(Q) How is it legal for Mitchell County to have the State of Texas pull the file on all house trailers (or travel trailer owners), look up the book value on each trailer and go by the book value to set the tax, instead of going by each owner's house and appraising the true value of each travel trailer? Some travel trailers are not worth book value. To truly appraise something you have to look at it. Neither the State nor the County knows the condition of my five or six year old trailers or what it's worth without looking at it.

(A) Mitchell County Tax Assessor-Collector Clarence C. Burt says that the Board of Review of the Mitchell County Appraisal District sets the value of property for all county taxing entities.

According to Burt, the Board gets the owner information from a company that services taxing organizations.

The Board sets the taxable value of travel trailers much the same as they do automobiles; they have a book which lists the value of this type of personal property according to make and model, giving a maximum and minimum value in each category, Burt says.

Burt noted that the Mitchell County Board usually sets the lower value given in the book.

However, if the taxpayer objects to the valuation set on his property, he can fill out a Rendition of Personal Property form before May 1 that states what he feels is the true value of his property so that the Board can review it when they convene in June, he added.

These Rendition forms are available at the Tax Appraisal Office.

As an interesting sidelight, Burt says that it is actually the responsibility of the property owner to file a rendition of his property, but since none of them do, the taxing entities hire appraisers to do the job.

Study findings released

Water problems discussed

Lee Head, engineer for Freese and Nichols, told a called meeting of the city council, Tuesday night, that about $900,000 would cover the bill for needed items and repairs to the City's Water plant and the water distribution system.

"The major emphasis needs to be placed on the distribution system," he said, "your main problem is getting water into town and into elevated storage with your present lines."

Head emphasized that his study was not complete, but said many of the alterations and repairs at the water treatment plant itself could be spaced out over a number of years, but said that new lines were needed soon and badly.

He said that right now, his study indicated that about 7,000 feet of sixteen inch line needed to be laid along Cherry Street.

"Right now," he said, "you can move about 3.3 million gallons into Colorado City with everything working right, but if you have growth or something goes wrong, you're in trouble."

Head said his company projects the growth of Colorado City from 5,400 to 5,800 by the year 2005, and said that the city must be prepared to move 4.3 million gallons of water into Colorado City by then.

Head said that he had thought of cleaning and lining existing lines, "but they still won't carry enough water."

On the good side,

Head said that elevated storage "far exceeds" state and insurance company requirements, and probably needed little repair.

Head estimated costs in this way, Distribution, $500,000; storage tank at plant, $250,000; another pump and improved instrumentation at the water plant, $100,000 and standpipe, $50,000.

Head said that his figures were preliminary, and that he might be able to firm up some of them in his next report.

He also told the council that Colorado City's application for a sewer permit would be discussed in a public hearing in Abilene on November 9th.

The council discussed a proposed new garbage ordinance at considerable length. The discussion was continued on

County Fair successful

This year's Mitchell County Fair was termed a big success according to Chamber Manager Linda McCombs.

McCombs made the announcement Monday night at the regular scheduled meeting of the Board of Directors.

Total revenue received was $3,642 with expenditures totaling $662, giving the Chamber a net profit at the fair of $2,980. This was $883 more than last year's net profit.

A breakdown of the income received was: Gate receipts, $1,349; Jest Amusement, $1,511; Bake-Off, $561 and Booth Rental, $220.

McCombs praised co-chairmen Ronnie Feaster and Travis Turner for the outstanding job they did at the fair.

In other action, the board agreed to pay off the $4,601 note at the City National Bank. The final payment will be made this week. The note was taken out some time ago for construction on the rodeo arena.

Plans were made for this year's Christmas Parade which will be held December 4 at 4 p.m. The theme for the parade will be "Country Christmas."

The possibility of having a home and business lighting contest was brought up at this time.

Also discussed was a quail cook-off for next year. Rev. Monte Jones agreed to organize the event.

Roundup enjoyed by many

The Railhead Arts and Crafts Roundup, held last Saturday and Sunday, went very well, according to Chairman J. O. Dockrey.

Dockrey noted this was the first Roundup held since 1979 and said that many people had commented that "they were glad we had resumed it."

No estimate was available concerning how many people attended, but Dockrey said there were "a lot of people," many of them from out of town.

