk in the diet, harsh cathartics don't get at the cause of your trouble. You can avoid this kind of constipation by eating Kellogg's All-Bran. This tasty cereal not only contains the intestinal tonic vitamin B1, but also provides the bulk you need. It absorbs moisture . . . softens like a sponge into a water-softened mass that encourages and aids natural elimination.

Use Kellogg's All-Bran in muffins. Or as a breakfast cereal. But eat All-Bran every day and drink plenty of water. Made by Kellogg at Battle Creek.

Insurgent Bombers Strike Cities Again With Death And Terror

Mineral Leases On Lands Are Awarded

AUSTIN, Jan. 21. (AP)—The board for mineral development today awarded mineral leases on two Nueces river bed tracts in Live Oak county and rejected offers on two additional tracts.

C. W. Hoffman and K. F. Page of Eastland were successful bidders on tract 1 for $200 cash per acre plus $3,000 out of oil and one-eighth royalty.

Tract 2 went to C. G. Glasscock of Fremont at the same terms. Both offers carried 60-day drilling obligations and both tracts are within offset distance of producing wells.

Action was unanimous in selecting successful bids and rejecting those on tracts 4 and 5. There were no offers for other tracts and members gave no indication whether they would be resubmitted to bids after L. P. Bishop, secretary, reported notices of the letting were sent 400 operators. It was pointed out productive wells in the area are currently restricted to an allowable of 29 barrels daily.

Members of the board are Governor James V. Allred, Land Commissioner William H. McDonald and C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission.

A collection of Rossetti's poems, after being buried with his wife, was disinterred and published in 1870, twelve years before his death.

Hundreds Are Found Dead

PERPIGNAN, France (At The Spanish Frontier) Jan. 21. (AP)—Huge insurgent bombers from nearby Mediterranean island bases struck again with death and terror at the large Spanish government seaport cities of Barcelona, Valencia and Tarragona.

Reports reaching the frontier said Barcelona alone suffered 300 killed and 600 wounded in the two consecutive days of air raids. Wounded lay dying in the streets. Gaping holes were torn in large buildings.

Score Direct Hit

The raiders scored a direct hit on the British freighter Thorpeness, lying in port at Tarragona, killing at least two members of the crew. Five of the freighter's crew were reported missing and seven wounded.

Damage to Barcelona and Valencia—which were still searching among their ruins for victims of yesterday's raids—was much less severe today.

The persistent attacks were a grim reminder of Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's attempt to blockade government ports which led Tuesday to the capture of the American tanker, Nantucket Chief, en route to Barcelona with a cargo of Russian oil.

To Spread Terror

The bombings today of the three ports and of Figueras, 12 miles south of the French border, were seen as a part of a coordinated plan to spread terror from the air before a large scale land attack on government strongholds.

Travelers crossing the frontier said tons of bombs were poured on Barcelona, striking a populous quarter. One traveler said the Plaza Palacio was "one hole" 60 feet deep as a result of a direct hit.

A seven story building on Barcelona's Dragonal street was said to have been leveled by one blast.

CIVIL SERVICE GROWS

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Uncle Sam is an increasingly popular employer, civil service commission records show. The commission's business has tripled in some lines since 1932.

Applications for jobs have increased from 221,494 in 1932 to 934,068 in 1937. Examinations have more than tripled and the number of appointments in the classified service has grown from 21,499 to 52,383.

Twin Helen (left) faced the volage cheerfully, while Twin Hertha looked for comfort to big sister Anna Margareta. The twins are four months old, the sister, two years. Granddaddy will sure be happy to see them.

Retail Trade Shows Gains

NEW YORK, Jan. 21. (AP)—Stimulated by new demand for winter merchandise, retail trade this week rose 1 to 4 per cent above last week and ½ to 8 per cent above a year ago at leading distribution centers throughout the nation, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

"Snow and cold weather pushed winter merchandise to the top of shoppers' lists," said the credit agency.

"Sales of apparel for southern resorts and ski outfits for northern playgrounds increased.

"House furnishings, furniture, and floor-coverings received more attention. In silverware and jewelry, emphasis was on the higher-priced offerings."

Wholesale trade was 3 to 10 per cent above last year, the agency said.

Texas Prepares To Close Down Its 79,000 Oil Wells On Sunday

Drastic Move Is In Effect

AUSTIN, Jan. 21 (AP) — The nation's largest oil-producing state set sail today on an uncharted conservation course — that of shutting down its 79,00?. wells each Sunday.

The Texas railroad commission yesterday ordered statewide Sunday closing from now until March 1 in a drastic move to halt the rise in stocks of gasoline. Commissioners voiced confidence most other major oil states likewise would make sharp cuts in their production.

Output Cut Sharply

Since the current Texas allowable is around 1,415,000 barrels per day, Sunday shutdowns will effect a cut of more than 200,000 barrels in average daily production, and put Texas output about 10 per cent below that recommended by the United States bureau of mines.

There will be exceptions to Sunday closing. Some wells must flow on Sundays so their residue gas may continue supplying warmth to residents of the oil fields. These will be closed some other day of the week. Other wells cannot be shut in without being killed or damaged. These will reduce their daily flow one-seventh. Railroad commission representatives will co-operate with operators in formulating a feasible program.

Peculiar Situation

Believed an important contributing cause to the Sunday closing order was the peculiar situation in the East Texas field. Many engineers feel daily production there should be held below 450,000 barrels to protect bottomhole pressures. The field has nearly 25,000 wells, however, and some lawyers contend the daily allowable of none can be reduced below 20 barrels because of Texas' marginal well law.

The commission imposed Sunday shutdowns in East Texas alone the last two weeks in November and the first two in December. The field's operators protested, maintaining the six-day producing week either should be lifted or extended over the entire state.

Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the interstate oil compact commission, said in a statement accompanying the order that "Texas does not intend that too much oil shall ever be produced in our state."

Has Brought Prosperity

"That is the law," he said. "It is a wise law and has caused prosperity to come to Texas.

"With the present recession and the lowest consuming season of the winter at hand, strict measures must be taken to defend the gain in ground which the oil industry has made in the last four years. Texas is leading the way in this defense.

"We entered 1938 with an overhanging excess of 13,000,000 barrels more gasoline than we had at this time a year ago. This converted into crude means about 30,000,000 barrels of crude in the form of gasoline in excess of needs. One year ago we had on hand 282,000,000 barrels of crude oil. Today we have 303,000,000, which is a 21,000,000 barrel increase and which, added to the 30,000,000 in the form of gasoline, makes a total of about 50,000,000 barrels of crude and crude products on hand in excess of needs."

Bids For Construction Of 106 Miles Of Line To Be Opened

Bids for construction of approximately 106 miles of power line in Lubbock county are to be opened this afternoon in the office of South Plains Electric Cooperative, inc., according to W. M. Ross, president.

Recently REA alloted $100,000 to the cooperative for construction of high lines, to serve some 330 customers.

C. Z. Firo is vice president; S. S. Alcorn, L. E. Countess, C. E. Lilly, M. H. Barton, are directors; Alvin D. Allen, secretary-treasurer. Harry N. Roberts is engineer for the group and L. A. Howard, attorney.

The etching art developed in Central Europe, north of the Alps. It is a method of picture making on metal plates, in which the lines and depressions are eaten out by acid instead of being gouged or scratched mechanically.

Filmland's 'King And Queen'

Clark Gable and Myrna Loy were selected as king and queen, respectively, of the movies for 1937 in a poll by the readers of a number of newspapers in different sections of the country. They are shown in Hollywood with the emblematic crowns given them.

Kid With Million-Dollar Smile Asks For Chance To Save While He Is In Movies

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21 (AP)—The kid with the million-dollar smile isn't asking much of the movies Just a chance to save a million dollars, that's all Wayne Morris wants.

He has started. The other day he checked over his assets. Cash in bank, cash in pocket, payments already made on a 20-year annuity—total $3,000.

To Save Faster

When his salary increases (with future option-liftings) he expects to save more and faster. At present he puts aside about two-thirds of his earnings, says it doesn't cost him much to live.

He has worked more or less regularly at one thing or another since he was 18. He is 23 now.

"I'm not extravagant. Never could afford to be before and I don't expect to change now. See this suit? It's tailor-made and it cost me $60. That's more than I usually pay but it will wear a long time. . . .

Romance Might Change It

"A million is a nice, easy number to remember. That's why I'm aiming at that figure. . . . Of course if I got married, I don't know. Marriage might put a crimp in my financial plans. Maybe I'd have to reduce my objective to half a million. That's still a nice round sum.

It was about three weeks ago—back in 1937—that Wayne Morris said he didn't "expect to get married—not this year at least." But Priscilla Lane (of the sisters) is wearing a diamond from Wayne as 1938 stretches ahead.

Millions Of Dollars Spent By Refinery

BEAUMONT, Jan. 21 (AP) — Pure Oil refinery at Smith's Bluff in the middle of Jefferson county announces it is preparing to spend more than $2,500,000 on improvements.

A New York construction company has the contract and Carter Bell, its representative, has arrived to supervise the work. A maximum of 400 men will be employed.

Pure Oil officials indicate they intend to concentrate their refining activities in the gulf coast area, since the Jefferson county refinery is near the source of supply, and shipping and distribution facilities are good. It was established in 1923 and has a capacity of 40,000 barrels.

The earliest attempt to construct a two-wheel vehicle which would run under its own power—the birth of the modern motorcycle—was made by W. W. Austin, of Winthrop, Mass., in 1868.

Ralls Banquet Is Conducted

(Special To The Journal)

RALLS, Jan. 21. — New construction on an enormous scale was cited by Gerald C. Mann of Dallas, former Texas secretary of state, as the greatest need of Texas in the principal address at the annual banquet of Ralls Chamber of Commerce Thursday night. More than 150 persons attended the banquet.

J. Edd McLaughlin, banker, was toastmaster. Four other towns had 22 visitors in attendance: Crosbyton, seven; Lubbock, nine; Slaton, two and Floydada, four. Delegations were introduced as each stood at the request of the toastmaster.

Short Program Given

Following serving of the meal a short program was given. Misses Frances Ruth Knight and Mary Kren Watson gave two dance numbers; outgoing President Reed B. Loflin gave a brief report of the work the past year; Misses Winon Ford, Frances Gleaton, Oleta Anstead, Marguerite Willis and Edna McCaleb, a high school quintet, sang two groups of songs; Judge E. L. Pitts of Lubbock paid tribute to the outgoing president and the new president, A. L. Winfrey, spoke briefly and then introduced the directors and other officers.

Judge Pitts, a boyhood friend of Loflin, praised the leadership of his friend, and pointed out he was not only a good business man, but that he had had directors who co-operated with him.

Winfrey Outlines Hopes

President Winfrey said during his administration he hoped to "weld a closer bond of friendship with our communities." He gave several needs of the community, more paving, more homes, more street lights for residential sections and the business part, a home beautiful contest and "every business man a member of the chamber of commerce."

Mann, in his talk, said that "the people should be more interested in the government;" that most of them thought, "it is time something should be done," about the state's government. In recent years many new boards and bureaus have been created to carry on the government.

"Little Has Been Done"

"But little has been done to improve the administrative system," he said. "It is time to study the importance of government."

Castigating the "political spoils system," under which each administrative change saw new faces in departments, the speaker said Texas was operating with its constitution of 1876, under a plan "where the sheriff went after his man on horseback." Some amendments to the Texas constitution have been amended "from one to seven times," he pointed out. There have been "a hundred and fifty efforts" to repair the house of the constitution, when a new house was needed. The tax system is outmoded and out of date and unreasonable in administration, he pointed out.

