Allies Lose Hope Of Quick Victory

Churchill Warns House Of Lengthy War

Cites Possibility Of Long Guerrilla Warfare In Reich

LONDON—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill warned the House of Commons Thursday that the war against Hitler might well continue into 1945.

"I deprecate very much people being carried away into premature expectations of an early cessation of the fighting," he declared in a full-dress report on the Quebec conference and the war in general.

"I shall certainly not hazard a guess as to when the end will come. Many persons of the highest technical attainment and knowledge and responsibility have good hopes that it will all be over by the end of 1944. On the other hand no one—certainly not I—can guarantee that several months of 1945 may not be required."

Just before he ended the hour-long initial portion of his speech and the House adjourned for luncheon, the Prime Minister added:

"There is also the possibility that after the organized resistance of the German state and army is completely broken fierce warfare may be maintained in the forests and mountains of Germany by numbers of desperate men conscious of their own guilt and impending doom.

To Their Lairs

"We don't consider that the declared date of the ending of the war against Germany must necessarily be postponed until the last desperado has been tracked down in his lair."

The Prime Minister said the Allied invasion of Europe had cost Germany nearly 1,000,000 men killed, wounded and captured, and said "there may well be 200,000 of them in the coastal fortresses of Holland

British Subs Sink 32 Jap War Vessels

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

British submarines sank 32 Japanese vessels in a series of daring forays to take the heaviest toll of enemy shipping in the Indian Ocean yet reported, the Admirality announced in London Thursday.

They slipped into Japanese-controlled Port Owen in Southern Burma and sank two gunboats lying at anchor, shelled oil tanks on Christmas Island off Java and ranged as far as Sunda Strait between Java and Sumatra.

Java thus became the first meeting place of the striking arms of Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten's Southeast Asia forces and Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Southwest Pacific command.

Batavia, capital of Java lying 60 miles from Sunda Strait, was strafed for the first time Sunday when MacArthur's reconnaissance planes made a 3,200 mile round trip flight from Australia. They caught the Japanese completely by surprise in a low-level attack.

Other Southwest Pacific bombers sank three freighters in sweeps reaching up to the Southern Philippines, 1,500 miles northeast of Batavia.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' Pacific forces carried the air war north and east from there. They struck

New Explorations For Crockett And Howard Regions

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

New oil explorations have been reported for Northeast Crockett County and for Central Howard County. Extension efforts to fields in Andrews and Winkler also were staked.

Richfield Oil Corporation No. 1 Archie Bean, 1,980 feet from the north and 660 feet from the west lines of section 13, block UV, GC & SF survey, is the new Crockett wildcat. It is scheduled to drill to 8,000 feet.

That depth is expected to take it to the Ellenburger. It will be about six miles southeast of the Todd deep pool. Richfield has a large block in that region.

Cosden Petroleum Corporation, Big Spring, and John I. Moore, Midland, have filed application with the Railroad Commission to drill No. 1 Cosden Petroleum Corporation fee, as a 5,000-foot test, five miles east of Big Spring.

On Refinery Tract

The location is 660 feet from the north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 38, block 32, TP survey, T-1-N. It is on the Cosden refinery tract and just northeast and across the Texas & Pacific Railway tracks from the refinery office building.

The project will test for production in the Clear Fork, lower Permian lime. Drilling will start immediately.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 C. E. Summerlin, 660 feet from the south and east lines of the north half of section 2, block A-48, psl survey, and one-half mile north and one-quarter of a mile west of the British American Oil Producing Company No. 1 McCrea, recent one-mile southwest extension to the southwest side of the Fullerton field in Northwest Andrews County, is slated to drill to 8,500 feet, starting shortly.

That depth should test both the Clear Fork, the regular Fullerton producing section, and the Devonian, which is under the lower Permian.

C. V. Lyman, Midland, has filed notice of intention to drill his No. 1 Brown & Altman Co., on the southeast side of the Emperor Deep field in Central Winkler County, to 3,300 feet. It will dig with rotary starting Oct. 5.

Location is 330 feet from the south and east lines of the east half of the northwest quarter of section 25, block B-5, psl survey.

McCrea Treated Again

British American No. 1 McCrea, section 1, block A-48, psl survey, the southwest extender to the Fulledton field, is flowing to clean out test and complete, after injecting a

Red Army Enters Slovakia

LONDON— (AP) —Russian troops have invaded Yugoslavia after crossing the Danube just west of the iron gate at the Romanian frontier town of Orsova, the German communique made known Thursday.

"In the Danube bend, there was lively reconnoitering activity on both sides of the Iron Gate," said the official war bulletin, broadcast from Berlin. "Soviet forces who have advanced South from Orsova in a Southern direction were repulsed and enemy formations who had crossed the Danube were smashed."

Orsova is on the river frontier and only Yugoslav territory lies to the South. Moscow has not yet confirmed an incursion into the territory where Marshal Tito's partisan army operates.

The Germans asserted that several thousand prisoners were taken in Warsaw and that another segment of Lt. Gen. Tadeusz (Bor) Komorokski's underground army surrendered.

Hopeless Situation

Soviet military analysts described as "strategically hopeless" Thursday the position of German troops attempting to withdraw from the Latvian port of Riga along a hotly strafed coastal escape road.

The Russian drive, enveloping an additional 200 Latvian settlements Wednesday, approached close to Riga on the Northeast. The German command decided apparently to move the bulk of its troops out of the Riga pocket, rather than risk entrapment by a possible Russian breakthrough West of the Latvian capital.

Front dispatches told of rear-guard actions outside Riga and heavy enemy movements westward on the Tukums road leading to Western Lithuania and East Prussia.

Chinese First Race To Really Use Navigator

HEADQUARTERS U. S. 14TH AIR FORCE IN CHINA—(AP)—The All-Chinese crew of a B-25 medium bomber in the Chinese-American composite wing recently showed the Americans something new in finding the way home.

The Chinese crew reached the Yangtze River returning from a mission, but couldn't determine which way to go from there. So, the navigator who had muffed his job was ordered to bail out, and the plane circled overhead while he floated down, asked some friendly villagers for directions, and scratched an arrow in the sand beside the river. The navigator was left to walk back to the base.

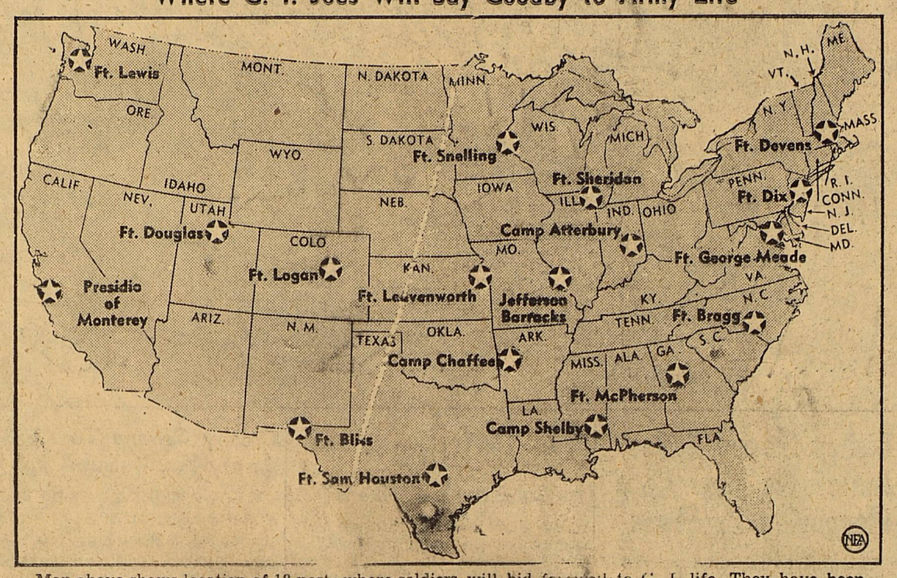

Rayburn Predicts Roosevelt Landslide

DENISON, TEXAS—(AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn, who returning to Texas Thursday, said he did not think the Texas Regulars Anti-Roosevelt Party would constitute a real threat in the presidential election and predicted Roosevelt's re-election by a large majority.

Rayburn, who arrived here from Washington, said he believed Texas was "still as Democratic as ever" and would strongly support the President's re-election.

He predicted the Democrats would control the Seventy-Ninth Congress with a heavy majority.

Where G. I. Joes Will Say Goodby to Army Life

Map above shows location of 18 posts where soldiers will bid farewell to G. I. life. They have been designated as Army Personnel Centers by the War Department. Located to best handle population densities, each of these centers will include: a Reception Center for processing newly inducted men; a Reception Station for receiving and reassigning personnel returned from overseas; a Separation Center, for discharging personnel from active service. This concentration of activities will save expenses of transportation and overhead personnel, as well as speeding the flow of personnel into, through, and out of the Army.

United War Chest Drive To Open In City Monday

Midland will open its United War Chest campaign Monday, and the 1944 goal has been set at $19,327, R. L. Miller, campaign chairman, announced.

The National War Fund has been allotted $13,077, the Boy Scouts $5,000 and the Girl Scouts $1,250. This is the first year that Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts have been included in the campaign. Heretofore, they have staged separate drives, and Midland has never failed to meet its quotas in each.

In the campaign, each citizen is urged to contribute two days pay.

Fred T. Hogan is chairman of the special gifts committee and John P. Butler is treasurer. Other workers and committeemen will be announced within a few days by Miller, who is perfecting campaign plans.

The Rev. Hubert Hopper said he would put an item in the First Presbyterian Church bulletin, calling attention to the drive and that he will make an announcement in his church Sunday. He also will ask other members of the Midland Ministerial Association to advertise and support the campaign. Mr. Hopper is president of the association.

Miller said committeemen will begin Monday soliciting funds for the War Chest and that he hopes to reach the goal at the earliest date possible.

Dumbarton Oaks Winds Up With No Agreement

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Officials of the United States, British and Russian governments wound up their world security planning at Dumbarton Oaks Thursday without reaching the complete agreement they had hoped for when the conference opened six weeks ago.

Under Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr., chairman of the meeting, summed up the 90 per cent of agreement he said had actually been accomplished as extremely satisfactory progress toward reaching a basis for a world organization.

Right To Vote

The main point left over is whether one of the great powers, if accused of aggression, should have a right to vote in the proposed world council on whether the accusation is to be sustained or rejected. Russia is understood to have favored such a right while the United States, and apparently the British also, argued against it.

The second phase of the Dumbarton Oaks talks is scheduled to begin Friday afternoon, after issuance of a joint news release Friday morning on the conclusion of the first phase. This concluding period will consist of talks by the British and American delegates with a Chinese delegation on the same points covered in the Russian conversations and any others the Chinese wish to bring up.

The Chinese conversations are expected to last about 10 days.

Ickes Writes Dewey!

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Interior Secretary Ickes Thursday made public a letter addressed to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in which he promised the Republican presidential nominee he will step down from the cabinet "if and when the incredible comes to pass and you become the President of the United States."

Ickes gave out the letter at his news conference and said it had been mailed Thursday. Dewey recently gave Ickes a high priority rating in projected cabinet changes.

The secretary told the assembled reporters it was customary to give a brief statement of the reasons for a "resignation," and that he had given these to Dewey:

"First, your disregard for the truth: second, your unrelieved record of contempt for civil liberties; and, third, my unwillingness to serve under a man whose chief qualification for public office, aside from his hunger for it, is his proved willingness to attain his goal by attempting to frighten the mothers of soldiers and by recklessly seeming to cause prejudice and hatred."

Allies Broaden Wedge To Trap 200,000 Nazis

LONDON — (AP) — The Allies' Nijmegen lifeline widened Thursday into an offensive wedge which was within 25 miles of walling off in Western Holland perhaps 200,000 German who may have to be added to the nearly 1,000,000 already written out of the battle of Western Europe.

But the loss of the Allies' only bridgehead across the Rhine at Arnhem in Holland by British First Airborne Division troops, whose 2,000 remnants trickled back through the corridor, apparently had dispelled hopes of a quick victory over Germany.

Fighting everywhere with skill, determination and fierceness, the Germans threw Third Army Americans out of their hard-won toe-hold at the entrance to the moat-ringed Fort of Driant, which guards the west bank approaches to Metz on the Moselle. The Nazis declared they also had smashed a bridgehead across the Antwerp-Turnhout canal west of the Nijmegen corridor.

First Army Attacks

Against the reverses, First Army Americans burst through the pillbox studded six-mile wide Hurtgen forest, 14 miles southeast of besieged Aachen, in a powerful effort to tear open the blocked way to Cologne.

Canadian soldiers attacked through the canal lines around Calais on the channel coast. They worked across the western flats into the factory area, converted into a stronghold, toward the port district.

Almost everywhere, the Germans said, the Allied attack was increasing in force, from Western Holland to the Belfort Gap.

They admitted the loss of positions in a "heavy fluctuating battle against far superior forces" east of Lure, 15 miles west of Belfort, said strong Allied attacks had started from the Nancy area in a northern direction.

Big Gun Duel

A big gun duel around Metz, the Germans added, was deepening in a prelude to a full American attack on that great fortress.

The Germans poured in five counterattacks, one six miles west of Metz near Gravelotte and two at Coincourt and Bzange nine to eleven miles northeast of Luneville below Nancy, the Supreme Headquarters communique announced. They withered under intense American fire which cost the enemy heavily.

U.S. Bombers Enter Fourth Day Of Attack

LONDON— (AP) —More than 1,000 American heavy bombers Thursday attacked German war factories at Magdeburg, Kassel and Merseburg. The railroad yard at Magdeburg was also hit.

The American bombers swept over the Reich for the fourth straight day, close on the heels of RAF heavies which carried the non-stop air offensive against German transportation through the night with a heavy attack on Kaiserslautern, important industrial city in the Saar.

The night raiders also made a side jab at Kassel, one of the four places attacked in daylight by American heavies which constituted about half the estimated 2,500 Allied planes over Germany Wednesday and Wednesday night.

Nazis Fight

The German air force, while greatly outnumbered, showed more life than usual and made several rough swipes at the attacking forces but at high cost to themselves. At least 90 German fighters were destroyed, including more than 60 in the air. Allied losses were 44 heavy bombers and 16 fighters.

