Vital Bridges In Haiphong Bombed, Destroyed by U.S.

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Navy pilots diving through heavy missile and anti-aircraft fire in the heart of Haiphong destroyed the vital port's only railroad bridge link with the South, a U.S. spokesman said today.

The vital five-span bridge, just one mile from the city's center, had been hit before but had remained usable. The attack was part of the American Operation "Seal Off" to prevent materials from moving out of the port to the war machine in the south.

Along the Demilitarized Zone, U. S. Air Force B52's flew three more raids today in the massive bombardment to counter an invasion threat from 35,000 Red troops in the area. One of the raids rained tons of bombs on a fortified hill honeycombed with caves, tunnels and bunkered artillery positions.

The spokesman said the hill had "hundreds of firing bays" used to move artillery out, slam a few shells into U.S. Marine positions below the DMZ, and then whisk the field pieces back under cover before counter fire could zero in on them.

The massive bombardment and shelling from 7th Fleet warships and American artillery has slackened Communist fire against Marine positions. A spokesman said only 60 rounds of mortar, rocket and artillery fire hit the battered Leatherneck Con Thien outpost Thursday.

For weeks, the daily totals have run between 500 and 1,000 shells.

South Vietnamese paratroopers sweeping south of the DMZ triggered "heavy fighting" Thursday night with a North Vietnamese force, a spokesman said. The battle lasted for several hours. There were 17 Communists killed while the paratroopers suffered light casualties.

Viet Nam Election May Be Thrown Out

Thieu Facing Ouster

SAIGON (UPI) — Special election committee members said today they will recommend that the provisional assembly throw out the election of Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu as South Vietnam's president. Assembly Chairman Phan Khac Suu said he believed the assembly would follow the recommendation.

Such a move, observers believe, would cause political chaos in this war-torn nation.

The 17-man special committee said they found "many irregularities" in the election and felt that the vote should be invalidated. Suu's statement came in an interview as the 117-member assembly prepared to debate the election results and consider the committee's report.

In other significant political developments:

—Buddhist leader Thich Tri Quang met Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky for an hour at Independence Palace, then went into the second day of his sit-in on the palace lawn because he said he got no satisfaction from demands Thieu withdraw recognition of another faction as the official Buddhist church.

—Police seized two other defeated presidential candidates—lawyer Truong Dinh Dzu and former Chief of State Vu Hong Khanh—as they drove together to the assembly to demand Thieu's election be thrown out.

Khanh was released 30 minutes later. But Dzu was held. He was sentenced to nine months in prison shortly after the election for writing bad checks and sending money illegally to a San Francisco bank account. His appeal is pending.

Suu is another of the defeated civilian candidates. He has joined in an opposition group spearheaded by Dzu which charges fraud and that the Sept. 3 presidential election was rigged.

The special election committee plans to submit its report to the assembly Saturday. A full debate is scheduled. Suu said he would preside at the session. The report and recommendation are not binding on the full body. The deadline is Tuesday for the assembly to either uphold Thieu's election, or invalidate it

Floor Fight Seen on LBJ's Viet Resolution

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Supporters of President Johnson worked to head off a possible floor fight on a critical Vietnam resolution today hours before the President was scheduled to deliver a "major policy address" to the National Legislative Conference.

Johnson will speak to the 1,600-plus delegates at a state dinner tonight on "The Conflict in Vietnam"—the same subject William Gannan, Democrat, used for his controversial legislative conference resolution for de-escalation of the war.

Apparently, the conference resolutions committee killed the 30-year-old Mingo, Iowa, state representative's proposal in a closed-door session Thursday. But, he had a chance to try to get it introduced on the floor today when the committee reports to the conference.

"I feel very confident it will not come out of committee," Texas House Speaker Ben Barnes said of the resolution. "If it does, I will lead the opposition on the floor."

Barnes, upon learning of the resolution, talked with committee members in an apparently successful move to get it stopped.

The Texas speaker sponsored a resolution in the 1966 meeting, which endorsed Johnson's Vietnam policy. That passed after a bitter floor fight.

The Iowa Democrat said he felt de-escalation could be cessation of the bombing. He said previous bombing pauses may not have worked because they were always conditional. He said such a cessation would "show good faith."

"I am not opposed to President Johnson, but am certainly opposed to his position on Vietnam," Gannon said.

Conference vice president Donald C. Sampson, a staff representative from the State of Washington, is scheduled to be nominated for president during the day. Election is considered automatic.

Cowed Children Found Helpless

AMARILLO, Tex. (UPI) — County welfare workers and police walked into a six-room house and found four nude children in a filthy room in which they had apparently been locked for almost a year.

Police charged the parents with child neglect.

The two youngest children could not talk plainly and could walk only with help.

When the officers walked into the house they found it cluttered but relatively clean. All but the room the children were in. In one room they found two tiny youngsters, a boy and a girl, on a bed.

"They didn't move at all when we entered the room," a policeman said. "But when we picked them up they began to cry as if in pain."

Police said there was a single bed with wire springs but no covers. All four children slept in the bed.

The whole room was covered with human waste, police said. Police described the stench as unbearable.

Welfare workers picked up the children's 44-year-old father from his job as a motel janitor and took him with them when they entered the house.

The father could offer no explanation for the treatment, police said.

They quoted him as saying the two younger children had never been bathed.

When officers entered the house, the 39-year-old mother had taken her two older boys to visit a relative. The older boys apparently were free to come and go as they pleased.

Police said they asked the mother when she returned why the younger children were kept locked in the room.

"I just didn't have time to teach them to use the bathroom," they quoted her as saying.

"It was pathetic," one officer said.

"They looked as though they were terrified of us until they saw we weren't going to hurt them. Then they began to cling to us. They seemed desperate for human contact of any sort."

A hearing was set for Oct. 11 in Domestic Relations Court to determine custody of the children.

Reagan Insists He Won't Run

EUREKA, Ill. (UPI)—California Gov. Ronald Reagan today had a good idea of his chances in Illinois if he decides to run for President, which he repeatedly said at a college homecoming he wasn't.

An estimated 25,000 persons thronged tiny Eureka Thursday to get a glimpse of Reagan.

Following the dedication speech of a new library at his alma mater, Eureka College, Reagan attended a reception, then was off to a private gathering.

In the crowd were most of the state's top Republicans, among them Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, who is expected to be the leader of the Illinois delegation to the GOP presidential convention and who praised Reagan as another potential presidential candidate.

Today, Reagan breakfasted with fraternity chums and then flew to Columbia, S.C., and then Milwaukee.

At a news conference Thursday, Reagan was asked about the Sen. Thurston Morton, R-Ky., charge President Johnson has been "brainwashed" by his military men in Vietnam.

"It's hard for me to believe the President was brainwashed by the military when every day there's evidence of the military squirming when so few of their recommendations are accepted," Reagan said.

He declined to speculate on front runners in the GOP presidential race and said his name probably would be in two or three primaries because he could not honorably sign affidavits withdrawing from the primaries since he will be California's favorite son candidate.

Reagan said the no. 1 issue in the 1968 presidential campaign may be "domestic order" rather than the war in Vietnam, although "the situation may be radically altered by next year."

Sales Tax Vote Passes

By United Press International
Seven Texas cities and towns approved a one per cent sales tax Thursday and the Wichita County town of Electra became the first to turn down the proposal.

In Electra, voters defeated the measure 549-172.

The towns of Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi, Texarkana, Henrietta, Ingleside, Aransas Pass and Port Aransas approved it.

The one per cent sales tax proposition was created by the 60th Texas Legislature. The bill permits each town in Texas to vote separately on whether it wants the tax.

Voters in El Paso, Orange Grove, Elgin and Nacogdoches approved the tax Wednesday.

Texarkana voters approved the tax by a 3-1 margin with every box in town favoring it. The count was 1,530-500.

Corpus Christi voters okayed by a 3-1 margin with 9,626 for it and 3,270 opposed.

Aransas Pass gave it the biggest margin, a 7-1 majority, 433-63. In Ingleside it was 144-53 or a 4-1 margin.

Port Aransas approved it 51-9 or 99-18.

Heavy voting in Wichita Falls saw the measure pass by a 2-1 margin. It was 8-564-4,229.

The tax will bring in $800,000 in revenue for Wichita Falls annually.

In Henrietta, the vote was 248-203.

New York Teachers Back On Job Despite Threats

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York teachers were returning to school today, ending an 18-day strike, but it was not certain they would be welcome in the city's ghetto areas.

Members of the United Federation of Teachers approved the new contract with the city Thursday by a vote of 18,171 to 3,442. Union president Albert Shanker said the outcome was "a great victory for the union."

Shanker advised ghetto-area teachers to return to school despite threats of violence from angry Negro parents.

"The only way to do it is to do the same thing the kids and parents did in Little Rock (Ark.)—just keep walking in," he said. He referred to white resistance to the desegregation of Little Rock schools in 1957.

The 26-month contract provides a $125 million wage and benefit package, including a $1,200 increase in minimum wages, reduction of elementary and junior high school classes from 47 to 34 students, creation

Minutemen Deny Guns are Theirs

DENVER (UPI) — Illegal weapons found in the Colorado Rockies west of Denver were "planted" among other arms as an attempt to "smear" the leader of the right wing "Minuteman" organization, an official of the group said Thursday.

Edward Hass of Camden, N.J., state coordinator for Minutemen in New Jersey, made the charge from the organization's headquarters in Independence, Mo. His remarks were carried in a copyrighted story in the Denver Post.

Hass said the illegal arms were brought by a Minuteman defector as an attempt to smear the name of Minuteman chief Robert Bolivar DePugh.

The Denver newspaper said an "informant" had led its reporters to caches of arms hidden in various points in the mountain areas. A number of weapons were found, including an illegal sawed-off shotgun, dynamite and plans for a machine gun.

Hass said the dynamite, the shotgun and the machine gun plans were planned by persons unfriendly to the organization.

He said a "team" of men from the organization had brought rifles and other equipment into the area, but said the main purpose of the visit to the state was to write a book on guerilla warfare and to map the mountain area as a possible operations base in the event of a communist takeover of the country.

