Western Powers Weld Ruhr Pact; European Alliance Set

Many Flee As Finns Await Next Move

By EDWIN SHANKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

HELSINKI, Finland, March 6—Many Finnish-speaking Karelians today were reported trying to flee across Finland's far northern border into Sweden. These stateless people were alarmed by prospects of Finnish - Russian treaty negotiations.

Press dispatches telling of the flights reached Helsinki as government sources predicted that Finland would reach a decision Monday on the question of opening negotiations for a treaty of friendship and military alliance with Russia.

Forced Return Feared

The extent of the Karelians' exodus was not revealed. One account said a group of 30 Karelian men, women and children was stopped at the frontier last night.

Finnish coastal guards along the Gulf of Bothnia said the Karelians have made no effort thus far to escape to Sweden by sea.

Formerly Russian citizens, the Karelians moved to Finland around 1920. Because these people have not received Finnish citizenship they fear Finland may be forced to turn them over to Russia if a Finnish-Soviet friendship agreement is reached, informants said.

Conference Held

President Juho Paasikivi conferred for two hours today with the Finnish government's six-man foreign affairs committee on Russia's request for a treaty.

Government sources said the committee would meet again Monday morning to formulate its recommendations. Following that session, the 18-man cabinet will convene to give the issue final consideration. The cabinet has been advised to stand by for a possible emergency session.

Informants indicated the government probably would appoint a delegation to meet with the Russians but its powers would be strictly limited.

Military Alliance Opposed

It was believed such a delegation would seek a full outline of what Russia wants before taking the next step. A majority of the Finnish parliament opposes any military tie-up with Russia as suggested by Prime Minister Stalin nearly two weeks ago.

A government minister said: "We realize fully that if we accept the proposal we would formally belong to Russia's eastern bloc. That is something we should like to avoid."

There was no indication that any decision was made at today's conference. However, Passikivi and the members of the foreign

Part Of Cactus Ordnance Plant Destroyed

Dumas Blaze Causes $2 Million Damages

(By The Associated Press)

DUMAS, March 6—A flash fire swept the heart of the Cactus Ordnance plant near here this afternoon with loss estimated at $2,000,000.

The government-owned plant was making ammonia and ammonium nitrate.

Ammonium nitrate was the material which blew up to create the Texas City disaster last April which cost more than 500 lives.

It was not known immediately whether any great quantity of ammonium nitrate was stored at the plant.

Instant Saves Lives

There was scarcely an instant between the time a hydrogen pipe gave way and the compressor building became a mass of flame.

But that instant saved six lives.

Kenneth E. Steele was standing almost above the place where the blaze started. With him were Roy Davis, A. B. Carney, J. T. Browning, B. F. Smith, and T. E. Cooper.

They stood on a heavily spiked, wooden floor.

Nearby, an elbow joint turned a two-inch pipe under the floor. Through the pipe, hydrogen moved under 220 pounds pressure.

Flames Fill Building

The elbow gave way. Hydrogen hissed against steel. There was a warning spark. The six workmen dived through a nearby door.

When they looked back, flames were roaring through the building.

Steele figured it this way: If the elbow joint, turning the line, hadn't channeled the first rush of fire away from them, and if the heavy floor hadn't delayed the flames, all six would have been cremated alive.

The two-block-long compressor building was destroyed and at midafternoon, while the fire still was burning, officials said no other buildings remained in danger.

Spark Ignites Gas

Workers were installing an intermediate compressor when they allowed gas to escape into the basement.

A friction spark ignited the gas, and flames mushroomed completely over the 608-foot compressor building, the commanding officer, Capt. Donald M. McCrea,

Committee Claims Reds Believe World Revolution Is Near

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 6—A congressional subcommittee reported this week that it is convinced Communists believe the hour for world revolution is just about to strike.

For a year this subcommittee of the House committee on Foreign Affairs, headed by Mrs. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio), has studied world political movements. It went back 100 years into Communist and Russian policy, studying words and deeds.

Great Changes Expected

"The Communists have one goal, world revolution," the report says. "They assume the revolution will be violent."

Both Communist and non-Communist statesmen "now expect great changes in the very near future in Europe," it adds.

"Aside from any coming economic crisis, the Communists believe that the world is even now in a political crisis," it says. . . . They believe that large areas of the world are close to revolution at the present moment."

Depression Due First

Here's how the committee pieces together what it believes the Communists expect to occur:

1. The crackup of capitalism will start soon with a depression in the United States.

2. It will spread rapidly throughout the world.

3. There will be revolutions.

4. Apparently the Russians and Communists hope to encourage the fighting but to keep out of it as much as possible.

5. When the time comes they hope to be able to step in, healthy and strong, and take over the battered world.

New Union In Europe Near

By MEL MOST
Associated Press Staff Writer

BRUSSELS, Belgium, March 6—The political and legal basis of a western European economic and military union was laid down tonight.

All sources said there was general agreement on the basic principles of a 50-year pact binding Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, but considerable work remained before the basic agreements can be phrased. The conference, which opened last Thursday, is expected to continue until next Wednesday or Thursday.

Western Ideals Upheld

British delegates said the structure agreed upon here will be a union committed to western ideas of Democracy to which no totalitarian could subscribe.

Sir George Rendel, British ambassador to Belgium, said it will definitely commit the western union to mutual armed defense, but will make no attempt to detail defense provisions.

The political basis of the pact was reached at tonight's session. Gladwyn Jebb of the British foreign office said one of the main points of political discussion was the attitude toward states outside the pact. He indicated all parties agreed the pact must unequivocally favor western ideas of liberty.

Free Press Hailed

An unofficial Belgian source also reported the pact included a statement committing its signers to freedom of the press.

Outlining the problem presented by the attitude toward other countries, Jebb said "we wouldn't exactly be eager to have General Franco join it tomorrow morning."

Because of the desire to finish the pact before the 16-nation Marshall plan conference in Paris on March 15, it was believed some details may be passed over for later settlement, particularly implementation of the military agreement.

Optimism Expressed

The future of the pact and its wider implications "will work itself out," Sir George explained. "It will depend on how keen the support for it is."

Expressing general optimism, Jebb said "this is quite a change

Youths Arrested In Thefts Here

Perhaps $3,000 to $4,000 worth of loot taken from parked automobiles had been recovered in connection with the arrest of two youths here, it was estimated Saturday afternoon.

City detectives and sheriff's deputies arrested the youths, Rodney Wayne McCafferty, 17, and a 16-year-old juvenile, Friday night, and recovered from four hiding places an assortment of property that ranged from a pistol to blankets and insurance papers, fancy silver ornaments to clothing.

McCafferty was charged with theft over $50, and the other youth probably will be named in a juvenile petition, it was said.

Loot Is Recovered

Included in property found, officials said, was $2,000 worth taken Thursday night from a jeep owned by Orvil Lamoreaux of Dillon, Mont.

Arresting officers were Deps. Sheriff George Eubank and Carl Francis and Capt. Pat Davidson and LeRoy Boling, jr., police detectives.

J. B. Fulcher, 24, of Sudan, third man sought in connection with a hit-run accident near the city the past week, came into the sheriff's office here and surrendered at 11:55 o'clock Saturday night. He, with two other men had been named in a joint felony hit-run charge in the justice court of

Warmer Weather To Continue Over Area

The South Plains area had the prospect of balmy weather today with the temperatures expected to reach in the sixties, according to the Weather bureau station north of the city at midnight.

Clear skies and no precipitation in sight Sunday or Monday was forecast. Monday was expected to be partly cloudy and somewhat cooler, however.

The mercury plummeted to 13 degrees Saturday morning, but soared to a comparatively warm 58 degrees by midafternoon.

Sunny weather was the outlook for most of the state today while snow harried the Midwest. Scattered rains fell along the coast Friday night while Wichita Falls reported almost five inches of snow Friday night.

Dixie Delegates To Continue Fight Against Truman

Southern Delegations Claimed Ready To Walk Out On Demos

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 6—Some southern delegations are being primed to take a walk at the Democratic national convention if President Truman is nominated, leaders said today.

Dixie lawmakers who declined to be quoted by name said it now seems almost certain that delegates in a half dozen states will be ready for this drastic action if some unforeseen compromise is not reached in the battle over civil rights.

Time On Air Demanded

These legislators said some delegations may be sent to the July Philadelphia meeting with explicit instructions to walk out if the party adopts a plank for enforced changes in race relations and picks Mr. Truman to head the ticket.

Meanwhile, 21 Dixie senators won from the Mutual Broadcasting system a promise of network facilities to broadcast their arguments on civil rights.

Headed by Senator Russell (D-Ga), they had demanded time on the air equal to that taken for a dramatization of the report of President Truman's commission on civil rights.

Network Available

Today, Robert Swezey, MBS general manager, telegraphed Russell "we will be glad to make network facilities available to your group for the presentation of its views on the civil rights issue."

Senator McClellan (D-Ark), who already has been chosen as a delegate to the convention, would not comment on the take-a-walk reports.

But he told a reporter that the Arkansas delegation of 20 "will be ready for anything that happens."

McClellan has said publicly that President Truman can't win in November.

Report To Be Made

The four governors who sat down with McGrath will report on the conference to their southern colleagues at a meeting here next Saturday.

Before that time, McGrath is expected to discuss the southern rebellion informally with members of his newly-named executive committee. They will meet here at mid-week to go over plans for the Philadelphia convention.

The protesting 21 already have laid tentative plans for a filibuster against any of the civil rights measures that may be brought up.

Meanwhile, the name of President Truman was entered as a Democratic candidate for President in the April 27 Pennsylvania primary, it was reported from Harrisburg, Pa.

J. Warren Mickle, Democratic state chairman of Pennsylvania personally filed petitions from 67 counties to place the President's name on the ballots. Under Pennsylvania law a candidate may be entered into the presidential preference primary without personally signing the petition.

Today was the last day to regis-

Virginia Action Upheld

Another development came from Richmond, Va. The Democratic state central committee today condemned President Truman's civil rights proposals and requested that funds be withheld from the national committee. It commended Governor Tuck of Virginia for his "courageous stand" against the Truman proposals.

The strongly-worded resolution adopted by unanimous vote of the committee deplored what it termed the "patent effort on the part

TO OPPOSE BESTWICK

W. H. Rodgers Files Name In Race For Mayor Here

W. H. RODGERS, former Lubbock city manager, filed Saturday as a candidate for mayor in the city election of Tuesday, April 6.

He thus became the opponent of the incumbent mayor, C. A. Bestwick, who filed his candidacy for a second two-year term Friday. E. K. Hufstedler, jr., farm implement dealer, and Clarence Whiteside, laundry operator, filed for places on the City commission at the same time.

Since no other filings had been received by Miss Lavenia Williams, City secretary, when the deadline passed at midnight last night, the names of Hufstedler and Whiteside will appear on the printed ballot as unopposed candidates. If opposition should materialize, it must be of the write-in type.

W. H. RODGERS

Claimed Urged To Run

Hufstedler and Whiteside are seeking the places from which Commissioners Fred Childress and J. Ray Dickey are to retire.

Rodgers said he entered the race "at the urging of many friends who said they would file my name if I failed to do so."

He added that he became a candidate 'solely because of my desire to make Lubbock a better place in which to live and not out of any bitterness because of events of the past."

His use of the term, "bitterness," was in reference to his removal as City manager in August, 1942, as the climax to disagreements with the City commission over matters of policy and as result of prolonged internal friction within the City hall.

Rodgers emphasized he is "not running on any ticket", and he pledged "full cooperation with anyone and everyone who seeks to serve the welfare and best interest of the city."

W. B. Price is the only present member of the commission who was in office at the time of Rodgers' removal. The late Carl Slaton was mayor at the time.

Born in Alabama in 1885, Rodgers moved to Bell county, Texas, in 1898. He came to Lubbock in 1925 and was employed by the city for the first time in 1927 as a warehouse clerk. The following year he was appointed City secretary and was made City manager in 1932.

"I believe my experience gained during my long connection with the city qualifies me to serve the people of Lubbock as mayor," he asserted.

Since leaving the City manager's office, Rodgers has operated Buffalo Lakes, which he built in 1938 and 1939. He and Mrs. Rodgers reside at 2108 Fifteenth street.

Building Sets More Records

Residence building continued to set the pace for 1948 construction in Lubbock last week with the issuance or authorization of permits for 29 dwellings costing $204,137 by City Building Inspector Lloyd Ross. Seven of the permits, for residences costing a total of $76,600, were approved on Saturday, alone.

They increased to 214 the number of such permits issued this year, with a reported value totaling $1,233,421. Both figures set all-time records. Previous records were 116 residences valued at $637,338 during the corresponding period last year.

Permits Are Listed

Permits approved Saturday included one to Noble James, owner, and E. R. Little, contractor, for a one-story brick veneer residence costing $19,000 at 1718 Thirty-second street. Little also was listed as contractor for a dwelling costing $10,600 to be built at 3212 Twenty-seventh for L. Edwin Smith.

Permits were issued to C. R. Ridgway, owner and contractor, for two dwellings costing $9,000 each at 3306 and 3308 Thirty-third and one costing $12,500 at 3107 Thirty-second. The other permits were obtained by R. E.

Six Feared Trapped In Plant Explosion

WALTHAM, Mass., March 6 (AP)—Fire and explosion wrecked a plastics plant tonight as shifts were changing and Fire Chief V. A. Neal said he believed six to ten workers were trapped.

Neal's figures revised downward his earlier estimate that as many as 34 persons perished.

The fire chief at first reported that only one of some 35 employes in the plant escaped, that the other 34 were "presumed dead."

Already there were 15 injured at Newton-Wellesley hospital and five at Waltham hospital. Both counts were made hastily.

The blast, heard for miles surrounding the plant, occurred about 11:15 p. m., as the night shift of 30 workmen were being relieved by an incoming crew of the same size.

Three Powers Map Controls

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 6.—The United States, Britain and France announced agreement tonight on future international control of the Ruhr and a federalized form of government for western Germany.

The three western powers disclosed their aims in a communique which assigned western Germany a major role in the Marshall plan for European recovery. France has been suspicious that German recovery would endanger her security.

The communique wrapped up probably the greatest number of decisions reached at a major conference since the war's end.

Compromises Affected

It was a statement of obvious compromise and conciliation between the three powers and contained some important incentives of the German people to work for "close association" with the western world.

No hard agreement was reached upon merger of the French occupation zone with the United States-British zones. However, responsible officials said desicions reached at the conference here will lead to that objective. In all likelihood a new attempt in that direction will be made in April.

As the conference recessed until next month, Lewis Douglas, U. S. Ambassador to Britain and chief of the American delegation, summed up its work this way:

Soviets Not Included

"Extraordinarily fruitful and successful. Within the past 10 days more progress has been made than in the preceding three years."

Left up in the air was the question of Russian participation in the proposed international control of the Ruhr. Russia has advocated four-power rule of the valley. It was agreed that Germany would participate, however.

The Ruhr agreement was described in general terms. Specific recommendations were not disclosed. These will be submitted first to the governments concerned, France has asked for full international control and ownership of the indistrial valley's mines and mills. The communique did not say whether German ownership of the area's mines and factories would continue.

Purpose of international control, the communique said, would

Lubbock Center For Guard Setup

Announcement of the designation of Lubbock as regimental headquarters for the South Plains-Panhandle district of the newly re-activated Texas State guard was received here Saturday from Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, adjutant general of Texas.

He also announced the appointment of Walter F. Smith, public information officer for the West Texas area of the National Guard, as regimental commander with the rank of colonel.

Plainview, Amarillo and Childress were designated as headquarters for the battalions which will have their command in Lubbock.

One Of 12 State Districts

The South Plains-Panhandle district, which embraces 49 counties, is one of 12 into which Texas has been divided under a legislative authorization given last year for re-activation of the guard, Berry reported. Each regiment is to consist of 1,085 officers and enlisted men.

The first task, Smith said, will be to complete the commissioned personnels for the regiment and the battalions. Recruiting of enlisted men then will begin, probably during the late spring, he added.

Regimental officers already appointed and their rank, he announced, include:

Charles A. Still, lieutenant colonel, executive; H. Klaus, major,

Czechs To Seek Western Trade

PRAGUE, March 6 (AP)—Foreign Trade Minister Antonin Gregor expressed the hope today that Czechoslovakia could continue to do business with western nations.

The Communist minister told a news conference that Czechoslovakia planned to step up her exports to 48 per cent with the eastern or "planned-economy" countries and to get the rest of her trade elsewhere. He defined western nations as those lacking a planned economy regardless of their actual geographic location.

Ready To Start Talks

Gregor said his country — now under a Communist - controlled government—was ready to start trade negotiations at any time with Britain. He announced new trade agreements are underway with Norway and Belgium and said agreements with France and Switzerland have been temporarily extended.

Both the minister and his chief expert, Evzen Loebl, said Czechoslovakia would try to correct unfavorable trade balances by increasing exports rather than by reducing imports.

Gregor said Czechoslovakia will nationalize her foreign trade but will not devalue currency to set up a special trade dollar value.

Foreign import and export agents would be unaffected by the new law, the minister said, but they probably would have to deal

CHICAGO, March 6 (AP)—Police tonight reported that a bomb had been tossed from an automobile into the south side Fernwood housing project, scene of several previous race disorders.

They said there were no known injuries but that 15 windows of houses in the barracks-like project had been shattered.

Last August, 1,000 policemen patrolled the project for several days after a series of rock-throwing protests against negro tenants. It is located at 105th street and Emerald avenue in predominately white section.

36-NATION WHEAT PACT SIGNED

'Biggest International Deal In History' Awaits Congress' Okay

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 6 — The United States today signed a 36-nation wheat agreement fixing a $2 price ceiling for the next five years on exports from this country, Canada and Australia.

Congress still must approve this "biggest intergovernmental deal in history"—a giant, many-sided contract to buy and sell 500,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour annually at stable prices.

A fight from wheat state legislators is expected, although the pact also puts an international "floor" under wheat prices to keep them from collapsing when the predicted world surplus appears.

Delegates to the International Wheat council, in full session here, penned their signatures to the accord and acclaimed their work as a climax to "years of effort to stabilize the world wheat market by international agreement."

Notably absent were Russia and Argentina, big wheat exporters. Their refusal to join weakens one immediate aim of the pact — to hold down prices for the dollar-starved countries of Europe and elsewhere.

The $2 a bushel top is about 50

Truman Hopes He Gets Another Invitation To Press Dinner

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—President Truman was a guest tonight at the annual dinner of the White House Correspondents association and said he hoped "you'll invite me back next year."

But to newspapermen and their guests who were well aware that would be after the end of his term, he quickly added with a grin:

"Let my daughter be the guest of honor and let me sing."

Margaret Truman was a surprise addition to the entertainment program. She sang three numbers.

The hundreds of guests applauded long and loudly after each.

IMPEACHMENTS ARE HINTED

Demands Renewed For Loyalty Records On Atomic Scientist

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The uproar over the case of Dr. Edward U. Condon brought a new attempt today to smoke out FBI loyalty records. And Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) said Congress might have to impeach some "top flight bureaucrats."

Condon is director of the National Bureau of Standards. A House un-American subcommittee accused him last Monday of associating with suspected Russian spies. It also declared him to be "one of the weakest links" in the nation's atomic security.

But Condon said the country needn't worry — "I'm absolutely reliable."

The day's developments:

1. Rep. Nixon (R-Calif) wired Secretary of Commerce Harriman and Attorney General Clark urging the release of a loyalty report on Condon made last May by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

2. Rankin, a member of the un-American Activities committee, said in a statement that President Truman should fire Harriman or order him to produce for the committee the records in the Condon case. Harriman has declined to do

POPULAR VOTE PROPOSAL PUSHED

Gossett Sees Quick Action On Change In Election Procedure

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—Rep. Gossett (D-Tex) predicted today that the House Judiciary committee will act quickly on his proposal to change the manner of electing the president and vice president.

The Texan's resolution proposing a constitutional amendment was approved yesterday by a Judiciary subcommittee. It would split the electoral vote of the states among the various candidates in proportion to the percentage of popular vote each received.

A constitutional amendment has to be approved by both branches of Congress and ratified by at least 36 states before becoming effective. So Gossett's proposal is just beyond the starting line.

Minority Power Hit

If finally written into the nation's basic charter, it would abolish the present system of block voting by states in the electoral college.

For example, in a state now having 12 electoral votes, the candidate receiving the largest popular vote gets all 12 votes. Under the Gossett proposal, if one candidate received 75 per cent of the vote he would receive only 75 per cent—or nine—of the electoral votes. The candidate receiving the remaining 25 per cent of the popular vote would get the other 3 electoral votes.

The effect of the proposal, members of the subcommittee explained, would be to nullify the "balance of power" now held by third parties or organized minorities in close states and so give some representation in the electoral college to the supporters of candidates who didn't have a plurality in a given state.

Effect Is Explained

"The proposed amendment," Gossett said in a statement, "would remove the overpowering incentive in the present system to coddle and corrupt organized minority groups in the pivotal states. Campaigns no longer would become sectional and the general welfare would become a party's paramount interest."

Gossett said that under the present system many voters do not actually have a chance to influence the electoral college vote for the man of their choice. For example, in the South, all the electoral votes usually go to the Democratic candidate, although the Republican ticket may be supported by a considerable number of individual voters.

Deafened Now Hear Whispers 5 Feet Away

Tests by the American Medical Association's Council on Physical Medicine show that science has now enabled deafened people to hear faint sounds, to easily understand whispers from 5 feet away, aided by a tiny hearing device so light you hardly know you are wearing it. With it thousands now enjoy music, sermons and friendly companionship. Finger tip controls let you adjust it instantly to changing sound conditions. No separate battery pack, wires or harness bulge to weigh you down. She has been acting postmaster here since her husband, Nathan Robinson, retired about a year ago. Poage said Mrs. Robinson has been indorsed by virtually all employes in the Temple postoffice. Drive Against Sex Offenders Planned

AUSTIN, March 6. (AP)—A parent-teacher group was mapping plans here today for a possible statewide campaign to tighten state and city laws to prevent sex offenses against children.

Sixty members of the city council of the Parent-Teachers association yesterday protested release to the Veterans administration of a 30-year-old man arrested here for molesting six school girls.

City officials told them the man must be adjudged insane before he could be locked up.

Twenty-eight offenses against school children have been reported here since Jan. 1.

The group began making plans for a study of laws dealing with sex offenses against children, suggesting a statewide campaign may follow.

The twins were born at Washington, Ark., March 6, 1867. They came to Bonham in 1874. George Inglish has been with The Stamford Leader for many years.

New Buildings Set At Colleges

AUSTIN, March 6 (AP)—Construction work at four state teachers colleges was financed today when their board of regents sold $734,000 in building bonds.

Largest sale was a $300,000 issue for North Texas State Teachers college at Denton.

These bonds will finance three new buildings—a student union, journalism and press building, and a gymnasium. The contract went to R. J. Edwards and Co., of Oklahoma City on a low bid of 3.91 percent, with allowance for refunding after 1952. The bonds are scheduled for retirement in 20 years.

Others Plan Projects

Sale of $175,000 in bonds will finance a student union building and 30 cottages on the campus for Sul Ross Teachers college at Alpine. This issue was sold to Emerson-Roche of San Antonio.

Construction of a student union and boys dormitory at Stephen F. Austin State Teachers college at Nacogdoches will be financed through sale of $225,000 in bonds to Emerson-Roche. This company also bought $34,000 in bonds for stadium expansion at Southwest Texas State Teachers college at San Marcos.

A $750,000 issue by East Texas State Teachers college at Commerce received no bid.

Junior Fat Stock Show Sale Plans To Be Set Thursday

HOMER HUNT

Plans for the auction sale which will be the feature of the South Plains Junior Fat Stock show at the fairgrounds here March 22-24 will be made at a meeting of the show finance committee at 8:30 a. m. Thursday in the Hilton hotel, Homer Hunt, chairman, announced Saturday.

It will be the job of the nearly 200 members of the committee, Harvey said, to solicit pledges which will guarantee the payment of premiums above market prices on calves, pigs and lambs exhibited and sold during the approaching show.

Premiums To Be Generous

Show officials predicted the total of premiums will be at least $2,500, increasing the value of the show to about $3,500 to the 4H club and FFA exhibitors from 26 counties of the South Plains and Eastern New Mexico. The posted cash awards exceed $800.

At all of the 14 annual shows in the past, officials said, premiums of at least a few cents above the prevailing markets have been paid on all animals moved through the auction ring. Championship animals invariably have brought very substantial premiums.

Officials predicted the buyers will include many owners of frozen food lockers, who have been taking an increasingly active part in the auctions of the last few shows. Those wishing to buy were invited by officials to notify the chamber of commerce, telephone 4666.

Painting The Town Red Is No Mere Phrase For A Good Time

LA PORTE, March 6 (U.P.)—Painting the town red was no mere phrase to describe a good time in La Porte today because it actually happened.

La Porte citizens were plenty sore because two teen-age boys used $2 worth of red paint to cause $2,000 worth of damage by smearing the paint over seven homes, eight cars, the Masonic hall and the library.

The two 13-year-old boys were traced by police who found their clothes and faces still sticky with red paint.

District Judge Wilmer Hunt of Houston said he would postpone a decision in the case for two weeks.

Clair Byerly of Malvern, Pa., father of three children, witnessed the accident. He hurried to offer help, but was electrocuted when he tried to open the car door.

SLATON, March 6 (Special)—Haskell Cooper, 40, of Tatum, N. M., and resident of Slaton for about 32 years, died suddenly in Lovington, N. M., at 10 o'clock Friday morning, apparently from a heart attack, Williams Funeral home here reported.

Funeral services will be held for Cooper at Tatum Sunday morning and the body carried overland to Slaton immediately afterward. Burial will follow in Englewood cemetery in Slaton under direction of Williams Funeral home.

Pallbearers for the Slaton funeral will be Roscoe Mercer, Henry Clay Maxey, Henry Jagman, Bob McCastin, Travis Meaton and Butch Hillen.

El Paso Gas Company Seeks Approval Of New Pipe Line

WASHINGTON, March 6 (U.P.)—The Federal Power commission said today the El Paso, Tex., Natural Gas co. has requested permission to build a $81,101,200 pipeline project to increase natural gas supply in California.

The pipelines, designed to carry an additional 300,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day, would be completed by November, 1950, or "in any event" not later than January, 1951, according to the company proposals.

The present application, which is a substitute for a previous one, includes plans for a pipeline from Lea county, N. M., to a point near Blythe, Cal., and a second line from San Juan county, N. M., to the vicinity of Needles, Cal.

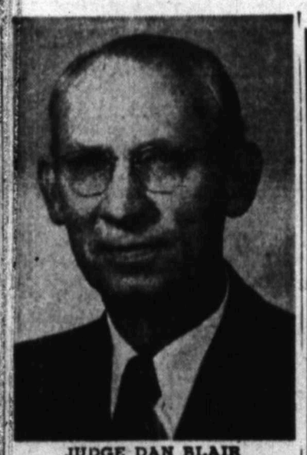

The gas would be used to serve San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley and other communities.

Vets Break Up Demonstration Against Holding Alleged Reds

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 6 (AP)—A scheduled one-hour picketing demonstration against detention of four alleged Communists at Ellis island was broken up today by a group of veterans, including American Legionaires.

Less than a dozen pickets carrying placards were marching in front of the federal building in downtown Syracuse. They deserted their post after being jostled by the veterans, who reported at the scene about 200 strong.

The demonstration was sponsored by the Onondaga county American Labor party and the Progressive Citizens of America.

Purchase Of An Airplane For Tech Flying Club Is Planned

Negotiations have been completed for the purchase of an airplane for the Flying T's, recently organized flying club at Texas Technological college, according to an announcement Saturday by Charles Yates, president.

Present membership of the club is limited to 30, but plans are to expand considerably as soon as possible, he said. Many of the members already hold pilot ratings and others aspire to them, he added.

The plane is to be bought so as to provide flying experience and instruction at a minimum of expense, Yates said. Jack C. Givens handles publicity for the club.

Cadillac
PRESENTS
THE New STANDARD OF THE WORLD!

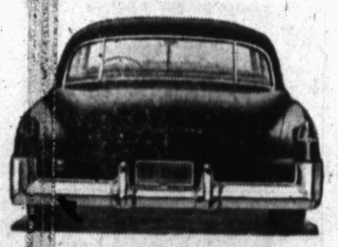

White Sidewall Tires available at additional cost.

Today, the world has a new standard by which to measure motor cars. For Cadillac has taken a great stride forward—one of the greatest, perhaps, in its entire history of automotive pioneering. As is always the case when a new Cadillac is introduced, the advancement embraces every phase of automotive goodness. The exterior appearance is wholly new, and represents the soundest principles developed in years of research. Interior design and finish are a complete departure, and add immeasurably to comfort, beauty and convenience. Performance is finer in every way, for the great Cadillac chassis and engine have been thoroughly refined. And vital improvements in factory equipment have raised even Cadillac's high standards of manufacturing. In fact, all the attributes which have contributed to Cadillac's reputation as the world's premier motor car have been made more pronounced. Regardless of the price class from which you expect to select your next car, you are cordially invited to view the new Cadillac—now on display in our showrooms. When the standard of the automotive world has been so decidedly raised, it should be of interest to everyone.

Cadillac's basic characteristics of design are fully apparent in the front view of the 1948 model. Bumper and grille are even more massive. The symbolic V ornament and crest have been pleasingly refined to harmonize with new, low hood lines.

Viewed from the rear, the 1948 Cadillac shows a complete departure in design. The full-width rear window improves appearance and safety. Smart "rudder-type" fenders, protected by sturdy bumper uprights, give an appropriate touch of fleetness. Note the wide, low rear deck.

CURB OF SECRET ORDER SOUGHT

Georgia Governor Takes Crack At Hooded Klan Intimidation

ATLANTA, March 6 (AP)—Governor M. E. Thompson in a strong stand against the Ku Klux Klan today called for laws to end its "meetings of intimidation."

The Georgia governor issued a statement accusing the Klan of delivering the South "into the hands of our enemies," and accused the hooded secret order of aiding Communists and "race baiters."

His denunciation of the Klan was coupled with a restatement of his opposition to proposed federal anti-lynch laws.

Klan Held Demonstrations

The governor referred to recent election-eve demonstrations by the Klan in two east-central Georgia counties where negroes were registered to vote, and declared:

"While our senators and congressmen tell the world that we have enough laws and will enforce them, the Ku Klux Klan by such meetings cut the ground from beneath their feet."

At both rallies, Klan leaders spoke against President Truman's proposed civil right program and declared themselves for "white supremacy."

Thompson characterized the Klan "type of mind" as anti-southern and said the Klan itself was giving aid to the Communists, the race baiters and the radical organizations which are pushing the legislation we deem unwise and unnecessary."

Four Prisoners Transferred

He appealed to "the ministers and good people of our state to see to it that the legislature gives us laws which will permit our courts to prevent such harmful actions and deeds."

In support of his contention that a federal anti-lynch legislation is unnecessary, Thompson last night ordered four prisoners transferred from the state penitentiary to local authorities.

He said he made the move to forestall possible criticism that Georgia was unable to protect its prisoners unless they were kept in the state stronghold.

He directed that the four, arrested in connection with the slaying of a state police agent, be given a guard sufficient only to prevent their escape, and moved openly to Swainsboro, the scene of the slaying.

"There is no fear of mob violence," the governor said.

Auto Industry Tops 100,000 For Week

DETROIT, March 6 (AP)—The car industry topped the 100,000 units production mark again this week.

It was the third consecutive week of high volume output, but it showed a decline from the preceding week. Because most of the factories ate deeply into their inventories some industry chroniclers voiced doubt the March output will exceed half a million units as had been expected.

Kaiser-Frazer's assembly lines remained idle throughout the week as plans were completed to cutback to a one shift operation in the big Willow Run plant. Ford began tapering off its output in preparing for a change-over in its Ford model.

The Ford lines probably will be entirely out of production next month cutting some 13,000 units a week from the industry's total output.

Classes In Country Dancing To Be Held At Tech This Week

Jimmy Clossin, widely known cowboy square dance instructor from El Paso, will be on Texas Technological college campus to conduct a country dance school Monday through Friday in the gymnasium.

Clossin's "calls" have been heard on Tech campus each of the last eight years.

He will direct one morning class daily, from 9 to 10 a. m. Monday through Friday, and two night classes, one from 7 to 8:15 p. m. for beginners and another from 8:30 to 9:45 p. m. for advanced dancers.

The school, sponsored by the Tech women's physical education department, the Women's Recreational association and the Major-Minor club, is open to anyone interested in the square dance, it was announced.

