That Last Minute Rush

Yep, the annual Christmas rush, particularly the last minute variety, is on in Big Spring and no one knows this better than workmen in the post office. Extra helpers have been added to the staff as mailmen attempt to keep up with the heavy deluge of mail that is being dropped into boxes during the last few days. Here, men are sorting out letters to various routes and districts. Most of the last minute mail is, of course, Christmas cards. But other types of mail have increased as well and carriers note that current issues of magazines are much thicker, and heavier, than usual. With only a week to go until Christmas, the rush is expected to slack off toward the end of the week, but loads will still be heavier than usual.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

It was the buildup week toward the holiday of holidays; the climax, of course, is ahead. Homes were being decorated, and some entered in the lighting contest; the Cheer Fund acknowledged gifts, and the Salvation Army kettles were open, with more than 300 families needing to be remembered. People were going to parties, shopping was brisker, the mail volume was heavier than ever. It was the week before Christmas.

There are some young men at Webb who will be far from home on the holiday. If you'd like to have one, or a group, in your home for Christmas, call the chaplain's office at the Base by Wednesday. This could brighten your day.

Some important decisions came during the week. The school board voted to close the last three grades at Lakeview High School, and send these students, perhaps 25, to Big Spring High next year. This is a sound step, for economy and for good education.

The city is in the process of adopting a completely new zoning ordinance, a far-reaching document on land use and occupancy which fits into the master plan. A public hearing will be held Jan. 10. (See THE WEEK, P. 6-A, Col. 4)

N. Y. Airliner Off Its Course

NEW YORK (AP) — The collision of two airliners over New York City, the worst air disaster in history, apparently resulted from one of the planes going off its course, experts said Saturday.

Whether the mistake grew out of human error or mechanical malfunction was the mystery investigators were trying to solve as they paged through the wreckage of the planes, scattered on Brooklyn streets and a Staten shore.

Only a few fragmentary hints emerged. As they did, new grief struck. Of the 128 aboard the two doomed planes, one passenger, Stephen Baltz, 11, Wilmette, Ill., had clung to life for more than 24 hours.

But he died Saturday of burns and inhaled flames. And Friday's Thanksgiving of his parents, who had stood watch at his hospital bedside, turned to tears.

The overall toll of death thus rose to 126 from the collision that ruined fiery destruction on the city. All aboard both planes perished, along with eight others on the ground.

MORE BODIES Police said still more bodies may lie in the wreckage and torn buildings.

As the broad, rapid-fire inquiry proceeded, these inklings of what happened were indicated: One plane was being watched on radar. The other apparently was not. One must have been off course.

Both planes, a United Air Lines DCB jet and a Trans World Airlines four-engine Constellation, were descending for a landing when their paths inextricably crossed.

A top federal aviation official said that under such circumstances, "if both planes were under positive control, at the time one was off course."

Philip Goldstein, chief of the investigating division of the Civil Aeronautics Board, also said the TWA plane was being traced at the time on radar scopes at LaGuardia Field, its destination.

NOT ON SCOPE As for the jet, headed for Idlewild Airport 10 miles away, he said: "I don't believe that the United Air Lines plane had been identified as such on the scope."

The hard-pressed CAB investigation was described as the most extensive ever undertaken by the agency.

It brought a vast corps of experts here, many of them working through the night examining radio communications records, plane remnants, charred equipment, flight patterns and other material in a search for the cause.

"So far there is no definite lead," Goldstein said. At the same time, nearly 300 police and firemen still dug through the ruins in a crowded Brooklyn neighborhood where the huge jet plane fell, gouging walls, shearing roofs, and setting a dozen structures afire.

In Brooklyn, the CAB forbade removal of any of the twisted wreckage, a move that caused friction with city fire officials and even some defiance.

The quarrel centered on whether there might still be survivors trapped beneath walls that might collapse at any moment, and that plane wreckage must be removed to expedite digging through the ruins.

STANTON — City council members will focus their attention Monday on urban renewal and public housing, hoping to untangle some of the complicated angles in the program.

Mayor Stanley Wheeler said that advisors to the city concerned with the program will meet with the council to discuss urban renewal.

Saturday the Public Housing Administration, Washington, granted a $6,000 loan to Stanton to finance planning of a project of 30 new low-rent homes. This money, and a $5,000 loan made previously, are being used for preliminary studies under the renewal program.

The main objective at the present is to get paved streets, which are included in the urban renewal program, Mayor Wheeler said.

Many angles are included in the urban renewal and public housing programs, making the program a complicated one, the mayor said. Monday night's meeting is intended to clear the picture for residents, those in favor of the program and those opposed, Mayor Wheeler said.

AIR PIONEER HITS PROGRESS APATHY KITTY HAWK, N. C. (AP) — America's first military aviator, speaking at ceremonies here commemorating the 57th anniversary of the Wright brothers flight, said Saturday that America's airpower has been held back by apathy.

Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, the speaker, flew a Wright plane in 1916, at the first U.S. Army airfield at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

CASTRO UNLEASHES WRATH ON CHURCH HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro again unleashed his wrath on the Roman Catholic Church Saturday with an accusation that "some priests" in Cuba encourage the murder of government officials.

He also promised to purge Cuba's judicial system, criticizing it for failing to adapt to the revolution. He thundered that he will throw out bad judges.

60 Killed As Plane Falls On Streetcar

U.S. Students Die Aboard Munich Plane

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — A U.S. Air Force transport plane full of Christmas-bound American students crashed into the heart of ancient Munich Saturday, killing 50 to 60 persons in a great sea of flame.

The two-engine Convair sliced off the steeple of a church and smashed into a streetcar full of Christmas shoppers. Few of the trolley passengers escaped alive as gasoline from the plane and a broken gas main sent sheets of fire 150 feet into the air. Passengers were sucked into the inferno.

"It was like the end of the world," a 24-year-old German girl who survived told doctors. The crew of seven U.S. Air Force men and 13 student passengers from the University of Maryland's junior college at Munich died in the crash, Munich Lord Mayor Hans Jochen Vogel announced.

TOTAL UNKNOWN How many streetcar passengers and passers-by died was not known five hours after the disaster. Mayor Vogel said 31 bodies had been recovered from the wreckage of the plane and streetcar, but the total would be higher.

Police estimated perhaps 35 persons died in the streetcar and another five passers-by or automobile drivers may have been fatally enveloped in the flames.

At least 16 persons were known to be in the hospital with severe injuries. Several were in critical condition. They included motorists dragged from blazing automobiles drenched with gasoline. Many others were treated for minor injuries.

There are so many arms, legs and bodies still lying about, it is impossible to say how many were killed," a police official said.

The plane, with the exception of a wing and the tail, was destroyed. Police said that soon after the crash flames stretched 100 yards and shot 150 feet in the air.

NONE ESCAPED One of the first policemen on the spot said he did not believe anyone escaped the rear car of the two-car streetcar.

"The streetcar went up in flames in a second. I heard first a few loud, horrified screams of the occupants, and then everything was still. I don't think anybody got out the rear car. I saw a few people in wild flight from the first car. Others were crouching and hobbling through the sea of flames."

It was the second plane disaster to affect a great city in two days. Two planes collided over New York City Friday and fell on different sections, bringing death to 137.

The American students were 16 to 21 years old, most of them children of U.S. military personnel stationed in England.

A huge area went up in flames as the plane smashed into the streetcar and gasoline spewed over nearby cars and buildings. Witnesses said people walking along the street burst into flames as the gasoline drenched them.

Germans said it reminded them of the wartime air raids on the city.

CHEER FUND'S FINAL WEEK

The Cheer Fund went over the $600 mark Saturday, thanks to some very generous friends. The total is about half what it needs to be, if the city firemen's program of providing good toys and Christmas food to all needy children is a success.

And this is the final week. You are urged again to have a part in this modest, real-Christmas program, to help see to it that no child is overlooked at the holiday.

Just make your check to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND, and mail to The Herald or hand to any fireman.

Thanks to these warm-hearted people:

Pro-Western Laos Regime Is Victorious

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The victorious pro-Western government of Laos started a recovery program Saturday for this ruined capital city, freed from leftist troops after a three-day battle.

Vientiane's capture Friday broke the back of the neutralist movement in Laos, the new regime which is temporarily located in Savannakhet indicated. But the government still fears a long and tough jungle fight against the pro-Communist Pathet Lao.

(A Pathet Lao broadcast Saturday night admitted defeat in the Vientiane battle but labeled it simply a decision to withdraw. A communique called for recapture of the city. The broadcast was picked up by Peiping radio and heard in Tokyo.)

The airport here is reported open to traffic again. It had been the leftists' last stronghold before they left Vientiane. The retreating pro-Communists carried away from the field much of their Soviet-supplied artillery, which will give Pathet Lao guerrilla campaigns a boost.

A government minister at Savannakhet, accusing the Soviet Union and Red North Viet Nam of intervention, said Friday Viet Nam instructors came in with the Soviet weapons airlift last Monday and that two instructors had been captured.

(North Viet Nam renewed an old plea Saturday, calling for an international control commission to end civil disunity in Laos. Moscow radio broadcast the plea.)

Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, rightist commander who drove out the pro-Communists, left Vientiane for the provisional capital at Savannakhet after starting recovery plans here.

Vientiane's devastation means Savannakhet must serve for some time as the capital of Premier Prince Boun Oum's six-day-old government. Phoumi is deputy premier and defense minister.

Native Of Russia To Be Y Speaker

Nicholas T. Goncharoff, a native of Russia and World Service secretary for international education, has been named speaker for the annual YMCA dinner, slated for 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 17 in the Goliad Junior High School gym.

Goncharoff is spearheading the International Committee of YMCA's nationwide program of study and action concerning global tensions, spread of communism, revolutionary struggles and mounting threats to free institutions.

A former Soviet citizen, Goncharoff was born in Kiev, Russia, in 1921. Educated in communist schools, he was a member of the Russian Orthodox Church and served as an altar boy when his father turned from a career as a diplomat to the priesthood following the October revolution.

Drafted into the Russian army, he was captured by the Germans, interned and finally liberated by American forces. In 1952, he received his doctorate degree from the University of Munich in philosophy and history.

His first contact with the YMCA was in a German refugee camp. Invited to work with the association, he did so and became president of the 19 Russian Y groups in West Germany by 1948.

He moved to the United States in 1952 and a year later became connected with the national council

NICHOLAS GONCHAROFF

YMCA public affairs program. From 1955 to 1957, Goncharoff conducted a series of three-day seminars on "Youth in the revolutionary age" for local associations. He became a citizen of the United States in 1957.

In 1958 he spent five months studying at first hand the needs of youth in many foreign countries, including Europe and the Far East. It was this study that led to his appointment with World Service.

4 People Die In Dallas Crash

DALLAS (AP) — Two women and two small boys died in a two-car accident Saturday night in Southwest Dallas. Three men were injured.

The women were tentatively identified from papers as Mrs. Catherine Murphy, 70, of Irving and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy, 31, of Cheyenne, Wyo.

Pictures in the younger woman's purse indicated the dead boys were her sons, Henry, 4 or 5, and David, 8. The older boy died in surgery at Parkland Hospital. The others died in the crash.

Police said the women and boys were in a car which collided with one carrying three men.

Police identified the injured men as Lloyd Madison Stewart, 29, William H. Vaughn and Billy J. Matthews, all of Dallas.

LAMESA (SC)—Accidents in Lamesa tied the all-time high mark of 30 here during November and caused an estimated $209 damage in each of the mishaps. The total property damage for the month was $8,950.

The collisions resulted in only two injuries and one fatality this year. In November of 1959, 21 accidents were reported and property damages amounted to $4,865.

At the same time last year, however, one fatality was logged on city records and there have been none in the city limits this year.

BUSINESS REPORT ON COMMUNITY

'Big Spring' May Be Dry, But City's Future Isn't

A comprehensive presentation of Big Spring, its background, its economy and its future prospects, is given in an article, "Big Spring: A Singular West Texas City," which will appear in the forthcoming issue of the TEXAS BUSINESS REVIEW, published by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. The author is Robert H. Ryan, research associate with the Bureau. Here is the complete article.

Out of the depths of an ancient sea, a new world rose. The area that is now West Texas was once deeply submerged beneath the waters. As it emerged, layer after layer of sediment buried the marine silt. In time the land stood high and exceptionally dry. Its gently rolling surface tilted to the southeast, and that is the way its rivers would have run. But with scant rainfall and sandy, permeable surfaces, most of the water never drained into a river. Instead, it either evaporated or percolated down into the porous rocks that underlie the high plains. At one point along the edge of the high plains lies a rocky, shallow gorge. Here the waters seeping down through the flat-bedded strata of the plains flowed forth in a big spring.

OASIS ON THE PLAINS For centuries, the spring was a watering place for herds of buffalo, spry antelope, and, in the later years, wild mustangs. Coyotes skulked in the brush around the margins of the water, flowing through Sulphur Draw. Indians, too, knew of the big watering place and sought it out for hunting. At times, Comanche and Shawnee warriors battled for possession of the water supply and hunting grounds.

When the vanguard of Anglo-American settlement reached West Texas, the big spring was a welcome oasis on the semiarid plains. Scouts first marked the place in 1849 as a campsite on the Overland Trail to California. Other parties, traveling up the famous Santa Fe Trail from El Paso east to Fort Smith, soon began camping there.

In fact, the town of Big Spring grew up mainly as a transportation crossroads. Early ranches gathered their herds there in the 1870's to begin the long drive to Abilene, Kansas, their rail shipping point. But it was not long before the railroads came to Big Spring. In 1880, Texas & Pacific Railway crews moved up Sulphur Draw with their main-line track from Dallas and Fort Worth. The workers found, clustered along the bottom of the draw, a few tents, hide huts of buffalo hunters, a wagon yard, a hotel, and eight saloons.

With ample water available, the village soon became a major station on the railroad; maintenance shops and section offices were built there. Even today, the Texas & Pacific remains one of the major industries in Big Spring. With the coming of highway and air travel, the town became even more important as a transportation key-point.

BUSINESS LOST But Big Spring has suffered, too, from improvement in transportation. The distances from Big Spring to other cities were once forbiddingly long — 300 miles to Fort Worth and even farther to El Paso, about 100 miles to Lubbock or San Angelo, and some 400 miles even to the neighboring communities of Midland, Colorado City, and La-

Plains. But Big Spring has suffered, too, from improvement in transportation. Won't Accept Failure Young Men To Make Final Push For United Fund

This might be called "Operation Honor." Or, "we refuse to take this lying down."

Anyway, there's a couple of dozen of the city's younger business and professional men who will stage a friendly blitz Monday — in an all-out effort to bring the United Fund campaign this year up to its goal.

This organization, which finances the work of 12 welfare and youth-guidance agencies, all but closed its books a short time ago, still short by about 4 per cent of its $98,210 goal. It looked as though the UF, and the agencies, would have to take a cutback.

But this was not reckoning with the young men who have been concerned that this would be the first year the United Fund has failed. They talked among themselves. They decided to do something about it.

Monday, they'll take time off from their own jobs, spend the day in making important calls. They'll try to see those who did not participate in the Fund and others who might be willing to make an adjustment, if gifts had been cut this year.

Monday morning, at 7:30, with Randall Peck, UF president, and Floyd Parsons, director of the 1960 campaign. They'll get organized, and then they'll go calling. They're going with confidence.

The workers are in four teams, as follows:

- R. H. Weaver, captain, and Bobo Hardy, Winston Winkler, Jack Davis, E. H. Bouillon Jr., Horace Garrett.
- Dan Krause, captain, and Carl Rhodes, Charles Lusk and Bob Travis.
- John Taylor, captain, and James Tidwell, Ike Robb, Arnold Marshall, Bruce Dunn and Jim Watts.

Son Of Latin President Is Texas Student

KINGSVILLE (AP) — Alberto Lleras, a senior at Texas Arts and Industries College, has two places called home.

One is an old King Ranch bunkhouse made into a student apartment.

The other is the Palace of San Carlos, high in the Andes of South America.

"I don't like it to be known that I am the son of the president of Colombia," he said, adding that he doesn't want special privileges.

His father, Alberto Lleras Camargo, has been president of the South American republic since August 1959. Previously he was ambassador to the United States and secretary-general of the Organization of American States.

"I guess I'm a black sheep," Lleras said. "Everyone in my family has been in politics and I want to be a farmer."

He will be graduated in January with a bachelor of science degree in animal husbandry.

"My family once had a small ranch in Colombia, and that is where I decided I wanted to go into this business," the 23-year-old student said in a recent interview with Ed Dwyson of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times.

When 9 years old, he came to the United States when his father was named ambassador. He knew no English but was enrolled in Georgetown Prep School.

"I went without water for the first two weeks at school because I didn't know the word in English," he recalls ruefully.

His father was recalled to Colombia when President Alfonso Lopez was unable to continue his term due to illness.

That was young Lleras' introduction to the Palace of San Carlos in Bogota.

The White House of Colombia was built for the first president, Simon Bolivar. "It's as Spanish as you can get," Lleras said.

After a year at the Palace, Lleras Camargo returned to Washington as director of the Pan American Union and secretary general of the Organization of American States. In 1954, he returned to Colombia to head the Liberal Party and lead a political battle against Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla.

Two years ago, the general was exiled to Spain and Lleras Camargo was elected president.

The outside of young Lleras' cottage looks like the weather-beaten cowboy shelter it once was. Inside, it is paneled in knotty pine, carpeted and air conditioned.

His instructors, some unaware that he is a member of the first family of Colombia, call him a good student.

"I picked A&I for my major work because the terrain here is exactly like the lowlands in Colombia where we raise cattle," he said.

"I've got a job after graduation with a man who has five cattle and sheep ranches in Colombia. I'm going to England for five months to study Red Polled cattle before going to the ranches." Red Polled cattle, he said, produce milk and beef, and are suited to the climate of Colombia.

Lions Lose Tails

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The lordly lion's claim to be king of beasts was shaken recently by an authority on African wild life.

Dr. L. S. B. Leakey, director of Coryndon Museum in Nairobi, Kenya, said he recently came across two cases where crocodiles had caught lions by their tails.

"Both lions escaped minus their tails," he said.

And the lowly hippos, he added, are not so defenseless either "because they have extremely muscular lips with which they can kill a lion."

VICTORY OVER TB HAS BUT ONE FOE—PUBLIC APATHY

It's up to you. Doctors have found ways to help. Many patients have been helped and many lives saved. But all of this takes money. And the Howard County TB Association is looking to you to help finance its work for the coming year. Tuberculosis is still the danger it has always been. It must be located early and treatment must begin quickly.

Christmas seals, and reminders, have been mailed out to area residents. But only $3,801 of a necessary goal of $6,000 has been collected. The organization cannot maintain its program without funds.

Past results include 10 patients hospitalized and care for 25 others. Over 2,000 were given patch tests last year. An expanded program is planned this year in the city schools.

But without your help, the organization's program will be severely limited. Officers urge you to return your check for seals as quickly as possible. Or maybe, dig a little deeper.

This program is up to you.

Kennedy Barber Sharpening Shears

NEW YORK (AP)—The man who created the new-look "Kennedy haircut," is sharpening his shears to give the president-elect his third "good luck" trim.

Louis Bocchetto, Sen. John F. Kennedy's New York barber, is going to Washington next month at the president-elect's invitation, to attend the inauguration.

"This will be my third good luck haircut for Mr. Kennedy," Naples-born Bocchetto, 48, said today.

"I gave him the first one just before the convention. He won the nomination. I gave him the second just before the election. He won again. Now I must give him the third—for the best luck of all, success in his administration."

The easy-going, soft-voiced barber first learned his trade as a youth in Italy. He met Kennedy shortly before the July 11 Democratic National Convention in Los Angeles.

The senator had let his staff know that he was looking for a barber—"a good one!" One of Kennedy's close friends recommended Bocchetto. An appointment was made by telephone.

Two days later Kennedy walked into Louie's shop on the mezzanine floor of the Park Lane Hotel on Park Avenue.

This is how the "new-look Kennedy haircut" came into being, said Louie:

"Kennedy got into the chair, stretched out and said: 'All right, Louie, do it your way.' I already knew what I had to do because I had studied his pictures. He was having his hair cut too short in the back and on the sides.

"And it was too full on the top, too. I left it fuller on the sides, and followed the natural hair line. I left it lower in the back, again following the natural hair line. No clippers, mind you. I never use them.

"Then I went to the top. I trimmed it very carefully and precisely. Then I thinned it out some. This was it! Mr. Kennedy was satisfied. I was satisfied. I've kept it that way ever since."

During the campaign Kennedy had an appointment made with Louie on each trip to New York.

Louie, who came to the United States in 1929 at 17, said his home life was changed by being Kennedy's barber.

"My two sons, Philippe, 15, and Louis Jr., 13, became celebrities at their schools because their dad was cutting Kennedy's hair," he said. "Then one day my wife asked me to bring her a lock of Kennedy's hair."

At their next appointment Louie

Philanthropists Get Awards Second Time

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Mose and Garrison Siskin, who earned a fortune salvaging junk and used it to salvage people, have received the President's Distinguished Service Award for the second time.

The philanthropists are the only individuals ever to receive the award twice. It is presented each year for the greatest national useful employment of handicapped Americans.

Accident-Prone Drivers Described

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Are you an accident-prone driver? Dr. Donald Schuster, psychologist at the University of Southern California, says a chronic violator has these characteristics:

He is physically and psychologically active.

He "drives" himself to get ahead.

Despite aggressiveness, he probably relies on others.

He is unwilling to conform culturally.

He lacks aesthetic appreciation.

He is willing to take chances.

