REPORT OF PLOT ACROSS BORDER CAUSES REQUEST

300 MEXICAN TROOPS AT GUAYMAS ORDERED FOR GARRISON

(By The Associated Press.)
SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 19.—A garrison of 500 American troops from the ninth corps army area at San Francisco have been requested by the town of Calexico as a protection in case a revolt breaks out across the line in the Mexican border town of Mexicali, capital of the northern district of Lower California.

The request for the soldiers was dispatched last night by the city trustees of Calexico following a report a revolutionary plot is still active in Mexicali despite the arrest on the American side a few days ago of General Enrique Estrada, former Mexican secretary of war, and 150 of his followers. Some substance was given to the report when it was stated in unofficial circles that 300 Mexican soldiers in Guaymas, on the west coast, had been ordered to Mexico to join a garrison of equal strength there.

Estada and the leaders in his move to seize lower California with its rich farm lands and profitable border resort towns were arraigned before a United States commissioner yesterday, charged with violating the neutrality of the United States. The general was held under bond of $20,000, his chief aide, Aurelio Sepulveda, a former Mexican army officer, under bond of $10,000, while bail for other members of the staff ranged from $1,000 to $5,000. None of the prisoners posted bond.

Prisoners Still Held

All of the prisoners, including 115 of the rank and file of the army who were arraigned Tuesday, were still held today at the marine barracks under guard of the navy, but arrangements were being made to employ civilian guards, following a telegram from Washington to the United States marshal's office at Los Angeles prohibiting the navy from lawfully guard the men.

PRICE OF WATER HERE RAISED BUT HOPE IS NOW HELD OUT FOR REDUCTION OF SEWER CHARGE; GARBAGE SERVICE WILL BE FREE

Jim Again Attempts To "MA WANTED TO RETIRE"

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 19. (AP)—The governor's position is that she really wanted to retire to private life, but that as soon as she says that the Ku Klux Klan was claiming the victory as the result of an edict of the grand wizard last November, she decided that she would be willing to bear any criticism rather than take away from the people the right to say whether they wanted a Ku Klux supported governor or not, former Governor James E. Ferguson wrote in a signed article in his forum this week, which appeared on the streets Thursday.

The former governor said that Dan Moody "wholly complains because the governor did not withdraw from the race after announcing that she would do so," and says "if the people want to elect a man who is the choice of Hiram Evans for governor of this state, then Governor Ferguson is going to give them a chance to do so. If they don't want such a governor to say so."

The article states that the "most irresponsible government that could be set up in any country would be a governor sitting in office to which he had been elected by the vote of the Ku Klux Klan," and declares that "so far as I am concerned I accept the challenge from Mr. Moody and his crowd for all time to come on the question of irresponsible government and I say the Ku Klux Klan government is the one I am talking about."

YOUTH HELD FOR DOUBLE MURDER TELLS OF CRIMES

CHARGES ATTACK MADE ON HIM CAUSING LAST ESCAPE

(By The Associated Press.)
TEXARKANA, Arkansas, Aug. 19.—Kennie Warner, 23, alias Harvey Logan, alias "Texas Slim", admitted in the Miller county jail this morning that he has accounted for five men in gun fights in addition to the serious wounding of two others who, however, did not die. These killings occurred at Kingsport, Tenn., where he killed two officers named Webb and Smith and wounded a third man. At McClain in Greene county, Mississippi, after running over the sheriff of that county to escape from jail, he killed a deputy sheriff named Melinton when the officer tried to stop him with a shotgun. Then at the Williams farm near Fouke, last Tuesday night, while three brothers named Carper, were endeavoring to beat him up, he again used his gun with fatal effect, killing two and seriously wounding the third.

He denied the necessity for the Carper killings, stating that they were the best friend the dead men had, but that he had to protect his own life. When asked why he surrendered, he said he had nothing to fear in a trial for the last killings, then too, the novelty and honor of surrendering to a woman sheriff appealed to him.

He admitted seeing wanted at Houstonville, Tenn., from where he escaped jail, after conviction and sentence to the electric chair, during the pendency of a new trial, also at McClain, Miss., following his arrest on a charge of theft of a watch, which he says was a frame up, and from where in making his escape the Mississippi officer was killed.

He denies having killed more than one man in Mississippi. He is scared up considerably, having a knife scar on the chin, a long scar over the right hip where he said he was hit by a rifle ball in a gun fight, and a buckshot scar on the right side above the right eye.

He has no scar on his breast, as described in some of the newspaper reports. He gave names of officers and court officials at the places he has been in trouble with ready facility. He declared he was willing to return to Tennessee, but never to Mississippi.

The Woman's Daily Editorial by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

SPARE CHILDREN TOO MUCH FUN They are only young once and I believe in them having a good time while they can.

Have you ever heard a mother excuse herself so? This is not a diatribe against indulgent mothers. The mother who does not feel like that is not natural—there is something wrong with her.

But there is this about it—there comes an end, and then, when the mother would pay the price of over-indulgence, boredom, restlessness and satiation, she cannot. There are different flavors to candy, but it always just the same.

Everything in creation is good or bad or desirable or undesirable by comparison. We try to outdo what we have done before in our search for thrills—otherwise there is no thrill. And don't think that youth has not discovered the progressiveness of thrills.

There is only so much that money can buy. The box of sweets sooner or later will be empty. And then youth, satisfied with life before life has begun, faces a dull maturity and a dreary old age.

The son of one of America's oldest and richest families lived in a plain little room at college and had for his breakfast a pint of milk he fetched himself by whittling ships out of wood.

John D. Rockefeller, at 7, is appreciative of the simplest trifles. If we go flowerless through a long season, the first snowdrop in February brings us a glory of joy that all the roses of June cannot bestow.

Don't allow your child to waste in the spring. Summer and autumn are yet to come—and winter!

SAY COUPLE SLAIN UNDER TREE SOMERVILLE, N. J., Aug. 19. (AP)—Testimony that Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills were murdered at the crab apple tree where their bodies were found was given today at the hearing for Henry Carpenter and Willie Stevens.

Dr. John F. Anderson said he analyzed the soil beneath the tree and ascertained, by blood evidences he found, that the reactor and "chofer" were discovered.

State Senator Simpson, special prosecutor, had expected that defense counsel would combat testimony that would establish the crab apple tree as the murder spot as a witness who said she saw Carpenter, Stevens and Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall there on the night of September 19, 1922, had been called previously by the state.

Soon after the band begins playing a ring of automobiles are drawn up around the city square. The Beauty Doctor

Posed by Marena George

CONDITION—A waistline that measures too many inches. DIAGNOSIS—You should eat less and exercise more. Flesh around the waistline should be fought vigorously since that is where superfluous tissue first appears. TREATMENT—Stretching will convince the growing waistline of the error of its ways. Stand erect with heels together, hands on hips. Pivot the upper part of the body, as above, describing a circle with the shoulders. Do this only a few times at first, being careful not to strain the unaccustomed muscles. Another exercise: bend from the waist, without moving the legs, as far as you can from one side to another.

