City Seeks Government Grant To Expand Sewer Plant System

The City Council has authorized Urban Engineering Co. to apply for an 80 per cent government grant for a $181,500 project to expand the sewage treatment plant. The plan is to add 500,000-gallon mixing and aeration tanks and other facilities.

Not only did the City Council approve application for the grant at Monday's meeting, but Alderman Charlie Garrett, N. F. Jackson, Joe "Pepe" Zambrano and Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden also authorized Mayor Delmar R. Hiller to explore the possibility of acquiring additional land in the immediate vicinity of the existing sewage treatment plant.

The sewage plant addition will include the 500,000-gallon tanks, new lift station, installation of flow meter, increase chlorine contact chamber, convert digester to aerobic digester, add on blower, effluent lawn watering system with sprinklers, convert chlorinator to effluent water system, and provide bypass for plant.

The time schedule for the project is as follows:

First week in January: Submit engineering report to Texas State Department of Health and Coastal Bend Regional Planning Commission, and Public Law 660 application.

First week in February: Review and approval of engineering report by State Department of Health and Regional Planning Commission.

Second week in February: Apply for amended discharge permit from Texas Water Quality Board.

Second week in May: Approval of permit by Water Quality Board.

July: Estimated funding of Public Law 660.

October: Completion of plan preparation and approval by State Department of Health.

November: Advertise and receive bids, award contract.

May 1972: Completed plant, ready for operation.

New Homes Built To Withstand Hurricane Winds

Canterbury Construction Company is now building moderately priced homes with steel-framed exterior and interior wall panels developed by U.S. Steel Homes Division.

"These are the first sectionalized panel homes with the strength to withstand hurricane force winds," according to Sam Canterbury, who points out that this type of home has been built for years in Florida "and has proved its strength."

The first of these homes built locally by Canterbury will be open for inspection this weekend at Peninsula Oaks Subdivision, directly across the street from the subdivision sales office.

The homes have three bedrooms, 1½ baths and brick veneer exterior. Security Real Estate is handling sales for Canterbury.

"I am so sold on the quality, strength and reasonable price of these homes," Canterbury said, "that I plan to build them throughout the entire Coastal Bend area."

He has completed the home which is open for inspection, is nearing completion of a second in Peninsula Oaks and plans to build more in that subdivision.

Harris Awarded Warehouse Contract

On a low bid of $12,848, Paul D. Harris has been awarded a contract to build a 25 by 120 foot warehouse for the city. His bid was lower than those submitted by Dramalla Construction Co. and Western Steel. Harris also was awarded a contract to erect a 30 by 50-foot building for $6,755 by under bidding the other firms.

In other actions at the City Council meeting Monday night, the aldermen:

—Rejected two bids for a truck and pickup and decided to re-advertise for bids to be received by Jan. 18.

—Heard Chief of Police E. D. Taylor report it would cost $450.68 to repair the broken down engine of the 1968 police car. Taylor was instructed to get more bids.

—Passed an ordinance rezoning property of Mrs. Juanita Wagley in D&M Division from R-2 residential to B-2 business.

—Passed ordinance annexing property of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Warne on Highway 35 North where a new laundromat has been established.

Hill Discusses 'New Morality'

The "New Morality" was the subject of a talk given by the Rev. Lester Hill at the luncheon meeting of Rotary Club Wednesday at Corky's Restaurant.

He said the study of ethics is a quest to discover what is good and what is bad in human behavior. Hill added that the term "new morality" often is applied to moral standards with which we personally do not agree, regardless of its possible validity in special situations.

In contrast, he said the legalist recognizes only one standard—that of the ten commandments which have been codified into basic law, in determining what is good and what is bad.

On the other extreme are those who content that whatever they do is good, and they want no law to interfere with their conduct, Hill said.

To illustrate, he discussed the various meanings of the word "love", some of which would be considered good and others bad, depending on the definition of the word and the ethics or moral standards of the individual involved.

Hill concluded with the thought that the New Morality provides proponents with a system to justify whatever has been done regardless of its effect or even its motives.

United Fund Campaign Is Nearing Goal

Approximately 65 per cent of Aransas County United Fund's goal of $10,400 has been pledged, it was reported Wednesday by Rev. Cecil Lang, general chairman of the campaign now underway to raise operating funds for 12 charitable and welfare organizations.

