City sales growing

Tax revenues up 26.9 percent over '82

Rockport sales tax receipts continued to indicate a healthy economy for the city so far in 1983, as year-to-date sales tax collections for the city through Nov. 30 are running 26.9 percent above collections for the same period in 1982.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said the city this month received a check for $26,071.84 — its 1 percent tax share on sales made in October and reported to Bullock's office by Nov. 20. These taxes were more than $1,000 higher than the $15,560.50 collected by the city for the same period last year.

Total sales tax collections for Rockport for the year through Nov. 30 amount to $419,427.78, compared to $330,525.99 through Nov. 30,1982.

Fulton's sales tax collections dropped both for the month and the year-to-date, according to figures released by Bullock's office. Sales tax collections for the town amounted to $1,436.88 in November, compared to $2,534.42 for the month last year and year-to-date totals of $37,460.97 were down 11.54 percent from last year's collections.

Statewide, according to Bullock, total sales tax collections in 1983 for the 980 cities that collect sales tax are running slightly ahead of figures for 1982. Bullock said his office returned a total of $52,016,686.71 to all Texas cities collecting the tax for November for a year-to-date total of just over $727 million — a 1.79 percent increase over 1982 totals.

November sales tax returns were up in Aransas Pass, $23,500.94 for the month this year compared to just under $16,000 in 1982, but year-to-date totals of $390,860.48 were 3.23 percent below those for 1982.

Ingleside's November returns of $11,194.56 were just about double those for the month in 1982, but that city's year-to-date totals were also running slightly below last year's — $121,030.90 compared to $128,334.07 through Nov. 30, 1982.

The same was true for Refugio, according to Bullock's report, where sales tax collections reported in November amounted to $13,433.45 — compared to last year's $12,714.12 — but year-to-date totals of $191,898.94 were 3.96 percent less than for the same period in 1982.

Woodsboro showed a slight increase in 1983 tax collections over those for 1982. Bullock said that city's year-to-date returns of $40,832.87 were 5.02 percent more than for last year.

Bullock said statewide, the city sales taxes returned for the month were up 23.3 percent over taxes returned for the month in 1982.

"Part of this," he said, "comes from our continued economic recovery — and part comes from the cooperation Texas taxpayers have given this (the Comptroller's) office in making earlier tax payments and that way avoiding a state tax increase."

Effective this month, businesses that collect the 4 percent state and 1 percent city sales taxes are required to meet a reporting deadline of the 20th of the month.

Toys for Kids nears goal

With distribution day only days away, John Jackson, chairman of the Aransas County Toys for Kids drive, has announced, "We're going to make it (our goal) with no problem."

"We have approximately $4,000 in cash," Jackson said in a telephone interview Monday morning, "and the toys are coming in fine" — thanks, he added, to donations and assistance from individuals, businesses and organizations throughout Aransas County.

Toys for Kids is an annual project sponsored by the Rockport Lions Club to provide Christmas toys to Aransas County children whose parents would otherwise be unable to give them toys for Christmas.

Parents selected with the aid of the local Department of Human Resources are invited to select toys for their children on distribution day — set this year for Saturday, Dec. 17. Jackson said he still does not know how many children will be provided with toys through this year's program, but last year the campaign helped brighten Christmas for more than 200 area youngsters.

"We haven't reached our financial goal yet," he said Monday, "but I believe we have enough money and toys promised to reach that goal."

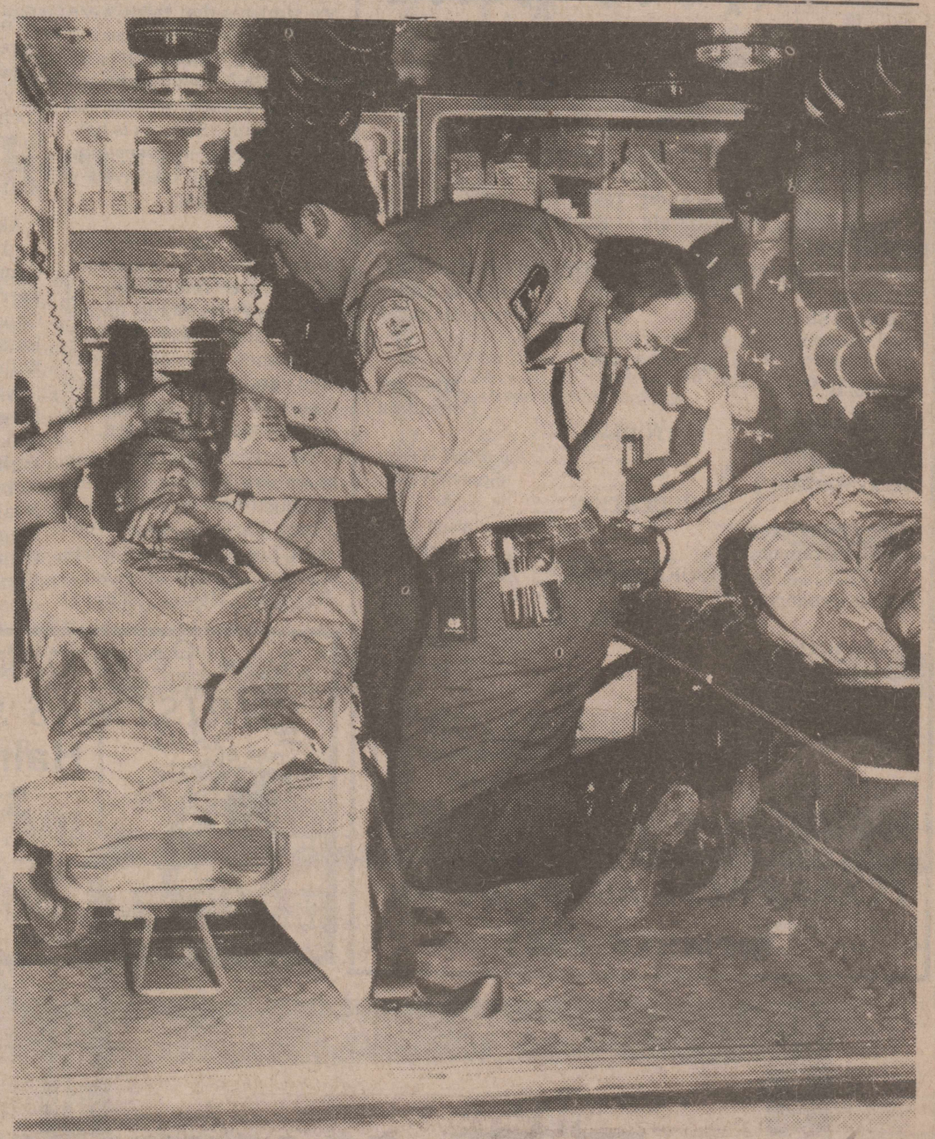

Jackson said all of the toys that will be distributed this year were purchased from local merchants — primarily from Western Auto, Winn's, Serendipity and Wal-Mart.

Glen Wagner at Western Auto assembled the riding toys, Jackson added, and Western Auto, Winn's and Serendipity provided toys at discount rates.

"Because of store policy," Jackson said, "Wal-Mart couldn't give us a discount on any toys, but they asked all of their employees to bring toys to the company's Christmas party."

Jackson added a number of other area businesses and organizations, as well as area schools, gave toys to Toys for Kids in lieu of a gift exchange at their Christmas parties.

Santa and the Pilot are asking that all letters be delivered to the Pilot no later than 5 p.m. Friday, Dec. 16, so they can be routed to the North Pole in time for Christmas. Copies of the letters will be published in the Pilot's Dec. 24 issue.

County commissioners told

Courthouse air conditioning needs repair

By LESLIE ABRAMS
Staff writer

Aransas County will face a major repair bill for air conditioning facilities at the Aransas County Courthouse, County Judge John D. Wendell revealed Monday, Dec. 12, during a meeting of the commissioners court.

"It wasn't budgeted but we have to do it," said Wendell, after a presentation by James Van King of Ed Berry & Associates Air Conditioning Engineers of Corpus Christi revealed that repairs to the air conditioning facilities would cost the county at least $50,000. The firm was recommended to the county by Naismith Engineers of Corpus Christi, the county's engineering consultants for several projects.

