Dag Leads First U.N. Forces Into Katanga

By ADRIAN PORTER
ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld and the first U.N. force to enter seceded Katanga province landed today.

The force—220 Swedes—arrived in five planes, touching down at 10-minute intervals.

Hammarskjöld and the soldiers almost did not land after all. The crowd at the airport saw Hammarskjöld's plane circle the airfield three times.

Katanga's Premier Moise Tshombe and other government officials waiting at the airport were told as the plane circled that the secretary refused to land.

It appeared the control tower's European operator had told Hammarskjöld he would be allowed to land but that permission would be refused to the planes carrying the Swedish soldiers.

Tshombe was appalled and quickly ordered the control tower to allow all U.N. planes to land.

Although Tshombe three days ago announced he now would be willing to accept the U.N. force un-

X15 Sets Another Top Mark

By RALPH DIGHTON
EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—The X15 today rocketed an Air Force test pilot more than 24 miles skyward, man's highest flight yet. The new record: 131,000 feet.

Maj. Robert M. White, in the same plane that set a world speed mark of 2,196 m.p.h. last week, pointed the sleek black Dart up at an angle of 51 degrees and let its mighty twin engines roar all out until his fuel was exhausted.

The four-minute burst vaulted him to the nearly airless edge of space, where he arced weightless for a few seconds before plummeting back.

At the peak of his climb, White radioed back:

"This is really fantastic up here."

The old mark was 126,200 feet, nearly 24 miles, set by Capt. Iven C. Kincheloe here Sept. 7, 1956, in the ill fated X2 rocket ship. It later crashed while setting a speed mark of 2,094 m.p.h. Kincheloe was killed in a fighter plane crash.

Records by experimental planes are unofficial. The official mark is 103,965 feet, set by Capt. Joe Jordan last Dec. 14 in an F106 jet.

The X15 was dropped at 45,000 feet from a B52 mother ship. White ignited eight rocket barrels and within seconds soared out of range of ground observers with field glasses.

Minutes later the ship reappeared, a tiny dot in the vast expanse of desert sky, and came down in a spiral glide for a 300 m.p.h. landing on the hard mud surface of Rogers Dry Lake.

White's maximum speed today, compared with Walker's 2,196 m.p.h. last week, was 1,700 m.p.h. In setting his speed record, Walker climbed to 78,000 feet, then went into a shallow dive to become the fastest human.

White reserved all his power for the zooming climb.

La Porte Hit By Epidemic

LA PORTE, Tex. (AP)—Residents of this seaport community began dropping on the streets today from an epidemic, termed cause, the sheriff's department reported.

Justice of the Peace Bud West of La Porte said that 30 or 40 persons had been overcome.

Authorities said the victims became sick and vomited. They were rushed to nearby towns for treatment.

Ten medical teams from Houston rushed into the area.

Officers were unable to determine the cause of the mass illness, but said some sort of gas could have spread over the town.

"We have not the faintest idea of what's causing it," he said.

"It is a frightening thing," said West, "but no one is dead."

"The town is rapidly becoming a badly scared community," added West.

The community of 5,000 has no chemical plant, the S. and W. Co., but its executives said the plant has no leak and could not be causing the illnesses.

Coverage Extension Of New Wage-Hour Bill Is Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican and Southern Democratic senators battling Sen. John F. Kennedy's minimum wage bill centered their attack today on its broad extension of wage-hour law coverage.

This feature of the bill sponsored by the Democratic president drew the fiercest opposition, that the provision to extend the present $1 an hour minimum wage to $1.25.

The measure would bring workers in retail and service enterprises under the law for the first time, according to the "great bulk of the additional five million employees to whom coverage would be extended."

Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) has proposed an amendment to retain the existing exemption of retail and service establishments. He said he hopes it will be voted on ahead of other pending amendments.

The amendment would provide for a key test of whether the business is a retail or service establishment. If it is, it would be covered. If not, it would be exempt.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) spoke out in an interview against any extension of coverage. He said he felt the commerce clause already had been stretched too far. He referred to the constitutional provision which gives the federal government the authority to regulate interstate commerce—the legal basis for the wage-hour law.