TEXAS - LOUISIANA PORT FIGHT IS RESUMED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19. (AP)—A new phase of the old fight between Texas and Louisiana ports for equality of freight rates on commodities moving through those gate ways for export came before the interstate commerce commission today in an appeal by Southwestern railroads to dismiss the petition of the New Orleans joint traffic bureau for indefinite postponement of an old commission order applying to export rates on grain from Oklahoma and Texas.

The carriers' brief asserted that the New Orleans petition was based entirely on "unreliable hearsay," especially with respect to alleged congestion at the Texas ports.

There has been no congestion at the port of Galveston and the other Texas ports, the brief said, adding that contracts for delivery of grain aboard vessels had been fulfilled and no unusual delay had occurred in the movement of grain or other traffic.

There was no necessity, the brief continued for further consideration of any of the issues set forth in the New Orleans petition and it asked that the commission so find after "analyzing the ground upon which the proponents seek an equalization on Oklahoma and Texas grain."

MAZER IS HELD FOR MELLETT DEATH CLEVELAND, Aug. 19. (AP)—When Louis Mazer, Canton underworld character, charged with the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher, faced his accusers for the second day, an open break was imminent between U. S. District Attorney A. E. Berntsen and the Canton investigators of the crime.

Berntsen said he was provoked at evident "leaks" in information which should have been held in by the investigators and that Mazer will have to be confronted with more evidence if he is to be worn down to a confession.

When Mazer was brought to the federal building from the Cuyahoga county jail this morning, he was guarded by three officials, the precaution being taken because an automobile occupied by six men kept circling the block in which the jail is located. It was the theory of officers that there is a plot either to kill Mazer to prevent him from "squalling" or an attempt to kidnap him.

Refreshments—consisted of two courses: The first a salad course of fruit salad, cheese sandwiches tied with yellow ribbon, potato chips, stuffed olives, iced tea. The ice course consisted of yellow and white brick ice cream and individual white cakes embossed with the initials "A. S." in yellow.

The largest and most pretentious social event of the week was given this afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Maxwell, 2417 Broadway, when the approaching nuptials of Miss Mary Alyce Stanton and Thomas Campbell Anderson were formally announced at a seated tea.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Maxwell and Miss Alma Sikes and directed to their places at the different tables. The bride's table was beautiful in its cover of madras linen and centerpiece of a large crystal basket filled with golden shells and fern and tied with yellow mulline ribbon. Under the basket were yellow ribbons which extended out to the edge marking the places. The plate favors were small diamond shapes boxed tied with yellow ribbon and containing yellow and white candles and a scroll which read, "A secret you know, is a most fascinating thing. You wonder and wonder what news it will bring. Now this is about the 9th of September. So Dan Cupid has it, and I remember. A lad, Campbell Anderson by name, I can tell, wooed and won by suit swift and bold. A maiden, sweet, gentle and fair, her name? Now just guess it if you dare." Beautiful crystal candlesticks containing yellow candles and tied with yellow mulline bows were on the bride's table.

Tables Are Decorated. The smaller tables were decorated like the larger table. In the center of the tables were placed tiny pots wrapped in white crepe paper and tied in yellow ribbon filled with golden glow and fern. Ribbons extended from the pots marking each place.

The guests at the bride's table were Misses Mary Alyce Stanton, Alma Sikes, Virginia Conley, Sue Bryson, Glyn Staggon, Mrs. Lawrence Meador. Other guests were Misses Mary Beador, Lula Mae Craven, Myrtle Lemon, Edith Carter, Blanch Bacon, Myrtle Hughes, Evelyn Posey, Elizabeth Clarke, Ruth Sison, Betty Johnson of Vernon, Julia Johnson, Willett Waters, Frances Conley, Vera Wilson, Ellen Norvne O'Neal, Sylvia Wilson, Mesdames Frank Jones, Kenneth Kinney and H. W. Stanton.

Miss Stanton was beautifully gowned in a Nemeser creation of blue that increased her natural charm and beauty.

Refreshments—consisted of two courses: The first a salad course of fruit salad, cheese sandwiches tied with yellow ribbon, potato chips, stuffed olives, iced tea.

The ice course consisted of yellow and white brick ice cream and individual white cakes embossed with the initials "A. S." in yellow.

When Mazer was brought to the federal building from the Cuyahoga county jail this morning, he was guarded by three officials, the precaution being taken because an automobile occupied by six men kept circling the block in which the jail is located.

It was the theory of officers that there is a plot either to kill Mazer to prevent him from "squalling" or an attempt to kidnap him.

Lovers of Apple Pies, Take Notice

CHICAGO, Aug. 19. (AP)—Apple pies may soon be quartered again as during the good old days when a piece of pie really meant something. An apple crop larger than ever before known is confronting the United States.

The government bureau of agricultural economics said today that nearly 40,000,000 barrels are now expected this season as against a five year average production of 20,000,000 barrels.

Early apples are so abundant that wholesale prices have gone as low as fifty cents a bushel.

Cotton In Brewster Co. In Good Condition

ALPINE, Texas, Aug. 19.—Brewster county cotton continues to be in good condition, and beginning to open. The first picking will begin in a few days. If the sunny weather continues, Mr. Joe Graham of the Bouquillas plantation was in Alpine today, for gotten with which to combat the leaf worm, a few of which have put in an appearance on his farm. Up to date, no damage has been done, and it is believed that no serious damage will result, as the farmers of Brewster are prepared to fight the pest upon its first appearance. Good rains have fallen in many parts of Brewster county, which helps other crops. All cotton in the county is irrigated from the Rio Grande. No insects have been reported on other Brewster county farms. There is plenty of Mexican pickers here.

What this world needs more than anything else is more broadminded tolerance and more of the spirit of brotherhood, without regard to race or creed.—Pungutawney Spirit.

FLOWERS MEETS EX-CHAMP GREB

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. (AP)—Tiger Flowers, Atlanta negro, tonight keeps a promise he made when he won the middleweight boxing championship from Harry Greb of Pittsburgh in Madison Square Garden last February, a promise that Greb should have a chance to win back the crown.

Thereby New York joins Chicago as supporter of lost causes. Promoter Tex Rickard is making another shift after encountering rebuffs in both cities. In Chicago, threatened court actions caused him to step out and in New York his refusal to submit the state license committee into court brought about the change of front.

Decision To Be Given Dempsey and Tunney, Rickard announces, will meet in a 10 round contest to a judges' decision at the Sesqui-Centennial stadium on Thursday, September 23, and the seating capacity will be in the vicinity of 150,000 with prices ranging from $5 to $30.

On this same occasion Dempsey shook hands with Williams and asked him how he was. Williams replied that he never felt better. This means that the fight is farther off than it ever was.

Redland Rooters Recall 1919 Season As Present Team Fights For Flag

CINCINNATI'S emotional play in the National game this season recalls the first team the late Pat Moran had in Redland in 1919—the first the Reds coupled the flag and then went on to win the world series with the Chicago White Sox—the scandal play-off, some have since termed it.

