Power Strike Called Revolt; Oil Troubles Spread To Coast

Navy Supplies Involved As Deadlock Holds Conference

California Plants Of Union And Shell Said Shutting Down; Seizure Possible

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP) — Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach tonight proposed appointment of an impartial arbitrator to make a binding decision in the oil strike by Dec. 1.

Schwellenbach asked the CIO oil workers to return to work immediately and called on the oil industry management to resume full operations. Pending a decision before the arbitrator, Schwellenbach asked that workers return to a 40 hour week at a 15 per cent basic pay rate increase.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—While the oil wage conciliation conference struggled on in deadlock today, the CIO refinery strike threatened to spread tomorrow into California, a major supplier of the Navy.

An Associated Press tabulation listed 12 states affected by the oil strikes—Texas, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, West Virginia, California, Massachusetts, Oklahoma, Kansas, New York and Pennsylvania.

Knight Says There's 14

O. A. Knight, president of the CIO Oil Workers International union, said there were 14 but did not list them all.

The pending big-scale stoppages in California were announced by representatives of the Union Oil company of California and the Shell Oil company on the west coast. They said new moves by the CIO Oil Workers International union threatened their operations with complete shutdown.

Federal officials still spoke of government seizure of refineries as a last-resort measure, but Secretary Schwellenbach's time for peaceful settlement was running out.

Seizure Possible

He has declared agreement must come by the first of this week lest military fuel run dangerously low. White House officials have stated that seizure is a possibility if the Army and Navy certify that the fuel shortage is hampering military operations.

Shell and Union company spokesmen said the union has served ultimatums on both firms that its members will walk out tomorrow unless a management grants a 35-cent hourly wage increase upon the companies' return to the 40-hour work week.

Wendell Thayer of Los Angeles, wage executive of Union Oil, said the union gave notice it will strike at 10 a. m. tomorrow, Pacific coast time, at the firm's two biggest refineries—at Los Angeles and at Radeo, Calif., on San Francisco bay—unless the demand is met.

These employ 2,300 CIO workers, but Thayer said the company

Jap Banks Tied Up; Loot Sought

TOKYO, Oct. 1 (AP)—American investigators set out today on the trail of the treasure which Japan looted from conquered lands, and also delved into the state religion of Shintoism which was used to foster fanaticism and wars.

In Tokyo's "Wall Street" the great bank of Japan was closed. Army authorities declared it could reopen tomorrow if its officials quit stalling and helped track down the stolen riches of Asia.

The little people of Japan, who crowded about the bank, fearful that their savings would be taken away, dispersed after the Americans assured them their money was safe.

Gold Stocks Found

In the vaults of this bank, financial keystone of the Japanese government comparable to the U. S. Federal Reserve system, troops found gold and gold stocks earmarked for Siam and Indo-China.

American troops stood guard over 21 financial institutions, big combines which had exploited in a business way Japan's military conquests. All will be liquidated.

The Yokohama Specia bank and the Hypotec bank, which also were closed in MacArthur's swift economic coup Sunday, reopened today.

No trace was found in their records of the wealth removed by the Japanese from the Philippines and the East Indies.

Simultaneously, MacArthur's civil information and education section prepared to deal a death blow to the Japanese government's control over Shintoism, which was artfully turned from the field of religion to war.

No Religious Interference

Col. Ken R. Dyke, head of the section, emphasized that no attempt would be made to interfere with the freedom of religion.

Closely linked to this inquiry, he said, was a second one into the Japanese educational system, designed to discover just how history now is being taught.

"It's all tied up in the sun goddess and the deity of the god emperor," he said. "Let's say we desire to get history on a more factual basis."

The influential Tokyo newspaper Asahi charged the Japanese government still was holding liberals as political prisoners,

Reorganization Of Navy Ordered

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—President Truman has ordered a broad reorganization of the Navy. The reshuffle includes abolition of the position of commander in chief, United States fleet, whose major functions are transferred to the chief of naval operations.

Secretary Forrestall has signed a departmental order, however, continuing Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King in his present position of commander of the fleet during a brief period of transition until the new organization contemplated by the President's order is put into full effect.

King also continued to hold his formal commission as chief of naval operations.

Involves Improvements

The order was signed two days ago, but made public only today. A White House statement said its purpose is to enable the Navy to incorporate in its organization some of the improvements which were indicated by wartime experience.

"These changes are to be made by executive order," the statement said, "so that they may be tested for a period of time before the President recommends to Congress any statutory changes in the organization of the Navy."

The order specifically recognizes that Navy business falls into three grand divisions—military matters, General and administrative affairs, business and related industrial matters.

Division of Functions

The order requires that the Navy organization structure "shall reflect this fundamental division of functions and directs the Secretary of the Navy to assign duties among the various agencies of the Navy accordingly."

The White House said Secretary Forrestal has set up an informal board under the chairmanship of Undersecretary Ralph Bard to recommend a specific plan of organization based on the executive order.

Mediation Proposal Rejected; Life, Health Said Jeopardized

Large Territory In Darkness And Many Hospitals, Army Camps Are Paralyzed

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 1—The Lower Colorado River authority tonight flatly rejected an offer to mediate the power strike that threatened to bring a water famine and other serious public service breakdown in areas populated by more than 100,000 persons.

General Manager Max Starcke of the strike-closed hydro-electric power project in a statement asserted that the striking workers "have reliberately jeopardized the lives and the health of thousands of people" by walking off their jobs.

"Crime Against Society"

"The acts committed by them amount to a revolt against the state and a crime against society," Starcke said in announcing the state-created power agency's rejection of the officer by Mayor Tom Miller of Austin to mediate the strike.

Officials of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL) Local No. 520, whose members struck at 12:15 a. m. (CST), earlier today had indicated they were willing to accept Mayor Miller's offer to intercede as a third party between the union and the power agency.

The power paralysis had cut off electrical energy vital for pumping municipal water supplies, for refrigeration and for operation of hospital facilities in 24 large towns and three Army camps. Power subsequently was restored to one of the towns, San Marcos, to the San Marcos Army Air field and Camp Swift, by cutting in on power from other sources.

Refused Several Years

The 140 union workers who pulled the switches and shut down the roaring turbines of the LCRA's four generating plants announced they were striking because the LCRA had for several years refused to recognize their right to organize and bargain collectively.

The LCRA replied it could not, as a state agency, legally delegate the hiring and firing of employes and other official responsibilities, to any other agency.

Starcke issued his statement after formal adoption of a resolution by the LCRA's board of directors asserting its intention to continue to operate its facilities "with employes remaining in its employ, and such other qualified employes as may be necessary."

The resolution stated that em-

Vinson Proposed Tax Slash Plan

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—A $5,000,000,000 tax-cutting program which would relieve 12,000,000 persons of all income taxes starting in 1946, and ease the burdens of other individuals and corporations, was proposed to Congress today by the Truman administration.

Fred M. Vinson, secretary of the treasury, carried before the House Ways and Means committee, the first revenue reduction plan an administration has sent to Capitol Hill in 16 years.

GOP Opens Fire

It drew immediate fire from Republicans, whose House leader, Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, said:

"It doesn't go far enough. It won't open up purchasing power to stimulate business and create jobs. We want at least a 20 per cent reduction all along the board."

After a $5,000,000,000 reduction, according to Vinson's estimates, revenues in calendar 1946 are expected to approximate $27,500,000,000. This compared with a war peak collection of $46,500,000,000 from taxpayers in 1944 and prewar levels of about $5,000,000,000.

Vinson proposed:

Repeal effective Jan. 1 of the three per cent normal tax on individuals assessed against all net income above $500 without regard to the number of a taxpayer's dependents. Repeal would leave in force the graduated surtaxes under which the taxpayer is given a $500 exemption for himself and each dependent.

Excess Profits Levy

2. Repeal of the 95 per cent excess profits tax on corporations, which Vinson said is tolerable only as "a method for preventing war profiteering." A check of the ways and means group indicated both Democrats and Republicans favoring repeal.

3. A sharp reduction in excise taxes, on such things as fur coats, jewelry, lipstick, admissions and transportation, effective next July 1. Many of the excises would be halved. Present law provides that the high excises written into the 1943 revenue act drop automatically to the much lower 1942 act

British Hold On Batavia Expands

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

BATAVIA, Oct. 1—British occupation forces moving into the Netherlands East Indies peacefully expanded their hold today on Batavia where independence-loving natives painted buildings with signs saying "we don't ask freedom—we are entitled to it."

With Indonesians protesting the return of their Dutch rulers, and with 35,000 Japanese troops still on the island, the situation is "potentially explosive" and "could lead to a horrible racial war," said Charles O. Van Der Plas, senior representative of the Netherlands government in Java.

Indonesian leaders said they would fight rather than return to colonial status.

Independence Proclaimed

"We proclaimed our independence Aug. 17," said Soe Karno, president of the "Republics of Indonesia." "We didn't like Japanese oppression and we don't want Dutch oppression either."

Van Der Plas said he had invited Soe Karno and leaders of all other Indonesian political factions to meet him to iron out current problems.

"I feel," said Van Der Plas, "that this part of the Dutch crown should be at the very shortest time completely independent but with an independence not based on violence or terrorism."

He predicted it would take several years to give the islands freedom.

Discharged Vets Get More Aid Under Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Surplus Properties board today took action to make veterans eligible for G. I. bill preference benefits as soon as they are discharged.

Rep. Beckworth (D-Tex), disclosing the setup, said the board changed its regulations after he had protested in the case of a Marine Corps veteran who had just received his discharge but found himself unable to buy a surplus car before the end of his terminal leave.

The veteran had been overseas 38 months, explained Beckworth, and accumulated so much leave that the terminal period would extend until Jan. 5.

Big Three May Be Called To Snap Tense Deadlock On Balkan Issue

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, (Tuesday), Oct. 2—The five-power foreign ministers council, still unable to break an impasse over how to wind up its conference, talked at Lancaster House until 2:50 a. m. (7:50 p. m. CST) today and decided to reconvene at 11 o'clock (4 a. m. CST).

The possibility that President Truman, Generalissimo Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee might be called upon to tackle the knotty Balkan issue was advanced by a high council source as the conference threatened to end in a deadlock without accomplishing any of its important goals.

Hope About Gone

Apparently the ministers have abandoned hope of resolving procedure for Balkan peace treaties, which have kept them in session for the past eight days. They now find themselves tied up on what to do about the final conference documents.

If the councilors go home without agreeing on these records, it would mean that after three weeks of discussions they have had to admit that they were unable even to reach a unified decision on what their meeting was about.

Soviet Demands Cited

The principal issue still centers on a Russian demand that France and China be excluded from discussions on the Balkan treaties. A delegate at tonight's protracted meeting said the question had been put this way:

The Potsdam declaration said the three major powers — the United States, Great Britain and Russia—could invite other powers to discuss the European peace settlements with them. When the foreign ministers convened Sept. 11, France and China were invited to participate in all matters on the agenda. Should that decision now be revoked?

Soviets Stand Firm

Apparently the Russians were standing firm, and the British and American conferees seemed equally as determined not to go beyond a compromise which would restrict drafting of treaties to the three principal powers but would assure treaties' submission to a conference of all major Allies interested in Europe.

The five ministers did not gather around the conference table until midnight.

They soon discovered they were completely at odds on the final protocol. Then followed a long recess for the protocol committee to work on a new draft.

Suddenly, one delegate reported, someone noticed that it was 2:45 a. m., and it was decided to end the session and meet again later in the day.

Atmosphere Is Tense

Soviet Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav M. Molotov, a grim and bitter look on his face, was the first to march to the door surrounded by his delegation and guards.

The delegates shied from predictions that today's 11 a. m. meeting definitely will be the last of the conference. For several days each meeting has been expected to be the final gathering.

However, the strain of continuous day and night work was showing heavily and the atmosphere of the meetings was becoming increasingly tense, authoritative sources said.

Telephone Tieup Is Threatened

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—Joseph Berine, president of the National Federation of Telephone workers said today the possibility of work stoppages by telephone employes "is very much in the picture" as result of an NLRB trial examiner's report but added no action would be taken "before Wednesday."

Berine said possibility of the stoppages depended on the outcome of a collective bargaining election tomorrow in Baltimore, in which the Western Electric group and the United Electric group and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers (CIO) are competitors.

HOUSTON WORKERS STAND BY FOR STRIKE ACTION

HOUSTON, Oct. 1. (AP) — Approximately 2,000 telephone workers in Houston and Southeast Texas were awaiting strike developments from Washington tonight.

Mrs. Jewell Whatley, vice president of the Telephone Company Employes union for this area, said workers had been alerted, but no specific action had been planned.

