By KIMBERLY THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

A union representative at the local Texas Rural Legal Aid office said Monday she believes the "seriousness of the situation" - concerning wages for local TRLA workers - was made evident by Friday's walkout.

Cecilia Garza, spokesperson for the Texas Legal Services Union, said the union's executive committee will now begin planning a strategy with which to confront David Hall, executive director of TRLA's main office in Weslaco.

"I believe we made our point," she said of Friday's strike. "We think it will just be a one-day thing. We're not ready to go on extended strike at this point."

The 10 employees at the W Highway 60 office closed the facility on Friday, picketing outside while a light drizzle fell and the temperature stayed in the middle 40s.

Complaining that they have worked all of this year without a contract, TRLA workers Friday blasted Hall and criticized the Reagan administration for budget cuts that affect legal services agencies.

The TRLA programs are funded by a Congressional appropriation to the Legal Services Corporation.

Hall, reached at his Weslaco office Monday, said he was understanding of the local employees' gripes but that he had no money to give them. He claimed the budget is already overspent in an effort to keep TRLA's various branch offices open.

Garza said non-monetary considerations, such as vacation and compensatory time, have already been worked out between Hall and the union.

"We hope to begin negotiations on the monetary part," she explained. "We're ready to sign the rest of the contract the way it is."

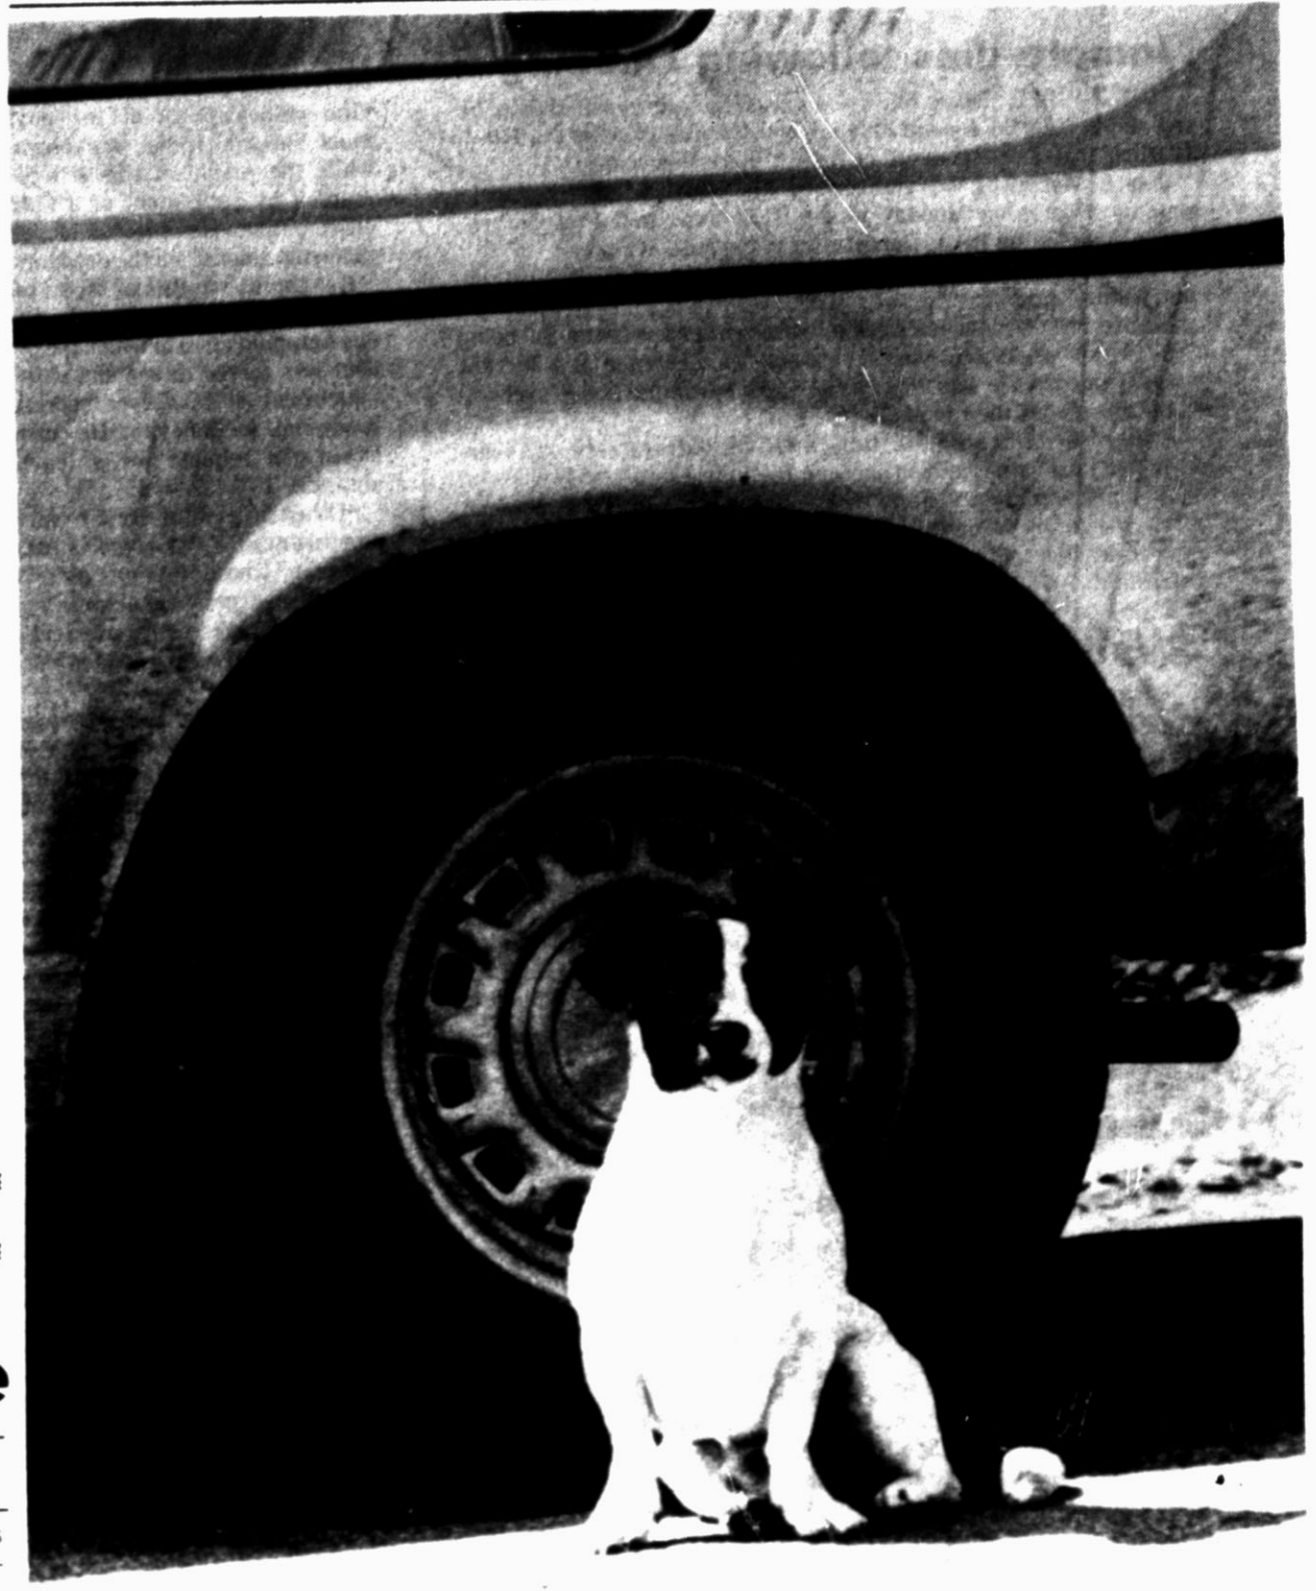

A secretary and administrative assistant for the past 18 months, Garza represented the class of local Hispanics who claim they were the victims of discriminatory hiring practices on the part of Deaf Smith County. Federal Judge Mary Lou Robinson last month signed a remedial decree which provides for injunctive and monetary relief to members of the plaintiff class, of whom she earlier ruled in favor.

Garza said she thought negotiations over the money issue would begin later this week, despite Hall's statements that this year's budget will not allow salary increases. Garza said she will fly to Weslaco to take part in the meetings.

Hall said next year's appropriation from Congress is expected to increase and hopes the TRLA programs will receive more money.

"We've been living beyond our means for the last year and a half," he commented Friday.

Donovan indicted, steps aside

By MERRILL HARTSON
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan, his term in the Reagan Cabinet plagued by allegations of past wrongdoing, is fighting to hold onto his job in the face of a grand jury indictment he says "is not worth the paper it's written on."

On leave of absence without pay

Donovan, a onetime New Jersey construction executive who survived investigations by a Senate committee and an independent special prosecutor in 1982, announced late Monday that he is taking an unpaid leave of absence.

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said President Reagan approved the leave. "The president is comfortable with the precedent of innocent until proven guilty," Speakes said as he accompanied Reagan on a campaign trip in Mississippi.

Donovan said he was "outraged and disgusted by the obviously partisan timing" of the indictment which came from a Bronx, N.Y., grand jury investigating allegations that he once took part in a scheme to misrepresent the work of a minority subcontractor on a New York subway project.

Explaining why he volunteered to step aside, the blunt-spoken Donovan said, "My concerns are that my family has to endure this mindless inquisition and that this does not reflect upon the president."

Donovan, a part-owner and former executive vice president of Schiavone Construction Company of Secaucus, N.J., was being arraigned in New York today along with company president Ronald Schiavone and six other officers.

Although Donovan volunteered to step down temporarily "to assure that this matter does not become a part of the current election campaign," he also declared, "I fully expect to resume my duties just as soon as this injustice has been dealt with."

