Dulles Urges Soviets To Free Satellite Nations

SHEARED PROP KILLS PASSENGER—A whirling propeller broke loose in flight on this new English-built Trans-Canada airliner, killing a woman passenger and injuring five other persons. This picture of the new Vickers turbo-prop plane shows the propeller mount from which the blade whirled back into the fuselage. The airliner made an emergency landing at the Windsor, Ont., airport.

Storms Bring Some Relief From Heat

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms brought some relief from the heat in some South Texas cities Tuesday with Houston getting the biggest "cooling off".

The Gulf city saw the temperature drop 24 degrees—from 94 to 70—in two hours time when an afternoon squall dumped an inch and a half of rain. Winds blowing in gusts up to 30 miles an hour damaged trees in the area.

Elsewhere over the state high temperatures ranged from 106 in Presidio downward to 88 at Sherman, Corpus Christi and Beaumont.

The only overnight rain reported was .13 inches at Lufkin. Skies early Wednesday were clear over most of the state with some patches of clouds in the southern section. Temperatures before dawn ranged from 66 degrees at Junction to 81 at Galveston.

The forecast calls for continued partly cloudy and hot weather with widely scattered thundershowers.

Thunderstorms hit Western areas, the extreme Southeast and sections of the Great Lakes but mostly fair weather prevailed in other parts of the country Wednesday.

Rainfall in most places was light. One of the few heavy falls was around 1 inch in eastern Oregon. The thunderstorm belt extended from the Rockies across the plains and over the northern sections of the Great Lakes Region. Another showery area was along the Gulf Coast region.

Warmer weather returned to the northern and central plains and the outlook was for warming eastward over the Great Lakes region and into the Ohio Valley.

Cooler air moved into parts of the middle and south Atlantic Coast states with temperatures early today dropping into the 50s as far south as Virginia.

MARINES RESCUED—Three of four Marine reservists from the San Francisco area are rescued from the surf near Camp Del Mar, Calif. after their armored amphibian tractor capsized during maneuvers. They are shown bobbing in the surf as a fellow Marine reaches to help them. All four marines escaped injury. The overturned tractor lies 300 yards offshore.

Says World Seeks Action

WASHINGTON (AP) —Secretary State Dulles said today Russia should restore full independence to the Communist satellite nations to prove the reality of its new policy of "decentralization of power."

Within the Soviet system he told a news conference, "only the reality of vigorous democratic institutions will genuinely insure against the corrupting power of despotism."

The whole world will therefore watch," Dulles said, "to see what will actually come of the present developments."

He then added:

"If they dependably alter the domestic and foreign policies and practices of the Soviet state, it would beneficially transform the world scene. We hopefully await the coming of that day."

Dulles had a prepared statement which he read concerning the Soviet Union.

As to other matters, Dulles:

1. Made a new expression on the issue of "neutralism." In a recent speech, Dulles had said that with few exceptions neutrality is "immoral," But today he defined membership in the United Nations as barring neutrality and he said that since virtually all nations in the free world now belong to the U. N. there are few if any neutrals.

2. Asserted anew that he believes liberalizing forces within Russia will prove irresistible in eventually changing the Soviet Union for the better.

3. Described United States relations and differences of view in foreign policy.

4. Appeared to disagree slightly with Vice President Nixon on Nixon's statement in Asia last week that Soviet economic aid puts a rope around the neck of a free nation. Dulles said free nations run a risk and he thought that Soviet aid was given for strong political purposes but he did not believe that in every case it would involve a great danger.

5. Endorsed a Nixon statement that the United States will give aid as desirable to countries which also obtain assistance from the Soviet Union. In this connection, Dulles said that Nixon had well stated United States policies.

6. Declined to say whether removal of present Soviet leaders would strengthen the prospects for liberalizing trends in Russia. He said when the question was put, that he would not like to discuss personalities and anyway so much would depend on the successors to the present leaders.

City Asks Phone Co. For New Statement

The city council last night asked representatives of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. for a more up-to-date financial statement than had been presented in connection with the company's request for a telephone rate increase in Snyder.

The financial statement submitted by the company was as of last Dec. 31, and the council asked for one which covers the period through June 30.

Statements showed that the company was making 2.02 per cent return on its investment here in 1952 and 4.65 per cent at the end of 1955. Before it proceeds futher with discussion on the rate increase request, the council wants to know the percentage of return the company was making here as of June 30.

Representing the telephone company at last night's regular meeting of the council were Rupert Loper of Dallas, Truman Black, Snyder district manager, and James Rosser, Snyder attorney for the company.

Miscellaneous information submitted by Loper at last night's council meeting showed that the company's properties here devoted to Snyder service had a fair value of $1,540,000 as of Dec. 31, compared to a fair value of slightly over $1 million as of Sept. 30, 1953. Loper said the $1.5 million figure did not represent total property here. He said the company's total property, including that used for toll calls, was vauled at $2,040.000 plus $347,699 for land and buildings. Of this, $565,000 is outside the city limits.

It was pointed out by councilmen that the company does not have that amount rendered for taxation purposes in the city.

Loper said it will take some time for the company to prepare the financial statement through June 30, but he promised to submit such a statement at a regular council meeting after its preparation is complete.

The Council discussed truck traffic on Avenue A between the East Highway and Thirty-seventh Street. Claude McCormick and Floyd Hodges both appeared before the council in connection with this and requested that the council allow truck traffic on Avenue A.

City ordinance now prohibits through truck traffic on any streets except designated truck routes. Trucks can, when making deliveries, use city streets by turning off the designated routes at the points nearest their destination.

City streets are not designed for truck traffic and will not carry the weight, some councilmen pointed out, adding that and safety

Site Of Lab Draws Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Texas Congressmen, both Democrats, yesterday had sharp criticism of the selection of Iowa State College at Ames, Iowa, as the site of the government's new 19-million-dollar animal disease labroatory.

College Station, Tex., was one of the sites that had been considered.

The selection of the Iowa college was announced yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who took graduate work at Iowa State.

Rep. Olin E. Teague of College Station said Texas A&M offered the best site.

"But any time Texas thinks it is going to get anything out of the Republican Party, it just better be preapred for disappointment," he said. "I predicted A&M would lose as soon as the site committee was picked."

Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco also said that Texas A&M was the "best qualified site in the country."

"But why should the Republicans waste $19,000,000 in Texas which they don't think they can carry this year anyway, when they can use it so effectively in Iowa to help carry the Corn Belt?" Poage asked.

Meetings May Pave Way For Strike End

By JOHN KAMPS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators confer today with a management team to pave the way for a face-to-face meeting tomorrow with union spokesmen in the hope of ending the national steel strike.

Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service officials arranged a "preliminary" meeting here with a team headed by John A. Stephens, vice president of U.S. Steel and the industry's chief negotiator.

The mediators met yesterday with officials of the striking United Steelworkers. They plan to call management and labor together at Pittsburgh tomorrow for resumption of negotiations.

The talks collapsed July 1, precipitating a strike which has idled 730,000 workers and cut national steel production by 90 per cent.

Chief mediator Joseph F. Finnegan said after a one-hour discussion with union officials the situation was "grave" but he was confident that both sides would cooperate in new bargaining efforts.

He told newsmen he had assured the union men a solution would be worked out "only by bargaining" and it would "not be imposed by the government."

He said he would not term the strike a national emergency at this time.

David J. McDonald, steelworkers president, said the union is "ready and willing to enter into collective bargaining" although the strike was "forced" by the steel industry.

"If the steel industry wants to make an agreement it can do it," McDonald said. "So far it has shown no evidence of any desire to do so."

United Steelworkers called out 650,000 members on strike after the failure of negotiations for a new contract to replace on expiring July 1. In dispute were the duration of the contract and the immediate "package" pay raise.

The union rejected the last company offer of a 52-month contract. Management said it provided a raise of 17 2-3 cents an hour the first year. The union, representing workers who averaged $2.46 an hour before the strike began, said the proposed first-year increase actually amounted to only 14 cents and the contract offer was "too little and too long."

The union hasn't disclosed what wages or contract length it seeks.

New Warning System Set

HOUSTON (AP)—With the advent of the first hurricane of the 1956 season a brand new warning system will go into operation.

It is the Gulf Coast volunteer hurricane warning network, a group of 47 radio and television stations, located along the coast and up to 100 miles inland from Brownsville to Lake Charles.

The stations will broadcast bulletins from the Weather Bureau, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the Red Cross.

Details were worked out at a meeting yesterday.

KPRC of Houston will be the key station in the network. All bulletins will be broadcast from there with the other 46 stations monitoring either the KPRC broadcasts or other stations which can receive KPRC's signal.

The new warning system will go into operation when the Weather Bureau decides a hurricane or potential hurricane is near enough to be dangerous to the Gulf Coast area.

Probe Is Launched On Blacklisting

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities today summoned an American Legion official and two other witnesses in an inquiry into a report on entertainment industry "blacklisting."

Listed as witnesses were Arnold Forster, general counsel of the B'nai B'rith Anti - Defamation League; James O'Neil, director of publications for the American Legion; and Frederick Woltman, writer for the New York World-Telegram & Sun.

