Surveyor 1 Heads On New Course

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 1 cruised today toward a new and hopefully smoother landing site on the moon after a tricky steering maneuver 97,000 miles out in space.

Jet Propulsion Laboratory officials, who are guiding the 2,200-pound camera-carrying craft toward a soft landing in the dry Sea of Storms late Wednesday, said Surveyor responded properly to all commands during the intricate change of course.

They said it would take several hours of tracking to be sure Surveyor's new course will bring it down, as now planned, about 20 miles north of the point picked prior to Monday's launch.

The new site was chosen to give the spacecraft the smoothest possible landing area in the 62-mile diameter target circle — at the western edge of the 1,700-mile long equatorial strip selected for future Apollo astronaut touchdowns.

Like the Soviet Luna 9, which soft-landed and televised pictures from the lunar surface February 3, Surveyor is pioneering a technique planned to deposit manned craft gently on the moon.

This technique — descending slowly while balancing on the thrust of downward firing rockets — is believed the only safe way to land on the airless moon.

In the maneuver at 2:45 a.m. EDT, the spacecraft was ordered to roll and yaw slowly to the left, aiming it in the desired direction. A 20-second burst from three small rockets drove it forward along the new flight path.

Officials said there was no indication so far that the steering maneuver was disturbed by any shift in the craft's center of gravity, a possibility that arose when radioed data indicated an antenna boom may not have extended fully after launch.

There was still a chance that a shift in the center of gravity might cause the craft to tumble and crash when the descent-breaking rockets are ignited on the final approach to the moon.

If all goes well, however, Surveyor will radio across 230,000 miles of space pictures almost as sharp as those seen on home television screens, showing terrain details as small as a pencil lead.

These pictures should give scientists a better idea of whether the lunar surface is strong enough to support the weight of large manned landing craft.

OUT AT LAST — William A. Tollok, 23, of Philadelphia, displays a 4-inch thermometer while his nurse, Mrs. Catherine Kush, holds an X-ray of it before it was removed from Tollok's abdominal cavity. Tollok went to the hospital to be operated on for a hernia and the thermometer was discovered when routine X-rays were taken. It is believed it has been floating around inside Tollok for about 20 years without his knowledge. Doctors say it is fortunate that the glass thermometer did not break. Tollok played football and took part in track events in high school without any discomfort or knowledge of the thermometer. (AP Wirephoto)

Cubans Tell Plot To Kill Castro

By MORRIS W. ROSENBERG

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The Cuban government declared today that two men who tried to slip undetected into Havana Sunday night were on a mission to kill Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The two were killed after landing on the outskirts of Havana. They were identified as Sandalio Herminio Diaz and Armando Romero.

The launch which brought the two men was sunk by a Cuban torpedo boat. The two gravely wounded survivors were taken prisoner. They were identified as Antonio de la Cuesta Valle, leader of the group, and Eugenio Saldivar Xiques. Two other crewmen were missing and presumed drowned.

(Exile sources in Miami identified Cuesta, 39, as a commando leader with a record of more than a dozen anti-Castro missions to Cuba.)

A Ministry of Interior communique said:

"The objective of the incursion, according to the prisoners' confession, was to carry out an attempt to assassinate the prime minister of the revolutionary government in order to create conditions favorable for an imperialist aggression against the Cuban revolution."

Fatalities Hit Grisly High

By The Associated Press

The death toll on the nation's roads has soared to an unprecedented three-day Memorial Day figure and it may surpass the total fatalities recorded for any Memorial Day weekend regardless of duration.

As of Monday midnight, local time, 519 lives were lost on America's highways. The death count began at 6 p.m. local time Friday.

In other accidents, 43 persons perished in boating mishaps and 90 persons drowned. Ten of the drowning victims were recorded in South Carolina.

The highest previous traffic death toll for a three-day Memorial Day period was 474 last year.

In 1963, 525 persons were killed during a four-day weekend.

The National Safety Council forecast 540 persons would die during the 78-hour period. The council said Monday the current holiday period was similar to the Fourth of July weekend last year when 547 lives were lost.

Sunny skies and pleasant weather throughout most of the nation contributed to motorists' jamming thoroughfares as millions of Americans traveled to recreation areas, athletic events and family gatherings.

California, with more automobiles and miles of freeways than any other state, recorded the highest number of deaths as of midnight, 55.

The worst single recorded accident occurred in Somerset, Ky., Saturday when five persons died in a three-car collision. Four of the victims were from a vacationing Ohio family.

The lowest three-day rate for a Memorial Day, since records were initiated, was in 1948 when 204 persons died.

The three-day Christmas holiday in 1965 stands as the most tragic highway period with 720 deaths recorded.

The Associated Press made a comparative record of traffic fatalities from 6 p.m. Friday May 13 to midnight Monday May 16 and recorded 376 deaths during the period.

The National Safety Council said 10,710 persons died during the first three months of 1966, a seven per cent increase over the similar period in 1965.

Viet Factions Hold Surprise Meeting

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON (AP) — Buddhist leaders held a surprise meeting with leaders of the military junta today, apparently the first round of talks to end the anti-government campaign by compromise.

The monks met with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, a Roman Catholic and a target in the Buddhist campaign to force the military junta to resign in favor of a provisional civilian regime.

The meetng came after another Buddhist, a 17-year-old girl, had burned herself to death in Hue, center of government opposition in the North. She was the fifth and possibly the sixth suicide in the wave of antigovernment protests.

Thich (venerable) Tam Chau, head of the powerful Buddhist Institute, headed the delegation of four that called at heavily guarded Gia Long Palace, Thieu's residence.

An institute spokesman said no statement will be made for the time being.

The influential Monk Thich Tri Quang, leader of the Buddhist struggle movement in the north provinces, issued an appeal earlier in the day for a halt to protest suicides.

Quang said he spoke for the supreme patriarch of South Vietnamese Buddhims, Tich Tinh Khiet, when he urged "all Buddhists to cease acts of self-sacrifice in the name of Dharma (the Buddhist gospel)."

Tri Quang's followers in Hue distributed the edict two hours after Nguyen Thi Van died in a hospital. She doused herself with gasoline and struck a match outside of Hue's Thanh Hoi pagoda at 3 a.m.

Monks and nuns from the pagoda took the girl to a hospital after extinguishing the flames, but she died in convulsions three hours later, according to reports from Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon.

The reports indicated the girl acted on her own and that her death had not been arranged by the Buddhist leadership. Nuns at the pagoda said she left behind three letters protesting U.S. support of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime.

