Harley Woods Announces Candidacy For Mayor Prosecution Scores In Trial Of Moity, Wife Slayer

Show Defendant Not Insane From Effect of Liquor

Defense Indicates That Transitory Insanity Will Form Plea of New Orleans Man.

SELECTION OF JURY CLOSED YESTERDAY

Witnesses Aver Alleged Slayer Was Apparently Sober When Seen Shortly After Slaying.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 29.—The prosecution scored a point today in the trial of Henry Moity, confessed wife slayer, when testimony was introduced seeking to show that the defendant was not insane from the effect of liquor on the morning of October 27, 1927, after the slaying of his wife and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Moity, with a large case knife and the placing of their bodies in two trunks.

Patrolman Lee Dakin and a former taxi driver, Evan Morgan, who talked with Moity after the killings, testified on direct examination in the trial today that the alleged slayer was "apparently sober at the time," but probably was drinking on that morning. It has been indicated by defense counsel that Moity will plead transitory insanity as his defense in the crime.

Dakin and Morgan were called to the stand after three witnesses had described before the jury selection of which was completed today, the condition of the bodies of the women and circumstances surrounding the discovery of the crime.

Moity is standing trial for the killing of his wife.

GAS GOING UP!

DALLAS, Feb. 29.—(P)—Certain trade agreements and rental agreements by several of the large oil companies is expected to result in a rather general increase over Texas of one cent a gallon in the price of gasoline, effective tomorrow. These agreements between the companies and their service stations have been effect about a year, and although their form varied with different companies, they were in effect discounts or rebates to the service stations, amounting to one cent a gallon.

Notice of termination of these agreements was given recently by several of the leading companies, including Magnolia, Gulf and Texas companies, and it is understood to be the plan of these companies to allow their service station customers a spread of four cents a gallon between wholesale and retail prices. Hereafter the service stations have had a spread of three cents in addition to the one-cent rebate, sometimes given in the form of retails.

Fear Kidnaping Amarillo Girls Are Missing

AMARILLO, Feb. 29.—(P)—Fear that Emma and Billie Fowler, 14 and 11 years old, had been kidnaped was expressed tonight by W. Fowler, their father. The girls left a note saying they "hated" to leave without saying goodbye, but that they "had" to.

Fowler is of the opinion that the note was dictated by someone who took the girls away, he said. The children did not take many clothes, and indications were that they left hurriedly.

Mrs. Eva Riggs, mother of the girls, was heard from a few days ago while in Cincinnati, Ohio. She has never been denied the custody of the children, Fowler stated.

Compress Winner Of Suit Against Railway Company

Amarillo Appeals Court In Session Wednesday, Rules In Favor of West Texas Compress Company.

AMARILLO, Feb. 29.—Shippers of cotton to be compressed in transit, may designate the point where the cotton is to be compressed and the compress which is to do the work. It was ruled in a decision here today by the seventh district court of civil appeals.

AN ERROR
Wednesday afternoon's Daily Journal, through an error in the headlines, announced that the Santa Fe Railroad company was the winner in the suit dealt with in the accompanying story. The suit, ruled upon by the court of civil appeals at Amarillo, was won by the West Texas Compress and Warehouse company, at this city.

The decision was in an injunction suit brought by the West Texas Compress and Warehouse company of Lubbock, against the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway, et al. The trial court granted temporary injunction but on a motion of the defendant dissolved the injunction. The court of appeals reversed the judgment of the lower court and granted a permanent injunction.

Charges Discrimination
The compress company alleged that the railroad undertook to prevent it from compressing a certain shipment of cotton although owners of the cotton had expressed a desire for that company to do the work.

The railway company contended that under the rules and regulations of the railroad commission of Texas, it was optional with the carrier where the work should be done, and whether at origin, in transit, or at destination.

The higher court held that it was within the power of the shipper to designate the point of compression and the firm to do the work.

TO ABANDON HUNT FOR BROOKS' BODY

Farmer Tells of Hearing Plane Over Region Where Naval Fliers Are Thought To Have Been Lost.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Hope for the rescue alive of Commander T. G. Ellyson, executive officer of the Airplane Carrier Lexington and his companions, Lieut. Commander Hugo Schmidt and Lieut. Roger Ranshouse, waned today among Navy officials here as the third big aerial searching party returned to its home station unsuccessful.

The waters of the Chesapeake bay and the coast of nearby states have been searched for the fliers who left Hampton Roads, Virginia, Monday morning at 2 o'clock for Annapolis. An oil slick on the waters of the bay near Horn Harbor was thought to be a trace of the fliers but the dragging of the bottom failed to reveal whether the big amphibian plane sank there. Irving Hodgins, a fisherman, reported at Norfolk, Virginia, he heard the motor of an airplane about 2:30 o'clock Monday morning approximately three miles from where the slick was found. The motor of the plane was missing, he reported, but after passing him the engine picked up and a few minutes later the drone of the machine ceased to be heard.

Mrs. Hugo Schmidt of Brooklyn, N. Y., wife of Lieut. Commander Schmidt, notified the Navy department that she is offering a $1,000 reward for definite information leading to the recovery of the plane or bodies of three officers, Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations already had offered a $100 reward.

Austin college here, today cleared up the mystery surrounding a reported attack on him early Tuesday when he signed a statement in the presence of college authorities declaring he had bound himself to make it appear as though he had been attacked.

The statement gave no reason for the youth's actions.

Wilkerson said that he had stayed at a restaurant until after 4 o'clock in the morning, had left and tied himself up and dropped where he was found the following morning.

"I am unable to say why I did this," the statement said. "I had been a little ill for a few days and on that night did not go to bed at the usual time, and for some reason that I cannot explain this idea came to my mind."

Ambushed Bandits Rattle Volley of Lead Into Marines

American Casualties Are Five Killed and Seven Hurt; Battle Second Most Serious of Campaign.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 29.—Ambushed in a mountain pass where heavy underbrush concealed the attackers, a marine patrol suffered the severest blow the corps has been dealt during the last six weeks of endeavor to pacify Nicaragua. The marine losses were 5 killed and 7 wounded, but more than 40 hours after Augusto Sandino's band had launched their surprise attack last Monday, the names on the casualty list were unknown at marine headquarters.

Lieutenant Edward F. O'Day, who led the patrol of 35 marines, conveying an unloader pack train of eighty mules, apparently spent the night in the position from which he drove the attackers in order to treat his wounded and bury the dead.

Today, however, he was making his way slowly to Condega carrying the injured. From that base he was expected to telegraph the first real story of the battle to Central from where it would be radioed to marine headquarters here.

The detachment had escorted the

"Mile Of Century" Proves Walkaway for Lloyd Hahn

Boston Runner Is Easy Victor Over Conger, Peltzer

Sweeps Into Lead In Last Laps and Leads Conger 25 Yards; German Comes 75 Yards Behind.

BY ALAN J. GOULD
NEW YORK, N. Y., Feb. 28.—(P)—The widely heralded "mile of the century" turned out to be a hollow triumph for Lloyd Hahn, rugged star of the Boston Athletic Association.

Removing any lingering doubt that he is the greatest mile runner of America, Hahn raced his foremost rival, Ray Conger of the Illinois A. C., and the famous German champion, Dr. Otto Peltzer, in a submission in the feature event of the K. of C. Indoor Athletic Carnival tonight.

Before a jam of 20,000 spectators the greatest crowd that ever witnessed an indoor track meet in New York or anywhere else, Hahn set the pace from start to finish and broke the tape 25 yards in front of Conger, the only man who has beaten the Boston ace in three years. Straggling 75 yards behind the winner, Peltzer, who had been expected to lead, came to the point of exhaustion and the slim, blond Texan flew to the finish.

Falls of Record
Hahn, the tumultuous champion of the record, shook off his rivals with a terrific sprint over the last four laps of the eleven-lap journey, but failed by a second to equal the world indoor record. The Nebraska product broke the tape in 4 minutes 18 seconds. It was one of the greatest races he has ever turned in, but still short of his own record of 4:12.50 in 1925. Hahn and equalled the same season by Joe Ray.

Had he been pushed to a greater extent or spurred on by any attempt of either of his rivals to set a faster pace at the start Hahn might have broken the record. But he was forced to make one pace all the way. Neither Conger nor Peltzer showed any inclination at any time to move into the van. Their main hope was to have enough speed left at the finish to give Hahn a race but they were not within striking distance when the bell rang for the last lap.

Like Thoroughbreds
The rivals for international mile honors were like a trio of thoroughbreds, champing at the bit, as they waited through the introductions and the playing of the German national anthem for Mayor James J. Walker, to fire the starting gun. Hahn shot out in the lead before the first turn was reached, pounding away with short, choppy strides. Conger, more graceful, laid into second place, while Peltzer, bounding along, took third. The German's tremendous strides made him appear to be out for a gallop in contrast with the two Americans. Six times around the wooden oval they raced for stride, a few yards apart. On the seventh lap Hahn led a great deal, especially on the inside track, where he still displayed little knowledge of how to take the sharply banked turns.