The committee is holding hearings on a two-volume "Report on Blacklisting," sponsored and edited Fund for the Republic and edited by John Cogley, former editor of the Catholic lay magazine Commonweal.

Chairman Walter (D-Pa) said the committee wants to know whether the Fund for the Republic, originally financed by the Ford Foundation, "stands as friend or foe in America's struggle against communism."

Robert M. Hutchins, president of the Fund for the Republic, said in a New York statement the fund has "complete faith in the journalistic integrity" of Cogley and criticized the committee for questioning him.

"The fund believes that this independent factual assessment of a major civil liberties problem has made a valuable contribution to the preservation of the bill of rights," Hutchins said.

Cogley yesterday described O'Neill as "a very important figure" among "clearance men" he said were reportedly able to "heal the wounds" made by charges of Communist sympathies and get entertainers off the blacklist.

Pappy Raps Daniel, State Newspapers

AUSTIN (AP)— W. Lee O'Daniel pounded one of his governor's race opponents and the newspapers of Texas here last night before a crowd that broke in 14 times with applause.

He hammered hardest at the veteran's land and insurance scandals.

O'Daniel again linked Sen. Price Daniel with administration of GI aid program, saying:

"The people of Texas are not going to put one member of the Veteran's Land Board in the penitentiary and send another member to the governor's office."

He did not use Daniel's name, calling his governor's race opponent only the "little junior United States senator."

O'Daniel said the big city newspapers had dropped a "complete blackout" on his campaign speech references to Daniel as one of the original members of the Veteran's Land Board.

O'Daniel said he thought he had been making it "perfectly plain" who he has been talking about in his references to the junior senator.

Daniel was a member of the Veteran's Land Board when he was attorney general. Other members at that time were Gov. Allan Shivers and Land Commissioner Bascom Giles.

Giles subsequently was sent to the penitentiary upon conviction of felonies in connection with administration of the 100 million dollar GI aid program.

O'Daniel promised that if elected governor he will go on the air as he did in his previous administration to "report to the poeple" on the progress of a housecleaning investigation.

"The people of Texas are hurt," O'Daniel said. "Their pride has been stamped into the mud and gutter by scandals in government."

Reservoirs Are Proposed

AUSTIN (AP)—Two presentations for proposed reservoirs were filed yesterday with the State Water Board.

They are:

The City of Brady, which plans to build a dam and reservoir on Brady Creek. Estimated cost is from $630,000 to $1,100,000.

The Limestone County Water Assn., which plans to build a dam and reservoir on the Navasota River.

The board set these hearings:

Aug. 13: Application of Charles Gullett of Denison for a water permit to appropriate 4,000 acre feet from an unnamed creek, a tributary of Red River, for industrial purposes.

Aug. 20: Wichita County Water District No. 6, request for organization, located one mile northwest of Wichita Falls, covering 206 acres. The district estimates it will spend $310,000 to install water and sanitary sewer facilities.

Colorado Crop Said Like Dust Bowl Years

DENVER (AP) —Colorado's crop situation is "quite similar" to that during the Dust Bowl years of 1934 and 1939, a U. S. Agriculture Department statistician said today.

In his monthly report, Floyd K. Reed said droughts in previous years have magnified the situation this summer. His harvests forecasts showed not one major Colorado crop is expected to match its production total last year. Generally the estimates are far below figures reported during the past 10 years.

FBI Moves Into Kidnaping Case

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Powerful FBI forces tackle the baffling case of kidnaped Peter Weinberger today.

Under federal law the FBI had to hold off officially for seven days after the kidnaping. Government agents could have moved into the case earlier if they had evidence the victim was spirited across state borders. After seven days the law presumes such a crossing.

One week ago a bold kidnaper snatched the tiny boy from his carriage in the patio of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger's home here. Weinberger, 48, is a well-to-do wholesale drug salesman.

The kidnaper grabbed the 5-week-old child in the middle of the afternoon and in full view of five other houses in this fashionable [illegible] Island community.

He left a neatly pencilled note demanding $2,000 ransom. Later a man believed to be the kidnaper telephoned the family and raised the demand to $5,000.

Police have found no trace of kidnaper or child. There is no way of knowing whether the infant is still alive. He needed a special formula of milk and a vitamin compound to survive.

Meanwhile, cranks and crackpots have called the heartbroken mother and tormented her with reports that they have the child or know where he is. All such reports have proved false so far.

But the 32-year-old mother, hoping against hope, has repeatedly taken $5,000 in cash and tried to rendezvous with kidnapers who only existed in the cruel minds of hoaxers.

A Westbury pastor said after a visit with her that she made two more futile trips yesterday.

Seventeen crank calls were received at the Weinberger home yesterday. All were anonymous. They came from as far away as Chicago and Portland, Me.

A radio network got a call from a woman who said she had the baby and was leaving it in a cont at Point Lookout on the south shore of Long Island.

Police rushed to the scene but found no trace of the baby.

Nearly $3-Billion In Surplus Moved

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower reported today that $2,953,000,000 of government owned surplus farm products have been disposed of—mostly abroad— under the Agricultural Trade Development Act of 1954.

He said in a semiannual report to Congress that nearly one half—or $1,264,800,000—was contracted for sale or donation during the first half of this year.

The act became effective in September, 1954. It authorizes the sale of surpluses to friendly countries for their own currencies, sales through barter deals, donations for famine relief and other assistance abroad and for welfare use at home.

The commodities were acquired under farm price support programs and the government still holds commodities valued at more than eight billion dollars.

In the report, Eisenhower called again for an increase of 1½ billion dollars in the amount of additional commodities which may be disposed of under the law.

Less than one-half of the commodities disposed of under agreements with foreign countries have been shipped, however, due to lags in shipping arrangements.

Eisenhower said that cotton ranked first in market value of the commodities disposed of. Wheat and four were next and food fats and oils third.

Two Break-Ins Are Reported

Snyder had two break-ins last night, according to the local sheriff's office.

Broken into were the B&B Steakhouse on the east highway and Wilson's Texaco Station, Big Spring Highway and Thirty-seventh Street.

Taken from the Texaco station were two tires, two car cushions, a set of car rugs and about $40 in money and cigarettes.

Two pairs of boots and an undetermined amount of cigarettes and money were reported taken from the B&B Steakhouse.

It's Dry Here; Man Has Fire In A Well

RICHARDSON, Tex. July 11 (AP) —It's been real dry in these parts. The fire department was called out this morning to put out a fire in Jess Trimp's water well.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Condray estimated $150 worth of paint was burned off the side of the house.

Condray attributed the blaze to a broken butane fuel line leaking into the well shaft and the fumes being ignited by a spark from the water pump.

Big A-Blast Is Recorded

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's national Weather Bureau said the United States today apparently set off the largest nuclear blast in this year's series of tests at the Bikini testing grounds.

The Central Meteorological Observatory announced that weather stations throughout the country recorded atmospheric changes indicating a nuclear blast around 3 a.m. (1 p.m., EST, Tuesday) in the direction of Bikini Atoll. The amplitude readings were the highest recorded on the sensitive barometer since the current series of tests began in early May.

The shock waves continued an hour.

The sensitive seismograph at Matsushiro Observatory, deep in the mountains 150 miles north of Tokyo, also recorded earth tremors indicating a blast occurred around 3 a.m.

were reasons for passage of the ordiance. The council made no move to change the present designation.

The council authorized Roy Dunlap, city manager, to receive bids on traffic controllers and interconnecting cables to be used on a project to synchronize several traffic signals on U. S. Highways 84 and 180. There is $6,000 budgeted for this, and that amount should handle synchronization of nine lights here on and near the square, Dunlap said.

The city manager said that with synchronized traffic signals the speed which traffic can move through the lights without stopping can be set at any rate desired, probably at 25 miles per hour. With a master control, the nine lights can all be turned red in case of fire to stop traffic, and they can all be turned on blinker at the same time at night.

Bids on this project will be taken at the council meeting of Aug. 6.

Dunlap was also authorized to receive bids on a 750-gallon-per-minute booster pump which will be used at the water filtration plant next summer to supply peak demands. These bids will be accepted at the council meeting Sept. 10. Dunlap said all city pumps are now running at capacity at peak hours and that by next summer the additional pump will be needed.

The council authorized the city to pay the engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith & Cooper of Lubbock $900 for fulfillment of a contract for engineering work at the sewer farm on proposed oxidation ponds. The ponds will be built this fall with city equipment.

The Scurry County Rodeo Association was given permission to hold its annual parade on the square July 18, with the provision that any sand or gravel put on the street corners must be removed by the next morning.

The council passed on second reading an ordinance authorizing the transfer of title to two lots at Avenue T and Twenty-third Street to the county in return for the county's half of the metal building being used for a National Guard armory. The county will use the lots for a library site.

Two rezoning ordinances were passed on first reading. One authorizes the change of lot 2, block 4, Dodson addition, from "R-1" to "C-2" on request of Charles Cooper. The other is for the change of the east 282 feet of lot 1 block 1, Highland addition, from "R-1" to "C-1" requested by Scott & Browning Building Co.