Russell said he had no strong opinion on the bill, but he said it was a "major setback for Kennedy and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas."

However, one influential Dixie legislator, Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-La.) and J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.)

Holland said he had not attempted to find out how many of his Southern Democratic colleagues would back his amendment, the adoption of which would be a major setback for Kennedy and his vice presidential running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

However, one influential Dixie legislator, Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-La.) and J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.)

New Frontier Looms In Communications

HOLMDEL, N.J. (AP)—A shiny mirror in the sky today marks the first step toward giving swift, sure new telephone, radio and TV channels to a gassy and curious world.

The sky mirror is a huge balloon shot into orbit this morning. Radio signals shot up from earth can, it is hoped, be bounced back clearly and surely to other parts of the earth.

This and later tests ultimately promise a system of satellites through which:

You may dial an operator in Chicago, give a number, and quickly be talking with a business contact or relative in Japan, Africa, or the U.S.S.R.

Live, as-it-happens TV could be transmitted across oceans, and to all parts of the world.

News dispatches and pictures could also bounce via satellites into your home newspaper.

Space Capsule Is Rushed To Hawaii

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—A space capsule jibed back to earth from an orbiting U.S. satellite was rushed toward Hawaii today with a payload of data that could help in perfecting a spy-in-the-sky system.

With recovery of the capsule—the first success in 13 attempts—the United States appeared to have won a lap in the space race with the Soviet Union.

The 200-pound capsule, loaded with instruments, was rushed from the Pacific Ocean about 330 miles northwest of Hawaii Thursday by a helicopter which hurried to the spot from a waiting ship.

A little over three hours earlier, the Air Force triggered the ejection mechanism of its Discoverer XIII as it made its 17th pass over Alaska in polar orbit.

With steering rockets starting it on the way, the capsule plunged downward into the thick air envelope of the earth. A parachute opened. Radio beacons helped observers plot its course.

Then, crews of waiting C-119 planes saw the chute follow the capsule down and circled above the spot.

The Air Force plan was to snatch the chute and capsule into one of the C-119's, but scattered clouds caused trouble and a sea recovery was required. A helicopter from the MSTS ship Haiti Victory picked up the capsule and flew it back to the ship, which then headed for Hawaii.

Successful recovery of the undamaged capsule buoyed hopes of space scientists working on both the man-in-space program and the Sams spy satellite.

The Sams is now being developed to send back by television what its camera eyes see as it scouts the face of the earth. But eventually it is hoped that actual films can be sent back to earth by capsule to provide much clearer pictures than television could furnish.

It was No. 13 of the Discoverer satellite series which brought back to the Air Force

Ike Message Is Relayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States sent a huge communications satellite into orbit high above the earth today and quickly signalled its success by bouncing a message from President Eisenhower across the nation.

The new space messenger, Echo I, was rocketed up from this missile test center at 4:39 a. m.

A little over two hours later the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced it was successfully in orbit.

Then less than four hours after launch, the recorded message from the President was played back at a news conference in Washington.

The message came back loud and clear when received at Holmdel, N. J., after being sent from Goldstone, Calif.

It said:

"This is President Eisenhower speaking."

"It is a great personal satisfaction to participate in this first experiment in communications involving the use of a satellite balloon known as Echo."

"This is one more significant step in the United States program of space research and exploration."

"The program is being carried forward vigorously by the United States for peaceful purposes for the benefit of all mankind."

"The satellite balloon, which has reflected these words may be used freely by any nation for similar experiments in its own interests."

"Information necessary to prepare for such participation was widely distributed some weeks ago."

"The United States will continue to make freely available to the world the scientific information acquired from this and other experiments in its program of space exploration."

The recording was broadcast to the satellite on its first sweep around the earth.

Dr. T. Keith Glennan, NASA administrator, described the Echo launching as "well-nigh perfect."

