Cash Grocery and Market Celebrates 3rd Anniversary

The Cash Grocery and Market, owned and operated by J. O. Earnest and W. W. Walters, this week observes the third anniversary of the founding of the institution. As has been their annual custom this event is being celebrated by offering special bargains, beginning today (Friday) and continuing all next week. A full page advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue of the Weekly Chronicle gives full and complete information regarding prices, prizes, etc.

Themselves experienced in the grocery and market business, Mr. Earnest and Mr. Walters have associated with them assistants, who too, are experienced grocerymen and market men. These are Bob Hardwick, Burgess Downtain and Guy Webb. Mrs. J. O. Earnest is the cashier for the grocery department.

With each year since its establishments the Cash Grocery and Market has increased the size of the stock carried and have added fixtures and equipment to make things more convenient for the customer. Also each year the number of customers has grown until today the store is recognized as one of the leading concerns of its kind not only in Eastland but in this section.

Work Provided Here For 90 Men

Ninety men were given work Monday morning in Eastland as a result of the receiving of the second quota of funds from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The total amount received by the entire county was approximately $32,000 and the part assigned to Eastland amounted to approximately $6,000.

The men have been organized into two gangs. One is completing the work of grading and beautifying the high school grounds and the other is engaged in cleaning up the city, and are at work at the cemtery this week.

Those employed are worked by shifts; 45 being on duty in the morning and 45 in the afternoon. As compensation they receive 25 cents an hour for unskilled labor and 35 cents an hour for skilled labor. As a further means of reaching more unemployed this crew will be allowed to work eight days and then another crew, composed of as many men as needed at the time, will be put on. This change in crews will take place on the morning of Jan. 25. In this way practically all of the unemployed of Eastland will be given an opportuntiy to get enough work to tide them over for a few weeks.

Graham Hi Here For Cage Game With Mavs Tonight

The quintette from the Graham High School will be here tonight to meet the Mavericks in the regularly scheduled basket ball game. This contest was to have been played at Graham but due to conditions it was decided to play it here at this time.

It is understood that Graham has a strong team and will give the Mavericks a tough tussle. However, the Eastland boys have been going strong this season and are expected to come through with the big end of the score. Their record so far shows only two games lost, one to Brownwood and one to Eliasville, and these were lost by small margins.

The Mavericks are in splendid condition and expect to give their opponents their best when the game is called tonight at 7:30 at the court in the High School gymnasium.

Ancient Stone to Be Put In Church

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo.—A 500-year-old piece of carved stone from the Church of St. Mary the Virgin in Pendell Court, Blechingley, Surrey, will have a place in the new St. Luke's Episcopal church to be erected here this year.

The Surrey church is the ancestral church of Major W. A. Bell, owner of much property here and one of the backers of the church project.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Little Miss Beth Conner Reineman celebrated her fifth birthday Friday afternoon, Jan. 13, with a party at the home of her grandparents, Judge and Mrs. Earl Conner.

Roosevelt Has a Dapper Caller

Impeccably dressed as usual, Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois is shown just about to enter the New York residence of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt where he conferred on pending matters of legislation.

Texas Publishers Favor Reduction of State Expense

AUSTIN, Jan. 17.—Rather than develop new sources of taxation, the state should endeavor to cut $5,000,000 from its annual expense, editors of the state represented by the tax advisory committee of the Texas Press association, recommended today.

In the event new taxation becomes necessary after the greatest economy, it should be not in addition but in lieu of existing systems of taxation, the committee said.

Fire Destroys Residence Here

The resdence of Mrs. L. J. Burton located at 507 South Green street, was entirely destroyed by fire Wednesday night. The building burned so rapidly that none of the furniture was saved. It is reported that the house and furniture were partially covered by insurance.

The family was away from home and the fire was not discovered until about nine o'clock when a young man, who was rooming at the place, returned home. The alarm was turned in immediately and the department responded promptly but the fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to get it under control. To protect the adjoining property was about all that Chief Hennessee and his men could do.

Just how the blaze originated is not definitely known.

Committees Are Named In House

AUSTIN, Jan. 17.—John M. Mathis of Houston will head the important house of representatives committee on state affairs and J. C. Duvall, Fort Worth, the committees on revenue and taxation, Speaker Coke Stevenson announced today.

Other committee chairmen included Will H. Scott of Sweetwater, on school districts; A. L. Baker of Stockdale on livestock and stock raising; O. F. Chastain of Eastland on judiciary districts.

P. L. Crossley Is New Member of Local Lions Club

The Eastland Lions club enjoyed a novelty luncheon with lots of fun, introduced at the meeting Tuesday noon.

The Lions experienced plenty of glee in the antics pulled off by the Lion tail-twisters, Judge Clyde L. Garrett and Donald L. Kinnaird, in charge of the initiation ceremony that inducted District Clerk P. Lewis Crossley into the organization.

H. C. Davis and W. P. Palm were guests, Palm gave a series of pleasing and quaint remarks; the subject matter not revealed.

In more serious moment, Donald Kinnaird reported that with the $25 allowed from the Lions treasury, the club had been able to assist 10 children with clothing, shoes, and other necessities, and start them off to school again.

Claims Bed Is Chair's Ancestor

WASHINGTON.—The popularity of beds as a place to sit is one reason advanced by Dr. Walter Hough, head curator of anthropology of the Smithsonian Institute, to substantiate his claim that the bed is the ancestor of the chair.

Dr. Hough recently has completed a study of primitive furniture and primitive human postures, and has set forth his findings in a report published in the Scientific Monthly. He has traced the development of furniture, and finds that the custom of sitting on beds can be traced back to the primitive habit of squatting on beds before chairs had been thought of.

Huge Rats Stay On Own Property

WASHINGTON.—Why a giant rat large enough to control acres of land should confine itself to a particular territory is a question which puzzles Dr. Joseph Grinnell of the University of California.

Dr. Grinnell's report was on a study of the giant kangaroo rats. They are a comparatively unknown species of mammal, making their home in the San Joaquin Valley, in California, particularly along the southwestern side. According to the report, they "own whole square miles, to the practical exclusion of other seed-eating mammals."

Each rat has its own particular plot of ground, said the report. It usually is covered with rich vegetation. These plots are separated from each other by comparatively barren strips. Boundary lines are apparently respected by the entire group.

Grinnell said the reason such an animal is content "in its own back yard" is a peculiar combination of circumstances which combines safety with a good and bountiful food supply.

STORE ROBBED

Burglars took approximately $500 in cash and checks from the safe in the Piggly Wiggly store in Eastland Friday night after knocking the knob off the safe. Entrance to the building was gained through one of the skylights. Apparently no merchandise was taken.

Joint Resolution Permits Local Option Beer Sale

AUSTIN, Jan. 14.—A joint resolution for submission of a state constitutional amendment to permit liquor sales in a way that will not violate the federal constitution was offered in the Texas house of representatives today by Weaver Moore of Houston.

The proposal is to amend the present state constitutional prohibition against beverages of more than 1 per cent alcoholic content to allow alcoholic content of an amount permitted by the federal constitution as it now is, or as it may be changed.

The proposal places regulation of the liquor traffic in the hands of the state legislature.

A second clause prohibits sale for consumption on the premises where sold, but permits the legislature to authorize sales in restaurants and dining cars.

A third clause provides for local option in any political sub-division on whether there may be sales within that city, county, precinct or district. A majority vote is to decide such a nelection.

It is proposed the election on the amendment shall be held July 29, 1933.

Without discussion the resolution was referred to the committee on constitutional amendments, yet to be appointed.

Rotary Club Meets At Warner College

The Eastland Rotarians had the privilege of a personally conducted tour through Warner college Monday following the noon luncheon, to which the college and faculty was host in the dining hall of the college.

A short talk, but very interesting, "Higher Education," was given by J. E. Lewis, who with Carl Johnson, were program chairmen for the day.

A group of songs by Prof. Barnard of the Warner music studio, with Mrs. Barnard at the piano, was a delightful musical treat.

Report of the prizes in essay contest plan submitted by W. P. Palm and Sam Gamble, brought, subject, selected for essay contest, "What Can a Civic Club Do For Eastland?" The contest is open to all high school students, who must show enrollment when entering. Palm stated the contest closes Feb. 15, at 8 p. m. Judges will be Sam Gamble, Leslie Gray and W. P. Palm. The essay matter only will be graded and small attention given to manner of address or diction. Prizes offered by Rotary are $5, first prize; $3 second, and $2 third prize.

Oil Belt Student Activities at Texas University

Inez Graneau is doing outstanding work in the journalism school. She is a feature writer and society reporter for the university newspaper. Inez will be remembered in Ranger as the niece of Rev. and Mrs. Nichol.

Wilda Frost and Frances Veale spent last week-end in San Antonio.

Ivy Payne was among the guests at the Tejas club's house dance, given last Friday at the clubhouse on 25th street.

Dr. C. O. Terrell of Fort Worth stopped off in Austin last Thursday to visit with his son Charles, who is a junior in the university.

