Patton Surge Pockets Two Nazi Armies

Cuba Breaks Up Plot On Government

HAVANA, March 16 — Thirty former Army and police officers and civilians, including the former chief of the Cuban Army, Col. Jose Eleuterio Pedraza, were arrested today as the government acted swiftly to forestall what it called a plot to overthrow the Grau San Martin administration.

The Cuban Army and police went into action 48 hours after a close friend of former President Fulgencio Batista had been assassinated in a shooting that shocked the island.

Pedraza, accused of leading the planned revolt, and the others arrested were hustled off the Cabana fortress military prison across the harbor from Havana.

Directed By Army Chief

The roundup was directed by Maj. Gen. Genovevo Perez, chief of the Army, and Col. J. M. Carreno Faillo, chief of police.

Not a single shot was fired in the arrest of more than 30 former Army and police officers and civilians, Maj. Gen. Perez declared, adding that the speedy and efficient service of the armed forces prevented the outbreak of the armed movement.

Dr. Luis Collado, sub-secretary of the national defense, in a statement issued at the presidential palace, said the former Army and police chief, Col. Pedraza, was the leader of the "organized rebels," which, he added, included "former members of the armed forces and prominent figures of the past regime."

Round-Up Continues

While absolute quiet and tranquility reigned in Havana and the interior of the republic, with no outward signs of intense police and Army activity, authorities are continuing their round-up of all suspected participants in the plot which, they said, may have "ramifications."

Col. Pedraza was held in a cell shared with five civilians arrested with him. Newsmen were permitted to enter the fortress prison to see the prisoners but were not permitted to talk with them.

It was learned that Pedraza, who had been living in Mexico, arrived in Cuba several days ago from an unknown foreign country aboard a chartered schooner.

The former Army chief, who was ousted in February, 1941, by the then President Fulgencio Batista, is warted by several Cuban

B-29s Fire Kobe In Fourth Big-Scale Assault On Japs

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

TWENTY-FIRST BOMBER COMMAND, Guam, March 17. (Saturday) — More than 300 B-29s dropped 2,500 tons of incendiaries on Kobe—Japan's great shipbuilding center and sixth largest city— in a pre-dawn attack today.

Bombs from the second plane over the target started a string of fires in the important dock areas. Resultant fires illuminated the previously blacked-out city.

The third plane scored direct hits on the Mitsubishi airplane plant and Kawasake locomotive plant, its crew reported to Associated Press correspondent Elmont Waite.

The Superforts swept over Kobe at only a one-mile altitude to dump their loads on Japan's principal seaport and shipping center.

Maj. Leon Lowry, San Carlos, Calif., said "everything worked slick." He reported only light antiaircraft fire, although he saw searchlights piercing the skies from Osaka, havocked only three days before by another 2,000-ton raid.

Pilots said Kobe's fires were visible for 100 miles.

Jap Fighters Appear

For the first time in the series of 300-plane raids on Tokyo, Nagoya, Osaka and now Kobe, Japanese fighters made their appearance in strength—but apparently did little if any damage to the B-29s.

Forty-five to 50 enemy fighters took to the air as the first Superforts dumped their bombs.

"Japanese fighters seemed to have developed more savvy," reported Capt. J. W. O'Neill, Brookline, Mass., a pilot. "They waited for our planes to get over the city and many flew high to get us from above as we left the target.

"We ran into opposition at 8,000 feet when 10 to 15 fighters made passes at us. We went up and ran into more at 10,000 feet.

"However, we blacked out and with the help of clouds literally flew through a group of fighters without their seeing us."

Target for this greatest of all fire raids that rapidly are turning huge sections of Japan's industrial centers to ashes was a five-square-mile area in the highly congested core of Japan's sixth largest metropolis.

Probably Over 300

Although the 21st Bomber command announced only that a "very large task force" of B-29s attacked, indications were that more than 300 aircraft participated.

Tokyo radio made the unconfirmed claim that more than 30 of the B-29s were "either shot down or damaged." The enemy said that the raiders, while concentrating on Kobe, also dropped incendiaries in the vicinity of Osaka.

This was the fourth great strike —all incendiary—on Japan's major cities in eight days and the first mass B-29 assault of the war on Kobe.

Tokyo was hit a week ago today in the first big attack inaugurating the new strategy of burning down the enemy's industrial areas.

Then Nagoya And Osaka

Nagoya was hit two days later, March 12 and Osaka on March 14.

All the raids were staged in the dark hours soon after midnight.

The three previous raids—details of the Kobe attack are not yet available—caused great conflagrations, much damage to industries, burned out many square miles of congested areas and caused the Japanese government to make many changes in its air raid defenses.

A "sizeable" force of the sky giants previously had hit Kobe Feb. 4, starting 34 fires. They also smacked the Kawasaki aircraft engine factory at Akashi town, 10 miles west of Kobe, on Jan. 19.

Tactics Are Changed

Varying their tactics with the view of creating surprise, the B-29s took off from their bases in the Marianas two hours later for the Kobe raid than for those on Tokyo, Nagoya and Osaka.

They hit their targets for almost two hours starting at about 3:55 a.m. Saturday, Kobe time (1:55 p.m. Friday EWT).

The series of fire raids are growing in weight all the time because each time out a "few more crews decide they can take on heavier

Yanks Near Manila Crush Shimbu Line

MANILA, Saturday, March 17 Yanks fighting on Luzon island's scattered fronts have destroyed one end of the Japanese Shimbu line east of Manila, cut the enemy communication line to southern Luzon and advanced within seven miles of Baguio, summer capital of the Philippines.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the successes today in a communique which also recorded further gains by American forces invading the Zamboanga sector of Mindanao island.

Southern Flank Destroyed

In the Shimbu sector, where one American general has been killed and another wounded in the fiercest battling of the Luzon campaign, "the entire southern flank of the elaborate Wawa-Antipole line has now been destroyed with great losses to the enemy in both personnel and supplies." The U. S. 43rd (Winged Victory) division has reached a point four miles east of Antipolo.

The Japanese main line of communication with southern Luzon was cut at Maybancal, at the base of Morong peninsula in a wide enveloping movement.

South of Manila at Balayan bay, the 158th Regimental Combat team made a shore-to-shore movement to seize Dagatan on the western coast of Calumpan peninsula. They then pushed inland eastward toward Mabinia.

Far to the north of Manila, the U. S. 33rd Infantry division, moving up the only good road toward Baguio, has pushed four miles northeast of Twin peaks and is approaching Camp Three.

Highlighting actions elsewhere 243 tons of explosions were poured down on the Annan naval base at Formosa and on the nearby Pescadores islands. Smoke from resultant fires rose 6,000 feet. Fighter planes swept low to destroy railway rolling stock.

Shipping Hard Hit

Small shipping was effectively hit around Formosa and along the China coast. In all 23 surface craft ranging up to a 2,000 ton freighter were sunk or damaged.

A cement factory and several warehouses were destroyed in a raid on Dutch Borneo.

Prior to the issuance of today's communique, dispatches on the fighting east of Manila disclosed the 43rd division had driven a two-mile wedge into the Shimbu line which put several thousand enemy troops in a trap.

Frontline reports said the 43rd division flanked the crumbling Shimbu line at the southern end,

U. S. Casualties On Iwo Total 19,938, With 4,189 Dead; Organized Resistance Ceases

By ELMONT WAITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Saturday, March 17—Three American Marine divisions sustained 19,938 casualties, including 4,189 dead, in capturing Iwo Jima for an advanced air base 750 miles from Tokyo, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

Nimitz said organized resistance ceased on the volcanic black island at 6 p. m. Friday when units of the Third and Fifth divisions overran the last Japanese hold-out emplacements at Kitano Point, northernmost tip of the island.

Mop-Up Continuing

In a second communique today, Nimitz reported Marines were continuing to mop up enemy remnants on Iwo and that the central airfield on that little island was put into operation by American forces yesterday.

Defending a piece of Japan, part of the Tokyo prefecture, the Japanese on Iwo fought and died almost to a man. Nimitz previously had announced that 21,000 of the enemy were killed, by conservative estimate. Prisoners were few.

"Among the Americans who served on Iwo island uncommon valor was a common virtue," Nimitz said in a communique.

Aware of the "crushing attacks"

FDR In Food Scrap, Sees Ration Slash

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 16. — President Roosevelt stepped into the inter-agency controversy over division of dwindling food stocks today with the assertion we will have to eat less to help feed starving Europe.

The American people will have to tighten their belts, he told a news conference in outlining what he termed administration policy on who is to get what from domestic supplies.

The people in this country have not suffered very greatly compared with some others, he said, adding they are not going to suffer.

War Not Yet Won

Asserting the was is not won yet, the chief executive said he believed the country will back up the idea of keeping people alive abroad by retaining existing food restrictions at home and adding others.

Thus, he apparently sided with those in his administration who have opposed a War Food administration proposal that some commitments made for lend-lease and foreign relief be reduced drastically and that military demands also be trimmed for the April-June quarter to allow civilian supplies to be maintained near present levels.

Representatives of the War department and agencies representing lend-lease and foreign relief have resisted the WFA idea. A week ago War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes turned the whole matter over to a seven-man government committee headed by Leo T. Crowley, foreign economic administrator.

Sugar, Meats, Fats

Sugar, meat, butter and other fats are among the commodities for which demand exceeds prospective supply. War food officials have warned that civilians here may have to get along with less meat, lard, cheese and evaporated milk, and probably less poultry and eggs.

Mr. Roosevelt also said:

Nothing had been received here at all concerning German peace feelers reported prevalent in neutral Sweden.

He had talked with Ambassador Robert D. Murray, political adviser on Germany to General Eisenhower, mostly about Murphy's boyhood in Germany.

It has not been settled what section of Germany American troops will occupy after the Nazis' defeat. He did not know what was holding this up.

More Rumors Expected

There will be a lot more rumors between now and April 25 about the San Francisco conference setup. He had been asked whether W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, would be temporary chairman of that conference, as rumor had it.

Questions about Italian armistice terms should be taken up with the State department. A reporter told him the State department always refers such inquiries to the War department and the latter refers them in turn to the White House. No answer.

The only chuckle produced at today's interview—not up to par in attendance—came after a request for comment on what a reporter called a "post-curfew social problem, particularly in New York where service men are walking the streets after midnight with nothing to do."

The President said he had not been there and let it go at that.

Wheeler, Spencer Back In Homeland

Second Lt. Tony J. Wheeler, Seagraves, and Pfc. James C. Spencer, Athens, Tex., Texas Technological college graduate and brother of Charles A. Spencer, 2403 Twenty-third, were among military personnel from Texas who arrived at San Francisco Friday by vessel following their liberation from Philippine prisoner of war camps, according to the Associated Press.

Both were taken prisoner by the Japs when Bataan fell in early 1942.

Lt. Wheeler is the son of Mrs. Bay Willingham of Seagraves. Spencer was graduated from Tech in 1936 and later became a member of the Texas legislature.

Also among other Texans arriving Friday at San Francisco was 2nd Lt. Lee R. Rutherford of Plainview.

Navy To Cull Men For Overseas Duty

A careful physical examination of overseas drafts will be made at embarkation ports and physically unfit men will be eliminated, the Navy said.