Tickets are on sale in the women's physical education office in the Tech gymnasium. The advance ticket sales indicate the largest crowd ever to attend a Texas Tech country dance school, it was announced Saturday. Ticket price is $2, entitling a person to attend 10 lessons, including one day and one night class each day.

Those not buying tickets before Monday night may buy one at the door, it was stated.

Dancers were invited to don their boots, jeans or long dresses, if they like.

Use Of Brownsville Airport For Mexican Flag Planes Asked

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—Three Brownsville, Tex., men have asked the Civil Aeronautics board to let Mexican flag line airplanes land at the Rio Grande valley international airport there.

The men, who conferred with Commissioner Josh Lee, were Leo Huth, city manager; Hawkins White, president of the Rio Grande Valley Flying association, and Les Hables, Civil Aeronautics administration inspector.

Huth said at least five Mexican airlines want to fly into Brownsville, but were not permitted to land in this country. The proposed stop would provide American air travellers going to numerous interior Mexican points with a service not now available, he added.

The Texans, who left for home last night after the meeting, said Lee expressed interest but made no commitments.

In 1909, one of the deterrents to automobile ownership was the thought that every owner would have to keep his car in a costly "automobile house" complete with repair facilities, drainage pit, washing apparatus and turntable.

Prisoner Found With His Wrists Slashed

CLEBURNE, March 6. (AP) — While an agent of the Texas prison system waited to take him to the penitentiary, Bobby Howard, 22, his wrists slashed, was found in his county jail cell here today.

Jailer Joe Taft said he found Howard unconscious, in a pool of blood. The prisoner was given treatment at a Cleburne clinic and afterwards was brought back to the jail. The prison bus had left without him.

Howard recently was sentenced at Waco to 25 years in prison for armed robbery. He also is under sentence of five years for auto theft and two years for perjury.

Taft said a few minutes before he found Howard, he called to the prisoner to get ready for transfer to the penitentiary. Taft started that Howard had been allowed to use a safety razor in his cell.

INFLATION NOTE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (U.P.)—A 12-year-old girl wrote relatives here, from Shanghai, where she lived with her missionary parents, that pickpockets had recently taken $600,000 from her pocket. "And that," she complained, "was a whole week's allowance."

General Ent, Bombing Raid Leader, Dies After Illness

DENVER, March 6 (AP)—Major Gen. Uzal G. Ent, 47, leader of the U. S. bombing raid on the Ploesti oil fields and noted aviation planner, died last night at Fitzsimons General hospital after a long illness.

Ent was commander of the second Air Force at Colorado Springs when he retired in 1946 for disability. He was commanding general of the Ninth Bomber command of the Ninth Air force which raided the Romanian air fields in the summer of 1943.

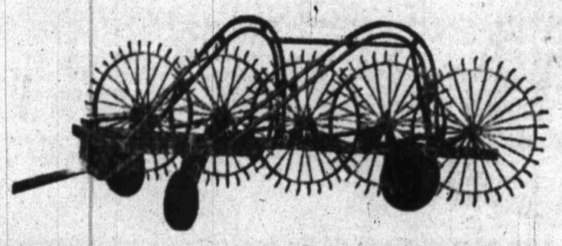

Ent's illness developed from injuries suffered in 1944 when a propeller on a plane shattered and flew into the cockpit striking him in the back. The accident occurred over Fort Worth, Tex.

Leading Backer Says MacArthur Will Accept Nomination By GOP

MILWAUKEE, March 6 (U.P.) —Gen. Douglas MacArthur will announce before the April 6 Wisconsin primaries that he is willing to accept the Republican presidential nomination, his leading supporter predicted today.

Lansing Hoyt, acting national chairman of the MacArthur-for-President clubs said "we are satisfied that there will be a statement before April 6 that the general will accept the Republican nomination if it is offered to him."

First Major State

Wisconsin is the first major state in which voters will express their preference for party nominees to be named by the national conventions.

The deadline for candidates to enter the race for the state's 27 seats at the GOP national convention closed at 5 p. m. last night. Of 84 candidates for the delegates' seats, 28 were pledged to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, 27 to former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, 27 to MacArthur, and one to Sen. Arthur Vandenburg of Michigan. One candidate is running on an uninstructed basis.

Runs His Own Show

Hoyt refused to say whether he had received any word from MacArthur to back up his prediction.

"MacArthur likes to run his own show," he said. "I don't want to put any words in his mouth."

MacArthur rooters in Wisconsin, however, have intimated that MacArthur would like to be drafted as the Republican candidate. They appear reluctant to admit it candidly, however.

Friend Believes That Hitler Loved His Own Niece

REGENSBURG, Germany, Mar. 6 (AP)—Was Hitler in love with his own niece?

"Well, at least he was very jealous of her—enough that he broke up her engagement to marry me," says Emil Maurice, who was once Hitler's close friend and personal chauffeur.

Now Maurice is awaiting trial by a German denazification court.

Hitler's niece, pretty Angelica Raubal, committed suicide in 1931 after three years of living in what she called "Uncle Adolf's golden cage."

Maurice is not sure, but he things Hitler's interest in Angelica was "probably platonic." "Hitler wasn't having affairs with women in those days," he says.

The brunette daughter of Hitler's half-sister came to Munich in 1928 to live with "Uncle Adolf" and attend the university there.

"I didn't know the fuehrer was interested in her until he found out she and I were engaged to be married," said Maurice. Then, according to Maurice, Hitler ordered the girl to break off the engagement, threatening to quit supporting her and her mother if she did not. She yielded.

Maurice quarreled with Hitler about his interference. But Hitler would not release Maurice from his employ or pay him his back wages. So Maurice sued Hitler and collected about $350 in 1928.

Maurice returned to watchmaking in Munich until Hitler made up with him in 1933, after becoming chancellor of Germany.

During the war, Maurice served in the airforce until his medical discharge in 1942.

Maurice still thinks Hitler "was a very good man at heart, but he was misled by evil advisors."

Compromise Reached In Suit For Property On Avenue A

Compromise has been announced in the condemnation action of State against Bertha Brown and her husband J. C. Brown.

The terms: Payment by the condemning authority of $8,500, and a recognition of the rights of the Browns to remove improvements from the strip condemned in 3000-block Ave. A by March 26.

The county commissioners court, to confirm the compromise, would pass an order to that effect and place it on minutes of the court.

Swimming Pool Operators Ask Expanded Training Programs

AUSTIN, March 6 (AP) — Texas swimming pool operators today asked the Red Cross and the State Health department to help expand training programs for operators and life guards.

They also asked more research in testing of swimming pool water. The Beach and Pool association voted to meet in Temple for its March 1949 session and named these officers:

Joe Prowse, Austin, president; W. E. Routh, Temple, vice-president; V. M. Ehlers, Austin, secretary; A. C. Hamilton, Lubbock, treasurer.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health. Adv

DESIGN FOR NEW LUBBOCK BANK—Architect's sketch above gives a perspective of the new American State Bank to be located in Lubbock, charter for which was approved last week by the state banking board. The new bank will be located on a site, 60 by 180 feet, at 1401 Ave. Q. The bank site is on property optioned from the Lubbock Independent school board for purchase at $70,000. Note the heavy treatment of glass in the new and modern design for the building. Plans include drive-in car windows and a large parking area. James Atcheson is architect for the new bank. It will begin operation about June 1 with Jack Payne and J. W. Langston as active officers. Other officers and members of the staff will be announced later. Directors of the new bank, which will have a total capital structure of $250,000, are: Earl B. Collins, Joe N. Nislar, E. K. Hufstedler, jr., Harold E. Humphries, Robert E. Maxey, Homer G. Maxey, Payne and Langston.

Urgent Need For Oil Products Emphasized

WICHITA FALLS, March 6 (AP) —B. B. Jennings, president of Socony-Vacuum Oil company, said tonight the petroleum industry must do everything possible to increase the supply of oil products, despite higher costs for new facilities and inadequate reserve funds.

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the North Texas Oil and Gas association, Jennings said that the demand for petroleum products has grown about four per cent annually for years and that the industry adapted itself to that rate of growth.

"Now," he said, "oil burners, diesel locomotives, farm machinery, airplanes and automobiles have caused us to increase supply by 39 per cent since 1941, and the rate of growth in 1947 appears to have been about 11 per cent per year.

"In short, we are being told by our customers: 'We like oil better than other fuels, we are going to travel more in our automobiles on those new streamliners and airplanes, so therefore, you must expand twice as fast as you used to. Sure, it may cost you two or three times as much to drill an oil well or build a refinery, but that is your problem, and we expect you to do all of this and furnish us products at reasonable prices, just as you always have.

"I think there is a lot in what the public wants us to do and I think, too, that it is up to us to make good. On the other hand, the impossible takes a little time to do, and certainly it is not too much to ask our customers to give us that time."

Port Arthur Man Dies While Standing In Railway Terminal

DALLAS, March 6. (U.P.)— A 69-year-old Port Arthur man died unexpectedly today while standing in the lobby of the union railway terminal.

He was identified as John Ernest Dixon of Port Arthur, a traveling salesman for the Gulf Oil company.

Dixon's wife is employed by an electrical appliance company in Dallas.

No train ticket was found on the man's clothing, according to officers who said the death apparently was caused by a heart attack.

The body was taken to Marrs-Munday-Quill funeral home.

ROBINS OUT OF SEASON

WENATCHIE, Wash. (U.P.)—Mrs. W. A. Little reports a flock of 1,000 chirping, plump and well-fed robins returned to the banks of the Columbia River near her home four miles up-river from here in mid-winter. She said the robins visited the same spot at the same time last year.

Plan To Aid Navajo Indians Is Mapped

GALLUP, N. M., March 6 (AP)—Chambers of commerce in the Navajo country of western New Mexico and northern Arizona are going to offer their own plan for industrialization of the Navajo reservation.

Representatives of seven chambers will meet here Tuesday night to lay ground work for the proposal. They are expected to engage an outstanding businessman or industrialist to draw the program.

The Interior department has approved a plan for the industrialization. It was drawn by Max M. Drefkoff, retired furniture-maker from Warsaw, Ind.

The Drefkoff plan places sharp limitations on the Indian trader.

Charles Williams of Gallup heads a special committee to study industrialization problems. He said Drefkoff's plan does not allow the trader sufficient security to encourage capital outlays for machinery that would give the Navajos work.

Lubbock County Red Cross Drive Total Surpasses $8,000 Mark

Lubbock county's Red Cross fund drive had netted approximately $8,100 by the end of the week, almost a third of the county's quota of $25,000. Ernest St. Clair, jr., general campaign chairman, reported last night.

A report from workers in the Cooper community stated that they hoped to wind up their part of the drive there by about March 13. Members of the team working there are Mrs. Melba Thompson, Mrs. A. B. Allen, Mrs. W. H. Watson, Mrs. W. B. Copeland, Mrs. L. R. Striker and George Hindman.

Meeting Set Monday

A meeting of the board of directors of the county Red Cross fund campaign will be held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon to hear a report on the progress of the drive thus far, St. Clair said.

He stated that local officers and workers of the Red Cross feel confident that the county quota will be reached on or before March 15. However, if the quota has not been reached at that time, the drive will continue until the $25,000 fund is reached, he added.

The Lubbock county Red Cross has already planned a budget of $26,000 this year, St. Clair said, a large part of which will go toward the establishment of the new blood bank in this area. The budget surpasses the $25,000 quota for the year, he said, but the Red Cross is drawing on a surplus established during the war years.

Better Garden Plans Drafted

A group of garden demonstrators who will participate in the Sears Roebuck & Co. foundation garden program met Saturday morning at the extension office, with Mrs. Dora McGehee, director of girls 4-H club work presiding.

The program, which is not a contest, is designed to promote better gardens and practices. Girls agree to plant their own gardens of one-eighth acre, with Sears Roebuck & Co. providing $2 on seed cost, 250 annual plants, 75 tomato plants and 25 pepper plants. Each girl participating signs an agreement to work her garden to the best of her ability and to consume, conserve or sell the products, therefore not wasting any. At end of the project, each is to submit a short summary listing amount produced and what was done with the produce.

Approximately 25 Lubbock county 4-H girls are expected to participate.

Names Are Given

Those present Saturday were Frances Eubank, Idalou; Margie Hays, Cooper; Luta Ann Altman, Mona Dell Goodpasture, Selita Mooney and Nancy Kabe, all of Frenship; Julia Colleps, Mary Ruth Redwine, Jimmie Redwine, Shirley Watkins, Betty Pace, Oleta Boozer and Patsy Perser, Shallowater, and Joy Issacs and Helen Jean Hays, New Deal. They signed agreements, selected variety of vegetables and discussed the program. Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent, discussed treatment of garden seed and gave other advice on gardening.

A committee composed of Doris Marie Prater, chairman, Shirley Watkins and Beverly Moore will buy seed and plants in amounts designated by the girls.

The garden demonstrators later will show results of work in their plots to the 4-H clubs of which they are members, giving details of their projects.

POSTOFFICE IS ROBBED

DODD CITY, Fannin County, Tex., March 6 (AP)—The postoffice here was robbed early today by safecrackers who obtained between $200 and $300 in cash. Stamps and money orders were not taken. Twelve pounds of bacon were taken from an adjoining store.

Drop In Cotton Prices Seen As Acreage Check This Year

AUSTIN, March 6 (AP) — The drop in cotton prices should restrain acreage, says Dr. A. B. Cox of the University of Texas.

The cotton marketing expert said this should further strengthen cotton's position. Another strengthening factor, he said, is that the United States cotton export price is "for the first time in a long time relatively lower than major foreign growths."

Dr. Cox said he thought it would be a grave "mistake" however, to think that the recent setback in the price of cotton and other major farm commodities as "the real postwar adjustment." This is yet to come, Dr. Cox believes.

U. S. Makes Plans To Send Paintings Back To Germany

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—The United States will send back to Germany next month 202 paintings, including many by the masters, which have been held here for safekeeping since 1945.

The pictures, said an Army announcement, are the property of the German government. It was established that none of them was among the large quantity of art objects looted from owners by the Nazis. Advancing American forces found them in 1945 stored underground in western Germany. The Germans had taken them from a Berlin museum as the final phase of the war began wrecking the city.

Famed Zavada Quadruplets Gain Weight, Hospital Says

LATROBE, Pa., March 6 (AP)—The Zavada quadruplets are gaining weight each day and "doing well" as they pass their third week of life.

Andrew and Barbara Zavada, the proud parents, come to the hospital two or three times a week to look at their famous babies. But they won't be able to take them home for several months, the doctors say.

"TYPICAL JUNIOR COWBOY" — Eleven-year-old Jim "Red" Nash of Amarillo, sits on the six-year-old black and white riding horse which was presented to him as winner of the most typical junior cowboy of the Panhandle contest sponsored by the Amarillo Globe-News publications and theater chain. "Red," freckled and red-headed, was one of twelve finalists in the contest. He also won a saddle.

Ingenuity Of Dope Addicts Is Claimed To Be Almost Endless

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 6 (AP)—Ever try to take a hypodermic injection with a toothbrush, a fountain pen, an automatic pencil or an eyedropper?

Well, these improvised syringes are among the contraband devices now in custody of the narcotic hospital, operated by the U. S. Public Health Service. They were surrendered by addicts entering the institution for cure.

Equipment Varied

A three-shelved cabinet contains hypodermic equipment ranging from ordinary drug store syringes to the roughest of homemade instruments designed to inject dope into the body. Included are elaborate kits holding syringes, spare needles and the "medicine" itself.

A prominent place in the display is commanded by what appears to be a simple wooden block. Manipulations reveal secret compartments for carrying syringe, needles and dope.

The hand-made syringes include one hollowed out of the tapering end of a toothbrush handle, connected at one end with an ordinary needle and at the other with an eyedropper bulb. An automatic pencil point became the needle of another after a vein had been opened to admit its entry. A pen point and rubber sac was used in the same way.

Ordinary bottle nipples and rubber-glove fingers were made into bulbs of other makeshift syringes.

Methods Are Shown

The display also includes examples of methods used in extremely rare cases to smuggle narcotics into the hospital. An alert guard detected a shoe containing a small tin box which was concealed in a hollowed-out heel. A vial of morphine hidden in a tube of toothpaste also was detected. One outsider attempted to mail morphine in a valentine to a prisoner-patient.

An amazingly accurate set of balance scales, handmade from bamboo and carried in a banjo-like bamboo case, was used to measure morphine doses before it was confiscated.

Narcotic agents have added to the exhibit with opium pipes and an opium lamp on which the dope was cooked before smoking.

Right-Of-Way Said Acquired

Acquisition of the last of the right-of-way needed to pave Avenue A from Seventeenth street southward to the planned traffic circle two miles south of the city limits was announced Saturday by Mayor C. A. Bestwick.

The last property needed was obtained from the Fort Worth & Denver railway at 7 cents a square foot, or a total of $6,813.66. The purchase was approved, the mayor said, after an investigation disclosed that similarly located property is valued at from 30 cents per square foot upward.

Paves Way For Contract

Approval of the agreement, city officials were advised, apparently clears the way for the letting of a contract by the state highway on this segment of Avenue A. Bids were opened late last month, but no award was made immediately.

On this particular unit of the work, officials explained, the city provides the right-of-way from Seventeenth street to the city limits at approximately Thirty-fourth street. The county also has secured right-of-way for the pavement between the city limits and the traffic circle.

Avenue A is one of the several thoroughfares embraced in a highway dispersal system which has been mapped for Lubbock and upon which considerable work has been completed. Negotiations are continuing, officials said, for the few remaining rights-of-way which still must be secured on A northward from Seventeenth to a point more than a mile north of the city limits.

Rayon is used in more types of fabrics than any other fiber. More than half the women's dresses manufactured yearly in the United States are made of fabrics that are all-rayon or part-rayon.

Easy on the eyes — and ears

Standing still, it has the eager look of a pointer scenting game, so swift and flowing are lines.

Sweeping by, it stands out unfailingly from the highway crowd, unmistakably a Buick and unquestionably the year's trimmest fashion plate.

But have you traveled in one of these tidy new beauties?

Have you seen for yourself how smooth and silent is its flow of power, how hushed and quiet is its ride?

This comes from many things. From Fireball power now Hi-Poised for throbless smoothness. From a Vibra-Shielded ride that is your ever-present protection against road-noise, body-drum and vibration build-up.

And it comes, in addition, from a brand-new development we call Sound-Sorber top lining.

It's a thick pad of feathery insulation much like that you use in your own home, and it goes into every closed model in our 1948 SUPER and ROADMASTER series.

So you ride in quiet as well as beauty when you travel in this style star.

You find it a great-hearted lovely that is soft of voice and gentle of manner — a delight to the traveling ear, the guiding hand and the passing eye.

United States Of Europe Gains Support Among Many Diplomats

(Editor's note: the proposal for a United States of Europe has been gaining ground rapidly. The capture of Czechoslovakia by communists and the crisis faced by Finland have quickened the steps in that direction as a means of halting the spread of communism. The situation is outlined in the following dispatch, one of a series of AP week-end background stories, by Glenn Williams of the London bureau staff.)

By GLENN WILLIAMS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, March 6—Some sort of a United States of Europe will be operating before the year is out, London diplomats believe

It may not be known by that name. It may cover considerably less than all of western Europe and it may fall considerably short of a European federal state which the name implies, but it probably will be in action.

Longtime Dream Of Statesmen

At first it probably will be a loose organization including Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg designed as a working model of a union meant to be strengthened and extended to all or most of Western Europe as an antidote for Communism.

Such a union has been the dream of some statesmen for 30 years or more. Failure now of the big powers to cooperate in peace, the west's fear of Communism and the increased need for joint action to keep people eating and working in war-battered nations are spurring on the planners.

Blueprints of the union's foundation are on the drawing boards at a Brussels meeting of diplomats from the five nations this weekend.

Exact Boundary Indefinite

Diplomatic sources feel sure the eventual size and authority of the Western European union will be clear before the U. S.-financed European recovery program ends in 1951.

They can only speculate what that size and authority will be.

There seems little doubt the five nations meeting at Brussels will sign at least general agreements for joint military action against any aggressor.

Words that float around the Brussels meeting call for an "economic, political and military" union. These words cover a lot of ground with vagueness.

Sovereignty Big Question

Does economic unity mean a customs union, a knocking down of tariff walls dividing the countries? If it does, how will it be made to work among nations whose foreign trade patterns vary so widely?

What will be the upshot of efforts at political union? "National sovereignty"—the national pride and authority of each nation—is the big obstacle here.

What will the military agreements call for? Will there be joint chiefs of state and standardization of such things as weapons and training, or just a simple agreement to help each other in war?

These are just a few suggestions of the problems.

Another problem is the extension of the union, and its strength. Some nations, notably Sweden and Switzerland, are well known to be against military aliances.

Peddy Launches Vote Campaign

TENEHA, March 6 (AP)—George Peddy, Houston attorney who polled 140,000 votes as a write-in candidate in 1922, today returned to this small East Texas community near where he was born to open his second campaign for the U. S. Senate.

"I seek election because I believe the six years ahead will be the most crucial six years in the history of our country," he said in an address prepared for delivery on the town square at noon.

"During that period," the deep-voiced attorney said, "vital decisions must be made at home and abroad if Democracy is to survive the assaults that will be made upon it."

He traced sources of many of the nation's current problems to decisions "innocently but unwisely sowed" at the Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam conferences with Stalin, and to the nation's unpreparedness of 1914 and 1939.

His platform remedies call for "aid to Europe along the lines laid down in the Marshall plan," maintenance of strong military power, establishment of "some form of military training for all our young men," and revival of "good old-fashioned states rights Democracy."

"I condemn those who make vain promises and hold out false hopes to the negro race in order to get their votes," the 55-year-old Peddy said.

He stated strong opposition to federal anti-lynching laws, and anti-poll tax bills. He endorsed Texas' fight for clear title to submerged tidelands, and sharply criticized the proposed fair employment practices bill.

Peddy in 1922 was named a senatorial candidate by anti-Ku Klux Klan Democrats, but the attorney general ruled his name could not go on the ballot in the November election. He then became a write-in candidate.

Students At Negro College In Alabama Again Snub Food

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 6 (AP)—For the second straight day, hundreds of students at the state negro teachers college here turned up their noses at meals offered in the school's dining hall.

Some students said the food was not very appetizing and there wasn't enough.

The school's top officials wouldn't comment on the situatioo to newspapermen, though the assistant manager of the cafeteria, C. A. Johnson said he had received no complaints.

Kilgore College Vets Join In Demand For State Bonus

KILGORE, March 6 (AP)—About 100 veteran enrollees at Kilgore college today had formed an organization which will seek a state bonus for service in World War II.

J. D. Davidson, Longview, spokesman for the group, said delegates will go to Austin later this month where "operation bonus" plans will be made.

Farmers' Support Of Wallace Is Doubted

DES MOINES, Ia., March 6 (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Clinton P. Anderson today predicted that Henry Wallace, third-party presidential candidate, will not poll a heavy farm vote because most farmers feel Wallace is "not the man we used to know."

Arriving here to address the Democratic Jackson day dinner tonight, Anderson said he did not expect Wallace's candidacy to have a serious effect on Democratic chances in the 1948 elections.

Anderson again warned that wheat prices may drop below parity if Congress does not abolish th law requiring that 150,000,000 bushels of wheat be held on reserve in this country.

He also emphasized his belief that farm support prices should be continued for the next two years at least.

Anderson declined to comment on whether he would accept the Democratic nomination for vice president if offered.

Oil Industry Commended For Public Relations Program

ODESSA, Tex., March 6 (AP)—The oil industry has made a "magnificent beginning" in its public relations program, Gerald Cullinan, president of the Texas institute of public relations, Dallas, told more than 800 members of the Permian basin chapter of the American Petroleum institute at a meeting here last night.

Cullinan commended the industry for the "way you have told the people of your region the true nature of your industry, the manner in which credit has been taken for the magnificent achievements of all segments of the oil industry in pubic service and the advancement of civilization, development of a public appreciation of the true value of this industry as it is now constituted and the growth of the realization that America is lucky to have this oil industry and to have it run by the men who are running it."

R. B. Saxe, chairman of this youngest and largest chapter in the nation, presided.

Long Hits Solon During Arugment

BATON ROUGE, La., March 6 (U.P.)—Gov.-designate Earl K. Long, brother of the late Huey (Kingfish), slapped a state senator-elect across the chest today and told him angrily "You're fired, right here and now."

The incident happened on the floor of the state house of representatives after a heated argument between Long and sen.-elect John O'Connor of New Orleans.

Their argument started after a meeting of the state central Democratic committee.

Comments Withheld

Long was heard by dozens of politicians to shout at O'Connor: "You, your brother and your father have been on the payroll all your life. You are fired, right here and now."

With that, Long slapped O'Connor across the chest with his open hand.

O'Connor was led away by a friend. As he left, he said: "It wasn't like this six months ago."

Afterwards, both Long and O'Connor refused to discuss their argument.

"No comment," O'Connor said.

"He's one of my too many drivers," Long said.

Balk-But-Don't-Bolt Pattern Is The Hope Of Democrats In Texas

AUSTIN, March 6 (AP)—A balk-but-don't bolt pattern for the May presidential convention is the current hope of Texas' Democratic leadership.

The powers-that-be would like to see the convention balk at instructing a delegation for President Truman. They want a delegation firmly instructed against federal civil rights legislation, but they do not want a bolt over either question.

Sentiments Endorsed

That became apparent as Gov. Beauford H. Jester, titular leader of the party, returned to Texas after his tideland-politics foray in Washington. He flatly endorsed the sentiments of Bob Calvert, state Democratic executive committee chairman who said he didn't think southern Democrats could gain anything by quitting the party.

Whether or not the middle-of-the road course can be followed remains to be seen. Anything can happen in a Democratic convention in Texas.

There were other top political developments during the week.

It was learned on good authority that the May 25 convention will definitely be held in Brownwood. The executive committee had formally selected the west Central Texas city, but some doubt had been expressed that it could accommodate the convention. Party leaders were assured definitely this week that it could.

McClendon Not Candidate

James W. McClendon, veteran chief justice of the important third court of civil appeals at Austin, announced he would not be a candidate for re-election.

"The character of personal campaign requisite to success would of necessity prevent in large measure performance of my court duties during the next five months —a period of especial importance in the work of the court," he said.

Democratic Minority Leader Sam Rayburn of Bonham announced his opposition to President Truman's civil rights program. This followed news that State Sen. Grover C. Morris of Greenville would oppose Rayburn for re-election. Morris last Monday said Rayburn had failed to speak out against certain parts of the program. Morris ran a good race against Rayburn in 1944.

Campaign Is Opened

George E. B. Peddy of Houston formally opened his campaign for the United States Senate with a rally at Tenaha, his old home town in East Texas.

Virgil E. Arnold, 56-year-old Houston lawyer who ran unsuccessfully for commissioner of agriculture in 1944, announced his candidacy for governor. He said the big-wigs have to go and the little-wigs must take over in Austin and Washington.

A heated congressional race looked along the lower Rio Grande. Phillip A. Kazen of Laredo announced he would be a candidate to succeed Rep. Milton West of Brownsville. Lloyd M. Bentsen, jr., Hidalgo county judge, is already in and others are about to get in.

Roy Cullen, millionaire Houston oil man, announced he would support W. Lee O'Daniel for the United States Senate if O'Daniel runs for re-election. He said he had always supported O'Daniel "because he talks good Americanism."

The Texas Council of Church Women endorsed President Truman's civil rights program. In Marshall, Mrs. George Starr Hart called this a violation of the principle of separation of church and state, and called a meeting to protest.

Fathers Of Former Lubbock Men Killed

George Stowers, 55, and A. A. Crow, 58, both of whom had sons who formerly lived in Lubbock, were killed instantly when struck by a Santa Fe passenger train at Friona about 6:30 p. m. Friday.

Mr. Crow's twin brother, E. E. Crow, and Mrs. E. E. Crow of Sudan and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Crow of N. Avenue H in Lubbock were en route to Mexico for a fishing trip when notified at Christoval of the accident. They returned to Lubbock Friday night and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crow left for Friona early Saturday. J. V. Crow was a cousin of the man killed in the accident.

Mr. Crow is survived by his wife; two sons, J. B. Crow of Hot Springs and Clyde F. Crow of Fort Worth, former Lubbock resident, one daughter, of Friona, and 11 brothers and sisters.

Mr. Stowers is survived by is wife and two sons, Floyd Stowers, resident of Lubbock before moving about two year sago, and Tolbert Stowers, both of Friona. Mrs. Floyd Stowers is a sister of Mrs. Bruce Craig of Lubbock.

Funeral arrangements were not learned here.

Governor Jester Is Urging All Citizens To Remember Red Cross

AUSTIN, March 6. (AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester is urging all citizens to remember the Red Cross.

He proclaimed March as Red Cross month, noting:

"During the past year expenditures and commitments by the Red Cross in Texas for disaster relief exceeded by almost one half million dollars the amount received by the national organization from the people of Texas during the 1947 campaign."

LUBBOCK COUNTY LEADS TOTAL

Ten Persons Killed Over Area In Traffic Mishaps In Month

Ten persons were killed and 49 injured in eight fatal and 26 personal injury mishaps on South Plains roads in February, Capt. E. L. Posey, commanding officer of the 21-county Lubbock district of the state highway patrol, announced Saturday.

That brought the South Plains fatality total, as of late Saturday afternoon, to 16 for the year.

In 40 other mishaps during the past month, a total of $43,205 in property damage was caused, Capt. Posey said.

Lubbock county led in fatalities for February, with six. One each was listed for Gaines, Hale, Howard and Martin counties.

Lubbock also led in number of persons injured, with 11. Lamb had nine; Hale, eight; Gaines, seven; Howard, six; Lynn, five; and Hockley, Martin and Terry, one each.

Counties that had reported accidents were Bailey, Borden, Crosby, Cochran, Dickens, Garza, Kent, Motley, and Yoakum.

Property damage in Lubbock alone totaled $13,180 in February it was reported.

Totals Are Given

Capt. Posey broke down figures on arrests and warnings over his district thus:

For careless driving: 47 persons arrested and 100 warned; failure to have operator's license 145 arrests; defective lights, four arrests and 205 warnings; drunkenness, 17 arrests; hit-run cases, two arrests; drunk driving, 21 arrests; miscellaneous offenses, 48 arrests and 187 warnings; muffler law violation, seven arrests and 66 warnings; parking on pavement, five arrests and 24 warnings; offenses involving lights, 7 arrests and 131 warnings; speeding, 31 arrests and 101 warnings; parked at night without flares, four arrests; miscellaneous non-hazard bus offenses, 11 arrests and 11 warnings.

Two persons were arrested for failure to submit accident reports. Two automobiles were recovered, and three persons were arrested on fugitive warrants.

Wheat Pact Signed

ents under the present U. S. price. Argentina has been getting upwards of $4.85 on exports to Europe. She declined to take part unless a broader pact was signed governing trucks, machinery and the other goods she must import.

The minimum, or "floor" price, is $1.50 a bushel in the first year, starting August 1, 1948. It drops by 10-cent steps each year to $1.10 in 1952.

The shipments covered by the price compact are: 185,000,000 bushels from the United States, 230,000,000 from Canada, and 85,000,000 from Australia.

Each of the 33 importing nations agrees to take a specific share of the half-billion total. On wheat sold them above their quotas, there will be no price restraint.

Government subsidy — possibly federal purchase of wheat for sale abroad at a loss—was hinted by one official as a possible solution to the next problem: how can wheat be shipped at $2 if the market is around $2.50?

Another suggestion, given privately and completely bare of detail, is to give farmers who sell for export at $2 a "certificate" entitling them to a higher price for wheat sold for use in this country.

On this point the pact itself is silent. It only pledges that all countries will "be at pains to protect their ability to live up fully to the agreement." This implies government support as well as continued export controls to steer wheat overseas. But the answer rests with Congress.

be to prevent the Ruhr's resources from being used again for purposes of aggressions. The western powers also agreed that "there should be adequate access to the coal, coke and steel of the Ruhr for the benefit of extensive parts of the European community including Germany."

Continuous failure of the foreign ministers council to reach four-power agreement "has created a situation in Germany which, if permitted to continue, would have increasingly unfortunate consequences for Western Europe," the three western nations said.

Objectives Given

The United States, Britain and France listed their broad objectives as:

1—Economic reconstruction of Western Europe.

2—Creation of a basis "for the participation of a democratic Germany in the community of free peoples."

Significantly, they did not particularize "western" Germany in setting down these goals. And they added:

"While delay in reaching these objectives can no longer be accepted, ultimate four-power agreement is in no way precluded."

affairs committee were believed to have discussed the make-up of the delegation, should Finland decide to take up the negotiations.