Two more Buddhists—a monk in Dalat and a nun in the Buddhist Institute in Saigon—burned themselves to death Monday. A Buddhist girl was said to have slashed her wrists and bled to death Monday in Dalat, 140 miles northeast of Saigon, but this could not be confirmed.

In the war, clearing skies enabled U.S. Air Force and Navy jets to stage the heaviest attack against North Viet Nam since the bombardments resumed Jan. 31 after a 37-day pause. The fighter-bombers flew 83 missions Monday, hitting a wide range of targets that included missile sites, other antiaircraft installations, trains, bridges and supply lines from the 17th Parallel to beyond Hanoi.

U.S. spokesmen did not disclose the number of planes involved but a mission usually is carried out by several aircraft.

American airmen flew 280 sorties — single strikes by a single plane — in South Viet Nam despite monsoon rains at midday. B52 Stratofortresses bombed a suspected Viet Cong regimental base west of Quang Ngai, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, Monday night.

The ground fighting continued to center on the jungled hills 14 miles from the Cambodian border where the U.S. 25th Infantry Division combed the central highlands for an estimated 700 surviving North Vietnamese regulars. Only light contact was reported today, but a spokesman said 307 Reds had been killed—most of them since Saturday — in three-week-old Operation Paul Revere.

A Vietnamese spokesman gave a picture of increased battle activity by government troops, many of whom had been sidelined during the political crisis. He said 17 more operations of various size were begun by the government Monday, and that 22 already were under way. Several Vietnamese companies sweeping near the Cambodian frontier 50 miles west of Saigon reported 30 Viet Cong killed.

Japanese Protest Visit By N-Sub

By EUGENE LEVIN

TOKYO (AP) — About 30,000 leftists renewed their protests tonight against the first visit to Tokyo Bay of a U.S. nuclear-powered submarine. The mass demonstration in the nearby port city of Yokosuka was described by police as orderly.

Earlier leftists protested to the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo.

About 12,000 persons staged three demonstrations at Yokosuka Monday as the submarine Snook docked at the U.S. naval base there to give the crew five days of rest and recreation.

The demonstrators were brought to the port 30 miles south of Tokyo by the Communist and Socialist parties. Police said 30 policemen and 21 students were injured in clashes Monday and another 20 persons were hurt Sunday, when the protests started.

None of the demonstrators molested the sailors from the Snook or from the carrier Kitty Hawk and other American ships in port. Weaving through the demonstrators, the sailors went as usual to Yokosuka's shops and 270 bars and clubs.

"We do not intend to harass American sailors or cause trouble," said one demonstration organizer. "We want our protests to be peaceful and orderly."

Privately some demonstrators said they did not want to do anything to hurt Yokosuka's thriving trade with U.S. servicemen. But both police and demonstration leaders said they were worried about members of the radical Zengakuren Students Association.

"They are hotheads," said an organizer. "They are here on their own, and not part of our group."

Police and leftist leaders blamed the students for most of the scuffles with police. The students also tore down posters which shopkeepers put up to welcome the Snook.

Ragan Service Is Held Here Today

Funeral services were set for 3 p.m. today for Robert Wayne Ragan, 21, who was killed Saturday in an oilfield mishap near Lamesa.

The Rev. Melvin Raphael, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church in Lubbock, was to officiate at the rites at Bell-Seale Chapel. Dr. A. B. Lightfoot, pastor of First Baptist Church here, was to assist in the service.

Burial was to be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale.

Panhandle Police Subdue Road Hog

SHAMROCK, Tex. (AP)—Officers reported today that an Irving man ran three road blocks, was shot at, struck another automobile, was followed by ambulances to pick up the pieces of what looked like a pending disaster—and suffered only a slight facial cut.

Authorities arrested Billy Jack Stephens, 41, who said he was a telephone company repairman, and held him when he couldn't make $200 bond on a complaint of carrying prohibited weapons—which had no ammunition.

Justice of Peace Jack Hiett also set fines of $30 and $40 on two counts of disobeying an officer by running road blocks.

Officers investigated a bottle of 40 pills found in Stephens' car. Stephens said he is a diabetic.

Officers accused him of running several motorists off the highways in the Panhandle Monday.

Sheriff Bus Dorman said reports of highway incidents started soon after 3 p.m. Monday near Amarillo. He said a car ran a road block at Claude, and later ran two others near Shamrock, 93 miles east of Amarillo.

Deputy John Topper set up road blocks on U.S. 66 near here. Topper said he opened fire with a submachinegun near Shamrock. He said the car didn't slow down from its speed of more than 100 miles an hour.

Officers pursued, and two ambulances joined the chase. An ambulance driven by Glenn Richey of Shamrock struck the right rear fender of the car, which kept moving.

Officers chased the man on through Shamrock and finally forced him into a curb. Topper took the man from the car and officers subdued him.

Stephens' only injury was a slight facial cut when he hit the ground.

Navy Plans To Tighten Security

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy serviceman assigned to routine duties in a "top secret" area methodically collected highly sensitive information and tried to sell it to the Soviets, it was learned today.

As a result, the Navy is tightening its security system around the world.

The Navy turned aside all questions about the case by saying that it is "under active investigation" and that "other details are classified."

Since the man involved held a secret clearance, it can be assumed that he had undergone a fairly stringent security check beforehand.

There was no indication of the specific nature of the material he tried to sell or whether the Soviets bought it. On these points, too, the Navy refused to talk.

The previously undisclosed case came to light in a notice to all ships and stations signed by Rear Adm. Rufus L. Taylor, director of the Office of Naval Intelligence.

The notice was intended, it said, to advise commanders "of the danger inherent in our present security system whereby an individual who has access to secret information may, through the peculiar nature of his duties, gain access to top secret information without an appropriate clearance."

It went on to say that "as a result of a recent case involving the compromise of classified material, a weakness in our security system was brought to the attention of the chief of naval operations."

Then it told the story, without giving any names or indication of where the espionage incident occurred.

TRACKING STATIONS ALERTED

Systems 'Go' At Gemini 9 Pad

By RONALD THOMPSON
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The "go" light flashed brightly to tracking stations around the world today for the Gemini 9 spacemen to embark on a three-day exploration of some unknowns of space travel.

"We're ready to go," said Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford. His rookie pilot, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan, soon to become the world's champion cosmic stroller, agreed.

They'll ride a mighty Titan rocket into the heavy void of space at 12:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday to search the skies for a stubby target satellite, then boldy latch Gemini 9's nose to it.

Their target, known as an Augmented Target Docking Adapter — ATDA, will be powered into a 185-mile high circular course around the globe by an Atlas booster one hour and 38 minutes before the Titan cranks its engines.

