FDR To Back Byrnes Plan

WLB, Treasury Disclaim Approval; Congress Starts New Session Today

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2—President Roosevelt gave general endorsement to a home-front legislative program proposed by War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes, as members gathered for the 79th Congress opening tomorrow.

However, some other government agencies, such as the War Labor board and the Treasury, pointedly disclaimed any responsibility for the Byrnes proposals.

The program includes the drafting of 4-Fs into limited military service or war jobs if present measures prove inadequate to meet manpower problems.

It also includes empowering the War Labor board to enforce its own orders; and tax revisions; but no general tax reduction.

Confers With Leaders

The president conferred this morning with Democratic leaders in Congress. They emerged speaking favorably of Byrnes' "work or fight" proposal.

Later in the day Mr. Roosevelt told his news conference that the ideas of "Assistant President" Byrnes contained in a year-end statement were substantially in agreement with his own.

The Treasury emphasized it was not consulted on the Byrnes recommendation for tax revisions.

War Labor board Chairman William H. Davis denied he had any hand in the proposal to give WLB enforcement authority. Lloyd K. Garrison, public member of the board, said he would "hate to see them open up" the question of compliance in the courts.

More Power Opposed

Rep. Harness (R-Ind) expressed opposition to clothing the board with "any more power." On the other hand, Wayne Morse, Oregon Republican, who left WLB to win a Senate seat, endorsed the Byrnes proposal.

A number of senators and members of the House immediately became wary over the 4-F draft idea.

Senator McCarran (N-Nev) said it wasn't necessary. Senator Murray (D-Mont) wants to study the Byrnes plan first before he talks.

Senator Kilgore (D-W Va) and Rep. Andrews (R-NY) pondered the same question—how much to pay the drafted 4-F in a war plant, the $50 a drafted soldier gets or the $250 to $300 or more

Good Set Of Principles

Sketching a rough background for this meeting in response to a rapid fire of news conference questions, the President declared that the Allies have a pretty good set of principles but that they are differently interpreted in different countries and under the circumstances, he said, you do the best you can.

Earlier in the day, it was indicated that the Big Three probably will meet early in February, Senate Majority Leader Barkley said after talking with the President that Mr. Roosevelt had indicated he would meet Churchill and Stalin sometime soon, to which House Majority Leader McCormick added "probably."

Greek Situation

Mr. Roosevelt also was asked about Prime Minister Churchill's statement that he had been in telegraphic correspondence with the President on the handling of the Greek situation, the implication being that the President had in some way subscribed to the British policy of using armed force in Greece.

Mr. Roosevelt replied that the most important thing is to see that the populations of rescued countries do not starve. We've all been thinking of that for a long time, he said.

The discussion of differences among the Allies arose when a reporter remarked that British Ambassador Halifax said this morning that consideration was being given to obtaining closer consultations among the Allies, particularly the United States, Britain and Russia.

No Common Capital

The President responded to that by saying the only way to get closer consultations is to have a common capital for all three countries and you can't do that Actually, headded, there is an enormous volume of correspondence constantly going on among them.

The President may start off his relations with the new Congress by laying down a proposed foreign policy program. There are apparently well founded reports that his state of the union message Saturday will lay down a point-by-point program of foreign relations proposals on which he hopes action will be taken in the months ahead.

Halifax, Stettinius Talk

British Ambassador Halifax spent a half hour with Secretary Stettinius today, just before Stettinius made a noon call on the President. Halifax reported that his general subject concerned the need for closer and more frequent exchange of information and a general tightening of relations not only between Washington and London but also with Moscow and other Allied capitals.

The President may speak in some detail, in his Saturday message, on the Polish issue, which still remains one of the foremost diplomatic problems in Europe and on a variety of other subjects, including postwar boundary settlements.

Roosevelt Cites Allied Troubles

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—President Roosevelt acknowledged today that there are some important differences among the Allied powers and implied that they concern European political and territorial problems.

Moreover, heindicated that he doesn't hope to settle them all at his forthcoming meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin.

WMC Gets Tough With Manpower

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP) — Tough treatment for violators of "employment ceilings" and virtual elimination of male workers from night clubs and other luxury establishments in war centers were forecast officially tonight.

A spokesman for the War Manpower commission said flagrant failures of less essential companies to trim their working staffs down to the ceilings prescribed by WMC will be referred to the War Production board shortly, unless prompt compliance is forthcoming.

To Ask Sanctions

WPB will be asked to invoke sanctions—which include the withholding of materials, power, fuel or transportation — from firms which are found, after hearing, to have violated manpower regulations to the detriment of the war effort.

Night club staffs would be limited mostly to women under present WMC plans, through the stricter application of hiring ceilings which would squeeze able-bodied males out of such employment.

FDR, Truman Confer With Congressmen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP) — President Roosevelt expanded the congressional "big four" into the "big five" today. He added Vice President-elect Truman to his first 1945 conference with legislative leaders.

Democratic chiefs from Senate and House came to the White House to survey prospects for the new congress starting tomorrow and to complete arrangements to receive the president's annual and budget messages. The annual message is expected to go to congress later this week, the budget message early next week. Probably neither will be delivered in person.

In addition to Truman, those attending today's conference were Vice President Wallace, whose term ends January 20; Speaker Rayburn, Senate Majority Leader Barkley and House Democratic Leader McCormack.

Between this conference, another at midday with Senate department officials and a late afternoon news conference, the president set aside time to work on his annual message.

Oil Worker Hurt In Mishap At Sundown

O. W. Proctor of Brownfield was in a serious condition Tuesday night in West Texas hospital, after being struck in the face and chest by a steel weight Tuesday afternoon as he was helping to dismantle a well-drilling rig near Sundown.

Proctor, who was brought to Lubbock in a Plains Funeral home ambulance escorted by Highway Patrolman Tom Laws, suffered a crushed chest, lacerated face, and probable internal injuries, his physician stated; however, the full extent of his injuries had not been determined.

WFA OFFERS APPLES

DALLAS, Jan. 2 (AP)—The War Food administration has offered for sale for canning purposes, 1,785 cases of government-owned sliced apples no longer needed for the war effort, it was announced today by F. W. Underwood, district WFA representative.

Aerial Blows Against Japs Stepped Up

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

AMERICAN aerial blows against the Japanese in the Philippines, off Formosa and in the central Pacific highlighted official reports late Tuesday on progress of the war against Nippon.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur said his fliers marked the passing of the old year by striking Japanese shipping and other targets. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said Yank airmen continued blasting Iwo Jima, on the road to Tokyo, while the Japanese staged a feeble raid on the Yank Superfortress base at Saipan.

Five Freighters Fired

MacArthur said air patrols, operating east of Formosa, shot down four enemy planes and left five coastal freighters in flames.

Striking against Luzon, main island of the Philippines, the American airmen unloaded bombs at Laoag, on the northwest coast facing the China Sea. The explosives started fires ashore and sank a freighter. Air patrols destroyed a gunboat off the west coast.

Yank fighter planes, roaring over southern Luzon, blasted warehouses, rail facilities, power plants and wharves.

To the west of American-held Leyte island MacArthur planes bombed the airdrome on Negros while PT boats sank four barges in that area. On Leyte 778 additional Japanese fighting men were killed.

Luson Landings Expected

Meanwhile Japanese Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, ex-commander in the Philippines, warned the Nippon people to expect American landings on Luzon and added "as long as Luzon is fully in our hands, the enemy's attempts to recapture the Philippines will not be realized.'

The strike at Iwo last Sunday—the 25th consecutive day of attacks there — was announced shortly after radio Tokyo broadcast an estimate by the Japanese newspaper Asahi that "approximately 550 B-29 bombers" have been destroyed or damaged since they opened their bombing campaign against Nippon homeland industries. The Asahi estimate, not confirmed by American official quarters, including acknowledged unconfirmed reports as well as guesses.

Iwo Battered Again

U. S. Pacific fleet headquarters reported American fliers ushered out the old year by blasting strategic Iwo. The Liberators continued their round-the-clock smashes against Iwo air installations. They met moderate ackack fire.

Monday the Japanese made a weak attempt to raid the American Superfortress base at Saipan. A lone Nippon plane dropped a single bomb. There was no damage.

Marine fliers attacked Rota island, between Saipan and Guam, and maintained the pace of their neutralizing strikes in the Marshalls. They also strafed fuel dumps and other targets at Balelthuap, Japanese base in the Palaus north of American-held islands in that chain.

Sub Reported Lost

In Washington, the Navy reported loss of a submarine, a medium landing ship and two motor torpedo boats.

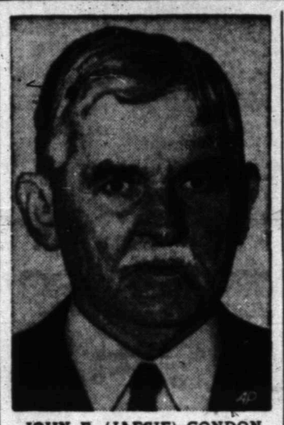

Destruction of 25 Japanese planes at Suchow, on China's Yellow river, was reported by the U. S. 14th Airforce. The American airmen also blasted Suchow railway yards and destroyed a locomotive. The Yank fliers also carried out attacks in widely separated areas of China and Burma. Not a single American plane was lost.

Walton New College Station Postmaster

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 2 (AP) —Dr. T. O. Walton, former president of Texas A. and M. college, became acting postmaster at College Station today.

He succeeds the late Anna Smith, who was postmaster here for 11 years. Dr. Walton was checked in by a postal inspector from the Houston office. He was recommended for the post on Dec. 5 by Rep. Luther Johnson (D-Tex).

Dr. Walton's presidency of Texas A. and M. ended in the fall of 1943 when he was not re-elected by the board of directors. He now is a vice chairman of the Eighth Regional War Labor board in Dallas, but is to officially resign in a few days.

JOHN F. (JAFSIE) CONDON

Pneumonia Fatal For Dr. Condon

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (AP) — Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon, 84, who tried in vain to ransom the kidnaped Charles A. Lindbergh, jr., died today—the 10th anniversary of the start of Bruno Richard Hauptmann's trial for the crime.

Dr. Condon, a retired New York City public school principal, had been ill of pneumonia for a month.

It was Dr. Condon, known the world over as "Jafsie"—the name he took from his initials J. F. C.—who handed over $50,000 in St. Raymond's cemetery, the Bronx, to a man who said he was "John" and identified himself as the baby's kidnaper.

Was April 2, 1932

The transaction took place the night of April 2, 1932. On the previous March 1, the 20 months' old son of the famous flier and the former Anne Morrow had been stolen from his crib in their Sourland mountains home in Hopewell, N. J.

Given a note which said the baby would be found on "the boad (boat) Nelly" in Long Island Sound, Dr. Condon contacted Col. Lindberg, who searched in vain for his child. On May 12 the child's body was found in a thicket just off the Hopewell-Prmceton highway, five miles from the Lindbergs home.

Chief State Witness

Three years later, Dr. Condon became one of the state's chief witnesses in the little courthouse in Flemington, N. J., where Bruno Richard Hauptmann went on trial for the infant's slaying.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz asked Dr. Condon to identify the "John" he met in the cemetery.

Dr. Condon raised his forefinger, stared at the sullen Hauptmann and said in a hushed courtroom:

"John was Bruno Richard Hauptmann."

Hauptmann, a carpenter, was convicted, sentenced to die in the electric chair, and executed April 3, 1936.

Army Fires 11 Men From Wards Staff

CHICAGO, Jan. 2—The Army today discharged 11 officials of Montgomery Ward and company in seven cities, a federal grand jury began an investigation of the dispute which led to seizure of the mail order firm's properties, and Ward's chairman, Sewell L. Avery, held a long conference with his associates.

The Army's crackdown came during a day of renewed activity in the controversy, with orders and charges coming thick and fast from Chicago headquarters of Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Byron, military manager who took over Thursday under presidential seizure order.

Refused To Cooperate

The 11 company officials were discharged because, General Byron said, they refused to cooperate and accept army appointment to continue their jobs under Uncle Sam.

Many other company men accepted such appointments, he said. All were managers or administrative employes of stores or mail order houses.

Army officers experienced in merchandising and fiscal affairs replaced the dismissed company officials.

Posters calling on all employes to cooperate were put up in the 16 seized properties in seven cities. Signed by General Byron, the notices declared that interference with the Army would be reported to the FBI and might result in "severe penalties," also that those discharged for failure to cooperate would be subject to Selective Service reclassification.

Grand Jury Inquiry

A federal prosecutor who declined to be identified said a Chicago federal grand jury began investigation to determine whether there had been company interference here with the Army that might be in violation of the Smith-Connally act.

Two Army officers appeared before the Chicago grand jury. So did H. L. Pearson, Ward's vice-president and treasurer, who was subpoenaed along with F. S. Schinnick, head of the company plant protection service, and Stanley Houda, company chief of guards.

Avery continued to declare the seizure unconstitutional and said the company could not accept or obey it. He held a marathon conference with his executives and department heads. They moved in and out of his office over a period of several hours.

General Byron in a preliminary report to Secretary of War Stimson said Avery and other company representatives had refused to cooperate or to heed orders he had issued.

George Eubank, Two Others Badly Hurt At Power Plant

Three persons, one of them of Lubbock, were rushed to Lubbock General hospital after a mishap which late Tuesday night had not been explained fully to district officials of Southwestern Public Service company, atop whose substation in Seagraves the men had been almost electrocuted about 3:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

They were: George Eubank, 47, of 2118 Twenty-third in Lubbock; Tom Hunt, 40, farmer of the Loop community of Gaines county; and Weaver H. Baucum, 33, farmer whose home is seven miles west of Seagraves.