Mighty Blows Dealt As Defenses Crumble

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, March 16—The U. S. First Army slashed across the great Ruhr superhighway at two points east of the Rhine today, and southward a sensational breakthrough by the Third Army 20 miles beyond the Moselle river set up two German armies for imminent annihilation.

These two seasoned, hard-hitting armies were dealing tremendous body blows to the reeling armies of the Reich, while the Seventh Army was crashing through into Germany from the south.

The Moselle-Rhine triangle—80 miles from top to bottom and 85 miles wide at the base—was collapsing under the terrific impact of the Third and Seventh armies and it appeared that soon not a German would stand on the soil of the Reich west of the Rhine.

PATTON TRAPS TWO GERMAN ARMIES—While the U. S. First Army east of the Rhine slashed twice across the great Ruhr superhighway Friday, Lt. Gen. Patton's mighty Third Army broke out farther south in a 14-mile rampage through the heart of Nazi defenses between the Rhine and Moselle that set up two German armies for imminent annihilation by the converging Third and Seventh armies.

Bridgehead Deepens

The First Army, carrying a fight to the enemy fraught with the most immediate peril, deepened the Rhine bridgehead to seven miles, swept a mile north to within three miles of the open plains of Germany, and smashed the first big tank-led counterblow.

The Third Army broke loose along the Rhine valley on a 14-mile rampage that cleaved through the heart of the enemy defenses between the Rhine and the Moselle 60 to 70 miles north of the Germans fighting in defense of the Saar basin and the Bavarian Palatinate.

The Seventh Army was hammering at the underside of this huge bulge in a co-ordinated offensive along a 50-mile front that gained up to four miles and overwhelmed the 200-year-old French fortress of Bitche, never before taken by storm.

Fall Back To Siegfried

The Germans were falling back into the Siegfried line, which had been reached at some points, and were deluging with artillery shells Seventh Army troops who had fought up to the western outskirts of the Saar's capital of Saarbruecken, 23 miles west of Bitche.

By a quirk of nature, the only flyable weather on the Western front was where the three American armies were attacking, and 2,500 tactical warplanes ripped into the enemy's defenses, transport and supply lines.

Airmen running interference for the Third Army's flying tank columns reported wild confusion in the triangle. One pilot said refugees and fleeing convoys were ensnarled and there was "fire and smoke all over the place."

Onrushing tankmen found many undefended roadblocks in their southeastward smash, testifying to the surprise achieved by the Third Army's sudden crossing of the broad Moselle with tanks.

Reds Tighten Ring On Baltic Seaports

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Saturday, March 17. —Russian tank forces smashed through bitter enemy resistance to within four and a half miles of the prize German port of Stettin yesterday while other Soviet troops threatened to split the Nazi defenders of the big Baltic naval bases of Danzig and Gdynia.

The three great Baltic seaports, at either end of the Red Army's 175-mile front across Pomerania, were imminently endangered. Berlin said Soviet forces had penetrated Stettin's "inner defenses" and Moscow's war bulletins disclosed the Russians were within six miles of both Danzig and Gdynia.

East Prussia Pocket

East of the blazing front before Danzig and Gdynia, the Russians carved out two-mile gains in the German East Prussian pocket and the enemy said Red Army units 325 miles to the south had opened a new offensive toward the Moravian gap leading to Prague and Vienna.

The German radio said that Marshal G. K. Zhukov had hurled one tank Army and five tank corps into the First White Russian Army's Stettin battle in an attempt to crush a narrow Nazi bridgehead across the Oder river from the west bank Pomeranian capital.

Slashing across deep fortifications lines, Zhukov's troops slugged to within four and a half miles southeast of the city by capturing Rosengarten, less than two miles south of suburban Altdamm, key stronghold of Stettin's defenses. Zhukov's men were battling through forests below Altdamm in a drive to cut its railroad and highway links with Stettin, across the mouth of the Oder.

On the approaches to the coastal strongholds of Braunsberg and Heiligenbeil, Soviet columns advanced on a 10-mile front, taking among 12 places, the village of Jarfithal, seven miles east of Heiligenbeil.

Driller Badly Hurt In Sundown Mishap

R. C. Holland, 29, of Levelland, a driller for the Milhoan Drilling company, was seriously injured about 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon near Sundown when he was struck by a rotary table weighing approximately 7,000 pounds.

Holland was helping to rig up on the drilling location, Mrs. Holland said, when the table slipped and struck him. However, part of the blow was absorbed by nearby blocks.

A Plains Funeral home ambulance from Levelland brought the victim to West Texas hospital, where he was admitted about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Attendants there reported that Holland suffered four broken vertabrae and possible internal injuries, but that his condition was considered satisfactory late Friday night.

Relentless Air Blows Continue

LONDON, March 16 (AP) — Strong forces of RAF heavy bombers blasted two railway cities of southern Germany tonight and Mosquitos raided Berlin for the 25th consecutive night after Italy-based U. S. heavy bombers had attacked three Nazi oil refineries in Vienna's outskirts by day.

The RAF bombers singled out Nuernberg and Wuerzburg, north of Munich, while the Mosquitos were dumping explosives on the Reich's capital.

For the first time since Germany began to feel the remorseless weight of unrelenting air assaults 32 days ago, U. S. heavy bombers based in Britain were unable to attack the Reich in day light.

Fuel Refineries Seared

Waves of American heavy bombers from Italy seared three vital German fuel refineries in Vienna's outskirts.

Scrap On Tariff Breaks Suddenly

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)— A tariff battle, with party lines developing swiftly, suddenly burst upon Congress today.

The administration asked for new authority to reduce all import duties—some as much as 75 per cent under the levels of the Hawley-Smoot act of 1930.

Republicans promptly promised the hardest tariff fight since this act, the last general tariff revision, was written.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the House Ways and Means committee tossed the explosive new bill into the legislative hopper.

Fight On Trade Barriers

Backers said it is an important part of the administration's policy of breaking down world trade barriers.

It would extend the reciprocal trade act for three years and allow the State department, in trade treaties with other nations, to reduce by as much as 50 per cent the effective duties as of last January 1.

The existing reciprocal trade act, first enacted in 1934, already permits duty reductions up to 50 per cent of the 1930 levels.

Thus a duty reduced as much as 50 per cent below the Hawley-Smoot act prior to last January 1 could be cut in half again, making an accumulative reduction of 75 per cent. Many items already have been cut by the present 50

Nazi Victims, Staggering From Filthy Prison, Honor Their Dead Companions

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

COLOGNE, March 16. — Forty victims of Gestapo violence staggered from their filthy, disease-ridden prison here last Saturday and in their first minutes of freedom paid homage to fellow prisoners who had died.

They wavered to a mound in the prison square in memory of 10 of their comrades in misery, seven of whom the Allied Military government found dead and three who failed to respond to medical treatment.

They knelt at the graves in silent prayer and then one of them fashioned a rough cross with two sticks and some twine.

The prisoners, hwo had been accused of political offenses against the Reich, included Dutch, Belgians, French, Polish, Russians, Italians and five Germans.

One of them, a Dutch woman, was seized Jan. 26 for listening to a British broadcast.

"My husband, daughter and myself were arrested and brought here," she said. "My daughter could not swallow these last days, so she was hospitalized yesterday. Probably my husband is in a hospital, too."

Tough American soldiers could not tell her that her husband was one of the 10 dead.

Lt. Col. Oswald F. Hedley of Newtonville, Mass., AMG health officer, said 29 of the worst sufferers of typhus and other diseases had been hospitalized from the prison but he said he feared that half the number might die.

Capt. James G. Van Oot, Richmond, Va., said: "You ought to have seen this place when we entered. It was indescribable. Some of the prisoners were already so weak they were lying in their own filth. All were reeking with lice."

There were cells labelled "for unruly inmates." These were pitch dark and inside each was an additional cage of iron bars in which was a bed.

One room was marked "hearings." Outside it were discarded steel whips.

Dr. Rainey was in New York when the Times Herald announced the offer in a front-page editorial.

Patterson Answers Iwo Protest From Distraught Woman

WASHINGTON, March 16. (AP)—The Navy today released an exchange of correspondence between Secretary Forrestal and an unidentified woman who protested the heavy toll of life in the taking of Iwo Jima. Said the secretary: "There is no short cut or easy way. I wish there were."

Navy spokesmen said the letter it made public was typical of a number the department had received. It read:

"Please for God's sake stop sending our finest youth to be murdered on places like Iwo Jima. It is too much for boys to stand, too much for mothers and homes to take. It is driving some mothers crazy. Why can't objectives be accomplished some other way. It is most inhuman and awful—stop, stop."

Secretary Forrestal replied:

"On December 7, 1941 the Axis confronted us with a simple choice: Fight or be overrun. There was then, and is now, no other possibility.

"Having chosen to fight, we had then, and have now, no final means of winning battles except through the valor of the Marine or Army soldier who, with rifle and grenades, storms enemy positions, takes them and holds them. There is no short cut or easy way. I wish there were."

Naval officials said it had no information whether the writer of the letter had a son or other close relative at Iwo Jima. They declined to divulge her identity.

Nationwide Shortage Of Eggs Indicated

WASHINGTON, March 16 (U.P.)—Prospects of a nationwide egg shortage were increasing today and government food officials were more than red-faced about the whole thing.

For months, housewives have been urged to substitute eggs for meat on the family menu because of the government's fear of an egg surplus equal to the one last year.

As recently as a month ago, the War Food administration, custodian of the nation's food supply, promised that while egg production "may decrease eight to 10 per cent, civilian supplies will still be plentiful."

But the WFA, it appears, was too optimistic. This week's government survey of 13 metropolitan markets showed that egg supplies were not sufficient to meet demands. And the scarcity pushed prices to ceiling levels everywhere.

Civilian consumption of eggs, accelerated by growing shortages of meats and other feeds, has zoomed to new heights. Last year, the average American ate 350 eggs—50 more than in peace time. During January and February, however, consumption was at the rate of 400 eggs a year, according to WFA.

Pravda Assails Book By Walter Lippmann

MOSCOW, March 16. (AP)—A new book on U. S. military aims by Walter Lippmann was assailed by Pravda today as advancing an idea "contrary to all the principles of the United Nations" and which was a "threat to enduring peace."

Pravada said Lippmann advocated an Atlantic community of powers separate from the Russian sphere, and thus espoused "the old plan of Versailles, Locarno and Munich," reviving the idea of the "cordon sanitaire."

Patton On Loose Again; Collapse Of Nazis In Saarland Impending

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

There are broad intimations from the west front that American Third Army tanks are on the loose again, ripping their way up the left bank of the Rhine in Germany as they raced through France to start the Nazi retreat to fortified German frontiers.

One armored unit was reported virtually half way to the Bingen bend of the river above Coblenz. Air scouts spotted German convoys streaming eastward out of the Saar basin to escape entrapment. And a wide and deep gain by American Seventh Army comrades coming to grips with the last segment of the once boasted Nazi Westwall defense systems still in German hands tended to verify the impression that an enemy collapse in the Saarland was impending.

SIMPSON

Two-Fold Significance

The significance of the Third Army push up the Rhine toward Bingen is two-fold. Main communication lines serving all the northern half of the Saarland converge in the vicinity of Bingen. If they are reached by American troops before substantial Nazi forces still deployed in the northern half of the great industrial basin, Germany's "Little Ruhr," make good their escape beyond the Rhine, another heavy bag of prisoners could result.