It appeared clear that the Agrarians, Conservatives and Liberals—all of whom opposed negotiations of any sort on the basis of Stalin's proposal—could not be represented on the delegation.

Paasikivi himself was reliably reported to be unenthusiastic about a military alliance. Of the nation's six parliamentary groups only the Communist - dominated Popular Front bloc is supporting full military alignment with the Soviet Union.

Elderly Widow Hits Jackpot By Naming 'The Walking Man'

By TOM BRANAGAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, March 6—A little 68-year-old gray - haired widow tonight called Jack Benny "The Walking Man" and won $22,500 in prizes in the first contest she ever entered.

Mrs. Florence Hubbard, who sells lingerie in a department store here, said: "I'm flabbergasted."

She was alone in her three-room apartment tonight when Ralph Edwards, master of ceremonies of the "Truth and Consequences" show phoned her. She said she had got "drenched" from the rain on her way home from work and had just changed into a simple, black dress.

Mrs. Hubbard said she had entered the contest 30 times since it started ten weeks ago and had figured Benny was the answer "by a process of elimination."

Mrs. Hubbard lives alone in the apartment on the west side of Chicago.

Soon after she won the radio jackpot, her apartment swarmed with more than a score reporters and photographers. Outside in the courtyard, neighbors and the curious gathered.

Her husband, a doctor, died ten years ago. Childless, she has lived alone since then and worked as a $30 a week saleswoman.

To a question, the elderly, attractive widow replied:

Plainview Man Appointed

The only battalion appointment announced was that of Hoyt Curry, of Plainview, with the rank of lieutenant colonel. Commanders of battalions in the Amarillo and Childress areas still are to be named.

The Texas State guard originally was organized in 1940 after the National guard had been called into active service. Lubbock was designated as a battalion headquarters in that year and Smith, who served in the Navy during World War I, enlisted as a private of Company A of the 39th Infantry, of which he subsequently became commanding officer. The State guard was deactivated in 1946.

Reactivation was approved the following year during the regular legislative session for internal security purposes in Texas. The activities of the State guard, Smith said, are to be coordinated closely with those of the National guard and all other agencies in the national defense structure designed by the War department.

Hopes For Quick Vote On Aid Plan Fading

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—A solid week of Senate argument about the $5,300,000,000 European recovery program dimmed hopes today for final action by March 15.

That's the administration's target date. The flow of supplies to Italy, France and Austria may dwindle to a trickle a few weeks later, and Italy's important election is coming up next month.

One of the many supporters of ERP, Senator Lucas (D-Ill) told a reporter that he would challenge opponents in the coming week either to "present a concrete alternative or begin voting."

But leaders on both sides said a long list of speaking reservations threatens the plan of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) floor leader for the bill, to complete action quickly.

More than a dozen amendments have been introduced in the Senate, most of them from critics of the plan. But there has not been a vote on any phase of the multi-billion dollar four-year program for the 16 western European nations and western Germany.

Fire Claims Second Victim At Lamesa

LAMESA, March 6 (Special)—Mrs. Santos Perez, 21, of Ackerly, who was critically burned in the fire which destroyed a one-roomed building on the Bayless Brown farm 16 miles southeast of Lamesa yesterday, died about 2 o'clock this afternoon in a Lamesa hospital.

Ruperto Perez, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Perez, was burned to death in the same blaze. The fire, which started with the explosion of a kerosene stove in the building, completely destroyed the residence where the family were living while the father was employed by Brown. Their permanent home was located about 3 miles northeast of Ackerly.

A joint graveside funeral service will be conducted at 2 o'clock Sunday afternon in Ackerly cemetery, with Father Highland, Stanton Catholic priest, officiating. Burial will be directed by Higginbotham Funeral home of Lamesa.

Besides the surviving husband and father, no other relatives are known by the funeral home. It was believed, however, that either relatives or friends of the dead persons live in or near McAllen.

DEWEY AND STASSEN FACE TEST IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen go before New Hampshire voters Tuesday in an indirect test of strength for the Republican presidential nomination.

It is the first presidential primary of 1948. Fourteen or 15 other states will name GOP convention delegates in this manner in the next three months.

The New Hampshire voting has been advertised by the Dewey and Stassen camps as of "national significance.

Although only eight Republican delegates will be elected, it is argued that whoever wins a majority will have a psychological boost in future primaries.

The building was immediately isolated and the Dumas and ordnance plant fire departments brought the flames under control by mid-afternoon, although the plant still was burning at that time.

The plant is located at Etter, a small community in Moore county only 30 miles from the top of the Texas Panhandle.

The ordnance works currently is operated by the federal government but negotiations are under way for a 20-year lease to private companies.

Length of the plant shutdown will depend on the damage to the compressors and cannot be estimated until the building can be entered.

with governmental agencies in Prague rather than with individuals.

The conference developed a discussion of the grain help given Czechoslovakia by Russia. American and British reporters quickly gained an admission from Gregor and Loebl that the UNRRA aid given the year before had been sizeable.

Loebl said one difference was that UNRRA aid was United Nations help given without any political conditions. He retreated from his definition when questioned as to whether he meant that Russia's help, therefore, was political.

Chinese Nationalists Bombing Communist Port Before Attack

PEIPING, March 6 (AP)—Chinese government naval and air bombardments of Yingkow preparatory to an amphibious landing at that Communist-held port were reported today by pro-government dispatches from Manchuria.

The Communists captured Yingkow, just one week ago. One hundred air miles southwest of Mukden, it is normally linked with that isolated Manchurian city by two circuitous rail routes. Communists are astride both broken lines, however.

There was no news of the government's other effort to drive an overland supply route to Mukden.

HELD AFTER ACCIDENT—The two men shown above are being held in connection with a hit-run accident on the Levelland highway near Lubbock last Tuesday. Herman Lee McCarty, 26, left, of Shallowater, posted $1,000 bail on a hit-run charge but is being held on two other matters, officers said. LeRoy Ostrander, 24, right, of 100 Block Avenue T in Lubbock, had not posted similar bond in the hit-run case, nor had he paid a fine on another charge. J. B. Fulcher, third person sought in the case, surrendered last night.

Mrs. Dick Cozby, publications director at the high school, and 29 students from Lubbock attended the convention. Transportation was by chartered bus.

Two Arrested In Connection With New Orleans Bank Holdup

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—The Justice department today announced the arrest in Cleveland of David Frances Almeida and his wife, Anna Mainart Almeida, in connection with the $114,000 bank robbery in New Orleans on Jan. 9.

Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said special FBI agents found more than $20,000 of the money in an apartment the Almeidas occupied in Cleveland.

The robbery occurred at the mid-city branch of the Hibernia National bank in New Orleans. The FBI said four others already have been taken into custody in the case.

The holdup was carried out in daylight.

The men forced their way into the bank five minutes before opening time, slugged a negro janitor into unconsciousness and herded some 25 employes into locker rooms. They then forced the bank manager to unlock the vault.

The bank employes also were robbed of personal valuables and money.

C. E. Lynn.

Herman Lee McCarty, 26, of Shallowater, had posted $1,000 bail in the hit-run charge, but had failed to pay a $100 drunkenness fine filed in Lynn's court Monday morning, officials said. LeRoy Ostrander, 24, of 100-block Ave. T in Lubbock, had not posted similar bond in the hit-run case, nor paid a $100 drunkenness assessment.

Furthermore, officials said, McCarty and Ostrander are being held in connection with a misdemeanor theft warrant that issued Saturday from Lynn county court.

McCarty and Ostrander were captured about 2:15 p. m. Friday by two Brownfield state policemen, Amos Eggen and V. D. Atwood, and were brought to Lubbock county jail by Patrol Capt. E. L. Rosey, L. W. Wilhite and Jim Riddles. A 15-year-old girl who apparently was in a truck occupied by three men when it struck an automobile near Lubbock early last week, turned it over and injured two women, was brought to Lubbock, where she gave a statement to the district attorney's office, it was announced.

Burglaries Are Probed

Two burglaries, perhaps a third, were reported to officials. A $10 ham and a $7.50 box of bacon were taken in burglary of Sikes grocery, at Twenty-first and Ave. T. C. E. Freeman called police a brief time after midnight and reported he had seen a man leave the store, then had heard a car start. Patrolmen found the front door had been pried open. Sikes was called, and found the loss.

Officials had found nothing missing from Blue Bonnet laundry at 1212 Ave. E. A peanut machine had been taken into the back of the laundry and dismantled, but it was not known whether it had money in it, police said after checking with J. C. Bumpass, proprietor.

From Anton came a report that Atkinson Hardware company had lost a table model combination electric and battery radio set.

Several thefts were reported: A 15 by 25-foot tarpaulin from John Watkins of 2411 Twenty-first; two fog lights and wrenches, total value of $15, from the car of R. J. Patrick of 160 Cliff drive; a watch from Mrs. E. C. Davis of a woman's dormitory at Texas Tech.

Jack Neff reported damage of approximately $15 done to his car by persons who broke a side vent and pried the door open at a dine and dance place. Nothing was taken from the car, he said.

Two persons were fined on drunk driving charges, county officials said: Donald Lee Elliott and A. L. Dean, 57, of Carlsbad, N. M., J. P. Howell was fined $50 and costs on a charge of check law violation, it was announced.

Police Saturday arrested two negroes for disturbance, after one, a woman, charged the other, a man, with hitting her with a chair and he charged her with cutting him with a razor.

Walter F. Smith, of 1409-A Seventeenth street, reported to police late Saturday that three young boys ran across the road in front of his car at Thirteenth st. and Ave. K. One of the boys, he said, threw an object which hit the car windshield. Police were investigating after the names of the boys had been obtained.

Theft of a bicycle owned by Don Adams, of West Wood village, from a place at Fourth street and Ave. Q was also being investigated. The bike was described as a Hawthorne, valued at $35.

Designer Says Day Near When Men Will Cry For Fur Coats

HOLLYWOOD, March 6. (AP) — The time is not far off, a noted fur designer said today, when no male with the slightest pretense of being well-dressed will try to get by without at least one garment in his wardrobe fashioned from the pelt of some inoffensive quadruped.

And if you ask "what fur?," Designer Al Teitelbaum's answer would be mink, calfskin, Persian lamb, broadtail, seal and "most anything else the girls have been sporting for lo these many years."

Teitelbaum, widely known for designing those fur creations for the movie lovelies, climbed right out on the end of a branch and said that tailored mink coats for men are not more than five years away—and indicated it will be a lot less if he has anything to say about it.

Teitelbaum disclosed that he already is turning out men's sports jackets in calfskin and smoking jackets in Persian lamb and seal, and he is confident he'll find some buyers for them.

"In olden days," he said, "a fur coat was the badge of a man of distinction. We propose to bring those days back."

Getting around to prices, Teitelbaum said a neat calfskin jacket will be available for around $200 "but it will last 10 years."

Tailored mink overcoats will cost from $1,250 to $15,000, depending on the type of pelts used and how badly you want mink overcoats.

Teitelbaum, really letting loose, also said he envisages sports shirts in leopard skins and slacks made of calfskin.

CIO Is Purging Wallace Men

By CHARLES H. HERROLD
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Albert J. Fitzgerald, president of the powerful united electrical workers, appeared today to be next in line for the axe in the CIO's purge of Wallace-for-president boosters.

One usually reliable source indicated that CIO President Philip Murray has marked Fitzgerald for defeat in his bid for re-election to a CIO vice presidency at the 1948 convention.

Bridges Is Fired

The burly boss of the electrical workers is the last prominent CIO official who is supporting Henry A. Wallace in open defiance of CIO policy. General Counsel Lee Pressman quit under pressure last month. Harry Bridges was fired last night as CIO regional director for northern California.

At the same time, Murray's aides were said to be investigating the reported Third Uarty leanings of CIO councils in Los Angeles, Newark, N. J., and New York City, and the California state council. CIO Vice President Allen S. Haywood is looking into the West coast situation, it was learned, while John Brophy, director of the 386 city and state councils, is investigating the eastern councils.

CIO Opposes Third Party

Murray holds no constitutional authority to oust Fitzgerald from his CIO vice-presidency immediately, since the position is filled by the annual convention. However, Murray demonstrated that he has the final say on who shall hold office, in the 1946 convention, when he brought about the defeat of Reid Robinson, then president of the Mine, Mill and Smelter workers.

Removal of Wallace adherents from CIO appointive jobs is part of the CIO effort to lay the groundwork for a new labor-led political party by 1952, Haywood told Bridges that "both the CIO executive board and political action committee declared unmistakably against the formation of the Third Party in 1948."

Taylor County Officials Probe Shooting Of Oil Field Worker

ABILENE, March 6 (AP)—Taylor county officials today were investigating the shooting of a 35-year-old oil field worker who suffered a bullet wound in the back of his head while working last night on a rig near Merkel.

V. C. Porter, in a serious condition in an Abilene hospital today, was wounded as he bent at his work on some chemicals, Merkel City Marshal A. D. Fulton said.

Fulton said it was not known who fired the shot but crewmen working with Porter said they heard a gun fired from the darkness.

Army Rescues 274 Passengers From Ship Stuck On Mud Bank

NEW ORLEANS, March 6 (AP)—The Army capitalized on a break in the weather today to rescue 274 passengers from the transport William H. Thomas, grounded at the mouth of the Mississippi river.

The vessel, which brought many troops home from Europe after the war, went aground on a mud bank Monday night in a fog.

Since then the 15,000-ton craft has been buffeted by winds, waves and rain, along with fog attending coastal squalls.

The passengers appeared in good spirits as they descended the transport's ladders and plopped into motor life boats to negotiate 300 yards of choppy sea to the pilot station at South Pass.

Birth Rate In U. S. In 1947 Sets All-Time High Mark

NEW YORK, March 6 (U.P.)—Some 3,900,000 babies were born in the United States in 1947 to set an all-time record, the National Industrial Conference Board reports.

The first two years after the war produced far more babies than the first two years of the war, when births jumped to a new high, the board said. In fact, the second year of the war, 1943, produced 1,000,000 fewer babies than were reported for 1947.

The increased number of births had boosted the population by 13,000,000 since 1939. However, 1948 births are expected to fall below those of last year because 300,000 fewer couples were married in 1947 than in 1946.

English Speaking Telephone 'Useless' For Milwaukee Man

MILWAUKEE, March 6 (U.P.)—Old Milwaukeeans still recall the time in 1877 when the late Valentine Blatz, beer magnate, finally consented to have a telephone installed in his office.

When the phone rang a few minutes later, Blatz answered it and talked for a while. Then he turned to the telephone man.

"Very interesting," he said. "But it really is no help to me. Most of my friends and business associates speak German. And this thing speaks English."

It has been estimated that at any given time one in every four Americans need some kind of medical attention.

Tech Student Finds 'Easy Way' To Move Car Was Mistake

It was the easy way, at the time, for a Tech student to get his car out of a mud puddle. But it was the "hard way," for him, when the vehicle shot from the slick tracks, and refused to stop for anything less than a tree about 50 yards away.

Glenith B. Amonett, 22, Tech student from Petersburg, was tugging at his problem—a stick-in-the-mud 1939 Ford coach—about 8 o'clock last night on a driveway north of West hall. Both the car and Amonett were 'spinning their wheels.'

So Amonett decided to use what coercion was immediately available to him. He put the Ford's gear in low, and pulled the throttle slightly. Then, he got out of the car again to push some more, apparently closing the door behind him.

That bit of mechanical coercion was, as Amonett later realized, just a little too much.

The car got off to a good start despite the muddy field. Amonett grabbed the door handle to regain his seat, but the handle came off.

That Ford didn't need a jockey, because it passed the only car on the 50-yard track between the puddle and the finish line, which in this case, unfortunately, was not a tape nor a line, but a tree!

The driver was not injured, police said.

Education While You Sleep Now Declared To Be Practical

NEW YORK, March 6 (U.P.)—Getting an education, while you sleep is no longer a joke.

The Linguaphone Institute, a language school, says experiments with its new "cerebograph" on sleeping University of North Carolina students were promising.

The cerebrograph is a combination wire recorder, electric clock and pillow microphone. The experimenters played a recorded list of words over the machine which kept repeating them into the pillow of the sleeping students.

"The students, upon awakening, were able to memorize the list in no time at all; while others who had slept without benefit of recording took considerably longer," the Institute said.

Funds To Be Sought For Fight Against Ravages Of Alcoholism

CHICAGO, March 6 (U.P.)—Scientific problems of alcoholism are the target for the first public campaign to enlist scientific, welfare, and industrial workers in a drive for research funds here.

To tackle the scientific research, Carlson said, a new organization, the Research Council on Problems of Alcohol, was set up. He is the president.

Kremsreiter thanked Wise, and informed him he had thought only of him as a suspect in a check writing case.

Administration Is Urged To Let Congress Decide Tidelands Case

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—A spokesman for the State Bar of Texas urged today that the administration leave Congress free to set up a policy on who owns coastal lands.

Robert Lee Bobbitt, San Antonio, former Texas attorney general and member of a special tidelands committee of the state bar, said his group hopes there will be no interference from the administration "directly or indirectly."

Bill Is Vetoed

Testifying before a House-Senate Judiciary subcommittee, Bobbitt said that President Truman two years ago vetoed a bill to declare the states owners of the disputed lands. He said the President did it so that the "jurisdiction of the Supreme Court should not be interfered with" while arriving at a decision.

At that time the court was considering a suit over ownership of lands off the California coast. Later the court found California was not the owner and that the federal government had "paramount" claim. It did not however, state that the federal government was the owner.

Federal Suits Feared

Bobbitt said similar federal suits against other states might follow. He said that filing of such suits questioning property rights of states "while Congress is considering the very matters and properties in question, is not the type of cooperation that was intended by the Constitution."

Earlier Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La) said the Justice department might file similar suits against Louisiana, Texas and other states.

Boat Carrying Movie Star, Writer Found After Storm

MIAMI, Fla., March 6 (AP)—The cruiser Tonga with movie star Gregory Peck and mystery story Writer Leslie Charteris on board was located in safe anchorage today after passage of a storm in which two boats carrying six persons disappeared.

Both men were accompanied by their wives. The Coast Guard located the Tonga near Craig, in the Florida keys, after an alert had been sounded.

Rough seas prevented Peck and Charteris from bringing their boat to the Craig docks. They called by radio for a small boat to take them off. They reported "no trouble."

Savings Of $5 Billion Claimed For Idea

New Coins, Dickle Or A Jime, Proposed For United States

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—Edward Walsh Mehren is going to Washington with an idea he says will save the public $5,000,000,000 a year.

He wants a dickle or maybe a jime.

That is, he wants the United States to make coins worth 2½ cents, 7½ cents, and 12½ cents.

His friends suggested the coin halfway between a dime and a nickle be called a "dickle," or "jime" for jitney and dime.

That would make the 2½ cent piece a "pickle" for penny and nickle, or "jenny" for jitney and penny. The 12½ cents coin of course would be a "bit," two bits being a quarter.

Fractional Coins Urged

For nearly a year Mehren has been on his crusade for fractional coinage. Now the Beverly Hills, Calif., soft drink manufacturer is heading directly for President Truman on Monday, but he admitted at a news conference he had no appointment yet.

The billions of dollars savings estimate comes from Mehren's figures showing Americans drank 25,000,000,000 cups of nickle coffee in 1939. Today that coffee ranges up in price to a dime. Drinking dickle coffee would save $625,000,000 a year, he says. It is the same with other such things.

Mehren argues this way:

America has only four coins worth a quarter or less. But Britain has six, and the Netherlands and Sweden each have seven coins worth a quarter or less.

With the addition of three new coins, the U. S. would have seven, too.

"They would be used for soft drinks, sales taxes, telephones, street car and bus tokens, magazines, newspapers and all other commodities and services that are too cheap at five cents and too expensive at 10 cents," says Mehren.

Seeks Party Planks

"Everybody is for it," he said. "I've got hundreds of letters from all over the country. This is a thing America needs. The people want it. And I'm going to get a plank in both the Democratic and Republican platforms at Philadelphia calling for this currency reform.

"It will take a lot of silver. Western senators would not oppose that. But then I also propose to abolish the silver dollar and half dollar.

"Nobody ever uses them any more."

Brother, can you spare a jime!

Extreme cold weather in February brought a slump in building, the trade magazine reported. The monthly total was $52,130,914.

Career Day Is Set At School

Regular classroom work will be dispensed with Monday afternoon for all seniors in Lubbock Senior High school so that the students may have the time to spend with visiting speakers in considering careers.

This regular Careers Day is a part of the guidance program of Senior High school, and arrangements for the afternoon have been made by Miss Grace Padley, director of guidance in the secondary schools, guidance teachers and the seniors themselves.

Plan Group Sessions

From their home room group seniors will go to group meetings presided over by representatives in 15 fields selected by seniors in a questionnaire assembled by J. W. Reid. According to Miss Padley, a large number of students were interested in the fields of engineering, home economics, and business, so the fourth period of the school day will be devoted to these three fields, with the boys meeting in the gymnasium and the girls in the auditorium.

O. V. Adams, dean of engineering at Texas Technological college, will discuss engineering with the boys and Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of home economics at Texas Tech, will preside during the time scheduled for home econmics. T. C. Root, dean of commerce and Mrs. Ethel Terrell, associate professor of marketing at Tech, will be in charge when business is discussed as a career.

Sign For Discussions

Students will sign for any two of the following career discussions during the second and third periods: art, Mrs. Bruce Bryan; agriculture, Dr. A. W. Young; journalism, Mrs. Opal Dixon; photography, Winston Reeves;; religious education, Mrs. Jerry Smyth; retailing and wholesaling, Charles Gochinov; skilled trades, Joe Reid; Medicine, Dr. John Perry of the Veterans administration; ministry, the Rev. Cecil R. Matthews; music, Lewis Stoelzing; nursing, Miss Annon Price; science, Dr. C. C. Schmidt; teaching, Dr. Doyle D. Jackson; speech, Miss Anna Jo Pendleton.

Prior to this special day for consideration of careers seniors have had talks on preparing for college, succeeding in college and job opportunities in West Texas, Miss Padley said.

TRUCK MISSING

Amarillo Officers Capture Big Tire

AMARILLO, March 6 (AP)—Officers Frank Hollabaugh and Thomas Pavlis of the Amarillo police department stopped their car for a red light at Fifth and Fillmore streets.

Promptly there loomed up, bouncing merrily along Fillmore, a very large vehicle tire.

No truck was attached.

The big tire cruised through the red light and headed for the patrol car. The officers quickly pulled to the curb.

Upset by such goings on, the officers trapped the tire and brought it to police station.

Officers said it was a standard 8.26 by 20 heavy duty tire, measuring about three feet in diameter.

Texas Wesleyan Noses Raiders, 54 To 52, In NAIB Final

RED RAIDER SQUAD—The Red Raiders from Texas Tech came close to beating their way into the NAIB tourney in Kansas City, Mo., Monday through Saturday, only to lose a 54-52 heartbreaker to Texas Wesleyan last night. Despite their defeat at the hands of the potent Rams quintet, the Raiders completed a highly successful season. Coach Polk Robison's men swept to ten victories in the Border Conference, while losing only six of their loop games. And this record carried them to undisputed possession of second place behind Arizona university. In play outside the loop, the Raiders won six and lost six. Shown above, first row, left to right, are Jiggs Jackson, Wayne Bowles, C. W. Dukes, Billy Banks and Winston Churchill. In the second row, left to right, are shown Wimpy Hill, Gene Gibson, Don Grove, Jay Kerr and Ardis Barton, the usual starting lineup. (Avalanche-Journal Staff Photo).

Goal In Game's Final Seconds Spells Defeat

FORT WORTH, March 6 (AP)—Tiny Ted Nicksick sank his most important basket in two years for Texas Wesleyan here tonight. Ted flipped in a set shot frim 20 feet out with only 55 seconds left to bring the Rams a hard-earned 54-52 basketball victory over Texas Tech's Red Raiders.

The two-point squeeze earned the Wesleyans the right to represent Texas in the NAIB tournament at Kansas City which opens Monday. TWC will play Gonzaga university at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Tech Never Ahead

In the Texas NAIB semi-finals here Friday night, Tech had beaten Abilene Christian 70-74, and TWC had eliminated East Texas state, 77-56.

Although Tech was never in front, the Raiders whittled away at the Rams' lead throughout the second half, finally knotting the count at 52-52, on a difficult twisting jump shot by Jay Kerr.

Then came Nicksick's goal.

Tech missed a shot and the Rams stalled until only 11 seconds remained in the thrilling game. Then the Raiders gained possession on a jump-ball and with three seconds remaining, substitute Guard Gil McAlister missed a lay-up shot. Tech had no chance for a follow-up basket when Guinn Phillips of TWC snared the rebound.

Rams Grab Early Lead

TWC grabbed a quick 8-2 lead on buckets by Jim Stroud, Nicksick, Easy Parham and Doug Higgins. The Rams rolled on to a 39-18 halftime margin, then watched their lead melt as Ardis Barton, Kerr and Grove connected from al langles.

Although the Raiders trailed for 59 minutes and seven seconds of the hectic battle, they made things uncomfortably close for the Rams most of the way.

The Rams played without Gus Weber, their starting center, who suffered a foot injury in the East Texas State game. Freshman Jim Stroud and Will Weatherly and Senior Gordon Ross, who usually plays guard, worked at his place and together accounted for 11 points to almost match the goaling of the Raiders' giant pivot Don Grove, who garnered 12 points.

Parham High Scorer

TWC has sent three other teams to Kansas City NAIB meets, but each club went as a Texas Conference champion. This is the first time the Rams have had to earn a berth by competing in a post season playoff.

Parham, top senior college scorer in Texas, rang up 22 points to make his season total 519. Kerr's 18 points topped Tech.

Five New Marks Established

Lubbock High Wins Plains Track Meet

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Writer

Five records were toppled in track and field events of the annual South Plains Invitational practice track meet Saturday afternoon at Chapman field as Lubbock High's well-balanced Westerner squad breezed to the team championship by a 55-point margin.

The Lubbock Cowhands copped runner-up honors with a total of 33¾ points while Lamesa, the only other school to enter a full team, took third with 12. Andrews followed with five points won by a single entry and Brownfield's representative—Richard Wheat—chalked up three points.

A half-dozen teams scheduled to enter the meet failed to appear for the events, since they had been hampered in workouts last week by cold weather, but the program made up in quality what it lacked in quantity.

Probably the outstanding performance of the afternoon was turned in by Lubbock's crack mile relay quartet. The team, despite the loss of two regular members as a result of illness, turned in a torrid 3:40.4 time to knock 4.1 seconds off the mark set in 1945. Sprinter Charley Williams circled the first lap in 55 seconds, then Strickland and Earl Hutcherson completed the next two turns in 56 seconds each. Hutcherson handed the baton to ace quartermiler Jim Johnson at 2:47 and the slender speedster, although he had set a new 440 record earlier, blazed to the finish line in 53.4 for the total time of 3:40.0. Hutcherson, regularly a dash entry, was substituting for big Jim Wilson, who was ill and unable to run in the event, and turned in a surprisingly good mark.

The 440-yard sprint relay record was shattered by the Lubbock Westerner team, including Don Decker, Hutcherson, Williams and Strickland, with a time of 45.3 seconds. The mark was .6 seconds better than the 45.9 credited to a Lubbock quartet in 1945. The Cowhands, sparked by Wayne Stroud, Wilson and Malcolm Young, took second place and the battling Lamesans copped third in the event.

Lanky Jack Alderson, Westerner letterman, set a new high jump record by clearing the bar at an even six feet. Alfred Adair, also of Lubbock, dropped out at 5'10" for the second spot, and from then on Alderson was shooting for the record book. He cleared the 5'11" mark and then succeeded in the 6' effort, but failed in three attempts at 6'1".

Other new records were set by Westerner Jim Johnson, who chalked up a 52.8 in the 440 dash, and Charles Curry of Lubbock, with a shot put effort of 44 feet. Johnson dropped the quarter-mile mark .1 of a second, although he was not pressed for first place, and Curry exceeded the existing shot mark by nearly five feet.

Two other Westerners, Norman Dean and Dick Schmidt, broke the old mark with throws of 41'7" and 42'7" to take second and third spots.

Hutcherson grabbed a hotly-contested first place in the 100-yard dash feature by edging out Decker and Williams in an exciting finish. Williams defeated Hutcherson and Decker earlier last week in the intra-squad meet, but Hutcherson broke in front in the event yesterday and held his margin all the way. A new record had been expected in the race, since Williams and Decker hit the 10.3 mark in the intra-squad century, but a series of false starts and a stiff headwind slowed the time to 10.6.

The veteran Hutcherson copped individual scoring honors for the meet with 15½ points, but Decker took first in the 220-yard dash and broad jump to chalk up 14¼ points.

The complete results:

120 High hurdles—Bob Schmidt, Lubbock, first; Dick Schmidt, Lubbock, second. Time: 16.9.

100-Yard dash—Earl Hutcherson, Lubbock, first; Don Decker, Lubbock, second; Charley Williams, Lubbock, third; Wayne Stroud, Lubbock Cowhands, fourth. Time: 10.6.

Play To Be Resumed This Afternoon In Bowling Meet Here

The final attempt to break the first-place standing of Sam Carter of Lubbock in the Second Annual Bowling Classic will take place today on the Lubbock Bowling Club alleys, when bowlers from Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas resume their competition.

Carter zoomed into first place on the tourney's opening day, when he compiled an eight-game total of 1,692 pins. No one has come close to dislodging the Lubbock kegler so far, although there have been two week ends of pin splitting.

Last Sunday's bowling found several changes being made in positions from tenth to third and more changes are expected in the final fling today. All keglers are shooting at the $1,500 in prize money offered by KSEL, which is sponsoring the tourney.

The public is invited to attend the rolling without charge.

Hubbers Begin Drills Monday At Rebel Park

DALLAS, March 7 (Special)—Spring training for the parent Dallas Rebel Baseball squad and farm teams will begin here at Rebel Park tomorrow, with over 80 diamond prospects reporting to their respective club managers.

Manager Jackie Sullivan of the Lubbock Hubbers led the advanced guard into Dallas, the Hub City manager arriving here last Monday. After a conference with club officials, Sullivan went on a short fishing trip.

Players Due Monday

Six players will report to Manager Sullivan Monday morning and, barring accidents, all have a good chance of landing starting positions with the West Texas-New Mexico league champions. Only two of the players have been with the Hubbers before and neither remained for the entire season.

Heading the reporting diamond men will be Sam Haughwout, a pitcher-outfielder, who last year was optioned to Tyler and was recalled during the winter.

Frank Cobo, Jr., an outfielder, who spent the end of the 1947 season with the Hubbers as a reserve, originally was bought from Leavenworth, Kans., of the Western Association.

Return Here April 1

Other reporting ball players will include Frank Boothe, an outfielder bought from Owensboro of the Kitty league during the winter: Isic Newt Secrest, a catcher, a free agent playing for the past two years with Dallas independent baseball teams; and Billy George 'Cotton' Russell, 18-year old Fort Worth High school pitcher.

The remainder of the Hubber baseball players will report on April 1 at Rosenthal Field, where they will meet the players brought back from Spring training by Manager Sullivan.

New Conference Formed In State

SAN ANTONIO, March 6 (AP)—Ten Texas colleges and universities today had formed the Pioneer Intercollegiate conference.

Representatives of the ten schools yesterday mapped a program in athletics, speech, fine arts and journalism. A meeting March 13 at Georgetown will work out final details on the athletic program, including the date when competition starts.

Schools forming the new conference are Sul Ross college, Alpine; Southwest Texas state, San Marcos; Texas A. & I., Kingsville; St. Edward's, Austin; Southwestern university, Georgetown; Daniel Baker college, Brownwood; East Texas Baptist college, Marshall; University of Corpus Christi and Texas Lutheran college of Seguin, and St. Mary's, San Antonio.

Southwest Texas state is at present a member of the Lone Star conference, Southwestern is in the Texas conference, Sul Ross in the New Mexico conference and Texas Lutheran in the Texas Junior college Athletic association.

Wayland, Amarillo In Cage Tournament

AMARILLO, March 6 (AP)—Murray State Agricultural college of Tishmingo, Okla., and Tyler Junior college were the top-seeded teams as brackets were drawn today for the Southwest Regional Junior College Basketball tournament which starts here Wednesday night.

Cameron State Agricultural college of Lawton, Okla., and Blinn Junior college of Brenham, also were highly rated in pre-tournament rankings. Other teams to compete in the tourney are Wayland college, Amarillo college, Sayre, Okla., Oklahoma Military academy, Lon Morris Junior college, and Eastern Oklahoma State Agricultural college.

The winner and runnerup in the southwest tournament will represent the region in the national event.

