Fugitive Sought In Lubbock Area

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — A search for a former airman who escaped from a Wichita Falls jailer centered in the Lubbock area more than 200 miles west of here today.

Lubbock police Capt. Skeet Forrester reported overtaking a car the prisoner was believed to have taken here, but its driver escaped on foot.

Other officers said Forrester halted the automobile 4 miles east of Ralls about 12:30 a.m. They theorized that the wanted man some how made his way from there into Lubbock. Ralls is 28 miles east of Lubbock.

The fugitive is John Garrett, 23, from Hendersonville, Tenn., and formerly stationed at Lubbock's Reese Air Force Base.

He and William Whitman, 25, a Reese airman from Ripley, W. Va., were arrested near Fort Worth late Tuesday and charged with three holdups in the Wichita Falls vicinity.

Garrett darted from the city jail here as he was being returned to a cell after questioning by detectives.

Police here said a 1966 automobile was stolen from a dealer about seven blocks from the city jail and a khaki uniform was taken from a roofing firm nearby shortly after the escape.

A highway patrolman sighted the missing car near Seymour, Tex., a bit later. The officer said he received word that it was stolen two hours afterward.

Lubbock authorities were asked to be on the lookout for Garrett because his wife and a child live there.

Clay County Sheriff Thomas Covington said the two men were charged with rorbbing a supermarket in Seymour of $285, a cafe in Wichita Falls of $75 and a food store at Henrietta of $135, all Tuesday night.

Officers captured the pair near Fort Worth after they sped through a roadblock near Bowie and found a pistol in the automobile.

HEADED HOME, HE SAYS — Gov. Orval Faubus, graddaughter Fara Faubus on his knee, talks with newsmen and supporters in Little Rock, Ark., after announcing he will not seek a seventh term. Faubus said he would go home to Huntsville, Ark., "do some writing, get back in good health, clear my mind of problems, assess the political situation, then I'd be ready for anything". He declined to elaborate further. (AP Wirephoto)

Over 5,000 Autos Still Need Tags

The April 1 deadline for vehicle license plates is fast approaching. The county tax office will be open only six days before the month ends and about 5,300 plates remain to be sold.

The cost depends on the size and weight of the vehicle. The plates still may be purchased after April 1, but the state law requires that they be on vehicles by that time.

To date, a total of 5,800 plates have been sold at the tax office. The total includes 4,190 for passenger cars, 1,000 for commercial vehicles, 400 farm, 200 trailer and 100 other type vehicles.

21 Blizzard Deaths Told

By The Associated Press

The second blizzard in a month had broken up today, but it left the north central and Plains states buried under massive snows. Schools and roads were closed and at least 21 persons were dead.

Nebraska counted 11 dead from the early spring storm. Minnesota and Iowa each had three dead. South Dakota and Wyoming had two deaths each.

The storm hurled a one-two punch of sleet and snow at most of the area. The ice ripped down power lines and powerful winds stacked the snow into impassable drifts.

Travel was virtually halted over the area.

Four men were found dead in a car stalled just east of Howells in northeastern Nebraska Wednesday. Police said they had suffocated.

A man driving a snowplow found two brothers dead in a stalled truck near Greeley, Neb.

Minneapolis-St. Paul, part of the area which escaped the Dakotas-Montana blizzard three weeks ago, was in the eye of this week's storm. The area lay under 14 inches of snow, with winds whipping drifts to 4 feet.

Much of the Twin Cities business was paralyzed Wednesday. Of the more than one million persons in the two cities, there are about 700,000 workers and most were unable to get to their jobs, according to an unofficial survey of some employers.

Courts, schools and business places were closed and an estimated $1 million business was lost for the day. Bus lines and taxicabs were unable to operate until late Wednesday night and the Minneapolis-St. Paul Airport was closed from 3:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Norfolk in northeastern Nebraska had 10 inches of snow on top of a 2-inch layer of slush and ice. Many areas of the town of 15,000 were without electricity for more than a day.

Downed power lines also cut electricity in dozens of smaller Nebraska communities.

Cattlemen had heeded weather warnings and their animals had been herded into sheltered areas called 'maternity wards." The loss was slight.

Schools were closed by the hundreds. The University of Minnesota in Minneapolis closed Wednesday for the first time in its history.

Baby Unharmed After Fall Into Bay

SAUSALITO, Calif. (AP) — A 15-month-old baby girl fell 50 feet from an apartment balcony, but landed unharmed in shallow San Francisco Bay waters Wednesday.

The child, Adair Erhard, was quickly rescued by her father, Werner.

Some Postal Fees Going Up Saturday

Increased rates for several postal services will go into effect Saturday, March 26, H D. Moreland, Snyder Postmaster, has announced.

The increases will affect rates on money orders, insurance, registry, certified mail and C. O. D. mail.

Cost of operating these five special services now exceeds revenues by $60 million annually, the postmaster said. The fee increases will narrow the cost-revenue gap by $36 million, based on business handled during the 1965 fiscal year.

Fees for money orders, registry and C. O. D. were last changed in 1961, while insurance and certified mail fees were changed in 1957.

The fee changes, announced in the Jan. 11 Federal Register and confirmed in the register of Feb. 25, will be put into effect under the existing administrative autority of the Postmaster General.

Domestic and international money order fees will be increased by five cents. The minimum fee bracket for insurance will be increased from $10 to $15 and the minimum fee will be 20 cents instead of 10 cents. For example, the fee for insurance in the brarcket from one cent to $15 will be 20 cents, for the bracket from $15.01 to $50 it will be 30 cents, for the bracket from $50.01 to $100 it will be 40 cents, from $100.01 to $150 it will be 50 cents and from $150.01 to $200 it will be 60 cents.

The present 60-cent and 75-cent registry fees will be combined into a single fee of 75 cents for values up to $100. Registry fees for articles valued in excess of $100 will remain unchanged.