Forty-two American heavies out of a force of more than 1,100 were lost on the four-pronged mission to the Rhineland. It was the third

HELSINKI—(AP)— Finnish troops were reported pressing a three-pronged drive in North Central Finland Thursday in an effort to smash retreating German forces leaving a trail of burned villages behind them.

Texas North American To Build Superforts

DALLAS—(AP)— Division Manager H. F. Swedes said Thursday the Texas division of North American Aviation, Inc., here would manufacture units of the B-29 Superfortress, using some of the facilities released by the government cutback in B-24 Liberator production.

He said the plant would manufacture and assemble aileron flaps and the complete tail section of the big bomber.

Aimee Semple McPherson Dies In Hotel After Colorful Career

OAKLAND, CALIF. —(AP)— An autopsy will be conducted here this morning on the body of Aimee Semple McPherson, 53-year old world famed evangelist, to determine the cause of her death in a hotel room Wednesday.

Mrs. McPherson, known as Sister Aimee to her thousands of followers, died shortly after she was discovered, gasping for breath and nearly unconscious, by her son, Rolf. Her death was ascribed to a heart attack at the time.

Shortly before she had ridden to an Oakland auditorium in a horse and buggy with a customary display of showmanship for which she gained fame in 34 years of evangelism and delivered a lecture on "The Foursquare Gospel." Wednesday nignt she was to have appeared before another audience but instead 300 men and women gathered to take part in an informal memorial service.

Her religious tabeaux in her $1,500,000 temple in Los Angeles attracted thousands; she claimed, only last month, that she had preached to more persons than any other evangelist of her time.

Marriages and divorces, court actions, and a widely-heralded disappearance in 1926, brought her into the headlines so often that she was among the world's best known evangelists.

Fiery sermons were her forte.

Aimee Semple McPherson

Great crowds flocked to her Los Angeles temple and she made many successful world tours. She made a striking figure standing on the platform with hand upraised, a cross of brilliants at her breast. Often in the background would be elaborate settings and large-scale props of religious themes.

Mrs. McPherson was founder of the International Church of the Foursquare Gospel. Her temple says there are 400 of her churches in the United States and 200 mission stations abroad.

The erect, attractive blond, born on a Canadian farm, was regarded as not only a spiritual leader but a miraculous healer by her literally millions of converts. But of this she once said:

"I am not a healer. Jesus is the healer. I am only the office girl who opens the door and says, 'Come in.'"

Mrs. McPherson began mission work near Ingersoll, Ontario, Canada, where she was born Oct. 9, 1890. In her youth she met Robert Semple, a tall, handsome preacher, while they were both attending the bedside of two sick children.

She married Semple when she was 19 and the couple traveled as missionaries through the Middle and Far West and in China. They both contracted an epidemic fever in the Orient and Semple died. Shortly after a daughter, Roberta, was born to Aimee.

In the United States the evangelist continued her mission work and sometime later, in the South, met and married Harold McPherson, a grocery clerk. A son Rolf, was born of this marriage, which ended in divorce.

After a world tour in 1931 Mrs. McPherson married David Hutton, a plump choir singer in her church. They were divorced in 1934.

In addition to the divorces, there were many other court appearances for the evangelist who in 14 years was sued 45 times in various civil disputes. Some judgments were obtained against her but many of the actions were dismissed or never brought to trial.

One of the most famous episodes in the evangelist's career began on May 13, 1926, when she walked into the breakers at Venice, Cal., and disappeared from view.

Thousands of her followers patrolled the beach for weeks, praying for her safety, and a $25,000 reward was offered for information about her. This offer was withdrawn June 12.

In the early morning hours of June 23 she stumbled into the border settlement of Agua Prieta, Mexico, near Douglas, Ariz.

At a hospital she told reporters that two persons, "Rose" and "Steve," had approached her on the beach at Venice and asked her to administer to their dying baby. When she was taken to a car, she declared the two clapped a blanket

Prospects In The Pacific

There is no D-Day mystery surrounding our current campaign in the Pacific. The consolidated forces of General MacArthur and Admiral Halsey are advancing step by step, almost calling their shots, toward the Philippines, the greatest Pacific prize short of Japan itself.

Liberation of the Philippines will be a terrific blow to Japan in loss of strategic position, supply and prestige. And our gains will be correspondingly great. We shall then have two barrels pointed at the heart of Japan. Manila is less than 1900 miles from Tokyo, well within the announced range of the B-29 Superbomber. It is within 700 miles of the China coast.

Japan is clearly facing her doom, but that doom does not seem imminent. Most Allied military leaders foresee a long and difficult fight, even when the great force of America and Britain can be concentrated on the Pacific war. For China's strength is waning as our grows in the island campaigns.

The Chinese army is still brave, but increasingly weary. It is still wretchedly armed and supplied. And there is little we can do about it at the moment. Until we can, and that day now seems distant, Japan will probably continue to tighten her grip on China, no matter how badly she fares elsewhere.

Some military minds admit the possibility of Japan's continuing the war for some time even with the homeland lost, if she can retain Manchuria and her Chinese territories.

Most of these military minds now appear to believe that there is no by-passing a great land campaign in China to drive every Jap out of the occupied territory. So we shall need speed as well as power, before Japan's grip the continent becomes too paralyzing.

Yet General MacArthur, who probably knows the enemy as well as anyone, has a new and encouraging view. He says that Japan is already doomed by the deterioration of her high command and officer material, and by the possible public reaction to it. This is important, for it may give us new propaganda weapons for an attack which up to now has been extremely difficult because of Japan's culture and national psychology.

"When public opinion realizes that its generals and admirals have failed," says General MacArthur, "the revulsion in Japanese thought will be terrific. Therein lies the basis for ultimate hope that the Japanese citizen will cease his almost idolatrous worship of the military and readust his thoughts along more rational lines."

Therein may also lie the strongest hope for a speedy victory.

The Satellites' Peace

It is unlikely that the Nazi government will get any wrong ideas from the armistice terms given to Finland and Romania. The drafters of these terms might have judged that the chief sin of the Finnish and Romania people was an excess of discretion over valor.

The governments of both countries have behaved reprehensibly. But an American could at least understand the Finnish people's predicament, even if he could not excuse their action. And he could understand the Romanians' helplessness against a government which has long kept them poverty-ridden and all but voiceless

But the Nazis know that it is different with them. The Germans were an educated enlightened people. They knew what was happening. But thousands of their soldiers stand already convicted of barbarous crimes for which no excuse of ignorance can be offered. Europe will remember German complacency and German crime. And so surely with the men who dictate Germany's terms.

The Nazi government and the German people know this. That's why they are still fighting.

Beauty On The Hill

Senator Andrews of Florida confesses himself depressed by the "morgue-like" appearance of the House and Senate chambers. His esthetic sense is likewise outraged by the "tobacco barn" steel rafters, installed four years ago to hold the glass roofs up. The senator would like to have both chambers tastefully redone—after the war, of course—at a cost of only $900,000.

We thing the legislators should give this matter their immediate and serious attention. It should perk up their spirits to know that the future holds promise of surroundings less likely to bruise their sensibilities. And with this out of the way, they might feel more like tackling such trivia as reconversion legislation, postwar taxes, and other odds and ends.

Bishop Stoney Says Americans Now Face Staggering Problems

Bishop James Moss Stoney told Midland Rotarians at their meeting Thursday noon in the Scharbauer Hotel that Americans now face the staggering "problems of a radically changing civilization."

We can't take these problems sitting down," he continued. "We can't solve them today. Intelligent men must think our way out and find the course to follow. Think, inform yourselves of the problems of the world and work toward their solution. If we put the great brains of our nation together the true way of doing things will work out. On our shoulders rests the guidance of public affairs.

Stitch In Time Important

"A stitch in time is important in public affairs as well as mending pants. We must awaken to our responsibilities. We must make a peace which will last. We must avoid wild inflation with a proper economic setup."

Discussing juvenile delinquency, he said it is not a problem of the war but a problem of "delinquent parents."

The bishop of New Mexico and Southwestern Texas was introduced by the Rev. R. J. Snell. Percy Bridgewater was program chairman.

C. H. Shepard announced the appointment of Rev. W. R. Mann as club secretary, succeeding G. B. Rush, who is moving to Odessa. Mrs. H. W. Swain was introduced as the new club sweetheart.

Rotarians will meet with the Lions Club next Wednesday noon to hear Railroad Commissioner Olin Culberson.

Silence blanketed the bulge to the east where American parachute troops had pushed into the Reichswald forest of Germany within seven miles of Kleve. That bulge covered the left flank of Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' battle to open the Aachen crack in the Siegfried Line into a gap for the assault on Cologne.

whose destruction or capture may now be deemed highly probable."

Allied forces in Northwestern Europe have swelled to between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 men, he said.

The British have suffered 90,000 casualties in France, he said, and American losses in killed, wounded and missing, including those in Southern and Northern France, have risen to 145,000.

British troops in Europe, he added, are now in a proportion of two for every three Americans.

Churchill opened his report by remarking on the change in the war picture during the period Parliament was in recess.

Transformation

"What a transformation now meets our eye," he said. "The foul enemy who for four years inflicted cruelties and oppression has fled, losing 400,000 in killed and wounded and leaving on our hands nearly a half million prisoners."

The stocky Prime Minister praised the American advances in Europe as a "model of the military art" and an example of "the propriety of running risks." British advances likewise, he said, have not been surpassed anywhere.

Paying tribute to Allied airborne troops, he said "casualties have been grievous, but for those who mourn there is the consolation that the sacrifice was not needlessly demanded."

Churchill said a Jewish brigade now being formed would take part in the occupation of Germany. He revealed also that the number of Italians fighting alongside the Allies on the Italian front soon would be more than doubled.

Indicating the tremendous power exerted by the Allies on D-Day, he reported that 250,000 men swarmed ashore in the first 24 hours and that 1,000,000 men had been landed by the 20th day of the invasion.

Turning to the Far East, he declared ten Japanese divisions which were sent against India had been repulsed and largely shattered. The campaign directed by Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten he described as the largest and most important ground fighting that so far has taken place against Japan. Between 50,000 and 60,000 Japanese have been killed in this campaign, he said.

"I can assure the House," he said, "that the war against the Japanese and other diseases of the jungle will be pressed forward with the utmost urgency."

Churchill reported that "complete agreement on every point," had been reached at the Quebec conference, adding that he and President Roosevelt had decided there would be no changes in the chiefs of staff charged with conducting the war.

The scale of the British effort against Japan, he said, will be limited only by available shipping which, with the ending of the U-boat war, would be magnificently magnified. He said he believed that the convoy system could be abandoned shortly in waters of the Western Hemisphere.

He said the British fleet had been offered for the war against Japan, and that the offer had been "cordially accepted." Much of it, he said, is already gathered in the Indian Ocean. These ships, added to those of the United States, he said, "should give us naval command of the most complete and decisive character."

Resuming promptly after an hour's luncheon recess, and still in the same resonant and vigorous voice, Churchill declared that never before had the alliance of three great powers against Germany been "more close or more effective."

The Prime Minister praised Poland, but said there would have to be territorial changes in the Polish frontier and that "Russia has a right to our support in this matter."

He added that he had "full hopes that the Polish premier and his colleagues would shortly resume conversations in Moscow." He said he believed a good arrangement will be achieved."

"I have every hope that wise and harmonious settlements will be made in confidence and amity between the great powers," he declared.

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN ALSACE-LORRAINE —(AP)— In an abandoned factory only two miles from German positions American troops of a frontier regiment gathered recently for an afternoon of entertainment.

Every GI in the outfit was on hand because word had spread that this show would be something special, with a well known entertainer as the star attraction. The place was packed.

After the comedian and two pretty girl singers had completed their acts, a familiar figure appeared and got a rousing reception from the soldiers who had not been told who the star would be.

The owner of a voice known to millions sang one song and was halfway through another when word came that the Germans had started an attack.

The order to leave was passed quickly down the line of disappointed Joes and they marched hurriedly out to battle—leaving Bing Crosby singing to an empty house.

heaviest Eighth Air Force loss this month. Much of the damage was suffered by one formation of Liberators pounced upon by 100 Nazis over Kassel.

Lancasters Fly Low

The Air Ministry said that in order to avoid clouds over the target the big Lancasters rained their bombs on the Kaiserlautern railway yards from only 3,000 feet, staring fires that were still spreading when the last bomber passed over.

An almost continuous air battle was going on Wednesday over the Arnhem-Nijmegen area where British fighters destroyed 41 Nazis in the air and six more on the ground. The remainder of the fighter claims were by American pilots. In bright moonlight RAF Mosquitos did a regular daylight strafing job on eight trains and several road convoys in Holland and Germany.

French-based U. S. fighter bombers destroyed a large ammunition dump north of Strasbourg, attacked enemy fortresses at Metz and sealed a long freight train in a tunnel at Munstererfel. The explosion of the ammunition dump was so tremendous that one plane flying at 8,000 feet was wrecked by the blast and a second plane was damaged.

FDR Won't Accept Morgenthau Plan

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt, it is said on high authority, has told peace planners that he will not accept Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's plan to reduce postwar Germany to an agriculture state.

Regulars Appeal To Anti-FDR Men For Added Help

AUSTIN —(AP)— Leaders of the newly-organized Texas Regulars, who have reportedly been trying to persuade the Republicans to withdraw their presidential electors from the Nov. 7 ballot, Thursday renewed their appeal to anti-Roosevelt Democrats for votes.

Merritt H. Gibson of Longview, whose name has been mentioned as a possibility for director of the Regulars' statewide campaign, said here that the September convention "did not hesitate to embarrass and attempt to sabotage the most popular and statesmanlike governor Texas has had in many years, Gov. Coke R. Stevenson. He called on Democrats to vote for the Regulars' electors.

GOP Won't Withdraw

At Brownsville, R. B. Creager, Texas' Republican national committeeman, said his party would not withdraw its electors, and predicted that many of the regulars would ultimately come out for Dewey because of their opposition to Roosevelt.

Several leaders of the new party disavowed any efforts to bring about a coalition of forces opposed to Roosevelt. Among them were E. B. Germany of Dallas and Roy Sanderford of Belton, the latter chairman of the Regulars' convention.

