Reds Unleash Massive New Attack

No Promises Are Made on Reactivation

Government officials last week encouraged, but made no promises to a Pampa delegation conferring with them on reactivation of Pampa Air Force Base.

Chamber of Commerce Manager E. O. Wedgeworth and City Manager Dick Pepin said Air Force "high brass" was encouraging, but would make no definite commitments on reactivating the field. They were cheerful, however, when told by officials that Pampa's chances are "good" providing the nation goes into all-out mobilization. They hastily added that no one knew when, or if, the country would be 100 percent girded.

Pepin said, "we did not ask for any definite commitments from any one. Our purpose was to 'open the door' for those possibilities if and when they arise."

Wedgeworth added that no one in Washington is sure, or knows, what pattern of reactivation of fields the government will follow.

New Race by Dewey Is Seen

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Li. Gov. Joe R. Hanley withdrew Saturday as candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination and urged Governor Dewey to run for a third term.

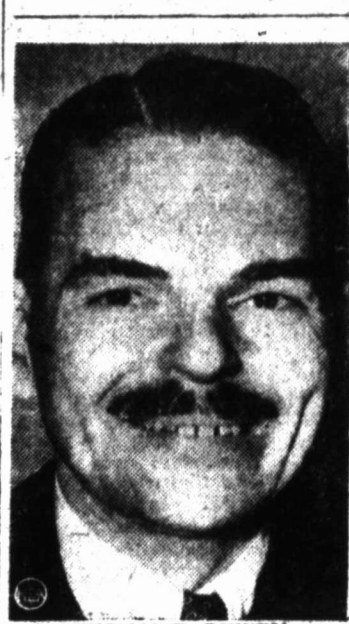

The 74-year-old Hanley made known his decision in a statement released in his office by James C. Hagerty, Dewey's secretary.

The way was thus cleared for Dewey to bow to a draft movement which has been gaining momentum for several weeks.

Hagerty said Dewey would make a statement Monday or Tuesday. The governor is expected to announce his willingness to accept the nomination for governor at the GOP state convention to be held at Saratoga Springs Wednesday and Thursday.

Hanley definitely will have a place on the state ticket, possibly the nomination for U. S. senator, an authorized source disclosed.

Citizens Bank Due Doubled Facilities

THOMAS E. DEWEY

New Race by Dewey Is Seen

The Citizens Bank and Trust Co. will move shortly to temporary quarters in the former Texas Gas & Power Co. office on N. Russell after which the present building will be remodeled and enlarged.

The operation will, when completed, put a complete 20th Century appearance to the row of buildings on the northeast corner of W. Kingmill and Russell. It will also mark the final step in expansion of Pampa's two banks to bring their facilities on a level with Pampa's growth. An almost completely new building is being erected for the First National Bank at Cuyler and Foster.

Floyd Imel, president of the Citizens Bank, and Ivy Duncan, owner of the property and a bank director, told The News Saturday the expansion would bring the bank up from its present 1,750 square feet of floor space to 4,000 square feet.

The remodeled building will take in the present Court House Cafeteria and extend over the alleyway between the rear of the bank and the Pampa News Stand. Everything will be remodeled along ultra-modern lines.

The lease and agreements between the bank and Duncan have been in the mill for several weeks and were signed last week. However, no contract has been let and the overall plans by the architects, Cantrell and Co., are incomplete.

As to specific dates, Imel said: "We want to get started as soon as we can, but at this moment we don't know what day we will move to our temporary quarters, or when we will start to rebuild. We had one set of plans, but have discarded most of them and are planning over. We haven't hired any contractor yet, but we want to get started as soon as possible."

The bank is now 25 by 70 feet. When enlarged it will be 50 by 80 foot structure.

Duncan said the Court House is the "Pampa Bank."

Peace-or-War Decision With Russia Urged

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator McClellan (D-Ark.) called Saturday for an ultimate "peace-or-war" showdown with Russia as lawmakers pledged support for President Truman's plan to boost the nation's fighting forces to 3,000,000 men or more.

McClellan, member of the Senate appropriations committee, was one of the first to speak out for the sort of preventive war Mr. Truman told the country Friday night that the United States does not believe in.

McClellan called for all-out mobilization.

He said American strength should be built up as quickly as possible so the United States could demand through the United Nations that Russia agree to join this country in disarming and international inspection guaranteeing that such an agreement is carried out.

"If Russia refuses to enter into the spirit of international cooperation for peace then, we would have our final answer and could be governed accordingly," McClellan said.

"Under such conditions, I would favor our firing the first shot in a war that then would be inevitable."

McClellan said he doesn't think the president's plan for an armed strength of 3,000,000 men goes far enough.

"I think that we are dealing with a desperate world situation in which our only hope of winning the peace lies in showing Russia that we are prepared to and can destroy her unless she joins in an international spirit of peace and good will," he said.

Red, Green Signals In Partial Use at Two Intersections

The overhead signal lights at Barnes and Frederic, and Faulkner and Alcock have gone into red and green operation, City Engineer Ray Evans said Saturday afternoon.

Heretofore, they have been on blinker only because the state will not permit full operation at these two intersections. However, "breezed on through as though partial operation during school hours. The lights will go to red and green signaling from 7:45 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. and from 11:45 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. and from 2:20 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. during the school months."

Evans said the lights were thrown on for test Saturday afternoon and will be kept on Sunday, also for test. A lot of cars, Evans reported, ignored the signal completely Saturday and "breezed on through as though partial operation during school hours. The lights will go to red and green signaling from 7:45 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. and from 11:45 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. and from 2:20 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. during the school months."

Tax Bill Faces 2-Weeks Delay

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A probable two-week delay in enactment of the $4,508,000,000 war tax bill isn't building the Treasury's plans to start collecting a big slice out of individual paychecks starting October 1.

Rep. Mills (D-Ark.), a member of the tax-writing House ways and means committee, said Saturday it is unlikely the bill will reach the White House before September 15, at least.

There was no talk, however, of changing the October 1 date for increasing the income tax liability of more than 50,000,000 individual taxpayers.

Internal revenue bureau officials face the possibility of a race with the clock to get new withholding tax tables into employers' hands.

Beauty Triumphs Even in Hospital; Highland General to Put Portable Beauty Bar to Use

If the missus can't go to the beauty shop because she's hospitalized, the beauty shop comes to her.

For a month, Highland General Hospital experimented with a portable beauty shop, housed in an extra basement room, and found the service acceptable to the patients.

The new department will be formally opened Monday with a public inspection of the shop and equipment.

Superintendent Chet E. Lander said the portable beauty salon has proven one of the biggest morale builders ever brought to the hospital.

The concession was leased to Mrs. Elma Le Moore, former owner of the Orchid Beauty Shop and is operated by Mrs. Doris Condit. It is known as Highland Beauty Service.

The service is something new, get to beauty shops up town.

for hospitals in this part of the country, but has been in use for almost a year in the nation's larger hospitals. It is the first one installed in the Panhandle and South Plains areas.

Main feature of the service is the cart that can be wheeled to any part of the hospital. It is completely equipped with every essential to beauty operations, enclosed in its nine drawers. On top of the cart is the hair dryer that can be manipulated to any position — even for a woman lying flat on her back. The drier is also equipped with a small reading light, that shines over the patient's left side.

The service is available only for patients, staff members and out-of-town visitors of patients.

Nurses, nurses aides, and other staff members, Lander said, "sometimes do not have time to get to beauty shops up town."

Fall School Term Will Open Tuesday

Things are all set to start humming early Tuesday morning around schools in Pampa, when students assemble to begin the 1950-51 term.

Children in the elementary schools will report at 9 a. m. to either Woodrow Wilson or State Elementary school, where they will be assigned to their home rooms as they arrive. No change has been made in these schools concerning districting.

Students living in the Carr-Terrace addition will report to either Woodrow Wilson or State Elementary school. Those living east of N. Starkweather in the Carr-Terrace addition will find it a shorter distance to attend Woodrow Wilson.

All new students in the elementary grades who live on one of the school bus lines and who have never attended school in Pampa will report at 9 a. m. Wednesday at the junior high school auditorium.

A general assembly will be held at 9 a. m. in the high school auditorium, where the students will receive their home-room assignments. Frank W. Wilson, principal of the high school, will have charge of the assembly. Junior high school students who have attended the school before will also congregate at 9 a. m. to receive instructions. New students will report at 1 p. m., unless it is necessary for them to attend a school bus.

Train Collision Fatal to Eight Model Builders

MILWAUKEE — (AP) — A model railroad fans' holiday convention opened tragically Sunday when a head-on collision of two excursion trains of the Milwaukee Rapid Transit and Speedrail Co. killed eight and injured 50 in a head-on crash of two interurban trains.

