A. — City officials say the local policy is civilians may ride only with the prior approval of the chief of police.

4 Beirut hostages send open letter

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A letter bearing the names of four American hostages and appealing to President Reagan to negotiate their release from kidnappers who "are growing impatient" was delivered to The Associated Press bureau in Beirut today.

The appeal was contained in a package of letters an unidentified young man threw at the feet of the guard at the AP bureau and told him to deliver the parcel to the new agency.

One of the four hostages is Terry Anderson, the AP's chief Middle East correspondent who was seized in Beirut on March 16, 1985. AP staffers said that they recognized Anderson's handwriting in the letters and his signature.

There was no immediate comment from the State Department and White House spokesman Michael Guest said the administration would have no comment until it had more information. The Reagan administration's policy has been not to negotiate with terrorists.

The open letter said Reagan should negotiate because "there is no alternative.

"They say they will not be moved and are growing impatient. .. "

It said: "It is in your power to have us home by Christmas. Will you not have mercy on us and our families and do so."

The letter continued: "Mr. President, how long do you suppose these people will wait? We have no chance of escaping, and our captors say if any attempt is made to rescue us they and we will all die."

The letter was signed by Anderson; the Rev. Lawrence Jenco, a Roman Catholic priest; David Jacobsen, director of the American University Hospital in Beirut, and Thomas Sutherland, Dean of Agriculture at the American University of Beirut.

The letter, one of a package of letters, was dated at 1 p.m. (6 A.M. EST) today, the day after anonymous telephone callers in Beirut claimed the hostages had been shot by firing squads.

In a separate letter to the media, signed by the four, the captives said: "We have just been told that someone has claimed that Islamic Jihad has killed all of us.

"Obviously this is not true. Our captors say it was an attempt by the U.S. government to spoil negotiations."

Marchers gain try at Austin

Snyder High School will be going to the state marching contest after all.

Members of the "Pride of the West" Black and Gold Marching Band were informed of the change Friday morning by Director Walter Reneau.

Snyder gained a I rating at the regional contest in Vernon last Saturday, but failed to advance with Keller and Pampa High School chosen.

According to Reneau, Pampa was disqualified from further competition after UIL officials discovered they had marched an ineligible student in the regional competition.

Reneau said Friday that an error by a substitute teacher in reporting first six weeks grades had apparently caused the Pampa band to go into the Vernon contest with the ineligible student.

Snyder had placed third in regional competition at Vernon — behind first place Keller High School and second place Pampa.

Extra rehearsals have now been scheduled for the local group to prepare for their appearance in Austin Monday.

These are set for 6 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. Saturday.

The band will leave for Austin at 2 p.m. Sunday and will perform at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the Austin Westlake High School Stadium.

If they place in the top five in the afternoon judging, they will next perform in the Class AAAA finals scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. Monday in Memorial Stadium on the campus of the University of Texas.

TELEPHONE REPAIRS — Local Southwestern Bell workers Ray Hill (left) and Bud Shaw are shown Thursday afternoon as they work to reconnect the 1,800 pairs of local telephone wires severed Thursday morning. Service to all customers was said restored by 5:30 p.m. (SDN Staff Photo)

Bell crews restore all service by 5:30

Telephone service to customers in south and southeast Snyder was restored by 5:30 p.m. Thursday after crews for Southwestern Bell Telephone managed to splice together a cable inadvertently severed around 8:30 that morning.

The cable carried 1,800 pairs of lines — each entailing a separate telephone customer — and workers had to match the cut lines and join these together again.

"Our biggest problem was getting the hole deep enough so that we could work with the cable," said Ralph Williamson, local manager for Bell operations.

He said it was around 1 p.m. before phone company workers could begin splicing the cut lines.

When the break first occurred, the only major facility losing service was Cogdell Memorial Hospital and the adjacent Cogdell Center.

The phone service for some residences in Cedar Creek and those located south of east 37th St. lost service also.

The phone service of many businesses along South College began to deteriorate around noon as water in the hole began to soak into the paper-insulated phone lines.

This service was restored after workers were able to lift the line clear of the water. The lines then dried in the air.

It was initially thought that service had been lost at Ira and Dunn also, but it was later determined the cable serving these two communities was not damaged.

Williamson said work at the site will continue for approximately seven more days as crews repair the concrete and plastic pipe which encases the cable.

No further disruption of phone service due to these repairs is expected, however.

Walkers Saturday to aid heart fund

A group of Turkey Walk walkers will be winding their way through Snyder Saturday — covering a 10-mile course that will add contribution pledges for every mile covered.

The annual event is again sponsored by the local unit of the American Heart Association.

Participants are to meet at Snyder Junior High School at 9 a.m. They are reminded to check in to insure they receive credit.

A variety of people are to be represented Saturday, ranging from senior citizens to members of the Phi Theta Kappa chapter at Western Texas College.

There is no restriction on age and individuals may drop out of the planned 10-mile hike at any time. A van from the Senior Center will follow the route to pick up anyone needing assistance.

Refreshments will be offered also at Towle Park, where the walkers will pass through twice.

Among those signed up include a group from Chevron in addition to Boy Scouts recruited by Eagle Scout Terry Rumpff.

The group will follow a marked course from the junior high north to 32nd St., then south on Houston to 45th St.

From there they will go through Towle Park, then south on the Big Spring Hwy. to FM 2763 which runs on the southern boundary of the college campus. They will have covered 3.6 miles at this point.

The route will continue east to Round Top Rd., north and through the park again, north to 42nd and Denison and east on a path that will take them past the fire station, west on the Lamesa Hwy. to El Paso then back to the junior high.

All walkers with at least $65 in pledges will earn a special Turkey Walk T-shirt.

Cash prizes will go to the four participants raising the largest amount of money in pledges with all proceeds to go to the American Heart Association.

Awards for the walkers will be presented Nov. 19 at the Senior Center. All pledge monies must be turned in to Billie Smith or

Shoplifting arrests here

Police jailed a 39-year-old Lubbock woman and a 38-year-old Slaton man on felony theft charges Thursday afternoon following a reported shoplifting incident at Kmart.

