Senate Rejects Sales Tax Amendment

Willingness To Compromise Shown By Court Bill's Foes

Gradual Change In Justices Is Proposed

Senator Burke, Leader Of Opposition, Is Favorable To Hatch Suggestion

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3. — The embattled senate opposition to the Roosevelt court reorganization bill displayed a willingness to compromise today for the first time since the great controversy began. Senator Burke (D-Neb), a leader of that group, said there would be a "good chance" for an agreement if the administration would approve a gradual, rather than a sudden, increase in the membership of the supreme court.

Had Never Shown Weakness

Never before had Burke, or any of his colleagues, shown a disposition to approve the appointment of new members to the court, regardless of the circumstances under which the appointments would be made.

His statement was made informally at the conclusion of today's session of the senate judiciary committee, at which Senator Hatch (D-NM) advanced two amendments to provide for a yearly "infusion of new blood into the court."

Hatch Offers Proposal

He proposed that the president be empowered to appoint six new justices at the rate of one each year, in addition to filling normal vacancies, with an added provision for a gradual return to the court's present membership of nine.

By contrast, the president's bill calls for the all but immediate appointment of six new members, unless presiding justices who have passed seventy years of age retire voluntarily.

Comment Is Declined

How far the compromise proposal would go was not clear. Mr. Roosevelt has opposed all compromises, to date. In his absence from the city administration leaders declined to comment.

After today's committee meeting, Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz), who usually acts as the committee's spokesman in describing developments to newspapermen, turned that function over to Hatch. Burke waited listening.

Had Gratifying Response

"I had a very gratifying response from the committee,' said Hatch, after detailing his amendments.

"Was there any agreement?"

"I asked for no agreement from anyone."

Burke intervened.

"Senator Hatch presented his amendments in a clear and convincing manner that showed they have real merit," he said.

There followed a discussion of procedure which brought out a possibility that the committee may vote

Youth Shoots Self After Whipping

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 3. (AP) — Wilson Oliver, 12, shot himself to death here today, acting Coroner Evert Crismore said, three hours after a whipping for school truancy.

A note, found beside the body, said:

"Risom I shoot my self on account of Old Man Oliver good-by and good luck."

The father, Olen Oscar Oliver, WPA laborer, arrived at his one-room home, he told police, just in time to the report of the shotgun as the charge entered the boy's head.

He said he whipped the boy last Friday for truancy and Wilbur Wilcox, teacher, reported whipping him again today after the father had found him and brought him to school.

Oliver called last Friday's whipping "not a hard one, but one he could feel."

Banner Catch Of Tarpon Is Reported By FDR's Party Near Corpus Christi

(By The Associated Press)

GALVESTON, May 3. — President Roosevelt's fishing party in the Gulf of Mexico reported late tonight a banner catch of 14 tarpon.

A message from the president to White House headquarters here at 9:30 central time, said:

"Returned after dark this evening, Monday. Total catch fourteen tarpon, everyone in party contributing. Splendid day's sport. Plans for tomorrow depend upon condition of sea. Everyone in fine spirits."

The dispatch did not say how many each in the party of five had caught, although word from Corpus Christi, where the party cruised about all day, said the president had landed a six-footer.

President Plays With Big Fish Twenty Minutes

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 3. (AP) — President Roosevelt landed a tarpon at Port Aransas at 6:20 o'clock today, his first in coastal waters here.

He hooked the silver king at 6 o'clock, played him 20 minutes, and brought him to gaff. The tarpon weighed 90 pounds. The president was trolling along the south jetty.

Earlier in the day—about 5 o'clock—the president got a strike and brought the tarpon to the boat but Barney Farley, veteran fishing guide, missed the gaff.

Commission Disapproves Action Of Rangers In Seizing Newspapers

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, May 3.—The Texas Public Safety commission today disapproved the action of Rangers who seized 2,500 copies of a newspaper criticizing Governor James V. Allred.

George W. Cottingham, editor of the Chronicle and member of the commission, released its statement in Houston. Signed by the commission chairman, Albert Sidney Johnson of Dallas, the statement read:

"Neither the public safety commission nor its director authorized any of its employes to seize 'Pensions and Politics' and they do not approve such action.

"Col. H. H. Carmichael, the director, has issued orders that there be no repetition."

The copies of the paper were seized in Wichita Falls last Tuesday by Ranger Capt. J. W. McCormick and Ranger Bill Lay. There were several articles criticizing the governor.

Lamb Believed 'Cleared Out'

TAHOKA, May 3. (Special)—Officers here late tonight expressed the opinion that Alfred (Sonny) Lamb, escaped convict who Sunday afternoon robbed a farm house about 20 miles south of here, had "cleared out" of this section.

Last seen in the Howard or Dawson county territory when chased late Sunday night, the fugitive's trail dimmed although officers throughout the state were on the lookout for him.

Last Near Big Spring

A net designed to ensnare Lamb, which had been drawn by West Texas authorities shortly after the robbery Sunday afternoon, failed to capture him. He was chased south and east until late Sunday night when her was lost "somewhere near" Big Spring.

Radio stations in Lubbock and Big Spring broadcast descriptions of the hunted man Sunday afternoon.

He is under 99-year sentence from Guthrie, King county, on a robbery charge and escaped from Fort Worth jail April 24. Since that time he has led officers of the state a

Frank Wallace Takes Fight To California

LOS ANGELES, May 3. (AP)—The lone and futile fight of Frank Wallace to prove he is the husband of Mae West, film actress of the Floradora figure, was brought to Los Angeles today.

Wallace filed suit in superior court, asking the tribunal to hear his case, then establish the validity of their marriage and define their respective rights.

He set forth that he and Miss West were married in Milwaukee, Wis., April 11, 1911, and that they lived together until March 14, 1914."

On that date, Wallace said, Miss West "without cause" left him and has since denied the marriage "and still refuses to join in a declaration of said marriage."

Labor Disputes Erupt Anew In U. S. Monday

Threats Of Trouble Crop Up In Steel Industry; Strike In Hollywood Spreads

(By The Associated Press)

A NEW eruption of labor disputes prompted hundreds of workers to leave their jobs Monday.

Bakers, dairy and refinery employes, longshoremen, porcelain and furniture makers and truck drivers walked out, while threats of trouble cropped out in the steel industry and a strike spread in the movie capital.

Bakeries Are Closed

Fourteen of the largest bakeries in Kansas City, Mo., were closed by a walkout. It was estimated approximately 1,500 were idle and 90 per cent of the metropolitan break supply was cut off.

Employes of dairies furnishing 90 per cent of the milk to Cumberland, Md., went on strike. Strikers accompanied trucks to hospitals. Physicians notes were necessary to procure milk for children.

Report 6,000 Are Out

The strike of chaftsmen and laborers broadened to embrace 11 unions of the Federated Motion Picture Crafts in Hollywood but the business of making movies continued. Headquarters of the organization said 6,000 were out. The number of pickets increased but film stars passed through their lines.

Up in San Francisco a spokesman for 3,500 employes whose strike virtually paralyzed service in 16 leading hotels predicted an early settlement.

The steel workers union in Pittsburgh notified the big Republic Steel corporation it would "disavow responsibility" for keeping union members at work in the

Byrnes Calls For Economy

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Senator Byrnes (D-SC), leader of the senate economy movement, called tonight for a sharp curtailment of government spending to conserve the nation's credit against any future depression.

Speaking over the National Radio Forum of the Washington Star, Byrnes appealed for public support of his proposal to cut all 1938 appropriations 10 per cent.

Emergency Has Passed

Business conditions are "as good as we could reasonable expect to maintain over any period of years," he declared, adding that "the emergency has passed and it is time for us to put our house in order."

Byrnes discounted reports that senate leaders have broken with the president over economy methods.

"We have the same objective and can settle any differences as to methods," he said. "The important thing is that the president and the congress are evidencing an interest in economy. Now if the people will give their support to the cause we should make some genuine progress toward putting our house in order."

Mrs. Simpson Turns French Chateau Into Fairy Castle To Welcome Man Who Gave Up His Throne For Her Love

Duke Speeds By Train To The Arms Of "The Woman I Love" In France

(By The Associated Press)

SALZBURG, Austria, May 3.—The Duke of Windsor, all smiles and happier than at anytime since he gave up the throne of the British empire, sped tonight aboard an express train to the arms of "the woman I love."

A few hundred miles away, in the Chateau de Cande at Monts, France, awaited Wallace Warfield Simpson happy, too, for a British divorce court had removed the last legal barrier to their marriage.

Another Chapter In Making

Each hour brought him closer to the dark-eyed American-born woman. Tomorrow another chapter will be written in the world-stirring romance, for the Duke will see her for the first time since he stepped down from the thorne last December 10.

The Duke ended 22 long weeks of exile in Austria, restless and impatient to go to her side.

They talked by telephone within a few minutes after the British tribunal said she was free.

She told him to "hurry up!" he did.

Loaded down with edleweiss, suitcases and smiles, he boarded his private car on the Arlburg express at 4:45 p. m., (10:45 a. m., eastern standard time.) In his arms he carried two packages for Mrs. Simpson, one crammed with Edelweiss, the mountain flower; in the other, a dirndl, the Austrian name for the colorful costume worn by the peasant women.

Seventeen suitcases were scattered about the Duke's car.

Twenty-two weeks ago he came here in voluntary exile, haggard and worried. The change in his mien, once he reached Salzburg today, was immediately apparent.

Leaving an automobile, he fairly sprinted along the sunny station platform, radiating happiness. He wore no hat and he had, perhaps, the best coat of tan that Austria has produced this season.

Before leaving Appesbach, he cheerfully posed for photographers smiling broadly and joking with newspapermen.

(By The Associated Press)

MONTS, France, May 3.—Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson, now free to marry the Duke of Windsor, tonight turned the Chateau de Cande into a fairy castle to welcome the man who gave up his throne for her love.

