Peppery Youngster Runs Total Of Hits To Five And Steals Bases To Make Cochrane Out As A Bit Foolish

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—Led by a fleet young rookie outfielder, John "Pepper" Martin, who almost single-handed shattered the spell of Big George Earnshaw's pitching mastery, the St. Louis Cardinals rode to triumph over the world champion Athletics today on the crest of a sensational shutout performance by Wild Bill Hallahan.

Hallahan, for the second straight year, blanked the champions of the baseball universe, holding them to three singles and winning by 2 to 0 in a sensational duel with Earnshaw, who tamed all but the ubiquitous and rabbit-footed Martin.

Series Is Squared

The triumph squared the World series at one victory apiece, as the warring forces wound up their opening skirmishes in the west and headed for Philadelphia to resume Monday a battle that has suddenly become a tossup again.

Martin, a hitting sensation from the outset, ran his total up to five hits in two days, scored both Cardinal runs as a result of fast base running and gave Hallahan the margin of victory that the gallant southpaw protected in a dramatic, exciting finish that saw the Athletics stopped in the ninth inning with the bases full.

In Hot Water

Although his change of pace baffled them and silenced for the most part the big bats of Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx throughout the game, Hallahan's wildness put him frequently in hot water. His final jam was in the ninth and Wild Bill needed all his courage to pull safely through. He had turned back his foes in the fifth with the bases full and one out as Earnshaw hit into a double play.

Foxx walked at the start of the ninth. Dykes also received a pass. Hallahan's seventh free ticket of the game, after Miller flied to Hafey. Dib Williams, young and overanxious to come through in the pinch, struck out as he lunged for

Williams Given 15-Year Penalty

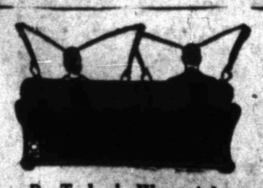

AMARILLO, Oct. 2. (AP)—John F. Williams, 35-year-old disabled war veteran, late tonight was found guilty of the murder of B. O. Stanley, and assessed a penalty of 15 years in the penitentiary by a jury in district court here.

The jury was out little over two hours.

Williams, pale and visibly nervous, sat through the tense moments of the final arguments with glowing, unwavering eyes set on the jury box. When sentence was pronounced, however, he was calm.

Two Vacationists Thoroughly Ducked As Plane Overturns In Swirling Waters Of The Yangtse River

(By The Associated Press)

HANKOW, Hupeh, China, Oct. 2.—Charles and Anne Lindbergh and Dr. P. Z. Organized Burglary Ring Is Broken In West Texas

Wide Area Believed Affected Through Gang Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, Oct. 2.—Piling up evidence upon which to file more than two score complaints, officers of a half-dozen counties were confident tonight they had broken operations of an extensively organized burglary gang, covering a wide area in West Texas for the past year.

Erwin Spicer, Abilene, assertedly one of the band who has been "taking it on the chin" from the law, yesterday was given two years on his plea of guilty to burglarizing mail sacks at the Seymour depot. The term is to run concurrently with other sentences, Spicer facing 17 years in connection with a bank burglary at Jean, Young county, and burglary of a welding shop at Sweetwater.

Draws Sentence

Hunter Russell, also of Abilene and held by officers to be one of the gang's "big shots," this week drew a two-year sentence for the Sweetwater job. It runs concurrently with a two-year sentence for the Jean bank burglary, and also with a sentence of two years and three months assessed on a burglary conviction at Stephenville.

Officers are running down corroboration of evidence they have secured through confessions and recovery of loot. Jobs of the gang have included, they think, several bank robberies, railway station and postoffice burglaries and safe knockings, and many minor burglaries. Fifteen complaints have been filed in this county.

Activity against the gang assumed an organized aspect some weeks ago. Special agents of railroads have cooperated. The investigators say burglaries can be traced to members of the gang in Taylor, Nolan, Coleman, Mitchell, Young, Wichita, Jones, Baylor, Archer, Montague, Comanche, Tarrant, Erath, Hood and Bosque counties. Forty-one burglaries since last December have been placed on members of the gang which is said to have largely headed up in Abilene.

Pierce is to ararnge for speakers to appear before the four luncheon clubs at their meetings next week and discuss phases of fire prevention. J. A. McCelvey and J. B. Crisler were placed in charge of the poster work.

McAfee said ministers of all Lubbock churches would be requested to discuss the program in brief talks from their pulpits Sunday. Presidents of the women's clubs in the city also will be requested to make arrangements for special observances of the educational program at their club meetings.

Mayor J. J. Clements officially designated the week of October 4-11, as Fire Prevention week in Lubbock, in a proclamation issued Thursday. He urged all Lubbock citizens to cooperate with city and civic club officials in eliminating fire hazards.

Governor Huey Long Attacked In Court Suit

Lieutenant Governor Cyr Will Attempt To Remove Opponent From Chair By Filing Of A Removal Suit

(By The Associated Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 2.—Huey P. Long, whose title as governor of Louisiana has not been legally contested since he defeated impeachment two years ago, was threatened today with a second attempt to oust him.

The threat came in the form of a formal suit his political enemy Lieut. Gov. Paul N Cyr, announced he would file within the next few days, asserting his own claim to the governorship on grounds Governor Long had vacated his office by his election to the United States senate.

To File Suit

Cyr said he would file his suit in the Shreveport courts as the legal domicile of the governor. He made the announcement in a telephone conversation from his home in Jeannerette.

"I expect to take the oath of office as governor and to file an ouster against Long," Cyr said. "In that way we will be able to find out who is governor of this state and who is the junior senator from Louisiana. If Long isn't United States senator, then who is?"

Governor Long said he was not bothered about the possibility of being deposed by any litigation Cyr might bring, and indicated he was much more interested in the outcome of the world series.

Governor Sterling Intimates That He Might Call Solons Back Into Another Session After Adjournment

Congressional Redistricting Is Major Proposal Now Up; House Substitutes Metcalfe Bill; Motion Fails

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 2.—An intimation by Governor Ross S. Sterling that he might recall the legislature into another extraordinary session immediately were it to adjourn without enacting a congressional redistricting bill failed to hinder free action on the subject today.

The house took action on redistricting that has already defeated the bill unless it should change its decision not to suspend the rules against taking final vote on a bill within 24 hours of sine die adjournment, set for six p. m. tomorrow. The senate today once refused to suspend that rule, later reconsidered and then suspended it. That resolution will go to the house tomorrow.

Substitute Given

The house substituted the Metcalfe bill for the Poage bill passed by the senate and failing to muster enough votes to suspend the constitutional rule to place it on second reading, adjourned for two minutes and then engrossed the bill, 61 to 41. A motion to suspend the constitutional rule and finally pass the bill failed to obtain the necessary two-thirds, receiving 64 ayes and 40 noes.

A resolution was offered immediately to rescind the resolution adjourning the sesion at six p. m. and set six p. m. Tuesday as the new date. An amendment to adjourn Wednesday was offered and both

The shooting occurred during a conference in the county jail attended by city and county officials and members of the families of Miss Augusta Williams and Miss Jennie Wood, the two girls slain.

Peterson was taken to a hospital under heavy guard. Sheriff J. F. Hawkins telephoned Governor B. M. Miller asking for troops to aid in guarding the prisoner. The governor ordered General J. C. Persons, commanding officer of the Alabama national guard, to take charge of the situation.

Dent Williams was taken to his home under guard of a deputy sheriff, and Sheriff Hawkins said he later would be returned to the county jail to be held pending a formal investigation.

Sir Thomas J. Lipton Dies In London At Age Of 81

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 2. —Sir Thomas Lipton, fine old sea dog and one of the world's great merchant princes, died today at the age of 81.

The cause of his death was a heart attack which followed a severe chill he caught while motoring several days ago. For the past year his health had been a cause of recurrent anxiety.

Sir Thomas died peacefully in his sleep, several old friends were at the bedside but no near relatives since he is the last of his family.

Missed Objective

He died without attaining the great objective of his life, on which he had spent huge sums from a fortune made primarily from tea—the winning of the America's cup. Instead he won the Epitaph, "The World's Best Loser" and the affectionate admiration of millions on both sides of the Atlantic.

His fifth and last attempt to wrest "that elusive old mug" as he always called the trophy symbolizing yachting supremacy, was made in September last year when the Shamrock V was beaten by the Enterprise off Rhode Island.

Defeat A Blow

Sir Thomas had pinned great hopes on his green-hulled racer and her defeat was a blow to him. He found, however, a great measure of consolation in a loving cup presented to him by Americans as a tribute to his sportsmanship.

Thomas Johnstone Lipton was born in a Glasgow tenement house May 10, 1850, of Irish parents. He became an errand boy at the age of nine and eight years later, asked for an increase in salary. He was told he was too ambitious. So he sailed steerage to America and soon returned home with $8.

Bishop Cannon Scores Mouzon

Presiding Officer Is Rapped For His Attitude In Short Address; Treatment Given Causes Amazement

(By The Associated Press)

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 2.—Bishop James Cannon, jr., charging he had been "discourteously" ignored at the three-day Baltimore conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, here, today scored presiding Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon.

Delivering what he called a "farewell address," he said in the 43 years he had been attending the conferences he never had seen one bishop so humble another.

Bishop Mouzon listened to the verbal attack and ended the session without replying.

Expresses Amazement

"Whatever may be the personal attitude of the presiding bishop, he is the representative of the church in his official activities and I as a bishop of our great church can not accept such treatment without an expression of my amazement," Bishop Cannon said.

"While I have no personal feeling in the matter, I have been amazed that any bishop of the Methodist

Jury In Conspiracy Trials At Amarillo To Take Case

AMARILLO, Oct. 2. (AP)—The jury in the trial of nine Amarillo and Canyon residents on charges of conspiracy to violate the liquor laws will receive the case in federal court shortly after noon tomorrow.

The number on trial was reduced to nine early today when government attorneys entered a motion to dismiss charges against William Leo Sparks, former Potter county attorney. The dismissal and the refusal of Judge James C. Wilson to give instructed verdicts in the other cases were sensations of the day's proceedings.

Jury In Anson Murder Case Is Hopelessly Deadlocked

ANSON, Oct. 2. (AP)—A district court jury deliberating the case of Cecil Hunter, charged with murder in the slaying of Ralph Shirley, reported late today it was hopelessly deadlocked.

Deficit Looms As Attendance Figure Is Low

President Homer Grant Urges Lubbock And South Plains Citizens To Visit Displays On Final Day

Expects Delegates

Friday Attendance Shows Jump From Corresponding Day Of Last Year With A Total Of 10,237 Persons

AN APPEAL to Lubbock and South Plains people to visit the Panhandle-South Plains fair today —the last day of the annual exposition, was issued last night by fair association officials.

"Today's attendance will determine whether the fair pays its own way or incurs a deficit," Homer D. Grant, president of the association, said last night. "The fair is better this year than it has ever been and every person in Lubbock and surrounding territory should view the exhibits, free attractions and midway features. It is a $2 show for 50 cents.

Encouragement Given

"The exposition belongs to Lubbock and the South Plains and its success or failure depends upon the patronage of the people of the area today," he said.

Yesterday's attendance, totaling 10,237 persons, was encouraging to the fair officials. It was the first day that the attendance exceeded that of the corresponding day of last year's exposition, which was 9,223. A large number of those attending yesterday were Texas Technological college students, who with students of other colleges, were the guests of the fair association.