Among the Oil Belt students who attended the inaugural ball Tuesday night were Wilda Frost, Frances Veale, Dorothy Outlaw, Mary McCarty, Ivy Payne, Betsy Lee, Nick Crawford, James Smith, Jay Sarver, Russell Allen, Jack Frost, Sam Conner, William Key, Dick West, and Alexander Spears.

VISITS EASTLAND

Henry Martin, of Three Rivers, Texas, who some years ago as a young lad, used to play around in Eastland, with his chums, L. A. Hightower, Frank Day, June Kimble, and others of that group, was in Eastland Saturday with the announcement to Len Hightower that this is the first time he had been in Eastland for 25 years.

Of course everybody likes Eastland. They always come back, if even only for a visit.

NEW ARRIVAL

Eastland friends will be happy to learn of the arrival of a son on Jan. 15, 1933, who will carry on the name of his father, Hoyt S. Slatton. Mrs. Slatton was the former Mary Sue Rumph of Eastland, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Rumph, who are now residents of Baird.

Organize Western Texas Ball Loop

LUBBOCK, Texas, Jan. 16.—Formation of a professional baseball circuit to include cities in West Texas and New Mexico was tentatively agreed upon today by representatives of four cities.

Wilbur C. Hawk of Amarillo was named president of the proposed West Texas-New Mexico league at yesterday's meeting here. The initial membership includes Amarillo, Albuquerque, Lubbock and El Paso.

Invitations probably will be extended to San Angelo and Roswell, N. M., to make the league a six-town circuit. A second meeting will be held Feb. 26.

New Set Up In Local Government Favored By Judges

MINERAL WELLS, Jan. 14.—The legislative committee of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas, called a special meeting of members of the state association in Austin Friday, Jan. 20.

The meeting is for rejection or approval of plans for changes in county government, recommended by the committee in meeting here.

The recommendation that seven county officials at large be elected for a term of four years was amended to include nine instead of seven; county judge, attorney, sheriff, school superintendent, county manager and four commissioners.

NEW PORT, R. I.—A blackened portrait of George Washington, restored by an art dealer, has been revealed as the 126-year-old work of Samuel King, who with the famed Gilbert Stuart studied under Cosmo Alexander.

King painted the portrait about 1806 apparently as a copy of Charles Wilson's Peale's portrait of Washington now the property of the New York Historical Society.

The artist presented the copy to St. John's Lodge of Masons, and dust and time obscured its value.

Junior College Cage Schedule

Tricky Ward, coach of the Ranger Junior College Texas Rangers, has announced dates for eight basket ball games.

Dates that have been announced are as follows:

Jan. 17—Warner Memorial college at Eastland:

Jan. 20—John Tarleton at Ranger.

Jan. 21—John Tarleton at Stephenville.

Jan. 25—Daniel Baker college first team at Ranger.

Jan. 31—Abilene Christian college freshmen at Ranger.

Feb. 3 — Weatherford Junior college at Ranger.

Feb. 4 — Weatherford Junior college at Weatherford.

Feb. 11—Abilene Christian college at Abilene.

The return game with Warner Memorial college, which will be played in Ranger, will be played the latter part of this month some time, but the date for the game has not been set.

JURORS CHOSEN

A jury commission appointed by Judge Geo. L. Davenport of the 91st district court and composed of F. E. Langston, Ranger; C. F. Falls, Risin gStar, and Will M. Wood, Eastland, selected a list of 36 petit jurors each for the second, third, sixth and seventh weeks of the February term of that court. Those selected for the second week will report Monday, Feb. 13; those for the third week on Monday, Feb. 20; those for the sixth week on Monday, March 13, and those for the seventh week Monday, March 20th.

Something—And Someone—New!

Bareheaded and wearing pantaloons, Lilian Harvey, famous British screen actress, is shown waving a hello to the United States as she arrived in New York. Yes, she's bound for Hollywood.

Eastland County Tax League to Meet Jan. 28th

According to an announcement received from Gorman, a meeting of the Eastland County Tax league will be held in Eastland at the courthouse on Saturday, Jan. 28.

L. H. Flewellen of Ranger and J. W. Cockrill of Gorman have been invited to address the gathering. All taxpayers in the county have been invited to be present at the meeting.

Eastland County Federation Meets In Rising Star

The Eastland County Federation of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs is announced to hold the regular monthly meeting in the library of the women's clubhouse, 2:30 p. m., in Rising Star, on Saturday, Jan. 21.

This is an unusually important meeting as the annual election of officers will be held.

In addition, the Sixth District Texas art exhibit will be on display.

The president of the Eastland County Federation, Mrs. J. M. Perkins, of Eastland, requests that as many clubwomen as possible attend the Rising Star county federation meeting next Saturday.

This Cave Reveals An Ancient City

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Evidence of an Indian city, having an estimated population of several hundred thousand, has been discovered near here by Rev. S. P. Newberry, an archaeologist.

Rev. Newberry found traces of the city while exploring a cave in which were a group of ancient stone idols.

In the opinion of the archaeologist, the city definitely is connected with the cave, as he found blocks of stone of the same shell formation as that of which the idols were formed.

The stone is not native to this region. The blocks found were about 12 by 14 inches in size, and easily could have been carried by a man.

Rev. Newberry estimated the number of mounds at about 1,000. He opened none on his first exploration trip, and was unable to state the percentage which were burial mounds and those which were formed by the crumbling of the adobe lodges, which he believes formed the principal structures of the city.

The city is about four miles long and a half mile wide, with the mounds placed closely together. The mounds are about 50 feet in diameter and four feet high.

Girls' Basketball Tournament Opens At 4:00 P. M. Today

An invitation tournament for girl's basket ball teams will be held in Eastland, beginning this afternoon at four o'clock and continuing through tonight, tomorrow and tomorrow night. All girl teams in this section have been invited to participate and at least twenty are expected to respond to the invitation.

Play will begin at four o'clock this afternoon and will continue until six or six-thirty, when time will be called until the night session, after. The game between the Maverick sand Graham will open the night session, after which the tournament will be resumed. The plans for continuing the contests for the remainder of the tournament will be announced at the close of tonight's session.

Communications expressing their intention to be present and to enter the contests, had been received yesterday from the following teams: Morton Valley, Colony, Carbon, Scranton, Desdemona, Olden, Ranger, Strawn, Thurber, Eliasville, Dublin, Cisco, Flatwoods, and Romney. Several other teams have been invited and are expected to be here. For the first time in several years Eastland has a team that will strive to win the honors for the home school.

Spectators will be charged an admission fee of 10 cents for the privilege of seeing these games.

Custom Hatchery Is To Be Opened

B. S. Dudley of Ranger has announced that he will start his custom hatchery at 105 South Marston street, Ranger, on next Monday, Jan. 23.

custom hatching plant in this part of the country and is one of the best equipped.

Last year the Dudley hatchery hatched 30,000 chickens and 18,131 were sold in this part of the country, showing that there is still a demand for young chickens.

In speaking of the value of chickens and eggs, Mr. Dudley pointed out that a case of eggs is today equal in value to one average acre of corn; one and one-fourth acres of wheat; one and one-half acres of oats; four-fifths of an average acre of cotton; 225 pounds of pork or 138 pounds of beef.

The annual value of eggs sold is in excess of $800,000,000 with the combined value of all poultry sold in excess of $1,500,000,000. This compares to the annual sales value of wheat, which is approximately $575,000,000, Mr. Dudley explained.

SHOULD NOT LET DELINQUENT TAX CONTRACT

For the past several years it has been the custom of the Commissioner's Court of Eastland County to let a contract for the collection of delinquent taxes. Heretofore, these contracts have been let to individuals other than officials of the county. As a remuneration these contracts provided for the payment of a per cent of the delinquent taxes collected. At times this has been as high as fifteen per cent.

It is our understanding that the contract of this kind now in effect will soon terminate. It is our position that another such contract should not be let. We do not know just what the attitude of the entire court is on this question. We do know that some of the members are not in favor of reletting this contract or of letting a similar one to other people. believe this will be the attitude of each member and that no such contract will be let.

Our state statutes provide for the collection of delinquent taxes. The Collector and County Attorney are fully authorized to do whatever is necessary to make these collections. In case the Commissioners Court deems it advisable to file suit the County Attorney i designated as the proper authority to file such suit. We understand that the Attorney of this county is willing and ready to carry out the will of the Commissioners Court in proceedings of this kind.

There are substantial citizens of this county who have not failed to meet their tax payments promptly for years. Yet these evil times have come upon them. They have property and they have products of their lands, but they cannot realize enough money from either to pay taxes. Some let them go delinquent last year and possibly more will pass them up this year. Some of our citizens have suggested that, if the county is to cut off ten or fifteen per cent from what should be the net proceeds, the taxpayer should get the benefit in discounts from the gross amount. Such discounts may not be legal, we do not know. However, we feel that the Commissioners Court should do everything possible to alleviate the financial distress of the citizens and should leave off the delinquent tax contracts.