Action Against Board

Following announcement of the token strike contemplated by the National Federation of Telephone workers, A. L. Edmondson, Houston division superintendent of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, issued a statement in which he said the action here would be directed against the National Labor Relations boards and not the company.

Mrs. Wheatley corroborated Edmondson's statement.

Edmondson said local dial-operated telephone service, in event of a strike, would not be affected

Eight Million Seen Jobless By Spring

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP) — Eight million workers may be out of jobs by next spring.

That's the prediction made by Reconversion Director John W. Snyder today. He said that while he is "firmly optimistic" about the future he considers a period of "high unemployment" inevitable.

Snyder's forecasts were made in a 46-page report to the President and Congress. He called it "three keys to reconversion—production, job's markets."

He cautions:

1. The nation must work together as a team.

2. Labor-management difficulties must be settled promptly.

3. Congress should adopt promptly a four-point program suggested by President Truman. This calls for "full employment, transitional tax adjustments, broadening and raising unemployment compensation and raising mininum wages."

4. The executive branch must be as "vigorous" in peace as it was in war.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—A group of outstanding German scientists and technicians are being brought to the Unied States on a voluntary basis and under Army supervision to aid in military research.

The department said the group was being brought here "to insure that we take full advantage of those significant developments which are deemed vital to our national security."

Interrogation and study of documents, equipment and facilities, the department said, "are but one means of exploiting German progress in science and technology. In order that this country may benefit fully from this resource a number of carefully selected scientists and technologists are being brought to the United States on a voluntary basis.

"These individuals have been chosen from those fields where German progress is of significant importance to us and in which these specialists have played a dominant role."

Throughout their temporary stay here the German experts will be under Army supervision but will be utilized for appropriate military projects of both the Army and Navy.

Mahon Says U. S. Should Rid Self Now Of Surplus Cotton

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The United States should take advantage of its world position right now, Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) suggested to President Truman today, to get rid of some 6,000,000 bales of surplus cotton.

One of group of congressmen who went to the White House to report on their recent tour of American bases around the globe, the Texan also submitted his proposal for disposing of the surplus fiber now held in American warehouses.

"We have the ships to carry the cotton," he said later in an interview. "We have control of the ports and warehuoses in many parts of the world and there is an urgent need in those countries for cotton, so why shouldn't we do something about it. Six months from now might be too late."

The President expressed interest in the proposal, Mahon said, adding that upon Secretary James Byrnes' return from London he would take it up in greater detail with the State department chief.

Meanwhile, the Texan made public a copy of a letter he addressed to Foreign Economics Administrator Leo T. Crowley on the subject.

"The free countries of the world should be encouraged to buy or bargain for this cotton, and in areas where we are extending direct aid, the use of this surplus cotton should be fully explored," he wrote Crowley.

"Defeated Germany and Japan must not be permitted to revive war industries, but they undoubtedly will be encouraged to produce their own food and provide their own clothing. It would be a great shame if we should fail to take advantage of the opportunity which we now have for the disposition of our large stocks of surplus cotton.

PICTURES, PLEASE

"YOU know I'd like to get rid of some of these pictures," Dorothy Williams, who works in the society department, said just now, as she tugged at a drawer piled so full of photographs that it would hardly open. Finally the drawer piled so full of photographs that it would hardly open. Finally the drawer gave and pictures jumped up and scattered at her feet. "Oh dear, now look," she said in dismay.

Won't you help her out of this predicament and call for your picture if it has appeared on the society pages within the last two years. We must have about 500 odd-sized pictures in the desks and we need the space. Thanks.

WELCOME HOME

MONDAY was observed as welcome home day at our desk, although one of our callers, Capt. Hugh Anderson, thinks he may be leaving again soon, perhaps for overseas. While he was here, Mrs. Louise McKee McCue also was a visitor, down town to do her Christmas shopping before returning to her job as American Red Cross recreation worker in the Philippine islands.

Hugh and Louise are colorful sights because each is wearing complexion of a light yellow-orange, caused by atabrine, that medicine that took the place of quinine to ward off malaria. Hugh, always long on looks, seems little the worse for his many months in the Pacific and has gained the weight he had lost.

Mrs. McCue was wearing the customary natty gray-blue Red Cross uniform, which, with her peculiar colored skin (due to the atabrine remember) set off her blue eyes.

John Vickers dropped by the desk on the way to visit the Plainsman and we noticed his taste in conservative clothing has not changed, although he spent four years as a Naval officer and you know how colorful their uniforms are. His tie was as somber in appearance as his salt and pepper suit. He is back to re-open his law practice with his father, and at present he and his wife are making their home with the Vickers on the Plainview highway.

BABY TALK

PERC WESTMORE, who is a successful make-up and hair-styling director for a Hollywood studio, recently became a father and already he has a warning for all mothers with a new baby in their home.

He cautions to watch the sleeping positions of your child from the time it is a very small baby through to the teens.

If a child forms a habit of consistently sleeping on one side, according to the make-up man, the practice will distort facial features, particularly the jawline and the over-all structure of the face since young bones are very malleable. In the case of young babies, the mother should change their position from time to time. When the child becomes old enough to understand the necessity for change should be explained.

Today's care, should make for tomorrow's beautiful facial contour, is the main suggestion he is proposing. The ideal sleeping position, of course, is flat on the back, with the face turned neither way.

Trouble Spots In Orient Growing Darker; Indo-China Worst Threat

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1 — Trouble spots grew darker in the Orient over the week-end.

They are not new. The Allies just uncover them as they drive in, disarming Japanese troops and trying to pick up the pieces.

Indo-China continues to be the most threatening area, with a thousand French troops about to arrive in Saigon, where they may face some 20,000 armed Annamese who don't want French rule to return.

WHITE

The British commander at Saigon who was sent in with a regiment on Indian troops to take over the southern half of a country of 24,000,000 people and disarm their Japanese conquerors, finds it necessary to use some of these Japanese troops to help maintain order. More than 300 people, including 100 Frenchmen, already have been killed in this area.

Chinese Take Over

In the north, around Hanoi, Chinese occupation troops have declared themselves the supreme authority for the time being, and refuse to recognize one local Annamese independence movement which had set up a government under the Japanese. One report suggests strongly that they are giving free rein to a rival native outfit which hasn't yet accounted for where it gets its funds.

The British have another headache in the Dutch East Indies, where they have gone into Bavaria to take over surrendering Japanese until Dutch forces can arrive. There another native independence movement has sprung up. It is headed by native leaders whom the Dutch claim collaborated with the Japanese, but whom the British commander insists the Dutch meet.

The Chinese, although taking over the northern half of Indo-China for the French, have had to accept American help in their own outlying areas and ask for it on the diplomatic front.

Marines In Tientsin

The U. S. Marines are in Tientsin to keep order until Chungking forces can arrive to take over.

China meanwhile has asked the United States to ascertain from Siam exactly what has been going on at Bangkok, the Siamese capital, where there has been trouble between natives and the large Chinese minority.

The basic reason for this curious procedure is that China has no diplomatic relations with Siam, and had none even before the war.

One of the things behind all these mixups is the inability of various powers to get their troops back into liberated areas. But obviously there are also indications of mutual suspicion and dislike, some old, some new, perhaps.

Senate Group Turns Down HST Nominee

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (U.P.) — The Senate commerce committee today voted against confirmation of Raymond S. McKeough, Chicago, Mid-west director of the CIO Political Action committee, for the U. S. Maritime commission.

This marked the first time that a nomination by President Truman has been turned down by a Senate committee. The vote was 10 to 7.

Chairman Josiah Bailey, D., N. C., told reporters that the adverse vote was due to the fact that McKeough, former congressman and Chicago regional OPA director, was employed by the PAC and because of the "rivalry" between the American Federation of Labor and the CIO for control of maritime unions. The AFL vigorously protested confirmation of the nomination.

Over Million War II Vets Make Claims

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (U.P.) — More than a million World War II veterans have filed pension claims, it was revealed today, as the full force of war casualties begins to hit the Veterans administration.

Thousands of new employes are speeding the work of the overloaded agency but progress reports today showed more disability claims filed in August than ever before and a bigger backlog of cases pending at the end of the month.

Hospitalization is also on the upswing, as are applications for free education under the GI bill of rights and public law 16.

Here are the facts:

More than 6,000 persons were added to the payroll in two months, bringing the Veterans administration staff on Aug. 31 to 69,216—still far short of the minimum of 80,000 persons needed.

During August, 101,256 new pension claims were filed by War II veterans, setting a new monthly record and bringing claims filed in this war to 1,086,438.

The heavy influx left a backlog of 127,684 cases pending at the end of the month, also a new high. World War II claims allowed so far total 670,160; those rejected, 288,594.

On Sept. 20 records showed 73,453 veterans under hospital treatment and 9,610 receiving domiciliary care. The hospital figures had been climbing slowly since Jan. 31, 1942, when 58,576 patients were listed.

Charles Lindbergh delivered the first transoceanic air mail.

Japs Slaughter 1,000 Chinese In Temple

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1 (AP) — Ten Chinese families related today how they watched in horror as Japanese slaughtered perhaps 1,000 Chinese on the weed-chocked floor of a once-elaborate Confucian temple five miles from the heart of Shanghai.

The ten miserable, hungry families were driven from land seized by the Japanese for an airfield. They did not specifically recall the execution of the three Doolittle fliers in the center of a cemetery 100 yards from the temple, because the Japanese carefully prevented close observation, they said.

The September attendance ran total attendance for the 1945 season to 541,083 persons, six per cent of 29,000 above last year's attendance.

A total of 9,415 cars visited the park in September, eight of which were out-of-state vehicles, McGehee said. A total of 2,870 soldiers and 35,093 civilians made use of facilities there during the month.

A MORAL OBLIGATION

Millions of people undergo eye examinations every year; probably the great majority needing only correction in refraction. But among these millions are many whose eyes would reveal, under an opthalmologists (oculist) examination, incipient pathological conditions which medical attention would check or cure.

It is safe to assume that the great majority of these do not suspect the existence of physical ailment and would not normally have an examination for symptoms of ill health. So the eye physician is in a peculiar position to contribute to safeguarding public health by a thorough eye examination.

Spreading Turmoil In Liberated Areas Poses Post-War Problem

By LOUIS F. KREEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

Colonial unrest is spreading in the Orient and in the near and Middle East.

It is the danger signal to the big powers who have been unable to get together in London on even more pressing problems. The obvious warning is that unless the aspirations of hiterto dominated peoples are satisfied to a conseiderable extent, the hope for a unified world may be set back indefinitely.

Conolials Want Freedom

The meaning of the unrest and violence which has broken out in certain "liberated" colonial areas and is occupying increasing newspaper space is not hard to find. The people there have been inspired by the global war to want fulfillment of demands they have long been pressing, and execution of promises biven by the belligerents to gain their support during the war.

The trouble spots cover a considerable portion of the earth's surface and vast numbers of its inhabitants. They include in the Orient, the Dutch East Indies, Malaya, French Indo China, Burma and India. On the threshold of Europe are Palestine, Syria-Lebanon and other Arab areas.

Situation Is Complicated

The situation in the Far East has been greatly complicated by the war. The natives there fo rthe most part have never been satisfied with the overlordship and exploitation of the western white men. During the war, those who put any faith in the "co-prosperity" promised by the Japanese were sadly disillusioned.

They were subjected to two-way pressure. The Japanese were inept and often brutal in their occupation, but did a great deal to promote nationalist feeling, especially among the Indonesians of the East Indies and Malayans. The Japanese propaganda barrage was increasingly heavy as the tide of war changed in favor of the Allies. At the same time, the natives were given promises by the western powrs of self-rul in one form or another which they now want to see fulfilled.

Britain Is On Spot

The powers principally concerned are Britain, the Netherlands and France. None of them has had the happy experience of the United States in the Philippines, which were not exploited and where forthcoming complete freedom has long been taken more or less for granted.

The difficulty of the three European colonial powers is essentially economic rather than political or defensive, although defense of her imperial life line enters largly into Britain's position in the Near East.

For Britain, Malaya is a highly valuable economic asset. The revenues from rubber, tin and other products are more important than ever, now that the need for dollars to prevent the collapse of the sterling block is imperative.

From the British viewpoint, self-rule now among the divided Malay States would be unthinkable. Burma has been promised independence afteh 1948 but sprawling India presents a more difficult problem. Britain feels that she has to maintain financial control in India fo rthe time being cause of her own shaky economic condition.

France and the Netherlands likewise are depending heavily on their overseas empires to restore thir post-war economy. It is doubtful if either is greatly worried about defense.