Since winning the crown the Athlone has been out of his class most of the time, but has encountered many men in all sections of the country without damage. Greb, who used to fight about every week, has given his entire attention to preparation for his revenge.

Before the 15 round contest starts about 9 p. m. Eastern Standard time, Flowers will receive a belt emblematic of his championship from boxing writers' association of New York. If Greb wins he will be given a belt at his next bout here.

Billy Evans Says

FOUR NEW TITLEHOLDERS HAVE BEEN CROWNED

This has been a rather eventful year for title champions.

With 1926 a little more than seven months along four new titleholders have been crowned.

Only the fact that Babe Herman did not make weight enabled Tom Morgan to retain his junior lightweight honors. Herman won decisively from the Californian.

Paul Berlenbach is the latest champion to lose his title. As predicted by most of the experts, Jack Delaney overcame his superior but not his knockout route as generally expected. He merely won on points.

Not One "Kays" Victory. As a matter of fact, of the four titles that changed hands, not one was won by a "kayo."

Winning a championship is far more impressive when the trick is turned with a sleep-producing punch. So in that respect all the new champions have left something to be desired.

Kid Kaplan and Fiedel La Barba, feather and flyweight champions, respectively, are the only ones to have successfully defended their championships during 1926.

Kaplan, because of his inability to make the weight has since vacated the featherweight class. The new champion is yet to be determined.

Truly, the year 1926 will be one long to be remembered by the pugilistic champion.

RIGHT-HANDERS MORE SUCCESSFUL Left-handed pitchers appear to be meeting with far more success in the American league than the National.

This quality can be traced to one of two things—more and better right-handed hitters in the National league or more and better southpaws in the American.

MAX CAREY MAY BE SKIPPER OF BROOKLYN CLUB

VETERAN PIRATE, TAKEN BY ROBINS, HAS CHANCE TO BE MANAGER

(By the Associated Press) Brooklyn fans are discussing the possibility that Max Carey, deposed as captain of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will manage the Dodgers next year.

Manager Wilbert Robinson, of the Dodgers, who also is president of the club, tried a year ago to leave the bench for executive duties and he placed Wheat in charge of the team, a great slogger and fielder.

The Pirates went into action yesterday for the first time since Carey, Ribbee and Adams were punished for an effort to oust Fred Clarke, assistant manager, from the bench.

Pirates Split Twin Bill The Pirates went into action yesterday for the first time since Carey, Ribbee and Adams were punished for an effort to oust Fred Clarke, assistant manager, from the bench.

The St. Louis Cardinals remained a half game behind in the standing by turning back Brooklyn, 6 to 2. Bob O'Farrell registered a homer and Jim Bottomley hit safely in his three appearances, two of his blows being doubles.

Jackie May, Wics Jackie May gave Cincinnati a 3 to 0 victory over Philadelphia, keeping nine hits scattered. The victory kept the Reds within striking distance of the leaders.

Boston took its fourth straight from St. Louis in the only American League game played, 4 to 2. Ruffin, permitting only five hits, Bill Jacobson hit the ball out of the park in the first inning.

MATSUDA IS TO TAKE REST FOR ABOUT 2 WEEKS INJURED BACK IS CAUSE OF WORRY TO WELTER MAT CHAMPION

Matty Matsuda, welterweight wrestling champion of the world, will retire from active mat competition for at least two weeks while his back, injured in training for a match with Jack Gorman at San Angelo Tuesday night, heals, he told the Journal yesterday.

Matsuda hurt his back Saturday but met Gorman in a title tilt Tuesday night in spite of the handicap, retaining his crown through a draw decision. Harry Meyers, of Lubbock, nationally known boxing and wrestling authority, was the referee.

The wily Jap title holder, who has topped the welter masters for the past seven years, is still as good as he ever was and proved his powers in the San Angelo conflict with Gorman, a tough contender for the title. Matsuda, injured back notwithstanding, took the first fall in an hour and thirteen minutes but lost the second in thirty minutes.

The balance of the match, which was held under Police Gazette rules and calling for a time limit of two hours and five minutes, was fast and furious, with Matsuda showing much better from a standpoint of science.

There is a strong possibility of Matsuda coming to Lubbock this fall if a match can be arranged and a suitable place in which to hold it found. The Jap has no qualms about risking his title and should he come here would show the wrestling fans of the Plains the mat battle of their lives.

AMARILLO TEAMS CUT TO FIVE

AMARILLO, Aug. 19. (AP)—The Globe-News tournament narrowed down to five teams, all in the money, here yesterday when Lamesa defeated the Pan Handle Refining team of Wichita Falls 17 to 3.

Included in the hits scored by Lamesa, known as the heaviest hitting club in the West, were three homers by Babe Adams, the Lamesa team got five home runs during the game.

Thursday Lubbock and Big Lake, undefeated teams met, followed by Amarillo and Canyon Friday and double headers Saturday and Sunday. The big tournament for the championship of the Southwest is an outstanding success.

Victories against two defeats, has by far the best record.

Yanks Skipped to Death. Perhaps no club in either league has been southpawed as much as the New York Yankees.

Due to the fact that three of the Yanks' leading batters are left-handers, Ruth, Gehrig and Combs, southpaws invariably get the call with the rival managers who have plenty of them in reserve.

When Detroit meets the Yanks, Cobb hands them Wrenches, Wells and Johnson, Tris Speaker of Cleveland invariably use Shaute, Smith, Miller and Ruckey with his right-hand ace, George Uhle, drawing one of the games.

A similar condition prevails all along the line. Recently I umpired in 12 consecutive games for the Yankees in which I saw nine southpaws and three right-handers as the pitching selections for the opposing teams.

It would seem that sooner or later the Yanks would get accustomed to being "southpawed" and take sweet revenge, but the way the left-handers continue to trim the New Yorkers doesn't point to such a state of affairs.

Golf Champion

Dave is only 18 but he's the newly-crowned amateur golf champion of Michigan. He came into the honor by sweeping through a class field to beat Bill Courty of the Lochmoor Country club in the final, 6 and 5. Ward is a student at Big Rapids high school and experts predict a great future for him in the driver and putter pastime.

MANY ENROUTE TO CAMP MEETING NEAR ALPINE

(Special to the Journal) ALPINE, Aug. 19.—Alpine has been visited by a number of early arrivals during the past week, who were enroute to the Blows' camp meeting.

Frequently referred to as the Davis mountain cowboys' camp meeting, or the Skilman Grove camp meeting, which began August 17. The meeting this year will be the thirty-seventh annual gathering, which was started by Dr. W. B. Blows, in the frontier days, for the benefit of the West Texas cowboys and their families.

The camp grounds for this famous meeting are located 3,000 feet above sea level in the heart of the Davis mountains. On the site stand a tabernacle, with seating capacity of more than a thousand persons. The tabernacle is lighted with electricity. Each family establishes an individual camp, consisting of tents, electrically lighted and with other modern equipment. Some of the camps entertain as many as 300 members and guests, but the average number fed at each cowman's camp is from 25 to 100.

