Old Man Of Moscow Hits Jackpot As Communists Celebrate 70th Birthday

Stalin To Rate As Capitalist When Party's Completed

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Dec. 20—The greatest giveaway jackpot program in history is on today, with Russia's Joseph Stalin on the receiving end.

Stalin, overlord of world Communism, hits the jackpot tomorrow when he reaches the age of 70. How much the take in birthday presents is worth is anybody's guess. Tons and tons of gifts—so many that not in centuries could one man use them up—have descended on Moscow from the Communist world.

Reports reaching London through the Soviet monitor and other channels indicate that there will be more than 1,000,000 parcels bearing the tag: "Happy birthday dear comrade."

Run Into Millions

Besides, there will be a veritable flood of big crates containing the more unwieldy gifts—all the way from motorcycles to airplanes.

Take an average figure of $5 per gift—that would be cheap for a birthday gift for Stalin—and the jackpot is worth more than $5,000,000.

Shoes, socks, neckties, choice foods, wines, spirits, toys, dolls, books, automobiles, horses, motorcycles, airplanes, locomotives and even whole factories are among the many carloads of presents converging upon the Kremlin from the satellite areas and far territories of the U. S. S. R.

Can't Use Presents

With the gifts come all sorts of honors, pledges of special work, affirmations of loyalty and devotion, endearing greetings in the familiar Communist pattern.

Long freight trains hauled gifts into Moscow. There were 70 cars —one for each birthday — from Communist East Germany. A freight train of 11 cars left Warsaw with presents from Poland. The locomotive of the train was almost hidden by the huge portrait of Stalin it bore as it pulled out.

Stalin probably will have little use for much of what he gets. A man of 70, for instance, would be a bit beyond playing with the 17 dolls he is getting from Italian Communists, or riding a motor scooter from Milan, or an Italian racing bicycle, or a motorcycle and airplane from Prague, or even taking a buggy ride in a carriage from Sofia.

Redistribution Probable

Presumably much of what Stalin is given will be redistributed. Even this will take a long time. It seems unlikely, for instance, that the shipment of nylon women's stockings he is getting from some French admirers will be much good for his personal use.

Numerous cities in the Soviet orbit have held public displays of the presents. In impoverished Warsaw, six halls were needed to hold all the gifts. In Riga, capital of

Terms Assessed In Attack Case

A 99th district court jury early this afternoon recommended 25 years in the state penitentiary for each of three Anglo-Americans who pleaded guilty before a jury this morning of rape Aug. 28 of a Lubbock young woman.

They were Luciano Gonzales and Fred Navarette, each 20, and Nasario Flores, 24, all of Lubbock. Sentence was pronounced by Judge G. V. Pardue.

Identification Uncertain

The complaining witness was not positive in her identification of the three, court officials said. Her escort, Eugene Ham, 33, a postoffice employe of 414 Fourth, could not positively identify Navarette, it was explained further.

It was dark the night of the assault, when three youths forced

HST Cheerful, Rested And In Fighting Trim

President Set For Congress Battles

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP) — President Truman returned today from a three-week Florida vacation, looking fit and rested for the weeks of hard work ahead of him.

His plane, the Independence, landed at National airport about 11:30 a. m. after a three-hour, 46 minute flight from Key West.

A large crowd, including several cabinet members and other government officials, turned out to greet him. He waved cheerfully as he started to leave the plane.

In Fighting Trim

He was in fighting trim—except for the waistline—to do battle in Congress for his "fair deal" and stump for it in the 1950 congressional elections.

Tanned, relaxed and cheerful, he looked in good health in spite of the "bay window" which apparently was of less concern to him than to his physician, Brig. General Wallace H. Graham.

Mr. Truman is going down the line in his "State of the Union" message for virtually every measure Congress denied him last year.

Trial In Cotton Suit Arranged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20. (AP)—Agreement was reached today in federal court to try early next year the suit of 10 Texas farmers to block the new cotton control program in their state.

Counsel for the growers also agreed to delay at least until Jan. 13 their attempt to obtain a court injunction suspending the cotton acreage program in Texas until the suit can be tried on its merits.

The case was called up by Judge Charles F. McLaughlin to consider a motion by the grower's counsel that the quotas, as announced by the Agriculture department, be suspended.

Early Trial Assured

Shortly after the hearing opened, Judge McLaughlin called a recess so attorneys for both sides could work out an agreement for a trial date.

Under terms of the agreement, disclosed by Judge McLaughlin, Agriculture department attorneys have until Jan. 13 to file an answer to the farmers' charges that the new acreage quota program deprives them of a fair share of the allotment assigned to Texas.

Judge McLaughlin said the case will be heard at the "earliest possible date" after Jan. 13, and attorneys in the case later said the trial likely could start before

Actor Found Tied In Actress' Apartment

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP)—Robert Wilcox, motion picture actor, was found bound and gagged today in the apartment of actress Diana Barrymore. Police said he was tied by two men who ransacked the apartment.

Police said Wilcox told them he was alone in the apartment when two men appeared at the door at 9:30 a. m. and said they wanted to leave flowers for Miss Barrymore, who is confined to Roosevelt hospital from effects of a fall.

Wilcox said he told the men the daughter of the late John Barrymore was in the hospital but the men insisted on leaving the flowers.

Taken from the apartment, the police said, were a mink coat, a silver fox scarf, a suitcase and about $50 in silver.

Thousands Of Employes Get Gifts In City

Lubbock Business Firms Are Playing Santa To Employes

By H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

Santa Claus really is coming to town for the employes of many Lubbock business establishments this Christmas.

In fact, he already has visited many of them, delivering cash bonuses as Christmas gifts from their employers.

No accurate estimate was possible as to how many persons in Lubbock will share in such bonuses, nor the aggregate of their amount. But the recipients of such gifts undoubtedly total several thousand and the bonuses several hundred thousand dollars.

Some Already Distributed

In many of the establishments, checks already have been distributed. In others, the distribution is scheduled at such special occasions as Christmas tree parties, and dinners.

Reports as to bonus plans in several Lubbock business establishments follow:

Officials of Lubbock National bank announced that employes of one year or longer seniority will receive 10 per cent of their annual salary as a bonus. Those with the bank less than a year will receive a proportional amount of earnings during their period of employment.

All To Get Bonuses

Employes who have been with the First National bank six months or longer will receive one month's salary. Bonuses will be paid to all others, scaled according to length of employment.

The American State bank announced that a cash bonus will be paid, but the amount will not be disclosed until the gifts are distributed at a Christmas tree party in the bank, 1401 Avenue Q, Friday night. Other gifts will be exchanged at the same time.

Employes of the Wallace Blankenship circuit of motion picture theaters will receive a bonus equalling one week's salary for each year of employment up to three years. Those with the circuit less than a year will receive bonuses scaled according to earn-

Suicide Pact Is Completed

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Dec. 20 (U.P.)—An apparent double suicide pact between a prominent doctor and his wife was completed today with the death of Dr. Joseph B. Crawford, 34.

However, the purpose of the double suicide—to provide their two children with an income—may have failed. A $15,000 life insurance policy Dr. Crawford took out last month contained a clause barring payment in case of suicide within two years.

Funeral Rites Set

Meanwhile, simple funeral services were to be held this afternoon for his wife, Mrs. Mildred Minderman Crawford, former New Orleans socialite. Her body was found beside her dying husband in their fashionable Lookout mountain residence Sunday.

One of the Crawford's two children, seven-year-old Linda Mary, was expected to attend the services, but 15-months old Douglas Bruce was not.

The 34-year-old doctor and his wife apparently took an unidentified type of sleeping tablet which produced paralysis or partial paralysis of the respiratory system, according to Dr. Ebb Johnston, Hamilton county coroner.

Income Is Sought

In suicide notes written by the 28-year-old mother, a former New Orleans socialite, she said that she and her husband "felt that I could provide you all with an income of sorts this way."

The children, Linda Mary, 7, and Douglas Bruce, 15 months, were placed in the custody of their

Man Charged With Kidnaping Children

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 20 (U.P.)—A statewide pickup order on a kidnaping charge was broadcast today for A. W. (Gus) Slaughter, one-time candidate for mayor of Brownwood.

Slaughter's ex-wife, Mrs. Della Mae Haynes, filed a complaint yesterday charging that he kidnaped their two children, Warren Leroy Slaughter and Rite Slaughter.

Mrs. Haynes said her 41-year-old ex-husband came to her home last Friday took the children to town, with her permission, to buy clothing. Mrs. Haynes, who had custody of the children through court order, said Slaughter failed to return.

Mercury Drop Forecast With Fall Of Snow

Stockmen Warned; Wave Expected In Area Wednesday

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

A snow-laden norther with sub-freezing weather will blow into the Texas Panhandle tonight and by Wednesday the expected snow should spread in the upper South Plains, the weatherman said this afternoon.

Temperatures of 10 to 20 degrees are expected in the Panhandle tonight.

The weather bureau at Dallas, warning of "much colder with snow in Panhandle," urged that stockmen be advised of the new norther.

Continue Through Night

The snow will continue in the Panhandle through the night and spread tomorrow into the upper South Plains, the Weather bureau at Dallas said.

The norther is expected to bring snow flurries to the upper Red River valley late tonight and tomorrow. The full force of the cold wave is expected to hit west and extreme north portions of East Texas Wednesday.

In Oklahoma Panhandle

This morning the cold front had entered the Oklahoma Panhandle, said Harold Frost, chief meteorologist at the Lubbock weather station.

Behind it were snow and cold mercury readings. Goodland, Kas., reported snow with 12-degree temperatures, while farther north, Rapid City, S. D., and Havre, Mont., had temperatures of minus 2 and minus 25, respectively, with clear skies.

The station in Lubbock recorded a minimum overnight reading of 52 degrees and forecast a maximum of 65 degrees for this afternoon, as shirtsleeve weather continued in Texas.

Frost expressed the possibility that the cold front might veer away from the South Plains as it has so often in the past.

Second Front Moving

Whether or not it does, temperatures will drop, for a second cold front is moving in from the west. This morning it was west of the Rocky mountains, and it should arrive Wednesday night, dropping

Heavy Drain Put On Treasury As Result Of Farm Surpluses

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Farm surpluses from the two biggest crop years in history — 1948 and more than $3,000,000,000 from the 1949—threatened today to drain federal treasury.

The government had $2,600,000,000 invested in farm price supports in the most recent tabulation.

Will Climb Higher

Department officials said on the basis of yesterday's final summary of 1949 production that the total is certain to climb well amove the $3,000,000,000 mark during the next six months as farmers put more of their crops under the price support umbrella.

"It may even approach $4,000,000,000," one official said.

The government hopes to hold down price support outlays on the 1950 harvest. It gets its first clue today to the effectiveness of its production control program in accomplishing that goal.

The department's crop reporting board will publish at 3 p. m. its first 1950 crop production forecast. The report will show fall plantings and indicated production of winter wheat and acreage seeded for rye.

Wheat Allotments Set

Wheat farmers have been put under acreage allotments. This is a mild form of production control aimed at curbing possible sur-

Mississippi Youth Convicted In Slaying Of Girl's Father

(By The Associated Press)

JACKSON, Miss., Dec. 20.—Ronnie Pitts, described by the prosecution as a debaucher with a criminal mind, was convicted last night of murdering the father of his teen-age scholmate sweetheart.

The jury recommended that the 18-year-old youth be sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of Perry Henderson, vacuum cleaner executive and father of his sweetheart Anna. Mississippi law requires that the trial judge be guided by the jury's recommendation in pronouncing formal sentence.

Death Penalty Sought

The state had sought the death penalty.

The youth told a lurid tale of illicit relations with his young sweetheart. He showed no emotion when the verdict was read. Neither Anna nor her mother were present.

Henderson, shot in the head, was found dead in the dining room of his home June 25. Ronnie testified he shot the man in a pistol duel in which Henderson fired first.