Accident Described

Eubank, employed by Texas Roofing company in Lubbock, and Mrs. Eubank had gone to Seagraves, where he climbed to the roof of the "control point" to measure it. He then mounted a cupola, which is approximately five feet above the building's main roof, to continue measurements. Mrs. Eubank, sitting in her car near the substation, saw him violently react when, it was theorized, the current from the high tension, 24,000 volt, lines "arced" into his body.

He fell to the roof on which he stood. Mrs. Eubank screamed. Hunt and Baucum, said by witnesses to have been at the nearby Pence Blacksmith shop, rushed to Eubank's assistance.

Current Hits Them

They lifted Eubank's body and, in turn, the current arced into them, witnesses said they believed.

Baucum, whose condition late Tuesday night was considered critical, is presumed to have been "jacknifed" forward by the impact. His back was broken, and he said he suffered immediate paralysis from the waist down. He was the only one of the victims who was not rendered unconscious by the shock, said those who first reached the three.

X-ray examination disclosed Baucum had suffered "a depressed fracture of the eighth dorsal vertebra, with an outward dislocation."

Delicate Operation

An intricate surgical operation, known as a laminectomy, removed the posterior arch of vertebrae affected and, through removal of parts of spinal processes pushing on the spinal cord, relieved pressure on the cord.

No incision was made in the cover of the spinal cord, so surgeons could not say immediately how seriously the cord was injured, even though they knew it had been bruised. Baucum's pulse and respiration were satisfactory after his surgery.

Eubank suffered burns of the head, lacerations of the face, but showed less evidence of shock as early as 8 o'clock Tuesday night. There had been no x-ray examination announced for him, but he was given intravenous stimulant soon after he was taken to the hospital.

Hunt suffered burns of the head and shock, and complained of a hurting in the back of his head.

Soldier Intent On Job In Heat Of Combat Unaware His Leg Blown Off, Veteran Of Kwajalein And Leyte Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP)—Pvt. James B. Arthur, 20, of Houston, says that in the heat of combat a soldier can be so intent on his job that he is not aware his leg has been blown off.

Arthur lost his right leg by enemy shell fragments on Leyte last Oct. 30. He made his statement in an interview with the War department bureau of public relations.

The tall young Texan was a tank gunner with the 7th Infantry division. He is a veteran not only of the Philippine liberation campaign but of the fighting on Kwajalen, in the Marshalls.

On D-day in the Philippines, said Arthur, the tanks of his outfit had penetrated two and half miles inland to open upon 77-mm guns with which the Japs were shelling troops still landing on the beach.

"My tank was within 80 yards of one of the Jap 77's when it landed a broadside hit on us. The hit killed my loader and blew my right leg off. At the time, I didn't know it. I felt a sort of heat where my leg should have been but paid no attention to it. You see, I had just 'registered' my 75-mm cannon on the Jap gun.

"The hit took me off the target, and I guess I was concentrating so intensely on getting ack on that I couldn't feel pain.

"I fired. I made a direct hit. The round smashed that Jap gun to its.

"Then I was aware that my buddy was lying dead beside me and that the inside of the tank was on fire. I tried to reach for the fire extinguisher but couldn't make it. The assistant gunner did, however, and put the fire out.

"By this time, the Jap riflemen had swarmed all over the tank and, through my periscope, I could see them trying to poke their rifles into our vision slits.

"But our platoon sergeant, S/Sgt. Leonard Brown, pulled his tank up close to us and knocked the Japs off our vehicle with machinegun bullets.

"We were crippled, but still able to move, so Brown's tank covered us as we recrossed a swamp and got to dry, level ground.

"There, my tank commander, Cpl. Willie Speer, pulled me out through the turret and laid me on the ground until litter bearers came up. We were under heavy sniper and machinegun fire, but our riflemen, who were near us, kept spoiling the Nips' aim."

The Texan added: "No matter how big the Japs were, they never came too big for the doughboys. I saw one soldier, whose rifle had been splintered by grenade fragments, yank a huge Jap out of a hole and choke him to death in hand-to-hand combat."

Arthur, who has been awarded the Purple Heart, was evacuated from Letterman General hospital to McCloskey General hospital, Temple.

ADMIRAL RAMSEY

British Admiral Killed In Crash

PARIS, Jan. 2. (AP)—Admiral Sir Bertram Home Ramsay, whose ships saved the British Army at Dunkerque and who four years later directed naval operations in the Allied invasion, of Normandy, was killed today when his plane crashed on a trip to Belgium. He would have been 62 on Jan. 20.

An announcement from supreme headquarters said that the admiral, whose aggressiveness won him the nickname "Dynamo,"—which was the code name of the Dunkerque operation—met with an "accident" while en route to a conference. His plane was not shot down by the Germans but probably ran into bad weather.

Planner And Commander

Ramsay was a planner and commander of every important combined naval-Army operation of the Allies and was naval commander in chief under General Eisenhower, the supreme Allied commander, named to that post when Eisenhower moved to London to plan the invasion of the continent. Ramsay was the second of the Eisenhower invasion command to be lost.

Air Chief Marshal Trafford L. Leigh-Mallory, head of the Allied aerial forces, recently was reported missing en route to a new station in the Southeast Asia command.

Naval circles today suggested Ramsay's logical successor would be Admiral Sir John Cunningham, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean fleet.

Indians Aid Capture Of German Escapees

SELLS, Ariz., Jan. 2 (AP)—Indians provided the first clue that led to the apprehension today of two weary German U-boat prisoners after they plodded across nearly 175 miles of cactus-studded desert bound for Mexico.

Their capture brought to 10 the number of Nazis caught since 25 fled from the Papago Park prisoner camp at Phoenix, Ariz., on Christmas eve.

The Germans, Heinrich Palmer and Reinhard Mark, were within 25 miles of the international boundary when they were captured by Fred W. Tully, U. S. customs agent. Tully surprised them as they slept in a clump of sagebrush 300 yards from a roadway.

Thirst as they trudged across the Arizona wasteland forced the Germans to go near an Indian village 25 miles north of here Sunday night.

One of the Indians reported the men's suspicious movements to Orlando Garcia, acting superintendent of the Sells Indian agency.

17 Bodies Recovered From Plane Wreckage

YUMA, Ariz., Jan. 2 (AP) — Seventeen bodies have been recovered from the wreckage of a C-47 Army transport plane that crashed Christmas day on Black Mesa mountain 30 miles east of Blythe, Calif., in the Arizona desert.

The plane, which burned, was based at Malden, Mo., Air Transport command field.

The crew members aboard the ship were identified by the Malden base and included:

Capt. B. H. Gibson, Corpus Christi, Tex., pilot.

German Attacks Dent Seventh Army Front

Probable Belgium Withdrawal Seen; Allied Planes Batter Enemy Troops

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Wednesday, Jan. 3—German troops were jabbing today at nearly a dozen places from Saarbrucken to the Rhine against U. S. Third and Seventh Army positions in a series of diversionary thrusts that had gained as much as two miles in at least one point.

Nowhere had these counterblows assumed anything like the proportions of the breakthrough Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt had achieved in the Belgian bulge. There he was already making his first gesture of withdrawal under the hammering of 2,500 Allied warplanes, which smashed at enemy troops, armor and installations from the base of the wedge to the Rhine.

Seventh Army Dented

A sizable dent has been made in the U. S. Seventh Army front south of the Maginot line bastion of Bitche, close to the German border, field dispatches disclosed, but this push has been slowed almost to a standstill after gaining as much as two miles on a five-mile front.

Thrusts At Third Army

A new series of counterthrusts has been opened by von Rundstedt on the Third Army front farther west.

These fresh blows to the south, delivered with the same fury that marked the assault against the First Army in Belgium and Luxembourg last month, were launched on New Year's eve.

An apparent miscalculation in the weather has worked against the Nazis, however, since clear skies have permitted complete aerial support of the American ground troops.

Disclosure that the Germans appeared to be withdrawing from their Belgian salient followed a U. S. Third Army advance of more than two miles into the Nazi southern flank.

News Embargo Lifted

Moreover, the Allied high command lifted the 36 hour embargo on news from the Belgian bulge tonight, disclosing that the fringes of the enemy wedge have been comparatively stabilized since the Third Army's thrust.

No startling developments in the last 36 hours were revealed, although it was admitted that some reports might have been delayed because of the time required for the order lifting the news ban to

Reds Push On In Bloody Budapest

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP)—Almost 900 blocks of buildings in battered Budapest were in Russian hands today as Red Army storm troops continued to blast their way into the capital street by street and house by house, aiming at "annihilation of encircled enemy groupings" on both sides of the Danube.

Tonight's Soviet communique reported capture of 232 blocks in Pest, eastern section of the embattled Hungarian capital, and another 63 in the western section, Buda.

Concentrate On City

Indicating that the Red Army is concentrating on the conquest of Budapest before continuing its drive toward Austria, the communique reported action on only one other sector of the southeastern front, the repulse of attacks by "large forces of enemy infantry and tanks" southeast of Komaron, a Danube river town 42 miles northwest of Budapest and 53 miles southeast of Bratislava.

These attacks, apparently in the neighborhood of Tovaroos, Soviet-held town five miles southeast of Komarom, cost the Germans heavily in manpower and equipment, the communique broadcast from Moscow said.

Artillery Joins In

The Russian assault forces pushing ahead in Budapest had continued support from artillery outside the city which had forced the defending garrisons of Germans and Hungarians underground in their last-ditch stand.

Russian artillery commanders were firing over open sights and, with German resistance weakening rapidly, frontline dispatches broadcast from Moscow indicated the end of the bloody siege probably was near.

Berlin Battered By RAF Heavies

LONDON, Jan. 2. (AP)—The RAF, in one of its biggest night raids of the war, dropped 6,000 tons of bombs from more than 1,000 heavy bombers tonight on Berlin and the Germany industrial centers of Nuremberg and Ludwigshafen.

The attacks followed daylight hammering of American Army concentrations and communications behind the enemy wedge in Belgium by U. S. Eighth Air force Flying Fortresses and Liberators.

More than 3,000 tons of bombs were unloaded by the American heavies in their eleventh consecutive day of the sustained aerial offensive. Nine bombers and two fighters of the Eighth Air force failed to return.

Frontline Nazis Pounded

Nearly 1,700 warplanes from American bases in Britain participated in the operations today and among their targets was a group of Nazi armored and infantry units close to the front.

These German troops, spotted in a wooded area 10 miles behind the lines northeast of Saarlautern, were reported bombed "with exceptionally good results."

In contrast to yesterday's massed attack by the German airforce, the American planes carried out today's operations without interference from enemy fighters.

The weather was clear and most of the bombing was visual.

Navy Will Increase Air Training Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP) — The Navy decided today it had cut back its pilot training program too much last year and some steps are needed to meet increasing demands.

The 7,000 aviation cadets and student aviation pilots who were separated from the pre-flight stages of the aviation training programs since June will be given an opportunity to re-enter the program.

Reassignment will begin during the coming spring and summer.

NAZI HERO HONORED

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP)—Germany's newest and highest decoration has been awarded to Col. Hans Ulrich Rudel, 28-year-old airman credited with destruction of 463 tanks and 700 vehicles among other accomplishments, the Berlin radio said today. The decoration was described as golden oak leaves with swords and diamonds to the Knight's cross of the Iron Cross.

CONFERENCE TALKED

LONDON, Wednesday, Jan. 3 (AP)—The possibility was raised by the British press today that President Roosevelt would come to Britain for a conference with Prime Minister Churchill before they get together with Premier Stalin.

Texan, One Other Die In Plane Crash

FRESNO, Calif., Jan. 2 (AP) — Two Hammer field fliers were killed when their twin engine night fighter crashed early today 25 miles northwest of Bakersfield.

They were Flight Officer Charles R. Northcott, 23, and Second Lt. Grady Shyles, 27, the observer.

Northcott was the son of Mrs. Orathy May Northcott of McAllister, Okla. Shytles' mother, Mrs. Eula Shytles, lives in Abilene, Texas.

Aviation Problems Studied At Meeting

FORT WORTH, Jan. 2 (AP)—The problem of what to do with surplus airplanes idle because the government no longer needs them for training was brought before 200 private fliers and commercial operators from five states meeting today in Fort Worth.

Additional problems of "unscheduled" aviation—flying done in chartered flights, flight training and crop dusting—will be considered at sessions tomorrow and Thursday.

One Of Founders Of Legion Found Dead

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP) — Thomas W. McManus, 53, Bakersfield, Calif., and one of the organizers of the American Legion, was found dead today in his Mayflower hotel apartment.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said McManus died of natural causes.

McManus, a familiar figure among congressional circles, had long represented oil, fruit, livestock and other businesses of his state.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

FROM its beginning in April 1942 until a few months ago sugar rationing rested lightly on most housewives' shoulders. The program was working smoothly. Store shelves were well-stocked. About 14 months ago when the submarine menace was eliminated from ship lanes between Cuban and American ports, it even seemed likely that rationing might soon be eliminated entirely.

But today sugar supplies are feeling the pinch of a long war. Stocks are abnormally low. Military needs are high. Manpower for the refineries is scarce. Production cannot be measurably increased.

The difference between what civilians normally consumed (6,700,000 tons) and what is available in 1945 (5,400,000 tons) is 1,300,000 tons. On top of this reduction in available sugar, we used in home canning about 1,000,000 tons. Studies showed OPA officials that many old coupons and stamps for sugar that had been issued without expiration dates were still in existence. Total coupons far exceeded the available sugar in the stores. What was to be done?

The only realistic move seemed to be the cancellation of the unused stamps. After all, the people who had them did not need them or they would have been used. If they were left in existence, people with the current sugar stamp would not have been able to get sugar.

WHAT HAPPENED

THEY say (and we believe them) that it was a difficult decision to make because they had expected to be able to give notice of a cancellation. Suppose they had; can you imagine what would have happened? A run would have undone the very job of fair and equitable distribution the OPA was trying to do. There was no other action to take.