Go-As-You-Can Runners Show That They Mean Business

Perhaps this will convince you that Mr. C. C. Pyle is taking his cross-country marathon in all seriousness and will get his runners from all four corners of the globe away from Los Angeles with New York, 3,400 miles away, as their objective, on March 4.

Here are some scenes from Mr. Pyle's camp—where the contestants are assembling. At the extreme right is Harold L. Johnson, who walked from Detroit to Los Angeles to enter the go-as-you-can contest.

The center panel shows a few of the marathon runners rushing out of the tent where they are staying at the morning call for rigid training. Everyone must train for this event, and gymnastics, as shown in the top panel, are an important part of the training.

Journalists And Teachers Victors

Bankers Throw Scare Into Pedagogues by Holding Them, 25 to 24; Printers Win, 14 to 12.

In two fast city league games last evening on the Matador field the Teachers tossed a victory over the Bankers, defeating the Mortgage holders by a lone point margin, 25 to 24; and the Journalists defeated the Producers by a score of 14 to 12.

The Bankers and Teachers battled a nip and tuck affair, however, the instructors had a slight margin for the entire performance. Walker, forward for the money changers, was high point man for the game with seven goals from the field and Del Morgan, high school coach and forward for the Pedagogues, led his club or scoring honors with four loopers from the field and two free tosses.

At the final whistle, Walker, forward of the Banker five, was awarded a free push, which would have tied the game, but his chance was short.

In the second game the Printers jumped into an early lead, which gradually dwindled throughout the last stage of the game. The Journalists missed enough crucial chances to have won several ball games.

The high point man of the game was Dow, guard for the Newspapermen, with three goals from the field and one from the free throw line.

Hemphill-Well's quintet won a game over the Artillery by a forfeit as the Soldiers did not show up for the contest.

FORT BLISS WINS

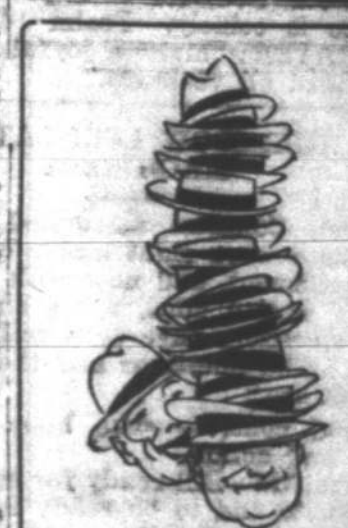

Polo Tourney Goes To Boys From El Paso Camp

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 28.—Fort Bliss won the circuit cup competition of the annual Southwestern Polo tournament, here today for the second consecutive year by defeating the Air Corps Training center 12 to 9 in an exciting contest.

The flyers, aided by a three-goal handicap advantage, opened with a brilliant offensive which netted two goals and made the score five to nothing in their favor. The air-men then played a dogged defensive game but the Fort Bliss quartet, favored by better mounts and individual play forged ahead slowly. In the seventh chukker the flyers again took the lead, making the score 10 to 9 in favor of Fort Bliss but the latter scored three times in a flurry of riding just as the game ended.

Fort Clark eliminated the crack 15-goal Austin team from the tournament in a terrific game earlier in the day, taking the measure for the capital city four, 6 to 7. This match qualified Fort Clark for the second round of the annual elimination cup competition.

OUR SLOW LEGISLATIVE MACHINERY

When Congress assembled in December there were eight major questions up for settlement, and now with nearly half of the session gone, not a single one of these questions have been definitely acted upon. The questions and their status at present are:

Flood control—some hope for agreement and action.

Farm Aid—Bill ready for submission in the senate and to be ready in the House by March 4—almost sure to be passed.

The Boulder Dam project—No hope for agreement.

Muscle Shoals—In a tangle of conflicting opinion between leasing private interests and government operation.

Tax Revision and Reduction—A hopeless proposition.

Appropriation for increased efficiency in naval and air forces—bill agreed on and will likely pass.

Merchant Marine question settled temporarily by an appropriation providing for government operation. But expected to be a live topic at the next session of Congress, which will convene in March, 1929.

So, it may be said that Congress with two and a half months work has settled none of the constructive issues, all of which have long since been settled by public opinion, and popular sentiment.

There is no doubt but what the people are two to one for flood control, and it only remained for Congress to fix the plans and appropriate the money.

There is no doubt that the country as a whole want federal aid for agriculture. There is scarcely room for debate on the question of whether the farmer needs aid or not, and whether this aid should be extended by the federal government—most everybody is agreed on that. The only thing left for Congress was to fix the plan and pass the law to put it in effect.

The same is true of all the other questions—tax revision, merchant marine, may increase, Boulder Dam and Muscle Shoals.

Most of these questions have gone over a period of years without action. Muscle Shoals is 10 years old and farm aid in its present status is six years old.

Surely our Congress is a slow moving machine for the enactment of laws, and the slowness is responsible for much of the unrest in this country.

THE ILLINOIS DECISION

The Illinois supreme court has declared the state gasoline tax unconstitutional, and a fight is being made on the tax in Kentucky, in an effort to get it repealed. It is to be regretted that the Illinois court found the law inconsistent with the fourth paragraph of the constitution. It also found that the tax discriminated against other vehicles, like those propelled by electricity and kerosene. The court also found that license and gas tax were double taxation. It would be folly for a layman to say a court had erred, and worse than folly to insist on common sense application. But if a tax ever was proper and just and right it is the tax that makes those who use the roads build the roads, and to pay for them in the proportion they use them. It does look like autoists are highly taxed, the federal government gets a big rake-off at the purchase, the state levies a license, and then the city levies a license, the general tax then is collected to pro-rate between state, city and county, and then the state comes along and lays a gasoline and oil tax. It looks heavy, but will decrease in time, as roads are built and perfected from one end of the country to the other. It costs money to build the roads, barrels of money, millions of money and the autoist gets all the good and all the satisfaction out of them. The old system of taxing the land owners to build roads was the most iniquitous tax ever laid on the backs of a tax-burdened people. It is the duty of the land owner to pay the tax on roads in just the proportion that he uses the roads, and the gasoline and oil tax and state license tax, all applied to building and maintaining roads, insures that he will do that. It is to be hoped that the Illinois legislature will find a way to meet the constitutional defects of that state's gasoline law, that the Kentucky legislature does not repeal its law, and that a uniform gasoline and oil tax be collected throughout the entire country to the end that we have more roads and better roads in the country and that those who use them must pay the most. Autoing never could be the joy it is without the roads we have, and with better roads the pleasure can be increased.

NOT LUCK, BUT SKILL

Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, United States navy, commandant of the First Naval District, with headquarters at Boston, is reported to have said in a recent speech, "Admirable as Colonel Lindbergh's flight to Paris was, 95 to 98 per cent of it was luck, as I see it." Admiral Andrews said that Lindbergh started his flight on one of the only two occasions when the weather for transatlantic flying was favorable and expressed the opinion that the aviator's sighting of the coast of Ireland at the place he expected was "a marvelous coincidence and nothing else." This is not the general opinion of Colonel Lindbergh's achievements. America's premier air pilot left very little to chance in planning for his preliminary over-seas flight from New York to Paris. He had prepared himself for it by technical study; by a long series of trans-continental flight and by physical training. He had not only made an exhaustive study of aeronautics, but he had acquired the skill in air navigation. His whole makeup appears to have been calculated for an aviator. He had confidence in himself, his temperament enabled him to face difficulties and dangers without anxiety, his every move showed him to be alert mentally and precise in everything he did. Lindbergh's successful transatlantic flight cannot be attributed to luck. He apparently knew what he would have to face and had made allowances for it. By long flights he had schooled himself to keep awake for hours at a time. When he set out from New York he followed the course which he had mapped out for his flight with precision and his sighting of Ireland was in no ways due to luck but must be attributed to the most skillful flying. He has since demonstrated that he is possessed of such skill. His flight to Mexico, through Central America and the West Indies gives ample demonstration of this fact.

GRADE CROSSINGS

Postponing the grade crossing abolition program which is before the New Jersey legislature at the present time is only putting off the inevitable. The grid-irons of railways and motor highways must be rid of their many crossings at grade. Safety of the people who travel on the highways in motor cars and buses demands it. Grade crossing abolition under the present law which authorizes the public utilities commission to order a railroad to remove a dangerous grade crossing at its own expense, goes on but slowly. No state commission is likely to bankrupt any railroad by compelling it to clear its right of way of crossings at grade and consequently scores of such crossings continue to operate as death traps. The railroads are anxious to get rid of these crossings and will quicken the pace of abolition, if there is a sharing of the expense. Under the bill as proposed, the state highway funds, and counties or municipalities would carry half of the expense, and it is not an unreasonable proposition that a part of the cost of riddance of a grade crossing should be borne by public funds as a matter of public highway improvement. In many other states some division of the burden of grade crossing abolition is the adopted policy of the statutes. In most instances, a 50-50, or a 60-40 division, is recognized as equitable in the negotiation of agreements between public and corporation authorities.

