Nip Remnants Mopped Up On Mapia Islands

Tropical Storm Slows Action By Ground Forces

(By The Associated Press)

Torrential rains slowed up American infantrymen closing in on bitterly resisting Japanese in the Philippines today while 900 miles to the southeast other Yanks encountered little trouble cleaning up enemy remnants on the newly invaded Mapia islands.

The tropical storm eliminated most of the aerial activity over the Philippines but bomb-carrying fighters destroyed 30 barges at Ormoc, Japanese supply port on Leyte island, and raised havoc with a motor pool in Ormoc valley around which land fighting rages.

The toll of Japanese shipping taken in Manila bay by carrier plane raiders Monday (Philippines' time) was revised upwards to one cruiser, four destroyers, and 11 freighters and tankers definitely sunk. Four torpedoes also hit a floating drydock. Adm. Chester W. Nimitz has yet made no mention of a repeat raid by carrier planes on the Manila area Tuesday, during which Tokyo radio said U. S. carrier planes flew 400 sorties.

Japs Prepare For Raids

Amid reports of further U. S. naval and aerial probing of the southern approaches to Japan and the home islands themselves, Tokyo radio announced the creation with air raid disasters in view of the inevitability of large-scale enemy air assaults."

Japanese broadcasters said several U. S. warships engaged a Nipponese patrol ship in an eight hour battle Wednesday off the Bonin islands, some 600 miles south of Tokyo. A Superfortress was reported to have made a reconnoitering flight over Kyushu, frequent target of China-based B29s.

Like previous similar reports, these Tokyo announcements were without American confirmation, although Admiral Nimitz did report new air strikes at the Bonin and Volcano islands in which one, or possibly two, enemy ships were bombed.

Two Jap Ships Sunk

Two other small Japanese ships were sunk and two damaged in Philippine waters and off Borneo. Tokyo claimed that eight U. S. aircraft were shot down out of 40

Braniff Route To Be Backed

Directors of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development voted in a called meeting this morning to support Braniff Airways in their application for airline service from Oklahoma City to Lubbock via Wichita Falls in a hearing soon before the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington.

A. B. Davis, manager, was instructed by motion of the directors to support the Braniff application with a brief as to the needs of airline service to Lubbock from Oklahoma City.

American Airlines was granted an Oklahoma City-El Paso nonstop route by CAB this week. Chamber of commerce officials are hopeful that Lubbock eventually will become a stop on the American route just approved.

Two Routes Approved

Davis, at the outset of the meeting, reviewed the history of airline applications through Lubbock and outlined briefly and status of the various applications. Two of the routes through Lubbock have been approved, one by Braniff from Dallas and Fort Worth via Lubbock to Amarillo and Denver, and another by Essair from Amarillo to Houston via Lubbock and intermediate points.

H. N. Sweeney, traffic manager, and R. B. Claggett, personal representative of Major W. F. Long of Dallas, president of Essair, are in Lubbock today conferring with chamber officials regarding details of opening service through here.

Service on the two routes has not been started due to certain

Military Crisis Faces Reich

Snowfall Goes Into Second Day In Area

Snow, most of which melted as it fell, continued intermittently early this afternoon for the second day.

Skies were slate, visibility narrowed.

Freakish qualities were reported: Tomatoes in gardens "probably" are undamaged—after at least four frosts and two days of snowing. "There has been no killing freeze," agricultural authorities explained.

It was recalled that killing weather in at least one other year had waited until so late as Nov. 22 in this section, but it is more usual to expect blasted vegetation in the first few days of November.

Weather Benefits Wheat

The only type of agricultural worker benefiting from moisture at this time of the year is the wheat grower, who drilled seed into his land in October or, if he planned to "graze" his crop, in September.

Several groups of hunters who had been in the "deer mountains" of New Mexico were observed on highways of this section, officers said.

"Forest rangers 'chased' us out yesterday, telling us we'd better get when getting was good, before we got 'snowed-in'," officers and gasoline station attendants were told.

There had been no reported damage to automobile radiators of this section. "It just hasn't got cold enough yet," garagemen said.

Moisture Totals .95

Precipitation at 8 o'clock this morning had reached .95 inch from rain, snow and sleet, according to the rain gauge at Texas experiment substation three miles east of town. Rainfall began Thursday night. The gauge at Texas Technological college registered .88 inch at 8 o'clock.

After hovering around 34 degrees for several hours, the mercury dropped to 32 degrees at 9 o'clock this morning, according to the mainline station of West Texas Gas company, then jumped back to 34 at 10 o'clock. The 11 o'clock reading was still 34.

Residents of the South Plains can look forward to continued cold weather this afternoon and tonight. The weatherman predicts that temperatures will rise Saturday, however. Occasional rain is forecast for this afternoon and tonight.

FDR's Visit With Leaders Has Priority

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—President Roosevelt made clear today that his projected meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin would take priority over his hope of visiting Paris

He indicated also that his Churchill-Stalin meeting might be at some point far removed from the French capital.

Mr. Roosevelt told his news conference he hoped some day to accept an invitation from General Charles de Gaulle to visit Paris. But at the present time, he said, it is more important to see the prime minister and there is a question of geography which comes in, too.

He gave listeners the impression that in the term prime minister embraced also Premier Stalin, for a preceding question concerned his progress toward a meeting with both Churchill and Stalin.

In reply, Mr. Roosevelt had said he had made no progress yet, although all three of the Allied leaders want to see each other.

'Cotton Ed' Smith, 80 Dean Of Senate, Dies

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Democratic Senator Ellison Durant (Cotton Ed) Smith, of South Carolina, dean of the Senate and uncompromising anti-New Dealer, died today in Lynchburg, S. C.

The 80-year-old veteran passed away from coronary thrombosis at his plantation home, Tanglewood.

A chunky, colorful figure with gray mustache, Smith by last August had served longer in the Senate than any other member in history — 35 years.

Defeated By Johnston

He was defeated for renomination to a seventh term last summer by Gov. Olin D. Johnston, who was elected Nov. 7.

Funeral services will be held at Tanglewood Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Smith Pierce, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Alfred Lawton of Lynchburg, and two sons, Ellison D. Smith, jr., of Washington, D. C., and Farley Smith of Lynchburg.

Smith, best known as "Cotton Ed," had been bucking New Deal leadership of the Democratic party for years and formed an anti-New Deal committee to oppose the fourth term ticket this year.

Smith once said that if he had not been so lazy he could have been as great a man as John C. Calhoun, South Carolina's patron saint.

In Senate Since 1909

Despite his confessed laziness, however, Smith got himself elected to the Senate in 1909 and remained their until his death.

Nazis Sending Sailors, Fliers To Front Lines

(By The United Press)

LONDON, Nov. 17 — Germany, her warships and planes virtually wiped out, was reported rushing sailors and airmen into the front lines as infantry today to bolster her faltering armies against what may be the final Allied offensive in the west.

European dispatches said the Reich appeared to be facing its gravest military crisis of the war at a time when civilian morale was ebbing to a new low as result of Adolf Hitler's prolonged silence and increasing evidence that Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler has succeeded him as fuehrer of Germany.

Gestapo Arresting Hundreds

Reports believed reliable reached Madrid that gestapo agents were arresting hundreds, perhaps thousands, of army officers and civilians in a desperate effort to stamp out defeatism in the army and on the home front.

British dispatches from Stockholm reported that Himmler's SS forces in Berlin had executed Gen. Erich Fromm, former commander in chief of the Reich home command and once head of the wehrmacht transport organization. His death was said to have resulted from a horrible torture for three months, during which the Nazis futilely attempted to extract from him names of German officers implicated in the July assassination plot against Hitler.

(An article in the Swiss newspaper, Journal de Geneve, reported by the OWI, said a mounting number of threatening death letters are being received by Nazi party leaders and "down with

Education Control By Boards Charged

University Ruckus Aired By Rainey

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Nov. 17 — Dr. Homer P. Rainey, discharged president of the University of Texas, today told a Senate investigating committee that he had been "short-circuited" in the appointment of a successor to Dr. John W. Spies as dean of the medical college.

He said that a committee of doctors named by the board of regents "came in and exercised my function of nominating a dean" when they recommended the appointment of Dr. Chauncey D. Leake as administrative head of the medical college.

This testimony came soon after Dr. Rainey proposed that the committee ivestigate what he said were the "interlocking interests" among various boards of directors of state colleges.

"Interesting Coincidence"

Answering questions from committee members regarding the medical school muddle, which was one of the key points in his series of disagreements with the regents that ultimately led to his discharge and resignation of three board members, Rainey said it was "an interesting coincidence" that two members of the committee of doctors that recommended Leake have recently been made regents.

There were Drs. C. O. Terrell of Fort Worth and Dr. Judson Taylor of Houston. Other members of the committee of doctors, he testified, were Dr. O. B. Kiel of Wichita Falls and Dr. W. E. Stone, a member of the medical college faculty.

Members of the medical college faculty and "others in Galveston who disliked Dr. Spies put on the biggest sabotage campaign I ever saw to throw an educator out," Dr. Rainey testified.

Served With "Ultimatum"

He reviewed highlights on the controversy, including the fact that he had first been served with what he called an "ultimatum" by the board to discharge Spies, but that the board then decided to retain him after a "storm of protest from the medical profession."

Dr. Rainey reiterated his previously-expressed opinion that if the board had co-operated with Spies thereafter, the medical school troubles could have been solved.

Upon questioning, he said that he had made some studies for the committee of doctors in their search for a new medical school dean, but did not finally recommend anyone because he had not been able to find anyone "who would take the job."

Joint Committee Suggested

In a final statement to the committee he recommended that there ought to be a study of the government of the university, taking into account the laws of the state and rules and regulations of the board, and that the faculty and the board should name a joint committee to re-study the matter of tenure and academic freedom.

"This should be to the end that

Infection Delays Surgery On Child With Pin In Lung

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17 (U.P.)—The grief-stricken parents of Darlene Bynum, 4 year old Inola, Okla., girl who is suffering from an open safety pin lodged in her lung, offered silent prayers today that the child's life would be spared.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Bynum arrived here by train this morning "dog-tired" after sitting up all night but confident Darlene would survive infection around the pin that prevents immediate surgery to remove it.

Darlene's face lit up this morning when her parents entered her room. She smiled bravely and told them she felt "pretty good now."

Dr. Frank Bradley, chief of staff at Barnes and McMillan hospital, said that penicillin was administered during the night in an effort to eliminate the infection and that brown-haired Darlene was "some better" this morning.

If the infection cleared, he said, bronchosopic treatment would follow or an operation be performed in an effort to close and remove the pin.

Boake Carter Dies Suddenly

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17. (AP) — Sudden death has claimed Boake Carter, 46-year-old radio commentator, whose frequently provocative programs won him thousands of friends and opponents.

He appeared to be in good health but complained of feeling ill after his daily program for Mutual Broadcasting system yesterday. Taken to a doctor's office, he suffered a stroke and died shortly after he was admitted to Hollywood Presbyterian hospital.

Carter's radio signature, "Cheerio" was familiar in almost every American household.

Born In Russia

He was born in the British consulate at South Baku, Russia, of Irish-English parents, came to the United States in 1920, and for a time served as city editor of the Philadelphia Daily News.

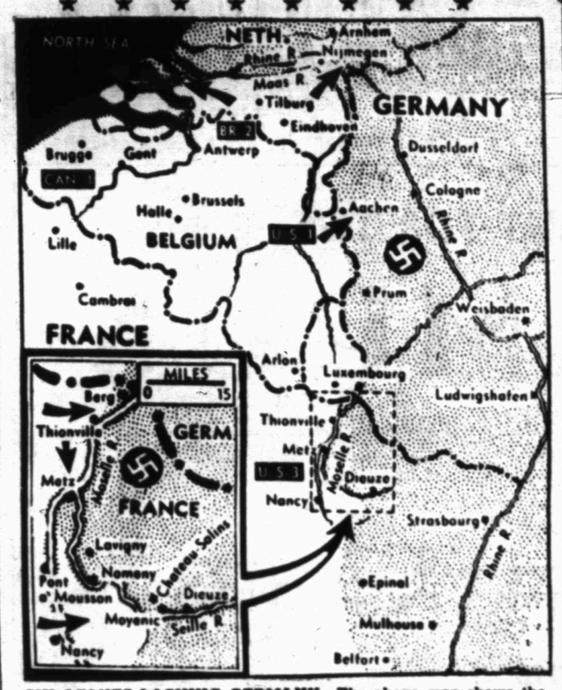

He began his career on the airwaves in Philadelphia but kept his job as a rewrite man on his newspaper until he became a full time news commentator. In 1924 he married Beatrice Olive Richter, assistant society editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin. They had two children but were divorced in 1941 and he married Paula Nicoll, a traffic manager for Mutual Broadcasting system.

Early Action Urged On Youth Training

President Dodges Details Of Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — President Roosevelt said today that he hoped Congress would act this winter on legislation to provide for one year of peacetime service to the country by young men.

The President has endorsed such a proposal before. Under questioning at today's news conference he said there was not much time in the present session of Congress to do much work on it, but he did have hopes of something being accomplished in the Congress which meets in January.

"Military" Angle Dodged

Saying that he had been for universal training right along, Mr. Roosevelt declined to be pinned down on whether he thought this training should be military. His basic idea, he said, was that every young man between 18 and possibly 23 should give at least one year of service to his government.

Whether the plan should apply to young women, too, the President said was another matter and would depend on the legislation itself. Asked flatly whether he thought the training should be military, the President instead of answering directly posed several questions of his own, asking whether instruction in cooking or carpentry could be considered as military training.

He said that training after the war would accomplish a lot just in teaching many boys how to keep clean, how to brush their teeth.

Draft Rejections Cited

The President said the appalling number of Selective Service rejections for physical reasons in this war had shown the mothers of the country that knowledge of this type in their boys was high- the Civilian Conservation corps ly necessary.

He pointed out that the boys of did not have military training, but benefitted greatly nevertheless, and that a program tailored along these lines would mean that in case of war we would have a much larger percentage of boys who could defend their country.

Told that some factions wanted to carry out the training program in the National Guard in periods of two or three months a year or in weekly drill periods, the President said flatly it will not work.

Meanwhile, Catholic church and peace organization officials went on record against peacetime conscription.

Aircraft Plant Enters Three-Year Program

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17. (U.P.)—Consolidated Vultee's aircraft plant in Fort Worth is at the beginning of a three-year production program, including output of the new B-32 Dominator bomber, and will not be affected by the end of the war in Europe, Division Manager Cmmdr. Roland G. Mayer said today.

Mayer's announcement followed an Army Air forces' statement that the four-motored B-32's were in production at the Fort Worth plant, and called for skilled workers not now employed in war industries.

