CAPT. ROBERT L. HITE

Hite On Visit Here Sketches His Jap Experiences Briefly

Capt. Robert Lowell Hite—gaining a pound a day — is within 10 pounds of his weight of that April 18, 1942, when he dropped four 500-pound Doolittle incendiaries on plane factories and oil installations of Nagoya, Japan.

In Lubbock Wednesday, he grinned with something like the abandon of his pre-war football days and said that another few days of fried chiken and rich pies cooked by his mother, Mrs. Robert P. Hite of Earth, would restore him completely.

Nervousness Evident

There is an evident nervousness however, that only time can remove.

After all, the 38 months of solitary confinement in Japanese prison camps, during which he was subjected to an occasional physical mistreatment, is something one doesn't dismiss as a bad dream.

Capt. Hite was with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nix of Earth, and was a guest of the Rotory club. He spoke briefly, saying only that if is "good to be among friends again." He was given a standing oration.

Because of an exclusive contract with a news service which interviewed him for a series of stories to be released soon, he was not at liberty to discuss details of his flight off the carrier Hornet, his bombing at low altitude of Japan, his efforts to reach a field in friendly China, his parachuting onto a rice field and capture by Japanese just a few miles from safety.

Those details must be obtained later, but his story is one of the most fantastic heard since Pearl Harbor.

Does Capt. Hite feel a gnawing resentment against the system that hatched such treatment as that given him and the other seven American raiders taken to Japan?

"I do not have what you would call resentment for resentment's sake," he said. "Naturally, I hope that all who had anything to do with treatment excesses are punished according to provisions of a U. S. Army court martial."

Quiet, restrained, mild-spoken and conservative, Capt. Hite deliberated even his off-the-record answers. He had a habit of showing his inner fire upon occasion, however; especially when he referred to his answers to Japanese attempts to draw information from him. He gave such poor cooperation that interpreters frequently admonished him that he would be severely beaten or else would be killed if he did not comply with requests.

Food Terrible

He did not salute or bow to superior officers, and his execrable food, always in insufficient lots, did not persuade him of the value of a more elastic reception of Japs commands.

When he was released from detention, in a pigsty where he had sat for months with nothing to do except think of how he would improve his mother's farm once the war was over, he was guant and weak. Unused to conversing with anyone except an occasional guard, he almost had lost his ability to carry on a conversation. New terms of ordnance, news of the European theater, information of domestic affairs in the States, those were little more than abstractions.

He was in a hotel lobby in Clovis on Sept. 13, talking with a reporter when his mother and fourteen carloads of Earth residents swooped down on him. He had not seen his mother ,or been in communication

Tahoka Farmer Killed By Train

TAHOKA, Sept. 19. (Special).—Funeral services for E. D. Crouch, 45, Lynn county farmer and livestock trader who was fatally injured Tuesday morning when he was struck by a train a mile north of Tahoka, will be held here Friday.

Coroner P. D. Server said today that he had entered a verdict of suicide in the death.

Account Of Accident

Server and Ernest Martin, Tahoka nightwatchman, gave this account of the indicent:

Server left his pickup at a crossing north of town and walked up the track about a quarter of a mile. It was about 11:30 o'clock. The engineer of the Santa Fe local saw a man stepp off the track, surprised that it was the section foreman. He gave a warning whistle but as the train rolled in 30 feet of the figure, the man threw his body to the ground, clear of the track, and flung his left arm across the rail.

Server's arm was mangled and he suffered a severe wound on the back of the head. He lived about 30 minutes despite the attention of Tahoka physician who rushed to the scene.

He had lived in Lynn county since 1928. At the time of his death, he lived in the Three Lakes community.

He is survived by his wife; three sons, S/1C Kingston Crouch, with the U. S. Navy at St. Louis, Phm/2c, San Pedro, Calif., naval base, Edward Lee, at home; three daughters, Mrs. Gracie Sparks, Hobbs, N. M., and Faye Temple and Loisey Faye Crouch, both at home.

Harris Funeral home of Tahoka is in charge of arrangements.

Prisoners Freed On Kyushu On Way Home

PEARL HARBOR, Sept. 19. (AP)—The Navy announced today that Americans released from prisoner of war camps on Kyushu, southern Japan, who now are on their way to the United States included:

Survivors of the Cruiser Houston sunk off Java in February, 1942.

Survivors of the Submarine Grenadier, whose entire crew was taken prisoner after it was bombed by Japanese planes near the Malacca straits in April, 1943, and forced to surface.

U. S. Marines who were embassy guards at Shanghai and Peiping when the war started.

Merchant seamen captured by German raiders in the Indian ocean and turned over to the Japanese.

Braniff Increases Amarillo Service

DALLAS, Sept. 19 (AP)—Increased service for Dallas, Amarillo and Colorado points will be offered by Braniff Airways beginning tomorrow with the addition of two northbound flights, T. E. Braniff, president, said today.

Braniff also will inaugurate service tomorrow on its extension from Oklahoma City to Memphis via Tulsa, Fort Worth and Little Rock.

AIRLINES TO MERGE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—American Airlines and Mid-Continent Airlanes today jointly announced completion of plans for a merger of the two systems. Officials said they expected approval by the Civil Aeronautics board in less than six months.

Jobless Pay Plan Is Crushed By Senate

Return Of Employment Service To States Also Approved By Senate

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—President Truman's $25-a-week jobless pay plan was crushed by the Senate today under a top-heavy 51 to 29 vote.

Overriding another of his recommendations, the Senate also voted to return the employment service from federal to state supervision.

That cleared the way for a probable final vote tomorrow on a whittled-down administration bill which would lend federal aid to extend the duration of state unemployment compensation payments.

But it faces a further fight first.

Migratory Labor Aid

Just before the Senate recessed for the day, Senator McClellan (D-Ark) proposed an amendment to strike out a provision for federal aid—up to a maximum of $200—to help migratory war workers return home or to places of new employment.

Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) took over from Senator Kilgore (D-WVa) the leadership of a fight to save the program for $25 a week maximum pay to the jobless.

But he could not keep his party in line. Nineteen Democrats, most of them from the cotton states, left him to join 32 Republicans in piling up 51 votes against the plan. Three Republicans—Aiken, Langer and Tobey—voted with 25 Democrats and Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis) for it.

Amendments Offered

Barkley had opened his fight by offering an amendment to the bill as reported out of the Senate Finance committee. This amendment ,embodying the President's recommendations, would have let the states have federal funds, if they wanted them ,to supplement payments to jobless workers—

"By any amount which, together with the weekly benefit amount under the state law, does not exceed $25 and does not exced two-thirds of his previous weekly wage."

Senator George (D-Ga) told the Senate that as chairman of the finance committee he "felt bound" to report that 28 states had advised their laws would not permit acceptance of federal funds.

McClellan's amendment was the first move to pare down the measure reported by the committee Heretofore, the first has all been over adding to its main provisions which include:

1. Federal aid to extend the duration of payments in all states to 26 weeks.
2. Unemployement compensation for all federal employes and maritime workers.
3. The travel payments.

Lord Haw Haw Is Given Death

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—William Joyce, the scarfaced little Lord Haw Haw who broadcast Nazi propaganda to the British throughout the war, was convicted of treason in Old Bailey today and sentenced to be hanged.

Not a flicker of expression crossed the ruddy face of the thin-lipped defendant as Sir Frederick Tucker, the presiding judge, had a black cap placed on his wig and pronounced the sentence.

As he descended to his cell, however, Joyce turned toward acquaintances in the courtroom and gave a Nazi-type salute.

A crowd waiting outside the bomb-scarred law courts cheered the news. It took the jury of 10 men and two women, who had listened for three days to arguments over Joyce's nationality, only 20 minutes to reach a verdict.

Claimed U. S. Citizenship

The blond, five-foot-four defendant, whose face is scarred from mouth to ear as the result of a street brawl, sought to evade punishment by claiming American citizenship on grounds that he was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., 39 years ago.

Justice Tucker ruled today, however, that Joyce owed allegiance to the British crown when he went to Germany "wrapped up in the Union Jack"—under the protection of a British passport obtained by posing as a British subject—just before the war broke out.

Defense solicitors, whose contention that Joyce was an American citizen won dismissal of two other counts, said they would appeal. The appeal probably will be heard before the court of criminal appeals next month.

Eady Pleads Guilty To Burglary Charge

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 19. (Special)—Rufus Eady of Lubbock entered a plea of guilty today to the charge of burglary several weeks ago of Consumers Wholesale oil and gas station at Abernathy, and will receive sentence today, according to District Attorney Harold LaFont.

Eady had waived a jury.

Virgil Johnson of Lubbock, former convict, was found guilty Monday of an indictment in the same burglary, and was given a seven-year prison term. He acted as his own defense counsel.

Peacetime Plans Outlined By Navy

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—The Navy asked Congress today to authorize a one-two punch, atom bomb fleet for peacetime.

Peace without power "is simply a dream," Secretary Rorrestal told the House Naval Affairs committee. He and Admiral of the Fleet Ernest J. King outlined their post-war ideas.

The committee started hearings on the size of the peacetime fleet.

First, Forrestal declared, the atom bomb isn't any good until land or carrier planes take it where it is needed. And second, the best defense against it is interception by plane. Thus, the secretary reasoned, either the use of the atom bomb or defense against it boils down to who controls the air and seas.

Control Of Sea Wins

Failure of the enemy to win control of the sea in both world wars cost them the decision, Forrestal said.

He suggested an "active" fleet no bigger than the one we had before Pearl Harbor.. It would have about 400 major combatant ships about 28 per cent of the present victory force. But its firepower and aviation would be far superior to the December 7, 1941, fleet.

There would be 11 modern battleships, 15 aircraft carriers, including three 45,000 tonners; 21 escort carriers, 20 big cruisers, 29 light cruisers, 176 destroyers, 40 escort and 90 submarines plus the necessary auxiliaries and amphibious craft.

The second part of the American sea punch would be an inactive but battle-ready reserve of nearly 700 combat vessels, including seven battleships, 22 carriers, 58 escort carriers, 33 cruisers, 191 destroyers, 236 destroyer escorts, 110 submaines.

This reserve fleet would be kept in prime condition, ready at a moments notice to start firing. It would be manned by only 40,000 men—just enough to keep the wheels turning. It would cost only one-tenth of one per cent of the original cost of the ships to keep them ready, he said.

To handle all this, Forrestal recommended a personnel force of 500,000. The Marines would add another 100,000.

About 12,000 Navy planes should be maintained, 8,000 of them in full active use, he testified.

The cost would be from $2,800,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 a year, the secretary said.

New British Jet Can Fly Over 500 MPH

LONDON, Sept. 19. (AP)—The Vampire, Britain's new jet-propelled fighter plane, can do well over 500 miles an hour in level flight. Making it one of the fastest jet planes in the world, officials reported today.

Although the plane still is on the air ministry's secret list, limited details released today disclosed that its operational ceiling was between 45,000 and 50,000 feet.

CAMP MAXEY TO CLOSE

PARIS, Tex., Sept. 19. (AP)—Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex) today notified President O. W. Boswell of the Paris Chamber of Commerce that Camp Maxey will be placed on an inactive status Oct. 1. The order includes the camp's regional hospital, Patman said.

New Threats Of Trouble Haunt Plants

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Sept. 19—The labor troubles of the nation's automotive capital mounted today as the United Automobile Workers (CIO) continued preparations for a head-on collision with the car industry over a 30 per cent wage increase demand.

Threatening to add to the 80,000 already idled in the area by work stoppages and shutdowns was a spreading strike in the oil industry by the Oil Workers union (CIO) and a curtailment of electrical equipment to three divisions of General Motors corporation.

To Provide Essentials

A union spokesman said gasoline and oil would be provided city buses as well as hospitals, governmental agencies and other essential services.

The oil strike began with a stoppage by truckers, later spread to workers in the Socony-Vacuum company plant in suburban Trenton; and was reported affecting nearby refineries supplying the Detroit area. A 30 per cent wage increase demand was involved in the dispute.

Industry circles heard reports that as many as 25,000 workers in the Chevrolet, Buick and Oldsmobile divisions of General Motors might be forced into idleness this weekend by a strike at the Warren, Ohio, plant of the Packard Electrical Co. The company supplies wiring systems for the three General Motors divisions.

Wheel Company Stoppage

The new threats to the automobile industry's reconversion efforts came as Richard T. Frankensteen, UAW vice president and candidate for mayor of Detroit at the November election, reported progress in personal efforts to get 4,500 Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Co. employes back at work. The Kelsey-Hayes strike, begun August 23, precipitated the closing of the Ford plants and the laying off of 50,000 workers.

The Ford company listed the Socony-Vacuum Co. oil strike among 15 other labor disturbances in supply plants that impeded car production. The gasoline shortage also was reflected in the empty tanks of many gasoline service stations.

While management maintained its policy of silence concerning the 30 per cent wage demands, word came from the UAW-CIO that the first petitions to the National Labor Relations board for a strike vote—that among the 325,000 employes in General Motors' 135 plants—might be filed this week.

UNREST SPREADING IN COASTAL OIL PLANTS

(By The Associated Press)

Three Port Arthur refineries were closed or closing and employes of seven large oil plants in Houston were voting to strike as labor unrest spread Wednesday night through the oil rich gulf coastal area.

The Texas company refinery at Port Arthur, employing 5,000, was shutting down gradually and production had halted at the Pure Oil company's Nederland plant, with 800 workers out. Ray Andrus, member of the district oil workers strategy committee (CIO) said the Gulf Oil refinery at Port Arthur, which employes 5,000, will start closing at 8 a. m. Thursday.

All Be Closed Soon

Andrus predicted that by the end of the week all major refineries around Beaumont, Houston and Corpus Christi would close. O. A. Knight, president of the Oil Workers International union (CIO) said the union wants 52 hours of pay

B-29s Reach Capital But Fail In Non-Stop Due To Headwinds

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Three Army Superfortresses reached the capital tonight from Japan after headwinds forced them down at Chicago to refuel, 650 miles short of their nonstop goal here.

High military and government dignitaries, plus a brass band, welcomed the fliers to Washington. The gala reception cheered the disappointed men.

Intense, adverse winds encountered over Canada caused the top air force generals at the helms of the three planes to cut short their scheduled 6,500-mile direct flight to the capital.

Fuel burned fighting the high altitude gusts would have enabled the B-29s to finish their scheduled runs from Sapporo, Hokkaido island, for a new American air distance record.

The ships, each carried 12 men and stripped of their wartime equipment to make way for gasoline space, reached National airport across the Potomac from Washington three minutes apart, the first landing at 9:53 p. m.,ewt.

They had left Chicago little more than two hours earlier.

The leader of the flight, Lt. Gen. Barney M. Giles, commander of all Army Air forces in the Pacific, stepped out here and told reporters the flight was "very fine."

It was valuable, he said, as an exploration flight along the Great Circle route and weather information had been gathered.

For the most part they held an altitude of approximately 20,000 feet—nearly four miles up.

Acheson Lashes Back Fiercely At MacArthur Occupation Plan

Pugnacious Statement Says He'll Boss Policy Regardless Of Cost

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—The State department today revealed a decision for social and economic revolution in Japan and emphasized that it would be carried out regardless of what General Douglas MacArthur says about slashing the American Army of Occupation.

In a statement that was more pugnacious than diplomatic, acting Secretary Dean Acheson said that the United States government and not the occupation forces under General MacArthur are determining American policy toward Japan.