From Lubbock, besides Judge Pitts, were: R. F. Hinchey, C. I. Wall, J. I. Kilpatrick, Gradie W. Bownds, J. H. Brock and Mr. and Mrs. David C. Dodge.

Mrs. Clarence Ashcraft was pianist for the dancers and Miss Mae Weakley, of the music department of the high school, for the quintet. Rev. J. Edmund Kirby, Methodist pastor, gave the invocation and Rev. W. R. Derr, Baptist pastor, the benediction.

South Dakota And Texas Get High Awards In Turkey Show

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Jan. 21 (AP)—Highest awards of the All-American Turkey show went today to South Dakota and Texas entrants.

Grand champion of the show is a yearling tom bronze bird owned by Mr. and Mrs. Al C. Johnson of Bath, S. D., while to Mrs. W. T. Hall of Denton, Texas, went the master breeder award.

A black young hen owned by Mrs. Hall was named the champion hen of the show.

O'Donnell Man Is Transferred

In lieu of $7,500 bond set by Mrs. Olive Fluke, United States commissioner for the northern federal district, at Lubbock, Oscar Petty, about 45, of O'Donnell Thursday afternoon was transferred to Fort Worth by C. E. Luce, United States deputy marshal.

He was arraigned on a charge of theft of a United States mail pouch and rifling of registered mail contained therein.

He had pleaded not guilty and waived hearing.

Brownwood Man Held

Carl E. Williams of Brownwood was being held Thursday at San Angelo in lieu of $7,500 bond assessed on a charge of receiving and concealing property from a registered mail pouch, the complaint setting out he knew to have been stolen currency and silver.

The mail pouch was addressed to the First National bank of O'Donnell by the Dallas Federal Reserve bank.

"Grapevine" reports had rumored the sack's disappearance at Slaton and had said missing bills had "turned up there."

The charge had been filed Wednesday at Fort Worth and the warrant received in Lubbock Thursday. L. W. Morris, postoffice inspector, signed the complaint before John Davis, United States commissioner.

Mrs. Fluke said Theodore R. King of Philadelphia, against whom a fugitive from justice complaint had been filed, was charged with forging and negotiating a United States treasury check for $30.25. Tom H. Hanson, federal agent, signed the complaint.

He will be held in Amarillo jail pending removal proceedings, said Mrs. Fluke.

Pottery Union Says That Jap Boycott Is Fast Spreading

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Jan. 21 (AP) — Pottery union headquarters here report the receipt of hundreds of "anti-Japan" pledges signed by housewives in a campaign against the purchase of Nipponese products

The boycott was introduced by the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, an American Federation of Labor affiliate. It is directed against all Japanese-made merchandise.

To increase its effectiveness, the union had more than 15,000 pledges printed and mailed to housewives and distributed thousands of posters describing Japan as a "menace."

Potteries here long have been affected by imports of Japanese ware, union officials said.

Cats can see better in the daytime than at night, but do most of their hunting after dark because their prey is out at that time.

Scientists believe Africa, part of India, West Australia and Brazil once were united in a continent known as Gondwanaland.

Big Counterfeit Ring Is Broken

Ten Are Held By Officials

TULSA, Jan. 21. (AP)—The source of counterfeit $10 bills which plagued Oklahoma business men for six months has been dried up, government officials said today, by the breaking up of the largest counterfeiting ring ever to operate in the state.

With the arrest of John T. Lane, 24, apprentice photo-engraver, U. S. District Attorney Whit Y. Mauzy announced, ten persons had been placed in custody, nine of them under federal indictments returned at Muskogee and Oklahoma City.

Mauzy named Lane, John H. Brown and Clyde D. Murphy, Oklahoma City, as the alleged manufacturers and the rest as sellers or buyers of the notes which were purveyed at about 35 cents on the dollar by "bootleggers" of bogus bills.

Under Indictment

Brown, held in the city jail here, is under indictment at Muskogee, Mauzy added.

Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner W. P. Smith, Lane, the only one of the defendants not under indictment, pleaded guilty. He was held under $5,000 bond.

The others in custody and under indictment, Mauzy said, were Charley Robbins, his son Otho and Otho's wife, all of Seminole; Matthew Dewitt, Antlers; Arthur Williams, Oklahoma City; Reit F. Gatlin, Jenks and C. Taylor, Ada.

Some $3,000 of the $6,500 in counterfeit bills believed manufactured have been recovered.

Date For Election To Be Held At Texas Tech Has Been Set

Editors and business managers of the newspaper and year book at Texas Technological college will be elected Feb. 24, the student council decided at a meeting Thursday night.

Candidates for the four places must file a petition with the secretary and treasurer of the student council with signatures of at least 15 per cent of the students by Feb. 10.

Several persons have indicated intentions of running for the places and petitions for some of them have been circulated.

Buster Kirk, sophomore class representative to the council from the engineering department, and Rufus Ryan, president of the junior class were installed as members of the council.

Student activity tickets for the spring semester will be $3, it was announced.

Program Of 4-H In County Extended

An Achievement day and a 10-county encampment program at Texas Technological college are planned in a broadened scope of 4-H clubs of the county and district, said Homer E. Thompson, assistant county agent.

The statement was hard on heels of a check that showed likelihood of completed reorganization of 13 county clubs within the next 30 days.

Five Clubs Reorganized

Five such clubs have been reorganized since the first of the year, at New Deal, Cooper, Shallowater, Becton, and County Line.

The last club so reorganized was at Cooper, which had an initial registration of 14 boys.

Formerly there were 18 4-H clubs in the county, with a total registration of 223 boys. Last year's Tech encampment attracted 225 boys and girls.

Officers of the Cooper club: Sponsor, Eric Eklund; president, C. T. Potts, jr.; vice president, Buddy Marcy, and secretary, Junior Burleson.

Plan Proposing Hospital For This Area To Be Introduced

Congressional measure proposing to establish a veterans hospital in the Plains-Panhandle territory probably will be introduced soon, according to informtion of Bruce Stubblefield, executive secretary of the national rehabilitation committee of the American Legion.

It will be the fifth time that such a bill will have been introduced in congress. The U. S. Veterans bureau has tentatively decided that the next hospital bill should provide for a building for general medical and surgical cases.

Previous measures have been pigeonholed. Whether the bill would designate a proposed site or not, was not indicated. Lubbock, Amarillo, Big Spring and other towns are aspirants for location. Congressman George Mahon has advised local legion officials in years past he will endeavor to get the hospital located in his district.

The first motorcycle speed record was established in 1902 by Albert Champion. He rode the machine one mile in one minute, ten and two-fifth seconds.

Teachers Hold Session Here

M. L. Kelly, superintendent of Roosevelt Rural High school, was elected president of the Lubbock county teachers federation at an organization meeting attended by 175 teachers at Senior High school auditorium Thursday night.

The group voted unanimously to reorganize and to become a member of the state federation. Delegates to the district convention at Big Spring March 11 and 12 were selected. The district organization will act on adoption of the new state constitution.

Griggs Temporary Chairman

County Superintendent Joseph R. Griggs acted as temporary chairman preliminary to election of officers. He was introduced by W. B. Irvin, superintendent of Lubbock schools.

Irvin spoke briefly on the plan of the new state association. He explained that there are eight districts in Texas of which the West Texas State Teachers association, comprising 26 counties, is a unit. Each county is entitled to one delegate to the district meeting for every 25 members. Three delegates will be chosen from the district for the state convention.

To Retain Portion

Five per cent of all $3 annual dues will be kept by the local unit. In addition the state office in Fort Worth will allot eight and one-third cents of each fee to the district organization, Irvin said.

Dr. R. E. Garlin, professor of education at Texas Tech and president of the West Texas association, urged that a large representation from Lubbock county attend the Big Spring meeting.

Other Officers Elected

Other officers elected were: Irvin, first vice-president; Griggs, second vice-president; Miss Irene Armes of Slaton, secretary; and Supt. E. L. Farr of Shallowater, treasurer. In absence of Kelly, Irvin appointed a committee to act on a constitution for the group, consisting of Supt. David Lemon of Slaton, Dr. Garlin, and Miss Mary Meador of Lubbock.

With an estimated membership of 257 for the county in the state association, it was decided that no less than 10 delegates be chosen to represent the local group. Members elected were: Sam Leifeste of Lubbock, J. G. Wilhite of Slaton, Roy Boyd of Roosevelt, Supt. G. A. Lowrey of Idalou, Dean J. M. Gordon of Texas Tech, Supt. A. L. Faubion of New Deal, Principal R. W. Matthews of Lubbock, Mrs. Guy L. Trow of Lubbock, Miss Margaret Robertson of Lubbock, and Irvin.

Tariff Boost Is Temporary

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 21 (AP)—Finance Minister Edouardo Suarez today assured United States Ambassador Josephus Daniels that Mexico's sharply increased tariffs were only a temporary move to bolster the peso.

Daniels had called at the ministry to express his "surprise and regrets" at the government's action yesterday which was expected to cut American exports to Mexico heavily.

To Prevent Weakening

The ambassador declared Suarez had informed him the action was taken to prevent the "weakening of the peso against the dollar" because of imports from the United States.

(Mexico disclosed yesterday tariff rates were being increased from 67 per cent to 500 per cent on virtually all imports. The new rates will be sealed down after May 1.

(Some informed quarters said the move was unnecessary as the exchange rate of the peso at 27.75 cents was sound.)

After talking with Suarez, Daniels said, "if this policy should endure it would be contrary to the spirit of the Buenos Aires conference (1936 inter-American peace conference) which favored reduction of barriers instead of increasing them."

Under Old Rates

The ambassador said he had been assured by Suarez that an estimated $416,000 of goods now in transit from the United States would come in under the old rates.

Daniels also asserted there was no evidence the United States had been discriminated against. The United States will be hardest hit however because it sold more than 60 per cent of Mexico's purchases in the last three years.

Texas Man Pours Oil Into A Well To Fool His Investors

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — How a Texas oil dealer poured oil into a well to give it a profitable appearance was disclosed by the securities and exchange commission today.

The commission announced E. R. Crosby of Fort Worth, Tex., had been permanently enjoined from selling interests in oil properties in violation of the registration and fraud provisions of the securities act.

A decree, handed down in the U. S. district court for the northern district of Texas, Fort Worth division, sustained the commission's charges the profit outlook had been misrepresented to investors, the commission said.

The court's ruling the commission said, held that a certain well had been represented as producing oil when, in fact, the oil coming from it had been poured into the well by the defendant.

Sunset Limited Plows Into An Engine; None Badly Injured

ALPINE, Jan. 21 (AP) — The Sunset Limited of the Southern Pacific railroad plowed into the engine of a freight train four miles west of here but no one was injured seriously.

The freight train was attempting to reach a siding at Toronto switch when the Limited struck it.

The engine of the passenger train overturned and the engine and three cars of the freight went into a ditch.

The engineer of the freight, "Smoky" Daniels, sprained both ankles.

No statements were obtainable from railroad officials.

Federal-aid and emergency funds for highway development have provided nearly 8,000,000 months of employment in the past four years.

Cattle Champs Are Auctioned

DENVER, Jan. 21. (AP)—Illinois and Iowa buyers took the major share of 94 carloads of feeder cattle auctioned for a total of approximately $180,000 at the National Western Stock show yesterday.

The average price for the first 20 carloads of show feeder stock sold was $10.70 a hundredweight, compared to the $10.27 average last year.

The Vandemeer farms of Morrison, Ill., paid the sale's top price of $16.25 a hundredweight for the show's third prize feeder carload, 20 Hereford calves averaging 443 pounds. The calves were exhibited by Fred C. Deberard, Kremmling, Colo.

