MRS. CURRY, 84, DIED SUNDAY

Death Comes To Mother Of Curry Brothers And Mmes. Thompson After Long Illness

Rounding out a life of four score and four years, Mrs. Nancy Ann Curry came to the end of the way at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. M. Thompson, six miles east of Tahoka at 2:20 o'clock Sunday morning, January 3. She had been seriously ill for several months but her condition improved temporarily several weeks ago. A couple of weeks before her death her condition became serious again and she was unable to rally. Death was attributed to heart trouble.

Mrs. Curry was born in Alabama on May 30, 1852. She was brought to Texas as a mere child by her parents, who settled at Hubbard in Hill county. There she grew to womanhood and there she was married to Wiley Curry about 1876.

Her husband died in 1913 while visiting one of the children at Dunde near Wichita Falls. She came to Lynn county about 1923 and has been making her home since that time with the various children.

She united with the Baptist Church at the age of 15 and remained a member until death.

Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist Church here Sunday afternoon, Rev. George A. Dale, pastor of the church, officiating, and interment was in the Tahoka Cemetery under the direction of the Harris Funeral Home.

Mrs. Curry left surviving her the following children, all of whom were present at the funeral services: Tom Curry of Lubbock, Jack and Wiley Curry of Tahoka, Mrs. Pearl Thompson, wife of W. M. Thompson, and Mrs. Stella Thompson, wife of Joe Thompson, all of Lynn county.

She also left surviving 18 grandchildren and many other relatives.

A truly good woman and devoted mother has gone to her reward, and the assurance that her reward in the spirit world is great must be a wonderful consolation to all her loved ones.

Baptist Workers Visit New Home

God's plan of Church Finance was the subject for discussion in the all day meeting of the Brownfield Baptist Association meeting with the New Home Baptist Church Tuesday.

The morning program, directed by Rev. S. K. McCulloch, New Home pastor, including talks favoring the titling plan of church financing brought by Revs. Milburn and McCarty of Lubbock and Sewell of Slaton, who based their talks upon Dr. R. C. Campbell's book, "God's Plan," and Rev. Herford of Lubbock, who brought the sermon of the day. Rev. Boyd of Plains directed the congregational singing.

The good people of New Home spread a bountiful feast of delicious food for all at the noon hour, and much could be said for this hour of enjoyment and fellowship which they provided.

The afternoon was given over chiefly to business, which included a short conference on Sunday School and B. T. U. work, which is to be the main subject in the next Workers Conference, which meets in Tahoka in February. Rev. J. S. Rankin of Seagraves and Miss Clara May of Wilson are planning a very interesting program for this meeting.

While the Board meeting discussed Church Finance, the W. M. U. gave reports on recent work done in behalf of Benevolence and Foreign Missions and Apportionments. Mrs. L. Lumsden of Wilson, president of the Association W. M. U., presided over the women's meeting.

Concluding discussions on "God's Plan" were given in the afternoon by Revs. Dale of Tahoka, Jarve of Meadow, and A. A. Bryan, the district missionary.

Lynn churches represented at the conference included O'Donnell, Central, Petty, New Home, Wilson, and Tahoka. Wilson having eleven members of its W. M. U. present. Tahoka was represented by Rev. and Mrs. George A. Dale, Mrs. J. B. Walker, Mrs. F. L. Kelley, and Mrs. E. I. Hill.

Cold Wave Sweeps Over This Section

The first blizzard of the winter struck here Wednesday night. The thermometer registered 15 degrees above zero early Thursday morning. Strangely enough, instead of snow or sleet a fine mist was falling and freezing as it fell, coating pavements and sidewalks with a thin layer of ice and causing trees and shrubs to bend under their load of frozen moisture.

The lowest temperature reached this winter prior to Wednesday night was 19 degrees registered a few nights before. Only twice before had the mercury gone down as low as 22. This winter preceding this spell had been exceedingly mild.

WPA Meeting At Lubbock Friday

Judge Alvin R. Allison of Leveland, president of the West Texas County Judges and Commissioners Association, has called a meeting of all county judges, commissioners, mayors, and other city and county officials, chamber of commerce managers, and newspaper editors of this section of the state to meet in the Hilton Hotel in Lubbock this afternoon, Friday, at 2 o'clock, to consider matters pertaining to a continuance of WPA work and to urge Congress to take prompt action to provide funds therefor.

"If WPA were to quit all activities" the call states, "your county or city, or both, would have to feed, clothe and shelter every individual now on WPA projects and their families. This would be a burden beyond the abilities of most counties and cities—but we could not let these people starve and freeze—and we would have to take care of them in some way."

WPA is cutting down in every way every day, Judge Allison says, and Harry Hopkins declares that he is "scraping the bottom" for funds right now.

President Roosevelt has announced that he will ask Congress for an appropriation of five hundred million dollars when it convenes but Judge Allison thinks that Congress may dilapidate along and not make the appropriation or greatly reduce it. He wants the meeting to "devise ways and means of impressing on Congress the need of immediate action."

Governor Will Urge New Specific Taxes

Austin, Jan. 4.—A 10-point program of recommendations for the coming regular session was announced by Governor Allred today, to come before the Legislature in a personally delivered message, probably the day after convening on Jan. 12. The Governor was not at all hesitant in saying what he would urge in the way of legislation, and he included this list.

Several specific new taxes.

Repeal of the race horse betting law under the pal-mutual system.

New state commission for regulation of public utilities.

A law to tighten up enforcement of the liquor laws.

Renewal of the interstate oil compact.

Redistricting the entire State as to legislative districts.

A law with teeth to prohibit the operation of bookies.

A much more stringent driver's license law to reduce the number of auto accidents.

Disapproval of any move to re-liberalize the old age assistance law.

Disapproval of any efforts to change the present setup and statute on old age assistance.

CHIEF JUSTICE HERE.

Judge W. P. Leslie, chief justice of the court of civil appeals of Eastland, his daughter, Miss Rosalie, and son Robert were brief visitors at the News office on Thursday of last week. Justice Leslie is a long-time friend of the editor. Miss Rosalie is now a teacher in the C. I. A. at Denton. We do not know what political aspirations, if any, Judge Leslie has, but he is capable of filling the highest offices in this state with credit to himself and the people of Texas.

Believe It Or Not, Only $850 Offered For Building That Cost Town $45,000

Bids for the Central and South Ward school buildings were received by the school board Tuesday but all bids were rejected. The highest bid for the Central Ward School building was $850.00, and members of the board declared that it was not sufficient to even interest them. The highest bid for South Ward

Con. Geo. Mahon Is In Washington

Congressman George Mahon, wife and daughter left their home in Colorado January 2 and arrived in Washington prior to the opening of the 75th Congress January 5. Prior to his departure the Congressman predicted a long and important session.

He stated that he expected to take an active part in pressing for passage legislation designed to improve the Farm Program and provide a means for worthy tenant farmers to purchase farms of their own. Mahon declared that the Emergency Feed-Seed Loan program must be immediately renewed and that he would urge an immediate appropriation to provide funds for the WPA in distressed areas.

Mahon declared that in his opinion the preservation of peace was one of the major problems of the Roosevelt Administration at this time. He indicated that he would vigorously support legislation designed to renew and strengthen existing neutrality laws.

The Congressman expressed satisfaction over the fact that he will again be assisted this year by his same secretaries, Lloyd Croslin of Lubbock and George Witten of Colorado.

Resettlement Office Open Part Of Time

The Resettlement office in the court house has designated Tuesday and Thursday of each week as the days on which it will be open for business until further notice.

Geo. C. Jones, who has been in charge of the office here since October 1st, is being returned to Lubbock. He or some one from the Lubbock office will be in the Tahoka office on the days named.

Lynn Citizens At Tenant Meeting

Lynn county was represented by three speakers at the statewide farm-tenant meeting held in Dallas Monday under the direction of a federal farm tenant committee at the request of President Roosevelt to gather information to enable the Administration to work out and present to Congress a plan to enable the tenant farmers to acquire farm homes. C. F. Dykes of Tahoka and Fred Matthews and L. L. (Shorty) Gollehon of Grassland were the three men representing the tenant farmers of this section of the state.

The meeting was attended by land owners, tenant farmers, business men, officials of various farm organizations, and persons in various other vocations, the crowd being estimated at 800 to 1500 people.

There was general agreement that the government should help farm tenants and share-croppers to become owners of their own homes and farms. Government loans at 2 to 2½ per cent interest on long time to enable tenant farmers to purchase land, acquisition of lands by the government and resale to tenants through some governmental agency, tax relief, crop rotation, and soil conservation were among the suggestions made by speakers at the meeting.

There were addresses by a number of eminent men from Texas, Arkansas, and Oklahoma on the different phases of the problem. Fred Matthews was the first man to speak in behalf of the tenant farmers, and he made an address that brought much applause. L. L. Gollehon and C. F. Dykes ably stated the case of the average tenant farmer. They was $125.00.

Central Ward was built at a cost of $45,000.00. The first section was built about 25 years ago with a bond issue of $15,000, and the last section was built about 1920 at a cost of $30,000.00. The newer section is in fairly good condition but the old portion is in bad repair.

Interest Growing In Scout Work

Interest in Scouting in our town seems to be picking up. At a meeting recently, fifteen boys responded to the call. It looks now as if we will have twenty in our troop before long.

Interest is high in some tables we are making for ping pong, or table tennis. One of the tables is almost complete. Another is to be built at an early date. This work is being done as a result of a donation to the troop by the Luncheon Club. Some funds were left in the treasury when the club was absorbed by the new Rotary Club. It is felt that the money is being well spent in providing something for the boys that will stimulate their interest in Scouting.

There is quite a bit of talk about the forthcoming Scout Jamboree to be held in Washington, D. C., the last of next June. It is hoped that four or more scouts from the local troop will be enabled to make this wonderful trip. The trip will last 21 days, ten of which will be spent in camp in Washington. Some 30,000 scouts from the United States and delegations from 66 foreign nations will be there. In addition side trips will be taken to many places of interest, and possibly a trip to New York. The total cost of the trip for

Notaries Should Now File Applications

Homer Bennett Died Thursday

Homer W. Bennett, 42, died of tuberculosis at the home of his father, G. B. Bennett, in east Tahoka on Thursday, December 31. He was buried Friday afternoon, January 1, in the Tahoka Cemetery. The funeral services were conducted at the Harris Funeral Home by Elder R. P. Drennon of the Church of Christ.