Thirty-seven years ago when this great famous non-denominational organization began, meetings were held under live oak trees, of few conveniences were to be had in those pioneer days. Even the mail, in those days was slow and wrought with perils and difficulties. As a result of preservation, the Blows camp meeting is probably the only religious organization in existence, where all of the mountain folk for hundreds of miles around gather and engage in pure worship, and creeds are forgotten, and no denominational discord. Friendships of more than a half-century's standing are revived. Three and four generations of mountain folk renew the unspoken pledge of carrying on the religious work of the leader, Dr. W. B. Blows—"The little shepherd of the hills."

Those conducting the meeting this year are Dr. R. L. Irving, of Fort Davis, superintendent of the association; Dr. S. J. Porter, of Washington, D. C., Baptist; Dr. C. K. Campbell, of Roswell, N. M., Methodist; Dr. J. D. Hall, of Fort Worth, Christian; and Dr. J. H. Burma, Waxahatchie, Presbyterian.

Puckett Case Will Be Called Tomorrow

The case of J. L. Puckett versus W. D. McCarty, due to be opened today in District court, will be opened tomorrow morning, when the legal discussion of the cancellation of a deed will be the feature. Attorney Harry Bishop, Amarillo, representing the defendant, said this morning.

INHERITANCE TAX CHIEF IS HERE

Win M. Woodall, Chief of the Inheritance Tax division of the State Comptroller's Office, and Mrs. Woodall, father and mother of Mrs. Neil Wright, of this city, are here visiting relatives and friends, and Mr. Woodall is combining his visit with a business trip in connection with the test case of the inheritance tax law of Texas. He is interested in the case of the State of Texas vs. Executors of the E. M. Phillips estate, which was to have been heard in district court here Friday, but which was granted continuance due to the inability of Ernest May, Assistant Attorney General of Texas, to be present tomorrow.

Mrs. Woodall will remain here until after the first of the month, while Mr. Woodall is gone on a business trip that will carry him to several points in this part of the state as far away as El Paso. While in this section, Mr. Woodall will go to Abilene to assist attorneys there in shaping up the final report in connection with will of the late Morgan Jones, who died there several weeks ago.

GOVERNMENT BY FAMILIES

The idea of royal families still persists. The dynasties of ancient Egypt have passed into the tomb, and with the war, Europe unstated much of her choicest imperial stock. The next country to be blessed by family government seems to be our own.

The recent republican nomination in Kentucky of Mrs. John W. Langley for Congress is the latest evidence that we have at hand. Langley was a congressman before he was sent to Atlanta penitentiary for a liquor plot. His mate seized up his toga where he left it at the penitentiary gates and now, if elected, will go marching into Congress with it.

Mrs. Langley may prove a good legislator. We don't know. She may be the wisest choice Kentucky could make. We are not going to argue that these words are not directed against Mrs. Langley at all. We are speaking against a system in this country whether sentimental, lary, or what of sending a man or woman to Congress, the Senate or the governor's chair just because he or she was a member of a family that had held the honor.

Mrs. Langley's nomination is not the only incident in this handling down of the power imperial that we have in mind. The matter is becoming common.
'Fighting Bob' La Follette was a great senator. Upon his death, the mantle of his power fell upon the shoulders of his son.
William B. Egan was governor of Wyoming. Upon his death, his widow
'Nellie' Ross, was chosen for his seat
at the head of Wyoming's government.
John J. Rogers was a congressman from Massachusetts. Now his widow Edith N. Rogers, has taken his place.
The same thing happened in California. Florence P. Kahn, succeeding her husband at Washington.

Last but not least, we have the recent example of Texas. Father Ferguson was impeached and removed from office as governor. Texas turned around and elected Mother Ferguson, his wife, to succeed him. It can be said, of course, to Texas' credit that the man who repented his mistake and may place Fergusonism on a remote shelf
it is a strange psychology, this ruling family business. The line of logic seems to be: If Babe Ruth can slam $9 home runs in a season, and if the Babe is laid up with an ingrown toenail, let us sign up his brother during his absence, for his brother very likely can bang out $9 home runs too.

HITCHING WAGONS TO STARS

A year ago the name of C. C. Pyle was unknown outside the precincts of Champaign, Ill. He was the manager of another man's theatre property, the possessor of a pretty good job and little else—unless was a good deal of shrewdness.

Today the good Mr. Pyle is owner of a fortune and of a name that is well known from coast to coast. As a theatre manager he was obscure, as manager of Red Grange he is famous.

Pyle is fortunate in that he worked at the same city where Grange went to college. Having met and become good friends with the famous footballer, it was fairly easy for one of his persuasiveness to get tied to sign on the dotted line.

And now Mr. Pyle has undertaken the management of the activities of Sustantivelle, who is to tennis what Red Grange is to football. The prediction is freely offered that he will not meet with the same success that he has had with Grange. But the prediction is also offered that he will make money. Mr. Pyle is not nicknamed 'Carah and Carry' for nothing.
The gent has the Midas touch.

If this editorial is uninteresting, it at least has a moral. It is this: If you wish to succeed, hitch your wagon
to a star.

There is a good deal in a name after all, despite what William Shakespeare said, and if you should absent-mindedly refer to our charming girl linotype operator's name as her Mother Hubbard, we suppose she wouldn't speak to us for a week, even if she would be otherwise.—Ohio State Journal,

Daily Poem

YUM YUM

I've been hanging 'round the kitchen, and the reason? Well, I'm itchin' for a taste of what's been cookin' on the blaze. In the ozone you can smell it; it's a clink for you to tell it. Yep, you're right—these are the good old canning days.

Mother's busy as the dickens,
Berries have to have their pickin',
and she's worn the tips of all her fingers blue. Eer they get a chance at spoiling, she must rush to get a boiling all the fruits that 'bout
this time of year come through.

Say, I ask you: what is slicker
than the sweetened type of liquor
that comes seepin' from the berry, peach or pear. Appetites are shortly growing, when ya see the suff allowin'. Ah, there isn't anything that's quite as rare.

Shall we give the good wife credit. Yes, sircs, 'old top, you said it! She is storing up a lot of cans of cheer. Things that never can be beaten. Things that quickly will be eaten, when the frosty days of winter time are here.

IN NEW YORK
SEE-SAWING UP
and DOWN BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—See Sawing
up and down Broadway, came upon Tammany Young, who once was numbered among the two or three champion "gate crasher" of America. And who now seems resigned to the life of an actor since, for an entire year, he has been "atmosphere" in "Lulu Belle."

Saw Jack Dempsey calmly watching John Barrymore making love to the beauteous Estelle Taylor Dempsey. In the films of course. And Will Hayes watching himself talk at the premiere of the Vitaphone. A new form of talking to oneself, as it were.

And Otto Kahn, the banker, dilett-ante, who could well afford to spend the hot days at the North Pole did he wish, but who never seems to want to be more than 45 minutes from Broadway. Quite content to swelter with the rest of us through the first nights of new production. Greater love for the drama has no man.

Here Chandler, who only a few months back was the flapper Ophelia
of the "modern dress" Hamlet, seated upon a stool in one of those drug-store lunch rooms munching on "quick and easy" sandwiches. And they tell me
she is addicted to those gosh-awful eating emperiums appearing with the rest of the mob almost daily.

