FINISHING TOUCHES — John F. O'Leary, administrator of the Federal Energy Administration, puts the finishing touches on a billboard promoting energy conservation at the outset of the summer driving season in Washington today. The billboard, sponsored jointly by the Federal Energy Administration and the Outdoor Advertising Association of America is one of 6,000 which will appear around the country.

Congress knuckled under to oil, auto lobbies?

Carter slaps energy vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter accused Congress today of knuckling under to the oil and auto lobbies and said the American people will "be the ones to suffer...and the ones who will pay."

Carter's reaction to a series of votes by House panels that struck down key parts of his comprehensive energy plan was reported by White House Press Secretary Jody Powell.

Powell said angrily and sarcastically that a House Commerce subcommittee's approval Thursday of immediate and full decontrol of natural gas prices amounts to "a paltry $71 billion rip-off."

Referring to decontrol, Powell vowed that the administration will do its best "to kill the damn thing."

The subcommittee rejected Carter's plan for a phased removal of federal price controls from natural gas and voted to drop regulation entirely.

The House Ways and Means Committee killed Carter's standby gasoline tax Thursday, struck down his proposed tax rebate on high-mileage cars and put off any penalty taxes on gas guzzlers until the 1979 model year.

"The people of this country will be the ones to suffer if our hopes for an energy plan are thwarted," Powell quoted the President as saying. "They will be the ones to pay for yesterday's special-interest victories."

Powell said Carter was referring to oil companies, automobile manufacturers and their lobbies.

Powell said Carter is concerned that the congressional actions are evidence "of a trend in the Congress not to face up" to difficult energy decisions despite reports from the Congressional Budget Office and the General Accounting Office, which are congressional agencies, that the President's energy proposals should be strengthened, not weakened.

Carter's concern is focused specifcally on votes scheduled for next week on his proposals to increase the well head tax on oil and to require factories to convert from oil to coal.

"I can't see one good purpose in tossing around our vote counts," Powell said. "But I think we've got a tough fight on our hands."

The press secretary said the main responsibility for proposing alternatives to the President's dead proposals lies with the Congress that killed them.

But Powell said the administration, too, will try to come up with alternatives. He called it no easy task. Powell said it would be wrong to speculate that this meant Carter is about to propose rationing.

"Alternatives are to speak to members of Congress and to the American people to present the facts as he sees them," Powell said of one possible presidential move.

But he rejected suggestions that this meant Carter would "go over the heads of Congress to the people" to get his energy proposals passed. He said there are no plans for a presidential address to the nation.

"I can't this morning predict to you what is going to be the most productive route to pursue. I can't predict whether the most productive thing would be to remake the same proposals or whether it would be to try to come at it from a different direction," Powell said.

"We will probably re-evaluate our position when we get to the Senate," said Laurence Woodworth, Carter's assistant treasury secretary for tax policy, after watching the committee administer the first of the three defeats on Thursday.

365 Webb civilians looking for work

More than 365 civilian workers at Webb Air Force Base will soon be looking for civilian jobs in the Big Spring area.

To help them find work, Col. Harry Spannaus, wing commander at Webb, will be mailing out a letter to major firms in the Big Spring, Midland and Odessa areas telling employers that these people will be available.

The letter will urge that persons wanting to employ a Webb civilian should contact Chris Hines, civilian personnel representative at Webb, phone 267-2511, ext. 2215.

An Air Force spokesman Thursday urged Big Spring employes to go ahead and make contact with Miss Hines if they are interested in the skills which the civilian workers have to offer.

"They have various skills which are highly usable in the civilian economy," he said. Their work experience ranges from technicians, mechanics, engineers, electricians to personnel specialists, planners, accountants and laborers.

Of the permanent civilian force of 525 workers now at Webb, only 160 were offered consideration for jobs elsewhere, and all of them may not get jobs, the spokesman said.

This will leave at least 365 persons searching for work.

In Col. Spannaus' letter, he notes that there are many highly skilled civilians who will not continue their employment with the Federal Government because they do not wish to leave the area.

"We are trying to help these people find suitable employment while offering local employers the opportunity to benefit from their skills and talents," he said.

"If your company is interested and would furnish us a list of any positions for which you are currently recruiting, along with the name and telephone number of your personnel office contact, we will make the necessary arrangements for interviews with qualified applicants," the letter concluded.

Black coach charges discrimination

By BOB BURTON

Despite charges of discrimination levelled against Big Spring High School Athletic Director Don Robbins, the Big Spring Independent School District decided not to rehire James (Grif) Griffin, head basketball coach.

In its meeting Thursday afternoon, the Board held a hearing for Griffin before a vocal audience which indicated it believed that the Board wasn't paying the proper attention.

The meeting, chaired by Jim Bill Little in the absence of Board president Roy Watkins, was faced with the dual problem of considering Griffin's allegations of personal discrimination and fending off commentary from the audience.

In levelling those charges, Griffin offered two quotes he alleged were said by Robbins, although Griffin admitted he heard neither first-hand.

" 'If you're not a (derogatory term describing blacks), nine feet five inches tall, you shouldn't be playing basketball,' was what he said," alleged Griffin, "although later he said he used the word 'black'."

Later in the meeting, Griffin quoted Robbins as saying, of football player Tony Mann, "If Tony Mann's a halfback, then I'm a (derogatory term describing blacks) aviator."

Griffin told the Board at the beginning of the hearing that he felt he had been "treated unfairly and dealt with unjustly." Griffin also cited alleged actions by Robbins which he felt were unfair. Robbins, according to the coach, tried to take basketball players off the practice floor and convince them to play football. Robbins, according to Griffin, did not offer adequate assistance to the basketball program, forcing Griffin to handle the laundry and occasionally sweep the court floor. Griffin told the Board that in his absence his office had been cleaned out and his possessions left in the hall. Griffin also cited Robbins' reluctance to intervene when Griffin complained of a Big Spring father who, allegedly, burst into the locker room one half-time and verbally abused the coach in front of his team.

Griffin said he wanted to know why his contract had not been renewed. He said his coaching had been the best he could do, and that he felt his teaching performance had improved.

"I may have left the classroom," said Griffin, "but I'm not the only teacher who has done that. I have been called out of class to break up fights between blacks. I have had every black in the school in my classroom. If I was that bad, why wasn't I called in at the end of the 1st or 2nd quarter?

"If there are just reasons, I'd like to know them."

Interim Superintendent Lynn Hise told the Board that none of its actions was outside board policy. "I see no significant basis for the points Mr. Griffin has raised," he concluded.

GRIFFIN

At one point the audience applauded Air Force Sgt. Norm Lee who told the Board, "I fought in Viet Nam for people like you, but if I had it to do over again, I sure wouldn't. Lee then left the meeting.

"I respect Coach Robbins," said Griffin at one point, "that's more than he does me.

"If it's all that great in the athletic department here, then why are these people leaving?" Griffin named five coaches whom he said had left the system and told the Board others were looking.

After the Board returned from executive session, no motion to rehire Griffin was projected. Hise said later that the decision to not renew the contract was based on the recommendation of both the high school prinicipal, John Smith, and the athletic director. According to Hise, the reasons contained in that letter were based on both general and specific reasons.

"This was not, as he led you to believe, a recent decision," said Hise. "This was a long-range thing. Griffin was given time to improve."

Griffin had, according to administrative personnel, had as many as four conferences with former superintendent Emmett McKenzie during the past school year. Griffin also referred to several meetings between himself and principal John Smith.

According to Hise, Griffin can appeal the Board's decision to the Commissioner of Education, and from there to the Texas State Board of Education. From there his appeal could go to a civil court.

Griffin said he has had several job offers but added he did not know what he would do in the future.

Head coach did 'what was right'

Big Spring High School Athletic Director Don Robbins said today, "I've done what I felt was right in my recommendation."

Robbins was accused Thursday of discriminating against black basketball coach James Griffin, who's contract was not renewed for the next school year.

"I've worked with a lot of kids," said Robbins, "and there's a unique law in athletics — you don't judge them by race, creed, or color; you judge them by competition.

"This will just hurt the kids of the community," he offered.

Robbins said he had used the first quote attributed to him while in a closed coaching session. "I was upset with the play of the team on the game film," he said, "and I said it without any intent toward any kid or any black person alive. It was a poor choice of words, all I meant was that Tony was in the wrong position. He's one of our better ballplayers. But how can Griffin take it personally?"

The other quote, according to Robbins, was inacurate. "I was asked about pro basketball by two students," he said, "and I replied, "To play in the pros you've got to be at least six foot, nine inches or black.'

"I have never discouraged anyone from playing sports," he continued. "Because of our size here we can't afford to specialize like some other schools can. I encourage all our kids to take part in all programs."

Campaign for Chamber members set

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce will kick off its membership campaign with a breakfast at Coker's at 7 a.m. Monday, and end it at 5 p.m. Friday.

The membership drive promises to be the most intense, hard-hitting, and perhaps the shortest in the history of the Chamber of Commerce.

Heading up the campaign will be Bob Moore, chairman of the Ambassadors, and Richard Atkins, vice chairman.

So far, six teams of four members each will be competing for prizes and honors, in the meticulously planned campaign.

The campaigner selling the most memberships will win an eight-day vacation to Acapulco. The second high point award will be a microwave oven, courtesy of the Big Spring Hardware. The third high point award will be a television, courtesy of Montgomery Wards, and the fourth award will be the use of 1977 automobile for 30 days from Bill Pollard Chevrolet.

Cash rewards will also be given to high point winners at the close of each day of the campaign.

Any citizen who is interested in helping to develop the area is eligible to be a member of the Big Spring area Chamber of Commerce. The dues structure is designed to permit even the smallest business to be a member.

Chamber president, Roger Brown, expects several hundred to be enrolled. He said the broader base of membership will give us a really strong voice in influencing legislation and getting things done in our community. Prospective members of the chamber, numbering over 600, will be contacted.

"If you are in business in the Big Spring area and not presently a Chamber member, you can expect to be visited by one of the teams, said Brown.

Industrial prospects mailed Webb tabs

In an attempt to bring industrial growth to Big Spring, the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and Industrial Growth and Development has sent off 5,522 tabloids to potential industries as of noon today.

The tabloids give a description of Big Spring and the surrounding area and especially an accurate overall view of the facilities and buildings which will be available to industry at Webb A.F.B.

The prospects list came from the Texas Standard Industries Code, and included meat packers, cotton processors, farm machinery, aircraft companies, chemical manufacturers, metal fabricators, and 17 more specific industries which might have an interest in the Big Spring area.

Among the states where tabloids were mailed were, New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Maryland, Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota.

Along with the tabloids was sent a letter inviting the prospective industry to visit our land of S.O.P.H.E.R., (standing for the land of Sun, Opportunity, Profits, Hospitality, Energy, and Recreation).

The Chamber previously sent over 4,500 tabloids to potential industries on the Texas Industrial Commission prospect list.

The tabloids were produced by the Herald for the industrial project at no charge.

Gas price battle shifts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle over deregulating natural gas prices is shifting to the full House Commerce Committee with, as one congressman puts it, billions of dollars turning on every word in the proposal.

A commerce subcommittee voted narrowly Thursday to free new natural gas sales from federal controls, shunting aside President Carter's pricing plan.

Under the subcommittee plan, the price of natural gas pumped from new fields would be free of federal regulation.

Action/reaction: Federal money used

Q. Does the city administration use taxpayers' money to clear off personal property, such as an old vacated motel?

A. Federal funds, obtained through the Department of Housing and Urban Development under a community block funds grant are partially used for demolition of abandoned buildings with the approval of the owner, according to Paul Feazelle, city administrative assistant. At each town hall meeting, one of the main requests from the people attending was for the city to do something about tearing down old and unused buildings.

Offbeat: 'Foul ball'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Austin police screamed "foul ball" over the the new "deputies" on Travis County sheriff Raymond Frank's softball team.

Police thought three of the players on Frank's team in the annual statewide law enforcement officers tournament last weekend looked familiar.

They were. They were former Texas Longhorn baseball stars, including 1977 starters Rocky Thompson and outfielder Charlie Proske, who made a very un-sheriff-like diving, fingertip catch of a fly ball.

Police were incensed.

Frank said the players were not "illegally" on the field — he had deputized them prior to the game.

Police filed an objection afterwards but it wasn't necessary because they won the game, 7-2.

'It looks nice on you,' says Rosalynn

'We're wearing the same dress'

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — "We're wearing the same dress," Rosalynn Carter exclaimed as she shook hands with President Alfonso Lopez' stepsister.

"It looks nice on you," Mrs. Carter told Olga Samper at a reception Thursday night given by Colombia's First Lady, Cecilia Caballero de Lopez, at the presidential palace for the First Lady of the United States.

Mrs. Samper said she thought Mrs. Carter was "so nice, so young and so sweet" to make the comment.

The lines of the polyester-blend cocktail dresses were the same, but Mrs. Samper's was shrimp-colored and Mrs. Carter's was in aqua. The Colombian woman said she bought hers at a New York department store.

