New World Is Found In Skies

ASTRONOMER DISCOVERS NEW PLANET LARGER THAN EARTH; MAY BE INHABITED

(By Associated Press)

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., March 14.—Discovery of a new world, probably larger than the earth, brought to mathematical astronomy today its second achievement of the kind.

The new and nameless planet, whose actual presence in Trans-Neptunian space was first detected last January 21 by an astronomy-loving farmer boy from Kansas, was heralded yesterday by an announcement here yesterday by Dr. V. M. Slipher of the Lowell Observatory.

A strange "blotch of light," on a photographic negative, registered by an extremely delicate instrument at the observatory, led to the discovery. The speck of light was noticed by Clyde Tombaugh, the young student of astronomy, and this led to detection of the heavenly body, bringing the known number of major planets in the solar system to nine.

Can't Be Seen By Eye

The location of the new body on January 21 was fixed at three hours Greenwich time, seven seconds west from delta geminorum with Lowell's predicted longitude. It is approximately forty-five times farther from the earth than the sun, and is "at least no smaller than the earth." Like Neptune, it cannot be seen by the naked eye.

Astronomically, the discovery is regarded as the greatest achievement since the location of Neptune, the eighth primary planet of the solar system, in 1846. The task now remains to determine its size, exact distance from the earth, its orbit and other planetary characteristics.

Came Year Ago

Tombaugh came to the observatory a year ago and has been working with the new Lawrence-Lowell telescope, exposing and examining the planets under the direction of senior members of the staff.

"While I was peering through the comparator at a plate, something new flickered before my eyes," Tombaugh said. "At first I thought it simply an illusion, but I looked at some more of the plates and finally realized that I had stumbled on to an important discovery. After an examination, the senior members of the staff were soon convinced we were viewing the Trans-Neptunian planet."

Lowell Claimed Work

Two years before his death, Dr. Percival Lowell, founder of the observatory, announced calculations on the Trans-Neptunian planet, and although he never had seen it, his computations indicated such a body must exist.

While the newly discovered planet as yet remains just "A blotch of light" on a photographic plate, astronomers at the observatory have announced they will follow every action of the planet in order that more of its character may be learned.

Whether or not the new planet is inhabited is a matter for further calculations, but scientists agree it may be as large as Jupiter, the greatest of the planets, which is 1,200 times the size of the earth.

MRS. TURNER GIVEN EIGHT YEARS IN PEN

VERDICT IS READ IN COURT ROOM LATE LAST NIGHT

(Special To The Journal)

TAHOKA, March 14.—Mrs. Mollie Turner, 50-year-old mother, of Lubbock, was sentenced to 8 years in the penitentiary here last night for the slaying of her husband at Wilson 10 years ago.

The jury's verdict was read by Judge Gordon B. McGuire at 11 o'clock, while the accused accepted it stoically.

Returned On Third Ballot

About 50 curious spectators remained in the court room to hear the jury's decision, which was returned on the third ballot after a deliberation of six hours. The case went to the jury at 4:45 o'clock and decision was reached at 9:30. Judge Frita R. Smith returned to his home at Snyder after arguments ended, and the verdict of the jury awaited arrival of Judge McGuire from Lamesa.

CONFERENCE MEET IS SET

FINAL DECISION TO BE MADE ON NEW LEAGUE FOR SCHOOLS

Fate of the proposed Staked Plains conference for West Texas and New Mexico institutions of higher learning will be determined March 22 when six prospective members of the athletic loop meet for a final settlement of plans at the Blue Bonnet hotel in Sweetwater.

Invitations have been mailed to Simmons university, The West Texas State Teachers college, Texas School of Mines, University of New Mexico and New Mexico A. and M. to attend the confab at Sweetwater by W. L. Stangel, Texas Tech professor, who is chairman of the arrangement committee.

Locals Take Lead

With the local college officials taking the lead, the meeting a week from tomorrow will be the last opportunity for the schools mentioned for membership to take action on the proposed new conference.

A constitution and complete set of bylaws will be drawn up at the session for the acceptance or refusal of the institutions in attendance. The matter of a football schedule for the 1930 season will not be brought up, since the majority of the prospective members have already arranged games with each other—enough to award a first year championship.

Pete W. Cawthon, newly elected director of Tech athletics and head football coach, has been invited to attend the meeting next week.

FRY FUNERAL SET

ABILENE, March 14 (AP)—Funeral services were arranged today for George W. Fry, 48, president of the West Texas Utilities company, who died here last night.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE IS TO START SOON

EFFORTS TO BE MADE TO MAKE CITY AS CONCENTRATION

Directors of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development agreed this morning to cooperate next week with C. O. Moser, of Dallas, who will be in this city for the purpose of inaugurating a membership campaign for the Texas Cotton Cooperative association.

Dean A. H. Leidigh, of Texas Technological college, a member of Governor Moody's market board, and R. E. Overstreet, director of the Texas Farm Bureau, attended the session today and explained the plan of the cooperative association.

Texas Divided

According to information placed before the directors, Texas has been divided by the association into six districts. The district in which Lubbock is located is bounded on the south by Mitchell and Nolan counties and on the east line by the east line of Hardeman, Foard and Knox counties.

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce will make every effort to have Lubbock established as headquarters of the West Texas district. The headquarters will bring many employes to the city and hundreds of farmers here to transact business, it was pointed out.

The directors pledged support to Southland to work in every way possible to have the State highway between Slaton and Post routed so that it will pass through the former city, as at present. This action was taken after committees from Southland had previously asked for such support, in response to rumors

DEATHS HALT DIVORCE SUIT

TENNESSEE FARMER, WIFE AND BROTHER-IN-LAW DEAD

(By Associated Press)

JOHNSTON CITY, Tenn., March 14.—An east Tennessee farmer, his wife and her brother-in-law were dead today, victims of a tragedy which followed the filing of a divorce suit by the wife.

Fred Range, 40, killed his wife, fatally shot John Dempsey, wounded Mrs. Dempsey and then committed suicide yesterday. Range followed his wife to the Dempsey home a few hours after he had been served with a notice of his wife's suit.

He shot her to death in the kitchen. Then he went into the bedroom and, after seriously wounding Mrs. Dempsey, proceeded to the yard and shot Dempsey. The latter died in a hospital here today, and Mrs. Dempsey is in a serious condition.

After the shooting Range walked to his own home and officers found him in the attic, "Don't shoot," he said, then fired a bullet from his pistol into his head. He died later.

Mrs. Range and Mrs. Dempsey were sisters.

QUANAH, March 14. (AP)—Having voluntarily admitted his participation in the affair, Clarence May, 20, Fort Worth, was free on $2,500 bond on a charge of murder today in connection with the death of Frank Beavers, Quanah bus driver.

Knocked to the pavement, Beavers was fatally injured when his head struck the brick. He had been fighting with L. O. Page, of Quanah, on the station platform, and May interfered. The youth boarded a train before he knew of Beavers' death, but returned when he learned of it.

DALLAS BANKER IS RELEASED TODAY FROM U. S. PEN AFTER SERVING TIME

(By Associated Press)

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Mar. 14.—The gates of the federal prison here opened today for Coney Slaughter, well known as a Dallas, Texas, and Pueblo, Colo., banker, under a six year sentence in connection with embezzlement of $352,000 from the Pueblo Mercantile National bank.

He was one of the few bankers ever to enter the prison and serve the full time of his sentence. Following an escape from the institution, on January 31, 1925, Slaughter was recaptured, and 576 days of good time was taken from him.

The discharged prisoner is a son of William B. Slaughter, noted Texas cattleman.

Slaughter's parents are said to have spent $700,000 in getting their son out of various escapades. His mother was reported to be operating a hotel in San Antonio, Texas, where the son plans to go at once.

A. B. C. INSTALLS OFFICERS TODAY

Installation of new officers occupied the entire program at the luncheon session of the American Business club at the Hilton Hotel today noon, with Ben Powell, member of the board of governors, in charge of the ceremony.