The present 40-cent and 50-cent bracket for C. O. D. fees will be combined into one fee bracket at 60 cents for amounts up to $10. There will be no change in C. O. D. fees covering items valued above $10.

The certified mail fee will be increased from the present 20 cents per item to 30 cents per item.

Losses incurred in the operation of special services are paid from funds drawn from the Federal Treasury. The fee increases will shift a substantial portion of the special service cost born by the public to users of the services, the postmaster said.

Barrage Of Firepower Takes Heavy Cong Toll

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — An unrelenting display of firepower from ships, planes and artillery cost the Viet Cong 501 killed in the past 24 hours while U.S. fighter-bombers caused new havoc along North Viet Nam's truck and rail routes, Allied officials reported today.

On Saigon's outskirts, South Vietnamese troops and planes mauled and scattered a 700-man Communist force early today after it daringly attacked a government armored regiment's headquarters at Go Dau within gunshot of a large American troop concentration.

The Reds made off with four American-made tanks in the raid on the headquarters 12 miles north of Saigon, but Vietnamese forces destroyed two and recaptured the others. A spokesman said 71 Viet Cong were killed.

The largest toll was claimed by South Korean forces in Operation Fierce Tiger 285 miles northeast of Saigon. Korean officers said 214 Communists were killed, 117 captured and 281 persons detained Wednesday in the central coastal ricelands around Qui Nhon. It was the largest Korean operation to date.

The tide of battle also was costly to the Allies.

The U.S. military command reported 80 Americans killed, 816 wounded and 17 missing or captured in the fighting last week. This compared with 100 killed, 808 wounded and eight missing or captured the week before.

The number of South Vietnamese killed rose from 131 to 232 last week but the number of missing declined from 97 to 73. Vietnamese wounded are not disclosed.

Communist losses reported by the Allies declined sharply during the week of March 13-19, with 627 killed and 59 captured compared with 1,224 killed and 106 captured the week before.

U.S. Air Force jets carried the air war to North Viet Nam's Mugia Pass for the third straight day. A spokesman said they left the strategic highway to the Ho Chi Minh Trail clogged with the wreckage of 19 trucks, five of which blew up. This indicated they were carrying munitions, an Air Force spokesman said.

Other Air Force and Navy jets knocked out two bridges and strafed six junks in the North Vietnamese panhandle and laced again into the Red River valley rail line from Hanoi northwest to the Chinese border in a total of 67 missions Wednesday.

Off South Viet Nam, U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers joined air and ground forces in battering the Communists.

FORMER RESIDENT IN CONTEST FOR JUNIOR MISS TITLE

A former Snyder resident is one of the 50 young ladies competing in contests for American's Junior Miss crown in Mobile, Ala.

She is Anne Collins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dwane Collins of Honolulu, Hawaii. Miss Collins won the State of Hawaii's Junior Miss title on her 17th birthday and flew to Mobile for the national contest.

The Collinses lived in Snyder 10 years ago when Dr. Collins was director of pupil personnel services for Snyder Public Schools. He is now associated with the University of Hawaii and the family has lived in Honolulu for several years.

Saturday night's final round of the contests at Mobile are scheduled to be televised nationally.

Groundbreaking ceremonies to officially launch construction of the Scurry County Coliseum will be held at 2 p.m. Monday at the construction site in east Snyder.

The County Commissioners Court said the city and school officials along with other special guests would be invited to join them in participating in the event.

Rose Construction Co. of Abilene, the general contractor on the project, already has moved in some equipment and started some preliminary excavation.

Contracts for the construction were awarded on March 8. The general contract calls for completion within 400 calendar days.

High Court Voids Virginia Poll Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court voided Virginia's poll tax today and used language that amounts to a bar against any fee requirement or wealth qualification for the right to vote.

Justice John M. Harlan in a dissenting opinion treated the ruling as "the final demise of state poll taxes."

The 6-3 decision was announced by Justice William O. Douglas.

In two other states —Alabama and Texas—federal courts have held the poll tax unconstitutional. The poll tax still is used in Mississippi and Vermont.

Douglas declared that "a state violates the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment whenever it makes the affluence of the voter or payment of any fee an electoral standard."

Justices Hugo L. Black and John M. Harlan wrote dissenting opinions. Justice Potter Stewart joining in the Harlan opinion.

For the majorirty, Douglas declared:

"The principle that denies the state the right to dilute a citizen's vote on account of his economic status or other such factors, by analogy bars a system which exludes those unable to pay a fee to vote, or who fail to pay."

Indonesians Fail To Seat Cabinet

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia's new leaders met again with President Sukarno today without reaching agreement on a new anti-Communist Cabinet to cope with the nation's political and economic chaos

The meeting brought Sukarno together with a presidium of key civilian and military representatives who have been trying to forge a Cabinet for four days. Another meeting was scheduled later today, sources said.

There was concern in some quarters that unless the presidium reached a decision on a new Cabinet soon, the students who toppled Sukarno's 100-man Cabinet would again stage street demonstrations.

Meanwhile, Jakarta remained calm and the military shortened the nightly curfew by 3½ hours.

While the presidium deliberated, influential political parties expressed their support for Suharto.

Islamic members of the House of Representatives called on Suharto to restore the House to "its real authority and function" instead of using it as a rubber stamp as Sukarno did for years.

Tanks May Be Replaced By New Air Cavalry Units

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army planners are considering formation of new, swift air cavalry regiments and squadrons which could replace or supplement tank-equipped armored cavalry units.

Cavalry units are used chiefly for reconnaissance and screening missions. For example, three armored cavalry regiments are posted in West Germany along the Iron Curtain. In event of an enemy probe, these regiments likely would be the first to make ground contact.

Air cavalry regiments, using helicopters for movement, would be considerably faster and would cover more ground in less time than armored cavalry outfits driving tanks and jeeps.

