Thousands Fleeing Desolation

Epidemic of Typhus Now Threatening

SKOPJE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Survivors by the thousands fled quake-shattered Skopje and the threat of a typhus epidemic today.

As authorities announced the search for more survivors would end after today, the government reported a Yugoslav girl was pulled out of the rubble, still alive 80 hours after she was entombed in Friday's killer earthquake.

Premier Alexander Grlickov of the Macedonian Republic said the number of bodies recovered headed toward the 900 mark and an estimated 700 dead were still buried under rubble.

NO MORE ALIVE

But Grlickov said it would be assumed that no one else now could be found alive and the government would go ahead on that conviction to raze all the buildings in this ancient Macedonian capital.

Possible epidemics and renewed earthquakes posed a constant problem, he said. There were a few new tremors Sunday but they were slight.

On the fourth day after the cataclysmic quake demolished the city, the stench of cracked sewers, human waste and refuse mingling with the smell of decomposing bodies lay like a stifling blanket over the sun-scorched area. Temperatures were in the 90s.

DANGER CLOSER

Each passing hour brought the danger of possible typhus outbreak even closer.

Now, Grlickov said, the main concern was finishing the evacuation of all people not engaged in clearing work or other essential jobs and putting heavy demolition crews to work razing the city.

A new city for the 270,000 population will be built from the ground up on a safer site to be determined after seismological studies are completed, Grlickov said.

More than 70,000 women, children and old people had cleared out of the city by early morning and still they poured out, on foot and in cars, trains and planes.

Some pushed carts filled with a few salvaged belongings. Others pedalled bicycles slowly through the debris.

EVACUATION

At government order, evacuation of everyone but men able to help in heavy work was being carried out.

The recovery of a Belgian couple from the rubble Sunday after 55 hours of being buried alive raised some hopes that more living might still be found.

Then rescue of the Yugoslav girl stirred another faint spark of hope.

Premier Grlickov said the work of completely razing the city would take only a few days, starting Tuesday.

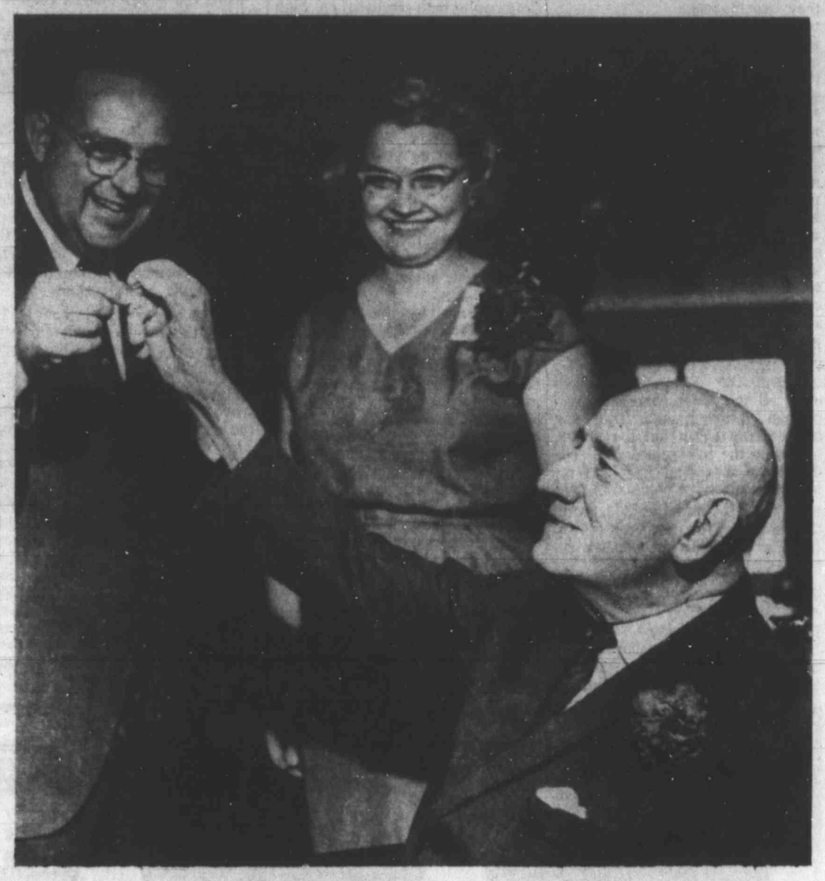

From the ruins of the Hotel Macedonia, where the Belgian couple was found, workmen dug out the bodies of a man and woman presumed to be the first American dead in the disaster.

Officials said they concluded that the bodies were those of an American Air Force sergeant stationed in Europe and his German wife.

AMERICANS

An automobile, with identification papers of Staff Sgt. Harold Stacy of Gouverneur, N.Y., in the glove compartment, has been standing near the hotel since the quake struck the city Friday. The couple were on their way to Greece from Germany on a vacation.

In Belgrade an American Embassy spokesman said it was the first word they knew of concerning any American dead. Twelve other Americans who had been in the Skopje area were all safe.

Keys To The Bennett House

Bruce Frazier, head of the B Corporation which built and will operate the Bennett House nursing home, hands Shine Philips, who inspired it, the key to the new nursing home. Dr. Louise Worthy, daughter of the late Dr. M. H. Bennett for whom it is named, smiles approvingly. When Philips was disabled by a massive stroke several years ago, Frazier became concerned about some facility which would make it possible for him and others like him to have nursing care at home.

Large Crowds Turn Out For Opening Of Bennett House

Several thousand people turned out Sunday for the opening of the city's newest institution—the Bennett House nursing home.

Scores of people came from church to the home for simple ceremonies formalizing the beginning of operations for this 200-bed venture for convalescents and elderly residents.

Bruce Frazier, head of the B Corporation which has made this dream come true, worded a brief prayer that the home would always be operated in a Christian atmosphere. Dr. Louise Worthy, daughter of the late Dr. M. H. Bennett, for whom the facility is named, cut the ribbon, and then as the door was opened, Frazier handed the key to Shine Philips, its first resident and who inspired its creation.

"You don't know how wonderful it is to be home," said Philips. "I don't ever want to move again. To be back where you can look out over the hills and see your friends—well that's all that really matters."

Needless to say, he had a tremendous day as friends called by his room which he had occupied Saturday evening. But he withstood it well and Monday was beaming and rested.

Meanwhile, other residents were registering and taking their rooms Monday morning.

From the moment doors opened Sunday until they were closed late in the evening, there was no time when there wasn't a large crowd on hand. Frazier, overjoyed and surprised at the response and reaction, said there was no way to estimate the turnout except by issuance of pamphlets. On this basis, he figured between 4,000 and 5,000 saw the home.

At any rate, few of the many who came realized what a down-to-the-wire effort it had been. The beds, due a week or more ago, had been lost in transit. Finally they were located in Chicago and shunted here on a hot-shot basis. The Texas & Pacific Railway Co. spotted the car on the rear of a freight arriving at 3 a.m. Sunday and immediately switched it to a siding where it had set up floodlights.

When the Neal Transfer van rolled up, numerous teen-agers came from nowhere. Young boys and girls alike jumped in with adults to load, unload, unpack and assemble the beds. Just as the last bedspread was being applied, the doors were opened to visitors. Outside of an exhaust fan going out at a crucial moment, hot water showing up for the lawn, things were ticking normally Monday.

Drive Begins For Approval Of Test Ban

'NEEDLESS'

France Will Not Sign Test Pact

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said today France will not sign the Moscow agreement to halt nuclear testing above ground, in space or under water.

De Gaulle said that since France would never strike the first blow, such a nonaggression pact would be needless.

The president was referring to proposals advanced by the Russians in their recent talks with the United States and Britain that the limited nuclear test ban treaty by the three powers be tied into a European nonaggression pact. Premier Khrushchev has publicly asked for it, and the United States and Britain agreed to take up this subject with their allies.

NO AGGRESSION

De Gaulle commented: 'Today, France solemnly declared through the voice of the president of the Republic that there will never be any aggression by France. Our participation in a pact of nonaggression is hence without purpose."

He also rejected any European nonaggression pact as proposed by the Soviet Union at the test ban talks with the United States and Britain. The test ban pact was initialed last week.

Addressing a crowded news conference, De Gaulle said France will call for a general conference on disarmament before the end of this year.

He declared that France will halt its own nuclear program only if the United States and the Soviet Union agree to destroy their nuclear stockpiles.

STOCKPILES

He said the disarmament conference should consider the destruction of stockpiles and the destruction of vehicles — such as missiles and rockets—for delivering nuclear bombs.

This is in line with long-established French policy—that France would resign from the nuclear club only if the club itself is disbanded.

De Gaulle said that while the Moscow agreement might be considered a good thing as a starting point, it still left the world in danger.

"It has not lifted the atomic menace which weights on the world," he said. "None of the signers has renounced the use of atomic weapons and hence the position of the world has not been changed in any way."

De Gaulle said France, which is just on the verge of having its own complete nuclear arsenal, cannot halt its efforts now.

MANUFACTURE

De Gaulle noted that the Moscow agreement does not prevent the three major nuclear powers from continuing the manufacture of these weapons.

He said: "The agreement can be denounced in three months. It changes nothing in the terrible menace which the nuclear weapons of the two great powers hold over the world."

De Gaulle acknowledged that differences exist between Paris and Washington.

But he told a news conference: "Despite the differences which exist, to think that the United States wishes to do wrong to France, or that France wishes harm to the United States, would be a ridiculous absurdity."

That was his reply to a question on the state of French-U.S. relations.

De Gaulle declared that "there's no use talking about scratches as incurable wounds" in appraising the state of French-American relations.

Both France and the United States, he said, have every reason to maintain the Atlantic alliance (NATO) as long as the free world is faced by the Soviet bloc which "is animated by a dominating and detestable ideology."

CRITICAL

The president, who in the past has been critical of many aspects of NATO, described the alliance as an "elemental necessity" for both the United States and France.

He added that both countries have assumed "capital responsibilities" in the pact, with Washington furnishing nuclear armament and Paris furnishing its geographical situation.

This was an indirect reminder that France does, after all, possess strategically placed real estate.

De Gaulle blamed what he called journalistic bad will for exaggerating the differences between the two countries.

He also said internal tension and internal political needs within the United States might have contributed a rift.

DIFFERENT NOW

De Gaulle conceded that France, in the aftermath of Nazi occupation, Vichy collaboration and the ravages of war, was dependent on the United States to avoid complete collapse.

But things have materially changed in the past 15 years, and now France, at peace for the first time in 25 years, is even in a position to lend financial help to the United States if needed, he said.

Hearings Are Held Behind Closed Doors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman led off the drive for ratification of the nuclear test ban treaty today as a witness before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees and the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

The chairman of all three groups were on hand along with most of the members as they went into closed session to hear from the chief U.S. negotiator of the Moscow agreement with Britain and the Soviet Union to ban all but underground tests.

JOINT CHIEFS

While Harriman and State Department associates carried the burden of policy arguments in the historic study of the pros and cons of the pact, the views of the Joint Chiefs of Staff were expected to bear heavily on the outcome.

Harriman and Secretary of State Dean Rusk face intensive questioning on the agreement and whether there may be in the offing any collateral pacts with the Soviet Union, such as a nonaggression declaration proposed by Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

However, the administration's strong support for the treaty—led by President Kennedy's declaration that it is "an important first step" toward peace—seemed likely to need a bolstering endorsement from the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

CONCERNED

Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., an administration supporter, brought up the issue in a weekend statement. He said he was concerned over "the apparent single-mindedness of the military mind for assuming that the nation's security can only be protected through a continuation of nuclear testing and the arms race in general."

Williams said "much may depend on the attitude of the military and the Joint Chiefs of Staff" so far as Senate action is concerned.

To become effective, the treaty must be ratified by a two-thirds vote in the Senate.

A year ago, a majority of the joint chiefs was reported opposed to the proposal then for a ban on all tests, including those under ground.

But reports from the Pentagon indicate that the chiefs might withhold objections to the agreement even if they lack enthusiasm for it.

Sunday, however, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, Army chief of staff, indicated he may have reservations.

HONEST

Interviewed on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers", Wheeler said the treaty presents "an area of very difficult decision" and that he will have to give honest answers when he testifies about the agreement's military implications.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said if there is military opposition to the treaty the Defense Department will have to be reminded that foreign policy is determined by the civilian branch of the government.

In a statement Sunday, the Senate Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen, urged the Armed Services the Foreign Relations and Atomic Energy Committees to give the treaty the "closest examination."

More Pickets Are Arrested

NEW YORK (AP)—Police continued to make arrests today at construction sites where pickets sought more jobs for Negroes and Puerto Ricans in the construction trades.

Two ministers were among 10 persons arrested at an apartment construction site in Queens and 29 persons were arrested at a hospital site in Brooklyn.

The 29 included one anti-Negro picket whose attempt to crash a picket line caused a brief flurry of violence.

In Criminal Court, seven ministers, a seminarian and a social worker received suspended sentences after pleading guilty to disorderly conduct charges — blocking a cement truck July 22.

The incident took place at a Rutgers housing project on Manhattan's Lower East Side.

The pickets are protesting what they term a lack of job opportunities for Negroes and Puerto Ricans in the city's building trades.

They have been picketing construction sites in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Queens, and also have set up daily vigils in the offices of Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Picketing at the Downstate Medical Center site in Brooklyn was orderly until a Brooklyn man tried to join the line with two posters demeaning the Negroes' march.

Before he could cross a police barrier, two of the Negro pickets jumped on him, and tore up his signs.

A brief scuffle ensued, but police immediately broke it up and took the man to a nearby precinct house. The man, Anthony Cucio, was charged with disorderly conduct.

Every time a cement truck tried to enter the site of the new Downstate Medical Center, across the street from the Kings County Hospital complex, two pickets sat on the ground and tried to bar the way.

They were whisked away in a police van and charged with disorderly conduct.

Koreans Kill 2 Americans

SEOUL (AP) — North Korean troops killed two American soldiers and wounded another today in a dawn ambush just south of the demilitarized zone about 20 miles from Seoul, the U.N. command announced.

Col. George Creel, U.N. command spokesman, said the Reds launched "a vicious and unprovoked attack" on three members of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Division as they rode in a jeep to a guard post near Chungyang-Dong.

Creel said the American soldiers were hit by machine-gun fire and grenades which apparently came from seven ambush positions just inside the demilitarized zone.

"We can assume there were seven North Korean soldiers in the raiding party," he said.

There was no immediate comment from the Pentagon on the incident, which occurred two months after a helicopter carrying two American captains was fired on and forced down in Red territory.

Nasser Is Ready To Sign Pact

LONDON (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser says the United Arab Republic will join in the partial nuclear test ban agreement initialed by the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union. Israel is expected to take similar action.

Nasser told a student group in Alexandria Sunday night he supported Indian Prime Minister Nehru's call for all nations to support and sign a test ban treaty.

Nasser also called for more disarmament negotiations and eventual destruction of nuclear stockpiles.

Clinic Contract Due To Be Signed

It appeared probable that arrangements for signing a contract for construction of the Malone & Hogan Clinic building in the 900 block of Main Street would be completed today.