Hass said the team members would not have brought in contraband weapons. They wouldn't "want to be jeopardized by anything illegal," he said.

"With Mr. DePugh set for trial next month," Minutemen wouldn't risk the adverse publicity that would follow an illegal weapons charge or disclosure that they had brought equipment into the state, he explained.

DePugh is free on bond pending an appeal of a four-year prison sentence for violation of the National Firearms Act.

Low Temperatures Add More Misery to Woes of Valley victims

HARLINGEN, Tex. (UPI)—Record low temperatures swept into the subtropical Rio Grande Valley today on the heels of the worst flooding in Texas history, heaping new misery on thousands of homeless refugees.

The mercury plunged to the low 40s in many areas, adding to the woes of those who, with only the clothing they wore, tied the torrential rains spawned by Hurricane Beulah.

The rain-swollen Rio Grande and its overworked safety valve, the Arroyo Colorado, continued to recede slowly from Wednesday's record crests. But as the threat of renewed flooding subsided, the sudden chilling cold made those families who sought refuge in public shelters even more miserable.

"We're trying to get warm clothing and blankets to everyone," said Ed Craren, a Red Cross spokesman.

The situation was particularly serious at Rio Grande City, where there were more than 10,000 refugees, mostly from Mexico. There were not enough blankets to go around.

The low temperatures are usually not reached until winter. The chill was part of a cold front that brought frost to parts of the Midwest.

President Johnson toured the flooded parts of the valley Thursday then declared much of South Texas a disaster area. He said $2.5 million in federal aid would be allocated and more would be available if it was needed.

Johnson was accompanied by Gov. John B. Connally and Sens. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., and John G. Tower, R-Tex.

The U.S. Office of Emergency Planning said it has a quarter of a million refugees sought shelter in Texas alone at the peak of Beulah's fury. OEP officials said the sheltering and feeding of the refugees was "probably the greatest rescue operation for a natural disaster" in history.

Son of Pancho Villa Dies in Blaze of Gunfire

CHIHUAHUA, Mexico (UPI)—Deaths by the gun run in the Villa family, Pancho Villa and his men accounted for hundreds, at least, before he was riddled by ambushers.

One of his sons was found dead Thursday — killed in just the same way his father and his brother were, shot in a car.

The nude body of Antonio Villa, 45, was found pierced with six .38 slugs in his car about 6 miles north of Chihuahua, police said.

Villa, a former customs inspector at Ciudad Juarez, across from El Paso, Tex., was an employee of the federal treasury department in Chihuahua.

Police said they thought he was killed as the result of a quarrel over a girl.

Villa's father, who led a daring band of guerrilla cavalry across the northern deserts in the Mexican revolution just before the First World War was killed in 1923. Ambushers poured rifle fire into his car in Parral in Southern Chihuahua.

Another son, Ictavio Villa, was a customs inspector. He was shot to death in a patrol car six years ago near Mota Moros, across from Brownsville, Tex., by a band of smugglers.

A third son, Trinidad Villa, is a Western movie actor.

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife has a "physical attraction" ever since June 1963, and hasn't been the same since. Daddy, Gene Ab'ie, is a prolific sire. She has 10 million dollars at the bank. Her mother, Abbie Direct, is a well-bred young mare from the great Billy Direct family.

We have high hopes for this promising young filly when she is ready for racing in 1969, and would like very much to name her DEAR ABBY. To do so we need your permission to forward this name to the United States Trotting Association. How about it, Abby?

JIM MICHAEL: Although I have not done much horsing around in my life, in competition I've been known to win by a nose, so go ahead and name your filly DEAR ABBY. And I hope she has as much luck with my name as I've had.

DEAR ABBY: When my brother was 4 years old, he went to live with an aunt and uncle in a far away state. Six years later I was born. I am now 25 and my brother is 35 and we met for the first time two months ago. He is married and so am I. I find myself terribly attracted (physically) to my brother. Fortunately I believe this attraction is one-sided. We have no other brothers or sisters, and both our parents are dead.

He would be hurt if now that I refused to visit him without an explanation. But how can I explain? I'm afraid if we continue visiting as families, my husband might suspect my feelings. When I'm near my brother, I tremble so I can't even hold a cup of coffee. If this weren't so serious, it would be ridiculous. I don't think there is any deep-seated psychological reason behind this attraction. What should I do?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Something is wrong here. In the past, a "physical attraction" ever caused you to tremble so severely that you couldn't hold a cup of coffee? If not, perhaps a psychiatrist could tell you whether there is a deep-seated psychological reason behind all this. Incest is "verboten"—and some people find the most "verboten" fantasies the most attractive.

DEAR ABBY: When I read that letter in your column from the mother of a retarded child, I couldn't believe my eyes! How could anyone be so stupid and cruel as to ring her doorbell and say, "I heard you have a child who's an idiot, and I've never seen one. May I see yours?" Abby, that mother was much too gentle. She should have said, "Why don't you look in the mirror?"

MRS. V. C.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONCERNED IN PITTSBURGH: I too, am concerned about the spreading epidemic of divorce, but making divorce more difficult to get does not strike me as being the answer.

IF MARRIAGE were more difficult to achieve, it might make more sense.

Study Clubs Hear Authoress Speak at Fall Presidents' Coffee

Mrs. Mary Dutton, a Borger authoress, discussed writing techniques here recently after the annual Presidents' Coffee sponsored by Twentieth Century Study Clubs in Lovett Memorial Library.

A former Borger school teacher, Mrs. Dutton was guest speaker for the coffee honoring five presidents of Twentieth Century Study Clubs.

Author of two published short stories, Mrs. Dutton explained she thought beginning writers should use plot backgrounds which they are familiar with, because they need to know the problems involved and need to know how to use everyday situations to make the plot seem real.

"Maybe that's why everything I have written so far has dealt with the teaching field. Both my parents were teachers, and I have taught since I was 18. I have always lived in small towns and know more about life in those than in a large city. For that reason, the story locations are usually in small towns. I usually make up a name and use parts of several towns to build the location," she said.

Mrs. Dutton attended Eldorado Junior College in Eldorado, Ark., and started teaching when she was 18. She taught four years in Hüttig, Ark., and one year in Knoxville, Tenn., and was a substitute elementary school teacher in Borger, 15 years.

Her first year, she taught high school English, but "I didn't like it because some of the students were older than I was. It is harder to have authority over students older than yourself," she said.

Mrs. Dutton suggested one of the "best ideas for a writer is to know the English language and how to use it, and to like the effect your words have on people. If you don't have that to start with, a writer's course wouldn't have too much effect on you."

Mrs. Dutton started her writing career after she entered a magazine sponsored story writing contest. A year and a half after she entered the story, she learned it won fourth place.

"After that, I wrote four other stories and sold my first one in 1963. After I sold my second story, I decided to try to become a professional writer. I worked on "Thorpe" two years and sold it in 1966. I'm working on another novel now and am under option for two more," she said.

She believes "stories come from impressions formed through the years. Sometimes a writer doesn't know what he is going to say until he starts developing an idea on paper. My next story is about what talk can do in a small town, and is the story of a man who was destroyed by untruths told in his small town."

Her first book "Thorpe," is a fiction novel about a six-year-old girl's first encounters with racial prejudice. Thorpe Torrance is the daughter of a high school principal who believes in intergration, and a mother who encourages Thorpe's friendship with children of a Negro laundress.

The story begins in 1935 in Arkansas and develops a year of the Torrance family's life. It includes an episode about a Ku Klux Klan raid, which causes the death of one of Thorpe's Negro friends. Thorpe witnesses the death and goes into a state of shock. In this book, Mrs. Dutton was trying to show "we cannot ignore evil. It touches us whether we admit it or not."

Elbert Templin was honored at an appreciation dinner Thursday night at Jim's Steak House by several of his friends.

Templin and his wife Gretchen reside at 2229 Hamilton where they plan to continue residence after retirement Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Templin moved to Pampa five years ago when his work with Cities Service Oil Company required him to transfer from Manhattan, Kan.

For the past five years he has been assistant production foreman in the Pampa district. His retirement will complete over 48 years of service with Cities Service from the time he went to work in El Dorado, Kans. in 1919.

Welfare Index
Helps Victims Of Hurricane

The Pampa Welfare Index, a non-profit charity organization, has prepared 1,276 garments for shipment to flood and hurricane victims in the lower Rio Grande Valley, Ted Gikas, president, announced today.

Volunteers of the organization have worked in cooperation with the American Red Cross local representative, Libby Shotwell, and the local Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Nothing received has been mended where necessary, Gikas said, and boxed by the volunteers. Seventh Day Adventists, in cooperation with a national plan, are transporting the clothing to the stricken area.

Money allocated to the Welfare Index by the United Fund, some $500, is used to pay rent on a warehouse and for the hauling of furniture. All repairing or mending of clothing or furniture is done by volunteers. Most of the furniture and clothing is given to the organization by Pampa residents.

Churches, clubs, lodges or schools generally make recommendations of persons needing assistance, Gikas said. So far this year the Welfare Index has given 2178 garments and 92 pieces of furniture.

The Welfare Index is one of 12 participating agencies of the Pampa United Fund.

In announcing the appointment, McDonald said, "We are extremely honored to have Congressman Price join us as a member of this most important committee. As one of the dynamic young Congressmen, a Republican member of the United States Congress, he has repeatedly demonstrated his interest in the problems facing the young people of our nation, and his reputation as an articulate spokesman for responsible problem-solving has caused him to be admired and respected by Young Republicans throughout the country. Congressman Price is one of the 'new breed' of Republican officeholders whose practical proposals to answer America's problems have resulted in the tremendous resurgence of Republican sentiment among the young

Garage, Contents
Burned in Fire

Fire did heavy damage to a garage converted to a bunk room for boys last night at 543 Tignor.

Firemen answered the call at 10:25 p.m. and had the fire extinguished by midnight. Heavy damage was done to furniture and a deep freeze in the converted garage.

Firemen say the fire probably started from a cigarette which had been accidentally dropped on the couch. No one was in the building at the time of the blaze.

UF Hopes to Start
Fiscal Year With Around $1,300

The United Fund still has $3,500 in uncollected pledges, but hopes to collect a fourth of that sum and start the fiscal year in January with around $1,300 after all commitments are paid, A. A. Schuneman, president of the United Fund, told a board meeting of the group yesterday.

