COMMUNISTIC DISORDERS PUT DOWN IN FIGHT

Eight Reported Killed And 80 Wounded After Street Brawls

RIOT IN MEXICO CITY

American 'Uprising' Consists of 'Strike' by Pupils At Washington

BERLIN, May 1. (AP)—Serious "May day" rioting broke out tonight in the working class quarter in Northern Berlin. Three policemen were reported killed and more than a score injured. More than 500 police late tonight were fighting nearly 3,000 communists armed with pistols, clubs and stones.

The rioters erected barricades in the main thoroughfare of the Pankstrasse and its side streets. The police charged them with batons until the commanding officer realized that his force was too weak and ordered his men to open fire. Then armed cars were brought up and the police finally captured the barricades.

Communist ambulances and first aid squads were overwhelmed by the number of victims brought from the fighting front.

Fighting was also reported from eastern and southern parts of the city.

At 11 o'clock police said they had the situation in hand and that rioting had ceased. It was reported that eight persons had been killed and 80 wounded.

MEXICO POLICE PUT DOWN RIOT

MEXICO CITY, May 1. (US)—Fast and furious gun-butt pistolings and bayonet drill by 25 husky "tecnicos," or Mexican policemen, today dispersed a haranguing red crowd of a thousand which surrounded the American consulate at noon.

Consul William Dawson appeared at a window as the mob, egged on by the poet, Salazar, shouted: "Death to the gringos: death to the Yankees: death to the Americans." As the American consul looked on, a fire company clanged to the scene to aid the tecnicos, and a barrage of water drenched the fleeing demonstrators as many fell under the assault of the policemen. A score of arrests followed. Two labor organizations, 10,000 strong, contributed an orderly May day celebration.

Hundreds See Half Mile Parade In Appreciation Week Celebration

Fire Fighters Thrill Crowd When Alarm Halts March; Industries Hold Open House Today

Hundreds of persons lined the down town streets of the city at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon as a parade approximately a half-mile in length filed through the business section, comprising a review of scores of the municipal departments, civic institutions, industrial and commercial establishments, and fraternal organizations of Wichita Falls.

An almost arctic gale which late in the day replaced the balmy spring atmosphere of the morning imposed difficulties on those in charge of the parade and the hundreds of participants, but did not delay nor diminish the display staged by the Junior chamber of commerce in celebration of Appreciation Week.

First Hose Wagon Shown

The Municipal band, directed by Paul Seeds, headed the parade, followed by cars containing the officials of the city, County and chamber of commerce officials came next in line, followed by the directors of the Junior chamber of commerce.

The fire department section was headed by the first hose wagon and team owned by the city years ago, and included a long train of the present complement of modern fire fighting machines. An alarm received while the parade was in progress afforded the units in the parade an occasion to demonstrate its readiness, the several hose and ladder wagons swinging from the line to race out Tenth street.

Costumed bodies participating included the Arabic Patrol of Maskat Temple, together with its drum corps, the I. O. O. F. drum corps and color guard, a column of Boy Scouts, and the Lions Cub band, directed by Leo M. Underwood.

The Y. W. C. A., with its auxiliary organization, the Girl Reserves, and the Camp Fire girls, had large delegations in the parade. The industrial section contained dozens of floats and trucks representative of the manufacturing and marketing interests located in this city.

Tarleton Morrow spoke over radio station KGKO Wednesday from 12:45 to 1 p. m., stressing the adequate city government and the abundant utilities afforded the citizens of Wichita Falls.

Appreciation Week activities for Thursday will be opened with a 15-minute talk from station KGKO

FISHER SLAYER GRANTED STAY

Joyce Sheppard to Have Sanity Hearing

ANSON, Tex., May 1. (AP)—Under a death sentence for more than a year, Joyce Sheppard, alias Bill Smith, yet may escape the electric chair.

An affidavit by E. F. Harrell, warden of the state penitentiary where Sheppard has been since he was sentenced April 17, 1928, today won a further stay for Sheppard when District Judge W. R. Chapman of Anson ordered a sanity trial for Sheppard on May 14.

Warden Harrell said Sheppard is insane at present, that he had been found insane by allenists and the prison physician, and recommended the sanity trial.

Since his conviction at Anson on October 27, 1927, of slaying Deputy Jake Owens of Fisher county, Sheppard had been granted numerous reprieves by Governor Moody while allenists studied the case. It was believed that Sheppard at first feigned insanity but that the strain finally affected his mind. Sheppard is an escaped convict from the Arizona penitentiary.

Sheppard and Lloyd Conatser were convicted of having killed Deputy Owens and Sheriff Bob Smith of Fisher county, when the officers arrested them for cotton theft. Conaster is serving a life term for the sheriff's death.

CIVIL SERVICE AGAIN CRUSHED BY LAWMAKERS

Bill Regulating Employes Of State Goes Down Third Time

FISTICS ARE AVERTED

Negro Issue Brought Into Debate to Stir Up Near-Combat

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—The house today again disapproved the civil service plan for state employes, defeating a bill by Representative George Kemble, Fort Worth, which would have established the classified system. The vote was 71-48.

Almost two days of debate, which reached its climax in midafternoon, as Holder, Lancaster, rushed angrily at Pope, Corpus Christi, after the latter had asserted Holder was attempting to bring negro workers to the capitol, marked discussion of the measure. The sergeant-at-arms stepped between the two men and Pope apologized.

Pope had started reading four letters, which he said were from Dallas negroes, asking the state railroad commission how they might qualify for state posts, when the row occurred. Pope said the letters came from negroes under the impression that the legislature already had enacted a civil service law.

The bill finally voted on was encumbered by amendments and little resembled the original draft. It resembled in some respects a measure by Representative Williams, Austin, passed to third reading during the regular session only to meet defeat. Today's vote was on passage to second reading.

A proposed pension for civil service workers after 20 years of employment and the question of what authorities would administer provisions for the act occupied principal interest in the debate.

MOODY HOLDS TO ORIGINAL BELIEF

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—A third defeat by the legislature of Governor Moody's proposal to install civil service for state employees has not weakened him in his belief that it would save the taxpayers many thousands of dollars.

"I still believe civil service is one of the economic steps Texas needs to take and I can only repeat my former declaration—that I will submit the proposition to every session of the legislature as long as I am governor," the executive said when told that the house had refused to engross the bill today.

SURRENDER OF REBS GOES ON

Last Northern Stronghold Goes to Federals

DOUGLAS, Ariz., May 1. (AP)—The northern frontier of Mexico was swept clean of important rebel strongholds today with the surrender of Agua Prieta, across the border from here, to the federals.

The surrender, like that yesterday of Nogales, Sonora, was made without a fight after a conference at the United States customs house in Douglas. As a result 1,500 rebel soldiers transferred allegiance and Federal Gen. Ignacio Flores took charge of the town and Garrison.

Mexican Consul Emiliano Tamez announced a governing body for the Agua Prieta district had been appointed and an offer of amnesty had been sent to General Marcelo Caraveo, commanding rebel troops near Pulpito pass. This is the only important body of revolutionary troops still in the field.

Meanwhile, the whereabouts of Gen. J. G. Escobar, commander in chief of the revolutionary army, was undetermined. Escobar was in Agua Prieta last night attending a conference which discussed surrender and was understood to have declared his willingness to continue fighting. He was believed to have left to join his troops to the south.

"CAN'T AFFORD RISK"

Bootleg Liquor Purchasers "Biggest Suckers" In World, He Says

By JUDGE P. A. MARTIN
Written for The Record News

A few days ago a prominent citizen of Wichita Falls suggested to me that I could render a valuable public service if I would give out through the medium of the press a plain statement, in language that can be understood by all, of the provisions of the prohibition law, state and national, as it exists. He said he believed there were people violating it in ignorance of its provisions and that such an article would probably have the effect of saving such people much trouble. Upon reflection, I believe he may be right and it is with the sincere hope that such an article may do somebody good that I have prepared this article for publication.

Double-Prohibition

In Texas we have two separate and distinct prohibition laws; one known as the Volstead act which is a national law enforceable in the federal courts and passed by the national congress in October, 1919, putting in force the 18th amendment to the constitution of the United States. The other is known as the Dean act, a state law passed by our legislature at Austin, enforceable in the state courts alone. In actual practice people are seldom prosecuted in both state and federal courts for the same act, although the supreme court of the United States has decided that it can be done when the act is a violation of the laws of both sovereignties; so the person who violates the prohibition law takes the chance of having double-trouble if caught.

Manufacture and Sale

It is a violation of the Volstead act to manufacture, sell, have in possession, transport or import any sort of liquor, beer or wine, containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol by volume. The Dean act allows one per cent instead of the half of one per cent and allows possession except for the purpose of sale but provides that possession of more than one quart is prima facie evidence of guilt, so that there are many men in the penitentiary of Texas today, convicted upon possession alone. The federal law makes the manufacture, sale, transportation and importation of beer, liquor or wine a felony now; since the Jones-Stalker amendment passed by the recent congress enlarging the penalty to a fine of $10,000 and imprisonment for as much as five years. This amendment does not seem to apply to possession alone so the law stands as originally passed as to this particular offense.

And under the Volstead act the mere fact of possession of either beer, liquor or wine, in the home, in the car, on "the hip" or the "fishin' trip" anywhere at all, (excepting of course such as is in good faith prescribed for medical purposes, or in good faith procured on official permits for sacramental or scientific uses) subjects the possessor to punishment whether he purposes to sell it or use it for himself alone.

State Penalties

Under the Dean act a person guilty of any violation of the prohibition law must serve a term of not less than one nor more than five

ICE AND SNOW IN PANHANDLE

Entire State Suffers From Bad Weather

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 1. (AP)—The Brinkley correspondent of the Arkansas Gazette reported tonight that seven persons were known to have been killed and probably more than 20 injured in a tornado at Wheatley. The dead were a Mrs. Edwards and her two children, three unidentified white persons and an unidentified negro.

DALLAS, May 1. (AP)—A series of minor tornadoes, one of which was reported to have seriously injured several negro farm hands in Smith county, jumped about the Texas-Arkansas line today. May day brought weather disturbances to almost every section of Texas, Dallas being whipped by a 67-mile an hour gale; Amarillo and the Panhandle generally with sleet, snow and rain.

At Lubbock Guy E. Hall, 30, was struck down and injured by a concrete form blown over on a bridge where he was working and Eugene Carr, 8, of Ecton, near there, was run down by an automobile during a blinding sandstorm.

Record Blow

The straight driving wind exceeded any blow recorded in Dallas since establishment of the local United States weather bureau. Street car service was interrupted when the metal roof of a downtown automobile parking station was hurtled through the air to smash down telephone and street car wires. Police guarded the danger zone as the crowds fought the wind in efforts to find shelter.

Pedestrians were unable to make any headway and downtown Dallas became a stormbound mass as the shops prepared to close for the day.

Borger reported half an hour of snow and intermittent showers through the day. Amarillo was hit by gusts of sleet, slight rains and a bitterly cold north wind. The temperature stood at 42 degrees at 9 a. m. Reports said that Athens, Henderson, Malakoff and Franks-

J. E. Hall Rescued After 6-Hour Battle With Raging Water

Winds of high velocity swooped down to mar the season's first day of fishing Wednesday, endangering the lives of scores of people on Diversion lake and Lake Kemp who speeded their craft over choppy waves to safety, and marooning an unestimated number of persons on the north shore of Diversion lake whose small boats probably would have crumbled had any effort been made to reach the landing pier.

One person, J. E. Hall, of Wichita Falls, stranded nine miles up Diversion lake in a boat with a stalled motor, was rescued late Wednesday night by W. E. Cave, Diversion lake storekeeper, and Paul Hines, 24, son of O. W. Hines of Wichita Falls, who, in a small 14-foot boat braved five-foot waves to reach the isolated fisherman.

Seven Boats Ashore

Meanwhile rescue parties in several automobiles cut through pasture lands on the north shore of the lake seeking trace of the occupants of at least seven boats who were forced to shore when the high winds swept over the lake Wednesday afternoon.

Other boats were feared stranded in the vicinity, but W. M. Heitmann, gatekeeper at Diversion lake, who directed the rescue parties, said searchers had found no trace of additional victims.

Among those reported marooned was the wife of Dr. A. P. Terrell of Wichita Falls, who was in the company of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dixon and the latter's sister, Miss Helen English, all likewise of this city. The names of the others, numbering perhaps 20 persons, were not known, Mr. Hickman said.

Rescue Organized

When word of their misfortunes reached Hickman, he said he organized a group of men to man cars for the search. The rescuers set out with cars loaded with food and blankets to comfort the stranded ones, who, it was feared, would suffer from exposure.

One of the rescue parties, Mr. Hickman said, was led by Dr. Terrell, who was some distance away from his wife when the wind storm reached serious proportions. This car was guided up the lake by Frank Ginn, a resident of the neighborhood well acquainted with the territory around Saddle creek, where the marooned parties were believed to be.

Six Hours on Lake

The successful rescue of J. E. Hall by Mr. Cave and Mr. Hines, accomplished after nearly six hours in the swirling lake, came just in time to stop friends and relatives of the two rescuers, who had become alarmed at their prolonged absence, and had planned to set out in search of them.

Mr. Hall had been left nine miles up the lake by Hines and G. E. Arms, of 1713 Victory street, earlier in the day when the motor of the boat stalled. Hines and Arms walked the distance to the store at the landing pier. Arms returned to

JUDGE WARNS HOME BREWERS

Martin Explains Laws On Making Beer

years in the state penitentiary and there are scores and scores of men and women in the Texas penitentiary today for making and selling and having in possession "hootch" home-brew and wine and possessing the equipment for the making of such prohibited drinks. It is a fact, however, that on account of the unbending severity of the Dean act, juries are inclined to be very lenient and frequently give suspended sentences or acquit the guilty upon very slight pretexts or flimsy defenses. I have always thought that it would have been better for the state to have followed literally the penalties prescribed by the national government. I think uniformity would have not only made the law more popular but it would have been better enforced in every way. But this article has to do with the law as it is and not as we may think it ought to be.

Federal Penalties

The minimum federal penalties are just as light as the federal judge desires to make them, (as we have lately witnessed such fines as a dollar or even 25 cents at times), for the first offense; for the next and succeeding offenses of the same character the minimum penalty rises first to the jail and then to the penitentiary; and now under the provisions of the Jones-Stalker amendment the maximum for making, selling, transporting and importing even for first offenders may be a fine of $10,000 and imprisonment for five years in the federal penitentiary—all in the discretion of the judge who fixes the punishment in the federal courts, so that now, the man who makes a "batch of home-brew" for his own individual use, commits a felony and so does the man or boy who transports a bottle of "hootch" on his "hip" to a country dance and so does the man who imports a bottle from across the Rio Grande or over the Canadian border and if he is caught and prosecuted and convicted nothing but the mercy or the discretion of the judge may save him from the maximum provided by the Jones-Stalker amendment. But even the mercy of the judge cannot now save the citizenship of the offender, for a conviction of felony in Texas takes away a man's right to vote, to hold office, to serve on juries and to testify as a witness in the courts of the state of Texas. What I mean to say is just this strong; a man pleading guilty to making a jar of home-brew, or convicted by court or jury, loses his citizenship and nothing but a presidential pardon can restore it to him.

But this is not all. There is another provision of the Volstead act which until quite recently seems to have been lost sight of, at least in this part of the country and that is the provision that people who make or sell beer or liquor are still subject to pay the internal revenue tax in force before the days of Volstead and the Eighteenth amendment. It also provides that in addition to the penalties that then existed and the man who makes liquor or beer shall pay $1,000 penalty and the man who sells it shall pay $500 additional penalty. Agents of the internal revenue department are even now busily engaged preparing and filing suits for the recovery of these taxes and penalties.

