S. Texas Tourism Study Planned

The feasibility of developing the tourist in South Texas to open up more jobs will be studied by the Economic Development Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce.

The $65,000 study will cover a 37-county area stretching from Val Verde County on the west to Calhoun County on the east.

Announced simultaneously by Reps. John Young of Corpus Christi, Kida de la Garza of Mission, and Abraham Kazen, Jr. of Laredo, the study will be conducted by a contractor selected by EDA.

The congressmen said the study will inventory and evaluate recreation and tourism resources of South Texas. It will also make recommendations for public investment needed to initiate and expand tourism in the region.

Three economic development districts that encompass the study area are applicants for the study. EDA's district program assists counties in pooling their talents and resources to work for long-range solutions to economic problems.

The three districts are the Texas Southmost Economic District, Coastal Bend Economic Development District.

Texas Southmost District consists of Cameron, Willacy and Hidalgo counties.

Coastal Bend District covers the area between Kenedy and Calhoun counties, extending as far north as Gonzales County and inland through Duval, McMullen and Atascosa counties.

Southwest District includes the counties along the Rio Grande. Its northernmost counties are Val Verde, Kinney, Real and Medina. It is bounded on the east by the Coastal Bend Economic District.

The counties are Cameron, Hidalgo, Willacy, Aransas Atascosa, Bee, Brooks, Calhoun, DeWitt, Duval, Goliad, Gonzales, Jim Wells, Karnes, Kenedy, Kleberg, Live Oak, McMullen, Nueces, Refugio, San Patricio, Victoria, Wilson, Dimmit, Frio, Jim Hogg, Kennedy, LaSalle, Maverick, Medina, Real, Starr, Uvalde, Val Verde, Webb, Zapata and Zavala.

The study will consider the cost and job-impact of promoting tourism in South Texas on a regional rather than an individual project basis.

It will deal with physical features and attractions, cultural and historical assets, fish and wildlife, recreation activities, amusements, and spectator and participation sports.

The area's ability to support expanded tourism with the necessary hotels, motels and other facilities will also be studied. Private business opportunities in this field will be identified. The study contractor will confer periodically with officials of the three districts.

Colonel Stroot and Son Save Three Children From Possible Drowning

Col. Robert Stroot and his son, John, were at the boat basin last Sunday afternoon working on their boat when a man ran to them, inquiring hurriedly how he could contact the Coast Guard.

After questioning the man, Stroot learned that there were three small children on inner tubes floating out into the bay. Stroot and his son started their boat and rushed to the bay side of the Rockport swimming beach.

As the colonel's boat reached the children, Patrolman Joe Dominguez and an unidentified man also were arriving at the scene by boat. Stroot picked up the children and brought them to shore.

Dominguez rescued Mrs. Paul Zarsky of San Antonio, mother of the three children, who had waded out to deep water in an attempt to reach them.

Answering a call for assistance were members of the Rockport Police Department, the Sheriff's Department, the Aransas County Emergency Corps under direction of president Elva Mullinax, and a unit from Cage-Marshall Funeral Homes summoned by Chief of Police Bob Hewes in case it was necessary to transport anyone to a hospital.

Local Navy Man Aids In Rescue Of Two Men

SN Dana D. Kirk, son of Col. and Mrs. Frank J. Kirk, has received a letter of commendation from his commanding officer for being responsible for the rescue of two men from the Gulf of Catalina.

Following is a copy of the letter sent to him by the commanding officer of the U.S.S. Rexburg:

"On the afternoon of Aug. 17, while standing lookout aboard this vessel during general quarters drills in the Gulf of Catalina, you spotted a vessel in distress approximately two miles away, correctly identified the situation and reported this to the officer of the deck.

"Your alert and postive action initiated a rescue of two men and their small craft. These men had been adrift for two days without food or water and had drifted approximately 20 miles. It would have required only a short time for their condition to have become critical.

"The extremely competent ability displayed by your sighting during a period of reduced visibility should be a source of great personal satisfaction to you. Your shipmates and the Naval Service can share in the knowledge that you knew you job and did it well.