The difficulty in reaching political agreements at the London conference may have been due in part to failure to put enough emphasis on this underlying economic problem, which until solved is a definite barrier to complete realization of the "one world" ideal.

GIs Burn As Nurse Fiddles Protest On Yanks' "Approches"

By W. R. HIGGINBOTHAM
United Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 1—American Army officers and G. I.'s alike seethed today over an Army nurse's flat assertion that they no longer know how to make love.

Citing her own "romantic" experiences as proof, she dismissed present-day American soldiers as lousy lovers in a letter to the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes.

She said she prefers the "gallant, subtle, and glib" British and French soldiers.

Technique Disintegrating

As for the Americans, their love-making technique is disintegrating so rapidlyg that "very shortly there will be no technique at all," she said.

They operate on a "catch as catch can basis," she said, as result of their quick success with candy and cigarettes among hungry and smoke-famished native lasses in Europe.

"The love market in the United States certainly won't operate on this candy and commodity basis," she warned.

Passes Repulsive

With chewing gum supplanting conversation and chocolate bars superseding the "buildup" in Europe, Americans have had things pretty much their own way with females," she said.

The nurse sadly related a typical evening with an American soldier:

"I go to an officer's party. By 10 p. m. every officer has made a pass at me, which, although flattering, are so lacking in subtlety, originality and deception that they are utterly repulsive.

"When their efforts go unrewarded," the nurse added, "the officers disappear to the more lucrative chocolate circuit and the nurses are left to walk home alone.

Enlisted Men Also Dull

"On a single date," she said, "a hot hand closes on yours, a husky voice grates in your ear and you are propositioned! All this without even awaiting an opportunity in keeping with the mood of such an operation."

The nurse said that she had not attended any enlisted men's parties, but had dated them singly.

"And the situation is exactly the same," she reported.

"No wonder we prefer French or British army personnel whose gallantry, subtelty, suavity and glib phrases not only establish the proper setting, but practically make results a foregone conclusion," she declared.

The writer signed the letter "Nurse, 59th Evacuation Hospital."

Burglaries Here Stymie Police

Without a single piece of evidence on which to base their investigation, police said Monday night that no progress had been made in the investigation of two week-end burglaries here which netted loot of $5,000 worth of diamonds, almost $400 in currency and checks and an undetermined amount of narcotics.

Burglars bored through the roofs into Ellison drug at 1802 Ave. H and Lytal's pharmacy at 1109 Ave. L, knocked knobs off safes and pried into cabinets and drawers.

Capt. Aubrey Fawver of city police detectives said the greatest loss was at Ellison drug.

"They drilled through the tar and wood roof, kicked out a sheet iron ceiling, took the diamonds — one stickpin alone was valued at $1,000 — knocked the knob off the safe, found about $350 in money and checks, and prized open a steel cabinet that contained the narcotics."

Entrance Similar

Fawver said entrance at the pharmacy was much alike. A brace and bit was used to open a whole in the roof, and plaster of the ceiling was kicked out. From $30 to $40 in currency and from $80 to $90 in "dope" was the loot. The safe was damaged and "the place was tumbled badly."

At 12:05 a. m. Sunday there was reported what appeared to have been another attempted burglary. The handle was pulled off the night deposit box at Lubbock National bank, and a light broken.

Fawver said no clues were left to indicate identity of those who figured in either of the jobs.

The drugstore was closed Saturday midnight, the pharmacy about 10 o'clock Saturday night. Both burglary reports were made at 7 o'clock Sunday morning.

Despite Short Food Rations Prisoner Able To Do Work

HONOLULU, T. H., (Delayed) (AP)—On three handfuls of rice daily, Marine Cpl. Alvin D. Joyner, Clarksville, Tex., recently liberated from the Japs, had to push a truck weighing 4,000 pounds through the galleries of a copper mine.

When a correspondent remarked it seemed impossible, Joyner replied:

"You can do it with a man standing beside you with a club."

A veteran of the "death march" from Bataan, his group travelled over 60 miles in 10 days, with only a handful of rice each to sustain them.

Work in the mines wasn't so onerous, according to the Texan, when the American bombing raids started in the Hetachi area, where the mine was located.

"It was even pleasant to be in the mines when the thousand pounders were banging around," he said.

Topping all his misery, however, was the fact that he had to climb 600 feet of steps to get out of the minehead to his camp.

"After a day of exhausting work, that used to nearly kill me. That, plus the fact I was earning 25 se a day—less than two cents. And we couldn't even spend that."

Despite his rugged experiences, Joyner was found to be one of the comparatively few prisoners strong enough to endure the flight from Japan to the United States. He stopped here overnight.

Shortly after World War I, the Chemical Warfare Service began experimenting with the then revolutionary British smooth-barrelled four-inch mortar for use in laying a gas blanket or smoke screen.

The JAQUES POWER SAW

Saves time and...

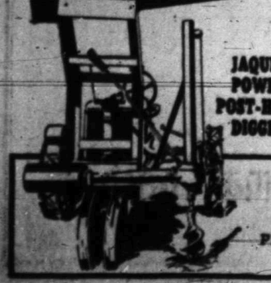

cuts clearing costs

Millions of acres of rich land, which should be converted into green pastures and fertile farm lands, are going to waste. Why? Because these lands are covered with dense growths of brush and timber, and the shortage of manpower, and the high cost of labor have made it impractical to clear them. However, this clearing problem was solved with the invention and perfection of the Jaques Power Saw.

Saws Trees Down and Cuts Them Up

With this wonder saw, such land can be cleared in a fraction of the time, at a fraction of the cost. It mows brush and small trees like a mower mows grass and weeds, and cuts larger trees level with the ground. By changing saw to vertical position felled timber is quickly cut to any desired length. With it one man can do the work of fifteen to twenty-five men.

JAQUES POWER POST-HOLE DIGGER

The Jaques Power Post-Hole Digger, shown at left, is another time and labor-saver which will pay for itself in a short time. For information, prices and demonstration, see...

80,000 Jews Said Slain In One Night Of Horror In Nazi Camp

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 1. —A Jewish physician testifying at the Belsen war crimes trial today said 80,000 Jews, representing the entire ghetto of Lodz, Poland, were gassed or burned to death in one night at the concentration camp.

Dr. Sigismund Charles Bendell, the witness, said the Germans had designed a system of trenches with a capacity for the burning of 1,000 human bodies an hour. He said he was ordered to work in crematorium No. 4 in Aug. 1944.

Crowded Into Area

Testifying that prisoners were herded unknowingly into the gas chambers, Bendell said:

"After the gas arrived, doors open leading to two rooms with low ceilings and for the first time victims in the waiting room realize they are going to death.

"They were crowded into the rooms by guards with sticks. The doors close. There are shouts, screams, cries and knocking on the wall. This lasts for two minutes—then complete silence. Five minutes later the doors open, but only after 20 minutes can special workers get near to remove the bodies.

"The bodies fall out and are almost impossible to separate from each other.

Fought Against Death

"They fought horribly against death.

"The workers begin removing bodies—still warm covered with blood, human excrements. Then the bodies must go to the barber and dentist. Hair is removed, all teeth are pulled out before they are cremated. Those who were unable to enter the overcrowed gas chamber were lined up near trenches and shot."

Utterly Crushed Manila Puts Up Bold Front For 'Tourist' Dollar

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA—Like an oil boom town whose bright lights, raucous music and false front buildings hide much filth and broken dreams, this crushed Philippine capital each day puts on its painted face and ghastly smile in an effort to pry a few more pesos out of passing soldier tourists.

Kenneth Dixon

Manila is crushed — crushed on a par with countless European cities I have seen from Italy to Berlin. It was here that the Pacific fighting men first experienced house to house combat on a large scale, and Manila shows it.

If you stay away from the main streets you can walk or drive for hours through Manila and never cease being surrounded by crumbled buildings, sickening smells and all the war's inevitable atmosphere of destruction, poverty and suffering.

False Front Magic

But all that is like the sleeping drunks and empty bottles behind boomtown tavern. Take a swing down any main drag and you never see those things for the false front magic goes to work.

It's like a carnival—restaurants, bars, girlie shows, novelty stores—and music, always music.

Wandering along on a hot, oppressive, noisy, crowded sidewalk you can walk into some door or other and get almost anything you want—for a price.

All the time that music rolls out into jammed, sweating streets through swing doors and open doors left intriguingly half open. It all sounds gay and carfree and if you're walking close to the front of the buildings you can't see what's behind them.

Prices Are Terrific

If you're only in town a short time, stay on the main drags and you'll never see what's really happened to Manila. But you may get sore at the prices you have to pay and wonder why.

If you do, just wander a couple of blocks off any main street — move behind the false fronts until the music fades away and the gayety is gone and you'll find rubble and destruction, misery and equalor, hunger and disease where once a beautiful city stood.

Then you'll understand that people don't starve to death easily, rather they'll move out to the main drag where the Army traffic flows faster, where their best smile will sell anything they have for enough pesos to eat.

In India floats to ferry people across swollen streams are made of pottery.

Boy Scout Cub Meet Set At Tech Tonight

Members of the Boy Scouts' Cub pack and their parents, who have been meeting at the Roscoe Wilson school, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the new agricultural building at Texas Technological college, S. C. McCarty, chairman of the Cub Scout committee, announced yesterday.

The reason the organization is changing its meeting place, McCarty explained, is because of the crowded condition of the Roscoe Wilson school. G. M. Unger, scout executive, will discuss cub scout work as a community enterprise.

Only One War Plant Said Sold In Texas

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Although three plants have been leased by the government, Uncle Sam has sold only one war-born industrial holding in Texas to business men.

The taxpayers got back 100 cents on the dollar in that one lone transaction. The single sale was that of the Terminal Refining corporation's aviation gasoline production facilities at Corpus Christi. The government erected the plant at a cost of $1,514,851.03.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation's report also shower, besides the lone sale and three leases, that other Texas plants are either under option or the subject of negotiations.

The three plants leased are Reed Roller Bit Co. of Houston; American Cyanamid & Chemical, Fort Worth; and Eastern States Petroleum, Houston.

U. S. Claimed Only Nation Wealthy Enough To Finance Atomic Bomb

By ROBERT L. FREY
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 1 (U.P.) — The United States' defense against the atomic bomb is the fact that she alone has wealth enough and sufficient resources to manufacture one, Dr. Walter R. G. Baker, vice president of the General Electric company, said today.

Dr. Baker is in charge of the $10,000,000 electronics park being built north of Syracuse, N. Y., where G. E. will manufacture television equipment, radar, wire recorders and other electronic devices.

Process No Mystery

"It is not so much a question of other nations discovering the secret of the bomb, that is, the physics involved," Dr. Baker said, "but whether or not there is another country rich enough and industrially strong enough actually to make one.

"As a matter of fact, there is no great mystery to any real scientific development. A lot of the apparent mystery is there because we go about it so clumsily."

Dr. Baker said that the techniques used in making atomic bombs embody some "unbelievable" processes.

Had Unlimited Resources

He drew a parallel to the monumental difficulties overcome in producing the atomic bomb.

"Suppose," he said, "there were no railroads in this country. Suppose I came to you with a model of a wood-burning locomotive that could do five miles an hour and said, 'I want you to build a national system of railroads reaching every city of 50,000 population or more. I want it within four years. Money is no consideration. Trains are to run at 60 miles per hour and I want them equipped with dining cars, sleeping cars and all the services that go with them. I don't want this 50 years from now—I want it four years from now.'

Just Had Figures On Paper

"That," Dr. Baker said deliberately, "would be one tenth of one per cent of the problem of matching the atomic bomb. Because you would have a wood-burning locomotive to start with. All we had were some figures on a piece of paper."

Asked how soon atomic energy could be used in every-day life, Dr. Baker replied:

"That would have been like asking me, when Marconi was sending his first dot and dash wireless message how soon I thought we could sit at home and listen to the philharmonic orchestra. Of course we can do that now and see the musicians, too, if we want to. But I certainly wouldn't have been able to guess in the early days of radio when that would come true."

Dr. Baker said that reversal of the action occurring when an atomic bomb explodes, that is, when the nuclei of atoms are split, would result in the construction of atomic nuclei—in other words, the creation of matter itself from energy.

When an atom is split, he explained, a portion of its nucleus or matter is dispersed in energy. The entire nucleus is not turned into energy only because our method of splitting the atom is not yet perfected.

"If we had enough energy — which we haven't," Dr. Baker went on, "we could reverse this process and create matter from energy."

He asknowledged that it would be reasonable to speculate that this is what occurred when the world was created.