In order to avoid sharper cuts in the value of individual sugar rations in the first quarter of this year and to insure that all housewives will be able to redeem their 1945 coupons for their fair share of sugar, unusued 1944 stamps and home canning certificates were invalidated. In other words, Book 4 stamp No. 34 is good indefinitely for five pounds. Another sugar stamp will be validated Feb. 1.

The OPA says we must get along with less sugar in 1945. Ships are not available in unlimited numbers to bring sugar into United States ports while war supplies are badly needed abroad and even if the ships were available, the manpower problem in many large refineries would slow down production.

Military and other government requirements will be larger this year. Each soldier actually consumes over twice as much sugar a year as the average civilian now receives. So far as that goes, civilians consumed about 500,000 tons more sugar than we could afford in 1944. The black market may have accounted for a small part of the overdraft, but the home canning program was chiefly responsible.

AN EXPLANATION

SUPPLIES of commercially canned fruit for civilians had been short for several months and the 1944 fruit crop was larger than in previous years. Every effort was made to encourage home canning by cutting all possible red tape and making it easier for home canners to get the sugar they needed. Two things happened: The demand was unexpectedly heavy and thousands of persons took advantage of the easier requirements and applied for far more sugar than they needed for canning.

Here is what will be done to meet the problem:

First quarter sugar allotments have been reduced and individual rations for at least one period will be five pounds every three months instead of five pounds every two and one half months.

Allotments for restaurants and institutions will be reduced about ten per cent.

Issuance of sugar rations for home canning will be tightened to eliminate over-application.

Thursday's column will end the rationing series and will present the facts about meat.

CATALPA TREES

SEVERAL years ago Mrs. Wesley Red, 2401 Twenty-fifth, set out two catalpa trees in front of her house. They are those trees with large leaves and with a stunted appearance that has caused them to be named umbrella trees. There are a number of them on the campus at Texas Technological college.

Last year during the winter when the trees shed their leaves and present a dead-like appearance, Mrs. Red noticed that a number of branches were constantly being broken off and she wondered what caused it. Then one day she noticed young boys waiting on the bus would swing on the trees, breaking the limbs entirely or bending them. Finally the trees had a post-like appearance and she had them dug up and replaced them with two other catalpas.

The other night Mrs. Red looked out and saw some boys pulling the tops out of the trees and tearing limbs off. It made her unhappy naturally. She is wondering what she can do about. "I would hate to make anyone mad," she said when we were discussing it, "but those trees cost quite a bit and I don't feel that I can continue to replace them. Anyway their growth is rather slow."

We suggested a mention here might help, although we doubt that boys who go around breaking down trees read women's columns. Perhaps their mothers do. Anyway it seems a shame that anything green that grows in Lubbock should be destroyed by careless boys at play.

Mrs. Red said the boys stand on the corner to wait for the bus and she supposes the trees do present quite a temptation since they have leafless branches at present.

Hard-Bitten 101st Resents Bastogne Rescue Intimation

By JAMES M. LONG
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Jan. 2—Don't tell the hard-bitten 101st "Eagle" Airborne division it was rescued at Bastogne—or that it was relieved—or even that it was in a tough spot.

That is not the division's story. That is not the story of its husky deputy commander, Brig. Gen. Anthony McAuliffe, and not the story of the fighting men who were with him through a week in which—the way they looked at it—they had parts of seven German divisions by the throat all around them.

The men still fit are still there, to do the job they figure they were sent there for: To attack and help smash Field Marshal von Rundstedt's wedge.

Resent Rescue Talk

"We resent any implication we were rescued or needed rescue," McAuliffe declared today in speaking of "Merry Christmas"—the map name the 101st gave to the 15 or 20 square miles of Belgium it held against everything the German Army could hurl against it.

He said the 101st hollered only once, and that was for medical supplies and surgical teams to treat its badly wounded after the Germans overran its main medical base east of the town the night of Dec. 19-20 in the first phase of the fight. Those supplies and doctors, to perform the more serious operations were flown in.

When the Fourth Armored division broke through from the south after a week in which the 101st and its sidekick combat force of the 10th Armored division had held without giving ground, McAuliffe made this report on the condition of his force:

"We're fine. We're ready for the offensive and the pursuit."

Was In Rest Camp

The Eagle division was in a rest and buildup camp when Field Marshal von Rundstedt launched his offensive. McAuliffe himself said he had figured it would not be in shape for action for weeks.

It was given 24 hours to go into action—and it went, on trucks for the first time.

It fought on ammunition dropped from the sky; it doctored its wounded for the first half of the week on cognac and courage; and when an outside communications officer pressed by radio for a detailed report of its position, the division's radio operator just laughed and said:

"Just visualize the hole in a doughnut, that's us."

Cites Warning As Laugh

"When we were left in position during the corps withdrawal our commander told us not to get ourselves surrounded," McAuliffe recalled with a chuckle. "That's a laugh."

"We were giving the Germans the licking of their lives, and they had the effrontery to send us a note asking us to surrender," the general said.

That was the note he replied to in his now-famous one-word answer—"Nuts!"

Airborne Fighting Quality

Despite the intensity of the battle the commander said he figured his casualties were less than in comparable actions in either Normandy or Holland. The reason for this he attributed to the quality of the airborne fighting men, of whom he told this story:

"A couple of these airborne troopers visited the tomb of Napoleon in Paris and one of them commented to the other, 'the greatest soldier that ever lived is buried there.'

"To which the Second Airborne fighter replied:

" 'Aw, when did he ever jump?' "

Texan's Thorniest Plant Named 'Ickes'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP) — A Texas rosegrower has named his latest and thorniest plant the "Harold Ickes."

He is A. F. Watkins of Tyler, Tex., who wrote Ickes for permission to use the name. The Secretary of the Interior replied:

"I was . . . confused until you explained that the new rose was . . . of an extremely thorny variety. That would be appropriate. I am so overcome by your flattering suggestion that all I can say is that I accept the honor with pleasure."

Every Allied Gun Along 700-Mile Western Front Booms In New Year

By BOYD LEWIS
United Press Staff Writer

WITH AMERICAN FORCES Inside Germany, Jan. 11.—Every Allied big gun along the winding, 700-mile western front from Holland to the Swiss border roared in a pulverizing New Year's greeting to Hitler at exactly 12.01 a. m. today.

From a moon-bathed hillside in the pit of a Long Tom which had the distinction of being the nearest Berlin, I witnessed the stunning spectacle.

Landed In One Bang

More than 400 guns joined in the greeting from this corps area. The smoke and flames leaping across the dark plain ahead indicated the multiplied effect at the receiving end from the firing all along the line, timed to such split-hair accuracy that all the shells landed with one bang.

Probaby more than 2,000 guns participated in what my guide, Lt. Col. Otis Tripp of West Lansing, Mich., termed the biggest "TOT" in history—meaning fire which is "timed on the target" from a number of guns of varying range and caliber at the same moment.

Hit Railway Terminal

"My" gun was one of a battery which laid four 100 millimeter shells on an important crossroads railway terminal east of the Roer.

Most of the boys in this unit commanded by Tripp were former members of the Michigan National guard.

In the dugout where we huddled against the biting cold, battery Commander Capt. James E. Uhlenbach of Lansing, Mich., and Cpl. William Byeroft of East Palestine, O. collaborated with the gun crew which was proud to spearhead the position inside in Germany.

Needed More Shells

As midnight neared, the corps commander, a seamy-faced jovial West Pointer, arrived to wish the boys good shooting.

"How you doing boys? Got any complaints?" he inquired.

"We'd like more shooting, sir" several of the crew piped up.

"So would I," answered the colonel." Ike is trying to get us more shells. Meanwhile bust 'em open every time you shoot."

The reference was to the shortage of shells about which Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has spoken in the last few weeks. Everywhere I went among artillerymen they spoke of the reluctance with whigh they were compelled to ration shells.

"Send Me Shells"

At one artillery corps headquarters there was red pencilled sign in Christmas card style:

"Don't send me candy, mom. Send me shells."

A few seconds after the commander's arrival, a telephone jingled in the pit and a man with earphones called the orders for the elevation.

"Supercharge," he said. "This one has to go deep into Germany."

Then he called the signal for firing and all other impressions were blotted out momentarily in the road and concussions.

The war moving into 1945.

The Luft was active in the flak-filled sky but the German guns never answered.

Bill Would License Convalescent Homes

AUSTIN, Jan. 2. (U.P.)—Rep. Ennis Favors of Pampa said today that a bill will be introduced in the Texas Legislature to regulate convalescent homes where old age pensioners are kept.

Favors, chairman of a House committee investigating pensions, said the bill would require licensing of the homes where three or more pensioners reside and the state health department would be required to inspect them every 60 days.

Bills also will be introduced, Favors said, for a revised procedure on old age pension appeals and for uniform budgeting of oldsters' needs on which pension payments are based.

Rep. O. H. Moore, DeLeon, member of the committee, said a resolution would be offered calling for a constitutional amendment to raise the ceiling on old age pensions, making the maximum payment $40 a month when matched by federal funds.

Moore said too bills to increase aid to dependent children would be presented at the session beginning Jan. 9.

Widowed Woman Says "Hate" Necessary

LONDON, Jan. 2. (A.P.)—A 25-year-old woman twice widowed in this war told 2,000 teen-age students today they must "learn to hate," and the boys and girls cheered her.

"Hate is not an emotion that we like," said Dr. Barbara Simonds, addressing a London conference on education in world citizenship. "It comes with particular difficulty to the young. But it is the thing which is necessary to the present. Without hate I do not think we will be able to bring this war to a final, irrevocable end and build the world for which we are fighting."

The young woman, whose first husband was shot down over France in 1943 and whose second was killed at Arnhem in Holland, urged the students to "examine your history" to see why wars occurred.

Dallas Flier Piloted One Of Two B-29's In New Year's Raid

21ST BOMBER COMMAND, Saipan, Jan. 2. (U.P.)—(Via Navy radio)—A Dallas, Tex., lieutenant colonel was the pilot of one of two B-29 Superforts that flew the old year out and the new year in for Tokyo.

Lt. Col. H. N. Brandon of Dallas, flew the last plane over in 1944, as he dropped bombs on the wharf and dock area of the capital at 9:52 p. m., Japanese time, it was disclosed today.

The first plane to fly over Tokyo in the new year was commanded by Capt. Charles C. Fishburne, jr., of Darien, Ga. he dropped bombs on the target at 12:11 a. m.

Air Travel Tax In Texas Studied

AUSTIN, Jan. 2. (U.P.)—Air travel may face a tax in Texas after the new session of the Texas legislature, it became known here today when Gov. Coke R. Stevenson mentioned it as a possibly desirable new tax.

Stevenson has opposed additional taxes and does not deem them needed now for revenue. The proposed air-travel tax, he said, might be desirable however as a means to equalize transportation taxes.

Returns To Office

Motorbus transportation is under a gross receipts tax and rail travel is taxed both through advalorem taxes on rail properties and equipment and also through the intangible assets tax on railroad, ferries and pipelines.

Stevenson returned to his office today after holiday absence. He said he has not prepared his message to the legislature which is to open next Tuesday. He indicated the message will be short with few suggestions. He thought no labor legislation is needed.

Simple Ceremony Asked

The governor suggested that there be no elaborate inaugural, and thought it would be unnecessary to erect a stand for an outdoor ceremony, preferring to retake thepath ofoffice in the house of Representatives.

He said he expects to announce appointments on the board of regents of the University, A. & M. college directors, and members of the state board of education this week, but is counseling with Senators on the appointments.

Few Believe War-Swollen Pay Is Permanent

Postwar Wages Decline Is Seen By Most Americans

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 2.—Although a great deal of postwar planning is being predicted upon a high national income, the American public is not convinced that income levels for workers will be maintained once the war ends.

The fact is that right now, the vast majority among the American voting public expect that workers will make less money after the war than they are making now.

GALLUP

Moreover their thinking on the post-war income question is consistent with their feeling.. about post-war job prospects. A recent survey showed a majority believing that once the war ends not everyone who wants a job is going to be able to find one.

The question asked throughout the country on the present survey is this:

"After the war do you think the weekly income of workers will be about the same as it is now, or will it be more, or less?"

The results:

ABOUT THE SAME	20%
MORE	5
LESS	71
NO OPINION	4

Thus, seven in every ten say they think workers will make less after the war, only two in ten think business and industry will be able to maintain existiing levels. One in 20, highly optimistic, see a larger weekly income for workers after the war.

AN analysis of the vote among the various groups included in the cross-section shows some interesting facts.

More women are inclined to be pessimistic than men. Seventy-four per cent of the women think the weekly income of workers will be less after the war than it is now. This compares with a vote of 68 per cent among men.

Farmers, traditionally opposed to high wages in industry, could be revealing an element of wishful thinking in their vote on the question. Seventy-seven per cent — a greater proportion than in any other group—say they think workers' weekly income will drop after the war is over.

On the other hand, the vote of the white collar workers of the nation—74 per cent think workers' income will drop—probably reveals a fear of what is going to happen in the post-war period when millions of fighting men will return expecting jobs.

Here are tables showing the thinking among the various groups:

	Thinks Workers' Income Will Be About Same	More	Less	No Opin.
Men	23%	4%	68%	3%
Women	18	4	74	4
Bus. and Prof. Men	23	6	68	3
White Collar Workers	23	3	74	1
Farmers	15	4	77	4
Skilled, semi-skilled, unskilled workers	22	6	67	5
Union memb.	26	5	65	4

At Least 100 Belgian Civilians Are Said Slaughtered By Nazi Troops

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

STAVELOT, Belgium, Jan. 1. (Delayed)—Army officers estimate that fanatical Nazis S. S. (Elite Guard) troops slaughtered without provocation at least 100 Belgian civilians during the first few days of the recent German breakthrough.