The collision, about nine miles from downtown Milwaukee, was between two special two-car excursion trains of the Milwaukee Rapid Transit and Speedrail Co. Delegates to the annual convention of the National Model Railroad Association had leased them for a sight-seeing trip.

The forward cars of the two electrified trains were smashed to bits as one telescoped into the other, splitting the sides and crushing the roofs of the cars. The rear coaches of the both trains remained on the tracks.

One of the trains, operated by Jay Maeder, president of the railroad, was returning from its trip to suburban Hales Corners. The other was enroute there. Both trains were traveling on the same track.

Maeder, who told an Associated Press reporter he "jumped over his head" in the "control booth" of the inbound train before the crash, said "I have no idea of how it happened."

"I saw the southbound train coming around a bend about 200 yards away," Maeder said, "I slammed on the brakes, but saw a collision was coming. I opened the door to the control room and, I don't know whether I jumped or was shoved, someone said he pushed me."

Internment Camps Proposed for Reds

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Kilgore (D-WVa.) Saturday proposed internment camps for Communists in time of national emergency and disclosed that a group of senators is studying the legal angles.

Kilgore advocates the idea as a substitute for a strongly-supported Communist registration bill.

He said the bill would have "no real effect" in an emergency.

If the internment plan is worked out, he said, it would be brought up in connection with Communist control legislation which the Senate starts debating Tuesday.

Man Found Dead in Lake

David Burns "Shep" Sheppard, 62, 703 E. Foster, was found dead in four feet of water in Green Lake, northeast of Pampa, shortly before 1 a. m. Saturday.

The county medical officer issued a certificate of death by accidental drowning, officers reported.

Constable Bill Langley, who aided in the search for Mr. Sheppard, said the former oil field contractor left home Friday morning to go fishing and hunting at Green Lake. He arrived there about 7:30 a. m. and parked his car in front of the Bill Forman home, near the lake.

Forman told officers he saw Sheppard's car parked there and paid little attention to it since it was a common occurrence. Later, Forman came to Pampa and when he returned noticed the car was still there. He looked in the car and saw Mr. Sheppard's gun and realized something had happened to him. Forman returned to Pampa and contacted Bruce Head, brother-in-law of the dead man, and Henry Symons, a close friend of Mr. Sheppard's. With Langley, the three returned to the lake and searched the shore and water. In a few minutes they spotted his boat that had drifted to shore and began to search for him with it. Some time between 12:30 and 1 a. m. they found the dead man, half floating in the water, his arm flung over a submerged barbed wire fence and the other tightly gripping a trout line. The line, Langley said, was tied to the post on the bank.

Officers said they believed Mr. Sheppard had been going over his line in the boat since he had three small fish in it. He evidently got out of the boat in the shallow water and suffered either a stroke or a heart attack that caused him to slump over and drown. Only his hair and one side of his face was above water when he was sighted by the search party.

About 18 months ago Mr. Sheppard was in an auto-train wreck in the Starkweather crossing, where he suffered a broken neck and was forced to wear a brace for many months. Several weeks ago he started going without the brace and was not wearing it when found Saturday morning.

The body was brought to the (See MAN DEAD, Page 2)

Rogers, Guill Rally Forces For Final Heat of Campaign

By HENRY S. GORDON
The final heat in the lively race for the 18th Congressional District seat in Washington is about to begin between Republican Congressman Ben Guill and the Democratic nominee, Walter Rogers, both of Pampa.

Some people claim it has already gotten underway, but that has been word of mouth and no more.

Guill has made no official campaign talks, but will make a recorded broadcast over KPDM at 2 p. m. today; a live broadcast on Monday at 6:30 p. m. over KPDM, and then follow through with congressional reports to civic groups in scattered parts of the district.

Rogers, triumphant candidate in the Democratic run-off on Aug. 26 over Mrs. Allavene Clark, is still somewhere in New Mexico with his family and will not return until Tuesday.

Communists Strike Along Northern Front

TOKYO, Sunday — (AP) — The North Korean Communist army unleashed a massive general offensive along the entire northern front today and attacked desperately in an attempt to get their southern drive rolling again.

All the 120-mile battle perimeter from Masan on the southwest to Pohang on the northeast exploded into action.

The northern power drive gained nearly two miles against the U. S. first cavalry division near Waegwan, 12 miles northwest of the American supply base of Taegu.

American officers have listed the Waegwan-Taegu corridor as the Reds' No. 1 route for a push on the lifeline port of Pusan, 55 air miles southeast of Taegu.

It is the sector where first cavalry troops opened an attack Saturday seeking to seize three vital heights. Intelligence officials explained at that time the move was to forestall a major Red offensive there.

The Reds' general attack in the north extended from Waegwan eastward 55 air miles to the east coast above Pohang. A U. S. Eighth Army communique this morning said the United Nations line was "generally holding firm." But it listed the 3,500 yard loss near Waegwan.

The communique also said the Reds had seized high ground south of Nigye, nine miles northwest of Pohang. This high ground dominates a highway from Pohang to Taegu.

MacArthur Pleads For Quick Addition To Ground Forces

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur pleaded Saturday for a quick buildup of United Nations ground forces in Korea.

He said in a report to the United Nations that naval and air power have grown in strength and effectiveness, but added: "My gravest concern is for a prompt buildup of the now outnumbered ground forces of this command."

MacArthur is the commander of all U. N. forces trying to push North Korean invaders back to the 38th parallel, across which they invaded South Korea June 25.

"The information I have received on the size and type of units offered by member nations," he said, "shows a united and determined spirit in the nations of the United Nations to repel the invader of the republic of Korea that is gratifying."

"I still feel it my duty to report to you that contributions must be forthcoming without delay if this threat to international security is to be resolved promptly."

He added: "I am glad to report that during the period of this report (Aug. 1-15) the cohesion displayed by the United Nations forces of this command has proved the validity of the United Nations concept of peace."

The report is his third. It gives a general description of military operations in the Pusan bridgehead between Aug. 1 and 15. MacArthur said that strategic withdrawals were required because the ground forces were still outnumbered.

MacArthur's second report, on operations for the latter part of July, was submitted to the U. N. through the U. S. mission to the United Nations Aug. 17. Russia's Jakob A. Malik was president of the Security Council in August and returned to read the report into the records.

The second report said that, although eight nations were engaged in naval and air operations, no countries other than the United States and the republic of Korea had contributed ground fighting forces up to them. It asked for more troops without delay.

Between the two reports, the British sent one unit of 1,500 men from the Hong Kong garrison. Other nations have reiterated pledges of ground forces and some have asked for more troops.

ROGERS, GULL

talk has been plentiful and speculation high. Although each side claims the most predictions in its favor, neutral observers or those who claim they are neutral — play their estimates close to the chest and claim the predictions are pretty equally divided.

The race is expected to draw heavier voting in the general election than was the custom in years gone by when Democratic nominations were tantamount to election.

Supporters of Rogers will be concentrating on getting out the vote. What Rogers' blueprint for campaigning will be still guesswork and will remain that way until he returns.

Gull, on the other hand, will try to make the most of his approximately 10 days at home. From there on it is a question of whether he will get back to do any effective campaigning or whether he will have to stay in Washington with Congress.

