Students Escape After Bus Skids on Icy Road

Five Wellington students escaped serious injury Monday, March 1, when the small panel bus in which they were riding skidded on an icy patch in the highway, hit a culvert and came to rest against a low embankment.

The accident occurred about 4:15 p.m. six miles east of Wellington on Texas Highway 203, according to Highway Patrolman Dave Croslin.

The driver of the bus was identified as Norman Black, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Black of Wellington. The others were Carol Ann Hanna, 16, Mary Lou Hanna, 13, Jeff William and Paul Gene Hanna, 7-year-old twins, the children of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hanna, who live east of town.

They were examined at St. Joseph's Hospital, the two girls kept overnight and the others released. An attending doctor said all were bruised and skinned. Carol had injuries about the mouth and Mary Lou a fracture of one small bone in her right leg that did not require a cast.

At the time of the accident Monday, Highway 203, along with other east-west roads, had icy patches and strips of drifted snow, alternating with dry stretches. North-south roads were clear.

The extent of damage to the bus had not been determined Tuesday, according to Supt. J. L. Harper.

The accident was checked by Patrolman Croslin, Sheriff John Rainey, Police Chief Donald Nunneley and Deputy Troy Marsh.

Postal Employees Get Citation for Excellence

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The City of Wellington and its postal employees have been selected to receive the Postmaster General's "Citation for Excellence" for outstanding maintenance and care of its postal facility.

Congressman Rogers said he was advised by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski that the citation is awarded on the recommendation of the Assistant Postmaster General for Facilities. Only those communities whose postal facilities have received superior ratings in regional inspections by regional postal officials are eligible for the citation.

The evaluation takes into consideration such factors as unusually attractive grounds, clean and bright lobbies, well-kept walls and other physical surroundings, removal of hazards to safety and a wide range of similar efforts which reflect a well-run post office. "Mr. Gronouski has advised me," Congressman Rogers said, "that Wellington will be cited for maintaining its postal facility in such a superior manner that it provides a clean, attractive and pleasant place in which the public may conduct its postal business."

Bryan Denley, Popular City Barber, Dies

Bryan H. Denley, a long-time barber and insurance agent, died Saturday, Feb. 27 at 7 a.m. in a Wichita Falls hospital, where he was a patient for almost a week. He underwent surgery earlier in the winter, but had returned home and was improving when he became ill again about two weeks ago.

He was 66 years of age.

Mr. Denley came here in 1928 from Mangum, Okla., where he grew up. He operated a barber shop for a number of years, but more recently he had divided his time between that and his insurance business.

Born Sept. 5, 1898 at Vernon, he was the son of Minor and Molly Elizabeth Denley. He was married here to Miss Mayme Lou Fuller on July 21, 1934.

1336 Students Counted in School Census

The annual scholastic census, completed recently, shows 1336 children of school age in the four county school districts, according to a report from the office of B. W. Beaird, county superintendent.

This represents a drop of 87 from last year's scholastic census.

Wellington Independent School District had 915 students, of whom 785 were white and 130 Negro, according to Mrs. Harold Scott, deputy superintendent.

Quail, 124 students, of whom 119 were white and 5 Negro; Samnorwood, a total of 193, with 188 white and 5 Negro; and Dodson, 104, with 99 white and 5 colored.

Wellington showed a loss of 65 students, Dodson 7, Samnorwood 2 and Quail 13, Mrs. Scott said.

Fluctuation in enrollment from week to week make it possible that actual attendance may be up or down from the census figure.

Dodson City Election Set

Three councilmen will be elected in the Dodson municipal election Tuesday, April 6, Mayor R. T. Jameson said this week.

Those whose terms expire are Weldon Sexton, Robert Tabor, and Clinton Norman. Sexton was elected last year to fill the unexpired term of the late Marvin Wynn.

Jameson has another year on his term as mayor, and the holdover council members are Junior Owens and Herschel Tabor. Fred Boyd, city secretary, is appointed.

The election will be held at the office of the Davis Gin. March 6 is the deadline for candidates to file, Mayor Jameson said.

Annual Red Cross Drive Opens; Quota $1,209

The annual Red Cross fundraising drive opened March 1, with a county quota of $1,209, to be raised this month.

Earl Hunter is again the campaign chairman.

Plans for the drive, which will be carried into all communities, were announced late last week as Hunter appointed the workers to assist him.

A change in the division of funds also was announced. Forty percent of the quota will remain with the local Red Cross Chapter, the chairman explained. Over and above the quota, 50 percent will remain at home.

Hunter emphasized the local work of the Red Cross.

"It is the only liaison agency between men in the armed forces and their families at home in case of an emergency," he reminded. "Any branch of service will accept without question a request by Red Cross that a young man be allowed to come home on leave due to serious illness or death in his family. Otherwise, such a leave would be delayed while the facts were checked out."

"That applies whether a man is in Texas or in Viet Nam, and the Red Cross will also advance the boy money to come home, if he needs it."

Hunter stressed other local work of the Red Cross:

"We have sent stranded men back to camp — one of them twice, and in each case the money has been repaid. We have given groceries at Christmas to needy families and we have bought school clothes for children of needy families," Hunter continued.

"And we all know that if disaster strikes, the Red Cross will be here."

The 1964 quota of $1140 was exceeded, with donations totaling $1179.

Workers appointed by Hunter to work in Wellington were Mrs. J. D. Aaron, Mrs. Jimmie Kelso, Mrs. Earl Hunter, Mrs. Jones Singley, Mrs. Harold Watkins, Lorenzo Person, Mrs. Ernest Nunneley, Mrs. Sam McGill, Bill Moseley, Skeet Clark, Mrs. John Bevers, George Scott, L. A. Gilmore, Mrs. Truman Estes, Mrs. Loren Thompson, A. A. McQueary, and Mrs. J. D. Coleman and members of the homemaking classes.

