Steel Walkout Delayed; Talks To Resume

(By The Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 22 — The nation today escaped a steel strike—at least for a week and maybe indefinitely. CIO and steel are going to renew contract talks tomorrow.

President Truman told a news conference in Washington that the outlook is very hopeful for settlement of the prolonged labor dispute and no strike.

Philip Murray's United Steelworkers went along with industry and abided by Mr. Truman's wishes for extension of the strike armistice from Saturday midnight until 12:01 a.m., October 1.

Calls For Parley

The million-member union's policy committee also authorized Murray to go back to the bargaining table in an effort to settle promptly the insurance-pension war. That also is Mr. Truman's expressed wish.

Within an hour Murray called on the powerful United States Steel corporation—it's the leader and industry usually follows—for renewal of bargaining talks at 8:30 a.m. (CST) in Pittsburgh tomorrow. U. S. Steel President Benjamin F. Fairless accepted.

Murray also sent telegrams to 52 other steel companies telling them the steelworkers are ready to negotiate.

The union said one company, Standard Steel, a subsidiary of American Rolling Mills, got under way this afternoon. A session with Northwestern Steel and Wire is scheduled for tomorrow at Waukegan, Ill.

The union said bargaining sessions with steel firms will be held in all the major steel centers in the country—with U.S. Steel in Pittsburgh, Bethlehem Steel in New York, Republic Steel in Cleveland, Youngstown Sheet and Tube in Youngstown, Inland Steel in Chicago, Great Lakes Steel in Detroit, Jones and Laughlin in Pittsburgh, and Continental Steel in Indianapolis.

The steelworkers' meeting today followed messages to President Truman saying the companies had agreed to a sixday strike stay and that they were ready to begin negotiations.

Fairless had told the President that big steel will give the "great-

Lewis Rejects 'Final' Offer By Operators

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
INS Staff Correspondent

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Sept. 22—John L. Lewis flatly rejected today an owners' proposal to end the four-day-old coal strike and indicated the walkout will continue until the the operators accept an improved wage agreement.

The United Mine Workers president turned down an industry suggestion for a two-year extension of the present contract which an operator spokesman termed the "final and best offer."

Lewis' comments and reactions of spokesmen for the operators indicated that the present dispute might be a long, drawn out one, The Associated Press reported.

In Washington, President Truman snapped no comment at reporters who asked at his news conference whether he planned any federal action in the walkout of 480,000 miners.

Suit Is Filed

Also in Washington, a Pennsylvania official of UMW filed suit in district court for the removal of Lewis and other trustees of the miners welfare fund on charges that they have "dissipated" the trust money.

Lewis commented on this development at a news conference. He said:

"It is probably part of the program of harassment of the fund encouraged by various coal interests in the country and other opponents of the welfare program."

Lewis accused the mine owners of refusing to bargain seriously until the steel wage dispute is settled.

On "No-Day Work Week"

George H. Love, president of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., chief spokesman for northern operators, made this comment:

"This is a pressure strike. We are in a bad situation. We know we can't pay the miners any more because the public can't pay any more for coal."

And Lewis retorted:

"Love probably believes that now, but I feel sure the miners prefer to wait and see whether Love changes his mind. He has been known to . . .

"Instead of having a three-day work week, the mine workers individually have decided that until the operators change their attitude, Mr. Love will have a no-day work week."

Lewis Makes Claim

Lewis claimed that the miners are exercising their option individually to cease work. He said UMW negotiators have no "arbitary, absolute powers, but merely can recommend to the miners."

The mine leader said the coal operators are "not free agents" and that obviously the steel dispute holds up a coal settlement.

Crucial Meet Set In Britain

By GLENN WILLIAMS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 22—Prime Minister Attlee tonight summoned Parliament to an emergency session next Tuesday for a debate on Britain's economic crisis.

The order went out after a long cabinet discussion.

An announcement issued from Attlee's office-residence at No. 10 Downing street said both houses will debate Sunday's slash in the sterling exchange rate from $4.03 to $2.80 and the Washington dollar conference of the United States, Britain and Canada that preceded the slash.

Support Weakening

Meantime, the political foothold of Attlee's Labor government appeared to be slipping. A source close to the prime minister expressed a private opinion the government stands a 50-50 chance of being forced to call an election this autumn.

Government sources disclosed it was Attlee himself who decided on devaluation and not his chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps, as was generally supposed. This may change the picture somewhat. Attlee, mild mannered former social worker, has great political strength among workers. Cripps' following is largely confined to socialist intellectuals.

Attlee, Cripps and Harold Wilson, president of the board of trade, will speak for the government in the House of Commons debate. The Conservatives decided tonight Winston Churchill, the party leader, and Anthony Eden,

New Labor Bill Still Expected By Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. (INS) President Truman said today that he certainly expects the 81st Congress to enact a new labor bill replacing the Taft-Hartley law.

The chief executive was reminded at his news conference that House Labor Chairman Lesinski (D-Mich), had said that no labor bill would be passed at either this session of Congress or the next.

Mr. Truman replied that he hardly could be expected to comment but that his position has not changed. When asked whether he expected a new labor law to be enacted, the President replied:

"I certainly do."

When a reporter inquired whether Mr. Truman thought Congress should adjourn without passing civil rights legislation, the President remarked that is up to the legislators but emphasized that he still believes the action should be taken.

Threatening Gulf Storm Loses Strength

'Cotton Weather' Is Seen As Fall Arrives

By TOM DAVIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

AUTUMN officially began at 3:06 a. m. today, but any South Plains resident who insists on long handles today or Saturday will be both premature and uncomfortable.

Temperatures in the Lubbock area are expected to go past normal seasonal averages into the middle 80's both today and Saturday, the weatherman said, ignoring the official end of summer.

As South Plains residents remained in shirtsleeves, weather of another sort had coastal Texans still wary. Although the season's first tropical storm threatening Texas from the Gulf lost a lot of its punch Thursday, the Associated Press reported there was still chance for high winds.

Dry Weekend Foreseen

The Weather Bureau in Lubbock said there was little chance that the tropical disturbance would affect weather conditions in this area, and came up with a forecast of partly cloudy skies with little chance of rain today and Saturday.

Going further out on the limb, the forecaster said there was nothing to indicate rainfall for the South Plains through the entire weekend.

The mercury hit a Thursday high in Lubbock of 84 degrees, and the forecast called for temperatures in the high 50's before dawn today, with a similar low expected early Saturday morning.

Storm Loses Zip

Explaining that the official time for the arrival of autumn isn't based on how cold the weather is, the Weather bureau said fall begins when the sun is directly over the equator on its way into the Southern hemisphere. Aside, the bureau added that the term "fall" is an American substitute for the proper term autumn, developed to describe the season in

Air Secretary Wins Dispute

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. (AP)—Navy Secretary Matthews tonight countermanded a Navy court's demand that Air Secretary Symington appear in person to tell what he knows of the B-36 bomber "smear" campaign.

Matthews stepped into the row after Symington gave a fast brush-off to the request of a three-man board of admirals that he appear before the court.

Matthews directed the admirals to make "no further effort" to get Symington to testify.

Explains Refusal

The civilian chief of the Navy sent the following directive to Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, president of the court:

"In my judgment, it would not best serve the purposes for which the court of inquiry was convened to require the secretary of the Air Force to appear before your court against his will, especially in view of the memorandum he has submitted to your court dated 22 September 1949."

That was the memorandum in which Symington flatly informed the admirals he would not appear "at this time."

Symington said his refusal was based on two reasons:

1. By testifying before the Navy court, he might give the appearance of "entering into an inter-service controversy."

2. He has already turned over

Burglaries At Car Lots Probed

Investigations into the Wednesday night burglaries of two Lubbock offices continued to occupy police attention late Thursday as a lull settled in the city's crime activity.

A car, two typewriters and numerous ignition keys were taken in the burglaries.

Placed burglarized were the Ed Fertsch Motor company, at 2405 Texas Ave., and Dale Robbins used car lot at 2320 Texas Ave.

From the McLaughlin place were taken a 1949 maroon Mercury club coupe, license SJ 1271, keys to all the other cars on the lot, and from the office, a portable typewriter.

From the Robbins office was taken a portable typewriter that later was found in a used car on the lot.

Judgments Signed

Two judgments were signed Wednesday by County Judge Walter Davies.

Fred Hughes, about 23, was fined $15 and court costs after a plea of guilty of check law violation, and Robert R. Fowler, about 28, was fined $5 and costs in a similar charge, official said.

S. D. Lenox, 26, a negro, pleaded innocent of liquor law violation and bond of $500 was set for his trial appearance.

Bond of $750 was set by D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, for Lola Johnston, 29, Lubbock man charged with child desertion.

Eight Men Drown In Stormy Sea As 4,000 Persons Watch

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, Sept. 22. (AP)— A drama of the sea was enacted before 4,000 spectators here today. They saw eight men drown.

The dead were the captain of the sailboard Puerto Plata and his crew of four, and three young men who plunged into the sea in vain attempts to rescue them.

Mountainous waves churned up by a tropical storm caught the boat at the port entrance. Onlookers tossed ropes and pieces of wood into the sea to the struggling seamen. It was of no avail.

Finally Tulio Pichardo, 22, Jose Miguel Buenaventura Lacay, 19, and Egon Brand, a Finnish engineer, tried to swim to their aid. They drowned, too. Crowds had flocked to the beach to watch the struggle against the waves.

Senate Okays Arms Aid Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. — The Senate tonight approved a $1,314,010,000 program of arms aid for nations in the shadow of Russia's great military machine.

The vote was 55 to 24.

Final passage came after administration forces defeated two moves to cut down the size of the aid program. The most potent of these, an amendment by Senator George (D.-Ga.), to trim $200,000,000 off the funds for Atlantic pact nations, lost 46-32.

This action set the United States firmly on a policy of re-arming friendly nations in the world wide effort to bar the doors against Communist aggression.

Cash Not Provided

In its final form the Senate bill authorizes arms aid totaling:

$1,000,000,000 for the North Atlantic pact nations in Europe.

$211,370,000 for Greece and Turkey.

$27,640,000 for Iran, Korea and the Philippines.

$75,000,000 to be used in the China area at the discretion of the President.

The cash must yet be provided by appropriation.

The bill also permits sending $450,000,000 in surplus arms.

The final amount which Congress will authorize for military assistance overseas remains to be decided by a conference of Senate

Parallel Parking Is Okayed For Lubbock

MEMBERS of the city commission finally passed the long-discussed parallel parking ordinance at a nine-hour semi-monthly session of many features in the city hall Thursday.

Other important business transacted included:

1. Seventeen bids were opened on new street signs for the whole of Lubbock. Approximately 40 different designs of markers were submitted, the total bids ranging from $7,811 to $18,778. They were taken under advisement for further study.

Paving Project Studied

2 Plans were made to appear before the State Highway commission next Tuesday to seek state aid for wider pavement and storm sewers costing nearly $400,000 to ease critical traffic and drainage problems on North College Avenue.

3. The commission was advised that State Rangers are seeking a site for a $20,000 short-wave radio station in Lubbock. Assurance was given that city-owned land will be available at a satisfactory price.

4. Truman Green, superintendent of the city electric department, told the commission that installation of a $792,000 turbine generating engine has been completed, but advised that planning be started at once for another unit of equal or larger size. While the

THE fourth and final trip in the area boosting the 32nd annual Panhandle-South Plains fair, to be held Sept. 26 to Oct. 1, was made Thursday, with 46 Lubbockites going on the tour.

Travelling a total of 280 miles to Hobbs by way of Morton and Tatum, and back by way of Seminole and Brownfield, the boosters generously distributed balloons, rulers, and free tickets to an estimated 7,000 school children, in addition to distributing window placards and fair newspapers in the business districts of the towns.

Special receptions were accorded the men at Morton, Lovington, and Hobbs.

At Morton, Deputy Sheriff John Goswick led the special sound truck and the two chartered buses of the booster group to the Steak House, where a midmorning coffee and doughnuts snack had been arranged by Mayor Tom McAlister, Mrs. Ann England of The Morton Tribune, G. Bumper Onion Crop Moves To Market From Castro County

DIMMITT, Sept. 22. — "Onion breath" is one of the sweetest smells in Castro county these days as a bumper crop of Spanish yellow and white onions is harvested and sent to a nationwide market.

A group of Japanese-American farmers and an experienced onion grower from Idaho have teamed together to set a new pace for diversified farming in the Dimmitt area.

Ed Lewis, the grower from Idaho, and his co-workers have sunk $120,000 into the crop.

"We have had every kind of hard luck you can thing of. Ten different things have happened to us, I found out when I counted them up the other day," said Tod Matsumoto, intelligent young Japanese-American from Idaho who has had a big hand in the onion growing here.

Finnish Plants Produce Much Of Newsprint Used By U. S. Papers

By SARAH McCLENDON
Avalanche Washington Correspondent

MYLLYKOSKI, Finland—Newsprint which brings news to the nation and the world as well as the home folks to many Texans, Louisianians and New Mexicans is made in this plant, the second largest paper mill in Finland.

United Paper Mill companies which owns this plant and three others, one only four miles from the Russian border at Simpele, sells most of its newsprint to Hearst papers but a sizeable proportion to the Enterprise company, Beaumont, the Orange Leader, Jennings Daily News, the Austin American Statesman, the Waco News Tribune, Houston Shopping News.

Advertising Costs Cut

New Orleans, Louisville, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Hollywood, Raleigh, North Carolina and several New York newspapers buy here.

While labels of these particular papers are put on in the shipping room, showing that these particular rolls of newsprint go to these dailies, at the same time, all of Finland's mills export together and market and advertise their product throughout the world with the same green spruce tree symbol of Finland. This cuts costs and eliminates needless duplication of effort abroad. And Finland which gets most of its dollars for world trade from newspapers, needs every dollar it can get.

The little country also is responsible for the amount of daily newspapers put out in South America, Africa, England, France, some parts of Asia and Australia.

New Competition Felt

Canadian mills have begun to take up more paper markets since the war ended and so have mills like the one at Lufkin and elsewhere in the U. S. Finland has been hard hit by this.

The Russians required the Finns to build paper mills for them down to the last screw and nail and deliver these so that Russia which now is increasing her output of newsprint could go into the competitive market with Finland. Not only that, but in the early reparations days of Finland, Russia sometimes required Finland to deliver rolls of newsprint unlabeled. Then Russia labeled them and sold them in the world market as her own, making some think that this fine quality newsprint was put out in Russia.

Strikes Affect U. S.

So when a Communist-strike stops transportation and shipping in Finland, it affects the amount of news that people can read in a democratic country like the United States. On the other hand, when U. S. publishing companies like those in Texas such as The Enterprise company, Beaumont, buy large amounts from Finland, they help to bring dollars into the little country to keep people working and fed so that they will not be easy prey for Communist theories.

Eighty tons of newsprint had just rolled off the presses for Beaumont. In the shipping room, there were skyscrapers of newsprint waiting to be loaded on freight cars, paper which had not moved because of the strike, which now has been settled.

Workers Provided 'Extras'

There was ample reason for thinking that the worker should be satisfied at this plant. There was a sports field for international matches between firms, a gymnasium for competitive matches as big as a high school, a picture show, a club for all workers, a club for the white collar workers, a place to give dances, a domestic science training hall for housewives as well as young girls, a billiard hall, a market garden where employes raise fruits and vegetables for sale at 50 per cent less to other employes in the mills, cafeterias for purchase of good hot lunches, cheap, a chance to eat lunch on a roof top in the sun, a trade school for training young boys and girls in the community to be engineers, a church with a pipe organ which played "Finlandia" as we entered, and a chance for Finnish veterans to pay 1 mark (160 marks to $1) for the land on which to build a house, and to borrow money from the company to build his house on 20-year terms with no interest for 20 years.

MEET THE WOMEN—Leona Gelin has been business manager of the Lubbock Symphony orchestra since its organization in 1946. During the war years she served as club director of the UCO here (which was known as the Lubbock Service organization). Before that, Miss Gelin was City Recreation director for the City of Lubbock. Miss Gelin received most of her public school education in Lubbock and holds BA and MA degrees from Texas Tech. She taught in the Lamesa public schools for three years after completing her college work. She is a member of First Methodist church. Miss Gelin's hobbies include ceramics and collecting record albums of piano concertos. Her home is in suburban Lubbock on the Tahoka highway.

Missouri Pacific Bus Strike Is Threatened

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22 (AP)— Missouri Pacific buses in Texas and eight other states may be halted by a strike.

Drivers of the Missouri Pacific Transportation company, a subsidiary of the Missouri Pacific railroad, have voted a strike unless their contract demands are met, union officials announced yesterday. No date was set.

The railroad has been idled 14 days by a strike of operating employes.

The drivers, members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, seek a one to 10 cents per mile wage increase. The company says this would be more than 18 per cent.

The company serves Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Arkansas, Louisiana, and parts of Illinois, Tennessee and Mississippi.

Shivers Designates Forestry Week To Be Observed In State

AUSTIN, Sept. 22. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers today designated Sept. 26-Oct. 1 as forestry week in Texas.

Shivers' memorandum setting aside the week had this to say:

"The forests of Texas, approximately 76 million acres, are our state's most valuable and only renewable resource and, therefore, constitute the principal source of raw material for home and industrial construction.

"With adequate protection from destructive forest fires, and the application of intelligent woodland management, our forests may be perpetuated, not only as a constant source of raw materials, but as one of the state's greatest employers of labor, and, therefore, of great economic value."

Middlesex, England, served over 3,000,000 school meals last year.

Shivers Denounces Oil Import Excesses

DALLAS, Sept. 22 (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers says excessive oil imports are a "bad thing for Texas."

Speaking at the closing banquet of the American Association of Oil Well Drilling contractors here last night, the governor declared:

"The over-all success of any industry depends on the success of the little men in it. The small businessman must be operating soundly and successfully if the industry as a whole is to be sound.

"That is true of the oil business in Texas. That is why an excess of foreign oil imports is a bad thing for Texas because it means a reduced market for Texas oil and a cut in Texas oil allowables. The little man is the one who suffers the greatest when the market shrinks."

Call For UN Intervention In China Leaves Opening For Future Move

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Dr. Tsiang of Nationalist China has called on the United Nations to do something about Communist subjugation of his country, but he doesn't say what.

His opening address sums up the situation and paves the way for a request for specific action. But whether it will be placed before the Security council or the General assembly, and what form it will take, remains to be seen.

Possible Move Uncertain

If he asks condemnation of Russia and the Chinese Communists it's just a propaganda fight. The Communists hold a big proportion of China and bid fair to take over the rest. The UN can't do any more about it than it could about Czechoslovakia. It doesn't even have real evidence that the Communist regime is not desired, or at least passively accepted, by a majority of the Chinese people.

In such circumstances a General assembly condemnation would, aside from establishing a position of some moral but little practical importance, widen the East-West split in the UN. So would a Security council airing of charges of Russian intervention—if the veto didn't keep the lid on the whole thing.

New Commission

Appointment of a commission such as the one which has been keeping an eye on the Greek border is a possibility. It might be Dr. Tsiang's objective. It would serve to keep the issues alive. And it would be an "out" for the UN.

The Chinese delegation, of course, has not confirmed that it will request any UN action. Dr. Tsiang may be merely preparing against the possibility of a Moscow or Peiping demand for his replacement by a representative of "all" China, meaning Communist China.

Winkler County Airport Bill Is Declared Unconstitutional

AUSTIN, Sept. 22. (AP)—A law intended to authorize purchase of an airport by Winkler county was ruled unconstitutional today by the attorney general.

Bruce Allen, assistant attorney general, said in an opinion requested by William E. Pool, Winkler county attorney at Kermit, that S. B. 463 passed by the 51st legislature was invalid as "a local and special law."

The bill was applicable only to counties with a population between 6,141 and 6,150.

"The classification contained in the bill is not based on a real distinction, but is an arbitrary classification and is in substance a local or special law," the opinion said, noting that such laws are barred by section 56, article three of the constitution.

One Amendment Still In Doubt In New Mexico Special Election

ALBUQUERQUE, Sept. 22 (AP) — With most of the votes in, only one proposed amendment to the state constitution was still in doubt today.

Three others were defeated and six passed.

Rural votes, many from the northern part of the state, upset earlier trends in the bid to set up a trust fund from funds taken in severance taxes on coal, oil, minerals, timber and other natural resources.

Returns from 543 of the state's 610 special election precincts gave 12,326 votes for the proposal and 12,713 against. A simple majority is required for adoption.

Defeated in Tuesday's special amendments election were proposals to authorize absentee voting, to let the legislature set district judges' salaries and to increase the pay of lawmakers.

Approved were amendments which would clear title on much of the state's home and farm property, give greater representation in the state legislature, increase state highway commission membership, permit city-county government consolidations and guarantee tenure to regents of state educational institutions.

Alcoholism Boosted By Marriage, New Clinic Study Shows

INS Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22—Are you married? If you are, the chances of your becoming a drunk are two to one greater than if you remained single. In fact 66 per cent of all alcoholics are married.

Are you between 40 and 44 . . . The same thing is true, brother. That's when you're most likely to see pink elephants dancing on the ceiling.

Are you college-bred or just some bloke who couldn't break out of third grade . . . If you've got a diploma hanging on the wall, that "ole debbil" drink is likely to get you faster than if you're "strictly ignorant."

