Hoover Presents Plan For Balancing National Budget

Sales Tax And Economies Are Given Leeway

Reform Of Banking Laws Is Emphasized By President In Message To Congress Delivered Tuesday

Message Receives Scattered Applause; Democrats Go Ahead With Plans For Tax On Beer And Farm Relief

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Hoover told congress today how he thought the budget might best be balanced and the nation restored to prosperity, recommending a general sales tax, wholesale governmental economies and emphasizing reform of the banking laws.

His proposal, submitted in his last annual message to congress, received reaction among the members, ranging from warm praise to sharp criticism and indifference.

Beer Not Mentioned

The senate put on its best manners to hear a reading clerk drone out paragraph after paragraph of the communication, which, many prohibition-minded members were quick to note, made no reference to legalizing and taxing beer.

The house meanwhile paid little attention as the message was read there. The legislators milled about the floor, conversing in low tones. At the end it received scattered applause from the Republican side.

Pay Roll Cut Proposed

A good many were inclined to look askance at the sales tax proposal which aroused a bitter fight and was defeated last year. A recommendation for a federal pay roll cut averaging 14.8 per cent also was regarded as the forerunner fo a battle.

The Democratic leadership, soon to take full command of the government, heard the Hoover proposals and went ahead with its own plans to tax legalized beer as a means, with economies, of balancing the budget.

There was general agreement between Mr. Hoover and the Democrats on necessity for banking reform and action seemed in prospect to bring this about at this session.

Opposed To Postponement

In the field of international affairs, the president urged cooperation on disarmament, economics and debts. He reiterated opposition to

Hoover Expresses Regret At Wilkerson's Declining Post

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—President Hoover late today expressed "regret" over a letter received from federal district Judge James H. Wilkerson of Chicago, who sentenced Al Capone, asking that his name not be resubmitted to the senate for confirmation as a judge of the federal circuit court.

Wilkerson was nominated for the higher bench by the president during the last session of congress, but his name failed to be acted upon by the senate judiciary committee and the nomination died.

Mexican Is Given 2-Year Sentence

Ignacio Cervantez, a Lubbock Mexican, was convicted of murder without malice and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by a 99th district court jury at about 5:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The jury received the case at about 3 o'clock.

Cervantez' defense was that he was drunk the night Merced Ortega, also of Lubbock, was fatally stabbed in a scuffle here. The accused man, on the stand, testified he did not remember anything that happened. Cervantez called Ortega from the latter's house soon after midnight of October 30, and Ortega was stabbed. The wounded man walked into his house, possibly 60 feet, and bled to death in a chair.

District Judge Clark M. Mullican presided at the trial, and Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, was prosecutor. Hill Stewart defended Cervantez, a black-moustached Mexican.

DEFENSE STARTED

AUSTIN, Dec. 6 (AP)—Presentation of defense evidence in preparation for trial of a suit brought by the state, charging 15 oil companies and two petroleum associations with violating Texas anti-trust laws was started today in Travis county district court before a special commissioner.

If You Think Taxes Are High, You Ought To Live In Cardin, Where Rate Is $1 On Every $5

(By The Associated Press)

CARDIN, Okla., Dec. 6—Cardin, once a bustling zinc mining town, is a big municipal headache today to its few remaining citizens.

If you live in Cardin, once known as Tar River, you have to pay $1 in taxes for every $5 worth of property you own.

The municipal tax rate is 169 mills, which, added to the school, county and state levies, makes a total of 221 mills, or $221 on the $1,000 valuation.

Cardin's headache is a hangover from the roaring days when zinc ore brought $70 a ton and lead ore $100 or more, as compared with current prices of about $17 and $31. At that time the townsite contained 1,040 acres and Cardin was a sprawling mining camp of several thousand inhabitants.

In the short-sighted opulence of those days, the town voted $200,000 in bonds to build waterworks and sewerage systems.

The tax burden soon became oppressive. Residents on 1,000 acres seceded, after a court fight, leaving the bonded indebtedness to residents of the remaining 40 acres. That sent the tax rate skyrocketing to the

Settlement Of Share In Vast Smith Reynolds Fortune On Unborn Child Of Libby Started; May Total $18,000,000

(By The Associated Press)

WINSTON SALEM, N. C., Dec. 6.—Settlement of the estate of a youthful millionaire which may make the unborn child of Libby Holman Reynolds heir to as much as $18,000,000 has been started.

Benet Polikoff Winston Salem attorney announced today negotiations looking toward a final settlement of the estate of Smith Reynolds, 20-year-old husband of the former Broadway torch singer, were under way. He said he had conferred here last week with Alfred Holman, Cincinnati, Mrs. Reynolds' father.

Charges Dismissed

Polikoff has been counsel for Mrs. Reynolds since she was indicted for murder in connection with her husband's mysterious death last July 6. The charges against her and Albert Walker, Winston Salem friend of Smith's were recently dropped by Solicitor Carlisle Higgins for "lack of evidence."

The attorney refused to disclose what would be sought in the settlement but said a final agreement would not be reached until February so lawyers may be able to act "after the baby comes."

To Be Named "Smith"

Disclosure that she was to become a mother was made by Mrs. Reynolds shortly after her husband had been found mortally wounded in a bed room of their palatial Reynolds estate at Reynolds. She later said the baby would be born in January and would be named "Smith."

After A Hundred Years In The Saddle, Fort Russell Gives Way To Motorization

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (AP)—After a hundred years in the saddle America's first and most famous cavalry outfit is to give way to motorization.

With war department orders today abandoning Fort Russell, Texas, as the shifting of the First cavalry to Fort Knox, Kentucky, the horse passes out of existence so far as the picturesque organization is concerned. Even the mules are to be left behind when the cavalry regiment starts by motor transport for Kentucky, to be completely mechanized.

The First, organized by horsemen who fought across the wilds of the Mississippi valley in the Black Hawk war of 1832, will straddle their horses for the last time December 31, before taking up duties relating to motors.

Six officers and 540 men will be the last to leave Fort Russell. Twenty officers and 200 men of the First Cavalry mechanized, as the organization is to be known hereafter, already are at Fort Knox wrestling with machines instead of boots and saddles.

Norther Hits Area Tuesday

Temperature Drops Last Night To Below Freezing; Continued Cold Weather Is In Prospect For Thursday

A "blue norther" crept slowly across the South Plains Tuesday, and by 10 o'clock last night the mercury at Municipal airport had dropped to 28 degrees. No relief from the cold wave is in sight, the official weather forecast calling for continued cold Wednesday and Thursday.

Fair weather is booked with the dropping temperatures, according to the forecast for West Texas. High temperature at the airport yesterday was 60 degrees. At South Plains Pipe Line company the top reading was 65 degrees. Wind velocity last night was not excessive.

School Officials Seek Names Of Boys Who Egged Curtain

School officials are seeking the identity of several small boys who Tuesday night hurled four "ripe" eggs at curtain in the high school auditorium at the close of Rekab's program of magic.

Grand Nephew Of Colonizer Of Texas Is To Be Buried Today

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 6 (AP)—Funeral services for Stephen F. Austin, sculptor of note and grand nephew of the Texas colonizer, who died yesterday of influenza, will be held tomorrow. Austin was a native and lifelong resident of San Antonio.

Germans Turn Down Plan On Disarmaments

American "Davis Plan" Said To Be Unacceptable To German Nation As First Day Of 5-Power Conference Opens

May Alter Plan

Representatives Of United States, Great Britain, France, Germany And Italy Holding Meet At Geneva

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Switzerland, Dec. 6—The American "Davis plan," designed to attain something concrete in the way of disarmament, was declined today by German representatives to be unacceptable to Germany in its present form.

Differences between France and Germany over the questions of security and arms equality accused the first day of the five-power disarmament conversations to end in a stalemate.

The "Davis plan" proposed that arms be immediately scaled down and that a permanent commission be established to settle the details of security, equality and other difficult points.

A formal communique revealed that Baron Konstantin Von Neurath, the German foreign minister, had "reserved his opinion" after fully expressing the German attitude toward these proposals, which were advanced by Norman H Davis, the American representative.

The German foreign minister asked that several points be cleared up, informing the representatives of the other powers that he would refer the answers to his questions to Berlin.

The conferees participating—they include representatives of the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy—will meet again tomorrow.

Members of the American delegation said that today's meeting reflected a spirt of accomodation and that from the standpoint of frankness the atmosphere was better than ever.

Marchers Are On Way Home

Petitions Are Presented To Vice President, Speaker Garner And Other Officials In Washington Tuesday

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. — Sore-footed and weary from a long march over the cold pavements of the capital and hoarse from shouting, jeering and singing, hundreds of demonstrators climbed aboard their trucks tonight for a long journey homeward.

One line of vehicles was headed toward Baltimore to carry home those from Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and New England. The other trucks stayed to serve for another night as lodging for marchers from the south and west who planned to be on their way early in the morning.

Behind them the demonstrators left a series of protests, demands and petitions. They were handed to Vice President Curtis, Speaker Garner and other governmental officials at intervals in an orderly march from their roped-off encampment to the edge of the capitol grounds and back again.