Schuster has tested 2,000 drivers since 1958, he said in a statement Thursday.

Buford Penland Named Chairman

Buford Penland has been elected a director, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of Texas Wine and Liquor Co. The action was taken at a recent special meeting of the board of directors.

Penland also is president of Penland Distributors, Inc., with headquarters in Dallas.

Both Texas Wine & Liquor, and Penland Distributors operate branch offices in Amarillo, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Odessa and San Antonio.

Wet, Cold Weather Lessens Farm Work To Essentials

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—Farmers increased feeding of livestock last week in the continuing wet and cold weather.

All but the most essential outdoor work halted, said director John Hutchinson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Moisture is good in all areas of West Texas where shortages had previously been reported and is excessive in some areas.

Heavy snow fell in the Panhandle and covered wheat fields. Livestock conditions were good. Cattle are getting feed. The Panhandle cotton harvest is 80 per cent complete while only scattered fields of grain sorghum remain to be harvested.

Snow, sleet and freezing rain have stopped all outdoor work except cattle feeding in the South Plains. South of Lubbock 95 per cent of the cotton has been harvested but to the north, about 20 per cent was still in the fields.

Rain and snow in the Rolling Plains (Vernon) has left that section with a adequate moisture. Feeding of livestock is increasing. Moisture helped grains but stopped harvesting, which was near completion.

Snow up to six inches in the Davis Mountains to El Paso and rains up to two inches from Midland to Del Rio have improved conditions in far West Texas. Livestock were getting feed in some counties. The almost completed cotton and sorghum harvests were stopped. The moisture is aiding the growth of winter weeds and grasses and fall land preparation.

Moisture is adequate in Central West Texas with a surplus in some southern counties. The wet and cold has caused some shrinkage in livestock but feeding is offsetting the unfavorable conditions. Most crops have been harvested. Grain planting is completed. Moisture is now adequate in all Central Texas counties. Oats are making good progress and furnishing grazing when field conditions permitted. The peanut and pecan harvests were near completion; pastures were greening with weeds and grasses; livestock were in good shape but some feeding was being done.

In North Central Texas, good slow rains improved the moisture situation. General conditions were good. Some feeding was being done. Grains were making good growth.

Rains have been heavy in Northeast Texas and moisture is excessive. Fields are boggy, grain growth has been slowed by the rains and cold, and some cattle are being fed. Fields are much too wet for grazing, Surovik said.

Moisture is excessive in East Texas where creeks and rivers were flooding but little damage was reported. Oats have stopped growing due to the cold and wet weather and fields and lots are very muddy. Feeding is increasing.

Feeding also is increasing in South Central Texas. Moisture is excessive. Open and wet weather are urgently needed for ilax planting and plowing. Winter weeds, grasses and clovers made progress but some shrinkage was noted in cattle due to the cold wet weather.

5 Boys Receive Pack 37 Awards

Bobcat pins went to Forrest Ray Ward, Kenneth Curry, Rodney Glen Martin and Rickie Lee Burnett. Scott Medford got his Wolf badge and arrow points. The attendance banner went to den 4, and dens 3 and 4 put on skits. Approximately 30 attended.

Postal Receipts On The Climb

LAMESA (SC)—Lamesa postal receipts dropped off slightly here last month, but still posted the second highest tabulation of the year at $15,905, according to Owen C. Taylor, postmaster.

October was the high month for 1960 when receipts at the Post Office totaled $16,469, but employees looked for the big month—December—to set a new record. Total receipts for the first 11 months of the year amount to $136,451.

Local Delegation In Austin

Oak Cliff Again Down Alcohol

DALLAS (AP) — The sprawling Oak Cliff section of Dallas voted against the sale of alcoholic beverages Friday for the third time in four years — by a bigger vote than ever before.

Unofficial complete returns from all of 43 voting boxes showed 22,477 votes against the sale of alcoholic beverages and only 13,468 for such sales.

It was fewer for and more against the sale of such beverages than when the big section on the south and west side of the Trinity River first voted out beer on Dec. 15, 1956. On that date, 17,123 voters opposed beer while 15,408 wanted to retain the sale of beer.

The sale of other alcoholic beverages has not been legal in Oak Cliff — a neighborhood which contains many churches — since long before national prohibition.

Dairy To Appeal Anti-Trust Ruling

Jury Frees Rahm In Murder Trial

ORANGE (AP)—A jury that included four women pondered only 40 minutes today and acquitted Dr. Charles C. Rahm of Brownboro of murder during a school board brawl in that East Texas town.

Rahm, an osteopath and former secretary of the school board, was accused of shooting to death Thurman Jackson, 42, during a stormy free-for-all after a school board meeting June 16.

The controversy was brought to a climax by the firing of Dr. Homer Bass, school superintendent for 23 years. Clarence Jackson, a brother of the slain man, was a brother-in-law of Bass and an agriculture teacher in the school.

The case was moved here from Athens on a venue change. Rahm, 42, received the verdict quietly. His petite, blonde wife appeared happy but nervous.

Rahm said after the verdict his only interest was in returning home to Brownboro. He said he planned to continue his practice there and expected no more trouble.

There was no demonstration in the courtroom, which had been warned by Judge Homer Stephenson.

A deputy sheriff and several highway patrolmen were in the courtroom.

Charles Tessmer, defense lawyer.

2 Air Victims Lived In Texas

NEW YORK (AP)—Two of the 134 persons killed Friday in the crash of airliners in New York once lived in Texas.

United Air Lines flight engineer R. E. Prewitt, 30, was a native of Taylor, Tex., and graduated from high school in Houston. His mother, Mrs. Eunice Gilbert, lives in Victoria and his brother, Dr. Marvin Prewitt, resides in Corpus Christi.

Miss Patricia Keller, 23, one of the four hostesses killed when the jet crashed, had been employed in Amarillo for three years.

She lived with her grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Kennedy of McLean, Tex., during her sophomore year of high school. McLean is 60 miles east of Amarillo. Until six months ago, Miss Keller worked for Dr. Royal Wertz of Amarillo as a secretary-typist.

Morgan Elected Attorney General

Emmett Kent Morgan, Big Spring delegate and candidate for governor, was elected attorney general of the 14th annual Hi-Y Legislature in Austin. Fifteen Big Spring delegates and sponsors attended the annual Youth and Government program being held through today.

Other officers included George Peinado, El Paso, governor; Patie Fairbend, Houston, lieutenant governor; Kenneth Dart, Lubbock, secretary of state.

Over 600 YMCA youngsters from across the state were on hand to organize a Senate and House of Representatives. The model legislature is sponsored by the Y to teach students how the state government operates.

The Legislature defeated Saturday a bill to abolish the death sentence.

The annual session was climaxed with the governor's banquet and ball tonight.

A bill calling for revision of the electoral college on a population basis was approved.

The Senate passed a resolution prohibiting poll taxes, registration fees or other charges as a prerequisite to voting.

A banquet for the Legislature was held Thursday at the Student Union on the University of Texas campus. Host was the Student Christian Association of the University.

Sharon Rountree, State President of the Texas Student Councils Association and member of the Tri-Hi-Y of San Angelo presided. Those assisting in the preparation of the meeting were introduced.

After the banquet, the group went to the Music Hall for the election of the Governor. Presiding was Wilson Mason, freshman student at the University of Texas and the 13th Hi-Y Governor. The group then returned to the Student Union for a dance.

The Big Spring delegation will return home today.

Big Spring delegates included Mike Worley, Morgan, Johnny Case, Cleo Thomas, Elena Patterson, Mary Locke Crossland, Winnie Greenlees, Verryla Hewitt, Jay Hatch, Gil Jones, Sara Homan, Carol Odum, Robert Mahoney, Jack Eisenhart, and Johnny Freeman. You May Know This Boy*

*He is typical of 3,000 crippled children scattered over Texas. Boys and girls who have become crippled for one reason or another during the past 12 months. His folks can not pay for corrective treatments at a private hospital. He needs to get into this Hospital right away.

HE IS WANTED AT THIS HOSPITAL RIGHT AWAY!

There is room for him today. You see, he is badly crippled. Chances are that he can be completely rehabilitated at this Hospital. He may live near you. His folks may not know of this Hospital's program of providing corrective treatments (including the most costly surgery) at not one penny of cost to the child or his parents.

Hope for them Glory for you

"The departed whom we now remember have entered into the peace of life eternal. They still live on earth in the acts of goodness they performed and in the hearts of those who cherish their memory. May the beauty of their life abide among us as a loving benediction."

You can make this Christmas their most wonderful one by getting them in touch with this Hospital today! For the family of a crippled child, Christmas could not possibly hold any brighter promise than that of the rehabilitation of their child. For the child, itself, it would be manna from heaven.

And you would, in very real effect, be their Santa Claus. So, if you do know of such a child, get in touch with this Hospital at once. Give us the name, address and as much of the circumstances as you know. We'll take it from there. And the glory will be in your name!

HELPING Texas crippled children is a very personal affair. You see, this Hospital is supported entirely by gifts from generous-hearted Texans. Each penny of each gift is used for the personal care of Texas crippled children. Each child is a very personal case. He must have special surgery, special braces, special medications, special therapy, special and highly personalized attention from entry to successful completion of his treatments.

FOR YOU it is a very personal affair. You make a gift from your heart. That is personal. In one way or another you immortalize your name with your gift. That is personal. In making your gift you may be denying yourself some indulgence. That is very personal. Above all, you know of the unbounded joy given to crippled children and their parents. That is personal.

YES, the rehabilitation program of this Hospital for crippled children is, for you, a very personal affair. Faced with the privilege of doing something that is, in essence, monumentally great for someone else, man re-acts in the warm privacy of his own heart. Man, in such circumstances, is guided primarily by his own instincts for personal immortality. Searching himself thusly, man gives expression to his innermost convictions, showing forth to others the true measure of his stature.

SO, consider well your privilege of deeply and richly serving others through your gift NOW to, and for, the crippled children of Texas. It is truly a very personal affair for you!

Here are Five Ways to Give

LIVING TRUSTS can be established to benefit the Hospital during your lifetime by naming the Hospital Board, or any other person you designate, as your Trustee over the property, money, securities or other assets you set aside for that purpose.

BEQUESTS in your last will and testament will convey to the Hospital whatever gift you may desire to bequeath. (In connection with living trusts and bequests it is important to consult an attorney.)

LIFE INSURANCE can aid the Hospital

through either a new policy, or by making the Hospital beneficiary on any existing policy.

MEMORIALS in honor of loved ones through a gift to the Hospital result in both the names of the donor and that of the memorialized one being permanently recorded in the Hospital's memorial records.

CASH TODAY! Gifts of cash today provide the Hospital with the all-important current operating revenue that makes possible the day-to-day activities of the Hospital.

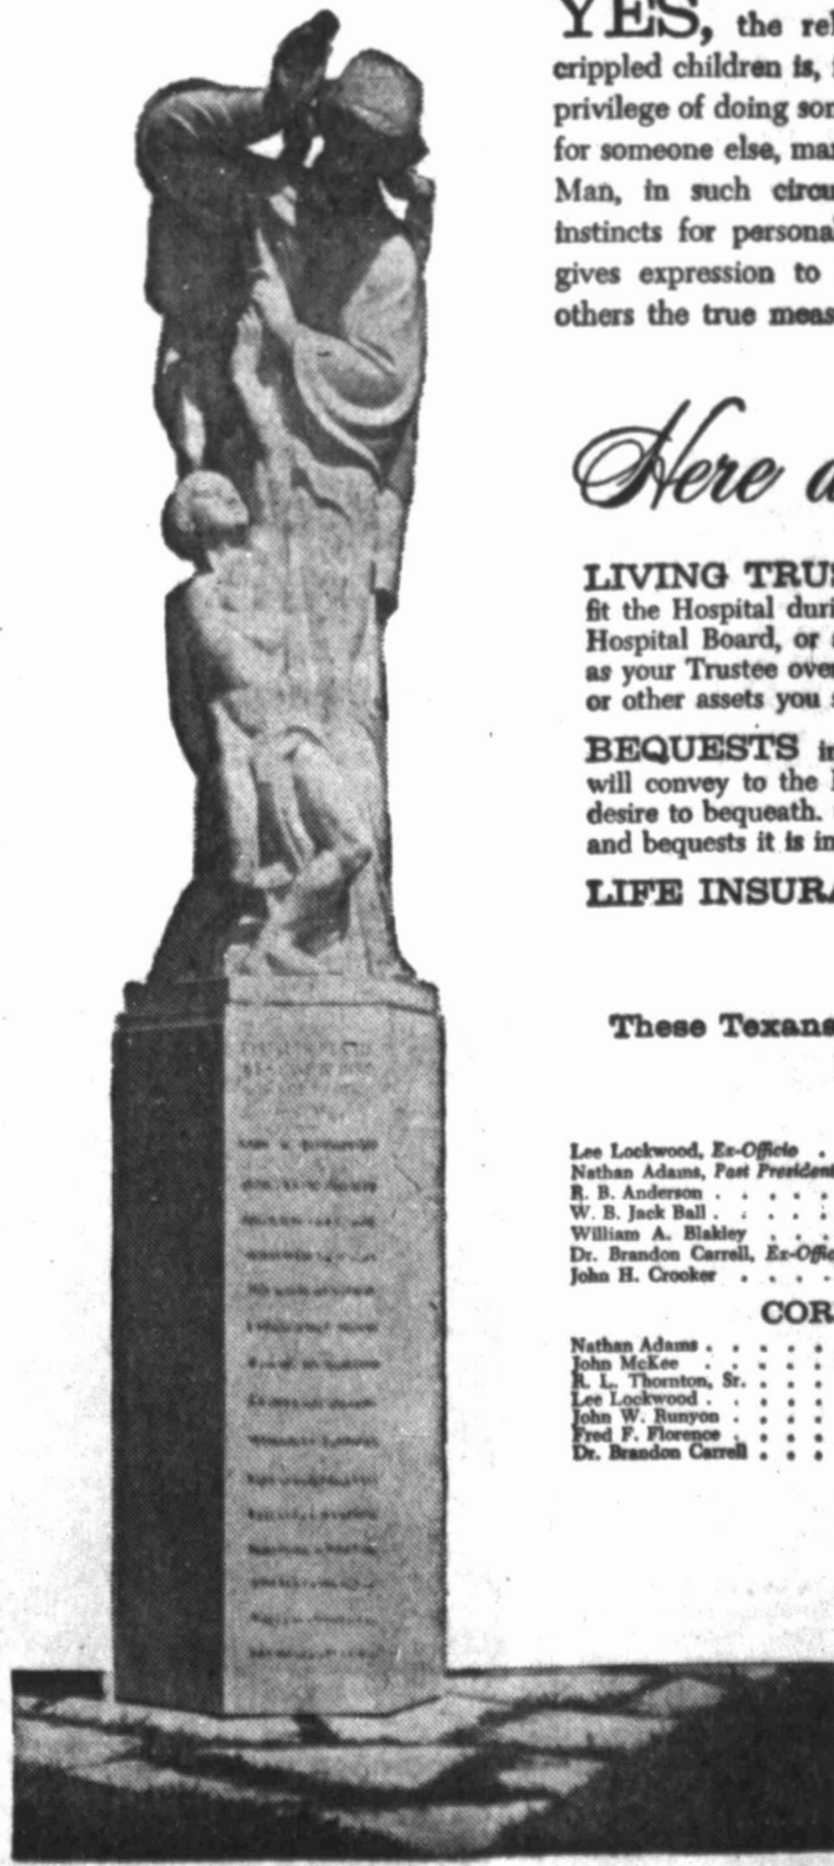

These Texans as Trustees and hospital officials have dedicated themselves to the service of the Crippled Children of Texas

Final Secret

Big Spring merchants' Secret Santa contest ended Friday with an unmasking and another $20 awarded to a lucky downtown shopper. Mrs. Simona Palomino, 105 N. Channing, won the final $20 prize when she identified the Santa as a sales person in the store where she was shopping. Mrs. Palomino was the eighth winner in the three-week contest. Only one day passed without the Secret Santa identified. The next day's shopper who guessed right was awarded $40. Twenty-six stores participated in the contest.

How Do You Feel About Homecoming?

Please help the Student Council of Big Spring High School reach a decision about a homecoming. Just take time to write a note and answer these questions:

Would you like to have a homecoming?
Do you prefer the homecoming in the fall, in the winter or in the summer?

Do you think homecoming should be held every third year? Or how often?

And would you be willing to serve on some committee to plan or stage homecoming festivities?

Just address the note to the BSHS Student Council, and include your return address, your city, phone number and your high school class year.

Negro Solon On Honeymoon

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell, New York Negro congressman and Democratic congressman, was honeymooning here today with his wife, Ivetta Diago.

Powell, 52, and Miss Diago, 29, were married Thursday night in a civil ceremony by Judge Edwin Cortes. It was the second marriage for both.

Powell was divorced recently from Hazel Scott. His bride is a former clerk at the Condado Beach Hotel in San Juan.

Fire Damages E. Texas Hotel

NACOGDOCHES (AP) — A fire damaged the kitchen and stairwells of the six-story Fredonia Hotel Saturday. No one was injured.

Forty to 50 guests, many of them here for the Stephen F. Austin State College basketball tournament, were evacuated within four minutes.

The fire started in the grease duct of the kitchen, causing a loss estimated at $1,000 to food prepared for lunch.

Damage to the stairwells was mostly from smoke.

Many Colorful Yule Traditions In Texas

By MARSHALL COMERER
Associated Press Staff Writer

In the midst of the beautiful and well-kept plaza in downtown Paris there stands this Christmas season a small white church with sparkling green roof, colored windows and a steeple.

Life-size figures stand on the church steps and nearby hangs a star.

In the evening the star lights up and soft lights glow inside the yuletide church. A spotlight illuminates the scene as choirs from churches in the Northeast Texas city take turns in holding outdoor Christmas carol programs.

Although the religious significance of Christmas has long been emphasized in church and musical celebrations, the church nestled in the center of a park surrounded on four sides by busy stores and shops is one of the biggest public efforts this year to emphasize the religious side of the holiday.

YULE FLOATS
Temple and Victoria also stress the religious theme. Floats in their pre-Christmas parades depicted scenes from the story of the birth of Jesus. Churches sponsored Christmas card floats, many with a religious theme, in the parade at Kilgore.

The small communities of Barry and Embouse near Corsicana, each with a population of about 200, joined together for the third year to sponsor a Christmas nativity pageant.

Although the religious theme is receiving new emphasis, the varicolored lights, street decorations, big community Christmas tree and the arrival of Santa Claus for a pre-holiday visit are as much a part of the Texas Christmas season as ever.

At Kilgore 10-foot high stars in different colors beam from the tops of 40 derricks. Fourteen of those derricks also are dressed from top to bottom with strings of colored lights. The words "Merry Xmas" and "Happy New Year" glow in red and green over downtown Kilgore.

BIG TREE
A 76-foot Englemann spruce cut from the San Isabel National Forest in Colorado towers above Burk Burnett Park in downtown Fort Worth. At night it is aglow with 40,000 lights.

Colored lights outline 21 major business buildings.

In Texas City 1,000 red and blue lights twinkle from a 70-foot high Christmas tree on the top of which is a star four feet high.

But close to the piney woods of East Texas, Sulphur Springs erected a simulated Christmas tree of strings of tinsel and aluminum foil topped by a large star. A spotlight plays on the tree at night.

One of the oldest trees in Texas to be decorated for the Christmas season is a 150-year-old salt cedar on the lawn of the Brazos County courthouse in Bryan. The tree was transplanted 90 years ago from old Boonville when the county seat was moved to Bryan.

OTHER DISPLAYS
Many individuals and companies have erected elaborate Christmas displays.

One of the most spectacular is that of Mrs. Lee T. Burns, widow of a prominent Wichita Falls oil man. They began their display many years ago as a single tree decked with oranges. The display now has 15 exhibits, many of them mechanical.

They include Santa and his sleigh with eight tiny reindeer, a clown blowing bubbles from his mouth; an elephant bouncing a ball on his trunk; St. Nicholas in his rocking chair and his feet in a tub of water, and a giant snowman who bows and tips his hat to sightseers.

Bus drivers entering Beaumont slow down so their passengers can admire the fairy land of color made by the Christmas lights at the Sun Oil geophysical building at suburban Amelia.

to the Rio Grande Latin American families add their own customs to the Christmas observance.

Families are cooking large quantities of tamales to be shared during Christmas visits from friends and neighbors.

In the two weeks before Christmas the posadas have been staged many times. These are the reenactment of the journey of the Holy Family to Bethlehem. Travelers go to the back door of a home and in song ask for room. The answer in song is that there is no room. The question and answer is repeated several times and then the door is opened, the travelers invited to enter and join in a party.

Some Latin American families on Christmas Eve observe the acostada at which a figure representing the infant Jesus is placed in a manger and sung to. And there are the pinatas, small animal figures stuffed with candy. Children are blindfolded and swing a bat until they hit the figure and break it. Then there is a big scramble for the candy.

At Boys' Ranch

Horace Wayne Clark, center, says, "I am up a tree as to what Santa will bring me." He, Junior Pannell, left, and Manuel Morales are the three Big Spring boys now living at Boy's Ranch, which is celebrating its 14th Christmas this year.

Boys' Ranch Set For 14th Christmas

Boys' Ranch of West Texas celebrates its 14th Christmas this year, where the 50-60 young men it serves find warmth and friendliness.

Located 17 miles west of San Angelo near the community of Tankersley, Boys' Ranch has served over 500 boys since its inception in 1947.

Each boy is instructed on an individual basis to find a balanced educational, spiritual, recreational and vocational approach to life's programs.

