NEW MAN IN CHARGE — Giulio Andreotti announces to the press at the Quirinale Palace in Rome Thursday night that he has accepted the post as premier of Italy. His Christian Democrat government is Italy's 33rd government since World War II. The new government is viewed as a preliminary to parliamentary elections a year ahead of time.

Hughes' Plans Are Shrouded In Hot Rumors

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Howard Hughes was presumably holed up today on the tightly guarded eighth floor of Managua's Intercontinental Hotel, and a spokesman in the United States said he would remain in the Central American country indefinitely.

Both President Anastasio Somoza's office and Hughes spokesmen in the United States confirmed that the eccentric billionaire flew to Managua Thursday after 15 months living in seclusion in a hotel in Nassau.

In Las Vegas a spokesman for the Hughes Tool Co. said Hughes' stay in Nicaragua was indefinite—"we aren't saying how long he'll be there, but 'indefinite' could indicate a certain degree of permanence." He added that Hughes is considering investments in the country and "considers the economic and political situation good."

Hughes reportedly left Nassau after a dispute with Bahamian officials over work permits for the staff that insulates him from physical contact with the outside world. He'll have no such trouble in Nicaragua, which is run by the oldest and one of the most secure dictatorships in Latin America.

"This was not a sudden thing," said another Hughes Tool source in Las Vegas. "Hughes did not just fly out of the Bahamas at the last moment with no real idea of where he was going. Hughes owns properties in Nicaragua and is considering further investments."

He added that Nicaragua is now the base of Hughes' operations, and that the 66-year-old industrialist almost certainly will not return to the Bahamas. U.S. Ambassador Turner Shelton told a reporter that two Hughes aides arrived Wednesday and made arrangements to rent all 17 rooms on the next to the top floor of the Intercontinental, which is on a bluff overlooking Managua.

Hotel officials refused Thursday night to say if Hughes was there or even to acknowledge that the suddenly inaccessible eighth floor was reserved for Hughes and his staff.

Striking Coal Miners Offered Wage Boosts

LONDON (AP) — The coal strike inquiry board today offered Britain's 280,000 striking coal miners pay increases which went far toward meeting their demands.

Leaders of the national Union of Mineworkers went into a huddle to consider whether to accept the offer and end the six-week-old strike that threatens to paralyze British industry by the end of the month.

The miners' employers, the National Coal Board, immediately accepted the settlement terms proposed by the three-man commission headed by Lord Wilberforce, a former High Court judge.

The tribunal recommended increases ranging from $11.70 to $15.60 a week. The miners, whose pay varies between $40.40 and $74.10, had demanded $15.60, while the coal board offered $7.80.

The inquiry board said it was offering considerably more than the board offered because this was "in the interests of the nation as a whole."

It recommended that the raises be retroactive to Nov. 1 and that the scale prevail for 16 months from then.

The government warned, meanwhile, that drastic new power cuts will hit homes and factories next Wednesday whatever the miners decide.

BAD BLACKOUTS
Officials said the worst blackouts since the World War II Blitz would probably last only a short time if the miners go back to work next week. But this seemed unlikely. If the strike leaders recommend acceptance of the offer, the miners probably will vote on it in a secret ballot, and this could take a week.

Dwindling coal stocks have forced electric generating plants to ration output and withhold power from homes for up to 12 hours a day. Most facories are on a three-day week, sending the nation's total unemployed above 2.5 million.

Even with the new restrictions next Wednesday, Industry Minister John Davies said, the power stations would be down to their last stocks of coal by the end of next week and will be able to maintain supplies only for such essential services as hospitals and sewage plants. By then 5 million of the nation's 20 million workers could be idle.

Death Suspect Denied Bond

HOUSTON (AP) — Aureliano Silva, charged with murder in the death of a real estate saleswoman, has been denied bond.

State District Court Judge Dan E. Walton ruled Thursday following a hearing in which defense lawyer Mike Ramsey asked that Silva's bail be set at $7,500.

Silva, a house painter, is accused of the Nov. 17, 1970 bludgeoning slaying of Mrs. Juse Grove Gleason, a 14-week trial in which the prosecution asked for the death penalty ended in a mistrial Jan. 31 when the jury reported it was deadlocked.

Ramsey said Silva was indigent but that $15,000 worth of real estate controlled by the Roman Catholic Church could be put up to secure a $7,500 property bond.

President Likely To Meet Leader Mao In Hangchow

HONOLULU (AP) — President Nixon, tarrying here en route to his China summit talks, is likely to meet Chairman Mao Tse-tung in the picturesque resort city of Hangchow.

A major reason for the Hawaii stopover was to allow the Nixons to adjust gradually to the physical and psychological effects of traveling at jetspeed through time zones.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, who was with them aboard the presidential plane, said in response to newsmen's questions that the U.S. government has no confirmation of a report that Le Duc Tho, the Hanoi official who conducted secret negotiations with presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, would arrive in Peking a day before Nixon.

NO SUPPORT
Rogers offered no support for speculation that the North Vietnamese official would be meeting with Nixon or other Americans in Peking.

'SAVES' 105 Death Penalty Outlawed In California

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Supreme Court has ruled that the death penalty is unconstitutional, one of the court's seven justices said today.

The decision affects 100 men and five women under sentence of death in the state's prisons. They include Sirhan B. Sirhan, convicted slayer of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Charles Manson, convicted in the Sharon Tate murders.

Several states have outlawed the death penalty through legislative action, but no state supreme court has ruled on it previously.

The New Jersey Supreme Court overturned the state's death penalty in January. The court said the law was unconstitutional because persons convicted after pleading innocent were subjected to the death penalty while those who pleaded no defense were subject to a maximum of life imprisonment. Several other states have outlawed the death penalty through legislative action.

On Nov. 18, 1968, the California high court ruled that juries in the state can decide constitutionally under their own discretion whether the punishment for murder shall be death or life imprisonment.

That decision was returned on an appeal which had stayed all executions since Nov. 14, 1967. Justice Marshall F. McComb said in an interview that he was the lone dissenter in the latest opinion.

Asphyxiation Death Ruling

Accidental death by asphyxiation caused by carbon monoxide poisoning has been ruled in the death of a Midland man discovered slumped in his car alongside the Snyder Hwy 14 miles north of Big Spring at 10:47 a.m. Monday.

A passing motorist noticed the car which still had its lights on, found the man inside and notified County Sheriff A. N. Standard. Sheriff Standard and Peace Justice Jess Slaughter went to the scene where they found the body of Edward Collins, 53, of 503 S. Webster, Midland.

When Sheriff Standard and Peace Justice Slaughter approached the car, they found the motor running, headlights on, all doors except the driver's locked and all windows closed.

"I'd hesitate to fix a sure time of death, but I would guess that the man had been dead several hours when we found him," said Sheriff Standard.

Mr. Collins' body was taken by Alert Ambulance to River-Welch Funeral Home. The man's relatives in Snyder were notified of the death, and his car impounded at Stroup Wrecking Co. until the family could determine what was to be done with the man's personal items.

GRAVEL TRUCKS RAM TAKES LIFE

DECATUR, Tex. (AP) — Two gravel trucks rammed together today and one burned, taking the life of Lowell L. Bradley, 24, of Decatur.

The collision occurred on Texas 114 two miles west of Boyd.

Highway Patrolman Paul Geiser said the other truck in the collision was driven by Gary Martin Cagle, 26, of Sherman.

A third truck sideswiped the wreckage with minor damage.

BALLARD JURY COMPLETED Sheriff Royce Pruitt Is First Witness In Trial

Glasscock County Sheriff Royce Pruitt is the first witness to testify in the 83rd District Court Alpine murder trial of Whitmer Jean Ballard, 46, charged with the Dec. 2, 1970, shotgun murder of Steve Currie, 71, Glasscock County Rancher.

Jury selection was completed Thursday afternoon following eight days of question of individual jurors. In order to secure a jury for the case in which the state is seeking the death penalty against Ballard, 700 veniremen were called, and over 80 were questioned.

Final jurors selected Thursday are Ray LaBeff, Alpine Butane Co. owner and air taxi service owner, and W. T. Neidhardt, an Alpine engineer employed with the Texas Highway Department.

District Judge Sherrill had appointed L. A. Cullison, a Fort Stockton attorney, to assist defense attorneys Bobby Bearden, Midland, and Ralph Burleson, Alpine, in researching statutes concerning common-law marriage. Judge Sherrill stipulated that Cullison is to research that question only and will not take an active part in the trial.

Defenses attorneys are attempting to block possible evidence against Ballard through testimony of Janie Montgomery by proving that the woman is Ballard's common-law wife and can not testify against him.

Comprising the eight-man, four-woman jury are LaBeff, Neidhardt, Esteban Rodriguez, Mrs. Laura Pattillo, Grover Crone, W. A. Everage, John R. Ripley, Mrs. Earl Rudder, J. W. T. Harrington, Mrs. Gail Musgrave, Mrs. Luther Anderson and Charles R. Carlow.

Crime Commission Chief McKee 'Is A Wanted Man'

DALLAS (AP) — The chairman of the Dallas Crime Commission became a wanted man today following his indictment by a grand jury the previous day on two embezzlement counts.

"He's a wanted man," said Criminal Warrants Deputy Joe Pearce after the man who has been known as John McKee dropped out of sight when deputies went to arrest him following the indictment.

McKee's lawyer, M. R. Irion, who said that McKee would call a news conference to explain his position next week, said today: "I knew where he was Wednesday morning but I don't know where he is now."

After a stake-out through the night at McKee's rambling lakeside home in East Dallas, Dallas County authorities issued a bulletin for his arrest and a description of his late-model Lincoln.

McKee, accused of being a

1929 Navy deserter named James Keil Zullinger, has lived under a false name for more than 40 years, according to a joint statement issued by Dallas Police Chief Frank Dyson and Dist. Atty. Henry Wade just a week ago.

'RIDICULOUS'
McKee denied the charges, calling them ridiculous, and threatened suit for libel. He has avoided meeting newsmen.

He was accused in the grand jury indictment Thursday of embezzling a total of $6,722 from Lee Lockwood of Waco, who heads Scottish Rite Masonry in Texas.

The case was assigned to 4th Criminal District Court and Judge John Mead set bond of $5,000 on each count.

McKee, a 33rd degree Mason, served as Lockwood's personal assistant and was executive committee chairman of the four Scottish Rite bodies in Dallas until replaced Monday on orders from Lockwood.