A total of $6,708 so far pledged has come from two sources—the special gifts division which has raised $5,261, and from home and business solicitation which has accounted for a total of $1,447, Lang said. He predicted that the campaign should achieve about 90 per cent of its goal by next week when the public schools report.

Lang said it had been reported that some residents have not been solicited nor received a pledge card. He said pledge cards are available at the Chamber of Commerce office, and that contributors could take their gifts to the C of C office or mail them to United Fund, P. O. Box 581, Rockport.

Lang reported that a number of regular winter visitors who consider this area their second home have contributed. He urged others who enjoy the facilities of this area to do likewise.

Team captains who have not yet reported results are urged to do so at once so as to keep campaign records current.

Christmas Cantata

On Sunday morning, Dec. 13, a Christmas Cantata will be presented at the First United Methodist Church as the First United Metrodist Church as the morning worship service.

The cantata is the "Carol of Christmas" by John W. Peterson featuring arrangements of familiar Christmas carols and other Christmas songs. The Chancel Choir will present this with Rev. Wm. C. Palmer as narrator, Mrs. Robert Massey organist and Bob Massey choir director.

This morning Christmas worship service is at 10:50 a.m. and everyone is invited to attend.

Xmas Decorations Appearing Here

Residents and businesses are getting into the spirit of the Christmas season with new decorations appearing daily. All residents, civic groups, and businesses are urged to complete outside decorations this week.

To be sure that all displays are enjoyed by as many people as possible, particularly our winter visitors who might not find all the residential subdivisions, the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the Third Annual Caravan of Cars, scheduled for Monday evening, Dec. 21.

The caravan will form on the Rockport beach at 6:30 p.m. at the tree of lights, another annual Chamber of Commerce project, and will follow a pre-established route through the community, concluding with refreshments at the Paws and Taws Square Dance Club building in Fulton.

Winners in the Christmas Decorations Contest will be determined the evening of Dec. 21 and announcement made at the conclusion of the Caravan.

The Chamber of Commerce will award two prizes in each contest category—Home Category (all residences) and Non-home Category (civic and business). In each categary a prize will be awarded for "Display" and another for "Originality."

The judges will attempt to view every display, but entrants are urged to call the C of C to be sure their displays will be inspected.

Deeper Channels Would Double Shrimp Output

The shrimp industry, which now produces approximately $2 million a year, "could double its income if the harbors and access channels at Rockport and Fulton are deepened so the producers can handle deeper draft trawlers of greater productivity."

That prediction was made by John P. Mitchell, Jr., vice president of Rockport Yacht and Supply Company, in a talk before the Rockport Lions Club at Duck Inn Dec. 3.

Mitchell explained that a $1 million harbor and channel deepinging project has been proposed. The Economic Development Agency of the federal government presently is considering a request for such a project made recently by the Aransas County Navigation District.

If E.D.A. approved the request and offers a $500,000 grant, as expected, it will be up to the Navigation District to call an election to issue matching bonds totaling $500,000, and the election must pass.

Mitchell said, "It is a well known fact in the shrimping industry that the smaller, less powerful trawlers are becoming obsolete for the deep water Gulf of Mexico trawling, as they are no longer profitable to operate and satisfactory crews are leaving the smaller vessels for the larger trawlers which enable them to get larger incomes from the increased catches."

"The improvements which were accomplished with completion of the present facilities at Cove Harbor have already demonstrated their worth in materially improving the economic welfare of Aransas County," Mitchell said, "and further improvements in this area will create an even more favorable situation."

Mitchell also said that dredging of the access channel to the Intracoastal Canal to the control depth of the Intracoastal Canal will materially increase the kind and volume of work which can be done at Rockport Yacht and Supply's shipyard. Deeper draft boats can be built and outfitted from the yard and brought in for repairs. Boats presently being delivered from the yard must be taken to Aransas Pass for fuel and ice as only sufficient fuel to get them there can be loaded in Rockport as the draft of the boats is too great for them to get to the Intracoastal Canal when fully loaded.

"Aransas County's economic health," Mitchell said, "is largely dependent on water-oriented activities, oil and gas production, and tourist-related activities. There activities must receive our support and attention to preserve them and to provide for their orderly development."

Turning to a discussion of his own company, the speaker said Rockport Yacht and Supply Company has been a part of the Rockport business community for over a third of a century and has been a significant industrial element the past decade.

Fishing trawlers built by RYSCO, now approaching the 300-mark, are successfully operating not only in the Gulf of Mexico but in shrimping grounds all over the world.

