GIRL DESCRIBES ASSAULT BY OKLAHOMA PAIR

Frantic Efforts Fail To Revive Drowned Boy At Scout Camp At Diversion

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Usually when we think we are quoting some thoughtful expression of the past, we are only misquoting. And the chances are we don't know whom we are misquoting. The Golden Book magazine in its current issue supports the truth of this statement with a list of frequently misused quotations, all part of our everyday speech, some of which have been changed only by a word, but others of which have lost their original meanings entirely.

Today, for instance, we say: "All the world loves a lover." But Emerson said "All mankind loves a lover." We say: "Accidents happen in the best regulated families." What Dickens said was: "Accidents will occur in the best regulated families." Cervantes in the sixteenth century gave birth to the modern phrase, "Familiarity breeds contempt." But what he said was: "I find my familiarity with thee has bred contempt."

"He calls a spade a spade," is one of the longest-lived remarks on record. It goes back to Plutarch, who 1,900 years ago wrote: "These Macedonians are a rude and clownish people, that call a spade a spade." And the same ancient biographer is responsible for that descriptive phrase, "he has one foot in the grave." Today we quote glibly and authoritatively: "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned." But when William Congreve wrote it 250 years ago it read: "Heaven hath no rage like love to hatred turned, nor hell a fury like a woman scorned."

A quotation which departs as far as any from the original version is our: "No man is a hero to his own valet." Byron, writing more than a century ago, expressed it: "In short he was a perfect cavaliero, and to his very valet seemed a hero."

We glibly misquote the wisdom of the past and use slang expressions, which if we knew their origin, might shock us, but it is a habit of looseness that makes us very human. We say human, because we are not a student of such matters. If we were we would quote correctly and be jarred at every misquotation we heard.

It may be as easy to quote correctly and to use whatever slang we use in its proper sense but it is a habit few of us have.

Talker knows folks who habitually misname people and places. More often than they ought they say Graham when they mean Olney or John Smith when they mean Jim Jones. It seems a mighty careless and inexcusable habit and sometimes causes confusion, but all of us have not been newspaper copy readers or postal clerks and maybe our carelessness of speech in other expressions is about as bad as those criticized.

Muskmelons, muskrats, silver foxes and mushrooms have been raised and oil wells drilled on a cooperative basis and now the investing public is offered a chance to make "big money" in cooperative shark fishing by buying for $150 a 60 foot section of a 600 foot chalk net. The promoters of this ingenious scheme claim according to a recent announcement of the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., that sharks will be caught in these nets at the rate of at least one hundred a month. They asure purchasers that an accurate account will be kept of the catch made by each individual 60 foot net "and all sharks caught in a given net will be credited to the owners of said net." As a fee for their fishing service the promoters require that half of the catch of each net above one shark net per month shall belong to them. Although an average 12 foot shark is worth from $12.00 to $16.00, according to the sharksters, by cutting this expectancy in half you learn that each 600 foot net catching one hundred sharks per month should "net" at least $600 worth of sharks.

Further information in the bulletin of the National Better Business Bureau indicates that the fish most likely to be caught by these nets are the "poor fish" who will be caught by the "sharks" who are promoting the scheme. Yet the sale of interest in shark nets is not a bit more sound investment than many other schemes that are being offered the unwary.

YOUTH'S BODY RECOVERED IN POOL AT LAKE

Harry Billingsley Drowned When Cramp Seizes Him in Water

TRAGEDY ENDS CAMP

Mishap One 'Without Power of Man to Stop,' Says Physician

Frantic efforts with artificial respiration for almost an hour before medical aid arrived and the use of a pulmotor early Tuesday afternoon failed to save the life of Harry Billingsley, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Billingsley, 1825 Elizabeth street, whose body was recovered from the waters of Diversion lake after a 50-minute search in which Boy Scouts and life guards took part.

The boy, a member of scout troop No. 11, had been taking part in the annual Boy Scout camp at Diversion lake, having left Wichita Falls to join the camp Monday morning. About 11:30 o'clock Tuesday morning the camp activities were given over to swimming, according to the statement of J. W. Lyle, who with Frank B. Creighton, scout executive, assisted in the supervision of the camp.

Boys Checked by Tags

Each of the boys was checked into the pool as he came down a board to take his plunge, tags having been turned over to the directors in order to keep an account of the whereabouts of each scout. The Billingsley youth was one of the first group to enter the pool and, with the other boys, began swimming and diving about in the water. He was seen to wade out into water of about four-foot depth and to jump up and dive under the surface, one of the boys later reported. This playful dive was not noticed in particular, since the greater part of the swimmers were disporting themselves in similar manner and the large number in the pool prevented the life guards from watching individual boys.

Several minutes later a group of the boys reported they had not seen Harry since he made his dive under the surface. A search was at once begun and a roll call was made. All answered until No. 40, young Billingsley's number, was called. His failure to answer was the signal for a search of the waters of the pool.

Pulmotor Secured

Life guards and scouts with the assistance of Mr. Creighton and Mr. Lyle worked continuously for about 50 minutes before finding the body. It was located about 30 feet from the spot at which the youth was last seen and was in water 12 feet deep, apparently having been carried out by an undercurrent from the four-foot depth where he was swimming. The gates at the dam were shut off and the water level dropped almost two feet to aid in the search.

Before the search had resulted

Man Killed, Two Girls Hurt in Crossing Crash

FORT WORTH, June 24. (UP)—One man, identified only as "Shorty," was killed and four other persons, including two girls, were injured seriously today when a Cotton Belt passenger train struck their automobile at a grade crossing near here.

The dead man was a hitch hiker. The girls were Janet Jones and Pat Nelson, both of Fort Worth, and J. W. Cruse and Robert Hammett, both of DeLeon, Texas. The two girls were hitch hiking their way to Sherman.

Accidental Shot Fatal To Brownwood Man

BROWNWOOD, Texas, June 24. (AP)—T. R. Kenedy, 46, of Brownwood was accidentally killed today while hunting rabbits on his ranch near Gouldbush, Coleman county. The gun was evidently discharged while Kenedy was climbing through a fence. His body was found by a son.

Southern Cross Due In New York Today

Texas Highway Contracts Reach $2,845,000 While Baylor County Job Waits

AUSTIN, June 24. (AP)—The state highway commission today awarded 13 contracts for road construction work aggregating $1,801,426. With $1,044,485 in contracts awarded yesterday, the total for the two-day session reached $2,845,911.

The largest single contract awarded called for the construction of 43.7 miles of rock asphalt paving on highway two in La Salle county from the Webb to the Frio county line. The contract was let to the Trinity Farm and Gravel company of Dallas at its bid of $806,409, approximately $300,000 under the estimate for the work.

Bridge Conference

Members of the Texas commission also held a brief conference with L. H. Wentz, chairman of the Oklahoma commission and S. S. Losh, Oklahoma state highway engineer, relative to the construction of free bridges across the Red river. Proposals of the Red River Bridge company toward settling the controversy surrounding the construction of the bridge between Denison, Texas and Durant, Okla., were considered but no action was taken.

Wentz and Losh left by airplane for Oklahoma City immediately after the conference.

The Red River Bridge company has sought to enjoin construction of the bridge, contending it was being erected on a permanent easement owned by the bridge company. A recent conference at Kansas City also failed of reaching an agreement.

Baylor Job Withheld

The commission withheld awarding the contract for the construction of 11 miles of bituminous surface paving on highway 24 in Baylor county pending further investigation. It was announced that should the commission decide to proceed with the work, the contract will be awarded to H. K. McCollum of Fort Worth at his bid of $183,571.

Contracts awarded today were for projects in the counties of Navarro, Victoria, La Salle, Harris, Brown, Valverde, Trinity, Cameron, Tarrant, Cass, San Jacinto, Van Zandt and Hudspeth.

The state highway engineer was authorized to advertise for bids for the construction of unit two on United States highway 70, state highway 28, providing Hale county advanced funds for work, the state to reimburse the county when money was available in the highway fund. A tentative agreement was entered into by the Hale county delegation. The commission was to consider road problems on highway 28 in Cottle and Foard counties tomorrow.

BAYLOR COUNTY CONTRACT DELAYED

The 11-mile strip of highway 24 for which contracts were withheld by the state highway commission extends east from Seymour toward Westover. D. M. Puckett, district highway engineer, said Tuesday night that he supposed the delay was occasioned by some uncertainty about the specifications outlined in the bid.

BLIND FLIGHT

Airmen Traverse 900 Miles With Novel Flying Device

SCOTT FIELD, Ill., June 24. (AP)—An instrument for blind flying with which two army officers have been experimenting for several months today enabled Capt. William C. Ocker, one of the inventors, to pilot a plane approximately 900 miles from San Antonio, Texas, to Scott Field, Ill., from a covered cockpit that afforded no view of the outside world.

He was accompanied, and part of the time aided, by Lieut. C. J. Crane, co-inventer, who occupied an open cockpit as a safety pilot. Their destination is Washington, D. C., where they expect to fly tomorrow after stopping overnight at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

GOODSPEED TO HEAR VERDICT

Jury Gets Murder Case After Nine Days

Special to The Record News.

HENRIETTA, Texas, June 24.—After more than seven hours of arguments, prolonged through a night session, the fate of Carl Goodspeed, charged with the murder of A. R. Gooch, Nocona city marshal, rested in the hands of a jury in the 97th district court here Tuesday night.

Testimony in the trial was completed Monday, but exception's to the court's charge occupied most of the morning session and it was 2:30 o'clock before Temple H. Yarbrough, Montague county attorney, opened the arguments for the state He was followed by J. S. Jameson, Montague, defense counsel. C. C. McDonald, Wichita Falls, special prosecutor, took up the case for the state and was followed by J. M. and Paul Donald, Bowie, attorneys for Goodspeed. W. J. Glasgow, Clay county attorney, closed for the state.

Gooch was shot to death when he entered the Goodspeed home in Nocona on the authority of a whisky search warrant in 1929. The defendant has entered a plea of self-defense.

In an early trial he was found guilty and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment. When the case was reversed, the defense won a change of venue to Clay county.

Corporation Planned to Settle Airways Dispute

SHANGHAI, June 24. (US)—It was officially stated today that the contracts will shortly be signed organizing a new $15,000,000 Chinese aviation corporation to settle the Chinese airways dispute.

The Chinese government at Nanking will subscribe for 55 per cent. of the capital, while the American Curtiss-Wright interests will take the remaining 45 per cent.

Temperature Back to Normal in Midwest

CHICAGO, June 24. (US)—Temperature went back to normal in Chicago today. The temperature fell from 97 at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to 71 at the same hour today.

The intense heat cost 15 lives in Chicago and a number of others over the Middle West.

Clarendon Bandits Elude Officers

CLARENDON, Texas, June 24. (AP)—A check today of loot taken from the Donley County State bank yesterday by two unmasked bandits showed $7,900 was missing. The men entered the bank during the noon hour, locked employes in the vault and after gathering up available cash, escaped in an automobile driven by a woman.

Officers today had no clues to follow other than the statement of an Amarillo woman who saw two men and a woman similar in description to the robbers stop to buy soda water at a stand near Childress, take the soda water without opening the bottles or waiting for change and race away toward Wichita Falls.

Galveston Men Face Trial for Conspiracy

GALVESTON, June 24. (AP)—Seven Galveston men went on trial today in federal district court for conspiracy to violate the prohibition act. They were charged by indictment with operating an establishment near the beach front where liquor was kept and sold.

Those on trial are Vincent Maceo, Tom Lera, Frank Maceo, M. K. (Kid) Ross, Albert Devore, W. A. Schroeder, and Max Baer. Joe Maneo, who is also named in the indictment has not been arrested.

OCEAN PLANE FAVORED BY FAIR WEATHER

Periodic Radio Messages To Land Stations Give News of Flight

SHIP BATTLES FOG

Ireland-to-America Hop Bids Fair to Succeed For First Time

OTTAWA, Ont., June 24. (AP)—At 11:25 p. m. Eastern Standard Time the following message was picked up by the department of marine here from the Southern Cross:

"Now very dark. Almost blinded with motors tinged with flame, still 160 miles from Race. Dickens of struggle keep awake now. Drone of motors makes me tired. Faint streak of approaching dawn."

HALIFAX, N. S., June 24. (AP)—The Canadian government wireless station at Cape Race reported at 11:40 p. m. tonight that the radio reception set of the Southern Cross was apparently out of adjustment. The plane's signals on a 600-meter wave length were being plainly heard, but attempts to give the plane its bearings failed.

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—The Southern Cross, west-bound transatlantic plane, reported in a radio message received tonight at 10:30 p. m. (E. S. T.) that it was 100 miles off Cape Race, Newfoundland. The message, sent after the plane had been trying vainly to get its bearings from Cape Race, said: "About 100 miles off Cape Race and the big stiff doesn't answer.

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—In a radio message received here at 8:03 p. m., E. S. T., tonight, the Southern Cross, eastbound transatlantic plane, commanded by Captain Kingsford-Smith, reported she was about 250 miles from Cape Race, Newfoundland.

HALIFAX, N. S., June 24. (AP)—At 7 p. m. Atlantic daylight time (5 p. m., E. S. T.), the airplane Southern Cross reported she was "just off the Grand Banks, weather foggy and cold, but everybody o. k. and cheerful."

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Captain Kingsford-Smith tonight radioed the Vacuum Oil company, which has a financial interest in the flight, he expected to make Cape Race at 11 p. m., E. S. T.

NEW YORK, June 24. (US)—Out of the bumpy, blinding ocean fog into fairer water, the tri-motored monoplane Southern Cross, conqueror of the South Pacific ocean, sped onward tonight, three-fifths of its way across the Atlantic from Ireland to New York, goal of its pilot, Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith. Three other men are flying with the Australian pilot.

A wireless message picked up by the British General Electric company at 8 p. m. Greenwich time (4 p. m. eastern daylight time) carried the information that all was well with the crew and the plane. The remainder of the message was interrupted by atmospherics.

At p. m., G. M. T. (1 p. m. E. D. T.) the plane had radioed that it was setting a speed of 100 miles an hour over mid-Atlantic, the three motors purring smoothly. Two hours earlier, the S. S. Ingoma had picked up a message from the plane which gave a position about 990 miles off Cape Race, Newfoundland.

At the rate of speed it was then making, it was predicted that the Southern Cross would sight Newfoundland at about 9 p. m. E. D. T.

Contact by Radio

Kingsford-Smith is accompanied by Capt. Patrick Saul, as navigator; Evert Van Dyk, a big blonde Sweed who formerly flew for the Royal Dutch Airlines to Java, as co-pilot; and J. W. Stannage, the smallest of the quartet, as radio-operator. Stannage's nimble fingers

Baby Drowned as Car Plunges Into Stream

ORANGE, Texas, June 24. (AP)—James Bickerstaff, 2, son of Cecil Bickerstaff, was drowned and three of his brothers and sisters were injured today when a sedan plunged through a guard rail on a highway trestle near here and dropped into five feet of water.

Bickerstaff, his wife and five children occupied the car, which suddenly swerved and struck the guard rail. The four children were rescued by tourists.

Pope Pius XI Seriously Ill at the Vatican

VATICAN CITY, June 24. (AP)—Pope Pius XI, who is 73 years old and has occupied the throne of Saint Peter since February, 1922, today was reported ill with acute bladder trouble and threatened with uremic poisoning.

The report threw Vatican City and Roman official and social circles into consternation.

Making His 'Last Great Flight'

Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, distinguished Australian pilot, and his three flying companions were nearing the American east coast Tuesday night on what the intrepid captain told his fiancee would be his "last big flight." The four took off from Dublin, Ireland, in the famous plane, Southern Cross, Monday night.

Great Art Shires Scintillates As Orator at Dinner With Texas Solons

Baseball's Bad Boy Tells Congressman Their Racket Is Close Parallel to National Game

WASHINGTON, June 24. (US)—Art (the Great) Shires, first baseman of the Senators, batted 1.000 in the congressional league today and fielded his position without an oratorical error.

Not only did the Great One out-talk half a dozen Texas congressmen but umpires gave him a close decision over the silver-tongued Senator Tom Connally of Texas.

Incidentally, Shires revealed for the first time that hoeing free congressional seed back in Italy, Texas, played a big part in his career as a ball player.

Texas Players Honored

The occasion was a luncheon in honor of the four Texans on the Washington team—Pitcher Fred Marberry, Pitcher Lloyd Brown, Outfielder Sam West and Shires—given by the Texas delegation in congress and attended by Speaker Longworth.

"I'm not a speaker," quoth the Great One, with becoming modesty, "but I can tell you a few things, whether you like it or not. I told the boys on the way up here not to be scared of you congressmen. I said:

" 'Don't get scared. These congressmen are all just a lot of plowhands like us and they used to have ragged seats in their breeches. I hope they have black-eyed peas and hoe cake.'

They're Just Alike

"Ball players are just like congressmen. The difference is that we get the Bronx cheers at the park and you get 'em around the cracker barrel in the country store. All you care about is election time and all we care about is signing a new contract in the spring."

Titus County Man Held After Resort Slaying

MOUNT PLEASANT, Texas, June 24. (AP)—Will Dickson, 45, today was held for action of the Titus county grand jury under $3,000 bond in connection with the fatal shooting here Saturday of Sam Black, 49, operator of a holiday concession at Linger Longer, a resort here. Black was shot to death after an argument over rent for the concession.

Dickson waived preliminary hearing and was released when he furnished bail. The grand jury will meet July 7.

MISSING SCOUT 'FINDS' HIMSELF

Four-Day Search Ends as Boy Shows Up

RIVERSIDE, Calif., June 24. (AP)—Harold Johnson, Boy Scout, who has a man-sized will in his 12-year-old body, trudged into Snow Creek fish hatchery at the foot of Mount San Jacinto today, ending a four-day search for him by 150 foresters, fellow scouts and Indians who had given him up for dead.

Sore and bruised, exhausted and hungry, his clothes in tatters, Harold crawled or slid down the side of the 10,000-foot mountain that has been scaled only three or four times in the memory of old residents. But he was smiling a little when he knocked at the door of the hatchery and asked for bread and milk.

The boy had not eaten since last Friday when he became lost from a party of scouts hiking up the mountain. After he had refreshed himself he told how it happened, while word of his reappearance was relayed by telephone to his frantic parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Johnson, waiting at a nearby resort.

Woman Hurt as Car And Train Collide

SAN ANGELO, Texas, June 24. (AP)—Mrs. Alfred Englehardt of Mason was taken to a Brady hospital in a serious condition today, after an accident four miles east of Eden, when a vegetable truck on which she was riding and driven by her husband was hit by a Santa Fe passenger train. Englehardt, Felix Hale, who also was riding on the truck, and the Englehardts' 6-year-old daughter were uninjured.