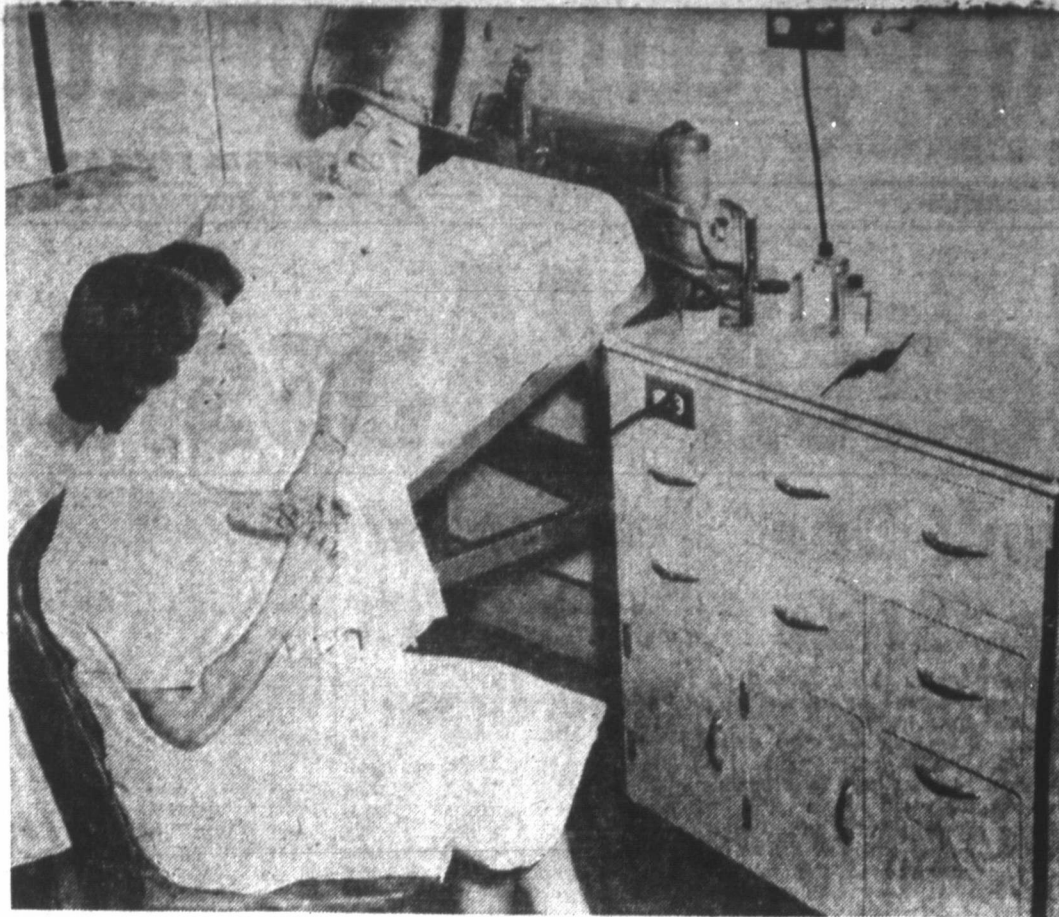

While backers of both candidates are now working, each side predicts the big battle will be fought from about the first week in October until Nov. 6, the day before election.

So far only feeler moves into different points of the district and preliminary organization work has been going on in both camps.

regrouped today and resumed their attack at the south end. This punch was aimed at the hard-fighting U.S. 25th division defending Masan and Pusan.

On the right flank of the 25th American Marines reinforced a counterattack being made by the U.S. second infantry division. American forces are trying to eliminate a deep Communist penetration.

When the 50,000 Reds opened their west and southern offensive, they massed their greatest strength near the confluence of the Nam and Nakdong rivers, swinging northeast against the U.S. second infantry division, rolled the Americans back eight and one-half miles and captured the town of Yongasan.

Saturday, the second division recaptured Yongasan. Today, bolstered by the First Marine brigade, the second division launched an attack along its entire 25-mile front, aimed at driving the Reds back across the Nakdong.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Huth said the Marines pushed ahead more than a quarter of a mile in the first hour of the drive. Marine tanks were in support.

The Marines hit due west from Yongasan while the infantrymen struck northwest. This threw the leathernecks across the same terrain they traveled in helping the U.S. 24th division eliminate a 12,000 man Red bridgehead two weeks ago.

Hundreds of land and carrier-based planes attacked enemy targets in their consecutive day of massed support today. They bombed, rocketed, and machine-gunned Red troops which already have suffered casualties well over 10,000.

This was the situation at what may be the climactic phase of the entire campaign:

1. The Reds attacked today all along the north 35-mile sector of the battle perimeter, gaining at Kigye and Waegwan.

2. Along a 25-mile front west of Yongasan the U.S. second division and the Marines were on the attack.

3. The Communists threw fresh reserves and the remnants of two shattered divisions—the sixth

Forgetfulness Is Business Helper

Sauls has yet to find a safe he can't open. The reason, he said, is that they just don't have enough time.

While Sauls isn't giving up his picks and gadgets in favor of the words "Open Sesame," he found the magic phrase apparently more effective one time. After more than 45 minutes trying without success to open a door for a woman, Sauls leaned against it and it swung open. It hadn't been locked in the first place.

Lefors High Band Rehearsals Start; Goal of 100 Set

LEFORS — (Special) — Rehearsals began last week for the Lefors High School band in preparation for an expanded music program in the Lefors schools. Desmond Brewer, band director, says enthusiasm is high and nearly all of last year's members were present at the first meeting.

Attending the first rehearsal were Billy Bennett, Gertrude Chisum, Jack Chisum, Eddie Don Davis, Raynor Fillman, Vern Lee Hogan, Jimmy Roberts, Barbara Sanders, Skipper Bogard, Sammie Houchin, Katie Lee Baumgardner, Rhylia Ann Barron, Marilyn A. Pafford, Carol Ann Graves, Margaret Cobb.

And Bernard Bucy Johnson, Richard Doughty, Arthur Ray Roberts, Melba McCarty, Herbert Wall, Posey Brown, Jimmy Roberts, Jack Taylor, Iris Ann Stracener, Gwendolyn Louise Thurmond, Shirley Perkins, Marilyn Mullins.

One hundred boys and girls on musical instruments by the first of October is the ambitious goal aimed at by the Lefors high school band in its intensive campaign to reorganize and make permanent the instruments.

Plans are being made to give scientific music tests to all pupils, from grades five to 10 inclusive, to determine which boys and girls are best adapted to various band instruments. At a later date a representative of the Megett Music Co. will present a display of new band instruments to pupils and parents who are interested. At that time information about the new rental plan whereby a boy or girl can try out an instrument at the lowest possible cost will be explained.

Thursday morning, Lou Dea and Chisum, Gerald Dunn, and Elaine Pearch were selected twirlers. The drum major will be Nell Guthrie and the muscote Lee Ann Pafford and Mickey Archer.

Flying Saucer Comes to Life

AP News Service
CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Department of Defense officials please note.

There is such a thing as a flying saucer.

Joe Ward, 14-year-old son of a pilot, has one.

He made it himself.

And it flies.

The youth, who lives at Belle, about 10 miles east of Charleston, is a model airplane builder.

Years standing, intrigued by the thought of a flying saucer, he started out to make one. He had no model to work from, obviously.

He wound up with a doughnut-shaped contraption made of balsam wood and silk and equipped with a motor, flaps, landing gear, wheels and propeller.

The boys of his gang scoffed at the idea that the contraption would fly. So did his father, who bet Joe two cans of gasoline that the saucer would be a flop.

The payoff came at a large cinder plant field near the DuPont plant. The motor, attached to 50 feet of wire so that it would not be lost, not only flew but it looped, hovered, circled and dipped.

60-Year-Old Writer Never Too Old to Learn, He Says

BY ROBIN TIBBETS

This saying goes "you're never too old to learn" and George R. Norris of Ardmore, Okla., a visitor in Pampa, is definite proof that the old adage isn't so far off.

Norris, the father of George R. Norris, Jr., 1105 Duncan, entered the University of Oklahoma at the age of 48 as a special student in journalism and creative writing. Now, 12 years later, Norris is a selling writer and a firm believer in formal education.

For 28 years, Norris was "a round peg in a square hole"; he just wasn't satisfied being a traveling salesman. He wanted to write. He said he had written at least a million words but had never sold a nickel's worth.

His son, George, Jr., was a student in Oklahoma U., when his father decided to enter the university.

Since completion of his courses in the university, Norris has sold 36 stories to various detective magazines; a few articles to the Daily Oklahoman; articles to the NEA Syndicate and several articles to the old "Judge" magazine.

Those articles sent to "Judge" netted him exactly nothing, for shortly after they "bought" the last one, the magazine folded and failed to reimburse Norris for his efforts.

If you have ever heard a radio program involving detectives, things, murderers, and plenty of excitement called "Gangbusters," then the chances are Norris wrote the original story.

His ideas come from stories of crime in the newspapers which he elaborates and builds into a plot suitable for use in radio. He uses factual data, which together with a vivid imagination makes for a good story. "By the time those script writers get through with it though," he says, "I hardly recognize it."

Up to this time, Norris has written a total of 40 Gangbuster stories, 37 of which have been stories, 37 of which have been three and to be produced soon.

Norris doesn't write the stories in script form. He first sends in an outline of the proposed story and, if it is approved, writes it in story form and sends it to his producers. They take it from there.

Norris has never sold any fiction stories, but has several historical novels in mind. Most of his information will come from the Texas-Arkansas-Oklahoma tri-state area, with which he is most familiar.

Another Norris product is a column in The Daily Ardmoreite, his home town newspaper, called the Rambling Reporter. Most of the entries in this column are of a human interest type and rather humorous. He has been writing this column for about three years.

Some say the writing profession doesn't pay, but Norris says that after 12 years in the writing profession he is in better financial condition than at any time in his life.

Norris is a native of Ardmore, having lived there since he was six years old. He lives there now with his wife. His son, George, is associated with Jones-Everett Machine Co., in Pampa.

Tommy Roberts, defending champion, did not take part in the medalist play. By playing yesterday he might have risked his chances of competing in the championship flight.

Clancy's closest competition came from Glenn Barber of Los Alamos, J. D. Burton of Albuquerque and W. T. Swinney of Clovis. All three shot 73, one over the par of 72.

E-Texas Field Has Double Birth Date

By MAX B. SKELTON

AUSTIN (AP)—The nation's most fabulous oil field has a mixed-up birth date.

