Proposal would renovate Winston Field runways

A proposed $1.7 million project to replace all of the asphalt topped runways at Winston Field was unveiled here Monday.

The proposal was brought before the Scurry County commissioners court by members of the county airport board, airport personnel and Steven Dennis of Odessa, a consulting engineer who has completed an initial study of the project.

Dennis pointed out that the project should qualify for Federal Aviation Agency funding beginning with 1984. Such federal grant programs are shared 90-10, he pointed out, making the FAA share for the local project equal some $1.5 million "if completely funded."

Dennis indicated approval of all aspects of the project was unlikely for a single 12-month funding cycle. He said individual project proposals are prioritized and funding sometimes stretched over a two to three year period.

If the entire project as now proposed was granted, the county share would equal some $170,000.

The decision before county commissioners now involves a pre-application for FAA funding. This serves as an indicator to the federal agency that the county would like to be considered when the 1984 grant monies are designated.

A second application would then have to be made after the total FAA funding figure for 1984 is announced. The second application cannot be made without the first, however.

At this point, the project is "entirely on paper," it was noted. This includes any engineering fees for Dennis, which is dependent on funding approval from the FAA.

Repair work at the local facility would center around the two main airport runways plus adjacent taxi runways.

The field now has a north-south runway equaling some 4,800 ft. and an east-west runway which equals some 4,200 ft. in length.

It is proposed to extend the north-south runway an additional 800 ft., making it 5,600 ft. in length and more suitable for jet aircraft landings.

Reagan confirms Grenada invasion

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados (AP) — About 1,800 U.S. Marines and a small number of Army Rangers invaded Marxist-ruled Grenada today along with 300 soldiers from six Caribbean nations, and President Reagan said they had secured the island's two airports in a "completely successful" operation.

Pentagon sources said the Rangers suffered casualties, but gave no details. A ham radio report from some of the 750 American medical students on Grenada said a U.S. helicopter was shot down, and a report from a Barbados radio station said three Cubans were killed and 22 wounded in fighting at an airport construction site.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., said Reagan told him and other congressmen in a briefing that 30 Soviet personnel were seized in Grenada and they "will be asked to leave."

Reagan, in a Washington news conference, said he wanted to withdraw the American troops "as quickly as possible," and House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said the Marines would be in Grenada "five to seven days or less."

Reagan's announcement today followed a broadcast by Radio Free Grenada that helicopter-borne U.S. paratroopers had landed and taken both airports on the island in the eastern Caribbean. The broadcast said there was fierce fighting at the main airport.

The other airport is being built by Cuban workers, and Barbados state-owned Caribbean Broadcasting Co. said three Cubans were killed and 22 wounded in fighting there. It gave no source for the report or other details.

The invasion was launched a day after the military regime that seized power last week effectively blocked evacuation of as many as 300 Americans from Grenada, which sits about 100 miles southwest of Barbados and 100 miles north of Venezuela.

Reagan told a Washington news conference that the United States acceded to a request from the Organization of Eastern Caribbean States to go into Grenada to oppose the "brutal group of leftist thugs" running the nation.

He said in addition to American forces that those involved came from Antigua, Barbados, Dominica, Jamaica, St. Lucia and St. Vincent.

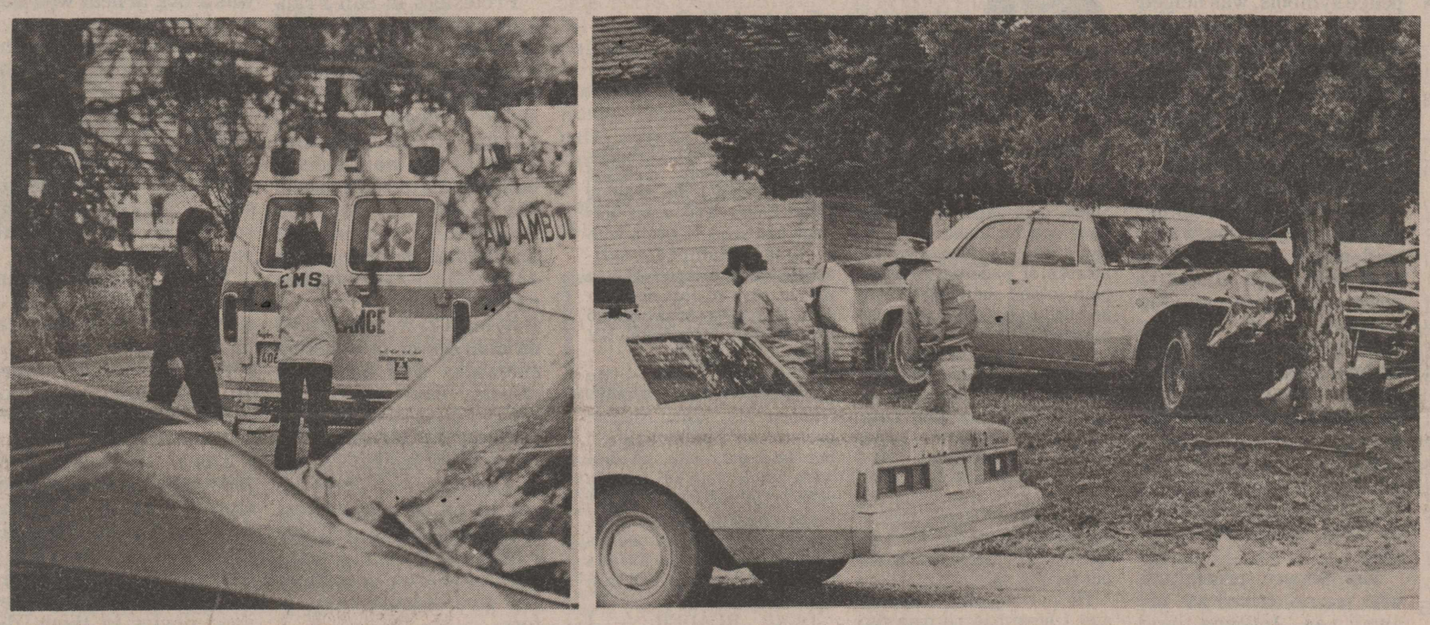

Reagan said the goals of the operation were to "protect innocent lives," including up to 1,000 Americans on Grenada.

Mishap injures two here

Minor injuries were reported to the driver of a 1966 Chevrolet and a 2-year-old passenger in the car following a major traffic mishap at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. N at 8:09 a.m. Tuesday.

According to police reports, Eulala Bohannon Hickey of 2306 23rd St. was driving the Chevrolet sedan north on Ave. N, crossing the intersection when the car was struck by a 1979 Chevrolet pickup being driven west on 25th St. by Donnie Pat Guynes

Oral history plan revealed for Centennial

The groundwork is to be laid this Saturday for a Centennial project now planned by personnel with both the Scurry County Museum and the Snyder Daily News.

The project will focus on training oral historians whose work will in part be published in a special Centennial edition of the SDN planned next summer.

In line with this, museum staffers now plan an oral history workshop Saturday to identify 10 volunteer workers for the project.

"I only wish I could have recorded some of those memories,' how many times have some of us said that," notes Eunice Irwin, executive director for the museum. "That's the purpose of oral histories. To capture these."