"It is with great pride that I commend you for your performance and join with them in extending you a hearty 'Well Done'."

This barbecue is merely a token expression of appreciation for the outstanding service rendered by John Young to his district, state and nation. All tickets purchased prior to this date will be honored on Oct. 12. In the event the change in date has worked a hardship on anyone having already purchased their tickets a refund will be made if the tickets and a note of request is mailed to Box 159, Sinton, Texas.

JARBOE GIVEN FRANCHISE FOR GAS SYSTEM

Another dream for a better Rockport entered the first stages of reality. The City Council awarded a franchise to Maj. James J. Jarboe to furnish the city with natural gas.

Jarboe's plans include also the servicing of Fulton Beach and the fast growing contingent areas.

Jarboe said at least a year will elapse before he can serve any customers. By that time he hopes to have mains laid to serve the downtown business area.

The franchise ordinance levies a two per cent gross receipts franchise tax to become effective in 1954. First money under the levy will be paid to the city in 1955.

This moratorium allows for slightly more than a year for construction, then five years operation to get the system on paying basis before the tax becomes due.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

THAT DIETRICH AFFAIR

Marlene Dietrich wants to return to Germany and make a movie based on her career. She's now an American citizen, having left Germany during the Nazi regime. But some Germans, it seems, don't want her back. They consider her a traitor.

Well, now. It's unbelievable that anybody would reject Marlene Dietrich. There's simply no accounting for tastes. The protesting Germans would be the losers, certainly, and the gainers would be whatever people she chose to remain among. Anytime she wants to come here, the door is open.

Yet there's another troubling aspect to this affair. Could it be German guilt at work? The Germans, it seems to us, want to reject Miss Dietrich for doing what they themselves should have done.—Chicago Sun Times.

Maybe, if you would take yourself aside all by yourself for a little soul-searching, for a good honest look at your self, your attitudes and actions in the years just past, you would be alarmed to find some unwanted and highly objectionable ideas have crept in and hidden in the dusty corners of your thinking. Maybe you'll come to the conclusion a little housecleaning wouldn't be a bad job . . . tossing out a few shoddy notions to be reached by a new set of values. —Gordon (Neb.) Journal.

THE SKY IS TOO BLUE

Contrary to many fears, black-and-white television didn't quite kill the art of conversation. But there is some concern that color television with its greater impact and fascination may do the job.

We don't agree. Just the other night a group of people were gathered around a color TV set watching "I Spy" and the conservation went something like this:

"It's too blue."
"That's better."
"Where did the green go?"
"Hey, purple blood!"
"When will they show us some daylight?"
"The color signal's not going . . . ."
"Now it's black and white."
And so it went.—Ottawa Journal.

If it happens don't ask her why she did it that way. The answer will be "just because."

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at Cage-Marshall Funeral Chapel in Aransas Pass for Emmett Leslie Turner, Jr., 57, commercial fisherman and operator of Turner's Bait Stand on Port Bay, who died Sunday night, apparently of a heart attack. Burial was in Prairie View Cemetery. A native of San Antonio, he had lived here 11 years.

Turner was stricken in his boat immediately after coming to the rescue of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Johnson of Rockport and Alva Kolb, Sr., and W. E. Keener of Roby, after the motor of their fishing boat had stalled. He was pronounced dead at an Aransas Pass hospital.

Surviving are his wife, Clara; one son, Curtis N. Turner of San Antonio; three brothers, Charlie and Walter Turner of San Antonio and Lonnie Turner of San Diego, Calif.; five sisters, Mrs. M. D. McBryde, Mrs. T. L. Guilaudea, Mrs. E. E. Ott, Mrs. W. C. Schaak and Mrs. D. C. Myrick; and one grandson.

Miss Laura Jean Crabb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crabb, has been pledged by Alpha Chi Omega sorority at Texas A&I University at Kingsville.

