Bankhead Cotton Bill Is Given Favorable Report; Up In House For Action

Measure Is Sharply Revised From Former Proposal; Is Backed By Administration

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 2. — The Bankhead compulsory cotton production control measure, aimed at reduction of the cotton surplus, was approved today by the house agriculture committee and laid before the house for consideration.

Sharply revised from the original proposal by the Bankhead brothers, representative and senator from Alabama, but carrying the stamp of administration approval, the emergency measure apparently is slated for favorable action at this session despite some opposition in both houses and senate to the compulsory principle involved.

Production for the cotton year 1934-35 is restricted to 10,000,000 bales, but that for the 1935-36 year is left to the secretary of agriculture to determine. The provisions of the measure, however, may be extended for a third year by presidential proclamation.

Although the measure is slated to aid the voluntary acreage reduction program already completed for this year by the farm administration, it provides a levy of fifty per cent of the value of cotton produced by farmers in excess of their quotas based on the pro rate average of the last five years' production.

Despite the announcement by Secretary Wallace that the farm administration had already signed up sufficient cotton farmers to reduce acreage sufficient to curtail about 4,500,000 bales of anticipated production, President Roosevelt asked congress in a special message for the Bankhead legislation for compulsory control.

A canvass of cotton growers was made by the agriculture department and about 95 per cent of these answering a questionnaire approved the compulsory plan.

The senate agriculture committee previously reported the bill by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) calling for a limitation of 9,500,000 bales for the coming cotton year and a 12-cent a pound levy on all that produced in excess of the quotas.

However, the identical measure sponsored by Representative Bankhead (D-Ala.) was changed in many respects by the house agriculture committee before approving it today.

Unemployed Bonham Tailor Is Being Held After His Wife And Mother-In-Law Are Shot To Death In Dallas

"I Simply Couldn't Live Without Them," Man Relates To Police; Wanted A Suit For Divorce Stopped

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 2. — Giles S. (Jack) Boggess, 43, unemployed tailor of Bonham, admitted to officers here in a signed statement tonight that he shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Gladys Boggess, 39, because she would not drop a divorce suit and come back to him, and killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Julia Woodard, 76, when she advanced on him with a stick of wood.

The shooting occurred at the home of Mrs. Boggess' sister, Mrs. W. H. Fortson, where Mrs. Boggess, her mother and two-year-old daughter, Martha Julia, had been living since Mrs. Boggess and her husband separated at Bonham about a month ago.

Accompanied By Son

Boggess, in a signed statement to officers made in the presence of newsmen, said his son, Earl, 19, and a friend, accompanied him to the Fortson home and that after the shooting, he told them to drive to Bonham with his baby daughter, Martha Julia, and leave her at the home of his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Boggess. He said his father was a justice of the peace at Bonham. Boggess said Earl let him out of the automobile in downtown Dallas and he went on the street car to the home of a nephew, A. J. Lacy, while the two boys and the child drove on to Bonham.

In his statement, Boggess said he came to Dallas today to see his wife and plead with her to drop a divorce suit, set for hearing in the district court here next Monday.

Asked Her To Come Back

"I asked her to come back to me, for the sake of the child," he said, "but she refused."

Mrs. Boggess, who was working as a stenographer for a tire concern, had come home early from work to see him.

Boggess said that as she told him she would not come back to him, Mrs. Boggess was standing before

Victim Points Out Strewl As One Kidnaper

"You're A Liar," Ex-Convict Shouts As Young O'Connell Declares He Was Implicated In Abduction Plot

(By The Associated Press)

ALBANY, N. Y., Marhc 2.—Lieut. John J. O'Connell, young scion of a politically powerful family, leveled an accusing finger at Manny Strewl today and told a jury "that man right there" was one of his kidnapers.

"You're a liar" — the nattily dressed ex-convict leaped to his feet—"I saved your life and you know it."

Tells Of Abduction

The young national guardsman told of his 22-day abduction last July—the first full story of his sensational kidnaping.

He told of being handcuffed to a bed while his uncles, Ed and Dan O'Connell, moved every police agency and finally paid $50,000 for his release. Strewl was the intermediary who paid the ransom.

District Attorney John T. Delaney asked young O'Donnell to describe the visitors to his room, which O'Connell believed was near New York City.

Saw Several Men

"I could see under the edges of my blindfold," the witness said.

"I saw several men. One was dark and stocky—an American. One was six feet tall and had a gruff voice. They were my guards."

"Weren't there any others?" Delaney asked.

"Yes sir, a man came in and said I would need a go-between. It was that man there."

Fixes Eyes On Strewl

O'Connell fixed his cool blue eyes on Strewl—the first time he had even cast a look in his direction. Strewl, who had been sitting with knees crossed, idly swinging one leg, stiffened and glared back.

Delaney started to go on with his questioning. Strewl's face went white.

"Why you——. You're a liar. I saved your life and you know it."

FDR Seeks To Change Tariff Policy Of U. S.

President Asks Congress To Grant Him Authority To Put Into Effect New Plans To Reestablish Trade

Battle Is Looming

Reciprocal Rate Reduction Agreements With Other Powers To Be Sought; Action Believed Necessary

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 2.—President Roosevelt asked congress today to grant him authority to put into effect a new tariff policy by which he would endeavor to reestablish America's foreign trade through reciprocal rate reduction agreements with foreign powers.

The executive message and the immediate introduction by Democratic leaders of legislation to give him the requested power brought the first major cleavage between the two parties since Mr. Roosevelt entered the White House and stirred predictions of a long struggle over the historic issue.

Hopes For Gains

"From the policy of reciprocal negotiation which is in prospect," the president said in his message, "I hope in time that definite gains will result to American agriculture and industry."

The senate was not in session, but even before the bill was introduced in the house, where it must be considered first, Republican chieftains denounced it as an unprecedented delegation of power and predicted it would provoke such a lengthy debate as to make an early adjournment impossible.

Democrats replied that the legislation was in keeping with the party's platform pledge and was necessary to cope with what other nations were doing.

Extended Indefinitely

Under the bill introduced, leaders said the agreements might be extended indefinitely if the parties desired. However, the agreements could be terminated at the end of three years, or earlier, upon due notice by the governments wishing to end them.

The bill would repeal the Republican formula, commonly known

Dr. Wynekoop Collapses As Story Is Told

Woman Denies Any Knowledge Of Gruesome Murder In Her Home; Stoical Reserve Is Swept Away Once

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 2.—Self possessed except for one emotional collapse, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop today denied from the witness stand any knowledge of the gruesome "operating room murder."

"I neither shot nor chloroformed Rheta," she testified.

How her daughter-in-law Rheta met her death in Dr. Wynekoop's surgery was as much of a mystery to her as anyone, she insisted.

Reserve Swept Away

Her collapse came as she described how she found the girl's body. Then her stoical reserve was swept away, her colorless lips trembled as the 63-year old physician sought to speak, her ashen face was contorted and she gasped for breath.

Tears welled in her eyes and after a struggle during which the crowd of spectators held its breath as one person, she said:

"Her face was a peculiar color. It indicated death."

Says Statement Untrue

A half dozen times the defendant declared that the "confession" was the brainchild of police interrogators.

She resisted making the statement, she said, telling the authorities:

"I can't do it because I didn't do it."

The assistant state's attorney asked her, she said, "couldn't you say you gave Rheta an anaesthetic to perform a minor operation?"

She told him Rheta "didn't need an operation and I never gave an anaesthetic alone in my life."

"They told me," she said, "that the worst I'd be guilty of, if I made

Fate Of Legal Sale Of Beer In Lubbock County Is To Be Decided; Polls Open 8 A. M.

Record Number Of Persons Qualified For Vote; Dry Leader Expects Victory While Wets Predict 1,000 Majority As Polls Close; Brew Outlawed Here In First Election

BOTH wets and drys anticipate a victory in today's Lubbock county beer election. More than 9,000 persons—a record number—are qualified to vote.

Polls in the county's 33 precincts will be opened at 8 a. m. Whether sale of 3.2 beer shall be legal here will have been determined when voting places are closed at 7 p. m.

"I think if the people go out and vote the county will be dry," George R. Bean, chairman of Lubbock county prohibition forces said. "If it's a large vote I won't feel any uneasiness."

"We figure about a thousand majority for the wets," said C. C. Triplett, a leader in the campaign for beer.

Vote of Lubbock residents will be cast in seven boxes. Poll tax receipts usually show precinct numbers. City polls will be situated as follows:

Here Are City Boxes

No. 1, southwest corner of first floor of courthouse; No. 2, southeast corner of first floor of courthouse; No. 3, northeast corner of courthouse; No. 4, northwest corner of courthouse. No. 27, Dupree school, 1920 Avenue T; No. 28, Lubbock Lumber company, Fourth street and Avenue Q. No. 33, Junior High school, Fifteenth street and Avenue T.

A record vote for this county is possible, but number of absentee votes did not indicate unusual interest in the election. Only 25 persons — about two-thirds of whom said they were drys—cast absentee votes.

Forecasts Are Varied

Some observers pointed to the unprecedented number of poll tax payments—8,167 — as indicative of a record vote Saturday. Others, considering the absentee vote and an apparent calm between opposing factions, forecast a relatively light vote. Many persons thought a margin of victory—for either side — would be slim. About 1,000 persons are eligible for exemptions.

The 1,000-vote majority Mr. Triplett forecast was based, he said, "on the fact that beer has been legal since Sept. 15. People have seen that beer from an economical standpoint has been a success and no harm has come from it."

Recalls Dry Victory

Mr. Bean recalled the dry majority in the August 26 election last year. He said he believed "a man wet then still is wet, and a man dry at that time still is dry."

He added that he was a Democrat, "and whatever the majority wants, I'll resign myself to it."

In the first beer election, the brew was outlawed by about 350 votes margin.

Beer Sold Openly

The amber beverage, however, soon made its appearance here. The 3.2 beer and, in lesser quantities, 3.2 wine have been sold openly here the last several months.

A total of 3,716 poll tax receipts were issued in 1932 for use in the 1933 election a part of which was the vote on the beer.

Prior to this year's record-cracking total, the largest number of poll taxes paid was 7,600, in 1931 for use in 1932.

County Commissioners court on Feb. 12 called Saturday's election after petitions signed by more than 600 persons were presented.

An anti-beer rally was conducted here Monday night.

Federal Funds For Relief In Texas Offered

Continuation Of Relief Work Pending Sale Of Bonds Is Assured; $750,000 Advance Made To State

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 2. — The continuation of relief work in Texas pending sale of that state's "bread bonds" was assured late today, as Federal Administrator Harry L. Hopkins authorized an advance of $750,000 to the state.

The money will be used to tide the state over and was granted upon assurances to Hopkins that the bonds shortly would furnish a means of matching federal money.

Comes Just In Time

The grant came apparently just in time, as telegrams from worried officials in various parts of the state had been arriving daily to members of the Texas congresional delegation.

Only today, L. B. Denning, chairman of the Dallas county relief board, wired Senator Connally funds there were exhausted, and that food in the city commissary could hold out no more than a week, even though it was handed out in reduced rations.

Hopkins some time ago shut off Texas from further federal help in relief until it made arrangements to share the cost on a "50-50" basis.

The money will be available in Texas not later than Monday, it was said.

Europe Is Facing A Serious Crisis

Great Powers Still At Outs On Arms; Continue Fight

By FRANK H. KING
(Copyright, 1934, By Associated Press)

LONDON, March 2.—The opinion that Europe is face to face with the most serious disarmament crisis since Germany pulled up her stakes and left Geneva last October was expressed tonight in an authoritative British quarter.

The indication of the American state department that the United States was in complete accord with the British government's views on disarmament gave only a glimmer of hope in the situation, for London has known for some time that Washington supported the British arms proposals.

Europe Discouraging

No such encouragement, however, was evident on the European continent as a result of captain Anthony Eden's recent tour of the capitals.

The lord privy seal and arms experts returned home without tangible results and his critics labelled the trip a "talkie tour".

Norman H. Davis, American ambassador-at-large, who is in London en route to Stockholm, interpreted the American policy as one of waiting for European governments to settle their political differences and resume arms discussions.

"When disarmament is ready and if I am needed and wanted, I shall be there," he said.

Conference Is Held

Man Is Granted His Last Wish

DENVER, COLO., March 2. (AP)—Roman Engle, 64, a barber, was shaving Max Mannison today. They were discussing illness.

"When I die," said Engle, "I want to go just like that." He snapped his fingers.

He barely uttered the words when he collapsed beside the barber chair. He died in a hospital a few minutes later.

The coroner said it was a heart attack.

Hawes-Cutting Plan Revived

Modifications In Law To Be Made; Philippine Support Offered; Early Passage Is Seen By Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 2—Revival of the Hawes-Cutting law for Philippines independence with modifications was recommended to congress by President Roosevelt in a special message today, and, with Philippine support of the modified bill already assured, its early passage and acceptance in Manila was predicted.

From all sides came immediate expressions of gratification from those interested in the Philippine problem, and confidence that the compromise plan, suggested at the White House a month ago to pacify warring Philippine politicial elements, would be successful.