Truckloads of flowers were sent from Tours and arranged under her direction in the chateau's scores of rooms as the Duke sped by train from Austria for the reunion.

BIRTH CERTIFICATE FURNISHED

WINCHESTER, Va., May 3. (AP)—Dr. Lewis M. Allen, it was learned today, has forwarded to Mrs. Wallace Warfield Simpson in France an affidavit that he attended her mother when Wallis was born June 19, 1896.

Dr. Allen sent the affidavit in response to an emergency request for Mrs. Simpson's birth certificate, required by French authorities for legal purposes.

At the time of Wallis' birth at Monterey, Pa., Dr. Allen was a young practising physician in Baltimore. He went to the Blue Ridge mountain resort at the request of the Warfield family physician, who had been called away on another mission.

The dark-eyed American-born woman was strolling quietly through the chateau's gardens when she received the word her divorce from Ernest Aldrich Simpson had been made absolute in London.

But the decision of the Duke to speed to her side for their first meeting since before he stepped down from the British throne galvanized the chateau into action.

Mrs. Simpson's spokesman, Herman L. Rogers, indicated that the former king might arrive at the chateau between 1 p. m., and 3 p. m., tomorrow.

Elaborate Preparations Made

The chateau's myriad lights gleamed forth in the darkness tonight as elaborate preparations were hurried for his arrival.

Armed gendarmes under the personal supervision of the chief of police of Tours guarded the grounds at posts within the railings. Inside the castle were half a dozen British and French detectives to protect the small house party awaiting the former monarch.

The village telephonist, refusing to put through calls to the castle, said outgoing long-distance lines were occupied an hour and one-half with calls from it.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch, "Gone With The Wind" And "You Can't Take It With You" Win Pulitzer Awards For Excellency

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 3.—The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the novel "Gone With The Wind," and the play "You Can't Take It With You" received Pulitzer awards for excellence in American journalism and letters tonight.

The committee, announcing the awards at its annual banquet tonight, said the "disinterested and meritorious public service" for which the Post Dispatch was honored was the exposure of wholesale registration frauds in St. Louis.

Brooks' Historical Work Wins

The prize for the best American historical work went to Van Wycks Brooks, for his "Flowering of New England."

The biography prize was given to Allan Nevins, for his "Hamilton Fish, the Inner History of the Grant Administration."

"Gone With The Wind," is Margaret Mitchell's Civil war novel which has set a record as a best seller and soon will be made into a moving picture.

"You Can't Take It With You," is a comedy of American life written by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, and now is playing to capacity houses on Broadway.

Frost Wins In Poetry

The poetry award was given to Robert Frost for his "A Further Range."

Burlesque Theaters Dark Again Monday

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Embattled burlesque producers assembled a cast of legal talent today for a supreme court engagement next week in their efforts to open New York's temples of the strip-tease—dark for the first time in Broadway's history.

A prologue played today before Supreme Court Justice Samuel I. Rosenman assured next week's feature performance when a supreme court jury will be asked to determine whether License Commissioner Paul Moss acted with proper discretion in refusing to renew the licenses of New York's burlesque theaters.

The court refused to order Moss to issue licenses immediately for the 1937-38 season, as requested by counsel for three burlesque theaters. Meanwhile, until the jury can be assembled, burlesque marquees must remain dark, box offices closed and performers under wraps.

Another Ballot Likely Today On Proposal

Resolution Fails Of Passage By 3 Votes; House Approves Utilities Commission

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 3. — A resolution submitting a constitutional amendment providing for support of old age assistance by a sales tax today failed of adoption in the senate by three votes but sponsors were hopeful of success in another test possibly tomorrow.

After weeks of consideration during which many forms of an amendment to determine the sentiment of the people were discussed, the senate finally took a vote on one embodying two propositions. The vote was 18 ayes to 11 noes, with 21 necessary for passage.

Would Authorize Pensions

The first proposition would authorize pensions not to exceed $15 to everyone over the age of 65, and to needy blind, persons unfit for employment due do disease, dependent children, crippled children and mothers.

The second proposition would allow pensions in equal and uniform payments not to exceed $15 to the needy over 65 and, as in the first proposal, assistance to needy blind, mothers, dependent and crippled children and disease-incapacitated persons.

Not To Exceed 2 Per Cent

Under both propositions, the cost would be defrayed by a tax on retail sales not to exceed two per cent and, as at present, by such assistance as might be forthcoming from the federal government.

As a last minute move, the second proposition was amended to include a provision giving the state a lien on property of a pensioner over the value of $5,000 payable after death.

The house passed to final reading a bill creating a commission to regulate public utilities.

Advocates were unable to suspend the rules, however, and place the proposal on final passage. Due to the lateness in the session and the fact a somewhat similar proposal had been killed by senate committee, it was accorded little chance of being enacted.

Tax Bill Defeated

The house voted, 64 to 61, to kill a bill empowering the state tax board to equalize property valuations in the various counties. It passed to the senate a bill licensing architects.

The end of the day found the two houses deadlocked on a proposed constitutional amendment validating unemployment insurance legislation under certain conditions. The house reconsidered the vote by

He suggested a rigid physical examination and urged that the state require high school students to study a course in safe driving.

Protracted Rains Plague Corn Belt In Strange Contrast To Drouth Of '36

By PAUL D. SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Farm Editor

CHICAGO, May 3.—Protracted rains plagued Corn Belt farmers today in strange contrast to last year when they saw crops wither for want of moisture under the blistering sun.

Already from 10 days to three weeks behind with spring plowing and planting because of abnormally wet weather, farmers hoped for sunshine and hot weather to dry up quagmire-like fields, just as they hoped in vain for rain last summer.

The weather bureau's forecast for tomorrow—showers throughout the area—added to the growing alarm of corn raisers, many of whom expressed the opinion that two weeks of dry weather would be necessary before they could attempt to work bottom lands.

Federal Forecaster C. A. Donnel said he could not predict what may be coming after tomorrow.

Central and east central Iowa farmers reported today that only about 10 per cent of the spring plowing for corn had been finished, but C. R. Reed, state reporter, said a "good deal" of plowing and corn planting has been done in the southern part of the state.

Agronomists at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, said that even if the rains were to stop now, Illinois farmers generally would be two weeks late in the getting their corn planted.

Such a situation, they said, is usually followed by a reduction in yield, the chief hazard com-

A NATIVE SON

ANOTHER native son, Dr. Roy E. Hunt, returns to the plains to practice surgery, after three successful years as resident physician in the Jefferson-Davis hospital in Houston. Doctor Hunt will be associated with Dr. Thomas B. Duke in Littlefield. He reported Monday after spending the week-end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hunt.

Born and reared here, Roy, as he will be known to hundreds of his former classmates, was graduated from Lubbock High school and received his pre-medical training at Texas Tech college before going to Galveston to study at the University of Texas medical school. The chief-of-staff of the Houston hospital, visiting in Littlefield recently, commented to a number of residents on the fine qualifications of Dr. Hunt as a capable surgeon.

MORE ON BIRDS

ALTHOUGH she said it was not for publication, a local woman's penned note on birds is so interesting we're going to publish a few sentences, trusting she won't take offense.

She wrote, in part: "One of my by gone sures for a headache used to be an early morning race through dew-soaked grass to follow red-winged black birds, orioles, Maryland yellow throats, nuthatches, brown-creeper and others—some seventy in a season.

"Since coming to West Texas (she had lived in an eastern state) my interest in birds has about died, because the list is confined to English sparrows, meadow larks and field sparrows, with a few mockers, Dick-cissels, robin red breasts and one glorious golden flicker and a few warblers appearing occasionally.

"I'm homesick for the sight and song of a cardinal. They love cedar trees.

"Hope the bird sanctuary materializes."

DIVORCED AT LAST

WE WONDER if Mrs. Simpson's final divorce decree brought as great relief to her as it must have to thousands of persons who are sick of reading about it.

Of the galleys that we have read about the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Simpson, one sentence remains: "England has tried hard to forget Edward. The coronation preparations have helped some, but something always happens to freshen memories of the former Prince of Wales."

As the late Will Rogers proposed as a toast in England one time, "The Prince of Wales, he's a whale of a prince." And that's what he will remain to many of this generation.

New Deal Rural High School's Campus Is Being Beautified

When a few years have passed, New Deal Rural High school's campus may be one of the beauty spots of the section.

Forty boys Saturday began listing 10 of the 20 acres of the school campus for planting cotton. They will donate labor and seed and the Future Farmers of America chapter will get the money, Philom Cox was elected farm superintendent.

Trees Are Planted

A month ago, 738 Chinese elm, bois d'arc and honey locust trees were planted and Bermuda grass placed. There had been planted 170 trees last year.

A large well and an electric pump will supply many rods of underground pipe with water and insure rapid growth of the trees.

An experiment believed to be confined exclusively to that school district has been determined. Thirty blocks 12 yards square will be irrigated and planted to cotton and grain sorghums, in an effort to determine what varieties grow best.

"Dry land farming we know already," said Lawrence Shipman, vocational agriculture teacher in charge of the various projects, "but we have not experimented much with irrigated farming. It is to that purpose we're making the newest plans."

Crops Are Killed

Shipman, Tech graduate said winter crops except for wheat and rye and barley had been killed in a similar experiment there. Winter grazing tests formed basis for that experiment.

Moreover, Shipman, for purposes of type judging, has ordered 10 baby chicks of all breeds obtainable in this section and will raise them on the school grounds.

"All we need now, it looks like, is a postoffice out there," he said, laughingly.

Tech Men Are 'Okay' When It Comes To Politeness, Results Of Test Reveal

Texas Tech men are "okay" if a "politeness test" proves anything about the social standards of that group. Emily Post standards may need revising in some cases but, generally, the eds passed their tests with "flying colors."