Powell's ceremony, of more or less humorous nature, was climaxed with his presentation of the club roll to Windy Watkins, newly elected keeper of the roll.

The following were installed: President, Carl D. Brandt; first vice-president, Leonard Pearson; second vice-president, C. A. Sheffield; Secretary, W. L. Hester; Treasurer, A. W. Logan; Roll keeper, Windy Watkins; Chaplain, Rev. G. P. McCollom, and sergeant-at-arms, W. C. Medlock. Short speeches were heard from each of the incoming officers while R. H. Hester, retiring president, administered the oath of office.

Brief discussion was given the charter night program, to be held Saturday evening, March 22, and a bulletin was read from Amarillo in which assurance was given that a large delegation from the club of that city would be present.

Excavation work started today for foundation for additional structures which will more than double the present capacity of Burrus Elevator, 305 Avenue M, and which, when completed, will provide for a grain storage of 1,250,000 bushels.

Proposal for the additional storage is fruition of negotiations which began several months ago between the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and ofifcials of the Burrus company.

Present Capacity 500,000

The increased capacity will create one of the largest grain elevators in West Texas. Present capacity is 300,000 bushels, and facilities will be added for handling 750,000 more bushels.

Forty-eight huge storage bins will be added to the present plant. There are at present 50 storage tanks, but they are much smaller than these proposed.

To Be Modern

Style of construction, steel and concrete, will conform to the present architecture. The new building will be modern in every respect.

The geenral contract has been let to Southwestern Engineering company, of Springfield, Mo.

There are 10 elevators in the Burrus system. The largest, 1,500,000 bushels capacity, is located at Dallas.

Valuation of the improved plant will approximate $250,000.

Election of other officers continued this afternoon. All selections except president, vice-president and recording secretary must be affirmed at the general conference of the church in July at Dallas.

Memphis, Tenn., was selected as the next meeting place. Birmingham, Ala., was the only other city seeking the convention.

MARSHALL MAN REPORTS HE WASN'T FROZEN TO DEATH IN BLIZZARD

(By Associated Press)

MARSHALL, March 14.—When March winds blow was considered a good time by Phillip Landers to report that he was not frozen to death in January's blizzard, so he came to town and let the fact be known.

While Landers' feat was no different from that of many another who survived the coldest winter Texas has had in thirty years, the distinction was that Landers had been mourned for dead, and a story broadcast that the men who found his body last January 18 were forced to kill his faithful guardian and companion, a dog, to get at the body.

The dog acompanied him on the trip to town yesterday.

Since Landers spends his time wandering across the countryside, with no family to hamper his wanderings, or investigate his whereabouts, the report was accepted as true without too deep investigation in January. Sheriff Sanders yesterday officially denied a body had been found.

WACO MAN IS IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

FRED B. ROBINSON IS OUT ON GOOD ROADS PLATFORM

(By Associated Press)

WACO, March 14.—Fred B. Robinson, veteran newspaper publisher and advocate of more and better State highways without extravagance, threw his "coat in the middle of the road" in Texas' gubernatorial race today.

Announcing his candidacy for governor on the democratic ticket, Mr. Robinson reiterated his well-known stand for good ronds and lower taxes, opposed the proposed state highway bond issue and favored reduction of motor vehicle license fees and cutting of the gasoline tax from four to two cents per gallon.

Rebuild System

He would advocate rebuilding of the prison system on the Wynne Farm near Huntsville at an expense of about $1,000,000, he said, "instead of buying more land and rebuilding elsewhere at an ultimate expense of around $6,000,000 to $10,000,000 or even only $5,000,000, the lowest estimate." He would oppose selling prison farm lands at this time at a probable sacrifice.

Other issues will be discussed when the campaign opens, said Mr. Robinson, who is the eighth announced candidate for the office, subject to the democratic primaries in July.

NEGOTIATIONS NEARLY COMPLETE FOR UNIT, OBSERVERS CLAIM

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, O., March 14.—Formation of America's first transcontinental railroad system under control of O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, is near completion, it was learned in financial circles here today. Only one more railroad is needed to complete the Van Sweringen coast-to-coast chain, according to the information of various railroad financial observers.

Already in control of a large railroad system covering northern states from the Atlantic ocean to the Mississippi river, the Van Sweringens, according to good authority, have acquired recently a working control of the Missouri Pacific system, which covers important truck lines as far west as Salt Lake City, as far southwest as El Paso, Texas, and connecting with the International Great Northern railroad from Mexico at Laredo, Texas.

The Missouri Pacific control has been acquired, financial observers said, through quiet buying of its common stock and convertible bonds.

The only remaining link believed necessary to join the Atlantic and Pacific by a railroad system under the Van Sweringen management is the Western Pacific from Salt Lake City to San Francisco.

WICHITA FALLS, March 14 (AP)—Once sentenced to death for the murder of his wealthy employer and benefactor, Arthur Pendergraft, Oklahoma farmer, D. J. Hoobler today faced the lesser fate of 45 years behind prison bars.

YOUNG'S PLAN FOR NEEDS IS TURNED DOWN

WELLINGTON MAN HAS PLAN FOR AIDING PRESENT PLANT

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Mar. 14.—The penitentiary reformation conference committee was plainly at the end of its rope today, after it had rejected a plan of Representative Dewey Young of Wellington of the house conferees to spend $600,000 in supplying emergency needs of the system.

The proposal was turned down by the same 3-2 majority of the senate conferees, standing for at least a small new unit to be devoted to industrial activities.

To Tide System Over

Representative Young explained that the money he proposed voting—$150,000 for improvements at Huntsville and $450,000 for the farms—was merely to tide the system over until the proposition of centralizing near Austin could be considered by the next legislature.

He maintained the existing properties would doubtless be retained for a number of years, and the money could be advantageously spent in renovating them.

The senate conferees were called on for a report on progress, and the question as to whether they should be discharged and new ones named caused prolonged debate.

The sulphur conferees were deadlocked, and the sine die resolution as amended to fix final quitting date March 20 remained on the table with indications Senator C. C. Small of Wellington, whose resolution to reconsider and spread on the journal placed it there, would not disturb it.

Senator W. A. Williamson of San Antonio, one of the administration bill supporters on the committee, stated he believed the conference committee might be able to reach an agreement by midnight.

Senator Edgar E. Witt of Waco,

BRANCH CO-OP OFFICE GIVEN

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE AT VERNON AIDS IN ORGANIZATION

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, March 14 — Establishment of the first branch office of the Texas Cotton Co-Operative Association since that statewide subsidiary of the American Cotton Co-Operative Association was reorganized three weeks ago was completed this week in Vernon, officials announced today.

C. O. Moser, vice president of the A. C. C. A., said upon his return from Vernon that the chamber of commerce there agreed to underwrite the expenses of operating the branch office. A clerical staff will be maintained, and close affiliation with the state and national organizations will be possible.

Creation of several subdivisions of the state marketing unit, formerly known as the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, is contemplated in line with the Federal Farm Board's program. Each regional unit will be related to the parent group until a certain amount of cotton is contracted, after which it will deal directly with the national organizations.

"GREATEST OF PLASTIC SURGEONS" IS WITHOUT LICENSE AND DOCTOR TITLE

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 14—The state of Illinois has stripped the title of "doctor" from Henry J. Schireson, self-styled "greatest of plastic surgeons."

An order revoking Schireson's license, signed yesterday by Michael F. Walsh, director of education and registration, culminated charges brought by Miss Sayde Holland that Schireson induced her to submit to an operation "to straighten her bow legs." It was necessary later to amputate both legs.

Dr. M. L. Harris, president of the American Medical Association, headed the state medical committee which heard the charges against Schireson.

Among other things, Dr. Harris reported it found that Miss Holland did not have bow legs; that Schireson was not of good moral character; that he had been the owner of a "quack institute and had twice served prison terms for quackery."