Bingen also stands, however, at the northwestern corner of a broad plain lying along the west bank of the Rhine from that point to the Karlsruhe corner. That plain apparently offers General Patton's seasoned tankers the best terrain they have had since they stormed across France. There are no natural obstacles west of the Rhine to bar their surge southward perhaps to effect a junction with the Seventh Army in the Karlsruhe-Haguenau region closing a trap on thousands of Nazi troops.

Nazis Admit Menace

Nazi commentators admit that the Third Army breakthrough southward over the Moselle has placed such German industrial centers as Frankfurt-On-Main, Mannheim and Karlsruhe in jeopardy. All of them lie east of the Rhine but the danger of encirclement west of the river of a substantial part of the troops relied upon by the Germans to guard that all-important stretch of the river is very real. If the looming American trap on the west bank is closed it could leave the whole wide stretch of the Rhine from Coblenz to Karlsruhe virtually unprotected.

The importance of that cannot be over estimated. It is the Coblenz-Karlsruhe span of the Rhine that guards the best military approaches to the great central plain of Germany into which refugees from east and west have been pouring. A crossing of the river anywhere between Bingen and Karlsruhe would expose such cities as Nurnberg and even Munchen (Munich), Nazidom's birthplace, to early attack.

The squeeze attack on the Saar basin holds glowing possibilities of shortening the period of German organized resistance materially. It is bringing powerful American armies directly into that portion of Germany they have been assigned for occupation under Yalta agreements between the United States, Britain and Russia.

SMUTS PLANS TRIP

CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa, March 16. (AP)—Prime Minister Jan Christiaan Smuts announced in Parliament today that he would leave early in April for a commonwealth conference in London and then proceed to the San Francisco world security conference opening April 25.

HOSPITAL SHIP IN SERVICE

BOSTON, March 16. (AP)—The largest and most completely equipped hospital ship in the world—the Louis A. Milne—was commissioned into active Army service today as the "queen of the mercy fleet."

Russian Front

were killed in East Prussia, Moscow's war bulletins said, and 1,800 prisoners taken on the northern sectors of the Eastern front where the Red Army was mopping up enemy resistance pockets to release thousands of troops for the impending Berlin drive.

Berlin broadcasts said that the Russians had hurled one tank Army and five tank corps into the Stettin battle in an attempt to crush a narrow Nazi bridgehead across the river from the west bank Pomeranian capital.

"One Soviet Army and five tank corps attacked on a narrow strip with the aim of cutting the German bridgehead into three parts," the broadcast said. "Small heights and villages have changed hands up to 14 times. Hundreds of guns of all caliber are firing incessantly."

New Offensive In South

Berlin said that other Soviet units 250 miles to the south simultaneously opened a new offensive toward the Moravian gap leading to a Prague and Vienna.

On the middle Oder front due east of Berlin the Germans said three Soviet infantry divisions had encircled Klessin, two miles west of the river, and had pushed on toward Podelzig, a mile and a half to the northwest and 32 miles east of the Reich capital. A later account claimed that German artillery broke up this attack and reestablished contact with Klessin.

Klessin lies about midway between captured Kuestrin and Frankfurt in the area where the Germans have reported 100,000 First White Russian Army fighting to expand their bridgeheads for the coming assault on the capital.

Trapped Nazis Beaten Back

At Kolberg, Pomeranian port on the Baltic, a trapped Nazi garrison was hurled back among harbor installations by Soviet troops crushing final resistance in the burning shell-torn city.

The new offensive by Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukraine Army in upper Silesia was announced by the German high command which said it was launched near Ratibor, 16 miles north of Moravska-Ostrava, Czechoslavakia's third largest city guarding the northern entrance to the Moravian gap, ancient invasion pathway. Moravska-Ostrava is known as Czechoslovakia's Pittsburgh.

German broadcasts said "local breaches" had been made, and the Nazi communique said German counterattacks were in progress.

Casualties On Iwo

on their homeland which would be made possible by the loss of Iwo, the Japanese prepared what they thought was an "impregnable defense" of the island, he said.

"The United States Marines by their individual and collective courage have conquered a base which is as necessary to us as it was vital to the enemy in staving off ultimate defeat," the admiral declared.

The conquest toll exacted from the Third, Fourth and Fifth Leatherneck divisions included 15,308 wounded and 441 missing, Nimitz said in his press release on the casualties. "A very considerable number" of the wounded have returned to action, he added.

Heaviest To Date

American casualties on Iwo were the heaviest of any island invasion in the Pacific war to date, exceeding the 16,525 in 24 days of fighting on Saipan in the Marianas.

Iwo was the bloodiest, toughest and costliest battle in the 168-year history of the United States Marine corps, Marine officers agreed.

But the end of the 26-day fight for Iwo found war dividends already accruing to American forces.

30 Superforts Saved

So far, 30 U. S. Superfortresses have landed on Iwo airstrips which the Devildogs wrested from the Japanese. The planes, returning from strikes at Japanese cities, out of fuel or damaged, would have been forced to make sea crash landings and perhaps lost their crews had Iwo not been available to them.

The island is half way along the 1,500-mile route from Superfortress bases at Saipan, Tinian and Guam in the Marianas, and Japan. It not only has become a main rescue station for the big planes which recently have hit Japan with mass attacks, but also will in time be a base for other B-29s which, because of the shorter distance, can hit Nippon with heavier bomb loads.

Smaller Army, Navy and Marine planes already are striking the Japanese from Iwo airfields, which Navy Seabees started putting into use almost the hour the Marines had driven the Nipponese off them.

If the ocean dropped 50 feet, Australia and New Guinea would be connected by dry land.

Film Strikers Lash Back At AFL Appeal

HOLLYWOOD, March 16. (AP)—Movie strike leaders hurled an angry defy back at American Federation of Labor President William Green late today after the AFL top man, in Washington, branded the studio walkout "unjustified" and demanded that the AFL unions return to work.

"The strike goes on," declared Herbert Sorrell, spokesman for the striking forces in a telegraphed reply to Green.

The exchange of strongly worded sentiments came as Hollywood's 8,000 actors, heading into a mass meeting to hear the strike issues argued, received notice from the board of directors of the screen actors guild recommending they continue to ignore picket lines.

"We refuse to 'cease and desist' from using the name of the AFL in connection with our strike," Sorrell wired Green.

"We pay our per capita tax to the AFL and are bona fide AFL unions, but we also are autonamous and democratic groups and feel that we know what is best for our membership."

Western Front

erful three-army blow as the Germans renewed predictions that three other armies—the Canadian First, the British Second and the U. S. Ninth—were about to storm across the Rhine into the north German plain.

These accounts said British and American artillery were searing German east bank positions with barrages of mounting intensity.

Strategic Highway

German attempts to hold back the American tide on a 13-mile front east of the Rhine was struck a heavy blow by the cutting of the six-lane Rhine-Ruhr military highway, over which they had been moving troops from the sector of the bridgehead to the other.

The 78th Infantry division fought astride the autobahn at 11:14 a. m. near Bruengsberg, eight miles northeast of the bridge at Remagen.

Later in the afternoon another unit fought house-to-house through Hoevel, less than a mile south of Bruensberg, and likewise battled across the major road link.

While the Germans struggled to prevent a breakthrough to the north German plain here, other American forces to the west along the Rhine smashed a mile north into Koenigswinter, where only three miles of hills separated them from the plains leading to inner Germany.

Savage Fight In South

To the south, the Ninth Infantry division was locked in the most savage fighting of the bridgehead at the key enemy stronghold of Strodt, six miles east of the Remagen bridge.

In this area the Germans had built up their heaviest defenses and it was from here that they struck with the biggest tank force yet employed in the struggle.

The Germans threw in 24 tanks against the Ninth, whose blazing guns and bazookas knocked out five of them, forcing the rest to break off the battle and withdraw.

B-29s Pound Kobe

loads," a spokesman for the command said.

The huge planes went over the target as low as 5,000 feet, dropping all incendiary loads upon precise targets within a chosen five-mile zone of the long, crowded city.

An effective attack on the urban industrial areas called for bombing of a high order of accuracy and timing — definitely not "area bombing."

Heavily Populated

The primary purpose was to destroy industrial and transportation facilities within or near the highly inflammable sections of the city.

With a population of around 1,000,000 in a space 10 miles long and one to three miles wide, Kobe's congested center has a population of more than 100,000 per square mile.

A successful attack would handicap Japan's shipbuilding and ship repair program and create a critical bottleneck in the main rail artery between the eastern and western ends of Honshu island, main island of the empire.

It also would destroy tons of warehouse stores along the waterfront and limit the production of steel, rail equipment, ordnance, chemical, machinery and rubber plants.

AMG Moves Into East-Rhine Area

PARIS, March 16. (AP)—Allied Military government units crossed the Rhine in the Remagen bridgehead area today and established AMG control east of the river for the first time.

As they did so an AMG officer, returning here from Cologne, reported that the Nazi party and German high command were in disagreement on at least one point—how much destruction should be done before leaving an area.

To Register In Cologne

The AMG learned that the Nazis in Cologne wanted to demolish powerhouses and similar installations but the Army argued that they should be left intact except for certain key parts. In the case of Cologne, the Army won.

In Cologne, largest German city yet to fall under AMG administration, about 100,000 civilians are scheduled to begin registration tomorrow.

Cologne police, 123 of whom have been cleared as politically unobjectionable, will aid in the registration, which will include fingerprinting. The police are serving under a former chief, ousted by the Nazis in 1933, who has been reinstated by the Allies.

Only Few Arrested

Capt. James H. Denison of Detroit, Mich., first AMG officer to operate on German soil in the Aachen area, said only 34 persons had been arrested for violating military law in Cologne and most of these were minor cases.

Denison said the AMG first was concerned with establishing civilian order and then food supplies, with displaced persons being given preference over the German population. In this class are all Allied and other foreign workers whom the Germans imported. Sixteen thousand were found in the Cologne area, he said.

Third on the list is restoration of utilities—not for the sake of the civilians but to give the Army the use of them, he explained.

The giant bombers of the U. S. 15th Air force, continuing their methodical pounding of Germany's vital fuel sources, were escorted by an umbrella of fast American fighters. The crews reported good results.

Grounded In Britain

Britain-based heavy bombers were grounded, however, for the first time in 32 days as heavy weather over the continent sealed off bombing lanes, giving crews and ships a much-needed recess in the record-breaking air assault against Germany after 7,000 Allied planes lashed Germany in a 24-hour period.

Aerial photographs showed great fires raging among buildings and barracks of the German Army's general staff headquarters at Zossen, 20 miles south of Berlin after Thursday's attack by some 650 Flying Fortresses and Liberators which unloaded well over 1,500 tons of bombs on the target.

Mine Group Quickly Turn Down Proposal

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP) John L. Lewis' soft coal miners received and quickly turned down today an operator counter-proposal on wages unofficially estimated to net them nearly 50 cents a day.

The union rejection was immediate and definite, holding to the miners' original proposals which operators had figured would cost them more than six times what they offered. But the UMW policy committee couched its turndown in language inviting continuation of negotiations for "real collective bargaining."