New Report Released

At least, the foregoing are the conclusions reached today in a report by an unusual clinic taking a new tack in the fight against alcoholism.

The report, covering three years of intensive probing into alcoholism—only "disease" known to come out of a bottle—was released by the E. Dudley Saul Clinic of St. Luke's Medical center in Philadelphia.

Bluntly, the report declared:

"Alcoholism is a disease—a chronic progressive disease which is technically incurable.

"The disease is incurable in the sense that the alcoholic patient can never exhibit a normal response to alcohol.

"Alcoholism can be arrested, however, and it's recurrence prevented by divorcing the patient from alcoholic beverages."

The report stated that "no single cause" for a man becoming a drunk has yet been advanced or demonstrated.

Fort Worth Woman Is Killed In Crash Near Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Sept. 22 (AP) —Mrs. Dorothy Ann Johnson, 54, of Fort Worth, was killed in an automobile accident today at an intersection one mile east of this city.

Livestock Field Day To Be Held At Tech

Four hundred farmers representing all counties of District 2 are expected to be on hand today for a livestock field day being sponsored jointly by the Tech Animal Husbandry division and the Texas A&M extension service.

Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel said the program will begin at 9:30 a. m. at the Aggie Memorial auditorium. Joe L. Matthews, District 2 agent, will discuss "Livestock on the South Plains" and Dean Stangel will tell about "Livestock at Tech" before the actual tour gets underway at 10 a. m.

Sections to be visited include dairy cattle, horses, sheep, beef cattle, hogs and poultry. The tour is scheduled to end at 4:30 p. m.

Feeding The Family kept Mama broke!—till she learned to save $4 to $10 a month, serving delicious "meaty" meals with Skinner's macaroni, spaghetti, and pure egg noodles instead of costly meat dishes. Of course, she'd tried macaroni meals before—but the family didn't go for them!

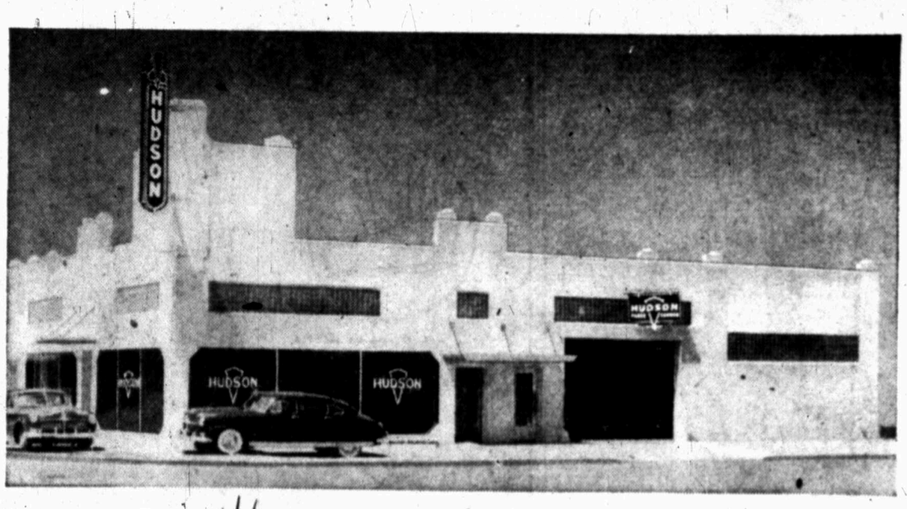

"Then I tried Skinner's," says Mama. "It's the deluxe macaroni—so good that thousands love it, just boiled with salt and butter. Now my family asks for two Skinner one-dish dinners a week—and I save enough on groceries so now I can get a nice new dress now and then."

More Nice Things For You. If food bills keep you broke, try giving your family Skinner's. Don't ruin your good recipes with cheap macaroni or spaghetti, when Skinner's can turn them into family favorites! Southern women know: Skinner's macaroni is the best macaroni money can buy!

DESIGN FOR LAUNDRY

SAVING tempers on washday is only a little less important than saving minutes. A pet grievance during washday is the fact that one has to go from room to room gathering together the "necessaries" for the weekly laundry. Perhaps the starch turns up in the kitchen, clothespins in a remote corner of the basement, the measuring cup in the pantry, etc.

In the interest of efficiency and because they feel that the housewife-laundress should be spared as many steps as possible, the makers of a popular soap powder hit upon the idea of a utility cabinet. This holds the essentials for the weekly washing in one compact and attractive unit.

The utility cabinet is meant to hang from the wall in the laundry riom, near the washing machine or tub. It might contain (with leeway for substitution of course) the washing product, dry starch, liquid starch, bleach, bluing, bowl for mixing starch, measuring cup, wooden spoon for stirring starch. A clothespin bag and a small pan hang on either side of the cabinet.

CORRECT POSTURE

CORRECT posture in school children and adults as well is necessary to proper physical and mental development. According to Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, "good posture is a sign of self respect and plays an important part in winning the respect of others."

Malnutrition and fatigue are production of poor posture. School children who have poor posture are said often to average lower in attendance and in school mental and physical activities than those who have good posture.

If we had a nickel for each time we were told to "sit up straight" or to "hold your shoulders up," when we were growing up we'd be a wealthy woman today.

Today we are thankful for those cautions. Many of the deformities of adult life have their beginning in poor posture acquired during childhood.

DRIBBLE MONEY

UNACCOUNTABLE items that add to life's cost

Are shoe-sines and tips, or a glove you have lost

And unnoticed things like a ride in a cab

Slow up your savings and show on the tab.

This limerick is from a clever book, "Spending for Happiness," written by Elsie Stapleton and available at book stores for $2.75.

As Miss Stapleton points out in her book: Dribble money does damage and dribble money leaves a budget that covers everything except fun, advancement and other real joys of life. Nobody wants to live with a person who questions every cent that is spent. But on the other hand, it's plain nerve-wrecking to lose out on a new coat or better vacation because too many dimes have been spent on tips.

"I've seen multitudes of money dribblers in my work; they use the telephone instead of writing notes. They are lavish in their gifts. They lose things that have to be replaced. They eat out too often. They spend money before they get it. When they reckon their annual income, they forget to deduct money that must pay for income taxes. They buy 'bargains' that are rarely used.

"They, unfortunately, are all of us, to some degree or another. Here's where the self-checking and self-control comes in. If you stop dribbling, you'll start 'spending for happiness'."

Clinic Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the House Beautiful clinic scheduled for Saturday and Sunday afternoons from 2 to 6 p.m. are to be on sale at the door of each of the homes included in the tour, Mrs. George Berry, general chairman, said today. Prior to the tour, tickets may be purchased from Mrs. R. O. Bennett, Mrs. Retha Martin, or Mrs. A. T. Cocanougher, as well as from club women who are members of the Lubbock Women's club, sponsors of the event.

Members of the house party who will assist Mrs. Graham on Sunday include: Mrs. Everett Fulgham, Mrs. Richard Jennings, Mrs. Jack Boren and Mrs. Harris Underwood.

Mrs. Berry asked all those who are to make the tour on Sunday to please note one change from the printed tickets. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Young, 3302 Twenty-fourth, has been substituted for the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Walker, 2831 Twenty-fourth street.

Tickets for each day are $1.25. Funds received by the Lubbock Women's club from these tours are to be used for the newly purchased clubhouse, Mrs. Berry said.

"Hoe me down with a docey-doe,
To San Angelo.
Spin your taw
Through a see-saw reel,
Drag her back home
By the blister on her heel.
We've chased poor Bossie
From the big red barn,
And lassoed a fiddler
That can play up a storm.
September twenty-fourth
And don't forget it
'Cause if you do,
You'll sure regret it.
Dancing galore,
And a surprise in store,
Mathis Field will be the place
And there'll be arrows
For you to trace.
So! It's everybody swing
And allemande ho,
If you don't come
You're a Cotton-eyed Joe!"

Seven 'Mothers' To Care For Baby Boy During Tech Course

Seven mothers for one baby may sound a little extraordinary, but that is just the number 10-week-old Harrison Lee Haslam has.

The "mothers" are residents of the Texas Technological college home management house and their "son" is really a blue-eyed boy weighing 13 pounds and six ounces whose father is a textile engineering student and whose mother plans to work this fall.

Actual Experience Desired

"Adoption" of the baby was made under the direction of Miss Lola Marie Drew, head of the Home management house, and Miss Sannie Callan, head of the child development department. The real parents will see him every day and keep him on occasional weekends and on school holidays.

Object of the adoption is to give the girls "actual and practical experience in child rearing," according to Miss Drew. The baby will "be given the best of care in our well-equipped nursery," she said, and will be under the constant care of a pediatrician.

Foster mothers of the baby for the next eight weeks are Angela Rattan, Elizabeth Craig, Martha Cudd, Marrion Woods, Pauline Hicks, Patsy Stout, and Mrs. Betty Allen.

Kiwanis Hear Road Association Official

Col. Joel I. McGregor of Temple, vice president of the Texas Rural Road association, Thursday told Kiwanians "the people of Lubbock need to spend just a little more time cultivating the people who live in the surrounding territory."

Speaking at a luncheon meeting in Hotel Lubbock he explained "a city is no greater than its surrounding territory."

He said the road association advocates severence taxes of two cents per thousand cubic feet of natural gas, 10 cents a barrel of oil and $1 a ton of sulphur.

Millions Could Be Raised

"Why shouldn't we do this," he asked, "when every thing we buy from other states costs us more because of severence taxes imposed at the origin."

Colonel McGregor said the income from such severence taxes would amount to between 300 and 500 million dollars a year to be used for road improvements, soil conservation, water conservation and improvement of state owned buildings and institutions.

"We must leave the coming generations a sound agricultural economy after our great natural resources are depleted," he concluded.

W. O. Fortenberry, a New Deal ginner, introduced the colonel. Judge Walter Davies and R. O. Short, president of the Lubbock chapter of the road association, were club guests. Louie Moore was program chairman.

Rev. Hubert Bratcher gave the invocation and Fred Sparks presided.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Ruling Made On Out Of State Students

AUSTIN, Sept. 22. (AP)—Legal questions over the status of out-of-state children attending Texas schools under the Gilmer-Aikin laws were answered today by the attorney general.

An opinion by assistant Attorney General Everett Hutchinson held:

1. Scholastics may not be "transferred" between Texas and other states, and average daily attendance established by non-resident pupils attending Texas public schools may not be considered in determining allocation of classroom teacher units.

2. But average daily attendance established by Texas scholastics attending schools of other states may be counted in allocating classroom teacher units to the district of residence.

When out-of-state pupils attend Texas schools, the opinion said, the cost of instruction must be paid by the sending district but their average daily attendance can not be counted in allocating teacher units. But because Texas districts sending pupils to schools in other states must likewise bear the cost of educating them, their average daily attendance may be counted in fixing classroom teacher units in the districts where they live.

Westerners Meet Strong North Side Eleven Here Tonight

Rough Workouts Harden Locals For Steers' Aerial Onslaught

Coach Pat Pattison sends his Lubbock Westerner eleven against the strong North Side Steers of Fort Worth tonight, in a game scheduled at 8 p. m. in Jones Stadium.

This will be the second contest for both teams, with Lubbock owning a better record than its opponent. Last week in a game played here, the Westerners pushed aside a weak Childress squad by a 47-0 count, displaying great speed and deception and a stout defense. At the same time North Side was losing to Reagan of Houston by a 12-25 score.

Even In Games Won

In their last two meetings, the Westerners and Steers have broken even in games won. Last year in Fort Worth, Lubbock won, 21-14, but in 1947 North Side handed the Westerners one of the worst lickings ever suffered on home ground, defeating Lubbock 46-7.

E. J. Lowrey, athletic business manager at Lubbock High school, announced that Texas Tech students wishing to see the game could obtain tickets, with presentation of their activity books, at his office at the high school today. Lowrey said buying tickets ahead of time would avert anyone having to stand in line too long at the game.

Coach Pattison is not selling the Steers short, and he expects a tough game tonight. From reports received from scouts at the North Side-Reagan tilt, he learned that the score of that game did not represent the true picture of the great battle put up by the Steers. "I am not underestimating their ability and strength," Coach Pattison said. "They have a good ball club and are coming to Lubbock to win. I'm worried about the game."

TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets for the game may be bought during the day at the athletic office of the high school, with reserved seats selling at $1.50 each. Ducats will also be on sale at the gates tonight. Another large crowd is expected for the game, with last week's attendance at 19,000.

Drill Until Dark

The Westerners meanwhile have been preparing for the encounter with hard workouts. On Monday the team drilled until dark in a very stiff session. Tuesday night a two and one-half hour session was held under the lights, climaxed by a fast scrimmage.

In that scrimmage the first team looked tough on defense and very sharp on offense. In short order three touchdowns were scored by the first team, and the second squad could not score. Looking very good in the offensive backfield were Wayne Stroud and Charlie Williams from their halfback positions. Williams broke loose on a 60-yard gallop on one occasion and Stroud scored from 30-yards out no a nice sprint. Quarterback Bobby Brown threw a few passes and found his mark in right end Billy Wright, one pass play going for a score. Malcolm Young was at fullback on the first team.

Other practices have been on offense and defense.

Co-captains of the Westerners tonight are Garnet Reeves and Wright, representing the starting ends. Both boys turned in exceptional performances last week against Childress, with Reeves showing heads-up play in breaking through at least four times to snare the runner or intended passer for sizeable losses each time.

Locals To Use T

Against North Side tonight the Westerners will use the T-formation which dealt Childress such misery last week, and a passing attack may be used. The Westerners will outweigh the North Side line by about 20 pounds per man, with the backfields about the same weight.

The Steers are expected to uncork a strong aerial show, with Quarterback Kermit Allen or Fullback L. V. Miller throwing. One of Allen's favorite receivers is Miller, and flat passes are the specialty of the two.

Against Reagan last week the Steers completed 10 aerial thrusts in 23 attempts, picking up 125 yards. One pass from Allen to left End Ronnie McBee resulted in a touchdown, and Miller scored the other tally on a short plunge through the line.

Favorites Fall In Western Tournament

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22. (AP)— It was an unhappy day for most of the favorites in the 47th Western Amateur golf tournament.

Defending champion Robert (Skee) Riegel, of Upper Darby, Pa., bowed out to young Thomas Sullivan's 30-foot putt for a birdie 2 on the eighteenth hole. Sullivan won the second round morning match, 1-up.

Medalist John (Pick) Wagner, of Wilmette, Ill., was eliminated by John J. Jacobs, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 3 and 2, in the third round match.

Sullivan, University of Miami (Fla.), junior was sent on his way back to school by veteran Walter Cisco, Louisville, Ky., 1 up 21 holes, in third round.

William Campbell, of Hutington, W. Va., a West Virginia state legislator, went 21 holes before beating Clancy Miller, of Atchison, Kans., runner-up for the medal, 1 up.

Jim Frisina, former Illinois champion from Taylorville, came along in the afternoon to eliminate Campbell, 3 and 2.

Frank Stranahan, 1946 champion from Toledo, had a close call in the third round, beating Alex Welsh, of Rockford, Ill., 1 up. After disposing of Donald Shock, Dayton, Ohio, 3 and 2, in the second go around.

Big Jimmy McHale, insurance broker from Philadelphia, advanced to the quarter-finals by beating Howard Zachritz, St. Louis, 1 up, and John Levinson, Chicago, 3 and 2.

Harold Paddock, jr., of Aurora, Ohio, another 1948 semi-finalist, advanced 2 and 1 over Dick Sloan, Kansas City, 3 and 2 over Harold Brink, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Dunbar Beats Amarillo, 20-7

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche Sports Writer

Lubbock's Dunbar High school Panthers racked up their second football victory of the 1949 campaign by trouncing the Amarillo Black Sandies, 20-7, last night before a capacity crowd of 1,000 fans at Chapman field.

Coach Damon Hill's Panthers, clad in flashy maroon and white uniforms, consistently outsped the heavier Amarilloans. Their speed, coupled with some nifty ball handling by Quarterbacks Fred Wright and Robert Oliver, spelled the difference.

Dunbar, using passes only to score its two extra points, unfurled a colorful ground attack that netted 11 first downs and kept Amarillo on the defensive most of the way. The visitors, whose lone touchdown came early in the second half, netted six first downs.

Robinson Big Gun

Lanky Lawrence Robinson, wing-footed halfback, was the big gun in Dunbar's attack. Late in the first quarter he ripped through right tackle on a quick-opening play, threaded back to his left and sped 61 yards to score the first touchdown. A bad pass from center caused the extra point try to fail.

Lubbock seized upon a break to set up its second counter. The Dunbar eleven gained possession of the ball on Amarillo's 25 as a result of a personal foul, then Halfback Charles Harvey and Fullback Eddie Bullock alternated at ramming the line until Harvey finally hit pay dirt from one yard out. A tricky lateral-pass play, Bullock - to - Wright - to - Arthur Jones, produced the extra point to make the score 13-0 at halftime.

Line Plunges Count

Amarillo took the second-half kickoff and scored before giving up the ball. Several pile-driving line plunges moved the ball from the Sandie 35 to Dunbar's 40, then Halback James Vell McGhee powered through center, picked up a wave of blockers and went all the way to score. McGhee, Amarillo's top offensive performer for the night, plunged over for the extra point.

Dunbar promptly retaliated, however, with a 40-yard touchdown march featuring some fine running by Robinson and Bullock. Bullock went 13 yards on a cutback to the left side for the marker, then Oliver threw a jump pass to Jones for the extra point.

Meet Midland Next

Outstanding linemen for the victors were Tackles Dennis Sanders and Lafayette Locke, End Arthur Jones, and Odell Gary, high-stepping center who was a real crowd-pleaser with his between-plays prancing as he approached the scrimmage line.

The Panthers' starting lineup included William Moore and Jones, ends: Sanders and Locke, tackles: Joe Billy Hewing and Nathaniel Sampson, guards; Gary, center; Wright, quarterback; Robinson and Harvey, halfbacks, and Bullock fullback. Substitutes were John Milus, Otis Walker, Charles Childress. Albert Smith, Robert Oliver and Samm Dedrick.

The Panthers' next game will be against Midland at Chapman field at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Joe DiMaggio Said Improving From Attack Of Pneumonitis

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (INS)—Joe DiMaggio was reported recuperating nicely today from his attack of pneumonitis.

Dr. Jacques Fischl, New York Yankee club physician, said the outfielder was much brighter today but the doctor saw no prospect that Joe will get into the lineup within a week.

"He is loaded with penicillin," said the doctor, "and he probably won't feel much like hitting and running when he does get back in the game."

Tech Leaves For Aggie Tussle

41 Players Head For San Antonio

Texas Tech's 41-man football squad was due to leave West Hall at the college this morning at 8 p. m. bound for San Antonio and their annual meeting with the Texas Aggies tomorrow night at Alamo Stadium before a crowd estimated to exceed over 24,000.

Coach Dell Morgan, beset with injuries and colds that sapped the strength of the squad, was uncertain as to which boys would be able to play good ball tomorrow night. As a result, he decided to take along a few who might be pressed into action.

Injuries Sideline Players

Despite the fact that Fullback J. W. Thompson and End Jack Davis have not seen action at all this week, both will make the trip to San Antonio. Thompson underwent an operation for removal of a chipped bone in his foot and Davis wrenched an ankle badly in the Texas game last week. Halfback Herman Bailey's injured leg has responded to treatment and he will make the trip, along with Halfback Walter Maloney, who also was injured last week.

Guard Walter Edrington hasn't suited up this week and was released from the infirmary only yesterday. And Guard Don Williams injured an ankle yesterday and may see no action at all.

Williams Loss Serious

The loss of Don Williams may be serious. The big Phillips player was a standout in the Raider line last week and the coaches had anticipated using him 60 minutes Saturday night. He will make the trip, but it is doubtful if he plays much.

This will be the tenth meeting of the two teams and the seventh in the Alamo city. The Aggies have won seven of the meetings, with Tech taking two. Texas Tech has been blanked in three of the games, while the Raiders shutout the Aggies in 1946.

The battle this year will send the Aggies' primarily sophomore team against a veteran Raider eleven that hasn't caught fire yet. Tech scored a 20-14 victory last year with a second half rally that overcame an early Farmer lead. The battle this year is expected to be another scoring bee, with both teams using a wide open offense.

Aggies Feature Sophs

The Aggies will feature a sophomore line that is anchored by Wray Whittaker and Andy Hillhouse, two of the better ends in the Conference, with Jimmy Flowers at center. The remainder of the line has been tested only in the Villanova game last week.

Starring in the backfield is Glenn Lippman of El Campo, the sophomore flash, while Jimmy Cashion, an experienced hand, holds down the quarterback slot. Bobby Goff at right half will be remembered for his powering drives in conjunction with Bob Goode, now playing pro ball.

The Raiders went through a final practice session yesterday and looked anything but good. Freshmen, using Aggie plays, found weak spots in the Raider defenses time and time again. Varsity offensive units, working dummy scrimmage against the freshmen, also showed signs of needing more polish. It was not a satisfactory drill.