Among the celebrities Schireson listed as patients were Fannie Brice, "Peaches" Browning, Truly Shattuck and Sophie Tucker.

HUSTON TELLS OF DEALINGS OVER POWER

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN SAYS HE AIDED IN WORK PREVIOUSLY

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Questioned concerning activities in behalf of Muscle Shoals legislation, Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the republican national committee, testified Wednesday to the senate lobby committee he had contributed $50,000 to the Tennessee River Improvement Association.

The association advocated the proposal of the American Cyanamid company to lease the huge Alabama power and nitrate plants. Huston was its president until he became republican national chairman a few months ago. He said the total amount spent by the organization over a number of years was between $400,000 and $500,000 but that it had engaged in activities other than those in connection with Muscle Shoals.

Couldn't Give Records

Pressed to give the committee a record of receipts and expenditures, Huston said they had been kept on check stubs but that he did not know where they could be obtained now unless from J. W. Worthington, chairman of the association's executive committee.

Huston, who was dressed in a double breasted dark suit and spoke in a low, even tone, also denied to the committee reports that he would resign as chairman of the republican national committee. He added that he had called upon President Hoover tand had discussed with him "the erroneous information that was being spread regarding my connection with Muscle Shoals and possible resignation.

Huston said he went to see the president after a "majority of the papers of the country carried a statement that my connection with Muscle Shoals was embarrassing to the party leaders."

"I do not regard any activity I have ever had in connection with the Tennessee River Improvement Association as embarrassing to my office," he asserted. Later, he said:

"Let me tell you this, that prior to August, 1929, I did everything on earth that I could do, and I am sorry I did not do more, to further the interests of the Tennessee River Improvement Association. Since August, 1929, I have done nothing because I resigned, and I resigned seriously and quit."

CONSERVATION OF NATURAL GAS IS SOUGHT IN MEASURE BY TILLOTSON

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—Conservation of natural gas through giving the railroad commission power to supervise its production and distribution was sought in a bill introduced today by Rep. Leonard Tillotson of Sealy.

The bill would authorize the commission to supervise drilling and operation of oil and gas wells so the amount of gas produced should not be more than a "reasonable proportion" of the amount of oil produced. It would authorize the commission to cut down the amount of gas used regardless of the purpose to which it was being put.

It would authorize the commission to attach such appliances as it deemed necessary for conservation of gas to oil and gas wells.

The bill would provide a fine of $500 for failure to comply with the commission's orders.

Cancer Cure Told Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, March. 14. (AP)—Walter B. Coffey, San Francisco surgeon, today told a Senate committee and leaders of the medical profession that he and his associate Dr. John D. Humber, had caused a breakdown of cancerous tissues in 1,300 patients by administering an extract they had discovered.

Urging a national scientific commission to sponsor cancer research and treatment with federal assistance, Coffey said the best way for the government to cooperate in fighting the disease would be to insure assistance to any citizen qualified to conduct investigation.

STEEL MERGER IS APPROVED

YOUNGSTON STEEL AND TUBE TO COMBINE WITH BETHLEHEM

NEW YORK, March 14 — Plans for the acquisition by Bethlehem Steel corporation of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company of Youngstown, Ohio, thereby forming a $1,000,000,000 concern, were approved Wednesday by directors of both companies.

The agreement under which Bethlehem would exchange one and one-third of its common shares for each share of Youngstown common stock, is subject to the approval of the latters shareholders at a meeting April 8.

Influential minority stockholders of Youngstown Sheet and Tube in Youngstown and Cleveland, including the Otis Company-Eaton interests, will organize a proxy committee at once to oppose the plan at the Youngstown shareholders' meeting. The request of this group for an opportunity to study the Bethlehem plan before it was acted upon by the Youngstown board was denied.

The acquisition would give the combined company a capacity of 13,000,000 tons of steel annually, or approximately 20 per cent of the total for the industry in this country.

GULF STATES AND REPUBLIC TO MERGE

NEW YORK, March 14. (AP)—Settlement of the controversy between the management of the Gulf States Steel company of Birmingham, Ala., and certain important shareholders, including Otis & Co., paving the way for a merger of that company with the Republic Steel corporations, was announced here last night.

The agreement provides for the election of three new directors: Ferdinand Eberstadt, of Otis & Co., G. Munro Hubbard of J. G. White & Co., and Frank Altschul of Lazard Freres.

It is an essential part of the agreement that steps be taken toward the possibility of effecting a merger of Gulf and Republic on some "fair" basis.

'Course Clowny had a heap o' fun. He'd bathe a while and then he'd run along the beach. The sand was soft and felt good on his feet. All of a sudden he sat down and in the sand he worked around until he'd drawn a figure of a horse that looked real neat.

"Hey, look!" he shouted to the rest. "I'll bet you all can do your best and still not make a thing as good as this horse I have drawn." The others eyed it for a spell and Scouty said, "Gee! That is swell." Then Clowny messed the sand up and the little horse was gone.

Back to the water they all ran much to the pleasure of the man who'd let them take the bathing suits. He quite enjoyed their fun. Just watching them brought forth a smile. Thought he, I guess that after while I'll let them go boat riding when with swimming they are done.

The next thing that the old man knew the Tinies were skimming through the water right in front of him at quite a rapid pace. Each one was shouting mighty loud. It surely was a happy crowd. Then when they came ashore he found that they had had a race.

"I won the race, wee Scouty said." The man said "Fine! And now I have another plan for you. I have a fine canoe nearby that I thought you would like to try." And shortly all the bunch were none in the man's canoe.

They each took turns at paddling 'round and everything seemed safe and sound. Then foolish Clowny stood up and the next thing that they knew they all flopped out with a splash. The boat tipped over with a crash. It's always very foolish to stand up in a canoe.

Oil Well Firemen To Combat Flames

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 14. (AP)—Two oil well fire fighters, summoned from Tulsa to combat a roaring torch in the Oklahoma City field prepared today to snuff out the blaze by use of explosives.

M. M. and Frank Kinley, who have shot out many oil and gas well fires, said they expected to quench the column of flame tomorrow.

The Sinclair-Amerada number 5 Kinter gas well, has been burning since yesterday when a spark from friction ignited the gas flow shortly after the well blew in. Its pillar of fire, shooting high into the air, is visible for many miles.

Protected from intense heat by iron shields and spraying water the Kinley brothers worked today in cutting away the molten mass of steel that was once the derrick.

IMMIGRATION ON DECREASE

NUMBER OF MEXICANS COMING INTO U. S. IS LOWER NOW

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14. — A decrease of 74.7 per cent in immigration of Mexicans into the United States during the eight month beginning July 1, 1929, was shown today by the state department.

Common laborers, without previous residence in the United States, said the department, are entering the United States at a rate of less than 1,700 per anum, as compared with an estimated annual rate of more than 40,000 for the last five completed fiscal years.

Result Of Enforcement

The department referred to the decrease in immigration as a result obtained "administratively through an enforcement of restrict features of the immigration laws in Mexico equal in strictness to that observed in Europe and elsewhere." No interpretation of the figures was advanced by department officials.

A set of figures showing the decrease from month to month in two-thirds of the year under survey by the department was commented as follows:

"It should be noted in this connection that the total number of visas issued to Mexicans during the five completed fiscal years since the enactment of the immigration act of 1924 was 284,338, an average of 56,868 per anum or 4,739 per month.

"Of the 9,765 immigration visas issued to Mexicans in the eight month period ending February, 1930, only 1,125 or 141 per month were issued to common laborers without a previous residence in the United States."

Needs Of City Are Expressed At Public Relations Dinner Here

Employers Are Among Guests Of Local Business, Professional Women's Club

AN AMUSEMENT center, a club house, a systematic method of assisting the poor of the city, and a definite scheme for city beautification were among the "needs of our city" expressed by guests at the public relations dinner given by the Business and Professional Women's club Thursday evening in the ballroom of the Hotel Lubbock. About 80 persons, including members of the club, their employers, and representatives from other clubs in the city were present.