"All matter," he explained, "to put it into every day language is nothing but very highly concentrated energy, this desk, this chair, everything about us and even our own bodies. We are made of atoms and when an atom is split, as the atomic bomb so vividly demonstrated, that matter is changed back into energy. You see what a simple picture this gives us of a world of energy."

Dr. Baker pointed out that all radioactive metals such as radium and uranium are constantly splitting off atoms, that is, slowly turning matter into energy. As a result, he said, after millions of years a piece of radium changes into lead. All the lead in the world, he added, was at one time radium.

He hazarded that one of the next great scientific developments would be the application of electronic devices and the tools used in nuclear physics to the improvement of the health of mankind.

"The use of ultra-short waves and radioactive materials in locating faults in the body and correcting them," he said, "may be the next great field in which these new discoveries are used."

19,000 Pounds Scrap Metal Are Collected

Having just completed driving his magnetic nail-collecting machine over the nineteen counties of this highway district, T. E. Vance, the machine operator, yesterday reported to S. C. McCarty, district highway engineer, that he had picked up 19,000 pounds of scrap metal.

This exceeds by 4,000 pounds the most metal ever collected from the highways of the district in previous years, Vance said. The machine, equipped with powerful electro-magnets, picks up loose nails and other steel and iron fragments that are subject to magnetism.

Annual nail-collecting trips are made throughout the district, McCarty explained.

Arguments Delayed In Laredo Libel Case

AUSTIN, Oct. 1 (AP)—The court of Criminal Appeals today postponed until Oct. 10 oral arguments in the appeal of William Prescott Allen, publisher of the Laredo Times, from a criminal libel conviction.

The arguments had been tentatively set for Oct. 3. The postponement came by agreement of attorneys for the state, and for Allen.

Allen was given a six month jail sentence upon his conviction for criminal libel in district court. This came in connection with publication of a story in the Times criticizing the board of directors of the Laredo Rotary club in connection with collections of loans to service men.

Several civil libel suits against Allen at Laredo have been settled by agreement.

The court on Oct. 10 also will hear arguments in a habeas corpus proceeding involving three Corpus Christi Caller Times news men. They had been held in contempt by the county judge there in connection with the published report of a trial, and the Appeals court last summer granted a temporary writ of habeas corpus, freeing them from jail. The Oct. 10 hearing will be to determine whether or not to make the writ permanent.

GEN. SHIGA SUICIDES

LONDON, Oct. 1 (AP)—General Shiga, Japanese commander of Mili atoll in the Marshall islands group, committeed suicide rather than face Allied troops, the All-India radio reported today. A note found near Shiga's body admitted he tortured five U. S. airmen to death in January, 1944, the broadcast said.

Doolittle Raider Now On KP At Army Center

SANTA ANA, Calif., Oct. 1 (AP) One of the fellows who was in Jimmy Doolittle's historic raid on Japan is back from the horrors of a prisoner-of-war camp and doing KP duty at this separation center.

Staff Sgt. Jacob D. DeShazer, who spent 40 months in a Jap prison camp, 34 of them in solitary confinement, is one of 40 returnees who are scraping trays, washing coffee cups and doing other KP chores.

Army officers said there was no discrimination between former prisoners of war and other men awaiting discharge and that KP duty was passed around "because we're awfully short-handed here."

DeShazer related how he read the Bible, memorizing complete chapters, while he was in a Peiping, China, prison camp.

"I was particularly impressed by parts of Paul's letters, he said at the separation center here where he is awaiting release from the Army. "They showed me that I should be forgiving and not resentful."

DeShazer, formerly a farmer at Salem, Ore., says he will use his back pay of $5,571 to finance his education as a missionary.

The distillation of alcoholic beverages from fermented liquors became general throughout the whole of Europe during the 16th and 17th centuries.

Tigers, Cubs Get Ready To Open Big Series Wednesday

DETROIT, Oct. 1. (AP)—Detroit's triumphant Tigers fought their way through a welcoming throng here today, and the Chicago Cubs, the National League champs, pulled in tonight, feeling fit and tough for the opening game of the World Series on Wednesday.

Manager Steve O'Neill of the Tigers looked over his bedraggled athletes as they piled off the train from St. Louis and asid: "You're looking at the next World champions."

WORLD SERIES SCHEDULE

DETROIT, Oct. 1. (AP)—The World Series between the Detroit Tigers and the Chicago Cubs will open here Wednesday. The second and third games also will be played in Detroit, on Thursday and Friday.

Then the series will switch to Chicago, where games will be played Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Wednesday, providing the series goes the full seven games.

If the seventh game is necessary, it will be played Wednesday, the teams being idle on Tuesday.

"I'll say we'll definitely win it in six games," continued the Tiger leader. "We've got the pitching to beat their ears off. Hank Borowy's the only pitcher they've got who figures to give us any trouble. He knows our batters."

Work Out Today

Both clubs were due to work out at Briggs stadium tomorrow, the Tigers at 11 a. m. and the Cubs in the afternoon, around 2 p. m. Senator A. B. "Happy" Chandler, the baseball commissioner, checked in at his hotel and said he would hold a couple of pre-series meetings tomorrow, first with the umpires and then with the umpires and the rival managers, to iron out any possible arguments.

In Wednesday's first game, before an assured sell-out crowd of about 55,000, the Tigers will start their left-handed ace, Hal Uewhouser, who has won 25 games, including yesterday's clincher at St. Louis, when Hank Greenberg poled a four-run home run to end all home runs. Manager Charlie Grimm's opening choice for the Cubs was expected to be Bowory, who was bought from the Yankees a few months ago for a reputed $100,000.

Hal Wants Work

Newhouser pleaded with O'Neill this morning to let him work three series games. He is a curly-haired, baby-faced young man with a tremendous respect for his own pitching ability.

"That's impossible," O'Neill told him patiently. "We play straight through, jumping to Chicago for the fourth game on Saturday without a day between games. You'll be lucky if you get in two games, the way these boys are feeling. They think they'll win four straight."

If Newhouser wins the opener, O'Neill plans to pitch another lefthander, Frank "Stubby" Overmire, in the second contest. If Newhouser loses, Detroit's second-game hurler will be Virgil Trucks, the strong-armed young righthander who just got out of the Navy. Dizzy Trout will work the fourth game in Chicago, O'Neill said positively.

After Boroway in the first game, Grimm of the Cubs figured to use Veteran Claude Passeau in the second and Hank Wyse, a 22-game winner, in the third.

The Tigers were slight favorites to win both the first game and the championship. If one wished to bet on the Tigers to take the title he had to put up $13 to win $10. The Tigers admirer could bet $7 against $5 that his club would win the first game. Or, if one liked the Cubs to win the opener, he could get $6 against his $5.

It was raining hard when the Tigers got in today, and it continued to pour down most of the afternoon, but the weather bureau held out promise of clearing skies.

Second Round Opens In Club Tournament

Three semi-finalists have been named in the Lubbock Country Club Championship Golf tournament as play swings into the second round with several matches still not played off, it was announced Monday night by Herb Schroeder, club pro.

The winners in the second round of the KFYO flight who move into the semi-finals are Raymond Marshall, O. A. Terry and Dr. W. A. Schaal. Marshall eliminated Don Mitchell, one up, Terry beat C. N. Woods, 4 and 3, and Schaal won from Ted Tipps, 3 and 2.

Helwig, one up. Dr. R. L. McAllister breezed to a 6 and 5 win over Wynne Collier and R. H. Bean beat W. F. Dean, 2 and 1.

Two matches in the consolation bracket have been reported, with E. H. Armstrong winning from Charles Whitacre, 3 and 1, and J. B. McClendon over A. A. Foster, 3 and 2.

Defaults named two semi-finalists in the Reddy Kilowatt flight, with Walter Granberry advancing over H. L. McLarty and Ralph Garnett over Ed McLaughlin.

In the consolation bracket, Sy Gooden got a default victory over A. E. Miller, O. A. Brock beat J. B. McCauley, 2 and 1, and Cliff Dean won by default from George Soash and Al Townsend by default from Dr. J. W. Sinclair.

Semi-finalists in the Dunlap flight was named, with Creston Fish winning from Herb Stubbs, 2 and 1, Powell McWhirter winning from Alvin Allison, 3 and 2, Tom Lemond won from E. J. Parsons, 3 and 2, and Jack Markham won from Jake Warnick, one up.

In the consolation bracket, J. H. Brock beat Herb Silverman, 4 and 3.

The Country Club bracket showed three matches played, with Lewis Kerr winning from Jack Goodgion, 4 and 3, A. C. Jackson beat Floyd Bowen, two up, and C. O. Campbell won from Ben Cole, 3 and 2.

Sporting News Honors Go To Holmes, Mayo

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 1—Tommy Holmes, outfielder of the Boston Braves, and Eddie Mayo, second baseman of the Detroit Tigers, today were announced as the selections of The Sporting News as the most valuable player in the major leagues for 1945.

In supplementary choices of outstanding pitchers, who are placed in a special merit class, apart from other regular players, Hal Newhouser of the Tigers, who was picked in 1944, is renamed for the American League and Hank Borowy of the Cubs is awarded the distinction in the National.

Mayo Main Cog

Mayo is acclaimed as the main cog in the Detroit machine, his hustle and efficiency in the infield and effective work at the bat being credited for much of the success of the Tigers this season. A discard of the Giants and Braves as too slow for an infielder and of the Athletics because of defective vision, occasioned by being hit with a thrown ball, Mayo was rescued from the minors by the Tigers to develop into one of the outstanding stars of the year.

Holmes won the accolade for his hitting and fielding with a team that was never in the pennant race. He was a contender for the National League batting honors throughout the season and finished far ahead of all other sluggers in home runs, while establishing a modern league record for hitting safely in consecutive games, 37 in a row from June 6 to July 8, during which period he made 66 hits.

Newhouser Honored

Newhouser not only was hailed as the outstanding pitcher of the American League but of all the majors. Although he fell short of the 29 victories registered in 1944, he again topped the league in wins and in surpassing his 187 strikeouts of last season, far outdistanced all pitchers in whiffs this year, despite the handicap of a lame back. In addition, he leads the league in low earned run average.

Borowy is conceded the pitching honors in the National, because of his yeoman work with the Cubs, particularly against their chief rival, the Cardinals, from whom he won three while losing only one and that one defeat being a 1 to 0 loss on an unearned run, while he yielded only three hits. As the most publicized pitcher of the year, because of the deal that transferred him from the Yankees to the Cubs, despite the waiver rule, Borowy was said to have been put on the spot, but came through with almost a flawless record in the National, after hanging up ten victories and losing five in the American.

Joe Louis Becomes Civilian Once More

CAMP SHANKS, N. Y., Oct. 1. (AP) — Sgt. Joe Louis, world's heavy-weight boxing champion, received an honorable discharge from the Army at 4 p. m. today.

Louis left the camp late this afternoon and said he was going to New York to attend a fight in St. Nicholas' arena.

The Brown Bomber entered the Army as a private on Jan. 14, 1942 and gave boxing exhibitions at Army camps throughout the world.

Gridders Prep For Tough Grid Battles

The usual Monday holiday at Lubbock's two major grid camps went by the boards Monday afternoon, and both the Texas Tech Red Raiders and the Lubbock Westerners started prepping for tough assignments this week-end with rough scrimmage sessions.

The Red Raiders invade the state capital at Austin Saturday afternoon to tangle with Coach Dana X. Bible's power laden Texas Longhorns, one of the nation's top ranking grid elevens.

The Lubbock Westerners remain at home this week, playing the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes at Texas Tech stadium Friday night in a non-conference game that should offer plenty of fireworks.

Raiders Add Men

The Red Raiders added some new strength to the club Monday, with the return of Bennie Winkler, who did a lot of fullbacking for the Raiders in 1943, taking over for Walt Schlinkman, when the Dumas Dynamiter went out with a broken leg early that season.

Winkler received his discharge from the Navy Sept. 18, and reported back to Texas Tech yesterday as an end. Last season, Winkler played with North Carolina Pre-Flight at Chapel Hill as a tackle. With him was Thomas Lee, six-foot, 212 pound tackle from the same Navy team, and also out for the first time Monday.

Another newcomer that started workouts Monday was Pat Ferris, former star with the Lubbock Westerners, and with Texas Tech for a short time before going into the service. He is a lineman.

Rough Work Ahead

The Red Raiders went through the roughest scrimmage of the year Monday afternoon, and Coach Dell Morgan said there would be plenty more of it, and rougher day by day for the rest of the week. "We'll scrimmage, tackle, scrimmage, tackle, then have scrimmage and tackling," Morgan said.