Approximately 45 per cent of the trawlers built this year by RYSCO was for the export market, with vessels for Brazil, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Surinam, Africa (Liberia), and Jamaica. Over 60 per cent of this production consisted of repeat orders from previous purchasers.

Shrimp trawlers account for most of the building in Rockport but the yard has built tugboats, stand-by boats, lobster boats, clam draggers, fishing draggers, as well as two exploratory fishing vessels, the "Western Gulf" for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission and the "Dolphin" built for the Government of

Tire Theft Cleared By Sheriff's Department

The theft of 15 tires from Nooks Salvage, just north of Aransas Pass, was cleared by Sheriff Bob Hewes and Chief Deputy E. A. Stautzenberger Saturday.

Mr. Salge reported that someone had stolen 5 wide tires and 10 small tires from his wrecking yard during the week. Investigative details led Hewes and Stautzenberger to three Aransas Pass youths.

Two of the wide tires and the small tires had been sold to a local service station. All of the items were returned to Mr. Salge and the youths made resitution to the service station. No charges have been filed at this time by the complaining witness.

Ten Bandsmen On All-District Band

The Rockport-Fulton Fighting Pirate Band participated in the district band tryouts last Saturday at Moody High School in Corpus Christi. Ten of the Pirate Band members achieved a chair in the All-District Band as well as qualifying for regional tryouts to be held Dec. 19.

These band members had to put in many hours of hard work to prepare the required material for the regional tryouts. The Pirate Band is very proud of the bandsmen who made the District Band as well as being proud of the other nine members who participated but did not achieve a high enough ranking to place.

These members are Leslie Hill, Cindy Haigood, Robert Crabb, John Brasher (eighth grade members), David Lang, Harold Mundine, Mike Morgan, Laura Leisenheimer, and Rusty Morrison. The Rockport-Fulton bands and schools were well represented and should be proud of the achievements made.

Junior High Wins Tourney

The 8th grade Fighting Bucs captured first place in their own tournament by beating Calallen 38 to 31 in the finals. This marks the first time since the big Tom era that the first place trophy stayed at home.

Rockport had a scare thrown into them in the first round, as Mathis forced the Bucs into an overtime with the Bucs finally winning 41 to 34.

Woodsboro was the victim in the second round and got soundly defeated by 43 to 23. The final game with Calallen was nip and tuck all the way with the Bucs putting on a press and pulling away in the last three minutes to win 38 to 31.

Team members who did an outstanding job throughout the tournament were J. D. Aleman, Joe Lee Green, David Mundine, Rusty Segler and Johnny Stroot.

The seventh grade fighting Bucs did a fine job of playing against two 8th grade teams while filling in for Gregory-Portland. They were defeated by Woodsboro in the third round while playing for third place. Winners beside Rockport-Fulton were Calallen second place, Woodsboro third place and Mathis consolation.

Rockport-Fulton will continue its basketball schedule by hosting Woodsboro tonight for a non-district game. The seventh grade game is scheduled to begin at 5:30 with the 8th grade to follow. Admission is 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults.

Deck the Halls With Shrimp

AUSTIN — While everyone else is decking the halls with boughs of holly (tra la etc.), this Christmas, you can celebrate the season with something a little more nutritious and tasty—a shrimp Christmas tree.

A color photo and directions are available from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in Austin, or, if you don't want to wait for the Christmas rush mail, you can follow the directions below.

Shrimp Christmas Tree

3 pounds shrimp, fresh or frozen
2 quarts water
½ cup salt
4 large bunches curly endive
1 plastic foam cone, 2½ feet high
1 plastic foam square, 12x12x1 in.
1 small round box toothpicks
cocktail sauce;

Thaw frozen shrimp. Place shrimp in boiling salted water. Cover and simmer about five minutes or until shrimp are pink and tender. Drain. Peel shrimp, leaving the last section of the shell on. Remove sand veins and wash. Chill. Separate and wash endive. Chill. Place cone in the center of the plastic foam square and draw a circle around the base of the cone. Cut out the circle and insert cone. Cover base and cone with overlaping leaves of endive. Fasten endive to plastic foam with toothpick halves. Start at the outside edge of the base and work up. Cover fully with greens to resemble Christmas tree. Attach shrimp to tree with toothpicks. Provide cocktail sauce for dunking. Serves 12.