Kmart employees called police at 4:06 p.m. and told officers one of their staff was following two suspected shoplifters leaving the store in a car.

That vehicle was stopped in the 2600 Block of College Ave. a short time later and police arrested Margaret Solano of Lubbock and Pete Luna of Slaton.

A large quantity of leather gloves and carton cigarettes were recovered from the vehicle at the time of the arrest.

In addition, some of the mer-

Orlin Brewer, in the Vernon Daily Record, picked up an item out of the Mayo Clinic health newsletter. It has some true, but difficult advice.

"If it tastes good, spit it out. If it feels good, quit it. Don't smoke. Don' drink. In fact, don't enjoy life too much."

James Roberts in the Andrews County News, related one of those family pet stories.

A farmer was showing off his livestock when a visitor noticed a pig with three wooden legs.

Asked about the pig, the farmer said he first had to tell about the pig. "One night the barn caught fire. The pig noticed it and quickly opened the door and let all the horses to safety."

"That's amazing," sad the visitor. "But how did the pig end up with three wooden legs?"

"I'm getting to that," said the farmer. "But first let me tell about the pig. One day a farm hand was changing a tire on the pickup when the jack slipped. The pig rushed over and kept the pickup from falling on him."

"Remarkable, but how did it get three wooden legs?"

"Let me tell you about that pig," the farmer continued. "One time a small boy fell in the well. The pig, without concern for his own safety, climbed in and rescued the boy."

"That's truly amazing," the visitor pressed. "but how did it get three wooden legs?"

"Well," said the farmer, "that pig is just like a member of the family. We couldn't bear the thought of eating him all at one time."

City staffer study okayed

City council members Thursday opted to hire a Canyon-based consultant to conduct a personnel audit of city employees — a study to determine among other things if job responsibilities, job descriptions and salary are "in line" with other area employers.

The decision came at a specially called meeting of the council. The firm hired is Stephens Management Consultants Inc. for a fee of $2,000 plus expenses (not to exceed $300) related to the local visit and study.

As planned, the audit to be conducted will:

Acid spill

SEGUIN, Texas (AP) — A hydrochloric acid spill a half-mile east of town closed a two-mile stretch of Interstate 10's eastbound lanes for six hours, but there were no injuries.

The acid leaked from a cracked tank truck Thursday afternoon, but there were no evacuations.

Law enforcment officials said between 300 and 600 gallons of acid spilled along a two-mile stretch of the eastbound lanes.

Work crews worked into the night neutralizing the acid with a mixture of lime and soda ash.

The acid destroyed part of the pavement at the site, officials said.

The spill was spotted shortly after 2 p.m. Thursday by Department of Public Safety Trooper Rob Roberson.

Three killed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Firefighters have recovered the bodies of three people killed in a nighttime explosion that leveled four row houses and ignited a three-alarm fire, authorities said.

The 9:30 p.m. explosion Thursday collapsed the two-story brick homes, threw debris nearly 50 yards, destroyed two cars parked in the street and knocked people to the ground.

An elderly man and woman and a 15-year-old girl were killed in the blast, police said. Four people were hospitalized in satisfactory condition, two for cuts and two, including a police officer, for smoke inhalation, hospital spokesmen said.

Speedy trial

WACO, Texas (AP) — The 10th Court of Appeals has ruled for the second time that the state's Speedy Trial Act is unconstitutional.

The court ruled unanimously Thursday in affirming the murder conviction of Louis Anthony Stewart, who was found guilty by a McLennan County jury of shooting a guard at the Waco AMVETS Post on Jan. 22, 1984.

Army rescues hostages, but six judges are reported dead

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Soldiers dynamited the walls of the burned-out Palace of Justice and "annihilated" leftist rebels, ending a bloody standoff. But witnesses said the Supreme Court chief justice and five other judges were among dozens of hostages who were killed.

Survivors of what Colombia's President Belisario Betancur called a "terrible nightmare" said members of the leftist April 19 Movement decided to kill the judges early Thursday, when it appeared their situation was hopeless.

The rebels barricaded themselves in the court building Wednesday with more than 150 hostages. Army assaults freed scores of the people from the five-story building, reduced to a smoking ruin by fires the rebels reportedly kindled to destroy court documents.

Soldiers breached the walls with dynamite Thursday and freed up to 48 hostages still inside, radio stations at the scene said.

The number of people killed in the 27-hour siege was uncertain. A preliminary report from military authorities, based on 60 bodies already recovered, said seven policemen and soldiers had died, along with three civilians and 32 people whose remains had not been identified.

Military sources said soldiers also had found the bodies of 18 guerrillas, six of whom were members of the high command of the April 19 Movement.

President Betancur accepted responsibility for launching the army assault in a speech broadcast on television and radio Thursday night.

Betancur suggested that the rebels had been connected to drug traffickers because they destroyed files that included cases of people the United States is seeking to extradite. He has repeatedly linked the country's leftist rebels to drug traffiking.

"I personally took all the decisions, gave the respective orders to find a solution within the law,' the president said, adding that ordering the assault was difficult knowing so many lives were at stake.

One officer who commanded the assault, Col. Alfonso Plazas, said the guerrillas had been "annihilated" by the army attacks, which were backed by machine-gun and cannon fire from armored vehicles.

Jorge Antonio Reina, a driver for the court and a former hostage, told radio station Caracol that he saw April 19 Movement guerrillas kill four judges, including magistrate Manuel Gaona Cruz.

"They made him lie down on the floor and that's where they shot him even though he was insisting that they should try to negotiate" with the government," Reina said.

Reina said the rebels decided Thursday morning to kill six justices when it appeared they could not escape.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've got a sex problem involving women's feet. I date girls and the first thing I have in mind is to take off their shoes and feel their feet. But the thing I love to do is smell their feet. The point is, is it normal or do I have a problem? Am I the only one? I'm 17.