"It is essential that we employ additional skilled personnel if our constantly expanding schedules are to be met," Mayer said.

The AAF also revealed, Mayer said, that other planes or highly-restricted category are included in the plant's production plans.

Cities Attempt To Stop Cigaret Hoarding

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 17 (AP) — Minneapolis and St. Paul druggists were preparing today to initiate a "package for an empty package" method of cigaret distribution aimed at preventing hoarding.

Doris Strom, executive secretary of the twin city retail druggists association, said that letters explaining the plan have been mailed to all members. The plan, which she said has the approval of the Office of Price administration, is similar to that used some time ago in the sale of toothpaste and other commodities that come in tubes.

First Army Gains As Enemy Admits Breaks In Line

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 17. — German lines sagged under twin offensives in the Rhineland today as the First U. S. army drove forward two miles toward Duren and the Ninth army bagged long lines of prisoners.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First army infantry and armor slashed to a point six miles west of Duren, important industrial town 20 miles west of Cologne, despite sleet and rain storms.

Germany's western lines rocked to the thunder of hundreds of guns in the Aachen sector, the smash of new armored columns from the Moselle bridgeheads, the weight of increasing attacks in Holland as the Allies made a supreme bid for victory.

Perhaps 2,000,000 men were arrayed in battle on both sides in the critical test of German staying power.

Ninth Increases Pressure

Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's Ninth army increased the pressure of the attack in its second day north of Aachen, front line dispatches said, captured several more towns and turned back a Tiger tank counterattack.

A German military commentator late in the afternoon said a break had been made in the German lines near Stolberg, and a dispatch from the front said breaks appeared to have been made at several places.

Long streams of battle-shattered German prisoners lined the roads back to American prison cages.

Flight after flight of Thunderbolt fighterbombers streaked under cloud layers over the front.

British Cross Camel

To the north the British crossed the Zig canal, after clearing out a triangle formed by that channel and the Noord and Wessem canals, and virtually closed up to the Maas river bend on a seven-mile front at Roermond in Holland.

Here, the German radio declared, a major attack is likely to be launched "in a few days time."

To the south Lt. Gen. George S. Patton, jr., threw new armored forces into the Third army's battle from the bridgeheads near Thionville which were punched as far as eight miles east of Koenigsmacher.

Manila Bay Harbors Lie In Shambles

ABOARD CARRIER FLAGSHIP Off Philippines, Nov. 14 (Delayed) — (U.P.) — (Via Navy Radio)— Manila bay's once excellent harbors lie in shambles today after nearly two months of raids by carrier based aircraft, naval pilots reported to the Third fleet at the end of an assault that sank or damaged more than a score of Japanese ships.

Encountering little airborne interference from the enemy, our pilots blasted Jap shipping constantly until virtually all the bay's shipping complements were hit.

Photographs revealed many half-submerged hulks both in Manila and Cavite, whose waters are comparatively shallow.

Navigational hazards have been immeasurably increased, while effective bombing of nearby shore installations and constant threat of air attacks have made Manila virtually useless as a naval base.

Big Courtmartial Is To Be Resumed Monday

SEATTLE, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — The Army's largest courtmartial of the war, in which a Houston negro soldier and 42 others pleaded not guilty to charges of rioting and the murder of an Italian service unit member, will be resumed Monday.

The ten-man court granted the request yesterday of Maj. William T. Beeks for a continuance after he said that charges were served only nine days ago and he had not had time to prepare his cases.

Charged with both murder and rioting are Cpl. Luther Larkin, 23, of Helena, Ark.; Sgt. Arthur J. Hurks, 23, of Houston, and Pvt. William O. Jones, 21, of Decatur, Ill. The 40 other defendants also are from the Midwest and South.

The trial is the aftermath of the August riot when the barracks of a sleeping Italian service company were raided, Italians beaten and one of them, Pvt. Guglielmo Olivotto, was hanged from a guy wire.

Thirty Italians and six American interpreters were hospitalized. The trial judge advocate is Lt. Col. Leon Jaworsky, a former Houston attorney.

Christmas Moved Up For Child Who May Die Before Dec. 25

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 17 (AP) —Santa Claus' pack bulged to overflowing today for a special visit to Cheyenne Sunday to the bedside of a little boy.

St. Nick is making this trip early because three-year-old Forest (Nubbins) Hoffman is so ill of an incurable bladder malady he may not live until Dec. 25. That's why Sunday will be Nubbins' Christmas.

Nubbins' mother said the youngster has been given periodic doses of penicillin by his physician to keep down fever.

All Cheyenne is hoping for a heavy fall of snow by Saturday night.

Gifts, messages and Christmas trees continued to pour in at the home of Marshall Hoffman from all parts of a nation increasingly eager to help make this Nubbins' happiest day.

Whole Towns Disintegrated, Life Seemed To Disappear As Yanks Blasted Path For Drive

BY HENRY T. GORRELL
United Press War Writer

ADVANCE OBSERVATION POST, Inside Germany, Nov. 16 (Delayed)—A cataclysmic blast of exploding, splintering steel rent the earth before us and it seemed like the world was coming to an end.

The Americans were blasting out a path for a forward drive. Man and beast shuddered in their tracks. Whole towns were disintegrating. Life seemed to disappear from the scene.

It was the most terrifying, destructive force of warfare Germany has ever seen. And it was a symbol of what was to come as the U. S. First army unloosed this shattering blow within the borders of Germany.

Made Earth "Dance"

For an hour and a half, more than 2,000 bombers and hundreds of guns pounded the German countryside, making the earth dance before this mighty man-made force.

When the heavies and mediums were not making the ground quake for miles around, our massed artillery was giving them hell out there. They were firing at an average rate of one round every 15 seconds, blasting every conceivable obstacle in our path. Mine fields went up as though touched off by an electric switch.

I had the feeling the end of the world was coming. So did the wild red fox madly chasing its tail in no-man's land when the smoke had cleared. So did the mute cows, one of which dropped a calf from shock. And so did the plow horses. They emerged from shattered stables, charging about madly in a race to escape from their own torment.

In the center of that frightful scene, the Germans were entrench-

A former staff musician of radio station KFYO here, Billy Ray Medley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Medley, 2417 Twenty-third, is visiting his parents and while here will register for selective service. He will be 18 years old Monday. Young Medley, former Lubbock High school student and accomplished pianist, is a member of the Melody Boys quartet on radio station KTHS at Hot Springs, Ark.

Identification of a 42-year-old negro as a person other than the name he had given to selective service officials makes the fourth person so confronted by fingerprint records of Lubbock police since Oct. 15, it was announced this morning. The negro was fingerprinted after a charge of aggravated assault two weeks ago. He gave the name of Mack O'Quinn. Duplicate fingerprint records were sent to Austin and Washington. A report was made Thursday: the negro is a fugitive from federal authorities, and may be within draft age.

W. W. Smith of 1908 Fourth street complained to police that a dress had been stolen from his parked car.

None was injured in several collisions of motor vehicles Thursday, police said. A 54-year-old Lubbock man was required to pay a $50 drunkenness fine and agree to repair damages to a car he had bumped, police said; investigation sought to fix responsibility on some taxicab driver for hitting a parked vehicle in 1800-block Main street. Other collisions, at least one of them attributed to visibility reduced by thickly falling snowflakes, were in 2000-block Broadway, and at Seventh and Ave. K and at Sixteenth and Ave. J.

Dusting of corporation court desk and jury box was slightly later than usual. Luke Bundrant, who usually sees to it that the task is completed, picked up a dust cloth and promptly let go of it. A black widow spider, lethargic in the warmth of the rag's folds, tumbled out into the palm of his hand. The spider is on display — in a bottle.

Featured in an art exhibit in the windows of Sansom Paint and Paper company, 1219 Ave. K, are paintings and handicraft material from applied arts and handicraft departments at Texas Tech. Paintings by Miss Martye Poindexter, head of the applied arts department, and Miss Elizabeth Hawley, professor in that department, are on display. Paintings include mountain scenes in water color paintings and an arrangement of nature materials, creating interest in lines and textures.

Mayor O. W. Ribble told of post war plans of the city of Lubbock and gave a report of the present condition of the city in a talk at the luncheon of American Business club today in Hilton hotel. The mayor was introduced by Morris Cox. Fred Childress, member of the city commission, was a guest. Another guest was B. B. Williams of Amarillo. President J. Ray Dickey, presided.

Nothing apparently was taken in a break-in early today of Lubbock Hog and Cattle company, at 1515 Ave. A, said investigating police.

Ex-Residents Visit Here

A number of informal courtesies will honor Capt. and Mrs. Robert T. Canon, of Bethesda, Md., who are visiting his sister, Mrs. W. L. Stangel, and Mr. Stangel, 2605 Twenty-second. They arrived by car from Fort Worth late Thursday afternoon.

Saturday morning Mrs. Richard L. Douglas and Mrs. Owen McWhorter are giving a coffee in honor of Mrs. Canon. This event will be in the Douglas home, 2123 Sixteenth, and receiving hours will be between 10 to 12 o'clock.

This is the first visit the Canons have made to Lubbock since they left almost four years ago when Capt. Canon, who is associated with the West Texas clinic, was called into active service by the Navy and reported to Philadelphia Navy yard. He was in the Naval reserve, having served in World War I. At present Capt. Canon, who is the highest ranking naval officer in this section of the state, is head of the eye, ear, nose and throat section of the National Navy hospital in Bethesda, a suburb of Washington.

The couple has two sons, Travis, who is serving overseas with the U. S Marines, and George, a high school student in Bethesda They own a home at 2613 Nineteenth street.

Home Canning Sugar Certificates Available

Home canning sugar certificates will continue to be issued to eligible applicants at War Price and Rationing boards in this district until Dec. 1, Opal Wood, district rationing officer, reminded home canners today.

Canning sugar will be issued through the month of November because of the late fall fruits in this district, she explained.

Sugar stamp 34 in War Ration Book four is now good for buying five pounds of sugar. The stamp, like other sugar stamps now being used, will be good indefinitely.

Soviet Air Force On Hunt For Nazi Fleet

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP) — The Red Air force has begun to track down the German fleet hiding in the Baltic, the Moscow radio said early today.

Torpedo planes of the Red Banner Baltic fleet opened the attack by striking at the big Nazi port of Danzig, a midnight Soviet war bulletin reported. A 6,000-ton German transport was sunk.

Since the RAF sinking of the Tirpitz off northern Norway, the only surface warships left to the Germans are believed trapped in the Baltic — most of them outside the ordinary operating range of the RAF but within striking distance of the Red Air force.

World Security Plan Hailed

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP) — Undersecretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, jr., Soviet Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko and the British ambassador, the Earl of Halifax, last night hailed the Dumbarton Oaks proposals for creation of an international security organization as a milestone in the preservation of peace.

They addressed a rally at Madison Square Garden celebrating the 27th anniversary of the founding of the Soviet Union and the 11th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Soviet Union. The rally was under the auspices of the National Council of American-Soviet Friendship.

Stettinius declared "the world may rest assured that whatever steps are necessary to prevent Germany ever from waging war again will be taken."

"To put every ounce of determination and effort into the task of creating a peaceful and advancing community of free nations is an obligation which our two nations and all peace-loving nations cannot escape," Stettinius said in his prepared address.

"I have no doubt," he said, "that in the coming months, the Dumbarton Oaks proposals will be completed."

Gromyko said in his prepared address that unity and mutual trust among the great Allied nations corresponded to the interests of all freedom-loving countries.

Halifax said he believed the close association of the United States, Soviet Russia and the British commonwealth "rallying all the peace-loving forces among the nations, can secure our children and children's children against a repetition of the present tragedy."

Halifax said that Germany would seek to foster misunderstandings among the United Nations. Gromyko expressed a similar view, saying that Allied unity presupposed "constant alertness and struggle against propaganda sowing seeds of doubt in the ranks of the Allies."

Tech Students May Seek Scholarship

Home economics junior and senior students of Texas Tech may now compete for the "Alice Lane Ingram" scholarship, Mrs. Jonnie Michie, head of foods and nutrition department, said.

One Texas college student will be awarded $50 to be applied on tuition wherever she may desire to attend school. Selection will be based on her educational aims, her family's financial status, and three letters of recommendation descriptive of her qualifications, character, and scholastic standing.

FINNISH CABINET FORMED

HELSINKI, Nov. 17 (U.P.)—A new Finnish cabinet has been formed under the premiership of Juho Paasikivi, former premier and leader of Finland's peace negotiations with Russia after the winter war of 1939-40 it was announced today.

O'Donnell Man Strings Telephone Wire

'Texas' Division On Leyte Gets Lots Of Help From 'Furriners'

WITH THE FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION On Northern Leyte, Nov. 17.—Texans may be fighting the war in the Pacific but a survey of note-worthy names in the ranks of the First Cavalry division, a unit of Lone Star state origin, would indiate that the Texans are getting a lot of valuable help from "furriners."

For example the Bronze Star medal for heroic achievement in the dismounted cavalrymen's Admiralty's campaign was awarded to 1st Lt. Arlo E. Abbott, Phoenix, Ariz.; Cpl. Frank J. Quatse (posthumously), of Greensburgh, Pa., and Pvt. Vincent A. Cogliano of East Boston, Mass., at a recent ceremony on Leyte.

Gen. Mudge In Command

Commanding general of the Texas outfit is Maj. Gen. Verne D. Mudge, of Bangor, S. D., whose wife and daughter reside in San Diego, Calif. Incidentally Mudge claims as his home town Sellsmere, Okla.

Leader of a 19-man patrol which killed 41 Japs in two minutes of fighting was Lt. Monroe G. Winn of St. Louis, Mo.

Sgt. William Hopper of Heltonboonville, Miss., a member of the patrol, said "there were so many of the Japs that you could hardly miss."

2nd Lt. Jackson George, Emporia, Kan., another First Cavalry man said the Signal Corps' biggest headache on Leyte is Japanese infiltration of our lines and cutting of our communications wire.

Captured Japanese Beer

S/Sgt. Ira Jay, Lone Grove, Okla., said the achievements of his assault troops in the Philippines include the capture of one town, one air strip, 200 enemy trucks and 710 cases of Japanese beer.

S/Sgt. Alvis C. McLaurin, O'Donnell, Tex., walks 10 to 15 miles a day striging wire for telephone communications while under fire from snipers.

Sgt. L. E. Thompson, El Paso, Tex., a veteran of the Admiralty campaign and in a first assault wave to hit the Philippines beaches, thinks that conditions aren't right for fighting the Japs.

"The terrain is much better than we are used to," he said. "But it's still not good for fighting because there are too many swamps and rice paddies to get bogged down in."