LOOKING BACK TO FORMER DAYS

Stop with any group of men on the street and listen to the conversation for a few minutes. Sooner or later the observatin will be made that present times are not as good as former days. The way of doing things are not as good now as then. Evidently the citizenship of our neighboring town, Moran, believes this, for they are to install an old time watering trough. In making this announcement the News of that place makes the following comment: "For several years, while the Machine Age was going strong, Moran joined most other towns and junked its watering trough. For the past year an increasing number of people have been coming to town a-horseback and driving teams to buggies and wagons. Desirous of giving service to its rural friends, Moran will revive the old institution." These are conditions that are coming to all our towns. Eastland foresaw this and installed a concrete trough just off North Seaman street some time ago. There an abundant supply of water for stock can be had at any time.

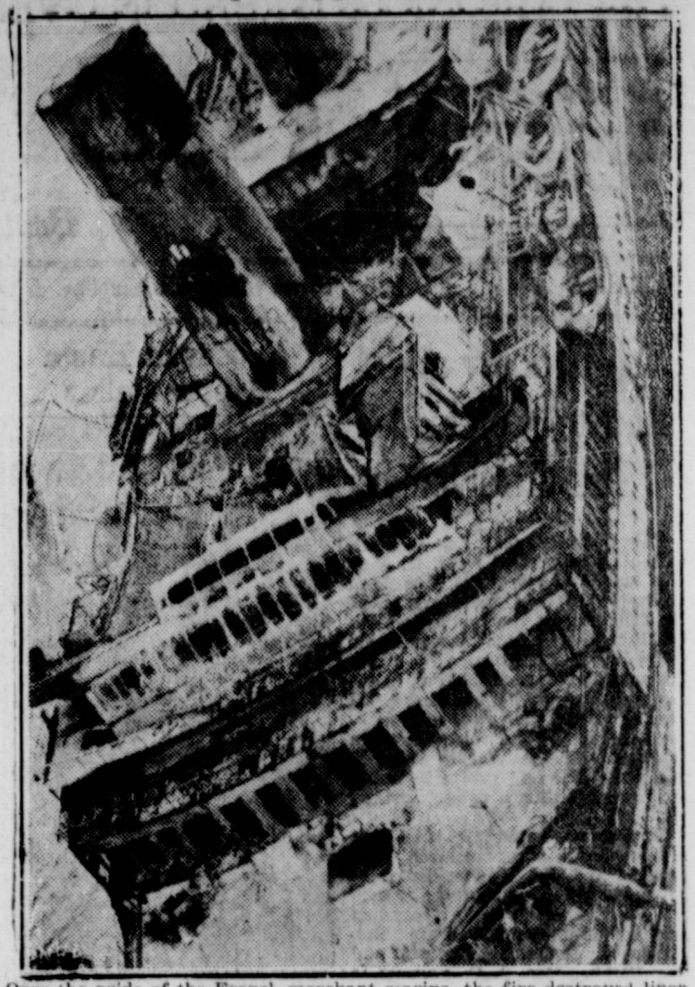
SENATOR COLLIE GETS RECOGNITION

Our new Senator, W. B. Collie, seems to be getting off to a good start in the Texas Legislature. Lieut. Governor Witt has given him a full quota of committee assignments, making him chairman of one committee. Mr. Collie is energetic and studious. We predict for him a successful term in the Senate. There have been few meetings of that body where the members were faced with a program that called for more serious thinking and careful action. Drastic changes and curtailments are being proposed in every department of government. The Legislature will be expected to enact such measures as, in the short space of two years, will bring order out of chaos and supplant want with prosperity. This cannot be done. Whatever momentous affairs come up for consideration, Mr. Collie's influence will be cast in such a way as to reflect credit to himself and to his district.

"When Christianity and agriculture are balanced in a man's thinking and practice, and in a nation's economic system, there can be no depression that shatter human progress," declared Rev. R. B. Morgan at a rural pastor's agricultural short course held by county extension agents in Tarrant county recently. He called for an "agricultural revival" which he said was as vauable to a local farming community as a religious revival was to the several churches in that community.

An Appreciation of Science

How Atlantique Appeared From the Air



Once the pride of the French merchant marine, the fire-destroyed liner L'Atlantique is shown as she appeared when pulled into Cherbourg after being rescued from the English Channel. Newspapers hinted the fire which destroyed her—with 20 members of her crew still missing—may have been incendiary, because what appeared to be empty gasoline drums were found in the first class area.

last year's crop or the current one. They raise their eatables and can them for future consumption.

The second fear is dissipated by the fact that the tax-paying owner of the land is little better off than the renter. This is due to the decline in he fortunes of the landowner and the incline in the living conditions of the renters, brought about by the live-at-home policy that has been inforced by the lack of credit.

The third fear is dissolved by the discovery that not much money is needed, after all.

Roasted Tom Cat Puts Lights Out

A big brindle tom cat threw Mineral Wells and seven other cities in Palo Pinto, Parker and Jack counties in darkness for twenty minutes Thursday night. When found the cat was roasted. The lights went off and employees of the Texas Power & Light Company at Mineral Wells rushed to the sub-station in the southeast part of the city, seeking the cause. They found that a big brindle cat had climbed up onto the switch board works and moved over against the power supply line leading into the city, at the same time coming into contact with another line. He served as a short circuit and the switch and cat both were burned out.

Largest Bible In the World

A bible that will weigh half a ton is now being made by a Los Angeles carpenter. He has already spent two years on the work and, when complete, the book will be the largest in the world. Using a hand stamping machine, he imprints on the three-foot pages of the giant book every separate letter. The pages are bound with metal and the entire volume is separated into thirty-two sections. Well, it is a big task but it is a big book.

Banks Report Uptrend In Conditions

Statements of banks are now being published throughout this part of the country. In at least two places these statements indicate improvement in the general conditions. At Strawn the statements of the two banks reflect better times than they did a year ago. The amount of loans are smaller and the deposits larger. The officials of the two Graham banks report a more hopeful outlook and generally satisfactory conditions. At the same time they express much optimism for the coming year, commenting upon the fact that excellect grazing conditions during the fall onths and present prospects for good crops hold out much hope for the farmers of the county. And they say, "Better times are just around the corner."

Annual Tax of $5 On Each Auto

An average tax of $44.82 was paid on each motor vehicle in this country last year according to statistics compiled by Thomas P. Henry, Detroit, president of the American Automobile Association. This represents an increase of 18.8 per cent since 1930. In some sections gas taxes amount to 100 per cent on the wholesale price of the commodity. This increase is in the face of a decline of some 2,500,000 registered vehicles and a curtailed use of those in operation.

Texas Revenue From Gas Tax

In 1931 Texas collected a total of $30,514,558 in gasoline taxes, an increase of $987,460 over the collections for the year 1930. With a 4-cent gallon rate, this State stood fourth in the total amount of taxes collected from gasoline. In states where the tax rate has been boosted above four cents, a decline in revenue has resulted. This indicates that motorists have cut down on driving and that bootlegging of gasoline has become widespread. Now that the Federal Government has placed a levy of one cent a gallon on gasoline, the bootlegging problem will doubtless become more serious.

More Effective Arson Law

One of the tasks that faces the Legislature now in session at Austin is to enact a law that will be more effective in suppressing the crime of arson. The Forty-Second Legislature attempted to do this by amending the old law so as better to define arson. But the Court of Criminal Appeals has held the act of that Legislature to be unconstitutional and invalid because the caption of the bill was defective. The caption limited the purpose of the act to a change in the definition of the offense of arson; whereas, in the act itself a change in penalty was also incorporated.

Great Things In the Southwest

The following article is swiped from Current Comment for January, 1933, as written by J. H. Lowery for the Home Color Print Company:

Enough pure hog lard was made and saved in the Southwest last week to fry the sun into a buttercake and keep the axes of the earth well greased for a thosand years.

Southwestern people have enough fine bacon middlings stacked away in their smokehouses to pave the roads of the hill countries and the Llano Estacado.

If all the succulent, toothsome sausage that was ground in the Southwest last week were stuffed into one chitling, that chitling would be long enough to encircle the eart hwith a cable and run a branch line to Mars.

If all the fine hams that were packed away in the Southwest last week were one ham, Pike's Peak would look like a foothill beside it. And the red gravy that ham would make would float the American navy all the way from Cape Cod to Iloilo.

The juicy backbones that have been picked and sucked in every county of the Southwest this week, if grafted on to the politicians and office holders of the country would soon expunge every foolish law from the statutes and give the country an era of law enforcement that would command the respect even of the trusts and murderers.

Dates For County Track Meet Set

At a meeting of the interscholastic league executive committee, held at the county superintendent's office in the court house last week Jan. 12, it was decided to hold the junior track meet Saturday, March 18, beginning at 9 a. m. The date of the senior track feet and literary events to be the following Friday and Saturday, March 24 and 25. Both meets to be held at Olden.