West Texas leaders founded the ranch-type home for the many hard-luck boys on the streets of Texas. Primarily for West Texas boys, some are accepted from other parts of the state, through the referrals of schools, churches, courts and interested individuals.

Offering a well-rounded program, directed toward the individual needs of each boy, Boys' Ranch is a non-profit organization and depends on Christmas donations to provide a large portion of its annual budget.

Joe A. Moss, chairman of the Howard County Boys' Ranch Foreman Club, says that three boys from Big Spring live at the ranch now, but over thirty boys from Big Spring have undergone training there since the school was founded.

Giving the boys a chance to go to college or learn a vocation, the ranch places emphasis on the development of character, enabling each student to become a productive citizen. In 1961, plans have been made for the construction of two permanent dormitories, each of which will house 32 boys and have two apartments for staff members. Also a horse show and rodeo arena are to be constructed.

Moss said representatives of the Ranch are planning to meet with Texas Civil Defense officials to discuss the inauguration of a fully-equipped Civil Defense unit for the San Angelo area.

Science And The Bible

Where there have been conflicts between scientists and the Bible, the scientists have, in most instances, revised their conclusions.

In favor of the Scriptures. For example, in 1861, the French Academy of Science published fifty-one scientific facts (so-called) every one of which was in contradiction to the Scriptures; but today there is not a man of science who holds to one of these.

As science develops we see the Bible vindicated in the pattern after point. This is the pattern that things have followed. So today when we see scientists in conflict with the Scriptures, we know that if we will just wait, the scientists will alter their conclusions. It is happening all the time. Tomorrow, we will refer to a case reported in the news just last week. Visit our services today. We uphold the Bible as the inspired word of God, which shall never pass away. Every sermon is a Bible message. Subjects today: "The Earnestness of Others" and "Seeking Godly Pearls" (10:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. —Adv.)

Factors Look Right For Future Growth Of Big Spring, Business Writer Reports

mesa Today, though, it is perilously easy for local trade to move to other centers for goods and services. And there have been strong signs that Big Spring has lost trade to competing cities. Much of its future growth should come through winning back some of this lost business.

THAT WEATHER!
 The land where Big Spring lies is high (2,450 feet above sea level) and rather dry (17.4 inches of precipitation a year). Yet, dry-land farming has been carried on in Howard County year after year, even against discouraging odds. Averages of temperature and rainfall for Big Spring are misleading for the climate is dangerously inconsistent. One year the rainfall may exceed 29 inches; the next it may fall short of 10 inches. In one year the month of April brought torrential rains that totaled nearly 13 inches. Nor is the temperature pattern stable. The July average is 72.7 degrees, is sometimes topped by thirty degrees or more on scorching summer afternoons. And January, with an average of 44.6 degrees, may bring northers that plunge the temperature below zero. The winds, too, belabor farmers for they often blow strongest in March and April, just when fields plowed for spring planting are still dry from the winter drought and most vulnerable to wind erosion.

All these impediments to agriculture are offset, at least partly, by the quality of the soil—and of the people. Howard County farmers and ranchers are long insured to the droughts and winds that rake the plains. Much of their land is covered with sandy loams that shade into heavy clay-like subsoils. Though not the most fertile soils in West Texas, they are highly productive and notably drought resistant. The Edwards Plateau, stony and unyielding laps across the southern rim of Howard County. There, the land is good for little but ranching; the gravelly soil is almost unworkable for crops. But the surface rocks and pebbles do help make the soil absorbent and protect it from surface evaporation.

OIL WEALTH
 Paradoxically, high, dry Big Spring owes its greatest wealth to the ocean. During Pennsylvania and Permian times, far back in geologic history, a basin 1,000 miles long, reaching from Mexico across Texas and Oklahoma to Kansas, was engulfed by the sea. For a time, the area was an open ocean. Later it passed through changes in depth and form, as the surface of the earth shifted and buckled. When the water finally retreated for the last time, marine deposits more than a mile thick were left in some places. Through folding and faulting, stratigraphic traps were formed in these beds of marine sediment, and in these traps oil and gas accumulated.

The end result has been vastly important to the area economy. In 1925 the first oil well near Big Spring was completed, a shallow hole that produced 25 barrels a day of petroleum. As more wells were drilled, a major field took shape along a buried anticline or fold in the rocks—that crossed Glasscock and Howard counties. Reservoirs of oil were found at as many as nine depths, ranging from 1,400 to 3,000 feet below the surface.

Oddly, it is the newest oil, in geologic terms, that was the first to be produced in the years since the initial Howard-Glasscock strike. Drillers have probed deeper beyond the Permian rocks, to even more ancient deposits of Pennsylvania age. The entire Permian basin oil region, outlined on the accompanying map, funnels crude petroleum into Big Spring for refining, one of the city's two most important basic industries.

CODSEN
 While petroleum is less dominant in the Big Spring economy than in those of neighboring Midland and Odessa, it remains the basic raw material of Big Spring industry, and one with a built-in growth factor. National demand for refinery products—motor fuels, paving materials, lubricants, and special products—is expected to double in the next two decades, and Big Spring's Codsden refinery, now a subsidiary of W. R. Grace & Co., is preparing to meet that increase in the market. Products of this plant help supply petroleum products throughout much of West Texas. But they go far beyond, too. Through the use of relatively new pipeline facilities, Big Spring is linked with the more heavily populated areas of the Mid-Continent region.

Originally built mainly to provide steam-locomotive fuel oil for the Texas & Pacific Railway, the Codsden plant was scarcely on stream when the 1929 financial crash came. During the depressed 1930s, the plant was barely able to stay in operation. By the boom years after World War II, the Texas & Pacific was dieselized and no longer in the market for the residual fuel oil produced by Codsden.

A new product line was needed, and Codsden turned first, in 1949, to asphalt for the postwar highway improvement program. Gasoline capacity at the plant was also increased. With the establishment of Webb Air Force Base in Big Spring, Codsden also turned to supplying jet fuel and aviation gasoline for the aircraft based just across the town from the refinery. A direct refinery-to-air base pipeline was built to serve this biggest single customer.

NEW PRODUCTS
 Another step in adapting to market demand was taken when Codsden began the manufacture of aromatic hydrocarbons—benzene, toluene, and xylene—in 1952. Five years later the company went into the plastics business with new units for making styrene and polystyrene. In 1958 a plant capable of turning out 22 million pounds a year of polystyrene pellets, for molding into plastic products, was in operation. And in 1960 work was begun on a multi-million-dollar project to boost the styrene output to 60 million pounds a year. The economies of its production and direct-marketing techniques and the relatively minor rank of Codsden among polystyrene makers is reflected in lower product prices, typically 1.5 cents a pound below those of major styrene suppliers.

Besides the petrochemicals made by Codsden, another oil-based product is being marketed at Big Spring, the marking of the powdery soot called carbon black. The Boston-owned Cabot Corporation operates a plant near Codsden that converts the fuel oils once burned in locomotive boilers into carbon black. In 1960 it was announced that a second plant, to be built by Sid Richardson Carbon Company, at a cost of $5 million, would boost Big Spring carbon output by 6 million pounds a year. The new plant will probably be in operation by early summer.

HOSPITALS
 Medical service is seldom seen as a major industry. But when the medical personnel and facilities of one city attract thousands of patients from outside the city, there is no question that medical care is a basic industrial activity. Big Spring has four private hospitals of substantial size and many physicians and dentists in private practice. But more important economically are two major public institutions, the Big Spring State Hospital and the Veterans Administration Hospital.

The state hospital operates as a general medical center for the mentally ill. Originally designed to care for about 350 patients, it has carried over twice that many registrations in recent years. Even with enlarged buildings, the hospital has had to transfer some patients to other state institutions, since the Big Spring facility is not always adequate for the numbers of patients who come there from the rapidly growing West Texas area it serves. In future years, the hospital will undoubtedly be enlarged, and its staff, at times considerably too small, will be augmented.

The Veterans Administration Hospital, like the Big Spring State Hospital, is staffed with about 260 employees. It is designed for the general medical treatment of qualified persons with priority given to treatment of veterans' service-incurred disabilities. Particular emphasis is given the treatment of terminal cases. As the veteran population increases in age, there will unquestionably be greater demand for the services of this hospital, and a recent forecast points to a 50 per cent increase in the hospital's staff and service load by 1980.

WEBB'S FUTURE?
 The third major industry in Big Spring is by all odds the least secure. This is the military installation, Webb Air Force Base. The immediate future of the base is promising, for a major increase in personnel is booked for 1961. Beginning in April, the air station will give preflight, primary, and basic pilot training under a consolidation program. Functions of five other bases, now being phased out, will be combined at Webb. Previously, only basic jet training has been offered there. The Air Force states that the consolidation will result in economies of instruction and maintenance and will allow pilot trainees to complete their entire training program at one base.

The longer-range view of the air base can hardly be seen with equal optimism. Decline in the use of manned military aircraft seems almost certain to decrease the need for flight personnel at Big Spring by 1980.

A statistical slip of the calculator helps dramatize how fast Big Spring is growing. According to one preliminary report of the Bureau of the Census, the Big Spring population grew by 13,702 between 1950 and 1960, while Howard County, which includes all of Big Spring and some other only 13,854.

If more people are moving into Big Spring than can readily be counted, even more new residents are being born right there. Final Census figures show the city grew from 17,286 in 1950 to 31,230 in 1960, an increase of 13,944. According to the Texas State Department of Health, there were 7,333 more births than deaths during the decade. Of course, there is no way of counting the persons who were born in, or came to, the county during the 1950's and left before the 1960 Census count. It seems sure, though, that half or more of the city's expansion is due to natural population increase.

LABOR FORCE
 Of the remaining 6,000 to 7,000 who moved to Big Spring during the decade and stayed to be counted, the largest numbers were probably attracted in one way or another by Howard County's two major industries: oil and chemical processing plants and government service installations, including a major air base and two large hospitals.

Of the total Big Spring labor force of 13,140, about 2,940 worked at Webb Air Force Base, according to a 1958 count. Another 831 were employed at the Codsden refinery, and 652 were employed in providing medical services, mainly at the State and Veterans Administration hospitals.

THE FUTURE
 In looking at the probable future pattern of economic growth in Big Spring, it is important to note that the economy of the entire West Texas region is rapidly changing. Massive development of mineral and agricultural resources in the past has sparked extraordinary population growth. Most of the population is located within the limits of some of the larger cities, Abilene, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa, Lubbock, and a few others. But the total area population is reaching what economists consider a critical size. That is, there are now about enough people in the region to support the production of some consumer products formerly shipped in from plants outside the region. Undoubtedly there will be new food-processing plants built to help feed the growing population. Perhaps there may be some production of apparel, particularly work clothing, although the relatively high wage rates that prevail in the oil country tend to act against this development. It is more than likely that small plastic fabrication plants will be built to make finished or semifinished goods of the petrochemical resins produced in both Big Spring and Odessa.

Some years ago the "big spring" that gave the city its name ran dry. But the future of this singular city, often misnamed "Big Springs," holds every promise of continuing its development into one of West Texas' major urban centers. Just last year, the Bureau of Business Research projected a 1980 Big Spring population of 62,700. And every economic barometer still points toward the city achieving this high goal.

Texas Electors To Cast Votes For Jack, LBJ

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas' 24 Democratic electors meet here Monday to cast their votes for President—elect John Kennedy and Vice President—elect Lyndon Johnson.

The brief ceremony at 2 p.m. in the Senate will be simple compared to the month-long controversy just completed between lawyers for the Democratic and Republican electors.

Republicans claimed the outcome of the Nov. 8 election in Texas might have been different if more than 100,000 ballots discarded by election judges had been counted. They asked that the Democratic electors be enjoined from casting their votes Monday and asked for a statewide recount.

A Houston federal court and the State Canvassing Board decided against the GOP protests Dec. 12. The action cleared the way for Monday's ceremony.

Secretary of State Zollic Slesakley, chairman of the canvassing board, will preside at the gathering of electors until a chairman can be elected. If any electors are absent, a replacement will be named by those present.

Then the electors will be asked how they vote in the presidential and vice presidential races.

The outcome apparently is secure since the June 14 State Democratic Convention provided that electors must agree to support the Democratic nominees if they won the state's popular vote. Two electors who would not make the agreement were replaced before the Nov. 8 election.

The electors then dig into their biggest task of the session, signing six certificates for each candidate to which are attached certified copies of the votes taken. Some of these certificates are filed in Austin, and some in Washington. The two important copies wind up with the president of the U. S. Senate for the Jan. 6 canvass of electoral votes by the joint houses of Congress.

After all the certificate signing the electors can apply for pay checks amounting to $50 each and travel pay of 10 cents a mile from their homes to Austin. Most electors pass up the per diem and travel pay to serve just for the honor.

The 24 electors include G. V. Harris, Greenville; Glynn Williams, Bryan; Wayne Justice, Athens; Fred Hartman, Baytown; Jimmy Horany, Archer City; Jack Weich, Brownsville; R. A. Lynch, Midland; C. C. Thompson, Colorado City; and E. E. Murphy, San Angelo.

Monthly Phone Fee Plan Told

DALLAS (AP)—A plan under which a telephone subscriber could make unlimited phone calls to other states for a fixed monthly fee has been proposed to the Federal Communications Commission by the Bell Telephone Company.

The service is called wide area telephone service, WATS for short.

A customer would pay a monthly rate for a special telephone line he could use to call states within a certain area as often as he likes.

If the FCC approves the plan Southwestern Bell will offer the service to customers in Texas next year, said Marvin Davidson, division manager.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
WACO, Tex. (AP)—Johnny Roland's running and pass-receiving led Corpus Christi Miller to an upset 13-6 victory over Wichita Falls for the Texas schoolboy football championship Saturday.

The gritty, hard-driving boys from South Texas outplayed their supposedly superior foes to take the second state championship in history for Miller.

Wichita Falls was trying for its fifth state title and had a 13-0 record for the season until Miller, with a 12-1 record, knocked it down.

Holland raced 37 yards for the first Miller touchdown and caught two passes for 29 yards in the big plays of the winning drive in the final period. The 185-pound senior racked up 103 yards running with the ball. Wichita Falls scored in the third period on a one-yard blast by Larry Shields, a 200-pound full-back who was halted like no other time by the smashing defense of the boys from the Gulf Coast.

It was the second straight year for Wichita Falls to be foiled in the finals by Corpus Christi. Last year Corpus Christi Ray beat the Coyotes for the title. Miller has been in the finals three times and won two titles. The first championship came in 1958 when Miller was known as Corpus Christi High School.

Wichita Falls might have at least tied for the championship—they would have been co-champs in case of a deadlock—with just a few more seconds. The Coyotes, with a 42-yard pass from Mike Kelly to Herbie Carr as the big play, rolled to the Miller 2-yard line in the second period. Shields rammed to the one-foot mark as time ran out.

A crowd of 10,000 sat in sunshine to watch the rugged battle, which found its turning point not in breaks but in the everlasting fight of the Bucs from the South. The Miller backs never were satisfied with being stopped after going 3 yards but got 4 more after being hit.

Wichita Falls drove to the Miller 38 the first time it had the ball, with Kelly gaining 21 yards and Shields 15 in the surge. But on fourth down Shields, of all things, quick-kicked with a yard needed for a first down.

After an exchange of fumbles, Miller smashed from its 23 to the Wichita Falls 25, only to be halted by a penalty and a pass interception. Miller came right back as soon as Wichita Falls kicked, and marched from its 24 to the Wichita Falls 37 before being stopped. Philip Gonzalez, who scored the winning touchdown with one-yard blast, ran 17 yards to keep the drive going.

Miller scored in the second period after getting the ball on the Wichita Falls 49. Marvin Kennedy made 12 and Roland then dashed 37 yards for the touchdown. Edmund Garza tried to run over the conversion and failed by 2 yards.

In the third period Wichita Falls swept 66 yards for its touchdown with Don Rector the big man. He made 31 yards, including 19 in one run. Kelly had 21 and Shields 14 in the surge, with Shields going over from a yard out.

Miller got its winning touchdown at the start of the fourth period. Morris Wilson ran a kick-off back 27 yards to the Wichita Falls 45. Ramon Gonzalez passed to Roland for 11 and for 18 in sending the drive along. Roland also made 13 yards in runs. Gonzalez got the touchdown with a one-yard smash and Lennie Taylor kicked the extra point.

It was Miller's ferocious ground attack that rocked Wichita Falls to its knees. The Bucs rolled up 224 yards rushing. But judicious use of the forward pass led to the winning touchdown that broke a 6-6 tie. Miller tried only three but completed two of them—the vital two big plays of the victory surge.

Wichita Falls managed 175 yards on the ground and 42 in the air—one pass completion. Kelly was the leading ground gainer for Wichita Falls with 75 yards in 17 carries. Shields was held to 38 on 21 runs.

Green Bay Wraps Up Divisional Crown

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Green Bay Packers sailed into their first National Football League division title in 16 years Saturday, winging to a 35-21 victory over the Los Angeles Rams.

Performing before a crowd of 53,445 in Memorial Coliseum, plus a nationwide television audience, the Packers' quarterback Bart Starr and right halfback Boyd Dowler connected with a spectacular 91-yard pass in the second quarter. It was the go-ahead score for the long starving Packers and the first of three explosive touchdowns by Green Bay in the second period.

The victory gave Green Bay the clear title to the Western Conference, erasing any possible playoff with the San Francisco 49ers. Detroit Lions or the defending champions Baltimore Colts.

Green Bay now goes into a playoff Dec. 26 with the Eastern Conference champions, the Philadelphia Eagles in Philadelphia.

A jubilant squad of Packers carried their coach, Vince Lombardi, halfway across the field after the final gun.

The outcome was their eighth triumph of the season against four losses, a tribute to the Lombardi regime since he took over at Green Bay in 1959.

The long-range aerial attack paid off for the Packers. Starr completed touchdown strikes to Max McGee for 37 yards, to Dowler for the 91-yarder, and Paul Hornung completed the devastation through the air-planes with a 40-yard scoring pass to McGee.

Defensive halfback Paul Winslow blocked a Ram punt in the end zone and recovered it for another Packer touchdown. A controversial pass interference penalty against Los Angeles set up the fifth and final Green Bay score with Hornung piling over from the one.

Albany Shades Crosby, 20-0

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP)—Johnny Agan and Dennis Tucker tore Crosby to shreds on the ground and Roy Hogan passed for a touchdown Saturday night to carry Albany to the Class A Texas schoolboy football championship with a 20-0 victory.

The clock struck 12 for the Cinderella boys from the south as the rugged Lions from the west struck with tempestuous fury in the second half and battered the Buffaloes from pillar to post.

Agan raced 30 yards for one touchdown. Tucker smashed a foot for another and Hogan passed to Rocky Hill 19 yards for the third as Albany won its first state championship in nine efforts. It lost in the finals of 1954 to come closest before.

A crowd of 4,000 roared as Tucker and Agan pulverized Crosby's thin red line with terrific that fought gamely against a bigger and favored foe. Albany finished the year with a 14-1 record. The lone loss was to Olney of Class AA in early season. Crosby was 10-5.

Albany thought it had a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage when Hogan passed to Hill on a 51-yard gainer, but Albany was penalized 5 yards for offense to wipe out the apparent score.

Then Crosby took over. First the Buffs rolled to the Albany 27 but were halted when Jim Wood intercepted a pass. Then the Buffs pushed 47 yards to the Albany 8, only to have the Lions' rugged pass defense turn them back.

Runnels Winner Of Tournament

ANDREWS — Runnels Junior High of Big Spring captured championship honors in the annual Andrews Basketball Tournament here Saturday night, trampling Lamar in the finals, 63-36.

The Yearlings, now boasting a 6-0 record, defeated Kermit, 49-35, and Lincoln of Abilene, 61-37, on the way to the finals.

Big Spring Goliad was defeated, 34-27, in the consolation finals by Andrews. Goliad's biggest player, Monty Clendenin, wasn't able to play and the Mavs' next two tallest boys, Kenneth Chrane and Tim Smith, fouled out near the end of the third period.

Humberto Hernandez bucketed 14 points for Runnels in the first game. Michael Peters led the way in the win over Lincoln with 14 points. In the title bout, DeeRoby Gartman set a fast pace with 16 points.

No all-tournament team was selected. For Goliad, Clendenin had ten points in the opening contest. Jodie Thompson tossed in 15 points

Texas, Alabama Play To A Tie

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—Ray Poage, a 204-pound sophomore, provided the power for a 71-yard fourth quarter surge that set up a 20-yard field goal by Dan Petty and permitted the Texas Longhorns to tie the Alabama, 3-3, Saturday in the second annual Bluebonnet Bowl.

Petty's kick came with just 4 minutes and 1 second remaining in the nationally televised game that was witnessed by a crowd of 68,000.

Until Poage cut loose with his power plays it had appeared the tough defensive battle was to have been settled by a 30-yard third quarter field goal by Tommy Brooker, a 206-pound Alabama junior.

An interference penalty at the Alabama 18 gave Texas another chance of the final play of the game but Petty's third field goal attempt of the day was wide. A third period kick also was wide after Texas had moved 58-yards to the Alabama 19.

An 18-yard punt return to the Texas 34 started the drive that led to Alabama's field goal. Brooker's kick was on the third play after Bobby Skelton passed to the Longhorn 14.

The Texas defense had snarled an Alabama opportunity to take a first quarter lead. The Tide moved 57 yards to the Texas one but the Longhorn line halted a fourth down attempt by Billy Richardson inches short of the goal line.