DEAR READER — You are suffering — and I mean suffering — from a disorder called "foot fetishism." To the extent that your preference for feet interferes with normal activity and healthy relations, it is abnormal. You are not alone; the condition is not unique. You can be helped by therapy. I think your life would become immensely happier and more satisfying if you would talk to a psychiatrist.

I know that people who read my column do not like being told to seek psychiatric help. However, I think that, under the circumstances, I would be serving you badly by sidestepping the issue you raised. Your behavior is not average and your compulsion is out of the ordinary. You may not agree with me, but I believe that most reputable physicians would unhesitatingly recommend psychiatric counseling.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm too embarrassed to bring this to my doctor's attention. In the past couple of years I have developed hair growing on my breasts, especially around the nipple area. Is this normal for some women? I'm in my mid-30s.

DEAR READER — Breast hair may tend to develop in women as they age. A few strands can easily be pulled out, but if you are experiencing significant hair growth — particularly between the breasts — I suggest you see a doctor who can evaluate your endocrine (hormonal) balance. If you are reluctant to discuss this situation with a male doctor, find a female physician with whom you can be more comfortable.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I would like to inquire about the use of steroids in young (16) male athletes. I would like to understand the long-term effects on one's body.

DEAR READER — Anabolic steroids in anybody can be dangerous for anyone. In adolescents, they can be disastrous. All steroids alter immunity, growth patterns and sexual development. They may cause acne and diabetes. Do not rely on drugs to improve your physique and athletic performance. Devote your energy to training, instead of looking for shortcuts that may harm more than help.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 81 and suffering from congestive heart failure, which has kept me in and out of the hospital for three or four years now. I am allergic to sulfa. This is a small town with very few doctors, and they all say that water pills, which I must take for edema, contain sulfa. I have been taking garlic pills and strawberries, but they are not sufficient to reduce the swelling. Could you please tell me if there is anything I can do to remedy the condition?

DEAR READER — It is true that many diuretics (water pills) are descended from sulfa. However, most of them have been so altered that sulfa allergy does not prohibit their use.

Congestive heart failure is a serious overaccumulation of excess body water. Eventually, the lungs fill up and make breathing impossible. If you do not respond to digitalis, some type of diuretic will be essential. There are many water eliminators on the market today, and I am sure one or more of them would be safe for you to use. Aldactone, for example, is not a sulfa derivative.

I have patients who are allergic to sulfa, yet have no difficulty whatsoever taking any of the usual diuretics. In your case, small town or not, your doctors could consider giving you a trial of diuretic therapy. Garlic and strawberries not only make an unappetizing combination, but will be of absolutely no use in relieving your symptoms.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I have just returned from another shopping trip frustrated and empty-handed. All I want is one good-looking dress that I can wear for an evening out. I would like to ask the American fashion designers: For whom are you designing? Each other? Certainly not for American women.

I am a 41-year-old professional woman who has worked hard to maintain a trim figure, and I'd like to show it off a little. Today's designers make that hard; their fabrics are lovely but the styles range from frumpy to ridiculous. I can find nothing without a blousy waist (intended to hide at least 20 pounds around the middle), and dresses with shoulder pads that make me look like a football tackle.

Whatever happened to the classic little cocktail dress whose shape approximates a woman's figure? I'm boycotting the dress market until the designers come up with something worth buying, and I'll bet I have plenty of company.

THREADBARE BUT RESOLUTE
IN VIRGINIA

DEAR THREADBARE: Don't give up. Figure-flattering dresses can be found if you know where to look. Specialty stores, boutiques and catalogs carry fashions for every kind of figure—and department stores have plenty, too. Far-out trendy fashions may be current, but you don't have to buy them. Should shoulder pads overpower you, they can be modified or removed entirely.

If you can't find something that pleases you, buy fabric and a pattern and make your own. You can't sew? So what? Find a dressmaker who can.

DEAR ABBY: A year ago my beloved sister, "Ida," passed away. It was a blessing, as she had been terminally ill for a long time. Ida left a devoted husband, "Al," age 57, a married daughter, "Jill," and Jill's child, who is the apple of Al's eye.

Al started dating a young woman I'll call Bonnie. Our family had known Bonnie and her family for years. She's divorced, childless and a very fine person. Al and Bonnie seem happy together. Now the problem. Jill disapproves of the relationship between her father and Bonnie. She thinks Bonnie is too young for her father. (She and Jill are the same age, 36.) Jill told her father that if he continues dating Bonnie, she will not allow him to see his granddaughter.

Abby, my sister was a loving, generous person, and she would not have wanted Al to stop living because she died. Al is a healthy, active man, and deserves some happiness after all he's been through.

We don't want Al to quit dating Bonnie, which he would probably do rather than give up seeing his grandchild.

How do you see this situation, and how do we help?

WANTS TO HELP

DEAR WANTS: By explaining to Al that if he submits to his daughter's blackmail, this scenario will only be repeated with the next woman he dates, and the next, and the next. Jill could use professional counseling to help her understand why she resents her father's need for female companionship now that her mother is dead, and also why she is using the grandchild as a hostage to ensure that Daddy doesn't find happiness with another woman.

DEAR ABBY: My niece's daughter was recently married. For her wedding present I gave her a very nice check. Instead of a thank-you note, I received a hastily written "THANK YOU" on the back of the check!

Should I mention this to my niece? Or should I put it down as poor judgment on the bride's part and a lesson for me?

CONFUSED
IN ST. PAUL

DEAR CONFUSED: Don't mention it to anyone. While this quick and easy acknowledgment of your gift is barely acceptable, it's still an acknowledgment.

Show will feature allegorical works

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — For the first time since their completion in the mid-1800s, the original and replica sets of Thomas Cole's series of allegorical paintings, "The Voyage of Life," are being exhibited together.

Titled "Side by Side by Cole," the exhibition is on view at the Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute Museum of Art here through Dec. 15.

The original set of these pictures is in the permanent collection of the Institute while the replica set, owned by the National Gallery of Art in Washington, was loaned to the Utica museum for the show.