It was the second statement that Acheson had made as a result of MacArthur's prediction that the occupation army would be cut to 200,000 in six months.

He'll Change Things

Acheson implied that by this statement MacArthur was somehow seeking to modify this government's Japanese policy. He said that the policy would not be changed and that it would be carried out regardless of cost.

Acheson was understood to speak with the support of the War department as well as the State department.

Today Mr. Truman issued a statement which seemed to agree with Acheson's assertion that nobody could say just now how many men would be needed for occupation.

Thus Mr. Truman appeared to call into question the general's estimate which yesterday he had seemed to accept readily. The President said today that it should be possible by spring to determine not only the size of the occupation force but also "to what extent that need can be met through volunteers."

Denial of Impression

Mr. Truman tied in with this a denial of what he called the general impression that "the speed of demobilization is governed by future needs for occupation and other forces."

Instead, he cited figures to show that demoblization has been speeded up 375 per cent in 30 days, and that the Army plans to release more than 2,000,000 soldiers in the period from VJ-day to next Christmas.

Acheson's statement was issued a few hours after the President's. He outlined three main points of American policy toward the Pacific enemy:

1. That the surrender will be carried out. This covers capitulation of the enemy country and all its armed forces.

2. That Japan will be put into position where it cannot renew aggressive warfare.

Crush Will To War

3. That the present economic and social system of Japan "which makes for a will to war will be changed so that that will to war will not continue."

Under this last point Acheson was forecasting revolutionary changes in the economic and social structure of Japan which, it was learned, center around breaking down the economic power of the eight great families which dominate the island.

He told reporters: "I am surprised that anybody can foresee at this time the number of forces which will be necessary in Japan."

He authorized direct quotation of his remarks.

A series of questions brought from Acheson the following statements:

That MacArthur had issued his occupation army estimate without concultation with Washington;

Fixed By Top Officials

That American policy actually is fixed by a committee of top War-State-Navy officials;

That Acheson himself did not know whether the Japanese reeducation machinery set up by MacArthur had been designed here or at the general's headquarters.

He said he had had no reaction from the British, Russians or Chinese to the MacArthur estimate.

There was no counter-recation from MacArthur immediately. Prior to Acheson's remarks today, the general's public relations office at Tokyo said his 200,000 occupation force statement was "quite clear and explanatory" and the general had no further comment.

Weather And Enemy Nearly Foil A-Bomb

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (AP)—A young air force captain who released the atomic bomb on Nagasaki disclosed tonight the enemy and the weather almost prevented it.

The officer, Kermit K. Beahan, 27, of Houston, Tex., said another target was abandoned because the weather would not permit dropping the bomb visually and Nagasaki was selected instead.

Then flak and enemy fighters trailed Beahan's B-29 to the alternate target. When the explosion came, the Japanese flyers scooted for home, Beahan related.

He was one of the men arriving from Japan tonight on the three Superfortresses which attempted to fly nonstop record to Washington.

Most Of Fleet Coming Home

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 20 (AP)—A large portion of the U. S. Third Fleet weighed anchor in Tokyo bay at 12:45 p. m. (10:45 p. m. Friday central war time) and started on a victorious return to the United States.

Including such battleships as the Iowa, Alabama, Wisconsin, South Dakota, Colorado and West Virginia, the fleet sailed for Okinawa. There it will pick up liberated prisoners of war to speed them home. There, too, the battleship Texas, Arkansas and Nevada will join the fleet.

Shaffroth In Charge

In charge was Rear Adm. John Shaffroth. At Pearl Harbor, the fleet probably will pick up Admiral Halsey and perhaps Admiral Nimitz.

From there, the fleet will go to San Francisco.

Others in the returning fleet include the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga and the cruisers Amsterdam, Vicksburg and Tucson.

The battleship Missouri, Admiral Nimitz' flagship, on which the surrender of Japan was signed, preceded the fleet in its eastward journey, heading for a Navy day appearance at New York City along with other Third Fleet units.

Many of the warships are acting as passenger ships in order to get home thousands of returning servicemen. The deck of the Ticonderoga has been fitted for sleeping quarters.

Among destroyers returning are the Samuel N. Moore, the Lymon K. Swenson, Maddox, Mansfield, Blue, Brush and Collett.

Parents Blamed In San Angelo Attacks

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 19. (AP)—Seven 16-year-old Anglo - American boys were found delinquent following a hearing in county court here today on juvenile charges growing out of an attack by 12 youths upon three Latin-Americans.

Judge I. J. Curtsinger told parents of the boys that "you, as much or more than the boys, are to be condemned for not knowing where your boys were at 1:30 o'clock in the morning."

The seven were paroled to the custody of their parents until they are 22 years old. All were instructed by the court to be off the streets by 10:30 o'clock each night.

Ben Aguirre, 20, discharged soldier, remained in a serious condition in a local hospital. He has not regained consciousness since the attack Sept. 2.

Five other Anglo - American youths are free on bail on charges of assault with intent to murder.

More Cabinet Heads To Fall

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Thursday, Sept. 20 — The Japanese cabinet will soon clean out more of its war time leaders, reliable informants predicted, in keeping with the hard-fisted Allied occupation controls which temporarily shut down another Tokyo newspaper.

American headquarters meanwhile announced that a new and longer list of Japanese to be questioned on war guilt charges would be issued soon, supplementing the first list which contained 47 names.

Good news to American service men in the Pacific with sufficient discharge points came in a Pearl Harbor Navy headquarters announcement that huge "Carrier Division 24," composed of the Navy's biggest flattop, the Saratoga, and 25 escort carriers, is being formed to transport 20,000 or more men home each month.

Konoye Heads List

Reliable Nipponese sources which forecast more resignations from Premier Prince Higashi-Kuni's cabinet placed Vice Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye's name at the head of the list of those to go out. Konoye, twice premier of Japan, headed the government when Japan invaded China in 1937.

Others mentioned were Lt. Gen. Toshishiro Obata and Taketora Ogata, ministers without portfolio. Ogata, also chief cabinet secretary, whose name was among members of the Jingoist Black Dragon society listed among General MacArthur's selection of suspected war criminals.

Mamoru Shigemitsu, foreign minister in two of Japan's war cabinets, resigned from that same post on Premier Higashi-Kuni's government two days ago, his place being taken by Shigeru Yoshida, a peace advocate.

Clamp Down On Paper

American Army censorship authorities clamped down on the Tokyo English language newspaper Nippon Times, forbidding it to publish this morning's edition because it had failed to submit an editorial for the censor's scrutiny.

This followed MacArthur's action of Tuesday closing down the powerful Tokyo Asahi for two days as punishment for publication of an uncensored editorial scoffing at Allied testimonials on Japanese prison camp atrocities.

General MacArthur's press relations office said the Allied supreme commander in Japan was making no further comment on

Big Five Agree On Trieste Fuss

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Foreign ministers of the Big Five nations said tonight they had reached substantial agreement on the troublesome Italo-Yugoslav boundary dispute and had turned over to their deputies the drawing of the actual boundary line.

A communique issued after two sessions today of the Big Five council said it had been decided to make Trieste, now in Italian hands, an international port, and to give each nation sovereignty over peoples speaking its language.

Molotov's Formula

This solution, giving Yugoslavia less than she had asked and taking from Italy more than she wanted to give up, apparently was in line with the formula proposed by Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov yesterday.

"Territories which belong to Croats and Slovenes should be returned to them. Those which are Italian in character, it will be proper for Italy to take," Molotov told a press conference.

Today's communique said the new boundary would, in the main, be "the ethnic line, leaving a minimum under alien rule, on the understanding that appropriate investigations will be carried out on the sport before the final delimitation of the frontier."

The foreign ministers previously turned over to their deputies the question of what should be done with Italy's colonies. No mention has been made of their plans for the Dalamatian islands which Yugoslovakia has been demanding.

Texas Officials Back Fight On U. S. Claim

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, Attorney General Grover Sellers and Land Commissioner Bascom Giles today urged full support of legislation relinquishing federal claims to submerged lands, river beds and navigable lakes belonging to the states.

In a telegram the officials who compose the school land board for Texas told Rep. Hatton W. Sumners:

"We urge full support of H. J. Resolution 225 by the entire Texas delegation. This measure is absolutely necessary for the full development of the public free school lands beneath the tidewaters and navigable streams of Texas. The measure has our unqualified endorsement and support."

Texas officials said they understood the legislation soon would reach the House floor for debate.

Amarillo Runaway Girl Taken Home

A 14-year-old girl was returned to her home in Amarillo Wednesday by her father after running away to Lubbock because her mother had a baby.

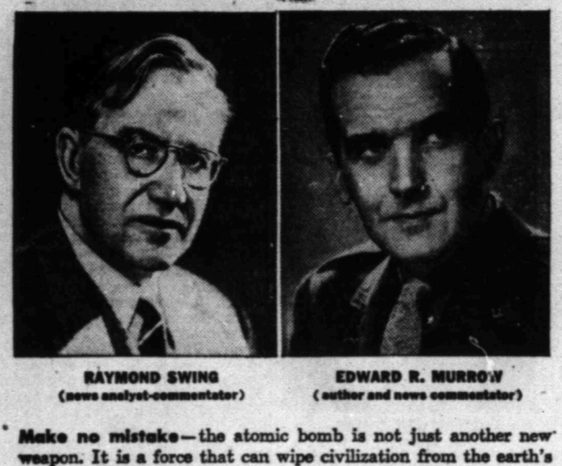

The girl confessed to juvenile officers here that she had been embarrassed by comments of some of her schoolmates.

She related that she had two brothers and one sister besides the baby, all younger than she.

The girl was reported to the juvenile department after she had been observed sleping on two consecutive nights in the ladies' lounge of a downtown hotel.

Who Should Control The Atomic Bomb?

RAYMOND SWING, EDWARD R. MURROW, SENATOR OWEN BREWSTER, AND HANSON BALDWIN, DISCUSS THIS FIERY ISSUE TONIGHT—

RAYMOND SWING (news analyst-commentator) — EDWARD R. MURROW (author and news commentator)

Make no mistake—the atomic bomb is not just another new weapon. It is a force that can wipe civilization from the earth's surface. Should we in sheer self-protection guard the secret from the rest of the world? Should we join other nations in outlawing this dreadful weapon from warfare forever? Or, might we even put an end to war itself by placing this frightful new force under international control before other nations discover it for themselves? How the atomic bomb is controlled may decide your safety and the world's. Listen in tonight when these leading authorities discuss the most important piece of unfinished business facing mankind today. Exciting! Crucial! Tune in tonight to America's Town Meeting, sponsored by The Reader's Digest, 7:30, KFYO.

Americans Favor Keeping Atomic Bomb Secret Here

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—If the United States Government is thinking of sharing our knowledge of the atomic bomb with other nations through the United Nations Security Council, it will have to give the American people some convincing reasons for doing so.

GALLUP

The disposition of the vast majority of the American people right now is to show great caution toward such a proposal, and they give their seasons for feeling the way they do:

"If the secret is let out, nations will surely use it against each other, or against us," is one of the main reasons. Another is that people are inclined to believe the atomic bomb is "far too powerful a weapon to release among other nations," and that "as long as we keep it to ourselves we can be certain it won't be used against the United States."

The question of what to do about the atomic bomb is slated to come up for discussion in London where Big-5 representatives are meeting to discuss matters brought up at the Potsdam parley.

Russia Speaks Out

Moreover, the Russian press has recently urged an international pooling of knowledge on the atomic bomb as the "most effective method of mutual understanding of all freedom-loving nations."

In measuring public sentiment on the issue in all parts of the United States, the Institute had field reporters ask a cross-section of voters this question:

"It has been suggested that the new United Nations Security council use the atomic bomb to help keep peace by putting it under control of a special international air force. Would you favor such a plan, or should the United States try to keep control of this weapon?"

Put Under Control United Nations Security Council	14%
U. S. Should Keep Control	73
No Opinion	12

The greatest inclination to put the atomic bomb under Security Council control was to be found among people who have attended college and young people—those 21 to 29 years of age. The least inclined to have this country follow such a policy are people who did not go beyond grammar school and people who are 50 years of age or over.

At the same time, it should be emphasized that every major group examined by Institute statisticians is found overwhelmingly in favor of having this country try to keep control of the atomic bomb secret. That includes people in all educational levels, people in all age brackets, and men and women alike.

The very small minority who think we ought to put the atomic bomb in the hands of the Security Council think the way they do principally for these reasons: "You can't keep the atomic bomb a secret," and "If we are to have peace in the world there can be no secrets."

Registration At Tech Shows Big Increase

Incomplete registration figures for the fall semester at Texas Tech show that 2,414 students have paid fees and indications are that many World War II veterans remain to be enrolled, W. P. Clement, registrar, said.

Beginning today only students having obtained special permission will be allowed to register.

25 per cent increase over last year's enrollment has been recorded at Tech.

REIREMENT INCREASES

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP) — The state teachers retirement system expects an 100 per cent increase in the number of teachrs past 60 years of age who will retire this year, says Mrs. B. B. Sapp, executive secretary. Last year 100 stepped aside.

Meteorite Falls In Eastern Oklahoma

McALESTER, Okla., Sept. 19 (U.P.)—Twenty pounds of weird interplanetary substance blamed for a spectacular meteor explosion in eastern Oklahoma skies early Monday night was packed for shipment to Oklahoma City university scientists today.

The huge meteorite was dug from a deep hole by Frank Morris, Atoka, Okla., farmer, who said the flashing thing hit the earth only a few feet from him. He marked the spot where it fell three miles north of Atoka and returned there yesterday to excavate it.

Residents over the eastern half of Oklahoma saw a streak of fire across the sky early Monday night and an explosion. Most of them thought it was an airplane in trouble, and a few believed they were seeing their first P-80 jet-propelled fighters in night flight.

Morris told state highway patrolmen he was returning from a hunting trip Monday night when the zooming scream of the meteorite nearly deafened him. An instant later, he said, he saw the fiery fragment bury itself in the earth a few feet from his path.

"I didn't know that half the state would be wondering what had happened or I would have called the sheriff right then," Morris said. "Instead, I went home to bed and tried to forget my narrow escape. I didn't think people would believe my story anyhow."

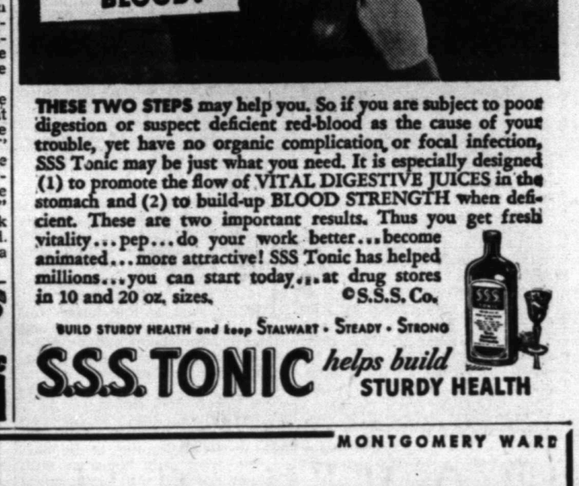

The charred metal-like chink was said to be heavier than lead. One fragment was given to Atoka High school for an exhibit.

George Washington's great grandfather, John Washington emigrated from England to America.

The buildings of the University of Virginia were laid out according to a plan drawn up by Thomas Jefferson.

