Texas Democrats Called For Conference At Dallas

Senator Willis, G. O. P. Presidential Possibility, Dead

Collapses As He Starts To Speak To Large Crowd

Sudden Death Brings Many Expressions of Sorrow and Grief From Leading Republicans of Nation.

WIFE ORDERS BODY REMAIN UNTOUCHED

Willis Was Man Who Forced Hoover to Declare His Entry As Candidate For Nomination.

(By Associated Press)

DELAWARE, March 30.—United States Senator Frank B. Willis, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, died of cerebral hemorrhage here tonight, while in an ante-room at Gray's Chapel, where 2,500 persons had gathered to listen to Delaware's only deliver a campaign address in a huge homecoming celebration.

He drew his last breath in an ante-room of the chapel of the Ohio Wesleyan University. On the stage unaware of his passing the Backus Glee Club of Columbus was singing a campaign song "Fairwell."

Dies at 9:09 P. M.

Senator Willis died at 9:09 p. m. when he fell into the arms of his secretary, Charles A. Jones, just as he entered the ante-room.

Senator Willis was preparing to speak when he became ill. As he left the stage with Mr. Jones, he remarked, "Jones, I never felt this way in all my life. There is something awfully wrong."

Then, as they entered the ante-room door, Mr. Jones said the senator staggered, grasped at the wall and fell. The secretary caught him just before he reached the floor.

The senator called feebly for his wife. She was summoned quickly.

Scouts Hear Of Alaskan Wonders

Fred Broadwell, Former Alaskan Guide, Talks To Scouts In Court of Honor Last Night.

Visions of an Alaska that is filled with natural wonders were presented to a large gathering of Boy Scouts last night by Fred Broadwell, Alaskan guide who spoke at the second court of honor held in the court house with H. D. Woods presiding.

Mr. Broadwell told of his experiences of twenty-five years in Alaska, and described the wild life and big game hunting in the Arctic region. He reviewed the history of the U. S. possession, compared it with other parts of the world and gave a description of its horticultural appearance.

22 Get Merit Badges.

Twenty-two scouts were awarded merit badges by Rev. Jack Lewis, Trustee of Troop 8. S. W. was presented second class rank insignia by Dr. C. M. Ballenger. Clair Davis and Joseph Barbers were raised to first class by Rev. Walter Jennings; and Bush Crews and Charles Cobb were made star scouts by Rev. Jennings.

Those receiving merit badges were: Charles Adams, Bill Roberts, John S. Hall, Bob White, Eugene Adair, Phil Ballenger, Harold Dow, Earl Turner, Johnnie Vickers, Ordus Pickett, Billy Greenaway, B. C. Douglas, Alfred Johnson, Thomas Brennan, Cecil Davis, Arch King, Paul Warren, Bush Crews, M. K. Foster, James Barbara and George P. Eaton.

SLAYER IDENTIFIED

Believed To Be Slayer Of San Antonio Jeweler

SAN ANTONIO, March 30.—(AP)—Brazil county authorities tonight held a prisoner whom one man identified as the man police are seeking for the slaying of H. W. Karotkin, loan and jewelry dealer who was shot to death in his place of business Wednesday.

Richard De La Rosa, employed by a sewing machine company who heard the shot that killed Karotkin and saw a man in a gray blood-spattered suit leave Karotkin's store a moment later, said that the man under arrest is the man who left Karotkin's store.

The prisoner was wearing stained gray trousers when arrested and "a" to coat. He was unable to tell where the coat was. He admitted however, that he could prove an alibi.

Marshall Ratliff Given Death Penalty By Jury For Policeman's Death

Dies Suddenly

SENATOR FRANK WILLIS

(By Associated Press)

ARLINGTON, March 29.—Marshall Ratliff, 24, was given the death penalty tonight for the murder of Chief of Police O. E. Bedford of Cisco in the Cisco bank robbery of December 23. The jury was out less than two hours. Motion for rehearing will be filed, attorneys announced.

A verdict against the defendant's plea of former jeopardy also was returned.

Mother Is Shocked
Ratliff's mother was at his side when the verdict was read. It became necessary for the court to call for order when her sobs interfered with the polling of the jury. The condemned youth shrugged, blanched and trembled, then turned and placed his arms around his mother.

Special Charge Read
The case went to the jury at 8 p. m. an hour after the state completed its argument. A special charge was read to the jury by Judge George L. Davenport of Eastland, who presided today in the absence of Judge W. R. Chapman, who was confined to his home by illness. The special charge dealt with exceptions taken by defense attorneys in the argument of Clem Calhoun, district prosecutor.

Under 99-Year Sentence
Ratliff recently was found guilty of robbing the bank and was sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary.

The bank was robbed by four men of about $1,300 which was recovered when the bandits abandoned their automobile and the money during a gun battle with pursuers.

RADIO MEN APPOINTED
Fight Centers On Election of New York Man

WASHINGTON, March 30.—(AP)—By a margin of a single vote—38 to 35—the senate late today confirmed the nomination of Charles H. Caldwell of New York to be secretary of the Federal Radio commission. The ballot being taken after a bitter fight of more than three hours.

Then, without discussion, it completed the personnel of the commission by confirming the nominations of Sam Pickard, a Kansas Democrat; Harold A. La Fount, a Utah Republican; and Ira C. Robinson, a West Virginia Republican. There was no roll call on these as no opposition developed.

AMERICANS ARE SAFE

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, March 30.—(AP)—Batting a strong northern gale of a velocity of more than 87 miles an hour, P. Trupen Davison, American assistant secretary of war for aviation and Major General Fehet managed to land safely at Tampico on their return journey from Panama Canal zone to Washington.

Mrs. Gordon's Sister Dies
Upon receiving word last evening that Mrs. J. M. Gordon's sister had died in Speegleville, near Waco, Dean Gordon, Harold Gordon and Daisy Wallace left for that place.

Mrs. Gordon has been in Speegleville for about a week with her sister, who died yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Funeral services are to be at 4 o'clock today, Dean Gordon said last night.

HELD IN MURDER
Mrs. Lee Bailey Held With-out Bail at Monahans

MONAHANS, Texas, March 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Lee Bailey, proprietor of a rooming house here, under arrest since last Sunday in connection with the slaying of Dan Horn, deputy sheriff, today was held without bail for the April term of court. A preliminary hearing was held here today.

Because of lack of jail facilities at Barstow, county seat of Ward county, she will be taken to Pecos. Four Others Held Also.

Four others are being held in connection with the killing, but hearings have not yet been set in their case.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED
Ten Corporations and 13 Individuals Are Indicted

NEW YORK, March 30.—(AP)—Ten corporations and 13 individuals were indicted by a federal grand jury today in connection with a department of justice investigation of the so-called "Dutch" quinine trust. The indictment charged conspiracy to restrain free competition in and to increase the market price of Cinchona bark and quinine derivatives.

GOLF FOR THE INSANE

AUSTIN, March 30.—(AP)—Golf will be provided for patients at the Wichita Falls state hospital for the insane, the State Board of Control decided Friday.

The board approved the use of $40 for purchase of golf clubs and balls on recommendation of Superintendent W. T. Castner of the institution, who plans to start about 30 golfers patients to playing the game in an outdoor recreational treatment.

Chairman R. B. Waldhall of the board said that none of the other Texas institutions have golf and that he never has heard of such in other states.

The Wichita Falls institution has about 1,000 acres of land, giving ample space for the nine-hole course planned. The $40 comes from money the patients have earned at work at the hospital.

General Policy Favored In Pink Boll Worm Fight

Cotton Belt Representatives Meet At Memphis and Ask For Complete Eradication of Pest Plan.

(By Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 30.—Representatives of agricultural, commercial and industrial interests in the cotton belt, meeting here today went on record as favoring a general policy for the complete eradication of the pink boll worm from all infested areas of the United States and ultimately from the entire North American continent.

The resolution adopted by the commissioners of agriculture of the Southern States and representatives of the southern plant board also expressed the conviction that "the only effective policy for the eradication of the pink boll worm will be based upon establishment of uniform laws with comprehensive powers to grant such supplemental regulatory measures as previously experience has proven to be necessary."

In addition to the commissioners and entomologists attending, were representatives of various commercial and industrial interests connected with the cotton industry.

BUCHANAN BILL FETTERED
The Buchanan bill now before the House committee on agriculture, which authorizes an initial appropriation of $5,000,000 for the control of the cotton pest, was introduced and Congress was instructed to pass it immediately.

The bill contemplates full federal compensation to growers.

As a step towards eradication, the worm from the North American continent, the conference called upon the secretary of state and the secretary of agriculture to bring about a reciprocity treaty between the United States and Mexico so as to rid the latter country of the pest. Mexico is the principal source of infestation.

Harry D. Wilson, commissioner of agriculture for Louisiana, presided at the meeting and outlined the serious threat of the pest. "If it becomes general," he said, "the cotton industry of the South will be practically wiped out," as the farther east the worm gets the more favorable climatic conditions are for its spread.

When you quit raising cotton in this country.

STINSON AND HALDEMAN SET NEW WORLD'S AIRPLANE ENDURANCE FLIGHT RECORD

June-like Weather Gives Fliers Chance to Restore Record to America; Remained Aloft for Fifty-Three Hours, 36 Minutes and 30 Seconds

(By Associated Press)

JACKSON BEACH, Fla., March 30.—The world's airplane endurance record came back to America from Germany today when Edward Stinson and George Haldeman set a new mark here of 53 hours, 36 minutes and 30 seconds.