Creation of new air cavalry regiments and squadrons would represent a further extension of the air mobility concept.

The success of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division in Viet Nam has encouraged Pentagon officials to consider widening the extent of helicopter-mounted fighting units.

The new budget requests funds to convert one regular Army division, either intantry or airborne, to an air cavalry organization with about 428 helicopters.

Beyond that, there have been suggestions that sill another air cavalry division may be formed by next year.

Helicopter production is growing slowly and the demands of the war in Viet Nam are so heavy that the second air cavalry division may not come into being until late this year. Currently, there are 1,600 helicopters in Viet Nam being used to haul troops to battle areas and to provide fire support against Communist guerrillas and other Red troops.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A co-worker has taken up the hobby of analyzing handwriting. I never believed in things like that, so when she asked me for a sample of my handwriting, I just laughed and said, "No thanks, skip me." Well, she got hold of my handwriting from an office memo and went ahead and analyzed it anyway. She told our co-workers that my handwriting revealed "criminal tendencies" and that I was "oversexed." Abby, I have never been arrested in my life, not even for a traffic violation. And in my 30 years of marriage I have never been unfaithful. How does an innocent person defend himself against such insults.

VIRGIL

DEAR VIRGIL: Accusations of this kind are extremely damaging to one's reputation. Tell her there is a law against making such statements, and it is called slander. And if she can read the handwriting on the wall, she had better analyze that in a hurry and either provide proof for her statements or retract them.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: We live in an appartment and the walls are quite thin. The people next door have an 11-year-old son who takes piano lessons. Every time the kid doesn't do something right, his punishment is extra practice time on the piano. This kid has been doing an awful lot of extra time lately, and it's usually on Saturday and Sunday mornings when we would like to sleep. Should we say something to them about this disturbance? Don't tell me to report it to the landlord. They own the building.

NO MUSIC LOVER

DEAR NO: If the practice session begins unreasonably early in the morning, tell them. It's their privilege to punish their son, but not their neighbors.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: The first 6 years of our marriage we had 5 children. My work was never done, and I felt tired and dragged out all the time. Just like a woman, I took it out on my husband. The poor guy used to sit in bars just to get away from my nagging and complaining.

Then I read a letter in your column that was almost identical to my own situation. You said, "Mothers of small children seem to forget that their husbands need love and attention, too. Quit feeling sorry for yourself and concentrate on your husband. No matter how many complaints you have, keep quite, and find something to compliment him on. Kill him with kindness."

Well, I felt like killing him, so it was worth a try. At first it was a real effort, but it kept getting easier. Pretty soon he got sweeter to me, and it was easy to be nice to him. That was a year ago, and I am just getting around to thanking you for an answer to a letter I didn't write. But it worked for me.

Killed In Robbery Try

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Gunfire killed one man and forced another to flee during an attempted robbery at an East Fort Worth food store Wednesday night.

James Collins, 60, told police he grabbed his pistol and fired several shots after one holdup man attacked the store's butcher with a knife and the other shot at Collins.

Both intruders took to their heels. Shortly afterward newsman Breck Harris of Station KXOL followed a trail of $5 bills into an alley and found the body of a Negro at whom Collins said he fired.

Officers identified the dead man from papers in his pockets as Hillard T. Goodwin, 21.

Detectives said they had no clues to the identity of the robber who escaped.

The butcher, T. S. Kerlee, 59, was stabbed once in the chest. Hospital attendants said his injury was not serious.

The polar bear doesn't kick with its hind legs while swimming as most other animals do, Pennsylvania State University animal behaviorists have found. They think it may be evolving into a sea mammal like the whale.

Crash Fatal To Woman And Father

HUNTINGTON, Tex. (AP)—Dr. R. B. Forrest, 94, and his daughter, Mrs. Ora Brookshire, 60, were killed Wednesday in a headon collision on U.S. 69 about seven miles south of Lufkin.

The automobile, which was driven by Mrs. Brookshire, collided with an auto driven by Robert E. Conner, 19, of Huntington. He was reported in critical condition at a Lufkin hospital following the mishap.

Injection Project Is Terminated

The annual injection project of the Colorado River Municipal Water District has terminated for the season with 347,000,000 gallons transferred from Lake J. B. Thomas to the dewatered zone of the Martin County well field.

The rapidly rising demands of Odessa, which has paralleled the steady rise in temperatures, dicated a shutdown on the injection because water committed to the recharge was being needed at Odessa.

Water put in storage in the well field can be readily delivered to Odessa because the district has a dual pipeline system from the well field to Odessa. There is only one line between Big Spring and the well field, and this link has a 15,000,000 gallon per day capacity.

Lake water in storage near the point of demand approximates half a month's supply for Odessa even at peak summer rates. Quality of the water is substantially softer than would be the case for well water.

The district had been aiming at 350,000,000 gallons in storage, but a sudden string of summery days cut the program just short of the mark. Next year the program may be stepped up.

Job Seekers Get Wrong Number

Employes in the County Treasurer's office were swamped with telephone calls this morning from people who are seeking employment.

Somehow the telephone number of the treasurer's office became mixed up with the number of the Texas Employment Commission office, which is on the second floor of the Courthouse.

Persons seeking information concerning jobs should call HI 3-5971 to reach the employment office.

The number of the treasurer's office is HI 3-5382. They do not have any information concerning employment opportunities.

Houston To Receive Construction Bids

HOUSTON (AP) — City councmen meet today for a conference on bids to be received April 14 for construction of a Lake Livingston dam.

They approved a $15 million Lake Livingston budget Wednesday at a joint meeting with representatives of the Trinity River Authority.

Labor Win Is Predicted

LONDON (AP) — With Britain's national election only a week from today, all the public opinion polls point to a landslide victory for the Labor government.