Aggressive Plans Adopted To Shove Beer Bill By House Before Christmas

Heads Woodmen

At a salary of $36,000 De Emmet E. Bradshaw, above, has been chosen national president of the Woodmen of the World. General attorney for the organization's life insurance association for the past 16 years, Bradshaw was elected at a meeting in Omaha, Neb. He was nominated by U. S. Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas.

Democratic Leaders See Another Vote On Repeal Too

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Aggressive plans to push a beer bill through the house by Christmas were adopted today by Democratic leaders while their senate colleagues moved to get prompt action in that branch on both prohibition repeal and Volstead law modification.

By its first legislative action of the session, the senate sent to its judiciary committee the Glass resolution proposing repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and substituting a ban against the saloon. Senator Glass (D., Va.) its author, suggested the move, explaining he had received "reasonable assurance" the committee would give "prompt attention" to the measure and report on it.

Introduced In House

Drafted to its last detail, the Democratic sponsored bill to legalize beer and light wines was introduced in the house by Chairman Collier of the powerful ways and means committee, which handles all revenue legislation. Hearing on the measure, fixing the alcoholic content of beer at 2.75 per cent by weight and proposing a tax of $5 a barrel and 20 cents a gallon on wine, will begin before the committee tomorrow.

Forty-two witnesses, representing brewers, wine interests and wet and dry organizations, are to testify on the measure, which Collier estimated will return $360,000,000 annually in revenue.

Garner, vice president-elect, as congressman from the fifteenth Texas district, is Oscar (Concrete) Dancy, county judge of Cameron county, who gained local fame when he popularized concrete highways in Texas. The vacancy caused by Speaker Garner's election as vice president will be filled at a special election which it is estimated will cost $11,000.

Nations Seek Covenant Rule

Four Small Nations Launch Determined Move To Have Leaugue Covenant Apply In Sino-Japanese Dispute

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Dec. 6—Four small nations—the Irish Free State, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Norway—launched a determined move in the League of Nations special assembly today for firm application of the league covenant in the Sino-Japanese dispute.

They demanded that the factual sections of the report of the Lytton investigating commission be adopted as the basis of settlement. This report held in its section on "conclusions" that the Japanese did not act in self-defense in the Mukden attack of September 18, 1931—the incident which started the conflict—and that the state of Manchukuo, now administering Manchuria, was not set up by the people spontaneously.

Million Dollar Robbery Executed

CHICAGO, Dec. 6 (AP)—Swooping down on a postman and his armed guard in the relative quiet of early morning, five masked men executed a neat robbery in the heart of the loop today and made off with a pouch of registered mail consigned to the First National Bank.

Securities, coupons, bank paper of an inestimable value—perhaps $1,000,000 on its face, but difficult to turn into cash—were the probable contents of the sack.

Gold In Paying Quantities Is Reported Near Johnson City

SAN MARCOS, Dec. 6 (AP)—Reports that gold in paying quantities had been found on the Tate ranch 20 miles north of Johnson City brought old-time gold seekers up on their toes today.

Verification of the reports was lacking. Three men went from San Marcos to the ranch and said they found two mining companies had men on the job and three claims had been staked out.

It was not the first time such reports had circulated. Some of them date back a half century. Old shafts in the vicinity of the Tate ranch still are found.

PANHANDLE, Dec. 6 (AP)—Charges of robbery with firearms were filed here tonight against James K. Ffench, 38, and Frank Scrivner, 32, captured single-handed yesterday by Ed Deahl after they had robbed the First State bank, of which he is president.

County Attorney Frank Murray, who filed the charges, said he would ask that the two be held without bond.

AUSTIN, Dec. 6. (AP)—Governor R. S. Sterling today issued a proclamation calling upon Texans to expend as much money as possible for Texas made goods and products during their Christmas shopping.

New Reichstag Is Opened With 82-Year-Old Nazi Leading Tirade Against President Von Hindenburg

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Dec 6—General Karl Litzmann, 82-year-old Nazi, opened the new reichstag this afternoon with a tirade against President Von Hindenburg, shouting that history may curse him for driving the country into bolshevism.

"Hindenburg became the savior of Germany in November, 1914, with the assistance of Litzmann's brigade of infantry at Lodz," he cried, "that battle brought him a field marshal's baton. Today something more important than a baton is at stake.

Question Of Escape

"For Hindenburg it is a question of escaping the curse which history may lay upon him for having driven the German people into despair and delivered the country to bolshevism."

When he referred to Adolf Hitler as the greatest living German and the only man who can save the nation, the national socialist members cheered and the communists booed. The old general, elected because of the custom which tenders to the oldest member the privilege of becoming speaker pro tem, wore all his war decorations.

Chancellor Von Schleicher, who assumed that office yesterday, was present for the opening, a decree of dissolution ready for use if he needed it.

After the preliminaries the reichstag re-elected Hermann Wilhelm Goering, one of Hitler's chief lieutenants as speaker.

Commission Is Free To Award Contracts Now

Third Court Of Civil Appeals Orders Action Against Commission Removed; Mandate Expected Immediately

Area To Get Work

Contracts For Construction Totaling $4,000,000 Will Be Let As Result Of Move; Case To Be Tried Monday

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 6.—The Texas Highway commission was free to proceed with its construction program tonight, after a temporary injunction granted James E. Ferguson and others restraining it from awarding further contracts at this time was ordered dissolved by the Third Court of Civil Appeals.

The court acted on an appeal filed before it by James V. Allred, state attorney general, who, moving for the highway commission, took the case to the appellate court to decide law questions at once. The case was argued before the higher court on last Saturday.

Recent Act Cited

Ferguson, husband of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, governor-elect joined by Bailey Hardy and John Chamberlain, alleged as a basis for the injunction obtained in Travis county district court, that the highway commission could not legally pay out more money from the highway fund because appropriations voted by the legislature to the department had been impliedly repealed by a subsequent law, passed at the third special session of the legislature, authorizing the state to refund counties for proceeds of bond issues used in building state highways.

Another allegation was that the highway commission proposed to contract for construction in excess of its ability to pay from funds that would be available during the fiscal year ending on August 31 next.

Attacked Sufficiency

Allred refuted these claims and also attacked the sufficiency of an affidavit made by Ferguson to support the allegations to the extent an injunction should issue.

The court, in its opinion, written by Chief Justice James W. McClendon, upheld Allred in virtually all his contentions.

Attaches of the court said a mandate dissolving the injunction would issue immediately, after which the highway commission would not be restrained from proceeding to award contracts.

The commission was holding in abeyance the formal awarding of

Taps Sound Within Alamo's Gray Walls Again

Distinguished Company Of Pioneers Pay Farewell Tribute To Nettie Houston Bringhurst, Daughter Of Texas Patriot

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 6.—For the third time since the battle of the Alamo taps sounded within the gray walls of the old shrine for the dead as a distinguished company of pioneers, sons and daughters of the founders of Texas, paid their farewell tribute today to Nettie Houston Bringhurst, daughter of General Sam Houston.

In a silver casket covered with mounds of flowers, the six flags of Texas standing like sentinels in the back ground, the daughter of the great general lay, a faint light burnishing her graying hair, as civic leaders and aged veterans gathered inside the building where Sam Houston's soldiers of 1836 gave up their lives.

Mrs. Bringhurst was the victim of an automobile accident which occurred near Schulenberg Saturday night. She died in the Santa Rosa hospital early Monday of her injuries.

Today her body lay in state from 8 to 10 a. m., in the Alamo, as people of all classes filed past the bier. Funeral services were held at 10 a. m., the Rev. T. F. Sessions, pastor of the Alamo Heights Methodist church, opening the ceremony with a prayer which had for its theme the hope that lives of patriots will help to guide the ordinary man through times of stress and storm.

Only two other funeral services had been held in the Alamo, it was said by those who knew. One was for General Funston, 16 years ago, and a service was held shortly after the World war for unknown soldiers who had died in France.

Perhaps the most impressive feature of the simple ceremony for Mrs. Bringhurst was the placing of a parchment scroll containing the record of Mrs. Bringhurst's life, sealed in a metal container, in the casket.

When Knute Rockne, famous Notre Dame football coach, died, this was done for the first time, it was said. The scroll was made

"Flu" No Respecter Of Person As It Spreads Over City, Survey Of Illness Shows; Physicians Are Busy

THE butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker—All have the "flu" in Lubbock.

No respecter of persons, the disease, which has reached epidemic proportions here, has sent representatives of virtually all professions and occupations to their beds with head pains, chills, fever, and aches.

Many stores have been hampered by the thinning of their staffs, and several members in families are ill at the same time. The schools, including Texas Technological college, have had their attendance cut up to 20 per cent of the enrollments.

Lubbock physicians have been busy night and day attending patients. There have been scores of additional victims each day, a few of whom have been suffering of pneumonia. Pharmacists also are reported to have prepared hundreds of prescriptions in the past week.

NAMES don't mean anything, you know. A Lubbock youngster was having a wishing spell the other day—wanting a new tricycle, a horse, a dog, in fact, everything that a small boy can think of. And, to all wishes his mother answered that she couldn't afford to buy him all these things. Finally, the boy said with some finality, "Well, Clifford will bring them to me!"

But there are no Cliffords in this family so the mother asked some questions. "You don't mean Santa Claus?" she finally asked.

The yougster hung his head and then admitted, "That is who I meant. I couldn't remember what you called him."