The vast East Texas field will be 19 years old tomorrow or 20 years old in October.

It all depends on which set of records you read.

The mix up results from confusion accompanying what was possibly the nation's biggest and most trying oil boom.

Actually, C. M. (Dad) Joiner started the field in early October, 1930, by finding oil in an East Texas area practically every one had said held no oil.

By the time the boom, along with martial law, was under way in 1931, geologists had changed their minds and decided the underground reserve might produce as much as 1,000,000 barrels.

But East Texas fooled the experts again.

Texas Railroad Commission records here show the field produced 2,628,672,771 barrels of oil between Dad Joiner's strike and July 1, 1950.

Predictions now are the field will double that figure before it passes into history.

Records of the oil and gas regulatory commission also place the field's discovery date as Sept. 3, 1931.

Actually, that was the date on which the commission issued its first production prororation order for the East Texas field.

Eighteen days earlier the Texas National Guard had moved into the field, on orders of Governor Ross S. Sterling, and shut down 1,600 wells.

These wells had sprung up rapidly after the Joiner strike. Legal problems prevented enforcement of the state's conservation laws. Markets were flooded with crude oil.

By the time the militia arrived, some oil was selling at 5-cents a barrel.

Sterling had attempted to avert calling out the militia by ordering the state legislature into special session to consider adoption of conservation laws with strong teeth.

The session began July 14, 1931, but the bill was not approved until Aug. 12.

By that time Kansas and Oklahoma already had shut down their oil fields because of price drops resulting from the flood of East Texas oil.

Guardmen began letting oil flow again Sept. 5, 1931, under a strict allowable of 225 barrels daily per well. Before the shut-down, some of the wells had been flowing as much as 1,400 a day.

By the time the first well was reopened, crude prices were back to 68 cents a barrel. The average price today is about $2.50.

Petroleum engineers today offer the East Texas field as the best example of what strict conservation will do for an oil field.

They are confident the unique conservation program carried out in East Texas since 1931 has added hundreds of millions of barrels to the total of oil ultimately to be recovered from the field.

The field boomed rapidly for eight years after the National Guard moved out.

By October 1933 there were 10,836 wells, 14,396 a year later, 18,578 in September 1935, and 23,989 in November 1937.

Its peak well strength of 25,987 was reached Dec. 1, 1939.

The field's August 1950 production allowable was based on 22,219 wells.

Engineers say only good conservation has kept the well total so high.

The key to the East Texas conservation program is bottom-hole pressure — the underground reservoir gas pressure which forces the crude oil to the surface without the aid of pumps.

A natural lift recovers a greater percentage of a reservoir's oil than do mechanical pumps.

Railroad Commission engineers say less than 9000 of the field's wells are using pumps today.

They say operators of hundreds of other wells bought pumps years ago but never have had to use them because conservation has kept the bottom-hole pressure high.

Commission records show the top limit of very high pressure is 1,625 pounds per square inch in late 1930, more than double the 750-pound point at which a well has to be placed on a pump.

The commission has sought to keep the field's pressure slightly above 1,000 pounds.

The field's lowest pressure point in history was 994.84 pounds registered in February 1945.

The formula for maintaining the pressure is simple.

Engineers found the pressure dropped when oil was removed from the reservoir at a rapid rate, that it increased as the production rate was slowed down.

As a result, the field was not permitted to produce oil on Sundays in 1937. Later it was shut down on Saturdays and Sundays.

Production days were added or taken away in accordance with the rise or fall of the bottom-hole pressure. The field has been shut down as many as 15 days a month. In September it will operate on 21 days, two more than in August.

As evidence of how successfully the system has worked, commission engineers turn to these official records:

On Nov. 1, 1941, the pressure was 1,030.46 pounds per square inch. Nearly nine years later, July 1, 1950, the reading was 1,030.48 pounds.

The system means less oil per day but more oil over a period of years and a longer life expectancy for the field.

Commission records show the field's production has been divided practically equally between its two decades of life — 1,386,151,512 barrels prior to January 1, 1940, and 1,272,151,512 between that date and last July 1.

PAGE 4 PAMPA NEWS, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1950

Panhandle Drilling Takes Sharp Drop

Drilling activity hit its lowest point of the year last week as operators completed but six new wells and staked eight. There were no gas completions or dry holes filed.

Increased oil potential plummeted to 271 bbls. compared to the previous week's 1,056 barrels, a decline of 785 barrels.

Per-well average was 45.16 barrels compared to 62.11 barrels for the week ended Aug. 26. There were 15 new locations staked during the previous seven-day period.

Current production of oil was increased slightly to 27,900 barrels while gas production was unchanged at 1,208,940 MCF.

Goodyear Building King-Sized Blimp

AKRON, Ohio — (AP) — The Goodyear Aircraft Corp. reports it is building the world's largest blimp for the U.S. Navy.

Work on the ship, which will approach Zeppelins of World War I in size is well under way, the company said.

It will cost the Navy about $5,000,000 and will be used mainly in spotting submarines, Goodyear said. The blimp would be able to hover almost motionless or travel at speeds ranging up to 75 knots.

Carrying a crew of 14 men, the ship will be powered by two seven-cylinder engines. Some 875,000 cubic feet of helium will keep it aloft.

Originally the wireless distress call at sea was "CQD" but this was changed to "SOS" primarily because its coded three dots, three dashes and three dots are much easier read.

A total of 83,000 radio amateurs operate about 84,000 stations in this country.

Effects of Oil on America Subject of St. Louis Talk

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — How petroleum instrumental in establishment of Louisiana's oil and gas conservation laws and was formerly chairman of the State Mineral Board.

In addition to IPAA, Hardey is now serving on the directorate of American Petroleum Institute, Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, and Independent Natural Gas Association. He is a member of the National Petroleum Council.

Merle Becker, past president of IPAA and chairman of its program committee, said the forum had been planned to "furnish an authoritative explanation of the oil industry's preparedness to meet present and future needs of the nation."

"We have entered into a period of military preparation in which the petroleum industry will play an important part," Becker said. "It is timely that we take stock of the position of the industry with respect to the present emergency."

"In the last analysis, oil is the life's blood of America's productive industrial system. It is essential to our national security and preparedness. This forum will define the industry's ability to meet our national requirements — a matter of importance to all Americans."

Cooperating with IPAA in presenting the forum will be the government - appointed National Petroleum Council, American Petroleum Institute, Interstate Oil Compact Commission, the Texas Railroad Commission, and other groups and agencies.

Becker said the forum would present "in one package" the views of responsible industry-government leaders on the oil industry's responsibility to the nation and its scope of operations from well to consumer, "whether the consumer be the owner of a private automobile or the U.S. defense establishment."

He said the significance of the forum had prompted its sponsors to issue invitation to a wide range of interested persons in government and industry. Such invitations will go to governors of oil-producing states and state oil and gas regulatory officials, he said.

Becker said B. A. Hardey, Shreveport, La., also a past president of IPAA who is widely known throughout the oil industry, would serve as moderator for the forum. It will close the IPAA meeting which starts here Monday, Oct. 2, with advance committee meetings on Oct. 1.

Hardey, who will preside during the forum and introduce its speakers, has been in the oil business since 1912. He was in-

Cochrane Gets Walking Papers From Athletics

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics — battered by American League opposition and subject to rumors all season — Saturday dropped General Manager Mickey Cochrane in the first shakeup under the new A.L. Mack regime.

Acceptance of a resignation submitted by the longtime great catcher for Connie Mack and former manager of the Detroit Tigers was announced by Roy Mack.

Just five days ago, Roy and Earle Mack — Connie's two elder sons — purchased full ownership of the Athletics with their father — mortgaging Shibe Park to finance the deal.

Roy Mack's terse announcement did not mention a successor to Cochrane. That touched off the rumor mills again.

A few weeks ago, Roy said Arthur Ehlers, head of the A's farm system, was ticketed for a top job in the new Mack setup. Many felt that the dropping of Cochrane would open the way for Ehlers to take over as general manager.

Roy's statement said only: "Mickey Cochrane has tendered his resignation as general manager of the Philadelphia Athletics and it has been accepted. Frank McFarland, Jr., also resigned as traveling secretary and his position will be temporarily filled by Dave Keefe."

Roy declined to make any further comment and Cochrane was said by club officials to be driving to his home near Detroit.

Oilers Steam Past Gold Sox, 13-2

Pampa Runs Victory Skein To Eight Straight Games

AMARILLO — (AP) — Earl Doud's excellent five-hit pitching, Pampa's steady offense and Amarillo's utter collapse affixed took the league-leading Pampa Oilers to a 13-2 victory over the sixth-place Gold Sox in the opener of a two-game set here Saturday night.

The Sox committed nine errors and two of the winners' 14 hits were scratches. Only seven of the Pampa runs were earned.