Whether they are right will be known only after the votes are counted—in the early hours of April Fool's Day. The polls have an almost perfect record in predicting the winning party in past elections.

Since polling began on a national scale after World War II, 14 of the 15 surveys published in the last six elections have predicted the outcome correctly.

The only one wrong was the Daily Express poll of 1964, which gave the Conservatives a margin of 0.8 per cent of the popular vote in an election that turned out to be a cliffhanger. The Labor victory margin was only 1.9 per cent.

The major polls now in operation are the Gallup poll, the National Opinion poll, the Daily Express poll and Research Services. They give Labor an average lead of about 11 per cent, and it hardly varied since the campaign began two weeks ago.

Monsieur Jean Bauchet is an art collector and a connoisseur of fine automobiles. He understands that quiet in a car means quality. After driving a '66 Ford XL, he said, "They would not have to make Paris streets so smooth if all cars rode like this."

Who says a '66 Ford rides quieter than Jean Bauchet's $12,000 Facel Vega?

Jean Bauchet!

Ford's Quiet Man, who recently toured Europe demonstrating the exceptional quality of the '66 Ford to owners of some of the world's most expensive cars, here discusses a '66 Ford XL with Monsieur Bauchet outside of Monsieur Bauchet's Paris home.

"Such smoothness, such silence," says Jean Bauchet. "Your Ford is quieter, M'sieu."

Ford's quiet quality is the result of advanced engineering features like a revolutionary new frame that "tunes out" road vibrations... the strongest body ever on a Ford. But the quiet ride is just one of many reasons why you're ahead in a Ford all the way.

Only Ford in its class offers ▪ Stereo-Sonic Tape Player option that brings you over an hour of uninterrupted music of your choice, on each self-threading, snap-in tape cartridge. ▪ Magic Doorgate for wagons (standard equipment) that opens out like a door and down like a tailgate, depending on whether you are loading kids or cargo. ▪ Silent-Flo Ventilation (on 4-door hardtops) that brings in fresh air and gets rid of smoke and stale air with the windows closed. ▪ Even Ford's keys are special—they're double-edged so they fit in locks either side up. Visit your Ford Dealer and test-drive a '66 from Ford. See how many ways Ford can put you ahead in '66.

SOVIETS COUNT 46

Satellites Are Spy In Sky Type

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The Soviet Union has orbited 46 satellites which probably were spy-in-the-sky spacecraft, according to one of the Johnson administration's specialists on Soviet space activities.

"Nobody has suggested anything other than photo reconnaissance" for a particular series of unmanned Cosmos satellites, said Dr. Charles S. Sheldon II, senior member of the National Aeronautics and Space Council's professional staff.

The council is the President's top advisory group on U.S. space policies.

The 46 satellites — launched since 1962, including five this year — "don't fit any pattern" of scientific, navigational or communications-type satellites, Sheldon said.

"They fly low — 100 to 200 miles above the earth — and after eight days they disappear from orbit," probably to be recovered so film inside can be removed, the space expert said.

Sheldon, who came to Orlando to speak to local members of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics, said he doubts the Soviet Union intends to place warheads in orbit as a threat to the United States, however, because it could not do so without being discovered.

Concerning the race to the moon, Sheldon predicted the Soviets may soon launch a large unmanned space station and follow up with a smaller spaceship with men inside to rendezvous with it.

Sheldon said Wednesday he believes the Soviets could hoist an orbiting laboratory weighing from 40,000 to 50,000 pounds into orbit, "and you could get a lot of people inside a space station that weighs 50,000 pound."

He also quoted Soviet cosmonauts who suggested the Soviet Union will put up five or more men in the near future.

"The Russians have several options and it's only a guessing game which will come first," Sheldon said. "They need extended time in orbit — perhaps 14 to 30 days for a single mission — and their greatest lack of all has been the failure to demonstrate maneuvering capability."

Figureheads that adorned sailing ships in the 19th Century evolved from the ancient art of decorating bows to lure friendly spirits aboard, the National Geographic says.

Zak The FAC Gets Hero's Welcome

LINDEN, N.J. (AP) — The Viet Cong wanted "Zak the FAC" dead or alive. His wife wanted him alive.

She won.

Zak — Air Force Capt. Alexander Zakrzeski—is home today with more medals than he can wear on one uniform. As a forward air controller, or FAC, his job in Viet Nam was to pilot a light plane over enemy positions and direct air strikes.

He was so good at it that before he returned home, the Viet Cong had offered the equivalent of $500 for his capture — dead or alive.

On one mission recently, north of Than Thiet, 110 Viet Cong were killed by pilots under his direction.

He returned here Wednesday for a month with his wife, Paulette, and their children, Alexander Jr., 17 months, and Cari Ann, 3. Young Alex was six months old when his father left for Viet Nam.

Late in April, Zakrzeski, 25, reports to Hohn Air Force Base in Germany to fly fighter-interceptor jets. He was not due home until April 1, but Tuesday he surprised his wife with a call from San Francisco.

At the home of his in-laws, where Mrs. Zakrzeski and the children have been staying, the pilot said that despite his desire to get back, he left with mixed emotions. "I felt I could have been more productive there."

He described the South Vietnamese as people suffering for something they want in the future.

He said: "These people just want to be able to determine their own lives, be able to plow their lands without someone extorting taxes from them."

Mrs. Zakrzeski said: "My husband doesn't consider himself a hero. His idea is simply doing what you have to."

Just A 'Friend' Of The Court

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal judge has postponed until March 30 a permanent injunction hearing on a Milwaukee and Atlanta dispute involving the National League Braves.

Next Tuesday Judge James Noel will meet with parties to the suit for a pre-trial conference and will take up the question of whether Wisconsin will be allowed to make a "friend of the court" appearance in the case.

