"The expansion of activity in wholesale markets, which made such marked headway last week, has been accelerated further by the strong current buying movement," the report added.

In the twelfth (San Francisco) federal reserve district report, retail department store sales were said to have increased in February.

Mortality On Decline

From Kansas City came the tenth district report a decided reduction in business mortality had been noted.

In the eighth (St. Louis) district a promising upswing in business for the third week in March was reported.

Prison Guards Fired Upon In An Air Attack

Two Men Arrested After Hop Over Leavenworth Prison On Friday; Attempt To Aid In Escape Charged

(By The Associated Press)

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., March 31. Two men, said by J. K. Codding, United States commissioner, to be Lynn and A. N. Barlow, ex-convicts of Denver, were arrested late today after they flew over Leavenworth federal penitentiary and were charged with firing on the institution in an attempt to aid in an escape plot.

No injuries were reported as a result of the firing.

The two were arrested when their plane landed on the airplane field at Fort Leavenworth.

Held Under Bonds

They were brought before Codding by Warden Fred G. Zerbst and other prison officials. Codding ordered the two held under bonds of $5,000 each for an appearance before him at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Codding said the prison officials said the plane, believed to be the same one which flew over the prison last fall and was fired on by guards, swooped lower to permit its occupants to fire at the guards. Fort Leavenworth soldiers, who made the arrests, reported finding no weapon in the plane but Codding said it easily could have been disposed of from the air.

Fort Leavenworth officers reported seeing the plane fly low and of hearing the shots. They ordered it be detained if it landed on the fort's field.

Filling Station Operator Kidnaped; Bank Is Looted

COMANCHE, March 31. (AP)—After kidnaping a filling station operator and cutting telephone lines leading from the town, four men last night entered the Farmers and Merchants bank of Priddy, cut a hole with an acetylene torch in the safe and escaped with between $700 and $900.

The filling station operator, Otto Schoen, was kidnaped about 1 a. m., and taken to the bank where he was bound to a chair. He was able to free himself about four hours later to spread the alarm.

Comanche and Mills county officers were notified. Schoen said two of the burglars appeared to be young men and the other two middle aged.

Arguments Ready To Open In Murder Case At Brownsville

BROWNSVILLE, March 31. (AP)—Earl Dodson's counsel completed testimony late today in his trial on murder charges involving the airplane killing of Lehman Nelson, Harlingen flying instructor, and the subsequent suicide of Erin McCall, student flier.

Attorneys were ready to begin their arguments in the strange case, in which the state sought to prove that Dodson and McCall, both former high school classmates, plotted to steal the plane from Nelson for a projected flight to Yucatan, Mexico.

Tragedy Rides Air Lanes And Quick Death Strikes At Athletes In Crash

Six Are Dead While Others Are Dying After Crackup

(By The Associated Press)

NEODESHA, Kas., March 31. — Tragedy flew with a group of young Canadian athletes through bright Kansas skies today and ended in quick death and injury their sporting invasion of the United States.

Members of the Winnipeg Toilers basketball champions of Canada, and accompanying party, were the victims of the crash of a disabled tri-motored airplane in a forced landing on a soggy, narrow plowed field.

Six Are Dead

Six of the 14 persons aboard are dead; one is reported dying; two are not expected to recover and five are given a fighting chance to survive.

The dead:

J. H. O'Brien, Minneapolis, owner of the plane; Alvie H. Hawkes, 28, Windom, Minn., pilot; H. E. Eggens, Hendricks, Minn., co-pilot; Mike Shea, Winnipeg, member of the team; Joe Dodds, Winnipeg, member of the team; R. H. Bonynge, Winnipeg, team business manager.

The injured: Bruce Dodds, player, internal injuries, reported dying; Andy Brown, player, critical; George Wilson, manager of team, critical; Lauder Phillips, player, scratched and dazed; Allan C. Samson, foreman of a Winnipeg newspaper composing room, badly hurt but not critical; T. A. Silverthorne, player, broken legs and arms; Hugh Penwarden, player, critical, unconscious.

On Homeward Trip

The disaster overtook the Canadian party on its homeward trip from Tulsa, after an international series of games with the Tulsa Oilers, A. A. U. basketball champions of the United States.

The big craft suddenly developed trouble after skimming the Oklahoma and Kansas prairies for more than an hour. The left wing motor quit and Pilot Hakes apparently decided to land the heavily laden craft.

Picking out a narrow strip of plowed ground, the pilot apparently sideslipped the huge craft in a futile effort to avoid over-shooting the small space. The wing struck the earth and was crumpled. The landing gear was demolished and the plane was smashed.

Witnesses Are Close

Witnesses were close at hand. Ambulances and firemen were rushing to the scene as victims were being taken from the twisted heap of metal. The owner of the plane and the two pilots had been killed instantly.

Two Young Women Are Found Dead In Bed At Fashionable Apartment House And Theory Of Poisoning Being Held

(By The Associated Press)

PORTSMOUTH, O., March 31. Two young women were found dead in their bed in a fashionable west end apartment house here late today. The pair, Mrs. Dorothy White McCormick, 18, of Portsmouth, and Miss Muriel Howard, 18, of Scioto Furnace, near here, had been dead at least 12 hours, authorities said.

The bodies were found, police related, by Walter George, 21, and Hiram Schmeller, 22, when they called to keep a "date."

Investigators were at a loss immediately to explain the cause of death, but said they were inclined to favor a theory of poisoning. Coroner Ross Moore Gault said he would perform an autopsy tonight.

Police said the bodies were found as if the two had died peacefully. The bed clothes was in order, they said, and there was no sign of a struggle.

Other residents of the apartment house said the young women were heard playing a piano in their suite until about 8:30 last night.

Later, one roomer reported, a sound as if of someone groaning was heard, but there was no reply to a knock on the women's door and the roomer made no attempt to enter.

While Schmeller and George were held for questioning, police sought to locate Mrs. McCormick's husband, from whom they said she had been estranged.

Model Bill On Beer Stirs Up New Tempests

Sale Of Beverage Prohibited In Any Government Building In Senate Bill; Limitation On Liquor Lifted

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The bill which was to be the model beer law of them all—a statute to regulate distribution of the new 3.2 brew in the District of Columbia—stirred a new tempest today as the senate passed it with an amendment prohibiting sale in any government building whatever.

The amendment was voted 44 to 28 just about the time the administration chieftain made known they had no objections to beer sale at army and navy posts. President Roosevelt decided to leave the matter to the responsible secretaries. He required only that West Point and Annapolis do without. Also it is not expected to be sold aboard ships.

Goes Back To House

Since the bill passed by the senate today must now go back to the house many senators hoped the federal building prohibition, which affects the capitol restaurants, would be knocked out. Generally it was interpreted by them as applying to government buildings throughout the country including military posts, though its author, Senator Gore (D., Okla.) said that was not his purpose.

The bill itself passed without a record vote, but with a number of

Ruth Judd Saws Prison Bar And Says She's Ready To Escape At Her First Chance; Cheerful Attitude Displayed

(By The Associated Press)

STATE PRISON, Florence, Ariz., March 31.—Disclosing a recent attempt to prepare for escape, and several threats of suicide, prison officials were puzzled today by the unwonted cheerfulness displayed by Winnie Ruth Judd as her death on the gallows impended.

The blonde young woman condemned to die April 21 for killing Agnes Anne LeRoi, one of the two "trunk murder" case victims, has been tempestuous lately.

About three weeks ago she cut through one bar in the little window of her one-room adobe cell house in the yard of the woman's ward with a hack saw blade which Warden A. G. Walker said was "given her by her brother, Burton M. Connell."

E. H. Shute, assistant warden, said Mrs. Judd has declared several times recently she will die by her own hand before a rope is placed about her neck. Precautions have been taken against both escape and suicide.

She was smiling and cheerful today despite refusal of the Arizona board of pardons and paroles to commute her sentence.

"I have no idea what makes her so cheerful today," said Assistant Warden Shute. "I don't think she has any real idea she can escape."

Warden Walker said she had made "no real attempt to escape" when she sawed through the window-bar, but he said she told him she "was ready of she had the opportunity to escape."

Drastic Cuts Announced In State Budget

Departmental Appropriations Bill Is Passed By House As Three Departments Are Cut From Government

Salaries Reduced

Educational Budget Remains For Action And This Bill Will Probably Come Up For Debate Next Week

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 31.—The Texas house of representatives today passed finally the departmental appropriations bill, after eliminating three departments and cutting items from other divisions.

It was the third of the major appropriation bills to be passed by the house. There remains only the educational budget and this probably will be brought up next week.

Budget Is Chopped

The three units eliminated were the board of water engineers, the state board for mineral development and the state reclamation department. The house also cut more than $250,000 from the budget of the adjutant general's department.

It chopped $516,220 from the already reduced appropriations recommended by its budget committee. As passed the bill carried today appropriations of $10,858,076 for the biennium starting September 1, 1933. The committee had recommended $11,474,296.

Debate Underway

Debate on the departmental bill was underway in the senate. It was probable final action would be taken Monday. The senate bill as recommended by the finance committee carried appropriations of $12,600,000 for the biennium, $1,741,924 more than the house bill.

The senate began slashing appropriations recommended by its committee.

By a four vote margin the senate voted to reduce the number of state rangers from 44 to 20. Under an amendment presented by Senator Clint C. Small of Amarillo, the state ranger force would consist of three captains, three sergeants and 14 privates.

Salaries Are Reduced

Suggested salaries for the state auditor and his assistants were reduced under an amendment by Senator Wilbourne B. Collie of Eastland. The state auditor's salary, now $7,500, was placed at $5,000. Assistants' salaries were reduced from 12 1-2 to 20 per cent below the figures

Boycott Plans Against Jews Are Modified

Government Steps In Friday With Order That Boycott Is To Last But One Day Then Be Held Up

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Mar. 31.—The government stepped in at the last minute today with an order that the anti-Jewish boycott, which is to start at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, will last one day only and then will be held in abeyance until Wednesday.