A. B. Davis, manager of the fair, last night expressed his appreciation of the large number of college students visiting the fair grounds during the day. He also thanked the students for the orderly manner in which they conducted themselves on the fair grounds.

Exhibits will remain in place un-

SCHEDULE CHANGED

El Paso Bombing Threat Received

EL PASO, Oct. 2. (AP)—A letter threatening to bomb county officials, police, the First National bank and the Peyton Packing company unless work is provided unemployed was received by County Judge E. B. McClintock here today.

Signed "Rifle Paul and Sixshooter Bill," the letter, similar to one received recently by Mayor R. E. Sherman, criticized employment of persons of Mexican nativity in public buildings and declared that unless such persons were discharged a "round up" would begin Oct. 30.

Detectives, who previously had expressed opinion the letter to the mayor was the prank of school boys, renewed efforts to find the writers.

New Bacillus Is Discovered

Breeding Of Different Type From Deadly Human Tuberculosis Germs Announced By Rockefeller Institute

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—Breeding of a different and almost non-virulent type of tuberculosis bacillus from deadly human tuberculosis germs was announced today from the Rockefeller institute for medical research.

Medical authorities regard the discovery as possessing exceptional possibilities. It is made public in science, official organ of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The report is signed by Franklin R. Miller of the institute.

The existence of this organism in tuberculosis has been known, says the report, but until recently no "pure cultures" of the bacillus have been obtained. It is distinguished from the ordinary human tuberculosis germ by being "non-acid-fast." Ordinarily the germs are "acid-fast." The distinction is that the two kinds respond quite differently to acids used in staining.

Ordinary human tuberculosis bacilli stain red. The new ones stain yellow and later turn to orange.

Dr. Miller stated he and his associates believe this yellow organism is a mutant. That means it is a tuberculosis germ which somehow has managed to change its hereditary characters.

Guinea pigs were innoculated in amounts that ordinarily would produce tuberculosis. Two of the pigs showed no effects. Three others developed some signs of tuberculosis.

Science has been looking for a mild tuberculosis germ to experiment with in possible vaccination.

When these "yellow" bacilli are placed on porcelain filters, the substance that strains through, called the filtrate, has the power to cause normal human tuberculosis germs to grow and forms like the new cultures, losing their "acid-fastness." The filtrate does the same thing to bovine tubercle bacilli and to Timothy grass bacilli.

Clerical Work At Fair Is Praised

A considerable part of the detail work of the agricultural department of the Panhandle-South Plains fair, was done behind closed doors or without the show and pomp of a public display.

Handling of the record cards of the agriculture department was left largely to Miss Fannie B. Eaton, daughter of D. F. Eaton, county agent and superintendent of the department.

"Fannie Brown," as she is known, handled records of over 1,800 individual exhibits, on some 500 cards. The exhibits ranged from figs to watermelons.

"There was not a single slip or mistake of any kind and the exhibits checked out with the entries," H. J. Bower, one of the judges, said. "We have never had a better system and I do not know of any fair that has its clerical work conducted any better."

Inquest In Death Of Collings Ends

Coroner William B. Gibson, formally ended the inquest with this statement:

"I find that Benjamin P. Collings met his death on the morning of September 10, 1931 in the waters of Long Island sound as a result of injuries inflicted by a person or persons unknown and that the direct cause of death was drowning."

It takes more than the torrid barrage of Old Sol to dampen the enthusiasm of the pigskin devotees of New York University. The grid squad of that institution of learning are shown above practicing tackle plays under the leadership of Chief Coach Chick Meehan, at Lido Beach, Long Island. Instead of the usual football uniform, the gridmen are wearing bathing suits because of the intense heat, which made practice on the training field too awful to contemplate.

Section Foreman Is Blamed For Fatal Texas Accident

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Failure of a section foreman to station his men in such a manner as to permit them to watch both ways was blamed by the interstate commerce commission today for an accident near Wickett, Texas, on August 10, in which four section men were killed and one injured.

The accident occurred when east bound train number 16 on the Texas and Pacific railroad struck a motor car on which the five section men were riding.

The report blamed section foreman Dowdy, who was killed, for the accident. It said the testimony of the laborer who was not killed showed all of the persons on the car were looking forward at the time and no provision had been made for a lookout toward the rear.

PURCHASE ANNOUNCED

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 2. (AP)— C. T. Parker, vice-president of the Ryder, Brown and company yesterday announced the purchase of 500,000 pounds of mohair at "slightly more than the present cooperative advance."

The purchase was the first reported here since the 7,000,000 pound pool recently made in Southwest Texas and consigned to the federal farm board agency.

Ghosts Of Gay Nineties Recalled As Preview Of Waldorf-Astoria Is Held

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—Ghosts of the bustled ladies and mustachioed gentlemen of the gay nineties hovered over a milling throng of guests at a pre-view of the new Waldorf-Astoria last evening.

To the strains of the same gay music once echoed in the ballroom of the former hostelry with the swish of silks, the guests examined a new Waldorf of 47 floors and 2,200 rooms. The old Waldorf was on Fifth avenue, where the Empire State building now is. The new one is on Park avenue.

The old hotel was 16 stories tall and contained 1000 rooms. In the new structure are preserved Peacock Alley, the Empire room, the Astor gallery and the paintings that hung therein.

Peacock Alley, a promenade, is three times as large as its predecessor. Its color scheme comprises the greens, golds, reds and royal purples of a peacock's fan.

Resolutions proposed by the committees are expected to be voted on in the departmental meetings today.

simplified form of English, which he calls "Basic" and is offering as an international language. He has selected a vocabulary of 850 words which he says are plenty for everyday needs.

Radio, the telephone, improved transportation have made the need of a universal language more acute, Ogden argues, and his aim is not to displace existing national languages, but to set up a universal auxiliary language for purposes of international trade.

That might not be a bad idea. Most of us could sit down and in a few weeks master a language of 850 words, it seems to me, and that certainly would simplify communication between people of different nationalities. If people of all countries learned this language, interpreters would have less work to do. We could go over to China with our 850 words and get around among the people pretty well, it seems, if even a limited number had the same language. If every country would adopt it, this might be a great thing.

Walter S. Gifford Is Urging Communities To Continue In Character Building Through Health Programs

Communities have been urged by Walter S. Gifford, chairman of President Hoover's unemployment relief commission, to continue with their character building and health work programs, A. H. Leidigh, president of the Lubbock Community Chest, has been advised in a letter from F. W. Ramsey, general secretary of the National Council of the Young Men's Christian associations.

A copy of Mr. Gifford's communication to the National Social Work Council of New York was forwarded to the president of the Lubbock welfare organization. It follows in part:

"The President's organization on unemployment relief is an emergency organization concerned with problems growing out of unemployment and, therefore, emphasis is put upon unemployment relief programs. It is obviously important, however, that localities give careful consideration to a well rounded community program and undertake to carry forward health work, where needs will be increased; child care which will present even greater demands if the welfare of children is to be looked after; and that considerable group of activities of so-called character building agencies for whose services there probably has never been a greater need, if the morale of the young people and adults is to be maintained."

Equipment from the United States will be used in a modern hospital to be erected near Mukden, China.

Take that dirty ring out of your bathtub!

AFTER a bath, hard water leaves a dirty ring. The soap combines with the hardness and makes scum. The scum collects dirt. The dirty ring sticks to the sides of the bathtub. It has to be scrubbed off.

But soften the water with Mel'o and there isn't any dirty ring on your bathtub. Mel'o makes water delightfully soft and a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap. It saves from ⅓ to ⅜ the amount ordinarily used. It makes soap more effective. Use Mel'o wherever you want soft water. Get it at your grocer's.

By LOIS JACQUES, TECH CORRESPONDENT

ATTENDS STATE

Donald R. Boggs, who last year received a B. A. degree from Tech, is now attending Texas university at Austin, and working on his master's degree. Boggs won several scholarships and honors for his scholastic record while a student here.

URGE SENDING WIRES

A front page editorial appeared in this week's issue of the Toreador, asking the students to conduct an "absent cheering" campaign for the Matador football team today.

Tech men are to meet the New Mexico Aggies at Las Cruces this afternoon, and the Toreador asks everyone to send telegrams wishing the team good luck.

CHEMISTS PLAN 'OPEN HOUSE'

Tech Chemistry society members and all students interested in chemistry are to be entertained October 6 with an "open house" in room 101 of the chemistry building at 8 o'clock.

Roy C. Davis, president, and Vernon Jones, publicity director, are in charge of the program, and the chief purpose of the affair is to provide a "get - together" meeting. Old members of the society are asked to come at 7:30 for a short business session, during which plans for the year will be outlined.

LATIN CLUB TO MEET

Monday evening at 7 has been set as the date for the first meeting of the Latin club. It will be held in room 310 of the administration building, and all old members as well as new students who are interested are invited.

Agnes Klein, senior student, is president of the club, but an election will be held to fill the officer of secretary and treasurer. A short social program will follow the business meeting.

LOVELL HALL PLANS PARTY

The first social event to be held in Lovell Hall, 2423 Fourteenth street, since its remodeling and since the arrival of the college girls who reside there, is planned by Mrs. Mary S. Lovell for Sunday evening.

The affair is to be an "open house" from 6:30 to 9 o'clock and all friends of Lovell Hall girls and of Mrs. Lovell are invited to call.

MAKES MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The Y. W. C. A., under the direction of Mrs. O. C. Corry, is making a campaign for members. Personal calls are being made upon all girls who indicated an interest in "Y" work at registration, and they are being invited to join. There is no membership fee.

Christova Sawyer is chairman of the membership committee, and assisting her are, Mary Jane Magee, Dollie Clements, Mathilde Reimer, Ruby Rae Williamson, Helen Settle, Mary Leidigh, and Christine Settle.

Each member of the committee has a list of other "Y" committees, their chairman, and the work they do. If girls are interested they may get any information they wish from the Y. W. C. A. office.

The drive ends Saturday, October 10, and on Sunday at the Episcopal church a recognition service for new members will be held.

HOLD ALL-WOMEN'S NIGHT

Miss Lilah Gaye Rodgers, president of the Association of Women Students, made the address of welcome to the women students who attended the program given last night in the gymnasium. This was the first of its kind ever given, but its sponsors hope to make an annual affair of "All-Women's" night.

Following Miss Rodgers' talk, the various presidents of campus girls' clubs were introduced. Mrs. Mary W. Doak, dean of women, then was presented and in her talk welcomed the new students. She also spoke of her belief that the A. W. S. is one of the most useful organizations for the college girl.

Other numbers on the program included a reading by Beulah Anderson, clogging by a team coached by Miss Zella Riegel, and a stunt directed by Carolyn Poe. Musical numbers by the girls' band and games under the direction of Miss Riegel concluded the program of fun and entertainment.

Closing the evening, refreshments were served and a candlelight service was held, in charge of the Y. W. C. A.

AMARILLOANS HOLD MEETING

Courtney Harris was chosen by the Amarillo students in school to begin the work of organization of a Tech-Amarillo club at a meeting held this week.

This gathering was principally for "get-together" purposes, and no formal organization was attempted. More complete plans will be made as soon as it is possible to get a list of all students attending Tech from Amarillo.

STAGS LIMITED

Only 75 stags will be admitted to the all-college dance tonight, it was announced this week. Prices will be $1 for stags and 75 cents for couples. Dancing will begin in the college gym at 9, with Frank Stone and his collegians furnishing the music.