Buy Grand Champion

Robert Kelley of Henry, Ill., bought the grand champion carload at $12.50. This carload of Herefords was shown by Andrew Anderson, Encampment, Wyo. The calves averaged 429 pounds.

The reserve champion carload, shorthorns showed by Joseph Winkler, Castle Rock, Colo., went to James Blair, Dayton, Iowa, for $12.25. The calves averaged 541 pounds.

Illinois and Iowa bidders offered the top prices for most of the remaining carloads.

Offerings at the show's sale of Hereford bulls totaled $48,500 for 124 animals.

E. E. Hester, Benkelman, Neb., paid the sale's biggest price, $1,650 for Real Prince 87th, shown by Kimberling brothers, Champion, Neb.

The largest codfish on record—211 pounds and more than six feet long—was caught on a line trawl off Massachusetts in 1895.

Part Of Hidden Fortune Of Aged Recluse Is Located

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — A squalid west side tenement from which an aged, undernourished woman recluse was removed in fatal illness today yielded part of an estimated $200,000 to $300,000 fortune she left principally to charities.

Mrs. Johanna Von Meyer, described by her attorney, Charles H. Levitt, as 'anywhere from 86 to 100 years old,' died today in Bellevue hospital from a complication of ailments.

Levitt said a search of her bare, dingy quarters in the tenement she owned disclosed $22,000 in government bonds, $10,000 in a checking account, properties in Westchester county, New York, assessed at about $141,000, and other riches.

She lived alone.

Oil Presenting City Problem

KILGORE, Jan. 21 (AP) — Kilgore, with more than 500 oil wells within its limits, has had to make a special study of oil laws and pass special ordinances to regulate drilling and producing operations, says City Secretary U. W. Prater.

Drilling contractors, who sank 123 wells in the township in 1937, were required to obtain city drilling permits in addition to permits from the Texas railroad commission. The city charges a $100 fee for a permit.

Must Erect Walls

Drillers violate city ordinances when they permit their slush pits or waste oil to spill into the streets or sewer system, and they must erect walls around storage tanks and burn flares on gas they vent into the air.

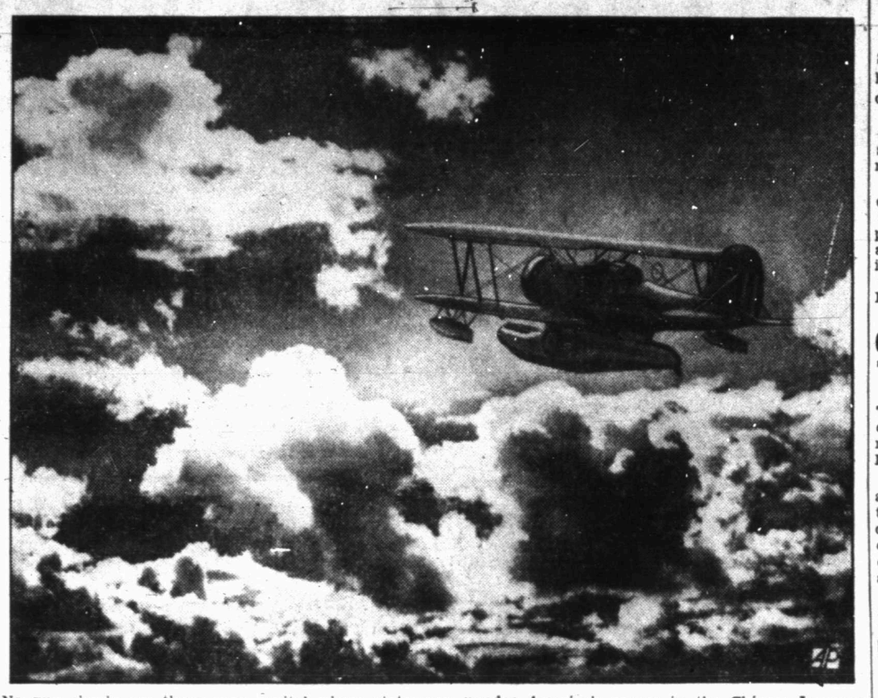

Large public liability bonds are required before a well is spudded in. This ordinance's validity has been upheld by a district court, Prater said. Ordinances provide for inspectors to determine the safety features of boilers and rigs.

Buildings Renovated

Drilling in the city limits resulted in the renovation of more than 12 business buildings last year. One entire business block was drilled. A well was drilled within 15 feet of the city's largest hotel. Another is now being drilled beside one of the town's biggest hospitals — 25 feet from the operating room.

Besides collecting $100 for drilling permits, the city realizes about $180 yearly from each well in taxes. An oil well is valued at $10,000 for taxation purposes.

Navy Plane Soars Above Capitol

No war clouds are these near capitol where statesmen ponder America's course in the Chinese-Japanese war crisis. The plane—one of the coastal defense units—is a Grumman amphibian making a flight near Washington, D. C. Jane's "All the World's Aircraft," recently issued in London, called the U. S. air fleet the mightiest in the world. In its report on naval strength, "Jane's" said that U. S. is making steady progress.

Connally Goes To Trouble To Define Quorum For Friends

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — For the education of his colleagues Senator Tom Connally of Texas has gone to considerable trouble to define the word "quorum."

"The Constitution requires the presence of a quorum," Connally shouted irritably, as he addressed rows of empty seats.

"That does not mean a quorum down in the dining room, that does not mean a quorum down at the picture show, that does not mean a quorum over in the office building; it means a quorum here, on the floor of the Senate," he roared. But still no one came in.

Chickens' Drug Store Keeps 'Em Feeling Fit All Time

PETALUMA, Calif., Jan. 21 (AP)— The only pharmacy exclusively for chickens is operated here in "the nation's egg basket" by Dr. D. E. Davis, a veterinarian.

Dr. Davis has treated chicken ailments for 14 years and has had to manufacture many of his remedies. Since chickens often get chicken pox, Dr. Davis has done considerable experimenting with anti-pox vaccines.

Worst danger to chickens, he finds, is infectious bronchitis.

Graphic Story Of Two Murders Is Told

Man's Actions Are Revealed

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21. (AP)—A graphic word picture of how two police officers found Evelyn Wright and John Kimmel lying mortally wounded in Paul Wright's Glendale home was given in court Thursday.

Harry W. Reed, Glendale police officer, testified for the state in the trial of Wright, former airport manager charged with murdering his wife and Kimmel, his "best friend."

Was In Ambulance

Reed was with Officer Robert Trowbridge in the ambulance which hurried to the Wright home at the defendant's frantic call.

Wright met the ambulance at a street intersection near his home—hatless, coatless and without vest, said the witness. Reed quoted him as asking them:

"Why are you so long in getting here. My God—I'm a murderer! I've just killed my wife and my best friend."

Wright tugged at his sleeve, said Reed, almost tearing it off.

The officer testified that Wright preceded them into the house, walking straight, but highly agitated in manner. His breath was alcoholic, he said.

"There They Lie"

In the living room, the witness related, Wright pointed to the piano and said:

"There they lie."

Reed said that the body of Mrs. Wright was on the floor, her head on the piano pedals, most of the body under the piano bench. He said she had a slight pulse then.

The piano bench, with two bullet holes in it, was introduced in evidence.

S. Ernest Roll, prosecutor, next queried Reed about Kimmel. Reed said his left foot was on the keyboard of the piano and his right leg under the piano bench.

Moving And Groaning

Kimmel was moving and groaning and pawing the air with his left hand, the witness testified.

A short recess was called when Reed described the position of Kimmel's other hand.

Some of Kimmel's clothing was disarranged, Reed said. Kimmel's foot dropped off the bass end of the piano keyboard before the victims were removed, the officer testified.

Mrs. Wright's clothing was in good order, said Reed.

As Kimmel continued to groan, Reed testified, Wright implored:

"Get that moaning --- -- - ----- out of here—I can't stand it."

Reed then described succeeding events as follows:

The Wrights' negro maid, Leona Navy, came downstairs and Wright told her:

"I've shot Evelyn, Leona. I caught her cheating."

Wright sat down at a desk, wrote a check, and said to the maid:

"I haven't got much money, but I'll give you this $70. That will take care of you and the baby." (The Wrights' 3-year-old daughter.)

Wright then asked for and obtained permission to telephone his father at the Knickerbocker hotel, Milwaukee, Wis.

"Hello, father," Wright said between pauses at his end of the line. "There has been a terrible tragedy at our home. I've shot Evelyn. I caught her cheating. It's just as you said it would be. You'll stick by me, won't you?"

During most of Reed's testimony, the handsome, slender, tragic-faced Wright sat with chin and jaw jammed deep into the crotch of his thumb and palm, or with his head bowed on an outstretched hand.

Allowance Of About $80 Per Day Is Granted To Student

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — An allowance of approximately $80 a day for Anthony N. Duke, 19-year-old Princeton student and heir to part of the Duke tobacco fortune, was approved today for the rest of 1938 by Surrogate James R. Foley.

A total of $2,400 a month is necessary to support and educate young Duke in the manner to which he is accustomed, his mother, Mrs. T. Markoe Robertson, said in obtaining a guardianship order.

Boxers Coming In Teams

By Collier Parris

LEFT JABS AND KNICK-KNACKS (with apologies to Landis):

Border conference coaching shake-up this year involves Tempe State and possibly New Mexico State, with Vaughn Corley, former Texas Tech athlete and successful assistant coach at Las Cruces, seeking Rudy Lavik's vacated head master job at Tempe. . . . Lavik resigned to become director of athletics. . . .

Corley, here last week to scout cagers of Tech and New Mexico U., did not comment then, but later writes to Coach Pete Cawthon of Tech indicating his plans and asking recommendation. Which was generously given. . . . In his letter Corley says Tempe seeks big name coach, hints that Bobby Grayson, former all-American of Stanford; Hobs Adams of U. S. C., and Tilden Campbell, backfield coach at Alabama, are on list of prospects, but infers that Tempe's salary offer of less than three g's probably not interesting to aforementioned gents. . . . Corley's a good guy, evidently a satisfactory coach, and probably could get a good job done at the Arizona institution. . . .

GOLDEN GLOVES enthusiasm is sweeping the section now, result of successful City tournament and prospects of super-extra-colossal-gigantic District tournament. . . . Several towns around and about are sending complete teams of eight for the District joust Feb. 7-8. . . . Among them, Lockney, where Mr. Gearheart, the theatre man, is putting on a fight night Thursday night at his theatre, winners to come to Lubbock for the district event. . . . Boxers from towns around Lockney are invited to compete in Gearheart's show. . . . Wilson, Levelland, Ralls are sending complete teams. . . . There are some good boxers over at Littlefield . . . wonder why they aren't sending in entries?

Director Milt Coffey already has 18 definite entries from Lubbock, and there'll probably be more. . . . Among the headliners for the District will be John Buck, the Crosbyton Killer, who now weighs in as a light heavy after winning the State A.A.U. middleweight championship. . . . They'll come from miles around to see Buck fight. They always have. . . .

Among District Golden Gloves applicants is C. J. Johnson, of Northfield, Texas, up in Motley county. . . . Johnson explains "I am a colored boy. My age is 21, and I want to enter the Golden Gloves service." . . . He is the second colored boy to make application, but the State frowns upon mixing the races in box fights. . . . Some of the classiest scrapping in the Clovis tournament last year was furnished by the dusky lads.

COMES A LETTER from R. H. Piggott of Hobbs, asking the number of times University of West Virginia penetrated Tech's 20-yard line in the Sun Bowl game. . . . The answer is ONE. . . . officially, that is. . . . That doesn't include West Virginia's touchdown, which resulted from a recovered fumble on Tech's 3-yard line. . . . The ball had crossed the 20 as result of a punt from mid-field. . . . The penetration came in the last quarter, a penalty against Tech placing the ball on its 24, from where Isaac ran to the 15. That was as close as the Mountaineers got, except for the touchdown. . . . On next play, Clark was tossed for a 5-yard loss. . . .