LSU STAR JOINS REDSKINS

WASHINGTON, March 6 (U.P.)—Dan Sandifer, star halfback of the Louisiana State university football team, today signed a one-year contract with the Washington Redskins of the National Pro football league. Sandifer, who played four years with LSU and took part in two North-South all-star games, came to terms at a conference with Coach Turk Edwards.

CASTILLO DEFEATS VILLA

HOLLYWOOD, March 6 (AP)—Luis Castillo, 120, Mexico City, used his greater experience and more telling blows last night to win a unanimous 10-round decision at Legion stadium over Rodolpho Villa, 121, El Paso, Tex. It was Villa's first loss in 19 bouts. Castillo, a 1-4 favorite, floored him for a four-count in the second and kept him on the defensive in most of the hard-fought battle.

TEAMS TO BE ANNOUNCED

AUSTIN, March 6 (AP) — The 1948 sports writers' all-tournament Class AA, A, and B basketball teams will be announced Monday morning. Representatives of newspapers and wire services covering the state tournament made their selections after the final game between Crozier Tech of Dallas and Lufkin tonight.

Crozier Tech Wins State Title

Between The Lines . . .

By Joe Kelly

Congratulations to the Texas Tech basketball team, which tried so valiantly last night to stop one of the leading teams in the nation on an only barely familiar floor. The Red Raiders lost no prestige in dropping their 54-52 tilt, but gained stature by the closeness of the battle, which many observers thought might be a runaway. Coach Polk Robison and his men are disappointed, of course, but the basketball season was a success.

The Lubbock Boys club will break ground tomorrow for their new swimming pool and a large crowd should be present for the ceremonies. This is one institution that is not privately operated and which depends on general support from all over Lubbock. Monday, when another step forward for Lubbock youth is taken, would be a fine time for local citizens to take a few minutes to join in the dedication and to look over the Boys club.

The announcement that the Lubbock Jaycees are going to sponsor a boxing tourney here is welcome news. But particularly fine is the added announcement that even losers will receive awards. This is an unusual occurrence and one which must meet with widespread approval. Seldom is the loser given more than "come again" as he goes away defeated, while the winner is praised to the sky. It is a natural happening, but a tribute for the loser is certainly worthwhile.

The tourney also would be a good time to pair some boys who apparently have a grduge. For instance, Earl Pollard and Jack Woodruff, who engaged in a disputed bout in the Fort Worth Golden Gloves, would be a natural. So would a pairing of J. D. Kirkpatrick and Tom Adams, both of whom have supporters that think no one can beat their man. And Jimmy Forbes of Brownfield could go with Kenneth Kirkpatrick of Petersburg to settle their dispute. These three bouts, coming on the final night, certainly would pack Sled Allen's arena.

Ken Kirkpatrick is willing to in the Lubbock Golden Gloves, but not at the present weight difference between the two. Kirkpatrick still is only a bantam, while Forbes is a lightweight. Ken, at 120¾, gained weight to fight as a featherweight in Lubbock, while Forbes, who weighed an even 127 at that time, has gone over 130 pounds. If Forbes could lose some weight and Kirkpatrick could gain a little, these two boys would put on a real show.

Texas Tech officials are in the throes of making up their mind whether they should go ahead with the scheme of buying an airfield hangar for a field house, or whether to wait and pray that the Texas legislature will stop ignoring West Texas and provide funds for adequate structure. Tech can buy a surplus Air Force hangar, have it moved to the Red Raider grounds, remodeled and equipped, all for less than $100,000. But one fly in the ointment is where 100 grand is coming from today.

The idea certainly merits considerable study, for there is nothing to indicate that Austin—or any other section of this state—is willing to recognize West Texas. So far Tech practically has made everything on the campus, with no help from the state capital. And, with nothing in view for considerable time, a hangar would be far more adequate than the present "barn" in which basketball teams play. We'd like to see Tech alumni and friends stage a financial drive to obtain the hangar, have it moved and have it remodeled so that Tech could play host to the best basketball teams in the nation.

Of course, the building would do more than just house a basketball court. Both the men's and women's physical education departments, sorely cramped for space at present, could conduct their programs in the building. The football team could use it for practice during bad weather. The track squad could use it during early season work. The tennis, golf and other squads could use it during bad weather. It would solve a lot of problems for Tech athletes and be a boon to the college.

THE ROUNDUP: Dick Moseley of Tulsa university has been ruled eligible for all save the first three Hurricane football games, which includes the Tech tilt. Moseley received a kidney injury that almost killed him in 1946 in Tulsa's third game . . . Walt Rankin of Texas Tech and the ChiCards is a used car dealer in Fort Worth . . . . Bobby Riggs and Jack Kramer stage an exhibition in Texas U's Gregory gym Friday night . . . . Wilbur McBryde of Kerrville reported to Texas A. and M. spring football training at 285 pounds, heaviest man to report . . . If anyone from here is interested, the 1948 American Motorcycle Association's national championship races wil be run in Daytona Beach, Fla., March 13-14 . . . The Lubbock Bowling club alleys should be filled with spectators today for the finals of the Second Annual Bowling Classic.

The average length of the school year in the various states of the United States varies from 146 to 188 days.

COACH QUITS WICHITA JOB

ANOTHER FISH STORY

MADISON, Fla., March 6 (AP)—The things that some fishermen catch! J. B. Wooten, for instance. He went out for a little night fishing, put a pork rind lure on his line and cast out into the darkness. Wooten felt a strike. Jubilantly, he reeled in his catch. It was a much-surprised and flabbergasted hoot owl.

STAR REWARD WINS RACE

NEW ORLEANS, March 6 (AP)—Star Reward easily won the $25,000 New Orleans handicap over a muddy fair grounds track today. Jack S. L. was second and Carolyn A. Third.

Wolves Defeat Lufkin, 29-28

AUSTIN, March 6 (AP)—Crozier Tech of Dallas nipped Lufkin, 29-28 tonight to win its second Class AA High school basketball championship in three years.

An official's ruling decided the game. Lufkin sank a field goal as the game ended, but the time keeper ruled the ball had not left the Lufkin player's hand when the final second ticked off.

Two East Texas teams came through in championship games. Mount Vernon won the Class A crown title by defeating defending champion East Mountain (Gilmer), 44-33, and Maydelle knocked off defending titlist Johnson City, 35-32, in Class B.

Lead Changes Hands

Tech and Lufkin fought a bitter close-guarding game and, the lead changing hands eight times. The score was tied 4-all at the end of the first quarter; Lufkin led, 14-12 at the half; and Crozier Tech was ahead, 24-21 at the end of the third period.

Tech stalled for three minutes on a two-point lead that was cut to one with 90 seconds remaining.

Maydelle took the Class B state schoolboy basketball championship away from Johnson City, beating the Eagles 35-32 in the tournament's first final.

Minus the services of their great forward, six-foot six-inch Leonard Lamb during the last six minutes, Maydelle stalled off Johnson City's desperate bid for victory. Lamb went out with a badly-sprained ankle.

Dimmitt Takes Third

Maydelle's guard, N. J. Hassell, was brilliant in controlling the ball and Center Dean Lloyd contributed five vital points in the closing minutes of the game.

Lloyd was high point man of the game with 13 points and Hassell had 12. All-stater Charles Haley of Johnson City was held to 11 points.

Sweeney won thrid place in Class B, downing Carey, 35-31.

Bob Sikes Loses Texas Heavy Title In Bout With Quijano

EL PASO, March 6 (U.P.)—A series of stinging left jabs followed by a right cross to the jaw last night took the Texas heavyweight crown from the head of Bob Sikes, Little Rock, Ark., and gave it to Adolfo Quijano, state light heavyweight champion.

Outweighed 13 pounds, Quijano knocked out Sikes with 2:52 minutes gone in the seventh round, to become the first person ever to hold both the Texas heavy and light heavy titles.

The bout opened fast. Sikes dropped Quijano for a count of five in the first round with a left jab to the jaw.

From the third round on Sikes bled profusely from the nose and mouth. In the fourth, Quijano went in for the kill, but was surprised with smashing left hooks to the jaw which dropped him for a count of nine and almost cost him the fight. In the next stanza, Sikes opened a deep cut under Quijano's eye and both fighters were bleeding from then on.

Quijano weighed in at 180 pounds; Sikes at 193½.

Skyline Club Will Use Handicap Plan In Ham Gun Shoot

A new system of scoring will be employed at a ham shoot to be staged this afternoon by the Skyline Gun club at the club's range on North college avenue.

The new procedure will embrace the sliding handicap system, designed to help low scorers, and handicapping high scorers.

In last week's meet, J. O. Dudley, with 92x100 won doubles honors. Singles, sixteen-yard rise, was won by Joe Dick Slaughter with 47x50. A. J. Johnson, with 24x25, won the singles in the 22-yard rise handicap.

Boys Club Quints In Two Cage Wins

AMARILLO, March 6 (Special)—Lubbock Boys club cagers came out with a tie in their games with Amarillo Maverick quints here this afternoon.

Local Midget and Junior teams scored wins, while the Pee Wees and Seniors lost to Maverick fives.

The Lubbock Pee Wee quint dropped a 19-11 game to the Amarillo boys, with Glen Akin leading the locals with six points. Mike McCarthy was high-point man for the Mavericks with seven tallies.

Lubbock Midget cagers scored a 23-21 win over the Maverick Midgets, with Bobby Tollison getting nine points for the locals and Don Hall garnering six points for Amarillo.

The most impressive victory for the locals was the Lubbock Junior quint's 48-35 victory over the Maverick Juniors. Gene Tollison scored fourteen points for the locals, with Dan Hulsey and Jack Hodges sharing scoring honors for Amarillo, each getting 11 points.

The Amarillo Senior quint barely nosed out the visiting Seniors, 43-42 in the final game of the afternoon. Rodger Van Cleave was high-point man for Lubbock with 19 points, the highest individual score in the day's program. Billy McLaughlin and Ken Kohler shared Amarillo scoring honors with 11 points each.

Sixteen Letters Awarded To Lamesa High School Caners

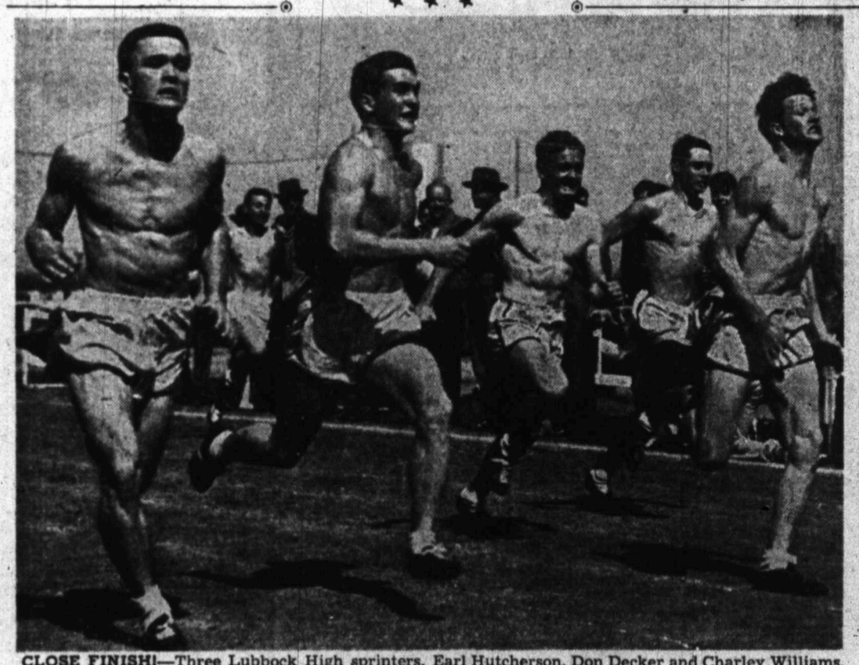

LAMESA, March 6 (Special)—Sixteen letters have been awarded to Lamesa High school cagers, Golden Tornado Coach O. W. Follis announced today, with 10 A squad and six B team members receiving numerals.

High-scoring Donald Hoover, who rated a forward berth on the all-district 3-AA second team, was given his fourth letter in the cage sport.

Other varsity letters went to Gerald Berry, Leon Blair, John Leuenberger, Larry Lattimore, Wally McNeil, Bob Moody, Gene Morris, Roy Watson and T. J. Womack. Only five of the ten boys will be eligible for cage competition next season.

Letter winners on the B squad included Jerry Phillips, Bill Hart, Bobby Hawkins, Jimmy Hughes, Ronald Chapman and Bill Cox.

CLOSE FINISH!—Three Lubbock High sprinters, Earl Hutcherson, Don Decker and Charley Williams, stretch for the tape in a close finish in the 100-yard dash event of the annual South Plains Invitational track meet Saturday afternoon at Chapman field. Hutcherson was named as the winner by judges, in a time of 10.6 seconds. Left to right are Hutcherson, Decker and Williams. Wayne Stroud of the Lubbock Cowhand squad is behind Williams in fourth place. The Lubbock Westerner squad won the meet by a 55-point margin. (Avalanche-Journal Staff Photo).

Cotton Center Girls' Sextet Entered In State Cage Meet

HILLSBORO, March 6 (AP)—Sixteen teams will be here next week for the annual Texas High School Girls Basketball tournament.

Coach "Toby" Waggoner announced Saturday night that his Cotton Center girls' cage squad, winners of District 18, are ready for the state meet in Hillsboro. The squad will make the trip to Hillsboro by automobile. Several contingents of Cotton Center fans are expected to accompany the team.

First round games start at 1 p. m. Wednesday in Doughty Hall, the junior college gymnasium. Twenty-two games later the 1948 champion will be crowned—Saturday night, March 13.

Defending Champs Back

The 16 district champions are survivors of an original field of 287 that joined the High School Girls' Basketball League of Texas.

East Chambers of Winnie, near Beaumont, will be back to defend its state championship. Coach J. D. Hutson has a veteran squad, but the South Texans face plenty of tough competition.

Maydelle of Cherokee county looms as one of East Chambers' highest hurdles. Maydelle has won three of five practice games with the defending champions this season.

Stantin Five Entered

Sharp-shooting Stantin, 1947 finalist, again will represent Martin county and District 15. Coach H. G. Hamrick's 1948 crew has won 30 of 35 games.

Other strong clubs are due from Yantis and Friona. Yantis, featuring two six-foot forwards, is the power of East Texas. Coach Roy A. Koger's crew won consolation last year. Friona is the league's hard-luck entry. The West Texans have gained the semi-final round four times but never have won a title.

Wednesday's Pairings

The first round pairings for Wednesday:

1 p.m., Cranfills Gap vs Maydelle; 2 p.m., Friona vs Aledo; 3 p.m., Gruver vs West Columbia; 4 p.m., Stanton vs Academy; 6:30 p.m., Yantis vs Peacock; 7:30 p.m., Mesquite vs Cotton Center; 8:30 p.m., Forreston vs Huckaby; 9:30 p.m., East Chambers vs Fredericksburg.

Consolation round begins at 1 p. m. Thursday. Championship quarter-finals are scheduled Thursday night.

The girls' league was organized in 1939 by three Abbott, Texas, school men—L. C. McKamie, M. L. Brockette and Lloyd H. Raymer. McKamie still heads the league as director general, while Brockette and Raymer now are members of the board.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

It's too bad that so many area track teams failed to show up for the South Plains Invitational meet Saturday afternoon at Chapman field, for the weather—except for an intermittent headwind — was very good for this time of the year. Some excellent times and distances were chalked up in the events and there is little doubt that if some of the winners had been pushed, they would have done even better. While workouts were hampered by cold weather last week, every school was equally handicapped, and as Coach Marlin Hayhurst said, "It was just as fair for one team as another." Perhaps next year more area mentors will take advantage of the well conducted meet to give their squads needed practice against tough competition.

WILSON

One of the highlights of the meet was the fine spirit shown by Richard Wheat of Brownfield. The scrappy youngster hitch-hiked to Lubbock Saturday morning after Coach Harold Crites decided not to bring a team to the meet and entered several track events. Although the red-head has had little opportunity to work out this season, he copped second place in the record-smashing 440-yard dash event. Wheat also entered the 100-yard dash, but failed to place. The 16-year-old junior smiled as he told meet officials, "I figured the only way to learn how to run was to get busy."

A friendly, but extremely hot. rivalry exists between the top three sprinters of the Lubbock Westerner squad. Earl Hutcherson, Don Decker and Charley Williams can all break the 10.5 mark on the century when conditions are right, and each has defeated the other two in meet or practice races. After Williams won the intra-squad event last week Hutcherson really buckled down to work, then took first place in the Invitational meet Saturday. Williams has a faster start than Hutcherson, but is more affected by wind or adverse weather conditions. Decker usually cops the runner-up spot in the 100 and is the top man in the 220.

Big Jim Wilson, the Westerners amazing sophomore, failed to take individual honors in the meet, but there was a good reason for his lag. Jim contracted a cold and sore throat Friday and definitely was not up to his best performance. He won fourth place in the shot, second in the discus and ran a lap on the second-place Cowhand 440 relay teams, but was unable to fill his post with the crack mile relay quartet. Jim is still the experts' choice for high man in the regional meet, however.

The first round defeat of Amarillo's Golden Sandie cagers at the state tournament was surprising, but not unexpected. The Sandies had a scrappy, smart quintet, but it definitely was not in the championship class.

McKay Brothers Are Delight Of Whiteface Fans, But Despair Of The Opposition

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

It's a good thing that Joe and Jack McKay of Whiteface High school aren't twins.

If they were, it's no telling what coaches of South Plains athletes would have done. The coaches might have resorted to drastic measures, in regards to themselves, for every time they looked on the athletic scene in Class B sports, there were the two McKay boys.

Not that they have seen the last of the two Whiteface athletes. The Brothers McKay will be around for the track season yet and, since this is Joe's last year in high school, there is no telling what the pair will do before school ends. Whatever it is, rival athletes and coaches will tell you that it won't be good for them.

The brothers are growing into something close to a legend at Whiteface, where they have practically taken over command of events on the athletic field for the past two years. They have sparked the football team, they have led the basketball squad and they form the backbone of the track sters. And they have been the despair of their rivals.

The McKay brothers were born in Spur, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. McKay. Joe., the eldest son, was born 18 years ago and Jack followed him two years later. There was nothing in their early childhood to indicate that they would grow up to harass coaches, except that they were normal, athletic youths.

Today Joe stands six feet, two inches, and weighs 172 pounds, while Jack is six feet, one inch, and tips the scales at 165 pounds. Both have even more growing to do.

They grew up on ranches, the McKay family proving to be nomadic at heart, for they went from Spur to other towns, then to Sudan and finally, four years ago, to Whiteface. Mr. McKay presently is serving as deputy sheriff of Cochran County and the family now lives in town.

The transposition to Whiteface marked the beginning of the McKay saga in athletics, for that is where the two boys came into their own. And L. S. Salser, their coach for the past two years, says that they are going to be hard to replace.

Joe, accompanied by Jack, went out for football two years ago and they both made the grade. For two seasons, Joe has played fullback on the Whiteface Antelope eleven and has gained the widespread respect of opponents. He crashed the line or ran the ends with consummate ease and, when Whiteface held the ball, was always a touchdown threat.

Moreover, Coach Salser declares that Joe has been the spark of the team and is a natural leader. "When Joe says to jump, the boys jump," Coach Salser states, with a smile of satisfaction on his face. "I hate to see him leave, for he made the ball club."

At the same time Joe was running from the fullback position, Jack was a pass-catching end and a fine defensive player. If the defense attempted to concentrate on stopping Joe, Whiteface passed to Jack. And vica versa, with Joe running the ball. Simple. Together they ran the opposition ragged and no situation was too tough for them to cope with in some fashion.

When the football season ended, the brothers reported for basketball, where they played forward and turned into the leading scorers. Either one or the other, for the past two years, has been the high scorer in every game, with one exception.

The one exception occurred one night when George Keith, a third-stringer at the start of this season, came into his own. But there also the McKay brothers enter the picture; the opposing coach used two men to guard Joe, allowing Keith to roam the court almost at will.

And now the track season is approaching and once again rival coaches are building in an effort to beat the McKays and Whiteface. There is every evidence that this will be hard to do, for although track depends more on several boys building up points, the McKay's generally are good for a large share in each meet.

Joe doubles in the shot put and discus, remaining strictly in the field events. He is good in each event and last year took second place in a tournament in Lubbock with his discus work.

Jack throws the shot also, but performs more valuably as a link on the mile relay team, one of the events that can clinch a close track meet. Yes, in track, as well as football and basketball, the McKay brothers play an important part.

What about their outside interests, the regard of fellow students and other activities?

Well, Joe plays the guitar and Jack, the violin, and their favorite leisure-hour fun is in teaming with Bobby Stegell, an electric-guitar player, to form a trio. They play for their own amusement and also for the entertainment of their friends.

They both bashfully admit to having particular girl friends, but the girls don't interfere with athletics in the McKay lives. They merely form an essential school link and a normal part in a high school boy's life.

In the classroom the boys are noted for being adequate students, not brilliant, but not dumb, just a little above average. The coach, at least, never has to worry about whether they will be eligible to play, for they always are.

Joe is a budding journalist in school, serving as editor of the paper, but he's not sure that he wants to go on into newspaper work.

Jack is vice president of the junior class, showing the regard in which he is held by his fellow students.

In a recent contest, Joe was selected as the handsomest boy in school and Jack was named the most popular. This shows that their fellow students think highly of them.

But it remained for Coach Salser to sum up the two boys. He said that the other athletes thought the world of the McKay boys and were willing to do anything for them. He said that he had never seen any resentment of their ability, that they are two grand boys to work with and that "They are a fine pair of boys," Coach Salser stated with emphasis. "Any coach would look good having them on his teams and when they leave, I don't know their teammates believed in them implicitly.

what I'll do."

Joe doesn't know what he will do either when he graduates from Whiteface High school. He fears that he won't be able to go to college on account of finances, but he would like to finish his education. He vows that if he goes anywhere he will go to Texas Tech, and the Red Raiders certainly could use him. Maybe Lubbock and South Plains sport fans still will see Joe in action for four years more, if he can hurdle the grade into college.

And, to close this on the same note on which it opened, South Plains coaches will not be sorry. to see him leave.

Dyer Says Brooklyn Is Team To Beat In NL Pennant Race

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 6 — Eddie Dyer, who has a pennant winner and a second place club to show for his two seasons as a major league manager, singled out the Brooklyn Dodgers today as the club to beat in the 1948 National league pennant race.

But he didn't sell his own St. Louis Cardinals short and he also put the Boston Braves and the New York Giants right up there in the running.

Giants Have Power

Sitting in the grandstand watching his club work out as he recuperated from being hit in the head by a batted ball, Dyer sized up the clubs this way:

"Naturally, with all their depth, youth and speed you have to string along with Brooklyn. But we fear the Giants' power and Boston is mighty dangerous."

The Giants, he recalled, were the only club to beat the Cardinals over the season last year—they broke even with the Dodgers.

"My," he exclaimed, "how those Giants murdered us with their hitting last year, particularly at the Polo grounds. We couldn't beg, borrow or steal a ball game there.

Braves Have Hitters

"And while you can't discount the kind of power they have, the kind that we and the Dodgers have, too, you just can't overlook those Braves. Just look at the records of 1947.

"They have two of the best pitchers in baseball in Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn. They led the league in hitting. And do you want to know why they didn't finish any better than third?

"All right, take a look at the fielding averages. The Braves were last in making doubles plays. If they could have made that double play, they could have won the pennant.

New Boston Shortstop

"Now I haven't seen this Alvin Dark play ball, but here is one thing I can tell you and that is if he plays shortstop like he played football for Louisiana state — and I officited in a lot of games he played in — the Braves will be able to make that double play.

"And then they'll be as rough as the Dodgers, Cardinals and Giants. And they could well be too tough for the three of us."

Arizona-Baylor Game Ducats Go On Sale Monday

DALLAS, March 6 (AP)—Baylor's Bears and Arizona's Wildcats meet here next week-end in a best two-out-of-three series with a spot in the NCAA western regional play-off at Kansas City as the prize.

It will be the first time for a member of the Border conference to be figured in the NCAA picture. Previously the top team of the Southwest conference got the tournament place.

Baylor, winner of the Southwest conference title, however, lost a game in early season to Arizona 62-54. That and the fact that the Wildcats, Border conference titlists, have a very good record pointed up the series between the two teams.

The first will be Friday night and the second Saturday night, with Southern Methodist university's Perkins gym the scene of the two-team tournament. If a third game is needed it will be Monday night. Starting time each night will be 8 o'clock (Central Standard).

James H. Stewart, executive secretary of the Southwest conference, announced today that tickets would be placed on sale here and at Baylor university Monday morning. They will be $1.50 with all of the 2800 seats in Perkins gym reserved.

Prince Signed By Lamesa Ball Club

LAMESA, March 6. (Spl).—James T. Prince, who played briefly with the Hubber team during the 1947 baseball season, and recipient of the 1947 Louisville Slugger trophy, has signed a contract to play with the Lamesa Lobos of the West Texas-New Mexico league, Lobo Owner Dan Y. Davis announced here today.

Prince, who was drafted by Lamesa during the winter, batted .429 in 108 games as first-baseman for the Midland club of the Longhorn league last season.

The Dallas slugger tentatively is scheduled to play in the outfield for Lamesa as playing manager George Sturdivant is expected to continue at the first-base slot this season.

Dodgers' Ed Stanky Moves To Braves In Trade For Sanders

BRADENTON, Fla., March 6 (AP)—The Boston Braves tonight acquired Second Baseman Eddie Stanky from the Brooklyn Dodgers for First Baseman Ray Sanders, holdout Outfielder 'Bama Rowell and a reported $60,000 cash.

In the event that Sanders, inactive since the middle of the 1946 season because of a badly fractured arm, is unable to make good, the Braves, it is reported would send the Dodgers an additional $60,000.

WHAT NICE TEETH—That, at least, is what Tuffy Truesdell might be saying in the picture above to Rodney the Eighth. Tuffy will attempt to gain a fall from Rodney Wednesday night in Sled Allen's arena and a capacity crowd is expected to be on hand, ready to run for the nearest exit. Tuffy has been wrestling alligators for years and is wondering now why he gave up the regular ring for his current work. The alligator, found chiefly in Southern American swamps, differs from the crocodile in that he has a broader, shorter snout and the teeth of the lower jaw fit into pits in the upper jaw, rather than into marginal notches. Regardless of the definition, Tuffy is welcome to his profession so far as sport fans are concerned.

Rodney, Wrestling Alligator, On Wednesday Mat Card

Tuffy Truesdell of St. Louis, Mo., is the most unenvied man in the wrestling profession today. Tuffy wrestles alligators.

And Wednesday night at Sled Allen's wrestling emporium, Tuffy is going to introduce Lubbock mat fans to Rodney the Eighth.

Rodney is a fugitive from the Chicago zoo representing a purchase price of $15. Some people might consider this a little high, especially if the reptile was purchased for exhibitions in which the opponent could be severely nipped.

But Truesdell doesn't look at it in that light. He thinks he bought a real bargain—and he doesn't mean for making alligator skin bags or shoes. He bought Rodney for the express purpose of having a wrestling opponent.

It's A Bruising Sport

There are healthier ways to make a living, as Truesdell admits, but he is getting used to alligator wrestling after 11 years of getting bruised the normal way in the ring. He's been wrestling the swamp monsters for less than a year and in that time has had two or three narrow escapes.

Once, when he had his head in the 'gator's mouth, the reptile closed his jaws on Tuffy's hand. Truesdell has marks in his palms to show the disbeliever, while he also has three shortened fingers to emphasize the alligator's strength.

Truesdell says that the alligator is capable of exerting pressure of 800 pounds when crunching something between its massive jaws. This is comparable to breaking a two-by-four with one swish.

A special wire netting will be strung around the ring before Tuffy and Rodney exchange passes, while ringside seats will be moved back for additional safety.

Getz On Regular Card

On the regular card Wednesday night, Al Getz will battle it out with Ace Freeman in a best two out of three falls match. Getz lost his Southwestern Junior Heavyweight title in Amarillo last month and is in bad humor, while Freeman has been impressing local fans with his ability and is said to be more than a match for Getz. The semi-final, also a two out of three falls go, will bring together rowdy Pat O'Dowdy and durable Dory Funk in a match that is certain to please the fans. Both are exponents of rough and ready tactics.

Karl Gray of Wilwaukee takes on Gorilla Poggi, the grand old man of the mat, in a 20-minute prelim match that will be packed with action.

Mitt Meet Slated March 25-27

The first Annual Lubbock Invitational Boxing tournament, sponsored by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled to be held here March 25, 26 and 27, with a large field of contestants entered.

Bill Buck, who is promoting the tourney for the Jaycees, also hopes to have LaVern Roach of Plainview, middleweight boxing contender, as a guest referee for an added attraction.

Prizes For Winners

Buck said yesterday that the Jaycees intended to make this an annual tournament, with attractive prizes for both winners and losers. Tentative plans call for leather jackets for all winners, with a golden glove on a tie clasp, of some other decorative award, for all the losers.

Two classes will be open to contestants, high school and open, without a novice division. Most of the boys who fought in the Lubbock Golden Gloves tournament are expected to enter.

Letters of invitation will be sent by Buck to all known boxers on the South Plains but, since records are not complete, Buck said that some boys might be overlooked. To avoid confusion, all boxers wishing to enter may write Buck in care of the Jaycees in Lubbock.

Proceeds For Charity

Proceeds from the Lubbock bouts will be used entirely for charitable causes, Buck declared, with the main part of the gate being used to replete the Jaycees' deplenished charity fund.

A scale of admission charges has been set, with general admission tickets going for 85 cents each, reserved seats, selling at $1.25 apiece and ringside tickets calling for $1.75.

All bouts will be held in Sled Allen's wrestling arena, which will seat approximately 1,200 persons.

Lubbock Club Will Be Host At Skeet Shoot Here Today

The Lubbock Gun Club shooters will entertain the Brownfield Gun Club in an inter-city skeet and regulation shoot this afternoon at the Lubbock club's range in Yellowhouse Canyon.

O. C. 'Si" Gooden of the Lubbock club said that the shoot would begin at 1:30, with the public invited to attend. The Lubbock club has bought new targets and everything is being done to make the shoot today one of the best in weeks.

Gooden also declared that the Lubbock Gun Club is preparing to move its range out of the Canyon to another location, which will be more convenient for shooters. When the range has been moved, local shooters will be host to Amarillo, Sweetwater, Brownfield and other clubs in another inter-city shoot.

Border Olympics This Weekend

950 Track And Field Stars To Participate In Laredo Meet

LAREDO, March 6 (AP)—More than a dozen records will be in danger next Friday and Saturday when 950 athletes battle time and distance in the sixteenth annual Border Olympics.

Sixty-one schools have entered this first outdoor track and field meet in the nation for the year.

Longhorns Defend Title

Defending champion University of Texas heads the seven entries in the university class with the Longhorns expected to encounter trouble from Texas A. and M. and Oklahoma A. and M.

There are 13 in the college division with Southwest Texas state, North Texas state, Alilene Christian and East Texas state due to battle it out for the title.

Border Meet Records

Records that may take a going over are: College and university class, 49.2 in the 440-yard dash by Art Harnden, Texas A. and M.; 42.2 in the 440-yard relay, by Texas; 4:22.6 in the mile run, by Blaine Rideout of North Texas state; 3.27 in the mile relay by East Texas state; 45 feet 8¼ inches in the shot put by George Kadera of Texas A. and M.; 29 feet 9¾ inches in the broad jump by Harvey Crittenden of East Texas state; 157 feet 8 inches in the discus throw, by Jess Petty of Rice.

High school division, 14.7 in the 120-yard high hurdles by August Erfurth of Brackenridge (San Antonio); 22.2 in the 220-yard dash, by Charley Parker of Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio); 4:45.6 by Jim McMahon of San Antonio Tech; 3:34.1 in the mile relay by Paschal (Fort Worth); 138 feet in the discus throw, by Bryan of Brackenridge (San Antonio) 5 feet 10¾ inches in the high jump by Don Graves of Brownwood.

New Marks Expected

Harnden and Kadera are back and are expected to smash the 440-yard, shot and discus marks. Texas is due to beat its record in the spring relay and Jerry Thompson of Texas appears certain to better Rideout's mile mark. Texas A. and M. and Oklahoma A. and M. each should blast the mile relay record and John Robertson of Texas should erase the broad jump mark.

State tax collections in the United States varied from a high of $84.05 per capita in Washington to a low of $29.54 in Nebraska in 1946.