He said he had gone to his sweetheart's home because Henderson had promised to give him Anna's address. He had threatened to tell authorities that Henderson had sent his daughter away, he related, "to get rid of the baby we were going to have."

Ronnie's story provided the basis of most of the final arguments to the jury. It told of sexual in-

Area Company Offers Reward After Series Of Cotton Fires

(Special To The Journal)

LITTLEFIELD, Dec. 20. A reward of $200 to any person furnishing information leading to arrest and conviction of persons guilty of starting fires in any warehouse, compress or cottonyard operated by the Union Compress & Warehouse Co., was offered here today by Fred Underwood, superintendent of the Littlefield branch of the company.

Underwood's reward was posted after a series of cotton fires, which officials of the company along with law enforcement officers believe were incendiary, were discovered in cotton being stored in yards here by the company.

A total of 40 bales of cotton were found burning on three different nights last week. The first fire was in only one bale Wednesday night; Thursday night 18 bales were found burning and evidence showed they had been started with matches.

Heavy patrol was set up around the yard and there were no fires Friday night.

Second Victim Is Near Death In A Hospital

Third Child Hurt; House Burns As Stove Explodes

A 16-months-old baby was burned beyond recognition, a 4-months-old infant may die, and a 3-year-old child was treated and dismissed as outgrowth of the explosion of a kerosene stove about 11 a. m. today and the burning of their parents' one-room home on Ave. H a mile north of the Ave. H underpass.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Carmen, who live at rear of Lubbock Machine company.

The dead baby is Billy Carmen.

In Serious Condition

Jennifer Dolores Carmen, admitted to West Texas hospital for treatment of third-degree burns on the face, lower abdomen, legs and feet, was described as in serious condition.

"The baby is not expected to live," was announced.

Dwight Owens Carmen, 3, was dismissed after treatment of first- and second-degree burns of the shoulders and arms.

Mrs. Carmen did not suffer serious injuries and had not been treated early this afternoon. She was hysterical, and had fainted soon after arrival at the hospital.

Father Is Shocked

The father, according to firemen, was too shocked to give a coherent account of what had happened.

All victims except the dead baby were dragged out before the roof caved in.

Carmen said at the hospital, however, that the tragedy would not have happened if the county had given his family a new stove, one witness said.

Another child, not identified, was not at home when the stove blew up, scattering kerosene on walls and bedclothing, investigators said.

Firemen said two walls of the house were all that remained after the fire.

At Sanders Funeral home it was said that the family had not communicated with officials there since the fire, and that arrangements for funeral services had not been made.

Negro Charged In Kin's Death

A negro fatally shot his brother here early today over approximately $2 lost in a dice game, to extend a wave of recent slayings —two within three days.

Slain was Finney Daniels, of 1806B Ave. A.

A warrant charging murder with malice was issued for arrest of Wesley Daniels, who fled after witnesses said he fired one shot through a door of the Ave. A address about 2:51 o'clock.

Slug Penetrates Heart

Finney Daniels dropped to the floor without speaking, witnesses said. One slug from a 32 pistol struck him in the left breast and penetrated the heart.

Bernestine Evans, who said she was Finney Daniels' common law wife, and Jimmie Mae Jerden, 18, of 609 Ave. E, who was spending the night with Bernestine, said Wesley Daniels had accused his brother of using "crooked dice" in the game and had demanded his money back. Finney Daniels, they said, had lent his brother money and won it back. Wesley wanted to borrow more money, but Finney explained he was "tired" of lending money and winning it back, and wanted to go to bed.

They said Wesley told him, "You'll never sleep on my mon-

Heavy Fog Slows Air, Ground Traffic In Southeastern U. S.

ATLANTA, Dec. 20 (AP) — A heavy fog enveloped much of the southeast early today, from the Carolinas to Mississippi, but the weatherman described the blanket as thin and expected it to be whisked away by mid-morning.

Under the gray pall, airplane and ground traffic was reduced or brought to a standstill altogether.

Two Soldiers Drowned

At New Orleans, two soldiers drowned late last night when their motor car plunged into Lake Ponchartrain when the heavy mist cut visibility. Their names were withheld by military authorities pending notification of next of kin.

Birmingham, Ala., suffered most with traffic snarled yesterday. Thirty-two persons were injured when three street cars piled up as a result of the reduced visibility.

Motorists were asked by state police head Bankhead Bates to keep off the highways except in emergencies.

Ships Are Halted

At New Orleans fog rolling in from the Gulf closed the airport and halted ship movements on the Mississippi up to Memphis. In the harbor visibility was reduced to 30 feet.

In central sections of Tennessee, highway patrolmen reported virtually no traffic. The Memphis airport was closed and river traffic tied up.

Fog over much of Georgia and South Carolina, except in coastal areas, had motorists groping. At Anderson, drivers said the left side of the highway was obscured.

All In A Lifetime — Things To Worry About

Russians Issue Passport Visa For American Catholic Priest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20. (AP)—State department officials said today they do not believe that permission granted an American priest to conduct services in Moscow indicates softening of the Soviet front in the cold war.

A passport visa came through yesterday from the Soviet embassy for Father Louis Robert Brassard—10 months after the priest had requested it. It would authorize him to serve the 116 members of the American colony in Moscow.

Since Father Brassard first applied for the visa, the State department has sent several reminders to the Russian government that Russia agreed in 1933 to permit one American Catholic pastor to work in Moscow.

Permit Cancelled

Father Brassard was designated to succeed the Rev. J. Antonio Laberge. Laberge left Moscow last January with a reentry permit but this subsequently was cancelled.

Since then Soviet authorities have taken over control of the only Catholic church in the Russian capital ,the church of St Louis of the French.

Father Brassard, rotund 35 year old teacher at the Assumptionist college, Worcester, Mass., said he would leave for Moscow by plane early in January. He has been waiting for the visa since last Feb. 5. He speaks fluent French and has been brushing up on Russian.

However, State department officials said the Soviet government has made it plain that in Moscow he will be restricted in his religious contacts entirely to the Americans and other non-Russians.

Rev. Fred McPherson, pastor of South Side Baptist church, was elected president of the Baptist Pastors conference at an annual banquet attended by 56 persons, including Lubbock Baptist pastors, their wives, associate pastors and their wives and church secretaries in the First Baptist church annex at noon Monday.

Other officers elected were Rev. Ed Carson, pastor of East Side Baptist church, vice president; Rev. John P. Baker, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, secretary-treasurer; and Rev. Cecil Ray, pastor of Arnett-Benson church, program chairman for the year.

After luncheon and a fun program, Rev. Vester Wolber, head of the Baptist Bible chair at Texas Tech, delivered the main address.

Santa Will Visit In 1909 Model Car

HALE CENTER, Dec. 20 (Special)—Santa Claus was to go back a long way for his mode of travel into Hale Center this afternoon.

When the jolly old fellow rolls into town about 2:30 p. m. he will be riding in a 1909 model Ford, brought from Plainview specially for the occasion.

But the vintage of the car and absence of reindeer isn't expected to faze approximately 1,000 children who will receive fruits, nuts and a gift from St. Nick. The annual Yule party is being sponsored by the Hale Center Merchants association under direction of Gwynne Owen, president of the group. Ward school children will be dismissed for the party on the city's square.

Dallas Man Studying Needs Of Texas Tech

A Dallas consulting engineer is on the Texas Tech campus this week to make a survey of the new facilities which will be required to furnish lights, gas and water to the college's rapidly multiplying buildings.

D. C. Pfiefer will be on the campus all week to study the problems and gain background material necessary for his recommendations, according to Frank Junell, assistant to the president.

When his report is completed and turned over to Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president, it is expected the college will have a clear estimate of the amount of added equipment and facilities which will be necessary for its 20-year expansion program now in progress.

THEN, A CHRISTMAS GIFT FOR A FEW ... NOW, GIFT OF PROTECTION FOR MULTITUDES !

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY, a thousand school teachers and one hospital founded the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Plan. On that December 20, 1929, they designed a Christmas gift of freedom from anxiety about the cost of illness, a gift which half-a-million Texans now enjoy.

In its first year Blue Cross paid less than $10,000 for its members' hospital care; that annual amount has swelled to $4 million for this year. Blue Shield, the companion plan created in 1946, already provides nearly a million dollars annually in doctors' services.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield, serving their purpose well for 35,000,000 throughout America, can be of the same service now to still other employees and their families. If your organization has as many as five employees, all of you can enjoy this worry-free protection.

This plaque at Baylor Hospital, Dallas, commemorates the founding there in December, 1929, of the Blue Cross Plan "in appreciation of the origin of this movement which has contributed so greatly to progress in health care and which has made hospital service available to millions."

Vows Read In Church

The marriage of Miss Margaret Anne Klaus and Marvin M. Quaid was performed at St. John's Methodist church Monday at 6 o'clock in the evening by Rev. Hubert Bratcher. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hellmut Klaus of 1606 Ave. X and the bridegroom is son of Mrs. J. H. Garrison of Houston and Marvin Quaid of New Orleans, La.

Baskets of white gladioli stood on the altar, against a background of woodwardia fern and lemon leaf. White bows marked the bridal aisle.

Mrs. Marlin Smith, organist, played a prelude of traditional wedding music and offered "Indian Love Call" as vows were repeated. The organist accompanied Mrs. Raymond Marshall, soloist, as she sang "Because" and "At Dawning."

Bride Carries Orchid

Mr. Klaus gave his daughter in marriage. Her bridal gown was of ivory slipper satin fashioned with a fitted basque, buttoned in the back with pearl buttons from the neckline to a point below the waistline. The long fitted sleeves extended to points over the hands. She carried a white orchid, surrounded by gardenias.

The bride was attended by her twin sister, Mrs. Lynn Walker, matron of honor, another sister, Mrs. W. E. McCoy of Los Angeles and Mrs. Bill Wood of Sundown. Each attendant wore a soft green velveteen ballerina length dress in empire style. Their shoes were green velveteen opera pumps and their bouquets were of light pink carnations, tipped with diamond dust.

Dorothy Lee Garrison of Houston, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Her dress was fashioned after the other attendants'.

Robert F. McMillan of Amarillo served as best man and Lynn Walker and Bill Wood were ushers.

Guests At Reception

Wedding guests attended a reception after the ceremony. Mrs. H. A. Allen, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. The Christmas motif was used in decorations, and a double ring wedding cake highlighted the decor on the bride's table.

Among out-of-town guests were the bridegroom's mother of Houston, Edward Cassidy of Frankfort, Kan., and W. E. McCoy of Los Angeles.

For a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N. M., the bride wore a dusty pink milateen suit with a navy blue topcoat and accessories and an orchid corsage. After Jan. 2, the couple will be at home in Corpus Chrisit, where the bridegroom is serving in the Naval Air corps. Both the bride and bridegroom are former students of Texas Technological college. Mrs. Quaid was a member of Ko Shari social club there.

Yuletide Charm Tips For Glamor Gifts

By BETTY CLARKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

When shopping for last-minute glamor gifts for family and friends, give something appropriate. Don't take just any old thing because time is getting short. You can make wise selections by making a list of things you want for each person on your list. You'll find it is simpler to shop when you know what you want. Here are some suggestions:

For Granny. . . Just because she's a grandmother don't think she won't adore a beautiful compact that she can fill with her favorite powder. Or how about a travel case filled with creams and lotions to perk up her weary face after a trip? Bath sets containing scented soaps and toiletries are other top-of-the-tree favorites. A good hair brush and comb always is welcome. One packed in a knitting box offers double appeal.

For Mom . . . You can splurge on her. She'll adore a gift certificate to a beauty salon, a vitalator machine for beauty massages, a home permanent wave, perfume in special bottles, cologne, special beauty kits containing favorite cosmetics or a compact with jewel trim—perfect for evenings out with Pa.