DIFFERENT AMBITION

THIS thing we call ambition may be something else posing under the title.

At least, it was something else with a young woman to whom I was talking recently. Little more than 20 years of age she already has her master's degree. But it wasn't ambition in the usual clothes that put her so far so soon. She got all this education in this short time principally because she has always been overgrown.

"When I was four years of age people would not believe that I was less than six. When I was twelve I had the appearance of a 15-year-old. Long before I was 20 people thought I was at least that age," she asserts. "And for that reason, I found it necessary to get ahead in school. I was embarrassed to be in a class of children my age because I was always the largest one in the room.

"I let nothing be an obstacle in my advancement. I wasn't interested in what I learned except that this was a means to an end," she continued, saying that her one aim in life was to gain grades in school in order that she could associate with people of her own size.

Ambition may be something other than this traditional urge to acquire information. And that might not be such a bad hunch for parents and teachers who desire advancement for their children.

DR. KNAPP'S REASON

SINCE a proposal was made recently that technical courses be moved from Texas Technological college and that the institution be made a liberal arts college, we have heard many reasons why the change should not be made. Some of the best reasons probably were advanced by Dr. Bradford Knapp at a convocation of students and faculty members Tuesday morning.

The gist of much of his talk was that people of this section—the ones who send the largest group of students to the institution—want their boys and girls prepared for useful lives. This section is one where people earn a living by using their hands, he pointed out, and it is therefore fitting that their children should receive the technical education.

The need for a liberal arts education won't be denied by many. Most technical training is better if it has the background of general knowledge. Real culture doesn't hurt people whether they are making a living farming, running factories, or following the various professions. But a liberal arts education alone isn't going to fit many West Texas men for the business they will follow in life.

The argument of many, no doubt, will be that one should specialize after the usual college course is completed. There are few who do not believe that this is a good idea. But there are comparatively few young men and women who are able to finance the four years of liberal arts education and the additional technical training that will be necessary.

This same argument can be used by other colleges over the state. A liberal arts education is a wonderful thing to have but the technical training promises a means of livelihood and that is, after all, the thing most people are interested in first.

Old-Time Resident Of Slaton Recalls Area's Early Days In Paper Article

The howl of coyotes, the barking of prairie dogs, the whirring of soaring coveys of quail! G. L. Sledge of Slaton remembers those wilderness sounds as having been virtually at his doorstep when he came to Slaton, he indicated in an article in The Slaton Slatonite.

Mr. Sledge said he came to Slaton in 1911 with D. C. Hoffman from Texico, N. Mex. They returned to Texico and came back with their families in a wagon, a hack, and a buggy. Following trails which sometimes dimmed between ranches, they traveled through many fenced pastures and wire gates, on their way to Slaton by way of Muleshoe, Olton, Plainview, Hale Center, and Lubbock. Occasionally they saw a windmill in the distance.

W. F. Maxwell was Slaton's first railroad agent, and W. H. Smith, the present agent, the second, Mr. Sledge recalled. W. P. Florence, County commissioner-elect, was Slaton's first school superintendent, and taught in a small frame building at first, Mr. Sledge related.

The pioneer remembered killing rattlesnakes where the city hall now stands.

"When I came to Slaton, it was just a wide prairie," he explained. "We could drive from Slaton to the canyon in any direction without crossing a fence. We didn't have many to cross going to Tahoka, Post, or Brownfield."

Had "Small Part"

Mr. Sledge said he had "a small part" in building all Slaton's schools and churches, its city hall, and other improvements by taxation. His sons worked in building of several of Slaton's principal business houses, including the Harvey house and the Santa Fe reading room. He built and operated "the only livery stable Slaton ever had," and there ranchmen, cattle inspectors, and cowboys gathered, and an occasional cowgirl stabled her horse there.

"I must have had satisfactory buggy teams . . . I can cite you several youngsters who used my teams and won their ladies," wrote Mr. Sledge.

COTTON YIELD INCREASED

BRADY, Dec. 6 (AP)—That this year's cotton crop in McCulloch county will go several hundred bales above the average yield, is shown by the last ginners' report of 25,899 bales, which is a 900 bale increase over the total production in 1931.

Since there is still considerable unpicked staple in the county, this year's total cotton yield is estimated at approximately 30,000 bales. The total 1931 yield was 24,999 bales.

Babe Didrikson Blames AAU Official For Suspension

The Babe Asks Investigation; To Fight Case

And The Boss Takes Up Cudgel For Mildred, Too; Blame Is Laid To Dallas Official Of National Athletic Group

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 6.—Homer Mitchell, president of the Employers Casualty company, and other officials of the same firm are going to wage a fight for the reinstatement of Mildred Babe Didrikson to the good graces of the National Amateur Athletic union. Mitchell, tonight, was waiting for the National A. A. U. to make the next move following a telephone conversation today with J. Lyman Bingham here to make a thorough investigation of the case at Mitchell's expense. Bingham told Mitchell he would ask consent of Avery Brundage, A. A. U. president, to accept and if granted the request would notify Mitchell by telegraph.

Got Her Picture in Paper

No reply has yet been received, so Mitchell, Didrikson, Col. M. J. McCombs, her coach, and other officials are waiting for the A. A. U.'s next move that was started last night when Daniel J. Ferris, A. A. U. secretary-treasurer in New York, announced the suspension of Babe because of an advertisement appearing in newspapers throughout the country quoting her as praising a certain make of new automobile and carrying with it a picture of her going over a hurdle. Learning of the suspension last night, Miss Didrikson insisted she knew nothing of the testimonial credited to her concerning the new car, and that the A. A. U. had no right to suspend her.

Charging that Foster Jacoby, secretary of the Texas division of the A. A. U. was responsible for whatever connection Miss Didrikson had with the new car testimonial, Mitchell was bitter today in his determination to fight for Babe's amateur status and said he probably would file suit against the automobile agency to prove that she had nothing to do with the advertisement.

Mitchell said that Foster Jacoby recently visited Babe and they left together for the automobile agency, where Babe was shown the new car. Gordon Perry of the automobile agency and Jacoby are alleged by Mitchell to have asked Babe to sign an endorsement of the car. She refused, explaining it would make her ineligible for A. A. U. competition. Mitchell claims Jacoby told her it would not injure her amateur standing, but Babe insisted it would and refused to sign. She did give Mr. Perry a picture of her leaping a hurdle, an event she won at the Olympics, and it was this picture used in connection with the car.

Miss Didrikson today sent Ferris the following telegram:

Babe Sends Telegram

"I ask that judgment be withheld and that I be permitted to retain my amateur standing and eligibility until the facts can be investigated. I ask for an immediate investigation."

Mr. Mitchell and Miss Didrikson visited Gordon Perry today where the testimonial originated and were told by him that he had sent the "copy" to the New York office with his own notation that "this is O. K. for use." He did not claim to them that he had received permission from Babe to use it.

Miss Didrikson tonight was stout in her denial of giving Perry or Jacoby permission to use any kind of testimonial. She divulged the information that Jacoby, who is director of Dallas play parks as well as an A. A. U. official, previously had been active in endeavoring to secure contracts for her to turn professional. Miss Didrikson tonight claims the position of having been tried and found guilty on circumstantial evidence. Together with her employers, she is waiting to hear from the high officials of the A. A. U. concerning the requested investigation. Foster Jacoby was out of his park board office throughout the day and all efforts to locate him at his office and at home tonight were fruitless.

Salary Limit Seen For Minor Clubs At Big Session

(By The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oo., Dec. 6.—A salary limit for minor league baseball clubs seemed almost a certainty today when the International League capitulated after two days of argument and agreed to fix a maximum as recommended by the committee of five of the National Association of professional baseball leagues.

The lilt adopted by the International circuit calls for a payroll expenditure of $39,000 a season per club with no more than $6,500 paid monthly during May, June, July and August. This leaves $13,000 available for salaries of extra players from the opening of the season to May 1 and from Sept. 1 until the close of the season.

Adopt Player Limit

At the same time the International circuit adopted an 18 player limit. This number includes a manager, in case he plays, and is exclusive of the pilot if he is a bench manager.

George Weiss of the Newark club cast the only dissenting vote on the two questions.

The action of the International circuit coincides with similar ones approved by the American Association several weeks ago.

Only the Pacific Coast League remains adamant to a salary limit among the Class AA circuits and the Association and International owners took the coast magnates in conference tonight in an effort to win the far west leagues over to the salary limit proposition.

H. L. Baggerley, president of the Pacific group, announced his league would stand pat on its former action and would not accept a limitation. He said his league clubs reduced salaries from 30 to 50 per cent in mid-season and by refusing to adopt a salary limit would in no way interfere with the American Association and International League.

Two Clubs Sold

Today's gathering, the last of the informal meetings before the thirty-first annual conference of the National Association of professional baseball leagues opens tomorrow, produced prospective buyers for the Kansas City and Toledo Clubs in the American Association.

Lee Keyser, owner of the Des Moines club of the Western League, revealed himself as a possible purchaser of the Blues but the name of the Toledo bidder was undisclosed. Receiver Al Reuben of the Mudhens identified him only as a Toledo business man.