Adlai Is Due To Take 32 Georgia Votes

ATLANTA (AP)—Barring some development such as a convention blowup over a platform, Adlai Stevenson apparently is assured of Georgia's 32 votes for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Gov. Marvin Griffin, who will head the delegation to the Chicago convention, makes little secret of his leaning to the former Illinois governor.

An Associated Press poll of Georgia's 109 delegates and alternates shows that the governor's choice has substantial rank-and-file support.

Although State Chairman John Sammons Bell advised delegates not to answer the poll, 31 of them did.

Of that group, 23 listed Stevenson as their first choice. Six others said they are still undecided.

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri was the second choice of five delegates, and Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas by three. Griffin, former President Harry Truman, Ohio Gov. Frank Lausche and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee each got one second-choice nod.

Two second-choice designations also went to Stevenson.

The Georgia delegation will go to the convention uninstructed and will vote under the unit rule.

Heald New President Of Ford Foundation

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry T. Heald, of New York University, will become president of the multibillion-dollar Ford Foundation next Oct. 1.

The foundation named the 51-year-old educator to the post yesterday. He will succeed H. Rowan Gaither Jr., foundation president since March 1953 and chairman of the Board of Trustees since last May.

Gaither will continue as chairman.

The foundation's assets, estimated at 2½ billion dollars, have come chiefly from the Ford family and Ford Motor Co. stock.

Dru, Ireland Agree To Trial Separation

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Joanne Dru, nursing two black eyes, says she and John Ireland have agreed to a trial separation because "we want a little time" to work out problems.

"We have no intention at the moment of going to lawyers," she said yesterday.

Miss Dru, hospitalized for four days, blamed the black eyes on a minor traffic accident while driving home from a July 4 party.

Ireland also ended up in the hospital after the party. He said he took some sleeping pills that made him sick.

U.S. Officials Mum On Soviet Protest

By C. YATES MCDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pending further study, U.S. officials remained silent today on a Russian protest that American military aircraft flew over seven Soviet cities on three different days this month.

Pentagon officials said they had "no immediate comment or information" about what Russian Ambassador Georgi N. Zarubin described as incidents of "gross violation of Soviet air space."

Zarubin handed a formal protest to Secretary of State Dulles late yesterday. The State Department said it was a military matter and promptly turned it over to the Defense Department.

Zarubin told newsmen the flights took place July 4, 5 and 9. He described them as "an invasion of our air" and said "some of these planes remained there two hours and one half."

A Moscow radio broadcast heard in London said the planes came from Western Germany by way of Communist East Germany and Poland. Moscow said two of the planes were twin-engine medium bombers.

"The aforesaid violations of Soviet air space can only be assessed as deliberate and carried out for reconnaissance purposes," the broadcast quoted the protest note as saying. It described the flights as "deliberate action by certain U.S. elements to aggravate relations between the Soviet Union and the U.S.A."

The protest note said "the Soviet government expects the U.S. government to take measures to punish those guilty of these violations and to prevent such violations in the future."

The deepest penetration alleged by the Russians was over the city of Minsk, some 250 miles from the Baltic Sea Coast. Two of the points, Vilna and Kaunas, once belonged in the independent country of Lithuania which was gobbled up by the Soviets during World War II. The United States has never recognized this annexation.

Israeli Has Raid Drills

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) —Screaming air raid sirens and a series of explosions today set off the biggest civil defense air raid drills ever held in the Israeli sector of Jerusalem.

In two specified areas—the center of the city and the suburb of Beth Hakerem—traffic was halted and all persons were ordered to clear the streets and take shelter. Response was virtually 100 per cent.

The 10-minute air raid drill was carried out on the second day of civil defense exercises here. Yesterday's program involved only members of the Israeli civil defense organization.

As the civil defense operation was being held here, the Israeli government charged Jordan — which occupies the old city of Jerusalem—with organizing fedayeen (commando) bands to carry out acts of aggression along the Israeli-Jordan demarcation line.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman charged 99 incidents had occurred along the Jordan border since April 26 with six persons killed and seven injured. Jordan and Israel promised U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold April 26 to observe a cease-fire on the border.

Jacob Malik Says He Is All For Ike

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP) —Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik is an "Ike for President" booster.

"Have you heard the news?" asked Russia's envoy to Britain as he swept into a party last night given by Harry Hohler, British Foreign Office official.

Heads turned his way, awaiting some new pronouncement from the Kremlin.

"Sen. Knowland," said Malik, "has just announced that Ike is going to be a candidate. This is fine news."

Another guest laughingly commented it was strange hearing the Soviet ambassador hearing news about the American presidency.

"I'm for Eisenhower," said Malik. "The people of Europe know him. They like him and trust him. We can do business with President Eisenhower."

"It's summer," said Malik, changing the subject, "that means it's rose time. You should see my roses."

Someone asked him which roses.

"Last year," Malik explained, "the mayor of Harrogate (England) sent me some cuttings. I planted them in my garden and you should see them! I call them my peace roses."

Another guest suggested that Britain is peaceful territory.

"But this is in my embassy garden," said the ambassador. "That means they are growing no Soviet soil."

"There you go," said a guest who has known Malik for many years. "You are making propaganda."

A guest asked Malik for comment on British newspaper reports about Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev's intoxication at diplomatic parties.

"Come, come," said Malik, wagging a reproving finger, "naughty question."

Western Key Unlocks Small Eastern Gift

BALTIMORE (AP)—A western key unlocked a small, minor eastern mystery yesterday, and north and south got into the story, too.

Mrs. Jean Steg, 23, brought the Japanese lacquerware box to a northern police station here yesterday. A locksmith had been unable to open the wedding-anniversary gift from her husband, Airman 1-C Richard J. Steg, in Manila. It seems the key was inside.

Lieut. Frank Schmidt had a key handy—for handcuffs. This western device unlocked the musical box, which hen played a southern tune—"O Susanna."

The Outlook Is Bleak

One branch of the West German parliament approved the other day another step on the long and rocky road to rearmament. A bill to draft young men of 20 into the young republic's army was adopted, but that doesn't mean Germany is coming right up with her part of the NATO military strength.

In the first place, the bill still is lacking in the firmness that would insure its early final approval. In the second place, even if this is done it will be one full year before a single German youth is drafted, much less trained.

West Germany has about 30,000 volunteers under arms, and may have up to 90,000 within twelve months as the other young men come forward—if they do. But these are mere training cadres, necessary to the 500,000-man army Germany is ultimately expected to provide, but nothing more at the moment.

West Germany is now accounted the most powerful nation economically in the anti-Communist bloc in Europe. Her unexampled postwar prosperity has displaced Great Britain in that role. Britain has been counting on her exports to hold her financial house of cards together, particularly her automobile exports. But a few days ago, for the first time, West Germany sold more car abroad than Britain did. Faced with this staggering fact, faced also with the imminent loss or compromise of her Middle East markets and particularly her Middle East oil treasures, Britain faces a tremendous crisis.

Why should West Germany put up men and money for NATO when the U.S. and Britain, and particularly the U.S., will continue to provide the military strength to protect West Germany from the Communists? The West Germans never had it so easy. Even their chimerical 500,000-man army would be partly financed by Uncle Sam.

Britain will not be alone in her crisis. She could pull down all Western Europe with her, particularly her current arch-economical rival, West Germany. Let us look it in the face: the outlook it bleak.

Mr. Churchill's Idea

It was not exactly a secret that Winston Churchill at first dragged his feet, and at times seemed to drag the seat of his pants, in the matter of attacking Germany across the English Channel. That was the operation which, while costly, brought Hitler's destruction in less than one year.

Mr. Churchill, as he had been in WW I was obsessed with the "soft underbelly of Europe." His wish was partly fulfilled in the allied invasion of Italy, but the Germans made the peninsula a costly investment, and in the end the decision was made in the West.

A new book just out in Britain, an official British history of the war, recounts that the allied landings in the South of France in August of 1944 were carried out over the objections of Churchill. The book says he felt "it was a major strategic and political error" to draw troops from Italy for the French operation known as Anvil. But the invasion of Southern France paid off when the "Anvil troops linked up with Eisenhower's western invaders less than a month later

The book says Americans were suspicious that Churchill wanted to drag them into the Balkans, and says: "This he never contemplated doing. He had merely hoped to be able to give adequate help to Tito in Yugoslavia and he had viewed the whole Mediterranean problem from a purely military point of view."

Tito, it turned out, was fighting quite as much to perpetuate communism as anything else. It was he who instituted the practice of shooting down unarmed American transport planes over Yugoslav territory, after the war.

The British history asserts that throughout the war there was a "fundamental and indestructible sense of unity" in the British-American alliance. There had to be. It was that or curtains for all.

Nobody Appreciates Me

Constant Strain Makes Hypochrondriacs Of Many Actors, Henry Fonda Believes

NEW YORK D—There is a saying that, except for doctors, actors are among the worlds worst hypochrondriacs.

It is easy to see how a doctor, surrounded all day by ill health can become a hypochrondirac. Let him get even a degree of fever, and he can suspect a thousand things that may be wrong with him.

But why actors?