Taking a risk to get there

By James Jacoby

Unimpeded slam bidding isn't so hard. After you and partner have agreed on a suit, you show strength and controls, ask for aces now and then, and bid your slam. It's not so easy when some nasty opponent skips three rounds of bidding, pre-empting in his long suit. Bidding a slam now may require making some inferences, not to mention taking some chances.

The three-spade bid by West was a nuisance, for sure. North liked his hand but he had no bidding room left for delicate exploration. He finally decided to get his partner into the decision-making process, but at the same time risked getting too high. He cue-bid four spades. What did that mean? It meant he was willing to play five hearts, he had a control in spades, and he thought there just might be a slam.

That cue-bid was enough for South. Although his hand was minimum, it had some very good features. First, the heart suit was solid. Second, that diamond ace certainly took on an added glow when North announced he was interested in slam. South asked for aces and kings, and bid six hearts.

If declarer had tried to go set, he might have succeeded. Instead, he won the ace of spades, drew two rounds of trump, and played ace and a diamond. With that suit set up, he could now draw the remaining trumps and make the contract.

Recently Ruth Davis, Nell Wright and Effie Wright visited the Frank Wrights and Betty Hartman in Carlsbad, N.M. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Pat Wilson, Clint and Jolene. Dub and Joy Wright of Andrews joined the group Saturday.

Kenneth and Leona Brackeen recently vacationed in the hill country where they planned to play a lot of golf. Mother Nature had different ideas. It rained them out in San Saba. After arriving in Fredericksburg, they got in one round before the rains really came. On Oct. 19, it rained all night. The area received nine inches. Joking, they called it the 40 year flood. It was quite an experience, but they did finally get to play some golf before returning home.

On Oct. 30, Effie Wright returned home from Odessa where she received laser treatment on her left eye.

Dorthy Sprague visited Charlene Merritt in Colorado City Monday afternoon.

Eddie and Katie McHaney visited in the home of Jay, Reesa and Shanna Farnsworth in Abilene Monday evening. Ressa is the McHaneys' daughter.

Susan Bills visited her daughter, Shelia Martin, and granddaughters, four-year-old Kristen and three-year-old Courtney. She stayed Saturday to see Kristen play in a soccer game. Although the team did not win, the members played a great game.

Faye Robbins and Evelyn Watson visited Valton and Imogene Cawthron in Colorado City Sunday afternoon.

Frances and Dale Hess and Clara Hoskins spent Sunday as guests of their brothers, Clinton and Billy Lewis, and family at Vealmoor.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brackeen of Graham, Wash., are the proud grandparents of a granddaughter Angela Nicole, who was born Tuesday. The baby is also the great granddaughter of Eva Mae Brackeen.

On Oct. 27, the W.E. McMillans and son Randy of Lubbock went to Morton to celebrate W.E.'s 78th birthday and their son Leonard Groves' 48th birthday. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stuard of Snyder. Randy, a student at Texas Tech University, visited his parents last week.

Becky Robinson of Amarillo, granddaughter of Mrs. Ota Groves, is the proud mother of a little girl born Wednesday. The baby has not been named yet.

Dance slated

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City senior citizens will host a dance Monday at 7:30 p.m. The Benny Benito Band will provide music for the affair to be held in the Boys' Club located at the corner of Third and Chestnut.

Collecting project

CHICAGO (AP) — The Archives of American Art has initiated a two-year project in Chicago to identify, collect and microfilm art-related archival collections in institutional as well as private hands throughout the metropolitan area.

"HOW LONG DID I RUN ON THE RIMS BEFORE I GOT TEETH?"

Ragin' Tigers, Loboes clash in run-dominated tilt tonight

Containing speedy running backs Charles Thompson and Dana Amos will be the key tonight for Snyder's Ragin' Tigers, who entertain Monahans at 8 in District 2-4A action.

Snyder is 2-3 in district play and out of the running for a playoff shot. The Tigers, 4-4 for the season, can play a spoiler's role, however.

Monahans is 3-1-1 in loop play and needs a win tonight to keep up with San Angelo Lake View, which is 4-1. Monahans and Lake View pair off in the season finale next weekend. Meanwhile, Lake View tests Andrews tonight. In other games, Sweetwater is at Pecos and Lamesa entertains Fort Stockton.

Monahans is 5-1-2 for the season. The loss was to Sweetwater while the ties came against Lubbock Estacado and Andrews.

Thompson and Amos have rushed for 1,717 yards of the Loboes' total 1,860 this season. Amos, a 5-9, 185-junior, leads the district with 1,116 yards and 11 touchdowns on 186 carries. Thompson rates sixth with 601 yards and seven TDs in 106 tries.

"They are a sweep-oriented football team," said SHS Coach Dennis Tomlin. "They like to get outside and you've got to contain them. You've got to keep them from getting into the secondary."

Snyder will counter with its own running attack. The Tigers are led by the district's third leading rusher, Justin Webb. He has run for 888 yards and 10 touchdowns on 171 carries. He also has three receptions for 96 yards and a touchdown.

Obviously, both teams like to keep the ball on the ground. Monahans has passed for only 270 yards this season. Snyder has thrown for just 293.

Tomlin wouldn't say what the Tigers' game plan would be for tonight's game. He said only, "We'll have a game plan and try to carry it out. We'll try to attack them where their weakness are. We haven't found very many but we think there are a few. We'll try out some different things."

Cats edge Monahans, 14-13

MONAHANS -- Snyder's junior varsity squad edged Monahans here Thursday by a count of 14-13.

The Tigers tallied first as Lee Fletcher found Lou Vicknair on a 36-yard toss in the opening quarter. Randy Townsend booted the PAT.

In the second quarter, Brad Newman scored on an 8-yard run but a holding penalty called it back. Snyder then attempted a 32-yard field goal, but the effort was wide right.

Halftime score was 7-0.

Following a Snyder fumble in the third quarter, Monahans marched 32 yards to score. The kick was good and the teams were locked 7-7.

Snyder turned the tables in the fourth, using a fumble recovery by Thomas Lowery to drive 29 yards and score. The TD came on a 3-yard sweep by John Pena. Townsend again put the crucial conversion point through the uprights.