Each of the 1,100 Business and Professional Women's clubs throughout the United States was asked to hold a similar dinner on the same evening.

Combination Theme

Pink and green, club colors, and the St. Patrick motif were prettily combined in table decorations by Misses Hazel Millard and Ruby Marie Douthit.

A green runner on which was an occasional shamrock was used the entire length of the U-shaped table. St. Patrick hats were used as mint cups, and the chosen theme was further emphasized in dainty place cards on which were placed the club emblem.

Baskets of roses and carnations tied with pink tulle, and pink tapers in green holders completed the effect.

Visitors Introduced.

The club president, Miss Mattie Randolph, was toastmistress for the occasion and introduced the visitors and new members immediately following the "Club Collect" by Miss Ruth McCormick and an opening song.

Miss Louise Baird welcomed the employers and L. C. Ellis gave the response.

TRIBE ON WARPATH WITH PROMISING BALL CLUB

TEXAS CLUBS SEEK STRENGTH

PECKINPAUGH HAS STRONGER BUNCH READY

TRIBE TO GIVE FIGHT THIS SEASON IF ALL RUNS TRUE

BY RALPH WHEATLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW ORLEANS, March 14 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians are on the warpath, and their whoops should be heard up around the top of the hill when the 1930 season closes.

Chief Roger Peckinpaugh is whipping a powerful squad into shape at Heinemann park. While they may not have enough power to fend off the Athletics and Yankees, they should be giving somebody a tussle for the flying banner when the season closes.

Have Backbone

The Indians are fortunate in having the backbone of their team made up of men old in baseball, but young in years. In addition they have a promising bunch of huskies itching to step into the shoes of the regulars. Out of the squad of 42 big men, 35 may be considered well beyond the raw stage.

Last year the Indians finished in third place and were playing ball like demons when the season ended. If it were possible for the Indians at the start of this season to hit their stride of the last month of the 1929 season, they probably would go rough shod over anything in sight.

No Drastic Changes

There will not be any drastic changes in this season's lineup over last. Charlie Jamieson may be forced to function as utility outfielder as his 37 years have placed him in the twilight of baseball. It will be hard for him to hold his regular post against such men as Bib Falk, Earl Averill and Dick Porter.

The Indians had the fright of their lives when it looked as if scarlet fever would keep Lewis Fonseca off first base, but all is hunkidore now, for word has come from California that Fonseca is up and about, is even taking light training on the coast and will be fit for the start of the season.

Needed Fonseca

The Indians would have been in a sad plight if they had lost this man, who led the American League in batting honors last season and snapped into it on first base as naturally as a duck taking to water. They were drilling Henry Bonura and Alex Hooks for the job, but they showed nothing to make merry over in comparison with Fonseca.

The shortstop billet is creating lots of excitement with three lads, Carl Lind, Ray Gardner and John Goldman competing for it. Lind is making a drive to get back with the regulars after being routed off of second by Urban Hodapp. Hodapp has second clinched about as Joe Sewell has third. Luke Sewell and Glenn Myatt as usual will carry the hod behind the bat.

The pitching squad is something to behold. Only one of them stands under six feet and only one of them is in the thirties. They are eight right handers and four southpaws, with Ferrell the top hand, but with Hudlin, Miller, Holloway and Shaute not far below. Others with more than passing ability are Clinton Brown, Milbern Shoffner, Mel Harder, and Peter Jablonowski.

The main weapon possessed by the Indians is their hitting power.

Water Stars Trying For New Time Marks

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 14. (AP)—Stars turned their attention today to low board diving and a trial for new marks in the 50-meter swim in the second day's program of the National A. A. U. Women's swimming championships here.

Eleanor Holm of the women's swimming association of New York, jumped into the front of the carnival yesterday when she shattered her own world's record for the 300 yard medley individual swim to four minutes 16 seconds, clipping 6 2-5 seconds from her former mark established at Newark, N. J.

Sixteen-year-old Helene Madison of the Crystal swimming club, Seattle, took the honors in the opening event of the carnival, winning the 100 yard free style. Her time was one minute 1 3-5 seconds.

Texas Youth Will Meet Rene De Vos

CHICAGO, March 14. (AP)—Rene De Vos, veteran Belgian middleweight title contender, and Clyde Chastain, Dallas, Tex., youngster, will meet in the 10-round feature of the Chicago Stadium's boxing program tonight.

De Vos today was an 8 to 5 favorite, but the hard-hitting youth from Texas was accorded better than an outside chance to upset the Belgian, following decisive victories over Mushakon Hanson, and Harry Ebbetts, in his last two starts.

Athens To Defend National Cage Title

CHICAGO, March 14. (AP)—Athens, Tex., high school, winner of the 1929 national interscholastic basketball tournament at the University of Chicago, will defend its title April 1-5.

Athens was eliminated from the Texas championships in the semi-final round by Denton, which finally won the title, but as defending champion was invited to compete.

Manlius School of New York, runnerup in the University of Pennsylvania tournament, has declined to compete because of University of Chicago eligibility rules which would keep a star forward out of the game.

IN THE REALM OF SPORT

WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Journal Sports Editor

After announcing their invitation track and field meet for April 18 and 19, Amarillo Globe-News officials woke up to their mistake yesterday and changed the dates for the event April 11 and 12. This puts the affair one week earlier and prevents the conflict with the district meets, which are scheduled for 18 and 19 both here and at Canyon.

* * *

Both Slaton and Lubbock would have been denied the opportunity to enter the Amarillo meet if the original dates had been left. The Tigers won the event at the Panhandle metropolis last year and are due to defend their title there next month. Lubbock tracksters did not enter last season, but the Westerners will likely be there with bells on this year. Unless a dark horse makes its appearance, the locals stand in a good way to capture high honors.

* * *

Class A, Class B and rural schools will be included in the list of contestants at Amarillo next month and several hundred athletes are expected to compete. The Globe-News is presenting the trophies to the winning teams; individual awards will be given by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

* * *

The proposal of the Amarillo American Legion for a Sunday baseball loop for this section listens like a plausible venture and the idea should be welcomed by local diamond addicts. Sunday baseball is the only hope for Lubbock fans and there's no doubt that talent here is sufficient to assemble a first-class nine. The current need is a manager who has the time and wherewithall to put a club on a paying basis. Capable pitchers will probably have to be imported, but otherwise, the team is already here. The 1929 season in Lubbock was marred by a lack of hurling talent; poor pitching made the Hubber cause hopeless at the Amarillo tournament last August and poor pitching enabled Lamesa to wallop the locals consistently.

* * *

A, B, C and ward schools will enter the county meet at Slaton on March 28 and 29. For the first time in history, Lubbock High school will not compete in the county and thus Slaton is left the reigning favorite to capture high honors. Expenses of entertaining the Interscholastic Meet will be defrayed by the Slaton chamber of commerce, its board of directors decided this week. There will be no gate and all contestants will be allowed to enter the meet without paying a fee. Awards for the first, second and third place winners in each of the 90 events will be provided. The all-around county champion will receive a handsome trophy.

* * *

Dame rumor has it that Coach Jim Bradford at Quanah has ambitions to become head coach at North Side High school in Fort Worth. he Indian mentor for the past several seasons did not apply for the Quanah post and as a result Superintendent Davis and his associates are scouring the country for coaching talent. A communication from the Hardeman county capital says that the new Redskin coach will likely be named within the next three weeks.

* * *

Among the ones most likely to be considered for the Quanah post are Cain, from Poteau, Okla.; Chambers, of Granfield, Okla.; Miller, of Trinidad; Paul Wright, of Slaton; Cherry, of Borger; Emory of Laredo; Mayes and Hunter from Amarillo. We could personally recommend Wright, but the Slaton authorities are not likely to let him go if it is possible to hold him in the Tiger fold.