Keyser declared that last October he obtained an option on Kansas City and that when he went to exercise it on Nov. 15 directors of the club refused to make the sale but said they would mail him a counter proposal.

Since that time, Keyser said, he has been in constant touch with the Kansas City directors and the new proposal was supposed to be mailed to him at this meeting.

Thomas J. Hickey, president of the association, attempted to get in touch with George Muehlebach, present owner of the Blues, to see if the second proposal had been mailed to Keyser but was unable to reach him by long distance telephone.

Keyser said if he purchased the Kansas City club it would in no way affect his operation of the Des Moines club in the Western circuit. Mike Kelly, president and owner of the Minneapolis club of the American Association, holds an interest in the Des Moines club but is not connected with the proposed purchase of the Kansas City franchise.

Definite Announcement Today

After the association meeting President Hickey announced something definite in regard to the situations in both Kansas City and Toledo would be announced tomorrow.

A move for friendly territorial change in the Western and Texas Leagues was started when it was announced Tulsa and Oklahoma City had been granted permission to make overtures to the Texas circuit for membership.

Jack Holland, Oklahoma City, said he told the Western magnates that if he was allowed to move that club to the Texas circuit he would operate a Western league club at Lincoln, Neb.

J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas group, said his league would be glad to receive Oklahoma City and Tulsa but that he was in no no position to start negotiations. At the same time Holland and Art Griggs of the Tulsa club intimated they were waiting for Gardner to make the first move.

Captains-Elect For 1933 Grid Teams Come Half From Line, Half Backfield

NEW YORK Dec. 6. (AP)—A cross section of the youngsters chosen to lead college football teams into action next fall shows the pendulum of superiority between the line and the backfield, shuttling back and forth year after year, has stopped dead in the middle for 1933.

Of 32 captains-elect, 16 will bark whatever orders are needed from the backfield, while the same number will rise violently from the line to stir up the morale when it is running low. So far as these indicate a trend, it is toward the choice of ball-carriers.

Yale, Harvard Change

Yale and Harvard both have broken with a somewhat persistent tradition by choosing their new captains from the backfield. Jack Dean, a fullback, takes over the honors of Carl Hageman, at end, at Cambridge, while the Eli leadership passes from John Wilbur, burly tackle, to Bob Lassiter, fleet halfback. At Princeton, however, the captaincy passes from Josh Billings, a guard, to Art Lane, a tackle.

Columbia, Syracuse, and Michigan, among others, have shifted leaders from the line to the backfield. Brilliant Cliff Montgomery, quarterback, succeeds Steve Grenda, guard, at Columbia. Frank Tisdalt, fullback, replaces Tom Lombardi, a tackle, at Syracuse. Stan Fay, halfback, takes over the honors Ted Williamson carried at end for Michigan.

Neither Army nor Navy, however, chose to pick their captains for 1933 beyond the first line trenches. Army merely replaced one great guard, Milt Summerfelt, with another, Harvey Jablonsky. Navy shifted from Jim Reedy, at guard, to Hugh Murray ,at end.

Ohio State Needs Two

Ohio State alone chose co-captains, a guard and an end.

Of the 32 colleges noted, ten halfbacks, four fullbacks, and two quarterbacks made up half the captains-elect, while six tacklers, six ends, and four guards acquired the remainder of the titles.

They are: Backs—Cliff Montgomery, Columbia; John Buonnano, Brown; Bob Lassiter, Yale; Pete Zimmer; Chicago; Stan Fay, Michigan; Herbert Warner, Amherst; Joseph Shields, Springfield; James Kelly, Swarthmore; Ed Danowski, Fordham; Walter Tropp, Ursinus; Michael Fasco, St. Lawrence; Bill Pendergast, Manhattan; Frank Tisdale, Syracuse; Herman Walser, Illinois; Harry Temple, New York U.; and John Dean, Harvard.

Linemen—Albert Krankota, Duquesne; Sidney Gilman, Ohio State; Charles Reiss, Holy Cross; Charles Schiele, Missouri; Win Anderson, Colgate; Hugh Murray, Navy, all ends; Art Lane; Princeton; Bill McGee, Hamilton; Bill Fehring, Purdue; Don Lynch, Niagara; , Ray Burger, Virginia, and Jim Finch, Penn Military, all tackles; Charles Kingston, Trinity; Carl Davis, Williams; Harvey Jablonsky, Army, and Joe Gallus, Ohio State, all guards.

Mike's Cop Now

Mike Gibbons, former "phantom of the ring" when he was one of the world's greatest welterweights, is now a copper. Appointed physical director of the St. Paul, Minn., police department. Mike will instruct the force in boxing, wrestling and disarming tough customers.

Southern AAU Authority Is To Help Babe

National Chairman Passes Buck To New Orleans Man; May Ask Dallas Athlete To Testify Before Southern Board

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 6. (AP)—Lawrence Di Benedetto, chairman of the registration committee of the Southern Amateur Athletic union, said today he had instituted an investigation into the claim of Mildred Babe Didrikson, famous woman athlete, that she did not grant permission to an automobile firm to carry her endorsement in an advertisement.

Miss Didrikson last night was disbarred by the union from further amateur competition.

Mr. Benedetto said the case had been referred to him by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the National Amateur Athletic union, because the registration committee here has initial jurisdiction.

Writes Letter To Babe

He said that as soon as he learned of Miss Didrikson's claim, he wrote her a letter today asking her to furnish him with the details. He said also asked similar information of Col. M. J. McCombs, director of athletics for the Employers Casualty company, at Dallas, where Miss Didrikson is employed.

Miss Didrikson had requested that the union make an investigation.

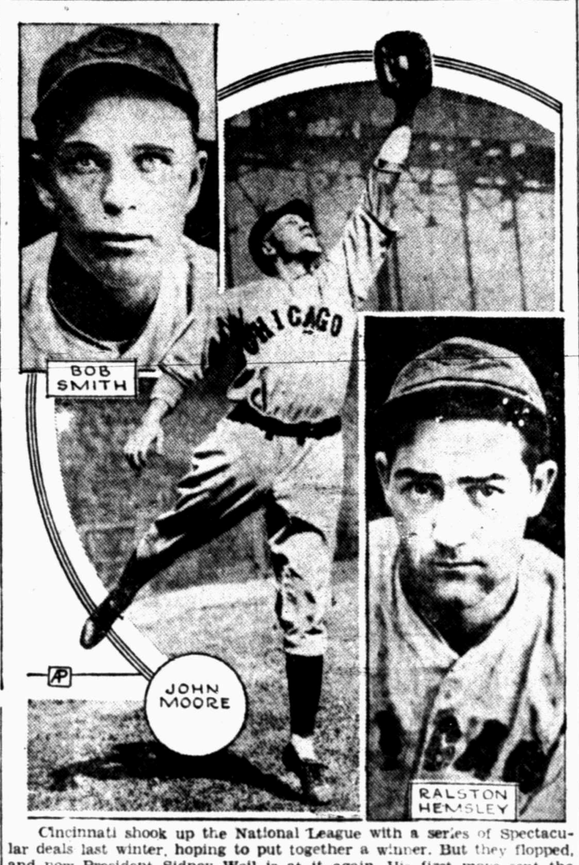

"As soon as the committee receives this information," Mr. Benedetto said, "it will arrive at a decision in the matter. If it is necessary, we may ask Miss Didrikson to come and testify before the committee."

Olton Gridders And Coach To Be Guests At A Dinner

OLTON, Dec. 6 (Special)—Members of the Olton High school football squad and Elmer J. Moore, their coach, will be guests at a dinner Friday night in the high school gymnasium. The public has been invited.

Girls of the Lasso club are sponsors of the dinner, which they also will serve, under direction of their sponsor, Miss Lily Wilkins. Miss Annis, home economics teacher, will assist them.

Reds Open Campaign For 1933

Cincinnati shook up the National League with a series of Spectacular deals last winter, hoping to put together a winner. But they flopped, and now President Sidney Weil is at it again. His first move sent the illustrious Babe Herman to the Chicago Cubs in exchange for Pitcher Bob Smith, Catcher Ralston Hemsley, and Outfielders Lance Richbourg and Johnny Moore.

Big Six Conference Faces Financial Trouble; To Let Teams Schedule 9 Contests

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 6 (AP)—The annual gathering of the Big Six sports clan ended today with bargaining for 1933 and 1934 football games.

The faculty council cooperated in a movement to assist the financially embarrassed athletic departments by granting permission for each member school to schedule nine football games next season, the same as last, instead of eight.

Faculty members tabled a proposal which would allow graduates of junior colleges to compete in intercollegiate athletics during their first year of college instead of waiting a year to satisfy the residence requirement now in the by-laws.

The professors' attitude toward the proposal was described by Dean S. W. Reaves of Oklahoma as "unfavorable," but no action was taken.

Howard Jones Eases Up On Grid Work For Trojan Team

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6. (AP)—Fear that his University of Southern California football squad might become stale if given too much work in preparation for its game with Notre Dame here Saturday caused Coach Howard Jones to ease up on practice today.

Word filtered from behind the locked gates of Troy the workout this afternoon did not include even so much as dummy scrimmage and although the drill was brief, Coach Jones let it be known the remaining practice sessions would be even shorter.