Doud, however, was good enough to win anyway. He separated the Amarillo blows, one of which was Manager Crawford Howard's 37th homer of the season with none on base in the seventh. A base on balls to Doug Lewis and Jim Bynon's double to right center provided the other Amarillo run after two were out in the second.

Fred Bates, Amarillo's unfortunate starter, was relieved by Howard in the eighth. Homer Matney then grounded into a double play to end the inning. Howard walked three and allowed two hits in the ninth but the Oilers got only one run off him, a second double play helping.

The Oilers are now five games off their victory streak they set between July 21 and August 5. Pampa won 13 straight before dropping a game to the Lubbock Hubbers. This tied the West Texas-New Mexico league record for consecutive wins for a club.

The previous record was set by Albuquerque June 21 through July 4, 1948.

Oilers Defeat Gold Sox, 4-3

George Payte bested Rookie Joe Calloway in a pitching duel Friday night and the Oilers panned the Amarillo Gold Sox, 4 to 3. It was Payte's 20th League victory.

Chick Howard, Gold Sox cleanup batter, blasted one of Payte's tosses over the left field wall with one on to send Amarillo out in front in the first frame, 2-0.

The Oilers loaded the sacks in the first inning but were unable to push a man across the plate. Calloway issued three walks and balked twice in the first frame.

Amarillo scored their third run off of Payte in the third. Jay Defani doubled to right, moved to third on Don Rickelson's error, and crossed the plate when a doubleplay failed for the Oilers.

Pampa scored four runs in the fourth on four hits. Eight Oilers stroled to the plate. Rickelson opened by striking out. He was thumbed out of the game for protesting a third called strike.

Homer Matney shot a single to left and advanced to second on Jim Martin's Texas League run to right. Both runners advanced on Calloway's wild pitch. Payte struck out, and Dick Dawson kept the rally alive by drilling a one-baser to left, scoring Martin and Matney.

Woldt traveled to first on a walk, and Johnny Jeandron drove a double to the left centerfield boards to plate the final two runs.

Amarillo had two rallies in the seventh and eighth innings on doubleplays. Late umpire Leonard Burton left the game in the third inning when his right knee gave away on him.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Joe DiMaggio was hot again Saturday, driving in five runs on a homer and two singles to spark the New York Yankees to a 9-2 victory over the Washington Senators.

The triumph kept the American League pace-setters 1-2 games ahead of the runner-up Detroit Tigers who shipped the Chicago White Sox, 8-2. The third place Boston Red Sox remained 3 1-2 games behind by trouncing the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-3.

Pitchers hogged the spotlight in the National League as Ewell Blackwell pitched Cincinnati to a one-hit 5-1 victory over Chicago while Vern Law blanked St. Louis, 6-0, for Pittsburgh and Don Newcombe shut out the New York Giants, 2-0, for Brooklyn.

DiMaggio drove in the first five Yankees. The Clipper homered in the second with the bases empty, drove in three in the third with a two-out bloop single and started a five-run seventh-inning rally with a run-scoring single.

Vic Wertz started the Tigers off to victory with a three-run homer in the first inning. The Tigers tucked the game away with a five-run blast in the fourth.

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)— Exclusively Yours: Insiders still insist that a reconciliation is in the cards for Joan Blondell and Broadway producer Mike Todd despite her Las Vegas divorce. Judy Garland has been telling pals that she gives the best performance of her career in "Summer Stock." A press preview audience backed Judy up the other night by buzzing about a new Helen Hayes quality in her emoting. Ironie that Judy, who tried for the Olivia de Havilland league in "The Clock" and failed, finally makes it at the most tragic point of her career.

COLORFUL ARGUMENT

Big Pine and Bill Thomas are keeping mum about it, but there's a new Arleen Whelan coming through in the daily rushes of "Passage West." Photographed in technicolor for the first time, fiery-haired Arleen of the peaches and cream complexion is being told that she can write her own ticket in Hollywood from now on.

"It's amazing," Arleen whispered to me. "I've been screaming for color for years—12 years—and at last it's happened." Once Fox's white hope, Arleen scooted out of Hollywood, married New York Paramount executive Hugh Owen and scored as a stage actress in "The Doughgirls."

Secret Testimony On Nomination of O'Dwyer Proposed

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) proposed Saturday that the Senate foreign relations committee call Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York City for testimony in closed session before it holds public hearings on his diplomatic nomination.

Chairman Connally (D-Texas) has announced that the committee will hold a public inquiry this week into President Truman's appointment of O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico.

But Smith told a reporter he doesn't think the committee ought to air the case until it has had a chance to talk privately first to the retiring mayor. He said Connally did not consult other members before announcing the public hearing.

O'Dwyer whose resignation as mayor forced the call for a special election in New York City, is on his way to California.

Connally said he had no plans to call O'Dwyer for testimony but added the committee would welcome his appearance if he wants to testify.

Smith said he had been furnished with a copy of a protest lodged with the committee against the appointment by Henry V. Poor of New York City.

Poor, a founder of "The Republican Advance," a new organization described as composed of liberal Republicans, is the GOP candidate against Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., (D-Lib.) in Manhattan's 20th congressional district.

Smith and other committee Republicans said they had received informal protests against confirmation of O'Dwyer but none of them went so far as to say they would oppose the nomination.

Connally indicated he might call Rep. Marcantonio (ALP-N.Y.) as the first opposition witness against O'Dwyer if the committee goes ahead with public hearings. Some of the mayor's critics seemed to think that opposition by Marcantonio would redound to O'Dwyer's benefit within the committee.

Rigor Mortis Ends After Celebration

FILLMORE, N. Y. — (AP)— The "Century of Rigor Mortis" celebration here not only put money in the till but brought a change of slogan.

The committee announced it had refunded $1,400 to local merchants who underwrote the July centennial celebration and it has a "substantial balance" besides. The "rigor mortis" slogan—which admitted no progress in this Western New York village for the last century—has been changed to "no rigor but more vigor."

Order Backlog Up 3 Billion

WASHINGTON—(AP)— A wave of business buying orders, accompanying the consumer buying rush, added $3,000,000,000 to manufacturers' backlogs of unfilled orders during July, the Commerce Department reported.

The business buying rush halted the pre-Korea pile-up of goods in the hands of manufacturers and promised to keep factory operations lively in future weeks.

Manufacturers' July sales—in the sense of deliveries—totaled $19,900,000,000 against $15,800,000,000 in July last year and $20,800,000,000 in July, 1950. The decline from June to July this year was less than normal, the department said.

Inventories, which stood at $32,000,000 at June's end, were whittled to $31,700,000,000 at the end of July.

New orders, reaching a $2,800,000,000 total at the end of July, were $700,000,000 larger that month than in June, "not counting" increases in orders placed with the largest aircraft makers. Details on these were not yet available.

Children Get Dauer Estate

WHITE DEER—(Special)— A. J. (Oun) Dauer, wealthy White Deer rancher, loyalty owner and banker, left all of his estate, share and share alike, to his five children, according to probate papers filed recently.

Each child received an interest in two sections of land and one-half of all other property.

Dauer died July 5. Three children, Ronald and Paul Dauer and Mrs. Gladys O'Neal, were named independent executors without bond.

The will stated that no effort was being made to dispose of the property owned by his wife.

Special provisions included a gift of $1,000 to C. L. Meadows as soon as practical and $25 a year out of minerals so long as they are producing for the old family burial plot in Randolph County, Ill., where his parents are buried.

Minerals, rentals and royalties on the ten sections are to be left intact so long as they are productive and are to be divided equally among the five children or their descendants, it was stated.

All stock in the Farmers National Bank, of which he was president, stock in the Farmers Elevator and all other stock are to be divided equally among the five children.

Dauer's will was made out Oct. 3, 1947, and was witnessed by P. A. Holmes and Eugene Richardson.

Jack Freeman, W. R. Howard and W. J. Stubblefield were named appraisers.

Investment Firm Manager Named

Taking over his new duties last week as branch manager of the Southwestern Investment Company, was Ralph R. Gardner, formerly of Santa Fe, N.M.

Gardner replaces Joe Mitchell, who has resigned as manager. The rest of the staff will remain the same.

The new manager is living temporarily at the Schneider Hotel. He was expecting his wife and two sons, ages 10 and 12, to arrive Sunday from Santa Fe.

Aberdeen-Angus Sale Scheduled

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.— The first annual Angus sale will be held in the sale barn and auditorium of the Pikes Peak Cattle Growers Association Sept. 5.

Black - Aberdeen - Angus cattle, which trace their ancestry back to two counties in Scotland, Aberdeenshire and Angusshire, will be auctioned off by Col. Ray Sims of Belton, Mo., beginning at 1 p.m. the day after Labor Day.

On Monday, prior to the sale, the cattle will be on display in the stock pens of the show barn. Then, on Tuesday, at the sale, Millard Walton of the Chicarcio ranch, Raton, N.M., will judge the cattle going on sale.