The Red Raider coach was highly displeased with the showing of the Red Raiders last Saturday night at San Antonio, and his special ire was aimed at the passing department Monday. Gene Hardey, letterman from Hugoton, Kans., who did the passing at San Antonio ran a full hour of pass plays without rest. Jack "Spider" Dillon was also throwing lots of passes Monday afternoon.

Staewen A Back

Another shift in the personnel was noticed during the scrimmage session Monday when Johnny Staewen was shifted from the line to the backfield, and ran plenty of plays from this new position.

Staewen was an All-City guard for two years at San Antonio Tech, and last week had been shifted to center, but Monday moved into the ball carrying department.

Coaches Dixie White and George Philbrick found plenty of things wrong with the play of the Lubbock Westerners in last week's "water fight" with the Big Spring Steers, and started work this week in ironing out the kinks.

Stressing timing, ball handling and blocking, the coaches put the Westerners through a rough scrimmage Monday afternoon, with the club showing up nicely.

White and Philbrick also promised plenty more rough work ahead for the schoolboys this week as the Westerners prepare for the last non-district game before the conference opener at Borger Oct. 12.

Ben Hogan Sets New PGA Tourney Record

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 1. (U.P.)—Benny Hogan, the little golfing wizard from Hershey, Pa., today sought new courses to conquer after winning the Portland Open with a new, alltime PGA tournament record of 261 strokes.

Hogan chopped 27 strokes off par 288 for 72 holes, his four-day total being two strokes better than Byron Nelson's previous record of 263 in the Atlanta Open this year. Nelson, the national chapion from Toledo, Ohio, could do no better than trail Hogan by 14 strokes, althought his 275 at Portland would have won most tournaments.

Longhorns Lose One, Another Is Returned

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 1. (AP) — The Texas Longhorns today lost the services of second team fullback Leroy Andersen possibly for the season, but at the same time learned tht wingback Joe Billy Baumgardner, two-year Southwestern letterman, would rejoin the Steers on November 1.

Andersen, a letterman and starting fullback last season, reported for practice only last week and played a good game against Southwestern as Texas won, 46-0. But he reinjured a trick knee against the Pirates, and Navy doctors say he may be out for the season. Baumgardner was slated to be a starter on Texas' championship 1943 eleven, but was transferred to Southwestern before the season started.

Two Texans Due To Leave Navy Eleven

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 1. (AP) — Ralph Ellsworth, Fred Earley and George Walmsley, backfield members of Navy's football team, may resign soon from the Naval academy.

Academy sources reported that Earley, of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Walmsley, from Bayton, Texas, were notified that because of physical ailments they could not receive commissions after graduation. Earley, former Notre Dame player, has a chronic knee injury, and Walmsley, who starred at Rice, has bad hearing.

It was understood that Ellsworth, of San Antonio, Texas, who was a former University of Texas luminary, already had tendered his resignation.

New Plan Drawn On Class B Loop

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 1 (AP)—Local supporters of a Southwestern Class B baseball league turned today to consideration of plans for a circuit taking in five to seven West Texas cities.

Otho Beck, chairman of a committee studying the proposed league, said after discussions today that Lubbock, Amarillo, Pampa, Borger and Abilene, Tex., were viewed as likeliest prospects to form a six-team loop with Albuquerque.

He added that there had been some talk of making it an eight-team league with addition of Witchita Falls and San Angelo, Tex.

Beck said the revision of plans followed word that El Paso and Juarez preferred to remain in the Mexican National league. This would limit a prospective New Mexico-Arizona lineup to four teams, including Phoenix, Tucson and Bisbee, and advocates of the new league will not be satisfied with fewer than six members, Beck said.

He reported he was contacting Sam Rosenthal, Lubbock business man, regarding the latest plan.

SET ATTENDANCE RECORD

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP) — More fans watched major league baseball in 1945 than ever before as five teams passed the million mark and the over-all unofficial total for the 16 clubs soared to a new high of 11,375,185 paying customers.

GAME SITE CHANGED

AUSTIN, Oct. 1 (AP) — The Austin High school-Brackenridge (San Antonio) interscholastic league football game originally scheduled to be played Friday night Oct. 19 at the Austin High stadium has been re-scheduled for Oct. 20 at 2:30 p. m. at Texas Memorial stadium.

BACK TO AGGIES

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Oct. 1. (AP) — Manning Smith, who has spent several months in the Merchant Marines, rejoined the Texas A&M athletic department today.

Smith will assist the second string football backfield and take over minor sports such as golf and tennis, Head Coach Homer Norton said.

Power Strike Is Called Revolt

ployes who walked off their jobs "will not be returned to such former employment," requested the "cooperation of the peace officers of the state, the counties and the cities in protecting property of the authority" and concluded:

Vandalism Charged

"The interruption of service caused by the various acts of vandalism during the early morning hours of Monday and through the day is being remedied by the Authority with utmost dispatch, and with adequate protection of the properties against further acts of vandalism, service will be restored in full at the earliest possible moment."

Asserting that the workers have "gone way past the half way mark to meet the LCRA board," Harry Bernahrd, business manager of Local No. 520, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said in reply to Starcke's statement:

"This isn't a problem of a group of unreasonable demands made upon LCRA. To the present date not one demand has been made—only a request that we be recognized as citizens of Texas with the right to organize and bargain collectively with the management."

He declared that the attorney general specifically had said in an opinion that the LCRA board has authority to bargain collectively with employes.

Stars Unheralded

The strike started unheralded a few minutes after midnight, when workers opened the big switches and closed down turbines. All over the large area affected by the strike, lights blinkedd immediately, electric refrigeration units coasted to a standstill, municipal pumping plants wheezed to a close. Lanterns and candles flickered o nin hospitals.

LCRA officials were flooded with protests from mayors of towns blacked out by the power failure. These grew in volume and intensity as water supplies dwindled.

Starcke accompanied by a detail of Texas Rangers and nonstirking employes of the LCRA, visited each of the agency's four power plants, at Austin dam, Mansfield dam, Inks dam and Buchanan dam. They attempted to get the plants into operation but Starcke reported that obviously transmission lines had been shortcircuted.

Acts of Sabotage

"Resumption of service by local workers and recruited workers has been delayed by acts of sabotage and vandalism which were evidently committed by some of the strikers," he said.

"The LCRA is a state agency. Its employes are agents and servants of the state government. The acts committed by them amount to a revolt against the state and a crime against society.

"I recognize the right of every man to quit work because of hours, wages or any condition of employment which he considers unsatisfactory. But in this instance, we have had no complaint against any working condition as justification for the strike. This is not just a labor dispute—it is a brazen defiance of law and morality."

"Under these circumstances, there is no room for mediation. The state of Texas has not yet reached the point where it has to mediate and compromise wtih those who think they are bigger than the state and with those who destroy its property and show an utter disregard for the safety of its people."

Statement Is Answered

Regarding Starcke's statemen, Bernhard added:

"It's easy for a lawyer to sit down and make up things for him to say. In trying to lay the blame on us they overlook the fact that the workers have bent over double for the past five years to get the just treatment that every American citizen is entitled to."

Bernhard asserted further that the LCRA was not interested in its workers nor did it respect them, "even to the extent of granting them a fair hearing."

He continued:

"We have nothing to hide. Everything is up and above board. But it seems that citizens of Texas, taxpayers, working for the Authority in the opinion of the management should have no freedom of speech or any privilege to which every American is entitled to.

Said Forced Into It

"These workers didn't antagonize or start any type of labor trouble. They were forced into it by the LCRA.

"When it reaches the point where workers are not able to discuss any part of their problems with the management it is high time that the blame is placed where it justly belongs.

"The LCRA has found it possible to enter into a contract stipulating wages an dtime of employment with the manager, Max Starcke. These workers are beyond any reasonable doubt entitled to the same privileges."

Electric power was restored to Fredericksburg late this afternoon from lines of West Texas Utilities company, Abilene. Sheriff Robert Lath, state Rangers, state highway patrolmen and an armed posse of volunteers will patrol the lines tonight.

County Attorney Tom Martin today began an inquiry into an incident early today when rope was thrown over high voltage lines a few miles north of Fredericksburg and burned out the lines.

Kerosene Lamps Sold Out

Not a candle or kerosene lamp could be bought at Fredericksburg one hour after the current went off. There was also a rush for old style wash boards when current was not available to run washing machines.

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, returning from a week end at his imble county ranch, said that he had arranged last week for a meeting of management and union representatives in his office but that no agreement had come from the discussion. He added that Starcke told him that the Authority could operate normally, after a period of readjustment, if striking workers were replaced.

The governor expressed the opinion that the question of union recognition did not justify a strike.

Asked if he planned further action, he said he did not contemplate any unless requested and that he would keep in touch with the situation all night, if necessary.

State Bids $735,942 For Tribune Building

AUSTIN, Oct. 1 (AP)—The state today bid $735,942 for the 12-story Tribune tower in Austin for use as a state office building.

The Board of Control and a special state building council indicated immediate action would be taken if the proposal was accepted by the widow of the late J. M. West and the West estate, owners of the building.

Actually, it was a counter proposal to an $812,308 price originally agreed to by Phil M. Stevenson of Houston, executor and trustee of the estate.

The state's offer was part of a plan whereby it may spend $1,932,281 in the purchase and construction or the construction only of office space at an annual cost of $66,000.

Members of the council are Weaver Baker, chairman and also chairman of the control boarr; Lt-Gov. John Lee Smith; Speaker of the House Claude Gilmer of Kerrville; Sen. R. C. Lanning of Jacksboro who is substituting for Sen. Fred Mauritz of Ganado; Rep. M. A. Bundy of Wichita Falls and Attorney General Grover Sellers.

Poll Tax Issue To Be Dumped Onto Senate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP) — The Senate judiciary committee voted today to throw the whole poll tax question in the lap of the Senate.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) told reporters after a closed meeting that the committee:

1. Voted to report to the Senate the House-approved bill outlawing the collection of poll taxes as a prequisite for voting in primary or general elections for federal offices.

2. Voted also to report the bill by Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) providing for a constitutional amendment forbidding such taxes.

McCarran declined to speculate on when the measures might hit the Senate floor.

Main Adjudged Insane In El Paso Hearing

EL PASO, Oct. 1 (AP)—William F. Main, 28, of Philadelphia, was adjudged insane by a district court jury today in an instructed verdict following a sanity hearing.

Main had been charged with burder in the decapitation slaying of Edward Baker, 72, county poor farm inmate, last June 22. Baker's body was discovered in a shallow grave near here, and several days later the head was found in a hotel checkroom.

Dist. Judge W. D. Howe said Main, a member of a wealthy Philadelphia family, would be committed to a state hospital at Big Spring, Tex.

One Dies, 11 Hurt In Three Wrecks

One death and injuries to 11 persons resulted from three separate week-end traffic accidents on the South Plains.

Mrs. Wheeler Ford of Ralls, about 42, died in a Lamesa hospital about 1 o'clock Sunday night of injuries sustained when the car in which she was riding collided with a truck between Lamesa and O'Donnell approximately two hours earlier.

Funeral services had not been announced last night. The body is at Marr Funeral home in Ralls.

Others Slightly Hurt

Mr. Ford, their four-year-old daughter, Mary Lou, and Travis Cook of Ralls were in the car with her and suffered slight injuries.

They had been to a hospital near San Angelo to visit a daughter of the Fords, Mrs. Truett Mays, who is in a hospital there.

Five persons remained in St. Mary's hospital last night for treatment of injuries received in a hadon collision of two cars a mile and a half north of Abernathy about 10:30 o'clock Sunday night. They are Henry C. Maxey of Slaton, Mrs. Carl Maxey and four-year-old daughter, De Ette, of 2707 Twenty-eighth, Mrs. W. R. Walden of 2411 Twenty-sixth, and Jose Briceno, a Mexican.

Maxey suffered fractured knees, concussion and shock. His condition was reported serious. Mrs. Maxey, her daughter and Mrs. Walden each received a broken leg. The extent of the Mexican's injuries had not been determined last night.

The child was to undergo surgery this morning, it was reported. Mrs. Maxey and Mrs. Walden were reported in a satisfactory condition.

Jose Briceno, driver of one car and the only occupant, was driving south when the accident happened, according to investigating officer L. W. Wilhite of the highway patrol.

Pfc. Bruce Maxey, driver of the Maxey car, was uninjured.

Automobiles driven by Louis Tessetor, 57, of 2313 Twenty-fourth and a sailor, Alvin Warlick of Lubbock, route 6, crashed at 5:40 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the underpass near Meadowbrook Golf course, and several persons suffered injuries believed not serious.