Cage Game Is Off; Lubbock To Take Trip

Proposed Game With Slaton At Lubbock High Tomorrow Night Postponed; Westerners May Play Crosbyton

Lubbock High school's opening basketball game, scheduled for Thursday night, has been indefinitely postponed, Coach Swede McMurry said at practice yesterday afternoon.

A game tentatively arranged with Slaton, to be played on the Lubbock High gymnasium court tomorrow night, was postponed because of an attack of flu which has hit the Slaton forces, it was said, and Paul Wright's request for postponement was granted.

May Play Crosbyton

No game is slated here this week, but the Westerners may journey to Crosbyton for a Friday night encounter.

A trip to Big Spring and San Angelo is scheduled for Lubbock's Westerners next week. The Big Spring Steers are due to entertain the Westerners on Friday night of next week and the San Angelo Bobcats are the opponents and hosts on Saturday night.

Coach McMurry is not announcing a schedule for the season pending the outcome of the District 1 athletic executive committee meeting at Plainview next Tuesday. At that meeting the question of organizing a basketball conference consisting of the Class A schools of the district, corresponding to the football conference, will be raised and discussed. It is possible that a plan will be worked out permitting the schools to arrange a double schedule for the winter and to play for the district championship. The championship, however, would be strictly unofficial and would not be in any way connected with the Texas Interscholastic league district tournaments.

Something Every Car-owner Should Know. . . . .

WHEN you start your car in the morning, your oil is in the crankcase. Your oil pump immediately starts pumping the oil.

But it takes several minutes, at the least, for even the quickest-circulating oils to reach all parts of the motor. During that time, your motor turns over 3,000 to 5,000 times!

What happens to the unprotected parts of your motor during that time? Engineers say that your motor undergoes, during that period, half of all the wear it suffers!

Only one oil can give you full protection during the starting period . . Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil! It is the only mineral oil that penetrates and combines with metal surfaces. Other oils drain back into the crankcase during idle periods, leaving parts dry.

A "Hidden Quart" of Germ Processed Oil stays up in your motor and never drains away!

The "Hidden Quart" is always on duty, protecting every part from the second you touch the starter. It protects you from costly starting wear and gives your car longer life.

Like most good oils, Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is thoroughly dewaxed and circulates freely at subzero.

Wrong Diagnosis?

AT A TIME when an influenza epidemic is sweeping practically every community in the nation, a report of the Committee on Costs of Medical Care recently submitted doesn't seem as such a bad suggestion.

The place of the old familiar "family doctor" in the general scheme of things would seem, offhand, to be almost beyond the reach of change. But the report makes suggestions which eventually replace the family doctor with something like the "family health and disease prevention center"—if you can swallow so cumbersome a title.

Surveying the whole field of medicine in the United States, the committee recommends that medical service be furnished largely by organized groups of physicians, dentists and nurses, set up around a hospital or clinic. Costs should be placed on a group basis, with tax funds used where necessary. Public health service should be extended, and the medical profession should devote increased attention to the prevention of disease.

In all of this, obviously, there is something very like an approach to state medicine; and it is a little bit hard to see just what place would be left for the old-style general practitioner, who knows the names, case histories, dispositions and family skeletons of his patients and who is to them a sort of combination of healer and old family friend.

Indeed, the American Medical Association has already criticized the plan as an approach to socialized medicine. Spokesmen for the association have said that the proposal would "substitute mass production for private practice," to the harm of doctor and patient alike.

Back of it all, of course, there lies a fundamental economic problem. Many, many people cannot afford the medical care they need; at the same time many, many physicians are not making a living wage. This report seeks to find a way out of these difficulties.

But it is just possible that the real cure lies deeper than a mere reorganization of the medical profession. The wage-earner's inability to pay for the care he needs, and the doctor's inability to get the income he deserves—aren't these a part of a larger problem whose solution depends on a restoration of economic health to the whole community?

In the long run, what we need to aim at is a restoration of prosperity on a broader and firmer base than we have ever had it before.

INEFFICIENT REGULATION

One of the weaknesses of our system of regulating utilities, and most glaring in relation to railroads, is that deserved relief from oppressive requirements can be obtained only in the extremity of need. In this sense regulation remains a political matter.

Regulatory bodies are usually too mindful of the political forces cracking the whip of tenure of office over them to preserve the judicial mind. Among the results is that if railroads hope to obtain any relaxation of the conditions imposed upon them, they must represent it as compelled by the alternative of disaster.

So much for generalities. At the moment the ebb tide of traffic renders the hardships of which railroad men complain unusually acute. It reinforces their plea for the correction of fundamental injustices but not to the extent of compelling quick action.

Meanwhile, the carriers will have to meet the pinch of poor business as they have met it before, by appropriate economies. It has already meant adding substantially to the number of unemployed, and involves remorseless pressure for lower rates and the incessant demand for additional and largely duplicating transport facilities.

Even after the Interstate Commerce Commission and congress are thoroughly alive to the plight of the railroads, there will remain the work of overhauling an inconsistent and wasteful system of transport regulation.

Beer may be brewing in Washington, but if Congress has no better luck than the average home-brewer we may expect his apology, "It's not as good as the last batch," to become a White House statement.

The back-to-the-farm drift this year has brought the farm population up to 32 million—only 200,000 less than that of 1910, the record year. That 200,000 was only a trifle compared with the crowd that went back for Thanksgiving dinner.

This country is always going to the dogs, but never has.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Blessed be the Lord God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting: and let all the people say, Amen. Praise ye the Lord.—Psalms.

Suggestions Interesting

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Col. Edward M. House's slate of six candidates for as many cabinet posts, when Governor Roosevelt takes over the presidency, is altogether unlikely to be adopted bodily. Nevertheless, it has its interest, as a basis for cabinet speculation.

Colonel Edward M. House

At the very top of the list, the colonel's choice of so reputedly strong an internationalist as Newton D. Baker looks questionable. This is especially true with American public opinion naturally trending decidedly in the direction of nationalism, due to the latest effort of Uncle Sam's European debtors again to scale down if not entirely escape repayment of their war obligations to him.

Political and economic conservtism perhaps matter less in the secretary of state than in any other cabinet member. The former war department head, however, is regarded by liberals more askance than the average conservative, because they consider him a deserter from their own ranks. Even Owen D. Young (who is not mentioned by Colonel House, but is by various other cabinet dopesters), despite his "big business" affiliations, probably would be a more popular appointee than the Clevelander to the rank of chief adviser to the new administration.

TO THE COLONEL'S nomination of Senator Cordell Hull of Tennessee for the treasury secretaryship the only objection to be anticipated is that the Tennesseean is by far the greatest tariff authority in the upper house of congress and that his services are sure to be urgently needed on Capitol Hill in connection with legislation to rationalize America's trade relationships with foreign countries.

A further consideration to be taken into account is that Senator Carter Glass' claim on the treasury (if, at 74, he cares for the place), of which he was head under President Wilson, will be hard to dispute, as his due for making what all politicians agree was the most telling speech of the last campaign in Governor Roosevelt's behalf.

A treasury possibility for whom it is safe to say the demand would be much more emphatic than it is if he were nationally better known is President Melvin A. Traylor of the First National bank of Chicago. Being a financier (and of a high order), Banker Traylor naturally is generally set down as a reactionary. He is, as a matter of fact, an exceptionally enlightened liberal, with an understanding of credit and currency hokus-pokus to make him a mighty formidable one, and a grasp on the farm problem which would qualify him as well for the agriculture as for the treasury department.

WHEREAS, ONE might have supposed Colonel House would name Bernard M. Baruch for the treasury, he is, instead, the colonel's pick for the war portfolio.

It was a judicious preference on the colonel's part, at that.

In the treasury Broker Baruch, to a certainty, would be assailed from all sides as Wall Street's representative; in the war department the same excuse would not exist for attacks on him.

Apparently (his personality is virtually an unknown quantity to the country in general, notwithstanding the frequency with which he is referred to in the newspapers) the New Yorker is a man of extraordinary ability. For all that, it is open to doubt that an individual with his stock exchange antecedents would be otherwise than a weak spot in any president's cabinet.

A more suitable selection, either for the war or navy secretaryship, is seen by many Democratic politicians in Major John S. Cohen, editor of the Atlanta Journal, an Annapolis Naval academy product, and a temporary senator last winter, by appointment to the vacancy created by the death of Senator William J. Harris of Georgia.

EXACTLY WHAT Colonel House had in mind in choosing Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland for the justice department it is difficult to fathom.

The Marylander undeniably is an admirable executive, a first-class lawyer and a public servant of unimpeachable integrity, but the attorney generalship is precisely the post to which his appointment would give the deepest offense to every progressive element identified, during the recent campaign, with support of Governor Roosevelt.

In the state department (where, as previously observed, conservatism does not so much matter) the Maryland governor doubtless would perform excellently. It is hard to think of a worse justice department suggestion.

The progressives want the appointee to be Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, who, however, does not care for it; failing him, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard or Donald R. Richberg, famous as a pro-labor lawyer in industrial cases, all of whom probably are too advanced for the president-elect; finally, Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, who, perhaps, is a real possibility.

THE COLONEL'S nominee for the postoffice department—Daniel C. Roper of South Carolina, internal revenue commissioner, vice chairman of the tariff commission and assistant postmaster general in the Wilson regime—is easy to dismiss with a sentence. James A. Farley's title to the postmaster generalship beginning next March 4 can be considered established already.