Donovan, who testified before the county grand jury on Sept. 24, accused Bronx County District Attorney Mario Merola, a Democrat, of having political motivations. The 54-year-old secretary said he had passed a polygraph test taken at his request "with flying colors" and voiced confidence of "ending once and for all this witch hunt."

Ford B. Ford, undersecretary of Labor, the No. 2 department officer and former head of the Mine Safety and Health Administration, becomes acting secretary while Donovan fights the indictment.

Donovan, a 1952 graduate of Notre Dame Seminary in New Orleans, has been dogged by a wide variety of allegations of past misconduct as a construction executive.

He had scoffed at the Bronx grand jury proceedings as "a reshuffle" of allegations that were investigated by Leon A. Silverman, an independent special prosecutor named to probe Donovan in 1982 — at Donovan's request — under provisions of the Ethics in Government Act.

"I've paid the full price of admission, and I intend to stay for the double feature," the secretary said in an interview last year when asked if he would serve in any second Reagan administration.

Donovan's problems began in December 1980, before Reagan was inaugurated, when he acknowledged that he had been questioned in 1969 by federal agents concerning a New Jersey kickback scheme. No charges were ever filed.

Rogers' family gets certificate

The family of the late Johnnie K. Rogers, a Hereford native and U.S. Army veteran, recently received a certificate of recognition awarded in Rogers' memory by President Ronald Reagan.

Rogers died May 31 at the age of 55. He had lived in Amarillo the past eight years after retiring from 21 years of service in the Army Airborne Division.

A paratrooper for most of those Army years, Rogers served 36 months during the Korean War and saw 63 months of combat in Vietnam. He retired as a staff sergeant.

Rogers was the nephew and foster son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Loving of Hereford. He was also the nephew of Hereford residents Mr. and Mrs. Gene Bishop.

He was married to the former Polly Young of Hereford. She now resides in Amarillo.

Church microphones stolen

Four microphones from two churches were stolen Friday and Saturday, with each case having the same suspect, Hereford police reported this morning.

On Friday between 6:20 and 6:30 p.m., two mikes worth an estimated $150 apiece were lifted from St. Anthony's Catholic Church, 115 N. 25 Mile Ave. San Jose Catholic Church was victimized between 4:35 and 5 p.m. Saturday, with two $130 microphones taken from its chapel.

Meanwhile, Joe Hunter of 119 E. Fifteenth St. reported sugar was poured in his 1979 Chevrolet's gas tank sometime Friday or Saturday. He valued the vandalism at $500.

Police arrested eight people between Friday and this morning, including three for drunk in control of a motor vehicle and two for no liability insurance.

There were two non-injury motor vehicle accidents since Friday.

Strain indicates guilty plea

Hereford area farmer Robert Strain, convicted May 24 of felony theft, has indicated he will plead guilty to the 16 theft indictments still pending against him.

Plea date and trial before the court have been set for Thursday, Oct. 11 at 1:30 p.m. and are to be heard by 222nd District Judge David Wesley Gully. The Deaf Smith County District Attorney's office is expected to offer Strain a probated sentence under terms of a plea bargain agreement.

A district court jury sentenced Strain to seven years probation and a $5,000 fine after finding him guilty of theft over $200 and under $10,000 following a nine-day trial. Of the theft indictments remaining, one is for theft over $10,000 and the remainder are for theft over $200 and under $10,000.

Strain was arrested in August of 1983 and indicted the next month by a Deaf Smith County grand jury after being accused of operating a multi-county fencing operation.

Strain has appealed the May 24 conviction.

Raised Energas rates okayed

By REED PARSELL
Managing Editor

Higher rates for Energas were reluctantly approved Monday evening by Hereford City Commissioners during a regularly-scheduled meeting in City Hall.

"I don't see that we have much choice" was a frequently stated comment concerning the rate hike, which goes into effect for the November billing period.

According to Dudley Bayne, Hereford city manager, Energas originally asked for an $8.9 million increase in revenue. However, a committee representing more than 60 regional cities whittled down the request to a little more than $3.6 million.

As suggested by the committee and approved by Hereford's commission, the net minimum monthly natural gas charge is to go from $4.42 to $4.61, with the gross figures jumping from $4.91 to $5.12. Both represent increases of 4 percent.

A 20 percent hike is to be applied to the first thousand cubic feet (Mcf) used per month, with the net rate going from $5.47 to $6.59 and the gross from $7.32 to $8.08. Twenty-eight and 29 percent increases are to be given to the next three and next six Mcf, respectively.

The only alternative available to commissioners concerning the Energas request, the city manager claimed, was to appeal to the state's railroad commission. Bayne said such a move, though, would not prevent rates from being jacked next month and would cost the county "$200,000" for legal services.

Meanwhile, city fathers spent nearly 15 minutes discussing survey requirements for building permits. Emory Brownlow, commissioner for Place 4, suggested property stakes be made clearly visible before construction work is to be done. That would help prevent people from building too close to their neighbors' property, he thought.

"Basically, it's just to protect people," Brownlow said.

Other commissioners and Mayor Wes Fisher seemed to concur, though it was expressed such a rule might cause lengthy time delays for those wishing to build. The county has just one surveyor, Kenneth Hagar, who the commissioner agreed is now very busy without the extra duty being considered.

City commissioners claim little choice

Joe Reinauer, commissioner from Place 1, wondered if the stake rule could be assigned to "E" and "F" commercial zones only.

It was finally agreed Earnest Langley, city attorney, would draw up an ordinance based on what comments he heard Monday night. Langley said the document would not be completed until the first commission meeting in November, as he will be out of town during the next gathering Oct. 15.

Commissioners also decided to let bids for six police cars. The current law enforcement vehicles are 1983 models and, according to Bayne, each have traveled more than 80,000 miles. Fisher pointed out police cars go at least 200 miles per day, with Brownlow adding they usually sell used for about $2,000.

Hereford's mayor and city secretary were officially authorized by a resolution Monday to have access to a safety deposit box at Hereford State Bank. Bayne explained the box contains one copy of the city's retirement program.

"Of course," he said, "we've not been in it since we got it" several years ago.

Fisher mentioned several people have complained to him about an overabundance of weeds within city limits. The commissioners present R.W. Bud Eades was the only one not in attendance. All nodded their heads when asked by the mayor if they had heard similar comments.

Coming in on Highway 60, it's unsightly, Fisher said. "I don't know what we can do about it."

Langley could offer no solution, either. "This is a problem everywhere," he said. "You run into it, trying to tell someone how to take care of his private property."

Though no action was taken concerning the weed issue, Reinauer stated, "It's something that's pertinent I think we need to address and do something about."

Bayne earlier explained city workers are responsible for mowing only unimproved vacant lots. This year, he said, the city has spent approximately $7,000 combating weeds.

The Oct. 15 commission gathering is also to be held at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall, 224 N. Lee Ave.

Cosmonauts conclude longest space voyage

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet cosmonauts who made history's longest space flight returned to earth safely today and were pronounced well after almost eight months in weightless conditions, the official Soviet news agency Tass said.

Cosmonauts Leonid Kizim, Vladimir Solovoyov and Oleg Atkov returned to earth at 1:57 p.m. Moscow time (5:57 a.m. EDT) after spending 237 days in space, Tass said.

The three completed scientific and

The news agency said the cosmonauts returned to earth in the Soyuz T-11 spacecraft's descent module, touching down east of the city of Dzhezhgazan.

Inmate dies following stabbing

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A prison inmate who died after being stabbed for the second time in six weeks has become the 16th to be killed in a rash of violence in Texas prisons this year.

John S. Martin, 34, was stabbed repeatedly with a single blade of a pair of scissors on Monday in the Ellis Unit, said Phil Guthrie, spokesman for the Texas Department of Corrections.

The killing was the 16th in the TDC this year, and the 290th stabbing, Guthrie said.

Martin, who was transferred to a different prison unit after being attacked six weeks ago, was serving a 55-year sentence for a Tarrant County murder. He was killed as he and other inmates were returning from lunch to their jobs, Guthrie said.

Prison officials were questioning a 30-year-old man serving a four-year sentence for possession of cocaine, Guthrie said.

The approximately 80 inmates who live on the Ellis Unit cellblock where the killing occurred were locked in their cells, Guthrie said.

"The suspect told prison officials the victim had been threatening to hurt him," Guthrie said.

White: voter drive to continue

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White has told President Reagan that Texas will continue its voter registration efforts, despite a warning from Washington.

"We will continue to adhere to our approved election laws," White said in a letter Monday to the president.

"Any attempt to diminish voter participation in the election process would be intolerable and I am sure you would not condone any such effort," White said.

White spent a couple of hours Monday personally distributing copies of Texas' voter registration forms as a way of showing his displeasure at a letter received last week from Washington authorities.

The Washington letter, from the U.S. Office of Personnel Management, warned that the voter registration drives in Texas, New York, and Ohio might violate federal rules against politically influencing state employees.

Wreck's jury selection begins

WACO, Texas (AP) — In a case involving too many people to fit into a courtroom, some of Texas' most distinguished lawyers are gathering in a library building for the wrongful death lawsuit stemming from the deaths of seven men killed when their plane fell apart in 1982.

Jury selection in the suit filed by families of the Central Texas men killed in the May 1982 airplane crash was scheduled to begin today at the Lee Lockwood Texas Scottish Rite Library and Museum.

The trial was moved to the building by 74th State District Judge Derwood Johnson because Waco's courtrooms could not accommodate the number of parties involved.

During pre-trial proceedings Monday, at least 20 attorneys representing the seven plaintiff families and 13 defendants crowded into 74th State District court in an attempt to lay ground rules for the trial, which court officials have estimated might last six weeks.

By WILLIAM M. WELCH
Associated Press Writer

Walter F. Mondale is portraying President Reagan as uninformed, out of touch and refusing to assume "the responsibility of the government for which he was elected," while the president, his trip South marred by indictment of a Cabinet officer, dismisses his challenger as "blowing smoke" on the economy.

Reagan was in Biloxi, Miss., today before heading to Texas on a three-day campaign trip in which the president was forced to contend with the indictment of his labor secretary, Raymond J. Donovan. He granted Donovan's request for a leave of absence.