Pfc. Alto L. King, Cuyahoga Falls, O., was a member of a mortar platoon armed only with pistols and carbines which captured a Japanese held hill in the Philippines.

Other members of this mortar platoon included Pfc. Augustino C. Tiscareno, El Paso, Tex.

Moscow Reiterates Peaceful Objectives

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — An official Russian statement said today the Soviet union has no intention of intervening in domestic affairs of other states. It listed as a cardinal point of Moscow's policy the "co-existence of two systems," presumably Communism and capitalism.

The statement appeared in an article by Col. A. Galin in the Soviet embassy information bulletin.

Asserting that the bloc of freedom-loving states is growing stronger and stronger, the statement described references to "the Communist peril" as a "trump card of Goebbels' propaganda."

Reiterating Moscow pronouncements on the peaceful post-war objectives of the Soviet union, the article spoke of the "uncompromising hostility of the Soviet government toward imperialist expansion and aggression."

Galin said Moscow has a "business-like policy" of recognizing other states, regardless of their domestic regimes.

LUCKY SHOT

CLOVIS, N. M., Nov. 17 (AP) — Buck Crook took one shot a hawk, bagged it—and a quail, too. The hawk was carrying the quail in its talons.

Missouri Basin Plan Praised

DENVER, Nov. 17. (AP)—Development of the Missouri river basin at an estimated cost of $1,378,000,000 was described today by W. G. Sloan of Billings, Mont., assistant regional director of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, as "a solution of postwar problems which is more concrete, definite and practical than any plan heretofore proposed."

He told the National Reclamation association that the series of projects planned jointly by the bureau and Army engineers should, when completed, bring 600,000 more people to the area, reversing a trend of declining population.

Reclamation leaders sought to rally support behind the O'Mahoney-Millikin amendments to the rivers-harbors and flood control bills now awaiting Senate action.

The amendments are designed primarily to protect the irrigation interests of upstream states, allow the states to participate in the planning of projects and compel federal agencies to correlate their work.

Dr. John Lee Coulter of Washington, consulting economist, in a speech reported that between 2,000,000 and 4,000,000 acres of improved farm land must be brought into production annually "during the years just ahead" to keep pace with America's expanding needs.

"And most of this," he said, "must be in the area west of the Mississippi and a great deal of it must be by reclamation — especially irrigation — in these western states."

Coward Says Row Over His 'Slur' Silly And Idiotic

PARIS, Nov. 17 (AP)—Noel Coward said today a controversy in Brooklyn over the alleged slur about Brooklyn troops in his Middle East Diary "is silly and idotic" and probably would result only in increasing sales.

The British actor, author, songsmith, playwright, lecturer, director and what have you commented:

"I have seen hundreds of boys of all nationalities who are longing to return home, but I am not going to engage in any controversy with the Brooklyn council" (sic) regarding criticisms of his comment on Brooklyn GIs.

(Brooklyn representatives in the New York City council and the U. S. Congress protested this passage in Coward's Middle East Diary: "Talked to some tough men from Texas and Arizona; they were magnificent specimens and in great heart, but I was less impressed by some of the mournful Brooklyn boys lying there in tears amidst the alien corn with nothing worse than a bullet wound in the leg or a fractured arm.")

Coward was in Paris for a three-day stand before touring the fronts in Belgium and Luxembourg. He said he had seen thousands of American troops on his travels and was very impressed by them.

Convicted Killer Of Soldier Is At Large

FORT KNOX, Ky., Nov. 17. (U.P.) — The courtmartial - convicted killer of Sgt. Jack O. Hollis of Houston, was at large today after the escape from military prison yesterday of five soldier prisoners.

Pvt. Ellis Hamm, 30, of Milan, Ga., was convicted by a courtmartial in October of slaying Hollis. He had testified at the trial that he killed his friend, Hollis, in self defense during an argument which arose while they were gambling.

Prepare Holiday Menu In Advance

All housewives know that the best recipe for a successful Thanksgiving dinner is to plan the menu well in advance, to prepare the food, whenever possible, beforehand, and to be thoroughly foresighted about all details

For example, these days of rationing can become a veritable mightmare if there aren't sufficient coupons in the family ration books. It will be a good idea to list all items needed for the holiday dinner and the quantities. Along side of each item mark down the required points. When upon totaling you discover that more points are required than you have on hand, substitution of items of less point value will help you balance your ration books.

Avoid Cluttering Space

In many kitchens the actual preparation of the festive meal means that every pot, pan, dish, knife, fork and spoon come out of their hiding places and are piled helter skelter cluttering up valuable working space. This is not only inefficient but dangerous, and can lead to accidents that involve cuts, bruises and burns. Should you burn yourself, don't ignore it with a "haven't-got-time" attitude. Spread petrolatum, also known as petroleum jelly, on gauze and place on the injury. Then cover the dressing, firmly but not tightly, with a heavier bandage. If the burn is deep or covers a large area, call a physician immediately.

It's a good idea to keep your kitchen clear of unnecessary items. When you have used a utensil, pause for a moment, clean it and then replace it in the cabinet. Dispose of vegetable parings and other refuse as quickly as it accumulates.

Be sure, too, to wipe up anything, even plain water, that spills on the kitchen floor. Slipping and falling has sent many a good cook to the hospital. And when you lift the lid of a pot or pan, lift the far edge of the lid first so that steam will escape away from face and hands.

Another precaution is to turn pot handles away from the edge of the stove so that they can't catch in your apron and tip as you brush by.

Who doesn't like cream puffs? Lard makes good tender ones. Heat ½ cup water and ¼ cup lard to boiling. Add ½ teaspoon salt and ½ cup flour all at once, stirring vigorously. Cook a few minutes, stirring constantly. Cool slightly and add the unbeaten eggs one at a time. Beat thoroughly after each. Drop by tablespoonfuls into oiled muffin tins or make into 2-inch mounds on an oiled baking sheet, about 1½ inches apart. Bake at 425 degrees F. for 30 minutes, then at 375 degrees F. for 15 minutes longer, or until dry. Make cream filling, salami salad, creamed meat or ice cream to serve in them for eight delicious servings at the main course or dessert.

Carry a lunch that carries you through the afternoon. Use pastry trimmings to make meat partries. Roll out the pastry and make into a turnover filled with moist, well-seasoned meat filling and bake at 425 degrees F. until golden brown. Chill thoroughly before packing into the lunch box. Or for a pleasant change from the everyday sandwich fill the pastry with fruit and bake for a lunch box dessert. Make your pastry with lard for tasty flakiness.

Have an indoor frankfurt roast. Around the fireplace one member of the family can cook all the "franks" at one time while the rest sit back and enjoy the fire. Place all the franks in a wire screen corn popper and heat gently over the fire.

Bologna is more than a summer meat. It is perfect for fall—especially when served hot. Broil slices of bologna from which the casing has been removed until the slices curl. Watch carefully for it doesn't take long. Then fill the bologna cups with creamed potatoes and onions or creamed peas—and serve immediately.

BEEF BARBECUE PARTY—Greet autumn with an evening full of barbecued beef steak sandwiches. To prepare them, cut 2 pounds round steak (½-inch thick) into suitable pieces for serving. Dredge with flour and brown on both sides in hot lard. Shred 2 medium-sized onions and mix with 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon red pepper (if hot sauce is desired), ¾ cup catsup, 1 teaspoon chili powder, and ¾ cup water. Pour mixture over meat, cover, and simmer about 2 hours or until tender. Add water to sauce as needed. Serve between toasted buns. Serves 8.

Autumn Evenings Can Be Filled With Barbecue Parties

There's one way to treat autumn! Fill her evenings full of spicy fall food. Over a crackling fire roast plump frankfurts, toast pork sausage links in biscuit blankets, broil lamb-onion-and-tomato kabobs, and cook sizzling barbecued beef steak sandwiches.

Lean beef especially lends itself to spicy flavors and fall dishes. Braise it in cider, stuff it with nut dressing, bake it with squash, or simmer it with curry sauce.

The barbecued beef steaks pictured here, are tender and tasty, for the beef simmers long and slowly in barbecue sauce. Bring the steaks to the table piping hot in the skillet, and there pop them into the buns. For this and other appetizing fall dishes, try the following recipes:

Barbecued Beef Steaks

2 pounds round steak (cut ¼ inch thick)
Flour
3 tablespoons lard
2 medium-sized onions
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon red pepper (if hot sauce is desired)
¾ cup catsup
1 teaspoon chili powder
¾ cup water

Cut steak into suitable pieces for serving. Dredge with flour and brown on both sides in hot lard. Shred onions. Mix all remaining ingredients together and pour over meat. Cover and simmer about 2 hours or until tender. Add water to sauce as needed. Serves 8.

Spicy Pot Roast

4 pounds beef rump or chuck
1 quart water
1 pint vinegar
12 cloves
2 bay leaves
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
Flour
Lard
2 cups diced carrots
2 cups sliced onions

Combine vinegar, water, cloves, bay leaves, seasonings and beef and let stand over night. Pour off liquid and save. Dredge meat with flour. Brown in hot lard in a heavy kettle. Add 2 cups of the spiced vinegar, the carrots and onions. Cover and cook slowly for about 3 to 3½ hours or until tender. Serves 8.

Creole Beef With Rice

½ to 1 pound ground beef
3 tablespoons fat
1 tablespoon green pepper, chopped
1 tablespoon onion, chopped
½ cup celery, chopped
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup water
½ teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups tomatoes
1 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce.

Brown the meat in two tablespoons of fat. Brown the onion and celery in one tablespoon of fat and add the flour. Blend. Add tomatoes to make a sauce. Add green pepper, seasonings, meat, and water. Cook slowly 10 minutes. Serve on hot cooked rice. Serves 6.

Mass production of hamburgers or other meat patties is simple. Season meat and roll out the desired thickness on waxed paper. Cut rounds of meat with a cookie cutter or wide-mouthed glass. There'll be no hurt feelings of unfair servings.

Armies In France Have Own Air Units

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, Nov. 17. (AP)—Each of four American armies driving toward Berlin on the western front has its own supporting air unit, it was announced officially today.

The newest of these is the 29th Tactical Air command which flies in support of the Ninth army, now participating in the Allies' all-out winter offensive.

It was formed chiefly from a part of the Ninth USAAF, with fighter-bomber groups drawn from the Ninth's other two tactical air commands. Although it has been flying as an independent command for weeks, its work had to remain anonymous until the whereabouts of the Ninth army was revealed.

Lineup For New Phase

Here is the tactical air lineup for the new phase of the war in the west:

Ninth Tactical Air command, under Maj. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada, of Washington, D.C., supporting Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First army.

Nineteenth Tactical Air command, under Brig. Gen. Otto P. Weyland, Washington, D. C., supporting Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army.

Twenty-ninth Tactical Air command, under Brig. Gen. Richard A. Nugent, of Spruce Creek, Pa., supporting Lt. Gen. William H. Simpson's Ninth army.

Twelfth Tactical Air command, under Brig. Gen. Gordon P. Saville, of Winter Park, Fla., supporting Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's Seventh army.

Nugent was deputy chief of staff for operations in the Ninth airforce until he tok over the 29th TAC. He previously had been chief of operations for the Allied expeditionary air force.

Twelfth TAC—most of which came from the Mediterranean-based Twelfth Air force—operated under the control of the Ninth Air force until it was absorbed recently into Maj. Gen. Ralph Royce's new provisional air force which was at the disposal of each general commanding an American army under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Each tactical command is a complete unit, with its own fighter and reconnaissance groups.

Stevenson, Connally Honored By Club

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., (AP) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson and Senator Tom Connally have been honored by the Pearl Harbor Texas club, which represents the state's 500 Navy yard employes here.

President John S. Knight of Amarillo announces the club has elected the two prominent Texans honorary members. Previously, only Texas service men, either in transit or stationed on the island, have been similarly honored.

H. B. Hooten, Dallas, is vice president and Howard A. Chisholm, Vernon, secretary-treasurer.

Japan Cracks Down On Platinum Hoarders

(By The Associated Press)

Scarcity of diamonds and platinum in Japan is worrying the mikado's government, Tokyo radio intimated today.

Domestic broadcasts recorded by the Federal Communications commission said the Nipponese government was cracking down on platinum hoarders and would continue to buy all the diamonds it could get.

Government purchases of diamonds were continued for a month because "the quantity consumed by the aircraft and radio-wave weapon fields is tremendous."

Neff Silent On Texas U. Post

CORPUS CHRISTI, Nov. 17 (AP) —President Pat M. Neff of Baylor university declined to comment here today on a report that he had been approached regarding the presidency of the University of Texas.

In Waco the Times-Herald quoted Dr. J. T. Harrington, president of the Baylor trustees, as saying Neff had been advised the University of Texas presidency would be offered him if he would give it favorable consideration.

Acceptance Doubtful

The Baylor trustee, however, didn't believe Neff would accept the Texas position, according to the newspaper. The name of the party making the approach was not given.

Speaking from Wichita Falls, Orville Bullington, a regent of the University of Texas, said he had not discussed the matter with Neff nor had any such offer been mentioned at any meeting of the board of regents.

"Some individual regent may be discussing it," he said. "There are four regents (recently appointed) that I've never seen."

Business, Farmers Urged To Cooperate

(By The Associated Press)

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 17 —The future prosperity of America would be more potential if business and agriculture can "formulate plans for the private distribution of export surpluses," R. B. McLeaish of Edcouch, Tex., said today.

McLeaish, in an address prepared for delivery before a conference of national and state agricultural and business leaders, outlined three points for cooperation between agriculture and business which he said would promote a better America after the war. The national association of manufacturers is sponsoring the conference at Texas A. & M. college.

Fair Markets Necessary

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard told delegates last night "the great problem for agriculture and the whole nation will be to match high agriculture and the whole nation will be to match high agricultural production with equally great markets at fair prices" in the postwar period.

McLeaish, chairman of the Rio Grande Valley Planning commission and of the Rio Farms board of directors, urged agriculture and business to "understand the problems of the other" and the problems of labor to improve living standards. He also urged research and improvement as a factor toward a better America.

Cooperatives Defended

He defended farmers' cooperatives which he said had been criticized "because it has been claimed they are encroaching upon the rights of industry."

Wickard told the delegates:

"Let us assume, from here on, that we shall — or indeed we must — find — or create markets for all that farmers can produce. Can we measure the stake that American industry has in the prosperity of American agriculture?

"There is no single group in our economy which offers as big an outlet for the products of the factory and the plants of industry as the American farmers and their families."

Banks of the Suez canal are chiefly sand and gravel, although in places concrete has been laid to prevent erosion.

Nubbins' Christmas

Singer Frank Sinatra wired Nubbins: "I know Santa Claus will be good to you 'cause you've been a good boy. Have fun and merry Xmas." to Nubbins' parents Sinatra added: "Keep him happy. Keep your chin up."