Acting mostly under direct orders from German officers to kill all civilians encountered, Hitler's pampered troops clubbed, shot and burned to death men, women and children without cause.

Investigating Atrocities

"We know positively of 63 Belgian civilians they killed in the Stavelot area," said Capt. Melvin H. Handville, former state trooper from Syracuse, N. Y., who investigated German atrocites in this area.

"We have confirmed reports of similar killings in other sectors," he added.

"Their SS troops have been more cruel here than anywhere else. We heard of many instances in other places where they shot down Belgian unarmed men for no reason, but this is the first place I have known them to kill women and children."

Practiced In 1914

The Germans practiced similar excesses in this area in August, 1914, when they marched across Belgium.

In addition to atrocities against civilians in the Stavelot area, German troops probably massacred more than 150 American troops. This is a very conservative figure.

The state department has officially protested the slaughter of 135 out of 150 American unarmed soldiers lined up in a field and machinegunned near Malmedy. In other cases American truck drivers, trapped by fast moving Panzers, were pulled from vehicles, disarmed and ruthlessly shot.

Atrocities Are Documented

Atrocities against civilians around Stavelot have been thoroughly documented by Army officers through questioning of survivors and voluntary statements by captured Germans who acknowledged the part they played in the killings.

Most revolting was the massacre of twenty to twenty-five Belgian men, women and children herded into a barn and shot by engineers from the first Hitler Panzer division. The Germans then fired the barn to destroy the evidence.

Fought With Vindicitive Hate

As a result of the slaughter of civilians and American troops in the Malmedy-Stavelot area, Yanks who later cracked into the Elite First SS armored division fought with a vindictive hate lacking on other battle fields.

In a series of savage battles more than 50 per cent of the division was wiped out and the division itself is no longer a potent fighting outfit.

One German officer complained to an American major.

"Do you really believe all the propaganda against Himmler and Hitler?" he asked. "Do your men regard our SS Panzer division as a bunch of criminals and gangsters?"

The major answered both questions in the affirmitive and the performance of the American army against Hitler's SS troops shows it knows how to deal with them.

GASOLINE IS BURNED

HOPE, Ark., Jan. 2. (AP)—Twenty five tank cars of gasoline burned near Fulton, Ark., today following derailment of an oil tanker on the main line of the Missouri Pacific railroad. About one thousand feet of track was torn up and westbound traffic halted. Several members of a road maintenance crew riding a shuttle car were injured when the car ran into the wreckage.

Rail Executives Ask Dismissal Of Suit

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 2. (AP)—The Western Association of Railway Executives today asked for dismissal of the government's anti-trust suit, contending that a 1942 law suspended anti-trust prosecution of industrial activities deemed necessary to win the war.

A motion filed in U. S. District court challenged the Justice department right to bring the civil suit, alleging that because of the 1942 law the complaint 'fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted" and that the court "is without jurisdiction of the subject matter."

Named defendants in the government's suit, filed here last August, were the Association of American Railroads, its officers and directors, the Western Association of Railway Executives and its officers, J. P. Morgan and Company, inc., Kuhn, Loeb and company, 47 Western railroads and their chief executives and more than a score other individuals.

Counsel for the Western railroads alleged that public law No. 603, passed by Congress June 11, 1942, prohibits civil anti-trust prosecutions involving activities which the War Production board's chairman has certified are 'requisite to the prosecution of the war."

They contended that railroads were placed in this category March 20, 1943, when Donald M. Nelson, then WPB chairman, issued WPB certificate No. 33.

Soldier Killed, One Injured In Accident

ELECTRA, Jan. 2. (AP)—Pvt. Harry E. Prevatt, Plant City, Fla., was killed and his companion, Pvt. William Russell, New York City, was injured critically in a three-way highway accident eight miles east of here about midnight Monday.

The delivery car in which the two soldiers were riding was in collision with a grain truck in which E. C. Colwell, and Gene Lovelace, both of Texaco, N. Mex., were passengers. Colwell was injured slightly.

F. W. Arnold, Silverton, Tex., driver of a cattle truck involved in the collision, escaped injury.

The two soldiers are stationed at Sheppard field at Wichita Falls. Russell was under treatment at an Electra hospital.

CONTINUES IN ARMY

AUSTIN, Jan. 2. (AP)—Friends of Charles O. Betts here were puzzled today whether to address him as "Sarge" or as "Your Honor." Bettes, an Army sergeant took the oath of judge of the Travis county court of law yesterday, then resigned to continue his service duties. He had been renamed judge in the November general election.

Millions Switch To Mutton Suet Idea For Chest Colds

Quickly Relieves Children's Colds' Coughs, Loosens Phlegm

Many mothers all over America are switching to this idea of getting fast relief for these chest cold miseries. They are simply following Grandma. For years she counted on mutton suet to help carry her home medication to do its pain-easing work on nerve ends in the skin. No wonder so many more now welcome Grandma's idea as improved by science—Penetro, with its multi-medicated formula in a base containing mutton suet—that acts both as counter-irritant and pain-reliever when you spread it on, and as a soothing aromatic when breathed in. And so today Penetro hurries along newer help in the old reliable way—help that eases painful misery, lessens coughing, loosens phlegm, soothes chest rawness—so that you can rest more comfortably and give nature a chance to restore vitality. That's why millions are switching to Penetro today—why druggists are recommending it. 25c, double supply 35c. For all your family's chest cold miseries, be sure you get white, easy-to-use Penetro.

Legislature Meets One Week From Today With Variety Of Problems

AUSTIN, Jan. 2. (AP)—One week from today the 49th Legislature begins a general session which may last a minimum of 120 days and touch a wide range of subjects.

The tempo of pre-session activity increased today as several members of House and Senate appeared and Governor Coke R. Stevenson said that although he has not prepared a message for the lawmakers he saw no need for new overall taxes.

Tax Equalization

At a press conference the governor added there might be a need for equalizing tax rates within present strictures. He mentioned specifically a gross receipts tax on air transportation.

Although the concensus of early arriving members was that there will be no new general tax measures passed, almost all agreed that proposed tax increases and new levies would be introduced.

A well defined legislative program had not developed at this early stage but pre-session discussions and statements indicated that these subjects, among others, would merit much attention:

Poll tax repeal; natural gas conservation; insurance regulations (the U. S. Supreme court has declared insurance is interstate commerce); safety legislation for butane gas handling; veterans benefits; legislative and judicial redistricting; liquor regulation; labor; old age assistance; cotton research; delinquent tax collections; exemption of service men from the poll tax requirement; public health; pardons and paroles; chiropractic regulation (a regulatory law passed at the last session was invalidated by the court of criminal appeals because of conflicting language); the University of Texas administrative row which has been partially investigated by a special senate committee; regulation for meat slaughtering and marketing.

Many New Members

The new House of Representatives has 62 new members out of a total of 150. The 31-member Senate has seven new members.

Rep. Claude Gilmer of Kerrville who is certain to be elected speaker of the House announced that he will have completed committee assignments by the end of the first week of the session. Lieut. Gov. John Lee Smith, president of the Senate, likewise is expected to promptly name Senate committees. Neither chamber can operate fully until committees are named.

noon, Jan. 9. Inauguration of

The general session begins at Governor Stevenson and Lieut. Gov. Smith follows a week later before which time the legislature canvasses the general election vote for these two offices and announces the result.

Simple Inaugural

Governor Stevenson has committed himself to a simple inaugural. He is of the opinion that the ceremony should be held in the hall of the House of Representatives with few formalities. A joint House-Senate committee will be named for the purpose of arranging the inaugural and will confer with the governor and lieutenant-governor when the session begins.

The governor revealed at his press conference that he is working on a slate of nominees to fill positions on the board of regents of the University of Texas, the board of directors of Texas A. & M. college and the state board of education. He probably will announce his selections this week, he said. The nominees are subject to Senate confirmation or rejection and probably will be at the top of the Senate agenda.

News Briefs

News of the death of their brother-in-law, Col. Brocks C. Grant, who succumbed to a cerebral hemorrhage in San Antonio on Tuesday morning, was received by Mrs. R. Q. Pierce and Mrs. L. E. Davis, both of Lubbock. Mrs. Davis had gone to Independence, Kan., where her husband, Maj. Davis is stationed. Col. Grant had returned from England a few months ago.

District-Aattorney-elect W. C. Huffaker, jr., Lynn county, will take his oath as district attorney today. Retiring county attorney, he was in Lubbock yesterday to file a legal instrument. He said a grand jury that was to have convened on Monday in Terry county would gather Thursday instead because of the illness on Monday of Judge J. E. Garland. A grand jury will be impaneled today in Lynn county and one on Friday in Gaines county. The Jim Thomas murder case will be called for trial in that district at Lamesa next Monday.

Mrs. H. A. Patterson, Tahoka, was admitted to Lubbock general hospital yesterday at 12:30 p. m., following a fall in her home in which she suffered a fracture of her right hip.

S. W. Blair, Lorenzo, was discharged yesterday from Lubbock general hospital where he was recovering from injuries suffered in an auto accident on Dec. 31.

Corpus Judge Retires After Long Tenure

CORPUS CHRISTI, Jan. 2. (AP)—Judge William B. Hopkns, elected judge of the 28th judicial district court for 18 consecutive terms, today retired in favor of Judge Paul A. Martineau, who defeated him in the Democratic runoff primary last August.

Hopkins was appointed to the post in 1906 to succeed Judge Stanley Welch who was fatally shot on the eve of the general election that year.

Fifty bar association members today voted to enter a resolution commending Hopkins on the court record.

Westerners Bill Eight Cage Tilts

Coach Dixie White's Lubbock Westerners began to bear down this week to whip into shape for a tough January schedule that will send them against the schoolboy fives from Lamesa, Amarillo and Tahoka and take on a tough service team from South Plains Army Air field.

The January schedule will get underway Friday night with the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes moving into Lubbock for the first game since the holidays. The game will be returned in Lamesa on Jan. 9.

The Westerners will play Amarillo's Golden Sandies here Jan. 12, then will take to the road for games with Tahoka on Jan. 16 and go to Amarillo on Jan. 19. The games with the SPAAF cagers will be played on Jan. 23 and 26, then close the month's schedule with the Tahoka Bulldogs playing here.

While the Westerners are in Tahoka on Jan. 16, the Lubbock Cowhands will play a double header here with Idalou, playing the Idalou A and B teams, and will return the date with Idalou on Jan. 23.

Athletic Director E. J. "Pinky" Lowrey said Tuesday night that he was looking for more games for the Lubbock Cowhands, both Gold teams. Any schools interested in playing the Cowhands are urged to get in touch with Lowrey.

The play in the southern half of District 1-AA will get underway in February Lubbock plays in the division with Brownfield and Plainview, with the winner of their double round robin playing the winner of the northern half, comprised of Amarillo, Pampa, and Borger.

Waco Cagers Defeat SMU Mustangs Again

DALLAS, Jan. 2 (AP) — Waco Army Airfield's smooth-working, veteran Wolves, rated by many as the best service basketball team in Texas, extended their undefeated record through the eleventh game here tonight by defeating the Southern Methodist Mustangs, 53 to 42.

It was a return engagement, the Ponies having bowed, 58 to 45, in the opener at Waco before the Christmas holidays.

SPAAF Cagers Beat Ramblers

RANDOLPH FIELD, Jan 2 (Special)—South Plains Army Air Field's highly touted cage squad finally found itself here tonight, turning in a 54-45 triumph over the vaunted Randolph Field Ramblers.

The game was the first clear-cut victory of the season for the Winged Commandos, and it afforded Leason McCloud, mainstay of the SPAAF cagers, a prize chance to show his all-American wares.

McCloud, who won a national reputation at the University of Colorado, scored 26 points for scoring honors of the night. His closest competitor was Yessin of the Ramblers, who chalked up 14 points.

SPAAF went into the lead in the first minute of the game, was never headed off. Although Randolph drew up within four points of the Commandos in the last few minutes, a SPAAF rally, led by McCloud, put the game on ice.

The score at the half time was 29-23.

Randolph uncorked its strongest threat as Yessin showed uncanny accuracy from midcourt, and for a moment the outcome was doubtful, but the attack died when the Randolph star left the game after his fifth personal foul.

Edwards with nine points, and Kalfain with seven, played good games for the Commandos, both offensively and defensively.

Ramblers Shade Kelly Badgers At Boys Club

Play was resumed in the Lubbock Boys club basketball league Tuesday night with Adair's Ramblers nosing out Kelly's Badgers in a thriller, 21 to 19.

Wendell Konditt of the Badgers captured scoring honors of the night with ten points. Baber and Gunn tied for honors with the winners, each getting six points.

The little boys will start their play this afternoon with the Alley Cowboys and the Cook Comets playing.

Thursday night, the Ramblers and the Armstrong Fliers will pick up a postponed game, and on Friday night the first round of the league will be closed out with the league leading McQuire Bobcats playing the Price Hornets.

John Wilson announced Tuesday night that letters had been sent to boys clubs in Wichita Falls and Amarillo seeking games on a home and home basis.

East Texas Gridmen Patch Up Troubles

JACKSONVILLE, Tex., Jan. 2. (AP)—Jacksonville and Lufkin will play football next season after a lapse of two years.

Jacksonville cancelled its games in 1943 and 1944 following a disagreement with Lufkin over eligibility.

Emerson Stone, president of the school board which voted resumption of football with Lufkin, said athletic relations between the schools were never severed but that games merely were cancelled by Jacksonville after scheduling, which meant forfeiting to the Lufkin team without playing.

MUSIAL CALLED UP

DONORA, Pa., Jan. 2. (AP)—Stan Musial, slugging outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, has been ordered by his draft board to report for induction, it became known today.