Fiscal year for the UF runs from January 1 to January 1. President Schuneman told the group that the UF again hoped to add money to the coffers by investing part of it.

In other business at the meeting, minutes of the last meeting were read and progress reports were read. Ralph McKinney, chairman, reported on the work of the budget committee, and David Tucker, general chairman, spoke briefly. The meeting concluded with publicity slides shown by Bill Walker.

Suu said he believed the assembly must throw their election out because if it does not "we will face opposition from the Vietnamese people because they know the election was rigged."

Despite the many charges of election rigging and practices of fraud, no concrete proof has so far been made public.

A team of observers sent by President Johnson during the election said they found the balloting to be fair and honest. Several dissident student groups planned to march on the assembly to strengthen demands that the election be thrown out.

Meanwhile, combat police armed with rifles, bayonets and

Five Burglaries

Two youths, one 15 and the other 16, have continued their confessions of unsolved burglaries here after being arrested in Amarillo Monday night. The juveniles were arrested by Amarillo police after breaking into two coke machines in that city.

Five local burglaries have been admitted by the pair so far, and Police Chief Jim Conner hopes that more will be solved, soon. The youths have admitted breaking into Pampa Jr. High, Ruff's Grocery, Pampa Wholesale Trucking, the Village Inn, and Easy Car Wash.

out by tactical fighter-bombers. Dive bomber pilots said the rocket site was inside North Vietnam.

The North Vietnamese apparently were pushing to get the surface-to-air (SAM) missiles in place because of the heavy pounding by high-flying B52 bombers.

The giant bombers today followed up strikes by tactical fighter-bombers—dumping hundreds of tons of high explosives in three raids. The strikes hit not only Communist gun positions, but knocked out an ammunition storage area, and reportedly rained death on some of the 35,000 North Vietnamese troops massed in the six-mile-wide buffer zone.

Under the intense pounding, which Gen. William C. Westmoreland called the heaviest concentration of conventional firepower in history, the North Vietnamese artillery fire continued to decrease.

New Hall Planned By Jehovah's Witnesses

Plans for a new Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses have been finalized, and construction of the new church has begun at 17th and Coffee Streets, Charles Regal, presiding minister, announced today.

The Kingdom Hall will be a simple one-story brick veneer building with attractive, modern lines, and a capacity for 150 persons. Plans also include an off-street parking area.

Members of the congregation will do much of the building themselves," the Rev. Regal said. "We are double the size we were in the early 1950s, and since our present quarters were constructed in 1940, expansion has led us to build the Kingdom Hall." Plans have been considered for some time by a special committee, according to Rev. Regal.

According to the program of study that all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses follow, five meetings will be held each week in the new building.

Presently, Jehovah's Witnesses are meeting at 944 S. Dwight and issue an invitation to the public to attend. The current meeting schedule is: public Bible lecture, Sunday, 9:30 a.m.; Watchtower Study, Sunday, 10:30 a.m.; ministry school, Friday, 7:30 p.m.; service meeting, 8:30 p.m. Friday; and con-

Nazarenes Will Attend Meeting

Nazarene church pastors and their wives from this area are slated to attend the annual Nazarene Preachers' conference for the West Texas district to be held at Camp Arrowhead, near Cleburne, Oct. 2-4.

Nearly all of the 96 Nazarene churches in the district will be represented. These churches have a total of about 6,500 members and a combined Sunday school enrollment of nearly 11,000 persons.

Guest speakers will include Dr. G. B. Williamson, Kansas City, Mo., a general superintendent in the denomination since 1946; and three men from the Bethany Nazarene college faculty, at Bethany, Okla. — Dr. Mel Thomas Rothwell, Dr. Oscar Reed and Dr. Ralph Staples.

Purpose of the conference will be inspirational and to receive a fresh challenge to press the work of the church.

Car Wash Set

Senior High Youth of the First Methodist Church will sponsor a car wash this Saturday from 8:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. A $2.00 fee for exterior and interior cleaning will be charged. Cleaning site will be in front of the Youth Building, at 201 E. Foster. Cars may be left at the address for cleaning, or may be picked up and returned by the Senior High Youth by calling MO 4-7411.

The project is being sponsored to raise money for youth activities planned for the year.

Anonymous Donor Gives $10,000 To Church Fund

An anonymous donor has contributed $10,000 to the building fund of the First Christian Church, the Rev. J. W. Duke, minister, has announced.

The donation is the first to be received by the church in its advance gift drive.

The church recently finalized plans for a new 32,164 square foot structure to be erected on a four and one-half acre site at 18th and Nelson Streets. It will cost $337,500.

The $10,000 donation and others received in the advance gift drive will be followed up by a general drive to receive pledges, the Rev. Duke said.

AT FIRST METHODIST

Music-Education Director Has Professional Background

Fred P. Watkins, a singer with extensive professional background in lyric theater, is the new director of music and education at the First Methodist Church.

Watkins is a graduate of Southern Methodist University, with a bachelor of music in voice and music education. He has also completed twenty hours on a master of voice degree. He studied voice with Thomas Hayward, Metropolitan Opera tenor, and with Norman Farrow of the Bach Aria Group.

He has also studied choral conducting with Dr. Lloyd Praetisch and instrumental conducting with Joseph Kirshbaum, director of the East Texas Symphony and Paul Vellucci, former director of the Hartford Symphony.

His background includes private school teaching in Dallas and Virginia. He made his professional debut in 1961 with the Fort Worth Opera Co., and has had leading roles with the Virginia Beach Civic Musicals, the Santa Fe Opera Co., the Old Dominion Lyric Theater, and the Dallas Civic Opera Co.

His repertoire includes leading roles in Carousell (he has performed the lead 47 times), Student Prince, Die Fletmaus, Kismet, Showboat, Davailleria Rusticana, Il Tabarro, Bartered Bride, Madame Butterfly, Pirates of Penzance, Rigoletto, La Boheme, Beggar's Opera, Brigadoon, Amahl and the Night Visitors, and several others. In addition, he has performed solos in most of the major oratorios with symphonies in Dallas, Norfolk, Virginia Beach, Kansas City, Longview, Tyler, and Ft. Worth.

Watkins is a member of the National Fellowship of Methodist Musicians, the American Guild of Musical Artists, Music Educators National Conference, Texas Music Educators Association, and the Pampa Noon Kiwanis Club.

Watkins is a native of Tyler, and is a U.S. Navy veteran. Upon returning to school at SMU, he served as assistant to the artist in residence and directed several musicals and operas at the university and local high schools. He has served churches in Tyler, Dallas, Norfolk, Va., and Chesapeake, Va.

Shortly before reaching his decision to return to full-time church work, Watkins was one of six finalists in the San Francisco Opera Co. auditions, and received an opportunity to work for the company.

Watkins is married and his wife, Shirlene, a graduate of North Texas State University, is a sixth grade teacher at Travis Elementary School.

Religion in America

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

George Gallup Jr. is an engaging young man with two dominant interests. One is polling. He is managing director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, founded by his father. The other is religion. He majored in religion at Princeton and later did post-graduate work in theology at Oxford. He is a licensed lay reader and Sunday school teacher in the Episcopal Church.

He has combined his interests to produce a 64-page mimeographed booklet which brings together all of the information that the Gallup Poll has acquired about the religious attitudes and practices of Americans.

There is no earthshaking news in the report, but it's full of fascinating facts and figures, some of which may surprise you.

For example: It is widely assumed that church attendance is highest in the "bible belt" of the south. Not so. New Englanders are the nation's most faithful churchgoers.

On a typical Sunday last year, 54 per cent of the adults in New England were in church, compared to only 45 per cent in the South.

The lowest level of church attendance is found on the Pacific Coast, where only one person out of three attends services on a typical Sunday.

Nationally, church attendance has dropped off somewhat in recent years, from a high of 49 per cent in 1950 to 44 per cent last year. But it's still well above the level that prevailed prior to World War II. In 1940, only 37 per cent of the adult population was in church on a typical Sunday.

Less surprising is the finding that Catholics are the most faithful in church attendance (68 per cent showing up for mass each week) with Protestants in second place (38 per cent) and Episcopalians also weak on attendance.

Among the major Protestant denominations, Lutherans are the best church-attenders (43 per cent) and Episcopalians the worst (31 per cent).

You can look around in any congregation and see for yourself that church services draw more women than men. Gallup pinpoints the disparity: 49 per cent of America's women and only 39 per cent of its men go to church on any given Sunday.

Church attendance is highest in March and April (the months during which the Lenten season usually falls) and lowest in June, July and August (vacation months).

Another intriguing section of the report presents "profiles" of Protestants, Catholics and Jews, constructed on the basis of more than 40,000 individual interviews. This is an unusually large "sample" for a poll, perhaps the most comprehensive ever made in this field.

It shows that 67 per cent of America's adults regard themselves as Protestants, 25 per cent as Catholics and 3 per cent as Jews. The remaining 5 per cent do not claim any religious affiliation.

There are more registered Democrats than Republicans in each faith group, with Jews showing the greatest affection for the Democratic party.

Here's the political line-up, by percentages:

	Pro.	Cath.	Jews
Democrats	42	56	64
Republicans	31	16	9
Independents	25	25	24
Other	2	3	3

Ninety-seven per cent of the nation's Jews and 76 per cent of its Catholics live in cities of more than 50,000 population. But a majority of protestants—54 per cent—live in small towns or rural areas.

In terms of income, Jews rank first, Catholics second, and Protestants third. Sixty-nine per cent of the Jews who are heads of households earn more than $7,000 a year, compared to 47 per cent of the Catholics and 38 per cent of the Protestants.

Among the five largest Protestant groups, the highest level of affluence is found among Episcopalians, with 55 per cent in the over-$7,000 income bracket, followed by Presbyterians (50 per cent), Lutherans (49 per cent), Methodists (42 per cent) and Baptists (26 per cent).

But in terms of total membership, the rank order is reversed. Baptists are the largest of America's Protestant families, comprising 21 per cent of the total U.S. population. Next in order are Methodists (14 per cent), Lutherans (7 per cent), Presbyterians (6 per cent) and Episcopalians (3 per cent).