VICTIM NAMES ASSAILANT ON WITNESS STAND

E. S. Hembree Identified As One of Two Attackers

CHEMIST TESTIFIES

Details of Loco Kidnaping Revealed in Teacher's Testimony

Special to The Record News

DUNCAN, Okla., June 24.—E. S. Hembree, 39, Grady county farmer, was identified this afternoon as one of two men who assaulted and shot Leota Bosley, Loco teacher, on a lonely highway west of Loco the night of March 9 when the teacher went on the stand as the first state witness in Hembree's trial in district court here.

The diminutive Gainesville, Texas, girl spared no detail of the alleged assault. She was shot, she testified, when one of the attackers attempted to shoot her companion, Charles Thurman, Nocona, Texas, printer, because Thurman would not assault her.

Accosted on Road

Thurman and Miss Bosley had been visiting friends in Healdton the afternoon of March 9 and returned to Loco about 7 p. m., the witness said. After reaching Loco, they drove several miles west, where they parked about 30 minutes.

While they were parked, talking, a man walked up to the car and peered in, she testified. Thurman then drove away and was followed by a second car, which soon overtook them and crowded them into a ditch, Miss Bosley said.

Defendant Identified

One of the attackers, whom the witness pointed out as the defendant, then forced the teacher and her companion into another car at the point of a gun and drove to a lonely spot off the highway, where both the strangers attacked her, the young woman continued.

The teacher testified with her right arm in a sling. The arm was paralyzed by the bullet wound in her breast. Miss Bosley was near death at her home several weeks after the shooting.

Three Hours on Stand

Miss Bosley was on the stand almost three hours. Defense attorneys cross-examined her almost two hours in an unsuccessful effort to break down her story.

Taylor Rogers, chemist from the state board of health, was the second witness. He said stains found on a pair of trousers taken from the Hembree home were human blood stains.

The state will begin putting on a long list of witnesses tomorrow in an effort to weave a chain of circumstantial evidence about the defendant. County officers will tell of following the trail of a wrecked car from near the scene of the attack to the Hembree home, where E. S. and his brother, A. Y., were arrested two days after the alleged offense.

'Gag Rule' to Speed Up Treaty Through Senate

WASHINGTON, June 24. (US)—So much opposition developed that advocates of the London naval treaty abandoned today their plans to invoke "gag rule" to rush the treaty through the senate.

Although the treaty is not even before the senate for consideration, White House spokesmen had quietly sought to pledge senators to vote for cloture after debate opens in the special session.

Clint Small Sure of Place In Second Primary, Leaders Say Here

Supporters of Clint C. Small in his campaign for governor met in the 78th district courtroom Tuesday night to form the nucleus of a Small-for-Governor club. Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock, who withdrew from the governor's race to throw his support to his fellow West Texan, and Lee Satterwhite, former speaker of the house and director of Mr. Small's state campaign, addressed the assembly and urged immediate action toward gaining the support of the Wichita Falls section for Mr. Small.

Attacks on other candidates in the gubernatorial race and references to the "weak points" in the platforms of those opposing Mr. Small for the Democratic nomination were noticeably absent in the speeches at the rally Tuesday evening. The talks were confirmed to discussions of the planks on which Mr. Small is basing his candidacy and upon which he has expressed himself in previous speeches, as well as to facts and qualifications which make him capable of holding the office of governor.

With Luther Hoffman acting as temporary chairman at the outset of the meeting, E. H. Eddleman was elected chairman of the club by acclamation. He was then empowered to select a secretary-treasurer for the club and to take the lead in directing the promotion of Mr. Small's campaign in this section. Mr. Eddleman announced the club's work would begin in the near future and said he would call upon each member to take an active part in Mr. Small's campaign.

The first speaker was Pink L. Parrish, who explained he had withdrawn from the race because he believed "there was no man in Texas better qualified to be governor than Clint Small." Parrish said he would

House Republicans Vote to Back Up Hoover in Veto of Veterans Bill

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—An agreement to sustain the president's anticipated veto of the world war veterans pension bill was entered into tonight by 154 Republicans at a house Republican caucus.

In taking this action the Republicans specified that a substitute bill would have to be enacted immediately.

This number is more than one-third of the house members and would be sufficient to prevent the body from overriding a presidential veto.

The caucus took a pool of the state delegations to arrive at the decision. Many of the Republicans were absent and several announced they were undecided.

Representative Strong of Kansas predicted that 200 Republicans would join in upholding President Hoover's position on the veterans bill and that a suitable substitute would be approved by the house within 30 minutes after the Johnson bill had been vetoed.

In plain spoken terms, President Hoover warned congress today for the second time he considered the measure bad legislation.

While the measure was going back to the house for agreement to amendments written into it by the senate before that group gave it the final pat of approval by 66 to 6, the president spoke in unvarnished phrases the opposition which he had signified in statements Sunday.

At the capital, the second statement was taken as a positive notice that the measure would find a veto waiting for it if it journeyed and wrist and consummate knowledge of his transmitter have kept the Southern Cross in contact with the bigger radio stations of England and the American Atlantic coast ever since the take-off.

OCEAN PLANE NEARING GOAL

Southern Cross Due Over New York Today

After weeks of preparation, the Southern Cross was loaded and fueled with 1,080 gallons of gasoline at Port Marnock, Ireland, near Dublin, and the plane soared into the air at 4:25 a. m. (12:25 a. m. E. D. T.) today. In the dim light before dawn, the heavy cabined plane slowly gained altitude and soared from Marnock's sandy beach over Dublin, and bade farewell to its well-wishers.

Fair Weather

As the plane put mileage behind it and lightened its heavy load, it passed over Galway and beyond into the Atlantic wastes, north of the great circle sealane, but still within radio touch. The British weather bureau forecast fair conditions for the first part of the flight. And Kingsford-Smith's radios to Belfast and the British General Electric station bore out the predictions.

A few hours after the take-off, Stannage was tapping out a message giving the plane's position as calculated by Captain Saul, when subdenly the signals broke off. Anxiety was felt for some time and efforts to reach the plane met with failure. At the time when the feeling in Ireland, according to reports, was reaching its highest pitch, Stannage broke through the cloud of atmospherics and signaled the Southern Cross well on its way and its crew happy and safe.

As the big monoplane's three giant motors ate up the fuel and lightened load, the Southern Cross gained speed beyond the hopes of Kingsford-Smith. At 8 a. m. today, E. D. T., the plane was 600 miles off the Irish coast, making only 73 miles an hour in the dirty fog against headwinds.

Dodge Muggy Air

The Anzac and his co-pilot, used to flying blind, soared into the mist-laden air to escape the fog, only to run into a heavy cloud bank that forced them down again. Time and again they climbed and descended, but the fog hung about them in layers, and they decided, Stannage indicated in one of his messages, to "fight fog with power."

Onward they sped, ever gaining speed, until at mid-Atlantic, they were blithely rripping over a choppy sea, clear of the dangerous fog, at 100 miles an hour. It was at noon, E. D. T., when they had finally flung off the midst and come out into clear weather.

A few minutes later, the daring Australian radioed:

"Sky slightly overcast. Ocean like a millpond and we're now making 100 miles an hour. If conditions were always like this, ocean flying would be easy. We are receiving all messages."

Two hours later, atmospherics again interrupted communication, and when Stannage broke through, he said his chief was pining for a smoke. Earlier messages showed excellent spirits aboard.

Witnesses to Triple Slaying Testify For State in Joe Shield Murder Trial

Three Men and Woman Give Identical Versions of Shooting Near Brownwood Last May

BROWNWOOD, Texas, June 24. (AP)—After taking the testimony of 13 witnesses, the state rested this afternoon in the murder trial of Joe Shield, charged with slaying his estranged wife, Opal Mae Shield, May 16, at Brookesmith.

The defense planned to begin questioning witnesses tomorrow morning with prospects for the case reaching the jury tomorrow night.

State witnesses included persons who saw the shooting of Shield's wife and her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shields.

Almost identical versions of the slaying were related by E. B. Tongate, J. W. Deas, Hal Sowell and Mrs. Irma Shields Dunn, sister of Shield's wife and daughter of the aged couple.

Stories Similar

Each related that Joe Shield drove up in front of his estranged wife's home in his car, that his wife pleaded with him not to kill her and that he deliberately took his gun from the car and fired two shots, killing her instantly.

According to testimony, the elder Shields came from his store toward Joe and was ordered back by the son-in-law, but continued to advance until he fell, as four shots were fired into his body. Witnesses stated that his wife came to the porch of their home and began screaming for help but her voice was silenced as two shots ended her life. Father, mother and daughter died immediately.

Officer Threatened

The witnesses declared Brown Taber, deputy sheriff, started toward Joe Shield but threats of death kept him back until he could take refuge behind the corner of a building. Then he fired two shots at Shield as the latter drove away from Brookesmith.

Mrs. Dunn, sister of Mrs. Opal Mae Shield, said her sister had sued for divorce.

She also repeated a conversation she said she overheard between her sister and Joe Shield prior to the shooting, stating that her sister cried, "Joe, for God's sake don't kill me."

Mrs. Dunn declared that Joe Shield ordered her to cover the body of his wife with a quilt, then turned and opened fire on her parents.

Other witnesses told of talks with Shield prior to the shooting and all said Shield seemed normal. The defense cross-questioned all state witnesses as to their opinion of Shield's sanity.

down Pennsylvania avenue in the form in which it now stands.

Although considerably changed by the senate, the measure which came back to the house was in the main the same which it passed several weeks ago by an overwhelming vote.

President Hoover said the bill was "just bad legislation" which would not receive the support of the country.

Standing in his private office with only newspapermen for an audience the chief executive spoke forcibly, several times departing from his prepared text as he sought to add vigor.

"The veterans bill is no more to the interest of veterans than in the interest of the taxpayer," the chief executive said.

"The very basis of all the bill sets up an untruthful, and, according to our physicians, a physically impossible 'presumption' and predicates its action upon this."

He asserted it contained many discriminations and injustices, violating "not only the fact, but the integrity of our government."

In an attempt to help beautify the city, Pittsburg, Kan., club members tore down two dilapidated houses after gaining permission of the owners.

SUIT INVOLVES WATER RIGHTS

Oil Firms Join Action Against Irrigation Area

The Wichita County Water Improvement district No. 1 Tuesday faced a suit brought in behalf of R. L. Crudup and several other plaintiffs in which the district's right to prevent use of water from its canals for any purpose other than irrigation is contested on the grounds that an agreement between the parties involved in the suit provided for free use of the water under such circumstances.

"The fact that he was subject to cramp in his limbs, according to the statement of his father," Dr. Leach said, "and the fact that the boy was unable to swim freely as other boys of similar age no doubt accounts for his accident. It was an almost unavoidable tragedy.

"All reasonable precautions had been arranged by Mr. Creighton and his co-workers and had the boy not been a victim of cramp the accident no doubt would not have occurred. It was a tragic occurrence but was one of those unforseen mishaps which can take place even under the strictest supervision and circumstance, without the power of man to stop them."

Services Wednesday

Funeral services for the boy will be held at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the Floral Heights Methodist church with Dr. Claude M. Simpson officiating. Interment will be in Riverside under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company, who took the body in charge after efforts to revive the youth at the lake had failed.

Active pallbearers will be F. H. Whitley, J. N. Sherrill, P. A. Newell, C. H. Evans, George Winburne and Tommy Hamilton.

Honorary pallbearers were named from the membership of Boy Scout troop No. 11, of which the dead youth was a member, as follows: Turner Mangum, James Hamilton, Kenneth Watson, Frank Rush, P. B. Cox Jr., John Lawson, Grayson Nelson and Gwan Riley.

Besides the parents, the youth is survived by two sisters, Frances and Ruth Billingsley.

Mr. Lyle announced late Tuesday that camp activities at the lake were halted by all Boy Scouts in attendance returned to the city shortly after the tragedy. The camp was scheduled originally to last through the week.

in discovery of the body, an emergency call was sent to Wichita Falls and Dr. Austin F. Leach and an ambulance from the Merkle Undertaking company equipped with a pulmotor were dispatched at once to the lake. Artificial respiration and first aid treatments were begun immediately upon location of the body and continued without interruption until the arrival of Dr. Leach and the ambulance. The boy's father also accompanied the physician.

Physician's Statement

Dr. Leach reported late Tuesday after his return from the lake that the body had evidently been seized with cramp when he dived under the water after strenuous exercise in the pool and that his efforts while cramped to return to the surface of the water probably served to carry him into deeper water.

"The fact that he was subject to cramp in his limbs, according to the statement of his father," Dr. Leach said, "and the fact that the boy was unable to swim freely as other boys of similar age no doubt accounts for his accident. It was an almost unavoidable tragedy.

And Shires said:

"I reckon I would."

Six-Year-Old Caddo Youth Fights for Life

Special to The Record News

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, June 24.—Theodore Foote, 6-year-old Caddo youth, who was seriously injured Friday night in the highway accident which proved fatal to his mother, Mrs. Fred Foote Jr., was reported to be somewhat improved at the Medical Arts hospital.

Despite a fractured skull, broken hip, fractured ribs and internal injuries, attending physicians believe the little boy will live.

The child was crushed by a car driven by a friend of the family as he and his parents and brother and sister returned to their home from a church meeting. Sylvia, 9-year-old sister of "Teddy" was only slightly injured in the accident. Mrs. Foote was killed instantly. Her head was badly crushed and one arm broken. Her body was taken to Turnerville, Coryell county, for burial.

AD CLUB LUNCHEON

Members of the Ad club engaged in a round table discussion of plans for the summer and fall months at Tuesday's weekly meeting, under the direction of P. B. Roberts.

Among the suggestions for increasing the effectiveness of the club's activities program was one proposing that heads of various business establishments here be guests at a meeting to be held shortly after the summer ends. Efforts to develop better programs and better attendance will be made during the remainder of the summer, it was said.

Lions Install New Officers

Officers and directors recently elected by the Lions club were installed Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at a banquet in the parish house of the Episcopal church.

Dr. R. H. Graham, governor general of Lions of Texas, was master of ceremonies and was assisted by James King, retiring president and Frank Cripliver, president.

Practically the entire membership of the club attended with their wives and friends. Two vocal solos were given by Mrs. C. N. Cameron assisted by Mrs. Lucille B. Huff at the piano. Mrs. E. F. Bohmfalk entertained with a reading.

All of the new officers pledged their support to the club and the community, in brief speeches made immediately after the installation of the officers and directors.

Visitors from other civic clubs were guests of the club during the evening.

The new officers and directors of the club are as follows: Frank Cripliver, president; Rev. James V. Hall, first vice president; Jim Lyle, second vice president; Paul Woodward, third vice president; Cecil Metzner, corresponding secretary; Walter Taylor, financial secretary; K. C. Spell, tail twister; Roy Mann, Lion tamer; R. O. Kenley and Dr. W. B. Adams, directors.

Bryant Returns From State Committee Meet

Burl Bryant, county school superintendent, returned Tuesday from Austin where he attended the annual meeting of the state committee on classified and accredited high schools. Mr. Bryant represents the rural school division in the committee of fifteen members.

The group studied the qualifications of the high schools of the state, admitting 60 new schools to a grade A classification, Mr. Bryant reported.

Officers Hold Pair On Auto Theft Charges

Charlie Gant, deputy sheriff, left Tuesday afternoon for Amarillo where he will take into custody W. A. The two men were arrested in the Panhandle city for Wichita county officers after officers there had been notified of the charges against them in Wichita Falls.

ESSENTIAL FOODS SHOULD BE SEASONED TO PLEASE TASTE

Science of Cooking Calls For Knowledge of Developing Flavor

The fact that a housewife decides to serve simple, wholesome food does not mean that it should be lacking in taste-appeal and uninviting in appearance.

Yet, too often, this is the case. As a result there is either patient indifference to the food, or outspoken rebellion by old and young.

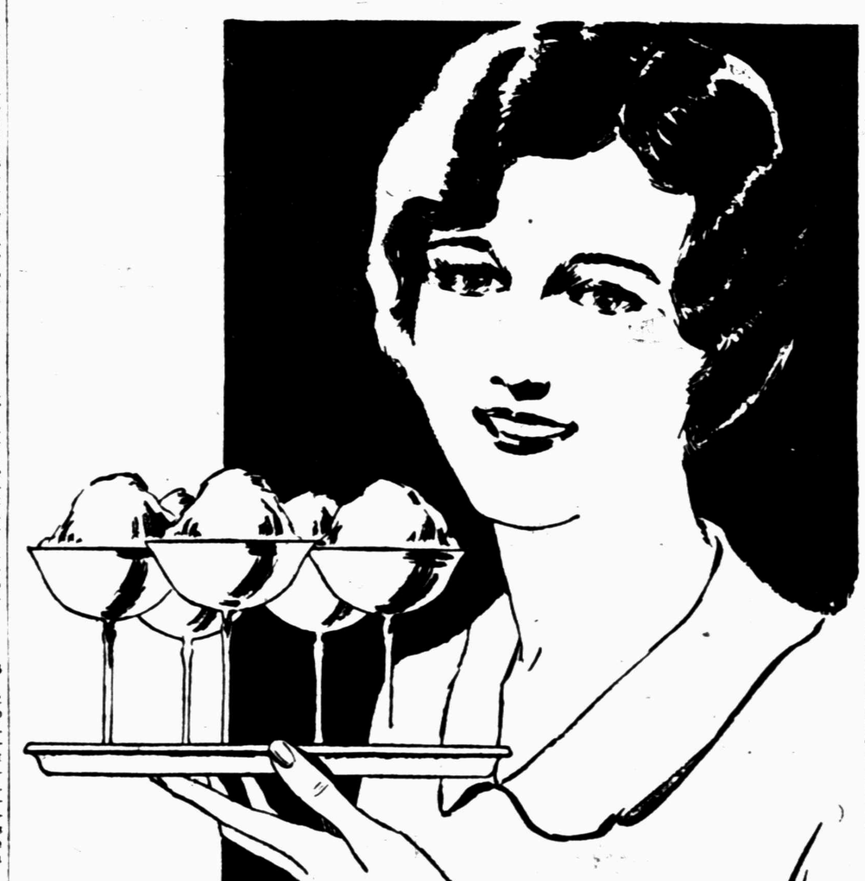

One of the most popular ways to make wholesome foods zestful is to season them with sugar. A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt works wonders in the seasoning of vegetables, canned and fresh, meat stews and salad dressings. This seasoning does not change the characteristic flavor of the food but emphasizes it.

Many other foods can also be improved by sugar. Fresh and stewed fruits, and most cereals need sugar to make them inviting to the taste.