McKee denied the charges, calling them ridiculous, and threatened suit for libel. He has avoided meeting newsmen.

Fleshy Upper Back Is Snap To Trim

By MARY SUE MILLER

Excess weight across the upper back may cause several kinds of distortion. The shoulders may round, as if overupholstered. Flesh is sure to roll over bras at the finish line. Reducing this area is sometimes thought difficult. But really it's a snap, if you work out with a strap.

Like a sparring partner, a strap makes you work with more force and interest. This is all to the good. The best kinds of straps to use are made of sturdy leather, about 60 inches long. (Two strong belts, buckled together, will serve.)

The routines follow:

1. Stand erect with feet 6 inches apart. With arms down at sides, hold strap behind back as you would a jumping rope — hands near ends, strap dangling toward floor. Now snap strap by quickly raising arms diagonally up and back. Repeat 10 to 20 times, relaxing when tired.

2. Holding strap as before, raise arms overhead, hands touching. Again snap strap by flinging arms apart to sides. Repeat rapidly for 20 counts. (If strap fails to snap when arms are fully extended, shorten hold on it.)

Reducing Bonus: Those routines also help to firm the chest, bosom and arms. But then all good spot exercise benefits adjacent areas. That's what makes it doubly worth the effort.

TRIMMERS, SLIMMERS

Let me help you with the problem of a too-fleshy arm, chest or upper back by sending you my leaflet, "Trimmers and Slimmers." It contains a set of coordinated spot reducing exercises — easy to do, quick to get results. Just write Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin.

Lack Of Virtue Its Own Reward

A 27-year-old prostitute in Offenburg, West Germany, has been awarded $7,000 for the loss of two months' work because of injuries suffered in an automobile accident in Dusseldorf. The judge also awarded her $2,000 for hospital treatment, and kept her name anonymous.

"The woman's profession is not forbidden by society nor illegal by law," he explained. Police testified that the lady had many "high-class customers" and could earn $7,500 a month.

Differences In Violets Described

Mrs. Marvin Sewell described types of African violets for the Texas Bouquet African Violet Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. John Coffee, 513 Edwards Circle.

African violets were named "Saint Paulias" in honor of the man who discovered them in Africa and sent them to the royal botanic gardens in Germany. The flowers are classified in groups according to characteristics they have in common. There are several species and many varieties.

Some African violets have large brittle leaves with big flowers, and other groups have heavy, rounded foliage with large blossoms. The brittle leaved plants are more susceptible to disease.

Still other varieties of the plant feature scalloped leaves and have pale markings. Miniature varieties are becoming increasingly popular because they take so little space.

Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales presided, and announced the club is now affiliated with the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs. Mrs. Guy Cook is council delegate.

FBI'S MOST WANTED FUGITIVES Political Revolutionaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The capture of Karleton Lewis Armstrong by Canadian police reduces the FBI's list of most-wanted fugitives to 12, more than half of them political revolutionaries.

Armstrong, one of four men wanted in connection with a fatal bombing on the University of Wisconsin campus on Aug. 24, 1970, was arrested Wednesday night in Toronto.

The arrest left on the FBI's most-wanted list seven persons with backgrounds as political activists or terrorists.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police said Armstrong, 24, was arrested without a struggle in a rooming house. He is being held for an immigration inquiry.

KILLED IN BLAST

Armstrong was sought as a result of an explosion that ripped through Sterling Hall on the University of Wisconsin campus, a building that contained the Army Mathematics Research Center. The center had been a target of antiwar demonstrators.

A graduate student, Robert Fassnacht, was killed in the blast.

Charged with Armstrong in the explosion are his brother, Dwight Armstrong, 20; Frederick Burt, 23, of Darby, Pa.; and David S. Fine, 19, of Wilmington, Del. The three are at large and are on the FBI's list of most-wanted fugitives.

conspiracy, sabotage, destroying government property and civil-rights violations, all federal counts, and on a state charge of murder.

NEWER BREED

More than a year and a half ago, the "Ten Most-Wanted" list had 16 names. Seven of those named were wanted for such crimes as murder and bank robbery. The other nine were a newer breed, sought for crimes ranging from sabotage and terrorist acts to conspiracy.

Captured since then have been black activist H. Rap Brown and Armstrong. The FBI put Angela Davis on the list Aug. 18, 1970, and took her into custody Oct. 13 but replaced the black leader the following day with Bernadine Dohrn, a leader of the Weatherman faction, who is still sought for conspiracy.

The FBI, with its enormous resources and a solid reputation of accomplishment in catching murderers and bank robbers, appears undaunted by criticism that it can't capture the new type of fugitive.

SOONER OR LATER

"We've heard that charge," said an FBI spokesman. "But they all get caught sooner or later. We don't put them on that list unless we expect them to be hard to find. That's why they are put on."

The spokesman also said the political revolutionaries have made capture more difficult because they are willing to leave the country.

Since the list was started in 1950, 293 persons put on it have been located, with information on 101 of them coming from citizens who had heard about the fugitives from the list, the spokesman said.

Root Opens Bids For Wing Feb. 28

COLORADO CITY — Directors of the Root Memorial Hospital will open bids Feb. 28 for construction of a new physical therapy wing for the hospital.

Estimates are that this will approximate $25,000 and that equipment will run $6,000 more. Charles Smith is the therapist. Heretofore, persons in need of physical therapy had to go to Big Spring or Abilene.

TESCO Given Tax Break

COLORADO CITY — An agreement has been reached between Texas Electric Service Company and the Colorado Independent School District trustees for reduction of company values by a million and a half dollars.

Terms of the agreement calls for reducing the assessment on the Morgan Creek power plant by $1,517,340, which represents loss of about $25,000 in taxes for the district.

Originally, TESCO has asked for a reduction of $14,162,000, which would have represented $132,000 to the district. The company now pays $449,000 to the district, about half the total revenue of the district.

The reduction may be made in stages to avoid a hardship on the district. Harold Abbott of the valuation firm of Pritchett & Abbott, which represents the district, noted that some 15 miles of pipeline is being laid by Coastal States in the southern part of the district and will have a valuation of $805,060, returning about $14,500 in taxes to the district.

Opening lead: Five of ♠

When South opened the bidding with one heart, North's holding was too strong for a single raise—it is worth 11 points in support of hearts—and yet not strong enough for a jump raise which shows 13 points. North is obliged to take an indirect course by making a temporarily response of two diamonds despite the fact that his suit is not—strictly speaking—bidtable. When he raises hearts on the next round, it becomes clear that he has a better than average hand inasmuch as he took the time to show another suit first. South held ample reserve strength to carry on to four hearts.

West opened the five of spades and East played the king which was taken by declarer's ace. Trumps were drawn in two rounds ending up in dummy and a small club was led. South put up with the queen and West went in with the king. The nine of clubs was returned and the ace was played from dummy. The 10 of clubs was led, covered by East's jack and ruffed in the closed hand. The queen and jack of spades were cashed and North discarded a diamond.

A diamond was led and then West followed with the seven, the nine was played from dummy—losing East's 10. A diamond was returned and the defense cashed two more tricks in the suit to set the declarer down by one.

South began his stripping operations too late. When he received the favorable opening of a spade and East's king appeared, he could have cinched success. All that is required is to draw trumps, play the high spades—discarding a club from dummy and then lead the ace and 10 of clubs.

It does not matter which defender goes in for, in order to avoid presenting South with a ruff and discard, the opposition must lead diamonds themselves—assuring the declarer of losing only two tricks in that suit.

Glaucoma and the electronic tonometer.

Glaucoma occurs in 2% of all people over 35, and increases in incidence with age. It often results in the destruction of precious vision. One of the warning signs of encroaching glaucoma is increased pressure within the eye.

When the examination reveals the need, the Doctors of Optometry associated with TSO use an electronic tonometer to accurately measure intra-ocular pressure for indications of glaucoma. In cases where intra-ocular pressure is higher than normal, patients are referred for medical observation. Guard against eye disease, eyestrain and poor vision with an annual professional eye examination by a Doctor of Optometry associated with TSO.

Campaign Loan Suit Ax Sharpened

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Justice Department says it is seeking the dismissal of a campaign loan case which Gov. Preston Smith once claimed as an attempt to destroy the Texas Democratic party.

In an announcement released here Thursday, the Justice Department said it will ask the courts to dismiss federal charges of making political campaign loans that were filed last year against a San Antonio national bank and four in Ohio.

The Justice Department said the recently enacted federal Election Campaign Act amended the statute under which the banks were indicted and "authorizes national banks to make political campaign loans in the ordinary course of business."

The banks include the Frost National Bank of San Antonio and the First National Bank of Cincinnati, the Ohio National Bank of Columbus, the First-Knox National Bank of Mount Vernon, and the Bellefontaine National Bank, all of Ohio.

The San Antonio bank was indicted last March on charges of making a $7,500 loan to a 1970 Smith campaign fund. The loan was repaid Jan. 28, 1971, after Smith won re-election to a second term.

For several weeks after the indictment was returned, Smith and other Texas officials blasted the move and singled out former Texas Atty. Gen. Will Wilson.

A Democrat turned Republican, Wilson was an assistant U.S. attorney general at the time.

"It seems quite clear to me that I have been marked for political assassination so that the Republicans will have a better chance of winning Texas in the 1972 elections," Smith said at one point.

He charged that Wilson and his associates were using a seldom used statute "in order to destroy Democratic candidates and office holders as well as the Democratic party of Texas."

Smith contended throughout that the charges were politically motivated. Lawyers for the San Antonio bank said much the same, asking for a dismissal last year on grounds the case was politically inspired and discriminatory.

The Justice Department said Thursday that the four Ohio cases were appealed to the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati after they were dismissed by federal district courts. The San Antonio case had been awaiting trial, pending the 6th Court's ruling.

Officials said the amendment of the 1925 statute involved is not retroactive, "but it is the determination of the (Justice) Department that the interests of justice would not be served by continuing to seek convictions for loan transactions that are now permitted by the statute."

Nine Are Named To Oil Shrine

Nine men intimately associated with development of the southwestern oil industry have been elected to an oil "Hall of Fame" in Midland, Tex.

John P. Butler, chairman of the board of executors, Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, said they are George T. Abell, Midland; Berte R. Haigh, El Paso; O. C. Harper, Midland; Herbert C. Irvin, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Edward A. Landreth, Fort Worth; Arthur M. Lockhart, Colorado City; D. E. Lounsbury, Bartlesville, Okla.; H. P. "Cap" Slagel, Colorado City; Sam A. Sloan, Colorado City. Landreth and Sloan are deceased.