The Complete Squad

The San Antonio squad follows:

Ends: Luke Thompson, Elbert Johnson, Hugh and Dick Jackson, Jack Davis, Dick Pirtle, Bill Sharpley. Tackles: John Andrews, Marshall Gettys, Doug McSwane, Jerrell Price, Rex Pinson, John Tom Baker, Bobby Broyles. Guards: Dan Pursel, Don Williams, Milburn Haydon, Bill Stallings, Dick Cavazos, Bobby Garner, Don Anthony. Centers: Bobby Williams, J. B. Mahler, Robert Hix, Aubrey Phillips.

Backs: Ernest Hawkins, Milton Rathbone, Bill Lyman, Albert Salem, Tim Hatch, Herman Bailey, Bill Barbee, Bobby Close, Cal Steveson, Ike Stuver, Walter Maloney, Eural Ramsey, Bud Conley, Earl Jackson, J. W. Thompson.

Dodgers Hammer Six Redbird Hurlers

Brooklyn Tramples Cardinals, 19 To 6

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 22. (AP)— The Brooklyn Dodgers swamped the St. Louis Cardinals tonight, 19 to 6, in a game the Dodgers just about had to win to stay in the National league race. It was the worst defeat of the year for the Cardinals, and cut their lead to half a game.

Thus, in stunning fashion, Brooklyn gained a two-to-one edge in the blue chip "Little World Series," the last man-to-man battle of the season for the two leading clubs—barring a tie and a play-off.

The Dodgers hammered six Cardinal pitchers, starting on Red Munger, and Brooklyn's lefty Joe Hatten held the helpless Redbirds to 10 scattered hits.

Carl Furillo batted in seven runs and Gil Hodges brought in five to pace the merciless hitting spree.

Pioneers Bow To Meadow

MEADOW, Sept. 22 (Special)— Scoring in the second and fourth quarters, Coach Lloyd Hunt's Meadow Broncos tonight turned back the Lubbock High Pioneers, 12-0, before a crowd of 500 fans at Bronco field.

A stiff Meadow defense almost completely throttled the Pioneer attack, allowing only four first downs and never permitting the visitors to get past the Bronco 35-yard line.

Meadow's offensive, sparked by Halfback Lawrence Joplin, notched 11 first downs.

Frequent penalties marred the game, with Meadow drawing a total of 75 yards in penalties and the Pioneers being assessed 70.

The first Bronco touchdown came on a six-yard sweep around right end by Robert White. Gene Joplin had set up the tally with a 25-yard gallop on an end-around play.

Meadow's second counter came on a 40-yard pass-and-run play from White to Lawrence Joplin.

The two extra point tries, one an attempted placekick and the other a pass, failed.

Outstanding Meadow players on defense included End Norman Lockett, Tackle Jerry Roberts and Guard Freddie Howard.

Wendel Mason, Bronco quarterback, left the game in the second quarter with a knee injury.

New High School Stadium To Be Dedicated

Lamesa Golden Tornadoes Will Meet Plainview Team Tonight

LAMESA, Sept. 22. (Special)—The Lamesa Golden Tornadoes of District 3-AA, unbeaten in two starts, will lay their perfect record on the line here tomorrow night against an old nemesis, the Plainview Bulldog eleven of District 1-AA, in a non-conference grid tussle.

A near-capacity crowd of perhaps 5,000 fans is expected to be on hand for the clash with the Bulldogs, who have won one and lost one in two starts.

Lamesa High school's new stadium will be formally dedicated in special ceremonies at half-time. Walter Buckel will act as master of ceremonies and L. B. Vaughn, president of the school board, will give a brief dedicatory address as the new plant is dubbed "Tornado Field."

Participating in the ceremony will be the bands of the two schools, Lamesa High school student council president, Josh Beckham, Bill Hart, representing the Golden Tornado squad and members of the school board.

Coach Bob Harrell reports the Tornadoes in good shape for their first game of the 1949 season with a Class AA foe. Lamesa beat Levelland, 7 to 0, in the season opener, and whipped Seminole, another Class A eleveni, 20 to 0, in their first game in the new stadium last Friday.

The Tornadoes rule as slight favorites over the Plainview gridders, but Coach W. C. O. (Dub) Harris' young Bulldogs will be out to maintain their perfect record against the local eleven. Plainview has beaten Lamesa for the past four years in meetings between the two schools.

Dick Echols, who scored two touchdowns last week and turned in several long runs, and Larry Lattimore, whose punt and kickoff returns helped set up Lamesa's threats, are slated to pace the Tornado attack.

Lubbock's Westerners go after No. 2 at Jones stadium tonight, and this one promises to be quite a ball game.

North Side's Steers, while not a top state power, are rated considerably better than the Childress club which Lubbock smothered last week. They should put the vaunted Westerner offensive to a fair test.

I think Lubbock's attack will pass this exam—and you can take that word "pass" literally, for I expect Boundin' Bobby Brown to be tossing the pigskin rather freely out there tonight.

In any event, my advice to local football enthusiasts is that they take this one in. The Westerners are playing the type of football for which local fans have clamored for a decade, and it's deserving of everyone's whole-hearted support.

Under 1949 football rules, a punt which goes untouched into the end zone either may be run out, or allowed to die there for a touchback. Which brings up the question: "If a kick goes over the goal line, then bounces back onto the field of play is it a touchback?"

Harold V. Ratliff, the capable Associated Press sports editor in Dallas, reports that Secretary Arthur Hutchens of the National Rules committee has held that the ball is still in play under such circumstances. If a kick rebounds from the end zone and dies on the six-inch line, it will be put into play there.

Frank Sontagg, the new Seagraves High coach, is making quite a reputation for himself as a "colorful character." The latest Sontagg story is that he recently called together his players and members of the Seagraves pep squad for a joint conference. "Now girls," Sontagg is reported to have said, "I don't mind you having dates with these boys, but when 10 o'clock rolls around and the fella's too bashful to ask for a goodnight kiss, just give him a kiss and send him home!"... American golfers retained the Ryder cup this month, but they didn't do much to help their sportsmanship standing with British fans. First, several U. S. pros complained bitterly because of the devaluation of the British pound (which cut the golfers' fees from $3,000 each to $2,100). Then Bob Hamilton, who still was in the running in the British PGA match play tourney, withdrew and sailed for home on the Queen Mary. Yet our PGA bars Bobby Locke because of his "failure to fulfill appearance commitments." Ha!... Herb Dudley, strikeout artist of the Clearwater, Fla., Bombers, set a new record Wednesday night by whiffing 55 batsmen in one game. Dudley gave up only five hits in winning the 21-inning marathon, 1-0, then proceeded to pitch a seven-inning shutout which eliminated Jackie Neel's Mercedes team from the Softball World Series at Little Rock, Ark....Tonight's scheduled Frenship-Silverton grid clash was cancelled at the request of Frenship school officials.

Intra-League Series In Class D Planned

ABILENE, Sept. 22. (AP)— Arrangements were completed today for a Texas Class D baseball championship series between winners of the Rio Grande Valley and Longhorn leagues.

The series will open either at Big Spring or Midland — Longhorn league cities.

Officials from the two leagues agreed to start the best four of seven games series in a Longhorn city. After a two game stand the teams will move to the valley to wind up play.

Corpus Christi and Brownsville are meeting in the Shaughnessy finals of the Valley league and Big Spring and Midland are matched in the finals of the Longhorn league.

The inter-league play will begin immediately championships are decided in the two leagues.

Manny Ortega Signed To Meet Bill Henderson In Fight Here

Manny Ortega, former contender for the world's featherweight title, has been signed to meet Bill Henderson in a 10-round main event here later this month.

Ortega and Henderson were signed to contracts yesterday by Dickie Griffin, El Paso promoter, who is working on behalf of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars, sponsors of the bout. The two leading Texas fighters will be meeting for the first time.

Also on the card will be Gene James and Dickie Brown in an eight round re-match. James gained a disputed six-round decision here a couple of weeks ago.

There will be other matches on the card, which still is in the process of building. Time and place also is to be decided upon, although the place probably will Chapman Fieldhouse.

GOOD TIME WINS RACE

DELAWARE, O., Sept. 22. (AP)—Good Time, three-year-old racer owned by the Good Time Stable of Goshen, N. Y., won the fourth annual Little Brown Jug three-year-old pace here today and picked up $23,312.53. of the $58,281.30 purse.

Gil Steinke Is Appointed New Frosh Coach At Oklahoma A-M

STILLWATER, Okla., Sept. 22. (U.P.)— Oklahoma A. & M. college freshmen finally had a full-time football coach today—Gil Steinke, Philadelphia Eagle back who was injured in pre-season practice.

Steinke replaces Ralph Foster, who held the job on a part-time basis. Foster now will give full time to his military department assignment as properties custodian.

Steinke quit the Eagles last year to coach for Texas Trinity but was recalled for the last three games of the Eagles after the Trinity season was over. He is a graduate of Texas A. & M.

McKISSACK BECOMES FATHER

DALLAS, Sept. 22. (AP)— Fullback Dick McKissack of the Southern Methodist university football team is dividing his attention these days. The Mustang gridder became the father of a daughter Tuesday night.

England has a fleet of motor "cafes" that travel its busiest highways night and day.

SWC Games Are Slated Saturday

(By The United Press)

Southwest Conference teams began Thursday to round off practice sessions as they prepared for games Saturday across the length and width of the southwest, and in the east.

As the season neared full opening, Arkansas suffered the hardest setback of the pre-season scrimmages Wednesday when Halfback Ross Pritchard broke a leg in an intersquad mixup.

Pritchard was half of the Porker's one-two scoring punch. The other half of the scoring punch — fullback Leon (Muscles) Campbell — has been slowed by an aggravated hernia. The Porkers meet North Texas State at Little Rock Saturday night.

At College Station, the Texas Aggies were strengthening their pass defenses as they prepared for a night game Saturday with Texas Tech to be played in San Antonio.

The Horned Frogs of Texas Christian finished their final practices under lights for Oklahoma A&M. The game is in Fort Worth.

Coach Dutch Meyer, with a victory over Kansas last week tucked under his belt, said that his Frog starting lineup would virtually be the same. However, Jack Archer, starting halfback has been benched with a shoulder and neck injury. He will be replaced by Homer (Spec) Tompkins, the "celebrated unknown" from Cisco.

The University of Texas left by plane today for Philadelphia and a Saturday date with Temple. Coach Blair Cherry announced that passer Paul Campbell and hard-hitting Ray Borneman will act as co-captains during the Temple game.

At Waco, the Baylor Bears ended hard practice as they tapered off for Saturday night's home game against the University of South Carolina.

Coach Bob Woodruff, moaning poor defense all the pre-game season, said that he "still wasn't satisfied with the Bears' pass defense" after his team's final practice.

Parallel Parking Is Okayed Here; Street Paving Project Studied

new turbine will increase the plant's production capacity approximately 70 per cent, more will be needed by the time a new engine can be installed, he said.

Contract On Line Let

5. Contract for the construction of new water lines ranging up to 24 inches in diameter was awarded to Cullum and Hodgson, of Dallas, on a bid of $195,190, the lowest of nine submitted. The next bid was $208,065 by Sherman Machine and Iron Works of Oklahoma City.

6. The commission learned that the wealth of the City of Lubbock now totals more than $16,000,000—nearly $3,000,000 more than a year ago. This information was contained in the annual independent audit of city records.

7. Bids for approximately 90 blocks of paving were set for opening at the regular meeting Oct. 27, conditional upon the making of arrangements for the financing of the work. Members of the commission said they plan to seek a joint conference with representatives of Lubbock banks in an effort to devise some means of keeping the paving program going.

Parking Plan Okayed

The parallel parking ordinance finally approved was in the form discussed at several meetings during the previous two weeks.

The streets affected are Broadway from the east city limits to College; Thirteenth from G to Q; and all of Texas Avenue, Avenue A, Nineteenth street and Avenue H. These include most of the thoroughfares on which angle parking is now permitted on any portion of the affected streets.

The only exceptions to the parallel requirement will be at the postoffice, certain designated portions of Texas avenue and the places on all streets where setback parking is not practiced.

At all of these places, parking will be at a 30-degree angle instead of the present 45 degrees. This will move the protruding end of the average cars about three feet closer to the curb.

Limit On Length Set

The ordinance specifically provides, however, that no vehicle can be parked in the 30-degree places if it protrudes into the street more than 7 ½ feet beyond the curb line.

Members of the commission expressed the belief that this provision will do away with the hazard and nuisance now created when a long-bedded truck angle-parks at a curb.

The ordinance will require a second reading, probably at the meeting on Oct. 13, before it goes into legal effect.

City Manager Steve Matthews announced, however, that the change in parking meters to conform with the new ordinance will be started within the next few days. He said drivers will be requested to park in the manner indicated by the meters as they are changed.

He said also that lines will be painted at the places where 30-degree parking will be required. Motorists will be asked to park their cars between these lines.

Street Signs On Display

Members of the commission did not attempt immediate study of the proposals to supply the city with more than 3,000 signs which will be required for the new street marking program.

Sample signs of almost every conceivable design were piled in the council chamber.

The tentative computation of bids, still subject to revisions, was reported as follows:

S. G. Adams co., $7,811; John Taylor, $8,250; Miro-Flex, $8,340; Buckner, Craig and Webster, $9,892; Grote, inc., $9,912; U. S. Porcelain Enamel co., $9,923; National Safety Engineers, $9,996; Thompson Pipe & Steel co., $10,235; Plains Machinery co., $10,444; Texas Aluminum Foundry, $10,544; Toby Street Marker co., $10,620; San Antonio Machine and Supply co., $10,863; Ferris Enameline co., $11,818; Muncipal Street Sign co., $15,235; Sake-Idore Markers, $17,500; and Traffic & Street Sign co., $18,778.

Plans are to put new street names into effect in many portions of the city when the new signs are bought and installed. This will be several weeks in the future, at the earliest.

To Widen Pavement

The improvements contemplated on North College avenue include pavement 64 feet wide, as compared with the present 36 feet, from Fourth street to U. S. Highway 84, a distance of more than a mile, and storm sewers to drain the larger portion of Northwest Lubbock. The present drainage problem there is acknowledged by officials to be the most serious of any portion of the city.

Estimates are that the proposed paving and storm sewers would cost approximately $382,000. City Manager Matthews was authorized to tell the highway commission the city will assume up to $152,000 of that cost if the state will pay the remainder.

To Present Argument

Matthews said he will argue that the project should be financed in large part by the state for two chief reasons: First, the thoroughfare is part of the state highway system: and, second, the serious drainage problem there is aggravated considerably by the flow of water from the nearby Texas Tech campus, a state school.

Planning to accompany the city manager to Austin are Preston E. Smith, state representative; L. E. Davis, representing the chamber of commerce, and two members of the city commission — probably Mayor W. H. Rodgers and Commissioner E. K. Hufstedler.

The estimate of the city's present wealth at $16,176,122, as compared with $13,305,707 a year previously, was contained in the independent audit of city records for the fiscal year ending last March 31 as reported by J. T. Thurston, certified public accountant.

The figures included estimates of the value of all the city's assets of every kind.

Figures Conservative

Many of the figures actually were exceedingly conservative. Real estate values shown in the audit remained at the figure for which the property was bought by the city—in some instances more than 30 years ago. Present conservative values of such property are higher in practically every instance than at the time of purchase—in most instances, many times higher.

Talkington said he found city records well kept and in good condition, as a whole. He recommended numerous changes of procedure, chiefly in record keeping, which he said should mean more efficiency and greater economy in operation.

He did not submit a bill for his services, but estimated it would be about $1,800.

Audit Is Accepted

The commission accepted the audit, but did not approve it until members had time to study it in detail. However, members commended Talkington for his services.

Green, the electric plant superintendent, said the newly installed turbine engine—the first of its kind to be bought for the plant—will generate approximately 7,500 kilotwatt hours of electricity, increasing the total generating capacity of the municipal system more than 70 per cent, to a total of approximately 18,500 kwh. The present capacity is about 11,000 kwh.

Subject To Revisions

He said the estimated $792,132 cost of the unit, located in the northeastern edge of the city, still is subject to minor revisions.

Green reported further that the cost of generating electricity with the new unit will be about 3¼ cents per kwh., as compared with about 4.5 cents at present.

He cautioned, however, that the city should begin planning immediately the installation of another turbine of equal or larger size. If Lubbock continues to grow, he said, the additional electricity will be needed before it can be installed which, Green estimated, would be the summer of 1951 at the earliest.

He expressed the opinion that another unit of about equal size can be installed for about $100,000 less than the one just finished. Much of the equipment necessary for the first unit, he explained, will be adequate for another. Officials also expressed the belief that such machinery can be bought more cheaply now than two years ago.

Taxi Service Denied

Other business transacted at the all-day meeting included:

The applications of Miles Neal and Jack Glaspie and others for permits to operate taxicab lines exclusively for negroes were denied. The commission held that present taxicab lines are rendering adequate service for Lubbock.

Also refused was the request of Sgt. J. C. McClung for permission to operate a loud speaker in seeking recruits for the national guard.

Lubbock Bus company was granted permission to operate a special line to serve Mexican areas of the city during the cotton harvest. Another request to re-route one existing bus line into Southwest Lubbock so as to serve Avenue Q and Thirteenth street was taken under advisement.

Other Business Routine

J. E. Mann was given permission to build a loading dock extending six-feet into the street on a new building at Sixth street and Avenue G.

The offer of H. N. Whitney to sell the city 320 acres of land northwest of Lubbock at $200 an acre as a site for water wells was declined.

A contract to repair certain runways at Municipal airport was awarded to L. A. Purtell. The city manager estimated the work will cost less than $10,000.

The following purchases were approved in each instance from the low bidders:

A carload of about 60 water plugs, valves and miscellaneous parts from Clowe & Cowan, on a total bid of approximately $8,000.

Various small electrical transformers from General Electric Supply Co., for approximately $6,500.

A Ford sedan for use at Municipal airport from Lubbock Auto Co., for $1,586.

Three 100-kilowatt electric transformers from Nunn Electric Co. at $725 each.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Rodgers and Commissioners W. B. Price, John Spikes, Clarence Whiteside and Hufstedler.

est weight and earnest consideration" in bargaining sessions to peace recommendations of the presidential fact finding board. Mr. Truman asked as much of both union and industry.

Acts Unanimously

The fact finders called for a 10-cent hourly company financed program of insurance and pensions. Murray accepted but insisted on industry doing the same before resumption of bargaining. Fairless wouldn't go along on paying the whole bill. He wanted workers to contribute.

They feuded by telegram for a week without getting together. Then Mr. Truman stepped in with his request for extension of the truce he engineered. He also asked prompt bargaining and settlement.

The 170-member union wage policy committee acted unanimously after a two and a half hour hotel session which came in the midst of wildcat steel strikes which closed two Pittsburgh plants and idled 2,400. The strikers protested truce extensions, demanded pensions.

NEWS BRIEFS

Three women were lodged in city jail Thursday night pending health checks by the city physician following their arrest earlier on charges of vagrancy by prostitution. All pleaded not guilty of the charge.

Firemen were summoned to the city shops at Fifth and Ave. J at 4:50 p. m. Monday to extinguish a fire in a city-owned car. The blaze started from gasoline spilled on the car as it was being cleaned. Damage was negligible.

Bumper Onion Crop

90 freight carloads of onions on the Fort Worth and Denver railway to markets all over the United States.

The Burlington lines, of which the Fort Worth and Denver is a part, has responded by sending them the latest and most efficient type of refrigerated cars to give the Spanish sweets a deluxe ride to market.

960 Acres Leased

Diversified farming appears to be in Castro county to stay. Lewis and the Niseis leased some 960 acres of rich farmlands on a three year basis, and Lewis considers himself a Texan although his home is still in Idaho.

Of the total acreage leased, 300 acres were planted in onions. Unusually heavy rains, insects and so forth ruined 150 acres, but the remaining 150 acres is yielding a big return.

Lewis says they are getting 1,000 50-pound bags from each acre. On today's market, that's no small potatoes.

They're not small onions, either. In a shed built by Burlington and leased on a 10-year term, the onions are graded in two sizes — two to three inches or smaller, and three inches and larger.

Lewis says 70 per cent of the harvest is in the three-inch or larger size.

The soil was heavily fertilized with commercial fertilizer bought by Virgil Rowland at Plainview. It is estimated that $20,000 worth of fertilizer alone was used.

It costs about $200 an acre to grown onions, Lewis figures.

Of the leased acreage not planted to onions this year, much is being used to grow lettuce. The lettuce harvest will begin shortly. Ninety acres of potatoes were also grown this year.

Twenty-five to 30 young Japanese farmers haye leased land in Castro county, most of it for $30 an acre.

They are a friendly, intelligent group, and they have made friends quickly and readily in Dimmitt. Many of them are college graduates, and they seem to have the "Green Touch" that is typical of their race.

Tod Matsumoto is typical. He has an infectious grin, and he takes "kidding" good naturedly.

"I don't mind working hard. You have to work hard to do well at farming," he will say. And you known he means it.

The new crop, grown for the first time this year, has attracted attention to many visitors.

Matsumoto has visited Lubbock, and he says the city impressed him most favorably. He praised its modern appearance.

The new refrigerator cars which Burlington is sending to pick up the harvest are a part of 300 the railroad is building in a $36,000,000 refrigerator car improvement program.

D. C. Sheets, agent for Texas of the Bulington Refreigerator Express company, was a visitor to the Dimmitt project Thursday.