Resume of Penalties

Now let us see just what may happen to the fellow who gets caught making a "batch" of home-brew beer for his individual use and the use of his friends, the way most of it is made in this country, I am convinced, (and many of the makers do not mean to violate the law either). In the first place, assuming that the truth is told and that the jury does its duty in the state court, they will find that he is guilty of manufacturing beer for beverage purposes and send him up for one to five years, however much they would dislike to do so. But on account of the attitude of juries as to this punishment it is much more likely that his case would be filed in the federal court; so he would foregather with the "Faithful" fore that tribunal, plead guilty or get convicted and get anything the judge wanted to hand out to him from 25 cents to $10,000 and five years at Leavenworth. He would lose his citizenship, the priceless gift of every freeborn American. He would then be called upon by the national internal revenue tax gatherer and asked to pay at the very least, more than $1,340.00, (for, as I now remember the figure that was the very least a beer manufacturer could get off with, according to a government agent whom I interviewed a few weeks ago). And bear in mind ye home makers of home brew, that your Uncle Samuel can levy upon and take away from you the very roof over your head for his taxes and penalties. He has no regard for homestead exemptions when it comes to collecting his taxes and penalties. Practically the same penalties apply to the making of whisky and wine and the sale of either.

We Cannot Afford It

Of course man may violate this law and get by with it, for a time, possibly for a long time he may do it; he may get caught and even then escape justice by perjury on the witness stand or in the jury box; he might never be detected and prosecuted; but how can he afford to live under the very shadow of such penalties and take the chance of suffering such penalties for the sake of such a worthless thing as a "batch" of home-brew or a bottle or a fruit jar of "squirrel whisky" I have so far failed to see. I can readily understand the professional who makes or sells the stuff for a price. He takes the gamble for the money he may be able to get out of his customers. He will go out of business just as soon as his customers quit patronizing him and they will quit just as soon as they discover that instead of being bright, smart American citizens they are just about the biggest "suckers" the world ever saw, paying out good money to keep alive an outlawed business and punishing themselves with the vilest decoctions ever brewed for human consumption.

And now, at the close of "Appreciation Week" let us all resolve with one accord that we appreciate our great country and its laws enough not only to implicitly obey them ourselves, but by both precept and example, teach others to respect them. Let's throw away our crocks and siphons, caps and capping machines and quit this foolishness. The game is not worth the candle. After all it's a poor substitute for the real thing anyway and no man can afford to risk so much for so little. We cannot afford it.

19 Scenes in Drama

A large and adequate cast, headed by Beresford Lovett as the Christ, was supported by a chorus of singers which gave the solemnity of magnificent anthems to the swiftly moving tragedy which ended in a paean of triumph. Margaret Fealy, playing Mary, the Mother of Jesus, shared honors with Mr. Lovett, and with Maude Fealey as Mary Magdalene and J. W. Bayley as Judas Iscariot.

The 19 scenes of the drama touched the moments of high dramatic and spiritual significance in the last days of the Christ upon the earth. The events which have formed the background of Christian theology take life and assume fresh reality and meaning and the figures move through the scenes before the temple, the Last Supper, Gethesemane, the Judgement Halls of Pilate, and at last Golgotha and the tomb. The drama ended in a burst of triumphant music and a tableau of the Resurrected Christ.

The play is well staged, the brief dramatic scenes moving against the austere background of a Jerusalem under Roman rule. Roman and Jewish soldiers, people of Jerusalem, Pharisees, Scribes, and Sadducees, form a restless, colorful human background for the events through which the principal figures in the drama are taken. The words and actions of those last few days are presented with reverence and with a gripping reality as the Christ moves onward to His supreme destiny. Details of words gestures, and intonations are given their full significance as the climax approaches.

Wichitans in Production

Throughout the production the work of the orchestra, the chorus, and the soloist, colored the sacred drama as it developed and fills the walls of the auditorium with a ringing hymn of triumph at the end.

The producer has brought four stars and a large supporting cast for the success of the Passion Play here and hundreds of Wichitans, in the colorful costumes of the age and place, move throughout the scenes.

ton were visited by tornadoes. Communication lines were severed and efforts were made to reach the isolated places.

Homes Destroyed

Several homes were destroyed in Smith and Anderson counties.

A heavy wind blew for 30 minutes in Paris and communication was interrupted for a short time. A heavy dust and wind storm was reported from Austin. Fort Worth reported a hand on the courthouse clock blown half off by a 36-mile an hour wind.

A visibility of 25 to 30 feet was said by travelers entering Waco to have made travel almost impossible. The sand clouds filled the air, and a 40-mile an hour wind blew.

At Midland the roof of the municipal airport hangar was blown off and an airplane destroyed when portions of the room fell on it.

A 30-degree drop in temperature was felt at Wichita Falls at 8 p. m. as the aftermath of a heavy sand and wind storm which started shortly before noon. Tonight's thermometer reading was 48 degrees.

Three inches of rain fell in 20 minutes at Jefferson in a storm that started with wind and dust, turned to hail and ended with water.

The storm was lighter at Miami where the farmers reported about a half inch rainfall that would benefit the wheat crop. Some snow and hail were reported west of Miami.

A high north wind swept Navarro county and Corsicana late in the afternoon. Trees were topped, and telephone and power poles were reported down. Much minor but no major damage was reported.

Baseball suffered in some parts of the state. The opening of the West Texas league season at Big Spring was halted in the first inning when the wind made three base hits out of fouls. The storm did not halt the game at Coleman but turned it into a track meet as a total of 24 runs were scored when the fielders were unable to handle the ball. High winds held down the opening day's crowd at Ballinger.

TORNADO HITS IN FORT SMITH, ARK.

It arose and later struck the northeastern section of the city where it tore down trees and did other damage.

Several persons were injured.

RESCUE CREWS SEEK ANGLERS

Fishing Parties Marooned By High Waves

Wichita Falls, while Hines solicited the aid of Mr. Cave in making a return trip for Hall.

Several friends of both of the men warned against the trip in such a small boat as that which Cave possessed. However, the storekeeper had faith in its strong motor, it was said, and volunteered to make the trip.

They departed about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. No word had come from them at 6 o'clock. Arms, in Wichita Falls, and O. W. Hines, and several other friends and relatives of Paul Hines here were on the point of leaving for the lake about 8 o'clock, when it was learned from Mr. Hickman at Diversion lake that the youthful Hines, Cave, and Hall had all returned safely.

Paul Hines, back in Wichita Falls late Wednesday night, reported that he and Cave, battling huge waves, reached Hall, but on the return trip were forced by the high waters to land on a small island until the water had subsided to some extent. This, he said, caused most of the delay.

Others Marooned

Hines also reported that what apparently was a second group of marooned people, numbering perhaps 12, including several women, had been sighted on the north bank near the head of the lake in the vicinity of Brushy Point. The victims, he said, had lighted a fire, and were grouped around it. The spot is almost inaccessible for automobiles, he said.

He said that as soon as they had landed at the pier, Cave, already the hero of one rescue, started planning the rescue of this second marooned party.

The unruly waves, the highest veteran fishermen and dwellers near either of the large lakes in these parts have seen in years, seemed to have no effect on the fishing prowess of at least some of the anglers. Paul Hines, for instance, reported that in spite of a nine-mile walk, and a joggy ride over mountainous waves for the same distance, he had caught a five and a half pound black bass.

But the majority were not so fortunate. Although there were reported to be about 150 people on Diversion lake early Wednesday morning, the banks and the lake had been virtually cleaned shortly after the wind storm came, flopping waves so high that they crashed over the spillway, a rare occurrence.

Conditions were reported about the same at Lake Kemp, and at Lake Wichita, the high winds having cleared the wharves at the latter resort by late Wednesday afternoon.

WEIGH YOUR FISH

Anglers who wish to contest for the prizes offered by The Record News and sporting goods dealers of the city have until 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon to weigh in their catch. Scales for the weighing have been placed in the lobby of the Times Publishing company. Winners of the contest for the largest bass and largest crappie on opening day will be announced as soon as a decision can be reached, probably in The Record News Friday morning.

SOME PAPER

Safe Weighing 250 Lbs. Hangs From Sheet Of Stationery

A sheet of paper holding up a 250-pound safe!

Such a thing seems impossible, but nevertheless, in the display window of Buchanan Stationery company, 816 Scott, is suspended by a sheet of paper which weighs less than an ounce, a 250-pound steel safe.

The paper, which is a plain sheet of Byron Weston Ledger paper, is attached to two small wooded boards, one of which is attached to a brace and the other to the rope which is wrapped around the safe. Only a few inches separate the safe from the floor, but, according to the owner of the store, G. T. Buchanan, the paper is actually strong enough to suspend a 400-pound safe.

Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou supplied the Cossack color to the assembly, but the Cossack carried no knout. He was a truant officer. But the truant officer was powerless, as were the higher authorities against the untrammeled freedom of the valiant 25.

School authorities can't do anything about it, apparently, unless they are absent from school for two days in succession. But Ballou and the truant officer are investigating and retribution lurks around the corner.

For several hours today the kids gathered, each carrying a package of lunch, waiting for "Comrade" Annette, their chosen 14-year-old leader, to lead them. When she arrived they promised to take their packages and move off to the cooperative camp, in Maryland, where they proposed to spend the rest of the day on a picnic.

MOSCOW HEARS SONGS AND SHOUTS

MOSCOW, May 1. (UP)—May day—the beginning of a two-day holiday in the soviet union—was one of the most festive occasions of years despite a persistent rain here.

Hundreds of thousands of persons joined in singing and shouting as they marched through the streets, converging on the red square to pass the reviewing stands. They carried many banners and pulled floats, many of them ridiculing "the disarmament comedy" at Geneva or "British imperialism" in India.

Cop On Vacation In Canada Kills Bandit

LONDON, Ont., May 1. (INS)—Dilworth McClellan, Detroit policeman, this afternoon was charged in London court with illegally carrying a weapon as a result of his gun battle with a trio of bandits this morning in which one was killed and another wounded.

An inquest was to be held this afternoon to determine whether McClellan will face an additional charge of murder. The Detroit policeman confered today with the American consul here.

The shooting occurred when McClellan, who was taking a vacation motor tour through Ontario, claimed he was held up by the trio of bandits. In the battle which followed Robert Schott was killed and Leo Deroche wounded. A third man escaped.

Wichita Woman and Brother To Meet for First Time in 45 Years

Mrs. M. M. Allen, 1317 Fourth street, received a letter Wednesday announcing the approaching visit of a brother she has not seen for 45 years. The brother is Henry Fuller, now 75 years old, who, with his wife, is making a pilgrimage from a little northern Mississippi town to see his sister. Mrs. Allen herself is 77 years old.

The sister was a young matron, her brother just getting into his stride as a farmer at the time of their last meeting. Many letters have been exchanged, but no visits.

"I suppose I'll know Henry all right, without his beard," Mrs. Allen declared. "I'd recognize that teasing look in his eyes that all little brothers have. But I guess I'll stay right here and not try to meet them at the station for fear we might pick out the wrong ones."

New Cattle Brands Replacing Old Markers Used by Panhandle Pioneers

Special to The Record News

STINNETT, Texas, May 1.—Registration of cattle brands by Hutchinson county cattle men who run large herds on the ranges of the county is picking up, the records of Mrs. Ona Bryan, county clerk in charge of the brand records. So far in 1929 half a dozen new brands have been recorded.

Since the beginning of the keeping of the records in 1901 some 875 brands have been recorded. Not all of these are now in existence, as many of the old timers have gone and many others have disposed of their herds.

Beginning with 1918 an average of 11 brands annually have been recorded. There were 21 new brands reported in 1918. The fewest number was recorded in 1919 and 1926, when three each were reported. Last year and in 1927 10 new brands were reported.

Although Aug. 7, 1901 shows the first brands spread on the county records, there had been 82 recorded in Roberts county before that time. Hutchinson county up to that date was considered a part of Roberts county for official and judicial business.

W. H. Ingerton, on Aug. 7, 1901, filed the first new brand in the records after the 82 had been transferred by J. Frank Williams, county clerk of Roberts county. His mark was the 4-X mark.

Billy Dixon and his wife, Ollie Dixon, now of Miami, recorded their brands in September of that year.

No. 1 brand was assigned to J. A. Lafferty of Adobe Walls. His mark was the "A" on the left side.

James Simpson, according to the records, had the first brand in the county. His brand, the "5-X," was recorded as of October 31, 1892.

J. A. King, brother of Mrs. Dixon, filed two brands on May 1, 1893, the second and third brands.

Brands recorded so far in 1929 include: Jack Johnson, Stinnett, Arch-J; Starnes brothers, Borger, Circle A; E. C. Jasper, Stinnett, "E. C."; N. W. Holt, Spearman, T-Arch; Sallie Jasper, Stinnett, "J"; Roy McNutt, Spearman, bar.

Most of the old timers had several brands, one for cattle and another for horses. If a man had more than one herd he probably had one brand for each herd.

Among some of the old timers of the Panhandle who filed their brands in Hutchinson county are the following: J. W. Whittenburg, J. B. Ownbey, C. H., O. S., W. B. and W. G. Bivins; George A. Whittenburg, S. M. Hedgecoke, W. T. Coble, S. B. Lasater, Cal. Merchant, W. R. White, J. F. Dunaway, B. C., W. S. and M. K. Christian, J. C. Chisum, J. A. and T. W. Fox, D. C. Morgan and J. E. Pritchard.

The King boys, brothers of Mrs. Dixon, also had several brands filed.

While most of the postoffice addresses were given as Adobe Walls, Plemons or Isom, a good many ranchers from Roberts and Carson counties who had animals ranging in Hutchinson county had their brands recorded here.

SEEKONOK, Mass., May 1. (UP)—When Mrs. Vena Sullivan, 22, attempted suicide by shooting, the revolver jammed. She reloaded, calmly fired a test shot into a wall of her bedroom and then shot herself to death.

Booster Club Boys Get Thrill From Skit At Strand

By The Record News Critic

One of the foremost dispensers of subtle humor listed among the columnists and magazine lights of the present day is occasioning much delighted giggling and boisterous male laughter this week at the Strand, where he furnishes the Vitaphone vaudeville act with an after-dinner orgy styled, "The Treasurer's Report."

Robert Benchley, theatrical reviewer for Life, is a satirist without being a bitter cynic. His caricatures of every-day scenes and characters are kindly, but poignantly amusing. No treasurer of the Art Lovers' association or the Booster club can consider his education complete without hearing Mr. Benchley's report, and seeing his nice black bow tie.

POWER MAGNATE ANNOUNCES PLAN TO BUY MORE NEWSPAPERS

18 DAILIES IN CONTROL NOW

Graustein Shocks Commision's Quizzers

WASHINGTON, May 1. (INS)—The powerful International Paper and Power company, which already has bought into a dozen large newspapers to the extent of more than $10,000,000, plans to increase its stockholding in the daily publishing field whenever it seems desirable to do so.

This statement was made to International News Service by A. R. Graustein, president of the great power corporation, just before he left Washington for New York to obtain additional data requested by the Federal Trade commission in its investigation of the so-called power trust and the trust's propaganda activities against public ownership of utilities.

Graustein fairly startled the commission by revealing the extent of the corporation's present newspaper holdings. He disclosed that the $600,000,000 concern which he heads has acquired large holdings of stock in such dailies as the Boston Herald, Boston Traveller, Chicago Journal, Chicago News, Albany Knickerbocker Press, Brooklyn Eagle, Albany Evening News, Tampa Tribune and others.

The corporation has helped to finance Frank E. Gannett in the purchase of newspapers. Gannett's string now embraces some 18 newspapers, scattered through New York and New England.

Future acquisition of newspaper properties, Graustein said, depends upon conditions.

"If it seems to the advantage of the company to purchase other interests it will be done," he said. "About one-tenth of our newsprint output is now purchased by the interests in which we have stock holdings. That absorbs what we might call the surplus production of the company."

SULPHUR SHIPPED

GALVESTON, Texas, May 1. (AP)—Seasonal movement of sulphur to Canada, where it is used in the paper milling industry, has begun with the first cargo lifted by the steamship Wanstead. Frozen river waters in the northern dominion limit this trade to the summer months. Last year's shipments totaled about 100,000 tons.

Farmer Stops Third Wife's Divorce Suit by Killing Her and Himself

Enraged Kansan Wounds Sheriff and Sister-in-Law When Spouse Moves to Leave His Life

OBERLIN, Kan., May 1. (UP)—Informed his third wife was suing him for divorce, John Casper, 38, farmer, shot and killed her, wounded a sister-in-law and the sheriff, and then killed himself here today.

Those wounded were Mrs. James Rusicka, the wife's sister, and Sheriff Gilbert Stephens of Decatur county.

The slaying was the outgrowth of the filing of a divorce suit yesterday by Mrs. Casper, 20.