Doctors and dietitians recommend the use of sugar in flavoring and seasoning, because it encourages the consumption of foods rich in vitamins, minerals and roughage. What is more, they recommend the regular practice of serving desserts—for their nourishment and their satisfying qualities. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. DR. FULTON CUTTING
Chairman of the Board
COLONIAL RADIO CORPORATION
"COLONIAL engineers are enthusiastic about RCA Radiotrons and test all Colonial sets with them. It has been repeatedly proven that inferior tubes are a serious handicap to complete radio satisfaction, for if the tubes do not function properly, nothing functions properly. RCA Radiotrons are recognized as the standard of the industry and are built with scientific precision. So we always recommend RCA Radiotrons to owners of Colonial sets."
RADIO ENGINEERS ADVISE: Replace all the vacuum tubes in your radio set with RCA Radiotrons at least once a year. This is the only sure way to maintain good performance and minimize disagreeable noises and other troubles caused by inferior tubes. RCA Radiotrons will give you the maximum in selectivity, sensitivity and tone quality.

ROTARY SILVER JUBILEE OPENS

62 Nations Represented in Chicago Convention

CHICAGO, June 24. (INS)—Approximately 17,000 members of Rotary International from every corner of the world officially opened their silver jubilee convention at the Chicago stadium today.

Prayer, song and good fellowship marked the convention, which was the prelude to a round of business sessions and social functions.

The Rotarians from 62 different lands convened with memories of last night's pageant which depicted the growth of the organization founded 25 years ago upon a Chicago attorney's plea of "service."

The attorney, Paul B. Harris, appeared for a few minutes before the assembly and was given a rousing ovation. In the prepared speech which was read for him he emphasized the need of "men of telescopic visions who will explore the stars."

President Hoover sent the following message:

"I send cordial greetings to the convention of Rotary International. The impressive attendance from so many countries is renewed evidence of the spirit of international good will which is so significant a development of our times, and in the encouragement of which Rotary has played such a useful part."

Floyd L. Bateman, president of the Rotary club of Chicago, official host to the convention, asured the delegates that "the city is yours."

Seventeen past presidents, all present officers, and the 75 district governors were summoned to the platform while the stadium thundered with applause.

M. Eugene Newsom, president of Rotary, told the gathering that human relations have become the most urgent problem of the day and that Rotary's usefulness lies in choosing the means by which friendship can be interpreted and applied.

"Such a convention as this demonstrates what friendship can mean to men of all nations," he said. "Rotary's increasing purpose demands a program of simplicity, built around an ideal that can be woven into the fabric of every nation and interpreted in words that have no double meaning.

Thousands of "Rotary Anns," wives of the delegates, gave a colorful note to the huge meeting.

Girl Fatally Stabbed By Demented Brother

BRAZIL, Indiana, June 24. (INS)—Miss Ruth Williams, 18-year-old pretty waitress in a local restaurant, was stabbed to death at her home here yesterday by her brother, Fay Williams, 35, a demented world war veteran, according to police.

After the killing, the brother fled from the house when neighbors who heard the girl's screams, rushed in to investigate.

The brother was captured several hours later by a posse in a cornfield, four miles south of here. He was armed with a revolver, but offered no resistance.

HOLLIS BUYS WATER WORKS

City Purchases Entire Supply System

Special to The Record News.

HOLLIS, Okla., June 24. — The City council voted to purchase the Hollis water works system in its entirety Monday night.

This action was taken after hearing the report of Special Engineer L. M. Bush, following a careful inspection of every detail of the plant and water supply. The city now has one of the best water systems in Oklahoma, according to Mr. Bush, an abundance of water being available at all times, thus obviating any possible recurrence of shortages that have been a source of annoyance to users in past months.

All supply reservoirs and tanks are sealed and overflowing, and absolute protection from any foreign substance has been provided for the tanks being under ground and of construction recommended by experts.

TEXARKANA, Ark., June 24. (AP)—The author of Arkansas' first primary election law was a victim of the statute that superceded it.

J. L. Wadley Sr., former legislator and newspaper publisher, will be left off the ticket as a candidate for representative from Miller county because he failed to pay his filing fee prior to midnight Monday.

S. C. Nancarrow, chairman of the county Democratic central committee, advised Wadley there was nothing the committee could do about it. B. F. Arnold and J. D. Ellis are the remaining candidates.

When the veteran newspaper man, well-known over Arkansas, was serving in the house of representatives from Garland county in 1895, he introduced the first bill covering party primaries. This was aimed exclusively at frauds and abuses of the ballot, and did not undertake to set up machinery to guide the holding of the election, as did the Brundidge act, passed a few years later.

"I have not read the Brundidge act in 18 years," Wadley said. "I had filed my corrupt practices pledge and my pledge to support the primary nominees, and was waiting to learn the fees that had been assessed. It was not until today I found they had been fixed several weeks ago and that it was my business to discover what they were."

Dr. Phillips listed various items of medical service, including $135 for services in 1929 to "Costello, Joseph, Coughlin and Boswell."

DUNCAN GREETS SOUTHERN VETS

Boys in Gray Gather for State Reunion

DUNCAN, Okla., June 24. (UP)—Relics of civil war days were on display in store windows and gray uniforms 70 years ago, were seen on the streets of Duncan today as Confederate veterans, and their sons and daughters, representing three organizations, began their annual reunion.

Business sessions at the state encampment and reports of divisional commanders, called for by Gen. John W. Harris, took second place in interest among the visitors. Among the visitors was J. J. Allen, 106, from Sulphur, who told how he reared 40 children, although none of them were his own.

Mrs. George Dismuke, Chickasha, divisional president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, presided over the sessions of that body. The Sons of Confederate Veterans made plans for a large parade Thursday which is to be the longest ever held in Duncan.

Our 5th Annual and Greatest

Trade-in SALE

Making Tire History!

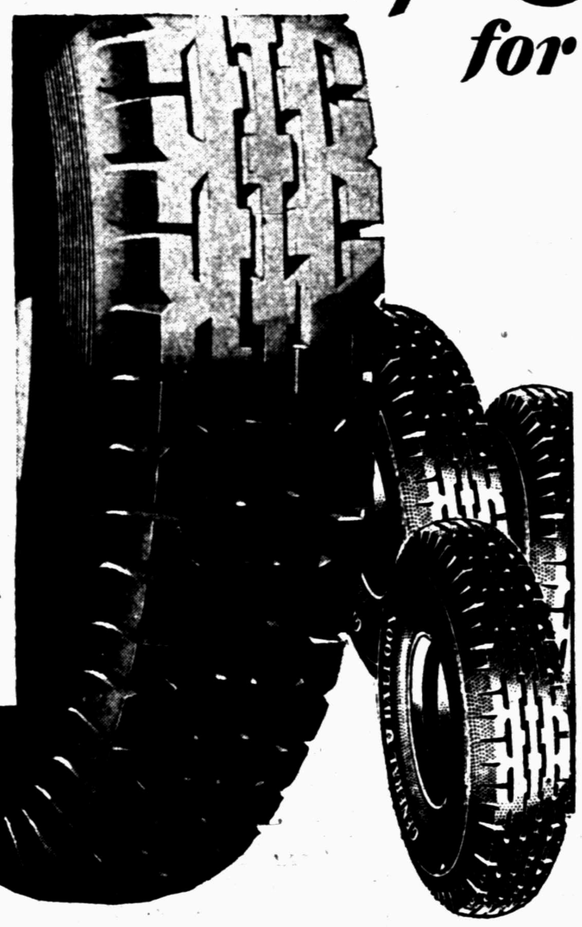

Price reductions

that set a new low record

Special low prices that go far below anything the past has ever produced—and with our added trade-in allowance during this event the question of cost can not stand in the way of a single buyer.

Blowout-Proof GENERALS

for every car on the road

Sweeping America

More people are changing over to Generals than to any 2 other makes of tires.

SAFETY seeking motorists everywhere are replacing their tires with the new Blowout-Proof Dual-Balloon. Announced only a month ago it has already been acclaimed the greatest hit of all times in the tire industry.

Modern speed demanded the Blowout-Proof Tire. Newspapers tell daily of crashes caused by blowouts. Obituaries list the names of drivers who thought their tires immune.

You can't see a blowout coming. It hides under rubber that still looks good—and "blows" when you least expect it. Then, a head-on collision at fatal speed, or a careening course to the ditch and disaster. Wrecked so quick you can't touch the brake or turn the wheel. At sixty miles per hour, 88-feet a second, it's 1/44th part of a second from blowout to crash.

It can never happen if you ride on the General Dual-Balloon. Spectacular tests prove its absolute safety. It is more than Blowout-Proof. Skid-safe, too! It ends every tire hazard regardless of road, speed or weather.

The world's lowest pressure tire and the easiest riding. Absorbs bumps and jars. Flows smoothly over roughest roads.

Let us give you a demonstration. And be sure to take advantage of this week's drastic cost discounts offered only during our annual sale.

6-ply and 3-ply DUAL-BALLOONS

Also the famous 4-and 6-ply Dual-Grip Balloons

Every tire in the complete General line included in the sweeping reductions and special trade-in allowances that feature the greatest annual sale in the tire industry.

We Are Smashing Every Argument of Price vs. Quality

If you have thought you couldn't afford the finest tire, forget it now. With record-breaking cost reductions, trade-in allowances greater than ever before, you will save money.

Whether Your Tires Are Practically New or Worn Smooth... An Offer That Can't Be Duplicated

No matter what tires you have or what their condition, you'll get the greatest value and the lowest cost by turning them in now toward our special sale price on Generals. All sizes and types of Generals included in our special reduction.

The smallest car needs General safety as well as the largest. While this sale is on, no car, new or old, need be without it.

Don't risk riding on tires you can't be sure of when you can get the extra security, soft riding comfort and long mileage economy of Generals with actually lower cost than you're paying now.

Just bring in your car before this sale ends and get the Trade-in quotation that can't be duplicated. There is no obligation—one tire or a set of six, it's all the same—courteous attention for all. No delay, extra help to take care of everyone promptly.

Popular Bride-Elect Given Another Lovely Courtesy

Not many days until the wedding bells will take one charming member from the unmarried set, but each day some friend entertains, honoring Miss E. E. Miller whose marriage to Arnold Cureton will be an event of interest to her friends Thursday afternoon, Mrs. John Akin was hostess at a lovely bridge Tuesday afternoon, specially honoring Miss Miller.

A dainty motif of roses and green was used in decorations, favors and refreshments. Shasta daisies, ferns and roses gave the atmosphere of flowers in the chosen motif and bridge tables were covered with the same pastel shades. The tallies were winsome little pastel gowned brides and score pads featured bridesmaids in frocks like those of a rainbow wedding.

In the games, Miss Mary Tancred won high score and received a lovely vase; Miss Marjorie Bright received a dainty crystal powder box for second score and the bride-elect was presented with handkerchiefs, one of which is to be used in her wedding.

In the delightful refreshment course, perfect for a warm day, the chosen colors were stressed in angel food squares iced in white embossed with pink roses and green leaves, green and rose mints and a delicious lime ice over which ginger ale was poured.

Guests enjoying the pretty party with Miss E. E. Miller, the honoree, were Miss Mildred Miller, Mesdames Jake Akin, T. B. McDonald; Misses Mary Tancred, Marjorie Bright, Retta Barnard, Ruth Moore, Jane Moore, Jeannette Moore, Mary Crane Hartley of West Virginia; Mesdames Ray Hirschi, Lloyd Taylor, Gus Hecht, Miss Wenonah Easley and the hostess, Mrs. John Akin.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

As we came down the street we heard one of the radios that is always quoting statistics to people on the street, telling how many boys and girls were in summer camps.

We had just come down from the Y. W. C. A. where we'd been talking of a group of Girl Reserves who had just returned. We knew one girl who came back with a Presbyterian group from a camp last week and we knew a girl in our own office who had gone as counselor for a week with another group.

Before us lay the prospect of getting coveralls and camp paraphernalia for our own daughter who goes to camp in August. It doesn't cost anything—or at least hardly anything. They swim and sing and hike and have little plays and it's a grand and gorgeous outing in a spot selected for shade and good water and cool nights.

Fathers and mothers who have been worried to death all the hot days since school was out trying to help restless sons and daughters pass away days when they had nothing to do, give a sigh of relief and think how lovely it is the children get to go to camps.

But mercy me! What we are wondering about is why they don't build up some sort of model camp for model mas and pas. We do not mean where mothers have to go and look after the cooking. A woman who has planned two or three meals a day for 11 months and two weeks would be glad to just go to table for two weeks.

We would abide by some few rules. But none must be iron clad. We would require three good meals a day, plenty of good books, plenty of time to go swimming and plenty of time to play bridge. Camping and bridge would be ideal things to go together. If the pas and mas should go to the same camp and then fall out in bridge games, efther could take long hikes that would give the other a fine chance to repent.

It is a question, though, whether mas and pas should go to camps together. Unless the children are too small, it is a good thing for families to be altogether separated once during the year.

As for us, having no prize won in the way of a camp, we still expect to go to Tennessee and Mississippi. Even though we are beginning to have hints from the head of the house like this, "I'm afraid you'll be disappointed in your trip back home."

We hope to spend two weeks looking at trees. Had we been a heathen—and we may be—we would have been a tree worshiper.

Home Wreckers Given Lecture By Dorothy Dix

Why the Girl Who Plans to Wreck a Home Had First Better Test Its Foundations. Shall the Wife of a Traveling Man Travel With Him?—Lowest Form of Cheating.

Dear Miss Dix—Five years ago my sister, a young girl, went to work for a middle-aged business man and he began deliberately to win her heart. He never said anything definite, just implied how much she meant to him, always spoke disparagingly of his wife and told her how fed up he was with his family. Very generous to my sister about raising her salary, etc. My sister has always frankly discussed everything about him at home, told us what he said, and we all believed that some time he would divorce his wife and marry her. But now we find out that this man's wife is a lovely woman and his home life is as pleasant as it can be, and that he has no idea of divorcing her. In fact, that while he has had many affairs with girls he has publicly said that "he would not trade the old woman for any of them."

We think that my sister should get another job and leave this man, but she says that she would never get the same salary elsewhere, and that she has got into a kind of routine work and knows nothing else. How should my sister treat this man. We are all just boiling mad at him. —THREE SISTERS.

Answer—Well may we ask what are we coming to, when a whole family, mother and sisters and brothers, regard with calm approval a young girl's love affair with a married man and look forward to his breaking up his home and divorcing his wife in order to marry her.

I have never seen a more sinister picture of modern life than that you draw of a complacent family who see nothing wrong in a sordid intrigue between a young girl and a middle-aged Lothario, who encourage her in breaking up a home, and whose only regret in the matter is that man was as faithless to his Lady Love as he was to his wife and that the home is to remain intact after all.

Apparently no voice of conscience protested against the sin of an unlawful love. No mother nor sister cried out to the girl that she was starting down a dangerous road. Nobody felt a pang of pity for the wife who was to be discarded and cast aside for a younger and fairer woman, nor for the little children who were to be deprived of a father. No one regretted the tragedy of a home that was to be laid in ruins.

According to your point of view, the girl had a perfect right to take a married man away from his wife if she could and to egg him on to getting a divorce so she could marry him. You listened to all the details of this sordid affair with the same interest that you would have felt in hearing a tale of pure young love that was as sweet and fresh and pure as a white rose with the dew still on it.

In strict justice your sister has, of course, got just what was coming to her. For once the punishment fits the crime. She played with fire and she has burned her fingers. She started out to rob a sister woman of her husband and she finds that she herself is the one who has lost out and that the other woman has her treasure, such as it is, safely locked up in a burglar-proof vault.

And the moral of the story, if there is any moral to it, is that before a girl undertakes to wreck a home she is well advised to go and take a look at its foundations and see how strong they are and whether they go down to the bedrock of the man's prosperity and self-interest. Also, it is desirable to give the wife the once-over and see whether she is one from whom a flapper can take a husband as easily as she can pennies from a baby, or whether she could put up a pretty good fight to hold her own.

For not every flirtatious husband is really dissatisfied with his wife. Being "misunderstood" at home and being "lonely" and not having wives who "understand them" and "sympathize with them" is just a line that doesn't mean a thing on earth except as an approach that experience has shown men practically always works with an unsophisticated young girl. There are thousands of men who make near-love and have affairs with girls whom they do not even put in the same class with their wives and for whom they do not care a millionth part that they do for their wives.

Still less does every flirtatious man intend to divorce his wife and marry the girl he makes love to. It doesn't help a man socially or financially to figure in a divorce suit. People are not overeager to welcome the woman who has figured as corespondent in a divorce case. Or the wife may have powerful family connections. Or a man may love his children. A thousand reasons may keep a man from wanting to break up his home.

So the girl who counts on building her house of happiness on the wreck of another woman's builds an air castle that is very apt to fall about her ears. That seems to be the case with your sister, and the sensible thing for you to do is to climb out from under the wreck, get a new job and turn a deaf ear to the next married man who begins making love to her.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—When the young men I know want a quick date, it's me. When they want entertainment free, to listen to the radio, dance in the parlor, play the piano, eat good sandwiches and cake, it's me. Too broke to take a girl out, spend the evening with me and talk about the girl friend.

Nights and nights I sit at home while girls who have nothing on me in the way of looks or clothes or dancing are taken to the parties. I play the piano, sing, talk intelligently, listen (perhaps too well), play a crack game of tennis, am big sister and hail-fellow to three-fourths of the boys I know, but that's all. I don't want a lot of parlor sheiks, but I want one certain party to care if I have had a hard day at the office or notice if I have on a new dress, but how am I to get him? What's my trouble?—MAE.

Answer—Why some girls are popular and other girls aren't, why some girls are Shebas and others are wall flowers, no human being knows.

It isn't a matter of beauty, nor brains, nor tact, nor anything tangible that you can put your fingers on, for we see homely girls who have dates to burn while pretty ones flock by their lonesomes. We see Dumb Doras that men fall for and college graduates they flee from. We see girls who break their necks to please men who never make a hit, while men run after other girls who never raise a finger to attract them.

In diagnosing your case, however, it seems to me that it is a case of the boys taking you too much for granted. They have gotten used to your being a big sister to them, so they have come to regard you in a sisterly light.

They have become so accustomed to coming to you with their confidences about other girls that they never think of making love to you themselves. In a word, they have lost their perspective on you and have gotten so that they do not see you as young and charming.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Prize Winner

"Mary Jo was troubled with constipation," says Mrs. T. D. McGinnis, 1028 Drexel Ave., San Antonio. "She was sallow and bilious; didn't have any appetite; couldn't digest her food.