Mrs. Carter arrived in Bogota, the next-to-last stop on her Latin-American tour, to the least ceremonial reception of her trip. She was met at the airport by Mrs. Lopez and Foreign Minister Indalecio Lievano.

There were no national anthems played, no welcoming remarks and no honor guard. But Lievano said the reception was according to Colombian protocol for the wife of a chief of state.

Diplomatic sources said originally only Mrs. Lopez was to have gone to the airport. They said the foreign minister decided to go after hearing of the warm reception Mrs. Carter received in the other five countries she has visited.

The diplomats speculated that the government was displeased at the Carter Administration's proposal to name Jose Cabranes as ambassador to Colombia. There were reports that Cabranes was unacceptable to the Colombians, and U.S. officials said Carter has withdrawn his name from consideration.

There also was speculation that the Colombians were offended because President Carter had not come himself or sent Secretary of State Cyrus Vance.

Selling Carter on B1?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two critics of the much-debated B1 bomber project emerged from a meeting today with President Carter to say they feel he is definitely leaning toward at least limited production of the costly airplane.

Rep. Robert Drinan, D-Mass., told reporters that Carter made a cryptic reference to "secret information that he had not had before," which Drinan said he interpreted as an indication the President is preparing to make a case in behalf of the B1.

Rep. Ronald Dellums, D-Calif., agreed that Carter seemed likely to support at least part of the Air Force request for a $25 billion fleet of 244 B1s.

However, Sen. John Culver, D-Iowa, told reporters, "I don't think there's any way to tell which way he (Carter) is leaning."

Carter, a campaign year critic of the B1, reiterated to the congressional delegation that "my inclination is to announce my decision before the end of this month."

"Following this meeting, I will probably pretty much go into seclusion and study what the information is and make a decision," he said.

Drinan also reported that Carter, at a Cabinet Room session with more than a dozen Senate and House critics of the bomber, disclosed that Secretary of Defense Harold Brown favors the project. Dellums said he did not hear such a statement.

At the start of the meeting, Carter said he had received much information from Brown about the B1 and also had heard from congressional backers of the program.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., said he told Carter that the President's credibility is at stake in the decision.

"The point I stressed was that the nation's first line of defense is the credibility of its institutions and the credibility of its president," McGovern related.

Gas hikes said unjustified

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, said Thursday he has provided a House subcommittee with copies of a confidential accounting study which shows that high natural gas prices "simply cannot be justified by production costs."

Metzenbaum, in a news release issued by his Washington office, said the report presented to the House Energy and Power Subcommittee shows production costs for a major Gulf Oil Co. natural gas field will average less than 24 cents per thousand cubic feet (mcf) during a 26-year period ending in 1990.

The committee is holding hearings on the Carter Administration proposal to raise naturice contrices to $1.75 per mcf and a second proposal to lift price controls altogether.

"This study shows that raising the price of gas to $1.75 per mcf or higher will only result in two things—higher costs to the consumer and windfall profits for the natural gas producers," Metzenbaum said.

Metzenbaum said the report, conducted by the Price Waterhouse accounting firm in January 1976, followed a full audit of the Gulf Oil Co. Texas Eastern contract which runs from 1964 through 1990.

He noted that Price Waterhouse told Gulf that over the 26-year life of the contracts it will earn less than four cents profit per mcf, "yet that four cents will net the company, after all costs are paid, $190 million."

Local Kiwanis club names new officers

The first of four Big Spring Rodeo performances is scheduled that night in the Rodeo Bowl.

Joe Pickle was the principal speaker. He talked of incidents in the life of Capt. John Marcy, whose mission

Two new members were accepted by the club. They are Hugh Lee and Tom Baldorach.

Thugs may want to play house

Joe Robert Carroll, 1900 Sherwood Way, reported the loss of over $2,500 worth of building materials from the vacant lot on the 900 block of Gregg, sometime Wednesday night or early Thursday morning.

Mrs. Sue Washburn, 800 Creighton, reported the theft of her purse to police, and said that besides her identification cards, the handbag contained a diamond wedding set, a diamond dinner ring, and an antique Cameo, all worth in the area of $1,400.

Amy gets President's award

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the "President's Physical Fitness Awards" were handed out at Francis Junior High School, guess who was there to hand out the awards? Why, it was President Carter.

And guess who stepped up to receive the first award?

You've got it. Amy Carter, of course.

The awards at an end-of-term celebration were for a special program at Stevens Elementary School, which Amy attends. It was held in the nearby junior high school because the auditorium there was better.

The President and Amy's nurse, Mary Fitzpatrick, spent two hours at the school while Amy and other children performed skits and dances for parents. Rosalynn Carter, the President's wife, is on a goodwill tour of Latin America.

Reporters were excluded from the performance, but a White House aide said the awards were handed out in alphabetical order and 9-year-old Amy, wearing a green T-shirt and white shorts, got hers first.

Fyordorova visits Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Russian actress Victoria Fyodorova and her American husband, Frederick Pouy, are in Moscow on a visit everyone seems to know about despite its lack of notice in the Soviet press.

"A lot of people have called," she said Thursday. "People are really glad to see me..."

Never reported in the Soviet press, the marriage nonetheless seems well known in the world of artists and actors.

The dark-eyed Victoria, now a model for an American perfume company, left Russia two years ago to see her American father for the first time, met Pouy while in the United States, married him and now lives in Stamford, Conn., with the couple's year-old son.

They are in Moscow for a month's visit with her mother, Zoya, an actress whose affair 33 years ago with Jackson Tate, then a U.S. naval attache in Moscow, got him expelled and her sent to a labor camp for 8½ years.

Beatle gets divorce

LONDON (AP) — Former Beatle George Harrison's wife, Patti Boyd, has been granted an uncontested divorce.

Neither Harrison nor Miss Boyd appeared in court Thursday when Judge Albert Holdsworth ruled the marriage had broken down irretrievably because the couple had lived apart for at least two years.

Harrison married the former model in January 1966. They now live in separate London suburbs.

Sniper hits bus

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A roving sniper shot at a shuttle van, a Continental Trailways bus and a foreign car early this morning, wounding two persons before vanishing through a net of police officers.

Police said L. D. Gafford, 30, of Amarillo, a passenger in the van, was wounded in the shoulder. He was reported in satisfactory condition at Northwest Texas Hospital. Norman Keith, 49, of Amarillo, driver of the Continental Trailways bus, was taken to the hospital with glass fragments in his eyes after a bullet shattered the windshield of the bus.

The first shooting occurred shortly after midnight on U.S. 287 near the northern edge of Amarillo.

Police said a shot was fired at the shuttle van used to transport Colorado Interstate Gas Co. employes between home and work.

Narc, narc, who's there?

ENFIELD, Conn. (AP) — To many high school students, Police Sgt. Leo Arnone, head of Enfield's two-man narcotics squad, seems to be everywhere. He may be when a T-shirt bearing his image goes on sale.

The shirt first appeared last week and the muscular detective with the shaven head got one. He likes it. Under his picture on the shirt are the words: "Narc, Narc, who's there?"

The only above-ground outlet for the shirts is Peggy Cartwright, who is selling them for $4.50 each. She is very evasive about the T-shirt designer and who is making them.

She says the idea was hatched in "a spirit of fun" by several persons, including herself.

Gulf trying to muzzle uranium info

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Gulf Oil Corp. is trying to persuade House investigators to keep secret a nine-inch stack of documents allegedly proving the firm was at the center of an international cartel conspiring to boost uranium prices.

A company which builds nuclear power plants says that price-fixing activities of the alleged cartel helped drive the cost of uranium from $6 or $7 a pound in 1972 to $41 a pound.

A House subcommittee is holding a hearing today on Gulf's request that the documents be kept secret.

Gulf is being joined in its request by the government of Canada, which told the State Department that several documents are confidential records of the Canadian Department of Energy, Mines and Resources.

Canada claims the papers are protected by the Official Secrets Act.

Last month Gulf lost a fight in U.S. District Court here to keep the documents out of the hands of the investigations unit of the House Commerce Committee.

The documents were then in the possession of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., a manufacturer of nuclear power plants. The firm has accused the alleged cartel of engineering a seven-fold increase in the price of uranium, which prevented it from meeting delivery contracts at agreed prices.

In a hearing before U.S. District Court Judge George Hart last May 5, Westinghouse attorney William Jentes said the documents are "nothing more than the minutes of these conspiratorial get-togethers of the producers ... to fix the world price of uranium."

Although he was prevented from quoting from the documents, Jentes described them in some detail.

He said that in February 1972 major worldwide uranium producers met in Paris "to remedy this situation of over-supply and low prices."

He said the deal was made final at a meeting in Johannesburg, South Africa, in June 1972, when the producers "basically set a floor price for uranium which they thereafter, I might say, steadily raised."

Jentes gave these other details of the alleged scheme:

"They arrived at an elaborate allocation of the uranium market on a worldwide basis, they agreed to eliminate the competition of those that were not in the cartel arrangement, and that included Westinghouse.

Sporting goods store to open

Cleveland athletics, a new sporting goods store, opens its doors Monday at 215 Main in the downtown shopping area.

Owned by a corporation headed by Wilbur Cleveland of Plainview, the store manager will be Dick Helms of Plainview who moved to Big Spring this month.

Tom Koger, former coach at Big Spring High School, will serve as school sales representative for the firm for two months preparing for the opening.

Koger estimated that the Cleveland Athletic firm would open its doors with $75,000 to $100,000 worth of inventory for sports-minded West Texans.

The firm will handle all types of sporting goods for every sport from skiing to football and a wide range in between.

Helms moved here with his wife, Connie and their three-year-old son, Jason.

Koger and his wife, Nancy have three children, Shannon, 16; Shawn 14 and Phillip, 11.

Stallings installed as underwriters chief

Louis Stallings CLU, was installed as president of the ig Spring Association of Life Underwriters when their annual banquet was held Thursday at the Howard College banquet room.

The installation was carried out by John L. Murtha, CLU, president of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters, which is the largest life insurance trade organization in the state.

Other new officers installed include John Evans, vice president; Ray Wier, secretary treasurer; Bob Watlington, CLU of Snyder, outgoing president; Walter Stroup, CLU, and John Bennett, CLU, holdover directors; Ron Mason of Odessa and Joe Dunn, new directors.

Murtha pointed out to the club in his talk that "we need to keep in touch with our legislators, congressmen and senators. In this session of the legislature, there were 300 bills that affected insurance. It is hard to comprehend that so many can come up."

He pointed out that politicians must count on their consitutents to keep them abreast of the meaning of the bills since they face so many bills in so many fields.

He commented on the importance of confidence. He also stressed to the group to always keep in mind God, country, family and self.

He urged that they remember that "Success is a journey and not a destination." He also commented on the hurry-sell type insurance that is hurting both the public and the profession.

Stroup was introduced as having become a member of the Million Dollar Roundtable for the second year. The delegates to the state meeting will be Marlon Terrell and Watlington of Snyder; Mason and Stroup.

Wives of members were welcomed as special guests to the annual event.

Coahoma council to return $4,000

COAHOMA — The City of Coahoma will not build a swimming pool at this time, due to insufficient interest, according to a decision made by the city council Thursday night.

The council agreed to return the approximate $4,000 which had been donated toward a possible pool in the city.

They were attempting to raise $50,000 in a six-month period to match a $50,000 grant from the Department of Parks and Wildlife. Since they fell short of their goal, time was running out and a renewnal of the grant was impossible, the council canceled the project at this time.

City officials expressed the hope that they might approach it again in the future.

The city fathers officially recorded the platt on the Foster Addition which is west of town on both sides of IS 20.

The council also agreed to grant a 4 per cent increase on Cable TV service.

They discussed problems of the fire department and tabled action on them at this time.

Council members include Joe Swinney, Pete Banks, Ernest Richters, Melvin Dorn and Clifton Harrison.

Mental illness coming out of closet

An article appeared in the May 28 issue of the Abilene Reporter-News which involved the staff and operation of Big Spring State Hospital.

The news story followed a trip to the state hospital by a group of 24 Abilene persons who have members of their families in the Big Spring facility.

THE BUS TRIP was sponsored by the Abilene Association for Mental Health, and it turned out to be a most successful effort which apparently left the family members impressed with the hospital.

The family members also drew strength from each other as they made the trip.

"Over and over and over again, the question was, 'When can we do this again,' " said Mrs. Sharon George, the association's executive director.

"I guess I was impressed with the amount of bravery that was shown," she said, and added that she marveled at the ability of a mother of retarded children to "live with this . . . and not feel sorry for herself."

Mrs. George also said that members of different families comforted one another when a patient had not made progress.

This trip is noteworthy because it is part of the trend of families being able to deal with mental illness as frankly as they do other kinds.

Twenty years ago, it would have been difficult, if not impossible, to get 24 family members together for a trip to a mental hospital as a group. If it did happen, newspaper coverage would not have been considered.