Mail carriers and expressmen beat a path to the Hoffmans' door. Already laid away were three Christmas trees.

When a fourth arrived yesterday, Hoffman gave it to a small boy accompanying the deliveryman.

A small youngster knocked at the door and handed in a large ribbon-wrapped box. "Would you put this under the tree?" he asked, and vanished before the Hoffmans could learn who he was.

The Hoffmans have little hope that their child will recover. The father said an operation last month established that "it's just a matter of waiting."

They've put the thought aside for a while now. Sunday is Nubbins' Christmas — the biggest day of all.

Victory In Europe To Alter Britain's Draft

LONDON, Nov. 16. (AP) — Britain's conscription age maximum limit will be lowered and numerous manpower controls will be relaxed in the interval between the defeat of Germany and the end of the war with Japan, Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin announced today.

Making public a plan for reallocating manpower to industry, Bevin said that the conscription age for men for the war against Japan would be from 18 to 27 as soon as the war in Europe ended. The present draft age maximum is 35.

Women will not be conscripted for the armed forces, but will be permitted to volunteer, Bevin said.

Under the government plan, as soon as the war in Europe ends and no matter what kind of production they are engaged on, these people may leave industry: Married or single women with household responsibilities; women wishing to join their husbands on release from the forces; other women over 60; men over 65.

Australian Forces To Mop Up Japanese

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Australian forces have been assigned to mop up an estimated 250,000 Japanese on islands bypassed in the drive to the Philippines, Sir Frederick Eggleston, Australian minister to the United States, said today.

In his first news conference since presenting his credentials to President Roosevelt Tuesday, Eggleston predicted that expulsion of the Japanese from this area between Leyte and the Solomons, including Bougainville, New Guinea and New Britain, will be "a difficult and bloody task."

Lecture For Relatives Of POW Postponed

Because of the snow, a lecture Lt. Fred D. Lowell of Lubbock Army Air field was to have given for next of kin and interested friends of prisoners of war tonight has been postponed until next Friday night, Mrs. George Young, chairman of the Red Cross prisoner of war group sponsoring the program, said at noon.

The Friday, Nov. 24, meeting will be at 7:45 p. m. at the American Legion hall. Lt. Lowell recently returned to the United States after being shot down over continental Europe.

Automobiles built during the first two years of the postwar period will contain 50 pounds of copper and brass per car.

Plan For Third Slaying Probed

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17. (AP)—Otto Steve Wilson, 31-year-old janitor, was held incommunicado today in the mutilation slayings of two women while police attempted to determine if he had planned to lure a third woman to the same fate.

Detectives said they would question a woman who was seen chatting with Wilson at a bar shortly after the bodies of the two other women were discovered Wednesday. While talking to the third woman Wilson was handcuffed and arrested by a patrolman.

Capt. Thad Brown, head of the police homicide bureau, said Wilson, discharged Navy pharmacist's mate, told him he "didn't know what I might have done to her." Her name was not disclosed.

Choked Her To Death

Wilson's confession, said the authorities, disclosed that he choked 26-year-old Virgie Lee Griffin to death Tuesday evening and stayed up all night drinking whisky and mutilating her body with a nine-inch knife. He said he went to see a horror movie starring Boris Karloff the next day then picked up 38-year-old Lillian Johnson in a bar, took her to a hotel room and mutilated her.

Wilson, in his confession, said that after he had strangled and cut Mrs. Griffin "a kind of a craze had gotten hold of me." "I don't know just how to explain it," he added.

The bodies were found in separate hotels Wednesday afternoon and within two hours Wilson, employed as a janitor at Terminal island, was arrested by a patrolman following a broadcast description.

Cigaret Shortage Is Mystery To Officials

BOSTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Chester Bowles, OPA price administrator, said today that the current cigaret shortage was a mystery to Washington officials and that proposed rationing apparently was impossible.

"We haven't the money (in OPA funds) and we haven't the people to organize a cigaret rationing program," Bowles said in a press conference.

Here to address the third war conference of the New England council, Bowles said that coffee stocks were adequate, adding "I think you'll be able to get all the coffee you need."

Congressional Free Mailing Is Studied

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — The House campaign expenditures committee voted today to study the use of congressional free mailing privileges during political campaigns.

Chairman Anderson (D-NM) said the vote was unanimous and added that the committee will determine whether to recommend closer supervision. Complaints were heard during the recent campaign that millions of pieces of literature were mailed free.

Anderson said hearings would be held next month on proposals for "plugging loopholes" in the election laws.

Nazis Mass Robot Launching Ships To Try Raids On U. S.

LONDON, Nov. 17. (U.P.) — A Stockholm dispatch to the London Daily Mail said today that the Germans were concentrating submarines and surface ships equipped with robot bomb launching platforms in Norway preparatory to attempting raids on the United States.

The dispatch quoted "high neutral sources" as saying that the Germans planned to launch their jet-propelled V-1 robot bombs from the decks of the vessels "against such targets as New York, Philadelphia or towns farther inland."

A joint U. S. Army-Navy statement issued in Washington earlier this month warned that some such submarine or ship-based attacks might be attempted by a desperate Germany.

Known "Beyond Dispute"

The Daily Mail dispatch said it was known "beyond dispute" that the Germans have concentrated "very considerable" numbers of submarines and other vessels in harbors at Narvik, Trondheim and Bergen on the west coast of Norway.

Bergen was believed to be the German headquarters, the dispatch said, with a crack submarine commander, formerly in charge of underseas attacks on Allied shipping from bases at Brest and Lorient in France, assigned the task of directing the new offensive.

Large numbers of specially-trained submarine staff officers reached Norway recently, the dispatch added, while naval attaches returning to Berlin were quoted as saying:

"Look out for our new submarine offensives. They'll be super offensives that will take everyone by surprise."

Though only a small number of submarines so far have been equipped to launch robot bombs, the dispatch said, the substantial number of missiles which they could fire would make the hazardous trans-atlantic voyage worthwhile.

The dispatch said the submarines and ships would operate a considerable distance offshore. The V-1 bombs used by the Germans against Britain were believed to have an extreme range of 200 to 250 miles, but this could be increased by enlarging the fuel capacity. They carry a ton of explosives.

The Stockholm correspondent claimed to have "finest hand knowledge" that the Germans had fitted vessels of the Westfalen class to fire a large number of robot bombs.

(Lloyd's register of shipping lists the Westfalen as a 5,367 ton "airplane service ship.")

Standefer's Condition Is 'Greatly Improved'

Condition of Dr. Fred W. Standefer, Lubbock eye-ear, nose and throat specialist under treatment in a Fort Worth hospital following a heart attack last Saturday, today was described by hospital officials, and by doctor's partner, Dr. Robert T. Canon, as being "greatly improved."

Doctor Canon, now a captain in the U. S. Navy with station at National Navy hospital, Bethesda, Md., arrived in Lubbock on leave with Mrs. Canon last night. He said a three-month rest doubtless would permit Doctor Standefer to continue here the practice which he established in 1924.

Doctor Standefer was stricken by coronary thrombosis while in an airplane en route from Lubbock to Meridian and later a bronchial infection caused friends some concern. The latter difficulty now has been eliminated, Doctor Canon said, and Doctor Standefer is "convalescing nicely."

Survey On Veterans Families Completed

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 17 (AP)—Edward N. Scheiberling, national commander of the American Legion, said today in a statement to state commanders and adjutants conferring here that the Legion had completed a nation-wide survey showing thousands of widows and orphans of war veterans "are living on the verge of destitution in the midst of our war prosperity."

The Legion commander urged passage of legislation to provide a "bare minimum of subsistence."

Fifth Occupies Road Center

ROME, Nov. 17 (AP) — Fifth army troops have occupied Modigliana, important road junction nine miles south of the Bologna-Rimini highway town of Faenza, in the wake of a surprise German withdrawal after a week-long vigorous defense, Allied headquarters announced today.

Several previous Allied assaults on the town had been thrown back by desperately fighting Nazis.

When British and Indian troops moved in yesterday they found the Germans had left the town thoroughly mined and booby-trapped.

Six miles north of captured Forli, Eighth army units, moving cautiously toward the Montone river, cleared Coccolia and reached a point within 2,000 yards of San Pancrazio.

Push West Of Forli

Other troops pushed about two and a half miles west of Forli against comparatively light resistance from German rear guards.

In the Adriatic coastal sector the Germans blew a gap in the banks of the Fiumi Uniti flooding large tracts of land east of highway 16 and making maneuvers there virtually impossible.

British troops yesterday were reported within five miles of Faenza in the region of San Martino di Villafranca, north of the Bologna-Rimini road, while to the south they captured the town of Petrignone.

Intermitten rain and hail interferred with operations on the Fifth army sector below Bologna in the area adjacent to the Bologna-Florence highway.

Pvt. R. L. Spencer Is Missing In Action

Pvt. Russell L. Spencer, 30, an infantryman in the Army, has been missing in action in Germany since Oct. 23, the War department informed his wife, Mrs. Bobbie Jo Spencer of 2713 Locust.

The Spencers have three children. The infantryman is the son of Mrs. Clara Spencer of Lubbock and Mrs. Spencer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Branch of Lubbock. Prior to entering the service about eight months ago, Pvt. Spencer was employed by the City of Lubbock.

Brig. Gen. Easley Wounded By Snipers

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 17 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Claudius Easley, assistant commander of the American 96th division on Leyte island, has been wounded by sniper fire, a spokesman announced today.

He is the first general officer to be wounded in this campaign.

The extent of the wound or where it occurred were not announced. At last reports advance elements of the 96th were punching westward across the mountains in central Leyte.

Lynn County 4-H Boys To Receive Awards Valued At More Than $1,000 Saturday

TAHOKA, Nov. 17 (Special)—Awards valued at more than $1,000 will be made to Lynn county 4-H club boys at a county-wide 4-H club achievement day program and gilt show here Saturday, said R. L. Stone, county agent.

A full program has been arranged, beginning with the general assembly in district court room of the courthouse at 10 o'clock. County Judge Tom Garrard will give the welcoming address. Buddy Gene Bragg, the first boy from Lynn county to win a Santa Fe trip to the national 4-H club congress in Chicago, will give the response.

Bragg will also talk on the 4-H organization, explaining the motto, objectives, creed, 4-H emblem and what 4-H work means to him and could mean to other farm boys.

To Award Certificates

Following introduction of out-of-town guests, Stone will award 4-H honor certificates and county medals to winning boys.

War bonds and stamps will be awarded the top three town boys participating in the urban 4-H victory garden contest, these awards being sponsored by the O'Donnell Rotary club and the Tahoka Chamber of Commerce. Also to be awarded to all boys attending will be 4-H club pins given by Calvery Hatchery of Tahoka.

Judging of 4-H registered Duroc and Berkshire breeding gilts will begin at 1:30 p. m., followed by the awarding of prizes. Stone announced that every boy who enters a gilt in the show will receive a prize.

Strickland To Be Judge

J. D. Strickland, professor of animal husbandry at Texas Technological college, will judge the show.

Prizes for the gilt show are:

First place, regardless of breed, 500 pounds of hog supplement; second, 400 pounds; third, 300 pounds; fourth, 200 pounds, and fifth to last, 150 pounds each. These awards will be furnished by Maasen produce and Burleson grain and elevator company of Tahoka.

To Award Boar

In addition, owner of the top Duroc gilt will be given a registered weaning-age boar, donated by T. D. Julian, Lubbock county Duroc breeder, and will receive models of Duroc boar and gilt, by United Duroc Record association.

The owners of second and third place Duroc gilts will receive one year's free subscription to the Duroc News.

Awarding of prizes, consisting of 41 weaning-age gilts and three boars, will be made at 2:30 p. m. to local winners in the Lynn county 4-H victory garden contest.

The four precinct champions and the county grand champion victory gardeners will receive Hereford feeder steers. These awards were bought with funds contributed by Lynn county ginners to the 4-H organization for this program.

Stone said there are 470 4-H club boys in Lynn county, the largest membership in extension service district No. 2.

Victory In Europe To Spur Inflation Threat

BOSTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — Price Administrator Chester Bowles said today that the greatest threat from inflation would come three to six months after victory in Europe.

"It is then that we will face pressures from all sides to lift inventory controls, to lift price controls and production controls," he said in a speech prepared for the governors' session of the Third New England War conference.

Bowles, discussing OPA reconversion pricing policy, said:

"First, we will hold manufacturers' prices at or close to early 1942 levels; . . . We will allow price increases to the manufacturer only when really necessary to secure full production and a reasonable profit.

"When such price increases are necessary, we will ordinarily expect them to be absorbed to a reasonable degree by the distributive trades—just as our manufacturers from the earliest days of the war have absorbed cost increases in their factories."

Fathers' Night Event Set At Boys Club

Members of Lubbock Boys club will be hosts at a fathers' night program at 7:30 o'clock tonight, according to John W. Wilson, club director.

Mothers of boys whose fathers are in service, or otherwise are not able to attend, are especially invited to attend with their sons, Wilson said. uite a few mothers plan to attend, he added.

The program, which will be held on the inside of the building, will he as follows: 7:30 to 8 o'clock, open house and inspection of building, boys serving as guides; 8 to 8:10, Welcome and introductions by J. Ray Dickey, president of the American Business club; 8:10 to 8:30, boxing and tumbling, directed by Jeff Jeffreys, 8:30 to 8:55, Dr. O. C. Boone, magician, and Dunnagans Hawaiian artists; 8:55 to 9, election of officers and announcements; 9 o'clock, refreshments.

County Judge G. V. Pardue will serve as master of ceremonies.

SPAAF, Buffs Clash Tonight; Raiders Get Set For Lobos

LUBBOCK EVENING JOURNAL
SPORTS
PAGE EIGHT. LUBBOCK, TEX., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1944

Commandos To Take To Air

The passing arm of Paul Campbell against the swivel hips of Eddie Castleberry will be the lure offered fans tonight at 8 o'clock at Tech stadium when the pass minded South Plains Army Air Field Winged Commandos and West Texas State Teachers college's battling Buffs tangle.

Playing their last scheduled game of the season and making their only appearance in Lubbock this year, the Buffs will be heavily favored over the Commandos by virtue of their 14-42 win over Lubbock Army Air Field, a team which defeated the SPAAF team easily, 46 to 14.

Weights Well Divided

Although the Buffs' forward wall will be slightly outweighed by the Commandos, the Canyonites will boast a weight advantage in the backfield, since the heaviest SPAAF starting back is 175-pound Paul Campbell at left halfback.

