Cosmonauts Return

MOSCOW (AP) - A Soviet and a Czechoslovak cosmonaut returned to earth today from the Soviet Salyut 6 space station, leaving two other Soviet cosmonauts aboard, the Tass news agency reported.

Soviet flight commander Alexei Gubarev and Czechoslovak spaceman Vladimir Remek had spent seven days in space in the first mission to include a non-Soviet, non-American astronaut.

Tass said Georgy Grechko and Yuri Romanenko were continuing their work aboard the space station after more than 12 weeks in space. They are expected to return to earth in the next week or two, having broken the world space endurance record of 84 days set four years by a U.S. Skylab crew.

Oil Workers Rescued

LERWICK, Shetland Islands (AP)-Two oil workers were rescued unharmed from the icy depths of the North Sea today after being trapped 355 feet down for nearly 24 hours in a mini-submarine. The sub, the PC9, was stranded on the sea floor Thursday by a half-inch wire cable that fouled its propeller while its two crewmen were working on an oil wellhead in a British Petroleum Co. field 80 miles west of the Shetland Islands. It was cut free this morning by divers taken down by another mini-sub. The PC9 maneuvered to the surface under its own power and was hoisted aboard its mother ship.

Coffee Producers Meet

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)-Central American coffee producers are meeting in San Salvador to try to figure out ways to push prices back toward last year's higher levels. Their best hope may be reduced production due to drought. The seven Central American countries agreed last month in London to suspend exports, but at least one of them, El Salvador, continued doing business as usual.

Keep tab on our neighbors:

Jerry Tidwell of the Lamb County (Littlefield) Leader-News, came up with this example of the proficiency of newspaper advertising. He said that even when the Morris County Citizen makes a mistake, the advertiser still gets results.

"That was pointed up recently when Robert Heckler, 35, of Arlington, ran an ad seeking the whereabouts of his mother, whom he had not seen since he was four years old.

"Inadvertently, Heckler's ad was placed in the automotive section instead of the personal column.

"The ad was spotted by Edward Morrison of Mountain Lakes, N.J., while looking for a car for his son.

"Morrison knew the mother, Lucille Ruden, 57, was living in Clifton, N.J., and he notified her.

"That evening, Mrs. Ruden phoned her son in Arlington, whom she had not seen since she and her first husband were divorced 31 years ago."

Tidwell also told of some problems a Sunday School teacher of a small children's class had with the Lord's Prayer.

One child had to be corrected after repeating "Howard by thy name."

Another youngster prayed "Lead us not into Penn Station."

Still another surprised the teacher with "Our Father, how'd you know my name?"

Commenting on a brochure concerning pre-admissions at Lubbock's new Health Sciences Center Hospital, Lynn Brisendine of the Brownfield News said the pamphlet included forms that sought various types of information from the incoming patient. But perhaps they went farther than they intended in efforts to standardize the forms.

For example, a form for admission of obstetrical patients asked the traditional questions such as addresses, occupation, next-of-kin, the standard financial information, etc. It also concluded with this: "If accident, give date, time and place."--WACIL McNAIR

Talks Resume As Marshals Deliver Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) - As contract talks resumed in the 95-day coal strike, federal marshals today delivered copies of the back-to-work court orders to the leaders of the striking miners.

The order directed the 160,000 miners to go back to work at 7 a.m. today but reports from the coal fields showed there was no stampede to return to the job.

In many places, the miners said they were waiting until federal marshals actually delivered the court orders. Technically, a defendant is not required to obey the order until he is served with a copy.

The marshals have until 4:30 p.m. (EST) Monday to hand out the orders to the 1,454 defendants named by the federal judge who issued the back-to-work mandate under the Taft-Hartley Act. Carter administration officials say they will not have a good estimate of the miners' response until toward the end of next week.

President Carter declared Thursday that he believes "a substantial portion of them ... will comply with the law" and go back on the job.

Meanwhile, negotiators for the United Mine Workers union and the coal industry negotiators met at a downtown Washington hotel to search for a settlement of their bitter dispute, which has forced electric utilities to curtail power and industries to lay off thousands of workers.

Sources said UMW President Arnold Miller and his bargaining team were meeting with four officials from the Bituminous Coal Operators Association without the presence of federal mediators.

Aided By New Manufacturing Jobs...

February Jobless Rate Dips To 6.1%

WASHINGTON (AP)-A big increase in new manufacturing jobs helped push the nation's jobless rate down to 6.1 percent in February, the fourth straight monthly decline in unemployment and the lowest since October 1974, the government reported today.

The unemployment rate in January was 6.3 percent.

The best unemployment gains in February were for blacks and other minority workers whose jobless rate declined to 11.8 percent, down from 12.7 percent in January and the lowest in more than three years.

The February report said the effects of the long coal strike either had not yet shown up or not yet had an impact on overall employment, although it noted that the strike has taken 160,000 miners temporarily out of the labor force.

Aside from the miners themselves, the Labor Department reported Thursday that 25,500 factory workers had been laid off in the week of Feb. 26 as a direct result of a coal and electricity shortages in the 11 Midwestern and mid-Atlantic states most affected by the strike.

The agency said nearly half of the lay-offs were in Indiana. Other significant lay-offs were reported in Pennsylvania, Illinois, Maryland and Ohio.

Administration officials agree that if the strike continues into April, the impact on jobs will mount at an alarming pace.

Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger said Thursday that the number of unemployed workers would exceed 1 million by the end of March and 3.5 million in April, while several million more workers would have reduced working hours.

The Labor Department said 93 million Americans had jobs in February, up from 92.9 million in January, while 6.1 million were unemployed, down from 6.2 million a month earlier.

Reflecting the steady improvement in the nation's economy, the February unemployment rate of 6.1 percent was the lowest since a 5.9 percent rate during the recession in October 1974.

The Labor Department said overall employment last month was 3.7 million higher than in February 1977, the first full month of President Carter's term in office.

If unemployment remains at the February level for the rest of 1978, it means the Carter administration already has achieved its goal for the year of reducing the nation's jobless rate to near 6 percent.

But a Labor Department analyst cautioned that the coal strike could seriously complicate the jobs outlook in months ahead unless it is ended soon.

"Generally speaking it is a good report, but we have to be uncertain about the future of the coal strike and what effect it will have if it continues," he said.

The Labor Department gave the following unemployment rates in February for various categories of the labor force:

-Adult men 4.5 percent, down from 4.7 percent in January.

-Adult women 5.7 percent, down from 6.1 percent.

-Teen-agers 17.4 percent, up from 16 percent in January.

-White 5.3 percent, down from 5.5 percent.

Carter Gives On Decontrol

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, whose energy package has been bogged down in Congress in a battle over natural gas pricing, says he is ready to accept a phased deregulation of such prices as suggested by Senate energy conferees.