For Big Sis . . . Sachet pillows for lingerie and sachet hangers for special dresses will make a big hit with Sis. A box-office beauty kit is a compact carry-all for makeup at home, office or on the campus, a wallet containing a lipstick and compact, a nosegay of violets concealing four lipsticks, a Christmas stocking containing everything for the bath from dusting powder to fluffy milk bath petal wafers are useful and practical. Budget priced are liquids which are painted over the lips to keep from smearing, lipstick with mirror attached, a pink tinted heart of soap with a bottle of perfume nestled atop it, manicure cutlery set containing cuticle scissors, nail file, tweezers and cuticle pusher—in a zippered case.

For Teen-Sis . . . Start her off right with delicate colognes, perfumes and sachets, a debutante-type kit of makeup essentials, a set of various nail polishes and manicure esesntials (a budget nail polish and lipstick combination comes with a round plastic base and a built-in finger rest.) A fun compct available with a horseshoe, wishbone or four-leaf clover motif, solid perfume in a bracelet compact to dangle from her wrist, a comb and brush set for her vanity table.

Herrin-Hart Dinner Set

The wedding party of Miss Bettie Hart of Anton and Neil Herrin will attend a rehearsal dinner at Hilton hotel Thursday night at 8 o'clock as guests of Mr. Herrin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Herrin. The wedding will be performed Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Anton Methodist church.

Miss Hart gave a trousseau tea Sunday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock at her home at Anton. Mrs. Herrin presided at the refreshment table which was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a tall red taper, greenery and red balls. Attendants of the bride were honor guests.

A luncheon complimenting the bride-elect was given Saturday by Mrs. B. W. Lawson and her daughters, Miss Sue Lawson and Mrs. Roy Butler.

On the list were Mrs. Ed M. Hart, mother of the bride-to-be, Mrs. Herrin, Mrs. J. Mule Davis, Mrs. A. J. Smith, and Misses Chloe Herrin, Jane Skinner, Mary Duggan, Mary Roe and Betty Wright. The hostess gift was of china.

Mrs. Lucille Jones, Mr. Torgeson Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Lester of Oklahoma City, Okla., announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. Lucille Jones to Mr. Harold Johnson Torgeson. The wedding was read Dec. 3 in Kansas City, Kan.

Mrs. Torgeson is a former Lubbock resident and the former Mrs. Frank Owen Jones.

The couple will be at home after Dec. 27 at Lawrence, Kan.

IN LEE HOME

Forty-second Street Baptist WMS members met Monday afternoon with Mrs. John Lee for a social at which 14 were present. Cookies were packed for the Baptist orphanage at Waxahachie.

Don't discard the bones when serving canned salmon; they contain valuable food nutrients.

Yuletide In Song And Word Is Featured

Christmas, most colorful and impressive time of the year, is inspiring programs at club and class socials.

When Past Matrons of Order of Eastern Star met with Mrs. James Samson, 3014 Twenty-fifth, Monday night, roll call was answered by expressing "My Main Christmas Wish." Mrs. Lester White told the story of "The Littlest Angel."

Three worthy matrons, Mrs. Earl Daniel, Truth, Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt, Freedom and Mrs. Morris Cranford, Lubbock, attended. Mrs. Lester Erickson was also a guest.

Mrs. L. D. Thomas presided at the refreshment table.

Mrs. Dotts read the story, "The Littlest Angel," and Christmas carols were sung.

Refreshments were served and gifts were distributed by "Santa Claus."

Attending were 17 members.

Mary Haworth's Mail

As Christmas Approaches, Woman Worried About Husband Kissing Staff At Parties

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I know from my own working days that office parties are fun and can have continued good effect on working relations long after the party is over. And I feel, too, that when married and single persons work together, office parties are less formal and more fun without the wives or boy friends.

But now that Christmas is almost here, and with it the good old Christmas spirit, I'd like to have your opinion as to just how much Christmas sentiment a married man should share with girl employes. Is it correct or respectable, or does it come under the heading of Christmas spirit, to kiss co-workers?

I have heard that other wives worry about kissing at office parties as much as I do; and those of us whose husbands are the conservative introvert type feel particularly that we don't know what to do about it. I believe that married men who indulge in such juvenile nonsense just to be "good sports," actually lose standing in the eyes of the others. And the poor single working girls can't really be that desperate for romance!

WIFE ISN'T SURE SHE'S JUSTIFIED

I DON'T want my husband to think I'm jealous, but I can't help wondering why go around kissing at Christmas the very persons he has treated so matter of factly, and even condescendingly, all the year? Maybe it's taking the whole thing too seriously, but I don't see why anyone would want to kiss a person of opposite sex, unless there is definite romantic intent. A kiss should be meaningful, or why bother? And if our husbands invest such kissing with meaning, aren't they cheating?

I haven't said these things to my husband because I don't want him to think I begrudge him his fun, nor do I want his fellow workers to think I wait up with a rolling pin—and I am not sure that my attitude is fair from his viewpoint. But I do feel that his actions once a year are most unbecoming to a husband and father. May I have your opinion, please. P. S.: It's the girls, not the employers, who sponsor his office parties. Signed V. L.

WHAT'S THE BASIS FOR HER ANXIETL

DEAR L.: Instead of beating around the bush, talking vaguely in terms of general principles and other married men besides your husband, why not come to grips with your specific anxiety, to see what's back of it.

Admit that you are jealous; then ask yourself why, what do you fear? Or maybe it were closer to the mark to ask yourself whom do you fear; and again, why?

It occurs to me that your anxiety consists in two parts: 1. Anxiety that derives from your memories of office parties you attended as a single working girl, where you may have indulged in kisses that amounted to "cheating" (per your definition) with some other women's husbands, all in the name of Christmas spirit. 2. Jealous distrust of your husband's interest in some particular girl co-worker, possibly intensified by a feeling that he's not wild about you any more.

CHRISTMAS ISN'T PAGAN FESTIVAL

YOU indicate that wives aren't included in the staff parties your husband attends; and then you go on to deplore his action at these soirees as "most unbecoming" to a married man. But if you aren't present to witness his behavior, how do you know he forfeits dignity? If he misbehaves, it seems unlikely that he or fellow guests would report the fact to you—so aren't you voicing an anxious assumption, rather than a provable charge?

However, for the sake of discussion, let's allow the possibility that he came home tipsy and smudged with various shades of lipstick after office parties. If such is the case, he is giving you cause to feel chagrined and you should tell him frankly that his playing faun with the office help is outside the limits of your natural tolerance, the more especially when it's indulged behind your back.

Also (if that's the story) it would be well to remind him soundly that pagan carousal isn't Christmas spirit, but just the opposite, so please discard that excuse and stop acting foolish. M. H.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Miss Wanda Carroll, bride-elect of Paul Ward, was honored with a miscellaneous shower Monday night in the home of Mrs. B. M. Brelsford. Co-hostesses were Mesdames W. S. Green and R. V. Smith.

The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered by a mirror reflecting the names "Wanda and Paul." Surrounding the mirror was a white net ruffle with silver wedding bells and white candles.

The honoree's chosen colors of blue and gold were carried out in other decorations.

Klever Kraft Klub Is At Yuletide Luncheon

Mrs. H. H. Holmes was hostess recently to members of the Klever Kraft Klub at a Christmas luncheon at the Lubbock Country club.

Traditional Christmas decorations were used, with pine cones, greenery and red candles.

Following the luncheon, members went to the home of Mrs. A. L. Scoggin for a gift exchange.

Attending were 15 members.

Three Charged In Hale Center Affray

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 20 (Special)—Charges of carrying pistols have been filed here against three Latin Americans who engaged in an hour-long gun battle in a Hale Center lumber yard Sunday afternoon and a fourth man has been charged with affray.

Sheriff Ted Andrews today said Louis Aguilar, 25, of Littlefield, Fidel Flores, 37, and his brother, Ben Flores, have been charged with carrying pistols. Joe Hernandez was charged with affray.

The elder Flores and Juan Aguilar, who received a thigh wound, remained in a Hale Center hospital for treatment. None of the men was seriously injured.

BONHAM CHILD DIES

DALLAS, Dec. 20 (AP)—Margaret Ann Frances, 13, of Bonham, died today in Parkland hospital's polio ward. The child was admitted Sunday.

Trial by combat remained in force in England until the early 19th century.

Lions Entertained By Tech Glee Club

The Texas Tech Glee club, directed by Dr. Gene Hemmle, today received a rising ovation from members of the Lions club after presenting a musical program at the club's luncheon meeting in the Hilton hotel.

Opening with several spirituals, the mixed choir switched to the currently popular "Mule Train," complete with sound effects, and closed with Christmas carols, including "Silent Night, Holy Night," in which the Lions joined in the singing.

Club President Groves Denman announced $150 will be given to the Goodfellows and that $180 will be given the Salvation Army. The club will not meet next Tuesday and will give the cost of the regular luncheon to the Salvation Army.

Christmas gifts of $10 each were presented to three waitresses who have served the club the last 12 months.

Guests were Richard Stovall, V. L. Smith, J. C. Powell, jr., Norman Snodgrass, J. H. Rapier, Burl Hubbard, T. H. Anderson, Marshall Pennington, R. T. Shaw, L. M. Thompson, F. A. Greene, J. W. Jones, Billy Key and D. A. Edwards.

Rev. Travis Wihte gave the invocation.

Man Is Ordered To Jail For Contempt

J. C. James, 41, of Lubbock, adjudged in contempt of a former order of the 99th district court, was ordered to jail Monday for three days to pay a fine of $100 and court costs.

Judge G. V. Pardue, presiding, also found that James was delinquent by $577.50 in child support ordered by the court Nov. 20, 1947, and provided that James shall remain in jail until he purges himself of contempt by paying the delinquent sum as well as the $100 fine.

Further, the court said in his order that the support payments are to continue, one each month, while the defendant is in jail.

James already was in county jail, under indictment charging child desertion, the sheriff's department said.

Christmas Party Is Slated At Dunbar

A Christmas party for underprivileged children will be held from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Wednesday in the gymnasium of the Dunbar High school.

Candy and refreshments donated by local business firms will be distributed by Santa Claus as a high point in the afternoon's entertainment.

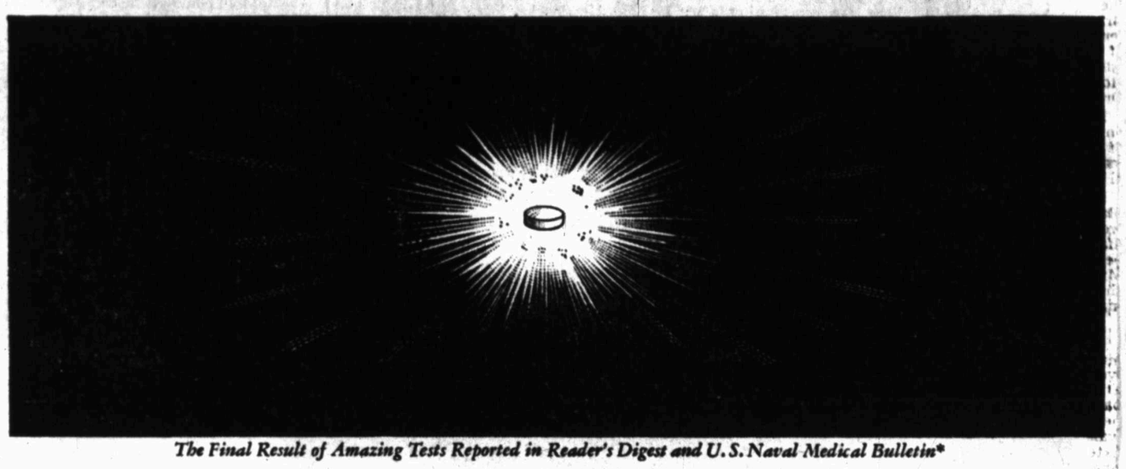

W. C. Rutledge, owner of the Lubbock Wholesale drugs, Joe Baldridge of the Baldridge bakery, and others will be honored guests at the party.

Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Avalanche-Journal, will be principal speaker.

54-Year-Old Itinerant Discovers Policeman He "Killed" In 1914 Still Very Much Alive

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 20 (AP)—An itinerant horseshoer learned yesterday that a policeman he thought he killed 36 years ago is still alive.

"It's sure a load off my conscience to know that policeman didn't die," said 54-year-old Paul F. Lovey.

Lovey was brought here for questioning after he told Las Vegas, Nev., officers he had killed a Kansas City policeman January 24, 1914.

In checking Lovey's story, police took him to the Kansas City Star's library to read some 1914 newspaper clipping on a shooting. One of the clippings mentioned a Patrolman J. B. Merritt.

"That's the man I shot," Lovey exclaimed.

"Well, you didn't kill anybody then," said Police Lt. Harry Nesbitt. "Merritt recovered. Merritt now lives near Galesburg, Ill.

An 18-year-old youth, Eugene R. Jacobs, was sentenced to four years at the state training school after being identified as Merritt's assailant, files on the Merritt case show. Police said they knew nothing of Jacobs' whereabouts now.

"That's what I've been afraid of all along," Lovey said. "That someone else had taken my rap."

Lovey has been charged with assault with intent to kill. He is being held without bond pending a preliminary hearing Jan. 12.

Nations Plan Similar Arms

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP) — The U. S., Britain and Canada plan to build military equipment to a common interchangeable standard but it may be five years before the new standardized items come off the production lines.

Governments of the three countries announced the plan yesterday. The aim of the standardization plan, they said, is to make military weapons and supplies usable by the armed forces of all three nations.

If artillery, for example, were standardized, shells made for the guns of any one of the three would fit the guns of the other two as well. The same would be true of aircraft parts.

Atomic Weapons Excluded

Members of the staff of the secretary of defense told reporters that the three countries will keep each other informed about all conventonal types of weapons, communications equipment, transportation, engineering and quartermaster equipment and medical supplies.

Any one of the three nations then will be free to propose standardization of any particular item.

The standardization agreement while it may take five years to get the new standarzed equipment rolling, standardization of methods and procedures should come much faster.

The arrangement, they said, does not provide for the exchange of information concerning atomic weapons. This is regulated specifically by law and some members of Congress oppose strongly any sharing of atomic weapons information.

The standardization agreement was described as a verbal understanding which grew out of fighting together, and in some instances using each other's equipment during World Wa rII.

Legionnaires Ready For Christmas Party

Approximately 1,000 sacks were packed with candy, fruit and nuts last night by members of the American Legion executive committee and American Legion Auxiliary for a children's Christmas party Thursday 3 to 5 p. m. at the Legion hall, 910 Texas avenue.

All children in the city under eight years of age are invited to attend, Wayne D. Groce, post commander, said.

"The program is not especially for underprivileged children, but for all," he said. "The more, the merrier."

Santa Claus, who arrived here by plane last Friday will on hand to distribute the sacks to all children present, and members of the cast of "Stars of Showtime," sponsored here Wednesday and Thursday by the Legion, will appear on the program.

Approximately 5 Auxiliary members and Legionnaires attended the meeting last night. Dr. H. H. Bidwell is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the Christmas party.

Butterfly Stomach Bound To Find Victims

Christmas Cheer Experts Fold On Sure Cure For Hangovers

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 20.—The Christmas cheer season is here again, and the medical scientists regretfully reported today that as in the case of the common cold, there is no sure-fire cure for a hangover. But some things do help.

The doctors were not even agreed on what pysiological changes occur in the body during that hangover period. They do admit that excessive drinking of alcohol brings on a hangover.

Theories Vary

One expert, who said he doesn't mind Christmas cheer himself, said that the "butterfly stomach" definitely is the result of a gastric disturbance brought on by the alcohol.

Still another believes that excessive amounts of alsohol affect directly the nervous system.

And as for preventives against the hangover:

One expert said that there are less alcoholic effects when a person eats a meal composed of carbohydrates or sugar. There are some who also believe in the theory of eating oily substances before a big night of drinking.

Cure Big Problem

Of course the big problem, they all admitted, is the cure. Numerous ideas have been suggested. One is the old-fashioned "bellevue cocktail" which has been used for some years to "sober up" Saturday night drunks. It is composed of glucose or sugar, a small shot of insulin to help the body use up the sugar, and a dosage of vitamin B1.

There are some doctors who prescribe taking oxygen, but other experts said there is no evidence that drinking alcohol diminishes a body's supply of oxygen.

Still another doctor said that to cure a hangover, a person must force himself to "eat a hearty breakfast," juices, eggs, bacon, coffee and so forth.

The bartenders, while perhaps not as scientific, had many ideas. One believes in the theory of eating salt pork or a herring for breakfast. Another suggested a morning "shot" composed of fernet bitters in gin.

Among those in lay life "who know," the general feeling was "sleep it off, or drink it off."

Mohammedanism Is Subject For Talk

Ray Chapman's informative talk on Mohammedanism highlighted a series of four talks on religion at the Toastmasters' club dinner at the Hilton hotel Monday night and won for him the president's cup for the best speech of the program.

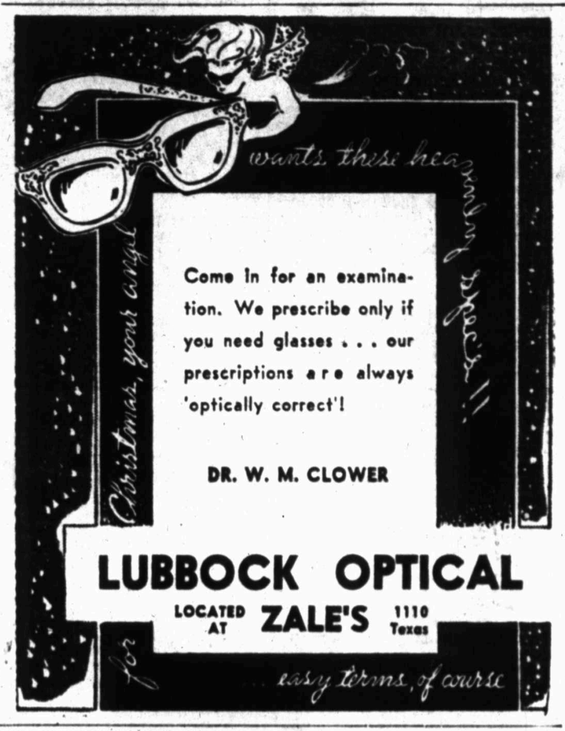

Other speakers on the program, acclaimed as the finest of the year, were made by A. B. Watkins, club president; Warren Faller and Hugh Anderson.

Dr. O. W. English was toastmaster for the dinner program and Leland Culp was topicmaster. Critics were: Edwin Merriman, O. L. Byrd, Bob Rose and Dr. G. G. Boysen with C. W. Ratliff serving as general critic.

Next meeting of the club will be on Jan. 9, meeting for the next two weeks having been cancelled because of the Christmas and New Year's Day holidays.

Bertolino Knocks Out Henderson In 13th To Win Crown

Speedy Boxer From Galveston Impressive In Triumph Here

Eddie Bertolino, a cool and crafty boxer from Galveston, today held the lightweight championship of Texas.

Bertolino last night handed Bill Henderson, of Levelland and Texas Tech, a sound beating to score a 13th-round knockout in their scheduled 15-round title bout before 1,800 fans at Chapman fieldhouse.

The Galveston youth, far more ringwise and speedier than the game Henderson, started fast, slowed through the middle rounds, and then put on a tremendous burst from the tenth round on to gain the decisive triumph.

Some Rounds Close

The Journal scorecard had it eight for Bertolino, two for Henderson and two even through the 12 completed rounds. Several rounds were so close that they might have been scored either way, but the overall picture was so overwhelmingly Bertolino that it would be unjust to term it a close fight.

The knockout came after 2 minutes 37 seconds of the 13th. Henderson had just come up from an eight count after Bertolino's straight right had toppled him backward across the lower rope. The Galvestonian was on him quickly, and hammered home a solid left hook that buckled Henderson's knees. The Levellander fell face forward on the canvas, completely exhausted, and was tolled out by Referee Bo Sexton.

The first four rounds were fairly close, with a slight edge to Bertolino, whose most effective punch was a chopping right to the head.

By the fifth, Henderson's facial features were beginning to swell, but he staged a gallant rally to force the fighting through the next four heats. After a furious fifth-round attack that brought a thunderous ovation from the partisan crowd, Henderson continued to carry the action to Bertolino. After the fight, Bertolino said that a smashing right on the nose by Henderson had caused him difficulty in breathing, and that it wasn't until the tenth that he recovered from the blow.

But once Bertolino regained command, there wasn't much doubt as to the eventual outcome. From the tenth through the 12th, he peppered Henderson repeatedly with stinging lefts and damaging bolo rights to the head. Fighting cautiously, he kept the Texas Tech student bewildered through the late rounds, beating him to the punch consistently. And when Henderson rushed in to land a good blow, the Galveston youth invariably tagged him with punishing counter punches.

Practically all Bertolino's blows were aimed at the head, and by the end Henderson's features told the story of the fight. His left ear, not completely healed from an earlier ring injury, was trickling blood, and his cheekbones were puffed.

But even after it was apparent that Bertolino was on the road to victory, Henderson's courage never faltered. He was still in there trying when he pitched forward to take the final count.

It was the 51st victory in 56 pro starts for Bertolino, who was presented a championship belt immediately after the fight. For Henderson it was the third setback—and second by a knockout—in 32 pro bouts. Both the earlier defeats were administered by Frenchman Jean Mougin.

Before this fight, it had been agreed that the two would meet in a return match at Galveston. Whether Henderson's handlers will want an early rematch after last night's convincing Bertolino win remains to be seen.

Leonard Duncan, Hale Center middleweight, racked up his ninth success in ten pro efforts by scoring a TKO over flabby Gil Ramirez, El Paso in 1 minute 23 seconds of the second round. Ramirez, though outclassed, amazed the crowd by taking an almost unbelievable amount of punishment before going down.

Joe Chaplin, a Shreveport welterweight with some peculiar footwork that amused the throng, was too classy for Jimmy Moreland, Lubbock, and scored a clean knockout in 1 minute 37 seconds of the first round. A straight right to the chin was the finisher.

In a lively four-round opener, Juan Henerra, El Paso featherweight, and Enrique Morales, San Antonio, battled to a draw. Morales took a slight lead in the first, but Hererra evened things up in the second and the two fought on even terms through the closing two stanzas.

GIL BEATS GRAY

AUSTIN, Dec. 20. (AP)—Pete Gil 130¾, stopped Hubert Gray, 146, Wichita Falls, in six rounds last night when the Austin fighter opened a cut over Gray's eye. The bout had been scheduled for ten rounds.

Tech Gridders Speed Drills

After several days of conditioning, the Texas Tech football squad went through a hard workout Monday at Jones stadium with the Raisin Bowl at Fresno, Calif., in mind.

After preliminary blocking drills and dummy play practices the whole squad came together for a dummy scrimmage which lasted until dark.

Passing Is Stressed

The passing attack is being stepped up sharply in practice, and when Tech meets San Jose State the air may be full of Raider aerials. A whole new series of pass plays were effective in practice.

Morale of the squad is good, and the players went through their drills with lots of enthusiasm and pep.

Looking good in running plays were Fullback Bud Conley and Walter Maloney, both flashing lots of speed on ground plays.

In the line Guard Dan Pursel was acting linebacker on defense and doing a good job covering pass receivers. Passes from the arm of Ernest Hawkins were hitting their mark with regularity, but receivers were experiencing difficulty holding onto the pigskin after the short layoff from regular practice the early part of December.