Van King told the court that the problems lie mainly in the older sections of the courthouse. He said the temperature control system is antique, the system is subject to mismatching flows and drain pan leaks. The facilities need extra booster pumps, possibly and new boiler and a new chiller. "You are facing some major repairs, no question about it," he told the commissioners.

Van King suggested that his firm do an energy conservation study and design a package for repair of the system, issue the job for bids and then evaluate the bids and make recommendations. The court agreed to go ahead with the preliminary studies needed to assess the entire situation.

Letters from three district judges of the 343rd judicial district were presented, endorsing an approximately 7 percent increase in the salaries of the district's courtroom reporters from the present $22,488 to $24,000 for fiscal year 1984. Aransas County, which shares the 343rd judicial district with San Patricio County would be expected to pay its pro rata share of the increased salaries. The increase had been expected and was provided for in the 1984 county budget. A motion by Commissioner W.B. (Pete) Sanders, seconded by Commissioner John M. Lee, to approve the increase was agreed upon by the court.

Judge Wendell made a motion to make Jan. 2 a holiday for courthouse workers after he received a request from several employees to make the day a holiday since New Year's Day falls on a Sunday this year. The motion was seconded by Sanders and unanimously approved.

Wendell notified the commissioners that the cost of hospitalization insurance for county employees will increase by at least 25 percent next year. The court decided to stay with its present insurance company and will amend the budget next year to allow for the increase.

San Patricio County has notified Aransas County of an increase in rates for landfill operation from $1.75 per cubic yard to $2 for solid waste disposal in 1984. When asked if the court wanted to raise rates for garbage pickup, Commissioner Mike Womack said that he hates to raise the rates until the economy starts picking up because he fears that more people will dump their garbage by the roadside instead of paying for collection.

County Clerk Val Jean Eaton read the minutes of a special meeting Tuesday, Dec. 6, in which Ron Crow of Rockport Aviation requested assignment of the base operator's lease at the Aransas County Airport to him. Crow explained his intention to buy the controlling interest in Rockport Aviation currently held by Clifford Lowe.

The court advised Crow that the lease granted by the Aransas County Airport is to Aransas Aviation, that assignment to Rockport Aviation was made by a federal court in a bankruptcy proceding and that when any such lease is released by federal court it must be offered for bid. Crow was also advised that the 5-year option for renewal may not be valid.

Crow advised the court that he would petition federal court for a ruling on the option and release of the contract.

THE ROCKPORT-FULTON HIGH SCHOOL Pirate Band performed a concert for the public Friday evening, Dec. 9, in the high school auditorium. Several soloists including David Perkins (standing, background) demonstrated their skills. 400 tour Fulton Mansion during opening weekend

FULTON — Some 400 people toured Fulton Mansion during its first two days of operation as a state historical site, Museum Superintendent June Secrist said Monday.

The mansion's opening was "not too bad — it went very well," according to Secrist who added that many of the volunteer tour guides (docents) received compliments from the crowds they escorted through the restored mansion built by Aransas County cattle baron George Ware Fulton.

The mansion opened at 9 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 10, and was open from 9 a.m. until noon and from 1-4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. The structure is closed on Mondays and Tuesdays and will be open for tours Wednesdays through Sundays. Secrist added the mansion will be closed on Christmas Day.

Secrist added "nothing unusual" highlighted the mansion's opening days. "We did have one little boy who deliberately walked into the fountain," she said, "but that was about it."

The mansion was acquired in 1976 by the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department and work began in 1978 to restore the structure to appear as it did in the late 1870s-'80s when it was the residence of Col. Fulton and his family.

Restoration work is still not complete, Secrist said. For example, the mansion's dining room is not yet open to public viewing. Plans call for the possibility, later, of programs on the Fultons and the era in which they lived but initially, Secrist said, the mansion/museum will offer only guided tours under one of the approximately 35-40 docents.

The tour includes the first and second floors with the option, for those who wish, to continue to the third floor and into the small tower room that Col. Fulton called his "growlery."

Cost to restore the mansion is more than $1.3 million, making Fulton Mansion the most expensive restoration project undertaken by Texas Parks & Wildlife to date.

ACTION in four school basketball tournaments this weekend was highlighted by a Saturday night win for the Rockport-Fulton junior varsity in the Bishop JV-freshmen tourney. R-F won the tourney with a 44-38 victory over Bishop in the championship game. The JV also beat Mathis 46-39 in the first game of the event and took down Falfurrias 46-33 in the second contest. High point man for the team Saturday night was Jesse Avila with 15. Todd Billeiter had 11 points and nine rebounds. Brent Boone also had nine rebounds, most of them on the defensive board. The JV hit 48 percent of their throws for the night and got 16 out of 19 free throws. The Pirate freshmen came in second in their bracket of the tourney. Also playing in tournaments this weekend were the Rockport-Fulton Junior high boys and girls, hosting their own event; and the varsity Lady Pirates, who played in Aransas Pass.

Soccer All-Stars are named by RFSA

The 1983 fall soccer season is all over. The Rockport-Fulton Soccer Association has named All-Stars in each division and last Saturday was full of hard-fought championship games in the three RFSA levels of play.

In the Intermediate division, the annual battle between the Strikers and the Cosmos resulted in a championship win for the Strikers. In the Pee Wee level, the Kicks won the championship, beating out the Chiefs for the top spot.

Fighting it out for third place in the Intermediate division were the Tornadoes and the Hurricanes. Theirs was the first game of the day and the Tornadoes emerged victorious after a good fight from their opponent. After Tornadoes Billy Parker and Tracy Youngblood scored the first two points, the Hurricanes fell back in the first half.

In the second, Youngblood and Robert Solis scored the Tornadoes' third and fourth points, then Chuckie Nixon and Solis turned in goals five and six, for the 6-0 final score.

The battle between the Strikers and Cosmos ended in a 3-1 score and was highlighted by great play from both sides.

A scoreless first half heightened the tension that was broken only when Cosmo Jason Eckert broke the 0-0 tie and scored off Striker goalie P.J. Levy.

Five minutes before the game was over Jesse Rios of the Strikers booted in the point that tied things up 1-1 and paved the way for a sudden death overtime.

The first team scoring in the seven and half minute overtime would have been declared the winner but neither team managed a goal — it was shoot out time.

Cosmos goalie James Marin missed Levy's kick and Striker goalie Levy missed Brandi Brundretts' goal kick. Striker Jessie Rios scored the second goal, then Cosmo Vic Ovendon tried his best for a kick to the side of the goal box but didn't make it. The game and the championship was won when Benjie Clark shot in the third goal for the Strikers, leaving the score 3-1 in their favor.

Third and fourth place in the Pee Wee bracket were decided in a tough Rowdies-Barracuda contest. The game went scoreless until the last two and half minutes of play when the Rowdies managed a goal to win the third place spot, 1-0.

Following that game, the Kicks and the Chiefs began their battle for first place in the Pee Wees that ended in a sudden death overtime situation. In the last 10 seconds of overtime, Kicks team member Jay Pearson made the goal that put them over 1-0 to win the championship

With the Kicks in first, the Chiefs in second, the Rowdies in third and the Barracudas in fourth, the fifth place Pee Wee spot went to the Aztecs and the sixth place designation was held by the much-improved Stings.

First stockings of trout are completed

The first 1983 shipment of rainbow trout from Arkansas has been distributed to four public fishing areas in Texas.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department crews stocked 20,000 trout in the Guadalupe River below Canyon Reservoir Dam, 21,000 in the Brazos River below Possum Kingdom Reservoir Dam, 4,300 at Boykin Springs Lake in Jasper County and 3,100 in Foster County Park at San Angelo.

The trout range in size from 8-10 inches. Officials said barring unforeseen problems, additional stockings will be done each two weeks until March at all four sites.

Officials also announced that Tyler State Park Lake will be open for trout fishing beginning Dec. 3, and lakes at Buescher State Park near Bastrop and Meridian State Park near Meridian will have trout beginning on Dec. 7. No special fees will be charged for trout fishing in the state parks, but the standard $2 per vehicle entry fee will apply. Overnight camping facilities are available at additional charge.

High school government classes study the legislative process by playing game

By DENON HARPER
Contributing writer

Debbie Daws' senior government classes at Rockport-Fulton High School recently studied the legislative process by writing bills and shaping them into laws.

According to Daws, playing the game helps students better understand a sometimes boring subject. In the game, the students are participating, having fun and learning at the same time," she says.

"It is a lot easier for a group of students if everyone gets interested and involved," noted student Steve Arkell.