Increased Benefits For Veterans

President Johnson has signed into law a bill providing for significant increases in benefits for Vietnam veterans and for older veterans as well.

Called the "Veteran' Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967," most provisions become effective Oct. 1.

Under one major provision, veterans of the Vietnam era, which began Aug 6, 1964, will receive conmpensation for disabilities at full wartime rates and will qualify for nonservice-connected pensions on the same basis as older veterans. Their widows and children become eligible for nonservice-connected death benefits.

While this provision becomes effective Oct. 1, an allowance of $250 for burial and funeral expenses of deceased individuals who served in the Vietnam era became effective today.

Under the law, certain other major provisions effective Oct. 1 apply to all qualified veterans who served after Jan. 31, 1955. These include:

Educational assistance allowances for full-time courses have been increased from $100 to $130 a month for a single veteran, from $125 to $155 for a veteran with one dependent, and from $150 to $175 for two dependents with an additional $10 for each dependent in excess of two. Proportionately smaller allowances will be allowed for part-time training.

Full educational assistance allowances will be paid to "educationally disadvantaged" veterans so they can complete high school without reducing their eligibility for advanced educational benefits.

Monthly allowances for on the job training for the first six months will range from $80 a month for a single veteran to $100 a month when there are two or more dependents. The allowances are reduced for succeeding six-month periods.

Monthly allowances for farm cooperative training will cover institutional agricultural courses with a minimum of 12 clock hours per week in addition to related work on the farm. Allowances range from $105 a month for the single veteran to $145 a month when there are two dependents, plus an additional $7 a month for each additional dependent.

Ninety per cent of the established charge for flight training is provided for veterans with a private pilot license (or the equivalent in flight training hours) who can pass the physical examination for a commercial pilot's license.

An allowance of $1,600 will be authorized for the purchase of specially-equipped automobiles for certain severely disabled veterans.

World War II veterans benefit by the new law by having the final cut-off date on eligibility for the G.I. Loan program extend to July 25, 1970, from July 25, 1967.

Some other provisions of the law extend benefits to certain of America's veterans, from the Vietnam era to the Spanish-American war. Such benefits include:

Veterans and dependents of deceased veterans receiving VA pension under the current pension program will get a cost-of-living increase averaging more than 5 per cent, with widows in the lowest income categories receiving an increase of about 8½ per cent.

Children up to age 26 of veterans who died or were permanently and totally disabled as the result of a service-connected disability, or who died from any cause while qualifying for permanent and total disability compensation, will become eligible for grants of $130 a month for four years of approved college or vocational training.

Statutory awards of $47 a month, in addition to other compensation, have been going to certain disabled veterans who have service-connected disabilities involving the loss of a hand, foot, eye, creative organ, or both buttocks, or have sustained deafness in both ears or lost the power of speech. Only one of these statutory awards could be paid under the old law; the new law authorized payment of an additional statutory award for each of these conditions, not to exceed a total of $400 a month.

Veterans entitled to pensions, based on the need for regular "aid and attendance" will be authorized for therapeutic or rehabilitative devices, medical equipment or supplies, when medically indicated. These veterans, and those receiving aid-and-attendance compensation for service-connected disabilities, will also be furnished drugs and medicines. (This became effective when the President signed the law.)

The new law will have a significant impact on many of the 25.8 million living veterans, according to the VA Veterans and dependents of deceased veterans may receive information about their eligibility, as well as assistance in applying for benefits from contact representatives at any VA office or hospital.

San Antonio Paper Tells of Fishing Projects In Our Area

The following article, written by Dan Klepper, outdoor editor of the San Antonio News, describes a number of import fishing projects in the Rockport area:

By DAN KLEPPER
News Outdoor Editor

A recreation study conducted by the Coastal Bend Regional Planning Commission indicated that fishing is the chief tourist attraction in the Rockport region of the Texas coast.

Other attractions, in order of their importance, include birds and wildlife, water skiing, climate, boating and swimming.

Rockport's attractiveness as a fishing area will be greatly enhanced within the next few months when several Parks and Wildlife Department projects are completed.

