Helicopters Disrupt Iran Oil Operation

By The Associated Press
Several American helicopters flew over Iranian ships engaged in off-shore oil operations in the Persian Gulf but changed course after Iranian forces were alerted. Radio Tehran said today. The Pentagon called the report untrue and said no U.S. helicopters were operating near the area.

The report said Iranian Oil Minister Ali Akbar Moinefar traveled to the scene this morning to investigate the incident Monday night and that the Iranian army, air force and navy were guarding the oil wells.

Radio Tehran also said the commander of the Bandar Abbas Air Base in southeastern Iran reported an unspecified military intrusion Monday night, confirmed by the Iranian navy, but that no intruders were found. Bandar Abbas is located near the Strait of Hormuz, through which much of the world's oil passes for shipment overseas.

The bodies of the two Iranians murdered by the terrorists who held Iran's Embassy in London for six days were returned to Tehran today, and grieving relatives blamed Britain and the United States for the deaths.

Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh blamed Iraq and the militants holding the American hostages.

Ghotbzadeh spoke to the relatives at an airport ceremony beside the flower-bedecked coffins before they were taken to the Tehran University mosque for a funeral service. From there the coffin were to be paraded in front of the Iraqi and U.S.

Embassies.

Ghotbzadeh praised the two dead men - Abbas Lavasani and Ali Akbar Samadzadeh - and declared the "criminal Baathist regime" in Iraq killed them because they stood up for Iran in the six-day embassy siege.

"They took a stand against the enemy and lost their lives for Islam, God and their country," Ghotbzadeh said. He noted the government had said the embassy staff was ready to die rather than surrender to the terrorists' demands for the release of 91 Arabs imprisoned in southern Iran.

The gunmen murdered Lavasani and Samadzadeh on May 5 after the Iranian government refused to negotiate with them. British commandos then stormed the embassy, killed four of the terrorists, captured the fifth one and rescued 19 hostages. Iran accused Iraq of being responsible for the attack.

Chrysler Corp. Meets Today

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Chrysler Corp. gathered today for the good news and the bad news.

First the bad news. Chrysler is closing another assembly plant. The shutting down of the truck plant in Fenton, Mo., near St. Louis, is Chrysler's second such closing this year.

The good news, of course, is the final approval over the weekend by federal officials of the $1.5 billion in loan guarantees the company has been seeking since last summer.

The SDN Column

Has the time come for Texas to change its primary elections from Saturday to another day of the week, such as Tuesday?

Perhaps it has, judging from some comments reported over the state (including Snyder) as interested people try to figure out why the voter turn-out is so low.

Texas should be voting five or six million people in elections. But it never has happened.

Scurry County should be voting six or seven thousand, but fewer than 4,000 bothered to go to the polls on May 3, the date both major parties held their primary elections.

One of the "excuses" that apparently was widespread over the state was "it was Saturday and I didn't want to get dressed and go to the polls."

This would indicate that there might have been a better turnout if it had been held on Tuesday, which is primary election day in many states. In fact, one way to get more people to vote might be to schedule the elections on regular business days and then encourage all business and industrial concerns to give all personnel a half hour off to vote. Most people, we believe, would be happy to leave the office or the store for half an hour and go to the polls.

However, there are other signs of simple apathy. One local candidate reported that he got a lot of encouragement from an individual, who, it turned out later, was not even registered as a voter.

Also, there appears to be more confusion among some voters than ever before concerning the purpose of the primary elections. Some express dissatisfaction because they can't vote in the primary election of both major parties, apparently not being aware that the primary elections are only for nomination of candidates. There were reports of voters who were unhappy because they could not split their ballots by voting for some Democrats and some Republicans, not realizing that this is permitted only in the general election when the officials are actually elected.

Frankly, this should be appalling to people who are sincerely interested in their government.

Contracts On School Agenda

Snyder School Trustees are scheduled to take action on renewal of one-year contracts for professional personnel and a proposal to revise the school district's policy on professional growth activities at its meeting tonight.

The meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. in the board room of the school administration building.

Also on the agenda are proposed changes in travel allowances; a review of plans for remodeling the board room; replacement of some vehicles; and several requests for the use of school facilities during the summer.

Teacher contracts up for consideration tonight are those that are not on continuing contracts with the district. Several resignations also will be up for acceptance.