Given Emergency Treatment

Warlick and another sailor, Bob Gilson of 703 Ave. G, were given emergency treatment at Lubbock General hospital and transferred to the hospital at Lubbock Army Air field. Mrs. J. D. Chaney of Lubbock, route 6, was taken to Lubbock General for treatment of facial and throat cuts. Mrs. Warlick and Robert Clark, a civilian whose address was not obtainable immediately, were not injured sufficient for treatment.

Gilson suffered a cut over the left eye, Warlick facial cuts and bruises, it was learned.

Telephone Tieup

unless repairs became necessary. More seriously crippled, he said, would be long distance service including press, government and leased wire services.

WORK STOPPAGE HERE IN 48 HOUURS POSSIBLE

Possibility of a work stoppage with 48 hours by members of Lubbock local No. 3359 of the Southwestern Telephone Workers union existed Monday night.

"A walkout here hinges on whether the Western Electric union is dissolved," Harold D. Bulloch, secretary-treasurer of the Lubbock chapter, said. Whether such a step will be taken here may be known perhaps by tonight, he said.

Bulloch said fate of the Western Electric group in its controversy with the CIO telephone workers union would be determined shortly.

Not Against Company

He said a walkout, if it develops, would not be against the Southwestern Bell Telephone company but against the National Labor Relations board, which he charged seems to be taking the side of the CIO.

Local dial-operated telephone service would not be affected, should a stoppage take place, except in cases of repair, it was understood. However, long distance service would be crippled.

Bulloch said members of the Lubbock local would convene tonight in what he said would be a regular meeting.

U. S. Subs Destroyed Half Jap Cargo Fleet

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 1 (AP)—Figures submitted by the Japanese government show that American submarines destroyed 55 per cent of the Japanese merchant fleet, the Navy announced today.

Japan's merchant shipping was whittled down from 10,357,200 gross tons at the start of the war to 1,526,000 tons at the war's end.

Altogether, the Nipponese lost 3,129 merchant ships.

Submarines sank 1,750 vessels totalling 4,871,000 tons; airplanes accounted for 876 of 2,727,000 tons.

Another 264 were sunk by other means. They totaled 718,000 tons.

STOCK SHOW STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—The stock market today jumped into October on one of the fastest sessions of recent months with the averages again posting new high for more than eight years.

While steels, oils, a few rails and assorted "blue chips" exhibited strength from the start, the principal activity was in low-quoted utilities which appeared in 1,000 to 32,000-share blocks.

Gains for favorites, ranging from one to four points, were reduced here and there in the final hour but closing plus signs were widespread. Transfers for the full stretch amounted to 1,990,000 shares compared with 1,380,000 Friday and were the largest since June 29.

Treasury Secretary Vinson's recommendations to Congress for substantial tax cuts served to buoy bullish sentiment.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .6 of a point at 71.6, equalling the peak of April 21, 1937. The industrials advanced .9 to 95.9, highest figure since Aug. 24, 1937. The proceedings were the broadest since June 28, 984 issues registering. Of these, 613 rose and 186 declined.

Prominent on the bulge were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Standard Oil (NJ), Texas Co., Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester, Southern Pacific, Kennecott and Anaconda.

It further charged that Kenji Kodama, newly-named president of the central liaison office which deals with occupation authorities, was president from 1938 through 1940 of the notorious Central China Development company.

The Japanese government, in response to a directive from MacArthur denied that any Filipino prisoners had been removed from the Philippines. MacArthur had demanded to know the whereabouts of all Filipino prisoners in Japan.

Between 1,300 and 1,400 Chinsese laborers who had been held in Japan have been located, however, and will be returned to China this week.

Col. R. P. Kramer, MacArthur's econmic and scientific chief, opened the hunt for Japan's looted wealth in a conversation with Viscount Keizo Shibusawa, governor of the Bank of Japan, and other key officials.

The Japanese insisted they had no control over financial transactions of militarists in the field.

The banker and a representative of the finance ministry admitted that the imperial household held about a quarter interest in the Bank of Japan while the Japanese government's interest was 55 per cent.

Young Suspect In Burglary Escapes

LEVELLAND, Oct. 1. (Special)—Sheriff Ed Hofacket tonight still sought a 18-year-old youth who escaped on foot late Sunday from two officers who almost caught the boy in the act of burglarizing Poole's Mill and Elevator office. The incident followed a series of unsolved burglaries.

The officers had been tipped that the young man was seen entering the building a few minutes before sundown Sunday afternoon and the two men, City Marshal W. C. Rogers and Special Officer J. A. Stroud crept to an open window.

The youth was in the office, tampering with the safe with a hammer and pinch bar when he detected presence of the officers. Jumping through the window, he was nearly apprehended but knocked one of the officers down.

A chase of approximately two blocks followed but the youth outran the officers and disappeared in a downtown crowd.

One other Levelland business, the office of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber company had been entered Sunday, it was revealed today but nothing was taken as the safe was not opened.

Seven or eight other businesses have been broken into lately and amounts ranging from a few dollars to $600 at W. A. Green company had been taken.

Sheriff Hofacket is on the search today for a youth of medium height who is fast afoot.

Oil Strike Spreads

intends to close down operations entirely because of the strike, rendering 8,000 idle. The CIO spokesman said these shut downs were starting tonight.

Frank Rehim of San Francisco, vice President of Shell, said the ultimatum to his company will expire Wednesday noon. He estimated that 3,000 workers were employed at all Shell refineries on the Pacific coast involved in the demand.

Congressmen and the Labor department are receiving a deluge of letters from mayors and citizens of midwestern cities—especially Michigan — reporting growing transportation crises, a labor department official said.

The threat to bus, truck and diesel train movements was being watched by the Office of Defense Transportation, officials disclosed.

No sign of progress was reported by either teh 11 oil companies or the union representatives here.

An estimate that the CIO's 30 per cent demand would increase the country's factory payroll by more than $10,000,000,000, if spread to all manufacturing industry, was made by Albert J. McIntosh, economist for Socony-Vacuum.

This would boost prices of manufactured goods about 10 per cent, McIntosh said in a statement issued by the company, and would be reflected in price increases in agriculture, transportation and service trades.

"The ultimate effect might be to increase prices generally a total of 25 per cent," he concluded.

Schwellenbach On Call

Schwellenbach was being consulted almost hourly by the conciliators but remained in his office.

His decision to raise the question of advancing the date of the management-labor peace conference was made at suggestion of Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers. A decision will be made by labor and industry conferees Friday.

Mosher said the country was faced with "economic collapse" if the strike problem does not abate. The pending conference will seek a voluntary peace pact to replace the wartime "no strike-no lockout" agreement.

Crude Assured For Plants In Operation

AUSTIN, Oct. 1 (AP)—The railroad commission in a formal declaration of policy said today that it intended to assure a sufficient supply of crude to "all refineries that are operating."

"In case any refinery does not have sufficient crude oil to operate, they will be given prompt relief upon telegraphic request to the commission," the statement said.

"All other demands that can be moved will be made available."

This statement, signed by all three members of the commission, was designed to meet complaints from some refiners that they were not affected by strike conditions. The commission has drastically cut Texas' oil producing days for October because of pipeline proration and strike-closures of refineries.

Bonham Couple Slain; Suspect Being Held

BONHAM, Oct. 1. (AP) — Curtis Smith, 50, and his wife, Jean Hazel Smith, 34, were shot and killed at Leonard last night.

Clint Smith, a brother, was arrested and jailed on charges of murder in connection with shooting. Charges were filed by Sheriff Ed Whitley in Justice of the Peace W. F. Keeton's court here.

A. L. Jones Ruled Suicide Victim

Albert Lester Jones, 53, former civil service worker at the Alamogordo Army Air field, died about 8:45 o'clock Monday night of a gunshot wound which Justice of Peace D. W. Robertson, acting coroner, announced he would rule as self-inflicted.

Jones was pronounced dead upon arrival at Lubbock General hospital after an ambulance had rushed him from the shooting scene, at the South Ave. H home of his brother, Roy L. Jones.

With Another Brother

Robertson said he was told that Jones rode with another brother, Jesse Jones of the Levelland highway, to the Roy Jones residence. There he stepped out of the car and put a .410 gauge, "pistol-grip" shotgun to his head.

Robertson said he was informed that Jones had been despondent; that he was separated from his wife and that he has two children, one a step-child, living in Tularosa, N. M. He had been in the Lubbock vicinity about four months.

The man's death came on his birthday, Robertson said.

Rites Set Wednesday

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the Church of Christ at Seventeenth and Ave. N, Plains Funeral home announced. Burial will be in a local cemetery.

Survivors are his two children, Wayne and Louise; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Jones of Levelland highway; four brothers, Roy and Jesse of Lubbock, Clayton of Corona, N. M., Clyde J., of California; three sisters, Mrs. Flora Lane, of California, Mrs. Mirtie Cantrell, Albuquerque, and Mrs. Annie Russell of Roby.

Tax-Cut Program

levels six months after the official end of the war.

4. A temporary freeze of the Social Security tax at the present rate of 1 per cent against the employer's payroll and the employe's pay envelope. Without a freeze the tax jumps automatically January 1 to 2.5 per cent against employer and employe.

Repeal of the "normal" tax—successor to the war imposed "victory" tax—would remove from the tax rolls all childless married men with less than $1,000 income; all men with wife and one child and income of $1,500 or less; two children, $2,900; three children, $2,500—continuing with a $500 extra exemption for each dependent.

Vinton, in presenting the administration's "moderate" program, voiced confidence that America is "a $2,000,000,000,000 country." He explained that an annual national production of $2,000,000,000,000 at present prices "is within our reach."

Condition Of Gunshot Victim Said Critical

Condition of J. B. Davis, 15, of O'Donnell, who was accidentally shot through the head Sunday afternoon with a .22 rifle, was reported critical Monday night at Lubbock Memorial hospital.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Davis of O'Donnell route 3. The shooting occurred at the home of a neighbor.

The father said he was told that several boys were trying to dislodge a bullet in the gun. One of the boys pulled the trigger to test the gun and accidentally hit the Davis boy, who at the moment, was trying to crank a tractor.

The bullet entered the left side of the youth's head and came out above the right eyebrow.

Farm Land Inflation

It's Disappointing To GI Joe

RETURNING home after long months in military service, many a veteran is going to find his dream of buying a small farm thwarted by changed conditions. Farm land prices are inflated in all parts of the country and farm machinery is certain to cost more when it is again available.

In some cases the veteran knows just the farm he wants. It may be located near one owned by his father, or it may be in the neighborhood where he went to school.

Anyway, it is his dream-farm and he plans to buy it if he can raise the money required. So he goes to some loan company to get the necessary loan—a loan that he thinks Uncle Sam has arranged to give him under the G-I Bill of Rights.

There in the loan company office, he begins to learn the sad truth. The G-I Bill of Rights doesn't mean what he thought it did.

The government, he is told, will not loan him the money he needs to make the purchase, because the farm land is inflated. Inflation has penalized him—prevented him from the purchase of the land he wanted.

Some of the veterans, angered and disappointed, have accused the governmental agencies and those responsible for making the loans of "giving them the run-around." This charge was made in Dallas recently.

But there is another side to this. In refusing the grant the loan asked, the agency may be proving a friend in disguise.

For while the price of land is continuing to rise, as war-workers, their pockets crammed with folding money, return to buy farms, there will come a time when prices will begin to make a re-adjustment. Of course, they won't go back to 1940 or 1941 for a long time, if they ever do, but history has a way of repeating.

The Alexander Hamilton Institute reports that farm real estate values are now 50 per cent above the 1939 level. And I. W. Duggan, Farm Credit administration executive, said recently: "We are on the brink of a national disaster unless something is done to curb the rising price of farm and ranch land."

Since history does repeat, it is interesting to observe that between 1915 and 1920, farm real estate values in this country jumped from 40-billion to 66-billion dollars. By 1933 the valuation of the nation's farmland had dropped to 30 billion. Farm owners in America had lost 36 billions in deflated "capital" through this decreased valuation during the 13-year period.

Yet the fact that Lubbock and the South Plains area geenrally came through 1929 and the lean years following with flying colors and sound credit is a good reason to regard the local situation with optimism. Comparatively speaking, South Plains farm land will suffer least. Less productive regions will suffer.

Repetition Of History

FOR the second time in twenty-six years, Uncle Sam is playing a hand in the tricky poker game of European politics and has fewer chips than he started with.

The same kind of cross-currents that Woodrow Wilson encountered when he set forth on his peace mission with his celebrated "Fourteen Points," have shown up at the "Big Five" council of foreign ministers in London.