Mission director William C. Schneider got a thorough briefing on the status of the rockets, weather and astronauts this morning, then announced 'Everything good, no problems, status is good."

Healthy and trained to razor sharpness, the Gemini twins planned a final review of their vital, action-packed mission with top space agency officials during the day. They also hoped to crowd in a few more hours of practice sessions in a mockup version of the tiny Gemini spaceship.

Technicians, sailing along without a hitch on preparations for launching both the Titan and Atlas rockets, scheduled a five-hour check of all systems aboard the 11-story tall Titan before beginning the final countdown leading to launch.

The weather forecast, sometimes a troublemaker to the nation's space efforts, called for satisfactory conditions at blast-off time, both at Cape Kennedy and the ocean recovery areas.

Gemini 9 will be the second half of a double-barreled U.S. space spectacular this week. If all goes as planned, while Stafford and Cernan sleep their first night in space, a Surveyor spacecraft will try to gently settle its three spidery legs on the lunar surface.

Thursday morning, the world may be seeing television pictures of the moon's landscape shortly before Cernan sets out on a record breaking space walk.

A lean, 32-year-old Chicago native, Cernan plans to ease himself out of Gemini 9's right hatch for an exotic stroll through the cosmos that will whip him one and a half times around the world at 17,500 miles an hour.

For 2½ hours, he will be a human satellite.

During the initial daylight time he is outside, he will be fed oxygen through a 25-foot umbilical cord from the spacecraft. Then, with a rocket pack on his back, he will attach himself to a 140-foot rope and shoot from place to place for about an hour.

All he needs to survive — pressure for his suit and oxygen for life — will be fed from the highly sophisticated maneuvering back pack. The pack will be used instead of a space gun like Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White had for the first American space walk last June.

Cernan's elaborate stint as a space walker clearly will be a highlight of Gemini 9's space venture. However, Stafford and Cernan also plan two re-rendezvous maneuvers with the ATDA, both critical to future U.S. space efforts.

Rusk Leaves For Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk set out for Europe today, stressing anew that the United States "does not consider a major withdrawal" of troops from Germany.

Flying first to Helsinki, Finland, he will visit Finland and Norway, then attend the ministerial council meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The NATO meeting opens in Brussels June 7.

Talking with reporters before his plane left, Rusk said the foreign ministers will have a number of important questions to consider — questions which "require some kind of discussions, particularly with France."

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say something in your column about young people who telephone and ask, "Is Mary there?" And when they are asked, "Who is calling," they either hang up or say, "Never mind, I'll call later."

We have a 16-year-old daughter, and this happens at our home all the time, which is very annoying. Should we comment to all Mary's nameless callers? Or should we ask Mary to please educate her friends?

MOTHER PERPLEXED

DEAR MOTHER P: Not only "young people" but many who are old enough to know better are guilty of this rudeness. For those who need a lesson in the proper procedure to follow: Say, "Hello. This is Bill Forthright.

May I please speak to Mary?" (one father told me that a boy once called and asked, "IS AGNES THERE?" The father simply replied, "Yes," and hung up. He later explained to Agnes that the boy had merely asked him a question, and he answered it.)

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago my older sister was engaged to marry a man I'll call Lester, but he broke the engagement to marry another girl. (He did the honorable thing by this girl because her father threatened to kill him.) My sister was heartbroken for over a year, but she got over it and is now married to a very nice fellow. Lester's wife had two more children in the meantime, but their marriage didn't work out so they are being divorced.

I bumped into Lester two weeks ago and he asked me out. I went, but I didn't tell my folks because they hate him. I have seen him several times, but I don't like sneaking around. I am 18 and Lester is 27. Do you see any reason why I can't date him out in the open? How can I make my folks accept Lester? He's really not a bad guy, he's just had some tough breaks.

—— KID SISTER

DEAR KID: Without judging Lester (circumstances have already done that) may I suggest that you not reopen old wounds and add to your parents' anxieties by becoming involved with what strikes me as a loser.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Your suggestion to barmaids who can't keep the wolves from making passes was great. You advised them to point out the huskiest bartender in the place and say, "There's my husband!"

Well, I used a similar gag 22 years ago when I was a green cocktail waitress in Norfolk, Va. A good-looking sailor came into the bar and said, "How about taking you home, baby?" I pointed to the bartender and said, "There's my brother, he's taking me home." The sailor promptly grabbed me and gave me a real big kiss right on the mouth and said, "SIS!"

He was the bartender's kid brother, so help me!

Formosa Typhoon Leaves One Dead

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Typhoon Judy blew out into the Pacific Monday night, leaving one person dead in southern Formosa, four others missing and eight injured. Police said three of the injured were in serious condition.

The typhoon, with its winds up to 80 miles an hour, caused heavy but not disastrous damage to banana plantations, crippled the electric power system in the port of Kaohsiung and caused low-level flooding.

Warsaw Students In Anti-US Protest

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Students protesting U.S. policies on Viet Nam and Cuba staged a hit-and-run demonstration at the U.S. Embassy today, pelting the building with bricks, ink bottles and potatoes.

First reports said one automobile, nine embassy windows and a glass display case were broken or damaged in the five-minute attack by about 30 students.

The students appeared to be mainly Cubans, Africans and other foreigners studying in Poland, an embassy official said.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions-and-answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

• • •

Q — I got a letter from the service center about my return. Should I send the information requested to the service center or the district office?

A — In most cases, your reply should be sent to the service center. If the letter does not indicate where the information should be sent then look at the top of the notice. Send your reply to the office listed on the letterhead or masthead. If a return envelope was sent too, it should be used for your reply.

Q — I've been asked to send some tax records in to back up a deduction I claimed on last year's return. Can I bring them in, rather than mail them?

A — Yes, you may. However, most taxpayers prefer the convenience of handling the matter by mail instead of in person. To guard against loss of your records, photostats or other copies can be submitted so that originals are not sent through the mails.

Q — Who has to pay self-employment tax?

A — This tax applies mainly to those who work for themselves rather than for an employer. Anyone engaged in a trade, business or profession for himself is liable.

Exceptions to this are public officials, clergymen and Christian Science practitioners, nonresident aliens, and members of certain religious sects opposed to the acceptance of any private or public insurance (including Social Security benefits). They do not have to pay this tax. Clergymen and Christian Science practitioners may elect, however, to pay the tax and be covered by Social Security.

Q — How much do you take when a person hits a big payoff at the race track?

A — In most cases, the government does not actually withhold tax when the tickets are cashed at the track. What happens is that the track obtains the identification of the winner, including Social Security or tax account number, before payment is made.