"I trust in his integrity. I retain full confidence," Reagan said of Donovan, whose dealings as a New Jersey construction executive before joining the administration were the target of a special prosecutor's probe in 1982.

Donovan was indicted Monday by a grand jury in the Bronx, N.Y., apparently becoming the first Cabinet officer ever indicted while still in office. He called the indictment an outrage.

Mondale said through spokesmen that he had no immediate comment on the indictment.

Reagan was ending his Texas tour tonight in Houston, where he was to be joined by wife Nancy and Vice President George Bush for a huge fund-raiser. The $1,000 per ticket affair was expected to raise $2 million for Texas Republican efforts.

Although polls show him trailing badly in the region, Mondale too was campaigning in the South today. His trip to Little Rock, Ark., this afternoon was his last scheduled event before Sunday, with the rest of the week devoted to preparation for his debate with Reagan Sunday night in Louisville.

"I believe we're starting to gain," Mondale insisted Monday. "We don't have any time to spare."

Campaigning Monday in New Brunswick, N.J., Mondale sharpened his attack on Reagan's foreign policy, saying the country needs a president who "masters his government, the essential facts, who is in touch and in charge."

"And it requires a president who stands up and takes the responsibility of the government for which he was elected. And we do not have that today," Mondale said.

He cited a series of reported Reagan misstatements on nuclear weapons, then said: "When the fates of the earth are at stake, good intentions are not enough. And good intentions are all that we have today."

Mondale and running mate Geraldine Ferraro have repeatedly hit Reagan on the recent bombing of the U.S. Embassy annex in Beirut where two Americans died, the third fatal attack on a U.S. installation there in 17 months.

Mondale called the bombing "inexcusable" and said Reagan should drop his "alibis" and accept responsibility.

Reagan answered his opponents on another issue. In Gulfport, Miss., he accused Mondale of "blowing smoke" with his predictions of large federal budget deficits in 1989 under a second Reagan term. He advised his supporters, "Don't trust those professional pessimists."

Campaigning earlier in Detroit,

Reagan ridiculed Mondale for claiming that the only way to control inflation and the federal deficit is to raise taxes.

"Forgive me, but judging from the record of those who are philosophically or constitutionally opposed to what we are doing, we might be better off consulting with astrologers about what the deficit will be in 1989," he said.

In Gulfport, Reagan stopped his motorcade outside the airport to talk to elementary school children who had gathered along the roadway to welcome him.

Religious issues facing Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is beginning its new term by tackling some complex First Amendment issues, including an unusual case involving religious freedom and drivers' license photos.

The court, which already has some other weighty religious issues on its agenda, said Monday it will decide whether states may force motorists to violate their religious beliefs by having their photographs on their drivers' licenses.

The court will review a ruling that barred Nebraska from requiring a license photo for a woman who believes the Bible forbids all "graven images."

As it returned from its summer vacation, the court also decided to take a fresh look at these free-expression issues:

- Whether federal regulators may ban publication of investment newsletters by a man stripped of his license to be an investment adviser.
- Whether to reinstate an invalidated Washington state law that said obscenity is anything that "incites lust."
- And, in the court's first look at gay rights in nearly two decades, whether public school teachers who espouse homosexuality may be fired.

Civil rights deadlock persists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's end-of-session ordeal over civil rights legislation has dragged into another week, leaving a major spending bill on hold while legislators begin to wonder whether the 98th Congress will ever adjourn.

"The light at the end of the tunnel, if it is there, is so indistinct that it is not distinguishable to the naked eye," Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said Monday. The Senate was deadlocked for a fourth day over a House-passed measure to nullify a Supreme Court limit on the application of federal anti-discrimination laws.

The Senate did rouse itself enough Monday to go along with the House and send the president a short-term money bill to keep government offices open until mid-week.

By a voice vote and without debate, the Senate passed the stopgap measure that would keep money flowing at current levels to most of the government until midnight Wednesday.

Hostage negotiations starting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syria's secret service has identified the Lebanese group holding a kidnapped Saudi diplomat and two Americans hostage in Beirut and efforts are under way to free them, a pro-Syrian newspaper reported today.

The newspaper, Al-Sharq, quoted unidentified diplomatic sources as saying Syrian President Hafez Assad was personally involved in efforts to secure the release of Saudi Consul General Hussein Farrash, who was kidnapped at gunpoint in Beirut on Jan. 17.

Al-Sharq said Syrian investigators have established the identity of the group that is holding Farrash, U.S. Embassy political officer William Buckley and Jeremy Levin, the Beirut bureau chief for Cable News Network, an American television network. The two Americans were kidnapped in March.

U.S. Embassy spokesman John Stewart said he had no comment on Al-Sharq's report, which made no mention of a third American kidnap victim, the Rev. Benjamin Weir, who was abducted in mostly Moslem west Beirut last May.

"The American administration has asked an Arab country that previously negotiated the release of American abductees to try to secure the release of the American hostages of Beirut," Al-Sharq said.

'Stung' by Donovan scandal

Reagan campaigns in Rio Grande Valley

By MICHAEL PUTZEL Associated Press Writer

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — President Reagan, stung by the indictment of a member of his Cabinet, pressed his re-election campaign in the struggling Rio Grande Valley today, telling a largely Mexican-American college crowd not to ask for government help unless they really need it.

Reagan moved swiftly Monday night to distance himself from his labor secretary, Raymond J. Donovan, accepting the indicted Cabinet officer's request for an unpaid leave of absence without speaking to the embattled secretary.

Donovan, the first member of a president's Cabinet to be indicted while in office, was to be arraigned in New York on fraud charges growing out of a subway contract his construction firm worked on before he joined the Reagan administration. Donovan dismissed the charges without seeing them, saying they weren't worth the paper they were written on.

Reagan's only public comment was a brief remark to CBS News that he still had "complete trust in (Donovan's) integrity" but didn't have enough information to discuss the indictment report.

The president did not let the indictment affect his campaign schedule, which took him today on a swing through Texas, from the border town of Brownsville to Corpus Christi and on to a $2-million fund-raising dinner in Houston.

In remarks prepared for Texas Southmost College in the Rio Grande Valley, with its high population of impoverished Mexican-Americans, Reagan did not shrink from his theme that self-reliance is preferable to federal aid.

Although he pledged not to cut grants and loans to "students who really need that help," he told his audience, "Those who can do it on their own shouldn't be taking the money we need to help those who couldn't receive a higher education without it."

"We've made it our policy," he said, "to help only those with a clear, demonstrable need."

Reagan coupled his hard line on student aid with a review of what he said has been $100 million in federal aid his administration has provided to the hard-pressed valley region, from Farmers Home Administration loans to families without adequate housing after last winter's freeze to federal matching funds to help build a supermarket in a poor neighborhood.

He acknowledged that the valley has been hard hit by economic problems complicated by catastrophic weather, but he promised it wouldn't be "left out of the American renaissance."

The economic recovery, he said, "is a healthy spiral that is already growing and picking up speed like a whirlwind."

In remarks prepared for an airport rally in the more affluent coastal city of Corpus Christi, Reagan said, "America doesn't need my opponent to rescue us from prosperity."

The Democrats, he said, are running down the administration's "comeback story, trying to make us fear our future." But Reagan said by doing that they are "running down the talent and courage of the America people. And I predict that, come Election Day, they'll be very sorry they did."

"The American people aren't buying that any more," Reagan said. "And something else no one is buying is any scheme for raising federal taxes based on promises from fast-talking politicians that it's somebody else that will pay the bill."

Mondale has proposed an income tax increase, aimed primarily at the higher income brackets, to help combat the record budget deficits of the Reagan years.

"A medical checkup, carried out on touchdown, showed that the cosmonauts got well over the lengthy stay in zero gravity," Tass said.

Radio broadcasts and the Communist Party newspaper Pravda said the record-breaking mission produced important research, particularly on the effects of prolonged weightlessness.

Pravda said the mission yielded almost 25,000 photos of Earth's surface for research purposes.

Besides overtaking the 211-day endurance record set by cosmonauts Valentin Lebedev and Anatoly Berezovoy in December 1982, the mission set three other firsts.

On Aug. 8, Kizim and Solovoy set a record for the longest time spent in space walks on one mission. They ventured outside the station six times, spending 22 hours and 50 minutes working in space.

Ann Landers

Up to state attorney

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am in a second marriage and very happy. My husband does not know my true age and I would prefer that he never find out.

I need to know if there is a punishment for one who misrepresents his or her age on a driver's license. There must be a great deal of interest in this question. Many women falsify their age on legal documents because they don't want it known. Is the penalty a slap on the wrist or something more serious?—No Name For Obvious Reasons

DEAR OBVIOUS: According to Thomas Carlisle, an assistant to the secretary of state of Illinois, people who lie on their drivers' licenses could be guilty of perjury. It is up to each state's attorney to decide what action will be taken.

Incidentally, lying about one's age on a marriage license in Illinois is a Class B misdemeanor, but Bob Morrow in the Kane County state's attorney's office said no one can remember the last time a person was indicted on this charge.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is a letter to everyone who has a "good buddy" who won't mind coming over on Saturday to help with some task, project or chore:

Dear So-called friend: Next time you call Good Ol' Joe at 8 p.m. on Friday to ask him to help you:

- a. paint the eaves,
- b. chop wood,
- c. rewire the basement,
- d. work on your car.

Please ask to speak to me. I'm his wife. I will gladly give you the money to hire a professional to take care of these projects, because it may save my marriage.

Are you shocked? Of course, Joe always says "sure" when you ask a favor of him. He is a sweet, kind-hearted, generous man. These are the qualities that attracted me to him.

Yes, I know I am lucky to have a man like this instead of a lazy bum. The only problem is, I don't have him because friends and relatives like you seem to come first. Get it?—Mariena In Baton Rouge

DEAR MARLENA: Men who follow this pattern sometimes feel under-appreciated at home, so they "earn" their good conduct medals elsewhere. Try a little extra T.L.C. and you might be surprised at the results.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife is irritated because my former wife continues to call my parents "Mom" and "Dad." She refers, however, to my son as "the boy."

