1996 Rabies aerial drop to include Mitchell County

Mitchell County will be one of 55 counties in the state involved in next year's rabies vaccine aerial drops.

The air drops, called "the gray fox project" will begin sometime after Jan. 15 and will take about three weeks to complete. During that time, 1.5 million baits will be dropped in a zone that is 25 miles wide or 18,000 square miles in an effort to stop the northward movement of rabies.

The entire state is under a rabies quarantine with South Texas dealing with an epidemic of coyote rabies while the West Texas/San Angelo area is dealing with the gray fox strain of the disease.

State health department officials said that air-drops of vaccine baits have been so successful in stopping the spread of rabies in South Texas that drops are planned in West Texas to vaccinate the gray fox.

The health department wants to stop the movement of the disease in the 55 counties which support the largest population of gray foxes, according to Guy Moore, state department of health project director for the oral rabies vaccination of gray foxes.

Area counties that are also in the proposed bait distribution area include: Brown, Callahan, Coleman, Comanche, Eastland, Fisher, Howard, Jones, Mills, Nolan, Scurry, Shackelford, and Taylor.

Earlier this year, 850,000 vaccination baits were dropped in 17 South Texas counties to curb rabies in coyotes. A preliminary report shows the project is working since no significant northward movement has been spotted since the February drop.

In the gray fox project, airplanes will fly 500 feet above the ground while baits are dropped about every 70 feet using a computerized system.

The fox will pick up the bait that has the rabies vaccine inside. When the fox swallows the bait,

TDCJ site crew looks at C-City

A seven-member site selection delegation visited Colorado City last Wednesday gathering information for the Texas Department of Criminal Justice. The team, who also visited Abilene and Snyder the same day, will recommend eight of 18 sites at existing units for new 660-cell facilities.

During a two-hour site visit to the Wallace Unit and R. C. Ware State Jail, the delegates met with Mitchell County Board of Economic Development members Nancy Sullivan, Mike Hemphill and Bobby Lemons.

The TDCJ board is expected to announce the 8 sites selected when the board convenes Nov. 16-17 in Dallas.

The expansion would initially employ 200 employees and add $2.5 million annually to a city's economy.

'Falling back' isn't any more popular than 'springing forward'

If you go to church Sunday morning and no one is there, you probably forgot to fall back.

"Spring forward, fall back" is the saying most of us rely on to remember just what to do when Daylight Savings Time begins in April and ends in October.

So, when you go to bed Saturday night, remember to turn all your clocks back one hour to get back to standard time.

Daylight savings is a plan in which clocks are set one hour ahead of standard time for a certain period. As a result, darkness comes one hour later than on standard time. The advantages of this plan include an additional daylight hour for recreation in the evening.

Judging from the reactions of a few Colorado City residents last week, the change in time isn't particularly welcomed even if it gains us an extra hour of the weekend this Sunday.

"I wish they'd just leave the time alone," said city council member Bob Riley.

"I hate giving back that hour," said Postmaster George Jones.

"It's easier to wake up when there's sunshine rather than when it's still dark," said banker Richy Womack.

"I'm like the lady who said in church one time, 'I think we ought to just stay on God's time,'" said Ed Riley, minister at the Wallace Unit.

Remodeling or building?

After a tour of the hospital and listening to proposals from a financial advisor and architect, the Mitchell County Hospital District Board took a step Tuesday towards either remodeling or building a new health care facility.

The board approved hiring Bob L. Davis, a financial advisor from San Antonio and vice-president of Southwest Securities, at their regular meeting.

Davis explained that his advice and guidance would not cost the hospital district anything until after a bond election had passed.

The board's unanimous decision came after debate over whether to wait until another meeting to make a decision. "We don't want to give

Early voting begins

Early voting in the November 7 Texas amendment election began last Wednesday, October 18 and ends at 5 p.m. Friday, November 3.

Early voting on the 14 proposed amendments to the state constitution was slow in Mitchell County the first week. By 11 a.m. Tuesday, 15 had cast their ballots in the Mitchell County Clerk's office, according to Debby Carlock, county clerk. One of the fifteen had voted by mail.

In Mitchell County, ballots can be cast in the Mitchell County Clerk's office from 8 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Early voting was once called "absentee voting" when voters who would not be available to vote on

C-City businesses plan trick-or-treating event

Around Town Trick or Treating will once again be held in Colorado City after school until 5 p.m. Tuesday, Halloween day.

A huge success when it was held for the first time last year, Around Town Trick or Treating is hosted by local businesses who will be handing out treats to local youngsters. Parents applauded the merchants' effort to provide local children an opportunity to safely enjoy the fun of old fashioned trick or treating.

At least 100 businesses have already registered to participate in the event this year. Participants include not only retail businesses but offices as well, such as the Colorado City Police Department, offices in the county courthouse and Mitchell County Sheriff's Department.

A list of participating businesses will be sent home with Kelly and Hutchinson students on Friday, October 27. Loraine and Westbrook Elementary School students will also be bringing home notes about the event.

In addition, lists of businesses that will be handing out treats can be picked up at the Chamber of Commerce office before parents and children head out Tuesday afternoon.

Trick or treaters should be accompanied by an adult.

CHS band takes Div. I at UIL meet

For the second year in a row, the Colorado High marching band received Division I rating in the University Interscholastic League Class 3A band competition in Abilene Saturday.

The band received straight ones in the competition with the rating scale from 1 to 5 for the zone marching contests held across Texas this weekend.

Several members of the Wolf Pack Band were recognized at the competition for outstanding student achievements.

Bands competing in Class 3A and 5A do not advance to area contests because of a UIL rotation plan.

Arts & crafts festival moves downtown

The 23rd Annual Railroad Arts and Crafts and Antique Roundup will be held in the downtown area November 4 and 5.

Arts and crafts booths will be set up inside the old Truss King building on Main and Elm Street. Outside the building, paralleling the old railroad tracks and train depot on what's commonly known as First Street, a pedestrian mall will include a "bargain alley" of flea-market type booths, a food court with food booths and eating areas and a variety of entertainment that ranges from bands to children's rides. Booths will also be set up outside the building on Elm Street.

The historic Truss King building, which is currently being renovated by the Wallace Unit inmates and city employees, will accommodate 52 arts and crafts booths.

Chamber of Commerce Director Dori Shutt said that the building is ideal for both shoppers and arts and crafts vendors. By using the huge

County schools will see little change from new prayer guidelines

Students—do you want to say a prayer before that big test?

Go right ahead, says the U. S. Education Secretary Richard W. Riley.

Superintendents in the three Mitchell County school districts, as well as public school administrators nationwide, recently received a statement of guidelines on religious expression in schools from the education secretary.

Students "may read their Bibles or other scriptures, say grace before meals, and pray before tests to the same extent they may engage in comparable nondisruptive activities," the statement notes.

While schools in some other areas have been "religion-free zones" during the last few decades, the local superintendents say the guidelines actually reflect the balance Mitchell County schools have had all along in allowing students' personal freedom of religious expression.

They agreed that the guidelines haven't changed anything in Mitchell County schools but it's good to have official sanction.

"The guidelines seem to say that as long as it's initiated by students, it's okay," said CISD

Superintendent Russell Merket.

"We don't foster it nor do we suppress it. We just stay neutral," said Loraine Superintendent Kenneth Kendall.

"I think it's great that the pendulum is swinging back to allow religion a proper place in public schools," said Westbrook Superintendent Sonny Hollis.

Superintendent Kendall also mentioned the pendulum swinging back and said that there was overreaction by school officials in some schools around the country after earlier court cases on religious expression. Stifling religious expression in public schools came at the same time as societal changes in families.

"For awhile, moral values weren't taught anywhere," said Kendall, noting that violence in public schools, especially in metropolitan areas, is a backlash from that era.