The new mark was one hour, 15 minutes, 25 seconds beyond the record of 52 hours 21 minutes 51 seconds made last August by Johnson Stitzer and Corwin E. Gierman, German fliers, using the Junkers monoplane Europa.

Forty Are Hurt As Fast Trains Crash In Ohio

Broadway Limited, Awaiting Orders Is Telescoped By Liberty, Pennsylvania Flier Near Lima, Ohio.

BOTH TRAINS WERE BEHIND SCHEDULE

Injured Are Carried To City In Ambulances; Engineer To Lose Arm; Big Storm Is Cause.

(By Associated Press)

LIMA, O., March 30.—The Liberty Pennsylvania railroad flier crashed into the Broadway limited on the same road four miles west of here tonight, injuring more than 40 passengers on both trains.

About half the injured were removed to hospitals here while physicians treated the remainder in the coaches.

Was Awaiting Orders
The Broadway limited was awaiting orders from a trolley because of telegraph wires having been severed by a storm last night when the Liberty bore down, running at 60 miles an hour. Both trains were eastbound.

Club Car Telescoped
The Liberty engine ploughed into club car on the Broadway, telescoping the club car, a mail car and a parlor car in the center of nine coaches on the Broadway. The locomotive of the Liberty was derailed and the tender smashed into the engine, injuring Henry Strasser, a passenger on the Broadway.

The Broadway limited was taken half a mile eastward to a highway crossing where the injured were removed to ambulances.

PLANE BURNS IN AIR
Two Men Burned to Death Before Plane Falls

LOS ANGELES, March 30.—(AP)—Two persons were burned to death and the plane in which they were riding was destroyed in midair when it burst into flames while flying over Compton, a suburb, shortly after dark.

The two passengers were burned beyond recognition, the police said, and there was scarcely enough of the plane left when it struck the ground to determine what type of machine it was. A check of reports was ordered as a possible means of identifying the fliers and their plane.

BRVERLY IS BETTER
Accident Victim Improves In Abilene

ABILENE, March 30.—(AP)—Tip condition of B. B. Bryerly, rushed to a hospital here after an automobile collision with a car driven by two men said to be wanted in Dallas for an alleged robbery, was improved late Friday night. He suffered severe bruises and lacerations but internal injuries did not materialize. C. K. Clayton, Pyote attorney, received notice injuries in the accident, it was learned Friday night.

2 MEN KILLED IN FALL
Kansas Men Fall In Plane From 500 Feet Altitude

PRATT, Kan., March 30.—(AP)—William Landes was killed and M. O. Smith was seriously injured here tonight when an airplane in which they were flying crashed from a height of 500 feet.

Smith, formerly of Kansas City, had recently purchased the plane, which he was piloting at the time of the accident.

VALUABLE TREES BURN
Pine Timber In Arkansas Is Destroyed

LITTLE ROCK, March 30.—(AP)—More than 700 acres of valuable timber including much virgin pine timber, have been destroyed by forest fires in the Ouachita national forest reserve, in western Arkansas.

It was reported to headquarters of the reserve here tonight. The fires were gaining headway rapidly late tonight and all available men and equipment have been rushed into the forest.

MOTION FOR TRIAL
Seven Grounds Set Forth by Byrnes' Attorneys

SAN ANGELO, March 30.—(AP)—Seven grounds are set forth in a motion for a new trial for Floyd Newton Byrnes, 35, under death sentence for the murder of Myra Jenkins, 12, which was filed in district court here this afternoon by W. A. Anderson and Clyde Vinson, defense counsel. Judge J. P. Station will set on the motion Saturday.

Byrnes confessed to officers that he killed the girl, her mother and grandmother in their home here on March 2.

TO VOTE SCHOOL BONDS
Greenville Community To Vote On $15,000 Bldg.

An election to determine whether or not Greenville will vote a bond issue of $15,000 to build a four-room building with auditorium for capacity of 200 people will be held Saturday, April 21, according to an order issued by County Judge Chas. Natchez, followed presentation of a petition signed by a large number of taxpayers of the district.

To Elect Trustees
Election of trustees for the newly created independent districts of Greenville, Barton, Liberty, Wellfirth and Pecos will be held Saturday, April 7, according to announcement made by a large number of taxpayers of the district.

SCHOOL BONDS INCREASE
Wellfirth, the fourth school district to report scholastic enrollment to the office of County Superintendent W. M. Pennington, shows the smallest increase thus far.

Centerville is the smallest but has the largest increase in enrollment, which was 100 pupils.

Governor Moody to Present Plan To Heal Breach Between Wets and Dries In Securing a United Delegation

One Hundred Party Leaders, Invited to Hear Moody's Plan of Securing Unity In National Convention.

CONFERENCE TO GIVE GOVERNOR PRESTIGE

Meeting To Be Held On Next Saturday; Leading Members Call Meeting; Many Already Accepted.

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 30.—One hundred Texas Democratic leaders in both wet and dry factions have been called to meet here April 7 to work out a plan to patch up the differences in the party over prohibition. The call was signed by Senator John Davis and General M. M. Crane of Dallas, William F. Hobby of Houston, Frank Culver of Fort Worth, Senator Walter Woodard of Coleman and J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls.

Moody Has Plan
More than 50 acceptances had been received Friday night.

Governor Moody's Jackson Day dinner speech here, advocating instruction for prohibition principles rather than instruction against candidates, is the basis of the call for the meeting here, Senator Davis said Friday night.

Give Moody Prestige
It was pointed out here that if Governor Moody's proposed plan for a conference to heal the breach in the Democratic party and send to Houston a united delegation, it may give him great national prestige as a Democratic leader in addition to encouraging his own plans to patch up their wet-dry differences.

FIRE ENGINE TESTED
Chief W. E. Twitty Aids In Test On Lamesa Machine

Fire Chief Twitty of this city went to Lamesa yesterday to see the test applied to the new American-LaFrance engine bought by the fire department of the Dawson county capital.

Chief Twitty said that the engine passed every test required by the National Board of fire insurance underwriters. With a five-foot draught, the engine under pump pressure of 120 pounds pumped 531 gallons per minute; under 200-pound pressure pumped 268 gallons per minute; and under 250-pound pressure pumped 196 gallons per minute.

Guardsmen Prevent Looting Of Residences In Town

CHIEFFIELD, Md., March 30.—(AP)—With national guardsmen called out to prevent possible looting in the wake of a fire which completely wiped out the business district of this town, guardsmen later in the night destroyed more than 40 homes, inhabitants of this city tonight were attempting to check fire losses, estimated at between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000.

One Man Killed
One man was crushed to death when he was trapped under a falling wall, and rescue workers were digging through the tangled wreckage tonight in the belief that three other persons reported missing, had met the same fate.

Starting last night in a center, the fire leveled every building within a six-block area, and apparatus from six adjoining cities had been summoned before the flames were brought under control early today.

Byrnes confessed to officers that he killed the girl, her mother and grandmother in their home here on March 2.

THE WOMAN'S DAY

By Allene Sumner

You've heard of the Senate Ladies Luncheon Club of course. It's the one club which the wife of the president of the nation attends. But after all, that no longer means so much since the visiting mother-in-law of a senator's wife kissed one First Lady and brought into effect a rule that no guest could be invited to the meetings. And after all, senators' wives see the First Lady often enough for it to be no rare treat.

REAL ONES ONLY

But it seems that exclusive as it is, the Senate Ladies Luncheon Club has its troubles just like any Four-Garnish Sewing Society. The wives and daughters and mothers and other women folks of actual operating senators complain that the club is so over-run with "tame duck" members, the wives and daughters and sisters and aunts and grandmothers of erstwhile dead or deceased senators, that there's no room left for a real senator's wife.

TRUBLE

It seems that some body wants a new rule limiting the club to the women folks of actually working senators. Naturally, the "tame ducks" want to stay in and see what the First Lady's wearing this Tuesday, just like the rest of 'em. And how we lesser females love it!

NO NO, NANETTE!

It's one thing for the University of Göttingen to say that a girl must earn $1000 a year before she can ever think of affording silk stockings, and it's quite another matter what she girls do. A curious investigator has just discovered (after all, why was any investigator needed?) that a girl may earn $12 a week and have her silk stockings. One girl quoted, said:

"GET FREE MEAL"

"After all, if your legs are decently covered there's always the chance that someone will blow you to a meal, and if you don't get the usual you'll keep your figure and have more chance to get a free meal in the future." A hundred girls questioned admitted that the beard and rosin ball came first—the beard possible—and that after that, every cent went for clothes of beauty. Why worry about being sick or out of a job seemed to be the general opinion. Clothes first. More chance to get a meal and not have to work.

There's something awfully likeable about this modern frank working girl going without her brush for a powder compact.

PAPA KEEPS BUSY

A Belgian farmer has just had his twenty-second child. Van Hilt, the farmer, was quite alarmed about a year ago when King Albert, who christened his twenty-first child, told him of another Belgian family with 21 children. One wonders if the spirit of competition is quite so keen in the villages of the 22.

Over 200 Athletes to Participate in County Meet Today

Keen Competition In All Events Is Likely, Predicted

Slaton, Idalou and Lubbock To Be Pitted Against Each Other in Class D Division; Tech Is Scene.