For secretary of the interior, it is sufficient to say of the colonel's choice of Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico (a progressive Republican who joined Governor Roosevelt's forces at just the most effective psychological juncture in the recent campaign) that the southwestern solon is one of the ablest and highest-minded public men of today and an eminent suitability to hold any cabinet position.

Governor Roosevelt's personal preference is said to be Governor George H. Dern of Utah, but presidents do not always get their personal preferences.

Ex-Governor Frederick D. Gardner of Missouri also is mentioned.

Tech Prexy Is To Fight Move

Dr. Bradford Knapp Talks To Students On Proposal To Remove Technical Courses From Local Institution

A fight to keep Texas Technological college's courses intact was promised by Dr. Bradford Knapp, the president, at a convocation Tuesday morning in the gymnasium to discuss a plan proposed by a state legislative committee to remove technical courses from Tech to A. & M. college and the University of Texas.

"We're going to fight; we believe in the things we're doing out here, and we believe this great section of the state will rally to our support," President Knapp declared. "Any educational institution designed especially for a section of country must fit the needs of that country, and that's the reason Texas Tech fits the needs of West Texas.

"Why you take an area 175 miles from Lubbock and there's only one other state institution in it, while down there, in the same size area, there are a dozen institutions. Why, they've got so many they had to put two of them in one town.

"Any institution, no matter how noble it might be, with only a liberal arts course would not fit the needs of West Texas," Dr. Knapp said. "For West Texans are a people who want their children to be useful. They're not afraid of work. They want their children educated for useful lives and ones which will aid in developing this section.

"Let us not be too deeply concerned with any proposed legislation to harm our school," the president continued, citing the law which created the school and the scope and view of those having a part in its establishment. "They wanted a school where the practical things were taught with the emphasis on the useful. I just can't see Texas Tech without any engineering, without any agriculture and without any home economics.

Fitted For Useful Lives

"The great thing they can't see about Texas Tech is that every student is being fitted for a useful life," the doctor continued. "The old-fashioned liberal arts college had no objective. It fitted its graduates only for posts of civic and political importance.

"We've got so much blamed country out here that we've got to prepare some of our folks for the country," he said. He then declared there were more graduates of agriculture from Tech engaged in actual farming than from any school he knew of.

Must Be Democratic

"Education must be democratic. It must be of the people, it must be near the people. When education gets to a point where all of the thinking must be done by the men of one institution, then it loses its democracy. What if all of the school children in the nation had to go to Washington to school?

"I want to see a great University of Texas, a great Texas A. & M. I have no jealousy for either school but I know that it is better for a state as big as Texas to have more educational institutions.

"I believe this institution was established pretty largely of the thirst of the heart of the people of West Texas, an institution which is able to adjust itself to the thinking, the consciousness and the heart of the people."

The president cited the cost of the average student in Tech, declaring that it was lower than any other state institution of its rank except one teachers college and that it was "only a few dollars more than two junior colleges."

Would Not Save A Cent

"I contend that if you were to transfer all the students of Texas Technological college to some other institution, it wouldn't save the state a single solitary cent." He told of making a table of institutions and their costs, selecting 72 from over the nation and declared every one of them exceeded the cost in Tech except one. He said Tech had more students in engineering than seventy-odd of the chief engineering schools of the country.

He said new objectives were continually being made in education and declared that he would like to see students go from Tech with four attributes, namely:

"That they had character. Second, that they should not lose their democracy, the touch of the common people. Third, that they should not be hunting easy jobs and fourth, that they be useful students—not afraid of getting their hands soiled."

He urged students to impress the importance of their school to their parents and seek their support in all of its endeavors.

confiscatory figure of $780 on the $1,000 valuation. However, and Cardin succeeded in lowering taxes to $58 on $1,000.

But taxes didn't stay down, zinc and lead prices dropped, mining operations slumped, people moved away. Values fell and the tax rate started up again. The higher it went, the more property became delinquent. And the more delinquent property, the higher the tax rate.

Cardin's surviving taxpayers would like to find a way of denying the town's birthright.

Hoover Message

postponement of the December 15 war debt payments but said he would have recommendations shortly to overcome the exchange difficulties incident to these payments.

It appeared tonight that the Democrats, assured of majorities in both house and senate by cooperation from the Republican independents, would go ahead on their own program for the session—the beer tax and farm relief. Mr. Hoover asked no new agricultural legislation.

The chief executive devoted the longest sections of his comparatively brief message to criticism of the nation's banking system as having "failed to meet this great emergency." He did not specify methods of reform.

Proposes Sales Tax

As for balancing the budget, he recommended the proposed manufacturers' sales tax take the place of the "unjust and discriminatory" special manufacturers' excise levies enacted last session. He would exempt from the sales tax necessary food "and possibly some grades of clothing."

Other budget reorganization of the government—with executive orders to be placed before congress "within a few days' for rearranging more than 50 federal departments and agencies.

Reduction in appropriations under those made by the last congressional session of $830,000,000, making a net economy of $580,000,000 because of an offsetting increase of $250,000,000 in "uncontrollable items."

Reduction of funds for public works from $717,262,000 to $442,769,000.

Elimination of some veterans payments arising from "ill-considered legislation."

Cotton Net Gains Of 11 To 15 Points Made. Livestock Medium Weights And Heavies Lower. Grain Corn Goes To Season's Lowest

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 6. (AP)—Cotton prices trended upward today although trading was rather quiet except for a last hour spurt of activity when futures rallied smartly in sympathy with an advance in stocks. The close was very steady at net gains for the day of 11 to 15 points.

Private estimates during the day guessed the crop at 12,316,000 and 12,019,000 bales, respectively, and one authority estimates ginnings to December 1 at 11,225,000 bales.

The market opened rather firm as Liverpool cables came in about 3 penny points better than due. Private cables said the market was firmer on a somewhat firmer tone in Egyptian. Manchester cabled there was less inquiry for cloths and a small demand for yarns. First trades here showed gains of 5 to 6 points and prices continued to improve after the start owing to the strength of other markes and January advaneed to 5.84 by the end of the first hour, March to 5.76 and May to 5.78 or 3 to 15 points above the close of yesterday.

The market ruled steady but quiet most of the morning and during most of the afternoon when prices gradually eased off owing to lack of support, making lows for the day at 5.65 for March and 5.75 for May or 9 to 11 points below the early highs. The market had a good rally in the late trading and prices advanced 9 to 11 points, duplicating the earlier highs and making a new high at 5.86 for January. The close was at or near the top with the three most active months showing net gains for the day of 13 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Dec. 6. (AP)—Cotton was generally higher today on trade buying and covering prompted by steady cables, light offerings from the south, and the strength of the stock market.

After selling up to 5.79 during the early trading, March reacted to 5.68, but firmed up again closing at 5.77, with the general market closing steady at net advances of 11 to 16 points.

The opening was 4 to 6 points higher. Offerings were comparatively light and active months worked about 9 to 14 points net higher during the forenoon.

Some buying was reported for continental account. Offerings increased slightly at the advance of 5.88 for May contracts, causing a moderate setback but prices firmed later on renewed covering and trade buying stimulated by the late strength in the stock market. Most of the active months made new high prices for the day with May advancing to 5.90 and closing at 5.88. Closing quotations were within 1 to 3 points of the best for the day.

While trading was more active than yesterday, general business was restricted by the disposition to await Thursday's government report. Two more private reports were issued with figures on indicated crop ranging from 12,018,000 to 12,316,000 bales. The average of six private reports points to a crop of about 12,212,000 bales.

Stocks Enjoy Best Rally Of Month On Tuesday; Gains Of $1 To $6 Registered

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 6. (AP)—Stocks enjoyed their best rally in almost a month today, but had to get along without much encouragement from commodities or bonds.

The share market showed no further traces of disappointment over rejection of prohibition repeal; on the other hand, prices were firm from the opening. Fairly liberal gains in the first hour were held through the morning and early afternoon, a circumstance that doubtless had its effect on the short interest which briskly elbowed its way out in the last half hour. Net gains, ranging from a fraction to more than 5 points, averaged into a rise of 2.6 points, the largest since November 10. Turnover increased to 1,110,458 shares.

Hoover's Message Spotlight

President Hoover's message crowded out other news, although a glance at the foreign exchange tables showed Sterling firm and French francs at another new low this time down to the gold point. Also, reports reached Wall Street of further and rather substantial shipments of gold from England, although it was assumed in banking quarters that the latter had nothing to do with the December 15 debt installment.

Stocks rose just as easily as they had recently declined. The market in several cases was thin, but its technical position was strong and short repurchasers generally found offerings limited.

Gains Are Good

Union Pacific's gain was more than 5 points, American Telephone's about a point less, Santa Fe's nearly 4, and Allied Chemical's 5. Automobile stocks assumed considerable group activity, even though it fay be a little early for the usual preshow demonstrations. U. S. Steel had a net gain of 2 3-4, American Can, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Tobacco "B," Case, North American, Southern Pacific, New York Central and Northern Pacific 2 to more than 3, and General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Bethlehem Steel and Standard Oil of New Jesey, among many others, about a point each.