The project was being staked out in anticipation of the clearing of all legal matters prior to the execution of a contract. Last of the barriers to launching the big project appeared to have been removed during the weekend.

M. M. Edwards Dies, Rites Set Tuesday

Marion M. Edwards, 65, member of a pioneer ranching family and a founder of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, died Sunday at 11:30 p.m. in a Lubbock hospital following a long illness.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 4 p.m. Tuesday at the First Methodist Church by his minister, Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. The body will be in state at the funeral chapel until shortly before time for services and will not thereafter be reopened. For those who wish to make memorials, the family suggested the First Presbyterian Church building fund or the American Cancer Society.

REAL RANCHER

Marion Edwards spent virtually all his life here, and he was a rancher to the core. Born in Waxahachie on June 24, 1898, he missed being a native here by a bare three months.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Edwards Sr. acquired the famed Lucian Wells ranch along the Howard-Glasscock line, and he grew up there—in the saddle.

In Big Spring High School, from which he was graduated, he was an honor student, and the yearbook saluted him for his literary talents. However, ranching was his destiny, and he assisted his father in the operation of the spread here. Later, when his father acquired the O-4 Ranch south of Odessa, Marion Edwards took a hand in the operation of this big unit.

COAHOMA RANCH

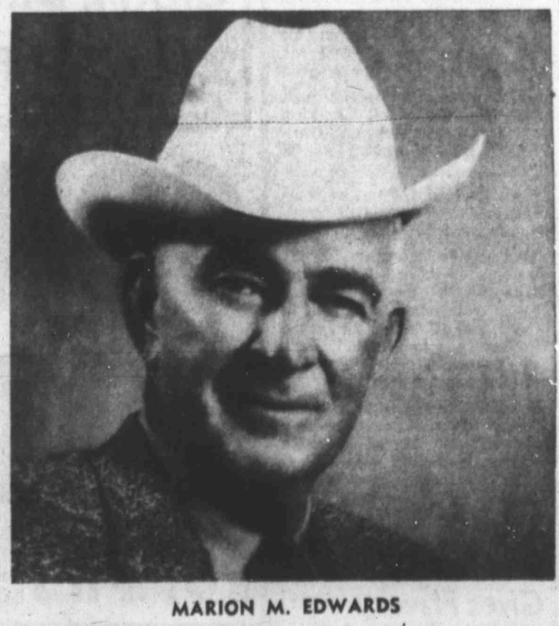

Thirty years ago he acquired a ranch south of Coahoma, and this became his base of operations, although he still looked after the Lucian Wells place and other ranching properties of the family.

He was a practical cattleman, and although he was interested in the work of such agencies as the Howard County South Plains Hereford Breeders, he stuck the business of raising cattle on the range. In this he had few peers.

In appearance and manner, he was the cowman, too. He was tall, wiry, strong, and his eyes crinkled from years of riding in West Texas weather. An out - going, friendly individual, he was active in numerous community endeavors.

One of his prime interests was the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo, which he helped form 30 years ago. He served as a vice president of this group, and for many years before the association

RAIL DISPUTE

Union Head Calls ICC Less Capable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roy E. Davidson told Congress today it would cost him his job as head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers if he endorsed President Kennedy's plan to avert a strike over manpower-reducing railroad work rules.

"Even if I had the temerity or desire to commend the proposed legislation to the members of my union," Davidson said, "I am certain that there would be enthusiastic acclamation for my removal from the union's leadership."

Davidson said the Kennedy proposal "is not only compulsory arbitration, it is compulsory arbitration with the added evil of an utterly unfair preferment for the demands of management."

Kennedy would have the Interstate Commerce Commission determine work rules, binding for two years unless unions and rail management negotiated a settlement.

Davidson, testifying before the House Commerce Committee, said the ISS is less capable of handling that assignment than any other arbitrator suggested in the four-year course of the dispute, adding "and the record of the ICC conveys no sense of reassurance whatever concerning bias and prejudgment."

Davidson's indictment of the Kennedy plan opened the committee's fourth day of hearings on the administration measure—and echoed the bitter opposition expressed by leaders of railroad unions before the Senate Commerce Committee Friday.

Early Orders For Speed Speech Course Arriving

Early purchasers of Spanish SPEED SPEECH should be receiving their shipments right away. As orders are received at The Herald, they are sent the same day to Fort Worth, where the printing plant makes shipment. It might take a few days, but you should receive your material in a reasonable time.

If you don't have a Spanish-speaking friend to assist you in pronunciation efforts, the SPEED SPEECH records are important. The two 45 rpm records are coordinated with the textbook, so that there is no chance to err in pronunciation.

It is suggested again that you make the learning of Spanish this quick, easy way a family project. Set aside a day or two a week then nothing but Spanish is spoken in the home. You'll be amazed how rapidly everyone begins to get a working knowledge of conversational Spanish.

The Herald continues its special offer of a SPEED SPEECH textbook; the two records, and a hand dictionary of working words. Each item is $2.95 plus six cents sales tax, or a total of $3.01. You may order separately, or all three. If you really master Spanish the SPEED SPEECH way, you'll want all three.

ANNE FRANCIS

No Need To Starve To Cut Down Weight

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — "I wore my old clothes immediately after the baby was born," Anne Francis said proudly, "but then I only gained eight pounds," she hastened to add. When the doctor told me it would not affect the baby if I controlled my appetite, I decided I would not get fat.

"The first three months were the hardest. I had persistent hunger, but I ate raw vegetables like mad because they are nutritional, low on calories and filling. While I was craving buttered popcorn as I watched TV, I popped apple slices into my mouth. When I yearned for buttered French toast, I ate Jack cheese (white cheddar).

"I began my career when I was a child, so I learned to be disciplined early. I am glad because there are unhappy people who never realize you can't always have what you want, or do what you wish."

A typical day for Anne was to breakfast on orange juice with two raw eggs beaten up in it, a glass of skim milk with gelatin, whole wheat toast and coffee.

"Lunch was usually cottage cheese—the low calorie kind—with all the fresh fruit I wanted," Anne continued. "In the middle of the afternoon, I had tea with honey and raw vegetable snacks. These included: carrot sticks, tomato slices, celery stalks, cauliflower and lettuce.

"Dinner consisted of roast beef (or some other type of meat) with the gravy on my baked potato, a steamed vegetable and a gelatin dessert. So you see I didn't go hungry! It's pastries, candy and too much bread that put on the pounds."

"Do you believe in exercising while you're expecting," I asked.

"Yes, if it's done in moderation," Anne replied. "Muscles respond best to dynamic tension. It is like lifting an imaginary weight. Done correctly, these exercises do wonders for you.

"For example, to lift your legs and lower them 100 times fast accomplishes no more than lifting them slowly 10 times while imagining that you have great pressure on your thighs, that you are pulling against something.

"You can use this same concentration with every exercise—like lying on the floor and trying to sit up while your knees are up. This creates a pull that strengthens your stomach muscles. It takes practice and thought, but your muscles need to be directed to respond.

"When an exercise gets easy, it's time to move on to another. With practice they all become easy, but life is like that." Anne said thoughtfully sipping her luncheon coffee.

We were in a little restaurant across from NBC where Anne was shooting a "Sam Benedict" segment. A girl came by our table with wild green eye shadow and a white lipstick on her mouth.

"The trouble most people have with make-up is not adapting it to their faces and features. You can't copy. You have to experiment. Try making up one half of your face one way and using different placement and colors on the other half. Cover one side and then the other and try to decide which is better. Maybe neither is good, but one day you'll find something you recognize instantly as being flattering."

Sexy Silhouttes To Be Fashionable For Fall

By LUCIE NOEL

PARIS (AP)—Softly silhouetted sex emerged from the fall and winter style showings of top designers this week. Most hemlines stayed pretty well put, just covering the knee, but Jacques Heim dropped them about three inches.

Dior revealed some of the most seductive bosoms ever shown in public for cocktail and evening dresses. The effect was achieved largely through uplift manipulation.

Pierre Cardin carried a deep batwing silhouette from tweed suits through the sexiest kind of boudoir and evening clothes.

Two conflicting schools treat the soft silhouette. One by Philippe Venet and Courreges, disciples of Givenchy and Balenciaga, is based on disciplined construction. But Dior, Balmain, Patou, Heim, Griffe and Ricci think more of women than of Euclid.

Three other houses jiggered the hemline in a minor way. Ricci dropped coats for young students four inches, Cardin bared the knee in his sportswear line, and Courreges put them right on the kneecap.

Necklines for daytime were generally built up. The cowl was a favorite, climbing the neckline often with a scarf wound around and bowed. Cardin tailored it in a pointed chasuble buttoned down in the center front.

Guy Laroche based his whole collection on the cowl-necked middy tunic. Griffe did an extreme cowl tailoring it for daytime and turning it into a fan for evening.

Skirts came in for special treatment. Dior pleated his suit skirts in wide box pleats. Venet experimented with a gently shirred flounce.

Bias cuffs were shown by Courreges and Esterel. Heim frequently added a frill.

Among the colors were the mustards of France—Dijon forte, Tarragon—All the dead leaf browns and russets from snuff to orange, and all the blues from the Mediterranean to the chilly English Channel. A pretty forget-me-not blue was for debutantes.

People were saying there is not a cobra left in Madagascar—they have all been bagged by haute courture, their skins used in Roger Vivier's shoes, Capucci's dickeys and hats, Courreges' boots and hats, and Lanvin's coat.

Soaked Chips Gives Flavor

To give an especially enticing smoke flavor to grilled meats use wood chips such as hickory, oak, cherry and apple.

Soak chips in water at least 1 hour before using so they will give maximum smoke and will not burn. Add a few chips at a time to the charcoal briquets while cooking.

If chips flame up, replace them with wet ones.

AT COUNTRY CLUB

Miss Grooms Is Honored At Pre-Nuptial Affair

A pre-nuptial shower was held Thursday evening at the Big Spring Country Club as a compliment to Miss Telie Grooms, bride-elect of Jerry Hewett.

With Miss Grooms in the receiving line were her mother, Mrs. Jordan Grooms, of Amarillo, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. C. V. Hewett of Lomax. The honoree, attired in a seafoam green overblouse costume, was presented a corsage of white gardenias and blue delphinium. The mothers were presented identical corsages of gardenias.

A floorlength white cloth covered the refreshment table, centered with a tiered arrangement in shades of blue and white delphiniums, white carnations and leather fern. Flanking the arrangement were five branched candelabra holding white tapers. A silver punchbowl and coffee service were placed at each end of the table where houseparty members, wearing white carnations, alternated for the serving.

Hostesses, who presented Miss Grooms with a gift of silver, were Mrs. Horace Garrett, Mrs. Doris Chalk Cole and Mrs. K. H. McGibbon.

The couple will be married Aug. 17 at the Polk St. Methodist Church in Amarillo, where the honoree's father is the pastor.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Plastic Owners:

For those of you who own plastic dishes . . . may I give you one little hint?

HELOISE

Many people are writing in that they use bleaches to remove the stains from their coffee cups. Others use scouring pads. I do not say that this will remove your finish!

However, three manufacturers of plastic dishes have written to us that household bleaches can ruin the "finish" on these plastic dishes. If you have found that after you bleach the cups they are clean, but later they stain even worse, I fear the finish on your plastic set has been damaged.

Outside of commercial products, all manufacturers have recommended using soda. They say dip a damp cloth (not a scouring pad) into the baking soda and use this as a cleansing agent to remove the stains.

A few manufacturers recommended using paste silver polish. But why waste silver polish when soda is so inexpensive?

I don't know. This is amazing isn't it? I see flammable and inflammable both—written on high powered gasoline trucks!

What can I do to restore whiteness in my piano keys? —S.T.

Dear S. T.:

I suggest that you call your piano dealer or the place where you bought your piano and ask him! Reason?

There are so many different types of ivory, plastic, and combinations which are used on piano and organ keys today that we cannot possibly tell you what method to use to wipe them. Your piano dealer will know what type of keys are on your particular piano. He has the specific answer for you.

Do brides ever wonder what they can do with those 54 x 54 inch tablecloths that they received as shower gifts?

Now that you have a family size table and the cloths are on the linen shelf, I find that they make wonderful heavy aprons. Most of the time you can get two aprons out of one tablecloth.

Dear Heloise:

When the grandchildren come to visit, I find it pays to place a sheet or quilt in the middle of the floor and give them their "rights" to cut magazines and paper dolls with a pair of blunt scissors.

Children love to cut paper dolls from catalogs and magazines.

When they are through playing, all I do is make them gather their scissors and paste and put them back in the box where they belong. Then all grandma has to do is pick up the quilt or sheet, put the cuttings in the garbage and fold the blanket again.

Do not worry about paste getting on the sheet or quilt as they can be easily washed in the washing machine.

My grandchildren just love Grandma for allowing them this freedom. I only wish I had thought about it when I raised my own.

Gift Giving Is Made Simple

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—What can you send a hospitalized friend or relative who already has so many flowers, is on a restricted diet and, doesn't care much for reading?

Torin R. Thompkin, 10, relaxes at his Long Beach, Calif., home after delivering his mother, Mrs. Betty Nicoll, of a baby boy at their home while awaiting an ambulance. Told he'd done a good job, Torin said: "Well, I tried to."

CRMWD May Reach New Monthly Output Record

Hot and dry weather seems certain to propel the Colorado River Municipal Water District to a new production record during July.

Tabulating records through Friday, Paschal Odom, engineer, said that a billion and a half gallon month seemed likely. Odessa seems certain to top the 600 million gallon mark for the first time in a single month. Big Spring may approach its previous record of 337 million for one month. Weekend showers, however, could dull Odessa's demand

All last week CRMWD produced around 52.3 million gallons per day for Odessa, Snyder, Big Spring and other customers. Odessa had a peak day of 25,967,000 gallons on Friday and averaged 21.7 million gallons per day during July. Big Spring used 10,281,000 gallons Friday (not a peak), not counting 2,000,000 gallons for Cosden and Cabot. So far 231,771,000 gallons have been metered to the Big Spring plant this month. Snyder continues to average 5,000,000 gallons per day.

Friday pumps to Moss Creek and Powell Creek were cut in order to free a slightly greater amount of Lake Thomas water to be pumped to Odessa. Using the small lakes to peak will keep the terminal storage level steady, Odom explained. Despite the unprecedented demand, the district can supply considerably more water.

Baptist Church In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Pickets appeared downtown Sunday at the First Baptist Church for the first time in a two-month Negro effort to integrate membership rolls of the church.

The pastor, Dr. K. Owen White, is president of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Seven young Negroes carrying signs, marched quietly at curbside for about 90 minutes.

An usher taunted several of the pickets, and a teen-age girl burst into tears when she saw the demonstration.

Inside the service proceeded without mention of the incident.

The pickets included three Negroes who have sought and been denied church membership.

Miller Follows Tunnell Request

HOUSTON (AP) — State Rep. W. H. Miller has acceded to the request of House Speaker Byron Tunnell that he not run for mayor of Houston.