Creager said, however, that the Regulars would like to see the Republican electors withdrawn.

May Resign

The law provides that electors may resign up to 20 days before Election Day. Meanwhile, Secretary of State Sidney Latham sent to the printer copy for the sample ballot which he will distribute to county officials. If there are withdrawals, they must clear through him, and none had come to his office.

Gibson's statement here added that the September convention, controlled by the pro-Roosevelt faction, had refused to listen to President Roosevelt.

Gibson said Stevenson, prior to the September convention, "had just returned from Washington where he was invited by President Roosevelt for a conference at which the President agreed to a peace plan proposed by the Governor."

He was referring to Stevenson's proposal that both Pro and Anti-Roosevelt Electors' names be printed in the Democratic column on the general election ballot.

"They turned him down as promptly as they did Gov. Stevenson," Gibson added.

"Although this convention has always been regarded as the 'Governor's Convention,' they wholly disregarded his expressed wishes to continue George Butler as chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and Charles E. Simons as secretary," Gibson said.

reached the soil of Eastern Slovakia. The decisive moment seemed near for the Fourth Ukrainian Army, led by Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov, to crack the tough German and Hungarian defense zone along the crest of the Carpathians in that sector.

Petrov's command, which includes units of the First Czechoslovak Army, won dominating high ground along the border six miles West of Uzok Pass.

A Moscow broadcast heard in London Monday said Russian forces were reported to have penetrated 25 miles into Czechoslovakia through Lupkow Pass, Northwest of Uzok Pass, and captured Hummene.

The Russian command was silent on the progress of Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's campaign to invade Hungary across her Southeastern plains, but it was asserted his drive will be coordinated with the fighting in Eastern Slovakia.

German reports said Red Army forces have already made a ten-mile penetration into Hungary from the Arad area of Romania.

Greek Guerrillas Join Allied Force In Battle On Nazi

ROME — (AP) — Greek guerrilla forces have placed themselves under the jurisdiction of the Allied Command and steps have been outlined for coordinated offensive measures to bring about the "speediest possible liberation of Greece."

Allied Headquarters announced this Thursday, adding that Lt. Gen. R. Mck. Scobie of the British Army has been named commander of all Allied operations in Greece.

Gen. Napoleon Zervas and General Sarafis, commanding two guerrilla armies, "declared their full acceptance of proposals to bring the guerrillas under Allied command, the announcement said.

Regaining the heights lost in a fierce Nazi counterattack two days ago, the Americans also seized Mount Carnevale, southeast of Castel Del Rio.

British and Dominion troops in the Adriatic sector enlarged their bridgehead over the Rubicon to a two-mile depth over a 10-mile front and closed in on the town of Savignano.

On the Adriatic sector Canadian troops of the Eighth Army captured Bellaria, a small seaside town eight miles beyond Rimini. Bellaria was found in possession of Italian patriot forces.

Other Fifth Army troops in the central sector occupied Castiglione Dei Peipoli and Bruscoli, five miles due East. Both are approximately 29 miles below Bologna, with Castiglione on a main highway leading directly to the big Italian city.

Fifth Army troops on the West Coast sector captured Querceta, six miles below the important town of Messa, and Vallecchia, east of Querceta, despite stubborn resistance and intense artillery fire.

Texas Regulars Adopt Platform; Plan Campaign

Midland County Texas Regulars, anti-Roosevelt Democrats, Wednesday afternoon adopted a platform and made plans for a campaign to extend throughout the sixteenth Congressional district.

Richard S. Brooks, Texas Regular elector from this district, presided at the session as Chairman Hamilton E. McRae was unable to attend because of illness.

Campaign funds now are being solicited by the organization to oppose Roosevelt in the November election.

Regulars Will Sign Platform

The platform adopted at the Wednesday session, which all members of the anti-New Deal organization will be asked to sign, follows:

"We, the undersigned, unqualifiedly endorse the Texas Regulars' slate of uninstructed candidates for presidential electors, including Richard S. Brooks, the candidate representing the 16th Congressional District, and authorize the publication of this endorsement and the use of our names generally in behalf of the candidacy of such electors.

"The Texas Regulars are Democrats who oppose the policies of the so-called New Deal and oppose the reelection of Franklin D. Roosevelt for a fourth term, but support all Democratic candidates for state and local offices from constable to governor.

"The Texas Regulars are in favor of representative Democracy; free private enterprise; local self-government; and the limitation of presidential tenure to not more than two terms of four years each.

"The Texas Regulars are unalterably opposed to beaurocratic tyranny; state socialism and collectivism; centralized beaurocracy; political and economic favoratism towards any group; and perpetual reelection of presidents.

"The Texas Regulars propose to electe a slate of presidential electors instructed only to vote for some Democrat who will effectuate the above principles and not to vote for Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Keeping American Homes Intact

We're great home lovers in our town. Family folk—like most Americans. So when war came, and the boys left in uniform, and the girls went into war plants, folks began to shake their heads.

Take Ben Ryder's family, for instance—all doing something different. Young Ben's in the Navy, and his sister's in the airplane plant. Ben's foreman at the tool shop, and Ma spends her days at the Canteen.

A broken home? Don't you believe it! When Ben relaxes with his evening glass of beer, and Mom and Sis sit down to write their daily letter to Ben Jr., they're closer together than ever . . . bound by a strong and common purpose—to keep their family, their America, intact.

From where I sit, the strength of America lies in that family spirit—in the tolerance and mutual respect and understanding that have made the American family a strong and vital force for Good!

PIN-WORMS

Now can be Beaten!

The miseries of Pin-Worms have been known for centuries, and many doctors have sought a way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives and grows inside the human body.

Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery, a new and highly effective treatment is being hailed by medical authorities. It is based on a remarkable drug known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablet developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines.

P-W makes it unnecessary for you or your child to suffer in silence with the embarrassing rectal itch caused by Pin-Worms, or to take chances on the real distress they often create. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy Pin-Worms.

So watch for possible warning signs such as: itching seat and nose, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for a package of P-W and follow the simple directions carefully.

It is easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Take An Artist's Tip; Treat Legs As Canvas Before Painting

CLAIRE TREVOR: Leg art is her specialty.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

A lot of leg art misses being good art because girls aren't careful enough about preparing the "canvoses" underneath before they paint.

From Hollywood's Claire Trevor, who can speak with some authority—her leg make-up must fool the camera—comes tips on ways to put your art across.

First of all, she says, you should de-fuzz skin every day. But she warns you to do that before going to bed so as to give scrapings or irritations time to subside.

Other tips from Claire are these: Close up hair follicles with an astringent. Whether or not skin is rough, use a softening lotion, particularly on heels. Be sure that legs are free of any previous make-up before applying new coats.

Claire says the secret of her technique is to pour or squeeze out only as much make-up on skin as legs will take up, explaining that the excess which you can work in is what makes a messy job.

CIO Head Breaks Dallas Steel Strike

DALLAS—(AP)—Receipt of a telegram from Philip Murray, United Steelworkers of America (CIO) head and CIO president, has resulted in a vote by a Mosher Steel Company plant workers here who walked out Sept. 15 to return to work under protest.

Murray's telegram appealed to the workers to return to their jobs in accordance with the organization's no-strike pledge and added that he would continue efforts to persuade government agencies to enforce directive orders of the National War Labor Board.

WLB Caused

Cause of the dispute, over which more than 100 employes walked out, was listed as the firm's failure to meet a WLB order concerning vacations and the inclusion of a maintenance of membership clause in its contract with the local union.

Lawrence Bench, subregional director of United Steelworers, said the workers voted to go back to work under protest, looking forward to the directive orders being placed in effect by the company or to the Army taking over to place the orders in effect.

H. W. Beutel, works manager for Mosher, said that employes have been returning gradually since the walk-out began and that about 70 per cent of normal had been reached before Wednesday night's election. He said the election would affect the remaining 30 per cent.

MAAF Men Attend Special Showing Of 'Desert Victory'

In keeping up with its policy of creating interesting relaxation and recreation, the Special Service Department at Midland Army Air Field played host to some five hundred enlisted personnel Wednesday night at the Post Service Club, when they gave a special showing of Twentieth-Century Fox's action-packed movie, "Desert Victory," depicting Rommel's Afrika Corps rout from Egypt.

The movie which was shown in the main hall of the club, was quite entertaining, as well as educational, along with plenty of humor, that the soldiers enjoyed very much. Special Services Officer Major Russell B. Brown stated, following the Wednesday night performance, that arrangements were being formulated to hold a GI movie once a week.

Also in store for the enlisted personnel at the bombardier base in the near future will be such attractions as: "Game Night," which will include ping pong, pocket billiards, checkers, dominoes and bridge; "Quiz Show Night," which will be arranged, produced and presented entirely by GIs; and the famous "GI Smoker Night," where the boys will hash and rehash the big football games. The next big "Smoker Party" is planned to be held during the coming big league baseball "world series."

Officers Elected For Bowling League

Officers were elected for the Midland Bowling League Wednesday night. Locksley Hall was chosen president, Don Scott vice president, and Al Boring secretary and treasurer.

Teams entered in the league are Dunagan Sales Co., Midland Army Air Field, Cameron Drug Stores, Honolulu Oil Co., Junior Chamber of Commerce, King-Parrott Service Club, Mackey Motors and the Texas Company.

Others who might want to enter the league are asked to contact Boring.

Ask Junior Golfers To Turn In Scores

Those entered in Midland Country Club's junior handicap golf tourney are asked by Gaither Nowell, club pro, to get in their five qualifying scores by Saturday so that match play can start Saturday.

The course will be open after school both Thursday and Friday for the juniors to play their qualifying rounds, Nowell said.

The junior tournament is open to those under 16 who are children of club members.

Only two matches remain to be played in the semi-finals of the senior tournament. These are scheduled to be played before Sunday, and the finals will be played Sunday.

4-H Boys Will Get Lambs On Wednesday

Midland County's 4-H Club boys who will feed lambs will get their animals Wednesday, County Agent I. O. Sturkie said Thursday.

The lambs will be bought from Warren Skaggs and will be at the Farmers Cooperative Gin Wednesday at 6 p. m. The boys who will feed lambs are asked to call at the gin and make their selections.

Boys who will get lambs are Dale Bizzell, two; Don Bizzell, two; Charles Locklar, one; Griff McConal, two; Donald Leon Bradshaw, two; Wayne McKandles, two; Frank Locklar, one, and James McKandles, two.

Date Set For 4-H Boys' Calf Tour

November 3 was announced Thursday by County Agent I. O. Sturkie as the date for the 4-H boys calf tour.

The boys and their fathers will meet early in the day at Sturkie's office and make a tour over the county inspecting club calves.

The tour will end with a barbecue and program at Cloverdale, Sturkie said.

Autumn Temperature Prevails In Midland

Typical early fall weather prevailed in Midland Wednesday as the maximum temperature for the day reached 80 degrees, and the maximum held for only 45 minutes from 5:30 to 6:15 p. m.

During the night the mercury dropped until it reached the 64 degree mark at 6 a. m. Thursday and continued to hold there until 9 a. m. before it started rising again.

final shot of 10,000 gallons of acid in the full pay section from 6,865 feet to 7,043 feet.

The well was flowing for an average of 50 barrels hour and some of the acid load was still in the hole. Some observers expect it will attain around 70 barrels per hour flow when fully cleaned up.

A 60-minute drillstem test was taken at 8,144-8,251 feet, and there was a steady blow throughout, which brought gas to the surface in 25 minutes, in Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1-D University, Southwest Andrews County exploration, in section 8, block 11, University survey.

High-Gravity Crude

When operator was breaking down the tool, 540 feet of gas-cut drilling mud was recovered. The well unloaded five stands of oil and mud. Final recovery was 90 feet of free oil and oil-cut mud. Gravity of the crude was 43 degrees.

Some observers picked a top of the Devonian in this well at 7,965 feet. Midland representatives of the operator reported Thursday that no such point had been officially released from the office here. Elevation is 3,327 feet.

Atlantic Refining Company No. 1 Cordova-Union (TAR Co.), section 47, block 34, H&TC survey, West Upton County extension to the Devonian production in the Crossett pool, was flowing around 15 barrels oil hourly after treating at 5,370-96 feet with 1,000 gallons of mud acid.

About Ready To Finish

It is probable that this section, and the lower zone at 5,400-20 feet which tested for around 10 barrels per hour, will be re-acidized together and the well completed. In latest tests the bottom pay had been plugged off.

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 1 Cravens, section 16, block D, L&SV survey, in North Lubbock County, was making hole past 4,260 feet in lime. Top of the San Andres was marked at 3,150 feet. Elevation is 3,279 feet.

Sun Oil Company No. 1 Martin, section 17, block A-41, psl survey, scheduled 10,500-foot wildcat in Southwest Andrews, corrected present total depth to 4,105 feet, from 4,110 feet, and has run a string of 9 5/8-inch casing which will be cemented before drilling ahead.

More Coring On Leonard

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Federal-Leonard, section 12-26s-37e, Southwest Lea County, New Mexico, Ellenburger exploration, which has shown considerable gas and some high-gravity oil, was coming out of the hole with a core taken at 11,887-891 feet.

Watchorn Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Thompson, section 73, block 1, H&GN survey, South Crockett County exploration, which reached a total depth of 7,460 feet in Ellenburger and found only water, has finally been abandoned and plugged. It plugged back to 2,940 feet and treated a zone above that level, through perforations, with two doses of 2,000 gallons of acid each, and swabbed a show of oil with water. That strangled the project.

Had Show Of Gas

The Texas Company No. 1 Hogg, section 24, block B-10, psl survey, Southeast Winkler County lower Permian prospector, showed for 62,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day, and recovered 150 feet of gas-cut drilling mud, with no show of oil during a 60-minute drillstem test at 5,041-5,155 feet and is now drilling ahead.

Texaco No. 1 Johnson, section 41, block 42, TP survey, T-4-N, Southwest Borden County wildcat to 7,500 feet, was making new hole below 2,950 feet, in anhydrite, after recovering twisted-off drillpipe.

over her head and she became unconscious when a sponge was placed to her nostrils.