Safeway Stores was pushed down about 5 points under heavy selling evidently inspired by dividend uncertainty; it recovered partially. International Telephone also weakened in response to its Spanish situation; otherwise, soft spots were few.

Livestock

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 6. (AP)—Medium weight and heavy steers were again under pressure in the day's trade and selling levels scaling around 1000 lbs. and above were reduced from 15 to 25. Consignments of light steers and yearlings found a fairly good outlet at steady to weak prices. Best long yearlings in Chicago brought 7.40 and a few other loads at this market made 7.00@7.25, but no weight steers were quoted above 6.75. Other centers reported a few loads of better grade steers and yearlings at 6.25@6.75 but the majority of offerings had to sell around 4.25@5.75. Fed heifers and mixed yearlings sold largely at 4.00@5.25 with a few sales listed at 5.50@6.50. Only a limited number of stockers and feeders were offered and steady prices prevailed. Majority of replacement steers sell at 2.25@5.25. Receipts for two days this week at eleven markets total 109,100 as compared with 109,565 last week and 123,851 the same period a year ago.

Unevenness prevailed in the hog trade at various points today, some markets listing values as steady to ten higher while others were 10 to 25 or more lower. St. Louis had a top of 3.45.

Fat lambs cleared at steady to 25 higher in a moderately active trade. Majority of desirable kinds sold at 5.00@6.00 with a few loads at 6.10@6.15.

Grain

FORT WORTH QUOTATIONS

FORT WORTH, Dec. 6. (AP) — Wheat was in good demand but other light offerings on the Fort Worth cash grain market found selling slow.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat, No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing 52 1-4@53 1-4. Barley No. 2 nominally 31@32; No. 3 nominal 30@31. Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. 66@68; No. 2 kaffir 85@87.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn, No. 2 mixed 38 1-2@39 1-2; No. 2 white 41@42; No. 2 yellow 40@41.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats, No. 2 red 23@24; No. 3 red 22@23.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 6. (AP)—Smashing of the season's bottom price record for corn today plunged all grain value downward despite sensationally bullish crop reports concerning United States winter wheat.

Suggestions were current that the government final crop estimates on corn Dec. 15 would show a total corn supply of 434,000,000 bushels larger than was in sight at the corresponding time last year. Stop-loss selling by speculative holders of corn broadened out suddenly, and found the market devoid of aggressive support.

Corn underwent a maximum fall of 1 1-2 cents a bushel, but later rallied somewhat, closing unsettled 5-8 to 7-8 under yesterday's finish, with wheat 5-8 to 1-cent down, oats at 3-8 decline to 1-8 gain, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents setback.

Before succumbing to the influence of bearish action of the corn market, wheat was governed mainly by monthly unofficial crop summaries which put the condition of domestic winter wheat at 72.6 and 74.6, compared with 79.2 a year ago. The lowest previous condition ever known was in December, 1922, when the percentage was 75.2, in addition to the low condition of winter wheat, a decrease of about 6.3 per cent in acreage was shown. A crop of about 430,000,000 to 442,000,000 bushels of winter wheat was suggested, compared with a 25-year average of 400,000,00 to 787,000,000.

At the new low levels in corn, the fact became apparent that some interests were accumulating fresh holdings. Decidedly unfavorable weather predicted for the corn belt aided rallies oats chiefly followed corn.

Provisions weakened with hog values and with grain.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Dec. 3 1-2, 45 1-8; May 47 1-8@1-4, 48 5-8@3-4; July 47 1-2@5-8, 48 7-8@49. Corn, May 47 1-2, 28. July 28 5-8@29 1-2.

Lamb County Tax Collector Indicted

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 6. (Special)—Gaston Patterson, former Lamb county tax collector, today was indicted by a Lamb county grand jury for fraduilently converting to his own use $1,725.41 of the county's funds.

Patterson resigned his office Nov. 22 after a suit filed by Meade Griffin, district attorney, seeking his ouster.

Manila, P. I., is to have radio police patrol service.

Magician Stages Performance Here

A crowd of about 500 persons, enlivened by small boys who raced from the front row to the stage steps each time the mystifier asked for volunteers, saw Rekab the Magician and his company in an hour and a quarter of sleight of hand and illusion last night in Lubbock High school auditorium. Rekab also gave a matinee performance.

Humor was abundant in Rekab's presentation, which was without the weird settings and bizarre artifices of some magicians. His line of chatter was as amusing as it was diverting, and Rekab and an assistant made perhaps half a dozen trips into the audience. His attractive young woman assistant had auburn hair and spoke very much as would a Lubbock young woman. She was the principal in mental telepathy and hypnotic suspension acts. In short, there was no attempt to create effects, but simply to amuuse and to confound.

Rekab's wizardry ranged from the usual pulling of bunnies from hats and innocent bystanders coats to a Chinese ring trick, which drew comment, and an illusion, substitution of a woman for a man, which climaxed the performance.

The City Parent-Teacher council sponsored the appearance of Rekab here. Net receipts will be used in paying for corrective treatment of indigent children having physical defects.

Weatherford Woman Injured In Car Mishap Here Tuesday

Mrs. Lester Gramm, 38, of Weatherford was severely bruised in an automobile accident in the 400-block of Avenue H about noon Tuesday.

The Weatherford woman suffered head briuses and an injury at the base of the spine, it was reported at West Texas hospital, where she was being treated last night. An X-ray examination showed Mrs. Gramm suffered no fractures. A Bynum-Stahler ambulance carried the injured woman to the hospital. Details of accident, in which two automobiles figured, were not learned at the hospital.

Joseph King Is Buried Tuesday

Joseph King, 97, a resident of this county 13 years, was buried in Lubbock cemetery Tuesday afternoon following funeral services conducted at 2 o'clock by Elder John T. Smith of Broadway Church of Christ at Bynum-Stahler chapel.

Mr. King's death, at the home of a son two miles east of Lubbock, was attributed to pneumonia. Mr. King is survived by five sons and three daughters.

Highway Case

approximately $4,000,000 worth of construction pending outcome of the suit, which was filed on the eve of an advertised letting.

Case To Be Tried Monday

When the appelate court brought in its decision, Allred and Ocie Speer, attorney for Ferguson and the other plaintiffs, were arguing before Judge Carl Runge, presiding in the court of Judge J. D. Moore where the case originated, over setting the case for trial on its merits.

Later, Judge Runge sustained a general demurrer filed by Allred agianst the original petition, but Speer was given leave to amend the petition to conform with findings of the appellate court. The case then was set to be heard on its merits next Monday.

Meanwhile, it was expected the highway commission would meet to award pending contracts. Members of the commission were not in Austin. Gib Gilchrist, state highway engineer, said he assumed contracts held in abeyance pending dissolution on the injunction would be awarded as soon "as we get loose."

Case Is Cited

Allred cited the commission to the case of Duncan et al vs. Boyd et al, "a decison by the same distinguished court of civil appeals," in which he said the court held an order "dissolving a temporary injunction operates instanter."

"This decision has never been overruled, and the attorney general's department is in hearty accord with the same," Allred wrote Gilchrist.

"You are advised therefore that in my opinion, the highway department may proceed to award contracts upon bids submitted upon your notice of letting on November 28 and 29. Of course, as held by the court of civil appeals, the policy and wisdom as to the letting of these contracts is a matter entirely up to the good judgment and discretion of the commission. This discretion should be exercised reasonably and at all times with the best interests of the state of Texas in mind. This department knows nothing as to the reasonablenses of the figures in the bids submitted or as to the wisdom of letting these contracts; we, therefore make no commitment ca same."