Shoots Through Window

The sheriff and the two women called at the farm today to obtain the wife's belongings. They found the front gate closed and wired.

As the sheriff was removing the wire from the gate, Casper shot once with a shotgun through a window, killing his wife instantly, inflicting a scalp wound on Mrs. Rusicka, and wounding the right side of the sheriff's face.

Sheriff Stephens carried the injured woman out of the range of Casper's shot and from behind his car, exchanged fire with the farmer. The sheriff emptied his revolver, took Mrs. Rusicka to a nearby farm and notified other authorities. Meanwhile Casper turned his weapon on himself.

While Sheriff Stephens was telephoning to Oberlin, Casper was telephoning to former Judge A. C. Geiger, who is Casper's attorney. After Casper had told Geiger what had occurred, he said he was going to kill himself and wanted the attorney to make provision for the care of his two children by a former marriage. Geiger attempted to dissuade him from committing suicide but Casper hung up.

Toe Pulls Trigger

When Sheriff Stephens, accompanied by several other men, returned to the Casper farm, they found that Casper had taken his wife's body into the dining room of the farm home and had laid her on a quilt on the floor. He then had taken off one of his shoes and with the muzzle of the shot gun in his mouth, had pulled the trigger with his toe.

Casper had been married several times and had married a year and a half ago the girl that he killed today. She was his third wife. He divorced his first wife in Oberlin years ago and had left this section following the divorce. While he was away, he married a woman who died. Returning to Oberlin, he remarried his first wife but later divorced her again.

DEER ROUND-UP

MASON, Texas, May 1. (AP)—Bob Snow, special game warden from the King ranch, has been holding a deer round-up, at the C. L. Martin and Son ranch, nine miles from here, on the Fredericksburg road. They removed 100 doe deer from a 5,000-acre tract, taking them to Frio county and will bring from that country eight bucks to add new blood to the deer herd.

"We simply had to have some relief from the deer," Rudolph Martin said. "We cut the number of cattle by half on that tract as the deer were eating up the grass."

The purchase of a new coupe and a motor truck was announced Wednesday by W. B. Ward, city purchasing agent.

Both the car and the truck were Chevrolets.

FARM PRICES SHOW DECLINE

All Agriculture Produce in General Slump

WASHINGTON, May 1. (AP)—Department of agriculture figures show the general level of farm prices from March 15 to April 15 declined two points from 138 per cent of the pre-war level.

The decline was the result of a general decline in farm prices of all crops, livestock products, eggs and wool, which was only partly offset by increases in the price of hogs, beef cattle, sheep, lambs, horses and chickens.

The department also announced that farm work had been delayed by bad weather in northern areas, that there had been an early season in the South and the general outlook on the livestock situation was favorable.

Cotton planting in the South has been about completed in the northern section, and plants in the southern portions are making rapid progress under favorable conditions.

The department found fruits have had a bad start, the April frosts having cut to one-fourth and one-half the California peaches, cherries, plums, prunes, almonds, and pears. Local damage from frost also was suffered in the eastern fruit sections.

TEXAS INDIANS JOIN IN FETE

Alabamas to Have Part in Sam Houston Ceremony

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, May 1. (AP)—The Alabama Indians of Polk county Texas, descendants of Gen. Sam Houston's Indian friends, have accepted an invitation to participate in the dedication of the general's old home here as a state shrine on next Friday.

The Indian delegation will be brought here in a bus, and will pitch tents around Sam Houston Springs. Indian friends of the Texas hero camped at the same site while visiting the general, and the bringing of the Indians here will make more realistic scenes about the old home during the celebration, which, along with the semi-centennial celebration of Sam Houston State Teachers college, will last four days.

The Polk county Indians are descendants of a small tribe of Creek Indians, who lived on the Alabama and Mississippi rivers when the French laid claim to this region.

Former Football Coach Now Valley Farmer

HARLINGEN, Texas, May 1. (AP)—Instruction in tackling a dummy, blocking and kicking has given away to hard work in the Rio Grande valley orchard in the life of Claude Rothgeb, former Rice football coach.

The gridiron mentor of 25 years' experience became a farmer this spring when he purchased a 10-acre orchard near here.

Rothgeb doesn't think he will be drawn back to the gridiron, but he admits that "it's going to be a little hard to stay away." Right now the veteran coach is more interested in his grapefruit prospects.

FLIERS' TRAGIC END DESCRIBED

Brief Note Tells Story of Fatal Rescue Effort

SYDNEY, Australia, May 1. (UP)—The tragic fate of two Australian fliers in the wilds of the northwest was described briefly today in a message from the expedition which went overland to the spot where the plane, Kookaburra, was forced down.

The fliers, Lieut. Keith Anderson and his mechanic, Robert Hitchcock, set out three weeks ago to search for the airplane Southern Cross, which had been forced down in that region. Capt. Charles E. Kingsford-Smith and his companions of the Southern Cross were saved, but Anderson and Hitchcock died at the spot where they came down, 40 miles from water.

A rough note scrawled on the rudder of the Kookaburra told of the pitiful efforts of the fliers, dying of third and exhaustion, to save themselves.

"Spent evening fixing engine and cleared runway for attempt to take off," it read, "but owing to insufficient length of runway and increased debility due to thirst, we have been unable to make a further attempt since April 11." The message was not dated.

The bodies were buried on the spit by the relief party, which had to make all haste to return because of the lack of water. The horses had been 50 hours without water and had to travel 40 miles back to the nearest waterhole.

Air force authorities announced that a second expedition would be organized to exhume the bodies and remove them for burial where their relatives desire.

Solon Wants New Fee Law Revised

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—Rep. A. P. Johnson, Carrizo Springs, said today he would ask Governor Moody to allow submission of three measures which he said would correct defects in recent statutes providing trial fees for magistrates in justice courts.

One of the bills would reduce the trial fee from $7 to $5, a second would repeal costs now assessed in some counties for issuance of warrants and bonds, and a third would eliminate miscellaneous costs.

Johnson said that in some sections of the state justices were charging $7 trial fees provided in a senate bill passed during the regular session and additional costs which some times totaled $17.

DENVER, May 1. (INS)—A serious but distinct earthquake was recorded today on the seismograph at Regis college here.

The quake started at 9:31 a. m.; reached its maximum at 9:42, and ended at 10:07—a total of 36 minutes.

The direction of the quake was recorded as south of Denver, probably not on the North American continent, according to Father W. A. Forestall, seismograph operator. He said the quake was very serious in the vicinity where it occurred.

Rifle Champ of Marines Retires Amid Fanfare of Capital Parade

By JOSEPH S. BAIRD

WASHINGTON, May 1. (UP)—The drums and trumpets of the United States marine band sounded a cherry farewell today in which they blended with the candence footstep of every available marine in Washington, passing in review before a diminutive sergeant major.

Band and troops alike were saying goodbye to the Annie Oakley of the marine corps. And the honor they showed him was one usually reserved only for wearers of eagles or stars.

Sergt. Maj. Oliver H. Schriver probably has forgotten just how many medals he has received for straight shooting during 30 years of service with the marines, from which he retired today. When he wears them they cover his tunic from neck to belt, making him look like a knight in armor. Marine corps officers say he has 150 of them.

Then there are his silver cups and trophies. He has a dozen of these. They, and the medals, came from America, Europe, South America, all over the world, in fact. His well aimed rifle has fired under the banner of Pan-American and Olympic teams. He was "high gun" in the Dewar matches.

His retirement from the marine corps does not mean abandonement of the rifle. He has been appointed an official of the National Rifle association, of which he has been a member for 20 years.

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

Dr. W. B. Caldwell M.D. AT AGE 83

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their systems. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles. A trial is sure to convince any household of the merits of this famous prescription.—Adv.

BRIDEGROOM IS KILLED BY COP

Newlywed Tries Banditry To Finance Wedding

KANSAS CITY, May 1. (AP)—Slain by a policeman's bullet, Carl C. Lobach, 21, today was identified as a bridegroom of but a few hours who sought to finance a honeymoon with proceeds from a drug store robbery.

Durward E. Lobach, 18, a brother, captured by the officers who last night killed the groom, today was said to have confessed to scores of bandit depredations here. The confession implicated both brothers.

In her apartment, the bride, an attractive young woman, seemed stunned by the shooting. As Marie Bothwell, 18, a dance instructor, she married Lobach yesterday. She professed no knowledge of her husband's bandit activities.

Lobach was shot to death by a patrolman in a telephone booth at the drug store during the attempted robbery.

CLARK'S CASE IS COMPLETED

One Exception Can Delay Finish of Trial

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 1. (UP)—The house board of managers completed its case against J. W. Clark, suspended supreme court justice at 1:35 p. m. today with one exception. That exception reserved the right to introduce a record covering cases in which Clark participated where more than one opinion was written in the case.

Clark's attorneys at the request of Chief Counsel J. B. Dudley were given until Thursday to start their side of the case in defense against impeachment articles voted against the suspended justice.

Wednesday's session of court was taken up with argument on the introduction of these records and the testimony of two witnesses from Atoka and one witness from Allen relative to Clark's alleged giving them information that Governor Trapp would be held ineligible to succeed himself as governor.

Lewis Blankenship and Charles Price were the Atoka witnesses. Blankenship testified that Clark told him in June, 1926, while the Trapp case was pending, in effect that Trapp would be held ineligible. Price told the senate court practically the same thing in the presence of Jesse Phillips.

S. H. Vaughan, the Allen witness, testified to a similar conversation with Clark at Ada.

Clark's attorneys strenuously objected to the introduction of records showing cases in which two opinions had been written, the second opinion reversing the first opinion, in which Clark participated.

ELECTRAN SURVIVES AS LEE'S LAST SPY

Col. Ed C. Wilson Braved Capture and Death to Trap Yankees

By FRED D. THOMPSON
The Record News Staff

ELECTRA, Texas, May 1.—Puttering around his home here, more active than many men his age, Col. Ed C. Wilson Jr., sole surviving spy attached to the staff of Gen. Robert E. Lee during the Civil War, the only survivor of his regiment—the Third Louisiana Infantry—and said to be the only one living of those present at Lee's death-bed, is dusting off his gray uniform to attend the United Confederate Veterans' reunion at Charlotte, N. C., June 4-7.

Colonel Wilson, now 84 years old, boasts a record of almost unbelievable adventures with the Army of Northern Virginia. As a mere youth, he was promoted to the rank of major and placed on General Lee's staff as a spy. His daring exploits eventually led to his capture, and he was sentenced to death, only, through his courage, to elude his captors. He was riding with Stonewall Jackson when the latter was shot down at Chancellorsville. And his devotion to General Lee won him a place in the heart of the gallant Southern commander that was to vanish only with his death.

Stays With Lee

After the war, Lee, as president of Washington college at Lexington, Va., called Wilson from New Orleans in 1866 and made him clerk of the college. He remained there in this capacity until Lee's death in 1870, living during this period with the Lee family. And he was among the mourners, all of whom have since died, so far as available records show, who gathered at the side of the hero of the South when death closed his colorful career.

Colonel Wilson and his boyhood companion, Frank Humphries, also of New Orleans, were the only two rebel spies retained throughout the entire war on Lee's staff. Humphries has since died. Wilson's father, Col. Ed C. Wilson Sr., commander of the Third Louisiana Infantry, and his four brothers, were killed in the same battle; and with the death three years ago at Childress, Texas, of Dan Cunningham, also of the Louisiana regiment, Wilson was left alone to bear memories of its exploits.

Wilson was one of the original organizers of the United Confederate veterans. At present he is an aide-de-camp on the staff of Gen. A. W. Goodwin, veteran commander-in-chief, a position which brought Wilson the honorary title of "colonel," by which today he is known, though he served thorughout the war as a major. He is also sergeant-at-arms of the organization of veterans.

Colonel Wilson has been a stirring figure at past reunions. Should he be called upon by his comrades at Charlotte to bring up the old days in conversations after business sessions have been dispensed with, his narrative probably would reach heights few "thrillers" attain.

Enlisted as Cadet

The call for volunteers reached Wilson when he was a cadet at the Louisiana State Military academy at Pine Bluff, La. It came from his father, who, at New Orleans, had given up the district judgeship he had held for 35 years to accept command of the Third Louisiana infantry. He called for his son to help fill the incompleted ranks of his regiment.

Wilson not only appeared within a few days, but brought with him the entire graduating class of the military academy, of which he was a member. He reported to his father that he had persuaded the class to enlist, and all were prepared to sign final papers, provided the colonel would furnish adequate equipment. This was immediately arranged, and for his part in adding these men to the regiment Wilson was made captain of the company his schoolmates were assigned to.

After Colonel Wilson Sr. had reported to Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard that his regiment was intact, the troops were moved to Richmond. Arriving there, young Wilson, then about 18, and Frank Humphries, his roommate at the academy, on the recommendation of General Beauregard, were promoted in rank and placed on Lee's staff as spies.

COL. ED C. WILSON JR.

Wilson's first mission, he said, was to penetrate to the Yankee capital and bring back information of value pertaining to troop movements. He was successful in this quest. Later he made his first trip to New York as a spy. He saw Yankee recruiting officers at the wharves, busy as bees. To one side he saw raw recruits. He investigated further. He learned that immigrants from many lands, landing at the port, were offered so much a head to sign up with the boys in blue; and he reported to General Lee: "We are not fighting the North, sir—we are fighting the whole world."

Dressed as a citizen, it was child's play to slip through the enemy's lines on these less daring missions, the colonel avers. A more adventurous mission was to be his lot, however, in the fall of 1862, when Lee, camped on the south bank of the Rapidan river near Spotsylvania, Va., ordered Wilson to enter the enemy's camp on the north side of the stream and determine, if possible, what the Union commander, Gen. N. P. Banks, was up to.

Disguises as Negress

Wilson decided this was a mission that required his best disguise—that of a negro girl. He was a tiny specimen of a boy, and many times this disguise had served him. So he entered Bank's camp in this costume, going among the Yankees selling butter and eggs.

While dispensing his wares, he gleaned from conversations with the soldiers that Banks was to attack Lee in two days. So far, so good. And he was collecting no small sum from his sales of dairy and poultry produce. But disaster crossed his path when one of the Union officers, starting away after having made a purchase, accidentally brushed his arm across Wilson's face, revealing his blackface makeup. Wilson was courtmartialed that afternoon, and ordered to be shot at sunrise the next day. He was lodged in a tent, surrounded by a board wall, to await his doom.

To fail to deliver his information to General Lee placed the Confederate forces in danger of a surprise attack, and cheated them of a chance to take their foe by surprise, so Wilson thought hard within the confines of his makeshift prison. He finally conceived a plan. Waiting until his guards were asleep, Wilson started digging in the hard earth with his fingernails, finally, after four hours of toil, succeeding in making a hole large enough under the rear of the tent to permit his escape. He dashed into the underbrush nearby, where his horse was secretly picketed.

Guards Give Chase

But his footsteps awakened the guards. Wilson bounded on his mount and rode hard for the Rapidan, pursued by volley after volley from the Federal muskets. He plunged in the stream astride his horse, and reached the middle of the river before the Yankees had arrived at the bank. Then, however, bullets forced Wilson to abandon his horse, and he swam the remainder of the distance under water.

Reaching Lee's headquarters by daylight, Wilson reported Banks' intentions to attack the next day; and Lee, armed with this information, ordered his troops in readiness, and that evening surprised the Yankees as they were seated comfortably at supper. After a sharp skirmish virtually the entire Union force was taken into captivity.

For this daring exploit, young Wilson earned a vast compliment from his commander. Lee called him to his tent, Wilson said. "Major Wilson," the general began, "you win all my battles. All I do is what you tell me you think the best thing to do."

Rode With Jackson

On the night of May 2 in the next year, 1863, Wilson, bearing dispatches from General Lee, joined General "Stonewall" Jackson's staff in the wilderness near Chancellorsville. It was while Wilson was riding with the detachment that it was fired upon by Confederate troops, who had mistaken their comrades for Union cavalry. Jackson was mortally wounded. Wilson's horse was killed. Most of the staff officers were killed or wounded. Wilson, securing another mount, rode with another officer to Lee's headquarters, 5 miles north of the scene, to bring the first word to Jackson's injury to the Southern commander.

