Port Walkout Tightens Grip On East Coast

(By The International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 — The two-day-old waterfront strike tightened its paralyzing grip on the ports of New York, Boston, Wilmington, Del., and Philadelphia today—and threatened to spread farther.

At least 22,000 AFL longshoremen are out. The number idle in New York mounted to 15,000.

A curious aspect of the strike was the absence of picketing. Strikers seemed content to stand silently near pier entrances.

Seven Piers Worked

John J. (Gene) Sampson, one of the strike leaders, predicted that the entire Atlantic coast will be hit after noon tomorrow.

He said only 500 of the 30,000 normally employed in New York harbor were working today. At least 15,000 were on strike while the remainder were observing the Armistice day holiday.

Seven New York piers, containing mostly perishables and military supplies, were worked today.

Sampson also predicted that tugboat men will join the longshoremen's strike.

Foreign Trade Hit

The men left their jobs in defiance of recommendations by leaders of the International Longshoremen's union (AFL) after an agreement had been reached with shipping companies on a proposed contract.

What started as a "wildcat" action yesterday appeared to be acquiring the sanction of union leaders whose recommendations had been ignored.

The strike movement has begun to tie up the nation's foreign trade, affecting American and foreign vessels alike. The effect on Marshall plan shipments may become serious.

The walkout already has halted unloading of 41 ships in New York and there are indicatoins that by tomorrow night virtually every merchant ship in the nation may be tied up.

Union leaders said Gulf ports longshoremen may join the walkout.

Pacific coast longshoremen (CIO) have been on strike for more than two months.

50-Cent Boost Asked

The New York situation was confused by the Armistice day holiday which longshoremen normally have off, and by reported dissension among top leaders of the union.

The strike, however, was said by the police to be 75 per cent

Party Leaders Study Reorganization

Truman May Forgive Some 'Sinful' Demos

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 11—Democratic national chairman J. Howard McGrath tonight expressed belief President Truman will forgive "venial, but not mortal sins" of the campaign when he proceeds with the reorganization of his administration.

Senator McGrath flew here from Washington with William (Bill) Boyle, a special political assistant. His arrival was scheduled to step up Mr. Truman's search for cabinet replacements.

McGrath said he would be "glad to discuss anything the President wants to take up" while he is with him. The party chieftain, talking with reporters, was asked if he hadn't said there were some groups the President "won't forgive" for failure to support his hard-fought race.

Changes To Be Discussed

"The President is not geared that way," McGrath said. "There are some groups that the President can't help but forgive."

"I'm sure he will forgive venial sins as opposed to mortal sins."

Asked to define a mortal political sin, he said it was "one which kills the soul."

McGrath didn't volunteer a definition of a venial sin. Reporters looked up a chaplain who likened a venial sin to a misdemeanor.

The senator talked with reporters a few minutes after he reported to the President and went to his own quarters on the naval submarine base where Mr. Truman has his temporary White House.

He and Boyle joined Senator Alben W. Barkley, vice-president-elect, and Leslie L. Biffle, director of the Senate Democratic policy committee for top-level discussions about prospective administrative changes as aftermath of the campaign.

These discussions will be interrupted when McGrath flies to Havana tomorrow with Barkley and Biffle for a stay of only a few hours.

McGrath welcomed the support

Democrat Scores Hollow Victory-- Flunks Bar Exam

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 11 (INS)—Lawrence County, Ill., is in a strange predicament.

County voters elected a new state's attorney, but he may not be able to take office—he's flunked his bar exam.

Philip Benefiel, 25-year-old former University of Illinois student, ran for the office on the Democratic ticket and was elected.

But Mark O. Roberts, secretary of the state board of law examiners, has disclosed that Benefiel failed to pass the tests given last month.

The announcement left doubt that the successful candidate could become a state's attorney. Roberts said Benefiel will get another chance in the March examinations, but that date is after the time he is due to take over his new duties.

Although a state's attorney is not required by Illinois constitution to be a bona fide lawyer, state law prohibits anyone not so licensed to take part in court proceedings.

The state supreme court also has ruled that the state's attorney's office is "inherently" one for a lawyer.

Authorities believe Benefiel's defeated incumbent opponent, Maurice T. Connell, might continue in office until a special election could be held or until Benefiel passed his exams.

GREEK PREMIER TO QUIT

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 11 (AP)—An official announcement today said Premier Themistokles Sophoulis will hand in his resignation at noon tomorrow. Sophoulis said last week his coalition govrenment would resign Nov. 8. The action was postponed pending completion of the Greek case before the United Nations General Assembly in Paris.

Vandenberg Warns Reds

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11.—Sen. Vandenberg warned the Kremlin tonight not to "fool itself" into believing that President Truman's election represented a "repudiation" of the American bipartisan foreign policy.

Vandenberg pointed out that Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov had "hailed the reelection of President Truman as some sort of encouraging repudiation of the bipartisan peace aims of the government of the United States—claiming in typically incendiary language that our people have rejected the 'frankly aggressive Republican program."

In a direct attack on what he said was Molotov's view, Vandenberg declared that 47 million Americans voted for the present bipartisan approach, while one million—the followers of Henry Wallace—voted against. Vandenberg said:

"The last election proves that we are the united and not the disunited states." He added:

GOP Backs Firm Stand

"It would be unfortunate for all concerned to have the Kremlin fool itself upon this score because wrong strategy often flows from wrong presumptions."

The GOP foreign policy leader in Congress made his remarks in a speech before the Reserve Officers association in Philadelphia where he was awarded their medal for his achievements in foreign affairs.

He proclaimed the full support of the Republican leadership for a firm policy toward Russia; and declared:

"I deeply believe our leadership can avert a war which not even its victory could afford to win."

Addresses Molotov

Vandenberg, who will relinquish the chairmanship of the foreign relations committee in Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex), said that a "Moscow habit of self-deception" had led to misinterpretation of the outcome of the American presidential election.

Addressing himself directly to Soviet Premier Molotov, Vanden-

UN Again Seeks End To Dispute

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Nov. 11 — United Nations officials were reported working urgently tonight on a new effort to break the Berlin deadlock. The plan may involve shifting the case from the Security Council to the 58-nation General Assembly.

Australia's external affairs minister, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, was said to have offered his help to the four big powers in any effort to end their dispute over Berlin. Evatt is president of the assembly.

Sources close to Juan Bramuglia of Argentina, Security Council president, said however that western power delegates had advised him they believed the case should stay in the Security Council.

Any decision by the assembly would be free from a big power veto. The Assembly, however, has no power other than aroused world opinion to back up its decisions.

UN officials moved for a new try on the Berlin case before Russia's announcement yesterday that American and British air lift planes would be forced down if they strayed outside their assigned corridors or were found without national identifications.

The Russian announcement was said, however, to have speeded efforts here to get a settlement.

Evatt may invoke a Mexican resolution appealing to the United States, Russia, Britain and France to resolve their differences. That resolution was adopted unanimously by the assembly recently.

Vishinsky Again Confuses Issue Of Whether Reds Have A-Bomb

PARIS, Nov. 11. (INS)—Andrei Vishinsky today gave another of those "yes or no" statements on whether Russia has an atomic bomb.

Arguing in the UN Political committee for limited disarmament and outlawing of the atomic bomb the Russian delegate told western officials:

"It is not only you who would have to give up the bomb, but others who today possess, or tomorrow will possess, the atomic weapon."

Two Texas Fliers Seeking Record Forced To Land

LONGVIEW, Nov. 11. (AP) — Pred Vinmont and Bert Simons crash-landed at the Gregg county airport here tonight, bringing an end to their try for the world's endurance record in the air.

Houston Dean, gound chief, said that the pair was forced down at 11 p. m. (CST) after 329 hours because of a frozen motor.

The two, who took off from a Dallas airport Oct. 20, missed the record by 197 hours. The record is 726 hours.

Struggle May Determine Fate Of Large Part Of Nation

Gigantic Battle Raging In China With 1,000,000 Men Involved

By SEYMOUR TOPPING
INS Staff Correspondent

NANKING, Nov. 12. (Friday)—A gigantic battle involving more than one million men raged along the Suchow front north of the Yangtze river today with the fate of Nanking, Shanghai and the heart of China hanging on the outcome.

A government spokesman described the fierce conflict as greater than any fought in the "anti-Japanese war" and claimed Communist troops suffered 30,000 casualties as against 10,000 for the Nationalists in the first 76 hours of the struggle.

He reported that government reinforcements were being rushed to the battle area from points along the Peiping-Hankow railroad and that the Communists were throwing into the fight battle-seasoned victors of the Manchurian campaign.

Battle On Huge Scale

(The reported million-man battle in China is on a scale greater even than some of the biggest clashes of men in Europe and Russia during World War II. At the battle of Stalingrad, for example, the Germans had some 350,000 men in action, with Russian manpower about the same.

(The hard-fought Libyan campaign leading up to the defeat of Rommel's army at El Alamein never involved more than about 100,000 troops on each side.

(In Europe, some of the campaigns involved millions of men in action on many fronts, but there is no specific record of any one battle on the man-to-man scale of the one reportedly raging in China. Best estimates of German troops thrown into the Battle of the Bulge placed the figure at about 200,000 to 250,000.)

Civilians Flee Area

The flaming battle front lies 175 miles north of Nanking. A major defeat for the government forces would leave the way open for a Red sweep through the Yangtze valley to Nanking—the capital—and teeming Shanghai.

American, British and other foreign civilians were fleeing from the valley.

Planes were flying women and children dependents of American service personneel from Nanking to Shanghai and Tsingtao for evacuation by Army ships.

Food Rioting Continues

The government proclaimed martial law over the 40,000-square-mile Yangtze valley to maintain order and smash a Communist "second front" behind the government's lines.

Food rioting by civilians was reported at several points and hungry Nationalist troops returned from Manchuria were said to be raiding stores and street venders in Tientsin.

Gravity of the situation was admitted by Maj. Gen Chang Tai-Hsiang, commander of the Nanking garrison, who said:

"Nanking now has come under the threat of Communist military operations."

Proclamation of martial law was followed by the clamping of a midnight to 6 a. m. curfew on the cities of the lower Yangtze valley, including Nanking, Shanghai and Hangchow.

In issuing the martial law decree, Lieut. Gen. Sun Lienchung of the government high command said:

"The battle for Suchow has already commenced and the greatest security and orderliness must be maintained in the rear."

Warmer Weather Is Forecast For Area

South Plains is due for partly cloudy skies and slightly warmer temperatures, according to the weather station forecast late Thursday night.

Today's low is expected to be about 32 degrees, the same as that of Armistice Day, and a maximum reading in the low 60's. The high Thursday was 59 degrees, four degrees below the 63-degree maximum recorded Wednesday.

Thursday morning's low of 32 was substantially higher than the 26 degree minimum Wednesday and the 24-degree reading of Tuesday.

West Texas skies were generally overcast Thursday, and the Associated Press reported that cloudy skies and scattered rains promised cool weather for most of Texas Friday.

Area 4-H Club Winners Named

At least four 4-H club boys and girls on the South Plains will be among 29 or more from the state scheduled to attend the national 4-H club Congress in Chicago Nov. 28 to Dec. 2 with all expenses paid, as result of outstanding work in club activities, according to announcement from extension service headquarters at College Station.

An additional 16, bringing the total to 47, shared in various other awards on a state basis, and according to the announcement, it is possible that several of that 16 will also attend the Chicago meeting, since some are entered in sectional and national contests in which winners are yet to be announced.

Club workers in Castro, Cochran, and Lubbock counties have been awarded the Chicago trip, three of them as guests of the Santa Fe railroad, and the other as guest of Montgomery Ward.

Area winners in the Santa Fe contest are Mary Lou Crump of Shallowater, E. P. Wicker of Wilson, and Kenneth Acker of Nazareth (Castro county). Lois Wilson of Morton won the Montgomery Ward contest for the Chicago trip.

Three others in this area were

Bad Weather Slows Air Lift To Berlin

BERLIN, Nov. 11. (AP)—Bad flying weather slowed the British-American air lift today and stalled off a possible showdown on a Soviet threat to force down planes straying from the air corridors to blockaded Berlin.

All air lift pilots were on the lookout for Soviet patrol planes but spotted none.

The pilots were alerted by a Russian announcement, made public by the Americans last night, that the Soviet air force intends to force down any plane without national identification, or found outside the three-mile-wide corridors or the 40-mile-wide area around Berlin.

Commercial planes flying to Berlin do not carry national identifications.

Tokyo Trials Nearing End

TOKYO, FRIDAY, Nov. 12—Hideki Tojo, wartime premier of Japan and No. 1 war crimes trial defendant, and 24 other Japanese war leaders were found guilty today by the International tribunal.

Sir William Webb of Australia, president of the Far East military tribunal, pronounced Tojo guilty on all ten counts which the eleven-nation military court found that the prosecution had proved against the defendants.

Reading of the verdicts commenced after Sir William had completed the week-long task of delivering the 300,000-word general judgment. The last page of the bulky document was finished at 11 a.m.

The court read the verdicts one by one. Sentences will be pronounced on each of the defendants later. Indications are that many of the leaders will receive the death penalty.

Araki, a leading jingoist and twice minister of war, was convicted on counts 1 and 27.

The first alleged conspiracy to wage aggressive war, the 27th of waging war against China in Manchuria in 1931.

Others Convicted

Gen. Kenji Doihara, who engineered the Mukden incident which set off the war in Manchuria in 1931, also was convicted on the same two counts. In addition he was convicted on counts 29, 31, 32, 35 and 36.

Third to hear the verdict of guilty pronounced against him was Col. Kingoro Hashimoto, who sank the Panay in the Yangtze before the U. S. was involved in the war. He was convicted on two counts.

Field Marshall Shunroku Hata, former commander-in-chief in China was the fourth to be convicted. He was found guilty on six counts alleging conspiracy to wage aggressive war and waging aggressive war.

Next was Baron Kiichiro Hiranuma, former premier, who was found guilty on six counts.

Former Premier Koki Hirota was the sixth to hear the verdict of guilty pronounced. He was convicted on three counts.

Next was Naoki Hoshino, for-

Five Injured In Traffic Mishaps

Four persons were admitted to hospitals here Thursday for treatment of injuries suffered in three traffic mishaps. One other man was released after treatment.

M. J. Stanton, 25, of Shallowater, and S. C. Caldwell, 47, of Muleshoe, were brought to St. Mary's hospital by Bryan McDonald and Son funeral home ambulance after their cars collided at a country intersection shortly before noon about one mile south of Winke gin near Shallowater.

Stanton suffered a crushed vertabrae of the back and Caldwell was treated for a laceration of the head, it was reported. Both were reported in satisfactory condition last night by hospital sources.

Car Overturned

An investigating highway patrolman said that Stanton's car was going west and Caldwell's vehicle going south, both meeting at the intersection. Caldwell's car was overturned about two and a half times, the officers said. He had not talked to either of the two men late last night.

Two persons were admitted to Lubbock Memorial hospital last night for injuries suffered in two accidents shortly after 9 p.m.

Bill Snell, about 32, of 2323 Ninth street was taken to the hospital after a fall from a wagon southwest of town while on a hayride with friends.

Although he suffered no apparent injuries, he could not recall where he had been or what had happened, his companions said. He

Five Million In Germany Strike

FRANKFURT, Nov. 12. (Friday) (INS)—The first of an estimated 5,000,000 German workers began a 24-hour strike at midnight Thursday in the Anglo-American occupation zones to protest high living costs.

The one-day strike is expected to cost German economy the equivalent of $75 million and also is the opening gun in a vigorous campaign aimed at more socialization in Germany.

The U. S. military broadcast warnings to the German labor leaders that the strike "can only defeat its purpose because it retards production."

A spokesman said the strike is permitted because western allied policy encourages the development of democratic trade unions.

Observers speculated that the labor trouble may touch off major differences in Anglo-American occupation policies in view of the American backing of a free economy.

The British Laborite administration always has supported socialization.

The German labor leaders apparently are trying to obtain abandonment of a free economy. The workers are not striking for higher wages, although they are protesting high costs.

Workers engaged in the Allied air lift operations, employes of the military government, and German railway and postal workers are not striking.

The final decision to strike came yesterday when the bizonal executive council rejected a ten-point workers' demand which included proclamation of a "state of emergency," restoration of price control, and socialization of key industries.

TWO MINERS KILLED

Uneasy World Prays For Peace In Armistice Day Celebrations

(By The Associated Press)

A WORLD living in an uneasy armistice celebrated Armistice day Thursday by praying for a permanent peace that two world wars have failed to bring.

America, England, France and a few other countries remembered the end of World War I 30 years ago with quiet ceremonies honoring their war heroes.

Taps and graveside prayers were heard in thousands of American communities. But talks by featured speakers were heavy with hints of preparedness as events elsewhere cast ominous shadows.

The greatest battle in Chinese history raged near Nanking. Russia threatened new interference with the Berlin air lift. Jews and Arabs were at war in the Holy Land, and the U. S. Navy called off its search for a mystery submarine near Pearl Harbor.

Secretary of Air W. Stuart Symington sounded the keynote in a speech at Rochester, N. Y., when he said an armistice is only a "temporary device" and that "only by adequate military preparedness can we hope to have a free world."

VERY shortly after General Marshall returned from the April conference in London he called me to his office. He said that during his visit he had found little chance to look over American activity but had become concerned because American officers on duty in London were not familiar with the broader problems and objectives of the War department.

Marshall directed me to visit London to see what I could do about correcting this situation and to bring back recommendations involving future organization and development of our European forces.

Draft Submitted

On June 8, I submitted to the Chief of Staff a draft of a "Directive for the Commanding General, European Theater of Operations," which provided for unified command of all American forces allocated to the European area. I remarked to General Marshall that this was one paper he should read in detail before it went out because it was likely to be an important document in the further waging of the war. His reply still lives in my memory: "I certainly do want to read it. You may be the man who executes it. If that's the case, when can you leave?" Three days later General Marshall told me definitely that I would command the European theater.

Naturally I have often wondered what led to that particular and apparently sudden decision. General Marshall has never volunteered a word but of course I did realize that it was sudden only to me; he had thought the matter over care-

New Theory Of Time Indicates Universe Two Billion Years Old

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Nov. 11. (U.P.) — The universe is expanding at fantastic speed or else is a static arrangement of numberless worlds. But either way, it all began about two billion years ago.

A new theory of time, reconciling both these major beliefs of the nature of the universe was propounded by Dr. Gerald Whitrow of the Imperial College of Science. He has been working on the theory since it was first suggested by E. A. Milne of Oxford 13 years ago.

Dr. Whitrow's theory is so abstruse that in its original form it is comprehensible only to physicists. But reduced to simple language it says that time as we know it is not an accurate measurement over long periods, say, hundreds of millions of years.

This, said Dr. Whitrow, will involve changes in the fundamental laws of physics.

Two Scales of Time

Dr. Whitrow's theory applies two different scales of time to the expanding universe and to the static universe and the results are roughly the same, he said, in that they point to two billion years ago as the beginning of everything.

In the static universe theory there is no beginning; the universe is assumed always to have existed back to infinity. In the expanding universe theory it is believed that at the beginning, called time zero, all the heavenly bodies were fairly close together.

In this congested state they were held in place by an uneasy balance of two great forces—gravity, which tended to pull them together; and cosmic repulsion, which tended to push them apart. Something disturbed the balance and began the terrific expansion into space which is apparently underway.

World Was An Atom

There is even one theory that at time zero the entire universe was a single super radioactive atom and that its explosion started the expansion.

Dr. Whitrow said the two scales of time used in his theory are the rotation of the earth, and "natural time," computed from "evolutionary time." The latter is gauged from the rate of decay of radioactive minerals found in the earth and from atomic activity of heavenly bodies charted on a radar-like principle.

He said that all physicists are looking to Palomar's big eye to produce additional light on the expanding universe, which was first noted in observations from Mt. Wilson's 100-inch telescope 20 years ago.

Australia has a campaign urging everyone to do a full week's work every week.

Mail Order Sunday School To Aid Children In Remote Areas

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 11. (U.P.)—Children at remote points in northern Minnesota soon will be learning the Ten Commandments through a "mail order" Sunday school.

The Rev. A. E. Winger, secretary of the Minnesota district of the Missouri Lutheran Church synod, said that six area churches have completed an arrangement for reaching the children.

Many children are not able to attend Sunday school, Rev. Winger said, because they live too far from churches. The Bible lessons will go to them by mail.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 11. (U.P.)—Rugged is the word for 42-year-old carpenter Joe Eaton.

Working on a 30-foot scaffold, Eaton lost his balance and plunged to the concrete sidewalk below.

Police insisted on taking him to the hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises, but within the hour Eaton was tempting fate again as he went back to work on the scaffold.

Reds Refused More Power Over Japan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—The United States today rejected a bid by Soviet Russia for a stronger voice in shaping Japan's future.

Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, American spokesman on the 11-nation Far Eastern commission, said the Russians had urged a new system of international controls which would extend beyond the signing of a formal peace with Japan.

McCoy said the Russians proposed giving control for several years to "the powers most interested in preventing new Japanese aggression." Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin has pressed for such an arrangement at closed-door sessions of the FEC's policy-making commission.

Want An Indian Head Penny! There Are Plenty Available

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 11 (INS)—Remember the Indian head penny?

They are still available, if you want to buy them.

Norman H. Brock of San Antonio, who deals in old coins and stamps, lists them at $2.50 per 100, $20 per 1,000 and $175 per 10,000. A single Indian head sets you back one nickel.

Those are the prices for the common, run-of-the-mill variety.

The fancier ones run like this:

The 1908 model bearing the "S" of the San Francisco mint cost $1 to $2 each. The 1909 penny with the "S" brings from $5 to $10. The 1909 coin was the last of the Indian heads.

However, Brock says, it's not too difficult to find them. He says he recently obtained 12,000 from one Southwest Texas bank, but, he adds, there wasn't a rare one in the lot.

San Antonio Dog Seems To Enjoy Flying With Master

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 11. (INS)—The flying bug bites man and animal alike, and now a man's best friend has joined him in the air.

At any rate, this is the case of Capt. Bruce Eytinge of San Antonio, and his three-year-old Chow, Sun-Yet-Sen, XVI.

Sun-Yat-Sen goes joy-riding with his master often and seems to enjoy his co-piloting role.

And he's got a fancy record to go with that name, too, having won division prizes in three dog shows.

Berlin Airlift Reaches To Dallas As Planes Overhauled

DALLAS, Nov. 11. (INS)—The Berlin airlift has a terminus in Dallas.

Fifteen of the C-54's engaged in "Operation Vittles" will have been reconditioned in the shops of the Texas Engineering and Manufacturing Company's Dallas shops and flown back to Germany by the end of October.

During September, 10 of the big planes were overhauled there. The firm expects to work over 20 of them in November and 25 in December.

The company reconditions any planes after each 1,000 hours in the air, although the planes frequently pile up as many as 5,000 hours before they can be sent back to the U.S.

The planes are flown from Germany to England, then to the Westover, Md., headquarters of the Military Air Transport Service en route to Dallas.

In Dallas, the planes have radar installed, engines replaced or repaired, radio systems modified, fuel tanks sealed and various mechanical components repaired.

After checks and rechecks, the planes head eastward again, pointed for the rubble and gloom of Berlin.

Newspaper Vendor Dies After Telling Of Plans To Quit Job

HOUSTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—A 65-year-old newspaper vendor dropped into a cafe for his regular morning coffee today and told the cashier:

"There will be another man on the corner tomorrow. I'm quitting."

A few minutes later the body of the man, identified as Alva Charlie Parker, was found on a sidewalk a block from the cafe.

Police said he apparently died of a heart attack.

FINDS LARGEST SAPPHIRE

BRISBANE, Australia (U.P.)—A miner's wife picked up the world's largest sapphire about 300 yards from where the famous $303,000 Black Star Sapphire was found last May. Mrs. Roy McKinney found the blue stone weighing 1,958 carats. The Black Star weighed 1,156 carats. Mrs. McKinney sold it at an undisclosed price.

BABY SITTERS

IN Rochester, Minn., youngsters over 13 are enrolling in a baby sitting course given by the local YWCA which maintains a list of teen-agers who become eligible for the job after six weeks training.

They learn all about preparing baby's formula, the "burp" technique, feeding youngsters, diapering them and entertaining their young charges. They are told not to raid the ice box, tie up the telephone with idle chatter and entertain boy friends.

If the sitter violates the rules she may lose her "license." And parents may find themselves sans sitter the next time, too, if they stay over the midnight deadline.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

REMEMBER last Christmas and the Christmas before? Did you vow that you would not put off your shopping until the last minute?

Many people really enjoy the spirited hustle and bustle of finishing Christmas shopping barely in time to wrap the gifts and put them under the tree. But if such frenzied activity leaves you too tired to enjoy the holidays, perhaps you'd best get your shopping started right away.

SPEND some time in the housewares section of your favorite store and you'll find a variety of gifts which will please the homemakers on your list. The kitchen-minded woman likely will appreciate something new in kitchen equipment such as a knife rack, set of knives, cookie press, kitchen utensils.