Report Libyan Purges

By The Associated Press
Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy's regime has arrested more than 2,000 persons and executed hundreds of them over the past few months in bloody purges, a Swiss newspaper said today.

The report by the Neue Zuercher Zeitung said various sources, unnamed, had provided identical information about the Khadafy crackdown. There have been previous reports of the anti-dissident campaign in Libya, but the account by the influential, liberal Zurich newspaper was one of the most detailed.

The turmoil in the oil-rich North African country apparently parallels the current purge of Libyan diplomatic staffs abroad. Embassies in nine world capitals were replaced Monday with "people's committees" and renamed "people's bureaus."

In another development, the Khadafy government expelled 25 Americans from Libya, claiming they were spies in contact with terrorist organizations. The United States expelled four Libyans last week, and the British government expelled four Libyans from the Libyan mission, or people's bureau, in London, reportedly for harassing anti-Khadafy Libyans in Britain.

Fresh Budget Complications

WASHINGTON (AP)—House and Senate negotiators opened a conference today on widely diverging plans to balance the 1981 budget, facing fresh complications caused by Senate votes to keep alive Saturday mail, state revenue sharing and grants to local police departments.

The Senate's refusal to ax those programs creates new conflicts between its defense-heavy, $613.1 billion balanced budget and the House package which favors killing all three.

Retail Gasoline Prices May Rise 10¢ Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retail gasoline prices may go up 10 cents a gallon Thursday unless a federal judge rules against President Carter's plan.

U.S. District Judge Aubrey E. Robinson Jr. was considering a suit that claimed the gas fee is unconstitutional. The losing side is expected to appeal his ruling, which he promised by the end of today.

Carter announced the fee as a gas conservation measure, saying the higher prices would force drivers to use less gas and thus help cut U.S. imports, which now are 7.3 million barrels of crude oil daily. The fee is due to take effect Thursday.

But a coalition of congressmen, consumer groups and petroleum marketers filed suit, contending that the fee is actually a tax and thus Carter is unconstitutionally usurping the power of the House of Representatives to initiate tax measures.

While the tax was challenged in the courts Monday, it was also under fire in Congress. A House Ways and Means subcommittee on trade arranged to vote today on legislation to block the tax. The bill is sponsored by some 50 congressmen and is expected to easily pass both the subcommittee and the full Ways and Means Committee.

"This is a program without a constituency," said Rep. James M. Shannon, D-Mass., the prime sponsor of the bill. "Republicans are against it, liberal Democrats are against it, consumer groups are against it, oil states are against it."

There is considerable sentiment in both chambers against the fee, although it appeared doubtful that a two-thirds vote could be mustered to override a likely veto of blocking legislation.

Lawyers for the group filing the suit also argued that the fee may not reduce oil imports and could be passed on to home heating oil and diesel fuel customers instead of just automobile drivers.

The Energy Department's general counsel, Lynn R. Coleman, told Robinson, "The argument that this fee is a tax is clearly incorrect. It's an import fee...to reduce consumption of gasoline and hence to reduce imports. The fact that there is revenue raised doesn't mean it's a tax."

Administration officials said the fee would raise $10 billion a year.

Preliminary Budget OK'd...

College Board Hikes Salaries

A $3.7 million preliminary budget for 1980-81, including a 14 percent salary increase for all college employees, was approved Monday night by the Western Texas College board of trustees.

The proposed budget represents a 17.3 percent increase over the current fiscal year. Board President Edwin Parks said the increase in the overall budget reflects four major items. The largest is the faculty and staff salary hikes. Other factors include the increased costs of assessing and collecting taxes, increased insurance premiums and the higher cost of energy.

WTC President Bob Clinton said the budget will require approximately $440,000 in additional local funds. He said it is too early to predict a tax rate because valuation data have not been completed. He did indicate, however, that tax values are expected to be higher in the county this year.

The board approved two salary schedules, one for professional employees and one for classified employees. Both schedules include the 14 percent pay hike. Clinton said faculty and staff salaries represent 51.02 percent of the college's total budget.

In other business, the board approved the employment of three new instructors. Robert Adams, Snyder public schools teacher and part-time instructor at the college, was hired as assistant professor of government and history.

Marilyn Lancaster, who also has been a part-time teacher at the college, was named assistant professor of developmental studies and English.

The board also ratified the employment of Larry Dunaway as men's basketball coach. Dunaway, who was hired last month to replace Nolan Richardson as coach of the National Champion Westerners, comes to WTC from San Marcos High School.