Saying that deregulation of natural gas prices was a campaign promise, Carter said Thursday, "I think a long phase-in of deregulation without a shock to the national economy would be acceptable."

Senate members of an energy conference committee earlier this week reached agreement on a proposal that would lift price controls from newly discovered natural gas by 1985 with a steady increase of regulated prices until then.

On other subjects during a nationally televised and broadcast news conference, Carter on Thursday said:

—He expects both coal operators and coal miners to obey the Taft-Hartley injunction calling the miners to return to work while negotiations on a contract continue. He said he has no plans to ask Congress for authority to seize the mines.

—There is reason to believe the dollar in the long run will be "fairly well-priced" on world money markets, despite its recent decline. He said the value of the dollar has been stable in recent days against the German mark.

—That he does not intend to pressure Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin into a Middle East peace agreement when the Israeli leaders comes to Washington next week.

But Carter said Israel's refusal to withdraw from the west bank of the Jordan River, occupied since the 1967 war, "would be a very serious blow to the prospect for peace" in the region.

Market Jumps

NEW YORK (AP)-Strength in the dollar and an unexpected drop in the unemployment rate helped push stock prices broadly higher in an active session today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 4.42 at 754.42.

Gainers outstripped losers by more than a 3-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The dollar gained in value in foreign-exchange markets on word that officials of the Federal Reserve and the West German central bank were discussing possible moves to strengthen the U.S. currency, which has been slumping for the past several months.

Texas Opry Coming Here Saturday

"The New Texas Opry," a country and western variety show, is set for 8 o'clock Saturday night in the Scurry County Coliseum.

A number of well-known stars will be on hand for the show, with songwriter Bill Brewer to appear as the master of ceremonies.

Among the headliners will be Ty Kelley, a former Snyderite, and his wife, LaRae. Others will include Karen Glover, Ron DiUlio, Derwood Rowell and Tumblin' Creek and The Bandera Express, recording artists.

Tickets priced at $4 each for adults and $2 for children under 12 may be purchased in advance at Fenton's Dad and Lad, Hasting's Books and Records, Bar-H-Bar Western Wear and at Tape Town, or they will be available at the door Saturday night.

Scouting Exposition At Armory Here Tomorrow

Local residents will have the opportunity to take a closer look at the Scouting program in their own community with the presentation of the annual Scouting Exposition from 1 to 5 p.m. tomorrow at the National Guard Armory.

The exposition offers the community a window on Scouting by providing under one roof a large number of samples of Scout programs in the form of displays and demonstrations. Those who attend will see what Scouting is, what Scouts do, and who Scouts are, said local leaders.

Each Club Scout Pack and Boy Scout Troop determines for itself the aspect of Scouting it will portray and how, whether by live demonstrations, displays, or whatever format human imagination can devise. Units are then assigned booths in the exposition hall which must be decorated and equipped by the unit.

Preparations have been underway for months with the overall co-ordination of this year's Scouting Exposition in the Lone Buffalo District co-chaired by Doc Griffin and Ernest Cox. Crews of local leaders and volunteers are now completing final preparations with the erection of the rough skeletons of the booths and the last flurry of details.

For the past month Scouts have been canvassing the community door-to-door selling admission tickets to the event. Ticket sales and merchant and supporter advertisements in the exposition's printed program provided another dimension of the yearly event, its provision of funds for the Scouting program.

Scouting expositions are used nation-wide to promote local interaction with the Scouting program. This year's national theme for expositions has been designated as "The Wonderful World Of Scouting" with sportscaster Jim McKay as national chairman. This theme will be part of the consideration of individual local units as they determine the themes for their own booths.

Snyder is served by the Lone Buffalo District of the Buffalo Trail Council. Council offices in Midland provide support in the form of services which include the district's full-time professional District Executive, Larry Miller. Chairman for the Lone Buffalo District is Charles Henderson.

ag enrollment rises

There is more to the U.S. farm story than strikes and prices (too low or too high, depending upon whether viewed by the farmer or the supermarket shopper).

One of the more interesting but little noticed chapters has been taking place on the college campus, where enrollment in schools of agriculture has been climbing steadily.

Nationwide ag school enrollment as of the Fall 1977 registration was 98,519, according to the annual count taken by Iowa State University's College of Agriculture.

This figure may not seem particularly impressive in comparison with the hundreds of thousands which are customary in engineering, business and the social sciences. But it represents almost a doubling in the numbers of ag students in less than a decade (some 54,000 in 1970), a tripling in a quarter of a century (less than 35,000 in 1953).

Furthermore, the modest ag boom has coincided with stagnant or declining overall college enrollments, a continuing decline in the number of U.S. farms and size of the farm population and what has generally been presented as an unpromising economic outlook for the farmer.

Why?

A large part of the answer lies off the farm - in business. Which also explains another curious feature of ag enrollment - the high proportion of women, 34,952 or 30 percent of the Fall '77 total.

Large numbers of ag graduates - some 30 percent in recent years - leave the campus not for the farm but for the office. Food processing and distributing firms and other agriculture-affiliated businesses have been an important and expanding job market with many of the positions available particularly suited to women with technical training in agricultural specialties. Starting salaries are good, $11,000 and up with $15,000 not unheard of.

Iowa University's Dr. Louis M. Thompson, associate dean of the College of Agriculture, notes that there has also been a marked increase in the number of graduates returning to the farms, with the consequence that the average education level within the farm population is going up.

Also, ag schools have benefited from an increased awareness on the part of the general public of the importance of the environmental sciences and of interest in such agriculture related areas as park management and fish culture.

The boom appears to be slowing down, however, at least for the time being. Where ag enrollment had been registering regular 5 percent annual increases, the Fall '77 total is only 1 percent up from '76. And freshmen and sophomores are actually down slightly. With the graduation of the current large senior class, ag enrollment may show a decline for the first time in a quarter of a century.

Even so, the ag school story is an encouraging statement on the present and future of the American farm, which considering the current farmers' strike might otherwise appear to be clouded.

Although no one is willing this early to predict the final outlines, help for the smaller farmer should eventually be forthcoming from Congress. A proposed Family Farm Development Act includes provisions to stabilize prices of farm products and for loan programs to assist new farm owners.

The long-term trend toward larger farms and the consequent decrease in the number of farms and farm families continues. But the larger farms can be worked more efficiently and they are more attractive to the ag school graduates.

The time may come when the question of how to keep them down on the farm will have become purely academic.

at wits end

by erma bombeck

I clicked off the television set the other night following an episode of the Class of '65, and was so depressed I couldn't get to sleep.

As usual, I was born too soon. My class didn't begin to equal the excitement of the '60s. We were all so predictable. Our class clown went into politics, the class "idea" man was selling mantras to dogs into TM, and the Girl Most Likely...did.