OHIO AND HOOVER

There are many citizens in Ohio who very earnestly desire to support the candidacy of Secretary Hoover for the presidency. They wish to be sure that any delegation selected from this state shall be composed of men and women wholly at liberty to vote for him at Kansas City without any imputation of stultification. Secretary Hoover has both political and moral right to seek support in Ohio or in any other "favorite son" state. By so doing he emphasizes his belief in, and respect for, representative free government. Senator Willis should not object because a worthy competitor shall have challenged him to a trial of strength in honorable combat. This is a law of chivalry as fundamental today as it was in the day of the incomparable Bayard.

PERSONAL LIBERTY

Neither this country nor any other is given to the theory that all men should have all liberty. Certain liberties are fundamental, but surely the drinking of a poison that deprives one of judgment, that inflicts poverty on innocent victims, that incites to crime and altogether is a heavy burden on society, is not one of the fundamental, important liberties. Prohibition is a restriction akin to the traffic laws that keep one from driving any way and anywhere he wishes. It is akin to the drug prohibition. It is akin to the laws against theft and murder.

OUT OUR WAY—

SO THINK WE

We think that every person who masters himself is mastering his greatest enemy.

We think some men certainly have little respect for themselves and other people's property, when they will stand on the sidewalk and spit tobacco juice all along the wall and cause it to look worse than a public cuspidor.

We think it would be hard to know just what the weather is going to do, but there is one thing we know we would like to see, and that is more of this sunshine. It certainly feels good to our threadbare winter garments.

We think if publicity will help the pink boll worm like some people say it does the common evils of the land, Mr. B. Worm ought to do a mighty fine business this summer.

We think that Governor Al Smith may have his weak points but there is one thing that we are agreed on. He declined an invitation to go flying with Lindy and stated in his declining message that he did not care to go any place where he could not get a toothed airplane flying is all right for those who want to indulge in it, but it doesn't seem worth while after all. It is right in the same class with traveling a hundred miles an hour in an automobile. It is possible to do it repeatedly and not get killed, but it is worth while? So long as the normal rate of sense is retained, these noble pedals, about which scoundrels have raved, will remain just as close to the firm earth as possible. It may be old-fashioned, but it is a darned sight more permanent.

We think there will probably be a spring crop of candidates from the way the prospective offerings are milling around.

We think Lubbock county should have action on the road question. We are possibly worse behind on road work than most any other county in the state, that has the demands for roads like we have.

We think that Lubbock is experiencing a very conservative growth, and that is the better variety. The puff and blow kinds of growth sometimes are very dangerous.

OPINIONS

PILLARS OF FIRE

With good humor appropriate to the season, the National Geographic Society speaks of the chain of volcanoes connecting Mexico and the canal zone which smoke will guide. At any rate, seekers for good Central America, this is a most welcome conception. This one of the utilization of the fumes from those ventholes of the subterranean as signposts on the new air route. Are they philanthropic enough also to provide pillars of fire for night flyers? At any rate, seekers for good in everything can at last mark off volcanoes from their list of dubious prospects.—Baltimore Sun.

DEATH PENALTY FOR ROBBERY WITH FIREARMS

For some years a Texas statute has provided that robbery with firearms may be punished by death. An Eastland county court has just sentenced Henry Helms—convicted of participation in the raid on the First National Bank of El Paso, last December 23—to die in the electric chair. This is one of the comparatively few instances in which the extreme penalty has been invoked for such a crime in Texas. Probably it may be attributed to the circumstances that two police officers—Chief Henry Bedford and G. W. Carmichael—were fatally wounded in the revolver fight immediately following the robbery, and eight bystanders suffered hurts more or less serious.

One bandit died of wounds, another—an ex-convict—has been sentenced to 99 years in prison; a fourth still awaits trial. Thereby one outlaw gang that is suspected of other recent spectacular robberies in West Texas, is virtually terminated. But why wait until a bandit has killed somebody—an innocent victim or a law officer—before imposing the maximum penalty?

The legislators evidently intended no such restrictions; otherwise why enact such a measure at all? There was already a statute prescribing capital punishment for murder. Were this drastic provision invoked less sparingly, banditry would not be as rife as it is today in parts of Texas.

One of the Cisco raiders had served part of a term for a similar crime and had been conditionally pardoned by Governor Ferguson. Returned to prison for 99 years, doubtless he hopes for freedom by like means. The death sentence allows of no such prospect; hence its effectiveness as a crime-deterrent.—San Antonio Express.

YOUR HEALTH

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Most mothers are convinced that their children are unusual in precocity as well as in physical development, but few actually know just what status a child should have attained at any given period in its growth.

The state of Pennsylvania publishes a baby book which is contributed to mothers in that state without charge in order to keep them informed relative to simple facts about childhood and baby care. In this booklet the facts are related in a simple, straightforward manner that anyone can understand.

In one brief table the bulletin provides a statement as to the normal development of the child which is especially helpful.

A normal baby will show the following characteristics as it grows:

- 1—A steady gain in weight.
- 2—Good appetite, no vomiting or "spitting up."
- 3—A clear, soft, pink skin.
- 4—Bright eyes, with a contented expression.
- 5—Peaceful sleep, with mouth and eyes lightly closed.
- 6—Continued growth in stature and intelligence.
- 7—Alert little muscles that make the body springy and active.
- 8—Regular bowel movements of normal color, number and consistency.
- 9—From third to fifth month, laughs aloud.
- 10—From the fourth month, holds his head up unsupported.
- 11—From the fifth to seventh month, reaches for toys and holds them, begins to be sociable and will try to talk; likes attention; begins to cut his teeth.
- 12—From the seventh to eighth month is usually able to sit erect, hold the spine erect and will try to creep.
- 13—From the ninth to tenth month will try to bea his weight on his feet.
- 14—From the eleventh to twelfth month can pull himself up and stand with help.
- 15—At one year can usually speak a few single words and at the end of the second year can make short sentences.
- 16—From the fourteenth month the fontanelle begins to close. It is fully closed from the eighteenth month to two years.
- 17—The two words not clearly understandable in this list appear in the last soft spot on the top of the baby's head.
- 18—Probably more mothers worry about the failure of this spot to close early in the baby's life than about any other condition.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that the federal government has appropriated $200,000 for the pink boll worm fight.

It is reported that Lubbock educational institutions have more pupils enrolled now than they have ever had before. That is a sure sign that Lubbock is growing.

It is reported that congress is grinding slowly on the large number of bills they have up for consideration. They possibly do not have much time to work anyway because of tossing bouquets at the other members of congress or throwing bricks at their opponents. They will have to close out pretty soon however in order to get back and tell the constituents just how much they have done for them while in congress.

It is reported that one man said he was not going to vote for any one for county judge who was not willing to express himself and work hard for the putting in of the highways in Lubbock, under the railway plan. We gave this as a tip to some of the candidates so they can be getting lined up on the matter. There are a lot of folks who want the suburbs.

It is reported that in order to get many of the good things of this world is to want them pretty bad.

It is reported that 23 applications for divorce have been filed in Lubbock county since the first of January. This means that 23 couples have failed to make homes happy.

It is reported that the political pot is going to be boiling this spring and summer as the candidates begin to fire up their campaign speeches and get ready for a red hot campaign. Congressional candidates are beginning to mill around. State candidates are also getting in the field, and county candidates are passing out their cards soliciting their votes and influence.

It is reported that Dan Moody has at last set at rest the political rumors that he was not going to be a candidate for reelection by announcing for a second term yesterday.

It is reported that about the only way we will be able to keep from having a big navy is to cut the dam and let a lot of the water get away.

LAUGHS

A SCAFGEOAT
"I hear a burglar got into your house since your wife's been away."
"Yes, and I'm rather glad of it. I'm a rotten housekeeper, and that burglar's going to get a whole lot of blame for the state things are in when she gets back."

"Warden, do any of the inmates of your prison intend to reform?"
"Well, that's a question. Half of 'em are studying law."

FULL OF STATICS
Small boys are great burdens to nervous mothers. A Fairmount mother, driven to distraction over the antics of her son finally exclaimed after many vain attempts to quiet his noise and to stop his wiggles:
"Sonny, what in the world is the matter with you? This was the answer: 'I don't know mamma, unless I'm just full of static.'—Indianapolis News.

"So you have forgotten our wedding anniversary," she said bitterly. "How could I remember it?" he inquired. "Time has slipped away so fast and so happily that the wedding seems but yesterday."

SLATON CITIZENS DISCUSS ECONOMY OF NEW TRUCK

During the past week considerable discussion among Slaton citizens has been in progress with reference to the question of purchasing a new fire truck for Slaton and the building of a modern fire hall in which to care for fire equipment and in which one fireman and his family would make their home. The principal feature which has attracted attention seems to be that the annual cost of fire insurance premiums now being paid by Slaton citizens would be lowered as a result of getting the better equipment, bringing a saving even larger than would be the annual payment on retiring the bond issue, which, as suggested would probably be in the neighborhood of $25,000. Half that amount would go for a new truck and apparatus and approximately the same would be required for the new building. It is estimated that the total annual saving for the city would amount to $3,000, even if the total amount of fire insurance carried in Slaton should remain at the present level, according to those making a careful study of the matter. On the other hand, it is shown that the average annual payment on the bond issue would be only $2,112, no single year's payment exceeding $2,500 in bonds to be retired in 20 years, bearing six percent interest.