* * *

Latest reports from Vernon indicate Heinie Weir will remain at the head Lion coach. Sentiment created over the past football season has just about died down and now everything appears to be nice and peaceful along the banks of Pease River.

Two Teams Turn Up Even On 36th Hole

MIAMI, Fla., March 14. (AP)—Cyril Walker and Clarence Gamber today meet Harry Hampton and Neil McIntyre in an 18-hole play-off for the championship of the annual international four ball matches.

Darkness halted the final round of the tournament yesterday with the teams even on the 36th green. There were three eagles on the last three holes.

Hampton brought yesterday's play to a close as he dropped a two under par on the 36th to tie the score.

The extra hole playoff today will decide the distribution of the $1,500 for the championship tea mand $1,000 for the runners-up.

FROM TEE TO GREEN

BY ROY GROVE
Central Press Sports Writer

Golfers, in beginning, should realize there are many ways to learn the game. We mean that the game is founded on a general principle from start to finish, but that does not exclude one from using individual naturalness to develop their golf.

All professionals have their peculiarities. This is very noticeable on the putting green and is just as radical on the tee, but is hidden by the power of the stroke.

For that reason it is very difficult to imitate the drive of your favorite golfer.

Johnny Farrell has a very peculiar putting form which is all in his hands. He digs the nail of his right thumb into the leather of his putter. Johnny says this method keeps the wrists working in a straight line. This also lessens the danger of "rolling wrists," which sends the putt to the right or the left of the cup. Whether this is true or not, it is Farrell's belief, it may be taken as form, or confidence.

Hagen's putting is considered the finest. His stance is wide open, with feet far apart as illustrated in the drawing. The ball is played well off the right foot, his elbows are close to the body and his putting is done with the wrists.

His game is much the same throughout, whereas Farrell's differs with almost every shot. Farrell's feet are close together on the green and wide apart on the tee. Between these points his stance varies with the distance of the shot.

FIRE AT SANTONE

SAN ANTONIO, March 14. (AP)—A spectacular fire of undetermined origin did between $30,000 and $50,000 damage to the McAllister building here Thursday. Three alarms brought fifteen companies of fire fighters to the blaze. A score of firemen barely escaped injury when a ceiling and stairway under which they were working collapsed.

CHATTER FROM THE TRAINING CAMPS

HERMAN STILL HOLDING OUT; CONNIE CAUSES SENSATION; CISSELL GOES TO SECOND

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 14—Angered over Babe Herman's refusal to sign a contract, President Frank B. York of the Brooklyn Robins threatens to put the outfielder on the baseball block. York said he would try to trade Herman for another outfielder within the next few days unless Herman decided to sign a contract at $15,000 a year. He is holding out for $25,000.

Larry Benton, right hander of the New York Giants, also has tried the hold-out act, but has decided he doesn't care about it. The redhead came to terms with John McGraw yesterday and immediately broadcast a statement to the effect he was glad it was all over. Not only Benton, but Freddie Lindstrom, came to terms with the club, leaving Edd Roush as the only holdout of moment.

Connie Causes Show

Connie Mack, tall leader of the Philadelphia Athletics, has stolen the show at the training camp of the New York Yankees. Connie took his world's champions to St. Petersburg yesterday for an exhibition game with the Boston Braves, but rain forced cancellation of the contest as well as any practice for the Yankees. Connie then invaded Yankee headquarters and sized up the American League race for 1930 as he saw it. The A's, he says, will repeat with the Yankees to be feared all the way.

The Phillies' pitching staff is 30 per cent stronger than last year, Manager Burt Shotton believes. "Mentally, physically and in experience," Shotton said at Winterhaven, Fla., today, "they are all better. The experience they have had, the old winning spirit they imbibed in the last few months of the 1929 season and Grover Alexander have turned the trick."

Cissell to Second

Donie Bush, manager of the Chicago White Sox, believes Bill Cissell, not so good as a shortstop, will live up to his $123,000 price-tag as a second baseman. Cissell's work has been so impressive in practice at San Antonio that Bush has decided Charlie Gehringer of Detroit will have a real rival for second base honors.

With an eye toward the possibility of getting the pitching assignment Sunday in the Pittsburgh Pirates' opening exhibition game of the season with the San Francisco Seals, the Meine brothers and French and Spencer warmed up for today's resumption of the yanigan-regular series. Hemsley, catcher, and Paul Waner reported with ailing right legs. Hemsley's as a result of soreness and "Big Poison's" as the result of getting in the way of a batted ball.

Sens Meet Pelicans

Today's performance of the Washington Nationals in their first formal competition, with the New Orleans Pelicans, was of no inconsiderable interest to Manager Walter Johnson and the rest of the powers that be. The game with the Southern Association team was the first of a series of nineteen exhibitions before the start of the American League championship campaign at Washington, April 14. President Griffith's capital leaguers were in fair trim, as a result of two weeks' training for the batterymen and more than a week's workouts for most of the boys in the field at Biloxi, Miss.

"Miss Panama" Is "Miss Latin-America"

MIAMI, Fla., March 14. (AP)—Senorita Meida Boyd, bearing the title "Miss Panama," was selected "Miss Latin America," before a crowd of 10,000 persons in Bay Front park here last night. The dark complexioned beauty was given first honor by a board of four judges who reviewed the nine entrants in the contest.

Senorita Julia Salazar Loria, "Miss Costa Rica," was given second honors and Senorita Hydee Morales, "Miss Nicaragua," third.

Movable types were invented in China in the tenth century, by Coster in Europe, in 1438. Cut metal types were invented by Guttenberg in Germany, about 1450.

CLUBS PLUG AWAY AT TASK OF PREPARING

EXHIBITION GAMES TO BE STAGED SUNDAY BETWEEN CLUBS

(By Associated Press)

Plugging away in preparation for the first exhibition games of the season, practice games were scheduled for nearly every club in the Texas League today.

Heading the coming exhibition matches are the Beaumont-Kansas City clash Sunday at Beaumont, the Dallas-St. Paul clash Saturday, and the match Saturday between the Baltimore team of the International League and the Houston Buffs. Art Reinhart, Ray Lingrel and Allyn Stout will handle the ball for the Buffs. Manager Joe Schultz announced. He had planned using Joe Brown, right hander, but Brown was one of the early recruits to the hospital squad with a slight ankle injury.

Bonowitz Returns

Another pitching casualty, fully recovered today, was Vin Devaney of the Fort Worth Cats, who tried to stop one that was too fast, losing a chip from the bone of a little finger. The Panthers celebrated with the return of Joe Bonowitz, slugging left fielder, who did a little celebrating on his own account with some pasture punches in batting practice.

Rain spoiled the Shreveport Sports, ladies day contest yesterday, but not before regulars had beaten the Yannigans for the first time in a number of starts.

Youngsters Win

At Dallas, the youngsters came out on top, 5 to 3, after staging a batting spree in the fifth inning which accounted for four runs, the hits including everything up to home runs.

A home has been found for some of the Waco Cubs not quite ready to step into the Texas league. George "Pop" Jackson, manager of the Eldorado, Ark., class D team of the cotton States league, was in town looking over the castoffs, signed a pitcher and an outfielder, and cast hopeful glances at three infielders, one of whom chalked up .400 in batting in the West Texas League last year.

Auer Returns

The most important development ported from the Indians' camp at San Antonio was the decision of Roy Auer to pitch for the tribe this year, his fear of a sunstroke 'neath Texas skies conquered by his greater dread of permanent suspension from pro baseball. Auer was obtained through the New York Giants last year, but refused to report because he disliked the heat.

'MOTHER HUBBARD' LOOKS ON

Some one probably smacked a beautiful double, reminding Connie Mack and Bing Miller (1) of a similar hit from Bing's bat that won a world championship for the A's last fall. The scene is the Athletics' Fort Myers, Fla., training camp. Roger Cramer (2), hard-hitting rookie infielder, figures extensively in Connie's plans, as does Jim Keesey (3), first baseman, who should prove a capable understudy to Jimmy Foxx.