Saturday's workshop is planned from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. and will include a catered lunch. Reservations are required before 4 p.m. Friday and a $4 fee will be asked to cover cost of the lunch and workshop supplies.

As now planned, oral histories from county residents will be obtained and then published in the SDN Centennial Edition.

Rainfall, hail noted at lake

Scurry County received another dousing Monday night as rainfall measurements ranged from .80 of an inch to 2 inches plus. Hail was also reported around the Lake Thomas area.

Snyder received .74, upping the year's total to 15.63 inches.

According to reports, Fluvanna received a fraction over 2 inches rain during the Monday night storm.

The Lake Thomas area seemed to receive the brunt of the storm's damage as hail accompanied rainfall reported as high as 2.5 inches.

Golf-ball size hail was noted at the west end of the lake which received about .75 of an inch of rain. The barrage of hail which peppered the area for about 25 minutes stripped leaves from trees and beat other plants into the ground.

Pea size hail was reported around the lodge area which received the 2.5 inches of rain.

A lake area resident observed that "the big hail

In Brief

Death toll surpasses 200

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Marines were ordered into foxholes and bunkers today near the rubble of the bombed U.S. command post after three suspicious vehicles were seen at the airport, a Marine spokesman said.

Rescuers dug four more bodies from the shattered command post building, raising the American death toll from Sunday's bombing by a suicide terrorist to 207, according to the Pentagon.

French officials said 35 French troops were killed, 15 were wounded and 23 were missing in a bombing at a French compound seconds after the attack on the Americans.

"There have been three vehicles spotted driving around the area," said Capt. Wayne Jones. "There are suspicions that they could contain explosives."

Marines went on their highest state of alert and officers warned reporters to get in the bunkers or leave the area.

Pulling unit tools stolen

Personnel with the Scurry County sheriff's office are investigating the weekend theft of pulling unit equipment — to include spiders, slips and a safety clam. The items were stolen from a unit working west of town.

According to reports, the items were taken from a Consolidated Tool and Supply rig on location just west of the Sun Gas Plant. The theft occurred some time between noon Saturday and Monday morning.

Total value of the missing items is estimated at $5,600.

Grid contest in 6-way tie

The SDN football guessing game proved easier last week, resulting in a six-way tie for first place.

The six winners, missing only three games each, were Una Boles of 202 33rd St., Perry Echols of Rt. 2 Box 135, Lesa Moore of 4110 Eastridge, Tony Hayley of Box 516, Jay Gannaway of Box 271, and Mike Boles of 202 33rd. They will split prize money of $22.50 which includes second place money held over from last week.

Games included in this week's contest are listed inside this issue. Entry blanks are available at participating sponsors.

Families still awaiting final word

DEBORAH ZABARENKO
Associated Press Writer

Death wore a uniform and life came with a phone call for the agonized families of U.S. servicemen in Beirut today, as those who already knew the worst treasured last letters and railed against a massacre that "didn't have to happen."

"I want someone to tell me why my son had to die," said Lou Meurer of Louisville, Ky., whose 21-year-old son Ronald was killed in Sunday's terrorist bombing. "I guess I don't matter because I'm just a dead Marine's mother. But I hope a lot of people start asking this question now."

The parents of Lance Cpl. Duane Wigglesworth, 19, of Naugatuck, Conn., grieved in private, but the slain man's uncle criticized the "low-key" security at the Beirut airport, where the bombing occurred.

"Other than the fact of shock right now of what happened, the family feels that it didn't have to happen, that it shouldn't have happened," said Grover Wigglesworth, the corporal's uncle.

The crushing irony of a jaunty letter received Monday morning added to the pain for the parents of Pfc. Mark Helms of Dwight, Neb., who learned of their 19-year-old son's death from Marine officials after reading "Hello, I'm still alive" in a missive from Lebanon.

"Of course last night was a sleepless night, sitting and waiting, hoping for a phone call rather than a uniform," said Marvin Helms, Mark's father. "Then this morning the Marine Corps came and told us that is was the end of it for our son."

As the grim news came formally, with a visit from an officer in dress uniform, good news filtered in on television pictures, radio, in phone numbers passed hand-to-hand among servicemen in Lebanon.

Mary Ciokon of San Diego learned her husband, Navy Senior Chief Journalist Joseph Ciokon, 43, was safe after she recognized him in a telecast from U.S. military headquarters in Beirut.

"I was happy and I felt guilty," said Mrs. Ciokon. "So many had not heard about whether their men were safe. I saw Joe on TV last night and I am grateful he is OK. I feel for the wives and families who are still waiting for word."

"The only thing I want to know is whether or not my son is alive," said Irene Henry of East St. Louis, Ill., talking about Lance Cpl. Eric A. Pulliam, 19. "All I know is that his platoon was to pull out of there in November. He was supposed to be home for Christmas."

For many, no news was good news.

"We haven't heard a thing and we're delighted," said Lavon Singleton, father of Lt. Mark Singleton, 24, of Conway, S.C. "We're really glad and we're thinking Mark is all right."

For others, waiting was agony.

"It's like you heard the first shoe drop when you heard of the bombing, and now you're waiting to hear that second shoe drop," said Sue Freeman, whose son, Lance Cpl. Clayton J. Freeman of Greenville, was in Beirut at the time of the attack. "You can't relax."

Three uniformed soldiers came to John R. Price at his home in Attalla, Ala., to tell him of the death of his 20-year-old son, Marine Pvt. Christopher James Price, after the father had spent a wide-eyed night on the telephone trying in vain for information.

"He didn't say much in letters because he didn't want to scare us, but he sometimes would say he didn't really know what his mission was," the elder Price said. "I feel my son was sacrificed."

"I get so nervous when the telephone rings, wondering what I'm going to hear," said Michelle Calbert.

In missile protests...

1,200 demonstrators arrested

By Cynthia Green
Associated Press Writer

Dr. Benjamin Spock was handled with care and a police chief's wife was seized by her husband's officers as 1,200 protesters nationwide were arrested for strewing ashes, climbing fences and lying across roads to protest deployment of U.S.-made missiles in Europe.

Monday's demonstrations capped a weekend of 140 rallies nationwide against NATO's planned placement of cruise and Pershing 2 missiles in Western Europe, where 1.5 million people have joined recent protests.

Spock was among more than 380 people arrested as they climbed a chain-link fence surrounding the Seneca Army Depot in Romulus, N.Y. The famed 80-year-old baby doctor, who wore a tie bearing red peace symbols, was helped over the 6-foot barricade by two women and eased down the other side by two military policemen.

"I was a little bit nervous about whether I'd fall flat and look ridiculous," Spock said afterward.

State police Superintendent Donald O. Chesworth said about 400 protesters blockaded each of the 13 principal gates at the facility, which employs 11,000 people and is believed by nuclear weapons opponents to be the most likely point of departure for Europe-bound missiles: But the blockade had little effect on the operations of the facility and was over by noon, a spokeswoman said.

The Seneca protesters, who came from as far away as Indiana and California, were confronted by about 50 flag-waving counter-demonstrators who accused them of being communists, and about 20 hymn-singing evangelists.

At least 577 people — including Erica Bouza, wife of the city's police chief — were arrested on trespassing charges during a demonstration by more than 1,000 people at the Minneapolis headquarters of Honeywell Corp., which makes electronic gear for nuclear arms.