Modifications involve only relinquishment by the United States of military bases at the time of independence, and an ultimate settlement of the problem of naval bases. The president believes no other provisions need be changed but he expressed confidence that any imperfections or inequalities could be satisfactorily corrected in the future.

The modified bill was introduced in congress immediately.

Murder Case Of Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean In Jury's Hands

GREENWOOD, Miss., March 2. (AP)—A circuit court jury tonight at 8:50 o'clock received the murder case of Dr. Sarah Ruth Dean, 36-year old woman physician whom the state charged "killed" Dr. John Preston Kennedy, her surgeon associate, last summer by giving him a "farewell" drink of poison whisky.

The case was rested with the jury after ringing appeals of for conviction on the part of the prosecution and acquittal on the part of the defense as dramatic two day arguments were wound up.

Austro-German Peace Plans Are Thought To Be Imminent

VIENNA, March 2. (AP)—The announcement that the Austrian constitution has been superseded by a "natural law" and a report of imminent peace between Austria and Germany took Austrians by surprise today.

Vice Chancellor Emil Fey's newspaper published a dispatch from Rotterdam in which a Dutch correspondent said an Austro-German peace was close, and it was taken for granted the powerful Fey would not allow his paper to print the dispatch unless he was at least willing to spread the rumor.

Evans Is Chosen Texas Exes Head

Wm. H. Evans, local attorney, was elected president of the Lubbock Texas Exes association in the organization's annual March 2 banquet at Hotel Lubbock last night. Evans succeeds E. L. Klett who presided at last night's meeting.

Chas. Reynolds was named vice president; Miss Mary Hoyle Heatly was elected secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Wm. Dingus, Alcalde representative.

Approximately 45 attended the banquet.

Strains of "The Eyes of Texas" and echoes of "Yea, Texas" and other university songs and yells echoed throughout the ballroom as the former students recalled old times at the Austin school. Mr. Evans made a brief report on the athletic situation at the university.

The meeting became somewhat embroiled in a discussion on razing of the old Main building and a motion to oppose the action was voted down.

Native Foods Okay But Young Manchu King Prefers Good Old Ham And Eggs

(Copyright, 1934, By Associated Press)

HSINKING (Changchun), Manchukuo, March 2. — Shark's fins, octopus tentacles and lily roots may be all right for the average Manchu, but give Emperor Kang Teh ham and eggs any day.

Big banquets and rare native foods irk the youthful ruler who mounted the throne of the new Manchurian empire yesterday, amid traditional pomp and colorful ceremonies.

There is nothing he likes better than to sit down to a meal of such good old American delicacies as flapjacks, baked beans and apple pie.

Emperor Kang Teh is a great admirer of King George and plans to follow British court procedure, but in his eating and recreation, and in much of his daily living, he leans to things American.

The emperor's day is a busy one, as he gets Manchukuo's construction program underway.

He arose at sunrise today to chant a prayer to Buddah. His breakfast was a light one, consisting of rice, pickles, sweet cakes, and weak tea, prepared by trusted Manchu cooks under the ever-watchful eyes of members of his household.

This is, more or less a regular Manchukuoan morning meal. He doesn't always follow custom, however, and may, any morning, demand ham and eggs from his cooks who have served him for years. They are all used to his predilection for American foods.

Coke R. Stevenson To Seek A Second Term As Speaker

JUNCTION, March 2. (AP)—Coke R. Stevenson, who had been urged by innumerable supporters to run for governor, for attorney-general, for congress and for state senator, announced today that he would be a candidate for re-election as representative of the 86th legislative district. He also will seek a second term as speaker of the house of representatives in the 44th legislature.

Returning to his ranch on the south Llano river near here yesterday, Stevenson brought back with him from Austin a petition signed by 115 of the 150 members of the house pledging him their support should he seek the speakership again. If the Kimble county rancher-man is made speaker again, he will be the first representative to be accorded that distinction.

Appropriation Bill Approved

Total Of $61,818,553 Favored For Agriculture Department Next Year; Passed By House And Sent To Senate

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 2.—The agriculture department's 1935 appropriation bill totaling $61,818,553—less than a third of the amount it had for spending this year—was passed by the house and sent to the senate.

Despite added items such as $2,000,000 for grasshopper control in mid-western states and $1,500,000 more than the farm credit administration, slashes all down the line left the department with $138,290,538 less for next year than was appropriated for 1934.

Some representatives, however, contended even that was too much in view of permanent annual appropriations totaling $833,745,418, public works allotments and other moneys which will be available.

A total of $22,427 was added to the bill on the floor—$5,977 for advancing dry-land agriculture, bringing that allowance to $197,945; and $16,450 for enforcement of foreign plant quarantines, swelling that total to $552,996.

Damage Of $75,000 Caused As Flames Sweep In Hotel

HUNTSVILLE, March 2. (AP)—Curtis Morris, assistant general manager, had just completed an address on fire prevention today at the eighth anniversary "birthday party" of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce when the cry "fire" rang out in the convention hall in the dining room of the Keep hotel.

The delegates and visitors rushed to their rooms just in time to rescue their baggage and flee to safety before flames spread throughout the building. Origin of the fire, which caused damage estimated at $75,000, was not learned.

Remember A Year Ago Today? If You Got A Check Cashed You Were Lucky

THE man who cashed your check a year ago today did you a genuine favor.

Almost all Texas banks were closed, on order of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.

Lubbock banks closed March 2, 1933, for Texas Independence day holiday. On the eve of that day came the governor's order. Then followed inauguration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and a national bank holiday.

Dark days, those; but South Plains people, like other Americans, laughed and joked about the situation. Local banks reopened March 15, and more than $800,000 in deposits flowed in. Gain in deposits exceeded $430,000.

The same banks began 1934 with total deposits of almost $4,500,000, with greater total resources, and decreased loans.

Chilean City Is In Terror As Earth Shocks Continue

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 2. (AP)—The city of Valdivia in southern Chile was still in a state of terror tonight because of the continuance of earth shocks.

All last night the earth shock with continual tremors, and a strong earthquake was felt at six o'clock in the morning.

Two Caught And Auto Recovered

Two men were arrested and a stolen automobile recovered about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon in the 1200 block Avenue K by John L. Croft, police plainclothesman, after about five hours of investigation and surveillance.

The car a 1933 Chevrolet sedan was owned by C. N. Wilkinson and was stolen Monday at Longview, according to records of the National Automobile Theft bureau at Dallas. It was identified by motor number.

One of the two suspects said he was 38 years old and lived at a hotel in the 1300-block Broadway; the other that he was 26 years old and risided on Lubbock route 6.

Police, however, expressed an opinion the addresses and names given by the men were false. Attempts to identify the suspects, possibly through fingerprints, were to be made.

The suspects had attempted to sell or re-finance the car, police said they believed.

Heavy Damage Is Reported After Rain At Port Arthur

PORT ARTHUR, March 2. (AP) — Wind and rain for 48 hours had caused damage estimated at thousands of dollars in this corner of Texas today.

The two-day rainfall amounted to 5.59 inches here and a freak windstorm crushed in a 235-foot section of a shed at the Kansas City Southern loading docks and unroofed two other sections. Power poles were snapped off and small buildings were overturned.

Water damage put telephone cables out of commission in some sections of the city. Water ran over curbs in the business district and virtually flooded residential sectors.

Production Credit Heads Meet At Plainview Friday

PLAINVIEW, March 2. (AP)—Officers of ten production credit associations of the Panhandle and Plains of Texas met here today for a conference with officials of the Production Credit corporation and the federal land bank of Houston.

Tully Garner, president of the corporation at Houston, in charge of the program, said 49 associations had been formed since the first of the year.

Entertainments For Tech Folk Lead In Items For The Social Calendar

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

THIS wet weather has revealed some things not noticeable during the prolonged drouth? That hole in the sole of my shoe, for instance; the rotted raincoat in one family and the broken umbrella handle in another. There was the woman, too, whose legs ached from trying to walk on damp walks with rubber heels. It had been so long since she had attempted such a stunt.

THIS FOR A GARDEN

THERE is one Colorado town, at least, in which you would like to take up summer residence. We were talking to some people who had lived there last summer and raised a garden. Their water bill, for the three months of the summer, was $2.50. And they raised enough for consumption then and canning for the winter.

BEYOND UNDERSTANDING

GARNET REEVES has a philosophy that "people are such funny folks", which just about explains everything.

There is this matter of women who wonder why they are not invited to social occasions and are so disturbed over it all that they call the hostesses to make inquiries.

It must happen. We hear of it so often on this desk. Some woman to whom we call for a party report just can't have it in the paper "because the last time I entertained three women called to know why they were not invited." And that happens even when the entertainment is for a club.

The only explanation of such action is that folk are so funny.

There is a quaint old idea to which this column subscribes and it is that people entertain others because they like to have them about. The sequel to the idea is that one doesn't expect to be entertained under any other circumstances. So what could be gained, even if one had expected an invitation, in calling up the hostess to inquire about one that was not received.

If society becomes no more than a matter of paying obligations why should anyone indulge in such things at all, for what pleasure can there be in it?

Perhaps it is because I have not the ability to understand but I can't imagine a person thinking she should be asked to an affair if the hostess has not included her in the list. It seems to me that one should be flattered by invitations and consider them an indication that his presence contributed to the gathering. He should understand too, that other people are just as welcome there and that a person may on different occasions entertain many friends without including each one every time. And a hostess certainly should be granted the privilege of choosing her own guests.

Frankly, I do not want all of my friends to come to see me every time I entertain any of them. Neither does anyone else, I am sure. And if a friend hasn't the quality of understanding this he isn't worthy to be classed as a friend at all.

Women do call hostesses to tell them they feel slighted because they have not received invitations to particular parties and to remind the hostesses that they were guests in the caller's home. We have been told of these incidents so often that we can doubt them no longer.

But that doesn't make us understand them or the motives.

For what pleasure can there be in parties; what fellowship is there to enjoy people if society is no more than a matter of coldly paying obligations?

All entertaining here isn't subject to these calls and few of the people who regularly entertain and are entertained would think of making such a call. But it does happen occasionally and the only explanation seems to be that "people are such funny folks."

Camp Fire Girls To Foster Annual Sale Of Doughnuts

Camp Fire girls and guardians are conducting an annual sale of doughnuts today. Proceeds will go into a fund for sending new guardians to a state training school in Fort Worth on June 7 to 10. Guardians are sponsoring the sale of doughnuts and the Camp Fire girls are securing orders. Deliveries will be made today. An instructor at the Fort Worth school will be Miss Ruby Lattimore, a native of this section who resides in New York, it has been announced.

Marian Martin Pattern

A SLIP THAT FITS
PATTERN 9903

If you're tired of always having your slip straps slipping down over your arm, here's a pattern, that will solve your problem. It's designed with built-up shoulders, that can't budge from their place. It is planned to fit the figure perfectly. You can use this pattern to make slips to wear under your very sheer Spring and Summer dresses. In that case make them of the color of the dresses, so they will seem actually a part of them. The side pleats afford ample freedom.

Pattern 9903 may be ordered only in sizes, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, and 50. Size 36 requires 3 yards 39-inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, the style number and size of each pattern.

Price of new book, fifteen cents, book and pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Send your order to The Morning Avalanche Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

The latest type of autogiro, designed and built by Juan Cierva, has no wings and the diameter of the three-bladed rotor is correspondingly increased. In a recent test it took off after a run of only 10 yards.

Jesus' Testimony About Himself

★ ★ ★ ★

Text: Matt. 11: 2-12; 50

International Uniform Sunday School Lesson For March 4

By Wm. E. Gilroy, D. D., Editor Of The Congregationalist

WHAT did Jesus say concerning himself? It is instructive to note that when John the Baptist, who had been thrown into prison, sent his disciples to Jesus inquiring whether he was the Messiah whose coming John had predicted, and for whom he had prepared the way, Jesus did not answer by making great claims for himself, or by speaking in any theological and metaphysical terms, such as historic Christianity and the great creeds have used.

It was in accordance with the simple life and teaching of Jesus that he should point to the outward evidences and send the disciples back to John to report the things that they had heard and seen.

If Christians everywhere since the day when Jesus was on earth had interpreted the divine character of the Master and expressed their belief in him by emulating his example in loving thoughts and in good deeds, what a different world we should have and how much nearer the great organized forces of religion would have been to the realization of God's will!

It is not in theories concerning Jesus, but in the fact of the response to his life, that men recognize his divinity and find life in him.

IT is futile for us to speak in honor of our Master except as we honor him by following him and making our lives like his. It is as true today as it was in the day of Jesus himself that the spirit of Christ is manifest in acts and works of blessing.

Those who live in the spirit of Jesus cannot ignore the blind and the deaf and the lame, the sick and the sinful. No correctness of theory, no soundness of doctrine will make our lives speak forth the glory of God and the praise of Jesus unless our words of faith and profession are backed up by lives of love and usefulness toward our fellow men.

Here in human life was the testing ground of the divinity of our Master, and here in human life is the testing ground of all who would share that divine life with him.

How accurately Jesus describes the people of his own generation, their prejudices and insistences on unimportant things, and their carefulness and perverseness in the presence of truth! Is our generation very different?