Tech will continue its drills daily at Jones stadium through Dec. 27, except for time off over the weekend for Christmas holidays.

Doaker May Play In "Senior Bowl"

DALLAS, Dec. 20 (AP)—Doak Walker, Southern Methodist's all-America who passed up the East-West game because of a leg injury, expects to be ready for the Senior bowl game at Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 7.

Walker suffered a bad charley horse and had the leg reinjured in the game against Texas Christian. He couldn't play in the SMU-Notre Dame game but had planned to appear in the East-West contest in which Southern Methodist Coach Matty Bell is head coach for the West.

He has been taking treatments but the injury has not responded sufficiently for him to play at San Francisco. If he did he would take a chance of a crippling injury.

"It will require about two weeks for the injury to thoroughly heal," Mrs. E. D. Walker, his mother, says. "A calcium growth or spur has developed in the leg and it must be removed."

Gridders Are In Top Shape

(By The Associated Press)

"We'll be ready."

That's the sum of comments by the four coaches who have teams in the finals of Texas' Class AA and A high school football races.

The four coaches yesterday took stock of the physical conditions of their squads and found no serious injuries.

Austin Mentor Johnny Kitchens planned to give his Maroons some new offensive plays to use against Wichita Falls Friday at Fort Worth in the finals of the Class AA race.

Coyotes Not Injured

Wichita Falls' undefeated, untied Coyotes will go into the game in tip top shape.

J. Kikes and Ty Bain voiced apprehension for their clubs in the Class A title game at Abilene Dec. 2.

Bain said his Mexia Blackcats would have to play 'better than we did against Uvalde" to beat the powerful Littlefield Wildcats.

Fikes thinks his once-beaten South Plains eleven will have to play its 'best game of the year" to win.

Mexia is undefeated and untied.

Right now, Wichita Falls and Littlefield stack up as favorites to cop titles.

Use Power Football

All four clubs are exponents of straight power football. Each team has a capable passer, but the pass has not been one of the biggest factors in putting the teams in the finals.

This is the first time for Austin to reach the finals since it won the state championship in 1942. It is the second time in the school's history.

Wichita Falls is also a former state champion and a consistent performer in the championship playoff.

Class A schools are playing for a state title for only the second time. Last year Monahans defeated New Braunfels at Odessa for the first Class A championship.

Junior Colleges Of Southwest Form Loop

KILGORE, Dec. 20 (AP)—Six of the Southwest's top junior colleges have banded into the Big Six junior college conference.

They'll start competition next football season.

Members of the new circuit that was organized here last night are Kilgore, Paris, Tyler, John McNeese of Lake Charles, La., Northeast Center of Monroe, La., and Cameron agricultural of Lawton, Okla.

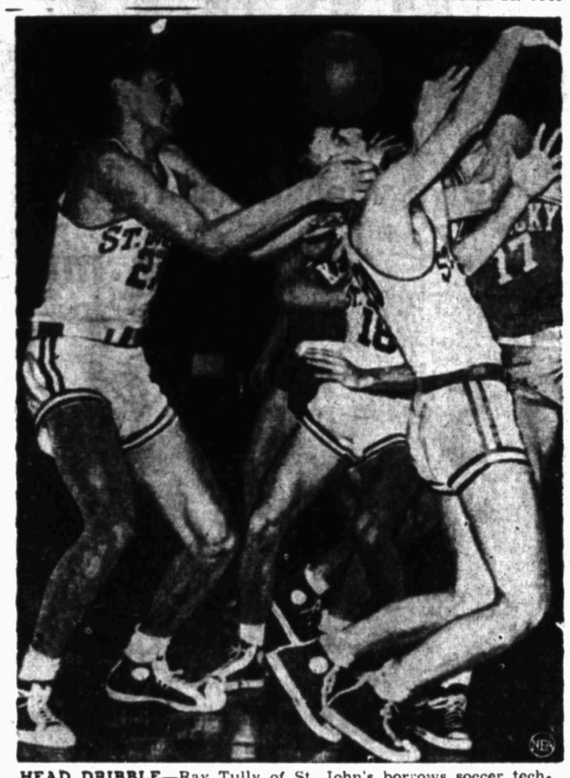

The conference officially comes into being June 1.

The three Texas members of the new loop were members of the Southwestern junior college conference, which disbanded recently.

President of the Big Six conference is Dr. J. R. McLemore of Paris. Vernon Howell of Cameron was elected vice president and Dr. H. E. Jenkins of Tyler secretary-treasurer.

The 1950 football schedule will be drawn later.

Fireman Joe Glitters In Movie Shots

World Series Films To Give Page Support For Wage Hike

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 — Memo to George M. Weiss, general manager of the New York Yankees:

When you come to Joe Page's name on your 1950 salary list, make it big.

Fireman Joe has the goods on you in black and white. He couldn't have done better by writing the script for the 1949 World Series pictures previewed yesterday.

When the lights go down the series movies start, Page glitters brighter than Hopalong Cassidy. Both get in trouble but Fireman Joe wiggles home first without shooting iron or lasso.

They say around town that Page, who appeared in 60 regular season and two World Series games for the champion Yanks, will want at least $25,000 next summer.

Series Films Praised

Like most clubs, the Yanks never announce salaries. However, it's "reliably reported" that Fireman Joe got "about $20,000" last summer. He'll certainly want more in '50.

Contracts won't be mailed out for several weeks. Every day the '49 Series pictures are shown, Page is going to look more convincing. As the prints won't be available for public showings until Jan. 5, maybe Weiss had better get in touch soon.

The Series films, directed by Lew Fonseca for the American and National baseball leagues, have many a closeup of handsome Joe. When Page isn't in view, the Yankee cause is ably supported by Bobby Brown, Allie Reynolds, Tommy Henrich or Phil Rizzuto.

Play Not Shown

When you win a series, 4-1, there can't be much controversial material to air during the winter. It hardly matters that the movies showed Gene Hermanski might have been safe sliding home in the second game. That was the only game Brooklyn won, anyhow.

The excellent films represented many weeks of work by Fonseca and his staff who cut 20,000 feet down to 3,700 feet for a 35-minute showing. Somehow or other, they forgot to show whether Tommy Henrich touches first base or not after hitting the game-winning homer in the ninth inning of the Yanks' 1-0 opening victory. The camera caught Tommy as he kicked second base with vehemence.

Ford Frick, National league president who has been somewhat in seclusion since early October, came down from his 17th story office to say a few words:

At a distance they sounded something like "wait until next year." Mr. Frick is a very patient man.

Oklahoma Defeats CCNY Five, 67-63

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP) — Oklahoma Coach Bruce Drake is a man who never uses the same basketball tactics from one year to the next.

Last night his team sprang a new revolving offense against City College in Madison Square Garden that broke a man loose for easy drive-in shots more than a dozen times. The Sooners won, 67-63.

In intricacy, the pattern rivals that of the sliding T of Oklahoma's Sugar Bowl football champions.

On other courts, most of the country's major teams came through with victories.

Bradley rebounded from its Purdue defeat by trouncing Georgia Tech, 84-50.

Down South, North Carolina State blew a 10-point lead in losing to Michigan, 54-46.

On the coast, Indiana broke a tie in the final minute to whip Oregon State, 65-60, for its fifth straight victory.

St. John's made it nine straight in drubbing a green Washington State five, 67-44.

Lubbock Meets Pampa Tonight

Lubbock's Westerner basketball squad will be after their ninth win of the season at 8 o'clock tonight when they take on the Pampa Harvesters of District 1-AA at Chapman fieldhouse.

After losing their unbeaten record after five successful starts when Borger turned the trick, the Westerners roared back with three victories in the Wayland tourney at Plainview over the week-end to take first place in the tourney and now have eight wins and one defeat.

Pampa has won four straight this year.

Pacing the Harvester attack will be Jimmy Howard, 5-foot, 10-inch guard and James Gallemore, 6-foot, three inch center. Gallemore and Howard are the only two regulars off last year's squad which tied for the 1-AA crown with Lubbock and Amarillo, being beaten in the playoffs by the Westerners.

Three squadmen of the past season round out the Harvester lineup. They are Tony Jones, forward; Dwain Reno, forward; and Jack Sutton, guard.

Sexton, Wilson Lead Team

Leading the Westerners tonight will be Forward Jimmy Sexton and Center Jim Wilson, both lettermen. Wilson has scored 77 points this year in nine games, and Sexton has accounted for 70.

At the other forward post will be Tom Cheatham, and guards are Carl Ince and Richard Allen. Probable substitutes are Walter Norton at center, Morris Turner at guard, Garnet Reeves at forward and Bill Williams at guard.

Price of admission to the game will be 60 and 30 cents. On Wednesday the Westerner and Cowhand teams play Abilene at Chapman fieldhouse.

Shooting Stressed

Monday in practice at Lubbock High school, Coach David Cook sent his squad through a brisk workout, followed by a scrimmage with the Cowhands.

In early practice concentration was on shooting and ball handling, with figure eights and lay-up shots being used to help timing.

Alderson Paces Raider Cagers To Victory Over Checker Cab

The Red Raider cage team defeated Checker Cab of San Angelo, 62-43, Monday night at Tech gym, and Jack Alderson, sophomore guard, all but did the job himself.

In his most sparkling collegiate performance, Alderson took control in the second half after a slow start in the game and finished by sinking 31 points to take scoring honors and give the Raiders a well-deserved victory.

Alderson's sizzling one-handed shot was never better after an inaccurate beginning. The former Lubbock high star sank but three field goals and a free throw in the first half, but after the intermission he knocked the bottom out of the basket by swishing through 10 field goals and four charity tosses for 24 points in the last 20 minutes of play.

Berge Out Of Action

The Cabbers were playing without the services of their star forward, big Norman Berge, but managed to hold the Raiders well in check the first half and trailed 26-20, at the end of the period.

During the first stanza the score changed hands twice and was tied four times, with Tech going ahead for the final time with 6:30 left in the first half when Jiggs Jackson followed up a short shot with a tip-in to put the Raiders in front, 16-15.

The six-point halftime margin was pushed to 17 points midway of the last half, and a last minute flurry of Cabber shots kept the margin from being greater than the final 19-point gap.

Next high scorer for Texas Tech was guard Jackson with 14 points, and forward Verdell Turner was third with seven.

Hopkins Paces Visitors

Pacing the Checker Cab five was Norman Hopkins, tall 6-foot, 7-inch center with 12 points, made on eight free throws and two field goals. John Klick, San Angelo High cage coach, followed through with 11 points on four field goals and three free throws.

Shooting the first half by Tech was very erratic, allowing the Cabbers to go ahead, 6-2, after four minutes of play when Hugh Welch sank a close whirl shot. Alderson sank a push shot from near the free throw circle, but Hopkins and Klick scored to push the count to 9-4, for the visitors, their widest margin.

With Verdell Turner, Gene Gibson and Jackson chopping away at the Tech deficit, the Raiders tied the score at 10-all, then 12-12 and finally 14-14 before pulling out in front to stay.

Tech Leads Last Half

Most of San Angelo's scoring was done from about eight feet away from the basket, and as the game wore on shots were taken from farther out.

During the last half Tech ruled the backboards, with Gibson, Turner and Alderson snaring the ball consistently.

Tech's fast break began to tell on the Cab quintet shortly before the half ended, and during the final period the Raiders were able to break away for crip shots through the zone defense opposing them.

Coach Robison employed a sophomore team during the major part of the last half, with Irl Brown, Jim Eddins, Alderson, Ted O'Neal, and Weldon McClure in the lineup most of the period.

Tech's next game is with Austin college of Sherman on Wednesday.

Major Changes In TIL Setup Sought

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS, Dec. 20—It's a pretty good bet that the City conference is on the way out of Texas Interscholastic league football. When the founding fathers throw up their hands and say it won't work, it appears there's nothing to do except junk it.