GIRLS' DANCE ANNOUNCED

Thursday evening, October 8, the women students are again to hold sway in the gymnasium, for the Girls' Band is sponsoring the first all-girls' dance of the year at that time.

An orchestra composed of band members will play from 8 to 10 o'clock.

WILL BROADCAST GAME

The Texas Tech-New Mexico A. and M. game this afternoon will be broadcast from the world's largest college radio station, KOB, located at the New Mexico State college.

The station is 25,000 watts and 1,190 kilocycles, and is said to be easy to pick up in Lubbock.

To learn if pupils are interested in their personal appearance, officials of a London school have installed mirrors in the class rooms and halls.

Hello DO-X! How've Ya Been?

Here's a couple of high-fliers as different in appearance as the proverbial chalk and cheese; but with the common ambition to be "up in the world." Photo was made when the U. S. Navy blimp ZMC-2 dropped down to pay her respects to the giant German air liner DO-X as the latter lay at anchor off North Beach, L. I. The flying boat had many visitors, but this was the biggest.

HERE'S A NEW TREAT!

Funeral Services For Negro Accident Victim Held Friday

Funeral services for Robert Fuller, 45-year-old negro, who died at 11:10 a. m. Friday at Lubbock sanitarium of injuries he suffered in an automobile accident last Saturday, were held late Friday at a Lubbock cemetery. Burial was directed by Calvin Quigley, colored undertaker.

Fuller's condition has been critical since the accident. He suffered a dislocated vertebra and body paralysis.

F. B. Sudduth, a white man, was seriously injured in the same accident. He was dismissed from the sanitarium Thursday.

Sudduth, Fuller and a negro woman were injured when the automobile in which they were riding ran off of a culvert west of Lubbock. Fuller and the woman were picking cotton on Sudduth's farm, six miles west of Lubbock.

Thousands Of Longshoremen In Four Texas Cities Striking As Officials Threaten Wage Scale Reductions

GALVESTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Loading activities were at a standstill at docks here today, longshoremen remaining away from the waterfront in compliance with strike orders issued by union officials in protest against an attempted wage cut.

Shippers asked for longshoremen this morning to complete loading the Japanese steamer San Francisco Maru, but met with no response. Laborers, both union and otherwise, were conspicious by their absence.

The San Francisco Maru was the only steamer awaiting cargo at the Galveston docks today. There was no disorder anywhere along the water-front.

Shipping company officials announced they were determined to enforce the proposed wage reduction, which would cut the base scale to 65 cents an h... contract, which ex... provided for longsh... ing 80 cents and hour... a bale for cotton.

Shippers proposed to ... handling on the same ba... er cargo at a flat rate o... an hour.

Union leaders pointed o... due to the periods of idlen... longshore work, when there ... no ships to load or unload, the... could not maintain their ... standard of living on reduced w...

No immediate settlement of ... strike, which involves approximately 3,500 men at Galveston, Corpus Christi, Texas City and Houston, was in sight today, both factions standing firm.

World Series Play By Play

(By The Associated Press)

First Inning:

ATHLETICS—Bishop was out, Frisch to Bottomley. Haas struck out swinging at a low fast ball. Cochrane struck out swinging at a curve. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on base.

CARDINALS—Flowers grounded to Bishop and was out at first. Watkins singled to center and raced to second as Haas handled the ball slowly, permitting a fluke two-base hit. Frisch hoisted to Haas in left center. Bottomley flied out to Haas. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Second Inning:

ATHLETICS—Simmons drove a long fly to Hafey. Foxx grounded to Frisch and was thrown out at first. Miller struck out swinging. Hallahan was working carefully and showed a lot of stuff as he retired the sixth straight batsman. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

CARDINALS—Hafey was out, Earnshaw to Foxx on a high bounder. Martin hit to left field and slid safely into second as Simmons juggled the ball and slipped before throwing. It was a two-base hit. Wilson flied to Haas and Martin scored easily after the catch. Gelbert singled sharply to right. Hallahan struck out swinging. One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

Third Inning:

ATHLETICS—Dykes popped to Flowers. Williams fanned, missing a fast ball on the outside. Earnshaw grounded out, Frisch to Bottomley. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

CARDINALS—Flowers flied out to Haas. Watkins hit safely to center for a single. It was identical to his first hit but Haas prevented him from taking an extra base. Frisch popped to Williams. Bottomley grounded out, Earnshaw deflecting ball to Bishop for the throwout at first. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Fourth Inning:

ATHLETICS — Bishop fouled out to Flowers. Haas flied out to Hafey. Cochrane walked, the last one being high. He was the first Mackman to reach first base. Simmons forced Cochrane at second, Gelbert to Frisch. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

CARDINALS — Hafey fanned, swinging at a fire ball inside. Martin was out, Dykes to Foxx, on a fast play. Wilson grounded to Williams and was thrown out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Fifth Inning:

ATHLETICS — Foxx walked, the fourth ball being wide. Miller singled to right and Foxx stopped at second. It was the first hit off the new hurler and the infield gathered around to steady him. Dykes bunted to Bottomley and was tagged out as both runners advanced easily. Williams walked, filled the bases, on an intentional pass. Earnshaw grounded to Frisch and into a double play, Frisch to Gelbert to Bottomley. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

CARDINALS—Gelbert grounded out to Foxx. Hallahan fanned, taking a third called strike. Flowers popped a high foul to Foxx. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Sixth Inning:

ATHLETICS—Bishop fanned, lunging at a slow ball and missing it by a foot on the third strike. Haas hit sharply into left for a single. Cochrane flied out to Watkins who made a sensational catch of the drive as he bumped into the pavilion. Simmons grounded to Flowers and Haas was forced at second, Flowers to Gelbert. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

CARDINALS — Watkins grounded out, Bishop to Foxx. Frisch hit down the left field line for two bases. Bottomley fanned, swinging at a fast ball with plenty of hop on it for the third strike. Hafey grounded out, Dykes to Foxx. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Seventh Inning:

ATHLETICS—Foxx hit the first ball over Frisch's head for a single. Miller bounced to Gelbert and Foxx was forced at second but Miller beat the relay to first. Bottomley raced over and grabbed Dykes' pop foul in front of the Athletics' bench. Williams walked. Earnshaw fanned, swinging at the third strike. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

CARDINALS — Martin smashed a hard single to left field, his fifth of the series. Martin stole second. Cochrane's throw was wide and Williams had no chance to try for a putout. Wilson grounded out, Bishop to Foxx, and Martin went to third. Gelbert bunted to Earnshaw and Martin scored as the pitcher's toss to Cochrane was high. It was a sacrifice and fielder's choice as Gelbert reached first. Hallahan bunted to Foxx whose throw to Williams was missed but Hallahan was nipped on the relay to first. Flowers was out Bishop to Foxx, the ball hitting his bat as he attempted to duck away from a wild throw. One run, one hit, no errors, one left.

Eighth Inning:

ATHLETICS—Bishop popped to Frisch. Haas lined out to Hafey. Cochrane walked. Simmons hoisted a high fly to Gelbert. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

CARDINALS—Watkins fanned, swinging at a curve. Frisch flied out to Simmons who made a pretty gloved hand catch on the run near the wall. Bottomley walked. It was the first pass for Earnshaw. Hafey hit a high fly to Earnshaw. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Ninth Inning:

ATHLETICS—Foxx walked. Miller flied out to Hafey. Dykes walked. Frisch came in for a conference with the battery as well as to squak about the decision on the last ball. Williams fanned on a called strike. Jim Moore batted for Earnshaw. Moore missed the third strike but reached first base when Wilson dropped the ball and the catcher threw to third base. Apparently thinking the game was over. There was a riot of confusion as the Cardinals were galloping off the field. They were sent back. The bases were filled. Bottomley raced over against the field boxes in right field and made a spectacular catch of Bishop's foul for the third out. No runs, no hits, one error, three left.

Hamilton made the extra point for Plainview with a place kick.

Slaton made a total of 12 first downs to Plainview's seven.

Alfred and Johnson, halfbacks, were the outstanding stars of the Slaton aggregation. Walker's punting and passing by the team of Wester and Walker were features of Plainview's game.

Game Today To End Series At Local Fair

Ameral Payne's Charges Down Post In Well Matched Game; Littlefield And Tahoka To Play Today At 3:45

School is out over at Levelland until after the cotton picking season, but Coach Ameral Payne has a football club notwithstanding. The same came to Lubbock yesterday and took a 19 to 6 decision over the Post High school eleven as the feature athletic attraction at the fair grounds.

There was no denying the superiority of the Levelland club, though Coach Ox Emmons' team put up a fight that kept the crowd longer than any game so far of the series of six games played at the fair. Levelland gained ten first downs to Post's six, outpunted and outgained the Post boys in every department but passing. The Post club had a fair passing game and completed about half of the aerial throws.

Strong Teams Today

This afternoon at 3:45 o'clock the Tahoka and Littlefield teams meet in what is expected to be a true climax to the week of Class B games. Coach Tucker of Littlefield is bringing over a team which has won all of its early games and has looked good in all of them. "Nig" McCarver, formerly one of the best running backs in the Texas Conference while at Howard Payne college, has an inexperienced team at Tahoka but is making headway with his material.

If there was an individual star in yesterday's game it was little Gano Tubb, Levelland quarterback, who carried the ball with almost amazing ability and looked like a veteran on the defense. His work was not much better than Halfback Wheeler, however, whose playing at the safety position and running back punts was a feature of the game. Francis Tubb, playing at the other half for most of the game, was another star for Levelland. Line play for the Payne-coached men was featured by strength in the center of the line, with Center Price and Guards Boney and Liljadahl doing nice work. Francis Tubb turned in a game all by himself, however, in the secondary defense work. Post ball carriers would circle the Levelland ends time and again, only to be cut down for slight gain by the little halfback.

Hawthorn Is Star

For Post, Captain Hawthorn played an outstanding game, backing up the line from his fullback position with native ability and going down for gains with success. The Post line perhaps was as good as the Levelland forward wall, with every man playing close and tightly. Thompson and Davies at tackles were well on their game. Quarterback Speck's passing and running was worthy of praise.

Gano Tubb and Wheeler took the ball from their own 20-yard line, by running and punting and recovering, to the Post 20-yard line as the game opened. A punt out of bounds on the 2-yard line resulted in a return kick which was partially blocked, Gano Tubb going over for a touchdown on four plays at the line. A few minutes later Tubb started on a long run, traveled from midfield to about the Post 20-yard line, was tackled and in some way Wheeler took the ball on for a touchdown that counted. Wheeler caught a pass over the line for extra point.

Post Makes Try

Post made a brave attempt to score in the same period, once getting to the 1-yard line. A fumble cost a touchdown and Levelland kicked out as the period ended.

There was no scoring in the second period, the ball going from one end of the field to the other and back again with the teams doing a lot of punting and passing.

Wheeler took the ball for a 59-yard rude shortly after the second half opened to score a touchdown. He fairly ran away from the rest of the field after breaking through the left side of the Post line. It was the second play after the kick off.

Hawthorn, Speck and Key, by passing and running, got to Levelland's 20-yard line but a pass was intercepted and Levelland kicked out of danger. Followed two neat runs by Hawthorn and Speck and Speck kicked a beauty out of bounds on Levelland's 1-foot line. Levelland kicked back, recovered the kick, and kicked again, then again after picking up a fumble. Levelland drew a 25-yard penalty for clipping a few minutes later and with that as a lead and an inspiration, Post blocked a punt perfectly to recover on the Levelland 5-yard line, from where Speck ran over for a touchdown in two thrusts at the line, for Post's only score.