Fliers Play Two Tilts This Week

Crippled, but still showing plenty of fight, the Lubbock Army Air field Fliers take on a pair of tough service team foes here this week. They will meet Midland Army Air field Invaders, one of the tallest aggregations in West Texas, in the LAAF gym Thursday night.

On Saturday night, the Fliers take on Sheppard Field from Wichita Falls, said by members of the Frederick Falcons to be the best team they have played this season. Frederick has defeated both Sheppard Field and LAAF, beating the latter here last Friday night.

KELLY FIELD BOOKED

Lubbock Army Air Field, which has won seven of its nine basketball games, meets Kelly Field here Friday night.

The Fliers lost to Frederick, Okla., Army Air Field last week 68-43 but Lubbock's top point-maker for two seasons—Bruce Prior—made his highest score of the season, pitching in 25 points.

In nine games, the slender forward has counted 151 points in the last seven has averaged 20 per game. He played college basketball at Abilene Christian College.

Harry Krasner, regular guard, is still on furlough, but Lt. Maurice John, player-coach, hopes to be able to play in both the Thursday and Saturday game, and believes that he has worked out a combination that will heal the wounds of stars lost last week by transfers.

The Invaders are said to be bringing three lineups, one that presents the maximum in all-around basketball skill, one that has tremendous height, and one that is the fastest quintet on any basketball floor in this area.

On the Midland squad are two 6' 3" guards: George Reimer, 210 pound husky who starred at Joliet, Ill., and Joe Fink who played with an undefeated Butler University five while in school; two 6' 4" forwards: Andy Hall from John Marshall and Dick Weidmeyer from Western Michigan. At center, at least part of the time, will be Bill Swigert of Northwestern who stretches 6' 5" into the stratosphere.

Others on the squad who will probably see action are Ed Szkody of Detroit, forward; Daniel Markley, one of the finest basketball players ever produced at the University of Illinois; Harvey Pierce of Lawrence Tech, guard; Manford Kistler, Indiana; and Ike Dubow of City College, N. Y.

The Fliers are expected to start Bruce Prior, the blond bomber who dropped in 25 points last week, and Lt. John at the forwards; Gerald McCarty, runner up to Prior in high point honors, at center; Mickey MacDonald, veteran, and Donald Newell, a newcomer, at guards. Wallace Long, center, and Dorrance Crawford, forward from last year's post team and Moss Bergwall, a lanky forward will also see action. Newell, Long, Crawford and Bergwall all showed lack of game experience, but good possibilities in last week's game.

Bergstrom Cage Five Beats Texas Aggies

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 3 (AP). — Bergstrom Field troop carriers basketball team defeated the Texas Aggies 32-26 here tonight, evening the series score.

James Flanagan paced the victors with 21 points while Cerno led the Aggies with 10.

The loss was the Aggies' second in two night. They dropped a 62-42 decision to San Marcos AAF at the latter's gym last night.

Texas Tech Cagers Battle Hardin-Simmons This Week

An old feud of pre-war Border Conference days will flare anew at the Texas Tech gym Friday and Saturday nights when the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys gallop in from Abilene for a pair of battles with Coach Polk Robison's youthful Red Raiders.

The two games will be the last for the Red Raiders until after the mid-term examinations, and the final home games until the end of this month.

The Red Raiders will be at full strength for the invasion of the Cowboys, and are confident that the team will make a good showing.

The Red Raiders have had a none too successful season this year, winning only two games. But the club has shown a steady improvement, and with the promise of blossoming into a smoother working unit are still looking forward to a good year.

The improvement in Gene Hardey's injured knees, and the return of Billy Kelley, former Idalou star, has been a bright prospect for the club. Kelley did not make the trip to Oklahoma City with the club, but was in El Paso where he took his draft physical and returned to the club.

Third place in consolation was the best the Red Raiders could gain at the all-College tournament, but Coach Polk Robison reported that he was well pleased with the showing the youngsters made, and added, "we learned a lot in Oklahoma City."

The brand of basketball at the Oklahoma City tournament was perhaps higher in quality than at any time since the start of the war, Coach Robison reported.

Abernathy Boys Win Over New Deal Club

ABERNATHY, Jan. 2. (Special)—After losing the two curtain raisers to the New Deal B team and the New Deal girls, the Abernathy Antelopes bounded back in the finale here tonight to romp to a 29 to 15 victory over New Deal in the boys A game.

The win was the eleventh of the season in 12 starts. The lone defeat was to a service team from Lubbock Army Air field.

Abernathy led all the way in the game, bounded off to a 6-2 lead at the end of the first period, and building this advantage up to 10-6 at the half as the New Dealers held their own.

Abernathy started clicking in the third period and boosted the lead to 19-9 and pulled farther away in the final stanza.

Harvey Luttrick was high point man of the night, racking up 12 points for the winners. Shipman and Codley paced the losers with four points each.

New Deal won the girls game, 23-10, with McNeely setting the scoring pace for the winners with nine points. Ledford of Abernathy was runnerup with six points.

New Deal won the boys B game, 13-10, with Elga Lambert keeping Abernathy in the ball game all the way by dropping in all ten of the locals points. Gardom and Gidbon tied for hours for New Deal, each getting four points.

Tahoka Cagers Romp Over New Home Five

TAHOKA, Jan. 2. (Special)—The fast stepping Tahoka Bulldogs returned to the basketball court here tonight, and rolled over the New Home cagers for an impressive 25 to 9 victory.

Nolan Jones set a blistering pace for the winners, ringing in 14 of the Bulldogs points to capture scoring honors of the night. Timmons topped the New Home scoring, getting five points.

In the curtain raiser, the Tahoka B team nosed out the Tahoka All-Stars, 14 to 10, in a closely played battle that remained in doubt until the final whistle.

Hanes set the scoring pace for this game, dropping in ten of the Tahoka points. Sgt. Robert Harvick was high point man for the All-Stars, getting four points.

The Bulldogs face two tough tests later this week, with games scheduled for Friday and Saturday nights. The high flying O'Donnell Eagles, rated one of the top schoolboy teams on the South Plains, will move into the "dog house" Friday night to play the Bulldogs and the Tahoka girls team.

On Saturday night, Coach Leo Jackson will take his Bulldogs, and the B team, to Big Spring to battle the Steers.

Jerry Failed To See Spaghetti Bowl Tilt

SPAGHETTI BOWL STADIUM, Florence, Italy, Jan. 2 (AP)—Among the 25,000 GI's and WACs at yesterday's Spaghetti Bowl game only a few knew the Luftwaffe had promised to drop in on the football festivities, but those who did know can tell you today just how it feels to be a decoy on a duck pond.

Now that the game is over with the Fifth Army a 20-0 winner over the 12th Airforce, the true story may be told.

Twice last week-end Jerry advised he was coming to the party "airmail." Since the game was less than three hours from the front by jeep, you can readily see Jerry wouldn't have had to make any overnight jump to get there.

One German broadcast said "it's going to be a great day for an air raid at Florence Monday." Another reported "Nero fiddled while Rome burned the Fifth Army and 12th Airforce are going to play football while Florence burns."

Some officials expected the crowd would certainly attract what is left of the Luftwaffe in this theater since this huge concrete oval as as natural a target as the center of a filet minon for a sharp knife.

All during the game P-38s in two dozen lots kept "whooshing" over the field in the direction of the front. Otherwise everything was perfect in typical bowl game fashion.

Race Tracks To Be Closed Today

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP) — Absenteeism in war plants near race tracks was cited today as the real reason behind the government ban on racing.

This explanation came from a government official, who declined to be quoted by name, but who described as "relatively insignificant" the number of workers directly involved in the operation of race tracks.

BETTORS FIELD DAY

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2 (AP) — Racing went down with the greenbacks flying at Tropical park today.

A crowd of 10,748 bettors who went out to bid the sport farewell tossed a total of $887,414 into the parimutuel machines to break Tropical's record for the fourth time in an eight-day meeting.

Only yesterday, a new high mark of $777,674 was established.

In eight days the plungers poured $5,165,803 into wagers.

"Absenteeism is the answer," he said. "There has been a regular pattern of increased absenteeism following the opening of tracks. In some instances the increase has been as much as 30 per cent."

James F. Byrnes, director of war mobilization and reconversion, who ordered the tracks closed after today, merely explained that he acted to reduce the drain on manpower, transportation, communication facilities and other services.

Meanwhile, the war manpower commission sent representatives to Miami to recruit workers from the ranks of jockeys and other employes at tropical park race track.

The WMC agents, despatched by the Atlanta regional office, took supplies of "referral slips" to be handed the track and stable staffs, steering them to job openings in war industry, WMC headquarters in Washington said.

The WMC made available facts and figures in the nation's horse racing industry. The figures came from a high-placed racing authority, but WMC said it was unwilling to guarantee them. They showed:

Racing investment of 75,000,000 in tracks, $60,000,000 in horses, and $20,0000,000 in breeding farms.

There are about 1,800 professional jockeys handling some 5,000 horses in training for racing on 100 tracks. About 15,000 are employed as stable help.

Approximately 10,000 persons are regularly employed as racing officials, mutuel betting operators, track and clubhouse attendants, etc. Approximately 10,000 persons are employed on 880 breeding farms in 39 states.

More Than Meets The Eye

THE new Congress is expected to give considerable time, thought and debate to a proposed "Fair Practices" bill which would translate into law the presidential directive which insists that all people be rated alike as jobseekers—regardless of anything and everything, including color.

The President's "Fair Employment Practice committee," as everyone knows, is purely a political vehicle—a scheme devised to placate aggressive negro organizations and with an eye on the ballot boxes in such areas where the negro vote can be, and often is, the deciding factor. But, even though the FEPC is fully understood for what it is, administration spokesmen from Mr. Roosevelt on down have used it as a soap box from which to orate passionately about the rights of all citizens to work as they will.

The "Fair Practices" bill, when it reaches the floor of Congress, will have all the power of the New Deal extremists behind it. Therefore, it will be interesting to note if those gentlemen will consider all discrimination in their legislative plan, and if they will fight all discrimination with the self-same fervor they will apply to that part of it having to do with negroes—and their votes.

The most outstanding example of discrimination in employment in this country has nothing to do with the color of a man's skin but, instead, whether or not he has paid tribute to the unions in return for a right to work. The same rabid New Dealers whose hearts bleed so copiously for negroes denied economic equality blandly overlook the fact that their political trade with the leaders of organized labor forces untold thousands of Americans who do not want to belong to unions to do so in order to get a job.

When the administration and its WLB plugs for the closed shop and the "check-off," it aligns itself in favor of job discrimination—and there it will continue to be aligned until such day as the worker who doesn't want to belong to a union has as many rights and as much protection as the worker willing to belong to a union.

If we're going to get "het up" about discrimination in this county, let's get "het up" all the way—not only in matters which have a direct bearing upon politics, and ambitions of those seeking to perpetuate themselves in public office.

"Jones Pays The Freight"

THE term "vicious circle" has been employed often—and aptly—by government officials and others in warning the nation against the dangers of inflation. Now, again, recent government action has started such a circle.

The War Labor board approved wage increases aggregating $150,000,000 annually to steel workers, and Economic Stabilizer Vincent OK'd the action, making it official. But the steel industry says it can't pay the increased wage and still sell steel at current prices, so is marshaling statistics to bolster a move for raising the price of its products.

The steel workers got their raise; the chances are the steel industry will be permitted to raise the price of its products—and Taxpayer Jones, who is buying most of the steel these days—will pay the freight.

"Vicious circle" is right!

A Tip To Tommy Manville

THE country has long watched the unfolding of Tommy Manville's career with deep fascination. He has never been regarded as wholly a practical person, but it took an auction of his household furnishings to cap his curious impracticality.

His New Rochelle, N. Y., home was jammed by persons seeking to purchase his belongings. His electric trains went for $195, and one of his three dog houses was bid in for $60. The high point was the sale of three pairs of chrome-plated garbage cans for $60 a pair.

After the first day of bidding and selling, the OPA stepped in and ordered ceiling prices placed on all goods valued at more than $2. But Tommy took it philosophically.

"I think it would be only fair," he said ruefully, "if they are going to put a ceiling on my other household goods, that they should put a ceiling price on blondes. That would have saved me a lot of money years ago."

So would rationing, Thomas, so would rationing!

The reason Uncle Sam can borrow so much money is because he doesn't have to put up any collateral.

Whenever China has a little time to spare for meditation, she probably wishes she had never invented civilization in the first place.

It must be that the taxpayer is the fittest. He manages somehow to continue to survive under the toughest of conditions.

EXPLANATION OF CARTOON

THE FLAME THROWER

Although this weapon is known as a flame thrower, it is not flame but the heat which will harm the enemy and his installations. Flame and heat are two different conceptions. Heat is that portion of the flame throwers fluid that is on the outside and in contact with the air. Flame is the incandescence of gasses suspended within the stream, but not yet in combustion because they have not yet come in contact with oxygen.

You Gotta Think Quick

By Stanley Paley

(Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.)

XXXIV

Later, after having had a bite to eat, I lit the fire and we stretched out side by side on the familiar rug.

It's funny about the idea that came to me then. How it had germinated in her mind to take shape in mine. I wasn't consciously giving the matter any thought then, but suddenly it hit me.

"Mickey! You were right! Why shouldn't I go a step farther? Why wait for my freedom?"

She turned to me, questioningly.

"I was going to let Boggio believe he'd won. I was going to pretend I was ready to pick up where I'd left off—and wait for a more favorable time before striking at him. But I don't have to wait!"

"What makes you think that now? After what you said before?"

"You see, Mickey, all these years' there's one thing that kept me under Boggio's thumb. Fear! First the fear of never getting the break that would enable me to study; then the fear that he might use the confession I'd signed, and finally the fear of what he might do if I refused to stay in line right now.