The placing of the Blacks on sale will depend on the decision of Walton, who is one of the oldest Angus breeders in New Mexico.

A group of 24 quarter horses will be auctioned off at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Wading in Lake Proves Expensive

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.— Going wading in a lake proved costly to Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Lee of Johnstown, Pa. They parked their 1950 sedan on Singer Island while they went wading in a lake nearby. The sedan rolled into the lake and disappeared in the deep water. Damage was estimated at $750.

The mobile unit has been set up at the Southwestern Public Service office in Groom. Persons are urged by Mrs. Steed to support the free clinic.

Selectees Ordered To Take Physicals Cannot Volunteer

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Selectees who have received orders to report for pre-induction physical examination cannot enlist, the armed services reported Saturday. An Army spokesman explained that it has rescinded a policy of permitting such selectees to enlist in the Army if they obtain letters from their local draft boards, releasing them from keeping dates for examinations. The Air Force said it recognizes that, in some cases, selectees who have received orders to report for examinations may persuade their draft boards to withdraw the orders. In such cases, it added, the orders would no longer exist and the Air Force would enlist the selectees if they were qualified. But a spokesman emphasized that the Air Force is not encouraging draft boards to cancel physical orders once they have been issued. The Navy said it will not accept enlistments of men who have orders for physical exams.

Germans May Be Fighting Soon—Against the Communies

By ARTHUR GAYSON
(For DEWITT MACKENZIE)

LONDON — (AP) — Millions of Germans who marched against the west 10 years ago may be enlisted soon as active allies in the fight to stop communism.

West German leaders, who are anxious to restore the full, sovereign independence of their country, claim their followers are willing and anxious to play such a role.

American, British and French foreign ministers, meeting in New York Sept. 12, will decide on the exact nature and extent of the planned West German contribution to western defense.

Their decisions on Germany may well affect the entire course and outcome of the East-West cold war.

For it's as true today as it was when Bismarck founded the modern German state nearly a century ago, that when Germany sneezes the whole world catches cold.

Both east and west today are struggling to control the direction of the German sneeze.

Whoever wins that struggle, in the end wins control of Europe.

Suave Dean Acheson, Britain's ambassador in Berlin, and Robert Schuman of France will have to accept or reject recommendations expected from their experts on six major issues.

The expected recommendations: A. West Germany should grant a limited, self-contained force on to the Central Western army being organized by the 12 Atlantic Pact partners — but only after the allies arm themselves.

B. The United States and Britain should boost the strength of their occupation forces in West Germany to around six combat divisions each.

C. West Germany's request to raise a 65,000-strong armed militia to take care of internal security should be met at least in part.

D. The 11,100,000-ton ceiling on West Germany's annual steel output should be raised so that the west can use the rich Ruhr resources for its own rearmament program.

E. West Germany should be allowed to set up its own foreign ministry, run its own foreign policy, send out its own ambassadors. Simultaneously the west should give up its right to veto laws passed by the Bonn parliament — subject to some safeguards in the revised allied occupation statute.

F. The Big Three should call on all non-Communist nations individually to end the state of war which still legally exists with West Germany — and so bring the German people fully into their midst for the first time since 1939.

Acheson will have the advice of two on-the-spot experts when the German question comes up in New York: Ambassador Lewis Douglas from London and High Commissioner John J. McCloy from Frankfurt. They flew to the United States today, and will stay until the New York talks end.

Acheson also asked Charles M. Spofford, quiet-spoken American chairman of the Atlantic Council of Deputies, to be on hand. Spofford recently had a long talk with Bevin with the idea of finding out how the British would react to German rearmament.

Bevin would not easily be drawn out. He spent most of the interview reminiscing about his days as a capitalist-hating labor organizer in Britain's dockland. Only glancingly did he let Spofford understand that if the Germans had to be given guns again, then the British would swallow the idea, however much it hurt.

Bevin will have his top German adviser with him, high commissioner Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, who will fly to New York in a week or so.

Chances of Escaping Death in Auto Wreck Improve Rapidly

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT — (AP) — Motoring in the United States during the last 20 years has cost the lives of 651,480 persons.

An estimated 22,700,000 persons suffered injuries in traffic accidents during the same period. Property damage ran into billions of dollars.

These figures come from the National Safety Council.

But appalling as the total is, your chance of escaping death or injury in a traffic accident is better today, even with more crowded highways, than it was in 1930.

Safety council figures show that 20 years ago 32,900 persons were killed. That was equivalent to 16 deaths for each 100,000 miles of vehicle travel. The auto death toll last year was 31,500, or 7.4 for each 100,000 vehicle miles.

Traffic authorities frequently hear it said that many persons are foregoing Sunday motoring for fear of being killed; they hear also that many persons accustomed to driving to work are abandoning the habit in favor of public transportation.

However that may be, the records show nearly 20,000,000 more vehicles in use today than in 1930. And the council reports that "a very sharp rise in travel volume has not been accompanied by an increase in motor vehicle deaths so the death rate has reached a new low level."

This may be explained in several ways. Certainly, today's motorists are better than they were in 1930. The nation's highway system is better.

By the council records motor vehicle deaths reached a peak in 1941 with a total of 39,969. This was 12 for each 100,000 miles of motor vehicle travel.

Of more than passing interest is the fact that until 1948 the pedestrian toll exceeded that from any other form of accident. In 1948 collisions involving two or more vehicles took more lives. This was true again in 1949.

It appears that in a majority of instances a traffic regulation of some kind is being violated at the time of the accident—such as speeding, running through traffic signals, refusing to yield the right of way to pedestrians where there is no traffic signal, driving while intoxicated or driving with a car in unsafe condition.

It was the tenth consecutive week in which more than 100 cases were recorded by the state health department has reported.

A like figure was reported for the preceding week. In the comparable week a year ago there had been 69 cases.

The new incidence broke in 44 counties, five of them reporting their first cases this year. Newcomers were Jim Hogg, Ochiltree and Robertson counties with one case each and Lynn and Stephens had two cases each.

The additional counties brought to 168 the number of counties host to the disease this year.

Other counties reporting incidence last week were Bosque, Coleman, Crosby, Dawson, Denton, Ector, Galveston, Grayson, Karnes, Leon, Lubbock, McLennan, Morris, Nacogdoches, Runnels, San Patricio, Schleicher, Smith, Tom Green, Wheeler and Williamson, one case each; Bastrop, Childress, Haskell, Jefferson, Martin, Nolan, Nueces, and Wilbarger, two cases each; Cherokee, Hutchinson, Navarro and Travis, three cases each; Bexar and El Paso, four cases each; Tarrant, five cases; Hale, 10 cases; Harris, 15 cases; and Dallas, 19 cases.

The new cases brought the year's total to date to 1,874, compared to 1,621 at this time a year ago.

Parents Fear School Kids' Clothing Might Go Higher

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — (AP) — A record 30 1-2 million boys and girls are getting ready to enroll in the nation's grade and high schools. And the nation's merchants have been doing a fine business outfitting them. Some report that dollar volume of back-to-school buying is running from 10 to 35 percent ahead of last year.

Business may be even better in the years ahead. The school age population may increase by more than one-third in the next ten years and not reach its peak before 1964, as the record baby crops of the war and postwar years pass through the primary and secondary schools.

This year's booming sales of children's clothing isn't called war scare buying. But many stores report that parents are buying with the entire school year in mind, instead of just the first few months. And many stores say back-to-school buying started at least two weeks earlier this year.

Only a few parents appear to fear possible clothing shortages later, but many seem to fear future price increases, retailers say, especially in wool clothing.

A whole new generation of boys may be coming along who will never know anything but rayon suits, according to some of the home fanciful looking-headers-down on clothing row. They say that boys' wear manufacturers, always keenly price-conscious, are particularly worried by the skyrocketing prices of wool at the Australian auctions. And some fear that in the years ahead wool may become too expensive for boys' suits.

Others, taking a shorter view, predict that the rising price of fabrics and increasing labor costs will mean a 10 percent wholesale price hike in boys' clothing after Labor Day, and that next spring's prices will be 20 percent higher than last.

On the other hand, Montgomery Ward's new catalogue, out this week, shows price cuts of from 7 to 50 percent on many children's clothing items, the biggest reductions in the book. But the prices were set and the catalogue in the printers' hands before the Korean War started.

IN A WAY it's going to be nice to hear school bells again—will mean a little more peace and quiet at our house. But then on the other hand, we hate to see the college set leave. Like I said the first of the summer, they bring a bit of spark to the social scene. They are really going to be scattered over the country this school year.

LABOR DAY ACTIVITIES will center at the Country Club where the golf tournament will be held. Heard lots of different ones talking of "practicing their game" before the matches. I do hope I win those golf clubs that the women are giving away (but then you'll never know whether I do or not.) It will be a nice prize for the lucky one.