Tickets for Stage Play Are on Sale At Three Places

Tickets for the stage thriller, "Wait Until Dark" starring Phyllis Kirk in person, at the Pampa High School Auditorium next Wednesday night are on sale at Las Pampas Galleries in Coronado Center and the Chamber of Commerce and George B. Cree offices in the Hughes Bldg.

Persons wishing to order tickets by mail can fill out the blank to be found elsewhere in today's Pampa News and mail it to the Pampa Fine Arts Association, Box 818, Pampa.

In "Wait Until Dark," playwright Frederick Knott again follows the fascinating pattern he first set in his international hit, "Dial M for Murder."

Miss Kirk is cast as the blind heroine of the play and, of course, cannot see the dreadful dangers about to overwhelm her, time and again—which the audience can see and gasp at because she can't see them.

"Wait Until Dark" enjoyed a major run in New York in 1966 and has been touring major cities of the U.S. ever since.

Curtain time for the Wednesday night melodrama will be 8:30 p.m.

Communion Services Set By Presbyterians

Observance of the Lord's Supper will take place this Sunday in the First Presbyterian Church, according to Rev. Martin Hager.

Communion services will be held at 8:30 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. Shut-ins will receive communion by Rev. Hager and Elders of the church Sunday afternoon.

Adult education courses have been set up by the Church and will begin this week. They will be held on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7:30 p.m. and will continue for approximately six weeks.

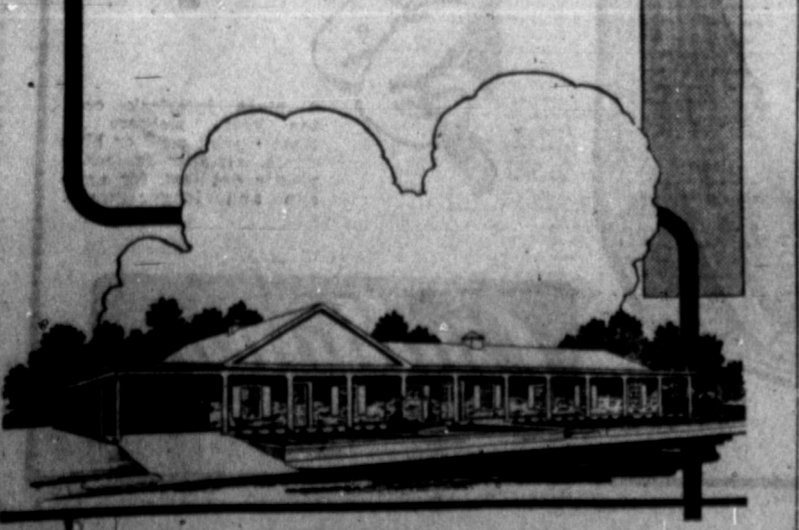

"Christians Discuss the War" and "Blacks, Whites, the Gospel" classes will be held Tuesday night and a seminar on "Kierkegaard" will be jointly sponsored by St. Matthew's Episcopal Church and the First Presbyterian Church.

Elementary P.E. Plans Are Tabled Again by Board

Discussion of long-range plans for the development of a physical education program in Pampa's elementary schools was again tabled by the school board at its Thursday special meeting.

Immediate plans for such a program had been tabled at a previous meeting and it was decided to continue on the same basis.

The board voted a $500 annual salary supplement for Bob Skaggs, high school vocational agricultural teacher.

The board approved previously tabled plans for participation in the Regional Media Center and the Regional Education Service Center, Amarillo.

The action, it was stated, will make available to local schools a library of some 2,000 educational films from an area-wide film service under the Panhandle Educational Service Organization.