In a particular test that has been finished on the campus of Tech, in which coeds dropped articles for men students to pick up, coeds were puzzled about how they should get around to letting the boy lead the way to theater seats. Most of the girls blamed themselves for "leading" the way down the aisle.

Give Them Credit

Dropping pencils, books, and letting papers blow with the wind, the experiment showed that the men students who attend Tech are more gallant than they are given credit. Asked on a sheet of 15 questions to notice how graceful men students were in picking up articles, most of the coeds reported "they are a gawky lot".

The gallant Sir Walter Raleighs as a rule "go out of their way" to open doors for women students and teachers. Heavy doors on the administration building are courteously opened with pleasure, the coeds assumed. If the Tech boys is with another girl, he lets all women who might be coming along go through the door passage first. Sometimes the doors are graciously opened; at times they cause struggles.

The college man of good standing should call the girl sometime during the day if he has a date with her that night, especially if he has arranged for the date several days in advance, almost all of the Tech women students said.

When asked how many times they had been "stood-up" this year, the questioned girls were frank to admit that they had been stood up. One girl admitted she had her engagements broken four times this year. Generally speaking, Tech coeds are opposed to the art of "standing-up" where either the boy or girl is concerned.

The boy who talks about other girls while on a date will not remain popular very long because "I resent that", one coed said. Although it is not necessary, coeds appreciate male students asking them permission to smoke. It is "immaterial" to the girls who smoke if they get the second light or the first light from the match. They do, however, refuse the third because of superstitious reasons.

Must Be In On Time

Most boys are interested in getting girls "in on time" at Doak hall. Some "try to persuade me to dance another dance before going in", a freshman from Fort Worth said. At Doak hall one late means a "major offense" and three "majors mean three nights in a dorm room".

Modern college girls do not expect too many courtesies from the opposite sex and in the hurrying to classes, girls do not mind if they accidently get the outside of the sidewalk.

Dancing creates problems as to campus etiquette. Girls like to be thanked for dances and are embarrassed when the boy they are dancing with "gets furious when they are tagged".

Tech coeds vote down swearing when they are with boys.

"WHY DO I FEEL LIKE THIS?"

So much trouble is caused by chronic constipation! Headaches, upset digestion, nervousness, lack of pep are frequently caused by poisonous wastes that accumulate in the bowels. Too often people merely use some temporary relief. See for yourself if it doesn't make a world of difference in the way you feel after using a purely vegetable laxative. Give a thorough trial to Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets). Note how gentle they are — and non-habit forming. Get a 25c box, containing 25 tablets, at any drugstore.

SO EASY TO SERVE COFFEE MEN LOVE—WITH FOLGER'S!

Even though you are mighty good at making coffee now . . . You can bank on it, you'll hear new praise from your husband the first time you serve him Folger's!

The reason is Folger's gives you better coffee to start with! It has something that ordinary coffees haven't got. That's mountain flavor . . . a keen, racy tang especially satisfying to men! You may have tried 10 or 20 different brands, yet never tasted this rich full-bodied mountain flavor before. For most of the world's coffee, used in ordinary brands, is grown in the lowlands.

Mountain coffee is rare. Coffees used by Folger come from tiny plantations high in the mountains of Central America. Up there, coffee acquires an extra-rich flavor that makes Folger's more thrifty —it goes further! Home-makers say they use ¼ less of Folger's—and get coffee that's more full-bodied, more flavorful.

Try Folger's—and see if your husband doesn't hail your discovery! Folger's is served in the luxurious diners of 15 great railways, on deluxe passenger planes . . . and in exclusive restaurants and hotels.

Clouting Detroits Stay On Top, Sweep White Sox Series; Bees Sting Giants

Hank Greenberg Blasts Homer With Sacks Full

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, May 3.—Detroit hammered a procession of Chicago pitchers hard and often today to defeat the White Sox 12 to 9 and make a clean sweep of the three game series. Big Hank Greenberg, Tiger first baseman who was kept out of most of last year's games by a damaged wrist, lifted one of Sugar Cain's offerings high over the left field wall with the bases filled in the third inning.

U. S. Davis Cuppers Prepare For Battle With Australians

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Safely past the first hurdle, America's Davis Cup tennis players will gather here within a week for intensive practice for the North American zone finals with Australia's powerful netmen at Forest Hills May 29-30-31.

Joining Don Budge, Gene Mako and Frankie Parker, who carried the United States to a surprising 5-0 sweep over the Japanese at San Francisco, will be Bryan M. Grant, tiny Atlanta star, Joseph R. Hunt of Los Angeles and possibly one or two others. Hunt was an alternate on the team for the Japanese matches but saw no service.

Walter L. Pate, chairman of the Davis Cup committee, said today the players had been instructed to report not later than next Monday.

Should the United States reverse last year's result and eliminate the Australians, the team will sail from New York Saturday, June 5, for the interzone finals and, possibly, the Davis Cup challenge round at Wimbledon.

Apparently Okay

Hogan Finds It A Rough Trail

BY PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Putting two and two together:

Saddest Story . . . You can't escape the bitterest and truest axiom of sport. They never do come back. An old tar may return and skyrocket to glory but it's always just a flash. Babe Ruth, Bobby Jones, Jack Dempsey, Jim Jeffries and most of the brightest stars of yesterday tried and learned it couldn't be done.

Latest to find out the bitter truth is Shanty Hogan, the ponderous catcher who hit the comeback trail with Washington only to fail. Nobody loves a fat man, and Shanty probably doesn't love many people, himself, as he goes back for another spell in the minors.

Rogers Hornsby, pilot of the St. Louis Browns, has made a great start on the comeback road but it is doubtful whether he can stand up.

Tony Seeks Money

The old axiom says "no" and that will be the ultimate answer.

Gold Mine . . . The richest gold mine opened in baseball in many a year is the Jersey City club of the International league, a new farm of the New York Giants. Although the Jersey City fans have been warned by Manager Travis Jackson and the experts not to expect a pennant, they are so baseball hungry they threaten to shatter all minor league attendance records.

For their home opener, Jersey City drew 31,234 paid spectators, or only 1,153 fans less than the big season's inaugural at Ebbets Field between the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers.

Property Poor . . . The inside of Tony Canzoneri's comeback is money. Tony's made over a million dollars but his father invested most of it so tightly in real estate that Tony can't get any spending money unless he fights. Tony has a $75,000 trust fund but it won't start paying him off for several years.

Joe McCarty Does Two Days In Bed Sentence In 2 Hours

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 3. (AP)—Yankee Manager Joe McCarthy came home today to let his physicians treat him for a severe cold, but disregarded the doctor's orders and entrained for Detroit to be with the club when it opens a first-place battle with the Tigers tomorrow.

"Me? Say, I'm all right," he laughed. "I'll be back in harness tomorrow. Feel much better. I'll feel a whole lot better when that gang of mine starts hitting."

Dr. F. M. Boyle ordered him to bed for two days, but McCarthy stayed only five hours.

INDIANS SIGN HANSEN

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 3. (AP)—Roy (Eupe) Hansen, husky southpaw veteran, was signed today by the Oklahoma City Indians.

Hansen, who was kept out of service last season with a sore arm, started this season with Galveston but was released last week.

He won ten games and lost ten for Philadelphia of the National League in 1932. He was previously with the Chicago Cubs.

Today's Trials Due To Show Derby Entries

BL ORLO ROBERTSON

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Many 3. (AP)—Lines for Saturday's renewal of the classic Kentucky Derby were drawn more definitely today when the arrival of four eastern hopefuls swelled the prospective starting field to nearly a score of the country's ranking three year olds.

Jerome H. Louchheim's Pompoon, erstwhile favorite, Marshall Field's Sir Damion, Merry Maker, owned jointly by Willie Shea and Miss E. G. (Happy) Rand, and Walter A. Carter's Clodion arrived.

Melodist, Wood Memorial winner at Jaimaca, another of the stretch running Derby candidates trained by "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, is due tomorrow morning. All that are expected to answer the call to boots and saddles before some 75,000 fans Saturday afternoon when will be on hand. Many of the jockeys already are on the scene.

The Derby "trial" tomorrow will do much to determine the exact field. For the first time in many years, the mile test has attracted several of the leading candidates, headed by Reaping Reward and Military, stars of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way string. Military ran second to William duPont jr's Fairy Hill in the Santa Anita Derby but Reaping Reward has not started since winning the Jockey Club stakes at the Downs last year after whipping Pompoon in the New England futurity.

Mary's No Sir To Run

The "trial" also will furnish the final public test for No Sir, owned and trained by 23-year old Mary Hirsch; Fairy Hill and Warren Wright's disappointing pair of Galsun and Gosum; J. W. Parrish's Dellor, Mrs. W. H. First's Gerald and I. J. Collin's Benard F.

Sande's horses have moved up several notches in the pre-race figures since Fencing, considered by the Earl as his number 2 candidate, beat E. R. Bradley's Billionaire and Brooklyn in the Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland. Brooklyn since has been withdrawn from the Derby leaving Billionaire as Bradley's lone hope for his fifty victory in the rich stake.

Sudan Opens Season And New Park But Loses Ball Game

SUDAN, May 3. (Special)—The baseball season was opened and Sudan's new ball park dedicated Sunday but result of the game, played before 700 persons who jammed the new park, went sadly against the home club.

For six innings it was an airtight game, then the Amherst batters found Pitchers Minyard and Lumpkin for a seventh inning assault and won the contest, 8-1. Lefty Gaut Hambright pitched for Amherst.

The score was 1 to 0 for Amherst until the sixth. Sudan scored its lone tally in the eighth.

Excitement of the first game out of their systems, the Sudan boys figure to be ready for work next Sunday when they invade Lubbock to play the Hubbers.

Home Owners Of Lake Geneva Don't Want Joe

CHICAGO, May 3. (AP)—Protests halted the projected training camp of Joe Louis, negro challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, at Lake Geneva, Wis., today.