Science Begins Possible Defense Against Ravages Of Atomic Bomb

By ROBERT L. FREY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—One of the basic principles of warfare has been that a defense always could be found against every new weapon. Can we find a defense against the atomic bomb?

If the suggestion of Morris Berman, New York civil engineer, were adopted, the wail of the siren would be the signal for the skyscrapers of our big cities to be lowered and disappear into the earth.

Berman is dead serious and has constructed a model showing how the Empire State building could be mounted on a giant elevator which would lower it into a shaft at 1,000 feet per minute, leaving only its tower exposed.

Might Be No Alarm

However, military theorists fear that next time there may be no opportunity to sound an alrm before rocket-bombs strike. This development, as a matter of fact, was achieved by the German V-2 rocket which traveled faster than sound.

The next logical development in rocket weapons would be such a missile armed with an atomic bomb, powered by atomic energy and steered to its target by radar. A rocket-propelled bomb capable of spanning oceans and of striking within a mile of its target is "well within the ability of science," accordin gto Dr. Arthur L. Hughes of Washington university, one of the scientists who helped develop the atomic bomb.

Fifth columnists, it has been suggested, may find a deadly weapon in the atomic bomb. Agents of an aggressor nation could carry the relatively small devices in their baggage to another country and plant them in its major cities. Trying to frustrate the saboteurs in the old-fashioned way by guarding docks, power plants, railway terminals, etc., would be useless. One atomic bomb anywhere inside the city limits would suffice.

Could Be Timed

The bombs could be timed to go off on a certain day at a fixed hour. The aggressor could then serve a quick ultimatum on his victim—or else. There would be little choice.

General Douglas MacArthur, after accepting the Japanese surrender aboard the USS Missouri, warned gravely, "a new era is upon us. The destructiveness of the war potential through progressive advances in scientific discovery has, in fact, now reached the point which revises the traditional concept of war. . . . We have had our last chance."

For the present the United States, Britain and Canada share the secret of the atomic bomb. Its raw materials, pitchblende from which uranium is refined, is found in limited quantities on three continents. There are deposits in the Belgian Congo, in Czechoslovakia and in Canada. Another ore from which uranium can be taken, called carnotite, is found in Utah and Colorado.

Other Sources Probable

It is very likely that other sources of atomic energy will be found. Physicists say that the energy of the atom binds all matter together and it should be possible, ultimately, to draw upon any substance for this elemental source of power.

This would mean that small nations as well as big may some day have ample resources of power and be able to stand on equal terms with their big brothers. International diplomats would need a new book of rules in such a world.

The defense against the atomic bomb may turn out to be simply the threat of turning it against its user. Poison gas cancelled itself out in this way durin gthe war in Europe.

The Allies stood ready to use gas if the Axis used it first. But the Axis was not prepared to call down this added horror on the heads of its civilians. So the unearthly destructiveness of the atomic bomb may be the thing that keeps it in leash and turns its nuclear energy into paths of peace.

Gen. Stevens Wonders About Wife, Daughter

HAMILTON FIELD, Calif., Sept. 19 (AP)—Brig. Gen. L. R. Stevens of Wesson, Miss., who went through Japanese imprisonment with General Wainwright arrived here today from the Pacific wondering what has happened to his wife and daughter.

Stevens said he had heard that his wife, Mrs. Lulu Stevens, and daughter, Elizabeth, had been released from Santo Tomas internment camp in Manila last February. He said he had received no word about them since.

The officer, who was in command of the Mindanao-Sulu region of the Philippines at the start of the war, was liberated with Wainwright and other officers in Manchuria.

He was taken to the Letterman hospital at the San Francisco presidio.

Seventy million persons in the U. S. live in rural areas, or in urban places that do not maintain transit facilities.

Poor Digestion? YES ☐ NO ☐
Headachy? ☐ ☐
Sour or Upset? ☐ ☐
Tired-Listless? ☐ ☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 25¢. Adv.

Blitz Book Reveals 1,280 Combinations In Finger Movements

There are 1,280 ways students can wave their five fingers at the teacher—or 1,280 ways they can practice music lessons by new combinations of finger movements, according to Dr. Julien Paul Blitz, head of the music department at Texas Tech.

Dr. Blitz is author of the new book, "Digital Labor In Music Anagrams, 1,280 Five-Finger Exercises," which introduces many new combinations of finger movements. Dr. Wm. M. Whyburn, president of the college and a mathematics expert, checked the mathematics formulas and assisted Dr. Blitz in mathematical terminology used in the book.

Maurice Dumesnil of the Michigan State college music department, one of the greatest authorities on piano technique in the United States, said this about Dr. Blitz's book: "I have examined it closely and used it continually. I do not hesitate in stating that it is a wonderful idea, and that in a small form, it enlarges as many times upon the five-finger exercise idea as exposed by Stamaty, de Beriot, Schmidt and others."

"The extent of the combinations is limitless. It avoids the dryness of so many text-books which discourage students from the first. My best congratulations for this work which I am sure will be a big success."

Kansas Town Stirred By Helium Statement

DEXTER, Kan., Sept. 19 (U.P.)—The government's announcement predicting a bright future for helium has stirred this community with great interest. Large quantities of this rare gas is found around this vicinity, reporting to range from 1.5 to 2.25 per cent in helium content.

Bureau of Mines reports that the government will maintain huge reserves of the non-inflammable gas in its Kansas, Texas and New Mexico fields for military purposes. Private industry will be allowed to absorb the surplus.

O'Donnell Vet Starts Business Building

O'DONNELL, Sept. 19. (Special)—Burl Koeninger, discharged last week from the U. S. Army, is clearing space one block north of the O'Donnell bank preparatory to erecting a 140 by 135-foot structure of brick and concrete.

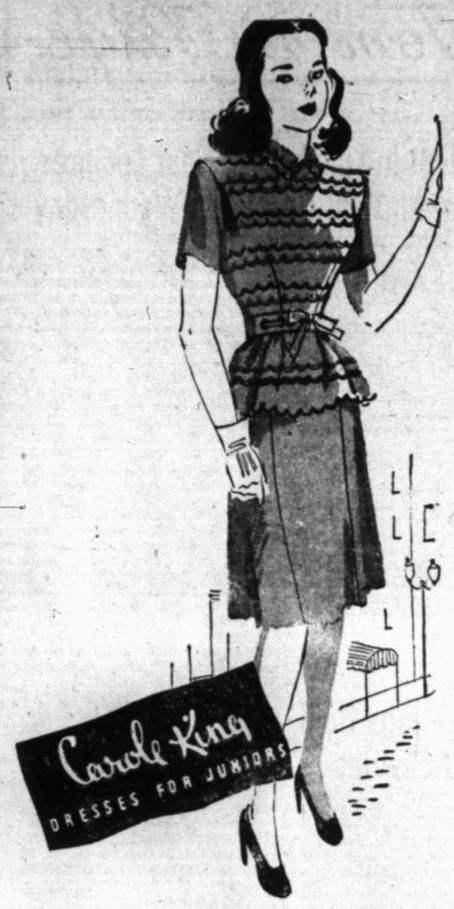

The building will house an auto and tractor parts concern, according to reports.

MOOM PICTURES

JUDGING from what we have read and heard about Eric Johnston, who is succeeding Will Hays as president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, he is a colorful, compelling person. A sophisticated person, he has taken the ups and downs of life with ease, a shrug, an infectious smile. He seems witty, resourceful and possessed of a remarkable philosophy.

We don't know whether Hays is to be blamed for the morass to which some movie plots have sunk but perhaps Johnston can bring to the motion picture industry some of that personality, that vigor and enthusiasm he shows for living. Some of the plots for recent shows have been plain rubbish; if anything ever needed to be revitalized they do.

• • •

Thousands, even millions of service men and women have gone to tens of thousands of shows during the last few years because they afforded a means of escape from daily routine. We have an idea they will not keep up the habit in civilian life if the movies are not improved.

The surrender, which brought a quick change to so many industries, also affected the motion pictures. We wonder how long war pictures will continue to hold interest? Only a short while, we imagine. Perhaps with the new "czar" we'll see a revolution in themes for pictures. They could stand one.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Miss Turner:

In your Sunday's column you were wondering why devil's ivy will grow for some people and not for you. I had the same trouble until I learned the secret of how to grow it. You way have tried it, I don't know but I grow devil's ivy by this method:

When you hang it or place it, do not ever move it again. Do not let it be disturbed or touched at any time. Keep it watered well and have the dirt moist at all times. Take a clean, damp cloth and keep the dust off the leaves so they can breath. This may sound ridiculous but the water you clean a chicken in will make it grow like sixty!

My neighbor, Mrs. Hub O'Neal pours part of the water she cleans chickens in over her plant and does not move it and it has grown the full length of one wall and across half of the next wall. It really is pretty. I think she had it about two years. Oh yes, Miss Turner, I almost forgot the most important thing: Never let the sun touch your devil's ivy. Don't ask me why because I wouldn't know. I got that information from a nursery.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. G. C. Stalter,
Route 6.

• • •

DEAR Mrs. Stalter: Thank you for taking time to write us about your method for growing ivy which we shall try and feel sure will be tried by many readers.

PARAPHRASE—Do you suppose the boys returning from Japan will sing "Hello Mama, I'm Back From Yokohama?"

Miss Hill To Marry Sept. 29 In Dallas

ALBANY, Sept. 18. (Special)—Announcing the approaching marriage of Edyle Hill of Dallas, formerly of Albany, and neice of Mrs. W. D. McWhorter, to Bill Barnett of Lubbock, a tea was given by Mrs. G. B. King in her home on North Second street, Monday afternoon. Favors were extras printed with "Edyle Hill-Bill Barnett, Sept. 29, 1945, Dallas, Texas . . . At home October 1, Lubbock, Texas." The wedding is to take place in the St. Luke's Methodist church in Dallas.

Mrs. King and Miss Hill, who wore an afternoon dress of purple, sheer wool, were in the receiving line, and Miss Charlene Arendt presided at the bride's book.

A musical program consisted of piano selections by Mrs. Frank Elliott, and Misses Jan Downing, Mildred Jones and Joyce Nixon sang "Too-Ra-Loo-Ra-Loo - Ra," "Sentimental Journey" and "I Dream of You." Decorations were in purple and gold, with thistles and greenery adorning the buffet. The table was covered with a lace cloth, and there was an arrangement of purple thistles at one end and the crystal punch bowl at the other with Mrs. Harry Key presiding.

Attending were Mesdames Charles F. Hemphill, J. O. Gordon, Wyatt W. Lipscomb, Frank Elliott, Roy Mauldin, Jesse Douglas, E. G. Copper, Cecil R. Dye, Paul Armstrong, I. E. Crow, Richard Dortch, J. A. Owen, D. O. Anderson, Harold J. Anderson, Charles H. Arendt, E. D. Hale, Kenneth L. Degeberg, R. E. McKiski, Grover C. In Wednesday meetings, clubs open new season, have regular luncheons, hear book reviews and lectures. City Federation is changing its time of meeting to third Wednesday afternoons at 3 o'clock, it was announced at a luncheon Wednesday afternoon at Hotel Lubbock which opened a new season for the club women. Programs formerly were held on Friday mornings, as it was thought the hours would accomodate more women, but, since the attendance continued slight, the Federation is returning to afternoon meetings.

Mrs. Alfred Crosby was in charge of arrangements for the luncheon. The guest speaker, George Sessums, contact representative for the Veterans Administration, was introduced by Mrs. William G. Dingus. In discussing "Veterans' Benefits," Sessums stressed that he is available for interviews with veterans, and will be glad to talk to them concerning problems rising over the GI Bill of Rights. At present he has an office in the American Legion home but later will be established in the Lubbock National Bank building.

Mrs. A. W. Young presided for the business meeting.

Mrs. Marlin R. Smith was chairman of the fine arts program which featured Mrs. Marlin R. Hayhurst singing "As We Part" (Ilgenfritz), accompanied by Mrs. James Atcheson, and a piano solo, "Serenade" (Romberg), played by Mrs. Atcheson.

Mrs. Sterling J. Parris was the only guest at the regular luncheon of the Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club which met in the Hilton hotel at noon.

Twenty were in attendance.

"So Well Remembered" (James Hilton) was reviewed by Mrs. E. V. Nickels, a guest speaker, at the Book-of-the-Month club which met in the home of Mrs. Ernest Pope, 2518 Twentieth, with Mrs. W. B. Price as assistant hostess. Mrs. J. H. Goodman, of Waco, was also a guest.

Others attending were Mesdames C. I. Wall, Don Mitchell, George Gray, R. E. Garlin, Milt Jones, T. A. Rhodes, H. G. Denman, J. O. Cabe, C. M. Ballenger and H. T. Luther.

Two members were added to the Fit and Fashion club, when it met for the first time this season with Mrs. W. C. Watt, 2111 Twenty-third. They are Mrs. Curtis Barrett and Mrs. N. J. Robnett. Mrs. Rogers Orr was elected chairman for the year.

Others present were Mesdames Floyd Honey, E. E. Key, R. W. Matthews, H. J. McCabe, J. W. Reid, Dixie White and M. E. Witt.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Curtis Barrett, 3:30 p. m., Oct. 3, at 2516 Twenty-ninth.

Mrs. S. H. Scott and Mrs. J. A. Hood were hostesses to the Kongenial Klan which met in Mrs. Talley's Tea room. Eighteen were in attendance.

The group worked on a charity quilt.

A bridge club which is to meet every Wednesday, was organized by the Newcomers club meeting in the home of Mrs. J. W. McKee, 2620 Twenty-seventh. Other newcomers who are interested may call Mrs. C. R. Young, dial 6755, for details.

Attending were Mesdames Thomas Jones, W. H. Garrett, Ted Whitehead, R. A. Shelton, H. I. Coggin, T. B. Ogle, Tom Young, A. B. Henderson, G. S. Debert, G. O. Saddler, S. E. Youngblood, Ernest Conley and C. R. Young.

Mesdames J. B. McCauley, r., and Lewis Kerr were hostesses to the Ladies Golf association meeting for luncheon at the Country club. Mrs. Wade Scott was a guest, and fifteen members attended.

The group played golf for low par and in the 18 hole match, Mesdames F. L. McRee and Roy Autry tied. Mrs. John Markham won the 9 hole match.

Club Meetings Hold Varied Activities

Five clubs meeting Wednesday, had social and business hours, worked on charity quilt ,organized a bridge club, had luncheons and played golf. Miss Louise McKee, Red Cross workers who served overseas in Australia and New Guinea, was the guests of the Wednesday Needle club which met with Mrs. G. W. McCleary, west of town.

Attending were Mesdames Rosella Rushing, W. D. O'Brien, A. W. McKee, Smiley Wilson, T. W. Thomas, Frank Maddox, Jot Smyth and L. B. Wright.

Take Off Ugly Fat With This Home Recipe

Here is an inexpensive home recipe for taking off ungainly weight and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Just get from any druggist, four ounces of liquid Barcel Concentrate. Add enough grapefruit juice to make a pint. Then just take two tablespoonsful twice a day. Wonderful results may be obtained quickly. Now you may slim down your figure and lose pounds of ugly fat without back breaking exercise or starvation diet. It's easy to make and easy to take. Contains nothing harmful. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky weight and help regain slender, more graceful curves, return the empty bottle and get your money back.

No Decrease In Fur Tax Expected Soon

Unless the U. S. Treasury department makes an unexpected change in its policies, purchases of furs will continue to pay the 20 per cent wartime excise tax for a considerable length of time, it was learned here yesterday.