PRAYER AVAILETH MUCH

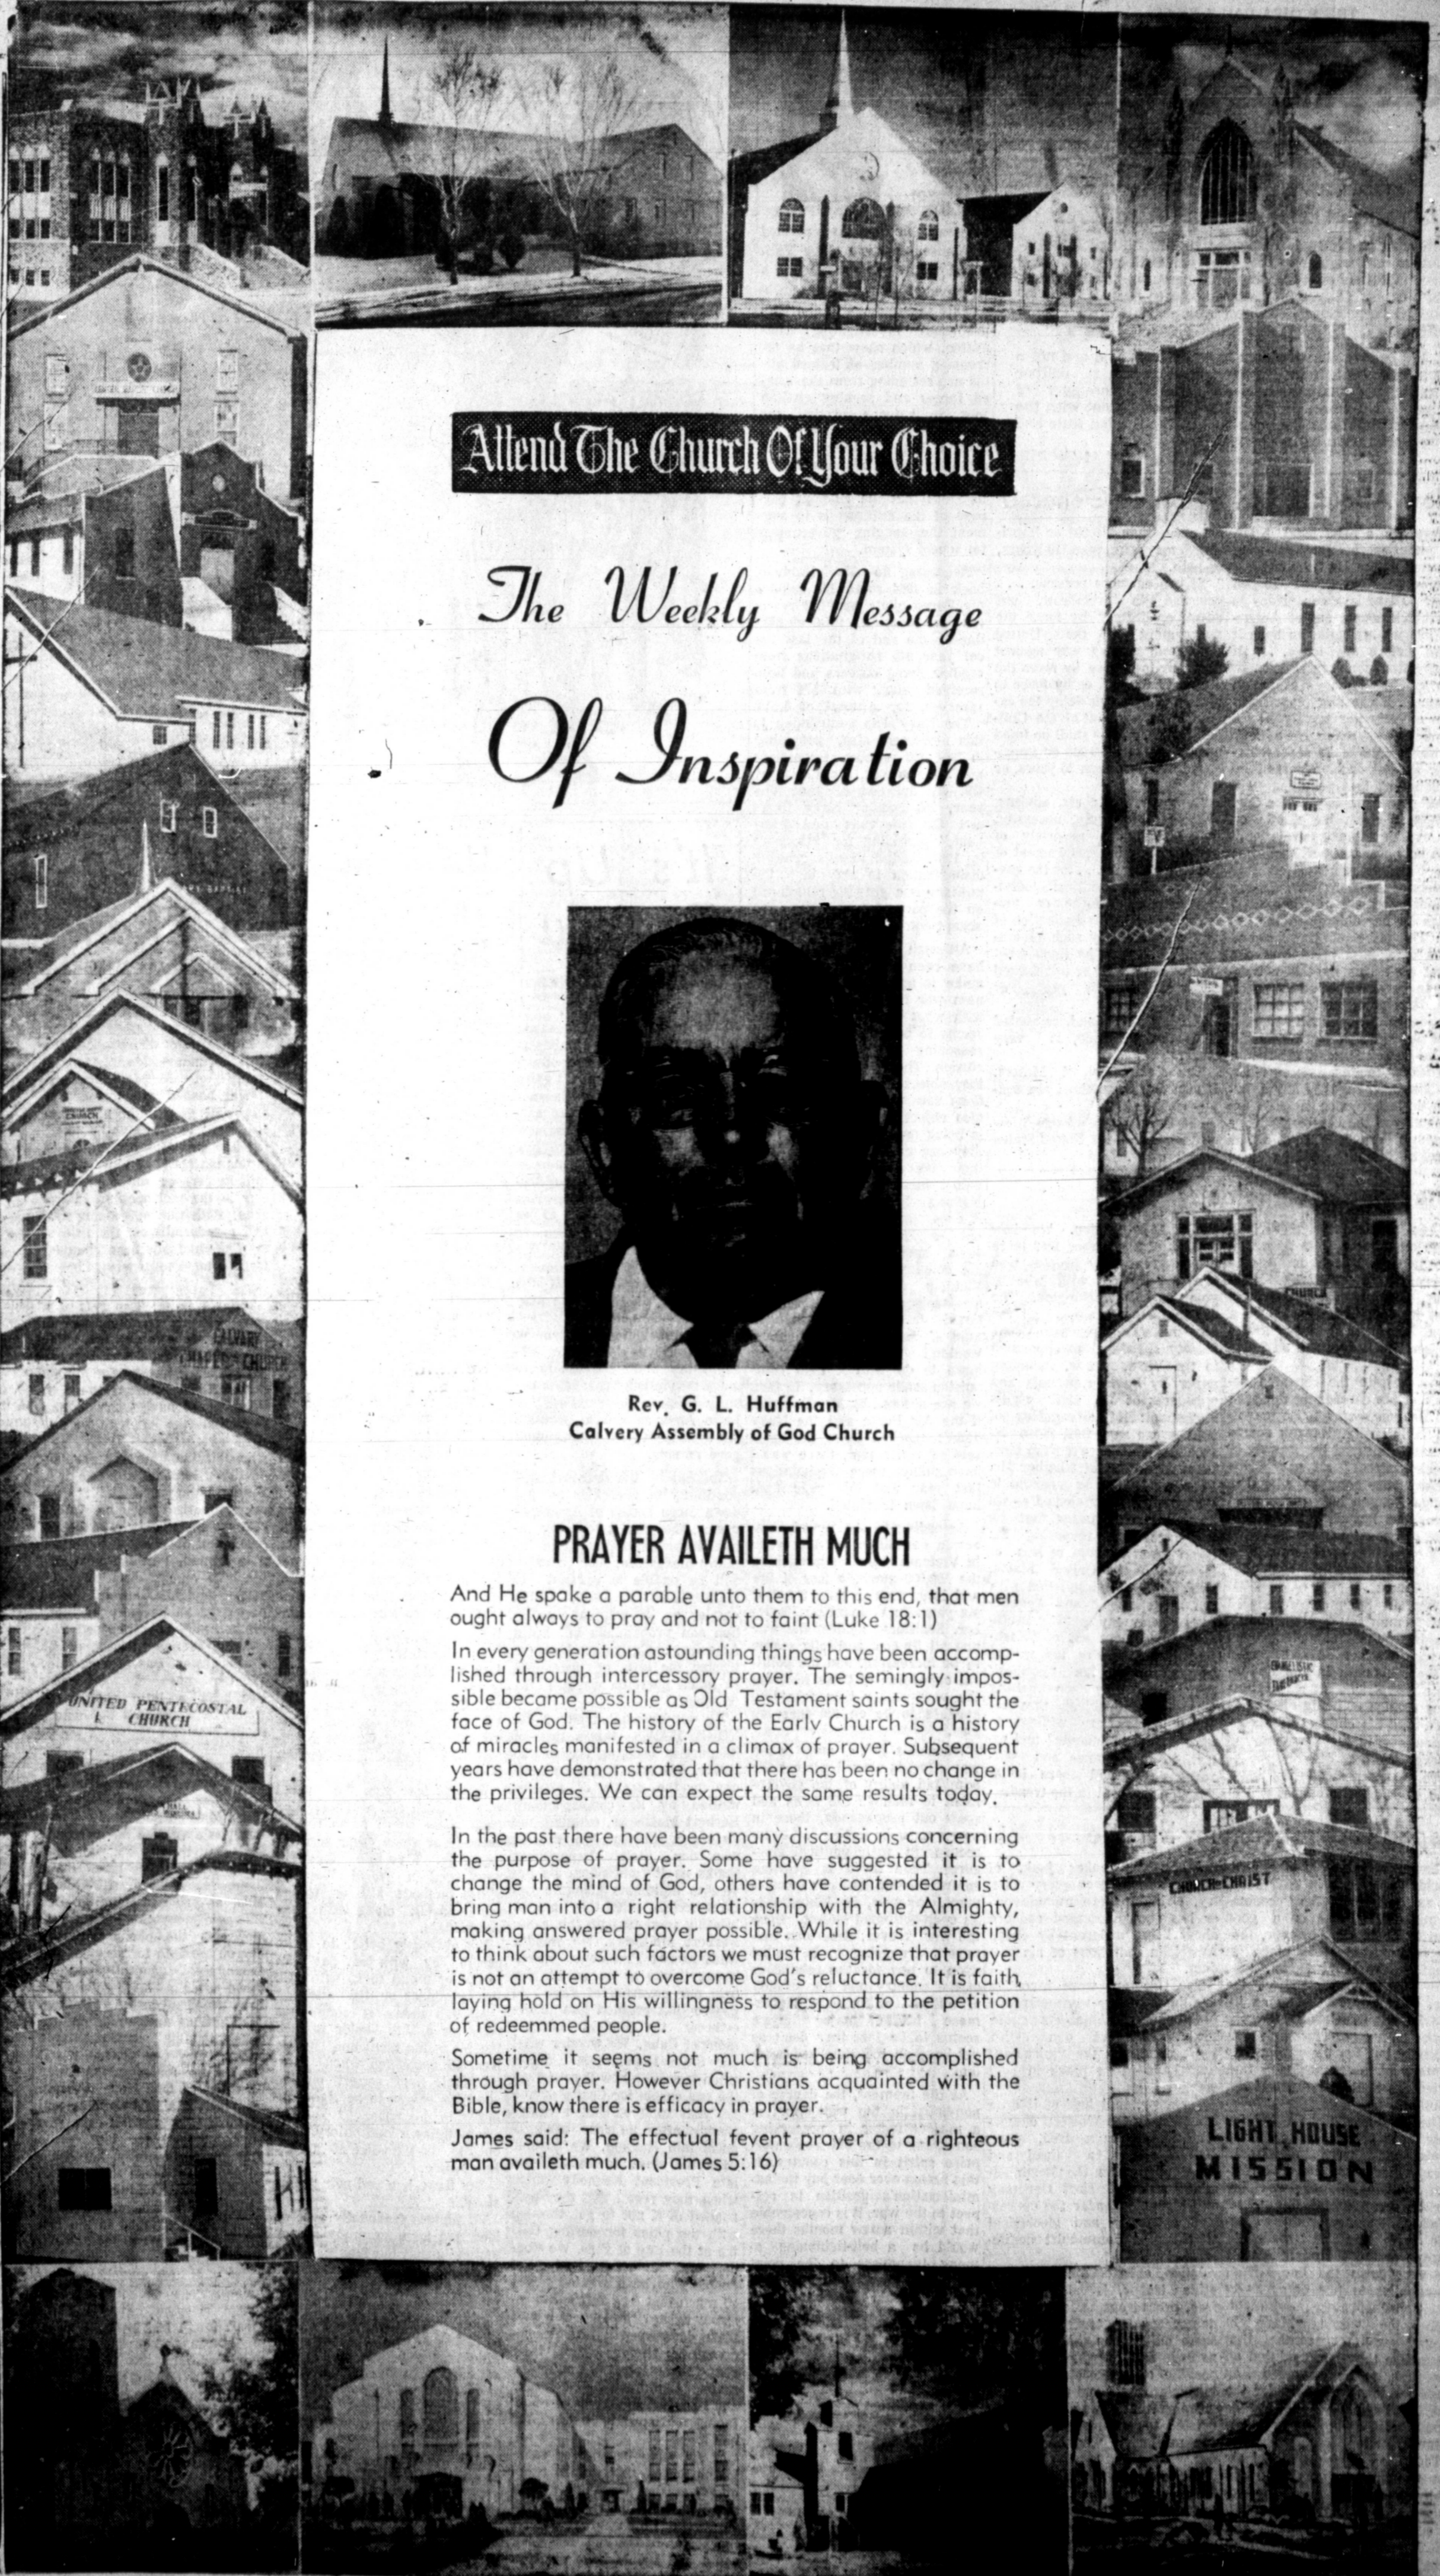

And He spake a parable unto them to this end, that men ought always to pray and not to faint (Luke 18:1)

In every generation astounding things have been accomplished through intercessory prayer. The seemingly impossible became possible as Old Testament saints sought the face of God. The history of the Early Church is a history of miracles manifested in a climax of prayer. Subsequent years have demonstrated that there has been no change in the privileges. We can expect the same results today.

In the past there have been many discussions concerning the purpose of prayer. Some have suggested it is to change the mind of God, others have contended it is to bring man into a right relationship with the Almighty, making answered prayer possible. While it is interesting to think about such factors we must recognize that prayer is not an attempt to overcome God's reluctance. It is faith laying hold on His willingness to respond to the petition of redeemed people.

Sometime it seems not much is being accomplished through prayer. However Christians acquainted with the Bible, know there is efficacy in prayer.

James said: The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. (James 5:16)

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper
EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license, nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself. No more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human Relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

How About It, Mr. Attorney General?

Herewith, a brief legal brief, for attention of the Attorney General of the United States. Hubert Gerold (Rap) Brown said: "There is a conspiracy to run black people out of America, but we are going to burn it down before we leave. . . . If Washington don't turn around, you should burn Washington down. . . . I consider myself neither morally nor legally bound to obey laws made by a body in which I have no representation. Do not deceive yourself in believing that penalties will deter men from the course they believe is right. We stand on the eve of a black revolution." Stokely Carmichael has said: "In Newark, we applied war tactics of the guerrillas. We are preparing groups of urban guerrillas for our defense in the cities. The price of these rebellions is a high price that one must pay. This fight is not going to be a simple street meeting. It is going to be a fight to the death. . . . we will kill first and we will aim for the head." The United States Code reads: "Whoever incites, sets on foot, assists, or engages in any rebellion or insurrection against the authority of the United States or the laws thereof, or gives aid or comfort thereto, shall be fined not more than $10,000 or imprisoned not more than 10 years, or both. "If two or more persons. . . . conspire to overthrow, put down, or destroy by force the government of the United States, or to levy war against them, or to oppose by force the authority thereof, or by force to prevent, hinder, or delay the execution of any law of the United States. . . . they shall be fined not more than $20,000 or imprisoned not more than 20 years, or both. "Whoever. . . . abets, advises, or teaches the duty, necessity, desirability, or propriety of overthrowing the government of the United States. . . . or the government of any political subdivision therein, by force or violence, or by the assassination of any officer of any such government. . . . shall be fined not more than $20,000 or imprisoned not more than 20 years, or both." The law of the land, as quoted from the US Code, is very clear. The statements of Messrs. Brown and Carmichael are equally clear. The inert silence of the Attorney General of the United States is not clear.

The Reagan Candidacy

From all accounts, there is a growing movement to push California Gov. Ronald Reagan as a presidential candidate next year, despite Reagan's avowal that he does not want to be a candidate other than as "favorite son" to keep down an intra-party fight. But despite the repeated denials of his candidacy, the push for Reagan seems to be mounting in intensity. Reagan seems to have captured the support of "conservatives" all over the nation, who seem to like the things Reagan has said, even though he has as yet been unable to accomplish much in the way of savings in his state, with its Democratically controlled Legislature. John J. Synon, a Virginian and former Californian who is pushing the candidacy of George Wallace says, "Reagan is the only man in the Republican corral who stands a ghost of a chance of being elected in 1968. And his chance of success depends upon the candidacy of George Wallace." We do not pretend to know who can and who cannot win in the coming election. We know that as of September 1967 there are a great many people who are dissatisfied with what is going on in Washington. The dissatisfaction ranges all the way from opposition to Great Society spending to opposition to the Vietnam war, including anger by both proponents and opponents of the civil rights movement. But the vagaries of politics are such that those issues may fade a year from now. But regardless of whether Mr. Reagan winds up as a candidate—or even if he is elected—we have little expectation that he will succeed in reversing the trend toward complete loss of freedom in the United States. People may be dissatisfied with the big spenders and the controls accompanying "Big Brother" government out of Washington, but they're not willing to give up all the "goodies" they think they are getting from their political masters. Not until they are willing to give up the "handouts" and return to self-reliance and self-responsibility will there be a possible reversal in the trend.

Japan Today: Economy Miracle

Germans refer to the post-World War II era in their country as the time of the "economic miracle." There is a good case to be made, however, that the real miracle took place in equally devastated Japan. For generations before the war, Germany had been an industrial giant. Germans were respected not only for their productivity but for their discovery of many of the technologies that fueled the Second Industrial Revolution. The Japanese were noted for their mass production of shoddy goods and were considered merely clever imitators of Western methods. Japan was the world's scrap metal dump. Today, Japanese products compete with the best made in Europe or the United States all the way down the line, from automobiles to fine cameras to precision laboratory equipment. Once the words "Made in Japan" were a guarantee that the article they were printed on was junk, to be avoided as much for that reason as for the fact that buying it would aid the expansionist ambitions of a totalitarian nation. Today, an ad for a model airplane engine in an American hobby magazine proudly proclaims, "Handcrafted by skilled mechanics in Japan" and U.S. Japanese trade amounted to $4 billion last year.