Although to some the game or assignment was a serious matter, to others it was not. Arkell continued, "I think the students who played for real life did benefit, whereas a few just played for points. The majority reacted positive and learned a lot."

Classes were divided equally to form a Senate and a House of Representatives. Two people from each class were chosen to act as the speaker of the house and the president pro tem. Seniors Tim Chavez, Greg Shellenbergar, David Perkins and Tom Weaver were selected as speakers of the House. Presidents pro tem were seniors Robin Davis, Kristi Cosby, Stephanie Allen and Michael Womack. These leaders organized military defense, agriculture, urban development and environment committees.

While in committees, students discussed ideas for bills and reached agreements on them. The bill was then voted on by both houses. The committees then reviewed them once more and either agreed with the bill or added written amendments and voted on them again.

If amendments were written, both congressional committees had to reach a compromise. The bill was then signed and sent to the honorary President Daws.

Allegro students visit nuclear plant

On Dec. 9, Allegro students in grades six, seven and eight at Rockport-Fulton Junior High School took a field trip to the South Texas Project Nuclear Plant near Bay City.

While at the plant, students were shown an educational film on nuclear energy and nuclear plant development in New England and other parts of the U.S. They saw exhibits on how nuclear energy is produced, how nuclear plants operate and how nuclear wastes will be disposed of in the future. They were also given a simulated capsule of a uranium pellet and were allowed to pedal a bicycle to see how much human energy is involved to light a series of light bulbs.

Besides a guided tour of the visitors' center, students took a bus tour of the entire nuclear plant under construction. During the plant tour, students saw the huge equipment and unusual materials used in the project, the enormous field yards that will house the nuclear reactors, the numerous workers all wearing different colored hats designating their specific jobs, as well as the huge reservoirs and levees housing the water necessary for the project. The plant is not completed as yet.

A tour guide told many interesting facts and figures about the plant and about nuclear energy. She also answered questions the students had for her.

Students ate a sack lunch at the visitors' center park and then headed back to Rockport.

Fifteen named to National Dean's List

Fifteen college students from Rockport and Aransas Pass have been named to the sixth annual edition of the National Dean's List.

The National Dean's List is the country's largest recognition publication honoring college students. Students are selected for recognition by their deans from their school's dean's list. The 85,000 students included in the current edition are from 2,500 colleges and universities nationwide. They represent one half of 1 percent of the more than 8 million college students in the United States.

Local students selected include Del Mar College students Kloychai Adkins, Kathryn Ann Morgan, Hong Thi Nguyen, Ruby L. Pena and Pamella Margo Van Wie, all of Rockport, Lucy Barrera, Teresa Ann Conner, Darla D. Day, Lanette C. Wasme Fox and Nancy Kain Henderson, all of Aransas Pass; Texas A&M University students Jerry W. House Jr and Ward T. Lincoln, both of Aransas Pass; Sam Houston State University students Jennifer J. Janecek and Dee Aine Rossman, both of Rockport; and Texas A&I University student Kenneth Dean Marbach of Rockport.

The rights—and wrongs—if your car is towed away

The consumer alert

by Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox

AUSTIN — If you've ever parked your car illegally, you may have worried about your car being towed away. Very often, the person who has to retrieve his car from the tow truck lot feels that he has been victimized. Here is what the law says about your rights in this situation.

Article 6701g-2 of the Texas Revised Civil Statutes addresses the removal of unauthorized vehicles from parking facilities or public highways. The statute gives the parking facility owner or towing company the right to remove and store any unauthorized vehicle without the consent and at the expense of the owner or operator of the vehicle, if a sign or signs are prominently displayed specifying who may park in the facilities and stating that all others are prohibited. The sign(s) must be readable from all entrances to the parking facility; however they need not be illuminated.

The parking facility owner or towing company also has the right to remove and store an illegally parked car at the owner's expense and without his consent if the vehicle is obstructing an entrance, fire lane or aisle of the parking facility. If you receive actual notice from the facility owner that you will be towed away if the vehicle is not voluntarily moved, the law gives you no recourse. The notice gives the facility the right to tow your car away, at your expense.

The towing company is also insulated from liability in this situation — so long as it receives written verification from the parking facility that the car's operator has been notified of the intent to tow if the vehicle is not removed. In all other instances a parking facility or owner may not remove any unauthorized vehicle unless it is done under the direction of a peace officer or the owner/operator of the vehicle.

Any parking facility owner who removes an authorized vehicle under the conditions set out above will not be liable for any damages arising out of the removal or storage of the vehicle, as long as the removal is accomplished by an insured towing company.

It is important to note that this statute also is violated if the parking facility owner has a monetary interest in the towing company, or if the towing company has a monetary interest in the parking facility. That is, no money or other valuable item may pass between these entities in connection with the removal of a vehicle from a parking facility.

The statute further prohibits a towing company from removing a vehicle from a pubic highway unless it is done under the direction of a peace officer or owner/operator of the vehicle.

Any violation of this Act is a Class B misdemeanor, which places liability on the facility owner or towing company for damages arising from the removal or storage of the vehicle, including any towing or storage fees assessed in connection therewith, plus reasonable attorney fees. Violators of this Act may be enjoined pursuant to provisions of the Deceptive Trade Practice-Consumer Protection Act.

If you have been the victim of a questionable tow fee, call the Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Antitrust division office nearest you (Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, McAllen, and San Antonio). It is only through your complaints and our subsequent investigations of the alleged illegal practices that we can stop such activities.. The Attorney General's office is here to help you.

Patman calls for Fed disclosure

Congressman Bill Patman, D-Tx. has said the House Committee on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs should recommend greater disclosure than it has proposed on the Federal Reserve Board's decision-making process.

"The committee's monetary report accurately reflects the frustration the members of the committee have felt in dealing with Federal Reserve policy," Patman said in supplemental remarks filed for attachment to the committee's report to the House.

"The secrecy with which the Fed surrounds itself clouds the issues so that neither Congress nor the public has a clear idea of the policies it follows in its important role in the American economy," he added.

He said the public needs greater certainty in dealing with monetary policy, and "Congress and the Fed need to participate jointly in the formulation of policies that will promote economic stability."

Patman said testimony of Dr. Benjamin Friedman, a well-known Harvard economist, last July underscored the uncertainty about the effect of Fed policy.

"Reducing inflation was the announced goal of the Fed when it set about tightening monetary policy," Patman recalled.

Numerous herbs found in medicines are poisonous

The natural-food movement of the past two decades has given rise to increased use of herbal teas and medicines, which consumers often presume are safe.

But many are not and numerous herbs in fact are toxic, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Although responsible herb companies would never sell poisonous products, toxic herbs have often been found in herbal medicines and diet aids, says the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. For example, the FDA recently took action against an herbal product called Herbalife Slim and Trim Formula.

Advertisements claims it offers a "safe, sensible, all natural health and nutrition program that gets us back to the Natural way of being Slim and Healthy using herbs. The FDA notes, however, that one of the Herbalife diet formulas contains mandrake and pokerroot, both highly toxic herbs.

The FDA says not enough is known about herbal teas to conclude they are safe. Manufacturers of the teas have not submitted their products to the FDA nor made the required animal studies to provide scientifically that the teas are safe.

Some definitely are not. While nutmeg adds spice to Christmas eggnog, and jimsom weed is an important source of certain drugs, each can be and has been deadly when brewed into tea. The same is true for peony root, recommended in various herb manuals for its antispasm qualities.

Before the era of modern medicine, herbs were widely used to treat sickness. But nothing else was available. The FDA says the availability of modern medicines with proven effectiveness and safety when used as directed has made treating ailments with herbs both unnecessary and risky.

A few of the unsafe herbs the FDA says should not be used in foods, beverages or drugs include arnica, wolf's-bane, belladona, bloodroot, Irish broom, jalap root (and other jalaps), lily of the valley, tonka beans, St. Johnswort, wahoo bark, mistletoe, periwinkle and snakeroot.

Texas stands to gain $500 million from hazardous waste

AUSTIN — State Comptroller Bob Bullock has released a survey of fees and taxes levied on hazardous industrial wastes in 28 other states showing Texas could raise as much as $500 million annually on the 25 million tons of such waste Texans produce each year.

Last month Bullock proposed a new tax on industrial wastes in Texas to pay for cleaning up past disposal mistakes and researching new and better waste disposal methods.