Snyder appeared in good shape later when Brad Hart intercepted a pass. The pickoff was negated by a roughing the passer penalty, however. The change of face gave Monahans new life and they drove 55 yards, scoring on a quick-pitch from 20 yards out.

The Loboes went for two but Snyder was able to stop them and hold on for the victory.

Pena had 116 yards on 23 carries for the Cats.

Vicknair and Troy Menix picked off passes.

"It was a real exciting, hard hitting game," said Coach Ricky Howell. "We blocked well on the sweep and played aggressive, enthusiastic defense. Bill Bell was particularly outstanding defensively. It was a big win for us on the road."

Snyder is 6-3 on the season and will wrap up the 1985 campaign next Thursday in Andrews.

Frosh claim seventh shutout of '85 season

BALLINGER -- Snyder freshmen gridders slammed Ballinger here Thursday evening 54-0.

It was the seventh shutout for the Cats, who have allowed only two touchdowns all season. Snyder is 9-0 now, as it prepares to entertain Andrews next Thursday in the final game of the season.

Snyder got started with a 10-play, six-minute drive which ended when Tracy Odom hit Tom Marvin on a fourth down and seven pass from the 7. The duo hooked up again for the conversion.

Early in the second quarter, Mark Garcia broke free for a 64-yard scoring jaunt. Odom ran in the conversion.

Snyder took a 24-0 lead into halftime when Vyron Clay scored on a 9-yard run with two minutes left in the quarter. Michael Riggins ran over the conversion.

Garcia got into the act again with 6:25 left in the third when he scurried to the end zone on a 25-yard run. Odom then hit Riggins with the PAT pass.

Snyder held the hosts to a punting situation on the next series and scored a TD when Riggins took the boot and raced 60 yards. Garcia ran the conversion.

The Cats added to the score with 3:18 left on a 25-yard run by Israel Hinojos. The conversion attempt was not good this time.

Snyder's final touchdown was on a 56-yard run by Clay in the fourth quarter. Riggins galloped in with the two-point conversion.

Snyder ran for 362 yards and had another 56 in passing. Odom was five-of-seven through the air.

The young Tiger team also had two touchdowns called back.

Ballinger, 8-1 going into the game, managed only 30 yards worth off offense and two first downs.

SMU schedules Boston College

DALLAS (AP) - A game against the Boston College Eagles will complete Southern Methodist's 1986 college football season, SMU Athletics Director Bob Hitch said Thursday.

Boston College, which defeated Houston in the 1985 Cotton Bowl, will battle the Mustangs Oct. 4 in Texas Stadium, and SMU will return the game to Boston Oct. 7, 1989.

"We are extremely happy to get Boston College on our schedule," Hitch said. "They have excellent football tradition."

In other 1986 games, SMU will play Sept. 6 at Rice; Sept. 20 at Arizona State; Sept. 27, Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl; Oct. 4, Boston College; Oct. 11 at Baylor; Oct. 18 at Houston; Oct. 25 at Texas; Nov. 1, Texas A&M; Nov. 8 at Notre Dame; Nov. 15 at Texas Tech; and Nov. 22, Arkansas.

The 1986 season marks SMU's 75th anniversary.

Westerners put up 132-79 victory in Laredo Classic

LAREDO -- Western Texas College ran up a 20-9 advantage in the first seven minutes of the ballgame, then went on to roll past the University De Las Americas in first-day action of the Laredo Junior College Classic here Thursday, 132-79.

The Westerners had been slated to play Southwestern Christian on Thursday, but will now play the Terrell school tonight at 6 when the classic continues. SW Christian fell to host Laredo in Thursday's second game, 65-64. Laredo tries the University De Las Americas tonight at 8.

Western built a 69-43 halftime lead, then ran off a 24-to-4 spread on the University De Las Americas team early in the second half. The result was a 93-47 lead with 14:47 still to play in the game.

Alvin Hicks sparked Western with 26 points. Alvin Lee had 16 and Wally Manns and Cliff Langford put up 14 apiece. John Lewis also added 13. In all, 14 Westerner players scored 4 or more points.

University De Las Americas was led by Carlos Canut's 24 points. Fernando Bromundo and Alejandro Tezzire scored 16 apiece.

Western is now 3-0 for the season.

The classic wraps up Saturday with SW Christian and the University De Las Americas vying at 6 and Laredo and Western Texas playing at 8.

Gun Club schedules its Big Buck Contest

The Canyon Gun Club will hold its Big Buck Contest beginning Saturday, the start of Texas white tail deer season.

The annual contest will be held Nov. 9 through Jan. 8.

Only members of the Canyon Gun Club may enter. Anyone wishing to become a member must do so today at Snyder Pawn Shop.

All entries must be accompanied with a color photo of the complete deer and hunter.

Racks must be attached to the skull base.

Ties will be broken by the more points or wider spread. Racks can be measured at Snyder Pawn Shop.

The widest spread contest will be the widest measurement of main beams outside. The most points will include any tine that has a length of an inch or more.

Prizes will be awarded at a later date.

Potential contestants should contact Snyder Pawn Shop for further details.

Lady Tigers gun for bi-district title

LUBBOCK -- Snyder's Lady Tigers, back in the volleyball playoffs for the first time since 1981, draw a bead on the Panthers of Lubbock Dunbar here Saturday in a bi-district match at Coronado Gym.

"We don't mind playing in Lubbock," said Coach Vicki Nelms, who struck a deal with Dunbar officials, who wanted to play the match on Thursday. "We want to show them that our fans will still come out and support us. We'd like everyone to come see the match that can."

The match will be the final of three scheduled at the gymnasium Saturday. District 2-4A runnerup Lamesa clashes with 1-4A champion Levelland at 2 and 4-5A title holder Big Spring is pitted against 3-5A runnerup Amarillo at 4. Snyder and Dunbar vie at 7 p.m. The gym is located at 34th and Vicksburg.

Tickets for the Class 4A matches are $2 for adults and $1 for students, the Class 5A match is $3 for adults and $2 for students.