"California Fig Syrup has changed all that. It regulated her bowels quickly; improved her appetite and digestion. She has improved right along until friends say she's a regular prize-winner for health."

Mothers by thousands praise California Fig Syrup. Physicians endorse it. Its rich, fruity flavor appeals to children; its pure vegetable goodness is safe for any child. The prompt relief it brings bilious, headachy, constipated children lasts; because it helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach. Next time bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness warn of constipation, try it with your child and see how it helps!

When buying, look for the name California! That marks the genuine, famous for 80 years.—Adv.

The Summer Mode Is Charming
Pattern 1957
By ANNE ADAMS

A perfect frock for warm weather combines the grace of shoulder capelets with the chic of pointed yoke and skirt details. Another entirely new feature is the introduction of an inverted pleat in the center front of a flared skirt. Note the tiny pin tucks at the back of the neck, so essential to a well fitting frock.

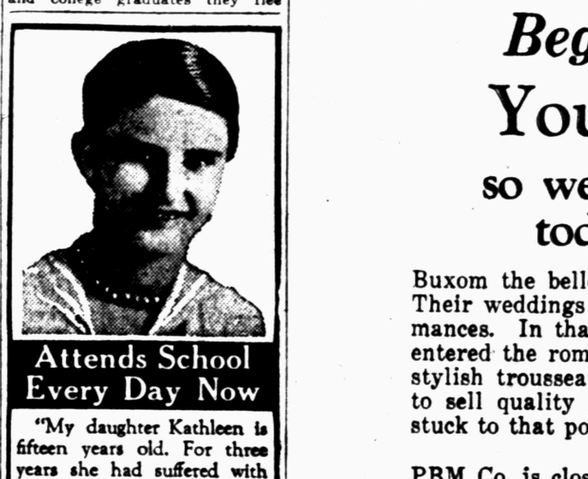

Pattern 1957 may be successfully made of chiffon, georgette, voile or silk crepe. A solid color or a print would be lovely, especially in the pastel shades which are so popular this season.

May be ordered only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 39-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send 15 cents in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, style number and size wanted.

Our book of patterns for adults and children, also transfer patterns, is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Record News Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

Pretty Ceremony Unites Pioneer Haskell Families

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Texas, June 24.—Two of the oldest and best known families in this section were united when the nuptials were read for Miss Agnes Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Cox and John Rike, son of Mrs. S. R. Rike, both of Haskell, Saturday evening, June 21, at 8 o'clock.

The Cox home was beautifully decorated with smilax and gladioli, a beautiful archway and altar being improvised and white ribbon streamers making a pathway for the bridal party. At this beautiful floral altar, the impressive ring ceremony was read by Rev. Jack Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist church.

Miss Catherine Rike, sister of the groom, played the Mendelssohn's wedding march, and McDowell's "To a Wild Rose," softly during the ceremony.

The bride was lovely in an apricot flowered chiffon gown, carrying a shower bouquet, the gift of the groom. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. J. L. Southern.

After the reception following the ceremony at which only close friends and relatives were present, Mr. and Mrs. Rike left to spend their honeymoon in El Paso and points in old Mexico. Mrs. Rike wore a blue ensemble with eggshell accessories as a going away gown.

After July 1, they will be at home in Haskell where Mr. Rike is a prominent young business man, connected with the Farmer's State bank.

Junior Business Girls Have Pretty Hollywood Party

Bridge and that fashionable and ever exciting game of anagrams were special entertainment features at the Hollywood party given by the Junior Business Girls Monday evening at the home of the sponsor for the club, Miss Catherine Walker, on Eleventh street.

Shasta daisies and sweet peas in crystal bowls stressed the beautiful pastel shade featuring the decorations.

Score cards in distinctive design, identified each guest as a popular movie actress as well as indicating her place at the card table. Table favors were daintily wrapped in pastel shades of pink, green, yellow and lavender and when unwrapped, were autographed photographs of the movie stars each guest had found herself representing. Card tables were given the names of motion picture studios instead of the usual numbers. Studios represented were Paramount, Metro-Goldwyn and First National and the actresses were Mary Pickford, Norma Talmadge, Constance Talmadge, Esther Ralston, Colleen Moore, Gloria Swanson, Lois Moran, Louise Brooks, Bebe Daniels, May McAvoy, Claire Windsor and Leatrice Joy.

Hollywood bracelets were presented as high score prizes at each table and were won by Misses Mittie Gibson and Mary Ann Walker. The cut prize, a lovely silhouette in an imported frame, was won by Miss Mittie Gibson.

Table covers and napkins of delicate pink carried out the color scheme when the delicious refreshments were served. Mints in pastel colors in pretty silver bowls emphasized the dainty tones. The refreshment plate was served Misses Eloise Walker, Margaret Wright, Margaret Kennedy, Mary Ann Weiler of Manhattan, Kan., Ola Ficklin, Marie Thorne, Mrs. Orben Leach, Miss Mittie Gibson, the club sponsors, Misses Catherine Walker and Erma Schnelle and Misses Rachel Gilbreath president of the club and Faye Dunaway, social chairman, who were hostesses at the party.

What Motorists Should Know About Headache

Do you know how to get quick relief from "motorist's headache"? It's easy, with the right remedy.

That remedy is Capudine. It is liquid, and can be absorbed at once. That's why it relieves headaches, neuralgia, or periodic pain immediately. Solid medicines require several minutes before your system can absorb them.

When in pain park at a drug store and have the clerk serve you two teaspoonfuls of Capudine in water. You'll be delighted with the speedy relief.

Why not carry a bottle of Capudine always. Then no matter where you travel you can avoid suffering. All drug stores, in single doses, and 10c, 30c and 60c bottles.—Adv.

CLINT SMALL CLUB FORMED HERE

WEST TEXAN PLEDGED AID

Parrish and Satterwhite Predict Victory

be "as happy to see Clint Small governor" as he would to be governor himself.

"This is my first opportunity to give my whole-hearted support to a fellow West Texan as a candidate for governor," Mr. Parrish said. "We need now as never before to place a man at the throttle of our ship of state who is big and capable enough to realize the needs of the widely differing sections of our great state and to solve the opposing problems of the various sections, particularly those of West Texas. That man is Clint Small.

West Texas Type

"He is a fighter. We all know that. But he is one of the cleanest fighters that ever lived. He is a man who can say 'no' when he means 'no.' He is big enough to rise above the factional fights with which our state has been beset these many years. He is our kind of a man. If you do not elect him governor, you need not come to Austin asking for what you may deserve, because we probably won't be able to deliver the goods.

"We want big business in Texas. We are not against it. But we want to say to big business that it must not choke to death those who are not so powerful in the financial world. Big business must give an equal chance to small business. It must bear its just proportion of the burden of taxation. This is true of the oil industry.

"We need a governor who will call to his council table the business men of the state and his friends from all sections to tell them of the need for and ask their advice and cooperation toward building factories here in our state to keep our cotton, meats and other commodities in our boundaries without our having to send them to other states and receive them back in prepared forms at higher prices. We could maufacture commodities which would be sent out throughout the civilized world. It is for such things that Clint Small stands.

"Clint Small is in favor of prohibition. The preachers, our wives and even the boys who take an occasional drink are going to vote for it, so we might as well realize that it is here to stay and throw ourselves into supporting it as a boon to our people. Small is gaining all over the state. As sure as we are here tonight he'll be in the run-off and I'll bet you 10 to one that he will be our next governor."

Lee Satterwhite, the next speaker, was introduced by Chairman Eddleman as "the only speaker of the house whose legislature completed its work within the 60 days alloted for it."

"Clint Small wants to develop Texas and its resources which have just been scratched so far," Mr. Satterwhite said. "He believes the establishment of factories over the state will afford favorable markets for our products and provide a means of employment to the countless men in the state who are out of work today.

Huff Makes Talk

"The districts north of San Antonio and west of Fort Worth have paid 350,000 poll taxes this year and of that number at least 225,000 will vote in the coming election. If the people of West Texas vote as they should vote, Clint Small will go into the second primary. As to his election, one man told me Clint Small could not be elected because he is not well enough known. I told him that fact is an advantage, because so many of the other candidates are so well known that the people of Texas are looking for someone else."

Judge R. E. Huff was called upon for a short talk. He took a thrust at the "navigable rivers" created in West Texas by statute and criticized the state for attempting to take such lands from the people, adding he had never met Clint Small but would be in favor of any candidate "with the principles and qualifications he possesses."

Barney Flynn was also called on for a few words and in his brief talk, he said he had heard Clint Small on the floor of the legislature and had at that time decided that he would make a good man for governor. "Any man from West Texas like Clint Small," he said, "with his broad vision and the scope of which he is capable would make a good governor and we should give him every ounce of our support."

The meeting was adjourned after the names of all present had been enrolled as members of the Small-for-Governor club. Mr. Eddleman said he would announce the next step in the campaign in this section in the near future.

Forty-Five Killed and 72 Injured As Police Guns End Prison Riot

RANGOON, Burma, India, June 24. (AP)—One of the most serious prison munities in recent Indian history occurred here today in the Rangoon central jail. Before the police and wardens had subdued the rioters, in two hours of firing, 45 persons were killed and 71 wounded.

The dead included two sentries, two military police, a prison truck driver and 40 convicts.

The armed forces of the law poured volley after volley into the ranks of the prisoners, literally mowing them down. Many of the injured were not expected to survive.

One report attributed the outbreak to indignation among the Indian convicts over the findings of the Simon commission.

The authorities said all indications pointed to a well organized plot for a jail delivery.

Some hundred convicts, both Indians and Burmans, working in the jail shops, suddenly attacked and killed two sentries. In an instant other convicts had thronged to the mutinous cause. They raided the armory, seized all rifles and ammunition, attempted to break down the prison gates and some succeeded in scaling the walls.

The military police arrived on the scene in answer to hurry calls from within the prison. They went into action immediately. The convicts retreated, to rally and resume the attack as soon as the first weight of the warder's onslaught had diminished.

The convicts then attempted to rush the authorities, firing as they advanced. They melted away before the return volleys.

World's Oldest Man Starts Odyssey to America at 156

ISTANBUL, Turkey, June 24. (AP)—A Turkish passport stating that the owner's birth year is 1774 and stamped with a six-month United States visa will carry toward New York this week Zaro Agha, who claims he is the oldest man in the world.

He has traveled in bygone centuries, having, he declares, fought with Napoleon in Egypt and in Greece during the war of 1825. Now Zaro Agha has selected America for a 20th century odyssey because as a fervid Moslem teetotaler he wants to pay his respects to the land where, as the Koran bids, wine is held wicked, his own country having backslid in this respect.

Zaro says America will be sure to appreciate the man who has been dry for 156 years. He hopes to get into the movies.

"Dozens of Americans have written me to come," he said in Kurdish today. "A rich American lady who owns eight battleships and four yachts has invited me to visit her. She sent me a dollar. I may decide to marry her."

Zaro made this observation in the presence of his eleventh Kurdish wife, whom he is leaving behind. She listened placidly. Zaro refused to divulge the possible twelfth Mrs. Zaro's name.

Tom Davis Statement Read to Murder Jury

EASTLAND, Texas, June 24. (UP)—A statement, signed by Thomas Davis shortly after his arrest for the murder of Lucian Shook in September, 1928, was read in district court here late today during his second murder trial.

The statement, introduced immediately after the jury had been completed, stated that Davis, and his younger brother, Woodrow, and Clyde Thompson went to the Shook cabin to rob it. The next night they asked Shook and his brother to go hunting and shot them to death, the statement read.

New York Honors Byrd With Service Award

ALBANY, N. Y., June 24. (AP)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Nationalists Deny Claims of Revolters

SHANGHAI, June 24. (AP)—Rebel claims of trapping 30,000 government troops near Taiking, in China's northern war theater, were disputed today by nationalist leaders, while the veil of government censorship continued to obscure what actually was transpiring in

150 ATTEND OIL MEETING

North Texas Operators Discuss Problems

Probelms of the oil industry in North Texas field were discussed by approximately 150 operators of the section in a meeting at the Wichita club Tuesday afternoon.

P. B. Flynn, president of the North Texas Oil and Gas association, presided at the meeting and sounded the keynote of the conference in an address in which he said the fight of the oil independents in this area was "just getting started."

Higher prices for gasoline must come before there can be high prices for crude oil, it was pointed out by speakers in urging strict curtailment of new production. New and flush fields, it was stated, should bear the burden of sharp restriction, as compared to old and settled fields, where proration would almost mean the extinction of independent operators.

Proration of production in the North Texas field must apply to new areas, but should not apply to the developed areas, where sharp restriction or runs would mean the ruin of the industry, Mr. Flynn said.

House Passes Bill For Linters Statistics

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—The senate bill to authorize the census director in publishing statistics on cotton in storage, to list the number of bales of linters as a separate item as distinguished from the number of bales of cotton, was passed today by the house and sent to the president.

MASONS HOLD INSTALLATIONS

New Officers Inducted at Meeting

Newly elected officers in three Masonic bodies here were installed in impressive ceremonies held at a public installation Tuesday night at the Masonic temple when refreshments were served to a large crowd of Masons, their friends and relatives. The installations included those of the chapter, No. 202, Royal Arch Masons; the lodge, No. 635 and the council, No. 140, Royal and Select Masters.

The following officers were installed in the chapter: W. J. Webb, high priest; C. R. Hickernell, king; L. E. Fawks, scribe; Charles H. Smoot, treasurer; George W. Lawler, secretary; H. C. James, captain of the hosts; John A. Mayer, principal sojourner; J. D. Woods, royal arch captain; Ralph Hauser, master of the third veil; W. D. Talley, master of the second veil; Mr. McCracken as proxy; Fred G. Decker, master of the first veil; and J. A. Bussey, guard. John A. Elder acted as installing officer and Edd R. Miller as marshal. Jewels were presented by Frank Collier to J. A. Richolt, as oldest living past high priest, and by W. E. Brothers to John A. Elder, as retiring high priest.

Officers installed in the lodge were as follows: M. C. Sherman, worshipful master; Charles H. Smoot, senior warden; Ewing Clagett, junior warden; Lester Jones, treasurer, re-election; George W. Lawler, secretary, re-election; W. E. Walker, chaplain; Irvin J. Vogel, senior deacon; H. C. James, junior deacon; W. E. McCracken, senior steward; E. M. Berg, junior steward; and J. A. Bussey, tiler. W. E. Brothers, district deputy grand master, acted as installing officer and G. D. Kinard, past master, acted as marshal. Charles H. Smoot presented a jewel to John A. Mayer as retiring worshipful master and A. D. Magner presented another to Frank Collier as oldest living past master.

The following officers were installed in the council: G. W. Curd, thrice illustrious master; W. R. Worley, right illustrious deputy master; M. M. Ingham, illustrious principal conductor of the work; James P. Avis, treasurer; George W. Lawler, recorder; W. L. Griffin, captain of the guards; C. O. Marker, conductor of the council; H. C. James, steward; and J. A. Bussey, sentinel. Edd R. Miller acted as installing officer and John A. Elder as marshal. G. W. Curd presented a jewel to Edd R. Miller as outgoing thrice illustrious master. The ceremonies ended about 10 o'clock.

A honeymoon was abruptly halted at Emporia, Kan., when a party of five motorists was quarantined after one became ill with smallpox.

It took an automobile to halt a pair of runaway horses recently at Claflin, Kan.

Hoover Signs Power Commission Bill

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—President Hoover today signed the bill for reorganization of the federal power commission.

The new commission of five members to be appointed by the president will take the place of the three cabinet officers who now administer the water power act.

The chief executive expects to name the commissioners in time to obtain action by the senate on confirmation before it adjourns for the summer.

PRODUCTION OF OIL DECREASES

Daily Average Declines 27,350 Barrels

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 27,350 barrels for the week ended June 21, totalling 2,598,950 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum institute. The daily average production east of California was 2,000,000 barrels, an increase of 26,150 barrels.

Refineries representing 95.7 per cent of the estimated daily potential refining capacity, operating at 74.4 per cent of their capactiy, reported daily average run of crude oil to stills as 2,261,100 barrels. Byrd, Today's Hero
Morrow Spikes the Drys
Egypt's Good Beer
Weeping "Barney" Vause

By EMILE GAUVREAU

America must have its heroes. Today it is Admiral Byrd, back from the south pole, to be greeted by a pompous, lavish, lacuous pageant. Byrd is of the heroic type you want to read about: modest, courageous and gentlemanly. His accomplishments have been spectacular. He flew over the south pole and lived to tell of it. Amundsen, who discovered it, did not do it quite so colorfully. Captain Scott, who reached the pole without an airplane, perished. Perry also accomplished his purpose before exploring was made easy.

When you cheer Byrd today, and he deserves it, remember the unsung heroes. Don't forget the physicist who hazards his life hourly in laboratory experiments for the sake of advancing human knowledge. A hero these days is not much of a hero unless he is advertised.

In New Jersey a gentleman named Dwight Morrow who inspires confidence and says what he thinks, easily manages to win the nomination to the senate by a plurality of 200,000. He doesn't believe in prohibition. His victory leaves drys still unconvinced that their "cause" is unpopular and distasteful. Here you have a good reason why prejudice causes more blindness in America than ophathalmia. It would take a force more powerful than nitroglycerine to blast through the solid rock of the stupidity of the dry fanatics.

American home-brewers interested in history will be interested in the announcement of Professor Gruess, of Berlin, that Egypt had beer 2,000 years ago. And it was good beer. Beer-drinking Egypt did one or two things for civilization; perhaps as much as Greece, Rome and Babylon, all bundled together. Dry America fears for the culture of her children by denying it beer. What would a beerless America accomplish for civilization? The only two things handed down to us so far by prohibition have been crime and corruption. And everything could be straightened out by a good, legal 5-cent glass of beer.

On trial for fraud, former Kings County Judge "Barney" Vause sits in court tearing his hair, as one sign of insanity (other signs on request). He moans and weeps crocodile tears. He remembers he once advocated the whipping post for criminals. The memory makes him shudder. The $400,000 mail fraud case in which he is defendant will probably wind up by making him one of the best subjects for the lash. Here you have dignity dethroned.

Imaginative detective story writers find themselves almost outdone by a murderer with real imagination in Queens county. He promises a plethora of murders, all according to the same recipe and technique. Like the professor in the "Bishop Murder Case," he sends notes to the newspapers, describing with accuracy the crimes he is about to commit—and which have been committed by the time the notes reach their destination. What a time Commissioner Whalen would have had with this case!

Cklahoma Buses Pay $129,488.75 in Taxes

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 24. (UP) Fees and annual taxes collected by the motor bus department of the state corporation commission during the period from June 28, 1929, to April 1, 1930, totaled $129,488.75, an audit of the department showed today.