WE HAVE SUCH a nice city park and such nice people here that it's a pity they don't get together more.

SINCE SHE WAS vacationing, Mrs. Frank Pata probably didn't read the rhyme written specially for her last week. All that about "Cane-eat-a" thing must be corrected—at least I can surmise that from the fish tales she's been telling. They fished in Colorado or somewhere up that way.

PAMPA PANORAMA: At the Lewis Jones residence I always see the loveliest ivy... what some people can't do with plans... Saw some people we know real well shining the windows of their new stone house in Fraser... that's one job that most of us wouldn't miss one bit... There's a virtual wall of morning glories in bloom each day at the W. M. Castleberry home... they have the vines growing on the back fence and it's a fetching sight... On flowers: those red zinnias plants really accent the window boxes of the First Methodist education building... Like to know who gets more excited over that never-ending chain of wedding gifts arriving at the P. A. Hukill house—Mrs. Hukill or Peggy... their genuine enthusiasm is infectious... The girls down at Bentley's are still waiting on the new entrance... they're a nice group... The W. J. Bakers' daughter is here awaiting the arrival of the stork... Watch for the canna bed in front of Clay Floral... solid red... you can't miss it... There's talk already of the BSA style show... that's something everyone looks forward to, and it's nice they've made it an annual thing... the "Smiley" Hendersons are having their garage re-painted... guess they'll do the house next... Mrs. Henderson has a braver mate than I... Can't imagine Mr. Peg attempting to keep a huge lawn like they have... Noticed B. G. Gordon at the service station the other afternoon... nice person... Hope I hear more about the recital at the Church of the Brethren before it takes place on Tuesday evening.

YOU JUST HAVEN'T had any fun unless you have been to one of Mrs. Guy Farrington's ranch style luncheons. She uses red bandannas for napkins and dresses her table with colorful pottery. She strikes me as the type of person who makes an occasion of meals by adding just a touch here and there to the table setting. It's a recognized fact that a flourish of color in the menu and an attractive setting does wonders for the appetite. A plastic tablecloth is nice, but don't fall into the habit of using it all the time for the family and saving the decorative damask for "company." Seems as important to "dress up" your dinner table as it is to dress up yourself, and nobody appreciates those little extras like your own family does!

SURE SIGNS OF FALL: All the favorite radio programs are returning to the air after a summer vacation—Football forecasters (in the Combs-Worley barber shop and in Johnson's) are picking favorites—Dress shops are featuring their fall lines—but really, the most concrete evidence of winter's approaching is the beginning of league bowling.

DON'T KNOW the Dan Williams family, but I've heard of an unusual collection of miniature dolls they have on display in their living room. Surely would like to learn the background of the collection, when it was started and for whom, and mainly I would like to know how each doll found its way to the group.

ONE OF THE best ways to say, "Glad to see you," is to light the way to the front door. There's nothing like stumbling up dark steps over kiddie cars (or so our friends tell us) and that's why the lamp post is so popular. We've taken these from the days of the old lamp lighter, and of course you've noticed the one at the L. R. Millers, right in center front. The Jimmie McCunes have a nice little front with a lamp post and there's none "cuter" than the P. W. Harveys' rambling walk accented by a lamp.

IT SEEMS mighty good to see Dr. Sawyer back in his office after his recent illness. We hear he is doing fine, and that corner doesn't seem so lonely now. Hope he takes it easy and doesn't overdo it because we certainly have missed him.

LATELY, I'M SO used to my allies calling me "Peg" that it's getting real dangerous for me to be around anyone else by that name. Why, it would be terrible if I accidentally answered to the name of Peggy—you'd have me cornered and there'd be no way to deny that I was PEG O' PAMPA.

Church Is Setting for Ceremony Uniting Miss Hawthorn, Mr. Kramer

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The Assembly of God Church in Skellytown was setting for the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss JoAnn Hawthorn, daughter of Daniel Hawthorn of Pampa, and Merle Kramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kramer.

The Rev. W. L. Brown read the double-ring ceremony as the couple stood before the altar, against a background of gladioli, zinnias and dahlias.

Miss Dorothy Broome sang "God Remembers Everything."

She was accompanied by Edith Beagle, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Bridesmaid was Miss Geneva Rodgers, and Donald Mills served as best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a royal blue satin street-length dress and a white carnation corsage.

The bridesmaid was dressed in baby blue and wore a corsage of red carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink dress and white carnations.

The bride attended Pampa schools and the bridegroom was graduated from the White Deer High School, where he was a member of the football and track teams.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served in the Kramer home to the bridal party and guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Kramer are living in Pampa temporarily, but will later move to Borger.

What's Cookin' In Gray County HD Club Work

BY MARY ANNE DUKE

STATE MEETING — The state meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association recently held at Big Spring was attended by the following four Gray County Home Demonstration Club women: Mrs. W. R. Melton, vice president of District I, Mrs. H. B. Taylor, Jr., county chairman, Mrs. T. G. Groves and Mrs. A. C. Crawford.

In reporting the state meeting to Gray County Home Demonstration Council, Mrs. Melton said, "The Texas Home Demonstration Association is a federation of all the Home Demonstration Clubs in the State of Texas. Every Home Demonstration Club woman is a member of the Texas Home Demonstration Association. The state is composed of 14 districts. Each district has a vice president and there is one vice president at large. The state president, the vice presidents, and the chairmen of the five standing committees make up the board of the association."

Mrs. Melton continued by saying, "This organization dates back to 1928. At a Farmer's Short Course in 1926 a group of the Home Demonstration Club women met to organize the Texas Home Demonstration Association for the purpose of providing an educational fund for a deserving 4-H girl, to give the women training in parliamentary procedure, and to train the women so they might help with the short course by presiding at meetings."

In 1931, under the direction of Miss Maggie W. Barry, specialist in rural women's organization, the THDA was reorganized. The objective of the organization was stated thus: "To serve as a cooperative and coordinating agency for the state-wide activities of Home Demonstration Clubs."

"In 1935 the voting strength at the state meeting was 1,481. Realizing that with this number, it was impossible to transact business efficiently, the board recommended the delegate body be reduced to one voting member per county. This was adopted by the association and has been used since that date to the present."

"In 1941 the scholarship fund was named the Maggie W. Barry Scholarship. In 1946 the office of county THDA chairman was created. In 1947 it was voted by the association to give $100 to each of the 14 districts to use in the district for 4-H work. In 1949 the Maggie W. Barry scholarship was raised from $300 to $500. Another $500 scholarship, the Helen H. Swift, was established. Now the association is benefiting two valuable 4-H girls each year. Twenty-three 4-H girls in Texas have been so honored by this organization."

Mrs. Melton concluded by saying, "In 1948 the Texas Home Demonstration Association joined the National Home Demonstration Council for the purpose of cooperating on a national and international level. It is through the voluntary twenty-five cents annual donation by most home demonstration club women, and rural leadership, that the association has grown and developed into the worthwhile organization that it is today."

Reports from the other delegates to the state meeting of the Texas Home Demonstration Association will be given later.

Miss Brummett, G.D. Crossman Wed With Bride's Brother Officiating

A ceremony in the First Christian Church Sunday, Aug. 27, united in marriage Miss Nancy Anne Brummett and George Donald Crossman. The double-ring ceremony was read at 2 p.m. by the bride's brother, the Rev. Leonard Brummett of Lexington, Ky.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. V. Brummett, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Spence Crossman.

The church was softly lighted by an arch of candelabra which was flanked by palms and baskets of white gladioli. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white slyna cloth dress which was trimmed with flowers embroidered in seed pearls. She wore a white velvet hat with a shoulder-length veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis, with streamers of love knots.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Nell Brummett, who wore a dress of pink embroidered marquisette, with a matching veil and colonial bouquet.

Miss Ann Crossman, bridesmaid and a sister of the bridegroom, wore yellow embroidered marquisette with matching veil and colonial bouquet.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was his brother-in-law, James Carothers. Ushers were Ray Outley and Carl Lam.

Mrs. Brummett, mother of the bride, wore a white lace dress with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Crossman, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of black crepe with matching accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Charlotte Allston played a prelude of organ music and Kenneth Baumgardner sang "Through the Years," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Allston played the traditional wedding marches for processional and recessional.

Mrs. Crossman is a graduate of Pampa High School and attended West Texas State College, Canyon. While in high school she was a member of the National

Miss Elsie Harris Becomes Bride Raymond Christenson in Church

In a double-ring ceremony Monday evening, Aug. 28, Miss Elsie Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Harris of Kingsmill, became the bride of Raymond Christenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Christenson of LeRoy, Kans.

Vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with an arch of fern and pink and white carnations and baskets of pink and white gladioli, flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers.