Most of the merchants were "real happy," he said with the amount of sales.

BROWERS HAD MUCH to look at Saturday and Sunday at the Railhead Arts and Crafts Roundup. People from the area as well as out-of-towners enjoyed looking at all of the items displayed by the various artists over the weekend.

Tylenol products removed from local store shelves

Rick Perkin, pharmacist at Perkin's Apothecary and Mercantile, said that he had been told by McNeil Labs that the cyanide-laced Extra Strength Tylenol capsules were the result of "local adulteration," meaning that someone in the Chicago area had obtained some of the capsules, put the poison in them and then returned the bottles to the shelf.

Nevertheless, Perkin, along with many other Colorado City merchants, is taking no chances; all of the stores contacted said they had taken either all or part of the Tylenol products off the shelves until they receive full assurance that this over-the-counter medication is safe again.

Virginia Fuller said that Fuller Foods had had some bottles from the two lot numbers (MC2880 and 1919MC) but the people who bought them had returned them and had been given their money back.

Randall Witte, manager of Safeway, said that neither of the lot numbers had been found in that store but he had "pulled all Tylenol products off anyway" and would keep them off until notified to do otherwise by the head office.

Jean May reported that E-Z Way did not have any of the contaminated lots, either, but they removed the Extra Strength capsules. She added that the capsules had been left on the shelf, but no one was buying any Tylenol products.

At Eddie's Pharmacy, Eddie Piland said that he had removed the Extra Strength capsules and were "removing all tablets also until this is cleared up."

In Loraine, T. J. Green reported that no Tylenol with the contaminated lot numbers were found in Green's Grocery.