"Texas produces more hazardous waste than any other state. We've got to start seeing it's disposed of properly. We've got to clean up our past mistakes. And judging from the revenue figures in this report, it's clear a reasonable tax would produce enough revenue that we might be able to share some with local governments to help them with their waste problems and maybe even use part of it to educate the youngsters who will still be dealing with this problem when we're long gone," Bullock said.

"Local government officials are grateful for the attention being paid to the problem they've been meeting head-on. The chemical and petroleum industries — who generate most of this waste and should pay for most of the clean-up — recognize their responsibility as good corporate citizens to pay the bills.

"How much this new tax raises and how it is levied are questions for the Legislature. But we need to get moving on this question before this waste fouls our water, our soil and eventually destroys the 'quality of life' so many new industries say they came looking for here in Texas."

Bullock said a recent study of waste disposal by the Conservation Foundation revealed "A reputation for strong environmental protection may increase a state's attractiveness to dynamic industrial sectors that attach great importance to quality of life."

GAS BURNS CLEANER THAN ELECTRICITY

"I fry 'em up with gas because I know that even though electricity looks clean, somewhere something has to burn to turn the generators."

"If they burn anything but gas to make electricity, it's not burning as clean."

And even if they are using gas, you'd use a lot less with a gas appliance in your home.

AIDS no risk in blood donation

Blood banks across the nation have experienced a drop in blood donations because of concern that acquired immune deficiency syndrome (AIDS) can be contracted through a blood transfer.

But the Texas Medical Association says that because of precautions taken, there is no AIDS risk in giving blood and there appears to be virtually no risk in receiving blood and blood products.

TMA adopted that position at a recent session of its house of delegates, the policy-making body of the 22,500-member association of physicians and medical students.

"The fear of AIDS in the public is having ramifications in Texas—people are not donating blood," says a report by TMA's committee on blood banking and blood transfusion. "Many people confuse 'donation,' the giving of blood, with 'transfusion,' the receiving of blood."

The committee notes that agencies collect blood under strict regulations. The process includes thorough screening of the donor's medical history, sterile cleaning of the arm and use of sterile needle. All supplies used in drawing blood are disposable and are discarded after one use, the committee says.

"If the people of Texas do not understand this and refuse to donate, patients' lives will be in jeopardy," says the committee.

The panel also stresses that receiving blood and blood products appears to be virtually free of AIDS risk. Of the 30 million unit of blood transfused during the past three years, only 15 cases of AIDS have been linked to transfusion of whole blood.

Blood banks have further reduced this risk by informing persons with an increased risk of AIDS to stop donating blood. Blood bank personnel are trained to detect signs of AIDS in potential donors, the TMA committee adds.

The TMA policy also says directed donations, where patients select their own blood donors, "do not assure safety of transfusion." TMA encourages blood drives by businesses.

TSA provides holiday safety tips

AUSTIN — Keeping safety in mind when going to and giving parties, decorating, traveling and buying gifts can help everyone avoid accidents which can mar a happy holiday season, according to George R. Gustafson, executive vice president of Texas Safety Association.

The following tips can help Texans keep their holidays safe:

— If you're using a real tree, choose a fresh one with flexible boughs and needles that are difficult to pull off. To keep the tree fresh, make a diagonal cut in the trunk, about 2 inches from the bottom, and place the tree in a water-filled container. Remember, a dry tree is a fire hazard.

— Place the tree away from a fireplace, radiator, space heater or any source of electricity.

— Trim the tree with UL-listed lights. Check the insulation on older strings of lights. Wrap bare spots with electric tape or, better, replace those strings. For outdoor lights, use exterior lights connected to weather-proof outlets.

— Turn off the tree and outside lights before you leave the house or go to bed.

— Examine every toy you consider purchasing. Look for potential dangers to children. If a toy can be swallowed or has a sharp edge, choose another. It's strongly suggested that you observe the age recommendations which are indicated on toys.

— Keep children away from some holiday decorations such as berries of holly and mistletoe and the leaves of poinsettia, all of which can be poisonous if swallowed.

— If you're planning a party at which you serve alcohol, plan also for plenty of non-alcoholic beverages and food. Close the bar early, mix drinks moderately, and don't allow guests to drive home if they've had too much to drink. Do not count on coffee to sober guests. Coffee does not counteract the alcohol in the blood stream.

McNamara House plans 'Visions of Sugarplums'

VICTORIA — The Victoria Regional Museum Association and the Open Door Creativity Center are teaming up this holiday season in order to bring a very special Christmas activity for children and their families to the McNamara House Museum from 1-4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 17.

Called "Visions of Sugarplums," the afternoon's program will allow children who fancy themselves young nutcrackers and sugarplum fairies to make masks depicting characters from the Nutcracker Ballet. All materials will be provided and there will be refreshments for weary artists and their parents.

Children of pre-school age and up are welcome in the company of parents or adult friends.

The McNamara House, operated by the Victoria Regional Museum Association, is located at 502 North Liberty, Victoria and is open to the public Tuesday through Sunday, 1-5 p.m.

The Open Door Creativity Center, 202 North Main, Victoria, offers classes in a broad range of arts and crafts for children and adults. The Open Door Center and Store are open to the public 9-5 Monday through Saturday, with registration for upcoming classes beginning Jan. 3.

Criminal trespass incidents reported

Two instances of criminal trespass were reported on 4th Street in Fulton last week. The first occured sometime between 4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 6, and 9 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 7. A neighbor noticed the screen had been removed from the window of a residence on the block and notified the Aransas County Sheriff's Department. The bed had been slept in and the house ransacked but no items of value appeared to have been removed. The owner was out of town at the time of the incident.

The investigating officer checked several other nearby homes and discovered that another home on the same block has been broken into and occupied by one or more persons for an undetermined length of time. Again, the bed had been slept in and the house ransacked. A dresser containing women's clothing appeared to be missing from one of the rooms. The front door appeared to have been forced open with a screwdriver. The owners of the residence were out of town but a neighbor stated she saw lights on in the house on the night of Dec. 5. The sheriff's department is investigating both incidents.

Inez Nation reported $50 in cash and several credit cards missing when she lost her purse Sunday morning, Dec. 11. She told sheriff's deputies that she was riding in a car when the door flew open and her purse must have fallen out. When she discovered it missing she searched the area where the door flew open but did not find the purse.

The Aransas County Sheriff's Department arrested one man last week on charges of unlawful carrying of a weapon.

Camping opportunities now available for girls with asthma

A joint statement has been issued by the American Lung Association of Texas and the Lone Star Girl Scout Council announcing a week of camping opportunities for girls 8 to 12 years of age who have asthma.

The regular June 24-30 session has 150 spaces for campers. Half (75) of the spaces will be reserved for girls who have asthma. Special exercise routines and education sessions will be included. The other half will be for regular campers.

Because of their disease, most asthmatic children are denied the chance of participating in a number of childhood activities. One such activity is summer camp. Camps have traditionally been places where children have fun, develop self-confidence, learn new skills, improve upon the skills they have and learn to live with others.

The very nature of asthma has presented barriers that have kept asthmatic children from camping in the past.

Believing that something can and should be done for these youngsters the Lung Association and Girl Scouts are planning the week-long pilot program at Camp Texlake on Lake Travis 38 miles from downtown Austin.

A pulmonary specialist will provide medical supervision on a daily basis. A qualified instructor will teach the children proper breathing and exercise techniques. Those with food allergies will be accommodated.

Approval for the special week was given by the boards of directors of each of the participating agencies at recent meetings.

Enrollment information will be available from the American Lung Association of Texas, 7701 N. Lamar Blvd., Suite 104, Austin, Texas 78752-1088 or Lone Star Girl Scout Council, 1211-B W. 34th Street, Austin, Texas 78705.