By far the greatest Lubbock County interscholastic league game and field meet in league history will be held here this afternoon at the Tech athletic field when more than 200 high school athletes of the 28 schools, Class A and Class B, of Lubbock county enter into the field of competition. The only schools in the Class A division are Slaton, Idalou, and Lubbock; while in the B group all other schools of the county are listed.

Competition Is Keen

The strength of the competition has been indicated with previous dual meets in the county and from the records made in the early season clashes the county competition is likely to be strong and close. Slaton's strongest bids will be made in the field events, while both Lubbock and Idalou are somewhat stronger in the track bids.

The junior events for both boys and girls will start at nine o'clock at the Matador field. All Junior contestants must be on hand for the early part of events, according to E. J. Lowery, of Lubbock county director.

Seniors In Afternoon

All contestants of the senior department of the league must report to the track and field officials at one o'clock this afternoon at the Tech athletic field. The first events are scheduled for 1:30 o'clock. Coach Vic Payne, of the Tech athletic department, will act as official starter in the track events and his college track men will act as officials in other capacities of the meet.

The tennis finals were played off yesterday under the direction of Prof. J. W. Reed, of the local school. Slaton won the girls singles and doubles while the Westerners carried off the singles and doubles for the boys.

Nasty Fall Loses Race for American

Baltimore Horse Falls In Shadow of Goal In Grand National Race In England

ATLANTA, England, March 30.—A nasty tumble with the goal in sight after all but one other horse had quit the grand today cost Billy Barton, crack American jumper from the blue grass country of Kentucky, a place forever in the British racing hall of fame.

No American-bred horse ever has won the Grand National steeple chase, historic grind of four and a half miles over the most treacherous of racing terrain. To Tipperary Tim, an unknown 190 to 1 shot and rank outsider, went the honors today in victory as well as of standing off the most strenuous American threat the British classic has known in its 89 years of running.

Only Part of Last Lap With only a part of a lap left, to the most remarkable Grand National ever staged and only one other of the forty-go starters left in the race Billy Barton tore into the final hurdle in the shadow of the grandstand, the prize of Howard Bruce, Baltimore sportsman, had a wide lead over Tipperary Tim struggling along far in his wake.

But when the slippery footings of the entire course, the historic difficulties of Beechers Brook and Valentine Brook had not bothered the American horse, the very last obstacle just an ordinary jump, took his toll. Billy Barton's hind feet slipped in a muddy puddle after going over successfully and in a writhing the horse and his jockey Billy Callinan, were strewn all over the course.

Ty Cobb To "Play One More Year," Is Game's First Millionaire

Georgia-Peach Denies Report That He Is To Discard Cleated Shoes But Will Join Athletics For Another Year

By BRYAN BELL (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, March 30.—Stories that a stock market on a base-stealing rampage had enriched Ty Cobb $200,000 and combined with reluctant legs to bring about his retirement from baseball were declared premature by the Georgia Peach at his Augusta home today.

The holder of more baseball records than any other player makes it clear that he still is enlisted with the Philadelphia Athletics for the duration of the 1928 campaign and expects to rejoin the White Elephants next week.

Will Play Another Year

Awaiting continued favorable reaction of Mrs. Cobb to a minor operation, Ty repeated that he had given assurances to Manager Connie Mack that he would play another year and was prepared for his 24th season under the big top of baseball.

His legs are given a good bill of health by the "outfielder" whose stock taking has revealed them at par. He dismisses the reported cleanup in the stock market with a wish that it were true.

Cobb has seen General Motors and Coca Cola go up before his eyes and is riding with them and much of his substantial fortune is believed to have been amassed in base hitting stocks. The Georgian's legs are not so spry as they were a decade ago but they still will carry him reasonably close to where he wishes to go.

Always Makes Records

The player's emphatic denial that he has discarded his cleated baseball shoes as part of his useful equipment indicates that he will break some more records in 1928. He does not even have to get a base-hit or steal a base to make ne. wbaseball marks. Every time he goes to bat he makes a record.

Connie Mack expects Cobb to prove of great value to the Athletics and will give him the right-field assignment with several younger men available. Last season Ty hit .357 and finished fifth in the American League.

He had determined in the winter season to retire but was persuaded by Manager Mack to "play one more year." Ty says he will go through with his contract, and he should know.

On 24th Year. Nevertheless it is a tired Ty starting out on his 24th year as a major leaguer. The years have made him weary of baseball and its traveling far from home. The game's first playing millionaire does not need

17 Runs Scored In Single Inning

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 30 (AP)—Trailing seven to nothing when they entered the fifth inning of their game today with Chattanooga, the New York Giants pounded out 11 hits, including a home run and three triples, to score 17 runs in that frame, one shy of the all time Major league record set in 1863 by the Chicago Cubs who scored 18 runs in an inning against Detroit in the old National league. The modern record of 14 runs in an inning was set by the New York Yankees against Washington in 1920. The score was 18 to 8.

Youth Leads In Bowling

KANSAS CITY, March 30 (AP)—Ziny Summers, 23-year-old bowling youngster of St. Louis, went into first place in the singles of the American bowling congress tournament late today, scoring 705. Game scores were 201, 256 and 246. He displaced Henry Schmidt of Chicago, who led with 702.

the money, and he has begun to fear he may break his legs along with the records, but he is still willing to take the chance. When he retires for good, it will be for the good of opposing pitchers who have been giving cheers as word came of his exit, only to recall them when Ty says "not yet."

Former Colorado Senator May Be Called In Probe

Evolution Of Conversation With Late Senator Ladd Over Hays' Efforts In Probe Is Wanted.

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP)—Senate Treaties Committee members have taken under advisement the question of calling former Senator Alva B. Adams of Colorado, and Douglas H. McArthur, former secretary to the late Senator Edwin F. Ladd of North Dakota, for relations of conversation they had with Senator Ladd concerning efforts of Will H. Hays to stop the investigation in 1924.

Tell of Washington Trip Both Adams, who then was a member of the Treaties Committee, and McArthur said today that when Senator Ladd was chairman of the committee he had told them of a visit to Washington by Hays and his attempt to use political argument on Ladd to have him join forces with other Republicans of the committee to stop the inquiry, which Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, then was vigorously pressing.

As Adams and McArthur, who now is secretary to Chairman Nye of the committee, read the story, Hays went to the White House, summoned Ladd there and then had him ride around town in a taxicab while the former postmaster general and now a director of the moving picture industry, presented his reasons why the inquiry should be closed.

Inquiry Held Political Hays was quoted to them by Ladd as having said that the inquiry had become merely a political one which the Democrats seeking to cast odium on the Republican party in connection with the leasing of the Elk River, California, and Teapot Dome, Wyoming, naval oil reserves.

The North Dakota Independent, who later was read out of the Republican party committee by his colleague, called Adams "a man who is known by Hays' arguments, the story goes, and made it plain that he was prepared to perform his duty as chairman irrespective of the Republican or any other party."

Adams was unable to recall the exact time that Ladd told him the story, whether it was before or after Hays' first appearance in March, 1924, when he failed to tell of the whole $250,000 contribution by Harry F. Sinclair to wipe out the Republican party debt.

Long Executive Session The Teapot Dome committee held a seven-hour executive session today with out reaching a decision as to when would resume public hearings. Witnesses said there had been a general calling out of letters and suggestions sent to the committee from many sources with a demand of those which should be withdrawn from the committee's investigation and after some of the more important of the leads have been brought to the attention of the committee, it will decide whether to proceed with public hearings or to await further reports of the field investigation, it is running down the trails of the Commercial Trading company, Liberty bond profits.

Willis Dies

Death Is Announced Secretary Jones returned to the stage and announced: "Mr. Willis never will be with us any more. He is gone from us for all time."

He added that all persons knew the hall and allow only relatives to remain.

It was noted, which only a few moments before had participated in the greatest political ovation Delaware had ever known, had marched in a torchlight parade, had carried red fire and had listened to a band.

Witnesses Then Faded A moment of silence, then pandemonium. People jumped from their seats and hurried from the hall. A few, dumbfounded, could not move, and sat glued to their seats. Tears ran from the eyes of many of his old friends. It was half an hour before many could believe the news.

Physicians were called to attend the senator. Doctors Durrance, James, E. T. McCarty, Floyd V. Dr. A. B. Callender and W. O. Bruner. They pronounced death to be cerebral hemorrhage.

After in the evening Senator Willis had complained of the gas pains the headache went on the next day, he said they made him feel ill.

Mr. Willis was the senator had been a slightly ill Thursday and had died a week ago.

After a half hour in the room where Senator Willis died, Mrs. Willis was accompanied by Mr. Jones and her father, John Dutton. Her mother, Edwina, and her brother, Fred Taylor, also accompanied her. She was in a state of shock that she could not be carried from the hall.

Police and national guardsmen were called to the church to take care of the body. They saw all the people from the hall and drove the body to the funeral home.

Senator Willis was buried in Delaware from Delaware, on an interment in the city of Newark, N. J. He was buried by Rev. Hays, a Methodist minister, who went to a lot at the Alton hotel.

Senator Willis was only beginning his speech making in Ohio when he died tonight at Delaware. He had been making week-end trips back to his home state, delivering an address or two on three occasions. He had planned to spend much more time traveling only the Setting a record for magnificent floral display, the 23 1/2 acre garden of Mrs. Henry Ford, shown at the North American Flower Show at Detroit, has attracted thousands of visitors. The display occupies 17,000 square feet, and six carloads of rock, peat and lumber were used in its erection. There are more than 2,000 roses in the garden, some with six or eight blooms the size of a cauliflower. state and talking up in greater detail the issues of the campaign.