The information on track winnings is then handled like dividend and interest payments. The payer, in this case the race track, files an information return with IRS showing the amount paid and the name and social security number of the taxpayer. This information can then be compared with what the taxpayer reports on his return.

The winner often is required to file a declaration of estimated tax since the winnings are not subject to tax withholding. Only when the winner is a nonresident alien is the track required to withhold tax on the winnings.

Q — I'm paying Social Security tax on cash tips I receive. Is my boss matching this as he does on my regular salary?

A — No. The law provides only for employee contributions to Social Security on tip income. Your employer is not the source of your tip income; for that reason he is not required to pay Social Security tax on tips.

Q — My wife and I are getting a divorce. What expenses will I be able to deduct next year?

A — Alimony payments may be deductible but legal fees to get a divorce and child support payments are considered personal expenses and are not deductible. If there are children and you provide more than half their support, you may be able to claim them as dependents.

Q — My return was audited and some of my expenses were disallowed. I have a report showing that I will owe additional tax. Is there anything I can do about this? I still think I'm right.

A — You may request a district conference to discuss the disallowed deductions. Procedures for requesting this conference are explained in the notice you received with the explanation of adjustments proposed.

By requesting this conference you receive an independent review of the items questioned. Legal counsel is not needed for this conference but you may bring a lawyer or accountant if you wish.

There are additional appeals procedures available to you. You can get a full explanation of these in IRS Document 5202, which you can get by writing to the District Director.

No Arrests In Ballinger Robbery

BALLINGER, Tex. (AP) — Police said Monday they had "some leads" but had made no arrests in the burglary over the weekend of the Farmers & Merchants Bank of Ballinger.

Bank officials said $3,500 was taken by the burglars who smashed through a door of a real estate firm and the walls of two buildings to enter the bank.

About $2,000 of the money taken, police said, was in silver coins.

Singapore Delegates Leave Bulgaria

VIENNA (AP) — Prime Minister Lee Kuan of Singapore left Bulgaria for home today after a four-day visit, the Bulgarian news agency BTA reported.

Panel Asks School Age Be Lowered

WASHINGTON (AP) — An education commission called today for mandatory schooling for four- and five-year-olds and urged the federal government to provide general support for the revolutionary proposal.

The Educational Policies Commission said "education in this two-year period can affect the character of the child and all his future life more deeply than his education at any later period.

"Early childhood education, properly conducted, promises significant benefits to American life," it said.

In a report titled "Universal Opportunity for Early Childhood Education," the commission described the current practice of starting children to school at the age of six as "obsoltete" since most children that age "have already developed a considerable part of the intellectual ability they will possess as adults."

The commission, jointly sponsored by the National Education Association and the American Association of School Administrators, regularly publishes statements of proposed policy regarding education.

The report emphasized that "children commonly called 'disadvantaged' are in the greatest need for early schooling, for they are most in need of help in developing their ability to live independently and creatively in a modern society."

At present, it said, schooling for four-year-olds is rarely free of cost and therefore is least available to those children who most desperately need it.

But the report added: "Not only those commonly considered disadvantaged are disadvantaged in their lives at home. The pampered also are disadvantaged; so are those whose parents are obsessed with the need to impress and achieve, those whose parents show them little love, those who have little chance to play with other children, those with physical handicaps."

Suit Filed In Closing Of School

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Testimony began Monday in a suit filed by a group of Mexican-Americans, protesting the closing of Kate Morrison School in Big Spring.

The suit, filed in federal court here, protests assignment of Mexican-American children to Lakeview, a predominately Negro school.

A spokesman for the group, Mrs. Fernando Morales, denied that their chief complaint was they didn't "want to go to school with Negroes."

Guilford Jones, defense attorney for the school district, had asked Mrs. Morales if the racial situation was the principal complaint which brought about the suit.

U.S. District Judge Leo Brewster is hearing the suit in a non-jury trial.

Kate Morrison School was closed last year when federal officials alleged its use involved defacto segregation.

Another witness for the group, called "North Side United," Mrs. Elvira Olivas, testified she moved from the school district because it was "too dangerous" to send her children to Lakeview. She did not elaborate on her statement.

Judge Brewster gave no indication of when a decision might be reached in the case.

Prominent Politicians Hunted In Uganda

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — A nationwide hunt was launched today for six prominent Buganda politicians who police said were "wanted urgently."

Authorities did not disclose why the men were sought, but presumably it was in connection with an independence movement led by the King of Buganda which the forces of President Milton Obote's central government crushed last week.

Democratic Losses Could Produce Special Session

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heavy or even moderate Democratic losses in the 1966 congressional elections could produce a postelection session of Congress this year, say some congressional sources.

If the pattern of past off-year elections is followed this year, Democrats now in control will lose some House seats. If they lose as many as 15 or 20 they still would have numerical control but not voting control of "Great Society" legislation.

House leaders still are pointing for adjournment not later than October, which almost certainly would leave some of the President's legislation stranded.

The pending unfinished business is loaded with political dynamite and many members seeking re-election apparently would rather not have to go on record on some bills before the Nov. 8 balloting.

All 435 House seats will be at stake then and many Democrats, elected by slim pluralities in 1964, are aware that a few unpopular votes on controversial issues could tip the balance against them this year.

New members elected in November won't take their seats until the 90th Congress convenes in January, however, and the "lame ducks" stay on until then.

Should the Democrats lose many House seats, therefore, it would not surprise congressional veterans if President Johnson called a special session of Congress after the election in a final effort to get action on some of his legislation.

Democrats who win in November would be over the pre-election jitters. The losers would have nothing to lose, and some of them could be in need of jobs at the President's disposal.

Even with their present numerical control of 2 to 1 in both the Senate and the House, Democrats have had trouble pushing through some "Great Society" measures.

More than 60 incumbent Democrats won election to the House two years ago by margins of less than 5 per cent of the votes cast in their districts. Most of them are ardent supporters of the Johnson administration. It is in this group that Democratic election casualties may be heaviest, with the losers being replaced by conservative Republicans.

FIVE GOOD REASONS FOR CHOOSING ELECTRIC CENTRAL AIR CONDITIONING

LOW INITIAL COST — An all-electric central air conditioning system for your home costs less to buy. The overwhelming preference for electric air conditioning has resulted in money-saving volume production by manufacturers. Installation cost is lower because of the basic simplicity of the equipment, which requires only one service — electricity — to do the complete job.

LOW OPERATING COST — Thanks to lower electric rates, the cost of operating residential electric central air conditioning has declined in recent years for customers of Texas Electric Service Company.

COOLING EFFICIENCY — You stay cool and comfortable in spite of sizzling summer heat. An electric air conditioner, with its efficient compressor, has the reserve power to keep you cool even on hottest summer days.