A matching set of gleaming pots and pans will look beautiful under the tree and in the kitchen too. A set might include a double boiler, coffee maker, sauce pot and one or two sauce pans. For a personal touch, fill one of the pans with Christmas candies or a fruit cake. Wrap in cellophane and tie with a gay ribbon.

These are just a few of the many ideas you'll think of to add an unusual touch to your Christmas shopping. So good luck, and good shopping!

KNOWING COLORS

HERE are some interesting observations on color made at a meeting of the Dallas Advertising league:

"We see colors with three separate nerves. With the same nerve we see black and white, with another red and green and with the third yellow and blue. Complementary colors are seen with the same nerve; the secret is how to balance color so that it will be easy on the eye, for after-image is important.

When you look at red for thirty seconds, change gaze, and you see green, a psychological phenomenon. The exact way to create a harmony is to look at the color chosen, then look at a white sheet of paper for the complement. The after-image can work in your behalf or against you.

"Green vegetables should be displayed in complementary colors. Yellow walls in a meat market make red meat turn purple in the after-image. Change the walls to blue green and the after image is red, which embellishes the red meat. With blue green walls in the operating room, doctors no longer suffer from spots before the eyes caused by white.

"Color is emotion. No other advertising medium is so neglected as direct mail, and the envelope the most neglected. Provide color in an envelope and the recipient will want to open it."

Most ceramic floor tiles are unglazed and are fired at a temperature of more than 2,200 degrees Fahrenheit so that they will withstand hard abrasive wear.

Today's Town Talk

Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Fike, College and Fortieth, entertained Tuesday night with a 6 o'clock pheasant dinner in their home. Guests were Mesdames Mary E. Lovell, W. P. Garvin and Pearl Metcalfe.

During dinner small talk included the description of some of the antics of the hosts' young grandson, Eddie, son of Rev. and Mrs. Charles ike, jr., of Gruver.

It seems that the young man has an aversion to hearing clocks strike, and last summer while he was visiting for several days in his grandparents' home, they stopped all of the clocks to keep him from being frightened. Recently when he came to see them again, they picked him up and said, "Let's go see the clock, Eddie," hoping he had forgotten his fear of the temporal mechanism. But when confronted again with his old enemy, the little fellow made grotesque faces at it and threatening noises as if to frighten Father Time in return.

Misses Ann Burgess and Evelyn Schmidt, 1922 Ninth, will spend this weekend relaxing in the mountain air in Alamogordo, N. M.

Rev. J. O. Haymes, 2618 Eighteenth, will return today from Dallas where he has been since Tuesday attending a council meeting for all district superintendents of the Methodist churches in Texas.

Mrs. O. M. Bowen of Houston is in Lubbock for a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs. Kyle B. Ratisseau, 2008 Thirtieth.

Mrs. O. O. Sampson, 2018 Tenth, is visiting in Corpus Christi with her son, J. E. Sampson. He was her guest in Lubbock last week and she returned home with him.

They will make a trip into Old Mexico for a holiday in the sun before the Lubbockite returns home sometime next week.

Attending the Methodist State Youth conference in Dallas are Rev. J. F. Peters of Grassland, who is known by many Lubbockites, Rev. E. H. Crandal and Dr. H. I. Robinson, both of Lubbock First Methodist church.

Announcing the engagement of Tommie Jean French to Richard C. Rogers, Mrs. Tom French, the mother of the bride-elect, will entertain with an announcement tea this afternoon in her home between 2 and 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Darwin Bigness was high score winner and Mrs. G. B. Morris won low score prize at the Wednesday Bridge club party held in the home of Mrs. Doyle McLeod, 1902 Thirty-first.

Guests were Mesdames Wayne Finnell and Harry Howell and other members playing were Mesdames Floyd Read, Allen Marcus, Joe E. Baldridge, Ben Williams, Bedford Railey, Sidney Keeton and Jack Giles.

Celebrating Armistice Day by going squirrel hunting were C. C. Chambers and his son, J. C. Chambers, 1214 Sixteenth. They visited Mr. Chambers' brother, Walter J. Chambers in Nocona and he accompanied them on the outing.

Mrs. Brown Is Honored

Mrs. W. T. Fain gave a coffee Wednesday at her home at 2712 Twenty-first as a courtesy to Mrs. Sidney Brown, the former Betty Eisenberg, whose marriage was announced Sunday. The honoree was presented a gift of silver.

Yellow chrysanthemums and candles decorated the refreshment table where the honoree's mother, Mrs. W. F. Eisenberg, presided.

Dinner-Dance To Be For Assembly Club

Assembly club will attend a dinner-dance at the Hilton hotel Saturday night at 8 o'clock. Mrs. W. O. Daniels is chairman of the host group.

Bailey Ireland's orchestra will play.

WEEKEND GUESTS

Rev. and Mrs. Karl D. Hummel of Dallas are the weekend guests of their daughters, Mrs. M. D. Morton, jr., and Mrs. C. E. Spaugh. Rev. Hummel is to speak at Grace Chapel Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and will show slides that night at 6 o'clock.

Newsman Claims Papers Failed To Find Trend Toward HST

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 11. (AP) — The bulk of American newspapers guessed wrong on the presidential election last week because "all of us were guilty of doing a little too much telling and too little explaining," Roy A. Roberts, Kansas City editor, said today.

"Frankly, the mass public doesn't like to be told by newspapers or anybody else, for that matter, what they should do and think," Roberts, president and general manager of The Kansas City Star, said in an address prepared for the 29th national convention of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society.

The speech was delivered by Robert W. Reed, assistant managing editor of the Star, in Roberts' absence due to illness.

Papers Should Lead

"Its a prime function of a newspaper to lead, not to follow," Roberts said. "But over the years I have sort of come to the conclusion that you serve your purpose more effectively by setting forth the facts and letting the public make up its own mind than by overstressing your own conclusions and expecting the mass public to accept your opinions.

"The mass public got the picture of a little fellow being ganged. Truman swung for the heart, Dewey countered at the head. When a political tide or trend sets in, it sweeps everything before it."

Roberts said his primary concern over the election was whether newspapers printed the news of the campaign "fairly and adequately" and how all of them "could have been so wrong on their predictions and not pick up the last minute surge of the mass vote to Truman."

"Answering the first question," he said, "I say without hesitation or qualification that the bulk of the newspapers carried the actual news of the presidential battle fairly and fully.

"The press services were scrupulously fair. Neither newspapers nor press services deserve commendation for this. That was their duty to their readers; it is their function. On this score, the American newspapers did not fail."

Roberts said "most of our faces are red" because of failure to sense the trend to Truman.

"We didn't do the job of old fashioned reporting we should have," he explained. "It wasn't intentional, I am sure."

Radio Writer-Producer Loses Valuable Film And Recordings

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (INS)—Radio writer-producer Arch Oboler reported today he has lost two packages containing ten months' work done during a 40,000-mile trip through Africa.

In the packages, missing somewhere between New York and Hollywood, are 30,000 feet of color film for a television series and transcribed tape recordings for 36 half-hour radio shows.

A New York spokesman for Oboler said a valuation of $100,000 had been placed on the parcels missing after having been shipped by express from New York.

He noted, however, that actually the packages were priceless, since it would be impossible to put a dollar value on the ten months Oboler put in on the job, and the 40,000 miles he trekked through Africa for his material.

Chocolate Rhapsody Cake
RICH . . . CHOCOLATE-Y . . . DELICIOUS

1¾ cups sifted cake flour
1½ cups sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder (or 1 teaspoon tartrate baking powder)
¾ teaspoon soda
½ cup Spry
3 ounces chocolate, melted
1 cup buttermilk or thick sour milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs, unbeaten

Sift flour, sugar, salt, baking powder and soda into mixing bowl . . . Drop in Spry. (No need to cream Spry first. This pure vegetable shortening isn't kept in the refrigerator, so it's always creamy-soft, ready for instant mixing.) . . . Add melted chocolate, buttermilk and vanilla and beat 200 strokes (2 minutes by hand or on mixer at low speed) . . . Scrape bowl and spoon or beater . . . Add eggs and beat 200 strokes (2 minutes on mixer at low speed). (Isn't Spry's One-Bowl Method quick and easy! Why, you actually save two-thirds the usual mixing time!) . . . Bake in 2 deep 8-inch Spry-coated layer pans in moderate oven (350° F.) 30–40 minutes. Spread Chocolate Harmony Frosting on top and sides of layers and garnish with thin slices of Brazil nuts which have been softened in hot water before slicing.

Chocolate Harmony Frosting

Put 2 egg whites, unbeaten, 1½ cups sugar, 5 tablespoons water, 1 teaspoon light corn sirup and ⅛ teaspoon salt in top of double boiler and mix thoroughly.

Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly with rotary egg beater until mixture will hold a peak (about 7 minutes). Remove from hot water, add 1 teaspoon vanilla and beat until cool and thick enough to spread. Just before spreading on cake, fold 3 squares chocolate, melted and cooled, carefully and thoroughly into frosting.

DAR Chapters Of Six Towns Represented At Meeting

Seventy-five members of Daughters of the American Revolution chapters of Lubbock, El Paso, Amarillo, Midland, Sweetwater and San Angelo and three state officers attended the West Regional DAR meeting at Hilton hotel Thursday.

Each of the state officers, Mrs. E R. Barrow of Houston, state regent; Mrs. Frank Trau of Sherman, vice regent; and Mrs. Walter Dick of Columbus, state parliamentarian, addressed the women. Mrs. Barrow discussed two special DAR projects which are to help restore the Texas room at Memorial Continental hall in Washington, D. C., and to donate $3,000 to Sul Ross college in Alpine. Mrs. Trau, both state vice regent and national chairman on Americanism, spoke on teaching American history to native born citizens as well as foreigners. "The D A R Manual for Citizenship which is printed in 19 languages, should be given to every foreigner who takes out citizenship papers," stated Mrs. Dick who is national chairman of the manual. The Columbus woman, who is also state chairman of DAR approved schools, discussed the schools.

Mrs. Robert J. Allen, regent of the local Nancy Anderson chapter which was the hostess group at the meeting, presided and welcomed the state officers. Mrs. William G. Dingus gave the invocation and Miss Kathleen Brown, Americanization chairman of the local chapter, read the Pledge to the Flag.

Other speakers included Mrs. J. H. Paget of El Paso, who urged that the women contribute to the scholarship fund for Indians; Mrs. F. H. McGregor of Amarillo who spoke on the DAR magazine; Mrs. M B. Hilburn, sr., who discussed genealogical records; and Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt who spoke on conservation.

Announcement was made that the state DAR conference which will be held March 20, 1949, has been changed from Houston to Galveston. At this conference, the 50th anniversary of the DAR in Texas will be observed and state officers are to be elected.

At noon, a luncheon was served for the women in Yaqui room of Hilton hotel and following the meeting, a buffet supper was given in the J. T. Hutchinson home at 1519 Broadway for the state officers, visiting regents and the executive board of the Nancy Anderson chapter. Hostesses were Mesdames Allen, Kleinschmidt, Hutchinson, Robert W. Wright, J. B. Logan, Dingus, Clyde F. Elkins, J. L. Barstow, R. E. Strickland, W. P. Brummett, Leroy T. Patton and Frank Hudgins.

Russian And British Officials Drink Toast To Berlin Solution

PARIS, Nov. 11. (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky and British minister of state Hector McNeil today joined in an Armistice Day toast for "a solution in Berlin."

Vishinsky, Soviet deputy foreign minister gave a luncheon in the Soviet embassy. The gathering, one of the guests said, was "very cordial."

The man who proposed the "solution-in-Berlin" toast was one who has struggled hardest in the last few weeks to reach it—Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Atilio Bramuglia, November president of the United Nations Security Council.

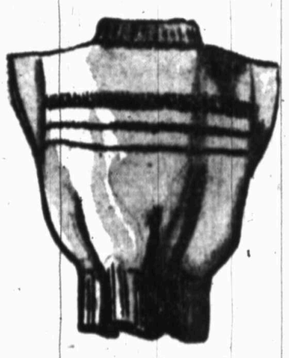

India has shipped 2,000,000 pounds of tea to the United States in six weeks.

Winners Named For 4-H Honors

named among the state's 47 award winners, for outstanding work in 4-H club activity.

These were: Doyle Davis, 17, of Hart, Castro county, who won a $25 bond posted by Kraft Foods company in a dairy production contest, and Davis also is entered for sectional and national award, through which it is possible for him to win an expense-paid trip to the national congress. He has been in club work seven years and carried demonstrations in dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine, crops and poultry. He is an established dairy breeder, and has exhibited in local and state shows. His total income from products sold is about $30,000. He attended the national congress in 1945 on a Santa Fe award;

Davis Is Tech Student

Alvin G. Davis, 20, of Post, who won a gold watch in the Edward Foss Wilson leadership contest. Now a student in Texas Tech, Davis has been in club work eight years, with demonstrations in beef cattle, swine, dairy cattle, cotton and grain sorghums. In the army in 1946-47, he spent some time in Hawaii, where he met 4-H club leaders there. He attended the national congress in 1943 on a Santa Fe award, was awarded the Anderson-Clayton scholarship for his cotton in 1945, and received the Danforth award for leadership in 1948, as result of which he attended Camp Miniwanca, Mich., for two weeks of leadership training;

Eloise Woodruff, 18, of Shallowater, is entered in a sectional Edward Foss Wilson leadership contest through which she could attend the national congress. A sophomore in Texas Tech, she has held every position in her home club. She attended the national 4-H congress in 1946, and the national 4-H club camp in 1947. She was part of a team demonstration on value of buying eggs on graded basis at the state 4-H roundup in 1946, was county dress revue winner of 1947, and Gold Star girl for the county in 1944. She has been a leader in county and district camps, instructing in handicraft. She was adult leader of the district camp in 1948, and member of the judging committee which selected the 1948 Gold Star girl. She was awarded a $100 scholarship by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce on the basis of selection by classmates and faculty. She helps with all the work on a 320-acre cotton farm.

Have Outstanding Records

The four area winners of trips to Chicago, with parts of their record, are:

Mary Lou Crump, 16, of Shallowater, who won in the state records contest. In club work seven years, she has carried demonstrations in canning, sewing and cooking, poultry and gardening. She was county Gold Star girl in 1945, and won more prizes than any other girl at the fair here, taking first in the county in poultry, home improvement, canning, dairy food demonstration, food preparation, and record contests;

E. P. Wicker, 18, of Wilson, Garza county, has been in club work six years and carried demonstrations in beef calves, hogs, dairy cattle, poultry, and field crops. He started with two beef calves in 1942, won a registered gilt in the Sears Foundation contest in 1943 and from profits on this bought a registered Jersey heifer. After calving, the cow was sold but the calf won first at his county show and at the South Plains fair here. He has kept hogs every year, handling 28 head this year. His work with dairy cattle has been outstanding, and in 1947 he won the Kraft Gold Medal dairy award as well as a Texas Tech scholarship as outstanding junior showman at the fair here. In the U. S. Navy a while in 1948, his company commander recommended him for enrollment in the U. S. Naval academy, but necessity for a medical discharge put an end to that. Resuming 4-H club work, he showed both junior and senior champion heifers at the Garza county show, and grand champion dairy animal in open and junior divisions in the South Plains fair here;

Kenneth Acker, 16, of Nazareth, Castro county, has been in club work seven years, with demonstrations in swine, dairy cattle, and field crops. Twice unsuccessful to win a pig in the Sears contest, he won in 1945 and was awarded a Chester White boar. The boar took first place in an Amarillo show, which won him a Jersey heifer. Drouth plagued his field crop demonstrations, but he made money in 1946 by pasturing 80 head of cattle on wheat and row crop stubble. In 1948, he made a net profit of about $1,600 from 50 acres in hegari and sudan. He has been president of his club;

Lois Wilson, 17, of Morton, winner of the Montgomery Ward girls' record contest, has carried demonstrations in garden, yard, home improvement, bedroom improvement, clothing, dairy cows, swine, and poultry. She was county Gold Star girl in 1945 and a blue ribbon winner in the state dress revue. She is saving her profits for a college education, and as a member of the Talent club won an award of $25. She borrowed $140 from her college fund to add to the $25 and bought a dairy cow. She expects calves to add to her college fund. She is one of a family of six living on a 354-acre farm.

Search For Sub Reported In Pearl Harbor Area Called Off

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 11. (INS)—A night-long Navy sea and air search of the Pearl Harbor area was called off at 9 a. m. today when it failed to disclose the presence of a foreign submarine.

U. S. Pacific fleet headquarters received a report last night from a naval vessel that it had "evidence of a possible submarine contact nine miles south of Pearl Harbor."

Truman May Forgive

of "progressive Republicans" for what he described as "progressive legislation" to be offered the new Congress.

He was told that Senator Aiken (R-Vt) had suggested "progressive Republicans" would vote to support such legislation on which Democratic and Republican platforms coincided.

"Such support will be very welcome," McGrath said.

McGrath was asked point blank what cabinet changes he favored.

"No comment," he said tersely.

New Men Sought

He said the Democratic committee finished the campaign with a deficit, the amount of which he did not name but he said "I'm not worried about it." He expects to be here until Monday.

A source high in the President's confidence said he is looking for successors to Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Secretary of the Air Symington in the defense establishment.

This man, who would not be quoted by name, said that a replacement for Robert A. Lovett, undersecretary of state, had not been decided upon, but that Lovett is expected to step out soon.

Secretary of State Marshall wants to retire at the close of the year. The President apparently wants him to stay on the job. Marshall probably will review the entire international picture with Mr. Truman when he returns from Paris.

Wallgren Mentioned

On the political front, some of the President's associates are asking him to drop Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer from his cabinet. Some others are gunning for Secretary of Interior Krug.

In the event of a change in the latter post, Oscar Chapman, undersecretary of the interior, would be in line for the job.

Gov. Mon C. Wallgren of Washington state may be given an important appointment. He is due to join the President next week.

Attorney General Tom Clark, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, Postmaster General Donaldson, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and Secretary of Labor Tobin are cabinet fixtures as long as they desire to stay.

They all worked valiantly for Mr. Truman's election, his associates said.

Barkley and Biffle are flying to Havana tomorrow to visit briefly with President Carlos Prio Socorras of Cuba. They will return in the afternoon.

Armistice Day

tion's observances was the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington National cemetery near Washington. Military aides of President Truman placed the presidential wreath on the white marble tomb at exactly 11 a. m. (EST), the hour guns were silenced 30 years ago.

Pershing Service Held

Scores of other wreaths followed, and flowers were placed on the thousands of graves throughout the cemetery, graves of the dead of both world wars.

Later, members of several veterans organizations filed to the resting place of Gen. John J. Pershing, leader of American forces in the first war. A wreath was laid on his grave, and during the afternoon a 125-man guard of honor held memorial services there.

President Truman, vacationing in Florida, spent the day at work grappling with problems that threaten today's uneasy peace. Mr. Truman designated Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, his military aide, to represent him at ceremonies of the Key West American Legion post.

Reds Mar French Observance

American occupation troops and the French nation observed Armistice day, but in the rest of Europe the anniversary passed almost unnoticed. Pilots flying the Berlin air lift went ahead with business as usual in the face of Russia's new threat to force down aircraft flying outside the three traffic corridors.

The French Armistice was marred by Communists. Demonstrators threw a barrier across the Champs Elysees in Paris, raised the Red flag and sang the Internationale. Police fought Communists, shots were fired, and one demonstrator was wounded.

STRIKE VOTE SET

DALLAS, Nov. 11 (AP)—A union official said today union employes of Southwestern Bell Telephone company in six states will begin taking a strike vote "within 15 or 20 days." The statement was made by Ray Hackney, Texas director of the Communications Workers of America. "We will strike unless the company is willing to give wage adjustments bigger than their final offer Sept. 17," Hackney said.

Vandenberg

berg referred scornfully to Molotov's statement that President Truman's election was "some sort of encouraging repudiation of the bipartisan peace aims of the U. S. government." Vandenberg said:

"Of course, I would not undertake to speak for President Truman. But I respectfully say to these Soviet statesmen that the facts and the record belie any such Soviet consolations, as I believe the President would be the first to say."

Righteous Peace Sought

He suggested that Molotov should not make as big an interpretative mistake after the elections, when the results are clear, as some Republicans did before the votes were counted.

Vandenberg thus summarized "regardless of debatable details," the present bi-partisan foreign policy of the United States:

"We seek righteous peace with collective security against all aggressors.

"We offer reciprocal friendship to all peoples—most emphatically including the Russian people—on a two-way street.

"We ask and offer justice to every capital on earth.

"We cannot give more, nor can we accept less.

"We shall never voluntarily desert the council chamber for the battlefield. But we decline appeasements which hasten the disasters they try to escape.

"We support independence and self-determination through an invigorated United Nations. We propose universal disarmament, if, as, and when it can be protected against treachery.

"But we shall walk into no booby traps. We shall keep our powder dry, pending the happy day when reason substitutes for force and when the jungle-justice has been successfully outlawed for keeps.

Jap War Leaders

mer chief of Hideki Tojo's planning board, who was convicted on five counts.

Eighth to hear the verdict of guilty pronounced was Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, former minister of war and once chief of staff of the crack Kwantung army in Manchuria. He was named in seven counts.

Besides Tojo and the eight named above, 16 other top Japanese wartime leaders were pronounced guilty of various crimes.

Count 1 was returned against all defendants, alleges conspiracy to wage wars of aggression from 1928 to 1945.

The indictment maintained that the aim was "to secure the military, naval, political and ecenomic domination of East Asia and of the Pacific and Indian oceans and all countries and islands therein and bordering thereon."

The tribunal said it did not think it necessary to consider counts 2, 3, 4 and 5—which include charges of conspiracy to wage wars of aggression against China, the United States, the British Commonwealth, France, the Netherlands, Portugal, Thailand, the Philippines and Russia.

Counts Reduced

The judges said it did not think this necessary because of their findings on count 1, which names all defendants.

The tribunal in its final day of reading had reduced to ten the number of counts remaining against Japan's leaders.

Besides No. 1, they are No. 27, 29, 31, 32, 33, 35 and 36, which allege the waging of wars of aggression against various allied nations individually, and counts 54 and 55.

Count 54 alleges "ordering, authorizing and permitting the commission" of war crimes. Count 55 charges failure to take adequate steps to prevent atrocities among prisoners of war and civilian internees.

"We find," said the court, "that there have been cases in which crimes under both of these counts have been proved."

In recapitulating the judgment which it has been reading for seven days, the tribunal said:

"The conspiracy existed for and its execution occupied a period of many years.

"Not all of the conspirators were parties to it at the beginning, and some of those who were parties to it had ceased to be active in its execution before the end.

"All of those who at any time were parties to the criminal conspiracy or who at any time with guilty knowledge played a part in its execution are guilty of the charge contained in count one."

The tribunal listed cases involving deaths of 302,000 persons by brutality and neglect. It mentioned more than 150 other places where atrocities occurred without giving the number of dead.

Unofficial estimates based on testimony during the trial placed the total atrocity deaths at one-million as a direct result of Japan's aggressions from 1931 to 1945.

After three years of reconstruction and peace under the occupation, the whole of Japan seemed suddenly jerked back into the medievalism of wartime brutality as Webb read on, calmly and coldly in his sonorous tones.

Waterfront Strike

effective in the New York—New Jersey port area.

Insurgent stevedores called the strike after their officials and the New York Shipping association had agreed on a 10-cents-an-hour raise for day work, and 15-cents-an-hour for night and weekend work.

The union originally asked a wage increase of 50 cents an hour.

Talks Underway

Joseph P. Ryan, ILA president, who earlier said he was almost certain the agreement would be accepted by the rank-and-file, declared today that the walkout is not a "wildcat" strike.

The walkout at Wilmington and Philadelphia involved about 6,000 longshoremen. Booms and cargo gear lay idle on all Wilmington and Philadelphia piers, bringing port activity to a virtual standstill.

Boston's port activity was also crippled by the sympathetic walkout of longshoremen of that city.

A ray of hope that the long strike on the West coast might be settled was seen in the announcement that the CIO longshore union and the Waterfront Employers association were meeting around a conference table in San Francisco today.

There have been no previous direct contract talks since the Pacific coast strike began 71 days ago.

'Kidnapped' Boy Is Returned To Father

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 11. (AP)—Eight-year-old Jack Hodges was back home with his father here today after he had been taken from a Wichita Falls public school yesterday and driven to Walters, Oklahoma.

The father, Dr. Claude Hodges of Wichita Falls, went with deputy Constable Frank Watkins, also from here, to get the boy and return home with him this afternoon.

Frank Guess Named President Of County Vet Aggie Group

Frank Guess, of Idalou, was elected president of the Lubbock County Veterans Agriculture association at a regular monthly meeting held Thursday night at the Texas Tech aggie pavilion. Eighty members and visitors were present.

Other officers named were H. M. Cade, Slaton, vice president; L. D. Taylor, Smyer, second vice president; Doug Allison, Lubbock, secretary treasurer; Ross Meador, Lubbock, parliamentarian; E. E. Hale, Lorenzo, sergeant-at-arms, and Leo Bullock, Idalou, reporter.