Successor To Willis Occasions Spotlight COLUMBUS, O., March 30 (AP)—Appointment of a successor to Senator Frank B. Willis who died at Delaware and the effect of his death on the approaching primary, April 24, when he was to have matched strength with Secretary Hoover for delegates to the republican national convention, occupied the spotlight of political interest here tonight after word of his death was received.

With the appointment of his successor in the hands of Governor A. V. Donahay, a democrat, it was anticipated that a democrat would be named to serve out his term, expiring in November.

Those Mentioned Among those mentioned as leading candidates for the place were Cyrus Lecher, commerce director in the governor's cabinet and a candidate for the senatorial nomination; James M. Cox, Dayton publisher and candidate for president in 1920; Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, secretary of war under President Wilson; former United States Senator Alton Sweeney of Cleveland; George White of Marietta, democratic national committeeman and Claude Meeker of Columbus, several times considered as a senatorial aspirant.

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover tonight said the death of United States Senator Frank B. Willis was a "matter of deep regret to all citizens."

"Mr. Willis as a school teacher, governor and statesman has given his life to honest, upright public service," the secretary said in a statement issued before he left for Washington.

"The passing of so conscientious a public servant is a matter of deep regret to every citizen."

Federal Jury In Chicago Returns Many Indictments

War On Liquor And Gangs Names Mayor of Suburb And Six Pro Officials In Sweeping Probe.

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, March 30.—The second major move of the government to end illegal manufacture of distribution of liquor in Chicago with its attendant shootings and gang warfare, was chronicled today when a federal grand jury indicted 22 persons, including a suburban mayor and six prohibition agents.

Several of those named were also listed in the indictments returned a few days ago in which Alderman Thos. Haffa was charged with violation of the dry law and acceptance of bribes.

Extortion, bribery and violation of the prohibition law were charged today in the indictments which, in addition to the mayor, Charles Thompson of Specialville, and the agents, named an attorney, a former district prohibition inspector, and four druggists.

Mayor Thompson Accused Mayor Thompson is accused of operating a syndicate in the suburb southwest of the city, and controlling the sale and distribution of illicit liquor in that vicinity. With the mayor were named Joseph P. Burke, an attorney, two negro dry agents, William Jones and Horace Lyle, saloon keeper, "Slim" Kelly, Federal investigators said when saloon keepers refused to deal with the syndicate, Agents Jones and Lyle were called upon to raid the places. The liquor taken was stored at Kelly's place for disposal by the syndicate while the agents took just enough for evidence.

Two other groups are charged with operating stills. Herbert L. Rees, former chief inspector in the prohibition department is accused of accepting a $50 bribe from O. E. Slayter, a druggist, who in turn is charged with offering the bribe.

Louis E. Stoebla, Jean Miller and Abram O. Shay, druggists, were also charged with bribing prohibition agents Harry Smith, E. J. McElroy, Jacob Maas, and Edward F. Daugherty.

The indictments were the result of months of investigation by federal agents.

With the enlargement of cotton acres, cotton fields have reached 13 within about 40 miles of the irrigated area, and the pests have blown across to the main cotton belt.

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP)—Assistant Secretary McCracken of the Commerce Department wired congratulations today to Eddie Stinson and George Haldeman, who set a new record for sustained flight at Jacksonville.

"I told the two aviators that in my opinion they had made another substantial contribution to the advancement of commercial aviation in this country," Mr. McCracken said. "It is particularly of interest because these two pilots are commercial aviators and their plane is a stock commercial machine. We are highly pleased with their accomplishment."

Wedding Body Punches Of Lomaki Prove Too Much For Dayton Youngest; To Meet Loughran.

NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—A right hand that modeled steadily to the left with stunning effect and the inexperience of Joe Sekyra, curly-headed blonde youngster from Dayton, tonight won Leo Lomaki a thrilling ten-round battle—and the right to fight Tommy Loughran again for the light heavy-weight championship.

West Texas League Clubs Meet Sunday

Abilene, San Angelo, Hamlin, Lubbock and Cleman to Be Represented at Midland Meeting.

MIDLAND, March 30 (AP)—A meeting of all clubs of the newly-organized West Texas league will be held here Sunday, April 1, it is announced by J. McAllister Stevenson, Abilene, president.

Dick Cowden, president of the Midland Colts, is in charge of arrangements. Representatives are expected from Abilene, San Angelo, Lubbock, Coleman and Hamlin, the last named town having been promised the Brownwood franchise.

Brother Nave Leads House of David Win

SAN ANTONIO, March 30 (AP)—Hitting the Bears with a triple play in the opening round, the bewhiskered brothers of the House of David carried on their snappy work in the field to the final chapter behind the effective pitching of Brother Nave to win the final game of the series Friday 6 to 2.

Crickets Win From Buffs in Fast Game

HOUSTON, March 30 (AP)—Three hits, two errors and two bases on balls combined in the eighth and ninth innings to give the Omaha Crickets four runs and a victory over the Buffs here today, 5 to 1, in a fast played game. Up to the eighth the teams were deadlocked at one all. Score: Omaha..... 5 0 0 0 0 1-5 Houston..... 1 0 0 0 0 0-1

Brandt Goes Route But Braves Go Down

Kansas City Blues Win Over St. Louis

KANSAS CITY, March 30 (AP)—Kubel's double, a sacrifice and then three walks, two of them intentional, led a three to two victory for the Kansas City Blues in the tenth inning of the local club's initial game of the season here this afternoon with the St. Louis Americans.

Beaumont to Try Two-Team Plan Too

BEAUMONT, March 30 (AP)—Non-competitive training occupied the Expressers today. Tomorrow the team plays the Wilson Hardware local semi-pro. Sunday the squad will split the regulars going to DeQuincy, La., and the Yarnigans to Fort Arthur for more semi-pro encounters. The next scheduled training games with professionals are on Wednesday and Thursday with the Rochester of the International league.

Champion Spudders To Meet Waco Cubs

WICHITA FALLS, March 30 (AP)—The Wichita Falls Spudders and the Waco Cubs, winners and runners-up in the 1927 Texas League championship race, will play a two-game season series here Saturday and Sunday. Much interest attaches to the contest.

Gang Guns Get "Diamond Joe"

"Diamond Joe" Esposito was czar of the old "Bloody Nineteenth" ward in Chicago. The other night as he was returning from a political meeting, with this bodyguard, his $5,000 diamond ring and a belt studded with diamonds, five men got out of an automobile and opened fire. The bodyguard dived to the sidewalk to escape fire. Esposito dropped, too, dead. "Diamond Joe" is shown at the top when he was host at a banquet given for poor children of his ward. Below are Mrs. Esposito and the home in front of which the shooting occurred.

Connie Mack has a son pitching for Germantown Academy. He'll probably get a tryout with his father's team—in 30 or 40 years.

Mr. Pyle probably has made liberal allowances, however, for bunt-punchers' shot on the way. If half those germs get to New York, it's a sure sign the west ain't what she used to be.

Bobby Jones says there are three ways of getting out of a bunker—the chip shot, the bias and the cut shot. O'Goody, however, lists a fourth—the slice-kick.

Giants Win in 5th Inning Scoring Spree CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 30 (AP)—If only the fifth inning had been left out, Chattanooga, of the Southern association, might have handed the New York Giants a trimming today. Exceedingly docile for four innings, McGraw's hiring uncorked a batting spree in the fifth that ended only when 17 runs had crossed the plate. The final score was 18 to 8. Darkness halted the contest in the seventh.

Teah Crew Downs Shallowater Nine

Exhibition Contest Puts Collegians in Better Form for Coming Road Trip.

Earnie Blackmon, former Hobbs utility player, who is handling the diamond performers of Shallowater brought his nine down for an exhibition contest with Grady Higginbotham's Matadors yesterday afternoon, in which the collegians scored a 13 to 3 victory over the visitors.

A marked improvement was shown in every department of the game by the Matadors after the two successive drubbings they encountered at the hands of the Texans. Amarillo Western league champions, last week-end.

(Rod) Havel and (Lefty) McQuay, the two chuckers elected for major duty for the Matadors let the Shallowater nine down with four hits, one of which was for the complete circuit, however, and was picked out by Scott's stocky built pitcher.

The Matadors closed a total of nine base hits from the offerings of three visiting pitchers.

Coach Higginbotham feels that since the exhibition contest with Shallowater brought out considerable improvement over the games of last week his recruits will be ready to do battle with the Baylor University team on April 6 and 7, which are the opening games for the Matadors in their collegiate schedule.

Deadly Disease Is Being Conquered By Medical Skill

Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever Giving Way Before Science; Small Area Is Affected by Fever.

BY COLEMAN B. JONES (By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 30.—One of the most deadly diseases known to science, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, appears to be yielding to the long, patient, self-sacrificing efforts of Public Health Service research workers. Although the disease is fortunately localized in the Bitter Root valley of Montana and a few areas of Idaho, Wyoming and Colorado, four, five and more than 20 years of study have been expended in the effort to overcome it. With the development of a vaccine by Dr. R. H. Spenner, now in charge of the work, important progress seems to have been made but much remains to be done.