Abe Martin

(Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)

Hain't it refreshin' in squintin' over a newspaper to run onto a picture o' somebuddy that hain't in trouble or hain't been murdered? Ther now, be a nice little feller, an' don't make them ugly faces. I know what him wants. I'll get you a divorce the very next time I go down town," said Mrs. Ike Kite, March bride, as she took her husband on her lap.

Aerial honeymoons, it is reported, are becoming very popular. Newly married couples were up in the clouds long before the coming of airplanes.

Chicago bandits should be given credit for suppressing at least one racket. They held up a jazz orchestra the other day and swiped all the instruments.

India's Future

WHEN Kipling made his famous remark that East is East and West is West with the interesting conclusion that they would never shake hands or smoke the pipe of peace together, he was speaking with prophetic wisdom that has found its proof in the situation that exists in India today.

India and Great Britain staged a meeting, entirely at the suggestion of Great Britain, a great many years ago. India hadn't issued an invitation to an at-home and she let Great Britain understand that she wasn't receiving. Nevertheless, India accepted the presents that her visitor brought.

The courts which established justice for even the lowliest; the food that was rushed into the country when starvation's gray ghost hovered over the peasant villages; the canals that aided irrigation of former arid lands; the railroads which established inter-communication . . . these were acceptable.

Then the old Kipling prophecy came into full play again. India wanted to be left alone, and she is doing her best to accomplish her purpose. Gandhi, who leads the Indian rebellion, contends that his people should completely divorce themselves from western civilization. Missionaries, child widows, Moslems, prayer rugs, specialized, individualized labor . . . such things, he believes, will never mix.

India recognizes the gifts which Great Britain brought her. She does not overlook them. But she believes that she could manage better alone.

She insists that the total home rule and independence which she craves, would bring about a restoration of the days when she grew her own food and accomplished her labor in her homes and village shops.

True to that human nature which is the same the world over . . . although the East is East and West is West . . . India has forgotten the pestilence and hunger of the days before Great Britain came. She believes that she used to live in a golden age. Just what would happen if she were left alone would be an interesting experiment.

Would India discover that when the old order has given place to the new it is not possible to live the past again? Or would she slip back to the former era since backward progress is always easier than forward? And would she be happier?

These are things which we do not know. The India-Great Britain controversy presents an interesting study for the rest of the world which watches a wizened, brown-skinned old man lead his followers on a backward crusade . . . or maybe a forward one for them.

The basis of the trouble very probably is found in neither country. Kipling explained it. "East is East and West is West and never the twain shall meet."

Wings for Our Souls

AMERICA has welcomed another hero. Or rather, for the third time, she has greeted the same son as he came back from the dangers and loneliness of far-flung worlds which are only adventurous names, wrapped in a glamour of romance, to most of us.

The crowds cheered, the confetti made spangled rainbows in the air, the flags rippled proudly and the bands played conquering marches, as the antarctic ships bearing Admiral Byrd and his party steamed into the homeland harbor.

Most of us see only the spectacular side of the event. We wish rather dimly that we, too, had conquered the south pole. What we do not visualize is the seige of loneliness in an icebound land, as one year slipped into another, and hunger and danger crept closer and closer. In the day of triumphal entry the sacrifices are forgotten.

It is well that not everyone has an opportunity to charter a ship and attempt a crusade. The sea would be hopelessly filled with craft that had no destination but the pursuit of glamour. The harbors would be crowded with vessels that came drifting back as the seas grew rough.

We can't all be heroes. But it is very fine and fortunate that there are pioneers possessed of a splendid bravery and intelligence that make them unafraid to tackle unchartered sealanes and cloud-blown sky paths, because they have a vision that is far-flung and glorious. Such men give wings to our souls. They make us stretch our lazy minds until they catch something of the spirit of the wind-swept distances. They blow the cobwebs out of our hearts and bring back the old belief in crusades and grails and knights in steel blue armor.

We, as Americans, are grateful for our heroes. They make us sing again, and dream a little as we work. In a world that is so apt to be monotonous they restore our belief in adventure tales.

Rumania's Errant King

RUMANIA'S prodigal son has come home again. He spent a fortune in riotous living but his people killed the fatted calf and put the purple robe around his shoulders when he came back. After all, if a king has a kingdom it is his place to stay at home and annex his signature to state papers when it is necessary, instead of getting himself talked about all over the world, they are thinking.

So King Carol II is back and little Prince Michael can play marbles and leapfrog instead of watching the other youngsters through the palace windows.

The way in which Rumania has welcomed back the errant, profligate Carol is illustrative of the almost divine worship which the nation has for its rulers. The old divine right of kings, which stated that they were God-given, and hence could do no wrong, has not been entirely discarded. Carol's subjects, while they do not condone his imprudent adventures, can still forgive them enough to anoint him as their ruler.

The Rumanian situation should make every American more fully appreciate the privilege of living in a country where men's deeds elect them to their offices; where they win their spurs instead of finding them polished and waiting at birth; where worth, not birth, is master.

It Seems So Strange

It seems so strange—I hardly can believe
Release has come, that I have ceased to care.
It seemed that I would always have to grieve,
That pain and tears would always be my fare;
And now this rest: this blessed healing sleep
Has come to me, and I no longer weep.

I know this now: that tears are wasted things;
That kisses are but gestures of the hour;
That love is but a hummingbird whose wings
Are poised to bear you to another flower.
The things I used to think were true and fine
Were only true as long as you were mine.

Your sophistry I never did accept.
My loyalty and love you could not know.
I grieve more truly now than when I wept,
But for a different reason my tears flow.
It's that I saw you standing by the door.
And knew I did not love you any more.

Squelch

Added to our Crisp Cracks from Caustic Critics department is this from George Martin. It concerns the would-be dramatist who annoyed a dramatic critic for an opinion on his script so persistently that he finally elicited the following reply: "My dear sir: I have received and read your manuscript. Oh, My Dear Sir!!!"

Alibi

A noted musical comedian was recently the victim of a critic's barbs. The critic averred that the comic wasn't that comical.

"Golly!" ejaculated a rival, "did you see the poke that guy gave you?"

"That doesn't worry me," was the retort indifferent. "I found out that critic's passion. He likes to see old women run over."

Swifty

Another Bugs Baer pip is said to be almost any baseball player's pet story. It dealt with Ping Bodie, listed as the game's poorest runner—the slowest man on his feet. One game Ping attempted to steal home from third and was caught by plenty yards. Baer's comment was: "Bodie had larceny in his head, but his feet were honest."

Observation

You probably have heard of temperamental stars who refused to appear because their names weren't billed in larger type than a competitor's, but you probably never heard of a chef being featured over the talent and orchestra appearing in the same restaurant.

In the 70s, however, on Broadway, a restaurant snubs the entertainers and horn-tooters in its electric sign, which announces that the place has a renowned chef, whose curry and rice is grade A. The chef, whose name escapes us for the paragraph, was the chef on what once was the President's yacht, the Mayflower.

By Way of Report

There still are many actors who consider Broadway second to Hollywood. Billy Gaxton, of the "Frenchmen" show, tells it. Several years ago a pal wished him luck and hoped to see him a success some day. Since then Gaxton has struggled and won recognition. He played everything in vaudeville. He was featured in "The Connecticut Yankee" and other musical hits and finally won a huge assignment in "Fifty Million Frenchmen." It was a tough climb, but there he is, perched high in a New York success.

The pal, just back from Hollywood, met Gaxton for the first time in years the other day. "I'm in a big hit, kid; come and see me," said Gaxton.

"I know," was the mournful answer, "but what on earth are you doing on Broadway?"

How Irksome

A Broadway couple who recently went phffft after a two-year blazing romance, were irked no end because the fact was recorded here. The day following publication the girl phoned her ex-honey boy. "I want you to do me one more favor," she asked him. "I want you to be seen with me in every night club this week before I leave for California, just to show that guy and the crowd how inaccurate his column is." The stranded sweetheart, who still adores her, agreed, and last night unfolded the tale to us.

"It cost me between three and four hundred dollars to take her around that week," he moaned, "and every place we went to they told us you had just left!"

Slanguage

A Mr. D. Cooper proffers this gangster slang, some of which is new to this department. "To go Waverly," he reports, "is to disappear." "A right guy" or "a right town" is a person or a town official who can be fixed. A "cannon" is a pickpocket (we always thought it meant a pistol), "on a whiz," means that a pickpocket is on his way to work. "Ironed out" or "heeled" means to carry a gun, and "a wrong weed in the garden" is a stranger in the mob who doesn't look kosher (right)."

O, Mr. Wilstach!

Suggested for Frank J. Wilstach's simile dictionary: Herbert Hoover's: Economic health, like human health, requires prevention of infection as well as cure of it . . . Dorothy Herzog's: The violinist squeaked like church shoes . . . Phil M. Daly's: As successful as a blind exchangeman in a dark projection room searching for a negro exhibitor who isn't there . . . Harry Beresford's: About as popular as pigs in Palestine . . . G. K. Chesterton's: Marriage is an adventure—like going to war . . . and Weare Holbrook's: An egg should be conventional—like a Tiller girl.

A Form of Criticism

George Jessel apparently isn't a Hollywood fan. He was among others who went to the depot the other day to see Mrs. Gus Edwards off to the coast.

"Is there anything," asked Mrs. Edwards, "I can do for you out there?"

"Yes," was the snippy retort, "be sure and don't give anybody my regards!"

"SHEILA"

Love and Mystery
Humor and Tragedy

A Story of Wichita Falls
By GORDON TURNER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Frank Sheridan, wealthy young lawyer, whose hobby is the solving of crime mysteries, is making a double investigation into the safe robbery at the home of William Oliver Wilber, inventor and manufacturer, and into the strange death by electrocution of Lena Swartz, a maid in the Wilber home. From the safe was stolen a diary of Wilber's wife, now dead. The diary contained a secret of the birth of Sheila, Wilber's daughter, who is engaged to marry Sheridan's friend, Joseph Hedley, assistant county prosecutor. Lena's death apparently is accidental, but Sheridan sees a possible connection between it and the safe robbery. Suspicion points to Riley Morgan, a burglar, who is a client of Homer Menton, an unprincipled criminal lawyer, and to Andy Masters, Sheila's wayward cousin, who for mercenary reasons wants to marry Edna Rogers, Sheila's chum, but is entangled in a love affair with Mercedes Riverton, a stenographer in Menton's office. Sheridan gets himself invited to a party at Mercedes' apartment, where drinks are served by Ike Sellers, Andy's valet. At this party Sheridan overhears a conversation which connects Menton with the strange happenings at the Wilber home. The next day Andy, intoxicated and in a quarrelsome mood, tells Sheila she is a foundling and has no right to Wilber's name. Sheila surprises her father into partially confirming Andy's accusation. Feeling herself disgraced, she returns her engagement ring to Hedley.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XXV

Frank Sheridan was aroused at his rooms in the middle of the night by a telephone call from Hedley.

"Frank, old man, I hate to disturb you at this ungodly hour, but I've got to talk to some one. May I come up?"

Hedley's voice held a note of repressed emotion and Sheridan wondered.

"Certainly, Joe," he answered, "toddle along."

Sheridan turned on the lights, slipped into a dressing gown and drew two easy chairs to an open window. It was a hot, sultry night. He had just placed cigarets on a table nearby when Hedley knocked at the door. Sheridan led his visitor to a chair and offered a cigaret. Hedley shook his head.

"Frank," he said, "Sheila has found out she is not Mr. Wilber's daughter and she has gone clear out of her head. She feels she is disgraced forever and she's broken our engagement."

Sheridan's cigaret dropped from his fingers. He stopped, retrieved it and flipped it into an ash tray.

"The diary!" he exclaimed.

"No, I don't think she knows anything of that," Hedley answered. He swiftly related the story of his strange reception by Sheila and the return of his ring.

"You can imagine what a jolt it gave me; I haven't been able to think straight since," he said. "When I came to my senses I hunted up Mr. Wilber and demanded an explanation. He was in the laboratory. He was a wreck; I almost forgot my own troubles in my sympathy for him. He said that Sheila had surprised him into an admission of the truth. Andy had told her something that gave her a clew."

"Andy!" Sheridan exclaimed.

"Yes, Andy Masters. He had been there during the afternoon—"

"Wait," Sheridan broke in, a frown puckering his brows. "So he's the Senegambian in the woodpile. Did Wilber explain how Andy came to know about Sheila? I thought he had been kept in the dark as much as Sheila herself."

"Great Scott!" Hedley exclaimed. "I never thought of that; I was so wrought up over Sheila's behavior—Mr. Wilber, too, I guess. We were so worried about Sheila. She wouldn't talk to me nor to her father; she shut herself up in her room and would admit no one. She sent word by the maid that she would not be down to dinner. For the sake of appearances before the servants, Mr. Wilber and I dined together. It was a ghastly meal."

Sheridan lighted another cigaret, leaned his head on the back of the chair and stared at the ceiling, deep in thought.

"Joe," he said finally, "don't worry about Sheila. She has suffered a great shock, but she will come out of it. I can understand just how a finely-bred, sensitive, proud girl, reared in wealth and security, whose life never had been touched by anything sordid, would feel under the circumstances. But she is healthy, of strong character and discerning mind. After the shock has worn off, as it will wear off, and everything is explained to her in the right way, her good sense will tell her that it is what we are ourselves and not who our remote or immediate progenitors were, nor what they did, that counts. In her right mind she is too big to be concerned with the snobbery of birth."

"It is not that that we have to fear," he cotninued, "it is the cruelty of the holier-than-thou snobs that infest every rank of society: the evil-minded whisperers, the slinking scandal-mongers. Sheila must be protected from their slavering tongues; her secret must remain a secret within the family circle."

Sheridan rose from his chair and walked back and forth across the room, his hands clasped back of his head, the skirt of his dressing gown flopping against his knees. After several turns he paused in front of Hedley's chair.

"Listen, Joe," he said, "I'm going to get that diary if it's the last act of my life. I have a pretty good idea of where it is and what you have told me tonight helps to cinch it. Andy Masters either has seen and read the diary or he has been told of its contents. He knew nothing of it prior to the safe robbery. You and I and Wilber and the burglar are the only ones who could know of its existence. Ergo, Masters has been in touch, directly or indirectly, with the burglar. It's the only way he could have obtained the knowledge he has passed on to Sheila. Why did he tell Sheila? That's something I can't understand.

"I smell something devilish in all this, Joe. There's more than one snake loose in the underbrush and we've got to scotch them all. Andy Masters is one; the burglar, Riley Morgan, is another, and I believe Homer Menton is a third."

"Homer Menton!" Hedley exclaimed, "that crook!"

"Yes, Homer Menton, and he's worse than a crook; he's a vampire that fattens upon the misery and fear of the underworld, a blackleg lawyer who would stoop to anything to feather his own nest. Why does society tolerate his filthy breed, Joe? Why do the bar association and the courts permit them to practice? I'll tell you; because a big percentage of the lawyers practicing today are more or less tarred with the same stick. I—"

He stopped and smiled down at Hedley.

"No offense, Joe," he said. "I forget you and I are lawyers, though thank God, I don't play at it much. The way lawyers, many of them, abuse the law and jerryrig the public is a favorite obsession of mine."

"I know, Frank," said Hedley, "but what has Menton to do with this case?"

"All the straws point to his being the king pin in some kind of an abominable plot against Sheila and her father," Sheridan replied. "Andy and Menton are thicker than thieves; I overheard a conversation between them in which they mentioned Lena's death and spoke of 'giving the old man the big squeeze.' The only interpretation of that is blackmail. The only local instrument of blackmail is Mrs. Wilber's diary, and it follows that they probably have it in their possession. Two facts point strongly to that conclusion; first, Andy's knowledge of the secret it contains, and, second, the equally damning fact I have uncovered that Riley Morgan is a client of Homer Menton and has recently been a frequent visitor at his office."

"Frank, you're a wonder!" Hedley exclaimed. "You've got the whole thing by the tail. You've got the noose around their necks; all you've got to do now is to pull the rope."

"Not so fast, Joe; not so fast," Sheridan admonished. "If this were an ordinary bit of criminal investigation, the end would be in sight; the procedure would be plain. But we can't come out into the open; we can't lay our cards on the table. We can't for instance, go to the police and say, 'Here's the evidence; arrest the crooks'—that would defeat the very end toward which we are working. Blackmailers, as you know, thrive on the knowledge that their victims cannot risk the publicity an appeal to the constituted authorities would almost inevitably entail. And another thing, they have not yet made any open move toward blackmail—unless Andy's revelation to Sheila was some subtle move in their game.

"Nor can we show our hands too soon to Andy and Menton; we've got to work sub rosa and cautiously," he continued. "If I am any judge of men, Menton is the malliciously vindictive kind who, finding his plans thwarted, would not hesitate in revenge to make the diary public. Oh, he would do it in such a way as to keep his own skirts clear—probably mail it anonymously to a scandal sheet with a hint of the prominence of the persons concerned."

Hedley groaned. "What an infernal tangle!" he commented bitterly.

"Oh, it is not hopeless," Sheridan said cheerfully, "I am merely pointing out the roads we can't take. One road is open and I'm going to travel down it like a hurricane. It leads directly to Mr. Riley Ratface Morgan. We'll fight the devil with fire. We'll turn blackleg for the nonce and do a little blackmailing ourselves. Once committed to a career of crime, we might even connive at another burglary."

"What's the answer? I'll bite," said Hedley, his spirits revived by Sheridan's optimism.

"All crooks of low intelligence are moral cowards," Sheridan replied. "If I can get my hands on Morgan, the rest ought to be easy. To save himself, when the screws are put to him, he will come through with all he knows. If he still has the diary in his possession, he will give it up. If he hasn't got it, he knows where it is and, by Judas, I'll make him get it if he has to burglarise the First National bank! I've cooked up a very persuasive method of dealing with our burglar friend."

Sheridan placed a hand on Hedley's head and affectionately ruffled his hair.

"Rest easy, Joe," he said, "the wheels start turning tomorrow."

Jealous Mother Kills Self and Children

EAST SAN GABRIEL, Calif., June 24. (UP)—A mother's decision to end the lives of herself and her three small children because she resented an asserted clandestine affair between her husband and another woman had wiped out today the family of Edward Proctor, 35.

The victims were Mrs. Louise Proctor, 40; Eddie, 3; Adeline, 5; and James, 6, all victims of poison placed in a pitcher of orange juice by the despondent mother.

Los Angeles deputy sheriffs said there was no doubt but that the mother—torn by jealousy over her husband's affair with Mrs. Vera Caplin—determined on death for her family.