The department is in the process of lighting the old causeway across Copano Bay.

A short section of the causeway has been removed, and the two remaining ends have been dedicated as fishing piers.

The pier on the north side is 6,000 feet in length. The south pier is 2,350 feet long.

The department also plans to construct water-level platforms at certain points along the piers to facilitate the landing of large fish.

A department spokesman said the project, including concession buildings at the end of each pier, should be completed by next spring.

Under another project, the department intends to build a 1,620-foot lighted fishing pier at Goose Island State Park near Rockport.

The pier will connect three small islands and will enable anglers to reach good wade-fishing water and will provide access to deeper fishing waters near the pier.

In conjunction with this pier project, the department will dredge a 5,500 foot boat channel connecting the boat ramp at Goose Island Park to the St. Charles Bay channel to the east.

The channel will be five feet deep and 20 feet wide.

Since waters near the boat ramp average about three feet in depth, they are too shallow for many boats. The channel will provide access to fishing waters in St. Charles and Aransas Bays.

The channel will be marked at 500-foot intervals.

Another ambitious and welcome project being undertaken by the department is the marking of the route to Cedar Bayou, a natural pass connecting Mesquite Bay with the Gulf of Mexico.

Cedar Bayou is a dedicated fish, not boat, pass. Boat traffic is now allowed through it, and the pass quite often provides excellent fishing.

But finding the pass can be tricky, because the boater must navigate shallow bay waters dotted with spoil banks, islands and reefs.

A 9,500-foot channel will be marked at 500-foot intervals with creosote pilings and signs to guide anglers to the pass.

Jetty fishermen at the boat basin in Rockport will be provided with better fishing when the department completes construction of some small concrete rubble reefs alongside the jetties.

The reefs, which will be located in from four to six feet of water, will be about 100 feet from the jetties.

And the artificial Gulf reef off Port Aransas is due to be enlarged within the next few weeks, the department spokesman said.

The department, in conjunction with the Port Aransas Boatman Association, will sink a barge loaded with concrete rubble over the reef five miles offshore.

The reef originally was constructed of old car bodies and has been bolstered by dumping concrete rubble and tile pipe.

EDWARDS COMPLETES ADVANCED TRAINING

Army Private Robert M. Edwards, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Edwards, completed eight weeks of advanced training as a combat engineer Sept. 8 at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

During his training, he received instruction in combat squad tactics, use of infantry weapons and engineer reconnaissance.

He also was trained in the techniques of road and bridge building, camouflage, and demolitions.

Oil News

William Herbert Hunt Trust Estate has finaled the No. 46-1 Bankers Mortgage Company as a dual gas well in two new sands.

The Aransas County Southwest Copano Bay Field well 8.5 miles southwest of Rockport, produced at the daily rate of 3,180 million cubic feet of gas in the proposed perforations at 9,118-35 feet. Gas-condensate ration was 7.374-1 and liquid gravity was 58.2 degrees. Flow pressure on 7-64 inch choke was 2,202 pounds and shut-in pressure was 3,903 pounds.

The lower zone was gauged for an absolute open flow of 11.5 million cubic feet of gas a day with gas-condensate ratio of 6,819-1 and liquid gravity of 56.4 degrees.

Production is in the proposed Frio 0-4 from perforations at 9,178-91 feet. Flow pressure on 8-64 inch choke was 3,585 pounds and shut-in pressure was 3,840 pounds. Bottomed at 9,650 feet and plugged back to 9,388 feet, by Harkins Drilling Co., the dual discovery is located in Block 46, 6th Addition, Taft Farm Lands, William Steele Survey, A-191.

W. Earl Rowe, San Antonio operator, plans immediate drilling of a deep Aransas County Frio explorer nine miles west-northwest of Rockport.

Projected to 10,000 feet, the No. 1 Martin Wheeler scales 6,050 feet from the southeast line and 660 feet from the southwest line of Section 46, Fifth Subdivision of Taft Farm Lands. It is 660 feet from the southeast and southwest lines of Lot 9.