She was driven to a one-room shack in Mexico, the evangelist said, when Steve burned her fingers with a lighted cigar in an effort to elicit information, the nature of which she never disclosed. One day while her abductors were away, Mrs. McPherson related, she cut the ropes that bound her with a jagged tin can, and escaped from the cabin.

Return Triumphant

Her return to her temple in Los Angeles was triumphant. Crowds jammed the building nightly.

The Los Angeles County grand jury heard testimony in an investigation of her disappearance but did not return an indictment.

Several weeks later a district attorney's complaint was filed against Mrs. McPherson; her mother, Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy; Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at the temple, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman Seilaff.

The complaint charged conspiracy to obstruct justice and to prepare false evidence. It alleged that the evangelist "pretended she had been kidnapped" but that instead she had spent 10 days in a cottage at Carmel with Ormiston. Ormiston declared in an affidavit that he had not occupied the cottage with the evangelist.

After a lengthy preliminary hearing, the case was set for trial in superior court but later the charges were dismissed at the request of District Attorney Asa Keyes, who said that one of the chief witnesses had "changed her story almost daily."

Mrs. McPherson's mother and two children survive her.

Mustering Out Pay To Be Paid To GI Joe In Equal Installments

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Who gets mustering out pay? How much? Who doesn't get it? Who else can claim it?

Here are questions and answers on this gift from Uncle Sam to veterans of this war:

Q. Who gets it?

A. Generally—note the word—it goes to anyone honorably discharged from active service on or after Dec. 7, 1941. This includes the male and female personnel of Army, Navy, Marines and Coast Guard.

Q. What is the amount of mustering out pay:

A. There are three different kinds of pay:

Three Hundred Dollars—To anyone who has had 60 days or more of active service and has served outside the Continental United States or in Alaska. It is given in three equal payments: $100 at time of discharge, $100 one month later, and $100 one month after that.

Two Hundred Dollars—For a person who has been in active service 60 days or more but has spent all of it within the Continental United States. It is given in two equal payments: $100 at time of discharge and $100 one month later.

One Hundred Dollars—For a person who has had less than 60 days' active service. The full payment of $100 is made at time of discharge.

Exceptions

Q. Do all persons who have been honorably discharged from the military service since Dec. 7, 1941, receive mustering out pay?

A. No. There are exceptions. Here are some of the main ones:

1. Anyone above the rank of captain in the Army or Marines or above the rank of lieutenant, senior grade, in the Navy gets no mustering out pay.

2. No mustering out pay goes to anyone who is discharged from active service on his own request to accept employment if he has not served outside the continental limits of the United States or in Alaska. But—anyone who has served overseas will get mustering out pay even though he is discharged at his own request.

3. Only those members of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps (WAAC) who were honorably discharged on account of disability are entitled to the payments. The WAAC, not part of the Army, was the forerunner of the Women's Army Corps (WAC) which became part of the Army Sept. 30, 1943.

WAAC Not Eligible

So women—except those honorably discharged for disability—who were in the WAAC but did not remain to serve in the WAC are not entitled to mustering out pay.

Q. Between Dec. 7, 1941 and Feb. 4, 1944, when mustering out pay became law, 1,300,000 persons were discharged from the military services. Are they entitled to mustering out pay?

A. Yes, if they met the conditions which entitle any veteran of this war to the payment .

Q. If they haven't applied for the payment, how would they go about getting it?

A. By applying to the branch of the military force in which they served.

Q. Suppose a veteran was discharged after Dec. 7 and, after leaving the service, died before receiving any portion or the full amount of mustering outpay. Would that veteran's survivors be able to claim his—or her—mustering out pay?

A. Yes, if the veteran was entitled to it under the conditions outlined above.

Q. Is mustering out pay tax free?

A. Yes. And it is not subject to the claims of a creditor.

Galveston News Supports Dewey

GALVESTON— (AP) —The Galveston News, Texas' oldest newspaper, which has been Democratic in politics for a century, has announced that it would support Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the presidential campaign.

The News opposed re-election of Roosevelt in 1940, but its support of Wendell Willkie at that time was considerly less emphatic than the support being accorded Dewey.

Commenting Wednesday upon the placing of anti-Roosevelt electors on the November ballot under the name of Texas Regulars, the News said:

"Texas Democrats can best serve the cause of constitutional government and the ultimate interests of their party by voting and working for the election of Thomas E. Dewey."

The Census Bureau pictures the average American father in the United States as 44 years old, married, living with his wife and with one or two children, resident of a city of 2,500 population or over and working in private or non-emergency work.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

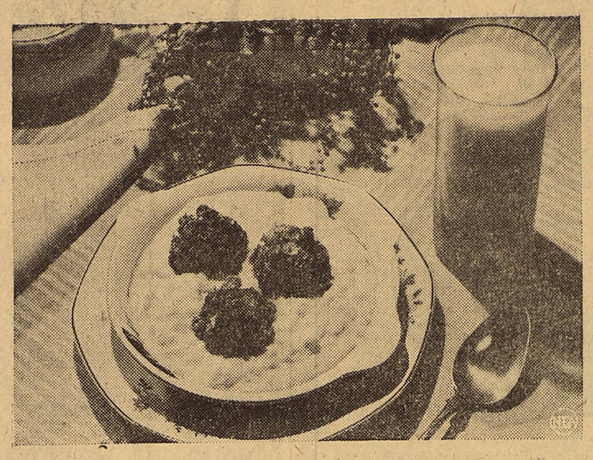

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Double Duty Menus Save Time And Energy

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Don't drive yourself crazy cooking separately for the family and children. Dovetail foods for both into the family meal pattern. When every minute counts, don't spend unnecessary minutes in the kitchen.

Plan meals ahead, a few days at a time. Then children's meals can easily be adapted to family dinners and much double cooking avoided. If, for example, your children's routine includes a heavy meal at noon, choose for the family's meal foods suitable for both adults and children, and cook enough to leave a noon dinner for the next day.

Adult foods ccan be adapted for children in countless ways. Spices, pie-crust and fried foods are not meant for youngsters so, of course, certain dishes must be modified. But meat loaf and stews are children's foods if spices are omitted; and pie fillings are also suitable, which means making a little extra filling into a pudding. Cream sauces and cream soups take care of vegetable reheating. Everyone will be happy this way — the youngsters get nutrition, adequate food and the others won't be clamoring, "Where's the flavor gone in this meal?"

Floating Crunchy Pudding

One-half cup molasses, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 tablespoon butter, 6 cups cornflakes.

Combine molasses, sugar and salt and boil to 250 degrees F. or until mixture forms a firm ball when dropped into cold water. Add butter. Pour over cornflakes and toss together lightly with a fork. Then form mixture into 1-inch balls. Serve 3 to 4 balls on top of each serving of Spanish cream or chilled soft custard.

Cream of Vegetable Soup
(Serve 6)

Three tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 3 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups vegetable pulp and lipuid.

To make vegetable pulp, dice or slice vegetables and cook until soft in just enough boiling salted water to cover; force through sieve. Melt butter; add flour and cook until well combined. Add milk and salt. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add strained vegetable pulp, reheat and serve.

One-eighth of a ton of coal is needed to make a barrel of gasoline.

Widespread Belief War Has Gone To Pot, Unfounded

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

Just as expected, the defeat at Arnhem and Allied failure to walk through the Siegfried Line has resulted in widespread belief that the war has gone to pot. Forgotting how we glossed over defeats two and three years ago, we are now "success-conditioned" and every temporary setback becomes a major catastrophe.

It was true at Cassino, and when the Germans and bad weather delayed us a little while in Normandy, and now when we have lost, in a dramatic episode, fewer men than the Germans in many actions which failed even to make the front pages. It is a reaction from a few weeks ago when the German army was "broken" and speculation was rife as to whether it could make even a halfway decent stand on the Rhine.

War of Frustration

Now we are talking of a winter war of frustration on the western front. Churchill, naturally taking the opportunity to overcome any possible remaining overconfidence, reminds that it could be, but carefully refrains from saying it will be.

Well, it could be. People fighting with their backs to their homes often upset the best military calculations. On September 28, 1941, there were few people who conceded the Russians any chance to stop the Nazis before Moscow.

It would have been very helpful to the western front campaign if the airborne troops could have held the Rhine bridge at Arnhem. But the jabs back and forth up and down the front are only the warm-up rounds in the real battle for Germany. Delay now, as at Caen, means only that once again Eisenhower is sending no boys to do a man's job. The German campaign will start when he is ready to start it, and that probably very soon.

Farm Machinery Mostly Unrationed

COLLEGE STATION— (AP) —Rationing restrictions have been lifted on all farm machinery except corn pickers, effective Thursday, state AAA head B. F. Vance said he had been informed by C. D. Walker, director of AAA's southern division in Washington.

Vance said he was instructed to notify county ration boards of the order.

Nazi War Classroom For Battle Of Tokyo

By JAMES J. STREBIG
Associated Press Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Nazi surrender will open Germany as a classroom for an advanced course on how to batter Japan from the air.

The lessons will be those which the Germans are getting from American and British bombers day after day, the damage being ofered as exhibits in how the job could have been done better—if it could have been.

Army experts are traveling close behind the liberation forces to study the effectiveness of United States Eighth, Ninth and Fifteenth Air forces work over Europe.

By co-ordinating their reports on damage with the amount and disposition of explosives and incendiaries by the bombers, lessons in destruction are being sent home for use in planning and training for future assaults.

Controlled Robot Bomb

More bad news for Japan is that the United States, having passed up the kind of flying bombs tossed at England by the Germans in favor of development on a broader scale, is driving at a controlled bomb which would have a maximum of effectiveness.

The German flying bombs traveled in a straight line at low and medium altitudes. This made them subject to ground fire in addition to attacks by fast fighter planes.

A high-flying maneuverable bomb would be extremely difficult for both anti-aircraft guns and fighter planes.

Suffers Injuries In Automobile Accident

A soldier received emergency treatment at a Midland hospital Wednesday night following an automobile collision in the 1900 block of West Wall at 10:30 p. m. He suffered injuries to his right hand and right eye. Following treatment at the Midland hospital he was transferred to the hospital at Midland Army Air Field.

The two cars involved in the accident had their right front wheels knocked off and right fenders and lights smashed, police said.

Houses damaged beyond repair, 25,511.

Houses seriously damaged and not habitable, 52,277.

Houses damaged, but habitable, 77,030.

Houses slightly damaged, 873,177.

Total—1,027,995.

Difficulties in obtaining tung oil have spurred production in Brazil of castor oil for paint and varnish manufacture.

Rex, K9 Veteran, Comes Home Improved Dog

PORTLAND, ORE. —(AP)— Some dogs may come back from the wars maladjusted, but Rex, a two-year-old Collie, has improved.

He took his special month's course which rids canine veterans of chew-'em-up habits, and came out gentle and friendly as ever.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hazelwood report only one noticeable change: for the first time in his life, Rex comes when he's called.

Wyoming Wildlife Not So Wild

CHEYENNE, WYO.—(AP)— Wildlife in Wyoming isn't so wild. Airport authorities here tried to shoo an antelope off the landing field, failed, finally hauled it away, and in Cokeville, Wyo., a moose meandered into town, posed prettily while residents took pictures, then strolled on.

Shoots Pheasant But Skunk Wins Kill

MANDAN, N. D.—(AP)—Josephine Mushik shot a pheasant but she never got around to "bagging" it.

Running to retrieve the fallen bird, she found a skunk had beaten her to the fowl. Adding to her ill luck, Miss Mushik sprained her ankle when she turned to make a hasty retreat.

Look At The Stamps, Says Spokane Postman

SPOKANE, WASH. —(AP)— Postmaster Will W. Simpson says, paste in those War Stamps as soon as they're purchased.

Several times local customers have stuck a $1 War Stamp instead of a one-cent postage stamp on cards but the biggest error came when a letter was mailed with three $1 War Stamps on it.

Senators May Trip Detroit In Race For League Top

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington's maligned Senators, picked to win the pennant in March but destined to be a gloomy last in October, nold the key Thursday to Detroit's first pennant bid since 1940.

Granted the Bengals may find the last four steps the steepest after beating the Nats 15 times in their first 18 meetings, but the two opposition candidates, St. Louis, one game back, and New York, three lengths off the pace, will be clashing in a dog-eat-dog series that can easily eliminate both.

With four games to go all around, Detroit's one-game lead looks good because the schedule is breaking in their favor after a long uphill struggle. Steve O'Neill's overworked duo of Hal Newhouser and Dizzy Trout are not down for duty Thursday but either or both will be on call.

Tigers Sharp

As long as the Tigers get pitching and hitting like Wednesday's 4-0 victory over Philadelphia, nobody can get close. When the Yanks and Browns chased one another from April to mid-September, everything seemed to hinge on their closing clash but the Brownies' loss to Boston Wednesday night took some of the edge off.

Rain in St. Louis almost turned thinges upside down Wednesday but the Browns, after moving the Boston finale from afternoon to night and delaying the start for an hour waiting for the drizzle to stop, finally played and were sorry. It was the end of a 7-game St. Louis winning streak and a 10-game Boston losing string.

Pinky Woods

Pinky Woods, a surprise nominee, took the decision, 4-1, his fourth of the year, but gave way to Red Barrett after a wild spell in the eighth. Denny Galehouse was lifted for a pinchhitter in the fifth trailing, 1-0, and his relief pitchers failed as the Browns muffed repeated opportunities in the late innings.

It was Newhouser with win No. 28 for the Tigers in the shutout of the A's, boosting the Newhouser-Trout toatl to 55 victories, tying the old mark held by Cleveland's Jim Bagby Sr. and Stan Coveleskie.

New York kept its foot in the door and breathed life into its whisper of a chance by trimming Chicago, 7-2. Cleveland showed Earl Henry, a lefthander from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and the recruit beat Washington, 6-4.

Cincinnati's Bucky Walters picked up his 23rd National League success by topping New York, 8-1, thanks to Steve Mesner's grand slam homer. Freshman Clyde King hurled Brooklyn to a 3-2 shade over St. Louis, Boston held on to nose out Pittsburgh, 4-3 and Chicago came up with two in the 11th for a 5-3 edge over the Phils, in other senior circuit games.