West Texas State Teachers college alumni and Lubbock football fans in general are looking forward to their first glimpse of the high-surging Buffaloes, especially the highly-touted Eddie Castleberry, who has been the Buffs' outstanding star this year and has shown up well even against such powerful teams as Amarillo Army Air Field and the Oklahoma Aggies.

It has been mainly due to Castleberry's sensational broken-field running that West Texas State has not been held scoreless in any game they have played this year, despite their rough schedule and man-killing opposition.

The game may resolve itself into a running and passing duel between Castleberry, only senior letterman on the Buff squad who hails from Vernon, and 18-year-old Paul Campbell of SPAAF, ex-Breckenridge high school star who has figured in all of SPAAF's scoring this year.

West Texas will start a fast, comparatively heavy backfield averaging about 182 pounds, while the SPAAF backfield will average only about 162 pounds. However, SPAAF may run in at some time during the game a mammoth converted tackle at fullback, a 250-pounder named Nishon Parseghian who is built like a bulldozer and is very fast for his size.

The West Texas-SPAAF tilt will be homecoming for two former Texas Tech freshman gridders Tackle Dave Browder and Guard Dwaine Lyons, who played for the Picadors in 1941.

Rumors Say Landis Ready To Retire

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Rumors that Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis was ready to retire were rife today as a group of major league officials met to consider the big league agreement which, among other things, provides for procedure to be taken in event of a vacancy in the office.

For the past several months there have been unconfirmed reports in baseball circles that Landis, who assumed baseball's highest office when the present major league pact was signed on Jan. 12, 1921, was not to be a candidate for reelection when the agreement expires on Jan. 12, 1946. The rumors have increased in hot stove fans since Landis' recent illness, which has confined him to St. Luke's hospital for the last six weeks.

Frogs Leading SWC, But They Are Underdogs

BY HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs are in the unique position of leading the Southwest conference football race but being underdogs in every game they play.

Tomorrow they face another opponent expected to tear them apart — the University of Texas.

It was like that when they played Arkansas, Texas A. and M. and Texas Tech. But the Frogs are still hale and hearty and haven't lost a game to a team in the Southwest.

Texas' Line Strong

The critics don't think the Frogs can stand up before the giant Texas line. Too big, too tough, too experienced, too much manpower, they say. Well, they might go around or pass over the Longhorns mightn't they? And that's what Coach Dutch Meyer plans to try.

"We can't hope to run that line," he says. "We can't even hope to keep them from running us with that line. Our only chance is to try a touchdown heave every time we get hold of the ball."

But the wily Meyer had something on the same order to say last week when T. C. U. played Texas Tech. Didn't have a chance, he told the football populace. Score: Texas Christian 14, Texas Tech 0.

'Blue Chips' Affair

Anyway, tomorrow's game is a blue chips affair for Texas. The Longhorns are a little on the unique side, too. They need to win to stay in the race yet are favored to beat T. C. U. Now how'd the Longhorns get in such a precarious state if they're so tough?

Fully as important — at least for the teams involved — is the Rice-Texas A. and M. game at Houston. The Owls had expected to be leading the race today but stumbled up at Fayetteville Saturday and lost to Arkansas. Thus, they too much win tomorrow to remain in the battle for the conference championship.

It's a big afternoon's work that faces Rice. The Owls are going against the top offensive team of the league in the big, tough Aggies who have averaged more than 11 yards rushing and passing per game. All they've needed to do was hold onto the ball.

Cadets Really Rolling

It's been some time since Rice has beaten A. and M. Fired up as they were against Texas, the Owls would have an excellent chance to break the winless string. But it's going to take jam-up football to turn down the Cadets, who are really rolling at last.

Arkansas, which already had done better than any season since 1937, will journey to Dallas to play the fading Southern Methodist Mustangs. But winning that game, which Arkansas is generally expected to do, the Razorbacks can clinch a first-division berth and it would be within the realm of possibility to cop the championship.

There could be quite a jumble in the standings should Texas beat Texas Christian, Rice down A. and M. and Arkansas beat S. M. U.

Some 40,000 fans are due to see the three games with the largest throng at Houston where 20,000 are expected to turn out.

Sheppard Field Five Books Phillips Tilt

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 17 (AP)—Sheppard field's post basketball team has booked the nationally famous Phillips 66 outfit.

The game is to be played Feb. 2 in Bartlesville, Okla., Capt. Harold Esanderson, post physical training officer, announced today.

Sheppard field will open its 17-game schedule tomorrow night against Frederick. The first home game is carded Nov. 24 with Altus (Okla) Army Air field.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

'Veteran' Tech Lineup Is Due

Texas Tech's Red Raiders worked on the gymnasium floor Thursday afternoon to polish up their offense and defense for Saturday afternoon's battle at Tech stadium with the New Mexico Lobos. Kickoff will be at 2:30 o'clock.

Coach Dell Morgan showed the boys pictures of the Rice game, then sent them on the hardwood floor to run through the plays and set the defense designed to stop the swivel hips of Calland and the southpaw passing of Rice.

One More Workout

The Red Raiders will have one more day in which to polish off their play before Coach Morgan sends his "Infant Infantry" against the Marines.

But Coach Morgan indicated Thursday that the Red Raiders might present the most veteran lineup that it has started in any game this year, with lettermen Don Dudley and Walter Schlinkman sure to start, and T. M. Cox, letterman from Muleshoe, holding an inside track for the quarterback post, vacated this week by Gene Hardey.

Hardey Still Out

Hardey is still on the sidelines with an injured knee, received in the TCU game last week. Just who will fill his place remains in doubt, but Cox appears to hold an inside track over Ernest Hawkins of Lamesa, freshman quarterback.

With the exception of the change in quarterbacks, Coach Morgan indicated that he would probably start the same lineup as started last week against the Horned Frogs.

Four Teams Retain Perfect Records

(By The Associated Press)

The four remaining high school teams with untied and undefeated records meet relatively weak opposition in games today and few fans gave serious thought to the possibility of any one of them coming out loser.

The four, Paschal (Fort Worth), Waco, Goose Creek and Austin, meet Arlington Heights (Fort Worth), Cleburne, Beaumont and Corpus Christi. On the basis of the season records, the big four should have little trouble.

Meanwhile, the feature battle of the state is scheduled at Longview where Marshall and Longview meet to settle the leadership of district 11.

Last night Amon Carter-Riverside, (Fort Worth) beat Masonic Home 6-0; North Dallas polished off Adamson (Dallas) 7-0 and Jeff Davis and San Jacinto played a scoreless tie.

Bowling Foul Line Judges On Way Out

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 17 (AP) — Foul line judges — those silent men who sit up against a wall in bowling alleys and press little buttons when you slide over the black line are likely to be looking for other jobs after the war.

The American Bowling congress has imposed the death sentence on foul line judges by approving a "fouldicator" — an electric device that registers fouls by means of an electric eye and wall contact plates.

Seven similar devices had been presented to the ABC previously but all had some faults and were rejected. The fouldicator, however, a special ABC committee decided after watching it in operation, overcame all objections.

Army, Navy, Notre Dame, Ohio State Are Picked As Winners

BY JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (U.P.) — Picking the football winners — maybe!

East: Army over Pennsylvania —Can't blame these Quakers for quaking; Navy over Purdue — Some line these Sailors hand out; Dartmouth over Cornell — Big Red gets a coat of Green; Yale over North Carolina — Much finah to have stayed in Carolina; Colgate over Syracuse — Without lathering the Orange too much.

Also Penn State over Maryland, Brown over Columbia, Bucknell over Villanova, Lafayette over Lehigh, Princeton over Swarthmore, New York U. over Brooklyn college, Harvard over Tufts, Melville PT base over Holy Cross.

Midwest: Ohio State over Illinois — Says Nellie the necromancer; Notre Dame over Northwestern — Irish still groggy but game; Minnesota over Iowa — At least geographically; Michigan over Wisconsin — Showing several ways to skin a Badger; Iowa State over Drake — We couldn't duck this.

Also Indiana over Pittsburgh, Oklahoma over Kansas, Great Lakes over Marquette, Iowa Pre-Flight over Missouri, Miami (O.) over Depauw, Ohio Wesleyan over Oberlin, Kansas State over Washburn.

South: Auburn over Georgia — Asserts Paula the palm reader; Mississippi over Alabama — Hold your breath; V. M. I. over W. and M.—Not too easy; Duke over South Carolina — Debbils have easy day; Tennessee over Temple —Owl meat for the Volunteers.

Also Tulane over Clemson, Kentucky over West Virginia, Georgia Tech over Louisiana State, North Carolina Pre-Flight over Camp Perry, North Carolina State over Richmond, Miami U. over Presbyterian.

Southwest: Texas over Texas Christian — Closer than Siamese Twins; Texas Aggies over Rice—Farmers ration the cereal; Arkansas over Southern Methodist — Hobbling the Mustang.

Also Randolph field over Southwestern (Texas), Texas Tech over New Mexico.

Far West: Southern California over California — No tie this time; Colorado U. over Colorado college — Putting us up in the air.

Also U. C. L. A. over College of Pacific, March field over San Diego Navy, 2d Air force over Washington.

236 ON HONOR ROLL

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP) — The American league's honor roll — baseball players in service in the armed forces — carry the names of 236, President William Harridge said today. In addition, 31 players retired from playing to enter vital war work.

On a Gnomonic projection map any straight line in any direction is a "great circle"—the shortest aviation route.

Week-End Grid Slate Light In South Plains; Brownfield To Meet Plainview In Top Game

Only a light schedule is offered to football fans on the South Plains this week-end and what conference games are scheduled could make no changes in the championship picture anywhere along the line.

The District 1-AA race will take the limelight, with a pair conference games basking in the pale light. The race will find the Brownfield Cubs moving into Plainview for the most important battle of the two.

COWHANDS BLACK IDLE

The Lubbock Cowhands Black team will be idle this week, E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey announced Thursday night, following the cancelling of the game scheduled for Chapman field this afternoon with the Ropesville eleven. School officials at Ropes informed Lowrey they would be unable to bring the team to Lubbock today.

Two 1-AA Games

The Brownfield-Plainview battle should produce a real thriller with the Cubs sending a pair of good backs in Chambliss and Hill against pass minded Jack Williams, plus the running game of Weldon and Horne.

The Borger Bulldogs will move into Pampa in the other conference game, which will find Pampa heavily favored to keep the Bulldogs pushed out of the win column.

Much of the Class A interest will be centered on a non-conference game at Littlefield where the high scoring Wildcats will tangle with the fast improving Tulia eleven for the final tune-up of the Wildcat scoring machine before the Nov. 23 bi-district battle at Denver City.

Cowhands At Sudan

The Lubbock Cowhands Gold team will try to even the score with 5-A foes this afternoon at Sudan. The Cowhands were beaten last week by the powerful Levelland Lobos.

The battle of the Tubbs brothers will take the interest at Levelland where brother Gano Tubbs will send his Lobos against Coach Francis Tubbs' Andrews eleven.

The Denver City Mustangs are idle this week, and will likely hike to Littlefield to view their bi-district foes. One conference game in District 6-A will send the Post eleven to Seminole, while Coach Leo Jackson will take his runner-up Bulldogs to Monahans for an intersectional game.

Over in District 4-A, Lockney will go to Matador for a conference battle that finds both teams seeking the season's first victory.

The high stepping Meadow eleven will move into Petersburg for another game on the slate that should offer a fast moving thriller in the Class B ranks.

It's true that the Elector College has no football team, but it does have cheer leaders and, this year, a fair share of kickers!

CONSIDERABLE talk has been going around town in recent days and weeks about the changes which likely will come over Lubbock's retail and wholesale "face" as the result of sensational purchases of real estate and the post-war plans of many business houses to expand and remodel.

Most of the conversation has had to do with whether or not Broadway will continue westward and hold its grip on retail supremacy and, if not, what expansion may be expected on Avenues H, J and K, Texas Avenue, Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets. But in any discussion of Lubbock's future expansion it is not well to overlook those areas of Thirteenth street and Avenue Q in the vicinity of the Central Ward school grounds, or Nineteenth street in the vicinity of Avenue Q.

Lubbock Independent School district owns approximately four acres of land bounded on the north by Thirteenth street; lying westward from undeveloped Avenue P to a point on Thirteenth 150 feet or so east of Q; but also extending onto Q, between where Fourteenth street would join Q were it cut through from the east, and Fifteenth street.

That is a very valuable and highly desirable piece of property from a business standpoint, although its usefulness as school property has diminished to the point where it is neglibible.

Frankly and honestly, members of the Board of Trustees have been considering offering the Central Ward property for sale.

While the trustees yet have taken no formal action, nor have they gotten together on a price they'd be willing to take for the property, our guess is that $250,000 net to the school district would buy it tomorrow.

And don't think the property isn't worth $250,000 at present values. It is.

AS far as needing the Central Ward property for continued school use is concerned, the school system simply doesn't need it because there are no longer living adjacent to the school enough pupils to be served. Central Ward's youngsters largely are drawn from areas far removed from its grounds, because business property has so encroached upon it from the east, north and west that the area simply doesn't have enough population of school age to support it.

The school system needs more buildings than it has in other parts of Lubbock, and in areas adjacent to Lubbock, where residential sections have spread. But it doesn't need a school in Central Ward's location any more than the average Eskimo family needs a mechanical refrigerator.

The Central Ward property is highly versatile in its possibilities.

Should it pass from the school system to private hands, undoubtedly Fourteenth street would be opened from the east (where it comes to a dead end now at undeveloped Avenue P) into Avenue Q. Also, it is logical to suspect that Avenue P, development of which the school has halted, also would be opened up as a full street from Thirteenth to Fifteenth.

Either or both of these developments would be a boon to traffic and to life in general in the neighborhood affected. Either, or both, would improve property values, too.

Almost anything can be done, commercially speaking, with the Central Ward property. It would be fine for one of the big downtown churches, which could use a part of the ground and sell off the rest. It would lend itself nicely to an apartment hotel and an adjacent neighborhood shopping center. And don't overlook the fact that it would be perfect for that city auditorium, or convention hall, which has been Lubbock's No. 1 municipal need for a long time now.

THE brethren of the First Baptist church have been at least mildly interested in the Central Ward property for some time. Should they purchase it, they'd have a wonderful location for a church, an educational and recreational building, and a manse — then could sell off what was left with little or no trouble.

If the City of Lubbock would purchase the grounds for a convention hall and municipal auditorium, part of the remaining property could be used for parking spaces and the balance sold to private individuals.

An apartment hotel located on the corner would leave a vast area — including the lots facing Avenue Q — for other commercial development and operators of the apartment hotel would have a location which always, as long as there is a Lubbock, would be advantageously located.

Verily, what is done with the Central Ward property when the school system sells it will be important to the future of the city.

