Girl Scout COOKIE STATION

COOKIE TIME!

Girl Scouts are selling cookies in this area starting Friday, February 2, and continuing through February 18. One Junior Troop member, Jennifer Crawford, demonstrates that those are GOOD cookies! She sold the most cookies in this area last year, and was second highest in sales in the 23-county Paisano Girl Scout Council.

In this area, Juniors (4th through 6th grades), Cadettes (junior high) and Senior (high school) Scouts will all be selling the cookies, with the main purpose to raise funds for facilities and equipment, and to help girls attend camp.

Pirates Slide By G-P

Rockport-Fulton reached into their bag of miracles again, this time to pull out a one point victory over the

Gregory-Portland Wildcats before the Rockport-Fulton fans Tuesday night, January 30. With only two seconds remaining, Joe Brooks stepped to the free throw line and missed the first of two shots which could have put the game away, but in the mold of the "cardiac" Pirates of 1979, he iced the game with the second shot to give the Pirates a 60-59 win.

The Pirates took the early lead in the game on a long shot by Ronnie Lamb and a short lay-up by Jim Cruser, and the Pirates were rolling. But before they could cash in and extend the lead, the Wildcats came back to go ahead 5-4. The lead swapped hands on numerous occasions. In the first period the crowd came Commissioners Hear ...

Roads, Airport, Election

Aransas County commissioners held a short meeting Wednesday, January 31, but covered a variety of topics including airport regulations, a proposed radio station, Fulton roads and problems relating to that area, and more on roads in the south part of the county.

A letter from the Texas

Aeronautics Commission noted that a building proposed by Mrs. Louise Itschner would be 1.8 feet too tall, based on latest findings regarding the safe flight zone near the county airport.

Commissioners declined to send supporting documents for a request by Fire Marshal Elva Mullinax, who wanted to place a base station in his home and be assigned a new frequency for his work.

Sheriff Robert Hewes told the court that his office handles calls for the city, county, emergency vehicles and fire departments in the area, and are having "no problems in handling all calls at this time."

Commissioner J.M. Spriegel brought the problem of Fulton area roads to the court's attention, pointing out that until an agreement could be reached with Fulton officials, no work could legally be done.

County Judge John Wendell responded to the request to see what could be done, and called a special meeting Wednesday afternoon, primarily to add emphasis to a request to District Judge Rachel Littlejohn to expedite a decision on the Fulton incorporation question.

Lee Halsey, who lives off FM 1069 on Johnston Road, came before the court to inquire about roads in his area. He also received information from Commissioner E.T. Eller on the size of culvert pipe necessary for his driveway.

The next regular meeting of the commissioners court will be Wednesday, February 7, at 9 a.m. In the meantime, a road committee of south Aransas citizens will be meeting with the county's engineer on Monday morning to further discuss their problems.

Notable Notes

Commissioners Court

Aransas County Commissioners Court will hold their next regular meeting on Wednesday, February 7, starting at 9 a.m., in the courthouse.

Charter Commission

The first regular meeting of the Rockport city charter commission will be held Tuesday, February 6, at the city hall council chambers. Starting time for the meeting is 7 p.m.

Band Boosters

The Rockport-Fulton Band Boosters Club will meet Monday, February 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the Band Hall. Dates for the out-of-town trip will be discussed and plans made for the solo and ensemble contest February 23 and 24.

Social Security Advice

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be at the Aransas County Courthouse in Rockport on Tuesday, February 6.

Pirates Vs. West Oso

The Tuesday night clash between the R-F Pirates boys basketball team and West Oso will give the winner the inside track to the second half district title. If Rockport wins the second half the Pirates will automatically advance into the playoffs as District 15-AAA Champ. If West Oso wins the second half they will share the title with Rockport and a playoff will be necessary. The Tuesday night boys' game is slated for RFHS boys' gym. Tip-off is scheduled for 6:30. Help boost our boys into the playoffs. Come early and expect a great evening of top notch basketball. The R-F Girls' game with West Oso will have a tip-off time of 8:00.

Medical Care Available For Commercial Fishermen

Commercial fishermen working aboard in the care, preservation or navigation of a documented vessel of five tons or more for at least 90 days are entitled to medical, surgical and dental care furnished by the U.S. Public Health Service (PHS), said Jeff Messinger, County Extension Marine Agent.

Fishermen who are injured in the course of their duties can receive medical care even if they have not worked 90 days. Owners of documented vessels are eligible only if they engage in the actual operation of the boat.

Full services are available to eligible beneficiaries at the eight general medical and surgical hospitals and 26 outpatient clinics throughout the country. These services include dental care, medical examinations, routine treatment, specialized medical care and surgery.

Obtain forms entitled Master's Certificate of Service from the PHS, the U.S. Coast Guard Documentation Officer, or from the local County Extension Marine Agent's office.

Fill out the Master's Certificate, which verifies that you have been engaged in fishing for the past 90 days, and have it signed by the boat captain. Present the signed form to the nearest PHS Outpatient Clinic or to the contract physician when you apply for treatment.

The outpatient clinic for the Coastal Bend area is the Medical Arts Clinic in Aransas Pass. Contract physicians are: Dr. J.W. Roberts, Dr. D.L. Edwards and Dr. L.F. Sayers.

For further information contact the Marine Agent's office, Room 110, Aransas County Courthouse, or call 729-1211.

ALL-STATERS MIKE MONTAGUE

Mike Montague is the first Rockport-Fulton student to even be chosen as a member of the all-state choir in Texas. He will be attending a clinic/learning situation and then perform in two concerts in Dallas next week. (Pilot Photo by Carl Hoyt)

Montague Is First Choir All-Stater

Mike Montague will be setting a precedent for Rockport-Fulton high school when he becomes the first student in the history of the school to be chosen a member of the All-State Choir.

He will be participating in a clinic/learning situation during the Texas Music Educator's convention, and then will perform in two concerts, from February 7 to 11, in Dallas.

Mike, an R-F senior, is one of 1,200 basses in the state that started competition. After successfully competing on the district level at Del Mar College in October, and the regional at Calallen in November, he made the state-candidate level at Calallen.

At that time, vocalists were trimmed from the original group of candidates to four from each of the regions in Texas.

Then came the state try-outs. With the continuing aid and instruction of his teacher, Mrs. Martha Luigi, Mike became one of only 30 second basses in the state to qualify for all-state.

The concerts will feature 240 vocalists from all over Texas, with 30 in each section. They will be performing with the all-state orchestra and the all-state band.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Montague of Fulton, Mike has had serious interest in music since about the eighth grade. However, his musical background goes back many years before, because his is a musical family.