Judge Nole issued a preliminary injunction last month requiring the Braves to play their home games in Georgia this year and ordering the other members of the National League to abide with the 1966 schedule which includes 81 games in Atlanta.

Judge Noel has twice postponed the permanent injunction hearing, indicating he wants to see the outcome of a suit challenging the Braves' move in a Milwaukee Circuit Court before proceeding here.

Wisconsin filed a "friend of the court" brief this week with the Houston court suggesting Judge Noel dismiss the suit brought by the City of Atlanta and the Fulton County Recreation Authority asking that league members play their 1966 games as scheduled.

William Hervinn representing Atlanta and the Recreation Authority, voiced objections Wednesday to the brief filed by Wisconsin's Attorney General Bronson La Follette. He told the court that Wisconsin technically does not have the right to file such a brief.

"A friend of the court brief, such as this one is labeled, is filed by disinterested parties . . . and Wisconsin is not only not a disinterested party — it is opposed to our interest in the case," Hervin said.

He said the plaintiffs would welcome Wisconsin as an intervenor or party to the suit since, as a party, the state would then be subject to the jurisdiction of a court ruling.

"But we obect to a half-hearted attempt by the State of Wisconsin to stay off in the wings and not subject themselves to the process of the court's authority,' 'he said.

Koufax, Drysdale Still Hold Out

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Los Angeles fans who had been clamoring for the Dodgers to make a trade for a hitter were disappointed last winter when the only deal the world champions made was for Detroit Pitcher Phil Regan.

But the transaction that sent utility infielder Dick Tracewski to the Tigers has taken on added significance this spring because Dodger stars Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale are holding out.

And Drysdale reaffirmed that he and Koufax definitely will be among the missing this season unless they are given a substantial raise.

"Buzzie is right—we won't sign for the figures they've offered," Drysdale told newsmen Wednesday. "And we believe them when they say they're not going to raise their offer."

The day before, Dodger General Manager E.J. (Buzzie) Bavasi told newsmen:

"Unless I am naive and have been taken in, I have to believe they won't sign."

Drysdale also told newsmen the Dodgers' top offers have been $85,000 for him and $100,000 for Koufax, instead of higher figures reported by their attorney.

The other National League clubs have made no secret that they can think of more unpleasant things than not having to face Koufax and Drysdale this season, and that's where the Dodgers feel Regan's importance comes in.

Regan, a 28-year-old right-hander, was a 15-game winner at Detroit as lately as 1963 and that's a distinction only two Dodgers can claim.

Of the pitchers in uniform today, only one has ever won more games than that—veteran left-hander Johnny Podres. And only one other has ever won as many as 15—southpaw Claude Osteen.

So there was much interest in Regan Wednesday as he allowed St. Louis one run and two hits in three innings. The Cardinals went on to hand the Dodgers a 6-1 defeat, their third loss in a row and their ninth in 11 starts this spring.

Regan, a 6-foot-3, 200-pounder, has been tremendously impressive this spring, allowing two runs and 10 hits in 10 innings.

"The thing I like most about him," said pitching coach Harold (Lefty) Phillips, "is that he gets the ball over the plate. And he has better stuff than I was led to expect."

In the absence of Koufax and Drysdale, the Dodgers have only two certain starters, Osteen and Podres. But Regan has moved into contest Don Sutton, Joe Moeller, Nick Willhite and Bill Singer for the remaining front-line berths.

Judge Hears Brave Side Of The Story

By HARRY CHANDLER

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller got a look at the other side of the coin Wednesday as depositions of the two top Braves' executives became a part of the trial record in Wisconsin's anti-trust suit against baseball.

The gray-haired, poker-faced magistrate has been asked by the state to order the Braves to return to Milwaukee this season unless another National League franchise is awarded the city.

But the defense told Judge Roller that to do so would be a financial catastrophe for the Braves.

Baseball attorneys quoted from a deposition of Braves' President John McHale in an effort to show the effect of such an order on the club which now calls Atlanta its home.

"It would be disastrous," McHale said in the deposition. "It would bankrupt the Braves' organization.

Braves Board Chairman William C. Bartholomay was quoted as saying he never received a "bona fide" offer from any Wisconsin resident to purchase the baseball team. He said efforts to interest Wisconsin investors to share equally with his group in stock ownership of the club shortly after its purchase in 1962 were unsuccessful.

He added that an offering of Braves' stock at public sale to Wisconsin residents also had "disappointing" results early in 1963. Of the 115,000 shares offered at $11.37½ per share, between 13,000 and 14,000 shares were purchased.

"In your opinion, why didn't the stock sell?" Bartholomay was asked.

"No interest," he replied.

Bartholomay's statement recited the factors which influenced his recommendation to the club's board of directors in October 1964 to seek a transfer from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

He said he was "terribly disappointed" that commitments to the club by business leaders in a season ticket sale for 1964 were not met. Bartholomay said the group had pledged to sell 7,500 season tickets but the campaign sold only 4,391. Of these, he said, the Braves' sales team, which included several players and Manager Bobby Bragan, accounted for all but 482.

Other factors listed by Bartholomay included: slumping attendance, decrease in broadcast revenue, four major league franchises in the Chicago-Milwaukee-Minneapolis area, hostility by local politicians and the press, a general decline in sports interest in Milwaukee, the club's financial situation, a per capita income less than that of the other teams in the league, and the failure of the county to end ticket hawking around the stadium.

The defense has several more depositions for prominent baseball figures, including National League club owners, to be read into the record in question-and-answer form.

Baseball is using this format to reply to Wisconsin's charge that by approving the Braves' transfer to Atlanta, the National League exerted monopolistic powers to boycott Milwaukee as a big league city. Last December, senior circuit club owners rejected an application by Milwaukee Brewers Inc., for a 1966 expansion franchise.

The champion of the Big Eight holiday basketball tournament has gone on to win the league championship only nine times in the tourney's 19-year history, while finishing second six times.