Charlie Joe Bartlett, 20, of 2311 Texas Ave. suffered lacerations and abrasions of the face and a head injury of undetermined seriousness when his motorcycle collided with guard posts on a curve in Mackenzie State park. He also was given X-ray examination and admitted to the hospital. Seriousness of his injuries could not be determined until X-ray photos are studied, the hospital reported.

A companion on the motorcycle, Ray Eade, 24, of 3916 Twenty-second street, suffered a bruised hip. He was released after treatment. Particulars of how the accident occurred had not been determined. Both men were taken from the scene of the acident by McDonald ambulance.

UN Studies Berlin

There were no morning meetings in the UN today in commemoration of Armistice day. But the half-day recess in the cold war of words ended when assembly commitee sessions were resumed this afternoon.

Russia once again charged the United States and Britain had wrecked atempts here to end the Berlin deadlock. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky also blamed the United States and Britain for what he called the "fiasco" of the UN Atomic Energy commission.

He spoke before the political committee.

District 3-A Conference Title Is Clinched By Steer Powerhouse

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

LOCKNEY, Nov. 11—A powerhouse Lockney High school eleven this afternoon gained sweet revenge at the expense of an outclassed Paducah football team, rolling to a 48-0 victory to win the District 3-A conference title and remain undefeated for the season.

A crushing line led the Longhorn offensive, which saw the Steer backs tally three times in the first quarter for a commanding lead. After that initial onslaught, the Dragons never were in the ball game, except for a brief march late in the fourth quarter against Longhorn freshmen and sophomores.

Pyle Notches Three

Calvin Pyle, an elusive, hard-charging end, racked up three of the Longhorn scores, one on a neatly executed pass and two on an end around play that had the Dragons fooled all afternoon.

Jerry McCullough, a 165-pound dynamo, drove over for two scores, one from about the three-yard line for the first touchdown and the other on a 26-yard run. Jack Cole sped 35-yards for his touchdown and Charles Crouch, a reserve back, took a pass from Cole good for eight yards and the final tally.

McCullough also made four extra point attempts today, three on plunges, while Jimmy McGowan, another fine ball carrier, kicked two extra points.

Lockney lost no time in getting its first score, holding Paducah and taking the ball on the Dragon 40-yard marker. Using 280-pound Tackle Deibert Shearer and 235-pound Tackle Ewell Dee Kelley as pounding blocks, the Lockney line literally jamed its way down the field. With less than two minutes gone, McCullough plunged for the score. McGowan's kick was wide.

Longhorn Power Tells

Pyle scored the second Steer touchdown on a pass from McGowan on the Dragon 30, taking the ball on the 10 and going over untouched. McGowan booted the dividend point.

Center Don Bybee recovered a fumble on the Dragon 35 near the end of the quarter and on the first play, Pyle took the ball on a beautifully executed end around and went the distance. McGowan again converted.

The outweighed Dragons fought back gamely, but Longhorn power was not to be denied. A 23-yard punt return, Cole's 14 yard drive and McCullough's plunge to the 26 set up McCullough's second score. The shifty back hit the line on a power play, kept his feet and simply kept going for 26 yards. He also converted.

Same Story Second Stanza

The last half almost was a repetition of the first, although Coach Curtis Kelley completely cleared the bench. Kelley started the first string and they scored almost immediately. The kickoff was run back to the 25 and two plays carried to the 42. On the next play, Pyle came around again and sped 58 yards for the score.

Late in the game Paducah, which had lost the services of Joe Ed Sandlin before the half on an ankle injury, drove to the Longhorn eight. Kelley rushed his first string into the game and they held for four downs, the game ending with Lockney in possession of the ball on a fumble.

Pyle, Guard Robert Huckaby and Shearer were outstanding in the line for Lockney, while starring backs were McCullough, McGowan, Cole and Ray Ferguson.

Paducah's thwarted attack was led by Rudy Rochelle, a fine runner, Keith Slover, a hard-running back, and Paul Sandlin, a good passer, while Tackle Bobbie Seigler was outstanding in the line.

Floydada Drubs Crosbyton, 25-13

CROSBYTON, Nov. 11 (Special) — Floydada's powerful Whirlwinds, paced by the brilliant running of Halfback Bill Jeter, rolled to a 25-13 victory over the Crosbyton Chiefs in a District 3-A clash here this afternoon.

The Whirlwinds went ahead early in the first quarter, when Jeter slammed off tackle for 14 yards and a touchdown, and boosted their lead late in the period when Center Aubrey Guthrie recovered a blocked Crosbyton punt in the Chief's end zone for a touchdown. Both tries for extra point failed.

Simmons Stars

Crosbyton Fullback Bill Simmons put the Chiefs back into the game in the second stanza, climaxing a short drive with a five-yard plunge through tackle. A successful lateral play tallied the extra point and Floydada led, 12-7. But the dangerous Jeter broke off tackle minutes later on a 68-yard touchdown gallop that practically clinched the win for the Whirlwinds. Jeter plunged for the extra point.

The Chiefs made one more scoring thrust in the third quarter, with Simmons carrying over from the 10-yard marker, but the pass for the extra point was knocked down by Floydada's Quarterback Bob Finley.

Jeter tallied the final Whirlwind counter in the fourth period on a five-yard plunge.

Spur Squad Swamps Ralls Eleven, 34-0

RALLS, Nov. 11 (Special) — The mighty Spur Bulldogs romped over the Ralls Jackrabbits here this afternoon, 34 to 0, before an Armistice Day crowd of approximately 1,500 fans.

Spurring the Bulldog attack were Halfback C. Blair and Fullback D. Slack, with two touchdowns each, and Halfback T. Alldredge with one tally in the first period. Back Melvin Lindsey booted four extra points.

Blair's 70-yard left-end dash in the second quarter was easily the outstanding performance of the game. The Bulldog eleven chalked up 347 yards running from scrimmage, mostly on end runs behind beautiful interference. Ralls pushed for 141 yards running from scrimmage.

The victory maintained second place in district 3-A for the Spur squad.

Texas Shorthorns Wrap Up 33-9 Win Over TCU Frosh

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11. (AP) — Byron Townsend, the power-driven star from Odessa, sparked the Texas Shorthorns to a 33-9 victory over the TCU Wogs this afternoon in a wild, wind-blown battle in Purple stadium here.

As some 4,000 students and visiting high school players watched, the Shorthorns paraded 74 yards on five plays for a score the first time they got the ball with Carl Mayes making the last four yards over the middle.

The Wogs retaliated with a touchdown by Jack Ray and a safety against the young steers but could master no more scores. The Shorthorns led 26-9 at the half. Townsend was the top ground gainer with 159 yards on 19 tries. He also scored once.

Breckenridge Whips Brownwood, 21-12 In District 7-AA Play

(By The Associated Press)

Breckenridge took a strangle-hold on first place in district 7-AA Thursday, whipping Brownwood, 21-12, in the annual Armistice Day meeting of these two West Texas high school football teams.

The result left Breckenridge undefeated in district play and a heavy favorite to win its two remaining loop games.

Odessa rolled toward another district 3-AA title by blanking Lamesa 27-0.

Mineral Wells squeezed by Cisco 7-6 in a holiday tilt.

BLUE FLAME WINS

IDALOU, Nov. 11 (Special)—Blue Flame Gas company's basketball team won a 40-32 decision from Littrell's Service in an independent game here tonight. Dural scored 13 points for the losers, Troy Ennis had nine for the winners.

Sudan Bested By Sundown

SUDAN, Nov. 11 (Special)—Two quick scoring drives early in the third quarter, followed by a safety in the fourth stanza gave the Sundown Roughnecks a 15-0 win over the Sudan Hornets here this afternoon.

The victory was the fourth in five north half District 4-A tussles for the Roughnecks, who closed out the season with a record of eight wins and a single defeat.

Following a scoreless first half, the Sundown crew struck for two tallies in the third quarter. Quarterback Neal Pearcy climaxed a long drive with a 20-yard touchdown pass to Back Bill McCulloch, then R. E. Hensley converted to give the Roughnecks a 7-0 lead.

Minutes later the Sudan eleven was the victim of a fumble on the Hornet 20-yard marker, and Sundown recovered. A pass from Pearcy to End Melvin Houx chalked up another six-pointer.

Late in the fourth quarter the Roughnecks downed a Sudan ball-carrier behind the Hornet goal line for a safety that boosted the count to 15-0.

The game was extremely hard-fought, and the defenses of both teams stole the spotlight from the offense. But the aerials by Pearcy proved the margin of victory.

Farwell Eleven Tops Seagraves

SEAGRAVES, Nov. 11. (Special) — Farwell's speedy Steers capitalized on a powerful ground attack and a dangerous aerial offense to pound out an easy 45-14 non-conference triumph over the Seagraves Eagles here this afternoon before approximately 1,000 chilled fans.

The Steers scored on their first offensive play of the game, with Fullback Toby Boothe tossing a touchdown pass to End Don Ford on a play that covered 43 yards. Ford snagged a pass for the extra point. Steer Halfback Jerry Poole tallied again minutes later on a 33-yard scoring jaunt, then Boothe clinched the win with an 81-yard gallop.

The Eagles counted in the second quarter on a three-yard plunge and Jack Bale converted, but the Steers pushed across two more six-pointers in the third stanza to boost the top-heavy score. Pool plunged for one of the touchdowns and Quarterback Warlick Thomas sneaked across for the second score.

In the final quarter Seagraves' Nelson Smith passed to End Kenneth Lampp for a touchdown, then Farwell's Pool sprinted 72 yards for a tally and Thomas passed to Booth over the double stripe.

Post Season Tilt Is Sought Between H-SU And Ouachita

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 11 (AP)—A post season football game here between Ouachita college and Hardin-Simmons university needs only approval of their conferences.

Allan Berry, manager of the Arkansas War Memorial stadium, i. which the game will be played Dec. 18 for the benefit of the Shrine Childrens' hospital at Shreveport, La., said both teams had accepted invitations. Sanction of the game by the Conferences is considered certain, he added.

LONG UNDERWEAR NEEDED

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 11 (AP) — Southern Methodist university's football team might be wise to bring long underwear and snowshoes when it comes here to play the Arkansas Razorbacks Saturday. Local weather forecasters said today it's likely to be cold with either rain or snow Saturday afternoon.

MATCH SLATED

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (INS)—The 20th Century Sporting Club announced today it will stage an international heavyweight match Nov. 19 involving Melio Bettina, Beacon, N. Y., and Enrique Felpi of Argentina. The bout is set for the St. Nicholas arena in New York.

Single Wing Against T Formation

Lubbock, Plainview Meet Here Saturday

Lubbock High's powerful single wing offensive will be matched against Plainview's tricky "T" formation attack Saturday afternoon at Jones Stadium, as the two South Plains grid rivals meet in a traditional District 1-AA battle.

The Plainview Bulldogs have compiled a better won and lost record this season with their quick-breaking attack, chalking up victories over Lamesa, Midland, El Paso Bowie and Brownfield. The Bulldogs have lost four games to Poly of Fort Worth, Sweetwater, Borger and Pampa, but all of the defeats have been by strong teams.

Lubbock's Westerners have won only two games this season in a murderous schedule, dropping North Side Fort Worth and Childress, but also boast a tie with the Odessa Broncos. The Hub city schoolboys have been defeated by San Angelo, Austin, Borger, Amarillo and Pampa.

Ground Attack Good

Despite their up-and-down record, the Westerners feature one of the best ground attacks in West Texas. The Westerners have averaged approximately 200 yards rushing in each of their eight games this season, and last week topped the 300 yards rushing mark against Pampa's powerful Harvesters. The Lubbock eleven has averaged two touchdowns per game and has been held scoreless only by the speedy Austin Maroons.

A battle of top backfield performers is predicted in the tilt, with the Westerners' Bobby Brown, Donald Decker, Malcolm Young and Wayne Stroud staging a torrid scoring duel against the Bulldogs' Marlin Miller, Bill Blair and Jimmy Old. Brown is rated as one of the top schoolboy backs in West Texas, although Decker, Stroud and Young have turned in outstanding jobs, and Miller and Blair are ranked as stellar leather-luggers.

The Westerner forward wall will have a weight advantage over the Bulldog line, but the Plainview gridders have an advantage in experience.

Lubbock Favored

Lubbock will enter the traditional clash as a one-touchdown favorite over the Plainview eleven, but Hub city fans are well aware of the fact that the Bulldogs have defeated the Westerners for the last five years. Not since 1942, when the Lubbock team featured some of the top players in the state, have the Westerners emerged from a tilt with the Bulldogs on the long end of the score.

A crowd of approximately 9,000 persons is expected in Tech's Jones stadium at kickoff time, officials have reported, but the attendance may be boosted by large delegations from South Plains towns. Tickets will be on sale today at the Senior High school athletic office, then will be available at the stadium starting at noon Saturday.

Plenty of good seats are still available for the tilt, officials emphasized.

Cowboys Wallop J. T. Hutchinson

Lubbock's undefeated Carroll Thompson Cowboys clinched the championship of the South Plains Junior High football league with a 19-7 triumph over the battling J. T. Hutchinson Rangers of Lubbock Thursday night at Chapman field.

The Cowboys went ahead in the crucial encounter in the second quarter, when Quarterback Jack Weldon tossed a 25-yard aerial to End Tommy Yelvington that carried all the way to paydirt. Fullback Don Jones missed the try for point, but the Cowboys held a 6-0 halftime lead.

Hodges Goes Over

The Cowboys boosted their lead in the third stanza, with speedy Halfback Charles Hodges sprinting around end for 60 yards and a touchdown. The try for point was no good.

Billy Presley, line-battering Ranger fullback, sparked a J. T. Hutchinson drive in the third period that carried all the way to the double stripe. Presley broke through the line and raced 50 yards to the goal line on the scoring play. Wingback Ronald Stephenson plunged for the extra point and the Cowboys' lead was cut to 12-7.

Carroll Thompson Wins

Hodges clinched the win for the Cowboys in the final period, however, as he raced around end for 50 yards and another tally.

In the clash between the seventh and eighth graders of the two schools that preceded the main setto, the Carroll Thompson Calfropers outscored the J. T. Hutchinson Ranchers, 26-14.

The Calfropers' four tallies were made on two touchdown jaunts by Billy Biggs, a pass interception and return by Jimmy Clark and scoring gallop by Eddie Brown.

The Ranchers counted on a second period pass from Dub James to Tommy Miers, then duplicated the play in the third period for another six points.

Cowhands Gain 20-0 Win Over Plainview

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 11 (Special)—A powerful ground attack sparked by the touchdown thrusts of Backs Tommy Fisher, Mack Taylor and Donnie Rawls gave the Lubbock Cowhands a 20-0 victory over the Plainview High "B" team here this afternoon.

The Cowhands, defeated this season only by the strong Post Antelopes of District 4-A, started slowly, but chalked up two six-pointers in the second quarter. Fisher climaxed a long drive with a 12-yard smash through the line for the first tally, then Tackle J. R. Bradford converted from placement.

Taylor Drives Across

A few minutes later the Cowhands started another long march deep into Plainview territory, with Taylor driving across the double stripe from 15 yards out. Bradford missed the extra point try, but the Lubbock eleven held a 13-0 halftime margin.

The Cowhands clinched the victory in the third stanza, as high-stepping Donnie Rawls crossed the double stripe for the third touchdown. Bradford converted to end the scoring.

"Spider" Harris and Guard Ross Craig turned in excellent performances in the Cowhand line, which kept the Plainview youngsters out of Lubbock territory most of the game.

Malouf, Boucher Pace Antelope Eleven To Ninth Straight Win

SLATON, Nov. 11. (Special)—The Post Antelopes clinched the championship of south district 4-A here this afternoon by holding the Slaton Tigers 12-6 for their ninth straight victory of the season.

A strong 30 to 35 mile-an-hour wind was a big factor in the contest with the Antelopes grabbing the offensive during the crucial third quarter as the Tigers sought to push with the wind. The score had been tied up 6-6 at the last minute of the first half.

Slaton Tallies First

Slaton tallied first in the second quarter with a plunge from the two by Fullback Tom Smith. Smith with Lawrence Morgan, halfback, had spearheaded a drive down field from their own 40-yard stripe to set up the touchdown. Smith's kick for extra point missed.

The Antelopes tied up the ball game just before the half-time whistle when Fullback R. Teaff shot through right guard on a 40-yard sprint to the two. After two attempted plunges at the goal, Post gained an off-sides penalty against the Tigers putting the pigskin on the one-foot line. On the third try Fullback Ronnie Boucher plunged over.

An Antelope kick for extra point was good but an off-sides penalty nullified it. The second attempt missed the mark, making the score 6-6 at halftime.

Junior Malouf Scores

Junior Malouf, Post halfback, crashed over from the Slaton five for the decisive score early in the third period.

Receiving the ball on their own 20-yard stripe the Antelopes bucked both sides of the Tiger line for five first downs to reach the five. Kick for extra point failed, making the final score of the game 12-6.

Slaton threatened Antelope territory once in the fourth quarter, against the heavy wind, but fumbled on the 20-yard stripe. Post recovered and held the upper hand for the remainder of the contest.

Borger Team Bests Brownfield, 31 To 7

BORGER, Nov. 11. (Special)—Borger's Bulldogs chalked up their third District 1-AA victory of the season here this afternoon by swamping the scrappy Brownfield Cubs, 31-7.

The powerful Bulldog ground attack rolled for five touchdowns during the setto, with big R. C. Dalton driving for three of the six-pointers. Back Jerry Glass and End Leroy Smith each tallied once.

Borger now has defeated Lubbock, Plainview and Brownfield in district competition, but has dropped one tussle with Amarillo's undefeated Golden Sandstorm.

NEVADA ELEVEN WINS

FRESNO, Cal., Nov. 11 (INS)—The Nevada university Wolfpack ticked off eight touchdowns in an Armistice Day game at Fresno today to defeat Fresno State college 53 to 7.

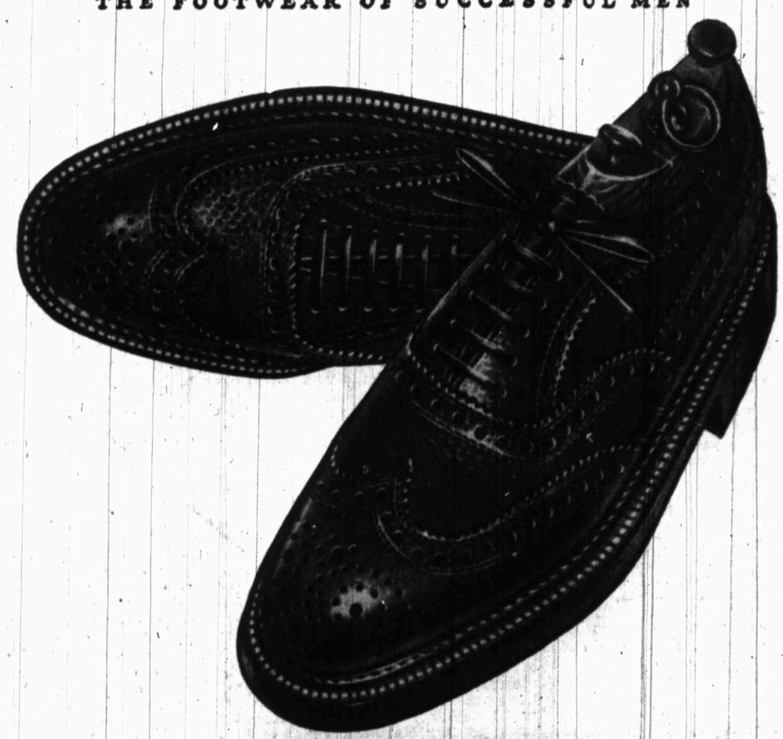

Maxim, Satterfield Will Fight In Feature At Chicago Stadium

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (INS)—Joey Maxim of Cleveland and Bob Satterfield of Chicago, two hard-punching heavyweights, clash in the 10-round feature engagement on the Chicago stadium fight card tomorrow night.

Featured on the supporting bill are two eight-round bouts, one pitting light heavyweights Clinton Bacon of Chicago and Al Johnson of Indianapolis and the other bringing together two Detroit heavyweights, Big Boy Brown and Roscoe Toles.

Promoters Irving Schoenwald and Jack Begun anticipate a crowd of 7,500 and a gross gate of $35,000.

Leahy Favors Notre Dame By One Point

Irish Coach Fears Northwestern Team

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 11. (INS)—Leahy fears Northwestern.

Frank Leahy, the Notre Dame coach whose similar fears have proved unfounded through 19 straight victories and 25 consecutive games without defeat, declared himself in mortal terror of the Wildcat foe today . . . and few there were who didn't take him seriously.

"We'll consider ourselves fortunate to win by one point," Coach Leahy said, as he sent his Irish charges through their final stiff workout for Saturday's Northwestern game at Notre Dame.

Critics among Leahy's audience recalled that his statement was identical with the one he made two days before the Notre Dame-Purdue game Sept. 25 of this year.

"We'll consider ourselves fortunate to win by one point," Coach Leahy said then, and his football team went out and won, 28 to 27. If that means anything, then place your bets accordingly.

Two of the doubtful starters on the Irish roster, Halfbacks Terry Brennan and Emil Sitko, were out for practice. Brennan, the swift left half, has a bad knee and it will take contact under game conditions to show whether it'll stand up.

Sitko, the right half who got a rib cartilage badly bruised in the Indiana game a week ago, turned out for practice today for the first time all week. He trotted around in sweat pants and shirt. He will not don pads until game time Saturday, and there is some doubt as to how much playing he'll do.

The absence of Sitko would hurt the Irish considerably, he being their workhorse ballioter, the fellow who's averaging six yards per crack so far this season. Coach Leahy may have to take second-string Fullback Mike Swistowicz and move him in at right half.

SMU, Arkansas In SWC Feature

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest Conference football race moves into the stretch Saturday with nothing to be definitely decided but with two games that can bring matters to a head.

Southern Methodist's front-running Mustangs go to Fayetteville to play Arkansas in the feature game. It will be homecoming day in the Ozarks and an excellent spot for the Methodists to stumble. Defeat for SMU would throw the championship race into a two or three-way tie.

Texas battles Texas Christian at Fort Worth in a do-or-die affair. The Longhorns have to win to stay in the race. If they do and SMU loses, there will be a three-way deadlock for first between Southern Methodist, Baylor and Texas.

Bears Meet Tulane

Baylor can't fall out of the race because the Bears play Tulane in an intersectional game at New Orleans.

Texas A. and M. and Rice get together at College Station. The Aggies feel this is the chance to break into the win column although Rice's comeback last week in trouncing Arkansas 25-6 will make the Owls favorites to win over the hapless Cadets. Neither team has a chance in the Conference scramble.

Southern Methodist is being given a two-touchdown bulge over Arkansas in most quarters, which is distressing news to Coach Matty Bell of Southern Methodist who has said he fears his team will take a beating at Fayetteville. SMU has defeated Rice and Texas, two teams that licked Arkansas, and the only comparison that might give the Razorbacks a ray of hope is the respective showings against A. and M. Arkansas whammed A. and M. 28-6. SMU had trouble aplenty defeating the Aggies 20-14.

Texas Has Edge

Comparative scores would appear to give Texas the edge over Texas Christian. Texas beat Arkansas and Baylor and both those teams took out TCU. Oklahoma beat both Texas and Texas Christian but was more impressive against Texas.

The Horned Frogs have had two weeks to get ready, not having played a game last week-end. Chances are Texas will have its hands full with TCU and has no more than an even chance of victory.

South Africa has a beef shortage, with meat prices soaring.

Tech Frosh Beat Broncos

ROSWELL, N. M., Nov. 11 (Special)—Texas Tech's hard-running freshmen tallied a touchdown in each of the first three quarters to coast to an easy 20-0 triumph over the New Mexico Military Institute Broncos here this afternoon.

The Tech frosh scored early in the first quarter, the first time they gained possession of the ball, with speedy Halfback Harold Haynes climaxing a long drive with a four-yard plunge across the double stripe. The conversion attempt was good.

In the last minute of the second period the junior Raiders tallied again, with J. O. McClellan of Phillips tossing an 11-yard aerial to End Charles Allen from Pleasanton. Again the kick was good and the Tech frosh held a 14-0 lead at halftime.

Another pass, from McClellan to Littlefield's Jack Davis, gave the Tech freshmen their final six points in the third stanza, on a play that covered 27 yards.

The Tech forward wall, paced by Brownfield's Jerrell Price and Dick Andrews from McLean, held the Bronco backs well in check throughout the game. Bronco Quarterback Maurice Willis connected for several short aerials, but the home eleven couldn't muster a scoring punch.

O'Donnell Defeats Tahoka Team, 13-7

TAHOKA, Nov. 11 (Special)—In a close battle for second place in district 4-A, the O'Donnell Eagles dropped the Tahoka Bulldogs, 13 to 7, here this afternoon in an annual Armistice Day feature before a crowd estimated at 2,000.

O'Donnell crashed the goal first in the opening period when Quarterback Joe Palmer plunged over from the one-yard line. Place kick for extra point failed.

Early in the second quarter, the Bulldogs also pushed down field on a series of line bucks to the one. Halfback Clark Farr skirted left end for the touchdown. Duane Carter kicked the extra point to put Tahoka in the lead by one point.