Bill Wilson Jr. and Billy McCormick were reappointed.

lesson from sweden

Sweden, which has long presented itself to the world as a model society, is currently providing an ominous example of what can happen to any developed society if it doesn't watch out.

The country is coming to an almost total economic standstill in a labor dispute. Employers are locking out workers, unions are responding with spreading strikes. Transit and industry are affected, schools closed and even medical service limited.

It signifies the breakdown of the system of rational compromising of interests that for decades made Sweden unique among Western industrial nations for its labor peace.

The difference between the wage demands of unions and the wage-plus-benefits package offered by the employers confederation appears minimal. The problem is principle - each side standing on its own and refusing to yield anything to gain something, with government mediators unable to effect a compromise.

There are various explanations - or supposed explanations - for the impasse. Many believe that a social-welfare system that has become the world's most developed has reached the point where the costs cannot be carried by an overburdened economy.

For others that is a symptom rather than the real cause, which they see as dwindling commitment to social advance as its major goals, having been achieved over the years, are increasingly taken for granted.

To some extent, there may be a measurement of this in the steady decline of voter support for the Social Democratic Party that engineered the restructuring of Swedish society during four uninterrupted decades in power. The Socialists gave way to an uneasy three-party centrist coalition in 1976, a tipping of the political balance that unionists are inclined to cite as a cause of present problems.

But, in truth, there was already accumulating evidence of a breaking of ranks among Swedes during the Socialists' last years. These also witnessed a strike, but by professionals protesting income-leveling and allegedly incentive-crushing tax policies.

That Sweden should be brought to this pass is not due to any loss of fortune but of will. It has not lost any of the resources - iron ore, cellulose from abundant forests and a remarkably skilled and innovative population - that were the basis of the Swedish miracle of the first part of this century, transforming a country of fewer than 8 million into an economic power.

What Sweden would appear to need most is a time of adjustment and a willingness on all sides to adjust to changing circumstances.

Sweden may no longer be setting an example, but it is providing a lesson for other economically and socially advanced countries: how everyone can lose when no one is willing to give some ground for the common good.

President Carter is trying to reduce the federal budget and is getting help from almost nobody. Slashing federal government spending inevitably pinches and politicians don't want voters pinched in an election year.

Besides, as Calvin Coolidge said, "Nothing is easier than spending public money. It does not appear to belong to anybody so the temptation is overwhelming to bestow it on somebody."

The cost of living goes up for a drunk when he starts to spill more than he drinks.

Our government's several spending programs have been doing a lot of "spilling."

When any government agency diverts any money from its prescribed purpose, you are being robbed!

One Senate Committee computes that your loss to such thievery has totaled more than $5 billion over the past 30 months.

President Carter and his advisers who want to reduce federal spending in an effort to curtail inflation could start with ferreting out and firing the crooks and the careless.

The Social Security Administration acknowledges having paid out 533 million of your dollars over the past six months to ineligible recipients. And that is a substantial increase from the $479 million thus misdirected the previous six months.

Include overpayments in a separate category of "Supplemental Security Income" and the mis-spent money totals $700 million! More than one-third of all the fraud this committee has been able to trace was traced to federal employees. A 29-year-old Social Security worker in Baltimore made out and mailed to herself and accomplices checks totaling $500,000.

The committee found 130,000 cases of fraud in 21 government agencies. The Department of Justice prosecutes only about one-third of the cases and most of those get off with a slap on the wrist.

Five Navy workers confessed stealing $5,000 worth of equipment from the Norfolk Navy Yard - and received only a verbal reprimand.

A large part of the problem relates to pell-mell hiring practices in government which render all departments vulnerable.

Let's face it - with our economy recently running in overdrive - and with government agencies hiring anybody to pad out their payrolls in anticipation of a personnel hiring freeze - we've all added a lot of employees who are less than adequately qualified. And when government hires sticky fingers, they pluck you.

donald f. graff

Perfidious Albion strikes again.

Or so Britain's major associates in the European Economic Community are inclined to view the pass to which the organization has now been brought.

The news out of a spate of recent meetings of the community's prime and foreign ministers has been dominated by Iran, Afghanistan, the Olympics and the search for solidarity in the strained alliance with the United States.