Mr. Bennett was born at Cummins, Georgia. At about three years of age, he was brought by his parents to Fannin county, Texas. There he grew to manhood, and when the United States entered the World War he promptly enlisted and went to France with the second division that went overseas. He was soon sent to the front and remained at the front until the armistice was signed. Soon after the armistice was signed, he married Miss Jane Marcelle, a French girl, and was then sent up into Germany, his wife accompanying him, and they remained there six months.

While in the service in France he was "gassed" once and wounded in the left leg once from scrap iron from a bomb which exploded near him.

In 1919, he was transported back to America, accompanied by his wife and honorably discharged. They resided at Ladonia, his old home town, for two or three years and then they went back to France for a year. They then came to America, located again at Ladonia, but returned to France the next year. For seven years they resided in Paris, and Mr. Bennett worked in a factory there. Coming back to America for the last time a few years ago, Mr.

Bertreaux Twin Baby Is Buried

Little Dock Bertreaux Jr., one of the four months old twin babies of Mr. and Mrs. Dock Bertreaux residing on the Garland Pennington farm southeast of town, died in a Lubbock hospital early Sunday afternoon of pneumonia. The infant had not been very strong and well at any time since birth.

Funeral services were conducted in the Garland Pennington home at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon by Rev. George A. Dale, pastor of the Baptist Church here. The body was buried in the Tahoka Cemetery under the direction of the Harris Funeral Home.

The parents have the most sincere sympathy of the people of Tahoka, and vicinity in their great bereavement.

News Turns Out Big Printing Jobs

As evidence of the fact that The News printing department does a high quality of work at a fair price, the force has this week turned out two big printing jobs and signed up a year's contract on another.

The club book of the Women's Home Demonstration Clubs of Lynn county, 29 pages and cover in size, was printed locally at a price which we are told is as low as any of the other printers in this country do such work. The truth is that we are glad to do this work for this worthy organization almost at cost.

Another big job, turned out last week, was a booklet containing the constitution and by-laws of the Texas Rural Letter Carriers Association, of which John T. Hood of Dallas is president and Geo. H. Harries of San Antonio is secretary-treasurer.

The News shop has held the printing contract for the past two years on The Texas Carrier, official organ of that organization, and the first of this week signed a new contract on the job. The paper is tabloid size, 8 to 12 pages, printed on book paper. Its circulation is 2400 copies monthly.

W. E. Suddarth, now of O'Donnell, formerly editor of the paper was responsible for The News, getting the first contract. Earl Slater of Clyde is editor and Geo. L. Howrey of Wylie advertising manager.

Basketball Games At Local Gymnasium

Only a small crowd witnessed the basketball game between Tahoka and Brownfield in the new gymnasium here Tuesday night.

Tahoka was defeated by the visitors by a score of 8 to 22. The visitors out-classed the Tahoka boys in size and in team work, but the home team is showing improvement. It is made up entirely of raw recruits. A little additional training and experience will make a good team of them.

Two games were being played Thursday night after this paper had gone to press. One was with Draw and the other with O'Donnell. The Tahoka team is to play Post in the Post gymnasium tonight.

RESETTLEMENT PROGRAM HAS PROSPEROUS YEAR

The Resettlement program in Lynn county has had a very satisfactory year, according to George C. Jones, assistant county rural supervisor.

The average repayment on loans due this fall will run about 90 per cent. About 47 per cent paid their accounts in full. Mr. Jones states that many farmers are coming to the office who are disturbed over their inability to rent a farm for the coming year.

CHICAGO MAN HERE

James Teague, wife and son of Chicago visited Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Anglin and family Thursday and Friday. Mr. Teague is the youngest brother of Mrs. Anglin, and she had not seen him in seventeen years. He is one of the department heads of Sears & Roebuck in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Henderson and daughter, Miss Lola Belle, visited in Hobbs, New Mexico, Sunday.

BAPTISTS PLAN NEW BUILDING

Raising Funds To Erect Main Auditorium Over Basement Of Church Building

The Baptists of Tahoka are planning to complete their church building here.

A brick basement about 60x110 feet was constructed in 1925 at a cost of about $14,000. Before the Church had finished paying the indebtedness the depression came on and it was not fully paid out until about three years ago.

A few weeks ago the board of deacons began discussing the feasibility of raising a considerable sum of money this year to be placed in a building fund. Belton Howell was named as chairman of a committee to raise the funds.

After some effort was made to raise funds for this purpose, members of the committee decided that the time is ripe to begin a campaign to raise the entire amount necessary to complete the building during the present year. Accordingly, the matter was taken up by the committee and the board of Deacons Sunday afternoon, the plan submitted by Belton Howell was approved, and a building and finance committee was selected, with the approval of the Church, which was given Sunday night.

This committee consists of the following members: Belton Howell, chairman, Roy Leslie, secretary, Deen Nowlin, A. J. Edwards, W. M. Harris, A. J. Mullins, Dr. K. R. Durham, and Homer St. Clair, and the pastor, Rev. Geo. A. Dale.

Bonds in denominations of $10.00 to $500.00 have already been printed, and it is the purpose of the committee to sell these "bonds", or certificates rather, since the bonds are not redeemable and do not bear interest. A purchaser or subscriber for a bond is presented with the same when it is paid out. It may be paid for at once or in installments.

Already a number of "bonds" have been purchased or subscribed for—a few of them being of the larger denomination. Members of the committee Sunday reported that they had met with much encouragement on the proposition to build this year, and they are very sanguine as to results.

Plans and estimates of the cost of the second story will be procured at an early date. The completed structure will doubtless be a handsome, substantial, and commodious building—one that will be a credit to the town.

Call Meeting Of Farm Loan Body

Deen Nowlin, secretary-treasurer of the Tahoka National Farm Loan Association, announces there will be a meeting of the stockholders of the association in the county court room at 2 p. m. Tuesday, January 12. All stockholders are urged to be present.

Every person who has a farm loan from the Federal Land Bank of Houston is a stockholder in the association. Mr. Nowlin explains, and is expected to attend the meeting. R. C. Wood is president of the association.

Legislature Will Open Next Week

Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock is leaving this week end for Austin for the regular session of the Texas legislature. Mrs. Nelson and children expect to follow him to that city a week later.

The Senator expects to again introduce his one-house legislature bill during this session, and hopes to be able to bring the proposal to the people for a vote.

He has been honored by the labor organizations of Texas, and has the backing of parent-teachers association to lead the fight in the Senate for new child labor laws.

The condition of S. M. Bean, 84, who sustained a compound fracture of the bones of one leg in a fall nearly two weeks ago, continues to be most critical. It is not thought possible that he can live but a few days at the best.

Gild Their Teeth

The ladies in old Japan and also of today, to some extent, gild their teeth, and those of the Indies paint them red. In Greenland the women color their faces with blue and yellow. However fresh the complexion of the Muscovite may be, she would think herself ugly if she was not plastered over with paint. The Chinese used to have their feet as diminutive as those of the she goats. In ancient Persia an aquiline nose was often thought worthy of the crown. — Chicago Tribune.

Big Business Ahead
Nuffield, Rockefeller
Government Steps In Sing Sing

This is the last column by the late Arthur Brisbane. It was found on his desk after his death December 25.

The old-time spirit broke away the bounds of the last remnant of the depression years.

The great boom in air travel, railroads and all forms of transportation during this Christmas period augurs great things for the coming new year.

Prosperity and optimism are the forerunners of this Christmas period to usher in the New Year.

Lord Nuffield English, is a generous giver; his automobile manufacturing makes it possible. He gave $10,000,000 to the University of Oxford, has established a trust of $10,000,000 for his employees, and has given $10,000,000 to the British government "to help the needy."

His giving in the past eleven years amounts to about thirty-seven million dollars.

If Lord Nuffield were to multiply his gifts by ten, he would still be far from the giving record of our home-grown John D. Rockefeller; also, he would be surprised to know how much prosperous Americans contribute to their government "for their needy" in the form of income tax.

The governor of Pennsylvania spent three days carefully investigating illegal coal mining and selling by idle workers, "bootlegging" property of coal corporations, selling more than thirty million dollars' worth of "stolen" coal each year.

At the end of his investigation, the governor "took action," but of a kind that probably will surprise mine owners.

He ordered the arrest of four executives of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron company, accusing them of involuntary manslaughter in connection with a coal mine disaster three years ago that killed thirteen. The officials and company are accused of employing eighty-five men in a mine section on which only seventy-five could be legally employed. An explosion killed thirteen. Mine owners with grievances will think carefully before calling on Gov. Earle again.

There are twenty-seven murderers in the death house at Sing Sing prison, nearly all boys or very young men. Six of the twenty-seven young ruffians, of assorted races and religions—three of them under twenty-one years of age—surrounded a defenseless man, murdered him in cold blood to get a few dollars, all in subway nickels.

Governor Lehman of New York is urged to pardon the six murderers, some because they are young, some because they did not fire that fatal shot. The governor replied he ought not to pardon any murderer under twenty-one years of age, because "I frankly see no difference in the guilt of the man who is twenty-two and one who is twenty."

The "big shot" gangsters hire men, usually very young and well supplied with drugs, to do their killing for them. It would be too easy for these employers of killers if they could take boys from sixteen to twenty and guarantee them, "in the first place, they won't catch you; in the second place, if they do, they can't execute you; we'll get you acquitted or get you out of jail."

Murder has become a "business," and businesslike murders must be made dangerous.

Suggestions for Lloyd's insurance. In the United States, where some business is rather timid, accident insurance companies automatically terminate accident policies when the beneficiaries reach the age of seventy.

Yet, at that age, men are often safest from accidents. They stay at home, walk slowly, take few risks.

The British Lloyd's might find a good field in a selected list of United States citizens past seventy. This would be no hardship on American companies, since they do not want the business.

Mexico plans to establish 2,000 new primary public schools, in the coming year, having established 3,000 such schools in 1936.

Representatives of the Catholic church, which includes in its membership 95 per cent of Mexico's population, object strongly and officially to the kind of education alleged to be offered to Mexican children.

France figures up a deficit of four thousand three hundred and thirty-five million francs, divide that by twenty-five, and you find that it is just "chicken feed" in dollars. In this country, $133,000,000 is no deficit, only petty cash.