Do not the great mass of our people still cavil, and complain, and enter into controversy over unimportant things, neglecting the soul of truth and the presence of the Master who still would lead us into lives and acts of love and goodness?

Wisdom still is justified by her children.

FROM this picture of Jesus and his own generation, how inspiring it is to turn to Jesus himself in the prayer of thankfulness to his Father and his simple appeal to all who would find in him

Estate Of Henry M. Halff Left To Widow And Children

DALLAS, March 2. (AP)—Henry M. Halff, former president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and rancher, who died Feb. 21 at his home near Dallas, left his estate to his widow and four children, according to the will and application for probate filed today.

Value of the estate, composed mostly of West Texas ranch lands, was not known.

Rosa Halff, the widow, was named sole executrix and the will stipulated that she would receive half of his separate property in addition to her half of the community estate.

NEWS BRIEFS

An unsigned advertisement in Thursday's Journal and Friday's Avalanche regarding poll tax exemptions on the beer election and urging a vote for beer was not placed by any member of the county tax collector's office but by proponents of legalization of beer. This explanation was made due to an erroneous belief that the county tax collector's office was responsible for the advertisement.

Johnnie Brooks, 36 - year - old negro, charged with possession of five pints of whisky on which federal revenue tax had not been paid, was released on $500 bond set by United States Commissioner Victor H. Lindsey yesterday. Brooks was arrested in 1300-block Avenue F Thursday night by police.

A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, explained the homestead colonization project to be located near Lubbock to members of the American Business club at the Hilton Friday.

The Eastern States circus, appearing in the Auditorium under auspices of Allen Bros. post of the American Legion here, will give two performances today. A matinee show will be presented at 2:15 p. m. and the second is scheduled for 8 p. m. A large crowd attended last night's show.

Mann Funeral Services Are Held At Seminole Yesterday

Funeral services for Mrs. J. R. Mann, 39, who died at 1 a. m. Friday in a sanitarium here, were conducted at 4 p. m. at Seminole. Rix Funeral home directed burial there. Mrs. Mann had lived at Seminole 28 years.

Survivors were:

The widower; four sons, Fred, Sam, Reuben, and Vernon Mann; Mrs. Mann's mother, Mrs. R. W. Baker, who lived with her, and three sisters, Mrs. Irene Ellis of Temple, Mrs. W. A. Morris of San Antonio, and Mrs. J. A. Pope of Dallas.

Mrs. Mann's mother and two sisters, Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Morris, were with her when death came.

PLAINVIEW WOMAN DIES

PLAINVIEW, (Special) — Funeral services were held here Sunday afternoon for Mrs. Sam Smith, 27, who died Saturday following an attack of pneumonia. Mrs. Smith is survived by her husband, two daughters, three sons, her mother, Mrs. S. R. Wood, two sisters and four brothers. She had resided here for six years.

If a fire starts around the engine, never lift the hood except as a last resort. The extinguisher fluid should be shot through the hood vents and the radiator.

Ross Edwards Leaves This Morning To Join Tech Expedition In Mexico

Ross Edwards, Lubbock merchant, will leave about 9 o'clock this morning to join Texas Technological college's expedition to the Yaqui sector of Sonora, Mexico.

The main party left Thursday morning. Mr. Edwards and Frank Maddox, jr., will meet the other members at Nogales, Ariz., at the Mexican border.

Mr. Edwards and Maddox will remain with the party only three of the six weeks it expects to be gone. A candidate for mayor of Lubbock, Mr. Edwards will return to resume his campaign for that office.

Members of the group leaving Thursday were Dr. W. C. Holden, Tech archeologist and head of the expedition; Dr. Carl Seltzer, Harvard university; W. G. McMillan, Bennie McWilliams, Dr. R. A. Studhalter, Dr. Chas. J. Wagner, and Chas. A. Guy, all of Lubbock.

Mr. Edwards said that Beard Rubber company had outfitted his automobile with U. S. tires for the trip. Sherrod Bros. Hardware company is sending a portable victrola by Mr. Edwards. The victrola will be given to "some friendly Yaqui family."

rest from their labors and the blessedness of bearing his yoke.

What a strange invitation it is that Jesus gives to men in his offer of rest through bearing the yoke; yet that is how rest really comes to men.

It is not in the shirking of responsibility, not in getting away from their fellow men, from life, that men find rest, but it is in the communion that brings to men the sense of a great peace and a new strength to bear their burdens.

That is what yokes are for, to make the burden lighter and more easily borne.

Answer To Beer Argument!

Who is the "Lubbock County Liberal Legion" that advises the citizens of Lubbock County on "true temperance?"

What record of achieving "true temperance" can this new and unknown temperance league point the people to? How much crime, poverty and disease has it helped prevent in Lubbock County? Is this new "Liberal Legion" sponsored by Churches, Sunday Schools, Boy and Girl Scouts, Parent-Teacher Association, Chamber of Commerce, Service Clubs, Women's Organizations, Schools and Colleges? Or is it sponsored by foreign brewers, malt manufacturers and others interested in taking out of Lubbock County Ten Dollars for every One Dollar left?

Bootleggers Are Still Operating

DETROIT, March 1. (AP) — Nearly three months after the repeal of prohibition, the administrator of the alcoholic beverage unit of the department of justice here believes the majority of the drinking public still is patronizing bootleggers.

Major W. L. Ray, who was head of the special investigation division of prohibition enforcement before repeal, said today he was convinced that "there are more stills in operation here since repeal, and their capacity is doubled what it used to be."

Clipped from Avalanche March 2, 1934

Not Denied Beer Increases Crime

Not one contention does the unknown "Liberal Legion" make that beer will not increase crime, poverty and disease wherever sold. It cannot deny the truth.

Police court records of Lubbock show drunkenness increased sixty per cent since beer "legalized" in neighboring counties. What will be the increase in crime in Lubbock if beer is legalized in Lubbock County?

The report from the County Judge of a West Texas County shows that drunken driving charges increased over 400 per cent after legal beer was voted in the County.

Be not deceived. Vote Saturday to maintain Lubbock's distinguished 40-year record of being one of the finest and cleanest counties in the State.

The subscribers to this advertisement and the forces they represent have no fear of the outcome of this election if Lubbock County's citizenship goes to the polls and votes. We appeal to fathers and mothers, young men and young women, everybody who is interested in the continued growth and fine development of this County, to go to the polls and vote. We appeal to you to vote!

Young Killer Gets Parole

Youth Who Admits Killing His Father Is Paroled In Care Of Uncle For Appearance Before Grand Jury

VERNON, March 2. (AP)—John Fluhman, jr., 14 who said he killed his father, John Fluhman, 38, to protect his mother and others of the family, was paroled today to an uncle, Robert Fluhman, for appearance before the Wilbarger county grand jury March 19.

At a court of inquiry conducted in the office of F. M. Taylor, justice of the peace, the family said the slain man often threatened them with death.

Mrs. Freda Fluhman, widow of the slain man, said her son shot after she had screamed for help. She said Fluhman had been drinking heavily during the day and threatened her with a pistol. She succeeded in getting the weapon away from him just before the son reentered the room and fired.

Johnnie and Verena Fluhman, 16, other children of the father and husband, corroborated the testimony.

Fluhman was shot and killed last night with a charge from a shotgun in the kitchen of his home, 12 miles southwest of Vernon.

Capitol Chatter From Austin

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 2. (AP)—Coke Stevenson speaker of the Texas house of representatives, continues to maintain silence concerning plans for his political future despite repeated urgings of friends that he announce his intentions.

The speaker recently was presented with a pair of riding boots and spurs at a house ceremony. It had been expected in some circles that Stevenson would take advantage of the occasion to make a definite statement. He has been mentioned both as a candidate for governor and for a second term as speaker.

Newspapermen who ordinarily pay only passing attention to a ceremony of this kind poised their pencils when Stevenson responded to the presentation address. It was soon apparent that he did not intend to disclose his ambitions, if any, just yet.

Instead, he delivered a brief talk on the continued manifestations of the good will of the house toward its presiding officer.

In presenting the gift, Rep. Bullock Hyder left an opening for Stevenson to say something of political importance. Hyder urged Stevenson to use the spurs to "dig in" and go places.

The boots and spurs completed the range outfit given Stevenson by the house at the close of the regular session.

If he accepted the outfit as a symbol to ride herd on the voters this summer he has not revealed such intention.

Subjects regarded as the most controversial sometimes do not arouse the interest predicted. Debate in the house on the bond and mortgage moratorium bills were expected to bring forth many acrimonious exchanges. Discussion of these proposals, however, was mild compared to that which marked debate on the recommendation of the appropriations committee to appropriate a reward for the capture of southwest desperadoes.

The debate was not without humor. One member suggested that mild-mannered Joe White, veteran sergeant-at-arms who has rounded up many absentee members of the legislature, be sent on a one-man hunt for the chief outlaw.

Smile Still Wreathes Presidential Face One Year After FDR Left For White House From Hyde Park Home

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2. (AP)—One year ago today Franklin D. Roosevelt, happy and confident, started from his Hyde Park, New York, home to assume the presidency and in that carefree way of his beckoned to the accompanying newspapermen to follow along on his history-making trail.

At the end of the first year the same smile wreathes the presidential face and perhaps even more confidence pervades his conduct.

More Informal Than Ever

If there has been any change, he is even more informal than ever. He has looked tired at times during the momentous days of this busy year, but his good health and his high spirits are the talk of those who come in close contact with him.

Mr. Roosevelt mixes work and fun. A few minutes after quitting his desk he can be heard laughing and frolicking in the nearby swimming pool in a "ducking" contest with Gus Gennerich, his bodyguard.

He is a great "kidder" and his secretaries, Louis Howe, Marvin H. McIntyre, "Steve" Early and Miss Marguerite Le Hand, are always on guard for a presidential joshing.

Is Careful Reader

He is a careful reader of the newspapers, particularly those of his home state and New York City. Mr. Roosevelt invariably lingers in bed to eat breakfast, skim through the morning papers and chat with his immediate associates.

Secretary Morgenthau, Postmaster General Farley, Lewis Douglas, director of the budget, Secretary Hull and his secretaries are among the most frequent of the early morning callers in the White House proper.

The president gets to his desk in the executive office for official business about 11 o'clock. He may begin his engagements for the day on time but he never keeps to schedule except when he has to catch a train or make a speech.

Eats At His Desk

Once in his office he goes right on through until 6 or 7 o'clock, invariably eating lunch from a tray on the desk, which he shares with whoever is the luncheon guest on the day.

Formal dinners are less frequent than usual. He doesn't like them. He doesn't like formal dress and it takes a lot of insistance sometimes by Mrs. Roosevelt to win this point.

Nights vary at the White House. There are occasional motion picture shows, as in the days of Presidents Coolidge and Hoover. There are almost always house guests, usually friends of the family.

Business sometimes is resumed at night conferences. He retires between 11 and 12 o'clock and usually reads before turning out the light.

Doesn't Worry

Mr. Roosevelt doesn't worry about speeches—doesn't seem to worry about anything—but he will put off writing a speech until the last possible moment. His addresses are rarely longer than 20 minutes and he has established a record in the brevity of his messages to congress—also a record in the number he has sent.

He dictates his own speeches and messages and rarely changes them once they are on paper, although he often interpolates as he reads them.

Mr. Roosevelt surprised newspapermen by establishing open press conferences, allowing a direct exchange of questions and answers. He seems to like the give and take of these examinations and here again "kidding" is mingled with the serious business of the hour.

It has been a busy year—the banking holiday, a special session of congress, abandonment of the gold standard, establishment of the NRA and the Agriculture Adjustment administration, the London economic conference and war debts negotiations, the establishment of a new monetary system and more.

The hearty laugh still echoes out of the presidential office, the proclamations, executive orders and messages are coming just as fast as ever, and smiles still cover the cares of the presidential aides as they leave the conference room at the White House.

IS THIS TOO GOOD FOR YOUR COUGH?

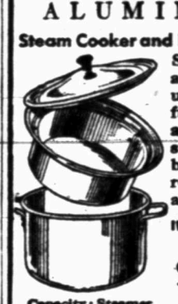

Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven major helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is made for quick relief, for safety.

Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist guarantees it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

Telephone Headquarters To Be Moved Into Brownwood

DALLAS, March 2. (AP)—D. T. Strickland, general manager of the Southwestern State Telephone company and the Southwest Telephone company, announced today that headquarters for both concerns would be moved to Brownwood, May 1.

The companies, conducting separate operations with identical executive staffs, were organized in Little Rock, Ark., five years ago and now own telephone systems in 190 towns of Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Strickland said the majority of the companies' holdings were in counties closer to Brownwood than to Dallas and it was decided to move nearer to that territory and centralize the headquarters office in a town where one company owned the telephone system.

How Cardui Helped Lady Get Stronger

"I was in a weak condition when I started to using Cardui," writes Mrs. Oscar West, of Dayton, Texas. "I found it helped me greatly. My appetite was poor and I had lost weight. It was an effort for me to do my work. I felt tired all the time. I read that other women took Cardui as a tonic, so I decided it would help me. It strengthened me and increased my appetite, and I felt better than I had in a long time. I think it is a great medicine for weak women."