But those are short-term issues compared with a matter of surpassing importance that also has been under discussion. And that is the devising of an equitable formula for shared responsibilities and benefits that will permit the nine-member community not only to survive but to thrive.

What is immediately at issue is the size of the British contribution to the community pot. As London reckons it, this works out to a net $2.4 billion more paid in than the nation gets back in the form of benefits from community programs.

This is primarily because these programs overwhelmingly favor agricultural interests three-quarters, $14 billion out of a total $19.7 billion, of this year's proposed EEC budget is earmarked for farm price supports - that primarily benefit continental members, in particular France, whose politically potent farm population relies heavily on the subsidies.

Britain, one of the community's poorest members in terms of per-capita wealth, is its largest net contributor. And this, in the British view, is an unequal sharing of the community burden that must be righted.

The British make a strong case. But so do their continental partners, which historically have good reason for caution in their cross-Channel dealings. Through centuries of bolting alliances and manipulating other powers, Perfidious Albion - the epithet is attributed to Napoleon - acquired a reputation for fickleness and undependability.

Britain is an EEC late-comer. It joined in 1973 and only after a 15-year effort to stunt the growth of the community that developed from the old Common Market.

In the French view, the rules of the game were set when the British joined. They knew and accepted them, and in wanting now to change them are out of line.

The Continentals are willing to compromise, but not to the extent demanded by the British. In the stand-off, "anti-Europe" sentiment flourishes anew in Britain with much discussion of the consequences of withdrawal from the community.

It is not likely to come to that - although it is not inconceivable, considering a basic reality of contemporary Europe pointed up by the dispute.

European leadership today is a French-German affair, the once hereditary enemies having forged an alliance far more intimate and comprehensive than the one that once joined French and British against Germans. Britain is the odd one out in this situation, its own economy too shaky to attract the support from smaller EEC participants that might balance the Franco-German combine.

Part of the problem is an old European disease - nationalism. For all the great progress West Europeans have made since the war, they have a long way to go before they can work together without envy and suspicion for the common good. For all its undeniable economic achievement, the European Economic Community remains something of a disappointment.

The United States, preoccupied with lining up allied political support in its various confrontations around the world, has not been too cognizant of this aspect of the European situation.

It should be much more so. Long after Iran, Afghanistan and the Olympics are past history, the need for a firm association with a strong and cohesive Western European connection will remain.

Jogging and varicose veins

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - We've heard so much about the benefits of regular jogging and I jog one-and-a-quarter miles daily. Recently I've become worried about possible long-range harmful effects that may follow. I jog with my two sisters who are in their early 30s and I'm 24. We began our program several months ago.

Since then my sisters have noticed an alarming number of varicose veins on their legs. I've not had any but I feel a thumping occasionally in the one large one that I do have.

Since we are all of average weight for our height and build and wear the proper shoes and loose clothing, I wonder if there is more to this phenomenon than coincidence.

I'm also worried about the possible risk to tender breast tissue, especially those that are chronically cystic. For this reason, I've started walking the one-and-a-quarter miles instead of jogging. Any advice would be appreciated. Would we be better off walking?

DEAR READER - When you're walking or running the contracting leg muscles cause the veins in the legs to empty as long as you have normal veins in the first place. That decreases the pressure in the veins and actually protects against varicose veins rather than causing them.

Since both of your sisters are having problems, it reminds me that varicose veins do have an inherited tendency. That is, they're apt to affect numerous members of the family.

I do not know what you feel thumping in your legs, if that's what you mean, because veins do not pulsate with enough force for you to feel anything in them. Arteries, however, do. Perhaps you're feeling a normal artery in your leg rather than varicose veins.

Your sisters might want to wear some support hose while they're jogging. It will help them empty out the veins in case there's any problem in that department. Since there seems to be a familial tendency to the problem, you might want to wear them, too.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 5-8, Varicose Veins. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Now whether you should walk or jog depends on what your goal really is. If you want to exercise the heart so that it has a greater pumping capacity, then a higher level of exercise in a short time span does help. If you just want to burn calories to control your weight, then walking will do just about as well. You will use about the same number of calories walking a mile as you will jogging a mile.

Jogging or walking will not affect the cysts in your breast. But you should wear a brassiere to avoid stretching of tendons that provide normal support for breast tissue. This applies to standing, walking and particularly while jogging.