Rumors that the fur excise tax "will be taken off any day now" are unfounded, according to information received by J. D. Hassell, Jr., chief executive of Hemphill-Wells Co., who said the other local dealers in furs doubtless had received or would receive the same information.

Statement received by Hassell, from his firm's fur contacts in New York, quoted the Treasury department as follows:

Official Statement Made

"Half of the (20 percent) tax will be removed automatically the first day of the first month which begins six months or more after either the date proclaimed by the President as the date of the termination of hostilities; or the date specified in a concurrent resolution of the two Houses of Congress as the date of such termination, which ever is the earlier."

Since not date has been set yet for the termination of hostilities, dropping of even half the 20 per cent tax is still more than six months in the offing. Elimination of the other half, if it is ever eliminated, will come from action of Congress specifically removing the tax by statute.

Thus elimination of the entire tax is far in the future—and purely a matter of conjecture, Hassell said.

Bridge Parties And Luncheons Are Held

Three clubs meeting Tuesday afternoon played bridge, had luncheons and planned activities.

Mrs. Frederick J. Barnard, harpist, played during the interval between luncheon and bridge games for the Officers' Wives club which met at the Officers club, Lubbock Army Air field.

Hostesses were Mesdames Elmer Voltz, Warren Polking, W. G. Snaith, and C. E. Weimer.

Prize winners were Mesdames Milton Wagenfuehr, Thomas Potter, John Cory and Cairns Hooper.

A forty-two party for families Friday night at Tech in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Handley, 2608 Thirteenth was planned by Sunshine Needle club members meeting with Mrs. J. C. Thomas, 2425 Twenty-eighth.

Those present Tuesday afternoon were Mesdames Lester Harrison, G. E. Brownlow, Ross Kirk, Handley, L. O. Tucker, J. B. Caldwell, Aubrey Cromer, Floyd Lawson.

Idle Hour club members played bridge at a luncheon and party at Mrs. Tucker's Tea room. Guests were Mesdames Thomas L. Gilbert, Bert LaRoe and T. F. A. Kleinschmidt. Mrs. C. C. Crenshaw was hostess.

High scores were made by Mesdames Justin Newbery, Gilbert and R. D. Moxley and bingo prize went to Mrs. T. C. Root.

Other members present were Mesdames R. S. Rodgers, H. R. Phillips, D. B. Hiatt, R. F. Hinchey, A. B. Davis and J. L. Barstow.

McCarty Union Holds Business Meeting

Mrs. J. A. Giles, 2202 Twenty-ninth was hostess Tuesday night to the McCarty union of Calvary Baptist church for a social and business meeting.

Those present were Rev. C. J. McCarty and Messrs. and Mesdames E. C. Wood, O. D. Peden, Mesdames W. E. White, R. E. Gibson, Ben Dixon, J. A. Alred, Mattie Rawls, N. L. Carter, Selina Martin, A. R. Pendley and Maude Dean.

One of the many advantages of the famous Liberty ships, which are built to standard specifications, is that the men who work on one ship can transfer to another in the dark and find their way around without losing time getting acquainted with new surroundings.

PIN-WORMS GO! New Treatment Gets Real Results

People don't like to talk about Pin-Worm infection. Sometimes they are too embarrassed to mention the tormenting rectal itching. And in many cases they have not known of any effective way to deal with this pest that lives inside the human body.

Today, thanks to a special, medically recognized drug (gentian violet), a highly effective treatment has been made possible. This drug is the vital ingredient in P-W, the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son.

The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms.

So if you suspect Pin-Worms in your child or yourself, ask your druggist for a package of JAYNE'S P-W right away, and follow the directions. Satisfaction guaranteed or your money back.

It's easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Reconversion Presents No Task In New Mexico; Projects Planned

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 19. (U.P.)—New Mexico, non-industrial "land of enchantment" virtually untouched by the war-tide of booming factories, has rolled into the postwar era without encountering any of the thorny problems of peacetime reconversion, a United Press survey revealed today.

Unemployment does not exist in New Mexico. And if postwar plans of this colorful western state develop as expected, unemployment will remain non-existent in New Mexico for many years to come.

Must Provide Jobs

Top New Mexico officials warn, however, that if the state is to enjoy full employment in the years ahead, some 176,000 jobs must be provided between now and 1947—a 36,500 job increase over the 1940 level.

But they indicate at the same time that increase will be entirely possible through peacetime expansion of the state's basic agricultural and lumbering industries; mining, new building programs, and many state-federal improvement projects.

Little Reconversion Possible

Little reconversion—in the accepted sense of the word—will be possible in New Mexico, since few activities in the state were purely wartime businesses.

Albuquerque's two largest war producers, the Eidal Manufacturing Co., and the Eaton Metal products Co., employed about 500 workers during the war in the making of Army trailers and Navy pontoons. Most of these workers have been discharged with the cancellation of war contracts, but both companies plan to remain in Albuquerque during the postwar era.

Manufacturing Is Light

E. L. Moulton, research committee chairman of the Committee for Economic Development, said New Mexico's answer to the industrial conversion problem lies partly in light manufacturing such as jewelry, tie-making, weaving, ceramics, food processing, and similar activities.

These activities, Moulton said, would be in addition to the mining, lumbering, petroleum production, agriculture, cattle-raising, tourist trade, postwar housing, highway building, irrigation projects and wildlife development.

Home-Building Planned

New Mexico plans for postwar construction are ambitious blueprints drawn to transform the state into one of the most modern in the nation. Neat little clapboard and brick bungalows and palatial mansions will replace much of New Mexico's adobe buildings. Modern business buildings will spring up.

Residential housing construction will run to around $20,000,000 a year — $7,000,000 more than in 1939 — and non-residential work will hit the $11,000,000 mark annually, seven million dollars higher than prewar levels.

Albuquerque Plans Projects

An estimated 13,500 workers will be needed to carry on this postwar construction work, according to figures of the CED.

Albuquerkue alone has plans for construction worth four million dollars.

Irrigation projects slated for New Mexico include the Hammond propject in Alamosa, Palomas, Animas, Cuchillo and Percha; the Tucumcari porject on the upper Pecos river; the Costilla project on the Sangre de Cristo grant in the Rio Hondo basin; the Lea county shallow water district, Logan project; the Animas valley project of the San Juan-Rio Chama diversion; the Santa Cruz irrigation district in the Estancia valley; La Plata stateline resorvoir in the middle Rio Grande conservancy district; Nambe and Bishop's lodge reservoirds and Penasco-Cuervo and Cactus Flat reservoir—among others.

Highway Work Planned

Highway construction will total some 9,000,000 a year. The New Mexico Planning board has announced projects totaling about $33,000,000.

Finally, but by no means the least important aspect in New Mexico's peacetime future, the state's tourist business is expected to enjoy an unprecendented boom. Latest figures show that tourists spent $70,000,000 in the state in 1941.

That figure probably will grow considerably. Health-seekers alone are expected to bring $10,000,000 into the state annually.

OPA MAN RESIGNS

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 19. (AP)—J. K. Black, OPA district rationing executive, has resigned to enter private business in Corpus Christi, C. T. Giesen, district director of OPA, announced today. Black will be succeeded by Eugene Kurtz of San Antonio.

HUBERT L. ALLEN

H. L. Allen Is Named War Chest Chairman; Drive Opens Oct. 1

Hubert L. Allen was named chairman of the Lubbock county executive committee for the 1945 National War Fund drive, which opens October 1, and Dewitt Landis was selected head of "The Big Gifts" division for the campaign at an executive board meeting yesterday.

Roy Boyd was chosen as leader of the rural campaign committee for the drive, for which Lubbock county's quota will be $50,500—the same as last year's.

Other members of the executive committee, which met at Chamber of Commerce headquarters with Dewey Knowles, new membership secretary of the Chamber, to map plans for the campaign, were: Jack M. Randal, H. D. Bryan, Jasper Quicksall, and Roy Furr.

The campaign, which will raise funds for twenty-two of the leading war agencies but not Red Cross, is government sponsored: In case the county is successful in raising its quota, the Lubbock USO will receive $21,000 of the funds, members of the committee explained.

While the national quota for the drive is $115,000,000, the same as last year, the USO will get from ten to twenty million dollars more for use in occupied countries and hospitals than it did last year. Much of the money, according to committee members, will be used to aid prisoners of war, refugees, and men in military service, who are still overseas.

Red Raiders Named Tech Class Leaders

Election of class officers by the student body at Texas Tech Tuesday proved Red Raiders to be popular in the classroom as well as on the gridiron with three lettermen and one "fish" taking honors as presidents of their respective classes.

Walter Schlinkman, the Dumas Dynamiter, was elected leader of the senior class. Arthur Shahan, halfback star from Graham, will be president of the junior class. Gene Harder, quarterback letterman from Hugoton, Kans., was named president of the sophomore class. Jack Hinson of San Antonio, a promising newcomer in the Tech backfield, was elected president of the freshman class.

Dub Blankenship was elected vice president of the senior class. Other senior officers will be Norma Clevenger, secretary-treasurer; and Marilyn Snider, reporter. Class sponsors elected were Miss Helene Blattner associate professor of speech; and Cecil Ayers, assistant professor of agronomy.

In the junior class meeting students elected to fill 1945-46 offices were Jim Humphreys, vice president, and Dorothy Cliff, secretary-treasurer. Miss Annah Joe Pendleton, head of the department of speech, and Dr. A. B. Strehli, assistant professor of Spanish, were elected class sponsors.

Sophomore election returns were incomplete and they will assemble at 5 p. m. Thursday for a called meeting. Announced officers include Floyd Lawhorn, vice president; and June Stine, secretary-treasurer. Sponsors will be L. G. Harmon, associate professor of dairy manufactures; and Dr. A. F. Herr, assistant professor of English.

Freshmen class members elected only one officer, Hinson as president, during their meeting. They will have a called meeting at an unannounced date this week, Troy Caldwell, president of the student council, said.

John White of Wichita Falls, was introduced by Schlinkman, president of the Double T association, as head boy yell leader. White then introduced as his assistants, Ivan Tucker, Houston, and Bryan Miller, Dallas, to be approved by the Double T association and the Student Council. Lometa Hodge of Paducah, was introduced as head girl leader and she named as her assistant Mary Frances Barnard, who will also be approved by the association and council.

Representatives to the student council named were: Ed Boaz, Nelda Butler, Joan Marsh, Jack Horton, and Imoene Bell, all seniors. Junior representatives will be Jim Humphreys, Jamie Trainer, Virginia Blackburn, Dock Henley and Betty Renner.

One representative from the sophomore class named was Joe Snodgrass. Freshman class has no representative to the council.

War Dads Meeting Is Held At Shallowater

SHALLOWATER, Sept. 19 (Special—A Tuesday night meeting of American War Dads in the Shallowater club house was attended by approximately 60 Lubbock county persons.

A program arranged by Chas. Whitacre and J. A Raley, jr., presented Dr. O. C. Boone, magician; Henry Teubel of Tulia, and Gene Cornelius, recently discharged soldier.

J. H. Farmer, president of the chapter presided Rev. George Bryan, pastor of Shallowater's Methodist church spoke briefly.

Scottish Rite Program Set

Members of the South Plains Scottish Rite club will hold their annual observation of the Feast of the Tabernacles on next Tuesday night, Ed Parker, secretary, announced yesterday.

The observance, which will be in the form of a dinner and program, will be held at 8 p. m. on September 25 at Hotel Lubbock, Parker said. He reported that a well-rounded program is being arranged and will be announced later.

The South Plains Scottish Rite club, of which Dr. J. T. Hutchinson currently is president, is composed of all Scottish Rite Masons of the 14th through the 33rd degrees who reside within the 18 counties of the South Plains. It has been in operation for more than 20 years and meets here semi-annually, in the Fall for the Feast of the Tabernacles and in the Spring, on Maundy Thursday of Holy Week.

Claude H. Grollman, Lubbock, and Floyd Stark, Seminole, are the 1945 vice-presidents of the organization.

As is the custom at all observances, Scottish Rite members will be permitted to bring to the Feast of the Tabernacles program and dinner any friends who are Master Masons, or members of any other Masonic bodies. Several score such guests are expected Tuesday night, Parker said.

Sudan Gins First Bale; Premium Is $175.50

SUDAN, Sept. 19. (Special)—George Long, a farmer who resides four miles north of here, was awarded by local merchants a premium of $175.50 for this year's first bale of cotton ginned in Sudan.

Weighing 1,730 pounds in snaps, the bale produced 510 pounds of lint and 750 pounds of seed. The grade was middling, ⅞-inch in staple length.

The cotton was ginned by Watkins Gin Co.

CANCER FIGHT HELPED

CHICAGO, Sept. 19, (AP)—Research in nuclear physics, which aided in developing the atomic bomb, can be applied to the fight against cancer. "This time with new tools developed during the war," Dr. Reuben Gustavson, vice president of the University of Chicago, told the university's citizens board.

Rubber, Tin And Other Products To Be Factor In Trade Revival

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

The liberation of Malaya and the Dutch East Indies is due to restore rubber, tin and other commodities to the world market shortly and have an important effect in reviving international trade.

The subject has a direct bearing on the stability of the post-war world — as direct as the weighty political negotiations which are being conducted in London and elsewhere.

An interesting development comes from London, where Sir John Hay, director of the London Rubber Growers association, has outlined a government-approved project for early rehabilitation of the rubber industry in Malaya.

Could Ease Dollar Crisis

Sir John Told Harold Guard, of the United Press that the freeing of Malaya provides one of the best single means by which Britain's dollar crisis with the United States could be eased, and also an effective contribution to reduction of Britain's trade debts.

He suggested that the facts are not generally appreciated and urged swift government action to put into effect a plan devised by the rubber growers association and the Rubber Estate Owners Co., Ltd., for restoring the industry for the betterment of Britain's economic status.

Whole Sir John spoke only for the rubber plan, it appeared probable that something similar might be proposed for tin. Sir John said that in "good years" before the war, Malaya's export f tin and rubber exceeded the total of all domestic exports from the United Kingdom to the United States. In addition, Malaya's exports to the United States almost equalled the United Kingdom's purchases from the United States.

Reports Said Encouraging

"Reports being received from Malaya are encouraging," he said. "And the rubber industry believes Malaya's economy can be restored swiftly. The rubber industry has devised its own scheme for rehabilitation and has undertaken all the financial risks involved."

The plan, which Sir John said has received colonial office approval and support, provides that estate owners controlling not less than 100,000 planted acres in all will be grouped into divisions of 10,000 planted acres.

Each group will have a separate committee and the chairman will be a member of a local board entrusted with all local administration in Malaya.

Something Tangible To Offer

The above is evidently a privately-inspired scheme by interests which are looking after their own investments. It has not been publicly mentioned during the British-American economic and financial conference in Washington. Yet it is evident that the British have something tangible to offer, if the new labor government wants to take advantage of it.

Former President Herbert Hoover in his Chicago address on Monday pointed out that the United States is self-contained to a certain extent and cannot import or export too much without upsetting its balance and causing domestic unemployment.

Nevertheless, Mr. Hoover favored an exchange of surpluses such as American wheat for British or Dutch rubber and tin.

Carrying the idea a step farther, there seems no valid reason why the exchange must be limited to barter. The United States wants tin and natural rubber in quantity. The British need dollars to steady their currency and relieve the pressure on the sterling block. American manufacturers and consumers are willing to pay cash. There appears to be room for a mutually satisfactory agreement.