Julian Black, co-manager of the brown bomber, told friends he doubted if he and Louis would go anywhere they "were not wanted." He said he would leave further negotiations up to Dr. E. O. Hudson, president of the Lake Geneva Chamber of Commerce and Walter Ledger, mayor of the resort town. Both had invited Louis to establish his camp there.

The camp was to have been pitched Wednesday on payment of $5,000 by local merchants.

George Hotten, secretary of the Lake Geneva Home Owners Protective association, headed the group which directed the protest. Merchants were informed members of the association would refuse to patronize them if they contributed to the fund. Louis is scheduled to fight Champion James J. Braddock in Chicago June 22.

Weber Clashes With Bennett

Victor Weber, who has been around for three weeks now without winning a single match, finds himself on another supporting card this week. He meets George Bennett, Oklahoma Cowboy who has slowed down considerably since getting a couple of teeth kicked out and a jawbone fractured several weeks ago, in the semi-final engagement tomorrow night.

Fans who have wondered why Bennett suddenly slipped may not have known about his injuries. He seemed much better last week surprising in the preliminary when he suddenly "got tough" with Ace Freeman. The boys, normally clean and gentlemanly, started swapping punches toward the last of their match, and turned it into a near riot. Neither won, but they had the fans gasping with their unmannerly grappling.

Kopecky Meets The Ape

Weber, figuring in two semi-final dead heats after losing to Joe Kopecky in a main event, also is improving since his return from the far north, and should carry the fight to Mr. Bennett, especially if he plans to do much main eventing around here.

Ace Freeman takes on a newcomer, Jack Terry of Oregon, in the preliminary tomorrow night. Terry comes here with a nice record from the Pacific northwest, and is considered a main eventer in many locales.

The main go finds Kopecky on for the third consecutive Wednesday night, seeking his third straight victory. He did up Nick Bozinis in straight falls last week. Now he takes on another bald-knobbed villain, Gorilla Pogi, and the war ought to be interesting.

VINES BEATS PERRY

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Ellsworth Vines almost blew Fred Perry off the court with his bullet serves to beat the British star in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3, in their pro tennis match tonight before 6,000 spectators at Madison Square Garden. The victory gave Vines a margin of 29 to 27 in matches won over their tour.

Westerners To Show In Spring Game Tonight

Lubbock Westerners will climax spring football training with a regulation game tonight at the Tech Stadium. A team of former Westerner players, known as the Exes, will provide the opposition.

The game starts at 8 o'clock, under the Texas Tech field lights. The public is invited, there will be no admission charge.

Nearly every afternoon since Christmas has found the Westerner grid candidates for 1937 out at their practice field. They have called off workouts on bad days, but otherwise have been drilling hard and faithfully on offense and defense against next fall's schedule.

Coach Chapman announced the following tentative lineup for his 1937 team: Joe Bob Foster and Jack Coursey, ends; Babe Ritchie and Henry Ford, tackles; Lloyd Sanders and Joe Pytell, guards; Herbert Leaverton, center; Bill Sessums, quarterback; Jack Ware and Wayne Johnston, halfbacks, and Walter Webster, fullback.

Here They Are

Others due to see service are Paul Sparkman and Buford Gregory, centers; Jerry Nash, R. E. Jones and D. H. Stockton, guards; Robert Spikes, L. V. Risinger and Homer Henslee, tackles; Jack Millsaps, Melvin Billings, Billy Trice, and Ernest Winter, ends; Jarvis Wright and O. B. Southard, halfbacks; Coulson Paxton, quarterback, and Guy Bonnett, fullback.

Playing for the Exes will be many of last year's lineup, Rafe Nabors at center, Sterling Short, C. H. Tubbs, Paul Kinard, Bob Ritchie, Ralph Letsinger, H. L. Gantz, Billy Wood and Wilburn Piercey, other linemen, and C. L. Storrs, Max Rutledge, Murray Venable, Joe Jones, Earl Ince and Isaac White in the backfield. These boys have been working out regularly and are in good shape, Chapman said, "probably too good for us, but we'll give 'em a battle."

Carter Wins Tech Net Title; Team Leaves Thursday

Junius Carter of Childress, a transfer from Abilene Christian college, won the Texas Tech intramural tennis championship Sunday by defeating Bill McDavid of Amarillo in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4. McDavid advanced with a straight set victory over Kenneth Webb, while Carter defeated Bob Welch.

In a series of matches with Lubbock Tennis club players, the Tech players prevailed in five out of nine, winning three singles and two doubles matches.

A girls singles tournament and a freshman boys singles tournament, starting late last week, is to be completed this week.

Coach Jimmie Allen and his Tech netters leave Thursday for Albuquerque, N. M., and the Border conference meet, which is set for Saturday. On Friday, Tech will meet University of New Mexico in a dual meet, and play New Mexico Military institute at Roswell Sunday. Allen will take five men on the trip.

Hubbers, Seeking To Correct Faults Seen In Sunday's Loss To Amarillo Prepare For Sudan Invasion Sunday

The Lubbock Hubbers come down to earth and, they hope, get back in their class, next Sunday afternoon when they meet the ambitious Sudan baseball club at the local park.

Hopeful of continuing to attract large crowds, such as the last two games have attracted, the ball boys are bearing down in workouts, starting yesterday, this afternoon. Winner in their first game, over Amherst, and loser Sunday to a clouting, base running, classy Amarillo Phillips Oilers team, the Hubmen, Sponsor Sam Rosenthal says, will be much improved when they meet Sudan.

Workouts are called for each evening this week, and all Hubber players or prospective players are urged to be there. Sunday's game is to start at 3 o'clock.

Upwards of one thousand spectators, coming from nearly every point of the Plains, were treated to some pretty fair country baseball playing Sunday by the Amarillo club, paying its first visit here since 1931, but the ragged, unpracticed defensive and the undeveloped offensive of the Hubbers made it a disappointing, one-sided outcome. The Oilers tallied in all but two stanzas for a 11 to 4 victory.

One Man To Third

For eight innings, Lefty Newman and Luke Coburn, well supported by a nifty infield, a ball hawking outfield, had the Hubbers shutout. But one local reached third base in the first eight frames. Toby Pair, a brilliant left fielder in his own might, cracking a triple against the center field wall in the fourth.

Hubber batsmen, at last taking their cuts at Coburn's right handed offerings after letting a lot of fat ones go by, kept the crowd in the stands until the last out with a spirited ninth inning rush.

Jack Thompson led off with a double, his first bingle of the game. Harold Crites, joining the Hubber outfield for the first time this season, was safe on the only Phillips error made all day. Sammy Hale's bobble at third. Then Blue Graham, who had had tough luck at shortstop and at bat, finally connected with a haymaker. It cleared the left field fence and the bases. Bill Holloway, pinch hitting for Lefty Bettes, lashed a single, and Herschel Galey sent Bill to third with another single, Galey going out at second for the first out. Slim Spradlin, making his debut as Lubbock hurler yesterday, was safe on the force that caught Galey and Holloway scored. Breedlove rapped a sharp single, but the rally died as suddenly as it was born when Ed Hambright grounded slowly to Coburn and Pair lifted a high fly to Zeke Thomas in left.

Good While It Lasted

It was good while it lasted, but it started too late.

Lubbock's advertised No. 1 pitcher, Lefty Jerry Blanchard, had a rough day at the plate, giving up 13 hits and allowing ten runs in the 6 1-3 innings he toiled. He got pitiful support from his mates, who played nervously and without much pretense at strategy and signal work, to let in six unearned runs.

With the veteran Sammy Hale, former St. Louis and Philadelphia American league third baseman, leading the Oiler attack from his manager's position, Amarillo took a 6-run lead in the first three innings. Hale, most difficult man to "get out," hit safely three times, walked once and scored four runs. Littrell, former all-American gridder of Tulsa U., was next hardest to handle, hitting three times, including a double, and scoring twice. He got on base every time he came to bat.

Schmeling Back On This Shore But Uncertain

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP) — Max Schmeling came back from Germany today to begin training for a prize fight that may never be held.

Exactly one month from today the temperamental Teuton is booked to fight James J. Braddock for the World's heavyweight title in Madison Square Garden's big bowl in Long Island City.

But while Schmeling goes to Speculator, N. Y., to whip himself into condition, the champion is in the mid-west training for a bout with the brown bombing Joe Louis in Chicago, June 22.

Ballyhoo Boys Quiet

No promotion has been done on either fight. Both the Garden and the men back of the Chicago venture are awaiting the ruling of Judge Guy Fake of Newark on the Garden's application for an order restraining Braddock from fighting Louis until he has fulfilled his contract to defend his title first against Schmeling.

The German would not say what steps he would take if his fight fails to materialize, but Joe Jacobs, his manager, intimated Max would not take a cancellation of the bout lying down.

"We'll wait until June 3 and see what happens," Jacobs said. "I can't say what our plans will be if Braddock doesn't put in an appearance."

Central Ward And Junior High Win Softball Honors

Playground baseball teams on Central Ward and Junior High copped majority of honors in the Lubbock inter-school tournament completed Saturday. Teams from virtually all of Lubbock's elementary schools participated in the 22-game tournament, which was conducted in both boys and girls division, three groups to each division.

Central Ward won the senior boys title, defeating the Guadalupe school, 24 to 12, in the final. The Central Ward intermediate boys defeated K. Carter, 21 to 12 for another title. Junior boys title went to the George M. Hunt school, which defeated Central Ward, 24-9.

In the girls division, Junior high won the senior girls title, 32 to 24 over Central Ward. Junior High won the Intermediate group, defeating Central Ward, 45-26, and Dupre defeated Central Ward, 25-15 for junior title.