Snyder will be the visiting team and its fans will sit in the north stands. The gate will not open until 6:30.

Snyder fashioned a 26-5 season record and a 13-1 loop mark to win the District 2-4A championship. It was Snyder's ninth league title since 1968 in a period that also saw the Tigers win four state championships. The Tigers made it to Austin and came out on top in 1972, 1978, 1980 and 1981.

The Tigers are ranked fifth in the state according to the latest Girls Coaches Association poll.

Dunbar, the 1-4A runnerup to Levelland, is 8-16 on the season and finished district play with a 6-4 record. The Lady Panthers are coached by Donna Segotta. They wrapped up second place in the district last Saturday with a crucial 8-15, 15-11, 16-14 win over Borger.

Dunbar has won six of its past seven matches. Snyder has won 12 of its past 13.

"They came on strong at the end of the season," said Coach Nelms. "We're not taking them lightly by any means. We're ready to play. We want to keep playing after tomorrow."

Winner of Saturday's match will go on to play 3-4A runnerup Fort Worth Castleberry in area action either Monday or Tuesday. Castleberry defeated 4-4A champion Crowley for its bi-district title Thursday.

Bible Way schedules fall Bible conference

"God's Mighty Army" will be the theme of the fall Bible Conference to be hosted by Bible Way Baptist Fellowship, 208 North College Avenue.

The conference will teach the basic Biblical principles of how God's people can live in victory over life's circumstances.

The conference will begin Monday at 7 p.m. and will continue through Wednesday. There will be a noon service on Tuesday and Wednesday. A nursery will be provided.

Featured speakers will include Rick Godwin of Eagle's Nest Christian Fellowship in San Antonio. Godwin was an associate evangelist with James Robinson for four years before going to Eagle's Nest. He is a graduate of Bob Jones University, a widely sought after conference speaker and host of "Reaching Higher" radio ministry.

Larry Jordan will share the teaching ministry during the conference. He is the pastor of Gateway Baptist Church of Roswell, N. M. Gateway led the Southern Baptist conference in baptisms in 1982-83 with over 1,350. Before moving to Gateway he pastored in Texas for over 13 years.

Leading in praise and worship will be Jimmy Pierce who directs praise at Church on the Rock in Rockwall, Tex. This is one of the fastest growing churches in the United States. The Pierces are involved in writing and recording songs and they travel across the United States to minister in praise and worship.

Thomas Harrison to speak at local Assembly of God

Dr. Thomas F. Harrison, chairman of the Biblical Division at Central Bible College in Springfield, Mo., will speak at First Assembly of God, 1809 College Avenue.

He will speak at 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. on Saturday. Lunch will be served at noon. He will speak at 10:50 a.m. Sunday.

Harrison graduated from Southwestern Assemblies of God College with a BS in religion from Sam Houston University with a BS and a MA in history. He also graduated from Texas Christian University's Brite Divinity School with a Master of Divinity, a Master of Theology and a Doctor of Ministry with a very high scholastic record.

As an ordained Assemblies of God minister, he was the main speaker for the District Council of Tennessee, the morning speaker for the Oklahoma Camp Meeting and for West Texas Camp Meeting, and a speaker at the International Holy Conference in Springfield, Mo. He has ministered throughout the United States and in some foreign countries.

Harrison has published three textbooks for his classroom activities as well as several articles for various Assemblies of God publications.

Dr. and Mrs. Harrison have traveled widely on three continents and in over 35 countries.

U. S. attorney: drug profits tied to Camerena slaying

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Almost $1.7 million in alleged drug dealing profits seized by the federal government has been tied to the accused murderer of federal Drug Enforcement Administration agent Enrique Camarena Salazar, officials say.

U.S. Attorney Helen Eversberg, breaking a two-day silence on a lawsuit that made the seizure public, said Thursday the money is in local bank accounts in the name of the wife of a Guadalajara real estate broker.

The Guadalajara couple sold property to Rafael Caro-Quintero, the man charged with Salazar's murder, Ms. Eversberg said, and they are believed to have known of the alleged drug operation authorities say Caro-Quintero ran.

She identified the broker as Jose de Jesus Sanchez Barba.

According to the lawsuit, his wife, Beatriz Garza de Sanchez, has deposited the money at four local financial institutions: Alamo Savings Association of Texas, First City Bank, First State Savings Bank and Gill Savings Association.

Technically, the money was seized May 20, but it has not been forfeited formally to the United States government, forcing the U.S. attorney's office to file a civil suit for the money.

"The individuals from whom the money was seized claim they were selling property to Caro-Quintero, and brokering property for him," Ms. Eversberg told the San Antonio Light.

"Our position is that the persons who got the proceeds knew Quintero's money came from the sale of narcotics," she added.

Ms. Eversberg would not say if any criminal charges would be filed.

Pot impairs pilots' flying abilities for 24 hours

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Pot-smoking pilots suffered impaired flying ability a full day after they used marijuana — and one even missed a simulated runway — although they believed their performance was not harmed, a study found.

While the preliminary study involved only 10 pilots, it suggested that even experienced aviators "had better stay out of a plane for at least 24 hours" after smoking marijuana, Stanford University psychiatrist Dr. Jerome Yesavage said Thursday during a telephone interview.

"I'd watch out for the guy who smokes the night before and then flys in the morning, particularly in bad weather conditions," said Yesavage, who also is a licensed commercial pilot and chief of psychiatric intensive care at the Palo Alto Veterans Administration Medical Center.

The study, published in the November issue of the American Journal of Psychiatry, involved 10 licensed, private pilots recruited from Palo Alto's airport, then trained for eight hours on a flight simulator at the Veterans Administration hospital.

All had smoked pot previously, but were not daily users.

Some of the 10 pilots in the study "were out to prove a point — that they could fly just as well" after smoking marijuana, Yesavage said. "They didn't prove their point."

The researchers tested each pilot's ability to use the simulator to take off, climb to 700 feet, make two turns, then descend and land. The test was repeated at one, four and 24 hours after each pilot smoked a cigarette containing 19 milligrams of THC, the active ingredient in marijuana.