Dr. T. B. McClintic, who died in 1912 while in charge of the field laboratory set up to combat the disease at Hamilton, Mont. was the first of the government scientists killed by the exceptionally virulent germs. The latest was A. Leroy Kerlee, who graduated at the Montana State college less than a year ago and was working as a bacteriological assistant to earn funds for a medical course.

Kerlee, like all of the laboratory workers and many of the residents of the affected localities, had been vaccinated against the disease. His death, February 14, established that while the vaccine apparently immunizes a large number who take it into their blood, it is not wholly effective.

Spencer Tested Vaccine
The first to test the vaccine was Dr. Spenner himself. He was put in charge of the spotted fever work about seven years ago. After several years investigating the disease in the field and laboratory, he evolved the idea of a preventive vaccine. Many tedious and disappointing experiments followed for the germ he obtained complete analysis, but finally he reached the point where he was able to immunize guinea pigs and monkeys.

Then, although he knew that a victim of the disease has only one or two chances in ten to survive, he vaccinated himself and injected some of the deadly germs into his own blood. The vaccination was effective and since that experiment only one person, Kerlee, has died of the disease after receiving the injection. Others who have been vaccinated against the germs have contracted the disease, but invariably in a much milder form than usual.

Until about two years ago, when vaccination of residents of the affected area began on a large scale between 60 and 100 cases were reported annually, with the death rate at times amounting to 50 per cent. Relatively few cases have been reported recently, however, and health service officials are daring to hope that the disease, which is communicated by wood ticks and is not contagious, will soon be brought definitely under control. Sheep herders and other outdoor workers have been its principal victims.

Prof. University of Cincinnati; Prof. W. H. Rodebusch, University of Illinois; Prof. W. D. Harkins, University of Chicago; Prof. H. C. Henshaw, University of Missouri; and W. D. Carothers, Harvard.

The president of the American Chemical Society is Dr. S. W. Parr of the University of Illinois.

KELLY TAKES PIPPS JOB
Don't be surprised if later George Kelly displaces Wally Pipp at first base for the Reds this year. His work in spring training has been far better than Pipp's.

Participants in the symposium will include Prof. S. C. Lind, University of Minnesota; Prof. H. S.

Adverse Weather Delays Start Of Atlantic Flight

German Aviators Undaunted At Weather Though And Intend to Make The Flight In Near Future.

BALDONNEL, March 30 (AP)—Adverse weather in Ireland and over the Atlantic ruined Baron Van Huisenfeld's hope to continue his flight from Berlin to Mitchell Field, L. I. this week. The Junkers plane Bremen was unladen today from its air field moorings and with a full load of fuel and oil aboard was carefully rolled back into the hangar, and the fliers are not optimistic about starting before Monday.

Weather Hard
Free State troops guarding the plane were prepared for a long siege against the weather. They had dug themselves into trenches, with a chiller overhead for protection from wind, rain and cold, which made Baldonnell field a particularly uncomfortable place in the last few days.

Baron Huisenfeld yielded to the demands of the Irish and foreign press for withdrawal of his venture to the extent of issuing an "official communique," evidently in reply to criticisms which have been made of his attitude both in Dublin, where protests were carried to the highest Free State government authorities, and in Berlin in criticism of his project.

Will Fly Regardless
"In view of the unfavorable weather of the last few days it has been impossible to start from Ireland for America," declared the aviator, "but my comrades, Koebel and Spindler, that we will not allow our elaborately developed plans to be influenced by outside considerations and circumstances."

"We do not intend to make experiments, but will await in all calmness the development of a favorable period comes to us. None of us will give an interview before we start, and we beg the Irish, German and foreign press to take heed of this firm determination of ours and treat this matter with the most reserve, so that judgment on the results or lack of results, of our undertaking will thereby be made easier."

Congress Wants Law Enforcement
Courts Have Right to Enforce Congress-Imposed Duties for Public Welfare, Says Stearns.

HOUSTON, March 30 (AP)—Carl Stearns, attorney for the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, making final arguments in the Southern Pacific lines injunction case, in federal court here today, told Judge J. C. Hutcheson that the courts have a right to enforce a duty imposed by Congress in interest of the public welfare.

He was referring to the railway labor set of 1925 under which the Brotherhood seeks to permanently restrain the Southern Pacific lines in Louisiana and Texas from interfering with the Brotherhood as the labor organization for more than 1,000 of the roads' clerical employees.

Bill Meaningless
Previously Clarence Wharton, of Houston, Southern Pacific attorney had called the railway labor set a "meaningless bill, never intended to be enforced, except by public opinion."

Mr. Stearns admitted that the bill had no effect for failure to carry out its provisions. "But," he said, "When Congress imposes a duty in the interest of common welfare, if one party violates the duty there is no reason why the court should not enforce that duty."

Mr. Wharton in his argument, in-

Science Linking With Medicine In Fight On Disease

Alliance To Be Feature Of Chemical Society's Meeting In St. Louis, April 16 To 19.

ST. LOUIS, March 30 (AP)—Chemists' alliance with medicine is an organized attack on disease will feature the discussions at the seventy-fifth meeting of the American Chemical Society here April 16 to 19. Nearly 2,000 scientists are expected.

The society's 60 local sections and divisions in all parts of the country will send delegates and hundreds of papers will be read by men of science from industrial laboratories, colleges, universities and technical schools. Among the speakers will be Dr. William J. Mayo of Rochester, Minn., who will discuss "The Advancement of Learning in Medicine Through Biochemistry."

Thirty papers dealing with the biochemistry of soils, nutrition, vitamins, ultra-violet irradiations, endocrinology, and the relation of chemistry to health and disease will be presented to the division of biological chemistry, of which P. E. Hore of Washington is chairman.

The progress of the chemist toward a solution of the world's rubber problem will be described at the three-day sessions of the rubber chemistry division, headed by H. L. Fisher of New York.

The agricultural and food chemistry division will hold a symposium on insecticides and fungicides under the chairmanship of Dr. R. C. Roark of the federal bureau of chemistry and soils. Industrial and engineering chemists will discuss digestion, filtration and equipment construction.

Common Understanding
A symposium on "Atomic Structure and Valence" has been arranged by the division of physical and inorganic chemistry to bring physicists and chemists together in an effort to reach some common basis of understanding on the fundamental nature of life. Recent studies in atomic scientists have shown profoundly altered points of view.

Participants in this symposium will include Prof. S. C. Lind, University of Minnesota; Prof. H. S.

Tax Reduction Question To Be Discussed Soon

Report That Total Set For Reduction Will Be Less Causes Consternation Among Senators.

WASHINGTON, March 30.—Warnings from the treasury that tax reduction of even less than the original $225,000,000 total set by Secretary Mellon is going to be demanded by the administration are causing consternation about the senate where this legislation will be taken up next week.

Amazed at Report.
Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the finance committee, declared today he was "amazed" at published reports that the treasury would ask for a smaller slash. He pointed to other reports that the March 19 returns appeared to show an increase over last year's income for the government.

Chairman Smoot of the committee, who will lead the Republican majority forces, is withholding comment, awaiting the treasury's recommendations to the committee next Tuesday. He is not, however, looking forward with any great pleasure to the task facing him in attempting to pare down the $229,000,000 reduction voted by the house to the figures to be named by Mr. Mellon.

Treasury Inconsistent.
Declaring the treasury was "inconsistent" in its intimations that the total cut must be limited to $200,000,000 or less, Senator Simmons called attention today that the government ended last fiscal year with a surplus of more than $200,000,000.

"Tax receipts as indicated by the first returns this year," he said, "are greater than those of a year ago we certainly are going to have an abundant margin on which to give relief for taxpayers in dire need of assistance."

The North Carolinaian has said that he believed a total cut of $300,000,000 or $400,000,000 was possible but until he receives a detailed statement from the treasury showing the prospective income for this year as based on the March 15 returns he is proposing no definite program to the minority members.

Retailers Elect Hassell As Head

Active Worker In Organization Selected As President For Coming Year; Fake Advertising Hit.

Opening a new fiscal year under the leadership of J. D. Hassell, Jr., young and energetic secretary of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association in its better condition than at any time in its history, with prospects bright for continually expanding operations and service.

Mr. Hassell was elected president of the association at the meeting of the board of directors here Friday. Other officers elected are: D. D. Roderick, of the Avalanche-Journal and A. O. Hess, grocery merchant, vice presidents; and W. R. Fickas, druggist, treasurer.

Advertising Stressed.
Upon authorization of the directors, the president appointed several committees to direct the various lines of activity. This list included an advertising committee, which will seek to ferret out each proposition of this nature offered, and make recommendations to the organization.

The directors went on record as favoring exertion of strenuous effort to at least minimize fake advertising and solicitation schemes which are presented to the membership at other business men of the city.

More Marines To Nicaragua

While American marines are redoubling their efforts to defeat the rebel element in Nicaragua led by General Sandino, the country is turning its attention to the coming presidential election. Many, wondering what the State Department's policy will be, point to the colors of this block house as a symbolic threat against Nicaraguan independence. Inset is a picture of Don A. Alfaro Diaz, Conservative president.

Market Price Of Crude Oil Reset

Texon Company Pays Post-Red Price of 60c Per Barrel Upon Refusal of Royalty Holders for Less.