Miller had announced his candidacy 11 days ago. He withdrew it Sunday, but vowed a continuing interest in city problems.

Tunnell publicly asked Miller Saturday to reconsider his candidacy, saying he had relied heavily on Miller during the last session of the legislature.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

RACIAL SHADOW DARKENS SCENE

Time For Decision Now

EDITOR'S NOTE — Is America in this turbulent summer, plummeting toward permanent racial discord? What are the true dimensions of the integration struggle? Here, in the first of a series of Associated Press reports on the deepening crisis, is a close look at what Secretary of State Rusk calls "the worst domestic crisis since 1865."

By SID MOODY
Associated Press Writer

When, how, where did it happen?

Perhaps on the day in Birmingham when a hand reached for the hose nozzle. Maybe somewhere else, on a different day. But now, suddenly, racial crisis is here, a giant shadow darkening the national scene.

For years the nation has said racial solution would take time, lots of it. But somehow, swiftly, the sands ran out. The time is now.

TIME

Time for decision in the corridors of Congress and the town council of Cambridge, Md. In the school yard and the factory. In Harlem and Chicago and Danville, Va.; and Greenwood, Miss.; at the hamburger stand where the Negroes are kneeling; in the suburban development where the colored family moved in up the street. In the policy meetings of the great political parties and in the minds of all Americans face to face, finally, with their own personal decision: Where do I stand on the racial question?

The Southerner—any white man anywhere—holding to the status quo shakes his head over the Negro crime rate, over his school record, over what might happen should the Negro majorities of the South get the vote. But these questions raise another: How determined must the stand-patter be in the face of a now grimly determined Negro?

FIRES BURNING

"Fires of frustration and discord are burning in every city," said President Kennedy. Secretary of State Rusk calls it the worst domestic crisis since 1865. As the world watches, America writhes.

The crisis has left blood in the streets. But that is not new. What is new is its gathering speed and spread.

A cross burns on the lawn at the home of a Montclair, N.J., school girl who has included some Negroes in a party for her classmates. A leading white clergyman is arrested in Baltimore. A Black Muslim is shot in Los Angeles and Negroes demonstrate in Boston, Birmingham, the Bronx and too many other places to count. Violence swept Oxford, Miss., last September.

"But," said Whitney Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, "who a year ago had heard of Lexington, N.C., or Danville, Va.?"

"Things can happen so rapidly —they may be doing it now—that no one can keep a perspective on it," said Dr. John Morsell, assistant to Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

CAREENING DOWNHILL

Are we in truth careening downhill with no one at the wheel? Could an accumulation of such sparking fuses as Jackson, Miss., lead to a national explosion?

"I would hope in the last 20 years we have developed mechanisms that would mediate or modify," Morsell said. "No one thinks we'll have another depression like the '30s because of modifiers built into the economy. I think the same may be true of civil rights."

As an example the Urban League points out that there has been no violence in the Southern cities where it has organized biracial committees. The attorney general's office points out that since government officials began rounds of talks with business leaders in May there has been some desegregation in 146 cities of more than 10,000 population in 14 Southern and border states. It hopes passage of Kennedy's civil rights bill will ease pressure.

Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett, on the other hand, feels the bill would violate the "rights of man" and would "reap a bloody harvest" from aroused whites fighting blacks.

VIOLENCE

Violence if it passes, violence if it doesn't. That's the point the crisis may have reached.

"No one pretends this bill is going to deal with every valid grievance," said one of the young men in the attorney general's office. "But at the moment the Negro has no way to protest but to go into the streets. One of the major purposes of the bill is to give him an avenue into the courts."

And if the bill is defeated and the avenue becomes a dead end leaving the Negro once again parading outside the lunch counter, what then?

"Then, in effect, Congress will have said we'd rather offer the Negro dogs, hoses and nightsticks rather than his inherent rights," said. Dr. Kenneth Clark, Negro psychologist and professor at the City College of New York. "To this the Negro has to say no. If he said yes, he'd be confirming the myth of his own inferiority.

TO BE INCLUDED

"The Negro is asking not to change society but to be included in it—to have the franchise, equal education, removal of arbitrary barriers in the purchase of homes, in public accommodations. He's really asking America to stop being hypocritical, to fulfill the promise of the Constitution. From where I sit those are pretty modest goals. No one should have to die for these things. The Negro can't be intimidated out of demanding them."

This determination, too, is new. It has been growing since World War II when the Negro saw the world and fought for freedom he felt was denied him at home. It was spurred by the postwar emergence of the black and yellow nations, the 1954 Supreme Court school decision.

Yet for all his new militancy the Negro in many instances has shown disciplined restraint. Splashed with ketchup or kicked in the shins, he has as often as not turned the other cheek.

ACCUSTOMED

"For 300 years the Negro has been accustomed to injustice," said Clark. "What you're seeing now is the result. Never in his past could the American Negro improve his situation by mob action because he would have been annihilated. The Indians fought back and look what happened to him."

But "Uncle Tom" has become a nasty epithet now to many Negroes and, a century after the Emancipation Proclamation. the Negro is impatient.

This bewilders, angers, the South.

"Why," said a surprised white man in Cambridge when he saw an old Negro acquaintance of his marching with young demonstrators outside a restaurant, "just last week I gave him a cord of wood."

The Negro in the South today wants not wood but the vote, to eat in the same restaurant as the white, sleep in the same hostelry. The white Southerner, who claims to know the Negro best, blames the unrest on outside agitation and certainly there is much of this.

WANTS JOBS

The Negro wants jobs: In Detroit where he is 20 per cent of the population but 60 per cent of the unemployed; for his young, almost half of whom in the 16-21 age group are jobless; across the nation where his unemployment rate has been triple that of the whites.

Yet the Negro is faced with a growing automation that requires greater schooling and training than he has had.

"It would be different if he had this," said a veteran craft union official in Washington. "There's no prejudice in skill. But you can't put an unqualified man in a skilled job. The unions would be cutting their throats if they lowered job standards. Why some of our pipefitters are installing valves on atomic reactors no bigger than your fists that cost $35,000."

Then give us the skills, say the Negroes, and they demonstrate against the traditional neighborhood school pattern by which you go to the school nearest your home. This has meant an almost de facto segregation in some Northern towns with their de facto Negro ghettos. Whether true or not the Negroes claim the schools in the white areas are better and demand to be allowed to go to them. In Englewood, Montclair, Morristown and Plainfield in New Jersey and in New York, they've made their point. But the Plainfield couple who are moving away rather than have their children "go to school with a lot of Negroes" may not be alone.

BLOCKBUSTING

When the whites move out, sometime the Negro moves in. Blockbusting begins. Other white neighborhoods remain so. But what pressures build up in the Negro who gets his education, who can afford the white homes but can't cross the unwritten color lines around the Harlems of the North?

"The Negro from the South comes north and he finds the signs are down and no one is going to say 'nigger' but then he finds things are really the same," said Young. "He's hurt. He's at the gangplank. Where's he going to go now?"

That's the dilemma for the North, white and black. What's going to happen now?

"If you look at Kennedy's bill," said Young, "none of it affects the North. It talks about voting and public accommodations but you still have all those Negroes out on the street because of automation, in the ghettos because they can't buy houses.

WANTS CHANGE

"The Negro of the Harlems of this country, he knows you're not going to transform a functional illiterate into a skilled workman overnight. But he wants some tangible evidence of change."

There are people on both sides trying to see that he gets it. Governors, union leaders, civic groups, educators, congressmen, and many others.

STAMP NEWS

Fancy Albums Are Not A Requirement

By HAROLD C. PERDUE

Last week we gave a brief introduction to stamp collecting. After the tongs and hinges, and locating a few stamps, you are ready. Where will you put them? In an album, of course.

There are a lot of albums on the market. The three big trade names are Scott, Minkus and Grossman. All three companies publish stamp albums of all kinds and for all collectors. Of course, there are other albums to choose from also. There are world wide albums, U.S.A. albums, albums for one country or group of countries, and even blank albums for you to use as you want. These albums are often available at a local store or through your mail order dealer. They range in price from a little over $1 to $25 or even more.

Of course, no one says that you have to have a professional album. Try your hand at making your own. Lots of young collectors use plain spiral notebooks that you can buy almost anywhere. Some more advanced collectors use three ring notebooks (like for school) and "botany" paper available at office supply houses and bookstores.

One of the largest world wide collections that I personally know of is done by a friend on simple spiral notebooks. It isn't fancy, but it is thorough. Anyone can do a good job just as he has done.

What will you collect to put in these albums? There are literally thousands of new stamps issued every year and since stamps have been printed for over 100 years, there are lots to select from. My personal advice is to "collect everything." Start with a world - wide collection. You will learn more about stamps, you will be better informed when you do specialize. A good way to start would be just to see how many different kinds of stamps you can find and then mount them up.

You can expect to get more U.S. stamps if you start by clipping letters. But you will get a good many foreigns also. You will start with used stamps because they are less expensive, easier to find, and easier to work with. Soon you will be ready for mint stamps. Here is a good place to begin to specialize, using only U. S. ones. Collect U.S. because every town has a good supplier, the post office. Most postmasters and employes are willing to help collectors because many are collectors themselves.

The world wide collection and the U.S. mint stamps have helped you get started. There is no need to desert them, but since you have learned something about stamps, you will probably want to specialize more and more. There are lots of specialties to choose from. Maybe you would like to collect U.S. plate blocks. These are the four stamps at the corner of a sheet with the number printed on the edge. Maybe you want to get started with First Day Covers, one of the fastest growing specialties. Or you might be most interested in topical collecting — collecting stamps that center about a subject matter. Whether it is flowers, birds, famous men, religion, Boy Scouts, sports or art on stamps, there is probably a specialty which will interest you.

No matter how long you collect, or how many stamps you may have, there is still more to discover. No matter how many books or albums you fill, you can still fill another one.

Stamp collecting is the king of hobbies and the hobby of kings. It is never too hot or too cold; it is never too wet or too dry; there are never too many other people or too few; any time and any place, there is fun in collecting. Why don't you start too?

Rusk County Bank Robbed

MOUNT ENTERPRISE, Tex. (AP)—Burglars broke into the bank in this Rusk County town Sunday, taking $3,260 in cash.

The president of the Merchants and Planters State Bank, Norris Langford, said collectors' coins and other items also were taken.

The burglary was discovered by Langford who found the knob knocked off the vault. However, the hoodlums were unable to get to the bank's paper money.

Hungarian Dashes To Freedom

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Using a slow moving Austrian tourist bus as cover, a 33-year-old Hungarian dashed to the West across 160 yards of no man's land Sunday.

Communist border guards were unable to fire at him for fear of hitting the bus.

The name of the refugee, who asked for asylum, was not disclosed.

Cotton Adapted To Machine Picking

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seed of a new cotton variety with improved adaptability to machine harvesting is being increased by the Agriculture Department's cotton substation at Marianna, Ark.

The department said that seed of this new Rex Smooth Leaf strain should be generally available from commercial seedsmen for the 1965 growing season.

The department will have no seed for distribution except to seedsmen for their use in expanding production for commercial sale later to farmers.

The smooth leaves and plant parts of this new variety are said to give it two advantages over the usual hairy varieties: Mechanical harvesters pick up less trash and the trash that is picked up can be easily separated from seed cotton and lint during ginning and milling.

Sand bug.

The Volkswagen is as at home in desert country as cactus.

It never needs water. (The engine is cooled by air.)

It can't boil over. (No radiator.)

It goes on sandy roads. (The engine in the rear gives it extra traction.)

But the desert isn't the VW's only habitat. Put it on a mountain road and it acts like a mountain goat. Climbs up the steep places. Through snow and ice.

Wherever it goes, the VW brings with it refreshing ideas about economy.

It averages about 32 miles to the gallon. Sometimes more, sometimes less, depending on how you drive.

It rarely needs a major overhaul. Many VWs have gone over 60,000 miles with the original cylinders and pistons.

It lasts almost indefinitely. Most of the earliest Volkswagens are still around, digging themselves out of the sand and climbing mountains.

In fact, you might call the VW a chameleon. It adapts so well to its surroundings.

REPENT!

Without repentance there is no forgiveness. Without forgiveness there is no hope of heaven. "Or despiseth thou the riches of his goods and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth three to repentance? But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasureth up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God" (Rom. 2:4, 5).

"Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out . . ." (Acts 3:19).

". . . Except ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish" (Luke 13:3).

The Lord is "not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance" (II Pet. 3:9).

Regardless of how much the Lord loves you, and how much we love you, no compromise can be made here. You must repent or perish.

Don't perish! Repent!

Says County Governments Are Obsolete

DENVER (AP) — Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia said today the problem of county government is among the most pressing of any internal difficulties facing the nation.

He said most county governments are obsolete and must be modernized if they survive.

The governor told the County Planning Congress of the National Association of Counties that "One of the vital elements of this restructuring is the establishment of services on a multicounty basis."

"I say to you that in most states we must structure a new level of government—a level between our state governments and our present county governments," the governor said. "I would urge that this is a means of avoiding further needless centralization at the state level. It offers a means of preserving local control and local decision making."

Sanders said there is a question of how and to what degree state funds should be employed in support of county services.

"I have taken the position in Georgia that state funds should be used to promote multicounty cooperation in providing services," he said. "But the use of state funds must not be designed to increase state control."

The governor said state funds should be provided to counties on a "no strings" basis whenever feasible.

"The question which confronts you as county officials today," Sanders said, "and which confronts me as the governor of a state, and indeed confronts all of our people, is, how are we going about seeking these changes which we know are desirable—changes that we know are essential to our future growth and survival."

He said there has been a failure to keep government units representative of the people they serve, and that this condition must be corrected.

Reds Planning Bank System

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet bloc will set up its own international bank to facilitate trade payments within the group. But Premier Khrushchev's East European allies and Mongolia have rejected his bid to control their economic planning from Moscow.

Communist party and government officials here for last week's meeting of the Council for Mutual Assistance apparently shelved Khrushchev's proposal for a Kremlin-based central planning organ.

A Comecon communique issued Sunday said the old method of bilateral talks on national programs would lead to improved bloc-wide coordination of economic planning.

Two obstacles appeared to be behind the rejection of a central planning agency.

Communist Romania reportedly opposes Soviet experts who want to curtail Romania's heavy industry development in favor of light industrial and agricultural production.

Other East European governments were believed reluctant to sacrifice the limited economic independence from Moscow they now enjoy.

The Comecon conference agreed to set up a Soviet bloc international bank on Jan. 1. The bank will streamline payment for foreign trade transactions within the bloc.

High Readings Coming Back

By The Associated Press

Skies cleared and temperatures headed upward across Texas again Monday after a weekend lull in the state's hot weather siege.

A few thundershowers fell around Childress in the northwest part of the state in early morning, and isolated showers were in prospect for all parts of the state through Tuesday.

There was no hint, however, of moisture to match the drought-denting downpours which soaked parts of the Panhandle-Plains sector Sunday.

Muleshoe, which caught its last good rain June 14, measured 2.80 inches and 3.25 inches drenched the area to the west near the New Mexico line. Water covered U.S. 70 east of Muleshoe but wasn't deep enough to halt travelers.