Five Fishermen Are Rescued In Raging Storm Off East Coast

NAUSET ON CAPE COD, Mass., March 6 (AP)—A breeches buoy hauled five fishermen to safety across roaring surf from their breaking dragger today as the ancient alarm of "wreck" raised villagers to help Coast Guardsmen on this ships' graveyard coast.

Four other crewmen on the New Bedford fisherman, Cape Ann, stayed with the ice-coated, pitching vessel to guard a $4,000 cargo of scallops, most of which was saved. They "stepped off" to safety after the tide pushed the split-astern vessel up on the beach.

Went Back To Aid Others

The breeches buoy—historic lifeline of coast-wrecked sailors—was rigged for the first time in 28 years on this wintry beach by Coast Guardsmen and townsmen who turned out from three seaside villages.

The five rescued rocked one at a time in a canvas bucket across 100 yards of heaving surf shortly after daybreak in near zero temperature and 30-mile an hour winds.

Wet and cold, the rescued went back at low water to aid their mates carry off the scallops from the dragger which had pitched over on her side.

Cooked During Storm

The Coast Guard had sent the breeches buoy back for its sixth rescue run when the four aboard, including Capt. Axel Nerland, 50, yelled they were staying with the ship "on account of the cargo."

The four went below decks for shelter from cold and wind and reported ashore that they'd been playing cards while waiting.

A hardy cook, they said, stood waist deep in water in the galley to cook them bacon and eggs

Crewman Joseph Costakes, 19, of New Bedford, making his first fishing voyage, said "it was freezing cold and we were soaking wet in the five to six hours we waited.

"I was under water, too, a good part of the way coming in on the breeches buoy line."

The Coast Guard quoted the captain as saying the Cape Ann went aground about 3 a. m. after Nauset light had been mistaken for a lightship stationed about 10 miles away.

Two Solons, Stenographer And A Reporter Show Up For "Live" Gambling Ship Debate

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 6 — Room 346 in the old House office building is a lovely place.

It's a study in red. From the costly drapes and thick carpet to the leather chairs which sink in deep and on dull days are likely to be sleep-provoking.

NICHOLS

Yesterday, the House judiciary subcommittee had advertised a session. It was to debate a bill which would prohibit the operation of gambling ships. It sure sounded interesting.

Rep. Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, the committee chairman, came down with the gavel for order. The youngish congressman, neat in a fresh chocolate-brown suit, looked around the committee table and blinked. He was sitting up there all alone.

Audience Of One

He looked down from the stand and blinked a couple more times. Sitting there, pen poised for action, was the committee stenographer. Plus an audience of one Me.

Mr. Case asked if there was a witness to testify. There wasn't at the moment. But a second later the door swished and in burst Sen. William F. Knowland of California, all out of breath.

It was like a church meeting with the whole congregation bunched in the back pew. The chairman said it would be a lot more chummy if everybody moved up close. Senator Knowland took his cue and went up beside Mr Case. The audience (me) scooted his chair up in front of the rostrum.

He Begins Reading

"Mr. Chairman," the senator began very formally, like it was a regular meeting, "I would like to read this bill."

He began reading it.

"Be it enacted . . . that as used in this act: (a) the term 'gambling ship' means a vessel used principally for the operation of one or more gambling establishments."

Case butted in at that point to say that he had read the bill and also so had the absentee members of his committee. As if it made any difference. It wouldn't be necessary for the witness to repeat it. But did the senator have any comment?

Free Taxi Service

He did. He said that years ago gambling operators used to coal up a ship and take it outside the three-mile limit, off the California coast. Then the gamblers would provide people who had a bob or so to risk at the roulette wheel with free "taxi" service out and back.

The California attorney general found his hands tied. Except one time when the skipper of the gambling ship misplaced his compass and dropped anchor a few yards this side of the limit.

The cops went to work, the senator said, but that wised up the gamblers and never again were they caught with their anchor down in the wrong place.

Have Sharp Teeth

Senator Knowland said the proposed law would wear a set of sharp teeth, and allow the bluecoats to make a snatch outside the limit so long as the gambling was going on aboard an American ship.

Mr. Case observed that the testimony of the gentleman from California had been enlightening. He, indeed, had been a good witness. And did the man in the blue suit out yonder in the audience have any objections to the bill.

I didn't, an dthe hearing stood adjourned.

In 1912, a proposal for a 50,000-mile U.S. national system of highways was assailed as a frivolous expenditure of public funds for the benefit of a few wealthy pleasure seekers.

Atkins, and their wives; a niece, Mrs. William Drew Young, and her husband and daughter, Suzanne; and another niece, Linda Lane Paxton.

George W. Atkins had been a druggist at Cisco 24 years. He married Miss Kate Bacon of Cisco. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Katy Lou.

Soldier's Reunion With Wife And Son Is Blocked By Fire

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6. (U.P.)—Cpl. Stephen D. Wood, jr., stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., wangled a week end pass and arrived at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Lena Mitchell, 37.

His wife and young son started from El Paso, Tex., to join him here.

Their reunion will never take place.

A flash fire broke out in the Mitchell's house this morning. Wood helped Patricia Ann Mitchell, 9, and Frederick, 14, through a second floor window to a porch roof from which they escaped to the ground.

Firemen found Wood's body near an open window. After helping the children out, his strength had ebbed and he was trapped.

Dog Saves Mistress' Life But Loses Own

TEXARKANA, March 6. (AP)—A two-month old pup had saved his mistress' life today but died in the effort.

The Pomeranian, called "Luck", died as a result of flames that gutted his owner's house but not until his frantic barking had awakened Mrs. F. K. Doyle and allowed her to escape.

Mrs. Doyle told firemen she was asleep shortly after 9 p. m. yesterday when the puppy's barking awoke her. Already flames were licking at her bedroom wall.

She opened the flame-filled bathroom where "Luck" had been placed and pulled the badly burned dog into the street. She said the pup died after several attempts to lick her face.

The fire started in the rear of the small home and caused an estimated $4,000 damage.

An increase in the number of fatal accidents in the United States was recorded each year in 1945, 1946 and 1947 although the number of fatal motor car accidents decreased slightly in 1947.

Bledsoe Looking Forward To An Expansion Program As Oil Activities Loom For Area

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

BLEDSOE, Cochran county, March 6.—This little frontier community of the South Plains, situated a scant two miles from the New Mexico State line, has the smell of oil in its nostrils and soon may become a busy, bustling oil town.

For the black gold is slowly edging its way nearer to this ranch supply community and now within seven miles of it, over in Lea county, New Mexico, is a fine flowing well. To the south 12 miles is another well, the No. 1 Maston.

Town Ideally Located

When the play gets heavy in the upper reaches of the Permian basin expansion, Bledsoe stands ideally located to become a boom town. If it comes, the little Texas town will not be the first pinpoint on the map to jump into prominence overnight on the crest of a wave of oil.

Already residents of Bledsoe are looking forward to a pick-up of activities. One oil well supply company is reported to have purchased a block of land near the Santa Fe railroad station, where a spur line of the AT&SF ends after running the 75 miles from Lubbock.

Bledsoe, since 1925, has been the shipping point for a big territory, including large areas of Roosevelt and Lea counties in New Mexico and at one time before the advent of the heavy trucks shipped more cattle than any single point on the Santa Fe.

Highway Bonds Voted

The railroad will be a factor, of course, in the shipment of heavy materials and machinery to supply oil wells in this area, but what appears to be more important is the forthcoming construction of hard-surfaced highways through Bledsoe, bonds for which were voted last fall by Cochran county voters.

At the present time, Bledsoe doesn't even appear on the Texas map published by the Texas Highway commission, but with the hard-surfacing of the east-west route through Bledsoe, Lubbock will be provided, with a shorter route to Roswell, N. M. Additional pavement will be given Bledsoe in a north-south farm-to-market road to be paved under the Cochran county program.

Already Bledsoe is visited by carloads of "prospectors" nearly every day from nearby Texas and New Mexico points. W. G. Griffin, who is in the real estate business here and has lived here for 18 years, says there have been many inquiries about the prices of property, leases and royalty in the area.

Development Planned

P. E. Jordan of Clovis, N. M., recently purchased 200 town lots in Bledsoe and plans development of the business district. Lots range in price from $50 to $200. Oil leases are priced from $12 to $15 an acre and what royalty is for sale surrounding proven areas a score of miles away range from $30 to $35 an acre. Ranch land is selling from $10 to $15 an acre.

But regardless of whether oil development has any effect on Bledsoe or not, residents here believe the paving of the highways will do a lot for the community. It will greatly aid farmers and ranchers over a wide area.

Last season the Bledsoe gin turned out 1,800 bales of cotton, a pretty good total for any South Plains gin and in spite of the drouth of the past two years more than 80 cars of grain sorghum were shipped from Bledsoe.

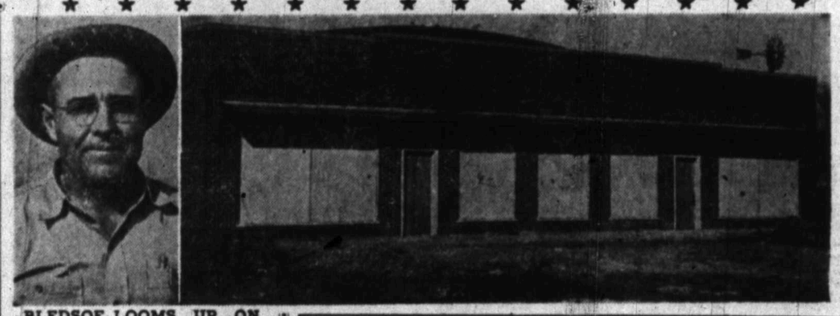

One of the Bledsoe business men who is preparing for expansion of the community is H. G. Griffiths, hardware and implement dealer and grain and feed man.

New Building Completed

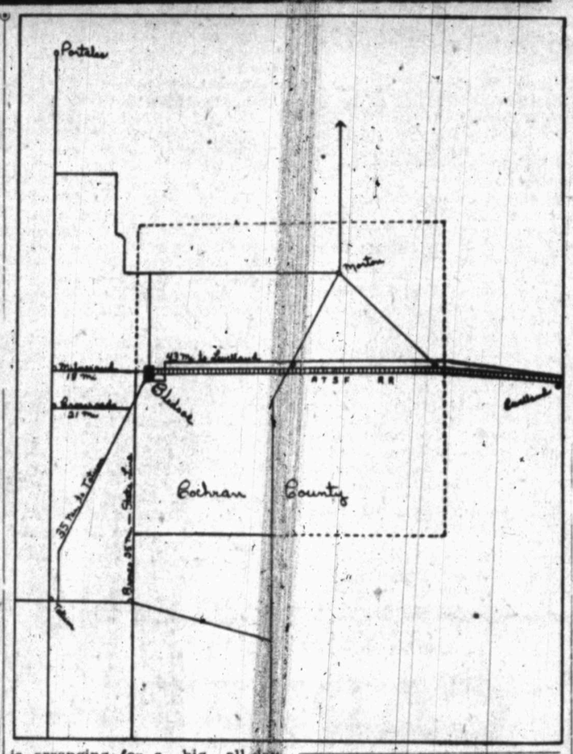

Griffiths, who has been in business here since 1931, recently completed a new and modern brick, tile and concrete building, 700 by 100 feet, on the main street of the town and soon will move his business into the new location from his old store near the railroad station. The old store will be maintained as a feed and grain warehouse.

Griffiths plans a formal opening of his new business on April 6 and is arranging for a big all-day party.

Bledsoe, named after the late S. T. Bledsoe, president of the Santa Fe, now has a population of approximately 200 persons; with 175 children attending the Bledsoe school. It is served by lines of the Rural Electrification administration projects for power and by the Southwestern Associated Telephone company.

BLEDSOE LOOMS UP ON THE MAP—For the past 23 years the little frontier community of Bledsoe in west Cochran county has been in existence, but of recent months it has been experiencing growing pains. With the paving of highways, shown on the map to the right, it is due to become even more active. Top pictures show H. G. Griffiths, Bledsoe hardware and implement dealer, and a new building for his store recently completed. The building is one of the finest business structures thus far to be constructed in Cochran county. (Staff Photos)

Southern Revolt Against Truman Beginning To Affect Popularity

BY GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., March 6—The anti-Truman revolt among Southern Democratic leaders shows signs of spreading to the rank and file of Southern Democratic voters.

Although the President still runs far in the lead in popularity as the 1948 candidate, his percentage in the latest Institute poll of the South has dropped considerably since late January. Balloting between February 4 and February 29 finds James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, ex-Secretary of State, and Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia coming up in popularity as possible 1948 Democratic candidates.

Judging by the survey it would appear that the anti-Truman revolt which was for several weeks pretty much confined to the "leader level" in the South has begun to penetrate down to the voter level. Whether it will continue far enough to constitute a serious threat to the Truman forces remains to be seen.

Next Choice Studied

If the revolt does happen to develop into an all-out affair, one question that will inevitably arise is, who are the next most popular Democrats in the South so far as they are concerned?

The Institute's survey shows that next to Truman the most popular choice of Southern Democratic voters is George C. Marshall, Secretary of State, with Byrnes and Byrd next in order.

The following table shows how sentiment changed in the South between January and February. It was on February 2 that President Truman announced his civil rights program which irritated some Southern leaders because of its recommendations for a Federal anti-lynch law, for action against poll taxes, for a Federal F.E.P.C. law and other civil rights measures.

Southern Democratic Voters	Jan.	Feb.
Truman	73%	60%
Marshall	12	12
Byrnes	5	10
Byrd	3	9
Others	4	5
No choice	3	4

The "others" include scattered votes for James A. Farley, Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson and Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal.

The fact that Truman is less popular does not necessarily mean, however, that the Republicans have gained popularity in the South. While fewer Southerners may approve of Truman as the Democratic nominee, they still don't want to vote for Thomas E. Dewey, or Henry Wallace or any other non-Democratic standard-bearer. That is shown in "trial heat" races reported by the Institute in February.

They showed that in a three-cornered race between Truman, Dewey and Wallace, the South voted 75 per cent for Truman at the time of the survey, 19 per cent for Dewey, 1 per cent for Wallace and 5 per cent "no opinion." In races involving Truman against Stassen and Wallace, and Truman against Taft and Wallace, the outcome was similarly anti-Republican.

Threats of Democratic revolt in the South have been made before. In 1944 there were stirrings against Franklin D. Roosevelt. A number of Southern leaders threatened then, too, to withhold electoral votes. However, the revolt came to little, except in Texas, where a new party, the Texas Regulars, opposed to Roosevelt, polled about 12 per cent of the vote in the November election.

Brunk of Tipton; and two sisters, Mrs. McWilliams of Slaton and Mrs. Lester Baird of Santa Anna, Calif.

James Stone, 34, of St. Francis hotel, was given emergency treatment at West Texas hospital Saturday, after a collision at Tenth street and Ave. L. He was a passenger in the car of Bonnie Ruth Walker, 23, of 906 Ave. R. Her car was in collision with a car driven by Willie B. McMillan, 25, of route 2, Floydada. Stone was dismissed from the hospital after treatment. There were no other injuries in the accident.

E. E. Sparks, 38, of 715 Fifth street, suffered a back injury about 9 a. m. Saturday, when a truck backed over him at Tenth street and Ave. H. His condition was not considered serious at West Texas hospital late Saturday. He was taken to the hospital in a Bryan McDonald & Son Funeral home ambulance.

Condition of Evelyn Clewell, 2208 Main street, who underwent surgery at West Texas hospital about two weeks ago was reported as "improving" late Saturday. She entered the hospital February 22.

Million Dollar Suit Is Denied At Dallas

DALLAS, March 6 (AP)—Federal Judge William H. Atwell today denied the million dollar anti-trust suit brought by a Dallas theater operator, then delivered a stern lecture about the case.

Judge Atwell said that B. R. McClendon, president of Tri-State theaters, in his suit against Interstate circuit, Robb and Rowley theaters and major film distributors "had not proven damages, at all."

To all parties, Judge Atwell said from the bench:

"If we stop for a sober moment we will find that the monopoly statutes were originally intended for the good of the people, not the amusement of the people sitting in picture shows.

"They were designed to protect that which they eat, wear and live upon."

Judge Atwell pointed out that three profit parties were involved—the producers, distributors and exhibitors—and added:

"But the major profit went to the glamorous movie stars who appear in the extravaganzas. When the government needs money, though, we can call upon them for taxes."

McClendon alleged the defendants operated in restraint of trade, to the end that the theater chains had an advantage in releasing pictures for showing. He operates the Casa Linda theater and formerly operated the Beverly Hills before selling it last year.

Chinchillas live in communities, burrow deep holes in the ground for living quarters, and sit up when eating, like squirrels.

Peron Forces Facing Test In First Nationwide Election

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, March 6. (AP)—President Juan Peron said today he would set a civic example by leaving the hospital tomorrow to vote in the congressional elections.

Mrs. Peron, speaking from the hospital where her husband underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis early in the week, predicted a sweeping victory for administration candidates. It was the closing speech of the campaign by Peron supporters.

It will be the first nationwide election since Jeron was chosen president Feb. 24, 1946. At stake are 83 seats in the lower house. The Senate, where the Peron forces occupy 28 of 30 seats, is not involved in the balloting.

The number of one-room U.S. schools declined at the rate of about 4,000 a year during the 1920s and 3,600 a year during the 1930s.

COW PAYS FOR HIS PAPER

ST. ANTHONY, Ida. (U.P.)—Lorin Campbell traded one of his best cows for a year's subscription to a local weekly newspaper. The cow had died and Campbell just got enough for her from an animal products company to pay his subscription. So he handed over the check to the Teton Peak-Chronicle.

Men, Regain Youthful Vigor

Here Is a Vital Message to Men of 40, 60 or Older Men Who Feel That The Years Have Let Them Down

If life apparently has lost its zest, you again may be able to enjoy life as you did in your youth. If added years have slowed down your vim, vitality and youthful pleasures, here is a simple method that may change your whole outlook on life. Don't feel old and worn out at 40, 50 or more. Why not try to regain the verve and zest of a much younger man. Just ask your druggist for Caltron stimulating tablets. Take as directed on label. There is nothing harmful in Caltron tablets. Take as long as you feel you need them. Added years may no longer deprive you of desired enjoyments. Why be the victim of the "older" years?

Don't Be Discouraged

Goethe finished Faust at 83; Connie Mack is still managing the Athletics at 85; Titian painted masterpieces between 80 and 99; Clara Barton was an active president of the Red Cross at 83; Verdi was composing, Victor Hugo was writing, Corot was painting long after 80.

So don't let the added years get you down. Why not try Caltron tablets today? Available at all druggists.

MARKET TRADING SLOW
NEW YORK, March 6. (AP)—The stock market today finished another one of the slow weeks of the past several years with modest recoveries predominating in most departments.

Aircrafts came to life in the short proceedings on revived hopes for big government orders.

Steels did virtually nothing. Motors, rails, oils, and rubbers held to a slim groove throughout the two-hour stretch.

As during the week, some professional short covering and other buying was attributed to the belief any turn for the better in the news would bring a good rally. Selling was attributed partly to persistent bearishness over the international picture.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .2 of a point at 61.6 and on the week showed a net gain of .6 of a point, widest comeback since the final week of January. Of 622 issues registering, 347 rose, 104 fell and 171 were unchanged.

Volume for the final session of 330,000 shares compared with 380,000 last Saturday. The week's aggregate of 3,826,825 shares was the smallest six-day figure since the period concluded Feb. 21, which was a bottom since last May 10.

On the day Coca-Cola added a point at 169 on only a few sales in response to a lifted dividend and earnings. Ahead major fractions to a point of so were Douglas Aircraft 87½, United Aircraft 28 7/8, Loew's 17½, Union Carbide 99 and Schenley 26½. Elsewhere variations mostly were in small amounts.

The day's bond division was relatively steady.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, March 6 (AP) — Wheat led a general downturn in grains today. More snow in the southwest and failure of the government to announce purchases of flour brought about the selling. Corn and oats slumped in sympathy with the bread grain.

In Washington, the Agriculture department said wires of acceptances of flour offers would not be sent to mills until after the close Monday.

Cash corn was offered a little more freely by the country. Spot market prices of both corn and oats were lower. A leading cereal interest withdrew from the cash oats market.

Wheat closed ¾ to 1 cents lower, May $2.44¼-2.44, corn was 2¾-4¾ lower, May $2.24¼-2.24, oats were 1¾ lower, to 1 cent higher, May 81.14¾. Only the lightly traded March oats contract advanced. Soybeans fell the 2 cent daily limit, March $3.66.

Texas Labor Leaders Opposed To Prison Industrial Program

By O. B. LLOYD, JR.
United Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 6—Texas labor leaders today flayed a proposed industrial expansion of the Texas prison system and denounced it as encroaching on American enterprise.

The rebuff from the executive committee of the Texas state Federation of Labor (A.F.L.) was the first fire drawn by O. B. Ellis, new manager of the prison system.

So far, Ellis' plan for modernization of the system's problem-ridden prisons has drawn support from Gov. Beauford H. Jester, the prison board and various legislators.

Improvement Plan Urged

The board, meeting here today, announced it was "inalterably opposed to the employment of prisoners or prison-made goods for goods or services presently manufactured or supplied by free labor and business concerns operating under the American system of free enterprise."

Ellis, urging adoption of a $4,000,000 improvement program aimed at making the prison system self-supporting to a large degree, has suggested that prison-made goods be sold to other state institutions.

In no instance has he suggested that the goods be sold on the open market.

However, the statement by the executive committee was interpreted as opposing any action that would substitute any goods or services now being supplied by private enterprise.

Apprentice Program Opposed

The executive board, leveling a broadside of opposition toward all industrial phases of the proposed program, announced:

"In our opinion, it is not the function of a prison system, supervising the punishment of criminals, to establish and maintain apprentice training programs which must inevitably do serious injury to free citizens."

The board admitted it was "cognizant of the problems confronting the prison officials," and urged "the humane treatment and housing of criminals incarcerated in state institutions . . ." The board, the statement added, was in agreement that prisoners should be "so far as possible, usefully employed in healthful occupations."

There was no elaboration on whether the latter phrase referred specifically to farming, widely practiced as the main occupation on most of the Texas prison farms.

The board, evidently planning a continuing program of opposition, announced it would "protest with all vigor any encroachment by the policies of the prison administration upon the rights and privileges or the present or future welfare of free, law-abiding citizens."

The Woman's Angle

No matter how old a person is, he is still resentful of unrequested advice offered for his own good.

FOR THE CHILDREN

THETA Rho girls, an organization sponsored by Rebekah lodge, and their sponsor, Mrs. G. W. Blair, want to take over the project of finding clothing for Lubbock's underprivileged grade school children. Mrs. Blair says she has a room that can be used as a storage place and those who want to help may bring garments by her home, 2407 Tenth, or telephone her at 2-2594 and she will try to send for them.

If the clothing is clean and wearable, but in need of repairs, that will be all right, because Mrs. Blair knows of a group that would be glad to do a few mending chores.

After noticing the plea for socks, underwear and top clothes for a number of Lubbock children, made by Mrs. Marjorie Brasher, school nurse, Mrs. Blair hastened down the next morning to volunteer. Miss Buna Lofland has donated several pairs of children's socks.

GIRL PREACHER—Kathryn Sensabaugh, 18-year-old junior student in McMurry college, Abilene, conducted a revival last week at Trinity Methodist church. She was licensed to preach by the Abilene Methodist district a year ago and is entitled to become a "supply" pastor but not a regular itinerant minister of the conference. She cannot perform a marriage ceremony, officiate at a baptism or preside at the communion service.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Sensabaugh and niece of Mrs. Frank M. Maddox of Lubbock, Miss Sensabaugh is the fifth Methodist minister in her family and is granddaughter of Dr. O. F. Sensabaugh who was presiding elder of the Abilene district in 1916-17. She is a vivacious, laughing-eyed young girl, who wears her hair in a short brush bob and who "went out for track" and earned a letter in volley ball at Ballinger High school where she was graduated from high school.

Irish Visitor Marvels At Food And Conveniences In America

By OPAL DIXON

(Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer)

CONVENIENCES and abundance of food available to the housewife in the United States are marvels to Miss Margo Ryan, young visitor in Lubbock from Ireland.

"People spend a whole day at home preparing a meal," she said.

The marketing problem is one of the major causes of the time required in preparing meals. Nothing—not even milk—is delivered in northern Ireland, said Miss Ryan. The housewife must make exhaustive visits to store after store to find items needed. Rationing is in effect. The housewife often takes her children with her, because of difficulty in finding anyone to look after the children while she shops.

Miss Ryan said, "You have so much to choose from and the price is about half what you would pay for them in Ireland." She referred to clothes and groceries.

She finds the salads here a novelty to her. Salads are not eaten much in Ireland except in summer—and then on a cold plate. She is not accustomed to eating them with hot foods. The variety in salads, also is new to her. Although tomatoes, lettuce, watercress, cucumber and other items might be combined in a green summer salad in Ireland, she is not accustomed to oranges, pineapple and other fruits and even cheese being combined in a salad.

Is Hostess At Airport

In speaking of preparing meals at home, Miss Ryan was referring to northern Ireland and also to Scotland and England. Rationing is in affect in those areas. "Home" to her is near Belfast in North Ireland, although she works as a ground hostess at Shannon airport in South Ireland. Rationing is not in effect in South Ireland.

Miss Ryan is a guest of Mrs. Charles L. Cobb, 3207 Twenty-fifth, who lived in Belfast before coming to this country. Both Miss Ryan and Mrs. Cobb attended Queens university in Belfast and their families and ancesters have been friends for generations.

She has worked at the Shannon airport about two years and has met persons from various countries on international trips.

Mrs. Roosevelt once arrived, bound for a conference in Europe and was delayed three days because of mechanical trouble on a plane. Bob Hope came in on another flight about the time Mrs. Roosevelt arrived and stayed long

Howdy folks,

Well, I sure thought I was tipsy when I walked into the Decorators Studio one day this week. The first table to catch my eye was set with the "Town and Country" pottery. This new tableware has a modern slant to it that will certainly make conversation and the colors are noteworthy, too! All these features and so inexpensive.

At last silver hollow ware has arrived into the modern age. Anne and Evelyn are in ecstasies over the lovely new pieces by Royal Hickman that have the simplicity and grace so essential to our present day living. Of special note is a superb punch bowl that would glorify the most elaborate tea table. When you're behind the Coral Door this week, I guarantee you will spot this good-looking piece immediately.

Fredda was gallavanting around the country again this week. One day she was in Ralls, the next, flying to Wichita Falls with a bag full of lovely room set-ups that will thrill certain clients there. She had such a long list of people who want to see her. The girls say they won't expect her until she appears.

Guess I'll sign off and help with the gift wrapping rush. The Studio has really blossomed out with brides this week and has several more that must be kept secret just yet. Some of the young ladies are being wise and selecting their china, silver, crystal, and pottery now, although their weddings are not until late summer. They will be assured the lovely things they have dreamed of having.

Be looking for you at the Decorators Studio, 1202 Ave. N.

'Bye now,

Grandpa Nosey

House Robbers Are Captured

PITTSBURGH, March 6. (AP)—Two house robbers sought in a night long search by a small army of Police were captured today still handcuffed together some 10 miles from the scene where they shot down and wounded two radio patrolmen.

The robbers had made their way overland through the hamlet of McMurray where they hired a taxicab. The driver, noting they were handcuffed, became suspicious and drove into an open gasoline station where two state policemen were checking cars in a widespread search for the gunmen.

One Is Wounded

One of the robbers was wounded in the right shoulder. Chief of Alleghany County Detectives C. S. Johnston identified the men as John Wilson, about 26, and Edward D. Pofi, who was wounded. Both are from Pittsburgh.

Johnston said both had previous records, and added, "this capture was effected by one of the finest examples of all-out police cooperation I have ever known. State, county, City, township and borough police all mustered full forces in this successful hunt."

Chief of Police John V. Miskaunas, of Bethel township, two of whose officers fell victim to the robbers bullets, directed the search.

Hoard Of Gold Coins Believed Buried At Time Of Cromwell Invasion Found In Eire

DUBLIN, March 6. (U.P.)—Three Irish woods workers, aided by a family of rabbits, have uncovered a hoard of gold coins believed buried by an Irish army paymaster when Oliver Cromwell invaded the Emerald Isle three centuries ago, it was reported today.

The hoard, tentatively valued at $8,000 but worth much more at present day gold prices, was found in the woods near Port Arlington, 40 miles west of Dublin, last week.

The three men who found the coins—Joe Clarke, Joe Maher and Mike Daly—were awarded $1,200 each for surrndering the coins to the National Museum.

Clark and Maher said they found the hoard when they saw a rabbit drop something at the mouth of its burrow while they were passing with a load of timber.

They investigated and discovered that the rabbits were housecleaning their burrow of gold coins. Digging, they found hundreds of coins in a pile with a few remnants of a wooden box nearby.

TEST RECOVERS OIL

HOUSTON, March 6 (AP) — A wildcat test in northeast Harris county recovered oil. Sun Oil company said the No. 1 Bossier in the F. Rankin survey recovered 360 feet of oil, 360 feet of mud, oil and water and 180 feet of salt water on a drill stem test between 8140 and 8167 feet.

Cotton Industry Meets Demand

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP) — Times have changed in the cotton texfile industry, too. The mills and converters are looking for customers.

Prices haven't dropped noticeably yet, but trade sources say they are softening. Buyers are staying home.

The industry is now operating at a rate of 11 billion yards a year, the highest peace-time total on record. In the war year of 1942 the mills turned out 12 billion yards.

Supply Meets Demand

The Department of Commerce recognizes the change in the cotton situation from the days when sheets and white shirts were collector's items.

The department formally proclaims today that the supply of many types of cotton fabrics is "clearly in balance with demand." That means the industry will not be asked to work out voluntary allocation agreements.

Textile men say nothing could have come of such plan except confusion, and perhaps price supports.

No Gray Market Now

The government's interest in the cotton textile supply situation started more than a year ago when there were acute shortages and prices were climbing. Those were the days when the "gray market" operators were asking, and getting, prices far above mill contract quotations.

Now, the trade says, such operators who have stocks on their hands and want to unload can't find a customer.

Custom made diapers in pastel silks and tartan plaid cottons have gone on sale in New York department stores. In the same section, a girl of five can get a dress with a bustle, her brother a double-breasted herringbone.

Marlin Women Give Clothes To Germans

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Mar. 6. (AP)—Thanks to Marlin, Tex., 40 German girls are wearing new clothes tonight.

Ten boxes of clothing donated by the women of Marlin were distributed to teen-aged frauleins at a party sponsored by American women who are assisting in a German youth program here.

The donation resulted from an appeal by Mrs. Louis Smith, who is employed here by the U. S. Department of the Army. She wrote her mother, Mrs. Dunn Emmerson of Marlin, who enlisted other Marlin women in the project.

"I am so grateful to the American ladies who sent me this nice clothing," said Sigrid Schlemmer, 16, one of the happy frauleins. "I appreciate the work of the German youth administration because it gives me an opportunity to meet Americans and continue my studies in music and art."

One Man Killed And Another Seriously Injured In Crash

SAN MARCOS, March 6. (U.P.)—Louis Allen Dobson, Corpus Christi, was in a serious condition in a San Marcos hospital today, suffering from injuries received last night in an auto-bus collision which killed Ray W. White, a San Antonio salesman.

White's car overturned and skidded into the bus, Mays County Sheriff Jack Gray said, and White was pinned in the wreckage beneath the bus.

FORT WORTH, March 6. (U.P.)—Registration gets under way tomorrow for the 35th annual convention of the Texas Wholesale Grocers association at the Texas hotel.

"Alice In Wonderland" Will Be Presented Twice At High School Here On Thursday

The musical adaption of the Lewis Carrol classic, "Alice in Wonderland," will come to life on the Senior High school stage Thursday afternoon and night, when the Penthouse Production of New York will present performances under auspices of the Lubbock Association for Childhood Education.

The production will be presented in a matinee performance at 4 o'clock and night performance at 8 o'clock Thursday.

Characters To Be Shown

Alice, the young lady who sojourns into Wonderland, had merely to fall asleep and dream of the many places and creatures she was to meet. The many characters she dreams of will have parts in the production as presented here.

The White Rabbit will cut his capers while the Mad Hatter scurries about inviting everyone to his "mad" tea party. The Dormouse, the whimsical Cheshire cat, the sad-faced Mock Turtle singing the famous "soup" song, the malevolent Duchess the Red and White Queens, lovable Humpty Dumpty, Tweedle-Dee and Dum are a few of the cast of characters.

Caterpillar To Dance

A highlight of the musical will be when a 20-foot caterpillar comes to life and dances merrily about in the enchanted forest. There also is a dancing horse which "talks".