Also, it is pointed out that the better fire protection thus to be guaranteed—Slaton property owners would cause much less danger to the individual in suffering fire losses, for the city would have two fire trucks, keeping the one now in use. It is proposed that the new one, if purchased, should be a 750-gallon-per-minute pumper. The worst fires could be controlled with such equipment, according to firemen, and in case of accident to one machine, as recently occurred when the cotton compress fire broke out, another machine would be available to fight the flames.

Because of the normal growth in property valuations had in Slaton within the past year, it is declared that the retirement of the new bonds could be easily made without a rise in the tax levy. At least $150,000 to $175,000 rise in valuations is seen for 1928 over the 1927 level.

Taken as a whole, indications are that the proposed bond issue for the purchasing of new equipment is being considered favorably by the citizens, according to those keeping close to the question, and they declare, too, that there is a growing sentiment for putting the matter up to the voters for decision at the time the regular election for mayor is to be held, Tuesday, April 3.

LET'S GROW INTO IT

"Texas needs to grow, not go, in to the dairy business." That preachment is continually echoed through out the spacious commonwealth as a wave of "dairying" engulfs hundreds upon hundreds of communities of Texas, establishing itself as the possible answer to the cotton farmer's problem.

All of the United States knows the prosperity existing in certain long-seated dairying section of New England and Middle West areas. And too much of the United States is anxious to hog part of that prosperity.

Texas had almost everything essential to dairy farming, that is in the matter of climate, feed stuff, grazing areas and other elemental factors. There is occasion for increased production of dairy products. Hundreds of thousands of Texas dollars go forth each year in exchange for milk, butter and cheese now shipped into this state. Economists know this might well be reversed. It is needless to say it would be profitable.

But dairying has been developed into a scientific industry. It is no longer a haphazard matters of buying some extra cows and just milking them. There is much to be learned about milk production, probably much more than has been learned already by the pioneer communities of highly developed dairying sections.

Doubtless it is desirable that Texas increase her dairying. But surely it is not desirable to just take a running jump and try to land in a soft bed of enhanced financial return without first having looked over the landing place. Texas can profitably augment her present dairying that to an astounding percentage. But first let Texas embryo dairy farmers find out just what they must expect, learn what must be done when certain conditions arise, do this before spending valuable dollars for which there will be a minimum return if not a deficit unless proper preparation precedes the influx of dairy herds.

Only 'True Liberty and Right Joy'

ONLY 'TRUE LIBERTY AND RIGHT JOY'

Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up.—James iv. 10.

When his long career as statesman and religious leader was drawing to a close, William E. Gladstone voiced grave disquietude concerning his country's future, because he had observed that the rising generation seemed utterly lacking in a sense of sin.

If that hard indictment could be brought against the young people in Victorian England, what shall be said about so many youth in present-day America, who have manifested far less respect for the conventions and who reveal scarcely an inkling of religious practical ethics? Such boys and girls appear in the eyes of their astonished, heartick elders—to be going, merrily, swiftly, persistently, knowingly and proudly to the devil.

To be sure, that might be said of the young folk in any age and in any land. Youth is not a time for contentment. Life is to be enjoyed then in its fullness and the Day of Judgment seems far removed. Tomorrow will be soon enough to repent, they cry; today let us live! The Master warned his followers against this fatal lure; saints and sages always have spoken in like terms. But youth will not heed, it must have its fling.

In all the catalogue of sins, self-righteousness is perhaps the most deadly. Can the thinker or the humanitarian view with equanimity its prevalence today? As Sir Oliver Lodge lately said:
"The modern man is not worrying about his sins at all."

On that observation, the "Gloomy Dean" of St. Paul's in London, the Very Rev. W. R. Inge, comments:
"Well, if he is not, he ought to be."

Somewhat picturesquely, Will Durant, popular philosopher, explains that the young "intelligentsia" discovers that there is no hell—and speedily proceeds to go there. Upon the fundamental truth that the way of salvation lies through consciousness of sin, and through repentance and righteous living, philosophy and religion are in strict agreement. The first, indispensable step toward reform is awakening to the error of one's ways. Lacking such a realization, reform is destined to continue in the broad path which leads to destruction.

The illumination may come in various ways—but it is not often a blinding light and a voice out of Heaven, such as converted Paul. Most men must be content to find regeneration in less dramatic fashion. They may not even have an "experience," like their fathers of old, as they profess under the spell of an eloquent evangelist. The equivalent of that religious leader, drawing his fellow-believers and faith in the eternal verities—man somehow must attain; otherwise he is lost.

To err is human; to repent is saintly, to boast of sin is devilish. Vittorio Alfieri wrote. It might be added that to continue in error through ignorance or want of conviction is pitifully tragic. But, how achieve the "salvation" of the theologian or the "good life" of the philosopher?

Well, there are the Bible, the sayings of the sages—like Confucius, Socrates and Epictetus—the writings of good and wise men; the membership of a beloved flesh-and-blood teacher. Dean Inge recommends prayer, which must be out of the heart:

"It is by prayer that we learn to know God, that we learn to love which makes sin so odious by convincing us of ingratitude."

Through prayer and meditation, perhaps, one may come to know what Jeremy Taylor calls "such a sorrow as hates sin so much, that a man would choose to die rather than sin again." This genuine contrition might bring one to appreciate the truth which Thomas Kemper has laid down:

"There is no true liberty nor right joy but in the fear of God accompanied with a good conscience." So it may be realized that regeneration is needful, not as a preparation for the hereafter, but as an indispensable antecedent to wise, fruitful and happy living in the here and now. Sin is folly incarnate, because it raises a barrier between the soul and its source of life eternal, God.

Senate Receives Jadwin Plan For Floods Control

But Final Judgment To Be Left Up To Committee In
Plan To Halt Loss From Mississippi Flood.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The Senate received from its commerce committee today a flood control bill incorporating engineering features of the administration of Jadwin plan, providing $325,000,000 for federal payment of construction cost, but leaving to a commission the determination of how much interested communities shall pay of that sum.

The bill, bearing the name of Senator Jones, republican, Washington, chairman of the committee, while recommending the construction plan of Major General Jadwin, chief of Army engineers, also leaves to the commission final determination of whether than plan or another put forward by the Mississippi river commission, or a combination of both, will be adopted. The committee recommended the creation of a commission, as suggested by President Coolidge and the members of the Army chief of engineers, the President of the Mississippi commission and a civil engineer to be appointed by the President, would render final judgment on both the financial and engineering phases of the project.

Decision To Committee
The commission would decide after a survey how much and when the affected states would pay toward the construction cost but in the meantime the control work would get under way at federal expense.

Under the Jones bill as it stands now, and until the commission should decide that communities must pay their share of the cost the government would bear the entire burden overnight at Guaymas Bay, Cuba, and would make a local flight over Cuba before beginning the 1,300 mile voyage to Lake Hurst.

Previously the commander had announced the Los Angeles would take off at four o'clock this afternoon.

Leaving France field yesterday morning at 10:15 o'clock the Los Angeles cruised across the isthmus to Panama City before heading across the Caribbean Sea 771 miles to the Patoka. She was in the air 25 hours and 50 minutes buckling a thirty-mile-an-hour headwind most of the way. After arriving at 11:10 a. m. over the entrance to the bay, the aircraft moored nearly two hours later.

Education Plea For Votes Made By L. J. Wardlaw

For Worth Ranchman Also Includes Tax Cut, Relief
For Farmers and Highway Improvement.

PORT WORTH, Feb. 29.—Issuing his platform from today L. J. Wardlaw, attorney and ranchman, who recently announced as a candidate for governor, made his strong plea for election on the principles of education, law enforcement, highways, farm relief and tax reduction.

Wardlaw issued his platform after having spent more than a week visiting in the principal cities of Texas and studying conditions which he mentions in his platform as being of vital interest to tax payers of Texas.

Favors Reward Plan
Wardlaw in his platform says he is in favor of offering rewards for the capture of criminals the same as for predatory animals, that he is all the education the people of Texas can pay for; that he would not sign a general appropriation measure for more than $40,000,000 and that he is against the further burdening of the state and counties with larger bond issues than our children's children will be able to pay.

His statement follows:
"On February 18th, I made a preliminary announcement of my candidacy for governor of Texas. Believing that it is now time that I should issue my platform, I am today giving to the newspapers of the state the platform upon which I propose to advance my candidacy for that office.

"Within the next forty days, it is my plan to take a tour in representative presentation of my platform to the voters of Texas.

"I have received hundreds of letters from voters all over the state of Texas pledging me their support, which I sincerely appreciate and trust that I will have the pleasure of meeting all of them personally before my campaign has ended.