He remembers his father and brothers getting together and singing and playing the guitar, even when Mike was small. There is even a recording of Mike singing at age five. The family continues this interest in music, and Mike says that it has made a great difference for him in achieving goals in this field.

In addition to vocal training, Mike has studied piano for the past nine years, and now is at an advanced level on that instrument.

"Music will always be a large, important part of my life," says 17-year old Mike, adding "It will be involved in anything I do."

His plans after high school are to go to a small college such as Del Mar, then he would like to go to the University of Texas, to seek the goal of a doctor's degree in fine arts education. His interests include drama, and he feels that attending college will help him decide more exactly what field of endeavor he will enjoy the most.

As for his teacher at Rockport-Fulton high, Mike says Mrs. Luigi is "one of the best." He feels that a "good relationship with ALL teachers promotes more learning and better learning" and considers that a much better situation to follow than just attending class and "getting by." Scholastically, he is an A-B student.

In addition to his participation in the high school chorale, he sings in the choir at his church, First United Methodist in Rockport. He is also an active member of the drama club, and for his spare time enjoys playing tennis, swimming and water skiing.

His vocal range (on normal days) goes from a C-sharp (second below middle C) to an E or F above middle C. He is working to extend his range, but studying the situation he found that most voices do not reach their full capacity until the age of 30. He realizes his voice is still developing and with his ambition and desire to succeed, should be able to accomplish whatever he wants in life.

For now, he is quite happy that he has earned the right to participate in the all-state choir, and is proud to represent Rockport-Fulton in Dallas this coming week.

Nearly 120 people attended the second Financial Future Forum held at the Paws and Taws Building Tuesday afternoon. The third and final session of this series will be held next Tuesday, February 6, from 2 to 4 p.m. There is no charge for this meeting, and refreshments will be served to those attending. Sponsors of the program are First National Bank of Rockport; Bache, Halsey, Stuart, Inc.; Corpus Christi; Rockport Chamber of Commerce, and local chapters of AARP, American Red Cross and American Cancer Society. (Pilot Photo by Carl Hoyt)

React

By Jacqueline Dean, Unit 74

Last Sunday the REACT Regional Council met here in Rockport. I wish that every member could have been there to see the inner workings of the club. It was very enlightening and I enjoyed knowing more about the problems and how other clubs were handling them; and also, meeting some other dedicated members from all the area of South Texas and as far north as Beeville.

January 24 was very busy for me on channel 9. First, I had a report of a wreck on the beach road near Harbor Oaks where a blue Pinto hit a tree. This was reported and I understand the police had a hard time getting the lady out and I heard the paramedic getting clearance to take her to the hospital. Then I had a call about a car in the ditch about a mile and a half south of Rockport. This was reported to me twice. Then I had a report of a drunk in front of Pepe's. I reported this and then had another report that he was in front of Custom Carpets. The next report said he was in front of Roatan's Drug Store and someone had better get him or he was going to get killed. I am sure he was picked up then.

On January 25, I had reports of two wrecks: one near Shamrock Service Station and one near Jitney Jr. that I could not get all the information. I called a friend, Betty Reininger, on the western part of town that relayed the message that a car and a truck had collided. I want to thank this friend as I could never got the report without her relaying the message by telephone.

I want to thank the trucker that had his truck parked on Highway 35 south of Rockport with flares and all safety lights going. Thank God for those safety lights that prevent accidents and for the trucker that had compassion for others.

I want to thank all the CBers that call and give the reports as they are the eyes for REACT. We still need members so come on and join us in this community service. Call me at 729-5219 or William Corey at 729-2510.

With Lamb, Mark Setterbo, and Bechtol fouling out for the Pirates, Charles McLead had come off the bench. Near the one minute mark remaining on the clock, McLead drilled an 18-footer to bring the Pirates to within one point.

GP went into their four-corners-stall, and tried to run out the time, but a good play by the Pirate defense created a turnover, and Rockport-Fulton had new life. A pass inside to Crusier set up a foul on the part of the Wildcats. Crusier hit the tying shot from the charity line, and with 42 seconds left, GP again went to their stall.

Again the Pirates made the big play to shake the ball loose, and with two seconds remaining, Brooks was fouled as he shot under the basket, setting up the game winner.

The stands erupted as the Pirates and their fans screamed, danced, and jumped in jubilation.

The win gives the Pirates a 22-4 season's record, and a 3-0 mark in the second half race for the District 15-AAA crown. West Oso and Tuloso-Midway are both with the same 3-0 mark, and the Pirates still have both of those remaining, along with Sinton and Flour Bluff.

As time was running down, the Wildcats went into a stall, but the strategy backfired as they made vital turnovers and missed key foul shots. Brooks put the Pirates to within two points at 58-56 before GP hit one one of two free throws to lead 59-56.

TORCH SETS CORK, BRUSH FIRE

A workman cutting the pipe on a cork-filled filter tank started a brush fire when the cork caught after coming in contact with the cutting torch. The fire occurred at the north end of Live Oak Peninsula, near FM 1781, and was reported at 1:20 p.m. Saturday, January 27. The equipment had been taken off an oil platform in Copano Bay. The cork is shown after it dropped out of the containing tank, in the bottom photo. Above, firemen douse the resulting brush fire.

Sometimes you know how successful a season a high school basketball team is having by the availability of good parking close to the gym.