Workers in other sections of the county are:

Quail, Herman Moseley. Lillie-Salt Fork, Mrs. C. A. Wright. Abra, Mrs. Bill King. Lone Mound, Mrs. J. C. Breeding. Indian Creek, Mrs. Bill Janes. Rolla - Swearingen, Mrs. Billy Hall. Dozier, W. C. Barnett.

Transportation Has Much on Plus Side

(This is the second in the series of articles covering information brought out in the recently completed community audit by the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce. The city government, educational and recreational facilities were covered last week.)

Transportation is one of the keys to development of a town. Wellington is in better condition in this than some might think, although improvement of transportation facilities are a major program of the Chamber of Commerce.

Fort Worth and Denver railway gives twice-weekly rail service into Wellington, but the four motor freight lines give the town excellent service, putting it only overnight away from many parts of the state. Curry Motor Freight, Globe Express and Wellington Lines are here daily, Lee Way Motor Freight comes three times a week.

Wellington's Marian Airport is still considered one of the best airports for a town of the size in west Texas, although it is nearly 20 years old. One-half mile east of the city, it has 3,000-foot runways. Work is now underway to secure paved runways and lighting.

Four commercial airplane companies are based there. Wellington is most fortunate in its relation to highways. Texas 203 east is part of a group of highways for which US designation is sought.

US 83 is unique in itself. It extends north-to-south across the middle United States, to connect in Canada with the Alcan Highway going on to Alaska. Another spur goes directly to Hudsons Bay.

At its southern terminus, Brownsville, it connects with Mexico Highway 85 which goes the complete length of that nation to connect with the Pan-American Highway. When the latter is completed, Wellington will be on a direct route from Alaska to the southern tip of South America.

The community audit does not mention the fact, but only 12 miles to the south runs US 62, which enters Texas this side of Hollis, and leaves the state only briefly to go by Carlsbad Caverns, N.M., before terminating at El Paso.

Convenient, too, are US 66 (Interstate 40) Chicago to Los Angeles; and US 287, the direct route Dallas to Denver.

Utilities

Lone Star Gas Company carries gas into Wellington in 16-inch transmission lines with a winter pressure of 300 pounds. Distribution pressure is 30 pounds and the BTU rating is 1150.

West Texas Utilities Company serves Wellington with electricity and has a distribution voltage of 7200 to 110 and 220 and 4160 to 110 and 220.

Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, with headquarters in Wellington, serves the rural areas in seven counties, with distribution voltage of 7200 and secondary voltage of 120.

General Telephone Company of the Southwest offers Wellington dial service with 10 long distance circuits to the central office and 30 out of the central office.

Water

Wellington's municipally-owned water system can provide a million and a half gallons daily from wells. The maximum daily use is approximately 1,200,000 gallons, and the ground storage capacity of the system is that same amount. An additional 100,000 gallons can be stored in the overhead tank.

Wellington's water rate is $2.78 for the minimum of 2,000 gallons, both residential and commercial, with the rate dropping to 28¢ over 10,000 gallons residential and over 25,000 gal-

Census Bureau Reports County's '63 Retail Trade

Collingsworth County's 94 retail establishments had $7.3 million in sales in 1963, an increase of 4 per cent from 1958, the U.S. Bureau of the Census has just reported after tabulating data gathered from all firms in the 1963 census of business. The last previous business census conducted by the Census Bureau, an agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce, was in 1958.

Retail trade in the county meant jobs (exclusive of proprietors) for 163 men and women, and a yearly payroll of $440,000.

In volume of business, the county's food stores had sales of $1.5 million, a decrease of 14 percent from 1958. In other retail business — the county's eating and drinking places had sales of $342,000, and gasoline service stations had sales of $1.1 million.

For the state as a whole, the Census Bureau reported 96,406 retail establishments with sales of $12,715.4 million, up 18 percent from 1958.

Census reports to be issued during the next few months will give state and county figures on wholesale and service trades, manufacturing and mineral industries.

Figures on the number of establishments and sales volume for major types of retail establishments in each county are provided in the printed report: 1963 Census of Business, Retail Trade, Texas, available at $1.00 from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C. 20402, and at U. S. Department of Commerce field offices.

lons commercial.

Industrial water is available up to 350,000 gallons per day, and this could be stepped up.

The city uses an Imhoff sewage plant with capacity designed for a town of 6,000. Improvements are on the drawing board.

Wellington Girls Down Norwood in Practice

Wellington Rockettes defeated the Samnorwood Eaglettes 62 to 56 Thursday night, Feb. 25 in a much needed practice game for the two district champions.

This realized a long-standing ambition of the Class A Wellington girls, for not in several years have they been able to take a victory from their Class B neighbors.

Without doubt one of the better games of the season, both teams had a lead during various stages of play.

The game opened with Wellington jumping out in the lead and racking up 8 quick points before Samnorwood scored. The Eaglettes came battling right back and before the quarter ended they caught up with and went ahead of the Wellington team.

During the second quarter the Wellington girls played good defense, made few mistakes and were able to pull out in front of Samnorwood.

Thursday, March 4, 1965
THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER

Both teams were doing well offensively and the scores mounted. At halftime the Rockettes led by 5 points.

Wellington built up this lead to 14 points at one time in the third. Early in the fourth, Karen Childress sprained her knee and had to be replaced. As several substitutes were out of the game, also, the club was weakened somewhat, however Joan James did a commendable job as replacement.