The lineup and summary:

Levelland	Pos.	Post
Westhers	L. E.	Key
Berry	L. T.	Clark
Boney	L. G.	Davies
Price	C.	Stanley
Liljadahl	R. G.	Doggett

Inter-State Games Feature Gridiron Card In Southwest Conference Today

Texas-Missouri Tilt Features Big Day In Southwest

BY BILL PARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 2. — The Tigers of Missouri, the Green Wave of Tulane, the Sooners of Oklahoma, and the Hurricanes of Tulsa University reputed to be destructive football aggregations, test Southwest Conference elevens tomorrow.

Non-conference combats, featured by four intersectional affairs which have the gloss of importance, will send all Southwest Conference members into action for the first time this fall.

Meeting for the first time since 1916 when Missouri won 3 to 0, the University of Texas and University of Missouri resume competition at Austin. This game will bring together 1930 Southwest Conference champions, and a powerful Big Six Conference team boasting fourteen veterans and a brilliant array of sophomores. In their six encounters since 1894, Missouri holds four victories and Texas two. Elmo Niblo, center, and Jack Swatek, guard, both of Dallas, are members of the Missouri team.

Over-shadowed in the matter of avoirdupois, but determined to get vengeance for their 19 to 9 defeat last year, the Texas Aggies are in New Orleans to battle Tulane of the Southern Conference.

Aggies At New Orleans

Victorious last week over Southwestern 33 to 0, Texas A. and M. invaded New Orleans with determined confidence. Carl Moulden, Charlie Malone and Henry Graves, on the A. and M. bench last week with injuries, will return to the lineup tomorrow.

Styled the mystery team of this year's Southwest Conference race because no one knows what to expect of them, the Rice Owls of Houston are on the University of Oklahoma campus for a battle tomorrow.

Leaving Bert Mueller, halfback, behind because of an injury, Coach Meagher invaded Norman with thirty-three players, most of them with one year of varsity experience.

Frogs At Tulsa

Texas Christian of Fort Worth, victorious last week over Louisiana State of the Southern Conference 3 to 0, arrived in Tulsa today twenty-six strong for its battle tomorrow against Tulsa University's Golden Hurricane.

Ranking next to these four intersectional combats will be the Hendrix College and University of Arkansas battle tomorrow at Fayetteville.

In Dallas, Southern Methodist will meet Simmons in what appears to be a warm up game for S. M. U. at Waco, Baylor plays for the first time this season, meeting St. Edward's. Baylor is favored, but expects a hard battle for the first half.

Mizzou Tigers Arrive In Fit Form For Game

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Set to go in their first major that of the current season, the University of Texas Steers, champions of the 1930 Southwestern Conference campaign, tapered off their training for the University of Missouri game in a fast and snappy drill here today.

The University of Missouri eleven arrived in mid-afternoon, apparently none the worse from the long train ride and were pronounced in fine condition for the tilt. They were put through a brief limbering up and signal drill by Coach Gwynn Henry.

Tomorrow's game with Texas will be the season opener for Missouri.

Daniel Baker Takes 12-9 Win Over Schreiner Institute

KERRVILLE, Oct. 2. (AP)—Daniel Baker college launched a brilliant air offensive here today to drive to victory over Schreiner Institute 12 to 9.

Schreiner pushed over a touchdown in the first period to open the scoring. Daniel Baker came back in the third period to score on a long pass from Snodgrass to Weaver. Again in the final period Daniel Baker took to the air, a pass, Magness to Smith, accounting for another touchdown.

Schreiner added three points in the second period when Pruitt booted a field goal.

Goober Keyes Leads ACC To 13-0 Victory Over Plowboys

STEPHENVILLE, Oct. 2. (AP) — Diminutive "Goober" Keyes led the Abilene Christian College Wildcats to a 13 to 0 victory over the John Tarleton Plowboys here today.

The Plowboys presented a strong defense throughout, but the elusive Keyes and his mates struck at opportune moments.

John Tarleton opened an air attack in the last period but a majority of its passes went astray.

Houston, Texas, league players with chances to play for the St. Louis Cardinals next year include "Dizzy" Dean, "Tex" Carleton, "Ducky" Medwick, Homer Peel and Carey Selph.

Yesterday's Winner And The Pair Who Almost Mussed The 9th Frame

James Moore

Jimmy Wilson

Wild Bill Hallahan used the grip illustrated above to shut out the Athletics yesterday in the second game of the World Series, but the gentlemen shown below almost spoiled a perfect ending by some ninth inning play. Hallahan had struck out Jimmy Moore, former Texas Leaguer, and started walking away with a victory under his arm. But Catcher Wilson for the Cards dropped the third strike and Moore scampered to first, safe a mile.

Old Sarge Is Happy With Victory Under Card Belt

By CHARLES A. DUNKLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2.—The door of the Cardinals' clubhouse flew open, in walked Gabby Street, shoulders back, head up and the scene was complete.

There was a beaming smile on the old Sarge's face. He was extremely happy today over the victory of his players.

"Whew, boy, and how!" Street exclaimed as he patted sweet William Hallahan on the back. There was particular emphasis on the "how."

"That was the finest pitched ball game that I have ever seen by any pitcher," declared Street, paying tribute to Hallahan's victory.

Street would make no prediction concerning outcome of the series now that the score is even, and neither would he say who he intended to start against the Athletics in the third game of the series at Philadelphia Monday.

There was jubilation instead of despair as the Cardinals pulled off their uniforms in their dressing room to get ready for their showers.

A radio was going full blast and the Cards were either singing or whistling to its accompaniment.

Martin Dodges Company

John "Pepper" Martin, the Cardinal center fielder, who cracked out two hits, stole two bases and scored two runs, was off in a corner by himself trying to escape the back slaps of his comrades. Martin was picked up a few years ago by Charley Barrett, Cardinal scout, in Greenville, Tex., for a paltry $2,500. He was born in Oklahoma City 26 years ago on the 29th of February, and therefore says he could have a birthday every four years. As a kid he was a bat boy for the Oklahoma City club of the Western

Tornadoes Put Up Stiff Tilt But Outplayed

Chapman's Team Hangs Up Win Number 4 For Season; Long Passes Spell Victory Over Dawson Co., Eleven

(Special To The Avalanche)

LAMESA, Oct. 2.—Coach Weldon Chapman brought his Lubbock High school Westerners to Lamesa today and took them home with their fourth straight victory of the season, the fourth being a 32 to 0 win over Coach F. T. McCollum's Lamesa Golden Tornadoes.

Aside from putting up a bold front and holding their own to the best of their ability, thus entertaining the fairly large crowd with a good football exhibition, the Tornadoes were forced to bow to a heavier, more experienced and overbearing Westerner line and backfield. The Tornadoes behaved well considering their undeniably superior competition.

Westerners Score Early

Lubbock scored three touchdowns in the first period, one as the second quarter opened and again in the fourth period. Most of the Lubbock gains were results of a fine passing combination, the Westerners having well night perfected a long pass play that wrecked havoc all the way. It was due more to the ability of the Westerners to play than to a weak pass defense on the part of the Tornadoes that the scoring was heavy. Gene Barnett's long passes were speared time after time by Dalton Blagg and Will Ed Watson at the Westerner wing positions. Barnett's playing was a feature of the contest.

Coach Chapman made a couple of wholesale substitutions and ran in almost three complete teams during the course of the game. Except for the touchdown in the last quarter, the Lamesans were holding the visitors fairly well, and against Chapman's best.

Hamilton Makes Gain

Lamesa was held to one first down during the game. Hamilton, Tornadoes halfback, circled left end for 12 yards for the longest single gain made by the homelings. Captain Treadway, little but fierce, played a good game from his fullback position in the Lamesa backfield and was good on defense, going down on tackles that a bigger man would fear to face. Gable and Jordan in the line did nice work for the locals and Marr in the backfield, Lamesa's quarterback, did outstanding work.

The Westerner team functioned as a unit throughout, never failing to gain and to hold almost at will. The fine team work of the Chapman-coached club was worthy of recognition.

Sending in his best team to start the contest, Chapman saw it score three touchdowns in rapid order, and as the second period started a new team went in to score again. The teams played along on fairly even terms for the balance of the second quarter and throughout the third, with a fifth touchdown coming late in the game.

SECOND TEAM WINS

The Cowhands, Lubbock High school's second team, defeated Spring Lake Friday afternoon by a one-point margin in a football game at Spring Lake. The score was 7 to 6.

Truman Hutson and Ole Nelson were stars of the Cowhand backfield. The entire line showed up well.

The Southern conference has 219 football games scheduled for this season.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: THE MACEDONIAN CALL

Scripture Lesson: Acts 16:6-15

International Sunday school lesson for Oct. 4, 1931.

Acts 16:6. And they went through the region of Phrygia and Galatia, having been forbidden of the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia;

7. And when they were come over against Mysia, they assayed to go into Bithynia: and the Spirit of Jesus suffered them not;

8. And passing by Mysia, they came down to Troas.

9. And a vision appeared to Paul in the night; There was a man of Macedonia standing, beseeching him, and saying, Come over into Macedonia, and help us.

10. And when he had seen the vision, straightway we sought to go forth into Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to preach the gospel unto them.

11. Setting said therefore from Troas, we made a straight course to Samothrace, and the day following to Neapolis;

12. And from thence to Philippi, which is a city of Macedonia, the first of the district, a Roman colony: and we were in this city tarrying certain days.

13. And on the Sabbath day we went forth without the gate by a river side, where we supposed there was a place of prayer; and we sat down, and spake unto the women that were come together.

14. And a certain woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira, one that worshipped God, heard us: whose heart the Lord opened to give heed unto the things which were spoken by Paul.

15. And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought us, saying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my house, and abide there. And she constrained us.

Golden Text—Go ye therefore, and make disciples of all the nations.—Matt. 28:19.

Time—A. D. 51.

Place—From Antioch westward through Asia Minor to Troas, thence across the Aegean Sea to Neapolis and Philippi.

INTRODUCTION

Paul and Barnabas, after laboring for a while strengthening the Antioch church, the mother church of foreign missions, felt the urge to take up again their missionary labors, desiring first to visit the cities in which the gospel had been planted during their first journey and see how the infant churches had fared. "Paul's restlessness was of the Lord for the good of the world. It would have been an unspeakable loss to the western nations if this man had grown indolent, and settled down in comfortable and honorable employment at home."

PAUL AND BARNABAS SEPARATE. Acts 15:37-40

But this decision to make a second missionary journey led to a sad dissension between two of the noblest of the Bible figures, a quarrel frankly recorded by the most honest of all books. Barnabas, very naturally, wanted to take with them as their assistant his cousin, John Mark, who was their assistant in Cyprus during the first missionary journey, but who, when they reached Pamphylia on the southern coast of Asia Minor, went back to his mother Mary in Jerusalem. Mark's reason is not given; but whatever it was, it did not satisfy Paul. There were sharp words, the two apostles could not agree, and so they agreed to separate. Barnabas took Mark and sailed away to his native Cyprus, while Paul took Silas and went to visit the young Christian communities, Derbe, Lystra, Iconium and Antioch, in central Asia Minor.