According to an article in the October issue of Texas Lone Star, a publication of the Texas School Board Association, Education Secretary Richard Riley says the guidelines are based on two basic obligations established by the First Amendment: (1) schools may not forbid students acting on their own from expressing their personal religious beliefs, and (2) schools may not endorse religious activity or doctrine, nor coerce participation in religious activity.

Riley's staff cautions that the principles cover only legally settled issues, not those still winding their way through the courts, such as whether students can organize prayers at their own graduation ceremonies.

The public school guidelines, being called religion "Do's and

COOK'S CORNER

Gwen Wistrand

Gwen Wistrand didn't do much cooking until she got married to Dick in 1945. Then reality hit—especially when they moved to New Jersey to live with his family for a while. After about three weeks, Dick's mother told Gwen it was her responsibility to cook Sunday lunch—so the next week she did just that.

Chicken fried steak, gobs of mashed potatoes and gravy, homemade biscuits, a cake and all the other trimmings. It must have been good because it was all gone by that evening, which wasn't the way it was supposed to be. Gwen was told Sunday lunch was to last at least until Tuesday.

So the next week, Gwen went to the store and bought the largest ham she could find to make Virginia-baked ham, potato salad, pinto beans and lots of other things—and two pies! Determined this meal would last a couple of days she worked diligently preparing the wonderful meal. So wonderful in fact, that the only leftovers on Monday morning were a few beans and a little bit of ham.

After those two Sundays, Gwen was told it would not be her responsibility to cook Sunday lunch anymore—she was too expensive! So I guess you could say that she had already learned to cook in a big way!

The reason she and Dick were in New Jersey? Dick was born there and had worked there before he went into the service, so naturally when he was discharged, he went back there to go back to work for Chase Bank. After a few months back "home", he told Gwen he wanted to move back to Mitchell County and Colorado City because he had made more friends there in sixty days than he had in New York and New Jersey in a lifetime.

The couple came back to Mitchell County and spent many happy years here raising five children. During that time Gwen worked as Superintendent of Parks and Recreation for the City of Colorado City. She ran a recreation program during the summer for school age children at what is now the Day Care Center. When it closed in 1974, she became the first director of the Civic Center until 1975.

In 1975, Gwen and Dick moved to Roscoe, where Dick worked at Roscoe State Bank. In 1984 when he died, Gwen wasn't sure what she wanted to do, so waited a few years and decided she wanted to move back to her home—Colorado City. She spent a year working on getting the home she now lives in, which holds special meaning to her in more ways than one.

First, it was built the same year Gwen was born. Secondly, the Kiker family had lived there at one time. Her father had come to Colorado City when she was two years old to work for Mr. Kiker in his funeral home/furniture store. She has worked at keeping the house as close to how she remembers it as possible.

Gwen's interests—along with cooking—include reading and gardening. She has just recently acquired the duties of secretary of All Saints Episcopal Church and is also a practicing reflexologist.

Gwen's five children, 11 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren are spread all over the state of Texas along with one son in Arizona. Fay, Richard, Sally, Anna and Hunter all enjoy coming home to mom's cooking when at all possible.

Gwen gave me quite a few recipes and told me to choose which ones I wanted to print. Because she gave me some green chili stew and it was delicious I have chosen that one along with a couple of others I think you will enjoy.

GREEN CHILI STEW

- 3 lbs. cubed beef
- 2 T. vegetable oil
- 1 10 oz. can tomatoes
- 2 4 oz. cans green chilies
- 1 T. sugar
- 1/2 cup shredded white cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese
- 2 med. onions, minced
- 1 16 oz. can pinto beans
- 1 cup water
- 3 T. beef broth granules
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 #2 can hominy
- Flour tortillas

Brown cubed beef in hot oil then add onion and saute. To beef and onion, add tomatoes, green chilies, pinto beans, water, beef broth granules, garlic, hominy and sugar. Simmer uncovered until beef is tender. Serve with shredded cheese and hot tortillas.

LIMPIN' SUSIE

- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1/2 cup bacon or ham, chopped
- 3 cups sliced okra
- Fry down onion, okra and meat.
- 1 cup rice
- 2 cups water (or as called for)
- 1 tsp. salt

Start the rice cooking in its individual pot and when it's about half done, add the okra mixture, stir and finish cooking. The okra mixture seems to almost disappear and then you'll have some of the best rice ever.

QUICHE

- 5 eggs, lightly beaten

- 1 cup cottage cheese
- 1/2 lb. Monterey Jack cheese, grated
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 cup oleo, melted
- *8 oz. chopped green chilies, drained
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1/2 tsp. pepper
- Grated onion

Mix all together. Pour into pie pan. Bake 15 minutes at 400 degrees then reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 30 minutes more.

* Alternates:

- (1) 4 slices crisp bacon crumbled with 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
- (2) Diced ham and 1/2 cup cooked spinach
- (3) Diced cooked chicken and 1/2 cup broccoli

APRICOT BRANDY POUND CAKE

- 1/2 lb. butter or oleo
- 3 cups sugar
- 6 large eggs
- 1 tsp. orange flavoring
- 1/4 tsp. almond flavoring
- 1 tsp. butter flavoring
- 1 tsp. vanilla flavoring
- 1/2 cup apricot brandy
- 1/2 tsp. lemon flavoring
- 1/2 tsp. rum flavoring
- 3 cups flour
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. soda
- 1 cup commercial sour cream

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time and beat the whammy out of the mixture after each one; this makes for a lighter than usual pound cake and one with finer texture than most. Add dry ingredient (flour, sifted with salt and soda), alternating with sour cream and brandy. Bake in greased tube pan at 300 to 325 degrees for 1 hour and 10 minutes or until it tests done. Please do not be bashful about beating this batter, the more beating the smoother and lighter the cake.

NOTE: It is okay to put a little less brandy in the cake (like 1/3 cup instead of 1/2) but please do not substitute another liquid and please use a good brandy. Amaretto makes a good flavoring, too, but most do not find it as pleasant as the apricot.

The office received a copy of an article printed in the Dallas Morning News recently about Tina Gutierrez, whose parents, Lorenzo "Larry" and Josie Gutierrez, once lived in Colorado City. Tina has become a children's fashion designer and has her own company in the Dallas area "Top This, Baby!" The clothes are sold at upscale department stores and specialty shops. Ms. Gutierrez has relatives living in our area.

Sue and John Lowrance just returned from a little vacation in Missouri. One (or should I say THE) main highlight of the trip for Sue was a visit to the Precious Moments Museum in Carthage, MO. For those of you who don't know, Sue is a big Precious Moments collector.

Gwen Wistrand was quite surprised this weekend by four of her children. Daughter Fay, who lives in Amarillo, and her family came through Saturday going to San Angelo. They stopped and asked Gwen to ride with them and stay in San Angelo for the weekend, so this being her birthday weekend, she did just that. To her surprise, when she got there, three more of her children and their families were at the hotel to help celebrate her birthday. What a nice surprise!

Couple is united in San Angelo

Shawna D'lynn Styron, daughter of Travis Massingill of Colorado City and Jeri Aikin of San Angelo, and David Glen Overton, son of Glen Overton of Big Spring and Debra Green of San Angelo, were joined in holy matrimony at 4:30 p.m. on September 30, 1995 at the Concho Park Gazebo in San Angelo. Judge Mike Brown officiated the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a tea-length dress featuring a sequined bodice and a veiled hat.

The wedding had a western motif with the wedding party wearing denim.

Charity Morris of Colorado City was maid of honor for her cousin. Bridesmaid was Tabitha Palmer of Colorado City, also a cousin of the bride.

Flower girls were Brittanie Styron, daughter of the bride and Christina Edmondsun, a family friend.

T.J. Styron, son of the bride, was ringbearer.

Robert Danley of Colorado City was best man. John Whipple of San Angelo was groomsmen.