Bru Plans Settlement of Cuban Debts to Americans—
Roosevelt Says Federal Government Should End
Child Labor and Starvation Wages.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD
© Western Newspaper Union

FEDERICO LAREDO BRU, the new president of Cuba, proposes to settle all Cuban obligations in the United States and is expected soon to invite the bankers and bondholders concerned to enter negotiations to that end. Credit for inducing Bru to do this is given to Col. Fulgencio Batista, who appears to be largely in control of affairs in the island.

The obligations include about $75,000,000 owed to many Americans who invested in public work gold bonds which were issued during the administration of President Gerardo Machado.

The new constitution which the Cuban congress recently voted originally prohibited any such negotiations as those contemplated before 1940, but when it appeared in the official gazette that article had been radically altered. It now orders the government to find a satisfactory way to settle all debts to the United States before 1940 and authorizes the president to open negotiations immediately.

This "error" in the gazette's composing room is supposed to have been ordered by Colonel Batista, and though congress has the power to correct it, a majority of congressmen, after reading the article in the gazette, gave it their approval. So President Bru, it seems, is free to go ahead with the negotiations.

ELIMINATION of child labor, long working hours and starvation wages is a necessity, and must be carried out by the federal government since it cannot be done by state action. So declared President Roosevelt in his press conference. He warned the correspondents not to say he was planning to revive the NRA and insisted all he could say at present was that something should be done to fix maximum hours and minimum wages.

Since the day of the NRA, said Mr. Roosevelt, there has been a steady decline in child labor, grueling hours and starvation wages by 90 per cent of American business. As for the other 10 per cent, he said, they were still failing to live up to the best standards since the death of the NRA.

Attorneys for the American Federation of Labor were reported to be about ready to submit to the President a bill designed to restore labor protective features lost in the death of NRA. It provides that congress catalogue unfair "conduct" which would be forbidden to employers and assure workers a adequate protection. Violations would be punishable by a fine. The federation is expected also to back federal licensing of interstate corporations as provided by the O'Mahoney bill.

TOM BERRY, before retiring from the governorship of South Dakota, appointed Herbert Hitchcock of Mitchell, S. D., to fill out the term of the late Senator Peter Norbeck. The new senator is Democratic state chairman and his appointment brings the Democratic membership in the senate to 76, the highest party total in history. The Republicans now number 16.

Mr. Hitchcock was born in Maquoketa, Ia., in 1867 and was educated at Anamosa, Davenport and Chicago. He went to Mitchell in 1894 and was admitted to the bar two years later. He was president of the school board in his home town for ten years and state's attorney four years. He served as state senator in 1909, 1911, and 1929.

AS NEBRASKA'S unicameral legislature, unique in the United States, was about to begin its first session, Gov. R. L. Cochran declared politics was out. He discouraged party caucuses among the members and said he would have no spokesman in the legislature.

The governor pointed out that the constitution provides that the one-house chamber shall be non-partisan and that the voters had done their part by electing, on a non-political ticket, 22 Democrats and 21 Republicans. He said he would continue personally and as governor, all measures for new forms of taxation.

FINANCIAL status of American farmers may be much improved, as reports of governmental agencies say, but some of them still appear to need a lot of help. Senator F. Ryan Duffy of Wisconsin asked federal officials to allot $10,000,000 to aid the Wisconsin farmers who are suffering from the effects of the drought.

"This would be $200 per farm," he said, "and considering the high price of hay and other items of feed, it would be difficult to make a smaller sum cover the needs which would develop during the winter season."

Duffy estimated 40,000 to 50,000 Wisconsin farmers would need assistance in purchasing live stock this winter. He said at least 35,000 farmers in the drought area and from 10,000 to 15,000 outside the drought districts were in need of aid. In addition, he said, between 30,000 and 40,000 farmers would need government aid in purchasing seed for the 1937 crop.

GOVERNMENT officials, from the President down, were anxious to prevent the export of American airplanes to Spain, license for which was given perforce by the State department to Robert Cuse, a Jersey City airplane broker. Cuse proposes to send $2,777,000 worth of planes to the Spanish loyalists, and his action was criticized in Washington as "legal but unpatriotic." Senator Key Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the foreign relations committee, assailed the Cuse deal as improper and dangerous and said it might embarrass not only the United States but also other nations in their efforts to enforce the hands off policy toward the Spanish war. Congress may be able to rush through prohibitive legislation before the planes are shipped. Meantime pressure was being brought to bear on Cuse to cancel the deal.

WHEN the German steamer Palos was captured by Spanish loyalists at Bilbao because it carried war munitions supposedly destined for the Franco forces, the Berlin government demanded its release under threat of reprisal.

The Basque authorities, when the German cruiser, Koenigsberg, arrived at Bilbao, let the Palos go, but held on to the cargo and to one Spanish citizen who was a passenger. This did not satisfy the commander of the cruiser who insisted the cargo and the Spaniard must be released. The authorities defiantly refused this, and several more German warships were ordered to the Bilbao sector.

There was a report in Berlin that Hitler had been advised by Mussolini to withdraw as gracefully as possible from the Spanish imbroglio, and that Il Duce himself had decided to cease supporting Franco and the insurgents.

It was believed Hitler would avoid war measures in this crisis, and both Great Britain and France were hopeful that he would preserve peace because they have offered to help his economic and colonial needs in return for nonintervention in the Spanish conflict. However, informed German sources said the Anglo-French note sent Christmas, urging a cessation of German volunteer enlistments for Spain had come too late, and that Germany will permit and even encourage a continuance of such enlistments.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK, generalissimo of China and its dictator, is back in Nanking, Marshal Chang, who held him prisoner in Sianfu for two weeks, also is in the Nationalist capital, avowedly repentant and ready to submit to any punishment. The danger of civil war has passed for the time. The terms on which Chang has been released have not been made public. The dictator issued a statement, directed to his kidnaper, commending his change of heart and promising to use his influence to obtain leniency for him; and Chang also gave out a statement admitting his grievous fault.

These developments would seem to have quieted down the Oriental situation, but there is another matter that threatens continued trouble. This is the prospect that Chiang may decide to confine his attention largely to military affairs and to make Dr. T. V. Soong, his brother-in-law, premier. Soong, who used to be minister of finance, stands high among those who favor a strong foreign policy, including resistance to further encroachments by Japan. Therefore it is easy to see that his elevation to the premiership would greatly annoy Tokyo and might easily bring about an open break between the two nations. Since Marshal Chang is one of those demanding war with Japan, it is rumored that the appointment of Soong was the specified reward for his release of Chiang and submission to discipline.

FRANCE took a census in 1936, and the figures, just given out, show the population of the republic on August 3 was 41,905,988. This was an increase of 71,045 over the last previous census, taken in 1931. Of the total, 2,453,507 are foreigners, their number having decreased by 437,416.

UNCOMMON AMERICANS

"Magnificent Failure"

IN ALL the history of missionary work in America, there is no more remarkable record than that of David Zeisberger. For 63 years he labored among the Indians and during that time he traveled many thousands of miles through the wilderness on foot and by canoe. He built no less than 13 Indian towns as centers of Christianity in a heather land and he lived to see all but one of them wiped out of existence. He had failed but truly his was a "magnificent failure."

Zeisberger was born in Moravia in 1721 and in 1740 came to Georgia where his church was organizing a mission among the Creeks. Next he was sent to Pennsylvania where he aided Count Zinzendorf in building the Moravian towns of Nazareth and Bethlehem.

Beginning his work among the Delawares at Shamokin, Pa., he was adopted by the Munsty tribe of that nation. Then he went to New York where the Six Nations made him a sachem and keeper of their records, an unusual honor for a white man. When the French and Indian war began he was compelled to return to Bethlehem because both French and English were suspicious that his charges were partisans.

After Pontiac's conspiracy had been crushed in 1763 the Moravian led his flock to Wyalusing, Pa., and established two more missions: on the Allegheny and the Beaver. Then the call for service beyond the Ohio came to him and in 1772 he founded Schoenbrunn ("Beautiful Spring"), the first white settlement in the future Buckeye state. Next the town of Gnadenhuetten was established and an era of peace began.

But trouble was brewing for him. Although Zeisberger restrained the Delawares from taking part in the Revolutionary conflict, he soon found that he was under suspicion by both the British and the Americans. The British stirred up the Wyandots to break up the mission at Schoenbrunn and its teachers were tried as American spies. Finally in 1782 came the crowning blow, when a party of brutal Americans committed the hideous massacre of 96 Christian Indians at Gnadenhuetten. The broken-hearted Zeisberger started with the remnants of his flock on a journey which took them first to Michigan, then back to Ohio and finally to Canada where he founded Fairfield on the Thames river.

In 1798 the Moravian Indians and their leader came back to the Tuscarawas river in Ohio where Zeisberger founded his last town—Goshen. There his "long life of amazing fortitude, faith and patience" came to an end in 1808.

Real Estate Promoter

THOUGH you may regard real estate promoters as products of modern times, the fact is one of the greatest "put over his deal" early in the history of the republic. His name was Joel Barlow and he was a lawyer, a diplomat and a poet, which may account for the fact that once "his siren voice persuaded a group of French emigrants to seek a Garden of Eden in Ohio."

Back in 1787 two groups of land speculators, known as the Ohio Associates and the Scioto Associates, secured the right from congress to purchase land in the Northwest territory with the almost worthless Continental currency with which it had paid off soldiers of the Revolution. Then the Scioto Associates sent Barlow to France to dispose of these lands. They had nothing but an option on the lands but that didn't stop Barlow.

He sold a tract of 3,000,000 acres to a French Scioto company which in turn retailed farms to peasants and artisans who were willing to emigrate to America. In the spring of 1790 some 600 of them arrived in Alexandria, Va. William Duer, head of the Scioto Associates, was filled with dismay for there were neither agents to meet them nor lands ready for them.

Foreseeing the trouble that was ahead when hundreds more land-hungry Frenchmen arrived, Duer hastily arranged to take over lands of the Ohio Associates, who owed him money. For this debt he got nearly 200,000 acres on the Ohio river opposite the mouth of the Great Kanawha.

There he brought the Frenchmen and in October, 1790, the town of Gallipolis was founded. Rufus Putnam was engaged to build their huts for them but Duer soon found that it would be impossible to fulfill all the glowing promises which Barlow had made—to provide good homes and profitable occupation for the skilled artisans among them. By 1792 Duer had gone bankrupt, land titles were still in a bad tangle and the settlement of Gallipolis began to dwindle. For years thereafter congress had to listen to many a tale of woe from the victims before their claims were settled.