I was in the kind of class that the teachers talked about among themselves. They were always throwing up the previous year's class to us and how great the three coming after us were. We couldn't do anything right. We scheduled a pep assembly on Good Friday. We elected a class president who dropped out. We left the school a drinking fountain that rusted. At our prom two teachers got smashed and eloped--and we had to bring them back.

We've talked about it and tried to figure out why we were so dull and have come to the conclusion that it was just one of those boring years--no war, nothing to protest, nothing to celebrate and we were between trends. What do you do when it's too late to eat goldfish and too early to flash?

When I stop to consider who might have made an interesting segment for a series of the Class of '49, the only one with a hint of imagination was Janey Wilks. They say she really had the sweats over the geography teacher. I never believed that for a moment. It was crazy. They say she used to sneak out to a nearby cemetery on her lunch period. That was ridiculous. Oh, she wore a sun dress one day and imprinted on her back was "OUR BELOVED MOTHER 1853-1926" but that doesn't prove anything.

Or maybe the class jock, Stud Turf. He was the first boy in our class to break the home economics barrier. He made divinity fudge that would make you break out just by stirring it. After graduation he went on to open his own restaurant. There was a sign at the edge of town--"Stud's GAS and EATS." Most people found it redundant.

I met one of my classmates the other day and said, "What a shame. No one really cares what happened to the class of '49."

She said, "Who?"

ANNUAL BANQUET

"A good time was had by all," seemed to be the consensus following the 52nd Annual Snyder Chamber of Commerce Banquet and Meeting.

The 700-plus crowd on hand did have a few infirmities to contend with; mostly involving the stomach and foot region. Overstuffed stomachs from a most excellent meal, splitting sides from an extraordinary Reagan Brown speech and cold feet from a blustery wind were the order of the evening.

Cheryl Kiner and her "Sounds of the West" band enabled much of the crowd to warm up the feet as well as work off some of the excess food with her masterful fiddle following the scheduled portion of the meeting. Only time will heal the sore sides provided by our illustrious, articulate and entertaining Aggie Agricultural Commissioner.

For the more sedate, exhibits furnished by Dr. Bill Eickhoff and Cotton, Inc., Texas Agriculture Products (TAP), Upper Colorado Water and Conservation District and the Scurry County Museum were very well done.

POLITICIANS

At this time of year, you can't miss those fine citizens seeking to represent us in city, county, state and national office. Last Friday's banquet was no different with those seeking election to the 17th Congressional District here in force.

It was difficult to miss such politicos as Dusty Rhodes, Charles Stenholm, Jim Baum, Jim Sharp and Bill Fisher campaign workers. Unopposed incumbent State Representative Mike Ezzell and most locals were also on hand for a little "back slapping" and hand shaking.

The fine tradition of "honoring our own" continued to be in vogue with seven plaques presented. Announcing the winners beforehand streamlined the proceedings immensely and will be continued.

HISTORY

The 1978 affair may now be only memories for many of us, but it was enjoyable and entertaining as billed. Snyder has been fortunate to have good banquets because they are well attended -- or vice versa -- and, hopefully, it will continue.

Plans are now underway for 1979. The theme will probably be a salute to the 10th aniversary of achieving All-America City status.

THANKS

If you've ever been involved in an event of this nature, you know the monumental task it is. If you've only been a spectator, you must still have an idea of the magnitude of feeding, seating, decorating, planning and entertaining a crowd of over 700 people.

This year's salute to agriculture was no different. Please take a minute in the near future to thank those individuals who gave so freely of their time, talents, energy and money to make this year's banquet the resounding success it was.

Those involved were: Colleen Cameron, Doris Blackard, Carol Davis, Mrs. R.L. Terry, Jerry Worsham and students, Phi Theta Kappa, Garden Club members, Parks-Walker Cattle Company, Central Tire Service, Jerry Springer, M.L. Duke, West Texas State Bank, Roger Mize, Sonny Harrell, Margaret Drum, KSNY Radio and Snyder Daily News.

Also Milton Stephens, Ernest Sears, Jeanne Bullard, Carl Williams, Morris Light, Charles Henderson, Don Gressett, John Jarrell, Billy Roach, The CowBelles, Lucille Sterling, Martha Huddleston, Wanda Eicke, Jean Everett, Drew Bullard.

Also, Joe Williamson, Dalton Walton, Van Rigby, Mary Lou Crawford, Sharon Sutton, Billy Bob McMullan, Erwin Pavlik, Kathy Roberts and students, Darlene Beard, Floyd Collins, Paula Lunsford and Carol Bullard.

WASHINGTON (NEA) - When it comes to spotting an opportunity and seizing same, no politician in the country can hold a candle to California's Gov. Jerry Brown.

Although he normally scorns such gathering as a waste of time, Brown showed up here for the winter meeting of the National Governors Association and proceeded to turn the three-day conclave into a running media event featuring guess who?

In Jimmy Carter's backyard, he twitted the president for proposing a cut in federal income taxes while Social Security taxes are going up and the burden for many social programs is being shifted onto state and local governments.

He unveiled to his fellow governors an elaborate "urban strategy for California," copies of which were flown in specially, hot off the presses, for the occasion. Asked how it differed from Carter's still-developing urban plan, Brown quipped, "Mine's finished."

While his gubernatorial colleagues slogged through a dry agenda of committee agenda of committee meetings and plenary sessions, Brown prowled the corridors, holding press conferences, granting interviews, dining day and night with reporters.

He is not, or course, the first would-be presidential contender to use one of these semi-annual governors' conference for his own political purposes. His predecessor, Ronald Reagan, was a master of the art. So was Nelson Rockefeller.

But they were regulars at such gatherings, while Brown has shunned previous meetings. The mere fact that he chose to show up this time guaranteed him the lion's share of the media attention.

RED-FACED FLURRY

There are red faces in Vice President Mondale's office as a result of our inquiry about an apparent flurry of activity last year in an old Mondale campaign account.

A year-end report filed with the Secretary of the Senate by the "Mondale Volunteer Committee" showed receipts and expenditures of more than $53,000 in 1977 - which seemed peculiar for a sitting vice president.

Asked why Mondale raised and spent so much campaign money at a time when he was not running for office, vice presidential counsel Michael S. Berman said, "That can't be right."

The Mondale Volunteer Committee, he explained, was a hold-over fundraising group from Mondale's days in the Senate which had originally been set up to collect funds for a 1978 re-election bid. "We started closing it out in 1976 right after he was nominated for vice president," Berman said.

After a hasty call to a committee official in Minnepolis, Bermann reported sheepishly that a bookkeeping error had been made. The $53,000 represented the total raised and spent since 1976, he said. Last year, the group raised only $7,543 and spend $11,240 - all to pay off old debts.