Fourth Down

Heavy Receipts Are Apparent In Fight

NEW YORK—(AP)—As a result of an unexpectedly heavy advance sale for the featherweight title match between Champion Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., and Ex-Champion Chalky Wright of Los Angeles, the Madison Square Garden box office departent is looking for an $80,000 gate for Friday night's 15-round tussle. Their first meeting, two years ago, when Pep won the title, drew $71,000.

It Could Only Happen In A Brooklyn Game

BROOKLYN — (AP) — When Stan Musial of the Cardinals made a spectacular catch of Ed Stnaky's short fly in the sixth inning of Wednesday's Cards-Dodger game, Bobby Bragan was doubled off first without the player or the bag being touched. Stanky registered annoyance by catching Musial's doubling throw to Ray Sanders with his bare hand and firing the ball to the right field wall. So Umpire Larry Goetz called Bragan out, anyway.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Maybe the American League pennant race isn't exactly what Joe McCarthy was thinking about when he said that final Yankees-Brown series would settle the struggle, but it seems that Joe really called it right. . . . P. S.: Is Boston still in the league? . . . Self-appointed All-America football pickers already are plugging Tex Warrington, the Auburn center who is tabbed by Coach Carl Voyles as the best pivot man he ever has seen, Barney Poole of Army and Paul Walker of Yale, both ends. . . . One reason for the Cherry Point, N. C., Marines weak showing against the North Carolina Cloudbusters in last week's football opener was that Capt. Dave (Purdue) Rankin, Sgt. Bill (W&M) Barker, Pfc. World Series Veteran Plans This Year Trip

WINNIPEG — (AP) — Jack McConnell of Winnipeg expects to see his 24th consecutive world series next week—a record, he says, that is surpassed in Canada only by Joe Page of Montreal. Texas Tech Building New Passing Attack

LUBBOCK—(AP)—Building a passing attack is the major objective of the Texas Tech Red Raider work-outs this week in preparation for the invasion of San Antonio and a football date with the Texas Aggies Saturday night.

Passing has been something sadly missing from the Red Raider offensive this season. They unveiled one of the fast-breaking running games seen here since the war started in the game with Lubbock Army Air Field Saturday night.

The loss this week of Hoot Gibson, flashy running backfield star from Paris, will be greatly felt. Gibson had earned a place in starting lineup, and looked like a great prospect when he came up with a broken collarbone that will keep him out of the game for at least six weeks.

Cardinals Holding Final Try-Out Camp

DENISON —(AP)— The St. Louis Cardinals will hold their final baseball try-out camp of 1944 here Friday and Saturday at Miller Field. It will be the forty-fourth camp for the purpose of finding new talent for Cardinal minor league clubs.

★ From The Press Box

By JACK LIVELY

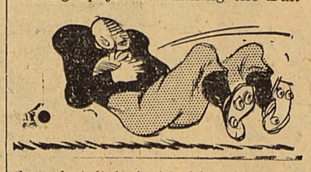

Thursday is the last day for the Midland Bulldogs to whip into the high pitch which will carry them to a quick and decisive victory over Austin High in El Paso Saturday night. Coach McCollum seems to think the boys are in pretty fair shape for the game and is rather optimistic about the whole thing.

The team has managed to work out the little soreness that it acquired in Pampa when it thrashed the Harvesters last weekend and as there are no injuries or charley-horses to hold it down this should be a good game. The Bulldogs leave Friday morning for El Paso, and a workout is scheduled there Friday afternoon.

Last season the boys brought home the bacon to the tune of 32 to 6 over Austin High, and claimed they permitted the one touchdown solely to get a return game this year. Bait.

With Wilber Yeager doing the headwork in this game for the first time there is a fair chance that the team will be better organized.

Not that Bill Richards didn't do a bang-up job at running the Bulldogs, but it is just asking too much of a back to do all that he has to do in the line of his regular duties and then to have to watch opposing strategy and map his own.

Those are the duties of the quarterback and he is placed where he has the best opportunity to observe the opponents. Yeager we feel is a good boy for the job. In a game he is cool and he knows football. That is the main qualification of a quarterback. His teammates respect his judgment and follow him. That is the ideal qualification for a quarterback. Good luck, Wilber.

State Picture

Looking out over the state a little we notice that Randolph Field is in possession of Bill Dudley, former All-America back from the University of Virginia. We used to watch Bill play and if ever there was a speed-merchant in the football world, Bill Dudley is the man.

In watching him play the first impression you have is that you are seeing a coach run his team through a practice formation in which he has instructed the second string to plan for the wrong play.

Dudley always manages to be where none of the opposing team seem to be. On passes, and he hurls them like bullets from a sharp-shooter's rifle, he will calmly wait until ten of the opposite team are upon him and the observer will swear that he hasn't a chance and then you will see that long spiral spin down into the waiting arms of an end or back and there is another score.

Single handedly, he carried the University of Virginia team to a beautiful season.

This weekend Dudley will play against Rice at Houston.

This weekend will also see San Angelo matched against Denison and while both teams lost the past weekend, San Angelo is picked to win.

Lamesa meets Odessa in a conference game, Brownwood at Sweetwater and Lubbock at Big Spring compose the main in the District Three AA league.

Female German Snipers Used

TEMPLE—(AP)—Pvt. Sam Burns, infantryman from Big Spring, Thursday added to the stories of German use of women as snipers when he was returned to McCloskey General Hospital.

"One day we captured a sniper who turned out to be a woman about 23 years old," he said. "Boy, was she mad when we got her. Maybe it's a good thing I don't understand German or French. She had plenty to say. She wore a regular German camouflaged sniper's suit."

Burns was wounded near Avranches July 26.

One Time The Board Could Not Question

SIMSBURY, CONN. — (AP) — It was no surprise to clerks of the Simsbury ration board when Harold Sweeton came in and requested an application for a tire certificate.

A moment before, a tire on Sweeton's car blew out with a loud "bang" in front of the ration board office.

New WMC Rulings For War Veterans Not Received Here

Veterans of World War II were advised Wednesday by L. F. Parker, manager of the Odessa office of the United States Employment Service, to wait until official regulations are received by his office before attempting to take advantage if the lifting of War Manpower Commission employment restrictions for veterans of the present war.

Parker pointed out the announcement did not give an effective date for cancelling the regulations as they applied to the veterans, and other details were missing from the Washington announcement.

Parker said when official regulations are received by his office he could give more detailed information to the veterans.

All Of City Traffic Lights Are Working

All seven of Midland's traffic lights are in operation again. They were turned off for two days last week, but all on Loraine and west of Loraine were put back into use again by temporary repairs. The lights east of Loraine have been repaired temporarily.

The lights began giving trouble following the heavy rain of September 5, which damaged an automatic switch. A new switch has been ordered, but has not arrived.

Cotton Crop To Be Profitable This Year

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas farmers will pocket an estimated $270,000,000 for the 1944-45 cotton crop, says A. B. Cox, University of Texas professor of cotton marketing.

Biggest contributing areas to a total estimated crop of 1,605,000 bales, said Dr. Cox, will be the Black and Grand Prairies with 640,000 bales, the Abilene-Haskell area with 540,000 bales and the Lubbock-Lamesa - Tahoka - Levelland areas with 425,000 bales.

West Texas C. Of C. Asks Broadening Of Social Security Plan

ABILENE—A plea for broadening national social security coverage to farm workers and other now excluded classes, but with less federal and more state administration of the program, will be made by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at its 1944 referendum convention, if affiliates back up the stand of President M. C. Ulmer.

WTCC headquarters announced Ulmer has voted affirmatively, subject to affiliates' approval, on all 21 points of a U.S. Chamber of Commerce referendum covering all phases of postwar soical security. The USCC is calling for an expression by members on whether benefits should be broadened to cover farm and ranch workers, members of the armed forces with full credit for periods of service, employees of government and of non-profit organizations, and domestic servants; and if so, at what levels. Also asked are expressions on socialized medicine and on how the entire program should be financed and administered.

In Texas, some chambers of commerce and other USCC—affiliated groups have voted 'no' on some of the planks, including, notably, extending of benefits to the farms and ranches and to the military. For the WTCC, on the other hand, it is proposed to go all out for these classes.

The stand of the West Texas Chamber, as recommended by Ulmer, is set forth as Plank No. 6 of its referendum ballot to be taken to the territory in a series of district meetings early in October; then voted on in town meetings with eight other proposals; and finally determined at the directors' clearance assembly at the Abilene headquarters Nov. 8.

Cold Streaks Or Hot Streaks Call Branch & Shepard

There have been some cool streaks They won't last long.

Then there will be some really cold business coming in.

Insulation with rock wool will do the temperature job many different ways, Branch and Shepard Roofing Company advises.

"Keep your house cooler in summer and warmer in winter," is the way C. H. Shepard words the rock wool insulation set-up.

Insulation Holds Temperature

This type of insulation keeps the homes many degrees below the general heat when summer and summer heat are on, then when cold weather hits it holds the indoor warmth, doesn't let it escape by many degrees.

Comparitively rapid installation by machinery and skilled workers can be made. Payment can be made on a twelve month basis.

"You would be surprised at the low cost," Shepard said, "to insulate your home . . .Call us for figures . . . you are not under any obligation."

Your coolness in the summer and autumn will be kept up and your fuel costs in the winter will be kept down.

Modern Home Of 'Sally Ann' Bread

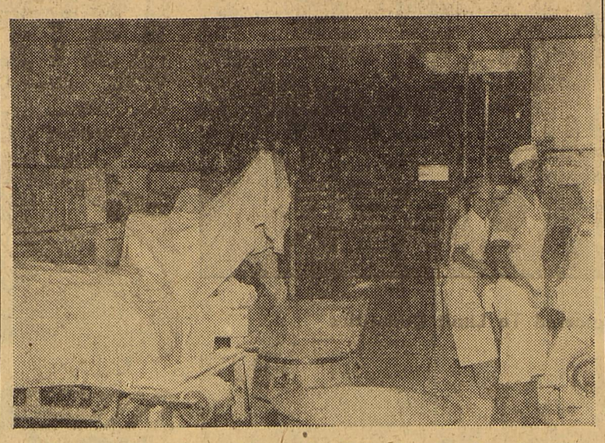

When W. C. Tillman, owner of Tillmans Bakery, began business in Midland in May, 1940, he bought with him the ambition and idea to make the BEST loaf of bread that could be made, regardless of time, expense or anything else involved in its production.

"The Sally Ann formula," he stated, "comes nearer, in my opinion to being the ideal bread for everyone to use all the time, both winter and summer, than any other similar product on the market. After four years in the continuous production of this loaf, I am more convinced than ever that Sally Ann bread meets fully the requirements of the most excating user of consistently good bread.

Rich In Vitamin B

"Sally Ann is rich in vitamin B1 and is always made with ingredients which are tested for freshness BEFORE ever being used. We feel that these factors are responsible for the widespread distribution that our product now enjoys in this area."

The Tillman Bakery also makes a complete line of cakes and pastries and special attention is given to individual orders for birthday, wedding and private parties. The plant has recently added a cake machine and bread molder as well as other modern equipment to keep the plant abreast of the times . . .although as Tillman states "we use a new piece of equipment so fast and furious after we get it that it DON'T stay new very long.

Modern machinery is used in making Sally Ann bread at the Tillman Bakery. Care is used to insure uniform quality, and only the best ingredients are used. Sally Ann bread has become a popular favorite with Midland citizens.

Texas Cattle Sales Company Makes Broad And Active Livestock Mart

The Texas Cattle Sales Company, Inc., has shown a steady, continuous growth since it opened its auction ring in Midland in the autumn of 1940. From a humble start, there now passes through the ring each week an average of over 300 head of livestock. The company has built a large number of corrals during the past two years to take care of expanding volume in trading.

The auction begins each Thursday at 1 p.m. and cattle, hogs, sheep, goats, horses and mules are bought and sold in large numbers. At least 40 counties in this area are served by the Texas Cattle Sales Company and buyers from packing companies all over the United States come here each week to obtain livestock for their firms.

Principal Objective

"The principal objective of our business," stated J. C. Miles, owner "is to provide a market for both buyer and seller of all kinds of livestock. The presence at our auction each week of packers representatives from both large and small packing firms from all over the Middlewest and Southwestern part of the United States enables the seller of livestock that is in killing condition to get as good a price (in some instances better) as can be obtained anywhere.

"The seller of stocker cattle, hogs, sheep, etc., also gets a fair price because stockmen and farmers from a wide area now patronize our auction each week. . In the final analysis, this is not MY auction—it really belongs to those interested in livestock regardless of where these persons may have their home.

"Therefore, I wash to call it to everyones attention that our livestock market here can be improved constantly by bringing more animals thru our ring each week because everyone knows that the more trades that are made, naturally the broader the market."

J. C. Miles, owner of the Texas Cattle Sales Company, Inc., has been located here for 17 years, moving here in 1927 from Fannin county.

Miles has spent his entire life in the livestock and farming business and now operates farms, grows and finishes livestock in both Mitchell and Midland counties.

Home Of Fashion Cleaners

This brick structure on West Texas is home of the Fashion Cleaners, cleaners for "people who care." Despite the unprecedented amount of cleaning being done by the firm every precaution is taken to assure only quality work being done.

Fashion Cleaners Wins Reputation For Quality Work

In the nine years since the Fashion Cleaners was established in Midland, the firm has won a wide reputation for the quality of its work and service.

The Fashion Cleaners was established by A. B. McCain, owner, who came to Midland from Cleburne. The concern was enlarged last year when an adjoining building was acquired.

The Fashion Cleaners offers a complete cleaning and pressing service. A feature of service offered by the firm, much appreciated by women customers, is the Flex-Form which reshapes dresses after they have been cleaned.

Hats Blocked

Hat cleaning and blocking also is done by the firm. Hats are thoroughly cleaned and carefully blocked.

At present the company is showing a wide line of all wool samples for tailor made suits. Measurements for suits are made carefully and accurately.

The Fashion Cleaners is located at 412 West Texas, away from the crowded business district, and has ample parking space for customers who drive to pick up their clothing.

Business at the Fashion Cleaners has increased to the extent that 23 persons are now employed. Despite this large number of employes it is not possible always to turn out the work as quickly as they would like.