The operators made proposals of their own on six of the 18 pay demands made by Lewis, and turned thumbs down on the other dozen. The rejected list was topped by Lewis' principal claim for a royalty of 10 cents a ton, estimated at $60,000,000 a year, for a union health and rehabilitation fund.

The producers estimated that Lewis' whole list of demands would come to about $3.00 a day.

The OPA said the increases in price would be absorbed by refiner purchasers.

At the same time, it was announced the name Sand Hills (Ordovician) pool, Crane county, had been changed to Sand Hills-Ellenburger, West field.

In the price increases, nine fields in the upper gulf area will have ceilings ranging from 98 cents to $1.40 per barrel, depending on gravity. These fields are Esperson, South Esperson, Fig Ridge, Batson, Kirby, Oyster Bayou, Sea Breeze, South China, Willow Slough.

Commitments of $4,000,000 already had been issued by the DPC for the newest Texas project, and today's action increased the investment of $5,000,000. The DPC said that as contract details were worked out with officials of United Carbon the commitments would be increased to the $7,561,000 contemplated originally.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Records Shattered At Track Carnival

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, March 16 (AP)—Five records fell under the impact of athletes from 55 high schools competing in preliminaries of the Southwestern Exposition track

LUBBOCK PLACES THREE

Three of the nine Lubbock Westerners who went to Fort Worth for the Southwest Exposition track and field carnival were still in the running Friday night, after the preliminaries were held during the afternoon; according to meager reports coming from E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey.

Jim Lowrey won his heat in the 880 yard run, and Milton Butler also qualified in the same event. Cliff Dean tied for the top among the pole vault qualifiers to round out the list.

The Lubbock relay team (whether sprint or mile was not specified) couldn't match the pace of the Brackenridge (San Antonio) and Austin teams, and ran third to them in the same heat. First two qualified.

and field meet today with a couple of San Antonio teams—Thomas Jefferson and Brackenridge—not only hogging the qualifying places but doing the lions share of setting the new marks.

As was the case last year the schoolbooy division of the big cinder path carnival became an intercity affair between the two San Antonio outfits.

Defending Champion Jefferson qualified 10 men for tomorrow's finals while Brackenridge came in with 12.

The university and victory divisions of the exposition meet will hold their preliminaries tomorrow morning. Finals in all divisions will begin in the afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Samuels Sets Mark

Perry Samuels, chunky little sprint star from Jefferson, started wiping out records hung up by his illustrious predecessor — Flyin' Charley Parker—when he raced 100 yards in 9.7 seconds. Parker jointly held the record at 9.9 with Weldon Draper of Fort Worth Central. Parker last year tied Draper's mark, made in 1925.

This was just one of three records set by Jefferson entries. The 440-yard relay team made up of Jack Jones, Pat Fischer, Perry Biles and Samuels raced to a time of 44.1 seconds—three-tenths of a second under the 1944 mark set by Jefferson.

Then the Jefferson mile relay team whipped out a 3:32.1, and that was a tenth of a second better than the old record made in 1937 by Brady. This was the oldest mark wiped from the books today. The Jefferson team was composed of Paul Carter, Gordon Moore, Biles and Fischer.

August Erfurth of Brackenridge ran the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.9 seconds, one-tenth of a second under the old mark by Jim Compton of North Dallas in 1942.

Record Breaking Tie

The final record came in the 200-yard low hurdles and reached the unusual inasmuch as two runners tied for first in their heat and both broke the record. They were Tom Watt of Brackenridge and Hubert Bay of Cushing, Okla. They each raced the hurdles in 23 flat, a half-second under the old record of 23.5 set by Claude Allen of Midlothian in 1944.

Sunset (Dallas) qualified for eight places in tomorrow's finals while Brownwood showed seven. Adamsoon (Dallas) and John Reagan (Houston) were next in line with six each.

Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), Abilene, Austin and North Dallas qualified five apiece.

Strong competition in the finals of the mile tomorrow was indicated in today's prelims that saw three of the four heats produce times of under five minutes. The best was by Gordon Moore of Jefferson, who edged out Rolfe Beaudry of Adamson (Dallas) in 4:52.4.

Harold Clark, Highland Park (Dallas) giant pitched the shot 46 feet, 7½ inches to lead that event.

Brackenridge's sprint relay team turned in a time of 44.2 in the heat immediately following Jefferson's record-breaking effort.

Jack Simpson of Woodrow Wilson (Dallas), Cliff Dean of Lubbock and Carl Monroe of Shawnee, Okla., each soared 11 feet to top the pole vault qualifiers.

Randal Clay of Pampa led the discus throwers with a pitch of 130 feet, 6 inches while all qualifiers hit 5 feet, 6 inches in the high jump. In the 440-yard dash Desmond Kidd of Austin turned in a time of 52.1 to lead the way and Bill Grimes of Comanche, Okla., broad jumped 22 feet, 9 inches to go far ahead of the field.

Gunder Haegg To Seek First Win

CHICAGO, March 16 (AP) — Gunder Haegg, who set 10 world records in 100 days three years ago but who has trailed American runners twice in the last two weeks, will make another effort to regain some of his lost prestige here tomorrow night.

Haegg will run in the Bankers' mile, feature of the ninth annual Chicago Relays, against three of the runners who showed him their spikes the last two weeks in New York.

The Swedish ace, who won eight straight races in his first American tour in 1943, worked out twice today on the turf of Lincoln Park. When he had finished, he said, through his interpreter, Haaken Lidman, Swedish sports writer and hurdler:

"I am in much better shape than last week. I should do better."

Haegg gave the impression he intended to wipe out the two defeats by Rafferty, whose best time this season is 4:13.

In addition to Rafferty, from the New York Athletic club, Haegg will oppose Rafferty's clubmate, Ens. Tommy Quinn, Rudy Simms of the New York Pioneer club, and Bob Hume of Michigan, co-holder with his twin brother, Ross, of the Big Ten indoor mile crown the last two years.

The race will be Haegg's third indoors. He planned a brief workout on the boards of Chicago stadium tonight to familiarize himself further with running on the smaller oval with banked curves.

Loyola, Pepperdine To Play For Title

KANSAS CITY, March 16 (AP)—Loyola university from New Orleans and Pepperdine college, a Los Angeles entry, won their way into the finals of the National Intercollegiate basketball tournament tonight, Loyola squeezing out a hair-raising 37-35 victory over Southern Illinois and Pepperdine overwhelming Eastern Kentucky State Teachers 52 to 34.

The championship game will be tomorrow night in Muincipal auditorium, with tonight's semi-final round losers playing for third place in a curtain raiser.

JUST AN EXPERIMENT

BATON ROUGE, La., March 16 (AP) — Coach Bernie Moore of Louisiana State, says he is "merely experimenting" with the "T" formation at the current spring drills.

Invitation Cage Meet Set Today

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP) — College basketball's World Series, a two-tournament affair leading to the crowning of the champion on March 29, opens in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night with two of the first round games in the National Invitation tournament.

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, N. Y., whose 13 straight victories comprise the only perfect record in either the Invitation or the NCAA tournaments, tangles with Bowling Green of Ohio in the opening encounter Tennessee's defensive-minded Southeastern Conference five meets the razzle-dazzle Rams of Rhode Island State in the second game.

The other four teams in the Invitation tournament come together Monday with top-seeded De Paul playing West Virginia and St. John's, winner the last two years, taking on Muhlenberg. The winners of the two nights of play will decide their finalist on Wednesday before the eight teams in the NCAA competition take over the spotlight in the Garden and Kansas City's Municipal auditorium.

Kentucky, Southeastern Conference titleholder; Ohio State, runner-up for the Big Ten crown; New York university and Tufts settle their argument for the Eastern NCAA championship in the Garden March 22 and 24. In Kansas City the Western division winner will be decided on March 23 and 24 from a field composed of the Oklahoma Aggies; Utah, last year's NCAA champion; Arkansas and the winner of the Oregon-Washington State series.

The finals of the Invitation will be played March 26 with the East and West champions of the NCAA coming together in the Garden on the following night. Two nights later the two tournament winners clash for the mythical National championship with all of the receipts going to the Red Cross.

Southwestern Noses By Aggies In Opener

COLLEGE STATION, March 16. (AP)—Lefty Cox of Southwestern university scattered six Texas Aggie blows and held them to three runs while his teammates from Georgetown pushed across four runs to win the opener of a two-game baseball series here today.

J. Smith of the Aggies held the Pirates to four hits, but one was a first inning homer by Means.

The Pirates errored six times while the Aggies bobbled thrice, but costly errors they were. Each team scored in the first. Southwestern scored one in the second and again in the fourth, but the Aggies tied it up with two in the fourth.

The Pirates scored the clincher in the seventh when Stone got on base on an error, stole second and scored on a throw into center field by Katt, Aggie catcher.

Hunt Pioneers Take Two More Victories

The high scoring Hunt Pioneers, both boys and girls, won their fourth straight victory in the Lubbock grade school volleyball conference, winning both ends of a twin bill over the Sanders Steers.

Hunts boys romped to an easy 44 to 5 victory, while the girls were winning 28 to 11. Patricia Ray was the high scorer for the girls, with Norman Lindsey setting the pace for Hunt's boys.

Wick Mason Dies Feb. 19 Of Wounds Suffered On Iwo

Pfc. Wilford "Wick" Mason, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Mason of Plainview, died Feb. 19 on Iwo Jima of wounds he received while fighting Japanese with his unit, the Fifth Marine Division, on the island.

The parents received the telegram Wednesday afternoon, telling them of their son's death. The War department gave no details.

Wick Mason played in 1942 with the Texas Tech Red Raiders, and was rated as one of the greatest halfback prospects in the history of the school. He came to Texas Tech for the one year, and entered the Marines Feb. 12, 1943, two years and one week before being killed in the bitter fight for tiny Iwo Jima.

Young Mason made a great record with Plainview High school before he came to Texas Tech, and was rated as one of the greatest high school backs in the state during his last of three years in which he lettered for the Bulldogs.

The thundering cleats of Wick, and his twin brother, Mick, made grid history at the Hale county school. In his last season at Plainview, Wick Mason was a unanimous choice as an All-District 1-AA back, and played on the West all-star team in Wichita Falls' annual Oil Bowl classic in 1942 before enrolling at Texas Tech.

His twin brother, also a Tech star of the 1942 season, is Pfc. Milford "Mick" Mason, and is now stationed in France. Two other brothers are in the service, and are M/Sgt. Henry Mason who is stationed at Liberal, Kansas, and MoMM3/c Johnny Mason who is stationed on the U. S. S. Alchiba.

Besides his parents and brothers in the service, survivors are three brothers, L. H. Mason of Tahoka and Aldridge and Tylman Mason and a sister, Mrs. R. C. Poage, all of Plainview.

Mason was born at Foreman, Arkansas, and moved to Plainview when he was eight years old.

Hope And Crosby To Play Golf Exhibition

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., March 16 (U.P.)—Bob Hope and Bing Crosby, two of Hollywood's top golfers, will face each other—with servicemen partners—in a benefit match Sunday on the O'Donnell Golf course.