As soon as the final $3,000 of an old bank loan is paid off, the committee will go out of business. "And we'll file an amended report right away," Berman promised.

SHARING OF THE GREEN

Speaking of money, there's just no telling who will part with the long green for a political candidate or cause.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who isn't up himself this year, has chipped in $1,000 to his embattled Democratic colleague from Main, Sen. William Hathaway. Former LBJ aide Jack Valenti gave Hathaway a more modest, $200. But Valenti, now head of the Motion Picture Association of America, covered his bet with an identical $200 to Hathaway's GOP opponent, Rep. William Cohen.

That's show biz. Or just plain biz.

NEW YORK (AP)-In a mood of resentment and high morality, Congress last December made it a criminal offense for an American company to pay foreign officials for preferential treatment.

Neil Jacoby, former member of the Council of Economic Advisers, thinks we might have blundered in so doing. Already, he says, there are signs that America has placed itself at a competitive disadvantage.

American engineering firms, for example, have already reduced their participation in big Mideast construction projects. And at least one company has decided to manufacture abroad rather than export.

"If as a consequence American firms lost 5 percent of their business it would mean a loss of $6 billion," he said. "If each $50,000 of lost business costs $50,000, that means 120,000 jobs lost."

Does Jacoby, therefore, approve of unethical behavior? No more than do Peter Nehemkis and Richard Eels, fellow professors who helped him produce a new volume, "Bribery and Extortion in World Business."

Nehemkis, who like Jacoby teaches at the University of California, Los Angeles, and Eels, a corporate specialist at Columbia University, believe an error was made in criminalizing the behavior.

They make an enormous distinction which they claim Congress and the media ignored. Most of the payments, they say, were made because of the initiative of foreigners, not of American businessmen.

The payments were, simply, more a result of extortion than of bribery, the authors say, and they maintain the distinction makes a world of difference, a difference that Congress and the media almost ignored.

To criminalize such activities, they say, leaves the problem largely unresolved, or if resolved, resolved to the detriment of all Americans.

A more effective approach, they say, would be to insist that corporations closely audit and monitor the actions of their employes and agents, keeping precise records and scrutinizing them.

As the authors see it, foreign governments, for their part, should adhere to responsible behavior to investments, reduce administrative discretion and spell out their laws and enforce them.

If American business is to be protected from illegal demands by foreigners, therefore, the White House has an obligation to put the State Department to work, Jacoby continued.

Washington, however, has given little attention to this role.

Of Sen. William Proxmire, the Wisconsin Democrat who strongly supported the new law Jacoby commented tersely? "He doesn't know what it's all about. He had criticism also for Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal.

Letters To Editor

To The Daily News:

In answer to March 7th comments of Charles S. Hardy: The majority of farmers are not fortunate enough to have had our pockets filled with oil checks. That would help considerably in making ends meet when the prices of our machinery, chemicals, including boll weevil spraying, and fuel, all bought at retail prices, exceed the price we are given for our product when we take it to market.

In the past, we have allowed others to tell us what they will give us for our product, instead of us figuring how much we have invested in preparing our land, planting and harvesting a crop and then adding a little something called profit, like the middle man does.

To the best of my memory, you have taken full advantage of these gimmicks, as you called them, provided by the government, paid for by the taxpayers.

Did you not have your farms terraced and then accepted payments for putting your land in the soil bank?

I do agree we have been gimmicked to death by Congress, but everything they have done was for one reason and that is to get more control over us.

You spoke of taxpayers paying us to plow up crops, or not to plant. You failed to mention the years we were told how much we could plant and had to abide by this or we could not sell our crop.

You think the farmers' co-ops would solve our problems. Well, I have knowledge the co-op sugar mills are now being used to reprocess imported sugar not fit for human consumption when it arrived in the U.S. Do you think the co-op is receiving any benefit from this? The reason there were no sugar beets to be harvested and processed is the price was so low in the U.S. they could not afford to plant.

By the way, the farmers are also taxpayers and consumers.

I think it is time we all wake up to the fact we are all being cheated when 100 pounds of potatoes can be bought from a warehouse for $4--that is four cents a pound--and we pay as much as 33 cents a pound in our supermarkets.

Just think, everything we buy, not just farm produce, is marked up to this extent.

Garden Club Plans 'Spring Fling' Show

Snyder Garden Club met for their regular monthly meeting at the Martha Ann Woman's Club recently with Mrs. Forrest Fox, Mrs. John Boren, and Mrs. Tommy Davis as hostesses. Mrs. Davis presided at the business meeting.

Gertrude League announced that the spring flower show, "Spring Fling," will be held April 20-21. Members voted to have a table show for the annual event.

Members were reminded of the district convention in Breckenridge on March 23.

Guests present were Mrs. Mildred Carpenter, Inez Lowry, from the Twilight Garden Club, and Mrs. Howard Phillips of Shreveport, La.

Mrs. Mattie Wilson gave a short talk on readying flower beds and pruning roses.

Mrs. Jodie Howard of Lubbock, state garden therapy co-chairman, informed the group that garden therapy is the use of garden and plants for the handicapped. And, that participation is essential to garden therapy both to garden club members and the group you are working with.

Service projects can be used for those who are not able to participate.

Ideas were related to the group on persons and places that can be used for group therapy. She encouraged Snyder Garden Club to plan a project for the coming year and apply for awards from state and national organizations.

Bo West Gives Program At 20th Century Club

The Twentieth Century Club met Tuesday, March 7, at the home of Mrs. C.U. Bishop for a regular business meeting, President Henrietta Dupree presiding. Plans for attending the dinner theater at WTC were discussed; also the Mesquite District meeting at Stamford on March 21-22. Recommended changes in the constitution and by-laws were read and further changes were suggested.

In preparation for next month's program with the exchange student from Indonesia, a fact about Indonesia was the roll call for this meeting. Members learned something about the geographical location, climate, size, population, racial composition, language, industry, crops exports and needs. Margie Robertson closed with a poem "Woman of Indonesia" from Response magazine.

Mrs. Bishop then introduced Bo West who had the program Painting on Glass. She had several pictures she had made showing different techniques from simple tracing to oil paints. She explained how the picture was traced onto the glass with pen and ink; left plain or stained or painted; how the different backings were applied; and applied gold leaf to a picture to show how it is done.

Mrs. West also showed an Easter egg tree made especially for this meeting. It was used to decorate the serving table. A tree branch, painted white, was fastened in a flower pot and styrofoam eggs painted in pastel colors and decorated with flowers, ribbons and jewels were hung on the branches. Several small baskets filled with grass and containing Easter figures were also hung on the tree. Several large eggs of painted L'eggs containers were decorated with large butterfly pins and placed on the table around the tree.

Here is a part-score hand from the charity game. North will almost surely collect eight tricks in hearts for plus 110 and those North players who played in hearts got very good scores.