O'Donnell's Buddy Brock, halfback, in the thriller of the afternoon during the third period cracked left tackle and dashed 31 yards for the second Eagle tally. Palmer passed to Halfback Jack Houston for the extra point to make the score 13-7.

Three Tahoka fumbles were recovered by the Eagles and one pass interception favored O'Donnell. The Bulldogs recovered two of their opponents' fumbles but intercepted no passes.

There have been several reports lately that the plastic helmets worn by most college and high school football teams this season will be banned before the 1950 schedule gets underway. Reported reason for the proposed change is that the plastic headgear cause more injuries to opposing players, in comparison with the old type equipment. There have been numerous reports of broken noses, cuts and bruises this season as a result of the "hard" plastic helmets and some officials favor an immediate ban on such equipment.

We discussed the proposed change with the Lubbock Westerner gridders Thursday morning, and they all said that they like the new type headgear better than the old equipment, and most of the players reported that they believe the plastic helmets are safer than the ones formerly usd. Just as an example, there has not been a single head injury to any Westerner player this season, and they are all equipped with the new type headgear. The new plastics also improve the appearance of the teams and are more durable than the old type equipment. The boys agree that "it's a little rough to get one stuck in your face," but think there is no good reason for "outlawing" the plastics.

The Seagraves Eagles wound up their 1948 grid schedule Thursday afternoon with a 45-14 loss to the Farwell eleven, but other south 4-A teams had better watch out for the Eagles next year. The entire Eagle forward wall will return for competition in 1949. The only losses will be in the backfield, and Seagraves' Mentor Charlie Lawrence has some fine prospects to fill the gaps in the secondary. Most of the Seagraves fans believe that the Eagles will make a strong bid for the loop title next fall.

Lubbock fans who attend the Westerner-Plainview Bulldog clash at Jones stadium Saturday afternoon will get to see the more than 600 youngsters who have competed with teams of the Lubbock public schools this season. The age groups will range from the little fellows who played in the touch football league to the Senior High sophomores who were members of the strong Cowhand eleven. All of the boys will be in uniform and should provide plenty of color for the halftime activities.

While on the subject of the Plainview-Lubbock game, we must warn Lubbock fans to be prepared for a tough battle Saturday afternoon. We have found that in past years the Bulldogs have played their best games when their mentor, wily W. C. O. Harris, moaned about his "poor little old boys." And this year "Dub" is really spreading sad stories. We called the Bulldog coach the other night to find out his probable starting lineup, and he immediately pointed out how his little boys were outweighed by the Westerners. Then we showed him how, although the Westerners are heavier in certain positions, the Bulldogs have a well-balanced forward wall that averages between 160 and 170 pounds. His backs are light, but they have won four games this season and held several fine teams to close scores.

But Dub just laughed and said that "I guess we'll show up for the game." So that means Plainview is really out for Lubbock's scalp. Too, we have been informed that the Bulldogs have been holding secret drills all week. Coach Harris says they are just learning their signals, but the question is, "what else?"

H-SU Defeats WTSTC, 28-6

ABILENE, Nov. 11 (AP)—Hardin-Simmons breezed to an easy 28-6 victory over West Texas State Teachers here today in a Border Conference football game.

West Texas State moved 66 yards for a touchdown before Hardin-Simmons ever got the ball. Lloyd Johnson climaxed the march by ploughing over for the score.

But the Cowboys came back strong and early in the second quarter, Wilton Davis raced 36 yards for a touchdown. Paul Bailey kicked the extra point to put Hardin-Simmons in the lead. Davis went eight yards for another tally in the third period and Bailey again converted.

GAVILAN PICKED TO WIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (INS)—Kid Gavilan, Cuban welterweight, is a slight favorite over Tony Pellone, rugged New Yorker, in their ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. This fight has assumed added importance because of the current uncertainty as to whether Ray Robinson intends to make another defense of his welterweight title.

for the institute and predict a representative gathering from the various counties.

Regarded As Necessity

Continuing legal education is regarded as a necessity if the busy practicing lawyer is to keep abreast of new changes in the law, Ball and his committee explained.

"The volume of change in Administrative Rules and Regulations alone is enough to challenge the imagination. Add to this changes in the fields of taxation, labor and others, and it is understandable that the profession finds itself in a period of 'loose-leaf' practice.

"Realizing the needs for some medium of bringing into focus new developments in specialized branches of the law, the president and directors of the State Bar of Texas have planned a series of legal institutes throughout the state—one for each of the 21 congressional districts. Selection of speakers is based upon expertness in several specialized branches of the law."

Ball and his committee said the institute to be held here, like those elsewhere in the state, is a part of the national program of continuing legal education for the bar which is being carried on by the American Law institute and the American Bar association.

Three similar institutes have been held—and 17 others will follow that here, it is planned.

Andrews, Bailey, Borden, Cochran, Crosby, Dawson, Dickens, Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Haskell, Hockley, Howard, Kent, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Martin, Mitchell, Scurry, Stonewall, Terry, and Yoakum.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

STOREY, STATE BAR PRESIDENT, HEADS STAFF

Outstanding Texas Attorneys To Be Speakers At Area Legal Institute Slated Here Today

Speakers for today's legal institute sponsored by the State Bar of Texas, to be held in Lubbock hotel for lawyers of the 25-county 19th Congressional district, reflect unusual experience.

Consider, for instance, Robert G. Storey, of Dallas, president of the state bar.

Col. Storey, a member of the special mission to investigate, identify and apprehend war criminals in Bulgaria in 1944 and 1945 later was executive trial counsel to Justice Robert H. Jackson of the U. S. Supreme court in the prosecution of Herman Goering and others in the Nuremberg major axis war crimes trials from June of 1945 to mid-January of 1946. He was chief assistant to Justice Jackson in presenting the U.S. case before the International Military tribunal, and returned to Nuremberg with Justice Jackson for final judgment of the tribunal.

NORVELLE

Given Many Awards

He was awarded the Medal of Freedom and the French Legion of Honor for his services there. Previously, he was awarded the Bronze Star for work on war crimes in Bulgaria, the Legion of Merit for conduct of intelligence activities in the Mediterranean theater, and the Army commendation ribbon for services to the Army Air forces.

He served in both World War I and II.

Born in Greenville, his education was at Texas and Southern Methodist universities. In 1947, he received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree from Texas Christian university.

The state bar president is serving part-time dean of the SMU law school and as president of The Southwestern Legal foundation. He is senior member of the Dallas law firm of Storey, Sanders, Sherrill and Armstrong. At various times, he has been a state director of the state bar; president of the Dallas Bar association; chairman of important committees of the American Bar association; has been a delegate to the Inter-American Bar conventions and to the International Convention of Comparative Law at the Hague; a regent of the University of Texas; assistant attorney general of Texas for criminal appeals; national executive committeeman of the American Legion; president of the Park board for Dallas; and governor of the Kikanis clubs for the Texas-Oklahoma district.

Attended Church Council

He also attended the World Council of Churches meeting in Amsterdam, the International Law association in Brussels.

Wilmer D. Masterson, jr., professor of oil and gas law at SMU, is an acknowledged authority in the law of oil and gas and of Texas and Oklahoma land titles. Graduated from the University of Texas School of Law, he was admitted to practice in the courts of Texas and Oklahoma. When in the University of Texas, he was editor of the Texas Law Review and elected to the Chancellors and the Order of the Coif. He was a member of Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity.

He was associated with Shell Oil company several years; formerly was a member of the law firm of Thompson, Knight, Harris, Wright and Weisberg of Dallas; has been professor at SMU since 1947, and is a research specialist in oil and gas law for the Southwestern Legal foundation.

Others Outstanding

James R. Norvelle, associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals, Fourth Supreme Judicial District of Texas, has been twice elected to that position since his appointment in 1940 to fill a vacancy. At various times he has been a member of the board of directors of the judicial section of the State Bar association; instructor in the State Preparatory school in Boulder, Colo.; a practicing attorney at Edinburg, Texas; member of the Hidalgo county law firm of Kelley, Looney and Norvell; president of the Hidalgo County Bar association. He is a member of the American and the state bar associations, the York and Scottish Rite Masonic bodies, Fraternal Order of Eagles, YMCA, Lions and Turner clubs, and the Alpha Sigma Phi and Phi Delta Phi legal fraternities.

Julius F. Franki, Austin attorney, is author of Vernon's Texas Rules of Civil Procedure. Graduated from the University of Texas, he did special research in civil procedure at the law school, became a member of the Mission law firm of Hill, Greer, and Franki; did special service in the U. S. State department and in foreign service, and returned to private law practice in Austin and became a lecturer for the university law school.

A man in Sutton, England, has made an electric grandfather clock for $1.

Professor Says Administration Faces Cotton Price Crisis

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 11. (AP)—A cotton price crisis is just one of many economic booby-traps faced by the national administration, Dr. Arthur A. Smith, professor of economics at Southern Methodist university declared here today.

Dr. Smith said that this year's 15,000,000 bale cotton crop, sixth largest in history, was raised in a country which had trouble "getting rid of 10,000,000 bales on its domestic market before 1941".

"King cotton is suffering from the same illness he had before the war despite a government peg of 31 cents a pound," Dr. Smith said. "Now he is going to have the same doctor for another four years. Perhaps what he needs is a little surgery instead."

He said he had no answers to the "surplus complex" the nation suffers in cotton, grain, textiles and radios.

India has a telephone "famine."

Two Pipe Lines In Middle East To Dwarf U.S. Famed 'Big Inch'

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. (AP)— An oil expert told today about what to expect from those two huge pipe lines — each much bigger than the United States' famed 'big inch"—which are in prospect for the Middle East. They will be the world's biggest.

General Manager M. G. Gamble of the Marine department of Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) told of the big pipes in a news conference today. He is attending the 28th annual meeting of the American Petroleum institute.

Plans are for the super-sized pipes to run from the Persian gulf and Kirkuk fields in Iraq to the Mediterranean, Gamble said.

The first of the lines — the smaller—will be a 30 to 31 inch job. "Big inch" is only 24 inches. Gamble said the new line is expected to be completed by January, 1951.

The second line is even bigger —from 34 to 36 inches— and twice the capacity of "big inch." Its capacity is so much greater because the lines are rated on their square inch size. "Big inch" has an area of 576 square inches, while the proposed line's area will be about 1,215 square inches.

Gamble said the new lines will be about 1,100 miles long. Tankers now carrying oil from the fields have to travel about 3,500 miles—and return empty.

Will Eliminite Tax

Gamble said the new lines also will eliminate the tax for transit through the Suez canal. He said the pipes require less steel than the equivalent amount of tankers, and need about one-fourth the manpower to operate.

In all, the lines are expected to cut about 40 cents a barrel off production costs of oil delivered to New York, Gamble said.

Most of the oil produced in the area will go to Europe, thus cutting down the amount the United States is required to ship there, Gamble said.

If anything should happen to prevent completion of the lines on schedule, the world would find itself short of tankers, Gamble said.

The rush to get "State spectacles" under the new National Health System reached a peak in Northern Ireland when 800 to 1,000 applications were received daily.

Minneapolis Paper Preserves Today's Record In Cornerstone

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 11. (U.P.)—A detailed picture of present-day life in north central United States has been sealed in the cornerstone of the new Minneapolis Star and Tribune building.

Not to be opened until the year 2048, the cornerstone contains a stainless steel "century vault" crammed with pictures, documents and microfilms telling today's story of this section of America.

A highlight of the contents is the picture of a family chosen as typical of those who dwell in this region. Mr. and Mrs. Sigfred Nelson, a Fort Ripley, Minn., farm family, will give residents 100 years from now an idea of what rural life today is like.

Yet unborn sports fans will see shots of the University of Minnesota football squad in action, pictures of churches, farming operations and other phases that make the Northwest what it is.

Noisy Piano Can't Be Silenced In San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 11. (U.P.)—In San Diego if you own a piano you can play it and there is nothing the neighbors can do about it—in spite of a city anti-neise ordinance.

The City Planning Commission's zoning committee decided that at a special hearing resulting from a petition of 10 neighbors to revoke a zone variance granted last year to E. B. Prince, of La Jolla, to teach the piano.

Testimony indicated it was not the practice lessons that irked the neighbors so much as it was Price's own playing during off hours.

The committee huddled with its legal adviser, Harry Clark, and emerged with the decision that—variance or no variance — Price could play his own piano.

Marine General Ends His Long Silence On 'Scandal Of Saipan'

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11. (INS) — Marine General Holland M. (Howlin' Mad) Smith, ret., broke his long silence on the so-called "scandal of Saipan" and flatly charged Army General Ralph Smith with "a lack of offensive spirit."

The long-standing battle of the Smiths—which for a time rocked the top brass in the Pacific war—is opened anew in an article by the Marine general in the Saturday Evening Post.

An accompanying rebuttal, by Capt. C. Lowe of the Army, denies various statements and arguments of the Marine and concludes:

"It seems incredible that American soldiers who fought side by side must be protected from misrepresentation and the false accusations of one another. It is hoped that present efforts at unification (of the armed forces) will make this unnecessary in the future."

The dispute between the two branches of service in the Pacific war arose over the actions of the Army's 27th division in the Saipan battle.

Gen. Ralph Smith was relieved of his command in the middle of the campaign. A subsequent Army board of inquiry cleared him and he later served with distinction in the European theater.

In detailing his side of the story, Gen. Holland Smith states that he was "never certain of the 27th" even before ordering it to the line to hold the center in a three-division front across the waist of Saipan.

In the article, written in collaboration with former War correspondent Percy Finch, Gen. Holland Smith says that he ordered a general attack on the morning of June 27, 1944, and that both the Marine divisions jumped off on time.

He complains that the 27th failed to heed the orders and its various components delayed moving for as long as three hours.

He said the 27th, moving against much the same opposition as developed in front of the Marines, was so slow that the front became a "U" with the 27th as the base.

"It was in this contest," he writes "of all around poor performance by the 27th division that I sought the help of (Army) Maj. Gen. Sanderford F. Jarman, U.S.A. . . . I asked him to see Ralph Smith and appeal to him as one Army man to another, on the ground that the reputation of the Army was suffering through his lack of offensive spirit."

Holland Smith says that Jarman reported Ralph Smith said "if he did not take his division forward the next day he deserved to be relieved. There was no improvement the next day."

The Marine leader says he then consulted Admiral Richmond Kelly Turner in charge of the amphibious phase of the operation and Admiral Raymond Spruance in overall command and they agreed to relieve Gen. Ralph Smith.

Mechanical Cocoanut May Help Stranded Airmen, Texan Says

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 11. (INS) —A derivation of the simple cocoanut may soon help stranded airmen find their position.

The instrument developed by Fred H. Hagner, San Antonio inventor and astronomer, works on the same principle as cocoanut shells used to sight the stars and fix position by south sea island fishers for centuries.

The 11-ounce device includes a base with a magnetic compass and a tiny ball for levelling, a latitude arc and an hour angle-declination arc, containing a friction slide with a hole in its center corresponding to the hole in a cocoanut shell.

By moving the slide to the correct monthly position engraved on the larger arc and lining up the hole, the ball and the sun, it is possible to determine latitude, direction and the amount of deviation between magnetic north and true north.

Once the deviation is known, reference to a navigation chart then establishes longitude.

Hagner's device has already been delivered to the U. S. air force for experimentation. The simple instrument is not intended to fix locations with split-second accuracy but will enable downed flyers to determine approximate locations.

Its simplicity is its strangest virtue—its just a mechanical cocoanut, Hagner says.

Police Chief Uses Fire Truck To Summon Posse In Hurry

GREENVILLE, Mich., Nov. 11. (U.P.)—Police Chief Jerry Sage knows how to round up a posse in a hurry.

When a two-year-old boy was lost and he needed a large searching party, Sage pulled the fire siren, directed the driver to drive the truck a few blocks and attracted hundreds of motorists to "the fire." He got 500 persons together and the child was found in the woods as dusk was descending.

SHIP HAD SURVIVED JAPS, ATOM BOMB

Heavy Cruiser USS Pensacola Sunk After Heavy Pounding By Aircraft, Naval Guns, Torpedoes

By ELMER C. VOGEL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH THE FIRST TASK FLEET, Nov. 10. (Delayed) — Twelve-thousand men and one billion dollars worth of assorted naval ships and planes sank the veteran heavy cruiser USS Pensacola today after a 6½-hour pounding.

The end of the vessel that the Japanese navy and an atom bomb could not sink was almost anticlimactic. She had survived for 64 minutes one torpedo which had blown off her bow, and then turned lazily over and went down bow first after a second torpedo had failed to explode.

The tough 18 year old 9,100 ton "treaty" cruiser named in honor of the Florida city stood up well under a carefully planned assault participated in by 20 naval ships and 200 planes. A dozen auxiliary vessels and some submarines also took part in the maneuver but fired nothing at the ship.

Planes Miss Target

Sixteen destroyers, three aircraft carriers and the cruiser Tucson joined in the attack. Bombs ranging up to 500 pounds and thousands of rounds of lighter ammunition were fired at the thick-skinned ship.

Navy officers said she could have been sunk almost immediately but it was decided to prolong the Pensacola's final day to give the "maximum amount of practice to the maximum number of ships and men."

Accordingly, she was towed Tuesday to a point some 90 miles north and west of the Washington coast and there cast adrift early today.

Within a few minutes land-based aircraft started peppering the target with rockets, light bombs and machinegun fire. The battle of gunfire was continuous and it obviously provided some much needed practice. But those who watched from observation points two miles distant could see that it was doing little more than scratching the surface, even after carrier aircraft joined the assault.

Bombers and gunners, handicapped by a 37 knot wind and a heavy haze, missed the target 90 per cent of the time. It was a different matter when the destroyers and Tucson moved in to a range of approximately seven to nine miles and opened up with five inch guns. Salvo after salvo was right on the target and those that missed were very close. The damage to the thick hull and superstructure was apparently negligible, however.

"Wrong Target" Attacked

The fleet air moved in for the second time with heavier bombs and rockets rattling the Pensacola from stem to stern. She caught fire again and for a while was almost obscured by smoke and the heavy haze. It was at this time that newsmen and cameramen aboard the USS Prairie, a destroyer tender standing 4,000 yards from the target, got a momentary thrill.

A high whistling sound as of a plane coming in very fast was heard and then something—variously described as either a 500 pound bomb or a wing tank—hit the waters 50 yards ahead of the starboard bow. It kicked up a big geyser and some spectators hit the deck but no explosion was heard. Red-faced naval officers said a plane pilot had messaged that he had "evidently aimed at the wrong target."

At 1:15 p. m., the order was given for firing a torpedo from the destroyer William C. Lawe. The "tin fish" knocked off part of the bow and the Pensacola rapidly settled until the forward deck was awash. The sinking slowed to a snail's pace then and 45 minutes later the Lawe fired a second torpedo. The aim was either bad or the torpedo a dud because no explosion occurred.

The Pensacola, as though it had tired of the deadly game, then developed a sharp list to port, nosed slowly down and plunged into the 8,400 foot deep waters at 2:25 p. m.

A committal service under the direction of Captain Close, commander of the Prairie, and Chaplain J. E. Nunn, was held a short while later as the Prairie floated over the spot where the Pensacola had gone down.

Taps were played and a rifle volley fired after the ships service record was read by Captain Close. The captain remarked that it was fitting that the vessel should end its career at the bottom of the ocean whose lanes she had protected instead of in a "junk yard."

London Paper Offers To Poll British On Approval Of ERP

LONDON, Nov. 11 (AP) — The Daily Express offered today to poll the British people at its own expense to see whether they like the European recovery program.

The Express, which claims its daily circulation of just under 4,000,000 is the biggest in the world, objected to "using British government money for the purpose" as it said ERP officials in Washington have proposed.

Few Scars Of War Remain Where American Soldiers Fought, Died Thirty Years Ago

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

ST. MIHIEL, Nov. 11.—Sixteen divisions of American doughboys were scrapping their way through the mud-soaked Meuse river valley front line 30 years ago today.

They didn't know until 11 o'clock that Allied and German commanders had decided it was all over six hours before in Marshal Foch's special railway car parked on a siding at Compiegne.

All that is left of the surrender ceremony is a statute. The old railway car was towed away by the Germans and later destroyed.

Trenches Have Vanished

Except in a few places, those muddy front line trenches have disappeared, too. They've disappeared along with the corn willy cans and the rows of old 75 milimeter guns shooting hub-to-hub, and the boot tracks of the tired American doughboys in the mud.

Fifteen miles east of St. Mihiel, at Thiacourt, is a cemetery containing many of the graves of the men who gave their lives beating down the St. Mihiel salient. There's a beautiful monument to the Americans atop Montseo, not far from here. Streets in this sector are named for various American units and other memorials dot the countryside.

There were two fronts held by the Americans 30 years ago today. One front ran along a line 35 miles southeast of Manhuelles, which is just east of Verdun, to the Moselle. The center of the line was 20 miles east of St. Mihiel. There were five divisions on this front when the war ended—the Seventh, 28th, 33rd, 31st, and 92nd.

The other, the Meuse-Argonne front, extended from Beaumont, eight miles north of Verdun, to two miles south of Sedan. There were 11 divisions on this line—the First, Second, Fifth, 26th, 32nd, 42nd, 77th, 79th, 80th, 89th, 90th.

Hardly a war scar remains in Manhuelles. Men are busy gathering wood. Chickens scratch in the front yards. The anxious faces of forgotten maidens come quickly to the windows at the sound of a passing jeep.

Although most of the signs wars leave have been erased from the St. Mihiel sector, just east of Verdun the French "trench of bayonets" is preserved by marble columns. At Thiamont, where a battalion of French infantry held its position until the bombardment completely buried the trench, bayonets of the men who perished, rusting and broken still stand, protruding in defiance from the soil of France.

Driving down the highway today, you can find a white stone with a star and Indian head marker denoting the farther outpost of the Second division. The division was in Moulin and encircling Villemonty when the war ended.

Pine needles that brown and drop in fall are three years old. Those one or two years old do not drop except during a severe drought, then the two-year-old needles fall off first.

ITU North Texas Conference To Open Saturday At Dallas

DALLAS, Nov. 11 (AP) — The North Texas conference of the International Typographical union (AFL) opens here Saturday.

An estimated 250 delegates and visitors from Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma are expected to attend the two-day meeting.

The North Texas conference, including Abilene, Amarillo, Big Spring, Dallas, Fort Worth, Lubbock and Wichita Falls. It is headed by president H. C. Pelfrey, jr., Wichita Falls.

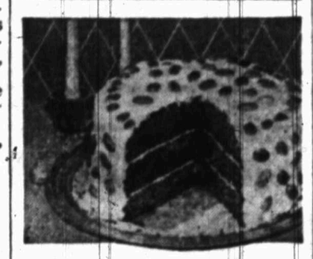

Oom Klasie Van Loggerenberg, aged 118, of Bloemfontein, South Africa, has recovered from a toe amputation after five weeks in the hospital.

Autumn Flavor PECAN CAKE

1 cup butter
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
8 egg yolks
1½ cups milk
2 cups Imperial Pure Cane Sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup chopped pecans

Mix baking powder with 2¾ cups of flour and sift well. Add vanilla to milk. Cream butter until soft and light colored; add Imperial Sugar gradually and continue creaming to make a light, fluffy mixture. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored and add to creamed mixture, beating vigorously. Add milk and dry ingredients. Add nuts to remaining one-fourth cup flour and beat into batter. Bake in three greased and floured layer cake pans in moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes. Cool. Ice with frosting.

BAPTISTS' GOALS STEPPED UP

Texas Baptists Plan To Press Five-Year Development Program

HOUSTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—The Baptist General convention of Texas today continued to develop its five-year expansion program.

Delegates to the convention's centennial meeting approved a goal of 100,000 Baptisms annually for the next five years and directed its officers to emphasize expansion of seminaries and rural churches.

Last night the convention adopted a record breaking five-year $50,000,000 budget, one-half of which will go for new buildings and maintenance for nine Texas Baptist colleges and seven hospitals.

Baptist Sunday schools also will seek 100,000 new members annually.

Reports of progress made during the first year of the long-range program will be made next November in El Paso, selected today as the 1949 convention city.

Dr. Wallace Bassett, now serving his 31st year as pastor of the Cliff Temple Baptist church, Dallas, was re-elected to a third term as convention president.

New vice-presidents are Rev. W. L. Shuttlesworth, Houston, and Rev. John M. Wright, Port Arthur.

Roy L. Joanson, Canyon, and D. B. South, San Antonio, were re-elected recording secretaries, as was J. Earl Mead, Dallas, secretary of the corporation.

Rev. James Landes, pastor of the Wichita Falls First church, was selected to deliver the convention sermon at next year's El Paso meeting.

Baptisms Record Seen

Speakers today included the Rev. Clyde Buchanan, Sulphur Springs, director of the convention's rural church department, Dr. Wade Freeman, Dallas, state superintendent of Evangelism, and H. Guy Moore, Fort Worth.

Freeman voiced need for immediate establishment of 500 new mission stations in Texas' rapidly expanding suburban and industrial areas and proposed the 100,000 goal for baptisms.