A reception followed the ceremony at the gazebo.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

by JIM BAUM

Time was when cotton was picked. Then, later, it was pulled. And nowadays, it's stripped.

First, an explanation between "picked" and "pulled." Sarah Banks once talked to us about the fine art of harvesting cotton by hand.

"Well, pickin', you just pull it out of the boll, you know. And pullin', you just snap the whole boll off with the cotton."

And that brings us to stripping or mechanized cotton picking. The machinery replaced cotton pickers, right? Wrong. Again, Mrs. Banks.

"We still worked. Sometimes the strippers wouldn't get it all. Some of them mess it [the cotton] up so bad they had to have it pulled by hand." Later, improvements were made in the mechanical strippers and that ended the day of the picker.

Earlier we mentioned "the fine art" of picking cotton. And it was an art. Eula Pickens came to Mitchell County in 1921 and lived on a farm on Seven Wells Road. She never mastered the art.

"Seems like I wasn't [much] of a cotton picker," she told us.

"I would try hard, but I just couldn't get too much." Mrs. Pickens said her best effort was to "pick 60 some-odd pounds at a time."

Clarence Newby is another person who never excelled in the art of picking cotton. He moved to Mitchell County back in 1920. Part of his problem was he didn't like picking cotton.

"No, I didn't enjoy it. I never did get the hang of it. I had a cousin, Lewis Newby, who was older than I was and he pulled a thousand pounds a day, but he had the art of getting it in his sack and I didn't."

See, there's that word "art" again. (Incidentally, Clarence says the best he ever pulled was 530 pounds.)

Then there was Eli May. He lived on a farm until he was 13 years old (1920), then his family moved into town. Picking cotton never appealed to him.

"One thing I never did like was pickin' cotton. I never could crawl and pick so I had to get right straddle a row. I told my father when I was 14 years old, I said, 'Pap, when I get to be a man of my own, I'm not going to pick any of this cotton unless I'm hungry.'"

Not liking to pick cotton was one thing, but suffering an injury working in the cotton field was another. And poor Luke Harrison claimed he ended up in the hospital after a hard day's work.

"I chopped [cotton] a half day one time. Hard work. Chopped a half day and the next day I ended up in the hospital. I had a hernia operation. I was in [Root] hospital for 10 days and the bill came to a little better than $90." That ended Luke's days in the cotton field.

So, if the work was so hard, hazardous to one's health and very unpopular with those who had to do it, it's a wonder anyone did any cotton pickin'. (Apparently there's not a 'g' on pickin'; no one ever said 'picking'.) Anyway, if no one liked to pick cotton, how did the crop get harvested each year?

Well, there are those, believe it or not, who actually enjoyed picking, or pickin'. We'll hear more about that later. However, there are quite a number of oldtimers who can tell you how the crop was gathered, and by whom.

Here's what Mrs. D.F. Butler told us back in 1985, when she was 91 years old. "Instead of going to school, we had to stay home and pick cotton. We didn't dare go to school until every boll was out, then we could start to school. That's the way we did it every fall." (School might be more fun to kids today, if they had to pick a little cotton each fall.)

J.M. Templeton, the fourth person born in Loraine (1909), also remembered staying home to pick cotton. "They'd turn school out for two or three weeks to help get the cotton out," he told us. "Back then the pickers [Braceros] didn't come in. We picked cotton, didn't pull it. People just picked their own cotton and [maybe] hired a little help."

If pickin' cotton sounds like a form of family time, that's what it was. Rosa Barron, who lived in the Loraine area, recalled that she and her husband "took the children to the field and when they got big enough they worked, too. But, we never sent them by themselves. We always went with them."

A similar experience was related by Ruby Hartsfield Koltor. She was born in the Spade Community and her mother was later widowed at the age of 35. Left behind were Mom and seven kids, ranging in age from two to twelve, who all went to the field.

"I've pulled a thousand pounds a day," Mrs. Koltor recalled. "You would go out just before daybreak and come back in about dark. It's hard work!"

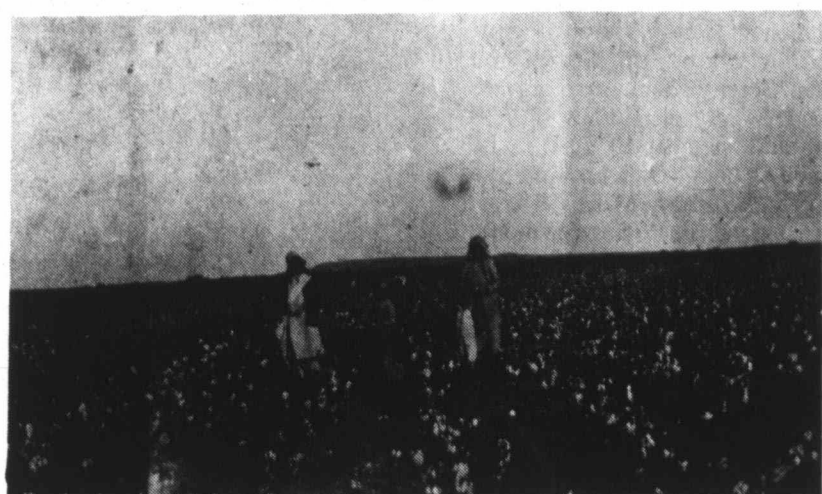

In fact, the work was so hard that pickin' cotton is indelibly etched in the mind of former Mitchell County resident Jerry Montgomery, who now lives in Michigan City, Ind.

"The most unpleasant memories I have are pickin' cotton," said the 1938 graduate of Colorado High School. "When the Lord created mankind, he did not have cotton pickin' in mind."

And finally, Mike Smith. "My fingers," he said, looking at this hand, "always got sore and my back hurt. Everybody I knew got used to it, but I never could. It hurt just as bad after a month as it did the first day."

"I never did like it. It hurt my back and my feelings."

(Next week, we'll pick more cotton. Stories from Mike Smith, Mildred Free, Willie Womack and others.)

Senior citizens busy with fundraisers

Senior citizens at the Wallace Center have been too busy lately to get in much rocking chair time. Determined to raise money to help with the current funding problems, the seniors currently have several fundraiser projects:

• They are accepting donations of $1 each or 6 for $5 for an heirloom quilt that is currently on display in the Wallace Center dining room.

• There are millions of stitches in it," says Floy Law, who registers lunch guests at the center.

Handquilted by seven ladies, the even delicate stitches show the skill of the seamstresses who have worked on it since April.

The blue and white quilt with large scalloped edging was pieced in the ocean wave pattern by Jane Horton before she moved to Austin last spring.

The drawing for the quilt will be in December.

• Fruitcakes from Corsicana, said to be the finest fruitcakes in the country, are being sold for $9 at the Wallace Center.

• A spaghetti supper is planned for election night, Tuesday, November 7. The annual event will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. at the dining room of the Wallace center. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

• The Christmas bazaar with many items made by the seniors will be held December 2 in the Colorado City Civic Center. The event will be held along with the Lions Club annual chili supper in the civic center building and before the Christmas Lighting at the Mitchell County Courthouse that evening.

OBITUARIES

Billy D. "Duke" Hamm

Funeral services for Billy D. "Duke" Hamm, 40, of Colorado City were scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday in the memorial chapel of Brownfield Funeral Home with Homer Jones of Wellman officiating. Burial was in Terry County Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Brownfield Funeral Home.

Mr. Hamm died October 17, 1995 in Mitchell County Hospital. He was born December 9, 1954 in Brownfield. He moved with his parents to Waco in 1968, where he graduated from Midway High School. He attended Texas A&M University.

Mr. Hamm moved to Colorado City in 1982. He was employed in the construction of modular homes. He was a member of Woodway First United Methodist Church.