YATES LOSES

Owner of West Texas Lands
Which Spouted Oil Beaten

AUSTIN, Feb. 29.—The third Civil Appeals court today refused rehearing to I. G. Yates and others, oil operators in the state's suit against them for title to certain West Texas oil lands.

Gov. Dan Moody, as attorney general, filed the suit seeking aid to recover damages for the state and claiming the relinquishment of unconstitutional in its provisions that patents of state land get fifteen-sixths of the mineral rights.

CAPPER HEARINGS

Three Day Course Before
Committee Starts

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Hearings on the Capper stock yard bill, designed to bring private yards as well as public markets under federal supervision, started a three day course before the senate agriculture committee today with indications that it would meet decided opposition from private yard interests.

Secretary Jardine, under whom is enforced the packers and stock yard control act to which the Capper bill proposes a series of amendments, gave the Capper plan his support pending presentation of a better measure. Writing Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, chairman of the committee, he said he was in sympathy with any effort to preserve the central marketing system wherein prices for livestock are fairly established and reflected throughout the country, on the basis of normal economic forces, but was unprepared to say whether the Capper bill, in the most expedient means to that end.

Dirigible Flight Further Delayed

Will Remain Temporarily
Moored to Mast at Bay
In Cuba, Commander
Says, Viewing Weather.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Advised that weather conditions would be unfavorable to landing the dirigible Los Angeles at Lake Hurst, N. J. tomorrow afternoon, Lieut. Commander C. E. Rosen-dahl late today changed his plans for an immediate resumption of the return flight from Panama.

In a radio dispatch to the navy department, Rosen-dahl informed officials here that the dirigible would remain overnight at Guaymas Bay, Cuba, and would make a local flight over Cuba before beginning the 1,300 mile voyage to Lake Hurst.

Previously the commander had announced the Los Angeles would take off at four o'clock this afternoon.

Leaving France field yesterday morning at 10:15 o'clock the Los Angeles cruised across the isthmus to Panama City before heading across the Caribbean Sea 771 miles to the Patoka. Rotarians Plan For Convention

Attendance of 600 or 700
Expected Here In April
For District Conference
Of Texas Clubs.

Between 600 and 700 Rotarians and their wives are expected to congregate in Lubbock on April 20 and 21 for the district conference of Rotary clubs. It was brought out at committee conference held following the regular Rotary session yesterday noon at the Hotel Lubbock.

Jed A. Rix, chairman of the executive committee for the conference, presided over the committee sessions.

Rotary in Community Civic
A topic on the club's educational program was the subject discussed by Dr. J. M. Gordon, dean of the college of liberal arts at the Tech, in the regular program.

During the program which was in charge of Tom A. White, Mrs. R. A. Mills, wife of one of the Tech club faculty members, gave two addresses. The first was "The House With Nobody in It," and the second was "Am I Your Wife?" Both readings were roundly applauded.

A song led by Edgar Timmon with Wallace Rix at the piano was another feature of the program, and Roy White, member of the Amarillo club, was called on for a few remarks, to which he responded. President Walter P. Jennings was in the chair.

RULING IS GIVEN

Landowners Are Protected
In Court's Decision

AUSTIN, Feb. 29.—Though a landowner having leased his property for mineral production, accepts "rentals" in lieu of drilling operation promised, he is not precluded from damages in the event oil is not found, the Supreme court held yesterday.

The opinion affirmed lower courts granting unspecified damages to Mrs. L. A. Ramoover, apparently of Eastland county, against the Texas company, presumably for such an occurrence.

I. C. C. Will Question Head
Of Mined In Coal Row

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Investigation of conditions in the Pennsylvania West Virginia and Ohio bituminous fields where union miners have been out of work for nearly a year will be put under way next Tuesday by the senate interstate commerce committee.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, will be called as the first witness. It was stated today by Chairman Watson, who added that other union officials would be heard later before the coal operators are called.

Methodists Find Colleges Are In Debt; Need Funds

Weatherford School Is Out
Of Debt But All The Rest
Are Heavily Involved; To Better Conditions.

(By the Associated Press) DALLAS, Feb. 29.—Only one Southern Methodist educational institution in the state that is not in debt, was shown to be free of debt at a conference of church leaders and college presidents here Wednesday to work out unification plans with the object of reducing expenses. The other eight universities and colleges were shown in arrears to the conference to carry indebtedness totaling $1,176,000.

The task of raising money to liquidate the debts of the various institutions was made subordinate in the agenda of the conference that of effecting economies which will reduce the amounts to be needed later. To this end it was decided to appoint a commission to study and report on the entire educational problem, with particular reference to centralization of administration.

Personal Decided

The personnel of this commission which will include Bishops John M. Moore of Dallas and Sam R. Hay of Houston, presidents of the Southern Methodist colleges, three presiding elders and three laymen from each district, educational secretaries of the district church boards of education, and the executive committees of the church college boards of trustees, will be announced Thursday by Bishops Moore and Hay. The commission will meet here on Sunday.

Bishop Moore sounded a warning at the afternoon session against the incurring of debt by individual colleges. "If enough endowment for a school can be raised, the school must cease to be. No college president must be allowed to get in debt. If we can't have money enough for them, we must dispense with the schools."

Statements Offered

Bishop Moore offered the following statement showing the indebtedness of the eight schools with an exception of the Methodist University.

RUSHES TO MOTHER

Mrs. Coolidge Called To Bedside

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—A critical relapse in her mother's illness prompted Mrs. Coolidge to hurry tonight to the bedside of Mrs. Lemira Goodhue at Northampton, Mass.

Although hardly recovered herself from an indisposition which has been troubling her for about a month and which as late as last night prevented her from attending a dinner to President Coolidge by Secretary Hoover Mrs. Coolidge began the overnight trip to New England, accompanied by Mrs. R. B. Hills, of Northampton, a friend of school days, and by Lieut. Commander Joel T. Boone, White House physician.

Texas Fee Plan Upheld in Court

Federal Supreme Court Is In Favor of Texas Rules
As Opposed to Claims Of Ohio Judiciary.

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Feb. 29.—The Federal Supreme court decision invalidating a fee system of paying the Ohio Municipal Judiciary cannot apply with parallel force to the Texas fee system because the latter is different. The court of Criminal Appeals ruled Wednesday in an appeal striking at the Texas system, which was held valid.

Affirming the $750 label fine of C. F. Richardson in the Harris county court-at-law, the court held that the Judge's pecuniary interest in securing a conviction would be negligible to come within the prohibitions announced in the Ohio case.

On Plainview Judge

The only provision of the Texas law susceptible to attack under the Ohio decision would be the one by which a judge gets no fee by dismissing a complaint but does get one by calling the case to trial after denying a motion to quash, the opinion held. It was by Judge A. B. Martin of Plainview. This possibility was qualified, however, by the assertion that it occurs rarely and the small amount of the fee involved would make it "trivial." To use it would be a reflection on the minor judiciary as seen by the court.

In the Ohio case the judge whose qualification was attacked drew fees for cases arising from within corporate limits embracing half a million population. It was noted. No provision was made for jury trial and the magistrate had command over a large constituency.

The Texas fee system has been under attack in several cases and trial since the Ohio decision. A proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the fee system, adopted by the forty-fourth legislature, was overwhelmingly defeated by the voters last summer.

Medicine Rated As Performing Near Miracles

Former Sufferers From Stomach Trouble Laud
Discovery

G. M. GORDON
Thousands of former sufferers from stomach and bowel troubles, many of whom had given up hope of ever being well—unqualifiedly endorse "Gordon's," the discovery of a well-known Dallas pharmacist. Some go so far as to rate it as performing "near miracles."

"Gordon's," an internal antiseptic, stops and prevents fermentation (souring of food matter), which is the greatest obstacle to the successful treatment of stomach and bowel disorders.

"Gordon's" goes right to the seat of the trouble, as it enters a distinctly antiseptic as well as digestive effect. It will soothe and heal any irritated or inflamed condition and bring quick relief in cases of gas, dyspepsia, heartburn, bloating after meals, excess acid, bad breath, constipation, sick headache, nervousness, when caused by faulty digestion, tone up the digestive organs and stimulate the stomach and bowels to their normal functions. A few doses will convince you. Sold by most druggists, $1.50 per bottle of 64 doses—less than three cents a dose. (adv.)

Charge Position Altered Relative To Farm Measure

Members of Committee
Deny Change In Attitude
When Queried Later,
However.

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The charge was made and promptly denied at a house agriculture committee meeting today that a number of members of the Minnesota congressional delegation had shifted their position on the equalization fee provision of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, first opposing the proviso in private conversation and then giving it a public endorsement.

The charge, preferred by Representative Williams, republican, Illinois, precipitated a sharp discussion and drew from Representatives Clegg, Knudson, Maas and Purlow, republicans, and Representative Kvale, farmer-laborer, the statement that they from the first had been in favor of the fee.

Meanwhile the question of farm relief was discussed at the White House by two republican farm leaders in congress, Chairman McNary of the senate agriculture committee and Representative Purnell of Indiana, ranking republican on the house committee. Later, Mr. Coolidge called Secretary Jardine to the White House for a conference. After speaking with President Coolidge, Purnell predicted the McNary-Haugen bill would be reported by the house group with the requirement that the proposed federal farm board would be directed to use every known means for the stabilization of agriculture before resorting to the equalization fee.