Littlefield in the same general area gauged 2.50 inches of rain.

Moisture measurements at other points Sunday included Midland .96 inch, Amarillo .74, Alpine .47, College Station .26, Childress .20, Lubbock .14, Lufkin .06, Dalhart .05, Wichita Falls .02 and Beaumont .01.

The mercury hit Sunday afternoon highs of only 82 degrees at Lubbock and 83 at Amarillo, and it exceeded the 90s at just three points—Presidio 105, Laredo 103 and College Station 100.

Armored Division Begins Maneuvers

NORTH FT. HOOD (AP)—Maneuvers begin tonight for half of the 49th Armored Division.

More than 7,000 troops arrived on convoys Sunday to begin its two-week summer training.

Half of the division will move out tonight. Others will have field training next week.

This year's summer encampment is the division's first since its tour of active duty at Ft. Polk, in 1961-62 during the Berlin crisis.

Mysterious Rainmaker Has Decided To Turn Pro

TULSA (AP) — A mysterious rainmaker is going to turn pro. He says the almost nine inches of rain which flooded parts of Tulsa Saturday convinced him he can make it rain anywhere.

He said he'll produce rain anywhere on a "no rain, no money" basis, meaning he won't take pay unless his efforts are fruitful.

"I feel reasonably sure I have it down pat," he said. But he still prefers to remain anonymous.

He is batting four-for-four in his rain predictions and even claims credit for stopping the deluge Saturday. He called a Tulsa newspaper and said he'd make the downpour stop. Within the hour it slacked off to a mere drizzle.

Twelve Die When Tenements Cave In

By The Associated Press

CAIRO (AP)—Rescue workers, tired by a night-long search, said today they had pulled out all the bodies from three crowded tenement buildings which collapsed. They set the toll at 12 dead.

Nineteen poeple were found alive in the wreckage. Eight were hospitalized from near suffocation.

Officials said more than 100 persons lived in the three buildings in a old section of Cairo but only 31 were inside when the collapse occurred Sunday afternoon.

MILAN, Italy (AP)—Saboteurs knocked out service on two main lines between Italy and Switzerland for several hours Sunday by dynamiting the circuits on Italy's electrified railway system.

Police declined to speculate on who touched off the blasts. But it was generally assumed they were the work of pro-Austrian terrorists in the Tyrol region taken from Austria after World War I.

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP—A bomb exploded prematurely at an American-owned oil pipeline Sunday night, killing two saboteurs who were planting it.

It was the fourth bombing at the Creole Petroleum Co. pipeline here. The company is a subsidiary of Standard Oil of New Jersey.

TOKYO (AP) — Peking Radio says an Indian report that Red China is again massing troops on India's borders is an "out-and-out lie."

The Peking broadcast Sunday accused Prime Minister Nehru of keeping tension high for political reasons. Nehru warned Saturday that the border situation is "full of menace."

Lightning Kills 2 Persons Sunday

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Lightning killed a teen-age girl and a golfer in Pennsylvania Sunday.

Rita Weirs, 15, of Jeannette, Pa., was struck while walking across a field at Shawnee State Park Near Bedford.

Oliver Decker, 38, of Macungie, Pa., was struck at the Lebanon Valley course near Myerstown. Another golfer in a cart with Decker was only stunned.

Dope Is Seized

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Federal agents found marijuana and heroin worth $2,300 in the trunk of a car trying to cross from Tijuana into the United States, they reported Sunday. The driver, a Mexican, was arrested.

Negro Stabbed In Prison Unit

HUNTSVILLE (AP)—A Negro convict serving 30 years for burglary from Harris County, was stabbed fatally Sunday in the chapel of the Wynne unit of the Texas prison system.

Freddie Morris, 39, died within 20 minutes in the emergency operating room of the prison hospital at Huntsville.

The Rev. C. B. Cloyd, retired minister from San Marcos, finished his sermon and 130 inmates sang the last stanza of "I'm Coming to the Cross" just before the fight in the chapel started.

Jack Heard, assistant director of the prison system, said Morris was stabbed by Willie Howard, 53, a Negro serving a life term for murder from Brazoria County.

Heard said Morris was stabbed in the chest, side and back with a 10-inch knife, fashioned of strap metal removed from a window.

Officials believed the stabbing stemmed from an old feud.

Howard's last sentence, in 1952, stemmed from the stabbing of another inmate at the retrieve unit of the prison system.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(c) 1963: By The Chicago Tribune]

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠ J ♡ K J 9 3 ◇ K J 7 6 ♣ J 9 7 6
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 NT	2 ♠	?

What action do you take?

A.—The recommended bid is three spades. You have sufficient high card strength to justify contracting for game in no trump. In other words, 10 points. But it is possible that the hand might play better at a heart contract. Your problem, therefore, is to determine whether North, your partner, has four hearts. Obviously the two club convention is no longer available to you. So, the manner of circumventing this obstacle is by making an imaginary cue bid in spades. If partner has four hearts, he should bid that suit. If not he should go on to three no trump.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠ 10 2 ♡ 8 6 4 3 ◇ A 8 5 2 ♣ 9 4 3
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	Pass	Pass	1 ♠
Double	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—You have as much as it is possible to have and still not keep a one heart bid open. When partner makes a take-out double, after you have passed him out, it is a drastic step. You should, therefore, bid one more heart than is necessary; that is, three hearts. This cannot be misinterpreted by partner, who knows that you cannot have six points.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠ K Q J 9 7 5 ♡ A K 7 ◇ 9 7 5 ♣ A
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. You can rely on winning eight tricks in your own hand. Actually some unimpressive cards in diamonds and hearts might readily develop two more tricks, and we prefer to take the burden off partner in cases of this type.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠ A 2 ♡ Q 5 3 ◇ K Q 10 7 6 2 ♣ K 3
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	Pass	Pass	1 ♡

What do you bid now?

A.—Pass. With a partner who has denied a holding of six points, nothing is to be gained by competing, first because the opponents can easily outbid you, and secondly because of the danger of bidding even for eight tricks.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠ K J 5 ♡ 10 6 4 3 ◇ A K 9 7 3 ♣ 6
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ◇	Pass	3 ◇	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Even tho partner has shown a good hand and is urging you to proceed, you must pass. Your hand is a rock bottom minimum and, if this is all your partner needs to produce a game, he should have made a bid which was forcing, not merely one which was invitational.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠ A 6 2 ♡ 9 2 ◇ A Q 8 4 ♣ K Q 8 6
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	1 ♠	3 ◇	3 ♡

What do you bid now?

A.—While the prospect for game in a minor suit is not too bright, there may be a very good chance for a no trump game if partner happens to have a heart stopper. Inasmuch as it would not be prudent for you to take a chance on his having such a stopper, the practical way to probe for this feature is by a bid of three spades, showing control of this suit. If partner tries three no trump, you may relax. If he fails to do so, you will then go on and contract for a game in diamonds.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠ A J ♡ 5 ◇ A J 8 5 4 3 2 ♣ Q 9 5
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♡	3 ♠	?

What do you bid?

A.—This is a difficult situation. If you try four diamonds, you may miss the opportunity to play for a nine trick game. If partner has good enough diamonds, you should be safe enough at three no trump, which bid we would risk. If it should be greeted with a resounding double, the option still remains to run to four diamonds.

Q. 8—You are South, vulnerable, and you hold:
♠ Q J 3 ♡ Q 8 5 3 ◇ K ♣ K J 10 4 2
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
1 ♠	Pass	Pass	2 ◇

What do you bid now?

A.—There is no action that you can take at this point with reasonable safety. Remember that partner's bid of two diamonds did not advertise any great amount of strength. If partner held a strong hand, he would double in preference to reopening the bidding with two diamonds. It is discreet, therefore, to pass and let nature take its course.

Governor Bryant Opposes New Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Farris Bryant of Florida said today in opposing President Kennedy's public accommodations bill that he was testifying for freedom.

"My position is for freedom, which is the antithesis of forced integration or forced segregation," he told the Senate Commerce Committee as it started a fifth and supposedly final week of hearings on the bill.

"It would be a tragic mistake if we tried to purchase equality for minorities, and as part of the price gave up freedom for all," Bryant, a Democrat, said.

Bryant, the fourth Southern governor to testify against the bill, said he did not question the power of the federal government to ban racial discrimination in stores, restaurants, hotels and other private businesses catering to the public.

"The real issue you must resolve," he told the senators, "is between conflicting demands for freedom.

"What is attempted here is to give primacy to the freedom of some to go where they wish and buy what they wish over the freedom of others who own private property."

By restricting a property owner's right to select his customers, he said, the bill would take away part of his rights over the property "and give it to someone else who had never earned it."

Hearing Slated Tuesday On Farm Wages

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Labor subcommittee scheduled a hearing Tuesday on the effect of Mexican farm labor on the wages and job opportunities of domestic farm workers.

Chairman Harrison Williams Jr., D-N.J., called the move an attempt to block hurried Senate action on extension of an import labor program which expires Dec. 31.

The House has defeated a two-year extension of the program.

Williams said he had invited Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz to testify Tuesday. The senator said the program had severely reduced job opportunities and limited the wages of American farm workers.

Braceros, or Mexican laborers, he said, are privileged persons compared with domestic workers. The Mexican government, he said, insists on free transportation, a guaranteed minimum of work and adequate housing and food for each bracero.

Williams, whose subcommittee has been investigating the plight of domestic migrant farm workers for several years, said Americans are entitled to at least the protections and work benefits by law to braceros.

"Before it is continued for still another year," he said of the program, "I think we should take a long, hard look at the way this program has benefited a small group of growers at the expense of the taxpayer, the small farmer and the American migrant."

Demonstrators Get Eyes Burned

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—A Negro stand-in demonstrator said he and three women demonstrators suffered eye burns from ammonia fumes during an anti-segregation demonstration Sunday at a hamburger stand.

James Jones said the injuries occurred after someone in a crowd of 40 white youths placed a cup of ammonia in a glass-enclosed serving area where the demonstrators were standing during the three-hour long demonstration at the McDonald hamburger stand.

A crowd gathered shortly after the demonstration began, blocking exits to the serving area and heckling the 24 Negroes who took part.

Same Car Makes Barrier Crash

BERLIN (AP) — A young Argentinian who rescued his sweetheart from East Berlin by driving a sports car beneath a border barrier drove the same car a young Austrian used for the same feat there months before.

The car still carried the same license plates.

An English friend had told me about the Austrian's escape," said Norbert Konrad, 22, "but he didn't have full details and I had not read the story at the time.

"After we made it and I saw a picture of the story, I realized it was the same car. I almost fainted."

Konrad came to Germany—his father's native land—more than a year ago and got work in West Berlin as a radio mechanic. On a visit to East Berlin he met pretty, blonde Helga Werner, daughter of a Communist.

They became engaged last October despite the opposition of her father. Authorities refused her an exit permit.

A protest against the issuance of an off-the-premises beer license to a 7-Eleven store at 620 Ridgeroad, was dismissed Monday morning and the Texas Liquor Control Board instructed to issue the license. Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, ruled that the store was entitled to the license. A protest against sale of the beverage had been filed by residents who live near the store.

Project Fails, Balloon Bursts

ARTESIA, N. M. (AP)—A project designed to learn more about the effects of air turbulence on high altitude reconnaissance had another setback today when a balloon burst less than two hours after it was launched.

The helium-filled bag burst at about 50,000 feet, half the distance it was to have traveled upward.

Instruments returned to earth by parachute and were recovered.

Major Kitchen Overhaul Bid Date Set By Hospital

Food serving facilities at the Big Spring State Hospital, long overloaded, will soon be brought up to par, according to Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent. At this time sealed bids are being asked on about $175,000 worth of work on dining facilities at the institution.

Currently hospital patients are served from a central kitchen, built to service 400 persons but feeding about 600 persons, and three auxiliary kitchens. Food is prepared in all four units.

The work calls for enlargement and improvement to the central kitchen and conversion of the smaller units to serving kitchens. After completion, food to serve up to 1,000 persons will be prepared in the central kitchen.

The hospital will purchase about $50,000 worth of new stainless steel kitchen equipment to be installed by the contractor. The renovation is expected to cost about $125,000, bringing the total cost of the improvements to about $175,000.

Renovation will include re-working of electrical and mechanical equipment, providing access roads to the new serving kitchens, remodeling all four kitchen areas and purchase of a special truck to transport hot food carts to the serving kitchens.

Funds for the work are included in the current fiscal program. The work is expected to begin about Sept. 10-15, Dr. Harrison said. No maximum time for completion of the work has been set. Warren A. Waters, resident inspector, will be in charge of work here. He is currently in Big Spring in connection with the building of the new medical and surgical unit.

Bids will be accepted until 2 p.m., Aug. 13, at the office of the Board for Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools. Plans and specifications on the work, known as project 467, can be obtained from J. Eugene McKee, supervising architect, 4405 Lamar Blvd., Austin.

Crucial Issues Keep Pastore Hopping

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dapper little Sen. John O. Pastore hops nimbly these days between committee chairmanships dealing with three crucial issues—civil rights, rails and banning nuclear tests.

Pastore is acting chairman of the Commerce Committee, considering both civil rights and rail legislation, and chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy, playing an important role in consideration of the proposed partial nuclear test ban treaty.

"It makes for a rather busy life," said the 56-year-old Rhode Island Democrat. "But I don't consider all this unusual or unique.

"I spend all my spare time reading transcripts and background material," he told an interviewer.

"I'll start off tomorrow (Monday) with the Commerce Committee civil rights hearing at 9:15 a.m.," Pastore said. "Then at 10, I'll turn it over to Sen. (Mike) Monroney (of Oklahoma) and go to the meeting on the nuclear treaty."

Pastore said he was happy that his Atomic Energy Committee would meet with the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees to hear Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman, who represented the United States at the nuclear treaty talks in Moscow.

"It avoids a duplication," he said. "Of course, we might have to bring him back before our committee for greater detail."

At noon, the Senate meets, and committee work stops.

After the Senate session ends and most senators go home, Pastore and the Commerce Committee go back to work on Kennedy's legislation to prevent a rail strike. The meeting is scheduled for 4 p.m. or 7 p.m. — depending on when the Senate session ends.

A lot of the extra load has fallen on Pastore because Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Commerce Committee, fell ill. Magnuson is in a Seattle hospital.

Pastore, the biggest vote-getter in his state's history in two successful races for governor and three for the Senate, predicts:

—On civil rights: "I think we'll pass this thing (barring discrimination in public accommodations) with only one or two senators (on the committee) opposed."

—On rails: I think that both sides understand that the ultimate answer is collective bargaining. It would be regrettable if we were pushed to passing legislation which would be an unusual precedent and a shadow on collective bargaining."

—On the nuclear treaty: "My only regret is that it isn't comprehensive. But as far as it goes, I'm satisfied with it. Well-informed and sincere men in the Senate are opposed to it, but I think they're in the small minority."