This action, taken after considerable pressure had been brought to bear to prevent disruption of the nation's business life, led some observers to assert the boycott movement would be dropped entirely after the single day.

First Official Move

Joseph Goebbels, cabinet minister of propaganda, signed the order which signallized the first official move in the boycott situation. It was the Nazi party of Chancellor Adolf Hitler, rather than the government itself, which ordered the nationwide repressive measures.

Dr. Goebbels asserted in his proclamation that in the interim the government hopes no more reports of anti-Jewish atrocities in Germany will be printed in newspapers abroad.

Rules Are Issued

If foreign propaganda has not been ended by 10 a. m. Wednesday, Dr. Goebbels said, the boycott will be resumed "with full force and vehemence which until now has been undreamed of."

The propaganda ministers also issued a set of boycott rules, declaring:

That no banks must be closed.

That Nazis must not enter boycotted premises.

That the boycott must be kept within legal regulations. (Boycotters are liable for any damage inflicted under the law.)

Four Southern States Are In Path Of Storm

Strong Winds Continue Blowing Friday And Additional Reports Of Dead And Injured Are Received

Flood Threatens

At Least 33 Lives Are Lost In Mississippi Friday As Wind Races On; East Texas Reports 20 Dead

(By The Associated Press)

AN all-southern storm that sent tornadoes down the Mississippi valley and deluges almost to the Atlantic seaboard increased its death list to at least 68 Friday night.

And in its wake were hundreds of injured persons, wrecked villages and a flood menace.

The winds swept over the prairies of East Texas Thursday, nipped at Southwest Arkansas and North Louisiana and yesterday unleashed a pack of tornadoes on Mississippi that took at least 33 lives in that state.

Cities Are Spared

Mississippi apparently bore the brunt of the wild March wind, which spared no section of the state except the gulf coast. Cities in the storm area were spared, but the tornadoes flirted with such important towns as Laurel, Greenville, Tupelo, Miss., and Baton Rouge, La.

Rain fell in sheets as the wind tore eastward and creeks swelled dangerously. Valley streams already were rising, and the latest assault from the elements left a flood threat hanging over the deep south.

Downpours Reported

The wind was gusty as far east as Atlanta and downpours were reported in Georgia.

The toll by states for the two-day series of storms follows:

East Texas, 20.
Louisiana, 9.
Arkansas, 1.
Mississippi, 38.

After crossing the Mississippi river Thursday, the storm began an attack on the delta city of Greenville yesterday. It rumbled over the plantation country—heavy already with spring rains and just ready for planting—and slapped at such prosperous little towns as Leland and Marks. At least eight persons were killed in the delta before the winds raced away south and dipped near Brookhaven where two women were killed.

Village Is Hard Hit

The storm next was reported near Laurel—center of the yellow pine industry—where it swirled through

Leaders Of Missionary Society Of Baptist Association Make Reports

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

IF WE ALL aren't beautiful, it isn't the fault of the International Beauty Shop owners, for they have just about invented everything except a new personality to add beauty where it isn't.

For those of us, for instance, whose fingernails must be cut to the quick in order to pound a typewriter for some eight hours daily they have designed demountable fingernails.

The nails come in little boxes in a type most fitting for the occasion. When one starts out for a dinner engagement or in the evening, the nails are simply glued on. After the party is over, they are dismounted by holding the hand in hot water, replaced in the box and left for the next occasion.

And if you don't think that is a boon for the poor working girl it means that you haven't been one.

That is just one of the new aids to beauty. There's one that should appeal to the men who object to lipsticks that are flourished in public and perhaps will receive a great big support from the masculine element. For some beauty expert has invented artificial lips that may be put on and taken off at will.

Of course, the song writers may not be able to write any particularly sentimental lays about tulipped demountable lips and novelists may have some difficulty creating phrases about passionate kisses when the heroine is wearing an artificial pair, but, we presume, some arrangements will be made for these occasions.

Anyway, it should be nice to simply slip on a pair of red lips and start out for the day knowing that there would be no necessity to add an extra supply of rouge every hour or so. This new style should put the kiss-proof lipstick into the obsolete class.

For those who have troubles with coiffures and small hats, another of the beauty shop owners got busy with inventions and now we can buy hats which have rows of provocative curls attached to bands at the back of them.

So far no rules of behavior have been included in case it becomes necessary to remove the hat in public. The ingenuity of the wearer must care for this, we are to presume.

Oh yes, and there is something else new under the sun in the way of beauty. If you don't care for the old nose and the favorite mail order house is just out, the beauty shops will fix you up. They have demountable noses now and the inventor is working on a method to make them available to the general public.

These long-suffering men who protest against lipsticks in public can now rest more at ease more than ever, for here is something to do away with the powder puff and vanity case in public. No more shiny noses!

If we all aren't beautiful now, it isn't the fault of the inventors and the beauty shop operators. You can now forget about those booklets on beauty fo rthe corner drug store will soon be able to supply you with whatever is necessary for beauty.

New Frigidaire To Be Shown Here By Local Concern Today

The Household Supply company at 1109 Main street today will place on display the new Frigidaire which the manufacturers say will use no more current than one ordinary electric light bulb, D. A. Davis, manager, said yesterday.

Several models of the new electric refrigerator will be shown, low operating costs, new designing and quality workmanship featuring the new model as has been the case with previous models.

"It is a real pleasure to exhibit a model that is to be sold at such a low price and which provides extraordinary low operating cost by use of a motor half the size of any used before, yet providing adequate refrigeration capacity," Mr. Davis said.

Former Banker Is A Prisoner

T. J. Tucker Held In Kansas Jail After His Arrest In Texas; Defalcations With Big Total Charged

HUTCHINSON, Kas., March 31 (AP)—T. J. Tucker, former cashier of the closed state bank of Nickerson and president of the Reno County Bankers association, was a prisoner in the couny jail today, having been returned from Texas where he was arrested on warrants charging defalcation totalling more than $85,000 from the institution.

Tucker told friends he was going to a sanitarium at San Antonio shortly before the bank closed. He was arrested there when he called at a bank purportedly to open a safety deposit box. Sheriff Ed Cunningham and Max Wyman, county attorney, said the prisoner was driven around Central Texas from Monday noon until Wednesday night by Texas state police. He was not placed in jail, they said, because it was feared his release might be obtained through legal technicalities.

Reno county officers obtained custody of the prisoner at the Oklahoma-Texas line Wednesday night.

Income Tax Deadline Falls Friday; Collections Heavy

Friday midnight was the deadline for paying income taxes, a 16-day extension granted coincident with the banking moratoria having expired. The original deadline was March 15.

Sidney C. Mason, deputy collector of internal revenue, who was to leave late Friday afternoon, said collections here had been substantially heavier than last year. Bulk of the collections, he said was from wage-earners, and especially from single persons.

Although many took advantage of the quarterly payment plan, most of them had paid by March 15, as only those persons waiting until the last day to make their returns learned of the extended time soon enough to utilize it, the deputy collector explained.

Souvenirs are to be given away to each boy and girl there," said Mr. Mount. "I called at 16 rural schools Friday to invite the children and give away tickets."

New Panhandle-Plains Museum Is To Become Clearing House For Studies

AMARILLO, March 31. (AP)—The new museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical society at Canyon will become a "clearing house" for scientists and educational institutions the nation over who want to study the prehistoric life of this area, said Floyd V. Studer of Amarillo, director of archaeology and paleontology.

"The museum will be located in the center of one of the richest fields in the world for the study of archeological and paleontological deposits," Studer said. "Numerous expeditions have been sent into this field each summer for a number of years to make excavations and study the deposits. These expeditions will continue to visit the Panhandle, but in most instances they will go to the museum to carry on their observations, rather than into the undeveloped field.

"Specimens from practically every type of deposit to be found in the great Panhandle area will be placed in the museum, together with field notes on the location from which each specimen was removed, and other details essential to a proper study of such material.

"Now that the Panhandle has its own museum for the preservation of this material, there will be a regulation in the future that any specimen excavated must be left in the museum, unless a duplicate already has been placed there. We expect to welcome representatives of other institutions, and to cooperate in every way possible, but we expect to protect our own interests."

The museum will be formally opened on April 14.

Singing Of Old Hymns To Be Feature Of Two Church Services Here Sunday

Two pastors, who accepted a proposition by The Plainsman, Daily Journal columnist that he would publicize hymn services for any and all churches offering these programs, yesterday announced hymns to be sung in two special song services here Sunday.

One special service will be held on Sunday morning at 10:50 o'clock, at First Methodist church with Rev. Joseph O. Haymes as pastor. The other will start at 7:45 p. m. at First Christian church, Rev. Walter P. Jennings, pastor.

Sermons In Song

For his evening service, which will be concluded at 8:45, Rev. Mr. Jennings has arranged his song service with short scripture readings, in the following form:

Scripture 1. The Bread of Life; Hymns—'Break, Thou, the Bread of Life'; 'Retreat'. Scripture; 2. The Light of Life', Hymns—'Lead Kindly Light', mixed quartet; 'Sun of my Soul'; 'Crossing the Bar,' solo.

Scripture: 3. The Water of of Life; Hymns—'Come, Thou Fount'; 'On Jordan's Stormy Banks'; 'I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say', duet.

Youngsters To Aid

Intermediate choir (young people)—'Bring Them In', and 'Brighten the Corner Where You Are'.

Hymns — 'Saviour, Like a Shepherd Lead Us'; 'The Old Rugged Cross,' Male quartet Doxology; Invitation: 'Just As I Am'.