Dear Abby

Husband Not Dying To Travel

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Back in 1956, Reader's Digest ran a story that went something like this:

A man from the Midwest wrote: "My wife and I were waiting for our plane in the Seattle-Tacoma airport terminal when a friend from our hometown spotted us and came over to say hello. After visiting for a few minutes, she said she had to leave us to join the group of women with whom she was traveling. I asked her what kind of group it was, and she replied, 'They're a group of widows who book tours together. I waited three years for my husband to die so I could join them.'"

After reading the above article, my wife said, "That's not for me." I agreed. Result: Since 1956 my wife and I have seen Hawaii, England, Belgium, Germany, Italy, France, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Scotland, Ireland, India, Japan, Hong Kong and Taiwan.

At 73, we are glad we read that article and did something about it.

JOE CARROLL IN L.A.

DEAR JOE: Wonderful. But how much of the good old U.S.A. have you seen?

DEAR ABBY: Please print my letter for all of those brides-to-be who may not be aware of a problem that could ruin their wedding. For months my fiancé and I planned the most important day of our lives. Every detail was covered (we thought), but our wedding was ruined because nobody suggested that we use the church nursery for small children and infants. It would have cost us an extra $25 at the most to hire a "sitter" for these youngsters.

As it was, it cost us a lot of heartache and tears. As you can guess, one of those egotistical new mothers was present. No sooner had she planted herself and her 4-month-old son in the center of the third row when the baby started to cry. I was told later that she tried her best to quiet the child, but not until we had said our vows and turned to make our way down the aisle did this mother get up with the child and exit.

The tapes we had made of our wedding were ruined because of the baby's crying. I find it hard to look at that child today — much less his mother. To make matters worse, they are now a part of our family, and I will be reminded of this episode every time I see them.

Please print this, Abby. Maybe new mothers will think twice before bringing an unpredictable child to a wedding. And future brides will insist that infants be left in the nursery.

IT HAPPENED IN DALLAS

DEAR HAPPENED: I'll print your timely letter, but somewhere some new mother will be sure her baby will not cry. But, alas, he will.

DEAR ABBY: If you could give the young parents of today just one piece of advice, what would it be?

NEW MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Start early! Be consistent. A child must learn that no means NO! It doesn't mean maybe. And maybe doesn't mean yes.

Do you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say? Thank you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How To Write Letters for All Occasions." Send $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Letter Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Nothing succeeds like success. We wouldn't recommend North's five-spade bid. He had no reason to expect that five spades would make and every reason to believe that he could set five hearts. Still, as the cards lay, five hearts would make due to the favorable lie of the diamond king and good play brought the five-spade contract home.

South ruffed the heart lead and led a club to dummy's queen and East's ace. East led his trump and South was in.

South led a club to dummy's king and led dummy's king of diamonds. He knew that East needed the ace for his five-heart bid and wanted to keep West from gaining the lead.

It was going to be necessary for South to ruff two clubs in dummy (assuming of course that clubs would break 4-2). South was preparing early for a way to get back to his hand after ruffing out the clubs, without giving West a chance to ruff with the queen of trumps while South was getting back to his hand.

East took the ace of diamonds and played a heart. South ruffed, ruffed a club in dummy, came back to his hand with a diamond ruff, ruffed another club to set up his last club.

He finished by ruffing another diamond, putting the queen of trumps and claiming the contract. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Art Guild Has History Program

The Art Guild Study Club met May 6 at 6:30 p.m. at the Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. Paris McPherson as hostess and program leader.

Mrs. McPherson chose "A Frontier Trading Town-Snyder" as her subject. She told the group names and background of some men who helped to establish Snyder.

J. Wright Mooar was one of the first who helped to establish a trading post on the banks of Deep Creek in 1876. He later killed a white buffalo near the post. The buffalo hunting lasted 10 years after the killing of the white buffalo.

Snyder was first known as Hide Town and Robbers Roost.

John C. Webb, his wife and children were the first to build a house and live as a family on Deep Creek, she said. She continued by telling of Pete Snyder for whom Snyder was named, and the Nunn family, one of the first settlers who donated the land for the court house, the Methodist and Presbyterian churches.

Ethel Mae Sturdivant, vice president, presided at the business meeting. Mrs. McPherson served refreshments to 16 members.

Thousands Order DeathGuide

By MAUREEN JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP)—Flooding into a basement office
in London's Kensington district are thousands of letters from people who want to know how to kill themselves.