Car Hits Lad, Injury Slight

Eight minor accidents, including one car-pedestrian, were investigated by Big Spring police during the week end. A four-year-old boy, Lee Jiminez Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jiminez Sr., Luther, was struck by a car in the 100 block of West Second late Saturday. The car was driven by Creighton W. Pendarvis, Webb AFB. Pendarvis took the boy to Howard County Hospital Foundation. The boy's injuries were very minor and he was released.

Locations of other accidents, and drivers of vehicles involved, were: Northwest Third and Gregg, Billy Randel, 808 NW 5th, and Apolonio Hernandez, 609 NW 9th; Northwest Fourth and Gregg, Ely Lee Thomas, 1806 Hamilton, and James Henry Fagan, Ellis Homes; Red Onion Tavern, 1630 E. 3rd, George Truitt Penn, Lamesa, and parked car owned by John Bell Fowler, Floydada; "66" Truck Stop parking lot, US 80 West, Lloyd Lynn Sanforn, Webb AFB; and Franklin Delin Gardin, Sterling City Route; 700 block West Fourth, Rumaldo Sepado, Sweetwater, and Curtis Erwin Jr., Stanton; 2400 Block Gregg, Victor Lee Allen, Midland, and Betty Hawkins, 3509 Dixon; 600 Main, Hubby Mack Underwood, 800 Main, and two parked cars owned by Jesse Ralph Crane Jr., 600 Main.

Patrolmen Break Up Drag Races

Highway patrolmen Johnnie Smith and Arvin Henry, moving in from two directions on a segment of the Elbow Road, trapped 12 adults and seven minors staging a drag race late Saturday night.

The adults in the group were charged with unlawful assembly.

The minors will be turned over to the juvenile officer, the patrolmen said.

The offenders were brought before Walter Grice, justice of the peace. Six paid off on fines and costs aggregating $16.50 each. The patrolmen said that all of the adults but one pleaded guilty to the charge. One, who pleaded not guilty, was released on $500 bond. The patrolmen said the last of the hearings closed at 3 a.m. Sunday.

Catching Capsules Work Perfected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force says its receovery planes are perfecting the technique of snaring space capsules out of the air as they parachute back from orbit.

In revealing this Sunday, the Air Force said recovery flights by the 6593rd Test Squadron, based at Hawaii's Hickam Air Force Base, have been so successful in two years of operations that they are now considered almost routine.

The disclosure came in an announcement that the Air Force has given the test squadron the outstanding unit award for its work in recovering capsules from its little-publicized series of satellite launchings.

The Air Force has been launching satellites from Point Arguello, Calif., with little fanfare.

Voluntary Wheat Bill Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, D-S.C., introduced a bill today calling for a voluntary wheat crop adjustment and a $1.95 a bushel price support program for the 1964 crop.

He said, however, "There is little present demand in the country" for wheat legislation, and that his proposal would face an uphill fight in Congress.

He said failure to act "would mean closing our eyes to the painful economic consequences" of huge surplus wheat plantings he said are inevitable if Congress fails to enact new wheat legislation.

Congress has shown little sign of enacting any substitute for the plan beaten in a grower referendum last spring.

Nude Escapee Back In Eastland

EASTLAND (AP)—Mille Jones, 36, the six-foot-tall ex-waitress, was returned here today after a spectacular escape from the Lewiston, Idaho, jail recently.

Returned with her was William Splawn, 40. Both are charged with the robbery of the Worth Food Mart in Ranger March 7.

The Jones woman escaped in Idaho wearing only panties. She told the jailer she wanted to take a bath, then knocked him out. Then she freed Splawn.

Mrs. Jones gained notoriety in these parts when she rode nude on a horse into town.

HARRIS RUTH GEHRIG

GRANTLAND RICE, flamboyant golden-tongued sportswriter of the 20's, 30's, 40's and early 50's, once said, only too true, "Dame Fortune is a cockeyed wench." And perhaps no one in Big Spring knows better than MILLER HARRIS, Howard County sheriff.

Miller played baseball — and he was good, good enough for one sports scribe to see him in his prime and then 25 years later to recall, "The only man I ever saw who attacked the baseball like Babe Ruth." After learning to play on a "cow pasture field because I lived in the country," Miller's baseball history began in 1917 when he became a shortstop on an Abilene grade school team. Thirty-three years later in 1950 at the age of 47 he reluctantly decided to close the record books, and quit as he played his final season at first base for Dumas in the Red River Valley League.

And that was the end of an ironic, strangely disappointing career that should have somehow, somewhere, someplace turned out differently — because Miller never made the majors, just years of frustration spent in the minors and semi-pro circuits. He got to go to spring training, and he worked out with the Athletics and Yankees in the middle of the season — but his name never appeared on a major league roster, and he never got a locker in the clubhouse.

* * * *

And this was the colorful era of baseball when the sportswriters' pens dripped honey — there were the John McGraws, and the Connie Macks, and the Joe McCarthys, and the Miller Hugginses. And the softball was just as legal as a knuckler.

"I've hit a spitball and there'd be so much alum on the ball that I'd get spit all over my face," Miller will say, with his eyes almost blurred by the memories. "That spit would fly just everywhere. And then sometimes they'd take an old phonograph needle and drive it into the seams and that would make the ball heavier on one side, just like throwing a spitter. They used to have a lot of those shenanigans."

* * * *

When Miller hurt his arm in 1929 while playing for Chambersburg, Pa., in the 3-I League, he was never the same.

But there's one thing that they'll never be able to take away from Miller as long as he lives — and that's his memories. And he stored up a lot of them over 33 years. He didn't just shake hands with BABE RUTH, or JIMMY FOXX, or TY COBB, or LOU GEHRIG—no, he did a lot better than that. He ate at the same tables — he sat in the same dugouts — he swapped the same jokes — he laughed with them when they won and he became silent when they lost.

* * * *

There was CONNIE MACK, the quiet, unexcited manager of the Philadelphia Athletics who led his teams to nine American League pennants.

"Connie Mack tried to raise the standard of the game," Miller says respectfully. "He was a real gentleman ballplayer. He was strictly from the old school. He always wore an old starched collar. Mr. Mack was very business-like, very precise, very polite. He never did kid around or cut-up. He had the respect of every ballplayer I knew.

"I only had one run-in with Mr. Mack. It was in Ft. Myers, Fla., in 1928 when I was in spring training with the Athletics. All of us used to eat in the dining room in the hotel and I wore a high school baseball sweater while a bunch of the other players wore college and high school sweaters. Mr. Mack came in and saw us and jumped us out about it, not together but each of us individually. He said he'd appreciate it if we would start wearing coats.

" 'Well, Mr. Mack,' I told him, 'I didn't come down here to put on a style show. I came to play ball.' Lefty Grove, who was a big star at the time, and some of the other players quit eating there and started going elsewhere. The management finally said it was all right to eat like that and everybody calmed down."

* * * *

And there was the "Bambino" who electrified the baseball world by hitting 60 homeruns in 1927.

"BABE RUTH was friendly with everybody, no matter who you were," says Miller with a smile remembering some good times together with his chunky, happy-go-lucky friend. "Babe couldn't remember names but he was friendly anyway. He had sheer natural ability. He could hit that ball. Babe was smooth — he had that rhythm, that coordination.

"Babe was really just a big kid. I've seen him running around the locker-room before a game with his shirt tail out whooping it up. But he'd change his attitude when he started playing. He liked to win more than anything else. Like other people have said, he looked good even striking out. He could really hit," and this was emphasized with a motion of Miller's wrists like he was still holding a bat.

* * * *

LOU GEHRIG, the slugging first sacker of the Yankees who played in 2,130 consecutive games only to succumb to cancer in 1941, was another man Miller knew.

"Lou Gehrig, in my opinion, was stuck up," he relates and there's no longer a trace of a grin. "Gehrig just didn't look like a ballplayer. He was more mechanical than Ruth — he just didn't have that rhythm. Oh, he was a good ballplayer, one of the best, he had to be to stay up in the majors, but he had to learn everything — for Ruth it just came naturally.

"Gehrig was the only one I ever know who slurred back to Mack. And everyone liked Mack — even the opposing team."

* * * *

Miller also knew Ty Cobb, the "Georgia Peach" who stole nearly 900 bases and collected over 4,100 big league base hits.

"Ty didn't have many friends," Miller relates. "I saw him come into home plate at Philadelphia one time with both feet high and he darn near cut the britches right off that catcher. He just played hard, not really what you call dirty, I guess. And when he was in a game he'd get somebody if he wanted to — he wasn't scared of any of them." There was a noticeable amount of respect in Miller's voice.

* * * *

The list goes on and on. There was BILL DICKEY, the incomparable Yankee catcher who could clothesline the ball to second base.

"Bill Dickey was long, tall — he didn't look like a catcher," he remembers. "But he was a good receiver. He knew how to work pitchers. And he had a great arm. He could hit, too."

* * * *

JIMMY FOXX, the hitter who blasted 58 homers in 1932, was coming up about the same time as Miller.

"Jimmy Foxx was just a rookie at the time that I knew him. He was pretty high on himself at the time — he was pretty cocky."

And there was the "Grey Eagle," TRIS SPEAKER.

"Tris Speaker was one of the best fielding outfielders I ever saw. I always thought he looked better going after a fly ball than JOE DiMAGGIO."

* * * *

COUNTRY SLAUGHTER, one of the original Gas House Gang, also rates a comment.

"He was one of the smoothest swingers I ever saw — in fact, I think he's one of the few players I ever saw who had a better swing than Ruth."

* * * *

And of course, DIZZY DEAN showed up to pitch in the Texas League against Miller.

"I hit against Dizzy in the first night game I ever played in — that was down in San Antonio in the fall of 1930." Miller has an amused look on his face. "He was playing for Houston. First time up he threw three right down the middle and I swung with everything I had and never touched a one of them. He was fast and he was good."

Miller would like to relive those days. Those were the good years.

Oilers Workout In Cool Colorado

COLORADO SPRINGS (AP) — While the Houston Oilers took Sunday off to lick their wounds from a close intra-squad game, coaches graded the films and prepared to announce four or five player cuts.

Injuries from the Blues' 7-6 victory Saturday night over the Whites mostly were sprains and bruises.

Linebacker Tom Goode turned up with what may be a serious ankle injury.

"With the Colorado weather turning cool the last few days," Coach Frank Ivy said, "The squad is much farther along than it was at this time a year ago."

This is Houston's fourth year in the American Football League.

Tigers Win Over Colts On Sunday

The Big Spring Tigers won a doubleheader from the tough Midland Colts Sunday afternoon, taking the first game 4-3 and then outscoring the visitors in the second contest, 9-7.

In the first game, Henry Salazar was the winner as he collected his sixth victory of the season without a loss. Joe Sanchez was the loser.

Billy Weatherall had a two-for-three day at the plate and drove in all of the Bengal's runs with a single and a homer. Lopez hit a homer for the losers and J. Sanchez and C. Sanchez had doubles.

In the second contest, Santiago Lopez got the win hurling a seven hitter. Munoz, the first of four pitchers to parade to the mound for the Colts, was charged with the loss.

Perez hit a homer for the Tigers while his teammates, Weatherall and Mendoza, had a double and triple respectively.

The Tigers now have an 18-7 mark over the season. Before Sunday's games the Colts had only lost two games.

Merchants Win Softball

B. P. Thomas pitched his third full game of the night Saturday in the softball championships at the City Park and it proved to be the important one as the Merchants took the trophy with an eighth-inning win over E. C. Smith, 1-0.

THOMAS

Thomas, who pitched 20 straight innings, got his third win in less than six hours as he set the Smith nine down on four hits. Franklin was the loser.

In a game that didn't end until after midnight, M. Treadaway and J. Thomas hit doubles for the winners and Wetsel had a two-bagger for the losers.

Franklin had the best night at the plate as he went three-for-four off of Thomas' offerings.

This last game in the double-elimination tournament was necessary when the Merchants beat the previously undefeated Smith crew 6-4 in the second game.

The players picked on the All-Star team were: B. P. Thomas, pitcher (Merchants); Pete Cook, catcher (Merchants); Oakie Hagood, first base (Merchants); Bernard McMahan, second base (Merchants); Tito Arencibia, third base (E. C. Smith); Marion Treadaway, shortstop (Merchants); Ted Gross, left field (Merchants); Delnor Poss, center field (E. C. Smith); and Tony Deapherae (Morton's). Cotton Mize of Morton's was chosen manager.

New Black And Gold Battering Rams

It's all smiles when one of eleven starters on the Big Spring Steers football team looks at one of the new gold and black helmets with the new Longhorn decal. Baxter Moore (top), senior fullback, took time off from work on the new Holiday Inn to give a big grin. And Kenny Chrane, senior center, was just as happy at the first glance.

Big Three Tied In Western Golf

CHICAGO (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros, meeting in a 18-hole playoff today for the Western Open golf championships, faced the prospect with varying emotions.

Palmer was a little fidgety because of his putting.

Nicklaus, the cool All-American boy, beamed with confidence after great victories in the Masters and PGA.

National Open winner Boros, the seasoned veteran, seemed past the stage of being bothered by anything while enjoying one of his greatest golfing years at the age of 43.

The playoff winner gets $11,000. Second place is $5,500 and third $3,400.

Par at the Beverly Country Club is 36-35—71 and only eight players broke it for the 72-hole distance.

Boros, sharing fifth place with three others after 54 holes, came out of the pack with a closing 34-33—67 Sunday for 280, four under regulation.

Nicklaus, tied for fifth with two players, pulled up to 280 with a 33-33—66, lowest round of the tournament.

Palmer, who shared the third round lead with Sam Snead, stumbled in with a 37-32—73 after using 35 putts.

The playoff bunches the season's first three money winners. Palmer is tops with $85,955 with five tournament victories. Nicklaus has bagged $75,140 and Boros $65,546.

Palmer has been involved in 15 playoffs in his career, winning 10. In his last five tournaments, including the Western Open, he has been carried into four extra heats. He won the Thunderbird in sudden death with Paul Harney; captured the Cleveland Open by defeating Tommy Aaron in 18 holes, and lost to Boros in the National Open.

PALMER

Boros has been in four playoffs and was beaten but once. Nicklaus has been in three, winning twice, including a victory over Palmer in the 1962 National Open.

Nicklaus moved into Sunday's deadlock by birdying two of the last three holes on putts of four and eight feet.

The 51-year-old Snead sagged to 40-35—75.

Mays, Sanford Carry Giants Over Pirates

By The Associated Press

Windy, foggy and chilly it may be, but Candlestick Park remains a happy haven for the San Francisco Giants.

Battered on a recent trip, losing nine of 13 and falling to fifth place in the National League, 10 games off the pace, the Giants have zoomed back into the pennant scramble since returning to Candlestick. The streak has boosted them into a tie for second with St. Louis, 4½ games back of the faltering Los Angeles Dodgers.

MAYS

The Giants made it six in a row at home and seven straight overall Sunday, riding a two-run homer by Willie Mays to a 3-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

The Dodgers found things less friendly at their palatial diggings at Chavez Ravine. They were done in again by Philadelphia, 7-4, with homers by Clay Dalrymple and Johnny Callison the damaging blows.