Other old hymns that will be sung include:

'Come, We That Love the Lord'; 'I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord'; 'There Is a Fountain Filled With Blood'; 'Rock of Ages'; 'How Firm a Foundation'; 'All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name'; 'The Church In the Wildwood'; 'Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me'; 'Nearer, My God, To Thee'.

Before some of the old hymns are sung Mr. Jennings will give the circumstances under which they were written.

First Methodist's morning service will offer the following old favorites:

'Come, Thou Almighty King'; 'Blest Be the Tie That Binds'; 'Holy, Holy, Holy'; 'Lead Kindly Light'; 'Onward, Christian Soldiers', and 'Nearer, My God, To Thee'. Words to the songs will be printed in the church bulletin, to make up for a shortage of songbooks, Eth. ridge Eagan, church secretary, announced Friday. He said Mr. Haymes will give a history of each hymn as it is sung.

Large crowds are expected at both special services, pastors said.

While no other special song services will be held Sunday, other churches will follow their custom of regularly giving over time to the singing of old hymns. Heads of First Baptist, Central Baptist, Fundamentalist tabernacle and New Fundamentalist Baptist congregations have announced that, as usual, they will offer old song services at their worship hours.

First Picture Of Libby With Baby

OKLAHOMA CITY—It was a rather foul trick that city officials played on local fowls. An ordinance condemning the keeping of fowls making frequent, loud, and unusual noises has been drafted. Other chickens are all right as long as they keep the peace.

Pushed through a store window during an automobile collision in Blackheath, England, Joseph Forster picked himself up unscratched and continued his walk home.

BLUSH EXPLAINED

Just what is a blush? Dr. Blanchard of Swarthmore college explains that it is a sidetracked thought. Blood rushes to the mind when a person thinks, he says. If something happens that a person does not care to think about, the mind sidetracks the thought to the subconscious mind, while the blood that should go to the brain is sent to the face, causing it to turn red.

Oklahoma Pay Checks Frozen

Pay For Every State Official In Sooner State Is At Dead Halt; Plans Are Speeded To Relieve Situation

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 31 (AP)—Pay for every state official, employe, institutional head, instructor and worker whose warrants are drawn against Oklahoma's general revenue fund came to a dead halt today.

From janitor to governor and from yardman to university president, March pay warrants were "frozen" in the Oklahoma financial crisis.

Not a banking institution in the state would cash a single one of the approximately $650,000 in warrants issued for March work, according to information received by State Treasurer Ray O. Weems.

As the legislature speeded action to relieve the money stalemate, attention centered on Governor Murray's approval of a proposed issue of 4 1-2 per cent treasury notes to pay off the state's $13,000,000 deficit.

Criminal Statutes Asked To Enforce Oil Proration Laws

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP)—Members of the Texas railroad commission issued a statement today appealing to the legislature to enact criminal statutes that would send "to jail" violators of its proration orders.

"We have repeatedly asked for the passage of criminal statutes so that proration offenders could be arrested by local officers and tried in local courts," the statement said.

"The public should know that there is actually no overproduction of oil in America today," said the statement, which went into a discussion of the petroleum situation.

Craig Looms As Appointee

Athens Newspaper Publisher Considered Likely Choice Of Mrs. Ferguson In Place Of Denison

BY R. W. BARRY

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP) — R. T. Craig of Athens, newspaper publisher, is considered a likely choice by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson for a place on the Texas highway commission in event F. L. Denison of Temple is unable to prove his title to the office.

Governor Ferguson has indicated she would not suggest anyone until the status of Denison had been determined. The district court already had held he had no right to be a comissioner, basing its decision on the senate journal which showed he had been "rejected."

The senate on two occasions failed to give his appointment the two-thirds majority vote necessary to confirmation. Denison and the governor contended he needed only a simple majority. The district court held it had no official information that he had obtained even a majority, pointing to the senate record which noted he had been "rejected."

Craig has been at Austin lately and had a conference with the governor, but he was "mum" when he came out. He indicated, however, that he would accept the place in event it was offered him, although for a time he was undecided. Some East Texans had been after him to take it, pointing out that West Texas had W. R. Ely on the commission and South Texas D. K. Martin. Cohe Johnson, late member of the commission, whose place the governor's appointee would take, was from East Texas.

School Tax Bill Receives A Veto

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP)— Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today vetoed a bill by Representative Dennis Ratliff of Haskell to validate ad valorem tax levies made by independent school districts.

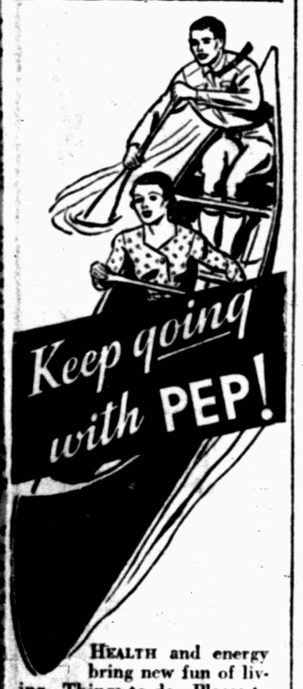

Ratliff said he was considering seeking passage of the bill over the governor's veto.

The veto message stated the governor did not want to give independent school districts any more power than had been previously conferred on them by law.

"My observation has been that independent school districts have almost invariably levied excessive valuations and the independent school district tax is now one of the most burdensome and oppressive obligations of the taxpayer," the veto message stated. "Their valuations for taxation purposes are almost invariably much higher than the valuations put on said property by the county commissioners' courts."

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—They say that most people have a skeleton in their closet, but Mrs. A. R. Vail's closet contained a Negro. Awakened one night and hearing noises in the house, Mrs. Vail decided it was a burglar. She calmly went to the telephone and called the police. They came and surrounded the house. As Officer Butler entered the front door, he saw a frightened Negro dash into a closet. The other officers entered the house and arrested the man.

Britain, Too, Has Its Fascists

It looks as if the Fascist movement is gaining ground in Great Britain, where, hitherto, it had been regarded as something in the nature of a lark. Here is a group of uniformed "Blackshirts," pictured after a visit to the Japanese Embassy in London to offer Japan sympathy following the vote of censure by the League of Nations. At right is Miss R. L. Lintorn-Orman, founder of the women's Fascist group, and at left, W. J. Webster, chief of the men's unit.

PLEASANT SURPRISE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Emory Gable, tall, well-dressed Negro, did not create quite the expected sensation when he walked into the police station and said, "I am the man who shot George Bryant." Gable was pleasantly surprised when Judge Williams explained that there was no warrant out for him. Gable had shot Bryant when the latter pulled a gun on him while Emory was with his sweetheart. He shot at Bryant six times, but the hospital reported Bryant only slightly injured.

Special Railroad Automobile Shown Here; Farrington Is On Inspection

Driving the latest type of railroad official "business car," with specially equipped pneumatic tires, John D. Farrington, general manager of the Fort Worth and Denver, visited Lubbock briefly yesterday afternoon. Mr. Farrington was on an inspection trip that had covered from Plainview to Dimmitt, back to Sterling and thence to Lubbock. He left for Childress after a brief stay.

"This is the only one of its kind in the Southwest that I know of," Mr. Farrington said. "We have had it a couple of months and we are using it on inspection trips like these. So far, these trips have proved very satisfactory."

A new type of wheel that permits installation of a steel flange on the inside has been developed, together with a new type of rubber tire. Inside the inner tube is a core, that nearly fills the tube, Mr. Farrington explained. This core is so arranged that in case of a puncture or blowout, the car would not be let down "more than three quarters of an inch." Heavy railroad metal is used in the wheel and the flange consists of two heavy pieces of steel with a quarter inch rubber between. This runner reduces the noise to a minimum.

Other lines have used this type of car, Mr. Farrington said. There are indications if the car can be developed to what railroad executives believe is practical, it will be used on short line hauls for passenger and express business.

"I have never driven more than 45 miles an hour with this car," Mr. Farrington said. "I do not care to let it out more. It is a good car for this particular type of work."

Mr. Farrington said he found wheat conditions between Sterley and Plainview and Plainview and Dimmitt much improved over his last trip. The rains there Tuesday night, he added, brought much relief to anxious farmers about their wheat crop prospects.

"The best section I have visited, outside of this South Plains, is on the Wichita Valley," Mr. Farrington said. "I went to Spur the other day. That country is looking much better and they have had some good crops. Jones county had 107,000 bales of cotton and farmers are more prosperous and happier.

"Prospects to me are better now than for some time. If we get a good wheat crop this year along our lines, we will be in good shape this fall."

PRETTY MEAN TRICK

COLUMBUS, O. — Joe Fleming, newspaper peddler, would rather not receive tips when they are the kind one customer gave him. The man bought a paper and gave Joe a fifty cent piece. He asked for only 45 cents change, leaving the boy a 2-cent tip. When Joe inspected the coin after the customer had gone, the pleased gleam faded from his eyes. The half dollar was lead.

Track And Field Stars Congregate Here Today; Who'll Beat Yankees?

Amarillo Will Have Team In Lubbock Meet

About 25 Schools Expected To Send Teams To Compete In Lubbock High Invitational; 4 Prelims This Morning

Preliminaries in four track events in connection with the Lubbock High school open invitation track and field meet today will start at 9:30 o'clock this morning, Coach Weldon Chapman, director of the meet, said last night.

Qualifying heats in the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, the 120-yard high hurdles and the 220-yard low hurdles will be held this morning.

All entries in other events are to report this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at which time finals in the track events and all field events will be held.

A Large Field

A strong, as well as large field, paced by some of the best known athletes of West Texas, is in prospect for today at the Texas Tech track and field.

Although 12 schools have filed formal entries with Coach Chapman, the Westerner mentor believes that some 20 or 25 schools will be represented today.

The Amarillo high school team and Coach Blair Cherry arrived in Lubbock last night. It previously had been announced that the Sandies would not enter, but Coach Cherry notified Chapman yesterday that the Sandies would be here.