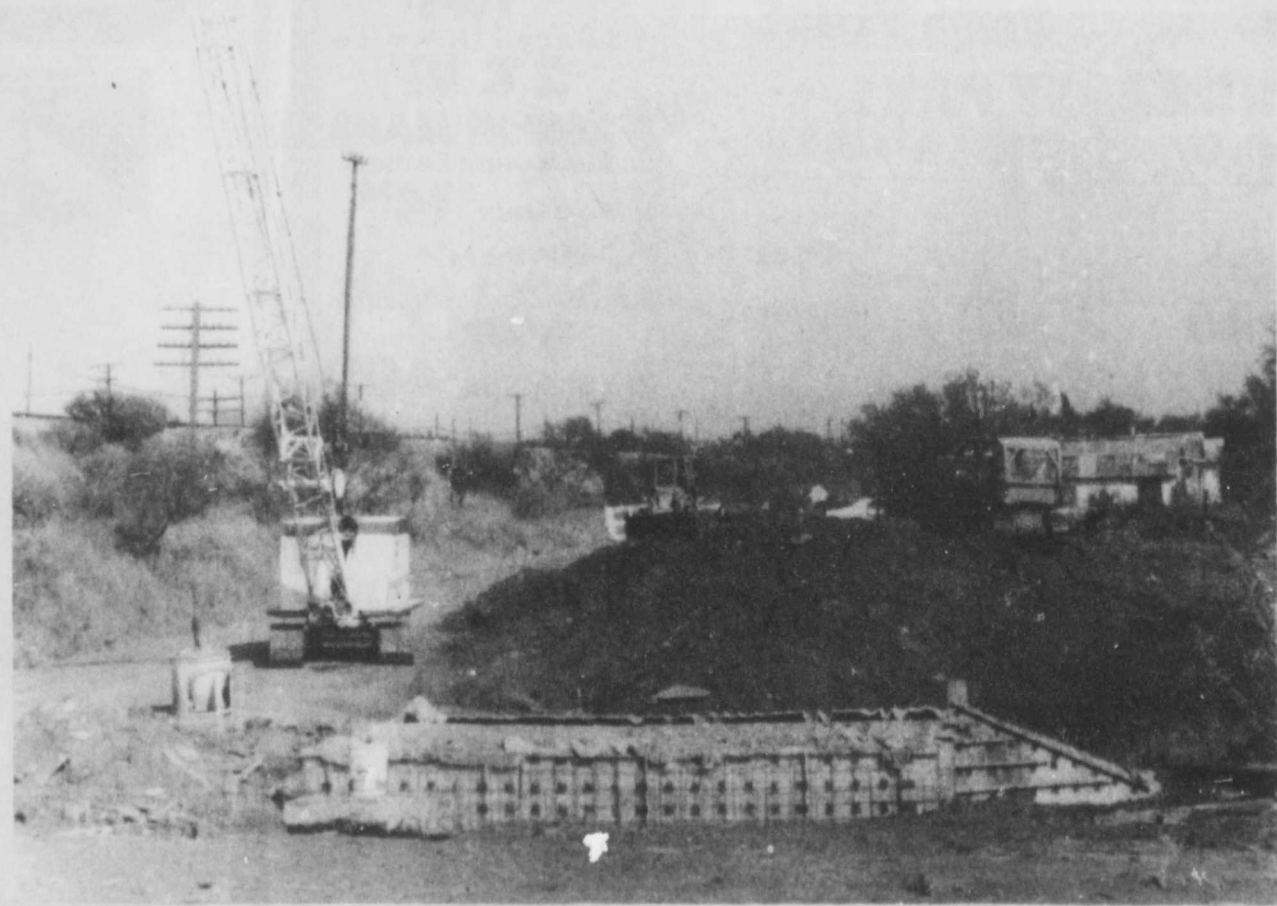

Minnie Garza said that the Colonial head office had told them to take all Tylenol products off the shelf until further notice, adding that "The company doesn't want to take a chance."

Bale count just now beginning

Mitchell County gins will soon crank-up for the 1982 ginning season. As of Tuesday, only one bale has been ginned in the County compared to 62 at this same time last year.

The first bale of cotton in Mitchell County was ginned Thursday, September 23 in Westbrook. It belonged to Eliodoro Reyes of Westbrook.

Two of the seven Mitchell County gins are not open right now and the ones that are say they do not plan to operate on a 24-hour basis during ginning season as they have in the past.

CONSTRUCTION IS WELL UNDERWAY on the new Lone Wolf low water crossing project. The city and State Highway Department in a joint project, will construct a crossing that will not wash out as it has in the past. Completion is still a few months away.

Oursbourn is winner of jackpot

Cecil Oursbourn is this week's winner in Jackpot Football. Mr. Oursbourn only missed five games along with George Griffith, Hadley Weaver and Dennis Weaver, but he won because his tiebreaker score was closest to the Notre Dame 11, Michigan State 3 contest. Oursbourn's pick was Notre Dame 21, Michigan State 14.

For his prediction skills, Oursbourn picks up a cool $25. See how well you can forecast the games. Play Jackpot football on the inside pages.

Salt water pollution violations documented

The Railroad Commission has asked the Texas Attorney General
to file suit against B. F.
Smith of Spring, Texas, and E. C. LaQuey of Refugio for salt water pollution violations of the Texas Natural Resources Code and the Texas Water Code.

Commission field inspectors discovered an illegal three inch pipeline running from the Miller Vidor Lumber Company oil lease in Orange County into Tiger Creek. Smith is the operator of the lease

according to documents
filed with the Commission. The inspectors witnessed discharges of salt water through the pipeline into the creek

on August 30 and September 8.

The August discharge caused a fish kill extending one and a half miles downstream. A field test of that discharge indicated a chloride
content of approximately 52,000 parts per million. Drinking water normally contains 250

parts per million of chlo-ride or less.

Both Railroad Commission and Parks and Wildlife Department investigators documented salt discharges into Dry Creek through an illegal
six inch pipe running from the D. M. Kelly oil
lease in Refugio County
operated by LaQuey under the business name
Industrial Semco. Dry Creek flows into the Mission River and then into Mission Bay. The discharges were recorded on January 15, February 16, July 30 and August 3. Samples taken August 3 showed 39,400

parts per million of chlo-
rides in the discharges from the pipe.

LaQuey was also cited
for violating Texas Natural Resources Code

and Railroad Commission rules which prohibit disposal or storage of oil in open pits.

Tax assistance still available

"While IRS toll-free tax assistance will be available Monday through Friday from 8
a.m. to 4:30 p.m., the Midland office of the Internal Revenue Service will no longer provide walk-in tax help,"
announced Robert Ray,
Midland IRS Director's

Representative.
Taxpayers who wish to order forms or get answers to their federal tax questions should dial 1-800-492-4830.