As to the section centering around Nineteenth and Avenue Q, it is a "natural" to continue as the city's chief outlying business section for considerable time to come. It has the Avenue Y-College avenues area of Nineteenth bested because Tech and expensive residential property halt expansion to the west. Furthermore, as Avenue Q continues to develop toward Thirty-fourth street, that thoroughfare will be even more heavily traveled than it is now.

G. F. Wacker, who bought the Wheelock corner on which to locate a downtown store offering goods at from five cents to $5, plans a suburban store of the same kind in the Nineteenth and Q section and Joe Bryant expects to construct a moving picture show somewhere in that neighborhood, too.

Since various businesses now are operating in the vicinity of Nineteenth and Q, it is logical to expect there will be more and more as time marches on.

VERILY, the individual who left Lubbock around 1940 and who, for some reason or another, doesn't get back before five years after victory won't know the old town.

Especially if expansion of the oil business countinues in this area, our bustling little trading post is destined to burst, during the next decade, into full bloom as considerable of a city.

With growth and expansion will come municipal problems we've never known before, and all connected with them will not be beer and skittles.

But we'd just as well look the situation in the face and, as a populace, do whatever we can to promote orderly growth as we go along.

Feminine Viewpoint

BY RUTH MILLETT

(Copyright. 1944. For The Journal)

DON'T get upset, girls, over the Census bureau's recent, and at first glance alarming, figures in regard to the eligible man shortage.

MILLETT

You probably know the figures by heart—but if you don't the Census bureau's vital statistics are: At present there are only 1,700,000 unmarried men between the ages of 20 and 34 in civilian life and 4,000,000 unmarried women in the same age group. That, alarmists have been quick to point out, is only 425-thousandths of a man apiece, if all the girls have matrimony on their minds.

But even though the Census bureau can't promise you a whole man for your very own — don't feel that you are, therefore, the lost generation.

MUST SHARE HIM

NO woman who marries ever gets a whole man. She discovers that half of him belongs to his business or profession, or she finds to her amazement that a good part of him belongs to his guns, or to his fishing tackle, or to his poker gang. She may even find in time that she is sharing her man with another woman, or with politics—or even drink.

And certainly a big part of the average man belongs to his employer or to his clients. This is most noticeable when a women makes plans for a vacation or a party, and then has to call it off because her husband's business interferes.

So any honest wife will tell you that if the census gives you hopes of having 425-thousandths of a man you aren't too badly off.

Those figures might even make you philosophical enough not to expect a whole man for life just because you walk down a church aisle with one.

Star Beams

So you have to work for a living, do you? Well, now, that's bad. Still, everybody can't have political pull.

LET THE OLD TALES LIVE ON!

In pleasant little Frederick, Maryland, the other day the house once occupied and made famous by Barbara Fritchie was sold, thereby bringing back into the limelight the argument over whether Dame Barbara did or did not lean out of an upper window and shout defiance at Confederate troops marching through the town.

Scarcely a school child or, for that matter, an adult in the land fails to remember John G. Whittier's poem dealing with the event, real or imaginary. One of the classics of American literature, Whittier's poem, "Barbara Fritchie," does what all great literature must do to be great: paints a vivid word picture of the scene it describes.

"Up the street came the Rebel tread, Stonewall Jackson riding ahead," wrote Whittier, and who among us fails to see in his mind's eye the gray-clad men of the South, swinging along toward nearby Gettysburg? Who has difficulty in picturing Dame Barbara, shouting and gesticulating at the invaders? And what Southerner fails to thrill at the chivalry of the bearded Jackson as he commanded: "Who touches a hair of yon gray head, dies like a dog! March on,' he said . . ."?

Of course, The Journal has no way of knowing whether Barbara Fritchie did what song and story say she did. No one knows now. But for our part, we're willing to go on accepting the story at face value because it is a part and parcel of the American scene of yesteryear.

There has been entirely too much "debunking" of harmless stories by cynical moderns, who can be no more certain that parts of American folklore they object to are false than others can be certain they were true. George Washington and the cherry tree; George Washington and his throwing of a dollar across the broad Potomac; Barbara Fritchie's defiance; Grant's refusal to accept the sword of Lee—anecdotes such as these by the dozens have been questioned and maligned in recent years. But, as far as we are concerned, the questioning and the maligning serve no good purpose.

Stories like the one about Barbara Fritchie and Stonewall Jackson at Frederick are pulsating accounts of eras that are gone, yet at the same time they contribute, each in its little way, to the brave past and the promising future of the nation.

Borrowing a term from Walter Winchell, we say "Scallions to the debunkers," and three cheers for Barbara Fritchie, for Stonewall Jackson and for the men who made the sounds of the Rebel tread at Frederick, probably grinning in admiration of the old girl's courage in "telling them off!"

COMPROMISE PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — Senator Hatch (D-NM) today proposed a compromise for a House-passed bill exempting insurance companies from the federal anti-trust laws. He told the Senate he would offer it as a substitute if the House bill is brought up in the Senate this session.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

This Country Needs Another Dolly Gann!

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. — If Vice President Thomas Marshall were alive today, he would reaffirm what he said in Woodrow Wilson's day—that "what this country needs is a good five-cent cigar."

Looking over the aftermaths of the late campaign, its rancor and its political wounds, this columnist suggests that what this country needs is a good Dolly Gann social war — something to take our minds off politics.

PEARSON

Now if Mrs. Henry Wallace could just be persuaded to get into a row with Mrs. Harry Truman as to who should sit where at dinner, we would all have something to talk about. If only Senator Truman could be persuaded to issue a statement that, as Vice-President-elect, he considers it the prerogative of his wife to enter the dining room ahead of Mrs. Henry Wallace! Then we could begin to forget our troubles.

Things weren't so tense in the Hoover administration, and folks weren't thinking so hard about war and politics. But even so, Vice President Charlie Curtis patriotically came forward with an official announcement that his half-sister, Dolly Gann, was entitled to sit ahead of the wife of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth. And Mrs. Longworth patriotically did her bit by boiling over with resentment.

The country had a marvelous time and nobody worried about anything else for weeks.

HAIR-PULLING

MRS. Truman and Mrs. Wallace also are patriotic people, and they might give this idea serious consideration. They ought to consider seriously the fact that we have had too much rowing among quarrelsome old men. Governor Dewey has emphasized it, the columnists have written about it. It's an old, old story. So what we really need is a good hair-pulling contest between two lovely ladies.

It is true that Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Truman are good friends. But they can put friendship in the background for the good of the country. It is true also that Vice President Wallace, despite what must have been bitter disappointment for him at Chicago, swallowed his personal feelings and went down the line for Roosevelt and Truman like the good sport and real gentleman that he is.

But despite that, we think the Truman and Wallace families might well put patriotism before personal affection, and do something for their country.

Some folks might argue that not many people are going to formal dinners during the war, and that Wallace was never a great diner-out anyway. However, this is different. Even the OPA would probably waive its rules and dispense a few extra points to hostesses who would lay their tables for a good hot social war.

FURTHERMORE, it has never been decided yet where a Vice President and a Vice-President-elect should sit at dinner in relation to each other. Hitherto, one of them was usually out in the sticks and didn't come to Washington until Inauguration Day. They never came to grips at the dinner table. But now, we are faced with the fact that, in the Senate, Henry Wallace will sit on the dais and preside, while Senator Truman will be down on the Senate floor looking up at him.

That doesn't seem right. Here is the Vice-President-elect who has been chosen by the people—with the help of Hannegan, Kelly and Flynn—and he should not have to sit on the Senate floor looking up at the man he has edged out of the Vice Presidency.

Of course, Henry Wallace always gets tired presiding over the Senate after the first hour and usually turns the gavel over to somebody else, frequently to Harry Truman. But this isn't good showmanship. It isn't right. It doesn't help entertain the American people.

After all, the American people have something coming to them. They have really taken it on the chin. They have argued, yelled, listened to the radio, read the columnists, and finally voted in the toughest election since Abraham Lincoln. This campaign actually was much harder on them than on the candidates. The candidates only had to make the speeches. The American people had to listen.

So they deserve reward. And we think it is up to the Vice President and Vice-President-elect to oblige.

It used to be said that the Vice President was the diner-out of every administration. But in these war days, when manpower is short and everyone is doubling up on work, the Vice President should take on the extra job of being the chief diverter of the nation.

We hope the Truman and Wallace families' patriotism will be equal to it.

Today's Thought

And your altars shall be desolate, and your images shall be broken: and I will cast down your slain men before your idols. — Ezekiel 6:4.

"It's Time The People Get What They Asked For" Stokes Says

Public Must Keep Constantly On The Alert

By THOMAS L. STOKES

Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—There has been much comment—and rightly so—about what a fine proof of democracy there was in our national election, carried out in the midst of a war being fought to perpetuate and extend the democratic process.

It was a splendid tribute. This was demonstrated by the reaction among peoples all over the world who look to this nation for leadership in creating a better order out of the catastrophe of war.

Stokes

But there is another test of democracy ahead, one that the people sometimes neglect.

This is to keep continually alert to see that the mandates of the election, the things about which the people spoke up so plainly, are carried into execution. This is more important than ever, for those were big things that the people talked about this year through the ballot box, things that will affect our lives for many years.

People Must Inform Selves

There is a tendency in this city, with so many people handling the ball, for the ball to get lost often. It is hard for the people to find out who got away with it, to find out what happened to all the good intentions they voted at the polls. Responsibility is shared by so many, from the President through the administrative offices and into Congress, that it is often difficult to fix the blame.

It is essential for the people to inform themselves and to keep their eyes on Washington to see that the election does not get lost here.

ON election day the people spoke out forcibly on some major issues.

They want the United States to join an international organization to prevent future wars. They want job security at home. They want major New Deal reforms continued and more efficiently administered. They want Social Security extended to millions not now covered.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: During the rest of Ernie Pyle's rest period, this space usually filled by daily dispatches of the famed "GI War Correspondent" will be filled by Thomas L. Stokes, celebrated Washington commentator on the national scene. Stokes is a Pulitzer prize winner recently voted by Washington correspondents as their colleague who does the best all around job, measured in fairness, reliability and ability to analyze the news. Ernie Pyle's column will be resumed when Pyle returns to active service, probably next in the South Pacific).

There is no mistake on these points, for both parties agreed on these principles.

Yet they can be lost. After the last war, it was believed by those familiar with public opinion that the people wanted the league of nations espoused by Woodrow Wilson. Yet, somehow it got lost when a fine spray of propaganda was played upon a nation weary of the thought of war. Nor did those who voted for "a return to normalcy" think it would mean what they got in the Harding administration.

Side Issues Coming

There are dangers again. Side issues will be raised, and with seeming plausibility, against the international peace organization. It is such a big subject, easy to confuse. The next Congress will have a quota of those who will try to divert this mandate of the election.

As far as domestic issues are concerned, the next Congress also will have its quota of Southern leaders who can join with Republicans, as in the present Congress, to hamstring effective action.

THE people spoke in protest, too, about some things going on in Washington. The minority vote was strong, and should be a warning to the administration.

The people want better administration in Washington, less onerous regulation, less upkeep. They want less personal government. They want less block and pressure government. Some protested against too much labor influence in government through too close affiliation with the Democratic party. Some within the Democratic party feel this, and it undoubtedly was reflected in the smaller vote President Roosevelt got in the South.

The fact that big-city machines helped swell the Democratic majorities did not represent any endorsement of them by the electorate.

The people spoke out. It is now up to them to see that they get what they asked for.

Climax Battle On In Europe

army troops completely surrounded the Verdun Fort Groui just southwest of the city and across the Moselle from the stronghold of Fort Driant. Infantry captured Lorry le Metz, a mile northwest of the city.

The twin offensive of the First and Ninth armies had deepened the five-to-10 mile wedge in the Siegfried line by at least one to two miles, with the doughboys now fighting within seven miles of Julich and 28 miles from the Rhine.

The First and Ninth armies, fighting shoulder to shoulder in sectors from 21 to 28 miles from Cologne on the Rhine, deepened their wedge in the Siegfried line by one to two miles and advanced to within seven miles of Julich, a communications center on the Cologne plain.

The first and Ninth were supported in their jump-off attack yesterday by the greatest air fleet ever to go into a single action in direct aid of ground forces.

6,000 Planes In Attack

Nearly 6,000 bombers and fighters blasted at the gateway to the Rhine with 13,000 tons of explosives for five hours yesterday and infantrymen captured hundreds of Germans stunned by the onslaught.

On the Americans' left flank the British Second army in Holland capped a 12-mile advance in three days by capturing Wessen, on the Maas below Roermond in Holland, and Buggenum, three miles north of Roermond. The British virtually reached the Maas on a seven-mile front in this sector facing the German border from three to seven miles farther east.

Highlighting the ever-present danger of a fresh offensive sweep around the Germans' northern flank, Allied patrols slipped across the lower Maas between 'S-Hertogenbosch and Moerdijk. German artillery reacted violently.

Germans Fall Back Fast

Pursued by British units mounted in kangeroos—armored vehicles converted into troop carriers—the Germans fell back so rapidly in the flat, canal-broken country near Roarmond that the Tommies lost contact.

The Germans were reported withdrawing to their defense lines east of the Maas river.

A field dispatch from the Ninth army sector said possibly a dozen German towns were captured yesterday in the first day of its attack near Geilenkirchen, while the First army surged eastward from Aachen in gains that averaged up to two miles in the initial thrust.

Aim At Heart Of Reich

Fighting on German soil, and aimed at the heart of Germany's industrial Rhineland with Cologne only 35 miles away, the two armies apparently caught the enemy off-balance while German divisions were preparing an attack on the First army at Aachen.

While the tank-led troops of the First army pushed their breach of the Siegfried line deeper, the Ninth rolled forward through the towns of Immendorf, Floverich, Euchen and Beggendorf, all east of Geilenkirchen, and representing advances of about a miles.

The onslaught of the First and Ninth armies into Germany was marked by a considerable increase in the German use of flying bombs, a front line dispatch said.

Close In On Metz

To the south, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army closed in to within a mile and a half of Metz on the north, south and west, by-passing German forts, working into the suburbs and fighting into the hangars of an airfield a mile southwest of the city.

But the Germans apparently were placing their reliance there on a last ditch stand inside the city with its thick stone walls and narrow streets. A prisoner was quoted as saying the Germans were throwing up barricades and stringing the streets with wire, suggesting a stand such as at Aachen.

Above Metz the Third army deepened its Thionville bridgehead to 12 miles, reaching the vicinity of Monneren, La Croix and Metzervisse where they would cut the last German railway north out of Metz, and pushing into Ewendorff, four miles from the German border.

Prisoners Total 8,396

Patton's prisoners in his 10-day drive mounted to 8,396.