Mental illness of any kind was an item that headed straight for the family closet, and it stayed put there if possible.

THE RETURN to mental health is very often a family problem, and some of the staff at Big Spring State Hospital have said in the past that a patient's home environment is often the major contributing factor to his problem.

Sometimes, especially with young people, the staff may actually be treating the least disturbed person in the family. Progress must be made with the family at home before the patient stands any reasonable chance of returning to a state of good mental health.

The Abilene Association of Mental Health wants to visit the state hospital again, perhaps as often as quarterly, the article said. The next trip is tentatively planned for the third Saturday in August.

It certainly is a good indication that people are developing better attitudes about mental illness.

Vicious circle?

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Extreme caution inside the Carter administration over Israel's new right-wing regime headed by Menahem Begin is clearly evidenced by the failure to invite Shmuel Katz, Begin's intimate political adviser and friend, to the White House during his recent visit to Washington.

A campaign to break down that caution and enlist President Carter as a full-fledged participant in traditional American-Israeli friendship is now at flood tide. But the gap is too broad for semantical bridging. Thus, some of Israel's most realistic backers here are looking to outside events — specifically, a reconciliation of Arab states with the Soviet Union — to push political opinion here back in Israel's direction.

ON A LENGTHY visit to the U.S. to whip up support for Begin, Katz used an emissary to sound out what would happen if he asked for an appointment with Dr. Zbigniew Brzezinski, Mr. Carter's national security aide. Pointedly, the chance to issue an invitation was passed up.

Although he is due back here shortly, Katz's first stopover did not lead to the White House. In fact, Brzezinski confided to intimates he did not know how he would react to a flat request from Katz. At any earlier time, the mere hint of a White House cold shoulder for the emissary of a prospective Israeli Prime Minister would have been unthinkable.

This understandable coolness stems from Begin's blunt post-election edict that the West Bank belongs to Israel. So, Israel's key backers here are beating a track into the White House on this errand: persuade Mr. Carter through his advisers and aides that Begin and his hawkish Likud party are really no different than outgoing Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin and the Labor party.

One leading pro-Israeli lobbyist has made no fewer than three visits to the White House (though none to see the President) since the Israeli election. His message is the one that Katz has been delivering here and in New York: Begin accepts United Nations Resolution 242, which calls for the return of "territories" (unspecified) captured by Israel in the six-day war, in exchange for real peace and for what the Israelis call "defendable" borders.

BEGIN IS portrayed as also accepting Mr. Carter's insistence on the return of all but "insubstantial" portions of the West Bank. He does so, Begin's agents here emphasize, because the President invariably adds that final borders must be a matter between the parties — Israel and the Arabs.

These semantical efforts to bridge the very wide gap between their President and Prime Minister will fall short. Jimmy Carter is the fourth President to take an ironclad position against any new Israeli settlements on the West Bank; Begin's first call after his election triumph was for "many" new Jewish settlements on the Arab West Bank.

So, political assets from events beyond the narrow Washington-Jerusalem channel are perceived by the pro-Israel bloc as essential to bridge the Carter-Begin gap, and the first may be the forthcoming meeting between Egyptian foreign minister Ismail Fahmy and Soviet foreign minister Andrei Gromyko.

THEIR MEETING suggests relations between Egypt and the Soviet Union are in for a major overhaul, perhaps the beginning of the end of the fractured period starting in 1972 when President Anwar Sadat kicked some 14,000 Soviet "advisers" out of Egypt.

Juvenile arthritis future good

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am writing in regards to my three-year-old granddaughter. She has been stricken with rheumatoid arthritis. She was given corticosteroids by mouth, then aspirin, but the aspirin doesn't agree with her. She got sick and had to give it up.

If she has bad luck with the knee healing, she will have to have a transplant. Where do they take this bone from? Is there a chance of her getting over this terrible disease? She rides her trike and seems happy. — Mrs. H.S.

Rheumatoid arthritis is generally thought of as an adult's disease, but it can occur in young children. In children it is called "Still's disease." I should discuss this briefly for other readers.

While the juvenile and adult forms are similar, there are some differences in symptoms. Still's disease often starts with a high fever, and there is listlessness, skin rash, and enlarged lymph nodes and spleen. One peculiar feature of the juvenile kind is a small chinbone (mandible). Another is an eye condition called "iridocylitis."

Treatment is similar to that for the adult form of arthritis — aspirin, steroids, or gold injections. There are new aspirin-like products on the market that might not cause nausea. Ask her doctor about them.

Your concern about bone transplant is premature. Various types of surgery may be necessary on a severely affected joint, but bone transplant is not one of them. Perhaps something has been lost "in translation" between the doctor, the parents, and yourself.

With medicine and physical therapy, about 80 per cent of youngsters recover. The tricycle riding is good, safe therapy, if her doctor approves. It allows effective use of both legs, thus helping eliminate any disproportionate growth of one over the other. My booklet, "How to Control Arthritis," might be helpful in further understanding of the problem. For a copy, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My mother lifted something heavy at work about seven months ago and the next day she went to a doctor, who told her she had angina pectoris. She changed doctors and the new one told her she has arthritis in the chest. Have you ever heard of this? — P.T.

You can get arthritis just about any place there are bones and joints. But that's not the point. With such widely varying diagnosis as angina and arthritis, I'd say she needs a third opinion, or at least have angina definitely ruled in or out. Tietze's syndrome is a cause of chest pain that could follow heavy lifting.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I find your column most educational. Now I need your help. My 11-year-old daughter has a lump on the side of her leg by her right knee. There was no bruise, just a lump and swelling. Our family doctor sent her to a bone specialist and he told us it was "exostosis." He said we could have it removed or watch its growth. He said there is no rush. Can you comment? — Mrs. N.P.

This is a growth from the outer portion of the bone that is probably covered with growing cartilage. It may result from an injury. It may be hereditary. You were wise to have it verified, although I agree that there is no need to rush things. It can be removed with minimum scarring and should not recur.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a senior in high school with a definite problem. I have excess black hair from my nostrils. I tried to tweeze, but my nostrils started to bleed. Is tweezing healthy? — M.M.

I don't advise plucking hair from nostrils. Have your mother snip them with a tiny pair of scissors.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I seem to recall reading somewhere, maybe in your column, that isometric exercises are not recommended for persons with high blood pressure or heart ailments. Is this true? — Mrs. F.E.

I have mentioned this. Best to stick with more traditional kinds of exercise in other condition.

Is angina pectoris dangerous? Is there a cure? If you would like to learn more about this heart condition, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Handle Angina Pectoris." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How long should it take for a fingernail to grow back after it falls off? — F.D.

About three months.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Acne is a terrible problem for anyone growing up. If you are afflicted with it, or have children who are, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Controlling Acne, Blackheads and Pimples." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: — Why are there so many denominations? Were there denominations in the New Testament? — E.G.

DEAR E.G.: No, there were no denominations as we know them today in New Testament times. We do read about Christians who tended to gather in little groups of their own, such as on Corinth (I Corinthians 1:10-17). Also, in many of the larger cities, Christians met in various groups, usually in private homes. But these were not really "denominations."

Denominations grew up for a variety of reasons, especially in the United States where there has been freedom of religious worship. Some started because of a common naitonal origin (such as a group of Christians from Germany or Scotland who settled in America and tended to stay together in their worship). Some started because of minor differences in interpretation of the Bible. Some (such as the Methodists with John Wesley) started because older groups were not providing the spiritual nurture necessary when people became Christians. And some started because it was more practical to establish a new organization to carry out the ministry of the Gospel, rather than rely on a distant organization.

I know it is easy to be confused by the differences, but all Christian denominations and groups agree on the basic facts of the Gospel — the sin of man, the work of God's only Son on the Cross, the necessity of repentance and holy living. While organizational unity may not be possible or desirable, we need to remember that "There is one body, and one Spirit, . . . One Lord, one faith, one baptism, One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all" (Ephesians 4:4-6). We must remember that all believers are part of the body of Christ. "So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another" (Romans 12:5). When we concentrate on the mission Christ has given to us, the differences between us will fade.

How effective?

Around the rim

Bob Burton

When District Judge Ralph Caton instructs a jury before it deliberates on a sentence, he tells members to decide on a penalty without anticipation of possible actions by the state; i.e. parole. The jury dutifully files into the jury room and finds a term it feels is fair for the crime. Members can weigh the evidence, the arguments, and their own beliefs.

UNFORTUNATELY, only 69 out of 4,248 prisoners released in Texas in 1976 served 100 per cent of their sentences. In other words, if a jury sentences a man to a prison term, it is without being told that he has only a 1.5 per cent chance of serving it. By far the largest portion of the prisoners are released through parole or pardon having served only 50 to 70 per cent of their full term.

Of the 4,248 released, 1,491 had previous convictions. 731 had more than one previous conviction. 2,279 were between 20 and 30 years old. 1,156 were convicted of burglary, 722 of narcotics, 611 of theft. 110 persons sentenced to life were released.

Perhaps I should be more specific. These facts come from the Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles' Twenty-Ninth Annual Statistical Report. It covers the fiscal year ending August 31, 1976.

The Board itself is made up of three members, appointed individually by the Governor, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and the Presiding Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, with two-thirds of the Senate concurring. The Board was created in 1936 by Article 4, section 11 of the Constitution for investigating and recommending parole action and the general administration of the parole system. The members of the Board are Clyde Whiteside, Paul Cromwell, and Selma Wells.

IF THE ABOVE figures need any justification, the only one offered by the release is as follows: "The cost of keeping an inmate in the Texas Department of Corrections is in excess of $1,898 per year, while the cost of parole supervision is $451 per parolee per year. Multiplied by thousands of parolees, the result is a savings of $12,989,719 tax dollars each year."

How effective is the system? According to another chart, 15,206 of the 60,683 inmates released in the past 29 years in Texas have been revoked and returned to the system. That's a success rate of 75 per cent. 9,661 are still on active parole, 35,816 have discharged their obligations.

But there are going to be some changes made. According to Cromwell, a new law awaiting Governor Dolph Briscoe's signature will mandate supervision of everyone who comes out of the prison system, whether on parole or on "good time".

Said Cromwell, "Our 75 per cent success rate in that chart does not include those people who are returned to prison after successfully discharging their obligations. Those figures would probably affect the overall rate about 10 per cent. Also, our success rate has been considerably higher in recent years than 29 years ago."

CROMWELL CONFIRMED, however, that the number of parolees across the state could be expected to rise in the future.

"It's rising now," he said. "We have put an additional 600 people on parole in the past few months. But the overall increase expected of about 45 per cent will be due to the increased supervision expected of the parole officers."

Local officials are not so charitable toward the system. Probation officer Guy Talbot called it "poorly supervised, inadequately staffed, with too large a case load." District Attorney Rick Hamby said, "It's too bad that the jury, when sentencing a criminal, doesn't know that he will probably beat them home."

Assistant District Attorney Don Richard pointed out that no facet of the system can be culled out for blame. "Informing the jury, the desire for rehabilitation, personal case-by-case supervision, they all have to be considered," he said. "I don't want to see our parole laws dictated by our prison capacity. I don't want the parole staff so undermanned that violators have to be flagrant to be caught. I don't want do-gooders to set up a system played better by hardcore criminals than by the people running the system."

The questions that need to be considered are these: Does the parole system (for that matter, the entire prison system) work well enough to sanction its existence? Does it do what it's intended to do (provide punishment, rehabilitation, and correction)? And is it fair, not only to the criminals, but to the segment of society more and more ignored today — the people who have done nothing wrong?

Carpentry facts

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Inside the Corinthian temple that houses the nation's highest court, the nine black-robed men behind the great mahogany bench are Olympian. Yet they are as vulnerable to petty larceny, apparently, as the lesser mortals who inhabit Washington.

The taxpayers provide the Supreme Court, for example, with a carpentry shop to repair the judicial furniture and maintain the woodwork. Some distinguished Justices are not above using the court carpenters, however, to handle their personal woodwork.

Under the direction of chief carpenter Edward F. Douglas, the official woodworkers have used the taxpayers' lumber and facilities to construct and repair furniture for the jurists. No less than white-maned Chief Justice Warren Burger himself has used the carpentry shop to make picture frames for his wife and her friends.

TAKEN SEPARATELY, the carpentry work done for individual Justices perhaps has been trivial. But there was an almighty uproar in Washington over a set of valances that FBI carpenters built for FBI chief Clarence Kelley. Supreme Court Justices presumably should be as pure as FBI directors.

We have been given several examples of the misuse of the court carpenters. Here are just a few cases that we have been able to confirm from independent witnesses:

—The carpentry shop personnel built a coffee table for Justice Harry Blackmun's wife. She purchased the mosiac topping, however, with her own money.

—When Justice William Brennan installed wall-to-wall carpeting in his home, he found that his doors were too long. Chief carpenter Douglas and a helper obligingly shortened the doors for him.

—The shop has built home bookcases for most of the Justices, ostensibly to hold their law books, thus giving this particular home carpentry quasi-official status.