Brief Bits Of Local News

The condition of Leory A. Clower, 25 ,of Lamesa, World War II veteran who was flown from Lubbock to a veterans' hospital in Muskogee, Okla., last Friday in an iron lung, is reported to be satisfactory and he is getting the best of care, according to information received here Wednesday by his Lubbock nurse, Mrs. Beatrice Crossley. Mrs. Crossley accompanied the patient on the mercy flight and returned to Lubbock last week-end.

Ford dealers from approximately 30 South Plains towns met in the Hilton hotel Wednesday afternoon to hear officials of the Dallas branch of the Ford Motor company reveal plans for public showing of the new Ford. Officials here for the meeting were L. T. Verner, assistant branch manager; J. F. Giles, sales department; Marvin Runyon, service department and Chas. Baskett, zone manager ,all of Dallas.

Sgt. Jerald D. (Jiggs) Hendrix, son of Mrs. Delia Hendrix of 2014 Sixteenth, wired his mother yesterday that he had arrived in New York and will be home soon. He has been overseas with forces in Europe for two years. His wife and two-year-old daughter, Jerre Dee, have made their home with Mrs. Hendrix's mother in Albuquerque, N. M., while he was away.

Funeral services for Sidney Grover Hammett, 61, of route 2, Slaton, who died late Tuesday afternoon in a Lubbock hospital, will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Slaton First Baptist church with the pastor, Rev. W. F. Ferguson, officiating. Burial will be in Slaton cemetery under direction of Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home.

No. 1-A Jones Test In Gaines Flows 899 Barrels In 12 Hours

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1-A Jones, extreme northwest Gaines county wildcat discovery from the Devonian, in section 3, block A-6, PSL survey, flowed for 12 hours at rate of 75 barrels of oil per hour, and is still flowing to test.

After treating perforated section in 5½-inch casing at 11,380-420 feet, where 234 holes had been shot, with 4,000 gallons of acid, operator flowed to pits for one and one-half hours, to clean out, for an estimated 60 barrels of fluid.

It was then turned to tanks and in 12 hours flowed a total of 899.74 barrels of 42.7 gravity oil. In first six hours the well flowed through a one-half inch tubing choke and made 372.58 barrels of oil for an average of 62 barrels per hour. Shakeout averaged 1.8 percent basic sediment and nine-tenths of one per cent acid water. Gas-oil ratio was 236-1, with gas volume of 14,855 cubic feet, per day.

In last six hours of initial test the well flowed a total of 527.16 barrels of oil through a one-inch tubing choke. That was an average of 87.86 barrels of oil per hour. Shakeout was 1.2 per cent basic sediment and two-tenths of one percent acid water. Gas-oil ration was 225-1, with gas volume of 19,837 cubic feet per day.

Operator is continuing to flow on a one-half inch tubing choke.

This is the first Devonian production in north end of the West Texas Permian basin, and it is about 60 miles northwest of nearest oil being produced from that formation, that being in the Fullerton area of northwest Andrews county.

It is estimated that the 1945 supply of lead will be approximately 20 per cent below requirements.

Contractos To Meet At Hilton Tonight

All bonded contractors of Lubbock and vicinity are urged to attend a dinner meeting at the Hilton hotel tonight at 7:30 o'clock for reorganization of a local chapter of Associated General Contractors of Texas.

The chapter, inactive for several years, is to be composed of all bonded contractors in this area.

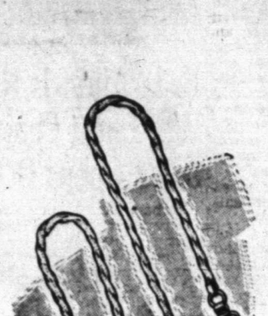

In addition to reorganization of the chapter, problems pertaining to the building industry in this area will be discussed along with the G. I. replacement training program which provides for payments to veterans while they are learning a trade.

The initial use of incendiaries by aircraft occurred during the German Zeppelin raid on London in 1915, during which one airship dropped 90 fire bombs.

Reconversion
keeps Long Distance busier than ever

Long distance lines, which rushed through messages for the army, navy, and war industries, now are loaded with calls important to the nation's reconversion.

Businessmen—as they switch from war to peacetime production—are making more calls than ever before. Individuals, too, are using long distance more often as they locate new jobs and new homes in other cities.

These important calls have added to the load on crowded telephone circuits, a load—believe it or not—unequaled even in the busiest days of the war.

And servicemen—even though the war is over—still need to make hundreds of long distance calls every day from army camps, debarkation points, separation centers, and hospitals. Their calls home are just as important as ever.

So if the operator says, "The circuits are busy," and your long distance call is delayed, we hope you'll understand.

Thanks for your patience.

Texas Marine Of 'Two-Man Alamo' Fame, To Get Congressional Medal

MERCEDES, Tex., Sept. 19 (AP)—A young Texas Marine rejected by two branches of the armed services because of color blindness is to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Marine Sgt. William George Harrell, 23, one half of the famous "Two Man Alamo" that stopped a dangerous Jap charge on Iwo Jima, had his furlough cancelled and is on his way to Washington to receive the coveted award from President Truman in the White House.

26th Texan Getting Award

He is the 26th Texan to receive this highest of awards.

"Billy" Harrell tried to enlist in the Army Air forces and then the Navy when Pearl Harbor was attacked. He was turned down.

He kept on trying, and finally in June, 1942, he enlisted in the Marines.

Within a few months he was sent overseas.

He landed on Iwo Jima during the invasion, and had been in combat two weeks when he and another Texan, Pfc. Andy Carter of Paducah, made their famous "Two Man Alamo" stand on the edge of a little ridge.

It was an advanced base. Harrell and Carter took turns standing one-hour watches.

Shortly before dawn Carter heard a faint sound. His rifle barked, awakening Harrell.

Pile of Japs Nearby

They saw, in the weird light of a slowly descending flare, a pile of dead Japs not more than six feet from their foxhole. Carter had killed them with the first burst of his gun.

But more Japs were advancing. Harrell killed two. Carter fired but his gun jammed. He told Harrell he was going back for another gun.

The Japs began pitching hand grenades at the lone Texan who was holding back their advance. One grenade landed in the foxhole and exploded.

Fighting choking dust, trying to shake off the shock of the blast, Harrell pulled himself together but felt a "strange and peculiar" sensation in his left hand.

The grenade had blown his hand off. It also had shattered his left thigh.

Carter Then Returns

Carter returned. The Japs were moving in again. Harrell tried to insert a clip of cartridges into his rifle, but he couldn't.

With his good hand, he grabbed his .45 revolver.

Carter shot two more rounds at the Japs, and his second rifle jammed!

Two Japs had reached the edge of their foxhole. Carter picked up a souvenir Jap rifle and stabbed one Jap with its bayonet.

Harrell shot the other with his .45 as the Jap lashed at Carter with a saber.

Harrell thought he was dying and ordered Carter to retreat. Carter did—to get a third rifle.

While Carter was gone two more Japs reached the crest of the ridge. They squatted on the edge, chattered wildly for a moment and then tossed a grenade into the foxhole.

Loses His Other Hand

Harrell shot one Jap as he leaped back to safety, and with his revolver he pushed the grenade toward the second Jap. It exploded, and killed the second Jap.

But it also blew off Harrell's other hand.

Carter returned, and the Japs fled. The Two Man Alamo had held its post.

Harrell was found to have suffered, besides the loss of both hands, a shattered left thigh, and more than one hundred shrapnel wounds over his body.

He was flown to Hawaii, then returned to Mare Island hospital where he remained until three weeks ago when he flew to the valley to visit his mother, sister and brother in Mercedes.

Ranch Fund Started

He has been given every honor Mercedes could bestow. The Kiwanis club began a drive to raise $25,000 with which to buy a "cattle ranch for Billy." The Rotary club and the J. H. Garcia Post 172 of the American Legion have joined the drive. Checks and offers of stock have been coming in steadily.

The sudden cancellation of his furlough forced a postponement of a big celebration and barbecue scheduled on the banks of the Rio Grande Sept. 2.

But the Mercedes Legion said that upon his return from Washington they will make it an even finer affair, with state and national figures present to do honor to a great fighting Texan.

Billy Harrell was born in Rio Grande City, Starr county, June 26, 1922. His father was a famous border patrolman who saw duty on the frontier during the danger-our bandit days. He served in World war I. Later they moved to Alice, but returned to Mercedes in 1924. They have lived here ever since.

Young Harrell entered Texas A&M and had planned to ranch and farm.

When he lost his hands, his comment was: "Well, I guess I won't do much roping now."

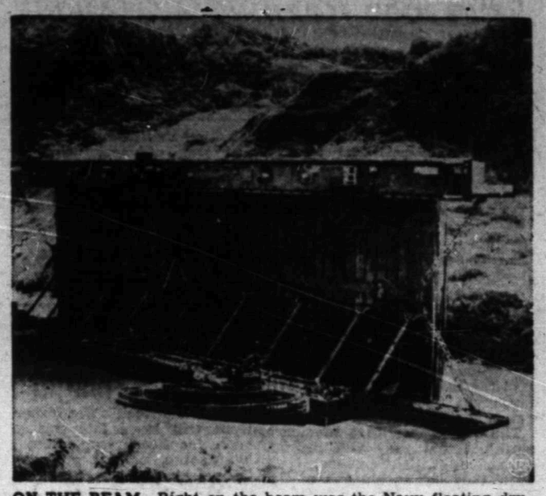

Friends believe he may do some roping yet. He is able to write on a typewriter now.

Jesse Still Set To Raise Drawbridge Despite Long Wait

SHREVEPORT, Sept. 19. (AP)—Just in case a boat should come along the Red river near Shreveport, Edward Jesse Wart is available to raise the Illinois Central railway drawbridge. In fact, Edward Jesse Wart has been available for the past 35 years and still no boats.

Federal laws require that railways provide bridge tenders for structures over navigable streams. Wart last opened the Red river bridge in 1910, but has never given up hope that some day a craft large enough to require raising the drawbridge will come into sight, and then he knows he will use the machinery which he has carefully nursed and greased for these many years.

Wart has been an employe of the company for about 60 years, as near as he can recall.

ON THE BEAM—Right on the beam was the Navy floating drydock as it rode through the Panama Canal en route to the Pacific. Too wide to clear the canal conventionally, officers of Naval Civil Engineers Corps resorted to simple but daring stunt of floating it through on its side. Drydock is large enough to accommodate cruisers, or several small warships at one time.

17 Military Camps Declared Surplus

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Seventeen military installations were declared surplus today by the War department.

The Army said they soon will be turned over to the surplus property board for assignment to disposal agencies.

The installations, their location, size, use and date on which they become surplus, include:

Camp Fannis, (except cantonment area), Tyler, Tex., 14,075 acres (3,072 owned), infantry replacement training center, Jan. 19.

The War department announcement said that this first large declaration of surplus installations will return to the public more than 178,000 acres of the 6,300,000 acres purchased and 6,200,000 acres leased by the War department since July 1, 1940. Of this 178,000 acres, 83 per cent is owned by the War department and the remainder is leased.

The surplus property board will refer the Army-owned property to one or more of the disposal agencies—the departments of Agriculture and Interior. The National Housing agency and the Federal Works agency. Divisional Army engineers will cancel the leases on acreage upon notification from the chief of engineers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—The Federal Communications commission today authorized Press Wireless, Inc., to reduce its rates for press message, program transmission and radiophoto services between the United States and certain European countries, effective October 1.

Red Raiders Continue Hard Work For Saturday's Game

Coach Dell Morgan was still trying out various combinations of players, seeking the most promising lineup for Saturday night's grid opener at Tech Stadium with the Southwestern universtiy Pirates from Georgetown. The kickoff is booked for 8:15 o'clock.

Morgan ran several lineups through a dummy scrimmage session Wednesday afternoon, looking over the prospects with a critical eye. There seemed to be little, if any change, in the matter.

PIRATE STAR OUT

GEORGETOWN, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Southwestern university Pirates, who play Texas Tech Saturday night, will go to Lubbock minus their regular left halfback, Swede Ruthstrom, who received a broken thumb in scrimmage.

Chuck Williams will replace Ruthstrom, who likely will be out for the remainder of the season.

Guard Ed Blodzinski and back H. K. Allen have fully recovered from preseason injuries and are expected to start against Tech.

Doug McSwain, the big tackle from the San Angelo Bobcats, was the big noise in the workout Wednesday. McSwain was shifted into the guard slot along with Red Lawhorn, and the two were working well together.

The big boy from the Concho got a late start, but has been coming along fast, and will be pushing others for a starting position soon. He likely will not start against Southwestern, but he is sure to see a lot of action.

Morgan spent most of the time Wednesday at polishing the striking power of the Red Raiders, and will order another long, rough session this afternoon before tapering off Friday for the opening game.

Hondo Flyers Battle Oklahoma Saturday

HONDO, Tex., Sept. 9(AP)—Oklahoma university will be invaded by air Saturday when the Hondo Army Air field eleven locks horns with the Sooners on their home field at Norman.

Hondo originally was scheduled to play Lubbock Army Air field at Lubbock Friday night but the contest was postponed until a November date.

The Hondo Comets expect to land in Oklahoma Friday afternoon.

Oklahoma had intended to open its schedule later, but Hondo Coach Bob Coe, erstwhile assistant coach and protege of Amos Alonzo Stagg of the College of the Pacific, and Sooner Coach Dewey Luster got together by telephone early this week and signed the battle.

SOONERS GET READY

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 19 (AP)—The University of Oklahoma football squad today held a kicking scrimmage—its last hard workout before the Saturday game with Hondo, Tex., Army Air field here.

The Big Six Conference champions worked at kickoffs and punts under the tutelage of Coach Dewey (Snorter) Luster and his assistants. A tackle, Elmer Friday, twisted a knee and will be lost to the Sooners for two or three games. He is a Navy student.

Hunt Pioneers Take Opener Over Spurs

Hunt Pioneers struck from afar in the third quarter of the touch football opener Wednesday afternoon at Dupree field, scored one quick touchdown, then clung to the lead for a 6-0 win over the Central Ward Silver Spurs.

After a scoreless first half, J. R. Bradford rifled a 15 yard pass to Bo Sexton, who ran another 65 yards for the only score. The try for extra point was blocked.

Shelby Belflower, fullback, Billy Ray Smith, quarterback, and Don Jones, end, were outstanding for the losers.

The Pioneers is one of the few clubs left in the league that is still without a coach.

The scheduled game between the Dupree Dogies and Wilson Wranglers was postponed until Friday.

Cubs Win, Card Defense Cracks

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, fully exploiting a collapse by the St. Louis defense, rammed across three 10th-inning runs for a 4-1 decision over the Cardinals before 26,888 paying fans tonight to increase their National League lead to three full games.

Hank Borowy turned in another complete game, going the route for the Cubs to hang up his ninth win of the season a well pitched masterpiece. He limited the Cardinals to seven well scattered singles.

The Cubs struck from behind; and in a frantic effort to stave off the Bruins, Manager Southworth rushed Burkhardt and Lopatka to the hill before the Cub attack could be smothered. George Dockings, who had blanked the Cubs for eight innings, was credited with the loss, his fifth of the year, compared with eight wins.

BRAVES BLANK PHILS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Boston Braves blanked the Philadelphia Phillies 4-0 tonight in a chilly game under the arc lights.