The Dodgers have lost four straight on their current home stand, which opened promisingly with a pair of victories.

The Chicago Cubs cooled off St. Louis 5-1 and 16-11 and inched into fourth place ahead of, Cincinnati Reds, which split with Milwaukee. The Reds won the opener 4-3: the Braves posted a 5-2 decision in the second game.

In a night game at Houston, rookie John Bateman's slugging paced the Colts to an 8-2 romp over the New York Mets — who have matched the all-time major league mark of 22 straight losses on the road, set by Pittsburgh in 1890.

Mays, who had hit into one of three double plays executed by the Pirates, got the brushback pitch from Don Schwall twice in the sixth inning before his 23rd homer gave the Giants a 3-1 lead.

Jack Sanford, who had lost his last six since a winning decision on June 18, worked his way out of several jams and finished with an eight-hitter. The 24-game winner of last year now is 10-11.

The Phils blasted ahead of the Dodgers in the sixth on Dalrymple's three-run homer off Don Drysdale, then clinched it with three in the seventh. Tony Taylor, who collected eight hits in the three straight victories at Los Angeles, singled across what proved to be the decisive run and kayoed Drysdale. Callison greeted Ron Perranoski with a two-run homer, becoming the first left-hander to homer against the southpaw reliever in his three big league seasons.

SANFORD

Performing before their largest home crowd in 11 years, 40,222, the Cubs came out of a week-long slump with 30 hits in the sweep over the Cards. In the second game, St. Louis rapped five homers and twice held sizable leads, but the Cubs poured across 10 runs in their last three at bats. Eleven pitchers were used, with Lindy McDaniel the winner and Ed Bauta the loser.

Lou Brock homered twice, tripled and had a sacrifice fly, knocking in five Cub runs. Jim Schaffer hit two homers in the doubleheader, also driving in five runs for the winners.

Houston Nine Wins Softball

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Houston Blues won the Amateur Softball Association regional championship Sunday night and qualified for the world tournament.

Houston beat Lake Jackson 3-0 for the title.

Piersall, AL Umpire Clash

By The Associated Press

Don't let the halo over Jimmy Piersall's head fool you. He's still the most tempestuous and argumentative player in baseball.

The newest Angel — he joined Los Angeles last Saturday—was back in an American League uniform for only a few hours when he became involved in another of his famous skirmishes with umpires.

This one had a little extra flair: An umpire wound up on the seat of his pants—with Piersall's cap with the halo on top in the dirt beside him. The game ended with Piersall on the outside looking in, a position in which the fiery outfielder may find himself if the league president, Joe Cronin decides umpire John Stevens didn't fall but was pushed.

Piersall celebrated his return to the American League on Saturday by cracking two hits as the Angels downed the Boston Red Sox 5-2. Jimmy wasn't in the starting line-up as the Angels beat his old team 5-0 in the first game Sunday.

In the second game, which Los Angeles won 5-4, Jimmy was highly instrumental in the victory. He singled in the third inning, stole second and eventually scored. He singled again in the eighth and scored what proved to be the winning run when Billy Moran's double play grounder went through shortstop Eddie Bressoud's legs.

Detroit beat Washington 3-2 and 6-4; Chicago's White Sox clipped Baltimore 4-1; the New York Yankees split a doubleheader with Minnesota, winning the second game 3-2 after the Twins won the opener 5-1, and Kansas City and Cleveland divided a twin bill, the Athletics winning the first 3-0 with the Indians taking the second 12-7.

In the ninth inning of the second game, Piersall didn't like a called strike by plate umpire Bill Kinnamon and protested vehemently. Kinnamon ordered him off the field. That only infuriated Piersall all the more.

Stevens charged in from second base in an effort to calm the raging Piersall but wound up in the dirt near home plate.

"Piersall still had his bat in his hand," Stevens explained. "I grabbed the bat in an effort to calm him. I told him to take it easy if he didn't want to get suspended.

"He let go of the bat and I had nothing to hold on to. As he swung away from me to talk to Kinamon again, I fell down."

Carl Warwick, Houston Batter Helpless NY Mets

HOUSTON (AP)—The Houston Colts stroked 12 hits for an 8-2 victory over the New York Mets and a sweep of their three-game series Sunday night.

Carl Warwick's homer with a mate on base in the first sparked a four-run outburst that ousted starter Al Jackson. The Colts breezed in behind the six-hit pitching of Ken Johnson, who retired the last 15 in a row.

WARWICK

After blowing 10 of 13 games on the road, the Colts have won five of six at home.

It was the 29th triumph at home against 24 losses, a .548 pace that would put Houston in fourth place if all the games were played at home.

As for the Mets, you have to go back to the day their manager Casey Stengel was born—73 years ago Tuesday—to find a team that has lost 22 straight games on the road.

When Casey was a babe in arms, the Pittsburgh team accomplished that feat.

After Warwick's two-run shot, Jim Wynn tripled, Pete Runnels walked and Johnny Bateman doubled home what proved to be the winning runs.

Deep Divers Planned For Exploration

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

DEEP DIVERS: The Navy says by 1970 it needs at least four deep-diving vessels capable of plunging four miles to spend an entire day exploring the ocean bottom.

The Bathyscaphe Trieste, which has made four dives in a vain search for the lost nuclear submarine Thresher, can dive six miles. But it is unable to stay on the bottom more than four hours and can explore only one square mile in any one dive.

The Navy's hope for the super vessels were revealed in a report issued last weekend by the White House's Office of Science and Technology.

• • •

AIRLIFT: Lack of funds is threatening to sidetrack a Defense Department plan to test military mobility by airlifting an entire division—about 15,000 men—to Europe later this year.

The airlift would be the largest ever for training purposes.

• • •

FREEMAN SHIFT: Some friends and admirers of Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman are reported booming him for the position of ambassador to Mexico.

But his close associates, discounting the possibility, insist the former Minnesota governor will stay in his present post throughout President Kennedy's term.

INDIAN CLAIMS: Three groups of California Indians may soon recover $29.1 million for land taken by the United States during the gold rush days more than 100 years ago.

The agreement between the Justice Department and attorneys for the Indians must be approved by the U.S. Indian Claims Commission, the Indian groups and the U.S. Secretary of the Interior. Appropriation of the money would be up to Congress.

Kuwait Gunboat Fires On Iranians

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The Tehran newspaper Keyhan claimed 21 Iranians were killed and 24 injured when a Kuwait patrol boat fired on a launch trying to smuggle job-seekers into Kuwait.

The paper reported Sunday that the incident occurred near Silti Island just off Kuwait in the Persian Gulf. It quoted survivors as saying the patrol vessel fired on the launch, then rammed it, causing it to sink.

A Kuwait Interior Ministery spokesman claimed at least 13 persons drowned July 18 when the Kuwaiti patrol boat fired in the air, causing the Iranians to panic and overturn their craft.

Your Stars Today

DAILY GUIDE — A continuance of some rather depressing news, difficulties in transportation and distress over criticism that keeps some in high places fighting to maintain their prestige. This includes countries, too. This is an accident-prone day, as was yesterday.

Flaws and shortcomings are likely to show up against this darker view, and we are not going to like having to face the truth.

Details can seem much more like drudgery than usual. Be extra careful of what you say or write. Not the best time to ask for cooperation or favors. Stick to routine matters, and make up your mind to have to work harder to keep even; not much progress can be chalked up.

Once this low spot is passed, this week holds no major planetary aspects, so you can do a little summer loafing, or take it easier on the job. Librans and Arians are the exceptions; the former find extra action keeping them on the go, while the latter need to keep alert to the demands of associates, mate or public.

Slow start tomorrow morning, but improving in the late evening.

• • •

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, LEO! The accent on finances takes a little different turn this week and for a few weeks you should attend to extra details, especially next week, when you might have a good hunch about investments.

Educational matters, travel and dealings with in-laws are under favorable aspects this year with added activity in November making this a good time for social contacts. Your relationships with others, especially with mate if married, are continually under some restraint, even extra responsibility.

It will be best to cooperate even though your personal freedom is restricted. At home base another confused period is likely to develop in early October.

Dallas Airman Kills Himself

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — A Dallas airman based at England AFB here killed himself Sunday during a party at a rented house.

Witnesses said Norman Denny, 19, pulled a pistol and said: "If you want to shoot anyone, shoot me."

Officer Sam Lipsey said people at the party thought it was a joke and someone said, "If you want to be that stupid, go ahead and pull the trigger."

Denny then blew his brains out.

Syncom Headed For Assignment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States' newest communications satellite—Syncom 2—is headed for its assigned spot over Brazil.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists hope to put it at the right altitude so it will keep pace with the rotation of the earth.

A NASA spokesman said Sunday that radioed commands had corrected an eastward drift by the satellite, increased its altitude and forced it to drift westward.

NASA said communications tests with Syncom on Sunday were successful.

Eighteen Cars Join In Chase

FORT WORTH (AP)—Eighteen police cars joined in pursuing, at speeds topping 100 miles per hour, an auto in which three police characters fled after a barroom brawl early today.

Officers were told the three beat up a fourth man at a North Side tavern during an argument over a woman, who accompanied them in flight.

The wild chase ended at Rhome, 16 miles north, as the pursued vehicle skidded 100 yards out of control, halting in a ditch.

Police nabbed one of the men, slightly injured, and the woman. The other two men fled into a field.

One patrol car, driven by W. D. Roberts, blew out two tires at a speed of more than 100 m.p.h., but Roberts stopped it without an accident.

DISILLUSIONED

Powell Slaps White Liberals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, saying he is disillusioned with "white liberal" civil rights leaders, plans an all-Negro meeting today to map strategy for pushing fair employment legislation through Congress.

The Harlem Democrat, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, said he will confer with leading Negro spokesmen and "I will do... what they tell me to do."

He said his disillusionment with white leaders stemmed from a recent civil rights conference that voted against a plan to force the bill to the House floor through a rarely used legislative procedure. He said 37 white persons and three Negroes were present, but did not identify them or say where the meeting was held.

Powell, speaking in New York Sunday at a civil rights rally in the Abbysinian Baptist Church, of which he is pastor, said: "No white man anymore is going to tell me what I should do in the field of civil rights."

He said he welcomes the support of white leaders "but the white liberal has got to make up his mind he must accept a secondary role."

Powell's committee has control of the fair employment legislation. If it approves the bill, the House Rules Committee is likely to block it.

The Rules Committee could be bypassed under a procedure known as "Calendar Wednesday" but action on legislation brought to the House floor in this manner must be completed the same day or it is all but dead for the session.

Powell said he will discuss his strategy with Negro leaders including the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference; Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People; James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality; Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League; and A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

The fair employment bill is scheduled for a hearing today before a labor subcommittee. The bill is not part of President Kennedy's civil rights program.

The Senate Commerce Committee resumes hearings on Kennedy's bill to ban segregation in hotels, restaurants and other public accommodations. Acting Chairman John O. Pastore, D-R.I., predicts the committee eventually will approve it.

Band To Launch Summer Classes

Classes in summer band at Big Spring public secondary schools will begin next Monday with reporting for arrangement of schedules.

High School band students should report at 9 a.m. Junior High School students should contact their band directors after Wednesday to find out when their classes begin. They have already completed their scheduling.

Doug Wiehe, high school, and junior high band directors Joe Burchfiel and Russell McKiski are currently in San Antonio attending a meeting of the Texas Music Education Association. Highlights of the conference includes clinics by Dr. William Revelli, from the University of Michigan, and appearances by the United States Air Force Band. The meeting ends Wednesday.

Defense Rests In Case Against Ward

LONDON (AP) — The defense rested today in the trial of Dr. Stephen Ward on charges of procuring young girls and living off their earnings from prostitution.

The sixth and final witness called by counsel for the 50-year-old society osteopath was an advertising executive, Noel Howard Jones.

Jones, 24, said he was a frequent visitor to Ward's London flat and to his cottage on the estate of Lord Astor in 1962. He said he had relations at the flat with Christine Keeler on "two or three occasions."

Jones said he "never had the slightest suspicion" that Ward profited in any way from the goings-on at the flat.

"I knew perfectly well that he was not a moral man," said Jones, "but I never had the slightest suspicion that he was doing anything of the sort which he is charged."

On cross-examination by prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones, the witness said he met Christine by chance in a coffee bar. He said he met Ward after he had relations with the girl at Ward's flat and that he and the osteopath became friends.

If convicted on all three charges of living off the earnings of prostitution and the two charges of procuring, Ward could be sentenced to 25 years in prison.

The scandal has ruined the political life of John D. Profumo, who resigned last month as war minister after admitting he lied in an attempt to cover up the affair he had with Miss Keeler.

Someone Goofed, Britons Stranded

NEW YORK (AP) — "Somebody goofed."

This was the reaction of a Capitol Airways spokesman when asked about a mixup that left 110 Britons stranded at Idlewild Airport Sunday.

They had been told their chartered flight to Manchester, England, would leave at 8 p.m. Sunday. But when they showed up at the airport they found a small notice tacked to a wall near the check-in counter, stating that the flight would depart "as scheduled" at 8 tonight.

The tourists came to New York June 30 aboard a Capitol Airways propeller flight.

About 80 of the tourists were driven to a Manhattan hotel Sunday night and put up at Capitol's expense.

A Devotional For The Day

I will therefore that men pray every where, lifting up holy hands, without wrath and doubting. (I Timothy 2:8.)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the power of prayer. May we be diligent and bold to stand up as witnesses to Christ among our fellowmen. Help us to be more prayerful. We ask in Thy Son's name. Amen.

Sources Of Information

In the absence of uniform statutes the plea of privilege invoked by newsmen to protect the source of information given to them in confidence has not always been received with sympathy by the courts or the general public. In order to provide a uniform guide on the subject Sen. Kenneth Keating of New York has introduced a bill to protect newsmen from compulsory disclosure of their sources.

The bill introduced by Keating protects the privilege of news reporters in these words: "A person engaged or employed in the work of gathering, compiling, editing, publishing, disseminating, broadcasting, or televising news shall not be required in any court of the United States to disclose the source of information procured by him for such publication, broadcasting or televising."

Twelve states have already extended this privilege to newsmen, including Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Montana, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania. For centuries the privilege has applied, for differing reasons, to husbands and wives, doctors, lawyers and clergymen.

It is no everyday occurrence, but in the lives of most experienced reporters there are occasions when information of great significance and importance is given to them under a pledge of secrecy. The informant will not give the information unless the reporter promises to protect the source. For some sources, disclosure would prove only embarrassing, or lead to the loss of their jobs, but in a few cases the life of the informant would be jeopardized by disclosure.

Yet the privilege carries a very definite responsibility. No reporter nor editor can be permitted to abuse the privilege. For there can be occasional instances in which the overriding public interest and the security of the nation will argue persuasively against absolute secrecy. Reconsidering these two interests requires the wisdom of a Solomon.

The Kitchen Crisis

The issue of two kitchens—one for the preparation of Kosher food and one for other food—for the Israeli liner Shalom has produced a political and religious stew in Israel.