Tech Fight Tournament Promises Thrills Today

Big Starting Field Is Cut To Champ List

Fans See Exciting Bouts Last Night In Preliminaries As Weaker Athletes Are Weeded Out; Winners On Tonight

With the preliminaries and the weaker contestants out of the way, Texas Tech's first Southwest intercollegiate boxing and wrestling tournament continues today with a double card packed full of potential thrills, spills, knockdowns and dragouts.

The day's events begin at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Tech gymnasium with semi-finals in all save a few wrestling divisions. Final and championship matches are scheduled for tonight in a program beginning at 8 o'clock.

A near-capacity house turned out last night to see preliminary contests in nine events and finals in the heavyweight division. Nearly all ringside seats were occupied, and the general admission stands practically filled. There was a large turnout of students as well as townspeople, who indicated by their cheers and applause that it was a highly entertaining series of battles.

Championships in the heavyweight boxing and wrestling were decided last night. In the final event of the evening, "White Hope" Katrola, towering tackle outpointed Crow, another footballer, both of Texas Tech, in a three-round bout.

Two Comedy Shorts

A comedy was supplied the big crowd in the heavyweight wrestling championship bout, huge "Holbert" Holcomb of Texas Tech sparring around in witty fashion with Ralph Teague, national amateur champion and member of the United States Olympic wrestling team, from Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers college for five minutes, before Teague finally decided to settle matters by smothering the Techster, who had had no previous wrestling experience, with a shoulder smother.

Previous comedy had been furnished by a middleweight from New Mexico Military institute, Pinchem, who did nothing but lie flat on his stomach and elude holds attempted by Steve England, another national champion from Southwestern Teachers, baffling the champion through the full eight minutes to save himself a fall.

In the fastest fall of the evening, Texas Tech's backfield ball carrier, Ted Wilson rushed Hanson, N. Mex. A. and M. to win in the 175-pound class with a smother in 17 seconds.

The boxing generally was fast and furious, typical of collegiate fighting, with two technical workouts flavoring the six-bout program. Andy Jones, powerfully built Texas Tech athlete, won a technical k. o. over Duncan of West Texas Teachers in the third round after winning the first two rounds in easy fashion. He will enter the final rounds this afternoon and tonight.

Results of Friday night's events:

Boxing

125 pounds—Heller of New Mexico Military institute, decisioned Grissom of Texas Tech, in three rounds.

125 pounds—Smith of West Texas Teachers won a technical knockout over Morris Alford of Texas Tech after one minute of the third round.

145 pounds—Ortiz of New Mexico A. and M. lost a decision to Luttrell of Texas Tech in three rounds.

155 pounds—Andy Jones won a technical knockout over Duncan of West Texas Teachers after 7 seconds of the third round.

Heavyweight championship bout—Katrola of Texas Tech decisioned Crow of Texas Tech in three rounds.

Wrestling

145 pounds—Stout of Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers threw Blackie White of Texas Tech in 2 minutes, 50 seconds with a headlock.

135 pounds—Boston of West Texas Teachers threw O'Donnell of New Mexico Military institute in 3 minutes, 30 seconds.

May Is Beaten

155 pounds—Cooper of Oklahoma A. and M. beat James May of Texas Tech with a time advantage of 3 minutes, 52 seconds.

165 pounds—England of Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers won a time advantage victory over Pinchem of New Mexico Military institute, 6 minutes, 5 seconds.

175 pounds—Ted Wilson of Texas Tech pinned Hanson of New Mexico A. and M. in 17 seconds with a smother.

Heavyweight championship match—Teague of Southwestern pinned Billy Holcomb of Texas Tech in 5 minutes.

Results of Friday afternoon, first round matches:

Wrestling:

115-pounds—Van Winkle of New Mexico Military institute defeated Paul Eubanks of Texas Tech with a time advantage of 1 minute, 9 seconds.

125 pounds—Gott of Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers threw Miller of Texas Tech in 3 minutes with a half nelson.

135 pounds—Ernie Stout of Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers won over Barnes of Oklahoma A. & M. in a fast, active full-time match with a 2 minutes, 56 seconds time advantage.

Three Tech Victories

135 pounds—Winton Watson of Texas Tech won by default.

145 pounds—Everett Williams of Texas Tech won over Wooten of West Texas Teachers, 1 minute, 22 seconds time advantage.

155 pounds—Ammons of Texas Tech pinned Jennings of West Texas Teachers with a quarter nelson in 6 minutes, 10 seconds.

155 pounds—Helmig of New Mexico Military institute threw Corley of New Mexico A. & M. college in 2 minutes, 20 seconds with a shoulder smother.

155 pounds—Dowdy of Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers pinned Pratt of McMurry college with a crotch hold and half nelson in 2 minutes, 10 seconds.

175 pounds—McCrary of Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers had an easy time with Strawn of Texas Tech, winning by a fall in 7 minutes after holding the advantage most of the way.

Boxing:

115 pounds—Stone of New Mexico A. & M. punched his way to a technical knockout over Bob Graham of Texas Tech, the match being stopped in the second round.

135 pounds—Fink of New Mexico Military institute knocked out Thornton of New Mexico A. & M. after 40 seconds of the third round.

145 pounds—Moore of West Texas Teachers took a bad beating from Crabbe of New Mexico Military institute in the first two rounds, then went down under a knockout blow for the count after 2 seconds of the third round. It was the first blow of the last round.

Local sport fans will have opportunity of seeing some of the Southwest's classiest fighters this afternoon and tonight at the Tech tournament. Julio Chiaramonte, knockout king of New Mexico, will meet John Prim of Texas Tech in the championship middleweight classic tonight.

The wrestling program for this afternoon:

Van Winkle, N. M. M. I., vs. Hanks, Southwestern Oklahoma, in championship match of 115-pound class.

Gott, Southwestern, vs. Brown, N. M. M. I., for 125-pound championship.

Ernie Stout, Southwestern, vs. Watkins, Tech.

Boston, West Texas Teachers, vs. Kitt, Southwestern.

Breath, N. M. M. I., vs. Foy Stout, Southwestern.

Dowdy, Southwestern, vs. Helmig, N. M. M. I.

Cooper, Oklahoma A. and M., vs. Ammons, Texas Tech.

Finals in wrestling will be conducted tonight, at which time finals in boxing also will be staged.

Tonight's boxing lineup:

Stone, New Mexico A. and M., vs. Parrish, N. M. M. I.

Heller, N. M. M. I., vs. Brown, West Texas Teachers.

Fink, N. M. M. I., vs. Smith, West Texas Teachers.

Luttrell, Texas Tech, vs. Crabbe, N. M. M. I.

Jones, Texas Tech, vs. Boys, N. M. M. I.

Prim, Texas Tech, vs. Chiaramonte, N. M. M. I.

Guthrie, Texas Tech, vs. Mitchell, Texas Tech.

Dempsey, Close Friend Of McGraw

One of the first to congratulate Jack Dempsey after the Manassa Mauler became the world's heavyweight boxing champion was John J. McGraw, who also was one of Jack's closest friends, and whose death the sports and business world now mourns. The above picture was snapped July 5, 1919, the day after Dempsey had won the title from Jess Willard and when McGraw was in his prime as manager of the New York Giants.

Dempsey, who was then starting the greatest boxing career the game has known, rose steadily until he lost the title to Gene Tunney in 1926. Still one of the greatest sporting figures in the world, Dempsey will appear in Lubbock Monday night, March 5, for the first time. In the role of referee for the national guard boxing show, he will attract the sporting public from all points of the South Plains.

Southwest Gives Up Another Grid Coach As Schmidt Goes

Conference Coaching Situation Further Muddled; Myer Is Seen As Possible Successor; Bell's Name Mentioned

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Staff Writer

FORT WORTH, March 2. (AP) — The Texas plains today reluctantly gave up another of its athletic coaches to the "big time."

This time, Francis A. Schmidt, wily director of the Texas Christian university football and basketball fates for the past five years, "graduates". He follows along behind Dana X. Bible, former Texas A. & M. mentor in the gradual exodus of Southwest conference coaches to better-recognized fields.

Schmidt's genius for manufacturing winning combinations will be directed at Ohio State university's football teams, while Bible, foxy master of gridiron tricks, continues to triumphantly hold forth at the University of Nebraska.

And still another to migrate to other parts is Jack Meagher, former Rice Institute coach, who signed as Auburn's athletic head this season.

Frogs Do Some Hopping

Schmidt's T. C. U. Horned Frogs hopped about in envious style for the new Ohio State coach during the five years he stayed at the Fort Worth institution.

Upon his arrival at T. C. U. in 1929 from Arkansas university, Schmidt set about the task of producing winners. His record shows two Southwest conference football championships and two basketball titles. The Froggies were always perched around the top of the percentage ladder.

In the five years Schmidt directed Purple football teams, they won 45 games, tied six and lost only five. His sparkling club of 1932—the conference kings—were considered for the annual Rose Bowl game. The massive forward wall that blasted holes for fleet backs that season has been acclaimed as perhaps the greatest in conference history.

The coaching line-up in the conference has been torn to shreds by "graduations," resignations and replacements.

Other Big Changes

At the present time it appears this way: Homer Norton, former Centenary college coach, at Texas A. & M., replacing Madison (Matty) Bell, recently appointed line coach at Southern Methodist university; Jack Chevigny, one-time Notre Dame star and St. Edward's university coach, at the University of Texas, replacing Clyde Littlefield, resigned, who reigns now only as track coach at the Longhorn school; Jimmy Kitts, former assistant coach and basketball mentor, at Rice institute, replacing Jack Meagher, now at Auburn.

Only three schools have their last year's coaches back for another campaign. They are Arkansas with Fred Thomsen, Baylor with Morley Jennings and Southern Methodist with Ray Morrison.

One of the most likely successors to Schmidt at T. C. U. is Leo (Dutch) Meyer, freshman coach at Frogland. His success with Pollywog teams has been phenomenal. Unverified whisperings have it that Matty Bell, although comfortably situated at Southern Methodist be approached.

ALLISON TO FINAL

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 2. (AP)—Wilmer Allison, Davis Cup veteran from Austin, Tex., and Lester Stoefen, big Californian, gained the final round of singles in the 15th annual Bermuda tennis championships today.

Allison swept Laird Watt, young Montreal star, from the courts, 10-8, 6-2. But Stoefen was hard pressed before he could eliminate the Atlanta "Bantam," Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, 3-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-0.

PAUL RUNYAN WINS

BELLEAIR, Fla., March 2. (AP) — Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., today won the West Coast open golf championship with four par-cracking rounds of 140-68-68—276.

Carnera Tired Of Small Pay; To Head South

Slim Cash Receipts Disgusts Champion And Manager Who Are To Tour South America; Loughran Gets $5,000

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

MIAMI, Fla., March 2. — In the wake of the biggest financial flop since heavyweight championship boxing was a fugitive sport, ponderous Primo Carnera decided definitely today to make a fistic tour of South American capitals in an attempt to shake off the jinx that has kept him in bankruptcy since he won the title from Jack Sharkey.

Despite the fact some progress was made here toward reconciling the conflicting interests seeking to match the hugh Italian in a title bout this June in New York with Max Baer, Carnera's manager, Louis Soresi, flatly declared negotiations for the Baer match would be dropped in favor of offers for matches in Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Rio De Janeiro and possibly Lima, Peru.

Willing To Fight

"We are tired of collecting chicken feed and then being given the run-around on the one match—with Baer—that will mean real money," declared Soresi. "Carnera is through dallying with Baer, who goes around talking as though he and not Primo is the champion. We will leave the end of March for Buenos Aires and hope to get a match there with Victorio Campollo. If the Madison Square Garden promoters — who have shown so far they do not know how to promote—can sign Baer, we will be willing, if necessary, to fly back to the United States."

Gross receipts today were revealed as only $44,598.70 for last night's 15-round championship bout in the Madison Square Garden stadium, where, between showers, Carnera bulled his way to a decisive victory on points, but yielded prestige, popularity and glory to gallant little Tommy Loughran, who made an amazingly courageous stand against insurmountable physical odds and never once was knocked from his feet by his 270-pound opponent.

There were only 8,624 actual cash customers in an aggregate crowd of probably 12,000. The net receipts, after deduction of the federal tax, totalled $39,361.60, a figure that marks the lowest ebb in heavyweight boxing since prize-fighting was conducted by outlaw methods.

Carnera's financial situation hardly was much improved by his share, 37 1-2 percent or about $15,000. The champion is already in bankruptcy and slated to appear in court in New York, March 12 in a further attempt to untangle his affairs. Loughran's end amounted to 12 1-2 per cent or $5,000.

The net loss to the promoters may reach $30,000, the upshot of which is a rivival of reports there will be a shake-up in the boxing organization of Madison Square Garden. The rumor has been circulated for some time that James J. Johnston, Garden matchmaker, will soon sever his connections but neither he nor Col. John Reed Kilpatrick, president of the corporation, would discuss the matter before leaving today for New York. Kilpatrick took a plane north.