HUMIDITY CONTROL — You'll enjoy superior humidity control because the low temperatures of the electric unit's cooling coils wring out dampness. The air in your home stays dryer . . . you stay more comfortable.

PROVED DEPENDABILITY — Electric air conditioning operates on the same simple, ruggedly dependable compressor principle as your electric refrigerator. That means extra savings in long life and low maintenance cost of the equipment.

Thousands of installations thoughout this area are proof of the value, efficiency and dependability of electric central air conditioning. If you are planning to buy or build a new home or add cooling to your present central heating system, choose electric central air conditioning. Our air conditioning advisors, or your contractor, will be glad to show you why it is your best investment for summer comfort.

Florentine Orange Peel

4 to 6 medium oranges
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups sugar
½ cup light corn syrup
1 cup water
½ cup semi - sweet chocolate pieces.

Choose thick - skinned oranges of good color; wash. Remove peel in 4 to 6 sections. Cover peel with cold water; add salt. Bring to a boil; boil for 10 minutes; drain. Repeat process twice, omitting salt. With bowl of spoon, gently remove enough of the moist white membrane to make peel about ¼-inch thick. Cut peel into strips. In a 3-quart saucepan, combine the sugar, corn syrup and 1 cup water. Cook and stir constantly over medium heat until sugar is dissolved. Add peel; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and boil gently for 45 minutes. Turn into coarse strainer or colander to drain, reserving syrup. Roll peel, a few pieces at a time, in extra granulated sugar. Arrange in a single layer on trays; let dry about 24 hours. Melt chocolate in top of double boiler over hot water. Dip ends of peel in melted chocolate; place on waxed paper until chocolate hardens. Makes well over ½ pound. (Bring reserved syrup to a full rolling boil; cool; cover and refrigerate. Use as a sauce for pancakes.)

Sometimes when cream is served with coffee at a party, there's cream leftover in the refrigerator. You may want to whip it, sweeten it to taste and flavor it with a dash of salt and a little vanilla, and freeze it to have on hand to serve with a dessert. At serving time, offer the cream frozen or let it defrost.

Rapist Held For Hatchet Beating

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A man once given a death sentence in the mass rape of three high school girls was charged yesterday with the hatchet-beating of a small boy and abduction of the child's 11-year-old sister.

An alert rookie policeman, R. G. Brown, 25, blew the whistle on Walter Young, after a routine investigation of the 49-year-old ex-convict's attempted suicide.

Young, weak from the loss of an estimated 4½ pints of blood, was charged with assault to murder in the boy's beating and with kidnaping in the slight bobby-soxer's abduction.

Wanda Joyce Weaver, found stumbling along a highway near her home at suburban Rylie late last Tuesday night, told officers she and her 8-year-old brother had been abducted by a man in a car.

The trembling little girl led officers to a vacant farm house where tiny Douglas Glenn Weaver, near death from the hatchet beating, had been left by his attacker.

Wanda Joyce told officers she was taken to an apartment where there was another man, then to the highway and turned out of the car. Several hours earlier, her mother had sent the two children on an errand to a nearby grocery store.

Sheriff Bill Decker, whose deputies went to DeSoto and arrested Young at the home of relatives, told of the ex-convict's previous record.

Decker said Young was one of three men arrested in 1946 in the rape of three of four girls whose automobile was stopped by the trio as the girls, with two boys, returned to Dallas from nearby Lancaster after a school athletic event.

The sheriff said Young was given a death sentence while the other two men drew prison terms of 50 years and 30 years. He said the difference in the sentences probably played a part in Young's sentence being commuted to life in prison and his subsequent parole in 1957. He worked in Dallas as a barber.

Patrolman Brown, recently named the Dallas Police Department's "rookie of the year," was called to Young's East Dallas apartment last Wednesday. He said the man he found there fitted the description of the kidnaper given by Wanda Joyce. He also noticed a car parked nearby that matched the description of the auto she had described to police.

After a conference Monday morning between Decker and and Dallas Homicide Capt. Will Fritz, deputies were dispatched to arrest Young. He was taken into custody without resistance.

Wanda Joyce and her little brother had been missing several hours before police were told of their disappearance at Rylie, a community southeast of Dallas.

Officers found the girl walking down the highway shortly before midnight.

Khrushchevs Live Quietly In Country

MOSCOW (AP) — Nina Khrushchev says she and Nikita are leading a quiet life in the country and the ousted Soviet leader spends a lot of time reading and walking.

Three British newsmen ran into Mrs. Khrushchev Monday at Moscow's Sheremetyevo Airport where she was saying goodbye to a niece going to Cuba. She gave the first authoritative account of Khrushchev's life in many months.

Khrushchev, 72, was replaced in October 1964, pensioned and given a villa outside Moscow. He has not been seen by Westerners in more than a year.

Mrs. Khrushchev confirmed reports that her husband had been through a long siege of kidney trouble but said he has made "an astonishing recovery."

"He was in the hospital twice, but he has fully recovered and is fit and well," she said.

"We live quietly these days. Our old friends come to see us from time to time. And we have our family out, of course."

Mrs. Khrushchev, who is 66, talked readily in English and seemed to enjoy the encounter with the newsmen. She looked well and somewhat thinner.

Russians in the crowded terminal took no outward notice of her.

RFK May Dedicate Site

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A spokesman for the Committee for a Kennedy Assassination Site Memorial has requested that the Dallas City Council invite Sen. Robert F. Kennedy "to come to Dallas to dedicate the Kennedy Assassination Site Marker.

Oil producer N.P. Juneman, speaking Monday in place of committee chairman Mrs. Martina Langley of Richardson, said, "I would like to ask you not to set this matter aside for future, private discussion behind closed doors."

He read from a prepared statement signed by Mrs. Langley, who was ill and could not attend the meeting.

Mrs. Langley's committee at an earlier council meeting vigorously protested the proposed wording for the Kennedy marker which would have contained mostly Dallas historical data.

The wording for the marker was later changed by the Dallas park Board and approved.

Quake Hits Richmond

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A rolling, rumbling earthquake that a Georgetown University scientist described as small and not unusual hit the Richmond area early today.

Father Bernard McConnell of Georgetown said the quake measured about four on the Richter scale.

The quake was felt in a line from Washington to Richmond in the south, as far west as Charlottesville and east to Williamsburg.

No major damage or injuries were reported.

Father McConnell described the tremor as a "small local earthquake like those that occur every few months" in the East Coast area. He said it was too small to be recorded at any distance.

Residents of the area hit were more alarmed. Hundreds called police, radio stations and newspapers with reports of furniture thrown around rooms and their houses shaking.