The fact that the satellite was in successful orbit had been confirmed by both telemetry and visual sighting.

Observers on the Pacific Coast reported that in the early morning darkness it shone some seven times brighter than the North Star.

Glennan gave the new satellite the name of Echo I.

Dr. Abe Silverstein, director of NASA's space flight program, said Echo I is in orbit between the altitudes of 1,018 and 1,160 miles. The exact time of orbit is 121.5 minutes, or less than two minutes off the planned two hours.

William J. O'Sullivan, designer of the satellite, said it will be visible all night, not merely at dusk or dawn, for the next couple of weeks.

O'Sullivan, head of the space vehicles group at the Langley Research Center at Hampton, Va., explained the satellite is high enough and so inclined in its orbit that it will remain in continuous sunlight. However, it will be difficult to see in daytime because of the brightness of the sky.

Later the orbital path will run through dark spaces in the earth's shadow at intervals before it emerges again into full-time sunlight next spring.

O'Sullivan said Echo I is as bright as the star Vega, brightest star in the sky.

Townsend said the satellite should be visible on four passes over the United States tonight. He forecast a lifetime of about one year before such factors as air drag and the effects of solar radiation bring the balloon down.

NASA said the satellite's speed of 1,160 miles is 15,442 m.p.h. while its speed at the low point of the orbit, 1,018 miles above the earth, is 15,884 m.p.h.

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all — results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. Spicy Rye Cookies Are Sure To Please The Whole Family

In any land, at any age, on any occasion, people love butter cookies.

The way to balance the multitudes of almost too-sweet nibble cookies is to add hearty Spicy Rye Cookies.

For these tasty cookies, you will need butter, sugar, egg, orange juice and rind, rye flour and white, salt, cinnamon, cardamom and chopped nuts. Mix as you would a simple butter cookie dough and bake in three tasty ways.

Just drop from a teaspoon onto a cookie sheet and bake. Or, chill the dough, then form into balls and place on a cookie sheet. Or, save an empty butter carton and fill with the dough, then place in the refrigerator to chill. Cut the chilled block of dough into thin slices and place on a cookie sheet.

Then, cut each slice into triangles, squares or rectangles. Separate pieces and bake as is, or topped with orange marmalade, jellies or cooked prunes for a mouthwatering treat.

Variety is the middle name for Spicy Rye Cookies. In any form, they're just plain delicious eating.

"Gumdrop" Balls: Chill dough. Form into 1-inch balls. Place on cookie sheet. Pinch down on the top of each ball and place half gumdrops in the 2 depressions. Bake 10-12 minutes.

Modern Man Favored With Expert Advice On Problems

By INEZ ROBB

Want to know how to treat a burn, shingle a barn, train a dog, grow dahlias, patch up a failing marriage, give a bridal shower, play better bridge, rear the kids, care for Siamese cats, invest in stocks, get rid of warts, make crepes suzette, land a beau, give the heave-ho to a suit or, handle in-laws, select a wardrobe, build a better barbecue, handle a psycho at home or address the prime minister of Way-Out Mongolia?

Easy, man, easy. Just consult your daily newspaper. Every sheet now employs a bevy of experts who solve all problems, settle all questions. The reader never had it so good.

In my daily paper, I have just come across consolation that I am posting arrival, special delivery to a young cousin with a tough problem. In June, her six-year-old son, flunked kindergarten, with resultant turmoil among the family groupings.

To his parents and grandparents Mitty seemed every bit as bright as his pre-school brother and his sister, who had attained the dignity of a second-grader and a very bright one. In fact, the groupings were incited to take Mitty's kays to kindergarten lightly until the school system made a federal case of it.

Mitty, who had just turned six when he distinguished himself by his academic failure, was rushed off to the school psychiatrist. At the conclusion of his proings, he announced that Mitty had a high I. Q. and darker causes must lie behind his failure to adjust to the educational sandbox.