CENSUS GAINS

WASHINGTON, June 24. (UP)—The census bureau todsy estimated the population of New Hampshire at 463,746, an increase of 20,663, or 4.7 per cent over the figure for 1920.

Q.—How long has Delhi been the capital of India?—T. B. L.

A.—This has been a capital of provinces of India almost from the beginning of the history of India. It was made the British capital of India by proclamation of King George V in 1911.

Q.—How many slaves were there in this country at the time of the revolution?—D. C. K.

A.—In 1760 it was estimated that there were over 300,000 slaves in the colonies.

Q.—Why is Friday chosen as a day of assembly by Mohammedans?—F. D. N.

A.—The observance of Friday as the Moslem day of assembly, corresponding in some respects to the Christian Sabbath, originated in the Mohammedan revelations. According to the instructions of the prophet, Friday was the day Adam was created, the day on which he entered paradise, was expelled therefrom, the day of his repentance, the day of his death, and it is to be the day of his resurrection.

Q.—When was William Howard Taft governor of the Philippines? —H. G.

A.—Taft was sent to the Philippines as president of the U. S. Philippine commission in 1900 and became the first civil governor of the islands in 1901.

Q.—Is there any truth in the statement that children form 75 per cent of our motion picture audiences?—C. H.

A.—As a matter of fact, only eight per cent are children. Impartial surveys made by disinterested organizations show that in the Manhattan theater district of New York City, for instance, the proportion of the children in the audience, by actual count, is as low as three to four per cent and in the residential urban districts it is eight per cent.

Q.—Who sponsors the voters' service over the radio?—F. T.

A.—It is sponsored by the National League of Women Voters and the National Broadcasting company.

Q.—Who is the Elijah of the New Testament?—H. T. H.

A.—John the Baptist has been referred to in this manner, owing to the fact that the events of his life were similar to those recorded of Elijah.

Q.—Who has written the most successful song of modern times? —R. E. D.

A.—Carrie Jacobs Bond is recognized as the most successful song writer of modern times, as her song "The End of a Perfect Day" has totaled a greater number of sales than any other song.

Q.—How many Canadians cross into the United States daily to work?—H. E. S.

A.—There are 8,600 aliens who live on the Canadian side of the border and cross to the United States almost daily. In other words they cross at least four times a week for work and have crossing cards. There are 13,000 people who come over the border fewer times than four each week.

Q.—How many yards did Old Ironsides carry?—J. W. O.

A.—The navy department says that Old Ironsides had five yards to each mast when rigged with a sky sail.

Q.—How many soldiers were there at the close of the civil war? —G. L. G.

A.—There were still living 1,769,420 Union soldiers and approximately 741,000 Confederate soldiers.

Q.—Are railroad earnings increasing or decreasing?—B. V. S.

A.—The net earnings of class one railroads during the first quarter of this year showed a falling off of 32 per cent as compared with the same quarter last year.

Q.—How long did it take to make the Statue of Liberty?—G. L.

A.—The Statue of Liberty was 12 years in preparation in France and was mounted and exhibited in Paris in October of 1881. The American pedestal was commenced in 1883 and was not completed until 1886. The statue itself was of hammered copper sheets and weighed 450,000 pounds. It was mounted on an iron framework covered with wood and so arranged that it could be taken down and shipped in sections. It was taken down and was shipped in 210 cases on the French state vessel Isere, sailing from Rouen, France.

Q.—What did Jumbo weigh?—E. E. E.

A.—The largest elephant on record was Jumbo, an elephant in the Barnum & Bailey circus which was 11 feet 8 inches in height and weighed six tons. The average weight of an elephant is four tons.

Prepare for That Paint or Concrete Job

Those who are planning odd jobs of painting or concrete around the city home or on the farm will find it helpful and a matter of economy as well if they will send for the booklets on those subjects now available through our Washington bureau. These booklets of 32 pages each have been prepared by government and other experts and contain a wealth of advice and information in the most condensed and practical form.

Because of a small saving in postage it is possible to make a combination offer of the two booklets for seven cents, instead of the four cents each cost when they are mailed separately. In filling out the coupon be sure to make it clear which booklet you want if you are not ordering both of them.

THRIFT URGED BY HOLLOWAY

Sooner Governor Seeks Economy in State

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 24. (UP)—Heads of all state institutions and departments were notified today of Gov. W. J. Holloway's appeal to keep the budgets for the next biennium as low as possible and "to spend as little money as possible."

Holloway urged that all requests be based upon "absolute necessity" and "not what you would like to have as a matter of selfish pride."

"The cost of government has reached such proportions that it challenges our best efforts," the governor said. "All patriotic citizens should cooperate and support the effort to operate the government as economically and efficiently as possible.

"While we will no doubt reach the end of the present fiscal year without any deficiency, the imperative duty is upon us—to live within the state's income in order that no future deficit will arise.

"My greatest ambition as the governor of the state is to be able to release the reins of governor to my successor with its fiscal affairs in a sound and good condition, with all of its departments and institutions operating efficiently and capably within the present income from the various sources of taxation."

Rain Brings Relief From Heat Wave

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 24. (UP)—Partly cloudy skies and threatening thundershowers in several sections brought relief to Oklahomans today from a heat wave that had been unbroken for more than a week.

Temperatures here dropped eight degrees in 15 minutes last midnight when a breeze from the north gathered storm clouds and heavy rain fell. The rain was general over northern and central Oklahoma. Hail and high winds caused considerable damage to wheat fields in northwestern counties.

The storm started last night in Washington county and progressed southwestward, striking here about 2 a. m.

The rain brought relief from temperatures which yesterday mounted to 101 in southwestern counties and 94 degrees here.

$10,000 Suit Against Store on Trial Here

The $10,000 damage suit brought against the S. H. Kress company store here in behalf of Mrs. W. P. Stewart on a claim growing out of foot injuries alleged to have been sustained by Mrs. Stewart when she fell down a small step in the Kress store was being tried in the 78th district court for the second time Tuesday. The case was expected to reach the jury Wednesday, Judge W. W. Cook said.

In the first trial of the suit the jury disagreed and was discharged without having returned a verdict. Mrs. Stewart claims she suffered a broken ankle when she stepped down a small step in a corridor near the rest room in the Kress store.

VIOLET RAYS CHASE COLDS

Cornell Students Escape Usual Epidemic

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

ITHACA, N. Y., June 24. (AP)—The usual winter epidemic of colds was wiped out among 300 young men at Cornell university this year by use of ultra-violet light.

These men were not completely freed of colds, but they escaped the ordinary "peak," when colds multiply along with pneumonia and other respiratory diseases.

The results of this ultra-violet treatment, one of the most extensive ever undertaken, were made public today by Dr. Dean F. Smiley, in charge of student health. The artificial sunlight was given to the students by him and Dr. George H. Maughan.

The most outstanding result was the cumulative effect. The protective results were greatest after the light had been given for months, although this period of best health was the season when colds are likely to be worst. A few girls who took the light did not begin until months after the boys, and showed much less decrease in colds, although they too received positive benefit.

One Bath Each Week

Those taking the light all were from the 25 per cent of Cornell students especially susceptible to colds—that is, who average more than four a year. From Nov. 5 to Jan. 3 ths men took one light bath a week, exposing their entire bodies for 15 minutes. In that period their susceptibility to colds was reduced 42½ per cent compared with a group of students equally liable to colds, who took no light. The ultra-violets had 1.15 colds each, against two apiece for the others.

In the second period, Jan. 27 to May 1, the artificial sunshiners showed a 58 per cent reduction, 1.01 colds each against 2.42 for the lightless boys.

"This 58 per cent reduction," said Dr. Smiley, "is unexpectedly large. We attempted to give the light twice a week during this second period, but some boys did not care to spend that much time and we did not average more than once a week.

"It should be understood that we do not claim the light would do equally well everywhere. Cornell is in a cold belt, with less winter sunshine than at some places. It may be where there is more sunshine the light would not show the same percentages.

"We have not tried the light on the 75 per cent who represent normal susceptibility. But some of our studies indicate that the so-called cold epidemics are mostly confined to the 25 per cent of cold susceptibles, and that if we can protect them, there will be no epidemics.

"Only 15 women took the light, not beginning until Jan. 27. They showed a cold reduction of 19.9 per cent."

Accused Man Sues For $125,000 Damages

MUSKOGEE, Okla., June 24. (UP)—John Wike and Lawrence Sturges, both of Sharon, Conn., were named defendants in a suit on file here today in connection with the detention of R. O. Benton, a suspect in the murder of George and David Smith of Sharon.

Charging Wike and Sturges caused his arrest and detention, Benton asked $125,000 damages. The Smith brothers were murdered in a hotel room here April 26 under mysterious circumstances. He contended his reputation and health had been damaged.

Wike, the only witness to the shooting, signed a complaint against Benton whom he identified as a bandit who shot the brothers. County attorney refused to file the charge, claiming evidence was insufficient.

Co-Ops Ready For 1930 Crop

Farm Board Head Traces Marketing Plans

WASHINGTON, June 24. (UP)—American agriculture faces the 1930 crop year in a stronger position than it occupied before organization of the feedral farm board, in the opinion of Chairman Alexander Legge.

Substantial progress in organizing agriculture on a co-operative basis has been made in the past year and a large share of the important staples will be handled this summer by farmer-owned national marketing agencies formed under auspices of the board.

The Farmers National Grain association expects to handle 300,000,000 bushels of the 1930 wheat crop, Legge said today. In addition the grain stabilization corporation is holding off the market about 50,000,000 bushels of grain, brought earlier as part of the emergency stabilization operation. Legge said it would not be offered for sale until the present price depression has been lifted.

In cotton, the situation is somewhat similar. The cotton stabilization corporation is taking over about 1,250,000 bales from the 1929 crop. The American Cotton Co-Operative association is preparing to market large quantities of the new crop as it enters the market. This combined operation is expected by Legge to have a stabilizing influence on prices.

A gratifying response to the farm board's plea for a reduction in acreage was received from growers of spring wheat, Legge said, but the acreage in cotton was only about five per cent under 1929.

Farmers who desire to withhold their grain from the market in view of the price situation will be enabled to borrow from the grain corporation up to about 80 per cent of the value of their grain this year.

Wedding of Electra Couple Announced

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, June 24.—A wedding of unusual interest to this community was solemnized Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at Frederick, Okla., when Miss Lois Cheaney became the bride of R. J. Bradley, Jr. The ring ceremony was read by Reverend Moreland, paster of the First Methodist church of Frederick. The only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Ackerman. Mrs. Ackerman is a sister of the bride.

Mrs. Bradley is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cheaney who live at the City lake. She graduated from the Electra High school with the class of '28 and is a very talented musician. She was formerly a member of the orchestra of the First Methodist church. She is a member of the Playmates orchestra and of the Iowa Park Triangle band.

Mr. Bradley also graduated from te Electra High school with the class of '27. He attended Texas A. & M. college. He is also a talented musician and is director of the Playmates orchestra. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bradley Sr., who live on the Bradley ranch south of Electra.

Following the ceremony the couple left for the Ozarks where they will spend their honeymoon. After July 1, they will be at home to their friends at the Bradley ranch.

Oklahoma Lets Highway Contracts

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 24. (UP)—Contracts for five asphaltic road oiling projects were awarded today by the state highway commission after bids opened late yesterday were awarded.

Contracts for eight projects on which bids were submitted have not yet been awarded.

The Nu-Tread corporation, Oklahoma City, given the contracts on oiling two sections of U. S. highway No. 75 in Hughes county on his bid of $691.20 and $977.60. The same company was awarded contract for laying roads in Bryan county on his bid of $1,482.

The Roy Tanner Paving company, Tulsa, was awarded the contract on oiling state highway No. 20 east of Claremore on his bid of $702. P. S. Turner, Durant, was given the contract for oiling roads in Pittsburgh county on his bid of $950.40.

COOPER TRIAL MOVES RAPIDLY

State Rests in Boston Murder Hearing

BOSTON, Texas, June 24. (AP)—Trial of Lester Cooper, 21, charged with the murder of Paul Hunter, 23, moved rapidly today, the state resting after introducing testimony of four witnesses. The defense started its case.

Cooper and Hunter were longtime friends prior to the shooting in an undertaking parlor, where the two men were employed, last April.

Dr. Becker Smith testified Hunter was shot twice through the back. Mrs. Will Holcomb, Cooper's aunt, gave testimony that laid the foundation for an insanity plea.

Cornish Malone, employed with Cooper and Hunter, testified Cooper was drunk the day of the homicide and that Cooper and Hunter began scuffling in the morgue and he separated them. Cooper was then taken to his room by Richard Harding, the witness testified, but that after a few minutes he heard Cooper re-enter the room where Hunter was working and he heard shots, but he did not see the shooting.

Quick Pile Relief

No Salves or Cutting

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, succeeds, because it removes this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts.

HEM-ROID tablets as sold by druggists everywhere, have such a wonderful record for quick and lasting relief, that Allison Drug store always sells them with guarantee of money-back if they do not end all Pile suffering.—Adv.

Wichitans' Tax Appeal Approved by Board

Special to The Record News

WASHINGTON, June 24.—The U. S. Board of tax appeals has sustained the plea made by A. H. Britain and Mrs. A. H. Britain growing out of loss sustained by them in 1921 on the sale of 240 shares of City National bank stock to S. A. L. Morgan, Britain's law partner. At the same time Morgan sold to Britain 117 shares of stock in the First National bank. Both transactions represented substantial losses and were taken so the participants could make deductions on their income tax returns.

The commissioner held they were not bona fide sales and he made deficiency assessments of $4,105 to each of the petitioners. The board, however, after reviewing all the evidence found the sales were bona fide and petitioners were entitled to make a reduction of $25,756 in their community property return.

HAS THE LAXATIVE IN YOUR HOME A DOCTOR'S APPROVAL?

Some things people do to help the bowels whenever any bad breath, feverishness, biliousness, or a lack of appetite warn of constipation, really weaken these organs. Only a doctor knows what will cleanse the system without harm. That is why the laxative in your home should have the approval of a family doctor.

The wonderful product, known to millions as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a family doctor's prescription for sluggish bowels. It never varies from the original prescription which Dr. Caldwell wrote thousands of times in many years of practice, and proved safe and reliable for men, women and children. It is made from herbs and other pure ingredients, so it is pleasant-tasting, and can form no habit. You can buy this popular laxative from all drug stores.—Adv.

CONOCO MARCHES ON TO NEW VICTORIES!

CONOCO'S recent victories with the celebrated new Germ-Processed oil have all been sensational in their theory-blasting results.... And what is even more important, every fact about these victories has been verified and attested to by that great impartial body, the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association.

So, when you read that Germ-Processed oil is the first really stock oil to "place" in the Indianapolis Speedway Race ... when you learn the remarkably good condition of this oil after that motor-punishing grind ... when you are advised that you can buy this same oil at your own near-by CONOCO Station, you know it's true! The AAA Contest Board says so!

You remember, too, how the Pike's Peak Tests disclosed such startling facts about CONOCO'S superiority as to literally upset many preconceived ideas about motor lubrication. Germ-Processed excelled three nationally known oils in the Pike's Peak Test on many vital points, particularly reducing motor wear 76.4% over the average of the three other oils! After the Pike's Peak Tests, the AAA Contest Board issued their official Test Certificate No. 2268 verifying every result which we made public.

CONTEST BOARD AAA CERTIFIED TEST

In both the Pike's Peak Tests and the Indianapolis Speedway Races, observers of the AAA Contest Board checked the absolute honesty of CONOCO'S claims. Every statement regarding either of these events is therefore guaranteed by impartial authority.

CONOCO'S chief competition at Indianapolis was specially blended castor oils unsuited for every-day driving... oils made for racing motors. While the Indianapolis achievement was made with regular "stock" CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, the kind you buy at the sign of the CONOCO Red Triangle.

CONOCO

So CONOCO is marching on to new victories. A march which began November 14, 1929, when the now famous CONOCO challenge was issued coincident with the announcement of the new Germ-Processed oil as "the first really new oil of the century".... This claim was based on the utilization of the CONOCO-owned Germ Process patents, which endow this new oil with that sensational metal-penetrating safety factor, which has since been termed: "Penetrative Lubricity".

Only CONOCO has the Germ Process ... only CONOCO has Penetrative Lubricity ... only CONOCO has proved to you, by certified tests like these, that this is the best oil for you to use. Drive in at the sign of the Red Triangle and ask for:

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.
(Copyright, 1930, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Measure Beliefs Carefully

As we live, we learn. Some of our learning comes in the hard school of experiences, and some from hearing of the experiences of others. We are being constantly surrounded by propaganda from all sources, suggesting to us that certain things are good for us, or bad for us, and it is sometimes a little difficult for one to know just what is good or bad, especially when it comes to the important subject of health and diet.

In learning our buying habits, we are educated by billboards, by newspaper and magazine advertising, by movies, by radios, by lectures, by rumors and by many other methods.

All of the large manufacturing companies are busily trying to teach us to keep on buying certain products which we have already formed the habit of asking for, or are trying to teach us to rush out to buy some new product fresh on the market. Many of these products are undoubtedly good and, fortunately, most of the advertising presented to us is subjected to a scrupulous inspection by reliable business organizations. Nevertheless, one cannot believe everything one hears or sees, and the reasoning should be applied in every instance where products are advertised with an ulterior motive. This does not mean that advertising is harmful. Quite the contrary. It is most helpful for the growth of industry and commerce and, taken all in all, both good and bad, the balance of credit is undoubtedly on the side of good.

A great deal of good mass-education has been done in the realm of food and nutrition, and in teaching American cooks to substitute good foods for unwholesome ones. The American public has been taught to eat more vegetables, more salads and more fruits than ever before. Through advertising, the citrus fruits, particularly the orange and grapefruit, have been taken out of the luxury class and put into the group of necessities, due to this modern teaching along the lines of right living.

Although advertising costs more in the long run it actually cuts down the cost of an article, since one store through using advertising may sell a much larger volume than one without advertising and in this way cut down on the initial cost enough to more than pay for the cost of the advertising.

Americans are willing to learn. Do you think that all America awakened suddenly with ravenous and overwhelming appetites for spinach? Of course not. This was brought about very gradually by a process of learning through various sources.

The slogan, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," has no doubt helped the apple growers to sell their fruit to those who are looking and hoping for better health, so from that suggestion many have found that an apple before bedtime helps promote better elimination.

It is a good plan to keep the eyes and ears open to all new things, but censor your observations with a severe measuring by your reasoning powers.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Muscular Paralysis

Question—J. H. asks: "Will you please state whether or not a case of muscular paralysis can be cured?"