Midwest Oil Corp. No. 2 State Tract 360 Southwest Burgentine Lake Field test 15 miles southwest of Seadrift, was preparing to run 7-inch casing after drilling to 7,850 feet, total depth.

Continental No. 28 St. Charles Co. Aransas County St. Charles Field test 8.5 miles south-southwest of Austwell, was running potential on what will be a dual completion. The upper string (A-1) will produce from perforations in the lower tubing (A-1A), will be from perforations at 7.646-52 feet. Earlier the well was bottomed at 7,900 feet.

Fish Movement Indicates Better Fishing Ahead

Salt water fishermen who have been putting off that trip to the coast in hopes of better fishing conditions can start packing, according to E. G. Simmons, regional coastal fisheries supervisor of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Sampling nets of marine fisheries biologists are taking more and better fish. Fishermen have been reporting good catches from widely scattered areas while fish tag returns have increased several times in the last few days, Simmons reported.

Slightly lower temperatures triggered fish movements prior to the rains. Recent rains along the coastal area and along rivers and streams leading to the bays have sweetened the bay water and helped increase fish movements.

"After a summer of relatively little activity," Simmons said, "the fish seem to sense the approach of fall and have started moving a little earlier this year than is usual."

"If it stops raining now," he said, "we can look forward to better fishing than usual. If it keeps raining, bay waters could get too fresh and drive some of the fish out.

A TEXAN REPORTS ON A GLANCE AT SOUTH AMERICA

(Second Installment)

By
Monsignor Frederick O. Beck

As was announced in the article published last July in the Pilot before my departure for South America, my objectives on the trip were: 1) view the Salt Dome Cathedral in Bogota Columbia, and get information on the following subjects: 1) Education; 2) Land Reform; 3) Religion.

The Cathedral, The Marvel Of This Country

When Mr. Harrold Rambusch of the firm of Rambusch & Co., in New York informed me on several occasions as he was working on the Salt Dome Cathedral that he had instructions to make it the "Eighth Wonder of the World," it had been one of my ambitions to view this structure and see "A Wonder of the World."

Now that I have seen it, I must admit that I have not seen any of the seven other Wonders of the World but happen to know some of them, Such as the Pyramids of Egypt.

Perhaps to apply the title "Eighth Wonder' is aiming a bit high; there is nothing, however, that will keep it from being called 'The Marvel of the twentieth century.'

To reach this eminent underground structure you drive up a mountain side to an altitude of 11,000 feet, enter a widened mineshaft four miles into the interior of the mine and there come to a halt. You enter and the immenseness of the structure does not dawn on you because of the partial darkness of the entire colossus.

The guide leads you to the main altar and then asks you to look back. He then begins: "The distance from here at the foot of the altar to the entrance is 665 feet, 65 feet, more than twice the length of a football diamond.

It has six side chapels formed by the pillars of salt protruding from the side walls, each chapel dedicated to some Saint and one to the Nativity of Our Lord. These pillars also form the walls for these chapels and you will note the stream of white on the ceiling of the Chapel of the Nativity. This is a leak in the roof and the streak is made by pure salt water drippings known as brine, and is formed on the ceiling like the tail of a comet.

"It has been suggested that an electric globe be put at the opening of the stream and give it the appearance of a star with a streaming tail like comet. But that would not be Biblical since it is not known whether the star that led the Magi was a comet.

You will notice there are no seats. The standing capacity of these rooms is 8,000. In fact 10,000 were crowded in here for the dedication of the building."

After leading us to the front of the main altar he stated: "You will notice that the altar is one solid block of salt. However, it does not stand parallel to the front door, but rather a bit caticornered, but that is the natural position of the block and it is perhaps the only altar in the world which holds that position. The acoustics of the building are nearly perfect. Great choirs and symphony orchestras have come here to perform and taken advantage of this, should I say, freak of nature."