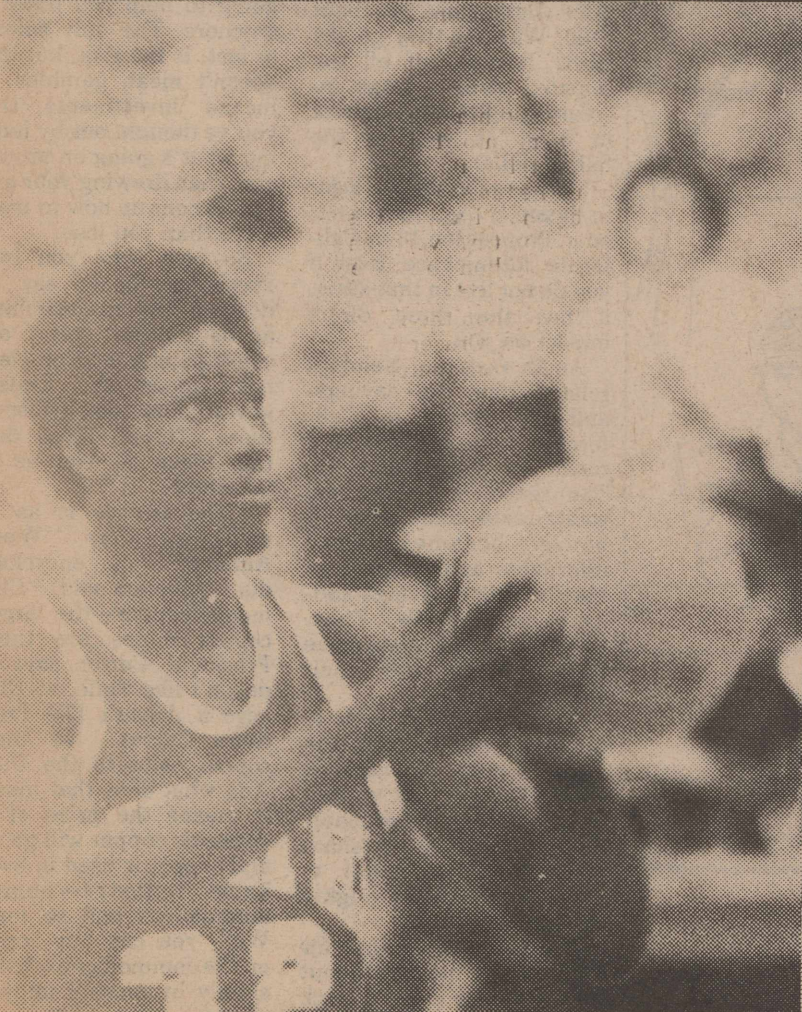

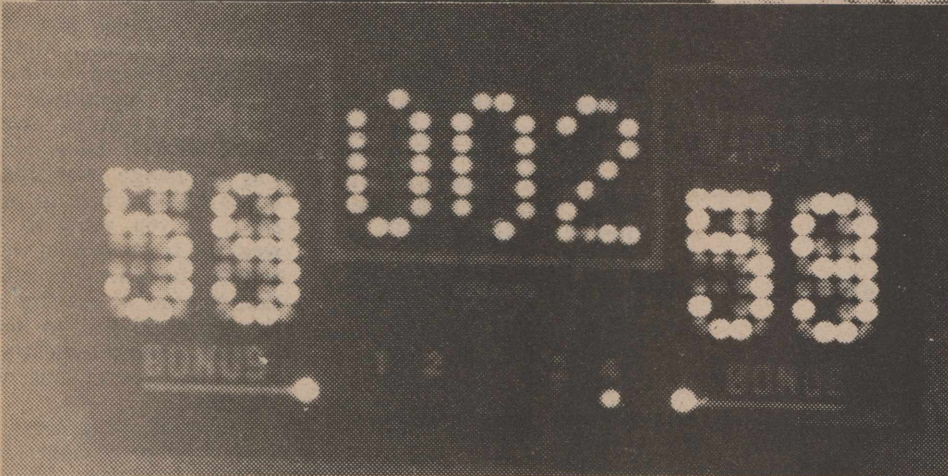

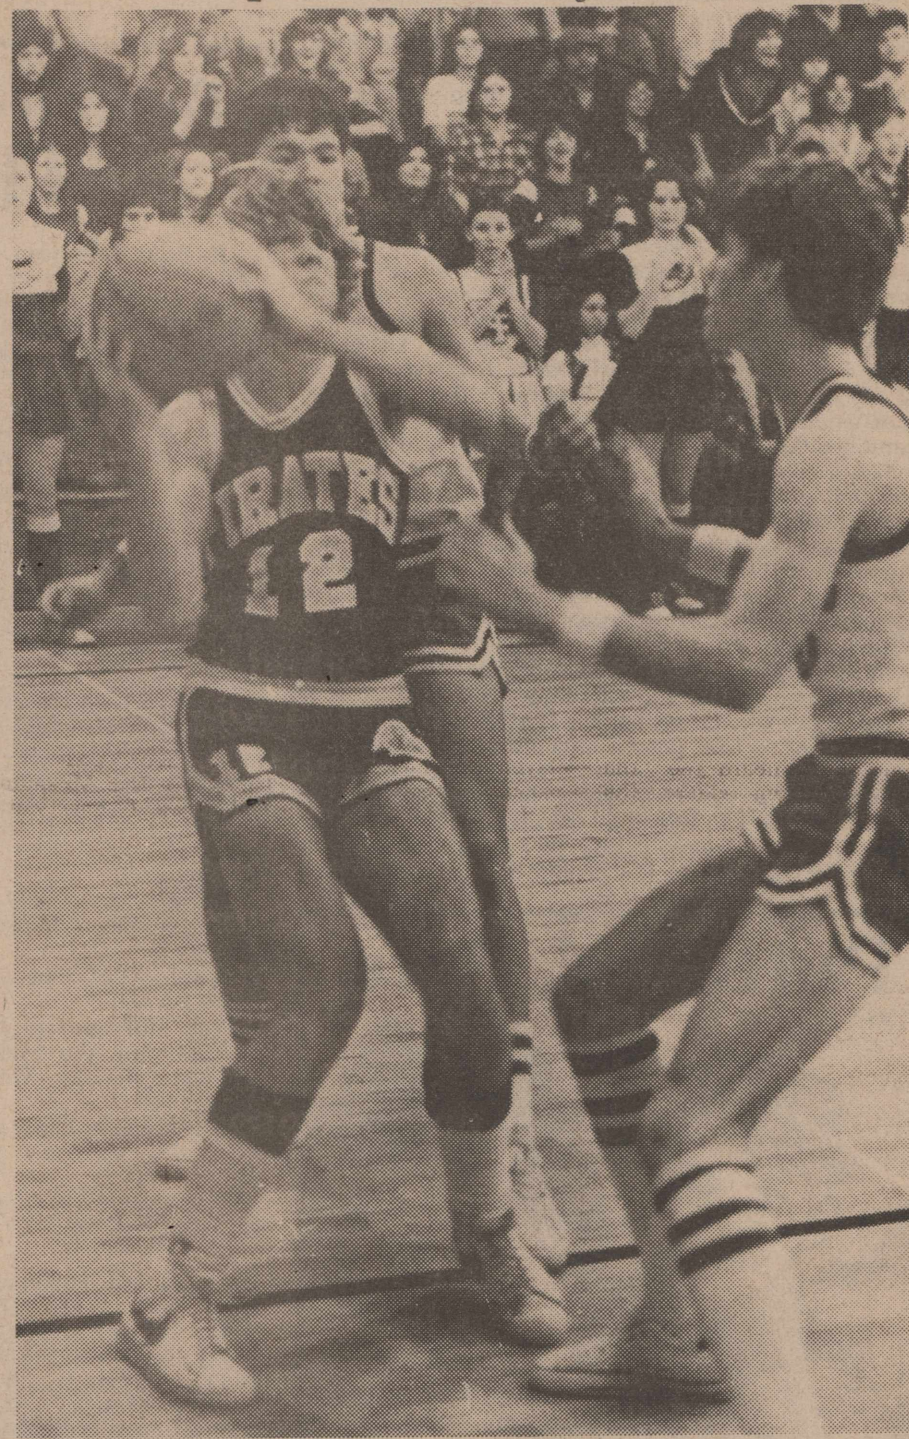

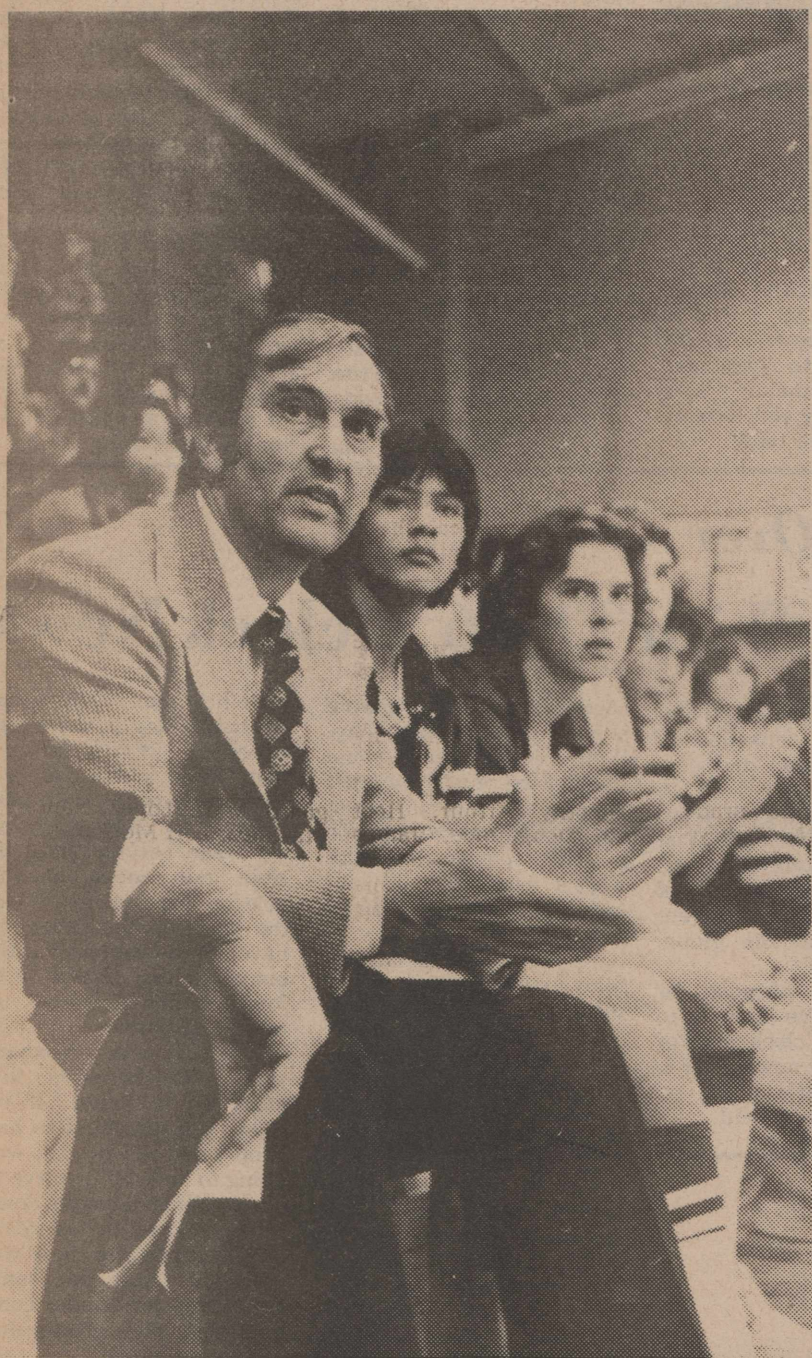

Not only is the parking a problem at the Pirate home basketball games this season, it is almost non-existent.

In fact, some avid Pirate fans find it easier to walk from the house to the game and back, and it gives them a chance to walk off the tensions of some very exciting games.

The state-ranked Pirates have their eyes set for West Oso this next Tuesday night. That cage match will probably decide the second half winner and perhaps the district champ.

The photos on this page will demonstrate the excitement generated at a recent game with Gregory-Portland which the Pirates won by a score of 60-59. The last point was scored by a Brooks charity shot with two seconds of play remaining.

Come to Tuesday's game with West Oso . . . help boost our boys to state.

Joe Wyatt Reports From The Capitol

By U.S. Congressman Joe Wyatt

When I became a State Representative eight years ago, I was able to get home from Austin more often than I will be able to from Washington, D.C. Letting the people in my district know, face to face, what was happening in the Capitol, which important bills were coming up for consideration and my feelings on important issues was relatively easy. Even though I plan to return home from Washington often, it can't be as often as I would like. I would like then, to use this forum to keep you advised of important legislative matters up here on Capitol Hill.

The first week here was very encouraging to say the least. Being sworn into office for the first time was naturally a distinct thrill, and I sincerely want to thank all those who made the trip up here from Texas for my swearing-in.

The first week has also been highlighted by my success in being assigned to the legislative committees I requested and my decision to co-sponsor an important bill to provide some relief from federal regulations for small businessmen.

I am very pleased, and quite proud of my appointment to sit on the House Armed Services Committee. The people of the 14th District know of my commitment to a strong national defense posture.

The Armed Services Committee is responsible for maintaining a strong defense by working on each year's defense budget, by reviewing the preparedness of our armed forces, by looking onto research and development of new defense systems, by making sure our overall posture is what it should be to keep this nation in the position it is used to—that is, the most secure nation on earth.

The House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, to which I was also appointed, reviews all manners of legislation which is vital to our district. The committee's basic responsibilities include all legislation touching on the coastline, ports, shipping, and the resources of the ocean. In this session, such matters as deep sea mining, oil spill legislation, and some of the legislation implementing the give-away of the Panama Canal, should all be presented to the committee.