The ACE is bringing the production here with the main purpose of bringing good music to Lubbock children.

Miss Evelyn Jones is president of ACE and Mrs. J. T. Shaver is general manager for the production.

Ticket prices are 60 cents for children and $1.20 for adults. Tickets are on sale in the offices of the principals of Lubbock public schools.

Census In Lubbock Independent School District Makes Progress

At the end of the first week, the census enumeration for the Lubbock Independent School district was well ahead of the same period a year ago, according to A. C. Jackson school business manager, and A. F. Rasor, census supervisor. The census for local schools is expected to exceed the 10,114 scholastics enumerated last year, Jackson said.

Twelve enumerators for the local schools began their work last Monday, and will continue to make their door-to-door canvas until the deadline on March 31. During their first week of work the enumerators were finding Lubbock citizens cooperative. However, all citizens can help to speed up the job of enumerating the school children of the district if they will follow a few simple suggestions, Jackson and Rasor said.

Co-Operation Is Urged

Housewives are urged to answer their doors, whether they have children of school age living in their households or not. Those householders who are gone all day may cooperate by calling the business office to tell them where they work or when they may be found at home. A census enumerator who repeatedly finds no one at home will keep on going back, and could be saved considerable time if citizens would call into the business office when they find a card saying the enumerator has been to their home.

The work of enumerating the school children in Lubbock is not too profitable for those doing the door-to-door convassing, Jackson said, but this year he is paying enumerators the limit allowed. The dozen persons who are taking the census feel they are doing a civic duty, since they are able to save taxpayers money if they can round up all the school children living in the district.

Keeping the records in the school business office for the enumeration is Mrs. Jack Conley, and she will be glad to aid householders who are away from home the majority of the time if they call the business office, Jackson said.

Census takers who were on duty despite the several days of bad weather this week were: Mrs. Carl Clifft, H. C. Roberts, Mrs. Kate Backman, Mrs. A. C. Blackstone, Mrs. Annie Evans, Mrs. Geneva Bray, Mrs. John Craig, Mrs. Virginia Johnson, Mrs. Belle Waller, Robert Mears, Mrs. Gladys Tharr, and Harry Hall.

TAKING SCHOOL CENSUS—Working at the job of enumerating the school children in the Lubbock Independent School district is Mrs. A. C. Blackstone, as she calls on Mrs. A. C. Becker, 2020 Thirty-seventh street. Mr. and Mrs. Becker have three children on the school rolls, and two of them attend the Thirty-sixth school which is a temporary building this year but will be a new permanent building next year. Observing the census-taking procedure are the Becker children, Sonja, who is in the fourth grade and Joe, a student in the second grade. Cindy is 6 years old and will go to school next fall.

OFFICERS AND SOLOISTS—Officers and soloists for the Central junior High school choir, who will present a concert at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Seagraves High school auditorium, are pictured above with their director, Mrs. Elois Elliott. Guest artists of the choir for the concert will be Eva Genia Richardson, Florence Houston, and Margaret Wilson, all students of Lubbock Senior High school. (Staff Photo.)

Music Of Maestro X, The 'Mad Pianist,' Is Still Heard In Hospital Near Detroit

By ARTHUR W. EVERETT
Associated Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, March 6—Out at lonely Eloise, the delicate music of the mad pianist still echoes through quiet corridors.

Maestro X still is a patient two years after he startled the music world with his beautiful piano playing.

Dr. T. K. Gruber, superintendent of Wayne county general hospital at Eloise, said he still is completely mad in everything except his music.

Turned Back To Music

"We noted improvement for a time," Dr. Gruber said. "But the improvement has stopped. He just sits or stands and vegetates."

The Maestro, whose name was never revealed by the hospital, was a brilliant student of music. He was committed to the asylum a decade ago, suffering a split personality.

As Dr. Gruber describes it, he withdrew from life into a world of his own twisted thoughts. For many years, the musician was unable to walk, feed himself or perform simple acts.

Then, in the search for a means to bring him back to reality, the hospital turned his attention back to his music.

At first an attendant had to turn the pages of the score. If she didn't, the man would play the same page of notes over and over.

Played Difficult Selection

Gradually, Maestro X improved.

He appeared before a national education conference. He amazed recognized teachers of music with the beauty and clarity of his piano artistry.

Later he performed in public. Millions heard him play Mozart's difficult "Concerto in D Minor" on a national radio broadcast.

Then he returned to Eloise and the obscurity of the insane.

Dr. Gruber emphasized that the mad pianist has not been given up as incurable. Almost daily efforts are made to interest him in his surroundings.

"But he remains out of touch with reality in everything except his music," the superintendent said. "If we ever are able to help him, however, we feel we may open an important avenue for others like him."

Dr. Gruber said the mad pianist remains quiet and easy to handle. His health is good and, in his hopeless manner, he shows no sign of discontent. He eats well and his tall frame still is solid beneath his balding head.

"He will do certain things automatically if we tell him to," Dr. Gruber explained. "For example, if we tell him to drive nails into a board, he will do so—all day long, or until we tell him to stop. If we give him no directions, he just stands or sits in one place for hours. He never shows any interest in what he's doing unless it's music."

A piano is available to him and daily he plays the classical music he lives. His fingers are supple and sure, if his mind is not.

FROM TABLE TO FLOOR

The word "carpet," until the 19th century, meant any cover made of a thick material, and especially a table cover, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

U. S. production of pianos reached a peak of 350,000 in 1923.

Winston Churchill Says British Now Facing Terrible Situation

LONDON, March 6. (AP)—Winston Churchill said today:

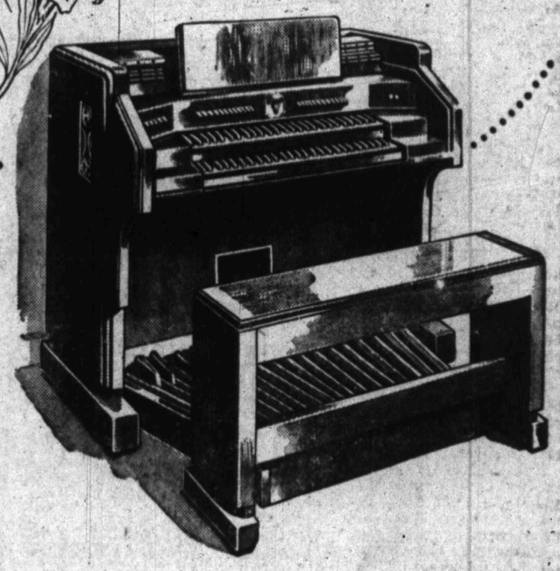

"Any thinking man can see that we are all moving into a terrible situation at home and abroad. Not only bankruptcy and privation approach us in this island, but the menace of a third World war rolls toward us with every act of Russian imperialist aggression and Communist violence and intrigue."

The former prime minister gave these views in a letter to Frank Harris, conservative candidate in a by-election at North Croydon.

Here's How "Average" U. S. Worker Is Living These Days On About $50 Week

By LEO TURNER
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Mar. 6—Shortly before 6 o'clock these cold mornings Louise Decker, 27, slips out of bed in a four-room apartment in the industrial section of Astoria, Long Island, across the East River from Manhattan, to begin her day as the wife of an "average" American worker.

The government says the average American laborer today earns $52.50 a week and has 3.2 children. The United Press selected Lawrence Decker and his wife, Louise, to learn how the average worker lives.

Decker, 30, lanky, sandy-haired, good-natured, earns $50 a week. They have three children—bright-eyed, bashful Larry, Jr., 3½; talkative Lorraine, 2½, and Louis, who is a month old.

Baby's Bottle First

Louise Decker rises quietly to keep from awakening her husband. She is five-feet one, weighs 104 pounds has black hair and is pretty. She puts a faded white and blue cotton housecoat on over her cotton nightie and fixes the 6 o'clock bottle for the baby.

The infant sleeps in a crib beside his parents' bed in the rear bedroom. In the other bedroom are blackhaired Larry, jr., and his blonde sister.

The walkup apartment is on the third floor. It costs the Deckers $36 a month. Its floors are covered with linoleum. The maple furniture, some of it in need of reupholstering, was bought before they were married.

When she has finished feeding the baby, Mrs. Decker calls her husband. At 7 a. m. he eats a single slice of dry toast and drinks one cup of coffee. The family eats in the small kitchen with its old-fashioned ice-box which costs $1 a week to keep cold. Coffee is the only extravagance the Deckers permit themselves. They drink two pounds a week. It costs 46 cents a pound at a chain store.

Walks To Work

Decker pulls on his canvas-topped overshoes—Navy surplus which cost him $5.49 at a retail store—and walked a mile to his job as a checker in the shipping manufacturer. In a paper bag he carries one egg sandwich and one bologna sandwich for his lunch. He will send out for a carton of hot coffee which will cost him 15 cents.

When the apartment is warm, the two older children get out of bed. Mrs. Decker gives each a glass of orange juice, a bowl of cereal and a glass of milk. She eats a bowl of cereal and drinks a cup of coffee. At noon, they eat two packages of dehydrated soup, costing 24 cents.

Decker turns most of his paycheck over to his wife. These monthly deductions are made before he gets it: union dues, $2; premium on $2,000 worth of company insurance, $1.22; Blue Cross, hospitalization insurance for the entire family, $4.52.

Each week, 50 cents is deducted for social security and $2 for income tax. That makes his weekly average take-home pay $45.06.

Husband Keeps $2

Decker keeps $2 each week for himself—75 cents a week for noon coffee, five cents a night for a newspaper, work gloves and sometimes a beer with a friend at the corner tavern.

Their three packages of cigarets a week—king size which are usually smoked after dinner—are paid for out of the grocery budget.

If he worked a full week he gives $43 to his wife. The week the baby came he missed a day and and a half's work because he could find no one to stay with the other children. His take home pay was $26.63.

Mrs. Decker makes these deductions: $9 for rent, $1.25 for gas and electric, which averages $4.50 a month, and $1.10 for insruance.

She pays $2 a month for $1,000 insurance for Decker, whose company insurance will lapse if he leaves; $1.21 for two $500 policies or herself which she has carried since she was a youngster, and $2.13 for a $500 endowment policy for Larry, jr., payable when he is 21. Lorraine was born during a 123-day strike and there was no money for insurance for her or the baby.

Laundry Big Item

She hopes Larry, jr., will be a doctor and his little sister a nurse. The endowment policy is the first payment on his education.

Since the baby came, the laundry bill has been $3 a week. Mrs. Decker does what laundry she can.

Her first concern is for the baby. The Deckers' savings were wiped out by the strike. Sickness dipped into the money saved for the new baby. The hospital bill was taken care of by the Blue Cross plan. After the doctor bill was deducted, only $6.50 remained of the baby fund.

Today Louis Decker owns: Six diapers, which cost $1.59; two kimonas, 65 cents each; one underblankets, 65 cents each, and one crib blanket, $2.29.

Crib On Credit

His father borrowed $15 from a friend to buy a crib. Mrs. Decker is paying it back, $2 a week.

That leaves her $26.65 to feed and clothe her family.

Again the baby comes first. She buys him seven cans of milk each week at 16 cents a can. The dextrose formula costs another 69 cents.

The next thought is for milk for the other children and for cooking. She buys three quarts a day. At present she pays 25 cents a quart, or $5.25 a week.

Mrs. Decker uses New York figure of speech to estimate money as so many dollars "and change."

After buying the children's food, she has left $20 and change" from which must come $1 for ice. She calls that her "grocery money," but it goes for many purposes. The children's clothes must come out of it. Their shoes cost $3.95 a pair. Her husband's work clothes must be bought. Their "Sunday clothes" are carefully preserved garments bought before they were married five years ago.

"I manage to buy my shoes and stockings, but the rest of my clothes are what I had before I was married or what my sisters give me," she said. She has five sisters.

She takes out $1 each week to pay for the $24 set of dishes, glasses and tablewear she bought for $1 down and $1 a week.

When the weather is clear and she can get a neighbor to stay with the children, Mrs. Decker walks a mile and a half to a chain store to buy the family's food. But since the baby came, she has traded with an independent corner grocer, whose prices are 10 to 15 cents higher.

Pennies Count

She goes to market after her husband returns from work, or sends him. She haggles for a few pennies to be knocked off the mauled fresh vegetables remaining in the bin. Canned goods are usually cheaper.

She buys a $3 roast for Sunday. It must last three days. For Monday dinner she serves the second round of the roast, perhaps a can of 12-cent peas, 8.5 cents worth of potatoes (they use 10 pounds of potatoes each week at a cost of 58 cents) thin slices of cake, and for her husband, a cup of tea.

On Wednesday she will make a two-pound meat loaf which will cost $2. It must last two days and furnish sandwiches for Decker's lunch. They have one spaghetti dinner a week, and since prices have risen so high, they have one other meatless day. She budgets $5 a week for meat.

Mrs. Decker pays $3 a year dues to the church society to which she belongs and gives another $7 to the church under their budget of $10 a year for religious contributions. When she can scrape up an extra dollar, she sends it to an orphanage at St. Cloud, Minn. She does so three or four times a year and considers it her charity donation.

"When the week is gone, the money's gone," she said. "We've quit worrying about saving money. We worry about staying out of debt."

If she's lucky, she may have $2 at the end of the week to put in the bureau drawer for an "emergency." The "emergency fund" usually buys her children's clothes, and seldom more than $5 accumulates in the drawer.

The Deckers never go out of an evening because they can't afford it and have no one to stay with the children. Sometimes a friend drops in to talk over union affairs or politics with Decker. On Sunday they take the children to call on some relative.

Dreads Illness

Her greatest fear is that her husband, who works out of doors, will become ill. His company has no sick-leave plan and his wages are docked for every hour he is off the job.

Decker has built up five years seniority with his company and hopes some day to be a foreman.

She puts the children to bed at seven. She talks with her husband and sews while he listens to the radio until 10 p. m. After he retires, she does the children's laundry. She goes to bed at midnight and gets at 2 a. m. to give the baby a bottle.

She stands in her kitchen window and looks across the East River at the twinkling lights of Manhattan. That's where she hopes to live some day. That's where maybe Larry, jr., will become a doctor.

EXCHANGES TO CLOSE

NEW YORK, Mar. 6 (AP)—Managers of the New York cotton exchange today announced the exchange would suspend operations on Good Friday, March 26, and on Saturday, the following day. The matter of closing on Good Friday has not yet been taken up by other commodity and security markets but most of them in the past have closed on Friday and resumed normal operations on Saturday.

36 New Hospitals To Be Built In State

DALLAS, March 6. (AP)—Construction of 36 new hospitals in Texas under the Federal Hospital act was viewed today as "real progress toward meeting the hospital needs of the state" by Thomas H. Head, president of the Texas Hospital association.

Under the hospital survey and construction act, the federal government foots one-third of the construction cost of new hospitals in counties where less than 4.5 beds are available per 1,000 population. The Texas legislature passed an enabling act to benefit by the federal measure in June, 1947.

Approved applications to date call for an addition of 1,191 beds at a total cost of $10,712,852, of which the federal government's share is $3,522,299, Head stated.

More than 1,000 administrators and key personnel of Texas' hospitals are attending a three-day convention of the association here.

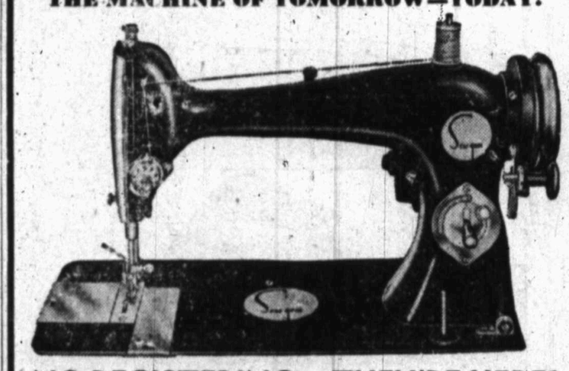

Head said the new facilities under U. S. aid will be located at Albany, Carrizo Springs, Uvalde, Kountze, Canadian, Pampa, San Sanba San Augustine, Port Lavaca, Carthage, Goliad, Newton, Sierra Blanca, Giddings, Port Arthur, Anahuac, Southton, Trinity, Ganado, Rocksprings, Madisonville, Woodville, Huntsville, Mason, Dumas, Hecuzzta, Austin, Sulphur Springs, Palestine, Sonora , Midland, Marshall, Tyler, Childress, San Antonio and Hemphill.

New Carburetor Uses Alcohol To Power Tractors And Cars

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

OMAHA, March 6 — A new carburetor makes it possible to drive your car entirely on ethyl alcohol, the drinking kind of alcohol, instead of gasoline.

The carburetor, shown today to the National Farm Chemurgic conference, has been used successfully in a tractor engine. And it could be put in passenger automobiles, said R. E. Davis, research engineer of Joseph E. Seagram & Sons, Louisville, Ky., distillers.

Improvements Are Cited

Alcohol is not cheap enough now to compete with gasoline as a fuel in the United States. But the carburetor is one of the new developments underway against a day of gasoline shortage or cheaper alcohol prices.

The carburetor has a double chamber, one atop the other. Vapors from the lower chamber enter the upper one to supply a richer mixture of alcohol to the cylinders.

The design returns 10 per cent of the engine exhaust into the intake system, to supply enough heat to vaporize the alcohol. To help starting in cold weather, always a problem with alcohol fuel, there is a "fuelizer." Some of the alcohol is ignited by a spark plug and this pre-heats the alcohol-air mixture before it enters the combustion chamber, Davis explained. This still needs improvements for greater efficiency.

The new carburetor system has been under test for nearly two years by Davis and Prof. A. J. Meyer, director of the aeronautical research laboratory, University of Kentucky.

In 500 hours of tests, mostly at full load and open throttle, the converted tractor engine has performed well, Davis said. There has been no evidence of carbon deposits in the combustion chamber, oil dilution, or abnormal wear from using the alcohol fuel.

Power output and performance of the engine are equal to gasoline operation, he continued. Ethyl alcohol has a higher anti-knock rating than gasoline.

By turning a valve, the tractor operator can run either on alcohol or gasoline. Only one chamber of the carburetor is used with gasoline as the fuel.

The consumption rate of alcohol is slightly higher per hour of operation than with gasoline, Davis said. But due to its adaptability to compression engines, more of the energy in the alcohol is turned to heat and useful work.

Davis said the carburetor might find immediate use in foreign lands, like India or Sumatra where gasoline costs are high, but where alcohol could be made from farm crops.

Maginot Line Now Offered For Rent

PARIS, March 6. (AP)—For rent: The Maginot line.

The French government has offered for rent as pasture the sections of land in which the Maginot line was built and through which the German panzer divisions came so fast in 1940.

The land for rent is in the region of Thionville, Aumetz, Audun-Le-Tiche and Bouzonville.

JET TEST PILOT RETIRES—Harold T. Markey, 27, one of the first U. S. jet plane pilots, studies in his self-constructed basement apartment in Chicago while finishing his law degree at Loyola University. Markey was a member of the team of eight test pilots, seven of whom have been killed. He flew the first jet plane in Alaska in 1944, and the first jet P-80 to Alaska in 1945. His wife Beth approves his dropping out of test-piloting, but two-year-old Jeffrey seems more interested in his father's former career.

Ground Breaking Ceremony Will Be Held At Boys Club Monday

A ground breaking ceremony preparatory to construction of a swimming pool at the Lubbock Boys' club will be conducted at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon at the club site at 2323 Ave. K.

The entire citizenry of Lubbock county is invited to the ceremony, it was announced.

The ground breaking ceremony will be preceded by a luncheon to be attended by approximately 100 persons at 12:15 o'clock at the Boys club.

Realization Of Dream

Opening of construction of the swimming pool represents the realization of a long-standing dream and plans which have included joint efforts of various organizations and individuals in the city to further expand facilities of the Boys club, which has grown from a charter membership of 65 on August 8, 1944, to present membership of 1,387.

Announcement of the materialization of plans for the pool was made by the board of directors of the Lubbock Boys' club and the operational board from the American Business club. Dr. Marshall Harvey has been president of the Boys club board of directors as a representative of the Lions club since the beginning of the Boys club movement in 1939. J. Ray Dickey has been chairman of the operational board from the American Business club since ABC took the responsibility of completing the operating the Boys club in 1943.

Mrs. Martin To Participate

Moving the first dirt in the actual ground breaking will be Mrs. Retha Martin, who with her husband and Dunlap company contributed $24,000 towards construction of the swimming pool; C. J. Lightholder, business manager of the building Construction Trades council, which will contribute as much labor as possible toward construction of the pool, and Guy Gilstrap and Ray Givens of G. and G. Construction Co., which is donating services as contractors for the work.

Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal, will be master of ceremonies. Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will give the invocation. Rex Webster, president of the Rotary club, will lead singing of "America."

Dr. J. William Davis, Lions club president will speak.

Tommy Elliott, member of the Boys' club and son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Elliott of 1922 Ave. O, will speak. The boy is a charter member of the club, one of the most regular daily attendants and one of the outstanding players on the midget basketball team. He was 10 years old when he joined the club and now is 14.

Broadcast Is Planned

Dr. Harvey, will speak on "What Is in the Future for the Lubbock Boys' Club, Inc."? Rev. Cecil R. Matthews, director of Methodist student work at Texas Technological college, will give the benediction.

The ceremony will be transcribed by KFYO radio station and will be broadcast from the statiton from 7:30 to 8 o'clock Monday night.

Many citizens and groups have contributed materially and in plans for the growth of the Lubbock Boys' club—so many that they would be too numerous to mention, officials pointed out. The board of directors and operational board expressed thanks to those who have helped and mentioned such outstanding contributors as Mr. and Mrs. Martin and the Dunlap company for their $24,000 contribution; the Lubbock Lions club, for its contribution of $15,000 to the project; the American Business club, for its efforts in sponsoring for benefit of the Boys' club last year's Gene Autry rodeo, which netted $20,000; the Building Construction Trades council and G. & G. Construction Co.

Haynes and Kirby, local architects and engineers, have drawn plans and specifications for the pool with assistance of the National Office of Boys' Clubs of America, and will supervise construction, it was announced.

R. H. Fulton Co. will donate excavation work.

The swimming pool and building will include a larger game room and larger shop than now available. The swimming pool itself will be 36 by 75 feet for swimming and will be "T" shaped. The base of the "T" will be diving area, which will be 28 by 30 feet and 11 feet deep. A filtration, chlorination and heating system will provide a sanitary swimming situation for Boys' club members, officials pointed out. The heating system will make it possible for swimming in winter as well as summer. Bleachers for spectators are provided and aquatic shows and swimming meets will be held regularly, according to plans.

Another unique feature of the pool plan is the "deck level type" of construction, eliminating the "Scum gutter" type of construction. "This type of pool is recommended by the Boys' Clubs of America, due to the fact that it eliminates many dangers of drowning and makes supervision a much simpler problem," it was announced.

Members of the board of directors, in addition to Dr. Harvey, are Harry Morris, representing the Lions club; Marion Sanford and John Halsey, Kiwanis; Jack Stone and Joe Bryant, Rotary; Dr. A. W. Young and Don Reeder, Optimist; J. A. Fortenberry and Gradie Bownds, American Business club; Jack Thomas and Homer Hensley, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Bill Ed Watson and Dewey Flanagan, Exchange club.

Members of the Operational board from the American Business club, in addition to Dickey, are Bill Mead, J. A. Fortenberry, Grady Knight, G. H. Nelson, O. B. Ratliff, H. B. Bryan and Earl Ince, sr.

The active membership for 1947 was 901. The operational expense for 1947 was $13,382. That sum was paid by the Lubbock Community Chest, of which the Boys' club is one of the six agencies. The club has been a member of the Boys' clubs of America since December, 1944.

The club building at present includes a library, a game room for quiet games, a wood work shop and a gymnasium with lockers, showers and dressing rooms.

Those receiving invitations to the luncheon and the ground breaking ceremonies following include represenetatives of various organizations and other individuals. It was emphasized, however, that the ground breaking ceremonies are open to the public.

DON'T LOOK NOW, BUT . . . Donald Zabadal, 8, puts the finishing touches on a painting of his teacher, Margaret Munson, who watches rather critically at the right. It was all official, however, as the teachers, themselves, sponsored the project at the John B. Murphy school, Chicago.

Flu, Pneumonia On Increase In Texas During Last Of February

AUSTIN, March 6 (AP)—Texans were bothered with more flu, pneumonia, measles and whooping cough last week.

The state health department today reported 3,147 new cases of influenza for the week ending Feb. 28, compared to the seven-year median of 1,792 cases for the week.

There were 462 cases of pneumonia reported, 96 above the 366 median.

Roxas Outlaws Filipino Rebels

MANILA, March 6 (U.P.)—President Manuel Roxas today outlawed the Hukbalahap rebels and National Peasant Union and ordered mass arrests of their leaders who he said told their followers to 'prepare for the coming of the Russians."

Roxas said the dissident groups were organized for the purpose of overthrowing the Philippine government and establishing one of their own through force and intimidation.

Campaign Ordered

Ordering a campaign to suppress them, he said mass arrests of the leaders were expected to begin immediately, to be followed by trials for sedition in civil courts. He reported his plans at a press conference.

Answering a question, he said there was "no evidence of direct connections between subversive Philippine organizations and Russia, except through Chinese Communists. But there is ample evidence subversive leaders told their followers to prepare for the coming of the Russians and the establishment of a Russian-type government in these islands."

Youth Goes On Spending Spree

GARY, Ind., March 6 (U.P.)—Agie James, 17, lost his position today as the most popular boy in Gary. His mother took back her $36,895.

School officials became suspicious when James showed up with a limousine, went on a soft-drink binge, and flashed a thick wad of $100 bills.

They called his mother, Mrs. John James widow of a gas station chain operator.

Mrs. James discovered $37,000 missing from a cache in her home. She said she withdrew the money from a bank to pay taxes and other obligations.

Having Car Serviced

She called police who collared James as he was having the sleek car serviced at the automobile agency where he had bought the car through a relative, John Manolis, 25. Police said the automobile agency had refused to sell James the car at first because of his age.

James told police that he took the money "because I wanted to have a good time." He shelled out all he had left. The auto agency agreed to take the car back and return the $4,500 James had paid for it.

Mrs. James was out only $5 of her $37,000. Her son had spent that for gasoline and sodas.

Massachusetts Man To Speak At Tech On Research Work

Dr. Clark Goodman of Massachusetts Institute of Technology will speak on Radioactivity and Petroleum Geology" at 8 p. m. Friday, March 12 in the Aggie Memorial auditorium at Texas Technological college.

Dr. Goodman's address will be jointly sponsored by the departments of chemistry, geology and physics at the college.

Saturday, he will speak to the Texas Tech chapter of Sigma XI, a national scientific fraternity, on the subject of nuclear power.

To Discuss Changes

In his talk Friday night, Dr Goodman will point out that research on the formation of petroleum in the earth has established the fact that certain organic constituents in esdiments are converted to petroleum hydrocarbons by the action of radio active radiations, and that it seems likely that such changes have occurred in source sediments.

Dr. Goodman is associate professor of physics at MIT and physical director of the American Petroleum Institutes project 43-C, which is attempting to evaluate the importance of radio activity in the genesis of petroleum. He recently devoted considerable attention to the development of nuclear energy for power purposes and conducts a graduate course in this field.

Holds Several Posts

He holds a BS from California Institute of Technology received in 1932, a Ph. D. received at MIT in 1940 and holds memberships in a number of outstanding scientific organizations. He was secretary of the Committee on Standards of Radioactivity, National Research Council, 1938-46; Physical Director, American Petroleum Institute, Project 43-C; and is a specialist in geological and industrial applications of nuclear physics.

Dr. Goodman will leave Lubbock Saturday for Corpus Christi, where he will address the Corpus Christi Geological society. He is traveling under the auspices of the Distinguished Lectures Committee of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists.

No admission will be charged for the lecture which will be open to the public, Dr. Leroy T. Patton, head of the Geology department, stated.

National Labor Relations Board "Fair-Haired Boy" For Congress

By FRED W. PERKINS
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 6—"Fair-haired boy" among government agencies when it comes to getting money from Congress is the National Labor Relations Board.

That is because appropriations are controlled by the Republican majority that furnished most of the votes for the Taft-Hartley law. The NLRB administers most of this law.

Want Law To Work

The Republicans in Congress want the law to work well because if it fails their party will get the blame. So, while trimming funds for other agencies, they are disposed to give this board as much money as it can show it needs for its duties.

Partly as a consequence of this, the NLRB, an independent agency, is scheduled to get for the next fiscal year an appropriation almost equaling that for the entire Department of Labor.

The House committee on appropriations cut more than $4 million from the Budget Bureau estimates for the Labor department, and came up with a recommendation of $12,498,200 for the next fiscal year, about $3 million less than for the current fiscal year.

More Is Promised

For the labor board the committee approved $7,200,000 for the first eight months of the next fiscal year beginning July 1, and issued a plain invitation for the board to come back for more if it thought it was going to run short.

Rep. Frank B. Keefe (R., Wis.), chairman of the House appropriations subcommittee handling these funds, told the NLRB members: "Congress expects the National Labor Relations Board to function to the maximum. Congress passed this law and this committee intends to see to it that it is implemented to work most effectively."

Paul M. Herzog, NLRB chairman pledged that all of the money made available would be used to carry out the law.

A New Program

"We are embarking," said Mr. Keefe, "upon a new program in the handling of labor-management relations. It is the hope and expectation of Congress and the country that this program will succeed. I do not intend to cast any stones in the way."

Auditors from the general accounting office will see that the money is used in accordance with the statutes.

Tech Engineers Show, Open House Planned

April 23 and 24 have been set as dates for the sixteenth annual Engineer's show and the twelfth annual Home Economic Open house at Texas Technological college.

The shows, which usually attract thousands of visitors to the campus, have been scheduled to coincide with the Regional Interscholastic league meet, being held at the college for the third year.

Wendell Mayes, jr., from Brownwood is general chairman of arrangements for the Engineers show, and Miss Gladys Dawson, Tulia, is general chairman of the open house.

Purpose of the shows is to acquaint the general public with engineering and home economics and some economics at the college. Each department in the two divisions will offer continuous exhibits and special demonstrations in their respective fields.

On an average day there are approximately seven million temporarily or permanently disabled Americans.

Tough Dallas Rooster Cheats Chopping Block For A Time

DALLAS, March 6 (AP) — Jim, Dallas' toughest rooster, crowed too loudly and too early over cheating the chopping block. His 10-day reprieve was extended but he's in more trouble.

Justice of the Peace W. E. Richburg, who stayed his own sentence, said Jim was going to be exhibited at a high school carnival and at a Lions club meeting next week.

"If I keep the prisoner up late, he might not raise cain so early in the morning," Richburg reasoned after neighbors complained the white rooster crowed too loudly too early.

Richburg decreed the axe for Jim last week when he spurred the face of 18-month-old Carolyn Sue Manes. A plea for mercy from the child brought a 10-day reprieve and a promise the chopping block would be changed to the auction block.

FUNDS ARE OKAYED

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP) — The House passed today a $500,982,263 appropriation bill financing the state, commerce and justice departments and the federal judiciary for the year starting July 1. It now goes to the Senate. The total is $86,855,168 less than President Truman requested. It does not include $75,400,000 in contract authority for which cash would have to be appropriated in the future.

Lawmaking In Congress Affected But Little By Flow Of Oratory

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 6. — Here's an old question that keeps coming up:

Is the lawmaking in Congress much influenced by oratory?

The answer: Not much.

You ought to sit in the House or Senate gallery some time and look at a speaker when he gets wound up.

James Marlow

It'd get on your nerves. Not that the speech is bad. But it's what happens to the speaker when he tries to make a speech.

There he is, a fistful of notes and a head full of facts, or at least ideas.

He's been working on this speech for weeks, polishing his phrases, sharpening his points.

Then he gets the floor and he starts. He's good for a minute or two. Then someone else is on his feet saying something:

". . . if the distinguished senator will permit, I should like to state that in the main I agree but . . ."

There it goes. The speaker has to stop his high-powered prose and argue a point.

When that's all settled—with you in the gallery wishing he'd go on with the speech—he goes on with it for perhaps another minute.

Then someone else is up and saying "will the senator yield a moment?" More argument over what the new man says.

Then the speech goes on. Someone else is up. "Will the senator yield a moment?" more argument.

It happens like that all the time. The speaker could refuse to yield any time. Most often he does yield.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan is one of the leading Senate Republicans, besides being chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

Yet he ran into the same problem on Tuesday arguing for the Marshall plan to help Europe. He had tough going.

But on the day before it was different. Vandenberg made sure of that.