Cincinnati Raps Celtics, 107-103

By C. C. MCGILLICUDDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—"We came to play and they came to win," said Boston Celtics Coach Red Auerbach after his defending National Basketball Association champions got off on the wrong foot in the Eastern Division semifinal playoffs.

The comment summed up the series opener after the Royals outhustled the favored Celtics 107-103 to send the series to Cincinnati for the second game Saturday night with the Royals holding a 1-0 advantage.

The Western Division semifinal playoff opens tonight in Baltimore with the Bullets getting the home-court advantage for their meeting with the St. Louis Hawks.

"The money game, baby, we won the money game," cried big Wayne Embry as the Royals entered their dressing room after upsetting the Celtics. The underdog Cincinnati team seemed as surprirsed as the crowd of 9,510 that they had taken Boston much easier than the score indicated.

Royals' Coach Jack McMahon credited his defense with the victory, as did Jerry Lucas, one of the heroes of the big victory.

Although Lucas and Oscar Robertson tied for game scoring honors with 26 point apiece, Lucas was far from happy with his performance.

"Oscar and I just weren't hitting our shots, he said. "The defense saved us. If the two of us had been hitting, it wouldn't even have been a ballgame."

McMahon thought Lucas' play was sensation," explaining, "his timing hasn't been better all season."

Auerbach felt it was a game where everything went right for the Royals and nothing went right for the Celtics.

"Everything we did in the first quarter was wrong," he said reflecting on Boston's sorry performance in which it scored only 17 points.

"We were just as bad in the third quarter," he added. "We cut the lead to three points and then we gave up the ball three times without taking a shot."

Astros Rip Solons, 13-7

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — The Houston Astros, 8-5 in exhibition play, met the Philadelphia Phillies today.

Claude Raymond and Dave Giusti were due to pitch for Houston.

The Astros won their eighth game Wednesday as they outscored the Washington Senators 13-7.

Dave Nicholson hit two home runs for Houston, including a grand slammer, and knocked in six runs.

Jimmy Wynn and John Bateman belted three-run homers for the Astros and the Senators added three more for a total of seven in the slugging match.

New Ideas On China Policy Sweep Reality Under Rug

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — A number of people — 198 of them — have signed a batch of proposals urging a new policy toward Red China. It looks like a bundle of wishful thinking, with some realities shoved under the rug.

A small group of scholars on China drew up the proposals which were circulated by the Association for Asian Studies among its 2,700 members. The 198 who signed included citizens, high school teachers, college professors.

One proposal: The United States should stop preventing Red China's admittance to the United Nations on the grounds that peace in Asia would be easier to obtain with the Communist Chinese inside the world organization.

The United States has been able to block U.N. membership for Red China since 1950. But the Red Chinese have insisted that, if they go in, Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa must be thrown out.

But this government has a mutual defense treaty with Chiang's government, which is an American ally and has been backed and protected by the United States ever since the Korean War.

But while the 198 signers want Red China in the United Nations, and there is no indication the Red Chinese have changed their mind about wanting Chiang's China out, the signers say the United States must maintain its relations with Chiang. This in effect means two Chinas.

But the Red Chinese insist there is only one China and that Formosa and the Chinese there belong to mainland China. They're bent on taking it when they can. And Chiang won't accept the idea of two Chinas, either.

The 198 signers suggest that recognition of Red China as a legitimate government — a recognition refused by this country ever since the Communists took control of the mainland in 1949 — "offers a means of conducting business and settling disputes."

But only last Sunday, Dean Rusk, secretary of state, listed a number of unsuccessful attempts to establish some worthwhile contacts with Red China.

He said the Red Chinese answer to all such efforts, made during the regular meetings between the U.S. and Chinese diplomats at Warsaw, was this: Letting them have Formosa was a first condition.

The signers had another suggestion: Before the United States would agree to withdraw its forces from Asia, it would want an understanding that the Red Chinese would not give military aid to Communist subversive groups elsewhere.

But last Sept. 2 Peking appealed to revolutionary forces in Asia, Africa and Latin America to encircle the United States.

The 198 signers proposed: "What would be desirable is an agreement to the effect that China would not supply arms to revolutionary groups and the United States would not use military force to thwart every attempt to install a Communist government into office."

But, in view of Peking's appeal to revolutionists everywhere to encircle the United States, what is this country supposed to do when it sees a Communist attempt at a takeover, particularly in this hemisphere: Sit idly by and let itself be encircled?

The signers proposed that the United States end its trade embargo on Red China and permit the importation and exportation of nonstrategic materials. But they admitted 10 West European countries have sent trade missions to Red China and not much has come of it.

Junior Editors Quiz on Lighthouses

QUESTION: How can lighthouses be built right in the sea?

• • •

ANSWER: Few ideas are more dramatic than that of a lighthouse flashing its steady beacon through a night when waves seem determined to tear it apart. Lighthouses have been built as aids to mariners since the days of Egypt. The granddaddy of ancient lighthouses was the Pharos, an imposing tower constructed on the island of Pharos, near the city of Alexandria, in the 200's B.C. This became one of the seven wonders of the world. The first lighthouses did not have lamps, but burned wood in huge baskets or receptacles, as we see by the lighthouse of the 18th century. As oil began to be used, the modern lighthouse with a lamp developed. A number of lighthouses have been built which seem to stand right in the sea, like the one in our picture. Actually, there is a reef or rock ledge underneath, as you can see by the dotted lines. These ledges are generally exposed at low tide, allowing the builders to get at them to bolt down the first tier of stones with metal rods. Sometimes a cofferdam of sandbags is built around the spot to keep the water out. Notice (left) how each granite block locks into the next ones, holding the mass together.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up the fascinating story of ancient Alexandria, home of the Pharos. It lies on the Nile Delta, where that river empties into the Mediterranean Sea. It is still a great city, with the new name of Al-Iskandariyah. 3-24

Boyle Says Being Irish Is Pleasure

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Being Irish is a pleasure, not an industry.