THE GOOD RESULT OF THE SEPARATION

The separation was a sad one, but fortunate for the cause of Christianity. It was like what happened to the first party of American foreign missionaries. They set sail for India, a band of Congregationalists, but during the long voyage Adoniram Judson became a convert to the Baptist faith. The result was that he went to Burmah and the Baptists started their foreign missionary society—two missionary societies instead of one, and two great empires entered by Christ instead of India alone.

THE "SECOND CHANCE" OF MARK

References in Paul's letters to Barnabas and to Mark show that Paul's affection for the former was maintained and that Mark grew in his warm esteem and confidence. "Deserters from the army of earthly monarchs are shot without mercy! But God is always ready to give us a second chance—he is always ready to restore us. None of us, therefore, need despair. We too, like John Mark, out of weakness can be made strong."—Rev. J. D. Jones.

THE CHOICE OF TIMOTHY

Silas, the noble-hearted, took the place of Barnabas, but who was to take the place of John Mark? Who would run errands, help carry loads, help draw a crowd, go buy food, and do the many daily tasks that would leave the missionaries free for their great task? When they reached Lystra, the problem was solved for there they found young Timothy, an ideal selection. His Jewish mother and grandmother, Eunice and Lois (2 Tim. 1:5) had brought the boy up with care, giving him a priceless knowledge of the Bible (2 Tim. 3:14, 15), and forming his character so that he was honored not only in Lystra but in Iconium. "Timothy now starts on with the great traveller and his companion Silas. He is to be with Paul much of the time through the years to come, and to help him in many ways. Paul speaks of him as his "beloved son" in the letters which he sent him during his last days."

LED BY THE SPIRIT

So the two missionaries, thus happily reinforced by Timothy, proceeded westward through the cities of Phrygia and southern Galatia, everywhere leaving with the churches the decrees of the Jerusalem council, and greatly strengthening the faith of the churches, so that they increased in number every day—a splendid growth testifying to the presence of the Holy Spirit with them in their labors. But the presence of the Spirit directed them in an unexpected way.

"Having been forbidden of the Holy Spirit to speak the word in Asia." As the missionaries were on the point of entering Asia, the Holy Spirit in some way forbade them to do so, and they kept on northward.

THE CITY OF TROAS (TROY) v. 8

"They came down to Troas." They turned westward to the Aegean Sea, and to the seaport of Troas. Troas was Troy, the city which Homer by his Iliad made one of the most famous cities in the world. Homer's Troas, however, and eight other ancient ruined cities one on top of the other, is situated a little way from the Troas which Paul visited. Troas was a great port and the great Roman city. Its sheltered situation behind the island of Tenedos, on the edge of the province of Asia and therefore nearer the real center of the empire than Rome itself, led Julius Caesar to contemplate the wisdom of moving his capital thither. Constantine balanced the claims of Troas and Byzantium as the eastern seat of the Roman Empire, and it was only by a turn of the hand that Byzantium won.

THE MAN OF MACEDONIA. Acts 16:9-12

And a vision appeared to Paul in the night." Paul was a man of wisdom. His intimate fellowship with the Holy Spirit bore fruit in significant dreams and in more physical manifestations which throughout his career directed his course and comforted and strengthened him in times of peril. "There was a man of Macedonia standing." He would be recognized as from Macedonia by his costume, which Paul had seen on the streets of Troas. Luke, who probably was from Philippi in Macedonia, joined Paul's party at Troas, and it may have been conversations with him that were divinely enforced by this vision. "Saying, come over into Macedonia, and help us." Macedonia was just across the Aegean Sea from Troas. It was the country north of Greece, made famous by its world-conquering ruler, Alexander the Great, nearly four centuries before this time.

PAUL'S PROMPT OBEDIENCE. vs. 10

"And when he had seen the vision, straightway we sought to go forth into Macedonia." This is the first of the "we" passages in the Acts, signifying by the pronoun that Luke had added himself to the little missionary band. Note the promptness with which the vision was obeyed. "I think I see Paul leaping from his couch, in the burning eternity that God had spoken, and sending Luke posthaste down to the harbor to see when the next ship was likely to set sail. The vision must be carried out in action. We must interpret our bright gleams in instant duty."—Rev. George H. Morrison. "Concluding that God had called us to preach the gospel unto them." The word translated "concluding" implies careful consideration on the part of the little group of four.

THE VOYAGE TO EUROPE. v. 11.

"Setting said therefore from Troas, we made a straight course to Samothrace." Samothrace is "an island in the archipelago off the coast of Thrace and opposite the mouth of the Hebrus. It has an area of about thirty square miles, and had in it a mountain five thousand feet high. "And the day following to Neapolis." "Neapolis" means "New City," the same as "Newton" and "Naples." Neapolis, the modern Kavalla, is the seaport of Philippi, ten miles to the east-southeast of it. "And from thence to Philippi." This city was named after its builder, King Philip of Macedon, the father of Alexander the Great. Near it were famous gold mines which yielded that monarch thirty million dollars a year. Almost exactly a century before Paul's arrival, one of the world's most important battles was fought on the plain west of the city, the battle between Octavius and Antony on the one side and Brutus and Cassius on the other, the former being victors, so that Octavius finally became the Emperor Augustus. "Which is a city of Macedonia." The country north of Greece, at that time a Roman province. Under Philip and Alexander, Macedonia was mistress of the world.

THE FIRST EUROPEAN CONVERT. v. 14

"And a certain woman named Lydia." Some think she was so called because she came from Lydia, the little country on the western coast of Asia Minor whose capital was Sardis and which also contained Thyatira and Philadelphia; but Lydia was a common name for women. "A seller of purple, of the city Thyatira." One of the seven cities to which the Holy Spirit addressed letters in Revelation. "Whose heart the Lord opened to give heed unto the things which were spoken by Paul." He was the principal speaker here as always. "Did you ever see a robin's nest in June, full of the little half-clothed hungry birds, which seem to be all mouth and pin-feathers? Whenever the old robin draws near the nest with a worm or a grasshopper or other food, the open mouths fill the whole top of the nest with noisy appeal. Lydia's openheart was full of hunger like that for the riches of spiritual food which Paul was so capable of bestowing."—Rev. Louis Albert Banks, D. D.

LYDIA'S HOSPITALITY. v. 15

"Come into my house, and abide there." "St. Luke's story leaves Lydia in the place were every woman's life should be at its best—in her home. 'Lydia the hostess is perhaps the highest type of Christian woman. Her own table ought to be her highest place of honor; the family is her throne. What she is there, society will be in her time, and in the after-time. Every woman ought to cultivate the title of lady in its old acceptation—'breadgiver'—to her own folk first, and then to strangers."—R. W. Barbour.

"When Lydia became a Christian, she was true to her nature and true to the training of her life. She had always been busy, she would remain so. But now the things of the kingdom would come first."—Margaret E. Sangster.

"The open hears reveals her receptivity; the open house her generosity."

Labor Federation To Seek Volstead Act Modification

Green, on his way to Vancouver, said the federation will "emphatically reaffirm" its stand for modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer containing 2.75 per cent alcohol.

A Practical Suggestion

SEVERAL days ago in this column there was contained a comment upon local and county charity plans. Included in the comment was the suggestion that charity disseminated this winter be matched by service on the part of those people dependent upon charity.

Because The Morning Avalanche does not believe in expenditure of public funds without benefit to the public and because we further believe that outright charity is not conducive to good public morale, it is our suggestion that city and county funds, used during the coming winter to feed, house and clothe indigents, be matched with work on the city streets and parks and the county parks.

Along this same line of reasoning, The Manufacturers Record, of Baltimore, placed in circulation Thursday, presents editorial comment based upon a similar plan now in operation in Grand Rapids, Mich. Says The Record:

"Grand Rapids, in announcing a program for cleanliness and beautification of the city, says it expects to have very few unemployed this winter. Almost every city in the country, large or small, can do something of the kind. Such a program will give work to unemployed and have a beneficial effect upon community life.

"In every town there are dilapidated areas that can be made attractive. Some years ago the real estate dealers, at their annual convention, inaugurated a campaign for beautification of those sections of cities through which the railroads pass. Too often the approaches that should be most attractive to visitors have been seriously neglected. The present is an opportune time to do constructive work and provide improvements which may also very well prove a wise investment by reason of their attractiveness to outsiders and because they add to taxable values. Charity, for those who are able to work, should be the last resort."

There are streets and thoroughfares in Lubbock which will respond well to some work here and there—and not the least among them are the unsightly and altogether atrocious center parkways. The county park can be improved. So can some of the city parks. There is plenty of work to be done and if public funds are to be expended for the benefit o the idle there is no reason why the public should not benefit therefrom.

The Morning Avalanche will watch with interest any such plan of exchange that the city and county officials see fit to inaugurate.

There's one born every minute, as Barnum said; doubtless for the same reason that rabbits are more prolific than wolves.

As he deals with senators, Mr. Hoover doubtless regrets that his engineering course didn't include instructions in the use of soft soap.

Practical Health Problems

ILLNESS IN INFANCY

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

IT has long been recognized by doctors that diseases occurring during the first few years of life are more likely to leave permanent marks on the human being than those which occur later in life.

In the museums of disease accumulated by great medical schools, there are hundreds of examples to prove this point. Children who have had rickets during infancy grow up with skeletons that are somewhat distorted because of the unequal growth of the bones. Nervous habits acquired in infancy persist for many years.

Recently Dr. C. E. Bloch of Denmark has made a special study of the permanent defects of teeth due to insufficiency of vitamins in the diet of the infant. Thirty-eight boys and 26 girls, ranging in age from 8 to 20 years, were studied. All of these children had symptoms of deficiency of vitamin A in childhood. As a result of this deficiency, one or both eyes had been removed in 23 cases. In 30 of the cases, one or both of the eyes had shriveled, and in all of the cases serious changes had taken place in tissue of the eye.

In a more recent study, having to do particularly with the effects on the teeth of the deficiency of other vitamins in childhood, Bloch found that a severe deficiency of vitamin A in infancy, resulting in a disease of the eyes called xerophthalmia, has serious effects on the child. Hardly two-thirds of the children reach the age of eight years. After this, their development goes on normally, except that the eye disturbance may result in impaired vision or complete blindness.

There seems to be no question that an absence of vitamin D in infancy results in disturbances of formation of the skeleton and dental caries. Dental anomalies in man seem to be due chiefly to abnormality of the way in which the body takes care of calcium and other minerals during the period when the teeth are calcifying. Vitamin D is the chief vitamin associated with calcification process.

Readjustment Is Aim

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

Bank of England

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The cat did not emerge immediately when John Bull opened the bag, with his announcement of the English government's suspension of the gold standard.

It was several days, in fact, before puss even gave a preliminary mew—to the effect that the next thing will have to be an international conference with reference to gold distribution. It was rather a significant mew to be sure, considering that America has about half of the world's gold and France about half of the rest of it, the balance being divided up homeopathically among the treasuries of the other countries.

It certainly sounded as if the cat were mewing for a spreading around of America's and France's gold for the benefit of these other countries.

Still, a mew was all it amounted to.

IT TOOK some prodding to bring the cat out.

The prodding took the form of a process of mental questionings among financiers as to the sequence of events which must ensue from John Bull's abandonment of the gold standard, independently of an international conference relative to gold distribution—because an international conference is not a certainty, new for it as the cat may; the United States and France will have to agree to it first.