The meeting was called to order by Director General Henry Collins of Olden. The following members of the executive committee were present: Thompson Pickens, Olden, secretary; Mrs. Joe Moore, Cisco, director of declamation: Supt. A. A. Pierce of Carbon, director of arithmetic; Supt, Lewis Smith, Morton Valley, director of extemporaneous speech; Prin. W. W. Jarvis, Ranger, director of spelling; Supt. B. B. Brummett, Scranton, director of athletics; Miss Maxine Henderson, Olden, director of choral singing; Prin. J. T. Weaver, Carbon, director of the three "R" contest; Supt. B. E. McGlamery, Eastland, director of rural schools.

All entries for any interscholastic league events must be postmarked and mailed to Director General Henry Collins, Olden, not later than March 14.

A new feature of this year's league work is to be the primary rhythm band, for the first three grades. There must be not more than 25 and not less than 10 in each contesting rhythm band. This work is under the direction of Mrs. Fred Roberts of Rising Star and the contests will be held Saturday, March 18, at Olden.

Story-telling hour is under the direction of Miss Fay Blankenship of West Ward, Eastland, and any information in regard to this may be obtained from her or from Director Henry Collins.

Playground ball, class B and rurals, is under the direction of B. B. Brummett, and the championship will be determined by a tournament to be played at Olden on a date to be set later.

Ward school playground ball is in charge of P. O. Hatley of Ranger, time, place and manner of determining championship in this class may be learned from Mr. Hatley.

High school playground ball is in charge of H. Brannon of Cisco.

All finals in declamation will be held at Olden, both junior and senior class, Friday, March 24, and Saturday, March 25.

Ward school division of declamation will be divided according to the county commissioners' precincts. Two winners to be selected from each precinct to participate in the finals. Date for preliminaries for this is to be March 17. This will mean that all local eliminations will have to be made before the above date.

The tennis tournament is to be held at Cisco and the volley ball tournament at Carbon. For information in either of these events get in touch with the directors of these events.

Finals in boys' and girls' debate will be held at Olden, March 24. For any information in regard to preliminaries write to Mr. Wafford of Gorman.

Essay writing will be held in Olden, under the direction of Mrs. C. A. Skippy of Desdemona. This contest is to be March 24.

For any information in regard to art memory work write Mrs. C. W. Hampton of Eastland.

Music memory is under the direction of Mrs. Robertson of Colony, route 4, Ranger.

Wild flower contest is under the direction of Supt. B. E. McGlamery.

By aunanimous vote, the committee decided that there would be no ribbons, medals, banners or trophies given this year. Winners will receive certificates of award in each event. This decision was necessary because of financial conditions and because the league is operating this year on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The following member schools were assessed as follows to defray the expenses of the 1933 meet:

Cisco, $10; Ranger, $10; Eastland, $10; Rising Star, $5; Gorman, $5; each class B school, 02.50; each rural school, $1.

Thanks are extended by Director General Henry Collins, personally, to the good people of Cisco and especially to Supt. R. N. Cluck, for their voluntary act of kindness and generosity in assuming the old debt which has been carried from year to year by the interscholastic league, thus enabling the league to start now with a clean sheet this year.

It is hoped that the track meet will be well attended and that everyone attending will consider themselves the guests of Olden. Every courtesy and consideration will be extended to them by the Olden community, who feel honored and indeed glad to be the hosts to the visiting teams and contestants.

BOY SCOUTS

Parents' Night

Troop 2 held a very successful Parent's night last Friday night with some 33 visitors in attendance. The meeting opened with a Scout leading in prayer. The regular troop meeting procedure followed, to give to the parents a knowledge of what the Scouts go through with at their troop meetings. The Fox and Flying Eagle patrols both put on entertainment pretending to Scouting. A number of the fathers and mothers gave little inspirational talks, sommending Scoutmaster Gill on his work and expressing their appreciation for same. A very interesting history of Troop 2 was given by Senior Patrol Leader Earl Baker. After the meeting closed, refreshments were served by the Scouts.

One Meal Hike

Last Friday afternoon, Scoutmaster O. E. Winebrinner was seen going through the streets of Brownwood with his troop and on inquiry, the scribe found out that they were taking a "one meal hike." That is, they were hiking out to the old dam on the Pecan Bayou, where they cooked their supper, which was followed by a campfire and Mr. Winebrinner and some of the Scouts studied the stars, this being a part of the astronomy merit badge, others played games. Tired and happy, Scouts reached town about 9 p. m. They report that the next meeting is to be a "cooking hike" which they state that each Scout has to cook everything he takes along, with the exception of bread.

New Assistant Scoutmaster

Troop 1 is fortunate in having Mr. Harvey Mays to register as assistant scoutmaster. Mr. Mays is a former scout in Cub Ragsdale's troop of several years ago. Mr. Mays is carrying out the Scout slogan, "once a Scout, always a Scout." We extend to Mr. Mays our greetings and wish for him a most happy experience in Scouting.

New Troop

A new troop was started at Early High school last Friday with Messrs. Edwards, Hoover, and Gorman as troop committee, L. E. Boyd, scoutmaster, and Leroy Preston as assistant scoutmaster. Some 19 boys are in line for the troop.

Training Course

A Scout leader's elementary training course will be started in Lampasas next Monday evening. The course includes six sessions. One will be held each week.

Scoutmaster's Pow Wow

One of the best Pow Wows since the Brownwood district scoutmasters have organized, was held Monday night of this week at the scout office. J. K. Wilkes, scoutmaster of Troop 7 presided at the meeting in the absence of Chairman O. E. Winebrinner. The theme of the program was "Running a Troop." Scoutmaster Otha Venable invited the next Pow Wow to be held in Rising Star. Scoutmaster Kellum moved, and seconded by Scoutmaster Jones of Blanket, that the Pow Wow meetings be rotated in the district. This motion was carried.

Surprise Banquet-Lampasas

Lloyd Smith, a member of Troop 15 of Lampasas who is at present attending Howard Payne College reported that Troop 33 of Lampasas gave a surprise banquet to Troop 15 and to their own scoutmaster. Neither scoutmaster knew anything of the banquet until they almost had the "turkey by the leg." The banquet was held at the Country club. Dr. N. B. Taylor, District Chairman Roy L. Walker, court of honor chairman, and others were on the program. Lloyd reports everyone had a most enjoyable time.

Troop 115, Rising Star

A scout orchestra has recently been formed by members of Troop 115 of Rising Star under the direction of assistant Scoutmaster Benny Bushbee and rehearsals are being held weekly with the view of a public performance soon. The orchestra boasts of 11 members and should be better than the average scout orchestra, because all of its members are accomplished musicians and the director, Benny Bushbee has had considerable experience with orchestra work. The first public appearance will probably be made next month at the annual father and son banquet.

The mountain directly south of Rising Star has taken on a new complexion since blasters working on the Rising Star-Brownwood road have left it and consequently members of Troop 115 have found a new interest in it. Within all probability it will be used regularly by Rising Star Scouts on overnight hikes for the blasters have uncovered a spring of crystal clear water in unlimited supply and plenty of firewood. Things to explore will make it plenty interesting for the Scouts. The mountain has been the property of Rising Star boys for generations but the local scouts have been the first in many years to exploit its possibilities.

Under the direction of Scoutmaster Venable, the play published in the January "Scouting" is being whipped into shape and probably will be given at the father-son banquet and other public appearances of the scout troop. "Where There's a Will" is the name of the play and it protrays scouting as it really it.

E. H. S. Athletic Association to Hold Tournaments

The Eastland High school Athletic association is sponsoring two basketball tournaments. One for girls on Jan. 20 and 21 and one for boys on Jan. 27 and 28. Each tournament starts promptly at 4 p: m:, Jan. 20 and 27.

Teams planning to enter the tournament are requested and urged to file their applications as soon as possible in order that the names of all the teams may be advertised. A number of teams have already entered and it is expected that at least 50 teams will be in. All are eligible.

"We sincerely hope that all teams in this section will be here and that you will advertise the tournament in your community," Coach J. A. Gibson said.

Suitable prizes will be given the winning teams and an award will be given to the girl and boy voted the best all-around plyaer in the tournament. An admission charge of 10 cents will be made.

Entrances should be sent to Joe A. Gibson, high school, Eastland, Texas.

ODD AD IS PRINTED.

Farmers Banish Three Fears

Much is being said about the woeful condition of the farmers. Ways and means of bringing some relief to them is taking up much time and thought in Congress. In the meantime the farmers of this part of the Nation are putting into operation changes in the management of their affairs that will put their business on a firm basis.

Almost without exception, where distress exists in the operation of a business or industry, an examination will reveal the fact that credit has been inordinately used by somebody. It now appears that the drying up of credit, while painful and distressing, is effecting the cure for farm conditions.

A few years ago the majority of farmers were slaves to three fears—the fear of starvation, the fear of losing their land, and the fear of being without money, says County Agent A. B. Jolly of Dallas. Under the old system of credit at the store or the bank, the farmers ate off next year's crop; they borrowed for groceries and paid back out of cotton money. The first fear of starvation has caused them to reverse their system of provisioning. Now they eat off of

Squirt Guns Not As Effective As Strategy On Bugs

Strategy is more effective than squirt guns in fighting many insect pests, and it costs little or nothing. Simple changes in routine farm operations to deprive insects of food or shelter at critical periods in their life cycle offer a valuable control method, especially in large fields where the cost of insecticides is prohibitive, according to United States Department of Agriculture entomologists.