Hugh Mulcahy gave up three runs in the first inning and then fed the Braves goose eggs until the ninth when the visitors tallied their fourth marker.

Bob Feller Gets One-Hit Victory

CLEVELAND, Sept. 19 (AP)—One little Texas league single into right field was all today that kept big Bob Feller from making a second appearance among baseball's no-hitter pitchers as he hurled the Cleveland Indians to a 2-0 victory over Detroit to trim the Tigers' American League lead over the Washington Senators to one game.

Jimmy Outlaw's blooper in short right in the fifth inning was the only safe blow registered off Rapid Robert as he notched his fourth victory since being discharged from the Navy late last month. He walked four and struck out seven and the loop-leading Tigers didn't get a man on base in the last four innings.

The game, played under gray skies before 2,500 fans, was the opener of a two-game series here.

A trio of Detroit pitchers—Les Mueller, George Caster and Tommy Bridges—came within a whisker of matching Feller's brilliant hurling. They gave up only three hits but one of them was a towering homer over the right center field wall by Jeff Heath in the third which accounted for both of the Indian runs. Trotting across the plate ahead of Heath was Mickey Rocco, who had walked.

The Indians got all three of their hits off Mueller in the first three innings. After that they had only one man on base. Don Ross walked in the fourth.

Westerners Dig In For Bobcat Battle

The Lubbock Westerners dug in their cleats Wednesday afternoon for the last long, hard session before heading down to the sheep and goat country to tangle with the San Angelo Bobcats Friday night for the year's second test of the club.

The Westerners, to a man, are confident that they will redeem themselves with the fans, but know they are facing one of the toughest tests on a tough schedule that still lays ahead of them.

In Better Shape

Matters beyond the control of the club slowed them up last week at Odessa. Upset stomach conditions suffered by the entire squad just before the game left them in no condition to show their true strength.

The manner in which the Bobcats knocked over the Denison Yellowjackets last week, one of the top teams of the state, leaves little doubt about Coach Jewell Wallace's lambs coming up with another great ball club.

The Westerners hope that they have plugged one weak link in their chain this week, with the return of Sloney Wall to the guard position that he left a week earlier to move to a blocking back. Wall has looked great this week, and should make a great difference in the forward wall.

Sikes With Regular

Another promising sign Wednesday afternoon was the return of little Noel Sikes to the first string backfield, where the little fireball is giving Don "Speck" Austin a real run for the money at this slot.

Austin has refused to yield an inch in the battle for the position, however, and when the Westerners take the field Friday night, Austin likely will be at the right-half position.

The Westerners showed a lot of improvement in handling the ball off the tricky T formation Wednesday afternoon, and should have the running game well smoothed out by Friday night.

The club will work out this afternoon to put the final touch of oil to the machine, and leave early Friday morning for San Angelo.

Westerner B Plays Seminole Tonight

The Lubbock Westerner B team will leave late this afternoon for Seagraves, where they launch the football program for the weekend on the South Plains by battling the Seminole Indians at 8:30 o'clock.

It will be the season's opener for both squads, with a real battle in prospect.

The game was shifted to Seagraves Tuesday night after it was learned that Seminole could not get their lights ready for use in time for the game.

The Indians will present a seasoned, and rather heavy lineup against the Westerners, listing two sophomores, five juniors and four seniors in the starting lineup. All eleven starters are lettermen, with 15 seasoned veterans back from last year.

Lloyd Lunceford is scheduled to start at left end; Logan Cook at left tackle; Howard Medcalf at lest guard; Fred Blair at center; Charles Everett at right guard; Jack Ridens at right tackle; Donald Patton at right end, with Tommy Bowers, J. O. Chaffin, Bob Walker and Constant Hood in the backfield.

Dixie White named his probable starters Wednesday night, naming Rushing and Dick Schmidt at ends; Mitchell and Adams at tackles; McCloud and Scales at guards; Adair at center; Bill Nelson at quarter; Trennon Stroud and John Craig at halves and Rhea Bradley at fullback.

The earliest use of colored glass in spectacles authenticated by the record is a public announcement by a maker of spectacles in 1561.

Frenship To Battle New Dealers Friday

WOLFFORTH, Sept. 19. (Special)—Frenship High school of Wolfforth will blast off the lid of the 1945 football season here Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with the New Deal eleven from Monroe moving in for the first battle.

A banner crowd is expected to turn out for the game, which is expected to uncover some fancy stepping from some speedy backfield stars. Reports here indicate that New Deal is shipping three bus loads of fans to the game.

New Deal is reported to have some fast stepping ball carriers to spring on the Frenship eleven, but local railbirds have found plenty to crow about on their own team.

Four boys who have been showing exceptional speed here are Arthur Earl Penkert, a former player with the San Angelo Bobcats, Benn Kinslow, a real 10-second man, Legrand Downing and Curtis Crump.

Cowhands Scrimmage With Sudan Hornets

Coach F. M. Smith's Sudan Hornets moved into Chapman field Wednesday afternoon, and took on both Lubbock Cowhands squads in one afternoon of rugged scrimmage.

The Hornets showed a light, but fast and tricky ball club that gave the Cowhands a good test for their Friday battles of this week.

The Cowhands Gold remain at home this week, playing the Abernathy Antelopes at Chapman field at 4 o'clock. The Cowhands Black will journey to Ropesville for a game Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Golds opened the season last week at Post, where they won 21-13. Abernathy opened last week with a 13-6 win over the Lockney Longhorns, and promise to give the Golds a rough afternoon in this battle of unbeaten clubs.

The Blacks lost to Meadow last week, 27-7, while Ropes opens its season this week.

Do You Know
HOW TO SHAVE?

MANY MEN shave all their lives, yet never learn how! They simply smear a little lather or brushless cream on their face, grab a razor, and shave. Result: scratch, scrape, pull—an irritated skin—an unsatisfactory shave—and much unflattering comment about blade, razor, soap or whatever!

TO SHAVE PROPERLY, the first requirement is adequate preparation. Wash your face thoroughly with hot water and ordinary soap to remove the grit, oil and perspiration that ordinarily coats the face, and to soften the hair. Use good hot water—the time required for proper softening decreases rapidly, the hotter your water is. Then rinse the face thoroughly.

Now apply a good shaving soap (rubbing the lather in well with fingertips) or, if you prefer, a brushless cream. These preparations further emulsify the natural oil of the skin and permit the hairs to be wet more thoroughly. Allow from two to three minutes, or even longer for these simple tasks, and your shave will be quicker, easier, and more satisfactory.

AND NOW, the last requirement of a good shave—the blade you use. There are many satisfactory blades on the market, but one is quite unique and offers a great advantage over usual blades. This blade is hollow ground. Usual blades are ground like a jackknife, like this /. The hollow ground blade is) ground like a barber's razor like this (. Due to hollow grinding, this) blade is not held rigid by the razor guard. The slight "play" at the flexible edge permits the blade to follow facial contours effortlessly without "bearing down". And it's "bearing down" that irritates tender skins and wears out delicate blade edges prematurely.

So men, prepare your face properly, use plenty of time and water, get yourself some of those hollow ground blades and—learn to make shaving a pleasanter, easier task.

Truman Accepts Davis Resignation And Takes Sting From Criticism

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—President Truman tonight accepted William H. Davis' resignation as economic stabilization director in a letter which took the sting out of the President's indirect criticism of Davis yesterday.

At his news conference yesterday a reporter asked the President about a statement attributed to Davis that the administration favored an increase of 50 per cent in wages without any accompanying rise in price. The President said Davis was not speaking for the administration.

Letter Made Public

In his letter to Davis, made public by the White House late in the day, after Davis had paid a call there earlier, Mr. Truman said:

"I have seen the transcript of your recent press conference, accounts of which occasioned some misunderstanding. The transcript itself shows that the true purport of your discussion was to express the hope and confidence that the economic policies already adopted by the government would lead the country to the high level of production and distribution at which we are all aiming. About that aim there never has been any conflicts of views.

"The transcript further shows that no new government policy was enunciated, but that you expressed a personal view that this high level economy, with its accompanying improvement of the standard of living for the American people, can still be attained within five years."

Unjustly Criticized

After his call at the White House in the morning, Davis replied in the affirmative when asked by a reporter whether he had not been "condemned and convicted by some for saying something he didn't say."

Davis said further that while he had urged the taking over of the office of economic stabilization by the reconversion office, as announced by the President yesterday, he had no advance knowledge that the consolidation was coming at this time.

The President praised Davis' long service as chairman of the National Defense Mediation board and later as head of the War Labor board.

The latter board adopted a unanimous resolution expressing deep affection, and admiration for Davis' "outstanding contribution" during the critical war years.

Only One Not Home Yet

MacArthur is the only U. S. Army war theater commander who has not returned to the United States since the start of the war. It was learned that an invitation from President Truman probably would be necessary to bring him home so that he might receive public acknowledgement for the part he played in winning the war in the Pacific.

The Japanese Black Dragon society may have been disbanded after Nippon's surrender, but 71-year-old Yoshisa Luzuu, its chief secretary, still sits in the organization's Tokyo headquarters and receives its members as individuals, Associated Press correspondent Al Dopking reported.

Not In Politics Now

Luzuu told Dopking that the society, which has a long record of sinister and powerful influence in Japanese politics, now "had nothing to do with political things." He evaded questions about the names of prominent members of the organization.

American officials are trying to convince the Japanese people they should welcome the nation's fighting men who became prisoners of war, and not look upon them as disgraced for surrendering.

In China, warships of Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid's Seventh fleet steamed up the Whangpoo river and became the first U. S. Navy ships to come to Shanghai in force in eight years.

China Wants Troops

The Chinese government has invited the United States to send troops to four of China's leading cities to help disarm the Japanese, said P. H. Chang, a government spokesman at Chungking.

Maj. Gen. A. V. Arnold, American military governor of southern Korea, told newsmen of steps taken to abolish Japanese laws and restore Korean sovereignty in that country, which the ipponese seized 40 years ago.

Korean judges are presiding in lower courts, Arnold said. Japanese police are being discharged and 400 Koreans already have been inducted into the nation's police force; primary schools will be reopened soon, and rice prices have dropped drastically under attack on the black market.

B-29 Flight

Giles' ship, was keenly disappointed in failure of the flight to go through as scheduled.

"If it hadn't been for those damned headwinds we'd have made it," Schaeffer said. "We had planned things so we would arrive with a large gas reserve. But we used it nearly all up when the predicted tail winds failed to turn out and headwinds developed instead."

The other two ships were commanded by Maj. Gen Curtis E. Le May and Brig. Gen, Emmett O'Donnell.

The returning flyers were met by Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air forces, Gen. Carl H. (Tooey) Spaatz, chief of strategic bombing forces in the Pacific, Maj. Gen. Lauris Norstad, chief of staff of the 20th Airforce, and others.

For nearly all of the trip Maj. Schaeffer was at the controls of Giles' plane, except when he took time for cat naps and food. He was met here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Schaeffer.

"We had hot C-rations, too," Schaeffer said. "Sure, we put them on the radar set and warmed them up."

The planes, flying together after their enforced halt, were in the air the second time at 7:37 p. m., at Chicago. They landed there at the municipal airport one by one less than two hours previously.

Their flight fell short by 300 miles of a Russian non-stop jump from Moscow to California in 1937 and more than 1,100 miles short of the world record set by two British planes from Egypt to Australia in 1938.

Jobless Pay Plan to points one and two.

The Senate's mood was apparent when the administration lost its first test.

It came on a 56 to 23 vote which wrote into the measure an amendment by Senator Lucas(D-Ill) returnin gthe unemployment service to the stats. The service was taken over by the federal government after Pearl Harbor.

As the Senate handed the administration this setback on its program, the CIO began a Capitol Hill "button-hole" campaign in behalf of Mr. Truman's jobless pay recommendation.

Some 600 union members from New York arrived to urge their senators and House members to vote for it, for the' 'full employment" bill, and for a 65-cent min-i mum wage.

They marched to the capitol under banners calling for "jobs for GI Joe" and "jobs for black and white alike."

Pay Raises Sought

During the day Rep. Mary Norton (D-NJ), chairman of the House Labor committee, introduced a bill raising from 440 to 65 cents the minimum wage for workers covered by the wage-hour law.

Voting for the amendment to return the employment service to the states was Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex). Senators Chavez (D-NM) and Hatch (D-NM) voted against it. Senator Connally (D-Tex) did not vote.

Included in the roll call by which the Senate refused to increase maximum jobless payments to $25 a week were the following votes: for: Senators Chaves (D-NM) and Hatch (D-NM).

Against: Senators Connally (D-Tex) and O' Daniel (D-Tex).

Methodists Set Crusade Rallies

Two district - wide meetings, stressing the Crusade for Christ program of the Methodist church will be held here today and tonight, it was announced last night by Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, district superintendent.

The afternoon session, to be held at the First Methodist church starting at 2 o'clock, will be what Mr. Lipscomb described as a fall checkup session and introduction of the second phase of the Crusade program, a churchwide evangelism project. Attending will be pastors from the Lubbock district, Sunday School superintendents, presidents of women's societies, and others pastors find interested in the program.

Start of Second Phase

September 1 has been set apart throughout the church as a whole for start of the second phase of the Crusade, designed to increase enrollment and attendance at Sunday Schools, and sustained evangelism. Slogan of the Crusade is "Evangelize or Die."

Mr. Lipscomb will preside. Speakers include Rev. Frank M. Beauchamp of Abernathy, who will talk on general phases of evangelism; Rev. W. E. Hamilton of Lubbock, executive secretary of the district board of education, who will discuss the church school's part in the campaign; and Mrs. H. C. Pearson of Lorenzo in a discussion of the woman's part in the Crusade.

Evening Program

The evening program, a banquet to start at 6:30 at Asbury church, has been called an adult Crusade rally, featuring the theme "The Adult in the Crusade for Christ."

Arch R. Harper of Lubbock, president of the district group, will preside. Invocation will be given by Dr. H. I. Robison, pastor of First church. Speakers include Rev. Alsie H. Carlton, St. Johns pastor, on "Organizing Adult Classes as Working Units;" and Rev. H. H. Bratcher of Ralls on "Future Plans." Special emphasis at the rally will be on work by young adults.

Occupation Scrap

for a 40-hour work week.

Officials of Local 227 of the Oil Workers International union disclosed that members of the local, representing employes of seven Houston oil plants, were voting overwhelmingly to strike. They said an early count showed 1,117 votes for a walkout and only five against.

Plants involved included the Sinclair Refining company, Sinclair Rubber, Inc., Sinclair Bulk plant, Sinclair Pipe Line company, Crown Central Petroleum corporation and General American Terminal.

Demands By Workers

Hiram A. King, vice president of Sincalir-Prairie Oil company, said union demands on his firm include: 52 hours pay for a 40-hour work week; a five per cent per hour premium for working the 3 p. m. to 11 p. m. shift and a 10 per cent per hour premium for working the 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. shift, a retirement plan to be approved by the union and a complete closed shop.

King said a strike at Sinclair's plant would be a violation of the union's contract with the company.

He indicated the Sinclair companies would consider the union's wage demands but that long-standing Sinclair policies were against the closed shop.

J. D. Ford, president of the two Port Arthur OWIU locals, said union members employed at the Texas company asphalt roofing refinery at Port Neches voted today to strike effective at 4 p. m. Thursday. 1,200 persons are employed at the plant.