Wilson emerged from the war with 32 bullet marks in his body, most of them remnants of minor wounds, and an ugly sabre scar on the back of his head, a relic of a duel on the field of Gettysburg with a man who later was to become one of his best friends.

Riding on the field of battle on the last day of the historic engagement, Wilson was attacked by a Union cavalryman. He ducked his head to avoid receiving a smashing cut in the face, and the blade struck him on the back of the head. Then he countered the charge, striking the Yankee a swerving blow across the face that peeled off the end of his nose and left a wound which was to mark him from eye to chin the rest of his life.

Bloody from the encounter, Wilson fell to the ground when his horse was shot down. He secured another horse, and it was also killed. Two more fell beneath him in the rain of musketry, and as he rode on his last mount the end of his thumb was taken off by a bullet. Dazed by the loss of blood, Wilson rode at random, until suddenly he was stopped at the sight of his father lying dead on the field of battle.

Four Brothers Slain

He dismounted to move the corpse to a safer place, where he could later find it. In the heap of bodies nearby, he found the body of one of his brothers. And as he moved further, another, and then another of his kinsmen were found slain. William, 22 years old, Fred, James and Henry, the latter 15, all brothers of the rebel spy, he found dead. All had followed their father's colors in Pickett's fatal charge up the hillside.

For the first time, Wilson's courage was daunted. To his further sorrow, word came to him that his sister, Carrie Wilson, serving as a nurse, had been seriously wounded.

He remained on duty until the battle was over, but the next day, entering the Union lines in civilian clothes, he surrenderd to General Meade, who formerly had been Lee's school chum. Wilson explained what had happened, and told of his position on Lee's staff. He said he had surrendered in order that he might take the bodies of his kinsmen to New Orleans for interment. Meade, learning of Wilson's connection with Lee, almost overwhelmed the bereaved and destitute spy by insisting on providing caskets for the dead, and paying all expenses incurred in taking the slain Confederates back to the South for interment.

Returning as a prisoner of war, Wilson reported back to Meade. His astonishment then was complete, for Meade not only granted Wilson his freedom, but provided him with an escort to the outermost post of the Federal lines. Wilson then returned to Lee's headquarters, and served until the end of the war.

Four years after the battle of Gettysburg, Wilson was to meet as a friend his adversary in the sabre duel. The former spy, on his honeymoon with his bride of a few weeks, was stopping at the Astor house in New York. In one of the fashionable cafes, one day, Wilson recognized the Yankee. After an introduction had been accomplished, Wilson learned his former enemy was the former Sergt. Maj. George L. Hughes, wealthy New Yorker.

They clasped hands as friends, and Hughes insisted on the newlyweds being his guests during the remainder of their stay in New York.

Years of varied adventures after he left Washington college in 1870 brought Colonel Wilson here. At one time he was a wealthy business man in Chicago. Losing all his property in the Chicago fire of 1871, he returned to New Orleans, later came to Fort Worth and San Antonio, and after living in Mexico for a while returned to Childress. He moved here in 1910. He married his second wife, Mrs. E. M. Johnson of Knoxville, Tenn., in Childress in 1910. He has been active in community development here, and for the last 20 years has served in various capacities as a city and county official.

Baby Show Tremendous Success On Last Forum Hostess Day

A novel event that is causing no little comment in society and club circles was the baby style show featured at the Woman's Forum clubhouse during the Hostess Day luncheon Wednesday.

Misses Elizabeth and Katherine Weldon, accompanied by Edward Smith, sang two numbers before the style show started. Mrs. Jimmie Allred furnished music throughout the promenade.

The stage was set as a miniature playground, with a yellow Mother Goose swing, a red umbrella over a gay red tea table, yellow red rabbit rockers and a long sand slide.

Jeannine Ann Kahn, Hallie Harrell DeShong, Helen Sylvia Benninger, Joseph Hamilton Farabee, Howard Hovis Jr., Shirley Kauffmann, Betty Sue Tennyson, June Louise Young, Jimmy Strauss, Joyce Janice Hale, Sammy Weldon, Jo Ann Kemp, Charlotte Maer, Patricia Huckins, Betty Trickett, Kitty Ruth Jackson, Dillard Jackson Jr., Landom Cullum, Jimmy Cullum, Marion Miller, Sue Stilley, Helen Louise Anderson, Letitia Keith, Ann Oakes, Betty Tucker, Sylvia Marie Riner and Frances Tucker were the models who showed clothing for all hours of the day and even pajamas for the young ladies.

Miss Jeannine Ann Kahn, aged 6 months, was rolled out on the stage first in a lovely pink bassinette by a very proud mother. Hhe appearance was short, but decidedly popular. When her mother lifted her into view of the audience, she received enthusiastic applause.

One by one, they won applause. Joseph Hamilton Farabee, aged 22 months, not at all abashed by so much name, rushed madly across the stage. He believed in doing what had to be done and on his second appearance, he was encouraged with a toy telephone.

Sammy Weldon showed he was already of manly instinct. He didn't think men ought to model. But he gave a smile and bow to the audience when he came out in a little romper suit and he won a "hand." And then, he crawled into the swing with Jo Ann Kemp and was enjoying the party if they would let him alone.

Little Miss DeShong modeled several frocks with complete composure and was particularly lovely in the little bonnets she wore with curls peeping out from under them.

The last style number was Hallie Harrell DeShong and Howard Hovis Jr., who strolled together across the stage and he seemed quite charmed to hold the little lady's hand.

Letitia Keith not only styled with self possession and grace, but gave two lovely specialty song numbers.

Mrs. H. F. Weldon was in charge of the occasion and received many compliments for its success.

Those in attendance were Mrs. C. C. Collier and party, Mrs. R. D. Kennedy and party, Mrs. Stamfel and party, Mrs. Otis Nelson and party, Mrs. R. T. Belcher and party, Mrs. Newton Maer and party, Mrs. J. M. Whitworth and party, Mrs. W. L. Parker and party, Mrs. B. C. Nicholson and party, Mrs. Russell of Electra and party, Mrs. J. L. After the luncheon, Mrs. J. J. Perkins, president during the past year, introduced graciously the new president, Mrs. J. C. Humphrey. Mrs. Humphrey made a charming speech in response.

Mrs. G. B. Smedley, the club delegate to the district federation which met recently at Arlington, made her report.

GADABOUT GIRLS

"Has a fellow any chance of happiness, dear Miss Brainerd, if he marries a gadabout type of girl? I'm in love with a girl and want to marry her but there's one thing about her that makes me hesitate to propose. She's an awful gadabout—always dashing from one party to another, dated up for every hour of the day, and apparently never satisfied unless she's on the go.

"Now that's all right. I don't object as I like a good time myself. But I don't know how it would work out as a permanent diet. I work hard, like most young men who are trying to bet ahead in business, and I don't feel like going out every night in the week. A lot of the time I want to stay home, read, relax and get to bed early so as to be in shape for the next day.

"I know a man in love is not supposed to think how marriage will turn out. It's considered coldblooded, callous. But I'm not altogether selfish. I want to be happy, of course. But I want even more to make her happy. And I'm wondering if we have any chance of happiness together. I'll undoubtedly ask her anyway, but I'd like to know what you think."

It all depends upon the girl—that is, whether her gadabout proclivities are inborn, ingrained or whether they are only superficial. With some women, being on the go from morning till night may be likened to a young man's sowing of wild oats. Like him, once she has found some one worth while and settled down to the business of matrimony, often she makes as good a life partner as the person who has been staid and responsible from the cradle on.

A great many women regard marriage as a career—the goal of their ambitions. Until it is achieved they frequently "mark time," as it were, by this flighty seeming gadding about.

Sometimes, of course, the habit becomes fixed so that a once quiet, home-keeping girl will pale with boredom at the prospect of an evening by the fireside. And some women have had the desire to make continual wild whoopee since their perambulator days.

If your girl belongs to this last group you may as well bid goodbye your dreams of domestic felicity.

How can you tell? You don't say how long you have known her, but if a reasonable length of time, you should have been able to discover from her conversation and reactions in general whether she is an addict to or only a dabbler with the gadabout drug.

It all depends on the girl.

Betty Brainerd will be glad to help her readers with their problems. Send a self addressed stamped envelope to her in care of this paper.

Blue Bird Lunch Of P.-T. A. Council Outstanding Event

An atmosphere typical of cheer and happiness was that presented at the Blue Bird luncheon sponsored by the P.-T. A. city council at the Zundelowitz cafeteria Wednesday, honoring the outgoing and incoming officers of the local associations.

Many roses as were used in the cafeteria in baskets, bowls and vases, and banked against every place that needed a spot of color. Blue birds, suspended from invisible hangings, seemed to be flying all over the room. The blue balloons were features adding to the gaiety of the scene and the tables were sweet with honeysuckle, roses, and flowered maypoles. Blooming privet made the lovely white and green background.

School and College News

"We are swamped with professions. Everything today is specialized; this is indeed an age of intensive specialization," Dr. John Brown, founder of the John Brown schools in Arkansas and noted lecturer, told members of the high school and college student bodies at the Junior college Wednesday morning when he spoke on "Choosing Your Life's Work."

"When school closes in May, there will be 850,000 boys and over 400,000 girls searching for jobs from out of the schools and colleges. Each of these students will attempt to enter the 'white-collar' job field," he said.

The speaker pointed out that the schools are closing the domestic science classes because of the extremely small enrollment in the courses, which is the very place that the modern girl belongs, for, according to Dr. Brown, "America cannot live without Mother and the Home." He stated that when a man's income was too small to support a family and that he denied himself marriage on this account, the girl would invariably seek a job in the offices to help support the home. "Not only does this act bring about a smaller income for both parties, but it also begins a competition between man and woman in the white-collar field," he said.

"Just how many of you know what you are going to do when you leave school?" he asked the assembly. When a comparatively large number of students replied in the affirmative, Dr. Brown said that this number was the largest that he had ever encountered during the past five years during his visits to a large number of colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Dr. Brown expressed the need in America today for institutions of the more practical type.

LUNCHEON GIVEN BY MISS SMITH

Again a lovely pre-nuptial event was celebrated in a luncheon given by Miss Luella Smith, honoring the bride-elect and her cousin, Miss Becky Ann Coleman of New York City.

Miss Smith used pink roses and vari-colored larkspur for her flowers and the color scheme was emphasized by the pink tapers wound with green vines.

She presented Miss Duncan with a beautifully decorated box which was found to contain some lovely crystal pieces. Miss Becky Ann Coleman was presented with exquisite French lingerie.

The guest list was limited to the wedding party and a few of the intimate friends of the bride.

COULDN'T WALK A BLOCK WITHOUT IT TIRING HIM, HE SAYS

"I just came in for another bottle of Sargon. I could hardly make it down here to the store ten days ago, when I came in for my first bottle, but today, I mixed four and a half yards of mortar and layed brick all day—and that's a good day's work for anybody.

J. W. HARRISON

"You are welcome to tell anybody about my case—and I want all sufferers to know about it—for up to the time I started taking Sargon my stomach had been so bad, for days means that I couldn't properly digest any kind of food. I was so nervous I couldn't sleep and could hardly hold a glass of water to my mouth. I had pains in my feet and legs and at time my ankles were so swollen I couldn't lace my shoes. Walking a block would tire me out, I was so weak.

"I never expected anything to benefit me in such a short time, like Sargon did. It has helped me so much I can hardly realize I was so sick. I sleep well, eat anything I want, the pains and swelling are gone from my feet and ankles, and my nerves are steady for the first time in years. This Sargon treatment is worth ten times what it cost and I don't mean to stop until I have used eight or ten bottles, for I realize my case is of long standing.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills ought to be taken right along with the Sargon. They keep your liver active and don't upset you in the least. I hope my statement helps others to find the way back to good health with Sargon."

The above grateful statement was recently made by J. W. Harrison of 3703 Burlington St., Dallas. Mr. Harrison is a member of the Christian church, a Mason, and is highly esteemed by his friends and neighbors.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Rexall Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets. Ward's drug store, and Burgess-Smith Drug Co., No. 21 in Electra from Rexall Drug store, and in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.

BILIOUS, SICK, COULD NOT EAT

Lady Says She Has Avoided Suffering by Taking Thedford's Black-Draught

Salem, S. C.—For many years Thedford's Black-Draught has been highly esteemed in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cantrell, of this place. Mrs. Cantrell says:

"My children are grown and married, but all during their childhood at home, I used Black-Draught with them when they had colds and when not sick enough for stronger medicine.

"I found it a great help, and never was without it. My husband and I still use it.

"I used to suffer quite a bit from headaches, especially in the spring. If I got bilious, my head would ache and I would be very nauseated, not able to eat anything, and just too sick to get. We used to call them 'blinding headaches,' for my eyes ached, too.

"Black-Draught certainly was fine for this. If I would begin taking Black-Draught when I felt a headache coming on, I would not have a bad one. When I found this was the case, I avoided lots of pain. It is the best medicine of the kind I have ever found."

WHEN MEN ARE 'FORGIVABLE'

Some Males Are Just Simply 'Born Polygamists'

How Often Should a Wife Forgive Her Husband? Folly of Marrying a Gold-Digger—Shall This Man Quit Out Sleighing to Please His Wife?

My Dear Dorothy Dix—Do you think it wise for a wife continuously and repeatedly to forgive a husband? When a married couple have reached middle age and the husband is disloyal to his wife and lies to her and neglects her, what course should she take when her affectionate remonstrances and persuasions have failed.

Is divorce a remedy for such a situation? Does it bring lasting peace of mind? What effect is it likely to have on her married son and his young family? To what extent should this woman consider her son and other relations in the matter of this contemplated divorce? What is her duty to herself? Is it wise or right or just for her to bear so much mental suffering, loneliness of spirit and heartache in order to spare the feelings of relations?

This woman has given 31 years of faithful service to her husband and does not desire a divorce if any other course can be made to do. She does not need his support. It is only a question of choosing the right course in order to obtain peace of mind. Of course, in the end the wife must decide for herself, but anything you say on the subject will be helpful to her.

—MRS. E. F.

Answer—How often a wife should forgive a husband depends altogether on how much worth forgiving he is and on how much she cares for him. There are men who are born polygamists who are constitutionally unable to resist the flutter of every petticoat that crosses their pathway, but who are otherwise all that could be desired in a husband.

They are generous, affectionate, sympathetic, agreeable in the home, and they make love to their own wives as charmingly as they do to other women. Such a man a woman may well forgive 70 times seven. But when a husband adds infidelity to grouchiness and stinginess and fault-finding, once is too often to overlook his fault. He should be given the air if he even glances sideways at a flapper.

There are women who are so obsessed by their love for their husbands that they are happier even with a corner of their hearts than they would be with none. We often see the miracle of mother love, that loves most where it has to forgive most, extended to husbands. So every wife must judge for herself whether her husband is worth the price she has to pay for him.

As to whether divorce brings peace of mind or not, that also depends on the individual woman's temperament. To a woman of strong, practical common sense to be divorced from a lying, immoral man is like a surgical operation that removes some cancer that poisoned all the sweet springs of life. She is healed and well and can set about rebuilding her life, but a neurotic woman can make herself miserable with vain regrets.

When a woman has little children who need a home and home influences and the authority of both mother and father, I think she should endure almost anything for the sake of her young ones, but it is a different story when her children are grown. Then she need consider no one except herself and there is no reason why she should be tortured by the carryings-on of a worthless old rounder. Certainly a woman who has given 31 years of her life to the service of her family has a right to do as she pleases with the balance of it.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a poor young man working hard to get a start in the world. Not long ago the girl I am engaged to had a birthday and suggested an article as a present that costs more money than I had in the world at that time. I explained this to her, but she insisted on having it and I bought it by getting it for so much down and so much a month. Just a month later she startled me with a purchase where $100 was involved, which she seemed to think was my obligation also, and she is continually reminding me of the desirability of an engagement ring. Her people are well-to-do—with dollars to my cents—yet every time she calls me on the phone from her house the charges are reversed on me. I feel the need of competent advice. —A DOUBTING MALE.

Answer—You certainly do, son, and mine is to escape from the clutches of this gold-digger while you still have a chance. If you don't you will be one of those poor, miserable husbands whose wife keeps his nose to the grindstone all of his life.