One thing that is certain to occur is a decline in the value of the English pound. John Bull's monetary unit. Indeed, it has occurred already, though its new value is as yet indeterminate; it has not stopped fluctuating. Probably it will come to rest at about 20 per cent less than it formerly was worth.

AND THEN WHAT?

Well, to begin with, English employers, while still paying their help the same number of pounds each per week, will in reality be paying them lower wages.

It is thus that the suspension of the gold standard is relied on to help John Bull's export trade—by reducing English manufacturers' production costs and enabling them to underbid their rivals in foreign markets.

The British workingman will suffer, of course; his buying power will be reduced. However, their home folk's patronage never has been as important to English industries as their home folk's trade always has been to American industries. The domestic market is the American manufacturer's vital consideration; he ships a little stuff abroad if he has any left over. Economics, geography, population and other considerations force the reverse of this policy upon the English manufacturer.

THE ENGLISH manufacturer's export business having gone flooey since the war and his home trade not being much good anyway, his troubles have become worse than he could bear up under. The gold standard was suspended in an effort to relieve him, whatever it may result in.

What does the British workingman think of it?

That has nothing to do with the cat, but if anyone insists on knowing, one would surmise, from the circumstance that the new policy caused a mutiny in the British navy (the bluejackets' pay having been cut, along with the generality of labor), that it must be an unpopular policy with the masses.

A strike in the navy is a radical manifestation.

BUT TO GET back to the cat.

A second thing that the gold standard's suspension will do, is to enable England's debtor countries to settle their obligations, due to John Bull, for less than he otherwise could have exacted from them. They borrowed pounds and they will repay the same number of pounds plus interest, but the pounds will not be worth as much as when they were borrowed.

On the opposite hand, England will have to repay John Bull's war debt to Uncle Sam in gold dollars, for gold dollars were what he borrowed and Uncle Samuel still reckons in them.

This will be a bad deal for John Bull, will it not?

* * *

NO NEED to answer.

The cat answers.

With a loud yowl, out from the sack jumps the feline. At least, he did, a few days ago, in the shape of dispatches from London, explaining what must be done to save John Bull from the loss he otherwise will sustain through receiving depreciated money in return for what he loaned to others, while paying out 100 per cent money in return for what he borrowed in America.

There must be a complete readjustment of war debts and reparations!

They must at least be scaled down much more—cancelled, maybe.

Inasmuch as nearly everyone is in debt to no one, one guess should be sufficient to disclose from whose pocket the complete readjustment will have to be effected. Now that the cat is out at last, it really begins to look as if Uncle Samuel's gold may be distributed—quite a handful of it, anyhow.

FREE THE WORLD OF THIS CURSE

There are 2,000,000 lepers in the world, but they no longer need to go about in wilderness places, holding clothes to their mouths and calling out "Unclean, unclean." For science has got the mastery of leprosy.

W. M. Danner, of New York, general secretary of the American Mission to Lepers, says that the world could have been rid of leprosy long ago if there had been the proper cooperation among the nations. Leprosy is not incurable. It now is definitely proved that treatment given in the early stages of the disease will effect speedy cure. Many incipient cases can be made "symptom free" without hospital residence for the patient.

Mr. Danner is the representative of a world-wide movement to establish hospitals, out-patient departments and financial organization to eradicate this dreaded disease. The people of the United States are interested, because this country has been invaded.

The treatment is simple and it is said to be practicable to train persons who have been cured to administer the remedy to those applying to the out-patient departments for aid. Religious organizations long have been the chief promoters of the service to lepers. Now, with the cooperation of science and the authority of government, it is hoped that the world will be freed from a curse that has terrorized large numbers of people since pre-historic times.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A LITTLE JAPANESE JUNK SAILED FROM JAPAN TO ROME:

In 1613 the powerful chief of the Sedai Clan, despatched two prominent Japanese Christians, Hasekuru and Sotetee, to the Pope. They bore a letter from the Mikado Goe Jozei to Pope Paul V. This intrepid feat of navigation, from Nagaski, Japan, to Rome, Italy, was successful. It is recorded that the two Japanese envoys had an audience with the Pope, Nov. 30, 1615, and returned to Japan in 1620. A shipwrecked English sailor, Will Adams, who found his way to Japan in 1605, taught the Japanese how to build ocean going junks which made this voyage possible. Due to his teachings Japan was on the road to winning the mastery of the seas, when foreign sailing was prohibited in the 17th century by the Shogun Hidetada.

Sir Otto Jaffe, a member of the Jewish faith, was born 1846 in Hamburg, Germany, whence he came to Belfast in 1858. He was educated at Hamburg, Hollywood and Switzerland and obtained his LL.D. degree at the Royal University of Ireland. He was twice Lord Mayor of Belfast (1899-1900, 1904-05) and High Sheriff of Belfast in 1901. Sir Otto has had a distinguished career and has been the recipient, of many high honors in the fields of education, civics and commerce.

THE CHAMPION BRICK LAYER:

Roy Swinford, of Ashmore, Illinois, is considered a champion in his profession, and offers to prove it to anyone who doubts his ability. In August 1931 he laid almost 100 bricks in half a minute, and will lay a wager to anyone interested that he can put down 40,000 of them in a day's time—and that's an order of a carload.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Pretty NORMA KENT, 20-year-old secretary in a law office, marries MARK TRAVERS, son of F. M. TRAVERS, millionaire real estate dealer, after the father has sworn to cut Mark off without a penny if the marriage takes place. Norma has known Mark only a few weeks, did not know during the courtship that he was a millionaire's son.

The story opens in Marlboro, middle western metropolis. CHRISTINE SAUNDERS, with whom Norma shared an apartment, and BRADLEY HART, Chris' employer, are witnesses at the wedding. Before this Norma has refused to marry BOB FARRELL, young lawyer of whom she is fond as a friend.

Mark sells his expensive roadster to get money for the honeymoon. He and Norma go to fashionable Blue Springs, where the young man takes delight in surrounding his bride with expensive luxuries. One afternoon Mark introduces Norma to HOLLIS STONE, an old friend. It is evident from the girl's disconcomposure that she has known Stone before. She excuses herself and goes to her room. Mark believes Norma is ill. She endures a day of suspense and misery, but when she sees Stone again he is politely formal and makes no mention of their previous acquantance. One night Mark joins some friends at cards. It is 3 a. m. before he returns.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVIII

Slowly Mark Travers closed the door and faced about. A lock of dark hair fell rowdyishly over one eye. The collar of his shirt was open, his necktie loosened. In the dim light Norma did not see the shadows beneath the youth's eyes or notice that his cheeks had an unnatural tinge.

The girl was out of bed instantly She had forgotten her lonely evening, forgot all reproaches.

"Are you ill, Mark?" she cried, rushing to him.

Travers rested his weight against the door, looked at her as though she were a stranger. "What you talking about?" he asked. "I'm all right. Fine! Never felt better in my life!"

He was certainly not himself. Abashed, horrified the girl stepped back.

Mark noted the movement. "Think I'm tight, don't you?" he challenged her. "Well, I'm not! Had a few drinks but I know what I'm doing all right. Oh, yes I do. Have a right to take a drink if I want it. When a guy's flat broke he's got to celebrate, hasn't he?"

Norma had found her voice. "Mark—here, sit down. You're tired. It's so late—"

He would not take the chair she thrust towards him. Instead he started across the room. There was a slight unsteadiness in his gait. Suddenly he turned, straightened.

"Who's going to stop me from taking a drink if I want to?" he demanded. "What's you expect me to do when the money was gone—sit down and cry about it? If Mr. and Mrs. F. M Travers want their son and heir to go hungry and be turned out for not paying bills—that for them!" Loudly, with exaggerated solemnity, he snapped his fingers "Mr. and Mrs. Travers' son and heir says they can go to the devil!"

He turned his back on the girl again.

Norma was thoroughly frightened. She followed Mark, slipped her arms about him. "What do you mean?" she begged. "What do you mean about the money being gone? You haven't—oh, Mark, you don't mean—"

The youth whirled. "Sure I do!" he interrupted. "That's what I've been celebrating. I tell you we're flat broke! Not a penny in the world left. Not a penny and a couple of I. O. U.'s— Why, Norma! Oh, gee, Norma, don't take it that way!"

She could not keep the tears

Depositors Of Bank Refuse To Come For Money; Funds Are To Be Mailed

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—About 1,500 depositors didn't budge an inch when invited to make a friendly run on the Mayfair Trust & Savings bank.

This was disclosed yesterday when T. B. McGrath, president of the bank revealed it would have to mail out the $89,000 because the depositors failed to come for their money when asked to do so by the bank, following a decision by its board of directors to go out of business.

A total of 4,500 other depositors came for their money, and received it at the rate of 100 cents to the dollar. A total of $612,000 was paid to them.

"We tried our best to have all depositors come for their money," President McGrath said, "but find ourselves with $89,000—which we will distribute by check."

Bristow Seeking To Prove Story

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2. (AP)—It may be worth $3,800 to J. E. Bristow, former Oklahoma oil man, to prove he was kidnapped by Mexican bandits in the spring of 1930.

Bristow, now of San Angelo, Tex., was here today in an attempt to convince officials of the internal revenue department that he wasn't in the country in March of last year.

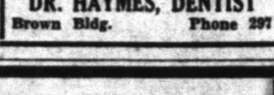

If he succeeds, Bristow expects the government to overlook the fact he failed to make a personal income tax report while lolling in a bandit camp in the mountains east of Mazatlan. If he fails, he will be taxed on a purported erroneous return filed by an employe of his oil company fixing the payment $3,800 too high.

Bristow was ransomed for nearly $3,000 by his son, Obie, former University of Oklahoma football star, and Merle Blakely, Oklahoma City newspaperman.

Rayon imports into Japan in the first half of this year were 140,000 pounds greater than in the first six months of 1930.

Wheat exports from Argentine in a recent week totaled 366,000 tons, or nearly three times those of the corresponding week of last year.

back. They had started suddenly without her meaning in the least to give way. The hot tears stung her cheeks. They would not stop. She hid her face in her hands.

"Aw, sweetheart — please! You mustn't feel badly, Norma!" Sight of the girl looking so miserable seemed to clear Mark's brain. "Why, it's going to be all right. We aren't going to go hungry or anything like that. I'll get some money tomorrow—" he stumbled on, trying to comfort her, using awkward endearments and patting her shoulder.

Her need of him acted like a plunge into cold, clear water. With surprising quickness the befuddlement vanished.

"But, Mark—I—I'm not crying about the—the money—!"

She tried to tell him that it had been the hours of waiting and anxiety, seeing him suddenly transformed into a stranger that had worn her nerves beyond endurance. Mark was overwhelmed with regret. He scarcely gave her a chance to explain, he was so penitent, so humble in his self-abasement. Mark called himself a heartless, selfish brute. She was an angel and far too good for him. He swore events of this night would never be repeated.

They were sitting in the huge chair that was a favorite place for confidences. Her head rested comfortably against his shoulder. Norma's temple touched Mark's cheek. She was such a little thing!

"You know, pet," he confided softly. "I didn't throw that money away because I wanted to. I'd lots rather have been with you than in that card game. Well—it's 400 smackers shot!"

He spread his two hands to indicate flight of the $400.

"And that's really all that was left of all that money you had two weeks ago?"

Mark nodded gloomily. "Not to count the hotel bill which isn't paid," he told her. "Oh, there're lots of ways to spend money! Don't ever be surprised when it's gone. When Halloran spoke of this game tonight I thought I'd have a chance to run the $400 up. I generally win at bridge but this was poker. Added to what I've lost on golf—oh, Lord, am I sleepy—"

His wrist watch indicated that it was after 3:30.