I have discussed this with my parents and they would prefer that my ex call them by their first names because they sense some insincerity on her part. She never has a thing to do with them except once a year when we all get together for Christmas.

When I suggested that they make their preferences known, both Mom and Dad said they would rather not get into it with her.

Should I correct my former wife? What is the protocol here?—Inbetweensville In Poughkeepsie

DEAR BETWEEN: Tell her, but don't be surprised if she ignores your wishes. The woman does not sound as if she is interested in promoting good will or doing anything that might make your life more pleasant.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." ## Shower honors couple

Shower Honors Couple

Mr. and Mrs. George Salas III were recently honored with a shower in the Fellowship Hall of the Community Church. Attending the reception, from left to right, were Mrs. Rebecca Herrera, mother of the bride, Lupe Salas, bride, George Salas III, groom, Mrs. George Salas, mother of the groom and George Salas II, the groom's father.

A wedding shower honoring the recently married couple Mr. and Mrs. George Salas III took place in the Fellowship Hall of the Community Church Sunday afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Rebecca Herrera, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Salas II.

Mrs. Mary Casarez, sister of the bride, registered guests at a table lighted by a single white candle in an antique brass holder.

After the guests had arrived, the groom, who plays drums and the guitar, sang two numbers, "Jesus," and "Lord, My Desire," in serenade to his bride and the guests.

The serving table was covered with a red cloth centered with a red and white floral arrangement, with appointments in crystal and white china.

The wedding cake, adorned with red roses, was served by Gregoria Guzman and punch was poured by Viola Ballesteros, both sisters of the bride.

Marycela Gallegos assisted the bride and groom in opening and displaying the gifts.

The bride attended Hereford schools.

The groom, a graduate of Hereford High School, attended Rhema Bible College in Clovis, N.M. last year and completed the Bible courses there. He is presently employed by Red Wing Truck Rental.

Hostesses for the occasion included Mmes. Norma Conrad of Dimmitt, Leta Kaul, Margie Ford, Melanie Wilburn, Esther Culp, Paula Gamez, Sarah Herrera, Joyce Landers, Chris Alexander, Anita Lyons and Yolanda Salas.

4 Around the County

"Quarters for Kids Under Construction" is the theme for the 1984 fund-raising drive for Texas 4-Hers this October. Over 100,000 4-H members across the state will be working towards a goal of $250,000 to be raised throughout the month of October. This "quarters" campaign is being conducted by 4-Hers to raise funds for the "Phase II" construction addition to the Texas 4-H Center.

The Center, built in the early 70's, has housed several thousands of 4-H volunteers, members and Extension personnel for various events such as camps of all types, leader trainings, 4-H junior leadership workshops, senior citizen functions, recreational labs, and subject matter trainings. Available year-round to any 4-H organization in the state, the Center is located on the shore of Lake Brownwood, near Brownwood, Texas.

Remodeling and construction included in "Phase II" will consist of five main projects. First, all roads and parking lots will be paved. Second, a new, three-hundred seat auditorium will be constructed and a chapel and new registration area will be built on the north end of the auditorium. Thirdly, the existing dining room will be remodeled into three large meeting rooms and the present auditorium will be converted into a large dining room. Fourth, a specialized housing unit will be constructed, which will greatly enhance the Center.

The 24-room motel-type facility will include a separate meeting area. The fifth project will be the construction of a livestock training facility which will be used for several types of livestock trainings. It can be used independently from the main facility and will include an arena with bleacher seating, working chutes and pens.

Deaf Smith County 4-Hers will participate in the fund-raising campaign with a goal of $500 set. "Quarters for Kids Under Construction" was developed by 4-Hers and Extension agents from the Panhandle and is designed to raise one million quarters, or $250,000 towards the cost of the one-million dollar renovations. After the funds are raised by the 4-Hers of Texas, the Texas 4-H Foundation will seek funds through private contributors and corporations.

Local efforts are being made by the 4-Hers of Deaf Smith County during National 4-H Week, October 7-13. On Sunday, October 15, 4-Hers will be conducting a door-to-door drive from 2 to 5 p.m. The 4-H organization is seeking quarters from individuals, but will accept donations of any amount. In addition to the drive, cans will be placed around local businesses and financial institutions for individuals to make contributions in. All 4-Hers are reminded to meet at the parking lot of the Hereford Community Center at 2 p.m. Sunday, October 14. Leaders and parents are also encouraged to assist with transportation for the drive. For additional information contact Susan Raney, County Extension Agent at 364-3573.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, or national origin.

IS YOUR INSURANCE AGENT LOCKED INTO ONE COMPANY?

There are 2 ways to buy insurance. You can buy your insurance from a one-company agent. But they're locked into only those policies that their company sells. So their hands are tied.

Or you can buy your insurance from an Independent Insurance Agent...the more-than-one-company agent. You see, a Big "I" Independent Agent like us doesn't work for one company. We represent several. So we're free to give you an independent opinion and advise you on the best coverage at the best price. And that goes for homeowners, automobile, business, life and health insurance.

Before you reach a verdict about insurance, see your Big "I" Independent Insurance Agent...the more-than-one-company agent. Do it today.

DON'T KISS $8,938 GOODBYE

That's how much you could lose just on resale value if you don't buy a John Deere

Looking for a big discount when you buy a tractor? Don't get stuck with an even bigger discount when you want to trade.

Always consider resale value when you price a field tractor. Because the differences among brands may sometimes be bigger than ANY purchase incentive.

Compare John Deere with our two leading competitors. According to the Spring 1984 Official Guide of the National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association, the average 5-year-old John Deere 4440 sells for 106 percent of its 1979 list price. One leading competitor averages 87 percent of its 1979 list price. The other averages 73 percent.

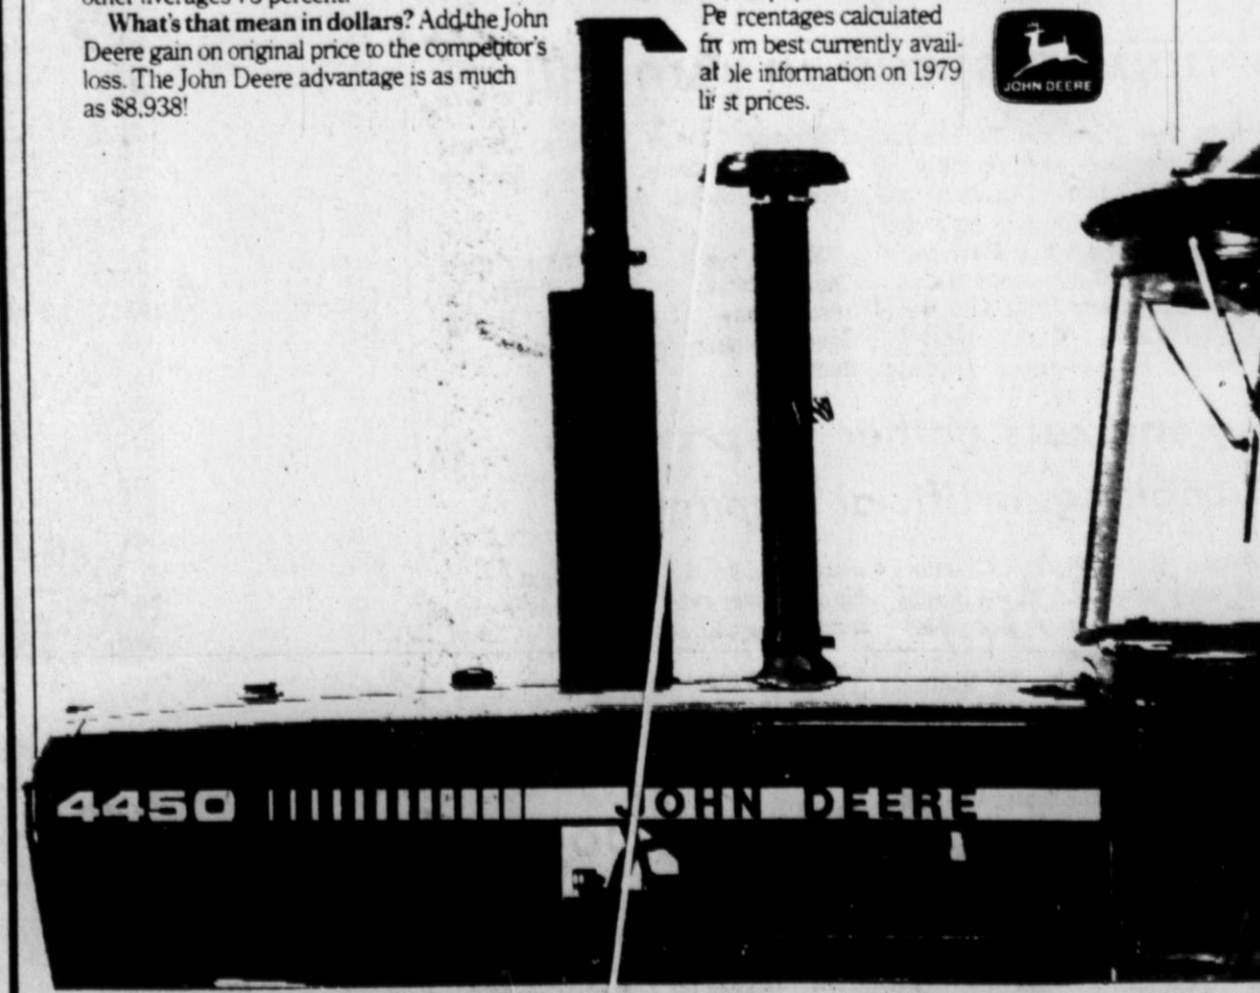

What's that mean in dollars? Add the John Deere gain on original price to the competitor's loss. The John Deere advantage is as much as $8,938!