Ray noted that IRS
Examination activities
would continue at the Midland location.

Water

sion was primarily concerned with the landfill and its regulations. The ordinance was passed
on a four to one vote,
with Ray Mason, Julian Mendoza, Jesse Munoz
and Robert Hoback voting for and Dr. Don Bennett voting against passage. Mayor Elmer

Martin did not vote. Ma-cca Findley was absent.
The council voted to exempt other government entities and non profit institutions from the new fees set. They will still be required to pay regular rates.

An example of the new rates: Say, John Citizen has a "pick up

load" of extra trash to dispose of: if he calls the city to pick it up it will cost him $15. If he carries it to the dump grounds, he will be admitted for $2.

The ordinary monthly
fee for garbage pick up will remain at $6 per month.

The charge for leaving trash and garbage at the landfill will range from $1 to $25.

In other business:

(1) the council granted Dessie Lynch a temporary mobile home
permit for a trailer at 18th and Austin.

(2) the council granted John Kling a temporary mobile home
permit for a trailer at 808 E.
2nd, provided that the mobile home would be located out of the flood plain.

(3) the mayor appointed Rick Crowley, Ed
Wheat, Jesse Munoz,
and Robert Hoback as members of a screening
committee for the police reserve program. The council approved the addition of police reserve
officers to Workman's Compensation Insurance and authorized pay for tuition for Reserve Officer Training.

(4) the mayor appointed Henry Bilberry as a member of the zoning board to replace Willie Landau.

Noonan to attend seminar

Tommy Noonan, D.O.
of Colorado City will be one of the faculty members of the Basic Intravenous Therapy Seminar that will be held on Wednesday, October 20
through the Adult and Continuing Education
Division of Western Texas College in Snyder.

Dr. Noonan practices
General Thoracic and Peripheral Vascular Surgery.

Livestock producers should be on alert for virus

A non-fatal virus disease affecting cattle, horses and swine has been reported in New Mexico and three other states, and Texas' livestock producers should be on the alert for possible outbreaks, according to Dr. James Armstrong, veterinarian for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The disease-Vesicular Stomatitis-have not yet been reported in Texas, but it could occur, Armstrong said. Symptoms include increased temperature and blisters in the mouth and soles of feet. Animals become dehydrated and lose weight, he said.

"Human infection can occur in areas where the disease is prevalent," Armstrong said. "A veterinarian should be contacted immediately if the disease is suspected."

A laboratory diagnosis is required to accurately identify the disease. The symptoms are similar to foot and mouth disease, Armstrong said.

Vesicular Stomatitis was first reported to federal officials in June. The majority of infected animals are in Colorado, but Arizona and Utah have also reported the disease.

"Reports from New Mexico indicate thousands of horses and hundreds of cattle have been affected," Armstrong said. "Canada has requested the U.S. Department of Agriculture not to certify cattle, horses, sheep, goats or pigs from states with the reported disease."

'Dogs try for win after week of rest

It's an old saying that goes, "When it rains it pours," and lately bad luck has been pouring down on coach Jimmy Fine and his Loraine Bulldogs.

At the first of the season, Fine had 16 healthy players who were winning ballgames and playing excellent defense. Then a little rain fell as defensive end Rodney Blankenship went down to a knee injury and defensive tackle Margarito Rodriguez was lost for the season to knee surgery. Then it started pouring as the injury list grew, until last week the Bulldogs forfeited their contest against Abilene Christian High School. At that time, Fine had seven injured players; and everyone knows that you can't play football with nine people.

But don't start shedding any tears for Fine and his Bulldogs, with one week of rest under their belts the Bulldogs are down, but definitely not out.

"We got everyone healthy again, and physically we are in better shape," said Fine. Jay

Boxers training begins

Training has started for all local boxers at the Mitchell County Boys Club, according to head coach and trainer Vince Gaona.

There are approximately 30 young men out ranging from six to 25 years of age. Gaona said the boys have been working out when they can, until football season is over. After that, workouts will be Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, starting at 5 p.m.