The best East-West scores came when East bid two clubs after North reopened with one heart. South doubled two clubs and then someone doubled two diamonds. Two diamonds can only be beaten if South leads ace and another diamond before giving East a chance to get on lead. Few South players found this defense and almost all diamond declarers made eight tricks.

The most common bidding was that shown in the box with South playing one notrump, taking the spade finesse and losing one spade, four diamonds, two clubs and 50 points.

There is a way to make one notrump. See if you can find it. Not many Souths did.

Here's the play. South wins the second diamond and decides that East will be holding all the missing high cards.

Then he cashes the king and queen of hearts and throws East in with a diamond. East takes his diamonds but must give declarer his seventh trick in a black suit.

Ask the Experts

A Florida reader wants to know what the "Unusual" notrump convention is and who invented it.

We will answer the second part today. It was invented by Alvin Roth of New York, one of the greatest bridge theorists and players. Second part answered tomorrow.

Tickner of Littleton, Colo., became the first American to win figure skating's top male prize since Tim Wood captured successive crowns in 1969 and 1970.

Arkansas Favored Over Weber State...

Owens Questions NCAA Lineup

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)-Veteran Kansas basketball coach Ted Owens says he isn't sure why his ninth-ranked Jayhawks were matched against second-ranked UCLA in Saturday's opening round of the 32-team NCAA tournament.

He also wonders why two other at-large berths in the power-packed Western Regional went to seventh-ranked Arkansas and 11th-ranked North Carolina.

"I don't quite understand the reasoning behind having so many nationally ranked teams in the same region," Owens said a few minutes after his team arrived Thursday night to begin preparation for its Saturday showdown with the Bruins.

Five of the top 11 ranked teams in the country are among the eight competing in the Western Regional.

"I don't know the thinking behind the committee's selections," Owens said. "It seems to me they'd at least talked about trying to balance the brackets."

The showdown between UCLA, 24-2, and Kansas, 24-4, two perennial college cage powers, is the premier contest in this weekend's field of 16 games. The contest, to be part of a nationally televised triple-header, will be preceded in Eugene by a game between Arkansas and Big Sky champion Weber State.

The Weber State-Arkansas contest starts at 11:10 a.m. The UCLA-Kansas matchup follows at 1:15 p.m. The games will be played on the University of Oregon campus at venerable McArthus Court, which was build in 1926 and is known as "The Pit."

The winners will advance along with the two victors of games played in Tempe, Ariz., to the Western Regional semi-finals and will play each other next Thursday night in Albuguerque, N.M.

Kansas is the No. 1 team in the country for allowing the lowest field goal percentage by an opponent. UCLA is No. 4 in that statistic. Both teams are allowing other teams to shoot at slightly better than a 40 percent clip.

Arkansas will be a big favorite to knock off unranked Weber State in the opener Saturday. The Razorbacks, 28-3, tied for the Southwest Conference crown and were knocked off by Houston in the conference tournament. They are led by three high-scoring players - Ron Brewer, Sidney Moncrief and Marvin Delph.

But Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton is wary of Weber State: "Offensively, they are a disciplined basketball team that doesn't take very many bad shots," he said.

Weber State, 19-9, is led by Bruce Collins, who is averaging 19 points and 8½ rebounds per game.

Canyon Comes On Towards Another Girls State Basketball Championship

AUSTIN (AP)-Defending champions Canyon and Nazareth made a strong bid for another state girls' basketball title Thursday with sensational shooting performances in semi-final victories.

Six teams advanced to the finals in the first day of the state tournament.

Semifinals were scheduled today in Class A and 4A, with fans getting their first look at high-scoring Dallas South Oak Cliff, the other defending champion in the tournament.

Canyon, 36-0, breezed past Georgetown, 77-52, in 3A with Merry Johnson scoring 32 points and Glenda Williams 28, even though she played with broken fingers on her left hand taped together.

Canyon has won 65 straight over two seasons and has a chance to win its fifth title in a record 10 consecutive tournament appearances.

The Eagles shot 71.4 percent from the field, with Williams hitting 12 of 14. Denise Babicki tallied 27 for outclassed Georgetown, which had 33 turnovers that led to 34 points for Canyon.

Canyon will play Corpus Christi Tuloso-Midway, a 59-50 victor over Carthage, for the championship Saturday night.

Stephanie Arnecke scored 23, Nancy Kocurek 19 and Lari Rhyne 17 for Tuloso-Midway, which lost last year to Canyon in the semi-finals.

Cynthia Jennings scored 31 for Carthage, which took an early lead but fell under a 20-2 first half surge by Tuloso-Midway.

Slaton routed Pflugerville, 78-50, to join Granbury, an easy 63-48 winner over Palacios, in the 2A finals Saturday.

Lynn Webb pitched in 34 and Cynthia Robinson 25 for Slaton, which shot 64.7 percent. Pflugerville's tall tandem of 6-2 Karen Thompson and 5-11 Jackie Weiss combined for only 33 points as they missed 19 of 34 shots - most of them from within a few feet of the basket.

Nazareth and Graford play the first championship game Saturday morning.

Westerners Make Bid Towards Second Title

STEPHENVILLE - Western Texas College comes here tonight looking for its second National Championship as round-one of the NJCAA Tournament begins at 8 p.m.

The Westerners won the title in 1974-45, and finished sixth in the nation in 1976-77, under former coach Mike Mitchell.

The Region 5 title holders, who also copped a fourth consecutive conference championship this season, will battle Navarro Junior College of Corsicana for the right to advance to round-two tourney play at the tournament grounds in Hutchinson, Kan.

Tonight's winner -- the game will be played at Wisdom Gym on the Tarleton State University campus -- will face an as yet unknown opponent Tuesday at 6 p.m. in Hutchinson.

Western Texas College goes into tonight's contest with a 28-6 record, while the Bulldogs of Navarro are 30-6. NJC reached the playoffs with a final-game best of three series with San Jacinto College.

The Bulldogs feature "similar to WTC" talent, including local stars David Burns (6-2), Everette Jefferson (6-6), David Orr (6-5), Jeff Smallwood (6-2) and Willie Whitenburg (6-6).

The Westerners offer top long-range shooting from 6-5 Adam Beadle, inside work from 6-8 Julio Gallardo, and medium area accuracy from 6-9 Jon Moorehead. WTC banks itself on an aggressive defense, and 80 percent free throw shooting as well as a fine offense.

Probable starters for the Westerners include Gallardo, 6-7 Robert Brown, 6-5 Melvin Patridge, 6-5 Joe Mendoza and 6-4 Reginald Reid.

Alexander To Pitch Today For Rangers

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP)-Never let it be said Doyle Alexander is afraid to speak his mind - even in spring training.