My first legislative act since becoming a member of Congress was to agree to co-sponsor a bill by Congressman Andy Ireland of Florida, called the Small Business Regulatory Relief Act. This bill provides some measure of relief from the regulatory snares that are often thrown on small businessmen by federal agencies.

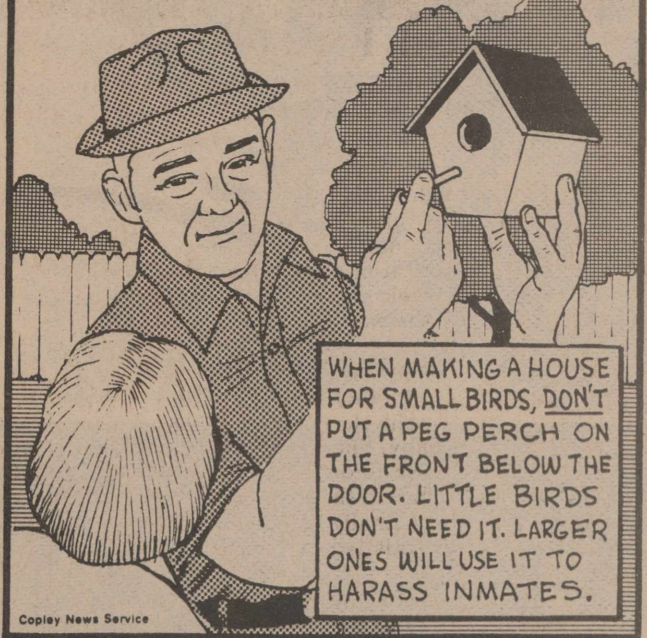

The bill says that when a federal agency wishes to include a new regulation in the Federal Register, it must first file an Economic Impact Statement describing the regulation's impact on small businessmen. If it is determined that the bill would have an adverse effect, the regulation must be rewritten, small businesses must be exempted, or the regulation must be thrown out.

If it passes, this will be the first time small businessmen have had a fighting chance built into the system. Up until now, their only recourse has been to write a letter of protest to the agency and hope their congressman would do the same. This is a hit or miss proposition at best.

In all these areas I will act to promote the best interests of the 14th District and the country. But, as I am your representative here in Washington, I need input from back home. I want to hear your comments and questions on these or any other matters that come before Congress. Only with help like this will I be sure that I am representing the interests of all the people of our district. In the next two years I look forward to building a partnership with you for the benefit of all the people of Texas.

Take Five ...

The Game Of Real Life

By Brian Robertson

Since I am a lover of games, I was excited when Walter dropped by with a new board game called THE GAME OF REAL LIFE. We sat down at the kitchen table and Walter opened the box and began setting up the pieces.

"How much money do we get to start off the game?" I asked.

"Five hundred dollars. You get that much each time you pass Start."

I took my money and rolled the dice. I rolled a six, but Walter stopped me before I could move my token; a small blue car.

"You can't move yet," he said.

"Why not?"

"Because you have to pay car insurance. That will be $450."

I paid. "But that only leaves me $50."

"You still have to buy gasoline from the Middle East Oil Company. That's another $40."

"I'm not sure I like this game. I've only got $10 left."

"Don't gripe. Now you can move your six."

My little car landed on a space which read, "IT IS SUMMERTIME. THE GAS COMPANY RAISES YOUR RATES WHILE YOU AREN'T USING GAS, HOPING YOU WON'T NOTICE. PAY $10."

"Wait a minute," I said, paying the bank. "I'm broke."

"It'll get better," Walter promised. "All you have to do is get back around the board again and you'll have your pay check."

I grumbled and sat back. The next time I moved, I landed on a spot marked FREE. Unfortunately, the left front wheel fell off my token.

"Bad break," Walter said. "You'll have to get that fixed."

"But I just got the car a few spaces back. How come it is already falling apart?"

"This is REAL LIFE," Walter said. "You have to pay $50 for a new tire."

"I don't have $50, remember?"

"Well," Walter said, "you'll have to borrow it from the bank. What do you have for collateral?"

"A car with three wheels."

"I don't know," Walter the Banker said. "money is tight. I'm afraid we can't help you."

"Wait a minute. If I don't have a car I can't play."

"All right," Walter said. "We'll lend you the money, but the interest rate is now 13%."

"On your last turn you borrowed at 12 1/2%."

"That was last turn. Rates go up automatically. That's the built-in inflation factor."

On my next turn I landed on a square with a big question mark on it. I had to draw a card from the pile and it said, YOU RECEIVE A NOTICE SAYING YOUR CAR HAS BEEN RECALLED BECAUSE THE LEFT WHEEL MAY FALL OFF AT HIGH SPEEDS. YOU RECEIVE $400 FOR A NEW TIRE AND ANY RELATED DAMAGES."

"Now we're getting someplace," I said, taking the money.

My next turn spelled disaster. I landed on the space marked, GROCERY STORE.

"Now what do I do?" I asked Walter.

"Roll the dice and multiply the number you throw by one hundred. That's your grocery bill for the month."

I threw six.

"I'm wiped out," I screamed. "I can't afford to buy food."

"Well, according to the rules, you have to go to the Welfare Office and apply for Food Stamps. You'll also lose two turns waiting to be processed."

I quit right there. I'd had enough. Walter wanted to play another one of his games. THE REAL GAME OF CONGRESS, but I said no. Somehow, it seems un-American to play any game that comes with Korean money you have to keep under the table.

Thinking Things Over ...

Getting Rich With The 6 o'clock News

By Thomas Ward

Financier John Neimark believes you can get rich from viewing the 6 o'clock news.

At least, that's what he said in the November/December 1978 issue of "Consumer Digest," and his argument makes sense.

"We've developed into a world of specialists and specialties," Neimark said.

"Which is fine if you're building a house or writing a book. But to make money consistently, it cannot be a reflection of one single element. It's a reflection of countless human and economic factors."

Where do you go to learn about these factors? Just turn on your television set, read the newspapers and stay abreast of current events around the globe, says Neimark.

"The first purpose for any prospective investor to watch the 6 o'clock news or read the daily newspaper is to know what's going on around the world. Of course, it's not that simple —getting rich, like anything else, takes some effort. First of all, you must listen to the national news, not to the local news which is only concerned with what's happening in your own city or town. That's just a tunnel.

"A second step—seemingly simple, but vitally important—is to understand that almost everything has meaning for you financially," Neimark continued.