Others Quit Thursday

He said the Goodrich and Firestone synthetic rubber plants and the Neches Butane Products company plant, located eight miles from Port Arthur, also will be struck at 4 p. m. Thursday. Employes in the three plants total 2,200.

The additional closing will stop operations in all refineries in Jefferson county except at the Atlantic Oil company, which has scheduled a strike vote tomorrow, and at Magnolia Petroleum company, where no vote has been taken.

The union has agreed to keep a skeleton force in closed plants for safety purposes, Ford said.

GRID PLAYER DIES

ABILENE, Sept. 19. (AP)—Charles Robert Graham, 16, member of the Winters, Tex., High school football squad, died in an Abilene hospital today from a tetanus infection that developed as a result of a leg abrasion.

STOCKS ADVANCE BROADLY

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—Stocks advanced on a broad scale in today's market with gains of 1 to 3 points as posted for steels, motors, rubbers and other selected issues in the light of an improved labor picture.

Hints that labor unions in the automobile industry might be willing to compromise wage demands temporarily provided the principal stimulus for buyers.

Government dropping of construction controls continued a factor among building shares and gains were recorded by U. S. Gypsum, Owens-Illinois Glass and Johns-Manville—at a new 1945 high on a 5-point rise.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .3 of a point to 69.9—highest since April 27, 1937. The industrial average was up 1.1 to 93.8—peak since Aug. 26, 1937, and the utilities group rose .4 of a point to 48.0—best since March 20, 1937.

Volume totaled 1,600,000 shares, the biggest since Aug. 10, and compared with 1,160,000 yesterday.

Major gains were registered by Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Caterpillar Tractor, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Kennecott, American Can, Du Pont, and Southern Pacific.

Rails led a rise in bonds.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — Cotton futures registered moderate gains today on mill and New Orleans buying, which met only limited hedge selling. The upward movement was predicated on an unfavorable weekly weather reported indicating further deterioration of the cotton crop in parts of the eastern belt. Some buying was influenced by the census bureau report placing August cotton consumption at 739,811 bales or approximately 14,000 bales higher than trade forecasts.

Futures closed 15 cents a bale higher to 15 lower.

Agency Is Named On Hospital Needs

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. — The state board of health today was named as the official state agency to survey existing hospital facilities in Texas and determine the need for additional hospitals, public health centers and laboratories.

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson who appointed the health board as state's agent for this purpose also appointed an advisory council of hospital officials to assist the board.

The appointments were made in line with federal legislation authorizing the survey as a guide to federal appropriation for additional facilities where needed.

Members of the health board include Dr. A. W. Rogers of Corsicana, and J. P. Burden of San Angelo.

Members of the advisory council include E. M. Collies, Hendrick Memorial hospital, Abilene, and Sister Mary Evangeline, Hotel Dieu hospital, Beaumont.

The council, since it has no statutory authority, can act only in an advisory capacity.

Witnesses Describe New Belsen Horrors

LUENEBERG, Germany, Sept. 19 (AP)—In the clipped, restrained testimony of Brtiish officers, five military judges trying Josef Kramer and 44 co-defendants for mass murder today heard descriptions of new horrors of the Belsen concentration camp Kramer commanded.

Kramer and all but one of the guards who served under him lost their impassivity as the story, its sensational nature contrasting sharply with the quiet manner of its presentatoin, went into the record.

Only Irma Grese, 21-year-old blonde who was Kramer's chief woman guard, managed to maintain her defiant, contemptuous look that marred her undeniable good looks.

The prosecution told the story today of:

1. A water supply system at Belsen consisting of five concrete vats full of filth — in one of which, testimony indicated, a human body was found when British forces liberated it in April.

2. Complete neglect of the health of the thousands of prisoners held there, though tons of medical supplies were available nearby.

3. "Perfect indifference" of Kramer and his staff to the welfare of internees.

Sack Bursts, Money Is Strewn By Train

BRIDGEPORT, Ill., Sept. 19. (AP)—Postal and railroad workers were on a treasure hunt over a 40-mile course today after a mail bag containing $16,000 broke open as it was tossed from a moving train.

Postmaster Fred Stoltz reported all but an estimated $2,000—in ones, fives, tens and twenties—had been recovered, some from the undergear of the train as far east as Washington, Ind.

The money was being transferred from St. Louis to the First National Bank of Bridgeport.

Rice Confirmed For Federal Judgeship

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—The Senate confirmed today the nomination of Judge Ben Rice of Waco as federal district judge for West Texas.

A member of the state court of civil appeals, Judge Rice was ensorsed for the post by Senator Connally (D-Tex). He succeeds the late Judge Walter Keeling of Austin.

Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex) had recommended Texas Governor Coke Stevenson for the judgeship. He raised no objections, however, to Rice's nomination.

Eric Johnston Named Will Hays Successor

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP) — Eric A. Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, today was elected president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., succeeding Will Hays who resigned after nearly 24 years of service.

In accepting the post, Johnston said:

"I have been attracted to the motion picture industry because it offers unlimited opportunities to work for peace and prosperity at home and abroad."

Sgt. Samuel Ramey Is Freed From Japs

RAMEY

Sgt. Samuel N. Ramey, graduate of Roosevelt High school and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ramey of Cottonwood, Tex., near Abilene, has been liberated from a Japanese prison camp, according to information received by his sisters, Mrs. Ralph Tunnel of 1909 Eighteenth and Mrs. C H. Norris of Lorenzo route 1.

Sgt. Ramey was found in Tokyo camp No. 1 on Sept. 8. He was captured by the Japs on Corregidor May 7, 1942.

The last letter from Sgt. Ramey was dated April 29, 1942, although three cards were received from him during his internment.

Sgt. Ramey was graduated at Roosevelt in 1939 and entered the Army in the following September.

His relatives were informed that he would be returned to the states soon.

Pearl Harbor Politics

Tomcats Will Count The Chicks!

ANYONE who expects the Joint Congressional Committee to investigate the Pearl Harbor disaster to bring out a clean-cut, factual and complete report is, indeed, an optimist. Unless we miss our guess the whole investigation will be so immersed in politics that the American public will be more bumfuzzled than ever when the committee makes its final report.

From the time it became apparent that public opinion would demand a Congressional investigation of Pearl Harbor, the subject has been subjected to intense political pressure from both sides of the aisle. Charges have flown back and forth between the opposing sides until it is readily apparent that most Washington officials are more interested in the possible effect of the investigation on the 1946-49 balloting than they are in uncovering, and telling the people, just what happened that our Pacific naval strength was set up for the Japs like so many clay pigeons on a glassy lake.

It is a shame—a crying shame—that the American people are not given a fair chance of learning whose bungling is responsible for the death of several thousand of our fighting men at Pearl Harbor, and for the errors in judgment which could very easily have resulted in our loss of Hawaii to the Japs and in our own mainland's later being invaded. Sending a collection of professional politicians, whose "loyalty to party" transcends all things, to find the truth about Pearl Harbor is like sending a pair of tomcats out to the chicken house to count a newly-hatched flock of chicks.

The Pearl Harbor investigation should be made by a non-partisan, non-political committee of our very best citizens—men in whom the nation has unquestioned confidence; for whom the nation has the greatest respect and who, above all, have nothing personally to cover up, to gain, or to lose over the investigation's findings.

Instead, the probe is in the hands of men who live, breathe, sleep and eat from politics —and from the most partisan of politics, at that.

For our part, we expect nothing conclusive from the investigation.

The World Cotton Problem

BY renouncing economic as well as political isolation, the United States may take an important step forward in solving the plight of old King Cotton.

A conference, called to deal with the "burdensome world surplus of cotton," was held in Washington shortly after the European outbreak of World War II, in September, 1939. It set up an International Cotton Advisory committee, which marked time during most of the war period but reported last April that the time for action was again approaching.

Another world cotton conference—this one to be held in London—is expected before the end of 1945. The United States delegation to such a conference would probably be headed by L. A. Wheeler, who is chairman of the present International cotton Advisory committee.

Wheeler has recommended an agreement between cotton-exporting and cotton-importing nations similar to the wheat agreement between Great Britain, the United States, and the British dominions.

An international agreement on cotton would be designed to limit expansion of production, to assign fair shares of the world market to each cotton-producing country, and to stabilize world prices at levels that would at least cover costs of production.

The question of limiting production, however, will not meet with approval in the South. It is true that the economy of certain sections of the South has been tied too closely to cotton and, that after four years of relative prosperity, the cotton-growing industry of the South faces problems of conversion more difficult than those confronting any other division of American economy.

Despite a world-wide need for cotton goods, American producers of raw cotton find their markets threatened both at home and abroad. The world still has "too much cotton" in terms of what can be sold profitably.

Price-supporting controls in the United States have held the price of American cotton so far above the world price that none can be exported without government subsidies. In fact, American cotton has lost ground steadily in world markets since the close of World War I. In 1920, the United States produced about two-thirds of all the world's cotton; in 1940, it produced hardly more than one-third.

The United States cotton exports, 66 per cent of all the world's exports in 1920, shrank to a little more than 40 per cent of the exports in 1940. Meanwhile rayon and other synthetic fibers have become strong competitors.

Attempting to solve the problem by governmental control, the Department of Agriculture has proposed a comprehensive plan known as "The Wickard plan," which calls for reduction, by successive steps, of government support of cotton prices, accompanied by an intensive program of agricultural conversion.

Efficient growers would be encouraged to increase their production efficiency, while inefficient growers would be advised to switch to more profitable crops.

THE POWER OF X-999

VI

THE STORY: Spud Delaney, driver of the truck carrying Hale's precious cargo, stops for a beer. Then, curious to know more about his unusual load, he opens the box as a saloonkeeper watches. A bit of hot cigar ash falls. Carolyn, at home, suddenly hears a terrifying roar. Fearful that X-999 is the cause of the blast, she hurries to the scene.

• • •

"Gee!" murmured the drier, appalled. She slowed down because he had to, now. In a moment the traffic stopped him entirely. "Come on, Miss! On foot, eh?" He was excited.

Efficiently he escorted her up a railroad embankment. He sked questions of everybody. He climbed part way up a power pole ladder the better to see, then boosted Carolyn up.

"Oh-o-h!"

The devastation was overwhelming. From her point six feet up the power pole Carolyn could see limitless wreckage. Twisted girders. Piles of brick and stone. Flames. Smoke. Every kind of debris.

It was as if the whole area had been run through a grinder, so small were the pieces. She wasn't familiar with this section of town and so couldn't tell what structures had actually gone down, but the whole lurid landscape here was a scene from a warfont hell.

She looked around to side and rear. She couldn't even pick out their taxi now in the sea of cars that had crowded up behind. Honknigs and shoutings, police whistles, wailing, sirens, all added to the general hysteria.

• • •

Carolyn learned that Bob Hale was safe when she telephoned her mother at 5 a. m.

"He called here twice and came out just a little bit' ago!" Mrs. Tyler said, after Carolyn's initial explanations. "Carolyn, you have not had any rest and—"

But personal rest and comfort were farthest from Carolyn's mind. After her mother hung up, she went outside again and a newsboy crying third extras assailed her. She bought one.

"With only four lives known to have been lost," the paper read, after the opening summary, "citizens can be thankful for a miracle, the Chief of Police said. He warned that other bodies may yet be found although the wreckage has been fairly well combed. The four dead were all plant watchmen. In daytime the explosion would inevitably have taken hundreds of lives.

"Two other men were reported missing and may be dead. One is W. H. Delaney, a truck driver for the Metropolitan Transfer Company, and the other is a liquor store owner, M. C. Cragin.

"Cragin's establishment was near the apparent center of the explosion and was so completely destroyed that no trace of it has been found, only a great crater showing on that spot now (see second photo, page 1). Delaney's truck also is missing and so he may yet turn up safely, his company admitted, but he is so long overdue as to cause grave concern . . ."

Carolyn read and re-read. Then she found herself walking up a street. She had long since lost her friendly taxi driver, hadn't even thought of paying him. Presently she was on the edge of the big crowd of people and ars and found another taxi that could turn around and take her away.

She had herself driven directly to the Schoenfeld Laboratory. By the time she arrived its main plant and its office building were bathed in dawn's sunshine, and the sheer beauty of that was a sort of spiritual lift. Moreover, she instantly saw Robert Hale When she jumped from her cab, ordering it to wait, Dr. Hale ran to her.

He ouldn't talk for a moment. He just jabbed a finger at her awkwardly and swallowed.

"It's all right! All right!" Carolyn murmured intently.

He didn't look like a boss now. In truth, he was simply a young man half crazed with anxiety.

"You were at the farmhouse when it happened," she said for him.

"Yes. I—It didn't come! The X-999. The—I heard the explosion. That's what I cannot understand, Carolyn. Why? Why did it explode?"

"We'll never know that, Bob."

"And it's only part of what we have, Carolyn. My thought was to divide it in separate localities to guard against the possibility of tampering, but the first bit moved has caused this. It's appalling!"

"Bob, you must not blame yourself. It's an unknown quantity. You took every precaution possible—"

Carolyn spoke so vehemently that he was impressed and he squeezed her hand in gratitude. Leana Sormi had seen them; she came out of the office building walking fast. Her face was even more pale than normal, and strained:

"Robert, you must come home with me," she ordered, peremptorily, ignoring Carolyn. "We must be rational. Say nothing to any one. Nothing! You haven't slept for two days and nights. You will collapse!"

That much was true, surely. Carolyn saw Miss Sormi take Bob's arm and literally force him toward her own taxi. When the driver began to explain that he was waiting on order, Carolyn hastened to pay and release him.

But she stood watching, vaguely alarmed in an entirely new way, as the cab drove off with her employer and his efficient woman companion.

Hal P. Smith, Jr., Is Poliomyelitis Victim

Another Lubbock case of poliomyelitis, Hal P. Smith jr., three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hal P. Smith, sr., of 406 Ave. E, has been reported to Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer.

The child, who is suffering paralysis of the right leg, was admitted to West Texas hospital Monday for treatment. His case was not definitely diagnosed as polio until Tuesday, the attending physician said.

The child's father is a city policeman.

Two Liberated Boys Back In States; Cpl. G. L. Dickinson Freed

Cpl. Jack Cellum and Pfc. Preston E. Stone, Lubbock men liberated from a Japanese prison in Thailand, have arrived back in the United States and will report to hospitals near home before a furlough, while Cpl. Gordon L. Dickinson, of Petersburg and Lubbock, has been reported liberated from a prison camp and is due to return to the states in the near future.

A telephone call from Cpl. Cellum to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Cellum, 2127 Fifteenth, told them that, "I never felt better in my life," and that the other men still in Asia, would be home as soon as they were free of malaria. Cpl. Cellum and Pfc. Stone were flown from Calcutta to New York.

To Go To McCloskey

Cpl. Cellum said that his request to be sent to McCloskey General hospital nad been granted and that he would be sent there for his final checkup He asked to be sent to McCloskey because his sister, Mrs. M O. Stevenson is residing in Temple while her husband, Capt. Stevenson, is stationed there.

Mr. and Mrs. Cellum will meet their son in Temple when he arrives.

Cpl. Dickinson enlisted in the Army Medical corps in September of 1940 and was stationed first at March field, Calif., then at Albuquerque, N. M., before going to the Philippines. He was taken prisoner in the fall of Corregidor.

News of his release came through Cpl. Dickinson's sister, Mrs. W. D. Waugh of Hobbs, N. M.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

ONE OF the things that puzzles and worries me these days is the condescending attitude with which so many people talk about the returning servicemen.