The Rev. George Clay of Eureka Springs, Ark., read the candlelight service at 8 o'clock in the Church of the Brethren in Pampa.

Preceding the ceremony musical selections were played by Mrs. Alvin Lee Barker of LaVerne, Okla., pianist, Henry Fletcher of Perryton sang "Always" and "It Was God's Grace that Made These Mine."

Miss Carolyn Bartz attended the bride as maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Betty Clay of Eureka Springs, Ark., and Mrs. Henry Fletcher of Perryton. Miss Mary Beth Harris, sister of the bride, and Miss Marilyn Campbell of Pampa were candlelighters.

Billy Don McVain of Kingsmill was best man and groomsmen were Amos Harris, Jr., brother of the bride, and Alvin Lee Barker of LaVerne, Okla. Paul Allen Fletcher and Tommy Fletcher, both of Perryton, were ushers. Glenn Harris, brother of the bride, and Paul Simmons placed the bridal path.

Escorted to the altar by her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was gown in white satin designed with an off-shoulder neckline. The fitted bodice was joined to a full skirt which swept into a chapel train. Her fingertip-length veil of lace trimmed illusion cascaded in tiers from the crown of her head. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of pink and white carnations. She carried out the tradition of "something old, new, borrowed and blue, and a penny in her shoe."

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore gowns of organdy over blue and pink taffeta; they were styled similar to the bride's gown, and their head - dresses matched their dresses. Each carried a heart-shaped bouquet centered with pink and white carnations.

Candlelighters wore identical pink organdy floor-length dresses, and little Miss Charity Harris, sister of the bride, was flower girl. Dressed as a miniature bride, she carried a ribbon trimmed basket of flower petals.

Mrs. Harris, mother of the bride, wore a navy crepe dress with white accessories. Mrs. Christenson wore pink crepe with black accessories. Both wore pink and white carnation corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Simmons, 422 Yeager. The serving table was laid with a hand-made lace cloth over blue and was centered with a tiered wedding cake, which was topped with a heart.

For the wedding trip to New Mexico the bride wore a black suit with forest green accessories and a pink and white carnation corsage.

Out-of-town wedding guests included the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Mahan and daughter, Marcene, Wichita, Kans.; the Rev. and Mrs. Ben Barker and daughter, Texanna, La Verne, Okla.; Misses Donna Joe Girard, Roberta Pletcher, Joan Bryan and Patsy Chick of Perryton; Luth Graves, Hardesty, Okla.; Mrs. George Clay and son, Randy, Eureka Springs, Ark.; and Earl Pruitt of Houston.

Christenson attended school at Jola, Kans., and served one year in the Navy during the war. Mrs. Christenson graduated from Pampa High School in 1949. Both attended the winter semester of the Apostolic Faith School in Baxter Springs, Kans., this year.

As a pre-nuptial courtesy Miss Elsie Harris was honored with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Edwin E. Simmons. Assistant hostesses were Misses, Clifton and Boyce Rascoe.

Mrs. Boyce Rascoe presided at the guest book, and Mrs. Clifton Rascoe assisted with the gifts. Corsages were presented the bride and her mother, Mrs. Amos Harris, carrying out the bride's chosen colors of white and blue.

The serving table was laid with a hand crocheted cloth and centered with an arrangement of blue and white daisies in a large heart, flanked by blue and white tapers in cut glass holders. White hearts with blue streamers were attached to the sides of the cloth, further carrying out the motif of heart and colors selected by the bride.

Carolyn Bartz poured the punch and Mrs. Henry Fletcher served cake to the following guests: D. W. Kendricks, M. E. Rascoe, Bob Ellison, J. R. Shelton, Charles Bell, E. J. Duncan, C. Ellington, H. M. Simon Peter: Sifted and Strong

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
The key verse for an understanding of the Apostle Peter, and what he became, is found in the words of Jesus to Peter, recorded in Luke 22:31-32: "Simon, Simon, behold Satan hath desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat: but I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not: and when thou art converted, strengthen thy brethren."
Was it a coincidence that Jesus said, "Simon, Simon," and not "Peter, Peter?" Simon was the name of the disciple's weakness, the name of what he was; Peter, meaning Rock, was the name that Jesus gave him.
For Jesus perceived the strength that was in him beneath his weakness, once divine power had made him great. It was of this divine power that Peter himself was to write "If Peter knew full well what it had accomplished in him."
The prayer of Jesus, too, was significant. It was not that Simon should not fail, but that his faith should not fail. It is the failure of faith that marks the downfall of the man. And this is true in the lesser as well as the greater things of life.
The inventor who loses faith in his power to produce something new is done for. The business man who loses faith in himself and his enterprise is already on the way to collapse. The writer, or artist, who loses faith to put upon the page or canvas what he sees, has also failed. Faith is at the very foundation of all creative achievement. And this is particularly true in the moral and spiritual areas of life.
There is one exception. It is when despondent and frustrated men turn to a power greater than their own, and in their very

Among the out-of-town wedding guests were Mrs. J. L. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster, Johnnie Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Newman Reeves, Lepay Reeves, Mrs. J. R. Brummett, Mrs. T. N. Foster, Mrs. D. C. Powell and Miss Ann Powell, all of Childress.
Also from out of town were Mrs. Louis Jarrell, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Adams of Lubbock, Misses Rose, Ruth and Ruby Tarbox, Maxine Muller of Plainview, and the Rev. and Mrs. Leonard Brummett of Lexington, Ky.

Weakness are made strong. Paul tells of this in II Corinthians 12:9-10, but it was something Peter had not yet learned. He was beautiful and confident in himself. He had not yet learned that it is in humility and in the consciousness of one's weakness that strength is found.
Proof that he suffered a temporary loss of faith lies in the fact that he denied Jesus only a few hours after boasting that he, Simon Peter, would never abrogate Jesus. It was as if he had suffered a blackout of the vision that prompted him to throw aside his fishing net and follow in the footsteps of Jesus. No doubt Simon had anticipated an earthly kingdom in which he was to have a place and power. He was intensely disillusioned when the soldiers arrested Jesus, his idol and Master. It was the intensity of this disillusionment that moved his lips to frame a denial. When a man's faith in goodness is destroyed, often he will turn with equal passion toward evil. Few stop halfway.
A reassurance of faith came to Peter the next morning when the cock crowed, recalling the prayer and prophecy of Jesus. Peter went out and wept bitterly. The disillusionment was over. And Peter began to sense the greater things that lay ahead.

TEEN TALK

Is it true that a boy must have a car these days to get dates? One boy thinks it is. He is Johnny Waris, Finnish student attending classes at Georgia Tech, and he really believes "you've got to have a car to fall in love in America."
In Finland, he says, a boy would suggest a long walk when he meets his dream girl. But in America "a girl thinks you are crazy when you ask her to walk."
Johnny ought to speak to a few girls who are pretty thin-soled disapproving his theory. And he might also query a few other girls who've had to buy gas for the buggies they've had the "good fortune" to ride in.
Some girls think it would be more fun to get back to the cavalier days: A boy walked into the parlor with a little bag of popcorn or jelly beans or peanuts or maybe (on special occasions) a carton of ice cream. Later, there would be a walk, perhaps, or just cozy conversation on the front porch. But in any event, the girl would not have to rattle up movie money or special-ent change for her swim. He would be embarrassed to take it.

continues to be a lone wolf and a bachelor in spirit after marriage.
One common type wants his wife to be a personal valet—she must keep him bright and shiny as a gold medal. Her cooking must rival the culinary art of a Cordon Bleu graduate. She must be an amateur psychiatrist and interpret his moods and whims. Know exactly how to humor him and when to keep her mouth shut. She should be a high finance expert and figure out how to cut corners on the groceries so he can play poker twice a week. She also must be prepared to be nursemaid to his fishing tackle—and be an expert gardener—if they have a garden.
Is it any wonder girls might have decided to have fun at the boys' expense before marriage, a custom that has been out of style for quite a few years? The girl knows if she doesn't keep him on his toes before marriage, when companionship must be developed, it will be difficult to impress on him the necessity for sharing the burden of home life, after the big event. And, why not do this of boys until you find one worth marrying—a different task in any case judging by divorce statistics.

Grace Friend

CHAPERONE AS CHAPERONES
Dear Miss Friend,
I live alone with my two children as I have been divorced for a long time.
Recently I met a very nice man who has asked me out several times.
Do you think that it would be proper for me to invite him to my home occasionally for dinner or just for a visit. There would be no one as chaperone except my youngsters.
Dear S. G.
Of course it would be all right to invite your friend to your home, probably your children are as good chaperones as you could find anywhere.
If you do worry about what your neighbors think just see that your friend doesn't stay too late and perhaps you can leave your living room curtains open so that the whole world can tell that you are behaving properly.
In actual life every great enterprise begins with and takes its first forward step in faith, before marriage and sometimes