—Before Justice William O. Douglas retired, court carpenters were sent to his home to cut down cabinets and fix some molding. Justice Douglas, it should be added is not related to carpenter Douglas.

—The chief carpenters constructed frames and mats for the personal pictures of the Chief Justice, his wife and friends. Later, carpenter Douglas wanted his son David to work for him in the carpentry shop. This sort of nepotism is forbidden by Civil Service regulations. Both Supreme Court Marshal Alfred Wong and personnel chief James Powers, therefore, refused to permit it. So Edward Douglas appealed to Chief Justice Burger who overruled the objections. Young David Douglas was quietly hired in violation of the Civil Service rules.

—What Edward Douglas has done for others he has also done for himself. Helping himself to the taxpayers' lumber, he has built a shelter and pier at his vacation place in Colonial Beach, Va.

We tried to discuss the carpentry scandal with the people whom our sources implicated. But if there's one thing the Supreme Court has learned from Watergate, it's how to stonewall.

We contacted the offices of everyone mentioned in our story. They either failed to return our calls or referred us to the court's public information officer, Barrett McGurn. He would say only that Edward Douglas had been a faithful employe of the court for 16 years, that his son David is on the payroll and that our charges are under study.

Then, with the finality of a Supreme Court ruling, McGurn refused further comment and wouldn't let us speak to anyone else.

FOOTNOTE: Our reporter Jonathan Bernstein, nevertheless, reached Edward Douglas at his home. The chief carpenter said he had spent his own time and used his own materials when he did work for the Justice. This is disputed, however, by other witnesses. He admitted that he had taken some timbers — "good for nothing but firewood," he said — from the court for his personal pier. He denied all the other charges and refused to comment about his son's employment.

WASHINGTON WHIRL — It looks as if President Carter is welshing on another campaign promise. He got the endorsement of the National Education Association last year by promising to form a separate Dept. of Education. This would have to be carved out of the present Health, Education and Welfare Dept., and HEW Secretary Joseph Califano doesn't want his empire broken up. He appears to have the ear of the president on this subject.

—THE CENSUS taker who knocks at your door in 1980 may be your friendly neighborhood postman. Every 10 years, 150,000 census takers swarm across America to make an official count of the population. But Rep. Tom Steed, D.-Okla., has spoken quietly to budget boss Bert Lance about letting the postmen conduct the census in 1980. Lance likes the idea.

LENORAH GIN
. . . meeting place

Lenorah is a little rural town on the highway between Big Spring and Andrews. It is not an incorporated city but during the cotton harvesting season, it's one of the busiest areas around.

The Lenorah cotton gin, operated by Smokey Greenhaw, is one of the busiest in Martin County and also serves during the harvest season and part of the rest of the year as an informal community center.

Farmers come in and play dominoes, drink a Coke and make their guess as to how many bales of cotton will be ginned there during the coming season.

Lenorah is a friendly, talkative little community where they like to discuss the weather and each other's families.

Rightfully, it is that way because it was named for a woman. Lenorah Epley, who owns and operates the Epley Abstract Company in Stanton is the person for whom the township and post office were named.

When you ask Lenorah Epley how old she is, she'll tell you — "Oh, in my 80s or thereabouts." The post office was named for her in 1920 when her husband, John was county and district clerk.

She recalls, "A Mr. Willingham was determined to get a post office out there. He would come to town and go through the clerk's list hunting for names of persons who lived on that mail route.

"I would help him look up the names and we would draw maps with roads and little squares for the houses and send the plan to Washington.

"We had to send several plans before we had enough persons to get a post office. I wanted Mr. Willingham to name the post office for his daughter, Cora, but he couldn't. There was already a post office in Texas named Cora Lee."

"I certainly was surprised when he named it after me," she added. "I never had a daughter — only a son, Filmore, who died in 1968. I guess that town is my daughter," she said.

Mrs. Epley, in turn, was nemed for the wife of her father's cattle partner. Her father was Mallard Hancock who moved to Martin county in the 80s, was in partnership with Andrews Briggs Robertson, a Colorado City cowman and banker.

Hancock moved back to Washington state where Lenorah was born. She was named Lenorah Briggs Hancock for both Mr. and Mrs. Robertson.

They moved back to Martin County and she has lived there ever since. Recently somebody reported she was residing in the nursing home.

"Oh," she said, "I went there a couple days before I was sick and there was nobody to take care of me, but I'm still busy running the abstract office."

The town of Lenorah has a recently new post office sporting the zip code number 79783.

Oilfield activity has picked up north of there with some Devonian wells and there are now some oilfield services in Lenorah. That and the cotton gins are their industry.

But then most West Texas towns are centered around agriculture and oil. Lenorah has less people than some areas — but they are a friendly bunch and they will really help each other out when necessary.

They live in a no-man's land surrounded by cotton fields and oil wells. And they can go into town in any direction they choose.

I kind of like those folks out there. I like to stop at the gin and visit. You can usually hear tales about Big Spring, Stanton, Lamesa and Andrews. They know everybody around.

But then the place was named for a friendly woman, so why shouldn't Lenorah be friendly — out where I'm ridin' fence.

Fan mishap may force recall

DETROIT (AP) — Prompted by the death of a mechanic, a federal safety agency has stepped up its investigation of faulty fan blades that could result in the recall of 6.2 million Ford Motor Co. cars and trucks.

Such a recall would be the second largest in history.

The mechanic, Roger Keyes, 24, of Rockwood, Mich., was injured May 22 in a Detroit garage when the fan broke on the 1972 Ford Torino he was repairing, said the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. He died last Saturday.

Ford spokesmen said Thursday they knew of the death only after being contacted by a reporter.

A neighbor said Keyes was at work when "the fan broke and caught him through the chest and throat."

Joan Claybrook, head of the NHTSA, has said the incident "shows the urgent necessity of an immediate recall." She called it a "severe problem."

Last week, the NHTSA said it was considering recalling up to 6.2 million 1970-77 model Ford cars and light trucks because the engine cooling fan blades could break off and injure someone working under the hood.

Ms. Claybrook said Ford had reported 185 complaints, including 13 reports of injuries, to the traffic safety administration.

Ford previously agreed to a voluntary recall of 425,000 vehicles, all of them 1972 models. The company said fans from other model years do not pose a safety hazard.

Specific vehicles involved in the voluntary recall are Lincolns, Ford Torinos and Mercury Montegos with 302-, 351-and 400-cubic inch engines and air conditioning. The fans in question have seven blades, compared with five-blade fans in other vehicles.

Soviets show no signs of reneging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a bumper grain crop of its own in the works, the Soviet Union shows no sign of reneging on its five-year agreement to buy a minimum amount of wheat and corn from the United States, says Deputy Secretary of Agriculture John White.

Asked if the huge Soviet crop has produced signals that Moscow might want to slip out of the agreement, White replied, "None whatsoever."

The Agriculture Department this week estimated 1977 Russian grain output at 215 million metric tons, only 4 per cent less than last year's record of 223.8 million tons. A metric ton is 2,205 pounds.

White said Thursday that while he stands by USDA's estimate of Soviet production, "Their situation can change faster than anybody's in the world" and this summer's weather will determine the final output.

The United States also is headed for another bumper wheat crop, the third in succesion of more than two billion bushels, according to current USDA estimates. As a result, the U.S. wheat surplus is rising and farm prices have dropped sharply.

After the Soviet harvest shrank as the result of a drought two years ago, Moscow turned to the U.S. market for large quantities of grain. This led to a five-year agreement under which Russia agreed to buy a minimum of six million tons of wheat and corn annually, beginning last Oct. 1.

The Soviets have purchased slightly more than the minimum in the current year but there has been some concern that they might want to alter the agreement in view of the huge 1976 harvest and prospects for a bumper 1977 crop.

"They're pretty smart and they're not going to jeopardize a source of supply over a period of years because in two years they can put together two pretty good crops back to back. That's not in their best interests," White said.

"They're not going to buy it from us to do us a favor," he said. "But they are going to protect a good source of supply."

The department issued a report later Thursday which showed that the U.S. wheat stockpile probably will continue to grow in the coming year.

Referendum registration

The Howard County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service reminds all beef producers that the beef referendum registration will continue through June 17.

In order to vote, any eligible producer must first register during this period of registration.

Eligibility requirements are that any person must have owned one or more cattle during the 1976 calendar year.

This includes 4-H or FFA project cattle. The voting period will follow the registration period beginning July 5 and extending until July 15.

Aerial spraying information

Aerial spraying is a practical and economical way of brush control, according to officials from the local soil conservation office. Application should begin when trees are in full foliage. This usually occurs between 40 and 90 days after the first leaves appear. "This year, application times will range from May 14 to July 4," the SCS office states.

"Spraying should be delayed until wind and temperature conditions are favorable. Wind velocity should not exceed 10 mph while air temperature should not be higher than 90 degrees F. Soil temperature should have reached at least 75 degrees F at a 12 feet depth," SCS officials point out.

Costs for spraying range from $4 to $6 per acre. The ASCS office provides a cost share under the ACP (Agricultural Conservation Program) of $2.50 per acre. Check with your local ASCS or SCS office for more information.

GOING TO THE TOP — 8-month-old Ryan Hawkins hangs onto the steps of a ladder as he carefully goes for the top at the Boca Raton, Fla., diaper gym.

Babies learn exercise in diaper gym concept

BOCA RATON, Fla. — Tracy Bauman can negotiate the balance beam as gracefully as a gymnast now that she's been visiting the YMCA gym two mornings a weel.

What's special about Tracy is that she's 3 years old, and — on her good days — the tiny athlete is the star of the Diaper Gym, a new concept in exercising babies.

Diaper Gym, equipped with trampolines, ladders, balance beams and mats, has been open at the Boca Raton YMCA only three months, but the program has been speading to Y's around the country since the first Diaper Gym opened in Detroit in 1960.

Detroit enrolls babies at 3 months; Chicago takes them at 9 months, Boca Raton took a 1-month-old child, and instructors in Durham, N.H., go right into homes to start teaching swimming to newborns as young as 24 hours old.

"The baby age is in," says child expert Bonnie Prudden, who started exercising babies 17 years ago.

Mrs. Prudden, who operates the Bonnie Prudden Institute for Physical Fitness in Boston, said she stumbled across the idea that children would benefit from exercise in the early 1940s when her newborn baby fell into a pool and came up smiling.

By 1960 she said the YMCA in Detroit agreed to add a child exercise program.

"They got a baby, got a mommy, got a pretty instructor and called the Detroit Press. Everybody knows dogs and babies will steal any show, and that's how it got started," said Mrs. Prudden, who trains instructors to teach her exercise programs at Y's around the nation.

The object of exercising babies, according to instructor Roger Hawkins at the Boca Raton YMCA, is to improve coordination and development of the child's nervous system. He said he saw the need for exercising babies when he noticed lack of coordination among his 4 and 5 year olds.

Babies are accompained by their mothers during their workouts. Mothers guide their children through hanging tire tubes, up ladders, across balance beams and over stacked blocks.

Quality better

COLLEGE STATION — Fresh vegetable quality and prices are better overall, fruit counters offer reasonable prices in spite of "slim pickin's," and beef prices are slightly higher at Texas grocery markets this week, according to Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt.

The consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System reports the buying situation as follows:

FRESH VEGETABLES

Onions and soft-shell squash supplies have increased, prices a bit lower. Head lettuce quality good, prices low. Escarole, endive on plentiful list.

FRESH FRUIT

Fresh fruit counters are seeing their "in-between" season, and old stocks are in light supply — but prices are moderate.

Let Him Shoot Solo

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been having a little domestic trouble, so I finally got him to go to a marriage counselor with me. We were advised to take an interest in each other's hobbies. Well, I'm trying, but it makes me sick to go down to the city dump and shoot rats.

My husband gets into training for deer hunting this way, and that's how he spends every spare minute.

Abby, do I have to go along and join him in this sickening sport? I haven't got the heart for it.

GREG'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You not only haven't the heart; you haven't the stomach for it. Pack Greg a lunch, kiss him goodby and wish him happy hunting!

DEAR ABBY: I am a teenager. Both my parents are deaf, but they are very intelligent. They can't HEAR, but they can speak fairly well and manage to communicate very well with friends and neighbors.

The problem is when we go to the store or travel somewhere, and people ask stupid questions, such as, "Can they read and write?" "Can they look after themselves, or must they always have someone with them?" Then they end up by saying, "Take good care of your parents. They need your help."

Abby, I want all these people to know that my parents are not idiots. They are just like everybody else, except they can't hear! In fact their other senses are better developed because they're deaf.

My parents tell me not to let such questions bother me, but they do. Please print this so people will realize how dumb and mean such questions are.

BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: Most people don't mean to be unkind; they are simply uniformed and curious. But here's your letter, and I hope it helps.

DEAR ABBY: My brother spanks his 3-year-old son and will not allow the little guy to cry. If he cries, he gets spanked again and again. I have seen this go on for hours. (He says this will make a "man" out of him.) He also spanks the child much too hard.