National Champs Here

Abilene High school, whose mile relay team won national championship honors at the Chicago meet last year, will send a delegation here, the team probably arriving early this morning.

Other known entries are Rotan Slaton, Matador, Monroe, Tahoka, Littlefield, Idalou, Hobbs (Fisher county) and Lubbock High.

Individual starring as well as team performance promises to thrill spectators and make the going tough today. Amarillo will place an outstanding star in Captain Garrett who will enter the dashes, low hurdles, broad jump and run in the relay team.

Abilene's Glynn Wyatt, star football quarterback and sprint man, and Willard Moser, even faster than Wyatt, heads the Eagle lineup.

One of the most promising of events today is the final stage, the one-mile relay, in which at least three crack teams will vie for new records and the championship.

But They Must Step

Abilene's national champions must step to keep abreast of the fast Lubbock and Amarillo teams. In a dual meet here, Amarillo's team defeated Lubbock, but recently at Amarillo, in a triangular meet, Lubbock did the distance in 3 minutes, 32 seconds, a fairly flying time, to beat Amarillo. The competition today should be striking if for no other reason than the rivalry that naturally will exist between Lubbock and Amarillo.

The meet will be conducted according to Texas Interscholastic league rules, and officials are seeking the cooperation of fans, who will be admitted free of charge, in keeping the meet orderly and fast. Fans are urged to settle themselves in the grandstand and remain there throughout the meet.

Numerous West Texas track and field teams will not enter today's meet here due to the prevalance of county athletic meet in several South Plains counties, but a large crowd of contestants is anticipated nevertheless.

Northwestern, Big Ten basketball co-champion, will lose by graduation both Joe Reiff and Elmer Johnson, all-conference selections and each scorers of more than 100 points in 1933.

Tough Scrap For Second Place Is Forecast Between Senators And A's, But Yanks Lead All

Detroit And Cleveland Given Chance In First Division; White Sox Need Somebody Besides Simmons, However

By BRIAN BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York's Yankees may carry too many guns for the other seven clubs in the American League, but the champions can win reelection and still not destroy interest in the proceedings as the summer's baseball panorama unfolds.

The battle for the second place position between the Athletics and Senators should be one of the most thrilling in years. Philadelphia and Washington probably fall just short of enough class to challenge the champions but going to the post they seem to be so well matched there is little to choose between them.

Detroit Vs. Cleveland

Another sanguinary battle should develop for the other first division place with Detroit and Cleveland throwing bricks from every direction. With five active contestants named, three are left and there is no reason to doubt in April that the White Sox, Red Sox and Browns will put on a spirited contest to keep out of last place in September.

Joe McCarthy's Yankees seem to have everything as the pennant hunt gets under way. Babe Ruth may be "on a dime," the ball players' characterization of an athlete whose speed has been reduced to a minimum. But no sprinting is necessary when a ball is hit out of the park. The big fellow will be able to hit "even if they roll him up to that plate in a wheel chair," as Wilbert Robinson once said, and his mere presence in the lineup continues a constant menace to opposing clubs.

Yankees Bench Full

New York not only is able to place a championship team on the field but its bench groans under the weight of competent reserves to an extent not boasted by any other club in either league.

Wise old Connie Mack sent three stars to the White Sox last autumn but reports he had wrecked his team were at least premature. In spite of the departure of Al Simmons and Mule Haas, the tall tactician will offer a pretty fair outfield in Roger Cramer, Lou Finney and Ed Coleman. He is certain to get some good pitching with Robert Moses Grove still throwing bird shot and Big George Earnshaw definitely headed toward another good year.

Washington seems to have benefitted as much as any club in either circuit in the orgy of winter trading and young Joe Cronin, the freshman manager, will lead a first class team into action. Goose Goslin will honk again in right field for the Senators and probably again will be a terror at the plate.

Wally Stewart and Earl Whitehill should contribute some effective left hand pitching and Clark Griffith believes at least two youngsters will come through for the national capital.

Counting On Marberry

Detroit again threatens and with a little luck, Stanley Raymond Harris thinks his comparatively young club will be in the thick of the fight. It will be like old times for Harris to see the giant Fred Marberry striding in from the bull pen to throw some high hard ones in a pinch as he did so well for Washington in other days.

Cleveland has ample pitching strength and one good team but could use more reserve strength. That may come later but currently the Indians seem to lack insurance in case of injury. Roger Peckinpaugh's long hunt for a shortstop seems answered at last as Jack Burnett and Bill Knickerbocker have hit their stride together. Time was when Peck would have been glad to have one good shortstop but two are not too many.

The White Sox are in a better frame of mind than they have enjoyed in a long time, thanks to acquisition of three stars from the Athletics but Simmons, Dykes and Haas will need help from six other

Pinkey Lowrey To Coach Tech Track Squad; 55 Men Report

Tech Athletic Council Votes To Resume Track And Field; Meets Scheduled With West Texas Teachers Buffs

Resuming track and field for the first time in three seasons, the Texas Tech athletic council yesterday announced that E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, former track and field coach at Lubbock High school and at present an instructor there, would have charge of the Matador thinly clads through a regular season this year.

Meets already have been scheduled with the West Texas State Teachers college Buffs of Canyon, the first to be held at Canyon and the second here, late in April or early in May. The local meet will be a nocturnal affair, the first night track meet ever held in Lubbock.

Fifty-five men reported to Coach Lowrey yesterday at the first meeting of candidates, and Lowrey outlined a practice season which begins immediately.

The number of athletes reporting yesterday was pleasing to Tech coaches and the athletic council, Chairman W. L. Stangel said. It is hoped that Tech will be represented in the Border confernce meet at Albuquerque by a strong team.

Three Veterans Report

Among the men reporting yesterday were three veterans of former Tech track teams who are seniors this season. They are Basil Hill of Lamesa, Leon Fisher of Memphis and Herschel Tadlock of Amarillo. With this trio as a neucius, Coach Lowrey hopes to develop a team which will be on a level with other Tech athletic departments.

Training will be started this afternoon and continue daily. Meets may be scheduled with other West Texas college teams, it was said.

Frank Froschauer, brilliant University of Illinois football and basketball player, has been to the university hospital seven times from athletic injuries in his first two school years.

Down in Dixie Base Ball Notes

GALVESTON SQUAD DIVIDED

GALVESTON, March 31 —Billy Webb rearranged his squad of Buccaneers today for an intra-camp game, placing the regular outfielders on a team called the Fausetts, with the Governor's winning a six inning contest, 4-0. Tubbs, Moore and Taylor, all right-handers, gave up only one hit each in the two innings each worked.

LONGVIEW WANTS BASEBALL

LONGVIEW, March 31 (AP)—Longview baseball fans at an organization meeting today agreed to enter the proposed Dixie League which would operate in East Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

John King, veteran baseball player and former umpire in the old East Texas league, was elected president of the Longview club.

Permanent organization of the new circuit will be discussed at Tyler Sunday at a meeting called by J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league.

INDIANAPOLIS BEATS STEERS

DALLAS, March 31 (AP)—The Indianapolis Indians won an exhibition game today from the Dallas Steers of the Texas League, 5-2. Too much good hurling by Thomas and White, veterans, stopped the Steers who scored only in the fourth inning when Tex Jeanes, left fielder, hit one over the center field fence with Sam Langford on base.

Dallas played without the services of Zeke Bonura, first baseman, who continues to be listed as a holdout. Bonura held a long salary conference today with Bob Tarleton, vice-president, but could not agree to terms.

PIRATES DEFEAT CUBS

LOS ANGELES, March 31 (AP)—A home run with one on by Floyd Vaughan, young Pirate shortstop, enabled Pittsburgh to beat the Chicago Cubs, 6-5, today and even up their series of exhibition games here at one apiece.

BROWNS WIN FINAL

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 31 (AP)—Irving Hadley pitched the Browns to a 6-3 victory in the sixth and final game of their series with the Bisons of Buffalo today. The Browns, took five of the six tilts.

BEAUMONT STOPS AGGIES

COLLEGE STATION, March 31 (AP)—Larry Wilbanks' homer in the eighth inning with the bases loaded enabled Beaumont to defeat Texas Aggies here today, 7-5. The Texas leaguers stopped an Aggie rally after two had scored in the ninth.

Hits were even, each team rapped out seven. Scheer and Moon pitched for the Aggies, and Wade and Hoff for Beaumont.

T. C. U. Frogs Win Over Abilene "9"

ABILENE, March 31. (AP)—Mose Simms Oilers, independent baseball team of Abilene, outhit Texas Christian university 12 to 10, today, but that was the end of their superiority. Booting the ball freely behind Bryan, Roderick and Bailey, they kicked in nine unearned runs to account for a victory of 12 to 5 by the Horned Frogs.

"Slim" Kinzy, ace of the collegians' hurling corps, was steady in the pinches, and had generally good support.

Clyde Pratt, former University of Texas star, pasted three safetes for Abilene, and Brit Pippen, George Golightly and Sammie Baugh each got two hits.

T. C. U. started scoring in the second. Two runs came in on three hits, one of which was long drive to center by Myers, which Chapie Cheves misjudged and let go for a double. Hits by Graves and Jacks accounted for two in the third, after the side should have been retired. Another brace was added in the sixth. Graves and Jacks drove them in with a single and outfield fly, but an error and two walks were contributing factors. Kinzy and Walker were set on in the seventh by a base on balls and a miscue, and scored by an infield out and another error. Bryan, who had pitched eight good innings for Abilene, was relieved by Roderick at the start of the ninth. The new twirler gave free tickets to two men and dropped a fly to fill the bases. Myers and Lozo then rapped Bailey for singles that drove in the three original occupants of the bags.

The Oilers had to work hard for their tallies until the ninth, when an error by Harston on left let in their only unearned run.