"Analyze the news you see on TV or read in your paper. For example, if the Italian premier is assassinated, ask yourself what possible repercussions could there be. It would certainly mean that there will be further political unrest and turmoil in that country. If he had been a dictator, you could expect less government control which would lead to a higher rate of inflation. You would have to follow this particular news item for a number of days to ascertain how the wind will blow. It most certainly will blow somebody into some profit.

"Just stop and think, what does Italy produce? Fiats, Italian shoes, gloves, handbags? Say you're in the shoe business and bought Italian shoes for $60 when you first heard of the assassination. The average price right now is about $100. Why did they go sky high? Because of all the constant strikes, wage increases and political unrest in Italy, as well as the falling dollar.

"Take something closer to home," Neimark went on. "Proposition 13 in California, for instance. Even if you do not live in that state, it has the same direct impact on you."

As an example, Neimark related how the savings-and-loan stocks in California almost doubled as a result of Proposition 13. The reason is when real estate taxes come down, a house becomes more affordable and people can borrow from savings-and-loans more easily. Thus, these financial outlets make more money and their stocks go up.

Yes, you would have to buy some savings-and-loan stocks before the vote on Proposition 13, but as Neimark said, you're probably risking $2 on every share you bought, in order to make $30. That's a mighty good risk.

Neimark's guidelines for the average investor about to implement the 6 o'clock news theory are (1) Determine how many things that are happening in the world affect you. (2) Pick the ones that, after looking at the facts, present the best possibilities for making money. (3) Make certain the possible gain outweighs the possible loss. (4) Do it—on the basis on the facts you have found—and do it without consulting anyone else for probably he knows no more than you.

"Let's face it," Neimark said. "Stockbrokers sell stock for a living. If he didn't tell his client to buy even when the market was going to hell, he'd starve to death. When it comes down to your money or his salvation, what do you think will win out? And the same holds true for bonds, commodities, real estate and office equipment."

"The hardest part for most of us is not to tunnel anymore. Instead, we have to see the significance of things 3,000 miles away; that's what it takes. One way to change your thinking is to learn how to take risks. If you want to be wealthy, to be secure, want to just stay ahead of inflation instead of staying on the treadmill just to keep up with it, all the old rules must be thrown out the window."

"Interest of 5 percent or even 8 or 10 percent isn't going to help you make it anymore. The only safety, in fact, is the risk, but that doesn't mean gambles. It means investments that you've thought out by judging what's going on around you, then drawing your own conclusions on how to make more than you lose."

So next time you hear President Carter say he doesn't like dictatorships, as he did last year, and consequently said he could not support the Chilean government, don't just sit there. Think! What does this mean to you as an investor?

"The answer is as far away as your 'World Almanac' or encyclopedia," Neimark said. "Chile means copper—the largest copper mines are there. President Carter says he doesn't like Chile, so Chile says it doesn't like President Carter. No more copper sales to the U.S.? And what does that mean? It means the price of all domestic copper will go up, and copper is used in every basic industry—homes, automobiles and so forth. Well, you can buy copper on the commodity exchange simply by picking up your phone."

Carl's Clipboard

By Carl D. Hoyt

Aside from the flack I've caught from regular Pilot readers about no "clipboard", there has been a very good reason for no personal column from the managing editor in the past few weeks.

We have simply been operating with less than a full news staff, and only the "essential" coverage has been undertaken by the news department. For those expecting (and deserving) more from the news and feature writing segment of The Pilot, we apologize.

However, we have been interviewing personnel for the news staff, and hopefully by the next week or so will have hired a full time reporter.

This will improve our Weekender Pilot, where we try to use special features and articles not usually designed for the mid-week edition.

On another topic, I'd guess that no one will want to miss the big Valentine Dance planned for February 10 at the Paws and Taws Building in Fulton.

This fun-filled evening will be for friends, lovers, sweethearts (and spouses, especially) to have a good time.

The Aransas County Medical Services will be the beneficiary of the proceeds (at $15 per person, donation) so in addition to the fun, those that go will have contributed to a worthwhile community project.

Tickets are available from the Rockport Chamber of Commerce office, or by calling Reba Rast at 729-2689. This annual affair is being repeated by "popular demand" with those attending last year's event looking forward to another gala event.

Potluck suppers are being planned for Winter Texans from Iowa and Nebraska in coming weeks. We plan to attend both these events.

As an Iowa-born Nebraskan, now choosing to live in Texas, we find that there are more and more folks finding out that Rockport, Texas, is a good place to come visit, and even a good place to live.

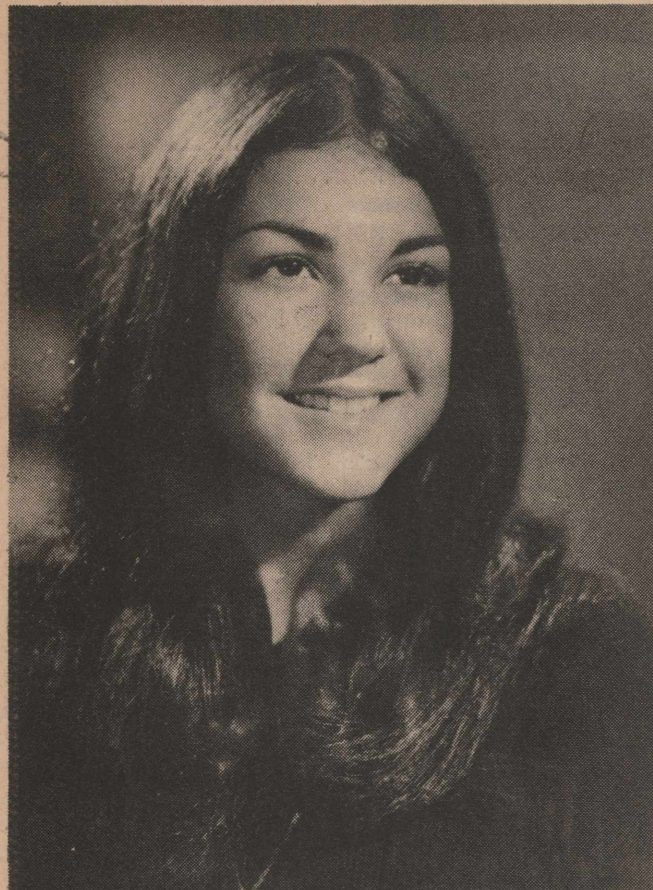

Not only do people retire and come here . . . some find that the opportunities they have looked for all their lives are right here in South Texas.