My brother won't listen to anyone. And my sister-in-law doesn't do anything about it. Or maybe she can't.

What can I do? If I report my relatives to the authorities, and the child is taken from his parents' home, I'm afraid it might do him more harm than those spankings will. What can be done? This situation is worrying me to death.

SICK AT HEART

DEAR SICK: To be aware of such cruelty and do nothing is morally wrong. Your brother sounds as though he is desperately in need of treatment. And his wife couldn't be too well either to allow such goings on.

Phone PARENTS ANONYMOUS at this toll-free number: 1-800-421-0353, and tell them what you've told me. Your call will be confidential, and you need not tell them your name. And write again and let me know how it was handled. I care.

DEAR ABBY: I am steaming mad about all of the pollution going on. Not just air and water pollution, but littering. Today at lunch, I saw a middle-aged woman sit in her car in a restaurant parking lot and throw not ONE but THREE paper napkins out the window.

Being responsible citizens, my girlfriend and I picked them up and calmly handed them back to her through her open window and said, "I think you dropped these."

At this point she got hot and mouthy. I calmly informed her that what she did was against the law and was called "littering." Then I walked away.

What kind of example is the older generation setting for young people today if this is their normal practice?

SUSIE IN W. COVINA

DEAR SUSIE: A very bad one. And good for you and your girlfriend for having the courage and taking the time to do as you did.

SPACE SAVER — These two views of the new space-saving spare tire show how it can save space in the trunk when compared with a conventional tire and how it looks when mounted on the car. The new tire will debut this fall in many of Detroit's smaller-sized cars for 1978. The compact spare is smaller, lighter and 40 to 50 per cent less bulky than conventional tires.

Kids can buy contraceptives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government cannot stand in the way of teen-agers who want to buy nonprescription contraceptives, the Supreme Court says.

But the nation's highest court apparently is not as sure about what rights, if any, parents have to block their child's access to such birth control devices.

The court split 7-2 as it ruled Thursday that states may not bar the sale of contraceptives to children, striking down a New York law that cut off access to contraceptives for youngsters under 16.

In the same decision, the court ruled that states cannot tell adults where they must buy contraceptives and cannot ban the display or advertising of birth control devices.

Only four of the seven justices who voted to strike down the New York law, however, decided that youngsters enjoy the same right to privacy as adults when it comes to making decisions about childbirth and contraception.

Those four were Justices William J. Brennan, Harry A. Blackmun, Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall.

Justices Lewis F. Powell Jr.. Byron R. White and John Paul Stevens indicated in separate concurring opinions that they might favor a state law requiring teen-agers to get their parents' consent before buying contraceptives.

If joined by Thursday's two dissenters, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice William H. Rehnquist, those three justices could forge a new court majority in similar cases.

"The matter of a minor's right to privacy in this area is far from settled," said Janet Benshoff of the American Civil Liberties Union, which filed the brief urging that the New York law be struck down.

"There are some dangerous aspects that need to be resolved, such as required consultation with parents," she said.

The ACLU has argued that minors should enjoy all the privacy rights adults have in deciding to buy contraceptives and deciding to have an abortion in the first three months of pregnancy.

Fugitive due to leave haven in Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Financier Robert Vesco, a fugitive from U.S. charges of embezzlement and illegal political contributions, will leave his five-year-old haven in Costa Rica, President Daniel Oduber says.

"Many days ago I told Mr. Vesco that he should leave Costa Rica, and he is going to go," Oduber said in a radio-television broadcast Thursday night.

"I do not think he should leave hurriedly," said the second Costa Rican president stained by association with the controversial American. "He should put his affairs in order, and he is doing this. And he should clarify his situation before the courts of justice."

Vesco, who lives with his family at a walled-in, well-guarded home in a suburb of San Jose, was not available for comment. An aide at his office said: "To my knowledge, no statement has been issued by Mr. Vesco."

There was speculation that the 42-year-old financial manipulator would go to Panama or would return to the Bahamas, where he has holdings reportedly worth $50 million and where a court in 1973 rejected a U.S. request for his extradition.

Vesco, a native of Detroit, is a fugitive from U.S. federal charges of looting $224 million from Overseas Investors Services, the international mutual fund, and of making a secret $200,000 cash contribution to President Nixon's 1972 campaign.

He has lived in Costa Rica since 1972 and becomes eligible for citizenship this month.

Rep. Poage thinks he's on road to recovery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Congressman W.R. "Bob" Poage says he thinks he's on the road to recovery after being released from Bethesda Naval Hospital three weeks after major surgery.

Poage, 77, the oldest member of the House, left the hospital Thursday.

Surgeons removed a malignant growth from part of his intestine in a four-hour operation May 19.

Before leaving for his suburban Arlington, Va., home, Poage said, "I can't claim to be feeling completely fine right now, but I do think that I'm on the road to recovery."

His doctor, chief of surgery William Fouty, said Poage would continue his recuperation at home for at least a week.

"After that time," Fouty said, "and if he is doing all right, I can see him then going back to the office for a limited day and then working his way up to a full schedule."

Body found in trash can

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A woman believed to be the mother of an infant boy whose body was found in a trash can alongside a state highway was questioned Thursday at a hospital in Waseca, Minn., authorities said.

The woman was tentatively identified as Sue Thomas, Nocona, Tex.

She was reported recovering from an infection.

Authorities said she had checked into the hospital Sunday.

The body of the baby boy was found in a trash can at an Interstate 35 rest area south of Tonkawa, Okla., by a motorist on Sunday.

A medical examiner said the baby had died within minutes of its birth on Saturday of a blood clot in its head.

The Kay County district attorney's office said charges of failure to report a death and improper disposal of a human body may be filed.

Officials said the child was apparently born in a motel room at Pauls Valley, Okla.

The woman then headed north toward a friend's house in Minnesota, leaving the body in a trash can when she panicked upon realizing the child was dead.

"Behold!" — it's not a word we use much today. Yet it occurs more than 150 times in the King James version of the Bible.

"Behold" means to see. But it suggests more than mere sight. In the Bible it usually implies spiritual awareness. Jesus often used it to urge his disciples to understand and respond to spiritual truths.

Today we say "Look!" instead of "Behold!" Although the word has changed, the meaning has not. We still need to be aware of God's love. We still need to grasp those mysteries of life that can often perplex us.

This Sunday enlarge your spiritual vision in church. Come and BEHOLD.

'Old Time Religion' adds modern methods

By MARJ CARPENTER

"Gimme That Old Time Religion" is an old favorite among generations who used to sing around the piano.

But nowadays, the old time religion and the old time revivals use every modern gimmick in the book.

One local citizen recently queried as to why churches "don't have revivals anymore."

In Big Spring last year, there were over 400 revivals in some 80 churches. This is a lot more revival services than were ever held in Big Spring in the "good old days."

However, the tent revivals in the summer evenings are a thing of the past. In what some refer to as "the good old days," tent revivals were common in the summer.

Citizens, who did not choose to go, could hear the singing and the shouting from the folds of the tent and enjoy it or complain, according to their nature.

Today's revivals held in the sanctuaries and local churches range all the way from having one a year to 20 a year. Churches such as St. Mary's, St. Paul Lutheran, First Presbyterian and First Christian lean more toward special musical services, either with home talent or talent brought to town for a special week of services once a year with an out of town theologian.

Baptist Churches have concentrated this year on the Living Proof theme which was headed up by a team of experts and a Public Relations firm in Dallas.

Billboards were placed throughout the state and television commercials played up the theme. During a week in the spring, almost every Baptist Church in Texas held a special "Living Proof" Revival.

However, these churches all held other revivals during the year. At the revivals, many gospel singing groups were brought to town.

This is also true at some of the Assembly of God Churches and many of the Pentacostal churches. Gospel singers included family groups, entire bands, children, elderly singers, composers, former users of narcotics changed over to revivalists, and many other varieties of stars.

Their equipment included amplifiers, guitars, brass instruments and the whole circuit of music. Some of the other groups that took part in revivals had puppet shows and plays.

The movie is one of the latest revival gimmicks. Many movies were shown on Sunday night throughout the city at various churches as special messages to reach the public.

Don't forget the missionary speaker. This is an old method still used by many churches and almost every church in the city during the year had at least one missionary speak at a family night supper or an evening service or a full week of special services.

The Churches of Christ bring in lecturers for special weeks of emphasis.

The Methodist church has a month of Sunday night specials with out-of-town speakers and also usually has a special emphasis of noon services during Holy Week.

The Episcopal Church has evening services during Holy Week, as does the Presbyterian.

Catholic churches hold special festivals which raise funds and also place a special emphasis on their activities.

Food is a major part of many of the special services. Almost every church in town during the year will hold special supper meetings, teas, luncheons, barbecues, Mexican food suppers and other events.

One local congregation even sponsors a tour to the Holy Lands during the year. This same group features speakers during the week at a downtown cafe at different announced times during the year.

Another men's group holds supper meetings about four times a year in a local motel restaurant.

The gauntlet includes music, food, loud speeches, quiet speeches with recorded music in the background, subdued lights, bright lights, movies, book reviews, missionary talks, recorded songs, live bands, puppet shows, and chimes sounding with poems and meditations read to the congregation.

Gimme that old time religion. It was good enough for me — never saw anything like the methods used in modern day revivals.

The revival tents would not have enough electrical oulets for the productions.

Revivals are big business and scores of gospel singers and revivalists make their living by going across the country.

And the Big Spring churches, like churches, all over the nation pull out all the stops to compete with modern day television, movies and stereo music.

"Tell me the old, old story" that "will be my theme in Glory" has definitely taken on a modern look.

REV. HOMER HESS

Hess accepts Crane pastorate

The Rev. Homer T. Hess Jr. will assume the pastoral duties of the Tabernacle Baptist Church in Crane beginning the week of June 13.

The Rev. Hess has served as minister of music for the Trinity Baptist Church here for the past two years, having taken the position in March 1975.

Previously, he was associate pastor and music director for the Grace Baptist Church of Big Spring, which position he held for one and a half years.

He and his wife, Camille and four children, Robin, Karen, Belinda and Stephen, are originally from the Ft. Worth area where Hess had held various posts in local churches.

The Crane pastorate will be his first experience as a full-time pastor.

The Rev. Hess attended Arlington State College (now U.T., Arlington). He received the bachelor of divinity degree from the Bible Baptist Seminary in Arlington.

He will be speaking at 7 p.m. Sunday, June 12 at Trinity by request of the pastor, the Rev. Claude Craven.

Methodists begin remodeling here

The First United Methodist Church has begun work on its half million dollar remodeling project at the church at 4th and Scurry.

The parking lot south of the church is being excavated and a new fellowship hall, kitchen, parlor and a Sunday School room will all be constructed in this area.

North of the sanctuary which will see only minor changes and a new stained glass window near the pulpit area, will be additions of offices, prayer rooms, and many other additions.

New sidewalks and planters will be constructed out front.

The building committee already has pledges for the project. It is being constructed by Area Builders of Odessa. Total anticipated cost is $526,800. Gary and Hohertz are serving as architects for the remodeling project.

CIA terminates mission contacts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A report of a U.S. Senate committee says that the Central Intelligence Agency has acknowledged that it had "covert arrangements" with 21 missionary workers overseas, but these contacts have been terminated.

The CIA has stated that as a "matter of policy" hereafter, it will not have any "contractual relationship" with any American clergyman or missionary, under new regulations forbidding use of missionaries by the intelligence agency.

Mormons give book to Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Genealogists of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints Mormon have presented President Carter with a family-tree volume of genealogical information on his ancestors.

The two-inch-thick, leatherbound volume, containing results of research at the Church's extensive genealogical library in Salt Lake City, Utah, traces Carter's family lineage back into the early 1600's.

The earliest Carter forebear documented was Thomas Carter Sr., who was born in 1610 in England and came to Virginia in 1632. The data was gleaned from census records, wills, land and probate records, and from birth and death certificates.

Fire records 'mystery'

FORT MITCHELL, Ky. (AP) — The most recent inspection at the Beverly Hills Supper Club, where at least 161 persons died in a Memorial Day weekend fire, showed no fire safety violations. But officials can't explain a four-year gap in the inspection records.

Meanwhile, State Police Commissioner Kenneth Brandenburgh said he would conclude his investigation at the club in Southgate today, and would issue a statement probably dealing with the fire's "origin, source and cause."

Officials have refused to confirm or deny the report given to The Associated Press by an insurance investigator in Atlanta that the May 28 fire started at a frayed electrical cord in a decorative fountain and burned for several hours before being discovered.

In Frankfort, State Fire Marshal Warren Southworth said the club had passed its most recent fire safety inspection, on Jan. 27.

But there are no documents in the files for the years 1972-75. Southworth said he doesn't know whether this indicates that no inspections were made or whether inspection records and correspondence for those years are missing.