Blaming Referee Leo Shea and Carnera's tactics for his failure to win the title, Loughran today declared confidence in his ability not only to beat the huge champion but stop him in a return match. The popular Philadelphian, however, is unlikely to get another crack at the Italian under any circumstances.

Razorbacks Beat Mustangs In Rough And Tumble Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., March 2. (AP)—In one of the roughest basketball games ever played here, the University of Arkansas Razorbacks tonight defeated the Southern Methodist university Mustangs, 38 to 35.

Two fouls by Wilhite, Mustang forward, robbed Southern Methodist of whatever chance they had of overcoming a one-point lead held by Arkansas in the closing minute of play.

Throughout the second half, they fought from behind, with Whitey Baccus, sensational Mustang guard, matching shots with Captain Travis Brasfield and Taft Moody, Arkansas' star forwards.

Baccus was high point man of the game with 17. Brasfield scored nine. Moody and Ike Poole, Arkansas centers, accounted for eight points apiece.

Schmidt To Coach Ohio State Team

Horned Frogs Lose Grid Mentor To Buckeye School

COLUMBUS, O., March 2. (AP)—A tall, bronzed, 200-pound Nebraskan, Francis A. Schmidt, today was appointed director of football at Ohio State university for the next three years.

The coach of Texas Christian university comes to the Buckeye school committed to a policy of versatile football. As the third Ohio State coach in the last 21 years, Schmidt broke all precedent in obtaining a three-year contract. Sam Willaman, who resigned a month ago, and Dr. J. W. Wilce, who quit five years ago to make way for Willaman, worked through 20 seasons under year-by-year contracts.

Lays His Plans

As he received word that the board of athletic control had unanimously approved his appointment, Schmidt said, "we'll adapt our game to our material. If we have big, husky boys, you bet your bottom dollar there'll be plenty of bone crushing football." He spoke with the drawl of his adopted state of Texas.

"But," continued Schmidt, "if we have an open field runner, we'll build our offense to shake him loose. And if they give me a passer, that guy will have a chance to use his throwing arm."

Schmidt's salary was not announced, but it is believed he will receive around $7,000 for the first year. Neither was anything said about assistants and Schmidt declared he had not given this angle much thought. His salary at Texas Christian has been $5,000.

He has no fear of Michigan, the stumbling block in the path of Willaman.

All Dress Alike

"They put their pants on one leg at a time, the same as we do," was the way he dismissed a question, "how about Michigan?"

Schmidt plans to leave for Fort Worth late tonight or tomorrow. Inasmuch as spring practice starts the first week in April, he said he expected to move to Columbus sometime within the next two or three weeks.

Mal Stevens Appointed Head Football Mentor At N. Y. U.

NEW YORK, March 2. (AP) — Dr. Marvin A. (Mal) Stevens of Yale fame was appointed head football coach at New York university tonight.

A member of Yale's coaching staff for ten years from 1924 through 1933 and head coach of the Elis from 1928 through 1932, Stevens will succeed Howard (Jake) Cann at N. Y. U. Cann resigned on February 1 under fire of undergraduate and alumni criticism after the Violets had won only two games, tied one and lost four last season. He retained his post as basketball coach, however.

INDOOR TRACK MEET

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 2. (AP) — The University of Missouri was the mecca of athletes from five states tonight on the eve of the thirteenth Big Six indoor track and field championships here tomorrow in which meet, world, and attendance records may be smashed.

COWBOYS BEAT PIRATES

ABILENE, March 2. (AP) — After getting off to a slow start tonight, the Simmons Cowboys pulled away in the second half to defeat Southwestern, 52 to 33. It was the season final for the Cowboys and the curtain game for five of Coach Les Cranfill's senior Cowboys.

CHILD IS INJURED

MATADOR, (Special) — Bobbie, young son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Harp, was severely injured when a galvanized tank fell against him as he was playing with a brother at the Harp home. Bobbie received a broken collar bone and possibly a fractured ear drum when the heavy tank pinned him against a fence.

Lamesa Tornadoes Win Twice To Lead Regional Tournament At Canyon; To Play Amarillo

Coach Gregg's Team Wins Over Hedley And Crowell In Two Games; Amarillo Loses To Crowell In First Tilt

CANYON, March 2. (AP)—A Golden Tornado from Lamesa blew in upon the Region 1 high school basketball tournament today and swept the honors in the first and second round of play in a four-team tournament.

As a result of yesterday's victories, Lamesa goes into the final round today the only undefeated team of the four, and a heavy favorite to triumph over Amarillo for the right to sail for the second consecutive time into the state race at Austin.

After the Amarillo Sandies had taken a surprising 17 to 24 beating from Crowell, Coach Gregg's Tornadoes turned loose on Hedley to win, 27 to 15.

Amarillo Beats Hedley

Amarillo turned around and found its winning form to defeat Hedley, 38 to 21, and eliminate the Owls from the race.

Lamesa stepped back on the court to score a 46 to 10 triumph over Crowell, the team which had defeated Amarillo in the opening game.

With Hedley out of it and Amarillo and Crowell having been defeated, the Tornadoes have only to beat the Sandies today to cinch the regional championship, a feat that seems in the sack for the high-flying Tornadoes.

Region 2 Semi-Finals At Abilene

Brownwood 30, Cottonwood (Callahan county) 21.

Colorado 31, San Angelo 25.

VINES BEATS PLAA

MONTREAL, March 2. (AP) — Trouncing Martin Plaa in straight sets, 10-8, 6-4, 6-3, Ellsworth Vines tonight clinched for the United States the team victory in the third Franco-American professional tennis series.

Vines and Big Bill Tilden previously had defeated Plaa and Henri Cochet at New York and Boston.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY···A COMMUNITY MOVEMENT.

Every One Should Go To Church Because.....

1. God gave us the church. He founded it. He said, "On this rock I will build my church". "I will build my church!" What a declaration! What an event! What a destiny-laden birth hour when Christ uttered that statement when He precipitated the movement of the church! We have other institutions—social, religious, domestic, political, educational, fraternal, benevolent—the church transcends them all.

2. The church bears more fruit than all other agencies of the community. How can you measure the fruits of the church? In what container will you compress its luscious fruits? With what measuring line will you determine its dimensions? On what scales will you weigh its worth? With what geometric line will you encompass its reach? With what figures will you compute its strength? With what gold or silver standard will you calculate its value? With what telescope will you behold its heights? With what microscope will you reveal its glories? On what powered radio station will you broadcast its influence for time and eternity? With what pen of gold will you record the effects of its evangelizations, regenerations, and reformations?

3. The church challenges the best there is within us. Its message awakens, arouses, prods, and probes us. But, "The hand that roused them was the hand that saved them." The church bears us upward toward the empyrean. Sparrows may twitter on the housetops; wrens may flit among the shrubbery; chimney sweeps may chatter in the sooty chimney; but the eagle soars skyward and is a playmate of the storms. With stalwart wings, he rises above the clouds and flies in company with the sun. What cares the eagle, as he bathes his wing in the transparent sunbeam—for the turmoil, the smoke, the clouds, or even the lightning that plays beneath him? His companionship is with the King of Day. So the church-going, heaven-bound soul, filled with the joys of the Holy Spirit, flies in company with God. He is challenged to his best.

Let's Decide The Issue!

THE voters of Lubbock county are again confronted with the question of the legalization of 3.2 beer at the polls today.

Sale of beer in the county was defeated in an election on August 26 last year when less than half of the electorate had poll taxes.

Today's balloting should be a fair test! Today's count should decide the issue and there should be no cause for additional elections on the question. For that reason, every person should go to the polls and vote his or her conviction on beer. Both wets and drys claimed last year that an "off-election" year prevented a fair balloting on repeal of the Eighteenth amendment in Texas. That was the reason for defeat of beer in Lubbock county, the wets said, while the drys contended that was the reason repeal and beer carried the state.

It is true that 3.2 beer has been sold in Lubbock in violation of the local option law since last August's election but evidently members of the county's law enforcement bodies and even members of the grand jury of the 72nd district court the past month saw fit to leave decision of the issue up to the people again, realizing probably the long drawn-out procedure and waste of county funds in trial of violators and respecting claims of both wets and drys that last year's election was not a fair test on the question.

Lubbock county now has approximately 9,200 votes, the largest in history.

Tonight's total from the various precincts should show as near that figure as possible.

This is a democratic country. Everyone must have an opinion concerning the sale of 3.2 beer and everyone eligible should express that opinion on the ballot. It is their inalienable right to offer that sentiment in the ballot box. Criticism from those who have a different idea is but chaff before the wind.

Your newspaper believes wets and drys alike, individually and collectively, should be content to rest their case with the voter today. However the total may go it should satisfy all concerned if, as the vast majority claim, they are Democrats and free men, believing in the right of the majority to rule.

The right of that majority must be expressed at the polls.

Vote as you choose!

But by all means, vote!

THE SEARCH FOR OIL

With oil, the world's present problem is not finding ways and means to get along with an inadequate supply. That is a problem for the distant future. The task at hand is one having to do with elimination of waste, prevention of overproduction, and conservation of the untapped reservoirs.

For many years men have tumbled over one another in their haste to discover, and to drain, the world's oil reservoirs. It mattered not whether there was immediate demand for the output. When production exceeded consumption huge tanks were built in which superfluous petroleum could be stored and the cost of building and maintaining these artificial reservoirs was added to the cost of oil.

Lately a new policy has been gaining ground. Why not permit the oil to remain underground secure in its natural reservoirs until such time as demand makes necessary its removal?

Though drilling and pumping should not be extended until consumption catches up with production, the world-wide search for new oil-bearing lands should not stop. That the search will go on is evidenced by the application of oil operators for the assignment of five short wave channels to them so they can use the radio in their research and exploration.

Despite the fact that the supply of oil seems to be inexhaustible, there is constant need for the discovery of new sources of supply, and if the radio is essential to the work of locating and charting those sources the request of the operators should be granted at least in part.

You'll notice, however, that the gold standard is threatened only during the world's crazy spells.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

LUKEWARM

"I would thou wert cold or hot."—Revelation 3:15.

A cause can grow only when people are sold on it or sold against it. The Christian religion grew in its early days because a few people believed in it and the great mass were opposed to it. The persecutions of the early Christians made the followers of the Lord more convinced. The most devastating attitude to any cause is indifference.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

IN private conversation house Democrats are voicing two deep thoughts. It's a result of recent parliamentary developments.

First they think Speaker Henry T. Rainey ought to spend a few days boning up on Roberts' Rules of Order.

Second they seem to be glad they have such a large majority.

Time after time of late the Republican minority has had a merry time at the expense of that huge group of gentlemen now crowded into the saddle. Only when bills bearing straight Administration labels are up for consideration is the majority leadership capable of a smooth job of legislation—and then only under strict gag rule.

On calendar days and the days when private bills come up the Republicans have put on a first-class gadfly act. They get their Democratic brethren all tangled up in snarls of legislative procedure, ruffle tempers and force premature adjournments to head off some similar piece of devilment.

Majority Leader Joe Byrns, of Tenn., has been doing a nice piece of shepherding. Unfortunately for the Democrats, demands upon him are so heavy he is frequently absent from the floor when some dominant hand is needed to crack the whip.

UNSUGARED: Quite a bit of vivisection is going to be committed on the sugar bill before it finally emerges from congress. All this no doubt is very discouraging to Secretary of Agriculture Wallace who saw the measure get off to such a flying start.

Designed originally to declare sugar a basic commodity and permit the Agriculture department to fix quotas based on any consecutive three-year period of production between 1925 and 1933, the measure is destined for radical changes.

Revision is in the cards to carry specific quotas or a more definite rule for their measure. Further it appears the President's suggestion of a 1,450,000-ton quota for domestic beets will be raised to about 1,750,000. This means the Cuban and Philippine Island quotas must be reduced in direct proportion.

MANIPULATION: Following the serpentine trail of Wall Street's financial big shots in their stock market and tax manipulations has proved to be a gigantic task.

Already the Pecora committee's record of testimony embraces more than 5,000,000 words. The Chase National situation alone has covered 1,800 pages to date.

This would make a flock of five-foot shelves—some of it very snappy reading, thank you.

NOTES: "Don't hit industries in my district!" shout Democrats and Republicans in unison as the President plans for reciprocity tariff concessions. . . . I'm for reciprocity if my people don't have to make the concessions!". . . Indian Commissioner Collier is pressing a bill to revamp the whole Indian service. . . . He wants "chartered communities" of Indians with self-government and a voice in federal appropriations for Indians. . . . All property would be held in communes and individual land titles would be abolished. . . . Our treasury high-ups say that the gold bloc is slowly breaking up. . . . It is believed that Holland may go off gold even before France. . . . Switzerland will probably follow.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

BRITAIN has one last trick up her sleeve for recapturing the supremacy of sterling over the dollar in international exchange. Of course it's nothing so obvious as a currency war.

New York experts say current plans to establish a Canadian Central bank are aimed at no less a goal. Bear in mind that the present Canadian system of chartered banks has withstood the depression with amazing success. There's no outward reason for a fundamental change.