Right now the boxers are exercising, the roadwork will start Monday. Gaona has two returning Junior Olympics champs in sons Vince, Jr. and Gabriel. Other returners who competed in the Junior Olympics last year are Ralph Gonzales, Eddie Benentiez and Frankie Fuentez.

Gaona said that the boxing season would probably last until April, with a tournament being slated sometime next month in Colorado City. All boxers are encouraged to come out and participate. There is no age limit and no fee.

Beaty is the only Bulldog who will miss the contest. He will be lost for the remainder of the season with a concussion.

Fine said his players are handling their misfortunes well. "You couldn't ask for a better attitude. They have been working hard, and they are not ready to quit, they are ready to play football."

Their first district contest comes against a "tough cookie" in last year's district champ the Roscoe Plowboys. Coach Troy Kennedy's squad bring a 3-2 record into battle, while Loraine has a 1-4 record.

The Plowboys run the Houston Veer and like to keep the ball on the ground, running behind tackles Nat Richberg (6-3, 250) and Greg Althof (6-0, 205). Freshman quarterback Matt Denman directs the veer attack, and has two good backs in Rudy Gooesman (5-8, 140) and last year's quarterback Brett Piper (5-9, 140). Gooesman has over 400 yards so far this season.

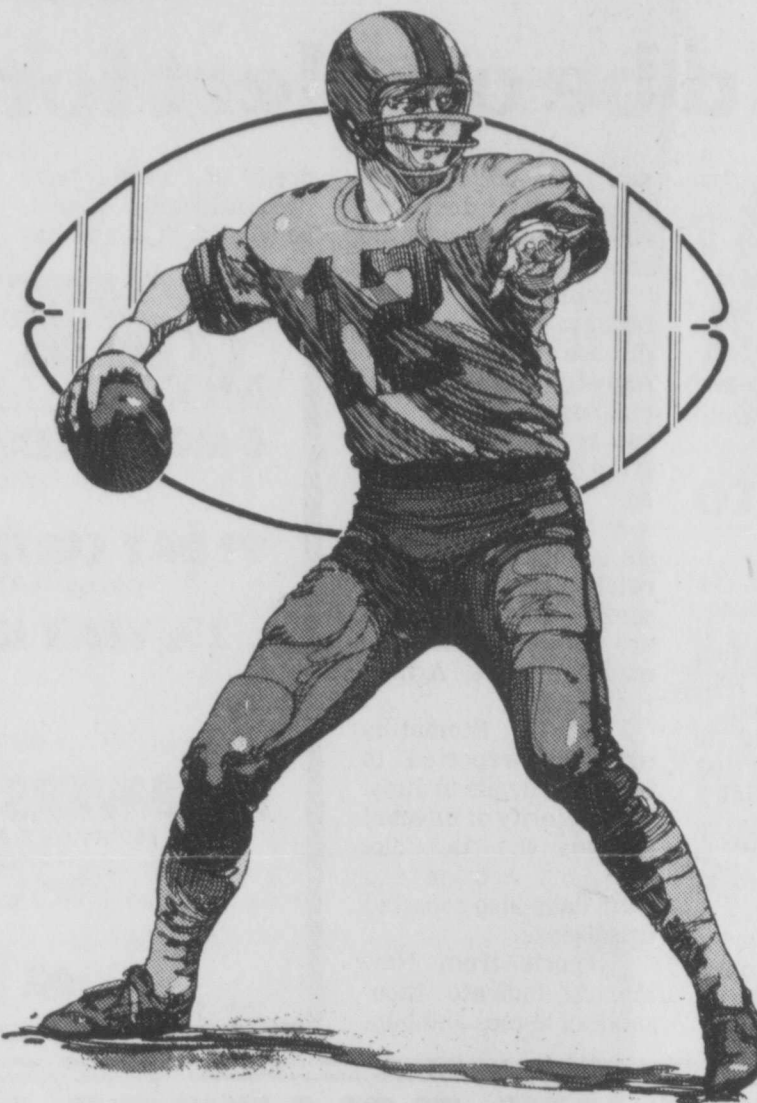

When the Plowboys throw, they look for wide receiver Craig Roughton, who had a 46 yard reception against Spur last week. "We haven't got our offense in gear like last year, we lost some key people in our offense. We have been having trouble getting our execution down," said Kennedy.