It's always "What are we going to do with them?" of "What are we going to do for them?"

I read and hear about it in the newspapers and on the radio. In almost every lunch-table conversation or whenever you meet some Washington big-wig, it's the same thing—what kind of world are we going to make for the boys and girls who did the fighting and the nursing and the sweating and the suffering for us?

Is it conceit? Is it ignorance? Or is it just that motherly concern a hen feels for her chicks?

You see the old hen cluck and make a big fuss—and the chicks don't pay the slightest attention to her the moment they are able to pick their own worms and explore the barnyard on their own.

BRANDEIS

I am what you would call, optimistically, middle-aged. But whenever I assume an attitude of wisdom and experience around youngsters, I notice that they always look at me as if I were an old fogy, to be tolerated rather than followed.

A number of years ago my mother was visiting London while I was living in New York.

One day I received a letter from her in which she told me that it was raining in London and very damp and foggy.

"Be sure you wear your rubbers when you go out," she wrote, "and always take your raincoat along. I don't want you to catch a cold.

She was more than three thousand miles away, and the weather in New York was wonderful.

"Poor old Mom," I thought, "I guess to her I'll always be a baby.

• • •

I THINK we should see to it that every returning serviceman can get a job if he wants to work.

But after that, let us leave him alone.

Let us remember that we, the older generation, have forgotten muh and don't want to learn much of anything new. And the younger people, who haven't very much to forget, are going to find out on their own what life and the world are all about.

Don't you remember how you resented it when your mother and father tried to preach to you and run your life for you?

Don't you remember how often you said to yourself "I wish they'd leave me alone. I'm not a child any longer?"

Never mind what kind of world we are going to make for the kids who are men and women now—even if they are only nineteen or twenty, years old.

They'll make the world for us and we'll live in it whether we like it or not.

And I have an idea that we are going to like it.

The National Whirligig

GOP Will Attack Wild Spending

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

FOR almost ten years now a tall, bald and humorless Republican from Woolrich, Pennsylvania, by the name of Robert F. Rich, has opened House sessions almost as regularly as Chaplain James Shera Montgomery, D. D. Before the echoes of the padre's prayer for the Congress—and for the nation—have died away, "Bob" obtains recognition for his daily $64-dollar question.

Reading from a small slip of paper, he recounts some new program which calls for the expenditure of vast funds and groans publicly on behalf of the American taxpayer. He always winds up his bitter complaint against spending with the query: "Where are 'they' going to get the money?"

TUCKER

Naturally, the Rich act has become an utter bore to his colleagues. When he arises and asks to be recognized, even GOP Leader "Joe" Martin sinks back into his seat with a weary look on his normally poker face. Democrats used to reply scornfully to these daily charges of extravagance, but they long since saw that the Pennsylvanian's performance was making a job of the issue. Now they catcall.

But lately, in view of the size of the public debt, prospective cancellation of the lend-lease obligations and possible loans of billions to foreign nations, it looks as if the political opposition would base their 1946 and 1948 campaigns for controls of the legislative and executive branches of government on the Keystater's tattered and shopworn battlecry:

"Where are 'they' going to get the money?"

• • •

LOANS: Rep. Harold Knutson of Minnesota did not profess to speak as the formal representative of the GOP opposition on Capitol Hill when he protested against American loans designed to bolster a British regime dedicated to nationalization of banking, industry, shipping and mining. The Republicans have not yet held a caucus on their attitude to this domestic and international problem.

But the Minnesotan is the ranking minority member on the House Ways and Means committee, which must levy the taxes that will underwrite the proposed advances to our Allies. He had discussed his speech with prominent colleagues, and they entered no objections, and they entered no objections. It must be accepted as a fact that he reflected the viewpoint of a majority of the minority, although a few internationally minded associates disagree with him violently.

• • •

"SILLY": Incidentally, the fierce attack by the small-town publisher from three Minnesota towns —St. Cloud, Wadena and Manhattan Beach—caused more commotion that any speech delivered in the House since early in the war. It brought foreign diplomats to the gallery. Domestic and foreign newspapermen, who attend sessions so rarely that they need a guide to show them around the capital, were present.

His remarks were sped to every foreign capital which, as soon as the Halifax-Keynes mission has departed, will send their financial experts to Washington to dicker with the White House, the Treasury and the State department.

President Truman tried to quiet their fears with the commen that Mr. Knutson's outbreak was a "perfectly silly conclusion," referring to the suggestion that the U. S. should not finance foreign governments because their radical tenets might harbor a threat to the American system of free enterprise.

• • •

ISSUE: Other evidence suggests that the Republicans will yet make a great and formal to-do about the lavishness with which hard-earned American money will have been tossed around the country and the world between 1933 and the day when the pople go to the ballot-box to pass judgment on the Roosevelt and Truman administration.

Regardless of the use to which future loans to Britain, Russia, France and China are put—whether for a socialistic or capitalistic society—the GOP canvasses of public sentiment convince them that heavy spending and high taxes will be their best bet in future attempts to drive the Democrate out of office.

• • •

STAGGERING: In fact, House Boss Martin has assigned national committee financial experts to the task of figuring up the total indebtedness which Messrs. Roosevelt and Truman will have incurred for the present and future generations. Their estimate totals a sum that staggers the imagination.

The amount comes to almost $400,000,000,000 as of today, without taking into consideration the heavy budgets of the next few years. It consists of the following items: National public debt occasioned by New Deal spending and war costs at the end of the 1946 fiscal year—$300,000,000,000. Cancellation of past lend-lease obligations—$43,000,000,000.

Prospective loans to Europe and China at no or extremely low interest, with the possibility that they may never be repaid—$25,00,000,000. The cost of the public power, federal-state building, farm aid and other subsidy schemes set forth in President Truman's recent messages and others still on the White House griddle—$35,000,000,000.

• • •

IMPOSSIBLE? In the shadow of these already incurred and prospective outlays, the hope of tax reductions seems to disappear. But it does not appear fiscally possible to collect sufficient cash to support this financial burden. Therefore, the Knutsons and Martins and Brownells think that the political battle of the country will revolve around Bob Rich's query: "Where are 'they' going to get the money?"

• • •

BRITISH: Ambassador Halifax and John Maynard Keynes, London's special financial emissary, held a press conference on the subject of Anglo-American money relations at the British embassy last Wednesday. And their aides made no bones about their belief that the Washington Post, which is owned by former Federal Reserve Chairman Eugene Meyer, had done them dirt.

On the morning of the Halifax-Keynes meeting with the press, the Post carried a story setting forth Britain's dire financial position and depicting the ambassador and the famous economist as a couple of panhandlers seeking Uncle Sam's aid. In the next column the Post carried a story and photograph which recalled the days when Americans were colonial beggars and refugees.

The adjoining article told how White House decorators, in scraping the exterior of Mr. Truman's home more thoroughly than a century of predecessor painters had done, uncovered a charred section which had never been discovered before.

The scorched woodwork, as the Post explained, was caused by the ancestors of Ambassador Halifax and Special Minister Keynes when they set our White House in flames in 1814, and Thomas Jefferson had to hide out in near-by Georgetown.

• • •

TRUMAN: President Truman's recent batch of important appointments casts another sidelight on his practical political methods of keeping on good terms with all factions of the Democratic party, and, indeed, with the various divergent groups of the American people. Although his recent message to Congress has led observers to classify him as a "good New Dealer," his selection of personnel shows him to be a middle-of-the-roader.

For the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, which ranks only second to the Supreme court in some instances, he chose two altogether different kinds of men. For one post he named his old friend from Missouri, former Sen. Bennett C. Clark, and for another vacancy he named E. Barrett Prettyman of near-by Maryland.

Taxation in this country has reached the point where the effect is the same as if Uncle Sam were a substantial stockholder in every business, large or small — and a holder of preferred stock, at that.

A California seer says the world will come to an end this year. If so, it will be the worst thing that ever happened to the world. (Or, will it?)

Washington Is Crowded With Lobbyists

Pressure Groups Open Campaigns

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The 1946-48 political season of Congressional and Presidential elections, which opened ahead of time with President Truman's comprehensive message to Congress, will develop against a background of pressure groups never before so well organized or so active.

They are securely entrenched in permanent headquarters here—businss, industry, labor, farmers, veterans, to mention only a few. The bigger ones have their outlets and offices all over the country. The pressure groups —or lobbies as they ordinarily called — range from a man with a cubbyhole, a typewriter and a secretary to a whole building full of staff and experts.

STOKES

There is, for example, the big marble building across LaFayette park from the White House where the U. S. Chamber of Commerce has its national headquarters. An dthere is, only a few blocks away, the big building that once housed the University club where the United Mine Workers is quartered anl John L. Lewis sits in lonely majesty behind a big desk at the end of a huge room.

• • •

Since the war many established pressure groups have enlarged their staffs, and many new ones have been organized and opened offices here. Some of the latter supposedly were temporary. But they will probably find some reason to stay, just as do defeated congressmen who hover about the city afterward.

The lobbyists vie for space in downtown buildings with government agencies which, during the war and even before, began to overflow the regular government build-ings and spill all over town.

Government is big business. That's what all this means. But so are the pressure groups getting to be big business.

They all have a right to be here. They have their purposes in our sort of democracy. But sometimes you wonder where the ordinary citizen who belongs to no particular economic group, comes in—or out, however you choose to loog at it.

Maybe there are not so many of him any more.

• • •

THE lobbying groups direct their attention to Congress. The average member of Congress becomes a little man in the middle, looking anxiously every way at once, wondering which of his tormentors can grab the biggest block of voters away from him. His is not a happy lot.

The average citizen, as a voter, is somewhat in the same category, except that he's got to watch the lobbyist and the congressman at the same time. It behooves the voter, in scanning the play of politics from now on, to cast a glance frequently at the pressure groups, his own if he has one, as well as others.

For it's a habit of the agents of these groups to strain themselves, to overstress and overstate their cases, to make a showing to justify their keep here. Often they misrepresent or betray the real interests of thos they are supposed to represent. as anyone knows who has watched what goes on here any length of time.

• • •

1918 All Over Again

That was true during the war.

The coming of peace, the return to more normal times, is bringing increased activity from these groups. Each is trying to get something more for itself, or their spokesmen are, now that the war is over and there is a relaxation of restraints.

That happened after the last war. As a matter of fact the pressure groups began to become big business after the last war. Attention was centered here during the war. People got the Washington habit. After the war the pressure groups began to move in, some for good reasons, some to create "needs."

• • •

MANY were here already. But the number increased. It was then that the farm organizations began to open up shop here. The creation of a farm lobby was such a novelty then that the head of one group, Charles S. Barrett, representing the then National Farmers Union, wrote a book to explain and defend it—"Uncle Reuben Comes To Washington." Everyboly else was setting up here. Why not the farmers? This he asked wtih some logic.

They are all here now, and their conflicting claims create a problem that will become more complex as we go ahead.

MacArthur's Wife Joins Him In Tokyo

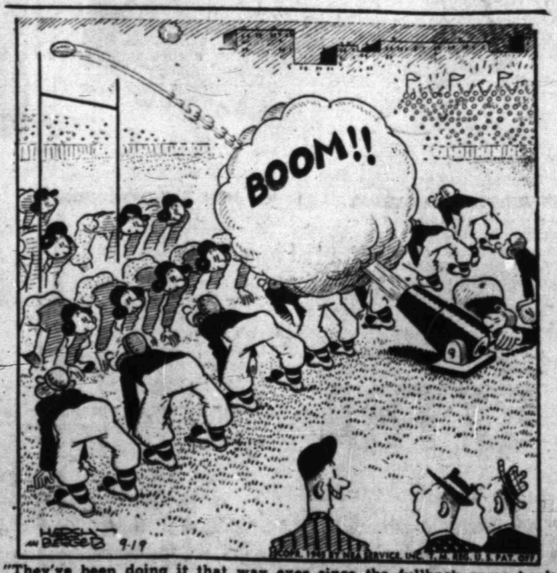

TOKYO, Sept. 19. (UP) — Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, wife of the supreme Allied occupation commander, arrived in Tokyo today. She will join her husband at his residence in the American embassy.

Mrs. MacArthur and their son accompanied the general on his trip from Bataan to Australia in the dark days of 1942 and rejoined him in Manila following the liberation of the Philippines capital last year.

BOARD MEMBER NAMED

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP) — Gene Powers of San Antonio today was appointed to the state postwar economic planning commission by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson in succession to William Moran of El Paso, deceased.

Yanks Set Out To Break Silly Jap Concept On Surrender Fatalism

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 19 — A first and great step has been taken in the re-education of Japan.

The American Army of Occupation is setting out to convince the Japanese people that they should welcome back their men who were captured by Allied forces during the war.

The barrier that has to be broken down is one of the silliest of the ideas which underly the Japanese conception of honor, bravery and what makes a man.

WHITE

That is the idea that it is a mortal disgrace to be captured.

This idea stems from the belief that a Japanese soldier represents a divine cause and therefore cannot lose. That of course doesn't jibe with the facts of life.

This false rationalization is almost certainly partly responsible for many Japanese atrocities in handling the prisoners they take themselves, because the Japanese soldier, taught to believe he is disgraced and "dead" if he surrenders, assumes his enemy operates on the same principle.

American officers who made test interviews with Japanese parents who had thought their sons dead found that these Japanese families seemed to be overjoyed to hear that the boys were alive and would come back. This may be an indication of how quickly the Japanese people can forget artificial military thinking.

But in any case it is a most useful entering wedge to get across the important idea that the Japanese nation was defeated and did not stop fighting purely because of the graciousness of H. I. J. M., Hirohito.

An important element in the American argument is that these Japanese prisoners are the same as all Japanese, every one of which technically surrendered. Returning prisoners can be valuable assets in spreading the word around that the war was lost, not given away.

Quarter Horse Show, Cutting Horse Tests Are Staged At Olton

OLTON, Sept. 19. (Special)—Olton staged a quarter horse show, cutting horse contest and kid pony show last Saturday which attracted an attendance of 4,000 persons.

The show opened at one o'clock with the kid pony parade, with 115 ponies doing their best to attract the judges eyes. Those winning the first five places were: first, R. B. Crisp; second, Martha Ruth Hobgood; third, Lenda Franks; fourth, Estes Milton Bartlett; fifth, Billy Womack. Cash prizes in addition to the Rosettes and Ribbons were awarded to these five lucky youngsters. Judges for the kid pony show were: V. L. Williamson, Edd Ross and Os Bass.

The quarter horse show was judged by Dr. Fred G. Harbough, Texas Tech; Dr. J. J. Slankard, Elk City, Okla., and Cy Courtney, Matador, before a crowd estimated at 4,000 people.

Flomont Horse Wins

The grand champion stallion banner was hung around the neck of "Quinn Klutch" who a few minutes before had been awarded the blue ribbon in the age stallion class. Quinn Klutch is owned by C. C. Jones, Flomont. Chubby Bud, owned by Willard Thomas of Fort Sumner, N. M., was awarded reserve champion stallion honor. Chubby Bud was wearing the blue ribbon for first place in the two-year-old stud class.

The grand champion mare was "Sunshine Girl" owned by John Norfleet, Olton, who was also the blue ribbon winner in the age mare class. Reserve champion mare award went to Cricket, owned by M. L. McGehee, Wayside, who a few minutes before had stood at the head of the class of two-year-old fillies.