Arthur M. Lockhart's election also honors his brothers, Cecil, Herman, Leslie, Lloyd and Lynn. The six brothers were pioneer oil explorers, pipelers producers, and refiners in the West Texas area. Sloan was a partner in a well that kicked off Howard-Glasscock field development.

Rural Development Bill To Spur Political Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — A multibillion-dollar bill aimed at ending migration from the countryside to the nation's crowded cities is expected to prompt a fierce political fight in Congress next week.

W.R. Poage, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee and chief sponsor of the measure, says it will "enable rural America to offer living conditions and employment opportunities adequate to impede the steady flow of rural Americans to our nation's large population centers."

But opponents call the bill too expensive and ineffective. Headed by the agriculture panel's ranking Republican Rep. Page Belcher of Oklahoma, opponents contend the bill would authorize at least $300 million a year of "new and unbudgeted donations by the federal government which simply doesn't have the money to give away."

Under the legislation, aid would be provided for financing pollution-control programs in rural areas, credit services of the Farmers Home Administration would be expanded, and there would be more emphasis on community development and environmental phases of the Agriculture Department's small-watershed and resource-conservation programs.

In his report to the House, Poage said it is "obvious that additional capital must be put to work in a wise manner if we are to expect to upgrade life in rural America."

The committee, approving the bill 32 to 4, rejected President Nixon's revenue-sharing plan 16 to 4 and defeated Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz' credit-sharing proposal 16 to 5.

Instead of "creating a new federal bureaucracy," Poage said, the committee decided to expand the roles of existing agencies: the FHA and the Soil Conservation Service.

But Belcher told the House "the federal government is in no position to grant anything but a share of a $39-billion deficit."

Crystal City Chief Fired

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP) — Police Chief Eliseo Sanchez Jr. has been dismissed from the post he has held since 1967.

City Manager Francisco Rodriguez disclosed Thursday that the new chief is Alberto Sanchez, a distant relative of the dismissed chief.

Rodriguez named city manager here last year after the Raza Unida Mexican-American third party gained control of city government, said the move was not politically motivated.

He said he replaced Eliseo Sanchez because "he wasn't ready for the changes we wanted here."

In a statement, Eliseo Sanchez asked the city manager to ask him to resign last week but he refused. He said he received a letter Monday, notifying him of his immediate dismissal.

Rodriguez said the new chief who joined the police force about a year ago after working at a local vegetable packing plant, had been "very active in community affairs" before becoming a policeman.

City officials want the police force to be "more service oriented" than before, Rodriguez said. He asserted that in the past, local police had done nothing to halt what he called harassment by county sheriff's officers.

H. L. Hunt's 83rd Birthday

DALLAS (AP) — It was business as usual Thursday for oil billionaire H. L. Hunt who celebrated his 83rd birthday in his office.

"Saturdays and holidays are days when I have to get things done," said the silver-haired magnate.

Although he "dreads" birthdays and parties, Hunt managed to take off long enough for his office staff to present him with a five-foot birthday card with an original composition inscribed on it.

Hunt, munching an apple, announced he is feeling spry.

"I've been taking instruction in yoga. I'm learning to do eight difference exercises to help me with some back trouble I've been having. I've been interested in exercise all of my life," he said.

$5.3-Billion Antipoverty Bill Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, ignoring threats of another presidential veto, has passed a two-year $5.3-billion extension of the antipoverty program.

President Nixon vetoed a similar bill last December, and the House went only part way to meet his objections. Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., who led the opposition to the bill Thursday, said another veto is certain.

The bill, passed 234 to 127, now goes to the Senate, which also has shown little inclination to back down from the earlier version of the legislation.

The main concession by the House to Nixon's views was elimination of a costly new child-development program it had included in the previous bill.

However, as a substitute the House proposed a big increase in funds for Head Start, which provides educational, nutritional and health services for poor children. The bill would authorize $500 million for the program this year instead of the $376 million now appropriated, and $1 billion next year instead of the $394 million Nixon has budgeted.

Republicans, who failed in an attempt to cut back on the budget levels, said the House was holding out false promises to the poor by authorizing a sum that will never be appropriated or spent.

The House largely ignored Nixon's other main objection to the previous bill, which dealt with a provision setting up a private, nonprofit corporation to provide legal services for the poor.

The continuing controversy is tying up funds for the Office of Economic Opportunity, which operates the antipoverty program.

Fund Drive Off To Slow Start

A fund drive is being conducted for Mrs. John Marino, a Big Spring woman scheduled for open heart surgery early next week.

The goal of the drive is $3,000, needed to pay for the surgery. Only $208.56 has been raised by the group so far.

Mrs. Marino is a member of the St. Paul Lutheran Church, the congregation of which is responsible for the campaign.

Money and inquiries about the drive should be directed to J. D. Nelson, Security State Bank.

Expect Smaller Families In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — American wives of child-bearing age expect smaller families than did their counterparts five years ago, according to a new Census Bureau survey.

The report may have special significance for scientists worried that the earth is becoming so overpopulated that its ecology is endangered.

"People who are concerned about the population explosion need to read this very closely," said Census Director George Hayward Brown who announced the findings.

But Brown pointed out that the survey covers only 6 percent of the world's population. Regarded as a key indicator of the national birth rate, the survey showed that:

—Wives from 18 to 39 expect to have an average of 2.1 children, a decline from the 3.1 average reported in 1967.

—Wives from 18 to 24 expect 2.4 children, compared with 2.9 five years ago.

—64 per cent of those 18 to 24 expect no more than two children, up from 41 per cent reporting those expectations in the previous survey.

The new study coincides with earlier findings that the nation's birth rate fell last year to one of the lowest levels in history.

The findings take on added significance because there are more women of prime child-bearing age now than in previous years, which usually would mean a rising birth rate.

Demographers say the number of births per woman of child-bearing age must be trimmed to 2.1 per cent if a stable population that neither increases nor decreases is to be achieved. The most recent survey put the figure at about 2.5 births per family.

Alpine Scene Of Conclave

Four members of the city administration will travel to Alpine this afternoon to attend a Texas Municipal League Regional IV meeting at the Highland Motor Inn.

Harry Nagel, city manager; James Campbell, director of public works; Vance Chisum, police chief; and J. Arnold Marshall, mayor, will attend the meeting, which starts at 6:30 p.m. with Hospitality Hour.

Earnie Crawford, executive director of the Permian Basin Planning Council, will present the program. City governmental delegates from cities in an area bounded by El Paso on the west, Lubbock on the north, Abilene on the east and San Angelo on the south, will attend the meeting.

"We hope to have the next quarterly meeting of the region in Big Spring," said Nagel today. He indicated the request will be made at the meeting tonight.

School Finance Ruling Appealed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A federal court ruling that declared the Texas school financing system unconstitutional will be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court by the State of Texas.

Asst. Texas Atty. Gen. Pat Bailey filed a notice of appeal with the U. S. district clerk here by mail, records showed Thursday.

Among the key points to be raised by the state is a challenge as to whether the court had the authority to order the reallocation of public funds.

A three-judge panel held against the present system, based largely on ad valorem taxes. In a ruling returned here last December.

It said the system discriminates on the basis of the wealth of individual school districts and set a two-year deadline for the state to correct it.

The state also said it will challenge these points:

—Whether the 14th Amendment requires "equal dollar expenditures or fiscal equality in the financing plans of public schools."

—Whether the sections of the Texas Constitution and Texas Education Code dealing with school financing violate the problem. Dr. Beverley T. Mead said at a medical meeting Thursday, "but it happens to us (doctors) much more frequently."

Mead, chairman of psychiatry at Creighton University School of Medicine in Omaha, Neb., warned his fellow physicians that "if you accept the patient's advances—you are skating on very thin ice."

He said that if a doctor becomes angry with such patients, "I would tend to say you are just a little bit fearful yourself—it's unfair to the patient and doesn't promote your reputation either."

"Laughing at the patient and treating him as a child is a form of belittlement and a poor technique," he said, adding that a physician should treat such patients "as though we expect a little more mature action than they are displaying."

In a great many cases and for most suggestive overtures, he recommended that the physicians "maintain your dignity and go on as if it never happened—ignore it."

"If it becomes so obvious you can't ignore it," he said, the doctor should "frankly explain to the patient that you feel you can do more for them as their doctor."

Mead also told about 500 doctors attending the 36th annual International Medical Assembly of Southwest Texas that an occasional sexually aggressive patient "is a tribute to your ability as a physician."

He said it shows that the doctor has been "kind, concerned, understanding—but if it happens too often, maybe you'd better review your manner with patients—maybe you are putting out too many signals."

Auto insurance would be mandatory under the AIA plan. Smith has said he is considering submitting no-fault as an issue for the next special session.

Insurance board chairman Larry Teaver favors the concept.

Sargent and Stark debated the question before lawyers, legislators and two other insurance board members Friday afternoon.

No-fault, Sargent asserted, would be financed by "taking benefits away from innocent victims in order to pay token benefits to the innocent and the guilty alike."

"Compensation would be paid to the drunken driver and to the dope addict under the influence of narcotics," he said.

Under no-fault, a motorist's own insurance company pays him for his medical expenses, lost wages and car repairs if he gets into an accident—whether he caused the accident or not.

The AIA's plan, Stark said, "calls for the total elimination of the right to sue." It provides unlimited medical benefits; pays up to $750 per month for loss of income; and pays an unlimited period; and pays auto repair benefits similar to the present system of collision coverage.

JAYCEES SPONSOR Tickets On Sale For Trio's Show

Advance tickets are now on sale for the coming appearance March 4 of the New Kingston Trio, which is being sponsored by the Big Spring Jaycees.

Tickets for the program, which will begin at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium will be $3 in advance and $3.50 at the door.

Check Bones Near Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — County medical authorities sought to analyze and identify today about 50 bones found in a sandy drainage ditch in southeast Harris County.

The bones, believed to be from the remains of two persons, were located Thursday night near an area where two other sets of bones have been found. The earlier finds included bones identified as the remains of Rhonda Renee Johnson, 14, of Webster.

The other set from the earlier discovery has never been identified. Officers said Thursday night they were investigating the possibility that the new bones may include some which washed down from the earlier discoveries.

Sheriff's Lt. T. C. Pickens, who led the Thursday night search, said a skull and a jawbone with teeth were located in the discovery.