But what to put in its place is something else. The Class AAA conference has been suggested—a circuit taking in schools with 1,000 or more enrollment. But the objections to that arise from the fact that there just aren't enough cities with schools that large located close enough together. Increased travel ,added expense and loss of time from school of the players would be major obstacles.

Congestion Claimed Reason

Why the City conference ever was formed is a mystery to us—that is, if you discount the snide remarks of the Class AA schools that it was done solely because the city schools — Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth and San Antonio — had grown tired of taking beatings from the towns.

Congestion was the reason given. There were 84 Class AA high schools and 26 in the City conference. That's 110 teams. Surely 110 teams can be handled in 16 districts. Suppose one district has even 10 schools. Instead of playing teams from other districts in practice games, each game could be a conference affair. District games draw better anyway.

Tentative assignments for 1950 show 81 schools in Class AA. This means five schools are dropping out of Class AA, two are being added. Anyway, a combined City conference-Class AA division would be fewer than 110 teams next fall.

Why not go back to the old plan? Add towns like say Cleburne and Grand Prarie to a City conference district like Fort Worth; put Highland Park, McKinney, Denton and Sulphur Springs in the Dallas district. And so on. Raise the enrollment requirement to 600 and don't let any school with less compete in Class AA even if it wants to.

It appears imperative that something be done—this time in the interest of the cities.

Junior Colleges Muddled

Another thing that ought to be worked out in Texas the junior college football situation.

There is a South Texas junior college conference, a Texas junior college conference and a Southwestern junior college conference (which goes out of existence in the spring to make way for two more junior college conferences). Also, there are several junior colleges not playing in any conference.

There is no junior college football champion of Texas and there should be.

Why not a Texas junior college conference of say four divisions — east, west, south and north—with a play-off for the title each year?

Also, while they're at it they should work out some system of publicity for what is now the Texas junior college conference. You couldn't find out what was going on in its football the past season from even the officials of the conference.

The junior colleges have the same trouble as the high schools when it comes to classification, however. They can't all compete in one organization on an even basis. One junior college coach said "I can't compete with those oil wells Kilgore college owns."

Well, the boys could operate like the Interscholastic league. Let the half-dozen or so junior colleges that are too big and rich and strong for the others play in a conference of their own but district the others with a view toward determining a state champion.

Adjectives Are Defended

Comes a letter from Joe S. Thompson of Sherman who complains that our choice of adjectives is too limited. It seems Mr. Thompson got irritated by the use of the term "Golden Boy" so much in our writing about Doak Walker. He says we've been doing it three years.

Really now, we didn't start calling him that until the past year. Perhaps Mr. Thompson has been reading articles by other sports writers and got us mixed with them. The reason (and this is confidential) we started calling the Doaker golden boy was because of the cash he was going to draw down for being such a football player.

The golden boy—oops! sorry—Doaker already has dragged down about as much as my annual salary and here the football season has been over only a couple of weeks. New automobile, contract for writing stuff, etc. When the guy signs a pro contract it's going to be out of this world. Pretty golden don't you think?

Bonus Player Tiger Problem

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 20—Now that Dick Wakefield has gone to the Yankees in exchange for a reasonable facsimile of the first baseman he wanted, Detroit Manager Red Rolfe can concentrate on another problem child, Frank House . . . The $75,000 bonus catcher, who couldn't hit in the Central league, will have to stick with the Tigers this year . . . Rolfe figures House will do okay if he's a good enough receiver mechanically . . . "As long as he doesn't drop balls and let them steal on him, he doesn't have to hit," says Red . . . Coach Johnny Wooden tabs his U. C. L. A. basketball team that hits the garden soon as one of the fastest ever to appear on the Pacific coast. In other words, the Wooden men aren't . . . Biggest press-agent stunt of the basketball season was staged by Dave Stidolph of Washington State, who shipped this dept. a gallon of water from Grand Coulee dam to replace what the Cougar basketballers might drink in New York.

Joke On Coach

It was at the annual lettermen's banquet of the New Hampshire football team . . . Senior Guards Alphie Swekla and Gus Gilman approached Line Coach Pat Petroski ,who had toiled with them daily for four years . . . Solemnly each placed a hand on Pat's shoulder . . . It was a tear-jerking occasion . . . "Gosh, Pat," they told Petroski, "now that we're graduating, you'll have to start coaching."

When Missouri's Tigers play Maryland in the Gator bowl it will be Coach Don Faurot's fourth bowl effort and his fifth shot against a split T rival. Don, inventor of the Split T, hasn't a victory to show for either series . . . One reason so few American-born hockey stars are turning up these days is that the rinks at Chisholm and Virginia, Minn., have been leased to a clothing manufacturer. Now they're making shirts instead of shots.

Ducats For Class AA Game To Go On Sale

FORT WORTH, Dec. 20 (U.P.) — Tickets for the Wichita Falls-Austin state Class AA championship game here in Texas Christian university stadium Friday will go on sale Wednesday, it was announced today.

The tickets will be available at the schools in both competing cities and at the central ticket agency, Hotel Texas, in Fort Worth.

A block of 5,000 reserved seats was taken by Wichita Falls, Austin claimed 3,200 and each school took 1,952 student tickets.

Prices range from $3 for box seats to 50 cents for students of the Austin, Wichita Falls and Fort Worth schools.

Game time was set for 2 p. m.

Suit Against Club Pressed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP) — Fullback Ralph Ruthstrom's claim that the Washington Redskins professional football club owes him $4,100 will proceed in federal court.

Ruthstrom's suit seeking a test of the vital pro reserve contract clause—and the cash he says he lost because the clause prevented him joining another club—went to trial yesterday.

Motion Is Refused

Judge David A. Pine refused a motion by the club for a directed verdict in its favor. The club also filed a suit of its own claiming the onetime fullback owes the Redskins $241.80 for a loan made him before the 1947 football season.

Ruthstrom contends he was prevented from earning a living during a period of suspense by the Redskins. He said the reserve clause in the National league contract kept him from joining a Buffalo, N. Y. team.

The clause, similar to one which several professional baseball players have subjected to court attacks, binds a player to the club holding his contract unless he is released by the club.

To Defend Clause

In Philadelphia, Commissioner Bert Bell of the National-American football league—newly formed by a merger of the two big pro loops—said the league is prepared to defend the clause in court if necessary.

Ruthstrom's attorney, James J. Laughlin, said he would ask the court to rule whether the contract and reserve clause are legal.

He said that President George Marshall suspended Ruthstrom in 1947; that the player sought a release so he could play with Buffalo of the All-America conference, but that he wasn't released until 1948.

Marshall said Ruthstrom left the team without permission.

Mustangs Lose Game With Colorado Five

(By The Associated Press)

Baylor and Texas Christian university take on intersectional basketball foes tonight while Texas and Texas A. and M. stick to opposition closer to home.

Southern Methodist, the only conference team in action last night, dropped a 56-50 decision to Colorado.

Baylor plays Tulane at San Antonio; Texas Christian meets Wichita at Wichita, Kans.; A. and M. is host to North Texas at College Station and Texas meets the University of Houston at Austin.

Two wartime buddies who have not met since they played as teammates on the Cherry Point (N. C.) Marines team in 1945 will meet again on the gridiron Saturday, Dec. 31 when Texas Tech and San Jose State tangle in the Raisin Bowl.

Playing at opposite halfbacks on the Marine team were Cal Steveson at right halfback and Harry Russell at left halfback. Steveson is one of the standouts on the Tech eleven, and Russell has starred four years for the Spartans.

Steveson and Russell were the best of friends in the service, but in the Raisin Bowl the friendship will be forgotten for 60 minutes as each tries to do his share in winning the game.

Russell averaged 7 yards per carry during the season with San Jose and needs only 25 yards against Tech to break the all-time Spartan rushing record of 624 yards set in 1940 by Bud Nygran, who, incidentally, coached the Marine team in 1945 and persuaded Russell to leave Carolina and go to San Jose.

Steveson has accumulated 393 yards for the Raiders, a 4.67 average.

Battling Bill Henderson met defeat Monday night at Chapman fieldhouse in his try for the lightweight championship of Texas, losing to Eddie Bertolino of Galveston in the 13th round of their title fight via the ko route.

The knockout by Bertolino marked the second time that Henderson has been sent to the canvas for the count in his professional career of 32 fights. Jean Mougin, former lightweight champion of France, turned the trick in El Paso this year. Mougin also was the first fighter to defeat Henderson, and he did this twice, giving the Levelland puncher a record now of 29 wins and three losses.

In losing to Bertolino Henderson went down gamely, rallying throughout the closing rounds to sting the eventual winner with solid rights and lefts.

But the Galveston lightweight had too much poise and experience for Henderson and his solid blows, though lighter than Henderson's finally spelled victory.

As a rooter on Henderson's bandwagon, this writer was sorry to see Bill lose, but no one could have tried harder for victory or gone down more gallantly.

In case a rematch is made, there will be no waivering in support from this corner.

The Westerner cagers will be pounding the "maple" tonight at Chapman fieldhouse against Pampa, a former conference foe and one that was eliminated by Lubbock last February in the District 1-AA playoff, the race ending in a three-way tie between Amarillo, Pampa and Lubbock.

Lubbock went on to third place in the state tourney at Austin, but Pampa was left holding an empty sack, and they haven't forgotten. Although considerably weaker than last year's team, this year's Harvesters will be out to beat Lubbock, and if they can't do it tonight there will be another opportunity January 27—in Pampa. A good scrap seems a certainty.

Play and keep up with your team seems to be the practice of Coach John Kiick of San Angelo High school, who is a star on the Checker Cab team of San Angelo. In losing last night to Texas Tech, Kiick scored 11 points . . . Another Cabber was Hugh Welch, sports editor of the San Angelo newspaper. How do some people find time? . . . Bulldog Turner of the Chicago Bears put in a brief appearance at Texas Tech's workout Monday . . . Bob Finley, an SMU great who went to the Rose Bowl with the Mustangs in 1936, is being considered for the managerial job of San Angelo's Longhorn loop entry . . . With such a good start, wonder by how many points Nate Delong of Rivers Falls (Wis.) Teachers Will break the four-year basketball scoring record for collegiate players? Delong went over the old mark of 2,199 set by Jim Lacy of Loyola of Baltimore by scoring 33 points last Saturday, setting the new total of 2,207. And the season is young!

Marshall Sets Course Record

Male golfers at Lubbock Country club today had a new course record at which to shoot.

Husky Raymond Marshall cracked the old record for the 6,232-yard layout by firing a scorching 63, eight under par.

Marshall's performance trimmed one stroke off the former record, set by Dallas' Don Schumacher in the 1946 Texas PGA tourney and later equalled by Lofton Burnette and Gene Towry, both of Lubbock.

Playing the back nine first, Marshall fired a sizzling 30, six under par, to establish a new mark for the back nine while en route to the 18-hole record.

His remarkable back-nine display featured successive eagles on Nos. 13 and 14. On the par 5 No. 13, he chipped into the cup from just off the green. On the 350-yard No. 14, he powered his drive to within six feet of the cup, then holed the putt for a deuce.

He also had two birdies and five pars on the back nine.

Marshall bogeyed No. 1 as he began the front nine, but settled down to shoot three birdies and five pars on the remaining eight holes for a 33, two below par.

Marshall's record-shattering round was shot while he was playing in a fivesome which included Roy Cooper, Jack Markham, Gene Towry and Billy Tatum. Towry, who saw his own record broken, had a four-under-par 67 Monday while playing with Marshall.

Lew Jenkins Pounds Out Win In Boston

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 20. (U.P.)—Former world lightweight champion Lew Jenkins has moved another step forward on the comeback trail.

The Sweetwater, Tex., puncher scored a rousing technical knockout of Iggy Vaccari of Boston last night in two minutes and 26 seconds of the eighth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

Jenkins, an old-timer of 33, looked fresher than his 19-year-old opponent, who was broadcasting every punch. The Texan methodically opened up bad cuts below both of Vaccari's eyes with sharp jabs.