Yet suddenly a project is introduced—authored in England—to create a Canadian bank modelled closely on the Bank of England with note issue monopoly and final rediscount privileges. Why? Simply because such a bank would be much more susceptible of control from London than the chartered banks now ruling the Canadian roost.

If the experiment takes in Canada New York insiders expect to see it extended to Australia, New Zealand, South Africa—possibly even to India.

GRIP: That would give Mother England a financial grip on her dominions she hasn't had in years. It's a subtle stunt—but it may be ditched if the dominions catch on to the real motive. They might object to taking London's dust.

New York sharps say FDR has no cause to worry yet although such a set-up—if it works—would give the Empire a potent financial new deal of its own as well as a new lease on unified economic life. A dozen Ottawa agreements couldn't accomplish as much.

AVIATION: Local aviation circles expect to learn the exact terms on which they can have their mail contracts back within a few days. The dope they get is that Washington prefers a speedy settlement to taking further chances of a public kick-back from the fatalities and inadequate service of army operations.

They haven't much hope of saving their holding companies if the government wants them abolished despite the growth of popular sentiment in their favor. But they do expect a year of grace in which to complete adjustments—which would eliminate most of the shock.

Insiders here rated the house bill authorizing the army to carry the mails for a year as so much window-dressing to strengthen the government's hand by going ahead as if they meant it.

ARMY: New Yorkers close to military sources say the army hopes for one break from its unwelcome postman's job—a fund to construct experimental planes such as are freely donated by the comparatively impoverished governments of England, Germany and Italy. So far congress has always balked overtures in that direction. The army boys privately claim that's why our military air service isn't up to European efficiency.

For some years American manufacturers used to build aircraft to experimental army specifications on speculation—taking a chance that the government would buy them after they were built. But the government seldom did and the practice was too expensive a luxury for depression days. So the army has been confined to ordering only machines it knows it can use with little opportunity to solve fresh problems.

PRIVATE: Watch the NRA hearings for further evidence that the government will encourage private industry. New Yorkers close to the New Deal picture predict General Johnson will be milder-mannered than usual and will accept brick-bats with unaccustomed grace. Government control will be toned down and the cooperative partnership between government and industry will be stressed.

The same sources also predict that complaints from the labor end will be side-tracked as diplomatically as possible. The only direction in which labor is likely to make immediate progress is toward a shorter week.

The shift isn't attributed here to any change in the President's long-term aims. Rather it's a practical question of absorbing the unemployed, promoting recovery and still keeping the government solvent.

HOURS: New York looks for certain action on the 36-hour week before CWA tapers out of existence. The step to be taken will virtually compel industry to swallow a much larger proportion of those still out of jobs. Concessions to industry will be made in other directions if necessary to achieve this end—peacefully.

1525 WALKING RACES

The photo from which I sketched the famous walker, James A. Graham, was made at the start of his Toronto-to-New York walk, when he broke the existing record of 11 days, 22 hours. Graham's time was 7 days, 2 hours. Another record of which he is particularly proud is his walk from Rochester, N. Y. to Niagara Falls in 16 hours, 55 minutes.

According to his accurately kept accounts, Mr. Graham has taken part in 1525 races and has walked more than 13 times around the world! He now makes his home in Buffalo, N. Y.

WATER, WATER

Few people ever think of the problem of water supply at a lighthouse, but in Los Angeles Harbor it was serious enough for someone to calculate that it was cheaper for the men to be supplied with water from San Francisco than from just across the harbor in San Pedro.

The reason is that the Lighthouse Maintenance ship from San Francisco carries tons of fresh water in its tank for ballast, and it is less expensive to pump water from the vessel on its periodic calls than it is to ship the much-needed aqua pura out only a few miles from the port which the lighthouse protects.

Married Flirts

by MABEL McELLIOTT

© 1933 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GYPSY MORELL and TOM WEAVER are married the same day as LILA HOTALING and DEREK BLISS. Lila expects to live in luxury, while Gypsy intends to go on with her job, teaching in a settlement house.

After returning from her honeymoon in Europe, Lila invites the Weavers to dinner. Among the guests is wealthy MARKO BROUGHTON, who once asked Gypsy to marry him. He showers her with attentions which she accepts because she is jealous of Tom's interest in HILDA BLANCHARD. After the party Tom and Gypsy quarrel, but peace is later restored.

They spend most of their weekends with Gypsy's parents in a New Jersey suburb.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

THE hall was full of the scent of wood fire as they came in, rosy and glowing from the out of door's Gypsy's hand was linked in Tom's. It was one of those times to be looked back upon in life later with gratitude and wonderment, when two human hearts were perfectly in accord. But their moment was short lived. The hall was full of life and color and movement. Sue Canavan, her red curls crackling, her slim figure smartly set off by the blue wool frock she wore, came forward and greeted them gayly.

"We were just about to leave—we had given you two wanderers up for good."

The tall man looming at her side was someone Gypsy had not seen before. He had a lean, humorous face, craggy brows over slate gray eyes that seemed to see everything. Gypsy liked his handclasp. It was firm and cool and assured. His hair was beginning to gray at the temples, making him look older than his years. Gypsy had heard Sue speak of Hunt Gibson before this. He had been described as "a forty-leventh cousin." But they had not met before. Hunt, Sue was now expaining volubly, was just home from Singapore and points east.

"Engineer?" Tom inquired, with a shade of respect in his voice. Gypsy caught the note, remembering that it had been Tom's ambition to be a mining expert, before his father had died, leaving him to fend for himself, putting the possibility of further college years out of the question.

Hunt nodded, and as the girl slipped upstairs to change, she observed with satisfaction that the two men were deep in conservation.

But when Tom came upstairs a few moments later, to get into his Sunday gray and put his windbreaker and knickerbockers to dry, he seemed slightly grumpy.

"I though we were going along home early," he observed, watching Gypsy running a comb through her wet curls. "Your mother says we're staying for supper."

"Ah, darling, I thought you'd understand that we couldn't run away like that," she began placatingly. "I haven't seen Sue for ages—we never seem to have time any more. We don't want to turn into hermits, do we"

"No, but I want you to myself some time, you know that,' he grumbled, laying his young cheek against her glowing round one.

She considered this. "I'll go along right now, if you say so," she began. Perhaps she was too insistent upon family ties. Tom himself had no mother or father, and so she didn't know what it felt like to be submerged by one's in-laws. Rosina they seldom saw, as the claims of a large and growing family held her own particular groove.

Gypsy repeated this. "I'll tell Mums you have some work to finish—thats true, anyway, isn't it, darling?—and we'll barge along."

But his moment of ill-humor had passed. "Nonsense, dearest. We'll stay. Do you love your grouchy husband?"

"You're never that!" She was indignant. "I won't have you calling yourself names."

So they settled that particular question with the usual kisses, and Gypsy's eyes were starrier than usual when she rejoined the group downstairs.

"We've got to run," Sue announced, scandalized by the lateness of the hour and the girl twin's announcement that tea was imminent.

"Nonsense," protested Mrs. Morell, warmly. "Daddy and I are going over to the Williams for supper, but you must all stay—Bea will scramble eggs and someone will make coffee . . ."

So it was arranged. They all gathered in the big bright kitchen. The smell of toasting bread and the pungent scent of fresh roasted coffee and frying bacon filled the air. Everybody carried plates into the shabby dining room, and the satin oval of Grandmother Morell's mahogany table, one of the few good pieces left in the house, soon reflected candle light and half a dozen youthful faces.

"This is fun!" Hunt Gibson was at Gypsy's right. She smiled at him, liking the lean ranginess of him. He was far from handsome, this engineer from the remote places of the earth, but there was something definitely attractive about him, Gypsy decided. He had a way of talking slangily out of the side of his mouth; and his stories were delightful.

"Bet you didn't have anything like this in Afghanistan," Sue challenged, leaning across the table.

"You bet your life I didn't" he drawled, staring down at the girl beside him. Gypsy felt a queer little impulse of withdrawal; then, deciding she was imagining things, smiled warmly back at him. Just because you were married was scarcely good reason for refusing to be friends with another man. And there was no doubt about it—this young stranger was liking her tremendously. No matter what

Letters To The Editor

Two Lubbock Men Give Opinions On Legalization Of Beer

Dear Editor:—The Lubbock County Liberal legion advises the people that the economic welfare of Lubbock depends on the legal sale of beer. That is to say that we are financially ruined unless the Liberal legion saves us with beer.

The devil said: Eat this fruit and you will be wise as gods. The Liberal legion says the legal sale of beer will bring prosperity. On the first page of The Morning Avalanche, date March second, an authentic record reports, "There are more stills in operation here since repeal and their capacity is double what it used to be." Follow the logic of the Liberal legion that the legal sale of intoxicants will lessen the use and sale of liquor and that same hypothesis would force one to confess that to make it legal to steal cows or cars would reduce the amount of thefts, or to license libertines would reduce and limit their crimes against innocent girls or any other great evils. To a Christian viewpoint it is horrible to think of justifying crime for the sake of revenue. I do not believe the citizenship of Lubbock county will sell out cheap.

The Liberal legion says, "Follow the president; vote for beer." I prefer to listen to the warning of God's word where it says woe unto him that putteth the bottle to his neighbor's lips. Now that is woe for the citizen who votes to license or legalize the sale of liquor in any form. My advice is to vote for the welfare of our boys, our girls, our homes, schools, churches and the Tech, and forever vote against these vampires, who for revenue would undermine our civilization.

H. H. Halsell.

Editor, Avalanche: "Follow the president!" is a snaring caption to lead the unwary voter to capitulate his interests and Lubbock county's best interests into the hand of greed—the greed of beer barons. A true caption would be: "Follow the breweries!" The breweries, not the president, are paying for, and propagating this beer propoganda. To vote to legalize beer is to vote hundreds of thousands of dollars out of Lubbock county's banks and all legitimate business interests and pour it into the rich coffers of the breweries in a distant state.

Lubbock county's economic welfare is not at stake. Lubbock county is the brightest star on the American economic horizon today. She is dry. The darkest spots on the sun of America's prosperity are the deepest died wet spots. But if it were at stake, what is our economic welfare compared with out moral welfare? Lubbock county's moral welfare compared without moral economic welfare as the sun is above the tallow candle in brightness. Suppose we could build a city with revenue from beer? God's voice echoes down the corridors of time: "Woe unto him that buildeth a town in blood and stablisheth a city by iniquity . . . Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth thy bottle to him . . . The cup of the Lord's right hand shall be turned unto thee and shameful spewing shall be upon thy glory."—Habakkuk 2:12, 15, 16.

Let's make Lubbock one of America's great educational centers; not a mere beer-distributing point.

Cloak Of Dignity Is Swept From The Board Of Aldermen In New York City

NEW YORK, March 2. (AP)—An unseemly interest on the part of the city hall cat in a scholarly denunciation of Mayor LaGuardia today swept the cloak of dignity from the board of aldermen.

The cat, which answers to the name of "Tammany" and is in appearance a small edition of the Tammany tiger, was snoozing on a chair near the president's dais.

Alderman Edward Curley was on the floor, warming up to the attack. He quoted from the classics; he recited lines from the works of four distinguished poets.

Then the alderman raised his voice, and began using such terms as "oligarchy" and "dictator."

Tammany sat upright, gazed at Alderman Curley, and walked over to his desk.

"How do you do?" said Alderman Curley, waiving the cat to be seated.

Tammany sat down, cocked his head and listened intently, but the effect of Curley's speech was drowned in laughter.

From the chair came an effort to restore order.

"The sergeant at arms," said president Bernard S. Duetsch, had better escort the silent member to the back of the room.

Almost in a body the aldermen rose a protest, and Alderman Walter R. Hart moved that the privilege of the floor be extended to the city hall cat.

The motion was carried and Alderman Curley went on with his speech, but all the fire was gone from his words, and he soon subsided.

"I'm mightly glad," he said later, "that I interested the city hall cat. I hope I can hypnotize the mayor too."

THE SON OF TARZAN, No. 30

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Days passed, and with traveling, hunting and climbing, the boy's muscles developed and his agility increased until even phlegmatic Akut marveled at his pupil's prowess. The boy, realizing his great strength, became careless. He strode through the jungle, his proud head erect, defying danger. When Akut took to the trees at first scent of Numa, the lad laughed in the face of the king of beasts and walked boldly past him.

Good fortune was with him for a long time. The beasts he met were well-fed perhaps, or his very boldness so filled them with surprise that often he passed within a few paces of some great lion without arousing more than a warning scowl. But one day he met a lion who had not dined. They were walking across a little plain on which grew small clumps of bushes. The boy was the first to discover the lion's presence.