The Eaglettes would not give up, and closed the gap to 3 points in the fourth. Beverly Singley then put the game on ice for Wellington with her free throw shooting during the latter part of play, making 14 out of 19 free throws. This was second best, percentage-wise, however, for Jo Nell Breeding made 18 out of 22 for Norwood.

The Norwood girls played some of their toughest defense of the year, and Suzy Bentley did excellent work, although she didn't hit as well as usual. Betty Courtney led the scoring with 39 points for Wellington, while Jo Nell Breeding had 36 for Norwood. Beverly Singley made 18 for Wellington and Suzy Bentley 12 for Norwood.

Traffic Accidents Are Community Responsibility, Club Members Told

Mrs. Don Lacy was hostess to the 1954 Study Club at its regular meeting on February 18.

Mrs. R. L. Templeton presided over the business meeting, in the absence of Mrs. Paul Spillman, president. The club collect was led by Mrs. Sam Adams.

City Federation delegates reported on the City Federation meeting, and told of plans for the Newcomers Tea to be held March 7. The club will share the hostess duties.

Deputy Sheriff Troy Marsh was guest speaker and introduced by Mrs. Sam Adams, program chairman, he discussed "Traffic Accidents — Community Responsibility."

This is an individual responsibility, club responsibility and the responsibility of the community, Marsh said. How did this come to be, and how does it affect us? Some fifty accidents were reported in Wellington last year, $20,000.00 worth of property damage in one square mile, not counting the taking of lives and suffering, just automobile damage, the deputy sheriff told the group.

Just since the start of reporting accidents there has been more people killed in automobile accidents than in all World Wars from the Spanish-American War up to now, club members were told.

Marsh said the automobile could be outlawed but it would not be practical and would have a great effect on the economy. It is not practical from the standpoint of how many jobs depend on automobiles, from the making of the steel down to the mechanic who works on them and down to the salvage shop.

Other points brought out by the deputy sheriff were: In 1939 at the World's Fair, General Motors made the prediction that in 1960 there would be 39,000,000 motor vehicles in the United States. In 1960 there were over 70,000,000 vehicles.

Demo Women Meet March 6

Miss Claudia Brummett, Democratic committeewoman from the 31st Senatorial District will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Collingsworth County League of Democratic Women Saturday, March 6.

The meeting will be held in the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, Inc., building, opening at 2 p.m., according to Mrs. John Coleman, who heads the county group.

Miss Brummett will discuss the inaugural festivities for President Lyndon Johnson.

She has been a guest speaker here in the past.

Visitors are invited, especially those in the rural areas of the county, Mrs. Coleman said.

Mrs. C.M. Aaron Speaks at B&PW

Mrs. C. M. Aaron was program speaker at the dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club on Tuesday, February 23, using as her theme "The best things in life are free."

The B&PW Chorus sang "Memories" and "Moments to Remember."

Mrs. Byron Duncan, president, directed the business meeting; Mrs. Rosemary Langford led the pledge of allegiance, and Mrs. Francis Roberts gave the collect.

Guests were Mrs. J. F. Michael and Mrs. John Rainey, while members present were Mrs. John Coleman, Mrs. Jimmie Kelso, Mrs. Ernest Maxwell, Mrs. Luther Gribble, Mrs. Byron Duncan, Mrs. Aaron, Mrs. Fred Watkins, Mrs. Earl Gene Ford, Mrs. Creed Hill, Mrs. Langford, Mrs. Truman Estes, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Rufus Sweat, Mrs. Jim Wilson, Mrs. Bura Handley, Mrs. Steve Owens and Miss LaHanda Mayhugh.

More and more are becoming two-car families.

What should you do if involved in an accident? Some of the things Marsh pointed out were to keep calm, call the authorities, get names of owners and license numbers of cars involved, get details of the accident, get witnesses' names and addresses, see if anyone is injured, and see that the injured are taken to a doctor.

Car inspections should be made regularly, Marsh continued. It boils down, he said, that sometimes the loosest nut is the one holding the wheel. Accidents are caused by our own or someone else's negligence, not by defective cars or bad highways, or not knowing how to drive.

The way to curb traffic accidents, he concluded, is for it to be the responsibility of each person in the community.

Members attending were Mrs. L. B. Bratten, Mrs. Calvin Hurst, Mrs. Sam McGill, Mrs. C. T. Hubbard, Mrs. A. J. Fires, Mrs. Eddie Slay, Mrs. Leon Hartman, Mrs. Lynn Wright, Mrs. James Richardson, Mrs. R. L. Templeton, Mrs. Sam Adams, and Troy Marsh, guest.

Mrs. J. M. Strong Speaks at Lillie

An all-day quilting and salad dinner entertained members of the Lillie Home Demonstration Club Wednesday, February 24 when Mrs. John Alf Thomas was hostess.

Mrs. J. M. Strong, co-owner of Strong's Flowers in Wellington, was presented as the guest speaker in the afternoon and discussed shrubs and plant cuttings.

Mrs. Mack Horton, president, directed the business meeting, and during the short devotional period, Mrs. Thomas read a scripture from the Book of Psalms, Mrs. Elmer Haralson led the prayer. Mrs. Horton was elected club nominee to the district THDA meeting.

The recreation director was Mrs. Haskel Manuel.

Present were Mrs. A. M. Saunders, Pam Marsh, Mrs. Dudley Phipps, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. Haralson, Mrs. C. A. Wright, Mrs. Geneva Brown, Mrs. Henry Langford, Mrs. Ted Wheeler, Mrs. Zook Thomas, Mrs. Manuel, Mrs. Strong, Mrs. Thomas, and her daughter La Vonda Lynn.