If you marry this girl you will spend your life toiling like a slave to buy her fine clothes and cars and to send her on trips and to provide her with an expensive home, and she won't care a rap whether she works you to death or not. All she is interested in is getting the thing she wants, and no matter how much you give her she will be like the daughter of the horse leech, always crying more, more, more.

You will always be in debt and just about three jumps ahead of the sheriff, and you will be miserable and unhappy and nervewarn and harried by debts, for she will always spend more than you make.

You will never get anywhere because you will never be able to save up enough money to go into any business on your own account or to make any good investment or even to leave a poor situation on a chance of getting a better one because you won't have a dollar saved up and can't risk being out of a job.

Don't marry that kind of girl, son. There are so many easier and pleasanter ways of committing suicide than by being gobbled up by a greedy woman.—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—The man to whom I am engaged and myself have agreed to let you decide the fairness of this proposition. He agrees to sacrifice smoking from 10 to 15 cigarets a day to two or three a week provided I sacrifice my feelings on the subject enough to let the subject drop and never bring it up again. All that I ask is that he give up smoking cigarets and in return I offer to give up any one of my pleasures, but if he continues to smoke he gives up the right to criticize anything I do.

—HOPEFUL AND PERSISTENT.

Answer—It seems to me that you are both making a mountain out of a molehill and that if all you have to quarrel about is a cigaret you are hard put for a subject of disagreement. However, it isn't the cigaret you are fighting over. The man is fighting for personal liberty and the woman is fighting for the privilege of keeping him, and if I were the man I would stick to my cigaret if I died for it.

But be wise, children. Have enough sense to realize that tolerance is the greatest of all the domestic virtues and that the less that you interfere with each other's personal tastes and habits the better chance you have for happiness. Why should either one of you give up any innocent pleasure for the other one? Can't you see how much more comfortable you will be if each concedes to the other the right to indulge in his or her own personal ways?

If wives would let their husbands smoke in peace and husbands would lay off their wives' paint and powder and hair nets and short skirts, there would be a lot more happy homes than there are now.

Weeds Keep Down Dust At Amarillo Airport

AMARILLO, Texas, May 1. (AP)—Amarillo engineers are greeting with enthusiasm the coming of weeds and grass in the Municipal airport's landing field, as construction work was greatly delayed during March, because of dust.

The airport occupies a 480-acre site, made possible by a $100,000 bond issue. The field is to be completed by May 15, at which time it is to go into regular use by the Western Air Express and the Texas Air transport.

OFFAL A LA CARTE

Daily Editorial

HOTELS derive their sustaining revenues from room rental. Restaurants are sacrifice hitters in the game—just as diners are ablest ticket agents in railway employ.

Ripley, of the Santa Fe, ran his line into a perpetual melon patch, by constructively organizing his deficit on food sales. Travelers got such a wonderful choice and lavish helpings on his trains, that they were crowded when competitive coaches went empty.

No efficiency sharp ever sold him penny-wise and pound-foolish policy. When observation is offered for the benefit of certain hotel proprietors, temporarily suffering from the hallucination that success works with a black-jack and under the "public-be-damned" sign.

Bigger business, reformed by the spanks of experience, long ago abandoned insolence and "hold up," to place liberalized service in charge of dividends.

But bright young men, who juggle statistics and make 'em do pretty tricks on paper, haven't yet learned that.

Instead, they are preaching that every kitchen should stand on its own fiscal feet, absorb the expense of dancing space, orchestras, professional entertainers, constant redecoration, crockery breakage and depreciation, not to mention ground floor overhead.

They've installed detective systems to sleuth the ice boxes, patrol the pastry trays and count the noodles.

They have also substituted quality-pinching formulas and essence-diluting recipes wherever inferior shortenings can be concealed in crust, and gravies made to hide theft of nourishment.

SINGLE steaks, carved on the wedge to favor gristle and fat, must sell at $2.75. A double sirloin a la Stanley, garnished with a dab of horse radish and fried banana, is procurable at $6.50.

Vermicelli fanciers may satisfy cravings at the rate of 70 cents per bird-bathful. And a scrap of toast, photographically plated with Russian caviar, is winsomely suggested for $1.75.

These rates prevail even in establishments with obsolete heating, ancient plumbing, pre-war ventilation and furnishings like grandfather used to admire.

In snootier caravancaries, profiteering has gone air-minded.

French cuisine is a dodo phrase. Chefs have graduated into laboratory hounds and percentage experts. They are specializing in hashes, horrors and by-products.

They've turned from Careme and Escoffier to follow chemistry, which understands how to kill the taint of stale fish, dope wilting greens, and concealing season ripe poultry.

Offal in Tiffany settings, and almshouse fare on Limoges porcelain, are fast crossing the continent. Midas isn't rich enough to buy a square and wholesome meal when away from home.

He can feast his eyes on Old Masters, million dollar foyers and historic tapestries, but his revolting stomach must confine selection to such prepared entrees as stewed tripe, frankfurters and sauerkraut, boiled cabbage and pigs' knuckles, lambs' fries and other unmentionables, potted oxtail, swine kidneys, pickled calves' head, pork chops and brains.

Meanwhile, balance sheets lugubriously note the steady diminishment of income, wonder why so many rooms are empty and so many old customers have checked out.

Plucked geese aren't laying so many golden eggs upstairs. Stupid avarice is slaughtering them downstairs.

School vacations have established a July 1 "moving day," a Chicago economist finds.

Cost of Legislation

REPRESENTATIVE JOHN E. DAVIS of Mesquite, Dallas county, is chairman of the contingent expense committee of the house. Representative Davis is the editor of the Texas Mesquiter when at home, but he has several side issues such as banking and farming. When it is the open season he is a baseball fan. He is a lightning calculator. He has figured out that each day of a regular session costs $2,383 and that the cost each day of a special session is $2,000. This he figures would make $260,000 for the current special session.

All this may be true. But a democratic government is worth the price. It is a government made by the people. It is just as weak as the people and just as strong as the people. It is the government that is the voice of democracy. If the voice makes a mistake then it is the fault of the voice for the time being. All people make mistakes, all individuals make mistakes, all officeholders make mistakes. Reforms some slowly. Think of the constitution of Texas. It was made 52 years ago. Hon. Joseph D. Sayers was a member of the senate more than 52 years ago and he had fought through a bloody war and a bitter reconstruction period long before the constitution was drafted and adopted by the people.

All the reforms suggested or recommended are going to happen. If not today, in the near future. Prison reform will come. Educational reform will come. Civil service will win its way. Judicial reform will come.

James Stephen Hogg gave four years as attorney general, four years as governor and six years thereafter as a private citizen to put over the reforms he advocated and crystalize into laws of the commonwealth.

Yes, a democratic government is costly. But it is the best form of government yet devised by mortal man. It is like the gospel of Christ—the best eternal hope offering yet made to the family of man since the beginning of time.

The Earth Is Shrinking

"DO YOU know what it means to starve?" That challenging question heads an advertisement recently published by a committee that is seeking contributions to relieve famine conditions in Bessarabia.

Forty thousand families, says the advertisement, are actually dying of starvation in Bessarabia. Unless outside help comes many more will be in the same plight.

So the appeal is broadcast in America—and the average citizen, who thinks himself abused if he has to go without his lunch, is asked if he knows what it is like to be starving.

The question is rather too easily answered. We don't know what it means to starve. Furthermore, most of us don't know where Bessarabia is, nor do we care greatly. Forty thousand families are starving there, but it doesn't touch us. It's too far away, too unreal.

We read, also, that there is a dreadful famine in China. A million people—or is it two million?—are dying of starvation in some vague province in the interior. But it is all extremely remote. Besides, the Chinese are inexplicable people at best. So, while a few committees and church organizations struggle for funds, most of us never give the matter a thought.

It is hard for us to get excited about tragedy that is not happening next door. We still have a good deal of the old clannish feeling—the feeling that so long as all is well with us and ours we should worry about what happens to strangers.

It happens, however, that the feeling is out of date. The world is shrinking. In spite of ourselves, we are being brought to the point where such things as famines in Bessarabia and wholesale starvation in China are bound to affect us, whether we like it or not.

We have more next door neighbors than we used to have. Our inventions—the steamship, the railroad, the airplane, the telegraph, the whole network of modern finance, trade and production—have bound all sections of the globe closer together. And this, strangely enough, is going to make better people out of us.

It is going to kill our old provincialism and isolation. It is going to make us learn that no man, and no nation, can live selfishly. It will not be long before the tragedy of any part of the human race will be instantly accepted as the deep, immediate concern of all.

A Flimsy Excuse

WHEN a man stands convicted of a crime, and under sentence to prison, he always makes desperate last-minute attempts to get out of it. Usually his final pleas and excuses are flimsy to the utmost degree.

Seldom, however, has a weaker plea been made than that made by Harry F. Sinclair, who is at last faced by the terrible penalty of spending three months in jail for bribing a cabinet officer and stealing a hundred million dollars' worth of oil.

Sinclair protested that if he went to jail his stockholders—many of them widows and orphans—would suffer loss. Hence, he said, the government should call it quits and revoke his sentence.

It is a long time since any argument as specious as that has been presented. One's heart must bleed for the widows and orphans—but Mr. Sinclair, after all, is getting off easy. He has no kick coming.

State Banks Are Prosperous

STATE COMMISSIONER OF BANKING JAMES SHAW has furnished the press and the public an analysis of consolidated statements of all state banks as of March 27, and the statements show a most healthy condition. Deposits in the 709 state banks reporting amounted to $270,194,441, as compared with $256,937,834 reported by 740 banks on Feb. 28, 1928. This shows an increase over the period of 13 months of approximately $13,260,000. Reduction in a number of banks from 740 to 709 was brought about through consolidation and by the failure of several banks during the period. Is Texas prosperous? If one doubts it he should read the bank statements.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

SOCIETY AND TESTIMONIALS

The world do move. Society leaders have joined the indorsing cult. A few years back if an advertising agent had knocked on the door at the homes of Our Best People and asked the lady of the house publicly to indorse a gadget, facial cream, cigaret, rug, perfume or bath fixture she would have ordered the butler to call a cop. Today all is changed.

PHILLIPS

Milady will not lend her name to the commercial advertisement of ships and shoes and sealing-wax. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish Morris has indorsed a stocking, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., Mrs. Adrien Iselin II, Lady Louis Mountbatten and Mrs. George Grant Mason have placed the seal of approval on a cosmetic and any number of smart women, including Mrs. Frederick Cameron Church Jr., Mrs. Robert McCormick, Countess Colorado Mannsfield and Mrs. Joseph Leiter have sung the praises of a mattress and springs.

Full pages in the rotogravure sections have given the public intimate glimpses of the Church and Leiter buodoirs that the lower half may know how the other half sleeps.

No longer does the company behind a product satisfy itself with small fry testimonials. It goes after the big fish and gets them.

The man with a pancake flour, a new face cream or a four-poster bed to market used to take an indorsement from Mrs. Jones or Mrs. Smith, but today he goes straight for Mrs. T. De Quincy Rockingbilt, bluest of the blue bloods.

Of course, it takes more money. He can get six Mrs. Joneses for the price of one Mrs. Rockingbilt, but Mrs. Rockingbilt is worth it.

The modern advertising expert has no compunctions about approaching the upper crusters. He doesn't even hesitate. He is finding it just as easy to get a dowager to speak up for an oil furnace as it used to be to get an average housewife to sing the praises of a skillet, and as simple to land a testimonial for a cigaret, overshoe or suit of underwear from a debutante as to land an indorsement of a freckle-remover from a sales girl.

It has become a fad.

The Smart Set loves it. Where it will end nobody can tell. We soon may see Mrs. Throckmorton Wallabout, holder of one of the low numbers in the Four Hundred, proclaiming how easy it is to make money raising Belgian hares at home, telling of her success learning cartooning in 10 simple lessons or saying, "All that I am today I owe to Toasted Iron."

To a Live Trout in a New York Store Window

Twinkle, twinkle, little trout,
Wond'ring what it's all about,
Swimming in a window brook
Where the passing throngs may look;
List'ning to the shrieking brakes
And the bedlam traffic makes;
Harking to the traffic cop
Whistling for the "go" and "stop";
Quivering to the constant jars
From the flat-wheeled surface cars;
Blinking thru the window glass
As the funny faces pass
And at those that stop and stare
At you in the water there;
Do not worry, don't get blue
Wond'ring why it is that you
Of all trout both small and great
Should be picked for such a fate;—
Splash about and pleasure find—
Try to bear this thought in mind:
Mighty few trout 'neath the sun
Ever get a "Broadway Run."

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, May 1.—Gathered in the radio room of the New York Times, at 11 o'clock the night of April 6, was a group of distinguished newspaper men, publishers, scientists, statesmen and stage folks. The right fielder of this gathering, so to speak, was the writer and is described in this way because, in the old days, the right fielder on a baseball team was always supposed to be the least important member.

The purpose of this huddle was a little contrivance suspended in the room, about which the group had gathered. Among those present were Mr. Adolph Ochs, publisher and principal owner of the New York Times, Mayor James J. Walker of New York, S. L. Rothapfel, better known as "Roxy," Lucrezia Bori, Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, and many other well known persons. The purpose of the meeting was to broadcast a program to Commander Richard Byrd who was 12,000 miles away in the snow and ice of the Antartic. This was shot into space through the General Electric plant in Schenectady. Although it was 11 o'clock at night in New York on April 6, it was Sunday morning in the Antarctic.

It struck the writer as being spooky, to think that men could stand in evening clothes, comfortable and warm, before a small microphone, and, in an ordinary conversational tone, send their voices across this ten or twelve thousand miles of land, ocean and ice. If any of the audience had doubts about the reception of the program, they were dispelled, after it had been on the air about 20 minutes, when a message was received from Dick Byrd saying the songs and talks were coming through very fine and clearly.

Friends of the commander sent greetings and messages. Bori sang as she had never sung before. The program was brought to a close by an appropriate speech by Mayor Walker. Everything was solemn and dignified, when some wit, who had sneaked into the group, remarked, "It would be a terrible thing if Byrd and his comrades didn't like this stuff and shut off the radio."

From time to time the question of the right to publish letters by distinguished people comes up for discussion. As a question of law, for publication purposes the letters belong to the author or his heirs. To prove a contract, the letter is the property of the addressee.

I am reminded of this because recently there turned up a collection of letters that Colonel Roosevelt wrote to Mr. John Burroughs, the naturalist. These letters are in the possession of a collector, but, for publication purposes, they are the proeprty of the Roosevelt estate. Therefore, the collector cannot publish them, but because the estate has not physical possession of the letters or copies, it cannot print them either.

Then there was the famous case of Wilson letters to Mrs. Peck. A certain book publisher paid $11,000 before Wilson's death for the right to publish these letters, not being familiar with the principle of law which prevented their use. Mrs. Wilson got an injunction restraining their publication, and fortunately they have never reached the eyes of a curious public. As a matter of fact, I have seen the letters, and there is nothing in them that would astound or shock anybody, since they are merely friendly letters describing the peaceful adventures and travels of a scholarly man.

Bruce Barton, author of the two well known works "The Man Nobody Knows" and "The Book Nobody Knows" and head of a large advertising agency, is invited to many dinners which for business or social reasons he feels he should attend, but he claims he has developed an infallible formula by which he can avoid staying to listen to the speeches and still not offend anybody. He puts on a dinner coat, joins the crowd in the ante-room before dinner, makes himself as conspicuous as possible, shakes hands with everybody and then as the diners are marching in he disappears, eats at a cafeteria or small restaurant and goes home.

Now that this secret is out, perhaps a lot of regular dinner attenders will try the same scheme because probably there is nothing more tiresome in New York than listening to speeches at stiff formal dinners.

BANDS TO PLAY AT C.-C. MEET

Ten Directors to Bring Musicians to Tahoka

Special to The Record News

TAHOKA, Texas, May 1.—Word has been received by the secretary of the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce from Conrad R. Lam, director of the Lamb county bands, comprising the bands of Littlefield, Amherst and Sudan, that they will all be at the South Plains district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held here April 24. Mr. Lam is director of these three bands and he has three first class bands which he expects to present to the public at the convention.

To date word has been received from 10 band directors stating that they would have their bands at the convention. This is the one great event of the South Plains where all the bands get together in friendly rivalry and have a good time. Bands from the following towns have signified their intentions of attending the convention: Crosbyton, Lubbock, Lamesa, Plainview, Brownfield, Abernathy and Slaton.