Sheets explaned that the new cars are being equipped with all cars are being equipped with easy riding trucks. Air circulationg fans are standard equipment on all new cars. Other features include increased insulation, internal type hatch plugs with rubber gaskets, stake icing grates, herringbone floor racks and improved door entry steps.

and Paducah, in addition to a number of small communities.

(If the train mail service to Floydada from Quanah is discontinued, officials said mail probably will be brought from Vernon by motor truck. As it is, since the railroad holds a government contract to carry mail, the train must wait each day until the fast train from the east arrives in Quanah in order to transfer all mail onto the Floydada-bound line. Frequently this delays rural mail deliveries, it was said.

(Even if the rail line from Quanah to Floydada is discontinued, Floydada will still be served by a Santa Fe line from Plainview.)

Air Secretary Wins

most of the information he has on the B-36 row to the House Armed Services committee.

Moreover, he said he has been "instructed" by the chairman of the House committee, Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), not to disclose his report pending the outcome of the congressional committee's own investigation of the whole bitter dispute between the Navy and the Air Force.

The inter-service clash centers on their respective roles in carrying aerial attacks to the enemy in another war.

Cedric Worth, a Navy official, wrote a memo charging that the B-36 was obsolete and hinting that there had been political skulduggery by defense officials in connection with it. Circulated anonymously on Capitol Hill, the memo led to a congressional investigation which blew up when Worth took back most of his charges.

A Navy court was named to look into the origins of the memo.

Symington gave scant grace today to a Navy emissary, Capt. Sanford B. D. Wood, who had been sent to request the air secretary's "phycical presence" before the naval court. This was after Syming had previously sidestepped an invitation to testify.

Arms Bill Okayed

and House members.

The House approved an arms bill, totaling $869,505,000 — or $444,505,000 less than the Senate bill. Their differences will be worked out in conference.

In a warm debate before the voting, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) protested that arming western Europe "is likely to incite Russia to war." Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), replied that the arms program and other foreign aid voted by Congress to stem the spread of Communism are "the cheapest way to stop World War III before it starts."

The bill includes $1,000,000,000 for western Europe — half in cash and half in contract authority.

Proposals Defeated

The Senate then defeated 47 to 31 an amendment by Senator Knowland (R.-Calif.), to cut the same funds designed for Atlantic pact members by $200,000,000, half from the cash spending and half from the contract authority.

A group of 11 senators then lost in a move to have 10 to 25 per cent of the arms funds earmarked for a proposed Atlantic police force which would be the nucleus of an international police force directed by the United Nations. The decision was by voice vote.

Then the Senate approved two amendments by Senator Ferguson (R.-Mich.), which were drafted to make certain the bulk of arms aid for Europe must wait until the Atlantic defense committee under the treaty recommends a defense plan for the area. The action was by voice vote.

This merely called for a change in language which Ferguson said would leave no doubt about the intent of Congress to withhold the major part of the arms aid until the committee's recommendations are approved by the President.

The Senate approved an amendment by Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.), requiring that 50 per cent of the arms shipments abroad must be carried in American vessels. This also was a voice vote.

Seven Auto Accidents Are Investigated By City Police

Seven wrecks, each of them involving two vehicles, were investigated by city police between 11 a.m. and 5:53 p.m. Monday.

Although damage was heavy in some of the mishaps, no one was injured, officials said. Five of the collisions were at intersections. The other two each involved one parked car and one moving car.

The first wreck occurred at the intersection of Nineteenth and College Ave. Others, with the times as recorded on the official records were: twenty feet north of Ave. G on Fourteenth, 11:25 a.m.; Thirteenth and Ave. G, 3:30 p.m.; 2400 block Nineteenth, 4 p. m.; Ninth and Ave. J, 4:10 p.m.; Fourteenth and Ave. X, 5:53 p.m., and Seventh and Ave. L, 5:53 p.m.

Rehearsals Are Held For Lions Club Minstrel Show

Rehearsals for the Lions' club annual minstrel program to be held Nov. 7-9 in the Lubbock high school auditorium were held Thursday night at the Baldridge bakery.

Rehearsals will be held each Monday and Thursday night until the play is performed.

To include a cast of 100 persons, this year's minstrel will be the biggest yet, according to Frank Junell, publicity chairman.

Fair Booster Trip

town where Bob Koonce, chamber of commerce manager, officially greeted them.

About seven miles from Hobbs, state policemen John Ramsey and Bruce McCloskey met the boosters, and took them into town. Hobbs policemen P. A. Collins and Lee Lowe also met them at the city limits and escorted them through the town and to the school.

Booster Loses Shirt

The boosters were not only given a fine reception at Morton, but were mobbed by what was probably the most enthusiastic group of school children encountered in all four trips.

The school stop started out quietly enough as the boosters pulled up before the high school, but the grade school let out two short blocks away, and the children descended upon the outnumbered boosters.

It was nip and tuck until the businessmen finally managed to squeeze their way out, half an hour behind schedule.

The only casualty was Fred Ellison, one of the 19 members of the Lubbock county Sheriff's Posse who made the tour. While Ellison was distributing balloons and rulers as calmly as possible in the melee, Randolph Rampy scattered a handful of balloons, a much sought after item, over Ellison's head. Ellison didn't lose his head but he lost his shirt, as the youngsters trampled him underfoot. When it was all over, Ellison had to get a new shirt to replace the one he was wearing. It was ripped open in two places down the back.

280 Miles Covered

The Sheriff's Posse, in charge of Bud Brady, was making its 18th good will appearance of the current year. Besides this booster trip, the Posse has been participating in rodeos and other activities in the South Plains area.

Other stops made by the men during the day were Levelland from 8 a.m. to 8:25, Whiteface from 8:50 to 9:05, Plains from 10:50 to 11:10, and Tatum, N. M., from 11:50 a.m. to 12:05 p.m. Texas time.

W. D. Rogers and Vernon Peters were co-chairmen for the trip. Walker Stanton, director of the fair association, was present on the trip.

The 280 miles covered on the trip made it the longest of the four, which totalled about 940 miles. Tuesday's trip northeast of Lubbock took the record for the most stops made on one trip, with 13. Total stops for all four trips was 41.

46 Make Tour

The final trip Thursday also drew the largest number of boosters to go on one trip, 46. Total number of boosters for the four trips was 126. On the four trips, boosters distributed 30,000 free tickets, 25,000 rulers, 25,000 fair newspapers, and 15,000 balloons to approximately 28,000 youngsters, according to George A. Bond, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who was in charge of distribution.

Business firms also distributed favors such as pencils, whistles, balloons, and many other items.

Members of the Sheriff's Posse making the tour were C. W. Hicks, L. W. Chance, E. T. Miller, E. F. Alford, V. T. Rush, Frank McElroy, Hubert Stovall, J. W. Chapman, Bud Brady, A. M. Richardson, Roy Faubion, D. O. Bomar, S. E. Youngblood, Edgar Pace, Fred Ellison, Bob Pace, "Chuff" Benton, Randolph Rampy, and Guy Gilstrap.

Others present were "Cotton" Thompson, Sam West, Lloyd Sanders, Herbert Leaverton, Jimmie Williamson, J. H. Burns, Jim Bennett, Joe Partain, E. C. Pounds, Walker Stanton, Tim Tyler, R. C. Wiley, Hal Gunlock, Elmer D. Godwin, Jack M. Newton, Jim Bomar, Ed Rowan, Harry Whitlow, Lindsay Telford, Joe Thomas, Al Alschuler, H. R. Shady, Nelson Terry, and George Bond. Buddy Hatton and A. L. Leggett drove the buses, while Lawrence Haynes was in charge of the sound truck loaned for the occasion by the Baldridge bakery.

Attlee Calls Meet

his deputy, will speak for the Conservative opposition.

While Britain wrestled with the internal problems posed by the devaluation move, repercussions were still felt elsewhere in the world.

The Hashemite kingdom of Jordan became the 25th nation to cheapen its currency. Jordan's devaluation of its pound corresponded to the British cut.

A dispatch from Frankfurt, Germany, said proposals to devalue the German West mark were reported to have been forwarded to London, Washington and Paris for approval. Later, West German Finance Minister Fritz Schaeffer indicated at Bonn his government will announce its decision on any devaluation of the mark after a cabinet meeting tomorrow morning. The mark is now pegged at 30 United States cents. German banking circles are reported favorable to a new exchange rate of between 19 and 21 cents.

Soviet Russia changed the rate of the ruble in relation to the pound. It announced that the pound will buy 30.5 per cent fewer rubles than formerly. The previous rate was 21.36 rubles to the pound. The official dollar rate remains unchanged at 5.3 rubles.

Herbert Morrison, deputy prime minister and the Labor party's top political planner, will meet the party's political general staff tomorrow to survey the grassroots reaction to devaluation.

The Conservative party plans no immediate attack that might fell the government at next week's special session, which will last two or three days.

Labor's rank and file still was feverish over the prospect of devaluation's expected higher living costs without increased pay.

Union discipline, however, averted a threatened slowdown strike on London subways and freight yards. The national union of railwaymen opposed the step and the strike failed to materialize.

Postal Rate Hike Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (INS)—The Senate Post Office committee approved today a $100 million postal rate boost bill affecting newspapers and magazines, direct-mail advertising, parcel post and "non-personal" postcards.

The administration had asked boosts totalling $253 million.

Committee counsel Austin Latimer said the bill would cause these changes:

Second class: For larger newspapers and magazines, an aggregate boost of about one-third, with the reading matter weight increased from one and one half to two cents.

Weeklies Lose Status

Weeklies under 5,000 and dailies under 10,000 remain unchanged in rate, except that the "free-in-county" status is eliminated as to papers carried on rural routes. The total increase is estimated at $10 million.

Third class: Direct mail advertising is increased from one cent to one and one half cents per piece. The bulk mailing rate of 14 cents per pound was unchanged.

Parcel post: Increase from present scales ranging from 10 to 18 cents a pound, according to zone, to a scale of 13 to 23 cents. Books were exempted from the boost.

The maximum sizes and weights of packages were reduced from 100 inches in combined length and girth to 72 inches, and from 70 points to 60 pounds.

Postcard Rates Upped

While eliminating larger parcels from the mails the changes are expected to bring $16 million more revenue.

Postcards: Boosted from one cent to two cents unless they are "personal" or are mailed by tax-exempt non-profit organizations. This is expected to increase revenue $33 million.

Special delivery boosted from 15 cents to 20 cents. Registry, from 25 cents to 27 cents. These changes with other special service advances, would bring an additional $16 million the committee estimated.

Postal aides said there is some doubt whether the bill will be called up in the Senate before the House acts on similar legislation, because of a possible point of order that it is in the revenue bill category—which must originate in the House.

For the larger publications, reading matter weight would be increased from one and one half to two cents. Advertising content rates would go up on a sliding scale according to zone, to two cents in the first and second, and to nine cents in the eighth.

Hale Center Girl Wins Queen Contest

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 22 (Special) — Miss Betty Ray Karrh, 19, of Hale Center, was named Miss High Plains in the city auditorium here tonight, winning an expense-paid trip to the American Royal Livestock exposition which opens Oct. 13 in Kansas City.

Her victory tonight was the second queen contest won by Miss Karrh within two weeks. She had been named queen in a contest sponsored by the Hale County Farm Bureau.

More than 400 persons attended the contest sponsored by Radio Station KVOP of Plainview to see Miss Karrh win over five other contestants. Contestants were judged on personality, with the bathing beauty angle eliminated.

To Compete For Title

Miss Karrh will spend three days in Kansas City, where she will compete for the queen title at the exposition. Her mother, Mrs. Rayburn Karrh, will accompany her as chaperone with expenses paid.

Now employed as secretary for the Hale Center school system, Miss Karrh posted a fancy high school record. She was voted the most popular senior girl, was class president for three years and was salutatorian. She also is active in church work and is "an all-around farm girl."

She was sponsored in the contest by the Hale county Farm bureau. Other contestants and their sponsors were Miss Mayme Naylor of Kress, Kress Lions club; Miss Lou Lynn Nix of Plainview Manges Motor company; Miss Dorothy Schaeve of Plainview, Montgomery Ward; Miss Jodie Collins of Plainview, Plainview Mattress company; and Miss Hazle Farris of Plainview, Lippert's Business college.

Autumn Arrives

which the leaves fall from trees.

Meanwhile Texas' first threatening tropical storm of the season lost its zip late Thursday, and in a late night advisory the Weather bureau ordered all warning flags hauled down, The Associated Press said.

Earlier Thursday the bureau had called off hurricane warnings but left some storm flags flying.

In a 10:30 p. m. advisory, the bureau said the floundering storm didn't have any definite central location.

But it added that scattered squalls with winds of 40 to 50 miles an hour would continue over the Gulf of Mexico. It said tides would remain high and urged small craft to stay in port for the next 24 hours along the Texas and Louisiana coasts, The Associated Press said.

The Weather bureau said this would be the last advisory unless planes scouting the area found development in the storm.

The reconnaisance planes hadn't been able to find a center of circulation, characteristic of hurricanes.

The storm—since the first warnings went out yesterday afternoon—never had worked itself up to hurricane speed of 75 miles an hour.

At 5 p. m., the last time any kind of center for the disturbed area was reported, the storm was centered about 220 miles east of Corpus Christi.

At that time, the bureau left storm warnings up from Port O'Connor north to Lake Charles, La., but ordered them down from Port O'Connor, south to Brownsville.

It's 10:30 p. m. advisory ordered the last flag down.

Winds up to 60 miles an hour were clocked last night at the height of the blow, but when the hurricane warnings were lowered the top winds had died down to 35 miles an hour.

The disturbed area was about 165 miles southeast of Galveston and moving northward at five to eight miles an hour when the hurricane warnings were hauled down at 10 a. m.

At Orange, the Navy took precautionary steps to protect its 130-vessel reserve fleet. Additional mooring lines were added to hold the vessels.

Elsewhere over the state it was a fairly typical fall day, with skies partly cloudy and a touch of coolness in the air Thursday morning and Thursday evening. The only rain reported Thursday was along the coast.

In addition to the Midlandaires, the Campbell quartet of Levelland and others will appear on the variety roundup of Gospel singing.

Lewis Rejects Contract Offer

Love "to come to any agreement in this coal conference on issues that might prejudice the pending negotiations in steel."

At least twice before Lewis has turned down industry suggestions to continue the terms and conditions of the 1948 coal contract until March 31, 1950.

Technically, the agreement expired last June 30 but Lewis agreed to keep the mines going under a three-days-a-week schedule.

The current stoppage began after the refusal of some members of the Southern Coal Producers association to hand over regular contributions to the miners' welfare fund.

At Bluefield, W. Va., where negotiations with SCPA are under way, the miners' union is trying to force payment.

Love said that Lewis, in refusing to end the stoppage, contended that the union "didn't call the miners out and therefore can't call them back to work. He added:

"We (the operators) naturally questioned that. We firmly believe the present strike follows the old pattern of trying to force, by bringing on a crisis or a national emergency, the public to pay more for coal at a time when the public just won't do it.

"We made absolutely no progress in presenting our views to the miners."

The operators' proposed contract extension would eliminate one feature—a clause which states that the miners will work only when "willing and able."

SHERIFF ASKS HELP TO PREVENT MINE VIOLENCE

ALTOONA, Pa., Sept. 22. (AP)—Reporting threatened violence in the Blair county coal fields, Sheriff J. H. Summers telegraphed to Governor James H. Duff tonight for help.

Sheriff Summers said mine operators today used shotguns to hold about 300 roving mine pickets at bay until state police arrived at the Kenner mine near Couton.

Then, Summers said, four truckloads of coal, which the pickets had threatened to dump, were driven away from the mine and the pickets dispersed.

At other points in the county, mine operators reported, about 95 tons of coal was dumped from trucks along Blair county highways today.

Summers telegraphed the governor he understood "the same procedures are to be followed tomorrow on a larger scale. I am unable personally with the men at my command to control the situation. We therefore respectfully apply to you for adequate state police assistance."

Oil Official Speaker At Abernathy Meet

ABERNATHY, Sept. 22 (Special)—Support of a pending bill in Congress to cut imports of foreign oil into the United States was urged here tonight by E. I. Thompson of Austin, executive vice president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners association.

Thompson spoke to 40 persons gathered in the cafeteria of the high school here for a meeting of the Plains Land and Mineral Owners association.

He pointed out that oil imports have been largely responsible for the recent reductions in allowables of American producers.

Thompson was introduced by A. E. Hermann of Amarillo, independent oil operator. H. M. LaFont of Plainview, president of the Plains association presided. Several attending the meeting took out membership with the producers and royalty owners association represented by Thompson.

Movie Director Sam Wood Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22 (AP)—Director Sam Wood, who guided movie stars to academy awards but didn't win one himself, died today.

Heart disease claimed the 66-year-old director of a whole string of film hits. He succumbed less than two hours after he entered a hospital following an unexpected attack.

It was the third time this week that death took a name off the roll of Hollywood notables. Comedian Frank Morgan died Sunday. A few hours before his funeral Tuesday actor Richard Dix died. Wood died only hours before the Dix funeral today. Heart trouble was the cause in each case.

Wood, who said his favorite picture was "Goodbye Mr. Chips" but his best directed was "King's Row," was nominated three times for the academy award for best direction but the Oscar went to others.

The nominations were for "Mr. Chipps" in 1939 in which Robert Donat won the acting Oscar; "Kitty Foyle" in 1940 in which Ginger Rogers got an academy award, and "King's Row" in 1942.

One of his colossal directing achievements was "For Whom the Bell Tolls." His pictures included "Saratoga Trunk," "Our Town," "Command Decision," and two baseball pictures, "Pride of the Yankees" and "The Stratton Story." In the latter, starring Jimmy Stewart, Wood directed Frank Morgan as the old time baseball scout.

In the silent movie days Wood was at the megaphone with such luminaries as the late Wallace Reid, Gloria Swanson, Jackie Coogan, Ethel Clayton and Marion Davies. Others later included Clark Gable, the late Marie Dressler and Jean Harlow, Lionel Barrymore, Joan Crawford, and Jimmy Stewart.

Wood was born in Philadelphia the son of textile manufacturer William Wood. He was educated in public schools there, then set out for the West. He looked for gold in Colorado, shifted to California real estate in 1910 and tried to sell Cecil B. DeMille a lot.

He didn't, but DeMille gave him work in movie bit parts. In 1913 he became an assistant to DeMille and in 1916 was a director in his own right. Wood worked at various studios, in recent years at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer where this week he finished "Ambush" with Robert Taylor.

Wood is survived by his widow, Clara, with whom he celebrated their 41st wedding anniversary last month, and two daughters, Jean (Mrs. John Heistand) and Gloria, (Mrs. Hugh Marlowe) known professionally as actress K. T. Stevens.

Middlemen Accused In Food Price Probe

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa) said today that middlemen are keeping food prices up either through inefficiency or profit grabbing and "the situation should be remedied."

Gillette, opening a Senate food price inquiry, said that commodity prices recently declined 20 per cent but wholesale prices dropped only 10 per cent and the consumer at retail got only a three per cent reduction. He quoted a federal reserve official.

This is not a healthy sign, he said, "and means either that processors and distributors are inefficient in their operations or are exacting an inordinate profit." He said their costs are "obviously out of line."

One big middleman—the National Dairy Products Corp.—told the senators that its net profit last year was only 2.57 per cent of sales.

It was the first company heard from after Gillette's statement opened an inquiry by a Senate agriculture subcommittee, of which he is chairman. The committee is looking into the reasons for the big difference in prices at the farm and over the counter.

Couple Seriously Burned In Tavern Fire Near Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Sept. 22 (AP)—A tavern fire three miles west of here on U. S. highway 80 sent the proprietor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burris, both 31, to a Weatherford hospital, with serious burns shortly after midnight Wednesday.

A truckload of Weatherford residents, returning from night shift work at Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft corporation here rescued the couple and fought flames.

Senate Group To Push Action On International Wheat Pact

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. (AP)—A Senate agriculture subcomittee agreed today to seek fast action on a bill to put the international wheat agreement into force. The agreement itself was ratified by the Senate last June.

Farm organization spokesmen testified today, as administration witnesses had done earlier, that wheat and flour exports are lagging because of failure to enact legislation to give effect to the agreement.

The agreement guarantees the United States an export market for 168 million bushels of wheat annually for four years at fixed prices.

Victor Mature Ready To Settle Down After Month's Vacation; Gets New Starring Role

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 22 — Victor Mature had so much fun on his vacation at Del Mar, where he spent the month of August with his wife, that he is ready to settle down to work. I must say the former wild, reckless Mature is a happily married man. He has calmed down considerably.

20th Century-Fox has just bought a story for Vic, "Jump to the Moon," in which he plays a confederate officer. On Vic those clothes would look good. The story will be a Casey Robinson production in technicolor. The purchase of "Jump to the Moon" answers one question that has been in my mind for some time—what happened to Frank Nugent?

He is the co-author of "Jump to the Moon" with Curtis Kenyon. Maybe all that hate in Nugent's heart toward defenseless people who couldn't answer back, when he was on a newspaper, is less bitter now.

Briggs Gets Break

The break that Jackie Briggs has been looking for as a movie actor has come along. Ginger Rogers' ex-husband goes into "Carriage Entrance" with Ava Gardner and Robert Mitchum at RKO—and there is the possibility of other roles.