He predicted a new record for Baptisms will be established this year, explaining that 48,000 people have joined Texas Baptist churches this year, with reports from seven associations still missing.

In 1947 baptisms totaled 49,000.

Buchanan told of plans for a revitalized rural program designed to challenge young people to remain in rural areas.

Moore, presenting a report on seminaries, said the paramount need of the world today is "leadership not only in the field of technical knowledge but in spiritual and moral living."

"If we are wise as Southern Baptists," he said, "we shall give increasing support to the enlarging of the teaching forces and the equipment of our seminaries in order that we may match the hour with men of adequate stature."

'Bad Wreck' Turns Out To Be Battered Car--Still Running

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11 (AP) — A passing motorist noted a badly battered automobile on the pedestrian walk in Fairmount park today and promptly reported "a bad accident" to park guards.

Its radiator grille was stoved in, a front fender was wrinkled, a headlight was smashed and one end of the front bumper dangled on the ground.

In the back seat of the damaged car police found a soldier who hastily explained there had been no wreck. The soldier, whose name was not disclosed, said:

"That's the way the car was when we left Camp Kilmer, last night."

He made one exception. A wire which had been used to hold up the broken bumper parted and the bumper hit the road, causing the car to go up on the pedestrian walk, the soldier said.

SERVICES ARE SET

DALLAS, Nov. 11. (AP)—Funeral services for Dr. Glenn D. Lacey, 54, professor at Baylor college of dentistry here for the last 13 years, will be held here tomorrow at 4 p. m. Dr. Lacey died late yesterday in a Dallas hospital.

Federal Agents Believe Arrest Of Young Mother Has Broken Check Forging Ring

DALLAS, Nov. 11. (AP) — A sample of a 23-year-old mother's hand-writing have broken a government "check forging ring" that could have netted as much as $14,000, Dallas agents of the U. S. Secret service revealed today.

The young blonde mother was arrested Tuesday by Dallas detectives as she attempted to cash a forged commercial check at a department store.

The woman and her 25-year-old husband were booked yesterday by Dallas police for the forgery of "nearly $600 in checks." Detectives said the checks had been cashed in San Antonio, Dallas and Houston areas.

Money Bought Clothing

Most of the money was used to buy clothing for the mother and her two sons, aged three and four.

As detectives lodged the woman in city jail, they asked her to write the names of her children on a piece of paper.

She did and the handwriting sample was handed to F. B. Sorrells, head of the Dallas Secret service office, who had been looking for the suspect on government check forging charges for two years.

The writing matched other samples in Sorrell's possession, and today the woman was in government custody.

Led "Merry Chase"

The blonde, Sorrell said, "had led agents a merry chase across the southwest" before they finally caught her. He added that her methods were simple. She, "with the assistance of other people," would watch a house until a government check was delivered, then steal it from the mailbox, forge the proper name, and cash it.

Principal areas of operation for the check forging team were in Dallas, Fort Worth, Lubbock, Houston, and San Antonio, Sorrell said. But their activities had extended to Louisiana border towns.

Most of the cashed checks were for $80 and $90, Sorrell said. However, one was known to be for $400. They were compensation, social security and soldier benefit checks.

The attractive mother had already admitted the forgeries to Dallas detectives before results of the handwriting tests were ascertained.

The woman's two children were being kept by a relative in Dallas, and her husband remained in city jail where he was still being investigated by government agents and Dallas police.

Burglars Take Everything But Lumber In Breakin At Dallas

DALLAS, Nov. 11. (INS)—Burglars raided a Dallas lumber company recently—and got away with practically everything but the lumber.

Owner I. H. Pelt told police his losses amounted to between $2,500 and $3,000 and the loot included electric stoves, washing machines, television sets, radio consoles, shotgun shells and a number of rifles.

Some $10 in the cash till was NOT touched, he added.

RECIPE
"HAPPY PARTY" CAKE
An "m-m-m" cake—quick-mixed and so easy with quick-blending Snowdrift!

Sift together in a large bowl:
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
3½ teaspoons double-action baking powder (4½ teaspoons single-action)
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups sugar
Add:
½ cup Snowdrift (Emulsorized...gives blending aid)
⅔ cup milk
Mix until flour is dampened. Beat 2 minutes. If you beat by hand and take "rests," count beating time only. (If you use electric mixer, set at "low speed"; scrape bowl and beaters frequently.)
Add:
4 egg whites (unbeaten)
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
Beat 1 minute. Turn into 2 greased 8- or 9-inch layer pans, with bottoms lined with thin plain paper. Bake in moderate oven (375°) about 25 minutes. Cool on cake racks 5 minutes; turn out of pans, invert and cool. Put layers together with—

PINK PARTY FROSTING
2 egg whites
1½ cups sugar
⅓ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
⅓ cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
Few drops of red coloring
Combine all ingredients except vanilla and coloring in double boiler, over boiling water. Beat constantly with rotary beater 7 minutes or until icing "peaks." Cool. Stir in vanilla and enough coloring to make frosting a delicate pink.

Allies Pointed Early Objective Toward Destroying Rommel's Forces In Africa

THE transfer from staff to command duty would have been welcomed by any soldier; but the weight of responsibility involved was so great as to obliterate any thought of personal elation and so critical as to compel complete absorption in the job at hand. In any event, the unexpected orders started me on a hurried round of preparation, most of which involved the transfer of War Department duties to my successor, General Handy.

A call on President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, a guest at the White House, was no more than an informal chat. It had no military significance, but it was the first time I ever had a personal talk with either of these two men. Tobruk, in the African desert, had just fallen to the Germans and the whole Allied world was thrown into gloom. These two leaders, however, showed no signs of pessimism. It was gratifying to note that they were thinking of attack and victory, not of defense and defeat.

Off To Europe

General Clark and I, with a few assistants, left Washington in late June, 1942. This time the parting from my family seemed particularly difficult although it was, in a sense, a mere repetition of previous instances covering many years. Our son came down from West Point; he, my wife, and I had two days together, and then I left.

In late June 1942 the press of the United States and Great Britain was echoing the Russian cry for a "second front." To the professional soldier this was disturbing, not because of any quarrel with the soundness of the idea but because the impatience of the public clearly demonstrated a complete lack of appreciation of the problems involved, particularly of the time that must elapse before any such operation could be launched.

My first job was to collect and organize a working team. General Marshall approved my request for Brigadier General Walter B. Smith as my chief of staff. He was a godsend—a master of detail with clear comprehension of main issues. Serious, hard-working, and loyal, he proved equally as capable in difficult conference as he was in professional activity. Strong in character and abrupt by instinct, he could achieve harmony without appeasement, and earned for himself an enviable standing throughout the armies and governments of Europe. He reached London on September 7 and there began a personal friendship and official association which lasted throughout the war.

THE organizational plan for air was pressing in point of time. We intended to participate as quickly as possible in the bombing campaign against Germany. The Eighth Air Force was allocated to our theater, with General Spaatz assigned to me as its commander.

From the time of his arrival at London in July he was never long absent from my side until the last victorious shot had been fired in Europe. On every succeeding day of almost three years of active war I had new reasons for thanking the gods of war and the War department for giving me "Tooey" Spaatz. He shunned the limelight and was so modest and retiring that the public probably never became fully cognizant of his value.

All these preliminary organizational tasks were normal to such enterprises. They had been anticipated and therefore were soon disposed of, so far as immediate needs were concerned. Another task for which we had to organize very specifically was almost unique in character. It involved the fitting of our training, building, and organizationl activities into British life.

Supply Big Problem

The plan to bring large fighting forces to Great Britain required those highly populated islands to ready themselves for the absorption of 2,000,000 Americans and to provide for them necessary facilities, including training grounds, in which to prepare for the great invasion. England's insufficiency in food supplies had already led to a program of placing even submarginal ground under intensive cultivation, while, to save fuel and power, all unnecessary transportation and power facilities had been eliminated. Our friendly invasion would vastly increase the strain on the population.

The whole of the British Isles is only slightly larger than Colorado. Certain portions were either unusable or unsuited to our purpose. Southern Ireland was neutral, while Scotland was short of suitable areas for training. Almost the entire burden was thrown onto the crowded sections of middle and southern England, with some troops stationed in North Ireland.

We had to expect inevitable clashes with civilian processes, and in spite of the best will in the world on both sides, we had to anticipate, and do our best to prevent, mutual irritations that would naturally lead to misunderstandings and could not fail to impede the war effort.

FORTUNATELY all this was foreseen and discussed frankly with the leaders of the British war effort. Our principal collaborator was Mr. Brendan Bracken, head of the Ministry of Information. He seemed to be as controversial a figure in British life as Harry Hopkins was in ours, but he was always helpful to us and, equally important, he was decisive and energetic.

He had another characteristic particularly noticeable among a people normally regarded as conservative and correct. Until I met him I had always regarded the American cowpuncher as the world's greatest master of picturesque expression. The effect of Bracken's language was always heightened by the rasping intensity of his voice.

During the war Mr. Churchill maintained such close contact with all operations as to make him a virtual member of the British Chiefs of Staff; I cannot remember any major discussion with them in which he did not participate.

Churchill "Tough"

An inspirational leader, he seemed to typify Britain's courage and perseverance in adversity and its conservatism in success. He was a man of extraordinarily strong convictions and a master in argument and debate. Completely devoted to winning the war and discharging his responsibility as Prime Minister of Great Britain, he was difficult indeed to combat when conviction compelled disagreement with his views.

In most cases problems were solved on a basis of almost instant agreement, but intermittently important issues arose where this was far from true. He could become intensely oratorical, even in discussion with a single person, but at the same time his intensity of purpose made his delivery seem natural and appropriate. He used humor and pathos with equal facility, and drew on everything from the Greek classics to Donald Duck for quotation, cliche, and forceful slang to support his position.

I ADMIRED and liked him. He knew this perfectly well and never hesitated to use that knowledge in his effort to swing me to his own line of thought in any argument. Yet in spite of his strength of purpose, in those instances where we found our convictions in direct opposition, he never once lost his friendly attitude toward me when I persisted in my own course, nor did he fail to respect with meticulous care the position I occupied as the senior American officer and, later, the Allied commander in Europe.

He was a keen student of the war's development and of military history, and discussion with him, even on purely professional grounds, was never profitless. If he accepted a decision unwillingly he would return again and again to the attack in an effort to have his own way, up to the very moment of execution. But once action was started he had a faculty for forgetting everything in his desire to get ahead, and invariably tried to provide British support in a greater degree than promised.

Strategy Developed

Coupled with our organizational and preparatory program was the task of developing an operational plan to carry out the agreed-upon strategical concepts of the two governments. At that time General Sir Bernard Paget was commanding the Home Forces of Great Britain, from which would have to come the British contingent of the invading army. His troops included a number of Canadian divisions serving under the command of General Andrew McNaughton.

Air Chief Marshal Sir Sholto Douglas was designated as the commander for the British Expeditionary Air Forces. Admiral Sir Bertram Ramsay was named to head British naval forces. It was in co-operation with these men that the original work of developing a European invasion plan was undertaken by United States headquarters.

AT the time of my first visit to London, in May, no detailed study of tactical plans for an invasion of the coast line of northwestern Europe had been made. Requirements in troops, airplanes, supplies, and equipment were all yet to be determined. In general terms I was thinking of an assault to be launched early in 1943, conducted during its initial stages by British troops supported by possibly ten or twelve American divisions.

With these general ideas in mind but with no detailed studies upon which to make a firm conclusion, I went to an informal meeting with the British Chiefs of Staff. Shortly after the conference began I was invited to present my general views concerning the nature of the projected operation.

Outlines Own Job

Speaking as an American planner assigned to the War department in Washington, and with no idea that I would later be assigned to Britain, I said in substance, "The first thing to do is to name a commander for the operation. That man must be given every bit of power that both governments can make available to him. He must be directed to plan for an invasion of Europe on the basis that it will certainly be succesful, at least to the extent of establishing on the Continent a solid front capable of carrying out effective operations against the German. He must be directed instantly to prepare his outlined plan and to submit to the Chiefs of Staff his requirements not only in troops of all kinds but in all types of additional equipment—land, sea, and air."

THE first question asked me was, "And who would you name as commander of this expedition?"

Still thinking of an operation in early 1943, when the British would necessarily provide the major portion of the forces during initial stages, I replied, "In America I have heard much of a man who has been intensively studying amphibious operations for many months. I understand that his position is Chief of Combined Operations, and I think his name is Admiral Mountbatten. Anyone will be better than none; such an operation cannot be carried out under committee command. But I have heard that Admiral Mountbatten is vigorous, intelligent, and courageous, and if the operation is to be staged initially with British forces predominating I assume he could do the job."

"There He Is!"

My remarks were greeted with an amazed silence. Then General Brooke said, "General, possibly you have not met Admiral Mountbatten. This is he sitting directly across the table from you."

The President had specifically ordered the United States Chiefs of Staff to launch some kind of offensive ground action in the European zone in 1942.

In view of these circumstances there seemed to be three lines of action deserving of earnest study.

The first was the direct reinforcement of the British armies in the Middle East via the Cape of Good Hope route, in an effort to destroy Rommel and his army and, by capturing Tripolitania, to gain secure control of the central Mediterranean.

The second was to prepare amphibious forces to seize northwest Africa with the idea of undertaking later operations to the eastward to catch Rommel in a giant vise and eventually open the entire Mediterranean for use by the United Nations.

The third was to undertake a limited operation on the northwest coast of France with a relatively small force but with objectives limited to the capture of an area that could be held against German attack and which would later form a bridgehead for use in the large-scale invasion agreed upon as the ultimate objective. The places indicated were the Cotentin Peninsula or the Brittany Peninsula. This proposed operation was called Sledgehammer.

NO other course of action seemed feasible at the moment. The discussions were long and exhaustive. A major factor in all American thinking of that time was a lively suspicion that the British contemplated the agreed-upon cross-Channel concept with distaste and with considerable mental reservations concerning the practicability of ever conducting a major invasion of northwest Europe. So, though we could not plead for a do-nothing policy while all the impedimenta of major invasion were being produced and accumulated, we looked askance on any project that seemed to be an effort to lead us to indefinite commitment to a strategy in which we did not believe.

I was well aware of sincere British misgivings — often voiced in a general way by Mr. Churchill, but definitely and specifically by General Paget—concerning the major cross-Channel venture, then known as Roundup. General Marshall heartily agreed that, no matter what decision should be reached by the London Conference then in progress, we must secure from the British unequivocal reaffirmation of the cross-Channel strategy.

Favored Third Course

Influenced by these considerations, I personally favored, at that time, the third course of action; that is, the attempt to seize a small bridgehead on the northwest coast of France. However, I told General Marshall that the project was a hazardous one and that my only real reason for favoring it was the fear of becoming so deeply involved elsewhere that the major cross-Channel attack would be indefinitely postponed, possibly even canceled.

Later developments have convinced me that those who held the Sledgehammer operation to be unwise at the moment were correct in their evaluation of the problem. Our limited-range fighter craft of 1942 could not have provided sufficiently effective air cover over the Cotentin or Brittany peninsulas, against the German air strength as it then existed. At least, the operation would have been very costly.

ANOTHER reason is that out of the northwest African operation flowed benefits to the Allied nations that were felt all through the war and materially helped to achieve the great victory when the invasion actually took place in 1944. Only meager advantages would have followed capture of Cherbourg; the desirable features of that project were merely that it would have initiated a small "second front" at once and would have launched our first offensive effort in the direction and along the same line that would later be taken by our full-out assault.

On July 24 it was determined to proceed with the planning for the invasion of northwest Africa with an Allied force of all arms, to be carried out under an American commander. The operation received the name Torch. Its execution was approved by the President on July 25. Both governments agreed that the whole venture should have, initially at least, a completely American complexion.

Hope On French Africa

The hope was that French North Africa would receive the invading troops with no more than a nominal show of resistance, and the chances of this favorable development were considered to be much brighter if the operation was advertised as purely American. British standing in France was at a low ebb because of the Oran, Dakar, and Syrian incidents, in which British forces had come into open conflict with the French.

In his headquarters in the Claridge Hotel on July 26, General Marshall informed me that I was to be the Allied commander in chief of the expedition. In August the appointment as commander in chief was made official in a directive from the Combined Chiefs of Staff.

The preparation for "Torch," the Allied invasion of North Africa, filled the summer of 1942. Alternative plans were debated between London and Washington, while General de Gaulle and his Free French followers were kept—necessarily and successfully—in the dark about the plan.

It was the one time in the entire war, General Eisenhower writes in tomorrow's installment of "Crusade in Europe," when one of his operational plans was changed by higher authority. This newspaper will publish here tomorrow his reasons for preferring, initially, to take his entire Allied force inside the Mediterranean, by-passing Casablanca, and his reasons for subsequently accepting the political decision of the United States Chiefs of Staff.)

Mobile medical and dental units have just been put in operation in the Dominican Republic to serve social-security-fund participants living in remote sections.

Take time to save time

Have you ever mapped—with pins and thread, or with pencil on paper—the daily "chore route" of your farm or ranch? Have you figured how much back-tracking you do, how many unnecessary extra steps you walk in a day? Have you taken time to save time, and steps, and labor?

A number of agricultural colleges and experiment stations have made practical work studies on farms and ranches, with some astounding results. For example, one dairy farmer (who thought himself pretty efficient) adopted improved machine milking techniques, rearranged his barn to save steps and time in feeding and watering. He saved himself two miles of walking per day, cut his daily chore time by two hours and five minutes. That's 730 miles of walking and 760 hours of work in a year. In making the changes, he spent less than $50.

Indiana tells of farmers who, by planning their work, are raising hogs with one quarter their former hours of labor . . . There's a report of men making hay in 90 man-minutes per ton; while others using similar equipment—but older, harder ways of working—spend twice that time . . . There are scores of other examples.

Perhaps you cannot make such great savings in your operations. Maybe you can make more. It's certainly worth looking into, for even little savings are important. Five steps saved a day makes a mile in a year. Five minutes a day gives you three extra days a year.

There's no master plan to fit every farm and ranch, because no two are exactly the same. You have to work out your own plan of improvement. But the time it takes may well be the most profitable time you've ever spent.

A four-step scheme is suggested. First, consider each job or chore separately. Break it down into its parts. Check each part with a watch or tape measure and see if steps or time can be saved. Second, compare your work methods with those of your neighbors. Third, examine and check the details of your work methods. Fourth, develop and apply the new method. In a nutshell, "Plan your work and work your plan."

Time studies and job analysis have helped Swift & Company increase efficiency and make important savings. That's why we so confidently suggest similar studies in your operations. One excellent bulletin on the subject is Number 307, published by Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana. It's interesting reading and well worth writing for. Your county agent or state agricultural college can tell of other bulletins on the same subject.

The American Way

In the livestock-meat industry, as in all American business, profit provides the basic incentive for work, enterprise and action. Profit makes the mare go for livestock producers, meat packers and retailers. Too little profit by one section creates an unbalance in the industry. If one part of the livestock-meat industry suffers continued loss, all of us are hurt in the long run.

However, a margin of profit fair to one section of the livestock-meat industry might be quite unfair to another. For instance, we at Swift & Company know perfectly well that both livestock producers and retailers require a higher margin of profit, because of their relatively small volume. On the other hand, nationwide meat packers must build up a tremendous volume of sales to make up for a very small margin of profit per unit—a margin that has been consistently lower than that earned by any other manufacturing industry in America.

Over a period of years, Swift & Company has earned, on the average, less than two cents on each dollar of sales (a fraction of a cent per pound of product handled). Over the same period, the average amount returned to producers for agricultural raw materials, including livestock, wool and hides, has been 75 cents out of each dollar we received. This is not a profit. Out of this 75 cents producers must pay the cost of production.

Whether livestock prices are high or low or whether meat is high-priced or inexpensive—Swift & Company can earn a reasonable profit only by adding together many tiny savings on a large volume of business.

Martha Logan's Recipe for HAM LOAF

½ pound ground ham
1½ pound ground fresh pork
2 eggs
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
½ cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons vinegar

Beat eggs. Combine meats, eggs, crumbs, salt, pepper, and milk. Mix thoroughly. Form into loaf in 8¼ x 4¼ x 2¾ inch loaf pan. Combine sugar, mustard, and vinegar. Spread over meat. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 1 hour, or until meat has reached an internal temperature of 165° F. (Yield: One 8¼ x 4¼ x 2¾ inch loaf)

OUR CITY COUSIN

City Cousin cannot see
Why "you" is spelled E-W-E...
Neither can we!

Farmer's Choice—When I was in high school, I spent a summer vacation on my grandfather's farm in Indiana. From my city-bred standpoint, his seemed a particularly dull and unrewarding life. Rising before dawn and working till after dusk, with little or no opportunity for urban pleasures, he was an object of pity to my adolescent eye. Why didn't he sell his farm and move to town? How did he ever get into this rut in the first place? "Grandpa," I asked one evening at milking time, "Why did you become a farmer, anyway?"

He paused a moment, leaned back on his stool and looked slowly around the barn—at the livestock, at the huge haymow in the east corner, at the farm tools, at the broad beams that supported the roof. What he saw seemed to reassure him, and I shan't forget his answer: "Just lucky, I guess."

Controlling Roundworm in Sheep

by Walter Armer
University of Arizona

Walter Armer

The control of roundworm on sheep ranches has been successfully tested by Dr. W. J. Pistor, University of Arizona Animal Pathologist. It consists of feeding a mixture of 1 part phenothiazine with 9 parts of ordinary granular salt. Roundworm, a serious plague, especially to sheep grazed on irrigated pastures, can be checked by phenothiazine and salt. Of course, it is not a cure-all. Badly infected sheep may still have to be drenched. But feeding the mixture throughout the pasture period will prevent the worm population from reaching the dangerous level in the majority of cases.

Phenothiazine, alone, is but one of a number of drugs known to aid in controlling roundworm in livestock. But during World War II, animal husbandmen discovered its effectiveness was greatly heightened when used with salt and fed throughout the pasture season.

Experiments begun in 1943 with sheep grazing on irrigated pastures in Arizona proved the remarkable value of the new mixture. It resulted in cutting down loss of sheep and in marketing lambs in better condition. Today a high percentage of sheep on Arizona farm lands receive the 1-9 phenothiazine and salt mixture.

This new treatment is economical as well as effective. It practically eliminates the necessity of drenching each animal individually to control roundworms—a costly and possibly dangerous practice.

Track Down the Facts

A great family "man" is Fiber Zibethicus, better known to American farmers as the muskrat. He raises his many offspring in marshes, and about streams, lakes and ponds. Muskrat tracks are easily recognized by the drag of his knife-like tail, which shows up well in soft mud.

The muskrat-trapper works hard to make a living out of muskrat skins, and generally his efforts are rewarded. But there is one fact about his business that he tracked down long ago. He knows the price he can get for muskrat skins depends on the popular demand for finished pelts.

In the business of processing livestock into meat for people's use, we at Swift & Company have to keep track of the demand for meat everywhere in the nation. We must know, too, the weights and grades of cuts preferred by housewives. Experience has taught us that the price the producer receive for their livestock is governed by what the meat packers can get for the meat and by-products.

Wichita Plant Being Readied To Produce New Jet Bomber

By JAMES J. STREBIG
Associated Press Staff Writer

WICHITA, Kas., Nov. 9—The plant that built the most B-29's in wartime is being readied for mass production of the super-fortress' jet successor, the B-47 Stratojet.

Boeing Airplane Co. officials indicated, however that it may be well over a year before the spectacular six - engine bomber rolls off the production line in quantity.

J. E. Schaefer, vice-president in charge of Boeing's Wichita operation, estimated 29,000 workers will be needed to build stratojets. That equals the peak employment by Boeing here during the war.

15,000 To Be Hired

But this time, Schaefer told a group of writers on an Air Force-sponsored visit to aircraft factories in the west, only 15,000 men and women will be hired for the Wichita plant. The rest of the work will be subcontracted.

Boeing already has begun a recruitment program in the Wichita area and will extend it to neighboring states as the job gets underway.

The program calls for 656,400 man - hours of production engineering on the B-47—a 10-month job for 400 men. Another 400 engineers will be needed for other phases of the overall task.

Two B-47's have been built at Seattle, Wash. The plane is rated by the Air Force in the "600-mile-an-hour class." Unofficially it is reported to be able to outrun any American warplane except the North American F-86, which set the world speed record at 670 miles an hour without using full power.

Adm. King Softens Criticism Of Former Pearl Harbor Chiefs

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—The Navy has added a softening footnote to the Pearl Harbor records of Admiral Harold R. Stark and Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel.

On the recommendation of Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, wartime chief of naval operations, the Navy altered King's original criticism of their actions prior to the sneak Japanese attack. At that time Kimmel was commander in chief of the Pacific fleet and Stark was chief of naval operations. They were charged with "dereliction" of duty.

Stark Awarded Medal

The Navy last night released a letter King wrote Secretary Sullivan last July in which King said that some of his comments during the Pearl Harbor investigation three years ago "stand out as not being in accord with the realities of the situation (then) existing."

Accordingly, King urged that Stark be awarded a second distinguished service medal. It was presented to the retired admiral about two months ago.