The referee stopped the fight after Jenkins had put Vaccari on the canvas twice for an eight-count.

Jenkins, at 139 pounds, outweighed his opponent by six pounds. It was his 18th victory in his last 19 starts.

Hoskins Case Nearing Jury

AMARILLO, Dec. 20 (U.P.)—Closing arguments in the Dwight Hoskins murder trial began today, and the case expected to reach the jury by afternoon.

Hoskins, a 25-year-old former all-state halfback for Amarillo High school, was charged with the holdup-murder of Charles Freeman, a crippled service station attendant.

Case Is Wound Up

The defense wound up its presentation of witnesses yesterday by putting R. F. Case, Amarillo tavern owner, on the stand. Case had been billed as a "mystery witness."

He testified that he stopped his automobile at the service station shortly after the shooting in the early morning of Oct. 6 when he saw a group of policemen and passers-by milling around.

Case said one of them, a young man, was "having a fit." He identified the stricken man as Sonny Fredericks, brother of a star state witness, Mrs. Grace Brownfield. She had testified earlier that Fredericks and Hoskins had talked about "pulling a job" several days before Freeman was shot and robbed of $31.

Says Brother At Home

However, Mrs. Brownfield testified that her brother stayed home on the night of the crime.

Mrs. Brownfield also had testified that Hoskins came to her home on the morning of Oct. 6, put down a gun, and said "I just shot a man."

In an apparent attempt to bolster Case's testimony, defense counsel called six policemen to testify about the commotion at the service station. Each officer said he had seen a man in convulsions, but all of them said he was not Fredericks.

The trial, in Judge Henry S. Bishop's 47th district court, began last week.

Cash Bonuses

ings and length of employment. The circuit includes 14 theaters in nine towns of the area. The home office is in Lubbock.

Officials of Kuykendall Chevrolet company announced a cash bonus, but withheld immediate information as to the amount.

Employes of the Lindsey theaters will receive bonuses according to salaries and length of service, according to J. B. Rhea, manager. All will receive something. Those of longer service will receive up to three weeks' salary.

Furr Food stores announced that all regular employes will receive checks. Extra help will receive gifts. Employes also work under a bonus plan, payable quarterly, one of which is due on Christmas.

All employes of the Piggly-Wiggly stores also will be remembered, Regular employes will receive an extra week's salary.

Bowman Lumber company is continuing a Christmas gift plan started about three years ago for its employes, said Sam C. Newman, owner.

Hourly workers who have been with the firm a year or more have received bonuses ranging from $200 upward to $1,000, he explained. Employes on a monthly basis have received an extra month's salary as their bonus.

At Lubbock Auto company, Inc., employes will be presented with Christmas bonus checks at a party at the firm's office, Ninth and Texas, Thursday night. Based on total net profits and length of service of each employe with the firm, the bonuses will range "pretty high," said one official. One man, for example, who has been with the company 26 years will receive approximately one year's salary as his Christmas gift.

To Receive One Per Cent

Womble Olds, at Nineteenth and Ave. L, has a plan by which all employes will be given one per cent of their total earnings since joining the firm, which in the case of most employes will be a year and a half. Executives of the firm will receive bonuses ranging up to $1,500, said Bob Womble, owner of the automobile agency.

Coca-Cola Bottling company employes who have been with the firm six months or longer will receive a week's pay as a Christmas gift, said Forrest L. Lindsey, manager. Those employes who have been with the firm from three to six months will receive half a week's pay.

The fund still is nearly $150 short of the goal originally set. The Chief Goodfellow is hoping contributions will be sufficient to go over this amount with a margin to cover the unexpectedly heavy expenses.

Plans are to close the drive Thursday. Contributions of any amount should be sent without delay to the Chief Goodfellow, care of The Avalanche-Journal, 1211 Texas avenue.

pluses next year. Under the program, wheat farmers are asked to cut back plantings by an average of 14 per cent.

Stiffer production controls and marketing quotas—carrying heavier penalties for noncompliance—will be used to curb plantings of cotton, peanuts and major types of tobacco.

Acreage allotments will be announced soon for corn and rice and possibly for soybeans and dry beans.

The department reported yesterday that this year's total crop volume was second only to last year's record production. It said planted acreage was the largest in 16 years and the harvested acreage the largest in 17 years.

STOCKS SUFFER DECLINE

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (U.P.) — Stocks today suffered their widest decline since Nov. 21 on the smallest volume of the month.

Rails and industrial issues led the decline which was mild in the utilities. Losses in the industrial secton ranged to 2 points with chemicals the we..kest.

Dow Chemical issues had wide declines when the Michigan state controller threatened suit against the company for allegedly making similar bids with three other companies for calcium chloride.

The market continued under domination of year-end operations. Traders switched holdings to register gains or losses for the income tax report. Selective selling went ahead in a number of stocks which had losses ranging to 4 points. A few recorded wide gains, notably the high-priced Joliet & Chicago railroad which set a new high at 170 up 15 points.

U. S. Gypsum, Superior Oil of California, Motorola, and Western Union were among the strong spots. The steels and motors showed only small changes.

Borghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.32-37

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 20 (AP) — Grains recovered from an early decline at the board of trade today. The slump was induced by an upward revision of production in the year end government crop report.

Wheat was the first to start the upward swing on buying credited to milling interests, reflecting sales of flour for export.

Later corn started to advance on reports that Australia had purchased around two million bushels of United States corn.

At the finish wheat was ¼ lower to 1⅜ higher, December $2.21½-22¼. Corn was ⅛ higher to ¾ lower, December $1.30-30½. Oats were ½ to 3⅜ lower, December 75-73½. Rye was 1¼ to 1¾ lower, December $1.38½-39¼. Soybeans were ¼ to 3¾ lower, December $2.26½-27½. Lard was 45 to 55 cents a hundredweight lower, December $11.85-70.

Damage Suit Filed In Train Accident

A suit asking $182,925 in damages was filed in Judge Dan Blair's 72nd district court Monday afternoon as outgrowth of a truck-train collision about 9 a.m. Nov. 23 near Shallowater.

Plaintiffs are Ygnacia Acosta Quirino, for herself and as next friend for eight minor children; Carlos Quirino, and Rosa Chavez Quirino.

Railroad Is Defendant

Defendant is Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company, a corporation.

Anacleto Charves Quirino, sr., nusband, father and son of the 11 plaintiffs, was owner of and a passenger in the truck, driven northwestward by Isaac Quirino, a son, when it and the west-bound freight were in collision.

The suit was filed by Winston Brummett, of the law firm of Brummett and Brummett.

The suit is an outgrowth of the tragic accident which killed eight Latin Americans, three from one family, and injured eight others.

Texas Weather

temperatures at least 10 to 15 degrees.

The weather bureau cited this example of what the cold wave was doing as it moved through Kansas this morning: At 8:30 a. m. the temperature at Dodge City, Kas., was 29. At Wichita, Kas., the reading at the same hour was 62.

Heavy fog which bedeviled air and ship traffic in much of Texas earlier this week was confined this morning to the upper coast areas of Houston, Beaumont, Galveston and Port Arthur. Even there the mist blanket was breaking up by mid-morning.

Little Rain Reported

Despite the generally wet sort of weather there was virtually no rain in Texas in the 25 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. The Weather bureau said its reports included San Antonio .02 of an inch, Victoria and Austin .01 and traces at Dallas and Lufkin.

In Lubock, no precipitation was recorded, but streets were damp and slick from early-morning "radiation" moisture.

Temperatures at 6:30 a. m. ranged from the 50's in the Panhandle and 60's in Central Texas to a high of 70 at Brownsville. Monday's high reading of 83 was recorded at Alice.

First Day Of Winter

Meanwhile, on the eve of the first day of winter—the winter solstice—which occurs at 11:24 p. m. Wednesday, a wintry storm moved eastward across the upper plains states, carrying the promise of a white Christmas in north central states.

At least four deaths were attributed to snow and ice in the mountain states and to fog which blanketed southern states from Texas to Alabama and Tennessee.

Utah and Idaho were covered with snow and road crews warned that main highways, while open, were hazardous. One man died in a traffic accident in Idaho, and another died while shoveling snow in Utah.

Warnings Are Issued

Cold gripped the upper western United States and headed into Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and Illinois. Some regions of the upper Midwest received cold wave warnings for tonight. Temperatures in Minnesota and northwestern Iowa and Wisconsin were expected to go as low as 10 below zero.

As the cold moved eastward, some sections of the country enjoyed almost springlike temperatures. Chicago had thermometer readings in the upper 50's, and a thick fog lay over much of the city and sections of northern Illinois. Weathermen said it would change to rain, and then to snow, while temperatures were expected to be down to 18 by Wednesday.

Snow Plows Busy

Snow plows shoved through the mountain areas attempting to keep the big transcontinental highways open. They finally succeeded in opening roads into Pocatello, Idaho, which was isolated completely to motor traffic for a time Monday. Montana reported temperatures as low as 29 below zero.

One man was listed dead as result of the bad weather. P. F. Dorius of Twin Falls, Idaho, was killed when his car skidded onto a grade crossing and was struck by a train. Reuben E. Alvord, 77, died while shoveling snow in Far West, Utah.

Two men were missing in wilderness areas. A crew of 75 mountaineers, aided by an eight-dog team of Alaskan huskies, pushed through snow 30 inches deep searching for 18-year-old elk hunter Ronald McDonald, lost since last Thursday in the Blue mountains of Washington.

Stalin Birthday

the unwilling satellite, Latvia, eight halls were needed.

Poets, musicians and playwrights have turned out special birthday works in many languages. Paintings have been sent from Communists in Britain, France and Sweden.

Statues Unveiled

Ukranian peasants sent fine sunflower seeds and red apples, along with a solemn assurance they were 'laying the foundation for a bumper harvest next year" in Stalin's honor.

Many factories in Russia and the Communist states report "above-plan" output pledges in Stalin's name by workers seeking to exceed the five-year plan goals.

Czechoslovakia's Communists have outdone themselves. Besides thousands of gifts, the Czech Communists have attempted to get 9,000,000 signatures on a birthday greeting to Stalin. They are unveiling two huge statues to him, in Bratislava and Prague. They are having special holidays in his honor. The highest mountain in Czechoslovakia, 8,737-foot Mount Gerlachovka, is being renamed "Mount Stalin."

Delegations Arrived

A delegation of 17 persons, including the lady foreign minister, Ana Pauker, has left Bucharest, Romania, to deliver carloads of presents to Moscow.

Bulgaria also sent carloads. Among the gifts was a set of books —100 volumes—filled with signatures of hundreds of thousands of Bulgarian Communist party, heads the gift-bearing delegation in Moscow. Berlin's eastern sector, Communist officials named a street for Stalin.

Hungary sent four big trucks packed with gifts. Also for his birthday Stalin is getting a report on Hungarian scientists' plans to grow a new species of rice suited to a dry, sandy soil.

China To Celebrate

Communist China is cooking up a big celebration, with meetings and rallies throughout the land. Gifts from China include paintings, sculptures, rare books and 40 silk banners embroidered with slogans of affection for Stalin. Mao Tze-Tung, the Chinese Communist leader, is in Moscow for the occasion.

Dutch Communists sent along a special edition of their newspaper, "De Waarheid," in which Communists—for a fee—could insert advertisements containing greetings to Stalin.

There was one mystery gift. Moscow radio has announced the gift of a headdress of an honorary Indian chief. It didn't say what tribe or even what country it was from.

And another gift — from Romania—smacked of Hollywoodism. It is a radio. When it is tuned to Radio Moscow—what else?—a picture of Stalin lights up.

The patrol was relaxed, however on Saturday night, and 21 more bales were found burning by nightwatchmen.