Jackie's opportunity happened this way: Robert Mitchum put in a plug for Briggs with Robert Sparks, producer of the movie. Sparks, in turn, spoke to his boss, Sid Rogell, executive producer, who gave his consent.

Now I hope Jackie cheers up and puts out that torch. Work is the best recipe I know for heartache trouble.

Dorothy McGuire Wanted

A long distance call to Dorothy McGuire from Leland Hayward will probably take her back to New York. Leland wants her for the lead in the new Garson Kanin play, "Rat Race." Dorothy is happily excited at the prospect.

"Cost of Living," the Sam Spiegel-John Huston picture for which Dorothy was mentioned, is not ready for the screen, so she, John Swope and the baby will probably go back to New York in answer to Leland's offer.

Who wouldn't want to be in a Leland Hayward play? That boy has had success—"South Pacific," "Mr. Roberts," etc.

Career Still Wanted

The trouble that brought about the Elliott Roosevelts' separation was Faye Emerson's refusal to give up her career. Elliott wants to have her stay put at Hyde Park, and Faye, who has real talent, no likee.

Teacher Risks Life To Stamp Out Fuse On Dynamite Stick

GLENDALE, Calif., Sept. 22 (U.P.)—Science teacher Albert E. Hewitt said today he "thought for a minute I was back in the South Pacific" when he risked his life to stamp out a sputtering dynamite fuse.

The fuse, burning toward a six-inch stick of dynamite, was ignited by a playful schoolboy in the Glendale High school basement "just for a kick."

"I was teaching a class of 30 students right above where the charge had been placed in a basement door," he said. "A woman teacher noticed it burning and called me. I grabbed it about a minute before it was set to blow."

Thought It Was Firecracker

A wirtime navy lieutenant commander, Hewitt thought the explosive was a firecracker before he stamped it out and examined it carefully.

"Then I noticed it was dynamite, and I felt a little weak for a minute," he said. "Some of that stuff caught fire once on my boat out in the southwest Pacific, and I got off with second and third degree burns. I'm mighty thankful I didn't get to this stick a minute later."

Police were questioning five teen-age youths from the school one of whom admitted planting the charge "just for a kick."

"We were just fooling around and it seemed to be a good idea to set off the stick of dynamite," the officers quoted 17-year-old John Allen Gilmore.

Gaines County Will Celebrate Harvest At Annual Fair Oct. 6-9

SEMINOLE, Sept. 22. (Special)—Seminole and Gaines county is expected to be dressed in Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes come October 6-7-8, the time set for the annual county fair.

This extra dress-up will be in celebration of Gaines county producing the largest harvest in the history of the county. The bumper harvest is due to the fact that thousands of acres of virgin soil has been placed in cultivation and under irrigation. Rains have also come at just the right times to make conditions ideal for crops.

Old timers here declared that range conditions are the best they have known them to be in the county. Winter pasturage in this area will also be the best ever because of this and because of a heavy acreage and yield in grain sorghums.

The Old Settlers Reunion will be held on Saturday, Oct. 8 as one of the features of this year's fair. Old timers from all over the area are to be the guests of the Fair association. An interesting program is being planned for them.

The fair catalogue, now being distributed, lists prizes for community exhibits, individual farm exhibits, livestock, poultry and rabbits. The women's deparument will show a wide variety of textiles, canned fruits and vegetables, jellies, preserves, pickles, culinery, flowers, antiques, art and hobbies

Texarkana Leads Texas Cities In Increased Postal Receipts

AUSTIN, Sept. 22. (AP)—Texarkana led Texas cities in a general postal receipts increase from July to August.

The bureau of business research said today the over-all jump in Texas was nine per cent. Texarkana's was 37 per cent.

August postal receipts were $982,439 in Dallas; $602,119 in Houston; $343,254 in Fort Worth; $158,194 in Austin and $126,306 in El Paso. Receipts for 64 Texas cities amounted to $3,636,086 in August, gaining 19 per cent from August a year ago.

Receipts rose from 36 per cent in Snyder and Childress, 35 per cent in Big Spring, 24 per cent in Sherman and 23 per cent in Henderson and Palestine.

Declines from July to August ranged from a fractional dip in Cleburne to a 25 per cent drop in Borger.

In comparison with August, 1948, outstanding gains were turned in by Snyder, 102 per cent; Big Spring, 41 per cent; Greenville, 40 per cent; Plainview, and El Paso, 33 per cent; Midland, 31 per cent and Childress, 30 per cent.

New York State has 62 counties, several of which outrank some states in population.

Tips for getting more warmth and pleasure from a wood-burning fireplace are supplied by foresters of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Ashes kept level with the andirons will provide a bed of glowing charcoal which helps to maintain a steady heat. The experts recommend using both split and whole round logs and both soft and hard wood for a fire. Split wood skindles rapidly; round logs keep fire burning steadily. Soft woods like pine make a quick, hot fire; hard woods burn longer.

China Blasts Russia Before UN

By PIERRE J. HUSS
INS Staff Correspondent

FLUSHING MEADOW, N. Y., Sept. 22.— Nationalist China accused the Soviet Union in the United Nations today of using the Chinese Communists to undermine the independence and integrity of China and destroy Far Eastern peace.

In one of the most outspoken indictments of Russia yet heard in the 59-nation General Assembly, chief delegate Tinfu F. Tsiang branded the Chinese Communists forces as agents of Soviet imperialism. He appealed to the assembly to heed "the storm that has reached my country and will soon reach other countries."

Stage Set For Debate

Tsiang said from the assembly rostrum:

"The Chinese Communist party is an integral part of the international Communist movement. It is as fanatical as Communists everywhere. Its propaganda is always in tune with Moscow propaganda. Its action is always in step with Moscow action."

Tsiang set the stage for the long-expected debate over the Far East between the Western Allies and the Soviet bloc which will be touched off tomorrow with a counter-blast by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky. Neither he nor U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson were present today.

Tsiang restricted himself to assailing Russia and the Communists, obviously leaving the door open to reaction from the delegations before filing official charges in the assembly against the Soviets.

It is understood on good authority that the United States, France and Britain urged him to "go slow" in raising the explosive issue at the UN. Soviet bloc sources already are shrugging it aside as "merely scraps of excerpts from the U. S. white paper on China."

Tsiang, speaking in Chinese, warned the world body that it cannot close its eyes to the Communist tide which, he declared, threatens to engulf all Asia. He drew greatest applause when he branded Communist leader Mao Tse Tung a false patriot and tool of Russia. On that point Tsiang said bitterly:

"Today, the real nature of Chinese Communism is plainly visible to all who wish to see. The strident voice of Mao Tse Tung tells the world that Chinese Communists are a new and mighty contingent in the armies of world revolution which is to spread to Southern Asia and finally to cover the whole world. In case of a third war, Communist China, according to Mao, will fight on the side of the Soviet Union.

"China today is fighting against this new evil as she fought 12 years ago, and for over eight years, against Japanese aggression. The present resistance of free China is as important as her resistance against Japan in World War II.

"Geography has placed China on the front lines of the world struggle. The ultimate outcome will decide not only the future of China but the future of many neighboring countries in South Asia as well as the future of the whole world."

Tsiang asserted that the Atlantic pact and Marshall plan have strengthened Europe against Communism but at the expense of the other part of the world. He stated:

"I ask the assembly to ponder over the present situation in the Far East and the grave dangers to world peace and security. I appeal to the assembly to be brave enough to embrace the vision of one indivisible world and not to retreat to the false illusory security of half a world."

Pound Devaluation To Bring Temporary Relief, Dean Says

WACO, Sept. 22 (AP)— Only temporary relief will be brought to England through devaluation of the pound, Dean A. S. Lang of the Baylor School of business predicted today.

"In times of monetary stress, devaluation of a monetary standard usually brings immediate though temporary relief," the dean said. "But devaluation provides no permanent solution to such a problem as concerns Britain."

When a motorist entered a suburb of Salisburg, Southern Rhodesia, recently, he had to stop suddenly near a bus terminal to avoid hitting a leopard in the road.

Motor Company To Display Two Lines Of 1950 Model Nash Airflyte Cars Here Today

New 1950 Nash Airflyte cars with many exclusive features will be on display at the Massey Motor company, 202 Broadway, today beginning at 8:30 a. m. and continuing through 7 p. m.

Two lines of the 1950 Nash cars will be offered, the Nash Statesman in the low medium-priced field and the Nash Ambassador with fully automatic shifting in the medium priced field. Two models, a four-door Ambassador, and a two-door Statesman, will be on display by Massey.

The Statesman replaces the "600" series with two and four-door sedans as well as a club coupe, available in standard-priced "super" and higher-priced "custom" models.

Reviewing highlights of the new Nash Airflyte cars, Floyd Massey, owner of the company, said: "We believe the 1950 models represent a new conception of motoring comfort. They are not only beautiful cars, but with aerodynamic design and a choice of three transmissions—Hydra-Matic "clutchless" shifting; automatic overdrive; or standard transmission—built-in twin beds and adjustable reclining seats, the 1950 Nash Airflytes offer driving pleasure, comfort, economy and safety not available in any other car."

Hydra-Matic Drive

Foremost among the mechanical improvement of the 1950 Nash Airflyte Ambassador models is the famed Hydra-Matic Drive combined with the Nash developed Selecto-lift starting offered as optional equipment. Operation of the Hydra-Matic requires only positioning of a forward or reverse direction selector lever and completely eliminates the clutch pedal. The new starter control, a feature exclusive with Nash, operates by lifting the Hydra-Matic selector lever and eliminates separate floor or instrument panel starting.

Standard on both new cars is the conventional transmission. In addition to the Hydra-Matic on the Ambassador, Nash also offers in both cars as alternate optional equipment the fuel-saving automatic overdrive, which gives four forward speeds, long a Nash feature.

The front end views of the new 1950 Nash Airflytes also emphasize their scientifically conceived aerodynamic design, comfort-creating width, and road-hugging, low center of gravity. Front and rear bumpers, with new and more massive bumper guards, follow the general streamlined styling and accentuate the aerodynamic lines of the new cars with curved contours that blend into the fender shapes to become an integral part of the cars.

Oil-Control Rings

New standards of riding comfort and safety are claimed by Nash engineers in the body-building methods they pioneered in developing the Airflyte. It features a built-in structural frame welded into a single steel unit of exceptional strength with shock cushioning distribution of weight. The all-steel bodies have box section sills for greater strength and rigidity. The Airflyte-type body, it is claimed, makes possible an exterior design offering less air resistance, with larger interiors, gasoline economy, and an automobile body unusually quiet and free of common squeaks and rattles. The 1950 models are 62 inches high and are 15½ inches wider than they are high.

Both cars feature frictionless soft coil springs on all four wheels, providing the finest suspension and roadability available.

The new Airflyte Ambassador is powered with an improved high compression 6-cylinder overhead valve engine developing 115 hp. It provides better performance and still better oil and fuel economy. It is designed to operate with a high degree of efficiency using "regular" gasoline. As an important new engine feature, the Ambassador and Statesman are equipped with "Seal-Flex" oil control piston rings (in the lowest of the 4-ring grooves).

The Nash Airflyte "Statesman" is powered by an L-head type, 6-cylinder 85-horsepower engine retaining the traditional Nash ("500") economy of more than 25 miles per gallon at average highway speeds.

Both Ambassador and Statesman engines literally "float" on vibration-absorbing rubber mounts for better performance and smoother ride.

Nash offers two types of interiors, Super and Custom in the Airflyte Ambassador and Statesman.

Both cars have increased rear windows 10 inches wider than 1949 models. Rear window glass area is now 717 square inches, an increase of 33 per cent.

Another new feature of the 1950 four-door sedans is wider entry through front and rear doors. All doors are hinged at the front for safety.

Utah Oil Well Comes Through For Jimmy Stewart, Partners

VERNAL, Utah, Sept. 22. (INS) —Screen star Jimmy Stewart received a belated wedding present today when an oil well in which he is a partner, gushed through with an 800-barrel-a-day flow near Vernal, Utah.

The well was brought in early today eight miles east of Vernal, and Stewart's partners, Robert F. Six and Johnny Myers, said it is the largest producer in the area.

Six is president of Continental Air lines, Denver; Myers is an associate of film producer Howard Hughes, Hollywood, Calif.

Spokesmen for Six, Stewart & Myers Co., said the oil was struck at 4,180 feet, and Kerr-McGee drilling company of Oklahoma City, Okla., had been drilling since Oct. 15, 1947, to reach the black gold.

$30,000 Damages Caused By Fort Worth Night Club Fire

FORT WORTH, Sept. 22 (U.P) — An early-morning three-alarm fire gutted and buckled the Starlite club on Jacksboro highway here today.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately determined, but a preliminary estimate of the damage was set by Fire Marshal C. C. Killian at $30,000.

The night club was owned and operated by J. W. (Bill) Jenkins, who was reported to be in Houston.

U. S. Defense Officials Blocked From Taking Advantage Of Move

BY FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. — U. S. Defense officials said today that their own dollar shortage makes it impossible for them to take advantage now of bargain counter prices for strategic materials resulting from sterling area currency devaluation.

Their dollar shortage is due to the fact that Congress has tied up funds for the goverement's stock-piling program. They will not be able to look at the bargains seriously, they said, until the appropriations log-jam is untangled.

Government economists explained that if the dollars were available larger quantities of rubber, tin, maganese, chrome, jute, and other defense-stockpile materials now could be acquired at bargain prices.

However, munitions board spokesman pointed out that the making of new long-term commitments for purchase of foreign materials has been at a virtual standstill since last spring because of a lack of funds.

The board officials said that since they do not have the power to make new long-term contracts it is impossible for them to encourage the overseas production and supply of desired amounts of important strategic commodities.

The situation was described as a roadblock against provision of more dollars to the sterling area, since the sales of such materials as rubber, tin and jute normally rank in topmost importance among exports from sterling-bloc countries to the U. S.

Government experts said they did not expect prices of strategic materials to be cut the full 30 per cent of the pound devaluation. One economist said the cut probably would be between 15 and 20 per cent for rubber and tin. Another, disagreeing, said it would be less, but enough to count.

The snarl developed from a battle in Congress over the defense-stock-piling program, which was authorized several years ago as a preparedness measure.

Congress in June tacked an appropriation and contract authorization of 835 million dollars for the stockpiling program on the Treasury-Post Office appropriation bill.

But the Senate in recent weeks has pegged a rider into the 14.7 billion dollar defense establishment appropriation bill to lop 275 million dollars off the 835 million dollars.

Board officials said the effect of this action is practically to paralyze plans for new long-term contracts, since the rest of the money was needed to carry on existing contracts and liquidate old ones. The defense appropriation bill has lain dormant while the House completed its 26-day vacation.

Geography lessons at Nottingham, England, now include airplane flights.

RAIL STOCKS LEAD MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 22. (AP)—Railway stocks were in front of a rising market today.

Gains for the carriers ranged to an extreme of 3 points. Generally the market was up fractions to around a point.

It was the second day that demand was stimulated by optimism regarding the changes for industrial peace.

Business was given another shot in the arm by word that the CIO United Steel workers had agreed to the President's plan for an extension of the truce under which the industry is now working.

Sales topped the 1,000,000-share level for the eighth session in a row. Turnover of 1,280,000 shares compared with 1,150,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .6 of one point to 65.3.

New highs for the year were established during the day by 52 stocks. Only 3 touched bottom for 1949.

In the past two days the market has regained all but a small part of the heavy losses of Monday and Tuesday.

Now the general level of prices is only a short distance from the crest of the market's summer rally which was touched Sept. 13.

Wall Street seems pretty well convinced that peaceful settlement of the steel pension controversy is in the cards. Sentiment over the chances that John L. Lewis and his soft coal miners will work out a contract with mine operators is almost as cheerful.

Nickel Plate R.R., a frequently volatile issue, jumped 3 points to 75¾. Santa Fe, in the upper price zone, gained 2¾ at 93½.

Higher in the utility section were American Telephone and International Telephone.

Steels didn't do much of anything, with U. S. Steel off ⅛ at 23 ¼. Bethlehem up ⅛ at 28⅜ and Republic ⅛ ahead at 20¾.

Also up were General Motors, Studebaker, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse Electric and Texas Co.

Montgomery Ward, which issued a highly unfavorable earnings statement this week, again had trouble, ending with a ½-point loss at 51½. Sears Roebuck lost ¼ at 41.

TELEVISION COSTS LOWERED

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Admiral Corporation announced today two new television receivers at lower prices. One, a table model, occupying about one and one-half square feet, will retail at $169.95. The other, a console set, will retail at $199.95. Both have 10 inch picture tubes and built in directional antennae.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 22 (AP)—Wheat futures prices strengthened in late trading today, largely reflecting firm prices in the Kansas City and Minneapolis futures markets.

September contracts of grains and lard moved erratically, since today was the last day for trading in September futures. Any September contracts remaining outstanding after the close of trading today must be settled by delivery of the actual grain.

The September corn contract dipped sharply at the finish and was 2 ⅞ to 3 ¾ below the previous close at $1.23-1.22. Other corn contracts were ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower.

Wheat closed ⅝ to 1 ¾ cent higher. September $2.10 ⅛-2.11, oats were ⅛ to 1 ⅛ up, September 67 ¼-68.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 22 (AP)—Wheat No. 1 hard 2.32-38.

Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs 2.15-21.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 (AP)—Cotton futures weer steady today in dull trading. Most traders were hesitant, pending action on farm legislation and ECA appropriations. Mill buying against textile sales was somewhat lighter than in recent sessions and hedge selling was limited. Evening-up operations in October and awitching operations in the other deliveries accounted for a good deal of the activity.

Cotton futures turned reactionary in late dealings on increased hedge selling and profit taking which met only scale down trade support. The market closed around the low for the day.

Futures closed 25 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher than the previous close.

Dallas Couple Held As Suspects In $11,000 Longview Gem Theft

LONGVIEW, Sept. 22. (AP)— Police said today they were certain a Dallas couple, held in the theft of $11,000 in jewels from a Longview shop, did not take the jewels from the place.

Officers added, however, that they suspect the man and woman may have planned the theft and are being held on suspicion. No charges have been filed.

Leonard Sosland of the Sosland diamond shop said a man and woman entered the store yesterday afternoon, inspected several trays and apparently placed a paper over the tray, removing the tray with the paper. Twelve platinum diamond dinner rings were missed later.

A WONDERFUL IDEA BY THE FOOD EDITORS OF McCALL'S MAGAZINE

So "fallish," so good, so right with your first sausage supper in September. We're talking of fried apples, naturally. McCall's cook them this way. Core 4 apples and cut in rings. Heat 2 tablespoons bacon or sausage drippings in skillet, add apples, cover and cook over low heat about 10 minutes or until tender. Take off lid, sprinkle with cinnamon and brown sugar. Cook a bit longer until golden brown.

HARDENED CRIMINALS FIND USE FOR TIME

Alcatraz Prisoners Make Good As Students Of Art; Paintings To Be Shown In San Francisco Display

By JANE COCHRAN
INS Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—The world's least likely artists inhabit an art colony flourishing in one of the world's least likely spots—21 of the nation's most notorious criminals turned artists in their cells in grim Alcatraz prison.

Paintings by a man serving an impossible 199 years, by murderers, kidnapers and train robbers will be exhibited in San Francisco's third civic art exhibition opening Sept. 29.

And the canvases are good enough to win this praise from noted artist Frank Bergmann, director of the San Francisco Art commission's show:

"The average of work of this group is much above the average of the more than 600 individual exhibitors we'll have in the show."

He said some demonstrate exceptional promise that can be brought out by more study and added:

"They have the time—they have an average of 32 years left to serve."

One exhibitor will be a man whose fingers were once known for their talent with a tommy-gun rather than a brush—John Paul Chase, "Baby Face" Nelson's first lieutenant. He is serving life for his part in the 1934 gun battle that took the lives of two FBI agents and Nelson.

Chase Is Ringleader

A former counterfeiter painted the leaves on a tree with the same meticulous attention he once gave to the lines of Hamilton's eyebrows on a phony $10 bill.

A man who killed an FBI agent specializes in horses' heads.

And the man serving 199 years seemed to have only one worry on his mind. He told art commission Secretary John Dyer:

"I've been very troubled lately. I can't get the shade of blue right for this landscape."

Chase, who was a ringleader in the 1936 Alcatraz mutiny, is a new ringleader. He was the first to take up painting and convince the toughest criminals of "The Rock" that it was not "sissy" stuff.

The idea originated with the prison's Catholic chaplain. Father Joseph Clark, shortly after the bloody rioting in May of 1946, and Warden Edwin B. Swope says it has done much to quiet down the prison—it has given a constructive interest to the sullen die-hards who sat brooding idly in their cells.

Artist Conducts Class

Father Clark persuaded George Harris, prominent San Francisco artist, to conduct a class once a week as mental therapy.

Derisive smiles greeted the suggestion—until Chase stepped forward. Soon 20 others were busy daubing away.

The men buy their own materials out of money they earn working in the prison's shops. They paint in their cells from an hour before darkness until "lights out" at 9:30 p.m.

Associate Warden Paul Madigan said:

"We stage occasional painting sessions in the cell house on Saturdays and Sundays," adding, with a smile, "there are no models."