The inspection files were released Thursday after they were returned by investigators at Southgate. The most recent entry was a nine-line, handwritten report signed by state inspector John Bramlage.

"Means of egress were found to be open, none blocked, illuminated exit signs in working order," the report said. "Patrons going out front door to obtain automobiles would have some congestion but in case of emergency, evacuation should be no problem with existing exits."

Two bodies remain unidentified and unclaimed while two women are still listed as missing. Officials have conceded the possibility, while saying it is remote, that the disparity may result from misidentification of bodies.

Survey taken by committee

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — A committee of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops is making a survey to determine the number and types of policy-making and executive positions held by women in the 170 Catholic dioceses in this country.

Bishop Michael F. McAuliffe of Jerfferson City, Mo., head of the bishops' committee on women, says the information would help the Church find ways to "draw greater benefit from the talents and generosity of women."

Harte-Hanks buys papers

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Searcy, Ark., Daily Citizen newspaper is being sold to Harte-Hanks Newspapers Inc., of San Antonio, by the Jones family, which has owned it for 90 years.

The Citizen is published afternoons Monday through Friday and has a daily paid circulation of about 6,000.

Perrin Jones is the editor and publisher, and Jim Baugh Jones is general manager. They are brothers and will remain in their present positions after the sale.

The announcement of the sale was made by the Jones family and by Robert Marbut, president and chief executive officer of Harte-Hanks.

The deal, which includes the weekly White County Citizen with a nonpaid circulation of 11,000, is expected to be completed later this month.

The sale price was not disclosed.

With this purchase, Harte-Hanks will own two dailies and three weeklies in Arkansas. The other daily is the Russellville Courier Democrat and the weeklies are at Charleston, Paris and Greenwood.

The Searcy Daily Citizen is 123 years old. It was founded at Des Arc in 1854.

J. J. Baugh bought the paper in 1887, moved it to Searcy in 1889 and began daily publication in 1890.

Marbut said: "We are excited with the prospect that this fine newspaper, which has been a part of the Baugh-Jones families for over 90 years, will become associated with Harte-Hanks. We are also pleased that Jim and Perry Jones have both decided to remain with the newspaper. We are confident that under their continued leadership and management the newspaper will continue to play a vital role in the exceptional growth that is taking place in Searcy and White County."

Harte-Hanks Newspapers Inc., a New York Stock Exchange communications company headquartered in San Antonio, owns and operates 25 daily newspapers, 47 non-daily publications and three VHF network-affiliated television stations in 13 states.

DAILY BREAD

Phy Phillip McClendon — Pastor Hillcrest Baptist Church

Often as we think of the state of affairs of our world we tend to shove them back into the far corners of our mind hoping that tomorrow they will change. The fears, the tensions the sense of futility that we find in so many circles these days are but a reminder of the ever present need of Christ who is the Lord of History. The writer of Hebrews wrote to a group of Christians that were under persecution and pressure not certain about the future. The book of Hebrews clearly states that Jesus Christ is the total answer to every human need now and in the future. No book of the New Testament focuses upon Christ like the book of Hebrews does. It is the clearest and most systematic presentation of the availability and adequacy of Jesus Christ in the whole Bible. Many people will only believe what they see. If they see a Christian who has found new life — peace and inner resources to meet the needs of the day and confident about the future they will believe. Are you living in such a way that the world knows that Christ is Lord of all? We cannot predict what may happen tomorrow but we know who holds tomorrow. There is joy in the Christ of today — and the future he has for every believer.

HEBREWS 13:8 Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and for ever.

Rod Rodriquez

His name is Rod Rodriquez.

Perhaps if you've been out to the "Wooden Nickel" Club you've seen him. He's hard to miss, all 6-6½, 285-pounds of him. In fact he looks like an ex-NFL offensive tackle.

Which, by the way, is exactly what he is.

Rod and a friend of his decided to spend the summer in West Texas this year, venturing from their native California. Since his friend's father had been stationed at Webb about 10 years ago, they chose Big Spring.

That was about a month and a half ago. Rod, who took the job as head bartender at the "Wooden Nickel" two days after he arrived here, is seriously considering making the move permanent.

"This is all new to me, and I know I'm new to the people of Big Spring, but so far everyone has been really friendly. And I couldn't work for nicer people than Bob and Sonia Lancaster," said the big man. "If everything goes right, I'd like to return the favor to Big Spring."

Rodriquez is talking about settling down in the city and getting involved with local athletics — he hopes as a coach, whether in the public schools or on a volunteer basis. He just wants to help kids who are interested in becoming good football players.

His concern with helping the young athlete stems from his early childhood in his hometown of Raleigh, Calif., where he had one of two roads to travel in life:

"We lived on the south side of town," Rod said, "and it was either go to jail or play football. While my friends were breaking windows, I was playing football."

The tough, gang-oriented environment that Rod grew up in didn't influence him negatively in sports:

"Football took the place of fighting," said the gentle giant. "I don't like to fight now. I think it's the most boring thing to do in the world. Some of these guys around here who like to fight should get out and play football."

That prompted Rod to talk about one of his goals if he stays in town. He wants to organize an eight-man flag football league in Big Spring in order that healthy exercise can be an outlet to aggressive tendencies in some people.

"There's no age limit for the love of sports," he said.

Even though he's only been here less than two months, he's had a couple of business opportunities come his way. He is just naturally a likable guy.

But his main ambition is to get back into coaching. He has his bachelor's degree from the University of the Pacific in Physical Education and History, and wants to "get involved in football again, even if I don't get paid."

Rod first made a name in football in high school in Stockton, where he was picked All-City, All-District, All-Region and just about All-everything. And he still holds the school record in the shot put — 66 feet. He then was a starting offensive tackle for the U of Pac Tigers, the only Mexican-American on the team.

He gained enough attention to be asked by the Denver Broncos to try out as a free agent in 1973. He had been bothered all through college by torn cartilage in one knee and stretched ligaments in the other one, but made the team as a rookie during exhibition season.

The team doctors gave him pain shots before the games, and he was finally faced with the decision whether to keep playing with the bad "wheels" or have an operation and face possible loss of a job after he recuperated. He chose the operation and then went back to California to enter private business with his father.

While with the Broncos, he met Big Spring's Charley Johnson, but wasn't friends with the quarterback, despite his position as offensive tackle.

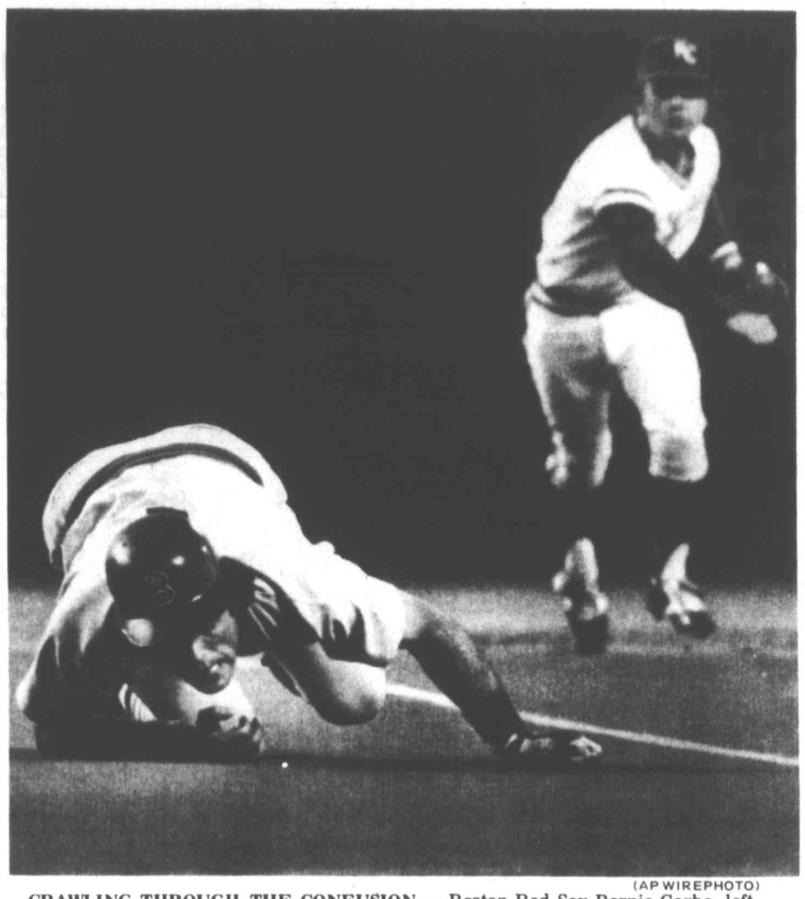

"The veterans treated us (rookies) like . . .," Rod said.

Rod, now 27, who is a 17-month veteran of Vietnam (he was in the Marines for three years), seems to be happy no matter what he is doing. He spends as many as 16 hours a day at the "Wooden Nickel" — not because he has to, but in his words, "Because I want to make sure I do a good job."

"You can't enjoy your job unless you try to do your best," Rod stated. One could theorize that he would make one heckuva football coach.

Ask Missy, George, Krista, Jim Crissy or Mike about Rod. He's their boss at the club and sometimes he may do a little coaching, but they couldn't like him more.

I have a feeling Rod will make a lot more friends before he leaves Big Spring . . . if he does, that is.

CRAWLING THROUGH THE CONFUSION — Boston Red Sox Bernie Carbo, left, tries to crawl back to first as Kansas City Royals Freddie Patek, right, watches his throw go to Royals first baseman John Mayberry. Carbo was caught up in a double play that went from Mayberry to Patek and back to Mayberry. The Red Sox beat the Royals 1-0.

No-namers prevail, Rangers stranded

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Chicago's "No-Name" White Sox pulled another one out of the hat Thursday night. The hero this time was the one and only Wayne Nordhagen.

Nordhagen, in only his 23rd trip to the plate this year, grounded a single to leftfield in the top of the 11th inning and Chicago prevailed 4-3 over the Texas Rangers in the four hour and 20 minute game.

The Rangers stranded 18 baserunners in the frustrating loss.

Texas Manager Frank Lucchesi fell ill in the fourth inning and missed a gruesome display of non-clutch hitting by the Rangers.

Lucchesi was hospitalized at Arlington Memorial Hospital and it was announced he won't make the trip to Boston with the team. Lucchesi was not believed seriously ill but tests were being run on the 48-year-old Ranger manager as a precautionary measure.

Chicago pulled within two games of Minnesota in the American League West thanks to Nordhagen and shortstop Alan Bannister, who went fivefor-six.

"We used everybody tonight," said Chicago Manager Bob Lemon. "Nordhagen is typical of the effort on this team. He hasn't been playing much but he delivered when he got in there."

Nordhagen, a native of Thief River Falls, Minn., who was hitting .364 on 8 of 22 at-bats, slashed his two-out single off Paul Lindblad to hand Adrian Devine his second loss in six decisions.

Nordhagen hit only .189 for the White Sox last year.

"He has really improved and has been a very valuable asset to us," said Lemon. "He's been around the minors a lot but now he's showing he can play in the majors."

Nordhagen's single scored pinchrunner Brian Downing, who was running for Jim Essian after a leadoff single. Ralph Garr singled to move Downing to second before Nordhagen's clutch pinchhit.

Bannister scored a 3-2 go-ahead run in the top of the ninth inning when Ranger second basemn Bump Wills booted a grounder.

However, Texas tied it in the bottom of the ninth on a triple by Mike Hargrove and Dave May's single.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 10, 1977

SECTION B SECTION B

NBA draft begins today

NEW YORK (AP) — Some shrewd trading, plus an assist from lady luck, put the Milwaukee Bucks in the catbird's seat for today's National Basketball Association draft of college talent.

The Bucks earned the first pick in the draft by finishing with the worst record in the Western Conference, then winning a coin flip from the Kansas City Kings. The trades gave the Bucks the third and 11th picks in the first round, meaning Milwaukee is virtually assured of picking up three quality players in the annual lottery.

They hope those three will complete a rebuilding job begun last year, when new Coach Don Nelson worked a number of first and second-year players into the lineup.

The key to the process is Kent Benson, the two-time All-American center from Indiana. The Bucks announced in April, as soon as they earned the right to pick first, that they would open the draft by picking Benson.

"He's a pure center," said Rick Sund, the Bucks' chief scout, "and NBA franchises are built around centers."

And Benson is the center the Bucks want to build around.

College World Series

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — If you like streaking teams, Arizona State and Temple should be your teams in the 31st College World Series.

The eight-team, double-elimination test to determine the champion of major college baseball opens Friday night with a doubleheader and the two hot clubs will be on display.

Top-ranked Arizona State, 52-11, is riding an 18-game winning streak and eastern challenger Temple, 34-7, owns 17 straight.

"We might be rated No. 1," noted Arizona State Coach Jim Brock, "but this is a hungry club that knows it will have to play its very best to have a chance."

It's the fourth time in five series appearances dating back to 1972 that the Sun Devils come in as the No. 1 rated team. Their last title, however, was in 1968.