"Our customers have given us splendid co-operation and seem to understand why we cannot get their work done as quickly as we once could," McCain said.

The owner of the Fashion Cleaners promised to continue his best efforts to get work done as quickly as possible.

"We will not sacrifice quality for speed, however," he declared.

Yellow Cab Company Is Grateful To Public For Patience And Consideration

The Yellow Cab Company is deeply grateful to the Midland public for its patience and consideration under the rather trying operating conditions with which the company is faced today. In a statement to this effect. H. C. Watson, manager of Midland's largest taxi system, expressed the sincere appreciation of his firm for this attitude on the part of the public here.

"Probably no place in Texas is receiving more cooperation from the public than we are here," said Watson," and certainly no taxi company is trying any harder to give service, even though at times it is almost impossible to do so.

The fact that we are terribly short of tires, that we have to double up on our passengers, and many delays that are entirely unavoidable are being met with a smile by Mr. John Public of Midland, all of which certainly makes our task easier, tough as it is.

"In many parts of the United States taxi companies have been forced to discontinue service altogether, and the only way we can carry on, is through the patience and consideration of the public. It is now becoming generally known that the taxi company has to be just as saving of its tires and gasoline as the private car owner, in fact, far more so because we could start running all over the community here on single calls and be out of business in 90 days.

"Therefore, we again say thank you, because, the Midland public is making it possible for us to stay in business and at least render some semblance of the service we once gave and hope to give again as soon as conditions are such that we can."

Correct Diet Will Add Weight

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

If you are too thin, not only must you increase your calories, but other things must be considered—proper rest and relaxation must be enjoyed; precious energy must not be needlessly frittered away. Any gaining weight program must continue over a period of many weeks.

Eating enormous amounts of foods is not the answer. What you eat is important. Fats, used more often and in larger amounts, will help. Use more dressing on salads; liberal amounts of butter, fortified margarine, shortening and salad oil used in cooking and on vegetables. Use half milk and half cream in place of whole milk—also more starches and sweets, too—an extra silce of bread at meal time, extra cookies with dessert, rice and cereal puddings. All these will help you to gain.

Between-meal snacks add calories to your daily intake. You'll find they slip down easily—a cup of mid-morning soup, or a molasses milk shake, or a mid-afternoon candy bar or peanut butter sandwich. Or take something similar before retiring. These mid-meal snacks are important in gaining weight.

Cheese Fondue
(Serve 6-8)

Two cups milk, 4 egg yolks, well beaten, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, dash of cayenne, 2 cups grated American cheese, 4 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

Combine milk, egg yolks, salt, and cayenne and pour over bread. Add cheese and, when well mixed, fold in between whites. Pour into buttered baking dish and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes or until well risen and brown. Serve immediately.

ALLOW CHILDREN TO HAVE SIMPLE AFTERNOON SNACKS

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
AP Food Editor

When I was a little girl — and perhaps when you were—we'd come home from school, shouting, "Mother, may I have something to eat?"

Usually the whole idea was greeted with disapproval. "Eating between meals" as regarded as the surest possible way to spoil appetties for proper food. But occasionally we managed to wheedle or sneak a handful of cookies or some bread-and-sugar.

Nowadays we realize that children, especially little ones, frequently aren't able to eat enough at meals to tide them over to the next meal without hunger pangs. For that reason a mother who does her job well, plans the afternoon snack situation carefully. Experience in industry has proven that time out for a bit of energy-giving food between meals increases production among workers. Young children are very energetic people and while their "production" may seem relatively unimportant, you will be building productive adults if you keep their basic nutrition sound when they're children.

The afternoon snacks which you offer to children can and should be simple. Graham crackers taste very good "as is" with a glass of milk or a milk shake. For variety, have always on hand in the refrigerator a jar of peanut butter and some home-made jelly or jam. Honey is good with them, too, or just plain butter or margarine with a bit of brown sugar.

Afternoon snack time is one of the best moments at which to dress up the milk. Make it a milkshake. Children love to prepare these for themselves and the only equipment needed is a bowl and beater or some sort of shaker with a good tight top. Save left-over juices from canned fruit. They mix beautifully with milk for unusual and acceptible flavor. Chocolate is almost always a favorite, and molasses or maple syrup (about a tablespoonful to a glass) make good milk shakes. It's also possible to beat a bit of the pulp of good ripe bananas or mashed prune pulp into the milk base. I've found that most children love egg-nog, which is made simply by beating an egg into the milk with a very little sugar, and topping the whole with a dash of nutmeg.

As the weather gets snappier perhaps a hot drink will be acceptable after school. Many children dearly love cambric tea, which is made by pouring about two tablespoonsful of weak tea into a cup of hot milk and adding a dash of sugar. Children can also learn how to make cocoa well. Here's a good recipe for them.

Double Boiler Cocoa

1 teaspoon cocoa
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup scalded milk

Mix cocoa and sugar together. Scald milk in top of double boiler over boiling water. Mix two tablespoonsful of this milk with the sugar-cocoa mixture, making a smooth paste. Add to milk in double boiler and beat for two minutes with rotary egg beater. Serve at once.

Fruit makes a wonderful afternoon snack. Have in the refrigerator as inviting an assortment as you can buy of fruits to be eaten from the hand — apples, pears, oranges and such. Wash them before you put them away so they can be snatched by someone who's just flying through.

Coastal Searchlights Have Special Glass

TOLEDO, O.—(AP)—If you could visualize the amount of electrical energy needed to light 1,250 average U. S. homes, you have some conception of the power used in burning the gigantic searchlights guarding U. S. coastlines against aerial attack. Yet the glass faces of such searchlights don't crack or chip from the intense heat.

Technicians of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company developed the special heat-tempered glass used in the 800,000,000-candlepower searchlights. During preliminary tests, the glass is subjected to 140° of heat for three hours. Then it is plunged into cold water. The tests, the technicians say, proves the ability of the glass to withstand sudden cooling by rain or sleet.

Aussies Reported Losing To Rabbits

CANBERRA —(AP)— Rabbits are thriving under war conditions in Australia because manpower and wire netting are in short supply. Unless the rabbit war is carried on, sheep-ranchers fear they will lose the ground won from the rabbits before the war.

Tiny cochineal are used for color in rouge and lipsticks. It takes 70,000 to make a pound.

Indians Put One Over On Great White Father

PORT ANGELES, WASH.—(AP)—They're giving the country back to the Indians out near Neah Bay—almost.

This time it's a full-fledged defense community built at a reputed cost of $1,500,000 to house 2,000 workers, with more than 100 buildings and a 750-seat theater. The town is in the wilderness of the Mikah Indian reservation, near Cape Flattery, most northwesterly point in the continental United States.

Sudden cancellation of a big defense contract meant the town's downfall. The tribal fathers of the Makah Indian Council pow-wowed and bought the whole shebang for $22,000.

Coal Loader's Savings

HAZARD, KY.—(AP)—Ben Johnson, a coal loader, lost his savings of $500. Stationing himself at the bottom of a coal chute at the tipple the next day, he watched the coal pour into a railroad car. In the midst of the heap, out came his money.

High Speed Causing Majority Of Accidents

AUSTIN—(AP)—Despite a slowdown caused by thinning tires, excessive speed continues high on the list of traffic accident causes in Texas.

For the first six months of the year, report Public Safety Department statisticians, 373 violations of speed limits figured in 115 fatal accidents. In some 30 of these cases the driver was pushing his vehicle above 70 miles per hour. Forty-six were traveling between 61 and 70 miles per hour, and 112 were driving between 51 and 60 miles per hour.

Help! Fire! Thief!

JACKSONVILLE, FLA. — (AP) — When G. H. Harris' home was so badly damaged by fire that the outerdoors couldn't be locked, he thought that was about all that could happen to it. He changed his mind after he returned from an out-of-town visit to discover burglars had removed four ash trays irom his flame-gutted dwelling.

Too Many Cats Drive Wife Bats

ROANOKE, VA. —(AP)— Bedridden R, Cecil Hall recently ran a want-ad offering $20 a month in advance to someone who would give eight of his cats a good home in the country. Hall, a World War I veteran who hasn't walked for 12 years, has a collection of kittens left him by people who didn't want them. When the job of attending to both Hall and the cats became too much for his wife, Hall advertised. He has received some 60 replies to his ads so far.

Paratrooper's Death Concludes Sensational Kennamer Kill Case

TULSA, OKLA.—(AP)—A soldier's death in France for Paratrooper Phil Kennamer had closed the book Wednesday on one of the country's most publicized slayings—the 1934 Thanksgiving shooting of socially prominent John F. Gorrell.

The War Department notified Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer that his 28-year-old son, paroled from a 25-year manslaughter sentence in the Gorrell slaying to become a paratrooper, was killed in action August 15.

His death somewhere in France was the latest development in a case which received nationwide attention through a decade of trial, appeals and clemency petitions.

". . . Won't Come Back"

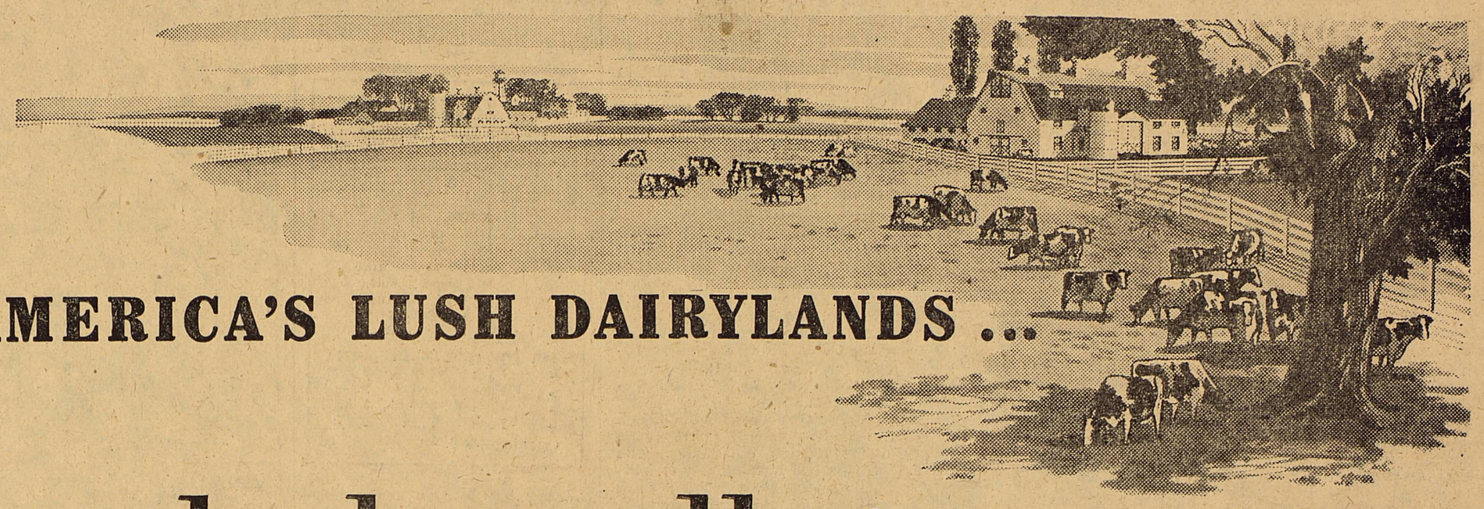

When Kennamer last visited Oklahoma—to testify at the clemency trial of a former state pardon and parole officer in November of 1943—he confided to a newsman that "Something just seems to tell me that I won't come back."

"I hope," the paratrooper told Managing Editor Edward D. Burks of the Tulsa World, "that if I die under the flag of my country, those who have condemned me will hold me differently in their memories."

Gorrell's body, shot twice through the head, was found in an automobile in a Tulsa residential district at midnight, and a week later Kennamer appeared at the sheriff's office to surrender. He said he shot in self-defense.

At the 11-day trial, held in Pawnee County on a change of venue, Kennamer testified he used Gorrell's pistol to slay his frequent companion in a quarrel over a plan to kidnap a Tulsa girl.

GERMANY WILL TRY IT AGAIN

By Sigrid Schultz

Copyright, 1944, by Sigrid Schultz; Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

As an American newspaper correspondent in Berlin from 1919 to 1941, Sigrid Schultz saw at first hand the events that led from World War I to World War II. And she saw the behind-the-scenes preparation for the coming "war-in-peace" that she warns may culminate in World War III. This is the story of Germany's plans to win the peace, plans that even now are being put into effect.

IV

THE German secret general staff under Ludendorff worked with such speed and energy that within less than six months after the German army asked for an armistice in 1918, the secret circle had succeeded in the following preparations for its own rule and for a future war:

It controlled all official army offices.

It controlled the unofficial armed veterans of the Free Corps, who were spoiling for a fight.

It controlled key positions in all universities and government offices.

It had induced Germany's main industrial concerns to prepare with it the planned total war.

It managed to cry murder at the mention of Bolshevism and at the same time to work in the diplomatic, military, and economic fields hand in hand with Moscow.

Anyone who went about Berlin in November of 1918 knows how close the Soviets came to proclaiming their rule in Germany. In the brief period of prerevolutionary unrest in Russia, German agents there had been as thick as raisins in a pudding. They had plenty of money to spend. Russia returned the compliment in 1918.

I saw Communist agitators haranguing the desperate masses in the streets of Berlin. And the people had every reason to be desperate. They were cold and hungry and their soldiers had fought in vain. I saw a ravenous mob slaughter a starving horse where it fell, and carry away dripping slabs of meat. I saw half-grown rowdies attack uniformed officers, and hysterical women try to yank off their mustaches or beards. I hurried through the Berlin streets under a crossfire of Red guns on one side and Republican soldiery on the other.

Confronted by famine and inflation, fighting Communists with the left hand and reactionaries with the right, trying to comply with Allied demands and, at the same time, to stabilize the economy of a country exhausted, disrupted by four years of war, with the upper classes offering at their best a passive resistance, the German Republican leaders had every reason to be awed by the problems ahead. In solving most of them as well as they did, in even surviving as long as they did, the Republicans achieved a near-miracle.