Mrs. Wood Entertains JFF

Mrs. Woody Wood was hostess to the JFF Club Thursday night, February 25 for its regular meeting.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Hubert Leach, vice president. Plans were completed for the party honoring all former members of the club. Due to the resignation of two members, Mrs. Alton Williams and Mrs. Joe Coleman were appointed to serve on the Yearbook committee. During the business meeting an amendment was made in the constitution and by-laws.

The evening was spent playing games. Those attending were Mrs. Dick Sweat, Mrs. Howard Holton, Mrs. Fred Williams, Mrs. Herman Belew, Mrs. Wayne Cudd, Mrs. Alton Wilkins, Mrs. Joe Coleman, Mrs. James Richardson, Mrs. Hubert Leach, and the hostess, Mrs. Woody Wood.

It will be held in the meeting room of the Farm Bureau building, at the corner of Ninth Street and Highway 83.

The girls will compete in four food groups: meat, dairy,

Each 4-H girl who participates must turn in her day's menu and recipe to Mrs. Barjenbruch by 5 p.m. Friday, March 5, she said.

Social Security Number Must Be on Tax Return

Don't forget to list your social security number on your Federal income tax return. The law requires it. If both husband and wife have income, they each should list their numbers on a joint return. If only one has income, only his number is required.

Administrative Officer Hubert B. Hamill of the Internal Revenue Amarillo office said social security numbers are being omitted on some returns. Taxpayers should double check to make sure that social security numbers are complete and accurate.

Omission of the number will delay processing of your return, Hamill says. This is time consuming and inconvenient for you and the government.

If you do not have a number, ask the nearest Internal Revenue office or Social Security office for application Form SS-5. Application Form SS-5 may also be secured from most local post offices.

Texas Public Schools Week March 1-5

Collingsworth County's Biggest (and Most Important) Business ... Our Schools

The future of our County, our State, our Nation . . . and our civilization . . . depends largely upon the kind of jobs done by our schools.

Collingsworth County schools are doing fine; visit them during Public Schools Week and see for yourself. You'll be proud of them, if you aren't already.

Actually, not only Public Schools Week but ANY week, is a good time to commend our many able, worthy and dedicated neighbors who work at the job of making our County's schools among the best in the county.

We, at City State Bank, offer our sincere compliments to all of them. To the school board members, who accept the responsibility, without pay, for making basic decisions and dealing with the problems of overall school operation; and who authorize and support vigorous programs in choruses, bands, science, homemaking, agriculture, athletics, etc., so that every child can participate and enjoy a well-rounded school experience.

To the administrators, who ably supervise and carry out the school's programs; to the faculty members, who dedicate their skills and their hearts to the task of communicating knowledge and culture directly to our youngsters.

And to every other person who has a part in the operation of our school system . . . including the taxpayers . . . and the students, whose must contribute native good sense, character and self-responsibility to make this effort fruitful.

Characteristics of Texas Speech Discussed at Domestic Science Club

The refreshing difference of Texas talk was discussed by Mrs. J. Frank Johnson in her talk, "Speech Patterns," given Thursday, February 25 before members of the Domestic Science Club.

Mrs. John Coleman was hostess.

Texas speech mirrors the history of the state, and as the Spanish, French and Mexicans attempted colonization, each left an imprint on the speech patterns, Mrs. Johnson said and illustrated this with words in common usage.

Texas diction is heavily marked by the Negro, she explained. The cowboy in this area had a crisp and novel way of expressing his ideas. He was not educated, but he always was understood.

Agriculture, business, manufacturing—each has its effect on the people of a particular community.

Mrs. Johnson concluded with a discussion of Texas towns whose names originated from popular sayings.

Mrs. Coleman, president, directed the business session, Mrs. Troy Thomason led the collect and Mrs. Clyde Drake the pledge of allegiance. Mrs. J. B. Stevenson gave the secretary's report.

Plans were made for the City Federation friendship tea and for the Domestic Science Club 50th Anniversary Tea.

Attending were Mrs. Drake, Mrs. L. C. Hill, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Jerry Nix, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Thomason, Mrs. Faris Wood, and the hostess, Mrs. Coleman.

Excelsior Honors Geo. Washington

The Excelsior Club met on Thursday, February 25, with Mrs. Claude McKinney as hostess.

The program was on "George Washington," with Mrs. Bernice Welch as guest speaker, discussing his life and telling of the present day Valley Forge.

At the 1950 census Valley Forge was a village of 475 people, the speaker said. It is a state park of 2033 acres and contains many markers and mementos of the historic winter spent there. Some of these are the remains of fortifications, Washington's headquarters, the Memorial Chapel, Patriots' Hall, Washington's headquarters flag and many other state and national monuments.

Mrs. Welch also stated that some modern day writers and speakers are attempting to tear down the images of our heroes.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. D. C. Powell, Mrs. Theo. Parker, Miss Edith Jackson, Miss Sara Jones, Miss Bonnie Willis, Miss Rose Shadid, Miss Dorothy Robertson and the hostess, Mrs. McKinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Graham of Corpus Christi have spent the past ten days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Graham.

Teenage 4-H Club Meets Saturday

The Teenage 4-H Club met Saturday, February 27 in the home of Mrs. Leo Popwell. Mrs. Popwell conducted the program on "Table Settings," and also discussed the coming Favorite Foods Show.

Refreshments were served to Carol Burba, Joy Hudspeth, June Popwell and the hostess, Mrs. Popwell, who is also leader of the group.

New Books in Library

A copy of the current best-seller, "The Ordways," by William Humphrey, has been added to the county library, Mrs. R. H. Isbell, librarian, said Monday.

A Texas story by a Texan, "The Ordways" has been acclaimed by some of the nation's top book critics. The Texas portion of the story begins at Clarksville and fans out into West Texas, spanning a period in time from the Civil War to the present.