Temple is ranked No. 8 — lowest of any series qualifier — and is making only its second series trip. The Owls finished third in 1972.

Tradition, however, is working against Temple. Only two Eastern teams — Holy Cross in 1952 and Wake Forest in 1955 — ever have won the title, and the last 10 titles have been gone to teams from the West or Southwest.

"I think the ratings are just a matter of weather," says Temple Coach James "Skip" Wilson. "The western teams have 20 or 30 games played by the middle of March and get off to a big jump. By this time of the year, we're all about even."

Arizona State, ranked with Minnesota as the co-favorite, battles Clemson, 41-8 and a winner of its first 24 games of the season, while Southern Illinois, 38-10, is the opening foe for Temple.

After an afternoon elimination-round game, Cal State-Los Angeles, 40-20, faces Minnesota, 38-10, and Baylor, 43-23, opposes South Carolina, 40-10, in concluding first-round games Saturday night.

The lack of Arizona State success in the series in recent years has surprised some observors — and Brock is aware of the criticism.

"I realize that this club will be evaluated only on what it does in Omaha — and so will I," said Brock.

He said the current club compares favorably with last year's which finished third in the series and sent 12 players on to professional baseball, including pitcher Floyd Bannister, now of the Houston Astros.

"We have no awesome suit, but our pitching depth is the best we've ever had," added Brock. "Also this team has done a better job of using its hits than any of the others and has played to its potential more consistenly."

Pecos wins first game

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Houston Sharpstown will battle Duncanville tonight for the Class 4A schoolboy baseball championship, and Uvalde will meet Pecos for the 3A crown.

Sharpstown won the honor by dumping Fort Worth Southwest 10-4 in Thursday's semifinal. Earlier, Duncanville whipped Victoria Stroman 11-5 to earn the other playoff spot.

Uvalde edged Waco Midway 4-3 to earn its half of the 3A championship tilt while Pecos downed DeSoto 7-3.

A bases loaded triple by winning pitcher Chris Day paved the way to Sharpstown's victory, sparking a five-run fourth inning and breaking the back of Southwest.

Day got help from Curtis Kouba in the fourth.

John Tomsic took the loss.

Keith Creel also pitched and batted his Duncanville teammates to their big victory.

Creel twirled a two-hitter in upping his record to 17-1. He also cracked three hits and scored three runs.

Creel's brother, Leland, made it a family affair, picking up a pair of hits and two RBIs.

Noel Delgado took the loss for Stroman, and watched his teammates commit six errors.

Uvalde got all its runs in the first inning, then hung on for dear life in edging Midway.

Van McElroy got his 11th victory of the year, while Andy Hawkins dropped only his second game against 15 wins.

For Pecos, Linvel Mosby went the distance, striking out nine and allowing five hits. Steve Mobley took the loss for DeSoto, allowing only one earned run and giving up six hits.

Mosby has been drafted by the Texas Rangers of the American League.

Uvalde and Pecos are making their first appearances in state playoff competition.

Story takes coach post

MIDLAND — Chester Story, disenfranchised as basketball coach at Midland College the past season, has been named head basketball mentor at Texarkansas, Tex., High School.

Story will be returning to East Texas after nine years in West Texas. Part of that time he was head basketball coach at Sul Ross State University.

Story resigned as basketball coach at Midland College after it was disclosed that a former MC player, Ricky Daniel, received credit for two PE courses although he was not on campus at the time. Daniel needed the credits for entrance into Oklahoma State.

Story said he turned down other offers, some of which would have paid substantially more, to take the Texarkana post.

Partnership pairings set

The Lubbock tandem of Steve Long and Danny Walters rule as slight favorites in the annual Big Spring Country Club Partnership Golf Tournament, which gets under way Saturday and continues over Sunday.

The 85 teams already entered have been divided into Scratch and Handicap Flights. No more than 100 teams will be permitted in the field. Play will be over 36 holes.

Scratch Flight players will use a shotgun start at 2 p.m., Saturday. Handicap Flight competitors will leave the tee at 9 a.m.

Long and Walters face some tough competition from such twosomes as Pat Weaver and Mike Hall, Dan Wilkins and Jackie Thomas and Bobby Menchaca and Mike Weaver.

A team which must be given some consideration for a run at the crown consists of Dr. Robert Johnson and Bill Sikes of Brownwood. The two won one of the first partnership events ever staged here. Johnson is a former resident of Big Spring.

The battle in the Scratch Division appears to be wide open. Seven fathers are teaming with their sons in this division.

First prize in each division is $250 in merchandise per player. If as many as 200 teams take part, as that is not likely, as many as eight teams take part, and that is share in the awards. Entry fee is $20 per player.

A barbecue and a patio party will be held for players and guests Saturday night in the clubhouse.

Storey tops in Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Tom Storey, once a Las Vegas song and dance man, turned escape artist in the Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.

"When it's your day, it's your day," shrugged Storey, for five years an entertainer in Strip hotels, after his unorthodox putting style enabled him to escape almost constant trouble and turn potential disaster into the first round lead Thursday.

He one-putted 10 times, once chipped in for an eagle three and needed only 24 strokes on the greens on his way to a seven-under-par 65 — by far the best round of his career.

A gallery of only five people watched the slender, chipper, 35-year-old in his adventures over the 7,193-yard Colonial Country Club course, adventures that were highlighted by his putting stance in which his right hand is about a foot down the shaft of the club and the left hand "hanging on to the top.

"If you can't putt any other way, you do the best you can," said Storey, who joined the tour only last year and had done absolutely nothing at all until he broke through for a victory in the Oklahoma City Open, a satellite event, a few weeks ago.

Gullett back in fine form

By The Associated Press

Don Gullett has lost his velocity, but none of his vitality.

"I feel great now," says the New York Yankees' lefthander. "It's just a matter of getting my rhythm back."

The absence of rhythm has cost Gullett some speed on his fastball — although the Milwaukee Brewers hardly noticed it while dropping a 10-1 decision to Gullett and the Yankees Thursday.

"I had better movement with my pitches today, but my velocity just wasn't there," said Gullett, attempting to get back in the groove after early-season injuries. "My consistency and control weren't there, either."

Gullett, one of the great catches made by the Yankees in last winter's free agent shopping spree, pitched seven strong innings. He allowed only four hits before getting relief from Dick Tidrow.

The victory was Gullett's fifth straight after two losses to the Brewers in April.

NHL board approves sale

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League Board of Governors spent a lot of time talking this week at its annual meetings, but in essence, accomplished little in the way of big decisions.

The only major decision reached came on the final day of the meetings Thursday, when the board approved the sale of the Cleveland Barons to George Gund and Sanford Greenberg by Mel Swig.

YOUNG IDEAS

By DICK YOUNG

Clubhouse confidential

As ballplayer, Joe Torre could not have been cut more than 20 per cent in pay. As manager he can and will. Contract just signed stipulates he'll finish this year at the $100,000 he received while playing, but next season it's minus 30 per cent, to 70G, and the following year a stepup to 80.

More on Torre Story: His sister Rae works for Ma Bell in N.Y. Twice a night, when Mets are playing, she phones brother Frank in St. Louis to fill him in on score . . . Early games at helm indicate Joe is going Sparky Anderson route. Few starters will finish, despite best trio in baseball. He's not waiting for game to be blown before going to bullpen . . . Exception: Trying to be "Joe Goodguy," he sent Matlack up to sacrifice in 8th, trailing 1-0, explaining later, "He was pitching a good game." At that point, if he is pitching no-hitter, Matlack should come out. Pitching is not needed then; a run is.

Torre's 11-year-old daughter, Lauren, plays 3b, 1b, pitches for "Gelsing" in Ridgewood (N.J.) Girls' Softball League. She is batting .777, a chip off the old pizza...If he hadn't landed manager job, Joe planned going into broadcasting . . . The Torre Philosophy: "Baseball is a team game played by individuals for themselves." . . . It's when the "for themselves" gets a bit heavy that troubles, such as the Mets and Yankees have, result.

'INTRODUCE ME TO THAT GIRL'

Torre Love Story: He was with the Braves at the time. They were playing in Shea. She was a Mets fan, seated with girlfriends near dugout. He saw her and fluttered. He was bashful. He said to a nearby news photographer,

"Introduce me to that girl."

"I can't do that," said Louis Requina. "You're too ugly."

"I won't pose for that picture layout you want," threatened Joe Torre.

So, the introduction was made at the box-railing. After infield practice, Torre wrote his phone number on a slip of paper, handed it to the same photog, and said: "Give this to her."

"Nothing doing. She's too pretty for you. I'm embarrassed," he said. Torre again threatened, so, recalls Requina, "I put the number in her hand and ran."

That was September. In January, Louis Requina received a letter from Atlanta. "Thanks," it said. "We were married today. Dani and Joe."

Pivotal third game of NBA finals was classic example of two things: Portland, leading by 20 early in 4th, began playing clock instead of basketball, and blew almost entire lead. And 76ers were permitted to pull everything but a knife in late stages, "refereeball" at its worst.

LEO DUROCHER HOSPITALIZED

. . . Tommy Lasorda playing pat lineup day after day. Beware of Dodger regulars wilting in late season . . . Leo Durocher in hush-hush stay at Brooklyn hospital last week. "You got the wrong room," he would tell callers, trying to disguise voice. (Mel Allen has better chance to disguise his voice.) Friends say Leo in past 18 months, has had open heart surgery, pneumonia and hepatitis.

Odds against Seattle Slew?

(AP WIREPHOTO)

LUNCH TIME AT BELMONT — Run, Dusty, Run muches on hay at his stable after Thursday morning workout on rainy track at Belmont Park. Run, Dusty, Run will be running in the Belmont Stakes this Saturday, June 11.

NEW YORK (AP) — Someone at the draw for post positions for the 109th running of the Belmont Stakes wondered why Johnny Campo had bothered to enter two horses against unbeaten Seattle Slew.

But Campo was not in attendance, so Mickey Taylor, whose wife Karen is listed as Slew's owner, stepped in. "It's like Campo says, 'I know there's one horse I can't beat, but I can beat the rest.'"

A field of 10 3-year-olds was entered on Thursday for Saturday's third jewel of thoroughbred racing's Triple Crown. If Seattle Slew can overcome that large field, he not only will be the first undefeated Triple Crown winner, he also will have overcome a larger field than any of his nine predecessors.

But Taylor does not believe the large field indicates there still are those who question the colt's ability. "They want to put up the money," he said "and it makes no difference to us how many enter. Iron Constitution, Run Dusty Run, Sanhedrin, they deserve to be in it. The rest have high hopes."

The Campo entry of Max Gluck's Make Amends and Hey Hey J.P., owned by Campo and his wife, likely will not make it to post (at about 5:38 p.m. EDT) intact, however. Campo is expected to scratch Hey Hey J.P. and run him in the Keystone Handicap on the same day as the Belmont, leaving nine in the field.

Regardless, Taylor is not worried about Seattle Slew's competition. "I don't worry about the other horses. I never have. Slew can gallop faster than most horses can run," he said. "And this is our playground this time. We're the home team."

Seattle Slew, the winner of his first eight starts — four of them in New York — including the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, under jockey Jean Cruguet, drew the No. 6 post position for the 1½-mile Belmont, which will be worth $183,800 if all 10 go. The winner would earn $110,280.

Leggy planter leading LPGA

NORTH MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) — South Africa's Sally Little, a leggy 5-foot-8, says she had to learn to "plant myself" before hitting a golf ball on a windy day.

Plant herself she did Thursday, and it paid off with a five-under-par 67, good for a tie with Joyce Kazmierski after one round of this week's Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament.

"This is the only time I wanted an extra 30 pounds," said the willowly Miss Little after coastal winds gusting to more than 25 miles per hour sprayed golf balls all over Bay Tree Plantation's par-72 gold course.

"I used to be scared to death of the wind, and as soon as it started, there went Sally. I have to make a conscious effort to go very slow and plant myself," Miss Little said.

Both Miss Little and Miss Kazmierski were aided by eagles on par-five holes.

Shreveport maintains edge in Texas League

By the Associated Press

A high winning percentage over Arkansas has helped Shreveport stay just ahead of Tulsa in Texas League baseball, and an 8-3 win over the Travelers Thursday night offset Tulsa's 14-10 win over Jackson to keep the Captains one-half game ahead in the East Division.

Now 9-3 against Arkansas for the year, Shreveport hosts the Travelers for a doubleheader Friday. In Thursday's other games, El Paso beat Amarillo 16-0 and Midland split a twin bill with San Antonio, winning the opener 12-1 and losing the nightcap 8-7.

Doug Nelson evened his record at 2-2 with the Captains' win. He went eight inings, giving up only six hits. The loss dropped Arkansas starter Bret Houser's record to 3-4.

Shreveport exploded in the eighth inning with four unearned runs against Traveler relief pitcher Mike Murphy. The Captains, now 28-23, were sparked by Dorian Boiland's three-run bases-loaded triple in that inning.