SAN ANGELO, March 30.—The Texon Oil and Land company has followed the Romana Petroleum corporation and Landreth Production company in reestablishing the posted market price of Winkler county oil, now 60 cents a barrel in payment of royalties. It was announced at the Texon office at Santa Rita Friday that checks for 12 cents a barrel, representing the reduction from the posted price as reimbursement for pipe line transportation and tank car loading were being mailed to owners of royalties under Texon's two 80-acre leases in the Hendricks pool, which are now producing around 8,000 barrels daily.

Owners Reject Payments.
Owners of royalties living here had rejected payments on the 30-cent basis, returning the checks. The Texon company felt that it was justified in making the 10-cent carrying charge, it was stated at the company's office, since it was unable to obtain the posted price at the wells, and was forced to erect storage, buy a six-inch, 19 1/2-mile

NOT SERIOUSLY HURT Falls Youth Who Suffered Concussion Recovers

D. R. Richards, son of W. R. Richards of Ralls, who was injured Thursday night when the light car in which he and three others were riding, was struck by a southbound Santa Fe passenger train at the north Avenue H railroad crossing, was well on the road to recovery Friday night, and was to be released from the Lubbock Sanitarium to return to his home today. Young Richards suffered a slight concussion of the brain. C. A. Mullinax, and Misses Viola Roberts and Mildred Maddux of Ralls, other occupants of the car, escaped unharmed. The narrow escape of the car was attributed by the injured man Friday to the presence of mind of Mullinax, who was driving in heading the car as far as possible down the railroad track when he saw the train was upon them. Considerable damage was done to the machine.

Italian Makes New Air Speed

Bernardi Pilots Plane At A Maximum Speed of 350 Miles Per Hour; Breaks Former Record.

VENICE, Italy, March 30.—Attaining a maximum speed of 350 miles an hour but averaging 318.57 miles, Major Mario De Bernardi, Italy's premier speed flier, set up a new world speed record today.

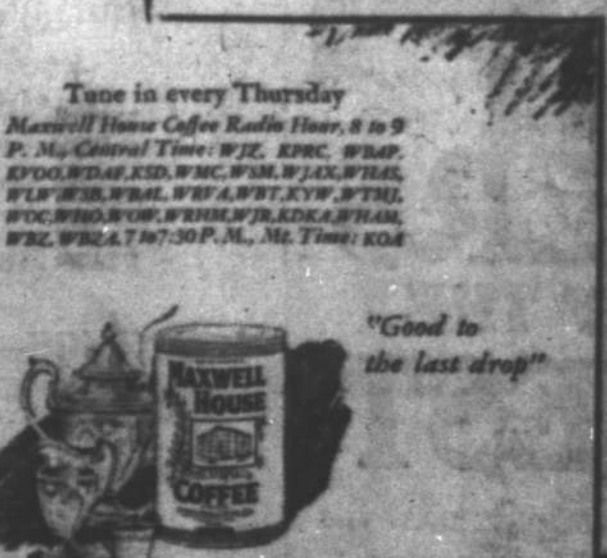

De Bernardi made the circuit of the regular measured course 2 times at an altitude of 150 feet and afterwards flew over Venice, performing stunts. He was enthusiastically cheered by "great" crowds.

The aviator, who himself held the World's speed record of 294 3/4 miles which he established several months ago, won the Schneider cup race in the United States in 1926. He had waited several weeks for good weather for this attempt and finally the spring-like atmosphere today and warm sun induced him to make the test. He used a hydro-airplane especially built for speed flying.

Prohibition Is Major Policy of Woman Candidate

Mrs. Edith Williams, Of Dallas, Tells Tarrant County Women About Politics.

(By Associated Press) FORT WORTH, March 30.—Mrs. Edith E. Williams, Democratic candidate for governor, in an address here today at a meeting of Tarrant county members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, declared that enforcement of prohibition laws constitutes a major plank in her platform.

"We have prohibition. It is here to stay, and no coercion on the part of the liquor interests will take it from us, but to be successful it must be enforced by both the state and federal governments," Mrs. Williams said.

Discusses Moody's Stand. Mrs. Williams also discussed the stand of Governor Dan Moody, who is running for re-election on instructions to delegates with reference to "dry" candidates, saying: "In his Jackson Day dinner address, Governor Moody stated that he thought the Democrats of Texas should not be bound against any man in particular, but should be solid in their vote for a man who might be able to carry the party to win by compromising itself and the people by being compelled to support a candidate that no self-respecting man or woman would want to see as president of the United States."

Should Stand Solid. "I agree with Mr. Moody that we should stand solidly for one man, but I differ with him as to the time this man should be chosen. I believe we should select the man at the precinct conventions, and our delegates should go instructed to vote, not only for the candidate we select, but to stand firmly against any candidate who is so notoriously wet as some of those who presume to come to Texas and tell us how and when to make our choice, and the way we should vote."

Need of Better Highways Stressed

Roads are Business and Competitive One At that, Publisher of Route Maps Says

Good highways are a business proposition, and a competitive one at that, Harry Locke of Los Angeles, publisher of the Locke road maps for the Southwest, declared here yesterday while gathering data for a new issue of maps relating to this section.

Mr. Locke praised Lubbock as a service center for tourists and declared that paved highways would be a great boon for the entire section.

"For," said he, "the time is about here when paved highways are being actually demanded by tourists. Unless they are forthcoming, some other route gets the travel and the trade. For every dollar invested in paved roads, there are ten forthcoming. Tourists form a certain source of income for a community."

Mr. Locke averred that this year's travel was destined to be heavier than ever before.

He emphasized the need for additional United States highway markers in this section, saying that tourists looked for them in choosing their routes of travel.

Remember—a community is always known by the highways leading into it," he admonished.

RANGER CANDIDATES HOUSTON, March 30. (AP)—A Texas ranger may be the sergeant-at-arms at the democratic national convention here in June. Two captains of rangers—Tom Hickman and Bill Sterling—are advanced by influential Texas democrats for the position. Both are six-footers.

BUSINESS IMPROVED

Optimism Is Radiated By Scurry County

SNYDER, March 30.—Snyder's business men are in fine business condition at the close of the third month of 1928.

Western Union records reveal that January, 1928, shows a gain over 1927 of 272 per cent and February, 1928, shows a gain of 785 per cent of the same month a year ago. Other business houses report an average gain of 150 per cent over the same period of a year ago. All shipments of the rail lines and truck lines reports considerable gains over the same period of last year.

With fairly good seasons and the farmers ready for the planting season, Scurry county is facing a period of greatest prosperity.

Commission Is To Act On Oil Production Cut

Winkler County Pool Regulation Is Now Up To Railroad Commission For Consideration.

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, March 30.—The next move in efforts to eliminate overproduction and waste in the Winkler county oil fields lies with the railroad commission, R. D. Parker, chief of its oil and gas division and chairman of a committee assigned to make Winkler investigations, said here Friday.

The commission will act, Mr. Parker explained, on recommendations made by the committee in a report to be made Thursday. The plan would authorize the creation of a general committee of control, each operator in the field to have one representative. That committee, with approval of the railroad commission, would appoint a secretary and "umpire" to administer the rules it would make. Provisions of production, Parker contended, would be worked out in this manner.

Purchasers Make Reports. Receivers and purchasers of crude from the area would make regular reports as to the amount they could use. The total thus obtained would be divided by the number of 40-acre units in the field and each unit would be allowed to produce up to the quotient obtained, except in cases where existing contracts call for production greater than would be allowed under the unit method. In such cases, contractors would be allowed to take out whatever was needed with the understanding that any neighboring driller, whose contract might be "drain-

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

International Sunday School Lesson for April 1, 1928.
General Topic: Jesus the Suffering Messiah. Scripture Lesson: Mark 8:27-37.

27. And Jesus went forth, and his disciples, into the villages of Caesarea Philippi; and on the way he asked his disciples, saying unto them, Who do men say that I am?
28. And they told him, saying John the Baptist; and others, Elijah; but others, one of the prophets.
29. And he asked them, But who say ye that I am? Peter answered and saith unto him, Thou art the Christ.

30. And he charged them that they should tell no man of him.
31. And he began to teach them, that the Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders, and the chief priests, and the scribes, and be killed, and after three days rise again.

32. And he spake the saying openly. And Peter took him, and began to rebuke him.
33. But he turning about, and seeing his disciples, rebuked Peter, and saith, Get thee behind me, Satan: for thou mindest not the things of God, but the things of men.

34. And he called unto him the multitude with his disciples, and said unto them, If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me.

35. For whosoever would have his life shall lose it, and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's shall save it.

36. For what doth it profit a man to gain the whole world, and forfeit his life?
37. For what should a man give in exchange for his life?

Time: Summer, A. D. 29, in the third year of Christ's ministry. Place: Near Caesarea Philippi. Golden Text: If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me.—Mark 8:34.

Introduction
As we approach the close of Christ's short life on earth, the shadow of the cross falls along it, growing ever darker, while at the same time the supernatural glories of his Father's home shone dazzlingly through the shadow, and then, as if the home door were ajar in expectation of his return, and the home lights were shining out to meet the beloved Son of God. These are the two contracted thoughts of the queries ahead of us.

"Who Say Ye That I Am?" v. 27.
And he asked them, But who say ye that I am? This is the question of questions for every soul: "Who say ye that Jesus is?" It makes no difference what the books say, or the preachers, or the professors in college, or your acquaintances and friends, who say "YOU?" Peter answered and saith unto him, Thou art the Christ. Peter stands out through all the ages as the typical Christian confessor—prompt, courageous, complete. He knew that Jesus was his Saviour, his heart was full of gratitude to him, and his thanksgiving took the inevitable form of Christian testimony. Peter's answer, "Thou art the Christ," should be printed in larger type on the center and the pivot of the whole story. Everything has led up to this from the opening of the verse. This is the summit, the mountain of transfiguration, and from this point we shall observe that the whole tone of Christ's speech changes. He leads his disciples down from the summit into the valley of shadows and death.