Capt. Jack Anderson, 1937 junior champion, will be Hope's partner. Crosby will team with Sgt. John Oliver, Texas amateur. Proceeds go to the athletic fund of the 21st Ferrying Group base, to which both soldiers are attached.

Muncrief Heads For Browns Spring Camp

HOUSTON, March 16. (U.P.) — Righthander Bob Muncrief of the St. Louis Browns' pitching staff left his Houston shipyard job today to join his American League teammates at their Cape Girardeau, Mo. training camp.

Muncrief, who went to the St. Louis club from the South (Texas) Coast Victory League last April, won 13 games for the Browns last season. He spent the winter working at Houston's Brown shipyards.

Phillips 66, Denver Are Cage Favorites

DENVER, March 16 (AP)—The champion Phillips 66 team and the Denver entry, co-finalists in six of the last eight tournaments,

WON'T ENTER MEET

DAYTON, Ohio, March 15 (AP) — The Dayton Inland Manufacturing Co. basketball team, winner of the State AAU tournament last week at Springfield, withdrew today from the National AAU tournament at Denver, Colo., after draft boards informed members that their deferments as war workers might be cancelled if they made the trip. The tournament lasts a week.

again appeared the teams to beat as quintets started to arrive in Denver for the 1945 National AAAU basketball championship opening Sunday. The final game will be played March 24.

Phillips, from Bartlesville, Okla., ruled the favorite to repeat its 1944 and 1943 triumphs. Except for veteran guard Fred Pralle, forced into idleness by a weakened knee, the Oilers will open defense of the title with virtually the same squad which won last year plus a few additions.

The Denver entry, the Ambrose Jelly Makers, will count heavily on two veterans, Center Bob Gruenig and Guard Jack McCracken, to carry them to the finals and another shot at the title.

The Oklahoma team won in 1940, 1943 and 1944, and Denver won in 1937, 1939 and 1942.

Seeding of eight teams and pairings for the opening round will be made early tomorrow.

Lamesa Girls Take Opener In Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, March 16 (AP) Lamesa, Ritchey Grocery of Houston, Hughes Tool Co. of Houston, and Orange advanced into the second round of the state TAAF girls' basketball tourney which opened here this afternoon.

Ritchey, favored team, turned back Guiberson Mfg. Co., of Dallas, 36 to 21, while Lamesa stomped Kelly Field Electrical Branch, 42 to 9; Orange defeated Consolidated Vultee of Fort Worth, 31 to 17, and Hughes took a 29-28 overtime period from Weatherford College for girls.

Four other games were scheduled to complete the first round and quarter-finals, semi-finals and finals will be held Saturday.

IRISH LOSE COACH

IOWA CITY, Ia., March 16 (AP) The Press-Citizen said today that Clem Crowe, head basketball coach and football line coach at Notre Dame, had accepted a two-year contract as head football coach at the University of Iowa.

Spring Schedule Greatly Reduced

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP) — Approximately 60 per cent of the 142 games on the major league spring training schedule fall into the category banned by baseball's newest ruling, an Associated Press survey today disclosed.

The Philadelphia Phils, training at Wilmington, Del., saw their spring card crumble from 16 to four games under the plan by which National League President Ford Frick and Will Harridge, president of the American loop, recommended to their clubs that games invloving public transportation be dropped.

The New York Yankees, doing their conditioning at Atlantic City, wiped out 10 of their 16 tilts but probably will arrange others with the Boston Red Sox, practicing at nearby Pleasantville, N. J.

Washington dropped five games with the Phils, New York Giants and Baltimore but hopes to schedule more with the Boston Braves, training at the capital city's Georgetown university field.

Teams training in Indiana—Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Chicago Cubs and Chicago White Sox—weren't sure how the ruling would affect them until they investigated the clause which permits games if one of the clubs is enroute home from its training site.

Probably the least affected are the two St. Louis clubs, the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Philadelphia Athletics, drilling at Frederick, Md., awaited word from Harridge before making any shifts.

SENATORS GET BOOST IN OUTFIELD TALENT

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP) Some relief from outfield worries came to the Washington Senators today in George Binks, Milwaukee graduate who took his first workout. He batted .374 last season.

Word was received that another outfielder, George Chipple, who hit .288 for Montreal in 1944, will report. Harlond Clift, veteran third baseman, wired that he is travelling here with his family from Washington state.

CHOLLY GRIMM HUMS GAY BANJO TUNES

FRENCH LICK, Ind., March 16 (AP)—Let the St. Louis Cardinals take heed! There's a championship air to the tune Manager Charles J. Grimm of the Chicago Cubs is strumming on his famed banjo.

Such key performers as First Baseman Phil Cavarretta, Slugger Bill Nicholson and Pitchers Claude Passeau, Bob Chipman and Hank Wyse still are unreported, but what material is on hand or working out at Los Angeles is nothing to sneeze at in these times.

JOE MEDWICK DRILLS WITH NEW YORK GIANTS

LAKEWOOD, N. J., March 16 (AP)—Joe Medwick, who hit .337 in 128 games last season with the New York Giants, arrived in camp today and participate din a three and one-half hour workout under a hot sun.

Manager Mel Ott announced that Bobby Barthelson and Andy Hansen, right-handed rookie pitchers, had signed contracts.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX HOLD LIGHT DRILL

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 16 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox held a light drill today as Manager Jimmy Dykes rejoiced over the news that veteran outfielder Wally Moses has come to terms with the front office and will report at the training camp here within two or three days. Bill Nagel, third baseman purchased from Milwaukee, also has signed his contract and is expected before the first of the week.

Snead Sets Record To Lead Golf Open

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 16 (AP)—Samuel Jackson Snead, gunning for his seventh triumph in the winter golf tour, fired a course record 65 today to set the pace in the first round of the $10,000 Charlotte Open.

Using only a driver and a wedge on most of the par fours, the long hitting pro from Hot Springs, Va., put together nines of 33 and 32 against par 36-36 to keep a stroke ahead of Harold (Jug) McSpaden.

The previous competitive course record of 66 was set by soldier Dutch Harrison in winning last year's tournament.

McSpaden kept pace with Snead through the seventeenth, but on the home hole he pulled a brassie into a screen protecting a practice tee 60 yards from the green and took a bogey four, which gave him 33-33—66.

Sam Byrd, of Detroit, the former baseball player, lined out a 34-33—67 for third place.

Tied for fourth in the 68 slot were Joe Zarhardt of Norristown, Pa., and Gene Kunes, registered from Hollywood, Fla.

Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, the leading money winner of the year, putted atrociously but still managed to clip two strokes from par. He had a 34-36—70.

Foster Field Plans Strong Baseball Club

VICTORIA, March 16. (AP)—Foster Field, which produced one of Texas' leading basketball teams this season, is all out for baseball with 50 candidates striving for spots on the post nine coached by Lt. Jim Wyatt of Rochester, Texas.

The Falcons open their season March 24 at San Marcos Army Air field. Forty-eight games are already on the schedule which is expected to number 75 to 100 games with Army and Navy nines in the southeastern part of the state.

Baseball is something new at the Victoria Airfield, and a diamond is under construction on the post where week-day games will be played. Sunday contests are carded for Victoria.

Forming the nucleus of the team in the pre-season drills are three players from organized ball. They are Dick Mulligan, who finished the 1941 season with Washington and who is now under contract to the Philadelphia Phillies; Pete Zarilla, property of the Knoxville Smokies of the Southern Association and cousin of the St. Louis' Browns' Al Zarilla; and Hal Phillips, veteran Piedmont and Mid-Atlantic League catcher.

A number of ex-college players and a host of semi-pro and amateur talent is available for the team.

A Hemispheric Puzzler

Wanted: An Economic Stabilizer

AS improved methods of transportation and various and sundry international organization and agreements "make the world grow smaller," the problems of every single nation become the problems of all the rest, in direct ratio to the importance of the individual country.

For instance: One of the basic problems underlying the recent Pan American conference in Mexico City was the Latin American business man's fear of what will happen to their economices if the Allies—and especially the United States—should cut down their purchases after the defeat of Germany and before Europe is sufficiently recovered to buy in their markets.

The best of our business men and financiers admit that no predictions can be made now with certainty that they will hold good in the future. As long as the Pacific war continues, there will be a large demand in this country and, to some extent, in Britain, for Latin American raw materials. But, after that—as the Latin Americans themselves best say, "quien sabe?" Who knows?

At present, the U. S. government has legal and moral justification for piling up goods for possible military and civilian emergencies. To prosper while prospering is good—and, at the same time help keep this country's reserve stock high—our Good Neighbors have geared up their production to an all-time high. Individual business men and firms below the Rio Grande have, to their credit, taken risks beyond the amount of financial help and guarantees given by their own governments and Uncle Sam.

The Latins, of course, are apprehensive that a sudden peace will "pull the rug out from under them." They worry lest they be left with enormous surpluses which cannot be sold at home, or even abroad until Europe gets back on its feet. The result could easily cause stagnation and bring about severe depressions from Mexico to Chile.

We cannot, of course, cold-bloodedly leave our friends in the lurch. After all, we urged them to produce more and more goods that we could have ample materials for prosecution of the war and, at the same time, put an end to the possibilities that some, if not all, Latin American countries might come under the Axis yoke. Yet, on the other hand, with a 300 billion dollar debt growing out of the war and prior New Deal financial juggling, we cannot assume the obligation to keep all the nations of the Western Hemisphere prosperous through the purchase of materials for which we have no use. Should such a thing be attempted, we should plunge ourselves into a worse morass than the Latin American nations.

All the ingredients of a first rate hemispheric problem are already lying about.

No matter how well we do in trying to solve the problem, we cannot solve it alone. Upshot of the whole affair likely will be that our carefully and expensively nurtured Good Neighbor program will go for naught and the postwar years will find more distrust, more open hostility on the part of Latins for the "Colossus of the North" than ever before.

Surely the wisdom of a regiment of modern-day "Solomons" will be necessary to work out of the difficulty which the future seems certain to lodge on the collective doorsteps of the Americas.

Forewarned, the U. S. perhaps can begin now to work on a solution of the eventual problem.

The Teamwork Of War

FIGHTING on battlefields many thousands of miles apart reminds Americans with grim emphasis that wars are still brought to their conclusion, even in this modern age, by the men who fight on the ground. The men who fight on the sea and in the air perform their essential part in the struggle, but the last act still takes place on solid earth.

It has been so in the Pacific, that theater of small but numerous islands dotted over vast expanses of sea, where the Marines on Iwo are even now finishing up some stern business begun months ago by American sailors and airmen. It has been so in Western Europe, as in Italy, where the infantry, tanks and artillery are pushing forward into German territory.

So the dreams of aviation experts who proclaimed at the beginning of the war that air power could defeat the enemy alone have proved to be only dreams. The U. S. has built the greatest air force in the world and the most powerful sea-based air force on the oceans, but neither has been able, by itself, to gain the decision against either foe.

Yet, while Americans may be glad that the nation's military leaders did not put all their eggs in one basket, it is evident that the planes that have been built and the pilots that have been trained have played a great and indispensable part in bringing victory close. If the struggle for supremacy in the air had not been won, the nation would not be in position to finish the job.

Believe It Or Not --- By Robert Ripley

A Song To Remember

By Willard Wiener

(Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.)