So the school ordered Mitty's parents to the psychiatrist. Now Mitty's parents, both college graduates, are devoted parents who have made their home a center for the neighborhood kids. They are both pleasant, sensible young persons. But after a few sessions with the school psychiatrist they came home deeply depressed by the fear that what they had always believed to be a happy marriage might, after all, be a hideous mistake.

Finally, the day came when they were asked to appear at the head shrinker's with Mitty in tow. Once in his office, Mitty was given paper and crayons, put into a room by himself and ordered to draw a picture of his family. Well Mitty, who is a Michelangelo, but by the end of an hour in solitary, the child turned out a chromo in which could be identified two adults, his parents, and two children, his brother and his sister.

The psychiatrist pounced on Mitty's art with the joy of a district attorney producing the bullet and the blood-stained shirt in a first-degree murder case. From Mitty's picture, he cried, it was clear that the child did not consider himself a member of the happy family — or he would have included himself in, instead of out of, the family group.

There was the key to Mitty's problem, the psychiatrist keened. Mitty considered himself a non-member, an outsider. Mitty's mother, a pretty, high-spirited young woman in ordinary circumstances, could hardly wait to get out of the psychiatrist's office before she burst into laughter.

"Let's stop worrying and making fools of ourselves," she counseled. "Mitty did exactly what the man ordered — he drew a picture of HIS family, not of THE family." So they bought a frame for Mitty's picture the next day, and everyone went back to being his happy self. But just to backstop that happiness, I am mailing my cousin the final word from the medic-psychologist who, in my paper, tells parents how to bring up children. Before entering first grade,

Krush Likes To Put Out Feelers

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's that man again.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev, when unsure of the outcome, acts like an early bather sticking one toe in the water to see if it's cold before diving in.

Back in 1959 he put out a feeler for an invitation to the United States. Once he got it, he came bouncing over. That was last September. Came the spring.

He torpedoed the summit conference, called off President Eisenhower's trip to Russia, and for weeks insulted and belittled the President.

He said he'd never have another summit get-together with Eisenhower. American-Soviet relations took a perilous dive.

This week Khrushchev acted like a man putting out feelers again.

He said he would deem it a great honor to head the Soviet delegation to the United Nations to discuss disarmament in September.

That would bring him here in

Money One Of Great Pleasures

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbsome comments of a Pavement Plato: Never trust a man who knocks money. He is bound to be a hypocrite.

Money is one of the truly great pleasures of life, and the man who turns against it has lost one of the great tools to fine-tuning.

It is still true that money, in itself, can't buy happiness — and never could. But you can name a better down payment? Money. There are a number of ways of acquiring money, and how you acquire it determines to a considerable extent the fun you get from it. The average man's dream of utter glory is to inherit money. This proves again the instinctive wisdom of the common man. He knows what is best for him.

There are those who insist that only money earned by his own sweat enables a man and gives him character. But this is for most of us a terribly tedious way to build either cash or character, and sometimes we wind up without much of either.

Besides, earned money isn't nearly as much fun to spend as given money.

Show me a self-made millionaire and, in most cases, I'll show you a man with a padlock on his pocketbook who spends with a limited sense of joy because he is too aware of how much toil and lost sleep his money cost him. What he really enjoys more is bragging about how poor he was as a youth, and how many sacrifices he had to make to become rich. He has become a moneyed martyr.

But show me a man who has inherited a million dollars, and I'll show you a man who will give five million dollars' worth of mileage out of his fortune. Spared the agony of having had to earn it, he finds double pleasure in every dollar he spends.

The average man in this life is a prisoner of the next payday and the next pay hike.

If he is making $90 a week and expecting a $10 raise, he starts right in living at a $100 clip.

'Old Man' Musial Paces Cardinals To Overtime Win

By WHITNEY MARTIN

Here's a warning to other National League clubs: When playing the St. Louis Cardinals don't go into extra innings. The old man in left field is liable to get tired, standing around and blast one so he can go home.