The teams play a second and final game here tomorrow.

GIANTS SQUARE WITH TIGERS

FORT WORTH, March 31 (AP) — Fred Fitzsimmons and Bill Shores pitched two-hit ball today as the New York Giants squared their series with the Detroit Tigers, winning the fourth game 7 to 0. Each allowed only one single and Fitzsimmons struck out six in the seven innings he worked.

The University of Michigan will lose four of its 1933 basektball regulars by graduation—Garner, Eveland, Altenhof and Petrie.

Holmes Meets Jack Wilson In Title Match Of Tech Tourney

Defending Champion Eliminates Panny Farmer Yesterday And Wilson Wins Over Cantrel; Crites Meets Beardon

Billy Holmes of Shamrock will defend his Texas Tech golf championship today in a 36-hole match with Jack Wilson. The match will be played at the Meadowbrook course, home of the annual Tech tournament.

Holmes yesterday took a 4 and 3 victory over Panny Farmer in a semi-final match to reach the final go-round.

Wilson defeated C. J. Cantrell, 2 and 1, in the other semi-final.

First Flight Finals Today

In a three-way match in the first flight yesterday, Jack Pope was eliminated, leaving Harold Crites and Victor Bearden to play a 36-hole match today for honors in that division.

Holmes, who qualified Wednesday with a 73 to take medal honors in the tournament in which his crown is at stake, was on his game yesterday to bust par on several occasions and otherwise play a scintillating game to defeat Farmer, who was second in the qualifying with a medal score of 75.

Holmes won his first round match Thursday over Walter Pendleton. Farmer defeated Glenn Stevenson. Jack Wilson defeated John Bell Thursday and Cantrell eliminated Leon Fisher of Memphis.

Baseball Tourney Is Being Planned

Arrangements were made last night at a meeting of Lubbock county school coaches for a baseball tournament here April 21, G. G. McWhorter of Woodrow said.

A schedule of preliminary games were announced as follows: April 4, Shallowater at Canyon; April 5, Wolfforth at Woodrow; April 6 Canyon at Shallowater; April 7 Woodrow at Wolfforth; April 11 Shallowater at Woodrow; April 11, Canyon at Hardy; April 13, Woodrow at Shallowater; April 14, Hardy at Canyon.

Other schools wishing to engage in the competition, sponsored by the county Interscholsatic league, are requested to write to McWhorter, route No. 6, Lubbock. Standing in the preliminary games will not count in the tournament.

Four members of South Carolina's Southern conference championship basketball team will play baseball this spring—the Tompkins brothers, Henderson and Wolf.

SMILES in SPORTS

ONE Saturday night in John L. Sullivan's grog shop, a stranger stood talking with a little man of about middle age. The stranger was praising Sullivan's fighting prowess.

"John L.," the little man replied, "isn't so much as a fighter. I can lick him myself. What's more I'll punch him in the nose any time I feel like it."

"I'll bet you twenty you won't," replied the stranger.

No sooner said than done. The little man walked over to where Sullivan was talking to some friends. He swung a right to John L.'s great jowls. Sullivan turned and laughed.

The little man went back and collected his bet.

Later in the evening John L. grabbed the little man and swung him to the top of the bar.

"Boys," roared the former champion, "take off your hats to a grand old man—Michael Sullivan—me father!"

Machine Eliminates "Figgering"; Set Of Wheels Whirl Out Math Solutions

BY F. B. COLTON
(Associated Press Science Writer)

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)— Schoolboys puzzling over their arithmetic undoubtedly would like the aid of a machine now operating here—it opens a short cut to solving problems that would take a lifetime of pencil and paper figuring.

The machine is now figuratively making its first bow to the public after several years of rehearsing.

Like the mechanical brain of some strange robot, it "thinks" by a process of whirling cogwheels and a light shining on a sensitive photo-electric cell.

Higher Mathematics

Although the problems that the machine solves are in the distant, upper reaches of higher mathematics, it is nevertheless of practical use.

Mathematics today is one of the most important sciences, used by astronomers in calculating paths of heavenly bodies, by military men in figuring ranges of big guns, by economists, engineers, physicists.

The machine so far has solved several previously "unsolvable" problems in a branch of mathematics known as the "theory of numbers." The problems are to find whether certain large numbers are prime or not—whether they can be divided only by themselves and the number one.

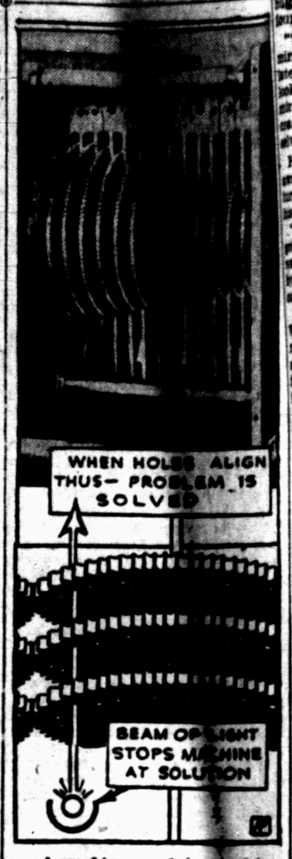

It is easy to find the small "prime" numbers, such as 1, 2, 3, 5, 7, etc., but finding whether numbers that run up into the millions are prime or not is a difficult task. That is where the machine is proving useful.

Wheels And Light

It consists of three shafts on which are mounted a series of different-sized cogwheels meshing into one another. There is a small hole under each tooth of every wheel. For each problem, some holes are stopped up, others left open. The wheels whirl until certain open holes come into alignment, which means that the problem is solved.

A ray of light shines through the open holes when they are all in line for about one ten-thousands of a second, and falls on a sensitive photo-electric cell. This sets up a tiny electrical impulse which is amplified 729,000,000 times, enough to stop the machine. The number of revolutions is read off from the "speedometer" and the solution is ready.

The machine has been developed over a period of several years by Derrick Henry Lehmer, research council fellow in mathematics, and is being used by him and his father, Dr. Derrick Norman Lehmer, mathematics professor at the University of California and research associate of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

A machine now being used in Pasadena, Calif., solves "unsolvable" problems in mathematics, eliminating years of pencil and paper figuring. At top is a view of its cogwheels; below, a sketch showing how the mechanical brain "thinks."

Tough Battle

fellows every day to get Chicago into position to challenge the leaders. Lew Fonseca left the Pacific Coast with a shortage of infielders and doubtful pitching prospects but with a far better team than the south sides have had in years.

Red Sox Face "Situation"

Boston's Red Sox, under new management, unfortunately will not be able to count their spring games in the won column and it would be helpful since they are forced to open with the Yankees, Athletics and Senators. The Red Sox are better than they were but they have a long road to travel. Their task would be somewhat easier if the new generalissimo, Edward Trowbridge Collins, could lend his hands and feet as well as his brains to the cause.

Marty McManus, the playing manager, will have to depend on Columbia Eddie, however, as a counsellor instead of a warrior.

The Browns offer a fine defensive cast but it remains to be seen if it will manufacture many runs per game. Bill Killifer, too, plunged into the marts of trade and the jury still is out, awaiting additional evidence if he materially bolstered the St. Louis cause by the changes. The Browns share one predicament with the White Sox, their reserves are not visible to the naked eye.

huge crack in the fuselage and was found walking about dazed.

"The left motor quit about 15 minutes before the crash," he related later. "We circled around looking for a landing. At the last minute we knew we were going to crash, and all of us braced ourselves waiting for it."

Hakes, conscious of the danger awaiting him in the muddy field, turned and shouted a warning to his passengers.

"I'm having motor trouble and I'm going to have to land. Everybody watch out," he was quoted as saying by Al Silverthorne, one of the seriously injured players.

The injured were rushed to the Wilson county hospital over muddy roads. Neodesha's physicians were assembled rapidly and a call sent for additional medical aid to near-by towns.

The team left Tulsa with a bright record for fine sportsmanship and gallantly playing through out two discouraging games lost to the Oilers.

The disaster came on the second anniversary of the death of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's football wizard, who, like the Canadian athletes, passed to death in the crash of an airplane on a Kansas prairie.

"New Deal" Clicks Here

IF THE widely discussed 'new deal' of President Roosevelt has caught on anywhere, it must be Lubbock.

As an example of the way people are looking at conditions in this city is the record made by local motor car dealers between last Saturday and today.

To be brief, they have sold during that period, a total of 20 new automobiles—and are expecting to do some more business next week!

That fact augurs well for the confidence this community accords the Roosevelt administration and the way Lubbockites are looking at the future.

If the balance of the nation will do as well——in automobile and all other lines—unemployment and depression will soon vanish from the land.

NO ENTANGLEMENTS WANTED

While both the World court and the League of Natione are a long way removed from Lubbock and environs, we, as American citizens, are interested in our country's consideration of those altruistic organizations.

We are especially interested in America's possibility of entering either at a time when entangling European alliances are least to be desired and when the nation is seeking ways of saving money, instead of spending it.

Until his campaign for the presidency was under way, Mr. Roosevelt was wedded to the League of Nations and its policies. He found, however, early in the battle for ballots, that League constituted a weak point in his political armor and, smart man that he is, immediately dumped it overboard. There is little danger of U. S.'s joining the League any time soon, because of Mr. Roosevelt's repudiation of it in the recent campaign. But there are rumors that the new administration favors American membership in the World court—which is nothing more nor less than the League's 'back door'.

The Morning Avalanche hopes the first Democratic administration in a dozen years will not take time to fool with the World court or the League, particularly when it has its hands so well filled here at home.

As far as is possible, we should work on our own problems and for our own salvation, albeit, both the League and the court are beautiful pictures in theory.