Timely forecasts of the probable performance of many insects, based on the results of entomological studies, now advancing or delaying seeding in harvesting, b ythoroughly cleaning up a threatened area, or by changing crop rotations.

Clean cultivation, with destruction of all plant materitl left in the field after harevst, is fatal to several insect pests, notably the European corn borer. Burning tall grass late in the fall is a two-edged weapon against the chinch bug. It kills a large number and exposes the rest to the rigors of winter.

Straddling with a second planting the rows of a first planting of corn that has become infested with webworms, stay on the original plants as long as they remain. Deprived of the first planting, the pest transfers its attention to the second. Harvesting the first and second crops of alfalfa at a time when the alfalfa weevil, in its larval stage, will be left exposed to the sun helps remove still another insect pest. Changing the crop rotation, as many farmers know, greatly minimizes the threat from corn rootworm, most dangerous when corn follows corn in the same field.

These and many other cultural practices that discourage insect pests have the added advantage of promoting best plant growth. Well-cultivated, properly fertilized fields where only good seed has been sowed produce robust plants that suffer least from insect attack and give highest yields.

Camp Fire Groups Study Tree Lore

The Nettopew group of Camp Fire Girls, held interesting meetings, Friday and Saturday of last week.

Plans were made for many pretty valentine tokens of hand-made baskets, the work of the girls, to be filled with candy and peanuts, for distribution among children, who might not otherwise get a valentine gift.

A hike was also arranged with destination fixed. The girls arranged for a Valentine party at 7 p. m., Feb. 10, at the residence of their guardian, Mrs. Harrell, when their boy friends will be their guests.

Marie Plummer was welcomed as a new member.

Marjorie Yeager was a guest of the group.

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock this happy little group of young maidens accompanied by Mrs. Harrell, hiked to Belle-Hurst farm, and then to Eastland lake, on their quest for elm, oak, mesquite, cottonwood and other kinds of trees, which the girls drew pictures from for register sheets, in their required studies for qualifying for tree honors. A lunch was enjoyed after the hikes.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

JESUS FORGIVING SIN

Text: Mark 2:1-12.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Jan. 22.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

If there was amazement at the teaching that the carpenter gave to his fellow townsmen, the fame of this new and unconventional prophet of religion spread very rapidly; so that whenever he spoke crowds gathered round to hear him, and if he happened to be speaking in house or synagogue, those who gathered to hear were so many that the building could not contain them, nor could they even get near the door.

This was the case in Capernaum, where the events in our lesson took place. With the fame of the teaching of Jesus had gone the story of his wonder-working pofer, and sick people were brought to him to be healed. The important thing about this lesson, however, was not that Jesus healed the sick by some spiritual influence or magic power; it was the message of peace and forgiveness that he dared to utter.

The healing of disease and the removal of physical defects, through miracles, or spiritual power, is a problem that deeply concerns the minds of men even in this scientific age. The skeptically minded scoff at the possibility of miracles, and yet it must be evident to all thinking and observant people that there is a certain power of mind over matter, and a spiritual influence that has physical effects upon health and strength.

Careful scientific investigation of the phenomena of mental and spiritual healing, it is true, usually dissipates many extreme claims. It will be found, often, that the diagnosis was not accurate and that what was represented as serious or organic disease was some functional trouble; or it will be found, in many instance, that the supposed healing has been rather temporary and due to some strange exultation of the moment.

But even when all such cases are taken into account, there is still a residue of reality in spiritual healing; and wise men may well recognize the fact.

It should, however, be remembered that Jesus never laid the great stress upon his power to heal the body. He never represented his "mighty works" as the great thing in his mission. The supreme thing was the truth that he came to declare. It was for this end that he said he had been born, that he had come into the world "to bear witness unto truth." He also defined his mission as "to seek and to save the lost."

Hence it was that the deepest of all messages that Jesus had for men was the message of forgiveness through the love and grace of God. Any work of wonder that he performed was in testimony to the deeper power that he exercised over the souls of men as one who had come with the supreme purpose of bringing them salvation.

It is important that we should make these distinctions. To think of Jesus merely as a wonder-worker, bringing into the world some magical power, is not enough, in fact it is perhaps to obscure the deepest truth concerning him. There is no blessing that he can bring to us greater than the spiritual blessing of forgiveness and restoration through the redeeming power of God.

This is the heart and soul of the Gospel, it is the essence of the teaching of Jesus, re-enforced by all his life and example in everything that he did and in everything that he said.

To find through him forgiveness of our sins and redemption through grace, is to find the way toward all the blessings he has to bestow—and it is the only way.

NO MORE ORCHIDS

featuring CAROLE LOMBARD with WALTER CONNOLLY-LOUISE CLOSSER HALE-LYLE TALBOT

NOVELIZATON BY ARRANGEMENT WITH COLUMBIA PICTURES

WHAT HAS HAPPENED

Through the express wishes of her grandfather, Jerome Cedric, Ann Holt finds herself engaged to marry Prince Carlos. On the ship coming back from Europe, Ann falls in love with Tony Holt, a young lawyer connected with the law firm that handles Cedric's interests. Knowing of her as a flighty girl, Tony does not believe that she loves him, and leaves the boat without trying to get her address. When Ann returns home, she tells her father, Bill, about Tony; and he gets in touch with him, inviting him to dinner. All the while Ann has been in Europe, Bill has run into great financial stress, and is on the verge of seeing his bank fail. Although he knows that he can get aid from Cedric, a man of great wealth, he is determined not to do so, as he knows the old man is merely waiting for a chance to lord it over him. At the dinner party that Bill arranged, Tony and Ann come to an understanding when he tells her that he is unable to even keep her in orchids. And Ann assures him that there'll be no more orchids.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Ann went to tell her grandfather of her true love and to inform him that she did not intend to marry the Prince.

"You look marvelous, Grandfather! The Springs must have agreed with you."

"Bah! The Springs! I was anxious to get back to you." He leaned over and patted her hand. "Now tell me everything. Were you satisfied with all the arrangements?"

"Darling, they were grand! But then you've always spoiled me!"

Cedric was proud. "Nothing is too good for my granddaughter." He leaned forward eagerly. "The Prince—you were pleased with him?"

Ann gathered herself to face the inevitable. "Oh, the Prince. Yes, he's very charming. Grandfather, I've got to tell you something. Please don't be angry with me. I—I can't marry Carlos." Cedric's eyes narrowed, but he took no violent reaction, so Ann continued. "I know it's a great disappointment to you, but I've met someone I really love."

"Who is it?" the old man asked very quietly.

"He's connected with your lawyers, Anthony Gage."

"A nobody." There was quiet contempt in the old man's voice.

"What does that matter? I love him."

"The arrangements for this marriage are made. It is utterly out of the question to change my plans now. I won't permit it!"

Ann rose quickly and looked at her grandfather defiantly. "Then I'll have to do it without your permission!"

He stared up at her, and she was immediately contrite. She went and knelt by his chair. "Darling, I don't want to quarrel with you," she said. "You've always been so good to me."

"My dear Ann, ever since you were a child I've planned this future for you. It's been my life's ambition to see you where you belong."

Ann was amazed at his fervor. "But grandfather, I never shared your mania for royalty."

He disregarded her remark. "I've financed a revolution to put Carlos on the throne!"

Ann was earnest. "That doesn't mean a thing. All I want is to be happy."

"I will not be disappointed twice. I arranged a regal match for your mother; but I let her get around me with her talk of happiness. What did she do for herself? Married a fool, a failure."

The girl leaped to her feet. "Don't you dare talk of Bill like that!"

"Let's get this clear," the old man said calmly. "If you marry that man you don't get another cent of my money!"

"That's what I came to tell you. I don't want any more of your money."

'And your father doesn't get any from me either."

Ann was bewildered. "Bill! What does he want your money for?"

The old man leaned forward in his chair and said succintly, "To keep him out of jail."

The girl stepped forward. "Are you crazy? What are you talking about?"

"As president of that bank, he's responsible for every dollar deposited in it. He's mismanaged it until it faces having its doors closed."

"I don't believe it! Bill never did anything criminal in his life."

"Bunglers never do—intentionally. But the fact remains, his bungling has wrecked it, and he's got to answer for it."

"Bill has plenty of friends. He'll raise the money somewhere."

"He can't raise a cent. The bank's condition doesn't warrant a loan. Everybody knows it's on the rocks. Burkhardt was here just now, begging for him. I'm the only one he can turn to." Ann knew she was defeated and walked over to the fireplace as the old man continued. "When shall I cable to the Prince to come over for the wedding?"

Without turning, and utterly defeated, Ann replied, "Anytime you like."

The girl left, determined to go to Tony and explain the situation but being in his presence made it impossible. She forgot all. Tony sensed something wrong. He asked her what it was and she started to answer; but lost her determination and gave a trivial excuse such as she could not dine with him that night because she had to spend the evening with her grandfather. He showed her about the house. She tried to give him a hint, but he failed to take it.