"You will notice on the ceiling of the Epistle side a large streak of white and a scaffold standing under it. There is a leak in the roof, and brine is constantly oozing out. However, to make certain that no mishap takes place at any time, a scaffolding is kept directly, as you may see, under the opening to inspect the texture of the salt from time to time to make certain that it is not ready to fall."

The entire building with the exception of the floor, which is tiling, is of pure salt. To describe its color is not easy. It has a uniform discoloration of the salt surface and it is a deep black with a tinge of charcoal coloring which adds a tiny glow to it when hit by electric lighting. Services are held every Sunday at noon and at 6 p.m.

Papal Nuncio at Lima Peru

The tour agency had arranged for three interviews with Catholic clergy along the way where we could gather information, and, if need be, ask questions. We had the unusual privilege to have a visit with the Papal Nuncio to Peru His Excellency Amleto Vanuzzi, Archbishop, Papal Nuncio and Papal Delegate to Peru. His rank is: He is first among all ambassadors and is the presiding one at all business meetings, etc. This honor is accorded him for these two reasons: 1) he is there in the capacity of Ambassador of Vatican City, a state in its own right and, 2) as representative of the Catholic Church which happens also to be the state religion of Peru.

His Excellency gave a discourse in English that lasted over an hour. By way of further information the good man told us that he is able to carry on conversations fluently in seven languages. He spoke with an enthusiasm that was contagious on the advantages of the state of Peru. He claimed it is the third in rank among the nations of the world as to productivity, and natural resources and the day will be coming when it will rank first as to wealth among the nations.

This claim is based on the tremendous resources of natural minerals that have not been touched to date, he stated. And with somewhat of a gleam in his eye he stated that ALL MINERAL RIGHTS are reserved to the State, not like in the United States, he remarked, "where you might discover uranium and then sell your product for a fortune to your government."

He spoke of the Humboldt strata, the richest fishing strata in the world, running along the coast of Peru, crops being produced all year in the mountain valley, and an unlimited chance for marketing fish and the products of the valley.

He was very proud of the Inca civilization which was being unearthed and displayed village by village as it was being discovered by the experts, and he spoke of instruments being discovered that were used in surgery and are still servicable today if need be.

Skulls were discovered, with gold plates replacing bone that had been removed. The method of giving anesthetics was also known in those days, it has been learned. It consisted of having a patient swallow the juice of a certain herb which produced the sleep for the operation.

The Nuncio stated very emphatically that the Inca civilization has been proven to be more than 10,000 years old, according to the findings of the paleontologists.

This statement brought a smile to some of us because we reasoned that if the Indians moved at the speed of the present inhabitants it could well have taken that number of years to have reached this stage of civilization.

For example, I had noticed many cars still operating with 1966 car license plates. I met a very close friend of mine, a priest of the Society of Mary with headquarters in San Antonio, who has been stationed in Peru for better than 15 years. I asked him as to why these license numbers were still in use this season of the year. Without the trace of a smile he replied: "The bookkeeping system is just running late, that's all."

The Nuncio revealed an interesting fact about Peru, which is that up in the mountains there are villages of Indians which have hardly been touched by our civilization. To bring this to them is a difficult task because of the language problem. Each village speaks a dialect based on the unwritten original Inca language, and hence it is extremely difficult to bring to them our concept of living. Each village requires a special study of its language.

With this information time ran out with the Nuncio and thus ended a most pleasant and informative interview.

UNCLE SAM'S SELECTIVE SERVICE

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 702 Colorado Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—We have only one son. We've heard if a family has only one son he won't be drafted, but he'll be put in Class IV-A. Is that right?

A—That depends. The law provides that he must be the sole surviving son of a family of which the father or one or more sons or daughters were killed in action or died in line of duty while serving in the Armed Forces of the U.S., or subsequently died as a result of injuries received or disease incurred during this service.

Q—Must a man return to his own local board for his Armed Forces physical examination, or for his induction?

A—No. He may transfer for either physical examination or induction by requesting this action at the draft board nearest him.

Q—Recently my wife and I were divorced. She has custody of our two children and has them with her. Can I still get Class III-A deferment?