HOWE IS FOR GARNER

Gene Howe, editor of The Amarillo News-Globe, writes his papers from Washington to the effect that John Nance Garner is not at all the bugaboo he is sometimes considered to be; but, that, on the other hand, the vice-president is a brainy, able and thoroughly capable man.

At the conclusion of a long interview with the Texan, Editor Howe declares he has never met a finer man and that Mr. Garner is both loved and respected in Washington official circles.

The Amarilloan bemoans the fact that Texans, in some cases, have listened to the enemies of 'Cactus Jack'—enemies who considered his views dangerous to the welfare of the country.

Shrewd, intelligent, fact-finding Mr. Howe is probably right in his estimation of Vice-President Garner. At least, for the sake of the man, his home state and the nation at large, we hope he is.

Should Probe Go On?

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 31.—There are two ways of looking at the Wall Street "probe" which Attorney Ferdinand Pecora is conducting for the senate's stock market investigating committee.

One view is that the probe is keeping "big business" so uneasy that its uneasiness is reacting upon business in general and delaying a recovery which at last is about ready to set in, if it be given a chance to assert itself. The folk who take this view, while admitting that big business deserves every job that Attorney Ferdinand Pecora is inflicting on it, nevertheless reason that the public interest requires a let-up in the jabbing — that it would be better to permit a few glorified racketeers to escape than to prolong present conditions.

Ferdinand Pecora

Expose Them Now?

The other view is that there can be no security for anyone until the racketeers are probed completely into the open—thrown in the penitentiary maybe, in spite of their millions; exposed anyway. Those who take this view admit that their method may, by a handful of weeks or months, postpone the return of a semblance of prosperity, but they contend that it is a method which will insure real, permanent prosperity when it does return. The other method, they say, will give only temporary results; the racketeers, who even now are trying to scare off investigation, will resume racketeering the moment they succeed, and presently there will be a fresh crash, probably worse than the last one.

The senate's stock market quiz was launched a couple of years ago, in an effort to pin a series of cases of "short selling", on the New York exchange, upon supposed foes of the Hoover administration. It was a political undertaking and, as such, it fizzled—because of inefficient legal handling part of the time; perhaps because counsel was hamstrung by its instructions the rest of the time.

Somehow it dragged along, however, until, recently, it fell into the hands of Pecora, as the committee's lawyer.

Pecora, an exceptional man, a merciless cross-examiner and an adept at all tricks of the market, through long experience in bucketshop prosecutions, while assistant to the Manhattan district attorney, soon hooked as choice a prize as Chairman Charles E. Mitchell of the New York National City bank, on charges of federal income tax evasion and thereby created a sensation which makes the investigation difficult to hush up again, without the use of a vast deal of chloroform.

Will It Be Hushed?

The chloroform is available, of course, if it is sufficiently desired to hush it, but it is not yet certain that the senate investigators do so desire.

If not the juncture is ripe for a glorious program. The country is in none too good a humor with Wall Street, after the kind of three and a half years it has just come through.

The necessary preliminary publicity for an exposure has been provided.

Most folk realize that Mitchell, after all, is only a small fish in comparison with the whales which are ready for Pecora to harpoon, if a free hand is given to him by the senate committee.

However, as remarked above, there are two schools of thought as to the desirability of tearing into them.

BEER AND BOOTLEG LIQUOR

How much will the new beer affect the demand for bootleg liquor?

Beer will be at an advantage, while the eighteenth amendment lasts, that it did not possess in the old days. It will have legality, reliability and somewhat easier availability than its more potent rival drinks. Suppose it also turns out to be reasonably satisfying.

Many connoisseurs, to be sure, prefer "hard stuff", and always did. But will this preference prove strong and general enough to support much bootlegging in competition with "3-point-2"—and with the brewers, of course, doing their best to enforce the unrepealed fraction of the Volstead law?

No one knows. It will be interesting to watch the problem work itself out.

TUESDAY: A LEAP OVER A BUILDING.

SPOTLIGHT

by H. W. COOLEY

BEGN HERE TODAY

SHEILA SHAYNE, dancer, refuses to marry DICK STANLEY, son of wealthy parents, who is in New York trying to learn to write plays. Sheila's idea of marriage is a cosy little home far from Broadway. Although she has spent most of her life on the stage, she would be glad to leave the theater.

Sheila joins a road show company and in a small midwestern city she meets JERRY WYMAN. Jerry is attentive and Sheila falls in love with him. Soon his affection seems to cool and he writes infrequently.

Sheila returns to New York and a few months later joins another road company, this time as featured principal. The show plays Jerry's home town but Sheila sees him only once. After that she has no word from him. The tour comes to an end. Then Sheila learns that Jerry has married a girl in his home town.

She tries unsuccessfully to get a part in another play. When her money is almost gone she is hired as a model at HENRI'S fashionable shop. There she sees DOROTHY TREVOR, Dick Stanley's cousin. Dorothy invites her to lunch but Henri tells Sheila the models are not allowed to have social engagements with customers. When Sheila leaves the shop that night she finds Dorothy and Dick waiting for her. Since there seems no way to refuse without rudeness she drives away with them. They go to Dick's apartment for dinner.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLII

Dick and Sheila followed Dorothy to the curb and saw her into her car. Dorothy knew Dick wanted to talk to Sheila alone and did not press her invitation that they should come with her. After a few moments' banter Dorothy said good-night and the huge limousine disappeared silently around the corner.

Sheila watched almost wistfully. Was it fair that she and Eve and Tillie and dozens of others had to toil for every cent they owned when some girls had so much and did nothing to deserve it? Not that Sheila begrudged Dorothy Trevor her fortune. Nor did she ordinarily bewail her own fate. Tonight, however, Sheila was tired. It seemed unfair that this other girl should have everything in the world to make for happiness while Sheila herself must toil and save and sacrifice. No, it didn't seem fair.

Standing beside Dick in the quiet street, Sheila said none of these things. It was he who finally broke the silence.

"Would you like a taxi," he asked, "or shall we take the bus? I don't think it will be crowded at this hour. Wonderful car Dorothy has, don't you think so?"

"It's marvelous," Sheila agreed. "Foreign, isn't it? I've never seen one like it."

Dick told her the car bore a French trade name and was extremely expensive. "The whole family thinks it's shocking the way that kid spends money", he went on. "But after all it's hers. I guess she has the right to do as she pleases with it."

They started walking slowly toward Fifth Avenue. The street was almost deserted except for a few pedestrians. Now and then a taxicab rolled past and in the distance a lumbering bus was disappearing.

"Does Dorothy have lots of money?" Sheila asked. "I know she's considered one of Henri's best customers."

Dick nodded. "Oh, yes, she has money, all right. More than she can spend. It's all in her own name, too. Her father was Warren Trevor. Maybe you've heard of him. Built up an enormous fortune on Wall Street and died while he was still comparatively young. He left the entire fortune to Dorothy."

"She doesn't seem a bit of a snob," mused Sheila.

"Oh, she's not." Dick spoke loyally. His cousin, for all their playful quarreling during the evening, occupied a warm spot in his heart. "She isn't in the least bit snobbish. Why should she be? She's always had money and doesn't think anything about it. Dorothy's a little thoroughbred."

"Well, I like her," Sheila agreed. "She's different from anyone I've ever met and I like the way she does things. She's pretty, too. Money hasn't spoiled her."

They boarded a bus and presently were skirting the north boundary of Central Park. The little pond on which ice continue their aquatic gymnastics while on short leave winkled back at them. Here and there a tiny rowboat rocked on the rippling water.

They reached River Drive, the great bus lumbered on and roaring as it went. The sey lay girdled with lights across the stretch of the Hudson.

"I like your river better than this one," Sheila said pulsively. The silence had grown tense. Dick seemed to be on the verge of some sort of declaration and Sheila was afraid to hear it.

"My river? Thanks. I like it better, too."

The bus clattered up to upper Broadway. Cruising taxis, a strolling couple or two were the only signs of life here. Then dipped into the hollow of 79th street, rose again with the lights and halted with a jerk at the 170's. Sheila rose and clambered down the steps, followed by Dick.

They walked down the street toward the apartment building where the Sampsons made their home.

"What are you planning to do this fall?" Dick asked carelessly. "Will you go on the road again?"

Now they were on the doorstep of the building. "I don't know," Sheila hesitated. "I say. The job at Henri's is temporary, of course. Trevor got it for me, by the way, in case you didn't guess it. It's seasonal work, though, and Henri won't need me very long. I hope I get a part in a show soon."

"Do you still dislike the idea of playing on Broadway?" asked Dick without meeting the girl's eyes.

Sheila glanced away hastily. "I don't know. Beggars can't be choosers. I mean," she went on quickly, "that show business is like everything else. It's in a bad way now. Everybody has to take what they can get and I'll have to do the same."

"There's always Mandrake," Dick suggested thoughtfully.

"I doubt if he'd give me anything now."

Sheila's voice was lifeless and Dick did not pursue the subject further. He had not seen Mandrake for weeks. Perhaps it was true that the producer's interest in Sheila had waned. She had declined to appear on Broadway in a part other talented dancers would have clamored for. Mandrake might have decided to waste no further thought on her, considering her too temperamental. Still there was a chance that something could be done. Dick decided privately to call on Mandrake casually some day soon and find out. It could do no harm and it might help Sheila.

"If Mandrake had a good part I think he'd give it to Frances Barton," the girl added.

"But she's not such a wonderful dancer."

"Shes very good, Dick, as a matter of fact. And she's built up a name for herself."

That was what so many veterans of the stage had told Sheila she should do. Stay in New York instead of going on the road. With a name for herself in a Broadway show where the critics would see her. That was the way to success on the stage. It would mean better parts and a higher salary for her. McKee, the comedian in the "Heigh-ho" company, had told her that. Others had said the same thing and Sheila, sure that she knew what she wanted and that it was not Broadway fame, had refused to listen.