The old man is Stan Musial. He's only 39, but that's antique as ball players go. The personable left fielder blasted one Thursday night when the Pittsburgh Pirates persisted in prolonging the game. In the 12th inning Stan the man smacked a Bob Friend pitch into the stands with a man on base to give the Cards a 3-2 decision and cut Pittsburgh's lead to four games. He had a pair of doubles earlier as a warmup.

Los Angeles bled Cincinnati 3-0 and San Francisco nipped Milwaukee 8-7 in other NL games. Chicago's Cubs and Philadelphia were not scheduled. The staid Baltimore Orioles beat Detroit 6-1 and pulled within one game of the first place Yankees in the American League. Boston beat Cleveland 5-2 and Washington took Kansas City 5-4 in other AL games. The Yankees and Chicago had an open date. Oddly, most fans don't think of Musial as a home run hitter. They think of him as a line drive hitter—singles and doubles and triples.

Yet he has a career total of 424 round trippers. Musial's home run Thursday night broke up a stirring pitching battle between Pittsburgh's Bob Friend (12-9) and the Cards' Ernie Broglio (14-5). Each went the distance, Broglio allowing eight hits and Friend 7.

The Bucs made a valiant effort to prolong their seven-game winning streak. They scored once in the bottom of the 12th on Bill Virdon's single and Rocky Nelson's double, but that wasn't quite enough.

It was the Cards' fifth straight victory and their 20th in their last 41 games. Sandy Koufax was the whole show as the Dodgers blanked the Reds. Koufax, who seven times this year has fanned more than 10 batters in a game, struck out 13 and allowed only two hits. The San Francisco Giants dropped Milwaukee to fourth place with their victory.

Between You And Me

Department of Surprised- Me-Nos: Noticed yesterday where Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain reconsidered his publicized retirement move and has decided to keep shooting baskets professionally. It reputedly made him "the highest paid athlete in sports today." The money was secondary, however, as he came back to the game in order to satisfy "the wishes of his fans and his race."

So it's back to the NBA, and PDQ, Harumph.

That Last Step Was A Lulu

ALSO SEE where Bill Woodhouse stepped in a hole and that as a consequence triple gold medal winner Bobby Morrow may get to go to Rome after all this month. The hole in question was nestled in a somewhat inferior Long Beach (Calif.) track during a meet of the Friday past. Result: pulled muscle and bye-by Olympics for the ill-fated Woodhouse.

Should Morrow be able to make the trip after all, it would serve as a boost from the morale standpoint, to be sure. Although he's far from the terror of four years ago, he nevertheless "knows the ropes" and should serve as a steady influence on the remainder of Uncle Sam's boys who will be taking part for the first time. Also, there's always the chance that by some quirk of fate he might rise up to duplicate a performance or two of not-so-bygone days. The hopes of millions will be riding on him, regardless of his showing, however.

To adapt a phrase normally reserved for gridironers, he even looks good going to retrieve the water bucket.

There's No Business Like Monkey Business

AS THE PROVERBIAL little monkey said at such times as he inadvertently got his proverbial tail cut off by the lawnmower—"It shan't be long now!"

And truly it shan't. For King Football, the restless giant of the sports world, is on the verge of coming out of hibernation. On the local scene it's no more than a hop, skip and a jump away as the Tigers drive into their first workouts of the season Monday. Also, the Texas-Titan tit scheduled in Athens is only one week distant. One of the featured players in that game will be Tiger-Turner-Texas Jack Spinks, who rates second only to the "beast" in putting Snyder on the map.

Baseball, of course, will bow out early in October with its always colorful World Series swansong. Prior to that time and also after that time there'll be football aplenty to absorb, though, with a hungry public feeding on every first down.

Ten enough to set a fellow ailing, eh, what?

Dell Leading Yanks Into Quarterfinals

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—U.S. Davis Cup hopeful Donald Dell, who conquered third-seeded Australian Bob Mark, led a six-man U.S. contingent into today's quarterfinals of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships.

With Mark ousted, only two world-touring Aussies remained—top-seeded Rod Laver, the Australian champion and Wimbledon runnerup, and fifth-seeded Bob Hewitt.