H. C. Bowlin, Central Ward principal, was director of the inter-school tournament.

HE WAS HEADING FOR "HOME SWEET HOME" WHEN BANG! A BLOW-OUT!
Read TED HUSING'S Account of a Chicago Motorist's Terror-Crowded Experience
Traffic was heavy that hot Summer afternoon as Mr. E. P. Keenan of Chicago, returning from a business trip, sped along Waukegan Road. His passenger did most of the talking. Mr. Keenan was too busy keeping one eye glued on the oncoming traffic in the other lane.
"We're making pretty good time," Keenan's pal said. He couldn't reach "Home Sweet Home" quickly enough.
A Close Shave
Bang! Like a thunderbolt the staccato crack of a blow-out rose above the roar of the motor. In desperation Mr. Keenan gave the steering wheel one final, frenzied tug. The car bolted—lurched to the right, missing a moving van by inches—and came to a stop at the brink of a deep ditch.
It took Goodrich engineers to fight this blow-out hazard for American motorists and provide them with a real defense against high-speed blow-outs like this. They invented the now famous Life-Saver Golden Ply which is found only in Goodrich Silvertown Tires. This remarkable Golden Ply is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds.
Are Your Tires Safe?
You can bet your bottom dollar that Mr. E. P. Keenan of Chicago is now riding on Silvertowns. Because for safer motoring he's convinced that there are no safer tires than Goodrich Silvertowns. See these life-saving tires that will give you months of extra, trouble-free mileage. The sooner the safer.

NOTICE FARMERS!

In accordance with news item appearing in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche Wednesday, April 28, 1937, a quantity of misbranded cotton seed has been distributed in your territory, represented to be SUMMEROUR'S HALF & HALF of our production.

Legal steps have been taken to stop the further sale of such seed, but we desire to warn innocent farmers who may have purchased such inferior seed that such should not be planted, as genuine. Doubtless your own native seed is better.

Our genuine seed has always been offered in our widely known regular trade-mark brand, being a balance scale in red with "Half and Half Cotton" in blue. The inferior seed was offered in similar bags with very slight difference. We have arranged with the Armstrong Transfer and Storage Co., 702 Texas Ave, Lubbock, for you to compare the misbranded package and seed with the genuine SUMMEROUR'S HALF and HALF. Check your seed stock with bags on display there, if possible. You may know the genuine seed by bag being produced by FULTON BAG COMPANY, Atlanta, and the misbranded seed in bag produced by CHASE BAG CO., Dallas. The bag maker's name appears in small letters at very bottom line of bag under our address of Norcross, Ga. Another difference is the tags on bags . . . the genuine seed are tagged with our regular shipping tag which shows on reverse side that our seed is treated with CERESAN. Inferior seed is not so tagged. Genuine seed is tagged with Texas seed labels prepared in typewriter type by your state authorities at Austin for us. The inferior seed carry a Texas Seed label which has been overprinted with regular printers type in which a typographical error shows "Company" misspelled "Sompany".

We are confident the bag makers and printers were innocently misled but we must use every means to advise you of this confusion. Check your stock, see the display at Armstrong Transfer and Storage, 702 Texas Ave., Lubbock.

We keep permanent records in our office on all of our customers. We want the names of every farmer who bought the inferior seed. Please write us direct to Georgia, if you have purchased these inferior seed or are confused and want more information.

In Memory Of A Great Lady

ALTHOUGH her body has been committed to the soil she loved so well, Mrs. Rose L. Haynes will not soon be forgotten by literally hundreds of Lubbock citizens who remember her as "the best teacher I ever had."

As a citizen who left a mark for all that is good upon two generations of school children here, Mrs. Haynes will be remembered not only as a teacher, but also as a classroom friend and a second mother. No brisk, crisp, automaton of the blackboard was Mrs. Rose Haynes. Instead, she was the careful, kindly, considerate type of teacher whose thoughts, inside the classroom and out, were for the little tykes to whom she ministered.

Many a Lubbock business man, among those reared in the city, looks back to the days when, just before recess, Mrs. Haynes distributed to her charges sweet cloves which she invariably carried in her dress pocket. Many a Lubbock woman, now a mother with almost grown children, will remember how Mrs. Haynes mothered the little pigtailed girls, dried away their tears and joined in their fun.

For a quarter century Mrs. Haynes gave of her best to primary pupils in Lubbock's public schools and her work will march on and on, until the time when all of her former pupils have joined her across the river. In memory of a great and good woman, The Morning Avalanche figuratively drops a flower upon her bier—a flower which, like the memory of Mrs. Rose Haynes—will bloom almost forever.

Misuse Of Powers Of Parole

MORE and more apparent it becomes that powers of parole are misused in the various states and frequently paroled convicts bob up, guns in hand, to rob or to kill a second time.

In Dallas the other day Dwight Beard was sentenced to die in the Huntsville electric chair on June 4 after being found guilty of the murder of a retired policeman while Beard was attempting a hijacking. Beard, former North Carolina college athlete, had previously been found guilty of murder in his home state; his sentence had been commuted to life imprisonment and, later, he escaped from the penitentiary only to come to Texas to continue his assaults upon law, order and the persons of others in society.

J. Edgar Hoover, famous head of the federal government's "G-men", remarked the other day that every "G-Man" slain in the line of duty had been killed by a paroled convict. He suggested, and with considerable reason, that it's high time various state and federal officials know what they are doing when they turn out criminals convicted of crimes of violence.

Too often officials, for reasons best known to themselves, have, in one state or another, set records for pardons and paroles. Texas used to be one of the "cinch spots" for criminals, especially when the Fergusons were almost daily unlocking some man's cell and throwing the key in the creek.

What we need in this and every other state is a sensible, careful method of deciding upon pardons and paroles and, if there is any question in a man's right for another chance, let him stay behind the bars where, after all, he put himself. The business of pardoned or paroled convicts shooting people, robbing and looting has gone far enough. In fact, wise men have felt for years that it has gone too far.

With Our Contemporaries

"While we can't positively state that the little squib we wrote made the big boys in the big town sore at us, still we can't help believe that they turned a pale pink around their ear lobes," Old Andy Jack Stricklin boasts in the Terry County Herald. "Anyway, Sharley Sham, that well turned out to be much better than you state. Come up and take a dip of Garrett with us sometime." (All right maybe we'll come up, but don't use Garrett.)

The One-Minute Sermon

Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me.

In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.

And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also. St. John, XVI, 1, 2, and 3.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE POWERFUL PULLEY

In the factory of the Dings Magnetic Separator Company, in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, there is a large pulley which demonstrates the phenomenal attractive force of magnetism in the most dramatic fashion I have ever known. The pulley's magnetism is so great that one of the workmen stood on the pulley while it was on the floor and, as it was raised from the floor, his entire weight was suspended by the magnetic attractive force of the tiny metal nails in the soles of his shoes. At another time a bar of iron 3-4"x1 1-2" was placed on the pulley and this small bar supported the weight of six men hanging on to it, supported only bythe attractive force of the magnetic pulley to the bar.

CHAPTER XXV

Daylight was just tinging the mesa when Coroner Snelling and Sheriff Buckley arrived at the hacienda. Immediately the household came under the jurisdiction of the law. Tante Josephine's death was due to apoplexy, the corner said, brought on by some unusual excitement—probably her nephew's death.

The confessed murderer lay where he himself had fallen, a victim of the sacred knife, and when they went to the Indian's room to accuse him of the crime, they found that he, too was dead. Of a heart attack, the coroner decided again. No one questioned this opinion, though Bob and Pearl John had their own ideas on the subject.

The hidden panel in the basement wall seemed to make a deep impression on the two officers. They asked why it had been put there, and what use the family had made of the adobe rooms beyond. Pearl John answered that it had been a whim of the builder of the hacienda, and that no one went into them except on rare occasions.

He was careful to explain, however, that the reason the Indian killed Ramon was because he had found him digging in the sacred kiva. This was easily understandable to New Mexico officials, for they knew how strongly the Indians clung to their ancient customs and beliefs, and how much they resented desecration of their pueblos.

Pearl John said that the reason for the murder of his older brothers had been robbery, and there had been witnesses present when Ramon had confessed that.

After a great deal of interviewing of everyone in the house, and taking copious notes on the case, the officers departed, giving permission for all concerned to leave the mesa if they reported in Santa Fe for the inquest. As the official car chugged away through the snow, the tension that had held the household relaxed. Once more the hum of voices sounded from the servants' quarters and in the front of the house the feeling of relief was evident.

* * *

After the first shock over Ramon's death, Angelique was able to tell how she had found the secret panel. She did not seem in the least abashed over her reason for making Betty a prisoner.

"I thought Ramon loved her," she said simply, as though that was explanation enough for anything. "Now there is nothing left for me but to go into the church."

Betty ran to her and impulsively grasped her arm. "It came out all right, Angelique," she said. "I forgive you. I wasn't hurt."

Angelique shook her head. "It can never be anything but wrong for me to have sinned that way. I'll not know another moment's peace on this earth as long I have such a thing on my soul. I didn't hurt you, Betty, but I hoped you would die when I pushed you through that doorway. I was mad with jealousy and I would gladly have strangled you with my own hands if it would have made Ramon mine alone."

"But there will be other men, Angelique." Bob began, then paused and looked at Betty. He knew very well that there could be no one else for him. He turned to the dark-haired Spanish girl with pity in his eyes. "Try to believe that Betty and I dont' hold anything against you, Angelique."

De Forest took Angelique's arm and gently led her away. Now that the mystery of the mesa had been explained, he was again the thoughtful, kindly host he had been on Christmas Eve. How long ago that gay party seemed now, and what tremendous changes had taken place since that Christmas snow storm had held them all prisoners in the hacienda!

Bob was thinking of this as he drew Betty into his arms and said softly, "When and if I can get a job, Betty, will you marry me? Some other fellow is probably nailing that big order of tires I started out to get, but there must be something open for a fellow who's desperately in love with the prettiest, most wonderful girl in the world."