She and Dick parted without making any definite arrangements to meet again. Somehow this hurt Sheila. She knew that she had treated Dick badly. Still to have him appear neglectful was a blow.

In her own room, evading the questions of the sharp-eyed Eve who had slid into bed a few moments earlier, Sheila undressed and reflected on all this. It was probably true that Dick was treating her exactly as she deserved. Then, too, the date with him tonight had not really been a date at all. Dorothy had arranged it and Dick had been helpless to escape.

Brushing her hair, dabbing her face with cream to cleanse it, bathing her tired body in hot water, Sheila was at last ready for bed. Eve's bright, bird-like eyes looked up at her from across the room.

"Anything wrong, Sheila?" she asked sympathetically.

"No. Go to sleep like a good child."

But Sheila herself did not sleep for a long while. She snapped out the light and then lay still and wide awake. She was thinking of Dick, no longer the attentive, pleading sweetheart but a pal, a friend. He had talked to her exactly as he might have to any of a dozen girls. Asked about her work and showed friendly interest. Now that Dick was apparently out of reach he seemed much more attractive.

Was it possible that she could be falling in love with him? With Dick? Was it possible that she had been mistaken in her devotion to Jerry?

All that Sheila was sure of was that she was very tired and miserably unhappy.

She arrived at Henri's promptly next morning. The day moved much as the one before it except that it was easier because she knew what to expect. True to her word, Dorothy Trevor arrived in the afternoon and ordered several frocks. She must have said something to Henri about Sheila because he drew Sheila aside just before the end of the day and said quietly, "This once I shall close my eyes to the fact that last night saw you drive away with Miss Trevor. Oh, yes, saw you! See that you don't do it again, however!"

Letters To The Editor

E. B. Speck Writes About New Kind Of 'Liquitoria'

Editor, he Avalanche: Just a few observations with with reference to the kind of drinking places we are to have in the event the eighteenth amendment and the state prohibition laws are to be repealed.

Of all of the millions of voters of the Republican and Democratic parties not one had any choice but to vote wet. But the platforms of both parties did contain a provision and pledge against the return of the saloon. And from a thousand rostrums, and from a thousand correspondents we had the solemn promise, and assurance that the saloon was not to be tolerated. But in recent legislation, and discussion on this subject we have not one single provision against the return of drinking places that have all the essential characteristics of the saloon.

Why this change of attitude on the part of the wets? Here is the answer. In very diplomatic language, but substantially to the effect, Irenee DuPont, said to his correspondents of the Senate lobby committee in 1930, that if the American electorate swallow the bait it will be easy to strike out the provision against the saloon. All of which goes to show conclusively, that this camouflage is part and parcel of one of the greatest pieces of political deception and hypocrisy ever perpetrated on an intelligent people. Talk about prohibition making hypocrites! If prohibition ever made one hypocrite such "damnable" hypocritsy as this has made a million. But it is safe to assume that no one has been deceived except the willing dupes of this propaganda.

But what are these places for slaking our thirst to be like? Here it is. We are not to have the saloon at all! But we are to have the drinking "liquitorium" with fronts of architectural beauty, and floors of tile, all done in lavender, green and gold. We are not to have the old mahogany bar but marble of purest grade, with cut glass and steins of pastel shade. We are not to have the red-nosed bartender anymore but "mixologists" skilled in the noble art of matching shades, and blending flavors. And for waiters, pretty girls with permanent waves, and robes of white. All this, gentle reader, to meet the demand of a high-powered age of "effeminate drinkers."

This modern liquitorium will be a thirsty place. It can not be supplied from the suitcases of a few bootleggers. The great motor truck, stacked high with kegs, barrels and crates, rolling through the streets of our city will supply the demand. A bootlegger with a suitcase full, sneaking up the back alley would be like a rattlesnake with it's fangs extricated as compared with this high-powered, full-fanged, full-venomed, legalized and popularized liquitorium.

Since some of the patrons of this liquitorium will need first aid treatment it will be necessary to have some overhead rooms. For the sake of uniformity of nomenclature we will call these rooms "sobritoriums." The early hours of the evening will be busy time for the liquitorium but the late hours of night and the early hours of morning will be the rush hours of the sobritorium. We do not know who will be cared for in these places but some father's son, and some mother's daughter will be there.

And then too, there should be rooms for consultation, and deliberation! These rooms will be the spawning places for our future political demagogues, and dictators. It will be the business of this progeny of politicians to see to it that the government is kept, not for democracy, but for the liquitorium.

But Senator Tydings would cry out, "Hysteria!" Not at all, Senator. This is not hysteria; it is history. And given the same conditions history will repeat itself. Democracy is no safer on Capitol hill than it is with the rank and file of our one hundred and twenty-five million people. On with the battle!

Funeral services for Mr. Warren will be held in Snyder this afternoon.

ORDER MODIFIED

SHERMAN, Mar. 31. (AP) — Randolph Bryant, federal judge today modified a previous order so as to permit the Texas railroad commission, "if it deems it advisable," to shut down the East Texas oil field for five days.

Verdict Of Suicide Returned In Death Of Man At Amarillo

AMARILLO, March 30, (AP) — A verdict of suicide was returned following an investigation of the death of Erven D. Ryden, 26, of Colorado Springs, whose body was found at a roadside near the city limits Thursday after a two-day search by friends and police.

Ryden apparently had taken his life early Tuesday night and was not discovered until approximately 48 hours later when a passer-by came upon the body. A suicide note to his mother, Mrs. Fannie Shelton, of Colorado Springs, was found on the musician's body.

Ryden had been in Amarillo for the past two weeks and was employed as a drummer in an orchestra here. His associates said he had been despondent and had disappeared early Tuesday afternoon. They became alarmed and asked police to search for him.

Federal Control Is Asked For Giant East Texas Area

KILGORE, March 31 (AP)—A mass meeting of East Texas landowners here today telegraphed Secretary of the Interior Harold V. Ickes and United States senators from Texas setting forth the "critical situation" they said existed in the East Texas oil field and requested that federal control of the field be assumed.

The meeting was attended by approximately 100 landowners.

The telegram declared that "deplorable conditions are evident" in East Texas, that "armed guards" protect violators of proration rules, defying enforcement of them. The message asserted state authorities were helpless in the face of the emergency.

BARRY MILLER INJURED

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP) — Barry Miller of Dallas, former lieutenant governor, was taken to an Austin hospital today after he had suffered a severe injury to his hip in a fall at his hotel.

Drastic Cuts

recommended by the finance committee.

The departmental appropriations for the current biennium totaled $13,566,636, the house bill being $2,708,560 under this amount and the proposed senate bill lower by $966,636.

Plans were being made to seek restoration of the three departments, abolished by the house, when the bill is sent to free conference for adjustment of differences between the houses. Efforts also will be made to replace the appropriations for the national guard, cut sharply in the house.

Commissioners Cut

Salaries of members of the Texas railroad commission were cut to $4,000 annually from $6,000.

Riders were attached to the house appropriation bill to limit the traveling expenses of state employes. One would place a maximum of $3 per day on the amount that could be expended by employes for lodging and meals. A proposal that state employes pay their own traveling expenses lost.

The bill also would prohibit the purchase of passenger automobiles by the state that cost in excess of $750 and would bar employes from having their vehicles washed and polished at state expense.

Model Bill

loud "no's" disregarded by the presiding officer. No one, however, challenged the declared result which was therefore legal.

Roosevelt Signs Bill

Shortly before the beer measure was voted, the first big modification of the Volstead act had gone into force. President Roosevelt signed a bill which ended the restrictions hitherto placed on the number of medicinal prescriptions and the amount handed out. By its terms it became law immediately, although the present federal prescription blanks must be used until next January, after which stamps, minus all present detailed explanations, will take their place.

New regulations governing prescriptions will be formulated by the treasury and justice departments in conjunction with leaders of the medical profession, which sponsored the new law. The 3.2 per cent beer bill became law first, but it does not legalize beer and wine until midnight, April 6, thereby becoming the second Volstead revision.

Instructions Given

Late today, also, Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of the prohibition bureau, instructed his agents to concentrate in the future on combatting unlawful distilled liquor.

He told them in a circular letter their job on beer will be to suppress illegal breweries, counting on the lawful ones for help. He ordered them to prevent, also, any unlawful shipments into dry states, and declared the agents stationed in the latter would be more responsible than those at the place of origin.

Appropriations For Construction Work Already Underway Is Voted; Two Underpasses To Be Constructed

AUSTIN, March 31. (AP)—The Texas highway commission today authorized some appropriations for construction work already underway, provided for maintenance in several counties and directed the highway engineer to negotiate for construction of two railroad underpasses.

One of the underpasses would be near Snyder on highway 7 under tracks of the Santa Fe railroad.

An initial appropriation of $230,135 was voted for work on highway 66 in Jim Wells county, from the Live Oak county line to Alice, a distance of 21 miles. Live Oak county was given $188,618 for work on the same highway, beginning at a point south of George West and extending to the Jim Wells county line.

A survey was ordered for highway 153 from Belton to Valley Mills and right-of-way maps furnished McLennan, Bell and Bosque counties.

The bureau of public roads was requested to include highway 16, between Brady and Santa Ana, in the federal aid highway system.

A survey was ordered and right of way information prepared on highway 143 recently designated through Castro, Lamb and Hockley counties.

Doctor Says He Was Refused Admittance To Aid Victim

ALTUS, Okla., March 31. (AP)—Testimony that he was refused admittance to the Citizens State bank at Headrick when he attempted to aid W. C. Ernest, veteran bank examiner slain by J. H. Brock, president of the bank, was given today by Dr. D. O. Spencer, Headrick physician, in Brock's preliminary hearing. Brock was charged with murder shortly after the fatal shooting last week.