Survivors include his parents, Dick and Marlene Hamm of Colorado City; one brother, David Hamm of Austin; two sisters, Cindy Everett of Monahans and Sandra Hamm of Colorado City and his grandmother, Inez Bailey of Matador.

Manuel Perales

1935-1995

Funeral services for Manuel Perales, 60, of San Bernardino, Calif. and formerly of Colorado City, were scheduled for 1 p.m. Friday at St. Ann's Catholic Church with Father Hendrik Laenen officiating. Burial was in Mitchell County Cemetery under the direction of Kiker-Seale Funeral Home, Inc.

Mr. Perales died October 16, 1995 at UCLA Medical Center in Los Angeles, Calif. He was born August 23, 1935 in Colorado City. He had owned and operated a restaurant in Colorado for several years.

Survivors include one daughter, Rita Perales of Denver, Colo.; one sister, Virginia Albidez of Colorado City and one brother, Frank Perales of San Bernardino, Calif.

Orlean Cook

1902-1995

Funeral services for Orlean Cook, 93, of Snyder were scheduled for 4 p.m. Monday at First Baptist Church Chapel with the Rev. Randy Gressett, a grandson and the Rev. Marty Akins, pastor of First Baptist Church, Snyder, officiating. Burial was in Hillside Memorial Gardens under the direction of Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Cook died October 22, 1995 in Snyder Oaks Care Center. She was born September 17, 1902 in Crockett, Texas. She married Earl Cook, Sr. December 9, 1928 in Colorado City. He died in 1980.

Mrs. Cook had moved to Colorado City with her family as a child. She taught school for 32 years, mostly in Westbrook schools. She was a graduate of Hardin Simmons University, as are all three of her children and her four grandchildren. She was a former member of the Westbrook Baptist Church. After moving to Snyder in 1979 due to declining health, she became a member of the First Baptist Church in Snyder.

Survivors include one son, Earl Cook, Jr. and his wife Betty of Rosebud; two daughters, Faye Cook and Sue Gressett and her husband, Donald, all of Snyder; three grandsons, Randy Gressett of Irving, Tommy Gressett of Arlington and John Cook of Dallas; one granddaughter, Emily Cook of Irving and two great granddaughters, Lauren Gressett and Bailey Gressett, both of Arlington.

Velma Davis

Graveside services for Velma Davis, 91, of Westbrook, were scheduled for 11 a.m. Saturday in the Westbrook Cemetery with the Rev. Jim Mosley officiating. Mrs. Davis died October 19, 1995 in a Colorado City nursing home.

She married William Wesley Davis on December 27, 1919 in Garland. He preceded her in death in 1978. She was also preceded in death by one daughter, Flonelle Conkling.

Mrs. Davis is survived by two granddaughters, Kaye Roberts of Monahans and LeAnn Spriggs of New Braunfels, and one niece, Clara Henderson of Westbrook.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

At the risk of inserting my foot in my mouth, I feel that I must comment on the behavior of fans at high school (or other youth) athletic events.

After watching the Loraine Bulldogs be defeated by a well-coached and much-improved Westbrook Wildcat football team, and listening to our so-called "fans" browbeat the football players from the sidelines, I cannot let another football game pass without airing my opinion.

Realizing that it is human nature to be upset when our team is not performing at the level that we would like them to, and realizing that it is also beyond some of us to control our emotions in that situation, I would like to ask the fans of the Loraine Bulldogs (and other teams, I'm sure) this question: Do you honestly feel that any player on the field enjoys being beaten by another so much that he intentionally makes one mistake after another until he achieves that goal?

Furthermore, do you think that your constant yelling AT THE PLAYERS to remind them that they are not playing up to par is going to make them play better? My specific reference is to the game last Friday night between the LHS Bulldogs and the WHS Wildcats, but my point can be related to any contest between young people. The Loraine players were overheard to say that the constant belittling from the "fans" along the fence and in the stands contributed greatly to their "falling apart."

It is my opinion that a fan should attend a sporting event to encourage his favorite team, even though it may be difficult at times. A fan does not need to remind a player that he fumbled a ball or that he missed a pass—he has a coach whose job it is to take care of that. It is not my intention to cast stones, for I feel sure that I have done more than my share of yelling at referees and coaches. They are adults who usually expect to hear a certain amount of criticism, but our kids are just that—kids—who are giving all they've got, even though it may not be as much as we would like for it to be sometimes.

Please join me in a commitment to try to be a better supporter of our kids and less of a critic when I attend an athletic contest. Your positive encouragement might not make your team a winning team, but it will certainly go a long way toward making winners out of the players on that team.

A mother and, hopefully, a better future fan,
 Janet Moore

To the editor:

The Agricultural Budget Bills moving through Congress protect the interests of the nation's largest farms and agribusinesses. They undermine the financial competitiveness of family farms and do nothing to slow the concentration of food production into fewer and fewer hands. They also reverse the progress made on resource conservation over the last decade.

This legislation is unfair. They cut the costs by reducing payments to family-sized farmers while imposing no cuts on the nation's largest farms and agribusinesses. Once again, the little guy is singled out for cuts, while the rich and powerful are spared.

These bills are bad for the environment. They cut the Conservation Reserve program. This program is one of the most effective programs in years in conserving soil and protecting wildlife populations. CRP rental payments provide a 140MM dollar cash infusion to many hard pressed Texas agricultural communities.

Granting advantage to agriculture's richest may be good politics but it is bad policy. I accept the fact that agriculture must share in the burden of bringing the federal deficit under control. But there are smarter and fairer ways. To start, Congress should reduce the six-figure farm program payments going to the nation's most wealthy farms and agribusinesses. That would both save money and reduce subsidies for large farms to bid land away from moderate sized family farmers and beginning farmers. The federal government shouldn't be in the business of helping the rich get richer at the expense of everyone else.

Scarce federal dollars should be targeted to where they can do the most good by supporting small and moderate-sized family farms and natural resource conservation. Before that can happen, these bad bills passed by Congress must be killed. The president should veto the budget and send it back to Congress to produce something good for the many, rather than few.

Sincerely,
 Joe Maddox

C-City police warn that vandalism won't be tolerated

Trick or treating fun is great. Vandalism isn't.

An increase last weekend in the number of criminal mischief incidents around town prompted Colorado City Police Chief David Montgomery to warn that vandalism to city and private property won't be tolerated.

Mischief over the weekend ranged from street signs being torn down to outside house lights broken.

All Colorado City police officers will be on duty Halloween. "We want Halloween to be a fun, enjoyable and safe holiday for our youngsters," said Chief Montgomery. "However, damage to city or personal property will be vigorously investigated to find the vandals."

"The bottom line is—there's no need for the community to suffer in order for our kids to have a good time," said Montgomery.

election day, such as overseas servicemen, were able to cast their ballots by applying for a mail ballot. Voters are no longer required to give a reason for voting early.

However, Carlock said that voters must qualify to vote by mail, which includes:

- voters who are 65 years old or older on Election Day;
- voters who have a sickness or disability that would keep them away from the polls on Election

Day;

•voters who expect to be absent from the county on Election Day and during the period set aside for early voting;

•voters who are confined to jail. The application to vote by mail must be received by the county clerk's office by October 31.

Those who have moved into the county within the last 90 days or who are planning to move should contact the County Clerk's office for information.

Volunteers plan Railhead success

After a year of planning, the committee in charge of organizing the Railhead Arts and Crafts and Antique Roundup is entering the homestretch during the final weeks before the event November 4 and 5.

This year's committee has worked extremely hard, determined to make the Railhead a tremendous success, said Chamber of Commerce Director Dori Shutt.

"The committee is made up of people from the community who have volunteered a year of their time to the Railhead," said Shutt. "They've really put a lot into it, coming up with innovative ideas to make it a successful year for the Railhead."