She did not answer for so long that Bob tilted up her face, in sudden panic. Then her smile reassured him. "I was afraid you'd put it that way," she said. "Remember, I haven't anything either so we might as well join our fabulous fortunes. But why put it on a money basis, Bob? I'd marry you if you never expected to have another penny as long as you live. Sometimes I've wondered if I ever would meet the right man—all girls do wonder that, you know. I certainly didn't dream that Thunder Mesa was going to give me the finest fellow I'd ever met, and—"

"Stop right there before you say something to spoil it," he interrupted. "Just once in a lifetime a man gets the chance to hear someone else say what he's always thought about himself, and when it comes from you, darling!"

* * *

A polite cough from the doorway made them both turn. Pearl John came into the room, hesitatingly. "I know three's a whole mob with you folks just now, but I've got to talk to you before you leave the mesa."

"Sure thing. Don't mind us, de Forest," Bob answered. "Betty has promised that she'll take me on as a husband if I can manage to find a living for us both."

"So I imagined." Pearl John smiled rather wistfully. "You're luckier than you realize, Bob." Abruptly he walked over to the fire and put another log on the blaze. When he came back he had himself in hand once more. "The job end of it was what I wanted to talk about," he went on. "I've got the finances and you have practical business experience. Why not join forces?"

"Oh, not on Thunder Mesa!" Betty cried. "I couldn't—"

"I'm leaving this place, too, Betty," Pearl John told her. "There is no reason now for me to stay. Anywhere that you decide on is okay with me. I'll just close this place and let nature do the rest. The winds and the weather will soon attend to its finish. Probably the ancient pueblo walls will outlast the rest, which is really as it should be."

Betty looked at them earnestly. "Do you remember what Professor Shaw said when we went to his room? About queer things happening that he couldn't explain, where old ruins had been disturbed? Maybe that was why all this had to happen here on the mesa."

Neither of them answered, but something in their manner told that they agreed. Bob expressed it when he said, with an effort to make his voice casual. "I guess Thunder Mesa has got the goat of us all. Maybe it would be best to give it back to the ghosts of those old-time Indians who seem to have staked out the first claim to the place."

The crackling of the fire was the only sound in the room for a minute. Then Bob held out his hand. "That was mighty white of you, Pearl John—your offer, I mean. Maybe we can make a go of it together."

"Then you're overlooking past differences, Bob?" Pearl John gripped his hand hard. "Things got pretty thick for me for a while. I guess I went off my balance. But don't call me Pearl John again—I'm going to drop that silly first name from now on. Never did like it, but the rest of the family were strong for tradition and all that."

A Mexican servant entered the room and reported that a car was ready to take anyone down from the mesa who wanted to leave.

Later, as they drove away toward the mesa's edge, Betty turned again to wave at John de Forest, standing in the gateway of the patio. The rays of the sun gilded the hacienda with an unearthly radiance, making it more dream-like than ever. Even its young owner seemed the figment of some fanciful tale, wherein love and tragedy and drama were all woven into a fantastic pattern.

Betty turned and slipped her hand under Bob's, resting on the steering wheel. He and their love, at least, were real, and the car was carrying them at a rapid pace straight into the greatest happiness she had ever imagined.

Bob turned and smiled down at her, touching the spray of holly, pinned to her coat. "I'll never get another Christmas present quite like you, sweetheart," he said.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S admonition that government employes should not play the stock market astonished nobody so much as Uncle Sam's 825,000 clerks, whose gambling proclivities these days lean toward a nickel investment in the "numbers game." On an average salary of $1,800 they can't afford to dabble on the big board.

The President simply used government workers as economic guinea pigs. Not a single evidence of official speculation in the market prompted his bearish broadside. It was simply another move in his campaign to drive down stock and commodity levels, which he believes to be too lofty. Whereas Messrs. Coolidge, Mellon and Hoover issued daily bulletins in 1929 maintain artificially high prices, Mr. Roosevelt aims to knock them down.

F.D.R., as his smartest economic aides admit, is playing with financial fire in seeking to dominate the market. The wise boys' reaction to the Coolidge-Mellon-Hoover beautitudes in 1929 was to liquidate or sell short; they figured that if Washington's prosperity trio felt it necessary to vocalize the market upward, a slump was due—and they were right. With Mr. Roosevelt trying to block a celestial spiral, they feel that a still higher market peak is around the corner. So they are buying for the rebound, thereby nullifying Mr. Roosevelt's intervention.

* * *

EVIDENCE: Mr. Roosevelt's S.E.C. advisers could have informed him that their private studies show the present security levels to be supported almost wholly by cash—European and domestic.

In the 1929 days, if you wanted to fool around with a $100 stock, you put up perhaps $10 to $25. Now your ante, under Regulation T, must be $55. (Incidentally, Mr. Roosevelt recently revealed his cloudiness as to his own speculative safeguards by quoting the marginal requirement as 45 per cent.) The stiffer demand, naturally, keeps small fellows (government clerks) out of the market, and forces operations on a cash basis.

S.E.C. sharps have gathered inside evidence that investment cash rather than speculative margins dominates present day prices. At the 1929 peak the ratio of stock exchange borrowings on security collateral to the market value of all securities was 9.4. That is, 10 per cent of the market money was of a fairly speculative nature. In the depth of the depression—June, 1932—the ratio was 1.86. Now, with prices approaching 1929 levels, it is 1.85—or less than it was when Herbert Hoover was predicting that hay might thrive in city streets. In short, Mr. Roosevelt talked without consulting his experts.

* * *

MYSTERY: Gov. Richard W. Leche has apparently cast a Creole spell over the New Dealers, from President Roosevelt down, since the death of hell-raising Huey Long. Not even F.D.R.'s home state of New York has enjoyed the political favors extended to the old Long outfit since the survivors kissed and made up with Washington.

Soon as the "kingfish" died, federal funds and patronage once withheld were turned over to "Dick." Almost immediately Attorney General Cummings dismissed tax indictments against the Long leaders because of an unexplained "change in atmosphere." Such eminent politicos as National Chairman Farley and Assistant Attorney General Keenan weekended with Seymour Weiss, Long lieutenant and chief figure in the government's income tax indictments. And now House leaders have brought in a sugar bill increasing Louisiana's quota by almost 100 per cent to the detriment of our island possessions and such politically doubtful states as Colorado and Michigan.

* * *

EVASION: In a privately circulated memo the Treasury recently admitted that it has no authority to protect dry states against an alcoholic invasion. It develops that the 1936 act, which was written by the liquor industry's lobbyists, was so full of jokers that it isn't funny.

The law provided that the Treasury had preventive jurdisdiction only in those dry states which established a permit system for the importation of hard liquor. Naturally the prohibition commonwealths did not set up any sort of permit system for outsiders, since their laws prohibited the consumption, transportation and sale of alcohol within their borders. Therefore, under the law as interpreted by Treasury technicians — General Counsel Oliphant—they sink or swim in the alchoholic sea.

Alcohol Administrator Alexander has a private curb on the smugglers. He can revoke the license of a brewer or distiller who ships the real stuff into a dry state. But the way of the transgressor is easy when he ships into an arid commonwealth a case of booze labelled "ketchup."

* * *

CYCLE: The Roosevelt administration has quietly launched a unique experiment—a city-by-city investigation of what people buy in good times and bad times, in depression and recovery years.

In bad times, for instance, the poor buy chiefly heavy but non-nourishing foods—potatoes, bread, cereals, pork. They curtail sharply on household furnishings, purchase of homes, and clothing (textiles). Their improved condition explains why such industries as building, furniture and textiles have moved into the upper brackets of activity. The rich show the same tendencies, though in less marked degree.

Together with his farm experts' reports on the dwindling value of farm income, it was this report which led the President to bewail price increases. The things which the average family needs after seven years of depression (food, clothing, shelter) are skyrocketing so that the normal cycle of recovery purchases seems to be slowing up. And a nationwide buyers' strike would jeopardize 1937 recovery.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE National Labor Relations board, despite the new prestige conferred upon it by validation of the Wagner act, is under heavy fire from two separate quarters.

Business leaders have not been at all backward with intimations that the board as at present constituted is heavily biased in favor of labor. They are pulling every wire at their command in Washington to bring about a change of personnel.

In addition, the American Federation of Labor darkly suspects that the board is prejudiced in favor of the C.I.O. as against the old-line craft unions. There are indications that here again it may join hands with business organizations (as in the matter of amending the Wagner act) in an effort to force a re-deal.

* * *

BLACK: Wall Street isn't nearly as pessimistic as President Roosevelt about the shortage of federal revenue below previous estimates for the fiscal year 1937.

New York tax experts have been busy estimating the probable final returns for the year ending June 30, 1937, on the basis of actual returns to date. It doesn't look to them as if the final figure will be as bad as Mr. Roosevelt forecasts, although it is plain that the Treasury was originally much too optimistic in computing the increase in income tax returns resulting from the corporate surplus tax.

Cynical anti-New Dealers express a firm-private conviction that the President is splashing on the black paint now so he can point with pride after the fiscal year is ended to the improvement over his current estimate.

* * *

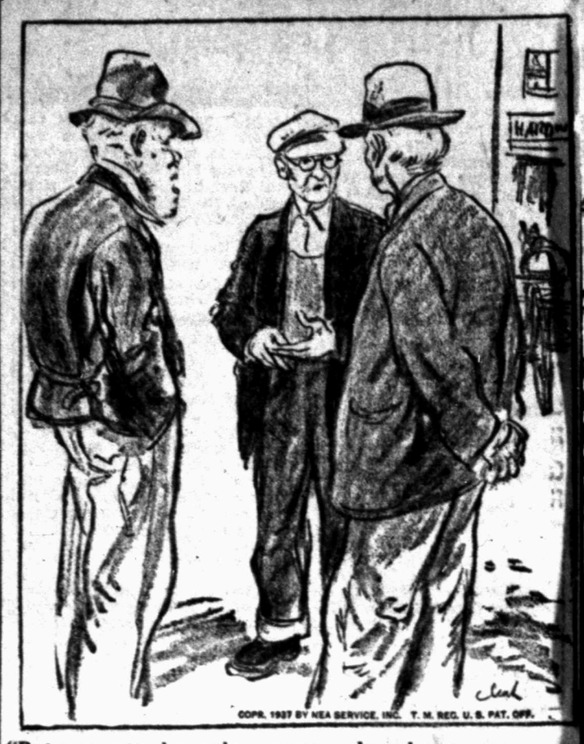

TAXES: It would turn the motor industry inside out if American legislators, hardpressed for fresh sources of revenue, should ever decide to remodel American automobile taxes on the British pattern. Great Britain levies a tax on automotive vehicles of $3.75 per horsepower per year, plus a gasoline tax which in recent years has been REDUCED to 16 cents pre gallon.