They want to pay $11.50
for a controversial do-it-yourself guide to death that has been compiled by Britain's 45-year-old Voluntary Euthanasia Society, which recently renamed itself "Exit, the right to die with dignity."

The booklet was written by a committee of doctors,
lawyers and social scientists, and publication is planned for June or July if the society's lawyers decide it is not illegal.

Exit will not give details in advance. But it says the guide lists four bloodless methods, including specific instructions on fatal

overdoses of pills available at drugstores without prescription.

The organization, which has long pressed unsuccessfully for liberalized euthanasia laws, has held up publication while its lawyers decide whether it could be prosecuted. Suicide has been legal in Britain since 1961, but—as in the United States—
"aiding and abetting" suicide is an offense, punishable here by up to 14
years in jail.

"We are deeply concerned with the plight of the dying, and determined to go ahead and publish," Exit's secretary, Nicholas
Reed, 32, said in an interview.

The suicide guide is intended primarily for the painfully and incurably ill and aged persons who are incapacitated.

Reed contended there is increasing public acceptance of the viewpoint that it is better to die than to linger on when incurable debilities "make each day and night a death in life."

He concedes that Exit's rule that the booklet will be sold only to members of three months' standing, is scant precaution against its being acquired by the healthy in despair, including the impulsive.

The British Medical Association, dismayed by Exit's plans, declared in a recent statement that the booklet was liable to wide abuse and "may discourage people suffering from acute depression from seeking help."

The Samaritans, an international suicide prevention organization, takes an equally dim view. Jean Burt, its joint general
secretary in Britain, said
most survivors of suicide attempts are glad to be still alive, but "Once people know how to do it, they probably will, and then there's no second chance."

"It's fear of bungling it
that stops many people,"
Ms. Burt added.

Exit argues that it is precisely because dying, like living, can be a risky and painful business that it compiled its booklet.

ASTRO-GRAPH
Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday
May 14, 1980

Valuable contacts can be made this coming year to enhance your social life and romantic pursuits.
There is no need, however, to spend beyond your means in order to enjoy their company.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Self-indulgence and extravagance
can be your two worst enemies
today. You'd be wise to moderate in everything you do. Romance, travel, luck,
resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months
are all discussed in your Astro-Graph Letter, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio
City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Those at home will show impatience if you try to place your needs above theirs. You'll have to give a little in order to get some compensation.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Indignities you think are directed at you may be a complete misunderstanding on your part,
stemming from a tendency toward being overly sensitive today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Keeping up with the Joneses may turn into a pretty expensive deal today. Stick to activities you can afford, with friends in your own economic strata.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Take things easy today. Don't push too hard on those you need to get your act under way. If you go over the line, they won't be forgiving.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your pride or foolish vanity could stand in the way of your seeing things realistically today. Deceiv-ing yourself can only be harmful to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It's possible you could be the unwitting pawn in another's chess game today. Steer clear of any persons you feel may be trying to use you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Question your goals or your approach to them if you find a lack of cooperation among associates. Perhaps an adjustment is called for.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Friction with coworkers can be avoided today if you don't take their moodiness too seriously.
Your work could suffer if you let things get to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Others could feel you are trying to rearrange their lives if you undertake to help them without being asked, even though your intentions are charitable.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
There is no place for unyielding or strong opinions in the household if harmony is to prevail today. Do your part keep the peace.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may not be realistic about something you want today. If you expect it to be handed to you,
chances are you won't get it.

Lighthouse Choir At Faith Baptist

The Lighthouse Choir will sing at Faith Baptist Church, 37th St. and Ave.
C Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.
says Buck Hatfield, pastor
there.

The Lighthouse For Boys, a ministry of the People's Baptist Church in Corpus Christi, was started in the summer of 1958

on a small house boat which was placed down
the Intracoastal Canal, 40 miles from Corpus Christi.

From the time of its beginning, hundreds of boys have come from life
of hope and crime, and many had already been sentenced to the penitentiary. But the judges have given them probation and sent them to the Light-house where II Corinthians 5:17 has become a reality in the lives of many of the boys. "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things
are passed away; behold,
all things are become new."

At almost any given time
the last several years of the Lighthouse ministry, if the prison terms were added together that each boy faced who was there at that time, it would amount to more than several hundred years. And yet some of the great preachers across our land today are products of the Lighthouse ministry who were saved by God's marvelous grace and called to preach the Word of God.