Alexander is scheduled to pitch today for the Texas Rangers against the Kansas City Royals although he was originally scratched by Manager Billy Hunter.

After the scheduled exhibition opener against the New York Yankees was rained out Thursday, Hunter said the pitchers who had been scheduled to work wouldn't get another chance until Sunday.

Alexander, who had been slated to pitch against the Yankees, got hot.

"That's bleep...It's going to be six days between turns," said Alexander. "He (Hunter) should just move everybody back a day."

After hearing of Alexander's outburst, Hunter said "He can pitch. We don't want to upset Doyle."

Alexander twice criticized Hunter openly last year after the manager took the pitcher out of games earlier than Alexander thought proper.

Hunter wasn't bothered by the flap, saying "Really, nobody's pitched yet. He (Alexander) went all winter without pitching. What's six more days?"

Rain Stalls Doral Open

MIAMI (AP)-Another day was lost to rain - the fifth time in 10 weeks this year such a thing has happened - but PGA tour officials were counting their blessings.

"It could have been much worse," said Jack Tuthill, the man in charge of the day to day field operations for the tour.

"Actually, we're lucky. We could have lost two or three tournaments."

The Phoenix Open, the Bing Crosby and the Bob Hope Desert Classic all were interupted by storms and had forecasts that threatened the completion of the tournaments. All managed to finish.

The pounding rains which interrupted the first round of play Thursday in the $200,000 Doral Open forced tour officials to schedule a double round of 36-holes for Sunday for the second week in a row. A similiar situation developed last week in the Citrus Open.

This time, rookie Ed Fiori holed out a par-saving putt on the final hole after the siren had sounded halting play.

Roby Loads 11-B All-District Team

Two seniors, two juniors and a sophomore make up the first team District 11-B basketball squad for 1977-78.

Brad Stuart and Ricky King, both seniors, made the team for Roby, while junior David Mosley is Ira's entry. Sophomore Terry Webb and junior Daryl Rich of Westbrook fill in the other roles.

Members of the second team include seniors Joe Hall of Ira and Mark Wright of Highland, and juniors Brad Thompson of Highland and Clayton Riley and James Williamson of Hermleigh.

Receiving honorable mention were seniors Randy Etheredge and Mark Anderle of Hobbs and Ivan Kreici of Highland juniors Raymond Reyes of Highland and Wesley Kruger of Hermleigh, and sophomores Tommy Darnell and junior Martinez of Loraine.

"THOSE CRAZY EPISCOPALIANS"

are they just "religion shoppers?"

In many areas, you find very few "native-born" Episcopalians. Often, they're folks who shopped around till they found a church that satisfied some longing for something missing in their own religious experience.

Maybe that's why the Episcopal Church, along with its reputation for peculiarities, has long been known as sort of a "thinking-man's religion." It embraces so many members who made up their own minds...then stopped shopping.

They lay no claims to having the "only religion" or even the right one. It's just the one that's right for them.

Episcopalians are a bit different. They have "formal" services. They don't chit-chat much at church. They kneel at times. They read prayers from a book. And they offer guidelines, not straight-jackets, for Christian living. If you'd like to know the reasons why, your Episcopal neighbor or minister would be flattered to explain, without "twisting your arm."

On Saturday there will be 14 teachers from the Sunset Church of Christ in Lubbock to help with the youth meeting. The teaching delegation will be headed by Michael Hammonds, college minister of the Sunset congregation.

Youth from both the 37th St. and East Side congregations will participate in the meeting along with other Snyder youth who are invited to attend. Arlie Eicke, Bible teacher at 37th Street, is coordinator of the youth meeting.

The final session at 8:30 p.m. is entitled "Windup for Jesus" and will be led by Stacy Patty and Alan Dye. The program will conclude at 9:30 p.m.

Family Life Seminar At 1st Assembly

A Family Life Seminar has been set for Saturday at the First Assembly of God Church, located at 1809 College Avenue.

The Rev. James K. Bridges, North Texas District Assemblies of God Assistant Superintendent, will conduct the seminar. Services will be at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

There will be qualified child care for the young children and lunch will be provided by the ladies of the church.

Rev. Bridges will also be the speaker in both worship services on Sunday. The public is invited to attend the services, said the Rev. James Jackson, pastor of the church.

Presbyterian Officers Are Installed Here

The First Presbyterian Church ordained and installed new officers on Feb. 26.

The ruling board of the church is called the Session and is made of elders. Ordained and installed as elder was Mal Donaldson. Harold Lacik is an ordained elder installed for three years of services.

The church also has a board or deacons, and newly ordained to this position were Janet Brown and Emily Collins. Mike Jordan and Ethel Head were previously ordained and were installed for another term of service.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ed Wilson, who reside in Rankin, are the parents of an 8 lb. 5 oz. girl, born at 5:45 p.m. March 9. She has been named Kelly Michelle. Grandparents are John and Retha Pickering and Preston and Etta Wilson, all of Snyder.

Tax Rebel Plan All In Fun

QUITMAN, Ga. (AP)- Harold Cooper is Field Marshal of the Brooks County Militia, and just because there haven't been any militiamen since the Civil War is no reason to neglect the office, he says.

Cooper, who also is a farmer, thinks the time is ripe for resurrecting the militia and rebelling once more against the Union - all in good fun, of course.

He figures income-tax time is the best time.

Here's how his plan goes.

Rebels seize the cannon at the armory here and mount it on Cooper's pickup truck. Thus armed, they march east and block off nearby Interstate 75.

That would trap all the tourists in Florida, and the Sunshine State would sink beneath their weight.

After Florida falls into the ocean, the nearby town of Nankin would suddenly find itself with an ocean-front, a beach, and lots of rich tourists furnishing revenue to finance the new nation of Brooks County - without income taxes.

ASTRO-GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

March 11, 1978

Several large opportunities may pop up this coming year that will mean much to you and your family. If everyone pulls together, happy days are ahead.

PISCES (Feb.20-March 20) Luck tends to favor you materially today, but it won't be by taking gambles. It will happen through a chain of events set in motion by another. Find out to whom you're romantically suited by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Focus your attention on priority issues today. Lesser matters will prove to be time wasters that'll have you spinning your wheels.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Use soft sell in a situation where you have something big to gain today. You'll be working against your own best interests if you get too pushy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Friends are prepared to do favors for you today, but for what they render there will be a price. Regardless of the cost, you'll still be ahead.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In competitive situations you have the upper hand today but may not realize it. Why credit opponents with attributes they don't possess?

LEO (July 23-Aug.22) Don't jump to conclusions today, because you might hastily write something off that is potentially promising. Listening, not leaping is the answer.

VIRGO (Aug.23-Sept.22) Someone you thought to be out of your league may propose an interesting joint venture with you today. It could be a step up to the big time.