Last quarter of federal income tax due soon

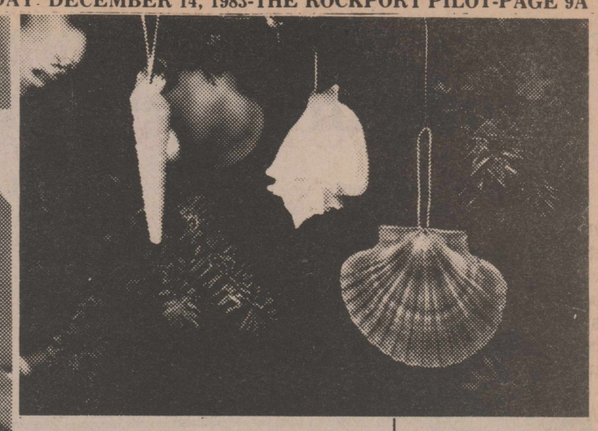

Taxpayers who did not have enough 1983 federal tax withheld, or whose amended income estimates for 1983 changed substantially during the last quarter, are required to pay the final installment of estimated income tax by Jan. 16, 1984, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The IRS notes that there is an exception to this rule for the final installment for those taxpayers who file their returns and pay all taxes due by Feb. 1. This exception applies whether the declaration is an original or amended one.

Generally, taxpayers must file estimated tax if their tax is expected to be $300 or more and if they have more than $500 in income not covered by withholding.

For additional information, a free copy of IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," can be ordered by calling the IRS number listed in the local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

A LOT OF LOVING ATTENTION went into the decoration of the Christmas tree in the lobby of Rockport's First National Bank. An annual tradition at First National, the 12-foot tall tree this year is a blue spruce from Michigan and is decorated by 500-600 ornaments handmade by bank employees Anne Whitfield and Elsie Hawes from real shells. A closeup of the ornaments is shown above. Some 600 white lights complete the decorations.

I-35 may delay holiday travelers, say officials

Motorists traveling Interstate 35 during the upcoming holidays should be aware of possible time delays due to construction activities north of Waco, Texas highway department officials have said.

When highway workers started rehabilitating I-35, engineers discovered the roadbed had deteriorated to a greater degree than expected. Additional time and money have been required for restoring the roadway and it may be next summer before the project is completed.

In the meantime, travelers are being advised to consider alternative routes during holiday periods and to plan trips to avoid I-35 during peak hours. It is anticipated that peak-hour travel will occur between the hours of 2 to 11 p.m. on Dec. 23, 24, and 26 and on Jan. 1 and 2.

Motorists who encounter congestion in the area and choose to take frontage roads are reminded that the frontage roads there are two-way.

In order to keep holiday motorists better informed about traffic flow through the area, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation will install changeable message signs well in advance of the construction area.

Travelers can also receive information by tuning their radios to AM frequency 1230 where traffic reports will be broadcast whenever traffic congestion develops during the holiday season.

Workshops set for UDAG-eligible cities

Congressman Bill Patman, D-Tx, has announced the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) will conduct two regional training workshops for Texas communities which are eligible for Urban Development Action Grants (UDAG) but have never received one.

Forty cities in the 14th Congressional District — including Rockport — are on the eligible list. Rockport city officials have recently called public hearings for January to consider the city's proposed application for a $3.6 million grant under the federal program.

The workshops will be held at the Quality Inn in Arlington Jan. 9-10 and at the Mission Community Center in Mission on Feb. 16-17. There is no fee for the workshop.

HUD Assistant Secretary Stephen J. Bollinger advised Patman that while the sessions will be open to all eligible communities, HUD expects that the greatest benefit will be to those with under 50,000 population.

Bollinger said these smaller cities often "lack the capacity to identify and develop the necessary private investment for UDAG project approval."

He emphasized that each attending community representative will have an individual opportunity to discuss potential local projects with a technical advisor.

Patman said he hopes representatives from eligible cities throughout the 14th district will attend either the Arlington or Mission workshop.

Other cities which HUD said are eligible are Austwell, Bayside, Beeville, Brenham, Brookshire, Caldwell, Cuero, Eagle Lake, Edna, Fayetteville, Flatonia, Ganado, Giddings, Goliad, Gonzales, Hallettsville, Hutto, La Grange, La Ward, Marion, Moulton, Nordheim, Pattison, Refugio, Round Top, Schulenburg, Sealy, Shiner, Smiley, Somerville, Taylor, Waelder, Waller, Wallis, Weimar, Wharton, Woodsboro, Yoakum and Yorktown.

Information about your changing telephone service from Al Dillon, Community Relations Manager

Hello

It won't be long now. On January 1, 1984, the Bell System will no longer be one uniform system, but eight separate companies.

Southwestern Bell will be one of those companies. You won't see many striking changes as the new year comes (the way you use your telephone won't change), but some things won't remain the same.

My purpose in this column is to tell you about changes that will affect your telephone service. Of course, you'll continue to call your Business Office with questions about your bill or our Repair Bureau to have your phone lines fixed. But watch for this column to help keep you updated about changes underway that might affect your service.

With this in mind, here's a breakdown of how divestiture will (and won't) affect you on January 1, 1984:

Local service

Southwestern Bell Telephone will continue to provide local service after it is separated from AT&T. To start, stop, change or move local service, you will do the same as you now do — call your Southwestern Bell Telephone business office.

Long distance service

Beginning January 1, Southwestern Bell Telephone will also provide long distance service — but only within your surrounding area. Calls outside this area will be handled by other long distance companies, including AT&T.

Telephone sets

Between now and the first of the year, you have the option of buying single line and one-party telephones in your home that you now lease from Southwestern Bell Telephone. If you decide to continue leasing your telephone sets, ownership of this equipment will be transferred to AT&T January 1. Of course, you'll still have the option of purchasing new telephone equipment from a variety of suppliers. In fact, Southwestern Bell Corporation has formed a subsidiary, Southwestern Bell Telecom, which will market telecommunications equipment for multi-line business customers beginning next year. The company also is considering entering the single-line business and residence telephone markets.

Repairs

If you continue to lease the telephone(s) now in your home, repair of those sets will be performed by AT&T. Telephones purchased from Southwestern Bell Telephone before the end of this year also will be serviced by AT&T beginning in January, but you'll be charged for those repairs if your set is out of warranty.

Repair of telephone lines will still be handled by Southwestern Bell Telephone.

Billing

At divestiture, you'll continue to receive one monthly bill for all services you presently receive. This bill — to be produced by Southwestern Bell Telephone — will list charges separately according to the type of service received and who will provide that service. Since Southwestern Bell Telephone will act as a billing agent for AT&T, the total amount due on your bill will continue to be payable to Southwestern Bell Telephone.

We want you to know

If you have other questions about divestiture, feel free to contact me at the address below. Or, call Southwestern Bell's toll-free number for divestiture information — 1 800 555-5000 — anytime between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

At Southwestern Bell Telephone, we believe the more you know about what will and won't change with divestiture, the easier this transition will be for you.

Contractor named to close mine shafts

AUSTIN — The Railroad Commission this week selected Stockton Contractors Inc. of Fort Stockton to backfill 59 abandoned mercury mine shafts near Terlingua.

Stockton Contractors submitted the low bid of $35,354.14 for the project. A total of seven bids, ranging up to $160,000, were received by the Commission's Surface Mining and Reclamation Division.

Under terms of the contract, Stockton Contractors must provide the Commission with proof of proper insurance, post a performance bond, and begin the backlifting operation within a month.

Eleven additional shafts, one of which is 900 feet deep, will be sealed at or near the surface instead of being backfilled. A separate contract will be let to cover that portion of the project.

The railroad commissioners first requested federal funds to plug the shafts more than a year ago. They told the Office of Surface Mining that the shafts pose a hazard to tourists exploring the area along Farm Road 170 between Presidio and the northern entrance to Big Bend National Park.

OSM finally approved a grant of $312,000 in September of this year to backfill or seal the 70 mercury mine shafts in the Terlingua area. Officials from the Commission's Surface Mining Division said this was the first mine OSM has ever approved use of federal abandoned mine land funds for mine problems associated with minerals other than coal.

Pharmacist foils forgery attempt

A man attempted to pass a forged prescription Tuesday morning, Dec. 6, at a city pharmacy, but was foiled as the pharmacy owner became suspicious and called police.

The man attempted to obtain a narcotic cough syrup but became frightened and left the store before police arrived. A description of the suspect was given to Rockport police.

Three bicycles were reported taken from the garage of a residence on Dana Drive sometime between 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 10, and 7:30 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 11.

A diamond ring worth approximately $800 was reported stolen from an apartment in the 1200 block of South Church Street sometime between 7:15 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 7.

An unknown amount of petty cash and coins from a coke machine were reported taken from a business on East Market Street sometime between 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 11, and 8 a.m. Monday, Dec. 12.

Theft of an undisclosed amount of jewelry was reported from a city condominium sometime during the morning of Dec. 9. Police are investigating the incident.