The 23,000-ton Shalom will not make her maiden voyage until next spring. She will sail regularly between Haifa and New York with stops at Naples and Marseille. The voyage will last 11 days each way.

The Zim Navigation Co. which will operate the ship favors two kitchens. But ministers of the National Religious Party insist on only one kitchen, a Kosher one. Since Zim Navigation is partly owned by the government, the religious issue has become mixed with a political one.

Zvi Herman, director of the Zim line, provided perhaps the most telling argument of all when he said that Slalom (which means "peace" in Hebrew) would not be able to attract enough passengers on such a long cruise if restrictions were imposed on the types of food served—for instance, pork dishes or spaghetti with grated cheese.

There is no peace at the moment in Israel as Shalom is fitted out in a French shipyard for her first Atlantic voyage.

Nuclear War Threat Still Exists

WASHINGTON—The biggest delusion of modern times is contained in the "nuclear-test ban" treaty just "initialed" at Moscow by representatives of the United States, Great Britain and the Soviet Union.

Formal signing is to come later, and ratification by the U.S. Senate is necessary before the document can be regarded as in effect for this country.

THE AGREEMENT, however, does not do what most people probably think it does—reduce the danger of a nuclear war. Indeed, the impression is mistakenly given that it means the abolition of nuclear war. This is due to the emphasis that has been placed on the meeting at Moscow and because of the protracted crusade for the test ban which has been carried on in recent years, largely by pacifist groups in various countries.

But the new treaty would not bar the use of any nuclear weapons in war.

It would not bring about a reduction in the existing number of nuclear weapons possessed by any government or limit in any way future production.

IT WOULD NOT bar nations other than the singers from carrying on whatever tests they pleased.

It would not prevent nuclear tests underground.

It would not guarantee against attempts to cheat by conducting tests above the ground. Russia cheated last time and deliberately violated her agreement.

THE MILITARY advantage to the Soviet Union lies in the fact that the United States is ahead in the kind of weapons that require underground testing, and now the Soviets have gained a free hand to improve their position and catch up with the United States in this field. Also, the Soviet Union is believed to have gone ahead in certain categories, such as anti-missile-missiles and "terror" weapons, which require atmospheric testing, and the United States cannot now conduct such tests to catch up with the Soviets. It is argued here in rebuttal, however, that bombs requiring above-ground or underwater testing have been accumulated in sufficient quantity to make such testing less important.

THEN WHY all the hullabaloo about a nuclear-test-ban treaty or "partial ban," as it is more often termed? The answer is to be found in the political domain. The same proposals were made in previous years by the United States but were rejected by the Soviets. Today, however, for undisclosed reasons, Premier Khrushchev is trying another tack. He suddenly indicated a few weeks ago he was ready for a high-level conference at Moscow on the subject of nuclear testing. Nobody knows why he shifted tactics, but it is assumed that he needed to make some showing of peaceful intent as to quiet his internal opposition and deflate Red China's war scare.

IT IS conceivable, too, that the military experts of the Soviet Union figure that, if the United States were to discontinue above-ground and underwater testing, this would in some manner halt the nuclear development of the United States in certain categories of weapons and prevent any real superiority from being achieved.

As for underground testing, it will continue to be carried on by both sides. Also, it is contended that if the moratorium on above-ground and underwater testing is some day broken by the Soviet Union, the United States can automatically resume testing anywhere. The experts among the scientists say, however, that it isn't as simple as it sounds and that continuous testing is important in developing many varieties of defense weapons. America, they explain, will have to be satisfied with its present strength and take a chance that the Soviets will not increase their offensive or defensive power in the nuclear field.

AMERICAN MILITARY men are uncertain. They haven't had much of a voice in the negotiations. They are skeptical but probably will be required for reasons of policy to go along on the new treaty without making much protest.

Congress, on the other hand—in which there is an abundance of skepticism—will make a thorough inquiry and carry on a considerable debate. In the end, the chances are that the agreement will be accepted by the Senate on the vague theory that it is "a step in the right direction." But there's a lot yet to be done before any tangible benefit can be derived from the pact. China, for instance, can go ahead on its own with tests, and so can France. If either country does so, this could automatically terminate the new treaty three months thereafter.

NUCLEAR WAR, therefore, can happen despite the new agreement. Further development of only certain kinds of nuclear weapons will have been deferred for the time being. Meanwhile, the delusion that nuclear war has been somehow banned by the agreement initialed at Moscow this week will gain headway. Actually, however, the true barrier to the prevention of a nuclear conflict—the power of autocratic governments—isn't likely to be removed by the signing of an agreement with the kind of regime which rules today in the Soviet Union and which is constantly extending its influence by infiltration and subversion in all continents of the world.

No More Doodling

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress, dragging its feet dismally all year, suddenly got jabbed into moving. It tried to play it cool but the weather turned hot.

But then neither President Kennedy nor Congress qualifies as a good prophet in 1963.

They didn't foresee the two critical events which overtook them by mid-year: the civil rights fight and a nuclear test ban agreement with the Soviet Union.

IF THAT WASN'T enough, they have to try to solve the dispute between the railroads and their unions to prevent a strike.

In his State of the Union message last January, Kennedy seemed to thing his big battle of the year with Congress was going to be over taxes.

He made his big pitch on tax cuts and tax reforms. He said there was lots to do but he also said: "There may be a temptation to relax."

Congress took him at his word and has been relaxing ever since. It has passed almost no major legislation.

The tax bill isn't near a vote. Nor is, medical care for the aged, federal aid for public schools, expansion of unemployment compensation, extension of the foreign aid program, increase in Social Security taxes, creation of a domestic Peace Corps, expansion of student loan program.

UP TO ITS neck in unfinished business, Congress is saddled with the fiery civil rights issue and the rail problem. A long Southern filibuster on civil rights could drag the session out even longer.

The Senate alone will have to pass on the test ban treaty. Before there is a vote on that, there will be hearings, arguments, various statements to the press and on the floor, and, probably, long-winded debates.

In his message, Kennedy didn't seem to foresee anything unusual arising in the civil rights field. He made only two references to that subject and, after two short paragraphs, went on to other things.

He said a man accused of crime in federal court is entitled to a good lawyer, no matter what his means, and no one must be denied his voting rights.

WITHIN A FEW months, Negroes' demand for civil rights burst over the country so furiously Kennedy had to send a special message to Congress, asking action.

Congress on its own certainly wasn't going to do anything. This sudden problem, one of the most important domestic problems in a century, was forced upon both the President and Congress.

Nor did Kennedy seem to foresee anything so sensational as the agreement reached last week with the Soviet Union and Great Britain to ban nuclear tests in the atmosphere, in outer space and under the sea.

They didn't agree to ban underground tests so the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union can go on with them—and with all the other tests, too, if the Senate doesn't approve the agreement.

WHAT KENNEDY did do in his State of the Union message was suggest "caution" about hoping for better relations with communism. He said "I foresee no spectacular reversal in Communist methods or goals."

But he said the areas of agreement could be very wide on a "clear understanding about Berlin, stability in Southeast Asia, an end to nuclear testing, new checks on surprise or accidental attack, and, ultimately, general and complete disarmament."

But from now on Congress will have to do instead of doodle.

Expensive Bites

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

When a dog bites you, he also takes a nip out of your pocketbook. America's 600,000 dog-bite cases a year cost about $5 million in medical expenses.

Incidentally, 76 per cent of the victims are under the age of 20. One study showed nearly two-thirds admitted the dog's attack was not entirely unprovoked.

Hot weather hint: If your air-conditioner or electric fan breaks down, a quick way to cool off is to soak your feet in a pan full of water and ice cubes. Science has also found you'll feel better in the long run if you pour a pitcher of martinis over your head than if you drink them.

Prosperity note: There are more $20 bills in circulation today than there were $10 bills two decades ago.

Do you gamble? If you don't, you're in a minority. It is estimated that up to 120 million Americans indulge with a fair degree of regularity in some form of betting — on everything from baseball to bingo.

Advice For Sufferers Of Varicose Veins

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can I do to keep varicose veins from becoming worse? I am only 35. How damaging, if any, can the following be:

1.—Hiking? I don't mean 50 miles.

2.—Running up and down stairs six or eight times a day?

3.—Lifting (up to 50 or 60 pounds)?

4.—Exercising, such as demonstrated on TV?

I will cut down these activities to a minimum if you so advise, but will hesitate if you say it won't help, as I realize the value of exercise to anyone who is physically able.

I've tried wearing support hose, but these tend to make a stinging sensation for about a day.

Please send me your booklet on "How to Deal with Varicose Veins." I enclose the necessary 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self - addressed envelope for it—MRS. E. B.

I'm glad you asked for the booklet, because it will explain exactly what varicose veins are, and help you know what you can do to retard or avoid them.

Moderate exercise will help you. I advise reasonable walking, and this depends on the degree of varicosity. I can't answer categorically without knowing more about the particular case. A daily walk of a few blocks might be fine for one person, and a mile or two for another.

Up and down stairs six or eight times a day? Most women with varicose veins do that, unless they live in ranch houses without basements.

Lifting? If you mean weight-lifting, I'd say no. And I don't know why lifting 50 or 60 pounds would be necessary for a woman.

As for the exercises, I have yet to see any on TV that would be harmful to anyone with varicose veins, except, possibly, in very severe cases.

Continue to wear the support hose (or elastic stockings, as I prefer to call them) even if they do bother you for about a day. They help.

And now that I've answered your questions, as well as I can without knowing more about your case, let me add some advice which may be more useful than just trying to gauge the amount of exercise.

Walking or moving around is helpful, within reason. Spend a lot of your time, but not all, sitting or lying down. When you sit, put your feet on a footstool or chair. This benefits your "return circulation."

Avoid wearing tight garters or garments.

If you are overweight, reduce!

At age 35, you might well consider surgical removal of the faulty veins. Your doctor will have to evaluate the need for such procedure.

The Mobs At Buckingham Palace

Something new is about to be added to Buckingham Palace—something so new that it has occasioned surprised editorial comment on both sides of the Atlantic.

Folding chairs of aluminum and glass fiber, described as tough enough to survive "fire and razor-blade attacks," are being purchased not only for London's seven royal parks, but also for the Palace. At Buckingham these indestructible chairs will be used for Her Majesty's garden parties.

A DISPATCH out of London notes that "to the average Briton, a royal garden party has always stood for the highest form of decorum, the epitome of good manners, the apex of propriety." However after reading about the new chairs, the dispatch continues, Britons are "wondering what has been happening on the spacious lawns behind Buckingham Palace's impenetrable walls."

By editorial chance I happen to know what has been going on behind those so-called impenetrable walls and on those undoubtedly spacious lawns at Her Majesty's garden parties. What has been going on, if not exactly mayhem, is, in any language, mob action. I was there, Scharlie—me and 6,999 other guests.

THOSE NEW aluminum and glass fiber chairs may be immune to fire and razor blades. But I am awaiting a report on whether they survive the first assault of a Palace garden party throng.

During the festivities attendant upon the coronation of Elizabeth II in 1953, my editor sent me to cover a Palace garden party. I was equipped with a new hat, dress, slippers and a limousine to get me to and from the Palace.

I WAS, in fact, equipped with everything except the necessities—shin guards and a working knowledge of judo. Like the average Briton, I, too, suffered the illusion that such a party "always stood for the highest form of decorum, etc."

Decorum, my eye! From the moment I stepped into the "spacious lawns" I was right back on the old Lexington Avenue Express during the rush hour. I was outweighed, outmaneuvered and outfought every step of the way by Her Majesty's loyal subjects.

TEN YEARS ago I reported: "The Queen's guests, unabashed by the royal presence of Buckingham as a backdrop, pushed, shoved and gouged for a better view of their idol. Unabashed hundreds, seizing opportunity by the forelock, climbed on chairs ranged around the garden. The chairs afforded a prime view of the royal party.

"The crowds were kept at a respectful distance by 60 tall, muscular Gentlemen of the Queen's Household." Each gentleman carried a rolled umbrella, and not to keep the rain off on this sunny, cloudless day. You have no idea what a handy weapon a rolled brolly can be until sideswiped by one.

I HAD NO trouble with the Gentlemen of the Queen's Household—only with her guests. Most of them were equipped with rolled brollies to trip up or beat back anyone who attempted to get in front of them.

"With some difficulty, the Gentlemen opened a lane through the mob for the Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh and other members of the royal family," I wrote in 1953.

BUT TO GET back to those chairs—when the royal party retired to a roped-off pavillion for tea, guests climbed on chairs (there must have been at least 2,000 scattered around the garden) and unblushingly gaped at the Queen as if the event were the Derby, a prize fight or a rugger match. "They acted like Dodger fans," I wrote.

If there is one hostess who needs a tough chair for her garden parties, it is Queen Elizabeth. But I will match the toughest chair ever made against her guests and put my money on the latter to win hands down—and feet up.

The Senate And The Test Ban Treaty

WASHINGTON—On June 10, 1963, President Kennedy made his famous appeal to the Soviet Union for a partial nuclear test ban treaty and gave the pledge that the U.S.A. would not conduct further tests in the air or in the oceans unless Russia did so first.

But two days later, on June 12th, and again on June 13th, our listening devices picked up acoustic evidence of nuclear-type explosions within the Soviet Union. There was no accompanying fallout, therefore no conclusive proof that the explosions were caused by nuclear tests. But these two acoustic signals matched three others which had been detected in July 1962, from the same territory. The administration did not announce that any of these five occurrences were nuclear.

A PROMINENT SENATOR, who has majored in nuclear detection-and-verification for several years, completely disagreed with the administration's trustful assumptions. They are, he feels, colored by the President's desire to coax Khrushchev into a treaty.

This senator, who wishes to remain anonymous at this writing, is convinced, from logic and science, that the Russians were atmospherically testing as late as the middle of June, and that they have developed either a very refined low-yield bomb or a very "clean" bomb that drops little or no debris. In sum, the Russians have reached an advanced state of the art in disguising air-tests—and that's one reason why they are willing to discuss an uninspected treaty.

TO THIS SENATOR'S credit, he has not sensationalized these convictions. He still favors the Dodd-Humphrey Senate resolution which calls for a ban on tests that contaminate the air and water. He still favors the general tenor of the treaty which Ambassador Harriman has negotiated in Moscow. Nevertheless, I think it is fair to report that this important statesman is disappointed in the administration's soft-on-Reds attitude in failing to show more suspicion and alarm at five unidentified explosions in Russia during 1962-63. Here is a proviso which he tells me should be included in any Russo-British-American treaty to ban air-water testing:

". . . THAT WE SHALL consider a series of such signals, originating in their territory, to constitute proof that the test ban has been violated."

The senator believes that we no longer need to find radioactive debris in order to know that testing has taken place. Our acoustic devices are now sensitive enough to be reliable—not for proof positive, but for proof sufficient.

HE ALSO IS suspicious of the Khrushchev proposal that the treaty include Space, as well as atmosphere and water, as areas where the treaty signers agree not to test. Modern techniques make it feasible to explode nuclear weapons millions of miles away from the earth. But science has not yet provided the means of detecting or verifying such shots.