In New York City, the protest took on some glitter Monday night as celebrities from actor Paul Newman to conductor Zubin Mehta turned out at Lincoln Center for a classical concert by musicians opposed to nuclear arms.

Sopranos Jessye Norman and Kathleen Battle and violinist Itzhak Perlman were among the 200 musicians who donated their services at the performance, and proceeds from tickets priced up to $1,000 went to Physicians for Social Responsibility and the Nuclear Weapons Education Fund.

In a brief speech, Newman quoted a Chinese philosopher as saying "If you do not change direction, you may wind up where you are headed," and concluded, "A verifiable ban on nuclear weapons is the only sane reaction we can have."

Protesters in San Francisco lay limp on the plaza in front of the Bank of America building as a hooded figure carrying the sickle of death wandered among them. Another group at the main federal building scattered ashes in the lobby, used firecrackers to simulate an explosion and threw confetti representing radiation.

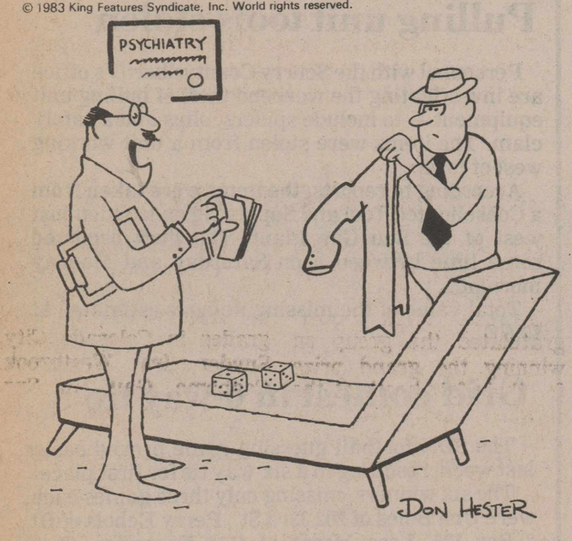

At least 71 were arrested on charges of obstructing sidewalks and access to streets, said Police Inspector John Hennessey.

About 70 arrests were made in El Segundo, south of Los Angeles, where an estimated 200 protesters marched and passed out leaflets at buildings housing Air Force operations and five defense contractors.

An equal number demonstrated at a General Dynamics facility in San Diego where Tomahawk missiles are built, but only about 20 people were arrested there, police said.

Pancreatitis pain

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Some time ago I read in your column about the person who had repeated attacks of pancreatitis with pain so bad she couldn't eat and had to have her stomach pumped.

I just had to tell my story. I had this same problem for 10 years. About six months ago I had X-rays and tests for the stomach and gallbladder. Nothing was found and my doctor said my pancreas was probably scarred so bad that I wasn't digesting anything. I had tried many medicines without results.

He put me on Pancrease and I have had no pain for the first time in 10 years. I hope this will help someone.

DEAR READER — Bless you for wanting to help others. And some people who have lots of pain are helped from Pancrease and similar medicines.

Here is why. Your pancreas is the main source of many important enzymes that are essential to the digestion of protein, carbohydrates and fats. If a person's pancreas is not producing these enzymes, these foods are incompletely digested. The undigested foods are fermented, causing gas, distention and severe discomfort. I hasten to add that many people who have these symptoms get them from other problems, such as food intolerance.

In those who have these problems because of a deficiency of pancreatic enzymes, such medicines that supply the enzymes are often very helpful.

But the pain others have is from the actual inflammation of the pancreas. These same enzymes are literally digesting the pancreas. These cases are different and require a different form of treatment.

You will understand the problem better from reading The Health Letter 11-4, The Pancreas: Your Enzyme Organ, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband's doctor recommended he take Nicobid because his lipids are high, but said exercise and diet were better than anything to reduce the lipids. He hasn't taken any yet and we walk four miles every day and his diet is good. He is 47 and weighs 186 pounds and is 6 feet tall.

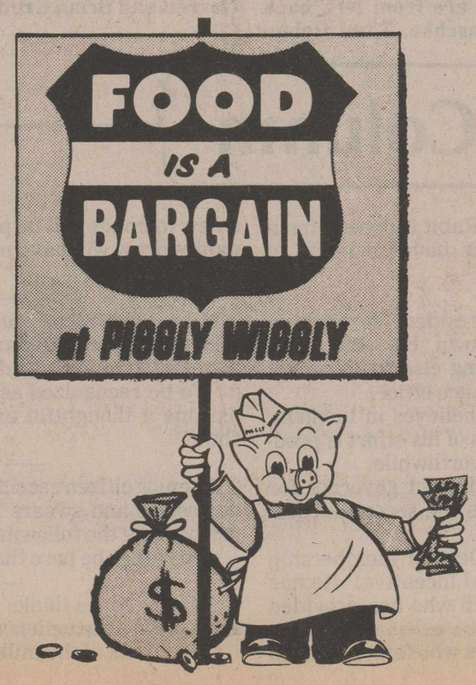

DEAR READER — I don't know how high your husband's lipids are and whether you mean cholesterol or triglycerides (fats). It would also be important to know how much of the cholesterol is in small "good" lipid particles or larger "bad" lipid particles.

But I agree the best approach, if the levels are too high, is to start with a good diet and sensible exercise program. If your husband has any excess body fat he would be wise to eliminate it through diet and exercise.

Nicobid is a brand of niacin. In large doses it may lower the cholesterol levels in some people. The amount that it takes sometimes induces flushing and may affect liver function so it is important that anyone taking large doses of it be monitored carefully by his physician.

My usual recommendation is to try the diet and exercise first and after elimination of body fat then review the situation and see if medications are needed. Often a good diet and exercise program produces sufficiently good results that medicines may not be needed.

At Wit's End

by erma bombeck

I'm intrigued by these young people who get up one morning and decide to climb up the side of the Hancock building in Chicago or the World Trade building in New York for no reason. I mean if their car was parked on the top floor, I'd understand.

My kids won't walk anywhere. I listened to one of them make 15 phone calls one morning trying to hitch a ride to a 10-K run four blocks from our house.

I told them, "Everyone needs a role model. What about this man who climbed the 1,575 steps to the top of the Empire State building in 11 minutes and 36 seconds?

"Why would he want to do that?" asked my son.

"Maybe just to show the world what it feels like to be on top of it."

"Oh, sure," he grumbled. "Look where it got King Kong."

In retrospect, a lot of it is my fault. I didn't trust the product I produced enough to know that it could withstand rain, snow, heat and strong winds. If my kids had to cross a busy street, I drove them there. If they overslept, I drove. If there was a dog in heat who was a public embarrassment, I drove them quickly by the house and turned up the radio.

By the time they were 9 or 10, they were completely mechanized. I remember being called to school one day when my son was hit with a baseball on the playground.

The kid refused to get into the ambulance until I assured him the hospital had valet parking.

It was of great concern to me that my kids wouldn't pass puberty until they were carpooled.

Their teenage years followed the entrance of the drive-in to the American scene. After all, how many people walk to a drive-in? They did everything in cars. They saw movies in them, did their banking, dropped off their film and rolled up the car windows and had their cars washed.

Neither rain, nor snow, nor gas shortages can stay this generaton from their appointed rounds. The hands that hold the car keys rule the world!