"We'll find a way out of this tomorrow," Norma predicted cheerfully. "And we do have a little left, Mark." She arose and got her purse from a drawer of the dressing table. There were five crisp $10 bills and several $1's inside.

"Lots of people have built fortunes on less than taht," she told him. "Of course, we can't stay here any longer. We'll have to move—"

Travers was not listening. He had stripped off his coat and taken up the pajamas laid out for him A moment later the bath room door closed behind him and Norma heard the rush of water in the tub. With a sigh she turned her head on the pillow and closed her eyes.

It was noon next day before Mark was awake. He sat on the edge of the bed, frowned at the bright sunlight that streamed over him.

Norma, in a trim blue sport dress, was busy at the desk across the room.

"Pull that shade down will you?" Mark complained. "Damn near blinds a fellow! Ouch!"

He had set his bare foot on a sharp object and quickly withdrawn it. Norma hurried to lower the window shade.

"Here are your slippers," she said, handing them to him. "I didn't know you were awake."

"Well—maybe I'm not! Certainly don't feel much like it." He blinked his eyes, started to shake his head and then grimaced painfully. "Oh, what a sweet, sweet headache!"

"I'll get you some coffee," Norma suggested. "Or would you rather have aspirin?"

"N'mind. Is there any bicarbonate around here?" Mark was on his feet now—a rumpled, frowning, altogether unengaging figure.

Norma volunteered to go downstairs for the soda. She had not yet reached the stage where a word over the telephone was the automatic answer to every problem. Besides, a bell boy would require a tip. Tips for such services were not included in the neatly tabulated row of figures over which Norma had been studying for the last half hour.

When she returned Mark, vastly improved by a cold shower and shave, had nearly completed dressing. She opened the box of soda, measured out the dose for him and brought a glass of water. He gulped it down.

Frowning faintly, Mark said, "I seem to remember from last night that the Travers finances are rather less than low. Wiped out, as it were. Right?"

"Let's not bother about that, Mark, until you feel more like yourself. You'll have some breakfast, won't you?"

"What time is it?"

She told him it was a quarter of 4.

"Maybe we'd better have something sent up," the girl suggested.

Mark shook his head. "I think I'd like to get out of this place," he said. "Little air percolating through this numb skull of mine might do it some good. Suppose we walk over to the coffee shop?"

The coffee shop was an inexpensive restaurant a block and a half down the street. It was open day and night and the food was excellent. Norma agreed to the suggestion and pulled on her hat.

"You're certainly looking O. K. this morning," Mark told her a little later when they were out on the street. "Never guess you were awake till the wee small hours!"

She brightened before his compliment. What if she had tossed restlessly long after Mark had been sound in slumber? What if for two hours that morning she had been thinking and studying over pencil and paper trying to find the answer to their difficulties?

They entered the coffee shop and found a table withdrawn from its neighbors. Mark ordered tomato juice, black coffee, eggs and toast. Norma chose an omelet, rolls and fruit. When the waiter disappeared Mark looked across the table at the girl.

"Well," he began, "why don't you say what you think of me? Tell me I'm nine kinds of an idiot and a good-for-nothing to boot!"

"But you're nothing of the sort!"

"Go ahead and say it. I've got it coming to me and I'd feel better if you bawled me out."

"There isn't anything to bawl you out about. We went over all that last night. Don't you remember?"

"Say, with a head like mine Einstein wouldn't remember his own theories. I know this much, though"—he leaned forward and gave her hand a quick pressure—"I've got the prettiest, gamest wife in the world—!"

After the food was served and they were drinking second cups of coffee, the discussion of finances began in earnest. From her purse Norma produced the slip of paper with its rows of figures which represented a morning's work. Here was what their fare back to Mariboro would cost. There was the lowest estiamte for a week's board and room for the two of them while Mark was finding a job. A modest figure for incidents.

Mark glanced at the sheet carelessly.

"O. K. baby," he said, "but all that's ahead of the story. What we've got to do first is actually get cash enough together to get our luggage out of that hotel. It would be good enough for Dad if we jumped the bill and they went back on him—"

You wouldn't do that!"

"Oh, bou you wouldn't, Mark!

He grinned at her horror-stricken expression. "Well, no. Not unless the situation was a real emergency Anyhow, it won't be necessary. You're to sit right at this table and not move until I come back. Those are orders!" Mark had swung to his feet and was reaching for his hat. "I won't be fore than 10 minutes," he promised.

It was a wider margin than he needed. In a little over half that time he was back at the table, smiling, the entirely, self-confident Mark whom Norma loved.

"What's the secret?" she demanded. "You're like a cat licking cream from its whiskers!"

"No secret"! Mark sat back and helped himself to a lump of sugar. "But I'm predicting you and I will be in funds again before sunset. Sooner than that probably."

"But what did you do?"

"Oh, wired Mother the usual distress signal. She'll come back with a thousand berries by return telegram or I'm a blue-faced baboon!"

He was as pleased with himself as if he had just earned the $1,000. Norma, noticing this, felt a twinge of disappointment. But of course they must have the money. Probably it was better to borrow from his mother than anyone else. Norma did not like accepting favors from the Travers family though.

All afternoon they loafed about the hotel waiting for the telegram. It did not arrive and as the hours passed Mark grew increasingly restless. By evening, when no message had come, he explained the situation by saying his mother must be out of town. Of course the message would be forwarded The servants would see to that The money would probably reach them in the morning.

It had not come by noon next day, nor by 4 p. m. It was just before the dinner hour when a bell boy approached Mark, standing in the lobby.

"Telegram for you, Mr. Travers," the boy said.

FELT SICK AFTER EATING

"None of my food agreed with me — I would frequently taste what I ate, long after my meals, and I did not see a well day for weeks," says Mr. Peter Seeger, 329 S. Elmwood St., Kansas City, Mo. "I began taking a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal, and kept this up for weeks. Gradually the pain left me and I began to feel better. I ceased to be troubled with gas, and could eat what I liked."

Thousands of people have reported that Black-Draught, taken a pinch after meals, helped to relieve a feeling of distress, upset stomach or indigestion. Try it.

New Armory Now Near Completion

Lubbock's two national guard units, Battery C and Service Battery of the 131st field artillery, have started moving into the new armory at College avenue and Tenth street, adjacent to Texas Technological college. The transfer of material from the old armory will not be completed before Wednesday or Thursday, Capt. B. F. Condray, commander of the Service battery, said.

The national guard units will hold open house sometime week after next in order that Lubbock people may inspect the new $15,000 quarters and gain an idea of the activity of the national guardsmen, according to Capt. Condray.

Regimental headquarters of the 131st field artillery have been transferred to Lubbock and established in the new building. Col. Charles A. Davis, who is professor of military science and tactics at Technological college, is in command of the regiment and headquarters. Capt. H. J. Thornton and Sergeant Walter McGinnis, regular army instructors, are attached to the headquarters group.

Stables for horses used by the two batteries have been erected by the college on the campus. At the present, 51 horses are used by the organizations.

Unusual interest is being shown in the military science and tactics department at the college, Capt. Condray said. More than 100 men have enrolled for the course and others are transferring daily, he said. Last year only about 20 students enrolled for the classes.

Telegram Cited

Bishop Cannon told newspaper men after the session that Bishop Mouzon had sent him a telegram asking him not to come to the conference or make a speech. He said his reference on the floor to a "farewell address' meant he was leaving the conference and returning to Washington tonight.

Bishop Cannon said he had been a member of the Virginia conference since 1888 and had attended from 75 to 100 sessions of annual and general conferences before without witnessing such treatment of a visiting bishop.

Bishop Mouzon listened without changing expression and at the conclusion of Bishop Cannon's short speech, said: "Are there any further announcements?"

Cotton — Cotton Again Is Thrust Downward

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 3. (AP)—Cotton again moved downward today in moderately active trading, showing losses of 12 to 13 points. Prices eased off slowly but constantly under pressure of liquidation by recent buyers, some hedge selling and selling by ring traders induced by recurring weakness in stocks. The heavier movement of the crop to market and a growing belief that the next government estimate might show an increase over last month checked trade buying.

Weekly statistics, particularly mill takings, were regarded as bullish but exerted no apparent influence in checking the decline to new low levels for the season.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. (AP)—Cotton declined further today. December contracts broke to 5.71 or 13 points net lower, and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 10 to 14 points.

October declined to 5.87 and March to 6.01 and closing prices were at approximately the lowest of the day.

The trade was credited with buying in considerable volume here but the demand was mostly in scale down orders. Buying of this character increased around the 5.70 cent level for May, but was gradually supplied by the persistent southern selling, and the price later broke to 5.71.

Artillerymen

Walter McGinnis, of the regular army, who is also stationed at Tech this year, will likewise be on hand.

The column which leaves the city this morning will be composed of six gun carriage drivers; two escort wagon drivers; two gun crews of six men each and approximately 15 enlisted men of the two batteries located in Lubbock. No caissons will be taken on the trip but two 75-millimeter field pieces will be taken into position.

Firing will consist of approximately 350 rounds or reduced calibre 37-millimeter tubes, officers announced last night.

A supper of army rations will be proffered the officers and men and the wives of officers at 6 o'clock this evening while a similar dinner will be served to guests of the batteries at noon on Sunday. The guests will consist of persons interested in and friendly to the guard.

The camp and firing practice inaugurates the new era of guard and Tech military work to be carried on here this year under the direction of Colonel Davis, whose army career dates back almost forty years. Enlisted men, officers and Tech R. O. T. C. students are looking forward to a year marked by intensive military study and drill.

Stocks Close Higher On Friday For First Time In Week; Tone Is Better

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP) — For the first time in a week stocks closed higher today. The tone was strengthened by a much better bond market where United States governments rallied well, seconded by a firming of rises throughout the list.

Volume fell to 2,827,340 shares against 3,890,640 yesterday.

The average rise was 1.3 points, notwithstanding a new bear market low for the carrier group.

United States Steel refused to break 70, although it was off more than a point at the bottom, and closed 1-4 higher. The preferred was heavy. American Telephone up a point net, sold as much as 2 1-3 low and came within a fraction of yesterday's minimum. American Can, General Motors, Chrysler, Case and National Biscuit advanced 1 to 1 1-2 on the day, while Consolidated Gas rallied 2. New York Central, ex-dividend, was off 2 3-4, Norfolk and Western 3, Atlantic Coast line 2 3-4, Union Pacific 1 and Atchison and Baltimore and Ohio small fractions. Most rails firmed in the late upturn, reducing extreme losses.

were defeated simultaneously 79 to 28. The session would end Wednesday under constitutional limitation.

Hope Is Fading

Even should the house suspend the rule and permit further consideration of the bill, almost all hope that the gesture would be successful had faded owing to the wide variances between the positions of the two houses.

Shortly after noon and while a motion to postpone consideration of the redistricting bill indefinitely was pending in the house, Governor Sterling intimated he might convene another special session to act on the problem.

"Don't you think the people want the state rearranged into 31 congressional districts to make room for the three additional representatives the last census gave us?" He asked when reporters inquired if he would permit the legislature to go home tomorrow night.

Committee Trying For Adjustments

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—A conference committee comprising senate and house members tonight was endeavoring to adjust differences between the two branches in the bill propoeing development of state-owned river beds for oil.