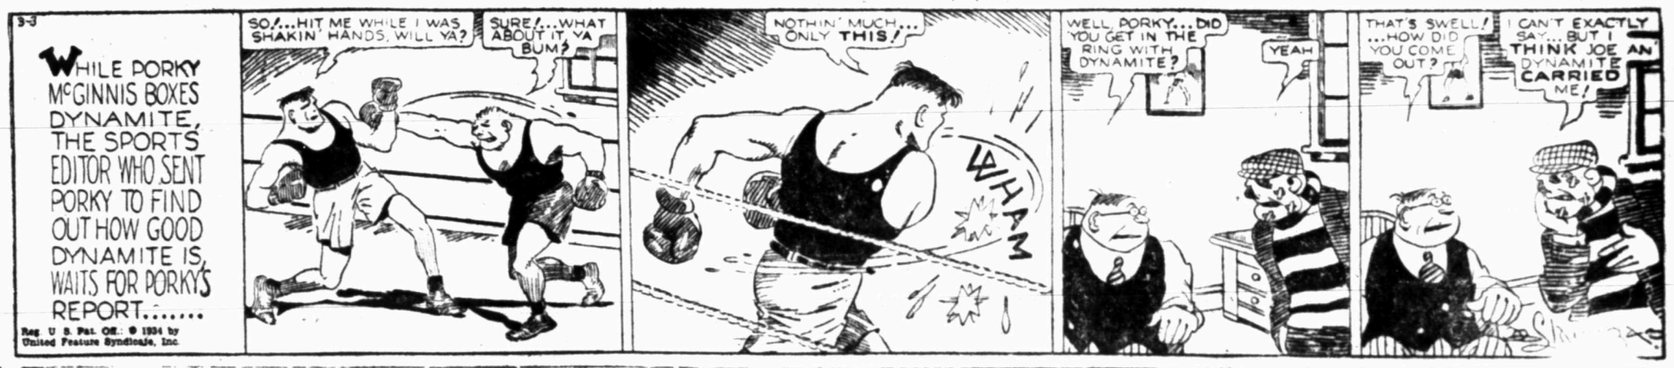

"Run, Akut," called the boy to the ape who was a few yards to his right. "Numa has hid in the bushes. Take to the trees, Akut! I, the son of Tarzan, will protect you," and the boy laughing, kept straight along his way which led close behind the brush where the lion lay concealed. The ape shouted to him to come away, but the lad only flourished his speer and executed an improvised war-dance to show his contempt for the king of beasts.

Closer and closer he approached until with a sudden angry growl the lion arose from his bed not ten paces away. He was a huge fellow, with a shaggy mane and blazing eyes above his great jaws. The boy, with only his pitifully inadequate spear, realized quickly that this lion was different from the others he had met. The nearest tree was several yards to his left. The lion would be upon him before he could make it. Escape seemed cut off.

"HOW DEAR TO MY HEART
ARE THE SCENES OF MY CHILDHOOD
WHEN FOND RECOLLECTIONS
PRESENT THEM TO VIEW."

As we type these lines how vividly do the once familiar objects, as[illegible] younger days, troop by, as they come from memory's store house. The old china berry tree, where the robins fed in the winter; the old locust tre, where the mocking bird sat while he warbled his lo[illegible]ngs to his nesting mate; the little pasture, where grazed my pony and the calves; the old rambling house, where Mother, busy always, had a smile for her boy. It was not much of a house, but, it was home, it was ours. There's no other place comparable.

Are you one who can recall those childhood days and sing the song which is quoted in part above, wiping the tear from the eye, the tear which only joy from sweet memories bring forth? We will plan you the kind of home your children will rejoice in recalling, many years hence.

Bank Guard Is Robbed By Six

Total Of $60,000 In Loot Is Taken; Guard Is Stopped At Entrance Of Alley; Search For Bandits Started

RICHMOND, Va., March 2. (AP) — Six men today held up a guard of the State-Planters Bank and Trust company, and robbed him of $60,000 in currency.

Officials said that the robbery took place presumably while the guard, William H. Coghill, was on his way from the federal reserve bank. He was stopped at the entrance to an alley.

Traffic police on duty on busy city streets nearby were unaware of the robbery until the bandits' car had sped out of the alley.

A widespread hunt was begun for six men in a black sedan.

Arms Crisis

and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon preparatory to a meeting next week of the cabinet subcommittee on disarmament.

The official view in government circles remained one of dogged determination to continue the fight for a suitable arms convention.

Although a report that France is demanding Great Britain's support in guaranteeing that Germany will not re-arm past a "moderate" limit has reached Downing street, officials declined to pre-suppose what Britain's reaction will be.

Agree To Supervision

It was pointed out, however, that Great Britain in a recent memorandum expressed a willingness to accede to a periodic and automatic supervision of armaments.

This was put forward as one of the essentials of any arms agreement.

The British government at the same time acknowledged Germany's right to re-arm.

The British proposal that France must disarm has brought strong criticism of the MacDonald government's scheme from Paris quarters.

Limitation sought

In Italy the official view was said to be held that a limitation on further increases in arms is the only feasible process.

While the British plan was accepted as a basis for negotiations by Germany its prospects are viewed skeptically in that country, according to British information from Berlin.

The British scheme recognized Germany's demands, proposed consultation among the powers if a signatory nation violates the projected treaty by manufacturing forbidden armaments, and suggested a compromise of between 200,000 and 300,000 as the size of the German army.

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, March 2.—A late rally saved stocks from a dull and featureless market today. As it was, leaders closed 1 to about 3 points higher, the result of a brisk upturn which in the last half hour put the tape a few minutes behind, though total sales amounted to only 1,480,580 shares.

Technical considerations seemed to have been a dominant factor in the recovery. Through the earlier hours the market was firm and very quiet, showing most of its improvement in specialty section. When General Electric company's directors boosted the common dividend a nickel—to 15 cents from 10—and released the company's 1933 earnings—activity quickened and with the aid of lively covering prices moved up rapidly.

Cotton took a spurt of more than a dollar a bale on the favorable report given the Bankhead control bill. Wheat and several of the minor commodities also firmed, though silver futures softened.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, March 2.—Cotton after a quiet but steady start turned active later and prices spurted sharply on firmer stocks and favorable reports relative to progress of the Bankhead bill. The close was near the top 25 to 26 points net higher.

The opening was quiet but steady with Liverpool cables coming in better than due. First trades showed gains of 5 points and although prices eased off 1 to 2 points in early trading on some realizing they soon became firmer on trade buying and covering.

In the early afternoon, Washington advices reported the house committee had approved the Bankhead bill as a whole and prices advanced rapidly, assisted by active and higher stocks. The close was at or near the top with May at 12.23 and July at 12.38 showing net gains of 25 points. October closed at 12.52, up 26 points.

Port receipts 18,366, for week 71,955, for season 6,497,530, last season 7,332,565. Exports 21,828, for week 157,389, for season 5,537,262, last season 5,603,902. Port stock 3,371,108, last year 4,533,144. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 139,909, last year 152,126. Spot sales at southern markets 3,826, last year 10,998.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 2.—The progress of cotton control legislation, relatively steady Liverpool cables and a continued absence of selling pressure from the south, were reflected by advances in cotton today.

Trading was comparatively quiet but became active following reports that the house agricultural committee had favorably reported the Bankhead bill, and July sold up to 2.40 in the late trading, closing at 12.38. The general market closed firm at net advances of 24 to 29 points.

The opening was 4 to 8 points higher. Trading was quiet at the start but firmness in the stock market brought in a little more buying, and prices worked gradually upward on continued trade buying together with covering and scattering commission house demand.

The news from Washington concerning the favorable report on the Bankhead bill proved the signal for some local realizing, but it was absorbed on setbacks of 5 or 6 points during the noon hour, and prices soon rallied on a continuation of trade buying coupled with a renewal of commission house demand. This buying became more active during the last hour, with May selling up to 12.38 and October to 12.57 or about 26 to 29 points net higher. Closing quotations were at or within a point or two of the best.

Exports today 23,516 making 5,688,316 so far this season. Port receipts 18,163. U. S. port stocks 3,367,170.

Woman Slain

the fireplace, holding Martha Julia in her arms. He asked her to put the child on the floor, he said, then drew a pistol and fired at his wife. As she fell, he said Mrs. Woodward ran into the room, threatening him with a stick of wood, and he shot her also.

Seized The Child

He said he seized the child, placed her in the automobile and directed his son to drive downtown, leaving them there after he had directed them to go on to Bonham to his father's home.

Boggess' signed statement was made to Detective Lieut. Will Fritz and Detective Robert Jones.

Police here immediately notified Bonham officers of the shooting and requested them to hold the youths as material witnesses when they arrived there.

Investigators learned from Mr. and Mrs. Fortson that Boggess threatened his wife shortly after she came to their home from Bonham, and that she had him placed under a peace bond. The Fortsons were away from their home in North Dallas when the shooting occurred today.

Both Die Instantly

Both women apparently died instantly, falling in the living room of the house. On the floor lay toys with which Martha Julia had been playing when her father entered. On a sofa was a saucy doll, with sawdust stuffed legs askew, and inside the dining room was her tricycle. A partially emptied milk bottle was on the table and garments lay on the floor where Mrs. Woodward had cast aside her sewing when she heard the shot.

"I simply couldn't live without them," Boggess related brokenly to officers. "I waited until she put the child down, because I didn't want to hurt the baby. I think the first shot went wild and I fired a second time."

Earl, his son by a former wife, was sitting in the room and witnessed the shooting, Boggess said.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, March 2. (AP)—An unevenly higher hog market on averages of 240 pounds and under featured the livestock trade around the mid-western circuit today. The bulk of the better grade 130-240 pound weights sold on the early rounds in most cases to order buyers and on government account at 10 to 25 higher prices. Receipts of 36,000 hogs today at eleven markets compared with 92,462 last Friday and 61,855 the same day a year ago.

A few fed steers and yearlings offered sold at unchanged prices today. Not enough representative sales were reported to quote accurately at most points. Fat cows, which have sold at consistently high prices all week were unchanged today, but late arrivals of the lower grades of cows went at lower prices as government orders were completed on the early rounds. At Kansas City, some 1340 lb. steers scored 6.50.

Trade in fed lambs was on a 10 to 25 lower basis today, but other classes sheep were unchanged. Several loads of plainer quality lambs on the Texas order realized $ 5.50@5.65 and strictly choice 136-pound fed western ewes reached 5.75 at Chicago.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, March 2. (AP)—Hogs 900; rail hogs 5 to 10c higher; truck hogs steady to 10c lower; top 4.70; better grades 150-250 lb. truck hogs 4.15@4.50.

Cattle 900; calves 600; fully steady; some grass slaughter steers around 3.75; one load medium grade slaughter yearlings 4.60; butcher cows around 2.75; slaughter calves strong to 25c higher; plain quality considered, few good heavy fat calves 4.50@5.00.

Sheep 100; few wooled fat ewes and aged wethers 5.00 or steady.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, March 2. (AP)—Sales were slow on the Fort Worth cash grain market today despite very light offerings.

Prices ranged as follows basis car loads on track at Fort Worth freight paid to delivery point: delivered Texas gulf ports, export rates or Texas common points: wheat No. 2 hard 92 1-2@95. Barley No. 2 nominally 56@57. No. 3 nominally 55@56. Sorghums No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally 1.15@1.16; No. 3 milo nominally 1.13@1.14. No. 2 kafir nominally 95@96; No. 3 kafir nominally 93@94.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: corn No. 2 white 66@66 1-2; No. 2 yellow 64 1-2@65.

Oats 2 red 43 1-2@44 1-2. No. 3 red 42 1-2@43 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 2. (AP)—Influenced to at least some degree by President Roosevelt's message about proposed reciprocal trade arrangements with other countries, grain values went sharply higher today.

Wheat scored a maximum rise of 2 cents a bushel, with the market showing pronounced activity and strength as the day drew to an end. A good deal of inflation talk was current, and much notice was also taken of cables from Buenos Aires that beginning on Monday next the Argentine government would hoist the minimum wheat price paid to farmers.

Wheat closed strong at nearly the day's top figures, 1 1-2 to 1 7-8 cents above yesterday's finish, corn 1 to 1 3-8 up, oats 7-8 to 1 1-4 advanced and provisions showing 7 to 12 cents gain.

the statement they suggested, was an indiscretion—bad judgment."

Dr. Wynekoop testified that Police Captain John Stege had said, in urging that she make such a statement, that "it would not even call for an indictment," that it involved no crime.

The physician denied categorically that she had anything to do with Rheta's death.

Q—Did you administer chloroform to Rheta that day?

A—I did not.

Q—Did you fire a bullet into her body? A—I did not.

Q—Was the statement that you signed on November 24 a true statement?

A—It was not.

Voice Is Calm

The doctor's voice was calm as she answered.

At first she refused to make the statement, she said.

When Attorney Smith closed the direct examination, the defendant was now pale and beginning to show signs of exhaustion.

A recess preceded the cross examination by Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty. Attorney Smith indicated that he would rest his case after the state had completed its questioning of Dr. Wynekoop.

Dr. Harry Hoffman, Cook county psychiatrist, had told her that her son, Earle, had confessed to the slaying before she signed her admission, Dr. Wynekoop said as Smith neared the conclusion of the direct examination.

Wanted To See Son

Q—Did he say to you that Earle wanted you to confess your part? A—In words to that effect. He said: "Now tell your story. You'll feel better just as Earle does and he wants you to tell all you know about it."

Q—What did you reply? A—I said I wanted to see Earle, and he was brought in.

Earle was allowed to stay for only a moment, she said.