The earlier finds included lower skeletal remains of a young boy found Sept. 1, 1971. Miss Johnson's remains were found Jan. 3.

The Johnson girl was last seen alive Aug. 4, in Webster. At that time she was with Sharon Shaw, 4, of Clear Lake City. The Shaw girl has been missing since August and police said in January she may have met with foul play.

Remains of five young women have been found since October in isolated fields and bogs in the Houston area.

Rangers Open Spring Work

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Texas Rangers hold their first official American League practice session today with pitchers and catchers reporting to Manager Ted Williams, who moved with the club from Washington to Arlington, Tex.

Five players, including slugging outfielder Frank Howard, remained unsigned with the infielders and outfielders due to in uniform for their first workout Feb. 23rd.

Howard made an estimated $120,000 last year but a Ranger spokesman said, "We're very far apart in negotiations" this time.

Howard was a holdout last year and finally wound up negotiating directly with owner Bob Short.

Second baseman Leonard Randle and outfielder Elliott Maddox signed contracts, clubbed pitcher Horacio Pina, Thursday.

Other unsigned players include pitcher Ron Law, catcher Dick Billings and infielder Ted Kubiak.

Texas plays its first exhibition game as the Rangers March 3rd at 1:30 p.m. here against the New York Yankees.

Texas opens the regular season April 6 against Kansas City at home.

Firebombing In Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Pine Bluff police and firemen today were investigating three firebombings that occurred in the city Thursday night.

Firemen said what appeared to be molotov cocktails were thrown at the Texaco and American Oil Co. bulk plants, but neither device exploded and there was no damage.

A third firebomb was tossed through a front window at the residence of Richard Mosely, who lives in the Belmont subdivision, firemen said.

The firebomb exploded in Mosley's living room, causing moderate damage to the house. Mosley was not injured.

Meanwhile, an investigation continued in an attempt to determine the causes of five fires here Wednesday night.

PROBERS ARE TOLD Crewman Escaped Sinking Tanker Only To Drown?

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — At least one person may have survived the explosion which sank the tanker V. A. Fogg to the bottom of the Gulf of Mexico, but he apparently drowned later in high seas, a bosun mate on the sunken ship said Thursday.

John Caldeira Jr., a bosun mate on the Fogg whose life was probably saved when he missed the boat, told a Coast Guard investigation board that a life ring found floating in the Gulf had a man's belt tied to it.

"Some one must have gotten off that ship," said Caldeira, who completed a long cruise on the vessel just before it sank. "It looks like someone survived and probably drowned later on."

NO PRO Caldeira said whoever tied his belt onto the life ring was obviously a "novice" and not a member of the deck crew.

"Anyone experienced would have tied the belt around the whole ring and not on one of the lines attached to the ring, which is the weakest part." Caldeira said he didn't recognize the belt and didn't know which of the 39 men on board the Fogg it could have belonged to.

The belt is a thin strip of black leather with a zippered money pocket. Observers speculated that someone on the ship had time after it blew up to tie themselves to the life ring. However, the ship exploded only a few hours before a front blew through the area on the afternoon of Feb. 1 and reports later said waves became 15 feet high and the temperature dropped to the 30s.

A Coast Guard search for the vessel didn't start until almost 24 hours after it is thought to have exploded.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM Caldeira was aboard the ship on a cruise up the East Coast. He left the vessel briefly after it returned and docked in Freeport. He testified Thursday he ran into a "traffic problem" in Texas City and called the ship to explain the delay to the chief mate.

The mate said the vessel was sailing in 40 minutes for Houston, stopping en route to clean its tanks of benzene residual.

OFFICES OPEN ALL DAY MONDAY THROUGH SATURDAY 9:00 A.M. TO 5:30 P.M.

ASCA Office Will Not Open Monday

The Howard County ASCA office in the federal building will be closed Monday, a national holiday observing the anniversary of George Washington's birthday.

"We are in the middle of the sign-up period for the 1972 farm set-aside programs, so it's important that farmers know the office will be closed Monday," said Cecial Allred.

The sign-up period for the 1972 feed grain, wheat and cotton programs will continue through March 10, and from Tuesday on farmers may sign from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The reason for the Monday closing (which is Feb. 21) is the federal Monday holiday law.

Christianity Knocks At China's Door; Answer Must Come From Laymen Within

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Like a slowly blinking light, Christianity in China repeatedly has gone off and on again over the centuries. While it's now in a dark phase, questions arise whether the new diplomatic contacts may eventually allow it to glow again.

Church experts are convinced that if it does, even in the long run, it won't be in the old way, as a Westernized import.

"If the Chinese are going to be given a new opportunity to hear the faith, it's not going to be from Westerners, but from the Chinese themselves," says the Rev. Dr. Arthur F. Glasser, dean of the school of World Missions at Fuller Theological Seminary, Pasadena, Calif.

While some groups have felt that President Nixon's visit, coupled with China's entry into the United Nations, may soon clear the way for resumption of missionary activity in China, experienced hands there strongly doubt it.

To see the trip as a forerunner to any "dramatic opportunities for Christian witness is to put faith in fantasy," says the Rev. Dr. M. E. Loewen, a one-time China missionary and now director of the International Religious Liberty Association in Washington, D. C.

Nevertheless, there have been some faint signs of possible changes in China's blanket suppression of organized religious life.

These were cited recently by the Rev. Raymond L. Whitehead, a China specialist of the National Council of Churches, who recently became the first American clergyman to visit mainland China since the Bamboo curtain fell 20 years ago.

He said he had heard that the Theological School in Nanking eventually would be reopened, and it "would not be too much to expect that Christian institutions and leaders will soon appear again" among the Chinese themselves.

In the past, the faith recurrently has been brought into the country from the outside, but each time, it finally has gone under or been driven out.

"The pattern has been to open the door to Christianity for a while and then throw it out," says Dr. Glasser, 57, who served in China five years up to 1951. "It has happened again and again."

Four different times, the door was opened or reopened, then closed. "The question is," Dr. Glasser added in an interview, "will there be a fifth time?"

Legend has it that Jesus' apostle Thomas first brought word of Christianity to China, but this has no historical basis.

From 700 to 950 A. D., Syrians took a highly spiritualized "Nestorian" form of Christianity to China, but it was extinct by 1,000 A. D. In the 13th and 14th century Franciscans spread congregations there, but were driven out.

In the 16th and 17th century, the Jesuits brought a vigorous Christian movement into China, but it, too, faltered under pressures, leaving a remnant.

Then came the 19th century surge of China mission activity by Roman Catholics and Protestants. It had grown to three million Chinese Catholics and one million Protestants, before the Communist takeover of 1948 gradually smothered it. The purges of 1966 wiped out its last organizational vestiges.

"Some people still have hope of finding 'crypt' Christians in China, but while this is possible, I'm not overly optimistic about it," says the Rev. William L. Richardson, a one-time China missionary of the Maryknoll, N.Y., Catholic order.

Dr. Glasser, whose school has students from 41 countries, including Chinese, said there is little chance of Western clergy working in China again, but Christianity may re-emerge through Chinese themselves and lay technicians from the West with strong Christian convictions.

He added that small groups of Christians, meeting privately in homes, are reported still continuing in China, but institutionally, the church does not exist.

If it is to revive, he said, it will be primarily as a "lay movement, on a highly informal basis."

Stewardship Circle's Topic

Points concerning stewardship were stressed at Wednesday's meeting of the Mission Prayer Band Circle at the home of Mrs. Faye Warner.

Mrs. Mary L. Ivery, circle teacher, used passages of scripture relating to topics of stewardship of opportunity, talent, personality and possession in her lesson. She said that Christian stewardship involves one's whole life, and presented a poem entitled "A Job The Lord Has For Me."

Mrs. Beatrice Person, circle chairman, urged members to use whatever talent they possessed for the glory of God, and to take advantage of each opportunity to perform services for God.

Mrs. Warner reported on the group's foreign mission project, and asked that members consider sending a donation to aid in purchasing Bibles to be placed in convert homes by the missionaries. The project is to be discussed further and acted upon at the next circle meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Mittie Woodridge.

Mrs. Lillian Reed opened the devotional service by singing a hymn, Mrs. Warner read from the 23rd Psalm and Mrs. Person, chairman, offered the devotional prayer.

Sunday To Be 'Peace' Day For TCC Member Churches

Sunday will be observed in what he craves for in his heart many churches throughout the State of Texas as Peace Sunday, according to Roy J. Cates, executive director of the Texas Conference of Churches.

Churches and parishes of member ecclesiastical units of the Conference have been encouraged by their respective administrative heads in Texas to lift up special prayers for peace during regular Sunday services. Additionally, individual members of TCC member denominations will be encouraged to study carefully the "complex questions of war and peace."

"A Message To The Churches Concerning Peace" was adopted by the TCC Board of Directors. It has been transmitted in printed bulletin insert form to congregations and parishes of all member jurisdictions of the TCC "with the hope and prayer that it will be studied carefully and completely by each individual Christian in Texas that Peace may come."

The unanimous board action followed extensive research and study of existing denominational statements concerning peace by a special taskforce appointed by the Most Rev. John L. Morkovsky, apostolic administrator of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Galveston-Houston and president of the Conference.

All Spanish-speaking people are cordially invited to hear the Vicente Aguilar, evangelist. The message reads, "is man's failure to achieve in actuality

This Earth

We've all heard that a picture is worth a thousand words. But this photo tells the whole story of mankind.

The barbed wire symbolizes this earth we live in—filled with war, hatred, greed. Transcending the ugliness of this world is the Cross, symbol of Christ's sacrifice for us, the promise of eternal life.

But we don't have to wait till death for a better life. We can do something about that barbed wire. More understanding, and selfless — not selfish — action would do much to purge our world of ugliness.

God's Church is the natural means of resolving discord. Human nature being what it is, heaven on earth is impossible. But improvement on earth is possible — necessary!

Anyhow, It's A Start

No one expects that all corrupt and deceptive practices in the realm of election campaign financing will be eliminated by the measure which the President has just signed into law. No one can sensibly doubt that the new statute brings us a long way toward that ideal state of affairs.

This law promises an enormous improvement over the situation which has prevailed under the ignored or bypassed Corrupt Practices Act on the books since 1925. It is, as Mr. Nixon observed in signing the bill, "an important step forward in an area which has been of great public concern."