THE STORY: At the age of 10, Frederic Chopin's dexterity at the pianoforte has already made him a person of note in the little Polish village of Zelazowa Wola. Count Skarbek, owner of the village, has requested that he play in a public concert at Warsaw. One day while Frederic is practicing for the great event, Professor Elsner, his teacher, arrives quite out of breath and excitedly waves a letter at Monsieur and Madame Chopin.

DISSONANCE

"MY DEAR Professor Elsner," the recipient of the letter read aloud, pronouncing each word with care. "'Thank you for your letter concerning the exceptional talent of your pupil, Frederic Chopin. If the young pianist should ever find himself in Paris, we shall be pleased to give him a hearing.'"

"—Good, eh?"

Nicolas Chopin and his wife exchanged glances.

"'Signed,' Jozef Elsner said, "'Respectfully, Henri Dupont, Secretary to Louis Pleyel.'"

He folded the paper. He returned it to his pocket, then took it out only to return it again, but to another pocket.

Nicolas Chopin touched his chin. "Frederic in Paris? Is that what you have in that head of your?"

"Exactly." And Jozef Elsner tapped his own head. "It's all there."

Nicolas Chopin smiled an unbelieving smile.

"—Yes, indeed," Jozef Elsner said. "How many times I have said it. 'Jozef,' I've said, 'this boy must be heard. The curtains of the world will rise for him. Humph. Where is the world? Warsaw? No. Vienna? No. Paris? Yes, Nicolas. The world is Paris and Paris is the world. And Paris is Pleyel."

Mamma Chopin said: "But Frederic — he is only a child—"

Elsner stopped her. He cleared his throat. "My dear Madame, in Paris, only last month, a pianist made his debut—tch, tch—his name was only now on my tongue. Well, no matter. The point is—ah, his name, I have it — Franz Liszt. But that is not the point, Madame. Forget the name. Only remember this, Madame—his age. Has he reached manhood? No. He is a child. Well, there is nothing wrong with that. That is the way it is done—in Paris!"

"Fritzchen isn't yet 11," Mamma Chopin said.

Monsieur Chopin said: "I do not even think of his age, Jozef."

"Sensible."

"I think only of the money."

"—Money?"

PROFESSOR ELSNER looked into the face of his friend. If he had had the eyes for that sort of thing, which is doubtful, he might have seen in the drawn face of Nicolas Chopin and in the tight little lines about his eyes and mouth the pinched circumstances of the Chopin family. Tutoring boys in French was hardly a lucrative profession.

"Money?" Elsner said.

Mamma Chopin nodded. She had learned of necessity to share her husband's practical outlook. "Only think back," she said. "How long has it been since we have paid you for a lesson?"

"—Tch,tch."

"—And you talk of 'Paris!'"

"Madame, please, I refuse to fill my head with trifles!"

Yet there is was, plain. That is the trouble, always. You have your dream, you carry it in your head for a long time, then suddenly it is knocked out. Jozef Elsner had his dream and he would not have it knocked out so easily.

"I don't say it is Paris tomorrow — or next week. Did I say that ? I don't say that at all. I say, let us think about it —plan for it — save for it. That's all I say. Then it will come. You'll see. Your son, my pupil, is waiting to be heard from, and Paris is waiting to hear him. Those are facts! Facts! You want facts! Well, you have them—facts!"

Then he broke off. Nobody said anything. Izabela was tugging at her mother's dress.

A look, nothing short of transport, was now on Jozef Elsner's face, and on the contented faces also of Mamma and Nicolas Chopin, as the strains of Mozart came from the next room. The "wonderful boy" was at it; playing with calm, with brilliance, with ease.

CHORDS! Chords, mad, wild, dissonant! Mozart no longer! Fingers of any angry man—not a child — were now tearing into the keys. What sounds! What awful, fearful, freightening sounds! Pain —agony—sound—sound — building — bursting — louder — louder — louder!

Jozef Elsner, his ashen face hard set, pushed open the door. The chords, almost deafening, leaped screaming as it seemed to escape the pounding of the fingers of the man, no longer a boy, at the instrument. Jozef Elsner had never heard anything like it.

"—Frederic!"

The cry was a whisper that went unheard in the tumult of screaming chords. He shouted the boy's name again.

"— stop it! Frederic, you'll smash it! You'll smash it!"

The fingers struck — harder — harder. But Frederic's eyes were not on the keyboard; they were fastened on the window, and beyond — yet not on the rain nor at the gray dullness of the, open countryside. They were fixed, as Jozef Elsner now saw, on a herd of bearded men, chained one to the other, slogging through the mud, flanked on either side by soldiers of the Russian Czar.

Jozef Elsner's jaw locked.

The fury, the sound, the tumultuous chords! They were the swelling voices of freedom, of liberation! Voices — with power to arouse all Poles against tyrants!

Such slender fingers; how firm they were.

Thunder — thunder — thunder

Only exhaustion brought sito rend tyrants asunder.

lence.

Osaka Fears Loss Of Military Cache

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16 (AP) The Japanese radio at Osaka, where Superfortresses dropped more than 2,000 tons of incendiaries Wednesday, was heard Thursday night by the Federal Communications commission broadcasting the urgent need of quickly removing a large military stockpile.

"It would truly be a great loss if it were reduced to ashes by fire," the radio said, quoting a staff officer in charge of civilian air defense.

"All this material must be taken out of the city as soon as possible."

The officer urged the evacuation of all sick persons.

American fliers returning from the Osaka raid said violent explosions indicated the huge Osaka arsenal was destroyed. Osaka is Japan's second largest city, having more than 3,000,000 population.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

TWO newspaper items today interested me.

Item No. 1, from London:

Viscountess Astor got up in the House of Commons and expressed her fear that the armistice would not be observed with the proper decorum but by overindulgence. Meditation and prayer were in order, she said, and not carousing.

BRANDEIS

Whereupon Prime Minister Churchill replied that the lady's misgivings were exaggerated, and added that he thought she was too sensitive about tippling.

Item No. 2, from Guam:

(This is from a correspondent in the Pacific.)

"If you are petulant about your hardships at home come to merry Manila, where it's wide open all night — lighted by star-shells, plenty of choice spots near the floor show, a chorus of the shrieks of the wounded and dying—never a dull moment."

Some time ago I wrote a column about this business of celebrating the day of victory.

You should have seen the letters I received. Many of them praised me for considering the day a day of rejoicing, but others damned me for not being a Viscountess Astor and advocating a way of solemn prayer and meditation.

I know I am sticking my chin way out right this minute. But I agree with Churchill—don't be too sensitive about tippling.

I say, let every man and every woman celebrate the day according to the dictates of the heart.

Let the churches be wide open for those who want to mediate and pray. Let there be prayers of thanks and prayers of mourning. Let there be prayers of hope and of consolation.

But let there also be rejoicing, and let us rejoice each of us according to our conscience and our individual desire.

SURELY there will be people who drink too much. But do these people wait for a V-day?

Surely there will be people who will make fools of themselves. But are these people more foolish than those who could have prevented this awful holocaust and did not?

Do we condemn the celebrants of New Year's Eve?

And isn't the coming Victory Day a greater day to celebrate than all the New Year's Eves put together?

Each New Year's Eve there are candlelight services and masses and prayers. The churches are full and so are hearts.

And each New Year's Eve there are celebrations in hotels and night clubs and cafes. They, too, are full, and so are the hearts of the people who look so funny in their paper caps and tin horns.

I don't care how you celebrate Victory Day, as long as you celebrate it.

My wife and I shall go to church and thank God for having spared us the agony of those who had to live through this war in Europe. We shall thank Him for the blessings yet to come and for the new world which we hope will be one of peace. And we shall pray for those who gave their lives so that we may live.

And then, in the evening, we shall go out, and drink a joyous toast to the boys who will make that New World for us—the boys who heard "the chorus of the shrieks of the wounded and dying."

There will be "never a dull moment" on Victory Day!

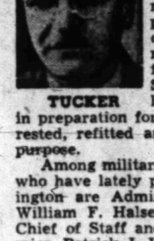

Look Out For April!

It's Always A Momentous Month!

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE month of April will undoubtedly maintain in 1945 the record it has set as the most historic one in the annuals of the United States. While officials here keep their fingers crossed and their tongues tied from force of wartime habit, they intimate, in private, that they anticipate a sensational series of events in Europe, in the Far East and in the United States.

Foremost in their expectations is a collapse of major battlefield opposition by the Germans. That event, the date of which they had fixed tentatively as May 1, may occur even earlier. In addition to our known Rhineland successes, confidential reports of conditions within the Reich and of disaffection among the Nazi High Command warrant a belief in an overnight upset of the Hitler regime.

TUCKER

The next 60 days may also witness a concentrated attack on Japan, including possible landings on her main islands or on the China coast. Under cover of the fierce fighting of Iwo Jima, the United States, Great Britain and China have been exploiting recent gains in preparation for a grand assault. The Allies have rested, refitted and supplied large forces for this purpose.

Among military, naval and diplomatic chieftains who have lately put their heads together in Washington are Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Admiral William F. Halsey, Maj. Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer, Chief of Staff and commander of U. S. China Armies, Patrick J. Hurley, ambassador to China, and Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell. British members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff permanently assigned to the capital have attended these sessions.

The presumption also is that before or after the United Nations' meeting in San Francisco on April 25 Moscow may announce her decision not to renew her present treaty with Japan. This repudiation of the pact would not necessarily lead to immediate Soviet participation in the Far Eastern conflict. But it would serve notice on Hirohito that he stands alone against the armed might of the world.

FAULTFINDERS: Congressional leaders have already taken cognizance of these prospective happenings by entering into a bipartisan arrangement for an unusually long vacation during the Easter period. The national legislature may recess for a "breathing spell" from March 23 to April 9, although some members urge a longer sojourn among their constituents.

A German surrender, or even the occupation of Berlin and other key strongholds by the Allies, will have exciting and far-reaching repercussions on the home front. The end of the European struggle will create a more critical and searching attitude on Capitol Hill on both sides of the middle aisle. Faultfinders, it is believed, will dare to become more vocal when the man regarded as Public Enemy No. 1 has fallen.

Leading Democrats and Republicans have already served notice that they will demand a gradual relaxation of controls over food, gasoline, manpower etc., as well as partial demobilization of units in Europe. They will not insist on immediate lifting of restrictions. But they will throw on administration spokesmen the burden of proof of the need for severe and continued regimentation.

Indeed, the reaction to Allied victories has already been reflected in legislative debates and votes. It explains the Senate's elimination of jail penalties from the House version of the work-or-fight bill. It also accounts for growing opposition to the plan to leave behind vast stores of armament on the continent and re-equip our Far Eastern forces with newly made weapons.

INQUIRY: The House Appropriations committee will resolve itself into an unofficial group to investigate present-day war needs. It will be the first of many investigations which the Congress will undertake from now until many years after the last shot has been fired on the battlefront.

In anticipation of this inquisition, the legislative financiers have deliberately postponed hearings on all major 1946 budget requests, especially military and naval, until late in April. By that time, they believe that they will be in a better position to make a thorough survey of the nation's foreign and domestic prospects and requisitions.