A penalty also played a major role in the Texas drive that tied the score. Poage, playing before hometown fans, had carried 36 yards on five plays to the Alabama 34, where the Tide drew a

Rival Polks To Pit Fives On Monday

LUBBOCK—Safer than a bet on a Russian election is a wager that Polk's team will win the Texas Tech-Vanderbilt basketball game here Monday night.

More cautious souls may insist on knowing "which Polk?"

Polk Robinson coaches the Texas Tech Red Raiders, and Bob Polk is coach of the visiting Commodores.

Actually, Texas Tech's coach is a former Tennessean. He was born in Springfield, not far from Nashville, home of Vanderbilt, and was named after President James Polk, a native of the Volunteer State.

Robinson moved at an early age to Ranger, Texas, and later to Lubbock, where he graduated from high school and Texas Tech. Less than a month ago Robinson, staff member 20 years, was named athletic director succeeding Nashville-born Dewitt Weaver. Weaver resigned to enter business in Mobile, Ala.

Vanderbilt's Polk grew up in Tell City, Ind., playing his college basketball at Evansville. After coaching in his hometown high school, Polk assisted at Georgia Tech before joining Vanderbilt as head coach in 1947.

Monday night's game will be the third played between the Polk-coached teams. In two games they played in Nashville, Vanderbilt won 53-49 in 1951 and 75-71 in 1953.

Contributing to the Tennessee interest is the fact that one of the Texas Tech cagers, Gilbert Varnell, is the son of the coach at the University of the South at Sewanee, La. Varnell, Gilbert is a 5-6 sophomore forward, dangerous with a jump shot and a good rebounder.

Halftime will be devoted to observance of "E. J. Holub Day," so proclaimed by Mayor David Casey in honor of Texas Tech's first athlete ever to make a major All-America first team.

Game time is 8 p.m. In the 6 p.m. preliminary, the Texas Tech frosh will meet the KCLV Rangers of Clovis.

rest of the sub-freezing afternoon the Easterners controlled the inter-sectional game, played before a crowd of 16,824 hardy fans.

Although State buried half a dozen hard-running backs at one of the nation's top defensive teams, Dick Hoak, a 185-pound senior, was the star of the day. He scored two touchdowns and passed for another. State led 21-12 as the game entered the fourth period with the stubborn Webfoots trying desperately to get back into the game.

Hoak, who alternated at quarterback with Galen Hall, intercepted two Oregon passes in the final quarter. He followed the interceptions by racing for an 11-yard touchdown and passing 33 yards to Dick Pae for another, turning the game into a rout.

Oregon, which has a 7.1 regular season record, led only once, 6-0, on quarterback Dave Grosz's score from the 1 on a quarterback sneak in the first period.

Cleveland Jones, 148-pound star Oregon halfback, missed the conversions, then left for the balance of the game with an injured hip.

The loss of Jones, the Webfoots' leading scorer, passed a 76 lead. Oregon scored the only TD of the third period on a 10-yard run by Dave Grayson, a 172-pound dynamo who played a fine game for the losing Ducks. This was a dying gasp for the Oregon club as State headed into a rousing three-touchdown fourth period finish.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

When the members of the 1930-31 Big Spring High School basketball team gather here next week for a reunion, the principals are apt to talk about football, too. . . . The 1931 Steers had a good football team, although it won only two of 12 starts. . . . Members of the football squad that year, in addition to the late Delbert Rogers, who was captain, included Raleigh "Noogie" Mims, Bill Flowers, Howard Schwarzbach, Oscar Heblison, Brownie Hanshaw, Forrest Coburn, Cecil Neal, Bob Kidwell, Frank Orr, Virgil Sanders, Carlton Coburn, David Hopper, Ted Phillips and Fred Martin, to name a few. . . . Perhaps the highlight of the campaign occurred when Flowers, who went on to captain the Tulane University team, ran 82 yards to score against Breckenridge in a game the Buckies won, 19-6. . . . Breck, that season, was led by the great Boone Magness. . . . The Big Spring cagers that season beat a Breckenridge team in bi-district play which was led by Truman Spain, later an All-America football tackle at SMU. . . . The 1930-31 Longhorns were the first local contingent ever to play in the state meet at Austin. . . . An invitation has been extended to Olie Correll, the Steer football star of the mid-30's, to attend the reunion. . . . Sixteen of the 23 football players who won varsity letters at Eastern New Mexico University the past season are Texans and 12 of those will return next season. . . . Eastern won four of nine starts this year. . . . The Odessa High School Bronchos won their first nine basketball games this fall and the ex-Big Spring, Dubby Malaise, scored 20 or more points in each of the contests. . . . Reports from Ector County say the present Odessa team is probably as good and may be better than the one that won 28 of 29 starts two years ago. . . . Jackie (Kid) Berg, one of the all-time greats in British boxing, admitted recently he was broke. . . . He earned more than $40,000 in the ring.

A. S. McCLANAHAN

Tyler Deserving Of No. One Rating

A. S. McClanahan, the local jeweler, has a gold-plated golf putter decorated with six diamonds and two rubies. . . . The unique stick was mentioned in an edition of Golf Digest magazine earlier this year. . . . McClanahan values the club at more than $500. . . . The SMU freshman basketball team reportedly has beaten the Mustangs recently. . . . However, the Colts lost to Tyler last week, 117-65. . . . Tyler, led by 6-foot-10 Pete Petrow and two 6-6 boys, Folly Malone and Don Echelema, is the No. One seeded team in the upcoming Howard County Junior College tournament of 23 Reddy teams to HCJC, 75-65, here last week. Allen Academy yielded to Tyler, 58-52, in Bryan and by 17 points in Tyler. . . . Allen, a tremendous team despite his mediocre record, had Kilgore 17 points down at half time, yet led, 78-49. . . . Bob Goodley, the rising young pro golfer, won 11 all-time letters while in high school at Belleville, Ill., and turned down good baseball offers from the Cleveland Indians, Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates. . . . Having earned $22,800 in golf courses alone this year, Goodley feels justified in having picked golf. . . . The official family at the Big Spring Country Club had hopes that the membership list would rise above the 265 it is today. . . . The club has room for 400. . . . Joe McLaughlin, the Abilene scribbler, says his city lost out in bidding for the Denver City-Belleville playoff football game this weekend because the Belleville people wanted it played where a Santa Fe special train could be sent. . . . Joe Glambra, who was agreeable to fighting here two years ago, is slowly making progress on the fiscal ladder. . . . He recently beat Mr. TV himself, Ralph (Tiger) Jones. . . . The good-looking Glambra, who told this writer he hopes one day to become an actor, is out of action with a broken finger, however. . . . Joey is back fighting out of Buffalo, N.Y., something he said he'd never do when he visited here.

San Angelo Looks To Western League

Buddy Travis, who has seen both boys in action against his team, says he'd be inclined to pick San Angelo College's Buzz Bailey over Del Mar's Dick Cramer, because of "his value to the team". . . . Cramer is being compared favorably with the finest players in the history of Del Mar. . . . Larry McElyea and Kenneth Clearman heckled Cramer when HCJC beat Del Mar in the San Antonio tournament and Cramer's play was affected, to say the least. . . . Had Bailey transferred to San Angelo from Midwestern University this year rather than at midterm in the 1959-60 school year, he wouldn't have been eligible under existing National Junior College Association rules. . . . San Angelo, by the way, is almost certain to join the Western JC Athletic Conference, of which HCJC is a member, now that the Pioneer Conference has broken up. . . . Addition of the Rams could make the circuit the most powerful juco league in America. . . . Charles Comiskey wanted to hang onto his 46 per cent of the Chicago White Sox for good reason. . . . He'll collect $300,000 in dividends alone

Winsham Lad In Easy Romp

EL PASO—In one of his most convincing performances, the colt Jockey Gale Mower, who fits the Los Alamitos, was born to ride him, let him set his own pace all the way. He hit the first turn a half-length in front and galloped down the backstretch, with Footfall and Proud Way making repeated but unsuccessful challenges.

Mower remained motionless throughout the race and never once called on Laddie for his best. Rounding the turn for home, Ginos Dream appeared to make a bid as a huge hole opened up on the rail but Mower and Company merely lengthened stride and coasted under the wire with three lengths of open daylight separating them from their exhausted rivals.

Backed down to less than even money, the winner paid $3.50. Footfall was second, with Blanter four lengths back for the show.

Trainer Herby Claggett, with several of his 14 women drivers proudly looking on, said his charge was at his best this afternoon and said he is a definite starter in the $15,000 Sunland Park Handicap January 8.

Jockey Ralph Neves arrived from California to ride in the Texas Derby Sunday and crowned Forward Gunner the winner of the Ralph Neves Purse.

A crowd of 2,362 fans were on hand and wagered $160,644 on the ten-race card.

CINCINNATI (AP)—The National League made it official Saturday that Dick Groat of the Boston Red Sox was the world championship Pittsburgh Pirates won the 1960 league batting championship. . . . Groat, who missed a number of games near the end of the season because of an injury, nosed out Norm Larker of the Los Angeles Dodgers by two percentage points.

The last time a batting championship was won with a lower average was in 1919 when Edd Roush of the Cincinnati Reds led the league with a .319 mark.

Milwaukee's Hank Aaron, who led the league in 1959 with .355, finished in a 12th and 13th place tie this year with Eddie Kasko of the Cincinnati Reds with .292.

In a surprise move, Giese announced he will remain as athletic director and head of the school's physical education department. The university gave him what amounted to department head status in a new contract last year.

In his five seasons as head coach here, Giese compiled a 28-21-1 record.

Bass, 41, is a one-time head coach at William & Mary and assistant at North Carolina under the late Jim Tatum. He served as an assistant to Giese here until last year, when he went to Georgia Tech.

Shoulders To Make Big Dallas Bid

By ROBERT E. FORD
DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The shadow of wily, cat-like Jim Shoulders hangs over the State Fair Livestock Coliseum these days as preparations begin for the National Finals Rodeo Dec. 26-Jan. 1. Shoulders, acclaimed the continent's No. 1 rodeo cowboy four straight years, can't win the all-around title. Two serious facial accidents in arenas put him out of competition just long enough to keep him a hair's breadth from title contention.

Shoulders still can win the bareback bronc riding championship. And he is within striking distance of second place in the all-around competition. The Henryetta, Okla. cowboy won $21,228 in rodeos this year, and could win $9,200 in the "World Series" here. He is entered in bareback bronc and bull riding. Leading for the coveted all-around title is Harry Tompkins of Dublin, Tex., with $31,218 this season. Titles in each of the five major events are determined on one point for each dollar won during the year. The all-around title is determined by totaling the money winnings of a contestant in two or more events during the year. To contend for this crown, the cowboy must win in more than one of the five contest divisions. Thus Dean Oliver, a calf roping specialist, won $27,144 but cannot compete for the all-around title. Except for some hoopla in the grand opening and grand finale parade, the National Finals are pure rodeo.

Brownwood Lions Capture State AAA Grid Crown

AUSTIN (AP)—Brownwood, picked by the so-called experts to finish fourth in its district, held the Class AAA schoolboy football championship Saturday. The Lions crushed Fort Lavaca 26-4 here Friday night to win their first title in history.

Coach Gordon Wood, who won 81 of 87 games during his seven years at Class AA Stamford, will have six starters returning next year at Brownwood. This was the first time Brownwood had been past the bi-district stage. Fort Lavaca was making its first appearance in the playoffs since 1949. Five juniors started on Bobby Goff's team. Brownwood quarterback Ben Elledge, who scored once and threw three touchdown passes, will be back next year.

Charles Miller On Exclusive 11

DALLAS (AP)—Charles Miller of Austin College is on the Little All-America Academic Football team named Saturday by Lester Jordan, sports publicity director of SMU. The team was selected by the college sports publicity men. To make it a player must have a B average in the classroom while also starring on the gridiron. Miller, quarterback of the Sherman team, was named captain because of his outstanding record. He led the nation's small colleges in total offense and during the school year turned in five A's and one B.

Foot Returns To Football

By The Associated Press
The foot was back in football during the 1960 collegiate season. The kicking specialists were more successful with their punting, extra points and field goals than they were last year. Teams and individuals set all kind of kicking records, including net yards advanced by punting and points gained by field goals. No fewer than 38 major college games were won by three-pointers, compared to 23 in 1959 and 15 in 1958. Ten of the 17 games won or tied during the final minute of play were pulled out of the fire by field goals. Two of the winning kicks came on the last play.

Lamesa Defeats Steers, 55-41

Erratic passing cost the Big Spring Steers dearly in their game with Lamesa here Friday night, won by the Tornados, 55-41. The Longhorns made the mighty Tornados hustle all the way and on four occasions pulled to within two points of the visitors. When the chips were really down, however, the defending state AAA titleists pulled away.

Leslie Williams, who had 11. Big Spring's attack was led by junior Dick Ebling, who had 12 points, all of them the result of field goals. Ebling hit all of his shots from outside the keyhole. Little George Ryan had eight points and Donnie White seven for Big Spring. The Big Spring B team was snowed under in the preliminary bout, losing to the Lamesa reserves by the score of 45-18. The Dogies, who hadn't lost a game until Friday night, could count only four points the first half.

The others are deceased.

Finley Is Due To Get Okeh As A's Owner

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A six-year campaign to buy a major league baseball club apparently will succeed for Charles Finley Monday when he is expected to become majority stockholder of the Kansas City Athletics. Finley, 42 and a wealthy Gary, Ind., insurance broker, outbid a group of local business men who have been trying to buy the 52 per cent interest left by the late Arnold Johnson. Johnson, who bought the club and moved it here from Philadelphia in 1955, died last March.

Judge Robert Dunne of the Chicago Probate Court, who must approve the sale of the Johnson estate's holdings, adjourned a hearing Friday when it became plain Finley would bid up to $2 million for the stock if necessary. If minority stockholders were to sell to Finley at a comparable price, the club would cost him some $3,800,000.

Bobby Shantz Shipped To Pittsburgh Bucs

By The Associated Press
Baseball's second annual inter-league trading period ended at midnight Friday after a three-week stretch that found dealing considerably subdued from the pace set by swap-happy general managers a year ago. From Nov. 21 until the deadline Friday night, there were only 10 transactions involving 23 players, eight of the inter-league variety including three cash sales. The last one, several hours before the clock struck midnight, saw the new Washington club in the American League ship veteran left-hander Bobby Shantz to the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates in exchange for three minor leaguers — first baseman

R.C. Stevens, third baseman Harry Bright and pitcher Benny Daniels. Shantz, a key relief man for the New York Yankees last season, had been obtained by Washington only last Wednesday in the American League draft to stock its two new teams. The only other last-day action was sale of left-hander Danny McDevitt by the Los Angeles Dodgers to the Yankees for a sum reported slightly above the $20,000 waiver price. Last year, when the inter-league period made its debut, there were 15 deals involving more than 50 players.

that sent former American League batter Champ Harvey Kuenen from the Cleveland Indians to the San Francisco Giants for left-hander Johnny Antonelli and outfielder Willie Kirkland. Four days later Detroit traded second baseman Frank Bolling plus a player to be designated later to Milwaukee for outfielder Bill Bruton, second baseman Chuck Cottier, catcher Dick Brown and relief pitcher Terry Fox. Thursday, the Braves were active again as they figured in a three-way deal with the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago White Sox. In that one, Milwaukee traded pitcher Juan Pizarro and Joey Jay to the Reds for shortstop Roy McMillan. The Reds kept Jay and swapped Pizarro and right-hander Cal McLish to the White Sox for third baseman Gene Freese. The other inter-league trade of a major nature was Thursday's deal that sent right-hander Gene Conley to the Boston Red Sox with Frank Sullivan, another right-hander, going to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Ernie Koy Jr. No. One Player

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Ernie Koy Jr., the Bellville halfback, has been named No. 1 Texas schoolboy football player on the 1960 All-Southern squad. Putt Powell of the Amarillo News and Globe-Times made the selection. He is the Texas chairman. Koy is the son of Ernie Koy, former University of Texas football star and big league baseball player. Ernie Sr. has just been placed in the University of Texas Athletic Hall of Fame.

San Angelo Rams Triumph, 76-66

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo College thrashed Odessa JC, 76-66, in a basketball game here Friday night. The win was the second without a defeat for the Rams, who play HCJC in Big Spring next Tuesday. Bubba Bailey scored 27 points for San Angelo while William Keel followed with 18. Dave Kaminski tossed in 23 for Odessa. San Angelo led at half time, 44-38.

Three Contenders In Eliminations

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Paul Sullivan, chairman of the National Boxing Association's world championships committee, said Saturday three contenders have entered an elimination tournament for the NBA light-heavyweight title. They are Harold Johnson of Philadelphia, No. 1 contender in the NBA rankings; Eric Schoepner of Germany, No. 3; and Willie Pastrano of Miami Beach, Fla., No. 4. Sullivan said the No. 2 contender, Willie Caldwell of Scotland, did not meet a Dec. 15 deadline to enter the eliminations and is "deemed to be unavailable."

Hogs Lean On Tough Defense In Bowl Go

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS (AP)—How does the 25th Cotton Bowl football game between Arkansas and Duke shape up?

Cold statistics say it will be offense vs. defense and defense won more games for Arkansas than offense did for Duke.

There is a paradox. While Duke gained more yards and moved the ball better, it didn't score as well as Arkansas.

First, the game pits a team with an 8-2 record (Arkansas) against a team with a 7-3 record (Duke). Duke lost two of its games by fairly wide margins—31-6 to Michigan, 27-6 to UCLA. Arkansas lost one game by three points (to Mississippi 16-7) and the other by 14 (28-14 to Baylor). It won four games by 7 points or less.

In other words, every game was a ball game with Arkansas. Duke beat Navy 19-10, one of the big victories of the season in college football. Arkansas didn't knock over any team rated as highly as Navy. The only one it met was Mississippi and it lost that.

Duke rolled up 1,872 yards rushing and 939 passing. Duke got more yards on the ground than Arkansas, which moved for 1,670 yards, but Arkansas got more yards in the air, going to the air for 958. Duke passed more but got less yardage out of it.

Defensively, Duke wasn't too hot. The Blue Devils gave up 265.5 per game. Arkansas allowed 197.5, which is 68 yards less.

Individually, Duke also boasts an edge offensively. Mark Leggett ran for 436 yards and Dean Wright for 323 in the Blue Devil rushing attack. Lance Alworth got 375 and Billy Moore 215 in the Arkansas ground offensive.

Don Altman completed 68 passes for 552 yards for Duke. George McKinney connected on 39 for 728 yards for Arkansas. Altman completed more but didn't get as much yardage out of them as McKinney did with 29 fewer completions. That should prove something.

Arkansas has been more accustomed to winning lately. It has grabbed 21 of its last 25 games. Duke has won only 11 of its last 20.

All this appears to be building up a case for Arkansas, which will be favored to win. But Coach Frank Broyles wonders if it actually isn't a handicap.

He said after Duke lost its last game of the season to UCLA, "It's going to be hard to get my boys in the proper frame of mind to play this one."

Arkansas won its last four games of the season, the final one by 28 points. The Razorbacks might get the idea Duke was in a slump since it lost its last two.

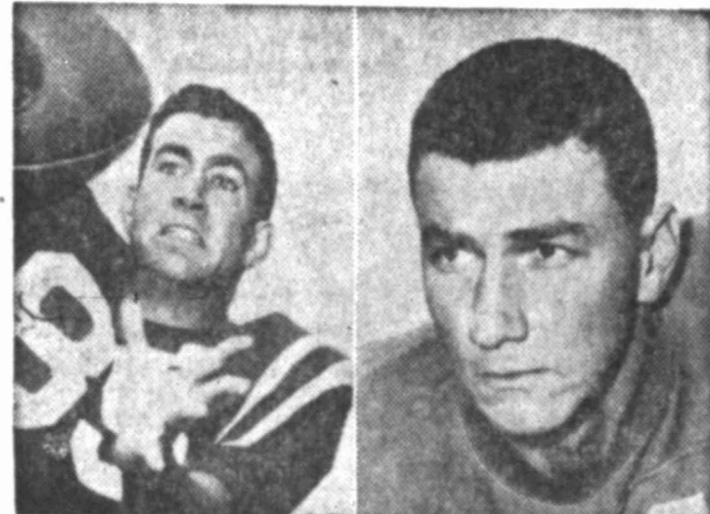

With those psychological factors working against Arkansas and Duke obviously a strong team when "on its game," the Jan. 2 Cotton Bowl might be one of the most dramatic of the season in the history of the post-season classic.

Alworth

Rivals In Cotton Bowl

When Arkansas plays Duke in the 1961 Silver Anniversary Cotton Bowl Classic on Jan. 2 at Dallas, these players will be seen in action. Lance Alworth is the spectacular Arkansas halfback and Wayne Harris is the All-American linebacker center for the Razorbacks. Tee Moorman, a pass-snatching All-American, is the "one-some" end in the Duke attack while Dee Altman runs the Blue Devil offense at quarterback.

McLeod Faces A Busy Month In 2 Sports

ABILENE — December, 1960, is undoubtedly the most outstanding month in the athletic career of Robert McLeod, Abilene Christian's great two-sport star.

It will probably be also the busiest he will play in seven basketball games and two football games before the month is out. Winding up pre-holiday basketball play with the Wildcats Saturday at Arlington State, he will report to Arizona where he will play in two football bowl contests.

McLeod, a 6-5, 200-pound end, will play with the Small College All-Americans in the All American Bowl facing the Major College All-Americans. This game will be played Dec. 24 at the University of Arizona Stadium in Tucson.

Moving on to Phoenix, he will appear in the Copper Bowl Dec. 25. This match will be the All-Stars with the Southwest All-Stars.