1½ cups catsup
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 table spoon Worschestershire sauce
2 tablespoons horseradish

FUN IN THE PRESS

"George is so forgetful," the salesmanager complained to his secretary, "it's a wonder he can sell anything. I asked him to pick me up some cigarettes on his way back from lunch, and I'm not sure he'll even remember to come back."

Just then the door flew open and in bounced George and shouted:

"While I was at lunch, I met old man Brown, who hasn't bought anything from us for five years. Well, by the time we reached dessert he gave this half-million dollar order"

"See," sighed the manager, "he forgot the cigarettes."—Regina (Sask) Commonwealth.

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN

by VERN SANFORD

Regardless of how many warning reports you get about the weather, there are times when a sudden, unexpected, unpredictable squall hits while you're on the water. And it can upset the best fishing plans.

Sudden storms strike whether you're on the Gulf, on a lake, on a stream, even on a pond. You're likely to be caught while fishing the Gulf, more frequently than anywhere . . . probably because you are farther from shore. Isn't that natural?

Anyway, sometime back a group of us went to Freeport. We had plans for going out to the snapper banks early the next morning. When we retired for the evening everything looked fine. We had listened to the weather reports and everything was "go". But when we stuck our head out the door at 2 a.m. there was a storm blowing. We went back to bed and tried again at 6 o'clock.

Despite the fact that the wind was still high, we got on one of Raymond Muchowich's boats and headed out. We hadn't gone five miles until practically every man on the boat was sick from bouncing on the high waves. So we turned around and headed back.

Another time four of us left Austin for Greer's Ferry lake near Little Rock, Arkansas. When we boarded the plane in Austin it was a beautiful spring day.

We drove the 70 miles from Little Rock to our fishing area, under a star-filling heaven. But at 4 a.m. we were awakened by wind cracking through the tall pine trees and thunder and lightning that made us wonder if the world was coming to an end.

I could go on reporting dozens of such incidents. Each time conditions seemed fine, but turned out different. Sudden weather changes call for more than just having a weather eye out. You need to be prepared for such emergencies.

Always be sure to have good rain gear along, not just some flimsy something, but real gear that not only will keep you dry but warm.

Then have either a tarp or some plastic material to protect your fishing equipment and other paraphernalia aboard. This especially if you're fishing salt water.

Those who carry cameras will do well to keep them in tightly closed plastic bags. In fact, every tackle box should have a few of these large-size plastic bags just for emergencies.

Naturally, life jackets or other safety equipment is a must. Under existing laws in most states, and certainly those covering boats that go out into the Gulf, there are legal requirements about life jackets. This is something individual should carefully check for his own protection.

Coast-guard approved safety cushions offer some security but they are far from adequate under certain conditions. If all go overboard who's left to toss you a cushion? Or even a life-saving ring. If you can't swim, wear a life jacket at all times. It's better to be called a sissy than a corpse.

There's another good idea, too. When you are on the water and see indications of an approaching storm, crank up that motor and head back to shore. Or, if you are too far away from your camp, head into the nearest land and make your boat fast. Be sure all you gas tanks are closed well, and that your motor gets protection. Without either of them you may be grounded for quite a spell.

For boat equipment it is well to always have with you either a large tarp or several painter drop cloths made of plastic. They take up practically no space, yet they furnish good, one-time protection against the elements.

If you must fight out a storm, try to head into the waves and keep the passenger load weight low. The heavy rain may beat into your face, but it also tends to hold down the force of the wares.

Sudden squalls are very frequent during the hot summer months, especially on the Gulf. Most of them give only a short notice of their approach, so be ready and keep a weather eye out for signs of any disturbance of the elements.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health

Someone mentions Christmas and the first thing you think of is happy times around the Christmas tree. But the Texas State Department of Health would like to put in a plug for a little common sense this holiday season.

Mistletoe is fine when cast in its traditional Christmastime role, but brewing a tea of mistletoe berries is not—repeat, is not—part of that role. The State Health Department has information of a death following the drinking of mistletoe berry tea. It came ten hours after the victim drank the brew.

Who does such a thoughtless thing? More people than you would expect. There are more than the usual hazards of life and health around the American home during the Christmas season, all capable of putting a damper on festivities. Some kill, some seriously sicken the unwary.

Holly, for example, is widely used as a Christmas decoration. Its berries are reportedly toxic when eaten, producing violent nausea and central nervous system depression.

Christmas tree light bubbling fluid, made of methylene chloride, is lethal in certain dosages. Cases have occurred where very young children have swallowed or inhaled the fluid.