Any number of "small" American cars develop 20 H.P. by S.A.E. standards (much higher by the manufacturer's rating). Figuring that the average small car uses 500 gallons of gas per year, such a car would pay around $200 annually in taxes under the British system.

Taxes of this magnitude imposed on American motorists would bring profound changes in our highway picture. There would be an immediate demand for small and less powerful cars which would be cheaper to own and run. Bus and truck operators would have to limit their schedules sharply, jack up their rates, or do both, to show a profit. The smaller cars might have a wider margin of safety than present machines.

TARZAN AND THE MAYAN GODDESS — MAY 4, 1937 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan gave no consideration the little monkey's warning against the beast-men of the Dead City. And it was this very lack of hesitation that saved his life, for just as Raglan was about to send him to his doom, the ape-man plunged into the pitch-black passage.

Raglan cursed softly under his breath; t... man had thwarted him again. But the game ... not up yet. Raglan walked quickly to the te... He judged that Tarzan must use some sort...while, Ula Dale worked tenderly over the light in the dark passage; and that light would furnish an excellent target. . . .

...'Arnot, and she felt a strange attraction ...is pitiable man who had endured so ...ere's Tarzan?" he asked. "Gone to the ...he replied.

"The Lost City!" D'Arnot shrieked, his eyes ablaze with horror. "Then he, too, is lost. There's no man mightier. In Africa, he knows the dangers he fights. But—but, these monsters—they're different from anything he's ever met. Tarzan is lost—lost!"

SPRING FEVER GRIPS MARKET

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Spring fever gripped the stock market today and most leaders shifted only slightly in either direction.

It was the slowest 5-hour session since June 5, last year. Transfers of 638,360 shares compared with 1,449,700 Friday. The virtual stale-mate was exemplified by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks which managed to emerge with an advance of .1 of a point at 68.3.

The list was moderately at the start, but trading forces resumed their siesta soon after and from then on the ticker tape moved at a snail's pace. It was motionless at frequent intervals.

Early gains of fractions to 2 points were subsequently pared or cancelled in many instances. At the finish 318 issues were up, 271 down and 166 unchanged.

Brokers attributed the sleepiness of the proceedings partly to disinclination of potential buyers to get far out on a limb pending clarification of Washington budget arguments, extent of economy measures proposed by the administration and the question of whether higher taxes are likely at this session of congress.

Cotton..

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 3. (AP) — Higher cables and reports of some damage in the belt by storms last week-end brought out enough demand today to carry cotton prices up 55 cents to $1 a bale above the previous close.

Early advices from Liverpool said there was absence of selling pressure in that market and enough bombay and other buying developed to raise the price level. Opening trades here were 12 to 14 points net higher on some sympathetic buying which continued for a time after the start until options were 12 to 13 points net higher.

The higher prices brought out some realizing by recent buyers and options slipped off to about mid-way between the highs and lows.

During late trading however, enough purchasing was encountered to lift the market 4 to 8 points above the lows with the list closing stead ayt net advances of 11 to 20 points. The May option which had been inactive most of the day, showed the maximum gain closing at 12.88. July finished at 12.89, Oct. 12.74, Dec. 12.82, Jan. 12.83 and March at 12.86.

Spot business continued dull at New Orleans with middling cotton closing at 12.89, Oct. 12.74, Dec. 12.82, Jan. 12.83 and March at 12.86.

Spot business continued dull at New Orleans with middling cotton closing at 13.29, or 13 points over Saturday's close.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, May 3. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 13.28 cents a pound; average for the past thirty days 13.28 cents a pound.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 3. (AP)—Cotton moved irregularly today with prices easily influenced by small orders but the undertone was steady. July, which had sold off from 13.05 to 12.88, closed at 13.00 with final prices 1 to 12 points net higher.

The market opened 9 to 12 higher in response to Liverpool cables and on a moderate volume of trade and foreign buying. A little covering and trade buying developed in the late trading.

Rains were reported over the greater part of the belt over the weekend except for some western sections. The precipitation was fearly heavy at some central belt points. Exports today 6,735 making a total of 5,034,820 for the season thus far. Port receipts 9,869; U. S. port stocks 1,612,100.

The Duke and Mrs. Simpson are free to marry now whenever they choose, but a spokesman for Mrs. Simpson insisted that the wedding would await the passing of the coronation of King George VI, brother-successor to the Duke-ex-king.

Friends indicated the wedding might be at a British consular office in France or at a French town hall, but final plans awaited the Duke's arrival at Tours tomorrow.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 3. (AP)—Beneficial moisture in domestic crop territory west, northwest and southwest did much to bring about lower wheat prices today, down 2¼ cent a bushel maximum.

The day's bottom quotations for wheat were reached just at the last, influenced by a slump of the Winnipeg market owing more or less to a virtually complete halt of export demand for wheat from Canada. Besides, Liverpool wheat quotations reacted in the late dealings, after temporary advancing.

Uncertainty over private estimates to be issued here tomorrow relative to 1937 United States wheat production counted also as a bearish factor.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1⅛@2¼ under Saturday's finish, Sept. $1.16¼@1.16⅜, Corn ⅝ off to ¼ up, May $1.30¾@1.30⅝, July $1.17⅝@1.17¾, Sept. $1.08¼@1.01⅜, oats ⅝@⅞ down, May 49⅝@49¾, and rye showing 1¼@2½ drop, May $1.12½.

AFOL Plans Campaign

From Washington came word that American Federation of Labor chieftains expected to launch a campaign in the mass production industries designed to break the C. I. O. The program was reported to be based on the organization of all workers into one big union—the C. I. O. plan—with the members to be devided into craft unions later along the traditional A. F. O. L. lines.

New strikes involved 500 longshoremen in Philadelphia, 300 porcelain workers in Trenton, N. J., 50 truck drivers in Ottawa, Ill., 100 furniture makers in Rockford, Ill., and 140 refinery employes in Wood River, Ill.

And while the two made their plans, far more elaborate ones went ahead here for the cornation, the coronation originally intended for Edward May 12.

Lamb 'Cleared Out'

A man identified as Lamb robbed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stephens of food and clothing, said Sheriff B. L. Parker. He also shot a hole in the gasoline tank of their car, cut the telephone line, and fled in a car. The automobile driven by the convict bore a Castro county license. Sheriff Parker said Stephens contacted him about 4:30 p. m. Sunday.

It was believed by officers here that the automobile driven by the convict was carrying additional fuel as Lamb did not take gasoline from the farm house and apparently he did not obtain gas during the chase made by Parker and Deputy Sheriff Norvell Redwine. The officers' car ran out of fuel.

Lamb was described as 26 or 27 years of age, weighing possibly more than 175 pounds, dressed in a light shirt, dark trousers, brown straw hat, with reddish complexion, and wavy sandy-colored hair.

Several ranchers reported seeing a car resembling the one in which the criminal was riding. He left Tahoka about 45 minutes before officers did.

It was believed Lamb had secured clothes in vicinity of Olney and he probably had changed from the apparel he was wearing when he left Fort Worth.

Officers of Lubbock last night said they had not heard of any trace of Lamb. Sheriff Dan Hardee of Hutchinson county had left him in the Tarrant county jail while taking him from the penitentiary to Stinnett to face trial on a burglary charge.

on the bill before May 18, the date previously fixed for that action. The question swung again to the Hatch amendments.

"If the committee should vote to report the bill unfavorably before the eighteenth," Burke was asked, "would you then favor the Hatch amendments?"

"I won't say no," said Burke, measuring his words carefully.

"I think there's a good deal of merit in them. If the proponents of the bill would forget about this bill and say we'll take something along the line of the Hatch amendments there would be a good chance of an agreement."

Texas Is To Get Army Funds

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—Two Texas members of the house military affairs committee said today the general army housing bill, which they expect to be considered shortly, contains a $22,000,000 program for their state.

Representative R. E. Thomason of El Paso, ranking member of the subcommittee on housing, said the expansion program calls for a $2,900,000 expenditure at Fort Bliss, El Paso, and $154,000 at Fort D. A. Russell, Marfa.

Representative Maury Maverick of San Antonio said well over $18,000,000 would be spent at Camp Stanley, Leon Springs, and at Kelly and Brooks flying fields and Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio.

The entire Texas program has been presented to the director of the budget for approval, the congressmen said. Their announcement they would urge action on the general housing bill followed their protests on the house floor yesterday to proposals that the army appropriations bill include housing provisions for a few particular posts.

West Texas Oil Towns Seeing Much Activity, Visitor Says

All towns along the Texas and Pacific from Midland west, are busy with oil development and Wink, Monahans, Odessa, Pecos, Barstow, Midland and other towns in the oil field are alive with industry, said Ira D. Ellis, Monahans, who is here visiting his brother V. L. Ellis of the Lubbock National bank.

Mr. Ellis is employed by the Atlantic Pipe line company and lives on a lease about 14 miles from town. An average of a well a day is being brought in in that immediate territory.