Defensively the Bulldogs play it tough, they are allowing just over a touchdown per game, and have two shutouts over Rotan and Hawley to their credit. Leading the charge is Althof and linebacker Ruben Herrera (5-8, 165).

Ends in the split-6 defense are Danny Richberg and Darren Kite. The secondary consisting of Roughton, Piper, and Russell Cravey have picked off eight passes.

Kennedy says that sometimes his defense is vulnerable inside, and the key is to force the football to the outside. "It creates blocking problems for opponents, we've taught it for three years, and the kids have learned the technique. Plus they like to tackle."

Kennedy says it's no way that this team will take the Bulldogs lightly, "If we do that, we'll be in bad shape. They had a week to rest, anytime you do that it will help." Only time will tell that for the Loraine Bulldogs.

Wolves, Bulldogs renew old rivalries

This week's football action will be full of rivals. You have Michigan and Michigan State, Texas against Oklahoma, and then you have the Colorado City Wolves versus the Coahoma Bulldogs.

No doubt the Wolves-Bulldogs district opener will not have all the glamour and publicity as the contests in Ann Arbor or Dallas, but you can bet it will be just as exciting and intense.

Coahoma and Colorado City has been playing each other for a long time, and the battles between the two have been long and hard.

The Bulldogs are under the direction of first year coach Larry Hudson, who comes from Fort Stockton. Hudson had a "hard road to hoe" as he returns only six seniors from last year's team, and only four of them saw varsity action last season. "We are a young team like the Wolves, and are learning every game," said Hudson.

The Bulldogs enter the contest with a 2-3 record and Hudson thinks the key to his team's success is defense. "We have been playing extremely good defense. The kids are learning the schemes, and how the system works."

The Bulldogs proved that they are a team to be reckoned with last week as they put up quite a fight against a Denver City team that demolished the Wolves 49-5.

Denver City topped the Bulldogs 27-6, but the contest was a lot closer than the score indicates. Denver City held a 249-206 advantage in total yards. Big plays killed the Bulldogs, Denver City scored on a 67 yard run, a 70 yard kick-off return and a 20 yard drive resulting from a Bulldog fumble.

On offense, the Bulldogs line up in their Wing-T and run at you. They have two "mini-backs" in Charley Martinez (135) and Kelly Morton (145). They have a good blocking fullback in John Wilson (170). Tod Engel (150) will be the signal caller.

The Bulldog offensive line is led by senior guard James Sanders (218). They average 190 pounds up front. They blocked well enough last Friday to enable Morton to gain 100 yards against a stingy Denver City defense.

Coahoma's 52 Oklahoma defense will be led by linebackers Sanders and 180 pound James Gilbert. Hudson also has a good noseguard in Tony Burnett (150). "Little" Jimmy Caurter is a mainstay in the Bulldog secondary. The 135 pound safety already has six interceptions to his credit.

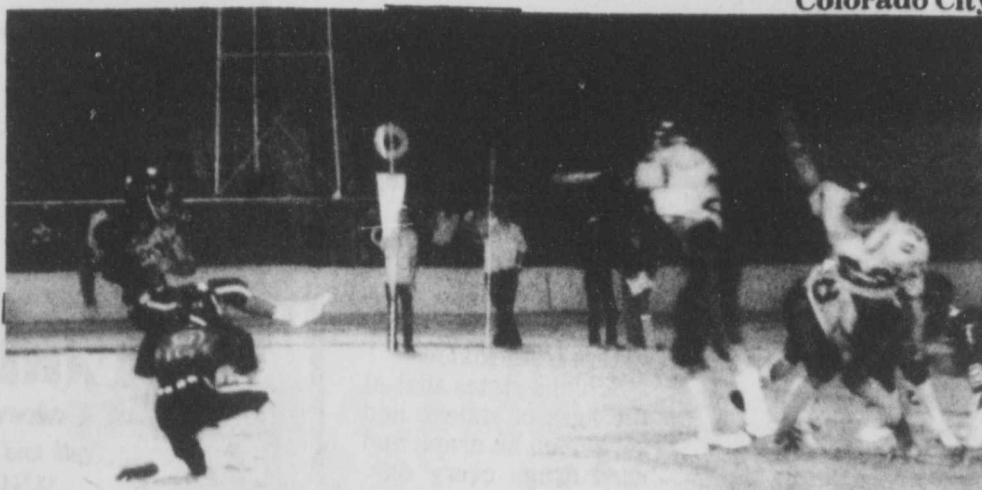

"We are gonna have to handle the finesse and quickness of the Wolves offense. We have to handle the option, and stop Chitsey from passing. It's hard to prepare for a flex defense like Colorado City runs," said Hudson.