Plans are being made to take care of and entertain the largest crowd ever to attend a South Plains district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Several towns are planning novelty stunts which will attract attention, and will be something out of the ordinary for similar conventions. The Lynn County Home Demonstration clubs will serve the luncheon under the direction of Miss Thelma Greenwade, county demonstrator.

Snooper to Face Jurors in June

GENEVA, Ill., May 1. (UP)—Eugene Boyd Fairchild, youthful "dry" investigator, must face trial in June on a charge of perjury in connection with his raise affidavit which led to the killing of Mrs. Lillian De King of Aurora by "dry" raiders.

Fairchild, who swore to a purchase of liquor at the De King home, which he admittedly did not make, was indicted by the Kane county grand jury, which refused to take action against Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith, who killed Mrs. De King after clubbing her husband, Joe De King. Smith was wounded by 12-year-old Gerald De King, who defended his mother with his father's revolver.

PROHIBITION RESURRECTED AS ISSUE IN ENGLISH ELECTION

MOVE BACKED BY NEW VOTERS

Dry Issue to Be Faced for First Time in 37 Years

By F. A. WRAY

LONDON, May 1. (INS)—For the first time in 37 years prohibition will be a definite issue in the British general election on May 30.

Not since 1892, when "local veto" became an active interest in politics, and nearly caused the defeat of William Ewart Gladstone and the Liberal party, has this sharply cut issue occurred.

On this occasion, for the first time, all temperance parties are united. Their policy is a simple one. They will concentrate on divisions which are held by a small or medium majority. Their pledged voters irrespective of party allegiance, will then vote solidly for the candidate favorable to their cause.

Backed by Churches

This election campaign is being run by what is known as "the active service movement." This movement, instituted and backed mainly by the free churches of Britain, and manned almost entirely by the "new voters"—those young men and women who have just turned 21 and who have never voted before—will present a "three point program" to every candidate. Each will be asked:

(1)—If elected, will you support a measure to secure public control of the supply of intoxicating liquor in clubs by means of an annual permit or license?

(2)—Will you support a local option measure for England and Wales, including an option of "no license?"

(3)—Will you support a memorial for the Sunday closing of liquor bars?

This questionnaire was sent to the heads of the three political parties in Britain and their general attitude can be judged by the replies received from them.

Baldwin Against It

Premier Stanley Baldwin instructed his secretary to reply:

"The Conservative party has always regarded individual liberty as one of the most valuable assets of the English character—much as we desire to see the evils connected with the intemperate use of alcohol disappear, we believe that such a result can not be brought about by the proposals which are put forward in your memorial without grave disadvantages."

J. Ramsay Macdonald, leader of the Labor party, in a very friendly personal letter said:

"I welcome with all my heart the interest which the signatories show in the temperance movement . . . Last autumn the Labor party declared for a royal commission to inquire into the whole problem. The commission would be appointed immediately if a Labor government were in power."

Sir Herbert Samuel, replying on behalf of the Liberal party, said:

"Our attitude is that the present national drink bill represents an unproductive and wasteful expenditure by that immunity which is indefensible in the existing economic situation, and inimical to the health and efficiency of many of the consumers . . . It is necessary that the system whereby the sale and distribution of alcohol is regulated, should be revised and improved."

Modification Favored

The net result of the replies is that the Labor and liberal parties are prepared to legislate on the question of, at any rate, a modified form of prohibition, but the conservation party will remain conservative.

"Our new movement, in effect, originates from the youth of the churches," the Rev. Henry Carter, secretary of the Wesleyan Methodist social department, told International News Service.

"During the war we lost what was equivalent to practically a generation of active church workers. But that lost ground has now been regained, and we believe that we have the great bulk of the youth of the country on our side.

"This generation thinks out things for itself. It does not spend itself on mere enthusiasm. But it acts with solid deliberation and determination. And we are certain it is on the side of right. Few things commend themselves so much to it as the futile waste on alcohol.

10,000,000 New Voters

"At the coming election there will be nearly 10,000,000 new voters of both sexes between the ages of 21 and 30, mainly voting for the first time. We believe that their votes will lead toward improved social conditions and reform. They will represent 30 per cent of the electorate and their votes may easily decide this fateful election.

Texas' Only Republican Legislator Rakes Demos for Slow Progress

Eickenroht Takes Slap at 'Dilatory Tactics' and Trusts G. O. P. Will Gain Complete Control

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—Representative Reno Eickenroht, sole Republican member of the house, fired a broadside at his Democratic colleagues today when he introduced a resolution describing activities of the special session as an "obvious failure to weigh and recognize responsibilities," and calling upon the legislature to adjourn sine die. Governor Moody was requested to issue a call for a special election to fill vacant posts.

Eickenroht said he trusted that a Republican majority would be returned to both the house and senate so that efficiency might supersede dilatory tactics and mismanagement in the government of Texas.

The resolution aroused the ire of Rep. A. S. Johnson, Winona, who asserted that it was not introduced in the spirit of a jest and urged that the house demand that Eickenroht apologize.

PRISON JUNKET EFFORT FAILS

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—Efforts of Rep. Henry Turner, Madisonville, to have a nine-member committee from the house inspect prison properties in Fort Bend and Madison counties with a view of concentration on these tracts failed to obtain immediate action on the floor today.

At the request of Rep. George C. Purl, Dallas, Turner's resolution was referred to the committee on penitentiaries.

Turner, co-author of the Young-Turner-Loy bill calling for reorganization of the prison system on the Ramsey and Darrington farms, said he believed members of the house should familiarize themselves with physical conditions before voting on a penitentiary bill.

BILLS FLOOD SENATE HOPPER

AUSTIN, May 1. (INS)—A flurry of bills were thrown into the legislative hopper in the senate today following Gov. Dan Moody's message opening up the gates to many new topics for consideration.

A resolution offered by Sen. W. D. McFarlane, of Graham, to add the names of Sen. Carl Hardin and Charles Gainer to the penitentiary committee brought sharp debate.

Senator Holbrook of Galveston, administration leader, charged that the anti-administration forces were seeking to "lead the committee." The resolution was adopted by a vote of 18 to 7.

Bills introduced included:

Three by J. W. E. H. Beck, creating a vital statistics board; one dealing with livestock diseases and a sanitary code measure. One by Senator Woodul of dealing with the discharge of convicts; three by Senator Holbrook, proposing the creation of three drainage districts in Brazoria county; five by Senator Parr, four of them local measures and the fifth dealing with tick eradication; one by Senator Grear regulating the collection of taxes by school districts; two by Senator Berkeley, one proposing ratification of a compact between Texas and New Mexico for water from the Rio Grande river; one by Senator Love of Dallas calling for the regulation of casualty insurance; one by Senator McFarlane, proposing the establishment of a refrigerating plant in the prison system, and one by Senator Parrish of Lubbock, authorizing the general land commissioner to award sales of forfeited school lands.

Methodist Hospital At Fort Worth Opens Soon

NASHVILLE, Texas, May 1. (AP)—The Methodist hospital of Fort Worth, will be opened at an early date, it was reported to the denomination's hospital board in annual meeting here.

The report said the hospital had been completed and under the leadership of C. Q. Smith, $500,000 had been raised since January 1, last, to insure its equipment and early opening and to lift part of the indebtedness.

ACTRESS MAY MARRY PRINCE

Kaiser's Grandson Proposes To Film Star

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., May 1. (INS)—Although definite confirmation was still lacking, the movie colony today continued to buzz with the rumor that wedding bells are about to ring for Lily Damita, petite French film star, and Prince Louis Ferdinand of Prussia, 21-year-old grandson of the former German kaiser.

Although his departure for South America had been expected some time ago, the dashing young scion of German royalty has revealed no indication that he plans to leave Hollywood and Mlle. Damita, in whose company he is frequently seen.

On the contrary, Prince Ferdinand has announced he plans to take a course in aviation here and has, in various other ways, intimated his intentions to remain on American soil and possibly to become an American citizen.

The film beauty has already declared that the prince whom she knew in Europe, has proposed marriage. The prince, however, is extremely reticent on the subject of matrimony, while rumors persist that he has been separated from the interests of the house of Hohenzollern.

Marrs Wants Mothers To Learn How to Read

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—A campaign to teach illiterate mothers to read between now and May 12, Mothers' day, has been advocated in Texas by S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public education.

The superintendent said he was prepared to assist in the campaign by distributing copies of Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart's book relating her experience in the moonlight schools of Kentucky, where primary classes were conducted for adult illiterates.

HOUSTON, May 1.—May day was a day of joy throughout the land. Little children were dancing around beribboned May day poles; and in Houston, little and big Buffaloes were running around the bases out at the ball park. All was happiness, except over at Wichita Falls, where sad news about the Spudders completed an unpleasant day after a sandstorm.

The Buffs today halted the Spudders' winning streak, which had extended to four straight. And not only that, but the loser was Milt Steengrafe, one of the league's leading pitchers, who sustained his third defeat of the season. The score was 7 to 3.

Further cause for gloom in the camp of the Spudders tonight was the announcement that Bud Stapleton, t ir brilliant first baseman, broke the index finger of his right hand. The injury was sustained by Bud in the last game of the double header Sunday with Dallas at Wichita Falls, but Stapleton continued playing under the belief that the finger was not broken. After being hit on the digit by a ball in practice today, an examination revealed the fracture.

Snyder Plays First

Stapleton left for home tonight and will arrive tomorrow afternoon when he will undergo treatment for the finger. He probably will be unable to play for two weeks, or more.

Bob Snyder, catcher, played at first base today and handled the job so acceptably as to highly please Skipper Galloway. Jim indicated tonight that Snyder will be kept on first base until Stapleton gets back in the game.

The Buffs hammered Steengrafe for seven hits and five runs in five innings today and counted two more tallies in the seventh off Ed Stiely, the lefthander from the New York-Pennsylvania league. It was Stiely's first start in the Texas league race.

Jim Lindsey pitched steadily and except in the third, when the Spudders scored all their runs, was never threatened.

Houston made 11 hits, Martin, Burrus and Jordan hammering three each, including a triple apiece. Martin and Jordan also each clouted a double.

Wiltse or Smith Today

The Spudders gathered eight blows, Fitzgerald and Swanson leading the Wichita Falls attack with two knocks each, one of Howard's going for two bases.

Both clubs played errorless ball.

Harold Wiltse or Cy Smith, who won Sunday's doubleheader, will oppose the Buffs tomorrow in the third and final game of the series, Galloway said tonight.

The Buffaloes scored two runs in the first inning. With one out, Williamson singled to center and scored on Martin's two-base slam to the left field wall. Burrus hoisted to Fitzgerald, Martin going to third. Jordan singled to left, scoring Martin.

Spudder Rally in Third

Wichita Falls counted all its tallies in the third. Benton and Turgeon strolled, and both scored on Fitzgerald's two-base blow to right. Lindsey tossed out Bennett, Fitzgerald taking third. Swenson singled off Lindsey's glove, Fitzgerald tallying.

The Buffs scored a brace of runs in their half and took the lead, 4-3. Hock, first up, walked. Fitzgerald took Williamson's lift. Martin forced Hock, Swenson to Turgeon. Martin stole second. Burrus tripled to center, scoring Martin. Jordan also hit to center for three bases, sending home Burrus.

Houston counted one in the fifth. Martin tripled to left-center after one was out and ambled home on Burrus' single to the middle garden.

TEACHERS NEEDED

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—Statistics of Dr. B. F. Pittenger of the University of Texas school of education dispute the popular belief that the teaching profession is overcrowded in Texas. In 1927-28, the school received calls for 1,351 instructors and was able to supply only 806, Dr. Pittenger said.

The jinx again has struck at the Wichita Falls Spudders. And like last season, when Buck Stanton sustained an injured knee, the victim now is their first baseman. Bud Stapleton, the present brilliant first sacker of the Spuds, is suffering from a broken finger that will keep him out of diamond regalia for two weeks.

NO. 3—JACK DEMPSEY

The old dreams swings before his eyes,
The ruling power of the fist,
The ancient salvo to the skies,
The vanished crown that he has missed.

The mocking memory of years
Return again to haunt each night,
The old time thunder of cheers,
The thrill and fury of the fight.

He sees big Willard sway and crash,
He sees the shaggy Firpo prone,
He feels again the savage slash
Of leather hurled at flesh and bone.

The years have marched since his big day,
And youth can linger just so long,
Before its litheness fades away
In battle of the swift and strong.

But when he sees the present crop
He thinks "Why not? Some dreams come true;
Just one more brawl before I stop,
Just one more shot before I'm through."

The monster crowd—the blazing lights,
Where heart beats echo like a drum,
The sudden swirl of lefts and rights,
The ancient clamor—"Kill the bum!"

The old dream swims before his gaze,
Raw action in the warring list,
Just one more shot before the days
Have marched too far beyond his fist.

"I'd like to match the Cubs' murderer's row against the Yankees' murderer's row," writes a cub fan. "By which I mean the four top sluggers of the Cubs will make more hits and drive in more runs than any four members of the the Huggins' outfit. It's a set up."

Brown's Battle Line

You can't shove football to one side, not even when May blossoms are beginning to unfurl. Robert Cravan wants to know what university can show a hardier football schedule than Brown faces next fall. As follows: Sept. 28, Springfield college; Oct. 5, Rhode Island State; Oct. 12, Princeton at Princeton; Oct. 19, Yale at New Haven; Oct. 26, Syracuse at Providence; Nov. 2, Holy Cross at Worcester; Nov. 9, Dartmouth at Providence; Nov. 16, Norwich at Providence; Nov. 23, New Hampshire State; Nov. 30, Colgate at Providence.

This schedule calls for at least six tough games of major caliber. "When one realizes," writes Mr. Cravan, "that Brown is restricted to an enrollment of 1,300 students and it offers no athletic scholarship." Coach McLaughry agrees with Alonzo Stagg that spring training should be optional with the players, not an enforced performance.

This is undoubtedly the answer to spring practice. If two hundred students like football enough to improve their play, spring practice is as fine an exercise as they can get, without any accompanying hullabaloo. If they look on it as enforced drudgery it will do little good along any line, and is not worth fooling with.

Today's Golf Tip

Thousands of golfers are now either taking lessons from some professional teacher or are planning such instructions.

In all fairness to the teacher and to themselves it should be borne in mind that such instruction will be of little value unless the golfer is willing to take some time off for practice in place of giving it all to play.

Most of them will take an hour's instruction and then attempt to apply this instruction in the course of a round of competition, which is an impossible combination.

In place of taking an hour's lesson and not practicing it is much better to take half an hour's lesson and then follow with an hour's practice when the lesson can be worked out apart from the idea of scoring results.

As Mike Sweeney has said—"Form and effort at the start don't travel together." And no one can attempt to apply certain rules of form when he is also deeply interested in beating some one else. He will get away badly and will then immediately swing back to his old way, blaming the teacher who has never been given a chance.

British Golfers Dangerous Now

By FRANK GETTY

NEW YORK, May 1. (UP)—British golf enthusiasts are looking forward hopefully to a possible return of the old order when a British open champion was a Briton.

Americans, accustomed to having one of their number walk off with the current British golf championship, are inclined to overlook the fact that before the world war interrupted play no foreign golfer had succeeded in breaking through the solid front established by the old guard on the links.

James Braid, J. H. Taylor and Harry Vardon won the British open 11 times between them from the turn of the century until the war, leaving only four other championships to their fellow Britons in 15 years.

had wiped out the local resistance at Moortown in the Ryder cup matches.

It wasn't until along about 3 p. m. on Saturday afternoon that the Americans woke up to the fact that something had happened to their plans. George Duncan and his mates, who had trained for this test for the first time in the history of British golf, arose, came from behind and hit the Americans the way Babe Ruth hits a baseball.

The cheers are still sounding through Great Britain. But the British are celebrating more than a mere Ryder cup victory.

When the British professionals swatted the Americans at Moortown, they also swatted an ingrowing inferiority complex right out of existence. They will be a rough crowd to beat now, in their own open championship next week.

Hodge Held Even; Wells Gets K. O.