Japan still makes junk, of course, but so does every country. One Japanese manufacturer has even expressed concern about being undercut by cheap American imitations of his product. The Germans were inventive long before the Americans came along. But we can claim some credit for the "miracles" that have taken place in both countries. Germany, that half of it once occupied by the Western democracies, is today a free, prosperous nation, a valued and equal partner in the North Atlantic alliance. East Germany still struggles under the oppressive economic and ideological shackles of Communist domination. Japan, once occupied by American troops, is also today a free, prosperous nation, a young democracy as successful as some older ones that could be named, and overdue to take a position of peaceful leadership in modern Asia and to fulfill the promise that was tragically twisted toward martial ends by the militarists who once ruled her. Those who see the United States as an imperialistic bully bent on making economic satellites of nations smaller than herself ought to go tell it to the Japanese.

PINE TREE FEATURES

by Robert LeFevre
PILOTS AND PRINCIPLES
A sardonic note is provided by Hanson Baldwin, New York Times military editor. In a copyrighted story Mr. Baldwin reveals the findings of the Preparedness Investigating Committee, which show that an increasing number of trained pilots are resigning from the armed forces and seeking civilian jobs. So it turns out that the taxpayers are now providing expensive flight training for the privately owned airlines and, if the trend continues, it may yet turn out that the principal purpose of the military is to augment the sagging governmental school system.

According to Mr. Baldwin, back in 1964 some 160 regular Air Force pilots and 222 reserves resigned, a total of 382. But at the end of the last fiscal year 945 resignations from regular flying officers had been received along with 574 from reserves, for a total of 1,519. The Navy has contributed to this movement also, providing in 1964, 109 regular resignations and 370 reserves, for a total of 479. By the end of June this year, 263 regular Navy flyers and 652 reservists had asked "out," providing for 915 more in 1967. Added to this growing disinclination to stay in the military is a growing reluctance on the part of young men to accept combat pilot training.

Although the investigators have been very careful not to make it appear that the Vietnam war has anything to do with what is happening, there seems to be an obvious line of reasoning leading to that conclusion. Those who resign say they object to family separations caused by the war. They also object to the way the war is being fought, claiming that they are called upon to risk their lives in bombing runs against inconsequential targets. Nothing has been said, but it does appear likely that not a few of the resignations spring from the growing conviction that the whole Vietnam affair is a political masterpiece in the realm of fictional tragedy, and that a man of character and principle wouldn't want to have anything more to do with it than compulsion made necessary. In fact we are assured by Mr. Baldwin, if the Air Force and the Navy hadn't cracked down on those seeking retirement, there would have been many more resignations last year and this year than have been tabulated.

When this lack of unity in the war effort is viewed against the admitted ability of the government to manage the news and spew out propaganda, those in power must be feeling rather insecure in their political sinures. Then there is growing comprehension that our involvement, tax-wise, in Vietnam is an open-bottomed bucket. Once the war is over, American taxpayers are going to be called upon to pay for the rebuilding of the country and the subsidy of millions of innocent Vietnamese whose major crime seems to be that they don't as yet have an industrialized economy.

At the moment, the degree of non-unity in the war effort is a major factor in preserving something of the old free enterprise spirit in this country. If this nation ever does buy the administration's position in respect to the war, it is conceivable that within a few months there would be a belt-tightening among taxpayers to the point where ruin and possibly even famine would become major factors.

Hold It — We Can't Start the Riot Yet —

It's Up To You

By HOWARD KERSHNER
We Wonder. . . . True to the prediction made by three American ambassadors, this columnist and others during the days when Castro was carrying on guerrilla activities in the mountains of eastern Cuba, Fidel Castro has now become the active, aggressive Communist leader, not only in Cuba, but throughout Latin America. Thousands of guerrillas are being trained in Cuba to fan out through Latin America to foment local revolutions. In July of this year Communist delegates from 27 nations and colonies met in Havana to plan their revolutionary activities. The organization is known as Latin American Solidarity Organization. Their purpose is to make revolutions; that is, to destroy existing governments in Latin America and to promote the formation of Communist governments.

Thrilled by the demonstrated possibility of guerrillas to pin down large bodies of American troops, the plan is to bring about these developments in so many places that our country will be unable to respond to them. While the Soviet Union carries on its political agitation and propaganda in Latin America, to Castro has been entrusted the task of promoting as much guerrilla warfare as possible.

We wonder what the NEW YORK TIMES thinks now of its part in bringing Castro to power. We have heard no apology written by its correspondent, Herbert Matthews, extolling the virtues of Castro. We wonder what our State Department thinks as it remembers its advice to diplomats going to Latin America—that they have briefing sessions with this same Herbert Matthews. We wonder what former President Eisenhower thinks as he recalls the help our government gave to Castro that enabled him to overthrow the Batista government. We wonder what our State Department thinks when it recalls how it rolled out the red carpet for Castro during his visit to the United States shortly after he rode triumphantly into Havana. We wonder what the close advisors of the late President Kennedy think when they recall that they persuaded JFK not to go through with the plans for ousting Castro at the Bay of Pigs. We wonder what multitudes of good people who have wanted peace so much that they refused to resist evil, are thinking about these days when it becomes increasingly obvious that their easy-going, pacifist policy has made Communism stronger and stronger, so that we are now facing a desperate battle for our lives. If we have become so easy-loving and so reluctant to exert ourselves that we allow evil to flourish among us, it is only a question of time until we will be the slaves of the evil which we could and should have destroyed.

U.S. Finds Tear Gas Saves Lives

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — A sharp worldwide clamor was heard two years ago when the United States first used tear gas in South Vietnam. A public outcry echoed in the United States, even though American and other police forces regularly use tear gas on their own citizens. Now the gas is used routinely by U.S. forces in tunnel operations in South Vietnam. Its use is barely mentioned in the American or world press. (Egypt's Nasser even used Russian-supplied, man-killing nerve gas in Yemen with hardly more than a shrug of the shoulders from United Nations Secretary General U Thant and most U.N. member nations.) Having had the courage to persist in the face of the public outcry, the United States is finding that tear gas is saving lives. When they're fired at from caves or tunnels, U.S. troops have no way of knowing who is hiding under the earth. They can ignore the cave or tunnel at their own peril — shots in the back after they pass by or renewed terrorism in the hamlet. Unfortunately, women, children and old men are frequently in the tunnels along with Viet Cong snipers. In fact, the VC may have escaped, leaving only innocent victims to suffer the Yanks' flush-em-out tactics. Without tear gas, the usual way to flush out a tunnel or cave is by small arms fire, a grenade or some other sort of explosive. Flame throwers were used in World War II. These methods kill or wound the innocent along with the combatants. It's obviously better to make people cry with tear gas than to kill or maim them with rifle fire, grenades or dynamite. All this shows it sometimes pays for a U.S. leader to take the bit in his teeth and ignore frenzied opposition when careful study and expert opinion show his course to be right, humane, in this case. Sometimes a loud outcry turns out to be the voice of a very few people. But there is a sad note to this story. VC tunnels frequently are so long and have so many curves and exits that the tear gas isn't effective. For one thing, it does not persist long enough. Many VC escape. Other nonlethal gases are available — gases, for example, which make people laugh and not care what's going on. Some of these might be more suitable for Vietnam's tunnels. Thus far, the men who make the decisions have been afraid to use these other gases for fear of a renewed worldwide outcry.

The fire department in Paris, France, was founded in 1811 by Napoleon I, who iridled it on a military unit of battalion size with 576 men responsible for the safety of 65,000 Parisians. It was headed by a colonel. It has now grown to regimental size with a strength of 5,421 firemen who look after the fire protection needs of more than 6 million persons and their property in the metropolitan Paris area. With the increase in size and responsibilities, the title of the fire chief has been changed from colonel to general. Allergy May Be Factor In Some Migraine Cases
Q — What is scintillating scotoma?
A — This is the technical term for the shimmering zig-zag interference with your vision that lasts about 45 minutes and ushers in an attack of migraine.

Q — Does allergy cause migraine headaches?
A — In some persons allergy appears to be a causative factor. When the offending allergen—usually a food—can be discovered and avoided these persons have no more attacks.

Q — My doctor says I have migraine. Pain pills don't help. What can I do to prevent these attacks?
A — Methysergide (Sansert) has proved successful in the prevention of migraine. It must be taken under medical supervision.

Q — I have had migraine headaches since I was about nine. Will I ever outgrow them?
A — In most persons the attacks grow less frequent and less severe after 50. They may then even disappear completely.

Q — Our son has had some fatty tumors under his skin removed. Could exposure to X-rays or too much fat in his diet cause them?
A — There is no evidence that these tumors are caused by diet, X-ray or anything else except a developmental abnormality.

Q — I have had a painless lump on my back for five years. It is soft and about the size of an olive. Could this be cancer? What treatment would you advise?
A — Since the lump is soft it is not cancerous. It could be a lipoma (fatty tumor) or a wen. If it bothers you it can be removed surgically. Otherwise leave it alone.

Q — My doctor says I have aldosteronism. What is this? Is there any cure?
A — Aldosteronism is a hormone secreted by the adrenals. It plays an important part in your adjustment to warm weather since it regulates the salt and water balance in your body. Aldosteronism occurs when the adrenals produce more of the hormone than you need. The usual cause is a nonmalignant adrenal tumor.

Many persons, formerly diagnosed as having a high blood pressure for which there was no cause, have been found to be cured by removal of the tumor. There is no other treatment for aldosteronism and the operation may save your

U.N. AGAIN IN SESSION

The United Nation General Assembly has met again in New York City in a session scheduled to last until December 19. The delegates from the 122 member-nations will talk—and talk and talk—about various problems facing the world, and much of the talk will be directed against the United States. It is not to be expected that anything effective will or can be done by the UN to solve the problems.