King noted that in August, 1945 he had said that the "derelictions" of Stark and Kimmel "indicate lack of a superior judgment necessary for exercising command commensurate with their rank."

But in view of Stark's "outstanding" service in European waters after the Pearl Harbor disaster, King asked the Navy to alter his remarks to read:

"The derelictions on the part of Admiral Stark and Kimmel were those of omission rather than of commission—errors of judgment as distinguished from culpable inefficiency.

"Since the evidence adduced warrants neither trial by general courtmartial nor punishment in any form but since their usefulness in the billets assigned was impaired by the course of events, I am of the opinion that their assignment to other duties, then and now, represented appropriate administrative action."

After Pearl Harbor, Kimmel was on duty in the 14th and 12th naval district until he retired in March, 1942. He now lives in New London, Conn.

Stark was assigned to the European command on orders of President Roosevelt. He now lives in Washington.

Study To Be Made To Determine Why Polls Went Wrong On Vote

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 (INS) — Elmo Roper tonight called off the poll he had intended to make to discover where his election poll went wrong.

Instead, Roper said, he is going to allow the survey to be carried out by the social science research council to find out where his group and all the other major polling organizations went astray.

Roper said the research council is a national non-partisan organization whose "sole concern is scientific research."

He declared he is making all of his data available to the group, and added:

"I hope and believe their findings will help us to improve our knowledge of the admittedly valuable tool of public opinion research."

DELEGATES FAIL TO AGREE

Texas, New Mexico Seek Pact For Division Of Pecos Water

AUSTIN, Nov. 11. (AP)—Representatives of Texas and New Mexico today continued to struggle with the problem of how to divide the waters of the Pecos river.

Charles H. Miller of Barstow, Texas member of the Pecos River Compact commission, rejected New Mexico's proposal of last March as "too vague and indefinite."

The commission held a brief session this morning, recessed until 3 p. m., then announced the meeing may not be resumed until tomorrow. A commission attache said "they are still trying to iron things out."

Texas States Demand

"A compact can be reached on the basis of specified amounts of water to be delivered at the state line," Miller said in rejecting the New Mexico proposal.

"Any changed conditions that may increase or decrease the water supply must be defined and losses or gains allocated in agreed proportions to each state."

Emphasizing the Texas demand that the compact be based on specified amounts crossing the state line, Miller said New Mexico seeks a compact on the basis that all of its present water rights, including secondary rights, be preserved regardless of possible future depletion of the flow of the river.

John Bliss, the New Mexico commissioner, requested the recess. Bliss said members of the Carlsbad Irrigation district wanted more time to study the engineering advisory committee's report.

ACTRESS IS SUSPENDED

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11 (INS)—Actress Helena Carter today was placed on suspension by Universal-International studios for refusing to play a secondary lead in a hill billy picture.

ITU Ordered To Obey Federal Injunction

HAMMOND, Ind., Nov. 11. (INS)—The AFL International Typographical union was ordered today to comply by Nov. 15 with an injunction barring the organization from seeking closed shop conditions for printers.

The order was signed in Hammond by Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert and was directed to the union and its four top officers.

Judge Swygert ordered the union officials to appear before him Nov. 18 if steps have not been taken prior to then to comply with the unfair labor practices injunction he issued against the ITU last March.

Judge Swygert held the printer union guilty Oct. 18 of contempt of court for alleged Taft-Hartley law violations in contract negotiations with newspaper publishers.

The union appealed the contempt finding, but the U. S. circuit court of appeals in Chicago ruled against the ITU. The court of appeals yesterday reinstated the contempt order against the union which it had stayed Oct. 20.

Austin Claims Meanest Burglars After Six Churches Are Entered

AUSTIN, Nov. 11 (INS) — Austin has some of the meanest burglars in the world.

Not content with the usual, run-of-the-mill jobs, the thieves have been concentrating on churches lately.

For six consecutive days, local churches were robbed.

The latest was the Hyde Park Christian church, from which approximately $2 in nickels and pennies were reported missing.

Student Offers To Wed Any Woman In U.S. For $100,000

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 11. (INS) — A 25-year-old Covington, Ky., psychology student today offered to marry any woman in the United States who has $100,000.

The student, William E. Collier, said he needed the money "to complete my education and establish myself in business."

"I had been joking with some friends about it and decided to see if anyone would be interested. It makes absolutely no difference about me—the main thing is the money."

Collier is now a student at Marshall college, Huntington, W. Va. During the war he lost an index finger and was shell-shocked.

Pilgrims From Los Angeles To Visit Mexico Shrine

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 11. (INS)—More than 150 pilgrims from Los Angeles, California, will come to Mexico by air for the fiesta of Mexico's patron saint, the Virgin of Guadelupe, December 12.

Considered as the most holy spot in Mexico, or for that matter, in the western hemisphere, the Basilica of Guadelupe stands on the hill where the Blessed Virgin is reputed to have appeared to an illiterate Indian named Diego. Through her orders to Diego, the church was built there and Diego's serape, miraculously imprinted with her portrait, hangs under glass over the main altar.

Literally hundreds of thousands of pilgrims come to the Guadelupe each year; every Catholic Mexican home has at least one and maybe a dozen pictures or statues of the Guadelupe.

The archbishop of San Diego, California, has already sent his episcopal blessing on the pilgrimage. And American airlines will fly the pilgrims to and from Mexico City.

Beaumont Boys' Haven Just That—Not A Dog Refuge

BEAUMONT, Nov. 11. (INS)—It's a doggone shame, folks, but the sign means just what it says—boys' haven, not dog heaven.

Not that executive director Don Holiman wouldn't like for each of the 30 boys under his care to have a dog. It's just not practical.

Holiman says a lot of people seem to think the best way to get rid of an unwanted Rover is to drive up to boys' haven, release the pooch and drive away fast.

"It just isn't possible for us to take care of all the dogs that have wandered in during the last few months," Holiman points out.

"Recently we had 15 dogs at the home. We had to round them up and turn them over to the humane society."

There was quite a howl, that time, he adds.

PECOS WATERS:

A Settlement Near?

THE possibility of an early settlement of the 24-year dispute between Texas and New Mexico over division of waters of the Pecos river apparently has been brightened by the approval this week of an engineering report by the Pecos River Compact commission.

The near-certain indications are that neither state will get as much water as it wants from the stream. Engineers say the Pecos simply doesn't produce that much of the priceless liquid.

The chief value of the engineering report seems to be its information concerning how much water there is to divide.

If this can be established to the reasonable satisfaction of the two states, the hope is that they may agree more easily upon some plan of equitable division, thus ending a stalemating controversy which threatens to become increasingly harmful to everyone concerned because of inaction.

The Thomas Case

ANY American accused of crime is entitled to the presumption of innocence until guilt is established through prescribed legal processes. Particularly is it important and just that full benefit of this guarantee be allowed when the accused occupies a position of high public trust, such as Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, Republican, of New Jersey, now under federal indictment on various charges of payroll padding and "kickbacks."

The charges against Mr. Thomas must be considered, in all fairness, with the fact that, as chairman of the House Un-American Investigating committee and for other reasons, he occupies a position which invites attack for political and other ulterior motives. Many individuals and groups, including all subversive elements, would resort to any methods tending to discredit an official in Mr. Thomas' position.

If eventual trial should result in his conviction on the charges, no one should construe the verdict as evidence that such practices are typical of members of Congress. The best qualified observers are agreed that the vast majority of congressmen, past and present, lean backward to avoid profits from their positions which do not conform to the strictest interpretation of the letter and the spirit of laws. Those who do otherwise are and always have been the exceedingly rare exceptions.

The fair thing to do in Mr. Thomas' case is to withhold the verdict of public opinion, which could be worse than any penalty a court might inflict, until all the evidence is in. Prior condemnation would involve entirely too much risk of abetting criminal and dangerous forces which might be attempting to use the courts to remove Mr. Thomas as an obstacle to the accomplishment of their nefarious ends.

Waltz Into Darkness

THE STORY

(Time, 1886 Place, New Orleans) Louis Durand, 27, a bachelor; has been corresponding with Miss Julia Russell, whom he has never seen. He has proposed marriage and she has accepted. According to her picture, Miss Russell is dark-haired, strong-featured and no longer young. Durand goes down to the dock to meet the boat that is to bring her from St. Louis.)

WALTZ IN THE DARKNESS

THE river was empty, the sky was clear. Both were mirrored in his anxious, waiting eyes. Then a litle twirl of smudge appeared. It came from where there seemed to be no river, only an embankment; it seemed to hover over dry land; for it was around a turn the river made, before straightening to flow toward New Orleans and the pier. And those assembled on it.

He stood there waiting, others like himself about him. Some so close their elbows all but grazed him. Strangers, men he did not know, had never seen before, would never see again, drawn together for a moment by the arrival of a boat.

The smoke climbed now, was high in the sky, like dingy black ostrich plumes massed together. Under its profusion a black that was solid substance, a slenger cone, began to rise, a smokestack. Then a second.

"There she is," a roustabout shouted.

"There she is," Durand's heart told him softy. But it meant a different she.

The smokestack, like a blunted knife slicing through the earth, cleared the embankment and came out upon the open water bed. A tawny superstructure, that seemed to be indented with a myriad tiny niches in two long even rows, was beneath it, and beneath that, only a thin line at this distance, was the ungainly black hull. The paddles were going, slats turning over as they reached the top of the wheel and fell, shaking off spray into the turgid brown water below that they kept beating upon.

She made the turn and grew larger, prow forward. She was life-sized now, coursing down on the pier as if she meant to smash it asunder. A shrill falestto wail, infinitely mournful, like the cry of a lost soul in torment, knifed from her, and a plume of white circled the smokestack and, vanished to the rear. The City of New Orleans, out of St. Louis three days before, was back home again at its namesake-port, its mother-haven.

THE first passenger off was a man, striding, sample cases in both his hands, some business traveler in haste to leave. A woman next, more slowly, picking her way with care. Gray-haired and spectacled; not she. Another woman next. Not she again; her husband a step behind her, guiding her with hand at her elbow. An entire family next.

Then more men, two or three of them in succession this time. Faces just pale ciphers to him, quickly passed over. Then a woman, and for a moment—No, not she; different eyes, a different nose, a different face. A stranger's curt glance, meeting his, then quickly rebuffing it. Another woman. Red-haired and sandy-browed; not she.

A space then, a pause, a wait. His heart took premature fright, then recovered. A tapping run along the deck planks, as some laggard made haste to overtake the others. A woman by the small, quick sound of her feet. A flounce of skirts, a face—Not she. A whiff of lilac water, a snub from eyes that had no concern for him, as his had for them, not quest in them, no knowledge. Not she.

And then no more. The gangplank empty. A lull, as when a thing is over.

He stared up, and his face died.

He was gripping the edges of the gangplank with both hands now. He released it at last, crossed around to the other side of it, accosted the officer loitering there, clutched at him anxiously by the sleve. "No one else?"

The officer turned and relayed the question upward toward the deck in booming hand-cupped shout. "Anyone else?"

Another of the ship's company, perhaps the captain, came to the rail and peered down overside. "All ashore," he called down.

It was like a knell. Durand seemed to find himself alone, in a pool of sudden silence, following it; though all about him there was as much noise going on as ever. But for him, silence. Stunning finality.

He waited, hoping against hope.

No one else. Only baggage, the inanimate dregs of the cargo. And at last not even that.

He turned aside at last and drifted back along the pier-length and off it to the solid ground beyond, and on a litle while. His face stifly averted, as if there were greater pain to be found on one side of him than on the other, though that was not true, it was equal all around.

And when he stopped, he didn't know it, nor why he had just when he did. Nor what reason he had for lingering on there at all. The boat had nothing for him, the river had nothing for him. There was nothing there for him. There or anywhere else, now.

Tears filled his eyes, and though there was no one near him no one to notice, he slowly lowered his head to keep them from being detected.

THERE was the light touch of a hand upon his shoulder. No exacting weight, no compulsive stroke; velvety and gossamer as the alighting of a butterfly.

His head came up slowly. Then equally slowly he turned it toward the side from which the

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

THERE is something lacking in me—the same thing that is lacking in millions of my fellow citizens.

I have tried to be great. I have done my best to be important. I have stood before my wife's full-length mirror and practiced gestures. Before that mirror I declaimed "My fellow citizens" and tried to imitate some of our country's statesmen, past and present.

BRANDEIS

But it was no use. The greater I tried to be in rehearsal, the more foolish I looked in my wife's full-length mirror.

So I gave up trying to lead the kind of life that some day would make my name be chiseled in stone on a marble statue in the city's square.

Then I tried to be a tremendously important influence with my pen. I would write fiery editorials and pronunciamentos, exhorting the people to arise and—

But that was as far as I got. I didn't know what I wanted them to arise for.

This being a gosh-darn-good country, I figured it would be much better to let the people remain seated than to make them arise and then just stand around and shout.

So that petered out, and as you notice, instead of being a twentieth century Joan of Arc (of the male gender, of course), I make my living writing the kind of piffle that most of us, including myself, live.

But I think piffle is kind of nice.

For instance, I just got through with my daily paper—which is a New York daily paper.

The usual eight-column stuff. Trouble. World affairs. Billions. Murders. Strikes. Etc.

Then I turned to our little local weekly which came this morning.

What piffle! But homey, personal piffle!

About people I know. About things that concern me.

If I don't pay my quarterly taxes within ten days there will be a ten per cent penalty. That's a piffle to you, but darn important to me.

That's one item. Here is another one: LeRoy McElwee, a darn nice fellow, has been elected by the local garbage collectors as president of their newly formed association. Good for good old LeRoy! Piffle? Of course, but I bet you LeRoy McElwee's family doesn't think so.

OUR NEWLY elected first selectman wants to have the say-so about spending the town money, instead of having the Board of Finance pass on expenditures. It says so right here in the local weekly!

Why, the idea! Not if I have anything to do with it. I'm going to sit right down and write a letter to the paper about it.

I cannot do much about what they do with their billions in Washington. But I'll be darned if I let a selectman have any jurisdiction about my local tax-money!

And so it goes for sixteen pages.

One item after the other about people I know, about things that are mighty important to me.

Piffle? Maybe—but one man's piffle is another man's life.

HST'S UPSET VICTORY

Major Blow To Reds

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Truman's election in his own right is a body blow to Stalin, despite the Missourian's sneaking liking for "Uncle Joe" and despite campaign charges that the Administration had harbored Communists who crept into key offices during the Russo-American wartime alliance.

The Soviet propaganda agents here and abroad were prepared to interpret a Dewey victory, albeit wrongly, as a repudiation of of the Truman-Marshall doctrine and program.

TUCKER

Although political enemies have accused the White House of wavering in the conduct of foreign affairs, especially with respect to Russia, China and Palestine, the Kremlin cannot and does not forget that, breaking from the Roosevelt policy, Mr. Truman and Secretary Marshall authored and implemented the program for rehabilitating anti-Communist countries in the Mediterranean and Western European areas, for rearming the United States and for encircling Russia with a ring of armed foes from Scandinavia to Korea.

FOREIGN: Even Trumanites admit that the President handled foreign problems with his eye on the November 2 political returns. They note, too, that he is not the first Chief Executive to realize that many millions of voting Americans have economic and blood ties, mystic but compelling, with their kin and friend across the seas.

Now that he owes possession of the White House to nobody but himself, Mr. Truman is expected to take even greater command of the handling of foreign affairs.

In doing so, he will probably get rid of Secretary Marshall and Under Secretary of State Lovett. Although an excellent soldier, Mr. Marshall is no great shakes as a diplomat. Both he and Mr. Lovett embarrassed the President at critical moments during the campaign.

CONTROLLED: It is also doubtful whether the so-called bipartisan foreign policy will survive the Republican debacle. It was built and represented as a bipartisan affair only because the Republicans controlled the House and the Senate, with Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Representative Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey heading the Senate and House committees which deal with these issues.

Now, those committees are chairmaned by such loyal, unquestioning Democrats as Tom Connally of Texas and Sol Bloom of New York.

INSTINCTS: Despite his political handling of foreign matters during the last few months Mr. Truman's instincts and impulses are good, honest and democratic. When he ousts a few "brass hats" and hidebound diplomats in the State Department and abroad, he will probably pursue these general policies:

(1) Strong support inside and outside the United Nations for a larger Palestine than the Bernadotte plan, which won Secretary Marshall's immediate approval, provides.

(2). Possible revival of the abortive idea of sending a personal emissary such as Chief Justice Vinson for a last-minute showdown with Stalin.

Should this attempt fail to wheedle or force Russia into a change of heart, as it probably would, Mr. Truman would have greater justification for asking huge appropriations for rearmament and a military lend-lease measure to aid anti-Communist nations abroad.

(3. Greater assistance, both financial and military, to China.

Failure to recognize that Moscow's penetration of this vast and heavily populated land may be more dangerous than the Kremlin's poke into Central Europe and the Balkans, is blamed on Mr. Marshall's personal dislike of Chiang Kai-shek.

(4) The use of American might and prestige in regional difficulties which the United Nations seems unable to compose because of Russia's power of veto. In such instances, however, President Truman will make clear that he is supporting majority UN opinion rather than bypassing the international organization.

JUDGMENT: Despite the Democratic landslide which washed out so many Republican members and brought back to Washington many Democrats who were drowned by the GOP's 1946 "wave of the future" in Congressional contests, the voters showed extraordinary and encouraging judgment in voting for members of the House. They picked, chose and voted with uncommon common sense.

Here are a few outstanding members who were reelected without regard for the presidential voting, meaning that there were many thousands of split ballots:

Christian A. Herter and George Bates of Massachusetts, both Republicans, Gordon Canfield, although his election is still in doubt, and Harry L. Towe of New Jersey, both Republicans. Andrew Somers of New York, a Democrat. Dan Flood, Sam McConnell and John C. Kunkel of Pennsylvania, Mr. Flood being the only Democrat. Jim Patterson, Republican, of Connecticut, a distinct comer on Capitol Hill. Also Representative John D. Lodge of the Nutmeg State.

SMARTER: Others deserving and receiving reelection were:

John M. Vorys of Ohio, a GOP brilliant. Albert J. Engel and Roy O. Woodruff of Michigan. Dick Welch and Jack Anderson of California. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma. And, of course, despite their philosophical enmity, Speaker Joe Martin of Massachusets and future Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

This does not complete the list of worthy members who were reelected. But it is sufficient to suggest that the American people are far smarter than Stalin thinks.

They vote with their heads, not with their hips!

A man in the West is planning a nudist college. Maybe he intends to teach nature in the raw.

Then there is the motorist who doesn't think he is getting the best out of his car unless he is exceeding the speed limits.

In the old days it was different. A girl didn't start using make-up until she was old enough to put on long dresses.

Why shouldn't the cave man enjoy his surroundings. His wife never bothered him about having the walls redecorated.

The horse and buggy days were slow, but at least the people weren't afraid of drunken drivers.

You can tell if it is a frequently traveled corner. There's a filling station on it.

There will never be a sisterhood of womankind so long as there are losers in a beauty contest.

The old-fashioned woman who did much work before breakfast now has a daughter who wants her breakfast served in bed.

SMALL GROUP DEMANDS ACTION

GOP Reorganization Again Asked

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Every four years for the last sixteen years, after each Republican defeat for the presidency, there rises from the ranks a cry that the party must reorganize itself among lines more in accord with the demands of the times and the needs of the people and must shake off the dead weight of the GOP old guard.

But the results each time have shown that not enough of the voters have been convinced that such a reformation has occurred.

STOKES

The cry is going up again. It is encouraging that it is coming, among other places, from the place where it can be most effective. That is Congress where, between elections, the record is made which is the only demonstration to the public of what the party really stands for. Already the Progressive wing of the party in the Senate is astir.

Group Seeks More Power

While still outnumbered, it is energetic and vocal. It has a nucleus in New England where there is an earthy, grass roots, town-meeting sort of Progressivism embodied in such figures as Senators Aiken and Flanders (Vt.), Tobey, (N. H.), Saltsonstall and Lodge (Mass.), Baldwin (Conn.) and the new addition, Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith (Me.). There are also Senators Ives (N. Y.), Smith (N. J.) and Morse (Ore.) from the Far West, among others who recognize the need for change in the party's approach to national problems.

They are seeking a voice in the high councils of the party in Congress. It is hoped they will get somewhere this time.

As their best argument they have past experience, notably that of two years ago when the Republican party had a great opportunity that it failed to grasp. It was swept into control of Congress in 1946 under the auspicious circumstance that it has been traditional that the party which captures Congress from the party in power in off-year congressional elections goes on to capture the whole government two years later.

That this did not happen is evidence of the failure of the party to capitalize its advantage.

Two years ago the GOP old guard immediately took over. It may be recalled how Senator Taft (O.) and a few other leaders gathered here well in advance to arrange things among themselves committee chairmanships and assignments and general policy. It was so arbitrary that newer and younger members, sixteen altogether, signed a round robin of protest. It helped some, but not much.

Ignored Popular Bills

Under the general program of old line leaders, the first session of the 80th Congress was devoted to matters that concerned the big interests that supported the party and contributed so heavily to the congressional victory. We had the first version of what President Truman called "the rich man's tax bill;" the Taft-Hartley labor regulatory act, and an economy drive that hit farmers, public power and reclamation projects in the West so hard that that section howled and, as the election November 2 showed, never forgot.

The second session was to give consideration to a social welfare program — housing, health, education and minimum wage increase. It is history now how the house leadership blocked all those measures so that, when the history of that congress was written, the party had nothing to show the average voter.

But, despite failure to do these things, the party's national convention came out for them again in its platform, as it had done four years before. Also it chose a ticket in the progressive tradition with Governors Dewey and Warren, and its chances looked bright—right up to the finish. That was because not enough account was taken of the 80th Congress record which was, after all, all that the public had to go on as far as the party in action was concerned nor was there realization of what fair game President Truman could make of this record, though some smart people should have known, since the President knew how to tell the story from his own experience in Congress and how to tell it in language easily understood.

All of which points to the importance of Congress in plans for reorganizing and re-vitalizing the Republican party. If the progressive element wants to rescue the party from the clutches of the old guard that has led it to defeat so often, now is the time to act, and Congress is the place to act.

Official Declares Rumors U.S. Running Out Of Oil Are False

CHICAGO, Nov. 11. (U.P.)—Rumors that the United States is running out of oil are "preposterous," an oil industry spokesman said today.

Oil production will be available in the U. S. in "substantially increased amounts" in coming years, said L. F. McCollum, president of the Continental Oil Co., Ponca City, Okla.

McCollum presented a report on U. S. oil supplies to the 28th annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute.

"Despite the tremendous amounts of oil taken out of the ground to meet the soaring needs of U. S. citizens," McCollum said, "this country's proved crude reserves stand at the record high of approximately 21½ billion barrels."

The "viewers-with alarm" do not take into consideration the "drive" of American free enterprise, and often think in "static terms," said McCollum. They do not take into account the possibilities of large oil discoveries, he said.

In making the report, the committee which McCollum headed assumed that there would be no government regulation of the industry. If the government should step in, McCollum said, the law of supply and demand probably would be "thrown completely out of balance," supplies would dwindle and costs would soar.

A government official told the convention that cooperation between industry and government hold the solution to "the conflict between dictatorship and liberty."

Max W. Ball, director of the Interior department's oil and gas division, said "cooperation is the best brake on the wheels of coercion."

Another speaker, Robert Dunlop, president of the Sun Oil Co., blamed the government's "unsound money policies" for inflation.

"We shall not get on solid ground until the fact is fully recognized by our people and government has the courage to correct its fallacious policies," Dunlop said.

He recommended that the government take steps to limit national credit and money supply.

The API's board of directors re-elected W. R. Boyd, jr., as president of the organization for 1949.

Negro Admits Wrecking Train To Loot Pockets Of Victims

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 11. (AP)—A 30-year-old negro ex-convict signed a statement today admitting he wrecked a train killing two so that he might get money by "searching the pockets of the dead and injured," District Attorney W. Arnold Forrest announced.

Forrest identified the man as James M. Johnson, a native of Pocomoke City, Md. He will be charged with murder, Forrest added.

Kansan's Idea For Heat Was Too Good

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Nov. 11. (AP)—R. B. Smith had an idea about conserving heat in his home.

He placed a wall heat conductor around his coal furnace in the basement with the idea of directing all the heat to an opening leading to the first floor.

Firemen agreed the idea worked wonderfully. The floor above the furnace heated so well it caught fire. Firemen extinguished the flames without heavy damage.

Governor To Take Son On Deer Hunt, May Miss Demo Dinner

DALLAS, Nov. 11 (AP) — Gov. Beauford Jester told Dallas Democratic leaders he wasn't quite sure he could make it to a dinner here the night of Nov. 20.

That's the day he is going to carry out a long standing promise to take his young son deer hunting. It also is young Beauford's birthday.

"If the boy gets a deer first thing out Saturday morning, I'll be in Dallas," the Governor said. "But we're going to stay until he kills one."

Confirmed Bachelors Urged To Go Into Farming Business

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 11. (INS) — Confirmed bachelors would do well to head for the farm, according to Mrs. Eloise Johnson, a family education specialist at Texas A & M College.