Dell, a recent Yale graduate from Bethesda, Md., held Mark 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. But Laver ripped Ruddy Hernandez, Detroit, Mich. 6-2, 6-3 and Hewitt eliminated Bob Siska, San Francisco, 6-3, 6-3.

Dell opposes Ham Richardson, Fairwood, N.J., today while Ron Holmberg, Brooklyn, N.Y., plays Hewitt. Whitney Reed, Alameda, Calif., faces Mike Green, Miami Beach, Fla.

Richardson rallied past Ivo Pimental, Venezuela, 6-2, 6-3, and the second-seeded Holmberg outlasted Alan Fox, Los Angeles, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

The victory cut the Bucs lead over the Cards to four games and ran the Cardinals winning streak to seven games winning skein for the Pirates. But Manager Danny Murtagh of the Pirates took the loss philosophically.

"After all," he said, "it was a real tight game and Bob Friend certainly pitched an outstanding game. So did Ernie Broglio for the Cards."

Friend, now 12-9 for the year, said: "I simply pitched just about as good as I ever had and it was a tough one to lose. I tried to keep the ball away from Musial, but it came into him and he really hit it. He's a great hitter."

Friend retired 18 men in order and had allowed only one hit until the eighth when he gave up a triple to Walt Janssen and a run. It was a 3-2 triumph over Cardinals since last September.

GIANT STRIDE AND SAFE—Frank Howard of the Los Angeles Dodgers reached first base safely with a big stride as Milwaukee's Joe Adcock tried vainly to scoop the ball to pitcher Lew Burdette (33), covering the bag. Adcock, who fumbled Howard's grounder, drew an error which proved costly. Howard scored a few minutes later with the winning run in a 3-2 Dodger victory over the hometown Braves. (AP Wirephoto)

WESSON, STRAYHORN SCOURGE IN MEN'S PLAY

Favorites Advance In Net Meet Vision Nabs Fem Singles Crown

The Scurry County Tennis Tournament opened here last night with a bang, as a fine slate of matches was witnessed by an equally healthy turnout of spectators at the Towle Park Courts.

Most—not all—of the pre-tournament favorites came through the early stages of the meet unscathed. One notable exception was in the women's singles division where Pat Gilmore ousted defending queen of the heap Wanda Kelly 6-4, 9-7, in the hardest fought match of the night. The victory, coupled with a second round bye, placed her in the finals against Helen Iverson, who became the first champion to be named in the meet when she doused Mrs. Gilmore by 6-6, 6-3 in a match reeled off this morning.

In her romp to the throne Mrs. Iverson, the defending Junior Girls champ, bounced her sister Helen out of contention with a 6-1, 7-5 victory, then went on to eliminate Iris Turner by 7-5, 6-2.

The men's doubles advanced into the showdown stage of play with the finals in that category set for later in the day. As was foreseen, polished Eddie Strayhorn and partner Doug Chitsey blasted their merry way into the final round, although they were dealt a real tussle in their second match of the night. In one of the featured bouts of the evening, they slipped past the Ronnie Smith-Eddie Fydu duo, 6-3, 6-4.

Prior to that they had had little trouble in mauling the team of Lacy Boles and Jerry Jackson, 6-0, 6-1, in the initial go-round.

Rearing into the finals against them was last year's champs, the "Deadly W" combination of Jim Wesson and Bob Womack. They breezed to victory in their first match against Lynn Turner and Willie Masters, 6-4, 6-0, placing them in the semi-finals against a couple of more wicked racketeers in the forms of Jim Erwin and Max Lang.

That battle was waged this morning, with Womack and Wesson pounding their way into the finals with an uphill 3-6, 6-3, 6-4 triumph.

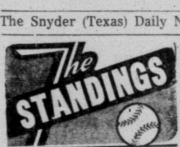

The favorites came through "on schedule" in mens singles play, all posting victories. Wesson spanked Turner with a 6-0, 6-2 licking, Womack to the tune of 6-3, 6-4.