All this could have been said about almost any past session of the UN General Assembly. But there is one unusual feature this year. A representative of a communist country—Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu of Rumania—is president of the Assembly for the first time, and with U.S. support. This development provides additional evidence, as if any were needed, that the UN will do nothing to combat international communism, the one great threat to peace in the world today.

The plain truth is that the UN has to be ineffective. The 122 nations have one vote each in the General Assembly. The Maldives Islands, with a population of only about 100,000 has the same voting power as the United States. Most of the small new nations have no concept of individual freedom and governmental freedom as we know them in this country. They are pulled this way and that by all sorts of considerations ranging from emotional appeals against "colonialism" to hardy concealed vote buying. The UN has come to seem an unreal institution. But its use as a sounding board for the enemies of freedom is very real.

Sun Oil Spends $45 Million On Venezuela Site

CARACAS, Venezuela—Two plants will be constructed at a cost of approximately $45 million to utilize gas produced in the center of Lake Maracaibo, with Venezuelan Sun Oil Co. as operator for itself and associates.

Construction is expected to start in September, and to be completed by January, 1969. One will be a gas compression and extraction plant located in the Lake, handling 150 million cubic feet of gas per day. The other will be a natural gas liquids fractionating plant located on the western shore, with a capacity of 26,000 barrels per day.

The Sun in the Lake plant will be associated with Venezuelan Sun in the Lake plant will be its associates in Block 1, Venezuelan Atlantic Refining Co., Texaco Seaboard, Inc. and the concessionaire for Group 75, Texaco Maracaibo Inc.

Venezuelan Sun Oil Co., Texaco Seaboard, and Texaco Maracaibo will be joined in ownership of the shore plant by the Phillips Petroleum Co. and Compania Shell de Venezuela. Appointment of H. Douglas Coe as manager of the gas utilization program for Venezuelan Sun, has been announced by J. B. Turner of Caracas, vice-president and general manager. Mr. Coe was assistant director, Natural Gas Adm., in Sun Oil Co.'s Production Dept. at Philadelphia, Pa., prior to his move to Caracas.

It is estimated that the lake processing plant will permit 75 per cent utilization and conservation of the natural gas currently produced in the Block 1 and Group 75 concessions upon completion of the plant and will permit 100 per cent utilization of natural gas to be produced in these two concessions by 1976. The fractionating plant will be located about 11 miles south of the City of Maracaibo and adjacent to the Bajó Grande Refinery of Chevron de Venezuela. It will receive de-ethanized liquids through an eight-inch pipeline about 41 miles in length from the Venezuelan Sun Group's plant in Block 1 and the Phillips Group's Lamar Extraction Facilities in Lot 17 of the Lake. It will produce propane, mixed butanes and natural gasoline.

H. Douglas Coe was born in Devol, Okla., Sept. 19, 1924, and attended Kilgore Junior College in Texas prior to nearly four years of service as a Navy pilot during World War II. Mustered out as an ensign late in 1946, he then attended the University of Texas and received a degree in chemical engineering in 1950.

Foreign News Commentary

By LEON DANIEL

TOKYO (UPI)—It is unconstitutional for Japan to wage war but there is nothing in the constitution to keep it from making a tidy bundle on the war in Vietnam.

It is one of the ironies of history that the United States, which gave Japan its constitution, is now under sharp attack by many Japanese for American participation in a war that puts $200 million a year into the Japanese economy.

Markets opened to Japan by American industry's diversion to war production account for an estimated $750 million advantage in Japan's balance of payments.

$55 Million In Aid
Since the fighting began, Japan's total economic assistance to South Vietnam has been only about $55 million, most of which was used to build a dam. Other contributions include a six-man medical team, 25 ambulances, some medical supplies and transistor radios.

The United States wants Japan to do more and is encouraged by recent actions of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato which seem to be putting him in a position technically neutral but more sympathetic to the American position.

Military aid, prohibited by the constitution, is out of the question. A lot of the opposition to the war in Japan is spearheaded by the giant Japanese labor federation (Sohyo), whose members along with other workers, this year pocketed record high summer wage bonuses. They are winning record wage contracts.

When a rumor of a Vietnam peace proposal flashed through Tokyo earlier this year, stock prices tumbled 15-20 points in a half day.

Jolt To Economy
In the meantime, Japan continues to turn out at a profit sand bags, barbed wire and uniforms for a war it cannot constitutionally fight, a war its government does not ideologically support.

About History Of Gray County

By Tracy D. Cary, Chairman Gray County Historical Survey Committee

Members of the Gray County Historical Survey Committee and the Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society have received an invitation to attend the celebration of Follett's historical days which will begin Saturday at 10 a.m. with a spectacular parade followed by an old-fashioned barbecue at noon.

An historical pageant will be held in the High School Gymnasium during the afternoon and old timers will be exchanging memories of Lipscomb County in the good old days.

Throughout the day copies of Follett's history containing some 212 pages of data on early day families, schools, churches, and organizations will be on sale.

Mrs. Ouida Hoepfner, a teacher at Pampa High School and daughter of pioneer Follettonians Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Laubhan, has shared her copy of "Pioneer of the Prairie" with us and we have spent many hours engrossed in the superb photographs of sod homes, cattle drives, blizzards and tornadoes, transports from buggy to T-model Fords, and family portraits. Many of the pioneer families of Follett descend from the Volga River German colonists who migrated from the old country settling first in Lehigh Kansas or Shattuck, Okla. and then on to Follett. Their story is a fascinating chapter in the settlement of the Panhandle. Copies of the book may be obtained through Mrs. Russell Siner, Follett. (Mrs. Siner is Mrs. Hoepfner's sister).

Forty-five members and guests of the Pampa Genealogical and Historical Society heard the story of Pampa's first three churches reviewed last Monday evening by a panel of three speakers which included Mrs. Malcolm Denson presenting the history of the First Methodist Church, Miss Eldise Lane giving the First Baptist story and Mrs. George Ingram relating the organization of the First Christian Church.

Among special guests of honor were Lee Harrah, only living charter member of the First Methodist Church, and Dr. and Mrs. Dewitt Seago, the church's present pastor and wife.

Relatives of charter members of the Christian Church included Mrs. Helen Sprinkle, daughter of Mrs. Leonal Meers, and Mrs. Lavera Lewis a niece, Mrs. Roy Moore, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Masters also attended with Mr. Moore. (as far as can be determined C.W. Masters was also Pampa's first photographer, and his shop was where Penney's Department Store stands today.) Other visitors included Mr. and Mrs. David Harstrom new faculty member in the history department of Pampa High School, Mrs. George Walstad, Mrs. C. E. Axelsson, Mrs. J. A. Knox, Mrs. Chester Williams, Mrs. H. H. Kessinger, Mrs. George Hutto, Mrs. Mabel Winter, Mrs. Myrtice McDaniel, Mrs. C. L. McKinney, Mrs. Pearl Ferguson, Mrs. Rosa Bearden, Mrs. Grace Bunting, Mrs. Bessie Dezer, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Radcliffe, Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Hilton, Jack C. Skelly Jr., C. C. Dodd, Quentin D. Davis of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Dorothy Dodd Peacock of Burbank, Calif.

Britain Convinced That Anglo-US Happiness Ending

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI)—Britain, irked by recent American go-it-alone moves, is increasingly convinced that the last remnants of the so-called Anglo-American "special relationships" are fading fast. British press commentators have been sadly registering what they term "the end of the special relationship"—the political and emotional alignment that grew up between the two nations and solidified during and after World War II.

"The truth is, the special relationship no longer exists," commentators argued. "The honeymoon is over and done with."

The latest phase in the chapter of British weariness over the alignment with the United States was spotlighted by Washington's recent decision to establish an anti-ballistic missile system.

Nobody in Washington told the British about it in advance. The move followed the U.S.

Congressional amendment a week ago that prevents Britain from bidding for contracts to build vessels for the U.S. Navy. Labkr Party leaders consequently felt let down by Washington and cold-shoulder despite the fact that Prime Minister Harold Wilson has been risking popularity by endorsing American policy in Vietnam.

Also, the United States wanted Britain to retain a military posture in the Far East, at least for some time to come. But Wilson would not, and much to the resentment of the U.S. administration, announced plans to bring home troops from Asia.

With Britain looking increasingly to Europe, the basis for a continued special Anglo-American relation—or what is left of it—is being further eroded. Adv for PM's Thurs Sept 28

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI)—E.F. Hutton & Co. notes a weakness in some of the technical market indicators, suggesting that another consolidation phase is near. The company says that until some of the weakness disappears, it would follow a less aggressive approach toward the market while building up buying reserves.

Wright Advisory reports says that since 1929 no major price decline has started in the final quarter of the year. It sees no exception this year and recommends selective profit-taking.

Plainview Host to Harvesters Tonight

By RON CROSS

PLAINVIEW — Since this series started in 1944 Pampa has had better luck against the Bulldogs than any team in District 3-4A.

The Harvesters hope that holds true tonight when they shoot for their first victory of the season in four outings and second in a row over Plainview.

Last year in this non-conference tilt the Pampans ran to a 24-20 victory but had their troubles.

Plainview hadn't scored in three games when they came to Pampa last season.

Things have been different for the Bulldogs this season, however. They sport a fancy 2-1 record, having lost only to Midland and crushed Tulia 36-12 last week, falling behind 12-0.

Pampa has won 11 of the 19 games played between the two clubs since 1944 but the Harvesters don't have near the experience nor speed the Bulldogs possess this year.

Coach Don Williams will have either a letterman or starter at every position plus three lettermen on a strong bench.

He also has one of the better quarterbacks in the District in Tommy McBee, a 160-pound senior who ran the Harvesters crazy last year along with Joe Don Martin, a 165-pound halfback.

McBee scored on touchdown runs of 78 and two yards against Pampa last year, the 78-yarder a kickoff return, to just give you an example of his speed.

Martin, who is supposed to be the fastest of the Bulldogs ran a 14-yarder across for a score in 1966.

Plainview will average 180-pounds per man in the line, called the quickest in the District, and 165 pounds per man in one of the fastest backfields the Harvesters will face this season.