Most of them realized, even at the beginning, that it was foolhardy to continue in office men of the former autocratic imperial regime. But they had no men trained to replace them. So the old appointees stayed on: in the judiciary, the judges who interpreted the law to the Republic's disfavor; in the Reichsbank, the men who intensified and manipulated the inflation to their own purposes; in the Finance Ministry; in the War and Navy offices, enemies of the Republic too numerous to mention.

THE groups which sincerely hated all that the Republic stood for had two other things in common. First, they were upper-class Germans. The caste system has been breaking down gradually in more recent years, but in 1918 and 1919, its imprint could be seen wherever one went. Most of the Republican leaders were men and women of the lower or upper middle classes. Their knowledge of the minds of upper-class Germans was limited. That was one reason why they could be fooled by the men supposed to be working with them.

Second, most members of the inimical groups had had access to higher education, which made them part and parcel of the pan-Germanic order.

To non-Germans the medieval symbolism of German universities even then seemed old-fashioned and slightly ridiculous. But their hold on the national mind had not loosened, because to Germans they spoke of a Greater Germany. Both teachers and students believed fiercely in Germany's right to rule the world.

Not only in scholastic confines was the word spread and embellished. Many ordained men of God did everything they could to discredit the Republic.

Through both the school and the church, then, the home was contaminated with a hatred of the Republic. Hatred is contagious, and when women start to hate, they do a thorough job. They also infect their children.

Always after wars, when people have lost many of their loved ones, belief in the mystic encourages a mushroom growth of astrologists, fortune-tellers and what have you. Superstition can be an ally, and the German militarists made it one, lining up the soothsayers as their unofficial prophets. Everywhere one heard of the impending collapse of the Allies, often from relatives of officers, who nearly as often were the mildest looking old ladies. The Germans are nothing if not logical, no matter how unsound their premises. So, the Allies divided, England tottering and on the brink of disintegration, logically what then? Why, soon — always very soon—Germany would step in, finish of the British Empire and take over the leadership of the world.

Childish the method undoubtedly was; it was also fantastically effective. For word-of-mouth propaganda spreads fast, and who doesn't want to belong to a master race?

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

While Miss Jean Hubbard of Annapolis, Md., was the only war orphan present at the national tournament to receive her scholarship, 19 others will enter college this year with scholarships donated by the members of the American Contract Bridge League.

Today's hand demonstrates another type of donation that occurred at the tournament, when declarer received a present of his contract. His present came on the opening lead, which enabled him to discard his losing diamond; but he still had to play pretty well. Winning the first trick with dummy's ace of hearts, he led the queen of trumps. East covered with the king, and then the only loser was one trump trick.

West could have led safely only one suit against the slam contract, and that was a spade. Either a diamond or trump would have been equally disastrous.

Bird Comes Out With The Wash

MOUNT VERON, IND.— (AP) — Mrs. Karl Barro found a bird's nest in a play suit she hung on the wash line and she scolded her young son, who denied all. Next washday she found another nest, this time in a clothes pin bag. There, swinging from its pendulant perch, a wren, obviously angered by the intrusion upon its home life, scolded Mrs. Barro roundly.

Suspicious Sausage

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA—(AP)— A flourishing trade in horseflesh for pets sprang up here after stringent meat rationing, but rumors that it was going into sausages and pies resulted in bills being passed enforcing strict control of the meat.

New By-Pass Highway Route

Opening of a new route by the State Highway Department enables West Texans to by-pass the heavy congested traffic area in Fort Worth and Dallas. Map shows how motorist may reach State Highway 183 at Fort Worth and follow is to the traffic circle northwest of Dallas. Here he may choose U. S. 77 to downtown Dallas, or follow "Loop 12" to its intersection with other highways beyond Dallas loading to North and East Texas points.

A new by-pass highway route around Fort Worth and Dallas will be opened September 30 according to E. C. Woodward, state highway department district engineer at Fort Worth.

Known as State Highway 183, the new route will save West Texans a minimum of 25 minutes on a trip to Shreveport or other points on US 80, the department's time comparisons reveal. It is 4.7 miles further than present routes across the cities, but affords a clear open highway around all the congested areas.

To Northeast Texas points Denison, Paris, and Texarkana, the distance is less and travel time saved still greater.

West Texans going to downtown Dallas will save an average of 17 minutes, travel 4 miles further. To Love Field and North Dallas points the new route is shorter than via US 80, and the driving time proportionately less.

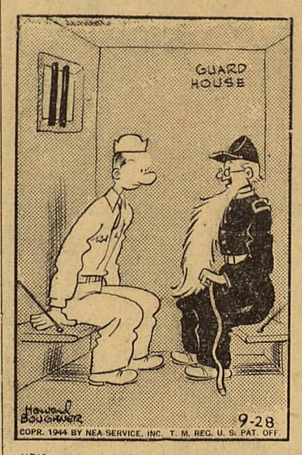

Swinging off US 80 at a Traffic Circle west of Fort Worth, Highway 183 extends by the Consolidated Plant, the Stockyards, Midway Air port, on to another Traffic Circle 7 miles northwest of Downtown Dallas. Here it connects with US 77 into Dallas, and with "Loop 12" which skirts north and East of Dallas, intersecting US 75 to Denison, US 67 to Texarkana, US 80 to Shreveport, and US 175 to Kaufman.

Truckers hauling cattle, feed, and other commodities between East and West Texas are urged to use this time saving route. It avoids the congestion of Fort Worth and Dallas city traffic often difficult to negotiate with long trailer trucks.

Governor Stevenson Urges Texans To Give To United War Chest

AUSTIN—Gov. Coke Stevenson Thursday called on all Texans to give full support to the National War Fund through "generous contributions to their war fund campaign."

"Every Texan should exhibit on the home-front the same determination and spirit of sacrifice that our fighting men are showing on the firing lines," the governor declared in a letter to Judge Ben H. Powell, president of the United War Chest of Texas. "It is our duty to give them every support at our command."

"During the next few weeks we will have the opportunity to help our Texas fighting men by contributing to the great war-related agencies which serve them and their allies," Governor Stevenson continued. "Through the statewide campaign conducted on behalf of the National War Fund by the United War Chest of Texas, every Texan can help bring earlier victory and peace.

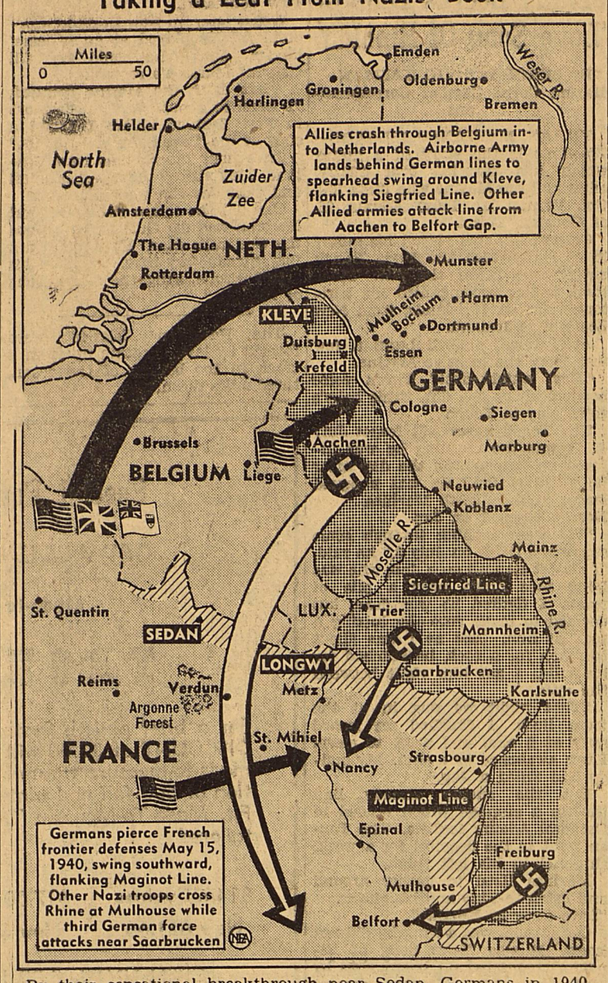

"The National War Fund deserves and should have the full support of all patriotic Americans.

"I call upon all Texans to support this great effort through generous contributions. I am confident that the response will be typical of the people of this state: 'Sure, I'll Give a Texan's Share'."

Through campaigns to be conducted in every county, Texas is scheduled to raise almost $5,000,000 for the National War Fund, which provides for more than 20 agencies serving American troops, troops of Allied nations and war-victims throughout the world.

Taking a Leaf From Nazis' Book

By their sensational breakthrough near Sedan, Germans in 1940 demonstrated to the world the uselessness of "wall" fortifications such as France's vaunted Maginot Line. They simply flanked it with an end run and poured down behind the line, leaving the French looking pretty silly, with their big guns all pointed the wrong way. Only ones who didn't seem to learn the lesson were the Germans themselves, who put their faith in the Siegfried Line and the Rhine fortifications, only to have the Allies flank them near Kleve, and get into position for an end run drive behind the fortified lines into the great Ruhr Valley industrial area. Map above shows similarity of German operation against Maginot Line and how Allies worked same trick on them.

Cottons Used In Home Can And Should Be Made Fireproof

As a result of the recent disastrous circus conflagration at Hartford, Conn., there is widespread interest in the flameproof or fire-retardent finishes that can be applied to cotton fabrics, according to the Cotton-Textile Institute.

It is taken for granted in many quarters that the processes which have been applied to army tents and equipment and which have proven effective under the stress of battlefront conditions will be applied to civilian tents, awnings, canopies, trapaulins, hatch covers, etc., and thus reduce the loss of life and property resulting from fire. In fact, there is talk in some states of writing legislation that will make the use of such finishes mandatory on canopies, awnings, and draperies in public buildings.

Meanwhile, those anxious to fireproof cotton materials in their own homes can do so with a simple solution consisting of seven ounces of borax, three ounces of boric acid, and two quarts of water.

Boarx and boric acicd melt when heated and completely covers the surfacec of the treated fabric with an almost unburnable film and at the same time gives off moisture in the form of steam which helps retard fire.

This is an effective treatment for quilts, mattress covers, blankets, drapes, curtains, slip covers, rugs, iron holders, ironing boards covers, fabric heat deflectors, canvas fire-smothering blankets, and work garments. It is also useful in cotton batting employed for insulating purposes in building construction.

Every part of the item to be treated should be thoroughly wetted. When completely dry it should be soaked in the fire-resistant solution and then hung out to dry.

This treatment has a beneficial effect on coctton fibers in that it strengthens them. It adheres well, is non-corrosive, non-caustic and non-poisonous.

Gold Star Mother Serving In WAC Where She Can Attend Wounded Men

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Over at the Army's Bolling Field hospital is WAC Private Irene C. Mangum of Waco, a Gold Star mother, and a "friend-in-need" to many a wounded soldier just in by plane from the world's fighting fronts.

These boys, as she calls them all, aren't in the hospital long before they like all the rest are calling her "Mom." She's just that way, and naturally so. One of her two sons was killed on Bougainville. The other is in the Navy and by now may be overseas as a medic with the Marines.

Stationed in the surgical wards to lend a hand wherever she is needed, Private Mangum works all kinds of hours and actually at times has to be chased out by the nurses to get rest. She's the happiest when she's making "her boys" comfortable.

Story Starts Early

The story of her self-sacrificing begins way back there. Right after the end of World War I she married Cecil L. Mangum, who had been through the battle of the Argonne and was gassed. They had three children, Emma Lew, Cecil Jr., and Robert and lived in Gonzales. In 1933 her husband died, and she moved to Waco to get work and help educate her children.

When Pearl Harbor came the boys were attending Waco Academy. She had a hard time keeping Cecil in school until he graduated the following June. He joined the Navy at 20, and soon was in the Pacific as a pharmacist mate 2nd class, attached to an amphibious Marine raider outfit. It was on Nov. 2, 1943, when that group hit the beaches of Bougainville, that Cecil was killed by Jap machine gun fire while trying to reach a wounded Marine.

News of Cecil's death made up the minds of his mother and young brother, Robert, 17. They went to Dallas and on Jan. 19, 1944, joined up and went their respective ways.

Wants Overseas

The only real complaint "Mom" Mangum has now is that she isn't serving overseas close to the fighting lines. Under existnig Army regulations she cannot be assigned to front line hospitals as a hospital aide. She also complains that she can't buy more War Bonds, and observes, incidentally, that Robert sends her a $25 bond monthly to save for him.

She won't talk much about herself, brushing it off with a few words.

"I am only doing my share," she says. "What average American mother would not do just what I am doing if she had the opportunity?"

She received word from Cecil's commanding officer telling about her son's burial on the Island of Pruta, near Bougainville, but admits she still nourishes a faint hope.

Sharkology Is Taught By New Army Booklet

ORLANDO, FLA.—(AP)—Do sharks get in your hair?

Are you alergic to hammerheads, terrified by tigers, wearied by whites and buffaloed by blues?

Try Uncle Samuel's shark specific—a handy compilation of what-to-do's being distributed to the Army Air Force personnel.

Along with the booklet goes a neatly packaged cake of "shark chaser," which, the Army explains, when dunked produces a "blue-black cloud of chemicals, found to keep sharks at a distance."

If unfortunately you are fresh out of "shark chaser," the booklet says "use tactics."

Tactics, like advice, may be confusing—and not alone to the sharks.

Rule One

Rule one says to "stay as quiet as possible" and avoid other fish. (There's on chapter on how to discourage friendly flounders, or melancholy mackerels who might take up with a shark-beset swimmer.)

If that doesn't work, the Army advises use of "water jude" which is the direct opposite of rule one. Water jude calls for the swimmer to make a "quick feint toward the shark to spoil his self confidence," to slap the water as loudly as possible and to shout.

Face The Varmit

After that you just face the shark and then turn abruptly "as sharks can't turn a tight circle." (If the shark didn't turn at all, probably he wouldn't notice that inviting target thus presented). Or, the booklet recommends grabbing the shark's dorsal fin and hanging on until the shark gets tired of playing piggy-back.

If the whole affair gets down to rough and tumble, however, the Army advises handing the nosey shark a good stiff-arm, or a swift kick in the nose, explaining the old battler has a glass jaw and can't take it. As a last resort, use a knife, preferably on the underside with a ripping motion.