LIBRA (Sept.23-Oct.23) You have the gift to make fortunate agreements today, provided you're prepared to give a little to get a lot. Prime the pump if necessary.

SCORPIO (Oct.24-Nov.22) Activities that are not profit yielding should not be permitted to bite into the time of those that are. Devote your energies to the moneymakers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov.23-Dec.21) Luck has its limitations today. As long as you are aware of this, you will fare rather well. Press your luck too far and it will snap.

CAPRICORN (Dec.22-Jan.19) Rather than depend upon cooperation regarding something you want to finalize today, you'll be better off sealing the lid by your lonesome.

AQUARIUS (Jan.20-Feb.19) All work and no play is a sure formula for taking the zing out of life. Set your tools aside early today. Do something that's fun.

Dear Abby

Boss's Wife Asks Same Dumb Question

By Abigail Van Buren

1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am the secretary for a businessman whose wife is getting on my nerves. When she phones him at the office, and I tell her that her husband is talking on the phone, she always asks "How long do you think he will be?"

Abby, how do I know how long he will be? He could say goodbye in three seconds, or he could talk for half an hour.

Please print this for a lot of other dummies who ask that question; a million secretaries will love you for it.

SOMEBODY'S SECRETARY

DEAR SECRETARY: Everybody can use a little more love, but I confess that on occasion I'VE been one of those "dummies."

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it is all right to speak to my mother in the same tone she uses when she speaks to me? When she yells at me or gets sarcastic, and I answer her back in the same tone, she slaps me right in front of my friends. They're all afraid of her.

Before my friends come over, they ask if my mother is in a bad mood today.

Please tell me how to get along with a person everybody is afraid of? I have four more years to go before I'm old enough to leave home, and I can hardly wait.

MOTHER TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: It's NOT all right to speak to your mother in the same tone she uses to speak to you. Mothers have problems children know nothing of, and they sometimes take out their frustrations on those who are nearest and dearest to them. When mother is in a "bad mood," try being especially patient and understanding, because that's when she needs it the most.

DEAR ABBY: I am 5 feet 11 and weigh 230 pounds. That's not all. I'm black, female, 22 and very lonely. I guess you can see why.

I try to lose weight, but I get upset about something and start eating again. Nothing seems to help. I sit around feeling sorry for myself, then I force myself to go out and meet people, but they always turn out to be the wrong kind of people.

If you know anyone who wants a big, tall, black girl to love, please let me know, because without love, there's no point in living.

LONELY IN GA.

DEAR LONELY: I don't put people in touch with people through my column, but perhaps I can help you. Being overweight is only part of your problem. I don't know if there's an Overeaters Anonymous chapter in your town, but if there isn't, it would be worth taking a trip to the nearest city that has one. And if you're not sure whether life is worth living, please call your Suicide Prevention hot line.

Write to me again and let me know if you've followed these leads. I care.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (24 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Bobby Seale Has New Book

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)-Bobby Seale, who left Connecticut in 1971 after a murder charge was dismissed, has returned with a new book and a campaign against violence and racism.

The former national chairman of the Black Panther Party told an audience at the University of Hartford Wednesday night that he has created a nationwide group to work for antipoverty funds and is forming another one to help violence-prone persons.

Schools Provide Broad Health Service Program

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles on programs in Snyder Public Schools being presented this week in connection with observance of Texas Public Schools Week.

Under the auspices of the Student Development Department the Snyder Public Schools' two registered nurses, Nell Spence and Jo Erwin, provide a broad health service program for all students. From the first day of enrollment in kindergarten when the nurse visits with each parent to record a brief health history, all students are followed through school with a systematic health protection and prevention program. In addition to continuous follow-up of student health needs and attention to daily student health complaints in the various school, the two nurses also conduct many other services, some of which are:

1. Growth Records. All elementary children are weighed and measured in September and April of each year.

2. Visual Screening. All students in the Snyder schools are given visual tests on a Telebinocular Visual Screening device at least every other year. Children who fail the test are rechecked and referred to a doctor.

3. Hearing Screening. An audiometer check is given to all children in the Kindergarten, first grade, third grade, fifth grade, eighth grade, and new pupils to the school system. Students who appear to have hearing deficiencies are checked every year. Also, any student may be referred by teacher, parent or doctor. If any trouble is detected, the student is referred to the family doctor.

4. Dental Survey. The second week of February the local dentists, with school nurse assistance, examine the teeth of every elementary child. A note is sent to parents if their child has dental needs. Also, the nurses promote dental hygiene during this week with extra emphasis in the third grade. Toothbrushes and toothpaste plus a teaching unit in dental care are distributed in the third grade.

5. Spring Round-Up. Parents of children who will begin school each year are invited to school about the first week of May to meet privately with the school nurse. At this time, immunization requirements are discussed, in addition to compiling an initial health record.

Also, health factors are recorded which may be helpful to teachers or others who will be responsible for the child. This spring round-up has many assets in bridging the gap between home and school.

Liz Still Can Pack Them In

LANSING, Mich. (AP) - Even at $75 a ticket, Elizabeth Taylor can still pack them in.

Clad in grape-colored cocktail pajamas, she proved it Thursday night when some 1,000 Republican Party faithful paid the price for a glimpse of the movie star in her role as a politican's wife.

With husband John Warner, a GOP hopeful for a U.S. Senate seat from Virginia, standing by her side, Miss Taylor fielded questions at a news conference.

Open House Set Sunday

First Baptist To Begin Use Of New Facilities

First Baptist Church in Snyder will officially receive the keys to its new facilities at 9:17 a.m. Sunday and will welcome visitors during an "open house" event between the hours of 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

The new $810,000 construction project was completed recently, and it will be used for the first time on Sunday morning. It includes classrooms, offices, a media center, fellowship area and a new chapel, which seats some 220 persons. The chapel is designed for use for weddings, funerals and other meetings which do not require facilities of the main sanctuary.

The library is equipped with audio-visual equipment, a parlor with study areas for church groups, and a bride's room which will double as a Sunday School class room.

The second and third floors are devoted to classrooms.

The new construction includes a tower with a spire which reaches over 100 feet in the air.

In order to involve the children of the church in the activities of the special day Sunday, Mrs. James Black, head librarian, has organized a novel approach to the task of moving books from the old library to the new media center. In a carefully orchestrated line, the children in grades 1-6 will move from their classrooms into the old library. There they will be handed several books in a specific order and the line of children will move into the new media center. At this point, other volunteer librarians will place the books in the shelves. This process will be repeated until all of the books have been transferred.

Members of the building committee are Fred Cross, chairman, D.V. Merritt, Sr., Bill Hartsfield, Rex Robinson, Mrs. R.C. Patton, Mrs. Louise Thompson, David Lunsford, Mrs. Bob Pollard, Roland Key and Billy Chapman.