A READER asks about Tech's 1938 football schedule, especially about "U. of D. and Duquesne," U. of D. no doubt meaning University of Detroit. . . . The complete schedule has not been released, pending return of signed contracts from two or three schools. . . . It is unlikely that Tech and Detroit will play, although negotiations were being continued the last time we saw Coach Cawthon. . . . Coach Gus Dorais wanted Tech to return there, but Cawthon couldn't find a free date. . . . He invited Detroit here, but Dorais said he has too many road trips already. . . . Duquesne is definitely on the schedule, and the game will be played in Pittsburgh, winding up a 2-year contract. . . . Other teams definitely on the card are Marquette, the universities of Montana and Wyoming, Gonzaga, Creighton, Wichita university, University of New Mexico and Loyola of New Orleans. . . . The complete schedule, with dates and places, will be published as soon as all the contracts are in. . . .

THE SLATON OILERS got off to a fast start t'other night against a couple of Lubbock teams, whaling Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers, which were weakened by the loss of Hugh Snodgrass and Alvin Crews, who went over to the Oilers, then on the same evening trouncing the Kerr Brothers outfit here. . . . Lubbock Westerners had one of those bad nights last night at Borger. . . . Talked with Coach Goober Keyes by telephone, and he was quite forlorn at dropping the second game of the Borger series, 19-32, after winning the first. . . . "The boys got plenty of shots, and tried hard, but just couldn't hit the baskets . . . but maybe they'll do better at Pampa Friday and Saturday nights." . . . It was Lubbock's first defeat. . . . Texas Tech cagers, after exams next week, hit the road for a swing through the Border conference, opening at El Paso, marching on to Tucson, then to Flagstaff, back to Socorro, to Albuquerque, then home on Feb. 17 to play the champions, New Mexico Aggies, a couple of games. . . . Flagstaff Teachers come here Feb. 21 and 22. . . .

AND HERE'S SOMETHING: If you and other critics think the Techs play a pretty rough brand of ball, make lots of personal fouls, etc., look at this: in a game at Oklahoma City the other night, Iowa State made 22 personal fouls, Oklahoma university 13! . . . At least, the referees caught that many. . . . The Okla. City series, who gave the Techs quite a panning, when they played in the tournament there, must have liked that!

"WHY NOT MORE bowling news?" postcards A Would-Be Bowler. . . . It'll be moving along thick and fast pretty soon, Mr. Would-Be, with the American Bowling Congress swinging into action with all kinds of tournaments, leading up to the national sweepstakes. . . . As for local bowling, our long-legged friend from Sudan, M. L. Davis, master mind of the Lubbock Club, and his cohorts didn't get their bowling league started this winter, so we haven't had much news therefrom. . . .

But for a little bowling dope, we'll pick up a piece from Dick Freeman's column in the Houston Chronicle:

What's the average bowler score in competition? That's a tough question; but Brunswick-Balke-Collender, builders of bowling alleys, has arrived at a conclusion after studying the qualifying scores of 232,565 entrants in the nation-wide $34,000 Red Crown Sweepstakes.

In the record-breaking entry for any single sports event, it was found that the average bowler scores exactly 154.7.

The average was figured from the actual scores tallied in seven weeks of three-game matches by the entrants who bowled 4,872,000 lines to qualify for the sweepstakes.

Six weeks of prize play begins in 1,532 cities and towns next week. Statisticians are sharpening their pencils for further figuring which will disclose whether the average bowler's score improves or falls off under the pressure of shooting for big money.

All teams entered in the sweepstakes are regular A. B. C. league teams which bowl on their home alleys and pay no fee for their chance to shoot for six weeks at $4.100 each week plus $9,400 grand prizes.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Topping off a neat job of spring housecleaning and refurnishing, the Yankees opened to the public today their 1938 roster—as compact a collection of dynamiters as you'll find anywhere in the big leagues.

Listing only 28 players, it's the smallest Yankee lineup in years.

In cleaning house, the world champions cut off Blubber Malone, the 1936 relief pitching hero; Jackrabbit Jack Saltzgaver, infield utility man, and sophomore pitcher Frank Makusky. Also missing is old Poosh 'Em Opp Tony Lazzeri, now with the Chicago Cubs.

New Players Up

Taking their places, the Yankees have brought up seven members of the "wonder teeam" of Newark Bears, the Yanks' International league farm.

The roster shows 13 pitchers, four catchers, six infielders and five outfielders. The Yankees will have to cut only five players adrift to get down to the 23-player limit in May.

The pitching staff has the largest infusion of new blood, with five flinging hopefuls. Holdovers, of course, are the two 20-game 1937 aces, Lefty Gomez and Charley The Red Ruffing, along with Monte Pearson; Ivy Paul Andrews; Bump (Rabbit's Foot) Hadley; Johnny Murphy; and sophomores Joe Vance and Kemp Wicker.

Newcomers In Ranks

Newcomers are Newark's two classiest elbowers, Joe Beggs, who won 21 and lost four last year, and young Atley Donald, who showed a record of 19 and two; Spud Chandler, who went great guns as a Yankee rookie early last season; Steve Sundra, a 15-game Newark winner, and Lee Stine, the ex-Cincinnati Reds and Chicago White Sox performer.

Along with belting Bill Dickey, Joe Glenn and Arndt Jorgens, murderers' row has added young Buddy Rosar to the catching staff. A class-AA rookie last season, Rosar batted .332 and may stick over Jorgens.

The outfield department is unchanged, with no newcomers and no faces missing. Joe DiMaggio and George Selkirk are sure of regular berths. The third spot will fall to the best from among Myril Hoag, Jake Powell and Tommy Henrich.

In the inner defenses, Iron Man Gehrig at first, Red Rolfe at third and Frankie Crosetti at short are holdover first-stringers. Joe Gordon, up from Newark, has the job of filling Lazzeri's second base shoes. Don Heffner is back again and will stay as utility man, unless Dahlgren can take the job away from him.

(P. S.—The roster shows also that Joseph V. McCarthy is still manager.)

Sellout Crowd Is To Be On Hand Tonight As Battlers Meet

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—The second big heavyweight brawl of the indoor season takes place at the Garden tonight, between Jim Braddock, the ex-champion, and Tommy Farr, the terrible Welshman, and it promises to be hot and heavy.

The Garden virtually was a sellout, with a gross of over $90,000 predicted by Promoter Mike Jacobs.

Farr, largely on the strength of having gone 15 rounds with Champion Joe Louis without becoming a total loss, remained a favorite in the heavy betting at odds of 8 to 5. He was a logical choice over his 32-year-old opponent, who lost his crown to Louis last summer by a knockout.

Braddock, though, didn't lack supporters. The pleasant Irishman who came up from the relief line to win the title, still packs a punch, even if his legs aren't what they used to be. There were those who thought he might nail the Welshman some time during the 10 rounds, possibly an uppercut.

That appeared to be Jim's only real chance. Farr, who was a terrific flop in training for his bout with Louis, has made an impression on the experts this time. He has brought himself into near perfect condition, and is a powerful fellow. He never will be a pretty boxer, like Braddock, and he hasn't much of a punch, but he is a bruising, busy fighter.

Start From The First

The expectation was that Farr would start climbing all over Braddock from the first bell, like he did against Louis, depending upon his iron jaw to withstand Jim's jolts and gambling that his youth and vigor would wear the veteran down. He posed a tough test for Braddock, who has sworn to hang up the gloves if he's soundly beaten.

All the physical advantages, except for an inch and a half in height, were in Farr's favor. The Welshman was expected to weigh in at 204 pounds at noon today, with Braddock about 195. At 24, Farr had a pull of eight years over the former champion. He had the longer reach and was a bigger man through the chest and body.

There is only one male hop-plant louse in a score of generations. In the spring, eggs of the hop-plant louse hatch out females. These females bring forth young within eight days, and continue bringing forth new female families throughout the summer. In the autumn is hatched a brood consisting exclusively of males.

Bulldogs Too Much For Lubbock Team

BORGER, Jan. 21 (Special)—The Borger Bulldogs turned on the steam, offensively and defensively, last night to defeat a luckless Lubbock High school basketball team 32 to 19, in a Big Five league game here.

The victory gave Borger an even break in the series, Lubbock winning Wednesday night, 27 to 22.

It was Lubbock's first defeat in Big Five competition this season. The Westerners had swept a series from the Amarillo Sandies before invading Borger.

Barron, Bulldog center, led the scoring last night.

L. D. Venable, Lubbock forward, was high for the visitors with 7 points, all of them made from the free throw line. The Westerner scored only one field goal in the last half. They got plenty of shots, but were missing the goal.

The Westerners left here today for Pampa where they play a two game series Friday and Saturday nights with the Pampa Harvesters favorites in the Big Five race.

Rice Expects Big Things For Grid Squad In 1938 Season

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Jan. 21 — Straight reports are that Rice institute, expecting big things of its gridders come the fall, will provide a stadium of some 35,000 capacity before the Owls open at home against Oklahoma . . . Definite plans should be announced within a week.

Golf fans at San Antonio, led by professionals Tod Menefee and Lefty Stackhouse, are planning a state amateur-pro tournament for the spring . . . It's past the "idea" stage now and should click. . . . What will Baylor do when Wilson White, its best goal chunker, shakes his ailment and gets back into the starting five? The Golden Bears knocked over S. M. U. and Texas, two ranking teams, without him.

Getting In Shape

Roy (Beau) Bell, the St. Louis Brown slugger, is getting in shape for spring training trudging around the Willow Springs golf course at San Antonio. . . . Carl Brazell, the Southwest conference's forgotten man, was the boy professional football scouts swamped after that Chicago Bear-All Star game at Houston. . . . The burly Baylor linebacker, one of the conference's finest 1937 backs in this writer's books, was the defensive bulwark of the collegian team.

Two of the nation's best girl's basketball teams, the Anicos of Galveston and the Tulsa Stenos, will collide three nights in succession—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—down at Galveston next week. . . . All-America stars dot both lineups . . . And Raymond Shackleford, that six foot, nine inch center at West Texas Teachers, has roped exactly 216 points in 18 games to date.

Coaches Are Changed

To Corpus Christi high goes the palm for grabbing Harry Stiteler, great little Smithville high coach. . . . The ex-Aggie, never large enough to star in college football but recognized as one of the brainiest players ever to report for practice, rolled up a record of 55 games won, four lost, two tied in his six years of coaching at Bellville and Smithville. . . . His successor at Smithville, Clyde Gott, formerly of Hull-Daisetta, had a neat record himself. . . . 37 games won, two lost and one tied out of 40 starts.

Where they come from, nobody knows, but West Texas State has a freshman basketeer it is grooming for next season — one Dewey Johnson — who stretches six feet, three inches and who has scored 55 points in four games. . . . Hardin-Simmons Cowboys have rolled up 24 successive wins on their home court. . . . Haven't been defeated on their own hardwood since 1934. . . . And Texas Christian has dropped its last 13 Southwest conference games. . . . In fact the Horned Frogs have won only five of their last 36 league games.

Amateur box fighters from all parts of Texas will fight it out in "neighborhood" scraps to determine winners for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram's grand finale in its statewide Golden Gloves tourney. . . . Finals will be held at Fort Worth Feb. 17-21.

In the small villages of Egypt, housewives use little portable ovens, which can be carried wherever the family goes.