The Lighthouse Choir, known as "The Master's Miracle Men" will be a blessing and thrill your hearts as they sing and give testimonies of the Lord's redeeming grace in their lives," says Rev.
Hatfield.

Court Passes On Pill Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A man who sued his former lover for becoming pregnant after, he says, assuring him she was on birth control pills has lost
a bid to have his case

Rangers Zip Past Baltimore Orioles

BALTIMORE (AP)—Richie Zisk is not too happy about batting sixth in the line-up, but he thinks he's on to a solution. "I prefer to bat fourth or fifth," Zisk said after belting a two-run homer Monday night, helping the Rangers to a 5-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. "And, if I keep smacking the ball the way I have, there might be some changes made."

Zisk has batted .353 while hitting safely in eight of his last nine games and has driven in 19 runs this season in 85 at-bats.

"When you bat third, fourth or fifth, you generally see better pitches to hit because there are better hitters behind you," Zisk said. "I'm not putting a knock on my teammates, but when you bat sixth the pitcher can be a little more careful."

Zisk also said he'd prefer to play in the outfield rather than be the designated hitter, but again he went out of his way not to criticize his teammates or Manager Pat Corrales.

"I don't consider myself a fulltime DH," he said. "I feel more a part of the game when I play in the field."

Zisk, who first got to play regularly when DH Rusty Staub was injured, was in right field Monday night because Al Oliver had hit a foul ball off his foot in Sunday's game.

The Rangers made three double plays behind Matlack, 3-0, one started by Mickey Rivers after one of his fine running catches in center field.

Rivers also launched a four-run first inning outburst off Dave Ford, 1-2, with a single, moved to second on an infield out, and scored on a single by DH Oliver. It was Oliver's 23rd run batted in, tying him for the American League lead.

Potts Waves Off Maryland Offer

DALLAS (AP)—Southern Methodist University Athletic Director Russ Potts says he has turned down an offer to become athletic director at the University of Maryland, his alma mater.

Potts had earlier said he had no intention of pursuing the open post at Maryland, but said the school had expressed interest in hiring him.

"After much deliberation, I have decided to remain at SMU," Potts said Monday. "I feel a great sense of loyalty and commitment to SMU and the citizens of Dallas."

"I feel that we are very close to building Southwest Conference championship contenders in both football and basketball, and we are establishing strong contenders in other sports," said

Tigers Host Cubs, 4:30 As...

3-3A Playoff Begins Today

Brownfield sets but this week to do what no other school except Snyder has been able to accomplish in the past four years—win a District 3-3A baseball championship.

The 3-3A round-one champions are to vie with Snyder, the round-two title holder, here today at 4:30 in Towle Park's Moffett Field.

Game Two of the best-of-three playoff series will be held Thursday at 2 in Brownfield. A third contest, if necessary, will follow the second game.

Both Snyder and Brownfield go into this afternoon's game with equal 9-3 district records, each having beaten the other three times and lost three times. Both defeated 0-12 Lamesa each time out.

While there are other similarities between the two, overall records indicate a contrast. Brownfield boasts one of West Texas' better overall records at 20-4, while Snyder is 13-12-1 for the season.

But Brownfield can little afford to take the Tigers lightly, who were 4-9-0 before district play began. Snyder started off slowly, due to an inexperienced pitching staff and a tougher, 4A-dominated schedule.

Between each other, however, the two teams appear to be equal. For instance, Snyder has averaged four runs per game against the Cubs, while Brownfield has slightly outscored the Tigers at 4.67 per outing.

Hits per game fall in favor of Snyder, which has averaged 6.83 against the Cubs. Brownfield has averaged 4.67 in its six games with Snyder.

Starting lineups could not be confirmed but were expected to be, Brownfield: Tommy Williams, second base; Bill House, shortstop; Raymond Gibson, third base; Kelly Reid, first base; Mark Dobson, center field; Jimmy Martinez, pitcher; Stacy Terrell, catcher; Raul Gonzalez, designated hitter; and Lo-

second base; Shawn Ragland, right field; Barry Davis, designated hitter; Paul Gafford, shortstop; Bryan Vincent, left field; and Tony Degrate, pitcher. Coaches are Albert Lewis and assistant Jim Mavroulis.

White Not Far From A Bengal

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns say they have begun to iron out their problems with running back Charles White, their top choice in this year's National Football League draft.