A 17-year-old woman was arrested for Class B theft Tuesday morning, Dec. 8, after she was observed shoplifting from a city grocery store.

130 attend first C of C mixer

Approximately 130 people attended the Rockport Area Chamber of Commerce's first "member mixer" Friday evening, Dec. 9.

The event, held at the Paws & Taws Building in Fulton Park, was arranged to give members and prospective members a chance to meet one another, make new business contacts "and enjoy fun and fellowship with other Chamber members," according to Chamber Manager Carolyn Behee.

Behee added future mixers are being planned on a quarterly basis.

Viruses — not frogs or toads — are cause of warts

For almost as long as people have been getting warts, rumor has placed the blame on the lowly frog.

Mark Twain no doubt had fun spreading this misconception in "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," not to mention wart "cures" involving a spunk-water stump, burned beans and dead cats.

The truth is that warts are not caused by frogs or toads but by viruses, says the Texas Medical Association. And though Twain's home remedies are far more interesting, modern-day cures are far more effective, to put it mildly.

A wart is a lump of the skin produced when a virus invades skin cells and causes them to multiply quickly. Because they are caused by viruses, warts are contagious and can be spread by direct contact with another person or indirectly.

They may appear at any age but are most common in teenagers and uncommon in the elderly. No serious health risks are associated with warts, but the appearance can be unsightly.

There are several kinds of warts, each caused by a separate virus. The common wart is a small, hard, white or pink lump with a cauliflower-like surface. Though it can appear anywhere on the body, the common wart with the skin's surface, if on the palm. Plantar warts are found only on the soles of the feet.

Plantar warts are found only on the soles of the feet.

Other kinds are flat warts, usually occurring on children's faces, and venereal warts, found on or near the genitals and anus.

Most warts will disappear naturally, possibly in a few months, but sometimes this takes several years. If you do not wish to wait, one nonprescription treatment often effective against common and plantar warts is salicylic acid. Do not treat warts on delicate skin such as the face and genitals. People with these should see a physician. So should people over age 45 who develop any sort of wart, which could instead be skin cancer.

A physician may prescribe a more effective wart cream. If this fails, the doctor can remove the wart by scraping it, freezing it with liquid nitrogen or burning it with electricity.

Letter gives thanks for the dirty dishes

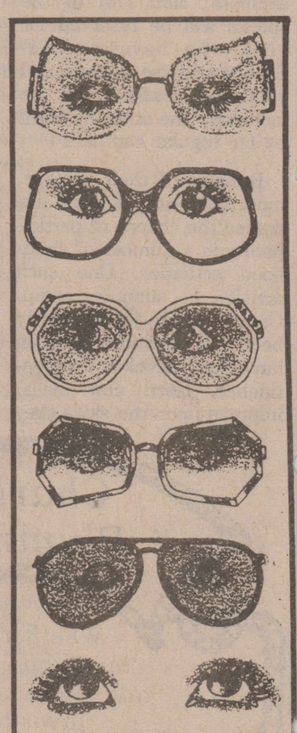

By UNCLE JOHN LESLIE
[with permission of Mary Sauerberg]

I want to share one Christmas letter with my friends and those who read my ramblings. It contains a poem of merit. Here 'tis:

Thank God for dirty dishes
They have a tale to tell.
While other folks go hungry,
We're eating pretty well.
With home, health and happiness
We shouldn't want to fuss.
From this stack of evidence,
God's very good to us.
So — I have shut up about dirty dishes
And thank God I have them to wash.

Mary Sauerberg, a friend of mine, sent this to me. Mary is a wonderful person — near 90. Many of you know her. She has been through lots of sickness in the past few years but she still has her wiry speech.

Thank God for a person like her — who always sees the bright side of life and never complains.

Holiday hazards for children are many

T'was the night before Christmas and all through the house poisonous plants and sharp toys were taking away cheer from naughty little girls and curious little boys

Christmas tree lights, glass ornaments, mistletoe and pans on the stove simmering with holiday treats are part of this happy season, but unless care is taken they can turn celebration into tragedy.

"Young children need close supervision during the holidays to prevent accidents like burns, electrocution and poisoning," said Marc Hanfling, M.D., a pediatrician at Baylor College of Medicine.

He advises parents to take some extra time to make their home safe for young children.

Christmas trees are one of the biggest hazards for small children. Chewing the cords of the twinkling lights can cause severe burns on the face and mouth, and in some cases electrocution. Children who try to eat glass ornaments may have cuts in their mouth, throat and intestinal tract. Hanfling said that putting the tree in a playpen is a good way to keep it out of a child's reach.

"Scalds are the number one cause of burn injuries to young children," said Hanfling. "It's important to turn pot handles away from the stove and to keep the cords to electric skillets and percolators on cabinets where they can't be pulled down by inquisitive hands."

Poisoning is another common holiday accident and mistletoe is probably the most dangerous holiday plant," Hanfling said. Children who eat it may have reactions as serious as heart failure. Poinsettias and holly berries are also poisonous, but usually cause only upset stomachs.

He advises parents to keep the Southeast Texas Poison Control Center's phone number (713-654-1701 or 409-765-1420) posted at all times.

"If your child eats any of these plants or if you even suspect he may have eaten them, call the center immediately, Hanfling said. "They will advise you of danger signs to watch for, first aid care you can provide, and if the child should be taken to an emergency room.

"It's a good idea year-round to have a medication, such as Ipecac, which promotes vomiting in children who have swallowed something poisonous."

Another wise safety precaution, he said, is to be sure to remind friends and relatives who visit during the holidays to put their medications in a safe place. "Medicine should be kept out of the reach and sight of children," he said. "Don't rely on child-proof caps to stop kids from getting into medicine."

Hanfling offers these other holiday safety tips:

— Buckle up your child and yourself while driving long or short distances. More auto accidents happen during holidays than any other time and more accidents happen within 5 miles of home.

— Turn off Christmas tree lights before going to bed or leaving home. Tree lights can cause holiday fires.

— Purchase toys that specify the age child for which they are considered safe. Be certain there are no small pieces that could be swallowed and cause choking.

— Make sure homes you visit are as safe for your children as your own home.

TMA makes suggestions on how to deal with Christmas depression

When you begin reading all the news stories about Christmas depression, don't let them depress you.

An article from the Journal of the American Medical Association says statistics actually show a relatively low level of depression during December compared with other months.

The report says the number of suicides, psychiatric hospitalizations, and even letters to advice columns is relatively low during December. The pattern of major psychiatric illness declines during the days and weeks before Christmas and on Christmas Day itself. But these problems show an increase in January.

Regardless of statistics, many people do become depressed at Christmastime, says the Texas Medical Association. The causes include guilt from eating or drinking too much, absence of a loved one, demands on money, increased contact with certain relatives, and public rejoicing that makes private pain harder to bear.

Symptoms of depression are a sad mood, guilt, indecisiveness and a lack of confidence, feelings of worthlessness, helplessness and hopelessness, anxiety, suicidal thoughts, irritability, loss of sex drive, appetite, or sleep, difficulty in concentration, inability to carry out a daily routine, headaches, fatigue and loss of energy and constipation.

In dealing with Christmas depression, TMA suggests people:

— Keep in mind that what is good health advice the rest of the year is also good advice during the holidays. In particular, moderation in food and alcohol are always wise.

— Avoid unrealistic expectations that "the magic of Christmas" will solve personal or family problems. This helps avoid an after-Christmas crash.

— Take time to appreciate the positive aspects of the season. For example, there is more time to spend with family and friends, as well as an opportunity to do something special for them.

Gramm 'proud and eager' to discuss Reagan's economic recovery program

KINGSVILLE — U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm, on a three-week campaign swing across Texas, said last week he was "proud and eager to discuss President Reagan's economic recovery program and its positive impact on both Texas and our nation."

The congressman, who holds a Ph.D. in economics and is seeking the Senate seat being vacated by U.S. Sen. John Tower, spoke as the Labor Department reported that unemployment fell by almost half a point to 8.4 percent nationwide.

He noted that one other candidate in the race — ex-Carter administration appointee Bob Krueger — has challenged Gramm to defend his role in passing the "Reagan-Gramm" recovery program into law as co-author of the Gramm-Lata budget bills.

Gramm pointed out that, even by the standards of the Carter administration, "the working people of Texas and the nation are regaining the ground they lost under Carter.