View with alarm the inroads of real estate men from all points upon the great highway. Surely the Los Angeles and Florida influence is upon Broadway. At central points one may see the slick gent wearing great signs
in their hats reading "Moffat Manor"
and such. Whereas the Pennsylvania and Grand Central stations of a Sunday morning are one vast array of flag badges, glaring buttons and blazing placards announcing the wonders of "Umpville Heights."

Surely it does seem that all the unsuccessful Floridians have moved their kamps. And for all I care they can return to Florida tomorrow.

Without doubt the oddest door to be found in all these United States has been contrived by one of the big New York publishers. Just as various disguises are used by goss dispensaries, so this concern has built a door into the "sanctum sanctorum"
that will baffie all but the initiated.

The waiting room is, obviously, a huge library. The door appears to be a continuation of the library shelves
and, until it is opened, only a practically eye would be able to locate it.
It is opened by grabbing the binding of a book which is glued to the woodwork
and substitutes for a door-knob.

The purpose, while partially for effect, is chiefly for keeping out the usual crowd of nuisances who throng to publishers and have no hesitance in crashing through any visible gate.

"NOSHUI OL' MISTAH

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—For more than half a century a certain quaint old negro, John H. Plummer by name, worked for the late Robert T. Lincoln, as caretaker in the latter's big house in the Georgetown district of Washington.

"An' at the end of that time," he adds, "I was no bettah acquainted with him than the day he halibed me.

"A mos' extrav'ag'ary gen'tleman"
reminisced the old servant.

"Nobody could get nex to him.
Seemed like he was always a-searin' to himself. 'No use me tryin' to be anybody 'cause all I can possibly evah be is jus' the son of muh fathah.' So he jus' shrunk into hisself an' the oldah
he got, the mo' he got that way.

"I've head he was a right smat man, but you nevah could tell it by lookin' to him, fo' he almost never said anything 'cep'n' what he couldn't get out of sayin' an' then he said it the sho'test way possible.

"He 'spert mos' of his time readin'.
He nevah had no company, he nevah accepted no invitations. He nevah puttahed around in the ga'den. He
'ca-ely-evah wear walkin'.

"The only time he got out was sometimes for a little automobile ride an' he didn't do that very often."

"The only thing he was a humbit. If evah
thead was one he was it.

"He was poorly the last yeah he lived, but it didn't make him no mo'
of a humbit than he was before, 'cause nothin' could. He was a humbit evah since he settled down to live in Gawetown reguilar.

"Was he a good employah? Wy I was with him so long an' I've had so few employahs that I sca'etly got anything to comph' him with. You see,
I was with this house when he bought it, it was with mo' than 50 yeahs ago
—I disremembah jus' how many mo'
yeahs—an' I jus' went with the house
when he took it ovah. He wasn't heah much for a good many yeahs, but he had broke in, the noise would 'a' been something tree-rin-jous.

ABALONE FURNISHES FOOD AND JEWELRY
Shells like these are highly prized for making ornaments.

By AUSTIN H. CLARK
Smithsonian Institution.

At Matsushima Island off the northern coast of Korea this shell forms the object of a fairly important fishery,
the animal being cut out and dried for food.

This fishery is carried on by the Korean women. They swim about pushing before them a waterproof basket and wearing only what looks like a pair of old-fashioned automobile goggles over their eyes.

When they see a shell clinging to the rocks on the bottom they let go the basket and swim down through the water to it, bringing it up, and drop it into the basket. They are able to swim down to incredible distances.

When the basket has all the shells it can carry they swim ashore with the catch.

Wherever the abalones are found of sufficient size and in sufficient numbers they are always in demand both for food and for the manufacture of ornaments. The kind shown above, the Kamchatkan abalone, lives from Kamchatka south to northern Japan and Korea and also along the shores of continental Alaska, being particularly abundant about Sitka.

Though this abalone is not large it is very pretty, the inside being white,
with a beautiful pearly play of colors.
The Indians of Alaska make beautiful ornaments from it.

PROVE HAY FEVER NO
CONTAGIOUS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene,
the Health Magazine.

About one hundred years ago, several medical writers mentioned as curiosities people who began to sneeze and wheeze at the time the blooming of the roses.

In 1817 an English physician named Boatcock described his own symptoms, which included a sense of heat and swelling of the eyes, with itching and smarting and with much running of tears when one looked at the light.

This was followed by a fullness in the head and irritation in the nose, with fits of severe sneezing, sometimes so violent as to cause pain in the chest.

Naturally a person afflicted with these symptoms would feel generally ill and be tired most of the time, because of inability to rest at night. Usually the symptoms appeared about the beginning or middle of June and disappeared toward the end of July.

Pollens Blamed
After more and more cases of the disease were studied, it was found that there were also cases which appeared in the early summer and very nearly came on in the late summer and in the fall, and that persons in different sections of the country were likely to succumb at different times to the disease.

The very earliest investigator, Bostock, gave to the disease the name of "summer catarrh," and also suggested the term "hay fever." Later investigators differed with that suggestion and experimented with extracts of the pollens of all sorts of flowers and grasses. The earliest observations disclosed that the appearance of the disease was definitely associated with the pollination of plants.

Another English physician, named Blackley, experimented on himself between 1858 and 1877 with the pollens of more than one hundred grasses and flowers, inhaling it and applying it to the membranes of his nose and eyes.

Not Contagious
Let's Dunbar proved that it is the protein portion of the pollen which brings on the symptoms in the more intense form and that neither the whole pollen nor the protein extract would have any effect on normal persons, although they did produce the most severe symptoms in persons who were subject to the disease.

The average person may not be particularly interested in the details of the investigations that have been made but these have established beyond the shadow of a doubt that hay fever is the result of a definite sensitivity of the person to the protein portion of the pollens of various flowers and grasses.

This disease is not contagious, but a history of the disease in the ancestry
is found in from 58 to 68 persons affected. This may indicate a possible hereditary relationship.

A DEEP GAME

For many years Jim Ferguson has had the reputation of being one of the smartest and most astute politicians in Texas. But Jim is very nearly done in the verge of losing that reputation.
He made some bad bets, played the first primary—such as bond revul-sion "monkey-faced Baptists" and things of that sort that assuredly failed of any vote getting, in fact had the opposite effect. But they were as nothing to the latest manifestation of Ferguson's wisdom, i. e., backing down on the wager with Dan Moody
and withdrawing the promise to resign
from office and from the primary run off. Jim has juggled the truth before but never so brazenly as this time. Of course it may be that this supposedly master politician has something up his sleeve not yet revealed. Something that will make Texas love and cherish
him as he would like to be loved, cherished and honored. But under the most ardent pressure imaginable, no ordinary brain can conceive what that something would be. Not in the present seething state of the public mind.