"I talked with White's agent, Mike Trope, by telephone, and everything is going to be OK," Browns general manager Peter Hadzazy said.

White failed to show up for the Browns' rookie workouts Saturday and Sunday, and he refused to take a physical examination after arriving in Cleveland last Wednesday. He also declined to participate in certain drills during an earlier workout which he did attend.

Hadzazy said Monday he and Trope "talked for about two hours and it was just as we thought—a misunderstanding because of a lack of communication among White, Trope, and White's attorney, Mike Flanagan. It really was that simple."

Hadzazy said he is optimistic that a contract for White can be worked out within a week or two, despite reports from Trope and Flanagan that several Canadian pro teams have expressed an interest in the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California.

"We didn't discuss finances," Hadzazy said of his talk with Trope, "but we did talk about our philosophies, and I don't foresee a problem. I really don't."

Summer is just around the corner.
So here are some tips to get ready for it.

1. Have a qualified serviceman inspect your home's air conditioning unit. His help before summer arrives can save you money later on.

2. Trim grass and shrubs away from the outside compressor. Without obstructions, your unit can operate more efficiently and for less money.

3. Check your air conditioner's filter. It should be cleaned or replaced once a month.

4. Caulk and weatherstrip around doors and windows. The cool air will stay in, and the hot air will stay out.

5. Make sure your attic has adequate insulation. No sense letting the cool air you pay for escape through the roof.

Get Cooling System Checked, Also Tune Up...

See Central Tire Now To Insure Carefree Summer Driving Later

Carefree summer driving has to be planned - from a general tune-up, to checking out your air conditioning. Central Tire is the place to go.

Warm weather will quickly turn into long, hot summer days - you will be using your air conditioner more and more. Be prepared - take your car in today to have the cooling system prepared.

While you have your car there for its summer check-up why not have the tires balanced and the front-end aligned? Central Tire has up-to-date equipment to put your car in excellent running condition.

If your car is sluggish after the long hard winter months a tune-up may be in order.

Being without a car even for just a little while is certainly an inconvenience with our busy schedules, but a summer check-up is well worth it to prevent a problem during a time you can't afford it - your summer vacation! So take the time

GET YOUR CAR READY—Dennis Lowe and Jimmy Nix will help you get your car ready for the hot summer weather with a tune-up and checking your air conditioner and cooling system. (SDN Staff Photo)

now - to save time and headaches later. Of course, Central Tire is the tire headquarters for Snyder. They carry Michelin - the leader with radial tires with 31 years experience. For all around car care see Central Tire at 1510 25th Street, the sooner, the better.

McDonald Welding Supply Has Perfect Machine For Farm Use

Besides being the supplier for the professional welders in the area, McDonald Welding Supply, located at 1110 College Ave., can also outfit the farmer or rancher.

The Miller Bluestar 200 amp D.C. welder with an A.C. power plant is the perfect machine for the farmer or rancher that needs a good, dependable welding machine but can't spend a great deal for it. These Miller machines can burn low hydrogen electrodes that are essential for welding very heavy metal such as tractor tool bars, etc. They will fit into the back of a pickup easily or even into the trunk of a car.

All Miller portable machines are equipped with built-in power plants that enable the user to run any type of A.C. tool or appliance. Owner Gayle McDonald pointed out that this feature would be very valuable if a tool such as a drill, grinder or saw is needed where no electricity is available. He also noted that the power plant on the welder will run an electric air compressor. Many homeowners these days are installing backup power plants and McDonald made the point that for no more money than one would spend for a light plant, he can have a Miller welding machine with a generator built in. In addition to Miller and Lincoln equipment, the firm makes available the Milwaukee line of heavy duty electric tools and grinders. Also Williams hammer wrenches and heavy tools, Victor and Uniweld welding and cutting equipment, and Wilton vises are available. Safety equipment of all types is stocked including goggles, first aid kit refills, arm guards, hard hats, liners and fire extinguishers.

In addition, they stock chain, cable, tubing, and a complete line of steel. Chain hoists and blocks as well as all types of pulleys may be added to the list along with medical oxygen and all types of gases. The list of supplies goes on and on, so stop by and see Gayle or Jack and let them help you with your welding and equipment needs.

American track stars did poorly in the 1928 Olympics at Amsterdam; it was attributed to over-eating.