"It's the tension they live under," said Henry Fonda. "The theater is exacting. The necessity of making eight performances a week—month after month if you've got a hit play—gets you to worrying about your health.

"Even a sneeze will start you to brooding. Gradually, against your own better judgment, you turn into a kind of hypochondriac."

Fonda himself, however, seems to have the durability of a draft horse. He played "Mister Robert" on Broadway more than 1,000 times without missing a performance.

After appearing in more than 60 films and dozens of plays, Fonda has joined the growing ranks of stars who have formed their own companies to produce their own pictures.

He is refreshingly frank about why he finally turned producer.

"It's about the only way you can make any money and save it," he said. "You pay regular income tax on your salary. But on the profits of a picture you make as head of your own company you have to pay only a corporate tax. There's a big difference."

Fonda is president of Orion Productions, a title he picked merely because he didn't want to use his own name.

Fonda, who came from the Nebraska prairies, started out to be a newspaperman but, fortunately, couldnt find a job in that field. He worked as a physical training instructor, iceman, window dresser, garage mechanic and clerk before he became an actor.

Now ranked with Frederic March as one of the most versatile men in his profession, he is deeply serious about acting. The tribute he draws most often from other actors is this: "The guy has integrity."

Critics often have remarked that, like his friend, Jimmy Stewart, he has the abilpty to look effortless.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

SONG OF AMERICA. By George Mardikian. McGraw-Hill.

It was in 1938 that Mardikian bought out Coffee Dan's, which a dozen years before paid him $12 a week to wash dishes, and changed it to San Francisco's Omar Khayyam's — where meals have been eaten and reportedly relished by the world's great and near great, theatrical, political and artistical.

The story of Mardikian from the time he was a youngster burning his fingers on the kitchen stove in his far-off Armenian homeland is told, and even told with gestures by Mardikian himself.

Good mouth-filling names abound — Aram, Baidzar, Arshag, Naz, Armen, Hatchig, Krikor, Vahram, and Markarian. Chalikian, Ruzvanian, Mosesian, Calfayan. Good mouth-filling dishes also are found on page after page, like rice pilaff and shish kebab. The whole book indeed is a fine foil for the numerous tomes now being published about how to reduce.

The change from Armenia to America, though the names sound related, was however a tremendous task for the Mardikians. Old customs are shed for new. There is no complaint from Mardikian about standardization; he sees America as the land of the free, as the embodiment of the wonderful promise made to starry-eyed migrants by the Statue of Liberty.

The last half of this biography, telling of the author's successes as master cook to Army sergeants and as restaurateur honored by the White House, read somewhat like the conventional success story, and no doubt it sounds best of all to the immigrant authors. But the American native, used to all this, may well prefer the colorful, exuberant and sentimental account of Mardikian's early years and the habits and customs he left behind.

India Edwards Confident That Democrats Can Win

By INEZ ROBB

Never underestimate the confidence of a woman, particularly if she is India Edwards, the political nonpareil who resigned last week as vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee to join the pre-convention forces of "Honest Ave" Harriman.

Nobody, but NOBODY, thought Harry Truman had a Chinaman's chance of winning the 1948 election except Mr. Truman and India, the President's tower of strength on his whistle-stop campaigns.

And nobody, but NOBODY in his heart of hearts, believes the Democarts have a ghost of a show in '56 if President Eisenhower runs again — except India.

"Certainly, the Democrats can win," India said briskly the other day as she packed her bags preparatory to going to Chicago, her old home town, to act as co-director of Harriman's nation campaign headquarters in that metropolis.

"I really do think we can win," insisted India, one of the most brilliantly gifted female politicians this nation has produced, as she talked about Democratic prospects in general, post-convention campaign strategy and how to win votes and influence friends.

"Now I don't think Eisenhower can be defeated by a middle-of-the road campaign or candidate," continued India, largely explaining in that one sentence why she tossed her political gifts to the more radical Harriman rather than the middle-road Stevenson faction.

"With a properly conducted campaign," said this devoted friend and admirer of "Give'm Hell Harry," "we can defeat Mr. Eisenhower on both foreign and domestic issues. The President's personal popularity will have nothing to do with it if the Democrats remain a fighting, liberal party."

But India, a Chicago newspaperwoman for a quarter of a century, is impatient with talk of a whistle-stop campaign in 1956. That kind of a campaign is only successful, she said, "when you have a candidate or a personality like Harry Turman".

"Today, television is God's gift to politicians," she said, "but it is a medium that ought to be used with imagination."

India used teevee with so much imagination in a speech before the Democratic national convention in 1948 that it is still spoken of with awe in political and teevee circles. She made inspired use of visual aids, including an uncooked steak over which, it is rumored, Ed Murrow and John Daly struggled for possession when the broadcast ended and India forgetfully left the steak on the rostrum.

As for peculiarly Democratic problems, India feels the present open fight in the party is good for it, that the contention will end with the convention and there will be no bitterness afterward.

"I don't think the South will take a walk, or that there will be any third party. And I think we'll win."

People From All Walks Of Life Shared Common Grave After Great Air Disaster

By BILL BECKER
Associated Press Reporter

Big and Small, young and old, rich or in moderate circumstances, 128 persons shared a common grave in the Grand Canyon.

Death came alike to captains of industry and lesser workers when the United and TWA airliners tangled with fate, and apparently each other, less than 90 minutes out of Los Angelos on June 30.

Carl J. Snyder, 58, Chrysler Corp. director, vice president and operating manager, was returning home to Bloomfield Hills, a Detroit suburb, after attending the funeral of his uncle in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Snyder was unable to get a seat on the United airliner. She went back by train after the crash was verified.

On the TWA plane were Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Noel of Scarsdale, N. Y. Noel, 65, was a partner in the Wall Street brokerage firm of Van Alstyne, Noel and Co. and director of six companies.

The Noels had visited a son in San Francisco, planned to stop a day with a daughter in St. Louis.

Another executive lost was Gerald Murchison, 51, vice president of an Indianapolis jewelry firm, Herff-Jones Co. Murchison, a former University of Pennsylvania and Illinois athlete, was the younger brother of former Olympic sprinter Loren Murchison.

A young guided missiles expert, Noel Gottesman, 30, of Huntington Woods, Mich., died because he liked to make movies while flying.

Gottesmwn, rated a mathematical wizard by his employer, the Bendix Aviation Corp., headed an analytical group of six who had been looking into a project on the West Coast. Most of the others took a plane back to Detroit the night before. But Gottesman waited daylight for his movies.

Ironically, stormclouds covered his best potential subject — the Grand Canyon—when the plane arrived over it. At 21,000 feet the United airliner, some conjecture, might have been zig-zagging to afford passengers some sort of view of the big gulch, fairly common practice among airline pilots flying the route.

Whether Gottesman got his pictures probably will never be known.

Walter M. Fuchs, 75, head of a Detroit blueprint firm, returning with Mrs. Fuchs, was the proud recipient of a plaque presented to him at a Los Angeles convention. His industry had acknowledged his 50-year contribution.

Women of importance in their communities, many of them mothers or grandmothers, were on both planes.

Mrs. Gertrude Coyne Book, 62, was the wife of the owner of the Book Building, Detroit skyscraper. She had been with her daughter when a new granddaughter arrived in San Diego.

Mrs. Phyllis Berman, 46, had been consulting with officials of City of Hope, Duarte, Calif., a charity cancer foundation. Mrs. Berman was national volunteer chairman of auxiliaries.

But the cross-section ran much deeper on both planes. Those pretty girls on TWA were Janice Haas, 20, college senior of Springfield, Mo., and Sally Cressmen, 22, Leavenworth, Kan., nurse. The score or so passengers traveling on TWA passes included an extra stewardess, clerks, stenographers, a pilot's wife, various officials and their relatives.

Lillian Carple, 39, a Los Angeles elevator operator, had saved up for a Kansas City vacation. Miss Lillian Hahn, 46, was making her first flight to see relatives in Detroit.

Mrs. Esther Sharp, 40, East St. Louis, Ill., was corresponding secretary for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

A Los Angeles secretary, Roberta Wilde, almost missed the United airliner when she forgot her handbag and had to return to her apartment for it. She was headed for a visit with her parents in LaGrange, Ill.

Stanley J. Weiss, 37, Detroit arsenal research chief, was hurrying to get home for the arrival of his fourth child.

Perhaps Robert Perisho, 30, an abalone diver, with a booming laugh, will be remembered as long as anyone.

The night before he took off he had a few drinks with friends at a Long Beach cafe. He had never flown before and, as he put it, he'd feel more at home in 10 fanthoms of water.

"Why, if that plane so much as hits an air pocket," he laughed, "I'll die of heart failure."

His pals roared.

Saturday morning he boarded the TWA plane for St. Louis, where his sister Mrs. Fred Huddleston, Casey, Ill., was waiting when the news came of the crash.

That night, after his Long Beach pals heard what had happened, they went back to the cafe and drank a final toast to Perisho.

They then smashed their glasses on the floor.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Strangers At Capital Parties Are Given Tip

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON— A cup of tea is a woman's best friend if she is a stranger at a party says a Washington hostess whose courses in fashion and manners at Southeastern University here have attracted many of the capital's official wives and daughters over the past few years.