Sale of certain toys has now been banned by the federal Food and Drug Administration, as dangerous to the public health. Included in the list is a toy oven that reaches temperatures of 600 degrees Fahrenheit, toys with highly flammable linings, heavy darts with long shanks, chemical sets, and toys with breakable glass parts.

Don't be too concerned if the kids eat a few icicles off the trees. In their metallic form they're practically insoluble and therefore poorly absorbed into the body.

Tree balls are made of glass and plastic, and in addition to causing cuts, could clog the windpipe of a child. Other tree decorations are equally dangerous. The gas propellant in artificial snow is toxic if inhaled, but leaves no residue when dried.

Unknown to many persons, some forms of trees can cause discomfort from allergies. A chief offender is cedar, which can be the cause of watery eyes, stopped-up heads and breathing difficulties. And of course, there is always the fire hazard with any tree. Be sure your Christmas tree is kept well watered, and electric lights and candies are carefully placed and checked frequently.

The Christmas season is a prime time for one of the four million yearly home accidents to happen. People are in a festive mood and they forget the dangers just waiting to claim them.

Plan in advance and your Christmas can be a merry one with no regrets lingering over into the New Year. Safety is part of the "good health habit."

Industrial Nips Rockport, 49-48

Industrial of Vanderbilt remained in the undefeated basketball ranks by barely escaping a determined Rockport bid, 49-48.

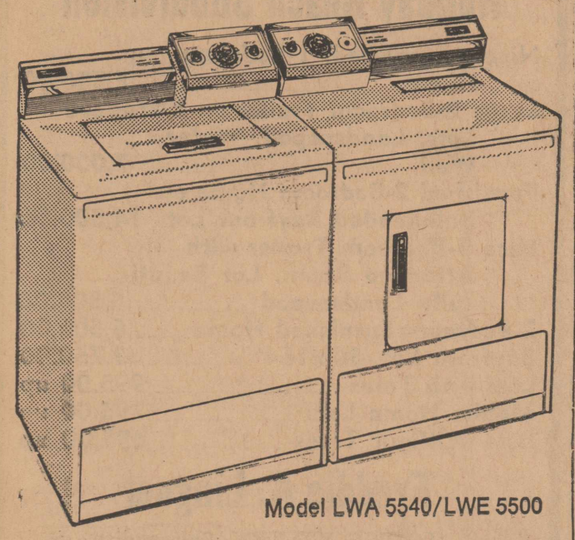

The favored visitors now have won six games against no losses, while Rockport is 1-4.

Conrad Reed led the winners with 16 points, while Gary Gray had 14 for the losers.

The game was tied up a number of times and was very close all the way with Industrial pulling it out in the last few seconds.

Did you ever hear of returning a Savings Bond because you got too many?

Even the seventh, or eighth, or ninth Savings Bond will be as welcome as the first. Which is one reason why they make a pretty nice gift.
Especially for a wedding.
And in a few years, a young couple will open up that bottom drawer to cash in their wedding bonds. Matured and filled with interest.
It'll be like found money.
What's more, in a few years there might be a couple of kids. A few more expenses.
Who ever heard of some found money not being put to good use?
So you see, even if your bond is the umpteenth one they get, they can use it.
A lot better than three chafing dishes.

If they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace 'em.

What good is a mosquito? What good is a turtle, lizard, alligator, rattlesnake, sperm whale, roadrunner, falcon, Norwegian rat, porpoise, hardhead catfish, or pill bug?

Oh sure, you can think of a few uses for some of these animals. They might be real good in soup, or they might make a great pair of shoes, or they might help rid us of pests, but what good is the pest itself, such as that mosquito? Mosquitos bring countless diseases to us and, in general, are a real nuisance. What good are they?

Well for one thing, a mosquito is the best possible mate for another mosquito! Before you laugh, think about it. We always tend to equate the relative importance or usefulness of animals with their importance or usefulness to us.

When we ask what good is an animal, our first thought is of ourselves. But in thinking it over, we can see that any animal could have the same question in mind. A mosquito might well ask what good is a man, and the only logical answer would be that man is a very good source of food.

But mosquitoes probably don't ask such silly questions. Only man has the reasoning power which lets him question the right to exist of other animals.

Genesis 1:26 states, "And God said, Let us make man in our image after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon earth." This statement seems to have given us all a terrific superiority complex which may be one of the root causes of the ecological crisis we are now facing.