Madigan said:

"This has helped the morale of the prison. It's a new outlet and an interest—something to occupy a man's mind. There's no doubt it has helped in the rehabilitation of the men. They feel they can accomplish something . . . it's an incentive.

"If we can take a problem case and give him an interest, we feel we have accomplished something."

Men May Sign Canvasses

Maximum security always has been the primary object on "The Rock" but recently rehabilitation has received more emphasis as has the improvement of the general atmosphere. Grim, battleship gray paint has given way to cheery yellow walls and cells have color in them. Talking now is permitted at meals.

Some 50 of the 219 convicts on Alcatraz island in San Francisco bay have an active interest in music, others in various hobbies.

News of the forthcoming exhibition in the outdoor exhibit in San Francisco's Union square—the only city-financed art exhibit in the country — has spread throughout the prison and was received with pride.

With the exception of Chase, no convict-artist has been identified in advance. But the men may sign their canvasses and the majority plan to do so. They have been told that it will mean publicity but Bergmann said they "take enough pride in their work to want to be known."

One convicted murder, however signed his only with initials in a tree in his landscape. And his perhaps is the most promising of the group.

There is no surrealism, no flights of outlandish fancy expressed in blobs of paint with weird titles among the convicts' paintings.

Bergmann said they are almost equally divided among very good primitives and those attempting professional standards.

He said the work is largely photographic in style, mostly landscapes but with a few nudes, portraits and prison scenes. Many are scenes of the San Francisco skyline painted from the memory they retained as the prison boat took them to Alcatraz. One man paints only what he can see from his cell windows.

Bergmann and Dyer journeyed to Alcatraz recently and chose 34 paintings for the exhibit. They met the artists standing near the easels displaying the paintings and, to their utter amazement they found the men—some of the most infamous criminals ever to grace a police record—actually shy.

They were eager for criticism and welcomed praise and then sought advice. They were also interested in that other matter of great concern—what price they should set on their work.

Bergmann said:

"The first one asked me and I said it was hard to advise—I might say too much or too little. He pressed the matter and I said $10 or $15. He seemed relieved and said: "Oh, I thought you'd say $2 or $3'."

LESSON TAUGHT

Hunters Seek Big Deer; Bag Cigar

CUCAMONGA, Calif., Sept. 22 (AP)—The routine goes like this:

The hunter levels his sights on the shoulder of a big six-point buck. He fires, and the rifle's crack is echoed with a pining "boing."

He goes up to investigate, finds he's shot a stuffed deer, with a gong in the shoulder. A cigar hangs from an antler as his reward.

Two ranchers, John Ingalls and Cliff Thomas, think its a swell gag. They claim no less than 60 nimrods have fallen victim thus far. But they point out that all of them have ignored "no hunting" and "no trespassing" signs to get in position for a shot.

To make a lemon frosting for the top of an 8-inch sponge cake, cream two table-spoons butter or margarine, beat in a cup of confectioners' sugar. (Be sure to sieve the sugar if it is at all lumpy.) Now add a tablespoon of lemon juice (the juice of half a small lemon is usually enough) and thin with a little cream. Sprinkle with finely chopped nutmeats after spreading over the top of the cake if desired; this amount of icing will not frost sides.

JUDGE TO STUDY MOTION

Big Spring Bank Robber Given Chance For New Trial At Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 22. (AP)—A convicted bank robber who studied law after he was sent to prison won a chance today for a new trial.

He is William Larry Martin, 30, convicted in 1948 of the $2,149 robbery of a Big Spring bank in 1947.

Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, who passed the original sentence of 15 years in Leavenworth, took under advisement Martin's motion today for a new trial.

Had Won New Hearing

Martin asked the new trial because his court-appointed counsel was not with him during the entire trial in 1948. Judge Davidson had previously denied a motion that the judgment be set aside on the same grounds, but Martin won a rehearing—that held today—from the Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

His court-appointed counsel last year was Mike McKool.

At opening of the hearing Judge Davidson made this statement:

"The question is did the court err in letting the lawyer, McKool be dismissed from the court at that time? The main question is, has the defendant been injured and could McKool have given him other service by remaining in the court room rather than being excused to go to the state court as he did?"

Not Advised Of Rights

Judge Davidson added that McKool handled the case in a "very lawyer-like way and should be commended since he was not getting any pay."

McKool testified at the Thursday hearing that he was not present when the verdict was returned by the jury.

Martin said on the witness stand that after the judge charged the jury, McKool said, "I'll see you later." J. P. Moseley, attorney named to represent Martin upheld him.

"Did you see him later?" Moseley asked Martin.

"Yes, about 16 months later," replied Martin. "McKool did not tell me he was withdrawing from the case. And I had no attorney to advise me of my rights when I came to hear the sentence. I had no attorney from then on. The court did not appoint me another lawyer."

Martin further testified Thursday that he was given no legal advice about an appeal, and he did not know he could get a new hearing.

Unruh Indicted On 13 Murder Charges

CAMDEN, N. J., Sept. 22 (AP) — A grand jury today indicted Howard Unruh, slayer of 13 persons in a 15-minute massacre, on 13 separate charges of murder.

The jury also indicted the ex-Army artilleryman on three counts of assault with intent to kill. These charges concerned victims of the shooting who survived bullets from a German Luger Unruh used in his slaughter on River road Sept. 6.

The 26-year-old Bible-reading veteran is now in New Jersey State hospital for the insane at Trenton where he is undergoing extensive psychiatric treatment.

The outcome of these tests will determine whether Unruh is sane or insane.

Grandmother Troubled By Wheelbarrow

Welcome 'Humiliaties' Woman Pushing Son Across Nation

By PAUL E. SVOBODA
United Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Julia St. Clair said today she received an "absolutely humiliating" welcome after pushing her seven-year-old son 1,400 miles in a wheelbarrow from Jacksonville, Fla.

The sun-bronzed 48-year-old grandmother who was "Miss Hungary of 1918" began the journey three months ago. She arrived last night, and said her troubles began about the time she reached Detroit's city limits.

Marriage Proposals Rejected

"The Detroit police made me push the wheelbarrow on the sidewalk instead of the street because I was holding up traffic," she said. "There were plenty of other places which gave me an escort."

Mrs. St. Clair, a short, muscular woman who "wore out 50 pairs of sox and turned down an even dozen marriage proposals" during the journey, said that was only the beginning of her difficulties.

She tried to push her wheelbarrow through the revolving doors of a fashionable hotel where she planned to stay. The wheelbarrow couldn't get through. And when she got inside, the hotel desk clerk was unable to find her a room.

Room Finally Found

Clad in a straw hat and pink shorts, Mrs. St. Clair and her son, Dolphie, trundled the wheelbarrow to a second hotel two blocks away with about 150 spectators tagging along. They had no better results there. At a third hotel they finally found a room.

Mrs. St. Clair said the idea for the trip came from Dolphie, who thought of it during a measles-induced delirium last spring.

Mrs. St. Clair talked by telephone with a daughter who lives here and said she sounded "delighted." But she wasn't too certain about her reception from other relatives.

She said she'll take Dolphie's advice if they don't want to see her.

"Dolphie told a lot of people on the highway to go to hell when they bothered us while we were resting," she explained.

She said she plans to write a book about her trip—"in the style of Ernie Pyl."

The Danish flag, a large white cross on a red field, is the oldest unchanged flag in existence.

Senate Group Okays Disability Pay Hike

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. (AP)—The Senate Finance committee approved a bill today which would boost payments to disabled veterans and to widows and children of veterans.

The increases, already approved by the House, are estimated to cost $112 million a year.

Major changes made in the present benefits would:

(1) Give World War I veterans 100 per cent disability payments for disability presumed to be connected with their war time service.

The present payment is 75 per cent.

(2) Increase payments to veterans suffering from tuberculosis.

At present, the law provides 100 per cent disability payments to veterans for six months after the tuberculosis is arrested. A 50 per cent rating is provided for the next four and one-half years and 30 per cent for the next five years.

The bill would give 100 per cent payments in such cases for two years, 50 per cent for four years, and 30 per cent for the next five years.

(3) Give war widows with one child increased compensation from $100 to $105 a month plus $25 for each additional child. The present payment for each child is $15.

The Communists' latest goal is control of Japan, Tokyo reports.

Texas Solons Protest Cottonseed Program

FORMER LUBBOCKITE INVITED TO FAIR — James J. Courtney, right, formerly of Lubbock, and now proprietor of a haberdashery in Hobbs, is invited to visit Lubbock again for the Panhandle-South Plains fair next week, as he accepts a placard for his window from "Cotton" Thompson, left, one of the boosters. Farmers Claimed Taking Losses

(Special To The Avalanche)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 — Texas congressmen joined with those of other cotton states this afternoon in a meeting to protest failure of the Department of Agriculture to buy cottonseed under its previously announced support program.

"The cottonseed support program just isn't working out, particularly for southwestern cotton farmers," Rep. Ken Regan of Midland, said.

Cong. Mahon On Committee

A committee appointed by Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.) will meet again Friday afternoon to work out a definite program of suggestions for agriculture's Production and Marketing officials to follow.

Named to the committee today were Sen. Tom Connally and Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock. Another Texas congressman is yet to be named.

Cottonseed is scheduled for support at $49.50 a ton, but southern farmers, failing to find sufficient storage space, have been selling cottonseed to the ginners or oil mills at $40 a ton.

The farmer would be faced with finding suitable storage if he took advantage of the government loan and obtained the $49.50 price, it was pointed out.

Rep. John Rankin (D-Miss) engaged in a hot debate with Ralph Trigg, administrator of the program.

Rankin, asking that cottonseed be supported at $55 a ton, said there was more food value in a bushel of cottonseed than in a bushel of wheat.

Term Suspended In Murder Case

A 99th district court jury, in a verdict reported a few minutes before noon Thursday to Judge G. V. Pardue, found Elias Garcia, 22 guilty of murder with malice in the Aug. 8 shotgun slaying of Antonio Urtado, jr., but recommended suspension of sentence.

Charles Adams, jr., was foreman.

The jury deliberated approximately 25 minutes before returning its verdict, court officials said.

Garcia Called "Gangster"

Judge Pardue's jury charge was read this morning. Arguments that followed centered on the issue of whether Garcia was justified in shooting Urtado in protection of his life and property. The defendant said he armed himself and approached Urtado, Urtado's brother Alfonso and another Latin American to ask questions after he had been informed by a relative that someone was about to effect entry of a house he had in the Mexican quarters and remove from it a girl who lived there.

The state characterized Garcia as a "gangster," recited how he had been in trouble with the law before, including a charge of assault with intent to rape the girl who lived in his hoouse, and sought to convince the jury the defendant and the girl were common law partners at the time of the shooting.

The firm of Berry and Ball represented the defendant. District Attorney Lloyd Croslin was assisted in trying the case for the state by Roy Carpenter, a special prosecutor employed by friends of the Urtados.

Completion of the trial concluded the criminal calendar for the week, and Judge Pardue dismissed the jury as he earlier had done the jury panel.

Drillstem Test Is Run On Gaines County Wildcat

Terry Field Extension Staked

A project to try to extend the Adair field in south Terry county has been staked by Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation as its No. 1 Carl Golden.

It will be 1,650 feet from east and 330 feet from south lines of section 7, block C-37, psl survey.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to 4,950 feet to test the San Andres pay section. Operations will begin at once.

This new exploration is about 13 miles south of Brownfield, and three-fourths of a mile northwest of the nearest production in the Adair field.

No shows of oil or gas were developed in a drillstem test of an oil-stained sand zone at 9,170,9,231 feet at Forest Oil Corporation and Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1-A Parmer County School Land fee, slated deep wildcat in Southeast Gaines County.

The tester was open for one hour. A 540-foot water blanket was used. There was a weak blow of air for a part of the period.

Recovery was the 540-foot water blanket and 300 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water. The project is to drill. deeper. It is contracted to dig to at least 15,000 feet—if it is necessary to go that deep—to explore the Ellenburger.

Location is 860 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of labor 12, league 317, Parmer County. School land.

A production test of a six-foot lime zone which was saturated with oil is to be undertaken shortly at Rogers Brothers and Stewart No. 1 Wahlenmaier. Central-South Crosby County wildcat.

The project is bottomed at 2,817 feet in Permian lime and has cemented a string of 7-inch casing at the top of the pay.

The rotary drilling rig is being moved out and a cable tool unit will be moved in to drill the plug and test the possible pay section.

Location is 330 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 3, block D-16, WTRR survey. It is about 20 miles north of Post.

To Start Drilling

Ted Weiner of Fort Worth and others are to start drilling soon on their No. 1 Moore Creek Missionary Baptist Church, 7,000-foot wildcat west of nearest production from the Canyon reef in the Kelly-Canyon field in Central-West Scurry County.

Projected depth will test the Canyon reef zone, with rotary tools.

The drillsite will be 208.335 feet from north and west lines of section 246, block 97, H&TC survey. That makes it eight miles west of Snyder.

A 7,200-foot exploration to test the Clear Fork has been staked in the Flanagan field of South-Central Gaines County by Shell Oil Company, Inc.

It is to be Shell's No. 4 W. L. Hawkins and will be located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey.

Rotary tools will be used to drill this venture.

The drillsite is 18 miles southwest of Seminole.

Humble Oil & Refining Company has completed its No. 2 Walker Huddleston in the Sharon Ridge Canyon field in Southwest Scurry County, about 14 miles southwest of Snyder.

The producer flowed 24 hours through a ¼-inch choke and made an initial production of 300.26 barrels of 45.1 gravity oil, No water was present. Gas-oil ratio was 905-1.

Production came from the open hole between 6,687 feet and 6,700 feet which was total depth. Production was natural.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,747 feet from east lines of

Mahon Appointed To Second Committee

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. (Special) — Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock today was named to his second important committee in two days, becoming a member of the Cotton States committee to work out a more effective program for the cotton seed price support program.

Yesterday, he was named to the Conference committee to consider House and Senate versions of the near $15 billion appropriations bill for the armed forces.

Mahon is the ranking Democratic member from the House on the joint Conference committee and will be the top House member when Rep. Clarence Cannon (D-Mo), chairman of the Appropriations committee, is absent.

His position on the Cotton States committee came after his efforts in getting the cotton seed support program put into operation through conferences with Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and other officials.

Phillips Refinery Returns To Production After Blast

BORGER, Sept. 22 (AP) — All but one unit of the explosion damaged Rice gasoline plant of the Phillips Petroleum company went back into operation today.

The plant is at Phillips. An explosion and fire there at 4:30 p.m yesterday injured six men slightly.

The company blamed the explosion on a ruptured butane gas line.

Unofficial reports last night listed the damage at about $1,000,000 but a company officer said it would be considerably less.

Finland will get $3,500,000 worth of coffee from Columbia in exchange for paper.

TRAIN SCHEDULE IS CHANGED

Postal Officials Sound Warning On Early Mailing Of Letters

Ten minutes delay in mailing a letter around 6 p.m. may mean a 24-hour delay in delivery of the letter to its destination if it is bound for any location south of Lubbock, Lubbock/postoffice officials said Thursday.

Letters must be mailed at least as early as between 5 and 6 p.m to be placed with southbound mail which must be delivered to the Santa Fe station by 6:30 p.m. to be placed on the southbound train leaving at 7 p.m.

Schedule Changes Noted

The announcement applies to mail addressed to Houston, San Antonio, Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Temple and any of the other Texas cities south of Lubbock and to mail bound for southeastern states. It does not apply to mail going northward, northeastward or westward.

Many persons accustomed to former train schedules are mailing letters after 6 p. m. Prior to change of schedule, the night southbound Santa Fe train left at 9:15 p. m.

Postmaster Amos H. Howard and Superintendent of Mail Ernest Ohnemus estimated an average of 2,000 letters is being mailed each night too late to be placed on the southbound train. Although such mail may be sent out of Lubbock on another route that night, it generally will not reach its destination until 24 hours later than if it were mailed before 6 p. m.

The postoffice officials encouraged early mailing, since all mail could not be processed if mailed a few minutes before 6 p. m. that business houses send mail to the postoffice several times during the day, and that business firms separate mail intended for local addresses and mail to be sent out of town.

Farmers Aided In Posting Labor Bond

The Lubbock Immigration office Thursday was assisting South Plains farmers in securing labor from Mexico, by giving aid in approving bonds necessary to obtain Mexican workers.

Area farmers had previously been forced to go to El Paso to post bond. Ralph Reed of El Paso, law instructor and temporary acting immigration inspector of the U. S. Immigration service, was in the Lubbock office Thursday and will be there again today. Some half dozen area farmers posted bond Thursday.

After Reed leaves, the Lubbock office will continue to help area farmers in posting bond. A minimum of $500 must be posted or $15 per worker if more than 33 workers are obtained, Reed said.

Unofficial information was received by Reed Thursday that workers will not be processed in the lower Rio Grande office at Harlingen for assignment to this area. El Paso has been furnishing most such workers.

SPECIAL SERVICES SCHEDULED

Jewish New Year Observance Will Start At Sunset Today

Observance of the Jewish New Year or Rosh Hashana will open at sunset today and will include three services at Congregational Shaareth Israel, Twenty-third and Ave. Q.

Rosh Hashana is scheduled Saturday, but in accordance with the traditional method of Jewish observance, the festival will begin at sunset the previous day and will be celebrated by the Reform Synagogue for one day and by Orthodox and Conservative Jews for two days.

It will mark the beginning of the year 5710 on the Jewish calendar.

Rabbi Julius Kerman will deliver a sermon on "Winning the Youth" at a service at 8 p. m. today, one on "The Saving Remnant" at 9:45 a. m. Saturday, and one on "Should Jerusalem be Iinternationalized?" at 9:45 a. m. Sunday.

Jewish students at Texas Technological college and Jewish soldiers are invited to attend, it was announced.

Originally the Hebrew New Year was an agricultural festival, marking the opening of the agricultural and economic year in Palestine which began in autumn, the time of gathering the harvest and sowing of seeds. It was celebrated by resting from labor, as it is today, and by offering of special sacrifices at the Temple in Jerusalem. It was distinguished from other holidays by blowing of the shofar, ram's horn, a custom which still prevails in the synagogue.

As the agricultural background disappeared from Jewish life, rabbinic authorities invested the festival with new meaning. It became a holiday commemorating the beginning of creation. The highest spiritualist ideals of Israel were expressed in the prayers composed by Jewish sages for the occasion. It was regarded by Jews as a time when God passes judgment upon all the inhabitants of the earth.

Emphasis is placed upon the idea that the New Year marks a season of self-examination, repentance and reconciliation of man with man, and man with God.

Most, if not all, the Lubbock stores operated by Jewish merchants will be closed.

PRIEST CLAIMED TO BE FASCIST

Wrather Strikes Opposition In Plan To Film Mindszenty Story

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 22 — Good friend of mine named Jack Wrather, who made some dough in erl and happens to be married to one of the best actresses in H'wood, has been trying to make a movie about something topical.

The topical topic is a priest named Mindszenty, the fellow who got arrested and tried not too long ago for acting (and speaking) about as you would act (and speak) if somebody with a gun told you how to vote, what you could not say hereafter, where you could go the rest of your life, and what you could do.

Objections Are Voiced

The blast came in pretty soon that the priest was a Fascist, a name which has meant—since the Cominform switch of 1945—one who raises in any way an objection to a system which deprives the individual of his right to live his own life, vote as he pleases, speak what is in his heart. The blast, so far as its propaganda aspects are concerned, was mainly in this country, which provides such rights.

Mrs. Roosevelt, whom I happen to like on many counts, was among those who joined in it. So were many others and their words, which got printed, outweighed the words of simple and knowing people whose lives were saved because this man had guts enough to hide them from the Nazis during the war. The Nazis put the priest in jail for such indignities to their phony dignity, and why they never got around to killing him is more than can be understood.

Wrather Tackles Movie

The man himself never asked for a motion picture of his experiences and might be offended if he knew one was being made. But that isn't the point. When one studio saw in his story the makings of a good celluloid it started on the job and announced the same. It was immediately swamped by vitriolic mail—most of it oddly similar—saying that the man was a Fascist and did not deserve a film. The company in question, fearful of "offending," dropped the production like a hot potato, if I may be granted a daring phrase.

Then Wrather picked it up, and when he announced that he had done so, he was swamped with posted scorn. But he doesn't scare easily, nor would you if you had his dough and his courage. The fellow has a pretty revolutionary idea: That he can film anything he darn well pleases to film and if anybody tries to tell him he can't—well, that whets his appetite to order the cameras to roll.

He and his associate bought a book from E. P. Dutton & Co., and the Overseas Press club, made up of stories about Russia written by working newspapermen and news hens who had for years worked there and—being back on home soil—could write as they saw. Their stories and Mindszenty's shocking trial were combined into a script by Emmet Lavery, and the movie is under way, with amassed ridicule being heaped upon it, though it follows fact as closely as the front pages of your newspaper.

Why would a top studio be scared away from this? Why must a fellow like Wrather be given any cause to wonder if he is blowing a couple of gushers on the production? Why don't more studios say "we are making this or that because we share freedom of speech and will not be intimidated by any organized mail campaign?" Question mark.

Seems to me the films should say pretty much what they please. To back down on such an obvious fraud as Mindszenty's trial—or the trial of any protestant or the murder of any Jew or atheist or agnostic—is weakness which cannot be condoned by a reading public which can get the same news from his paper or free radio.