Mrs. Gladstone Williams, director of the university's popular finishing and modeling school, advises newcomers to the party - front to head for the tea table when they find themselves at loose ends.

"Aside from giving a person something to do with his hands, a cup of tea can provide an opener in conversation with others, says Mrs. Williams, who with her journalist husband, entertains many of the town's bigwigs in her own home. "You never feel alone as you walk up to examine a painting, or glance over books and bibelots on the hostess' shelves."

"Women of background, good manners and training often are stymied by the rules and regulations governing entertaining here," she points out. "There's the problem of rank, the recognizing of one person's importance compared to that of another. In the diplomatic circles there's the consideration of customs, tastes and form of many different nationalities."

To best demonstrate these idiosyncracies, Mrs. Williams gives teas, receptions and dinners in her own chic home. Students are urged to forget their own identity and take on the role of honored and distinguished guests as well as those of maid, butler or footman to get a working idea of what is expected of each at a given affair.

The business of protocol is only one phase of the course, which has graduated 2,500 since starting in 1947. Students also learn self - confidence, how to walk, sit, stand, enter a room, keep a conversation going; how to dress, use make up, correct figure faults, set a dinner table, plan a menu and train a servant, how to eat an artichoke and handle a fingerbowl.

Classes are limited to 128 a semester and are open to all ages from 13 to 60. Next year's classes are already filled.

Egyptians Conservative When It Comes To Marrying

By DAVID HINNAWI

CAIRO (AP)— Egyptians may be allowed four wives but right now they are not making much of it. There are over a quarter million women in Cairo without husbands. From the looks of it most of them are on the manhunt.

This city of 2½ million suffers from one of the most acute marriage problems in the world. More than a third of the population is single, national census figures say.

In a Cairo University questionnair almost all the coeds said they wanted to be married and 80 per cent declared they would lease the university if they found a husband.

The problem is not scarcity of males. In Cairo 88 per cent of the men are bachelors. Only one out of every seven get married during any one year.

The number of polygamous marriages, permitted under Moslem law, in Egypt's capital is less than 7 per cent.

What causes the marriage freeze?

The men blame the economic and social system. In Egypt it's the bridegroom who settles a dowry on the bride, not her parents. A marriage without such a grant is almost unheard of. And parents insist their daughters do as well as any sisters who might have preceded them into matrimony.

The ladies also require expensive diamond wedding rings as a measure of social status. But the average Cairo man earns no more than $60 a month. He is not financially independent until his late 20s.

The peak marriage age for the men is 28, while most girls marry in their teens. A girl past 20 years has a lot to worry about.

Cairo is a tough town for widows—only 2.4 per cent ever marry again. Divorced women have a slim 22 per cent chance of remarrying.

Sociologists believe Cairo's marriage problem will not be solved until more women work and dowries are abolished. Both these suggestions are looked upon unfavorably in this conservative Moslem country.

Ike Is Expected To Sign Stern Narcotics Measure

By JAMES MARLOW
By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has tried to make dope-peddling a truly hazardous occupation — and save thousands from the drug habit—by voting to boost the penalties on both selling and possessing narcotics.

President Eisenhower is expected to sign the bill written and sponsored by Sen. Price Daniel of Texas.

For a peddler who sells heroine —the most habit-forming of all the narcotics—to a child under 18 the proposed penalty is toughest of all: death, if a jury brings in that verdict, or life imprisonment, or 10 years to life.

This death penalty may chill the blood of "pushers" or peddlers who do the direct selling to addicts. It remains to be seen whether it scares the big-time operators who sell to peddlers and not to addicts.

In this country there are at least 60,000 addicts — according to government figures — who spend a minimum of 350 million dollars a year on drugs. But more is involved. Since many can't afford the drug they crave, they steal to get the money.

Roughly about 25,000 persons are arrested yearly for narcotics violations.

Harry J. Anslinger, chief of the government's Narcotics Bureau, who calls drug addiction "murder on the installment plan,' figures that known addicts under 21 are about 13 per cent of all addicts.

Government estimates early this year listed the 10 "worst" cities for dope addication as New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit, Cleveland, Washington, San Francisco, Cincinnati, St. Louis and San Antonio.

Bird A Walking Bank; Gizzard Yields $1.26

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The gizzard of a large South American rhea at the San Diego Zoo has yielded $1.26. Barney Sheridan of the zoo research laboratory said the bird, which resembles an ostrich, died recently and was found to be a "walking bank." An autopsy brought the discovery of two half dollars, one quarter and a penny.

The coins had nothing to do with the bird's death. Sheridan said.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — When Martha Rountree thought up the idea for "Press Conference," she said she was going to make news. She certainly has.

Just who will be her guest on her weekly NBC-TV program this evening (Wednesday, 8 p.m., eastern daylight time) is unknown at this writing. Presumably Miss Rountree knows, but she's not telling. She seeks the element of surprise. Certainly she'll have to go some to top last week's program.

Last week Miss Rountree brought before the cameras the Attorney. General of the United States, Herbert Brownell, who announced that the government would file an anti-trust suit against General Motors, the world's largest manufacturing concern.

To every newsman in the country, as well as to the 16 assembled by Miss Rountree to question Brownell, this was front page news.

Well, "Press Conference" made the front pages all right. But it's doubtful if Miss Rountree expected to make the editorial pages. She did, however. Editorials declared emphatically, that a commercially sponsored TV show is not the place to break important government news.

It's doubtful whether any newspaper-trained viewer is competent to judge whether a press conference provides stimulating interest to the majority of viewers.

It's probable that a majority of "Press Conference" viewers last week failed to realize the importance or implications of what they'd heard until they read the news in their papers. The wave of reporters' questions fired at Brownell engulfed the one piece of hard news dropped.

Possibly the public finds great drama in a group of reporters questioning a national leader. But a press conference can become monotonous. Reporters can bring only so much verve and interest to it. From there on it's up to the individual being questioned. If he continually sidesteps of declines comment it can turn out to be very dull indeed.

In television the best actor may appear to be the best reporter. An interesting fact about "Press Conference" is that it's taking quite a few working reporters to cover the activities of all those acting reporters on the TV screen.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

SOME HAVE BEEN wondering how the New York Yankees have managed to hold a comfortable lead in the American League race when they have only one pitcher—Whitey Ford—who can win with consistency.

The Yankees this year are using the same receipe as the Dodgers have long used to win National League flags—mercilessly trampling the tail-enders.

The Yanks have treated lowly Kansas City and Baltimore unmercifully this season and, as result, the Bombers are coasting toward another pennant.

In the current season, the Yankees have won nine out of 10 from Washington and nine out of 11 from Kansas City, a total of 18 wins against only three defeats against the bottom two teams in the American Loop.

At that rate, the Yanks can just about break even with their nearest pursuers and emerge with another pennant.

No. 1 Solution Of Winning A Pennant

Baseball experts say this is the best way to win a pennant, beating the lower clubs almost every time out.

This is good but it doesn't help much in readying a club for the World Series. If a club can't beat their nearest pursuers during the season with much regularity then they can't hope to beat the champion of the other league in the World Series.

That's what has been happening to the Dodgers in the past. And if things continue with the Yankees this season as it has up to now, then the Bombers, too, will be unprepared to take on the NL champ.

The fact remains, though, that winning a pennant is the principal objective of a ball club and more power to any club that can win regardless of how they do it.

The World Series is an anti-climax to a club's season after it has won a pennant.

If pitching represents 80 percent the strength of a ball club, then the Pony League All-Stars here should do right well in the playoffs.

In Monday night's intra-squad game, the six pitchers who saw action gave up only four hits among them.

Prospects Good From Both Sides

Norman Gladson, Terry Lee and John Weaver give the local all-stars plenty of right handed strength while Tim Roberts and Ronnie Jones are pretty fair portside chunkers.

The local Pony League stars will meet Colorado City in the sub-district playoff at a site and date yet to be determined.

The series will be played between July 23-28.

Bill Valentine, incidentally, is the Pony League All-Star manager. We overlooked Bill in Sunday's release of the All-Star selections.

Valentine did a fine job with the Court House Tigers during the past season, guiding the Bengals to an undefeated season. It was the first undefeated season recorded for a local Pony team since the Pony League was introduced here four years ago.

Valentine will be assisted by Lester Gladson and Junior Corbell. All other Pony managers during the past season will also serve as assistants.

Ellis Kinder To White Sox

CHICAGO (AP)—Ellis Kinder, 41-year-old right-handed relief pitcher, was acquired by the Chicago White Sox from the St. Louis Cardinals today on inter-league waivers.

Kinder, who compiled a 2-0 record with the Cardinals, was sold to St. Louis last winter by the Boston Red Sox where he had a 1955 mark of 5-5.

Kinder broke into the majors with the old St. Louis Browns in 1946 and has a lifetime record of 99 victories and 70 losses. He enjoyed his greatest season with the Boston Red Sox in 1949 when he posted a 23-6 mark.

McAlester Closes In On Leading Lawton

By The Associated Press

The McAlester Rockets failed by one percentage point in their effort to dislodge the Lawton Braves from second place in the Sooner State League standings.