For the first week Colorado City did not commit any turnovers and this left Wolf head coach Tom Ramsey pleased. "It was a tremendous game. We played a little offense and defense. We had to play well against Clyde, or they would have blown us out. They hit us as hard as we have been hit all year," said Ramsey. The Wolf offense has been in high gear the last two games and the defense has only allowed two touchdowns in that span.

Last week, the Pack's offensive line, Tom Rees, Fred Dakan, James Blackwell, Chris McKinney and Raymond Bassinger paved the way for 192 yards rushing. Most of it belonged to quarterback Doug Chitsey (97) and running back Larry Hamilton (89).

C-City's passing game showed signs of brilliance as Chitsey had his first game over 100 yards passing. The Wolf defense limited Clyde to 242 yards total offense. For the year, Hamilton has 390 yards on the ground, averaging 5.4 yards a carry. Chitsey has 243 yards, with a 4.3 average. Stacy Tarter continues to lead the Pack in receiving with 10 catches for 187 yards. He is also averaging 39.4 yards a punt.

PUTTING THE ICING ON THE CAKE-Kicker Tip Chaney adds the final extra point in the Wolves 22-8 victory over Clyde last Friday night. Dennis Rivera is the holder.

Speaker, singers highlight meeting

Richard Schlabs, Saturday, October 9, Richard Schlabs will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Full Gospel Businessmen Association in the C. C. Thompson Room at 7 p.m.

Schlabs, who hails from Hereford will be joined by the gospel singing group, the Sonlighters from Idalou.

Schlabs states that at the ages of sixteen and seventeen he drank and used drugs every day. Even the death of two friends from overdoses did not change his life.

Ten years later he found Jesus Christ. He is now a commodity stock broker and the president of Hereford Chapter of Full Gospel. The Sonlighters are a six member group that sing songs ranging from old time gospel, to a modern popular gospel with a country flare.

Taylor's home from motor trip

Corene and Willie Taylor are at home from a twenty-five day motor
home trip to Knoxville, Tennessee and the World's Fair, going by way of West Plains, Mo., where they spent the weekend with Corene's son, Rev. Harold Bell and family. From there they traveled through Missouri, parts of Kentucky, then to Nashville
and on to Knoxville.

While in Knoxville,
they spent seven days
visiting relatives of the Taylor family in the area from whence they migrated to Texas.

A very enjoyable time
was spent with Gaylene Taylor at the fair, along with Beverly Bowen and Delores Gorski of Houston.

Enroute home, they joined members of Corene's family for a reunion and week's camping
and fishing at Hugo
Lake in Southeastern Oklahoma.

They both agreed that
"as always, it is good to be home."

Garage sale termed success

Mrs. Gus Armstrong headed the Garage Sale sponsored by the Loraine Senior Citizens Inc., last weekend and said it was a great success. Proceeds amounted to $250 which will be used for extra needs of the club. Mrs. Armstrong thanks all those who helped in anyway to make it a good sale. The Club has sponsored a sale each year to help in supplying extra needs for the club.

Members and families present were Chief J. C. Hall, Jr., and wife, Chrystene, Messrs. and Mmes. Guy Hildebrand, Earl Phillips, Danny Butler and children, James Lee and children, Wendell Banks and children, Herman Mitchell and children, Donald Graham and Henry Mitchell.

Also present were Roland Graham, Patsy Graham, Mrs. Lottie Graham, Clay Graham, Sandy Phillips and son, James Meadows, Amy Horton, and two guests, Jack Richey and Christa McNary.

New regulations now enable an individual to save up to $2,000 a year ($2,500 with a non-working spouse) in an Individual Retirement Account with all taxes deferred. If both husband and wife work, $4,000 may be laid aside. This is possible even though they are already covered by a pension plan.