He planned a long talk on the European recovery plan.

Knowing what usually goes on when someone tries to make a long spech, Vandenberg started by saying:

"For the sake of continuity I respectfully ask my colleagues to permit me to conclude my general statement on the pending bill without interruption."

They did. He spoke for 90 minutes and no one broke in.

When he took time to make a speech like that he had plenty of listeners. It's one of the few speeches of 1948 likely to influence the other senators.

Galveston Man Is Fined For Sitting With Negroes On Bus

GALVESTON, March 6 (AP) — Corporation Court Judge Edward Jahn fined Clarence Jack Peterson $25 and costs yesterday for sitting in the negro section of a city bus.

Peterson, 27-year-old merchant seaman from Birchwood, Wis., told Jahn he believes in racial equality and that he thought the city ordinance was unconstitutional when it forbid him to sit with negroes.

Jahn said it was his lot to decide whether the law has been violated and not to argue whether the laws are just.

The wedding was performed after Conley was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his stepbrother, Jasper Blair. Mrs. Conley left for her home near Paintsville after the wedding. He is waiting transfer to the state prison.

Communist Clubs In Dallas Are Revealed

DALLAS, March 6 (AP)—A self-styled Communist leader in North Texas, Fred Estes, 32, said there are four Communist clubs here and a fifth is being organized.

Estes yesterday told a Dallas News reporter he would not reveal the number of Communists in Dallas or North Texas nor disclose the names of party leaders.

Naming party leaders would "subject them to undue hardship due to prejudice that is whipped up by the general Red scare and Red-baiting articles that appear in the daily press and over the radio," he said.

"As a matter of fact, I'll probably be fired when this story breaks—unless my boss is broad-minded."

Estes said he formerly was a CIO organizer but left the union because the local he worked for couldn't pay him a living wage.

He said he now is employed by a Grand Prairie wood working mill and is receiving benefits under the GI bill of rights on-the-job training program.

Board To Probe Conditions In State Institutions Is Urged

Wildcat Location Staked In Southeast Cochran County To Test Lower Permian; Sulphur Is Located In Garza Test

Location was staked for a wildcat in southeast Cochran county during the past week, which may be drilled to 7,500 feet, to test into the lower Permian.

An exploratory project in southeast Garza county developed sulphur water in the Ellenburger without finding any signs of petroleum, and is drilling ahead. It may be carried on down to locate the granite.

Southeast Cochran County

Ralph Lowe, of Midland, No. 1 G. G. Wright, jr., et al, is the new venture to try to find a new producing area in southeast Cochran county. It will be 440 feet from south and west lines of labor 25, league 95, Mills county school lands.

That puts it about nine miles southwest of the town of Whiteface and on a spread of 3,000 acres which Lowe has in that area.

It is several miles from the nearest production. Its first objective is to test the San Andres zone of the Permian, which is making oil in the Slaughter and Dean fields in that region.

Should it fail in that formation there is a possibility that it will be carried on down to explore through the lower Permian horizons. Drilling with rotary tools will be started immediately.

Southeast Garza County

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-G Humble fee, four miles east of Justiceburg in southeast Garza county, and 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 136, block 5, H&GN survey, was making hole below 8,150 feet in the Ellenburger lime.

Top of that formation has not been officially reported. It has not encountered any signs of oil or gas. A drillstem test was run at 8,105-40 feet. The tool was open 60 minutes. Recovery was 70 feet of drilling mud and 810 feet of sulphur water. That eliminates the formation as a source of possible production.

It is reported that the owner will continue making hole until the project reaches the granite. That is primarily to develop geological information — which might prove of value for other exploratory activity in the region.

Justiceburg Area

Proven Oil company, L. M. Glasco, et al, No. 1 George W Herd, trustee, three miles south of Justiceburg, and 2,310 feet from north and west lines of section 29, block 6, H&GN survey, had reached 3,037.5 feet in San Andres-Permian lime and was coring ahead.

This prospector has logged several thin streaks which have shown signs of oil—but along with most of those indications of petroleum there have been rather strong signs of water. So far none of the shows which have been drilled through have offered anything of commercial value in the way of a possible oil well.

The Ohio Oil company No. 1 Swenson Land & Cattle company, deep wildcat in northeast Garza county, and 2,307 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 26, block 2, H&GN survey, had progressed below 7,960 feet in an unidentified lime and was making more hole, at last report.

Southeast Of Crosbyton

Ohio No. 1 Jones, nine miles southeast of Crosbyton, in southeast Crosby county, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 40, block 2, H&GN survey, had bored below 7,620 feet in shale, and was making more hole.

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 E. H. Jones is to be a new prospector to try to find production in the Devonian in the Jones Ranch field in extreme Northwest Gaines county, adjacent to the Yoakum county line and 15 miles southeast of Denver City.

It is located 661.8 feet from west line and 661.5 feet from north line of an 80-acre lease in section 4, block A-7, psl survey and outside the area which has been proven for Devonian production in the Jones Ranch field. It is to go to about 11,700 feet, using rotary tools, and will start immediately.

E. H. Jones In Middle Permian

Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation and Bay Petroleum corporation No. 1 E. H. Jones, five miles south of the Jones Ranch field, and 2,200 feet from south and west lines of section 21, block A-7, psl survey, was trying to squeeze off water from below, so that a production test can be run on the zone at 6,105-40 feet, in the Glorieta, middle Permian.

That zone showed some free oil on a drillstem test. The current investigation is to be through perforations in the casting.

That zone did not show a lot of water, swabbing there has yielded some of that fluid. It is thought that the water is from lower in the hole, and is coming up back of the casing, through channels in the cement.

Northwest Of Seminole

Honolulu Oil corporation No. 2 White, et al, one quarter of a mile from the nearest completed oil well in the North Riley field, about 13 miles west and slightly north of Seminole, and 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 404, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, drilled to a total depth of 7,503 feet in lower Permian lime.

It did not find any shows of oil or gas of any merit below 6,900 feet. A string of 7-inch casing was set at 7,072 feet, with 300 sacks of cement.

Operator will perforate and test above, 6,900 feet in the upper Clear Fork. That section had indicated that it could be developed for a small producer. It is expected that the well will be completed as some sort of a petroleum yielder in the near future.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Birtie E. Brown, San Andres-Permian prospector in central Yoakum county, three miles southwest of Plains, and 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 446, block D, John H. Gibson survey, had penetrated below 5,046 feet in lime and was drilling ahead. It is due to go to at least 5,200 feet, and it may go beyond that point—unless it gets production before it reaches that level.

Fikes & Murchison No. 17-C Elliott, scheduled 7,500-foot wildcat in southwest Yoakum county, 1,313 feet from south and 1,070 feet from east lines of section 832, block D, John H. Gibson survey, had penetrated under 1,657 feet in anhydrite and redbeds and was drilling ahead.

Gaines County Wildcat

The Texas company, Humble Oil & Refining company, and Ralph Lowe No. 1 Jenkins, slated 12,000-foot wildcat in extreme southwest Gaines county, and 662 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 4, block A-25, psl survey, had drilled to 3,276 feet in anhydrite and lime and was making more hole.

Ray A. Albaugh No. 2 Allie D. Slaughter, northwest Hockley county wildcat to test the San Andres-Permian, about seven miles northwest of the nearest oil wells in the Levelland field, five miles north and east of Whiteface, and 440 feet from south and west lines of labor 72, league 79, Reeves county school lands, drilled and cored to 4,795 feet in lime, and found sulphur water and no oil or gas. The project has been abandoned and will be plugged.

Central Hockley Wildcat

Ralph Lowe and The Texas company No. 1 Roch, wildcat in central Hockley county, seven miles southeast of Levelland, and 440 feet from north and west lines of labor 28, league 26, Wharton county school lands, had drilled to 5,063 feet in dry lime, and was making more hole. It is slated to go to about 5,500 feet, if it is necessary to dig that deep in order to get either oil or water in the San Andres.

George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 Davis Parsons, four and one half miles southwest of Levelland, and 440 feet from north and west lines of labor 25, league 30, Baylor county school lands, had progressed below 2,000 feet and was continuing. It is slated to dig to about 5,000 feet to explore through the San Andres.

Southwest Castro County

Sun Oil company No. 1 Herring, southwest Castro county wildcat to 10,000 feet, five miles south of Dimmitt, and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 46, block T-4, T. A. Thompson survey, had drilled and cored below 9,184 feet in lime and shale, in the lower Pennsylvanian, and was continuing.

So far it has not logged any signs of either oil or gas. It is so far removed from any other prospector that has been drilled to a similar depth that there is no way of making any geological correlations.

Hunt Oil company No. 1 H. P. Adams, is a one quarter of a mile stepout from the nearest production in the Irish-Anton field in southwest Hale county.

Drilling Starts Soon

It is located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 7, block DT, HE&WT survey. Drilling to about 6,100 feet, to test the Irish-Anton pay zone will start at once.

George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1, D. T. Teague, 440 feet from north and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 121, block A, R. M. Thompson survey, and the same operator's No. 2 D. T. Teague, located 440 feet from north and 880 feet from west lines of the northeast quarter of section 121, block A R. M. Thompson survey, are new explorations in the southeast Lamb county side of the Irish-Anton field. They are slated to go to about 6,000 feet, and are to start operations in the near future.

In the Irish-Anton field, and in the Hale county side of the district, Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Garrett had reached 5,248 feet in lime, and was making more hole.

Gulf No. 1, 1-T E. K. Hufstedler, had progressed to 5,430 feet in lime and had set 7-inch casing at 5,428 feet with cement. Cable tools will be moved in to drill the plug and drill ahead into the pay section.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Arnold was making hole below 4,903 feet in lime.

Stanolind No. 2 Arnold was bottomed at 6,112 feet in lime and had set casing at that point. It will drill the plug and drill ahead, in a few days.

Stanolind No. 2-B Harral was on a total depth of 6,050 feet in lime and was to take official potential test and complete as an oil well.

Stanolind No. 1 Rice had progressed to 6,102 feet in lime, and was to run and cement casing and then drill on down into the pay section.

50 POUNDS LOST WITH BARCENTRATE

Many people have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Here is what Mrs. C. M. Earsh, 303 N. 12th St., McAllen, Texas, says about Barcentrate: "I want to tell you that I have lost 50 pounds since taking Barcentrate. I still want to lose 20 more pounds as I now weigh 167, a reduction from 217 pounds."

To lose weight the grapefruit juice way, get Barcentrate from your favorite druggist today.

Wire Fence Across Mexico For Disease Fight Being Ruled Out

MEXICO CITY, March 6. (U.P.)—A wire fence stretching across northern Mexico to serve as a barrier against spread of foot and mouth disease is "out of the question," it was indicated today.

"Such a fence would be major construction job because of the jungles, swamps and mountainous terrain it would have to cross," said a spokesman for the joint Mexican - American commission fighting the disease.

Surveys Conducted

Surveys are being conducted along highways in northern Mexico where travel is heavy with the idea of constructing "strip fances" to run at right angles to the highways for considerable distance, he said. Gates may be placed on highways at these special crossings.

He said the joint commission meeting in Washington, D. C., recently "definitely" spiked the idea of building a solid, four-strand wire fence from the Gulf of the Pacific ocean.

The spokesman also reported that Dutch vaccine has passed a preliminary "safety test" in experiments with uninfected cattle. He said this test consists of placing the vaccine on the tongues of uninfected cattle. If it does not cause the cattle to become ill with the disease the vaccine is considered "safe."

To Conclude Tests

Further tests with the Dutch government-made vaccine are expected to be concluded within a week, at which time it will be known whether it is effective against the type of virus prevalent in Mexico, he said.

Argentine - manufactured vaccine is still being applied to cattle along the northern quarantine line but it is too early to say what its long-range effectiveness will be, the spokesman said. Although it passed tests under laboratory conditions, it probably will be "several months" before its effect in the field will be known, he added.

Meanwhile, commission officials still are studying several possible sites for a foot and mouth disease research laboratory here but have not selected the location as yet. The commission agreed at its recent Washington conference to go ahead "as soon as possible" with construction and equipment of such a laboratory in Mexico.

Method To Relieve Fuel Shortage Told

BISMARK, N. D., March 6 (U.P.) An authority on natural resources said today that huge lignite deposits in the Dakotas and Montana could be used to relieve the nation's fuel oil shortage.

J. J. Walsh, secretary of the North Dakota Water Conservation commission, said there are 915,000,000,000 tons of lignite in the three states.

Lignite is a low-grade type of coal in a stage of development between peat and bituminous coal. It can be converted into liquid fuel.

Lignite is commonly called brown coal because of its brownish black color, or wood coal because it has some of the texture of the original wood.

Walsh said the feasibility of turning lignite into liquid fuel was demonstrated at an industrial exposition at Jamestown, N. D., three years ago. Gasoline extracted from North Dakota lignite was used to power a gasoline motor.

Negro Teacher In Mississippi Asks Equal Pay With Whites

JACKSON, Miss., March 6 (AP) — A negro school teacher today sued Mississippi officials to force them to pay her a salary equal to that paid white teachers of the same experience and service.

Gladys Noal Bates, a teacher in the Smith-Robertson negro school in Jackson, filed complaint in federal district court against the board of trustees and superintendent of the Jackson separate school district.

A bill to equalize pay of teachers on a basis of experience and service is now before the house education committee of the legislature.

The suit charges that the defendants discriminate against negro principals and teachers of the school district in the matter of salaries because of color and race. It asks the court to declare the alleged practice a violation of the 14th amendment to the federal constitution.

NEGRO IS KILLED

DALLAS, March 6 (AP)—Jimmie Feggett, 37, negro city employe, was killed yesterday when a sewer ditch bank caved in upon him.

During the U. S. depression of the '30's illnesses lasting seven days or more occurred at a rate about one and one-half times that among well-to-do families.

Poor Wilbur—And He Brags Of Putting One Over On The Wife

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 6—Trellis Mae Peeble and her friend, Hortense, were talking about their favorite subject—how their husbands waste money.

Hal Boyle

"What burns me up about my Wilbur," said Trellis Mae, "is the money he throws away in tips. He's such a mouse he hates to offend anybody. I could buy three new dresses a year with the tips he gives."

"If housewives got tipped for service the way waiters and barbrs and bellboys do," agree Hortense, "we could all have wardrobes like movie stars."

A glint came into Mrs. Peeble's eyes. Hortense had given her an idea.

Tired Of Being Slave

"Wilbur, I'm tired of being a slave. That's all a housewife is. You men treat your home just like it was a hotel or a restaurant. Okay, if that's the way you feel. But you're going to have to pay for it.

"From now on I'm going to charge you 25 cents a night to check your hat and coat here. You're going to have to tip me 15 cents for serving you breakfast and a quarter for dinner. I want at least $2 a week for being your chambermaid, and 50 cents every time I have to run your suit over to the cleaner's like a bellboy."

Wilbur Too Weak

Wilbur was too weak to defend himself. He began paying. It didn't seem much at first. But the next weekend, when the boys at the office invited him to the regular Friday night poker fest, Wilbur couldn't go. His pocket had been drained empty.

At dinner the next evening Wilbur forked up an undercone piece of steak and told his wife coldly:

He left his quarter tip by the grease on the plate. Dressing the following day, he found a button missing from his shirt cuff. He dangled the sleeve belligerently before his wife.

"What kind of a laundry is this?" he demanded. "I shell out my money for service. Why don't I get any?"

After three days of such scenes, Trellis Mae's defenses crumbled completely.

"I d-d-don't want any more of your m-m-measley tips," she wept. "It's turned you into an old grouch, W-W-Wilbur."

"Well, I'll call the whole thing off," he said, adding carefully—"if you return me the $17.65 I tipped you."

That Conscience Again

Night Club Dancer's Wiggles Too Ferocious, Police Claim

NEW YORK, March 6 (AP)—The police think night club entertainer Georgia Sothern's wiggles are too "ferocious."

So the onetime stripteaser, who now does what she calls "a burlesque of burlesque," is suing to force the police to give her a permit.

Said Georgia: "They accuse me of doing bumps and grinds. I couldn't do a grind for a million dollars. I do a few bumps—they called them ferocious bumps. But what I do is a burlesque of burlesque."

TO TAKE OFFICE—Dean Gorham, city treasurer and pension officer of Houston, who has resigned to become director of the Texas Municipal Retirement System, effective March 16, 1948.

Name Is Chosen For Methodist Church

The congregation of the recently organized Methodist church in the Arnett-Benson addition held a covered-dish dinner Tuesday night, at which time the name of Memorial Methodist church was selected by a unanimous vote of the members as the official name for the church, Rev. D. Orval Strong, pastor, has announced.

The church was named in memory of the old-time pioneer circuit riders of the Methodist church in the Northwest Texas conference, Strong said. Dr. Sam G. Dunn, son of Rev. R. F. Dunn who was one of those circuit riders, has contributed greatly to the establishment of the Memorial Methodist church, the pastor stated.

The new church has 75 charter members at the present time, and is awaiting the availability of a temporary building to be located at North Fourth street and North Adams avenue. At present, services are being held every second and fourth Sunday mornings of each month and every Sunday evening in the Primitive Baptist church, 2810 Walnut street.

Members of the Board of Stewards of the church are: W. Ralph Ward, chairman; Rudolph Minor, secretary-treasurer; James Baker, Jack Hasler, Wilson Martin and Duane Tilson. Trustees are J. P. Mills, J. F. Eddleman and C. D. Campbell.

Noted Lecturer To Speak Here Today

Hayward H. Johnson of Washington, D. C., author, playwright and widely known lecturer, will speak on "America's Greatest Peril" this morning at 10:50 o'clock at St. John's Methodist church.

Johnson, a former deputy investigator in Illinois received nation-wide recognition when he led the clean-up fight against roadhouses, gangsters and booze-runners in Williamson county, Illinois.

He has had opportunities to study the traits of "bad men" and "bad kids" and the conditions in society lying back of them. In his several year's experience in organization work in social welfare, he has contacted large numbers of high school and college youths.

As a lecturer, Johnson has the reputation of dealing with present social problems particularly as they apply to modern youth and their relation to their elders in a practical, constructive and interesting way.

He is at present on a lecture tour from the headquarters of the Methodist church in Washington, D. C.

Church Women Of Two Counties Plan Mass Meeting On Monday

MARSHALL, March 6. (AP) — Church women of Marshall and Harrison county have been called to a mass meeting here Monday night.

Mrs. Georgia Starr Hart, Marshall, said the meeting resulted from the endorsement by the Texas Council of Church Women of President Truman's civil rights program.

She labeled the action at Dallas Wednesday as a "violation of the principle of separation of church and State."

Pope Pius Praises Argentina Aid To Europe In An Address

VATICAN CITY, March 6 (U.P.) —Pope Pius praised Argentina's aid to Europe today in an address to the new Argentine ambassador to the Vatican, Gen. Nicola Accame.

Replying in Spanish to the ambassador's remarks when he presented his credentials, the Pope noted the "solicitude and diligence" of Argentine aid organization.

He said the nation recognized "the tragic situation of a great part of the European nations which are living an existence more like slow agony than optimistic and sure convalescence."

Clark And Krug Bring Sad News To Texas On Tidelands Battle

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, March 6.—Participants in the submerged tidelands controversy can confine their arguments to oil and forget about fish, wheat and seashells.

That, in effect, is the message of Atty-Gen. Tom Clark and Secretary of the Interior Julius A. Krug to the joint Senate-House committee considering tidelands legislation.

The cabinet members, however, believe 100,000,000,000 barrels of oil worth fighting over. This, they say, is the estimated potential oil value of the tidelands and compares with 21,000,000,000 barrels of proved oil reserves in the continental United States.

Bigger And Sadder News

Clark and Krug, first government witnesses to testify against a Senate bill that would give outright title to the tidelands to the respective states, had bigger and sadder news for the numerous state officials who have flocked to Washington.

Said Krug: "I am certain President Truman will veto the bill if it is passed by Congress."

(The President vetoed a similar bill last year.)

Said Clark: "It is my duty, no matter how personally uncomfortable, to file suit for title to Texas tidelands."

Neither statement came as a surprise, but supporters of the states' ownership bill are hoping for congressional passage by a majority sufficient to discourage a veto. Passage without a veto would mean an end for such title suits.

Special Claim By Texas

Clark acknowledged Texas, by virtue of U. S. recognition of the republic of Texas 112 years ago, has a special claim to its tidelands.

"If the court rules Texas owns her tidelands you won't try to take her oil?" Ed Gossett, congressman from Wichita Falls, asked.

"If Texas owns her, bless her heart, she keeps them."

In the case of Texas, he said, should the state lose the suit, both the state and oil companies drawing oil from tidelands since June 23 will be asked to repay the government.

Such money for Texas is estimated at from $12,000,000 to $14,000,000.

Drilling Program Planned

Meanwhile, in Texas, the Magnolia Petroleum company, in announcing a $65,000,000 drilling program for 1948, said $9,000,000 will be spent for six additional wildcat wells in the Gulf of Mexico off the Louisiana coast. Two dry wells have been completed and a third well currently is drilling below 12,000 feet.

Also, at Galveston, the Penn-Ohio Gas company filed papers with the county clerk transferring to the Ohio Oil company a half interest in 16 leases covering 18,240 acres of submerged lands. The leases were made November 7 through State Land Commissioner Bascom Giles.

Production At New High

Oil wells and refineries in the Southwest are producing 15 percent more petroleum products than during the peak year of World war II.

The Southwest's oil industry "has gone to extraordinary lengths" to meet heavy winter demands for heating fuels.

District 3 (comprising Texas, Louisiana, Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi and New Mexico) is producing more than 3,491,000 barrels of crude oil daily, the equivalent of 60 percent of the total United States supply.

Currently oil runs to refineries total 2,100,000 barrels daily, 15 percent over the wartime peak.

The Federal Power commission March 22 will hear oral arguments on Trans-Continental Gas Pipeline company's application to build a $150,000,000 natural gas system from Texas to the eastern seaboard . . . Two new all-time marks, the American Petroleum Institute reports, were established for the week ending February 28, natural crude production rising to 5,387,125 barrels daily (39,950 barrels daily higher than the previous mark established the preceding week.) . . . Panhandle Producing and Refining company has announced contracting to acquire all outstanding stock of Wil-Tex Oil corporation, owner of producing properties in East White Point Refugio and West Ranch fields in South Texas, for approximately $4,000,000.

Tech Students Interviewed For Work In Saudi Arabia

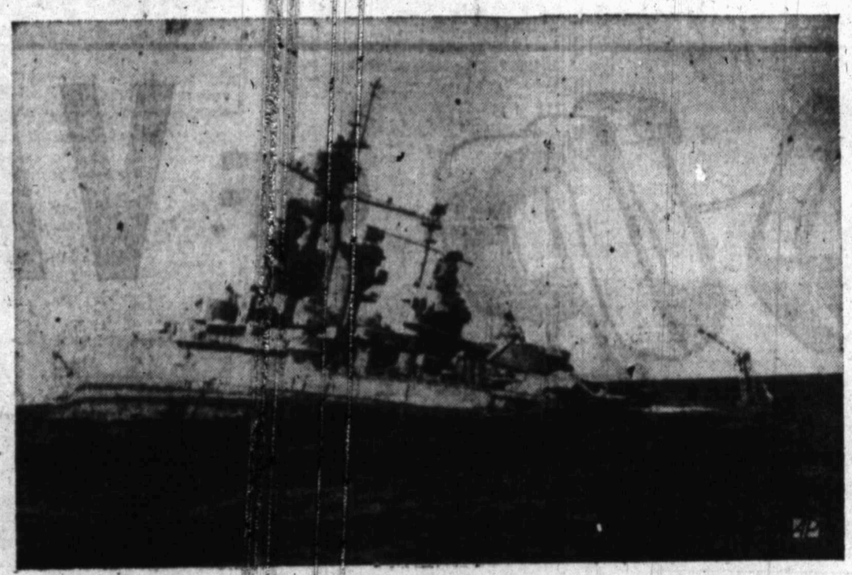

A. J. Edwards, director of a Saudi Arabian agricultural project, interviewed prospective June and August graduates in the Agriculture division late this week for positions with his company, according to Miss Wendell Killin, secretary in the agriculture division.

Students interested in these positions should have some experience in irrigation farming or a degree from an agricultural college. Edwards has already secured several Texas A&M students for his company and expressed a desire to obtain several Texas Tech students.

Edwards is a graduate of Texas A&M, where he studied under W. L. Stangel, present dean of agriculture at Texas Tech.

Since 1936, the world population has been increasing at a rate of about one per cent annually.

Seizure Of Truck Loaded With Tons Of Arms Noted In France

PARIS, March 6 (AP)—Police announced today seizure of a truck loaded with five tons of arms and the arrest of seven persons.

They said they believed the arms were destined for Palestine. They did not disclose the identities of those arrested.

The newspaper Paris-Presse said the arms included machine-guns, a bazooka, bombs, mines, grenades and 150 rifles.

Better Heating

A forced-air central furnace gives you all the advantages of low-cost natural gas heating. It provides clean, constant, automatic heat, evenly distributed throughout the rooms by means of a blower. With it there is no stratification of heat, no cold floors, no cold corners. This excellent type of equipment is always vented. A basement is not necessary.

The floor furnace, while not as desirable as the forced-air central furnace, is a splendid piece of equipment, very popular in West Texas. It is always vented. When thermostatically controlled it provides fully automatic heating, clean and healthful. Suspended beneath the floor, it occupies no "in-the-room" space. Naturally it can be used only in ground-floor rooms.

Similar in operation to a floor furnace, but built into the wall rather than beneath the floor. Although relatively new, a number of these units have been installed in West Texas homes. The panel wall heater is always vented, and may be thermostatically controlled. May be used either in ground-floor rooms or second-story rooms. Dual units are available for heating adjacent rooms with one installation.

Texans Divided On Marshall Plan

Voters Lacking Understanding

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll

AUSTIN, March 6—While Congress struggles with the Marshall Plan for European recovery, lack of knowledge about the program is keeping a goodly portion of Texas public opinion undecided about its advisability.

The result is that only half of all Texans would vote for the Secretary of State's plan.

According to a statewide survey by The Texas Poll, 56 out of every 100 adults admit they know little or nothing about the plan before Congress. Many of these people, nevertheless, will express an opinion, and only 39 per cent are found in favor.

Informed Group Backs Plan

People who consider themselves well or fairly well informed on the question, on the other hand, approve of it by a 63 per cent majority.

The measure the impact of the Marshall Plan on Texans and their reaction to it, Texas Poll interviewers over the state asked a representative cross-section of adults the following two questions:

1. "If you were a member of Congress, would you vote for or against a bill approving the Marshall Plan for aid to Europe for four years?"

	Men	Women	All
For	50%	50%	50%
Against	31	26	29
Undecided	19	24	21

2. "Do you consider yourself well informed about the Marshall Plan, fairly well informed, or would you say you know only a little or nothing about the plan?"

	Men	Women	All

Know only little or nothing	48	63	56

Nationally-Known Educators Are To Speak

Teachers To Meet In Lubbock Friday

Two nationally known educators will address the West Texas Teachers association when it convenes in Lubbock Friday, according to Floyd Honey, Lubbock Senior High school principal and president of the association.

Dr. Alexander J. Stoddard, superintendent of the Philadelphia Public schools, will address the first general session in the Senior High school auditorium Friday afternoon, and will also speak at the administrator's luncheon to be held at 11:30 a. m. at the Lubbock Hotel.

Goslin To Speak

Willard E. Goslin, superintendent of schools in Minneapolis, Minnesota, will address the convention at the evening session.

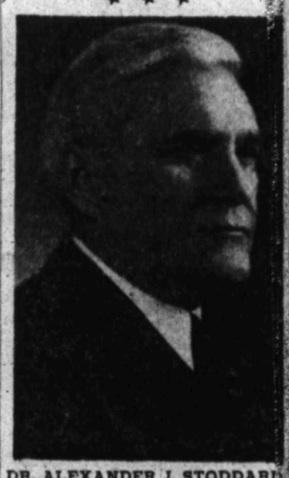

Dr. Stoddard is a graduate of the Peru State Teachers college, the University of Nebraska, and Teachers College, Columbia university, and a former law student at the University of Michigan. He also holds six honorary degrees. During the summers he has taught at Yale, Teachers College, Columbia, Harvard, and at the university of Panama. He will address the teachers on their convention theme, "Education as a Joint Enterprise."

From 1936 to 1946, Dr. Stoddard was chairman of the Education Policies commission. He was a member of the education mission to Japan to advise with General MacArthur on the reorganization of the Japanese school system.

Serves At Universities

Superintendent Goslin is a graduate of State Teachers college at Kirksville, Mo., and holds his master's degree in school administration from the University of Missouri. He has also studied at Columbia university and Washington university. Goslin's career in the educational field began as a rural teacher in 1916 and has progress-

New Building Plan Offered

DALLAS, March 6 (AP) — A builder-owner cooperative plan to produce a house selling in the $3,500-$2,800 price range was proposed today for Dallas by Arthur J. Frentz of Washington, assistant commissioner of the Federal Housing administration.

"Here is one way to provide shelter at prices a working man can afford to pay—$30 a month," the high ranking housing official said.

"This house," he said, "is structurally complete — foundations, walls, roof, electric wiring and plumbing. But it is no push-button house. It has no frills."

Leave Finish Work

The builder, he said, can leave a lot of finish work to be done by the owner.

The low cost houses would be financed by FHA's title I program which limits loans on new houses to $3,000 exclusive of lots. Under this plan, FHA insures only 10 per cent of the loan. Title VI loans, under which most home building is now financed, are insured 90 per cent by FHA. However, this program finances homes in a higher-price range.

Thomas C. Laws, Jr., Given Promotion At Alaskan Base

FORT RICHARDSON, Alaska, March 6, (Special)—Thomas C. Laws, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Laws of 2022 Ninth Street Lubbock, has recently been promoted to the grade of Sergeant

A member of the world-encircling Airways and Air Commpnications Service, Sgt. Laws is presently assigned to the 59th AACS Group at Elmendorf Field, Fort Richardson, Alaska.

Prior to his enlistment in the United States Air Force, he attended Lubbock High school and graduated with the class of 1946. He has been stationed in Alaska since May 1947.

INTERRUPTED—Stacie Lawrence, New Orleans night club entertainer who does a strip tease act under the name of "Stormy" is shown as she went into her act before Louisiana State university students in Baton Rouge before student interrupted her act and tossed her into a lake on the campus. She had been cover girl of a banned student magazine.

Federal Wage Boost Sought

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP) — A pay raise of not less than $800 a year for federal workers was urged today by Rep. Carroll (D-Colo.)

He told the House post office and civil service committee that he is convinced many federal employes in Denver are undergoing severe hardships at the present pay scale.

"Living costs have risen almost 30 per cent since the last federal pay raise was granted in 1946," he stated.

Are Below Minimum

"I understand that the average pay of all federal workers is about $2,900 a year, and that the average pay in the postal service is about $2,700 a year. These figures are considerably below the minimum amount necessary to provide a decent living standard for a family at present price levels."

Carroll said he felt also that the beginning pay in federal employment is so low that it "affords no encouragement for a young man to enter this important type of work."

Wife Thought It Time To Quit As Hubby Tossed Alarm Clock

DETROIT, March 6 (AP)—Mrs. Sybil W. Kries won her divorce today after telling Circuit Judge Miles N. Culehan that her husband threw books, a vase and shoes at her.

"And then he tossed an alarm clock," she added.

Susan Peters Is A Real Heroine

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 13.—The brunette drove up to her apartment, looking very chic and whistleable. She wore a black and white striped jacket and a red hunter's cap; her cheeks were pink, her blue eyes dancing. You assumed she'd presently hop out of her shiny tan convertible and run into the house. But Susan Peters has been told by surgeons that they can't enable to walk again. She's easily movie stardom's No. 1 real-life heroine.

Susan Peters

I'd resolved to call on her after previewing her comeback picture, "The Sign of the Ram," in which Susan does her acting — very effectively—from a wheelchair.

Somehow I couldn't pity, could only admire this radiant, spunky gal. She's so genuinely cheerful. "The doctor told me that about six months after the accident, when I fully realized I couldn't walk, I'd probably have a terrific mental upset. Well, I'm still waiting for it."

Accident Occurred 3 Years Ago

The accident occurred three years ago last New Year's Day. Duck-hunting at Cuyamaca Lake near San Diego, she stooped to pick up a .22 rifle. Perhaps the trigger snagged a weed. Surgeons dug the bullet out of her spine.

She spent nearly eight months in two hospitals. One night, when her fever was 106, she heard the nurse tell her actor husband, Richard Quine, she couldn't live through the night. Susan told Dick: "I know I'm going to live through the night."