The Rockets downed the Braves 2-1 Tuesday night, pulling even on games.

Ardmore lost, 14-8, to the Seminol Oilers, Muskogee took a 8-7 triumph over the Ponca City Cubs, and Paris maintained its first division berth with a 3-0 win over Shawnee.

Hermleigh 9 Cinches Tie For City Title

An unearned run in the bottom of the seventh inning handed Hermleigh a 7-6 victory over Snyder Furniture in a City League game last night at Towle Memorial Park.

The win enabled Hermleigh to clinch at least a tie for the first half crown. Only one game remains to be played in the first half, Sun Oil meeting Ira Saturday night in the finale.

Sun can tie Hermleigh for the first half title by winning Saturday.

In last night's game, Snyder Furniture outhit Hermleigh, 9-4, but the Furnituremen committed seven errors that led to their downfall.

The most costly error came in the bottom of the seventh inning. With one away and two on and the score tied at 6-6, Dwayne Prince fanned Doug Chitsey for the second out but on the play Bill Houston swiped third and then trotted home with the winning run when catcher Minton's throw went into left field.

Price pitched three innings of hitless ball in relief but was charged with the loss. Ted Masters, who relieved Grady Gafford in the top of the seventh, was credited with the victory.

The Furniture nine tied the score in the top of the seventh with a two-run uprising.

Neal Boyd, Tommy Prichard and Bill Hanks each collected two safeties for Snyder Furniture. Hermleigh's four hits were split among four players.

HELP NATIONALS WIN—These happy ball players, helped the National League score a 7-3 victtory over the American League in the 23rd All-Star game played at Washington. Left to right: Manager Walt Alston, Ken Boyer of St. Louis, Stan Musial of St. Louis and Willie Mays of the New York Giants. Musial and Mays each hit homers. Boyer got three hits in five times at bat.

Redlegs Respond In All-Star Tilt

By JOE REICHLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1956 All-Star Game, won by the National League yesterday 7-3, furnished proof it is no accident that the Cincinnati Redlegs are in first place in their circuit.

Furthermore, it is the consensus of Brooklyn Manager Walter Alston, Cincinnati's own pilot Birdie Tebbetts, a majority of the writers and the 28,843 spectators that the Redlegs are going to be tougher than ever.

Alston, who directed the winning National League All-Stars, praised the six Cincinnati players in action, five in the starting lineup.

Boyer Shines In All-Star Game Debut

WWSHINGTON (AP) — Before the All-Star Game, the fans were talking about all those Cincinnati Reds and such sluggers as Stan Musial, Ted Williams and Mickey Mantle.

The half-dozen Reds, Musial, Mantle and Williams came through in style, but the St.Louis third baseman was as much a star as any of them in his first time in the classic.

Manager Walt Alston of the victorious (7-3) Nationals said if he had to single out a player as his best, it would be Boyer.

The 25-year-old major league sophomore from Berkeley, Mo., also evoked words of praise from rival manager Casey Stengel of the Americans.

"Very good boy, very good," declared Stengel, who is noted for not mentioning names. "That third base fellow cut us out of a rally or two."

Stengel meant that Boyer's fielding stopped the Americans three times before they could get going.

On the first play of the game, Boyer speared a liner off the bat of Detroit's Harvey Kuenn and in the fifth he robbed Kuenn again by knocking down a hard drive and tossing to first.

In the seventh, pinch hitter Ray Boone of Detroit laced one right down the third base line but Boyer caught it to a roar of surprise from the stands.

While his defense was a highlight, Boyer also justified Alston's confidence in giving him the cleanup batting spot over such veterans as the Cardinal's Musial, Gus Bell of Cincinnati and Dale Long of Pittsburgh.

Boyer hit three straight singles and in the fifth batted in what turned out to be the winning run.

Noting that three — first baseman Ted Kluszewski, shortstop Roy McMillan and second baseman Johnny Temple — accounted for six of the National's 11 hits, scoring three runs and driving in two more, he said meaningfully:

"Their performance here should help them the rest of the season."

Kluszewski had two doubles in two times at bat and drove in a run. Temple had two hits, one RBI and a stolen base, and McMillan had two singles. In addition, Temple and McMillan executed the only double play of the game to snuff out the American's biggest threat.

"I'm proud of my guys," said Tebbetts, the Nationals first base coach. "A lot of wise-guys snickered when all those men of mine were voted to the All-Stars. After what they did, we don't have to apologize to anybody. This was good experience for my players. It should give them the confidence they need for the second half of the race."

Except for third baseman Ken Boyer of the Cardinals, one of the stars of the game, only McMillan and Temple played throughout for the Nationals. Alston employed 17 players as compared with 21 used by Casey Stengel of the Americans.

As Alston saw it, the key hit in the game that produced the Nationals' sixth victory in the last seven games, and their 10th in the series of 23, was the homer by Willie Mays, a bench warmer until the fourth inning.

The Nationals held a slim 1-0 lead when Mays came up to bat for Gus Bell after Boyer had slashed the second of his three straight singles.

Left-hander Whitey Ford of the Yankees was on the mound, having replaced starter Billy Pierce of the White Sox at the beginning of the inning. Pierce and Bob Friend had waged a fine pitching duel for three innings, Billy yielding the only run that far in the third.

Mays missed the first pitch, then walloped a 400-foot home run halfway up the left-center field bleachers at Griffith Stadium to give the Nationals a 3-0 bulge. The Americans never caught up, although Ted Williams' two-run circuit blow in the sixth, immediately followed by Mickey Mantle's homer, cut the winners' margin to 5-3. The Nationals had tallied single runs in the fifth and sixth.

"Mays' pinch homer was the turning point," said Alston. "It gave us a comfortable lead and put them on the defensive. After that it was just a matter of getting good pitching from everybody."

TIGERS HIRE EX-K-STATE QUARTERBACK

Jim Staley, former quarterback for Gansas State, has been added to the Snyder High School coaching staff.

Staley will succeed Jack Dillon who resigned recently.

Staley will take over Dillon's duties as "B" team football coach and head track coach.

The new mentor will move with his family to Snyder this weekend.

Hartack On Win Streak

CHICAGO (AP)—Jockey Bill Hartack, bringing in longshots and favorites alike with the regularity of a metronome, currently is on one of the winningest streaks in track history.

The handsome little 112-pounder, who pulled on the racing silks only four years ago at the age of 19, booted home 17 winners in a four-day span at Arlington Park last week.

Through yesterday, when he had two winners at Arlington, he boosted his total for the season to 175. He now is tied with his arch rival, Willie Shoemaker, who is riding in California.

Hartack still is far off the mark set by Bobby Permane at Tropical Park in April of 1944. Permane won 18 of 29 races with a triple on April 5 and five winners each day April 6, April 7 and April 8.

Hartack, whose lifetime ambition when he was a schoolboy in Belsano, Pa., was to be a bandsman, broke Shoemaker's two-year stranglehold on the jockey championship last year. He rode 417 winners on 1,702 mounts while Willie the Shoe scored with 307.

The two rivals have been feuding for national honors since 1953 when Hartack brought in 350 and was runner-up to Shoemaker, who had the biggest year in American racing with 485.

IN LITTLE LEAGUE

West Texas Bank, Lions Club Win

The West Texas State Bank Athletics and Lions Club Cubs notched Little League victories last night.

The Athletics used two booming three-run homers to defeat the Trinity Methodist White Sox, 9-7, in the opener with the Cubs capitalizing on Weldon Ware's pitching and hitting to nip the Kiwanis Club Braves in the nightcap, 5-4.

Gilbert Merritt and Bob Pena clouted the three-run homers for the Athletics. Both blows came in the first inning when the A's jumped off to a 7-0 lead.

The White Sox fought back to pull within one run of catching up with four runs in the third and two more in the fourth that made it 7-6. But that was close as the White Sox could come in catching up as relief pitcher Merritt held the Sox in check the final two innings.

Merritt, in addition to his homer, added two singles to his credit to lead both teams at the plate. Merritt was also credited with the pitching decision.

Ware of the champion Cubs and the Braves' Bubba Fleming hooked up in a battle of strikeouts in the second game, each recording 14 whiffs. But Ware gave up only four hits to eight Fleming gave up.

The Braves threatened in the bottom of the sixth when Richard Smith and Larry McNair hit back-to-back singles after one was away. Both moved up on a wild pitch but were stranded when last two Braves batsmen.

Ware had a perfect night at the plate with a double and two singles in three official trips.

McNair got two of the four hits the Braves collected off Ware.

San Benito Honors Its Bobby Morrow

By BILL GIBSON

SAN BENITO, Tex. (AP)—San Benito showed its most famous athlete what it thought of him last night. Bobby Morrow, said the townspeople, is not only the greatest sprinter in the world but he's a great man to go with it.

Morrow, the Abilene Christian College track star who won both the 100 meters and 200 meters in the Olympic trials and will represent the United States in the Olympic Games in Austrialia next November, was honored on "Bobby Morrow Day" in San Benito.

It was all climaxed with a big banquet in which 400 persons paid him tribute.