Tulsa's Drillers combined eight stolen bases with eight extra-base hits, including Dan Duran's seventh and eighth home runs and Billy Sample's fifth home run of the season, in beating Jackson. Righthander Steve Comer brought his record to 6-5 as Tulsa boosted its season mark to 26-22.

Midland's Jack Ledbetter pitched a three-hitter in the first game against San Antonio to even his season record at 4-4. Ledbetter also hit a three-run home run in the third inning of that game.

The Cubs made a surge in the last two innings of the nightcap, but San Antonio had taken an early 8-1 lead and Midland couldn't make up the difference. Doug Slocum picked up the win for the Dodgers, evening his season record at 2-2.

El Paso's Bob Ferris allowed only two base hits all night, both singles, in the Diablos' win over Amarillo. El Paso's Jay Peters hit two homers and Ken Landreaux was 4-5 at the plate with a walk and two home runs.

Besides the Arkansas at Shreveport doubleheader, Friday's slate includes El Paso at Amarillo San Antonio at Midland and Jackson at Tulsa.

ACC signs Sparks

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Abilene Christian University has signed Tom Sparks of Orlando, Fla., national shot put champion in the 1977 junior college indoor meet, to a Lone Star Conference pre-enrollment agreement.

Sparks, who attended Seminole Junior College one year, will also play football for ACU. He didn't play football in junior college because the school didn't field a team, but is expected to play fullback for the Rams.

A 1976 graduate of Edgewater High School in Orlando, the 6-2, 245-pound Sparks won the state high school shot put championship and had top high school marks of 66-10 in the shot, 185-11 in the discus and 10.2 in the 100-yard dash.

Reagan gigging Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan, who never got a chance to run against Jimmy Carter, is campaigning against him now and is emerging as the sharpest Republican critic of the Democratic administration.

In speeches Thursday in New York and Washington, Reagan attacked Carter's policies at home and abroad and accused him of violating his campaign promise to restore confidence in government.

At a $100-a-plate fundraiser here for conservative causes, Reagan said Carter promised during the 1976 campaign that he would "never become part of this city's buddy system."

But Reagan, who also campaigned on an anti-Washington theme in his unsuccessful run for the GOP nomination, said Carter has "managed to adapt rather well to this city that has become his home."

"He's been in office now for nearly six months and in that time has managed to assemble the largest and highest paid White House staff in history," Reagan said.

"It strikes me as unusual that a man who was going to restore our faith in Washington would, as one of his first acts, propose to change the election laws so that congressional incumbents will be able to tap the federal till for their campaign funds," Reagan said.

The former actor and two-term governor of California also attacked Carter's support for repeal of Hatch Act prohibitions against government workers participating in partisan politics.

"It strikes me as unusual that a man who says he is beholden to no special interests advances the repeal of legislation designed to insulate federal government workers from crass political pressure," he said.

And he opposed Carter's plan to allow election day voter registration, sounding the theme repeatedly used by GOP members of Congress. Reagan called the proposal "a scheme that would debase the franchise by opening our electoral system to wholesale fraud.

"In light of all this, I'm afraid that I can only conclude that if the American people want to cut back government, they're going to have to look somewhere besides the White House, where the Democrats are simply doing business as usual."

Earlier in the day, in a New York speech before the Foreign Policy Association, Reagan attacked Carter's foreign policy, especially his human rights campaign.

"The new administration's foreign policy has aimed most of its human rights criticisms at governments which are no threat to others and which, despite not always behaving precisely as we might like, have nevertheless been our friends," he said.

Reagan criticized the administration for opposing chrome imports from Rhodesia while opening trade with Cuba and negotiating a canal treaty with Panama. It was Reagan, in his primary battle against Gerald Ford, who first made Panama Canal treaty negotiations a campaign issue.

Mexican officer shot

TUCSON (AP) — The U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration flew to Tucson a Mexican police commander shot in a drug raid for medical treatment at the request of the Mexican attorney general, officials said.

Richard Bensinger, U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration director, said the man was flown by his agency free of charge Tuesday night as a "goodwill gesture."

Carlos Mondragon was listed in serious condition at the University of Arizona Hospital following surgery for bullet wounds in his stomach and leg, officials said.

Mondragon was wounded in a battle between a police-army strike force and several dozen drug traffickers near Cosala, on the Sinaloa-Durango border, according to the Culiacan newspaper in El Sol.

The newspaper said one of Mondragon's agents was killed in the shootout and 20 persons were arrested. An unknown amount of marijuana was siezed.

Bensinger said Mondragon had been working closely with the DEA to solve the narcotics problem in Mexico and the United States, but that DEA agents were not involved in the raid.

Mondragon was reportedly being treated at a hospital in nearby Culican when infection set in. Bensinger said the attorney general of Mexico personally asked for Mondragon's transport to a U.S. hospital. A DEA plane with two pilots flew from Dallas, Tex. to pick him up, he said.

"We don't plan to bill the Mexican government for the flight," he said. "You might look at it as a goodwill gesture. The work those men do is difficult and dangerous."

Bensinger said 16 law enforcement officers have died during drug investigations since the beginning of last year.

Crewmen abandon fiery ship

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The captain of a burning, sinking freighter says he and four crewmen tried for six hours to put out the flames in the engine room, but explosions forced them to abandon ship.

"She finally started sinking, and then we jumped off to the tugboat," said Efstathios A. Grivas, the Greek captain of the Liberian bulk carrier Joy.

The fire broke out Wednesday while the Joy was being towed to Galveston, Tex., for repairs on a disabled rudder. At the time, she was in the Gulf of Mexico about 200 miles southeast of New Orleans.

All but five of the 32 crewmen jumped to the tug J.A. Orgeron, which pulled alongside.

The men were brought to New Orleans for an informal inquiry by the Coast Guard.

Julian Hickox, skipper of the tug, said he tried to fight the fire with his boat's water hose.

"Finally, the engine room got so hot it just blowed a hole through the side of the ship," he said.

"It had settled three feet under by the stern," Hickox said, "and there was another big blast and she went down stern first.

"I just put my bow up against the bow of the ship, and they jumped over onto the tug."

Marbut leading attraction at Okie publishers confab

SEQUOYAH STATE PARK Okla. (AP) (AP) — The head of a Texas-based media group was to address Oklahoma publishers today to begin the two-day Oklahoma Press Association summer outing.

Bob Marbut, president and chief executive officer of Harte-Hanks Newspapers, Inc., was the lead attraction at the convention which has drawn 282 executives of daily and weekly newspapers, their spouses and children.

Marbut, 41, works out of the Harte-Hanks headquarters in San Antonio. Harte-Hanks, listed on the New York Stock Exchange, publishes 25 daily and 18 Sunday newspapers, as well as 43 weekly publications. It is also involved in broadcasting.

Next event on the schedule was a discussion on laws affecting tax and state planning by Tony Anderson and Ray Copeland, Oklahoma City certified public acountants.

Saturday events include appearances by Dr. Bob Samp, professor at the University of Wisconsin at Madison; Frank Quine, associate director of the American Press Institute of Reston, Va., and Mike Morrow, executive vice president of the North San Antonio Chamber of Commerce.

Officials push nursing homes quiz

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Charles Wilson says while he thinks most nursing homes give good care, he wants an investigation of allegations of abuse in some homes to prevent their recurrences.

Wilson, a Democrat from Lufkin, was joined Thursday by state Sen. Don Adams, D-Jasper, in calling for federal and state probes of Texas nursing homes following reports by the Lufkin News of alleged abuse of some elderly residents.

The News, in a series of articles based on what the paper said was information obtained from private sources, described situations where some residents were beaten, underfed and given inadequate medication.

Wilson said the incidents were "horrifying."

Most nursing homes, he said, are "well-run, compassionate homes, where elderly men and women are properly cared for."

"However," he said, "scattered incidents of abuse do occur and it is absolutely vital that they be reported and that proper corrective and punitive steps be taken to insure that they do not recur."

Wilson said he wants investigations by House committees. He said the "possibility of criminal charges" may also bring in the U.S. Attorney's office.

The congressman said he has sent copies of the newspaper articles to the Inspector General of the Health, Education and Welfare Department, the Dallas regional office of HEW and the Governor's Commission on Aging.

Adams said he was asking Atty. Gen. John Hill to launch a general investigation "not only of these particular incidents but also to find out if the same problems exist statewide."

The newspaper said it has learned that a 76-year-old woman was beaten with coathangers, shoes and belts in a Lufkin nursing home in April.

John D. Townsend, the assistant commissioner of the Texas Department of Public Welfare (DPW), said the DPW would release no documents about the incident because of federal and state laws that restrict the release of information concerning welfare rec

Med school dedication slated

LUBBOCK — June has been declared a month of dedication honoring the citizens of West Texas and celebrating the completion of the first phase of construction of the new Texas Tech University School of Medicine Building in Lubbock.

The citizens of West Texas are invited to visit the medical school for open Sunday June 12, 19 and 26 from one to five p.m. The new building is located on 4th St., just west of Indiana Ave., in Lubbock.

The building was formally dedicated June 5 by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Construction of the Medical School Building was begun in 1973. The 811,417 square foot structure (nearly 18 acres of floor space) is one of the largest buildings in the state. Construction cost is more than $40 million.

The new facility is headquarters for the regional medical school. When the school was created in 1969, it was designated a school for all of West Texas. To meet the needs of the 106 county area it serves, the school simultaneously has developed programs in Lubbock, Amarillo and El Paso. From these academic bases, the school works with affiliated institutions and medical practices in communities throughout West Texas.

All medical students spend their first two years at the Lubbock facility. The second two years are spent in El Paso, Amarillo, Lubbock and in affiliated institutions in other West Texas communities.

The first phase of constructions, now complete, consists of approximately one-third of the building in space which will be completed as needed to handle planned increases in the number of medical students in each class and the development of additional health professional schools at Texas Tech.

Medicare Part B premium increased

Beginning this month the Medicare Part B premium is being increased to $7.70 per month. The new premium amount will be effective with the Social Security checks received in July, according to Don Minyard, of the local Social Security Office.

Social Security beneficiaries who presently have the Part B premium deducted from their checks will automatically have the new amount withdrawn from their July checks, while beneficiaries who are presently billed quarterly will continue to receive their quarterly bills. The new quarterly amount will be $23.10.

This amount is the standard premium rate for all Social Security beneficiaries who applied for Part B of Medicare during their initial enrollment period. Theinitial enrollment period includes the three months before the month in which a person is age 65, the month in which he is age 65 and the three months after the month in which a person is age 65.

Anyone who enrolled for Part B of Medicare during this initial seven-month period will be charged the standard amount of $7.70.

Persons who do not enroll for Part B of Medicare during their initial enrollment period must wait until a general enrollment period to get Part B. General enrollment periods are from January 1 thru March 31 of each year. Persons who enroll during general enrollment periods pay a delayed filing penalty for Part B.

Ten per cent is charged for each 12-month period after the initial enrollment period for which a person delays in filing for Part B. A person who delays twelve months after his initial enrollment period to sign up for Part B would pay a premium of $8.80 effective with June. A person who delays for 24 months after his initial enrollment period to sign for Part B would pay a premium of $9.90, or a twenty per cent penalty, and so on.

No penalty is charged for delays of less than 12 full months after the initial enrollment period.

Any question concerning the increase in Medicare Part B premiums or Part B enrollment should be directed to the nearest Social Security Office.

Customs complaints

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Two U.S. Customs officials told a meeting of exporters and importers that customs agents don't make the laws, they only enforce them.

"We aren't given the leeway to decide it is a bad law, we aren't going to enforce it," said Donovon F. Working, U.S. Customs district director in Laredo. "You should be talking to your elected representatives to change that law."

Working and Houston Regional Commissioner Clarence Bingham met with Brownsville and Matamoros importers and exporters here Thursday to discuss local customs operations.

In a question-and-answer session, the major concern express was the fines and penalities imposed for clerical errors in manifests and invoices of merchandise crossing the border.

"We're human and sometimes errors are made," noted the manager of a Matamoros manufacturing plant. "When they are, we end up in a fine situation. It seems we are guilty until we are proven innocent."

Fire code violations in Texas stadium?

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — Texas Stadium, the home of the Dallas Cowboys, is being investigated for possible fire code violations.

Irving Mayor Marvin Randle said Thursday the city is looking into possible violations in the box seat area of the partially-covered stadium.

Fire Marshal J. D. Mitchell said he made the violation allegations in light of the recent night club fire in Kentucky that killed hundreds.

Dave Arey, stadium operations manager, said the alleged violations concern the lack of sprinklers and fire hose attachments near the box seats.

"The (city) council and the architects all concurred...that the stadium was not in violation of the code," Arey said.

Randle said Fire Chief Lewis Williams was to report on the situation to the council before the end of this month.

Arey said the question of fire safety at the stadium is a "pet peeve of the fire marshal."

The structure is mostly concrete, although private boxes feature carpeting and other furnishings.