We are perfectly willing to accept being in the image of God and having dominion over all other things, but we have, in my humble opinion, completely altered the meaning in the Genesis message.

We go running around this planet like the midget king in the Wizard of Id, yelling commands to the earth, skies, waters, and all their inhabitants. And if our commands aren't immediately obeyed, we blast, dam, trap, poison, dredge, fill, or do anything else it takes to make things just the way we want them. Is this what God had in mind when He put us in charge?

Personally, I look at it this way: God has dominion over us, and yet, in His actions toward us, He has always shown great love. Since we are to be in the image of God, shouldn't we also love for the things over which we have dominion?

Now I am not inferring that we should stop slapping mosquitoes which bite us, or stop killing roaches which invade our houses. All I am saying is that if our grandchildren are to have any knowledge of the wonders and beauties of nature, then we are going to have to get out of the idea that the lot of man is to be a dictator of our world and get into the idea of living in harmony, with each other and with all the other creatures which God has made.

NATURE TRAILS

By CONNIE HAGAR

"At Christmas, nature scatters her bounty over our land."

Phoebe Cary

The time of year is here again when we see nature's gifts to us: the beauty and songs and stars, and never do we replace what we so eagerly take from her.

Have you seen the lovely bufflehead ducks and canvasbacks near the shore of Little Bay along Fulton Beach Road, but few red-heads? Let's keep a watch to see if they increase. Pintails changing plumage day by day, phoebes on the fences along FM 1781, west and north of 881, white pelicans and ducks in flight.

May I explain about the oyster-catchers. They DO NOT open oysters. After oysters are opened, the oyster-catchers cut out the muscular part that adheres to the opened shell. The oyster-catcher's bill is very thin and like a knife, not round nor pointed as are the bills of many water birds such as skimmers. Most shorebirds probe for food with round bills.

Sparrow hawks DO NOT catch or eat small birds; their food consists of grasshoppers, crickets and small insects. The sparrow hawks are here through the winter seasons but leave in summer.

Now that our Christmas season is approaching, please let me thank all of you for your kind words to me, article by article, and look, look, look.

Cub Scouts

Pack 49, Den 2

We opened our meeting with Sammy Kelley leading us in flag ceremony, then drew names for our den's Christmas party which will be Friday, Dec. 18. We plan to go caroling that night. We then starting making decorations of all kinds for the tree.

It was time for refreshments which Randy Reininger provided for us. We sang songs and made the circle to check which one is working hard to be a true Cub Scout.

We closed our meeting with a thought of doing our best at all times.

The Christmas party is going to be Dec. 21 at the Paws and Taws, from 7 to 8:30 p.m., and the Girl Scouts would like to have you!

The yard was founded by the late T. Noah Smith, Sr., in 1934 and has been in continuous operation since this time. T. Noah Smith, Jr., known as "Tiny" to his many friends in Rockport, is president of the company.

"The success of the Rockport boats," Mitchell said, "is due essentially to two things: the proven productivity and seaworthiness of the vessels from the drawing board of Al Silchenstedt, and the pride of workmanship of the employees and supervisory personnel of the yard."

Many of the skilled mechanics employed in the yard started as helpers and have increased both their skills and the help of their foremen and supervisors.

Annual area purchases of material and supplies are approximately $1,250,000, and payroll is approximately $1 million per year.

Repair facilities have recently been improved by redesigning the marine lift and upgrading its capacity to 300 tons. Water depth in the harbor in front of the shipyard has been dredged to 16 feet at average mean tide.

fish caught in each category. Each month a $7.50 gift certificate will go to the fisherman registering the largest fish for the month. At the end of the contest a rod and reel set will be awarded for the largest fish caught in each of the three categories and registered during the 3-month period of the contest.

Hugh Morrison of Morrison's Sportsman's Center, chairman of the fishing contest, urges all fall and winter visitors to participate in this contest, take catches by one of the official weight stations to register, and go by the Chamber of Commerce building to see the Grand Prizes which are certainly worth trying for.

"Remember, fishermen," Hugh says "your catch must be officially weighed in to be considered for prizes."

Aliens Must Report Addresses

Acting District Director James L. Turner of the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service stated that the period within which aliens must report their addresses is almost at hand.

The month of January has been set for the address reporting period. All aliens in the United States, with few exceptions, must report their addresses to the Government during that period.

Turner said that forms with which to make the report will be available at all post offices and offices in the Immigration and Naturalization Service during the month of January.

Turner urges all aliens to comply with reporting requirements, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious consequences.