Bentson pleased with extension of program

Senator Lloyd Bentson said he is pleased an amendment he co-sponsored to the 1983 Agriculture Department spending bill will extend the Economic Emergency program and place a moratorium on foreclosures.

"The American farmer is facing a very tough, very serious situation. Prices for wheat, corn, milo and other grains are well below the loan rate and even further below production cost," Bentson said in a Senate statement supporting the amendment.

"Farmers are struggling to refinance loans they cannot pay off because of heavy losses and commercial financing is becoming increasingly scarce."

"Farmers who were good enough to stay with a commercial credit source until this year were good farmers. Now in many cases their equity is wiped out and their bank is letting them go. Now they are turning to the Farmers Home Administration," Bentson said.

"FmHA is the lender of last resort for farmers and ranchers. Local FmHA offices are understaffed, but want to help. They put in many long hours to serve their farm customers. Unfortunately they have not had support from the policy makers at USDA. Their efforts have in many cases been negated by the failures of our farm policy."

"The Administration has given us record crops when we already had surpluses; has watched exports decline in value while farmers were relying on an 'export-oriented' farm policy; and has watched net farm income plunge to the lowest real levels since 1933."

"This amendment will address these problems by making two policy changes I have advocated for some time. It will extend the FmHA Economic Emergency loan program for one more year and make its use mandatory, not discretionary," the Senator said.

"The amendment also will require a moratorium on foreclosures and repayments for farmers who have carried out approved farming practices, but who cannot repay due to circumstances beyond their control and can show reasonable expectations of being able to repay their debts in more normal times," Bentson said.

"Congress finally had to step in last month and mandate that the USDA follow a more rational and realistic farm policy, but USDA should be making detailed farm policy decisions, not Congress," the Senator said.

"However, in this case the USDA has clearly shown it is unable to deliver an agriculture policy that adequately addresses the reality of our farm problems and I am not willing to sacrifice the farmers of Texas to an ineffective farm policy," Senator Bentson said.

McGee released from Hospital ICU

Gene McGee of Snyder, who was badly injured when a dump truck hit his pick-up near Snyder last Monday, Sept. 27, has been in the Methodist Memorial Hospital in Lubbock for treatment.

He underwent surgery for a broken hip and broken ankle on Friday and was moved out of ICU Monday, though still suffering great pain and nervous shock.

Ruby Lee Small, Price Hall and Margaret Brame visited at the hospital with Mrs. McGee Sunday and also visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reeves.

"Friends of Welk" to perform Oct. 7

"The Friends of Lawrence Welk," featuring stars from the Lawrence Welk television show, will be in Sweetwater on Thursday, October 7 at the Sweetwater Municipal Auditorium for a one-night-only concert, sponsored by the Sweetwater Municipal Auditorium Renovation Committee.

This concert is in conjunction with the community-wide fund-raising effort to restore the 56-year-old municipal auditorium.

Headlining the evening of musical variety will be the singing Otwell Twins, country stylist Ava Barber and accordionist Joey Schmidt.

David and Roger Otwell, often referred to as "America's favorite singing twins," are natives of Tulsa, TX and have endeared themselves to millions of television viewers through weekly appearances on "The Lawrence Welk Show."

Ava Barber began singing professionally at the age of 10 and became a regular on Lawrence Welk's show many years later. Her recording of "Bucket to the South" ranked in the top ten on stations in the U.S. and Canada.

Joey Schmidt began performing with Welk as a teenager and has recorded an album with Welk and the legendary Myron Floren.

"Friends of Lawrence Welk" is presented in cooperation with the Texas Assembly of Arts Councils. Show time on October 7 is 8 p.m.

Tickets can be purchased in advance at the Chamber of Commerce office in Sweetwater.

Oil rig built in Colorado City

An oil rig being used to drill a well on an S.D.S. Oil Company lease 15 miles west of Colorado City has a distinction that no other derrick in the county has: it was built in Colorado City.

The rig was built by Browne Bros. last year at the request of Don Baremore of Snyder.

Jimmy Browne said that it was the first derrick they have ever built, though they have constructed many other types of oil field equipment for several other companies.

Browne said that the 102 foot tall double had the capability of drilling 12,000 feet.