Dominican Republic Quiet On Eve Of Vital Election

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The Dominican Republic reaches another decisive moment Wednesday in its long, frustrating search for some sort of democratic system, and a strange, indefinable mood seems to have settled over this tortured little island nation.

There is suppressed excitement on the eve of national elections which conceivably could bring new, bloody chaos. There seems to be little real optimism about the future, but there seems to be little real pessimism either.

Until the elections are behind them, Dominicans cannot be sure that elections are going to be held successfully at all. But that is only the first hurdle.

The chances are that hurdle will be taken. The next will be acceptance of the result. If the vote Wednesday is close — and that seems likely — there is a good chance for trouble from supporters of the man who is declared the loser.

If that hurdle is taken, there are still others. Any president declared elected must be successfully inaugurated. Then he must remain in office. In a country like the Dominican Republic it will not be easy.

The two major candidates, Juan Bosch of the Dominican Revolutionary party — PRD — and Joaquin Balaguer of the Reform party — PR — each bears a burden of political liability.

Bosch, overthrown in September 1963 after seven months as the nation's first democratically elected president, was accused then of being soft on communism. The charge remains to haunt him.

Balaguer became president in 1961 after the assassination of the dictator, Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo, under whom he had served as vice president. The charge of Trujilloism remains to haunt him.

Should Balaguer win by a tight margin, there could be an explosion in the streets sparked by leftists. Should Bosch win by a close margin, the reaction might be more slow, but he could be in danger from right-wing elements in the armed forces.

Nigeria Tense After Bloody Rioting

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Northern Nigeria was apparently calm but tense today following weekend riots in which more than 60 persons were killed.

After the bloody clashes between demonstrators and police, the government clamped on strict censorship and ordered troops to shoot troublemakers.

The demonstrations were sparked by the decision of the military government in Lagos to abolish the country's loose federal system and institute unitary rule from Lagos.

CONTROVERSY

Hill Is Indy 500 Victor

By DALE BURGESS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Londoner Graham Hill was confirmed today as winner of the 50th Indianapolis 500-mile race, but fourth-place Gordon Johncock filed a protest because no work was allowed on his damaged car before the race was restarted.

Anthony Granatelli, representing runnerup Jim Clark of Scotland, had considered protesting Hill's victory, but he said after a conference with timers and scorers that Clark's crew had missed one time when Hill passed Clark.

The final official standings were identical with the results announced at the end of Monday's wreck-marred race.

Johncock's car was damaged in a 16-car smashup on the first lap of the race. His crew was not allowed to work on it in his pit until the race was restarted, under an extension of a rule that no work may be done on a car within one hour of the start of the race.

The same rule was applied to four other cars that were in the pits at the second start.

Granatelli said, "We concede that we missed one time when Graham Hill passed us (Clark)."

He said Clark could run no more than 150 miles an hour because of chassis problems that developed after two spins.

The final unofficial chart of results in Monday's 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, subject to revision Tuesday when official results are announced at 8 a.m., EST;

1. Graham Hill, London, England, Lola-Ford, 144.317 miles per hour.
2. Jim Clark, Duns, Scotland, Lotus-Ford, 143.843.
3. Jim McElreath, Arlington, Tex., Brabham-Ford, 143.742.
4. Gordon Johncock, Hastings, Mich., Gerhardt-Fod, 143.084.
5. Mel Kenyon, Davenport, Iowa, Gerhardt-Offenhauser, flagged at 497½ miles.
6. Jackie Stewart, Dunbarton, Scotland, Lola-Ford, stalled at 475 miles, oil pressure failure.
7. Eddie Johnson, Richmond Heights, Ohio, Huffaker-Offenhauser, stalled at 438½ miles.
8. Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., Huffaker-Offenhauser, flagged at 427½ miles.
9. Joey Leonard, San Jose, Calif., Gurney-Ford, stalled at 425 miles.
10. Jerry Grant, Santa Ana, Calif., Gurney-Ford, flagged at 417½ miles.

Dodgers Step Fast In TL

By The Associated Press

Albuquerque's Dodgers, have used Arkansas' Travelers as stepping stones to advancement in the Texas League and the big guy in the surge is Chuck Lauritson.

Chuck beat Arkansas 4-1 with a six-hit pitching performance Saturday night.

Monday night, when Arkansas threatened to tie up the ball game in the ninth—it had scored three runs and had two on base with two out—Lauritson came on to strike out Billy Wolff and leave Albuquerque victor 8-6.

It was five out of six over Arkansas and it pulled Albuquerque within three games of leading Amarillo.

The Sonics had taken a 6-0 trimming from Austin.

Dallas-Fort Worth also had a repeat performance of note as it edged El Paso 1-0 in 10 innings. Sunday night Von McDaniel knocked in all the runs with two singles and a sacrifice fly as Dallas-Fort Worth whipped El Paso 3-2.

Red Sox Tip Yanks

The Red Sox trimed the Yankees 5-3 in a Colt League game last night as Jodi Williamson scored the winning run in the sixth inning.

The Dodgers and the Buffs of the Pony League played to a 1-1 tie, and was halted after regulation time. The game will be played over if necessary to determine a champion at the end of the season.

Four runs scored in the fourth inning for the Red Sox on three singles, but the Buffs scored three times in the fifth inning to keep the game tight. Williamson and Ted Winter both collected two hits.

Shea Stadium Place For Fast Beanball Warfare

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The beanball war has flared up at Shea Stadium only this time it's an elbow, hip and shoulder battle.

Dick Selma of the Mets hit Richie Allen of the Phils on the shoulder with a pitch in the third inning of Monday's second game. When Selma came to bat in the third, Bob Buhl hit him on the right elbow, knocking him out of the game. The next time Buhl came up, relief pitcher Jack Fisher plunked him in the hip.

The Phils won the opener 7-2 but the Mets came back to win the second game 3-1.

The 46,882 fans had a field day booing Buhl and pelting him with fruit.

All of this brought angry noises from Mets' Manager Wes Westrum.

"When they take a pot shot at one of my boys, you have to protect your players," Westrum said. "We have a standing order to get the pitcher who threw the ball. I'm not saying what they (Phils) were trying to do. I'm going to do what they did.

"The first time he (Buhl) threw at Selma he just missed. Then he came back with another. That's for the birds. This is a young kid of mine. I know he's innocent because I didn't give any orders to throw at Allen. The kid's whole pitching carrer could go out the window. Fortunately the X rays are negative but Lord knows how long he will be out."

"I believe in an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. You've got to protect your own ballplayers. Any pitcher that takes care of any of my ball players is going to get it."