Another book, published only a few weeks ago, "Catherine the Great," by Zoe Oldenbourg, is a library addition, Mrs. Isbell said. Two others are "The Lost City" by John Gunther, and "Singing Waters" by Ann Bridge.

Book gifts in memory of Mrs. A. C. Gray were "Touch of the Master's Hand," sub-titled "Christ's Miracles for Today," by Rev. Charles L. Allen, pastor of Houston's First Methodist Church; "The Story of Albert Schweitzer" by Anita Dan-iel; and the two-volume "Viking Book of Poetry of the English Speaking World," edited by Richard Aldington.

Keeping Clean a Big Business

Keeping clean is big business. Consumers have about 170 soap and detergent products from which to make their selections this year. Americans last year spent more than $1.8 billion for soap and detergents, according to the latest consumer spending information.

This averages out about $10 a person—or approximately $35 to $40 for the average family. And most families tend to include this $35 to $40 in their "food" budgets—since most of the soaps and detergents are purchased at grocery stores.

Mrs. Dick Sweat accompanied a cousin, Mrs. J. H. Nichols of Amarillo as she returned an aunt, Mrs. I. D. Nichols to her home in Roff, Okla., Monday. The latter was visiting in Amarillo.

There were no injuries, but damage was estimated at around $300 to two cars in a collision at the intersection of First and Haskell Streets Friday, Feb. 26 about 6:45 p.m., Police Chief Donald Nunnelley reported.

Chief Nunnelley said the car driven by John Dollar of Quail made a wide turn from First onto Haskell and turned into the side of the car driven by Mrs. Doug Seale. Her husband and baby were passengers in the car.

The left front fender of the Dollar car hit the left doors of the Seale vehicle, according to the police chief.

The Spanish crown established the first mint in North America in 1536. It still produces coins.

Grade Standards Afford Consumer Protection

COLLEGE STATION. — For more consumer protection, state laws have established standards that assure high quality for citrus in fresh or processed form, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, A&M Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Grade standards for canned orange juice and frozen concentrated orange juice were revised in November 1964, to bring permitted ingredients, additives and concentrations or orange juice into line with definitions and standards of the Food and Drug Administration.

Manufacturers are now permitted to sell more highly concentrated orange juice. This means that the consumer now will be able to make more orange juice from the same size can formerly purchased.

These new standards also will allow manufacturers to add limited amounts of other citrus juices—such as tangerine juice—for better color and flavor.

The orange solids content must meet a minimum weight standard, however, regardless of how much sweetener is added.

Consumers should read and follow the amended directions on concentrated citrus juices, the specialist reminds.

On the 50th Anniversary of the establishment of the first school of journalism in Texas . . . at the University of Texas . . . the Texas Press Association honors those Daily and Weekly Newspapers . . . published 50 years or more . . . and pays tribute to them for their more than a half century of continuous and meritorious service to their communities, the State and the nation.

AT TPA'S 18TH ANNUAL MID-WINTER MEETING IN AUSTIN ON JANUARY 22, 1965

FOR HALF A CENTURY OF SERVICE

Newspapers in Texas which have been published for more than 50 years were honored at the recent Mid-Winter meeting of the Texas Press Association, held in Austin. One of these was The Wellington Leader, which received the above certificate. This marked the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the first school of journalism in Texas, at the University of Texas. Deskins Wells, publisher and editor of The Wellington Leader, was graduated from that school with the Bachelor of Journalism Degree in 1924.

School Dropouts on Lower Rung of Labor Force

COLLEGE STATION.—Some comparisons of the labor force status of young men 18 to 24 years dramatically illustrate the problem of school dropouts, says Mrs. Eula J. Newman, Extension home management specialist.

The plight of the rural school dropout compared with that of high school graduates was especially apparent in occupational roles, the Texas A&M University specialist noted.

Labor force comparisons nationally show that:

1. Seventeen percent of those with less than nine years of school were neither working nor looking for work.
2. More urban and rural graduates than dropouts were in the white collar jobs.
3. Rural farm dropouts with the least education were concentrated in farm occupations.
4. Unemployment was less prevalent among graduates than

Easter Seal Society Nation's Oldest

The Easter Seal Society is the nation's oldest and largest voluntary health agency serving the crippled. Since 1929, the Texas Easter Seal Society has grown into a statewide federation of 90 affiliates with 28 treatment centers serving more than 10,000 crippled children and adults annually.

A national study also showed that about one-third of the males 18 years old and over with a farm background were white collar workers, compared with about half of those who had no farm background.

About one-third of the rural high school graduates and one-half of the urban graduates in 1960 enrolled in college. Higher rates of rural school dropouts, lower scores on aptitude tests, lower salaries and fewer facilities are among factors putting rural schools at a general disadvantage, the study showed.

The outlook for rural youth in the future includes: The importance of social and economic influence on educational oppor-

Weevil Count Down on Plains

The Texas High Plains region "stuck out like a sore thumb" in a recent report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture on the number of hibernating weevils across seven cotton-belt states.

The High Plains area reveal-ties must be considered, for the most desirable and best paid occupations generally are in urban areas. The number of farms will continue to decline, along with employment on the farms. Rural residents from 14 to 24 years of age likely will need 1.1 million new jobs by 1970—thus, education beyond high school will become increasingly important.

Other implications of the outlook for rural youth are that major differences between urban and rural youth in school enrollment will be in the proportion entering colleges; the consolidation of rural schools will increase, the social problems associated with low levels of education will likely continue.

ed that the number of weevils in hibernation declined by 89.2 percent below the number recorded last year, while all but two of the seven states showed substantial increases.