The reason, she says, is most girls prefer professional men first and businessmen second when they're husband hunting.

The reasons they give, according to Mrs. Johnson, actually are environmental. She says they don't like the special disadvantages, isolation, hard physical labor, long hours, poorer educational advantages and smaller incomes surrounding farm life.

Mrs. Johnson says farm girls are becoming city girls in droves. But, she adds, the matter of education has nothing to do with it.

As a matter of fact, she explains, a good many college girls like the idea of being their own bosses on the farm. They just refuse to settle for what the farm offers today.

The solution, men, is easy—just give 'em a city life on a farm, and the rural bridegroom business will boom.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11 (U.P.)—Top ranking officials of Burlington Lines, the Second National Bank of Houston, Texas A&M College Extension service, and the U. S. Soil Conservation service will be present at each of the series of five soil conservation meetings to be held beginning Nov. 15.

They will be on that date at Decatur, and during the next four days at Seymour, Vernon, Wellington and Clarendon.

The official party will reach Decatur early Monday, Nov. 15, and will make short automobile trips to nearby farms where soil conservation practices have been demonstrated successfully.

The group then will travel via train to Seymour, arriving there Tuesday, Nov. 16. Continuing by train, the next stop will be at Vernon on Wednesday, Nov. 17.

Sightseeing trips to view conservation progress in the Vernon arae will be made. Arrival at Wellington is scheduled early Thursday, Nov. 18. Departure for Clarendon will be early in the evening, and arrival there will be Friday, Nov. 19.

India estimates it will produce 590,000,000 pounds of tea this year.

Armistice Day Ceremonies Held Here

Observance In City Quiet; Tribute Paid

The thirtieth observance of Armistice day in Lubbock Thursday, with most business houses and offices closed, was for the most part quiet.

A traditional Armistice day breakfast, sponsored jointly by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Allen Bros. Post No. 148 of the American Legion, was held Thursday morning in Hilton hotel with 157 veterans attending, while concurrently the Legion Auxiliary had a separate breakfast, also at the Hilton, honoring Gold Star mothers of World Wars I and II.

Government offices, with the exception of law enforcement offices, were closed for the day. Parking meters in downtown areas were not in effect.

Weather Is Mild

The Sheriff's department and city police reported an unusually quiet period throughout the day.

Generally cloudy skies prevailed in the West Texas area Thursday. With a minimum temperature of 32 degrees in Lubbock early Thursday morning, the mercury gradually rose to a 59-degree maximum in the latter part of the afternoon.

At the two-hour Armistice day breakfast Thursday morning, the program was arranged by Robert Porter of the VFW and J. A. Raley and Howard Davidson of the American Legion.

Music by Hank the Cowhand and his band preceded general singing of World War I songs led by Jack Hall. Rev. Jeff D. Welch, Legion chaplain, asked invocation. A quartet composed of Pat Cunningham, Clarence Wakefield, John L. Zimmerman, and Jack Hall performed.

VA Official Speaks

Robert W. Sisson, regional manager of the Veterans administration, spoke briefly. Out of town guests were introduced, including Terrell St. Clair of Hobbs, N. M., who has attended the Lubbock Armistice day breakfast for approximately 15 years; and Tom Carter of Fort Worth.

Fred Young, Veterans administration attorney, discussed the significance of Armistice day, and W. D. Girand spoke briefly, representing Spanish-American war veterans, who were special guests.

A period of silent tribute to veterans who have died since the last breakfast was observed.

Mrs. Fred Kincaide, president of the Legion Auxiliary, presided at the auxiliary breakfast, at which 42 were present. The program for the gathering was arranged by Mrs. Sid Lowrey, program chairman for the breakfast.

The room was decorated with pyracantha and blue tapers, with place cards and flags. Special guests were Mrs. Charles Lindbergh of Austin and Mrs. Frank Neal of Amarillo.

Gold Star mothers of World Wars I and II were especially honored with corsages and gifts. The Navy Mothers club and VFW Auxiliary were guests.

Musical numbers were rendered by Miss Irma Hughes at the piano and Miss Patsy Gibbs at the cello. A Legion barbershop quartet performed. Invocation was asked by Mrs. Mike Fry.

Denison Girl Has Sweethearts Galore

DENISON, Nov. 11 (INS)—Denison postmen ring more than twice for a pretty, young red head with 270,000 sweethearts.

She is eight-year-old Cynthia Lee Holmes, who moved here from Albany, N. Y., because doctors told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Holmes, the climate would help her rheumatic fever.

Cynthia's sure of the number of sweethearts because the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, 270,000 strong, elected her their sweetheart at a recent national meeting in Rochester, N. Y.

Since then, she has received more than 14,000 letters from all over the world. Some 5,000 pieces of mail were forwarded from Albany.

Sometimes she gets as many as 500 letters in one delivery.

The child was struck by rheumatic fever soon after she started to school, and it has weakened her heart and left her easy prey to other diseases. A mild attack of polio left her right leg drawn up, but it has begun to straighten out.

Mrs. Holmes keeps track of the mail and reads it to Cynthia.

Tech Livestock Judgers Named

Members of the livestock judging team that will represent Texas Technological college at the International Livestock show Nov. 27 in Chicago were announced Thursday as a result of Wednesday's intramural judging contest, in which 15 seniors participated.

The international team, as announced by Ray C. Mowery, assisatnt head of animal husbandry, will be composed of W. D. Hancock, of Jayton; Glenn Quattlebaum, of Amarillo; Clinton Ritter, of Lawn; Ed. C. McElroy, of Brownfield; Robert W. Mims, of San Angelo; and Robert Cox, of Lubbock.

To Leave Nov. 19

Leaving the college Nov. 19, the group will be given an intensive training program en route to Chicago, stopping for practice judging at five colleges and seven livestock farms. This training will be almost the equivalent to an entire semester of classroom instruction, Mowery said.

Colleges to be visited on the way are Oklahoma A. and M., Stillwater; Kansas State Agricultural college, Manhattan, Kan.; Iowa State college, Ames; University of Minnesota, St. Paul; and Wisconsin university, at Madison. Farms and ranches included in the itinerary are the George A. Keith farms, Wichita Falls, where they will judge Hereford cattle; Flying L Ranch, Sulphur, Okla., which also raises Herefords; Turner Ranch, of Sulphur, Herefords; J. C. Penney Aberdeen Angus farm, at Hamilton, Missouri; Boulderbridge Belgian horse farm, St. Paul, Minnesota; Edellyn shorthorn farms, Wilson, Ill.; and the Marellbar farms, of Libertyville, Ill., where they will practice on shorthorns again.

MIAMI, Nov. 11. (INS)—A Miami fight promoter is making an effort today to have heavyweight boxer Billy Conn start his way along the comeback trail at Miami.

Dave White, the promoter, said he will try to bring Conn to Miami for a bout early in December.

White said that the Pittsburgh fighter, who has twice been knocked out by heavyweight champion Joe Louis, is ready to sign if he can get the "desired" terms.

YOUNGSTERS GAIN NEW LEASE ON LIFE AT CENTER

Impressive Progress Made In Work Of Lubbock's Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center, Study Shows

By OPAL DIXON
Avalanche Staff Writer

A two-year-old boy raised himself from his position beside toys on the floor, walked across the room and went up and down a flight of stairs several times.

Such agility was not possible with him two and one-half months ago. At that time, he could not raise himself to a sitting position and could not walk up stairs.

He is one of 79 children from a radius of 250 miles of Lubbock who visit the Lubbock Cerebral Palsy Treatment center at 1317 Tenth from one to three times a week, or an average of twice weekly.

Progress Is Noted

"We have children who couldn't sit up and who do sit up now, and children who couldn't walk two months ago who now can," said Miss Esther E. Snell, director of the treatment center. "They learn such things as feeding themselves and dressing themselves which they didn't do before," she said.

The children do not accomplish such extensive improvements during treatment sessions, but rather through continued care as recommended in the treatment center.

"The purpose of work here in the treatment center is to teach parents to care for the children," said Miss Snell. The children, she said "need that daily treatment they get at home."

The rate of improvement varies. Cure is not promised. "We don't think in terms of complete recovery. We think in terms of improvement," said Miss Snell. In some cases, a child may show only a minor improvement, while other effects of cerebral palsey remain.

Wide Area Represented

Since cure cannot be promised, the treatment center tries to teach cerebral palsy victims "to live with their handicap," said Miss Snell.

Parents bring children to the center from as far away as Borger, Stamford, Roscoe, Portales, N. M., Snyder, Odessa and Sweetwater, as well as from towns on the South Plains.

The center, which is sponsored by Lubbock Rotary club and the Lubbock Crippled Children's council, opened Aug. 23.

It is open from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, with parents taking their children there by appointment. A 30-minute period is reserved for each child, and the child may remain afterward to play with educational toys.

The center plans to hold a clinic every two months for new patients and for patients who

Democratic Control Of Congress May Expand Texas Farm Program

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 — Top officials of Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college have expressed hope that the turnover in control of Congress will mean an expanded farm program in their state next year.

Here for the association of land grant colleges and universities convention, the Texans are headed by A. and M. Chancellor Gibb Gilchrist.

Explaining to a reporter the over-all operations of the college in administering such programs as the Texas experiment station and extension service, Gilchrist said:

Federal Aid Explained

"We now receive between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 annually from the federal government under various appropriations.

"These programs carried out by land grant colleges are so popular with both major political parties that we don't even suffer too much when there is a change in administration.

"However, we certainly don't expect to receive less next year than we did during the past two years when the Republicans controlled congress."

Dr. Ide P. Trotter, state extension service director, was more specific in his belief more money would be available. He said:

Anticipates Appropriation Increase

"Congress four years ago passed a law authorizing annual appropriations for state extensions services which were to begin with $4,000,000 for the first year, increase to $8,000,000 the second year and go up to $12,000,000 for the third and each succeeding year.

"This year, the first time the full amount was due, congress decided that $11,000,000 would be enough, so that is all we got. That's for all states.

"We anticipate that the 81st congress convening Jan. 3 will appropriate the full $12,000,000."

He went further to express hope that this might even be increased to meet higher operating costs.

Texas' Share Given

Texas' share of the full appropriation would be $825,000—or $275,000 for each $4,000,000. State and county governments also contribute to the extension service budget of $3,500,000 annually.

As an example of rising costs, he said county agents formerly could be employed for $2,400 yearly where it takes $3,500 now to engage the same caliber man.

The extension service also wants to increase its program, Trotter said, and cited as an example a request of wheat farmers in the Panhandle.

He said he has discussed with officials here the possibility of obtaining a wheat specialist, to work out of Amarillo, who would help growers in that part of the state produce a more uniform and higher quality grain. Such improved and uniform varieties are in greater demand by mills and would bring farmers more cash per acre, he said.

Others From A. And M. Named

Dr. R. D. Lewis, director of the experiment station, likewise looks for more aid from the new congress.

"I am hopeful there will be more federal appropriations for our work next year," he commented.

He said the experiment station operates on an annual budget of about $2,250,000, of which $425,000 is from the federal government.

The balance comes from sales of farm crops and livestock produced at the 32 research stations and field laboratories over the state, and from fees for such services as inspection and testing of feeds and fertilizers.

Others here from Texas A. and M. include:

President F. C. Bolton; Dean Charles N. Shepardson of the School of Agriculture; Dean P. B. Pearson of the Arts and Sciences department; and Dean H. W. Barlow of the Engineering school.

The visitors were guests of the local Texas A. and M. club at a capitol luncheon Tuesday. Others present included Rep. Teague (D-Tex) and his secretary, Earl E. McChesney; Del Rentzel, civil aeronautics administrator; Maj. Gen. C. P. Weyland, assistant commandant of the war college; Col. Guy Meloy, a former commandant at A. and M. who now is at the war college, and Commissioner Thomas A. MacDonald, public roads administration.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill., Nov. 11. (U.P.)—Marshall Potter, 43, not only failed in his attempt to change the climate, but he landed in jail for his efforts.

Police found him standing at the back door of his home, firing a shotgun into the sky. Potter explained it was too warm for him. He wanted to make the temperature drop.

Unsympathetic officers arrested him for discharging firearms in the city.

German De-Nazification Trials Nearing End In Allied Zones

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—The biggest mass trial in history is just about over. It lasted longer than any other, stirred up more controversy and it is appropriate that it had the longest name—de-Nazification.

This was the trial of Germans for helping Hitler. There were millions of defendants to answer one set of charges: Did you or did you not actively pursue the Nazi party's aims and how strenuously?

Both western and eastern allies were in complete agreement about denazification while the shooting was going on and for a while after it stopped. The four powers started out with the same program under a directive drawn by SHAEF (Eisenhower's headquarters). As time went by and the attitudes of the different zones jelled in separate ways, the program was split in four.

German Courts Set Up

Up to the spring of 1946 the system was to screen all Germans for public office or for any major position. This was done by the occupying power. In march of that year the Americans decided the Germans should have a de-Nazification law and courts and trials. A law was promulgated for the U. S. zone authorizing German courts to try their own people.

Five categories of guilt were established. Everyone had to register. In the U. S. zone those amounted to more than 13,000,000 people. All had to fill out the "fragebogen"—a questionnaire involving every aspect of their political life. The penalty for falsehood was imprisonment.

The other zones didn't take kindly to this system, but the Americans didn't care too much, just so the five categories of offenders were universal, along with the penalties. The Russians, British and French finally agreed in October 1946, and it was confirmed by the council of foreign ministers in Moscow in March 1947.

In the intervening time the four zones went about clearing up the problem of weeding out Nazis in their own way.

"Major Offenders" Remain

In the American zone the German trials were started. Of the 13,500,000 who registered, 3,000,000 were listed as "incriminated." Military government granted amnesty to 2,000,000 for various reasons. A large bloc consisted of the Hitler youth who were considered too young to be personally responsible.

The million remaining cases, in American military government opinion, were handled pretty well. There now are only 20,000 left and they are principally "major offenders." They will be tried or adjudicated in some way by the end of the year.

In the British zone it was conducted far differently. The British seemed to feel that a Nazi as such wasn't too much to bother about except that he should be kept out of any official position. Hence the commissions that screened cases paid the most attention to those classified as "war criminals." They were tried and punished, some were hanged. The others, by and large, were let alone. The British turned it over to the Germans last spring, but courts never were set up.

There was an even wider difference in the French zone. The French simply put their Nazis to work. Only the principal cases—where the population itself demanded action against an individual—got to trial. Recently, however, they have stepped up the program so the books can be considered clear by Jan. 1, 1949.

Solon Sees Repeal Of Taxes On Oleo

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11. (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D., Ark., expressed confidence today that the next Congress will repeal federal oleomargarine taxes.

He said oleo forces in both the Senate and House are organizing for an all-out effort to repeal all federal levies on both colored and uncolored margarine. He said a repeal bill will be ready for introduction early in the session opening Jan. 3.

"I am most certain we have the votes for repeal in the next Congress," Fulbright said.

The House approved such a bill last session. But dairy forces blocked Senate action.

Federal taxes are 10 cents a pound on colored margarine, and one-fourth cent a pound on uncolored.

Dairy interests recently offered to support repeal of the tax on uncolored margarine if Congress would prohibit manufacturing sale of colored. Oleo forces rejected the proposal.

Mesabi Range Expects To Set Peacetime Iron Ore Record

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 11. (AP)—Minnesota's sprawling Mesabi Range area is expected to come up with its all-time iron ore shipping record for a peacetime year in 1948.

Huge post-war demands for steel, coupled with a strike-free production year, are expected to run up a new record of over 67,300,000 gross tons, Ray D. Nolan, state director of lands and minerals, said.

It will not only be the biggest peacetime shipping year, but the third highest total in the 67 years since ore was first mined in Minnesota, Nolan said.

Previous high in a peacetime year was in 1941, when 64,060,725 tons were mined. The all-time record, 75,299,000 tons came in the wartime year of 1942.

Nolan arrived at his 1948 estimate by adding 3,830,000 tons—the present margin by which shipments exceed last year—to the 1947 production of 63,517,190 tons.

He said his figures do not include well over a million tons which will probably be shipped out by rail before the year ends.

Hoover Declares Billions Could Be Saved By An Orderly Reshuffling Of Government's Structure

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Hoover commission urged a sweeping overhaul of important parts of the government's executive branch today and predicted it would save "a good many billion dollars."

Headed by former President Herbert Hoover, the commission made these salient recommendations:

1. An end to political appointments in selecting the nation's 20,000 or more postmasters.

2. A bigger, stronger Labor department.

3. Higher salaries for government officials.

4. Unification of the government's many housekeeping agencies into a single administrative staff under the President — to handle bookkeeping, buying, budget-making and the like.

Congress Must Act

Hoover disclosed the program in making public the first batch of tentative findings of the 12-member two-party "commission on organization of the executive branch." He is chairman of the body.

He oased the estimate of saving billions on operation of the proposed new system for "say, five years."

The proposed changes will be submitted to the new Democratic-controlled 81st Congress in January.

Abolishing politics in the appointment of postmasters, as urged by the commission, would strip more than 20,000 "political plums" from the reigning party's patronage list. These postmasters are now appointed by the President, subject to Senate confirmation.

Urges "Career Service"

The commission also recommended a "business-style" housecleaning of the Post Office department to cut its deficit by an estimated $300,000,000 a year.

Hoover said the government should build up a "first-rate career service" in the government by boosting the pay of executives, letting each agency hire its own help, and reducing the "tremendous turnover" among federal workers.

"I personally think there should be one or two new departments at the cabinet level," Hoover told a news conference.

He would not name them. Others have proposed a new public works department, a department of transportation, and a department of welfare and security, each to absorb the various independent agencies in those broad fields. Seventy such agencies now report directly to President Truman.

Transient Discovers Too Late He Tried To Steal Wrong Car

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11. (INS)—When a 25-year-old transient attempted to make off with a car parked in downtown Fort Worth recently, he probably couldn't have picked a harder one to steal if he'd looked all day.

Finding the auto parked in a quiet downtown section, the man got in and inspected the find. He picked up two flashlights and slipped them in his pocket.

Then he looked around. All quiet. He attempted to start the car. Just then, a police car cruised quietly up and informed him of his mistake.

The car he was attempting to take belonged to a city detective and was parked in the shadows of City Hall.

San Antonio Man Really In Mixup Over Magazine Payments

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 11. (INS)—Lester J. Ferguson is doubly indignant over the mix-up between him and a national magazine's business department.

"I received so many letters from the magazine urging me to renew my subscription," Ferguson says, "that, before I knew it, I had mailed them three different checks. These entitled me to the magazine for six more years."

But something went haywire. Ferguson suddenly began getting duns which said he'd been reading the magazine six months for free.

GREAT MACHINE AGE EVENT

Screw Thread Standardization Pact Will Benefit Many People

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 11 — One of the most important events of the machine age will take place next Thursday at the Bureau of Standards in Washington. But the results may have difficulty getting closer to the nation's front pages than the goitre-cures, and radio accounts may be confined to comedians' programs.

On that day, proper authorities of the U. S., United Kingdom and Canada sign an agreement which standardizes screw threads on all nuts and bolts hereafter manufactured by these nations.

If that sounds like something that can be filed immediately under a triva tag, let it be herewith stated that efforts to achieve this unification reach back to the birth of the United States. In many ways it is as important to the security of the countries concerned as diplomatic pacts.

During the war we were forced to send 2,000,000 precious tons of nuts, bolts, screws and other threaded pieces of gun parts to England and the continent each year for British and American guns of identical design. British threads were different by a slight degree, and as a result we were forced to use countless ships and planes for transportation and maintain separate depots and maintenance plants.

Air Lift First Affected

Perhaps billions of dollars of lend-lease equipment went to waste in all parts of the world because when a simple threaded part broke it could not be repaired except by shipment of such a part from the U. S., though the machine in question had broken down in an area where millions of faintly different parts were being made.

The U. S. Air Force-RAF air lift to Berlin will be one of the first beneficiaries of this standardization of the bits and geegaws of engines and other parts of the U. S., British and Canadian planes involved in keeping the free portion of Berlin alive.

The British or Canadian housewife whose American refrigerator or vacuum cleaner breaks down now will no longer have to push the same into a corner and wait for some threaded part from the U. S. She can buy it at her nearest hardware store and it will, for the first time in the history of our trade relations, fit.

Americans with British cars can have them fixed in a hurry in this country or any of its possessions, with the coming of unification. But the overpowering benefit, of course, will be in the event of a war. American, British and Canadian armor can be kept rolling or flying, all because of uniform threads.

Fellow named William L. Batt, president of SKF Industries, Inc., brought the thing to a head. As vice-chairman of the War Production board and the U. S. member of the combined production and resources board—the industrial counterpart of the combined chiefs of staff—he was appalled by the tiny but tremendous differences in the meagre but vital parts of Allied war machinery.

He lined up such groups as the Society of Automotive Engineers, the American Society of Mechanical engineers and the American Standards Association, saw the King of England (whose court circular gravely announced that his majesty had been most graciously pleased to receive in audience a committee on unification of screw threads) and held many meetings here and abroad.

This activity will be culminated Thursday.

The American screw-thread was standardized in 1864, after constant demands dating back to George Washington's time. Without that standardization, of course, there could have been none of the mass production and interchange of parts which made this nation the highest and most mechanically prodigious land in history.

Our threads are set at a 60 degree angle, the British at 55. Now there will be a compromise, which Batt and others believe will lead in time to a standardization of measures and weights. Did you know, for instance, that it took Congress 80 years to decide on just how much is a pound or a bushel, and that it has never legally defined the inch?

Standard Oil Of California Boosts Price Of Gasoline

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11. (AP) —Standard Oil Co. of California announced today a price boost of two-tenths of a cent a gallon in its tank wagon price of automotive gasoline.

The increase, effective tomorrow morning, applies to the company's entire system covering seven western states, Alaska and Hawaii.

Standard Stations, Inc., disclosed simultaneously that it "is discontinuing its general policy of establishing retail prices at a uniform differential over the posted tank truck prices of the parent company, with the result that its prices may show some variance in different localities due to local competitive conditions."

In other words, a spokesman said, stations may add their own boost to Standard's tank wagon increase.

Current tank wagon prices are 19.4 cents a gallon for regular grade, 20.9 cents for Ethyl. Retail prices have been 23.4 and 25.4 cents, respectively.

Standard also announced boosts of four-tenths cent a gallon in diesel and heating oil prices and 10 cents a barrel in fuel oil. The company said the boost is "to meet the recent general wage increase, as well as rising prices for virtually all purchased supplies."

Princess Elizabeth Takes Stroll In Palace Gardens

LONDON, Nov. 11 (INS)—Princess Elizabeth, expecting birth of her baby within a week's time, took advantage of a brief splash of sunshine today to stroll through the gardens of Buckingham palace.

The princess took her terrier along on the walk after another routine examination by gynecologist Sir William Gilliatt.

Do You Really Want to Take Off That Ugly Fat?

Recently there has been a number of new reducing preparations on the market, some of them based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It is obvious that vitamins will not reduce the body weight, so one must depend on diet to reduce. But it is also obvious that one cannot go on a strenuous diet over a protracted period, and any weight lost will be restored if the former eating habits are gone back to.

So what to do? Well, here is a tip to you "overweight gals" who want to fight "the Battle of the Bulges" in a different way. Ask any well stocked Texas druggist for four ounces of Barcentrate. Mix with 12 ounces of grapefruit juice and take two tablespoonsful twice a day.

This preparation contains nothing harmful and the makers agree to refund your money on the very first bottle if it does not show you the way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves.

Barcentrate is low in cost and is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Barcentrate.

Nation's Farmers Already Have Most Of Winter Wheat Planted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11 (U.P.) — U. S. farms, turning out the most bountiful harvest of all time, already have a good start toward next year's production, according to the Agriculture department's monthly crop report.

Farmers planted most of their winter wheat by Nov. 1 this year, while in 1947 they had ony 75 per cent of it in by that time. This wheat will be harvested next spring.

Corn Crop Record

Corn leads the way in this year's record crop output with a new production high estimated at 3,649,510,000 bushels, the report said. The figure is 81,555,000 bushels higher than the October forecast. Ideal growing and harvesting weather was responsible for the increase. Last year's crop totaled only 2,400,952,000 bushels.

Since corn is an important determinant of meat production, the housewife can expect more and cheaper steak and chops—but not until late next year. It will take that long to build up hogs and cattle for slaughter.

Other Production Up

The Agriculture department's report also showed increases over last month for cotton, soy beans, sorghum grain, rice, buckwheat, dry beans, potatoes and tobacco. Improved farming methods have resulted in yields per acre well above average for almost all big crops.

As for next year's wheat, department surveys show farmers intend to seed 79,000,000 acres despite government appeals to plant only 71,500,000. This year's wheat land totaled 77,700,000 acres.

The department has warned wheat farmers that there is danger of surpluses during the next few years because of an expected decline in foreign demand.

A-Bomb Attack On Nagasaki Recalled By Bombardier

FORT WORTH, Nov. 11. (U.P.)—The bombardier who dropped the second atomic bomb on Japan stood near a giant B-36 Superbomber at Carswell Air Force base here today and recalled that moment three years ago.