The Sanhedrin—Elders, Chief Priests, Scribes, v. 31.
And he rejected by the elders, and the chief priests, and the scribes. These were the three classes from which representatives were chosen to make up the Sanhedrin, the ruling body among the Jews. There were seventy members, not counting the high priest, who presided. The elders were heads of the families or clans; the chief priests were heads of the "courses" of priests who served in turn in the temple, together with all who had served as high priests; the scribes were recorders and teachers of the Jewish law. It was this body which must condemn Jesus, though only the Romans could actually put him to death.

Death and Resurrection Foretold, v. 31.
"And he killed." Christ knew that he would not be stoned to death, which was the Jewish mode of execution. But he killed in the even more barbaric and torturing Roman fashion, the slow and horribly painful death of crucifixion. "And after three days rise again." The cross made the resurrection a necessity. If Christ did not rise, his death was dead, and our preaching vain. Calvary was not an atonement, but an execution. But if Christ arose, then Christ died as a sacrifice and not as a victim, and every soul that trusts in him is saved.

"Get Thee Behind Me Satan," v. 33.
"And saith, Get thee behind me, Satan." Thus Christ had spoken to the devil when he tempted him in the wilderness, Matt. 4:10. Peter indeed, was using the devil's argument, and was seeking to get Christ to adopt the easy ways of worldly compromise rather than the heroic and fearfully difficult ways of divine truth, of other-worldliness.

"For thou mindest not the things of God, but the things of men." Peter's mind was still worldly. It was still bent upon popularity with men more than on doing the will of God. And as the mind goes, so goes the life.

Worldly and Heavenly Viewpoints.
When I look around this old world I see it in just the world for me, and about the first thing I'm going to look into is: What sort of little can I get to it? Do you know that a man may count down his soul for the world and in fifteen hours after he has made the trade Satan will come along with a writ of ejectment and say, "Off these premises! Get off forever!" And the poor fellow will pull out his deed, but Death is blind and can't see to read it, and the poor fellow will say, "I have counted down my all for this piece of property, but Death can't hear a word you say!"

Life Lost—Life Saved, v. 35.
"For whosoever would save his life shall lose it." It is recorded that Christ uttered this saying four times: here (and see also Matt. 10:25 and Luke 9:24), also in Matt. 19:29; Luke 17:33; John 12:25. A truth which he taught with so much emphasis must not be neglected by his followers. "Life" is here used in two different senses. "Whoever seeks to preserve life in the lower sense, physical gratification, temporal ambition, shall lose life in the higher sense, eternal life." And whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's shall save it. Here again "life" is used in the same two senses. "Whoever shall lose his lower, physical, worldly life in whole or in part, for the sake of Christ and the good news of salvation which Christ came to bring to men, shall save his higher, lasting, glorious life." Most of the disciples then listening to the Master proved in their experience the full truth of this saying.

"What Doth It Profit?" v. 36.
"For what doth it profit a man to gain the whole world, and forfeit his life?" The whole world is the same as the lower life. It is transient, unsatisfying, empty. It is gain that bubble one gives up the higher life, the only permanent thing he has, the source of the only abiding joy, what gain has one made? rather, what unutterable loss!

"For what should a man give in exchange for his life?" His higher life, his eternal life, his only real life. When all gold has crumbled to dust, when all world's have vanished, that life will be still youthful.

still happy and beautiful, and growing ever stronger in wisdom, love, and service. Who can set a price upon that priceless thing? What infinite folly to bargain it away!

"Ashamed of Jesus," v. 38.
Jesus closed his discourse with a warning against being "ashamed" of him and his words, even though they were to be associated forever with the disgrace of the cross. Would they be ashamed of him when he should come back from heaven in clouds of glory attended by the hosts of angels? Rather would he be ashamed of them in that day to their endless confusion and despair.

CONVICTS ESCAPE

Tehuacana Bank Robber One In Break

HUNTSVILLE, March 30. (AP)—A. P. Bruton, sentenced to 99-years from Limestone county for alleged participation in the Tehuacana bank robbery, was still at large Wednesday with five other prisoners who escaped from the Eastham state prison farm near Weidon at an undetermined date last week.

The flight of the six convicts was reported to the state penitentiary authorities here Sunday, but was not made public until Wednesday.

The men crawled through a flue in their barracks to the roof of the structure, dropped to the ground and fled undetected. The prison authorities here were not advised when the escapes were effected.

HEARING FROM WILKINS

"All Well" Is Terse Message From Fliers

EDWARD, Alaska, March 30. (AP)—A terse radio message "all fine Barrow, head toward signal corps (okoh)," was picked up by the government radio station here last night, indicating that Captain George H. Wilkins, Australian explorer, and Capt. Carl B. Eielson, his Alaskan airplane pilot, were making progress in their preparation for flights over the Polar Sea.

Wilkins and Eielson are awaiting favorable weather for aerial exploration. Their base at Point Barrow is stocked with gasoline and provisions. If conditions are satisfactory, they plan a flight to Fitzbergren over the Arctic "blind spot" about the middle of April.

$4.85 values in this group to $10

Smart New Hats For Easter Arrive Daily

JARETT'S FASHION SHOP
1105 Broadway

Scarf collars, self collars, and fur collars—Kasha cloths, Twillsheens and Tweeds—surely there is a coat in the group to please most every woman's taste. The comparative price speaks for its value.

This is a group that will appeal to the woman difficult to fit. Extra length, large sizes, some cut full in the hips with large arm sizes, and sleeves—others cut full through the bust and sleeves with slender hip lines. Satins and broadcloths fashion them and regular sizes are also included.

Finest grade twills, broadcloths and faille fashion these coats. Selected squirrel and mole collars dyed to blend with the color of the garment add distinction. Queen Anne collars, Jabots, and Scarf effects are smart and included in the details of these coats.

It is the garment that Spring favors for her Fashion parade. Long tweed coat and skirt with silk blouse.

Long Kasha Coats over smart silk frocks make these ensembles unusual in beauty and value.

DAILY MARKETS

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK
FORT WORTH, March 30 (AP)—The cattle market here today was a rather quiet affair. Hardly enough receipts in the different classes were listed to test the market.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, March 30 (AP)—Bearish weekly statistics, disappointing mill statistics, disappointing mill takings and a reported decline in the spot basis in the interior sent the cotton market down-ward here today, final prices showing a decline of 9 to 12 points.

CHICAGO GRAIN REPORT
CHICAGO, March 30 (AP)—Heavy selling on the part of holders of future deliveries of wheat brought about a sharp setback today in prices here. Much of the selling was to realize profits, but outlook for declines at Liverpool, slowness of export call, and better moisture conditions for the domestic crop were also influential.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK
KANSAS CITY, March 30 (AP)—(United States Department of Agriculture)—Fat lambs were steady to slightly higher, around the 11 middle western and southwestern markets, with the exception of one market, where values have been somewhat out of line.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK
CHICAGO, March 30 (AP)—(United States Department of Agriculture)—Hogs—Receipts, 20,000; closed fairly active, steady with yesterday's close; top $8.50; estimated holdover 7,000; butchers, medium to choice 250-350 pound, $7.50-8.15;

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, March 30 (AP)—An opening advance was followed by declines in the cotton market today, July selling off from 18.36 to 18.96 and closing at 19.02, compared with 19.17 at the close yesterday.

Two Of Lindy's Fair Passengers

Among the many who took enthusiastic advantage of Lindy's invitation to members of Congress to take short flights with him over Washington were Sarah and Louise Kent, daughters of Representative Everett Kent of Bangor, Pa. At Bolling Field just before they went up they made a pretty picture despite their ill-fitting flying suits and unbecoming parachute trappings.

The buying was in small volume, and the market eased later—under realizing or liquidation, while there also appeared to be some Southern selling. May sold off from 19.42 to 19.12 and October from 18.91 to 18.65, net declines of 17 to 22 points on active months and reactions of approximately 30 points compared with the high prices touched at the beginning of the week.

Some buyers were said to be liquidating on the afternoon decline. Last prices showed rallies of about 4 to 8 points from the lowest on covering but trading was very quiet during the last half hour and no fresh news factor was mentioned in connection with the closing bulge.

Private cables reported trade calling had been supplied by hedging and realizing in Liverpool, but good demand for cotton cloths from India and China.

The market opened steady to unchanged prices to an advance of points and showed net gains of about 7 to 8 points in early trading on covering or rebuying, and a moderate trade demand promoted by relatively steady Liverpool cables and reports of rain in the eastern and central belts.

HENRY FORD CALLED Will Testify In The Coal Investigation

WASHINGTON, March 30 (AP)—Henry Ford is to be called before the Senate Soft Coal investigations committee to ascertain whether his experience as a coal operator can produce any suggestions for alleviation of difficulties besetting that industry.

36. NOTICES

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC DUPRE ANNUAL EASTER CARNIVAL BEGINS FRIDAY AFTER-NOON. The first event will be the BIGGEST BABY buggy parade ever staged in Lubbock. The parade will make its way to the west side of the square to the Spikes building which is to be the scene of the Carnival.