He has been on the suspended list since.

Beaumont's absentee list was reduced to five with the arrival of Rush Yeargin, infielder. Of these five, only one is classed as a hold-out—Denny Burns, twirler.

At a practice game, the Spudders uncovered another promising Rookie in Charles Sicola of Houston who put one-out of the park for the Yannigans only run in a 9-1 contest.

Lewis international president of the United Mine Workers of America, that William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, will address the union Monday was regarded as the most significant development of the third day's session of the union's thirty first consecutive convention here today.

that the highway department is making a survey route the highway in such a manner as to pass up that city.

A campaign will be inaugurated in Lubbock next week to increase membership in the Texas Cotton Cooperative association by C. O. Moser, of Dallas, R. E. Overstreet, a director of the Texas Farm Bureau, announced yesterday upon his return from a meeting of the directors in Dallas.

Moser is vice president and general manager of the United States Cotton Cooperative association.

It is understood that with his arrival in this city determined efforts will be made to create the location of Lubbock as a cotton concentration point for this territory.

Meeting Planned

A meeting will be held with local business men at which time Moser will outline his plans, followed by a joint meeting later of business men and farmers of the territory.

The joint meeting in Dallas was held on Tuesday and was also attended from this city by Dean A. H. Leidigh, of the school of agriculture at Texas Technological college, a member of the governor's committee. Following the joint gathering the board of directors of the Texas Farm Bureau met on Wednesday for further discussion.

"With conclusion of the Dallas meeting," stated Mr. Overstreet, "The Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association is no more. That organization has been merged into the Texas Cotton Cooperative association. Final action on this matter was taken Wednesday."

TURNER TRIAL

Campbell and Vickers, of the defense. Price closed the arguments.

Never before in history of the county has such interest been aroused. The court room has been jammed since the first witness went to the stand and at times hundreds of persons have been turned away, not able to even come within hearing distance.

Convicted In 1925

Mrs. Turner was charged with slaying her husband in October, 1920. She was convicted of the murder in 1925, but won a new trial.

According to her version, Turner was shot and killed in a struggle over a gun, participated in by Mrs. Mollie Turner, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ester Turner, and her husband, during which the gun was accidentlaly discharged. She exhibited a door which had been chopped Mrs. Ester Turner, and her husbands which she said were powder stains, as proof.

Mrs. Ester Turner, divorced from her husband in 1926, said Mrs. Turner shot Turner as he was walking toward the stable on their farm home near Wilson, then beat down the door, and put bluing on her hands to give them the semblance of being powder burned. The defendant had threatened many times to kill her husband, she testified.

Sergievsky Makes 19,065 Feet Mark

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP) — The National Aeronautic association announced today that the bureau of standard's calibration of the barograph used on the flight of Boris Sergievsky, seeking a new loaded seaplane record at New York March 4, showed an altitude of 19,065 feet as compared to the old record of 15,837 feet.

The calibration report has been sent to the federation aeronautique internationale at Paris for official recognition. Sergievsky's flight on March 4 was in a seaplane carrying a pay load o f2,000 kilograms.

The previous record was held by Lieutenant De Vaisseau, French navy pilot, who took his seaplane carrying a load of 2,000 kilograms to a height of 15,837 feet on May 15, 1929.

Thought For Today

Therefore I went about to cause my heart to despair of all the labour which I took under the sun.—Ecclesiastes 2:19.

* * *

O God! O God! How weary, stale, flat and unprofitable seem to me all the uses of this world.—Shakespeare.

Why Not?

Michael Fiaschetti used to be in charge of the Italian squad of the New York City police force. Now he is at the head of a private detective bureau; and he believes that any American city can quickly clean up its underworld problem if it will only let its police use the stool pigeon and the third degree in unlimited quantities.

The stool pigeon, as you know, is an underworld informer; a member of the criminal class who secretly passes out information to the police.

And the third degree, of course, is the business of taking a prisoner and hammering the living daylights out of him until he confesses.

Fiaschetti defends both of these systems. He has found, he says, that they work; and he can't see any sense in handling gangsters with kid gloves.

Several years ago, he says, a little boy was kidnaped and murdered in New York. The police for a long time got nowhere in their investigation. Finally Fiaschetti got a stool pigeon, who told him who the murderers were. There were five of them. Fiaschetti arrested them, but he didn't have enough evidence to take them to court. They refused to talk.

"Then," says Fiaschetti, "I went to work. I put the five men in a room and walked in several minutes later armed with a sawed-off baseball bat. When I came out there was blood spattered on the walls and ceiling—and I had five signed confessions. All the men went to the electric chair."

The end is usually justified by the means, and the murderers of a small boy hardly deserve much sympathy, no matter what happens to them. But just suppose that in some similar case the stool pigeon might make a mistake, or lodge a false accusation to work off a personal grudge,—so that the police should become convinced that five utterly innocent men were guilty.

Is there anything very agreeable about the thought of a burly cop wading in, with a sawed-off baseball bat, using it until "there was blood spattered on the walls and ceilings"—when all of his victims were innocent?

That's the sort of thing that can and does happen when third degree methods are used. Men have confessed to crimes they never dreamed of committing, just to escape from being beaten to death.

Besides, if we are going to make human torture a part of our police methods, why use baseball bats and fists? The police of the middle ages had better ideas. Why not go back to them? If we must torture prisoners to get confessions why not install the rack and the thumb screws and the other devices of the inquisition?

The third degree, after all, is only a substitute for brains. The police of London do not have to use it—yet they manage to convict a far higher percentage of criminals than our American police do. They are able to get their evidence in legal ways. Are we too dumb to do likewise?

In The Offing

The news from the London naval conference continues to be discouraging. It is gradually becoming apparent that there is small chance for any real reduction in naval strength; indeed, any agreement that is reached is apt to result in more naval building rather than less.

This is doubly hard to take because the country had such high hopes when the conference opened. Ramsay MacDonald's stirring remark of last fall—that people everywhere must be prepared to "take risks for peace"—seem to have been forgotten. None of the nations represented at the conference appears in a mood to risk anything.

Denise Dorothy thinks the naval parley has something to do with a certain kind of oranges.

THE PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says when a girl has to swallow her pride it doesn't go down well.

* * *

THE Plainsman has just spent a very pleasant hour analyzing the operations report of the West Texas Gas company in Lubbock covering the year 1929 and filed with the City of Lubbock under requirements of Articles 1119 and 1121, Revised Civil Statutes of 1925. It will be reproduced in full on this page soon and should make interesting reading for the cash customers. What this column would like to have, in addition, is a similar report of the South Plains Pipeline company, carrying organization for the gas company. Its disclosures, compared with the local company's report, should give much food for thought along the gas rate controversy.

* * *

One of the things The Plainsman has learned from the report filed here is that gas company properties depreciate with alarming rapidity. If the company continues to do business here a few years longer it won't have a physical asset—according to the depreciation figures to date. It must be a terrible worry to that big golf and dime man, John D., from Florida and points north, east, south and west.

* * *

Keep the well-known glimmers peeled for the report and The Plainsman's analysis. Doubtless it will add light to the survey under way to discover whether gas rates here are "in" or "out" of line.

* * *

If you want the really big news and low-down on what's going on around here, just watch this column. (Pause for applause). The Plainsman's latest triumph in the form of a scoop is being presented at the expense of Sports Editor George Allan Carney, which may or may not mean anything to you.

* * *

Since the appointment of Peter Willis Cawthon as director of athletics at Texas Tech, that young gentleman's name has been on many tongues. Recently, while the afore-mentioned Mr. Carney was chasing a little white sphere around a local pasture The Plainsman interviewed a man who ought to know something about Mr. Cawthon, by virtue of the fact that he heads the institution where Peter made himself famous. We refer to Dr. Thomas S. Clyce, for thirty years president of Austin college, Sherman, who recently conducted a revival for the benefit of the deacons of the First Presbyterian church.