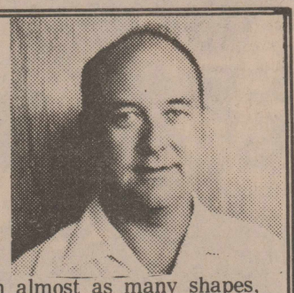

"You may recall Jimmy Carter's 'misery index,' " Gramm said. "It was a clever political device combining unemployment and inflation rates. But 'Jimmynomics' brought us a misery index that jumped by 37.8 percent during the time the Carter budgets were in effect.

"In contrast, the misery index has fallen 37.9 percent since the first Gramm-Latta budget went into effect," Gramm said. "It took us two years, but we have now succeeded in erasing the misery served up by the Carter administration.

"I'm enthusiastic about how our program is working for the working people — the people who pull the wagon, pay the taxes, do the work," he said. "We have cut inflation by more than 70 percent. We've cut taxes 25 percent. We've halted the unbridled growth of government spending.

"And I am doubly proud to have played a part in digging out from under the economic rubble bequeathed to us after Carter and Krueger were defeated," Congressman Gramm said.

Eye Openers

Choosing Eyeglass Frames

Eyeglass frames come in almost as many shapes, styles, and colors as fashion accessories. When choosing a frame, consider with care the color and style that will enhance your natural good looks and give you a sense of individuality. Here are some guidelines to help you:

1. A large, rounded or curved frame generally looks good on a square face.
2. An oval or rectangular shaped frame makes a round face look slimmer and longer.
3. Eyebrows should not be higher than the top of your eyeglass frame.
4. Red, lavender, or other bright-colored frames add a glow to skins that tend to be a little sallow.
5. Neutral colors like grey or amber tone down a too-pink complexion.

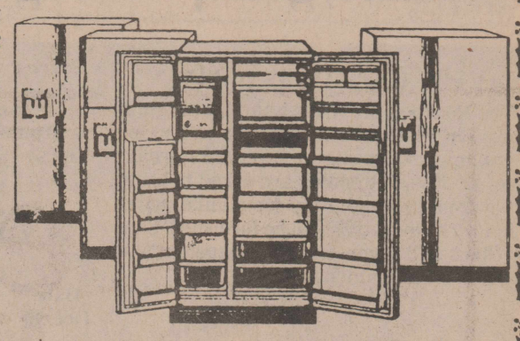

Another important consideration when choosing a frame is the thickness of your lenses. Some prescriptions appear too thick in an overly large frame. Here the expertise of your optometrist is very important. He should tell you which frames will not adequately accommodate the lenses you need for seeing. There are so many frames to choose from that you will have no trouble picking the right one, with care and professional guidance.

Sesquicentennial committee seeks 'seed money'

By PAT BLAIR
Managing editor

A request by the Aransas County Sesquicentennial Committee for $200 in "seed money" received unanimous approval Monday from Rockport's board of development.

The request, with the board of development recommendation that it be authorized, was scheduled to go before Rockport's city council Tuesday night.

Barbara Armstrong, one of the three members of the county steering committee appointed to help plan the local program for Texas' 150th birthday observance in 1986, appeared before the development board's meeting Monday morning to formally present the steering committee's request.

The committee asked for $200 to cover the expense of stationary, postage and advertising in order to carry out plans to write to every club, organization, school and government body in Aransas County inviting them to name a representative to a county chapter of the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission.

Armstrong told board of development members, "Our goals (for the Sesquicentennial committee) are not to try to even remotely compete with the 1969-70 centennial (referring to the Aransas County/Rockport centennial celebration some 13 years ago).

"Our goals," Armstrong emphasized, "are totally different."

She said the steering committee plans to invite each individual organization — including the county's churches — "to do something within its group" that will tie in with the statewide observance.

For example, she said, a church might plan a reunion that would bring members and former members from throughout the state. And the 1986 SeaFair will be dedicated to the Sesquicentennial observance.

Everything that is planned as part of the Sesquicentennial celebration, Armstrong continued, will be included in a Texas Sesquicentennial calendar of events that will be distributed throughout the state.

In addition to Armstrong, other members of the steering committee are its chairman, Raulie L. Irwin Jr., and Don Meek. Armstrong is secretary of the committee and Meek is treasurer. The committee met earlier this month with Jeanine Hicks, program officer for the State Sesquicentennial Commission.

Armstrong told the development board, chaired by Pat Brown, that the $200 being requested Monday "is strictly the seed money to get us (the committee) started. We hope from then on to support ourselves or work through already-established organizations."

Development board member Gayle Atchley made the motion to submit the request to the city council with a favorable recommendation. The motion was seconded by Virginia Shivers. Also attending Monday's meeting was development board member J. C. Harlan.

In an interview earlier, after the Sesquicentennial steering committee's meeting with Hicks, Armstrong said the group was looking for "small ideas" for the upcoming celebration. "For example," she said at that time, "we would like every representative (appointed to serve on the county commission) to write a history of their organization."

The steering committee's long-range goal, she said, is to provide "something for posterity" when the celebration has ended. Among the results the committee hopes will come out of the observance are an updated history of Aransas County and "a good historical tour" of the county.

Party-goers reminded to use caution during holiday season

During National Drunk and Drugged Driving Week, Dec. 11-17, and through the remaining holiday season, Texans are urged to be aware of the dangers of impaired driving and take precautions against the tragedies resulting from such driving behavior, according to George R. Gustafson, executive vice president of Texas Safety Association.

December was the worst month in Texas for DWI fatal accidents during the years 1979-1982 combined, according to Texas Department of Public Safety records.

There were 335 fatal DWI-related accidents, resulting in 397 fatalities recorded by DPS. Jan. 1 showed the most DWI-involved fatal accidents, 24, for the years, 1979-1982 combined.

During this potentially deadly period, party-goers and party-givers are urged to follow these safety tips:

— Have plenty of food and non-alcoholic beverages available at parties where alcohol is also being served.

— When you mix drinks, use a jigger to measure the amount of alcohol. It's easy to underestimate the amount of alcohol you pour in a drink, especially if you've had a drink or two.

— Set up the beverage service so that guests can easily help themselves to refills of non-alcoholic drinks and to food items.

— Do not depend on coffee to sober up someone who has been drinking. Coffee does not counteract the alcohol in the blood stream.

— Consider suggesting a car pool as part of the invitational process. One person in the group can serve as the designated driver. It's that person's responsibility to stay sober and drive the others home safely.

— If someone has had too much to drink, convince the person to stay overnight, ride home with someone else, or go home in a taxi. It's much more responsible to accept this minor inconvenience than to risk a person's life.

— Be sure to plan these safeguards into office parties as well as home settings.

Drivers are also reminded to follow these precautions during holiday travel:

— Watch for drivers who have had too much to drink. Tipoffs of alcohol- or drug-impaired drivers include inconsistent driving speeds, frequent lane changing, disregarding traffic signs and driving outside lane markers.

— Watch for pedestrians who may have had too much to drink.

— Wear your safety belt, ask your passengers to buckle up and fasten children safety seats or safety belts, depending on their size and age.

— Plan ahead for long visits to relatives' and friends' homes. Winterize you and the vehicle ahead. After the vehicle in front passes a particular point on the road, count "a thousand one, a thousand two, etc." If you reach the landmark before "a thousand two," increase your following distance.

— Keep the windows clear of ice, snow and steam.

Mother's Day is a learning environment

"Kids are people too," exclaims Linda Harris, owner and operator of Mother's Day Care, a new day care facility located in Fulton. A former teacher's aide and educational volunteer, Harris has had quite a bit of experience in the area of child care.

"I'm not a babysitter," says Linda, emphasizing that Mother's Day Care provides an environment where children can learn basic skills while participating in supervised activities. Open since last month, the Mother's Day Care, which is housed in Harris' home, offers both indoor and outdoor activities and facilities for children ages 2 years and up.

Children can color, cut and paste colored paper into creative projects, solve puzzles which emphasize numbers, shapes and colors, read books and play outside. Pretty pictures are displayed on the center's bulletin board and Harris gives the facility a homey atmosphere, making the children feel comfortable. With four grown children of her own, she's had plenty of experience.

Mother's Day Care has passed both health and fire inspections and is awaiting state certification. Harris can take up to 12 children per day, but prefers that children be toilet trained.