Answer—Many cases of muscular paralysis are curable. The trouble usually comes from a blood clot on the brain which presses upon the nerves going to certain muscles. If this blood clot is absorbed the paralysis disappears. If fasting is started immediately after an attack, the absorption takes place more rapidly than with a long continued case which has been neglected.

More Protein Needed

Question—D. F. R. asks: "Can a business man of 31 years of age, leading an active life consisting of two nights a week in a gymnasium and 36 holes of golf every week-end, exclude meat, fish and eggs from his diet without harmful results, by the substitution of two glasses of milk a day, combined with vegetables and fruits, whole bread and butter, and whole grain cereals?"

Answer—I doubt if you will get enough protein out of the milk and whole grain cereals. It would be better to play safe by using meat, fish or eggs in at least one meal a day.

Uric Acid

Question—Mrs. C. I. F. asks: "Do you have a diet that would be corrective for uric acid? My blood chemistry shows a high percentage of uric acid and the diet given me by my doctor does not seem to be the proper one."

Answer—The presence of uric acid in the blood is a normal condition. However, if the percentage of uric acid in your blood is too high, I would advise you to follow the instructions as outlined in my cleansing diet course which I will be glad to send you if you will write again, giving your full name and address on a large stamped envelope.

Meet the Spudders

Carl Williams and his Spudders, winners of the first half championship of the Texas league race, come back home today.

The reception planned for them is even more elaborate than that which greeted their return from the last lengthy road trip.

When the train bearing the victorious team rolls in down at the depot this afternoon at 2 p. m. a brass band will be there, as well as representatives from the chamber of commerce. The team will be loaded into cars for a parade through the business section. Then down at the ball park, each member of the team will be presented a gift donated by some business house in the city.

Such is the reception planned by the sports and recreations committee of the chamber of commerce. In addition each member of the chamber of commerce has been requested to bedeck his place of business with flags and bunting to give the city a gay attire.

So let's all be down at the station at 2 p. m. today, folks. Let's start this second half right!

Today's Shreik

When my shoulders are charred and burned by the sun,
And fiery with pain, alack
Each friend I have comes strolling in
And raps me on the back.

At no other time is their friendship
for me
So utterly demonstrated
As the morning after the season's first swim
When I am half cremated.

The real news about that Carnera-Godfrey foul festival was the story concerning an irate customer who said some "naughty things" to Chairman Weiner after the fight, and received a hefty blow on the chin for his remarks. After Weiner had knocked his heckler out, the latter was dragged from the stadium by the gendarmes.

So at last a man who will speak his mind has been found!

Our sympathies are all for the heckler. This foul business is getting on everybody's nerves. And the sooner we get hecklers in the audience to protest the manner in which our heavyweight fights are carried on these days the sooner we'll get better fights.

Red Sox and Tigers Divide Double-Header

RACE STARTS ANEW TODAY

Williamsmen to Open Second Half With Sports

Special to The Record News

HOUSTON, Texas, June 24.—The first half of the Texas league season ended here today with the league-leading Wichita Falls Spudders and the second-place Houston Buffs dividing a double-header, the Spudders winning the first easily, 7 to 1, and the Buffs running amuck in the second to win, 13 to 1.

The half way mark found the Spudders leading the Buffs by eight and one half games. The Spudders boarded a train tonight for their home lot, where they open the second half Wednesday with the Shreveport Sports.

Dick Florrid pitched sensational ball to win the first game of the bargain bill today, limiting the Buffs to two hits, both singles. Meanwhile the Spudders pounced on Judd and Rose for a total of 12 hits. In the second things were reversed. The Buffs touched Ash Hillin for 11 hits, while Reinhart held his foes to three. Both Wichita Falls pitchers are rookies. A third rookie was in the Spudder lineup today, Charlie Geygan replacing Jim Levey at shortstop.

Buffs Score Early

The Buffs, in the opening game, got their one run and one of their hits off Florrid in the first. Hock singled to center. Mishkin was safe on Storti's error. Sacrifices by Hunt and Holm scored Hock and advanced Mishikn to third but Kaufmann flew out to Fitzgerald. The Buffs' most productive inning was over, for the other hit they managed was Hunt's infield hit to short in the sixth.

Fitzgerald's triple to right-center and Burns double which scored him gave the Spudders their first tally of the game in the fourth. Thereafter they came often. In the fifth Euller scored on his single to center, Florrid's sacrifice, Geygan's infield out and Storti's single. A single, a double and a triple in succession by Fitzgerald, Kloza and Burns, respectively, accounted for two runs at the start of the sixth. Burns scored on Crouch's infield hit to make it three runs for that period. The remaining tallies came in the eighth when Rose relieved Judd for Houston. Kloza singled to left. Burns doubled and Kloza took third. Bettencourt walked and Crouch hit into a double play, Burns scoring. Euller singled, but Florrid swung at it to close the period.

They Get Revenge

The Buffs took the lead at the start of the second game with two runs scored on Hock's triple, Hillin's balk and Kaufmann's single which scored Hunt, who had walked. They followed it up with three more runs in the third. After two were out, Binder singled to left. Reinhart followed suit, Binder taking third. Hock then tripled to deep right, scoring Binder and Reinhart, and scored himself when Geygan threw wild to third. Mishkin singled but Hunt fanned.

The Spudders did their only scoring in the third when Bradbury doubled to right and was driven in by Hillin's single to center after Euller had popped out to second. Levey forced Hillin at second and Storti flew out to right to close the first half of the inning.

The fourth went scoreless but the fifth was a riot for the Buffs, who scored eight runs. Mishkin opened it with a triple. Hunt walked. Holm was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Kaufmann singled to left, scoring Mishkin and Hunt and advancing Holm to second. Funk beat out an infield bunt, filling the bases again. Lucas flew out to right. Binder singled to left, scoring Holm and Kaufmann. Funk took second. Reinhart strolled Hock was hit by a pitched ball, Funk scoring. Mishkin came up for the second time in the inning, and on a passed ball Binder scored, Reinhart took third, and Hock second. Mishkin fanned. Hunt singled to right, scoring Reinhart and Hock. Hunt was thrown out stealing, Hillin to Storti.

Milwaukee Defies Landis in Refusing To Return Former Spudder to Browns

CHICAGO, June 24. (UP)—Defied by a baseball club for the first time since he has been commissioner of the national game, Judge Kenesaw M. Landis prepared tonight to battle for his right to enforce the rules governing America's favorite sport.

The judge was forced to sit by while the Milwaukee club of the American association filed a plea for an injunction which would restrain him from enforcing a rule which has been abided by for years.

The rule specifies no player can be "farmed out" by big league teams for more than two years without becoming the property of the minor league club to which he goes.

The cause of today's trouble was Fred Bennett, player with the Milwaukee club. Bennett has been the property of the St. Louis Browns and for two years he has seen service with Tulsa, Wichita Falls and Milwaukee, while still remaining the property of the Browns.

The Browns want to keep him in Milwaukee again this year but Landis has decreed the two-year rule applies and that under the rules Bennett must not remain "farmed property" of the St. Louis team.

Landis ordered that Bennett either be taken back by the Browns, be released outright or else the Browns waive their option on him to some other club.

Milwaukee refused to allow Bennett to go back to the Browns and the plea for an injunction followed.

Loving Beats Woodson In Stellar Tilt, 1 to 0

Special to The Record News.

JEAN, Texas, June 24.—In the best baseball game played in Young county in five years, the Loving Independent nine defeated the Woodson team, 1 to 0, to take undisputed lead in the Young-Throckmorton county baseball league. The game went the first eight and one-half innings without a score being made, but Simmons and Staples, the first two men up in the last of the ninth, each got a hit and Simmons made the only run of the game.

Loving was limited to three hits and Woodson to two, with each pitcher getting several strikeouts. Each hurler came out of the hole without trouble until the last of the ninth.

The game was played in fast time, only an hour and 35 minutes being needed to run of the snappiest and best ball game many men claimed to have seen during their life time.

VICTORY SENDS P. B. M. TO TOP

Clothiers Down Furniture Dealers, 3 to 2

Homer Sanderford bested Big Boy Ridling in an airtight pitchers battle Tuesday afternoon in the Merchants League on Harrison field, and the P. B. M. baseball nine downed the Furniture Dealers by the score of 3 to 2. This game sent the Clothiers back into the league leadership by a half game margin over the Texas Electric Service company. Ridling gave up only three hits while whiffing 11 men, but he was a trifle wild, passing five men and hitting one. The three bingles were bunched in the third inning to supply the winning margin.

L. D. Lyle led the batting attack with a single and triple in three times up and was the only man to break into the hit column twice. Lyle also turned in several nice plays in the field. In the last inning with Lyle on first, Gene Costley went back into short right to take Jelly Cope's short drive with a leaping one handed catch and doubled Lyle off first to kill the last inning rally for the Furnituremen. Godfrey Fined $5,000 for Fouling Carnera; Both Deprived of License

PHILADELPHIA, June 24. (US)—Primo Carnera and George Godfrey both took it on the chin today at the hands of the Pennsylvania boxing commission.

The Black Leopard of Leiperville was fined half his purse, $5,000, and had his license revoked.

Carnera and all the members of his entourage also lost their licenses but the giant Italian, who was fouled by Godfrey in their "fight" last night, received his full purse, $43,641.

After the fight, it is alleged that Francis Connelly, state boxing commissioner, was severely beaten during an argument in Carnera's dressing room. As the result of this incident, Carnera, his managers and the fighters associated with him can do no more business in Pennsylvania.

Godfrey was punished because his fouling of the Gondolier was officially described as "deliberate."

Although the Ambling Alp did much better than many of the experts expected, it is generally agreed that Godfrey had a little the better of the milling—as far as it went.

And it probably went far enough, despite the boos of the 26,319 customers who paid $180,175 to see what turned out to be pretty much of a hit and run bout.

Although Carnera was officially the winner, all talk that Primo was ready for the "big time" has been pretty well dissipated.

His numerous burlesques against set-ups in the West have won him suspensions in various states. Despite his huge size, it does not appear probable that he could cope with a first class second-rater. Dempsey has proven that a good little man can beat a good big man —and Carnera is not so good.

So Sharkey and Schmeling continue to hold the center of what is left of the heavyweight spotlight.

SINGER SEEKS TO AVOID FOUL ENDING

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—The perplexing foul problem bobbed up again at the New York State Athletic commission today when Al Singer, who boxes Sammy Mandell for the lightweight championship at the Polo grounds here July 17, asked that steps be taken to guard against an unsatisfactory ending.

Singer offered to insert a clause in his contract with Mandell specifying that neither would accept victory through a low blow. The Bronx lightweight asked that the only punishment meted out for a low blow be loss of the round in which the punch was landed. The commission took the suggestion under advisement.

Eddie Farrell Sold To Cubs by Cardinals

ST. LOUIS, June 24. (AP)—Secretary Clarence Lloyd of the Cardinals this afternoon announced the sale of Eddie Farrell, infielder, to the Chicago Cubs at the waiver price. Farrell came to St. Louis from the Giants with Outfielder George Fisher in the deal that sent Walter Roettger to McGraw's team this spring.

Seven Men Enter Third Round

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 24. (AP) —Continuing its parade through the English tennis championship field, the United States today landed seven of its ranking men stars in the third round and advanced three of its women representatives to the second in the play at Wimbledon.

Without losing a set, Bill Tilden, George Lott, Johnny Doeg, Berkeley Bell, Johnny Van Ryn, Wilmer Allison and Gregory Mangin easily brushed aside all opposition. The women invaders from across the Atlantic were not so fortunate. Mrs. Helen Wills Moody came through as expected along with the youthful Sarah Palfrey of Boston, Mary Greef of Kansas City and Elizabeth Ryan, but Miss Edith Cross of San Francisco fell before the drives of Mlle. Josanne Sigart, Belgium's No. 1 ranking player, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

The only American man defeated was E. O. Mather, Texas student at Oxford, who gave Tilden nothing more than a brief practice session, Big Bill winning 6-2, 6-2, 6-1.

Wilmer Allison and George Lott had the hardest battles of America's Davis cup players before they eliminated opponents. Allison disposed of S. W. Harris, 6-3, 8-6, 6-4, while Lott took the measure of the veteran Charles H. Kingsley, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

Joseph R. Powell, 84, has lived on the same farm and in the same house in Walker county, Texas, for 75 years.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Cotton was nervous and irregular today. July was generally lower under further pre-notice day liquidation, while new crop months met increased offerings on moderate bulges owing to weakness in grain and the unsettled showing of the stock market.

July sold off to 13.08 or 32 points net lower and closed at 13.13, while new October, after advancing from 12.76 to 12.90, eased off to 12.67 and closed at 12.70. The general market closed barely steady at a net decline of 9 to 27 points.

The opening was barely steady at an advance of 4 points to a decline of 3 points with some months lower under overnight selling orders and a renewal of near month liquidation, while others were influenced by covering and relatively steady Liverpool cables.

Tomorrow will be the first July notice day, and tonight July closed at a premium of only 43 points over the new October contract compared with 55 points at the close on Monday. Weather reports showed maximum temperatures ranging from 100 to 104 degrees at 89 stations in the belt extending from the western belt as far east as Georgia.

Liverpool cables said that continental and Bombay selling had been absorbed by covering and trade calling. Port receipts 8,861. U. S. port stocks 1,692,574. Exports 19,470, making 6,621,924 so far this season.

Futures closed barely steady, 9 to 27 points lower; spot quiet; middling 13.25.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 24. (AP)—Cotton was only moderately active today, and there was a lack of definite trend to prices which were more or less influenced by evening up in advance of first July notice day tomorrow.

July traded down to a level 22 points below the previous close on last minute liquidation, practically cancelling the premium hitherto existing over October.

New crop months after declining 9 to 10 points on rains in Oklahoma which were expected to end the heat wave rallied 12 to 16 points on covering but lost most of this gain later.

The market turned rather weak in late trading owing to a break in wheat and easier stocks and prices made new lows 37 points down on July and 17 to 21 points down on new crop months. The close was 3 to 5 points up from the lows, the general market closing steady at net declines of 10 to 32 points.

Liverpool came in 5 to 6 points better than due but first trades here were 3 points down to 1 up. The market soon eased off, July dropping to 12.85, down 21 points while October eased to 12.79 and December to 12.93, down 9 to 10 points.

The close was 3 to 5 points up from the lowest.

Port receipts 8,836, for week 20,146, for season 8,579,378, last season 9,428,845. Exports 19,490, for week 34,296, for season 6,451,488, last season 7,654,075. Port stocks 1,700,284, last year 851,325. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 49,225, last year 53,691. Spot sales at southern markets 1,408, last year 2,670.

Futures closed steady at net decline of 10 to 32 points.

Stock Prices Break Through to New Lows Under Selling Pressure

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 24. (US)—Whatever support the stock market enjoyed Monday fadded today as prices slumped to new lows for the year under a moderate yet steady volume of offerings. Some resistance to pressure was displayed during the morning although quotations generally were below the previous close. Further outbreak of weakness in the commodity markets, wheat and cotton declining to new low levels, induced resumption of professional activities in stocks which found only desultory support in leading issues. Railroad stocks proved particularly vulnerable, the average for the most prominent rail shares declining to below the panic bottom. Declines of five points or more among the highest-grade Rails were common. No group was spared in the selling, which closed Steel Common at its former low for 1930 at 152½, off 4 points on the day. American Can off 5¾, Consolidated Gas down 6⅞, New York Central 6⅞, Warner Bros. Pictures 4¾, and specialties down even more sharply. Public Utility averages dipped into new low territory for 1930, breaking through their former low established earlier in the year. Industrial average is now down about a point below the previous low reached last week. Volume for the day was 2,859,300 shares.

Professionals switched their hammering into the Railroad list when the markt during the morning showed some signs of resisting the selling. They met instant success in the Rails, forcing most of the prominent leaders to new lows. The continued weakness of the Railroad group has been one of the most disconcerting factors, the Rails having failed to participate actively in the initial rally earlier in the year and having been first to turn downward. Their continued decline, coupled with the unfavorable monthly reports still being issued, naturally induced speculation as to possible dividend reductions. This may be warranted insofar as the weaker roads are concerned, but dividend reductions by the leading systems are hardly likely. Some investment buying developed in the leading rail stocks as New York Central, Union Pacific and others of similar caliber dipped to levels where the yield is close to 5 per cent or more. Atchison broke through 200 to a new low. Its yield is now about 5 per cent. New York Central dropped below the panic bottom, to 152⅛.

The speculative community watching the market itself for a cue, was disinclined to oppose the trend, particularly since all three groups, Industrials, Rails and Utilities, established new lows on the same day. The only worthwhile buying came from some investment trusts and insurance companies who are more interested in the yields now obtainable than in quick profits. The market differs from last year in that bids are present in almost all stocks, usually below the market, but when the selling comes in volume the bids close to the market are quickly filled. Call money dropped again to two per cent after renewing at 2½ per cent and bankers' acceptance rates were lowered to 2 to 1⅞ per cent on 90-day paper, the lowest since 1924.

Wheat dropped to the lowest level since 1914. July wheat closing at 88⅛, off 3⅞ cents a bushel on the day. Although it is generally recognized that wheat is reflecting the unfavorable situation of its own market, it is a question whether or not it is also suffering from the weakness in the stock market. It may very well be that one affects the other in the vicious circle which often disrupts economic markets. However, such men as Arthur Cutten are known to have believed that 85-cent wheat was warranted, but this sentiment was expressed when wheat was still well above a dollar. Without governmental interference this price would have been obtained much sooner, but now that it is near a turn in the wheat market would not be surprising. At least a bottom will be established, in the view of competent authorities.

Bonds failed to reflect the further easing off money rates, many of the lower grade issues suffering sharp declines. Foreign exchanges generally were firm.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, June 24. (AP)—Weight of new crop grain was heavy on the markets Tuesday and wheat sagged to the lowest levels since the opening of the world war. With 301 cars estimated received on Fort Worth yards, cash wheat broke to levels around 90c. Other grains were affected to less extent. Exporters were reported bidding 89½c to 90c, basis ordinary export wheat delivered Texas gulf ports and mills were bidding 90@91c, basis ordinary No. 1 hard wheat delivered Texas common points.

Estimated receipts of coarse grains: Corn, 7 cars; oats, 6 and sorghums 3.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid: Corn—No. 2 mixed 91½@92½c; No. 2 white 96@97c; No. 2 yellow 96½@97c.

Oats—No. 2 red 42½@43½c.