Is this only true of one model? No. Every 40 Series 90- to 180-hp tractor has an average resale price that's higher or than its new price five years ago.

Is resale value only John Deere advantage? No. Don't forget the remarkable fuel efficiency of today's 50 Series John Deere Tractors. And don't forget our unmatched reputation for high quality and high reliability. See your John Deere dealer. He'll be happy to explain the big difference between a low-price tractor and a low-cost John Deere: 100-hp 4050, 120-hp 4250, 140-hp 4450, 165-hp 4650 or 190-hp 4850.

NOTE: Average resale prices taken from Spring 1984 Official Guide of The National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association.

Meet Your Neighbor

By LISA BALL
Staff Writer

A taste of international foods can be found right here in Hereford. And from only one person: Richard Shorthouse.

Richard is currently the chef at the Hereford Country Club where he says he does just about everything. Baking is his favorite aspect, though. "Baking is a dying art," Richard explained. "It's a more useful art and more skill is required to do it. There is also less pressure to baking because you can do it ahead of time."

Richard was trained through the Epicurean Club of Miami Chapter of the American Culinary Federation. He completed a five-year apprenticeship when he first started and has since worked in restaurants and hotels.

With years of experience behind him, Richard has developed his own doctrine concerning his work.

He says, "Fresh products prepared by skilled hands in a tested manner is the key to quality food service."

The atmosphere he grew up in was definitely conducive to his becoming a chef.

"My Dad was a master chef," Richard said, "so I grew up around food. When I was 13 I got my first job at a catering business and have been working as a chef for 4 years now."

Richard explained that when someone wants to become a chef there are three ways to go about it.

The first course is to take an apprenticeship. The would-be apprentice must find a chef who is willing to sign on an apprentice. The chef then expects total loyalty from that student including the student moving with the chef whenever he changes jobs.

At the end of an apprenticeship, usually 10,000 hours, the chef will frequently find the student a place to work.

Richard's apprenticeship was under four or five chefs. He began scrubbing pots for six months which he says teaches one bulk work. Next came dish work.

"The dish work has been shown to be the most stressful part of all the work," Richard said.

After doing the dishes, one moves up to vegetable preparation, meat preparation, baking and then supervisory work which includes menu pricing, cost and planning.

The second way to become a chef is to go to school.

"There are three or four good schools in New England," Richard said. "The Culinary Institute of America is the largest and they have a two-year program."

The third method is just to do it on your own.

"To do it on your own, you must have drive," Richard explained.

"You bounce from place to place learning different aspects of food preparation, staying just until you feel you have mastered that aspect."

Before coming to Hereford three months ago, Richard worked for a catering house in Miami. He also worked for an airline catering firm in New York for two and one-half years prior to moving to Miami.

His only taste of Texas, however, has been in El Paso and Dallas. Although, it sounds like Richard has moved around quite a bit in the United States, he has moved even more abroad.

Since his father was a master chef, he moved frequently, bringing his family with him everywhere he went. As a result, Richard was raised in the Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Puerto Rico, Miami, England, Portugal, Liberia, West Africa, New York and then back in Miami.

"Because of all the moves," Richard said, "it's hard for me to think of a permanent type situation. It's hard to even understand the word 'permanent.'"

Richard moved to Hereford, however, to try for a more permanent situation.

"I have a three-year-old son, Richard explained, "and the city is just not the place to raise a child."

Richard also likes the lack of anonymity in a small town.

"Here," he said, "I'm a boulder in a small brook, where in the large city I'm just a pebble in a rushing river."

The only downfall Richard sees to this area is the unavailability of seafood.

"I love to work with seafood because there are so many things to do with it," Richard said. "But it's so expensive here. Beef is the least expensive and the easiest to get, but there are only about 300 different things you can do with it."

"I guess I like it (seafood) best," he added, "because my roots are in the Caribbean. I grew up with all the fish."

For a man with so much talent in the kitchen, Richard refuses to cook at home.

"It's too cramped in kitchens in homes," he explained, "and I never have the right pans. It's just not worth it."

Richard stressed that chefs must always be thinking of recipes and always staying on top of what's going on with cooking.

Surprisingly enough, Richard said that United States chefs are more versatile than European chefs because of the Europeans' tendency to specialize. For example, a French chef may specialize and make only souffles, so if he is asked to cut a piece of meat he would not be able to do it.

Richard does not spend all of his time preparing food. His primary hobby is weight lifting and working on his muscle tone. When he is in training, he eats chicken and other light foods.

"I would really like to take some classes at West Texas State," Richard added. "Something other than cooking."

He also enjoys sailing and water sports.

Because his favorite type of food preparation is baking, Richard decided to share a recipe for souffle. Some tips he gave for souffle making are to keep the egg whites clean, do not overwhip the egg whites, and do not add the cream of tartar until the egg whites have started to whip.

He also said to fold the mixture with a rubber spatula, make sure the oven is not too hot, do not slam the oven door and avoid loud noises.

He stressed for all types of food preparation to try a recipe first before serving it to guests.

With the souffle recipe, the grand marnier may be substituted with any liquid, liqueur or fortified fruit juice. This recipe makes 8 servings.

SOUFFLE

8 eggs, separated
2 C sugar
1 C grand marnier
1 heaping Tbsp. cream of tartar
Whip egg yolks, sugar and grand marnier over double boiler until thick like a chiffon and until you can see the bottom of the bowl when you stir across the mixture. Remove from heat. Allow to cool to room temperature.

Whip egg whites. When beginning to whip, add cream of tartar. Continue whipping while adding the cream of tartar until soft peaks form.

Fold the egg whites into the custard mixture. Rub butter and then sugar in a souffle dish. Immediately after folding the mixtures together, fill the souffle cups to the top.

Bake at 375 degrees until double in size and brown on top, about 12 minutes. Immediately remove from the oven and dust with confectioner's sugar. Serve with any kind of sauce.

RASPBERRY SAUCE

1 lb. frozen raspberries
2 C sugar
Boil the raspberries with the sugar. Pass the mixture through a sieve. Simmer until thick.

Hereford parents nominated for Parents of the Year

Three sets of parents of West Texas State University students are among the 24 nominees for the annual Parents of the Year award.

Parents of the Year were honored during the ninth annual Parents' Day on Sept. 22. Receiving the recognition were Archie and Gladys Looten of Panhandle. Five of their seven children earned degrees at WTSU. About 500 parents registered for the day's activities.

Recognition also was given to a Hereford couple whose five children have attended WTSU. James and Julia McNaney were recognized during the evening football game among the parents who have the largest number of children enrolled at WTSU. They also were nominated for Parents of the Year by their five children.

The McNaney children include Kathy of Austin, a 1978 graduate of WTSU; Mona Lynn McNaney Klein, Hereford, former WTSU student; Curtis, a senior majoring in computer information systems; Duane, a junior accounting major; and Diane, a senior nursing major.

James McNaney is a plant controller for Holly Sugar Corp., and Julia teaches in the Hereford Independent School District. She earned her teaching certificate at WTSU.

"With today's cost of living, the achievement of helping five children through school is an amazement within itself. The financial burden placed upon my parents was great, but they knew it was worthy," said their son Curtis.

Also nominated from Hereford were Joe Edd and Judith Raye Andrews.

Their daughter, Valerie, a junior majoring in agricultural business and economics, write, "They have made their home a place where their children could come back and reinforce their moral and spiritual values. They have provided a place of continuity and stability, of tradition and family togetherness in their home."

Other Andrews children enrolled at WTSU include Elizabeth, a junior elementary education major, and Jason, a freshman agricultural business and economics major.

Other nominees from Hereford were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan. They were nominated by Barry, a graduate student in biology, and Jana, a sophomore marketing major.

Sorority members meet for shopping spree in Amarillo

Alpha Iota Mus and Xi Epsilon Sorority members met recently at the home of Charla Edwards before taking a shopping spree in Amarillo.

Members had lunch at Harrigan's and then shopped in various places.

Members present from AIM were Kay Williams, Carol Kelley, Michelle Brisendine, Debbie Foerster, Debe Graves, Jackie Fangman, Nancy George, Melinda White and Janis White.

Others from Xi Epsilon included Charla Edwards, Mary Brinkman, Susan Shaw, Susie White, Donna Grady, Ginger Wallace and Sharon Bodner.

Homemakers gather for program on choking, artificial respiration

Cultural Extension Homemakers met Friday afternoon in the Reddy Room for a program by Betty Henson of the Red Cross.

Jill Hargrave served as hostess while Bertha Dettmann, president, presided over the meeting. Virginia Sumner read the opening exercise titled "My Grandma," and the roll call was answered with "My Favorite Cake."

Dettmann led the group in the pledge to both the American and Texas flags.

The program presented by Henson was a demonstration on how to relieve a person who is choking. Members were able to practice on one another. She also demonstrated artificial respiration which the members were able to practice on dummies.

Before the close of the meeting, Dettmann appointed a nominating committee for officers for next year. Edith Hunter was selected as chairman of the committee.

The next meeting will be Oct. 12 at 2 p.m. in the home of Carrie Mae Doak. Johnnie Meser will give a report from the state meeting.

Bike-a-thon rescheduled

The "Wheels for Life" Bike-a-thon originally scheduled for Sept. 29, has been rescheduled for Saturday, Oct. 6. The event is open to all ages and will begin at 8 a.m. at Sugarland Mall.

The local bike-a-thon will benefit St. Jude's Children Research Hospital.

Umpires may call strike, not strikes

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

With major league umpires ready to strike instead of call strikes, prepared to walk rather than call balls, negotiations were non-existent and baseball's postseason playoffs faced the possibility of using substitute umpires.

The umpires union has called for a walkout in a dispute over salaries, job security and postseason assignments. The best-of-five American and National League playoffs began today in Chicago and Kansas City.

"I don't think there's a whole lot of chance to work the playoffs or the Series unless (the leagues) do a complete turnaround," said Paul Runge, the vice president of the Major League Baseball Umpires Association. "I don't think anybody in their right mind likes a strike. I think we've been forced into a strike."