TIME TO STRIKE

There is one outstanding duty before the electorate of Texas at this time.
And that is elimination of Fergusonism
from the politics of this state. It would seem that the 120,000 majority obtained by Moody in the first primary is not sufficient. It therefore remains to give Jim such a snowing under that he will never recover. Moody will be given this majority at Dallas Saturday,
which was attended by political leaders from all over the state, is sufficient evidence of an aroused public opinion such as has perhaps never before been seen in Texas. And Jim Ferguson, who dared brave universal disgust by his double dealing, must learn that Texas is yet a state where a man's Texas is considered of value.—Sweet-

THE VANITY CASE

BY CAROLYN WELLS COPYRIGHT 1926 N.E.A.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MRS. PRENTISS sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear next door in the HEATH household one night, and the next morning Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN and BUNNY MOORE. Inman is heir to Myra's considerable fortune, she having cut Perry off. Suspicion also points to golden-haired, vivacious Bunny, because of her refusal to answer questions at the inquest.

Myra Heath was peculiar. She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whiskey bottle from her collection that the murderer used to kill her. Candles were burning her head and feet, and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and dressed with gay colors.

The peculiar thing about Heath's disappearance is the fact that all windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way by the butler in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny Moore and Inman were found on the bottle and physicians establish that the rouge was applied to Myra Heath after death.

At the County Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Others, including Anderson, disagree. Cunningham learns from Mrs. Prentiss of the mysterious lights. TODD HUNTER BUCK, her nephew, suggests that Heath also may have been murdered.

EMMA, a waitress in the Heath home, tells of seeing Bunny ascend the stairs about the time of the murder, carrying her vanity case. Later Bunny is traced to get a phone call from Perry Heath advising her to keep silent. Mrs. Prentiss tells Bunny she believes Bunny knew of the murder before she was told of it.

Detective Mott learns from HERRICK, the Heath butler, that Myra and Perry Heath had quarreled over Bunny the night of the murder.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER

While the confab was going on in the Heath studio, Mrs. Prentiss was sitting at her window, wondering whether or to go over to the Heath's house or not.

Her curiosity was as strong as usual and her inclination was to go, but a strange sense of caution held her back.

She felt, intuitively, that she could do no good over there and might do harm. Moreover, she could have a report of what had transpired, when her nephew and her guest reappeared, and so Mrs. Prentiss sat, waiting and thinking.

The telephone rang, and Mrs. Prentiss answered it herself. This was her custom, for her quick curiosity never could wait for the intervention of a servant's office.

A man's voice said, "May I speak to Miss Moore, please?"

"Who is calling?" Mrs. Prentiss responded, in a tone which she endeavored to make sound like that of a servant.

"No matter. Merely ask Miss Moore to come to the telephone. This is important."

The voice was cold, dictatorial and impatient. Clearly, the speaker was in a temper.

Now, Mrs. Prentiss did not know Perry Heath well, but her ever present intuition hinted to her that it might be she was listening to his voice.

It didn't sound exactly like Heath, but some voices are different on the telephone, and she couldn't be sure.

Taking a chance, she said, still in the deferential tone of a servant:

"Is this Mr. Heath? Miss Bunny said she would not speak on the telephone to anyone else."

Mrs. Prentiss heard the astonished gasp at the other end of the line, and grinned with satisfaction.

But the reply came: "Heath? No, this is—this is Jackson. Please tell Miss Moore I must speak with her. You may say I have important news for her."

Suddenly Emily Prentiss felt that she was overstepping the bounds of propriety. She was a gentlewoman, not a detective, and she had no right to intercept or eavesdrop upon a private communication.

So she said simply, "Miss Moore is next door at the Heath house. If you wish, you can call her there."

"Thank you," was the response, and without further goodby, the voice ceased.

The advice, however, was followed, for a few moments later the telephone bell rang in the Heath studio.

Inman reached for the receiver, but Mott was too quick for him.

Grasping it first, the detective said, briskly: "Hello!"

"Hello," said a man's voice, "I want to speak to Miss Moore, and make it snappy!"

Though not very quick-witted, Mott was ingenious, and endeavoring to sound like Herrick, he said: "Miss Moore ain't here, sir."

"Yes, I am!" cried Bunny, so loud that her voice carried over the wire as she sprang toward the instrument, and tried to wrest it from Mott's grasp.

And so agile and lithe were the girl's hands, that she succeeded, and in a moment, she was listening to Heath's voice.

"For Heaven's sake, Bunny, you are up against it! Now, listen, I have to speak fast. You fire Emma, send her 'way off, so she can't testify against you. Get rid of Herrick, too, if you can. Those two are in cahoots, and they saw us on the terrace. By the way, there was a lot of money in the desk drawer. I bet Herrick has stolen that. If so, it'll give you a hold over him. You play innocent baby, and sneak home as sly as you can. I'm not coming back—not at all—get that!"

She helplessly dropped the receiver, and buried her face in her hands, while the great sob came in her throat.

Mott grasped the receiver, but his "hello!" was answered only by a mocking laugh, and a jeering goodby.

"That was Heath," he said, with conviction.

Mott called Central, and immediately had an investigation ordered this must result in knowledge of where the telephone message came from, at any rate.

Then, the detective turned to Bunny.

"You know where Perry Heath is!" he said accusingly, and the sound of his stern accents roused the girl from her crying spell.

"I do not!" she declared, and faced him with angry eyes. "See here, Mr. Mott, I'm tired of your prying into my affairs, of your innuendoes and questions. Now if you suspect me of a hand in my friend's death, then I'd rather you'd say so straight out, and stop this beating around the bush."

"All right, I will, Miss Moore. As you asked me to do, I am speaking straightforwardly. The time has passed for mincing matters. To my mind the death of Mrs. Heath must have been brought about by one of three persons, her husband or one of her two house guests. Her husband is out of the question, because it was impossible for him to get out of the house and leave it locked and bolted behind him. Also, Mr. Inman is not a likely suspect, because he was in love with the lady."

"I am told that Mr. Inman's affection for Mrs. Heath was known not only to her husband and household, but to most of her friends and acquaintances. Now, even granting that he would be inheritor of her estate, Mr. Inman is not going to kill the woman he loves. Then, where can we look for the murderer but to her girl friend, the visitor of Mrs. Heath, who is, incidentally, in love with Mrs. Heath's husband, and will doubtless some day marry him?"

"What?" Bunny's face was deadly white and her eyes stared in horror and dismay.

"That's the way things look," said Mott. "Also, it must be remembered, that Miss Moore's finger-prints are on the broken bottle which was used as the weapon of death."

"Mine are there, to, I am told," exclaimed Larry Inman.