My son stopped by the other night and as he sat in the driveway with his motor idling, I couldn't help but wonder if he was tall like his father.

And about those kids who climb tall buildings. It wouldn't surprise me if when they got home and their mother asks them to go out for a quart of milk, they whine, "I just scaled the Unted Nations building and you want me to go out for milk! Are your crazy?"

Poem recalls Marine killed

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — A mother's fears for her only child inspired the 48-line poem Shirley Trahan wrote before her 19-year-old son was sent to Lebanon last spring.

After Pfc. Lex David Trahan's death in Sunday's terrorist bombing at the Beirut airport, Mrs. Trahan wept and remembered the poem.

She said she had to hide her tears when her son volunteered to leave for Lebanon eight months early.

"He had no business over there. But he wanted to go. He volunteered and I couldn't say he shouldn't," she said.

Mrs. Trahan said her son wasn't due to leave for Lebanon until February but left in May, five months after he finished boot camp in San Diego. He had entered the Marines Sept. 29, 1982, she said.

"When he called me to say he was going to Lebanon, he was very hesitant, because we're such a close-knit family. He knew it would upset me," she said.

"I tried to be strong. I said, 'You're not a little boy any more. You're a grown man now. You can make your own decisions.'

"We were so close," she said, her voice breaking.

In the poem, she described her feelings:

I must not cry, I told myself,
It's now my turn to be put to the test,
For all during boot I encouraged him so.
I told him, "Son, don't ever let go.
Strength you must have, you must go on.
No matter how rough there's a purpose beyond.
As in anything else, you reap what you sow.
Give it all you've got and a true Marine you'll grow."

ASTRO·GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

October 26, 1983

Your greatest rewards this coming year are likely to stem from projects which may be rather difficult to start. Be persistent and you'll be a winner.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You are capable of substantial accomplishments today where your self-interests are concerned. Nothing can hold you back if you truly set your mind to it. Order now: The NEW Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Send $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to give your zodiac sign. Mail an additional $1 for your Scorpio Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A venture in which you are presently involved with another should begin to pick up momentum today. This is because each will be pushing a little harder.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Partnership situations should turn out quite favorably for you today. However, you're not apt to be the one who plays the leading role.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Career goals should be given top priority today. Objectives you previously thought to be unreachable may now be well within your grasp.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be hesitant to assert your authority today in situations which you feel warrant it. You'll know how to do so without offending others.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A condition at home which has subjected you to frustrations lately can be rectified today through an earnest discussion with a no-nonsense approach.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There's a difference between looking at things realistically or in merely seeing the shadows. You're on track, but brighten your perspective considerably.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you are expecting a return for something you will be doing for another today, establish your price and terms in advance. It'll avoid complications.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In your social activities today, keep uppermost in your mind that you are there to have fun and relax. Let go and enjoy yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't be concerned about your light being hidden under a bushel today. If you put yourself out for others, you'll be noticed and duly rewarded.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have the ability to sway others today, especially if you are promoting something about which you are genuinely enthused.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You are in a very fortunate cycle for advancing your material lot in life. Be aggressive in matters which could add to your resources.

Test Your Skill...Win

Cash Prizes

HERE ARE THE RULES OF THE CONTEST

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played around the country this weekend. Get an entry blank from one of the merchants who are helping sponsor this contest and whose message is on this page. Fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only...opposite the name of the firm on the entry blank. Then send your complete blank to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS or bring your entry by the Snyder Daily News office. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 12 o'clock noon, Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

If there is a tie for first place the winners will divide the cash money of $17.50 and no second prize will be given. If there is a first place winner and a tie for second place, the second prize winners will divide the money for the place. If more than two persons tie for second place, no second prize money will be awarded and the cash will be added to next week's prize. Tie for perfect score will split $100. There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted from any one person. More than one will disqualify all the person's entries. Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing on the choice of the winner. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number and watch for the story on next Tuesday's front page for the winners. Hurry now, and get your entry blank from one of the merchants on this page. The contest blank must be in your own handwriting. Employees of The Snyder Daily News and their families are not eligible to enter.

WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Another harvest has ended in many areas, but if you do a few more chores you can have a better garden next season.

Clean up all plant debris now to reduce disease and insect problems. Some pests, such as the Colorado potato beetle, European corn borer and striped cucumber beetle, will spend winter in crop debris and weedy borders. So plow under or remove their hiding places and cut the number of potential 1984 invaders.

Eradicating diseased plant material also removes troublesome organisms.

Burnings or bagging diseased plants is better than putting them in the compost pile.

Removing weeds before they go to seed is better than after.

Planning a larger garden next spring? Fall is a good time to clear the new area. Use black plastic, an old carpet or a mat of leaves or grass clippings to smother weeds and grass. Sod removed from a prospective garden spot can be used elsewhere.

Prepare your garden soil in the fall for an earlier start in spring. Remove stakes and non-biodegradable materials. Plow or rototill, incorporating compost and other organic matter plus a little fertilizer. If you leave the soil rough, winter's freezing and thawing will break up lumps.

Planting rye and other green manure crops in the fall also helps. Mow weedy spots, scratch soil and seed with lawn spreader. In spring, turn the crop under to add organic material and nutrients. A fall cover crop will also help discourage slope erosion.

Clean and oil hand tools. Winterize power mowers and tillers by draining fuel tanks, running remaining fuel out of the system and cleaning off dirt. This will discourage rust and gummy deposits in the motor. Sharpen mower blades.

Store garden equipment where it will be protected against snow, rain and rust. Drain garden hoses before storing to prevent cracking.

Store leftover seeds in a tightly closed jar in your refrigerator. Store chemical pesticides and fertilizer in a dry spot where they won't freeze or be exposed to high temperatures.

A few notes about what you planted, specific varieties and how they produced are a good idea. Hide it where you can easily find it. ——

Those modern Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter holiday cactus plants have internal clocks set to produce blooms in their own season.

Ira Slade of Greenlife Gardens in Griffin, Ga., who hybridizes these cheerful plants, says they are easy to tend and will last 10 to 20 years.

He recommends this care:

Water thoroughly, allow soil surface to dry before next watering. Use half the recommended dose of slow-release plant food to fertilize at intervals stated on package. Light by which you can read a newspaper is adequate indoors; full sunlight will burn the plant. Natural daylight 5 feet from an unobstructed south window is required for normal growth. Outdoors, shade or dappled sunlight is ideal.

Flowering: Beginning about mid-September withhold water for four weeks to produce a slightly wilted condition. If wilting is excessive, water lightly. Let plant follow natural day length without exposure to night lights during drying period. Plants may be placed on a porch or outdoors for exposure to night temperatures of 40 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit. When pinpoint buds appear at leaf tips, resume watering and return plant indoors. Allow to flower in bright light and temperature above 60 degrees to obtain true color bred into plant. (A white Christmas cactus, for example, will bloom pink if flowered in low light and/or cool temperature). Holiday cacti are available in gold, rainbow, red and pink.

BOOK FAIR WINNERS—West Elementary School Parent Council is sponsoring a Book Fair this week at the school. To get the fair rolling a promotional contest was held. Students of each classroom decorated their door using the theme, "Books open the door to..." In the picture on the left is the winner of the first, second and third grade division, Martha Floyd's first grade. Those in the photo are, left to right, Jeremy Wells, Amanda Carter, Brett Kennedy and Melissa Myers. Susan Rosson's fifth grade class won the fourth, fifth and sixth grade division. Pictured are Les Rinehart, Sabrina Warren and Niki Ward. Each winner will receive $7.50 worth of books for their classroom. The fair is open to the public the rest of the week from 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Selections include Blue Bonnet Books and prices range from 39 cents to $6.95.