Co-chairpersons for the Railhead Roundup are Amy Brown and Mary Kay Williamson. Committee members are: Royce Clay, Ty Roach, Kathy Matlock, Danyne Montgomery, Jackie Edwards and Beverly Collier. Ty Roach and Beverly Collier are Chamber of Commerce board members.

"Amy Brown has worked on the Railhead Roundup for several years. She's worked diligently on it and has a wide variety of entertainment planned for this year. Mary Kay Williamson has been in charge of public relations and vendor contacts. She's been there from the beginning and has some wonderful ideas," said Shutt.

Jury duty cancelled

Anyone who received a jury notice to appear in 32nd District Court of Mitchell County October 30 should disregard it, said Mitchell County Sheriff Patrick Toombs.

The October 30 trial has been rescheduled for the week of November 13.

125 notices for potential jurors were sent out just prior to the schedule change, said Toombs.

A new group of potential jurors will be notified by mail.

Indictments returned

A Mitchell County grand jury returned 24 indictments last Thursday with 13 of them sealed.

Information about sealed indictments is not released until suspects are arrested.

Those indicted were: Bobby Hernandez, 25, Colorado City, three indictments for burglary of a building and one indictment returned for engaging in organized criminal activity.

Michael Wayne Campbell, 27, Midland, two indictments for forgery and one indictment for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Billy Lynn Burns, 34, Midland, indictment for driving while intoxicated.

Tommy Castillo, 50, Colorado City, one indictment for theft of livestock and one indictment for driving while intoxicated.

TIME

favor Daylight Savings Time in the summer. It struck him as silly and wasteful that people should, "live with by candlelight and sleep by sunshine."

Great Britain adopted daylight time as an economy measure during World War I. The United States adopted it in 1918. The U. S. Congress repealed the law in 1919, but many cities continued to use daylight time.

From 1942 to 1945, the United States observed daylight time year-round to reduce evening use of electricity. An act of Congress, which became effective in 1967, established daylight time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October.

To conserve energy Congress put most of the nation on year-round Daylight Savings Time for two years effective Jan. 6, 1974 through Oct. 26, 1975.

On July 8, 1986, President Ronald Reagan signed legislation moving up the start of Daylight Savings Time to the first Sunday in April.

The U. S. Transportation Department estimated that the earlier starting date the first of April rather than the last of April helps save more than $28 million in traffic accident costs and prevents more than 1,500 injuries and 20 deaths.

A state may remain on standard time if its legislature votes to do so. Arizona, Hawaii and parts of Indiana do not observe Daylight Savings Time.

the vaccine coats the inside of the throat, and the animal should be immunized and will not come down with the disease," said Guy Moore, state department of health project director for the oral rabies vaccination of gray foxes.

The vaccine is safe for all animals and there are no harmful side effects for livestock.

Moore explained that rabies has different strains which are genetically species specific. If another animal in the zone besides the gray fox eats the bait, it will either be immunized or the bait will have no effect.

"The importance of the air drop is that Texas has the only gray fox rabies strain in the United States, and we don't want it to get out," he said.

The air drop project is similar to what Europe and Canada have been using for over 10 years. The red fox rabies strain has been totally eradicated in these areas due to the success of the air drop program.

During the project in West Texas, health department officials will be working closely with Texas Animal Damage Control Service, Texas A&M System, and will utilize local animal control agencies, the U.S. Army and National Guard.

Moore said public education programs will be held in the area prior to the drop to give area residents an opportunity to learn more about the project.

PRAYER

Don'ts" in education trade journals, include the following:

•Students - outside of class activities may pray solely or together and discuss their religious views. They also may attempt to persuade other students about religious topics but not to the point of "harassment."

•School officials may neither encourage nor discourage nonclassroom activities that have religious content, but they should ensure that no students are coerced or compelled to participate. Staff members cannot participate in these activities.

•Students may give religious literature to schoolmates on the same terms as other nonclass materials are passed out. However, the school has the authority to impose reasonable rules of place, time and manner of distribution for all nonschool literature.

•Schools may not provide religious instruction, but they may teach about religions; their roles in history; their influence on art, music and social studies; and about the Bible and other religious writings as literature. They also may teach about religious holidays and celebrate their secular aspects but may not observe them as religious events.

•Students may express their religious beliefs as part of homework, artwork, or other written or oral assignments. This work should be judged by ordinary academic standards.

CIA applicants are sought

Plans are underway for the 1996 Christmas In April in Colorado City.

The Chamber of Commerce Director Dori Shutt announced this week that they are taking applications for residents wishing to put their homes on the list for repairs during the one-day home-repair blitz.

If applicants are unable to come by the Chamber of Commerce to pick up an application, they can call the office (728-3403) and someone will bring the form to their home and provide help in filling it out, if necessary, said Shutt.

Volunteers are needed for next year's Christmas In April. Call the Chamber of Commerce office.

•Outsiders cannot provide religious instruction on school premises during a school day, but schools may dismiss students to attend the class away from campus.

•Schools may teach civic values and virtue. That some of the same values are held by religions does not make it unlawful for the topics to be part of the public school lessons.

FESTIVAL

22,750 square foot building, the space allows wide traffic aisles between the 10' x 10' single booths. (Vendors will be able to rent single, double or triple booths). The spacious aisles will make shopping easy for everyone including those in wheelchairs and parents with baby strollers.

A special section of the building will be set aside strictly for handcrafted items and an outside area will be designated as "bargain alley" for flea market type goods.

Two office spaces in the building are being converted to child care facilities so shoppers can have their children supervised, with one area for small children and another for older children.

"There'll also be lots of fun and food at the pedestrian mall outside," said Shutt.

Entertainment will include music, games, contests and children's activities such as a train and eight children's rides.

A tumbleweed rolling contest is one of the more unusual contests planned. Contestants will use a pitchfork to roll tumbleweeds down the street in the tumbleweed relay. Bands will range from bluegrass to rock, said Amy Brown. The Pot Belly Boys band from Roscoe, Kakai Wulfjen's dance class and twirlers and singer Stephanie Matlock are all planning to perform, Brown said.

The Heart of West Texas Museum and Heritage House will be open so visitors will have an opportunity to visit some of the city's historic highlights while they are here.

Plenty of parking will be available for both visitors and vendors. Vendors require easy access to the building for loading and unloading so they'll have a specially designated area between the building and railroad tracks. The public will have several different parking areas such as the lot on city property east of the Truss King building and the City National Bank parking lot as well as street parking.

The Railhead will be held from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, November 4 and from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, November 5.

Booth spaces are still available. For more information, call Minnie Martinez at the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce, 728-3403.

TRICKS

Youngsters are invited to come by The City National Bank Tuesday before closing time to pick up a free trick or treat bag filled with candy.

Colorado City Police Chief David Montgomery said that door-to-door trick or treating in residential areas should be done between 5 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and only by youngsters no older than fifth graders.

"With trick or treating at the businesses and private parties held by churches and schools, there's plenty of opportunity for our kids to have fun in a safe manner," said Chief Montgomery.

Loraine News

By BESSIE ANN VAUGHN

Greetings from Loraine.

Many of us will be taking our lives into our own hands this weekend when we fool with Mother Nature and change all the clocks, falling back one hour.

Most likely you have a clock or clocks in every room, but there is always one that is positioned high on the wall and calling for a step-ladder.

Don't have one? Someone borrowed it? Just never would put out the money for one?

Why worry. Just step up on a chair. Have you tried to do that lately?

I first had to put one knee on the chair, then crawl up, finally standing upright while the chair wobbled. I could change the present location of the clock but it looks better up high.

Surely by next year or whenever we have to spring forward, I can save enough money for a stepladder.

In the meantime, we keep fooling with Mother Nature and our internal clocks.

Last week Charlene Walker had her sisters come to visit plus go to the school homecoming.