Tech Chemical Professors And Students Back From Session

Nineteen graduate and undergraduate students of Texas Technological college who are majoring in chemistry or chemical engineering and Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Dr. M. W. Craig, Dr. A. G. Oberg, and Chas. C. Galbraith, all of the department of chemistry, returned Sunday from a meeting at Amarillo Saturday night at which the Panhandle Plains section of the American Chemical society was organized.

Officers for the new society are C. W. Seibel, helium plant supervisor at Amarillo, president; E. G. Hammerschmidt, Fritch, vice president; W. A. Clark, jr., of Amarillo, secretary; E. B. Reinbold of Borger, treasurer, and C. A. Pierle of Canyon, councilor.

Plans were made for monthly meetings to be held in Amarillo and other nearby centers where there are chemical plants or interest in chemistry.

A local section will be organized at Tech in the near future, Dr. Craig said. The national society has more than 20,000 members. The local delegates visited the helium plant under the direction of Seibel.

New London School Group To Confer With State Officials Regarding School Situation

NEW LONDON, May 3. (AP)—E. W. Regan, president of the New London school board, said today that a committee from the school and probably Principal Troy Duran of the high school would confer with state department of education officials in Austin Tuesday. Reagan declined to divulge what matters would be discussed.

Re-opening of school, when closed Friday, was "a matter of time," Reagan said. Teachers remained in the temporary classrooms "making certain adjustments," the school board president explained.

The mother-in-law of W. C. Shaw, school superintendent, died at London today and he will not make the trip to Austin tomorrow, it was explained.

Reliable but unquotable sources said a petition hade been submitted to the school board last week asking Shaw's resignation.

Farmers who had thought the rains might prove beneficial in destroying infestations of grasshopper eggs will be disappointed, Illinois entomologists said today, since it will be two weeks before they start hatching.

Many farmers who did not get their oats seeded before the rains started—agonomists say it is now too late—plan to plant soybeans or field peas for a hay crop to feed to their livestock.

California Party Inquires Of Proposed New Building Here By Long Distance Telephone

The telephone rang at 10:50 o'clock last night—which was not unusual.

"This is the Morning Avalanche," the caller was informed.

"This is long distance." And it was. It was Pomona, Calif.

The California operator was seeking information for a Los Angeles county "party" relative to the proposed construction of a 15-story office building at "Thirteenth and K or or Fifteenth and K."

The operator was supplied with all information available to the Avalanche and she was given names of persons from whom more information might be obtained.

She declined to say who wanted the information or why it was wanted.

Two Are Returned To City To Face Charges Of Swindling

M. J. Davis, who recently was found by police to be receiving drinks from a friend through the bars of the City jail and who last week was arrested in Kermit for vagrancy, Monday was returned to Lubbock by county authorities to face a charge of swindling. His friend, Dan Matthews, alias D. C. Matthews, also was arrested in Kermit. They were wanted in Lubbock for passing a spurious check, said C. E. Luce, city recorder.

The man playing barkeep was found to have "quite a record," according to a report from J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Luce said.

Davis had used aliases of J. M. Davis, and W. R. Combs.

A 16-year-old Tahoka boy who had been missing from his home since early Saturday had not been reported found. He was believed ill.

A bill to appropriate $55,000 for a dormitory at the home for dependent children at Waco was introduced in the house. Members of a special investigating committee had said facilities should be provided at that institution to care for dependent children who have been sent to the boys' or girls' reformatories.

Veto Is Indicated

Governor James V. Allred indicated he might veto a bill exempting shipper-owned trucks from contract carrier regulations unless the legislature recalled it and made some changes. He has until Wednesday to act.

Bills passed by the senate included one placing venue in oil confiscation and penalty cases in the home county of the defendant, a second authorizing railroads to engage in other forms of transportation, including highway, air, water and pipeline, and a third establishing the San Antonio river conservation district.

New Rules Introduced

Proposed new joint rules of legislative procedure to replace those vetoed last week by Governor Allred were introduced in the house.

Incident to consideration of a bill to change the school census laws, the senate heard T. J. Holbrook of Galveston charge a movement was on foot "virtually to destroy" the department of education. The bill would give supervisory authority to the state board of education in taking the census.

The senate finally passed a universal fishing license bill, and passed to third reading one providing for universal licenses for hunting. Both were in the forms of committee substitutes for local fishing and hunting bills.

Report Is Adopted

The senate adopted a conference report on a bill pertaining to salaries and expenses of commissioners in seven counties. The bill raises salaries for commissioners in Cooke and Wood counties to $1,800 a year; Pecos county, to $3,600; Marion county, to $1,200 and Morris county to $900. Dog Obeys Master Even If It Means Long Jump

BOSTON, May 3. (AP)—When Kenneth Koehler holds his arm horizontally, that's generally a signal for his well-trained German police a bridge railing.

Kenneth held his arm that way the other day, but the dog didn't know he was merely leaning against bridge railing.

The dog leaped—cleared the railing in a graceful arc and plunged 35 feet to railroad tracks below.

His master rushed him to an animal hospital where doctors reported the dog was not badly hurt.

Building Is To Be Re-Built

Plans for rebuilding Lubbock Sash and Door company at 1409 Avenue H will be considered today when C. W. Bartlett of Dallas, head of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber company, arrives here.

The company's double warehouse was razed by fire early Sunday.

W. B. Atkins, Lubbock manager of Higginbotham-Bartlett, owner of the sash and door company, expressed confidence that the structure will be replaced with the least possible delay, although definite plans must be made at Dallas offices.

To Make Inspection

Bartlett likewise will make an inspection of the ruins of the warehouse, and arrange for the disposal of whatever salvage may remain. Inspections also will be made to determine definitely the loss which Atkins said today probably will be about $100,000. The revised figure is somewhat less than original estimates, which ranged from $125,000 to $150,000. The loss is insured.

Heaviest loss is from the destruction of stock, he said, although the warehouse itself was a wholly modern building of its kind, measuring 98 by 126 feet.

"That building," Atkins said, "was stored to its utmost capacity with materials. We had begun to worry about where we would find storage space for additional stock."

Both Atkins and members of the fire department reiterated previous expressions that Lubbock was fortunate in escaping a worse disaster. They pointed out that a sustained wind of any strength in almost any direction would have meant further spread of the conflagration. As it was, property owners in every direction went into action, beating out the burning embers as they fell. They would have been unable to cope with that problem had the embers been in larger quantities.

Mercer Funeral To Be Held Today

Funeral services will be held at the Slaton Church of Christ at 10:30 o'clock this morning for P. C. Mercer, 48, pioneer plumber who died in a Lubbock sanitarium Monday of injuries received 15 days before when he fell from a windmill tower.

His back was broken and his spinal cord severed.

The injuries were recognized as of fatal nature from the outset and on one occasion nearly two weeks ago he was pronounced dead, reviving after arrangements had been made to turn the body over to a funeral home.

Mercer was hurt, reports at the time said, when a safety rope broke while working 24 feet above ground. Mrs. Mercer was with him at the time of death.

Funeral services for Mr. Mercer will be held at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Slaton Church of Christ. Burial will be in Englewood cemetery under direction of the Williams Funeral home.

Surviving, additional to the widow, are a son, Roscoe, and four daughters, Misses Cleon, Bonnie May, Alice and Patsy, all of Slaton. The family moved to Slaton 20 years ago.

Demand For Marriage Licenses Show Slight Pickup In April

Only 32 marriage licenses were issued in April, but the figure was the largest in three months and was greater than for April, 1936.

County Clerk Ed D. Allen reported that the total compared with 29 licenses in March, 30 in February and 46 in January. The total for the year was 137, well behind the 161 during the first four months of last year. The 1936 record, by months, was 52 in January, 53 in February, 26 in March and 30 in April.

Four licenses issued during the weekend will be listed on the May report. Those obtaining them were Oscar B. Holt, 25, and Miss Wanda Castleberry, 21, both of Lubbock; Flagle Stewart, 19, and Miss Minnie Ola Jones, 18, both of Lubbock; Eldridge Beal, 28, and Miss Eula Evelena Moore, 30, both of Lubbock; and Porferio Jiminez, 29, of Slaton, and Miss Frances Garcia, 24, of Lubbock.

City Bids For Lions Session

Some 30 or more members of the Lubbock Lions club are in Big Spring for the annual convention of district 2-T, which is to close this afternoon with the selection of the convention city and the naming of the district governor. Lubbock is the most active candidate for the 1938 convention.

First group left Lubbock Sunday morning, with another Monday morning. Several left during the afternoon. H. C. Pender is presiding.

Entertainers Appear

Last night was stunt night, with a Lubbock quartet participating as well as Miss Willette Waters, club pianist; Mrs. Jack Douglas, whistler and Morris Burchfield, entertainer.

Noted Child Specialist Says "It's All Mama's Fault" If Offspring Fails To Obey

DES MOINES, Iowa, May 3. (AP)—If Junior doesn't eat his oatmeal, do his homework or come in at night when dad whistles, Dr. Dennis H. Kelly, noted child specialist, has the answer:

"It's all mama's fault."

"The most common error in the management of the young child," he said, "is the facility with which a mother makes commands and the ease with which she promptly ignores their outcome."

At a medical conference here Dr. Kelly outlined what he termed "the secret of teaching obedience."

"Is it any wonder," he asked, "that an alert youngster loses respect for authority when he receives a thousand and one commands a day and only about 5 per cent of them are followed through?"

Miss Yonkers was elected to the job by executives of the store, 90 per cent of whose employes are women.

11,000 VOLTS

What a power-line "trouble-shooter" is up against

FOR 20 years, Al Tafft has been repairing as many as 200 short circuits per day. Around him 11,000 volts lurk. It's a tense job that will test digestion if anything will! Here's Al's comment: "Working among high-voltage cables isn't calculated to help digestion. But mine doesn't give me trouble. I smoke Camels with my meals and after. Camels set me right!" Smoking Camels speeds up the flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—that mean so much to your sense of well-being. Camels are so mild, they are better for steady smoking. And Camels are gentle to your throat—always.