One's conscience often knows better than his brain.

DON'T RUB YOUR EYES

Rubbing your eyes grinds invisible particles of dust and dirt into the delicate tissue making the irritation just that much worse. A much better way, as thousands have discovered, is to use a little Murine in each eye—night and morning. Murine may be depended on to relieve eye irritation because it is a reliable eye preparation containing 7 active ingredients of known value in caring for the eyes. In use for 40 years. Ask for Murine at your drug store.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport. Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time. No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tune up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

The GARDEN MURDER CASE

SYNOPSIS

Philo Vance, famous detective and John X. Markham, district attorney for New York county are dining in Vance's apartment when Vance receives an anonymous telephone message informing him of a "disturbing psychological tension at Professor Ephraim Garden's apartment" advising that he read up on radio-active sodium, consult a passage in the Aeneid and counsel that "Equanimity is essential." Professor Garden is famous in chemical research. The message, decoded by Vance, reminds him that Professor Garden's son, Floyd and his puny cousin, Woody Swift, are addicted to horse-racing. Vance says that "Equanimity" is a horse running next day in the Rivermont handicap. Vance is convinced that the message was sent by Dr. Siefert, the Gardens' family physician. He arranges to have lunch next day at the Gardens' penthouse. Vance is greeted by Floyd Garden and meets Lowe Hammie, an elderly follower of horse racing. Floyd expresses concern over Swift's racing actions.

CHAPTER II—Continued

At this moment we heard the sound of light footsteps coming up the hall, and in the archway, which constituted the entrance from the hall into the drawing-room, appeared a slight, pallid young man of perhaps thirty, his head drawn into his slightly hunched shoulders, and a melancholy, resentful look on his sensitive, sallow face. Thick-lensed pince-nez glasses emphasized the impression he gave of physical weakness.

Garden waved his hand cheerily to the newcomer.

"Greetings, Woody. Just in time for a spot before lunch. You know Vance, the eminent sleuth; and this is Mr. Van Dine, his patient and faithful chronicler."

Woody Swift acknowledged our presence in a strained but pleasant manner, and listlessly shook hands with his cousin. Then he picked up a bottle of Bourbon and poured himself a double portion, which he drank at one gulp.

"Good Heavens!" Garden exclaimed good-humoredly. "How you have changed, Woody! . . . Who's the lady now?"

The muscles of Swift's face twitched.

"Oh, pipe down, Floyd," he pleaded irritably.

Garden shrugged indifferently. "Sorry. What's worrying you today besides Equanimity?"

"That's enough worry for one day," Swift managed a sheepish grin; then he added aggressively: "I can't possibly lose." And he poured himself another drink. "How's Aunt Martha?"

Garden narrowed his eyes.

"She's pretty fair. Nervous as the devil this morning, and smoking one cigarette after another. But she's sitting up. She'll probably be in later to take a crack or two at the prancing steeds . . ."

At this point Lowe Hammie arrived. He was a heavy-set, short man of fifty or thereabouts. He was wearing a black-and-white checked suit, a gray shirt, a brilliant green four-in-hand, a chocolate-colored waistcoat with leather buttons, and tan blucher shoes the soles of which were inordinately thick.

"The Marster of 'Ounds, b'Gad!" Garden greeted him jovially. "Here's your scotch-and-soda; and here also are Mr. Philo Vance and Mr. Van Dine."

"Delighted-delighted!" Hammie exclaimed heartily, coming forward.

In a few minutes the butler announced lunch. The conversation was almost entirely devoted to horses, the history of racing, the Grand National, and the possibilities of the various entrants in the afternoon's Rivermont Handicap.

Vance contented himself mainly with listening and studying the others at the table.

We were nearing the end of the luncheon when a tall, well-built and apparently vigorous woman, who looked no more than forty (though I later learned that she was well past fifty), entered the room. She wore a tailored suit, a silver-fox scarf and a black felt toque.

"Why, mater!" exclaimed Garden. "I thought you were an invalid. Why this spurt of health and energy?"

He then presented me to his mother: both Vance and Hammie had met her on previous occasions.

"I'm tired of being kept in bed," she told her son querulously, after nodding graciously to the others. "Now you boys sit right down—I'm going shopping, and just dropped in to see if everything was going all right. . . . I think I'll have a creme de menthe frappe while I'm here."

The butler drew up a chair for her beside Swift, and went to the pantry. Mrs. Garden put her hand lightly on her nephew's arm.

"How goes it with you, Woody?" she asked in a spirit of camaraderie. Without waiting for his answer, she turned to Garden again: "Floyd, I want you to place a bet for me on the big race today, in case I'm not back in time."

"Name your poison," smiled Garden.

"I'm playing Grand Score to win and place—the usual hundred."

"Right—o, mater." Garden glanced sardonically at his cousin. "Less intelligent bets have been made in these diggin's full many a time and oft . . . Sure you don't want Equanimity, mater?"

"Odds are too unfavorable," returned Mrs. Garden, with a canny smile.

"He's quoted in the over-night line at five to two."

"He won't stay there." There was authority and assurance in the woman's tone and manner. "And I'll get eight or ten to one on Grand Score."

"Right you are," grinned Garden. "You're on the dog for a century win and place."

The butler brought the creme de menthe, and Mrs. Garden sipped it and stood up.

"And now I'm going," she announced pleasantly. She patted her nephew on the shoulder. "Take care of yourself, Woody. . . . Good afternoon, gentlemen." And she went from the room with a firm masculine stride.

"Sneed," Garden ordered, "fix the set-up as usual."

I glanced at the electric clock on the mantel: It was exactly ten minutes after one.

"Fixing the set-up" was a comparatively simple procedure, but a more or less mysterious operation for anyone unfamiliar with the purpose it was to serve. From a small closet in the hall Sneed first wheeled out a sturdy wooden stand about two feet square. On this he placed a telephone connected to a loud speaker which resembled a midge radio set. As I learned later, it was a specially constructed amplifier to enable every one in the room to hear distinctly whatever came over the telephone.

On one side of the amplifier was attached a black metal switch box with a two-way key. In its upright position this key would cut off the voice at the other end of the line without interfering with the connection; and throwing the key forward would bring the voice on again.

The butler then brought in a well-built folding card-table and opened it beside the stand. On this table he placed another telephone of the conventional French, or hand, type. This telephone, which was gray, was plugged into an additional jack in the baseboard. The gray telephone was not connected with the one equipped with the amplifier, but was on an independent line.

When the two instruments and the amplifier had been stationed and tested, Sneed brought in four more card-tables and placed them about the drawing-room. At each table he opened up two folding chairs.

Then, from a small drawer in the stand, he took out a long manila envelope which had evidently come through the mail, and, sitting the top, drew forth a number of large printed sheets approximately nine by sixteen inches. There were 15 of these sheets—called "cards" in racing parlance—and after sorting them he spread out three on each of the card-tables.

When the butler had gone Garden lifted the receiver from the hook of the telephone and dialed a number. After a pause he spoke into the transmitter:

"Hello, Lex. B-2-9-8. Waiting for the dope." And, laying the receiver down on the stand, he threw the switch key forward.

A clear-cut, staccato voice came through the amplifier: "O. K., B-2-9-8." Then there was a click, followed by several minutes of silence. Finally the same voice began speaking:

"Everybody get ready. The exact time now is one-thirty and a quarter—Three tracks today. The order will be Rivermont, Texas, and Cold Springs. Just as you have them on the cards. Here we go. Rivermont: weather clear and track fast. Clear and fast. First post, 2:30. And now down the line."

Garden leaned over and threw the amplifier switch up, and there was silence in the room. He turned to his cousin. "Why don't you take Vance and Mr. Van Dine upstairs, and show them around the garden?"

They might, he added with good-natured sarcasm, "be interested in your lonely retreat on the roof, where you listen in to your fate."

"We'd better be going down," he said. "They'll be coming out for the first race before long."

Vance gave him an appraising look and rose.

"What about that sanctum sanctorum of yours which your cousin mentioned?" he asked lightly.

"Oh, that . . . Swift forced an embarrassed smile. "It's that red chair over there against the wall, next to the small table . . . But I don't see why Floyd should spoof about it. The crowd downstairs always rags me when I lose, and it irritates me. I'd much rather be alone when I get the results."

"Quite understandable," nodded Vance with sympathy.

"You see," the man went on rather pathetically, "I frankly play the ponies for the money—the others downstairs can afford to take heavy losses, but I happen to need the cash just now."

Vance had stepped over to the little table on which stood a desk telephone which had, instead of the ordinary receiver, what is known as a head receiver—that is, a flat disk ear-phone attached to a curved metal band to go over the head.

"Your retreat is well equipped," commented Vance.

"Oh, yes. This is an extension of the news-service phone downstairs; and there's also a plug-in for a radio, and another for an electric plate."

He took the ear-phone from the hook and, adjusting the band over his head, listened for a moment.

"Nothing new yet at Rivermont," he mumbled. He removed the ear-phone with nervous impatience and tossed it to the table. "Anyway we'd better get down." And he walked toward the door by which we had come out in the garden.

When we reached the drawing-room we found two newcomers—a man and a woman—seated at one of the tables, poring over the racing cards and making notations. Vance and I were casually introduced to them by Garden.

The man was Cecil Kroon, about thirty-five, immaculately attired and sleek, with smooth, regular features and a very narrow waxed mustache. He was quite blond, and his eyes were a cold steely blue.

The woman, whose name was Madge Weatherby; was about the same age as Kroon, tall and slender, and with a marked tendency toward theatricalism in both her attire and her make-up. Her cheeks were heavily rouged and her lips crimson. Her eyelids were shaded with green, and her eyebrows had been plucked and replaced with fine penciled lines.

Garden looked up and motioned to us—he was holding the receiver of the black telephone to his ear. Kroon went to the small bar and mixed two drinks which he took back to his table, setting one down before Miss Weatherby.

"I say, Floyd," he called out to Garden. "Zalia coming today?"

"Absolutely," Garden told him. "She was all stirred up when she phoned this morning. Full of sure things."

"Well, what about it?" came a vivacious feminine voice from down the hall; and the next moment a swaggering, pretty girl was standing in the archway, her hands on her muscular boyish hips. "I've concluded I can't pick any winners myself, so why not let the other guy pick 'em for me? Hello, everybody," she threw in parenthetically. "But Floyd, old thing, I really have a humdinger in the first at Rivermont today. This tip didn't come from a stable-boy, either. It came from one of the stewards—a friend of dad's. And am I going to sneeze that hay-burner!"