"Is his (Buhl's) control that bad? He is a control artist. That's what has kept him around this long."

Westrum said the incident "made my players mad. You let sleeping dogs lie don't you?"

Over in the opposing clubhouse, Manager Gene Mauch of the Phillies said, "There's no place for sleeping dogs in baseball. I'd never admit anything woke my team up.

"I have no idea if he (Selma) threw at Allen. I expect Fisher to throw at Buhl and so did he. Buhl was glad he got hit. He got on base. Nobody cried about it. I haven't thought anything of it. Two of our guys got hit and one of theirs. It was unfortunate that he got hurt."

When Mauch was asked if he gave orders to loosen up opposing players, he said, "My orders are for my players, not the public."

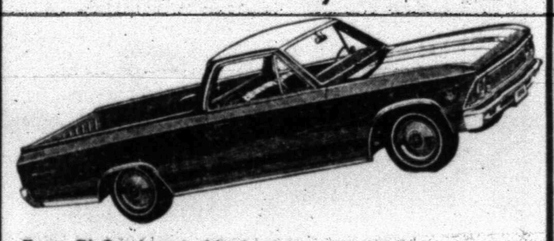

Cards, Yanks Take Tilts

The Cards clipped the Giants, 15-7, and the Yankees cleaned the White Sox, 13-8, Monday night in Farm League action.

Rapping out 11 hits, the Cards scored in every inning. The Giants countered with eight hits, but their 4-run 5th inning rally fell short. D. Andrews doubled for the Cards, and Sam Stephens hit a two-base hit for the Giants. M. Underwood was the winning pitcher.

The Yankees collected 10 hits, led by Longbottham and Richard Festi, both of whom swatted doubles. George Johnson doubled in the White Sox 4-hit attack. The winning hurler was Terry Richard.

Javits Ignores Tradition In Bid For Vice Presidency

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — It is an American tradition that no politician runs openly for vice president. Sen. Jacob K. Javits isn't exactly breaking that tradition but he may be bending it.

In a field where few men care to publicly venture, Javits quietly is trying to narrow down — to himself — the GOP's choice of a 1968 vice presidential candidate.

Although the New York Republican insists publicly he has made no decision, he has told friends privately he would be willing to give up his Senate seat to get the Republican second-place nomination two years from now.

Javits' current term expires in 1969 and New York has no provision by which he can run for both the Senate and vice president.

Behind Javits' willingness to risk his political future is his desire to become the first Jewish candidate on a major party ticket. It is his private opinion that this would be a crowning achievement for a political career in which he has gone all out for civil rights.

It also is Javits' view that if John F. Kennedy had not won the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, it would have been another decade before a Roman Catholic breakthrough in the political field. He feels the Jews may be 10 years away from a similar achievement if he fails to get the second place spot in 1968.

Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has gone a long way toward linking Javits' vice-presidential aspirations to the presidential hopes of Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

In a Garden City, N.Y., speech last week, Rockefeller said he had bowed out of the presidential picture "forever" and suggested that Romney and Javits should share the top spots on the 1968 Republican ticket.

The New York governor also said he would be in favor of Javits' running for the 1968 nomination as a favorite son candidate from New York.

If Rockefeller is re-elected, Javits' friends will be reminding him of the favorite son support. If the governor should lose, the delegation will be Javits' by default.

These prospects put the New York senator in a potentially powerful position to have something to say about the top nomination. He doesn't necessarily have to hitch his aspirations to Romney's wagon.

Modern Man Changeable As Chameleon

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Keep your eye on modern George. He's as changeable as a chameleon.

Like his wife, he can be a blond trail blazer by morning, a red-haired riot at noon, and by sundown a raven-haired homme fatale. And for the same reasons — a change of wigs.

Unlike his wife, he can be bald when he goes to bed.

Yet Mark Traynor, inventor of full-sized wigs, not toupees, for men, claims he has as many satisfied customers with a full head of hair as he does mature gentlemen with glabrous craniums.

Not only do blonds have more fun. Traynor says any man does who changes the color of his tresses once in a while, especially if nature is beginning to brush up his real crop with gray.

Furthermore, wigs are a saving. Busy men who match theirs to their own current hair color can go under cover for a while, and thereby postpone trips to the barbershop.

Long-haired musicians — the rock 'n' roll kind — are also among Traynor's faithfuls. For a group of gyrating guitar strummers who consider a mop in motion essential to their image, and yet find curls during the daylight hours strictly for girls, Traynor grew a few wigs to shoulder length that swing with the beat.

Actually, Traynor, a spare young man with a burgeoning supply of blond hair grown on his own, is a make-up artist who did the wigs for men as a gag on Johnny Carson's television show. The response was so overwhelming from the long-haired, short-haired and no-haired men around the world that he was suddenly in a new business.

Donations Reported

AUSTIN (AP) — More than three times as much money has been donated to Crawford Martin as to Franklin Spears, opponents for attorney general, since the May 7 primary, reports show.

Martin and Spears are opposed in the June 4 run-off primary for the Democratic attorney general nomination.

The campaign donations and spending figures were submitted in mandatory reports to the secretary of state's office.

Martin reported contributions of $22,680 since the first primary. Spears reported $6,100 in gifts. In previous reports, Spears listed $166,369 in contributions to Martin's $131,561.

Spears listed payments of $5,163 and debts of $3,452 since the first primary. Martin reported $25,887 in payments and $13,653 in debts.

Ashley Files Motion For Venue Change

GATESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Eight jurors had been chosen when a motion for a change of venue was filed Monday in the retrial of Leslie Douglas Ashley, charged with murder in the sex party slaying of real estate man Fred Tones.

Dist. Judge Truman Roberts recessed court for the day with the statement that he would take the motion under advisement and would act on it after the entire 12-member jury was seated.

Ashley and Carolyn Ann Lima were sentenced to death in the 1961 slaying at Houston but a federal court ordered new trials hours before their scheduled execution in 1963, saying evidence had been withheld.

She already has been retried, given five years and now is free.

The second trial of Ashley, 28, began a week ago.

Defense lawyer Lloyd Lunsford of Houston filed the change of venue motion Monday, charging that prejudice in the Gatesville area would prevent Ashley getting a fair trial.

Junior Editors Quiz on MUMMIES

QUESTION: Why did the Egyptians make mummies of the dead?