Lavern Sawyer from Abilene came; it was her 50th anniversary year.

Delma Robinson from Bowie also was here. They all visited with their mother, who is in Loraine Manor, and other relatives, too.

Vida Mae McDaniel, accompanied by her daughter Judy, made a brief business trip to Dallas this week.

Larry and Mary Ann Gowen and their daughter are enjoying the company of Larry's mother. She is from Sulphur Springs, Texas.

Krista McNary was wed to David Barty Saturday, October 21 in Irving. Brother David McNary was pastor here in Loraine at the Baptist Church several years ago.

Our well wishes to the newlyweds.

Royce and Neysa Beights want to thank all their friends and neighbors for the cards, calls and well wishes received during Royce's emergency gallbladder surgery in Lubbock. He is making progress and is now back at home.

Saturday the 20th the Silver Leaf Club members went to Jack's Family Restaurant to celebrate the birthdays of two good friends, Verna Mae Adkins of Loraine and Darlene Rankin of Colorado City.

Millie Rose was also present and said they had a very nice evening.

Raymond Hackfield is still in the hospital after surgery at Scenic Mountain Medical Center, Big Spring, Texas 79721. He would love to hear from you.

Fred and Barbara Bowlin from Del Rio spent the day Friday with Mom Lela Bowlin.

Syble (Sweet Thing) Walker went home with daughter Mary Love Albright Saturday the 20th. She will keep doctors' appointments and visit relatives while with Jack and Mary Love in Odessa.

Jean Hale from Dallas spent this past week with her mother, Irene Kidd.

On Sunday the 22nd, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler from Snyder also visited with Irene.

Verna Mae Adkins is asking for our help in finding a black leather bag containing her Bible, Sunday school book, missionary book and song book.

The bag has been missing since Sunday, October 16.

It could be used for a purse but has no compartments.

Mrs. Adkins' name, address and phone number are in the bag. If you just must have the bag, then please send her other things to her. She will appreciate it very much.

Loraine P.T.O. wishes to thank Mrs. Francis Pilsner for coordinating the homecoming parade last week and we do have others to thank as well, Billy McPeters and Joe Dell Hackshaw for their work with the float and a thank you to Mr. Martin for the loan of his trailer.

Two weeks ago officers for Loraine P.T.O. were elected. Shirley Rich is now president; Jean Lewis, vice president; Brenda Oliver, treasurer; Carol Chavez, secretary and Mr. Farquhar was elected reporter.

The band, under Mr. Gowen's leadership, did a wonderful job in

Bro. Dan and Denise Marshall had as their dinner guests the Ruth Sunday school class from the first Baptist Church and those attending were Ida Baird, Pauline Smiley, Shortie Tillison, Agnes Haney, Elnora Mitchell and a guest, Geraldine Parnell, with Annie Browning dropping by later. All reported having a wonderful time together.

Grady and Elnora Mitchell had as dinner guests Sunday his sister, Ruby Cannon of Colorado City and nephew Jerry Cannon of Roswell, N.M.

Having birthdays in October and sitting at the special table Wednesday at the Center were Billie Powell, Gwen Wistrand, Ray Harris, Billie Sheffield, Louella Hall, Bill Taylor, August Armstrong and Tharon Henderson. Billie Schroeder will make the special cake.

Things are still jumping with bingo and the hand and foot card game. Everyone is looking forward to Saturday night the 28th for our soup and salad supper and game night.

Let Yvonne, Billie or Darlene know what you plan to bring: soup, salad, cornbread or dessert.

It was real nice to see Bertha Fay Snyder out last Friday and enjoying lunch.

Ladies, please don't get irritated with me if you see me winking at your spouse or boyfriend. I just had cataract surgery with a lens implant and I'm just trying to focus better.

My friend Wanza, doing the driving for me, asked me what I would do if some man winked back?

I suppose I would quickly ask him who did his surgery.

"Craving Caramel Pie"

All I could think about was a caramel pie. The kind you make from scratch, where you caramelize your sugar. My Aunt Hettie made the best.

Surely, any adult with a lick of sense could make one without a recipe (a piece of cake, or in this instance, a piece of pie).

The craving grew stronger, so I headed for the kitchen to take ingredient inventory.

Dadgummit, I only had one teaspoon of Crisco for the crust. Not to worry. I'll just add more water.

There was no way I could roll out this hard rubber ball, so in desperation I began beating it with a big steel mallet. Well, the mallet left tiny holes, so I began stealing dough from the "crust" edges to patch all the holes.

Before long, the crust was all patches and they stuck up real high. I hammered them all down some with a syrup bottle, then put the mess in a pie pan.

My crust was whopper-jawed, so I trimmed it with my toenail clippers, which left darling little scallops around the edge. After that, it looked pretty darn good.

Next, I poured two cups of sugar in a big black cast iron skillet. It took the pan forever to get hot enough to burn sugar. I sang "Your Cheatin' Heart" seven times before the sugar started turning brown.

No matter how fast I stirred, a big glob of hard sugar candy attached itself to my spoon and wouldn't let go. I took a tack hammer from the closet and beat the stuff almost to death but it stayed the same. By this time I was disgusted and threw the spoon away.

What I had left in the pan was terribly thin for a pie filling. It was the consistency of Pepto Bismol.

Not to worry. I mixed a cup of flour with a pint of water and stirred this into my filling. I must admit it did get thick. It was so thick I couldn't remove the spoon and it stood in an upright position, sorta like a monument.

The only way I could transfer this "filling" from pan to shell was with an old paint scraper and yes, the spoon was still standing.

By this time I was exhausted so I made a nice cup of tea and rested a spell. Later, I sampled my "pie", eating around the spoon. Finally, I put the mess out for the dogs and cats and they did show some interest in the spoon but after they sniffed a bit they rushed away (the turncoats).

You know what? I'm sorta hungry for mountain oysters.

The Loraine F.C.E. Club met this past Wednesday in the home of Eva Wells for a regular meeting.

President Brame called the meeting to order and after members recited prayer and creed in unison, started with roll call and recognizing visitors.

Secretary Shirley Kendall read the minutes from the last meeting and Treasurer Schroeder gave her report.

There was some discussion about old business, then the program was turned over to Eva Wells on arts and crafts.

For Christmas lapel pins, Mrs. Wells showed how to make attractive angels from dry spaghetti.

Answering roll call were Mary Rose Brown, Margaret Brame, Doris Henderson, Shirley Kendall, Effie Wheeler, Eva Wells, Blondie Hamilton, Billie Ruth Abernathy, Millie Rose and Billie Schroeder.

Mrs. Wilks joined the club and we are pleased to have her.

The meeting adjourned and the hostess served refreshments.

Mama Skunk could never keep track of her two children. They were named In and Out.

One day she called Out in to her and told him to go out and bring In in. So Out went out and in no time at all he brought In in.

"Wonderful," said Mama Skunk. "How in all that great forest did you find him in so short a time?"

"It was easy," said Out. "In instinct."

Take good care and see you about town.

8th grade trounces Big Spring

The Colorado City Wolves eighth grade captured a 20-8 victory over Big Spring's eighth grade "B" team last Thursday at Wolf Stadium.

A 65 yard touchdown by Nick Blair put the Wolves on the board first. John McSpadden added a second quarter touchdown on a 27 yard run. McSpadden also added the successful two point conversion.

Wolves' touchdowns.

Defensively, Chris Valenzuela and Will Bassham had big hits for the Wolves.

Terry Green led the Wolves in rushing, picking up 70 yards on the ground.

The Wolves face Kermit Thursday in Wolf Stadium in their second district game.

Coach Doug Boone was disappointed in the Wolves' performance but expects the team to bounce back this week against Kermit.

SPORTS NOTES

Tony Walthall

Phillip Garcia

Offensive Player of the Week

Junior running back Tony Walthall received offensive player of the week honors for his performance in the Wolves' victory over Sonora.