A real fortune teller. A wild, WILD ANIMAL CIRCUS, and a MIDGET MINSTREL WILL BE ATTRACTIONS FOR THE EVENING.

Some of the business men have asked for space for a display and if there are others who want to join us we will be glad to have you phone and arrange for booth.

One of the features of Saturday will be the food booth which will serve a tasty lunch and the committee in charge will appreciate it if the business people who rush out for a hurried bite on this busy day will remember that a very appetizing plate has been planned.

We are urging the co-operation of every Lubbock citizen to help us put this over big.

MRS. W. W. CAMPBELL, General Chairman.

GIRL ALONE

THIS HAS HAPPENED

When she was four years old Sally Ford is left at the state orphanage by a woman who says she is the child's mother but who disappears without again inquiring for the child. The summer she is 16, Sally is "farmed out" to Clem Carson, a farmer who has the reputation of being a harsh and unrelenting task master. There she meets David Nash, handsome young student who is working on the Carson farm for the summer, preparing himself to inherit his grandfather's many acres which adjoin the Carson place.

David likes Sally and this crosses the anger of Pearl, Carson's daughter. Clem orders Sally to have nothing to do with David, saying he and Pearl are practically engaged. She disregards his warning, however.

The next day the women-folk leave Sally alone on the farm with Clem and David. When her work is done she goes to her room, but David's voice calls to her and she innocently goes into his room for a moment to see his books on farming. The wind blows the door shut. They are suddenly frightened by Clem's face peering at them through the little attic window. His evil re-echoes Clem, sending him crashing to the ground. David tells Sally they must run away, and tells her to meet him in the orchard in a few minutes. He telephones for a doctor to come to Clem's aid, then meets the girl. He says: "I've been thinking hard, honey. I'll have to take you back to the home."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII

"No, David, no, no! I can't go back to the orphanage! I'd rather die!" Sally gasped.

David dropped his bundle, took her hands and held them tightly. "I can't run away from this thing I've done, Sally. I'm sorry. I thought I could. I'm going to give myself up, after I've seen you safely back in the home. I'll explain to your Mrs. Stone, make her believe—"

"Oh! Sally breathed on a gust of despair. Then, stooping swiftly she snatched up her bundle and began to run down a corn row. She ran with the fleetness of a terror-stricken animal, and David watched her for a long moment, his eyes dark with pity and uncertainty. Then he gave chase, his long legs clearing the distance between them with miraculous speed. He caught up with her just as she was at the edge of the corn field, reaching about to plunge into the field that led to the Carson home.

"Wait, Sally!" he panted, grasping her shoulder. "You can't run away alone like this—Oh Lord!" he groaned suddenly. "There they come! Don't you hear the car-turning in from the road? Come back, Sally."

He did not wait for her to obey, but lifted her into his arms. For she had gone limp with terror, and ran, crouching low so that the corn stalks would hide them.

"Lie flat on the ground," David said sternly, as he set her gently upon her feet. "We can't leave here now. The place will be swarming with people. But when it's dark we'll slip away across fields. Thank God, there'll be no moon."

He flattened his own body upon the soft earth, close against the thick, sturdy corn stalks. They did not talk much for they were listening, listening for faint sounds coming from the farmhouse which would indicate that the dreadful discovery had been made.

Long minutes passed and nothing had happened. Then the muffled roar of another motor, turning into the lane from the state highway, told them that the doctor to whom David had telephoned was arriving. It seemed hours before a scream floated from the house to the cornfield.

"Pearl!" Sally whispered shivering. "They hadn't found him. The doctor told them. Oh, David, his hand tightened so hard upon hers that she winced. A little later they heard Mrs. Carson's harsh voice calling, "Sally! Sally! Sally Ford!"

Sally bowed her head upon David's hand then, and wept a little, shuddering. "She was good to me, she—she liked me, David. Oh, I hope she'll know I didn't mean her any harm, ever."

The next hour, during which the sun set and twilight settled like a soft gray dust upon the cornfield passed somehow. Several cars arrived, men's voices shouted unintelligible words. Twice Pearl screamed—

"But no one came down the corn rows looking for them. They won't dream they're still so near the house," David assured her in his low, comforting voice.

When it was quite dark David spoke again. "Well, make a break for it now, Sally. I know this part of the country well. My grandfather's farm adjoins this one, with only a fence between the two hay meadows. We can cut across his farm, giving the house and barns a wide berth. Then we'll strike a bit of timberland that belongs to old man Cogrove. That will bring us out on a little-traveled road that leads to Stanton 22 miles away. Think you can make it, Sally?"

She hugged her bundle tight to her breast and reached for his hand, which he had withdrawn as he rose to his feet. "Of course," she answered simply. "I'm not afraid, David."

"You're a plucky kid," David said gruffly. "I'll lead the way."

Let me know if I set too fast a pace."

Buoyed up by his praise, Sally trotted (almost happily) at his heels. She refused to let her mind dwell on the horrors of the day, or to reach out into the future. Indeed her imagination was incapable of picturing a future for a Sally Ford whose life was not regulated by orphanage routine. She held only the present fast in her mind, passionately grateful for the strong, swiftly striding figure before her, unwilling for this strange nighttime adventure to end.

"Thirsty, Sally?" David's low voice came out of the darkness of the woods.

Suddenly she knew that she was both thirsty and hungry, for she had not eaten since the 12 o'clock dinner. A cool breeze was rustling the leaves of the trees and under that whispering rustle came the cool, sweet murmur of a brook.

She crouched beside David on the bank of the tiny stream, and thirstily drank from his cupped hands. Then he dipped his handkerchief in the water and gently swabbed her face, his hands as tender as Sally had fancied a mother's might be.

The going was more dogged, less mysteriously thrilling when they had at last reached the dirt road that was eventually to lead them to Stanton, a town of four or five thousand inhabitants, the town in which the woman who had brought her 12 years ago to the orphanage had lived. Days before Sally had memorized the address before destroying the bit of paper on which Miss Ford, out of the kindness of her heart, had copied Sally's record from the orphanage files.

Half a dozen times during the apparently interminable trudge toward Stanton David abruptly called a halt, drawing Sally off the road and over reeling, drunken-looking fences into meadows or fields for a terribly needed rest. Once with his head in her lap, her fingers smoothing his crisp chestnut curls, from his sweet-moistened brow, he went to sleep, and she knew that she would not have awakened him even to save herself from the orphanage.

Dawn was bedecking the east with tattered pink banners when the boy and girl, staggering with weariness and faint with hunger, caught their first glimpse of Stanton, a pretty little town snugly asleep in the hush that belongs peculiarly to early Sunday morning. Only the dutiful crowing of backyard roosters and the occasional baying of a hound broke the stillness.

"We've got to have food," David said abruptly, as they hesitated forlornly on the outskirts of the little town. "And yet I suppose the alarm has been given and the constables are on the look-out for us. We might stop at a house that has no telephone—they wouldn't be likely to have heard about Carson—but I don't like to arouse anyone this early on Sunday morning. There's an eating house next to the station that stays open all night, to serve train crews and passengers, but more than likely the station agent has been told to keep a lookout for us."

As he spoke a train whistled shrilly. The two wayfarers stood not a hundred yards from the railroad tracks where they crossed the dirt road. Sally instinctively turned to flee, but David restrained her.

"We can't hide from everyone, Sally," he said gently. "I think our best bet is to act as if we had nothing to hide. Remember, we've done no wrong. If Carson is dead, he brought his death upon himself. He deserved what he got."

Trusting, Sally gave him her hand, stood very small and erect beside him as the big engine thundered down the tracks toward them. Her face was white and drawn with fatigue but her eyes were a smile for David. He did not receive and reflect, that brave smile, for they were fixed upon the oncoming train.

"By George, Sally, it's a carnival train! Look! 'Bye-bye's Bigger and Better Show.' I'd forgotten the carnival was coming. Look over there! There's one of their signs! An enormous poster, pasted upon a billboard showed a nine-foot giant and a 30-inch dwarf, the little man, smoking a huge cigar, seated cockily in the palm of the giant's vast hand. Big red type below the picture announced: "Bye-bye's Bigger and Better Show—Stanton, June 9 and 10. One hundred performers, largest menagerie in any carnival on the road today."

"I suppose they're going to spend Sunday here," David remarked. Then he turned toward Sally, beheld the miracle of her transformed face. "Why child you want to go in the carnival, don't you? Poor little Sally!"

His voice was so tender, so whimsical, so sympathetic, that tears filmed over the brilliance of her sapphirine eyes. "I went to a circus once," she said with the eager breathlessness of a child.

The governor—he was running for office again—sent tickets for all the orphans. And, oh it was wonderful, David. We all planned to run away from the orphanage and join the circus. We talked about it for weeks, but—we didn't run away. The girls didn't, I mean, but one of the big boys at the orphanage did and Ruby Prescott, she girl he was sweet on, got a postcard from him from New York when the circus was in winter quarters. His name was Eddie Cobb and—oh, the train's stopping, David! Look!"

"Yes," David shaded his eyes and squinted down the railroad track. "This is a spur of the main road, a siding, they call it. I suppose the carnival cars will stay here today—"

But for once Sally was not listening to him. She was running toward the cars, from which the engine had been uncoupled, and as she ran she called shrilly, joyously, to a young man who had dropped catlike from the top of a car to the ground:

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of herbs, roots and barks. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.