Other things being equal, the number of weevils hibernating in the winter gives an indication of the degree to which growing crops will be infested in the spring. The survey in Louisiana and Tennessee found fewer hibernating weevils, but the Carolinas, Mississippi, Alabama and Texas (over the whole state) yielded increased up to over 850 percent. This phenomenal increase was recorded in four Central Texas counties, a jump from 517 to 4,406 weevils per acre.

The reduction of hibernating weevils in the Plains area just below the Caprock without doubt is the result of the diapause control program carried out last fall, and the 89.2 percent reduction is in close agreement with estimates made by entomologists evaluating the percentage of kill during spraying. Trash examinations this winter are also being carried out by the South Plains Research and Extension Center, and preliminary indications are that these weevil counts will also show about a 90 percent reduction in hibernating weevils. And, according to W. L. Owen, SPREC associate entomologist, there will be additional mortality among these weevils between now and spring. The mortality rate between January and the latter part of March of 1963 was about 70 percent, and we are hoping for at least this percentage of deaths this year, Owen said.

This high reduction in hibernating weevils is especially noteworthy in light of the fact that in late summer last year the High Plains area below the Caprock registered the highest weevil population ever recorded anywhere in the U.S.

Lone Star Gas Reports Income

DALLAS.—Lone Star Gas Co., and its subsidiaries, Lone Star Producing Co., and Lone Star Gathering Co., report a consolidated net income of $23,466,085 for 1964, a substantial increase over net income for 1963.

The reported consolidated net income represents increased corporate earnings in the amount of $4,561,000 plus federal investment tax credits of $1,834,000 deferred in 1962 and 1963 and added to the 1964 consolidated net income following a company interpretation of accounting instructions from the Federal Power Commission.

About one-fifth of the nation's cash income is earned by the male group made up mostly of bread-winning fathers.

More Families Have Savings Accounts

COLLEGE STATION.—At least two major changes affecting the financial status of many American families have taken place during the past decade: double paychecks and more family savings.

This observation comes from Mrs. Wanda Meyer, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University.

Approximately 40% of the families with wage earners in 1950 were receiving two or more paychecks, compared to more than 50% of wage earning families now receiving two or more paychecks.

The working wife is primarily responsible, says Mrs. Meyer. One out of three married women are now employed.

Average family income during the past 10 years has risen from about $3,000 to just under $6,000. The average is for the nation as a whole. In many in-

Next Week We Take Stock of Our Industrial Potential

Much has been said of industrial promotion for Wellington since the first of this year and considerable action and preliminary work has been packed into less than the last month.

For two days next week, we will review this work, take stock of our activities, and see where we stand. Gerald Albright, chief of the community service division of the Department of Commerce, working in the Area Redevelopment Administration, will return for meetings with the men who are doing the work at this end.

Such a return visit is almost unprecedented by an official of Mr. Albright's level. It is evidence beyond doubt that the high ranking men of ARA are interested in the future of Wellington and they will do what they can for us as long as we do our part.

At his suggestion, Wellington has taken a look at its present industrial picture and discovered there are 10 small manufacturers employing one to two people each who produce a wide variety of products. Some of these things are so familiar that we just don't think of them in terms of a future industry. It ties in with what a few of our own leaders have always believed: we should promote what we have before we go looking for new industry.

Each of these has been reviewed since Mr. Albright's first visit in the hope that one or more home-grown industries may emerge, with the support of the town and an assist at financing. One or two may not require outside financing but would like market studies, etc. One or more, for personal reasons, may not care to operate on any larger scale than they already do. All of these factors will be considered.

During his other visit, Mr. Albright pointed out one Wellington asset which isn't manufactured and wasn't imported from the outside: our friendly hos-

TOM JONES

Early Pruning Risky Procedure

COLLEGE STATION.—Resist the urge to prune trees and shrubs in the garden until you are relatively sure all danger of severe freeze is past, says Everett Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist at Texas A&M University.

Often the impulse is to start pruning rose bushes and other shrubs with the first shirt-sleeve weather in January and February. In most areas of Texas there is still danger of freeze damage to tender growth as late as mid-March.

Warm weather in January frequently forces the terminal buds to begin growing. If this growth is removed by early pruning, the lateral buds begin to grow during the next warm spell and a late cold snap may cause serious damage to these buds, says Janne.

The following are the only justifications for pruning plants: to remove dead or diseased wood; to repair storm damage or mechanical injury; to balance the top with the root system when transplanting; to develop and maintain a desired shape or size; to rejuvenate older plants; or to improve or increase flowers and fruit.

Flowering trees and shrubs which bloom early in the spring, such as flowering quince, forsythia, lilac, and red-bud, should not be pruned until after flowering.

Trees and shrubs which flower from early summer through the fall months, such as Crepe-myrtle, hybrid tea roses, and shrub althea, usually produce their flower buds on new wood. They should be pruned in late winter or early spring after danger of frost is over and when new growth begins, says Janne.

Preservative for Wooden Siding

If cold weather interrupts the building of your new home a preservative applied to wood siding will protect the outside until the weather warms up. Materials such as pentachlorophenol can be used and will not affect the bonding facility of the paint when it is put on later.

pitality and our determination to see ourselves through to industrial development.

Friendliness is recognized as a tangible asset in promoting or bringing industry, but perhaps our friendliest welcome, our most gracious hospitality, should be extended Mr. Albright and the others of his agency who are working so hard to help us.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Folks around here generally seem inclined to look upon our Internal Revenue workers as a form of affliction similar to the tapeworm.

But my moderatory neighbor says the Revenue boys are doing an important job for the country, which it just happens that nobody can do properly without some natural-born talent for bugging his brethren.