* * *

"Pete Cawthon", quoth the doctor, "will make Tech a good man. The boys on the squad will play football or they'll get off the field. He's a driving driver who knows how to drive and is altogether an admirable gentleman."

* * *

THAT statement may not mean a great deal to some folks but to those who take an interest in Tech football it will spell plenty. The Plainsman is convinced that there'll be plenty of hustle on Matador field next autumn, when the sage turns brown and all that sort of thing. Doctor Clyce's recommendation, of Pete Cawthon was a good one, if you ask The Plainsman.

* * *

"There is only one thing to fear in Pete's ball clubs", continued Dr. Clyce, who is evidently something of a football fan himself, "and that is he might drive so hard and so continuously in early season that his team would 'go stale' by the late part of the schedule."

And if that's all there is to worry about, most fans here will spend a restful summer. There's plenty of material at Tech and if some of the boys go stale there'll be others to take their places.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says there is nothing childish about a baby vamp's victims except the way they act.

* * *

There were no plush-tenor crooners when father was a boy but the same effect was gained through hollering down the rainbarrel.

* * *

Pictures of the new and ultra-modern five-color bathrooms are mighty pretty but you can't tell much about acoustics from a picture.

* * *

JUST one more day—and then if you don't get your income tax in the mail it'll be another case of "too bad". It's gotta be in tomorrow—and The Plainsman, for one, would rather be slapped in the face with a dead rabbit than pay off to Uncle Sam in this particular regard. Call it unpatriotic, if you want to, but 99.44 percent feel the same way about it and will admit it if they are honest enough.

* * *

The Plainsman has sat up with his income tax blank like a mother sits up with a colicky baby. And after a month of hard concentration he doesn't know any more about what some of its phrases mean than a hog knows about a side-saddle.

* * *

The best The Plainsman can make out of it is that some way or another he owes the federal government a dollar and 17 cents, more or less. What it's owed for and who says he owes it is still a matter of deep, dark mystery.

Before you birds get back to trying to out-figure Andy Mellon, let's all get together and give three rousing cheers for the brave Senators who wanted to cancel the European war debts.

Theoretically, The Senate Can Move Fast But Actually It Can't, Correspondent Dutcher Finds In Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, March 14 Theoretically the Senate can put on a burst of speed, but actually it can't.

This has been demonstrated in the case of the tariff bill. The presidents and the leaders of the House were shouting "Oid-dap!" and every member of the Senate was anxious to get the bill over with as rapidly as possible, but attempts to limit debate got nowhere at all despite a general consent to night sessions.

The upper house is now meeting at 11 a. m. and continuing right on into night sessions of indeterminate duration, with no recesses, which means a theoretical working day of 11 or 12 hours without counting such time as senators must spend in their offices or at committee meetings prior to convening at 11.

Wanted an Earlier Start

Senator Smoot of Utah, in charge but not in control of the tariff bill, urged that the Senate meet daily at 10 so as to get an early start on the non-tariff bill which has often taken up the first hour or so. He agreed with Simmons of North Carolina, Democratic tariff leader, who asked unanimous consent that each senator's remarks in debate on amendments and the bill be limited to 10 minutes. But Simmons started the movement that wrecked this plan when he proposed that the amendment proposing duty on petroleum be made an exception because that proposal hadn't been discussed.

"We are all worn out with the strain," complained Walsh of Massachusetts, supporting Simmons.

Steiwer of Oregon objected because he felt lumber also should be excepted from the limit on debate. Other senators were willing to exclude lumber. Smoot then moved that the Senate meet at 10 next day, but McKellar of Tennessee objected because it would interfere with committee meetings.

Walsh of Montana guessed that if crude oil and lumber were excluded from the limitation there would be no further objection to the gag, but Dill of Washington demanded a quorum so that other senators might have a chance to get their own pet items accepted.

"I object unless long-staple cotton is excluded," said Shortridge of California as soon as the roll had been called and the situation explained. Barkley of Kentucky contended that two or three amendments were likely to arise where 10 minutes would be insufficient properly to treat the subject and promised not to object if the limit were 15 minutes instead of 10. Norris of Nebraska asked another exception for an amendment aimed against monopolies created by reason of high tariffs.

Smoot objected to Barkley's 15-minute proposal and it turned out that Barkley was principally interested in bricks. By this time the exceptions were piling high, but Copeland of New York made the pyramid insurmountable when he insisted on reserving the right to talk on any subject as long as he felt necessary. New York was the greatest industrial state, he said, had no senator on the Finance Committee and hence could only voice the needs of its industries through its senators on the floor. His objection stood.

Several senators had engagements for the evening so it was decided to start night sessions the next evening instead of at once. George of Georgia hoped no senator would object to meeting at 10 a. m. and after McKellar had withdrawn his objection Smoot made the motion. This time it was Dill who protested that, with night sessions, that was too much. And La Follette of Wisconsin said that if they convened at 10 it would take nearly an hour to get a quorum and meeting so early would be futile. Howell of Nebraska proposed 12 o'clock as the meeting time so a senator could spend some time in his own office and still not miss the tariff debate. A senate meeting from 12 to 10 p. m. would be performing its duty, he insisted. Walsh of Massachusetts suggested working hours of 12 to 10:30.

Says He'll Stay Away

Norris then pleaded that staying until 10:30 meant many senators couldn't get home and in bed before 11 or 12. "We cannot keep up that kind of a life," said Norris. "I cannot and I am not going to try. I will not object, but I will not be here." He would prefer meeting at 11 and stopping at 10, but would agree to anything, however unreasonable.

No closing time was set. The night sessions were to last as late as they might happen to last.

Toward the end Heflin of Alabama, a champion at the dinner table, suggested a dinner recess of from 6 to 7:30, but was howled down. Senators consequently are sneaking out for a bite whenever their presence seems least required.

LITTLE CHILDREN MUST BE TAUGHT TO EAT FOODS THAT ARE HEALTHFUL

Answers to Mothers

God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers.
—Jewish Proverb.

"Dear Doctor: My four-months-old baby refuses water, orange juice and cod liver oil, both from bottle and spoon. When forced to take them he often vomits them up. Shall I continue giving them?

"My two-year-old boy refuses cereal, after taking a few spoonfuls. It seems to gag him. Shall I force it on him? Both babies seem to be in perfect health. MRS. S."

It sometimes happens that the foods children refuse are foods that do disagree with them, but this is rare. I simply would try with that strong-minded, four-months-old chap, to see if you can't mold his will power. (Remember that will power mustn't be broken, but molded.) He must have his orange juice or tomato juice or fresh cabbage juice, and he must have his cod liver oil or viosterol, to prevent rickets. Of course, you might try giving the orange juice in its milk, if it has a formula, but even this might not be so good. He'll learn to like it straight if you persist.

With the two-year-old. Do you cook his cereals properly so that they are not lumpy or too thick, etc? You might try putting a little fruit on the cereals, or sprinkling some flakes of the dry cereals on top.

Perhaps you are paying too much attention to him. Children do love attention, and if by doing something a little unnatural they find they can get it, they keep it up. I would say quietly, "If you do not eat your cereal you can't have—" whatever it is that he especially likes. Then take him away from the table, and don't give him anything until the next meal. The chances are the next meal he will take it. If he doesn't put him down again. Children can gag and induce vomiting very easily so I wouldn't be frightened about that.

Perhaps your children should have some extra vitamin B, which would stimulate the appetite. Vitavybe is an official preparation, which has been endorsed by the American Medical association, of concentrated vitamin B. You can obtain this in all reliable drug stores.

We have a list of books on the general care and feeding of children. See column rules for obtaining this.

* * *

Mrs. D.: Children who are bed wetters are frequently undernourished or malnourished. (These do not mean exactly the same, for a child or adult may be overnourished and be malnourished, mal meaning bad.)