The key issues in dispute were covered only for two years in the four-year contract agreement reached April 5, 1982.

Richie Phillips, attorney for the umpires' union, said the pay increase being offered now by the major leagues amounted to $39,000, to be divided among 61 umpires.

"TV money has gone from $50 million in 1983 to $200 million in 1984... We are supposed to get a share of that," he said. "We are orbits apart."

Phillips said his union was asking for six percent of the live gate revenue from the first three games of the league championships and the first four World Series games. In addition, the union is seeking two percent of the national television revenues from those games.

American League President Bobby Brown - who is handling the negotiations for baseball along with National League President Chub Feeney - said the umpires were offered an increase to $12,000 per man for the championship series and to $17,000 per man for the World Series.

The two sides did not meet Monday.

"There have been no negotiations at all," Phillips said in Philadelphia. "We're waiting to hear from them. We met last night (Sunday) in New York for several hours and they said they would get back to me."

Later Monday night, Phillips said he had spoken by phone with Brown, but said their talk had produced "nothing of importance."

"There has been no progress," Phillips added.

In addition to the monetary demands, Phillips said the umpires are concerned that they can be terminated with no right of appeal "except to the league president who makes the decision to terminate them. There is no real tenure for an umpire and no job security whatever."

Cincinnati loses 38-17

Defense keys Pittsburgh NFL victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — In the days when the Pittsburgh Steelers won the Super Bowl with almost routine regularity, their nearly penetration-proof defense was nicknamed the Steel Curtain.

Now, maybe they ought to call this latest Steelers' defense the Steal Curtain.

In an almost mirror-image performance of their 24-14 Monday night victory over Cincinnati a year ago, the Steelers used five interceptions — two of them for touchdowns by Dwayne Woodruff and Donnie Shell — to beat the winless Bengals 38-17 Monday night.

Last season, the Steelers' defense knocked Bengals' quarterback Ken Anderson from the game with a neck injury, then scored three touchdowns itself while frequently pressuring reserve quarterback Turk Schonert.

This time, the Steelers sent Anderson to the sidelines with muscle spasms in his back, recorded six quarterback sacks and harassed Schonert into throwing four interceptions while twice scoring a pair of touchdowns themselves in a minute's span.

Woodruff and Shell each had a pair of interceptions — Shell's were the 37th and 38 of his career, the most of any active National Football League player — while cornerback Sam Washington had the other interception, giving him a league-high six this season.

"Maybe we need an exorcist," said Bengals' wide receiver Cris Collinsworth.

A victory would do just fine, said first-year Coach Sam Wyche — who has yet to enjoy his first NFL coaching victory five games into the season.

The Steelers led by 14-0 and 24-10, but a 1-yard scoring run by Schonert made it 24-17 early in the fourth quarter. Then Ray Griffin gave Cincinnati a chance to tie by intercepting a David Woodley pass in the end zone after Pittsburgh had marched to the Bengals' 13.

But Schonert, seeing his first extensive action of the season, was intercepted again by Woodruff to set up Walter Abercrombie's 5-yard touchdown run with 4:48 remaining. Then, just 25 seconds later, Shell got in front of a Schonert pass and returned it 52 yards for a score.

Roger Peckinpaugh, a star shortstop, was the playing manager of the New York Yankees in 1914.

Winner misses five games

Proctor wins grid contest

Twenty-five dollars in Hereford Bucks went to Kirk Proctor of 408 Sycamore Lane, the winner of last week's Brand Football Contest.

Proctor led all entrants with only five misses.

Four people tied for second and third places. Each had six misses. However, Marie Cogdell took second place with a tie-breaker of San Jose St. and 31 total points. Cogdell, who won $15 in Hereford Bucks, lives at 915 East Park Ave.

Frances Farr, 114 Aspen, placed third. She had a tie-breaker of San Jose St. and a total of 21 points. She won $10 in Hereford Bucks. Greta Phommyvory, Amarillo, and Randy Farr, 114 Aspen, were the other contestants who missed six games. Phommyvory and Farr picked California to win in the tie-breaker.

Thirteen people missed seven games. They were: Jason Walterschied, Ansel McDowell, Melvin K. Kalka Jr., Tina Perez, E.H. Loerwald, Nita Henry, Pat Nunnally, Monty Gilliam, Jim McNaney, Cindy Valdez, Don Clark, Patsy Hampton and Tommy Inman.

Thirty-three people missed eight games.

Panel Picks

Louise's owner Betty Martin and Brand sports editor Dennis Ball each were 18-8 on last week's games to lead the Brand panel.

The Denver win over the L.A. Raiders, the South Carolina upset win over Georgia, the Vanderbilt victory over Alabama and the Amarillo win over Hereford were games missed by every member of the panel.

Boots and Saddle owner Butch White went 17-9, Brand editor-publisher O.G. Nieman was 15-11 and Helen's Youth Shop owner Helen Higgins had a 14-12 record.

For the season, Ball stands at 76-26; Martin, 75-27; Nieman and White, 72-30; and Higgins, 69-33.

Girls to have soccer league

A youth soccer league for girls in first through sixth grades continues with registration through Oct. 5 at the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with an order from the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice it has filed a tariff to reduce the monthly rates for the Switched Access portion of the company's intraLATA Foreign Exchange (FX) Service offering that was implemented starting June 1, 1984. Simultaneously, the LATA-wide toll-free calling scope, also started June 1, would be discontinued and the calling scope would return to that in effect prior to June 1. The Commission has assigned this matter Docket Number 5891.

The net effect of the tariff will be a monthly decrease in total billing of approximately $700,000 until November 1, 1984. After that time the net effect on the company's revenue is estimated to be negligible.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Aviso Público

En conformidad con una orden de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas, se anuncia mediante el presente aviso público que Southwestern Bell Telephone ha presentado una tarifa con el objeto de reducir las cuotas mensuales que se han cobrado desde el 1 de junio de 1984, por la porción de la tarifa para acceso a la red central necesaria con el uso del Servicio de Zona Exterior (Foreign Exchange (FX) Service).

Simultáneamente, el servicio de llamadas de larga distancia sin cobro dentro del área de servicio que también se efectuó el 1 de junio de 1984, se discontinuará, y el campo de llamadas será al igual que antes del 1 de junio de 1984. Se ha registrado la nueva tarifa bajo el Docket 5891.

El efecto real de la nueva tarifa se verá en la reducción del costo total de facturas de aproximadamente $700,000 hasta el 1 de noviembre de 1984. Se calcula que después de esta fecha el efecto real para nuestra empresa será despreciable.

Los usuarios de Southwestern Bell Telephone Company que estén interesados en participar en esta reunión, o que requieran mayor información, deben dirigirse por escrito a: Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. También se puede obtener información adicional llamando a Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division al 512/458-0223, al 512/458-0227, o al 512/458-0221 si requiere teletipo (aparato para personas con impedimentos de audición).

Planning A Business Expansion?

In the 1800's, if a person wanted to open a large retail store, he might need five or six thousand dollars for merchandise. If he was contemplating from three to eight new stores, he could figure on needing fifty thousand dollars.

While the amount of capital may be a little different today, the overall need for money is still there. And that's where we can help.

We're the bank with the pioneer spirit. We understand what it takes to get that business off the ground, and how to expand your existing one. We invite you to come in and let us get to know you - and your business. That way, we understand how to serve you better.

It's this kind of dedication to you and your business that makes us the bank with the pioneer spirit.

At Invitational

Moreno leads Hereford win

Selma Moreno unofficially clocked a 12-minute time over two miles to pace the Hereford girls cross-country team to a first-place finish in Saturday's Hereford Invitational, held at Veterans' Park.

Official time recorded Moreno's run at 12:00.6

"I just hope our team does as well," Moreno said after finishing the course. "It's really cold."

The cold weather didn't bother the team, however, and Moreno got her wish. Hereford finished with 85 points to win the team title. Canyon was second, 14 points back.

Finishing fifth was Hereford runner Francis Flores. Flores had a time of 13:05.5.

Another strong runner, Hereford's Lina Esqueda, battled some sickness in the cold weather and light mist and finished at eighth place. She still turned a 13:12.5, though, almost 16 seconds off her second-place time at Plainview Sept. 22.

"Lina had been trying to get a cold all week," Hereford coach Martha Emerson said. "We came out on Monday (Sept. 24) and ran in 90-degree weather, and turned around and ran Tuesday in 40-degree weather."

"She was hurting (during the Hereford meet)."

Moreno, Esqueda and Flores were running in the top three spots approximately halfway through the race. Esqueda showed signs of hurting, however, as she ran much of the distance with her hand over her chest.

"The cold just hits you when you start running," Moreno said. "I guess it's good, though, because the district meet might be cold."

Other Hereford girls and times were: Irene Serna, 14:00.9; Eva Medrano, 14:08.2; and Glenda Gonzales, 14:35.1.

Behind Hereford and Canyon were 13 teams.

In boys competition, Hereford finished fourth in team totals. Monterey had 52 points, followed by Boys Ranch with 74 and Muleshoe with 86. Hereford had 142.

Francisco Saucedo led Hereford runners with a time of 16:17.6. He was followed by other Hereford runners Ceaser Castro (16:52), Frankie Vallejo (17:10.2), Alonzo Martinez (17:21), Lupe Rocha (17:28.9).

Eighty-five boys competed in the varsity division, turning in times ranging from 15:37.7 to 21:56.7.

Saucedo improved his time by 33 seconds.

In junior varsity girls competition, Hereford's Alicia Reyes placed 31st with a time of 15:39.7. Michelle Mason, also of Hereford, had a 16:21.6 and Michelle Vaughn a 17:52.6.

Manager ousted

Braves fire Joe Torre

By The Associated Press
Joe Torre is the latest ex-manager looking for a job in baseball.

"I'm going to wait until after the World Series" to look for a job, Torre said Monday after he was fired by the Atlanta Braves. "There's no immediate need for me to find employment."