A closely contested bout and a speedy knockout marked feature scraps last night in the weekly boxing show at the Palace theater. Rudy Hodge of Houston and Kid Swinney of Oklahoma City stepped ten fast rounds on about even terms in the final of three carded feature events. Swinney claimed to have broken his left hand in the eighth round, but despite that handicap he forced Hodge to the limit. They are lightweights.

Red Wells, Fort Worth middleweight, knocked out Bud Griffin of Childress in the second round of another scheduled 10-round duel. It was a corking, slam-bang affair while it lasted.

Walter Varner, for the second time here, was without an opponent when Johnny Estes failed to appear for his scheduled go with the Baird middleweight, billed as the feature of the three tens.

It was announced that Varner will box Cyclone Hall here next week.

Three fast four-round prelims were boxed, to draws, Alvis Anderson vs. Jack O'Shea, Battling Sturdivant vs. Bob Smith and Joe Colvert vs. Tommy Mounds.

DAILY DOPE

BOSTON'S BRAVES are not the only athletes who have confounded the critics in the first two weeks of play. The Waco Cubs rushed to the top in the Texas league as did the ill-considered Braves in the National, and at the end of a fortnight of play, Papa Del Pratt's team enjoys a comfortable lead.

The Cubs will not maintain their present pace, of course. They occupy their commanding lead thanks to a flock of victories over San Antonio and Beaumont. The going will be considerably rougher for Waco when it encounters the stronger clubs, including Wichita Falls and Houston.

Waco, however, is not to be considered a morning glory. The Cubs have a well-rounded club and if their veteran pitchers hold up as they are going now it wouldn't be surprising if they stick very close to the top.

WICHITA FALLS was kept down in the race by ineffective pitching, and when Jim Galloway's chuckers attained winning form the Spudders started the drive to the front expected of them. Houston also has played such ball to indicate that it is to be considered in the pennant fight, to justify preseason forecasts. Shreveport has shown some strength and the veteran Sport hurlers have delivered surprisingly well. Nothing better than fourth or fifth looks in store for the Sports, however.

A Shreveport player sustained the first serious injury of the season when McClanahan, highly promising rookie outfielder, broke a leg in Tuesday's game. McClanahan was batting at a high clip and his loss will be severely felt by the Sports.

DALLAS got off to a good start but slumped the past week. Dallas set much store by its Steers before the championship campaign got under way and fans over there won their annual pennant in the winter. Manager Milton Stock has failed as a pinch-hitter and while his injecting himself into the game at such occasions shows courage, it seems that discretion is the better part of valor in his case.

The many Dallas club owners and fans have no patience with a manager who doesn't have his club up near the top at the start.

Stock was rated as a shrewd pilot in the Southern association, but he may have underestimated the strength of the Texas loop, though how that could be in view of past Dixie series is difficult to understand. Anyhow, the Steer lineup is composed mainly of aging veterans. Lack of speed and weakness against left-hand pitching has been shown by the Steers, and while the oldtimers may strike their stride in hot weather, they may, on the other glove, wilt at the pace set by younger clubs.

FAILURE of a couple of its veterans to deliver as expected and an outfield of mediocre class, with indifferent pitching, has conspired to keep down the Fort Worth Cats. Don Songer, southpaw hurler, of whom much was expected, was a dismal flop, inability to acquire control finally resulting in his release. George Bischoff, formerly one of the greatest catchers in the Texas league, found the rookie rule against him when Del Baker was retained as the experienced receiver and was cut adrift.

Beaumont has failed to play up to its handsome new park, and the Exporters have been a distinct disappointment, not only to their club owner, that fine sportsman, Rube Stuart, but to fans all around the league.

San Antonio speedily descended to a submerged place in the standing, but Pat Newnam, new manager, may present a club harder to beat than that which was pushed over so frequently and easily in early days of the season.

A FAN TOLD me yesterday that he got it from a man who heard it in Dallas that a fellow informed him that Art Shires will be sent to the Steers by the Chicago White Sox.

Believe it, or not.

George Blackerby sent a 67-word telegram (paid) congratulating proud daddy Jimmy.

NEALIE VAUGHT, postmaster at Burkburnett, has organized an amateur baseball team for his city. They will be resplendent in bright new uniforms. Games with teams in this vicinity are sought by Vaught.

Horsemen Strike; Aurora Meet Off

AURORA, Ill., May 1. (AP)—There will be no racing at Aurora tomorrow.

The horse owners' strike, which caused postponement of today's scheduled opening of the spring meeting, still was deadlocked, with the result that tomorrow's program was called off, after turfmen refused to make entries.

Clifford Trimble, general manager of the track, demanded that the striking horse owners immediately vacate their stables. Trimble said the meeting would be held and other horses would be shipped to replace those of the strikers, indicating racing might start Friday or Saturday.

PREP ATHLETES IN STATE MEET

Texas Games Start Tomorrow at Austin

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—Athletic events to be staged at the state interscholastic league meet at University of Texas May 3-4, will include a track and field meet for high schools, a rural pentathlon and tennis tournament, Roy Henderson, director, announced.

Henderson said he expected more than 800 high school athletes to take part in the track and field events. So large is the entry list that preliminaries will be run off on the first day of the meet and finals on the last.

Eight track events, including hurdles, dashes, runs and relays, are included. Field events are the pole vault, broad jump, high jump, shot put, and discus and javelin throws.

Texas university is the only institution in the country making an effort to reach small one and two-teacher rural schools in an athletic way, Henderson said, and it is to stimulate interest in these schools that the pentathlon has been arranged. The five event contest calls for the 100-yard dash, high jump, broad jump, shot put and hop, step and jump.

Tennis matches for both boys and girls, and including singles and doubles, will be held in the net tournament under direction of Dr. D. A. Penick, university tennis coach.

Awards of gold, silver and bronze medals will be presented winners of various track events, and special cups will be given schools winning the one-mile relay and rural pentathlon.

The Patient's Hands

The fingernails may indicate nervous disorders by white spots under the finger nails, but this, and brittle and chalky nails, may also be caused by malnutrition. The doctor often examines hangnails to determine the patient's degree of resistance to infection. It is also possible to determine something of the condition of the blood by the color of the nails. For example, cyanosis gives a bluish tint, and anemia causes a bleaching. Of course, a doctor will not depend upon these symptoms for a real diagnosis, and he will always confirm or refute these indications by laboratory examination.

The finger tips are sometimes of diagnostic importance. Clubbed fingers or a great enlargement of the finger tips may be caused by a number of different diseases, but especially those which interfere with the action of the diaphragm.

Arthritis often makes its first indication in certain enlargements of the finger joints. Acromegalia produces an enlargement of all of the bones in the hand. Myxodemia may produce a puffy, deeply grooved hand. Raynaud's disease frequently attacks the fingers, causing them to become white and cold or, if the condition persists, even gangrenous.

The manner in which the patient shakes hands may give much valuable information concerning the patient's nervous temperament.

The patient may involuntarily twitch or hold the hands in certain positions which frequently play an important part in diagnosis of such diseases as alcoholic poisoning, drug poisoning, Grav's disease, multiple sclerosis, hysteria, paralysis agitans, Friederich's ataxia, epilepsy, chorea, tetany, and various professional cramps.

Much can be determined by the the temperature and moisture of the hands. A hot dry hand will almost always indicate an internal fever. A hot moist hand usually indicates a severe toxic condition and is generally found where there is an excess of thyroid secretion. When the hand is cold and dry it may simply indicate fatigue or exposure to cold. It may also indicate a disorder of the circulation or heart. When the hand is cold but moist the patient does not usually have heart trouble or other disturbances of the circulation, but this cold moist hand is frequently found in those who are neuristhenics or have nervous disorders.

From these indications of what can be learned from the hands, you can readily see the importance of keen powers of observation to the physician. Not only is careful observation important to the physician but it is undoubtedly important to everyone, regardless of occupation.

Life becomes more interesting when one becomes an observant spectator. There is an old saying: "Knowledge comes to him who searches."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Handball for Office Workers

Question—C. E. W. asks: Do you recommend the game of handball for the office worker? If so, how often should it be played, and what other exercise do you suggest?"

Answer—Playing handball is a very good exercise for the office worker. Three 45-minute periods per week would be valuable. The different machines used in the gymnasiums are also to be recommended. However, a certain amount of calisthenic exercises should also be taken each day, in connection with walking, swimming, etc.

Brown Spots

Question—J. M. H. asks: "What would cause dark, rusty brown spots to form on my forehead? They have been forming within the last three years."

Answer—The brown spots you refer to are often caused by biliousness, and if this is true in your case, the thing to do is to get rid of congestion in your liver and gall bladder. Send for the article called "A Cleansing Diet" which outlines a splendid regime for you to follow.

Dried Beans

Question—P. H. asks: 'Are lima beans the best dried beans to use as food? Or, which kind of dried beans would be the best to use in an emergency? Also, the best way to prepare dried beans as a food so they will retain their flavor and the vitamins. Will long or hard boiling injure their vitamins? Would simmering be the best way?"

Answer—Any small dried beans may be used by those in good health. They should be cooked a long time by simmering or slow baking, where only a small amount of heat is used.

State to Make School Payment

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—The final payment of $2 on the per capita school apportionment for 1928-29 will be made May 10, S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, announced today. This will complete the distribution of $15 per capita to 1,403,293 children, or a total of $21,049,395.

"To this should be added approximately $2,000,000 for rural aid and high school tuition and $1,017,-66? for textbooks, for a grand total of $24,067,062 which the state will have contributed during this fiscal year to elementary and secondary education," Marrs said.

GASOLINES UP IN OKLAHOMA

U. S. Motor Grade Gains New Strength

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., May 1.—The anticipated strengthening of U. S. motor grade of gasoline in Oklahoma district materialized Monday when most refiners added one-eighth of a cent to their spot quotations, making the new price at 7⅝ cents a gallon in tank car lots.

This automatically pushed the 60-62, 400 endpoint, grade to 8 and the 64-56, 375 endpoint, material to 8⅜ to 8½ cents a gallon.

In Oklahoma the "navy" demand has been good, with high gravities just a trifle slow. Up in Kansas it has been the reverse. One found U. S. motor in the Sunflower area quoted at 7⅝ cents, and the demand slow, with high gravities in big demand. Prevailing freight tariffs are responsible.

North Texas district quotations are an eighth to a fourth of a cent under Oklahoma spot prices.

Kerosene is weak. Jobbers are hesitating about buying more stock. Rainy weather has delayed farm work considerably and in some states it is questionable if a lot of farm activity may start up, thus cutting into the consumption of kerosene and distillate.

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., May 1.—Increasing demand for the light oils in the eastern fields has brought about another crude advance.

A 15 cents a barrel increase was made known Monday for Cabell and Somerset grades in West Virginia and Kentucky. The Cabell oil of West Virginia is bought by Eureka Pipe Line company and the price of $1.45 a barrel, posted on March 12, is now $1.60.

Somerset oil, produced in that field in Kentucky, is bought by the Cumberland Pipe Line company. Its price of $1.50 a barrel, posted March 12, is now $1.65.

Both firms are represented by the Joseph Seep agency, purchasers for the South Penn Oil company, and other Standard companies in the eastern field.

Seminole Field Gauges Decline for Two Days

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, May 1.—The scouts in the Mid-Continent field are back on the job after attending the scouts convention held at Wichita, Kan., and the production of the Greater Seminole field is again available.

The field's output Friday showed an increase of 5,960 barrels over Thursday's gauge, but both Saturday and Sunday the field declined. Monday's gauge totaled 311,083 barrels, or 68,158 barrels under Sunday's gauge which was due to many of the companies observing the Sunday shut-down plan.

Simms' Well at Asher Totals 40,000 Barrels

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, May 1.—The Simms Oil company No. 1 Lasater in the southeast of the northeast of the northeast of 19-6-4, south of Asher, in Pottawatomie county, produced 3,125 barrels Sunday and 3,175 barrels Monday. The oil is from the Viola lime drilled to 3699 feet. The well has produced approximately 40,000 barrels of oil since it came in about two weeks ago.

Brazoria County Wants Prison Board Voice

BRAZORIA, Texas, May 1. (AP)—Brazoria county feels that it should be represented on the prison commission, and the attention of Gov. Dan Moody has been called to that sentiment since the creation of a vacancy on the board by the resignation of Col. R. H. Baker of Houston, chairman.

Alvin S. Jones, manager of the Brazoria county agricultural and industrial association, says that since this county has four prison farms embracing a total of 40,000 acres several times as much acreage as any other county, its citizens feel that a member of the board should be selected from their county.

Texas Cotton Losing Value

Association Discusses Ways Of Regaining Standard

AUSTIN, May 1. (AP)—Ways and means of raising Texas cotton to its former high standard were discussed by 50 members of the Texas Cotton association here today in a special meeting to take steps to halt the lowering grade of staple.

The meeting was attended by cotton breeders, experimenters, exporters and brokers from throughout the state, all interested in the movement to encourage the raising of better cotton.

Those present heard figures to show that the Texas cotton crop is bringing $40,000,000 less than it did formerly because the average staple length has gone down from 1 1-16 to 15-16 inch and even shorter, and it is hard to sell the lower grades at any prices.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 1. (AP)—After an early decline influenced by weak Liverpool cables, cotton rallied today on less favorable weather reports, smaller private acreage figures and a firmer technical position. Some trade and commission house buying appeared as well as covering on the advance which carried the price of July contracts up from 18.28 to 18.70 or 25 points above yesterday's closing. There were reactions later under realizing, with July closing at 18.55, or 15 points off from the best. The general market closed steady at net advances of 7 to 10 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 8 to 16 points. Active months sold 17 to 21 points net lower during the first few minutes under reselling or liquidation by recent buyers. May sold off to 19.01 and December to 18.61, but the declines represented only a partial response to the weakness abroad and the market turned steadier on covering, combined with some trade and commission house buying. The failure of the Liverpool weakness to stimulate heavier offerings and the market's failure to break below last Monday's low prices, seemed to promote confidence in the technical position and doubtless accounted for some of the buying.

A private report pointing to an increase of only 1 per cent in acreage may have been a contributing factor. Early losses were recovered rapidly, with the market selling up to 19.40 for May and 19.00 for December during the early afternoon, or about 20 to 25 points net higher. Closing prices showed reactions of 10 or 15 points from the best under realizing. Exports today, 3,830 making 7,303,517 so far this season. Port receipts 8,120. U. S. Port stocks, 1,407,230.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 1. (AP)—Cotton prices worked moderately higher today following an easier opening, the advancing tendency being stimulated by unfavorable weather in the belt and a private estimate of only 1 per cent increase in acreage. October contracts after easing off to 18.35 rallied to 18.74 and closed at 18.62, compared with 18.50, yesterday's closing quotation. The general market closed steady at net advances of 11 to 13 points.

Liverpool cables were relatively easier and the market here opened at a decline of 8 to 10 points in sympathy. Prices continued to sell off in early trading under some short selling, July declining to 18.25, October 18.35 and December 18.45, or 14 to 17 points under the previous close.

The initial decline was quickly recovered, however, under a good demand stimulated by the unfavorable weather map, a bullish private acreage estimate and some features in the weekly weather and crop report which some traders evidently construed as unfavorable. Shorts covered freely and before the demand was supplied July had traded up to 18.64, October 18.74 and December 18.85, or 39 to 40 points, practically $2 a bale above the lows.

There was some realizing in late trading and final prices were 11 to 13 points under the best with July closing at 18.53 and December 18.72.

More Active Stock Market Sees Advances Based on Better Money

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 1. (US)—Further advance was scored in a more active stock market today, influenced by the more favorable outlook. The extent of the recovery induced rather heavy profit taking that influenced irregularity at times. Offerings were well taken, however, and the list closed higher on the average. Specialties featured again with Electric Auto Lite gaining 13 points, Radio 5⅛, Wilcox Rich over 3, Borg Warner 7⅝ and National Tea 5⅞.

American Radiator featured its last day on the board with 6-point advance as some belated shorts had to make cash purchases to cover commitments. The new Radiator-Standard Sanitary moved 2 points higher.

Columbia Graphaphone lost nearly 4 points of its recent advance but declines were limited to a point or so in most instances.

Oils and coppers were quieter and a trifle soft while the rails held firm in dull trading. Call money eased from a renewal of 11 to 10 per cent while the total turnover increased to more than 4,500,000 shares.