The dosage was equal to about two strong marijuana cigarettes, Yesavage said, adding that the study "raises a question about casual, social use of marijuana in highly technical employment" such as heavy equipment operation.

One hour after the pilots smoked pot, "there was a real question of getting back to the ground," Yesavage said. "At four hours, people were still pretty shaky."

Even 24 hours after smoking the drug, the pilots still showed significant impairment of flying ability — including the ability to land the simulated flight on a runway centerline — even though the pilots believed their performance was unimpaired, Yesavage said.

"One of the pilots did land off the (simulated) runway 24 hours after THC ingestion," the study said.

The pilots' difficulty "in aligning and landing precisely at the center of the runway is a particular cause for concern," the study said.

Yesavage cautioned that further study was needed to determine if impairment of flying ability as measured during simulated flight translated into actual impairment during real flight, although he said he believed it did.

Barbara Abels, a spokeswoman for the Federal Aviation Administration, said she was not familiar with the study.

But she said, "Responsible pilots know what will happen if you mix drugs or alcohol with flying."

HONOR ROLL--Bible Way Christian Academy has announced the honor roll for the first quarter. Students achieving the honor include Casey Jones, Carrie Jones, Clinton Jones, Michah Brown, Troy Stinnett, Brian Willingham, Kisha Jones, Sarah Brown, Roy Brown, Chris Stansell, Cynthia Stansell, Amy Willingham, Tiffany Bly, Mark Stansell. Ruling clears way for man's realese after 18 years in jail

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A federal judge who cleared the way for the release of former boxer Rubin "Hurricane" Carter after 19 years behind bars said letting the controversial triple murder conviction stand would be as heinous as the crime.

Ruling that the 1976 convictions of Carter and alleged accomplice John Artis were marred by racial prejudice, U.S. District Judge H. Lee Sarokin on Thursday granted a writ of habeas corpus for Carter, whose cause was championed by celebrities and became subject of a ballad by Bob Dylan.

John P. Goceljak, Passaic County first assistant prosecutor, said the state would announce today whether it would appeal the ruling or seek a third trial.

"...about the Judgement Day"

By Randall Gray

The Bible has a great deal to say about the 'Judgement Day.' This is also calld the 'last day,' 'that day,' the 'day of the Lord,' and the 'day of Judgement.'

Obviously, we don't have room for a thorough discussion, but consider these points:

1. Everyone will be there. I mean everyone who ever lived on this earth, who is alive now and everyone who will ever live--they will all be there! (2 Tim. 4:1)

2. We need to prepare for it. The only chance you have to get ready for that day is now, while you live on this earth. When you die, there will be no altering your fate. (2 Cor. 5:10)

3. Each one of us will account for ourselves. No one else will be able to answer for you. God will hold you alone to be responsible for your life. (Rom. 14:12)

4. We will be judged by God's Word. This fact ought to encourage us to be a little more diligent in our Bible study. (John 12:48)

Hopefully, this little outline will serve to remind us of the enormous importance of that approaching day and its impact on our eternal condition. It would be hard to over emphasize the seriousness of that day of all days.

INDEPENDENT

The restless, independent spirit that settled the west is still a vital force in Texas. Independent thinkers, people who are willing to take the risk of making their own decisions instead of following the crowd have been a basic ingredient in the history of Texas.

Since 1822 when the first Texas cotton gin was built, independent thinking cotton ginners have brought innovations and improvements that have produced major cost savings for all cotton farmers. TEXAS INDEPENDENT COTTON GINNERS are proud to be a part of the independent thinkers that have made the state of Texas great.

Competitive ginning prices and services. Telcot quotes and marketing available if you so choose. Outside buyers with top cotton prices.

Fuel price hike said in S. Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police detained the editor of The Cape Times today, four days after he published an interview with a black guerrilla leader who has called for the overthrow of the white-led government, newspaper employees said.

The independent South African Press Association reported that the editor, Anthony Heard, 47, had been charged before Magistrate J.C. Tolken with quoting a "banned person." There was no immediate confirmation from Heard's newspaper or from authorities.

Employees of The Cape Times, who spoke on condition they not be identified, said two security policemen led Heard from his office just before noon. They said it was believed Heard was being taken to Cape Town Magistrate's Court, and said their newspaper would issue a statement when more details became known.

On Monday, the English-language newspaper, South Africa's oldest, published Heard's interview with Oliver Tambo, leader of the African National Congress, the main group waging a guerrilla war against apartheid, South Africa's legal system of forced racial separation.

Unless official permission is granted, security laws make it illegal to quote people designated as "banned" by South African law. The definition would include Tambo as head of the outlawed African National Congress.

Heard, who is white, refused to say on Monday whether he had sought government permission to publish the interview, which was conducted in London.

In a note to readers of The Cape Times, which regularly editorializes against apartheid, Heard said he was publishing the interview to help the country find a resolution to its race relations, which have worsening in 14 months of rioting in which officials say more than 800 people have died.

The government on Saturday banned television crews, radio reporters and news photographers from trouble sites under emergency decree, and required print journalists to have police escorts while covering disturbances.

In other developments, black activists today reportedly scheduled a halt to a consumer boycott that has crippled white-owned shops in Port Elizabeth as an overture to the government to secure the release of arrested black leaders.

The South African Press Association quoted an unidentified spokesman for the activists as saying the two-week suspension, to start Nov. 15, was meant as a signal so that stalled talks between the leaders and the government could resume. The boycott began July 15.

School officials reported students around Cape Town disrupted exams at schools for mixed-race students. Cape Town newspapers said thousands of mixed-race youths have now joined the partially successful exam boycott begun by black students in Soweto, near Johannesburg, and in Cape Province.

Officials said Thursday the government is raising fuel prices for the fourth time this year.

Congressional envoys plans shipboard meet

RESERVE, La. (AP) — A Soviet freighter will not be allowed to leave U.S. waters until a Senate subpoena is either served on a Ukrainian seaman who twice jumped ship or the subpoena is withdrawn, officials said.