He will miss the Wildcats' appearance in the 8th annual McNeese Holiday Basketball tournament Dec. 28-29 at Lake Charles, La., but will whisk back to Abilene for ACC's first 1961 basketball game vs. Howard Payne on Jan. 2.

During the football season, McLeod said that he planned not to play basketball his senior year, but on the eve of ACC's departure for an opening tour of Kentucky and Tennessee he joined the team.

With only three drills he played most of the opener against Murray State. He started against Western Kentucky two nights later, was the Wildcats' high scorer with 16 points, and has started every game since.

Through five games he leads ACC in scoring with 87 points and a 17.4 average. He has pushed the Wildcats' career scoring record, which he originally snapped last winter, to 1,276. Against Southwestern Oklahoma State on Dec. 13 he scored 39 points, only four short of his one-game record of 43.

Football honors have also poured on McLeod during December. He has been named to Williamson Rating System's mid-bracket All-American team for the second year, the Dallas Morning News All-Texas College team for the third year, the AP Little All-American honorable mentions for the third year, and the Abilene Reporter-News All-Abilene Collegiate team for the third year.

He plans to play pro football after graduation and was the 12th round choice of the Houston Oilers in the American Football League draft.

Mustangs Hold First Crown

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Denver City's explosive Mustangs, held their first state championship Saturday after their 26-21 victory over Bellville in Class AA.

It marked the first time in history for the Mustangs to win the Class AA crown.

With 719 points they became only the third team in Interscholastic League history to eclipse the 700 mark.

Bert Gravitt, the ponies' quarterback, stamped himself as one of the state's finest backs, regardless of division.

It happened Friday in the sunbaked San Angelo stadium before a crowd of 9,500.

Gravitt scored two touchdowns, passed for another and set up a fourth with a 65-yard kickoff return as the Mustangs nudged Bellville's previously unbeaten Brahmas.

But where Gravitt was superb for the winning team, nothing could be taken from Ernie Koy Jr., the powerful 204-pound Bellville halfback.

Koy closed out a high school career by scoring all three Bellville touchdowns — on runs of 11, 83 and 19 yards. Also gaining honors in the action — packing game were Bellville's crushing fullback Joe Lynn and Denver City's speedy fullback, Marcel Dorety.

Neves Will Ride Filly In Derby

EL PASO — Veteran booter Ralph Neves has been named to ride the fleet filly Go On, winner of her only start here, in the $5,000 Texas Derby Sunday.

A bay daughter of Silver Horse, Go On has won five races this year and has twice defeated Madan, winner of the New Mexico Futurity.

Owner Rudy Krize, here from Fairbanks, Alaska, to watch the second renewal of the Derby, said he was thrilled to have Neves pilot his filly.

The last two runnings of the Derby have been won by the fairer sex, Glenn Bamford's Cowale the event last year, while Mars Shield, sporting the colors of the famous Milky Way Farms, won the event in its last running at Arlington Downs near Dallas in 1957.

Milk Bowl Game To Be In Valley

MCALLEN, Tex. (AP)—A director of the National Milk Bowl said Saturday the annual small fry football classic will be played in Texas lower Rio Grande Valley Dec. 31.

The game was originally set for Monterrey, Mexico, but director Eugene Wefer of McAllen said negotiations with officials of that Mexican city fell through.

Wefer said the Pharr-San Juan-Alamo Quarterback Club has agreed to sponsor the game but a stadium was not decided on immediately.

The teams this year will be the McKeesport, Pa., Little Tigers and the Houston, Tex., Variety Boys Club.

Wefer said the Pennsylvania team will arrive in the Valley Dec. 27 and the Houston club Dec. 29.

Bear Aerialists Pile Up Yardage

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Passers Bobby Ply and Ronnie Stanley were back on the beam Saturday as Baylor piled up heavy yardage in a scrimmage against Florida defenses.

Baylor meets Florida in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. Dec. 31.

Ronnie Bull was running at his sparkling best against the red-shirts while halfbacks Ronnie Goodwin and Tommy Minter and ends Jerry Moore and Ted Plumb were doing an especially good job of catching Ply's and Stanley's passes.

Plumb came up with a brace of his patented catches and Moore not only caught several long gainers but also set a sharp blocking pattern for the entire squad.

HCJed without the services of Jerry Tillman and Elvis Spradling, two boys who have been performing for it. The two were held out by coach Buddy Travis for use against Cisco Saturday night.

Harold Rossman led Goodfellow in scoring with 18 points while Jerry Turner followed with 15. Clark Jennings kept HCJC in contention with a 13-point output. Goodfellow led at half time, 30-23.

Another Entry

This is another entry in the Home Decoration Contest, sponsored each Christmas season by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and the Garden Club Council. This doorway decoration was submitted by Mrs. M. C. Sneed, 2303 Grace, and will compete for three cash prizes in its division and an overall $50 award. Deadline for entries is Dec. 21.

Drivers Urged To Use Care

Downtown Christmas traffic congestion, already conceded to be a headache, has brought a plea for shopper cooperation from police.

An even greater swell of traffic, caused by last-minute shoppers, is expected to choke the business area, as well as the neighborhood shopping centers this week.

Police Chief Jay Banks pointed out that, while officers are patrolling on foot those areas where traffic is heaviest, residents can help keep congestion to a minimum.

Double parking was cited as a major cause of stalled-up traffic. Chief Banks urges all motorists to cooperate in eliminating this problem. "Keep moving," the chief asks.

Again, the exercise of patience and caution on the part of motorists caught in the tide of heavy traffic is urged by the chief. A minor fender-bending accident, caused by angry, impatient drivers, stacks up traffic as bad as double parking.

The 300 and 300 blocks of Main are currently the spots where traffic is worse snarled and officers are concentrating efforts there during peak traffic periods.

A patrolman is also to be posted in the Eleventh Place shopping center vicinity, according to Lt. Stanley Bogard. Traffic in that area is turning into a problem during the late afternoon hours

YMCA Worker Assigned To Eliminate His Job

Norman Ford took an assignment in India with peculiar instructions: "Work yourself out of a job."

Ford told two dozen YMCA representatives here how the YMCA World Service program is helping train native leadership to assume charge of the operation and extension of the YMCA program in their lands. Ford is in charge of boys work in India and Ceylon and directs leadership training.

Besides describing the type of work that is being done to develop leaders who will play key roles in those countries tomorrow, he spoke a word for the Buildings for Brotherhood movement. This is a fund raised largely in the United States which is appropriated to foreign YMCAs as a leavening for construction of physical facilities.

"For every dollar we receive we raise two," he said of the work in India. "This is the first time we ever attempted to raise any money for any purpose by popular subscription. We are finding that the people of India and Ceylon are like people here; they will give if they are convinced of a need. It may be more sacrificial giving, but they are responding."

The YMCA goes only into countries where it is invited, he explained. World Service (the Y's missionary program) helps finance 51 secretaries in 33 countries. As soon as they can establish YMCAs and train leadership, they are reassigned to new fields.

"We aren't interested in establishing our own brand. We simply plant the idea, and they develop it," he said.

He projected films showing how

GARDEN TALK

Maybe Our Plants Are Just Plain Mixed-Up

Several people have asked why trees and flowering shrubs are blooming late this fall. J. D. O'Barry on 18th street and Bill Crooker both asked me why their crab apple trees had bloomed. Ed Fisher asked about the forsythias blooming on Washington Blvd. and my wife pointed out that our red bud tree was blooming this fall. Several other people have noted trees blooming out of season also.

The best explanation I can give is that they are mixed up. This is not too unusual and is probably caused by weather conditions. Checking weather records at the Howard County Junior College weather station, we had a very dry fall. That was ideal for harvesting high quality cotton, but it also caused many trees to become dormant earlier than they usually do. Both drought and cold weather can make a tree shed its leaves and slow down its growth functions.

After this unusual dormancy, a bit of moisture and rather warm days and cool nights may have stimulated the trees into spring growth. It is also quite likely that these same trees will not bloom well next spring as the flower forms have been spent, and they probably won't be replaced with new buds in the spring. This could forecast a light fruit crop if the damage was wide spread. I doubt that there was any great damage, but it was unusual. There were probably many other people who noticed the out-of-season blooming at different places. I can't recall this happening in so many places and on so many varieties of plants before.

I have found that people are very helpful in pointing out these oddities and in several cases the unusual events have led to discoveries of plant diseases, abnormalities, or facts that were not previously known. Whenever you write in your observations you may be helping other people discover new answers to problems of our area. I appreciate hearing from you.

Your letters go into a special file I am keeping and in time I hope it will help us get a better picture of horticulture in West Texas.

For answers to your garden questions, write Bruce Frazier in care of the Herald.

Long Notes Decrease In Delinquency

A case load of 115 juveniles and a sharp decrease in the number of commitments to the state schools were noted Saturday in a summation by A. E. Long, juvenile officer.

During the year, said Long, 90 boys were handled as delinquent cases and 15 girls. This approximated three per cent of the boys of juvenile age and one per cent of girls in that age bracket, he said.

Of this group, 25 boys were repeaters and four girls were repeat offenders. There were 11 juvenile boys picked up for drunkenness, but there were no repeaters for this offense.

Twenty-five boys and girls were intercepted here or elsewhere as runaways from Howard and other counties, and Long estimated this was about half the figure for a year ago.

There was a consistent pattern in the number committed to the state school—12 boys or some 45 per cent less, and two girls, half the previous year's total. Six of the boys sent to the school went back for a second or third time.

During the year 30 boys and five girls were placed on probation.

Long estimated about a 50 per cent reduction in delinquents with court contacts during this year and he attributed it to better supervision at home by parents, and to the work of the Salvation Army, churches, Little Leagues, Boy Scouts and other agencies, and to the fact that some juveniles changed their residences.

HOLIDAY PARTY TABLES

JUSTIFIABLE ADMIRATION of their tea table is reflected on the faces of Mrs. W. A. Hunt, seated, in picture above, Mrs. John A. Coffey and Mrs. Horace Garrett as they finish preparations for the tea to be given this afternoon. Guests for the affair, slated for the Hunt home, 626 Tulane, will be the faculty, staff and board of Howard County Junior College. Green linen forms the setting for the attractive centerpiece in all-white. White poinsettias and silvered white foliage with silver balls make a base for a large white candle.

FINISHING TOUCHES are put on the tea table by Mrs. G. T. Hall, at left in picture above, and Mrs. Fred Beckham at the Hall home. Members and guests of the Music Study Club gathered there after the Christmas musicale Wednesday afternoon at the Wesley Methodist Church. Mrs. Beckham was chairman of the social committee, which assisted in entertaining. Red carnations and holly made the centerpiece, while handsome silver candelabra held white tapers. Green plates and red cups repeated the green and red color scheme on the cut-work cloth of white linen. (Photos by Keith McMillin).

ALL SET FOR OPEN HOUSE, is the table at left, with the exception of the fruit cake and other delicacies which delighted guests at the John I. Balch home when Mr. and Mrs. Balch entertained with an open house. A white angel, based in white poinsettias, was combined with white doves to form a lovely contrast against the red net cloth over red underlay. Felt applied to the net makes a border on the cloth, and Christmas bells enhance the skirt.

VA Doctor, Family

pole. The family moved here from Tucson where they had lived for the past 14 years.

Paul F. Kionka Family Comes From Tucson

The family of Dr. Paul F. Kionka consists of Mrs. Kionka, her mother Mrs. Mattie Maypole and a son Roger.

Roger, who is almost ten, is a fourth grade student at Park Hill School.

The Kionkas recently moved to Big Spring from Tucson, Ariz., where they had made their home for the past 14 years. Dr. Kionka, a staff physician at the VA Hospital, has been associated with VA since shortly after his discharge from the Navy in 1947. Before then he was in private practice in Arlington Heights and Bloomington, Ill., for 13 years.

Mrs. Kionka is a school teacher at heart. Soon after her graduation from Rockford College, Rockford, Ill., where she was an art major, she became art supervisor in the Maywood, Ill., elementary schools. Mrs. Kionka's home town is Maywood.

Dr. Kionka is a graduate of the University of Illinois Branch Medical College in Chicago and the University of Illinois in Urbana, Ill. His hometown is Melrose Park, Ill.

The family pet, a cat named Junior, was unable to accompany the family to Big Spring. Junior couldn't ride in the car because of car sickness, so he was left in Tucson.

The couple attended the same high school but didn't meet until Mrs. Kionka was teaching school with the doctor's sister. After they married, they moved to Tucson where they made their first home.

Mrs. Maypole, has made her home with the family for several years.

The Kionkas find life very amusing. Some of the things they enjoy are photography, gardening, golf, swimming, traveling, music, concerts, drama and bridge. Mrs.

Kionka especially enjoys interior decorating. Roger is interested in all kinds of models, but thinks that cars are the most interesting. He also enjoys reading.

The family is making their home at 1610 Pennsylvania.

Produce To Be Slightly Higher

By The Associated Press
Recent cold and rain in vegetable growing areas raised wholesale food prices at Texas food markets this week.

Selling some higher are carrots, sweet corn, cucumbers, egg plant, lettuce, dry onions and yellow squash, the Agricultural Marketing Service reported.

California avocados are lower; cauliflower, a bit lower. Most other fruit and vegetables remain unchanged.

Vegetables claiming "good buy" honors, on the basis of supply and general price levels, include cabbage, celery, carrots, greens and green onions, potatoes, purple-top turnips and sweet potatoes.

Fruits on the week's best-buy list are apples, cranberries, Texas grapefruit and oranges, tony and emperor grapes.

New items this week at some markets include papayas from Hawaii and coconuts from Honduras. Texas tangerines are being offered in light supply. Chestnuts, other tree nuts and peanuts continue to be featured in many stores.

No shortage of fresh Christmas trees is in sight at most markets. Meat production in recent weeks has been at year-high levels, although pork is running considerably lower than last year. Beef is in especially good supply.

Broilers and turkeys are plentiful and economical for holiday serving. Egg prices dropped noticeably last week.

Nuts and Greens

When company comes, brown almonds or walnuts in a little butter in a skillet and add to a salad of crisp greens, orange sections and paper-thin onion rings. French dressing for this.

New Chemical Is For Safer Holiday

This Christmas, a chemical can be the guardian of your holiday festivities and the whole family will be protected from the frightening hazard of Christmas tree fire. Inside the gift is the new non-toxic dry chemical shaker fire-extinguisher, the perfect extinguisher for home use.

The shaker unit heads the list of this year's unusual yet practical gifts: It's attractive enough to hang in the kitchen—light enough to carry in the car. This is one Christmas gift that means built-in fire protection for the entire family.

Forsan School Has Yule Program, Party

FORSAN (SC) — "Christmas Comes to Santa's Workshop" was a playlet given Thursday evening in the Forsan gymnasium by pupils of the school.

Narrator was Mrs. Ronnie Gandy, and the accompanist was Darla Sue Dunagan. Mrs. Thomas Spell was director with Ronnie Gandy, stage manager. Music was provided by members of the junior and high school choirs, and Mrs. Roy Klahr was responsible for the settings.

Taking part in the program were Donald Dunagan as Santa; blocks were portrayed by the fourth grade; merry Christmas by the first grade and the fourth grade represented a train.

Dolls were from the second grade, while the second and third grade pupils were stuffed animals. Elves came from the second grade, and dishes were members of the third, fourth and fifth grades.

Music boxes and other musical instruments were represented by the fifth grade pupils, with letters by the sixth grade; at the spotlight was Jay Creighton. Music included Westminster Carol, Jingle Bells, Silent Night and Sleigh Ride.

Gift-Buying More Easily Done Due Variety Of Choices

Gift-buying this Christmas is probably more fun than ever because women's fashions offer a bountiful array of gaiety, sparkle and drama.

The femininity of fashion extends in all directions. Lace in blouses and dresses is of paramount importance for evening wear. Robes and negligees have either satin or lace trim and even bulky sweaters are soft, young and womanly.

Jewelry for dress-up occasions extends from exotic stone-set bibs or flat collars to refined opera length pearl and bead necklaces reminiscent of the 30s.

Fur and fake fur hats, handbags or belts provide exciting gifts and dramatic accents to monotone apparel. Or to take the reverse stand, the sleekness of black leather is an excellent choice in a handbag for the woman who owns a full fur coat.

Robes for men feature more interesting patterns; even terry cloth is now available in plaids. Sweaters have exciting color treatments and patterns achieved through stitch variations. Pull-over sport shirts have a newly soft plush look.

Better Flavor

Give orange-flavored gelatin dessert extra flavor by making up the package with half water, half orange juice.

For Him

A man with definite convictions will relish the gift of a white bulky knit sweater accented with bold black stripes down the sleeves and at the neck. Two different stitches form the body pattern; the shawl collar can be worn up or down.

Pecan Buns

To make quick and delicious pecan buns, use baking-powder biscuit dough instead of the yeast variety.

HOLIDAY FORMALS
... learn to wear them correctly

Learn Correct Wear Of Formal In Holiday Time

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You are all set to wear those first formal clothes, but do you know how?

Girls and boys look forward to shining in their holiday duds, but when it comes to carrying off the big occasions gracefully, ah, that is another matter. They do worry about it, however, in letters that say: "What do I do?"

Formal manners go with formal clothes. A girl who bounces around in an evening dress, might just as well be wearing dungarees.

She shouldn't straddle her legs as if she were at a soda fountain, lean over the table, elbows akimbo, or apply makeup and comb her hair at the dance table.

If you'd look the dreamy part you have envisioned, act it. Keep your voice modulated, and don't greet friends from a distance. Sit sedately in your escort's automobile, even if you are normally accustomed to curling up on the seat.

An escort is likely to forget a corsage, especially if it is his first big occasion, so don't put it if happens. He'll appreciate you all the more for being a good sport about it. His embarrassment at the faux pas will be punishment enough.

Boys have embarrassing moments making an appearance in the formal attire, even though they have eagerly awaited the big event. They feel unreal in the rented suit or that first tuxedo they call their own. If the after-six suit is Dad's or an older brother's the problem is likely to be more acute as they recall advice to treat the suit kind-ly.

They hesitate to ask advice but the problem is there: How do you wear one of these things?

If worn properly the jacket collar should hug the neck, and show about one-half inch of shirt collar. Sleeves should be short enough to show about one-half cuffs.

Trouser legs should hang straight in back, break slightly in front. Socks should be high enough to conceal the calf. A pocket handkerchief should be placed neatly, not bulge out of the pocket.

A cummerbund makes a young man feel too dressed up. It seems too fancy. But after one evening in his evening suit, he'll forget about that. The style is to match the tie and cummerbund.

Soft white formal shirts ease the wearing of evening suits. Shoes and hose should be black. A wrist watch is not worn, although a pocket watch may be carried.

Girls, be considerate. Carry your paraphernalia in a little purse. Don't load up the boy's pockets with your compact, lipstick and other odds and ends.

Tempting Candies

It's easy to keep lots of tempting candies on hand during the holidays, when you make them yourself from a package of creamy frosting mix. They will need no cooking, can be shaped into any and all the pretty candy forms you can imagine. Use milk chocolate, vanilla, fudge or caramel flavors for these festive sweets.

Easy To Make Candies For The Holiday Season

There was when — except for a few very patient and talented souls—the extent of most home candy-making was limited to fudge or divinity. But now, candies made from frosting mixes expand the possibilities enormously — and a festive candy-box variety of pinwheels, wafers, bonbons and kisses can be yours with no cooking and a few breeze-easy tricks of mixing and shaping.

Creamy frosting mixes do most of the work for this new-style candy — and variety begins with the four flavors you can use: fudge, milk chocolate, vanilla and caramel. All you do to turn any or all of them into candy is add a little butter and a little boiling water to soften the mix, then knead and shape with your hands.

There's no cooking — no watching and waiting for a temperamental mixture to get to the "hard ball" stage, or to "spin a thread." You can add extra flavorings if you like — peppermint or rum extracts perhaps, and add food coloring to the vanilla flavor to make festive-looking candies in all the bonbon shades. Then shape and garnish your confections as you will, with nuts, coconut — whatever fancy dictates.

The results will be as pretty as you please — and always as smooth and as creamy as good candy should be.

With lots of goodies like these on hand during the holiday season, you'll be well supplied with sweet offerings for friends and neighbors making their Christmas calls. And speaking of offerings — wouldn't candies like these, packed in a box you've decorated yourself, make a pretty gift?

COCONUT KISSES
(makes two dozen)
1 pkg. loaf-size creamy fudge frosting mix
1 tsp. butter or margarine
4 tps. boiling water
1 cup coconut
Place butter in bowl. Add boiling water; stir until butter softens. Gradually add creamy fudge frosting mix, stirring well after each addition. Knead with hands until smooth. (Add small amount of water if necessary.)
Add coconut and drop by teaspoons onto waxed paper. Let stand until firm; store in covered container.

LEMON PINWHEELS
(Makes four dozen)
3 pkgs. loaf-size creamy vanilla frosting mix
2 tps. butter or margarine
2 tps. boiling water
1/2 tsp. lemon extract
Yellow food coloring

Altrusans Entertained At Party

Members of the Altrusa Club met Friday evening in the home of Mrs. A. C. Bass for their annual yuletide party, with Mrs. J. C. Pickle as special guest.

The group heard a review of the story, "In Search of Christmas" given by Mrs. Pickle, who told of a reporter's search for the true meaning of the holiday.

From a pink and gold table, Mrs. Homer Petty, president of the club, served Christmas dainties, coffee and spiced tea. A pink net rosette, enhanced with tiny golden balls stood in a vase of pink roses with two French poodle figurines added. Pink tapers were in silver candelabra on each side of the arrangement, which topped a pink cloth decorated with sequined blossoms and vines.