Establishment of a new "call money company" did not occasion much comment as there is little possibility of such organization having an appreciable effect on money conditions. Investment trusts and wealthy corporations offer more attractions to those with funds, for they not alone operate in the call money market but have other fields for profit when normal credit conditions are experienced.

Wilcox Rich moved into new high territory with the "B" stock most popular as sooner or later the "A" will be called and holders will have to convert into the "B" shares. Savage Arms enjoyed suddent prominence as it was reported that important Western interests had acquired a substantial stock holding and would take a part in the management. With the first quarter, usually the worst period of the year for Savage, out of the way, steady increase in earnings is looked for.

Steady absorption of Mack Truck is due to the expectation that the current quarter's earnings will establish a new high record.

Strength in the power shares reflected the expectation of further important developments in the way of consolidations in the near future. United Corporation, the Morgan-Bonbright Investment trust, is likely to be listed on the big board tomorrow afternoon and, if not, should come over next week.

Borg Warner reflected recent accumulation by a sudden advance. Chicago interests were reported as important buyers coincident with reports of new contracts that would add further to income.

The better tone in Montgomery Ward reflects the belief that a farther substantial gain in earnings is to be expected. The company opened up 56 new stores in the first quarter of the year and will open more in coming months.

Bosch Magneto's new advance resulted from an estimate that the company would earn more than $10 a share this year.

The Steel showing surprised the most optimistic and its effect was enhanced by the highly favorable report of conditions in the industry made by the Iron Age. That review told of sustained capacity operations. What was most cheering was its statement that new business was keeping pace with shipments so that tonnage reports as of the close of April should be favorable. The highly favorable condition of the industry gives added reason to expect the Steel Corporation to show further improvement in income this quarter. It would be no surprise if the net ran over $6 a share, making the annual rate of income of more than $22 a share.

Except for one load of cows that sold at $10.00, trade limited to package lots with bids uneven and trading barely steady with the decline of the week. Canners and cutters sold at $5.00 to $6.25.

Calves sold about steady, with carlots at $10.90 and $11.50 and odd head at $21.00 and $12.50 and $13.00 for vealers.

Yearlings at $13.00 and $13.25 and steers at $12.50. Good steer calves received bids of $14.00 but the fair kind of stockers and heifer yearlings found buyers a little slow.

MID-WESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 1. (AP) (U. S. D. A.)—A slow demand for dressed beef continued to have depressing influence on most all killing classes of cattle offered around the 11-market circuit. CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, May 1. (AP)—The cotton market opened lower in response to poor cables and general selling prices in advance of the issuance of the government weekly weather report which proved to be generally favorable as expected. Covering and trade buying caused a sharp upturn in late morning trading but the market eased off in the afternoon and closed 9 to 19 points net higher.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, May 1. (US)—Initial deliveries on May contracts of near record proportions resulted in rather nervous price movements in the local grain markets today. Trade was active and prices were up and down rapidly, though confined to a comparatively small range, and the close was irregular.

Wheat prices finished ⅛@⅝c lower, despite a bulge of 1c above the previous close around noon. Corn gained strength as the session progressed and closed ¼@⅝c higher. Oats were 1⅞c higher to ⅝c lower and rye ½c lower to ½c higher with the close.

Tenders on May contracts in all grains except oats were exceptionally large, and according to official announcement, it was one of the largest delivery days of cash grain since the war. In all, 16,169,000 bushels of all grains were delivered, as follows: wheat, 9,324,000 bushels; corn, 5,588,000 bushels; oats, 183,000 bushels, and rye, 1,074,000 bushels.

In the wheat pit the heavy first deliveries brought free selling at the opening, but with foreign markets all considerably stronger than due and with the deliveries well taken, pit offerings were absorbed and the market held well just below the previous day's finish. A sharp rally on short covering and local buying sent prices about a cent above the previous close, but offerings increased and locals sold on the probabilities of bearishness in private reports to be issued tomorrow.

Sentiment was again very bearish at the close, with a rather active demand for bids.

Corn was lower early on the much larger deliveries than due, but elevators bought May and sold July around 4c difference and the market firmed. Distant months were in demand and were not freely offered, so prices advanced fairly readily. Locals and commission houses were the buyers.

Judge to Hear Arguments In Tittle Suit for $13,000 Tax Fees

Arguments on motions for judgment made by both sides in the suit of M. L. Tittle, former tax collector, seeking around $13,000 in delinquent tax commissions from the county, will be heard early next week, Judge W. W. Cook announced Wednesday. The exact date has not been set. Both sides claimed the victory from the jury's answers to special issues presented at the trial before Judge Cook several weeks ago. The verdict held that the county judge, at that time Judge J. P. Jones, had agreed to return certain commissions to Mr. Tittle in case legal questions then before the courts were decided in his favor.

At the same time the jury held that the county commissioners had made no such agreement, and Judge Cook explained Wednesday that the question of whether the county judge has the authority to bind the county to such agreements is one of the principal points involved. The county is also pleading the statute of limitations, which is another point at issue, Judge Cook declared.

Trial of a similar suit in which Guy C. Raley, present collector, sought $18,000 for old delinquent tax commissions resulted in a hung jury. No date for a second hearing has been set.

SINCLAIR MAY GAIN FEW DAYS

Legal Formalities Likely to Delay Jail Entry

WASHINGTON, May 1. (INS)—Harry F. Sinclair, multimillionaire oil operator, may gain a few days' respite while legal formalities, which will make effective a three-month jail sentence for refusal to answer questions of the senate public lands committee, are being carried out.

The mandate of the supreme court, which affirmed his conviction in the District of Columbia supreme court, was prepared today. It will be sent to the lower court either on May 3 or Saturday, May 4, 25 days after the high court's decision was given.

Because the mandate is going down the last of the week, it is probable that it will not be presented to Justice Hitz, the trial judge, until next week. Another order is then to be issued.

Sinclair, according to reports here, had made preparations to begin his jail sentence on May 4, but he is expected to enjoy the freedom of another week-end before he is compelled to enter jail.

City to Start Dairy Inspections Thursday

Inspection of local dairies will begin Thursday, J. M. Farrell, chief city sanitary inspector, said Wednesday.

The inspection will be made by George W. Ragan of the city sanitary department and Dr. H. A. Hargrss, state dairy inspector.

All dairies which do not conform to the requirements of the sanitary ordinance will be deprived of their permit to sell milk in Wichita Falls, Dr. Farrell said.

Among the requirements of the dairy ordinance are tuberculin tests for cows, a dairy permit issued by the city health department, and health certificates for all employes of the dairies. The inspection probably will require three weeks, Dr. Farrell said.

19 PIGEONS MAKE FLIGHT

Airplane Delayed by Wind And Rain Storm

Nineteen of the more than 200 pigeons entered in the May day West Texas pigeon derby sponsored by the Orgatone company had arrived in Wichita Falls at a late hour Wednesday night, according to those registering the arrival of the racing birds at their home cotes here.

Of the 19 arrivals checked in Wednesday, five had flown from Ranger, five from Electra, three from Burkburnett, one from Cisco, one from Eastland, and two from Breckenridge. The first bird reaching this city came from Burkburnett at about 11:30 a. m. The remaining arrivals were distributed throughout the entire afternoon, the last one being registered in at 5:26 p. m. from Ranger. According to information received here, all of the birds had been released at 10 a. m. Wednesday morning.

Telegrams received at the Allison Drug company here indicated that groups of five birds each were released also in San Angelo, Colorado, Sweetwater and Borger at the announced hour for the start. None of these birds had arrived Wednesday night, but G. W. Ward, 1500 Twelfth street, to whom those entries were said to belong, expressed his assurance that all of them would reach this city Thursday.

Miss Bonnie Dale, who planned to hop off by airplane from Lubbock Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in a time flight to Wichita Falls against the pigeons, was delayed until Thursday morning by a severe wind, rain and sand storm in that section, according to a telegram received Wednesday afternoon. Weather permitting, the flight will be made Thursday, the message stated.

Those connected with the derby said here Wednesday night that the birds held in many of the 26 West Texas cities named as starting points probably had been withheld Wednesday morning on account of threatening weather, and expressed the opinion that many of those pigeons will be released Thursday morning.

All of the arrivals Wednesday were said to belong to Mr. Ward. Birds from the cotes of A. I. Taylor, A. T. Bentley and M. J. Stewart of this city, also are among those yet to come in.

Decisions as to the winner of the $100 in gold offered by the Orgatone company to the bird registering the greatest miles per hour speed will be made following the return of Harry Kessinger from Lubbock with Miss Dale, it was stated.

Traffic Violations And Intoxication Lead Arrests

Charges of intoxication and traffic violations again led the list of arrests made by city officers during April, according to the monthly report of R. M. Hurst, desk sergeant and clerk of the corporation court.

The 979 arrests made by the department during the month were disposed of as follows: Six hundred of forty-eight cases were tried in the corporation court, four were transferred to other states, three were transferred to other counties, eight to federal court, six to state courts and five to county courts.

A total of $3,364 was collected in the corporation court from fines and bond forfeitures resulting from the 648 cases tried in the court. One hundred and thirty-nine defendants were fined, 426 bond forfeitures were made, 62 cases were dismissed, 19 defendants were found not guilty, and 21 cases were appealed.

Deaths

M. COLE

M. Cole, 30, of Iowa Park, died in a local hospital Wednesday afternoon. The body was taken in charge by the Tanner Undertaking company of Iowa Park.

"Great Change Is Noticed in My Husband's Condition" Says Wife

"Since Taking Two Bottles of Orgatone He Has Gained Seven Pounds and Feels Fine," She Says

"My husband has suffered for at least fifteen years, with stomach trouble and indigestion," said Mrs. Will Gillen, of 1406 N. Ninth St., Wichita Falls, Texas, regarding her husband's benefits he derived from Orgatone, while talking with the Orgatone nurse.

"He had gained seven pounds in weight and has taken less than two bottles of Orgatone," she continued. He lost his appetite and then what little he did force down, would sour and cause gas to form, and he would suffer for hours. He just got to where he couldn't eat hardly anything, for he knew of the misery it would cause afterward. He had heart burn, and shortness of breath at times. He had frequent sick headaches, and was extremely nervous and never got a good night's rest, but would roll and tumble at night. He was just in a general run down condition and needed something to build him up.

"Orgatone was recommended so highly, he decided to give it a trial and so began taking it. Right after the first few doses he noticed an improvement in his condition and has been getting better and stronger ever since. He eats anything he wants now and has more pep and energy than he has had for several years. He never complains of headaches, or nervousness, and in fact, feels better in every way. He is recommending Orgatone to every one he sees, and has already gotten several of his friends to take it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment and is sold in Wichita Falls, exclusively by the Allison's Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Adv.

COUNTY SUED FOR $31,200

W. R. Anderson Asks Fee On Delinquent Taxes

Seeking collection of $31,200 claimed for work leading to the collection of delinquent taxes in 1923-24, W. R. Anderson Wednesday afternoon filed suit against the county for enforcement of the terms of an alleged contract through which he was to have received that amount for his services.

Mr. Anderson alleges that Former County Judge B. D. Sartin and three members of the commissioner's court in 1923 agreed to pay him the interest and the penalties on all delinquent taxes collected through information he compiled and suits prepared, the amount of his remuneration not to exceed $31,200. He sets forth in his petition that, with the agreement of the judge and the court, he employed the services of a competent attorney at $150 a month and that he prepared the material for many suits between October 1, 1923 and March 20, 1924. The county owed him the full $31,200 in commissions at the time the work was stopped, the plaintiff alleges.

In a second count of the suit, Mr. Anderson asks for compensation in the sum of $10,000 in case the plea in the first count should for any reason be denied.

A former suit, based on the same contract named in the petition filed Wednesday, was entered by Mr. Anderson in 1925, Judge John P. Marrs, county judge, explained Wednesday afternoon. The former suit was not pressed, the judge declared, and members of the commissioners court two weeks ago refused to agree to its reinstatement. The judge declared that he felt sure the court, acting for the county, would contest the suit, and declared the county's defense would probably include the statute of limitations.

Pastor Gives Talk On John The Baptist

John the Baptist furnished a text for the sermon of Rev. Patrick Dacus Moreland at the Grant Street Methodist church revival Wednesday night.

"There came from the wilderness one of the most unique men the world has ever known," Rev. Moreland said. "John the Baptist was a thin man with eyes that burned like coals and wore a goatskin for clothing. But he had a tongue of fire and men fell before him by thousands.

"He disliked the city of Jerusalem so he left the town and went into the wilderness again, forcing Jerusalem to come to him. It had been 400 years since there had been a prophet; then came John the Baptist like a thunderbolt to leave a charred spot on the pages of history.

"They tried to tempt John's egotism with flattery, wealth and high honors but he refused them all. How different from some itinerant preachers of today who go about admitting that they are the greatest evangelists who ever lived.

"Jesus was the greatest personality this world has ever known and he too was humble."

GRAYTON GIVEN MARTIAL RITES

Military Burial Held For Victim of Fall

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, May 1.—Military funeral rites were held here today for Thomas Jefferson Grayton, 83-year-old civil war veteran of Austin, Texas, who died at the home of his son, C. C. Grayton, here Tuesday.

Death followed complications which resulted after the aged veteran tripped and fell over a stove last Thursday.

The rites were in charge of Col. Ed C. Wilson, himself a hero of the civil war, the Rev. W. W. Rivers, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the local Masonic organizations, under Hugh Stewart, worshipful master.

The U. D. C. memorial for the dead was read at the services by Colonel Wilson. Interment was in the local cemetery. Pallbearers included Harry Bunham, J. Kemp, J. H. Wilson, Jimmie Payne and Chris Maloney.

Mr. Grayton was a member of the famous "Stonewall" brigade. He also fought in the battle of Shiloh, where he was wounded. He was said to have been carried from the field of battle by Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, who was himself killed later in the conflict.

Mr. Crayton leaves his widow, two sons, and two daughters.

Committee Hits Snag In Mellon Inquiry

WASHINGTON, May 1. (AP)—The senate judiciary committee today reached a cross roads in its inquiry into the right of Secretary Mellon to hold office. A decision as to whether to call on the treasury secretary to testify or to rest the case on an interpretation of the law relating to his office is impending.

Some committee members believe the secretary should be questioned about his relations to the business world as a stockholder in various enterprises, while others contend such action would amount to a trial of Mr. Mellon for violation of the law and would be outside the jurisdiction of the committee.

WASHINGTON, May 1. (INS)—A new transatlantic air flight, from Rome to New York, and thence to Dallas, Texas, was outlined to President Hoover today by Col. W. E. Easterwood, wealthy Dallas sportsman, who has posted $25,000 as a prize for the successful pilot.

Easterwood said his offer was open to all, the flight to be started any time after June 1.

The flight from Rome to New York would cover 4,800 miles, and from New York to Dallas another 1,600 miles.

WORKING GIRLS PUT IN PLACE

Rev. Brown Sees Menace To American Home

"The United States has 6,000,000 unmarried young men today who do not marry because they could not earn enough in white collar jobs to support their wives," said John E. Brown of Siloam Springs, Ark., before the Lions club in the weekly meeting Wednesday noon.

The American home is threatened by the rush of girls into public life, the consequent lowering of the possible earning power of men, and the decline of motherhood, said the speaker. Attacking the present system of education, Mr. Brown declared that there is a great shortage of skilled labor in this country today because young men have been urged to "get an education so they won't have to work."

Announcement was made that the annual election of officers of the club will be held on June 5.

the Telephone that Tinkled all Day long

MRS. WALTERS measured nervously, put two more pins into the hem of Jane's new party dress. The dress had to be ready by 8 o'clock—and already it was 6:30.

"No!" she answered her husband, who was rumpling his hair irritably in the sewing room door, "Supper isn't ready yet, and—stand still, Jane."

This last to blond, 16-year-old Jane, who posed stiffly on the low table while her mother fitted the garment on her.

"—and don't ask why!" she finished sternly, through a mouthful of pins. "It's a wonder I've accomplished anything! I've spent the afternoon running downstairs to the telephone—down to give Maisie Jones my cake recipe—down to answer the butcher, the preacher, and goodness knows who else!

"I've a notion to move this sewing room downstairs, where I can grab that 'phone the moment it rings!"

Walters, moving ruefully toward the stairway, turned his head to agree with her:

"Either that," he answered, "or have a telephone put in the sewing room."