Members of Beta Sigma Phi met Oct. 18 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

May Bell of Birmingham, England presented the program. She was introduced by chapter member, Mary Lou Scott. She has been a recent house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Scott while visiting her son in Lubbock.

Mrs. Bell described England's climate and housing and entertainment for English families. She told about the school system, the teachers, grammar schools and requirements for university entrance.

Her discussion also included how the English feel about government matters, equal rights for women and medical care system.

She concluded her program with the showing of her pressed flower collections and crafts. She presented the chapter two of her handmade items for use as door prizes.

President Dena Ellis conducted the business meeting. She bagan with the Opening Ritual followed by roll call and minutes ready by Sue Sewell, secretary. Brenda Hedges, treasurer, gave the treasurer's report.

Twila Polk, ways and means chairman, announced the Christmas paper had arrived for cutting. She said team captains had been selected for the project and the first paper cutting would be Oct. 25.

A report was heard from Jacalyn Lowrance on the fur style show at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. She also announced that MAWC would have a chalupa supper on Nov. 12.

Mrs. Ellis told the group that Snyder Beta Sigma Phi chapter, Lambda Kappa, had won third place on their scrapbook entry at the area convention held in Odessa Oct. 14-16. The convention was attended by Beverly Mitchell and Mrs. Ellis.

Hostesses for the evening were Barbara Bills and Mickey Baird. Wanda Early received the hostess gift. The meeting adjourned following the Closing Ritual and Mizpah.

PROGRAM ON ENGLAND—Mary Lou Scott, left, is shown with May Bell of Birmingham, England who presented a program on England to Beta Sigma Phi members recently.

Corporate gifts

NEW YORK (AP) — Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc. will help to underwrite the Metropolitan Opera's spring tour with a gift of $300,000. This is the second year in which the financial services firm has made this gift.

Exxon Corp. has contributed $60,000 to the Washington Opera to underwrite performances of the company's production of "The Turn of the Screw." The gift is part of the opera's three-year fund-raising campaign, "The Challenge to Greatness."

Know your experts

The correct way to play today's club suit is pretty well known. If you are a good player you should know it.

Thus, when we watched a young player who was supposed to be good, we promptly gave up on him when he led a club to dummy's queen at trick two and wound up losing a club trick.

When his partner chided him, South argued that the 10-spot finesse would have cost him a trick if clubs had broken 3-3 and East held the jack.

That statement is correct, but his play was bound to lose against all 4-2 club breaks while the 10-spot finesse would succeed any time West held J-x, J-x-x or J-x-x-x in clubs. Of course, the 10-spot finesse would also cost him a trick against a singleton jack in the East hand.

Incidentally, our young hero got his trick back later. When West scored his club jack, he led the spade queen, which was allowed to hold. Then when South cashed his spade king and the good clubs, East was squeezed in the red suits and declarer made five-odd.

Of course, some of the real experts found that same squeeze after proper club play and made six no-trump, but five no-trump wasn't a bad score.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with rules and orders of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of its intent to re-file evidence and appropriate tariff(s) in support of a request to establish rates for the use of certain complex inside telephone wiring in the amount of $54.5 million annually. This request was previously a part of the considerations in Docket 5141 and now has been re-docketed as Docket 5420.

Customers who do not own the Complex Inside Wire associated with their Customer Premises Systems (such as PBX and Key Systems), and who utilize Southwestern Bell's wiring after January 1, 1984, could be affected by this request. On January 1, 1984, all of the Customer Premises Systems presently provided by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company will be transferred to a subsidiary of AT&T and that subsidiary of AT&T will be almost exclusively responsible for the charges pursuant to the proposed tariff on January 1, 1984. After January 1, 1984, customers who purchase their Complex Customer Premises Equipment and do not purchase, but continue to use, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's inside wire will be subject to the charges proposed in the tariff.

The proposed effective date for these new rates is January 1, 1984.

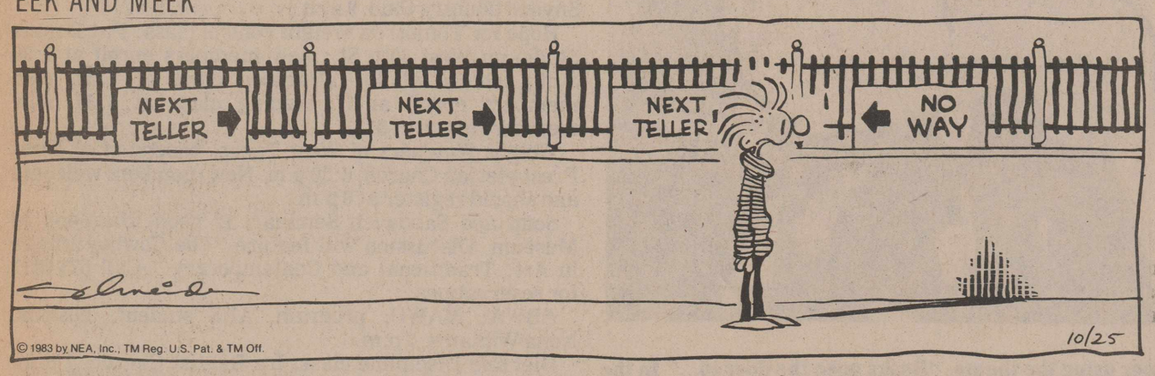

Persons interested in intervening in this matter should file a written motion expeditiously with the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78757, as the Hearing on the Merits in Docket 5420 is set for November 21, 1983.

Husband's Dirty Magazines Are Soiling His Marriage

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1983 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: What can a wife do about a husband who constantly buys porno magazines? I don't mean just Playboy and Hustler, I mean magazines with one nude picture after another—no articles at all.

We've had many fights about this. It's been going on for five years. I've threatened to leave him, then he promises he won't buy any more, but I keep finding them hidden all over the house. I even found some stashed under his car seat.

We have three kids, and when I think of how much money my husband has spent on this filth when it should have been spent on the kids, I could cry.

I am not bad-looking, Abby. I'm 27, have a good figure and I'm still asked for my ID when we go out. I even get whistles from guys when I'm in the car or walking by myself.

Why does my husband keep buying this filth? He knows how much it hurts me. He will get up in the middle of the night to read these magazines, then he wakes me up for a little fun. I feel so used. What can I do? He says he loves me just the way I am.

HURT AND BETRAYED

DEAR HURT: Believe it or not, your husband's preoccupation with nude pictures has nothing to do with you. If he loves you and wants your marriage to survive he will see a therapist about his problem—and it is a problem if it's damaging your marriage.

See a family therapist with him. You both need to understand why your husband needs these magazines. Share this letter with him today. It could save your marriage.

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this in the paper because there are some folks who need to see it. I am a widow, 85 years old. I just had a wedding anniversary, and not one friend or relative sent me a card or wished me a happy anniversary. It was just like I never had an anniversary to remember.

I always remember them on their anniversaries, but if they keep forgetting mine, they are going to get exactly what they gave me—nothing!