The Lavery script happens to be much more than a routine Catholic protest against an iron-curtained world that has become as anti-Catholic as its counterpart, Hitlerism, was anti-Semitic. It is an accurate tale of what happened in Hungary—despite the promises made to UN and the victorious Allies—and which could happen anywhere else under the Communist rule.

But it is having its brains knocked out—this effort is—and why should we tolerate such things? Or recognize such obstructionism?

Oilmen Warned Against Drive To Limit Petroleum As Fuel

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22 (AP)— An oil company official warned oilmen here today to be on the lookout for campaigns to remove petroleum fuel products from competitive markets.

The official, R. B. Anderson of Vernon, Texas, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, came here for the 27th annual meeting of the Louisiana-Arkansas division of the association.

Anderson said in an interview that arguments for restrictions on the use of oil products for fuel have centered around statements that the supply is inadequate.

"This is actually a method by innuendo to keep oil out of competition with coal," he said.

JAPANESE REPARATIONS ASKED

Korean Ambassador Pleads For U. S. Economic, Military Help

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Korean Ambassador John M. Chang warned today that if his country fell into Communist hands it would make "war inevitable" in the Far East.

The slight, determined diplomat told a National Press club audience that he feels sure American force "will be thrown decisively against the spread of totalitarian aggression in that part of the world."

Pacific Alliance Urged

Chang pointed out that South Korea has one of the "best naval bases in the world," plus several important airfields. He said:

"With these key points in Communist hands, access to Japan would be so simple as to be inviting. Thus, Korea lost, can make war inevitable; Korea strengthened can help maintain peace for all men."

The ambasador urged:

1. A Pacific military alliance "at least as great as...an Atlantic pact in the West." He brushed aside western contentions that the Far Eastern peoples are still too disorganized or disunited by declaring "it must be considered that our disorganization and disunity can only be overcome by their opposites."

Military Aid Sought

2. Immediate U. S. economic and military aid. He declared "a fire is raging in the east and we feel it hot on our faces this day." A $150,000,000 appropriation is now pending in Congress.

3. Full reparations from Japan, which kept the Koreans so long enslaved. He said "we want our ships, our iron ore, our manganese, our timber, our gold, our objects of art, and an indefinite number of other things."

4. A "modern counterpart of Korea's original treaty of commerce and amity with the United States."

Chang told newsmen:

"You have learned from Japan that a strong force can strike from the east as well as the west."

As for immediate military aid he asserted:

"We in Korea are fighting the world battle to hold back the most dangerous aggressive force in our time. We need supplies. We need the subsistence with which to fight. We need the cheering word that our effort is integrated with the rest of the program around the world to achieve the same goal for which we strive."

Brazilian tire makers have set a 1949 goal of 1,200,000 tires and 900,000 tubes.

International Choir Of Wayland College To Present A Capella Music On Two-State Tour

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 22. (Special)—An extended tour through two states has been booked by Wayland college's new International choir, it was announced today by Director Shelby Collier.

Traditional a cappella music in full dress of tuxedoes and evening dresses followed by a program of foreign music, including Russian, Latvian, French, Spanish and Italian, will be rendered by the group in each town visited.

Extensive Tour Planned

The choir is scheduled for a 10-day tour of several New Mexico cities, including an appearance at the Baptist general convention in Santa Fe Oct. 26. That will be followed by appearances before a similar group in El Paso Nov. 2 and before the Texas Baptist student union convention in Dallas Nov. 4. Other Texas cities are also on the schedule.

"The International Choir was organized during the spring semester and will really begin work this semester," says Professor Collier. For their regular concerts they will give thirty-minute renditions of traditional a cappella music follwed by a program of foreign music in the costumes of the countries so represented. Solos, duets, trios, and quartets will also be included in this group. Miss Eulalia Burke, piano teacher, is accompanist, and a number of foreign students are outstanding in the choir.

Wayland's regular a cappella choir will produce the modern opera, "Down in the Valley," in February. Forty voices were chosen for it and 32 for the new group through auditions.

Judge Refuses To Block Mexican Project Planned By Houston Man

HOUSTON, Sept. 22 (AP)—District Judge Phil Woodruff has refused a temporary injunction that would prevent Carr W. Smith of Houston from carrying out a huge development of natural gas reserves in Mexico.

The judge said, in effect, that the plaintiffs were claiming rights in something which, although it may exist in the future, does not yet exist.

O. M. Berg, Kenneth Krahl and Mrs. Julia Mae Anderson, had petitioned the court yesterday to restrain Smith from continuing the Mexican development. They contended they stand to lose $10,000,000.

The testimony showed the Mexican presidential decree which would permit a proposed Mexican corporation to develop the country's gas resources, has not been signed and the corporation itself has not been formed.

Palmer Hutcheson, attorney for the plaintiffs, gave notice of appeal.

A "molasses craze" hit Johannesburg, South Africa, when word got around that some doctors had prescribed it for colitis and other abdominal ailments, and people began taking it as an elixir and cure-all—against the advice of most physicians.

Jury Dismissed In Federal Court

A petit jury panel was dismissed for the term by Federal Judge Joseph B. Dooley in U. S. District court Thursday after two weeks of hearing of civil cases.

Judge Dooley will hear non-jury cases the remainder of the September term.

In the final jury case, a directed verdict in favor of the government was returned in the suit of Mrs. Stella Graham et al versus the United States of America, involving a claim on national service life insurance.

Settlements Filed

Two settlements of compensation cases were filed Thursday. They were: H. W. Drinkard versus American Employers Insurance company, $5,000, for injuries received on an oil rig in Hale county; and W. E. Eggleston versus Business Men's Assurance company, $3,125.

A jury Wednesday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the government against Raymond Grindstaff in a Commodity Credit corporation suit involving 218 bales of cotton, but reported a hung jury in a decision on the government's case against W. L. Bailey and Jack Henry, Lubbock cotton men, involving a portion of the same cotton.

An instructed verdict was also returned for the government against J. P. Williams, involving 24 bales of cotton. The jury also reported itself hung in a cross action brought by Williams against Bailey and Henry.

The government brought the suit, alleging in its petition that the cotton involved, had been removed from Grindstaff's Morton cotton warehouses prior to two fires which destroyed two warehouses on April 6 and 8, 1941.

Presentation of testimony in the suit occupied Monday and Tuesday and the case went to the jury Wednesday noon after a morning of arguments.

Rio Grande Valley Is Invaded By Crickets

EDINBURG, Sept. 22. (U.P.) — Crickets by the thousands have invaded the lower Rio Grande valley.

The black little insects are spotted around the streets, on door facings and at windows of downtown shops. They're especially attracted by lights at night.

And with the coming of the crickets came the problem of what to do with them. So far, there's been more talk than action but indications are the crickets will be left to their fate with individual residents and business firms of the area.

They caught McAllen with its bug-killing machine broken down. The city normally sprays its streets and alleys every five days with a DDT solution. But its machine went on the blink last week and the crickets moved in.

The crickets don't chirp. They just sit around and eat—and are especially fond of expensive clothes.

Egypt is seeking an American firm to supply and erect a pumping station in Kafr el Zarat district to drain lands in the Menoufia during the flood season of the Nile.

Do You Really Want to Take Off That Ugly Fat?

Recently there has been a number of new reducing preparations on the market, some of them based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It is obvious that vitamins will not reduce the body weight, so one must depend on diet to reduce. But it is also obvious that one cannot go on a strenuous diet over a protracted period, and any weight lost will be restored if the former eating habits are gone back to.

So what to do? Well, here is a tip to you "overweight gals" who want to fight "the Battle of the Bulges" in a different way. Ask any well stocked Texas druggist for four ounces of Barcentrate. Mix with 12 ounces of grapefruit juice and take two tablespoonsful twice a day.

This preparation contains nothing harmful and the makers agree to refund your money on the very first bottle if it does not show you the way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves.

Barcentrate is low in cost and is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcentrate.

ATOMIC ATTACKS ARE FEARED

U. S. Agencies Study Proposal To Scatter Defense Production

BY FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. — A National Security Resources board official disclosed today that government agencies are at work on a plan to scater defense production as a safeguard against possible atomic attacks in case of war.

Richard C. Cooke, assistant to the NSRB production director, said the plan contemplates a many-sided aid program to small business. It will place as much defense output as possible in plants employing 500 workers or less located in cities of less than 50,000 population. He explained:

"The plan would involve the payment of premium prices to small concerns for things bought from them. Thus it would be a kind of subsidy to disperse production and increase our security."

Proposals under consideration would increase defense costs to some extent. For this reason, opposition has developed in the Defense establishment. NSRB officials contend that the plan is necessary defense insurance.

Cooke declared that the present system, by tending to concentrate production in a few large companies narrows the field of invention and eventually will lead to higher prices and thus increased costs.

He said that the law regulating government procurement probably would have to be changed before the program could be put into effect.

The present law provides that a "fair proportion" of government purchases should go to small business. But it also states that contracts shall be let to companies whose bid "is most advantageous to the government . . ."

Comptroller General Lindsay Warren has ruled in favor of the low bid and against proposals for awarding contracts to small companies when their bid is more than that of a large company.

Cooke commented that smaller concerns are obliged to employ "five percenters," who have been subjects of a Senate investigation, to give them any kind of break in the competition with larger concerns. These concerns, he pointed out, often employ large staffs of people to maintain direct contact with the government.

Unsettled as yet is the change in the law which would permit a portion of government purchases to be awarded to small companies.

Cooke said one proposal is that 25 or 30 per cent of the purchases of a particular article should be alloted to small concerns submitting the lowest bids in their group.

Another plan calls for decentralization of procurement through establishment of regional procurement offices around the country.

American Archbishop Claims St. Peter's Remains Found

ROME, Sept. 22 (AP)—An American archbishop's word that "the remains of St. Peter's body have been found" stirred Rome today.

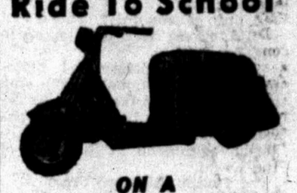

The most Rev. Joseph F. Rummell, archbishop of New Orleans, made the statement just before sailing aboard the Queen Mary from Southampton for New York.

But Vatican officialdom remained as silent as the tomb Pope Pius XII already has said "was and is" the place where the prince of apostles was laid to rest.

A Vatican press office spokesman said he could neither confirm nor deny that the remains had been found.

LEFT WINGERS SCORE VICTORY

United Electrical Workers Rap CIO Policies In Stormy Meet

CLEVELAND, Sept. 22 (AP)—The United Electrical Workers union is continuing its feud with the CIO over policy matters.

Delegates to the union's 14th convention late yesterday adopted a resolution criticizing CIO leadership. They also authorized the UEW executive board "to withhold per capita tax to the CIO for such time as it deems necessary for the protection of the interests of the UE."

This move came just before the delegates returned the union's leftist leadership to power, in a voting ratio of about three to two.

Left Wing Slate Wins

Incumbent President Albert J. Fitzgerald, 42, of Lynn, Mass., defeated his right wing opponent, Fred M. Kelley, 2,335 to 1,500. Kelley is business agent of Fitzgerald's own local in Lynn. Fitzgerald has been the union's president since 1941, when he defeated, James M. Carey, now CIO secretary-treasurer. As a delegate, Carey led a right-wing attempt to unseat the left wing officers.

For the job of secretary-treasurer, Julius Emspak, 44, of Tuckahoe, N. Y., defeated Michael Fitzpatrick of Pittsburgh 2,301 to 1,529. Emspak has held the post since the 600,000-member union was created in 1936.

James J. Matles of Brooklyn, N. Y., again was named organization director, a job he has held since the post was created in 1937. He defeated the right wing candidate, John Dollon of New York City, 2,340 to 1,519.

CIO Is Censured

It was by a similar margin that the convention adopted the resolution, sponsored by left-wing forces, censuring the CIO. The vote was 2,321 to 1,504.

This was interpreted as the union's answer to a demand from the CIO executive board last May that all left-wing unions fall into line with CIO policy or face disciplinary action when the CIO's national convention meets here Oct. 31.

The UEW resolution was headed "raiding and dictatorship in the CIO." It called on CIO President Philip Murray to stop raiding of the Electrical Workers union by other unions and their officers and organizers. It also asked assurance from Murray that CIO officers and agents would not interfere with the UEW's affairs. In addition, it asked Murray to give the UEW a detailed breakdown of CIO expenditures each month.

In adopting this resolution, the convention turned down another submitted by the right wing majority. It would have placed the UEW on record as approving the CIO's policies on political action, support of the Marshall plan, repeal of the Taft-Hartley act, support of the North Atlantic pact, and approval of the CIO's southern organizing drive.

During debate on the resolutions, Carey shouted: "I tell you, Fitzgerald, that you are not going to take the UE out of the CIO. And I tell you that the Communist party is not going to destroy the CIO."

Carey added, "We could have unity in the CIO today if we let the Cominform run our affairs."

Kelley declared that the resolution on withholding the per capita tax was "actually advocating secession" from the parent body.

Oklahoma Churches Asked To Stay Open During Liquor Vote

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 22 (U.P.)—An appeal went out to every church in Oklahoma today to keep its doors open Monday—the day before a special election on prohibition repeal which dry leaders have set aside as a day of fasting and prayer.

Rev. Roy S. Hollomon, executive secretary of the United Drys, asked the churches to remain open "so that as many people as can and wish to do so may go to church and ask God's help in the great battle that will be decided on the following day.

He called on "every Christian to devote this day to prayer and mediation, urging God's help to carry the fight against liquor's evils to a successful conclusion Sept. 27."

Magidoff Warns Knife And Fork Club Russians Have Intense Hatred Of Americans

Hatred of the United States and the people of this country which is borne by the Russians today is more fierce than the hatred of the Germans borne by the Russian people during and immediately following World War II, declared Robert Magidoff, author and former newspaper correspondent in the Soviet Union, last night at the dinner meeting of the Lubbock Knife and Fork club in Hilton hotel.

Magidoff said that the campaign of the Kremlin to instill hatred of Americans and their way of life into all Russians has been successfully perpetuated by a series of artfully-conceived "incidents" to foreigners in Russia particularly citizens of the United States.

Rigged Incidents Cited

One of such incident, he said, involved a foreigner who was accused of illegal dealings in currency. Others involved foreign newspaper correspondents. The result of these rigged incidents have caused the Russian people to think all foreigners are attempting an overthrow of the Soviet government.

Magidoff declared that after the end of the war in 1945, thousands of Red Army personnel—both men and women—entered Western Europe for the first time in their lives and had a chance to observe the workings of the democratic countries.

"They saw that they had been taught one great big lie," Magidoff said.

Because of the "very eloquent proof of the western standards of living," Magidoff declared, the Kremlin realized that if it was to stay in power it would have to build up a wall between Russia and its satellites and the rest of the world. Hence, the "Iron Curtain."

The new Comintern, to be known as the Cominform, was organized in the immediate post-war years for the purpose of coordinating the Communist parties of Europe and to see that orders of the Kremlin were carried out.

It is Magidoff's conviction that a stronger Yugoslavia, aided by United States dollars, will not be a threat to this country, even though Tito is an avowed Communist. However, the lecturer believes that the Tito rebellion constitutes a mortal threat to the Kremlin because it has created restlessness in other parts of Europe, including Poland and Czechoslovokia.

Sees No War

Further, Magidoff does not believe that war between Communist Russia and the democracies is likely. He gave the following reasons: First, that the Soviet Union cannot fight another war at this time even if she wanted to. Second, he declared, the Kremlin believes that the march of history is such that the world eventually will go over to Communism.

A third reason advanced by Magidoff is that "the weakest link in the Soviet chain is the low morale of the Russian people." Almost every Russian family lost at least one family member during the war, he pointed out.

"Our greatest problem is winning the cold war," Magidoff observed. "The United States has become a great revolutionary force by virtue of its own revolution in 1776."

He said that Americans do not realize that there are still millions of people in the world who are greatly moved by our Declaration of Independence.

"The democratic world is strong enough to help these oppressed people and to make a free world," Magidoff declared, "because a free world is not afraid of Communism."

HABIT FORMED

Dog Rejects Walk; Takes Cab Instead

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 22. (INS)—Some dog's lives are not so bad. Take the case of B-Bones, a creature of varied ancestry.

B-Bones never walks when he can take a cab. Whenever he decides it is time to go home, he prances over to a street corner, preferably a busy one—and waits.

Pretty soon, a Yellow cab stops. The driver opens the door and B-Bones is whisked home to the cab company garage.

Twenty-four Yellow cab drivers adopted the pooch a year ago. They got into the habit of providing him with free rides when he broke a leg six months later and could not get round too well.

Now, they say, it's just a habit.

British Air Fleet Balanced, Marshal Of RAF Says In U.S.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 22 (AP)—England's air fleet is balanced for fighter interception, range and strategic bombing, Lord Tedder, marshal of the RAF, said today. He was here to inspect Randolph Air Force base.

Lord Tedder smilingly refused to comment further on British Air power. "Beyond that it is a secret," he said.

Million-Dollar Fire Sweeps Through Denver Grain Elevator

DENVER Sept. 22. (INS)—Fire men and insurance adjusters tonight were investigating the damage caused by a million-dollar fire which swept through the Crescent flour mills grain elevator in Denver early today.

The four alarm blaze of undetermined origin destroyed more than a quarter-million dollars worth of wheat, stored in the 150,000-bushel grain elevator.

A night-side foreman discovered the blaze and turned in the alarm at 1:52 a.m. The night working crew was able to leave the building before the roaring flames seared through the rooms.

Firemen had the blaze controlled in nearly four hours.

The six-story structure was declared a total loss by officials of the Colorado Milling & Elevator Co., owners of the building.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 2 L. N. Perriman, on the northwest side of the North Snyder field, in North-Central Scurry County topped the Canyon reef at 6,950 feet, on an elevation of 2,563 feet.

According to some geologist that make it 40 feet high to the same company's No. 1 Perriman, a small producer from the lower Canyon, one-quarter of a mile to the north.

No. 2 Perriman is now bottomed at 7,060 feet in lime, and is running an electric log survey, preparatory to cementing casing and making production tests.

This setpout is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 438, block 97, H&TC survey.

Humble No. 1 Perriman is the fartherest out northwest producer from the Canyon in the North Snyder field and the No. 2 Perriman is also outside the heretofore proven area for that pool.

NEW CARS FIGURE IN ONE-FOURTH OF CRASHES

State Official Says Drop In Traffic Deaths May Be Offset By Accidents During Winter Months

BY DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 22. — Let's don't feel too gay about the decline in auto traffic deaths this year, a state police official warned today.

Highway deaths have dropped 12 per cent during the first eight months of 1949 compared with 1948, but the most dangerous months are still ahead.

The warning came from N. K. Woerner, chief of the Public Safety department's statistical division.

Woerner attributed the death decline to a combination of factors: A steady line of work in road engineering, constant education including school safety and driving courses, better enforcement and more driver supervision incident to a full-strength highway patrol for the first time in years.

Woerner exploded a theory that the increase in new cars has added to traffic safety.

The cold statistics he deals in shows that cars less than a year old are involved in 25 per cent of all accidents.

Winter Months Ahead

"We feel confident and cocky in a new car and therefore inclined to step on it," he said. "Driving that old, uncertain bus we are inclined to be more careful because we aren't sure it won't give away at some vital point."

The dangerous winter driving months are just ahead and they could quickly change the now-encouragaing death toll figures. The prospect of heavy holiday and football travel on slick roads through murky or icy weather keeps Woerner's fingers crossed.

His August roundup of facts and figures on driving gave these totals:

August 1949 deaths, 140. August 1948 deaths, 212. Killed the first eight months this year, 1,153, last year, 1,314 — decline 12 per cent.

Guard Is Skeptical Over Reporter's Effort To Leave Calling Card At President's House

By MARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22 — I gassed up the Austin and went over to the White House to pay my respects to the Trumans. Like it says in the social list of Washington, D.C., put out by Carolyn Hagner Shaw.

I am no one to kick protocol around. In Mrs. Shaw's social bible it says in verse 12 of the supplement:

"Cards should be left at the White House once a year. This is a mark of respect which should never be neglected."

Guard Is Skeptical

I am no neglecter. And the guard at the White House gate apparently is no reader, either. He never heard of the "regulations" for us social lions. He made me wheel around and park my midget on a side street.

"People generally send their chauffeurs in with calling cards, the guard said with a huff.

I had what was required by the rules. A married woman, Mrs. N. in this case leaves one card for the wife of the President. A man leaves a card for the President.

It cost a heap to have the cards printed, must to be proper, and I was going to leave them.

Protocol Important

I finally did. The guard, who said he would rather be dead than quoted, told me that a lot of other people do the same. That is—leave cards at the White House and also at Blair House, where Harry Truman hangs his hat while the workmen are de-termiting the timbers of the historic old presidential mansion.

And speaking of protocol, the rules are what you follow when you have any doings with the White House, according to Carolyn Shaw.

"Necessity of following protocol in Washington is of momentous importance," she says.

Who ranks whom is vastly important when one entertains officials of the government. The guard added his comment to this, too.

Personal friendships don't count —it's the rank of the guests which makes the difference.

Guests Deciding Factor

While the lecture was going on, I was holding the green social guide in one hand and the family calling cards in the other.