Dr. Spencer told County Judge Sheila N. Starnes, presiding at the hearing, that he believed the second shot, through Ernest's head, was fired by Brock as the examiner lay on the floor with a bullet wound in his chest.

The examiner was killed after he had telephoned to W. J. Barnett state bank commissioner at Oklahoma City, that Brock's bank was "in a mess" and had recommended that it be closed at once. Brock said after the shooting he was "justified" in the act.

MARKET REPORTS

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN J. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Late selling of rail and utility shares upset a closely balanced stock market today, and average prices swung under the previous low of this week's trading range.

Missouri Pacific's reorganization petition was the first such document to be filed under the amended bankruptcy statutes. The action had been anticipated in the case of that road, but it unsettled shares which until the last hour had been pointing slightly higher under leadership of tobacco and sugar shares.

Larger offerings then disclosed an old fault, lack of nearby bids, and numerous net losses of 1 to 3 points resulted. Final prices were fractionally above the lows. Volume, which by early afternoon had appropriated 370,000 shares, increased to 979,740 for the day.

Railroad and light and power company issues got the sharpest setback.

Stocks slumped in the face of stronger wheat prices lifted by bullish crop estimates. German bonds weakened sharply, but made some recovery while U. S. government loans firmed.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 31. (AP)—Cotton was quiet today and fluctuated without any definite trend. An early decline of 6 to 7 points on selling induced by uncertainty over the new farm board's probable action on cotton loans was recovered but a second wave of selling nullified the rally. The market closed steady, 4 to 6 points above the lows but at net declines of 3 to 4 points for the day.

The opening was steady due to favorable Liverpool cables. Private cables stated futures were idle owing to uncertainty as to action of the farm board in United States. First trades here were unchanged to 2 points down. The market eased off after the start on selling due to uncertainty as to the action of the farm loan board. May traded down to 6.22, July to 6.37 and October to 6.36, down 6 to 7 points from yesterday's close.

Later in the morning prices rallied on covering by ring shorts for over the week-end and on steadiness in wheat. May advanced to 6.28, July to 6.47 and October to 6.67 or 6 to 11 points up from the earlier lows and net unchanged to 4 points above the previous close.

Weekly statistics were about as expected and had little influence on the market.

After ruling quiet with little change most of the afternoon the market eased off in late trading owing to weakness in stocks and May dropped to 6.19 and July to 6.36, new lows for the day and 8 to 9 points below the previous close. The market rallied 4 to 6 points at the end and May closed at 6.25, down 3 points net for the day. July closed at 6.40 down 4 points net and October closed at 6.60, down 3 points net.

Liverpool is due to open tomorrow on New Orleans unchanged to 1 penny point down.

Port receipts 22,384, for week 7,543, for season 7,531,543, last season 9,014,739. Exports 24,833, for week 76,966, for season 6,052,972, last season 6,670,629. Port stock 4,352,667, last year 4,407,576. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 118,746, last year 153,272. Spot sales at southern markets 7,440, last year 8,335.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 31. (AP)—Cotton prices moved irregularly today, closing slightly lower. July closed at 6.40 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 3 to 6 points.

The opening was 3 to 7 points lower despite relatively steady Liverpool cables. Active months sold 6 to 8 points net lower during the early trading on selling attributed partly to uncertainty as to the marketing plans of the cooperative interests. Offerings were absorbed by the trade. Later the market firmed on covering with May selling from 6.22@6.34 and October from 6.57@6.72.

Prices weakened in the late trading under liquidation and reselling which were partly in sympathy with weakness in stocks. Trade interests were good buyers on the setback, but closing quotations were within 2 or 3 points of the lows.

Trading was comparatively quiet and consisted largely of switching from May to later deliveries.

Liverpool cables said the market was quiet, with uncertainty increased by conflicting reports regarding proposed liquidation of government financed commodities in this country.

A report from Manchester said the proposal for a week's shut down by Lancashire cotton spinners had failed to obtain the necessary support in the ballot. Exports today 24,838 making 6,153,768 so far this season.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, March 31. (AP)—Supplies of cattle were limited at all points around the eleven market circuit and trade on fed steers and yearlings was conducted on a generally steady basis. A few sales were reported in a spread of 4.00@6.25. Steer trade this week has shown a repetition of last week with demand centering on lighter weights of medium to good quality. Increased demand was also noticeable for low-priced heifers and slaughter cows. Better grades of steers and yearlings were under pressure early in the period but under light receipts on late days, most of the loss was regained. Sales of good to choice steers and yearlings, mostly of lighter weight, were included in a spread of 5.50@6.40 while the general bulk of all weights cleared around 4.00@5.25. Several markets have reported a scarcity of strictly choice long yearlings and light steers this week. In some cases the supply of stockers and feeders on hand was not sufficient to fill orders. Values for the week were generally considered strong to 25 higher with most of replacement steers selling at 4.00@5.50.

Reports of a fairly active trade came in from the different hog pens with values listed as 5 to 15 higher. A top of 4.10 was paid sparingly early.

Lambs cleared at steady to strong values with spots 15 to 25 higher. Majority of better grade fed lambs sold at 5.10@5.50 with a few up to 5.60.

FORT WORTH PORT

FORT WORTH, March 31. (AP)—Hogs 1,700; top 3.60 packing sows 2.50@2.75 or steady.

Good Cotton Prospects Are Reported From Lynn County

Prospects for a good cotton crop in Lynn county this year are excellent, E. L. Hill, editor of the Lynn County News at Tahoka said here yesterday afternoon.

"I am confident the trade over 60,000 bales," he added. "Final figures showed over 50,000 bales but we ginned cotton up to the last week ago, right in Tahoka.

Farmers have the ground up in good shape this year they hope to get some early rains on the land.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Mar. 31. (AP)—Fair demand for the light receipts continued today on the Fort Worth cash grain market.

Estimated receipts included: Wheat 9 cars; corn 1; barley 2, and sorghums 2.

Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas Gulf ports, except rail or Texas common points: Wheat, No. 1 hard according to protein and billing 61 1-4@62 1-4, barley No. 2 nominally 36@40; No. 3 nominally 27@30. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 75@78; No. 3 milo 68@73.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn No. 2 mixed 48 1-2@49 1-2; No. 2 white 50@51; No. 2 yellow 49@50.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats No. 2 red 28 1-2@29 1-2; No. 3 red 27 1-2@28 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Mar. 31. (AP)—Responsive to broadened volume of buying, wheat advanced strongly today, in line with indications that 1933 United States production would be curtailed 10,000,000 bushels.

One of the principal official trade authorities here issued a monthly crop report today 24 hours ahead of other private experts, and estimated domestic winter wheat production this season at only 388,000,000 bushels, the smallest total in many years. On the basis of an average crop of spring wheat, this would mean about 100,000,000 bushels less than the domestic disappearance of wheat during each of the last two years.

In the face of persistent selling attributed largely to liquidation by government-financed agencies, wheat held most of the day's upturn, closing unsettled 5-8 to 1 above yesterday's finish, with corn 1-8 to 1-4 up, oats unchanged to 1-4 higher, and provisions exactly unchanged.

As figured in today's report, the present condition of domestic winter wheat is 65.2 per cent, against 75.8 a year ago and a 10-year average of 79.4. The estimated probable production, 355,000,000 bushels compared with 462,000,000 harvested in 1932 and a 10-year average of 589,000,000. It was indicated that about 22 per cent of the acreage seeded last fall would be abandoned.

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson For April 2

THIS is a world friendship lesson, and if the world ever needed lessons in friendship it is at the present hour. The problem of creating friendship in the world is probably just the same as it always was, insofar as it means the breaking down of pride and prejudice and the barriers that keep people from mutual recognition and mutual understanding. But the problem in its extent has become different from that in any former age. In fact, it might be said to have changed within a generation, and even within a decade.

When steam navigation was discovered intercommunication between nations and peoples suddenly advanced far beyond anything that the world had known before. The invention of the telegraph and the cable also brought nations and peoples into immediate communication; but such communication was greatly limited both geographically and in the number of people whom it affected. But now, without the need of poles and wires or lines of transmission of any kind, the power of radio has transcended land and sea.

A RECENT visitor to India has pointed out that there are two broadcast systems in that country, one of which makes the whole of that vast population potentially accessible to broadcasts from Russia. Missionaries tell us, also, that one of the acute problems in mission lands today is the prevalence of American movies which are uncensored, and often of the most objectionable type, and which are doing much to give false representations of true American standards and the finer aspects of American life.

When we think of the power for good, or evil, of all these circumstances that are making the whole world more essentially one community, and even a smaller place so far as communication is concerned than any single country formerly has been, we must surely realize the obligation that rests upon all the people of Christian spirt and good will to promote friendship and good understanding, not only between individuals, but between nations and peoples, if we are to save the world from the effects of prejudice and narrowness and selfishness.

Hrere in our lesson we have a typical example of race prejudice. A woman had come to Jesus with the request that he would heal her sick, and probably demented, daughter. The woman was a Greek and a victim of Jewish prejudice just in the way that people of minority races are often victims of the prejudice of dominant groups in modern countries.

JESUS, apparently recognizing this prejudice, referred to it, not as one might suppose from the record, expressing it himself, nor even as some have said, testing the woman's faith, but speaking of it with an apparent harshness that undoubtedly his manner belied. Did he not, in fact, refer to the prejudice in such an extreme way, saying to the woman, "It is not meet to take the children's bread and cast it to the dogs," only that he might rebuke the prejudice? For he was about to perform a miracle of healing for the child of this woman, and if he had any other purpose in mind he surely would have refused to exercise his power on behalf of a stranger.

The real lesson is to be found in what Jesus actually did. It is the spirit of Jesus to break down barriers and to bring men and women of all sorts and conditions into relationships of mutual love and mutual helpfulness. The modern world may still look to the Galilean for the way out of its visions, its prejudice, and its conflicts of hate.