Sneed has probably got it arranged for you."

Swift rose with alacrity.

"Damned glad of the chance," he returned surlily. "Your manner today rather annoys me, Floyd." And he led the way down the hall and up the stairs to the roof-garden, Vance and I following.

The stairway was narrow and semicircular, and led upward from the hallway near the front entrance. In glancing back up the hall, toward the drawing-room, I noticed that no section of that room was visible from the stair end of the hall. I made this mental note idly at the time, but I mention it here because the fact played a very definite part in the tragic events which were to follow.

At the head of this narrow stairway we turned left into a corridor, barely four feet wide, at the end of which was a door leading into a large room—the only room on the roof.

This spacious and beautifully appointed study, with high windows, on all four sides, was used by Professor Garden, Swift informed us, as a library and private experimental laboratory. Near the door to this room, on the left wall of the corridor, was another door, of calamine, which, I learned later, led into a small storeroom built to hold the professor's valuable papers and data.

Half-way down the corridor, on the right, was another large calamine weather door which led out to the roof. This door had been propped open, for the sun was bright and the day mild. Swift preceded us into one of the loveliest skyscraper gardens I have ever seen.

We walked leisurely about the garden, smoking. Swift was a difficult man to talk to, and as the minutes went by he became more and more distant. After a while he glanced apprehensively at his wrist-watch.

"We'd better be going down," he said. "They'll be coming out for the first race before long."

Vance gave him an appraising look and rose.

"What about that sanctum sanctorum of yours which your cousin mentioned?" he asked lightly.

"Oh, that . . . Swift forced an embarrassed smile. "It's that red chair over there against the wall, next to the small table . . . But I don't see why Floyd should spoof about it. Lesson for January 10

NEW LIFE IN CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—John 3:1-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.—John 3:3.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Answering a Man's Question.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Most Important Question.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How the Christian Life Begins.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—New Life in Christ.

The only entrance into the Christian life is by the door of the new birth. Regeneration is the act of God whereby the divine nature is imparted to the believing sinner and he becomes the child of God.

He who has not entered by this way has not entered at all. He is still dead in trespasses and sins, without God and without hope (Eph. 2:1, 12).

Men are seeking to enter the household of God by almost any other means—culture, reform, character building—and are neglecting God's way. This lesson should therefore be studied and taught with earnest prayer that this foundation truth may lay hold upon the hearts of the hearers of the Word. Let no one who is not born again attempt to teach it to others, lest the blind attempt to lead the blind, and both fall into the ditch (Luke 6:39).

The coming of Nicodemus to our Lord took place at the time when he was in Jerusalem for the Passover. Jesus had chosen six of his disciples, had been at Cana of Galilee, where he performed his first miracle, and had made a brief visit to Capernaum, after which he came to Jerusalem for the feast.

In high and holy indignation he had driven the money changers out of the temple. The Pharisees who looked for the coming of the Messiah as a secular conqueror wondered at this new spiritual leader. It was probably as much on their behalf as his own that Nicodemus came to inquire of Jesus.

In answering his questions Jesus reveals the necessity, the nature, and the method of regeneration—in other words, the Why, What, and How of the New Birth.

I. Why? (vv. 1-7.)
Jesus was not unduly impressed by the dignity and high station of his visitor, nor by the visitor's courteous acknowledgment of his own position as a great teacher. With decisive boldness Jesus declares that this man, a cultured and distinguished ruler of the Jews, must be born again, if he is to see the kingdom of God.

God is no respecter of persons. This "doctor of divinity" must be born again, just as was the illiterate fisherman, D. L. Moody once said that he was thankful it was to such a man as Nicodemus that Jesus presented the necessity of the new birth—or men would have said that only the down-and-outer needed to be saved.

Two reasons are given by our Lord for the "must" of verse 7: (1) The Kingdom of God is a spiritual kingdom, and cannot be entered by way of our human nature; and (2) "That which is born of the flesh is flesh" and is radically and essentially bad. To learn why the flesh is bad read Jeremiah 13:23, and Galatians 5:19-21.

II. What? (vv. 8-13.)
The new birth is a divine mystery, not fathomable by human reason. Those who insist that all spiritual truth be put through the little norm of their intelligence will never understand it or receive its blessing. The striking illustration of the life-giving and energizing wind used by our Lord is most illuminating. Wind is unseen, but the results of its movement are evident.

III. How? (vv. 14-17.)
Just as there was healing and life in a look at the uplifted serpent (Num. 21:8), so there is life for a look at the Crucified One. Faith receives God's perfect provision for sin.

Verse 16 may well be regarded as the greatest sentence in the greatest Book in the world. It presents the whole plan of salvation—its source, its ground, its recipients, its condition, and its result.

This glorious salvation is for all men—"whosoever"—but some reject it. Notice that God does not condemn them. Their own evil works and desires condemn them (vv. 17-20). God in his grace is ready and willing to save, but men love "darkness rather than light"; for their works are evil.

God's Mercy
O God, the whole world is as a drop of morning dew. But Thou hast mercy upon all. . . . For Thou lovest all things that are, and abhorrest nothing that Thou hast made. . . . But Thou sparest all, for they are Thine, O Lord, Thou lover of souls.

Doing Well
He doeth much that doth a thing well. He doeth well that rather serveth the commonwealth, than his own will.—Thomas a Kempis.

It's Harder to Lose Pounds Than It Is to Gain More of Them

Overweight Generally Has But One Cause and That Is Overeating.

"The slim, the irritable, the hungry woman takes on the proportion of one of our minor menaces," says Fannie Hurst in her amusing little book, "No Food With My Meals." Miss Hurst is writing frankly from her own experience in attempting successfully to lose pounds. She admits herself that although she undertook her reduction program under the direction of the doctor, she was not content with the comparatively slow results and cut still further the low calorie diet which the physician gave her.

It is one of the mysteries of life that it is much harder to lose added pounds than it is to gain them. The bathroom scales, which are now so general a part of equipment, enable us to keep a check on weight. It is not so easy for those extra pounds which creep upon us unawares as it was once upon a time. A few days of dieting in time will save the slender figure. Remember, however, that, in general, the addition of a few extra pounds with the years is an asset. They are usually needed to balance those lines which the years write.

Unless there is some glandular deficiency, overweight has but one cause, namely, overeating. The avoidance of more calories than are needed for use by the body for its own processes and for the activity of our lives may usually be a simple matter if there are no between meal sweets and over-indulgence in bread, butter, other fats and rich desserts with meals. Not complete avoidance! It is only the second helpings that are usually responsible for undue weight gain. Looking out for that pound in time will actually save nine. Just one word of warning.

Bunyan Created Lakes
Elk and Torch lakes, the beautiful finger lakes that stretch parallel for miles along the shore of Lake Michigan near Elk Rapids, date back to the days of Paul Bunyan, according to the old lumberjacks.

Lake Michigan, they say, was scooped out by the mighty Paul, to be used as a log pond. Instead of skidding the logs into a stream and floating them down to his pond Paul would hitch onto a section of land and drag it over to the lake, log off the timber, and then haul the section back.

One day Paul hooked onto a particularly heavy timbered section near the Boardman and started Babe, the blue ox, out to haul it over to the lake. There had been a heavy rain, the ground was greasy, and Babe's feet slipped.

Torch and Elk lakes remain, an eternal testimonial to the blue ox and the time his feet slipped.—Detroit Free Press.

Two Quick-Acting, Quick-Dissolving Bayer Aspirin Tablets with a Glass of Water

The modern way to ease a cold is this: Two Bayer Aspirin tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Then repeat, if necessary, according to instructions in the box.

Try this way. Your doctor, we know, will endorse it. For it is a quick, effective means of combating a cold. Ask for Bayer Aspirin by the full name at your druggist's—not for "aspirin" alone.

At the same time, if you have a sore throat, crush and dissolve three BAYER tablets in one-third glass of water. And gargle with this mixture twice.

The Bayer Aspirin you take internally will act to combat fever and the pains which usually accompany colds. The gargle will act as a medicinal gargle to provide almost instant relief from rawness and pain. It is really marvelous; for it acts like a local anesthetic on the irritated membrane of your throat.

A GRAVE PROBLEM

A very serious situation is confronting the people of the South Plains. It is one that is going to be more serious as time goes on, in fact that is one of the most serious phases of the question: it gets more perplexing as time goes on. A few years ago this section was a sea of waving gramma grass. But such fine fertile land was not destined to be trodden by the white faced cows, and soon the ranches were cut up into 160 acre tracts and sold to farmers for homes. Some were settled by the ranch owners and tenants were placed upon every quarter section. Schools sprang up in these settlements and community life was based upon these settlements.

But now this situation is fast undergoing a change. These farms are being combined into "plantations" and thousands of acres are rented to one man, who has it cultivated with large four-row tractors. In some instances the owners have the land worked by hired help. This replaced many good families in the community, and as a result the schools, churches and other community institutions suffer. Today there are schools in Hockley county that are absolutely up against a wall on account of this very condition. The houses are left vacant, or are occupied by some poor family who have no means of livelihood. Hundreds of families have been forced to move to town. What is to become of them? Will they continue as objects of relief? We can not shut our eyes to this situation; it is here and must be solved. We can not go back to the old Georgia Stock, neither can we support half our population as relief clients.—Ropes Plainsman.

The farm tenant problem will be one of the major matters before Congress at the approaching session. This is a matter that will demand the highest wisdom and the most serious deliberation of our Congressmen. Our ideal is a country in which every farmer or nearly every farmer owns his home. If it could be made easy or at least possible for all our tenants who desire a farm home to acquire the same without an injustice being done to those who have invested their money and their labor in land, we think this would be the greatest material boon that could come to our country. We are aware of the fact that there are some tenants who are unworthy. Some are shiftless and lazy. Some are careless and even destructive of their landlords' property. Some would not pay out a farm home if they could. Some would not take care of a home if they had one. But we are constrained to believe that the majority of our tenant farmers would make good as home owners and as citizens if they had the opportunity. We hope that the opportunity may be given them in an ever increasing degree from this very year on out.