K. L. Wilson, president of the Olympic Committee; Gov. Allan Shivers, Sen. Lyndon Johnson and the White House were among those sending him congratulatory telegrams.

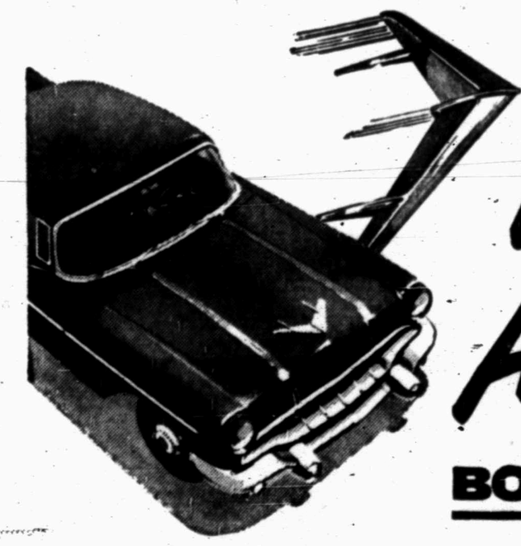

Jim Woods of Minnesota, coach of the United States Olympics track team, wired that Morrow was "the greatest sprinter in the world."

Heavy weight Harold Carter of Linden, N. J., won 26 of 27 bouts as an amateur, losing only to Floyd Patterson in the Eastern Golden Gloves finals.

Demos Make Issue Of GOP Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several Democrats challenged President Eisenhower today to raise Congress' handling of his legislative program as an issue in the coming campaign.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said the Democrats are well armed with facts about a lack of Republican support in Congress for foreign aid, which Eisenhower reportedly pledged yesterday to stress in the campaign.

"Before Eisenhower starts trying to convince millions with his leap year liberalism, I suggest that he try convincing about 225 Republicans in Congress who don't go along with him," Humphrey said.

"It might be better for him to campaign a little for the farmers and small businessmen, for the old age pensioners and the children in desperate need of school rooms."

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said Eisenhower will have to explain how Republicans helped bottle up a Senate-passed housing bill in the House.

In Chicago, Adlai E. Stevenson, front-running contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, said the country would "benfit in the coming months from a searching and vigorous debate on our urgent problems."

Sen. Kerr (D-Okla) predicted Eisenhower will be defeated in November "on the issues — farm policy, defense policy, foreign policy and others."

Eisenhower's intention to stay in the running for a second term was announced after he met with GOP congressional leaders yesterday at Gettysburg, Pa.

New Sabine River Dam Under Study

DALLAS (AP)—Officials of the Sabine River Authority and members of a Dallas water committee this weekend are to consider an operations contract for the building of a new dam and reservoir on the Sabine.

The reservoir, to be located about 45 miles east of Dallas, would provide the city with a new water source.

The Dallas Long Range Water Committee headed by W. G. Vollmer will meet Friday to consider the operations contract, and directors of the Sabine Authority will meet on Saturday.

Expected approval by the two groups would open the way for the Dallas City Council to give final approval, probably next Monday.

John W. Wimmons of Orange, executive vice president and general manager of the Sabine Authority, who will be in charge of the project, said that the meeting will be "for final consideration of the contract."

"I feel that everything is OK, and that we will be going into action in the next few weeks," Simmons said. "As soon as the contract is approved, we will submit a budget to Dallas for the first three months of operation, covering the setting up of offices at Greenville and a start on buying of land."

He said the authority has retained engineers Forrest & Cotton to design the 6-mile-long dam, which will be built at the Toin Bridge site between Van Zandt and Raines counties.

"Their contract calls for completion of plans and specifications by the middle of 1957, which means that we will be well on the way with construction by the first of 1958," Simmons said.

Under the Sabine Authority's authorization from the Texas Legislature, work on the reservoir must be started by Jan. 1, 1958.

Dallas will pay the estimated $20,000,000 cost of the reservoir and receive 80 per cent of its water—a supply estimated at 160,000,000 gallons a day. That would double Dallas' present water supply potential.

CHICAGO (AP)—A portrait bust of George Bernard Shaw was presented to Mayor Richard J. Daley yesterday but the mayor doesn't plan to keep it.

The bust was given to Daley, whose roots go back to Ireland, by Hal Schor to create interest in the 100th anniversary of Shaw's birth, July 26. Daley, asked if he was aware that Shaw had been classified as anti-Irish, said: "We Irish are a tolerant race."

However, he said he would ask the Chicago Historical Society if it would like to relieve him of this work of art.

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP)—A 17-year-old bride of four weeks was credited with saving the life of her husband after ignited gasoline turned his body into a torch last night.

Ernest Leroye Strawn, 19-year-old construction worker, was cleaning asphalt from his clothes with gasoline when the flame from a nearby water heater ignited the fumes.

"There were flames all over him. I looked for a towel or something to wrap around him. I couldn't find one. So I wrapped my arms around him and pulled him against me. I held him and hugged him all over. That smothered most of the fire. Then he saw the bed and rolled up in a bed spread," Mrs. Strawn said.

Hospital attendants said Strawn was in a "very serious condition." Mrs. Strawn was treated for burns on her arms and her foot.

Their two-room home was destroyed by the fire.

Mexico To War On 'Cotton Dumping'

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico yesterday in effect declared economic war on what it called the United States "cotton dumping" program.

Government banking circles said today the United States cotton policy is a "direct threat to Mexican trade," and that an unprecedented program, including increased production, is being planned to counteract it.

The Comercio Exterior, monthly publication of thesemi-official Banco Nacional de Comercio Exterior said the program so far includes:

1. Increased production to flood world markets with cheaper priced cotton.

2. Asharp reduction in the ad valorem tax on cotton, to enable growers to sell it cheaper on the world market.

3. Restriction of Mexican workers to United States cotton fields, a move apparently designed to boost costs in the north.

4. Improvement of Mexico's high -grade cotton through a planned technological program.

5. Bilateral trade pacts with cotton-buying countries such as Japan, Germany, the United Kingdom and others.

"No doubt it will be a close struggle, but Mexico has no reason to back down," Comercio Exterior said.

The article then went on to say that the move to increase production is a direct reversal in policy over the past few years As production climbed and Mexico's surplus grew, every effort was made to encourage farmers to turn to other crops.

But now, says Comercio Exterior:

'Rather than restrict production and give up the field to the United States, output was increased to make up in volume what may be lost in price, and the best prices for the best grades, which are Mexican, will help Mexico to partially ease the disastrous effects of the dumping."

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—There were plenty of offers to help two deliverymen when they dropped a bag they were carrying.

The bag, destined for a downtown bank, contained 1,000 silver dollars.

The dollars scattered across the sidewalk and into a gutter. A bank official said most of them were recovered.

Policeman Gives His Wife Traffic Ticket

PROVO, Utah (AP)—A police officer who gave his wife a parking ticket asked newsmen not to use his name because "things at home are going to be tough enough as it is." The officer said he spotted his car next to a time-spent meter. His wife had driven downtown to shop.

Ruler Must Cut Expenses

LONDON (AP)—The Maharajah of Jaipur said today he is down to his last four elephants and is turning one of his five remaining palaces into a hotel.

It isn't that the 44-year-old Maharajah is starving, or anything like that.

But his income, once fabulous, is a paltry $335,000 a year since —under the new order of things in India—he became governor of Jaipur instead of its absolute ruler.

With this kind of money, he told a reporter, he cannot afford to run half a dozen palaces. He has been forced already to cut his staff of 600 servants in half, and has given one palace to the Indian government for use as a guest house.

He figures he can still keep about four palaces going and, he explained, "It would be silly to leave the fifth empty, so we will turn it into a family business."

The State of Jaipur, which has three million population, has no luxury hotel at present, he said, although it is "becoming one of the biggest tourist centers in India."

Too Much Farm Land Going To The Military

ATLANTA (AP)—Officials of the National Assn. of Soil Conservation districts say the government is swallowing up too much good farm land for military bases.

At a meeting yesterday, the officials said the $2,132,886,000 military construction bill just sent to the White House represented an increasing land-grabbing trend of the military.

"The military says they always have to have strategic land for bases and land always turns out to be good farm land," said Clair P. Guess Jr. of League City, Tex., program adviser of the association.

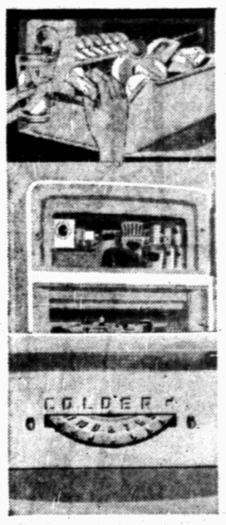

"Concrete doesn't grow peaches too well."

Crowd Cheers Man Stoning City Hall

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A quickly gathering crowd cheered when Claiborne Reed started throwing stones and broken bricks at the City Hall.

"I guess they figured he was protesting against taxes," said one of the officers who collared Reed, 28.

Police learned that Reed had threatened to stone the City Hall unless given a letter qualifying him for welfare aid.

Reed was charged with malicious mischief and disturbing the peace.