"But things have changed since this evening. I'm no longer afraid of what the law may do to me, and so the only advantage Boggio holds is the continued threat of torture.

"Now supposing I turn the tables? Supposing I say to him: 'Boggio, you've brought matters so far that I'm ready to take my share of the rap in court if I have to. And now I'm not afraid of you any longer. Neither of you nor of your stooges, gunmen and torturers. You want things to keep on as they always were. You want to continue piling up more dough with your rackets. It's okay with me. But I warn you, Boggio, that if any of your men so much as lay a finger on me, I'll turn you in right away.'

"That's give him the choice between the vague possibility of denunciation and the certainty of it. I tell you, Mickey, he'll back down in the end and then I'll dictate my terms. Not only will he have to let me go but he'll also fire Don."

I leaned over and kissed her again.

"You know what, Mickey? I'll do it tomorrow!"

The moment I came in I saw the triumphant, unholy leer. He motioned me to sit down, then eased himself into the chair at the desk and leaned back, pressing the tips of his pudgy fingers together.

"Well, well, Kabateck! My cramps have been bothering me again, but your visit already makes me feel better."

His voice, which had been low and controlled at first, began to rise in exultation.

"So you were going to quit, Kabateck? So you were going to walk out on me, eh?"

I didn't answer. I wanted him to get through before I started. It would be interesting to hear all he had on his mind.

"You want to know something, Kabateck? I misjudged you. I thought you were a smart boy. And tough. That's what I thought the first time we met, and that's what I continued to think during all the years I was building you up. But I've learned something. You're a weak sister! A very weak sister!"

It took a certain effort on my part to remain silent, but I managed.

"From now on, Kabateck, things are going to be a lot different. The day you walked out, you annulled the agreement between us. I'm not bound to it any more. I've decided upon new terms that are in effect as of today. No more percentage of the take. And a very nominal salary. About enough to keep you going. What d'you say to that?"

He had begun to shout, and the veins on his temples were standing out against the sallow skin.

"And you know what else? You're through as a lawyer. I'm going to get myself a new one. You've retired from the bar, Kabateck! But I'll find work for you all right. I'll keep you busy! So busy that you won't have time to cook up more double-crossing schemes. Now get out!"

This abrupt ending surprised me. He hadn't been as prolix as usual. I remained seated.

"Well!" he snapped. "What you waiting for?"

"Just this, Boggio. If you're through I have something to tell you."

"Not interested!"

"You'll hear it just the same. Last night I told Perez I was licked. I've changed my mind about that. This new job you want to give me—well, you know what you can do with it . . ."

That was only the beginning. Boggio had no monopoly on histrionics. I could also talk with passion when I got wound up.

I don't think he'd ever been so amazed in his life. But that didn't last long. From amazement he switched to anger, and from anger to a speechless rage that was all the more terrible to behold because I believe he knew right then that he was licked. He was like some cornered animal, with bloodshot eyes and a frothing mouth.

It was no longer rage alone. The tremendous nervous jolt had brought about one of his attacks, more acute than any I'd ever witnessed before.

Automatically I walked over to the kitchen to get a glass of water like I'd done so many times. When I came back with it I suddenly realized what a dope I was. For a moment I stood there with the glass, watching him as he writhed about in his chair, frantically stretching out his hand for the water.

So I gave it to him. Right in his face!

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

IF ever I needed a demonstration that religion is not a matter of denominations and sects and faiths, but purely a thing of the heart and the spirit, it was the consecration of Michael J. Ready, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare conference, as bishop of Columbus in St. Matthew's catedral at Washington, D. C.

Bishop Ready had long been a very dear friend of mine.

Many a time he and I had had frank and amusing arguments about religion. Many a time he had told me that it made no difference to him whether a man was a Catholic or a Protestant or a Jew, if he was a righteous man, he was a man of God and worthy of the respect of his fellow men.

So it was only natural that that beautiful old cathedral should be filled with men and women of all faiths, all of whom had been invited by the newly appointed bishop, because they were his friends, regardless of their creed.

The procession of priests and bishops and archbishops and abbots and other dignitaries of the church, escorting the new bishop and the apostolic delegate who acted as consecrator, was one of the most beautiful sights I have ever seen. The organ music, the singing of the choir and the four-hour long service left an indelible impression on me.

While the entire consecration was in Latin, while I was completely unfamiliar with the formalities of the Catholic church, while I did not understand a single word of the service, yet, when the bishop slowly marched down the aisle, blessing the congregation, Catholic, Jew and Protestant alike, I felt that I, too, was being blessed, that here there was the dignity and the peace of the spirit and that here religion was effective because no matter on what road one traveled to God, the destiny was the same and that there was a common meeting place.

HERE in our new community to which we moved but recently, there are only two churches and neither of the denomination to which my wife and I belong.

Naturally the question arose which of these two churches we should attend.

Both pastors invited us and both churches had among their congregation people whom we know and like.

So we finally decided to alternate—

May be you won't approve. May be you will think that one should belong to one church only.

My wife and I think otherwise.

Many a Sunday, before the war, we used to take automobile trips. We always selected some beautiful place to which to go. But we always tried to go by one road and come back by another.

There are several railroads going to Chicago and to San Francisco and Miami. They are all good, and they all bring you to your destination in good time and in good comfort.

Yet, the travelers on one road don't fight with those on another because they go on different systems. They meet at their destination and enjoy their stay together.

Why can't we have the same sort of understanding in our religion? Why must there be disagreement and intolerance between Protestants and Catholics and Jews?

Aren't we all believers in the same God? Isn't all religion good?

I wish you could have been with me at Bishop Ready's consecration!

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON officials who manipulate the nation's economic controls feel none too confident concerning the trend of prices, wages and spending for 1945. They admit that they are groping in the dark because of conditions which change from day to day on the home and military fronts.

Indeed, one school believes that the fresh batch of restrictions on the purchase of food, together with the ban on horse racing and possibly other non-essential activities, may aggravate the present inflationary process.

At a time when millions have a spendable surplus that is steadily increasing, these new regulations further limit their field of buying power. As a result, this mass of unusable cash will exert terrific pressure on current price levels, lead to a wave of pay increase demands and probably darken the country with black markets.

DEBTS: Underlying reason behind War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes' latest decree, of course, is to force workers to save, reduce their debts or invest their money in federal securities.

Recent studies indicate that millions of folks are not using their additional income for these purposes. They have indulged in an orgy of buying regardless of price, have crowded night clubs and other amusement places and thrown their money away.

Considerations entirely apart from food shortages and manpower scarcities also motivated Mr. Byrnes and his aides. Forseeing a prospective depression after the war, and possibly after a German collapse, they hope to force people to build a backlog of savings against that day. Otherwise, there will be demands for a resumption of federal relief expenditures through another WPA, a PWA and an AAA.

With a 300 billion dollar public debt and a budget of approximately 30 billion, it becomes more obvious every minute that Uncle Sam will not be in a position to aid millions who did not lay away a few dollars when they had them.

MONEY: Financial statistics sometimes make dull reading for the layman. But in these days they flash across the economic horizon like a red light which should be regarded and obeyed. Here are a few of the more salient figures:

In 1943 the nation's working population—about 65 million—earned approximately 142 billion dollars. Around 25 billion was devoted to taxes of one kind or another (federal, state, real estate, sales, etc).

But the goods available for purchase with the balance amounted in value to only 90 billion. Therefore, the excess totaled 27 billion. The comparable figure for 1944 was in the neighborhood of 30 billion, and it may top that amount in the year ahead. Money in circulation has leaped from about 11 billion in late 1941 to more than 25 billion at the present moment.

CUTS: Meanwhile, consumers' supplies and other fields of spending will become more restricted by reason of the latest orders from the White House. They will be even more limited if other sports such as baseball, boxing and football are proscribed.

Consideration of this point accounts for the failure to include them in the recent prohibition. The economic czars first want to see how their present edicts affect the national economy.

However, it appears that 1945 will see further cuts on every hand, to wit: There will probably be about 10 per cent less meat, owing to bigger demands from the armed services and to transportation difficulties.

The supply of cigarettes and other tobacco will fall by about 20 per cent for the same reason. Clothing will become scarcer and shoddier. Travel may be confined under government orders to those making trips essential to conduct of the war or maintenance of the peacetime economy.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

NO WONDER Americans are infuriated to learn that while front line soldiers were battling for their lives, crooks in United States uniform and French civilians stole mail and carloads of gasoline, cigarettes and other vital supplies.

They show rage that a people whose very existence depends on our arms should be so greedy and treacherous and its gendarmes so blind—or corrupt. A popular reaction is "To hell with them."

The Army promises that no mercy will be shown to racketeers involved in the sordid deals. Officials and New York businessmen back from France caution against snap judgments and wholesale indictment of a nation for the sins of its scoundrels.

They foresee many other scandals and troubles in Europe before things are straightened out. In fact, some fear an era of confusion and hardship as bad as that which followed the Thirty Years war."

Months ago, former President Hoover predicted that no matter which side won the war civilization would be set back 100 years. He was called an alarmist then. Current events seem to prove that he prophesied accurately.

Social structures, economic systems and morals have been so badly battered by the global whirlpool that chaotic conditions are being uncovered everywhere.

ROBBERIES: Private industrialists and government men arriving from overseas, however, declare that only those who underestimated the magnitude of this awful conflict will be disillusioned.

The farsighted and the stouthearted will continue to fight, stamp out evils as they appear and build for a better world. To permit the Continent to fester would handicap our Army and leave economic and political time bombs to explode later and harm America as well as Europe.

Back of many of the convulsions, which have been labeled "ideological struggle," is the fear of hunger and cold. The women who paraded recently amid violence in Brussels carried placards in Flemish and English with the slogans: "We want coal. We want soap for washing. Our children are sick with tuberculosis; we want milk."

Before the war, Denmark was one of the most law-abiding states. The underground reports to New York agents that, since most policemen have been deported by the Nazis, holdups are daily occurrences in Copenhagen.

Youth runs wild; factions serve both the patriots and the Quislings. On one street corner on four consecutive nights highway robberies were committed by the same band of young men.

The citizenry provided volunteer watchmen armed with clubs and whistles. The vigilantes caught a gang engaged in a lawless act. But at the station the culprits proved to be German Security Police, indulging in crime after office hours. Now local thieves break into houses, boldly announcing that they are Nazi cops. Honest folk are victimized by the enemy and by countrymen alike.

MISERY: Conlficting reports arrive from France. Many American soldiers write home in disgust at seeing civilians enjoy things denied to them. Some correspondents do not observe any suffering from their hotel windows.

Relief authorities insist that fragmentary items do not give the complete picture; that while food is plentiful in farm areas, want, cold and malnutrition prevail elsewhere. In our bitterest depression period, they say, a cursory glance at a great city would not have revealed the misery beneath the surface.

A French journalist, writing in Le Parisien Libere, berates rich ex-collaborationists and black market magnates who drive up to night clubs in autos. "I know of many doctors," he adds, "who make their rounds laboriously on nothing but bicycles."

Court Decisions Awaited

Two of the most important acts of the last Texas legislature still are waiting court "OK" as the new legislature prepares to meet two years later.

The so-called Anti-Loan Shark act is pending before the state's Third Court of Civil Appeals in Austin. It was submitted December 20, but not argued then.

The Manford act regulating labor unions is pending before both state courts and the U. S. Supreme court.

Final decision on both acts may become moot if the new legislature amends of repeals either statute.

ANOTHER hard-fought act of the last legislature—the Chiropractic act—was knocked flatter than a pancake by decision of the State Court of Criminal Appeals, and a new measure to supplant it will probably cause one of the battles of the new session.

While the Chiropractic act has been held invalid, it must not be confused with the Chiropody act.

The foot treaters have their own board of examiners, which, incidentally, will hold a meeting in Fort Worth January 16 and 17, to conduct examinations for applicants for state licenses. Sessions will be at the Blackstone hotel.

Do Double Job

Texas electors really did their work twice on December 18.

Meeting in a downtown hotel at 10 a. m., they selected the chairman and secretary for their meeting, named electors to act for absentees and went through practically all the procedure of voting for Roosevelt and Truman.

Then someone questioned legality of the meeting time and place and it was denominated a caucus.

The electors came to the State Senate Chamber, formally adopted the proceedings of the "caucus" as proceedings of the electors and declared their vote cast.

Each of the electors signed a certification of the vote being cast for Roosevelt for President, and another for Vice-President.

After taking every step they could think of, an extra safeguard was added. A lawyer member was left behind for a day to see that every bit of the procedure for sending the vote to Washington and filing it with a district judge met compliance.

TEXAS State Police are steadily becoming a sort of "Scotland Yard" for Texas peace officers who are invited by Chief Homer Garrison, jr., to call on the state organization for help in solving crimes.

The department has a constantly growing fingerprint file, records of the methods used by noted criminals, forged and ficticious check files, besides numerous other records, and a complete crime-solving laboratory.

Among other services made available to local officers, without cost, is examination of organs for poison, examination of materials for blood or other bodily stains or occupational debris and examination of bullets, shells, firearms, tools, handwriting, typing, paper or any document.

Despite widespread war conversions, $90,500,000,000 worth of civilian goods was available to Americans in 1943 as compared with $82,000,000,000 in 1942.

Six Wreck Victims Still Unidentified

OGDEN, Utah, Jan. 2 (AP) — Names of only eight persons remained undisclosed today in a toll of 48 killed in 1944's worst railroad accident, a Sunday collision involving two sections of Southern Pacific's Pacific limited.

Announced were the names of 13 civilians, 15 Navy personnel, 11 soldiers and one Maritime serviceman.

Two other servicemen, a Coast Guardsman and a Marine, were killed but announcement of their names waited notification of next of kin. Six civilians, four men and two women, were not fully identified.