Arkansas Still Is Unbeaten; Collide With Rice Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

Rice institute against Arkansas university at Fayetteville and Texas A. & M. against Texas Christian university at Fort Worth, is the basketball fare for the Southwest conference tonight.

Rice winds up a two-game series with unbeaten Arkansas. Tomorrow night the Texas A. & M. Aggies go to Dallas to tackle the Southern Methodist university Mustangs, who are battling to retain the title.

Rice took an early lead at Fayetteville last night, but Don Lockard scored 18 points to give the Arkansans a 38-31 victory. They took the lead four minutes before halftime after Lockard began sinking sideline shots.

Steakley, with 10 points, followed Lockard in scoring. Seale, Rice, and Robbins, Arkansas, made 9 and 8 points respectively.

Open Tourney Starts Today

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 21. (AP)—The $3,000 Pasadena Open began today as around 250 leading professionals and ambitious amateurs started on the first round.

The tournament, with the purse guaranteed by wealthy Pasadena sportsmen and the profits dedicated to charity, was held over Brookside park, a course lengthened to 6,500 yards and par a difficult 71.

Smith One Of Favorites

Horton Smith, who won the last tournament with a 72-hole score of 279, five under par, was installed in one of the favorites' spots.

Harry Cooper and Harold McSpaden, also contenders, were the runner-ups to lanky Horton two years ago, with 283.

Jimmy Thomson finished far out of the money in the previous Pasadena, but times have changed. Jimmy is no longer merely a long hitter.

Snead Is Threat

Sammy Snead was a distinct threat today.

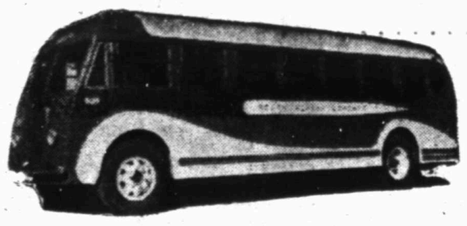

Other ranking contenders were Lawson Little, Olin Dutra, Henry Picard, Johnny Revolta, second to Thomson, and Willie Goggin.

The tournament ends Monday.

Lawrence Of Manchuria" Is To Set Up Puppet Regime In China

hinese Will ule In Area

ANGHAI, Jan. 21 (AP)—Japan's wrence of Manchuria" was re- ed today to be setting up a pup- regime to govern the conquered rt of China.

hinese sources declared Lieuten- General Menji Doihara, po- al manipulator for the Japanese y whose efforts launched the nemberment of Manchuria and h China, was bringing in "ac- table" northern Chinese to rule Shanghai and Nanking area.

Is Not In Shanghai

don't think General Doihara is Shanghai at present," said the nese military spokesman. But ese asserted he had establish- headquarters at the New Asia el, rendezvous of high Japanese mandeers and prospective politi- advisers.

oihara's undercover work had n credited with keeping China in moil during the decade preced- the present hostilities. Advices n Mukden, Manchuria, today quoted Shinrokuro Hidaka, diplomat expected to become Japan's acting ambassador to China, as saying he expected a new regime for South and Central China to be established soon.

Slowed By Weather

Although slowed by snow, sleet and cold, the Japanese column advancing north from Nanking was said to be approaching Pengpu, halfway mark on the drive toward Suchow, junction of the Tsinpu railway and the Lunghai, China's east-west lifeline.

Mingkwang, southeast of Pengpu, was said to have changed hands twice in brisk fighting.

Far to the northwest, Outer Mongolian troops allied with Soviet Russia were reported in Japanese dispatches to be preparing a heavily-manned defense line along the Mongolian border facing North China areas conquered by Japan.

Annual Beauty And Beast Contest Being Launched; Ugliest Man Being Sought

ABILENE, Jan. 21 (AP)—Editor Burton C. Shelton of the Hardin-Simmons university "Brand," campus weekly, today hunted the ugliest man in school.

It's time for the annual "beauty and the beast" contest.

Candidates for the dubious title of "the guy with the sourest puss" were worried. William (Nose All) McKinney, last year's winner, is still in school. And he is eligible to compete again, Editor Shelton ruled.

Time hasn't helped McKinney's looks and he figures he again will "nose out" Harry (Hossfly) Powell, last year's runner-up. The campus queen contest also got underway with many beauties entered.

"For every Texas rose," mused Editor Shelton, "there's an inevitable thorn. A protection—but still a thorn. We want the best in extremes."

Burial Today For Student Of Tech

Funeral rites will be read at Shamrock at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Cecil Hall, 20, freshman student of engineering at Texas Technological college. He died Thursday afternoon in a sanitarium at Lubbock, of pneumonia.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hall of Shamrock. Authorities in the engineering school, said he was the first student in that division to die in six years.

Hall was working his way through school and was employed at a confectionery on Main street, it was reported.

Other than his parents, he is survived by a brother, Floyd, and a sister, Mary Opal, both of Shamrock; and two grandmothers, Mrs. Mary Green of Hico and Mrs. B. A. Hall of Decatur.

There are about 40 species of grape vine.

Land Under Lease In This County Is Given Increase

Land under oil, gas and mineral lease in Lubbock county was increased to 101,328 acres with the filing of two instruments at the office of County Clerk Ed D. Allen Thursday.

The two leases conveyed rights on 480 acres of land and were: H. V. Edsall of Lubbock to W. M. Blevins, east half of section 49, block A, HE & WT RR company survey; and J. B. Earhart and wife of Lubbock county to W. P. Soash, northwest quarter of section 67, block A, EL & RR company survey.

Soash transferred his lease to the Texas company as did Blevins his. Blevins also transferred rights to the company on 133 acres of section 54, block A, HE & WT RR company survey.

C. W. Ratliff picked this up somewhere and brought it in:

Sock him on the kisser; put him on the pan;
Roll him in the gutter—he's a business man!
Pillory the sucker; poke him in the eye;
Jump on his torso—he's a business guy!
Has he built a business to enormous heights?
Brand him as a cheater—never mind his rights!
Does he give employment? Is his payroll big?
Put the bum in irons! Throw him in the brig!
Does he pay in taxes what the law calls for?
Why, the dirty reptile should be paying more!
Blast him in the headlines; charge some crooked acts;
Let this be your slogan: "Anything but facts!"
Has he made some money? Get his scalp today!
Say, where does he think he's living, anyway?

The original of that jingle, called "Verse to a Business Man," appeared in the Kittanning, Pa., Daily Leader-Times.

GOOD news to everybody who likes good reading is that Sinclair Lewis' brand new book, "The Prodigal Parents," has arrived in Lubbock.

The Plainsman sneaked it out of Leona's Littly Booky Shoppy and, at this writing, is about two-thirds through with it.

We've gone along far enough in it, however, to be able to report that it's a real Sinclair Lewis novel—which is just another way of saying it's swell!

The creator of "Babbitt," "Elmer Gantry," "Main Street," "It Can't Happen Here," and those other literary smashes has lost none of his old touch.

He still unerringly places his finger on the national sore spots—and pushes!

We recommend it like nobody's never-you-mind!

One of our good West Texas cowmen went up to Kansas City with a load of cattle a few years ago and ran into a banker friend who insisted that the cowman accompany him to a swell banquet at the Kansas City Athletic club. The cowman didn't want to go, but his old friend wouldn't take "no" for an answer.

The West Texan's worst fears were realized when he got to the club. Not only was it a dress-up, high society affair, but there were lots of speeches. Pretty soon, to his dismay, he was called upon for a few words.

Shaking like a mesquite in a sandstorm, he arose, turning over his coffee cup and dumping cigaret ashes on the frigid-faced society dame next to him.

"Wal, folks," he said, "all I can remember right now is a toast I've heard the boys give around the chuckwagon. It goes:

"They met on the bridge at midnight,
But they'll never meet again.
For she was a westbound heifer—
And he was an eastbound train!"

LIKE The Plainsman, most readers have heard a lot about Andrew Jackson as a soldier, a statesman and a Democrat. But here's one story about Old Hickory that the writer never heard before.

It was passed along by Preston Grover, one of our Washington correspondents.

"We must tell you," writes Mr. Grover, "about Andrew Jackson and the outdoor plumbing which almost got into the Congressional Record. Senator Bailey, of North Carolina, brought up the subject during a filibuster speech.

"'One of the most interesting things I know about Andrew Jackson is that a judgment was taken against him when he left for Tennessee, which is recorded in Rowan county,' Bailey said. 'It remained on record against him for several years, but one day the news of the Battle of New Orleans came and the creditor, I think, sneaked up there—he did not do it publicly—and wrote on the judgment 'Canceled by the victory of New Orleans.'

"'Will the senator tell us what that judgment was about?' asked Senator Bennett Clark, of Missouri, slyly. Bailey did not know, but Clark did—and he told us about it afterward.

"He said Jackson and a group of young blades were angry at a leading citizen of Guilford, North Carolina, and one night rode up to his place on their horses. There they attached ropes to a certain outbuilding and turned it over, Hallowe'en fashion.

"The owner ran out of his house and identified Jackson as one of the horsemen. He went to the courthouse and got a judgment for $8.90 against Jackson. But by that time Jackson was headed for Tennessee and the judgment laid unsettled for many years. Then came the news that the famous battle that was fought at New Orleans in 1815 af-

CHAPTER I

Along the ocean drive at Palm Beach, America's winter playground for the great and near-great, the line of automobiles stretched for nearly a mile approaching the Tudor-styled castle of Constance Corby, the richest girl in the world.

A corps of special patrolmen was on guard, besides the traditional men in livery and a dozen private detectives. A flock of newspaper men and photographers was gathered outside the tall wrought-iron gates. The formal gardens and velvety terraces were flooded in softly tinted light; an enormous marquee especially built for dancing, overlooked the silvery-edged surf beating against white sands shimmering in moonlight of rivaling splendor. Rare lilies and orchids, brought by plane, filled the spacious rooms from baseboard to ceiling. Three orchestras had been engaged. Forty caterers occupied the mammoth kitchens preparing a feast fit for a bacchanalian king. The supply of champagne was unlimited. For tonight the formal announcement of the betrothal of "The Million Dollar Princess" was to be given out to the world.

Outside the richly appointed bathroom, with its sunken marble tub and golden-plated fixtures, three persons hovered anxiously, listening for every word and sound from within.

"You really should be getting dressed, Miss Connie," Gibbs, the personal maid, English, angular, sardonic, warned.

"Indeed you should!" Mrs. Perry, the head housekeeper, fat florid and forty, urged with supplication boarding on tears.

"You should indeed," Uncle Tippy added his bit. "That is if you intend to appear at your own party, my dear." Uncle Tippy was Connie's favorite guardian. He never allowed anything to upset him too much; not even his niece's whims, which were, at times, to say, the ter the war was ended. The note cancelling followed."

That's quite a story, if you ask The Plainsman, and proves again that all of us, rich and poor, weak and powerful, give way to the same temptations. It reminds The Plainsman of some advice he received from an old editor when he was young in the newspaper game.

"You'll always notice this, son," he said, "the big guys are just like the little ones. We all pull on our pants one leg at a time!"

There is a very famous—and, likewise, very good—New York columnist who frequently writes his column in the style of Samuel Pepys' Diary. And, if you take his writings literally, he is forever bumping into and running around with very famous personages.

To make the story shorter, this columnist carried the pitcher to the well once too many times—and got into a jam. Here's the way it came about:

Vilhjalmar Stefansson, the famous explorer who was in the limelight following the return of one of his polar expeditions, subscribed to a clipping bureau so that no newspaper mention of himself might escape his eye. The clipping bureau, of course, charged so much per clip.

The New York columnist occasionally started his nationally syndicated column off with "Up betimes and had breakfast with Stefansson."