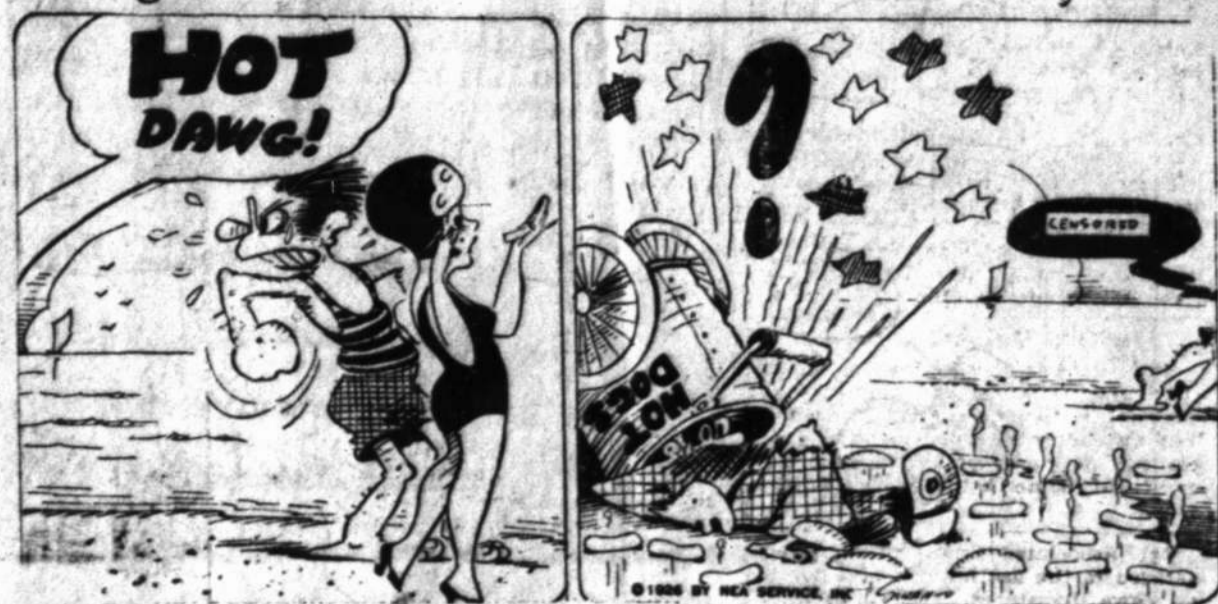

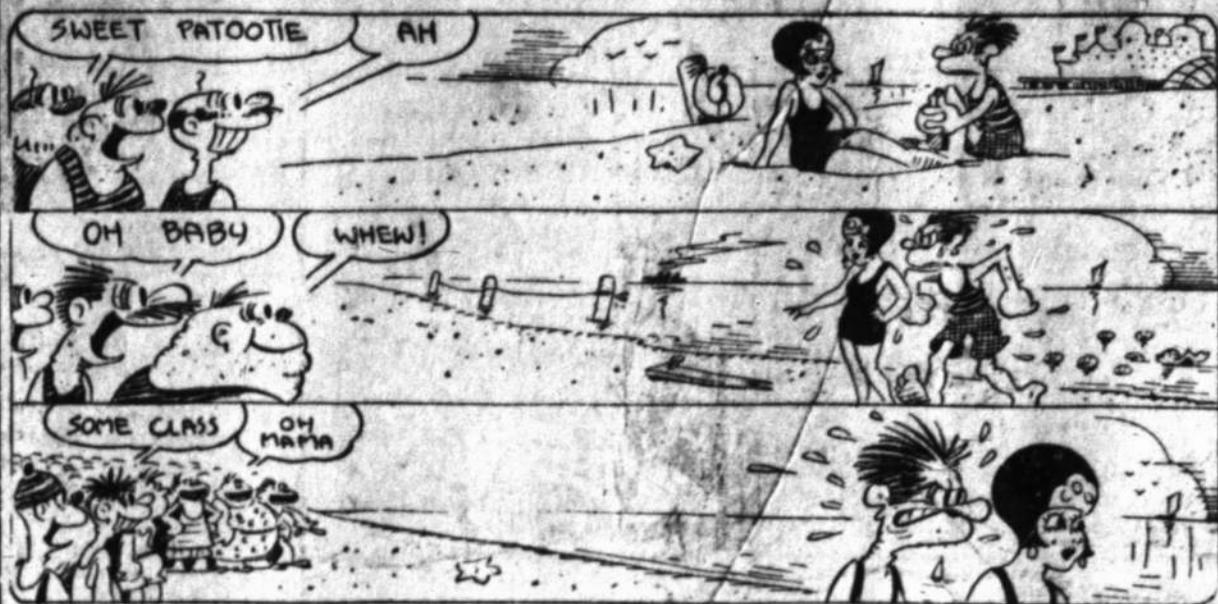

"Yes, but yours are over those of Miss Moore—super-imposed upon hers. This, as you can't help seeing, proves that the bottle was first used by Miss Moore, as a deadly weapon, and afterward picked up or examined by Mr. Inman. Perhaps he was present at the time and wrested it from Miss Moore's hand, thus leaving his prints above her own. Now, the matter of the vanity case. It has been proved, in the satisfaction of the police, that the make-up on Mrs. Heath's face was applied after she was dead, and

CROP CONDITION AND CATTLE ARE BEST IN YEARS

NORTHWEST TEXAS LEADS IN INDICATED YIELD SCHULTZ REPORTS

(By the Associated Press) HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 19. (AP)—Cotton and cattle, pre-eminent in Texas show the best condition in years. H. H. However, the report declares that the cotton is being damaged by insects which will result in potential damage unless poisoning on a large scale is resorted to.

U. S. EXPORTS TAKE ON MUCH WIDER VARIANCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19. (AP)—Some thing besides iron and steel and articles coming under the general heading of manufactures make up this country's exports. The commerce department, which usually speaks very generally in announcing statistics covering American foreign trade, has gone into the situation a little more in detail and found for the month that false teeth, corsets, pianos and push carts helped to swell the nation's export trade during the fiscal year ended June 30, and what's more, it looks as though the peculiar combination of American flypaper and swatters is attracting greater numbers of buyers in foreign fields.

PLAYGROUND FOR CHILDREN URGED BY FOUNDATION

WILL REDUCE NUMBER OF ACCIDENTAL DEATHS STATISTICS SHOW

Properly developed playgrounds will materially reduce the number of children killed by accident each year in this country, in the opinion of the Harmon Foundation which among its other activities is engaged in developing play centers throughout the United States. "According to figures of the National Safety Council," states William E. Harmon, donor of the foundation, "2,000 boys and girls less than 15 years of age were killed by accidents in the United States last year. Of this number 7,000 met their death on streets and highways."

Poultry Division At Fair Holds Interest

WELLINGTON, Aug. 19.—The poultry department of the Collingsworth county fair is creating much interest in both Texas and Oklahoma. The premiums on poultry by the fair association on poultry this year are very attractive and there are many cash specials and loving cups offered by the merchants. Entries are being received daily from all parts of Texas. One of the best entries is that of Raymond Thompson, manager, Memphis Poultry Farm, Memphis, Texas. Thompson has entered twenty-five of his famous white leghorns. It is expected that entries this year will break all previous records.

Flowers and Greb Make Weight Limit

NEW YORK, Aug. 19. (AP)—Tiger Flowers and Harry Greb both made the 160 pound weight limit by narrow margins this afternoon when they made before the state athletic commission for their 15 round middleweight title match tonight at Madison Square Garden. Greb weighed 158 and Flowers 159.