Comment on Letter To The Editor

The Pilot published a letter on page one last week in which a gentleman suggested a feasibility study of providing a Municipal Yacht Harbor in Little Bay.

John P. Mitchell, Jr., vice president of Rockport Yacht and Supply Co., in a talk before the Rockport Lions Club, had these comments to make about the letter:

"The letter addressed to Mr. James H. Sorenson which was printed in the Rockport Pilot has been noted with great interest. I must whole heartedly concur with everything outlined, with the exception of his proposed location of the Marina facility.

"As long as the Connie Hagar Wildlife Sanctuary exists in its present condition, with its good feeding grounds and abundant wild fowl population it should remain undisturbed as one of our most attractive natural resources.

"The proposed channels and fills to be derived from them will likely present an equally desirable location for the facilities he so well describes to be built up on. Proper attention to pollution problems should make the Connie Hagar sanctuary useful and attractive for many years to come."

C of C Happenings

Directors Gordon Stanley, Lee Eckman and Mrs. Eckman and President Juanita Wagley represented the Rockport Chamber of Commerce at a reception held in the El Tropicano Hotel in San Antonio last Wednesday evening to which S. A. area business and civic leaders were invited. Purpose of the reception was to let those people know that the Gulf Coast Area is back in full swing operation, the fishing is good, and we are ready for our winter visitors. The delicious shrimp contributed for the occasion by Casterline Fish Co. made a big hit at the reception.

Refreshments for visitors stopping in at the Chamber of Commerce building this week were furnished by Corpus Christi Datsun, Inc. Winter tourists enjoy a cup of coffee or fruit juice and cookies while receiving information about the attractions and facilities of this area. Members or friends of the Chamber make this hospitality program possible by contributing $5 for refreshments for one week.

Labor Law Speakers Available

Do you know that many employees must receive Federal minimum wage and overtime payment.

Do you know that the minimum wage will increase for some employees on Feb. 1, 1971?

Do you know that men and women employees performing work under similar working conditions requiring equal skill, effort, and responsibility must be paid equally?

Do you know that many employers, employment agencies, and unions cannot arbitrarily discriminate against a person aged 40-65 in employment?

Information about these wage and hour and employment discrimination laws can be obtained from the Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division which has announced expansion of its speakers' bureau.

The Division administers and enforces the Fair Labor Standards Act, Equal Pay Act (an amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act), Age Discrimination in Employment Act, Public Contracts Act, Service Contract Act, Davis-Bacon Act and numerous related laws.

It is making available 1,000 qualified field representatives throughout the country to discuss these laws in an effort to inform more employers and employees about the laws and to reduce the number of violations which occur.

During Fiscal Year 1970, the Division's Compliance Officer's discovered more than 465,000 persons being underpaid $93 million.

If your organization is interested in obtaining a speaker to discuss Wage and Hour laws, contact the local Wage and Hour Office listed in the telephone directory under:

U.S. Department of Labor Wage and Hour Division, 205 No. Chaparral St., Room 212 Kaffie Bldg., Corpus Christi.

My reindeer, my workshop, my sleigh.

Now I'm making my rounds on a donkey,

So you'll know if you don't see me Christmas,

Fruitcakes

College Station—Fruitcakes will spark the holiday with flavor excitement when spiced with just the right assortment of fruits, says Gwendolyne Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

The fixin's for fruitcake include citron, lemon peel, orange peel, cherries and pineapple.

Citron, lemon and orange peel are available diced in glace form, covered with a light coat of sugar or drained with all the surplus sugar removed. They are also available in mixed fruit combinations.

Cherries are packed whole in glace form, and are colored red and green.

Pineapple is packed in glace form as slices, fingers or diced. They are colored red, green and yellow.

Candied fruits, in 4 and 8-ounce containers, are available in bulk displays, cello-packs and vacuum jars. Most stores stock candied fruits to last only through the holiday season because of limited demand the rest of the year. If planning to buy an excess supply for later use, purchase vacuum jars; they have better keeping qualities.

Nutmeats are important ingredients in fruit cakes. Two pounds of unshelled nuts make about one pound (3 or 4 cups) depending on variety) of nutmeats. When unshelled nuts are priced at half the cost of shelled nuts, they are equally good buys.

Bake fruitcakes in different-sized containers for variety. A 6-ounce fruit juice can is ideal for a small loaf. Fruitcakes baked in one-pound coffee cans may be put back into the can for safe traveling through the mail. Ring molds and various sizes of loaf pans also add varity.