The child should be first taken to a physician for a check-up to see if there is any physical abnormality for his habit, and if there is none building up general health should overcome it.

Never punish for it. Rather give rewards for dry nights.

Undernourishment is perhaps more often accompanied by bed wetting than overnourishment. All of the medical literature I have on the subject says that the evening meal should be light and liquids restricted after 4 o'clock in the afternoon but I believe that if more food is given at the evening meal, and a little something just before bedtime it will be better, for with the food products of digestion in the tissues they have to hold water to keep the tension right. In this way, it wouldn't be filtered out by the kidneys and accumulate in the bladder.

So far as I remember, I haven't seen this theory advanced before, so I wish you would try it and let me know your results, will you, please, all of you who have bed-wetting children?

In New York With Swan

Gilbert Swan

NEW YORK, March 14—Ringsiding with some of our better known celebrities. . . .

The scene is Rudy Vallee's supper club. The location is East Sixtieth street under a most dignified appearing hotel-apartment which attracts many literary and artistic folk from Europe. Edgar Wallace, the mystery tale-teller ,always stops there—for instance.

It is well toward morning. The large room is decorated with ultra modernistic mirrors and wall fixtures, mixed with the usual gauche trimmings of most night resorts.

Because M. Vallee's particular type of music lends itself to dimmed lights and "moonlights," the carpeting is rimmed with long white lines—like street-traffic stripes—which guide the dancers to the floor. One must watch his step, since there are several sets of tricky little stairs which build the room into a gently sloping amphitheater. The waiters all carry little electric flashlamps concealed in what appear to be fountain pens. They rush up from time to guide the uncertain of foot.

* * *

The crowd is typical. A large percentage is drawn from every section of the nation. Rudy is, to hundreds of visitors, one of the town's new tourist attractions. Having heard him on the air and the records and the screen, they want to "see what he really does look like." So many myths are built about such personalities.

The conversations to be overheard on the dance floor are more than passingly amusing. Most of the visitors and most of the native young women things from nearby colleges and high schools dance hurriedly toward the platform upon which "their hero" and his band are perched.

What they see is a very young man who, thank heaven, is not as "pretty" as most of his photographs make him. His eyes are closer together than most suspect; he has an extremely casual impersonality toward his audience. A saxophone of medium size is swung over one shoulder. A larger one is at his right hand. He toots along with his band until a "croon" tune comes along and then—swish—the room is suddenly blanketed! A series of soft blue front stage lights spread an eerie pallor over the stage and, from just above, a green spot plays down upon the face of the crooner. His body is lost in the gloom. Only the face appears, in that chalky-white which only a green spot can create. It's all very dramatic—in a sentimental, youthfully romantic fashion.

* *

That's what you notice almost immediately about Rudy, his band and his atmosphere. Not since the dear old days of the high school dance have you felt quite this way about things. The pranks of the band are of the high school vintage; the youngsters who dance by are either high school or young collegians. It's all very young and—if you'll pardon me—just a little amusing.

But enough people have taken a crack at analyzing this young man and his methods! So, to get back to my ringside seat. . . .

The youngsters are babbling as they dance past in the half-light. . . . "I told you he was funny looking. . . ." "He's nothing of the kind . . . look, he shuts his eyes when he sings . . . ." An envious youth bursts into sneering laughter. . . . "What a racket!" . . . "He doesn't look anything like I thought he would."

Two more mature and critical curiosity mongers open a warm discussion of abstract and psychological values.

Upon his band stand Rudy must hear the echo of the many-sided remarks. But he goes, impersonally on.

Now, in the green spotlight, he caresses the glistening metal circle of the microphone. His hand is almost stroking the metal. His face is pressed close to it. It might be some beautiful woman, with a lover-troubadour addressing her in song. He's giving everything he's got to "the air" and if these nearer by are infected—well, that's that!

The oldest piece of iron ever found was under the Egyptian pyramid Gizeh. Its age was estimated at 6000 years.

The Teacher

An old man going a lone highway
Came at the evening, cold and gray.
To a chasm, vast, and deep, and wide,
The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
The swollen stream had no fears for him;
But he turned, when safe on the other side,
And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old Man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your time in building here,
You never again will pass this way.
Your journey will end with the closing day;
You have crossed the chasm, deep and wide,
Why build you this bridge at even'-tide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head,
"Good friend, in the way I've come," he said,
"There followeth after me today,
A youth, whose feet must pass this way;
This stream, that has been as naught to me,
To the fair haired youth might a pitfall be;
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim;
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him."

YOUR VERY BEST OPPORTUNITY

There are people in Lubbock who own their homes clear of debt, and who want to sell them. Maybe they have to leave on account of health or business changes. Or maybe they want to change their investment. Yet they can not sell and perhaps can not for several years. Houses that are worth $5,000 and $6,000 are bringing when sold $3,500 and $4,000; houses that are worth $10,000 to $12,000 or $14,000 are bringing $6,000, or $7,000 or $9,000. Raw lands are selling well, for they are still cheap and in demand, and the folks who are coming now are nearly all farmers. The very best, easiest and quickest way for you to turn your property into money is to trade it for our clients' lands in Hockley county. It is worth $30 per acre and with fair crop and decent prices this year will go to $40. It has small debt of $12.75, long terms at 6 per cent. Not leased, no blue weeds, fine school, fine water. Let's talk it over.

DAILY MARKETS

COTTON MOVES IRREGULARLY

FIRST TRADES SHOW UNCHANGES TO POINTS DOWN

NEW ORLEANS, March 14. (AP)—Cotton opened steady, and first trades were unchanged to 4 points up as cables appeared about as due. The market gained slightly in sympathy with New York, but eased later on realizing, May dropping to 14.34, and July to 14.54, or 6 to 9 points down from the highs. At the end of the first hour the market was steady and 3 points above the lows and only a shade under the previous close.

The market became somewhat active as the morning advanced, and good demand for contracts developed, probably due to reduction in the federal reserve bank deriscount to 3 1-2 per cent. May traded up to 14.60, July to 14.81 and October to 14.95, or 26 to 29 points up from earlier lows. At noon the market was very steady and close to the highs.

ADVANCE OF 5 TO DROP OF 3 REGISTERED

NEW YORK, March 14. (AP)—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 5 points to a decline of 3 points. There may have been a little selling on the relatively easy showing of Liverpool, but offerings were light, and the market showed a fairly steady undertone, although prices worked off a few points further during the early trading. At the end of the first half hour May was selling around 14.54, and new October at 14.64, with active months generally showing net losses of about 3 to 8 points.

The market turned firmer during the morning. Light offerings responsible for the early decline were absorbed by trade buying and covering, and there were rumors that domestic mills were covering hedges, also that there had been some covering of hedges here by Bombay. Active months sold about 14 to 16 points net higher with May advancing to 14.77, and new December to 15.06, but demand tapered off at these figures, and the market at midday showed setbacks of 4 or 5 points under realizing.

UNCOMFORTABLE AFTER MEALS

Indigestion Troubles Relieved By Taking Pinch of Black-Draught After Meals.

Jefferson, Ga.—Mrs. C. L. Lance, of this place, was bothered with indigestion a few years ago, and recently described how she was relieved. "After meals I would be so tight in my chest," she explained. "There seemed to be a lot of gas. This made me feel so dull and stupid.

"I did not have an appetite.

"My mother advised me to try Black-Draught, which I did— a pinch after meals. I certainly did get relief.

"When I feel the least bit out of sorts, I know what to do—I take Black-Draught. I can recommend it for constipation, headache, gas and indigestion."

All people—young and old—need Thedford's Black-Draught when troubled with constipation, indigestion, biliousness, which cause so many disagreeable symptoms. Thousands of people have written to tell how these troubles disappeared after they had taken Thedford's Black-Draught.

This well-known medicine is purely vegetable. Easy to take. Costs only 1 cent a dose. NA-200