Appropriations bigwigs have already asked FDR aides to be ready with a complete inventory of requirements for the next eighteen months. War Food Administrator Marvin Jones must outline his program for feeding servicemen, domestic consumers and liberated peoples.

War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes will be questioned about his latest intentions as to reconversion of plants to civilian manufacture. Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt will be examined on the subject of employment shifts and opportunities. Army-Navy chieftains will be forced to justify every penny of their demands for prosecution of the struggle in the Far East.

The legislators insist that they want no slackening in the military effort, and that their inquiries will not be unfriendly ones. They count on full cooperation from the White House. As one majority spokesman phrased it, "We simply want to know, Where do we go from here—and Hitler?"

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THE New York Building Trades Employers association is asking for labor union cooperation in urging the government to relax limitation orders on construction which does not interfere with the war effort.

Contractors think the time has almost arrived for them to mix cement and saw planks again. Surveys made among manufacturers indicate that dream houses will not be marketed in large numbers directly after the war but all sorts of new materials and techniques will be available to families who want to build.

Owing to the prolonged fuel shortage, great advances have been made in insulation. A foamed plastic of liquid resin is poured between plaster and outside walls; it expands to many times its original size and fills every crevice. Improved cotton strips to keep out the cold are mildew, vermin and fire resistant.

LEMAN

Loose windows have always been the bane of housewives in winter. A special arrangement of a small regulated air space between two panes will tighten them. Plexiglas now used on airplane noses will be a feature in residences.

Submarine requirements inspired the making of a unique small electric heater with aluminum fins that can be hung on a house wall; it is controlled by a thermostat.

Another invention is the "hot rock." Firebricks are wound with electric wire through which a current flows all night. During the day the heat is drawn off by furnacelike pipes. It is a modern version of the old soapstone which warmed Grandpa's bed.

The coal industry has ready a kitchen range that eliminates smoke and gas by burning them. Ashes from it are one-third of those made by the ordinary stove. Each unit stands three feet high and two feet square yet it can make five rooms cozy.

If plans of the Bonneville Power Administration materialize, nearly 25,000 new buildings and reconverted homes in the Pacific Northwest will be warmed by cheap electricity from the titanic Columbia river project. Engineers maintain that once the program is set in motion the average cost of the juice will be $400 annually—a figure lower than the price of oil, gas or coal.

From a soldier's letter: "I have been transferred from where I was to where I am, and indications are that I shall be stationed here for several weeks, months or years." (Passed by the censor.)

A toast: Here's to the women, who made us men what we are today! . . . (And just look at us!)

The Buildings Are There But Spirit Is Gone

Paris: "A City Of The Dead"

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

PARIS.—This city is almost like a city of the dead. As you wander down its streets you have the feeling that a funeral has passed, just five minutes before.

Physically everything is here —the same buildings, the same wide Champs Elysees, the Place de la Corcorde, the Tuileries, the Arc de Triomphe. But something is missing.

STOKES

The Germans didn't damage the city. They felt it was their own. But the spirit of these people is gone. It is hoped earnestly, by all of us, that it shall return, but you don't know.

I write as no expert on Paris. I write as one who knew it once, briefly, when I was young and it was gay. But being in Paris for even a short time was an experience never forgotten.

The only other time I saw Paris was in 1927. My wife and I were on one of those tours of Europe that they map out for you back home—in our case a friend who once had conducted such tours—with everything carefully planned, so long here, so long there, with this and that hotel designated because it was cheap and clean. The schedule of tips was carefully made out, so much to the maid of the floor, so much for the man who drew the bath (a ceremony) and so on.

Earlier Thrills Recalled

We came, toward the end of the trip, to Paris after seeing London and crossing over to Ostend and then to Brussels, to Cologne for the cathedral, and down the Rhine on a Sunday, with the olive trees on the slopes and the castles seen through a mist of Moselle wine, to Bingen where a holiday crowd paraded through the streets on a sunny afternoon with a band. And to Switzerland and the Alps (and the high prices) and through Italy, then back up the Mediterranean coast and to Paris, there to spend what we had left, saving just enough to get back to New York.

We lived in a hotel in Montmartre and we celebrated one night with a bottle of champaigne which was brought to our table with that ceremony that only the French have—if you have the price—and we floated out, two very happy youngsters and wandered down the streets and looked at the exhibitions of the street artists. We bought a picture that looked like "September Morn" — if you are middle-aged you will remember that — because the artist looked so forlorn and was gracious when we paid him the $4 in American money.

WE WERE young and gay. And so was Paris. But it's very different now, nearly 18 years later. I felt it even as we cruised over it by air and looked down to see the city, once so beautifully lighted, now shrouded in darkness.

It was cold and dark when we landed a considerable distance outside Paris. We got a bus to go to the city, all of us who had flown the Atlantic. A stoical Frenchman, no longer young, wearing the eternal beret, was at the wheel. A young American lieutenant, who was our guide, tried to tell him, in practically impossible French, where to go.

The driver nodded his head obediently, as he straightened out the situation with a few questions. I though of him, sitting there with his back to me, driving that ramshackled bus. For four years the Germans ordered him around. Now the Americans are here, ordering him around. He has no soul to call his own.

One Of The "Little People"

I didn't associate with politics, with de Gaulle, with the events that shake and shape the world. He is just one of the little men, so like the little people in the United States and everywhere else in the world. What is he thinking? I do not know his language. Shall never know it. Perhaps if we could talk to one another I still would never know.

Down dark, gloomy streets we went into the city. Since then I have seen these Parisians. On Sunday they came out to walk around, but there was something mechanical about it. There is no light in their eyes. They are short of food.

THOSE who have something left are buying in the black markets. Frenchmen, who have what they want are making their profits in the black mraket.

I am not trying to explain it, or condone it. I am just trying to think of that little man driving that bus.

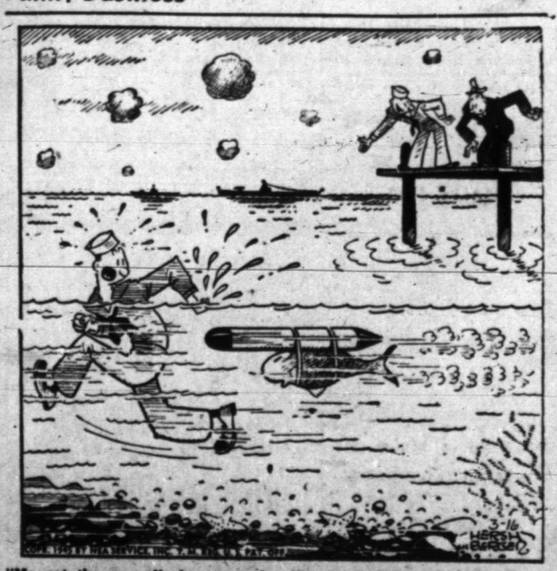

Off in the distance the guns are going, and we are pushing the Germans back. But what about that little man driving that bus?

Constable Captures German Escapees

CORPUS CHRISTI, March 16 (AP)—Two German prisoners of war who escaped last night from the Fort Sam Houston camp at San Antonio were captured tonight by Wiley Williamson, Driscoll constable Sheriff John Harney reported.

Harney said an Army jeep in which the prisoners, Pvt. Fritz Boldt, 18, and Cpl. Henrich De Bold, 26, made their escape was recovered nearby.

Penicillin Placed On Sale Here For General Distribution

Penicillin in ample amounts for injection has been placed on sale at most of the pharmaceutical prescription places in Lubbock, it was announced Friday, a day after the first delivery was made from a wholesale drug concern here.

For a half-year druggists had awaited announcements of release of the "wonder drug" by the War Production board to retailers.

In effect, the making of penicillin available at drug stores, rather than exclusively at hospital depots, is "merely to place penicillin closer to physicians who might need it," said one retail druggist.

"The doctor around the corner, for instance. If he wants a few ampuls (100,000 units each) we rush it up to him, either in its form of the dried powdered sodium salt, or prepared in solution for him."

Not For General Public

Druggists said that, while there is no ban against selling penicillin to individuals who are not doctors, "there would be no logic in their buying it; penicillin vials should be kept at temperatures under 10 degrees centigrade, and since solutions are less stable than dry penicillin, they should be kept at temperatures not exceeding five degrees centigrade. Besides, members of the public probably could not give it properly. Penicillin is given intravenously (by repeated injections or continuous drip), and locally (externally or by injection into the serious spaces of the body).

"Also, dosages vary from one patient to another, depending on the type and severity of infection. And since penicillin is excreted rapidly, intravenous or intramuscular injections should be repeated every three or four hours, or the drug should be administered by continuous intravenous infusion."

Costs of one ampul of the drug will approximate $3, which is approximately half the cost of six months ago, druggists indicated.

Release of the penicillin was made possible by a reserve accumulation aside from that needed for wounded servicemen overseas, it was understood. Distribution here was as high as 5,000,000 units and as low as one ampule.

SPECIALTIES IN SPOTLIGHT

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP) — Buying power continued to center on specialties in today's stock market while many leaders struggled with success against light selling.

Idle money seeking income outlets provided the principal trend prop. Earnings and dividends aided some issues. Transfers of 880,000 shares compared with 800,000 the day before.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .1 of a point at 61.8 with the rail composite edging into new high ground since 1937. Of 902 issues registering, 437 were up against 65 down or unchanged.

A pleasing United Air Lines statement boosted this stock 1⅜ and Eastern Air Lines added 1, both at new 1945 peaks. Grumman Aircraft advanced 1¼.

Railway bonds improved.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—The cotton futures market held a steady undertone today until late trading when prices broke sharply on a flurry of hedging and scattered liquidation. Closing quotations were 5 to 35 cents a bale lower.

The reaction was partly attributed to hedging operations against sales of cotton to Belgium. It was reported that country purchased 46,000 bales against recent offers from the trade. Early gains of 35 cents a bale were influenced by the heavy movement of cotton into the loan and purchase program.

Trading in spot March expired at noon at a final price of 21.95 cents, off 95 cents a bale.

Futures closed 5 to 35 cents a bale lower.

Later, Barlow stood quaking in the colonel's office where he had been summoned.

"Corporal Barlow," said Colonel Kurtz, "I like the way you take care of the east gate. You are now a sergeant."

HOUSTON, March 16. (UP) — Hugh J. Corcoran said today that he has resigned as Houston district manager of the War Production board in accordance with the wishes of regional WPB Director George L. Noble, jr., of Dallas.

(Noble was quoted in Dallas as saying: "I decided to make a change in the management of the Houston office so that efficiency and service can be improved." The regional WPB chief was said to have expressed a desire to "get a man with a fresh viewpoint.")

Robert C. Stryker of Dallas, deputy regional director, took control of Corcoran's office and said he would be acting district manager until the $7,200-a-year job is filled by the Civil Service commissioner. He said Corcoran's resignation was effective last Tuesday.

Corcoran issued a brief statement saying "It's a long, complicated story which eventually will come out."

House Recall Of Measure Fails

AUSTIN, March 16. (AP)—An initial attempt in the House to recall from the governor's desk a bill raising the state property tax rate for schools failed today.

The resolution, which may be considered again next week, automatically was dropped when time for consideration of resolution expires.

Rep. C. S. McLellan of Eagle Lake introduced the measure on grounds that when the House passed the bill some members did not know it increased the tax rate from 17 cents to 35 cents, the constitutional maximum.