The building finance committee is composed of Ned Underwood, chairman, Eddie Don Floyd, Don Gressett, Mrs. F.G. Sears, Mrs. Jack Gorman and Mel Zane Gilbert.

Hermleigh Lions Hear Stenholm

By CURTIS W. TATE

HERMLEIGH--Charles Stenholm, candidate for the 17th Congressional seat currently held by the retiring Omar Burleson, visited with the Hermleigh Lions Club on Monday evening.

Stenholm spoke of several key issues facing the people of this district and the nation but focused on farming and energy.

Concerning energy, the candidate said he favored the deregulation of oil and gas. He also said he felt that the government had not done enough to encourage new energy sources such as solar power or alcohol made from corn which burns more efficently than gasoline.

Stenholm, a farmer, said he was in sympathy with the agriculture movement but did not believe that violence or other forms of protests used by some groups is the right way to accomplish their goals. He believes that most people hold that point of view.

Stenholm was born in Stamford and graduated from Stamford High School. After graduating from Tarleton State College, he received a M.S. degree in agricultural education from Texas Tech University.

In the past 15 years, Stenholm, who is married and has three children, has pursued a number of varied interests through his service as a teacher of vocational agriculture, as General Manager of Stamford Electric Cooperative, and as Director of the First National Bank of Stamford.

Too many calories

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In looking through magazines my attention is often attracted to the numerous weight loss advertisements. The water-loss or the meal-in-a-pill ads don't tempt me because I mistrust pills.

The exercisers and sauna belts do appeal to me because I am 10 or so pounds overweight and hate it. I have this extra weight because I eat too many sweets and ice cream. I love ice cream.

What is your opinion of a sauna belt? If the belt fits around one's waist would the thighs and the rest of the body stay plump while the waist narrowed?

I have tried to lose weight many times. The only time I was successful was when I was engaged to be married and I lost several pounds in a few months merely by eating less. Now I have gained most of it back within a year and just don't seem to have the will power to refuse food I shouldn't eat. I'll be much obliged if you can help me out by giving me your opinion.

DEAR READER — You have made your own diagnosis. It is refreshing to get a letter from someone who recognizes that her weight problem is caused by eating too many calories. Obviously the best plan for you would be to eliminate all sweets, cut down on breads and increase your exercise. I am sending you The Health Leiter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet to give you a basic plan you can follow. Others who want this plan can send 50 cents with a long-stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As a sound rule do not expect to lose weight from any device that you put around your waist or thighs or elsewhere. The only belt that would work is one around the mouth to keep a person from eating, similar to wiring the jaws shut. Those sauna belts essentially disappeared for awhile but I see they are still advertised. They may cause you to sweat in the covered area and that may help eliminate some tissue water. This is useful if you want to improve muscle definition as body builders sometimes do just before competition. It does not remove a single ounce of fat and the tissue fluid returns quickly.

In view of the total uselessness of such devices in eliminating fat I don't think you need to worry about getting a thin waist and still having large thighs. The thing you need to watch is your wallet.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 61 years old and my wife is 55. My wife has not had a period for over two years. Right now I am using protection so I don't get her in a family way, as we are both not feeling too good and not in the best of health. We cannot afford to have any more children. So will you please advise me if I can have sex freely without using the prophylactics.

DEAR READER — The general rule is that if a woman has passed through the menopause and has not had a period for more than one year it is unlikely that she will get pregnant. Certainly a two-year span should be enough. Apparently the oldest woman known to have a pregnancy that can be authentically documented is age 57; some texts say 56. I would think it would not be a problem for you.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

REPRESENTS SNYDER — Jeana Duke, who was queen of the July 4th Tractor Pull event here last summer, is representing the Snyder Chamber of Commerce at the Southwest Farm Show which opens today in Fort Worth. As the Snyder representative, she is a candidate for queen of the Southwest Tractor Pull being held in connection with the show. Mrs. Duke, the former Jeana von Roeder, was the Snyder Lions Club candidate in the July 4 event here.

SHS Grad 'Filled In' As Teacher, Kept Going

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of stories on graduates of Snyder High School who are now involved in the business and professional life of the community. The series is being presented in connection with observance of Texas Public School Week.

By JOHN LONG

A graduate of Snyder High School, Ray Courtney returned to his alma mater and is today the vice principal of the school.

Courtney was graduated in 1954, back during the days of oil-based boom and growth. He remembers that the school enrollment swelled and that the high school jumped from a 1A classification to a 3A classification in three years.

"I believe we had the best teachers," said Courtney. "We had tremendous teachers and they were working under hard conditions back then, too."

Some of the teachers he remembers are Ollie Peek, Speedy Moffett, J. M. Kayser, Virginia Grove, Dillard Teal, Mary Faver, and Jane Gilmore Rushing.

He noted that many of the teachers who taught him are still teaching. "I think that speaks well of the community that teachers came here, liked, and stayed," said Courtney.

A native of Carbon, Tex., Courtney came to Snyder with his parents. He began his schooling here in the seventh grade. Following his graduation from Snyder High School, he went on to college.

He received his bachelor's degree from Hardin-Simmons and his master's degree from Texas Tech. Other post-graduate work has been done at Texas Christian University and Sul Ross.

Courtney first studied biology and was eventually coaxed into teaching by a former junior high school principal.

"I was going to fill in for a year or two, and lo and behold, I liked it," Courtney now remembers.

"I like the kids. I have a ball with them," he said. "I try to see the good in a kid and overlook the bad."

"No two kids are alike," said Courtney. "And that's what keeps it interesting."

NOW A VP — A 1954 graduate of Snyder High School, Ray Courtney went to college, returned, and began teaching in the junior high. He was named vice principal of the high school last September. Courtney noted that many of the teachers who taught him are still teaching in Snyder. (SDN Staff Photo)

Flynt May Never Walk

ATLANTA (AP) — Hustler magazine owner Larry Flynt has less than a 50 percent chance of ever walking again, say doctors who have operated on him.

Doghouse Is Stolen

A homeless dog is left in the wake of a doghouse theft, police reports indicate.

Angie Fox told officers that a doghouse was taken from the yard of her 2201 Peyton Ave. home sometime between March 7 and March 9. Value of the structure was set at $150.

In other reports, police investigated a minor traffic accident Thursday at Snyder High School.

Involved in the mishap were a 1974 Ford driven by Kelly Everton and a parked 1977 Pontiac owned by Sidney Degrate. The mishap occurred about 5:55 p.m.

Firemen Called

Two grass fires were doused Thursday by city firefighters.

The first grass fire occurred on west 37th St. and was reported at 1:33 p.m.

The second took place about two miles north of Snyder on Highway 208 and was reported about 4 p.m.

A poll taken by the Air Transport Association shows that 67 percent of all adult men have flown in airplanes, while 59 percent of women have traveled by air.