Walthall rushed for 100 yards on 13 carries and had 59 yards on two kickoff returns. The kickoff returns gave the Wolves good field position each time.

Defensive Player of the Week

For the second week in a row, senior tackle Phillip Garcia was named defensive player of the week.

Garcia blocked the all-important extra point on Sonora's second touchdown that eventually was the game winner.

Garcia was credited with seven unassisted tackles.

Sonora hurt after Friday's game

Sonora lost more than the football game last Friday night. Coach Bob Bellard said Monday his starting tailback and best offensive player has been lost for the season with a serious hip injury.

Also, Bellard said the Broncos' leading tackles on defense will not play in the Greenwood game Friday night. "We've got our work cut out for us Friday night against Greenwood," Bellard said.

"It's tough when you lose your best offensive and best defensive players before the biggest game of the year," he said.

"Our game with Colorado City was tough and physical," Bellard said. "I thought Colorado City did a good job of controlling the football on us. It was probably the difference in the game. The 14 points were the most anyone has scored on us this year," he said.

Wolves ranked 140th

The Harris Rating System ranked the Wolves 140 after Friday's win over Sonora. However, this is not the lowest ranking Colorado City has received this year. Before the Crane game, Colorado City was ranked 133.

Other district 8-3A rankings included Greenwood 51, Sonora 76, Colorado City 140, Crane 149, Reagan County 158 and Kermit 180.

Westbrook overpowers Loraine in 72-26 win

By GARY MATLOCK

The Westbrook Wildcats upset district favorite Loraine 72-26 last Friday night before a capacity crowd in Westbrook.

Both teams entered the contest undefeated in district. Loraine's offensive threat, Cory Wooddell, would leave the contest in the opening series of downs after being tackled by Richard White.

Wooddell suffered a pulled cartilage in his sternum and is expected to miss only one game.

Westbrook drew first blood with a 60-yard touchdown run by George Rincones with 5:36 left in the first quarter. Rincones had 110 yards rushing on seven carries. He scored two more touchdowns on runs of five and 45 yards.

Loraine's Bear Cooper took the ball in from three yards out with 48 seconds left in the first quarter to score the Bulldogs' first touchdown. The PAT was no good and the Wildcats led 8-6.

With 1:33 left in the first half, Loraine took the lead on a one yard run by Raymond Limones. The PAT was no good.

Westbrook was in punt formation when the snap went over the kicker's head and Loraine got a safety to make the score Loraine 14, Westbrook 8 at the end of the half.

The second half belonged to the Wildcats as they outscored the Bulldogs by 46 points. Chad Morris scored his first of two touchdowns in the third quarter with 9:21 showing on the clock. He went 34 yards for the score to tie the game 14-14.

Westbrook's defense took control of the game in the second half. Homer Matlock recovered three of the four fumbles created by the defense which were quickly converted into touchdowns.

"Our defense played an exceptional game all night long," Coach Jim Hill said. "I am real proud of the effort which the team put out."

Chad Morris scored again with 6:18 left, giving Westbrook a 20-14 lead. Westbrook added two more touchdowns with a five yard run from George Rincones and a seven yard run from Casey Hill. Both touchdowns resulted from fumble recoveries.

Loraine scored once in the third quarter when Josh Lee returned an interception with 59 seconds left in the quarter. The score at the end of the third quarter was Wildcats 36, Bulldogs 20.

The air attack came alive for Westbrook in the fourth quarter when Jeff Hill found Casey Hill for a 26 yard touchdown with 6:25 showing. Casey Hill added another touchdown when he intercepted a pass and went 36 yards with 5:32 left.

Jeff Hill hit Shawn Daniels with 4:25 left, bringing the score to 58-20. With 4:10 showing, Kyle Moore scored for Loraine on a kickoff return to make the score 58-26.

George Rincones scored his last rushing touchdown with 3:59 left in the contest. The score stood at 66-26. Randy Byington made six PATs. The game was called when Jeff Hill found Casey Hill for a 47 yard touchdown and a 72-26 Westbrook lead.

"You can't come out and play a good team like Westbrook the way we did and expect to win," Coach Rick Cooper said. "We played a good first half but beat ourselves in the second half," he said.

Westbrook travels to Borden County and Loraine entertains Highland Friday night. Game time is 7:30 p.m. for both contests.

LORAIN'S KYLE MOORE (3) is being chased by Westbrook's Tony Alaniz (73) in last Friday night's game in Westbrook. The Wildcats upset Loraine 72-26.

CHS cross country team places 7th, 20th in Lubbock

Colorado High School's cross country team competed October 7 in Lubbock.

Participants were Kendra Anderson, Edwina Ceballos, Amy Hammond, Jamie Mason, Mica Merrell, Wendy Sullivan, Stacie Turnbow and Lupita Zermeno. Wendy Sullivan placed 13th.

The team competed in Big Spring Saturday, October 14 in the 4 x 1 mile relay.

The first team placed seventh with 26 minutes, 59 seconds. The team included Amy Hammond, Freda McKnight, Edwina Ceballos and Wendy Sullivan.

The second team came in 20th with 29 minutes, 50 seconds. On the team were Jamie Mason, Kendra Anderson, Julie Ellis and Staci Turnbow.

Myers wins football contest

Ruth Myers of Colorado City is this week's Jackpot Football Game winner. Myers takes home $50 in football bucks which are redeemable with participating merchants.

Contest entrants must have had a hard time guessing the winning teams this week—with upsets like Miami's defeat by the New York Jets—because most entrants had between six and twelve incorrect picks. Myers guessed the winning teams in 19 out of 24 games.

The football guessing game is held each week in the Record during football season. Entries may be delivered to The Colorado City Record or mailed before 5 p.m. Friday.

CUSTOMER NOTICE
Pursuant to the Public Utility Regulatory Act of 1995 §§3.2532, 3.453, GTE Southwest Incorporated and Contel of Texas, Inc. have filed applications for two new services to allow: 1) holders of Service Provider Certificates of Operating Authority to resell GTE's and Contel's local exchange service to its end user customer, and 2) Local Service Providers to resell GTE's and Contel's local measured facilities in the provisioning of their local exchange service to their end users. These services would enable Local Service Providers to offer local exchange service to their end user customer.

Persons who wish to comment on or to intervene in this proceeding concerning these tariffs should notify the Commission by November 28, 1995 in writing and refer to SOAH Docket Nos. 473-95-1207/473-95-1208 and Docket Nos. 14654/14655/14836. The comment or intervention request should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. If you have questions regarding the above docket numbers you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Honor someone with book given to school library

Looking for the perfect gift for your favorite student's birthday? Want to honor a special educator in the Colorado ISD? How about a lasting Christmas gift in honor of your child's favorite bus driver? Why not donate a book in his/her name and become a CISD Book Booster?

CISD librarians are accepting donations for library books to honor students and staff members. Any parent, grandparent or friend may request a specific book to be donated in honor of that special person or the campus librarians will make suggestions upon request. Prices for most books range from $5-$20.

Each book donated to the library will contain the honoree's name, the occasion, the donor's name and the date on a special nameplate inserted in the front of the book.

With the Christmas season approaching and campus book fairs around the corner, now is the perfect time to become a member of the CISD Book Boosters! Call your student's school librarian for details.

Rebecca Sweet

Sweet is chosen WTC recruiter

Rebecca Sweet of Colorado City has been selected to represent Western Texas College (WTC) as a student recruiter for 1995-96.

The duties of student recruiters include conducting campus tours, hosting college day programs, visiting area high schools to talk with juniors and seniors about the college, assisting with mailings to prospective students and covering a shift at the WTC booth at the Scurry County Fair.

The student recruiters are under the direction of the College Relations Department, which is operated by Alisha Cooper and Ellen Baker, both of Colorado City.