And he says you can't blame a man for following this instinct as a career, any more than you can reprehend a dog for chasing cats, unless he gets too much fun out of it.

I see where President Johnson told some emerging adults in a college speech that they will have to "work, sacrifice and dare" if they want to belong to the Great Johnson Society.

My under-achiever neighbor says this is the same formula that built the tolerably great society which has sort of set the U.S. apart for a good long while.

But it seems the work-sacrifice-dare recipe is changed. To get along greatly now, a citizen has got to work the hand-out angles, sacrifice on April 15, and dare to put his trust in the great minds who don't know how to quit losing our gold playing international poker.

Newspaper reports are that some few preachers these days don't believe all they read in the Bible, likely because the writers thereof don't have any D.D.s after their names.

Seems, also, they want a Bible that isn't so narrow-minded about sin, because people have changed and they feel like we need a new Bible to fit the New Man.

And it's logical that these boys know more about what type of religion will sell these days than the Lord does, because He probably never took a single course in a theological seminary.

I see where an Internal Revenue Serviceman told a House subcommittee a while back that a citizen ought to be able to fill out his Federal income tax return in 20 minutes.

My slow neighbor says he will be glad to run through this chore in that time every year, if the Revenue boys will promise to be satisfied with what he comes up with.

Says the way he has been working at it in past years, it has taken him more than any 20 minutes to find the aspirin bottle.

Morris Gets Army Promotion

Alton Darryl Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Morris of Wellington, has been promoted to first lieutenant in the army at Fort Sill, Okla., on Feb. 27.

Lt. Morris is presently tactical instructor with the Artillery Officer Candidate School. He attended Quail rural high school and is a 1960 graduate of West Texas State College.

Prior to entering the army in November of 1963, Morris taught English at Childress high school.

The 27-year-old army officer, his wife and daughter, Debbie Ann, four, reside in Lawton, Okla., which is adjacent to Fort Sill.

Fort Sill, the U.S. Army Artillery and Missile Center, is the nucleus of the nation's artillery. Established in 1869 in the heart of the Indian country, its rolling ranges were once prime hunting grounds of the Comanche and Kiowa. Blue-clad cavalymen were the first U.S. troops to garrison the post; then in 1905 the first Artillery unit arrived, and the mountains began to echo the thunder of their guns.

With the establishment in 1911 of the School of Fire for Field Artillery, now the U. S. Army Artillery and Missile School, the future was ordained. The school has become the University for artillery. Its graduates have proved their skills in three major conflicts, and they now stand guard along the frontiers of the free world.

Saddest Loss of Year

Quails Lose Bi-District to Quitaque, 64 to 63

The Quail Quails lost a heart-breaking bi-district basketball game at the hands of the Quitaque Panthers in the Silverton high school gym Tuesday night, Feb. 23. This was probably the saddest loss for Quail in many a year as they were favored to win the regional tournament at Canyon and they had already beaten the Quitaque team twice in early season games.

The Quails were a little nervous at first and missed several easy shots at the basket but managed to take the lead and were leading by 4 points at the end of the first quarter, and by 3 points at halftime. The Quails had built up a 10 point lead in the second period only to see the Quitaque boys cut the lead just before halftime. As the second half got under way, it seemed to be all Quail at first as the Quails were really wanting to win and built up a 9 point lead early in the period. Then the Quitaque boys got real hot and with the aid of a field goal from mid court, went ahead of Quail for the first time as the third quarter ended.

The lead changed several times in the early minutes of the final quarter, but then Quail pulled ahead by 5 points with three minutes to play.

Then is when the bottom fell out for Quail. The Quails were a little over anxious for the victory and made four straight mistakes and Quitaque proceeded to take advantage and scored eight straight points without missing a shot and thus pulled ahead by 3 points with 15 seconds to go. Quail hit again but time ran out with Quitaque the winners by one point.

Dale Morris led the Quails with 26 points, followed by Bruce Ward with 16. Jamie Johnson, whose father lives in Wellington, led the Panthers with 30 points.

"This is the hardest defeat to take since I started coaching four years ago," Coach Don Lacy said. "I guess we were wanting to win too badly. I know all of our fans were very disappointed but I can tell you one thing, none were half as disappointed as the boys or myself. I don't think any of our boys played their best, but I do know they were trying, and if you try your best and get beat, then I don't know any reason why we should not take it with the same pride in the team as we have with all the games we won. I was really proud of the boys all year. This bunch of boys had more desire and just plain guts than any bunch I have ever coached," Lacy declared.

Score by quarters:
Quails 15 33 45 63
Quitaque 11 31 46 64

The Quails finished the season with 33 wins and 6 losses.

Future Farmers Hear of Ag Opportunities

Despite dropping farm population, there is a greater need for trained agriculturalists now than 15 years ago, and the demand is growing. Wellington Future Farmers heard the story first-hand from one of these new ag men Saturday night, Feb. 27, at their Father-Son banquet. Their speaker was Jack Tompkins, farm and ranch newscaster of KFDD-TV, Amarillo.

Presentation of awards to outstanding Future Farmers preceded the speech.

Tompkins told the boys the farmer is a bigger customer of steel and oil than any segment of the population, and it is industries like these who are demanding men trained in agriculture, the agriculturalists of whom he spoke.

"Last year there were 15,000 jobs for agriculturalists coming out of college and only 6,000 boys to fill them," Tompkins said. "I know of companies right here in the Panhandle who have been looking for men six months."

Many boys, he reminded, will not have an opportunity to farm.

"If you want to stay in agriculture and don't have a farm to go back to, be an agriculturalist. I guarantee you'll always have a job," he declared.