All of the old pessimism of the past six years seems to be gone. People all over the United States have entered in the new year with buoyant spirits. All the big business interests are optimistic. In fact the past year has been much more prosperous than any year since 1929. Some of the big railway systems have been making enormous orders for steel and other material needed in the repair and improvement of their lines and equipment. The automobile factories are turning out more machines than ever before. The manufacturers of tractors have been unable to supply the demand. There is a stronger demand also for textile goods. Everybody says the depression is over. Some of the higher-ups have even deemed it expedient to give warning against another boom. Local business men have enjoyed the best business for years. So, we are hopeful that 1937 will be a year of substantial prosperity.

Congress convened Monday and William B. Bankhead of Alabama was elected Speaker of the House by acclamation. Sam Rayburn of Bonham, Texas, was elected Democratic House leader over John J. O'Connor of New York by a vote of 184 to 127. Rayburn's election was hailed as a victory for the Administration forces. But many strong Administration men doubtless voted for O'Connor, for if there are 127 Democrats in the House who are antagonistic or lukewarm toward the Administration, then the Administration has no cinch in pushing its program through Congress. Our guess is that the Democrats in Congress are about ten to one for the President and his program.

There was apparently little drinking and no disorder here during the Christmas holidays, which is greatly to the credit of the people of Lynn county. But there is evidence that drinking and drunkenness are on the increase in many parts of our country. We note that in some of the magazines and daily newspapers, advertisements of the Keely cure and like cures for drunkenness are again appearing. They were numerous in the pre-Prohibition days but almost disappeared during the prohibition era.

"Kind hearts are more than coronets and simple faith than Norman blood," wrote Tennyson, the great English poet; and the English are great admirers of beautiful coronets and of those who have the right to wear them, and they boast inordinately of their Norman blood. Kindness is the bloom and the fruit of love. Let us love much this year, and our lives will be rich and beautiful with the fruits of kindness and sympathy.

Strikes in the automobile industry have recently thrown many men out of employment. Nearly 40,000 General Motors Corporation employees are idle and many others thousands will be idle, it is said, unless the strike is settled. It seems that there is to be no end of the strife between capital and labor. The stubbornness of both are constantly making converts to the belief in a strong dictatorial government at Washington.

In spite of the fact that nearly every kidnapper operating during the past ten years has been finally caught and punished, even the kidnapper of the Lindbergh baby having been put to death, men continue to kidnap, thinking they can get away with it. One may get away now and then, but whether he escapes or not only a life of hell awaits him. There is no satisfaction in a life of crime.

It was a sad and bloody Christmas they had in Spain. Instead of peace and good will among men, cruel and brutal civil war was bringing death and suffering to countless men and women and little children. War has become too destructive and too horrible. It should be outlawed by the nations of the world.

PRESBYTERIAN SERVICES SUNDAY

The old year has glided by and away from us like a gently flowing river. The new year is rapidly breaking upon us and challenging each and all with its work, duties and human responsibilities. Time is the stuff that culture, fortunes, character, happiness, usefulness, good government and the Kingdom is made of. Pray all this new year for a larger sense and appreciation of the value of time. And let us waste fewer of the precious days and weeks that make up the gathering-up years of life.

In the main, we had a fine year over our Churches last year. Some of our churches in this Presbytery are small churches and groups, but faithful and steadfast in helping to carry on the Church-wide program in this country and foreign parts. Wherein we have failed or come short last year, we want to make it up during this new year as we make the church's record of the year, Sabbath by Sabbath, and month by month. Our members, friends, and the public generally are invited to all of our services all this new year. Start next Sunday. Preaching services 11 a. m. No preaching services at night. Our S. S. is small but we have a fine S. S. group, doing fine work there every Sunday. If you don't go elsewhere, be with us. Subject Sunday morning, "New Year Ideals." Something depends upon the way we enter the new year and the way the new year gets hold upon us. Be in our services next Sunday. You are cordially invited.—W. K. Johnston, Minister.

CHURCH OF CHRIST NOTES

A New Year is upon us with all its possibilities and opportunities. What have you planned for this year, friend. I hope to make wise use of your time and to do greater things for God.

A good recipe for a happy 1937: "Take twelve fine full-grown months see that these are thoroughly free from old memories of bitterness, rancor, hate and jealousy; cleanse them completely from every clinging spite; pick off all specks of pettiness and bitterness; in short, see that these months are freed from all the past—have them as fresh and clean as when they first came from the great storehouse of Time.

"Cut these months into thirty or thirty-one equal parts. This batch will keep for just one year. Do not attempt to make up the whole batch at one time (so many persons spoil the entire lot in this way), but prepare one day at a time, as follows: Into each day put twelve parts of faith, eleven of patience, ten of courage, nine of work (some people omit this ingredient and so spoil the flavor of the rest; be sure and not leave it out), eight of hope, seven of fidelity, six of liberality, five of kindness leaving this out is like leaving the oil out of the salad—don't do it), four of rest, three of prayer, two of meditation, and one well-selected resolution. If you have no conscientious scruples, put in about a teaspoonful of good spirits, a dash of fun, a sprinkling of play, and a heaping cupful of good humor. Then pour into, until covered, love, mix with a vim, cook thoroughly in a fervent heat, garnish with a few smiles and a sprig of joy, then serve with quietness, unselfishness, and cheerfulness—and I feel a happy year is a certainty."

Come to the friendly church of worship. We will be looking for you with a hearty welcome.—R. P. Drennon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Emanuel of the Magnolia community returned Friday night of last week from a trip to Chickasha, Oklahoma, to bring their son, B. J. Jr., home. Mr. Emanuel has a brother there who is a physician and B. J. Jr. had been taken to a hospital there for treatment. He was able to return home here for a few weeks visit but will return to Oklahoma to enter Oklahoma University at Norman some time soon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Neeley and R. H. Green of El Paso visited the latter's parents here last week. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Green, and family. R. H. is a policeman in the city of El Paso and the Neeleys are intimate friends of the family.

Mrs. E. S. Davis and daughter, Miss Mildred, returned Saturday from Pecos, where they visited Mrs. Davis' sister, Mrs. C. V. Williams. Mrs. Williams' husband, now deceased, at one time was pastor of the Methodist Church here.

Miss Corinne Brown, Young People's Leader of the First Baptist Church of Lubbock, spent Saturday here as the guest of Mrs. R. C. Forrester.

Billy Barrett, little son of Supt. and Mrs. W. G. Barrett, has been ill of bronchitis this week.

J. R. BUTLER FAMILY HELD REUNION HERE CHRISTMAS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Butler six miles east of Tahoka was the scene of a family reunion during the Christmas holidays, the visitors coming from six different states. It was the first time in eleven years that all the children have been at home, Mr. Butler states.

Besides a son still at home, those present included the following daughters of Mrs. Butler and their husbands: Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Stahl and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Barnes of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Norton of Sterling, Colorado, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Williams of Hutchinson, Kansas; the following sons of Mrs. Butler and their wives: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hill of Culbertson, Nebraska, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill of Portales, New Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Loran Hill of Sterling, Colorado, and a step-son, W. C. Hill of Plainview; also Floyd Norton, brother of C. E. Norton, of Stockton California, and Paul Chapman, an orphan whom they raised, of Portales, New Mexico.

Grandchildren present were: Misses Grace, Mabel, and Dorothy Williams of Hutchinson, Kansas, Miss Floy May Hill of Portales, New Mexico, and Miss Vernice Barnes of Lubbock.

It was a most happy reunion, but on Christmas day an unfortunate accident occurred which greatly marred the pleasure of the occasion. The sight of one of the eyes of Charles Hill was completely destroyed by the explosion of a firecracker.

He was taken to the Lubbock Sanitarium for treatment, where it was found to be necessary to remove the eyeball. He was released on the following Tuesday and the wound is said to be recovering nicely, but he will spend the remainder of his life without the sight of the right eye.

OTHER VISITORS WERE IN TAHOKA CHRISTMAS

In the rush of last week due to our publication of the paper a day earlier than usual, it was impossible for us to gather information as to all the visits made here during the Christmas holidays. Among those omitted were the following:

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Weathers had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ramsey of Graham and Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Rutledge and daughter, Miss Ruth, and two sons, Sam and O. P. Jr., of Floydada. Miss Ruth is a teacher in the Floydada public schools and Sam and O. P. Jr. are students in the A. & M. College. Mr. Ramsey is a brother and Mrs. Rutledge a sister of Mrs. Weathers.

Sen. and Mrs. H. B. Cox and sons, Gordon and Lindley, of Goodrich, Kansas, spent the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Hegl, the Senator and Mrs. Cox being Mrs. Hegl's parents. Senator Cox is a member of the Kansas state senate. Rev. and Mrs. Ben Hardy spent Christmas day with Mrs. Hardy's sister, Mrs. C. M. Randal, and the family at Seymour. They were accompanied home by their daughter and two children, Mrs. J. O. Eubanks of Corpus Christi, who remained here for a visit of several days.

Mrs. Hans Tunnell and children spent the holidays with relatives in San Antonio.

Mrs. Alex Henderson and Mrs. Madeline Sone and little daughter of Eastland and Mrs. Hart of Seymour were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Henderson last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bovell returned Tuesday night from Crowley and Fort Worth, where they spent the holidays visiting relatives and friends.

Refreshing Relief When You Need a Laxative

Because of the refreshing relief it has brought them, thousands of men and women, who could afford much more expensive laxatives, use Black-Draught when needed. It is very economical, purely vegetable, highly effective. . . Mr. J. Lester Robertson, well known hardware dealer at Martinsville, Va., writes: "I certainly can recommend Black-Draught as a splendid medicine. I have taken it for constipation and the dull feelings that follow, and have found it very satisfactory."

John Deere Holds Centennial Show

Several hundred men and a few women braved the blizzardy weather Thursday and came in to witness the John Deere Centennial Day show staged in the English Theatre by the John Deere Company and the Gagnat Hardware Co.

The show commemorates the one hundredth anniversary of the invention of the steel plow by John Deere. The show consisted of a picturization of new implements, followed by a character story, and concluding with a presentation of the invention of the steel plow by two Hollywood stars, Monte Blue who represented John Deere, and Fuzzie Knight who played a comic part.

John Deere tractors were on demonstration throughout the day in the show room of the Gagnat Motor Company.

The demonstrations and the show were given under the direction of John Thornbury and L. J. Story of Dallas and district representative Oscar Plyler of Lubbock together with D. W. Gagnat, local dealer.

Draw-Redwine SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY NEWS

The Draw Players presented "Crashing Society" to a large audience Friday night with success. Everyone was complimentary in their remarks.