What to do with the former Italian colonies in Africa, peace terms for the Balkan countries, friction between Britain and France over Syria, and the Arab-Jewish dispute over Palestine—these are a few of the problems that have arisen to disrupt the harmony of the conference. First Russia's Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov shocked the British and American delegates by demanding that Russia be given a share in the control of the former Italian colonies in Africa. Since this was considered an intrusion into Britain's sphere of influence in the Mediterranean, Britain objected. The United States supported the British objection, but both nations subsequently agreed to certain Russian representation in control of the African colonies.

Refusal of Britain and the United States to recognize the Russian-dominated Balkan countries, where the democracies would like to see democracy restored, also caused friction, and the Adriatic port of Trieste has become one of the hottest centers of controversy.

Yugoslavia, backed by Russia, has announced that she will reject a proposal before the Council to internationalize the port of Trieste. This is counter to the preliminary decision to make the city a free port, with the boundary between Italy and Yugoslavia to be drawn in conformity to its population ratios.

With Yugoslavia demanding Trieste and the entire Istria area of northern Italy, and France also asking slices from her late attacker, the Italian question appears far from settlement.

All that the United States wants in the Mediterranean or the Balkan areas is an arrangement that promotes stability and democracy in Europe. Britain and Russia are keen rivals for power.

While Uncle Sam still holds a ace or two in the game, because all of the European nations want enormous loans at low interest, he may not be able to win the final pot and assure a peaceful Europe. It looks like the world has not changed much from the time of Woodrow Wilson.

LEANA AWAITS CHANCE

XIV

There was much to do those first few days following Carolyn's arrival in Arizona.

Bob bought a station-wagon, and together he and Carolyn drove the boxed X-999 through the canyon to Blair, thence branched onto the rougher trail that led to the abandoned Copper King mine in Tonto Mountain. There they were met by Bob's workmen, who already had reconditioned the narrow gauge ore track into the mine shift.

When the X-999 had at last been deposited nearly three-quarters of a mile inside the mountain itself, Bob showed visible relief.

"Now, for the first time, I can breathe easily," said he.

Carolyn telephoned her mother, and Mrs. Tyler had packed their trunks and personal effects to follow west.

When she arrived, they decided to take her into partial confidence, explaining that the "chemical substance" was hidden in the abandoned Copper King Mine shaft only because it was valuable and "dangerous to persons who wouldn't handle it properly." They did not tell her just how terrifically great it was in explosive power, lest she be uneasy.

"It is a mighty big mountain for a laboratory," Mrs. Tyler gazed at Tonto Peak in awe.

Dr. Hale nodded. "About 8000 feet. Odd formation, really. Note the bald, perpendicular spot on top—that's a granite face. Left half the mountain, seen from here, is almost solid rock. Other half, you'll note, had up-ended strata, loose shale and all manner of stuff. There are several beautiful old trails, Mrs. Tyler. I shall order a very gentle horse for you."

Mrs. Tyler appreciated his thoughtfulness. The more she saw of Dr. Robert Hale, the better she liked him. She couldn't blame her impressionable daughter for being a little bit "foolish" about such a man.

Meantime, Carolyn knew, Leana Sormi was a lurking, insidious danger. She "knew" it largely through intuition, but it was definite even so.

Leana's eyes had revealed it. Leana's way of looking at Bob. The little things Leana had let slip back home. The peculiar circumstance of that first explosion, the hint contained in the telegram to Leana, and the fact that a train was robbed! They all added up too much to be mere coincidence.

"I've been terrifically lucky," Carolyn whispered to herself, in apprehension again. "She's not likely to miss any bets next time!"

Leana had been brought to the mountain retreat, Carolyn knew, because there was a great work facing her and Bob—harnessing X-999, adapting its unprecedented power to engines, inviting other distinguished scientists here for consultation, remaking the whole world of engineering!

But Carolyn knew that somewhere in this rush Leana Sormi would strike again. And soon!

A whole new settlement had been constructed half a mile from the granite side of Tonto Peak and partly screened from Tonto by a lesser hill, which Carolyn named Tonto, jr. An electric power line from Boulder Dam had been tapped to supply the impromptu village, and telephone lines had been extended from Blair.

Even comfortable guest cabins had been built and were put to use when Dr. Merrivale and Dr. Canby came by invitation from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Dr. O'Mara from the University of Minnesta, Engineers Harding and Treat, and Capitalist Devereaux from great industrial corporations in Detroit.

Still others would soon be arriving, Carolyn knew, for Bob and Leana were gathering here the best technical brains in America.

Moreover, the experimenters actually had assembled and developed one engine that functioned with a minute speck of the X-999 for power source, less than two months after the arrival of the crew in Arizona.

"It is unbelievable!" old Dr O'Mara cried.

"But it works!" shot back practical Devereaux, an automobile and airplane manufacturer. "I don't need to tell you people that this will revolutionize all the world's engineering."

That was true, too true for most of them to grasp except in piecemeal. As for Carolyn, she lived in a constant state of suspense and restrained excitement—a condition most pleasant for any vivacious person. She acquired it through her employment, which was a steady (hence delightful) intimacy with Bob Hale. Through her he recorded every move the experimenters made.

That very intimacy with Bob, however, was observed day by day by Leana Sormi. And Carolyn knew it. Realization of Leana's jealousy kept alive the only flaw in an otherwise perfect existence here.

She felt that Leana Sormi was secretly ragin. As indeed she was.

But it was not until an evening when most of the new village personnel had met for dinner together in the largest house, and Bob and Carolyn had relaxed so as to laugh heartily like the young people they were and had even danced twice to radio music, that Leana felt her restraint again give away.

That night she sat until well past 1 o'clock, crystallizing a brand-new plan. It was audacious, yet so perfect she could see no possibility of failure. It could give her everything she wanted and it could be effected at once.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

NOTHING has made me realize so much that peace is here as a dispatch from London telling that Mayfair's swank restaurants are requesting their patrons to wear evening clothes again.

There isn't much to eat in those restaurants as yet. The waiters' uniforms are shabby and much of the furniture and china and linen is shop-worn and needs replacement. As the customers come in, in their business suits, they are served. But as they leave the headwaiter hands them a neat little card. One of them reads as follows:

BRANDEIS

"Out of courtesy to the ladies it is expected that gentlemen will wear uniforms, evening dress or dinner jackets."

A few spots are giving their patrons until Christmas to replenish their wardrobes as befits English gentlemen. But after that . . .

And so it is that Peace has once more come upon England.

And so it is that Peace is coming once more upon the United States. Different customs and rules of behavior, but at least we are getting back to customs and rules again.

At first I almost fainted when, after V-J Day, a gas station attendant wiped my windshield and offered to see whether I had enough oil and water.

I had a feeling of unreality when I asked for a package of cigarets and the clerk wanted to know what kind.

The climax came yesterday when the waiter not only gave me a pat of butter with my luncheon, but a second pat when the first one was finished.

Yes, peace is here again, indeed.

And we are finding out that all the kids who went to war and are coming back again aren't any different from all the folks who stayed at home, and only acted differently because things were different.

For instance, there was a WAVE I know who said she was so sick of blue that she'd never wear anything blue again. A few days ago she came to visit us the first time after her discharge from the Navy. She wore a brand-new outfit—and what do you think it was?

A lovely tailored model of navy blue, though piped with plaid and offset by a scarlet belt.

A FEW weeks ago I wrote in my column that now I'd get even with some of those fresh clerks who took advantage of me when things were scarce.

Well, do you know I've forgotten all about my revenge?

I still patronize the same stores, and the clerks are nice and pleasant and they have plenty of merchandise and we say a pleasant "Hello" and "Good Bye," and I get matches and my windshield is clean and—

—and it is Peace again. Peace with its evening clothes and its butter and cheese and meat, with its friendliness and niceties and customs and routines.

Goodbye, General and Commander and Major and Sergeant.

Welcome Jim and Jack and Abe and Sadie and Mary.

It's Peace again.

Dewey In Picture Again

He May Get Another GOP Nod

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THOMAS E. DEWEY filed his claim for the 1948 Presidential nomination by permitting himself to be injected into the debate over Franklin D. Roosevelt's responsibility for the Pearl Harbor disaster, in the opinion of his rivals and Republican politicos in Washington.

Although the New York governor has refused to discuss the Roosevelt-Marshall appeal to refrain from revealing FDR's alleged foreknowledge of the December 7th attack, it is obvious that the first tip on the suppressed chapter came from his camp. It looks from here as if he invited a summons to appear before the Congressional inquiry into Japan's sneak bombing, and partisans here immediately called for his presence.

TUCKER

The GOP has never renominated a defeated standard-bearer, but Mr. Dewey's implied suggestion that he was bested only because he sacrificed his political ambitions in a spirit of patriotism may overcome this historic handicap. Inasmuch as he lost by a comparatively narrow margin, in terms of the popular vote, his backers will maintain that he ought to be a sure winner against President Truman in a postwar contest, when his opponent cannot campaign as the "Commander in Chief."

CANDIDATE: As in the 1944 preconvention scramble, the Albany man will have a great asset in that he is possibly the only opposition prospect who can corral New York State's 45 electoral votes. This advantage will be given solid consideration by the party bosses if he is re-elected to the governor's chair in 1946, which will be a prerequisite to his entry into the 1948 race.

The former prosecutor has been acting like a willing candidate ever since his reverse at the hands of a fellow New Yorker, Mr. Roosevelt. He has made several tours through the industrial and agricultural districts in preparation for handling reconversion problems. He has pursued the semiliberal policies which he advocated, to the distress of GOP graybeards, in his campaign against FDR.

Indeed, his insistence that the government owes a job to its citizens has been cited by Sen. Robert F. Wagner of New York on behalf of the Roosevelt-Wallace-Truman full employment bill. He has placed on the statute books a Fair Employment Practices law at the very moment when conservative Democrats in Washington are blocking its enactment at the capital and are weakening other measures designed to benefit the jobless and minority groups. He has neglected no chance to win over the very classes of voters that contributed to his 1944 disappointment.

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman appears to have turned his back on the Empire State so often that his political well-wishers are concerned. He is taking the advice of Middle and Far Westerners, and giving the fattest plums to men from those sections. Hardly a New Yorker has a key voice in his councils.

RIVALS: Improved prospects of Republican victory in the national sweepstakes, now that Franklin Roosevelt has disappeared from the track, are expected to bring out a host of old and new rivals of the mustachioed New Yorker. They will operate on the theory that he has had his chance, gang up against him more effectively than they were able to do at the 1944 convention and then try to select a man from the anti-Dewey faction.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, for instance, seems to be more keen on the nomination than he has been in other years. In the past, and with apparent sincerity, he has always disavowed any ambitions to head the ticket. But of late he gives his friends the impression that he would like a stab at it. With his promotion of the United NNations conference, and his sponsorship of the White House labor-management assemblage, he has gained new prestige.

Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota will have backers among the Willkie group, who will advance him as a representative of the liberal wing. Leverett Saltonstall, although still a freshman senator, will be put forward by New Englanders, although they may settle for second place.

RUNNING: Former Gov. John Bricker of Ohio, who may return to public life as a candidate for the Senate, is reported to feel that he is still in the running. He made many friends, especially in the West, as Mr. Dewey's running mate. Another state executive who cannot be discounted is Gov. Earl Warren of California. He declined the Vice Presidential nomination at Chicago to steer his state through the difficult reconversion years.

GOP conservatives will apparently rally around Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, who has headed the major battles against Roosevelt-Truman programs. He believes that the opposition should return to what he regards as "sound and sane" principles. In fact, when he was told that Mr. Dewey's support of generous assistance to the unemployed had become a Wagnerian argument, he replied:

"Yes, his support of that kind of legislation is why he lost!"

REACTIONARY: Republican leaders of the House, wittingly or unwittingly, have built a barrier against Governor Dewey's possible renomination, although it is not necessarily insurmountable. In naming a committee to outline basic principles of a legislative and 1946 election program, they selected men who do not share the "liberal viewpoint" of the New York governor, the Wendell Willkie faction or the Stassenites.

It would have been difficult to find a more reactionary group of men, in the opinion of GOP colleagues. No. 1 on the policymaking committee is Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, who also heads the Republican Congressional committee. The boyish Halleck gloated openly over President Truman's message maintaining its "radicalism" insured his defeat in 1948. Others do not share his optimism because they recognize the vote-getting qualities of HST's proposals.

The wealthy and conservative Richard W. Wigglesworth of Massachusetts, W. Sterling Cole of New York and Clarence W. Brown of Ohio were also named, despite their recognized reactionary tendencies. None of these individuals is regarded as a Dewey man, and a few were actively hostile to him in 1944.