Oats—No. 2 red 42½@43½c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $1.93@1.95; No. 2 kaffir $1.65@1.70.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivered Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 89@90c; No. 2 white or yellow corn 93½@94½c. No. 3 white oats 47½@48c, to which add one cent for delivery group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 24. (AP)—Reported northward spread of the 1930 wheat harvest into Nebraska gave a fresh jolt to the wheat market today, knocking prices down 4c a bushel. Predictions were current that a big movement of Nebraska wheat would soon develop. Closing quotations were at the day's lowest level and were also under any records since 1914.

Wheat finished unsteady 3¾@4c a bushel below yesterday's close. Corn showed 1@1½c net decline with oats ¾@1½c down, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Fading away of active buying power were characterized the wheat market today, rather than any unusual pressure to sell. Undermining confidence of would-be purchasers were indications that the marketing of newly harvested wheat in the southwest is not being restrained. Meanwhile, the wheat market here was being bearishly affected also by an indifferent response which the trade at Liverpool made to yesterday's price advances on this side of the Atlantic.

Corn, oats and rye went lower chiefly as a result of sympathy with wheat weakness. Rye as well as wheat dropped to new bottom prices.

Provisions advanced notwithstanding downturns both in the value of hogs and of grain as well.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July 84¼c, 90⅛c; Sept. 88@88c; 93⅞@94c; Dec. 93, 99⅛c. Corn—July 72, 76¼c; Sept. 71¼, 74½@74⅝c; Dec. 66⅛c, 69⅝@69⅞c.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, June 24. (AP)—(USDA)—Curtailed supplies of cattle stimulated trade and values on most fed steers and yearlings were steady to strong with a few choice grades as much as 25c higher. Buying interests were still on the offensive and refused to expand purchases at any advance. Best fed steers brought $12.01 at Chicago while most of the fed offerings ranged from $10.50 down. She stock moved a little more readily and about steady. Total arrivals at the 11 markets were estimated at 25,650, a decrease of 17,000 against last Tuesday and 13,000 less than the same day a year ago.

New low levels for the year were established at some of the river markets when hog values declined 15@35c as compared with Monday's low close. Trading was fairly active. The extreme top rested at $9.15 at Chicago. Receipts totaled 96,800, as compared with 107,538 a week ago and 101,544 a year ago.

Trade in fat lambs was uneven, strictly choice grades holding at steady levels while the less desirable kinds ruled weak to 25c lower. Mostly sorted Idaho range lambs scored $12.45 at Chicago while numerous loads of the same origin sold at $11.75 and $11.85 at Omaha and St. Joseph. Aged sheep held at mostly steady prices with fat ewes selling from $2.50 to 3.50. Offerings totaled 36,000, against 45,702 last Tuesday and 35,069 a year ago.

Hogs—Receipts 3,500, mostly 10 to 15c lower, top $8.80 on 190 to 225 pounds, packing sows $7@7.75, stock pigs $7.75@8.65.

Cattle—Receipts 4,500. Calves—Receipts 700; fed steers and light butcher stock steady, slaughter classes steers, good and choice 950 to 1,500 pounds, $9@12.00; common and medium, 850 pounds up, $7.25@9.50; fed yearlings, good and choice, 7.0 to 950 pounds, $9.50@11.75; heifers, good and choice 850 pounds down $8.25@10.75; cows, good and choice $6.25@8.25; vealers (milk-fed) medium to choice $6@9.50; stocker and feeder steers, good and choice (all weights) $8.75@11.00.

Sheep—Receipts 7,000; lambs steady to weak; sheep about steady; lambs, good and choice $9@10.50; ewes, medium to choice choice (92 pounds down) $10.50@11.75; medium (150 pounds down) 2@3.50.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, June 24. (AP)—Steady prices prevailed in cattle yards at Fort Worth today even though trading was a little slow. Calves were strong to 50c higher with the load lots showing the most advance. Truck hogs were about 25c lower with rail hogs 25@50c lower. Sheep were about steady.

Yard's figures called for 1,700 cattle, 600 calves, 400 hogs and 300 sheep.

The top load of steers sold at $9.75. This was a load of good quality smooth, well finished weighty beeves.

Package of slaughter yearlings sold at $11.00 with load lots at $10.00 and down. Common kind around $5.00.

Trading in cows was a little slow and buyers placed lower bids, but bulk of the sales about steady. Fairly good fat cows around $6.00.

Rail hogs sold lower with a top of $8.80, or 25 to 30c off. Truck hogs only lost about a dime with a top of $9.00.

Hogs—Receipts, 600; rail hogs, 25@35c lower; truck hogs steady to 10c lower; rail top, $8.80; truck top, $9.00; better grades 170 to 240 pound truck hogs, $8.75@9.00; packing sows, steady, $7.75.

Cattle—Receipts, 2,200, including 700 calves; slaughter steers about steady at yesterday's decline; one load very good strong weight fed steers, $9.35; trade in other classes cattle generally unchanged; butcher cows in $5.00 range; package lots choice fat yearlings, $11.00; butcher heifers around $8.50 down; fat calves, $10.00.

Sheep—Receipts, 500; market steady; good fat lambs, $8.00@8.50; deck breeding ewes, $3.25.

Hogs—Receipts 1,000; 10 to 15c lower; bulk $8.25@8.75; packing sows and stags 25c lower at $7.25.

MILK RECEIPTS RESUME CLIMB

Poultry and Egg Deliveries Continue Light

Recovery of various roads and highways in the Wichita Falls area from the effect of floods of 10 days ago has brought deliveries of whole milk back to the volume attained early in June, according to statements of local buyers Tuesday.

Wichita, Clay, Montague, Archer, Young, and Wilbarger counties in Texas, besides several counties across Red river, are contributing to a total of about 60,000 pounds received daily by the Southwest Dairy Products company. About 30,000 pounds daily is being brought to the Lehrack-Ferguson Dairy Products company and the Chapman Dairy, it was said.

Deliveries of chickens and eggs have fallen off noticeably during the current month, acording to local dealers, with the exception of fryers, which have remained steady.

Wichita Falls Store to Adopt 5 1-2 Day Week During Summer

Bookie Shoots

Herman Kohn, St. Louis bookmaker, "shot it out" with three men he suspected of being kidnapers, and killed Oliver Honig (below).

Employes of the local Sears, Roebuck and company, retail store, 809 Eleventh street, will go on a five-and-a-half-day week schedule beginning Tuesday, according to an announcement made Tuesday by H. J. Mitchell, manager of the store.

The extra half-day will be given unconditionally to all retail employes, Mr. Mitchell said. The extra time will be given without any corresponding reduction in salaries.

The local store, as a consequence, will be closed on Thursday afternoons.

The five-day-and-a-half schedule will continue through July and August. During this time, five-day week schedules will be in operation in the company's 10 mail order plants. Retail employes of Sears, Roebuck and company all over the country as well as in Wichita Falls, will work only five and a half days a week through July and August. Altogether, approximately 39,000 employes in 10 mail order plants and 32 retail stores will benefit by the shorter hours plan.

The five-and-a-half day retail week, Mitchell said, is frankly an experiment which the company hopes will work out toward permanently shorter working hours, eventually. The 13-period calendar plan, adopted by the company and placed in operation on Jan. 8 of this year, helped make possible both the five-and-a-half retail week and the five-day mail order week. The mid-season inventory of the company was taken on June 18, at the end of the sixth period, and most of the work incidental to sales employes for the spring season has been completed. Under the 12-month calender, inventory work would not start until June 27 and would not have been completed until well into July.

"Sears, Roebuck and company is heartily in favor of shorter working hours," said Manager Mitchell, "and hopes to make what is desirable theoretically feasible from a practical standpoint.

"Officials of the company believe that despite cycles of temporary depression, this country is basically prosperous and that the trend in the future throughout the business and industrial world will be in the direction of more leisure."

The days for closing the company's retail stores throughout the country were selected by the district managers and the local managers. Local managers were asked to meet local conditions in communities where there is a closing day generally recognized by merchants. Otherwise selection of a closing day was left to their own judgment.

Many southern cities have revised their building codes to cope with the termite, an ant which devours wood beams.

DEATHS

MRS. EMILY JANE RICHEY

Funeral services for Mrs. Emily Jane Richey, 83, formerly of Wichita Falls, who died at the home of her daughter in Fort Worth Monday, were held from the chapel of the Merkle Undertaking company at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with Rev. J. D. Barron, assistant pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Interment was in Riverside.

Mrs. Richey has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Mable Varley, in Fort Worth since the death of her husband, G. D. Richey, in 1927. She is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. M. C. Baker of Prosper, Texas, and Mrs. J. H. Dunbar of Sayre, Okla.; two sons, C. L. Richey of Denton and Leslie Richey of Fort Worth and two grandchildren.

At the age of 84 J. F. Ledbetter is seeking the post of sheriff of Muskogee county, Okla.

NORTH OF ORTH

The same parties brought in their No. 3 R. D. Campbell well located in section 164, T. E. & L. survey, making 90 barrels from the sand at 880-970 feet.

SOUTH OF SPANISH FORT

The Bridwell Oil company No. 1 H. F. Wilton, located in the Scott survey, four miles south of Spanish Fort in northeast Montague county, is completed as a dry hole at a depth of 2155 feet.

THROCKMORTON TEST

The Swenson Oil and Gas company No. 1 Swenson, a deep test located in section 173, B. B. B. & C. R. R. survey, in Throckmorton county, is drilling at a depth of 3990 feet with a hole full of water.

ORTH AREA

McDonald and associates No. 7 J. D. Campbell located in section 164, T. E. & L. survey, just north of Orth in north Young county, is completed and on the pump as a 50 barrel producer. The sand was picked up at the usual 880 foot depth.

HOLLIDAY AREA

J. H. Cotton and others are erecting derrick on their No. 1 W. H. Chilson test located 1969 feet south, and 1280 feet west of the northeast corner of section 3, block 4, Denton county school lands in south Wichita county.

Boulder Dam Debate Limited by Cloture

WASHINGTON, June 24. (US)—All danger of the Boulder dam appropriation being killed for the session by a filibuster passed today when senators agreed to clap on cloture if any dilatory tactics were employed by opponents of the fund.

The Boulder dam appropriation of $10,665,000 for the starting of work on the great project on July 1 is carried in the deficiency appropriation bill, now pending in the senate.

ALLRED RALLY HERE TONIGHT

Home Town Friends Pledge Candidate Support

Plans for a public rally in support of the candidacy of James V. Allred for attorney-general of Texas to be held at the Kemp hotel Wednesday night at 8 o'clock were completed Tuesday by officials of the "Allred" club here, according to information give The Record News.

The meeting planned for Wednesday night will be in the nature of a surprise for Mr. Allred, who will return from El Paso by Safeway plane Wednesday afternoon, it was said. Members of the club, which was organized several days ago with A. H. Carrigan as president and Walter Nelson Jr., as secretary, have made arrangements for the rally since learning that Mr. Allred planned a radio talk here at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night. The address will be given by remote control from the ballroom of the Kemp hotel through station KGKO as part of the rally program which has been completed, it was announced.

Aside from Judge Carrigan and Mr. Nelson, speakers announced for the meeting include Harry Hines, Bert King, and others. A general invitation to the public was extended by those in charge. Beginning at 7:30 p. m., a band concert will be given in front of the Kemp under the direction of Leo M. Underwood, it was said.

Following his address here, Mr. Allred will leave for Kaufman for a speech there Thursday afternoon, and will speak in Terrell Thursday night. His campaign in East Texas will extend through the first week of July, it was stated.

A banner announcing Mr. Allred's candidacy for attorney-general, and pledging support of "his home town" in this campaign, has been strung above Eighth street between Indiana and Scott avenues.

MAJESTIC: Young Man of Manhattan," with Claudette Colbert as "Ann," Norman Foster as "Toby," Ginger Rogers as "Puff" and Charles Rogers as "Shorty." America's best selling book on the screen. Paramount Talking news. Hilarious comedy, "Dancing Gob," with Buster and John West.

STRAND: Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in their singing play, supported by splendid cast. Educational comedy, "Fat Wives for Thin." Paramount News and Paramount song feature, "Sunset Hunters."

STATE: "Free and Easy." All of it, with Buster Keaton keeping the house in an uproar either talking or silent. Felix the Cat in "Forty Winks" and Pathe Sound news.

GEM: "The Light of Western Stars," with Richard Arlen, Mary Brian and Harry Green. All talking comedy, "He Did His Best."

Yes, it's the same Buster Keaton at the State and he talks. Speaking for the public who heard him, no one ever talked or acted with more complete comedy.

The writer is sorry that the proper sense of humor seems lacking in her cranium. What made her laugh most was the contagion of other people's laughter. They really enjoyed it.

Buster's voice is a pleasant surprise. We thought him dumb. And in the play there are a number of famous people to be seen. Adolphe Menjou and William Haines, for instance.

Then there are the dogs in a feature and they delight one's heart. Their racing is just about as good as horses and greyhounds are, certainly the aristocrats of the canine family.

Their racing was no more interesting than their grooming and with pictures, the fact is established that the dogs do not like manicuring.

A series of shots of society horse-racing near Birmingham, Ala., with the wind waving the broad, graceful limbs of the trees is worth the price of admission several time to tree lovers. And there's a youngster who dashes out at the close of the races, screaming "I won the cup!" who gets close to the hearts of the audience.

We never care for cats on our back fence but with the majority of the members in each audience, we do like Felix the cat. The harmonizing of the cat chorus was melodious.

And, in all justice, we must reiterate, Buster Keaton talking and stumbling through life, has as admiring an audience as we know. (We do not scratch).

How cold is it at the south pole? We are just wondering how cold it will be when America's hero, Byrd, appears at the Majestic July 2 and this "greatest man of Virginia" and Floyd Gibbons, the "radio head line hunter," tell the tale of the south pole trip while the pictures flash before our eyes.

That's one scoop the Majestic is arranging for heat wearied Wichita.

BOARD HEARS TAX PROTESTS

Equalization Experts Open Sessions Here

Approximately 60 protests to assessed renditions were heard by the city and school equalization tax board Tuesday which opened the seven day session of the board, according to W. Ralph Hyer, tax collector. Persons whose names begin with A to G inclusive were heard Tuesday and will continue to be heard Wednesday, it was announced and those whose names begin with H to K are asked to appear on Thursday, L to M on Friday, N to Q on Saturday, R to S on Monday and T to Z on Tuesday, Mr. Hyer said.

All ground values were reduced 15 per cent below 1929 at the regular meeting of the board held recently and no raise has been made on the improvement tax, Mr. Hyer said.

Members of the board include Roscoe Staton, J. T. Young and J. M. Baber.

30,749 Attend Park Programs in Month

Approximately 30,749 persons attended the various forms of entertainment offered by the park department during the month beginning May 15 and ending June 15, according to information given out by C. C. Bunnenberg, park superintendent.

At least 15,770 were in attendance at the three moving picture shows, 4,100 attended the two free vaudevilles given on the Memorial auditorium grounds, 5,933 attended the supervised classes in handicraft being offered in Scotland, Miles O'Reilly and Sixth Street parks, 2,850 attended the wading pools in Scotland and O'Reilly parks and 2,036 attended the three horse-shoe leagues.

OPTIMIST PROGRAM

Junior C.-C. Members and Families Plan Swimming Pool Party Friday

Plans for an outing to be held Friday night of this week for members of the Junior chamber of commerce and their families at Westmoreland park are designed to offset the heat wave under which the city is now sweltering, according to T. J. Waggoner Jr., chairman of the social meetings committee.

From 7 to 8 o'clock all hands will be expected to participate in a water carnival to be staged under the direction of Leonard Rice, life guard at Westmoreland pool. Activities for the hour will include water polo, swimming races, diving contests and water baseball, it was announced.

Preceding the aquatic festival, an hour of baseball, horseshoe pitching, and other games will prepare the picnickers for their swim. Following the water carnival, those present will partake of box suppers while music carried by loud speakers to all parts of the lawn will be supplied by phonograph. Other games will be played during the remainder of the evening.

Henry Penix, H. W. Tatum, Dr. L. B. Holland, I. H. McCarty, Dr. P. K. Smith, and P. L. Pearson are associated with Mr. Waggoner on the social meetings committee. They have been assisted in planning Friday night's party by Otto Lazenby, manager of the Westmoreland pool; R. W. H. McCulloch, E. F. Bohmfalk, and Tom McCarty, city recreation supervisor.

Court Rules Against Ice Plant Control

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 24. (AP)—Control of ice plants by the state corporation commission was held unconstitutional today by Judge John C. Pollock of Kansas City, Kan., in United States district court here.

VAUDEVILLE NUMBERS

Additional numbers on the free vaudeville program to be given on the Memorial auditorium grounds Thursday evening at 8 o'clock as announced by C. C. Bunnenburg, park superintendent, include musical numbers by Homer Donahoo's orchestra and several specialty dance numbers by Miss Mary Mendenhall and a baritone solo by Wayne McReynolds.

Rites Today for Tim J. F. Clifton

Funeral services for Tim J. F. Clifton, 33, former resident of Wichita Falls who died in the U. S. Veterans hospital at Legion, Texas, Monday morning following an illness contracted while he was in training at Greenville during the World war, will be held from the chapel of the Hines mortuary Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock with Rev. C. A. Spragins, presiding elder of the Wichita Falls district of the Methodist church, officiating. Interment will be in Rosemont.

While a resident of Wichita Falls, Mr. Clifton was employed at the McFall Brothers Motor company and in 1927 was forced to give up his work and enter the veteran's hospital for treatment where he remained until the time of his death. He is survived by his parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Clifton of Dallas; four brothers, two sisters and his widow, Mrs. Pauline Clifton.

Industrial Production Declines Two Per Cent

WASHINGTON, June 24. (US)—Although industrial production declined 2 per cent in May, it was still 4 per cent above the 1923-25 average, according to the monthly review of the federal reserve board today. Factory employment "decreased more than is usual at this season," and the downward movement of prices continued, the board found.

House Follows Senate In Waterways Vote

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—Congressional action on the $139,131,892 rivers and harbors omnibus bill was completed today when the house accepted the conference report on the measure a short time after the senate approved it.

THE MEN behind this Bank

It is the men who direct the destinies of an institution, who are responsible for the forming of its policies.

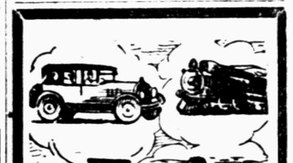

A bank's policies—its way of doing business—is all-important, not alone for the protection of the clients whose money it handles, but also for its own successful growth.

When making a banking connection, foremost consideration should be given to who are the men behind the Bank.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money . . . and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

"Something should be done about this"

The Rumseys are going vacationing.

The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice.

But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house!

Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle residence telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return.

That's because:

1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed!)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days, but not over four months. They apply only to residence telephones.

To obtain them, mail the coupon below or telephone the business office.