There have been several absences the past week due to sickness. Many are yet feeling the ill effects of too much Christmas.

Some of the long faces this week are due to thoughts of mid-term examinations that are soon to come. Clemmie Mensch, Lois Waller and others who have been out of school for some time are back since the holidays.

Frances Porterfield visited school two days last week.

Draw Church News

There was a large crowd at church Sunday. Brother Carmack preached an interesting sermon on "Humility."

Sunday evening the League and the old folks met and had an interesting program. Miss Eberhart and Beatrice Sherrill made talks. Afterwards Mrs. Carmack made an inspiring talk on "Your Signature." We wish that more people would come to church.

Society

The J. E. Sherrills visited in the home of Gus Porterfield at Grassland Sunday afternoon.

Maudie Lee and J. W. Keplinger and L. G. Easley spent the week end with Alma Landers.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Williams and family have gone to Galveston.

W. W. Caswell took Bervin and two college friends to Abilene Sunday.

Basketball

The Longhorns won two victories from the O'Donnell team last week. In the first at O'Donnell the score was 44 to 20. In the second at Draw the score was 31 to 22.

W. M. Lee and daughter, Mrs. Condy Carmack, and her children returned Monday night from a visit with relatives at Sweetwater and Stephenville. Leaving here Thursday they visited with Mr. Lee's son, Preston at Sweetwater, and then with his mother, sisters and brothers at Stephenville.

Fun Feature Of Rotary Program

The Rotary Club's program at Thursday noon was devoted to fun—a hot debate between Dr. K. R. Durham and Superintendent W. G. Barrett on one of the burning issues of the day, but when it was over neither of the antagonists had anything to crow over. The discussion was pertaining to poultry.

The Brownfield Club has accepted an invitation to meet with the Tahoka Club on Friday night, January 22. The visitors will give the program.

Visiting Rotarians here Thursday were Jay Slaughter, ranchman, and Harold Voss, tailor, both of Post, and J. O. Garlington, groceryman, of Littlefield.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of expressing our deepest gratitude for the lovely flowers and for the sympathy of our kind friends during the long illness and at the death of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. N. A. Curry.—Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Curry and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thompson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Curry and family.

G. M. Duckett and son Wesley of the Central Church community left Wednesday for Waco to assist the former's son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Duckett, to move out to this county. Young Mr. Duckett will farm with his father during the current year. He has been engaged in operating a filling station in Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Wells have moved to the farm which they recently purchased. This farm is known as the Allen place and is situated on the Brownfield highway eight miles west of Tahoka.

Mrs. Arnold Houston visited relatives in San Antonio, Kerrville, and Ballinger last week.

CALLAWAY VISITS RANCH

Dr. E. E. Callaway returned Thursday night from a visit to his ranch on the Colorado situated between Lometa and San Saba. His ranch house was swept away by the flood that visited that section of the state last fall. It will be remembered. Dr. Callaway says that a neighbor who has been living in that vicinity for 65 years told him that the river got ten feet higher than he had ever seen it. The Doctor reports that the grass on the ranch and in that section of the state is now very fine and that livestock are in excellent condition.

G. A. Wilson has bought the old Hibdon place three miles north of town and he and family moved upon it this week.

W. M. Harris was confined to his room by a severe cold the first two or three days of the week.

How Cardui Helps

Women To Build Up

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up, certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for helping them back to good health. . . . Mrs. C. R. Radliff, of Hinton, W. Va., writes: "After the birth of my last baby, I did not seem to get my strength back. I took Cardui again and was soon sound and well. I have given it to my daughters and recommend it to other ladies. . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician."

In a very short while, we students of Tahoka High School will have completed one half of our work for this school year. This completion will be marked by our final examinations. Perhaps all of us find examinations a bit distasteful and wish that they were not necessary. We may wish for the system of exemption for the honor students such as is found in many schools. If we consider this question from several of its angles, we may see that such exemptions may not be best for the students. We know that we will some day be tested in a school where there is no exemption. This being true, we should be learning to take and pass our tests as they come.

After having discussed the advisability of taking tests, we may consider the requirements for passing them. First of all we know that each student, to pass his tests and do it in a manner of which he will not be ashamed, must be thoroughly prepared for that test. Thorough preparation is not to be had by a few days or hours of so-called "cramming". Lessons, sincerely studied and fully learned each day, are the best preparation one can make for passing a test with flying colors. A reasonable amount of systematic review is also a helpful preparation for passing tests. Let us remember that tests are necessary and that thorough preparation must be made for them. Above all let us remember and resolve to be honest in our coming tests and all tests we may ever meet. In so doing we will win even though we seem to fail.

SENIOR HAPPENINGS

A number of the Seniors were back in their accustomed places prepared for work when school reopened on Monday morning. If some were reprimanded for inattention, perhaps it was because they were dreaming of the good time they had at the Senior Christmas party. The party was indeed an affair well worth some day-dreams. The Seniors amused themselves by playing games, taking screen tests, having contests, and they were favored by some palm reading from their sponsor, Mrs. Lenore M. Tunnell. The crowning event of the evening was the beautifully decorated Christmas tree. Refreshments of sandwiches, candy, potato chips, cocoa, and cake were served. The Seniors all appreciate the generosity of their sponsor Mrs. Tunnell, who gave her home as a meeting place for the party and was responsible for its success.

Miss Lottie Jo Townes, popular Senior girl and vice-president of the Senior Class, is absent from school because of a sprained ankle. Lottie Jo's many friends regret her ill luck and, enforced absence and hope that she may soon recover and return to school.

BASKETBALL

After the holidays, the basketball squad has started anew their preparation for competition. Two games are scheduled for this week. On Tuesday, Brownfield plays here and on Friday Post is the opposition. Gradually eluding the fundamen-

SEVENTH GRADE REPORT

The Seventh Grade class had a feast the afternoon of Friday, Dec. 18. The students all had a very happy Christmas.

COMING EVENTS

Some of the highlights of the coming five months of school life may include:

Preparation for and participation in the events of the Interscholastic League meet of Lynn county, which will come in the latter part of the month of March. We hope to win the meet as we have in years past.

The preparation of the Senior play and its presentation by members of the Senior class. The Seniors and their sponsor, Mrs. Tunnell, hope to present the play some time in the spring.

We hope to number among these events the publication of our year-book, The Skyline.

HOME ECONOMIC NEWS

As the first semester is nearing its close the Home Ec. department has a good record to show for the work done the past term.

Our department has taken rapid strides in the improvement of the laboratories. In the sewing laboratory new tables, new ironing boards, new shelves, and a new blackboard have been added. The tables were moved from the science laboratory, but nevertheless to the attractiveness of our room. In the foods laboratory some of the stools have been repainted, new curtains and linens have been made for the dining room. Most of the equipment was made along with units related to that type of work.

Home work is mostly in the form of home practice and home projects. Home projects from Home Ec. III consisting of dresses, blouses, skirts, luncheon sets, potholders, towels and various other articles has been completed.

The girls in Home Ec. I and II have also carried out projects which include preparation of mels, recipe files, preparation of vegetables, desserts, salads and other projects related to food work.

All in all we feel that the Home Economics department has accomplished a number of the aims set up for this year and we believe that next semester will provide opportunity for accomplishing the remainder of the aims along with the regular class work.

The Puppy's Whine

Tahoka Grade School
(By Patricia Hill)

This is the first week of the Puppy's Whine, and it will be in the paper every week. We will print the news of Tahoka Grade School every week.

The High School calls their column The Bulldog's Growl, so we have decided to call our column The Puppy's Whine.

If any person knows any news about our school, please report it to Patricia Hill or a room reporter on Monday or Tuesday.

The Central Ward pupils moved to the new school building Monday, Jan. 4, 1937. Tahoka Grade School is a beautiful building. It cost $85,000.00. Our parents will have to pay for it. All pupils please don't make a mark on the walls of our new building. Let's keep it nice.

We surely do appreciate the Parent-Teachers for doing so many nice things for us. Everyone join the P. T. A. to help make our school best in West Texas.

Most of the teachers spent the Christmas holidays out of town. Miss Maggard went to Hale Center, Mrs. Craft to Slaton, Mrs. Henderson to Dallas, Miss Grace Williams to Amarillo, Mr. Bostick to Stephenville, and Mr. Kirkwood to Stratford. Miss Douthitt, Mr. Mathis, Mrs. Smith, Miss Tippit and Mrs. Dunagan remained at home.

First Grade

Our New Year's resolution is to be polite to everyone all year.

We have two new pupils. Their names are Ethel V. Rogers and Odell Dunagan.

Second Grade

Weather forecast: The pupils of the second grade have ordered a big snow since they are developing an Eskimo unit in their room.

L. H. Rogers has enrolled in Mrs. Dunagan's room. Maurine Sharp has enrolled in Mrs. Henderson's room. She is from Lamesa school.

Jesse Ray Adams, a second grade pupil, is absent from school on account of pneumonia.

Third Grade

Both Third Grades are very proud of their new rooms. Each pupil has said he is going to work harder than ever before.

There will be a program given in the new auditorium Friday, Jan. 8, at one o'clock. The Third Grade will present a play, "Music in Other Lands." We wish everyone to be present.

Fourth Grade

Pupils who have withdrawn from school: Dorothy Nell McKee, Margaret Johnson, Barbara Jackson and Waudene Greenwood.

Fifth Grade

There are two new pupils in Miss Douthitt's room, Jack Graham from McCamey and Mary Lou Wilkins from Lynn. One pupil has withdrawn, Betty Joe McKee.

Elbert Rogers was confined to his room with the flu several days this week.

WINTER
and why—

The helpful idea we're talking about will give you extra protection against a freeze-up in your car's gasoline system. The smart thing to do first is to have your carburetor drained—a quick, simple operation for whoever takes care of your car. He will also empty the little glass filter bowl, or "trap." And if you want to be real careful, you will have a certain amount drained from the bottom of the gasoline tank. Thus you get rid of any water that might freeze on the first cold day.

This water was not in the gasoline originally, if you are careful where you buy. But you know that the air always contains more or less moisture, which can gradually form water in your gasoline system. There is less chance of this when you keep too much air out of your gasoline tank, by having it filled close to the top. It is still just as important as ever to get a gasoline that always fires away lickety-split in any cold . . . not dripping and flooding wastefully . . . not draining your battery by a lot of "false starts" . . . not thinning your oil by needless chocking. The most helpful thing you can do for yourself right there is to keep your tank full of sure-firing Special Winter Blend Conoco Bronze. Continental Oil Company

Make It Easy to Hold Farms

Important Feature of Congressional Program; Make Renters Owners

By EARL GODWIN

WASHINGTON — One of the features of this congressional program will be the creation of a federal corporation to make it easy for folks to buy and hold their farms.