Stefansson had never met the columnist, but every time that sentence ran it was printed in scores of papers and the return clip cost the explorer $4. Stefansson finally grew tired of the financial burden and wrote the columnist as follows:

"Dear Sir: It will be much less expensive for me, hereafter, if you will take breakfast with me and say nothing about it."

The "Up betimes" breakfasting with Stefansson promptly stopped!

Australia also is experiencing a housing problem—to the extent that the government of New South Wales plans $40,000,000 in loans to bring about the building of 100,000 new homes within the next 10 years. . . . In a recent poll of Brown university freshmen at Providence, R. I., as to career ambitions, only one student said he would enter the political field. . . . This one vote was in a university which has produced two Vice-Presidents, 15 cabinet members, 22 ambassadors, governors of 11 states, 65 United States senators and 204 state and federal judges, including Chief Justice Hughes of the U. S. Supreme court. . . . Maybe the Brown poll shows us what's the matter with us, politically speaking, as a nation!

AN OLD SUGGESTION UP AGAIN

Another of those recurrent suggestions that Texas be divided into two or more states will do no more than provoke amusement or irritation among the overwhelming proportion of the population.

The latest proposal comes from a few people in four South Texas counties that they form their own state of South Texas.

There admittedly are sound arguments to support the contention that Texans would benefit if her vast domain should be cut into several states. By terms of her admission to the Union, she could create as many as five. If that should be done, it would give the area 10 United States senators instead of two.

But can anyone imagine that the expense of operating even the cheapest of those state governments would be one-fifth that of the one state. More likely, the cost of five state governments would be about five times as much as at present.

However, the one factor most likely to block forever any proposed division is that we of Texas are proud of the mere physical fact that we are the giant of all states and, as a state taken as a whole, that our history is the most glorious of any of the 48.

least, likely to be upsetting.

There was silence for a minute while the three waited as though holding one long suspended breath. Then: "But I'm not so sure I want to appear," a low, throaty voice murmured from the other side of the door, which was locked. "I'd much rather stay where I am. It's terribly cozy. When I think of all those people waiting to shake my hand and offer congratulations or condolences, not to mention the reporters and camera men. . . . The more I think of it, I believe I shall stay here."

"But you can't do that!" Mrs. Perry threw up plump arms in horror. "Remember Rodney is waiting too. Your fiance. Such a splendid young man!"

"I shan't be able to do your hair to suit you, Miss Connie, unless you allow me ample time." Gibbs' thin face took on a peculiar pinched look.

"What I should have done long ago," Uncle Tippy sighed, "was to have given you a good sound spanking. Hope Brandon will have sense enough, when he takes you off my hands."

"If Rodney ever beats me, I shall leave him," the cool, lovely voice stated with emphasis. "I'll do my own hair, thank you, Gibby. And I'm not going to throw a tantrum, Uncle darling, unless you drive me to it. Go way, please, and let me alone."

"Talking about divorce before the banns are even spoken! 'Tis a bad omen!" Mrs. Perry moaned.

"Will you go way?" This time the voice was not quite so soft or musical; there was a loud splash in accompaniment.

"I expect we'd better." Uncle Tippy decided, motioning to the others. He had not been a favorite guardian for 20 years without having learned when to give in.

Connie listened to the footsteps dying away. The frown between her prettily arched brows vanished, her lips curved in a little victorious smile. What good were seventy-some-odd millions if she could not be late to her own announcement party?

Not that she had any reason to be late. Except that the water was warm and fragrant and soothing and suddenly she was sick to the soul of parties and maids and butlers and guests. As for Rodney, an anxious moment or two might be good for that young man.

"This should be the happiest day of my life, I suppose," Connie thought, a few minutes later, standing before her dressing mirror with its array of shining, monogrammed silver. Her hand, brushing hair that curled in soft, damp, golden ringlets, stopped in mid-air as she bent forward to survey that mirrored reflection. Blue eyes that met hers challengingly, rather than eagerly; a straight little nose and firm chin that bespoke a long line of blue-blooded ancestry; coral lips that curved in an aloof little smile that held no laughter, really.

For she might be the richest girl in the world, but she was not the happiest.

"There is one thing money can not buy," her grandfather had told her when she was small enough to perch upon his knee. "Happiness. For how can you be happy, if you have everything?"

Nevertheless, this wise old financier had willed his only grandchild a fortune, the extent of which was known only to the six lawyers who were the executors in control of the purse-strings.

How indeed? Connie wondered now, though she had not then. She wondered, too, why she should ask herself this question tonight of all nights. For Rodney Brandon, crack polo player and tennis ace, as well as heir to one of the oldest names and fortunes in the United States, was a young man any girl would be thrilled to marry.

He had been Connie's first sweetheart, almost the only one she had had for although she was far prettier than most girls, Connie had had very few friends of either sex and only a carefully restricted number of suitors. The richest girl in the world had often been the loneliest. Behind the golden myth that was Constance Corby, underneath all the splendor and regality of legal empire, lay the somber, haunting shadow of perpetual fear. The fear of kidnaping, a dream of being murdered.

Her childhood had been spent practically in isolation on the 6000 acre estate of Corby Farms, with its miles and miles of guarded roads and its myriad locked gates. Her education had been conducted by private tutors. She had traveled abroad extensively, but she could not walk in the streets of any American city, enter any public place, attend any social function without being trailed by private detectives.

Bagfuls of mail were opened by her secretaries. Crank letters. People who wanted to meet her. Supplications for money. Threats. At times the deluge rose to such proportions that flight became the necessary precaution. Everywhere she went, as soon as her identity was revealed, it was necessary to move on.

Yet the whole world knew what Constance Corby wore, with whom she danced, that she painted her toenails to match her lips and wore a gold slave anklet; how she had wept when her Irish terrier had been killed—and had had a costly tombstone put over his grave; that she liked hot-cha music, but had once asked an orchestra to play "I Love You Truly"; slept in a bed that had belonged to Marie Antoinette, breakfasted from a solid-gold service, loathed publicity and photographers, and that she would, eventually, marry Rodney Brandon.

Rodney was tall and bronzed and blond. There was an air of breeding and distinction about him. He said now, coming to meet Connie at the door of the long, curving stairway, bowing in mock servility, "Your humble henchman awaits with impatience that is now rewarded. You look more beautiful than I have ever seen you—if that's possible, darling. May I claim this first dance."

So that Connie, smiling down on him, wondered further why her heart did not quicken, her pulses stir, why she did not feel a flood of happiness as he took her in his arms and spun her onto the polished floor.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 21—One day a movie director walked into a barber shop and gave the little girl there a great big hand.

She went to work with her files and buffers, and he went on thinking about the things that directors think about. A pretty manicurist is nothing special in the life of a movie-maker. In this town, at least, most manicurists and waitresses are thwarted actresses, looking for a break.

But this girl didn't make any remarks such as, "Some of my customers say I look like Janet Gaynor and some say Loretta Young. But most of 'em say I oughta be in pictures. . . ."

What this girl said was "Other hand, please."

So the director gave her the other hand, and a look, too. What he saw was downright startling.

The manicurist actually did look like Janet Gaynor, and Loretta Young, with just a dash of Mary Astor. She had auburn hair and a complexion to go with it—light and with a few freckles. She was about five feet four inches tall and weighed 112 pounds—slim but with nice architecture. Her voice was a sort of contralto, throaty, but smooth.

Can This Be Scarlett?

Her name, it turned out, was Arleen Whelan. Also it turns out that Miss Whelan is making her screen debut in the feminine lead of a 20th-Fox picture called "Kidnaped."

And that isn't all. Miss Whelan looks like a fairly good bet for Scarlett O'Hara; maybe a shade too pretty, but this is Hollywood, after all. At any rate, David O. Selznick is sufficiently impressed to test her for the part, and in spite of all the rumors you've been hearing, not many actual tests have been made.

She is being taught a southern accent, as well as the Scottish accent which she must use as Jeannie MacDonald in the kidnaping picture. There's evidence of acting ability in the fact that when she talks of her coming test for "Gone With the Wind" her voice immediately goes so'th'n. But in discussing "Kidnaped" she regains all her r's and a few extra ones, until she's talking with a burr.

"It Was Just Luck"

Miss Whelan talks excitedly about the things that are happening to her, but plainly she is not used to being interviewed. Telling about the way she was discovered, she said:

"Well, some people here at the studio thought it would be better to have me discovered as a waitress in a restaurant, but the way it really happened was that this Mr. Humberstone (H.B.), the director, came to get a manicure in the barber shop where I worked.

"We talked a little, after a while, and the next day he came in again and asked if I would like to be in the movies. It's really a miracle because I never would have gone to a studio to try to get a job. This Mr. Humberstone's nickname is 'Lucky,' and I guess it works for other people, too."

Saving Her Money

Probably the only reason Miss Whelan was not discovered sooner is because her home is in Los Angeles, off the path of the movie colonists. She never entered beauty contests. In school she was never interested in dramatics.

When Miss Whelan took her 20th-Fox screen test she was required to sing a song. She still believes that she did very badly, but the studio thought enough of her voice to hire a vocal teacher for her as well as a dramatic coach.

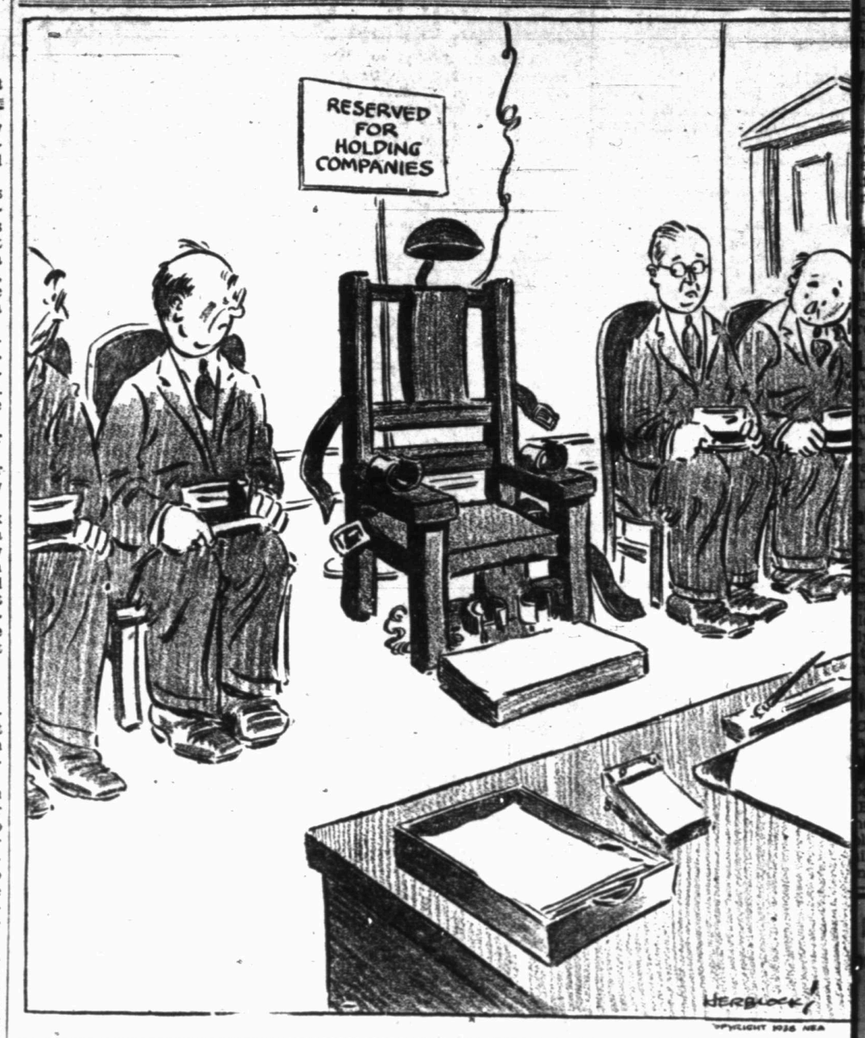

Since she received her contract, agents have been pestering her to let them handle her affairs and, incidentally, collect 10 per cent of her salary. Miss Whelan, though, is taking her Scotch coaching seriously. Her mother and father will act as her manager and agent.