And who can fault living in such a super climate, along with the gulf and the fine people all through the area to make each and every day a special time?

Anabel and I enjoy this area very much, and find more and more to do each day. And, at the same time, we find that when the day's work is done, there's few places to match this one, for relaxing and just enjoying the good things of life.

WE CAN GET A BARGAIN ON 5 MILLION CASES OF BILLY BEER!

DECOR SCORE

Q. I live in a very old home which we are remodeling. In the dining room, there are four sliding closet doors (it used to be a bedroom) that appear to stand out from the wall because they are wooden and perfectly flat. How might I treat them, if I plan to wallpaper the room? — T.P.B.

A. You would do well to wallpaper over the doors as well as the walls to give a unity to your room. This would make the doors blend into the walls. Check into the kind of sizing you will need for both walls and doors so you will have good adhesion to both.

Also I have seen designers wallpaper a room in a background design and then take a coordinated mural design and apply it to doors (by cutting the mural into sections). This, of course, would call attention to the mural but would tend to extend the eye and give depth to the room. That might be another option.

Please send questions for Decor Score to Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper.

JANE AT HER WORKBENCH

Dollhouse Gift Project Displays Artist's Talent

By Anabel D. Hoyt

The idea of building a dollhouse never entered Jane Wagner's head until the fall of last year. She bought her Christmas gifts early and then went on a visit to her relatives in northwest Arkansas only to find that her 5 year old great-niece already had the toys Jane had newly chosen. So, upon returning home she put her imaginative mind to work and came up with the idea of building a model of an old farmhouse that had been renovated.

"Since the little girl lived on a farm, I wanted to give her something that she could associate with," said Jane. Jane also could let her creativity flourish and found that she developed a story about the inhabitants of the dollhouse as she built and added items.

Building comes easily to Jane Wagner who has built full-sized furniture, a solar-water heater and the garage and workshop where she can "play" at making whatever she fancies. She graduated from the University of Texas with a Masters degree in science just as World War II began and went to work for the Air Force as a civilian employee. Because of her education, she was put to work on electrical instruments and navigation equipment for airplanes.

The majority of World War II was spent in Miami, Florida, where rations were scarce but the fishing was good. She then was transferred to Oklahoma where she began taking courses at the University of Oklahoma towards a degree in electronic engineering.

However, she decided not to pursue the degree when she found she lacked 20 hours in courses she felt she already had knowledge of, especially as she had difficulty in making classes because of the traveling that was involved in her job.

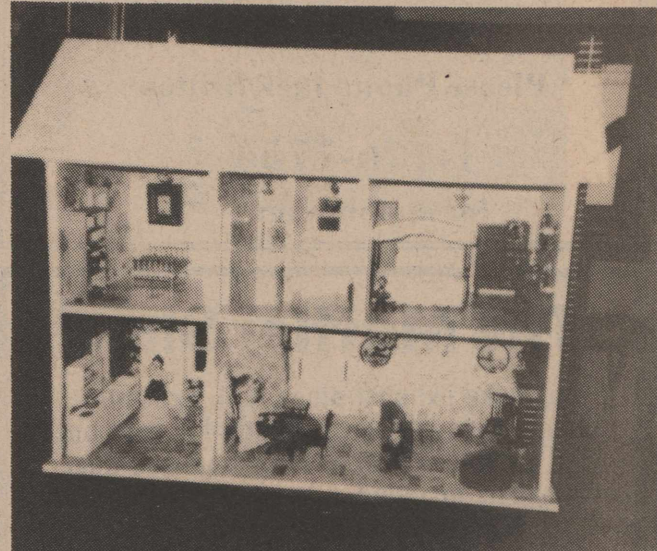

After the Korean War the Air Force was giving opportunities for early retirement to long-time employees and since Jane was ready to spend all her time "playing" she decided to let a veteran have a job and retired in 1970.

Luckily for Rockport, she found the area especially attractive as she is a devoted bird-watcher. After visiting in a travel-trailer, she bought her home here in the fall of 1972. Though it took her a few more years before she sold her house in Oklahoma and moved to Rockport, Jane is now a permanent resident.

It was at this time in her life that Jane began taking lessons from many area artists. She has developed a very pleasant style in her watercolors and oils which can be seen at El Barrio. Her favorite subjects are old barns, buildings and windmills as well as an occasional bird.

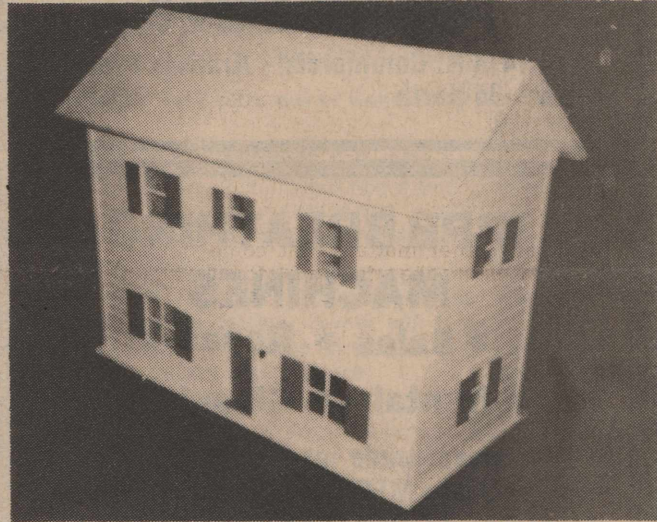

Her engineering ability plus her artistic talent are an excellent combination for the building of dollhouses. She has no problem in looking at objects and then deciding how they are built. Since she decided on building an old farmhouse, she enjoyed making a staircase to the second floor and a fireplace for keeping the tiny occupants "warm."

Once the dollhouse was built, it had to be furnished and decorated on the inside. A few of the items in the dollhouse were donated

INTERIOR DETAIL

The small detail inside the special dollhouse built by Jane Wagner is difficult to describe. Some of the fine work can be seen in this view.

SMALL FARMHOUSE

The exterior of the dollhouse, made up in the style of an old-fashioned farmhouse, shows continuation of attention to details.

by her friends, such as the toys for the baby and a chifonier for the master bedroom. Another friend hooked a small welcome mat complete with the word "Welcome" on it.

Jane built a canopy bed from a kit for the mother and father but bought the brass bed for the baby. She had a difficult time in finding dolls small enough to fit in the house, but finally found some that satisfied her.