He watched the sprawling city of Nagasaki turn abruptly into smoking rubble.

Bingo, No Nagasaki

"I pressed the release and bingo! No more Nagasaki," said Capt. Kermit K. Beahan of Houston, who this week reported for duty at Eighth Air Force headquarters here.

Watching smoke boil upward from the ruined Japanese city was no new experience for the captain—a large man with a ready smile. From another plane, he watched a B-29 on Aug. 6, 1945, drop the bomb which brought atomic death and destruction to Hiroshima.

"Three days later I was selected as bombardier for the Nagasaki mission," Capt. Beahan said. "It's a day I'll never forget."

The Hiroshima raid had gone off with clock-like precision and crew-men had expected the Nagasaki mission to be another routine run, the captain recalled. But they were disappointed.

Clouds Hid Target

When they arrived over Nagasaki, they found it obscured by clouds. Their orders were clear enough, though. The atomic bomb was to be dropped by sight and by sight only. No instrument bombing through cloud blankets.

As the plane veered toward an alternate target, Capt. Beahan spotted a rift in the clouds. He could see the Japanese city clearly. Seconds later it was "bomb away."

Their mission completed, the airmen returned to their base on the island of Tinian.

"We were celebrating the event when I suddenly remembered it was my 27th birthday," Captain Beahan said.

Today, Capt. Beahan is more interested in finding a home than in atomic bombs.

Woman Is Struck Twice As Skidding Car Jumps Curb

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Nov. 11. (AP)—A skidding automobile struck the same pedestrian twice last night after it collided with another car and jumped a curb.

"I heard the noise of the collision," Mrs. Clara Ruddy, 46, the pedestrian, told police. "A car came at me backwards and hit me. Then it skidded around and hit me again with the front end and knocked me down." Mrs. Ruddy suffered bruises and shock.

Board Approves 22 School Texts

AUSTIN, Nov. 11. (U.P.)—The state board of education's task of selecting textbooks for Texas public schools next year was ended today with adoption of some 22 basic texts for use in elementary and junior high schools.

The cost of the adoption, on which the board finished its balloting late yesterday, was expected for the 1949-50 school year to be less than early estimates of $2,500,000.

Final Estimate Held Up

However, a final estimate was not available because of the board's action in ordering gradual introduction of textbooks so use could be made of books now on hand.

Contracts on books adopted ran from three to six years, and the total cost over those periods for the books selected was expected to run to some $4,000,000.

One book, which provided the largest contract of the adoption, also furnished the board's major disagreement.

Book Stirs Disagreement

It was an eighth grade American history text, "This Is America's Story," published by the Houghton Mifflin company, Boston, Mass. The six-year contract totals some $350,000.

The book had received unanimous recommendation of the nine-member state textbook committee, a group of teachers, principals, and superintendents which recommends texts to the state board of education.

The committee's high recommendation of the book brought a statement from board member C. C. Chessher, Junction, that he disliked what he termed the committee's "virtually instructing the board on what to adopt." Chessher's vote was the only one opposing its adoption.

Funeral Rites Are Slated Today For Brownfield Girl

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 11. (Special)—Funeral services for Miss Kathleen Price, 17, who died this morning in a local hospital after a week's illness, will be conducted at 3 p. m. Friday in Crescent Hill Church of Christ here. Alvis A. Bryan, minister of the East Side Church of Christ in Lubbock, will officiate, assisted by Jimmie Wood, minister of the Crescent Hill Church of Christ.

Interment will be in Terry County Memorial semetery, under direction of Brownfield Funeral home.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Price of Brownfield; two sisters, Mrs. Doyle Kelcy of Ackerly and Miss Wilma Ann Price of Brownfield; a brother, Wesley of Brownfield; and a grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Price of Houston.

Thousands Of Germans Living In Bigamy As Result Of War

By RUTH MAITRE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Nov. 11.—Thousands of Germans live today in bigamy without knowing it.

This is what happens:

A woman has not seen her husband for several years. Maybe he was killed or captured. Perhaps he is held by the Russians. She has not heard from or about him. Enough time has gone by for her to presume the man is dead.

The wife goes to a tribunal, declares that her husband is dead and gets a judgment. This is where the trouble starts. Under the law, the judgment must be published in a daily paper. Once that is done and a month has gone by, the woman may marry again.

Seems simple, doesn't it? Judge Erich Schubart of a Berlin court says it isn't.

Unaware Of Technicality

Too many people are unaware of the strict technicality of the law. As a result they insert their advertisements in the only newspaper they know about. In villages, it's usually a weekly. That is not good enough. Moreover, many fail to wait the necessary month.

This wouldn't matter much except that many Germans lately have been showing up after they are supposed to be dead. Then the fat is in the fire.

Schubart illustrates with the story of a woman whose husband had been missing since October 1942. There was testimony by friends who had last seen him wounded on a battlefield. On the strength of this evidence the man was declared dead in July 1947. Paper shortage and a backlog of advertisements made it impossible to publish this fact before Dec. 1, 1947.

Meanwhile, the widow, engaged to be remarried, decided Christmas day would be a nice day for the wedding. Everything went off fine. The registrar saw the death declaration and was satisfied. But four months later, the missing husband reappeared from a prisoner of war camp. He went to a lawyer. The lawyer found that the second marriage took place a week before the legal deadline and his client had a clear suit for big

Many Returning Alive

Schubart, who is working back on the subject, says many who have been declared dead in the last 10 years—there have been more than 50,000 in Germany—are coming back alive.

Under these people and their spouses' properties within the boundaries of the law there is not much they can do except claim their property. The second marriage is valid unless the supposed widow herself wants to go back to her first husband. Then second marriage can be annulled, but she then may not marry anyone except her first husband.

Judge Schubart says that women whose husbands are prisoners in Russia or interned in Soviet camps in the Soviet zone of Germany are in the most difficult position. They risk remaining "unconfirmed widows" for many years. The Russians are opposed to circulating lists of prisoners and are chary of disclosing deaths.

The "unconfirmed widows" have the toughest break of all. Those who are caught in bigamy are not punished because German judges are sympathetic with their dilemma. But there is nobody or nothing to help the woman who sits and waits.

Argentina's Government will invest nearly $500,000 in the promotion of the country's dairy industry.

Shaken Fireman Hopes Blonde Will Give Up Suicide Plan

DALLAS, Nov. 11. (INS)—A shaken Dallas railroad fireman has issued a public plea to an unidentified blonde to "please not kill herself under my train."

Twice in two weeks, O. J. Whitaker relates, the woman, "young, pretty, blonde, bareheaded, medium height, well dressed and just a little on the fleshy side," has run down to a crossing of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas tracks and stood in front of the approaching train.

"We were too close to stop and I was scared to death," Whitaker said. "She was so close I couldn't see her as the locomotive obscured my vision. I thought we had hit her, sure, and then I saw her run back . . . the way she had come."

Whitaker said she must have changed her mind at the last minute.

Anyway, he hopes she stays away from his train for good. The last time, he said, he couldn't eat his supper.

Three Lubbock Real Estate Men To Attend National Meet

Three members of the Lubbock Real Estate board are to leave here today for Dallas, where they will join others of the Texas delegation of approximately 90, to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate boards, to be held in New York City Monday through Saturday of next week.

Going from here will be J. W. Chapman, A. R. Osborne, and L. D. Casey, the latter a member of the board of directors of the Texas Real Estate association for nine years.

They planned to drive to Dallas, where they are to entrain with others from Texas, using three special coaches, a diner and a club car, for the trip. Others from the state are to fly to the convention city.

NEW SCHOOL IS LUNCHEON SCENE—When Lubbock Kiwanis club attended its luncheon Thursday in the cafeteria of the new O. L. Slaton Junior High school building, guests included school board members, and several former members who were on the board when the contract for the building was let. In the above photograph, Clyde Tatum, chairman of the board, and Supt. R. W. Matthews pause back of chairs of some of the former members. Seated, left to right, former members pictured are Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, W. G. Alderson, Paul Hardwick and Hubert L. Allen. (Staff Photo).

Lubbock Kiwanis Club Is Given Treat With Luncheon, Program At O. L. Slaton School

The Lubbock Kiwanis club enjoyed what was described as several treats at the weekly luncheon yesterday in O. L. Slaton Junior High school building.

The approximately 200 attending, including members and former members of the board of trustees as special guests and wives of many of the club members, were served lunch in the schol cafeteria, then went to the auditorium, where they enjoyed a musical program by the combined Songsters and Gleesters, the school's choral units.

Following the program, many of the group remained for escorted tours through the spacious and well-equipped new building. Escorts were members of the choral units, designated for various posts by Principal Geo. E. Dawson, who was program chairman.

Several school board members active when the contract was awarded for the new building, but who since have retired from the board, were introduced. These were Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, who was chairman of the board for many years; Walter G. Alderson, Paul Hardwick, Hubert L. Allen, and R. F. Bayless.

Present board members who also were special guests were Clyde Tatum, board chairman; C. H. (Brownie) Hamilton, Glen Woody, J. Mule Dowell, and W. H. Evans. Others of the seven-man board were unable to attend.

The auditorium program, given by the school's combined choir of 85 to 90 boys and girls, was under the direction of Miss Imogene Webster, with Miss Wanda Roberts, ninth grade student, accompanist. Dale Dye was narrator and program announcer.

The program opened with "Gold Bless America," in which the audience was asked to join, then the invocation was asked by the choir's rendition of "The Lord's Prayer."

Numbers included "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," by a quintet composed of Dale Dye, James Sides, Jack Drake, Ray McLarty, and Billy Troy Edwards. Another special number was "Water Boy," with James Sides as soloist.

Other choral numbers included Old Black Joe, I'm A Rovin', Viva Lamour, Night Shadows, A Mexican folk song, Brahm's Lullaby, 'Til We Meet Again, Battle Hymn of the Republic, Sigmund Romberg's Your Land and My Land, and Now the Day Is Over. The latter was presented with lighting effects.

Dawson announced at close of the program that a recording of the entire presentation had been made through the school's public address system and recording facilities, and the program was played back from records as the groups visited various portions of the spreading school plant.

Club President L. E. Davis announced that annual ladies night and installation of officers will be held the night of Jan. 6, with Rev. Walter Kerr, Austin minister, to make the principal address.

Jet Plane Sets New Record in Flight On West Coast

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 11. (AP)—Maj. Robert De Haven, flying a National Guard F-80 jet plane, streaked from San Francisco to Los Angeles in less than 36 minutes and nine seconds today to clip four minutes off the old speed record between the two cities.

He bested the speed record made by Commander Wallace A. Sherrill, U. S. Navy, who flew an FJ-1 between the two cities on March 5 in 40 minutes.

Scurry County Pennsylvania Sand Develops More Flowing Oil In Test

More flowing oil has been developed in northwest Scurry county at Standard Oil company of Texas No. 1 Jessie Brown, which had previously shown as a flowing discovery from a Pennsylvanian sand section.

The latest petroleum came in a drillstem test at 6,332-58 feet in a lime zone of the Pennsylvanian, which might be in the Canyon, or which might be the Cisco section.

Pressure Tests Set

The well flowed a total of 121.4 barrels of clean oil in five hours during that drillstem test. That was an average of 24.38 barrels per hour, or at the rate of 585.12 barrels per day.

The development is now shutin to take pressure tests. Operator representatives have not revealed whether they will try to complete the well as it is—or will drill it deeper. It was originally started to dig to around 8,000 feet to test into the Ellenburger.

For the drillstem test at 6,332-58 feet, a one-half inch bottom hole choke was used. Gas showed at the surface in two and one-half minutes. Oil started flowing at the top in 12½ minutes. The flow was into tanks for five hours.

Production by hours, according to operator's calculations, was 26 barrels the first hour; 22.2 barrels the second hour; 25.8 barrels the third hour; 24 barrels the fourth hour, and 23.4 barrels the fifth hour.

Separate Formation Indicated

Corrected gravity of the oil was 44.3 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was approximately 1,250-1. There was no formation water in the oil produced during this test.

This wildcat had previously shown for between 30 and 40 barrels of oil per hour, flowing during a drillstem test of a sand section in the Pennsylvanian at 6,261-71 feet. The gravity of that oil was 42 degrees, plus.

That would indicate that the deeper pay is a separate formation from the upper producing horizon.

New Specimen Slated

Sun No. 2 Emil Schattell, a northwest flanker to the discovery for flowing production from the Canyon lime to open the Schattell field in southwest Scurry county, had a small amount of free oil in a drillstem test at 7,866-96 feet in an unidentified lime.

The tester was open one hour. A 1,500-foot water blanket was used. There was a fair to good blow of air during the period.

Recovery was the water blanket, which was heavily cut with oil and gas, 80 feet of clean oil, and 40 feet of drilling mud and oil, which was 40 per cent oil.

Gravity of the petroleum was 3[illegible] degrees, corrected. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 700 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure was 1,100 pounds. There was no formation water in the fluid recovered from the drillstem test.

The project drilled at 7,896-97 feet, and has now cut a core at 7,897-7,907 feet, and is coming out with that specimen.

Lubbock Well Plugged

This development is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 186, block 97, H&TC survey. It missed the pay in the section from which the discovery well of the Schattell field was completed, and is being carried on down to possibly go into the Ellenburger.

Sun No. 4 Schattell, 1,980 feet from south and 2,009 feet from east lines of section 186, block 97, H&TC survey, drilled soft lime at 7,000-7,005 feet, and the samples had an oil odor and some oil fluoresence. The project is now cutting a core.

Honolulu Oil corporation has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 Ratliff, southwest Lubbock county prospector, on a total depth of 7,027 feet in dry lower Permian lime.

PAPER PAYS OFF

91 Persons Pick 20 Grid Winners

ST. PAUL, Minn. Nov. 11 (AP)—Not once in seven years had anyone made a perfect selection of wins and ties in a football predicting contest approved by state attorney general as a game of skill, sponsored by the St. Paul Pioneer Press. The newspaper had a standing offer of $100 for a perfect selection in the 20 games listed each week.

In the newspaper's next to the last contest of the season last Saturday, 91 persons picked 20 winners. Today, the paper waived its tie-breaking rule and paid off to the tune of $9,342.50.

Real Estate Board Leader In Blast At Rent Controls

DALLAS, Nov. 11. (U.P.)—President Roy Eastus of the Dallas real estate board predicted today that the National Association of Real Estate Boards would fight renewal of rent controls.

The NAREB will hold a convention meeting in New York next week.

At that time, Eastus said, the real estate group would ask for local jurisdiction over rent prices, liberalization of these controls, and abolishment of all rent curbs.

Men Wanted At Hereford Held

Two suspects, 22 and 17, were transferred from Pecos to Lubbock early Thursday by state Rangers and lodged in county jail for delivery to Hereford authorities who planned filing burglary and felony theft complaints against them.

Razz Renfrow and Raymond Waters, Rangers who made the Waters, rangers who made the transfer, said the two men—the older is of Butte, Mont., the younger from Phoenix, Ariz.—had implicated themselves by their own statements in numerous burglaries and thefts over three states within less than a month.

The Rangers said the two were arrested Thursday morning in Pecos, by Pecos authorities and members of the state highway patrol. At that time, they allegedly were in possession of a pickup automobile that had been stolen in New Mexico and a .45 revolver taken in a Hereford burglary.

The men allegedly admitted "getting together" approximately three weeks ago at Las Cruces, where they burglarized two places. Then they went to Casa Blanca and Yuma, Ariz., and in that state stole three or four cars and did four or five burglaries. They told officials they went to Hereford last Sunday. A car was taken there and two burglaries pulled. The two said they drove then to Roswell, N. M., where they burglarized a place and took the pickup automobile.

All other cars had been abandoned here and there, the investigators were told.

It was believed that Hereford probably would try the men first, on the basis of incomplete information as to court schedules.

R. M. Cate of Jones Trailer camp, route 5, reported to police that a 1941 Buick sedan, license AN 6494, had been stolen.

Theft of two chrome hub caps, valued $8, were reported stolen from the car of P. S. Phillips of 2415 Twenty-first street, police said.

David Coronado of San Benito said that a yellow gold watch and expansion band, valued collectively at $69, had been stolen from his room at a small downtown hotel.

MISSION CHIEF NAMED

MISSION, Nov. 11. (AP)—Selection of Paul Blair, 49, of Austin, as Mission police chief was announced here today by Mayor W. H. Braden. Braden said that Blair had 20 years experience as a peace officer. Blair is a veteran of World War Two.

Silas H. Daniel, Of Abernathy, Claimed

ABERNATHY, Nov. 11. (Spl.)—Silas H. Daniel, 77, Abernathy resident for the past 14 years, died at his home here early this morning. He had become ill Tuesday while working in his yard.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Friday in Abernathy First Baptist church, with Rev. Cobb of Lockney officiating. The body will be taken overland to Spur after the services for interment in Spur cemetery, with Rix Funeral home of Lubbock in charge.

Survivors include the wife; four daughters, Mrs. Anis Wright of Vernon, and Mrs. Letha Sampson, Mrs. Vera Millsap, and Mrs. Floy Gilbert, all of Lubbock; four sons, Vernon Daniel of Lockney, Louis Daniel of Rogers, N. M., Earl Daniel of Strathmore, Calif., and Frank Daniel of Alma, Ark.; 23 grandchildren, and seven great grandchildren.

Waltz Into Darkness

touch had come.

A figure swept around before him, as on a turntable, pivoting to claim the center of his eyes; though it was he and not the background that had shifted.

It was diminutive, and yet so perfectly proportioned within its own lesser measurements that, but for the yardstick of comparison offered when the eye deliberately sought out others and placed them against it, it could have seemed of any height at all: of the grandeur of a classical statue or of the minuteness of an exquisite doll.

Her limpid brown eyes came up to the turn of Durand shoulder. Her face held an exquisite beauty he had never before seen, the beauty of porcelain, but without its cold stillness, and a crumpled rose petal of a mouth.

She was no more than in her early twenties, and though her size might have lent her added youth, the illusion had very little to substract fro mthe reality. Her skin was that of a young girl, and her eyes were the innocent, trustful eyes of a child.

Tight-spun golden curls clung to her head like a field of daisies, rebelling all but successfully at the conventional coiffure she tried to impose upon them.

She held herself in that forward-inclination that was de riguer known as the "Grecian bend." Her dress was of the fashion as it then was, and had been for some years. Fitting tightly as a sheat fits a furled umbrella, it had a center panel, drawn and gathered toward the back to give the appearance of an apron or a bib superimposed upon the rest, and at the back puffed into a swollen protuberance of bows and folds, artfully sustained by a wired foundation; this was the stylish bustle, without which a woman's posterior would have appeared indecently sleek. As soon expose the instep or — reckless thought!—the ankles as allow the sitting-part to remain flat.

A small hat of heliotrope straw, as flat as and no bigger than a man's plam, perched atop the golden curls, roguishly trying to reach down toward one eyebrow, the left, without there being enough of it to do so and still stay atop her head.

An amethyst breast pin twinkled fro mthe front of her gown. A parasol of heliotrope organdy that unfurled, could scarecly have been of greater diameter than a soup plate, hovered at the end of an elongated stick on the ground to one side of her. Upon the ground to the other side of her sat a small gilt birdcage, its lower portion swathed in a flannel cloth, the dome left open to expose its flitting bright-yellow occupant.

He looked at her hand, he looked at his own shoulder, so unsure was he the touch had come from her; so unsure was he as to the reason for such a touch. Slowly his hat came off, was held at questioning height above his scalp.

The compressed mouth curved in winsome smile. "You don't know me, do you, Mr. Durand?"

He shook his head slightly.

The smile notched a dimple; rose to her eyes. "I'm Julia, Louis. May I call you Louis?" she asked.

Impressive Progress Reported In Work Of Lubbock Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center

Such a clinic will be conducted Nov. 22 by Dr. Charles Sadler of Amarillo and Dr. Charles Clayton of Fort Worth. Parents interested in taking their children to the clinic may make appointments by writing to the Lubbock Cerebral Palsy Treatment center, 1317 Tenth, or telephoning 6541, Miss Snell announced.

Parents are welcoming the opportunity for regular advice on care of children who suffer cerebral palsy.

"Robert just lives for his trips to the treatment center, said Mrs. B. B. Reid of 705 Third, who took five-year-old Robert to the center Wednesday afternoon. Before the center opened in Lubbock, she said, she took him to Dallas once a year.

Concerning importance of the center to parents, Mrs. F. M. Allen, jr., of 122 Ave. W, offered this explanation, "You can't imagine!" Her two-year-old son, Jimmy, is the child who couldn't raise himself to a sitting position two months ago and who has shown remarkable improvement.

Since the treatment center opened, 499 treatments have been given. Each session with a child is a treatment.

Patients are referred to the clinic by physicians. If they are under care of an orthopedic specialist before going to the treatment center, directions for treatment are obtained by the center from the specialist.

The Lubbock Nutrition club and the foods and nutrition department of Texas Technological college provide a nutritional consultant service for patients at the clinic, studying the child's diet each week and making suggestions.

The Rotary Anns, wives of Rotarians, have supplied educational toys and equipment for the center and members of that group do clerical work at the center.

"We're interested in the whole child," said Miss Snell. Attention is given to health habits and exercise, in addition to diet.

Effects of cerebral palsy may include inability to sit or stand or walk, almost no coordination of arms or legs, or muscles of speech or of eye muscles, said Miss Snell. Cerebral palsy may result from pre-natal or post-natal causes, she explained.

One child was 16 months old when she ran a high temperature, which may have been the cause of cerebral palsy which developed. Another child who had measles when three months old developed cerebral palsy.

U. S. Aid Mission Official Is Kidnapped By Greek Guerrillas

ATHENS, Nov. 11 (INS) — Francis L. McPhane, a roadbuilding official attached to the U. S. aid mission, was kidnaped today near Tripolis in the Peloponesus.

Dispatches from the area said that McPhane, who was an assistant superintendent of roadbuilding for the New York company Atkinson-Drake-Park, was halted in an automobile by four guerrillas.

He and four other passengers were robbed, stripped of their clothing, and taken to Vasson monastery where they were turned over to a guerrilla commander. Later they were taken to the guerrilla-controlled Mount Arte mission.

Wire Recording Is Admitted As Evidence In Ouster Suit

LONGVIEW, Nov. 11. (AP)—A wire recording was admitted as evidence today in the trial of an ouster suit against Mrs. Bertha D. Allen, Gregg county superintendent of schools.

District Judge Otis Dunagan admitted the recording over strong objections by defense counsel. The state said it was a conversation between Mrs. Allen and D. M. Brown, principal of the Shiloh negro school.

Eight loudspeakers, three of them in the jury box, carried voices from the recording to a crowded court room.

After the recording was played the state rested its case, and the defense was granted a recess until 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Defense counsel D. F. Meredith and Fred Erisman objected to introduction of the recording. Meredith protested the recording as "gestapo-like in character, and shocking to the conscience of any right thinking American."

Mrs. Allen is charged in the suit with incompetence, misconduct in office, and gross negligence.

Mercy Mission Aids Elephants, Birds

Giant Navy Flying Boat Drops Hay, Worms To Floating Zoo

By TOM SIAS
INS Staff Correspondent

ABOARD NAVY FLYING BOAT MARSHALL MARS—(By Navy Radio)—Nov. 11.—The Navy made hay sprout in the sea and filled the water with worms today for hungry beasts and birds aboard a modern Noah's ark 1500 miles off the California coast.

In a mercy mission labeled "operation Floating Zoo" and "Operation Hayride" the great flying boat Marshall Mars brought 3,000 pounds of baled hay for six baby elephants and a hundred pounds of worms for a shipment of exotic birds on the steamship Swarthmore Victory.

Ship Asks Help

The steamship radioed for help yesterday as rations for the elephants and birds ran short because of unexpected delays after the vessel left Hong Kong for San Francisco, where she is due Sunday.

The Navy was especially moved by the plight of the elephants because two of them were purchased with the nickels and dimes of school children in Sacramento, Cal., and Madison, Wis.

Transfer of the hay and worms was completed within one hour and nine minutes after the Marshall Mars skimmed over the Swarthmore Victory.

Hay, Worms Dropped

The big flying boat dropped down to within 50 feet of the water and began dropping the bales of hay and waterproof containers of worms at 10 a. m.

They were picked up by small boats from the ship, the last one being hauled aboard at 11:09.

As the Marshall Mars roared away, crewmen aboard the Swarthmore Victory rubbed their stomachs on behalf of the birds and elephants—the traditional sign of a satisfying full meal.

Making of rush mats has just been revived in Norfolk, England.

Jack Benny May Get $4 Million For Show

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 11. (INS)—Radio comedian Jack Benny, the prize in a multi-million dollar tug-of-war between CBS and NBC, was reported today to have been paid $4,000,000 to remain with the National Broadcasting company.

The assertion that the pinch-penny comic had been paid such a price was made by the film and radio trade paper, Variety.

Indirect partial confirmation came from Benny's attorney, Loyd Wright, and the Columbia Broadcasting company. NBC said nothing.

Wright confirmed trade reports that negotiations were underway for the sale of stock in Benny's amusement corporation, Amusement Enterprises, Inc.