A Great Many "Sales" are made before the buyer reaches the shopping district

This is a busy age in which we live—every moment is filled with pleasure or duty, and buyers of luxuries, and necessities no longer have the time to go from store to store in search of the things they desire to buy.

They take the easiest method of shopping . . . they read the ads in The Avalanche and Journal. They make up their "buying minds" at their leisure in the home, when they can discuss the prospective purchase while they're all together. That's when a great deal of the merchandise is really "purchased." And that's why if you do not carry consistent advertising in these publications you are missing the opportunity to present your merchandise, service and prices to those who are constantly in need of the commodities you sell.

Advertising in The Avalanche and Journal creates buying confidence in you and your merchandise. It is an exhibition of your pride in that merchandise — its quality — its value, and if you fail to advertise it, and thereby delay its sale. You Are Losing Money; the money that comes through increased volume in sales and the profit that results therefrom.

A 28% Circulation Increase

—means that your advertising dollars buy more NOW than they ever have.

These Engineers out at the Tech have clever ideas sometimes. The program for their annual banquet is a blueprint, and is embellished with the outline of Engineer's tools. Engineering parlance is used to convey the various numbers on the program.

Accelerated activity is noted this week in the loom department at Texas Tech.

The school colors of black and red are being woven into 16-inch mercerized silk handkerchiefs by students in the department. The patterns are being put on the looms this week.

Millions of dollars was lost and gained by reason of Leap Year yesterday, according to a survey made by New York paper. The tenant who pays for his home or apartment on a yearly basis comes out ahead. The annual salaryed man was a loser. Banks saved nearly a million in interest which would ordinarily have been accruing to savings banks. But taking it all around, things just about balanced, in a financial way.

Maybe it's because it's Leap Year but anyway more divorce petitions have been filed here during the past two months than in any other previous 60 day period. Suits for 23 divorces have been filed since January 1. This makes an average of one every two and one-half days.

Considerable improvement was noted yesterday in the condition of Al Clark, who was seriously injured when his car plunged off a 60 foot embankment several days ago. He suffered internal injuries in the accident but is believed now well on the road to recovery.

Bonds of R. E. "Blackie" Lester and George Roberts, who face charges of prohibition law violation in the 99th district court were forfeited when the men failed to appear in court this week.

A telegram was received from Robert's physician saying that he is seriously ill at Dallas but no explanation has been received from Lester.

Carl "Jake" Freeze, former Baylor University basketball star and now a member of the pitching staff of the Waco Cubs team of the Texas league, left yesterday with the Waco training camp of the Cubs as his destination. "Jake" has been a resident of Lubbock since last October, being in charge of an auditing office here.

New Opposition Registered For Immigration Bill

Sugar Beet and Railroad Industries Lodge Protest To Measure Asking Curb On Mexicans.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Touching on the nation's labor situation from several angles, new opposition was brought by the sugar beet and railroad industries today before house and senate committees against the Box bill to restrict western hemisphere immigration.

Sugar beet growers and manufacturers presented to the house committee the argument that Mexican labor in addition to performing the tasks of the farm, was aiding in curtailing the surplus of agricultural products by enabling the farmers to produce crops which in addition to helping to fill the nation's sugar bowl did not add to the surplus in which a surplus exists.

Before the senate committee, Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the American railway association, and E. E. McLean, general solicitor of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, contended that by cutting off the Mexican labor supply through passage of the Box Bill, congress would work a double hardship upon the railroads. In addition to forcing to pay a higher competitive wage for their labor, they argued, their freight would be cut down by the inability of farmers to produce their normal crops.

While the testimony before the house committee several times was led by Representative Box, Democrat, Texas, to consideration of a report that industrial workers of the world were organizing among Mexican laborers, and that the Mexican family lived poorly, it always turned back to consideration of the agricultural and economic phases. Witnesses testified that they had no definite knowledge of the industrial workers of the world and they considered the living conditions of the Mexican good.

Argument About Debt Results In Death For Texan

Galveston Is Scene Of New Slaying; Witnesses Say Dead Man Brought On His End With Threat.

By Associated Press. GALVESTON, Feb. 29.—Arguments over a debt preceded the killing of E. Modesto, 30, who was slain today in the trial of the Waco training camp of the Cubs as his destination. "Jake" has been a resident of Lubbock since last October, being in charge of an auditing office here.

Quinn and Alexander drove to the corner in an automobile and Quinn got out of the car to talk to Modesto, the witness said. Some conversation about a debt ensued before Modesto struck Quinn and the shooting followed, according to the testimony.

train of mules from Condesa to Yalit, with supplies. They were returning to their base when they ran into a machine gun nest near Barahona. There was rifle fire from the ambush as well as the streams of bullets that came from the rebels' machine guns. The attackers were beaten off after a sharp fight and no information as to their casualties has reached here.

The Americans wounded were reported to have suffered only "slight" hurts, except in the case of one man.

First reports of the fight were made to American headquarters by a stationer who said they gathered their information from signals. The latter, however, were not clear enough to give detailed information. The Barahona fight was the second most serious engagement in which the marines have participated in the 7-1-2 month campaign in Nicaragua. Six marines were killed and 22 wounded when Sandino was driven out of Quilali early in January. More than a dozen other skirmishes resulted in the deaths of eight marines and the wounding of half a dozen others.

BATEMAN QUIZZED

Head of West Texas Brand New Railway Questioned

AUSTIN, Feb. 29.—(AP)—C. O. Bateman, Breckenridge, one of the incorporators and president of the Texas-New Mexico Railway company, which is seeking permission to build a line from Monahans, 35 miles northwest through Kermit to the New Mexico line, was subjected to a close cross-examination Wednesday at the State Railroad commission's hearing on the application to build.

Counsel for the protesting towns of Pryor, Wickett and Wink tried to show that the new company planned its route with an eye to the best bonuses offered from proposed contact points and "keep the Santa Fe Out" of the territory.

DEPORT PRIEST

Was In Charge of Church Affairs

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 29.—(AP)—The Rev. Manuel Campa, a Catholic priest who had been in charge of church affairs at San Luis Potosi, has been ordered deported to the United States by way of Laredo in custody of agents of the department of justice, according to a police announcement to newspapers here tonight.

Campa was arrested at the same time as Bishop Armora of Tamaulipas, who has already been deported. Campa was charged with seditious activities under the existing religious laws.

RESTITUTION COSTS

Convict Just Out of Pen Must Go Back Again

COLEMAN, Feb. 29.—(AP)—An impulse to make restitution to a partially paralyzed farmer cost D. A. Davenport, who said that his home was in Marshall, Mo., an that he had just completed a two-year term on the prison farm at Sugar Land, his liberty here today. He was jailed on charges of store burglary in connection with the entering of three business houses here early today.

In an alleged statement, Davenport said he took clothing and groceries from a farmer near her several nights ago and returned them today because of the farmer's infirmity. While he was at the farmer's home, the latter telephoned Sheriff Hamilton, who arrested Davenport.

INSANITY AGAIN

Hickman's Parents Tell of Crazy Streak In Family

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 29.—(AP)—A faltering, gray-haired little mother mounted the witness stand here today for the second time in an effort to save her son, accused two-time killer, from the gallows.

In a sing-song expressionless voice, Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of William Edward Hickman, testified late today in the trial of her son and Webby Hunt for the murder of C. Ivy Toms, druggist.

The witness went over the same ground she covered in the first trial of Hickman at the end of which he was sentenced to die for the kidnapping and killing of Marian Parker.

William Thomas Hickman, of El Paso, testified as to his son's alleged insanity.

COLBY FRUSTRATED

Former Secretary of State Denied French Divorce

PARIS, Feb. 29.—(AP)—Complete denial has been made by the French government of the charge that Raymond Colby, who was American Secretary of State under President Wilson, to obtain a divorce in France, where so many of his lesser known compatriots have had their marital bonds easily severed in recent years.

The trial at Versailles, before which Mr. Colby applied for a decree last summer, has decided it is without jurisdiction, inasmuch as the former secretary apparently has not relinquished his domicile in the United States, although, he has been living in France for eleven months.