A—Not as a father. To qualify for III-A, you must maintain a bona fide family relationship with the children in your home. It may be possible for you to be deferred in III-A because of extreme hardship to these dependents, but you will have to prove hardship to your draft board's satisfaction.

Q—How long did Congress extend the draft law?

A—Until July 1, 1971.

Pirates Sink Eagles 14-0

By
Robert Oliver

The Fighting Pirates of Rockport-Fulton High School sank the Pettus Eagles 14-0 last Friday night in Pirate stadium.

This muddy gridiron clash was the 1967 season opener for both schools. The Pirates rallied to their opening victory with a second-half effort in front of an almost sell-out home crowd.

The first half of play ended in a 0-0 score due to the wet field plus several penalties and fumbles suffered by both teams.

The Pirates lost an opportunity to score in the first quarter when they fumbled inside the Eagles' 20-yard line. The Eagles also suffered a similar situation when they had a pass intercepted in the end zone by Pirate defensive back Joe Valdez.

As the second half got underway, the Pirates found themselves in a receiving situation. The whistle blew, the ball was kicked, and Pirate halfback Ruford Huff followed his blockers to daylight and scampered untouched 83 yards for Pirate paydirt. The Pirates decided to go for the two point conversion and did so successfully as Quarterback Chris Edwards rolled to his right side and stepped into the end zone.

With less than a minute of the second half gone, the Pirates now had an 8-0 lead over the Eagles. The remainder of the third quarter went scoreless and the score remained 8-0 as that quarter ended.

The final quarter found both the Pirates and Eagles unable to maintain a threatening drive. Then with 1.37 left to play Pirate Quarterback Chris Edwards found running room on a bootleg play and went into the end zone from 14 yards out. The two point conversion was blocked and the Pirates now led 14-0. This is how the score remained as the closing gun sounded.

The Pirates led in first downs and penetrations with 11-4 and 3-2. The Pirates passed three times for 12 yards and gained 178 yards rushing Leading ground gainers for the Pirates were Ruford Huff with 82 yards, George Rinche with 44 yards, and Roy (Moose) Johnson with 37 yards.

Spiderflowers are also known as skunkweeds.

Letters to the Editor

Anyone who has not seen the Aransas County Emergency Corps in action is, in my opinion, missing seeing the best in volunteer activities in the Coastal Bend.

Having been in quite a few volunteer fire department and emergency corps cities and viewing their activities, I definitely believe that here in Rockport we are blessed with the best.

One example is the recent scare of the reported three drowned children at the beach last Sunday. Within minutes after the alarm was sounded at least 10 volunteers of the Emergency Corps were on hand and several of them went out into the water with Patrolman Joe Dominguez and an unnamed bystander.

A boat commanded by Col. Robert Stroot of Rockport picked up the three children just seconds before these men got to them and brought them safely toward shore. None of the children was hurt seriously but had they been, there were several qualified first aid men available at the scene to prevent a terrible situation.

It is gratifying to know that there are men who are unselfish enough to devote their time to not only do this kind of work but to take their time away from their families to train so that these missions can be carried out without undue delay.

To assist the Aransas County Emergency Corp at the beach Sunday were members of the Rockport Police Dept., the Aransas County Sheriff's Dept. and an ambulance of Cage-Marshall Funeral Homes.

I think we could all do well by letting these men know that we think they are doing a wonderful job and hope and pray that they continue on with the good work.

Robert Hewes,
Chief of Police.

MRS. JOHN HERRING DIES

Funeral services for Mrs. John L. Herring, 65, who died Sept. 9 at her home in Dallas, were held Sunday at Cage-Marshall Funeral Home here with burial in Rockport Cemetery.

Mrs. Herring had lived here and in Dallas for the past 17 years.

Survivors include her husband; her mother, Mrs. Emma Bronk, and two brothers, Chapel A. and Jaul Jones, all of San Antonio, and a sister, Mrs. Caroline Wolcott of Dallas.