One particular aspect of this concern has been the fear that, without any effective limitation of spending on television, high office would increasingly become the prize of candidates with personal wealth or wealthy supporters. This danger is now substantially reduced, since candidates for national office will be permitted to spend a maximum of six cents per voter on radio and television. It also is pertinent in this connection that henceforth candidates will be strictly limited as to how much they can personally contribute to their campaigns — $50,000 in presidential campaigns, $35,000 for the Senate and $25,000 for the House.

One key provision in the newly enacted law is the requirement of periodic reports on spending, coupled with identification of the source of any contribution above $100. With public scrutiny in prospect, candidates ought to be a good deal more careful about the source and amount of contributions they accept.

This statute is not the last word on campaign spending reform. It is a significant advance, and will provide a body of experience on the basis of which further improvements can be made in years to come.

Preserving A Principle

Three young men have been named in charges filed by school authorities after a trio of non-students jumped on a physical education instructor.

It is for the courts to determine the guilt or innocence of the defendants in the specific cases at hand.

Aside from this and purely as a matter of principle, authorities are to be commended for prompt action in dealing with individuals, who are not students, coming on to campus and acting in such a manner as to interfere with the school program.

The principle of guarding the schools against disruption of the educational programs and processes is one that must be kept inviolate, and authorities should have the support of the public in dealing immediately and forthrightly with incidents which violate or threaten this principle.

Nuptial Legends

Around The Rim

Linda Cross

With my wedding approaching, I'm uncovering a lot of old wedding customs which I don't think I want to try. Many of them are based on superstition and some on sadism.

ONE CUSTOM I know of can't have enjoyed much popularity. To insure a couple's good fortune and a healthy and numerous brood, it was once the custom to place a poultice of limburger cheese under the newlywed's pillow on the wedding night. How that could be beneficial, in either case, no one has ever explained.

Other marriage customs pertain to domestic strife. On custom held that if the husband left the home angry, the wife should go to a neighbor's home and eat applesauce, and peace would be restored. This may be the basis of the saying: "Applesauce!"

IF THE FUR of a cat is blown the wrong way by the wind, according to old superstition, it is a sign that the husband is "looking favorably at another woman." The remedy for this is to grease the fur, and in my book, that means the fur of the other woman.

Another doubtful tradition is that of if a younger sister should marry before the older sisters, to insure catching a husband, the older girls must dance barefoot or in green stockings in a pig's trough at the wedding.

CUSTOM DICTATES that the mother-in-law of the bride should break a cake or a loaf of bread over the bride's head as she enters the door of her new home. No substitutions of vases or other harder items — not even hard-crust bread, are allowed.

At a wedding, it is a sign of good luck if the bride finds a spider crawling on her wedding dress. It's not considered lucky for the spider, unfortunately.

THE ENGLISH considered it to be good luck if the wedding couple saw a wolf, spider or toad on the way to the church, but a bad omen if the two encountered a friar, priest, dog, cat, hare, lizard or snake. No reason was given for the odd assortment of bad omens — just the odds of the thing.

ANOTHER GOOD sign is that this is the last week I can use wedding lore to fill up my rim column. Next week is when I get married, and I will have to move on to other topics.

Anti-Bus Proposal

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The movement in Congress to prevent busing from being used as a means of producing racial balance in the public schools has been growing, irrespective of the fact that President Nixon has not yet endorsed or rejected the proposal. He says that he will have a committee study the matter before he decides his course sometime after he returns from China. Meanwhile, bipartisan groups on Capitol Hill are contending that they have widespread support from people in all parts of the country, and that a constitutional amendment will gain a vote of approval in Congress.

THERE ARE several amendments against forced busing being proposed in Congress. One of them, authored by Rep. Norman F. Lent, (R-NY), states:

"No public school student shall, because of his race, creed or color, be assigned to or required to attend a particular school."

Under that plan which its sponsors have in mind, a two-thirds vote in each house will have to approve the measure, and then it would be submitted to the states of the Union with the expectation that the necessary three-fourths will bring about the required ratification.

THE THEORY behind the proposed amendment is that the courts have not been clear in the decisions which have required busing and in various instances have assumed that there is a basic right to require school districts to use buses to transfer students from one school district to another, without regard to the distances involved. The argument being made in Congress by the sponsors of the new amendment is that no school district or local government shall have the authority to tell a student that he or she must go from one school to another to correct racial imbalance.

The idea advanced now is that the student has the right to pick a school, no matter where it is located, and cannot be compelled to ride a bus to some other locality.

THERE MAY BE instances, of course, where some schools are crowded and will tell prospective students that they can be transported to other schools in nearby districts, but not because of race.

IT WILL be recalled that in the Civil Rights Act of 1964 Congress itself stipulated that federal funds will not be used to correct "racial imbalance." The big question is: has there been a correction of "racial imbalance" when students were transported from one area to another in order to be able to attend particular schools? Conflicting court decisions have been rendered.

THE CORE of the controversy is "racial imbalance," but actually it has to do with enforced integration. There are lots of neighborhoods in America where the percentage of whites is large and the residents do not think that students should be brought from 10 or 15 or 20 miles away to go to schools where their own children are and change the life of the community.

'I'M NOT CONVINCED CLOTHES MAKE THE MAN'

Interest Rates Puzzle

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody seems to be sure where interest rates are headed. And while that in itself is concern enough for economy watchers, the suggested implications are even more interesting. Among them:

1. If confusion exists about the future of interest rates to the degree it does, it means that our understanding of economic conditions—past, present and future—despite masses of data, is probably as imperfect as it was 20 years ago.

2. An inability to foresee the future of interest rates with more clarity means that a negative element of uncertainty exists in the stock market. Experience shows that an uncertain market seldom forges ahead.

The uncertainty and confusion exists because of varying interpretations concerning the influence on financial markets of big federal budget deficits, expected in this fiscal year and next.

Many analysts and economists are convinced that the deficits will rekindle inflation and higher interest rates. At the other extreme are analysts who accuse their brethren of misreading the message of the statistics.

Those who foresee upward pressures on prices also are forecasting a rise to 9 per cent or so for long-term corporate bonds, which now yield a bit more than 7 per cent.

However, the confusion becomes evident when some of the same forecasters are also looking for big gains on the stock market. While this is possible, history shows that periods of high interest rates correspond to depressed stock prices.

Says Eastman Dillon, the securities house: "We are astonished, therefore, that many of the same people who look for sharply higher long-term rates remain fully invested in equities."

Eastman Dillon, incidentally, believes that rates won't rise as sharply as many forecasters expect, mainly because: the economy is now operating far below capacity, with considerable unemployed labor and capital.

Before inflation in prices or interest rates sets in, Eastman Dillon and many other analysts believe, any spur to the economy through deficit spending must first absorb unused capital and labor.

But other observers aren't as certain. Even the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Arthur F. Burns, has shown some uncertainty, as indicated by the wording of his testimony before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress.

"It would not be surprising," said the man who perhaps has least reason of any to be surprised by interest rate changes, "to see short-term interest rates rise somewhat . . ."

Protection Pressure

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The hallolelujahs that went up when the New Economic Policy was first unveiled and again over the currency realignment in December are today faint echoes. The plain fact is that inflation is still increasing, the dollar is in bad trouble in world money markets, and turning around the $2 billion trade deficit calls for radical remedies.

LOOMING AROUND the corner is the threat from Congress of protectionist measures that would impose quotas to keep out foreign competition in basic imports. This is no idle threat as trade union pressure increases to bar goods from allegedly low-labor-cost nations.

A large part of the responsibility on the international side rested on Peter G. Peterson until he was switched from the White House to be Secretary of Commerce. How much of the load he will carry in an office that traditionally is long on form and short on substance, it is too early to say.

While he originally had doubts, in his 73-page report to the President on the United States, Peterson suggested the need for the United States to "be more of the old yankee trader than the gift giver." Are we willing, he asked, to decide that our own country's economic interests, at home and abroad, should occupy a more central place in U.S. policy?

THIS WOULD have encouraged the protectionists in Congress rallying behind the Hartke-Burke bill that is an open invitation to quotas whenever imports move above a certain level. In the introduction to his lengthy report Peterson hit a sensitive nerve. Noting that the steady rise in wage costs is a phenomenon in all industrial countries including Japan, he pointed out that U.S. wages have been rising at a rate that "exceeds our gains in productivity by a wider margin than elsewhere."

PETERSON CAME to Washington from the chairmanship of Bell and Howell at the instigation of his good friend, Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, who had developed the photographic company to its spectacular success. Percy is basing his campaign for re-election this year on that very same theme — productivity per man hour must be increased if the United States is to compete in world markets.

The revival of Charlie Chaplin's "Modern Times" brings back with marvelous comic emphasis memories of the depression-ridden 'thirties when to save labor costs the machine was turned up faster and faster and more and more men found themselves on the bread line.

THE RIGIDITIES of the trade union system make any change difficult to impossible. On the business side the tax investment handouts are used to buy labor-saving machinery so that Henry Ford II can say that his company can make as many or more cars as in recent years without increasing the labor force. No less an authority than President Nixon took the other day saying that the only way the United States can compete "is on the basis of our own productivity."

That is a key as important as the frozen trade union structure. Steel, for example, has fallen behind in modernizing as against Japan's adoption of the oxygen process.

This is a vital issue. But can it be politicized? (Copyright, 1972, United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little chores is explaining how you got a black eye.

An optimist is a guy who thinks his story will be widely believed.

A cynic is a guy who thinks nobody will believe his tale, not even himself.

The cynic is usually right. There is a sex difference in eye-brighting—as there is in everything else. If a woman gets a black eye, it is automatically assumed by one and all that she either got it innocently and accidentally or was beaten up by her husband, the brute. But if a man gets a black eye, it is automatically assumed that he was up to some kind of wrongdoing and merely got what he deserved.

A black eye is, of course, merely God's way of giving a man his comeuppance and saving him from his overweening pride. Without an occasional black eye to keep him humble, man would be unbearable. The average man probably gets a black eye about once every 10 years of his life.

An odd thing about their occurrence is that they usually happen to a man when it is particularly embarrassing for him to have one. For example, it is most likely for him to acquire a black eye the day before he is supposed to make a speech.

It is rare indeed for him to get a black eye while he's in the hospital or the day after he goes into the woods on a two-week camping trip, when only bears and bluejays can jeer at him.

There are endless excuses given by victims as to how they got a black eye. Here are a few of the more common ones, along with the percentage of people the victim can expect to believe him:

"I ran into an open door in the dark."—0 per cent.

"I was hit by a golf ball."—2 per cent.