CHARGES FILED

Two Named In Connection With Laundry Theft

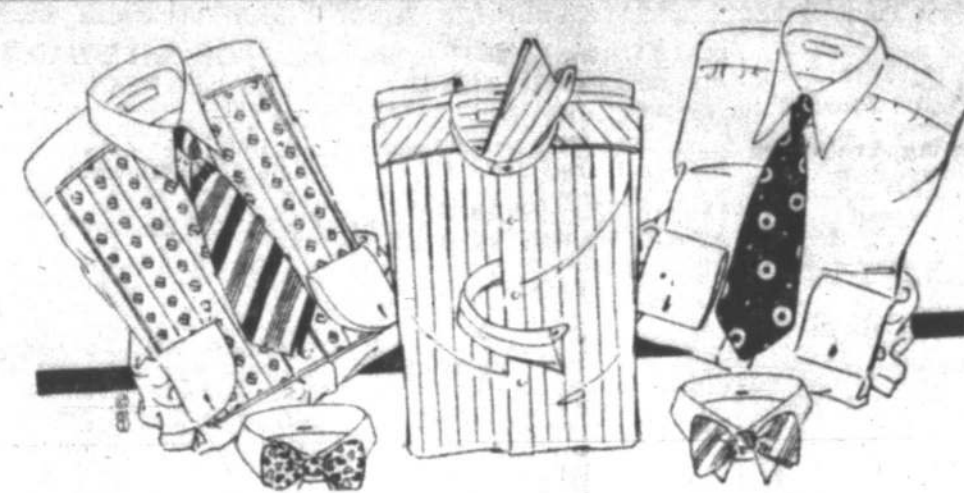

Charges of committing a felony have been filed in Justice G. R. Root's court against J. L. Dale and Bill Coan for alleged participation in the burglary of the Lubbock Laundry here several nights ago.

Dale is at Lamesa, where the two were caught in the act of robbing a store there. Fingerprints of Dale were taken yesterday, but officers have been unable to get any statement from him as to his guilt in connection with the burglary here.

Reversing the general theme of "what the college means to the town," Harley D. Woods, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, addressed Tech students at their regular convocation yesterday morning on the subject, "What Lubbock means to the Tech."

Dean W. J. Miller of the school of engineering presided over the meeting. Music was furnished by the Tech saxophone band.

Woman Sentenced To Five Years In Husband's Murder

Jury Finds Mrs. Lula Wyatt Guilty; Alleged Husband Was Stabbed To Death With Butcher Knife.

FORT WORTH, Feb. 29.—After deliberating 30 minutes, a jury today found Mrs. Lula Wyatt guilty of the murder of her husband, Ed Wyatt, last November. Mrs. Wyatt showed no emotion when the verdict was read. She maintained the same calmness she had shown throughout the three-day trial.

A new trial will not be sought and Mrs. Wyatt will accept her sentence, Cecil Morgan, defense counsel, said.

Mrs. Wyatt was stabbed to death with a large butcher or bread knife and the clothing was soaked with coal oil when police arrived. Mrs. Wyatt contended that Wyatt's death was the result of a "three-cornered fight" and that she did not do the actual killing.

A little later he told the gathering how Houston had secured the convention.

Praises Houston. "Mr. Jones got it for Houston," he said. "If Houston had merely offered a check for $200,000 and agreed to do all this work it would not have got the convention. The committee did not know much about Houston. It had a much larger bid with adequate convention facilities. But the committee knew Mr. Jones had devoted a great deal of time and energy to carry work. When he made a bid for Houston, the committee accepted it in recognition of his party's services."

A physician who was having some electrical work done came in just as the bright apprentice was winding a lot of insulating tape about a summation.

"Well," said the eminent M. D. "I'll bet that tape serves to cover up a lot of your mistakes."

"Right," responded the cheerful youth, "and I'll bet a spine covers up a lot of yours."

New Opposition Registered For Immigration Bill

Sugar Beet and Railroad Industries Lodge Protest To Measure Asking Curb On Mexicans.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Touching on the nation's labor situation from several angles, new opposition was brought by the sugar beet and railroad industries today before house and senate committees against the Box bill to restrict western hemisphere immigration.

Sugar beet growers and manufacturers presented to the house committee the argument that Mexican labor in addition to performing the tasks of the farm, was aiding in curtailing the surplus of agricultural products by enabling the farmers to produce crops which in addition to helping to fill the nation's sugar bowl did not add to the surplus in which a surplus exists.

Before the senate committee, Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the American railway association, and E. E. McLean, general solicitor of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, contended that by cutting off the Mexican labor supply through passage of the Box Bill, congress would work a double hardship upon the railroads. In addition to forcing to pay a higher competitive wage for their labor, they argued, their freight would be cut down by the inability of farmers to produce their normal crops.

While the testimony before the house committee several times was led by Representative Box, Democrat, Texas, to consideration of a report that industrial workers of the world were organizing among Mexican laborers, and that the Mexican family lived poorly, it always turned back to consideration of the agricultural and economic phases. Witnesses testified that they had no definite knowledge of the industrial workers of the world and they considered the living conditions of the Mexican good.

Dairying Grows In Nolan County

Achievements of Varied Farmers Prove Raising of Milk Cows Profitable Around Sweetwater.

SWEETWATER, Feb. 29.—Dairying in Nolan county has had a very remarkable growth during the past year, as is indicated by the fact that $800.00 and more a week is being paid to these dairymen for whole milk by the Hope milk plant, according to O. H. Hope, proprietor.

This milk plant was established July 4 and began handling around 100 gallons of milk daily from Nolan county farmers and dairymen and at the present time this has grown to the extent that they are now buying 400 gallons daily. The payroll of the company has increased to $2500 per month, and this plant is becoming one of this city's important small industries.

Dispelling any doubt that dairying in this county was not profitable, Mr. Hope stated that a herd of 20 cows owned jointly with Walter Pickett had during the month of January brought a profit of $270.00 after paying all feed bills. "Two of the biggest dairymen selling to my plant at this time are Ira Frye, living seven miles south of Sweetwater, and Bland Hope, who lives two miles north of this city," stated Mr. Hope. "However there are others. J. O. Frye, W. C. Calvert, W. C. Shields, Jim Blackwell, W. N. Freeman, Ray Smith and White Ramsey, who are greatly increasing their far revenue by selling good quantities of milk. "That the dairy industry is profitable has already been established, and I predict that it will be increased many times during the present year."

CHILDRRESS, Feb. 29.—Fire this afternoon swept the poultry house of the Gate City creamery here entailing a loss of approximately $15,000. A number of chickens perished in the flames.

"CANARY" MURDER CASE

BY S. S. VAN L. THE AUTHOR OF THE GEN. MURDER CASE

THE STORY THUS FAR

Skell's finger prints were found in the apartment of the murdered Margaret Odell, but Vance does not believe him guilty. It is proved later that Mannix, Cleaver and Dr. Lindquist had been trying about their whereabouts the night of the murder. The truth came out that Mannix had been calling on a young lady in the apartment adjoining the "Canary," that Cleaver had been in the building around midnight and that Dr. Lindquist knowing Spotswood was calling on Margaret Odell had planned in a jealous fit to kill him. But this plan was frustrated when Spotswood jumped into a cab. Skell's telephone call to Vance and Markham, Vance and Heath wait for him in the district attorney's office.

CHAPTER XL

A few minutes later Heath turned abruptly and went out into the hall. We could hear him calling to Skell down the elevator shaft, but when he came back into the office his expression told us that as yet there was no news of Skell.

"I'll call up the bureau," he decided, "and see what Guilfoyle had to report. At least we'll know then when the Duke left his home."

But when the sergeant had been connected with police headquarters he was informed that Guilfoyle had as yet made no report.

"That's damn funny," he commented, hanging up the receiver. It was now twenty minutes past ten. Markham was growing restive. The tenacity with which the Canary murder case had resisted all his efforts toward a solution had filled him with discouragement; and he had hoped, almost desperately, that this morning's interview with Skell would clear up the mystery, or at least supply him with information on which definite action could be taken. Now, with Skell late for this all-important appointment, the strain was becoming tense.

He pushed back his chair nervously and going to the window, gazed out into the dark haze of time rain, when he returned to his desk his face was set.

"I'll give our friend until half past ten," he said grimly, "if he isn't here then, Sergeant, you'd better call up the local station house and have them send a patrol wagon for him."

There was another few minutes of silence. Vance lolled in his chair with half-closed eyes, but I noticed that though he still held his cigarette, he was not smoking. His forehead was puckered by a frown and he was very quiet. I knew that some unusual problem was occupying him. His lethargy had in it a quality of intensity and concentration.

As I watched him he suddenly sat up straight, his eyes open and alert. He tossed his dead cigarette into the receiver with a jerky movement that attested to some inner excitement.

"Oh, my word," he exclaimed, "it really can't be, y'know! And yet, his face darkened—and yet, by Jove, that's it. What's an unutterable as! . . . Oh!"

He sprang to his feet; then stood looking down at the floor like a man dazed, afraid of his own thoughts.

"Markham, I don't like it—I don't like it at all," he spoke almost as if he were frightened. "I tell you, there's something terrible going on—something uncanny. The thoughts of it makes my flesh creep."

"I must be getting old and sentimental," he added, with an effort at lightness, but the look in his eyes belied his tone. "Why didn't I see this thing yesterday? But I let it go on."

New Toad Tale Another Lubbock Man in Story

And now come J. J. Smelser, 1214 10th street, with another frog story to tell in refuting possible theories that this Earl land tale was devised by another Ananias tribe. He, too, has seen one of these fly-catchers though not of the horned variety, emerge from a stone sepulchre where he may have lain through countless days.

It was probably about 1900, according to Mr. Smelser, that he was directing some Mexicans in blasting near Mertzon. This particular job was on a limestone cliff and one day a block of precipitating an ordinary room in size, was separated from the mountain.