SGT. CRITTENDEN GETS COMMENDATION MEDAL

Chief Master Sergeant John B. Crittenden, whose wife, Leatha, is the daughter of Mrs. Elsie Wilder of Rockport, has received the U. S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Nha Trang AB, Vietnam.

Sergeant Crittenden, an aircraft maintenance superintendent, was decorated for meritorious service in the department of field training, 3750th Technical School, Sheppard AFB, Tex. His outstanding professional skill, knowledge and leadership aided immeasurably in expanding the training support for the Air Defense Command and Air National Guard; also in developing the Air Training Command and National Guard; also in developing the Air Training Command/Tactical Air Command Southeast Asia Maintenance training program.

He is now at Nha Trang with the Pacific Air Forces which provides tactical air power supporting the U. S. and its allies in Southeast Asia and the Far East.

The sergeant served in the European Theater of operations during World War II.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Davis, Ford and Kathy of Houston, spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Davis and Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Jackson.

Statewide Radar To 'Slow' Speeders

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reported today that the DPS had ordered a number of radar sets to be placed in every patrol district over the state to aid in enforcing the highway speed laws.

Use of the sets will enable the Department to secure a higher degree of compliance with the speed law. With the purchase of the new equipment, authorized by the Public Safety Commission, the Department will continue its long standing policy of filing charges in every case where there is a clear-cut, substantial violation of the speed law.

The new radar units will be mounted in highway patrol cars and are designed so that only one patrolman is needed for operation. Accurate readings can be obtained on vehicles at distances of up to 1,500 feet. All highway patrolmen are trained in radar operation.

"Accident statistics indicate," Garrison said, "that speed too fast for conditions is the most prevalent violation contributing to accidents in Texas. It figured in 41 per cent of the fatal accidents reported during 1966, and 29 per cent of the non-fatal accidents.

Along with hundreds of others, these students and teachers were among the 52 from South Texas who attended this year's Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas under CPL sponsorship. The annual symposium and related regional gatherings are activities of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, of which Central Power and Light Company is a member.

Another Scientific Frontier— Another Challenge to Youth

Ten years from now, when you'll be using twice as much electricity as you are today, some young people you know may have a big hand in keeping the quality high, the price low and the supply plentiful. South Texas science students, looking ahead to unlimited sources of energy, are exploring the secrets of the atom. Applying their curiosity and imagination to the knowledge already gained through nuclear research, some of these students — possibly the boy or girl next door — may discover new ways for electric service to perform miracles for you. Heat produced by nuclear fission — splitting the atom — is already working in many areas as an alternate fuel to generate electricity. The Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, seeking to harness the vastly greater power of nuclear fusion, looks ahead to even better ways for atomic energy to supplement the still-plentiful fossil fuels of South Texas as the need arises.

JOHN KINSEY

There are two million 16-21 year olds in our labor force today who jeopardized their futures with one rash decision—they chose to drop out of school without a diploma.

If the current dropout rate rate continues, there will be 32 million adults in the labor force without a high school education by 1975.

The harsh fact is that there is little room left in a booming America for the school dropout. He faces a lifetime of dull, low-paying jobs—or no jobs at all.

Dropouts have an unemployment rate of 13 per cent—more than three times the rate for the whole labor force. In terms of dollars and cents, the picture isn't any brighter. When a teenager leaves school before graduating, he can expect to earn $1,000 less in a single year than the person who stays and gets a diploma.

If the country is to continue its rapid technological growth and maintain its position as world leader, we desperately need qualified—and that means EDUCATED—people who can take on the new skilled jobs being created every day.

To help assure that we have those skilled workers, the President's Council on Youth Opportunity has launched the 1967 Stay-in-School Campaign to convince all young people of the importance of a good education in their own lives and for the future of their country.

Each of us has a responsibility to join in this campaign. If you are in school, stay there and get at least a high school diploma.

If you are no longer a student, help those who are by urging them and helping them in any way you can to go back to school this fall.

It's the best investment in the future that any of us can make!