Now that St. Patrick's Day has come and gone, I'd like to clear up some misconceptions about the Irish — as far as I have known them.

Some years ago, in a burst of youthful perception, I wrote in exclamatory affection a favorable piece about the Irish.

Answering the question "What is it to be Irish?" this was a point I made:

"On St. Patrick's Day, to be Irish is to know more glory, adventure, magic, victory, exultation, gratitude and gladness than any other man can experience in a lifetime."

A lonesome friend said, "Well, that's very nice, but the year has 365 days. How does it feel to be Irish the other 364 days."

Well, some of the Irish I've known are like this:

Life is their favorite challenge but death is not their worst enemy.

They celebrate birth as they do departure. They are proud of a child being born and aren't particularly sad if a relative over 80 yields a final breath. They know they'll meet him in heaven.

Some regard the Irish as too brash on earth, and perhaps they are. Their conduct, however, reflects a confidence in heaven.

But sure as they are of eternity, nothing breaks an Irish family's heart more than if one of their young ones is called to God sooner than they want to let him go.

Performance is the flower of the Irishman's desire.

Joy is part of his way.

He is fantastically loyal but his biggest quarrels are among his own.

He is generous. Since he has never owned his own country completely, he will lend his shirt to anybody — and borrow the other fellow's coat right back.

In psychological terms, the Irishman is a manic-depressive and a paranoic. He joys and weeps with or without reason and secretly feels the world mistakes him. He laughs in sorrow and sorrows in laughter.

Well, to wrap it up, the way it feels to be Irish 365 days out of the year, including St. Patrick's Day, is to enjoy a gossip with immortality, like a child talking to a forever father.

Valley To Discuss Economic District

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Eligio de la Garza, D-Tex., said Wednesday he had invited county judges and mayors in South Texas to meet with him April 14 to discuss organization of an economic development district.

The congressman from the Lower Rio Grande Valley said the meeting would be held in McAllen with representatives from Zapata, Jim Hogg, Starr, Hidalgo, Willacy and Cameron Counties.

De la Garza, a resident of McAllen, said officials of the Economic Development Administration would accompany him to the meeting.

Scholarship For Late Publisher

SAN ANGELO—First of the Millard Cope Memorial Scholarships established by Mr. and Mrs. Houston Harte of San Angelo will be awarded this spring to journalism students at Angelo State College.

Three of the awards, each worth $300 for the 1966-67 school year will be presented this spring. In subsequent years, the awards will total $1,200 annually.

One scholarship each will go to a freshman, sophomore and junior journalism student this year. Starting in 1967-68 a $1,200 four-year scholarship will be awarded annually to a freshman journalism student in Angelo State.

The first three awards also will be renewable each year until the recipients graduate from ASC.

Funds for the scholarships are provided from a $25,000 trust set up by Mr. and Mrs. Harte as a memorial to the late Mr. Cope, who was publisher of the San Angelo Standard-Times at the time of his death on Jan. 4, 1964. Harte is chairman of the board of the Standard-Times and also is board chairman for Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc. a group of 10 Texas newspapers.

Cope, formerly publisher of the Marshall News-Messenger, was president of the Southern Newspaper publishers Association and director of Associated Press when he died. Most of his distinguished newspaper career had been in association with the Harte-Hanks Newspapers.

Millard Cope Memorial Scholarship winners will be chosen by a selection board set up in the trust arrangement. The board is made up of the president of Angelo State, publisher of the Standard-Times and president of the West Texas Press Association. Present members are Dr. R. M. Cavness and Fred Conn, both of San Angelo, and Neil Vandzandt of Seagraves.

Applicants for the Journalism scholarships will be considered on the basis of need, interest and ability in the field of journalism, board members said. The scholarships are open to both men and women planning to major in journalism at Angelo State.

The selection board expects to be able to announce the first winners by May 8. Students interested in applying for the scholarships should address inquiries to Mrs. Maxine Wells, chairman, Journalism Department, Angelo State College, San Angelo, Texas.

Shape Up, Or Ship Out Say Students

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — "Shape it up, or ship it out."

The message, carried on a sign by a youthful picket, speaks for itself at a grade school in suburban Wyoming where pupils are boycotting their school lunchroom.

The food, the pupils say, just isn't as good as what mom fixes.

Leader of the protest, 6-year-old Steven Rogers, says, "Someone has to do something about this situation."

The boycott has gone two days. Officials made no attempt to stop it Wednesday.

"We didn't squelch the picketing or the boycotting," said Superintendent Harold Bush. "It was great fun for the kids. The food isn't really that bad."

Assistant Principal Ralph Meece explained he couldn't go along with the youthful picketing, "but I do sympathize with them."

Meece said he usually brings his own lunch to school.

Wednesday, Bush said, some 60 children ordered lunch. The average before the boycott was more than 100. Enrollment at the school is 250.

Bush said it wasn't a question of wasting food as "we only prepare what children ask for at the beginning of the day. For 35 cents, the kids get as good food as any served in other elementary schools."

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY—With swarms of tourists coming to Mexico's seaside resorts these days around 83 per cent are asking themselves, "are there any sharks in these waters?"

Fortunately we have at hand an article which gives an ample account of all the sense and nonsense concerning sharks.

To begin with, it says that last year more than a score of shark attacks took place all over the world. Most of them in the United States, African and Australian waters.

And there, fellow swimmers, is fifty percent of your problem solved. Since the hunting is so good in the above mentioned waters, why would a shark swim all the way to Mexico for a quick snack?

We do have some interesting observations, however. Some people seem to feel all sharks are dangerous. The article says this is not true. Only about 10 per cent are known to be man killers.