"So you're mean about closets? Ah," Ann asked.

"Oh there's a lot of things you'll have to get used to," he laughed. "First I beat women who tidy the bureau drawers."

"I'm awful good at mussing 'em up," Ann confessed.

They walked toward the bed. He stopped at the bed-table, where a display of pipes was prominent. "And heaven help anyone who disturbs my pipes!"

Ann touched one gently. "You knock them out on the carpet."

Tony nodded. "Good for the rugs."

"That's what Bill says." As she mentioned her father, it reminded her. She sat on the bed and looked up at Tony. "Anything else?" she inquired softly.

He looked down at her. "I'm a fiend about coffee. If it isn't strong, I throw things."

"Oh, Tony!" There was a break in Ann's voice. She turned and buried her face in the pillow. Tony looked down at her, concerned. He sat on the bed and turned her toward him. "What is it, darling?" She looked up into his face. Involuntarily her arms went around him, and drew him down to her in a passionate embrace.

Ann was lost. She could not tell him. She wouldn't tell him. She would let her father do that. When she got home she couldn't sleep. She heard her father pace up and down the library. She caught the tinkle of glass and knew he was taking drink after drink.

"What is it, Darling?" said Tony.

(Lyle Talbot-Carole Lombard)

The next morning at breakfast, he drank four cups of coffee, yet he would not give in to Ann that anything was worrying him.

"Something's worrying me," Ann declared. "I want you to do something for me." She stared steadily ahead, not looking at him. "I want you to tell Tony I'm not going to marry him."

Bill was stunned with surprise. "What! Would you mind saying that again?"

"I'm going to marry Carlos."

The man was worried. "I don't get this, Ann. What for? What's happened?"

"Nothing," Ann answered drearily. "Only I've been thinking things over—and I don't see how I can back out now."

"Back out! What about Tony? What about backing out on him?"

"It was all crazy. I shouldn't have tried to make things happen. It—it just won't work out." Ann rose and shoved her chair back. "So, if you'll tell him—"

The man stared at her, dumbfounded. "I'll be a—listen, honey, if you've had some silly fight with him—"

Ann was at the end of her rope. "There's been no fight! I'm just being sensible for once! I don't want to talk about it!" She turned and hurried out, leaving her father wondering what it was all about.

A few minutes later Tony was ushered in. He asked for Ann and Mr. Holt told the lad that she had just left the room in a temper.

"Anything wrong with Ann?" he asked anxiously.

"Wish I knew," Mr. Holt replied slowly. "Maybe you can explain. You saw her last night?" Tony nodded and Bill continued. "Then why is she talking about marrying that dumb Prince this morning?"

Tony was puzzled and incredulous. "Bill, you heard her wrong!" He became gaily confidential. "It's me she was talking about!" He clapped Bill on the shoulder. "I just breezed in to ask you to name the day."

The father looked up at the youth. "Gosh, I hope you're right. But that isn't what she said. She asked me to tell you—"

"She asked you to tell me!" Tony exclaimed slowly.

Mr. Holt interrupted. "If I were you, I'd ask her myself."

"Guess I'd better." He took the suggestion and went to Ann's room. "Your father's got some crazy idea—" he commenced.

"No, he hasn't." Ann backed away from him.

Tony was hurt and surprised. "What's the matter with you?"

"I—I've got to tell you I can't marry you."

Tony stepped up to her and took her roughly by the arm. "Say that again."

"I can't marry you, Tony." She had all she could do to go on. "I've decided to—I'd better marry Carlos. I tried to tell you last night. That's why I went to your house."

"And instead of telling me, you—" he dropped his grip of her and turned away, unable to continue. Ann almost reached out to take him in her arms, but they fell helplessly to her side. He turned toward her again. "So it was all a fake. You don't love me."

With a cry, Ann exclaimed, "Oh, Tony, I do!"

West Ward P.T.A. Held Interesting Meeting Tuesday

The West Ward School Parent-Teacher association following a recess since last November, met in regular session Tuesday afternoon in the school cafeteria, with session called to order by their president, Mrs. Paul McFarland.

The minutes of the last session presented by Mrs. D. S. Eubanks, secretary, was approved, disposed of the business session, which was short, and given chiefly to minor plans for the interscholastic meet in March, which will be held in Olden.

The necessary financial P.-T. A. aid to the expenses of the various teachers who will engage in this work were allowed.

The date for the next meeting was set for the third Tuesday in February.

The program under direction of Mrs. W. P. Leslie, program chairman, brought a well planned and thoughtful talk by Mrs. Earle Johnson, based on International Peace, but entitled "Make Peace Secure."

The boys' glee club of West Ward presented three attractive numbers, the program closing with a round table discussion on "Thrift," ably prefaced by Mrs. Leslie, the leader and with topics handled by Mmes. McFarland, J. U. Johnson, Howard Brock, and other informal expressions by members.

Those present, Mmes. O. O. Mickle, L. E. Gage, C. B. Wood, Earle Johnson, Ruth Herring, J. Atchley, C. L. Little, J. R. Bogguss, Claud G. Stubblefield, Pearl Amis, Stuart Harris, C. R. Thomasson, Lily Watzar, Howard Brock, Lidia Young, J. U. Johnson, Don Parker, R. H. Harrison, W. P. Leslie, H. B. Meek, L. Y. Morris, W. L. Ven Geem, J. S. Little, R. Herron, Karl F. Page, John Van Geem, J. J. Tabelman, D. S. Eubanks, F. O. Hunter, Paul McFarland, R. D. Mahon, Misses Sidney Henderson, Lavelle Hendricks, Faye Blankenship.

Mavericks Defeat Loboes 23 to 15

The Mavericks defeated the Cisco Loboes by a score of 23 to 15 here Tuesday night before one of the largest crowds that has witnessed a basketball game this season. The game was fast, snappy and hard fought throughout, but a sportsman like spirit prevailed between the rival contestants.

Early in the first half the Eastland boys took the lead and, by hard fighting, maintained it throughout. Scoring points was about evenly distributed among Burgamy, Barrington and Daniels for the Mavericks and between Harrison and Ray for the Loboes. The score at the end of the half was 14 to 6.

During the second half the Loboes fought with a punch and held the scoring to an even break, each team ringing up nine points. In this half most of the basket shooting for Eastland was done by Fulcher who had substtiuted for Daniels at center.

Fulcher was high point man for Eastland with eight counters to his credit while Harrison and Ray tied with seven points each for Cisco. Bagget starred for the Eastland team with his splendid work at guard. To him is largely due the credit for the low score of the Loboes.

The starting lineup of the two teams was as follows:

Eastland—Burgamy and Barrington, forwards; Daniels, center; Taylor and Baggett, guards.

Cisco—Harrison and Rutlege, forwards; Curley, center; Ray and Latch, guards.

"Uncle" Charlie Sheppard, elevator operator at the Eastland county courthouse, celebrated his 68th birthday this week.

Mrs. Virginia Bowles is recovering from a severe case of pneumonia.

Dave Carter, Dave Moody and Geo. Davisson were in Austin for the Ferguson inaugural ceremonies.

— THIS CURIOUS WORLD —

THE WIND DRIFT on a ship at sea is very insignificant, when compared with the drift on an aircraft in the air. The combined forces of wind and current will drift a ship at only a fraction of the speed at which the wind is blowing. The aviator, however, must figure a 100 per cent drift in his craft, in a wind that frequently changes its velocity and direction at different altitudes.

Good Health Depends On Mineral Balance

Lee's Mineral Compound With Vitamins Builds Bodily Strength and Vigor by Supplying Needed Minerals and Vitamins

In the light of recent scientific discoveries, leading Physicians and Health authorities agree that the human race could be practically free from most ailments, and could live to a ripe old age if the system could be regularly supplied with a sufficient quantity of the essential Minerals and Vitamins.

DEFICIENCY OF MINERALS

The process of refining modern foods; bleaching of flour, rice, sugar, etc.; together with improper cooking takes out of our foods the very things that God intended we should have.

ACIDITY DESTROYS HEALTH

As the Mineral content of the body is lowered, slowly but surely the acid content of the system is increased until it finally reaches the point where the organs of assimilation and elimination cannot perform their natural functions. Our powers of resistance are lowered. Disease germs creep into the blood. The system becomes clogged with impurities. Various aches and pains appear, and before we realize what is taking place, we are on the very verge of a physical break-down.

AMAZING NEW FORMULA

Fortunately for humanity, science has found a way to prevent most of these conditions. After years of careful research and experimentation, a new and remarkable formula has been perfected. This preparation, known as LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND is a scientific combination of the eleven most essential Mineral Elements of the human body combined with Vitamins. It is not in any sense, a patent medicine but is more in the nature of a FOOD VITALIZER. By supplying the system with the necessary Minerals and Vitamins it aids nature in quickly balancing the Mineral content of the body so that good health naturally follows.