They think that just because my mate is gone that date doesn't mean anything to me anymore. Well, they are wrong. It still means a lot to me.

HURT IN LEXINGTON

DEAR HURT: I'll print your letter to let those who ignore the wedding anniversaries of widows know that their remembrances are missed. In most cases, however, the date is not forgotten; friends and relatives think they're being kind by not reminding the widow of her loss.

Auto burglary charged

Two 19-year-old suspects, arrested by city police Monday morning in connection with an auto burglary and a misdemeanor theft, are being held in the Scurry County Jail Tuesday in lieu of bonds set at $1,500 each.

Charged with one felony count of burglary of an auto each are Robbie Lee and Teresa Marie Nolan of 3112 37th St. Both were arrested around 10:30 a.m. Monday in connection with the burglary of a car owned by Randy Dollins of 3205 40th St.

Dollins had reported the theft of a CB radio from his vehicle at 7:45 a.m. Monday and the car was thought to have been burglarized while parked at his residence Sunday night.

Both suspects are also charged with misdemeanor theft in connection with a missing car battery reported by Bob Dennis of 3209 40th St. Dennis noted the battery theft at 7:49 a.m. Monday.

Robbie Nolan has also been charged with one count of Class B misdemeanor criminal mischief in connection with the Oct. 15 vandalism of a car owned by a Snyder woman.

After the inital impact, the Hickey vehicle struck the sign at Brewer's Exxon Station and a dumpster at 1311 25th St.

Both the dumpster and the car struck a parked 1969 Ford pickup owned by Reynaldo Vasquez, Jr. of 1311 25th. The Hickey vehicle finally came to rest after striking a tree in the front yard of the Vasquez residence.

Hickey, Glenda Butler and 2-year-old Marvin Butler, all of 2306 23rd, were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by units of Aid Ambulance-Snyder. Accident investigators indicate that Hickey sustained a cut on her left arm while the Butler child had a cut on his lower lip.

Marriage seminar is slated

The Brecheen/Faulkner marriage enrichment film series will be held at Green Hill Baptist Church, 201 N. College, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The seminar is designed to teach couples the basic principles for a successful marriage and how to apply these principles to their own marriage.

This seminar has been conducted nationwide. There is no cost. For more information call 573-3345.

Candy makers selling Halloween after scare

CHICAGO (AP) — A year after the Tylenol killings, U.S. candy makers are hoping to make Americans sweet on Halloween again.

"It's a case of not letting a few crazies in the world ruin the way you live," said Dawn Dahl, a spokeswoman for the Chicago-based National Confectioners Association of the United States.

The confectioners, chocolate makers and candy sellers have turned to Dr. Joyce Brothers for words of advice and reassurance. And they've turned out millions of pamphlets on the "positive things of Halloween."

Some have changed their packaging to make it easier to detect tamperings, although they note that most of last year's reports were unfounded. And, in case there are fresh problems, they've installed a hotline to help police agencies deal with suspected adulteration.

"Really what we want to do is say you can go trick-or-treating if you're sensible about it," said Ms. Dahl.

The campaigns are good public relations and good business for the $5 billion-a-year candy-making industry. Americans buy more sweets during the weeks before Halloween than any other holiday period except Christmas.

Uneasiness over the holiday of ghosts and goblins turned to fear — some say hysteria — in the month before Halloween 1982 after seven people died of cyanide poisoning following the random contamination of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules in Chicago-area stores.

More than 40 communities nationwide canceled trick-or-treating as reports of copycat incidents — from drug-laced candy bars to soft drinks spiked with caustic substances — piled up.

In some communities where children trick-or-treated, police added extra patrols. Hospitals offered to X-ray candy. Florida mounted a campaign to defuse "public panic," and in New Jersey anyone attempting such dangerous tricks was promised a jail term.

The scope of the problem was devastating for some manufacturers. A million candy apples were recalled in four Midwest states after a pin reportedly was found in one of the treats. Some stores reported sharp drops in candy sales.

"I am certain that if the Great Pumpkin existed, he would be horrified," said cartoonist Charles Schulz, whose "Peanuts" comic strip features the mythical character each Halloween.

Candy makers this year are stressing that most reports of tainted candy from Halloween 1982 appeared to have been unfounded.

An overview released as part of their information campaign notes that more than 95 percent of the 270 "potential Halloween 1982 candy adulterations" showed no tampering when analyzed by the Food and Drug Administration.

The finding "has led one FDA official to characterize the period as one of 'psychosomatic mass hysteria,'" the document says.

"I don't know who they got that (comment) from, but basically it's true," said FDA spokesman Chris Smith.

Despite the vindication, candy makers are boosting public service spending this year to erase lingering doubts about America's Halloween tradition.

Richard T. O'Connell, president of both the confectioners association and the Chocolate Manufacturers Association, said the trade groups are spending about 33 percent more this year than last on safety programs.

Two wrecks said minor

Two minor traffic mishaps were reported in Snyder Monday morning.

The parking lot of the Town and Country Food Store on North College Ave. was the scene of the day's first mishap at 8:29 a.m. Involved in it were a 1979 Chevrolet driven by Tammie Massingale of Rt. 1, Snyder and a vehicle driven by Dewayne Presley of Sweetwater.

The second accident occurred in the 1800 Block of 25th St. at 9:22 a.m. It involved a 1978 Ford driven by Silas Vester Clanton of 3101 Ave. Y and a parked 1976 Pontiac owned by Calvin Johnson of 1002 31st St.

Damage from both mishaps was listed as minor.

Cash taken at residence

Snyder police detectives are investigating a residential burglary reported Monday around 10 a.m.

Nina Moss of 3749 Ave. V reported the burglary, which is thought to have occurred during the weekend.

Listed as missing from the residence were an undetermined amount of cash from a billfold left in the house and a First National Bank automatic teller card.

memory of people living here now. We want to contact these people and to save these histories. Getting them in print while we still can."

As part of the "Where the Buffalo Roamed" project funded in part by the Texas Committee for the Humanities, the workshop will include such topics as techniques of interviewing and the verification of historical data.

The museum is seeking to train a team of qualified oral historians who will work on the Centennial project during the winter and spring of 1984.

Irwin notes the workshop is designed also for persons interested in capturing their own family histories.

"We also need to hear from longtime residents of Scurry County," said Brown. "The Centennial will be a celebration for everybody. By publishing oral histories of the early days, we hope to bring to light memories shared by a lot of people. And in this way, retell the county's history in a way everybody can enjoy."

For more information, persons may contact the museum at 573-6107 or the newspaper at 573-5486.

Airport project proposed

In addition, the north-south runway — currently some 100 ft. in width — would be narrowed to 75 ft. This would entail moving in its runway lights also.

The resurfacing of the runways would consist of first breaking up the current asphalt surface. This existing base would then be "mixed" with a new base layer topped with 1 ½ inches of asphalt.

The overall effect of this would thicken the field's runways, increasing their ability to withstand aircraft weight.

In addition, the east-west runway would have extensive repair work completed to its existing runway lights.