Below Metz in the Seventh army sector, the Germans set afire St. Die, first town in the Vosges pass of Saales, and at least five other villages within an eight to 10-mile arc. They looted and ruined in a slow retreat. The Americans had punched to within a mile of St. Die.

The French First army's armor and infantry slashed three miles off the road to Belfort in the pass north of the Swiss frontier. They captured the town of Laire, only eight miles from Belfort, and occupied six other towns.

The French had gained six or seven miles in two days in an offensive on a 25-mile front on both sides of the Doubs river.

Nazis Blast Installations

St. Die was under a gloomy smoke shroud as the Germans dynamited bridges and other installations to stall the push of Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch. The Americans could see the villages of Remancourt, La Voivre, Corcieux, Les Cours and La Pecherie aflame.

The new attack of the American First and Ninth armies hit the Germans in front of the Cologne plain—the road to the Ruhr and Berlin.

The First army, pouring its tanks and fighting men through wooded hill country southeast of Aachen, was edging ever closer to the Roer river, whose broad muddy valley is a major obstacle.

Paralyzing enemy supply and communications systems in preparation for the assault, heavy bombers, fighterbombers and medium bombers of the American and British air forces blasted the Duren-Eschweiler road with 5,000 tons of fragmentation bombs. They attacked fuel and ammunition dumps at Duren, Julich and Heinsberg with 5,000 tons of high explosive, hit gun positions, strafed and bombed trains, trucks and enemy troops.

With the launching of this aerial assault, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower threw his winter offensive into high gear, with six armies hammering for an opening to Berlin in a supreme bid to crush the military might of Germany this year.

Daily Markets

Stock Market

MANY LEADERS RETIRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP) — Stocks generally shadow-boxed with recovery in today's market and, while scattered favorites were moderately aggressive, many leaders backed away or retired to a neutral corner.

The usual week-end caution stalled some potential purchasers. The big push through the western front stressed reconversion doubts, on the idea the Germans may be nearer collapse than most realize.

Dealings were relatively light throughout, running to around 700,000 shares for the full proceedings.

Resistant were Emerson Electric, at a 1944 peak; Chrysler, Northern Pacific, Johns-Manville, Paramount Pictures, Westinghouse, American Can, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Boeing and Kennecott. Down most of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, American Smelting, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Texas Pacific Land Trust and U. S. Rubber.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP) — After declining 50 cents a bale on hedge selling and commission house liquidation, the cotton futures recovered partly as mill buying and local covering met only light offerings. Activity was limited as traders awaited fresh incentives and further developments on the subsidy program.

Futures closed 20 cents a bale lower to 5 cents higher.

operation technicalities which must be ironed out between the airlines and the Civil Aeronautics authority.

BCD directors this morning took the attitude that Lubbock should aid and support any airline application which would provide service for Lubbock but indicated a preference for those lines which would provide transcontinental service or connections with transcontinental lines.

The Braniff application from Oklahoma City is a proposed new application to be filed before the CAB and officials are hopeful that a hearing on the case will be conducted in Washington soon after the first of the year.

Tin Can Drive Is To Start In City Monday

A tin can drive beginning Monday and continuing so long as our armed forces need materials in which tin is used, was announced this morning by the chamber of commerce.

Grocery store operators are being urged by salvage officials to have a box located in a convenient place in their stores where customers can put tin cans. Local soft drink bottlers will pick up these cans daily.

Cans placed for collection should have their labels removed, both ends cut out and placed inside the can and flattened.

Tin cans are said to be the No. 1 salvage item needed at the present time and this method of collection is being used throughout the nation.

Custody of James M. Ward, alias Buddy Ward, was surrendered by Lubbock police Thursday afternoon to a Texas ranger from Breckenridge, who took him there to face an investigation into car theft. Ward was identified by fingerprint records after his arrest by Lubbock police this week. He formerly had been sentenced from Abilene for robbery.

Mrs. Allie M. Dyer of 2020 Seventeenth underwent a major operation in St. Mary's hospital this morning. Hospital authorities reported early this afternoon that her condition was "satisfactory." Mrs. Dyer became ill Tuesday night and was taken to the hospital.

Snow Blankets Area

ed north to Canyon, south to Lamesa, northwest to Texico and southeast to Sweetwater, the Santa Fe dispatcher's office at Slaton reported.

The dispatcher here for Fort Worth and Denver reported that Hart and Dimmitt had received a one-inch snow and it was still snowing at 9 o'clock this morning. Turkey received a light shower. Heavy mist and snow was falling at Plainview, mist at Silverton, and rain and snow at Petersburg.

The snow came down steadily in giant flakes for about three hours yesterday afternoon after rain and snow took turn about during the morning. Most of the flakes melted as they hit the ground.

Weeks of almost perfect harvesting weather was terminated.

Fear that the rain and snow would lower the grade of cotton was expressed by Don Jones, experiment station superintendent. Damage almost certainly is expected to result to the huge mounds of threshed sorghum gain on farms throughout the country.

County Farm Agent Jason O. Gordon said that many transient farm laborers might leave if wet weather continued several days. He knew of five big crews of workers who left the county yesterday.

Harvest Near End

Gordon estimated that most of the Lubbock county cotton crop would have been gathered in two more weeks if dry weather had continued. Half of the county's cotton crop and 90 per cent of the grain crop have been harvested, he ventured.

"But this moisture will be good for winter small grain crops and will serve as a start on a winter season," the agent said. "Land on which farmers have recently plowed under their feed stalks was in an ideal condition to soak up this moisture."

There is "a tremendous lot" of unmarketed grain piled on farms, Gordon declared. Many farmers, he said, have been waiting for higher prices. Shortage of railroad cars for hauling have prevented others from moving their grain, he added.

Jones said snow at this time of year is unusual but by no means a rarity. "As well as I remember, we had a heavy snow five or six years ago on Nov. 11," Jones said, pointing out other instances of early snow.

W. E. Twitty, veteran fire chief, was led to recall that 39 years ago, soon after he came to Lubbock, a 24-inch snow began to fall on Nov. 16.

"It started snowing on Nov. 16, snowed all the next day and into the night," Twitty reminisced. "On Nov. 18 there were 24 inches of snow on the ground—on the level, too."

"I remember a field of kaffir corn. Snow was five feet deep in the middles and all you could see above the snow were the heads."

DISAGREEABLE WEATHER CONTINUES IN AREA

(By The United Press)

The season's first touch of disagreeable weather refused to relinquish its grip on Texas and New Mexico today with prospects that residents of most of the areas in these two states would have at least another day of cold, rain or snow.

Continued cloudiness with occasional rain and chilling, but not freezing, temperatures were forecast for both states this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow with some snow predicted in New Mexico. West Texas may get some respite by tomorrow with only partly cloudy skies forecast for that area.

Light snow was falling this morning at Guadalupe Pass and Salt Flat in West Texas and at Clovis in New Mexico while drizzling rain and showers were reported from numerous places in both states.

Only one place in Texas—Guadalupe Pass—reported a subfreezing mercury reading this morning, while at least eight points in New Mexico reported temperatures ranging from 32 at Clovis, Anton, Chico and Tumcumcari, to 19 at Las Vegas, where three inches of snow lay on the ground.

Minimum temperatures in Texas included 29 at Guadalupe Pass, 34 at Salt Flat, 35 at Pampa and Dalhart, 36 at Amarillo, 37 at Midland, 38 at El Paso and Big Spring, 40 at Abilene and Wichita Falls, 42 at San Angelo, 44 at Austin, 45 at San Antonio, Waco and Dallas, 46 at Texarkana and Sulphur Springs, 50 at Houston, 51 at Victoria, and 53 at Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

Chetnik Leader Has To Flee In Underwear

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP) — Marshal Tito's partisans caused Gen. Draja Mihailovic, the Chetnik leader, to flee in his underwear in order to escape capture at Valjevo, a member of the Yugoslav government-in-exile declares.

"Mihailovic apparently was so surprised when Tito's forces entered Valjevo that he didn't have time to put on his trousers," Dr. Troyan Gavilovic, Yugoslav undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, said last night. "He dived out of a window in his underwear and fled into the night."

Two camels and a donkey, about which there was a swirl of uncertainty Thursday afternoon, will have dry, warm stable facilities, it was announced this morning by C. S. Finney, general representative of Luenen Passion play which will be presented in seven performances commencing with a 3 o'clock matinee Saturday afternoon.

A garage four blocks from Senior High school, where the play will run through Tuesday under sponsorship of the Lions club, was offered to show officials. The animals will spend tonight in a special veterinary department stall at Texas Tech, then be placed in the garage the remainder of the time.

Camels Are Temperamental

The thieves who later are driven out of the temple ride onto the stage on the camels, who are possibly the most temperamental of beasts of burden. The Christus rides the donkey.

"Lubbock should not feel embarrassed at the temporary uncertainty," Finney said. "It happens most everywhere we show. People don't at first understand why we have to have the camels so close to the place of showing. Their very temperamental qualities are responsible; if they are required to ride to the show, or to walk very far, they are apt to balk right on the stage—and when a camel balks you've got something like nothing else."

Ticket orders continued to pour in, Finney said.

"Looks like there may be a sell out," he said.

Barrage Described

ed as a "human wall." They were dug in foxholes and inside houses of "fortified towns." Many died without knowing what had hit them.

Having seen brave men and wild beasts crack as they do sometimes in the grip of a terrible earthquake, I could have sworn there would be no opposition when the zero hour came.

Yet, when our tanks and doughboys went over the top after the barrage, as in the battle of Verdun, there were Germans still alive and they fought us with violence.

They pumped their own shells and mortars frenziedly when they saw our tanks and infantry-laden half-tracks massing for the attack. But that fire didn't stop the Americans.

Straight into this valley of death they charged; straight into the place where a minefield had been; straight into the heart of what had been one of the toughest sectors in Adolf Hitler's reinforced defense line.

Overran Two Towns

In barely a half hour after "H" hour, our tanks and infantry overran two German towns southeast of Aachen. They were towns which had been spared by heavy and medium bombers, but now were in flames from the dive-bombing P-38's.

The Americans didn't do it without loss, though. I saw three of our leading tanks knocked out in rapid order by a dug-in 88 ahead and I saw crewmen streak out in a hail of bursting German mortars.

The middle tank, however, hung on and kept fighting. That tank drew lavish praise from the commanding officer of a famous armored unit who was standing beside me in the observation post.

More Tanks Hit

More of our tanks were hit, but others kept going. When they by-passed a house ahead of us, doughbows went in and bagged a dozen prisoners. Six others streaked from the building as though they were being chased by the devil himself. One fell, clawing the earth, and others dropped to the ground in paralyzed terror.

Enemy mortar fire still was heavy, but our half-track ambulances flying the Red Cross flag kept pace with the tanks and infantry, treating the wounded on the battlefield. It was an inspiring sight and made one very proud to be an American.

I watched the battle for three hours and then raced back to file this dispatch. When I checked with field headquarters later, I learned all the American units in the area had reached their day's objectives.

raiders in a later strike at Borneo.

The Mapia island, 150 miles north of New Guinea, were invaded to eliminate the Japanese air warning system. MacArthur reported American landing parties had completed occupation of Pegun and were mopping up Japanese on Bras island.

MacArthur said American artillery continued to raise havoc with the Japanese although drenching rains temporarily bogged down double encircling movements. Several thousand enemy soldiers around Limon, about 15 miles north of Ormoc, were virtually surrounded and Yank infantrymen were within rifle range of their supply road.

First division cavalrymen consolidated mountain positions to the rear. No new progress was reported in the three-way push toward Ormoc.

Gain Control Of Ridge

The 24th division shot its way to control of bloody Breakneck ridge near Limon and the Yanks' right flank pushed to within 1,000 yards of the town. Entrenched Japanese stymied the left flank.

Japanese troops who recently captured the former U. S. air base town of Lieuchow in southeastern China, pushed on to take Ishan, the Chinese announced. Ishan is 43 miles northwest of Lieuchow. The enemy is pressing northwestward from Ishan toward Kweichow province and Chungking.

In Southwest Burma, Indian troops from the Chin hills joined East African captors of Kalemyo for a possible assault on Kalewa, 16 miles to the east. American-trained Chinese in Northwest Burma encircled by-passed Bhamo and cut off all escape routes of the trapped enemy garrison.

Soviets Pierce Defense Line

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 17 — Russian troops have pierced the main German defense line 10 miles east of Budapest, capturing the rail station of Gyomro, and in a pivot northeast of the besieged capital today threatened the key railway junctions of Godollo and Hatvan.

Far to the northeast other units of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukraine army struck to within five miles of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth city, which is now exposed to Red army artillery fire.

Battling along the roads leading around Budapest to Austria, the Russians yesterday crossed the Budapest-Miskolc railway at Vamosgyork Ina 12-mile advance from Jaszbereny and were moving toward Hatvan, Moscow announced last night. Hatvan is a junction of the Budapest-Miskolc line and terminal of the railway running north into Central Slovakia, 38 miles beyond.

Godollo Threatened

The threat to Godollo, less than 10 miles northeast of Budapest developed when powerful Soviet tank and infantry forces swept through Dany, less than 11 miles southeast. Godollo governs road and rail routes to Vienna and Central Slovakia.

The capture of Vamosgyork, where several trains and ammunition stores were seized, also threatened the entrapment of German and Hungarian forces still clinging to the central section of the Budapest-Miskolc trunk line.

Meanwhile, a midnight Soviet war bulletin indicated the Red air force had begun to track down the German fleet hiding in the Baltic. Since the RAF sinking of the Tirpitz, the only surface warships left to the Germans are believed trapped there. Torpedo planes of the Red banner Baltic fleet opened the attack by sinking a 6,000 ton transport in the big Nazi port of Danzig, the war bulletin said.

Nazis Face Crisis

Hitler" inscriptions are seen more and more on German walls).

Arsenals Stolen

A London Daily Herald dispatch said group leaders of the new Volksturm, or people's army, in three districts of Berlin were amazed to find that their entire arsenals of rifles, machineguns, and other weapons had been stolen "to the last cartridge."

Another dispatch asserted that the German people for the first time since the start of the war were engaged in a campaign of passive resistance against Nazi efforts to whip up morale for the final battles.

Madrid heard that Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, commander in chief of the German navy, had issued urgent orders for the formation of special regiments of idle navy personnel to be sent to the western front immediately.

Richard D. McMillan, United Press war correspondent with the British 2nd army, said members of the Luftwaffe fighting as infantry already had been encountered in southeast Holland. They were shifted to the ground forces when no more planes could be found, captured airmen told the British.

Unconfirmed reports continued to circulate that Hitler was gravely ill, mentally deranged, dead or had left for Japan or some neutral haven.