BRINGS QUICK RELIEF

Stomach disorders, such as indigestion, hyperacidity, "heart-burn," gas, and bloating soon yield to this amazing natural compound. Constipation and attendant ills, such as nervousness, headaches, biliousness, bad breath and sallow skin, soon give way to a feeling of renewed strength and vigor.

MAKE THIS 10 DAY TEST

Convince Yourself!

Stop dosing yourself with "patent medicines," harsh pugatives, oils and cathartics for just 10 days. Go to your nearest Druggist and secure a bottle of LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND. Take it regularly, and watch the results. You'll be amazed at the feeling of renewed strength and vigor that soon appears. No narcotics or alcohol to "boost you up" but a natural method of restoring health and energy.

January Garden News Items

Seed, one of the most important points in good gardening. It is safest to purchase from a reliable seed house and give enough time and thought to the purchasing of the seed to be sure that the varieties selected are adapted to your locality.

Buy enough seed to make several successive plantings of the short lived vegetables such as bush beans, radish, lettuce, English peas etc. Get Extension bulletin B-70, "Gardening," from county and home demonstration agent's office and refer to the table on pages 8 and 9 for a list of arieties and the quantity to plant for a family of six.

The highest quality vegetables come from soil that has been broken deep and thoroughly pulverized. Be sure to get the garden plowed in January so you can begin planting hardy vegetables in February.

Fertilizer: Use 4 to 6 wagon loads of manure and add 50 lbs. of acid phosphate to each load for a garden of 1-4 acre. Be sure to work the manure into the soil at the time of application.

Early tomato plants: The tomato to seed should be planted in the hot bed or house box not later than January 20th. One ounce of seed will produce enough plants to set an acre. Sow seed 5 to 7 per inch in rows 4 inches apart covering 1-4 inch deep.

Hot bed: The information for making hot bed is in the office of the County and Home Demonstration agents, or write to Mailing Room, Extension Service, College Station, Texas, for Farm and Home Hints No. 323, "Hot Beds and Home Gardens."

Tomato plants can be grown without a hot bed. It is safest to have a hot bed in which to grow the plants, but they can be grown in shallow indoor boxes. Place stones or crushed rock in the bottom of the box and cover with 4 to 5 inches of fertile loam soil. Sow the seed 8 to 10 weeks before the plants are to be set in the garden. Keep the box outside as much as possible when the temperature is above 50. Do not water plants too much. Transplant the plants to a cold frame or larger box when the first pair of true leaves have developed. Set plants 4x4 to give plants more room and prevent them from being "spindly." If the weather continues wet and cold, the plants should be transplanted or thinned to 5x5.

The tomatoes recommended for Texas are Break O' Day, Earliana, and Early Detroit are good early varieties. Gulf State Market and Globe are early to mid-season varieties, and Marglobe comes along a little later. Marglobe is a variety that is wilt resistant and gives promise of being one of the best. Records indicate that it is a very heavy producer and fine for canning.

"Damping off" of plants in hot bed sand control of same: Damping off is a mold attacking the plants at the ground line, causing them to fall over and later die. It is usually caused by givin gthe plants too much water and not enough sunlight.

An approved remedy for controlling damping off lies in the use of formaldehyde dust. So far as we know, this method is devoid of any serious practicable objections and avoids the necessity of any special cultural practices. The discovery of this material is new, but the results of tests with it have been so conclusive as to leave no doubt as to its efficiency in the control of damping off. In tests conducted greater growth than when no dust formaldehyde dust caused earlier was used, and complete control of emergence of the seedlings, much damping off, green algae, and other soil molds.

Preparation of Formaldehyde Dust

The dust consists of formaldehyde and a carrier or absorbent. The absorbent may be Fuller's Earth, finely ground charcoal (obtained from cheimcal companies) screened muck, or screened loam rich in organic matter. If muck or loam is used, it should be sifted through 1-4 inch mesh screening. To make 100 pounds of formaldehyde dust, add slowly 15 pints or pounds of formaldehyde (40 percent strength) using a watering can with a hose nozzle attachment, to 85 pounds of any of the above carriers, while shovelling over and mixing will, i. e., to make 10 lbs. of dust, use one and one half pints of pounds of formaldehyde to 8 1-2 pounds of absorbent. The mixture can be prepared on a wooden or concrete floor. The mixing of the carrier iwth formeldehyde will give rise to some lumps. The mixture is then sifted through 1-4 inch mesh screen wire and put up in air-tight containers, otherwise the formaldehyde gas will escape and the mixture lose its value. The mixture can be prepared for 2-4c per pound or less depending upon the carrier used, or it may be bought from commercial concerns for 10-30c per pounds, depending upon the quantity obtained.

Use of Formaldehyde Dust

If as much as one bushel of soil is to be treated, mix thoroughly with 1-2 pound of formaldehyde dust. If more or less soil is needed, the same proportion of dust is used. A bushel box, basket, or measure should be used for measuring the soil and a scale for weighing the dust. The dust is added to the soil as it is being shovelled over. Thorough mixing is very desirable. The soil is then put up in flats, or pots, the seed are sown, the soil packed, and then watered well. The watering is important, for without water seed may be injured by the formaldehyde.

GOOD TERRACES

Terraces for the control of soil washing at the Statesville, N. C. soil erosion experiment farm recently withstood a 26-hour continuous downpour of rain without breaking, according to a report received by the United States Department of Agriculture, from its erosion control specialist at the farm, and demonstrated that they can be built in the Piedmont plateau region to take care of heavy and steady rains. Terraces at this station are well constructed and are properly maintained.

Poorly constructed terraces on nearby farms and some that are not properly maintained did not hold under the heavy downpour.

About 7 inches of water fell in the 26 hours, which caused serious soil losses on unterraced areas at the experiment farm.

PROTECT SEED POTATOES

Nature tries to protect cut seed potatoes from the seed-corn maggot and from diseases by 'corking' or healing over the cut surfaces of the potatoes. The United States Department of Agriculture has found that early-potato growers can hasten the corking-over process by disinfecting the seed a few weeks in advance of planting, cutting it, and storing it for ten days to two weeks at a temperature of 55 to 65 degrees F. where the humidity is high.

Corking over of the seed before planting is especially valuable if the potatoes are to be planted in soil containing decaying vegetation of a previous crop. The seed-corn maggot is likely to be abundant in such soils in early spring. To prevent the reinfection of the cut seed with disease organisms, the storage room and all containers for the cut seed should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected with formaldehyde, bichloride of mercury, or copper sulphate.

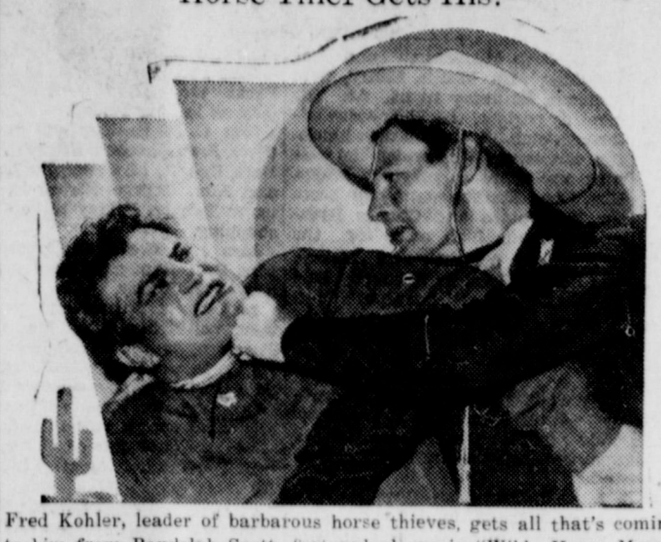
Horse Thief Gets His!



Fred Kohler, leader of barbarous horse thieves, gets all that's coming to him from Randolph Scott, featured player in "Wild Horse Mesa," new Zane Grey action-romance which comes to the Lyric Theatre on Saturday. Scott, who plays the role of Chane Weymer, friend of the Indians on whose reservation the last of the wild horses roam, resents the mutilating methods of Kohler and lets him know in no indefinite manner.

Demonstration of Beef Curing to Be Given Jan. 26

Methods of curing beef similar to the manner in which pork has been cured will be demonstrated on the farm of Henry Stroebel on the Cisco-Rising Star Highway beginning at 9:00 a. m., Thursday, Jan. 26th.

A beef will be cut up and appropriate cuts treated with salt mixture for curing, other parts will be corned in brine and the remainder canned as roast, steak, chili, soup stock, etc. Approved methods of cutting and curing pork products will also be shown. In the afternoon a calf will be slaughtered to show the hort cuts in butchering. C. M. Heald, county agent, and Miss Caroline Chambers, home demonstration agent, of Taylor county who have become experts at meat cutting, curing and canning, will be there to assist the local county agents in the demonstration.

Those interested in the work to be done are invited to attend the demonstration.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Sam G. Thompson, Pastor

The Sunday Shool meets at 9:45. Last Sunday morning there were in attendance at Sunday School 332. This clearly reveals that the flu has not gone from among us. But this malady is gradually lessening its hold. It is to be hoped that we shall have an inspiring attendance next Sunday morning.