Smith walloped Masters, 6-0, 6-2, to advance into the quarterfinals against Erwin, who had moved up on the grace of a bye. The winner of that match will take on Wesson later today in the semi-finals round of play.

The lower bracket, Phyliaster Jackson, 6-2, 6-4, then bombed Boles by 6-1, 6-2 in a match run off this morning. Those two conquests place him in the semi against Strayhorn, a 6-2, 6-1 winner over Lang. Both of the latter netters had advanced into the second round after drawing first round byes.

Only one match was unfolded in the mixed doubles in play of last night. In that one the team of Gilmore and Erwin routed the Kelly-Jackson twosome, 6-2, 6-2. By virtue of the win they will meet Lynda Iverson and Wesson, recipients of a bye in the first round, today in a semi-finals tussle. The winner there will vie with the Strayhorn-Iris Turner and Russell Jones-Helen Iverson victor for the championship.

The meet was set up to run through Saturday night but has been going at such a fast clip that there is a possibility that all matches may be played through to completion tonight. They will get underway on all three courts beginning at 6 this evening, with benches being provided for the seating of spectators.

PASS-HAPPY TILT LOOMS

Collegians To 'Go For Broke' Tonight

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—The College All-Stars tonight will try to make a daring, gambling game pay off against the Baltimore Colts, National Football League champions. The 27th midsummer classic is expected to draw upwards of 70,000 customers to Soldier Field. It will be televised and broadcast over ABC starting at 10 p. m. Eastern Daylight Time.

Facing a defense hinged by the likes of 288-pound Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb and 270-pound Art Donovan, Coach Otto Graham's squad of 47 college graduates undoubtedly will be thinking of an offensive rather than a ground attack. Quarterbacks Don Meredith of Southern Methodist, George Izo of Notre Dame and Pete Hall of Marquette may spray the atmosphere with more passes than ever before in the series.

There even could be more aerial action than in last year's 29-0 Colt triumph in which the collegians tied 41 tosses, completed 15 for 186 yards, and Baltimore catapulted 28 for 141 hits and 211 yards.

Despite the potential passing power of the All-Stars and a group of fine receivers, odds-makers have installed Baltimore about a 20-point favorite. Gail Cogdill of Washington State and Carroll Dale of Virginia Tech are regarded as two of the best pass-catching ends ever to make an All-Star roster. But the All Stars must protect their passers from the huge Baltimore chargers if they hope to crank up an air barrage.

Flipping passes for the Colts will be the master, John Unitas, now tabbed as completely recovered from cellulitis, an infection that earlier this week spread from his nose to glands below his eyes and up to his forehead.

Unitas had a brief, throwing light Thursday night as the Colts worked out for a short time under the lights in Soldier Field.

"I feel fine," he said, "I responded to treatments right away."

Some observers expect Ray Brown to see more action than Unitas, especially if Baltimore erupts for a substantial lead by halftime. The former Mississippi quarterback has been trained to fill in for Unitas as well as holding down the job as right safety in the defensive backfield.

Baltimore coach, Weeb Ewbank, an assistant to Paul Brown during the Colts' years of glory with the Cleveland Browns, said that his Colts cannot afford to lose to the All-Stars.

"A defeat would embarrass the NFL and also might hurt the morale of our squad at a time we are aiming for our third straight championship," he said. "The boys are right at the mental peak I want them to be. We came to play, and to win."

Graham describes his group as "probably the most quiet bunch of kids I've ever owned."

"I've seen other quiet groups explode when a game comes up," he added. "I hope this is that type. We could upset the Colts, or be defeated 50-0."

Hobbs Roars Into Stretch

The Sophomore League second half has only 20 games to go and the boys better get busy in a hurry if they expect to keep Hobbs out of the playoff.

Alpine might be the club to do it if anybody does and that's because they mean an end to the season with a playoff. Alpine was the first half leader.