Topheavy Majorities

(The bill received topheavy majorities in House and Senate).

It is a companion measure to a bill permitting full distribution each year of all moneys received by the available school fund from which is paid the per capita scholastic apportionment. The current apportionment is $25 and sponsors of the new legislation estimated the apportionment will increase to about $31.

Rep. Joe Humphreys of Abilene, author of the two bills, declared recall of the tax measure would be regretted by House members voting for recall.

"Recall it and you will face the necessity of cutting teachers salaries at a time when you are raising salaries of state officials and other employes."

Other House Action

In a brief session preceding adjournment until Monday the House also:

Refused to print on minority report (which would have had the effect only of keeping it alive on the calendar) a resolution submitting a constitutional amendment to prohibit the separation of mineral and fee simple interest on property for more than 15 years unless mineral production is obtained;

Refused to suspend rules for immediate consideration of a resolution creating a five-member general House investigating committee with authority to inquire into violation of all laws;

Hear Radio Program

Adopted a resolution by Rep. Jo Ed Winfree of Houston inviting a commercial radio program (Vox Pop) to broadcast from the House at the convenience of the program management which includes Park Johnson, a Texan.

Rep. Dan Kirby of El Paso spoke against the resolution declaring: "Why should the people be made to pay us while we sit here and listen to a radio program? We have more than 700 bills to consider."

Winfree countered that it would be an honor for the House to hear the program, since a Texan of national prominence was its director.

Gen. Patrick Killed By Concealed Japs

WITH U. S. SIXTH DIVISION East of Manila, March 14. (Delayed) (AP)—Bullets from a concealed Japanese machine gun killed Maj. Gen. Edwin D. Patrick at a forward command post of his Sixth division as he sat in a foxhole atop a spiny ridge overlooking a ravine.

In the ravine patrols had killed nine Japanese shortly before Patrick arrived. The Japanese .25 caliber Nambu machine gun, which the GI's know as a woodpecker, opened up from bushes less than 50 yards below the foxhole. Patrick died later from an abdominal wound.

General Patrick, tall, silver-haired, with a booming voice, was the second division commander to be hit by the Japanese while touring Shimbu line positions in the last three weeks. Maj. Gen. Verne D. Mudge of the First Cavalry was hit by a grenade on the southern flank of the same enemy defense line. He is recovering.

Patrick was 51. He was born in Tell City, Ind. His wife, Nellie, lives at Ruidoso, N. M.

Bergman, Crosby, 'Going My Way' Take Filmland's Major "Oscars"

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD, March 16—Ingrid Bergman, all choked up, Bing Crosby, all grins, and "Going My Way" all powerful, today walked off with almost every major "Oscar" at the movie makers' 17th annual award presentation.

"Going My Way," Paramount's picture about two Catholic priests, dragged down seven awards—including four of the six top honors. "Wilson," 20th Century Fox studio's story of the World war I President, followed with six-all technical citations.

"Gaslight" Role Wins

Miss Bergman, who just missed getting an Oscar for her role in "For Whom the Bell Tolls" last year, took top honors for her work in "Gaslight," opposite Charles Boyer, Crosby's award was for his role in "Going My Way."

Approximately 2,000 persons, including movei celebrities and every fan who could afford a ticket jammed Grauman's Chinese theater to witness the presentations.

Leo McCarey, who produced, directed, and wrote "Going My Way," was high point man for the evening. Twice he dashed down the aisle to grab one of the plastic (gold sprayed) statues — one for the best direction and another for the best original story.

Best Supporting Role

Barry Fitzgerald, be-spectacled priest of "Going My Way" who also was nominated for the best actor award, picked up his "Oscar" for the best supporting role. Ethel Barrymore, first lady of the American stage, topped the list as the best supporting actress. She wasn't there, so Charles Koerner, RKO chief, accepted the award for her.

Bob Hope kept the presentations hopping along at a merry clip and even got an award for himself — a life membership on the board of the academy of motion picture arts and sciences.

"Every year they slip me a consolation prize," he said sadly. "I wondered what excuse they'd think up this time."

Just before the presentation of the major awards Hope announced a fifteen minute intermission—so the ushers could sweep all the finger nails out of the aisles.

Child Star Winner

Tiny Margaret O'Brien, 8-year-old actress, won a miniature "Oscar" as the outstanding child star. She said she couldn't think of anything to say so she kissed Hope instead.

Norma Shearer, widow of producer Irving G. Thalberg, looking sleek in a clinging orange gown with a plunging neckline, presented the Irving G. Thalberg memorial award to Darryl F. Zanuck, vice president of 20th Century-Fox. The honor goes each year to the producer who contributed most to the motion picture industry.

Lamar Trotti took top honors for the best original screen play with "Wilson" and Frank Butler and Frank Cavett for the best written screen play with "Going My Way."

Other Winners

Other winners were: Leon Shamroy for his color cinematography in "Wilson;" Joseph Lashelle for his black-and-white filming of "Laura;" James Van Heusen and Johnny Burke for their original song "Swinging on a Star" from "Going My Way;" May Steiner for his musical scoring of "Since You Went Away."

Morris Stoloff and Carmen Dragon for their scoring of the musical "Cover Girl," Edwin B. Willis and Paul Huldschinsky for interior decoration in "Gaslight," and Wiard Ihnen for his color art direction in "Wilson."

Cedrick Gibbons and William Ferrari for their art direction in the black-and-white "Gaslight;" MGM for their special efforts in "Thirty Seconds Over Tokyo," E. H. Hansen for his sound recording of "Wilson" and Barbara McLean for her film editing of "Wilson."

"The Fighting Lady" and "With the Marines at Tarawa" took top honors as documentary films Best one-reeler was "Who's Who in Animal Land," best two-reeler "I Won't Play;" best cartoon "Mouse Trouble."

The academy didn't forget the boys in the mechanical department. They gave one fellow a citation of merit because he thought up a new boat-rocker.

Scout Chief Cites Homefront Letdown

Citing the terrific letdown in the American home of today, G. M. Unger, area executive of the Boy Scouts of America, spoke at the luncheon of American Business club Friday in Hilton hotel.

"American fathers have become the greatest 'buck passers' in regard to relations in the home," he said, adding that homes are much different now than "when we were boys." He said that families then were closely knit as a unit with a common relationship, but now about the only time the family is together is around the dinner table.

Unger said that many fathers tell their children that they think the Sunday school teacher is doing a wonderful job with the children and also about what a wonderful church they attend, but then drive them to the front of the church and tell them to get out, that they have to go somewhere else. "We as fathers have a definite responsibility in the religious education of our boys and girls," he said.

The Scout executive was introduced by Bert Pinson, program chairman. Guests included Lt. J. H. Whiteside, jr., USNR; F/O George Sviess, Army Air forces, and Dan McNaughton of Plainview. President Jimmie Wilson presided.

Town Holds Unique Immunization Mark

HALLETSVILLE, March 16 (AP) Hallettsville today became what health authorities asserted is the first city in the world entirely immunized against typhus fever.

Adding to the oddity was the fact that 2,200 persons registered for vaccination and Hallettsville's population is 1,500. The reason is that all persons in one county precinct joined the program too.

Car Troubles Don't Come Singly Here

When Capt. Robert L. Metz, 30, of Lubbock Army Air field, returns from a cross-country flight Monday, he will wish he had kept to the air permanently after he finds out about his car.

On Feb. 23, Capt. Metz was driving his 1941 Buick sedan at Main street at Ave. K, and another car plowed into the left side of his vehicle.

A 19-year-old girl, Miss Ollie Mae Brock of Lubbock route 6, made a settlement agreement with Capt. Metz, and the car was taken to a body and fender works for repairs.

The repairs were completed Thursday and E. M. Smith of Smith Body works was returning the car to LAAF. He got to Main and Ave. Q, where the car was rammed in the other side, so back to the body works it went again.

Police, authority for reports of each wreck, said the Thursday collision was at 6:30 p.m. and that the other car was driven by Mrs. Troy Peeples, 28, of 1905 Ave. N. She was driving north on Ave. Q, Smith west on Main.

Capt. Metz, a ground instructor, came to LAAF from an Army field at West Point; the car was registered in Arizona, and he "calls Oklahoma home." He was a flight officer on a foreign front before resuming duty in the States.

Labor Saving Device Show Slated Today

Everything from a pea sheller to a 10-row "sand fighter' will be on display at the Lubbock County Labor Saving Device show today on the campus of Texas Tech, said members of the exhibits committee Friday as all arrangements were completed.

The show, first of its kind ever held here, will open at 10 a. m. and will close at 4 p. m., with special demonstrations being given from 2 to 3 p. m. The exhibits will be in and near the livestock pavilion, southwest of the new agricultural building.

H. M. Read, assistant county agent in charge of Johnson grass eradication, has contacted farmers and implement dealers and has secured several types of equipment to be used in the Johnson grass control program. He says that a feature of the show will be "Johnson grass row."

Several people from the Texas A. and M. Extension service and several farm editors of Texas papers are expected to attend.

Grandell Named New Adjutant In Eighth

DALLAS, March 16 (AP)—The Eighth Service command announced today the assignment of Col. Edwin P. Crandell, West Point graduate and veteran of the New Guinea campaign, as adjutant general.

Col. Crandell succeeds Col. Marvin D. Steen, who will leave Dallas this week to assume command of the adjutant general's depot at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

Tech Rifle Team Tops In Eighth

Ranking above Oklahoma A&M college, Oklahoma Military academy, Louisiana State university and Texas A&M college—Texas Tech's ROTC Rifle team won first place, with a total of 3,683 points, in the senior division of the Eighth Service Command Intercollegiate Small Bore match for 1945, according to Maj. Charles F. Hartman, head of the military science and training program at Tech.

Final scores were close with Tech leading over Oklahoma's A&M team by ten points. Military officials at Headquarters of the Eighth Service Command, Dallas, named Tech high scorer after judging reports mailed in from college contestants.

To National Match

Victory in this match qualified Tech's team to compete in the National Intercollegate Small Bore match for 1945. Maj. Hartman said firing for this match will begin soon. "Credit for the excellent showing of the Tech Rifle team goes to S/Sgt. George W. Chavis, team coach, who put in long hours training the boys. We are proud of the results the team has achieved, "Maj. Hartman said.

Representing Tech, team members were Edward Graf, James Springer, Avery Jackson, Charles Sylvester, James Burris, Roy Dunlap, Joe Barabee, Walter Waltholl, Nolan Gregston, Jack Barnett, James Cunningham, Lloyd Rudolph, Earl Sears, Norland Havran and James Hewlett. Springer led with a total of 381 points in the ten high scores for each Tech man submitted in positions of sitting, kneeling, standing, and prone.

Beat New Mexico Aggies

These same ten men recently defeated New Mexico A&M with a score of 1,859-1,684, and won by forfeit over the University of Arkansas.

In the recent nation-wide Hearst Trophy Rifle competition, Tech's team won first place among senior units where military science is not compulsory. Earlier in the season, the team was defeated in two paper matches against Oklahoma A&M and the Naval ROTC unit at the University of Texas. A five-man team, Springer, Sylvester, Graf, Dunlap and Farabee, fired for these matches.