Braves owner Ted Turner fired Torre out of dissatisfaction over the team's 80-82 record and second-place finish in the National League West this season. Turner was expected to name Atlanta coach Eddie Haas as his replacement.

"He (Turner) has offered to have me stay on in the organization and he wants to talk about that," Torre said.

However, it's likely that Torre, who had two years remaining on his contract worth an estimated $425,000, will bounce back as a manager with either the San Francisco Giants or Montreal Expos.

Danny Ozark, who replaced Giants' Manager Frank Robinson in midseason on an interim basis, is retiring. Jim Fanning is expected to return to the Montreal front office after taking over as interim manager from Bill Virdon earlier this season.

A manager's job also is open with the Boston Red Sox, where Ralph Houk has retired, and the New York Yankees say they haven't yet made a decision on the status of Yogi Berra.

The prime managerial candidate in Boston appears to be Earl Weaver, the successful former Baltimore manager who retired two years ago.

Having Difficulty Breathing

Hereford cross-country runner Lina Esqueda puts her hand over her chest while running in Saturday's Hereford Invitational cross country meet. Esqueda nearly was sick, according to coach Martah Emerson, as she ran in the cold and rainy weather. Behind Esqueda is Hereford's Francis Flores, who passed Esqueda before the finish.

Horton team wins golf event at Tascosa club

Mike Horton, golf professional at John Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford, teamed with Amarillo club professionals A.L. Nair, Jerry Walsh and Louis Avery, Borger's J.W. Snider and tour pro Evan Williams to capture first place in the Ronald McDonald House Pro-Am tournament Monday at Tascosa Country Club.

The team shot 125, 19 strokes under par at the fund-raising contest.

Miller Huggins, while manager of the New York Yankees from 1918 to 1929, won six American League pennants.

The event, which supports the Ronald McDonald House at the Amarillo, Medical Center, raised more than $50,000.

Horton was to begin play today in West Texas Chapter PGA tourney in Pampa. Play should continue there through Friday.

Braulio Baeza rode three Belmont Stakes winners over three different racing strips. He won with Sherluck at the Old Belmont Park in 1961, with Chateaugay at Aqueduct in 1963, and with Arts and Letters at the new Belmont in 1969.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company hereby gives notice that a Private Coin Service tariff has been filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

Under the proposed tariff, Private Coin Service would be offered for use with a customer-provided instrument-implemented coin telephone at the request of the customer.

Interim approval of the tariff has been requested by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. and a hearing has been set for Oct. 15. Unless the tariff is approved on an interim basis, the new service is scheduled to become effective on March 7, 1985. The matter has been assigned to Docket 5905.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate or further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N Austin, Texas 78757.

Cheats may get $40 million annually

By ROBERT MACY
Associated Press Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The decades-old battle between gaming cheats and casinos has moved from mirrors to microprocessor chips and what once was an irritation has become a $40 million annual headache for Nevada's major industry.

Gaming enforcement officials say that although the cheats sting the casinos, millions of visitors who leave billions of dollars on the tables and in the slot machines are also victimized.

"When a cheater rips off a jackpot, it hurts the tourist because the money on that slot's meter has been put in by honest players," said Billy Suggs, head of the enforcement division of the state's Gaming Control Board. "The money played on that machine is being held in escrow for that big winner. And if a cheater gets it, both the potential legitimate winner and those who put money into the machine have been victimized."

Suggs, a 10-year veteran of state gaming enforcement, remembers the mid-1970s when slots paid jackpots of $10,000 to $20,000 — sometimes soaring to $50,000. Today $1 million-plus jackpots are paid on machines run by tiny microprocessor boards that provide new challenges for a 21st century breed of cheaters.

Suggs said there is no way of telling how much cheaters harvest from Nevada casinos, but admitted that projections of $40 million annually "may be conservative."

Slots are changing — and so are their cheaters.

"Slots six or seven years ago were thought of as something in the casino to keep little old ladies happy, while the gamblers went to the tables," Suggs said in a recent interview. "Now they represent nearly 50 percent of the gross gaming revenues."

Gamblers lost a record $2.99 billion in Nevada the past fiscal year, with the state's 92,000 one-arm banj82s taking an ever-increasing bite.

Elaborate cheating rings conduct underground schools both in and out of Nevada to train cheaters and recruit unwary "collectors," Suggs said.

"They use these clandestine schools to recruit people to participate in these scams. They charge to attend the schools and a lot of times the operators use students to perpetuate the crimes for a percentage."

"Very few times does a collector know how a crime is going to be perpetrated," Suggs explained. "They get a happy little guy, a happy little lady who's gonna stand in front of a particular machine and play it. They tell them 'Go in this casino and play this certain machine.' They're instructed only on the role they play in the scam and have no idea what else is done."

While the collector plays the machine, blockers gather around the target slot to hide it from floormen and TV surveillance cameras hidden in false ceilings that scour Nevada casinos day and night.

With blockers in place a sophisticated thief enters the slot and quickly resets the machine or replaces an intricate microprocessor chip with one that will yield a payoff. Pros make the switch in a matter of seconds.

That was apparently what happened in August 1983 when retired San Francisco warehouseman Gus Econopoulos hit a $1.7 million jackpot at Harrah's Hotel and Casino in Lake Tahoe.

As they do in all major slot payouts, casino and gaming officials checked the machine. To their chagrin they found the "tamper-proof" slot and the tiny microprocessor board that dictates the payoffs had been tampered with. Officials halted payment on the jackpot.

Econopoulos, the collector, is scheduled to be a star witness against an 11-member slot cheat ring facing trial in federal court in Reno Oct. 23.

Donald C. Hill, an assistant U.S. attorney in Reno, said authorities and gaming officials may never know how wide a swath the cheating ring cut through Nevada casinos.

The indictment of the Lake Tahoe gang indicated they had hit numerous other hotels for sums of $100,000 and more.

The arrest of the Lake Tahoe gang and the "Nikrasch gang" cut substantially into cheating activity in Nevada, Suggs said.

Terrance Nikrasch and two associates were found guilty last February and sentenced to 15 years in prison for operating what authorities described as a multi-million-dollar slot cheating ring.

Other cheats have used elaborate mini-TV cameras to signal partners in poker game scams, a far cry from the old days when cheats used mirrors to spy on the dealer's hold card.

Less sophisticated cheats still opt for one of the oldest scams since the emergence of slot machines — the slug.

"It doesn't take too much ingenuity for a cheater to do slugs," said Suggs. "You just pour the metal into a mold — you can do it on any stove. In a six-month period last year we confiscated 70,000 or 80,000 slugs. It only costs three or four cents to make a dollar slug. If some of them hit $25,000 or $50,000 jackpots, you can imagine the impact."

Det. Don Dibble of the Metro Police Special Investigations Bureau said officers shut down five slug factories in Las Vegas last year.

"Our conservative estimate was that each factory was cooking out 500 $1 slugs daily," Dibble said. "When you add it all up it came to over $900,000 a year from these five guys. These guys looked like bums. And they were making nearly $1 million a year."

Do you ever have one of those days when you feel they've racked up nothing but eight balls for you in life's poolroom?

Canned food drive set for Oct. 14-20

The High Plains Food Bank is planning a Panhandle-wide canned food drive for Oct. 14-20 in hopes of gathering 60,000 pounds of food to feed hungry people.

The agencies in Hereford which will be able to retain any food they collect in the drive are Operation Good Shepherd, South Plains Health Providers, San Jose Church, Grace Gospel Church and Hereford Day Care.

Although the food bank has a wide range of food donors from farmers to feedlots, the demand for canned food always exceeds supply.

Currently, plans call for a live telecast from Westgate Mall over KAMR-TV, Channel 4, on the final day of the food drive. Other activities will include a recognition luncheon for food donors and a children's poster contest.

The High Plains Food Bank is a private non-profit agency which receives and distributes about 60,000 pounds of food each month to 115 non-profit groups. A volunteer board of directors governs the food bank which provides food to both on-site feeding programs and emergency food pantries in agencies throughout the 26 county Panhandle area.

The food bank receives no government funds and relies solely on gifts from individuals, churches and businesses for its support.

"We serve agencies which in turn serve hungry people," Melody Wattenbarger, executive director for the food bank, he said. "None of the food donated to the food bank may be bought or sold, but is distributed free of charge through participating agencies."

For more information on how groups and individuals may participate in the campaign, contact Wattenbarger at the High Plains Food Bank at 806-374-8562.

Today in History

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 2, the 276th day of 1984. There are 90 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On Oct. 2, 1919, President Woodrow Wilson suffered a stroke that paralyzed the left side of his body.

On this date: In 1835, the Texas Revolution began with a battle between U.S. settlers and a Mexican cavalry unit near the Guadalupe River.

In 1869, Indian leader Mohandas K.

Gandhi was born.

In 1941, German armies began Operation Typhoon — an all-out drive against Moscow.

Ten years ago: In a speech to the United Nations General Assembly, a Chinese deputy foreign minister Chiao Kuan-hua praised the Arab countris General Assembly that all human beings should enjoy full rights "under any political system."

One year ago: Lebanese government officials accused Druse leader

Walid Jumblatt of trying to partition the country.

Today's birthdays: Publisher Clay S. Felker is 59. Actor Spanky MacFarland is 56. Actor Moses Gunn is 55. Former Dodger shortstop Maury Wills is 52. Movie critic Rex Reed is 46. Singer-songwriter Don McLean is 39.

Thought for today: "A habit cannot be tossed out the window. It must be coaxed down the stairs a step at a time." — Mark Twain (1835-1910).

Bill proposals jeopardize rights

DALLAS (AP) — House Speaker Gib Lewis says one of five new bills could give multiple murderers the maximum death penalty, but the head of a civil rights group says the proposals cut into individuals rights without controlling crime.

Lewis unveiled five proposals in a new anti-crime package in Dallas on Monday. The bills will be presented when the Legislature convenes in January.

The Fort Worth Democrat called the package a "step forward in helping the criminal justice system." He said he expected it to get a good reception in both the Senate and the House.