Scores of proposals on this subject will be presented to congress—but the inside track right now is occupied by the imposing figures of Senator Bankhead of Alabama (brother of Speaker Bankhead) and Marvin Jones, Texas congressman, and chairman of the committee on agriculture.

It's high time that a broad, sound, long-term policy be adopted to give to farming the ownership stability which has been conferred on the city dwellers through the government's several housing agencies. The Federal Housing Administration has helped around 2,000,000 Americans to buy homes on easy terms, eliminating excess fees and making one mortgage transaction out of the loan—instead of dragging in the excess-profit second mortgage with its fees and the ever present menace of loss of the property by the family.

The increase in farms rented instead of owned has aroused farm leaders to the importance of the matter. There was once much free land. It was handed around by railroads, government and states so liberally that a hundred years ago nearly every man owned a piece of land. Today nearly half the farms are operated by men who rent that land.

Fifty years ago a fourth of the farms were rented. At the present rate, which is speeding up by the way, only about a fourth of the farms will be owned by farmers living on them and operating them within a few years time.

Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, one of the deepest and clearest thinkers in Washington, is appalled at the vision of a nation of farm tenants with the farms owned by life insurance companies or mortgage corporations quartered in Chicago and New York. Yet he fears that is exactly what will occur within a few generations unless there is a right-about-face in public policy so that the natural flow of events favors ownership instead of rental.

As the administration sees it, one of the sorest spots in the country is the south, where "share-cropping" is a custom. This is particularly a problem in Arkansas, and the plight of these "share croppers" for some reason has defied the best minds in Washington. Moreover, there has been considerable danger of communistic and socialist agitation among these "share croppers." The natural antidote being their own land, held by them and offering them the security which the land gives.

FARMERS BECOME RENTERS.
The Department of Agriculture says that forty thousand farmers a year are passing from ownership to rented farms. If it were merely a matter of money, loans by a federal billion-dollar corporation could check this at an average loan of $4,000 per farm. That would require $160,000,000 annually until the movement stopped. Then, of course, there are those already in the tenant class who should be restored to ownership; and the estimates here set aside the sum of $50,000,000 annually for that purpose—a sum, by the way, which Henry Wallace believes far too small.

At the moment there are two plans which congressional leaders believe they could incorporate into a single bill—always preferable to a series of bills. The first would be the purchase by the government of large tracts of land, to be resold to farmers on credit; poor land to be withdrawn from use. The terms of sale would be easy and there would be a kindly governmental supervision over the whole area. The second plan is the outright purchase of individual farms and their resale to farm families on easy terms—easy enough to attract purchasers and keep families on the land. Provision would be made to protect these farms from getting into the hands of landlords who would rent them out—and that they should never get into the hands of families who would not live on the farms. The whole policy is to help farmers own land and live upon it.

AS EXPERTS SEE IT.

Farm experts do not see the matter as merely one of money and credit. Along with farm ownership goes the important idea of making agriculture worth while. The complexities of the market in which farm produce is subjected to ups-and-downs beyond the farmer's control must be smoothed out by some means or other. No matter how much land a farmer owns it will not be much of a help with thirteen years of sagging prices such as this country experienced up to 1933.

This government has done a great deal toward raising the morale of many a man on a farm which was more of a millstone on his neck than anything else. The Resettlement Administration, about to become a regular bureau of the Department of Agriculture, has made several successful experiments in rehabilitating the old fashioned individualistic and isolated farm. It has tried out the idea of a farm community plan; it is endeavoring to find ways of bringing farm life up to date, attractive and secure.

NOW OUT OF RED.

Secretary Wallace asserts that agriculture is now out of the red and on a nationally profitable basis; but he thinks we need a crop control even stronger than we had under AAA. The thing Henry Wallace wants to control is the great excesses of future production.

The markets of the world should be opened to American farmers if these ticklish farm problems are to be solved. Right now there is a disposition on the part of the agricultural leaders here to be just a trifle critical of slow progress in trade treaties with those great industrial countries which could buy our farm products in huge quantities. And, to be frank about it, the agrarian spokesmen here point out that treaties so far negotiated have been mainly with countries which have a lot of farm stuff to sell. However, the State Department has a very difficult task in negotiating treaties anywhere. Europe is jumpy and nervous. Some of the nations are armed camps and want to drag us into European embroilments through trickery in these trade treaties. For instance: We would love to negotiate a treaty with Italy—we could sell those fellows a lot of our stuff. But Italy wants to borrow a lot of money from us to keep that terrific war machine of theirs in order. They would like to do business with us—but they are frantic for money. Therefore, while we could sell them a lot more farm products, if we did so on their terms we would be right in the middle of their war program within a month. In other words, we would be lending them good United States money, which is so hard for most of us to gather in sufficient quantities—and altogether impossible to collect from Italy right now in repayment of the debt. Italy has owed us since the World war.

COLLECTING WAR DEBTS.

The business of collecting the war debts, (now about eleven billions owed us by European countries,) is extremely complicated. It is by no means as simple as owing your neighbor a couple of dollars and repaying him in 25-cent installments, or even paying him off in some sort of goods he wants. If Europe started to pay us in gold coin, which is the only way international debts can be paid if money is to change hands, we would actually not know what to do with the gold; so much that as we get more of it from Europe (sent by investors for safety) we have been issuing paper money against it. But now the paper money is getting rather plentiful—and a sort of inflation and cheapened money is in sight. So the government is to take the incoming gold from now on and put it in a corner by itself. That takes the money value out of it. So gold in repayment of war debts seems to be something like King Midas' gold—it has come to the point where it is a detriment instead of a help.

Cash payments therefore are out. Then there is the idea of repaying us in the goods and produce of those other nations. But the minute that is proposed labor and industry stop fighting between themselves and take a firm and violent stand against any such idea—because, naturally, this would be flooding the U. S. A. with foreign made goods. Competition with our own folks. So that's out the window, too.

Then there have been such ideas as this: Tourists planning to go to Europe would put their travel money in the United States Treasury which would issue an order on the other country—which would see to it that the tourist got around on the railroads and stayed at the hotels. And there is the larger and possibly more practical idea of arranging a trade treaty with one of those defaulting countries whereby we would ship our stuff to them—and they ship none to us. Just a one way agreement. The idea is that if any country would enter such an agreement, the Treasury would nick off a piece of the debt annually in accordance with the amount of business done with us on that basis. © Western Newspaper Union.

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theodor's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

BLACK-DRAUGHT

LYNN COUNTY CITIZENS AT DALLAS MEETING

called attention to the fact that tractor farming has resulted in the eviction of many farmers from their farms. These have been forced into the towns and cities where they are compelled to live in crowded rooms or shacks and where the sanitary conditions are bad. Having no land to till and no jobs to work at, they have been forced onto the government relief rolls. What they need and want is a chance to purchase and work land of their own. Mr. Dykes stated.

To curb the commercial farmer and induce him to sell his lands to the government, a graduated land tax was suggested by some.

No definite program could be presented for the meeting was composed of men of various interests having conflicting views, but these varying views were given to the committee for what they might be worth.

Judge K. H. Caverno of Missouri, a member of the investigating committee, called attention to the fact that any program to place hundreds of thousands of tenant farmers on farm homes of their own would require the expenditure of uncounted millions of dollars, and he suggested that such a program should be undertaken only after the most thoughtful deliberation.

The committee will hold four other similar meetings in other parts of the country before submitting their report to the President.

INTEREST IN BOY SCOUT SCOUT WORK INCREASES

a boy will be round $85.00 This will include all expenses to and from the camp, a local camp of three days at Post, train fare including pullman to and from Washington, many of the side trips, meals in transit and while in camp, and medical service all the time. The boys will be under capable leadership, and there will be no need for any sort of worry about them while they are gone. A special train is planned from this area council and we surely would like to see some of our boys make the trip.

A court of honor for the south-east district is to be held in Tahoka some time in February. We hope to make a fine showing for our troop at this court of honor. A diligent effort is being made to increase the troop at this time. If your boys are twelve years old or better we would welcome them into the troop. Capable training is being given these boys and we feel that we shall have a troop before long that we can be proud of.

Scoutmaster Penn and assistant Reid Townes are spending a good deal of time and effort to give the boys some real Scout work. The co-operation of the entire community is earnestly solicited.

HOMER BENNETT BURIED AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Bennett located at Honey Grove, but the great White Plague had fastened its tentacles upon him and he was soon sent to the Legion Hospital near Kerrville. In the meantime his father and family moved to this county and early last year located in Tahoka. About the first of June Homer was released from the hospital and came here to be with his wife and his father. He was taken back to the hospital about the first of July but remained only a month. He has been here since, knowing that Death was steadily drawing nigh.

Besides his wife, who is mentally afflicted as the result of a severe illness eight years ago, he leaves surviving him his father and the following brothers and sisters: O. B. Bennett of Lubbock, T. R. of New Home, Hubert of Ladonia, Lester of Watonga, Oklahoma, George of Dublin, Gordon of Fort Bliss, Mrs. Hattie Nearn and Mrs. Ella Box of Winona, Miss. Mrs. Iva Romine, Miss Allene Bennett, William Paul Bennett, and a step-brother, Monroe Darnell, all of Tahoka.

The family here have the sincere sympathy of many friends.

Mrs. Jack Corley is among the number who are suffering with the flu this week.

Bleeding Gums Healed

The sight of sore gums is sickening. Reliable dentists often report the successful use of LETO'S PYORRHEA REMEDY on their very worst cases. If you will get a bottle and use as directed druggists will return money if it fails. Tahoka Drug Co. TAHOKA DRUG CO.

LEADING doctors and nutritionists. In a series of laboratory tests, have found that Bread, itself, is not fattening. In one test, a large group of women were given the same amounts of the same foods, and one-half of all the food they ate was Bread. The women of normal weight neither gained nor lost. The overweight women lost weight!

Bread helps to burn up body fat, protects the body from acidosis, and supplies energy for being active.

Let science be your guide when it comes to eating Bread. And science says that Bread is your best and cheapest energy food!