Tompkins took a dim view of government's pointing to agriculture as a culprit in the matter of farm surpluses.

"First we have to produce food and we have to have a reserve stock," he said. "Your mother always has some extra food around the house and as a country we need some extra food around. The government has never favored this, but today we have less than one crop of grain sorghum and barely one crop of wheat."

The top award of the evening, the DeKalb leadership award, went to Lynn Wolf,

Alfred Allred was named the Star Greenhand, an award for first year ag students.

Freddy Mayhugh was named the Star Chapter Farmer. He cleared $668.96 on his cotton and cattle project program last year. Other boys advancing to Chapter Farmer status with Mayhugh were James Fulcher, James Parker, Orval Tyson, John Henard, Rodney Kane, Tommy Yarbrough, Joe Wood, Gary Killian and Andy Bell.

Zook Thomas won the gun rack, made by the aggies in their shop class.

Freddy Bobo, chapter president, was master of ceremonies and the officers conducted the opening and closing ceremonies. Approximately 125 Future Farmers and their guests attended.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Foes of the death penalty say the chances of doing away with the electric chair are the best in years. It makes you sick at heart to read such news coming out of Austin at a time when robbery is rampant in our state and the rape and murder of some innocent woman is recounted nearly every week. It is part and parcel of the decline of morality in our state and nation and is egged on by the sob sisters, the sensationalists, the civil righters, and others of that type of thinking.

In the past the retention of the death penalty has been championed by law enforcement officers including county and district attorneys and it is to be hoped that they will take a strong stand against this year; but that does not excuse you for not letting your state representative and senator know how you feel. Another fact to keep in mind is that far too many criminals are being paroled too soon and allowed to continue their depredations against society.

I suppose we should be glad we live in a small town with its comparative law-abiding appearance; but it should be remembered that enough crime goes on here annually and that it could get entirely out of hand if it were not for some fairly efficient law enforcement on the local level.

The files of The Leader disclose that we were concerned with the same things at this time last year that we are today, moisture, crops, income taxes, etc. There are some differences. We had been dry for months at this time a year ago. Deep plowing over an extensive acreage reveals that the moisture down deep is fairly good. The recent snow will help the wheat and caused the moisture to meet on certain types of land. We are better off in that respect.

Wage earners and salaried people who have been in the habit of receiving a small refund on withholding taxes each spring are not happy. Under the so-called tax reduction they are confronted with the necessity of digging up an additional $100 or $200 in taxes depending on how much they earned in 1964. There was plenty of early warning; but far too few paid any heed.

It was a year ago that the Builders Club began operation. There are no concrete results of any great magnitude that are visible today; but to my mind this is the most wholesome and encouraging movement that has been started in Wellington in years. It has created a forward look in the community and in time it will pay dividends in progress and prosperity.

I trust I will not bore you good readers too much with references to my operation; but the facts remain that is about all I have experienced in the last two months and the impressions are paramount in my conscious mind even though most of them have to do with that fringe of daylight between the subconscious and the conscious that we sometimes call happy dreams.

A person coming out from under the influence of strong sedatives is prone to have hallucinations; but I would like to report that all of mine were happy cheerful ones and there were hundreds, probably lasting seconds, but strong enough to penetrate into lasting memory. I will give you two examples: The first was a picture of my own Mother churning milk in the kitchen and a smiling, red-faced boy burst through the door to hand her some wild yellow flowers he had found growing under the locust trees.

The second flitting image was clear; but it had no basis as far as any of my actual experiences were concerned. It was a picture of a smiling George Henry and Orval Couch standing on the banks of Salt Fork watching a flood sweep down the river and they seemed to be laughing and saying: "All that water will be stored and used someday." The first narcotic vision had a basis in actual history; the second flash picture of George and Orval had none.

It would take a lot of reconciling to try to rationalize the dream picture of George and Orval and how the tired and befuddled brain cells of my subconscious mind managed to get them out of the darkness. But there they were as clear as daylight and as optimistic looking as your fondest tomorrow. As a matter of fact, I have stood on the banks of Salt Fork when a raging torrent was going down stream along with the late Dave Thomas and others—one was the time when three bridges went out in a single night. I doubt if Mr. Henry or Mr. Couch ever watched a flood on Salt Fork at the same time. Such dreams are hard to explain. Perhaps the answer is that deep in my own soul, I want the images of those useful men emblazoned on the memory of the people of the Wellington area even if I have to fabricate a scene.

Now we will depart from the realm of happy dreams in Houston to encounter nightmares in Wellington—one of which concerns R. L. Templeton. In the dream he came by my house to pick up some grape cuttings to plant on the edge of his pecan orchard. I went with him to help him set them out. On the way out he showed me a vial of magic fertilizer that had been sent him by a chemical company, free. Only one tube of the liquid was supposed to be given to an individual. By having his friends write to the company, R. L. had managed to acquire the vials of the magic fertilizer in numbers. One of the cautions said: "Do not apply directly to the plant." Disregarding this warning, R. L. stuck each cutting into the vial of fertilizer before putting it into the ground. By the time we had planted twenty or so, we noticed that the cuttings on the end were growing, first by feet, then by yards and the holding tendrils, normally 4 to 6 inches in length were now 3 to 6 feet long. Soon the pecan orchard was covered with vines that moved on relentlessly toward R.L.'s hog pasture. The rustling of the leaves and the crackling of the bark punctuated by the squealing of the hogs made a terrible sound. R.L. grabbed a shotgun and tore out for the hog lots to try to save his animals. I fled to the pick-up and as I tugged at the recalcitrant door with the brooding vines creeping after me, at an alarming rate, I WOKE UP. I never did find out what happened to Judge Templeton.

I will see you good people if I ever get out of jail.