As this block was shattered by the workers, a live frog emerged from a crack, averts Mr. Smelser, who said that the rock showed a cavity a little larger than the frog and moulded into the figure of a frog. At the time Mr. Smelser thought little of this phenomenon and no effort was made to capture the frog or note whether or not he continued to live, he said.

"I say, Sergeant, you're wasting time with all that formality," "I guess you're right," came the answer after a moment of what seemed unbearable silence.

Heath bent down and looked at the lock. Then he took some instrument from his pocket and inserted it into the keyhole.

"You're right," he repeated. "The key's gone."

He stepped back and, balking on his toes like a sprinter, sent his shoulders crashing against the panel directly over the knob. But the lock held.

"Come on, Skell," he ordered. The two detectives hurried themselves against the door. At the third onslaught there was a splintering of wood and a tearing of the lock's bolt through the moulding.

The door swung drunkenly inward. The room was in almost complete darkness. We all hesitated on the threshold, while Skell crossed warily to one of the windows and sent the shade clattering up. The yellow-gray light filtered in, and the objects of the room at once took definable form. A large, old-fashioned bed projected from the wall on the right.

"Look!" cried Skell, pointing at something in his voice sent a shiver over me.

We pressed forward. On the foot of the bed, at the side toward the door, sprawled the crumpled body of Skell. Like the Canary he had been strangled. His head hung back over the foot-board, his face a hideous distortion. His arms were outstretched and one leg trailed over the edge of the mattress, resting on the floor.

"Thuggee," murmured Vance. "Lindquist mentioned it. Curious!" Heath stood staring fixedly at the body, his shoulders hunched. His normal rudeness of complexion was gone, and he seemed like a man hypnotized.

"Mother o' God!" he breathed, awe-stricken. And, with an involuntary motion, he crossed himself. Markham was shaken also. He set his jaw rigidly.

"You're right, Vance," his voice was strained and unnatural. "Something sinister and terrible has been going on here. . . . There's a fiend loose in this town—a werewolf."

"I wouldn't say that, old man," Vance regarded the murdered Skell critically. "No, I wouldn't say that. Not a werewolf. Just a desperate human being. A man of extremes, perhaps—but quite rational, and logical—oh, how deuced logical!"

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 29. (P)—Higher prices all around for grain took effect today owing largely to expectation that smaller reserves on farms would be shown in private estimates tomorrow. Both rye and barley jumped to a new top-price record for the season.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Feb. 29. (P)—Stock prices made further recovery in today's market on a resumption of pool activities and short covering. Bear traders succeeded in uncovering a few weak spots, but the general list pressed forward with gains of 1 to 3 points in many popular individuals and advances of 5 to 10 nearly 15 points in a few specialties. Trading was on a larger scale than yesterday, total sales running close to 2,000,000 shares.

Cash money held steady at the renewal rate of 4 1/2 percent despite heavy month-end demands for funds. "There was no change in other monetary accommodations. Wall Street was inclined to place a bullish interpretation on the sale of New York City corporation 4 percent stock on a yield basis of about 3.87 percent, the lowest in 20 years, as evidence of underlying ease in the money market. The senate hearing on brokers' loans, which started today, also was expected to develop favorable information on that subject.

Both fine and medium grades of foreign wools are available and domestic types which are available are moving at strong prices. According to department of commerce reports idle machinery for January, cards and wool on spindles showed an increase over January a year ago. Kinds of worsted spindles were less active than January a year ago, but a slight improvement over December was indicated.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 29. (P)—A lull in the cotton market, when sharp recovery featured today's trading, heavy buying followed a statement by Secretary Jardine predicting higher prices for farm products. May contracts which had traded at 13.25, 29 points under, and early high rallied and closed at 18.19, 18 points up. The general market closed steady at net advances of 15 to 18 points.

Liverpool cables were rather disappointing at the start here and after opening 2 points down July ended to 17.92 and October 17.41, 7 to 11 points below the previous close. The market rallied promptly, however, on a bullish weekly weather and crop report, July advancing to 18.06 and October to 17.76, 14 to 15 points up from the lows and 4 to 7 points above the previous close.

Later there was an absence of sustaining support which induced professional selling and as a result prices turned downward until near noon July had traded to 17.85 and October 17.58, 14 points net down.

In the afternoon Secretary Jardine's report promoted general buying and prices experienced a sharp recovery, July reaching 18.14 and October 17.87, 29 points above the close. The market closed at the top.

Exports for the day totaled 14,412 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 29. (P)—An early decline of 8 or 10 points was followed by rallies in the cotton market today on renewal of trade buying and covering. May sold up from 13.27 to 18.06 and closed at 18.07, while the general market closed firm at net advances of 19 to 22 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 2 points, but prices soon eased under renewal of reactionary impulses not on setbacks yesterday. Prospects for warmer weather in the south may have encouraged some selling. There was some near month liquidation incident to circulation of a few March futures. March sold off at 18.10 and October to 17.90 during the middle of the day, making net declines of about 5 to 10 points but prices rallied up later on reports of a steady spot situation in the south, trade buying and covering. March sold up to 18.39 and October to 18.20, making net advances of 18 to 24 points. The close was within a point or two of the best. At the low point of the morning the market showed reactions of about 30 to 40 points from the high levels of Saturday.

First Place at Fort Worth Show Is Goal

With the Fort Worth Fat Stock show livestock judging title as their goal, 12 Tech students are undergoing strenuous training daily under the direction of R. G. Mowery, coach of the stock judging team. Preparing for contests at the exposition, trips have been made by the students to leading stock farms at Lorenzo, Shallowater, and Hereford, as well as others throughout this section.

Last year the Tech team placed second at Fort Worth and landed the highest scoring man of the entire contest. Students trying for the team this year are R. C. Tom Anderson, John Burroughs, Raleigh Middleton, Vaughn Corley, Curtis Grimes, Ogden Kling, Duck Marr, Claude Hope, Jackson and B. Carmichael.

in every city—in every town there is one store that undersells—in LUBBOCK it's

BROADWAY at AVENUE J

MARCH

For Supremacy!

March the First—marks another great offensive drive by GROLLMAN'S—a drive that must bring to our store more people—people with eyes open to materials—with eyes open to prices—with an open mind of HOW values are determined! With people curious to know style—ready to place their own judgment of comparison against the tirade of any merchandising policy!

Good Sportsmanship

GROLLMAN'S has every reason in the world to believe in the good sportsmanship of the people of Lubbock and the South Plains. We have come close to the ending of our first year in Lubbock with our new store—and the ending of the First Year will bring to us nothing more convincing than that the people have given generous, whole-hearted support to convince them of why we should survive and grow!

We now appeal to the good Sportsmanship of the men, young men and boys of this section. We want them to come to our store NOW with an open mind, with a curiosity of determining whether or not we shall merit their attention when they make their SPRING CLOTHING BUY!

We are going to make special effort this week—the first three days of our MARCH for supremacy—to display NEW SUITS of such character that you may have an easy opportunity to decide whether we can sell you that Spring suit or not! Details of the kind of suits we offer are published below:

CLOTHES

Men's--Young Men's--Boys'

Schloss Bros.

Hand tailored suits, Eton College Models and Conservatives—of the usual high quality materials always found in the Nationally known line—in the patterns that style decrees. Light tans, sand shades and new blue and grey mixtures; Oxford greys with a light Cambridge shade more evidenced in popularity.

Hand tailoring makes possible the new body fitted lines, wide shoulders, closer fitting body lines, snug hips, these are the details that perfect the wedge effect in the new Spring Schloss Brothers suits.

Griffon

And now GRIFFON suits, long recognized as a line that put more quality and workmanship in their clothes for the dollar cost—are shown for the first time in our store. Beautiful new Spring patterns—of course the dominating style trend of two button models has been followed by GRIFFON—colors of light greys and tans, mixtures and heather effects.

Cravenette

The new exclusive line of Boys Clothing that is GUARANTEED TO OUTWEAR ANY OTHER MAKE! The secret treatment of new woolsens by the CRAVENETTE process makes CRAVENETTE clothes look better, wear twice as long, makes them water-proof!

CRAVENETTE clothes come in sizes from 8 years to 17 years. They are in short trouser and long trouser styles.

"The Best Boys' suit in the World"—with a wealth of beautiful Spring patterns available.

IT WILL COST YOU $5 TO $10 OR MORE TO GET EQUAL SUIT QUALITY!!

We mean just that:—you can buy the very finest, highest priced Spring suit in our store and by comparison of the material and style value of the suit save from $5 to $10.

Every suit handled and priced in our store is a TWO TROUSER SUIT!

EVERY SUIT HANDLED BY US IS ABSOLUTELY GUARANTEED TO GIVE YOU SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY WILL BE PAID BACK! THIS GUARANTEE EMBRACES THE MERIT 100% GUARANTEED SUITS AT POPULAR PRICES AS WELL AS THE FINEST PATTERNS OF SCHLOSS BROS AND GRIFFON!