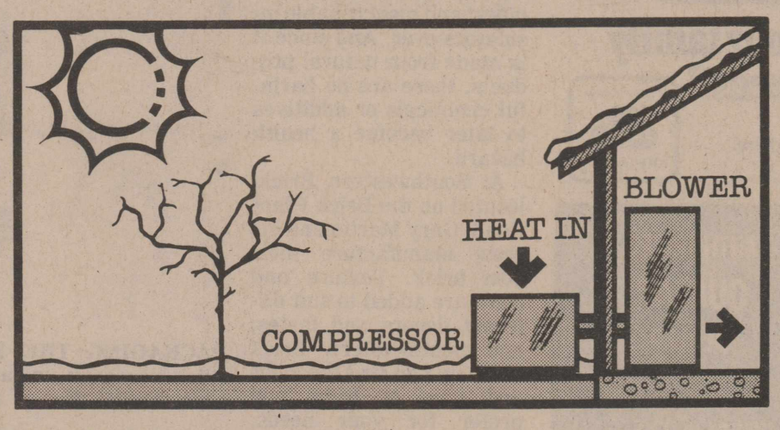

This light renovation would include the addition of "glide control" indicators and special switches so that the lights could be automatically brightened by incoming aircraft radio signals.

Commissioners indicated Monday they would study the request further before deciding if they will complete steps for the pre-application phase.

The initial indication seemed favorable for proceeding with the project, however.

Airport board members meeting with the court Monday were John Lacik and Seabourn Eicke. They were accompanied by Airport Manager Darrell Mize.

Save energy with a heat pump.

If you're planning to install a new heating or cooling system, consider a high-efficiency heat pump. It's an energy-saving, year-round alternative.

The heat pump provides year-round heating and cooling, using only electricity. During the winter, it extracts heat from the outside air (even very cold air contains heat) and brings that heat inside where it's needed. In the summer, the heat pump is a regular air conditioner, removing unwanted heat from the inside air.

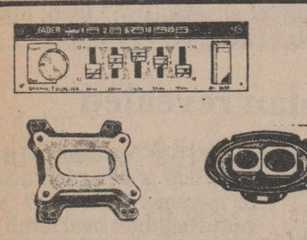

The heat pump is the most efficient combination heating and cooling system that can be installed in your home today.

To learn more about the heat pump, call your air conditioning contractor. And when you call, ask about the year-round heat pump that qualifies for a bonus check from Texas Electric.

West Texas Carpets says now is a good time to clean carpets

Your carpet has taken a lot of hard usage during the past summer months. Dirt and grassburrs have been embedded in the pile and last week's rain left mud spots, too. The best way to get your carpet the cleanest it can be is to have it cleaned professionally, and Jack Bryant of West Texas Carpet Cleaning is your man.

Jack Bryant and his crew can clean your carpet quickly and professionally and the cost is surprisingly low.

West Texas Carpet Cleaning offers the ultimate in carpet cleaning with the Castex Cyclomatic carpet cleaning machine. The amazing feature of this machine is that it has 10 to 30 times more cleaning power than your ordinary rotary type brush machine. This means it can get the deep down dirt that you would usually miss.

A big plus is that the system is truck mounted. Remember how the floor gets soaked with messy liquids when you do-it-yourself? Well, it won't happen with this system. Nothing goes in your house but the cleaning head and hose. This makes for excellent mobility and also a very neat, tidy job.

FOR SPARKLING CLEAN CARPETS—Jack Bryant and West Texas Carpet Cleaning can clean your carpet quickly and professionally. Give them a call at 573-2480. (SDN Staff Photo)

Homemakers, apartment dwellers and businessmen across the country have been amazed by the Super Clean Power of this unique system.

Jack Bryant says, "After many years of cleaning carpet in Snyder I have many satisfied customers. With the Castex system I can clean the dirtiest carpet."

Bryant invites both repeat customers and folks who haven't yet tried the Castex system to give him a call for a free estimate. The number is 573-2480.

West Texas Carpet Cleaning guarantees that you'll be satisfied with their work. When you combine this with the fast, efficient courteous service that they give, you'll agree that they're a business you need to be acquainted with.

Southwestern Brick says that brick is very best insulation

How much does your money mean to you? Wouldn't you rather be saving money than watching it disappear on fuel bills? Brick is the perfect solution for insulating your home and keeping a rein on those rising fuel bills during winter and summer.

Brick, made from crushed clays and shale mixed with water, is one of the oldest and most reliable insulators ever. And since it is made from natural products, there are no harmful chemicals or additives to later become a health hazard.

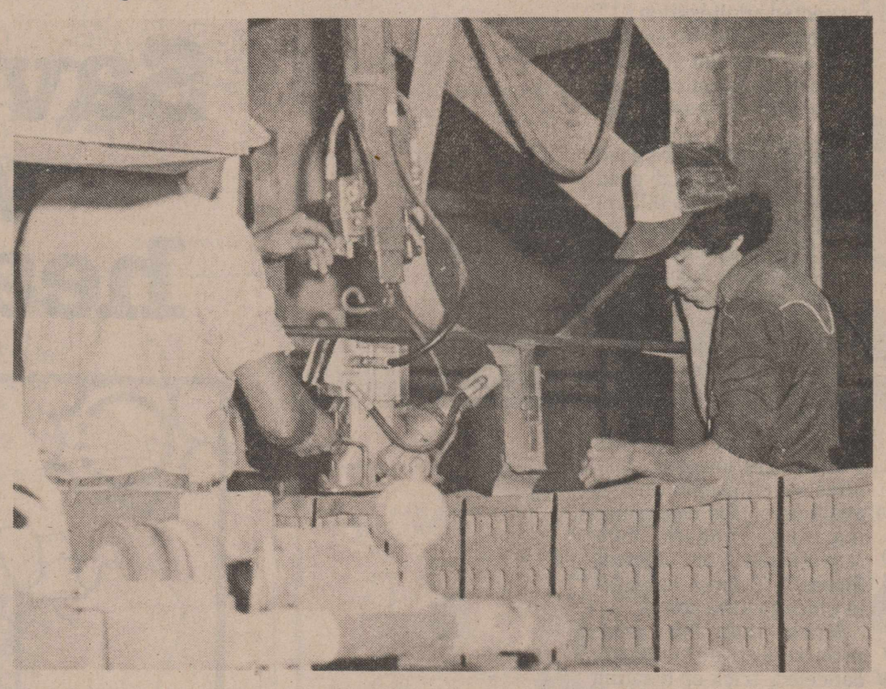

At Southwestern Brick, located on the Brick Plant Road, Gary Martin and his crew manufacture their own brick. Texture and color are added to suit different decors and tastes, and Southwestern Brick can help you find the color and type of brick you prefer for your needs. They carry a large variety of colors, and they have many different sample patterns from which to choose.

After 31 years in Snyder, Southwestern Brick has earned a reputation for fine quality products, along with friendly, courteous help.

A crackling fireplace to warm you on those cool nights to come, is a romantic thought as well as an energy saving one. The folks at Southwestern Brick will be glad to help you with your brick choice for that fireplace and the fireplace equipment you will need to complete it.

Brick is not only for insulation and beautification outside your home and on fireplaces, but is the perfect "decorator touch" for inside your home or business. Individual, commercial, retail and wholesale customers are all welcome at Southwestern Brick.

As you think of all the money you could be saving this winter, don't procrastinate any longer, go see Gary and Valerie Martin at Southwestern Brick and let them help you winterize and beautify your home. They are full of advice, and know their products. Or call if you just have a question: 573-5741, for the plant or 573-2901, for the office.