Thoughtful GOP-ers on Capitol Hill cannot understand why such men as Everett R. Dirksen of Illinois, Albert J. Engle of Michigan, Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey and James W. Wadsworth of New York were not included in the list. They are regarded as realistic politicos and able legislators with a modicum of the vision and imagination which the Grand Old Party has lacked in recent years.

Selection of this group, provided that it is permitted to speak for the opposition, amounts to a blow at the candidacies of such men as Governor Dewey, Lieutenant Commander Stassen and possibly Mr. Vandenberg. Almost the only man who could run on any platform it would frame would be "Bob" Taft.

TEXAS

By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN. — Judge Ocie Speer, former member of the commission to assist the State Supreme court, and dean in the Attorney General's department, drafted the department ruling on the change in the state constitution on old age pensions.

Then the opinion went to a committee that was made up of the heads of each division in the department. From them it went to the desk of Atty. Gen. Grover Sellers for the final OK.

Stokes Urges "Dictator Role" For Truman

South's Principles Are Scored

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Truman is taking a little trip early in November into the South, the territory of his friendly enemies in Congress who are causing him so much trouble on Capitol Hill.

He will visit North Carolina and Georgia.

In North Carolina he will speak at Statesville, Nov. 2. He will attend a Georgia Tech-Duke university football game in Atlanta the next day. On the following day he will visit Warm Springs and lunch with patients at the hospital in which the late President Roosevelt was so interested.

In going to North Carolina, the President is fulfilling an engagement he had made while Vice President for an earlier date, last June. He had to call off the engagement when he assumed the pressing burdens of the Presidency. Rep. Bob Doughton (D., N. C.), had requested the visit. Statesville is in Mr. Doughton's district.

Chairman Doughton now has announced that the President will make a "major address' at Statesville.

It would be a most appropriate place for Mr. Truman to talk about something that is disturbing lots of people, including the President himself, and in other parts of the country besides the South.

Would Dictate To South

This topic is the way a bloc of Southern Democrats is joining regularly with Republicans to wreck important parts of his program.

It is a subject of major importance nationally, for people in Detroit, and Seattle, and Boston, are affected by the work of this "wrecking crew" from the South which represents a minority of the nation, and even a minority of the people they are supposed to represent.

The place for the speech is peculiarly appropriate because Mr. Doughton is chairman of the House Ways and Means committee which has just shelved indefinitely all proposals, including the President's, for increasing the amount and duration and coverage of unemployment benefits for the reconversion program.

The postponement was effected by three Southern Democratic members and a border state Democrat joining with Republicans.

MR. DOUGHTON voted against taking up the Kilgore-Ford bill embodying the President's program, which the Senate scuttled, though he did vote against postponing consideration of all pending bills. But he is not sympathetic with the President's program, as is well known. The committee decision suited him.

Last year, this same committee tore to pieces a similar program proposed by the Roosevelt administration. Since then there has been an election. But Mr Doughton and some of his Southern Democratic colleagues seem unaware of it. When President Truman first asked for his program several weeks ago Mr. Doughton promptly declined to call his committee together to do anything about it.

It was in Georgia that the late President Roosevelt opened seven years ago his campaign to unseat Democrats whom he considered hostile to his program—that abortive adventure named "the Purge" by his enemies. It was at Barnesville, Ga., that he called for the defeat of Sen. Walter F. George who, incidentally, led the fight against President Truman's unemployment benefit program recently, with Republican allies.

Truman Has Better Judgment

Nobody expects Harry Truman to go that far.

But he would encourage lots of people, who were first encouraged and aided by Mr. Roosevelt's 1938 campaign, if he merely pointed out to the people in his "major address" what their representatives are doing in Washington. It would be influential, coming from him, and it probably would be news to many persons, for they are not reminded of this too often.

HE could also make some reference to the poll taxes which are a prerequisite to voting in some Southern states, though not now in North Carolina and Georgia. He could also refer other restrictions on voting. He voted in the Senate for elimination of poll taxes as a voting requirement in election of federal officials. Thus he would put his finger upon the reasons for the tight little boroughs in the South which make it possible for their representatives to represent only a minority.

Whether he will, of course, is another matter.

Black Market Wave Is Forecast By Patman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—A prediction that black market operations will begin after government control on selling prices are lifted, was made by Rep. Patman (D-Tex.)

Patman said yesterday in a statement that the black market would be a result of critical shortages of needed building items. The requirement that new homes may not be built to sell for more than $8,000 is due to be dropped October 15.

The Texas representative urged that "we seek some means to control the selling prices of homes until our supply of building materials can catch up with home demands."

A half-inch thickness of plywood is many times stronger than a half-inch board.

Demos Defend Hartford Loan To Elliott, GOPs Say FDR Involved

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Democratic and Republican members of the Ways and Means committee laid before the House today their diametric disagreement on Elliott Roosevelt's financing.

The Democrats in a majority report confined themselves to the tax angle, holding that John Hartford was "justified" in listing $196,000 of a $200,000 loan to the late President's second son as a "bad debt" deductible from his income tax.

The Republican minority asserted that the late Franklin D. Roosevelt influenced Hartford in making the loan; questioned whether the parties were so "naive" as to believe there were no implications beyond business; said that if Hartford is not paying taxes on the money, Elliott should be compelled to pay.

1,000-Page Report

A 10-pound, 1,000-page report of testimony in the extended inquiry was filed along with the reports.

There were no indications that anything would be done about it in the House. The Democrats supported the findings of the Internal Revenue bureau which allowed Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, to deduct $196,000 from his 1942 return.

There was no mention of the late President in their brief letter transmitting the files to the House.

"Initiated" Settlement

The minority report however contended in 3500 words:

1—That the President "played an important part" in the making of the loan in 1939 through a telephone conversation with Hartford.

2—That he also "initiated" the settlement of the loan in 1942 for $4,000, instructing former RFC Chairman Jesse Jones to handle it.

The loan was made to help Elliott finance a Texas radio chain. Young Roosevelt testified that he arranged the telephone conversation between his father and Hartford, concerning it. But versions differ on what was said. The Republicans contend that Mr. Roosevelt "assured" Hartford it was a good proposition, the testimony from Elliott said however: (quoting FDR.)

"You know my policy with regard to all you boys. You are on your own and your propositions must stand on their own two feet without any relationship to me. I will be glad to talk to Mr. Hartford and tell him that if he is satisfied with the prospects of the loan on a purely business basis and without relation to any political implications that is entirely up to him and to go ahead and make the loan."

Expected No Favors

A. Frederick Olsen, Internal Revenue agent, said in his report of the bureau's investigation that Hartford "secretly expected" Mr. Roosevelt to "take him off the hook."

Olsen said Hartford told him he believed the President would "express disapproval" of the loan and the nhe wouldn't have to make it.

Olsen also said there was no government investigation against A. & P. at that time and any favor Hartford might have expected would have been "remote." The Department of Justice anti-trust suit against the firm wasn't instituted until 1941.

The Republican minority asserted:

"No independent investigation has been made—someone is escaping payment of a tax on $196,000 of income. . . . Hartford was a reluctant participant in the transaction. . . . The Roosevelts sought out Mr. Hartford. . . . It was because of his conversation with the President that he parted with his money. . . . Surely the parties were not so naive as to overlook the significance of their dealings."

The Democrats, using less than 200 words, called the Bureau of Internal Revenue investigation "rather thorough" and said "the committee . . . has reachel the conclusion that although there is some conflict in the evidence the position taken by the Bureau of Internal Revenue that Mr. Hartford is entitled to the deduction claimed is justified.

"The committee, therefore, does not feel justified in challenging the conclusion reached by the Bureau of Internal Revenue and herewith transmits correct copies of said reports and the record of the investigation."

Tech Scholarship Applications Asked

Application for LaVerne Noyes scholarships, available to sons or daughters of World War I veterans to attend Texas Tech, should be made at once, Dr. H. L. Kent, administrative assistant, announced.

The scholarships, which cover tuition fees amounting to $25 each semester for the long session, are available in limited numbers and awarded in the order applications are received. Need of assistance to attend college must also be established, Dr. Kent said.

Applications for scholarships should be made to Dr. Kent, in care of the president's office at Tech, who will furnish forms to be filled out as formal applications. A committee then examines the applications and awards the scholarships for the suceeding college year.

Scholarships once awarded are good for four years, provided funds are available and the holder of the scholarship maintains a satisfactory record. They must be renewed by application each year.

Martyred U. S. Fliers Tied To Cross And Shot By Japanese

By RICHARD W. JOHNSTON
United Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Oct. 1—Gen. James H. Doolittle's three martyred Tokyo raiders were tied to crosses and shot by their Japanese captors on Oct. 15, 1942, in a Shanghai graveyard still red with the blood of a thousand slaughtered Chinese.

Today I saw the airmen's place of execution near the old Kiangwan race track and learned for the first time the detailed story of how they met death that October [illegible].

Ten families of Chinese peasants were frightened witnesses to the somber parade of captured Chinese patriots brought into the old Confucian cemetery to die under the headsman's ax.

Tied To Low Crosses

They saw the three bound American fliers brought in at the end of the procession, and watched as the Japanese tied them to three low crosses.

They saw the Japanese axes brandished over the heads of a thousand kneeling Chinese and the firing squad line up before the doomed Americans.

Then they were herded into a temple building until the slaughter was finished, so there would be no actual witnesses to the mass executions.

Bodies Cremated

The three murdered fliers, "guilty" of bombing the Japanese homeland just six months before, were Lt. William G. Farrow, of Washington and Darlington, S. C., Lt. Dean Hallmark, Dallas, Tex., and Sgt. Harold A. Spatz, of Lebo, Kans.

After the shooting, their bodies were cut down from the crude crosses and hauled off to a crematorium in the Honkew section of Shanghai to be burned.

(Their ashes later were turned over to the International Red Cross by the commander of the Woosung prison camp with the explanation that they were the "remains of prisoners who died.")

Olo Roemer, Danish astronomer born in 1644, discovered the measurement of the finite velocity of light, and foresaw nearly all the modern precision instruments.

Christians Standing At Decisive Moment In History—Nichols

Ray Nichols, Vernon publisher and Methodist lay leader, declared "We Christians stand at a decisive place in history" in a luncheon of the Methodist Men's club Monday noon at Lubbock hotel.

"We Christians are a minority, numerically" Nichols continued; "all the pagans have to do is organize and brother, we're sunk.

"There is a tendency on the part of the church, and I'm not speaking of our church alone, to become complacent, satisfied with itself . . . to become satisfied with the world There are no stable frontiers in the world today and we are only deluding ourselves when we imagine that we can establish them.

"We've been putting too much emphasis on the fact that churches, districts and conferences are getting out of debt . . . It's all right for an individual to begin to pay up his debts and obligations and ge ready for the undertaker but a church which follows that sort of program is going to die too . . . We need to make new debts.

"We need to plan and build and vitalize this church of ours so that it plays a part in this great decisive era facing us today . . . If this civilization of ours is saved, laymen of the church must give their talents to the building of their communities."

Approximately 75 men attending the luncheon voted on nine men to become officers and directors of the club an election to follow next Monday noon. Mrs Dick Green, Lubbock policewoman, will be the speaker next Monday.

A letter from Capt. Weldon K. (Moco) Cogdell, now in Manila, says: "I had the good fortune of going by the camp that our boys who were prisoners of war are in and saw several of the boys that were in the Lubbock National Guard with me. I saw Cotton Bryant, T. L. Biggs and Woodard from Plainview and several other boys. They sure were glad to see somebody from Lubbock. Now here is what is good. They all looked well, acted as if they had been treated better than anyone thought, and all are looking forward to coming back to Lubbock. It sure was good to see that the boys are well and did not seem to have suffered too much." The men mentioned in the letter were recently found to be safe after their liberation from camps on the Japanese mainland.

Doin' it with Diesels on the Santa Fe

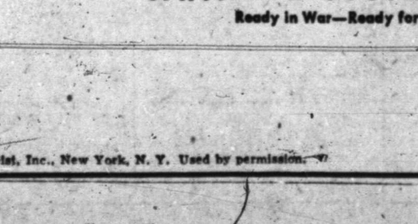

Hauling mile-long freights over the steep mountain grades calls for plenty of head-end power.

Santa Fe is providing a lot of that power with the greatest fleet of 5400 horse-power Diesel locomotives in American railroading.

80 of these blue and yellow giant "head-ends"—the most powerful freight Diesels in the world—are now in operation on the Santa Fe.

This dieselization program is one of many important steps by Santa Fe in providing the most modern freight equipment for the peacetime transportation needs of America's West and Southwest.