"It was raining and this fat lady rammed her umbrella in my eye while I was trying to get on the bus ahead of her."—5 per cent.

"I don't remember how it happened. I just woke up and my eye was black."—0 per cent.

"I was mugged."—10 per cent.

"My neighbor caught me kissing his wife in the kitchen, and pitched a fist in my eye. He must be some kind of a nut."—100 per cent.

This last excuse, true or false, is the best one to use. There will be at least a note of admiration and sympathy in the jeering you get. Everybody has to like a guy who gets a black eye while doing something he'd secretly like to do himself.

Apathetic Voters

Garth Jones

There's nothing wrong with the Texas Legislature that the voters can't fix.

And, if the voters want, they can change the state constitution that is the basic rule book for the legislature and all state officials.

RECENTLY, IN THE wake of the stock fraud scandal and the federal courts' thumbs-down attitude toward state redistricting and election law efforts, there have been accusations that our legislative system has broken down under the strain.

There even have been some hints that maybe federal judges might do a better job of legislating than the men and women sent to Austin by majority votes of their communities — even in view of the fact that federal judges are appointed by politicians for life terms and never answerable to voters for any act.

The governor, attorney general, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, various and sundry state and federal officials, plus any number of self-appointed citizen spokesmen have been heard on the subject but the most vital part of our state government has not been heard from — the voters.

ON MAY 6, the first party primary; on June 3, the primary runoff; and Nov. 7, the general election, the voters will finally get a chance to say what they think.

There will be more than 200 state and local candidates running in some counties. That includes about 102 present Texas representatives seeking re-election, 32 others seeking other public jobs, 20 senators seeking re-election, and nine current senators looking for other public offices.

That means voters will get a chance to cast a ballot on the future of 163 of the 181 senators and representatives that made up the 1971 legislature.

VOTERS ALSO will get a chance to vote Nov. 7 on a proposed state constitution change paving the way for a complete rewrite or just a revision of the much-patched 1876 constitution, a move that many state leaders have recommended for years. There are some signs that voters are more interested now than when they elected the present much-criticized officials and legislators in 1970 — but not much.

There is some organization in Texas of The Common Cause, a nationwide organization headed by former cabinet member John W. Gardner.

There is a strictly state organization; Citizens for a Better Legislature, a small group of Austin citizens that decided to do something about the widespread lack of confidence in elected officials and legislators. The group wants higher salaries for legislators but demands in return more dedicated work and a revision of legislative rules and laws that would sharply curtail the tremendous political power of the house speaker and the lieutenant governor in the senate.

YOUNG PEOPLE are particularly active in preparation for 1972. There is Countdown '72, a branch of the nationwide effort to get the young voters to take part in politics. Others with similar ideals are Texas Youth Caucus and the United Students of Texas. "We promote candidates whose past record and future promise is honestly dedicated toward the interests of both young people and responsive political institutions," said a recent speaker.

Another group, Texas Public Inquiry eResearch Group TexPIRG says it has 19,000 students at the University of Texas who favor a paid professional lobby to represent young people on "public interest issues" before the state legislature. They say similar petition efforts are underway on five other Texas campuses.

A LOOK AT the statistics of the 1968 presidential election and the 1970 off-year elections show that more voter interest is needed if the true feeling of the Texas population is expressed at Austin.

In 1968, the last presidential year, Texas had only 4.7 million registered voters out of the 10.9 million population and only 3.07 million of those registered actually voted.

My Answer

Billy Graham

We have had several suicides in our community lately. I would like to know is suicide is a forgivable sin? We have come to the conclusion that a person who kills himself is not in his right mind, and therefore unaccountable. What do you think?

M.W. The taking of a life, even one's own life, must be classified as murder. "Ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him," says the Bible. I John 3:15.

However, even the courts exonerate a person from the charge of murder when insanity is established for this act. Demented people are not always responsible, and therefore unaccountable. So much for people who kill themselves in a state of mental incompetency.

But, just as some murders are committed in cold blood, I'm convinced that some people commit suicide who are not demented. They see their state of affairs as insoluble and unbearable, and convince themselves that death is the only solution. The Bible says that God has the power of life and death and if we presume to usurp the power that rightfully belongs to Him, we must pay. Suicide is one of the most cruel forms of murder because of its effect upon the innocent survivors. It almost always reflects upon the living, and has been known to cause tremendous psychological reaction, particularly among surviving children.

Since the Bible plainly indicates that repentance must come before death, it offers little or no hope to the suicide, except when it occurs in the life of a demented person.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Then was our mouth filled with laughter, and our tongue with singing. —Psalm 126:2
PRAYER: Dear Lord, we are thankful for Thy grace. Help us to know what it means to humble ourselves before Thee and to be receptive to that grace; through Christ our Savior, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . ." Amen.

Jayhawks Unthaw Bulldog Freeze To Break Ice In Overtime

Clarendon Finds Stalling And Weaving To No Avail

Clarendon turned back the clock, using a weave and a deliberate game to slow down HCJC in the Jayhawks' final home game of the season Thursday night.

It didn't work but the Bulldogs, ignoring a capacity crowd which had showed up hoping to see another scoring orgy by Archie Myers, came close.

Howard County won in overtime, 80-75, after it appeared the Hawks had tried everything possible to blow the duke. The Bulldogs, winners in only two of 12 Western Conference starts this season, would never drive for the basket until they had unclogged the middle.

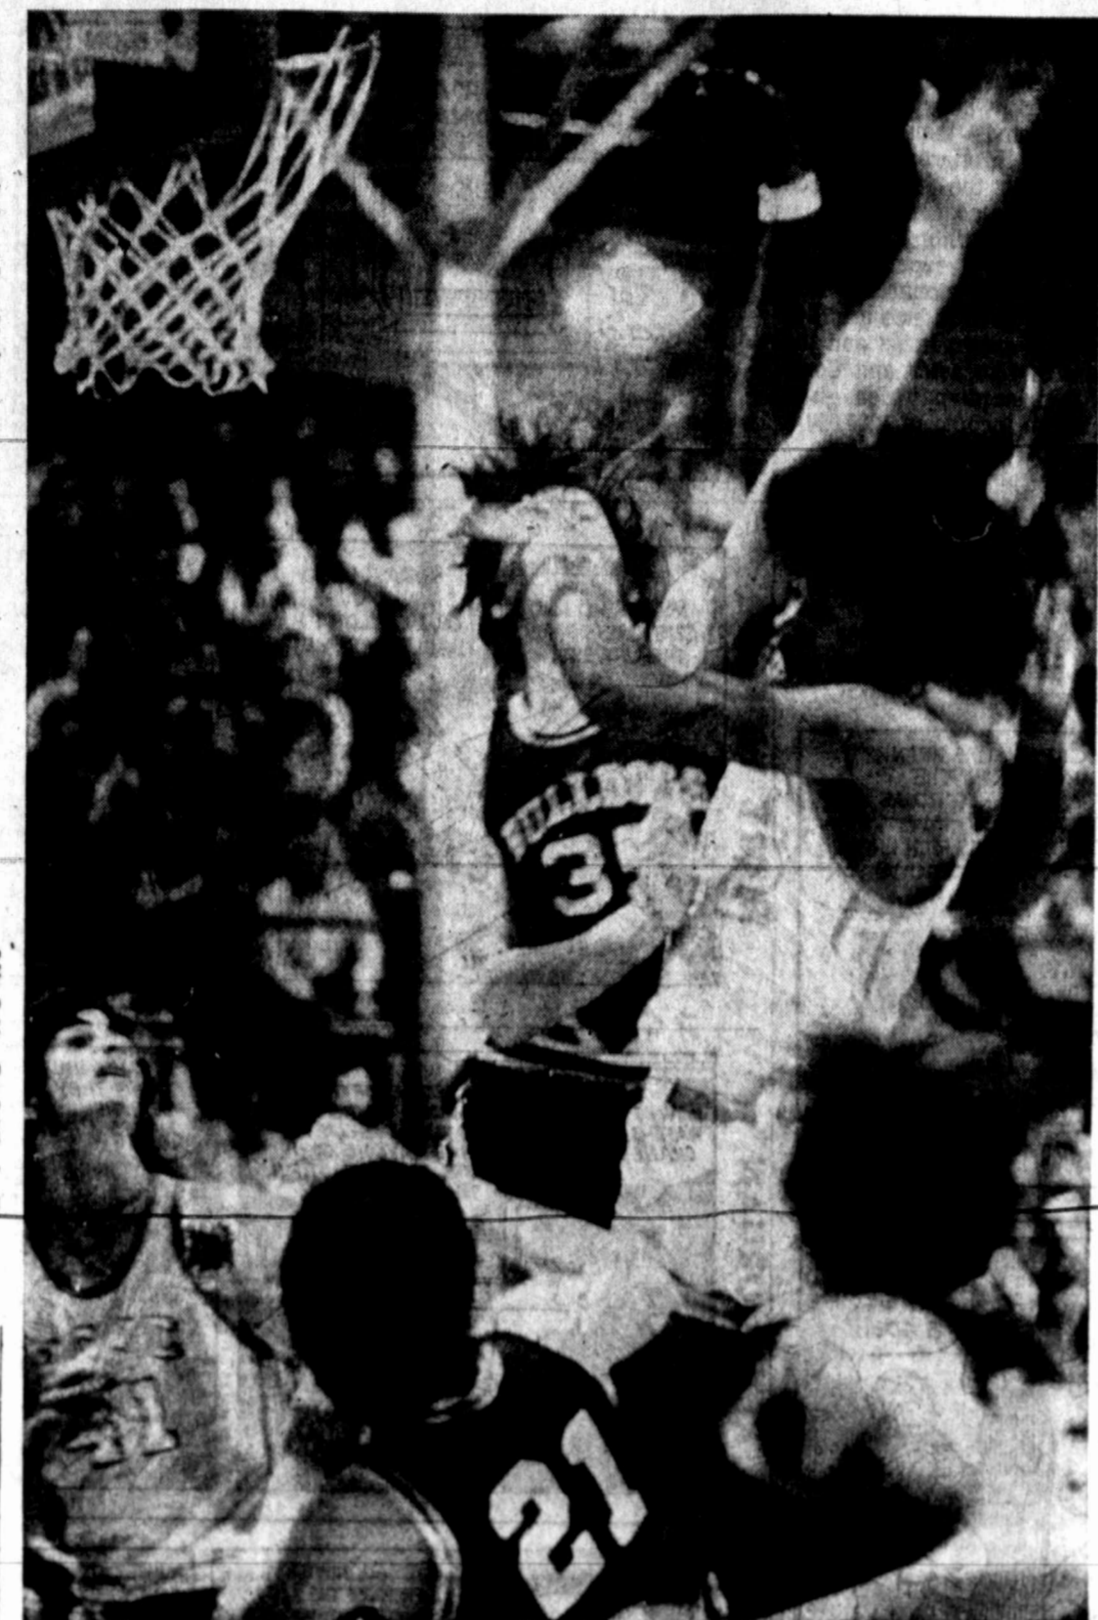

Clarendon did as good a job as anyone at stopping Myers, Archie, who carried a 36-point scoring average into the contest, was limited to 22 by the Bulldogs. At the end of regulation play, he had only 15.