"Wandering Ranch" Believed To Have Found Final Home

TONOPAH, Nev., Jan. 21 (AP) — They still have a hard time running accurate surveyor's lines in this sparsely settled country. For years a dispute has been going on as to whether the big Potts ranch is in Nye county or Lander county.

The latest court decision is intended to give the ranch a permanent home in Nye county and to place its $16,000 assessment on the tax rolls. Lander also was ordered to pay Nye $2,065 for taxes alleged to have been illegally collected.

Mixed Pleasure And Pain Seen In Selection Of Congressman May As Committee Chairman

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—The glee of Congressman Andrew J. May of Kentucky, at his attainment of the chairmanship of the House Military Affairs Committee, is matched in its intensity only by the pain which his elevation inflicts upon friends of TVA.

Rodney Dutcher

May is the TVA's most vocal enemy in the House, and the Military Affairs Committee is the group through which all legislation bearing on TVA must clear before reaching the House floor. His efforts against TVA administration, methods and purposes have been happily received by public utility and coal lobbyists.

A former president of a Kentucky coal company, May frankly has admitted that he is motivated by competition which the TVA hydro-electric power developments offer to steam power plants. The steam power plants are large consumers of coal.

Some hot in-fighting on the conservative Military Affairs Committee over TVA is indicated, with Congressman Maury Maverick of Texas leading the battle for TVA. A current issue is being fought out between May's resolution to investigate TVA and the Norris-Maverick resolution, which contains provision for inquiry into anti-TVA activities of private power companies.

May brands the latter resolution a "red herring" because it would practically assure appointment of someone other than himself as chairman of the investigating group.

Diplomatic Double-Cross

William E. Dodd, retiring ambassador to Berlin, has been learning how completely he was double-crossed during his diplomatic service by a powerful clique in the State Department which is accused of being "profascist."

Dodd had the interesting and perhaps unique experience of finding that some of his confidential diplomatic-pouch reports to Secretary Hull and the President were being leaked to outsiders.

He got so that he wrote his most confidential reports in his own handwriting, but he found that even these were not safe from publicity. Although Dodd commonly was understood to be horrified by Nazi methods, these revelations made his position not only embarrassing but practically impossible.

Such officials as Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, Chief Jay Pierrepont Moffett of the European Affairs division, Political Relations Adviser James Clement Dunn and Hugh Wilson—who succeeds Dodd as ambassador—were considerably less than sympathetic toward Dodd's pro-democratic, anti-fascist feelings. Roosevelt and Hull, however, were unwilling to repudiate Dodd and kept him at Berlin long after he was persona non grata to Hitler.

Late last year Dodd was told to stay in Berlin until March. Then he received a "hurry home" cablegram ostensibly from Hull, who told him after his return that he knew nothing of the message. He also finds that certain important officials advised prominent Americans who were about to visit Germany to "stay away from Dodd."

Language and Grammar

The Federal Communications Commission, in its letter impugning the purity of Mae West's language in a radio broadcast, itself fell short of the highest standards of lingual purity.

". . . if the present system of licensing private agencies to broadcast is to ultimately win the favor and approval of the American public," said the FCC at one point, completely disregarding the almost famous rule which says you mustn't split an infinitive.

MADAME LEAADA: $1.00 readings, 50c, few days only. 1912 16th.

Ask The Master Psychologist
Dr. La. Rose, Ps. D.

How to obtain Love, Happiness, Success, being loved and admired for yourself alone, capturing the hearts and friendship of all about you, can bring you more happiness than all the jewels and fine clothes you could wear than all the wealth you could spend in a lifetime. Without friendship and love life would not be worth living, for admiration and affection are the breath and heart beat of all human happiness. Within you is a power that controls your destiny. It is in every woman and man, but few discover it. Those who do are blessed with the key to Life's Happiness. With all my heart I urge you to bring forth this innate charm that is yours. Develop it, and you will attract to yourself those things that make life worth while. You are helpless in the hands of women who have learned how to use their hidden powers of attraction. You have these powers. You can discover and develop them and swiftly make yourself irresistible to men . . even in competition with women far more attractive-looking. You can win and hold the love of the one you want. So if in doubt, ask the man who knows.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — Efforts at a rallying follow-through in today's stock market met with profit selling resistance, although a few aircrafts, rubbers and specialties managed to continue the climb.

A mild and selective come-back got under way following a dip at the opening. The pace was extremely slow, however, and near the fourth hour moderate losers were plentiful.

Speculative forces apparently had little to go on in the matter of spot news, but the string of presidential conferences with business leaders apparently sustained hopes in boardrooms that chances for economic recovery have grown considerably better.

Bonds and commodities were somewhat mixed. Listed carrier loans of the so-called low-priced variety received support. The French franc softened when doubts arose whether the latest Chautemps cabinet could be maintained.

Up fractions to 2 points at the best—some retreated later — were Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Sperry, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Goodrich, General Tire & Rubber, Crown Cork, American Can, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, Bethlehem Steel, Crucible, Yellow Truck, Mack Truck, Philip Morris, J. C. Penney and Standard Oil of N. J.

The first laws governing aviation were drawn up in 1900.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21 (AP)—Trade buying and covering induced by expectations of early action on the farm bill brought opening advances of 1 to 3 points in cotton here today.

Liverpool was slightly lower than expected but was offset to some extent by steadiness in Egyptian and Indian markets.

March contracts opened at 8.69, May 8.75, July 8.79 and Dec. at 8.88. Trading quieted after the start and towards the end of the first half hour prices maintained the initial gains.

Price changes were small during the morning but hedge selling increased and near mid-season most of the early gain was lost.

March traded off to 8.68, May 8.72 and Oct. to 8.84, or unchanged to 1 point higher compared with the previous close.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP) — Cotton futures opened 1 to 2 higher on trade buying. March 8.54; May 8.61; July 8.66; Oct. 8.75; Dec. 8.79.

Commission houses and Liverpool also were buyers but this demand was about counterbalanced by March liquidation and southern and local selling. Fluctuations were held within range of 1 or 2 points.

May moved from 8.61 to 8.60, leaving quotations 1 to 2 points net higher shortly after the first half hour.

The market remained dull later in the morning and price movements were still narrow.

At midday May was selling at 8.58 and the market was net unchanged to 2 points higher.

Livestock Market

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 21 (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hogs 800; slow; top 8.50; good to choice 140-220 lbs. 8.25-8.50; 230-250 lbs. 7.85-8.40; sows 6.75 down.

Crime Story Is Revealed

bris, said the federal chief.

Detailing the search for ransom loot and the bodies, Hoover said the trail led beyond St. Cloud, Minn., about 70 miles north of here. In a wooded region near Emily, Minn., Hoover said the prisoner led federal agents to a dugout where Ross was confined immediately after his kidnaping Sept. 25 and then to a brush heap where $30,000 of the ransom money was found in a portable typewriter case.

Trail To Cave Broken

Then the federal men drove to Superior, Wis., arriving there at 1 a. m. yesterday and departing at 7 a. m. for the Spooner vicinity. The trail to the cave was broken with horses and bobsleds.

Anders was returned to the FBI headquarters here about 12:30 a. m. today, handcuffed to an agent and chained about the waist and shoulder. Hoover said he would be returned to Chicago, either today or Saturday.

Hoover and his dozen aides as well as Anders were a weary group after they had completed their long trip through the north country. They had been enroute most of two days and nights, were unshaven and their clothing indicated considerable contact with the brush and rough terrain of the northern wilds.

Tells Of Bringing Victim

The detailed Anders' confession as given by the federal bureau of investigation chief related how Ross was brought to the Minnesota hideout immediately after the kidnaping.

The place was described as a shallow wood frame dugout, implanted level with the earth, about six feet deep, six feet wide and ten feet long. Hoover said the aged Ross who was snatched away from his secretary, Miss Florence Freihage, while driving near Chicago, was kept manacled in the unheated dungeon for about 13 days.

Indications were that the wealthy Chicagoan had undergone great suffering during his imprisonment both from the cold and from scant rations. Drawing on Anders' confession, Hoover said the abductors—in an effort to hasten ransom payment and to impress Ross' family that he still was alive—mailed a photograph of Ross reading a Chicago newspaper near the woods hiding place. The agents recovered the newspaper from which a story had been cut together with a ransom note.

The transfer to the Wisconsin cave was made by automobile about October 9, continued the official version of the case. There Ross again was manacled, principally with a chain one end of which was buried in the earth.

Dispute Over Loot

While the abductors operated out of this region inhabited only by a few trappers, the ransom was paid. Then, said Hoover, there was a dispute over the sharing of the loot.

"Anders and Gray clashed," said the FBI chief, "and Anders knocked Gray down and then shot him through the head. Apparently Ross attempted to intervene and also was knocked to the ground and while struggling there, was shot through the head and killed."

Hoover said Anders then took Gray's $20,000 share of the $50,000 ransom, along with most of the accomplice's clothing, covered the bodies with leaves and twigs and headed back into Minnesota to hide his $30,000 share in the typewriter case. From there, declared Hoover, Anders began a tour of the country.

The federal official said Anders talked willingly about the Borcias' kidnaping, telling how he seized them at the point of a pistol near Lake Geneva, Wis., September 1. He released the husband with instructions as to how much ransom to obtain and how it should be paid. Hoover said Anders finally was persuaded by the husband to release Mrs. Borcia because he lacked funds to pay ransom.

Pressed about reported attempts to link Anders with the Lindbergh baby kidnaping, Hoover said: "So far as we know there is no such connection."

Concerning the Arthur Fried disappearance at White Plains, N. Y., and the kidnap-killing of young Charles Mattson at Tacoma, Wash., Hoover replied: "It is not my policy to make any announcements relative to cases that have not been solved."

"Candidate"

will make a campaign in Texas for the Governors offic. Starting at Lubbock."

Writing the judge Jan. 9, the man explained:

". . . Possibly you decided that letters was from just a Hoodlum over here in the desert of Arizona Barking at a pole cat. . . . If you have an honest togoodness Lawyer in Lubbock . . . give me his name. Of course I dont expect you to send me the name of Abraham Lincoln. . . . There may be something of more vitle interest to you, I and your county."

Personal qualification was set out in a letter three days later:

"Have six fine girls . . . eight sons-in-law."

He mentions names of various persons he knows over the country, from the east coast to the Hawaiian islands. "He should have been fed to the Hogs when he was Born. . . . He . . . was very popular as a society and big business man. IN fact he lived a life of crime and infidelity . . . and he landed in the Pen."

Of another: "And if he has ever Bitten a rattle snake, That poor snake is very Dead. If the Buzzards eat him those poor Buzzards are also as dead as Heck."

Two persons, he wrote, went to Honolulu and are doing "fine (They have no state, or New Deal Government in Honolulu. All autocratic and dictatorial, same as we have here in Texas and the rest of the states."

Of another person:

"He got to be a popular hign falutin milltary official . . . so popular . . . the other . . . Heathen Damp-ool's got jealous of him because he could out smart them, and out steal them, and steal them out. So they got their heads together and mobolized what little wit they all had, and mustered up some imitation serious charges . . . and landed him in their Hog pen, and fed him cn chips and whet stones."