"Let me show you," said the guard, grabbing the book out of my fist without ceremony.

"Here it says: 'One's guests must be the deciding factor at all times. When there is doubt as to which of two people bears the higher rank, it is the better part of wisdom never to invite them at the same time.'

"And right here it says titles of nobility, unless accompanied by diplomatic or military rank, carry no claim to precedence in this country.'"

Use Of Names Explained

The guard was warming up and calling on his orders from memory rather than the book:

"And don't ever," he said, wagging a finger, "refer to the President as 'Harry' when speaking to him. He is 'Mister President.' And when you write to him it's 'My Dear Mr. President.' And never use his name when addressing the President alone, and only the surname is used when he and his wife are addressed together. The given names, or initials are never used. And who are you to be wasting my time, anyhow?"

The guard said I could leave my engraved cards with him.

"I'll see that the President gets 'em," he said. "Don't you worry. You'd better worry about that Austin of yours. The man's hangin' something on the doorknob."

It was a parking ticket.

BEACON OF HOPE

The UN Assembly

AGREEMENT seems to be virtually unanimous that the United Nation's organization has been a disappointment as an instrument to promote world peace and security. Agreement is equally general among thinking people that most of the disappointment, but not all of it, has been due to the wishful expectation that the UN might achieve the impossible.

But, disregarding the faults and failures of the organization, it offers some degree of reassurance that the UN still is in business and that its fourth General Assembly was convened this week with the representatives of 59 nations in attendance.

No one expects the sessions of the assembly will be harmonious. It is exceedingly doubtful whether much will be accomplished toward the solution of the many problems confronting and menacing the world.

But the UN Assembly provides the forum where those problems can, at least, be discussed. It is the one remaining meeting place where the Soviet East and the Democratic West are brought into contact with each other. While it gives the exponents of conflicting theories of government an opportunity to swing fists, it also offers the chance for them to shake hands.

The prospect now appears remote for any such handshaking soon. But it is encouraging, and it may be significant, that the nations of the East and West, although they growl at each other, still cling to their membership of the U. N.

They remain a part of the organization which, if properly used, might accomplish its intended missions of promoting peace and security. As long as the U. N. continues to function, there can be hope that the day will come when it can announce, "Missions accomplished."

County Tax Increase

FEW LUBBOCK residents and property owners are likely to be critical of the 2-cent increase in the county tax rate approved the other day by the County Commissioners' court.

The new rate of 72 cents on the $100 of assessed valuations is comparatively small, considering the low valuations of most of the property on which taxes are paid.

The County commission is confronted with problems similar to those faced by the Lubbock City commission — or by the governing body of any rapidly developing municipality or area. Population growth is continuing at a remarkable pace, creating urgent needs for many public improvements which require substantial outlays of ready cash.

Since no bond issue has been discussed, about the only way the County has of getting ready cash is through taxation. Under the circumstances, the Commissioners' court may have done pretty well to hold the tax increase to 2 cents.

It is to be hoped, however, that members of the court will display more consciousness of their appreciation of the fact that upwards of three-fourths of the taxes collected by the county will be paid by residents and property owners of the City of Lubbock.

A little more generosity by the county commissioners toward the City might win a friendlier acceptance of the increase. By the same token, the continuation of the county commission's usual tight-fistedness toward the City might find members of the County agency seeking City votes they won't get if they seek re-election next year.

"The world is fast becoming an antiquated planet," says an astronomer. Yes, it's high time we were trading it in for a late model with a lot of new gadgets, including built-in peace.

Man is that reputedly highly intelligent creature who cannot make a milk bottle cap that can scarcely be removed without the use of a jimmy and profanity.

All of us make mistakes. That's why all of us gossip and are gossiped about.

EMILY had taken to her bed since Gaynel had told her she was going to marry not Barry Bainbridge, but that outrageous young man without a penny to his name.

Dr. Carile said it was another attack of bronchitis after Gaynel discovered her mother was running a temperature. But Emily insisted it was nerves, with maybe a touch of heart in the bargain.

So Gaynel was obliged to break a date with Fritz, which was an important date, because he was going to Chicago for a week or so.

That night after Emily had gone to sleep, Gaynel slipped downstairs to the kitchen to fix herself a snack and almost collided with Denny in the kitchen.

"I sneaked in the side entrance," Denny admitted with a cocky grin.

"Sit down, Denny, I'll make you some coffee," Gaynel said. "Mother's in bed with bronchitis."

"Poor Emily. So delicate."

Denny rested his elbows on the kitchen table, holding his head. "Now I know a lady who's just as lovely to look at. But underneath, she's steel. Inflexible. Can't bend her, even. That's the reason, dear sister of mine, you find your young brother a bit piffed tonight."

"A bit piffed?" Gaynel was measuring coffee, not paying much attention to his soliloquy.

"Just a bit." Denny passed a hand over his brow. "You see, this lovely lady wouldn't listen to me. She insulted me, too, this evening. Like yourself. When I asked her to be my wife—"

"YOUR wife!" Gaynel gave him all of her attention now. She came over to him, shook him, so that he looked up. "What do you mean, Denny."

"My wife," Denny said. His handsome young face was flushed, but his expression was serious, somber even. "Didn't I just get through telling you I asked her?"

"Denny! You don't mean you really asked someone to marry you . . . You don't mean Mrs. Day do you Denny?" Gaynel shook him twice more.

"Don't shake me!" he protested. "My head's bad enough. Guess I did take one too many. But so would you after being insulted. Course I asked Mrs. Day to marry me." He straightened up now, of his own accord.

"Why shouldn't I ask her?" he asked. "She's the only woman I ever loved. This is the only time, I tell you, I ever asked a woman to marry me. I'm going to reform. I'm going to make good. I'm going to do a lot of things."

"Denny, talk serise—if you can. How could you think of asking anyone to marry you?" You haven't any money. You have other responsibilities here, though heaven knows you don't seem to realize them. You're always changing jobs."

"I never asked any woman before, I never kept any job before. Haven't I kept this one? Haven't I made good? This is the first time I've been piffed since I met Madeline."

Barry had said Mrs. Day would be a good influence for Denny.

"Did she refuse you?"

Gaynel recalled Barry's words now, with a tinge of irony. It was true Denny did seem to be sticking to his job, had not been drinking lately; but if he had serious intentions, Barry had reminded Gaynel that Madeline Day would have something to say.

"She laughed at me," Denny said. His head drooped; then came up with a jerk. "She says I'm too young."

"Bud Denny, she is older than you, isn't she?"

"What does it matter? I only know I love her. You don't know what it is to love someone, Sis."

Oh, don't I, Gaynel thought.

This was funny, almost laughable. When she had planned to tell Denny about Fritz, Denny had beat her to it.

"You must meet her, Sis," Denny was going on. "You'll like her. She'll like you. Barry's met her," Denny added. "He think's she's swell." Yes, Barry had made no effort to disguise the face he had liked Mrs. Day. "She liked him, too." Denny glowered; lost his bright mood. "Too well, darn it. I'm jealous as the devil, Sis."

* * *

"THIS may be the first time you ever asked anyone to be your wife," Gaynel said, rather sharply, "but do you realize, Denny, that you would be Mrs. Day's third husband?" She brought the coffee pot to the table, sat down opposite him.

"I'd be her thirty-first, if she'd have me," Denny said sorrowfully.

"You aren't doing much about it," she said, filling his cup for him. "Getting 'piffed,' as you call it. Whining."

"You'd get tight, too. If the person you love laughed at you. I'm gonna go to the dogs, drink myself to death."

"Drink your coffee now," Gaynel suggested dryly. "If I loved someone, and he turned me down, I'd fight for him." As she meant to fight for Fritz. Besides, if Mrs. Day could make Denny grow up, that would be something to be grateful to her for.

"You would!" A flicker of hope lightened Denny's dark eyes. He took a huge gulp of the steaming coffee. "That's what I'm gonna do, Sis. I'm glad now I told you about Madeline. I wasn't sure how you'd take it, you know. But I might have known you'd help me. Oh, Sis," his head went down between his hands on the table again, his body shook. "You can't know how I love her, Sis. If you did, if you loved someone like that, you'd understand. Maybe you wouldn't laugh . . ."

"I'm not laughing," Gaynel said He did not know how true that was.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

BEFORE you are half through reading this sentence there will be two more people on this earth than when you started it.

BRANDEIS

That is the rate at which the human race is increasing — two more every three seconds — and that is why the problems confronting us are ever increasing and ever becoming more difficult.

At present the scientific section of the United Nations is in session, and among the principal items on its agenda is the matter of feeding this ever-increasing world population.

Certainly, there aren't juicy steaks for everybody. Certainly, as you sit down to your fried chicken at dinner today—or at whatever else may make your mouth water—you may be sure that there are millions who will not have a crust of bread to eat.

How many of us appreciate the marvelous blessing we enjoy by living in the United States?

One of my fellow columnists who recently returned from England wrote rather facetiously that the English women are too thin and that it would take two of them to make an umbrella.

Not a single protest came from an American reader.

To the American readers it was a good joke.

Ha ha," they said, "isn't that clever—it takes two to make an umbrella."

But the English women were hurt.

"Do you think we are thin because we want to be" wrote one of them. "We are thin because we don't get enough to eat. We are thin because we can't eat ration cards or austerity.

"If we like you, could go to a butcher shop or to a restaurant and order as much for one meal as we now get for a whole week's or even month's supply, we'd be buxom and rosy-cheeked just like your women are."

The columnist acknowledged his faux pas and apologized.

IF TARIFFS LOWERED

Competition For U. S.

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It is extremely doubtful if even a handful of Congressmen appreciate the bread-and-butter, dollars-and-cents implications of the vast economic power they gave to President Truman when they extended his authority for further reductions of tariffs on foreign goods until June of 1951.

But should unemployment result from this generosity and from concessions given to the British during recent "dollar crisis" talks at Washington, as it already has in certain politically explosive industries, the M.C.'s may wake up to find that they have revived this supposedly dull and dead question as an emotional issue in 1950 and 1952 politics.

TUCKER

It is the kind of controversy which could make the rank-and-file of labor, forgetting the gains they have enjoyed from the Roosevelt-Truman regime, shift back to the old G.O.P. homestead to protect their jobs and markets.

FACTORS: Two factors known to only a few M.C.'s make this new grant one of the most sweeping in history. It can wipe out barriers which safeguard industries that provide employment to millions of workers.

Administration spokesmen argued that the bill simply permitted Mr. Truman to cut present duties by only 50 per cent. They neglected to explain that it empowered him to cut them below the 1945 rates.

But since the 1945 schedules already represented reductions of 50 per cent, that were made after enactment of the Reciprocal Trade Agreement law in 1934, any future cut on products already saddled with a 50 per cent reduction will enjoy protection of only 25 per cent.

DUPLICATE: Suppose, for instance, that the duty on a foreign article had been $1 a ton or gallon before the reciprocal program became effective. It was subsequently reduced by 50 per cent, or to 50 cents. Any further 50 per cent cut would bring the duty to only 25 per cent of the original dollar tariff.

It is obvious that there will be duplicate reductions because the original cut was made on products which foreign nations are supposed to manufacture more efficiently and economically than the United States.

TRADE: Nor do many members of House or Senate know what presidential use of this new and unprecedented grant of authority will be based on far-reaching agreements which only a few experts in this and other countries really grasp in their entirety.

The fundamental pacts and occasions for future tariff deals were negotiated at Geneva in 1947 and at Annecy, France, within the last few months. There were no Congressional observers or advisers at these conferences. It is doubtful if more than a score of members have seen or read these key documents.

The Geneva parley was the more important. It reduced tariffs on more than 45,000 items, accounting for two-thirds of the trade of the 23 participating nations. The U. S. obtained commercial concessions from 21 foreign countries, mostly small and unimportant trading units, however.

Here, for instance, are the countries with which we will make the first, new agreements under the recent action by Congrss: Denmark, Finland, Italy, Greece, Sweden, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Liberia, Uruguay and Nicaragua.

It is quite obvious that trade with those countries is going to benefit them, not us.

DEVALUATION: On the basis of 1939 prices and values, the United States won favorable export agreements at Geneva on products that would benefit our exporters to the amount of $1,192,000,000 annually. But we granted concessions which, on the 1939 basis, amount to $1,766,000,000 in annual imports —or a balance of almost $600,000,000 in favor of the other fellow.

With world recovery based on Marshall Plan and British dollar-crisis aid, foreign nations will be able to send us far more than they did in 1939. Many European nations were then beginning to make guns instead of exportable goods in anticipation of war.

Hitler's September invasion of Poland quickly dried up all foreign commerce. Prices on exportable American goods have risen by 75 per cent or more, making it difficult for foreign nations to buy here. We have agreed to permit England to spend Marshall dollars outside this country, further reducing our exports.

Devaluation of the pound and other foreign currencies now makes it even easier for foreign countries to sell their stuff here, with or without tariff cuts.

TABLES: Thus there is every reason to believe that, under new cuts and concessions to be granted by President Truman, the inward flow of competing goods will exceed the prewar total. The Annecy pacts, incidentally, underwrote and strengthened the Geneva exchange plan, to a degree which hardly any Congressman pretends to understand.

Moreover, the benefits of Reciprocal Trade agreements and the Anglo-American deals have not been limited to goods which do not compete with American-made products.

American goods bound to suffer most severely from all these arrangements are wheat, oil, canned meat, watches, shoes, textiles, toys, china ware, gloves, perfumery, wines, medical instruments and optical goods, bricks, lumber and cement, to mention only a few.

Tariff reductions on many of these articles will be announced within a few days. Anticipating favorable Congressional action, White House, State department and Tariff commission statisticians have prepared the tables of reduction in advance, believing that immediate announcement on the heels of the Anglo-Canadian-American dollar deals will have a favorable effect among our foreign allies in the "cold war" with Russia.

U.S. ACTIONS RECALLED

British In Bold Economic Step

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — In his clear and frank exposition of reasons for devaluation of the pound to the British people, Sir Stafford Cripps stated at one point his government's objectives for its people that recalled some episodes in our own recent past and have application to our own people today.

Incidentally, among minor parallels, the simplicity of the chancellor of the exchequer's language, his apt use of homey illustrations, was reminiscent of the first "fireside chat" of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, only a few hours after he had taken office in March, 1933, when he explained in an equally simple and effective way the reasons for closing the banks of the nation. The note of hope and the appeal for co-operation at a grim period were the same in each case.

STOKES

Economic Collapse Possible

Aside from this small matter of technique, the British finance minister compared the old and new ways of attacking grave national problems which has its echo in the conflict over political and economic philosophy that rages anew in our country today. After explaining how the pound was devalued to lower the price of British goods abroad so she can sell more and thus replenish her reserves and stabilize her financial position, he said:

"In the old days, this reduction in price would have been forced by creating unemployment and bankruptcy. The unemployed wouldn't have needed any imported materials, for they had no work; nor would they have been able to buy much food, for they had no wages. That would have reduced overseas expenditures. And when enough people were unemployed, fear and misery would have made it possible to cut down the general wage level, and bankruptcy would have forced cutting down of other industrial costs. In that way our goods would have become cheaper, and so we would eventually have got a great volume of sales.

"THERE can be no question of this government accepting such a policy. Our deepest conviction is that the productive powers of the whole people must be used t o the full and that poverty in the midst of plenty—no jobs, no wages, no goods for those who ask only for jobs to produce goods —must never return if anything that we can do will prevent it."

This recalls a conversation this reporter had with a British visitor during the dark but hopeful days of the first Roosevelt administration—back in 1934, it was —when we were doing many things under the bold leadership of Franklin D. Roosevelt to pull ourselves out of our own worst depression. The English visitor said, in effect:

"What you are doing interests me very much. I admire the way you are trying to reorganize your economy so that everybody is included in your plans. In England, we have just decided to set aside our unemployed, accept them, and tax ourselves to pay for them on the dole. You are trying to establish an economy that will give everybody a job and a chance. You are moving forward. We are static."

Many Oppose Changes

Much, of course, has happened since then. We did get lots done. The British now are trying to organize their economy to give everybody a job and a better break. The parallel drawn by Sir Stafford Cripps between the old and the new way applies also to our own history.

His phrase "poverty in the midst of plenty" was heard often here in emphasizing our own determination to reorganize our economy so such would not exist here. But there are still those who are wedded, figuratively, to the old way. They are busy again today, bitterly resisting the adustment to our own economy that was started in 1933, was interrupted by the war, and is being carried on again in the Truman program.

BRITISH toryism finally had to step aside by the will of the British people who went the whole route to Socialism. Our own tories use "socialism" among their scare words. They don't seem to realize that the surest way to bring about socialism here is to check our readjustment, a slow and gradual process, which is all that President Roosevelt, who was a confirmed capitalist, was trying to do, and all that Harry Truman likewise a confirmed capitalist, is trying to do.

None are, truly, so blind as those who won't see.

We don't have to go the route of England, but there are some things that we must do in our American way if we want to keep it.

Dallas Man Rewarded For Good Deed By Having Battery Stolen

DALLAS, Sept. 22. (AP)—A. S. Bradley of Dallas stopped his car last night to help two men in an automobile stalled by a dead battery.

His own car went dead as he tried to push the other. He walked two blocks to his home to get help.

Bradley returned to find the men in the stalled car had stolen the battery out of his car, put it in theirs, and driven merrily off.

LEOPOLD MAY GO FREE IN 1952

Illinois 'Thrill Slayer' Is Given Commutation For Malaria Work

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 22. (INS)—Governor Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois late today announced a commutation of sentence for "thrill slayer" Nathan Leopold, making him eligible for parole in January, 1953.

The governor issued his decision in an announcement which declared:

"The board of pardons unanimously favored a commutation of sentence but it had not been able to agree on the amount of the reduction."

Leopold applied for a reduction of his life sentence for the "thrill slaying" of Bobby Franks in Chicago, May 22, 1924 on the grounds that he had risked his life in malaria experiments during the war.

Trial Was Sensational

The governor's statement declared:

"Pursuant to suggestions from ex-Governor Green early in 1947, the parole board has given special consideration to prisoners who voluntarily participated in malaria research programs."

In a spectacular trial that rocked the nation, Leopold and his partner-in-crime, Richard Loeb, were convicted of slaying young Franks because they wished to prove themselves "supermen" in the tradition of the German philosopher Friedrick Wilhelm Nietzsche.

The trial, in the hot, muggy summer of 1924, matched the brilliant forensic talents of Clarence Darrow with those of the prosecutor, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe.

Leopold and Loeb entered a plea of guilty. An imposing array of phsychiatrists and alienists trooped to the stand to recommend and argue against mercy for the two killers.

Finally, on Sept. 10, they were sentenced to terms of 99 years in prison for kidnaping and life imprisonment for murder. The terms were to run concurrently.

Under these original sentences the pair would have been eligible for parole in 33 years—or in September, 1957.

Judge Gaverly took notice of the hue and cry over possible parole or pardon for the two killers two years after the trial. He said,

"Never parole them. That is what I said then (in passing sentence) and that is what I say now. There is only one place for such fiends—that is in prison."

Loeb Killed In Fight

Loeb was killed in the Stateville prison during a knife battle with a fellow convict.

Leopold became more and more studious after his imprisonment and turned to the study of many and varied subjects, bringing praise from specialists for his mastery of their fields.

He studied foreign languages, including Egyptian and Sanskrit; he took correspondence courses from the nation's top universities and even queried Albert Einstein about the fine points of his theory of relativity.

He ran the prison library and taught classes. He was described as a "model prisoner."

On Aug. 10, 1945, he was one of the 445 prisoners at Stateville to volunteer as a "guinea pig" in experiments seeking a cure for malaria.

Malaria Work Recognized

He was infected with malaria and treated with different drugs before the wondrous drug pentaquinine was discovered.

As a result of these experiments Leopold suffered a kidney infection which still plagues him.

The governor's statement took note of his heroism. It read in part:

"The commutation was recommended and is being made, pursuant to a program to reward prisoners who voluntarily risked their lives in malaria experiments."

And now, prisoner Nathan Leopold, one-time murderer, will have a chance to gain a free life in four years. His parole request will be acted on by a board at that time.

He has stated that if he is ever given his freedom he will leave America forever to do medical work in other lands.

Looking At Life

given us this day our daily bread—and, believe me, sometimes it wasn't much more than just bread.

How many of us say our prayers at meal time these days?

Or do we just take America's Horn of Plenty for granted? It seems that way if one inspects the average American garbage can, as a visiting Frenchman remarked the other day.

By the time you have gotten this far there will be about a hundred more people on earth than there were when you started to read this column.

Among them may be another Edison, another Eisenhower, another Shakespeare, another Beethoven—

By tonight there will be thousands more.

And for the sake of all of them let us pray that all of them will have their daily bread.

Fort Worth Church Rejects $1 Million Offer For Building

FORT WORTH, Sept. 22 (U.P.)—Trustees of the First Christian church have rejected a tentative offer of $1 million for the building and site in downtown Fort Worth it was revealed today.

Dan E. Lydick, church trustee, said the offer was made by a Fort Worth business firm through a realtor. Lydick said trustees decided against the offer after they found it would cost $1,800,000 to replace the building, exclusive of the site.

British newspapers got bigger allotments of newsprint effective January 1, 1949, and restrictions on sales were removed—so there now are papers for all, and bigger ones at that, London reports.