But Gara LaMarche, executive director of the Texas Civil Liberties Union, said the proposals are "tinkering with constitutional guarantees."

"Basically, it seemed to me to add up to a quick fix plan to fight crime at the cost of constitutional rights," he said. "It's misleading to the public. What it does it cuts to the rights of the individual citizen. It doesn't do anything about the crime problem."

Under the current capital murder statute, a person can be sentenced to death for killing a peace officer, fireman or prison official; for killing someone while committing kidnapping, burglary, robbery, aggravated rape or arson; for murder for hire; or for killing someone while escaping or attempting to escape from a penal institution.

The new proposal would include multiple murderers. Another bill in the package would extend the current wiretapping law in felony narcotics cases. The bill is scheduled to expire automatically on Sept. 1, 1985.

"We know Texans regard wiretapping as an intrusive technique," said Col. James B. Adams, director of the state Department of Public Safety. "This bill was recommended strictly for narcotics trafficking, and we have no intention of broadening it."

Since wiretapping was allowed in 1981, $12.5 million in controlled substances have been seized, 122 people have been arrested and 51 convicted on felony drug offenses, Lewis said.

Another proposal would allow prosecutors to inform juries before a sentence is rendered about how long a defendant has to stay in prison before being paroled. Currently, jurors are not allowed to discuss parole laws.

A fourth bill seeks to change the current law that allows a criminal indictment to be dismissed on a "non-substantive" technical defect. Lawmakers said they expect to have a fight with the Texas Bar Association over the proposal.

The package also includes a bill to continue the "triplicate prescription" requirement, scheduled to expire in 1985. That requires copies of prescriptions for certain drugs to be retained by the patient, the drugstore and the state.

Both Adams and Rep. Pat Hill, R-Dallas, predicted the new multiple killing provision would serve as a deterrent.

"If (Henry Lee) Lucas had been executed after killing his mother, we would have 300 people alive today," Adams said. Lucas has been convicted of five killings in Texas and faces death by injection. By unofficial count, he is charged with 19 slayings in Texas, Maryland, Florida, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Under Texas law, the penalty for murder is imprisonment for life or for a term of five to 99 years.

The bill would apply to murders committed after September 1985, Ms. Hill said.

Says teenager

Stepfather abused mother

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — A teenager on trial for her stepfather's death says her mother and younger brother decided to set fire to her sleeping stepfather because he had "a history of abusing and beating all of us."

Robin Renee Elliott's statement to police on March 25 was introduced as evidence on Monday during the first day of her trial. She and her mother, Cheryl Kay Oates, 38, are on trial for murder in the death of Nick Eugene Oates, 38.

Oates was doused with gasoline March 25 while he slept in a waterbed. He was critically burned over 50 percent of his body and died April 12 of a heart attack suffered from infection of the burns, a surgeon said.

District Attorney Jorege Solis said Monday he "fails to see how killing a sleeping man is protecting yourself from any immediate danger."

But one of the defense attorneys — Ed Paynter — said he will show that the defendants were justified in using deadly force to protect themselves against Oates' physical abuse.

In her statement, Miss Elliott said her mother and stepfather argued throughout March 24 and continued early the next morning when Oates came home "drunk" and after arguing with his wife fell asleep in a recliner chair.

She said she, her mother and 14-year-old brother talked about setting fire to Oates after he had "manhandled" her mother.

"In the past, when Nick was drunk, we have had trouble with him," she said. "He has made violent gestures and threatening remarks to all of us. He has even done this when he was sober. Tonight, he was really drunk and he had us scared. All of us were around the living room, and we had a baseball bat and a big stick. We talked about hitting Nick with these while he was asleep. We were afraid of what might happen to us when he woke up.

"We also started talking about throwing gasoline on him and lighting it while he was asleep in the living room," she told police.

Two sisters, ages 12 and 11, and a brother, 9, had been sent to their rooms, and an 18-year-old sister was on a babysitting job.

Oates, meanwhile, woke up and family members locked themselves in the bathroom or hid in a closet.

She said her mother convinced him to go to bed, and she would follow in a few minutes. Oates fell asleep on the waterbed. She said they thought about hitting him over the head with a baseball bat and calling the police.

But a short time later, she said, Mrs. Oates "came into my room and started talking about throwing gas on him while he was asleep. She said that this would stop the beatings, and the abuse, that it would all end."

Miss Elliott said she woke up the other children, told them what they were going to do and put them all in the car.

She said her 14-year-old brother had the matches and she had gasoline in a plastic bowl. She said she poured the gasoline onto Oates and the bed. She said her brother then lighted the matches and threw them on the bed.

She said she saw reflections of the flames and heard Oates screaming. The family then fled to where the 18-year-old daughter was babysitting.

The room was damaged heavily, but when the waterbed melted, the water doused the flames on Oates' body. Firefighters found Oates sitting in a pickup truck, still conscious, when they arrived.

Dr. Timothy Harner — a burn surgeon at Lubbock General Hospital, where Oates was taken — testified Monday Oates had third-degree burns "over his entire back, from his waist up to his shoulders," as well as other second-and-third degree burns on his face, arms and legs.

He said Oates suffered several heart attacks while undergoing a series of skin graft operations.

He said infection of the burn injuries probably triggered a fatal heart attack on April 12.

ACNE PREVENTION
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Seventy percent of people experience acne at some time in their lives.

Now there is hope of preventing some of its physical and emotional scarring, according to Dr. Lowell Goldsmith of the University of Rochester.

Goldsmith, a dermatologist, uses a medication derived from cortisone, which suppresses the production of a male hormone produced by the adrenal glands of both men and women.

An imbalance of the hormone may be more significant in causing acne - at least in some cases - than testosterone, the male hormone produced by the endocrine glands. A blood test can reveal the presence of an imbalance.

DRINKING SURVEY
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A recent world survey shows the United States ranks 17th in national per-capita consumption of alcohol.

This information is part of "Thinking About Drinking," a course in alcohol education. The course, underwritten by Heublein Inc., will be available to 10,000 high schools for use in health, driver education, science and psychology classes and also to community groups.

Accent on Agriculture

By DENNIS NEWTON
Extension Agent

Last week, the crops, livestock and vegetable committees of the Deaf Smith County Program Building Committee met to plan programs and activities to be sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in the coming year.

The vegetable committee, in cooperation with the High Plains Vegetable Growers and Shippers Council, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Tech University, planned the West Texas Vegetable Conference. The conference is to be held on Jan. 29 at the Hereford Community Center.

Plans are currently being made for the conference that usually attracts growers and shippers from throughout West Texas.

The livestock committee has planned a beef cattle conference for Dec. 6. Topics to be covered are marketing including a discussion on agricultural commodity options, animal health, nutrition and management. The location for the conference will be announced later.

The crops committee will sponsor the annual Deaf Smith County wheat tour in the spring and the crops tour in the fall. Times and dates for these have not been set.

Members of these committees are responsible for identifying problems and planning program for agriculture in Deaf Smith County.

The members of the crops committee are Raymond Schlabs, Eldred Brown, Clark Andrews, David Webster, Hal Easley, Leo Witkowski, Paul Scott, Donald Douglas, Tony Urbanczyk, John Metcalf, Charles Meyers, Bill Cleavinger, Calvin Jones, Carl Kleuskens, Roy Carlson and Bill Townsend.

The members of the livestock committee are David Brumley, Elmo Hall, Edward Allison, Charles Hoover, Thurman Atchley, James Voyles, Bill Walden, Bob Hughes, Herb Vogel, Steve Hodges, Craig Smith, Gerald Parker and Mike Betzen.

The members of the vegetable committee are Charles Schlabs, Bill Reinaur, Ray Frye, Wes Fisher, Cameron Gault and Luther Lesley.

If producers, agribusinesses or consumers have ideas or input into programs for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, please let these members know. I'm sure they will appreciate it very much.

Residents selected for recognition

Harold Wayne Brigrance of 146 Ranger and Nieves H. Rodriguez, Jr. of Hereford have been selected as Outstanding Young Men of America.

These men were selected from nominations received from senators, congressmen, governors, mayors, state legislators, university and college presidents and deans as well as various civic groups.

The criteria for selection include a man's voluntary service to the community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation.

The Outstanding Young Men of America program recognizes the achievements and abilities of men between the ages of 21 and 36. The men chosen will have their complete biographies published in the annual biographical compilation.

Others chosen were Barry Mark Morgan of Canyon, Robert Weldon Marshall of Broken Arrow, Okla., and Randy G. Cook of Clarksdale, Miss.

Herbert Bayard Swope of the New York World won the first Pulitzer Prize for reporting in 1917.

Multilevel Stately Tudor

HOUSE DESIGN
by Larry Farnsworth

If you are a romantic who believes your home truly should be your castle, you will love the distinctive circular tower and Tudor styling of this plan, Model D 2124.

Highlighted also on the exterior by its angled two-story wing and the appealing covered approach to the tower entry, this home offers even further drama when you step into the two-story foyer with its beautiful stairway following the curve of the tower to the balcony above.

Drama, however, is not all this plan has to offer—the design is practical, too. That elegant foyer neatly channels traffic to the family room, dining room, kitchen and utility complex on the left, to the massive sunken living room straight ahead and to the first floor bedroom and compartmented full bath on the right.

Note, too, that big covered bedroom wing patio, as well as the even larger patio adjoining the living and dining rooms. And see the two additional bedrooms and the second full bath on the second floor.

Other noteworthy features of this appealing plan include an extra large utility room, complete with walk-in pantry, and a convenient inside door to the big double garage.

And just look at that large friendly kitchen with its U-shaped work area and the refrigerator space and snack bar opposite and conveniently adjoining the family room. No cook need feel separated from family fun in this kitchen, yet the floor plan carefully assures that through traffic will not interfere with meal preparations.

Other pluses are that massive living room fireplace, and abundance of closets, including a big walk-in for the master bedroom, and an optional basement plan which is available if desired.

Drama and practicality are perfectly and pleasantly combined in this plan, Model D 2124—a castle that can make your dreams easily come true.