Post-Wedding Era Not As People Of Monaco Expected

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Monacans have two complaints since Grace Kelly married Prince Rainier. Some argue that Monaco is under too much American influence. Others moan that Americans are practically ignoring the country.

As for Princess Grace, they hardly know what to say. She has appeared in public, with advance announcement, only twice since the wedding—when she returned from the honeymoon, and to go to a special Mass July 4.

Another time she and the Prince stepped onto the balcony of the palace—unannounced but expected—to watch a folklore festival on the big plaza. Most of the time the couple has either remained in the palace or ducked out quietly, sometimes to watch a movie downtown.

The fact that Princess Grace and the Prince chose the Fourth of July for their first official outing rankled Monacans just a little. The fact that the Prince pardoned an American convicted of a plot to use loaded dice at the [illegible] casino did not go without notice and some tongue wagging.

Further American influence is cited in the fact that Andre Brunde Pontet, a Wall Street private banker, has been named a technical financial counselor to the Monacan government and a member of the committee which oversees placing of its funds.

Those who complain that Americans are avoiding Monaco were perhaps too optimistic in their expectations of what the marriage would do for the country.

Official figures show 1,058 Americans tourists in May and 1,118 in June. These figures are quite a letdown for the business people who dreamed of Monaco as a main point of interest in Europe. The American arrivals have increased sharply — from 625 and 575 in the same months of 1955 — but not enough to satisfy the merchants. And the American visitors haven't been big spenders. Only 5 per cent are visiting the casino.

However, since Americans need no visas to visit Monaco, the Tourist Bureau figures don't count those who drop in for one day or less. And almost everyone can cover all the sights in the 368-acre principality in one day.

The wedding was a success for the Monacan treasury. The expenses were finally totaled up to about $450,000. This was covered by the sale of a special issue of postage stamps, which brought in $571,422.

Outside the postage stamps, the state had little opportunity to cash in on the event. It is reported, however, that Prince Rainier has a private interest in the company which made a color movie of the ceremonies.

If any Americans have the idea of coming to Monaco to see Princess Grace, they would do better to go to a movie in which she is appearing. Palace protocol won't pass anyone except old personal friends. In the next few months, the couple will be traveling extensively. First it will be a trip to Paris, then to the home of Rainier's mother near Paris. In August they will go for another trip in the Mediterranean on the Prince's yacht. In September they plan to leave for the United States.

Nixon Move Challenged By Kefauver

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) today challenged Vice President Nixon's wisdom in choosing Pakistan as the place from which to criticize India's relations with Soviet Russia.

The neighboring countries have been at odds on a number of issues, including India's professed cold war neutrality and Pakistan's acceptance of arms aid from this country.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said in a separate interview he thinks "our government should be talking more like that, more often." McClellan added, however, that "I wouldn't say whether it was the proper place and time to say it."

Kefauver, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, said of Nixon's exchange with India's Prime Minister Nehru that "I didn't think it was helpful, to put it mildly."

He commented in advance of Nixon's scheduled return to Washington today from a flying 10-day visit to six nations in the Middle East. Nixon is expected to report shortly to President Eisenhower at Gettysburg, Pa.

Nixon on Monday told newsmen at Karachi, Pakistan's capital, that he had Nehru in mind in stating that anyone "who suggests Red assistance is not inconsistent with freedom is reading history incorrectly." He said any nation that accepts economic aid from Russia risks becoming "a Red satellite economically, politically and militarily."

India has accepted economic aid from both Russia and the United States.

Nehru, who was in London, replied that tolerance of differing views is the basis of democracy.

Nixon commented that Nehru is entitled to his opinion "but, if he reads my speech carefully he will find it the very antithesis of undemocratic thinking."

Navy Tells Plans To Use Nuclear Warheads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy expects within a "few years" to begin equipping ships with ballistic missiles armed with "highyield nuclear warheads" and capable of traveling at tremendous speeds.

In testimony made public yesterday by a Senate Armed Services subcommittee, Adm. John E. Clark said the missile, Jupiter, will be in operation long before the expected perfection of countermeasures against the weapon. He said it will travel "many times" faster than sound—around 760 miles per hour at sea level.

By 1961, Clark predicted, the Navy will have 47 guided missile ships, enough to protect three carrier task groups.

Texas Led Nation In Week's Oil Increase

TULSA (AP)—Texas led the country to a 41,200-barrel daily average increase in oil production the week ended July 7, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

The national daily average was 7,088,950 barrels for the week.

Texas output more than accounted for the net gain, increasing 45,350 barrely to 3,001,800. The week's biggest declnies were in New Mexico, down 3,975 barrels to 236,925, and Colorado, off 3,200 to 162,300.

The Journal estimated 1956 production at 1,353,470,720 barrels compared to 1,272,659,735 a year go.

Losses were reported also for klahoma, down 2,800 barrels to 581,600; Louisiana, 650 to 784,950; and Arkansas, 100 to 75,300.

Fairfax Lawyer Wins In Virginia Election

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Warren D. Quenstedt, a Fairfax lawyer, will be the Democratic candidate against Republican Rep. Joel T. Broyhill in the November election in Virginia's 10th district.

A listless campaign ended yesterday with Quenstedt's victory over two opponents in the state's lone primary contest. Complete returns from the district's 106 precincts gave Quenstedt 4,851 votes, Morton S. Beyer of Arlington, 2,380, and Julius Brenner of Arlington, 790.

The turnout of 8,021 compared with 10,415 in 1954.

The three candidates in yesterday's race were political unknowns and there were no issues that established a clear division among them.

Cross-Country Bicycle Trip Is Great, Except For Cooking

By SHIRLEY BROWNLOW

Two cyclists traveling from Pittsburgh, Pa., to Los Angelos, Calif. made Snyder a stopping place yesterday. They were the second pair of bicycling tourists to stop here in about 10 days.

Peter Urbach, 20, and Dick Oden, 21, are both seniors at Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh. Peter lives in New York and Dick's home is at Washington, D. C.

The youths met the other pair of cyclists, [illegible] Phelps and Charles Shamblin, at Texarkana a few days ago. Phelps and Shamblin are traveling from California to Washington, D. C., and Canada and stopped here June 29. The four exchanged route tips and other bits of information in Texarkana.

The two boys decided on a cross-country tour by bicycle when they were thinking of ways to see the country that would involve as little expense as possible.

"It's a great way to see the country," Peter said. "You really get to know people and you learn things about human nature that you couldn't learn anywhere else."

The two youths started the trip June 2 and will return to the east in time to begin school in September. So far they have traveled through West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Nashville, Arkansas and Texas. They have been in Texas for almost a week, but plan to be in Hobbs, N. M., by tomorrow night.

"We met a tourist on the highway the other day and he invited us to stay at his home in Hobbs when we came through," Dick said. "We made a tentative date to be there tomorrow night, so we're on rather a tight schedule now to make it."

The two boys are making the trip on English bikes, which they have loaded with bed rolls, water, flashlights, snake bite kits and clothes. They average about 10 miles an hour on the bikes, making about 80 or 90 miles a day.

They travel from sun up to sun down, but seldom travel after dark. They found that it wasn't very safe, and the lights on their bicycles weren't strong enough for night travel.

"We started out with a lot more stuff than we are carrying now," Dick said. "We started discarding things after about three days, and we've been sending packages home of things that we found out weren't so essential."

"We were cooking out for a few days," Peter added," but we soon found out that we weren't any good at it. After we tried boiling an egg and failed at that, we quit. Besides food spoils awfully easily.

The youths sleep in the open at night, and when it rains they usually seek shelter in drive-in movies or barns.

The have no special route mapped out, but just travel wherever they think the best and easiest roads will be. After they leave El Paso they don't know which way they will go. So far the only mechanical trouble they have had has been two flats — both on Dick's bike. They carry cold patches, but no extra tires or tubes.

The two boys are financing the trip as they go along. Dick, an art student at Carnegie Tech, often sketches homes in the better residential sections of the larger towns. Then they offer the sketch to the owner for about $5 a sketch.

"We've never had anyone refuse to buy the sketch either," Peter said.

This method once brought them in contact with Richard Halliburton, the father of Richard Halliburton Jr, well-known mountain climber and explorer. Mr. Halliburton invited the boys into his home and told them of many of his son's adventure advising them of routes to take and places to see.

"We've met some wonderful people on our trip," Peter said. "One man in Kentucky gave us the keys to his car and told us to see the sights of the town. A Tennessee family took us in and gave us food and lodging for the night."

An Arkansas highway patrolman stopped them and talked to them for a long time, the boys recalled.

"He was sure that we were going to be killed before we got to California," Peter said. "I think his main worry was that we might be killed in Arkansas and he wanted us to get out of the state as soon as possible."

The two boys tried to get in shape for the trip by running the three-mile cross country for several weeks. It toughened up their leg muscles, but they discovered that those weren't the same muscles they used for bike riding. After the first three days, however, they said they didn't even feel the pain anymore.

Their one comment about Texas— "It's big and hot!"

Next year, providing they haven't been drafted, the pair would like to travel to South America. But not on bicycles — this time they're thinking about walking.

New York City had 1,052,000 people over 65 years old compared to 176,230 in 1920.