For large fruitcakes, line the pans with brown paper and grease with shortening. Grease smaller pans, fancy molds and juice cans well. Put a round of greased wax paper in the bottom of the juice can.

Fill pans with batter to within one-half inch of the top, juice cans to within one inch. Set a pan of hot water on the bottom of the oven during baking to prevent a heavy crust from forming.

Bake fruitcakes in a slow oven, 250 to 300 degrees F. A 8x5x3 pan needs about two and one-half hours; one-pound coffee can, about two hours; 6-inch ring mold, about one and-half hours; and a juice can, about 45 minutes.

Cool cakes thoroughly before wrapping in heavy foil, or plastic. Store in a cool place three or four weeks to ripen. Decorate or frost cakes after aging.

A True Christmas Story

By Sheriff Bob Hewes

This is a true Christmas story of a few years ago. It is not a happy story as we would like for it to be but it is a true story.

John Q. Citizen and his wife decided to go to town to do some of their Christmas shopping. They had already done quite a bit and their tree had many presents under it. When they got to town they got out of their automobile and went into the stores to shop.

After doing some shopping, John bought an armload of presents to the car, because he was in a small town and the fact that he had just a few more things to buy he neglected to lock his car. After completing his shopping John and his wife came back to the car but all his presents were gone.

If he had only locked the car this would not have happened. They reported the theft to the local police and went on their way home.

Arriving home John and his wife discovered that while they had been shopping for Christmas presents, thieves had been shopping for unlocked houses and had found that John's house was unlocked. Needless to say it was not a very Merry Christmas at the John Q. Public home.

Sheriff Hewes reports that the Christmas season is the time for all of us to check ourselves over to see how easy we are making it for thieves and burglars. If the citizens and visitors to Aransas County will follow a few simple rules there will be a Merry Christmas for all. First of all lock your house and car when you leave them unattended. If you are to be away from home for the evening, leave plenty of lights on. A light is the best deterrent to thieves.

Most people have thousands of dollars worth of items in their homes and it doesn't take a professional thief long to clean a house out. If you are to be gone away from home, notify the police or sheriff's department so that you can be put on their special check list.

Let the neighbors know that you are leaving and who, if anybody, is supposed to be in your home. If you see a suspicious looking person or car in your neighborhood call the police. If you are in your car and leave it in town to do some shopping, lock your car. About 99 per cent of the auto thefts and thefts of autos are from unlocked automobiles.

Businessmen should take extra precautions to insure the after hours safety of the added merchandise they have in their stores during the holiday seasons. The Aransas County Sheriff's Department and the Rockport Police Department will be putting in many extra hours of time for the next couple of weeks to make sure that you are protected and just a little bit of co-operation from the people of the community will help a lot.

Americans in 1969 gave $17.6 billion to charity, says the American Association of Fund Raising Counsel, Inc.

Presbyterian Women's Christmas Party

The annual Christmas party of Women of Presbyterian Church was held Dec. 3 in the Fellowship Hall. Approximately 30 ladies attended. Circle 2 was in charge of the decorations which included a lighted Christmas tree, a small lighted tree on one of the serving tables and a golden candle on the other. A small red house with candles on a cutwork tablecloth covered the registration table. A small silver tree made of acorns was on the piano.

Circle 3 was in charge of the program, and Mrs. John Kinsey was mistress of ceremonies. Mrs. Pat Suttles told of Christmas traditions in England; Mrs. Ellen Davison spoke on Christmas in Canada; and Mrs. Julie Mercer told of French and German customs. Mrs. Josephine Solis gave a few recollections of her grandmother and told of the traditional foods in Mexico on Christmas eve. Following the talks, Christmas carols were sung, with Bob Smith leading the singing and Mrs. Neva Jackson at the piano.

Refreshments were provided by Circles 1 and 4 under supervision of Mrs. Mattie Bushart, Mrs. Ozella Schleider and Mrs. Lucille Little. From one table, punch was poured from a silver bowl and cheese crackers and fruit cake were served. The other table held the silver coffee service.

Before the program, Mrs. Dorothy Morrison, first vice president, acting for Mrs. Mildred Hatley who was unable to be present, opened the evening with prayer, and a few items of business were acted on. She then read an article, "Don't Knock Christmas," to introduce the theme of the evening.

Canned goods and money were contributed by the ladies for Christmas baskets for needy persons.