• • •

ANSWER: In very early Egyptian times, dead people were buried right in the sand. The special quality of the hot, dry Egyptian sand preserved such bodies from decay. It is thought that when the early Egyptians discovered that the bodies they buried did not decay, it gave them the idea they had survived to a life after death. Then came the further thought that they should provide the dead people with food and various utensils. Graves were made larger for this purpose. But then the air came in, and the bodies decayed. To prevent this, the Egyptians mummified the dead bodies. The brain and all organs except the heart were removed; the body was soaked in salt and nacron. Finally, it was wrapped in many bandages. Outside, painted coverings were added. Our picture shows the elaborate mummy of King Tutankhamon, with a head mask of beaten gold. Mummies were often enclosed in a coffin (lower right) which was itself carved and painted. We show some objects found in King Tut's tomb: a dagger and a handsome drinking cup made of alabaster. Mummies of the kings were often placed deep within huge stone structures such as the pyramids. In many cases, however, robbers broke in and stole the gold and jewels buried with the kings.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: We do not imitate the Egyptian habit of making mummies, but many of our other habits are based on Egyptian customs. Find out more about these ancient people and how much they have contributed to our civilization. 5-31

Weston To Be Buried In Houston

HOUSTON (AP)—Thomas G. (Tony) Weston, who first set out to sea at the turn of the century and became commodore of merchant convoys in World War II, will be buried here Wednesday.

Weston, 70, died Sunday at a local hospital after a short illness.

He got his sea legs at age nine on a sailing schooner owned by his grandfather. The schooner, a general cargo ship, sailed 70 miles from Mauls Point, N. C., to Washington, N. C.

The late shipper's widow, Mrs. Diane Cavendish Weston, said her husband was paid 50 cents a trip.

In 1915, Weston manned the Ossabow when it became the second ship to sail up the Houston Ship Channel to the Port of Houston, Mrs. Weston said.

Weston was a tanker crewman in World War I, and in World War II he became a captain of freighters and later a convoy commodore.

On V-E day he was docked at Tarranto, Italy, his ship loaded with a cargo of explosives. Because of delays in his orders and the surrender of Japan, Capt. Weston had to remain with the cargo more than a year before he could sail home.

Weston retired in 1948 but kept busy on a one-acre tract of land where he grew a garden, figs and pecans, and raised chickens and turkeys.

RUNOFF DECISION NEARS

No Holiday For Candidates

By The Associated Press

Democratic candidates for attorney general took no holiday Monday as they entered the final week of campaigning before Saturday's runoff election.

Crawford Martin took to the campaign trail at Longview, with Galloway Calhoun, the third man in the race before the May 7 primary, introducing Martin as the man he would like to see win the June 4 runoff.

Martin later appeared at Tyler, denying he ever said Franklin Spears, his opponent, if elected, would be controlled by organized labor.

"I don't think I ever made that statement," Martin replied to a query at a news conference.

When asked if he would be independent if elected, Martin asked "Independent of what? I certainly am going to follow the law and the constitution."

Speaking in Austin, Spears claimed that, "The name of Crawford Martin is inescapable in the air we breathe. It is everywhere on radios, on billboards and on the television screens."

"It's there because the clique in Austin wants to cram Crawford Martin down the throats of Texas voters by brainwashing them with his omnipresent name," Spears concluded.

Claiming that Spears was "a minority candidate," Martin told a Longview audience that a good turnout Saturday would give him a sweeping 2-to-1 victory.

A poor turnout, he predicted, "would lessen the margin of victory because Spears has a hard core of voters led by state AFL-CIO leader Hank Brown."

"I'm proud that my record shows — despite what some labor leaders say — that I have worked for the elderly, the teachers, the working people and all of Texas without ever having gone to the hard, cold bargaining table' with any labor boss," Martin said.

Three times as much money has been donated to Martin as to Spears since the May 7 primary, supplemental campaign finance reports filed in Austin indicated Monday.

Martin reported contributions totaling $22,680 since the first primary. Spears reported gifts of $6,100. Earlier reports showed Spears receiving $166,369, compared with $131,561 for Martin.

Spears was to attend 11 coffees in Dallas today and Martin planned campaign stops in San Antonio, Harlingen, and Corpus Christi before returning to Austin.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, who opposes Republican Sen. John Tower in the November general election, spoke Monday at Memorial Day services in Arlington.

"Today's generation is living on borrowed time, time paid for in full by those Americans who died on every continent to hold aloft the torch of freedom," Carr said at services sponsored by American Legion Post 218.

"Some of our citizens parading in the streets, demanding everything from outright anarchy to the so-called rights of drunkeness drug addition," Carr said in criticism of demonstrators.

"The fact that such persons can live and speak as they do tells us more about the strength and durability of our nation than any example that could be given," he said.

Housewives Convinced, Food Costs Are Higher

By The Associated Press

A housewives' budget brigade concluded today that government price indexes fairly reflect a hard fact of life in the 1960s: it is costing more and more to feed the family.

Many housewives seem firmly convinced that food prices just about doubled in the past year. They didn't, but government figures, supported by an independent Associated Press survey in March, show that the cost of a typical week's shopping went up nearly 7 per cent.

Meats, however, have risen sharply. Based on the government's national price averages, it cost $6.22 to buy one pound each of sirloin steak, hamburger, pork chops, ham, bacon and lamb chops in mid-March, compared with $5.12 in mid-March of 1965 — a rise of 21.5 per cent.

By contrast, the other items on the shopping list of the AP's budget brigade rose only 1.5 per cent.

The AP's budget brigade figures, and the government's, should enable skeptical shoppers to judge for themselves. The AP housewives themselves started out highly skeptical on their 12-city spot survey.

They said food prices over-all were unquestionably high, although many a penny could be shaved off the grocery bill by determined bargain-hunting from store to store. Some made the point that few housewives can spare so much time from their other home-making duties.

If a housewife does all her shopping at one store, the researcher in St. Louis said, "It doesn't matter much which store you shop at — they'll get all your money anyway."

"Each store's weekly bargains really were bargains," she reported. "They cut off as much as 20 or 30 cents per item. But they seem to make it up somewhere else."

The Associated Press budget brigade priced a list of 38 to 40 food items, from potatoes to sirloin steak, in three supermarkets in each of the 12 cities on March 10.

The results were set alongside returns from U. S. Department of Labor checkers who shopped a wider range of stores in the same cities at approximately the same time. (The government checkers also cover stores in 50 smaller cities for which no price breakdown is published).

In the 12 cities where the AP paralleled the government survey, average total bills were remarkably similar and in the case of St. Louis came out at precisely the same figure — $20.43.

The government goes about its monthly price-gathering in a coolly scientific way, using 125 checkers working under field supervisors and supported by computers at home base. The AP survey was a matronly affair on a much smaller scale but following in the footsteps of the government checkers.

More than 6.5 inches of rain have fallen in some spots.

Authorities said that at least 10,000 persons had been forced from their homes by floods.