It would be wrong to take anything away from Mr. Kennedy's achievement in bringing some sort of partial treaty within the realm of possibility. But no pig-in-a-poke, please.

Billy Graham

Although I try to depend upon the Lord, I become very depressed and discouraged at times. I am afraid that this means I am not a Christian.

R. Y.

Moody people can be Christians just the same as anyone else. Some of us, by nature, are more moody than others. Accepting Christ doesn't always radically change our personalities. Peter still had some of his impetuosity, even after His conversion. But there was no doubt that He had had an encounter with Christ.

Discouragement is one of Satan's most effective tools. I should think that if he got rid of every hurtful device, and kept the instrument of discouragement, he could still carry on an effective business.

But the Christian can conquer even over discouragement and depression. "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ," said Paul, "shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword . . . Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us." Remember, all the moods we experience were experienced by Him who was "in all points tempted like as we are." And because He has been in our position, He is better equipped to help us through these difficult places. He always makes us to triumph.

She Wants A Choice

DEAR ABBY: Just before school was out my Dad asked my Mom for a divorce. Mom didn't want one, but they got divorced anyway. Now my brother gets to live with my Dad and I have to live with Mom. All my friends got to choose which parent they wanted to live with when their parents broke up, but nobody even asked me. I think a 13-year-old girl should know what is best for her, but Mom says she knows better what is best for me. How can I get to live with my Dad. My mother is always yelling at me for something and we don't get along. Don't you think it should be MY choice?

STUCK WITH MOM

DEAR STUCK: When some adults don't know what is best for themselves, how are children expected to know? Young ladies are usually better off living with their mothers. Take my word for it, honey, and don't complicate your mother's life by complaining. She has enough on her mind right now.

Out of the clear blue sky my sister, who is four years older than I am, said to me, "I wish you'd tell 'Baldy' (that's what she calls my husband) to keep his eyes off me." I told her she must be imagining things. When I mentioned this to my husband he said to forget it—that she was a trouble maker. My sister has never been married and claims she hates men. I can't get this out of my mind. How can I be sure? NERVOUS

DEAR NERVOUS: Believe your husband. And tell your sister the next time she catches your husband ogling her to direct her complaints to "Baldy" himself.

DEAR ABBY: Arthur's idiot (who broke out in uncontrollable laughter every time he kissed her) brought back memories of myself. My husband and I eloped many years ago. We were young and didn't have much money. In fact, I had to dig into my purse to help pay for the blood tests. Rites Held For Ballard MADILL, Okla. (AP)—Funeral services were held Sunday for Spec. 5 Carl Ballard, victim of a mistake shooting last week in Viet Nam. Controversy and bitterness over his death continued.

C. C. Ballard, his father, said shortly after the funeral the Madill soldiers letters had indicated conditions in Viet Nam were unbearable.

"I know it's too late to help my boy," the father said, "but maybe I can help someone else by making someone wake up."

Ballard said he had to buy his son a pistol because the Army told the youth he had to have one, but refused to furnish the weapon.

His son was a helicopter mechanic, Ballard said, "but he was worried because they told him he might have to fly a mission if they ran short of pilots."

He said Carl didn't want to go "because the helicopters frequently did not come back."

Ballard said his son wrote in one letter that his outfit had no meat or eggs for about two months and he lost 17 pounds.

The Oklahoma soldier was killed when a U.S. Army guard at an airstrip 65 miles south of Saigon fired on American soldiers he mistook for Communist guerrillas.

The Defense Department in Washington had no immediate comment on the father's statements.

Receive Regular Commissions

Six student pilots assigned to the 3560th Student Squadron at Webb received their regular commissions July 25, when their commander, Lt. Col. Herbert H. Dahnke, swore them in. The students are, back row, from left, 2nd Lt. William W. Cooper, 2nd Lt. Jack D. Greene, and 2nd Lt. Kenneth E. Keeler. Front row, from left, 2nd Lt. Rodney E. Showers, Col. Dahnke, Kenson R. Vance Jr., and Ross F. Early.

Scout Session

The monthly meeting of the Lone Star (Boy Scout) district committee has been set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Cosden Country Club. R. L. Tollett, district chairman, said that this was a particularly important session inasmuch as plans for the fall Roundup would be outlined.

Caldwell Gets Paving Contract

Howard County Commissioners Court awarded contracts today for paving eight miles of Howard County roads.

W. D. Caldwell, Big Spring, was low bidder with a proposal of $13,805.77, for the paving. He was awarded the job over Jones Paving and Dirt Co. which bid $16,397.71.

Gravel contract for the roads was divided. West Texas Sand and Gravel Co. was awarded the contract for materials for the Elbow and Allendale road projects. Remainder of the gravel will be supplied for the other other four projects by Vealmoor Sand and Gravel Co.

Vealmoor had bid $3,937.30 for all of the gravel for the six jobs; West Texas $4,064.85, and R. E. Janes Sand and Gravel $4,053.11.

The contractors posted bids on each road. The low bids were accepted on each.

Total for the gravel and paving for the eight miles of road was $17,712.97. This was close to the estimate the roads could be built for $2,000 a mile.

The roads to be paved are: one half mile on 24th Street; one-half mile on Allendale Road; one-half mile on Jonesboro Road and Gatesville Street; one-half mile on Barnes Addition Road; two on Lomax Road and two miles on Old Colorado City Road.

The contractors said they would start work on the jobs as quickly as the road and bridge department gave them the go ahead signal.

Bodies Seen Floating In Sea

BOMBAY, India (AP)—An Indian air force plane sighted five bodies today floating in the Arabian Sea area where a United Arab Airlines jet disappeared Sunday with 62 persons aboard.

Hope was virtually abandoned for any survivors among the crew of 8 and the 54 passengers, including 23 Filipino Boy Scouts. There were no Americans aboard.

The plane crashed nine miles off the Indian coast as it was approaching Bombay through monsoon rains. President Gamal Abdel Nasser's personal pilot was at the controls.

Fishermen said they heard the noise of plane engines and what sounded like an explosion.

It was feared the passengers were belted into their seats in preparation for landing when the plane hit the water.

Navy vessels resumed their search in torrential rains today for the main wreckage of the Comet airliner.

Airline officials said the tail section and a number of instruments were among debris picked up by Indian minesweepers six miles off Madh Island near Bombay.

The five bodies were sighted off Madh.

Suicide Attempt Checked By Police

Big Spring police investigated an attempted suicide, after midnight Saturday. A man living at a local hotel was found with both wrists slashed with a razor blade at 1:31 a.m. at 203-A Benton. He was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation for treatment. An artery in the right wrist was cut. After two hours observation, he was removed to the city jail and booked for drunkenness.

E. C. Hartman, 813 Anna, called police just before 1 a.m. Sunday and reported his car stolen from 809½ W. 3rd. He said he had just purchased the car and had not locked the doors.

Austin Negroes Theaten Demonstrations

AUSTIN (AP)—A group of Austin Negroes threatened today public demonstrations if Gov. John Connally refuses to negotiate with them concerning his stand on President Kennedy's civil rights program.

W. T. Bonner, who was beaten in a race for the Austin City Council last spring, said he would try to see Connally today.

The governor is in Houston and Bonner talked to one of Connally's aides.

Connally said in a recent television speech he is opposed to the public accommodations provisions of Kennedy's program because it would violate traditional property rights. He said Negroes should have access to all tax-supported institutions.

Bonner asserted Connally's speech was "an affront to the citizens of Texas as a whole and to the Negro population in particular."

Bonner said he and other Austin Negroes want to see Connally "to convince the governor of the unreasonableness of his attitude and of the ramifications this attitude could have in the Negro community."

"In the event that the governor refuses to see the group or if he proves unreasonable, the group plans public demonstrations to bring the issues to light," Bonner said.

Bonner also said his group wants to "serve notice on Mr. Connally that the Negro wants complete freedom now—he does not have to qualify for this freedom. It should be his, simply by virtue of being born, as is the case with whites."

"Glad to—fifteen cubic feet—meet you."

RACIAL HOUSING QUESTIONS POSED

Voluntary Segregation Expected

EDITOR'S NOTE — Is it true that Americans want better homes for Negroes — but not next door? The President's attempt to solve this knottiest of racial problems by White House order has been attacked: It hasn't worked, doesn't go far enough; it goes too far, it will hurt homebuilding. Some say it will even spawn a political "white man's party." The man who gives his views in this exclusive interview.

By STERLIN F. GREEN and
W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's housing chief said today he believes the presidential ban on racial bias in federally aided housing inevitably will be extended to other housing.

Dr. Robert C. Weaver made the prediction in an interview, even though he conceded that "you cannot change attitudes by law" or executive orders.

He also agreed that many Negroes will continue to prefer living in Negro neighborhoods in "voluntary segregation" even if racial barriers are dismantled in white neighborhoods and suburbs.

EXAGGERATED

But Weaver held that the hostility of white householders to Negro neighbors has been exaggerated, that behavior can be changed by law even if attitudes can't be, and that "the American people do adjust to new circumstances."

As administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency—the highest executive post ever held by a Negro—Weaver rejected other frequent criticisms of the order, including charges that it will depress homebuilding and hasn't noticeably helped Negroes, yet is speeding the flight of whites to the suburbs.

The question-and-answer text:

Q: Dr. Weaver, a recent book titled "But Not Next Door" pictures an attitude expressed in the quotation, "We don't want to deny Negroes the right to decent homes, just as good as ours—but not next door." Is this a common attitude?

A: I think it is fairly common. I think it is over-exaggerated. Like most attitudes, it is not always directly connected with behavior.

OPEN OCCUPANCY

Q: Since such an attitude does exist, do you believe that any law or executive order can bring about open occupancy?

A: I certainly think that a law and an executive order can accelerate the accomplishment of an open occupancy situation. We have had the same story all along, such as when we passed laws for equal employment opportunity. You can't change attitudes by law, but we are talking about behavior patterns, and laws can effect changes in behavior. Laws are sometimes educational materials.

Q: Are any significant changes visible since President Kennedy's executive order prohibiting bias in government-aided housing? (The order, issued last November, forbids racial discrimination in public housing and dwellings financed with Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance or Veterans Administration loans or guarantees.)

A: Yes and No. As far as definitive results are concerned, it is too early to make conclusions. As far as the prophecies of woe and disaster are concerned—to the effect that this would dry up the building industry and, as one spokesman for the building industry said, cut down housing starts by 34 per cent—actually we had in May the highest volume since 1950.

SLOWING

Q: Hasn't there been a slowing of FHA and VA housing starts, the ones affected by the order?

A: The number of FHA and VA starts has increased, though the proportion of these to total starts has been going down. They have been declining proportionately for some time because of the plentiful supply of mortgage money, so that people can get conventional mortgages at comparable rates. (A conventional mortgage is a home loan not insured by FHA or guaranteed by VA.)

Q: Do you consider the results of the order satisfactory, in view of the fact that Negroes seem to be making slower progress against housing bias than against most other discriminations?

A: If you mean do I consider the results of the order satisfactory, these are about as we expected. If you mean the over-all results of getting equality in housing opportunity, I am not satisfied.

Q: Is that because of lack of compliance or cooperation:

A: We have found very little noncompliance. We are getting a degree of cooperation, not full, but comparable to the cooperation you usually get when you change the rules of the game.

Q: Is there still the problem of blockbusting?

A: Yes. It continues and I think will continue as long as residential patterns are segregated, because there is nothing more profitable in real estate manipulation. As you extend the opportunity for free choice of housing by minorities, the profit in blockbusting will go down.

"Blockbusting" is the term popularly applied to the tactics of some real estate speculators. They panic whites into selling their houses by spreading the word that a Negro is moving into the block and that values will fall. They buy the houses at low cost and resell to Negroes at a high price.

Q: Are you suggesting that the presidential order should be extended to cover conventionally financed housing?

A: The position I have always taken is that the widest possible coverage is desirable. I have always advocated extending it further than it is now.

Q: Will it be extended?

A: Only the President can answer that. I think it is inevitable, but as to when, I couldn't offer a suggestion.

HOSTILITY

Q: There has been talk of inborn hostility in the suburbs that can be exploited for political purposes in developing a white man's party that would attract votes in the big Eastern cities and in the Midwest. Do you think there is any such attitude?

A: I think there is always a residue of hate and know-nothingness in any society and I am sure that is this possibility. I don't think it is a very live probability. I think the dichotomy between the suburbs and the central cities, as far as political, economic and social interests are concerned, has been one that has been exploited, by the very fact that one of the sales pitches of the suburbs has been exclusiveness . . .

That is a divisive trend. But there is also a trend toward greater cooperation between city and suburb in such problems as mass transit, planning and open space.

Q: You don't believe Washington, for instance, is heading toward a situation of an all-white suburb surrounding a predominantly Negro city?

UNIQUE

A: I have taken issue in the past with the idea that the central cities were going to become predominantly Negro. Washington is unique and I think will remain unique in this regard. Yet, even in Washington a large number of whites will remain in the city proper. Some of them are coming back to Washington, too.

Q: Your belief that broadening of the order is inevitable leads to this question: do you hold that view because you think that the present order won't accomplish the opening of the suburbs?

A: I would say that the existing order will have the effect of opening to some degree the suburbs. But an extension of the coverage would accelerate that process, because where you have everyone following the same rules, you don't have the possibility of one developer selling exclusiveness on his project.

Also, you don't have the possibility of a few developers being inundated by nonwhite demand. I don't think this is a live possibility, anyway, because the effective nonwhite demand is not that large.

LEGALITY

Q: The administration has been considering a broadening of the order for a long time, but has not acted. Isn't that because there are doubts as to the legality of such an extension?

A: Here again I can't speak, because I don't make the decisions . . . there are some legal problems . . . but I don't think there are any which cannot be surmounted.

Q: Does your experience in the housing agency bear out a common belief that Negro dwellings are allowed to deteriorate?

A: I believe that Negroes are like other people. Some take care of their property. Others do not. I don't think you can generalize. Unfortunately, because the great bulk of Negroes are low-income and many are new to cities, it is easy to identify them with the blight they inherited and to judge all by the lowest common denominator.

Q: There are some suburbs around Washington where unofficial surveys indicate many residents are willing to accept Negro neighbors, yet even in these areas there have been virtually no homes sold to Negroes. Why?

A: I think here again the laws are important. We do know that very often the real estate operators, some builders and financial institutions assume that people will not accept the democratic pattern.

ACCEPT THINGS

I think when you begin to change the pattern, you find that people accept things you wouldn't expect them to accept and which they didn't think they would accept.

Patterns do change and social institutions change, and the American people do adjust to new circumstances. This is the way we get progress in democracy.

Q: Oscar Handlin, historian and sociologist, said the other day that even if there were complete open occupancy, there would still be Negroes who wanted to live with Negroes. There would be Negro communities, just as there are Jewish, Polish and other ethnic sections. Do you believe this is so?

A: I think he is 100 per cent right. Segregation is of two types. There is voluntary segregation and enforced segregation. Voluntary segregation in a democracy is anybody's privilege. Enforced segregation is a dangerous thing in a democracy and a very, very costly thing to those who are subjected to it.