"Polynesian natives make a sport of this," the cheerful booklet explains.

The Army points out there are only four really dangerous varieties of sharks—the hammerhead, white, blue and tiger.

Not included anywhere in the booklet is a landlubber's remedy:

"Stay out of the water."

MICHIGAN CITY, IND. — (AP)— Eddie Barton recently started his father's car, jumped the curb, narrowly missed three parked cars, gouged the lawn and finally sheared off the Barton's front porch. The police found Eddie unhurt — but so speechless he couldn't tell them he was only three and one-half years old.

Watches Wind To Wind Watch

BATON ROUGE, LA. — (AP) — Lloyd Hollet, home because of a 'scratch" from mortar fire after two years of ambulance driving for the American Field Service, found in the Middle East a unique way to tell time — by pauses in an incessant wind.

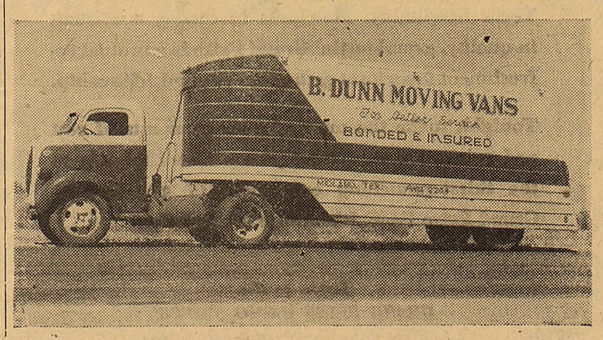

"They call it Kam Sagan," he reports, "which means '50 or 500.' It ceases for a half hour at 11 a.m. and 9 p.m. You could almost set your watch by it."

Fifth Air Force Has 99 'Aces' With 777 Kills

By MURLIN SPENCER

FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC—(AP)—The Fifth Air Force's 99 fighter "Aces" have shot down 777 Japanese aircraft in combat, but it is becoming increasingly apparent that the "Ace" business is headed toward a depression.

The reason: A scarcity of Japanese.

"The Japs just won't come up and give us a chance to shoot them down," complained Capt. "Cy" Homer, Sacramento, Calif., who has been trying for his fifteenth kill for weeks.

Other pilots complain of the speed of the Japanese planes which permits their pilots to take off on a warning of an air raid and flee to safer haunts until the raid is over.

Five enemy planes must be knocked down in aerial combat to make a fighter "Ace" in the Southwest Pacific. Planes destroyed on the ground do not count. There now are pilots who have flown as many as 40 missions who never have seen a Zero.

The business of becoming an "Ace" has not been without its price, however. Eleven of the 99 cases listed on Fifth Air Force rolls have been killed or are listed as missing in action.

Bong Instructing

Major Richard I. Bong, Poplar, Wis., Ace who recently returned to duty with the Fifth Fighter command as a gunnery instructor, still heads the list of aces with 27 official "kills" but he is no longer flying combat. Tied as leaders among pilots now active in this theatre are Major Thomas B. McGuire, Ridgewood, N. J., and Major Jay T. Robbins, Coolidge, Texas, with 21 planes each. They made their kills in P-38s named, respectively, "Pudgy" and "Jandina" for their wives.

Col. Neel E. Mearby, San Antonio, who bagged 22 enemy planes before he was listed as missing in action last March 5 still ranks high among the leaders.

Other Fifth Air Force pilots and their "kills" include:

Six destroyed: Lieut. John D. Landers, Joshua, Texas.

Five destroyed: Capt. Robert R. Yaeger, Jr., Hebbronville, Tex.; Capt. Marion F. Kirby, Lometa, Tex., and Capt. Harry W. Brown, Amarillo, Texas.

Almost Clever These Japanese

NEW YORK—(AP)—Tojo lost two warriors, and an imitation buffalo lost its hindquarters when six Japanese soldiers tried to get by a Marine outpost in the dark by posing as a stray water buffalo, according to Sgt. Edward C. Stodell of Los Angeles, Marine corps combat correspondent of Los Angeles.

Late one evening, an outpost guarding the Pago River Water Point saw what looked like a water buffalo waddling along the outskirts of camp.

"Funny looking water buffalo to me," mused a Marine.

"That," said another, "is no water buffalo. That's Japanese."

They opened fire, and the lone buffalo disintegrated into six fleeing soldiers. Two were killed, the other four vanished. At the side of the dead Japanese, the Marines found a big rain cape which had served as the covering of the fake

Red Grange Picks Great Lakes Over Illinois; Pitt Tests The New Notre Dame Varsity

By RED GRANGE
The Original Man-in-Motion

CHICAGO—While mighty Navy, Army and Notre Dame make their 1944 bows on Saturday, this old redhead is going to see the swift Illinois backs run against Great Lakes.

Ray Eliot's line is coming along in front of the bullets in his backfield, but I must pick the more experienced Bluejackets who have a fine running and passing game built around the Jims—Mello, Youel and Keane.

Hunchy Moerschemeyer will have another week of work under his belt, but well-rounded Michigan is the choice over Indiana.

Northwestern's veteran backs should go well against Wisconsin. A phenomenal collection of Ohio State freshmen appear to be too much for Missouri, and Cecil Isbell's capable Purdue outfit figures to get on the winning side opposed to Marquette. Minnesota has a bulge on Nebraska.

Sixteen of Notre Dame's first 33 are freshmen, but they are handpicked, and with the hold-overs should be able to repulse Pitt, although they will be thoroughly tested by Clark Shaughnessy's T formations. Frank Dancewicz, third string quarterback last trip, is the most improved athlete on the Irish squad, and has won the starting assignment from the widely-heralded Joe Gasparella.

Service Teams Work Out

North Carolina Pre-Flight has Automatic Otto Graham of Northwestern but, judging by all accounts, no outfit on its schedule is going to bother Navy's multiple of accomplished linemen and backs.

North Carolina will give Army nothing more than a good workout, and that goes for Pennsylvania against cyclonic Duke.

Dartmouth should successfully hurdle Holy Cross, Cornell is odds-on over Bucknell, Penn State over Muhlenberg, Yale over the Coast Guard Academy, Columbia over Union, Villanova over Franklin and Marshall, Harvard over Worcester Poly, Temple over Swarthmore, Brown over Tufts, and Bainbridge Naval over Camp Lee. Colgate gets a shaky vote in its match at Rochester.

Tennesee opens and closes with Kentucky, and the Volunteers had better be good. Rating them off their 72-7 romp against Mississippi, Ab Kirwan obviously has uncovered playful Kittens to go with giant linemen and 4-F's. Grass doesn't grow under the feet of John Barnhill and others in Knoxville, but we at least have some line on the Lexington lads, so I am given them the call.

Ole Miss gets it again in Jacksonville, but the Florida Gators hardly will pounce on the Rebels with the ferocity of the Kentucky Wildcats.

I expect Alabama to bounce back with both feet against Steve Van Buren-less Louisiana State.

The Ayes of Texas Have It

Clemson isn't a push-over, but doesn't figure with Georgia Tech and its seven starters from last fall. Georgia with its newly-adopted T is picked over Wake Forest, but with no great degree of assurance. It's Georgia Pre-Flight over South Carolina, Auburn over Howard, Maryland over Hampden-Sydney, Virginia over North Carolina State and Virginia Military Institute over Catawba.

Texas gets even for indignities piled upon the Steers last autumn by Southwestern of Georgetown, Texas. The lend-lease shoe is on the other foot on this occasion. Rice is selected over Randolph Field, Texas A. and M. over Texas Tech, Southern Methodist over the North Texas Aggies and Texas Christian over South Plains Army Aid.

Arkansas must be given a margin over Oklahoma A. and M. and Oklahoma over Norman Navy.

The momentum of its thrilling after-the-final-whistle tie with Southern California probably will carry U.C.L.A. to victory over California. Southern California has things its own way against Pacific and Washington against Whitman.

Kansas, beaten by no more than a touchdown by Texas Christian, gets the nod over Denver. The Second Air Force is to continue its parade against Colorado. Colorado College should repulse New Mexico.

Chuck it in, men.

Benny Oosterbaan calls tall Dick Rifenburg, above, the best end he has seen at Michigan, where end coach was All-America wingman in 1925-26-27.

Paris White House Ready For New Tenant

PARIS—(AP)— France's "White House" on back street in Paris, intact after four years of war and battling against its very walls, now stands ready for a new occupant.

Its last occupant was Albert Lebrun, now in retirement in southern France, and the highwalled stone mansion on Faubourg St. Honore awaits the new occupant chosen by the election De Gaulle has promised when war prisoners and deportees return.

Unoccupied throughout the occupation of the rest of France, the mansion, called Elysee, has been cared for by two old Army pensioners and their families, who tenderly wrapped up furniture, pictures and drapes, and kept the gardens blooming with France's red, white and blue tricolors.

Vitamin Sharks In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO — (AP) — Shark fishing is shortly expected to develop into a major Uruguayan industry aimed at the supply of Vitamin A for the United Nations.

The River Plate Trading Corporation, founded with Uruguayan capital, stated that it has received assurance of high priority for the machinery it is buying in the United States, designed to establish an up-to-date vitamin processing plant at the Summer resort of La Paloma, on Uruguay's Atlantic coast. Officials of the company said that sharks, whose liver is the best known source of vitamin A, are teeming off Uruguayan shores.

Boston Congressman Charges Washington Bungled Pearl Harbor

BOSTON—(AP)—The Boston Herald Wednesday quotes Rep. George J. Bates (R-Mass) as saying in an interview that "military leaders and others high in authority in Washington were notified several hours beforehand of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor."

The Salem representative, a member of the House Naval Affairs Committee, "attributed the disaster to official blundering in Washington," according to the interview.

The paper quoted Bates as saying "current investigations at the War and Navy Departments had thus far uncovered no evidence to justify the court-martialing of General Short and Admiral Kimmel, Army and Navy commanders at Hawaii."

In the interview Bates said that "although the warning of the impending attack came through several hours before it occurred, official Washington did not decide to do anything until one hour before the Jap planes appeared.

"My information comes from those who are in a position to know and who do know," the interview continued. "Nothing was done about it until it was too late."

Cornell Finds GIs Go For Highbrow Stuff If Good

ROME — (AP) — As one of Broadway's veteran dramatic stars, Katharine Cornell has faced all kinds of audiences without a moment's nervousness. But she admits she was mightily scared the night she stepped out in front of the GI's to open her tour in Italy.

She was afraid her drama—"The Barretts of Wimpole Street"—would be too long-hair for the Joes.

But after the opening night performance, one of the doughboys came backstage to tell her.

Highbrow But Good

"It's high-brow stuff, Miss Cornell, but it's good."

Then she met two more soldiers who said: "We never saw a stage play before in our lives, but you're tops."

That was a month ago, and since then she and what she calls "the greatest cast ever to play 'The Barretts'" has been a big hit with the soldiers. And the soldiers have been a big hit with the cast.

"Why," recalled Margaret Steenson, former Appleton, Wis., school teacher now working for the Red Cross, "they were here five days and could have been entertained by generals and all the ranking officers of the area. Instead, they came to our club every night to have coffee and doughnuts with the boys. They talked to them an entertained them. I never saw such enthusiasm on the part of the troops."

Opened In Garibaldi

The troupe opened its tour in historic Garibaldi Theater in Santa Maria. It was in this theater that Enrico Caruso appeared many times early in his career. Actor Brian Aherne found Caruso's name still scrawled on the wall of his dressing room.

Wherever the performance is given, Miss Cornell and the cast always turn up at the local GI club to entertain the boys. Aherne talks to the soldiers—but they like Elaine Perry's singing more.

The Joes are proving by the hundreds that all the autograph hounds are not back home. Miss Cornell is getting so she finds it pretty easy to hang onto a doughnut with one hand and sign her name with the other.

Singing Texas Marine Finally Learns Tune Of 'Love Song Of Rinaldo'

By SERGEANT VIC KALMAN
Marine Corps Combat Correspondent

TINIAN, MARIANAS ISLANDS—(AP)—This is the story of a guitar which has traveled over 200,000 miles and the Marine who plays it—Cpl. Vernon L. (Tiny) Adams, 28, of Gorman, Texas.

Corporal Adams played his guitar in 45 states with the Dude Ranch entertainers before the war. Since then, it has accompanied his baritone voice on 11 islands, from New Zealand to Iceland.

At Tarawa, a shell burst a few feet from the massive Marine.

"Hey, watch out!" Tiny's voice boomed above the din, "'this baby's gotta play in Tokyo.

The Texan never will forget July 4. It was the morning he was injured on Saipan and the day after he killed a Jap. He was a squad leader in the Eighth Marines.

Nearly Stepped on Jap

"We were pushing through some sugarcane fields on July 3," he said. "I almost stepped on a Jap, who was lying face down near a pile of rocks. I figured he was dead, but decided to make sure—by tossing a rock at him. Just as I was about to reach for a rock, he reached for his rifle. I got him right between the eyes.

"That night we dug in at the front lines. I finished my guard duty at 2 a.m. and went to sleep. I was awakened by a shot. My buddy had killed a Jap."

But the enemy already had thrown a grenade which landed in Corporal Adams' foxhole. The Texan went to the hospital for a week, shrapnel in his left thigh.

Marines liked to gather around and listen to Tiny and his guitar.

"Love Song of Rinaldo"

Once, there was a song he did not know. It was "Love Song of Rinaldo," requested on board ship by Maj. Gen. John Marston, former commander of the Second Marine Division.

"That was one I never heard of," Tiny confessed.

Weeks later, in New Zealand, Corporal Adams played at an officers' dinner. Again, he could not fill General Marston's request.

"Next day," the Marine recalled, "I went to about every music store in New Zealand before I found a copy of the 'Love Song of Rinaldo'."

Throghout his stay at New Zealand, Tiny visited the naval hospital and sang for the wounded.

One day, he learned that General Marston was ill. Quietly, he opened the General's door. He strummed a few introductory bars. Then, in his soft baritone, sang the "Love Song of Rinaldo."

The Hawaiian Islands were formed by lava shooting up from a crack in the bottom of the ocean, three miles down.