Congressional envoys who tried unsuccessfully on Thursday to serve the subpoena said they would return to the ship today to meet with Soviet officials flying in from Washington.

The U.S. Coast Guard will prevent the ship from leaving as long as the subpoena is in force and has not been served, according to Terrance Wear, deputy counsel for the Senate Agriculture Committee, and Customs officials.

Wear and David Sullivan, an assistant to Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., tried Thursday night to serve the committee's subpoena, signed Thursday by Helms, on the captain of the freighter Marshal Koniev.

The committee is seeking an appearance by Miroslav Medvid, who twice swam ashore last month from the freighter, anchored in New Orleans. Each time he was returned on orders from U.S. officials who said they concluded he was not seeking asylum in the United States.

After three federal courts turned down legal attempts to have Medvid interrogated again, Reagan administration officials said in Washington that they considered "the case is closed."

But the incident drew the attention of the Senate committee, which oversees grain exports.

The Marshal Koniev is loading corn for the Soviet Union at a Cargill grain elevator on the Mississippi River about 30 miles west of New Orleans.

Sullivan said the captain, who was not identified, told them to return today for a meeting with Soviet diplomats from Washington.

"The captain indicated he was instructed by his government not to accept the subpoena until a representative of his government can get down here," said Sullivan.

Yugoslavian sentenced to 30 years in Austin swindle

AUSTIN (AP) — Bratislav Lilic, still claiming to be a Russian agent who can negotiate the return of a missing American, has been sent to prison for 30 years for swindling the missing man's father.

U.S. District Judge James Nowlin sentenced Lilic Thursday after the Chicago resident said he is "still the only one who can negotiate the release of his son."

In August, jurors convicted Lilic of bilking Douglas Pierce of Austin out of $46,000 by promising he could bring John Pierce home. The younger Pierce, then 29, has been missing since a drilling ship on which he worked sank in the South China Sea in 1983.

Lilic, a Yugoslavian, told the judge, "I tried everything in my power to help Douglas Pierce. Since the 11 months I have been in custody he has never had any other contacts. All of a sudden, the doors are closed on him."

The convicted con man has said he saw John Pierce in a Vietnamese hospital.

Lilic said he has worked as an "intermediary" for the Soviets and other Eastern Bloc nations for several years. He said he has seen John Pierce alive in a Vietnamese hospital. The elder Pierce said Lilic once told him he worked for the KGB.

Defense lawyer Joe Turner glanced at his client and told Nowlin, "He's sick."

Pierce said he was satisfied with the sentence, but added, "I would like to stake him on an ant hill."

His search for his son continues. Pierce, who said he has spent about $400,000 so far, planned to go to Paris today to follow another lead.

"I will find my son," he said.

Nowlin also ordered Lilic to repay the $46,000 he took from Pierce. But after Lilic had been taken from the courtroom the judge told Pierce, "I don't expect you'll ever receive a check for $46,000."

Prior to the sentencing, Turner asked to be removed from the case. He said Lilic has not been cooperative.

Rivers' onslaught reaches Richmond

By The Associated Press

Killer floodstreams, cresting against sandbag dikes around Washington, D.C., and lapping over the low-lying riverfront of Richmond, Va., receded today, leaving behind at least 42 dead and 47 missing, and devastated communities seeking millions of dollars in federal disaster relief.

"Now the hard part begins, when we start the cleanup process," Richmond City Manager Manuel Deese said Thursday, after the James River crested downtown at just under 31 feet, or 22 feet above flood stage, and slowly receded.

Eight West Virginia counties were designated federal disaster areas Thursday by President Reagan, and Gov. Arch Moore estimated that the state's flood damage could reach $200 million.

Four days of heavy rain over the Middle Atlantic Stats earlier this week brought the floods, killing at least 20 people in Virginia, 20 in West Virginia and one each in Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Of the 47 people missing, 39 were in West Virginia, seven in Virginia and one in Pennsylvania. Moore's staff said most of West Virginia's missing lived in remote areas and possibly were just out of contact.

In Washington, where officials had closed the Washington, Lincoln, and Jefferson monuments to keep the public away from the swollen Potomac River, the high water drew thousands of sightseers.

The cherry tree-rimmed walkway around the Tidal Basin near the memorial was underwater on the river side, and gawkers jammed roadways.

In Richmond, almost 600 National Guardsmen carrying M-16 rifles and ammunition patroled the perimeter of the flood zone and helped direct traffic, but city manager Deese said there were no reports of looting.

The James, which peaked four feet below the lip of a 28-foot dike protecting the water filtration plant serving 400,000 Richmond-area residents, should be back within its banks by early Sunday, Deese said.

Low water in the Monongahela River was the biggest threat in western Pennsylvania, where several barges, among 62 ripped loose in the flooded stream Tuesday, had wedged under the floodgates of the Maxwell Lock and Dam in Brownsville.

The Central West Virginia Red Cross gave the flooding its highest disaster rating and called for 3,000 volunteers to spend up to two weeks in the region. "It's a logistical nightmare," Red Cross spokesman Jim Daw said. "It's so widespread and the area involved is so rural."

New reports of devastation trickled in Thursday from West Virginia communities that had been cut off from the outside world for a day or more.

Along the Cheat River, "50 percent or more of Rowlesburg was destroyed," said Deputy Jim Fields. At least two-thirds of the homes in nearby Albright were swept away, and in Petersburg, legislator Marc Harman reported "at least 60 to 70 percent total destruction of the commercial downtown area."

West Virginia Highway Commissioner William Ritchie said 20 major bridges were destroyed and even temporary replacements would take "six months to a year" to install.

Vietnam vets vigil

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Vietnam veterans who walked 300 miles from Dallas to the Alamo have embarked on a four-day vigil they hope will draw attention to the need for an accounting of POWs and MIAs.

"We're trying to focus attention on the POWs — the 2,500 men unaccounted for," said veteran Michael Martin. "We had a creed that you didn't leave anyone behind. I've had all the lip service I care to. I want to see some action."