Wasn't to be...

Thought 'Pokes might do it again

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Tom Landry has seen his team come from behind and pull out last-second victories before this season, and he thought the Dallas Cowboys might do it again against the Los Angeles Raiders.

But it wasn't to be.

"I thought we might pull it out again," said Landry. "But you know it's not going to go on forever."

The Dallas Cowboys were 20 seconds short of being perfect for the first half of the National Football League's season. But they ran out of that special magic that had carried them to seven consecutive come-from-behind victories.

Chris Bahr's 26-yard, game-winning field goal brought them back to reality Sunday night.

The 7-1 Cowboys were the last NFL team to suffer defeat and the 40-38 loss to the Los Angeles Raiders Sunday night narrowed their lead to just a game ahead of Washington in the National Conference Eastern Division.

"We've got eight more games to go so we just have to pick up and get th it," Landry said. "You can't worry about this one."

The Cowboys did have some nagging things happen to them:

- Los Angeles getting a record 31 first downs, most ever by a Dallas opponent.

- Los Angeles getting 519 yards offense, most against Dallas in two years.

- Los Angeles getting 318 yards passing.

"It was not one of our best games, obviously," Landry said. "But we kept hustling."

Four Los Angeles fumbles led directly to 24 of Dallas' points, but the Cowboys still couldn't win.

Dallas quarterback Danny White caught a touchdown pass, a 15-yarder from halfback Ron Springs, and threw for two scores but it wasn't enough.

White also threw two interceptions including one by Ted Watts which set the Raiders' 67-yard, game-winning drive in motion in the final two minutes.

"We played a great team," White said. "We can't let this be a psychological thing."

Dallas cornerback Dennis Thurman said, "We've won our share like they won this one, but we could have won it. That's what hurts."

Raider defensive back Lester Hayes said the two teams will meet again.

"I think the game was a preview of the Super Bowl," Hayes said. "It pitted two super teams where either team could have won."

Linebacker Anthony Dickerson summed it up for the Cowboys, saying, "We just couldn't make the big play at the right time like we did in the other games."

WESTERNERS PLAY TOUGH -- Kevin Burns, (above, on top) Snyder High School sophomore competing for the Western Texas College Judo Club, took third place in the men's 156-under division at the WTC Judo Tournament here. Burns also won the boy's 15 heavyweight division in the junior class. WTC judo coach Dr. Shelby Hillis was pleased with the overall performance of the players competing for the club. Westerners note schedule change

Western Texas College men's basketball coach Barry Davis said Monday that his Westerners are trying to schedule Weatherford here Nov. 3 at 8. The WTC Dusters are to play Weatherford here at 6 p.m. on the same date.

The extra game came about because of a change in the upcoming Ranger Classic. The Westerners were to compete on Nov. 4 and 5 in that classic, but will now play only on the 5th.

WTC men open their season Nov. 1 by hosting McMurry JV at 7:30 in the coliseum.

Hayes undergoes series of tests

Coach Joe Cushing, women's basketball coach at Western Texas College, reported that 6-0 San Antonio freshman Patti Hayes was undergoing tests for blackout spells. The problem is not expected to be serious to her health, however, it has obviously hampered her workouts.

The Dusters, defending WJCAC champions, are scheduled to scrimmage Ranger College on the ACU campus in Abilene at 7 tonight.

V-ball girls host Mustangs tonight

Snyder varsity volleyball girls, 9-3 and currently tied for second place in District 2-4A, will host Sweetwater tonight at 7:30.

In another key match, Pecos and Monahans also square off this evening. Snyder, locked with Pecos for second place, ends the regular season by traveling to Monahans on Thursday. Pecos plays Sweetwater on Thursday.

Snyder ninth grade and junior varsity also entertain Sweetwater tonight at the high school gym. Those starting times are 5 and 6:30 respectively.

Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

WTC wins college title; 3rd in junior division

Western Texas College won the College Judo Club trophy here Saturday, grabbing gold medals in three events.

Its junior members placed third in their division, winning one event and placing second in two others.

The action took place in the Western Texas College Judo Tournament, held in the college gymnasium.

"We did well, especially our varsity athletes," said Dr. Shelby Hillis, judo coach at Western Texas. "All of them placed, most of them first place."

Sophomore Dean Mackey won the men's 156-pound and under division, while freshman Kurt Johnson took the heavyweight. Jim Cottingham, another freshman, earned a silver medal in the 172-and under class.

Also placing for the men was Snyder High School student Kevin Burns, who took third in the 156-division. Burns, playing in the junior division as well, also won the boy's 15 year-old heavyweight.

Jean Anderson, Snyder freshman, won the women's 123-under division. Her sister, Margaret Anderson, took second in the 106-and-under division, losing only to former WTC standout Tania Mackey, now of the Seabrook Judo Club.

Jean Anderson was also runnerup Women's Grand Champion.

In addition to Burns in the junior division, Denise Merritt placed second in the girl's 14-16 heavyweights; Steve Broker placed second in the boy's 8-10 year olds; and Lorinda Broker placed third in the girl's 9-10 year olds.

Odessa Boys Club won the senior division club team trophy and the junior division trophy.

Dodgers' Lasorda voted AP National League manager

NEW YORK (AP) - Tommy Lasorda of the Los Angeles Dodgers captured his third Associated Press National League Manager of the Year award today by one vote over Houston Astros Manager Bob Lillis.

Lasorda, who guided the Dodgers to their fifth NL West title in 10 years, emerged victorious from a three-way voting war that also included Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner. Lasorda received 28 of a possible 87 votes from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Lillis, who led the Astros to a third-place finish in the NL West, received 27 votes, and Tanner, whose Pirates finished six games back of Philadelphia in the NL East, was third with 23 votes.

Paul Owens, the Phillies general manager who took over in the dugout on July 18 from the fired Pat Corrales, had six votes. Atlanta Braves Manager Joe Torre, last year's NL Manager of the Year, had two votes, and Bill Virdon of Montreal received one.

The 56-year-old Lasorda took over the Dodgers from Walter Alston in 1977 and immediately led the club to the National League pennant. He also won pennants in 1978 and 1981, when the Dodgers won the World Series in six games over the New York Yankees.

LaRussa chosen manager of year in American League

CHICAGO (AP) - Tony LaRussa, who twice in the last two seasons came close to being fired by the Chicago White Sox, smiled graciously when he learned he had been named American League Manager of the Year by the Associated Press.

"I'm very pleased," said LaRussa. "I felt I had a chance but it's the kind of thing that you don't think is going to happen."

LaRussa, who turned 39 during the AL playoffs, said "Of all the honors and awards one receives, this is where you have to pass the credit around. There is no other individual honor dependent on so many other people.

"There are the players, the coaches, the general manager, the owners," said LaRussa, whose team caught fire in the second half of the season and won the AL West by a record 20 games before succumbing to Baltimore in the playoffs.

LaRussa won the honor easily, getting 51 of a possible 87 votes from a national electorate of sports writers and broadcasters. Joe Altobelli of the Orioles finished second with 21 votes. Toronto Blue Jays Manager Bobby Cox was third with 11 votes, and the other four went to Sparky Anderson, whose Detroit Tigers finished second to Baltimore in the AL East.