Trouble Finding Script

She drives her convertible, using an extra lever on the steering post. An enormous Great Dane, Thunder, as big and formidable (I swear) as a tiger, accompanies her when she drives alone. She goes shopping in her car (clerks give her curb service), and takes her young adopted son, Tim, to the zoo. She tried rabbit-hunting, but the shotgun's recoil rolled her wheelchair backward.

Susan's searching for another movie script, preferably a comedy. "I'm having trouble finding a good script, but then"—Susan grinned —"so are players who can walk around."

There are about two and one-quarter billion people in the world.

Farley Says Wallace Is Threat To Demos

NEW YORK, March 6. (AP) — Former Postmaster General James A. Farley predicts that Henry A. Wallace's third party bid for the White House will poll some 5,000,000 votes next November. And, he says, "from half a million to a million" of them will come from New York.

Wallace, the one-time national Democratic chairman said last night, "is more of a threat to the Democratic party than the Democratic leaders realize."

He was interviewed on the "Meet The Press" radio program during which he said flatly that he was not a candidate for office in 1948, "neither for the presidency, nor the vice-presidency."

"In my pjudgment, President Truman will be the nominee of his party," Farley declared.

As Democratic vice-presidential possibilities, he listed Sen. Millard E. Tydings of Maryland, Secretary of Defense Forrestal, Secretary of Commerce Harriman, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, and Secretary of State Marshall.

Water stored behind Hoover dam would fill four-fifths of Lake Erie.

Hollywood On The Loose...

Filmtown Facts And Fancies

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 6—It's the "Johnson sticks his neck out" time of the year.

Meaning, of course, my old annual custom of naming Hollywood's 1947 Oscar winners a month in advance.

JOHNSON

Best picture: "Gentleman's Agreement."

Best actress: Rosalind Russell in "Mourning Becomes Electra."

Best supporting actor: Edmund Gwenn in "Miracle on 34th Street."

Best supporting actress: Celeste Holm in "Gentleman's Agreement."

Best direction: Elia Kazen for "Gentleman's Agreement."

But please don't sue me when the awards are announced the night of March 20. I'm only second guessing.

THE MIX STORY

TOMMY DORSEY and Pat Dane can't seem to stay away from each other even though they're divorced. . . . "The Life of Tom Mix" is on the front burner again, this time at M-G-M.

Eddie Cantor's impersonator, Jackie Green, currently at the Florentine Gardens, became the papa of a baby girl the other day. Wired Cantor: "I started the same way. Ha! Ha!" . . . Maureen O'Hara wants her studio to buy "Earthbound," the best selling Dalton Reymond novel. The heroine makes "Amber" sound like East Lynne.

Not in the script: "I will play Wallace Beery's grandmother in a picture if it's a good acting part."—Joan Crawford. "When I don't roll my eyes, quote Shakespeare and glow in the dark, people are disappointed."—Orson Welles.

WANTS TO BE NICE

CHARLES LAUGHTON says he's through with meanies. Which is like Sophie Tucker announcing she will sing only Irish ballads or Ethel Merman promising to sing soft and sweet.

"But I really want to play nice people," Hollywood's favorite tubby menace told me. "I'm tired of having friends call me on the phone and ask me to frighten their children into going to bed."

BATHING NEPTUNE — Note to Junior: even the God of the Sea has to take a bath. It happened in Rome, where this statue of King Neptune, crowning the famous Trevi Fountain gets a spring cleaning. All the city's many statues got scrubbed.

Millions In Tax Refunds Are Paid In North Texas District

DALLAS, March 6 (AP)—Income tax refunds amounting to $10,390,072 have been paid 187,259 persons thus far in the north district of Texas.

Assistant to the acting collector of internal revenue for the district, Kirby H. Jackson, estimated a total of $28,000,000 will be paid to some 575,000 persons before the refunding period closes June 30.

Lakes impounded by dams of the Tennessee Valley Authority have shore lines totalling 10,058 miles.

Huake with Boyer and Bergman in "Arch of Triumph." Maybe Huake was just too much for him. But wasn't it Laughton who recently said: "Villainy has done all right by me. I will leer at my mourners at my own funeral if it will improve the attendance."

Keenan Wynn and Lina Romay have gotten around to see each other. . . . Next record to get a big play from the disk jockeys is Hoagy Carmichael's "The Feathery Feeling."

Deanna Durbin's estranged hubby, Felix Jackson, will collaborate with poet Ogden Nash to write a Broadway musical. . . . Despite the panning she took from London critics, Mae West is doing terrific business with her "Diamond Lil" road company in England.

Story Of Prison Life Brings More Realistic Film To Fans

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 6 (AP) — How realistic can movies get? Producer Bryan Foy seems to have the answer; he is making a picture as close to actuality as anything yet tried.

Hollywood's camera eye has been getting more acute and searching in the past year, particularly since the rise of the semi-documentary film. Pictures are getting less glamor-ridden and more realistic. Foy, Eagle-Lion boss and member of the famed theatrical company, is going whole hog—he will shoot a Colorado prison break almost exactly as it happened. Here's how the project came about:

Okayed By Warden

At a prison warden meeting in California last year, Foy met Roy Best, headman of the Colorado state penitentiary at Canon City. "I'd like to shoot a picture at your prison sometime," said Foy, who knew of the area's scenic beauty. "Okay," said Best.

On the night of Dec. 30, 12 long-term convicts broke out of a cell block tagged "Little Siberia," clubbed two guards and kept four others as hostages. Using guns they made themselves, the prisoners escaped and spread out over the Colorado countryside. Within 61 hours, a 300-man posse had captured 10 escapees, killed two.

On the day after the break, Foy called Best. "This is the day," he said. "How about it?" The warden agreed, and the studio boss dispatched writer-director Crane Wilbur to Canon City to round up the story. Wilbur has finished the script, and next Tuesday a film crew will fly to Canon City to start shooting the picture.

Shot In Actual Locale

Foy, just back from the Colorado prison, told me that nearly all of the picture will be shot in its actual locale—the prison cell blocks and mess halls and the homes, offices and farms of Canon City. Many of the convicts will portray themselves, as will Warden Best and Gov. William Lee Knous of Colorado. The prisoners will be paid regular actor's wages and Foy said several have had acting experience.

Hollywood actors will substitute for convicts who can't act or don't want to be in the picture, but Foy is striving for realistic faces. So far, Charles Russell and Stanley Clements are the only actors set for it, but they will be disguised with shaved heads.

The world population increases about 20 million people each year.

Cotton Session Here Has Possibilities; Evidence On Senator Bared

PLANS WELL LAID

Many Should Attend

THE only solid and secure foundation possible for the cotton industry in all its phases is suggested in the theme for the 1948 South Plains Cotton Outlook conference to be held in Lubbock April 10. It reads:

"If your cotton is to hold its place in the world market, it must do so on the basis of price and quality—not subsidy."

Subsidies are fine when obtainable. But they depend solely upon politics. Politicians provide them, and can end them. The danger of their being ended, as an economy measure, might be greatest if a depression should occur—when they would be needed most. New Deal bosses might try to end them this year to "punish" and beat into submission those Southwesters who refuse to bow supinely to the Truman civil rights scheme. Subsidies, at best, are an uncertain prop, which might be blown away by any changes in the treacherous winds of politics and economics.

These uncertainties would be ended if cotton could compete for markets strictly on the basis of price and quality. It won't have to worry with politicians, or anyone else, if it can give purchasers the most for their money. Whether that can be done remains to be proved, with the burden of proof falling almost entirely on the cotton industry. It is encouraging that the industry seems to be trying to do that. It is an effort which gets additional stimulus from meetings like the one scheduled in Lubbock.

The immediate purpose of the conference here, however, will be to obtain from the most authoritative sources available the South Plains cotton outlook for 1948. The importance of such information is obvious.

It is so important that every cotton farmer, ginner and business man on the South Plains who can attend should make every effort to do so. It is not too early to begin making plans now, more than a month ahead, to be present.

Revolt Is Possible

IF IT DOES nothing else, the strike of 100,000 meat packing plant workers, set for March 16, may provide a test of just how much the American consumer will endure before trying to do something about it.

Consumers know from many experiences a strike would be used as a pretext for an attempt to increase retail prices. If prolonged, it inevitably would cause shortages which are the almost invariable forerunner of price hikes. If the strikers win pay increases, the consumer must expect an attempt to force him to pay the bill.

Perhaps, in that event, he will do as he usually has done in the past—grumble and pay. On the other hand, there have been some evidences lately that the limit has just about been reached in the price most people are willing to pay for meat. Nothing in the nature of a buyers' strike has occurred. But declines in sales have been acknowledged and prices of some kinds of meat, especially porks, have dropped.

No one can pretend to know what the effects would be if a strike or wage increases should lead to another round of retail meat price hikes. Certainly, most people think prices are too high already. It is possible that mass and spontaneous resentment resulting from further boosts could result in something akin to a buyers' strike. Most people could get along on considerably less meat without suffering.

True, nothing of this kind is certain to happen, regardless of probable price trends. But it must be assumed there is an end to consumer patience somewhere. There seems a possibility, at least, that price increases resulting from a strike might go beyond the limit of endurance.

BROKE WITH CHIANG BUT WANTED HIM TO TRIUMPH . . .'

"Donald Of China" Tells Story Of Famed Australian

"DONALD OF CHINA," by William H. Donald as told to Earl Albert Selle; (Harper).

WILLIAM H. DONALD broke with Chiang Kai-shek because he could no longer stand war-time Kuomintang corruption, but died six years later hoping Generalissimo Chiang would triumph over the Communists, according to a biography of the famed Australian.

Donald related his life in 1946 to Earl Albert Selle, then columnist for the Honolulu Advertiser. Donald dictated from a Hawaiian hospital bed where he lay dying of cancer. The biography is Donald of China. It is the story of a mystery man who spent 37 years helping the Kuomintang and advising Sun Yatsen, the Chiang Kai-sheks and many other Chinese leaders.

While he detested reaction and corruption in the Kuomintang, Donald believed Communism could never be the solution for China.

The book depicts Sun Yat-sen as an impractical visionary, but a man who had such persistency, strength of purpose and determination for betterment of China that the revolution could not have succeeded without him. One of Donald's principal duties for several months was detouring Sun from idealistic but impractical plans which would have made him look ridiculous.

Idea Is Exciting

"THE TRAIN FROM PITTSBURGH," by Julian Farren; (Knopf).

TOM BRIDGES has promised his wartime friend Mike Myers, and himself, to meet Mike and Mike's family when the Pittsburgh train reaches New York. Tom can provide a job for Mike, who needs it desperately; Tom needs desperately, too, to perform this service as a symbol of his integrity.

In the society in which he lives, parties, drinks and liaisons are subversive influences. A mistress distracts him from his wife; a cocktail is apt to wash away the bulk of his praiseworthy intentions. The pleasure, the relaxation, the thrill of the present moment wear away his determination to be a better man in the long run.

The idea underlying this first novel is exciting, and the title is pat. It starts out lamely, however. It is almost as if Farren taught himself to write in this one book: Inept at the opening, but precise and to the point by the time Bridges' decision is made.

Refreshing Writing

"AMANDA SAID THE GRASS WAS GREEN," by Robert Bunker; (Swallow Press-Morrow).

PETER KYE, off at war while brother Charley runs the factory, comes back to his job and his love Amanda. Job, girl and boy, too, have changed. A strike threatens the Kyes' business; and at the same time Peter and Amanda ask themselves whether the love of five years ago still exists, or can be brought to life again, or replaced by a new and deeper one.

This is a first novel, and the reader will perceive in it some of the hesitancy of the inexperienced craftsman. But do counteract that, there is the breath of something new. The story moves slowly, but it has a refreshing poetic quality.

Hackneyed Theme

"THE PATCHWORK TIME," by Robert Gibbons; (Alfred A. Knopf).

THE theme of this disappointing novel by this promising young writer, who won a Knopf fiction fellowship, is old and hackneyed, yet always new: A man's loss of his virginity.

To some men it's a pretty unimportant business and just happens. To John Sommers, history teacher in a southern town, it is as momentous as the collapse of the Roman empire; it's like the end of the world, it's the time when the sky falls down.

Son of a county agent whose integrity had cost him his position, John comes to the little southern town of Pineboro determined to be as good a man as his father . . and indeed he follows in the parental footsteps in more ways than one. It is an odd place. The school principal is one of the earth's noblemen, but otherwise it's a hot

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

MUCH of the trouble in the lives of so many is caused by the fact that they don't see those arrows at the corners marked "One Way."

Life is indeed a one-way street and when one tries to travel in the opposite direction is bound for a ticket by Father Time, that tough old traffic cop.

BRANDEIS

I happened to be talking to a retired former executive of a large New York concern a couple of days ago. Once upon a time this executive was full of pep and vinegar and hundreds of people obeyed his orders.

But as he got older the pep abated and the vinegar lost its strength and, not wanting to wait for the "we are sorry but—," he retired.

But retirement was different from an executive job, and puttering around the house, playing an occasional game of golf and attending a few town meetings did not make up for the activity of an important position.

"We miss you," they said, "and wish you were back."

"Isn't my successor all right?" he asked.

"Oh, he'll do, but he is nothing like you were."

* * *

When he came back to the country he related the incident gleefully and added:

"I bet I could get my old job back right now."

Maybe he could. Maybe not.

At any rate, I noticed that his former fellow-workers did not say "He is nothing like you ARE", but "he is nothing like you WERE."

So many people think, as they get old, that no one can ever take their place.

That's a lot of rot.

There is no such thing as an indispensable man or woman.

Thousands, yes millions of people, smart people, wonderful people, have retired, have died—and have been missed.

But their business has gone on without them, has prospered without them—and has eventually forgotten them.

LIVE while you may, but give others a chance to live, too.

You were young once—give others a chance to be young and to have all the advantages, the opportunities and the prerogatives of youth.

Look at that arrow at the corner: "One Way."

Look ahead. There is plenty still to be seen, still to be enjoyed, still to be done on that one-way street.

But, if you drive an old car, don't hog the road. Give others a chance to pass you.

Your car was fast once—now enjoy its pace, take your time and see the sights along the way.

And don't try to turn back on a one-way street!

Should Check Record

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Memo to Senator Ferguson of Michigan:

You will recall that last summer serious charges were made against your Republican colleague, Senator Owen Brewster of Maine, by the west coast airplane builder, Howard Hughes. Senator Brewster was accused of being a lobbyist for Pan American Airways and of using his high office for the commercial advantage of one airplane company.

PEARSON

Although these charges were publicly made and although Senator Brewster—at that time—said he welcomed an investigation, nothing has happened since. I understand that Senator Brewster since has informed the Justice department that he did not wish to be investigated. However, in view of your own record for conducting impartial probes, and in view of the fact that you are courageously going after your Democratic colleague, Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, I feel sure that you will also wish to explore thoroughly the serious charges against a Republican.

Accordingly, I tender herewith certain evidence and the names of witnesses which I believe important in the case.

Interview Brewster's Housekeeper

I suggest that you interview Mrs. Ellen Jenny Brown, RFD 4, Dexter, Maine (telephone St. Albans 4 ring 13), who has served as Brewster's housekeeper for the past three summers. Mrs. Brown is a lady with a New England conscience who believes that senators should live up to their oath of office. I am sure she will tell your committee the truth.

She will tell, among other things, how Brewster used to fly up to Dexter, Maine, almost every week end in a private airplane belonging to Pan American Airways. The Brewster summer house in Maine was kept open from May 1 to November each year. And when Mrs. Brown first went to work for the Brewsters the senator spent almost every week end at home.

He would be picked up by a private Pan American plane in Washington, and Mrs. Brown is in a position to testify regarding this because she used to answer the telephone when Sam Pryor, vice president of Pan American Airways, would call to say when the senator would arrive. The calls usually came from Washington or Greenwich, Conn., the latter being Pryor's home.

The private plane never brought anyone except Brewster. It would circle the Brewster home before landing, which was the signal for Mrs. Brown to start preparing dinner. Once Pryor himself flew in with the senator and stayed all night. Next day they flew to Moosehead lake for five days' fishing.

The senator also filled many speaking engagements and Mrs. Brown has the impression that he also flew to them in a private plane. When Charles Brewster, the senator's son, returned from overseas in 1945, Brewster brought him to Dexter in a private Pan American plane.

When the Brewster-Hughes hearings were held in Washington last summer, the Brewster household was thrown into an uproar. Brewster immediately stopped flying Pan American planes, taking a train from Boston instead or else flying by Northeast Airlines to Bangor. Mrs. Brown was cautioned not to mention to a soul the senator's past association with Pan American Airways.

AS you know, Senator Ferguson, Congress some time ago passed a law making it illegal for railroads to give free passes to members of Congress. This was because so many favors were passed out to congressmen by the railroads in the old days that it got to be a scandal. The Civil Aeronautics Board also has stringent rules against free trips on Commercial airlines.

Therefore it would seem to any average citizen highly unethical for a U. S. senator to be constantly accepting free airplane trips from one airline, especially when, at the very same time, he was trying to push a law through Congress benefitting that airline.

Violation Of Lobbying Law?

May I also point out that Sam Pryor of Pan American Airways has not been registered as a lobbyist and that his activities in connection with Senator Brewster would appear to be in violation of the lobbying law.

If you need further evidence, I suggest that you also contact Ernest Glueck, 24 Ormond street, Rockville Center, L. I., whose nephew Stanley worked for Pan American in Washington from September, 1946, until September, 1947. Stanley told his family of seeing Brewster several times get into Pan American's private plane in Washington. At first Stanley was willing to testify, until his mother persuaded him not to. However, if you put him under subpoena he will doubtless tell the truth.

I also suggest that you check the flight records for Pan American Airways plane NC 4000, piloted by Capt. Alfred Uertoni of New York.

If those records have not been altered or destroyed they should tell an interesting story of trips carrying Senator Brewster. Robert Lloyd, one of the secretaries for Pan American in New York, had charge of filling out these manifests.

Pan American also has a file of the inter-office memoranda in its special-service division regarding courtesies extended to public officials. These should be checked — especially two dated Dec. 3, 1946, and Dec. 8, 1946, in Miami. These pertain to Senator and Mrs. Brewster's trip to South America and clearly indicate the interest of Juan Trippe, president of Pan American, in the Brewster travels.

I also believe that Robert Thatch, former vice president of Pan American, could throw some interesting light on Pan Am's connection with Brewster; as well as Marshall Bannell, former public-relations expert for Pan American.

While I realize the Senate's reluctance to investigate one of its own members, nevertheless when such serious charges are made it would seem to be the Senate's duty to explore these charges thoroughly in order that public confidence in the good name of Congress may not be lessened.

Respectfully yours,
Drew Pearson.

LUBBOCK "BONDED TO HILT"

Improvements Go Glimmering

BY H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

SERIOUS questions as to whether the City of Lubbock ever can sell the bonds voted to building a municipal auditorium-coliseum and public library have been raised within the past few days.

The reasons for the doubts are illustrative of the financial straitjacket in which the city now finds itself, and in which it seems likely to continue for several years to come.

The doubtful prospect as to the auditorium-coliseum and library bonds arises from two basic circumstances:

The first is that the city is now bonded practically to the hilt, insofar as the issuance of bonds secured by taxation is concerned.

The second is that the auditorium-coliseum and library bonds, when and if sold, cannot pay more than 3½ per cent interest.

Interest Trend Upward

Investment authorities have told city officials frankly they doubt whether there would be a market for municipal bonds at that rate even now.

Their unanimous opinion is that the interest rate trend during the next several years will be upward.

It is their further opinion that, at no time in the reasonably foreseeable future will there be a sale for any tax-secured, City of Lubbock bonds which pay only 3½ per cent interest.

If this view is correct, and if Lubbock ever builds an auditorium-coliseum and library, new elections will be necessary to authorize a higher interest rate than now can be paid.

This merely is one segment of an exceedingly complicated bonding condition which now exists for this city.

FOR a comprehension of that picture, and its problems, an understanding of one basic fact is necessary.

That fact is that no city can have outstanding tax-secured bonds of a total value exceeding 10 per cent of its assessed valuations. The term, "outstanding bonds," means those that actually have been sold. It does not apply to those voted, but not sold.

At the present time, the City of Lubbock has $54,600,000, to use round figures, in assessed valuations. It has $5,200,000 in tax-secured bonds outstanding. In other words, it is bonded practically to the limit. It could not sell any more tax bonds now if it wanted to.

In addition to those actually sold, the city has authorized by elections approximately $3,000,000 more in bonds which have not been issued.

These include $1,750,000 for the auditorium-coliseum, voted in December, 1945; $300,000 for the public library, voted in May, 1947, and $650,000 for a water softening plant, also voted in December, 1945. In each case, 3½ per cent is the maximum interest rate which may be paid upon them.

But, disregarding the interest rate entirely, none of these bonds can be sold until assessed valuations are increased, substantially.

If the city wanted to sell all the bonds voted but still unissued, assessed valuations will have to total close to $85,000,000, or $30,000,000 more than they total now.

Even according to the most optimistic calculation, Lubbock's valuations won't reach that figure before 1951. To do that, they will have to maintain the almost phenomenal rate of increase of the past two years. More conservative estimates indicate 1953 as the year when city valuations will climb to $85,000,000. If a recession should occur, only Heaven knows when they might hit that figure.

TRUE, it isn't necessary for the city to try to sell all the voted bonds at once. The City commission can offer them in any order it desires, provided a sale does not shove the total of bonds outstanding above the 10 per cent of assessed valuations.

Thus it might be possible to offer the library bonds early next Fall, when the tax roll for 1948 is completed and approved. Present estimates are that it will show total valuations of about $60,000,000. This estimate almost certainly is conservative.

But, if valuations are approximately that figure, the commission could offer the $500,000 library bond issue. No one pretends to know now whether 3½ per cent bonds can be sold at that time. Investment authorities say the chances are against it.

Still, if library bonds could be and were sold, it would mean that this city would continue in the position of being bonded right up to its ears. Any city in that position has to pay more for any money it borrows — and bonds, of course, mean borrowing. The difference in the cost on a $500,000 bond issue, like that for the library, probably would run close to $50,000 in 20 years.

Unit Plan "On The Skids"

This procedure obviously would force abandonment of the plan to build the library, auditorium-coliseum as a unit.

But, if the library should be built first, the city then would have to wait until valuations had climbed to around $75,000,000 before it could offer the auditorium-coliseum bonds for sale. That figure might be reached, if nothing happens, in 1950, but 1951 is a more probable calculation, provided conditions continue very favorable.

Then, if there is a market for 3½ per cent bonds, the auditorium-coliseum issue might be sold — provided Lubbock is willing to continue up to its ears in debt.

Softner Plans Fade

As to the bonds for a water softening plant — they are almost too far in the future to discuss, unless it should be decided to put their sale ahead of the library and/or auditorium-coliseum issues.

However, there is one course which might be adopted to boost assessed valuations and thus make possible the earlier offering of the bonds still remaining unsold. It is an extreme one.

This could be done by increasing the assessed valuations of all property on the city roll.

AT the present time, property on the roll is supposed to be assessed at two-thirds of its market value. For example, a house with a stable market value of $10,000 should be assessed at $6,667.

The City commission can raise assessed values, if it wishes. An increase in assessed values would, of course, mean an increase in city taxes. And, to be of any value in hastening the sale of the library and auditorium-coliseum bonds, the boost would have to be a whopper.

To provide enough assessed valuations to permit an immediate offering of those two bond issues, present valuations would have to be hiked 25 per cent. Anything less wouldn't do much good. The possibility of the city commission approving any such boost seems exceeding remote.

As a matter of fact, the new library and the new auditorium-coliseum are dreams which seem to have faded further and further into the future of late. No one can say with confidence what obstacles must be overcome nor how much time will elapse before they can be built. But it seems likely to be a few years at the earliest.

AUTOMOTIVE HINT

If a wire in the car's electrical system begins to smoke or burn, it should be cut immediately. It should not be grasped with the bare hands, however, as it may cause severe burns.

The Soda Springs area in Southeastern Idaho has more than 50 mineral springs, no two of which have the same analysis.

The CHIROPRACTOR-and You

ECZEMA

Case History No. 926; Case history and Symptoms; Man, [illegible] about 42, had eczema on hands and feet and it was impossible for him to wear shoes or do any kind of work. Was tired all the time; insomnia, had kidney trouble; and, poor circulation. Also, he was very nervous and his feet were constantly cold.

HAD TRIED ALL OTHER METHODS WITHOUT RESULTS

Since this case had tried all other health methods without permanent results a friend of his influenced him to try the new chiropractic method. Against his will he came to the Stephens Chiropractic Clinic; on one consideration, that this friend tell no one of his coming here; not even his wife. After X-Ray pictures were made of his spine and his nerves were tested with the Neurocalometer that wonderful instrument of precision that records nerve interference in his spine, he took a course of scientific chiropractic service. "Lo and behold," he began to see some results that he though would never happen. At the end of the course of chiropractic service every symptom he had disappeared. He came back occasionally thereafter for check-ups to see if there was any nerve interference in his spine. One day his friend who at first recommended him to come here, was at this clinic for a check-up, and saw his wife here, also for chiropractic service. She also was made well of her symptims. "What a wonderful thing it is to have such a science that can do so much for sick people and relieve them of many years of suffering.

BACKACHE, FEMALE TROUBLE, HIGHLY NERVOUS

Case History No. 1342; Lady, age 32, had severe backache, monthly periods were abnormal; headache and very nervous. Came to the Stephens Chiropractic Clinic for an examination. Nerve tests were made with the Neurocalometer which revealed a severe nerve interference at the base of the brain. Also, the nerve test revealed a severe pressure between the 5th Lumbar and the sacrum in the lower spine. X-Ray pictures of the spine were made which has shown that the spine was distorted in such a way as to press on nerves which would cause this condition. This case began chiropractic service and after a few reactions at first, was made entirely well by the end of her course of chiropractic care. She says, "I wouldn't take anything for what you have done for me."

Expert On China Attracts Great Interest By Urging Military Aid

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Lt. General Albert C. Wedemeyer, expert on China, is attracting widespread attention by his advocacy of military help to that stricken country in its fight against Communism.

And the general doesn't restrict to China his prosopal for military aid to check the Red ism. Testifying before the foreign affairs committee of the House of Representatives, he declared the belief that "we should give military aid to all countries and all peoples whose policies and economic structures are compatible with our own and who are striving against totalitarian doctrines."

De Witt Mackenzie

Wedemeyer takes the position that dollars alone won't stop the spread of Communism anywhere, but that economic assistance should be backed by military support. He asserts bluntly that "we are going to pay with blood" if the United States doesn't take proper steps to block the expansion of Communism.

Had Wide Experience

General Wedemeyer was called before the House committee in connection with the administration proposal of $570,000,000 aid for China without military assistance. His views were sought because of his wide experience in China. He was at one time chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and last summer was sent to China by President Truman to make a special survey of the situation. His report was so searching that it has been a top-drawer secret ever since.

In advocating military support aboard the general explained that he was not talking about military participation. He said military aid meant sending competent officers to advise in the use of weapons where a country was given economic aid. He doesn't believe military participation is necessary at tih stime.

Dealing specifically with China, the general said he didn't think he would recommend the monetary aid proposed unless there were military help to protect it. That is an appraisal which this column certainly won't try to controvert, having previously expressed the view that a mere $570,000,000 in itself wouldn't be worth a tinker's dam, or words to that effect.

Interesting Counterpart

Wedemeyer's call for military aid to protect the monetary help has an interesting counterpart in the five-nation conference at Brussels, as I mentioned in yesterday's column. Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg are considering a pact which they hope would expand into a union of all western Europe. They figure that the absolute essential for success of such a union is a military alliance which would give them the backing of the United States.

So far as China is concerned she is in a state of chaos politically, economically and militarily. Little worth while can be achieved politically or economically until the military situation is ironed out.

TESTS ARMY'S SURVIVAL RATION — An unidentified U. S. Army soldier volunteer receives his daily ration of water and 1/3 pound of specially designed biscuits from a dietician at Metropolitan hospital in New York, in a survival ration test being conducted by the Quartermaster General and the New York Medical college. Eleven soldier volunteers are undergoing the test for a six-week period. Soldier and dietician are not identified.

ed through various administrative jobs to superintendent of schools in Minneapolis, Min. During the summer he serves on the faculty of nationally famous universities.

In the summer of 1947 Goslin spent six weeks in Europe during which time he conferred with educational leaders and statesmen of England, Switzerland, France, and Germany. He was chairman of the conference on human relations sponsored by the International Council of Christians and Jews which met in Seelisnerg, Switzerland, and which had delegates from most of the European countries as well as the United States and Australia. His subject when he addresses the teachers of West Texas will be "The Responsibilities of American Education."

According to word received by Honey on Friday, Charles Tennyson, director of public relations for the Texas State Teachers association, will attend the Lubbock convention and will speak on "Texas' Tidelands" at the afternoon session.

Texas Poll

Sixty-four out of every 100 in the average-an-above income groups support the Marshall Plan, as compared to 41 out of every 100 for it in the below-average groups.

Information about the Marshall Plan has reached more people on the college and high school educational levels than it has people with less education. Only 15 out of every 100 people on the grade or no school level consider themselves well or fairly well informed. Compared with this are 44 out of every 100 in the high school educated group and 69 out of every 100 among the college trained.

Information also has reached more people of the upper income groups than it has people of the lower groups. Where 67 out of every 100 in the upper groups say they are well or fairly well informed, only 29 out of every 100 give these answers in the lower groups.

nest of dirty minds and adulterous or worse, behavior. When in Rome do as the Romans do, and what Blackie, Lurlene, Louie, Crew and the rest of them do wears John's resistance down and out.

The story itself is worth telling, and it is Gibbons' own original contribution . . . though in its extremer portions it suggests Faulkner. But the way it is told is objectionable, in a nervous, overwrought manner that never becomes a style, sometimes like bad Wolfe and sometimes like bad Stein and sometimes like bad Joyce, but always unnatural. You take it that the author tried to prepare us with his strained, shrill language for the ghastly and sort of Gothic quality of some incidents. It's the right theory, but while you accept the melodrama in the plot, you resent it in the prose.

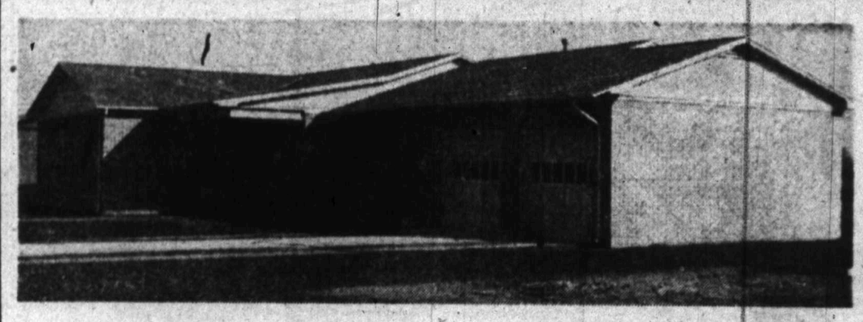

Man Is In Jail For Trying To Get Fees At Free Parking Lot

SALISBURY, Md., March 6 (AP) —Otis Moore is back in jail again today for trying to collect fees at the free parking lot operated by a theater.

He was fined $50 on a disorderly conduct charge and didn't have the money. He had just gotten out of jail after serving a 30-day sentence for the same offense.

"Hooked me for a quarter," commented Peoples Court Judge Carl L. Walter as he imposed the sentence.

and if the many remedies you have tried have failed, then WRITE TODAY FOR THIS FREE BOOK which fully explains why drugs and medicine give only temporary relief and fail to remove the causes of the trouble—USE COUPON BELOW.

Because rheumatism is a constitutional disease, it is practically useless to treat it with ordinary methods. Drugs and medicines that give only temporary relief from your aches and pains will not suffice towards correcting the causes of your trouble.

Rheumatism is nearly always complicated and all bodily functions and vital organs of the body are usually involved. It is futile to treat one or even several—unless all are taken into consideration, you cannot expect to get better.

A proven specialized system for treating rheumatism and arthritis, combined with the Excelsior Springs world-famous mineral waters and baths, is fully described in a new book which will be sent free to anyone who will write for it. This book may be the means of saving you years of untold misery, to say nothing of the many months and even years of confinement. It is said rheumatism ranks as one of the leading causes of illness, deformity, and invalidism in the United States today. It may lead to the development of deplorable conditions with years of agony and misery.

You incur no obligation in sending for this instructive book, "Rheumatism—Good Health, Life's Greatest Blessing." It will be sent gratis—there is no charge, no obligation, so be sure to MAIL COUPON TODAY.