The defendant warded off leading questions in the cross-examination by Prosecutor Dougherty and used care to see that incriminating wording was changed in her answers.

Bill To Extend Power To Reserve Banks Is Delayed

WASHINGTON, March 2. (AP)—An uprising of house Democrats that drove their leaders from the field in disorder prevented passage tonight of a bill to extend for another year the power of federal reserve banks to issue currency backed by government bonds.

Led by Representative Patman of Texas, Brown of Kentucky, and Busby of Mississippi, who showered charges that the bill was "another bank bonus, another bribe and subsidy to a few big banks," more than fifty members sprang to their feet to shout for an opportunity to speak before the bill was passed.

Rumors Of Sabotage Of Army Planes Denied By Secretary

WASHINGTON, March. 2. (AP)—Rumors of sabotage of army planes carrying the mails reached the ears of Secretary Dern today but he pronounced them "fantastic and absurd".

The secretary said that as a matter of course the rumors might be inquired into but "I don't take any stock in them."

At the White House it was said the "rumors" had not been heard there.

CARS IN COLLISION

None was injured in an automobile collision at Avenue O and Main street at 11:20 o'clock last night. A Ford coupe driven westward on Main by L. W. Williams, 14, of Slide, was said to have struck a Pontiac coupe driven northward on Avenue O by H. P. Cunningham of Lubbock. Police investigated the crash.

Harry Sinclair And 27 Of Former Associates Charged

TULSA, March 2. (AP)—Harry F. Sinclair, the oil magnate and 27 of his former associates on the board of the now defunct Exchange Trust company, were named in 10 additional charges of embezzlement filed here today in common pleas court.

The charges, filed by J. M. Springer, special prosecutor named by Governor William H. Murray, allege the various directors misused $248,776.02 from 257 separate trust accounts.

Twenty-five of the accused were made defendants in January on seven similar accusations, which involved, however, only about $24,000.

Tariff Policy

as the "flexible provision," which gives the tariff commission power to recommend changes in the tariff of as much as 50 per cent up or down and for the president to proclaim or veto such changes.

This power, with the exact 50 per cent limitations, would be transferred to the president, but the latter could not, as under existing law, governing the tariff commission, transfer an article to or from the free list.

Must Make Offers

The president told congress if the American government was not in a position to make "fair offers for fair opportunities, its trade will be superseded."

"If it is not in a position at a given moment rapidly to alter the terms on which it is willing to deal with other countries," he said, "it cannot adequately protect its trade against discriminations and against bargains injurious to its interests. Furthermore a promise to which prompt effect cannot be given is not an inducement which can pass current at par in commercial negotiations."

For this reason, he said, any smaller degress of authority in the hands of the exeutive would be ineffective.

Others Have Power

"The executive branches of virtually all other important trading countries already possess some such power," he asserted.

Francis B. Sayre, assistant secretary of state and son-in-law of the late President Wilson, is expected to play an important role in negotiating the reciprocal agreements once the bill becomes law. Sayre went to the capitol today to advise administration pilots about the legislation.

Speaker Rainey promised it would be given prompt consideration by the ways and means committee and added:

"We will get it out in a reasonable time so we can pass it."

CAR IS STOLEN

A 1933 dark blue Chevrolet coach, owned by Troy Womack, 2410 Twenty-second street, was stolen last night, police were informed. A police report did not say where the car was parked when it was taken. The highway license number was 698-402, the motor number 3,858,349. Alvin Blanton, 902 Avenue B, reported theft of his blue bicycle last night.

Montana Sings The Praises Of Its Flying Horse Shoer

MISSOULA, Mont., Mar. 2. (AP)—Dave Pronovost of Polson is known here-abouts as the "flying horseshoer."

Pronovost, government employe who says he has shod 33 animals in a day, uses a plane to reach forest and mountain-bound spots in the Flathead area.

In answer to a special call from the remount service at Big Prairie, where 30 animals needed new shoes, Pronovost hopped into a plane, reached his destination in an hour and was away again the next morning. By trail, the only other means of ingress, he would have had a four-day jaunt.

Oil From Iraq Ready To Flow In Paris Pipes

PARIS, March 2. (AP)—Mesopotamian oil over which diplomatic battles have waged, will flow into Parisian automobile tanks within a few months, the French Oil Company, holder of one-fourth interest in the rich Iraq oil sands, has announced.

The 531-mile northern branch of the pipeline from Kirkuk, Iraq, to Tripoli, in French-mandated Syria, has been completed and the southern branch—617 miles—from Kirkuk to Haifa, in English-mandated Palestine, is nearing completion.

Helps French Defense

The pipeline to the Mediterranean runs under the Tigris and Euphrates rivers and over mountains and desert. Two 10-inch pipes were laid under dramatic circumstances and news that oil would soon flow from the Kirkuk wells was welcome in France which has no oil of its own.

Lack of the blue-black liquid hampered the French in the war and they have fought constantly since then to obtain an indeepndent supply as a national defense measure.

This created bitter controversy among the ex-allies who wanted to profit from the Mosul fields which fell into their hands as a result of the war. Three American-English companies and the French agreed in 1920 to share the oil equally but this only started complications for both the French and the English wanted the pipeline to end in territory over which they had control. The end to this dispute did not come until 1931 when it was agreed to construct two pipelines, one ending at Tripoli and the other at Haifa.

Reserve Ready For Oil

The Shell Company of Palestine and the Vacuum Oil Company of the United States have erected large drums and filling instruments at Haifa while the French have been building necessary machinery at Tripoli to ship the oil to Le Havre.

The French oil company is state owned and the chamber of deputies is now considering creation of an oil monopoly. Until 1931, a half-dozen American companies furnished France with more than half of all petroleum products she imported. Since then, greater quantities have been coming from Russia and Rumania and America's share diminished from 53 per cent in 1930 to 36 per cent in 1932.

Motorists used 15,497,410,000 gallons of gas in 1932.

Truth Will Prevail!

For the benefit of our citizenship we visited our neighbor city, Amarillo, for facts and figures in connection with legalized beer traffic there. We have a statement from the sheriff of Potter county, as follows: "Since the legalization of beer in our county the "home brew" dives have been practically eliminated. Prior to that time they were a source of trouble to us. Our records show that we have had only three home brew cases since the 15th of September." Signed, W. M. Adams. We also have a certificate from Miss Jewel Davidson, tax collector of that county, showing the revenues collected from beer license fees from Sept. 15th, '33 up to Feb. 1st, as follows: State, $7,057.46; County, $3,534.21, making a total for state and county of $10,591.67; the approximate revenue for the city of Amarillo, $3,434.00, making a total of $14,025.67.

We found that 117 car loads of beer had been shipped into that city up to February the 27th, and that the approximate amount of freight paid to the railroads was $26,000.00. The most conservative estimate we could get as to the total revenue to the city, county, state, Federal government and the railroads shows a GRAND TOTAL of $95,000.00. This does not include the dozens of truck loads brought in from Texas and Colorado breweries, nor the license fees paid to the Federal government.

SHALL WE GRASP the opportunity TODAY to begin collecting the revenue from the beer traffic? REMEMBER one-half of the state tax from the sale of beer goes into the school fund, which we all agree is a vital, necessary and most worthy cause, and will make it possible for our school teachers to cash their warrants more promptly, and without discount. We ardently believe in EDUCATION, and we are

Proud Of Tech College

But we refuse to believe that our sons and daughters are less sturdy of character than those of many other college towns in Texas. The following cities along with the colleges and universities located in them have all legalized 3.2 Beer:

Dallas, the home of S. M. U;
Fort Worth, the home of T. C. U;
Sherman, the home of Kidd-Key and Austin College;
Waco, the home of Baylor;
Houston, the home of Rice Institute;
San Antonio, the home of Peacock's Military Academy;
El Paso, the home of the State School of Mines; and
Austin, the home of the University of Texas, and the seat of our State Government.

We do not doubt the honesty of purpose nor the good judgement of FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, and we shall show our faith in him today by voting to legalize 3.2 Beer.

Big Dams Are Being Planned

Construction Projects Being Contemplated In Bell County; Huge Expenditure Will Likely Follow

AUSTIN, March 2. (AP)—Construction of three large dams in Bell county to control and conserve the flood waters of the Leon, Little and Lampasas rivers is contemplated under the proposed Brazos river reclamation and flood control program.

The legislature passed a bill appropriating $10,000 for paying debts of the Brazos district and for presenting the application to Washington.

Backing Promised

Its application will be transmitted to the public works administration in Washington with the backing of administration leaders and Texas congressmen for recognition of the project as a major public works improvement program.

Should the Brazos river development become a reality, it would mean the expenditure of between $7,000,000 and $10,000,000 in Bell county alone, according to Senator Roy Sanderford, who was a member of the senate committee instrumental in obtaining the appropriation.

It would provide for three dams. The first and largest would be at Sparta. It would cover several square miles of territory and would make possible the development of a tremendous source of electric power.

Develop Rich Area

It would also make possible the development of a rich irrigated farm territory.

A second dam would be on the Little river south of Temple and the third on the Lampasas.

Members of the senate committee which brought about the appropriation measure were Senator Sanderford, of Belton, Albert Stone of Brenham and W. R. Poage, of Waco.

Representatives Homer H. Ray, of Bell county, and W. C. Harman of McLennan county were on the house committee.

The board of water engineers considers the project of much importance and will rush its surveys, according to John A. Morris, chairman.

Funeral Services Are Held For A South Plains Pioneer

FLOYDADA, March 2. (Special)—Funeral services were held here Wednesday for D. D. Shipley, a South Plains pioneer, who died following a paralytic stroke suffered about two weeks ago.

Mr. Shipley was an early day business man of Plainview and Floydada. Later he entered ranching in New Mexico and then came to Floyd county where he became active in civic affairs.

Relatives who were summoned here when Mr. Shipley suffered the stroke included: Parker Shipley, McAllen; Frank Shipley, Clovis, N. M.; Mac Shipley, Big Lake, his sons and his daughter, Mrs. Jerry Withers, Fort Worth. A brother, John Shipley, Clovis, also came here.

Married Flirts

by MABEL McELLIOTT

she said, no matter what she did he applauded.

"She's cute," he told the assembled company, with his three-cornered grin. "Cute little girl, isn't she?"

It was half-past ten. It was eleven. Gypsy glanced at the clock and out at the drifts piling high in the yard, making mounds of the small pines and the rhododendron bushes.

"We honestly must be getting back to town."

The slate gray eyes regarded her, the drawling voice asked casually, "You don't live out here, then?"

The other four, Beatrice and Bertram, Tom and Sue were playing parcheesi. Gypsy and Gibson were in deep chairs opposite each other at the fire.

She raised her dark eyes to his, smilingly. "No, we live in the city. East Fifties."

"Rotten night to start out." His nod indicated the drifting snow against the windows.

"Isn't it? But it'll be better going now than starting out in the morning. And I have a job . . ."

"You!" He seemed vastly amused. "So you're one of those modern young women, too."

The tone nettled her, she couldn't have said why. "You've been away from civilization so long", she told him negligently, "that you've forgotten how these things are done . . ."

His great laugh rang out, and Tom Weaver, across the room, moved one of his pink men five spaces and wondered what this chap could be talking about to Gypsy.

"No, I haven't forgotten." Hunt contributed, in the silence that followed. "I just don't think it goes together—the job and marriage."

Gypsy tossed her head, "Ah, but it does, I'm proving it."

"You are eh?" He rubbed his chin, considering this. He rose, resting one foot on the fender, and lighted a cigaret with deft lean fingers. "Well, perhaps Im wrong. Just an old-fashioned boy." He grinned at her, and her annoyance evaporated; but she was conscious, suddenly, of Tom's eyes upon her, and she crossed the room to stand at his side.

"How's it going?"

He smiled at her, drawing her down to the arm of his chair. "I'm running them all ragged. Science does it."

She rumpled his hair, proprietarily, to show Mr Hunt Gibson that one modern marriage, at least, withstood the acid test.

"Well, hurry up and bring this contest to a close, my love, because it grows late."

Tom shook a pair of sixes, moved his last man fourteen spaces, sent Sue's blue baby" home and triumphantly finished the game.

"You brought me luck, darling."

"Fiend!" Sue muttered, pretending to be furious.

Gypsy went to gather her things together and Sue went with her.

"I like your cousin." Gypsy told the other girl, idly perching her beret at an impossible angle and redding her lips with expert fingers.

"Do you?" Sues tone was casual, but she looked pleased. "I'm glad."

"We oughtn't to go before Mums and Dad get back," Gypsy went on. "Clytie isn't in, and I don't like to leave the twins alone."

But that problem was solved, as the Morells burst in, powdered with snow at the moment.

Hunt drove them to the station in his sleek new car, a buff sedan of an expensive make. Tom eyed its bright fittings with respect they deserved.

"What d'you think of him darling?" he asked, later as they rode sleepily along in a red plush seated coach, smelling of dust and stale cigars. "You seemed to be getting along like a house afire."

Gypsy patted away a yawn. "He's nice", she said. "But he's got stone age ideas. I couldn't have married a man like that."