During the remaining two Saturdays in December, Harris is offering a special to parents who would like to go Christmas shopping without the children or who would just like a day to themselves. Harris will supervise children at a cost of $5 per day per child, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Special rates are also available, for a limited time only, for those who register full time. Those registering their children full time can get the fourth week at a half-price rate — a perfect opportunity for working parents. Although Mother's Day Care does not serve breakfast, Harris gives children a mid-morning snack, a hot lunch and an afternoon snack, and passes the savings along to parents at a rate of $40 per week.

Mother's Day Care, located on 2nd Street in Fulton, is open from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Parents should call in advance to insure that space is available. The phone number is 729-4320.

Local realtors attend Austin conference

Ted Greenfield and Catherine Heser, the President-elect and Executive Officer, respectively, of the Rockport Area Board of Realtors, participated the weekend of December 2-4 in Austin in a statewide conference to discuss the Texas Association of Realtors (TAR) 1984 program.

TAR's annual Board Officers Leadership Conference, which brings together the leaders of Boards of Realtors from across Texas, was held to introduce the individual Board officers to a wide range of issues and topics that Realtors in Texas can expect to face during 1984. The meeting program also included a number of presentations, workshops and seminars designed to enhance the Board officers' leadership capabilities and the Boards' levels of performance during the upcoming year.

Over 280 representatives from 106 different Boards of Realtors attended this year's conference, which was held at Austin's Hyatt Regency Hotel. The conference also included updates on legal and legislative issues expected to affect the real estate industry during 1984.

Ted Greenfield, the 1984 president of the Rockport Area Board of Realtors, is the owner/broker with Little Bay Real Estate in Rockport.

Tips for year-end tax planning

Farmers and ranchers have only a few weeks left to make decisions that could affect their 1983 income tax situation. Year-end planning can help save tax dollars, says Mike Rothrock, agricultural extension agent for San Patricio and Aransas counties.

Such planning mainly involves decisions to adjust income or expenditures so as to come up with a more favorable tax situation, Rothrock says. The primary purpose of year-end tax planning is to level out taxable income from year to year to avoid jumping through several tax brackets from one year to the next.

With lower tax rates expected during 1984, producers may be in a dilemma about their income tax situation this year, Rothrock said. Many may feel inclined to shift some taxable income into next year to take advantage of the lower tax rates, particularly if this year's taxable income will be above average.

The main thing producers need to avoid is to net operating loss (NOL) because for many that could mean a loss of the tax benefits from personal deductions and exemptions. These add up to at least $5,500 for a couple with no dependent children and $7,400 for a family of four.

Social Security retirement benefits also will be affected by low net earnings in preretirement years. And contributions to a Keogh or IRA retirement plan may be affected if taxable income falls too low.

The first step in year-end tax planning, according to Rothrock, is to calculate the 1983 taxable income and project 1984 taxable income. The IRS is presently mailing 1983 income tax tables and schedules along with forms and filing instructions. For a rough estimate of 1984 tax rates, figure taxes at 5 percent less for the same taxable income as in 1983. The maximum capital gains tax on the sale of land, machinery or other investments is 20 percent, the extension agent added.

If it is determined advantageous for a cash basis taxpayer to shift taxabale income from 1984 to this year, several steps can be taken. Certain cash purchases can be postponed until next year or payments can be delayed until after the first of the year.

Certain soil and water conservation and land clearing expenses can be capitalized and depreciated rather than taking them all this year. Some tax and interest payments might also be deferred until after year-end. Shifting capital assets bought before 1981 from a rapid method of depreciation to straight line depreciation can postpone deductions.

Income for 1983 may also be increased by receiving payment for grain and livestock sales before year-end, through assignment of PIK entitlements to someone else and by receiving advance diversion and deficiency payments through participation in the 1984 farm program the agent added. Certain assets might also be sold this year that would eventually be sold anyway.

However, if the decision is to shift taxable income to 1984 to take advantage of the lower tax rate, a producer may avoid receiving income from any 1983 sales (especially crops) through a deferred payment agreement with the buyer. He may also delay counting PIK entitlements, crop insurance proceeds and income from forced sales of livestock from federally designated drought areas.

Stepping up deductions can also postpone 1983 income. This could include paying for and taking delivery of equipment and supplies before year-end as well as prepayment of such items as leases. Year-end tax benefits associated with farm machinery purchases (such as ACRS deductions, investment credit or the $5,000 expensing option) may enhance the payoff of such purchases. And contributions to a Keogh and an IRA retirement plan are deductible as long as they are made before the tax return is filed.

If a producer does all he can to reduce his 1983 taxable income and still finds his earnings much higher than in past years, Rothrock suggests income averaging. If this year's income will be 20 percent above the average taxable income for 1979 through 1982 plus $3,000, then income averaging may save tax dollars.

He advises producers to check with their tax consultants for further information on year-end tax planning.

Students complete paramedic training

Fourteen South Texas emergency medical technicians (EMTs) completed a six-month paramedic training program in Rockport Dec. 8.

The training program sponsored by the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service (EMS) and approved by the Texas Department of Health and the Veterans Administration was taught by physicians from Rockport, Aransas Pass and Corpus Christi and paramedics with the Aransas County EMS.

The skills learned by these new paramedics included pharmacology, E.K.G. intrepretation, IV fluid therapy and shock management, disaster management, Ob and emergency childbirth and advanced airway techniques.

Students completing the program were Wynne Armstrong, Julie Carruth, Don Floyd, Laura Hill, Michael Merritt, Troy Reynolds, Sheri Stafford, Barbara Turissini and David Womack of Rockport.

Other students were Richard W. Clayton of the Brownsville Fire Department, James Dempsey, Frank Cherry Jr. and Henry Aceves of Saves ambulance in Sinton and Nikki Sigler of the Port Aransas EMS.

The students were tested by the Texas Department of Health on Dec. 8 at the EMS Station in Rockport.

The Aransas County EMS has completed four paramedic training programs and numerous EMT and ECA training programs since it began operations in January 1977.

Loan guaranty procedures for housing subdivisions altered by VA

As part of the administration's regulatory relief efforts, the Veterans Administration has eliminated a requirement for local and state "clearinghouse" review of certain housing subdivisions prior to approval for VA home loan purposes.

As of this past Sept. 30, housing subdivisions involving more than 10 units in rural areas and 25 units in urban areas will no longer have to be submitted to areawide agencies for review and comment on federally aided construction projects required under a 1967 law.

In making the announcement, Administrator of Veterans Affairs Harry N. Walters said: "I am proud of the initiative the president took in issuing the Executive Order that made it possible for the VA to alter our loan guaranty procedures. I am confident the rewards to the real estate industry, the individual veteran home purchaser and the VA will be gratifying."

President Reagan issued Executive Order 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs," in July 1982, which advanced the administration's New Federalism and regulatory relief efforts.

This directive, effective Sept. 30, allowed the VA to make the changes on the grounds that individual veterans will benefit.

The VA has been required to refer all such subdivisions for clearinghouse review which took a minimum of 30 days processing time. The paperwork and delays were often perceived as too costly by builders who frequently elected to construct the homes without VA subdivison approval.

This meant the homes were not eligible for VA loan purposes and veterans were denied this benefit if they wanted to buy one of the houses.

Despite the additional burden on builders, the VA received more than 5,500 separate requests for subdivision clearance in 1982. The paperwork associated with this number of requests will now be eliminated.

In making the changes, the VA noted that other planning mechanisms are available to provide assurances to citizens such as zoning ordinances, water and sewage laws and building permits.

Distribution planned for cheese

Cheese and butter distributions began this week at the Aransas County Council on Aging Adult Activity Center.

Hours are from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. and the distribution, which began Tuesday, will continue daily until the supply is expended.

All persons eligible to participate in this program must bring the I.D. card issued to them in October, according to Vic Serrano, director of commodities for the Sinton Community Action Agency.

Serrano said persons who are eligible but do not have I.D. cards may apply for them.

Inside Fulton Mansion . . .

These photos taken in Fulton Mansion last week include, at right, a view across the front lawn from Col. Fulton's small tower "growlery" and, left, a floral arrangement in the parlor. Although visitors aren't allowed all the way into the bedroom, below, the dresser is placed to allow them to see the reflection of the bed in the mirror. Smaller photos show a terrarium of a type common in the homes of Col. Fulton's day and a copy of "Scientific American" magazine, a publication that, according to Museum Superintendent June Secrist, would undoubtedly have been found in Fulton's home.