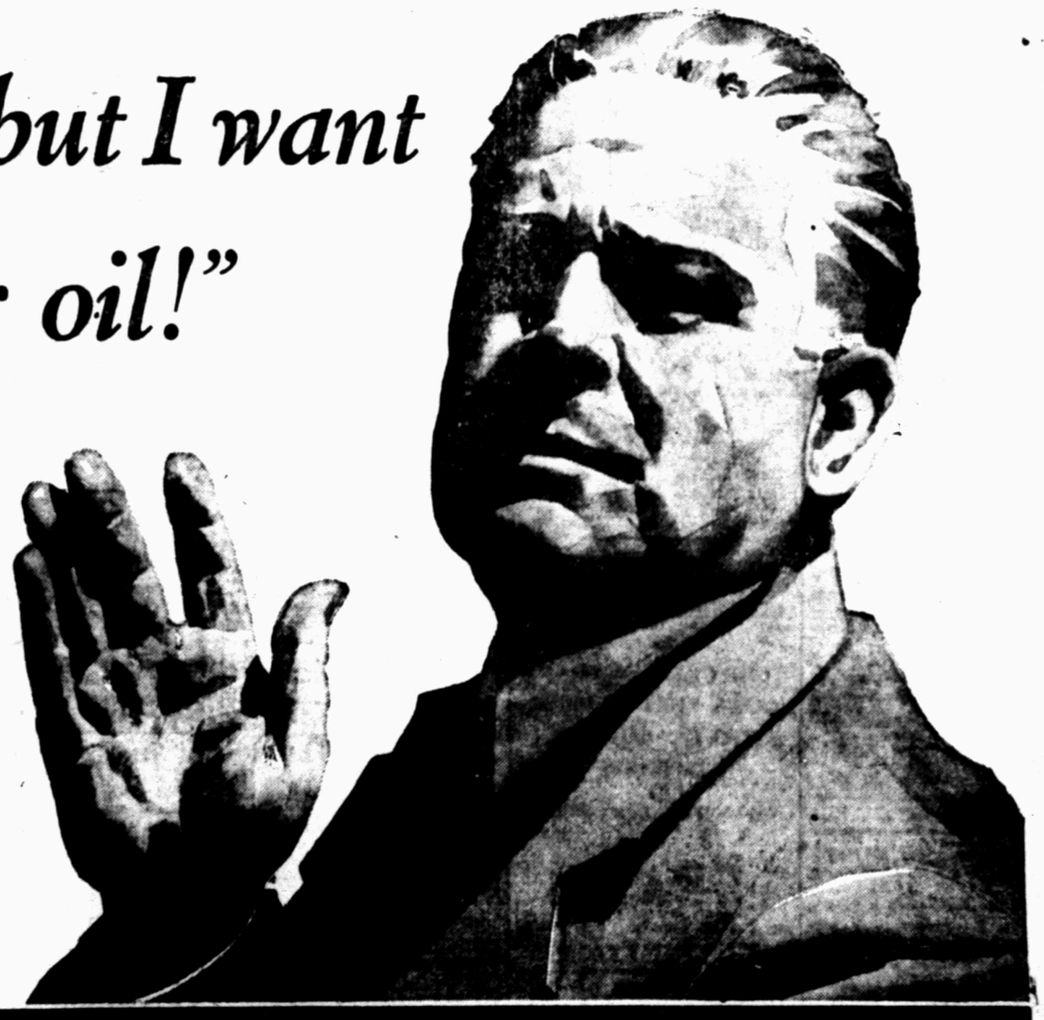

Dissolution Of Injunction To Aid Lamesa Relief Work

LAMESA, Dec. 6 (Special)—Dissolution of a temporary injunction obtained by James E. Ferguson against the Texas highway commission will assist a Lamesa Chamber of Commerce committee in alleviating unemployment here, if last week's statements of committeemen remain correct.

The committee, of which J. R. Lowrie is chairman and V. Z. Rogers, Louis B. Reed, and William A. Wilson are other members, indicated that if the injunction were made permanent, Lamesa would loose $5,300 allotted it by the Reconstruction Finance corporation for November and December. Further employment work was curtailed after the committee was informed officially of the restraining order.

"ME—I like to drive around 30-miles-an-hour. But I want my oil to be that 100-mile-an-hour oil—Gulf Supreme!

"Why? It's as simple as ABC. The oil that can take the punishment of 100-miles-an-hour is a better oil! It's a better oil at ANY speed—from 10 to 80!

"It gives you more of what every oil should have. Extra richness ... extra protection against wear ... extra stamina!"

Gulf Supreme has proved its amazing "fighting qualities" in two of the stiffest tests an oil could get ...

It successfully lubricated a special test motor developing nearly twice the heat of the average speeding engine—for 14 consecutive hours!

And it amazed racing drivers by outperforming special "racing oils" at the Indianapolis Speedway! In a torpedo-like Duesenberg racer, it circled the track at speeds almost as great as two miles a minute! Under Official AAA supervision, it made an average speed for this one-hour non-stop run greater than 100-miles-an-hour!

Start now to use Gulf Supreme. Because it can take super-punishment, it will save you money, minimize repairs, and lengthen the life of your motor!

WARNING! ... OIL that isn't good at high speeds, isn't good enough at ANY speed!

Uncle Sam Is Ready For Yuletide's Mailing Rush But As Usual It Hasn't Begun In Lubbock; Instructions Given

Uncle Sam is ready in Lubbock for Santa Claus, but that happy fellow as yet hasn't begun his Yuletide rush here. So said Postmaster John L. Vaughan Tuesday. It is the postmaster's prediction that the mailing business for the holidays will begin in earnest December 19.

Plans for the last minute mailing rush, though less extensive than usual, have been completed. Ten assistants have been employed as mailing clerks, drivers and carriers. Only three additional trucks will be used for delivering parcels in the residence section. As many as 18 extra employees have been used during the holidays in former years Last season 12 assistants were added.

Station To Be Expanded

The station at Hemphill-Wells will be expanded, the postmaster said. Mailing clerks from the main office will be transferred to that station as they are needed during the week before Christmas. The store usually employs one or two persons to assist at the station in wrapping and addressing packages.

In past years it has been necessary to lease a building to take care of incoming parcels but the extra space will not be needed this Christmas, the postmaster believes.

Asks Early Mailing

Mr. Vaughan expressed the desire that local residents, in order to insure safety in the handling of articles, start mailing the holiday packages immediately. It is almost impossible during the last minute rush to "handle with care." The postal rules for wrapping and addressing are as follows:

"Address plainly with ink. Parcels must contain a return address Pack and wrap securely. If fragile articles must be shipped, pack them in excelsior in double corregated pasteboard cartons. Sender must inform mailing clerk what the package contains. It is necessary to address packages on only one side although it is permissable to address both sides."

Must Wrap Carefully

The postmaster said that it is almost impossible to send fragile articles during the rush without having them broken, even when they are properly packed and wrapped. The postoffice will not insure them without inspection.

Often senders are reluctant about telling what is in the packages. Mr. Vaughan explained that the practice is necessary because of the danger of handling broken articles in poorly wrapped parcels. Employees often suffer severe cuts while handling them. This danger can be avoided, he explained, if senders will designate the nature of the contents.

December 24 will b the busiest day of the season for postal employees. Every effort will be made, Mr. Vaughan said, to deliver all mail received on that day.

Sues Crooner For Serenading

Alleging that the crooning of Don Galvin, above, at a theater in Louisville, Ky., had damaged her peace of mind, Mrs. Suzanne Nall, shown in court below, sought redress to the tune of $10,000. Mrs. Nall asserted she fainted when Galvin sang her a song from the theater runway and that since then she has lost 20 pounds. The jury was unable to agree after the crooner had sung the same song in court. Mrs. Nall gave her age as 45.

Civic Clubs' Council Is Aiding Crippled Children

Council Performing Great Work In Lubbock Area

A mender of broken bodies, a benefactor to hopeless children, drifting into lives of infirmity, pain, despair. That is the personification of the Lubbock Crippled Children's council, one of the South Plains' most benevolent organizations pledged to the mighty humanitarian task of repairing the disfigured, distorted little bodies of the region's unfortunate children.

Sponsored by four civic clubs of Lubbock, Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, and American Business, the council is to provide medical and surgical attention for hundreds of little cripples throughout this section.

Maxey Is Chairman

J. B. Maxey is council president; Neil H. Wright is vice president, H. C. Pender, secretary, and B. G. Williamson, treasurer.

The organization is based on the Amarillo unit, which sponsored the chapter here. Only recently organized, the Lubbock council hopes to follow in the steps of the parent organization, which between January 1, 1932, and June 28, showed this record of cases handled:

New cases, 69; re-observations, 100; X-rays, 40; photographs, 29; operations, 17; anesthetic, 13; new braces, 9; braces repaired, 3; hospital days, 487; house visits, 56; non-orthopedic cases, 2; dressings, 328; physio-therapy treatment, 87; and artificial limbs, 1.

Clinic Held Here

The Amarillo council early last summer conducted a clinic at Lubbock sanitarium. At that time unfortunate children, suffering of paralysis, club feet, scar contractures resulting from burns, tendon injuries, infantile paralysis, cleft palates, hare lips, joint dislocations, rickets, and a number of other diseases, ailments, and bone irregularities, were treated.

An annual charity minstrel is planned for the support of the work of the newly formed Lubbock council. The first of these programs, "Scandals of 1932" will be presented Friday night at Lubbock high school auditorium. A cast of Lubbock people and a chorus of Amarillo high school girls and boys are featured in the minstrel and musical comedy directed by Mike Hollander.

Admission price is $1. Tickets may be purchased from civic club members or at City Drug store.

Denmark has decided to continue its import restriction system.

Reynolds Case

volved by the specification in the will of the late R. J. Reynolds, founder of the $150,000,000 tobacco corporation that bears his name that Smith was not to be given his inheritance until he was 28 years old and his son's death at 20 has thrown local attorneys into disagreement. Beer Bill a 272 to 144 vote on their flat prohibition repeal resolution in the house yesterday. Democratic leaders said they were sure a bill modifying the Volstead law would be passed, probably late next week.

In contrast to the two-thirds majority required for adoption of a constitutional amendment, only a majority is necessary for amendment to the Volstead act.

The two senate leaders—Robinson of Arkansas, Democrat, and Watson of Indiana, Republican, both forecast repeal would be brought to a vote in their branch this session.

The Glass resolution was before the senate for consideration at the conclusion of the last session and was the first measure of its kind which that branch had voted to consider since the Eighteenth amendment was adopted in 1917. It has many supporters in both branches, and some leaders believe that if it is sent to the house by the senate, Speaker Garner will be forced to permit consideration despite his statement that another opportunity to vote on repeal would not be given at this session.

With letters 50 feet high, Holly, Mich., claims the largest aviation sign in the state.