The rest of the items she made herself. "I spent the month of November playing with dolls," she says. The most challenging items were the tiny ceramic bath fixtures and a complete set of china dishes. The cups were three-eighths of an inch wide.

All of these items were first made in clay, then fired in a kiln and glazed. Jane's steady hand and keen eye from her Air Force days of working with electronic devices were of great benefit in making these small items.

Other favorite objects were the chandeliers. Each room has one but the crystal chandelier in the living room really shows Jane's imagination. It is made of minute rock crystals.

Jane went on to completely furnish the whole house with pictures, rugs, curtains and even towels in the bathroom.

Jane plans on making another dollhouse so that it can be raffled off this summer by the Art Association here in Rockport to which she belongs. Then she will build another one for the October Crafts Fair that the Aransas County Hospital Volunteers will have for the hospital fund.

Naturally, they won't be duplications of the already built farmhouse, but of whatever comes into Jane's fertile mind. For those of you who might want to talk to Jane about art, birds or building dollhouses, she'll be more than happy to see you on Saturdays at El Barrio which is her day to mind the store.

Castaways Help Medical Services, United Fund With Good Contributions

The Castaways Thrift Shop is an ecumenical project for the benefit of the community. The Methodist, Presbyterian, Lutheran and Episcopal women see that the shop is staffed.

Once a year the volunteers meet to vote on distribution of profits. This year the following 10 Aransas County groups were selected for 1979: United Fund, Cancer, Heart, ABC School, Concern Center, Council on Aging, St. Vincent de Paul, Ambulance Service, Emergency Corps and Salvation Army.

In 1978 the Castaways contributed $5,000.00 towards the clinic.

Clothing is given free to agencies and ministers to help others during emergencies and times of financial distress.

Emergency Medical Services received a boost this week when churches operating the Castaways presented a check for $500 to help in the operation of the emergency ambulances.

Mrs. Fred Heinsohn gave the check to Mrs. William (Thyra) Russell.

Mrs. Heinsohn represents the Peace Lutheran Church, which is one of four churches in the Rockport area that operates the Castaways. Mrs. Russell is president of the Women's Auxiliary of the Aransas County Medical Services, Inc.

The Castaways, located at 1011 Concho Street near the H.E.B. Store, is operated on contributions. They accept donations of clothing, household items and almost anything saleable. In turn they contribute to 10 worthwhile efforts in Aransas County.

The Castaways are in need of items at this time. Contributions will help aid all their projects.

Hours of operation are from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 9 to 11 a.m. on Friday and Saturday.

COOKING CORNER

Vacation trip delights

By JEANNETTE BRANIN
Copley News Service

It was to be a restful, relaxing vacation, poking along at 50 miles a day through Pennsylvania, the Hudson River Valley, and New England states.

Of course it's no trouble to eat on vacation. It certainly was no hardship on this trip, with fresh fish and succulent shellfish featured on every menu.

The first gastronomic orgy was at Bookbinder's in Philadelphia, still in its original location (although greatly expanded) which Samuel Bookbinder chose for his restaurant down by the docks of the Delaware River in 1865.

Taxin very graciously gave me a copy of the "The Old Original Bookbinder's Restaurant Cookbook," by Charlotte Adams, distributed by Bookbinder's Food Division, Jelinek-Ronon Co., Inc., Colonial Building, State and Overhill roads, Media, Pa. 19063. The cost is $2.95. He also gave me permission to reprint favored recipes. Here is the deviled crab cake:

DEVILED CRAB
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1/2 cup diced onion
1/4 cup diced celery
1 pimiento, diced
1 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. thyme
1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
Dash of Tabasco
1 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/2 cup flour
2 cups milk
2 lbs. crabmeat, well picked over
Bread crumbs
Butter

Melt the half stick butter. Add green pepper, onion, celery, pimiento and seasonings and cook in the butter over low heat for 10 minutes. Add flour and stir until smooth. Cook another 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add milk and stir until the sauce becomes very thick. Stir in the crabmeat. Mound into shells or individual casseroles. Cover with bread crumbs and dot with butter. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until nicely browned (about 20 minutes). Serves 6.

Note: This same mixture can be chilled, formed into cakes, dipped in flour and egg batter (recipe follows) and crumbs, and fried in deep fat (300 degrees) until brown. This is the way Bookbinder's usually serves it. The cakes can also be sauteed in butter.

Egg Batter
1 cup milk
1 egg
1/2 tsp. salt

Ever run into a friend in Tokyo, or meet one of your neighbors in Amsterdam? Maybe not—but such things are happening every day!

It makes you stop and think—the way this world is shrinking. It makes you wish that the men and women who live on opposite sides of the globe had more things in common.

There can be no more unifying force in the world than a common belief in God. And toward that ideal we are rapidly progressing. Christians the world over are feeling and expressing their unity of faith and purpose.

Sunday is World-Wide Communion Sunday. On that day, within the space of a few short hours, Christians in every land will reverently participate in the Lord's Supper which has been a mark of Christian faith for almost two thousand years.

PUBLIC NOTICE

CHANGES ARE MADE IN DETERMINATIONS OF THE
CITY OF ROCKPORT, ARANSAS COUNTY, TEXAS,
BASE FLOOD ELEVATIONS

On February 13, 1978 at 43 FR 6074, the Federal Insurance Administrator published a list of communities with Special Flood Hazard Areas. The list included Flood Insurance Rate Maps for portions of the City of Rockport, Texas.

The Federal Insurance Administrator, Department of Housing and Urban Development, has determined that modification of the elevations of the flood having a one-percent chance of occurring in any given year (base flood) for certain locations in Rockport is appropriate. The new elevations amend the FIA Flood Insurance Rate Map for the community.

The changes are made pursuant to Section 206 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P.L. 93-234), and are in accordance with the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended, (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, P.L. 90-448) 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 24 CFR Part 1916.

The addition of base flood elevations are as follows:
Previous FIA Previous Base New Base

Under the above mentioned Acts 1968 and 1973, the Administrator must develop criteria for flood plain management. In order for the community to participate in the National Flood Insurance Program, the community will be using the new elevations to administer the flood plain management measures of the National Flood Insurance Program. These modified elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

Upon the second publication of notice of these changes in this paper, any person has 90 days in which he can request through the Chief Executive Officer of the community that the Federal Insurance Administrator reconsider the determination. Any request for reconsideration must be based on knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data. All interested parties are on notice that until the 90-day period elapses, the Administrator's determination to modify base flood elevations may itself be changed.

Any person having knowledge or wishing to comment on these changes should immediately notify:

Mayor, City of Rockport