Jake Rogans sent the game into overtime in the last 20 seconds when he hit a bucket to make it 67-67.

The Hawks called time with 13 seconds left and Myers took a potshot at the basket but it didn't go in.

Herbert Lee, who played aggressively throughout, put the Hawks ahead in the first few seconds of the overtime with a two-pointer but Wayne Carter tied it for Clarendon.

IT CAN GET ROUGH OUT THERE — HC's Lawrence Young (42) looks as if he's probing for a dental cavity in Brad Tarpley's mouth in the above picture. Actually, the two were contesting for a rebound under the Jayhawk basket. It took a while but Howard County beat Clarendon in overtime, 80-75, thus achieving their ninth Western Conference victory in 12 starts.

McDaniel Jumping To Super Sonics

SEATTLE (AP) — The Seattle SuperSonics of the National Basketball Association, already enriched by one player who jumped from the rival ABA, apparently are richer still Friday with the addition of another jumper, 7-foot rookie Jim McDaniel.

But a spokesman for the Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association, from whom McDaniel fled, said the team "wouldn't be too surprised if we remedied the situation." The Cougars took the first legal steps towards that remedy with a suit filed in Los Angeles against an attorney.

Steers Vs. Bobcats Eight Steer Seniors Play In Final Game

The Big Spring Steers tangled with the San Angelo Bobcats here tonight in their final game of the season.

The Midland Bulldogs already have clinched the District 5 AAAA title. Even though tonight's game is a district clash, the pressure has been released from the conference as the crown is already resting on the leader's head.

Coach Ron Plumlee said that all his seniors would play in the game tonight. It will be the final game for eight Big Spring seniors: Mike Randle (post), Robert Wallace (guard), Ted Smith (guard), Larry Pierce (post), Bobby Edwards (guard), Rondel Brock (post), David Carter (guard), and David Newman (guard).

The Steers pounded the Bobcats, 91-76 in their first match earlier in the season. The Bobcats are 2-27 in over-all action. They are 0-6 in the second half of district action and 1-12 in total district games.

Probable starters for Big Spring tonight are Robert Wallace, Mike Randle, Johnny Tonn, David Newman and David Carter.

The Steers are 16-15 over-all. A victory tonight will cap a

Queens Tangle Lefors

FORSAN — The Forsan girls face a tough challenger in the opening round of the Regional Class B basketball tournament at 7 o'clock this evening, when they challenge Lefors at Levelland.

Lefors, the 3-B champion, has won 28 games while losing only five. The Lefors fems have been averaging only 43 points a game but, like Forsan, they are noted for their defense.

Lefors knocked off Quitaque, 43-39, to earn the right to oppose Forsan. Lefors competed in last year's Regional.

Forsan carries a 23-7 record into the game. The Buffalo Queens have averaged 54.4 points a game, compared to 36.1 for the opposition. Within conference, Don Stevens' team has hit a 57.1 norm, compared with 27.1 for the foe.

The starting lineup for the Queens includes only two seniors, guards Kay Woodley and Debra Fryar. Two other guards, Darla Earnest and Kim Kuykendall, are also seniors.

Other first round games at Levelland will send New Home (7-B) against Follett (3-B) at 3 p.m.; Ira (10-B) against Balmorhea (13-B) at 4:15 p.m.; and Dell City (16-B) against Bula (6-B) at 8:15 p.m.

Follett is the favorite. The Panhandle team, coached by ex-Forsan athlete Charles Skeen, has been rated No. One in the state all season.

Winner of the tournament goes to the State Meet next week in Austin.

Westerners Win Over Wayland

SNYDER — Western Texas College of Snyder humbled the Wayland Baptist freshmen, 80-71, here Thursday night.

The win was the 11th of the season for the Westerners, compared to 12 losses. Walter Hanibal led the winners with 21 points.

Coahoma Girls Vie Saturday

COAHOMA — The Coahoma girls seek their 20th win of the season Saturday in Lubbock, when they challenge mighty Spearman in the first round of the Class AA Regional Basketball Tournament. Tipoff time is 11:30 a.m.

The Bulldogs won the right to face the defending state champions by defeating Fabens of District 6-AA in Fabens Monday night, 70-47.

In another first round game at Lubbock, Comanche tangles with Slaton at 1 p.m.

Championship finals will be at 8:30 p.m. All the tournament action takes place in the Lubbock Coronado High School Gymnasium.

Steerettes Dump Big Lake For 10th Volleyball Win

BIG LAKE — The Big Spring girls' volleyball team dumped Big Lake here yesterday, 15-11.

Sandra Magers paced the Steerettes to their tenth victory. She led her team in the serving department. Raylene Oliver and Kate Bradshaw backed Magers' serving with important spiking up front.

The Big Spring junior varsity team overpowered the Big Lake squad, 15-4, 15-8. Lisa Pipes led the Steerettes as high point server. Janey Rublo and Ruth Knight assisted Pipes up front.

The Big Spring girls' tangle Midland High next Tuesday. The girls' varsity is 10-1 over-all.

Hassler Killed In Daytona Raceway's Qualifying Round

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "Every time I race past that spot," said stock car hero Bobby Allison, "I'll remember it... that's where my pal Friday Hassler got it."

Allison began to choke.

"Friday and me began knocking around race tracks in 1959," he said. "Sure, our business is risky. Sometimes, folks get killed. But you never get used to it."

Hassler, a 36-year-old Tennessee native, was killed in one of Thursday's 125-mile qualifying races for Sunday's $178,000 Daytona 500.

His wife, Joanne, was amid the horrified crowd of 40,000.

A blowout on the Dodge driven by David Boggs of Morrisville, N.C., triggered a deadly chain reaction that gobbled up Hassler's car and a dozen more.

Allison buzzed to victory in the afternoon's second 125-mile race, but said, "I was thinking about ole Friday, especially when I raced past the spot where he was killed. I was winning, but I felt sick inside."

Bobby Isaac captured the event that claimed Hassler's life, covering 50 laps at the slowed-down speed of 127 miles an hour.

The front twosome in Sunday's lineup was settled last weekend when Isaac's tomato-red Dodge led pole qualifying at 186 m.p.h. followed by A. J. Foyt in a Mercury at 184.

Isaac and Foyt ran for exercise Thursday.

Allison outgunned three-time Indianapolis 500 champion Foyt in a Chevrolet in Thursday's second heat, averaging 178 m.p.h. Charlie Grotzbach was third in a Dodge.

Finishing behind Isaac in the first race were three Chevrolets handled by Clifton "Coo Coo" Marlin, Richard Brown and Jim Hurtubise. Mark Donohue was fifth in an American Motors Matador making its big track debut.

Moran, Tied For Lead, Surprises Fans In Phoenix

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Paul Moran, who has had nothing but problems on the pro golf tour, gets a break today in the second round of the $125,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament—he gets to play on the same course again.

"I had real good first rounds in both the Crosby and the Hope," the stocky, 33-year-old Moran said Thursday after his five-under-par 66 gave him a share of the first-round lead.

"Then they switch me around on a different track, and maybe with different partners and I don't know what I'm doing and I missed the cut both times."

"At least, this time, I'll know where I am and what I'm doing."

The format for the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am and the Bob Hope Desert Classic call for the players to compete over three or four different courses for the first three or four days. Moran was among the first-round leaders in both of those, before fading back and failing to qualify for the final round.

Moran, who has never come close to winning a major event in his three years on the pro tour, won only $10,971 last year and $4,969 the year before, less than expenses. He had to qualify Monday to get into this tournament.

He was tied for the lead with chunky Jimmy Jamieson, also seeking his first tour title, and lean Dale Douglass, a 10-year tour veteran. Douglass, who seems to have a liking for desert layouts, won on the same, 6,641-yard, par 71 Phoenix Country Club course two years ago and missed the title in Tucson by a single stroke last season.

Just one stroke back of the leading trio was a group of seven.

Partnership Is Slaton Monday

A partnership tournament open to all golfers will be staged at the Big Spring Country Club Monday — at which time a lot of the area players will be taking advantage of a national holiday.

Entry fee will be $5 per player. All money realized in the 18 holes of play will be returned to the winners in prizes.

Players with handicaps of 10 strokes and under will be paired with players boasting handicaps of 11 shots and over.

Entries can make up their own groups and choose their own starting times.

BSHS Track Team Goes To Midland

Coaches Glenn Petty and Bill Moore take their Big Spring High School track and field team to Midland Saturday for a triangular meet with Midland High and Midland Lee.

A regulation-type meet will be run, which means 14 events are planned. Twenty-eight boys will represent Big Spring in the cinder show.

Some of the Steers are nursing injuries. Mike McCormick, injured since last December, will not be available to the locals because of physical miseries.

The meet will get under way around 1:30 p.m.

Patterson To Wait While To Report

HOUSTON (AP) — Ray Patterson, the general manager who made the Milwaukee Bucks famous, won't become Houston Rockets president and general manager until May 1 but he actually has been working with the Rockets from the start.

Mickey Herskowitz, Rockets executive vice president, says Patterson was the first person Rocket owners talked with when they started to seek an NBA franchise last year.

"Wayne Duddleston and myself flew to Milwaukee to visit with Ray to seek his direction on the mechanics of getting a franchise," Herskowitz said. "And that's really how the friendship began and developed through the season."

Patterson, who helped get Kareem Abdul Jabbar and worked out the trade for Oscar Robertson, directed the expansion Bucks to a world championship in three years. He has similar plans for the Rockets, but it's going to take time.

"We are still trying to find out what kind of personality the team is going to develop," Patterson said. "The encouraging part is there is a great deal of physical talent there and there is a great deal of spiritual talent."