The Cowboys won a double header from Odessa Thursday night to push into second place but still 5 1/2 games back of Hobbs. Alpine won the first game 7-4 coming from behind in the sixth with four runs off five hits. Then the Cowboys took the nightcap 3-1 behind the 5 hit pitching of Tommy Shields.

Odessa's double loss dropped the Dodgers down to fourth place. A Carlsbad held onto third with a 2-0 decision over Abilene. Gary McCreary set the Pirates down with four hits.

Waco and Pasadena met this morning and a Fredport-Victoria tie afternoon.

Fort Worth kept by the first round Thursday by beating Sweetwater 6-1 while San Angelo upset it with a 3-2 triumph over Corsicana since last September.

Harms Leads Beaumont To 1-0 TAAF Victory

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP)—Beaumont beat Refugio 1-0 with John Harms not only pitching a 1-hitter but driving in the lone run of the game as the Connie Mack State TAAF baseball tournament opened Thursday.

It was the only game completed when the rain interrupted the tournament. San Antonio and Corpus Christi played two scoreless innings and resumed this morning.

Alice meets Corpus Christi and Houston clashes with Wichita Falls in other games. The tournament will run through Sunday.

The highest point of land in Florida is only 345 feet above sea level.

Castro Is Making Formidable Enemy

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Cuba's strong man—Prime Minister Fidel Castro, shows signs of making a formidable enemy in his own backyard — the Roman Catholic Church.

In at least two cases in recent years, the ouster of strong man governments in predominantly Catholic Latin America has been preceded by church dissatisfaction with the ruling regime.

The most notable instance was in Argentina in 1955 when Dictator Juan Peron was overthrown after a long bitter dispute with the church that resulted in his excommunication.

Again in 1958, Venezuelan strong man Marcos Perez Jimenez so antagonized the church that Venezuela and the Vatican were said to have been on the verge of a diplomatic break when Perez Jimenez was ousted.

The church in Cuba is worried over the "increasing advance of communism in our country" under the 42-year-old Castro regime.

The Cuban hierarchy expressed that concern last Sunday in a pastoral letter read in the country's churches.

The Argentine dictator labeled some priests "troublemakers" and arrested or detained 40 clergymen for showing "disrespect" for him.

The Roman Catholic Church occupies a complex position in Latin America.

Most of the nations south of the American border are heavily Catholic. Cuba is 84.3 per cent Catholic. Yet, even the church admits, many Latin Americans are Catholics in name only. It is regarded as a prime mission field.

There is also the element of anti-clericalism. Some Latin Americans find no contradiction in being devout Catholics and harbor deep suspicions of the clergy at the same time.

But, nominal Catholics, anti-clerics or not, the church still retains a powerful appeal to its Latin people, as Peron has found out — and possibly Castro will discover.

A week earlier, Cuban Catholics emerged from mass in Havana shouting "Cuba, Yes! Russia, No!" and tangled in street fights with pro-Castro crowds.

Castro has singled out some priests as "enemies of the revolution," a cry reminiscent of the early days of Peron's troubles with the church.

try's churches. The letter noted the "close commercial, cultural and diplomatic relations" that have been established with Communist countries.

"Catholicism and communism respond to two concepts of man and the world that are totally opposed to each other and can never be reconciled," the letter said.

On Tuesday the archbishop of Havana, the Most Rev. Evelio Diaz, threatened to close all of Cuba's Catholic churches unless the Castro regime guaranteed freedom of worship.

DESTRUCTION?

Maybe not! For since time began, all human progress has been marked by symbols... the golden calf, the dragon, an olive bough. The greatest was the XP symbol used by the Greeks to denote followers of Christ. Later the Christian Cross was used by Constantine when he said, "By this sign, thou shall conquer." Now, a new symbol appears over the world... a scientific object of the atomic age. It signals the awesome need for understanding and world cooperation if we are to avoid total destruction and reap atomic benefits. May Christians influence world leaders to accept it, and may it be dedicated to peace and good will. Let's keep our symbols, but remember the Cross. Then we can say with Constantine, "By this sign, we shall conquer."