The only two players who did not letter nor start last season are Jim Haney, 170 pound end and Larry McCutcheon, 180 pound fullback.

Bill Cunningham, 210-pound tackle, who started last season and Mike Rushing, 190 pound guard, who also started in 1966 anchor the Dogs line.

McBee, who usually hits 50 per cent of his passes, likes to throw and his favorite receiver is David McGowen, a 160-pound end.

Pampa, meanwhile, has been struck a sad blow by graduation and injuries have just about cleaned out what might have been a fair season.

Still out nursing tender ankles is quarterback Steve Summers, he with the good passing arm, and Dickie Henley, one of the fastest Harvesters at halfback, who was used primarily on defense.

Last week though, it was cars, not football practice that took out two more Harvesters. Extra point kicker and back up fullback Hal Clabaugh and center Steve Heath were injured in separate car accidents and lost for this week at least.

The only change that coach Eural Ramsey has made for this week will see halfback Gary Parrish returning to his starting role after playing his best game of the season last week.

Tech Eyeing Longhorns

By United Press International

Ambitious Texas Tech, fresh from a 52-0 rout of Iowa State, makes a big pitch for its place in the Southwest Conference on Saturday night at Austin against the Texas Longhorns.

Like the last invasion under similar circumstances, Tech moved into Austin two years ago after having walloped Kansas 26-7 in a game in which they didn't even play the final quarter because of a tornado warning and severe thunderstorms. That start on the heels of a 6-3-1 previous season had optimism at a high pitch.

Spotlight Attraction

Texas, as it has in 37 of its 52 conference openers, blunted those hopes with a 33-7 romp over the Raiders. Tech has never beaten Texas in its seven years in the league and has won only one of 16 games against the Longhorns.

Naturally, the Texas-Tech game is the spotlight attraction on a short league schedule that finds Baylor and Southern Methodist idle and the other four teams engaged in inter-sectional battles.

Arkansas hosts Tulsa at Fayetteville and Texas Christian visits Georgia Tech in the two daylight games, while Texas A&M is at Baton Rouge against Louisiana State and Rice at home to Navy in night games. Texas will be an 11-point favorite over Tech despite Tech's success last week while the Longhorns were dropping a 17-13 opener to Southern California and the inter-sectional games may not offer much improvement over last week when SWC teams lost seven of eight to outsiders.

Georgia Tech is favored by 14 points over TCU, LSU by 3 over the Aggies and Rice by 1 over Navy. The odds-makers shied away from the Arkansas-Tulsa game because Tulsa has not yet played a down this fall.

The Texas-Tech game may develop into a battle of quarterbacks between the Longhorns' Bill Bradley and Tech's John Scovell.

PHS in Upset, So. Cal. to Fall?

By RON CROSS

How about last week's 10-4 record? We gave you the St. Louis Cardinal upset over Pittsburgh and just missed the expected Texas win over So. California that didn't happen.

Ready for more, here they are.
PAMPA 14, PLAINVIEW 8 — What's this you say Pampa will score twice in one game. Just playing a hunch here.

AMARILLO 32, DUMAS 8 — The Sandies are the best in District 3-4A next to Coronado and any good 3-4A team should beat a AAA club no matter how good it is.

LUBBOCK 7, EP BURGESS 6 — The Westerners should win their first game of the season here, playing on their home field.

MONTEREY 22, EP CORONADO 0 — The Plainsmen seem to have found the winning formula once again but Coronado is weak.

WF RIDER 10, PALO DURO 8 — The Dons may pull the upset here. They have the defense and Rider can be scored on.

TASCOSA 16, SAN ANGELO 10 — This is an upset. San Angelo is favored but Tascosa finally found out how to win last week.

PERRYTON 21, CAPROCK 0 — This is a replay of the Pampa-Perryton game. The Longhorns are probably weaker than the Harvesters.

CORONADO 36, BORGER 20 — The Bulldogs will be hurting a little after their loss to Tascosa last week and Coronado is big, strong and good.

MIAMI 32, PATTON SPRINGS 30 — The Warriors get the district opener off to a good start.

SILVERTON 22, LEFORS 16

—Silverton is in Class A and undefeated but the Pirates have been giving those class A clubs a battle.

CLARENDON 25, GROOM 16 — Groom is another Class B club that has given the A clubs plenty of trouble but Clarendon is too tough.

WELLINGTON 21, WHEELER 8 — The Mustangs will lose their first to an unbeaten Class AA club. Besides they are still without fullback Fred Goad.

WHITE DEER 35, McLEAN 0 — Now when is the last time you ever heard of White Deer losing two games in a row. Lonnie Lane looked pretty good as John Guinn's replacement last week.

CANADIAN 21, VEGA 0 — The Wildcats win their third in a row and pick up their third shutout in a row to become White Deer's chief rival in District 1-A.

A few tips:
MICHIGAN ST. 16, SO. CALIF. 8 — Look for the Spartans of Duffy Daugherty to knock off the mighty Trojans.

TEXAS TECH 14, TEXAS 7 — If the 'Horns can't run against Southern California then they can't against Tech. They aren't good enough to win the Southwest conference either.

DALLAS 35, LOS ANGELES 22 — The Cowboys defense still isn't working as good as it was last year but the offense is clicking.

Pennant Goes on Line For Tigers, White Sox

By United Press International

It will be win or else for the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox Friday night when they resume their battles for the American League pennant.

Both could still be very much in the race—the Tigers sharing first place with the Minnesota Twins and the White Sox one game behind—but both also could be mathematically eliminated.

The mathematical squeeze works like this:

The Tigers will start their two-night doubleheader with the California Angels in Detroit in the Twins. Two victories will put them in a first-place tie with the Twins at 91 victories and 69 losses each. A split will mean that the Tigers cannot win the pennant without a post-season playoff. And two losses will eliminate them outright.

The White Sox play the Washington Senators a single game at Chicago with the knowledge that they must win all three of their remaining games to tie for the pennant and that their next loss will eliminate them.

The key to the mathematical tangle produced by the most unusual pennant race in history is that either the Twins or crucial doubleheader against Boston Red Sox, playing each other in single games Saturday and Sunday, must finish the winner with a 22-11 mark. Both are right-handed fast ball pitchers.

The White Sox, whose hopes split their doubleheader with the Angels and will be able to win no more than 91 if they lose a Wednesday night doubleheader. The White Sox have won only 89 games with three to John play and so have reached the brink of extinction.

The Tigers, who have an 8-6 and a 2.55 earned run average.

Reapers Meet Canadian 11

Pampa Junior High ninth will meet Canadian at 10:30 a.m. Saturday on the High School practice field.

The Reapers had their Thursday game called off and managed to get the Saturday contest. Today Pampa Junior High seventh met Houston of Borger at Borger.

Wednesday started off the week bad for Pampa football teams and Thursday wasn't any brighter. Lee seventh lost Wednesday to Perryton and Thursday Lee eighth and ninth and Pampa Junior High eighth all lost.

Lee dropped their second game in as many outings to Panhandle, 22-13 after jumping to a 7-0 lead.

The Rebels weren't the same team in the second half as Panhandle moved the ball at will. Mike Pool got the Rebels on the scoreboard first as he dove in from two yards out with 1:43 left in the first period. Doug Thompson kicked the extra point to make it 7-0.

Panhandle came back with 34 seconds left in the half with full-back Ben Bentley capping a 54-yard march by going in from the five. The conversion attempt was no good and Lee held a 7-6 first half lead.

But Panhandle tallied twice in the third period with Bentley going 29-yards and Mike McKiernan going eight. Both runs for the conversion were good.

Lee went increased their lead to 13-6 when Doug Thompson passed 32 yards to Steve Scarborough with 6:43 left in the third period.

But then Panhandle cut loose for two straight scores.

Borger Austin scored in the game with four minutes left on a 15-yard play to down Lee eighth 6-0.

Borger Houston scored in the first and third periods and picked up three Pampa Junior High fumbles and intercepted three for a 14-0 victory.

Bucks Hosting McLean

By JEFF HOLLADAY

WHITE DEER - To lose a regular season game and have their defense scored on is considered a disaster here but to lose two in a row would be a MAJOR disaster.

The White Deer Bucks will try to keep that from happening tonight when they host Mc-Lean in a non-conference football game.

The Bucks were upset 10-8 last week by Claude and in the process lost their leading scorer and ground gainer, John Paul Gunn.

Gunn has been replaced by junior Lonnie Lane who tallied the only White Deer score last week.

The Bucks (2-1) will be meeting a team that is in the process of rebuilding this year and have apparently rebuilt their defense pretty good.

McLean is 1-2, having picked up their first victory of the season last week over Lefors.

The Tigers, until they met Lefors had not scored a touchdown, but they had given up just nine points. Lefors scored twice against them while McLean was scoring five times.

The Bucks themselves have been equally as tough defensively with the 10 points given up last week the only ones scored against them.

White Deer represents District 1-A and McLean plays in 2-A.

The last time these two clubs met was last season in a Bi-District clash won by White Deer.

Another top attraction for area football goers is being offered at Wellington, unbeaten in three starts and a member of District 2-AA.

The Bobcats play host to another unbeaten Wheeler (3-0) in a non-conference battle. This too will be a non-league contest.

The Mustangs of coach J. T. Hill face their first real test of the season and they must do it without the full-time services of last year's leading scorer and this year's leading scorer in the two games he's played, fullback Fred Good.

Good is still limited to extra point kicking thanks to a leg injury. He is expected back full-time next week.

This will be the fourth straight road appearance for the Mustangs who finally get one at home next week.

They have beaten Lefors, Groom and Class C Oklahoma, Erick.

Canadian, picked to maybe be the one to dethrone White Deer in 1-A plays their fourth straight Class B foe, in Vega.

The Wildcats have won two straight, after an opening game loss and have shutout their last two opponents.

Miami, playing in the eight-man wars this year opens 5-B conference action tonight in Patton Springs.

Lefors, who, along with Groom, has been practicing for the District 5-B race by playing Class A clubs, plays another, Silverton, at Lefors.

Silverton will put their unbeaten 3-0 mark up against the fast Pirates.

Groom also tackles another Class A foe in Clarendon, who lost to White Deer only 13-0 two weeks ago.