Mrs. Bass, impersonating Santa Claus, delivered gifts from a modernistic tree; she was assisted by Mrs. J. B. Apple.

Why Not Hint For One?

It would be worth a few hints to find one of these sweater sets under your tree come Christmas morning. At left is a straight cardigan in prisoner stripes with solid or two-tone ribbing. It accompanies a solid color slip-on with sheath skirt. The classic cardigan, at right, with three-quarter sleeves tops a short-sleeved slip-on made from pure Belgian angora in bright colors.

In nylon, the delicacy of lace is emphasized by scalloped edging on the scoop neckline and cap sleeves. To be worn in or out, the blouse is almost snug at the waist and hips and has a side zipper for better fit.

New Annuals For 1961 Include Great Range Of Major Flowers

GIANT ZINNIAS

GLORIOSA DOUBLE DAISIES

Giant zinnias and double daisies, lead the parade of new annual flowers being introduced by Burpee Seeds for 1961. All the major classes of annuals are represented in new colors and improved plant habit—marigolds, asters, snapdragons, petunias, larkspur, sweet peas, zinnias and gloriosa daisies.

Zinnias combine huge flower size, lovely form and magnificent colors with an outstanding virtue important to all gardeners, medium tall plants. They grow only two feet tall and are desirable for beds and borders. Blooms fully six inches across come in all zinnia colors including glistening white, soft yellow, glowing gold, lively orange, bright pink, rose and salmon tones, vibrant red, soft violet, rich purple and combinations of these colors.

DAISIES
Gloriosa Double Daisies are spectacular in the garden and excellent for cutting. The big globular golden yellow, double flowers somewhat resemble chrysanthemums. Some of them are semidouble with dark centers resembling the Black-Eyed Susans from which they were developed. Vigorous, three feet plants are covered with long-lasting blooms borne on long, strong stems.

They are easy to grow and tolerate both extreme heat and cold. Seed can be started indoors or early outdoors for blooming in midsummer and fall, or can be sown in August and September for blooming early the following summer.

Another new zinnia is Gold Tip, a Mexicana type, with gay flowers two inches across having mahogany red petals boldly tipped with golden yellow. The plants grow one foot tall and the distinctive flowers provide a lively color for borders and for cutting.

Marigolds are more numerous than any other annuals among the introductions. Alaska is named in honor of our 49th state. A very light primrose color, the well-formed, carnation-like flowers are a pleasing and delicate shade for combining with other flowers in the garden and in arrangements.

Companion to Alaska is Hawaii, a rich orange beauty named in honor of our 50th state. The vigorous, profuse blooming plants are two feet tall and are covered by flowers with good stems for cutting.

Whitey is the nearest-to-white yet seen in marigolds. The carnation type flowers vary in size from two to three inches across and in color, from light, creamy yellow to almost pure white. The near-to-white flowers are borne on bushy, 20 inch plants and are contrasted against waxy, bright green foliage. Whitey, whose chief value is its nearness to white, gives gardeners the best chance for finding a white marigold this year.

Barcelona, a new kind of annual larkspur is a blue and white bicolor. The single and double blooms make up stately 20 inch spikes that top 4 1/2 feet plants.

ASTERS
Three new asters in as many colors, each a different type, are among the newcomers.

Blue Waves, a new color, has all the artistic beauty and magnificent form of this type. The most attractive, mid-blue color of Blue Waves is clear and uniform. Extra large flowers, made up of long petals curled so as to resemble ostrich plumes, bloom from early summer until late midseason.

A new color has also been added to Giant Crego Asters by introduction of Charming, a pure rose-pink. The bright-colored petals twist and curl to form a flower-head four to five inches across. Sturdy plants grow two feet tall. Scarlet Beauty provides a glamorous new color not found in asters heretofore—a sparkling cerise-scarlet. A large type, it blooms from midseason until frost.

SNAPDRAGONS
There are two new Snapdragons—Sunlight, a soft light yellow, and White Spire, a clear, pure white. Their spectacular spikes have as many as 100 flowers and buds, with up to 40 fully open at one time.

The vigorous, free blooming plants of the new Rosie Petunia create mounds of rich rose flowers in the garden. An early and continuous blooming, dwarf bedding petunia, Rosie spreads about 1 1/2 feet.

Gigi and Sachet, Scottish National Sweet Pea Society prize winners, are two introductions. Their new distinctive colors are combined with all the outstanding qualities of these many-flowered, giant sweet peas. Gigi is a salmon-cerise, and Sachet a delicate lavender on cream. Both are fragrant and bloom from early summer.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1960

SECTION D.

ARCHITECT'S SKETCH OF FRONT VIEW OF PROPOSED GARDEN APARTMENT CENTER IN BIG SPRING

OF MODERN DESIGN

'Garden Apartment' Center Of 32 Units Planned Here

Development of a garden apartment facility, attuned to modern living demands and designed in the moderate price range, is announced as a major project in Big Spring in 1961.

The apartment center will be constructed and operated by Truman Jones and G. H. Jacobus, now of Midland. It is to be located on a tract of approximately four acres, purchased from the Edwards Estate, at the intersection of Marcy Drive and Westover Road. Apartments, fronting southwest, will be at the curve of Marcy Drive as it veers northeastward near the State Park entrance.

Planned for immediate construction are four 8-apartment units, a total of 32 living facilities. Twenty-four of them will be two-bedroom apartments, eight will be one-bedroom units.

FIRST IN CITY

It is the largest apartment development in the history of Big Spring. With all its expansion and building in the past 10 years, the city has not developed apartment centers.

Jones and Jacobus said their plans have resulted from an exhaustive survey of living desires in the community, both civilian and military. They feel the apartments will be attractive to Webb

Air Base people who are not assigned here for long periods; but they also stressed that an appeal will be made to people looking for convenient, modest-priced apartments for retirement living; to teachers and other working people of comparable income.

The developers said that people who arrange for term leases could have selection of color in finishing the apartment, and in furniture. Information on the development is available at the Chamber of Commerce.

AIR-CONDITIONED

The apartments, said the builders, will be completely soundproof, will have refrigerated air conditioning and forced air central heating; each will have outdoor-living space, some of it screened for full privacy; enclosed patios will be 75 square feet per apartment, and open patio will be 200 square feet per apartment. There will be paved parking, with room for one and a half cars per unit—plus guest parking.

The apartments will open to a protected ground area, where there will be a special play area for children. There also will be special buildings for excess storage, 50 cubic feet per apartment; and a building housing automatic washers and dryers.

"PARTY" ROOM

A special feature will be a "party room," a house in the leisure area for use of occupants of the center, and of sufficient size to have bridge parties and social gatherings, both indoors, and on a patio.

Grounds, planting and gardening will be maintained by the owners. They also are to pay for water, gas, sewage and garbage collection.

The apartments will be furnished with major items, with ceramic tile baths, electric range with oven and venthood, and electric refrigerator, birch cabinets with Formica tops in the kitchens. All units are of masonry construction, and rooms will be with open beam ceilings.

FURNISHINGS

Furnishings will include (in addition to kitchen items named) bedroom suites, living room suite, dining room suite, window drapes and lamps and accessories. Rental prices will be in the $105 to $150 bracket.

Jacobus, a builder, will supervise construction of the apartment center, and will move to Big Spring from Midland. He and Jones said the project will be done on negotiated agreements with various sub-contractors, and that they hope to start work early in the year.

Rats Assist Students In Nutrition Study

A colony of white rats may soon replace some of the home economics instructors at the University of Texas.

Dr. Margaret A. Eppright and Mrs. Louise Snider teach the same subject matter but readily confess that students gain more knowledge on the subject of nutrition from experimental rodents.

Women students, not desiring to triple their weight subjected one group of rats to diets which were low in protein, vitamins and minerals, and another group to diets necessary for normal growth and development.

After studying the stunted growth of animals that had only a sweet roll and coffee, the girls began to eat better breakfasts before coming to class.

Rats fed milk, whole wheat bread, cereal, fruits and eggs were generally handsomer; had better skin texture, healthier coats, pinkish ears, and were much heavier than the others.

Luckily, the corridor contained a conveniently located milk dispenser, as a definite surge in milk consumption was reported among the students.

Many students named the rats after their husbands, an inspiration that did little to further domestic tranquility.

Some desire to become research technicians; others, to teach home-making in high schools; and some, to enter the career fields of dietetics and nutrition; but all improved their eating habits.

YMCA Makes Final Plans For Pageant

Dress rehearsal is slated at 7 p.m. Monday for members of the YMCA Christmas Pageant, to be produced Tuesday and Thursday at the south end of the YMCA building.

A non-denominational script, using the exact text of the Bible, the production was planned as a climax to the holiday season of program offerings in Big Spring.

Over 50 members of the YMCA have joined the production staff, either as actors in the pageant or on the working staff. The pageant will include animals, special costumes on loan from the Big Spring Civic Theatre, a newly created set, and over 25 persons on stage.

The story will begin with prophecies from the Old Testament and end with the birth of Jesus.

Performances of the pageant will be held at 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. on each of the production nights. In case of inclement weather, the play will be moved into the YMCA gym.

We Grow It But Don't Eat It

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas is the nation's largest producer of sheep and lambs, but Texans just don't crave mutton and lamb chops, a University of Texas Business Research Bureau report says.

The state had 18 per cent of the nation's sheep and lambs at the start of 1960, but only about 1.6 per cent of the lamb and mutton consumed each year is eaten by Texans.

"The obvious solution to the problem is for growers to increase lamb and mutton consumption here in Texas as well as over the entire nation," the report, signed by Fredolin Kaderli, said.

Advertising campaigns have been undertaken to spur the nation's lamb-eating habits.

Kaderli said 6,074,000 sheep and lambs were on Texas farms and ranches Jan. 1. These were valued at $87,727,000.

He said since 1957 Texas' share of the country's sheep population has risen from 15.4 to 18 per cent.

The rise in the state's number of sheep and lambs was attributed to the end of the prolonged drought that dried up range land and shrank flocks.

"However, prices for wool, lambs and breeding ewes have been on the sluggish side for several months now and the income from these sources will be lower this year than in 1958," the report said.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced a shorn wool incentive price of 62 cents per pound for the year that begins April 1, 1961. In 1959 the government paid 43.2 per cent of the 62 cents incentive level. The average market price was 43 cents a pound.

Burned-Out Club To Re-Open Soon

AUSTIN (AP)—The swank Austin Club, burned out in a pre-dawn fire Thursday, will soon be back in operation in temporary quarters, the manager of the hotel that houses the club reports.

Spencer Lloyd, manager of the Commodore Perry Hotel, denied reports that the club will be rebuilt in time for the convening of the legislature in January. The club is a rendezvous for legislators, lobbyists and state officials.

Lloyd said temporary quarters for the club would be set up on another floor of the downtown Austin hotel in a week or 10 days. Rebuilding of the destroyed social center should take from four to six months, Lloyd estimated.

Damage from the fire has been estimated at more than $200,000. Lloyd said he still was not positive as to the cause of the blaze.

A Devotional For Today

With thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light. (Psalms 36:9)

PRAYER: Loving Father, forgive our neglect and indifference to Thy Word. Open our eyes, ears and hearts, that we may behold wondrous things in Thy Word. In Jesus' name. Amen.

From The Upper Room

Fortunate Unfortunates

Numerous individuals have received a "pat on the back" for meritorious service to this community through a series of exemplary acts in the Herald. We don't want to steal any thunder from the series, but we would like to commend an organization for a heart-warming project.

The Texas A & M Club, with an assist from other who gave carnassies, masts and other cuts prepared and served a big venison barbecue Thursday evening—the biggest ever given in these parts. The guests were 856 patients at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Because a venison barbecue is something special, and it was prepared especially for the patients, the secretary will make a much more lasting impression on the minds of the hospital's population than on their stomachs. This is so palming off an old shoe with holes in the soles or trousers with a patch in the seat—it is a gang first class. It is a demonstration of real concern and most patients know it. That very thing is part of the message that works wonders in helping patients back into a world of reality—a world that many of them believed didn't even care for them.

This week more than a score of other local clubs, both men's and women's, are joining hands to present the annual Christmas party at the hospital. There will be programs and refreshments and useful, new gifts. There will be carolings too, from waiting Midland and Odessa groups. Once the patients may have seen the forgotten people, but not any more in some respects they are the fortunate unfortunates because they have been hospitalized in a community with a heart.

It Could Be Expanded

A week ago more than three score voices taken from the H.C.C. The First Methodist and First Christian choirs blended into a stirring presentation of Handel's "Messiah." This is a rather intricate work with exacting demands in its prolonged arias, but it is a masterpiece in its majestic choruses. Those who did not thrill to the climactic "Hallelujah" chorus need to rekindle the fires of their soul.

If this effect was accomplished with a choir of 60 or more voices, what richness and pomp could have been achieved if there had been twice that many? Well, there are that many more good voices here about—voices trained to perform in such stirring music.

There are that many good voices in choirs of other churches of the city. We mention church choirs simply because they constitute a handy group of varying musical talents. They are easy to get at when it comes to recruiting singers, although it is vastly more difficult to sustain a degree of fidelity from voices taken from a dozen choral groups than it is to hold those from two or three. But it can be done and in time the new and larger choir will become a center of loyalty and fraternity too.

By the same token, direction of a much larger number may have its complexities, but we have no doubt as to the capabilities or enthusiasm of Ir Schantz. He would be eager if choir members would be willing.

Marquis Childs Robert Kennedy As Attorney General

WASHINGTON—The Attorney General in the Eisenhower Administration, William P. Rogers, has maintained a consistently high standard in a department that has in the past frequently been riddled with cheap and often venal politics. Some of the achievements of the Department of Justice under Rogers, conspicuously in the Anti-Trust Division, have been outstanding.

THAT IS ONE reason why filling the office has presented for President-elect Kennedy a singularly difficult problem. It is also why his brother, Robert F. Kennedy—and his appointment as Attorney General may be announced even before this is in print—would find it hard to fill the office with a public conviction of impartiality and integrity.

For what the next Attorney General must do is to get on with the unfinished business that Rogers leaves behind. First and foremost, this is the prosecution of James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union, who offers a threat to America greater than the power of an authoritarian government. In the prosecution of Hoffa on the basis of the voluminous case made by the McClellan investigating committee Rogers failed. The fault may not have been his but the fact of failure is, nonetheless, plain on the record.

name were not Kennedy and he were not the brother of the incoming President. But in view of that relationship coupled with his record with the McClellan committee, he will be seriously handicapped in doing the job that must be done if the menacing power of corrupt unionism is to be broken.

In the propaganda put out by his union directed against candidate Kennedy during the campaign, Hoffa played hard on the persecution theme. He exploited an unfortunate response by the candidate to a question in one of the TV debates when he said he was disturbed by conditions that permitted Hoffa to go free. No imagination is required to see how this could be played up as a Kennedy weakness. Attorney General as well as President, conceivably it could be the basis for attempting to invalidate the prosecution, even though the indictment that will presumably be the base of action was returned under another administration.

OFFERED THE Attorney General's office in the Cabinet by his brother, Robert Kennedy, has been deeply troubled by doubts over whether he should accept. Not only with respect to the task of cleaning up the corrupt union but in connection with the possible need to prosecute powerful corporations whose executives and directors are all Republicans he has hesitated. On the latter score he need have far less concern since the Anti-Trust Division, under Assistant Attorney General Robert A. Bicks, has moved fearlessly against the business giants. Both General Electric and Westinghouse have pleaded guilty to collusive bidding as the result of a far-reaching action.

NOW HOFFA has been indicted again in connection with the use of more than $500,000 of Teamster funds in a Florida land operation. The resources that will be thrown behind the defense of Hoffa are almost unlimited. The power of Hoffa and the union he rules so dictatorially touch dark and sinister places in American life that have never been completely explored.

The younger Kennedy—now in his 33 years old—was the counsel for the Senate investigating committee. He did a superb job in directing the digging out of the facts that exposed the Hoffa operation in all its ruthlessness. Thus was laid the base for the prosecution that Hoffa has thus far successfully fought off.

OTHER PRESIDENTS in the past, faced with the need for a fundamental housecleaning, have brought to the Department of Justice men of the highest qualification and integrity, with no suspicion of political reward. Coolidge made Harlan Fiske Stone Attorney General to clean up the Harding scandals, and Stone distinguished himself not only in the department but on the Supreme Court as Chief Justice. That is the kind of man the times call for.

The President-elect has every right to want his brother close to him so that he can use his dedicated abilities in the White House he would serve that end ideally.

(Copyright, 1960, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

IN THE SEVEN years he worked for the McClellan committee Robert Kennedy may have made himself the most qualified man to be Attorney General and to direct the prosecution of the corrupt unions and their leaders and the crime syndicate that seems to touch some of these unions. During the campaign when he was his brother's manager he behaved with circumspection despite advance reports of his often high-handed tactics. The nickname "Boss" which the opposition sought to fasten on him never seemed to fit and he emerged from a tough campaign with few scars.

DESPITE HIS YOUTH, and he looks 10 years younger than he is, he might be the best choice for Attorney General if his

Good Reason

FLORENCE, Colo. (AP)—W. P. Miller, 77-year-old bachelor, has bloodshot and I sneeze a lot. Does this mean I have hay fever? This morning I found a tiny blood clot on the white of my eye. Will it go away?—E.T.

The basic question here is one which deserves a bit of thought, because there are millions of people who enjoy gardening, and some percentage of them find that at certain times of year they sneeze, itch, develop a rash.

Why? Because some people, not a lot but some, are sensitive to certain things in the garden. Sensitivity, or allergic.

This is no reason to give up gardening. The fresh air, exercise, enjoyment of nature and release from tensions of civilization are all good, all health-inducing.

But let's face it: There aren't any "perfect" environments which are totally free of allergy for everybody. House dust, paint fumes, cosmetics, girdles, jewelry, soap, toothpaste, detergents, certain fabrics—somebody is allergic to almost anything. Did I ever mention the surgeon who turned out to be allergic to the rubber gloves he wore?

Sneezes are one allergic reaction, and in gardening this may be touched off in different people by pollen, plants, fertilizers, or insect sprays. Hay fever is simply allergy to the pollen of weeds and grasses, and there are several varieties of it. Ragweed is the commonest villain, but there are many others which can cause distress in some people.

Grass fever affects a noticeable number of people. They have some mild sniffles as soon as the lawn is growing fast enough in the spring to need cutting. Anything from chrysanthemums to evergreen trees may cause some trouble for others.

To take E.T.'s trouble, it could well be any of a number of causes relating to gardening. A careful watch of when the sneezes develop may well indicate what to avoid to prevent them.

As to the bloodshot eye, it is not unusual for a fit of sneezes to cause a small blood vessel to break in the "white of the eye," but the small leakage of blood, which amounts to a drop or fraction of a drop, usually absorbs readily. If not, modest treatment will take care of it.

Readers who notice sneezes, rash, itch or other allergic signs when they are gardening, will do well to try to connect the signs with the blooming of certain plants, or to the use of fertilizers, sprays or chemicals. If you're an ardent gardener, you're now planning what you'll do in the spring. Give a little thought to seeking the cause of allergies, if you have them.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My son, aged 11, has a form of varicose veins in the scrotum. It is called varicocele. I have conflicting advice as to whether it needs treatment or may be ignored.—A.B.

At age 11, I think varicocele might well be watched. If it increases in size or starts causing any symptoms, surgery might be considered. The situation, on the other hand, may recede as he grows older. That's why it may be watched for a time, unless circumstances dictate action.

NOTE TO MRS. S.H.: Edema means a swelling from an accumulation of fluid in the tissues. The causes vary depending on where it occurs. In the unusual case you cite, it might be a matter of allergy, called angio-neurotic edema.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading my booklet "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dentist Has Hobby

HACKENSACK, N. J. (AP)—In his office, Dr. Lewis M. Haggerty meets people who want their teeth checked. He is a dentist.

In his cellar, he meets the remains of Indian tribes. He's also an amateur archaeologist.

Perhaps amateur isn't the word, since Haggerty owns the largest collection of Indian artifacts in New Jersey. Some things he bought. Most he dug up himself. Included in the collection are more than 30,000 arrow heads.

Monument To Horse

GALLION, Ohio (AP)—For 99 years, a beech tree on a farm west of here has marked the spot where a young Union Army volunteer buried his horse before marching off to the Civil War.

The young man's name long has been forgotten, but the inscription "Iron Horse, Died March 1861" can still be read. The present farm owner, Ora Zimmerman, says the term "iron horse" is an unscientific description of the color of the animal and has nothing to do with its name.

J. A. Livingston Statistical Fooler: 1960 The Best Year Yet

Want to make a little easy money? Draw a friend into conversation. Gleam your face. Choose a superficial tone. Then count off casually a half-dozen year-end economic facts.

1. High and rising unemployment. Major areas classed by the Department of Labor as depressed.
2. Measly steel production, no return clearly visible.
3. Projected cutbacks in automobile assemblies.
4. A sagging industrial production index.
5. DOWNWARD revisions in business men's plans for plant and equipment expenditure.
6. An erratic stock market, almost midway between the year's high and low.

Then say, "But I wouldn't be surprised if this were the most prosperous year in American history."