Sen. Smith Dies

didacy struck a snag. But Johnston defeated the veteran this year in the Democratic primary.

Smith's entire political career was based on a platform of three planks—white supremacy, a tariff for revenue only and more important, state's rights. He did not let an opportunity pass to emphasize it.

Walked Out Of Convention

A highlight of his colorful career came when he walked out of the 1936 Democratic convention at Philadelphia because a negro preacher blessed the gathering, and because—of all things to Smith—there were negro delegates.

He said there was "no place in the Democratic party for negroes."

Smith's senatorial career was wrapped up in cotton, which gave him his nickname. He was constantly pursuing some legislation affecting cotton. He was author of the cotton standards act; advocate of the government cotton loan, and the Senate's strongest mourer when the price of staple hit the rocks.

Greeted King And Queen

When King George and Queen Elizabeth visited Washington in 1939, Smith made the most of the event. He greeted the comely queen as "howdy, majesty" at the garden party at the British embassy, slapped King George on the back and informed him that he (Smith) was still living on land his ancestors received years ago as a grant from King George II.

Under Roosevelt, he served as chairman of the Senate agriculture committee which handled the New Deal farm legislation.

He opposed many of the New Deal proposals, including the Supreme court reorganization plan, and after the attempt to purge him from the Senate, Smith observed he was in the "dog house."

"But I can still bark," he added.

Lubbock Legionnaires On State Committees

Five members of the Lubbock Allen Bros. Post No. 148 have been appointed by Henry Love of Fort Worth, department commander of Texas, to serve on state Legion committees for 1945.

Charles Whitacre was appointed to the community service and World War I liaison committees; George S. Berry was named chairman of the legislative committee; A. C. Jackson will be chairman of the education of orphans of veterans' committee; C. A. Hubbard commander of the local post, will be a member of the post-war planning committee and Wade Cooper is to serve on the war bond and stamp committee.

Rainey Testifies For Senate Group

the university come out of this controversy with a basis generally accepted by the educational fraternity so that scholars would not be discouraged from coming to the University of Texas, and so that the scholars we now have would stay," he said.

If these two things are done, Dr. Rainey suggested, the "controversy will not have been in vain, but may be classified as a growing pain."

Dr. Rainey referred to "interlocking" interests during the course of an explanation of his differences with the board which he described largely as a question of attitudes. He broke off to declare:

Suggests Investigation

"I suggest that the committee investigate how the members of various college control boards got there.

"There's an interlocking of boards of A. & M. college, Texas Tech, Texas, and Texas A. & I. and you ought to investigate it carefully.

"It is such an interlocking that the whole thing frightens me."

Sen. A. M. Aikin, jr., of Paris asked Rainey specifically what frightened him.

"Just take the membership of the boards. See who they are and what they represent," said Rainey.

"There is a linking of interests, business and financial," he replied to another question.

Said Recent Trend

"Is this a recent trend?" Aiken wanted to know.

"It's been apparent since the summer of 1940," Rainey asserted.

"Has there been a studied attempt in this direction?"

"Yes."

"Is it part of a plan or system?"

"I think that's true."

Dr. Rainey reiterated that the committee should investigate carefully how the board members concerned "got their appointments and why they got them."

Relationships Questioned

He injected the matter of personnel of other boards of regents and directors after he had declared that for the past three years there had been many violations by the board of regents of the University of Texas of what generally was considered proper administrative relationships with the president.

"Back of everything is the question of attitudes," he summarized.

"The board's attitude is that under the law it is charged with the administration of the university, and so it is in great detail.

"But under the law the board is given broad discretionary powers, so broad that it can observe these administrative relationships if it has the will to do so."

Cites Board's Attitude

One example of board attitude, he said, was what he felt was the board's conception of its relationship between the board and the university staff and faculty.

"I have felt that the conception has been that of merely employer and employe," he explained.

"I think that is not a sound relationship.

He said he felt the president and the faculty had a responsibility to the public equal to that of the board and that perhaps that of the president was greater than all the boards put together.

Illustrative of board attitudes, Rainey read from a letter he said Regent D. F. Strickland of Mission wrote him in 1943 in which Strickland said that he doubted the wisdom and propriety of Rainey as president urging that a member of the board refrain from doing anything.

Writes About Resolution

Rainey explained that he had written urging the regent not to press a proposed resolution "which would have abolished tenure at the university."

Part of Strickland's reply was that when tenure was abolished at Texas A. & M. college "there followed no great upheaval," said Rainey.

"That's understatement. If there was not upheaval then I don't know it when I see it," Rainey told the committee.

"The faculty at A. & M. is employed on a year-to-year basis and I don't think it feels any spirit of freedom."

He declared that one of the first attacks made upon a people by persons who wish to control them is abolition of educational freedom.

Asks About Appointments

It was at this juncture that he suggested the committee investigate how members of various college boards obtained their appointments.

He declared the university was the only state school which "has any semblance of freedom left."

During an explanation by Rainey of how faculty members were chosen at the university Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville inquired about the case of Arthur Goodyn Billings, former economics instructor who was sentenced by a federal court in Kansas on a charge of refusing to submit for induction in the armed forces.

Regent Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls had declared in a public statement that Rainey had not exercised due diligence in selecting Billings as an instructor.

Billings Declared Status

Rainey told the committee Billings had announced that he was a conscientious objector but "we saw no reason for action since the law took care of conscientious objectors."

When he left the university Billings submitted his resignation from the faculty and it was accepted, Rainey said, adding:

"He acted with perfect integrity with us."

Answering a question by Morris, Rainey said the law prohibits the university from asking the political or religious affiliation of any prospective appointee.

Investigation Welcomed

"Did you know whether Billings was an agnostic?" Morris asked.

"No," was the reply.

Rainey said hundreds of persons had been appointed to the faculty since he became president of the university and that he would welcome an investigation of the entire list.

Dr. Rainey testified at length yesterday before the state Senate's educational investigating committee, and was the first witness called to the stand today as the committee continued its inquiry into the university controversy.

Disagreements Cited

The former university president told the committee that one of his greatest disappointments was that he and the members of the board had never been able to see eye-to-eye on their views of what constitutes greatness in a university.

He prefaced his analysis with a statement, prompted in part by questions from committee members, in which he made these points clear:

He is not a Communist.

He has never been on the federal payroll.

He does not believe in "social equality and intermarriage" as between negroes and whites, and does not advocate the attendance of negroes and whites at the same schools. He believes in equal educational opportunities for negroes "in their own schools."

Is A "Liberal Democrat"

He is a "liberal Democrat" in politics "as exemplified by Woodrow Wilson. Basically I have two sets of principles: Those of Christianity and those of Democracy."

Dr. Rainey told the committee he made those statements in answer to rumors "regarding my connections and attitudes."

In answer to a question by Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center as to what took place in Houston just prior to his dismissal, Rainey testified:

"At the end of the first day's session I was informed the board wanted me to make a statement the next day as a basis for the adjustment of our differences. I worked late that night preparing it. It was approved by the ex-student and faculty committees which presented it to the board the next day and recommended that it be accepted as a basis of settlement.

No Reflection On Regents

"The statement declared that my references to regents on Oct. 12 before the faculty were not intended to reflect upon the regents' integrity, that I was speaking of them as regents and not as persons and it also recognized the authority of the board under the constitution, statutes and their own rules. It said I would be happy to work with the board in accordance with these laws, rules and regulations.

"I also agreed that a faculty liaison committee might be appointed to assist us in working out differences that might arise in the future.

Statement Was Withdrawn

"Evidently my statement was laid aside early and it was stipulated that the condition for a settlement of differences was withdrawal of my statement of Oct. 12 to the faculty. (This statement detailed 16 instances of what Railey described as 'restrictive measures' attempted or imposed by the regents.)

"I insisted that I could not withdraw it because it was made only after careful and long deliberation.

"I then proposed a joint statement, by me and the regents, to the effect that mistakes had been made on both sides and for the good of the university we would forget them and begin anew working under the rules and regulations of the regents.

"I think I went as far as I could in trying to arrive at an agreement with the board."

Better Living Cited As Peace Factor

LONDON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Herbert Lehman, director-general of UNRRA, said today that "the possibility of bringing about a peace of understanding" will depend in large measure upon the efforts of governments and peoples to "work together for the common purpose of raising the standard of living."

The future of UNRRA, he said, will show whether this can be done.

Here in an effort to get UNRRA on a going basis in liberated Europe, the former New York governor said: "I've had some tough jobs in the past, but this is the hardest job I've ever had — in private or public life — but the most worthwhile one."

He reported that the international relief agency's major problems centered around shipping, supplies and inland transport. He asknowleged there would be considerable shortages in fats, meats, textiles, trucks, and agriculture machinery.

All-Out Drive On Germany Imminent

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

This loks like the big moment for which we've been waiting — General Eisenhower's all-out drive to crack the formidable Rhenish defenses and administer the coup de grace.

German Field Marshal Von Runstedt may have half a million men with which to meet the terrific weight being hurled against his 450 mile battle-line that stands between us and victory. If that's a correct estimate it means the Germans are outnumbered by probably five to one — maybe more. The Allies are supreme in the air and their striking power in all other categories is superior.

River Terrific Obstacle

We should have a false picture, however, if we left it there. The deeply fortified area between the Allies and the Rhine present a great barrier, and the wide, swift river itself is a terrific obstacle.

It's likely to be a cruel route through that Rhenish valley. Success won't be cheap.

General Eisenhower has been working the shrewd scheme of varying his pressure on the Germans in order to keep them off balance. He could do this successfully because of his great superiority in manpower and equipment. By hitting 'em here, there and everywhere he sooner or later will find the weak spot he's looking for—and that's where he will develop the break-through.

The idea that the break may be on the northern front is rather encouraged by the mysterious appearance of General Simpson's will-'o-the-wisp U. S. Ninth army in the line just north of General Hodges' U. S. First army. The Ninth got into action quickly and the Hitlerites must have had a shock to find it there. They had known, of course, that it was knocking about somewhere, but the manner in which it was spirited across France without disclosing its whereabouts is one of the wonders of the war.

Resentment Of Nazis Growing

BERN, Nov. 17 (AP) — Stories of resentment in Germany against Nazi rule reached Switzerland today, but they indicated the ruthless hand of the gestapo was capable of snuffing out any efforts of popular movements.

Industry was at a standstill in some areas of the Reich, partly because of lack of coal and partly because the Nazi authorities were no longer able to compel workers to remain at their jobs during air alarms, these reports said.

Hangings Reported

The Basler Arbeiter Zeitung said this was especially true in smashed Cologne, where ten people were publicly hanged on one day and eleven on another because they dared openly to question "why should millions of Germans die for Nazi leaders?"

Trouble is brewing elsewhere in the Reich, the paper reported. At Halle in Westphalia, the Nazi authorities have established barricades around the town and have isolated it from the rest of Germany.

Student Feelings Increasing

Indications that high feelings were increasing among students cropped up as the Arbeiter reported Nazi officials are preparing to begin the treason trial at Berlin for "persons" who participated in student demonstrations in Munich last year.

The newspaper quoted travelers from Germany as reporting that Hitler had submitted to a throat operation during the last week of October and has been unable to speak. They said his condition was so serious that Heinrich Himmler read Hitler's proclamation Sunday possibly to prepare the German people for a graver announcement.

Safety Measure On Flare Boomerangs

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP) — A merchant seaman lit a sea distress flare in a near north side lot today "to get rid of it so no kids would find it and burn themselves."

The flare shot high into the air with a blinding flash, arched gracefully and plummeted, blazing, into a baby carriage containing seven months old Marcia Lieber, 50 feet away.

The seaman, Arnold Stickles, 17, rushed to the baby, lifted it from the buggy and helped her mother, Mrs. Esther Lieber, 29, tear off the flaming clothing.

Severely burned, the infant was taken to a hospital where physicians said it would recover.

Ceilings Hiked On Lamb, Mutton Cuts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP) — Wholesalers' ceiling prices on lamb and mutton cuts and carcasses increased Nov. 21, but retail prices will not be affected, OPA said.

The adjustment boosts wholesalers' mark-ups to $1 a hundredweight from 75 cents. It was allowed, OPA said, to provide a "fair margin" for these distributors."

Beware Coughs Following Flu

After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Noises By Children Are Ruled 'Legal'

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17 (AP)—Normal, healthy children are not a nuisance when they make noise around the house, says Judge William V. Seeber.

Declining to evict a family from an apartment, the judge of First city court commented:

"Children naturally are going to make noise. When I visit my grandchildren I have to dodge their bicycles, chairs and other objects—and they make plenty of noise."

Churchill Looks To Restoration Of Trade

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, in his first public discussion in Commons of postwar economic competition among the Allies, said Thursday that after the defeat of Germany "we must make exertions to restore our export trade."

He told Commons that until Japan was defeated the war must have first call on all the nation's efforts.

FAMILY WIPED OUT

CHATSWORTH, Ga., Nov. 17 (AP)—Two years ago, Mrs. J. P. Anderson and two of her three children died in a fire at their home near here. A son, Billy, escaped. Wednesday night, Billy, nine years old, and his father were killed in a grade crossing crash.

Division Of Industry Sought In Meeting

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Declaring he was acting "in the interests of the whole nation," U. S. Sen. Pat. A. McCarran (D-Nev) opened a three-day conference here as chairman of the joint congressional committee on decentralization of industry.

Concentration of centralization of industry in the East, McCarran said in opening the hearing, has been to the detriment of the South and the West; that both the South and the West had joined in a movement toward decentralization, "which will benefit the country as a whole."

The joint committee is composed of seven senators and seven congressmen.

"We can serve the nation only by realizing that we must create in the postwar world, hundreds of thousands — perhaps millions — of new opportunities for self employment," the senator said in opening the meeting, "and working as hard and as aggressively as we can to create these opportunities for the business man and industrialist of tomorrow."

Belgian Underground Told To Join Army

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP) — In the midst of a government crisis, Belgium's Premier Hubert Pierlot, in a nation-wide broadcast over the Brussels radio, last night called upon members of the country's resistance movements to disband and join the regular army and surrender their arms by next Saturday "or be prosecuted with the full vigor of the law."

The prime minister's broadcast came at the close of a turbulent day in which hundreds of uniformed and civilian members of the resistance gathered near the houses of Parliament to demonstrate against the government's decision to dissolve the "white army."

The crisis involved the resignation of two Communist ministers, Albert Marteaux and R. Dispy, and the resistance minister, F. Demany. Marteaux was minister of health and the other two ministers without portfolio.

The resignations took place during a four-hour cabinet meeting at which it was decided not only to carry out the underground dissolution but to prohibit a mass rally prepared by resistance groups in the capital last night at which Demany was to have spoken.