Eighty-three persons were injured. Of these 39 were civilians, including 16 railroad men, and 44 were in the armed services. Eleven of the injured have been released from hospitals.

Of the civilian dead not fully identified, two were dining car waiters on the train, one was a negro boy and three were women, one about 35, another about 22 and the third about 20.

PROFITS CUT MANY LEADERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 2 (AP) — Prolonged war prospects inspired buying of armament-rated stocks in today's first market of 145, in addition to imparting strength to grain futures, but many share leaders and bonds suffered from profit cashing on the lengthy forward swing.

The Associated Press 60-stock average managed to edge up .1 of a point at 58.4, a new top since Sept. 17, 1937. Transfers totalled 1,341,420 shares compared with 1,693,820 Friday.

Prominent advancers included Grumman Aircraft, up 1⅜ and Dresser Industries, up 2⅞, both at highs for the past year.

In front were Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, United Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Westinghouse, Allied Chemical and Texas Co. United Corp. opened on a 10,000-share block and emerged with a net gain of ⅛ at 1⅜. Among losers were N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, J. C. Penney and Pepsi-Cola.

Lifted in the curb were American Gas, American Republics, Pierce-Governor, U. S. Graphite and Republic Aviation. Turnover here was 347,870 shares versus 527,730 in the preceding full session.

Western Front

reach the front through Army channels.

Hubermont, six miles west of Bastogne was reported now firmly in American hands, but Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.'s armored drive was meeting considerable resistance after pushing ahead as much as eight miles on a front more than 10 miles wide in this area.

Heavy At Bastogne

Fighting still is heavy around Bastogne itself, but Neffe, three miles west of Bastogne, was captured.

American airmen reported columns of German troops, tanks and armored vehicles in the shrinking bulge were moving east in the area of St. Vith, four miles inside Belgium from the German frontier.

Ninth airforce fighter-bombers tied into two eastbound enemy columns, wrecking 69 of more than 100 tanks and other vehicles and leaving more than 75 German troops lying dead or wounded.

It was considered likely that von Rundstedt had the withdrawal of some of his armor in mind yesterday when his supporting air forces struck their heaviest blow since D-day at allied air bases in Belgium and Holland.

Sought To Divert Power

This possibly was an effort to immobilize a large portion of Allied air units to keep them from playing havoc with retreating Nazi armor, as they did in Normandy.

As reports from anti-aircraft units continued to pour in, the total of German planes downed by both air and ground gunners Monday mounted to 363 — the luftwaffe's greatest single day's loss of the war. Battlefront dispatches said the Germans threw nearly 700 planes into the costly attacks.

Included in the new total were ten planes accounted for by Ninth Air force anti-aircraft gunners. The Germans succeeded in shooting up a number of parked Allied planes, but the exact tally was not disclosed.

FDR Backs Up Plan Of Byrnes

the man at the next bench gets? Said Kilgore:

"I'm afraid they wouldn't get much production out of those $50 a month men."

Wants Strikes Stopped

Rep. Short (R-Mo) threw in a barb that the administration "stop all strikes of able-bodied men in war plants as the number one answer to a greater labor supply."

Thus a red hot issue landed on the capitol doorstep to start out the 79th Congress.

Manpower officials said even before the German offensive that munitions plants needed another 300,000 workers badly. They said 100,000 are required within the next two months and another 200,000 in the six months period after that. Byrnes' plan to give 4-Fs a choice of limited military duty or war plant work was received warmly by House leaders today.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), after the conference with President Roosevelt on problems facing the new Congress, praised the mobilizer's year-end report as containing "some fine things."

Should Find Place

"I have felt for some time," he told reporters, "that there should be some place in the war effort for those physically unsuited for actual fighting."

Chairman May (D-Ky) of the House Military committee promptly implemented this with a promise of action. He said he would convene his group soon to work on legislation to channel the 4-Fs into war industries with manpower troubles.

The legislation could be comparatively simple. Rayburn suggested it as an amendment to the Selective Service law which needs reenactment in May anyhow.

Another suggestion of Byrnes might not win such prompt accord. He said it may be necessary to dip into farm deferments . . . "the largest remaining source of young men for military service."

Farmers May Protest

Legislators from farm states May protest this idea. They have in the past complained that farms have been lost because there was no one to work them and that farm families are filling a vital role by helping to feed the nation and its armed forces.

Turning to routine organization, House Democrats unanimously nominated Rayburn as their candidate for speaker—his reelection at tomorrow's opening session a foregone conclusion because of the party's majority. They voted to continue Rep. McCormick of Massachusetts as floor leader.

At their two and one-half hour caucus, they also selected Rep. Anderson of New Mexico to membership on the ways and means committee, succeeding Wesley Disney of Oklahoma, who was not reelected to Congress. Anderson was chosen over Baldwin of Maryland by a vote of 135 to 63.

Pioneer Lumberman Is Critically Ill

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 2 (UP) Eugene Byron Bell, 57, one of the last survivors of a family that pioneered in the nation's lumbering industry, was in a critical condition here today after a mysterious seizure aboard a Kansas City street car.

Bell, the son of Victor B. Bell, co-founder of the Long-Bell company whose timber holdings included vast expanses in the Pacific Northwest, was suffering from a cerebral hemorrhage, physicians at General Hospital reported.

He was stricken aboard a street car New Year's Eve. Police took him to jail in the belief he was an over-enthusiastic celebrator.

When his condition failed to improve yesterday, he was removed to the hospital, where the nature of his illness was determined.

Bell and a sister, Mrs. Jemuel Gates Marty of Kansas City, are the only surviving members of the pioneer lumberman's family.

Many Workers Over 65 Stay On The Job

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP) — The Social Security board came out today with figures which it called "an effective answer to those who say Social Security will only encourage idleness."

Insisting that the American will-to-work is unimpaired, the board reported that more than 700,000 men and women past 65 have stayed on the job and not claimed benefits to which they are entitled.

In addition, approximately 70,000 once-retired workers have given up their benefits temporarily to return to jobs.

Supreme Court Rules On Wage-Hour Case

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the wage-hour law is applicable to piece workers.

With the AEF

by KENNETH L. DIXON

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ON BELGIAN FRONT, Dec. 31. (Delayed)—Nothing but the highest praise for the young American kids who helped to stop von Rundstedt's offensive came from the top officers of this division tonight. Nothing but admiration, respect and love.

Kenneth Dixon

One of the captains knew who had stopped the German drive. He was mad and proud and bitter as he stood there in the cold, noisy, fog cursing in that racking way in which men sometimes sob. His voice was harsh and his eyes were wet.

"Soda jerks and grocery clerks," he said. "Look at them! Pimply-faced mothers' boys. Scared schoolkids. Not a military man among them, and it took this to prove they're the best damned fighting men in the world."

10 Days Of Impossible

After holding firm for 10 days against impossible odds, his company had just been pulled out of the line—what was left of it. He rubbed a cold, cracked hand across his bearded face, and said bitterly:

"Who really saved it? Your damned, beat down, under-trained softy 'civilian soldier.' That's who did it. He should have panicked, but he didn't. He was mad at nobody—but he got mad. Those kids of mine are not the same soldiers they were. Something's happened to them."

Takes Up Story Again

The division general took up the thread of the story.

"Sure I did a good job," he snapped belligerently. Then his face softened and he said, "but if I'd done one ten times better I still wouldn't have been worthy of those kids.

"Why, one company would beat back a counterattack at one point then shift while that German outfit was resting up and beat off another one. Then they'd shift back again in time to be there to beat back the first bunch of Boche when they tried again."

"By everything in the book they couldn't do it. Yet they did. I still can't understand it."

Jap-Held Island Is Aflame, Airmen Say

SAIPAN, Marianas Islands, Dec. 30 (Delayed (AP)—(Via Navy Radio)—American airmen flying the sky trails to Tokyo reported tiny Japanese-held Alamagan Island in the northern Marianas was aflame today, apparently from the eruption of its very active volcano.

Alamagan is only 40 miles south of Pagan, strongest Japanese point remaining in the Marianas. The islet is four miles long and two miles wide. Only about a dozen Japanese and around fifty natives are believed to live there.

Nazi Says Hitler's Hair Turning Grey

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP)—Hitler's hair is turning grey and he is developing a stoop, but his eyes still are magnetic, a German radio spokesman said today in describing the scene at der Fuehrer's New Year broadcast.

There was no fanfare at the hideaway from which Hitler made his speech, said the commentator, adding that Hitler arrived only a few minutes before he spoke and "there was a sense of quietness all over the place."

HOUSTON, Jan. 2. (UP)—Grace Hicks, 22-year-old Houston negress, was held today on a charge of murder in the fatal shooting of James Clark, 29, her negro escort, in a cafe brawl last night.

San Antonio Plans Pro Golf Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 2. (AP)—Golf history will be written here for the second time in a quarter-century when the Army stages a professional tournament for the benefit of recuperating war wounded at Brooke General hospital.

It was in 1923 that San Antonio started "big time" money golf with the Texas Open, and now for the first time the Texas Professional Golfers association will hold its tournament over an Army course.

Because doctors at Brooke General hospital have seen the benefit golf has given wounded veterans, Fort Sam Houston's golf club took the initiative and secured the Texas P.G.A. tournament in order to raise funds to buy these veterans equipment.

In the past, soldiers not strong enough for volley ball or softball; basketball or swimming, have patiently awaited their turn to putt a few balls, or drive a few on their own miniature course next to the hospital. And as they grow stronger and move out to the tough, par 72, 18-hole Fort Sam course, the same situation exists: not enough clubs; not enough balls.

While a drive by the San Antonio Women's Golf association netted some equipment, it was not enough. But this tournament is expected to raise ample funds.

The affair will run a solid week.

West Pointer Moore, dominate figure of the Fort Sam golf club, is quarterbacking the show and has guaranteed tournament financier Ed Finck he'll not lose a cent.

Dates for the tournament have not yet been set by Texas P.G.A. President Sam Schneider but it is expected to be held in early spring.

Increased Demurrage Charges Are Ordered

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (AP) — Increased demurrage charges were ordered by the Interstate Commerce commission today to speed loading and unloading of railroad tank cars.

The commission, declaring that undue delay in handling has caused a tank car shortage, ordered a charge of $5.50 per car per day for the first day after expiration of the free loading or unloading time; $11 per car per day for the second day, and $22 per car per day for each succeeding day. Free loading and unloading time varies from 24 to 48 hours.

Present demurrage charges of $2.20 per car per day for the first two days after expiration of free time, and $5.50 per car per day thereafter—are suspended, as is operation of the everage agreement plan, a charge based on credits and debits.

The order will be effective from 7 a. m. January 15 to 7 a. m. March 1.

Allied High Command Shift Is Predicted

LONDON, Jan. 2 (AP) — The Yorkshire Post's well-informed military correspondent predicted today that the Allied high command will revert to its "Normandy plan" setup, in which Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery was executive tactician in command of the armies under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The correspondent said he had been told that such an executive-tactician plan "was intended for the advance into Germany."

Recalling that Eisenhower had Marshal Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander as his executive field commander in Africa and Montgomery in the same role in Normandy, the correspondent added:

"The resumption of that method has never been far from the official mind as a result of the growth of political and economic problems alongside military operations."

Three Men Injured

late Tuesday night was considered "fair."

Eubank and Baucum were rushed to Lubbock in a Joe H. Webb Funeral home ambulance, from Seagraves, after first aid treatment by Dr. John V. London, who has an osteopathic hospital in Seagraves. Eubank, whose heart seemed to have stopped but who was breathing eight to 10 times a minute, as evidenced by a bloody froth that was observed on his lips, was given one and a half cubic centimeters of coramine, a heart and respiratory stimulant, at Seagraves. His pulse and respiration became almost normal before the ambulance had reached Lubbock, Dr. London, who accompanied it, said.

Brought Here In Car

Mrs. Webb took Hunt to the hospital here, in her private car.

Eubank is the father of three sons and daughters: T/Sgt. Verner Bryant Eubank, now in California awaiting reclassification; Virginia Eubank, a daughter employed by West Texas hospital; and Oma Kathrine, who attends grammar school here.

Baucum has four children: Janis, 7 months; Denton, 12 years old; Don, 10, and Elsie Ann, 14.

Hunt has six children: Sid, 15; Rocile, 13; Glen, 12; Mary Ethel, 11; Martha, 6; and Linda, 1.

Report Not Complete

Hubert L. Allen, of Lubbock, president and district manager of the services company, said "our men have gone there (Seagraves) to check into what happened, but I won't have a complete report until in the morning."

Eubank's brother, J. H. Eubank, government employe of South Plains Army Air field, and who lives at 2220 Twenty-sixth, said his brother was a city patrolman under the administration of John LeMond as Lubbock chief of police; that he was assistant police chief under the administration of the late Wiley Metcalfe; that he then joined Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches, Inc.; then returned to city employment as a member of the health department and, several months ago, became employed by the roofing firm.

People Only Stare At Nazi-Clad Boy In Capital Test

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP) — A young man in Nazi party uniform strolled down Pennsylvania avenue at noon today.

He "lasted" just one block and a half.

Two FBI agents executed sharp flanking movements, grabbed the lad and started asking questions.

It was an experiment by the Washington Evening Star to demonstrate the alertness of the capital population. Gordon Shorb, a copy boy, wore the uniform picked up as a souvenir by a GI in Europe.

The khaki uniform was complete with an armband swastika.

Pedestrians stared at it but no one started anything. The lad saluted an Army major, who returned the salute. Then young Shorb stopped to light a cigarette, near the Justice department building. That's when two of J. Edgar Hoover's boys got curious.

Possible Significance Is Seen In Tightening Censorship On Patton

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Bright skies over the Nazi bulge in Belgium have intensified Allied air attack at what is apt to prove a critical moment for the enemy.