Local 9th Graders Dump Snyder Volleyball Squads

Two local ninth-grade volleyball teams grabbed victories from two Snyder teams yesterday.

The Big Spring Black's playing at Goliad, dashed Snyder Lamar's hopes as they came from behind to win, 14-15, 15-9.

Annette Picquet was high-point server with 12 winning serves. Christine Soldan and Helen Ray backed the Big Spring team with their serving and spiking.

The Big Spring Gold's, playing at Runnels, dumped Snyder Travis, 15-3, 12-15, 15-6.

Kim Trawick paced the Gold team by winning more serves than any other member of the squad.

The Black and Gold teams will meet Monday night in their next game.

Yearlings Claim Third Victory

Runnels Junior High ran its won-lost record in girls' volleyball to 3-2 by defeating Snyder Travis, 15-3, 15-12 here Thursday evening.

Janis Banks, Denise Burchell and Diane Pipkin played outstanding ball for Jane Upton's team.

Runnels returns to play in its own gym Monday, at which time it opposes Big Spring Goliad.

Four matches are scheduled, with seventh grade teams opening the action at 4 p.m.

Marquette Loses Center To Pros

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Marquette University center Jim Chones has signed a contract to play for the New York Nets of the American Basketball Association, the school's president said early today.

The 6-foot-11 junior center had informed Warrior Coach Al McGuire of the action late Thursday night.

Chones has averaged 20.6 points and 11.9 rebounds a game in leading second-ranked Marquette to 21 straight victories this season.

Hill Triumphant Over Ranger 5

RANGER — Nationally ranked Hill Junior College of Hillsboro won its 28th game in 30 starts by drubbing Ranger College, 80-75, here Thursday night.

Twins Decide

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column you said, "If identical twins really want to be 'individuals,' they should not dress alike."
I am an identical twin, and I disagree with you because my twin and I have been mistaken for each other just as often, wearing entirely different outfits as when we dressed alike.
Dressed differently, we had identify ourselves to everyone we met. ("I'm June, dressed in green today. Jean is wearing blue.")
We felt we were more individually identified when we dressed alike because then people would have to find a distinguishing facial feature, a mole, something personal in order to tell one from the other.

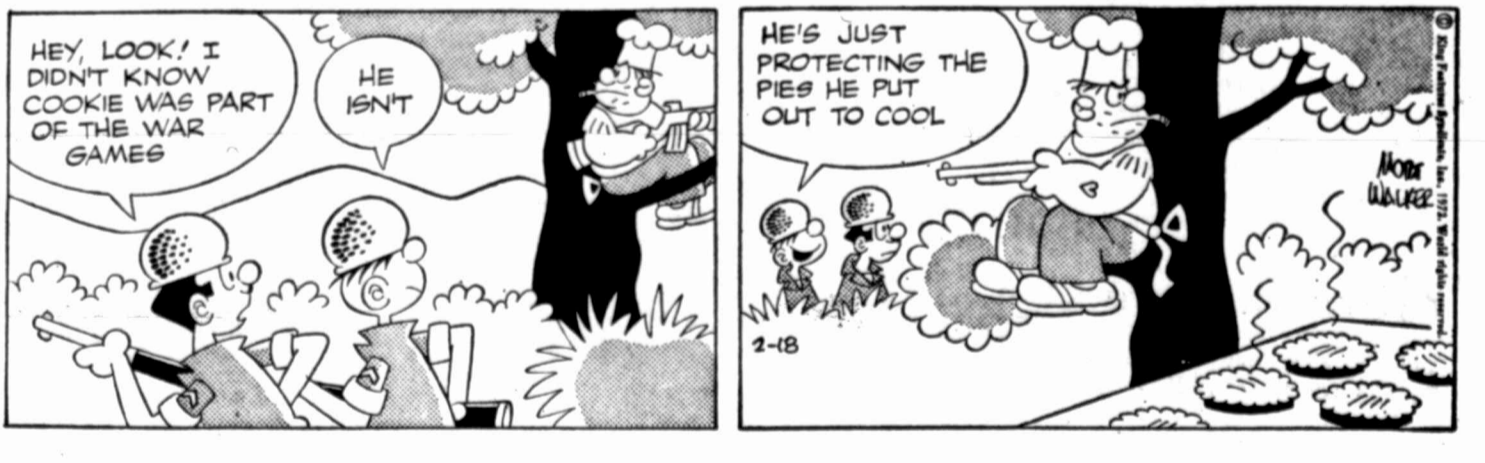

I have often heard the "Don't dress-twins-alike" theory to encourage their individuality, but I cannot believe that clothes stay at their house, and since I am an only child, I stay there. Sincerely, MRS. J.P.A. It's no hardship for me, but you, I maintain that when twins are small, and have no voice in their selection of clothing, most mothers will dress them alike because they look so cute. But as soon as they are old enough to express themselves, their individual preferences—indeed they have any—should be respected and encouraged. Twins who dress themselves identically are saying, "Look at right."

DEAR ABBY: How does a respectable man keep from falling in love with his neighbor's wife?
DEAR STARTING: He keeps a "respectable" distance from her.
DEAR ABBY: My boy friend and I are mature adults who are living together in an apartment near my parents' home. My parents are not crazy about this setup, but they have accepted it. The problem is this: When my folks go South for a month they want someone to make the twins or the individual. I am an only child, I stay there. Sincerely, MRS. J.P.A. It's no hardship for me, but you, I maintain that when twins are small, and have no voice in their selection of clothing, most mothers will dress them alike because they look so cute. But as soon as they are old enough to express themselves, their individual preferences—indeed they have any—should be respected and encouraged. Twins who dress themselves identically are saying, "Look at right."

LONDON (AP) — A member of the House of Commons called Prince Charles a "twerp" Wednesday, withdrew the remark when Tory members objected, then said the heir to the throne ought to "go and spend the next three months in the coal mines."
William Hamilton, a Labor member with a reputation for attacks on the monarchy, was attempting to introduce a bill to nationalize crown lands and the duchies of Lancaster and Cornwall, a princedom which gives Charles an income of $286,000 a year.
It was indefensible, he declared, that two mine workers would have to toil underground for 50 years to earn "as much as we give this young twerp in a year."
By a vote of 233 to 104, the House refused to admit his bill.

Takes Back 'Twerp' Talk

DEAR ONLY: I think you are right. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 6970, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069.

Acid On Tummy

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What forms the hydrochloric acid in your system? Are there certain foods that contain this? — Mrs. J.C.

Dear Doctor: Have been troubled with lack of hydrochloric acid for some time and taking tablets for this. Would lack of acid cause a bitter taste in my mouth? — R.E.H.

Hydrochloric acid — but in extremely dilute form — is one of the necessary gastric juices which help digest our food. It helps break down the food into forms that can be absorbed, by the intestine.

That does not mean we have to have acid foods in the diet to obtain this hydrochloric acid, nor do we have to eat special foods to obtain the ingredients it, it stimulates the release of acid.

What causes a lack of this useful digestive acid? Some ailment that prevents the specialized glands from doing their work! Pernicious anemia, once a hopeless and deadly disease, can do it — but today periodic injections of vitamin B-12 keep it under control. Disorders of the stomach can cause it, in which case medications can be given effectively. In some instances, very dilute hydrochloric acid can be given in water, but the amount has to be calculated carefully, so a physician must prescribe the correct dose. Medication that converts to hydrochloric acid may be used instead of the dilute acid.

Therefore if you find that you are lacking hydrochloric acid, do not feel it is because of something you aren't getting in your diet.

A special note to R.E.H.: Lack of acid can cause a bitter taste, along with other symptoms. But the important thing is to determine the cause of the lack of acid, and then take the appropriate steps to correct it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write about shingles, cause, treatment, duration. — A.W.

Cause: a virus. Treatment: medications to keep the patient as comfortable as possible. Duration: variable, depending considerably upon the patient's basic health. My small booklet gives further details, "The Facts About Shingles." Send 15 cents and self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for his booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

Talk To Parents

Jean Adams'
TEEN FORUM

MOTHER AT 15: (Q.) I am 15 and have a baby six weeks and two days old. The boy I had it by is very nice to me. I am planning to marry him next year. I like him, but I love this boy I went with before better.

I told him the boy I had the baby by was going to marry me. He said he wasn't going to let us get married. What should I do?
— Undecided in Washington, D.C.

(A.) Your former boy friend has no authority in this matter. But do not marry any boy just because he is nice to you. This would be another mistake added to the mistake you have already made.

Besides, at 16 you will be too young to marry. Talk to your parents. Ask them to help you find a way to make as few mistakes as possible.

CURFEW: (Q.) My mother insists that I must be in at 12:30 on Saturday night. I stayed out at a party one Saturday night until 1:30 and was punished. When I go to a party she has to have the address and telephone number. She also has to be sure there is a chaperone there. What should I do? Stop going to parties? — 15-Year-

Old Girl in Florida.
(A.) No. All the conditions your mother has set are reasonable for a 15-year-old girl. You should accept them and recognize that they are for your benefit as well as that of your parents.

Smithy's Shop At TT Museum

LUBBOCK — An authentic blacksmith shop, now appropriately enshrined not under a spreading chestnut tree but under the wide open West Texas sky on the Ranch Headquarters outdoor museum site at Texas Tech University, will be formally dedicated Tuesday.

The structure, completely restored and outfitted with its original forge, drill and grinding wheel, was moved to the Ranch Headquarters from the historic Rendenbrook-Spade Ranch.

Donors of the blacksmith shop to the Ranch Headquarters collection of historic structures depicting ranching's past will be special guests at the dedication ceremonies.

The donors are Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Chappell Jr., formerly of Lubbock and now residents of Waterford, Conn., and Chappell's sister, Mrs. Marian Bassham, Colorado City. A longtime employee and manager of the Rendenbrook-Spade Ranch and a ranching pioneer who, around 1917, helped construct the building, may be on hand for ceremonies at Ranch Headquarters at 11 a.m.

'Howard Hughes Is Alive And Well,' To Be Marketed

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A record about Howard Hughes is being released by the distributor of "The Battle Hymn of Lt. Colley" and "Harper Valley P.T.A."

Spokesman for the distributor, Shelby Singleton, said the record "Howard Hughes is Alive and Well" will be marketed in a few days.

The song was written by its singer, Sonny Hall of Houston, and another songwriter identified only as "T. Rainwater." It was recorded in Houston.

The song was written in 1971, before Clifford Irving's purported autobiography of Hughes came to light, Singleton said.