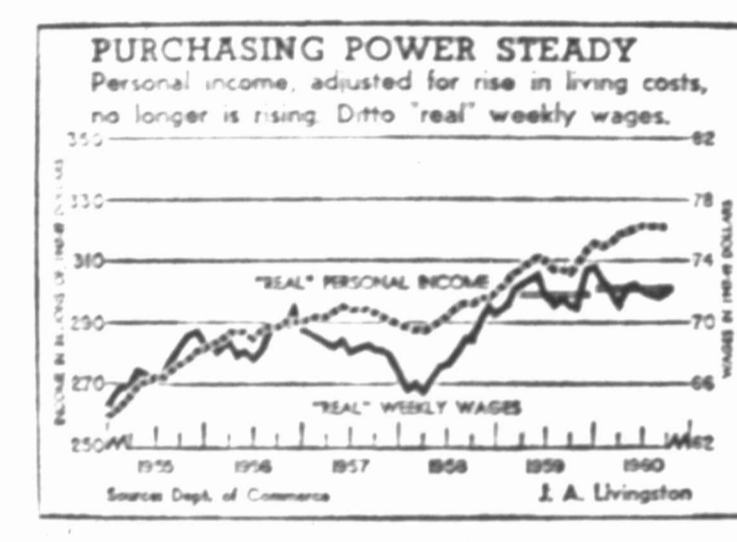

Likely response: "The deuce you say! At this point, you shilly-shally. 'What makes you think not?'"

RESPONSE: "Things are lousy, that's all. You just said so, yourself."

You say, "Well, I'd be willing to make a small bet."

If you don't have a surker then, find another friend. This guy's too smart.

He's hep to the 1960 business pattern. High at the start, not so high at the finish, but still high. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York describes the current period as one of "high-level stagnation," a term familiar to readers of this column. Sentiment has sagged more than industrial activity.

EXCEPT in housing, new construction and corporate profits, 1960 shapes up as a better year than 1959 by a good margin. The peaks in GNP, personal income, industrial output, employment, retail sales, and weekly wages of workers in manufacturing are evidence of economic well-being.

The sharp drop in corporate profits during the second half of 1960 did not cause a major decline in expansion plans. Outlays on plant and equipment are estimated at $35,700,000,000 for 1960, 10 per cent ahead of last year, and only 3 per cent below the all-time high in 1959. A drop to an annual rate of $35,000,000,000 is expected in the next three months.

IT'S NOT THE year as a whole but the year at the present which is discouraging. The gross national product started 1960 off buoyantly—at an annual clip of $501,000,000,000 in the first quarter. It climbed to $506,000,000,000 in the second quarter, and has been declining since. It's now around $501,000,000,000. Industrial production slid almost straight down from its high of 111 in January. It's 105 or 106 now.

About 64 out of every thousand persons in the labor force are idle and looking for jobs. This compares with 60 per thousand a year ago and 71 per thousand in '58. In steel-making, coal, aircraft, agricultural equipment and appliances, layoffs have been most severe.

ON THE WHOLE, however, people have fared well. Personal income, even allowing for the rise in prices, has run 4 per cent above a year ago, and in recent months has been steady (see chart). Increases in unemployment compensation benefits and Social Security payments have offset losses in wages and salaries of those who have been laid off.

The general well-being shows up in automobile sales. In the last 10 days of November, they ran at a rate roughly comparable with the razzle-dazzle year of '55. If buying keeps up this, talk of high inventories will subside. As consumers, you and I aren't holding up checkbooks for the winter. Reason: Savings. They have been up sharply this year. And sooner or later, savings get to the retail counter.

Maybe you've noticed it in your own behavior. People save just so long, build reserves, then spend. Having rested during most of 1960, maybe you and I are set for another higher standard-of-living go.

best year ever up to then.

Even allowing for price rises—for the itch of inflation, which incidentally was moderate—1960 will yield the biggest, roundest totals ever achieved. And in six items, as you can see, new peaks of prosperity were attained (small X indicates new highs).

To Your Good Health Gardeners Should Remember Their Allergies

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Whenever I work in the garden, my eyes get bloodshot and I sneeze a lot. Does this mean I have hay fever? This morning I found a tiny blood clot on the white of my eye. Will it go away?—E.T."

Around The Rim Letters To Santa Claus (Real Ones)

Since last week's offering was not greeted with what you would call emotion, the department yields today to bona fide kids letters to Santa. These are written by younger friends who invariably address their envelopes in Santa Claus, North Pole.

The requests are forwarded, certainly but only after we have had a peek.

There are some observations to be made on children's letters to Santa. 1. More girls write than boys, and 2. girls just naturally want more. This, of course, is no surprise.

A couple of letters cannot actually be reproduced here, since they were in large black letters that spelled such words as ONIGHT HRPWRX NTVBPSLT—but Santa will get the message.

A few others with the spelling left untouched:

Norman Vincent Peale How Peace Of Mind Can Be Yours

I'm continually hearing from people who tell me they have no peace of mind and ask advice on what to do about it. I sympathize with them because in order to live effectively a person has to have an inner calm and quietness in the midst of the activity and difficulty of life. How can you develop peace of mind? Well, let me give you a personal experience.

When I was 27 years old I was called to a big church in Syracuse. I was pretty young for so large a church—and I was uncomfortably conscious of that fact. To make matters worse, I knew my congregation included many of the faculty of Syracuse University. Every time I preached I was painfully aware that out in front were outstanding scholars in advanced fields of learning.

ALSO AMONG the members of my congregation I knew were those who had expressed their doubts whether an inexperienced young man like me could hope to handle such a large parish successfully. Piously hoping for the best, they were sadly expecting the worst. And I found myself falling in with their expectations.

To this situation I reacted by developing a perverse determination to succeed if only to show these people they were wrong. I now admit this to be anything but a noble objective for a preacher of the Gospel!

lumbus, Ohio, where my parents lived.

ON THE TRAIN I tried to work on my sermon for the following Sunday, on the subject "The Secret of Power." But the harder I worked, the clearer it became that I wasn't getting anywhere... which was only natural, because what did I know about the secret of power?

Then I realized that my whole trouble was that I myself had no reserves of power. And suddenly I knew I had to pray about this. I felt so defeated, so overwhelmed by a sense of failure, that I found myself saying to the Lord, "All right, if I am going to fail, let's get it over with. Whatever may be Your will, I'm ready to take it. I can't live like this anymore. Please show me what to do. I give myself to You."

THE ANSWER was an experience I shall remember always. Suddenly, I became aware of a new and strange sense of inner quiet and peace. Then I began to feel happy. Then I felt power. I had been like a small boat lying high and dry on a beach—impotent to move. But a great surge of the ocean had reached up to the boat, lifted it and floated it free.

From that day on I was able to go about my duties with confidence and a sense of peace. Conditions began to improve and problems were solved. In this experience I discovered a very important fact—peace of mind is not an achievement, it is a gift. The Bible expresses it this way: "Peace I leave with you; my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

THE PEACE OF MIND is a derivative of the peace of God. The only sure way to have peace of mind is by surrendering to God's direction. Putting it another way—it is by letting go and letting God. Simply say, and be sure to mean what you say, "I am willing for God's will to be done. I am in His hands."

THE CHURCH HAD a debt and more money was urgently needed. I began feverishly striving to build membership and attendance in order to increase revenues. At Sunday services from week to week there were quite a few empty seats. Each time I saw those empty seats I would resolve to work twice as hard to get more people to the church the next Sunday so all the seats would be filled.

Well, of course, anxiety and agitation took their toll. The strain of constantly worrying over the impression I was making wore me out. I got tense, jittery, discouraged. So I arranged to take a few days' vacation and headed for Co-

Maybe you've noticed it in your own behavior. People save just so long, build reserves, then spend. Having rested during most of 1960, maybe you and I are set for another higher standard-of-living go.

Holmes Alexander Another National Disgrace

WASHINGTON—Jimmy Hoffa of the Teamsters Union was indicted last week for misuse of union funds—but before you could say "dirty labor leader," those corporate officers of General Electric, Westinghouse and umpteen other top manufacturing firms were pleading guilty or no-contest to well-bought charges of out-lavry under the antitrust statutes.

HOFFA'S GUILT will have to be proved or admitted in court, but there is nothing theoretical or merely technical about the shame of the confessing corporations. They were caught. They met and conspired to fix prices against the American public. They mocked the whole meaning of "free enterprise" by attempting to rig the market where the untrammelled play of supply-and-demand is so much the law that it becomes a religion to all true believers.

week in review. Despite the news burial, the Wall Street Journal came through on December 12th with an editorial denouncement of the conspirators.

MUCH CREDIT ought to go to the badly-battered, lame-duck Eisenhower Administration which, in this instance, nobly upheld both American prestige and idealism in ways that really count. The highest honors go to Robert Bicks, a Taft-type Republican from New York who heads the Antitrust Division of the Justice Department. Mr. Bicks tells me that his motive in publicly disgracing these dishonest businessmen was to cleanse and benefit the business community.

Credit also is due Mr. Eisenhower, who doesn't seem to have any poor friends, and whose administration has been both friendly and beholden to big business. Attorney General William Rogers can leave office on a cloud of glory because of these cases. I write this because, as Mr. Bicks tells me, he received full backing from the heads of his department and government, without which the prosecution could not have gone forward. These sneaky smealers happily give the lie to the example American which regularly think that this administration and Republicans in general, are in cahoots with the shady practices of business.

THE BUSINESS scandal is of the sort which gives lethal light to all the busy-busters from Communist party liners to their coadjutors, the lunatic leftists. It covers the stalwarts of the right wing with confusion and shame. The fullest news coverage of how the electrical equipment manufacturers perpetrated their gyp was gleefully run in the Washington Post. The deepest burial was done by the Wall Street Journal on an inside page, under an ambiguous headline. In its comprehensive digest, "The News of the Week in Review," the New York Times for last Sunday managed not to mention the antitrust cases which had been heard in nearby Philadelphia during the

THE COUNTRY'S salvation, which isn't too strong a word, seems to lie, as always, with the American people, their government and their newspapers—the latter two institutions being entirely dependent for existence on the public. Human flesh being what it is, we are always going to have malefactors in both labor and management, and we are going to have weaklings and even traitors in the national services. But to the extent that we refuse to tolerate or to coddle or to excuse these anti-American miscreants, the country has a chance to keep its honor and to continue the fulfillment of its high destiny.

STRIKING RESULTS
... of mesquite control, deferred grazing

Mesquite Bushes Rob Grass Of Valuable Water Supply

A combination of mesquite control and deferred grazing has produced striking results on the Lorin McDowell ranch in northern Glasscock County.

Last spring McDowell, who has his ranch under a Great Plains conservation plan, sprayed mesquite on part of his pastures. Results appeared to be good, and with timely rains and a rest from grazing, the ranges made a remarkable recovery.

In terms of additional forage, McDowell figures that the gain in weight of calves would more than pay for his share of the cost of the mesquite eradication.

Soil Conservation Service technicians, who aided in developing the plan, pointed out that there were added values in strengthened root systems and drop seed for the grasses as well as good cover to reduce wind and water erosion.

A mixture of 2-4-5-T in one gallon of water-clear diesel fuel, plus sufficient water to make a total application of four gallons per acre was used in poisoning the mesquite. Application was made from an airplane.

Immediately after he treated the brush in May of this year, McDowell took cattle off these pastures and let the grass have a chance to get well established. The accompanying photo illustrates the almost luxuriant growth experienced in parts of the range. Grasses showing excellent recovery were Arizona cottontop, cane blue-stem, plains bristlegass, buffalo grass and sand dropseed.

During the past year some 10,000 acres in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District were treated to eradicate mesquite. Of this total, 8,000 acres were treated under the long range Great Plains conservation plan.

SCS technicians advised other landowners to make inquiry or application now if they desire to treat pasture land similarly next spring. The plans should be developed now, particularly if operators want to set up a Great Plains plan which provides for partial payment of the conservation measures.

Control of mesquite will become increasingly important in drought years, they warned, for the brush competes (all too successfully) with grass for the available moisture. Without the brush to grab the moisture, grass roots have a chance to become well established, storing up plant food which will make for early, vigorous recovery the following spring.

Bad weather doesn't stop flying entirely, but it restricts it to special categories of planes and pilots.

During the recent inclement weather, many instrument flights were made from Howard County Airport with seasoned pilots at the controls.

Ted McClung, line serviceman, said that many small private planes are not equipped with de-icing controls and cannot make extensive trips during winter months.

Interesting comparisons turn up annually in the various bulletins and brochures received at the airport, many of which should be of concern to the non-flying public.

In 1958, more than 10,000,000 hours were flown in privately owned aircraft; commercial aircraft logged only 4,000,000 hours. This indicates a definite trend toward flying as a hobby, in conjunction with business ventures.

According to owners interviewed in 1958, the economy of owning an airplane compares favorably with owning an automobile.

In 1958, 350,000 licensed pilots suffered only one plane accident every 1,004,000 miles. In contrast, automobile drivers suffered an accident every 66,500 miles.

Since the formal opening of Howard County Airport, seven pilots have received private licenses, and 20 have applied for student permits. Interest in aviation has been heightened since the opening of the airport, and prospects look favorable for further expansion.

Several flyers from out of the city navigated the airport runways this week, but few local flyers ventured out of the hangars.

This week Big Spring airport accommodated many residents of other states, including representatives of Peter Kewitt Construction Co., Omaha, Neb.; Wagon Sales Service, Wichita, Kan.; Phillips Petroleum Corp. Oklahoma City, Okla.; Stribling Bros. Co., Nashville, Tenn.; Gleason and Roman Flying Service, Tulsa, Okla. and Photo Sonics, Inc. of Burbank, Calif. John Clark, with the Grayridge Corporation, Breckenridge, landed and remained here three days as his plane had no de-icing equipment. Patrick A. Hogan, Los Angeles, visited the airport in a helicopter.

In Hospital, He Still Gets In Act

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Even when hospitalized, Red Skelton still gets into the act.

An open house Christmas party was held recently at Skelton's studios, the old Charles Chaplin lot on which Red says he has spent $3 million for improvements. The shindig was planned to demonstrate Skelton's new mobile TV color taping equipment for advertising agency men who, he hopes, will be customers.

Skelton couldn't be there. He's recovering from an operation at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

But a closed TV circuit was set up from the studios to Red's hospital room so he could see his guests having fun—in sound and color.

MAN, THESE DRYERS ARE THE GREATEST! BUT WHY ARE THEY ALWAYS GAS?

ANY FAMILY MAN CAN ANSWER THAT ONE! GAS IS FASTER, SAFER AND COSTS LESS. WHAT ELSE?

There are good reasons why 97% OF ALL COMMERCIAL LAUNDRIES USE GAS CLOTHES DRYERS

Gas goes to work instantly, with no warm-up wait. Gas is faster by far, reducing drying time to a minimum. Its low heat, high air-flow principle makes short work of even difficult-to-dry shag rugs and bedspreads, yet is ever-so-gentle on even the daintiest synthetics. And as for economy, a Gas Dryer operates for about 1/9th the cost of the other kind. When Gas drying rates first with those who know, wouldn't it be best for your family, too?

Calendar Jammed With Pre-Holiday Activities

By LYN CLAWSON
Christmas is really in the air around BSHS. Students are excited; the holidays are only three days away.

A group of students are working on a play to be presented at the VA Hospital Thursday night. This play is "Christmas Trimmings," and is directed by Lida Fivash, a high school senior. The cast consists of Sharon Homburg, Gwen Irwin, Karen Utley, Kandy Harris, Barbara Thompson, Mike Carney, Mike Calverson, Bob Harris, and Dale Phillips.

The Library Club is planning a Christmas party to be held at Wanda Boatler's house this afternoon.

pate in an interscholastic League tournament. Linda Morton, Dana Smith, Johnny Cane and Dick Meacham were planning to enter debate. Lida Fivash and Nelson Ciemow were entered in impromptu speaking. Entered in poetry reading were Nelson Ciemow, Ilameta Carr, Lida Fivash and Edward Day; declamation, Sharon Peach and Ilameta Carr; original oration, Edward Day; Bible reading, Dana Smith; extemporaneous speaking, Linda Morton.

The BSHS Choir is really getting a workout these days. Last Monday night they sang for the Evening Lions Club. At noon Wednesday they sang for the Downtown Lions Club. Thursday night they presented a program for the patients at the Big Spring State Hospital. Next Wednesday morning they will sing in the annual Christmas assembly at school. This will be the second assembly appearance this year for the choir.

Tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the school auditorium they plan to present a Christmas concert for their parents and the faculty. The public is invited.

The results of the elections have been announced, and runoff will be held Monday. Running for best all around boy are Emmett Kent Morgan and Ross Reagan. Kay Crowover and Doyleene Wadkins are in the running for best all around girl. In the race for senior favorite boy are Ronnie Hamby, Rip Patterson, and Mike Worley, while Elena Patterson and Joann Phillips are contending for senior favorite girl. Running for junior favorite boy are Jack Irons and Jerry Tucker. Karen Koger and Katie Moss Morgan are on the ballot for Junior Favorite girl. The sophomore class will just have one runoff. Ronnie Crowover and Bob Williams will run for sophomore favorite boy.

The results of these elections will be announced Wednesday night at the annual Christmas Formal. In addition to these winners the five nominees for school beauty and the three nominees for most handsome will be presented. This dance is to be held in the gym from 9 p.m. - 12 p.m. The Classics from Odessa will provide the music for the affair. Price for this event is $1.50 stag or drag; it is only for high school students and their dates.

Next Wednesday the Christmas edition of "The Steers" will come out. In this paper the winners of Who's Who will be announced. It is to be a special six-page edition and those who do not already have a subscription to the paper may purchase a copy for 10 cents.

The annual Christmas drive for the needy is now being conducted by the Student Council. Everyone is asked to bring at least one can of food to their second period class. This food will be delivered to the needy people of Big Spring next Wednesday by Student Council members.

Did you know that there are only five more home basketball games this season? The Steers do not play at home again until Jan. 10 when they meet Midland. The team is planning to leave next Wednesday for the Del Rio tournament. They play their first game Thursday at 1 p.m. against Snyder. We hope that they do as well as they did in the San Angelo tournament.

The Rev. Frank Pollard, associate pastor of the First Baptist Church, is to speak at the Christmas assembly Wednesday morning. Santa Claus is also due to pay a visit to BSHS students.

The Webb AFB Teen Club is sponsoring a Christmas Formal, Dec. 22, and all students of senior high, junior high, or college are invited. The formal will be held at the Webb Officers' Club.

LUCY THORNTON WINS WEEK'S OFFERING OF RECORD ALBUM

This week's record album goes to Lucy Thornton, 1004 Wood, a student in Runnels Junior High.

Lucy may receive the long-playing MGM collection, "100 Strings and Joni on Broadway," by calling at The Herald. The bonus record, Tommy Edwards doing "As You Desire Me" and "Suzie Wong," goes to Calvin McCutchan, Coahoma High School student. More area students sent in their names to the Megaphone last week, and they are in the pot for the weekly award of an album and a bonus record. If you would like to have a chance at this free offering, just send in your name, your address and your school.

FHA Girls Snowed In

By MARSHA BRISTOW
STANTON — The spirit of Christmas has been really showing around old S.H.S. this week. All of the classes were busy decorating their doors in the most original way, and the clubs are trying to schedule their Christmas parties in between tests and other clubs' plans. In general the confusion of Christmas has set in.

Our basketball teams haven't slowed down all through the rush. They have been winning most of the time. Tuesday night they played Forsan and the girls won, but the boys didn't quite make the grade. Both teams ranked second in the Forsan Tournament last weekend.

Carolyn Manning ranked third in the senior division in the district wool contest which was held last Saturday in Lubbock. La Rue Adkins, Mona Epley, and I all were among the finalists, but we didn't place. The trip to Lubbock was exciting. All of the girls and Mrs. P. M. Bristow and Mrs. James Manning, who accompanied them, were snowed in and had to spend the night in Lubbock. They didn't mind too much because they went to the show and had their own personal slumber party in the Caprock Hotel.

This week is going to be "Party Week" around school. Monday night the band, choir, and speech department are presenting Christmas cantata. These three departments are going to combine their talents to bring a really nice program along the Christmas theme. We hope that everyone will come. Tuesday night is the big all-school party. There will be dancing and all kinds of games for everyone. The party is sponsored by the student council for the school. This party will be an experiment, and we hope that everyone will give it a try. Of course, school will be turned out Thursday for the holidays. It seems that everyone has many plans for the days that we don't have to attend school.

Food Drive Goes Over

By NANCY HEDLESTON
Golliad is getting into the swing of Christmas.

Our food and clothing drive went over very well. The classes were in a race to see who could bring the most canned goods. The winning class was the ninth grade which will have a longer lunch period Tuesday.

All classes will have a sock hop Monday during the fourth period.

A program made up of students of Golliad, under the direction of Mrs. Jan Armstrong, will present a Christmas assembly next Wednesday. Saturday a program was presented to the pre-school through the sixth grade classes at Airport School.

The cooking classes in home economics made cookies and candy that were served to the faculty. Miss Dorothy Garrett, from Texas Electric Service, demonstrated the use of the electric range to the FHA girls on Wednesday and Thursday.

The Student Council met Thursday during second period. Baxter Moore, president, was in charge, and a money-making project was discussed by the council, but no action was taken.

The seventh, eighth and ninth grade basketball teams played Snyder on Monday night. The seventh and eighth grades won, but the ninth lost. Also, on Thursday night the seventh grade team played Coahoma but lost.

The Maverick yearbook staff is having a dinner party Monday evening at Coker's restaurant. If you see a car with a sign on the front, "Student driver," coming toward you, don't be alarmed or take to the curb. Likely they are Golliad driver education pupils—and they aren't so dangerous.