At the initial meeting of the committeemen the amendments placed on the senate draft were read but action was deferred. It was likely that a sub-committee would be appointed to draft a substitute bill.

Senator George C. Purl of Dallas, chairman of the conference committee, who introduced the original bill in the senate, said he believed a satisfactory bill would be accepted by the two houses before sine die adjournment, set for tomorrow at 6 p. m.

World Series

a bad ball and then Connie Mack sent Jim Moore up to hit for Earnshaw.

Races To First

There was a wild yell as Moore also swung and missed the third strike. The Cardinals and the crowd thought the game was over. Catcher Jimmy Wilson had picked the ball up from the dirt and thrown to third base in a spirit of triumph, but the A's were kept alert by their sideline captain, Eddie Collins, and Moore raced to first base safely, to fill the bags.

Wilson had overlooked the formality of throwing his man out at first, since he had picked the pitch up from the dirt. For the next few moments all was chaos, but Captain Collins saved the situation momentarily for the champions and the umpires sent the Cardinals back to their positions. Max Bishop came to bat with opportunity beckoning him, but on his pop foul toward the field boxes off the right field line Bottomley charged over, made a spectacular catch for the final out and half tumbled over the fence into the arms of spectators.

Scorers Groggy

Even the scorers were groggy under the effect of these lightning-like events. An error that was at first charged against Hallahan, for his low pitch, though it also was a third strike, later was recalled and the misplay charged against Wilson.

A wildly yelling home town crowd of 35,947 cash customers, nearly 4,000 shy of capacity turnout, remained to the final thrilling moment of a game that served as a pulmotor to the flagging spirits of the Cardinals and put them back in the very thick of the fight.

It was Hallahan's shutout pitching in the third game of last year that started the Red Birds on their comeback flight.

World of Stuff

Hallahan had a world of stuff today despite his wildness, striking out eight of the world champions, but he needed to be invincible in the pinches to gain the verdict over Earnshaw.

Big George, who beat the Cardinals twice last October and blanked them for 22 consecutive innings, allowed only six hits and struck out five. He had superb control, but neither he nor his teammates could control the energetic young Mr. Martin, who went on a spree on the bases with an exhibition that made the great Mickey Cochrane look a trifle foolish.

Martin scored what proved to be the decisive run in the second inning. With one out, he made a two base hit out of a drive to left field that Al Simmons juggled just long enough for the fleet youngster to slide safely into the middle bag. With Jimmy Wilson at bat, Martin made a clean steal of third, sliding into the bag face forward under Dykes, who was obliged to leap high for Cochrane's poor throw. The peppery youngster strolled home on Wilson's long fly to Mule Haas in center.

Still At Large

Earnshaw held the rest of the Cardinals in check until the seventh inning, which Martin opened with a single to left field. Still very much at large, Martin stole second easily, Cochrane's throw being so far away from the mark that Williams was unable to make a gesture at tagging the runner. Wilson's infield out put Martin on third and Pepper raced home on Gelbert's sacrifice bunt to Earnshaw. Big George was off balance when he fielded the ball, tossed too high to Cochrane and Martin slid safely under the catcher.

Martin was the only Cardinal to get so far as third base.

The Cardinals, except for Wilson's lapse in the ninth, played just as spectacularly behind Hallahan today as the A's did back of Lefty Grove the day before. The fielding feature of the game was a great catch by George Watkins on a drive by Cochrane, near the right field barrier, in the sixth inning. Haas was on base, due to a single, and Cochrane's blow looked like a certain double until Watkins got his hands on it.

Foxx Is Troublesome

One of the A's big guns, Jimmy Foxx, was the only troublesome man for Hallahan.

The A's still rule the favorites to make it three world championships in a row, but it looks like anything but a rout now. The world champions can shoot their ace southpaw, Grove, back onto the firing line Monday for the third game, with plenty of rest. The Cardinals have the choice of sending their veteran spitballer, Burleigh Grimes, out for this game, instead of giving young Paul Derringer another chance. Win or lose, they may then rely on Hallahan for the fourth battle.

The Athletics left for home immediately after today's game. The Cardinals depart tomorrow noon.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—Rumblings of a financial crisis in Russia affecting her grain export plans and domestic seeding delays in the southwest tended to lift wheat prices today. Urgent need of rain was reported over wide areas of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Liverpool advices said grain collections in Russia were much below the quantity planned, that world shipments of wheat were expected to shrink, and that British traders considered recent declines in wheat prices excessive.

Wheat closed unsettled, a shade to 1-8 to 1-4 cents higher, corn 3-8 to 5-8 down, oats 1-4 to 3-8 off, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents up.

Crowds at the livestock barns Friday were not as large as on previous days, since there was no judging contests scheduled.

The crowd of college students from Tech did not arrive at the grounds in large numbers until late in the afternoon. There were some small groups present during the afternoon.

With many wholesale merchants and salesmen already in Lubbock for the fourth semi-annual West Texas Market Week, to be held here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, indications point to another successful market.

Word has been passed around to retail clothing merchants over West Texas and Eastern New Mexico and a large number of the retailers are expected to come to the market.

Models Selected

Models for the style show Tuesday evening, October 6, which will be the main feature of the market, have been selected and rehearsed.

A program of entertainment, to be mixed in with the showing of merchandise, has been worked out.

A meeting of the wholesale merchants who will participate in the style show has been called for this afternoon at 6:00 o'clock at the ballroom of Hotel Lubbock. Merchants will select their models for the show at that time.

To Arrive Today

All the wholesale merchants and salesmen who are to participate in the market are expected today or tonight in order that exhibits may be put in place for the opening of the market Monday.

The event this year has been more highly advertised to retail merchants over West Texas and Eastern New Merico than ever before. In addition to letters sent out to merchants by the wholesaler and the Hilton and Lubbock hotels, the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the semi-annual event here, has sent out three letters of invitation to a thousand retail merchants.

In addition to the wholesale and retail merchants visitors, Lubbock will have here for this occasion E. F. Anderson, manager of the Dallas Wholesale Merchants association, J. E. Burke, trade commissioner of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, and J. Ben Critz, vice president and general manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Interesting Bits From '31 Fair

CROWDS LIGHT

"Give us one good gate Saturday and we will be able to put over the fair this year," Homer D. Grant, president of the Panhandle-South Plains fair, said late yesterday. "We have had a good fair this year, but the crowds have been light. If the people come in Saturday, I think we can just about come out of the hole."

RADIO BROADCASTS

Baseball fans at the fair get their world's series over the radio. Every booth in the Industrial building that has a radio—there are only three or four, is crowded during the progress of the game. Even the vaudeville and other contests do not draw away the "dyed-in-the-wool" fan.

OFFICERS COME OVER

The other afternoon Sheriff Wright of Floyd county and two officers of the Floydada police department, including the chief, came over to enjoy the fair. Sheriff Wright wears a big hat of the same general type as the rangers—in fact he used to be one. Bill Smith Lubbockite and formerly an officer, knew the trio and they walked down the midway to see the sights. Bill says he overheard one of the concession men remark, "that big fellow with the gray mustache is an officer, I know and he's been hanging around here all week. Now he's got three more of his rangers here."

WAS NO CONTEST

Doug Pounds is authority for the statement that the hue and cry around the hog barn Friday morning was not a hog calling contest. It was merely some of the boys getting their hogs together to have a picture of the group taken by Arthur Brown, official fair photographer. The group was snapped but the boys had hard work to get their pets to stand still long enough to be "shot."

LITTLE TROUBLE

Police officers handling the grounds have had very little trouble so far. Two of the boys found a couple of young men, nearly 21, who were trying to enter without the formality of a ticket.

ATTRACTS ATTENTION

A hybred bean and pea in the Yoakum county exhibit attracted considerable attention. According to reports the bean-pea or pea-bean, which ever it is, was developed in the county.

REST ROOM FILLED

Women have patronized the rest room in the industrial building provided by the West Texas Gas company. At all hours of the day there is always some one in the booth. Women with babies in arms are frequent patrons.

Here you see her, vibrant and gay, as she was presented with a medallion by Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams.

Grim Officer Takes Job As Chicago Chief

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP) — A grim faced man with the build of an athlete and the terse vocabulary of a soldier was installed today as commissioner of Chicago's police.

James P. Allman, a policeman since 1900, captain since 1917, was appointed by Mayor Anton Cermak, unanimously approved by the city council and sworn in quickly. He was ordered by the mayor to use a firm hand in controlling vice.

Allman acted just as he looked—like a soldier. He was busy, he was brusque. There was no backslapping and apparently no joy at the appointment.

"I'm not tickled to death with this job," said the new commissioner. "I realize what I've got to handle."

Allman was born in 1875, he was brought to the United States when he was six years old and educated in Chicago public schools, but there is still a touch of brogue in his speech.

Large Banks Are Planning Merger

NEW YORK, Oct. 2. (AP)—The National City bank, second largest in the United States, and the Bank of America, national association, awaited today only the fulfilment of certain conditions to become a merged institution—the second largest bank in the country.

Directors of both banks approved the merger plans yesterday. The actual consolidation was made conditional on the deposit of 85 per cent of the shares of the Bank of America stock with a special committee before October 17. As 63 per cent of the stock is controlled by the Trans-America corporation directors of which approved the plan yesterday, the deal is regarded as assured of consummation.

Advance reports of the contemplated consolidation sent bank stock quotations upward in the closing hours of yesterday's stock market.

Demand On Court In Cases Falling

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Prohibition may be engrossing or vexing the public and politicians but the demands it makes on the supreme court are dwindling.

Almost every phase of it has been before the court in one form or another since 1919 and last term there came a brief but spectacular flare-up after Judge Clark of New Jersey held the eighteenth amendment invalid.

The court once before held the base on which the Volstead act rests valid but it went over the ground again. Its decision that the amendment was sound and whole legally left no room for argument.

As is customary, however, the court when it convenes Monday will find a number of cases originating with intoxicating drinks.

Most of the petitioners want sentences set aside on various grounds. By the law of averages, their chances are slim.

Most prohibition cases get only as far, figuratively speaking, as the clerk's office. The court declines to review them, letting the decision of the lower courts stand.

Former Fort Bend Sheriff Is Declared To Be Suicide

HOUSTON, Oct. 2. (AP)—Former Sheriff H. Wyatt Collins of Fort Bend county, who died at his ranch home near Richmond last Saturday, committed suicide, according to a verdict returned by Justice C. D. Myers.

Myers refused to divulge information pertaining to the inquest or the verdict. The county clerk, Mrs. Nannie Lehman, likewise refused to give information over the phone.

It was learned from other sources that the verdict of Justice Meyers read: "Death due to acid, self administered." At the time of death, it was said that Collins died from natural causes.

Illinois Society Woman Will Wear A Star But She Has To Furnish Own Gun As A Deputy

WAUKEGAN, Ill., Oct. 2. (AP) A society woman has turned deputy sheriff.

She is Mrs. Scott Durand, social leader of Lake Bluff. She was deputized by Sheriff Lester Tiffany yesterday when she took the official oath to uphold and enforce the laws of the state of Illinois.

She was given a star, but will have to furnish her own gun, in case she wants to resort to firearms.

Mrs. Durand became an officer of the law for the purpose of arresting anyone who attempts to hunt hen pheasants on her property. Shooting of female pheasants became legal this year through an oversight of the legislature, but Mrs. Durand still has the right to make arrests for trespassing.