"I was past middle age before I ever thought of there being any difference in women-Girls and Angels," he said in pointing out "4,000 drunk women and girls" are in "Texas right now."

He said "Mussolini rushed to Breed his people like cattle." A "superfluous army of regimentators are a costly blight and scorge on the tax payers and the dram drinkers. Your legislators are impotent and ham strung. . . . No one but a scoundrel can attain to high offic. can attain to high offic. . . . I aim to let the people of Texas know there is a candidate . . . That is Equivalent to saying that the people have become incompetent of self-Government."

Pastor Refuses To Take Fees For Helping At Funerals

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 21 (AP) — Dr. E. J. Groeneveld, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, believes religion "wasn't made to be commercialized" and so he has refused about $30,000.

Groeneveld estimates he has conducted more than 3,000 funerals during his life, and that the average fee offered him for each funeral was $10.

Except for rare occasions when the funeral was that of a wealthy person, he returned the offered money.

"When it comes to taking money from loved ones who have been left behind to battle their way without a provider, I always say 'no' when offered a fee," he says.

The average man sleeps more soundly during the first two hours of his nightly repose than during the rest of his slumber period, according to the results of tests.

Brief Bits Of News . .

Hopper To Preach — Rev. Hubert Hopper, pastor of Central Park Presbyterian church, will preach at morning and evening services Sunday at the First Presbyterian church. A graduate of Texas Technological college, Mr. Hopper is former president of the young people's organization at the Lubbock church. In the morning he will preach on "Your Reasonable Service." The evening topic is "I Am Come."

Judgment Asked — Judgment of $500 growing out of an automobile collision Dec. 12 at Seventh street and Avenue K was asked in county court this morning by Earl M. McClure, South Plains Boy Scout executive, of R. R. Walker. He said his machine, a heavy sedan, was damaged that amount.

Community Meeting — A community program for residents in the northeastern and southeastern parts of Lubbock will be held Sunday afternoon in the community house in the Panhandle-South Plains Fair grounds at 3:30 o'clock. Meeting is sponsored by the Federation of Church women.

Blair To Muleshoe — J. C. Blair, long time resident of Lubbock and an employe of the Santa Fe at Presidio is now station agent at Muleshoe. He succeeds O. B. Carther, who went to Fort Stockton. Blair was agent at Seagraves for many years.

Students Get Ride — Hale Center school children this morning were to be given a train ride from that town to Plainview, on the Santa Fe. J. V. Jones, chief clerk in the division passenger office was escort.

Pender To Speak — Annual banquet program of Quanah Chamber of Commerce will be addressed tonight by H. C. Pender, acting dean of the department of government and graduate studies of Texas Technological college. M. E. Heard, head professor of textile engineering at the college, also was invited.

Case Appealed—R. A. Morrison, fined $10 Jan. 6 on a charge of gaming with dice, perfected appeal to county court upon posting of $100 bond. Three other charges, naming other defendants, had been placed on the docket of that court, charging embezzlement, swindling by worthless check, and pistol carrying.

Resolution Forwarded— Resolution of sympathy has been forwarded by Lubbock County Bar association to members of the family of the late Green Wilson of Plainview, who died Sunday. Wilson was a pioneer attorney of West Texas and a former district attorney of the 50th judicial district. A special resolutions committee was appointed by the association.

Motion Heard — C. C. Crenshaw of the law firm of Crenshaw and Dupree, of Lubbock, this morning offered a motion in 99th district court before Judge E. L. Pitts, bringing back to attention a case filed Jan. 28, 1932, A. M. English against Bonner Loan and Investment company and others, for injunction. His brief was hypothesticated on the proposition that dismissal of a suit for want of prosecution does not dismiss cross-action of a defendant unless that cross-action is specifically mentioned in the order of dismissal. He said an omnibus order had dismissed the original suit June 25, 1936, along with others. Approximately $4,000 is involved.

Case Continued—Because of the illness of Hill Stewart, member of counsel, civil action of Albert Dawson against Jim Reynolds was continued this morning in the court of County Judge J. J. Dillard until Feb. 18.

Building Permit Issued—Building permit for a frame residence costing $650, at 811 Avenue C was issued to G. E. Anthony, increasing new construction totals for January to $84,863.50, according to information given this morning by Jim Reid, city building inspector.

Entertainment At A. B. C.—Music by girls of the Senior High school glee club and two tap dance numbers featured the entertainment program at the American Business club today in the Hilton hotel. W. B. Rushing and R. F. Maxey were chairmen.

experiment was "purely scientific."

She said it might have a "practical application" in showing the effects on persons who drive automobiles 30 and 40 hours without sleep.

Dr. Edwards explained last night the five were given a series of 17 tests each 24 hours. These included strength of grip, hand and body steadiness, height and weight, pulse rate, temperature, blood pressure, sharpness of vision, typewriting, memory, learning, color blindness and time of reactions to green lights and noises.

Men Charged In Slaying Will Go To Trial In Kerrville

KERRVILLE, Jan. 21. (AP)—H. B. Opp and L. E. Trimble, charged jointly with the slaying of W. R. Tomlinson in Menard Nov. 27, 1934, will go to trial here next Wednesday.

A special venire of 72 men has been summoned for the case, which was brought on a venue change from Llano. A first trial for Trimble resulted in a hung jury. In the second trial, at Fredericksburg, Trimble was sentenced to five years imprisonment. He won a new trial.

Opp, first tried in Burnet in January, 1937, received a 30-year term but the court of criminal appeals reversed the case.

Oriental Plot

1:30 p. m. yesterday. A mad scramble ensued as police rushed to the pier to warn persons away.

The Hive Maru was unharmed. Divers failed to find any trace of a bomb-laden suitcase.

Harbor shipping was warned to be on the lookout.

Register Of Manufacturers Of America Is Received Here

A copy of Thomas' Register of American Manufacturers, a 4,600-page volume nearly 12 inches thick and weighing more than 20 pounds, was received at the chamber of commerce. The compilers attempted, officials explained, to supply the name and detailed information concerning every manufacturer in America.

Several other new directories also have been added to the chamber of commerce library the last few days. Included among them are 1938 editions for Abilene, Amarillo, Port Arthur and Vernon.

Yellowstone Park holds the record for the lowest temperature ever recorded in the United States. On Feb. 9, 1933, 66 degrees below zero was recorded there. Fort Keough, Mont., held the record previously with 65 degrees below on Jan. 13, 1888.

Dentist Is Being Held After The Slaying Of His Wife

MADISONVILLE, Jan. 21. (AP)—Dr. H. H. Carter, 35, dentist, was in jail today suffering a slight head wound after his wife was shot dead in front of a cafe at 1 a. m.

Mrs. Carter was shot in the head, heart and abdomen as she walked from the place. She died instantly, Sheriff Joe A. Batson said.

Batson was informed Carter, after the woman was shot, walked to the home of J. M. Day, an undertaker, and called to him. A moment later, Batson said, the dentist fired a shot which inflicted a slight wound in his head.

Ford Motor company; William S. Knudsen, president of the General Motors corporation; K. T. Keller, president, and B. E. Hutchinson, vice-president of the Chrysler corporation, and Alvan Macauley, president of the Packard Motor Car company and of the Automobile Manufacturers association were the manufacturers invited.

The heads of affiliated finance companies were asked to accompany them.

Four Persons In Hospitals

Three of four persons remaining in hospitals this morning as the result of two automobiles plunging from highways Thursday night were not believed to be in serious condition, according to information given at the hospitals.

Apparently most seriously of those hurt was M. E. Dunlap, 33, of Lorenzo, whose automobile overturned and was destroyed by fire between Slaton and Lorenzo. He was taken to West Texas hospital where it was reported that he suffered concussion of the brain and severe bruises.

Three Others Hurt

Three others injured when their small automobile overturned nine miles southeast of Dimmitt were treated at Lubbock sanitarium, where two remained this morning. They were Doyle Houtchens, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Houtchens, residing southeast of Dimmitt, who received head lacerations, and cuts and bruises on his body; Meredith Nash, 18, son of C. P. Nash, head injuries and a fractured collar bone; and Robert Lane, minor injuries. Lane was given emergency treatment and released.

Both were investigated by the state highway patrol.

I am an advertising man

For over thirty years I have been writing advertisements for national advertisers—shoes, soap, cereals, automobiles, radios, tobacco, blankets, tooth-powder.

To me it is the most fascinating work in the world—learning about the merits of merchandise and then telling people about them—bringing greater comfort, and enjoyment, into people's lives—introducing people to new pleasures, helping them to get the most for their money.

Besides being fascinating, it is satisfying. My intimate experience with advertisers has shown me that, except for rare exceptions, the manufacturers and merchants of this nation lean over backwards to be sincere and honest.

The law of advertising is simple once one understands its working—the more people know about the merit of a product, the more people buy it. The greater the volume of sales, the less the cost to manufacture. Savings in making mean either lower prices to the consumer or greater value put back into the merchandise.

As an advertising man I can sincerely affirm that it pays to read the advertisements in the newspapers—for news of new things, for news of bargains and savings.

There are thousands of other men—and women—devoting their lives to advertising writing, who will tell you the same thing. They know!

Better Times In Dust Bowl

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Brighter times may be ahead for the erstwhile "dust bowl," in the opinion of George E. Farrell, chief of the western division of the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

"The drouth area is getting smaller every year—it is swinging back," Farrell said.

He estimated there were 25,000,000 acres in the so-called dust bowl area and of that total from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000 acres are in "some stage of restoration or are being bucket listed."

Can Only Guess

"The next two months is an optimistic time in the dust bowl," he said. "But what it will be next June one can only guess now."

Agriculture experts contend that if there is not from two to three feet of subsoil moisture Nov. 1, "there is only one chance in eight to make a crop." This year subsoil conditions were described as "spotted."

In some places where there was "bucket listing" or wide ditches with check dams, moisture is from two to four feet. In some other spots the moisture is only six to eight inches.

Seedlings In Sun Better Than Those Planted In The Shade

JASPER, Jan. 21 (AP) — Slash pine seedlings planted in unshaded seed beds have a 22.6 per cent edge on growth over those planted in shady beds.

Texas forest service officials report this finding from experiments begun in December, 1930. The stock at planting was in good health and vigorous, and the ground for both styles of planting was a sandy loam with a southerly slope:

The first three years the shaded trees led in growth but by the fifth year the unshaded seedlings had grown .4 of a foot higher, had an average of .16 of an inch greater diameter and a base area two and one half times that of their sisters.

The pendulum, thermometer, and telescope were invented by Galileo, who was born on Feb. 15, 1564.

Forest Protection Now Being Sought

CAMP WORTH, San Augustine County, Tex., Jan. 21—An organization of lumberjacks to protect the forests has been formed in this logging camp.

Eighty-nine men joined the organization, which is known as the Frost Timber Conservation council of Camp Worth.

"The chief aim of the organization," said Hayes Smith of Center, secretary, "is to protect the young timber and conserve the old. In protecting the younger timber the group hopes to educate the sawyer to carefully fell larger trees and to be careful with fire in the woods. In conserving the old timber, twelve to fourteen inch stumps are being cut and all the merchantable lumber is being taken from the tops. In fact a 'pony' sawmill was especially purchased to cut crosstics from the tops of trees felled for sawlogs."

The council hopes to interest farmers in growing timber as a crop.

Officers of the organization are J. W. Honeycutt, chairman; Clyde Hopkins, vice chairman and Hayes Smith, secretary. The board of directors is composed of E. L. Grimes, Dan Goodman, N. Martin, Jim Sims, Robert Brown, E. Youngblood, L. Sharpton, and Tom Golden.