Day Off Due To Weather

By DARLA DUNAGAN

FORSAN—On Monday the Forsan FHA chapter met in the home economics department. For its annual Christmas party, Glenda Ruth-erford gave the devotional by reading the Christmas story from Luke. The program was led by Clea Jo Newson. Some of the girls told how they observed Christmas at their house, then Clea Jo read a Christmas poem. This year everyone brought a toy to give to persons whose name they drew. The toys will be sent to a children's hospital to help make their Christmas a more happy one.

The cold weather caused Forsan not to have school Thursday a week ago. The electric lines were down and the school was without power. The vacation was good at the time, but we sure will dread to make up that day later.

Despite the ice and bad weather the Forsan basketball tournament went on as scheduled. Late Thursday afternoon electricity was on again, making it possible to have the games on time. There were some very exciting games played. The Coahoma girls' and boys' teams won first place in the tournament. Stanton boys' and girls' teams won second place while Forsan boys' and girls' teams won consolation. The players from Forsan who made all-tournament were Johnny Bob Asbury, Robert Newcomb, Judy Banks, and Darla Sue Dunagan. The outstanding players of the tournament were Barbara Richter and Edward (Doc) Reeves, both of Coahoma.

The Spanish Class at Forsan has organized a Spanish club. The name of this club is Los Currutacos. The officers are president, Paul Moore, vice president, Darla Sue Dunagan, secretary and treasurer, Jan Stockton, sergeant at arms, Walter Fields, program chairman, Barbara Bushong. The sponsor is Mr. Glendol Snodgrass.

Tuesday night the Forsan boys and girls basketball teams went to Stanton for games. The Forsan B boys lost their game but the A boys won over Stanton 68 to 59.

Dec. 29-31, are the dates of the Coahoma tournament in which the girls basketball team is entered. We are looking for some exciting games.

The Forsan school Christmas program was given Thursday. The theme was "Santa's Workshop." The first six grades presented the program, and the music was furnished by the combined voices of the Junior High and High School choruses under the direction of Mrs. Tom Spell. The chorus opened the program with the "Chippmunk Song." Then Santa's workshop and all the toys were inspected by Santa Donald Dunagan played the part of Santa Claus. During the program the chorus sang numbers fitting to the scene being presented and was brought to a climax when the chorus sang "Sleigh Ride." After the program a party was held in the cafeteria for the teachers and their families.

Cage Players Win Awards

By PHYLLIS ANDERSON
COAHOMA — Striving hard to do your part for the team and keeping on deserves recognition. Five of C.H.S. students entered in the Forsan tournament received recognition for outstanding playing. They were Barbara Ritters and Edward Reeves. On the all-tournament team were Claudine Bales (forward), Johnnie Lou Nichols (guard) and Dewayne Richters. Not only did they receive these honors, but they contributed to the winning of a double championship. The girls played Garden City, Westbrook, and Stanton winning 35-29, 55-27 and 58-44, respectively. The boys played Garden City, Sterling City, and Stanton, winning 63-37, 51-31 and 42-47. Congratulations teams!

Something of interest has alerted students around C.H.S. It is the new disc jockey heard over the P. A. system during lunch hour. At this time students may pay five cents to place a request for their favorite song. The guy behind the mike is Joe Adams, a junior and a member of the student council.

Just around the corner from the class rooms is the activity room where the lunches are now being served. It is much more convenient. The meals have been very delicious. The activity room will be used for all the parties and activities around school.

Wednesday we had an assembly with a speech by Mr. O. A. Madson, principal. The title of his speech was "The Pursuit of Excellence." The assembly is usually at the beginning of the year, but there was a short delay because of the building was not completed. We hope everyone will take his talks to heart in finishing work for the semester and beginning the next.

The student council may soon nominate members to the National Honor Society. Certain students will be elected or chosen by the teacher to be members of the club. These students must be qualified by grades, leadership, school participation, and dependability. Those students who do qualify will find through this club helpful steps in obtaining a college education.

To help keep the school spirit going throughout the school year, a pep rally was held Friday to cheer the basketball teams on to victory. School spirit tends to dip down after the completion of football season, and when basketball season is here an extra boost is needed. The teams played Stanton Friday night in a neck to neck game. The teams previously played Westbrook with the girls team winning and the boys losing.

The box for the needy family is getting full gradually but not fast enough. So come on students, let's fill it to the brim! Christmas just isn't Christmas without giving. And speaking of Christmas, I hope everyone has the happiest one of their lives!

DON AND PHIL EVERLY WRITE, SING . . . AND ACT, MAYBE
"Bye, Bye Love" rocketed Everly brothers to popularity

Rough Sledding, But Everly Brothers Finally Caught On

By JOHN LARSON

In these days of the mad scramble for success, the Everly Brothers stand out as very different. To begin with, Don and Phil really are brothers — unlike many of the "brother and sister" aggregations who are so billed. Unlike many of today's top recording stars they were not skyrocketed to success on the heels of one hit record immediately after being discovered.

Don, who is 21, and Phil, who is 23, have been professional singers since 1945, when they were six and eight, respectively. At that time they lived in Shenandoah, Iowa, and with their parents they appeared on radio as "The Everly Family."

"It wasn't easy," recalls Don, "because it meant getting up at 6 a.m. every morning. We did a morning show, went to school and did another show later in the day. We saw a lot of the country, though. During the summer vacations the family piled into an old jalopy and Phil and I worked harvest festivals, revival meetings, square dances and road shows."

Few young people in show business were given such opportunities to develop confidence with audiences, and their personalities and talents as well. It taught the boys a lesson they have never forgotten. "We learned," says Phil, "that the only way to feel right about what you are doing is to prepare completely for it."

PREPARE

Proof of how this lesson stayed with the boys is found in what they are doing today. Both have decided they want to become actors. Since their tremendous recording and personal appearance successes, they have had many offers to appear on television and in motion pictures. Both have decided that until they have been thoroughly trained and coached in acting, they will not appear before a camera in a dramatic role. Right now the boys are going through intensive acting coaching in Hollywood.

"You can't cheat the public," said Don. "At present we are singers and we could go in as such and possibly get by as actors."

"We want to continue recording as the Everly Brothers," they agreed. "But as actors, we must register as individuals — as Don and Phil Everly. And right now we know we are not ready for it."

After their first radio experiences the boys and their parents moved to Knoxville, Ky., to sing country music on a national network show. Things went well for a while until a sponsor disagreed with the kind of music they were singing. They left the show, their father and mother went back to Iowa, and the boys, at 18 and 16, began making their own way in show business.

TOUGH GOING

The boys began making the rounds of recording studios and agencies, with no success. Months of frustration and disappointment went by. Saturday nights they would hang out around the alley of the stage door to Grand Ole Opry, the popular country music show — hoping to be noticed. It was here that Don met a pretty brunette, Sue Ingraham. Today they are married and have a daughter almost two years old.

The boys kept at it, and finally they auditioned for Wesley Rose of the Acuff-Rose music publishing house. He arranged for a recording with Cadence records and their "Bye, Bye Love" sailed to the half-million mark. The struggling days were over and they have followed hit upon hit.

Offers poured in on the boys from all over the United States and the world. They were on all the top television shows. They toured 480 cities in 50 states, as

High School Choir Is Well Received

The Big Spring High School chorus, under the direction of Bill Bender, got a rousing reception from the Downtown Lions Club on Wednesday. The 30-voice group sang a wide variety of numbers ranging from popular tunes to novelties, from spirituals to the stirring Christmas hymn, "O Come All Ye Faithful." Bob McEwen, program chairman, expressed appreciation for the quality of program.

Food Collection Turns Out Well At Runnels

Our freshman basketball team won over Andrews last Monday evening, and the seventh grade team duplicated this feat. But the eighth grade got edged by the narrow margin of three points.

Yells were led by cheerleaders from all three grades at a big pep rally held Monday afternoon in preparation for the game. On Friday and Saturday our ninth grade team was taking part in a tournament at Andrews.

Sock hops were held during the noon hour on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for all three grades. Admission to these socials was one can of food for the canned food drive. Approximately 550 cans were collected throughout the campaign which ended Friday. Much clothing also was collected during the past week for the World Clothing Drive.

The choir will make an appearance Tuesday evening during a party sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the Business and Professional Women's Club at the Big Spring State Hospital.

The Future Homemakers will give a party for the faculty on Tuesday. Teachers are to stop by at the homemaking department during the conference period, and they will be served cookies and punch by the FHA members.

A Mother-Daughter tea will be held this afternoon by the FHA group. In addition to the mothers, women faculty members will be honored guests at the affair to be held in the home of Sue Cook at 1706 Harvard from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The Round-Up will go on sale Wednesday. It will be an eight-page Christmas issue and will sell for five cents a copy.

School will be dismissed at 2:45 p.m. on Monday for a general faculty meeting. So students, remember to tell your parents to pick you up at this time.

The Christmas assembly will be held Wednesday afternoon, and directly afterwards, students will go to their homerooms for a party.

School will be dismissed for the holiday season at 2:45 p.m. A special Christmas dinner will be served in the cafeteria on Tuesday. Pupils in schools without cafeterias will eat at Runnels, Goliad or Senior High.

well as Canada, England, France, Luxembourg, Germany, Belgium, Australia, Holland, Sweden, Denmark and Italy to record - breaking crowds.

Don is the extrovert of the group. He loves fine clothes and hi-fi equipment. His set up at home in Nashville is among the best in the country. He writes many of the songs that have found their way to the top. He wrote "Till I Kissed You" and "So Sad." He and Phil both wrote "Kathy's Clown" and Phil wrote "When Will I Be Loved."

Phil, who is the youngest, is the shyest. He is a conservative dresser with a special flair for casual clothes. We asked him about girls and dating. His answer may be a surprise to the girls in the Under Twenty Set. "I don't date the model, slick type of girl. I really like a simply dressed girl with a little make up. To me a girl who is witty and bright and who can keep up on a conversation is much better company than the beautiful type that has little but good looks."

The boys do differ in lots of respects. They have good-natured arguments about business, with Don carrying the lead. But one thing they do have in common: the desire to be the best entertainers possible with the talents they have.

Youths Defend Going Steady

By JO CRAVEN
It's high time somebody said something good about "going steady."

Hardly a day goes by without a youth counselor receiving a letter or two (or two dozen) from teen-agers and parents, alike, either "for" or "agin" the habit of today's young people have of pairing up. Some letters are genuinely confused.

Most advice that teen-agers and parents get on the subject is negative—that is, cautiously against the going steady trend. Yet some of the finest teen-agers we know are going steady, and some of the best parents we know, with teen-agers in their families, know that their own Joe's or Jane's are going steady and are happy, healthy and quite moral about it.

Should this going steady controversy strike fear in a good parent's heart? Quite naturally, both teen-agers and parents wonder and worry.

Here are some letters we have received from the under twenty set in defense of going steady.

"Do you agree with their sentiments?"

"What's everybody afraid of, anyway?" Bob Brown, a very honest young man of 16 years of age from Providence, Rhode Island writes, "intimacy?"

Well, here is his answer to that: "I submit that it's people you don't know too well that you misbehave with. You don't hurt or do the wrong thing with a person you love. Loving someone gives you a sense of responsibility. After all, most of us do have character."

Also 16-year-old Nancy Frisk of Tampa, Florida said:

"Do you know that song, 'Getting to Know You' I like it because it says what I mean. Relaxing, sort of. It takes a long time to get to feel at home with a person, and you can't really be yourself until you do. I was really afraid of boys until I went steady. Now it just seems natural. We can talk out things together, and it's good for us both. You can only do that with real friends, you know. And real friends take time."

Here's another from 15-year-old from Norfolk, Va.

"How are fellows ever going to learn about love if they keep tearing around from one girl to another, without even getting acquainted? Love is a very nice feeling. And very important."

"Look," says Morris Houck, a 17-year-old from Dallas, Texas. "If people are real people, they need each other. A fellow needs a girl. I think it's usually the best kids that go steady. The crazy ones always have a lot of girls—or think they do. But it seems to me they don't really have anybody."

We don't think we could have possibly said it better than Morris. Fellows, girls and parents too—Let's hear your point of view! Write Under 20 care of the Big Spring Herald.

It's 'Burgers And Hot Dogs

By PETER WEST

Food fads come and food fads go, but the hot dog goes on and on — accompanied by its close friend, the hamburger. The above fact is borne out in a national study conducted among the Under Twenty set on their eating habits and favorite foods. Hamburgers, hot dogs and steak, in that order, are the three most popular foods, according to the survey. Soda is their favorite drink, and ice cream is their favorite dessert.

Almost 1,300 Under Twenties were questioned and, to make doubly sure, their parents were questioned too. Both groups agreed that the favorites are hamburgers, hot dogs and steak.

One thing has changed, though. A large percentage of the Under Twenty set put away their calories while they are watching television. Over 57 per cent said, "Yes," they eat while their eyes are glued to the set. The meal most frequently eaten in front of the TV screen is dinner.

Soda came out overwhelmingly first in the beverage department with over 44 per cent indicating it was their favorite. Milk was second with almost 25 per cent; with other beverages far below this figure.

Sweets after the meal indicated ice cream as the favorite with almost 30 per cent. Cake was second with 17.5 per cent, and pie third with almost 15 per cent. An interesting note in the dessert department was on fruit. This tasty morsel ranked fifth on the list personally, but with the older teen-age girl it ranked considerably higher—due no doubt to the figure-consciousness of the Under Twenty female who is watching her weight and her complexion.

When the teen-age group eats out, it prefers a "nice restaurant" to any other place. Drive-ins and hot dog stands run a second in popularity, with picnics third. The "nice restaurant" ranked higher with the older teen-age group, with 71.5 per cent of the girls indicating this as their preference.

How adventurous is the Under Twenty set? Not every, says the survey, where food is concerned. Only 30 per cent indicated they like to try new foods. Almost 53 per cent said they do not like to try anything new to eat while 17 per cent said they only like to attempt new foods sometimes.

Dressing Is Important To People As Well As Salads

By CHRIS RILEY

"Dressing" is something you add to a salad, of course. And it's something you add to a human being, too! With people, as with salads, dressing may make all the difference. Yet, dressing alone does not make a salad.

Are the clothing ads exaggerating, then, when they tell us that clothes make the woman—or the man? I think not—not in the sense in which they mean it. In that sense, there's no doubt in the world that dressing makes a salad, too. Many a good salad would go uneaten without dressing.

In the same way, many a very worthwhile human being can go unnoticed without dressing properly. More realistically, you might reword that ad about clothes making the man, like this: clothes are the making of a man or woman, in other people's eyes.

Silly as it may seem, at first comparison, when it comes right down to getting dressed, it is a good thing to remember the relationship between salad dressing and dressing a human being like yourself. It helps you to keep your balance, not to go overboard, not to "overdress," if you remember it.

Dressing should bring out what is already there. It accents flavor—or personality. It calls attention, in a subtle way, to the salad—or person—it's added to. It attracts. It emphasizes. It clarifies. And if there are faults to be overcome, it disguises them!

Try asking yourself:
Am I smothering myself with dressing? Am I using too much?

All The Young Men

When a nation goes to war, "All the Young Men" must go, and thus it is in the film of that title playing Tuesday at the Ritz Theatre. Starring in this widely-heralded film are Sidney Poitier, Ingemar Johansson, Alan Ladd (shown above) and Mort Sahl.

'Goliath And The Dragon' Another Muscle Boy Film

Another of American-International's spectacle films, "Goliath and the Dragon" introduces Mark Forest, an American. The film opens Wednesday at the Ritz. In his role as "Goliath," he is "favored by the gods" and he performs feats of endurance and strength. Muscle scenes include lifting and defiantly hurling against a temple wall a 15-foot statue of a goddess, a fight with a 3-headed fire-breathing monster in the caves of horror under the king's palace, and lifting an elephant when the beast is about to stomp his younger brother to death. All in all, he undergoes grueling experiences.

The case is headed by Forest, with Broderick Crawford as the wily King Eurystheus, intent on Goliath's destruction. Also starred are Eleonora Ruffo as Goliath's beautiful young wife, Philippe Herseant as his brother Illus, Sandro Maretelli as Ismene, Federica Ranchi as Thea, the king's daughter, and Gaby Andre as her companion, Alcione. Thousands of men and horses storm the king's palace and a whole town of men, women, and children are seen in spectacular battle scenes, according to studio press releases.

For the waterfall scenes, the company journeyed to Terni. Some of the battle sequences were shot in Manzanilla, a town near Rome. Other scenes were made on the slopes of Mt. Vesuvius and in Naples. Exterior sets were constructed on the outskirts of Rome and the scenes where Goliath destroys the castle and causes the walls to crumble took place there.

LOOKS AT BOOKS

Robert A. Vines has answered an often-raised question among Southwesterners: "Why doesn't someone come out with a book that tells about our trees and shrubs?"

Published by the University of Texas Press ($25), Austin 12, Texas, his "Trees, Shrubs and Woody Vines of the Southwest" is a monumental achievement. If the price tag seems formidable, consider that 25 years of meticulous research and more than a quarter of a million miles of travel by automobile—not to mention countless miles by foot and pack animal—have gone into it. So far as I know, there is nothing that even approaches it in completeness, exactitude and accessibility of its information.

Every school, college and public library of consequence in this vast region ought to have a copy of this book on its shelves. Not a few individuals who would like to know more about the more enduring flora of their era will find this volume a much-used addition to their own libraries.

I have already determined that the fragrant and then marvelously thorny shrubs along our driveway are Catclaw Acacia. These native cedars appear to be Red-berry Juniper. The hackberries are members of the elm family, and there are more kinds of hackberries than you can guess. Mesquite mistletoe is quite different from the Christmas American mistletoe. Our bear grass may be one of several varieties of yucca, but most likely prairie yucca, and a member of the lily family at that. Our shiner is Havard shiner, and some of our mesquites fit into the legume family. There is no end to the identification of plants most of us have known only by provincial names. But Mr. Vines has made it easy for us to locate them by a remarkably complete cross-index by popular names as well as by scientific names. An illustrated glossary explains technical terms.

The painstaking care with which he deals with each subject is impressive, and it becomes all the more so when you consider that he has described 1,231 species grouped into 102 chapters—each chapter for a different plant family. Besides a Herculean stint of field work, the author also performed the additional service of searching out old and vague plant identifications and redesigning them.

The gifted pen of Sarah Kahlden Arendale has given great utility to the work, for her 1,200 intricate, black-and-white drawings bring Vines' innumerable specimens to precise life. Without the drawings the book might have been another scholarly detailing of a life's study, but with them it becomes an instrument in the hands of laymen as well as the botanist.

This is a valuable book beautifully produced, and it is an example of the contribution the University Press is making to the preservation of knowledge and lore in the Southwest.

PROUD PAINTER AND HER PRIZE A conception of a deserted farm

Mrs. Bill Unger Artist Of Month

The Artist of the Month is Mrs. Bill Unger, 2411 Morrison. Her chosen painting, "Deserted Farm," will hang for one month in the Big Spring Public Library.

The Artist of the Month series was instituted last month by Las Artistas, local chapter of the Texas Fine Arts Association. Club members included an exhibition of paintings in their November meeting, and judged the unidentified works according to number.

Two paintings tied for first place, and that of Mrs. Don Bohannon was exhibited at the library during the last month. Mrs. Unger's painting held the other side of the tied vote, and will show through the January Las Artistas meeting.

The casein work features a broken-down house, arid fields and a ruined windmill which waters a few fortunate trees. She reports that the scene is not of any real place, but is a composite of impressions from several Big Spring sites. It could very easily be a "real" place, however.

Mrs. Unger, who believes painting is a never-ending progression of study and work, has studied from several individual painters; but most of her training came from Mrs. Earl Heddens of the San Angelo College art department. She enrolled there again this fall for more instruction in abstract design and drives over every week to attend class. She also instructs a restricted class of advanced painters in Big Spring.

Liz' Teeth In Good Shape

JEANNE CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A dentist says Elizabeth Taylor's teeth are in perfect condition.

Only a month ago one abscessed tooth was pulled in London and headlines proclaimed that more might have to go.

The actress became ill after arriving in London Sept. 2 and was held up on the movie "Cleopatra" was held up. Her illness finally was diagnosed as an inflammation of the outer lining of the spinal cord and brain. The infected tooth was given as a contributing factor.

Superstition Found Among Race Drivers

With many race drivers, superstition amounts almost to an obsession. One of the principal things considered taboo is peanuts in the pit area of the race-tracks.

This superstition is brought out in the film, "Thunder in Carolina," starring Rory Calhoun and co-starring Alan Hale, Connie Hines, and John Gentry at the Jet Theatre.

Other well known aversions of race drivers include the color green, and women and children in the pit area. In addition, many race drivers have their own pet superstitions which they swear by. A lot of race drivers also like to paint slogans on the dashboard of their racing cars. Joe Westberry, who plays himself, wrote—"Press accelerator to the floorboard and turn left."

The color feature "Thunder in Carolina" is a Darlington Films production released by Howco International. It was produced by J. Francis White and directed by Paul Helmick from a story by Alexander Richards. The original music score was composed and conducted by Walter Greene.

'Dark' Stars Hold Re-Union

Reunions brightened "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" during the filming of William Inge's Broadway stage hit.

Stars Robert Preston and Eve Arden were united for the first time since appearing together in the touring company of "Auntie Mame" on the stage.

Dorothy McGuire became re-acquainted with Robert Eyer, who makes his film bow as her son in the comedy-drama. His older brother, Richard, had played Miss McGuire's son in "Friendly Persuasion."

Stage Son Courts Her Film Daughter

Young Lee Kinsolving made his professional stage debut in the Broadway production of "Winesburg, Ohio" as the son of Dorothy McGuire, who starred in the play.

Now Kinsolving makes his featured screen bow with Miss McGuire as a military school cadet who courts her daughter in "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs."