The dogfish, for example, is classified as a shark but has never been known to attack swimmers. These sharks simply bark at people who come too close and it is an established fact that a barking shark never bites.

There is a theory that sharks are smart, which the article says is false. It say sharks have tiny brains and primitive nervous systems but they DO have highly developed senses of smell, hearing and sight which have given them the underserved reputation for being smart.

I agree with this conclusion. I once knew a shark who graduated from Princeton but he was an incredibly bad chess player. He lost games in 10, 12 moves and, in fact, could never even make a decent living. He refused to work at anything, despite his PhD, and finally was arrested by the Mexican Coast Guard for vagrancy.

We still have a few uninformed people who become nervous when a 35-foot shark swims up to them and begins nibbling on an arm or leg. So for their benefit, here are a few helpful hints for ocean swimmers.

Always swim or skin dive with a companion. This "buddy system," as it is called, is extremely efficient because if one swimmer is eaten his buddy can immediately head for the beach and tell people about it.

Blood attracts sharks quicker than anything else. Therefore if you get mad at a friend while swimming, do not shoot or stab him until you are back at the beach. Bloody water may bring a swarm of sharks and result in a rather difficult situation.

Avoid swimming at night or in murky waters. This is around advice. I once took a midnight dip in the swimming pool of a friend and the waters were almost stagnant. A huge shark tried to attack me but was finally forced to withdraw because of the Vodka fumes. You might not be so fortunate.

If attacked by a shark, Y-E-L-L to attract attention and swim for the beach. I know this works. Dr. Sigmund Blott, the famous sharkologist here, sighted a shark while studying their habits. He yelled so loudly that it caused a tidal wave, which swept him ashore to safety, and as a result many Mexican sharks are deaf.

There are no verified cases of shark attacks in Mexican waters but scores of people here are killed each year by lightning. So if you are swimming in a shark-infested bay during a thunder storm it would be sensible to carry along a portable lightning rod for protection.

Or at least put on a rain coat and rubber boots so you don't get soaked.

LBJ Ready To Propose New Civil Rights Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is ready to propose new civil rights legislation dealing with housing, juries, schools and public facilities.

The administration's proposed civil rights act of 1966, which faces a tough election-year battle in Congress, has been on Johnson's desk for at least two weeks. There has been no explanation of his delay in transmitting it, along with a message, to Capitol Hill.

Johnson and Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach have given several members of Congress private previews of the bill. And once it's submitted, Chairman Emanuel Celler of the House Judiciary Committee is expected to call immediate hearings, at which Katzenbach will be the leadoff administration witness.

Should the bill become law—either in its present form or, as is more likely in an altered version—it would be the third package of civil rights legislation enacted by Congress in as many years.

The 1964 Civil Rights Act forbade racial discrimination in places of public accommodation and put new teeth in laws against discrimination in voting and public education. The 1965 Voting Rights Act has resulted in the first-time registration of more than 100,000 Southern Negroes. Both laws have been upheld in their key provisions by the Supreme Court.

According to sources who have seen the latest proposal, its chief provisions run along these lines:

Housing: Racial discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing—old and new, and even if privately financed—would be banned.

While the attorney general could bring suit where he found a pattern and practice of discrimination, the normal remedy would be for the prospective buyer or renter to bring suit against the seller or landlord accused of discrimination.

Such legislation, which is expected to stir sharp controversy in Congress, would theoretically open up previously all-white suburbs to Negroes, assuming the Negroes could afford to move.

Juries: The administration proposal would be directed at both state and federal jury systems in an effort to end the all-white juries that prevail in many parts of the South.

Where there was evidence of a violation, the Justice Department could ask a federal court to establish and enforce non-discriminatory jury selection standards for the offending circuit or county.

Intimidation: This provision would make it a federal crime — with penalties graduated to fit the nature of a specific crime — to harm or intimidate persons attempting to desegregate public facilities.

It also would empower the attorney general to initiate court action to end harassment or intimidation of Negro pupils (or their parents) who are attempting to attend previously all-white schools.

Travels Yield Wealth Of Knowledge

DETROIT (AP) — They feared their daughter was going blind. So in 1955 Ray and Lela Gallagher set out to show young Lela B. "everything under the sun."

That first trip with their daughter to explore Michigan has lengthened into a journey of more than 410,000 miles, all inside the state.

And, while Lela B., now 14, has retained her vision through a series of operations and special training, the experience has turned Gallagher into a knowledgeable historian, writer, and maker of recordings.

This week Gallagher, a 36-year-old auto worker, finished his manuscript for a book about Michigan.

Everywhere the family went they took notes on what they visited. They lived in tents or a trailer and sometimes slept in their station wagon, a 1957 model with 178,000 miles on it.

The Gallaghers once put their notes from a trip in a sack and weighed it. It was 25 pounds. One series of ballad-like poems is set down on 67 feet of shelf paper.

Gallagher likes to sit down in the family's suburban Trenton home and recite them to Lela B. and his other children—three boys and another girl, aged 7 to 12.

It was in 1963 that the Gallaghers thought of writing a book and making records about the odd things they have learned.

This would include the story of Beaver Island where a man crowned himself king or the legend of how a pig fell into a pit and uncovered the copper vein that brought wealth to the Upper Peninsula.

From then on, at least four nights a week, Gallagher worked through the night on the script for the records or wrote letters to various towns seeking information.

Gallagher has not marketed the records, but he has written to Gov. George Romney and the State Department of Education to find out whether the state could use them to tell school children about Michigan.

PHARR, Tex. (AP) — Dean Skiles has been hired as superintendent of the Pharr-San Juan-Alamo School District in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Skiles, superintendent of schools at Dalhart the past 10 years, will receive $16,300 annually under a three-year contract plus a $1,200 car allowance.

He succeeds John Townley, who resigned to become school superintendent at Taylor.