Rebecca is a 1995 graduate of Colorado High School, where she was secretary/treasurer of the student council and the International Thespians Society and a member of the National Honor Society.

Look in back of our North Lake power plant, and you'll find, you guessed it, a lake. Two years ago, a small patch of a Southeast Asian aquatic plant called hydrilla was discovered there, causing us some concern.

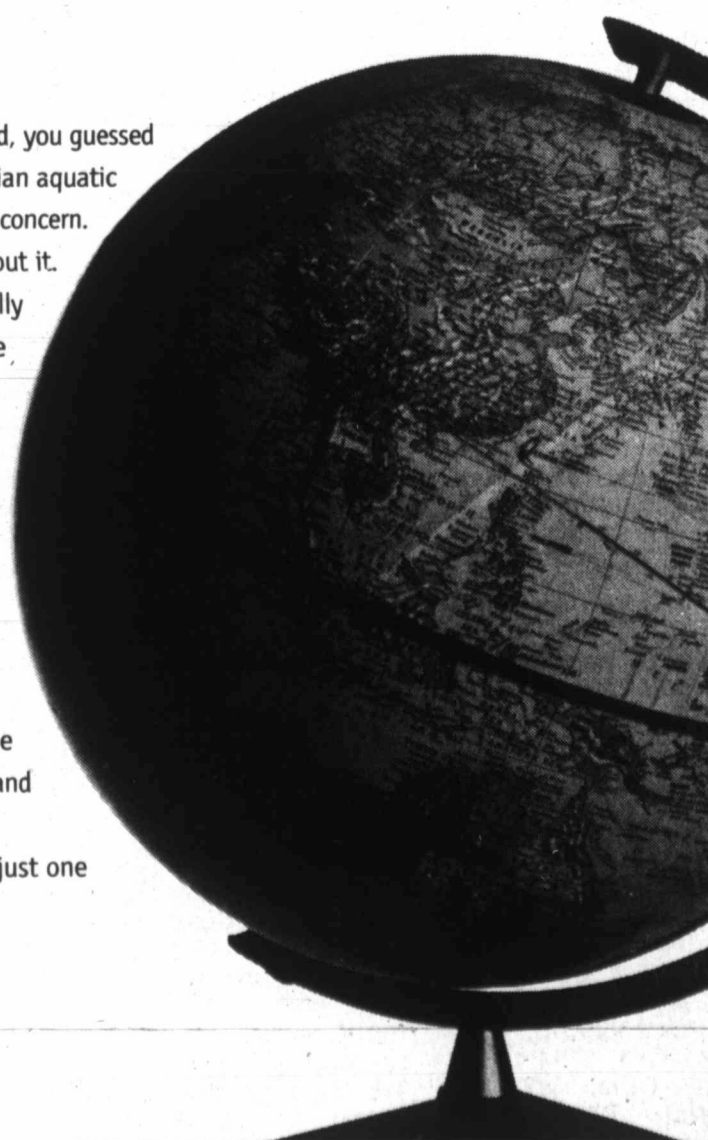

You see, hydrilla grows two inches a day. That's pretty fast, if you think about it. It can grow to the surface and get in the way of skiing, fishing, swimming, virtually anything you can do in a lake. Hydrilla can also clog the power plant's intake pipes, lowering efficiency. So, as you can see, it's a real problem for everyone.

The Solution To The Problem In Our Back Yard Was Found Twelve Thousand Miles Away.

Now, there are several ways that have been used to control hydrilla. Some lakes have been completely drained while others have been bombarded with expensive chemicals. But, none of these treatments was right for us. So, we continued looking. And we found a solution that had been discovered at the source of our problem, where hydrilla came from, Southeast Asia. It's a grass-eating fish that prefers to eat hydrilla and will help to keep it in check, naturally.

Finding creative solutions like this one from halfway around the world is just one more way we're working to build a better electric company.

A ROW OF YOUNG MONRELL PINE TREES planted for a windbreak at a local county farmstead.

Mitchell SWCD to provide windbreak tree seedlings

The Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District is again providing windbreak tree seedlings to the community.

Hardwood species available are Aromatic Sumac, Catalpa, Chinkapin Oak, Desert Willow, Green Ash, Hackberry, Honey Locust, Fruiting Mulberry, Nankin Cherry, Osage Orange, Russian Olive and Shumark Oak. All these species are priced at .80 each.

Evergreen species available include Monrell Pine, Arizona Cypress, Austrian Pine, Pinyon Pine and Red Cedar. These species are $1.75 each.

The Conservation District has drip irrigation supplies, which are necessary to ensure survival of the tree plantings.

Wildlife packets are also being offered this year, each containing four different species of seedlings with a total of 100 per packet. There are four different packets available to enhance wildlife habitat for quail, deer, turkey and squirrel.

Assistance and order forms for the Windbreak Tree Program and drip irrigation supplies may be obtained from the Natural Resources Conservation Service office in the G-Kell Building at South 208 and I-20, or call 728-3473.

Red Ribbon Week underway

Red Ribbon Week began Monday at Colorado Independent School campuses and continues until Sunday, October 29.

Red ribbons were given to students Monday and several contests are planned in classes throughout Red Ribbon Week.

Friday has been designated "Red Day" when everyone is encouraged to wear red to celebrate Red Ribbon Week and to support the Wolves.

According to Judy Merrell, Drug Education coordinator, "Colorado ISD takes a clear stand against drug abuse. It is the district's belief that while education can't solve the problems of this area we can make a difference."

Red Ribbon Week is sponsored by Texans' War on Drugs, a nonprofit drug-use prevention organization.

The national campaign is designed to educate students and the community about drug abuse prevention. It has been held since 1985 when Drug Enforcement Administration agent Enrique "Kiki" Camarena was killed by drug traffickers on the Mexican border.

Sanchez to return to hospital

Christopher Sanchez, the 10-year-old local boy who was diagnosed with a rare form of bone cancer, will return to a Houston hospital this week for the third surgery this year.

Sanchez will undergo tests at M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston prior to surgery on his right lung. He had an amputation of one leg and underwent surgery to remove tumors in his left lung this summer.

Following this week's lung operation he will return to a Lubbock hospital for chemotherapy treatment.

Tasting Spree and Bazaar planned for November 7

The Mitchell County Family and Community Education Council (formerly Mitchell County Extension Homemakers and Mitchell County Home Demonstration Clubs) will sponsor their Fourth Annual Tasting Spree and Bazaar on Tuesday, November 7 from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. in the C.C. Thompson Room. Tickets are $5 per plate.

The theme of this year's Tasting Spree will be "A Taste of the Holidays 1995." Among the featured holidays will be Valentine's Day, Easter, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas. Some traditional holiday foods will be served, along with lots of brand new dishes and recipe ideas for each of the featured holidays.

Cookbooks with recipes of the holiday foods served and other recipes for holidays will be available for $5 per book. Each F.C.E. club will have a booth featuring homemade baked goods and crafts for sale.

Tickets may be purchased in advance or at the door. For further information call 728-3111.

Spaghetti supper tickets remain on sale at the Wallace Center

Tickets are now on sale for the Annual Election Night Spaghetti Supper sponsored by the Wallace Center Senior Citizens. The event will be held Tuesday, November 7 in the dining room of the Wallace Center, 149 S. Hwy. 208. Serving time will be from 5-7 p.m.

The menu consists of turkey spaghetti, salad, hot bread, apple cobbler, tea and coffee. Tickets are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under age 10. Proceeds from the meal will be used to support the senior citizens' nutrition program. Door prizes will be given. Carry-out meals will also be available.

Tickets may be purchased from Wallace Senior Citizens or by calling the Wallace Community Education Center, 728-2392. Only a limited number of tickets will be available at the door.

Make plans now for a night out and join us for supper!