The morning worship hour will be at eleven o'clock. The pastor's subject will be, "A Wonderful Drama In Three Scenes." The evening hour of worship will be 7:15. The subject will be "Man Shall Not Live By Bread Alone."

The program for the cultivation period and Kingdom extension will be ready soon. The text books have come and will be ready for distribution at an early date.

Survivors are: Warner, James, John, Frank, Roy and Ray Hatten, sons; Mrs. Imogene Fehl, Mrs. Sallie Huffman, daughters; Joe Hatten, Kelley Hatten, Bryan Hatten, brothers; Mrs. Ada Sneed, Mrs. P. G. Wright, Mrs. Sallie Caldwell, Mrs. Rhoda Burkett, Miss Una Hatten, Mrs. Fannie Frost, sisters, and two grandsons, Robert Eugene Huffman and W. A. Hatten, Jr.

Funeral services were held Saturday at Merriman for Mrs. T. R. Colburn, 78, of Ranger, who died Friday, Jan. 13. Survivors: Tom Colburn, Gladewater; Willie Colburn, Ranger, and Mrs. Oma Badan, Ranger, children.

3 Commissioner's Precincts Are Heavily In Debt

When the Commissioners Court was reorganized at the beginning of the year, there was a desire, especially on the part of the new members, H. V. Davenport of Ranger and Arch Bint of Cisco, to determine the exact financial condition of the several precincts. As a result of this desire the court requested County Auditor, W. S. Michael, to prepare a statement setting forth the condition of the precincts separately. This report reveals the fact that the Commissioners of Precincts 1, 3, and 4 will start this year under the burden of heavy debts, while precinct No. 2, with Builford Gray as Commissioner does not owe anything.

The report as prepared by the count auditor, is given in full below:

Observers See Liberalism In Courts Rulings

WASHINGTON.—Observers of the supreme court see in recent decisions a growing liberalism in interpretations of the National Prohibtiion laws.

Whether this liberalism actually exists, starts a debate that probably will remain undediceded forever. Certainly as yet the court has not reversed itself in any prohibition ruling, not even the much criticised decision in the famous wiretapping cases.

Those who claim to note a growing liberalism attribute it to one of two things. First, that the court is responding to growing public sentiment in favor of modification of bone-dry prohibition. Second, that the liberal school of thought, sponsored by former Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, has extended to the point where it includes a liberalism toward prohibition.

Holmes' Contention

The latter assumption is accepted more generally. It was one of Holmes' primary contentions on the bench that the Constitution and the law in a democracy must reflect public sentiment. He was staunch in a rigid literal interpretation of the 18th Amendment and the enforcement acts.

The chief opinion cited by those claiming to perceive a growing prohibition liberalism was in the recent entrapment case. There the majortiy of the court sharply excoriated a prohibition agent who spent four hours persuading an old war "buddy" to buy him some whisky, and later arrested him.

Two Other Cases

Two other cases have been decided this term which resulted in the condemnation of irregular enforcement methods.

One of these involved William Grau, whose home near Cincinnati, O., was searched by agents without a warrant because they smelled the fumes of mash proceeding from it. The search revealed a well established alcohol distilling plant.

There appeared to be a commercial violation of the law, but the court upheld the search and seizure laws and set his conviction aside because it was a dwelling and could not be searched without evidence of an actual sale of liquor.

In the case of William Sgro, of Bouckville, N. Y., the court held that a search warrant, which had been issued more than ten days before it was executed, was invalid. A United States commissioner had sought to bring a warrant to search Sgro's hotel up to date by changing the date of issuance.

Another Society Romance

Romance and society are going hand-in-hand in New York this season with one of the most recent romances announced being the engagement of Miss Mary Corning (above), daughter of Representative and Mrs. Parker Corning, to Philip Iglehart.

MAN COMES BACK AT SIXTY

This most interesting story of "a man who came back" will encourage those who are suffering from kidney trouble and its attendant ills, such as Rheumatism, Neuritis, Sleeplessness, Nervousness, etc. Mr. J. T. Brown, of Amboy, California, writes:

"Six months ago I was very badly troubled with kidney ills; my back at times hurt me so severely that I could not stand or walk straight. When I got up in the morning I was more tired, if anything, than when I went to bed the night before; was also troubled considerably with rheumatism, and what was troubling me most was that I was fast growing a "bay window." That made my body very unshapely. Then I began drinking Yerbavida. Within three or four months I had lost all that corpulency; my kidneys are now as perfect as they ever have been and I feel like a young boy all the time, although I am past sixty. I can safely say that I never felt better in my life—not even in my younger days. I climb mountains and hills all day long without becoming tired."

Yerbavida is produced from planes growing wild on the American Desert. It contains no drugs of any kind. In fact, no ingredients of any nature have been added to it. When brewed according to instructions it becomes a powerfully revitalizing tea which produces amazing results in the restoration of health. Yerbavida has shown remarkable results in eliminating poisonous acidity which produces stomach, liver and bladder disorders, inflamation, ulcers, headaches, uric acid in the blood with its resulting rheumatism, arthritis, constipation, and many other ills too numerous to mention.

The endocrine glands are the alchemists which transmute chemical element into physical stamina and mental power. Premature old age, disease, low vitality and fatigue are the result of the endocrine glands becoming sluggish. Yerbavida revives the endocrine glands. A large package, enough for 240 cups, can be obtained for only $1.00. If your local druggist cannot supply you accept no substitute but send $1.00 direct to Yerbavida Sales Co., 612 Southwest Bldg., Los Angele, Calif.

What Is ATHLETE'S FOOT

Over 30 Million Americans Now Have It—
Is This Dreaded Disease Becoming a Plague?

Athlete's Foot is a fungus germ (Tinea) which appears on the feet in the form of a little yellow blister, causing severe irritation and itching—especially between the toes. This disease is very contagious and is spreading with alarming rapidity among all classes of people.

The failure to successfully treat Athlete's Foot in the past has been due largely to the fact that these germs hibernate in the pores of the shoes. Salves and liquids applied only to the feet DO NOT PENETRATE THE PORES OF THE SHOES.

Medical Science has recently developed an amazing treatment known as Meritt Foot Powder, which laboratory and clinical tests have proved will positively kill these germs and restore feet so infected to a normal, healthy condition. It is simply sifted on the feet and into the shoes.

Meritt Foot Powder quickly eliminates excessive perspiration and itching of the toes. It heals irritation and is unsurpassed for chafing and as a deodorant. Why suffer another day when this fast working treatment is positively guaranteed to overcome these distressing conditions or your money refunded?

Tax Committee May Refuse to Sponsor Plans

AUSTIN.—Net result of two years' work by the joint legislative tax survey has about boiled down to a refusal to recommend as a whole any major tax plan, with at least three factions of the committee to bring out three competing and conflicting tax policies. These promise to be:

1. Sales tax—the famous "12 cents a day per family" plan claimed to offer $56,000,000 a year, but probably to fall far short of this ambitious total.

2. Income tax law. A majority of the committee originally was for this plan.

3. The Weinert plan of an "earings" tax on farms and property, rather than tax on assessed valuation. Under this, a farm that made money would pay taxes; one that didn't would escape taxes, regardless of the physical value of both.

The income tax long has been urged as the fairest measure of all; but with the uncertainty and decline of taxable incomes, the sales tax has been advanced strongly as the most "painless," surest and most nearly invisible plan of taxation.

All the measures in some way or other seek to shift the tax from property to either earnings or spending.

The tax survey committee several months ago bogged down in the multiplicity of the data it had collected; and its members have so far been unable to agree on the major forms and direction of taxes. Many bills to stop leaks of tax-evasion will be recommended by the group. A man of statistical data that will be read by few if any lawmakers, will be reported in to the legislature.

Gov. Ross S. Sterling recently indicated he will make recommendations as to the sales tax, credited with phenomenal success in pulling Mississippi out of its deficit morass. Former Gov. James E. Ferguson has announced the policy of his wife's administration will be to support a sales tax plan, holding that it will not hurt the farmer population.

Rep. F. C. Weinert, former tax commissioner, former senator and former secretary of state, noe of the influential members of the tax survey, is seeking measures of tax relief for home- and land-owners; and will advocate the tax on property in proportion to its earnings. He likely will favor either a direct general income tax, or a corporation earnings tax, similar to the intangible assets levy on railroads.

There was quite a bit ofexcitement here on Tuesday afternoon of last week when the news spread that Mary Griffin, daughter of Postmaster and Mrs. J. W. Griffin, had received serious head injuries when practicing basketball at the ballpark. The injuries were received when she was standing against the fence and a rock thrown by a boy on the outside hit a plank that was against the back of her head. She was unconscious for quite a while but after medical aid, improved and was able to go to school the next day.

Bob Burns, who moved to Ranger a few months ago was here Thursday looking after his property and visiting friends.

W. R. McNeil and family of Dublin, were guests of Mrs. J. E. Derrick Thursday.