Air observation should clearly reveal whether it is the Germans' purpose to renew the onslaught, fall back again into Siegfried line fortifications or split the difference and hold enough of the ground gained to handicap Allied armies on the Roer and in Holland against early return to the offensive.

SIMPSON

There are some indications that a German withdrawal from the dangerous western loop of the bulge beyond the narrowing Mastogne - Manhay waistline gap is in progress. Third Army advances officially noted as of a day or more ago west of Bastogne have that look.

Censorship Tightens

There may be significance in an indicated tightening up of censorship on progress of Patton's forces due north of Bastogne. That is the focal point of the battle at this stage. Third Army elements had previously cut the Nazi escape hatch to thirteen miles or less. An estimated three to five German divisions in the western nose of the bulge are in grave danger of entrapment if the gap has been narrowed another two of three miles as indicated.

It would cause little surprise if American First Army troops holding the northern face of the bulge struck out at any moment to meet Third Army spearheads pushing up from Bastogne. The primary function of the American troops thrown into line on the north as the Nazis drilled toward the Meuse has been defensive. They stoutly guarded lower Meuse river crossings, unquestionably the prime objective of the German attack.

First May Take Offensive

As the Third Army pinch at the waist line increases, however, the now probably rested and reorganized First Army elements along the north perimeter are likely to pass from the defensive to the offensive. They have vengeance to seek for slaughtered comrades caught in the initial Nazi westward surge. Entrapment of a substantial part of the German force west of the waist line still is a distinct possibility.

Berlin or other Nazi broadcasts confirm the view that the critical phase of the fight now is north of Bastogne. They also more or less hint that the counterattack has fully run its course. Allied air reports of two enemy columns, including armor, moving eastward via St. Vith also suggest a general German movement to the rear.

That doesn't necessarily mean flight. The rearward movement could be instead heavy bolstering of the northern shoulder of the Belgian bulge in expectation of a First Army drive against that highly important communications hub. Or it could indicate a shifting of Nazi mobile units to the Roer on the lower Meuse or Neder Rhine sectors in anticipation of Allied attacks there once the situation in Belgium is stabilized.

News Briefs

After spending several days in the West Texas hospital for medical treatment, Mrs. B. W. Casey of 2214 Twenty-eighth returned home Monday afternoon. Miss Dora Casey of 1511 Fourteenth, who suffered a slight stroke several days ago, was also removed from the hospital to the home of her brother, W. Guy Casey of 1908 Twenty-second. Miss Casey, operator of the elevator at the county courthouse, and Mrs. Casey are slightly related.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Kerr of 1523 Twenty-eighth received news from a nurse in an Army hospital somewhere in England that their two sons, Cpl. Charles Kerr, 21, and T/4 L. A. Kerr, jr., 23, were reunited there when Charles was evacuated after being injured in combat. Cpl. Kerr, who is with an anti-aircraft artillery unit, is recovering from shrapnel wounds in the leg. The brothers, both former Tech students, had not seen each other since Charles enlisted more than two years ago. Technician Kerr is serving with the medical corps in the Army. The Kerrs have another son in the service, Billy, 19, a private in the Alaska Signal Corps, stationed at Fort Richardson.

Hundreds Rescued In Ohio Blizzard

BOWLING GREEN, O., Jan. 2 (AP)—Hundreds of motorists, trapped along Ohio highways by a blizzard, were rescued today after a night of discomfort in sub-zero cold.

Bulldozers and snowplows pushed through drifts to open a path for school buses to bring the motorists, many homebound from New Year's trips, into cities across the north-central section of the state.

Eighty-five persons, including 19 children, received hospital treatment here for frostbite and exposure.

Col. George Mingle of the State Highway patrol said the wintry weather was so widespread it was impossible to determine how many had been snowbound. But reports came in like this:

Upward of 300 rescued from one area seven miles south of here on the Dixie highway;

More than 150 automobiles abandoned on a highway between Shelby and Plymouth; theater at Plymouth opened to house hundreds;

One farmhouse near Fremont sheltered 125 persons throughout the night, 75 stayed in another home, and more than 200 jammed into a filling station at Jerry City in Wood county;

Virtually all main roads in the state were blocked, rural schools closed.

Sam Dealey And Sub Harder Are Reported Missing In Action

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP) — Comdr. Samuel D. Dealey of Dallas, Tex., one of the most decorated men of the war, is missing in action and the Submarine Harder which he commended is presumed lost, the Navy said today.

A Navy communique which also disclosed the loss of a landing ship and two PT boats, said the 1,525-ton Harder was overdue from patrol.

Dealey holds the Distinguished Service Cross, awarded him by the War department last July 9, "for extraordinary heroism in action in the Southwest Pacific area, June 6-10, 1944". The Navy said the citation was not published "for reasons of military security."

Navy Cross And Stars

The Navy Cross with three gold stars in lieu of additional Navy crosses, all awarded for his services in command of submarines, also are held by Dealey.

His mother lives in Dallas. His wife and two daughters are now with her sister, Mrs. James C. Pollack of San Mateo, Calif., and his son is with grandparents in Dallas. Dealey is the nephew of G. B. Dealey, chairman of the board of the Dallas Morning News and the A. H. Belo Corp.

Comdr. Dealey went to school at Southern Methodist university in Dallas and later was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Complement Of 65 Men

The Harder was of a type which carries a normal complement of 65 men. The Navy said the LSM 318, a type with a normal crew of 52, and the PT 300 were lost as the result of enemy action in the Philippine area, and that the PT 311 was lost to enemy action in the Mediterranean area. The normal crew of a PT boat is from 11 to 15.

Next of kin of casualties of the Harder and the PT boats have been notified, and next of kin of all fatalities and severely wounded members of the LSM's crew also have been notified, the Navy said.

Loss Of Subs Totals 35

Its announcement brought to 35 the number of U. S. submarines lost from all causes since start of the war and the total of miscellaneous types to 132. The total of all vessels lost was raised to 243.

Built by the Electric Boat Co., New London, Conn., the Harder was commissioned Dec. 2, 1942. She held the presidential unit citation for outstanding performance and distinguished service during her war patrols in enemy-controlled waters.

Arguments End In Chaplin Case

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2. (AP) — Final arguments were concluded late today in Charles Chaplin's paternity trial.

Judge Henry M. Willis said he would read the court's instructions tomorrow morning and turn the case over to the jury to determine whether the film comedian is the father of Joan Berry's infant daughter, Carol Ann.

Miss Berry's lawyer, Joseph Scott, concluded his argument by branding Chaplin "a wretched specimen of a man . . . who should be made to realize the law treats him the same as a man down on skidrow."

Defense Attorney Charles E. Millikan, arguing before a jury in the paternity trial, undertook today a meticulous description of Joan Berry's testimony about intimacies she said she had with the 55-year old comedian, and then cited blood tests as "irrefutable evidence" that Chaplin could not be the father of her daughter.

"There has been proof presented long before this trial," Millikan declared, "that was so convincing that the mother of this child in bringing this case into court is guilty of the highest crime I can conceive of, so far as motherhood is concerned.

"Why?" he asked bluntly, "doesn't the young woman put the label of fatherhood on the real father of this child?"

Millikan recalled the testimony of Riley Stuart, Tulsa, Okla., policeman, that Miss Berry told him she spent a day and a night in the Mayo hotel about Jan. 12, 1943, with J. Paul Getty, identified in newspaper records as a millionaire oil man.

Millikan also read portions of Miss Berry's testimony relative to her acquaintance with Hans Ruesch, a writer, whose apartment she said she visited several times, and with Lionel Vasco Bonini, "whom she called Vasco, although she had met him but twice."

New Air Rates Set Up For Perishable Goods

DALLAS, Jan. 2. (AP)—Reductions up to 40 per cent in domestic air express rates on certain perishable commodities, effective Jan. 1, have been announced by Braniff Airways.

Included are fresh fruits, vegetables, mushrooms, seafoods, and fish.

A statement from Braniff's air mail and air cargo traffic department said that the new rates are an experiment to determine what volume of traffic may be developed at lower cost to the shipper.

Braniff said the tariff as filed would expire in April 1945, although it is subject to cancellation, change or extension.

Permanent Watch On Groups Such As CIO Committee Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP) — A House investigating committee proposed today that Congress set up a permanent agency to police the activities of such organizations as the CIO-Political Action committee.

It also suggested that the corrupt practices act — watchdog of campaign spending — be broadcast to cover primary elections and the activities of so-called "political education" societies which cluster at the fringe of political campaigns without bearing regular party labels.

Concluding a long investigation of the activities of such organizations, the House Campaign Investigating committee urged that Congress:

Continuous Watch

"Set up a scheme of regulation . . . relying on some congressional agency to watch continuously evolving practices and patterns of organizations in the field of political activity, and to keep up to date regulations. . . . Criminal penalties should be prescribed" for violating campaign regulations.

So many organizations other than established political parties took part in the 1944 campaign, the committee said, that it can't even guess at the amount of money spent. Under the law political parties are limited to $3,000,000 each.

Because of the growing activity of new political groups the committee proposed that laws requiring a public accounting of campaign spending be spread out to include "educational, civic, fraternal, social, patriotic, recreational, religious and welfare" organizations.

Col. Thomas Gilbert Back For Treatment

Col. Thomas L. Gilbert, first commanding officer of Lubbock Army Air field, informed his wife here by telephone from San Francisco Monday night that he is in this country for hospitalization following an attack of arthritis.

Now in the Air Transport Command, Colonel Gilbert recently has been based in the Marshall islands in the Pacific. He became ill about a month ago, was hospitalized in Hawaii, but did not quickly respond to treatment. Mrs. Gilbert who lives at 2201 Broadway, expects her husband to be brought to a hospital in Texas.

Colonel Gilbert activated Lubbock Army Air field in November of 1941, remained in command at that station until his transfer to the Pacific theater in November of 1943.

Foreign Airlines To Get Five Transports

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP) — Five more transport planes have been allocated to foreign airlines, the Surplus War Property administration announced today.

Three Douglas transports went to the Turkish State airways, and two Lockheed transports to Canadian Pacific airlines.

This brought to 33 the number of transports allocated to foreign airlines. Domestic airlines have received 58 planes.

Capt. Ernest D. Tibbets Is Ace "Tank Buster" From Air

A NINTH AIR FORCE THUNDERBOLT FIGHTER-BOMBER BASE, Belgium.—Capt. Ernest D. Tibbits, Plainview, Texas, ace "tank buster" of the Battle of France, now is wrecking German panzers on their home grounds.

The Ninth Air Force P-47 Thunderbolt fighter pilot on November 26 led his squadron on a bombing and strafing attack that smashed a column of German Tiger tanks preparing to counterattack units of the U. S. Ninth Army in the Julich area. Of an estimated 20 tanks in the force, eight were destroyed and eight damaged.

"I'm glad to see German tanks back in the open," said Tibbets, who in July on one mission destroyed 10 tanks in the path of the U. S. First Army. "Give us a stretch of good weather and we'll give them the same treatment they got after the breakthrough at St. Lo."

Wears 12th Cluster

The 26-year-old Texan, whose wife, Mrs. Mozelle Tibbets, lives at 2114 Eighteenth, Lubbock, Texas, holds the Distinguished Flying Cross and 12th Bronze Oak Leaf Cluster to the air Medal.

He hadn't seen an enemy tank in more than two months when his group was alerted to the threatened armored attack against the Ninth Army front in Germany. Three P-47 squadrons of Lieutenant Colonel Leo C. Moon's assault group, a unit of the 29th Tactical Air Command, were assigned to attack Kirchberg, a village two miles south of Julich where the panzer concentration was reported.

Made Direct Hits

By the time the first two squadrons had combed the town the tanks were on the move, nosing out on the highway.

"They were spaced at intervals of 25 to 50 feet," Tibbets said. "Others were still in the outskirts of town, some against the walls of buildings. We blew up several buildings with our bombs. At least three 500-pounders were direct hits on tanks.

Made Three Passes

"We pulled up, formed again, and dived for a strafing attack. We strafed from 1,500 feet right down to within a few feet of the tanks. We made three passes at them.

"I knew our troops were not far away, so I instructed the pilots to pick out specific targets on each run, and to cease firing as soon as that attack had been made, to avoid ricochets into our own lines.

"After our third strafing run tanks were smoking and burning on the edge of town and for a quarter of a mile up the road. As we started home the radio controller for the ground unit which requested the attack told us it had been successful and thanked us for 'a very good show.'

Can See Results

"That's one big reason tanks are my favorite target," said Tibbets, who has flown 80 combat missions. "You can actually see the results of your attacks, and know that you've given a helping hand to the fellows on the ground.

"Then you come back and look at the situation map, and you see the troop line move forward. It makes you feel good."

Tibbets, operations officer of his squadron, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tibbets, 218 E. Alpine street, Plainview, Texas.

Military Commission May Try Nazi Agents

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. (AP) — The two alleged Nazi agents arrested after being landed on the Maine cost probably will be tried before a military commission as were the eight German saboteurs apprehended in 1942.

The Justice department said today no announcement regarding charges or type of trial would be forthcoming for perhaps another 24 hours. But a well-informed government source was of the opinion it was a "99-to-1 chance" the two would be tried in the same fashion as were the eight men who made the 1942 landings from submarines on the Long Island and Florida coasts. Of these, six were executed after trial; the other two given long prison terms.

Firemen Fight Blaze In Sub-Zero Weather

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 2. (AP)—Fire fighters "dropped like flies" today fighting a fire in a six-story warehouse building which caused damage expected to total $100,000. The temperature at the time -14.

Twenty-two men, 21 of them firemen, were taken to General hospital after they were overcome by carbon monoxide and other poisonous fumes. Firemen described the fire as one of the most difficult ever fought in the city.