WATER SUPPLY IS IMPORTANT TO CAMPER, SAID

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 19. (AP)—If a vacation camping trip is to become a health asset and not a liability, the camper should watch the water supply carefully, as well as obey other fundamental sanitary requirements, a bulletin posted by the Houston public library declared. Though often appearing crystal clear and pure, streams may harbor typhoid bacilli, the bulletin adds, advising the use of chlorinated lime as a purifying agency or bringing the water to the boiling point. Milk should be purchased only from farms under public health supervision. Where such is not available, boiling is advised, or better still, use of powdered milk which can be easily carried.

British Open Probe Of Airplane Crash

FOLKESTONE, England, Aug. 19. (AP)—The British air ministry today began an investigation of the crash of a French cross-channel airplane at Aldington yesterday which caused the deaths of one American, one Italian, and one Frenchman and the injury of 13 others in the plane. Syren of the injured passengers were American.

Governor Has Time Addressing Convicts

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 19. (AP)—Governor Dern, demitted, told an amusing story of his address last week to the inmates of the state penitentiary. He first addressed them as "fellow convicts," and then, somewhat confused, made it "fellow democrats."

also that the materials used are the same as those in Miss Moore's vanity case. It is further assumed, though no actual proof, that the collar was applied by either a woman or an artist. Had an intruder, such as a burglar or midnight intruder, committed this crime, he would not probably could not, have applied that make-up with such a degree of skill and artistic taste. But an artist could do it, or a woman could do it. Miss Moore, did you apply the cosmetics to Mrs. Heath's dead face?

SPECULATOR IS MAIN OBJECTOR TO CROP REPORT

RIGHT KNOWLEDGE LIMITS SPECULATION, FEDERAL STATISTICIAN SAYS

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 19. (AP)—A correct knowledge of crop production limits speculation because there is less uncertainty upon which to speculate. H. H. Schultz, United States department of agriculture statistician with office here, declares in asserting that chief objection to government crop estimates comes from speculators in the commodity markets. "The speculator does not need the government reports as he has his own sources of information," Mr. Schultz said. "In years of large production the farmer is apt to believe that the reports are hurting the market and is inclined to forget that the dealer who handles his product would still have a knowledge of the true situation even if there were no government reports. Also, at varying times it is the interest of many speculators to discredit the official reports."

they become known, would be valuable to the producer. Government crop reports, the statistician said, are compiled from information furnished by various classes of people in a position to describe accurately conditions in their respective localities. These reports are interpreted by the statistician, using personal observation and the experience of past records, after which the report is sent to Washington where it undergoes a final readjustment preparatory to release at a given time.

Mr. Schultz explained that although the condition of the crop may show a decline in the semi-monthly cotton crop reports, it doesn't necessarily follow that the crop will be smaller. "The average decline of the crop to four points in July, 12 points during August and three points in September," he said, "for instance, on August 25, the condition of cotton in Texas was reported at 60 per cent of normal in comparison with 71 per cent July 25, on the basis of ten million acres, the July 25 condition would indicate about 2,300,000 bales and that of August 25, three million bales, although the condition apparently had declined.

RULING MADE ON SYNDICATE LAND

Purchasers Cannot Execute Oil and Gas Leases, Randolph Rules

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Aug. 19. (AP)—Purchasers of "capitol syndicate" lands in West Texas do not have the right to execute oil or gas leases on such lands, R. J. Randolph, assistant attorney general, Thursday advised land Commissioner J. T. Robinson.

Several years ago the state recovered about 70,000 acres from the capitol syndicate. The state gave to a Chicago syndicate what was supposed to be three million acres in "Oldham county for building the new capital. An survey revealed that about 70,000 acres in excess of the agreed acreage was in the tract, and the state made a recovery.

Mr. Randolph also held that the recovered land is not subject to the issuance of oil and gas permits by the 1926 office, and "that such development will have to be made in accordance with some manner to be hereafter prescribed by law."

The act authorizing the sale of capitol syndicate lands provides for reversion in favor of the state of one eighth of all the oil and gas, whether known or unknown, and the value of same, and which provides that such oil and gas as well as other minerals

In some cases, some higher, in spite of the fact that their water is taken from rivers or lakes instead of from wells. The well system is considerably more expensive to operate, Mr. Perkinson says.

In addition to the new rates on the water service it is possible that the $1.90 per month sewer charge will be reduced, or at least adjusted so that persons who have only laboratory connection will not be charged as much as those who have other disposal of sewage, Mr. Perkinson said. He admitted that the sewer charge, or at least the system under which it is now operated, is "out of line," and should be made to undergo a change.

No Charge For Garbage.
The new garbage collection system, to be installed throughout the residence and business districts of the corporate limits of the city, will not cost the citizens of Lubbock any money, Mr. Perkinson said. This municipal improvement will be paid for from the receipts of the water department, assuring regular collection of garbage and its incineration at the city's kiln.

The city has recently received 250 new water meters and these meters are being installed to keep an accurate check of the water used. The city will continue buying and installing meters until all of the 500 or 600 citizens, now on a "flat rate" have their service under meter count. Arrangements have also been made under the new charge to give a ten per cent discount to all customers paying their water bills prior to the tenth day of each month.

He Quotes Figures.
The water department, inclusive of the sewer charge, has been running from $2,000 to $2,500 per month, Mr. Perkinson stated, and that sum will not pay for the department's operation. The new price scale, he says, will not hurt the average consumer but is destined to make the wasters of city water pay for their waste. He pointed out that, according to statistics, Lubbock people were wasting a vast quantity of water which the city was not collecting for. He also cited instances of waste. Figures the country over show that in a city the size of Lubbock the average water consumption is 20 gallons per person every day. Counting Lubbock as a city of 15,000 that would mean a daily consumption of 300,000 gallons of water. The city is pumping on an average of 2,000,000 gallons per day, the department reports.

Improvements Are Needed
If Lubbock's water service is to be improved and the low pressure bugaboo eliminated, it is necessary for a surplus fund to be built up, the commission has decided, and with this belief in view raised the rates. The city manager reports that he has objection after objection every day because of low pressure, and people being unable, at times to get water. This is caused by the fact that small branch water lines, some of them, extending a block or two from the mains, have been tapped for four or five houses and the city must, it is said, get together enough money to supplant these smaller pipes with larger ones and generally improve the service.

Mr. Perkinson pointed out that it was not the plan of the commission or of himself to raise water rates here above a right and reasonable figure but that they did want every department of the city to pay its own way. The city power plant, he says, has been "carrying" the water department in that water has been pumped with city power and the power plant has been given no financial credit for the service.

Trouble in Nicaragua.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 19. (AP)—The Nicaraguan government is mobilizing and dispatching troops "all over the country," to suppress revolutionary outbreaks. Lawrence Dennis, American charge at Managua, advised the state department today.

Mr. Dennis reported that revolutions had broken out apparently in Leon, Chinadega and Corinto and in bordering communities.

All telegraph wires have been cut and railway operations have come to a stop.

State department officials have not yet received the reported request for American gun boat protection at Blue Fields. If precautionary measures are found necessary for protection of American lives and property, however, adequate action will be taken.