Underwood, son of A. S. Underwood of Lubbock, who owns compresses and warehouses over the South Plains, said the reward would apply to any of the plants operated by Underwood interests.

The Underwood plants have approximately 750,000 bales of cotton in warehouses and cottonyards at plants located from Plainview to Big Spring in this area.

Hub City Kiwanis Introduces Chairmen

Chairmen of the 1950 committees were presented today at the regular weekly luncheon of the Hub City Kiwanis club in the Lubbock hotel.

A total of 17 chairmen, including Vice-Pres. Jim Spears, who will serve as general chairman, were introduced by Pres. Jason O. Gordon.

In a special election, R. S. Williams was elected by acclamation to fill a vacancy on the club's board of directors.

Miss LaRue Malouf, accompanied by Sam Baker on the piano, sang a number of selections. They were introduced by Johnny Malouf. Walter S. Anglin was appointed chairman of a group who will aid in street collections for the Salvation Army Friday. Howard C. Davidson gave an explanation of attendance procedures.

Visitors were Edward Cassidy of Frankfurt, Kan., Alfred T. McWhorter of Firebaugh, Calif., George Kerchoff of Plainview, and Burritt S. Mills, R. C. Mowery, and Clinton Lackey from the Lubbock Kiwanis club.

Chairman of different committees for 1950 are Grady West, Sam Lindsey, Frank Gumm, Joe W. Jones, John D. Davis, Lloyd Neelley, Weldon Street, Harvey Dunn, C. E. Mitchell, Newell Baldwin, R. L. Thompson, H. Klaus, Ed H. Boedeker, Dale Buckner, Louis Bednorz, and L. O. Sparks.

ey," and mentioned he'd be back.

Finney undressed and went to bed with the women, they said. The light was off. A knock was heard at the door, and Wesley demanded entrance. Finney told him they could gamble "tomorrow," but Wesley kicked the door in.

Finney got up. The witnesses said they could see by a street light across the road that Wesley had a gun. Apparently, Finney saw it, too. He asked Wesley to come in, because "the law will come by and see you out there and arrest you."

Money Is Demanded

He started to pull on his trousers, but Wesley advised him not to do so. "I want my money," Wesley said. "I can't pay you without getting my pants," Finney was quoted as saying.

Finney suddenly shut the door and was holding it between him and Wesley.

A shot sounded, and Finney fell.

Wesley came in, caught his brother by the collar, said, "I've shot my brother," then asked Finney if he needed a doctor.

Finney did not answer, and Wesley left.

Description Is Given

Wesley Daniels was described as 25, 6 feet 1 inch tall, 160 pounds, slender, dressed in khaki trousers and a pin-striped shirt, and wearing no hat or coat when last seen. He was further described as having a thin-line mustache and a small knife scar between his eyes.

The charge, sworn to by Dep. Sheriff J. R. Dever before District Attorney Lloyd Croslin, was filed in the justice court of C. E. Lynn.

Sheriff's officials and police announced that the defendant probably is armed with a .32 pistol.

Rebecca Hurt, a negro woman of 208 Eighteenth, said a "little ol' pistol I used to keep house" was missing from her bedroom. Wesley Daniels roomed at her house, she said.

tercourse with Anna, now 17, in the girl's bedroom and in a Riverside park where, with one of her friends present, both he and his young sweetheart posed in the nude.

State attorneys pictured Ronnie as a debaucher with a "criminal mind" who "smeared the name of the girl he loves."

"Instead of trying to protect Anna, without any questions asked of him, Pitts clearly and blatantly said she had had relations before, once when she was 13 years old, while he was pure as the driven snow," County Attorney Julian Alexander argued.

He referred to Pitts testimony that Anna told him of earlier sex relations before she met him, but that his experiences with the dark-haired Anna were his first.

But Defense Attorney Ed Franklin termed the love affair "the most beautiful example of true and unselfish love I have ever seen in my life."

Attack Is Attempted

He said he based his opinion on Pitts' repeated statement that he still wanted to marry Anna.

"He said, 'I forgive the past'," Franklin declared.

The final moments of the trial were enlivened when Turner Henderson, Anna's brother, attempted to attack Franklin after the attorney had argued that the elder Henderson was the aggressor in the pistol duel with Pitts.

Anna avoided looking at Pitts while she was in the courtroom early in the week-long trial. She was in a nearby witness room while he told of their love affair and, though listed as a state witness, she never took the stand.

the end of January.

The agreement to postpone any further action in the matter at least until Jan. 13 was described as "entirely satisfactory" by William H. Shiveman, of Corpus Christi, an attorney for the growers.

Advantage For Growers

"This means that we will get an early trial," he told a reporter after today's session was adjourned. "Without such an agreement the trial might have been delayed a year or even longer.

"This is a distinct advantage for the cotton farmers of Texas, because they will have a determination of the issues here involved before planting time arrives."

He said that should the court sustain the growers' claim that the present distribution of acreage allotments in Texas is unfair to them, it will mean that some farmers receiving large quotas under the present method may have to take sharp reductions.

The suit, filed for the planters of 11 Gulf coastal counties, names Secretary Brannan and other top Agriculture department officials as defendants.

42-Year-Old Card Renews Romance

LONG BEACH, Calif., Dec. 20 (U.P.)—A 42-year-old Christmas card from an old beau spelled renewed romance for retired policewoman Ethel W. Thompson, 63.

Mrs. Thompson, widow of Los Angeles and Long Beach newspaperman Fred Thompson, said she forgot about Ben F. Corley for more than 40 years until she was browsing through old cards and came across one from him dated 1907.

On it, the former Kansas City man wrote, "I hope to hear from you soon."

Memories stirred by the card led Mrs. Thompson to write Corley. Then they arranged a Kansas City reunion in October, their first meeting since 1903.

It didn't take the patient sweetheart, now 67 and a St. Joseph, Mo., cafe operator, long to propose.

OUTSTANDING CROP PESTS CHOSEN

Grasshopper Gets All-America Spot On '49 Destructive Team

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Staff Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 20. The grasshopper is the outstanding player on the 1949 "nastiest" All-American team of destructive insects.

This rating was given today by Dr. F. C. Bishopp of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, here to attend an insect-control meeting sponsored by the National Cotton council.

He also listed the other top ten members of a bug eleven that damaged the nation's crops in much the same way that Notre Dame and the professional Philadelphia Eagles gave the business to their foes.

Bishopp offered the list in response to the query of a reporter who figured that virtually everyone except insects had gotten into the act on the outstanding this-an-that for 1949.

Here's the lineup of the year's nastiest bugs from the standpoint of economic damage—although they're not all necessarily in the exact order of importance because Bishopp didn't have his "form" book handy:

1. The grasshopper. In a host of varieties, he hopped broken-field through range areas and rich croplands—particularly in Wyoming and Montana. The government had to launch a C-47 airplane laden with bait to slow him down.

2. The cotton boll weevil. Long a dangerous performer in deep-Dixie and far-western competition, he ventured in destructive strngth to more northerly areas of the cotton belt this year.

3. An agricultural worm that is a true triple-threat—being known variously as the corn ear worm, the cotton bowl worm, and the tomato fruit worm, depending on where he strikes.

Big-Ten Threat

4. The European corn borer. Believed to have been imported in cane designed for kitchen brooms, h's become a terror of the nation's main corn belt. Strictly Big-Ten calibre.

5. The "cattle grub." Opens up holes in cows' hides, ruining them for market.

5. The Mexican bean beetle. A tramp player who somehow came east and hit hard in the Ivy league and the Southern conference.

7. The bark beetles. Literally hotter than a forest fire because they do more damage to pine and spruc than flames do.

8. The "horn fly" of cattle. No kin to the Horned Toads of Texas, this competitor will take on sheep and goats as well as cattle.

9. Poultry lice. They're money players from away back. They account for millions in lost egg production, stunted growth of fowl.

Some Aerial Artists

10. The "lygus bugs" of cotton, alfalfa and other crops. They're aerial artists as distinguished from certain pests which feature a ground game.

11. The "confused flower beetle." They're hot when attacking stored products such as wheat, corn and cereals—but are likely to run for the wrong goal line at any time. Destructive, but need better quarterbacking.

Bishopp listed the Japanese beetle, cabbage worms and the red scale of citrus on his second team for "dishonorable mention."

And he said old timers like the gypsy moth of New England and the malaria mosquito — while benched now because of inability to cope with modern insecticidal T-formations—will always rank as potential threats.

He said the Department of Agriculture alone is spending $12,000,000 annually to fight all these and other insect big shots—and nearly $1,000,000 is earmarked for quarantine measures against "ringers" from foreign teams.

Actor John Payne's Wife Seeks Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20. (AP)—Gloria De Haven, wife of Actor John Payne, says their trial reconciliation has not worked out. She has reinstated her divorce suit.

The new suit, filed yesterday, alleges cruelty, the same charge contained in her original action, dropped Oct. 28. The actress reaffirmed a property settlement made March 10 during their original estrangement.

The couple married March 28, 1944, and have two children. Miss De Haven asks their custody.

Santa Needs Guard In Maryland City

BALTIMORE, Dec. 20. (AP)—Dear Santa:

It would be a good idea for you to keep a sharp watch on your sleigh and pack when you come here Saturday night.

Two of your suits, plus two sets of long white whiskers, have been stolen from cars here in the past several days.

What's more, someone stripped an outdoor Christmas tree of all its lights.

Lloyd Kirkley and H. M. Baldwin of St. Michael's, Md., told police that Santa suits were taken from their parked automobiles here.

Kirkley had been planning to take your part at a party.

Yes, Santa, you had better keep a sharp eye on things while you are in Baltimore.

Bulgars Object To U. S. Note

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Dec. 20. (AP)—Bulgaria's Communist-led Fatherland Front ticket received 97.66 per cent of the total votes in Sunday's single-ticket parliamentary elections, according to officially announced returns.

There were no opposition candidates, but 109,983 of the voters opposed the ticket either by turning in blank or mutilated ballots. The rest of the 4,698,979 who voted chose the unopposed Fatherland front candidates, showing a gain of 3.66 per cent in favor over last year's municipal election figures.

Unless an extraordinary session is called by the old praesidium, the newly elected 239 deputies of the national assembly are scheduled to meet next Feb. 3 to elect a new 19-member praesidium—administrative body in the government.

Objections To U. S. Note

The government yesterday expressed objections to an American protest against the mention of U. S. Minister Donald R. Heath in the recent Bulgarian treason trial. The Bulgarian reply complained the U. S. note contained "very strong language."

Heath was accused of espionage in the trial of former Communist Deputy Premier Traicho Kostov, who was hanged last week on charges of having plotted with Marshal Tito and the "Anglo-American warmongers" to incorporate Bulgaria into Yugoslavia. Heath denied any plotting and said he never met Kostov.

The U. S. protest was made by Undersecretary of State James E. Webb to the Bulgarian charge d'affaires in Washington, D. C., Dec. 12. In connection with Kostov's trial with 10 others on charges of treason and espionage Webb had charged the Bulgarian government with permitting "scurrilous articles" in its controlled press attacking Heath and the U. S. State department.

She Went To Rossellini; World Knows Rest

Bergman Re-Lives Role That Brought Her To U. S. Movies

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20—When Ingrid Bergman publicly announced her passion for Roberto Rossellini, she was re-living the role that brought her to America and made her a star.

'L'Affaire Stromboli," Miss Bergman's friends said today, parallels almost kiss for kiss her part in "Intermezzo" ten years ago.

In the picture, she was a pianist who fell in love with a fellow artist, Leslie Howard.

Today, Miss Bergman, who reigned as one of the great movie queens of all time, is proclaiming to the world her grand passion for Rossellini, considered by many to be one of the best directors in the business.

Fell For "Genius"

In "Intermezzo" the romance flourished in the leading man's home.

Last year the same thing happened in real life when Rossellini moved in with Dr. and Mrs. Peter Lindstrom in their modified French farmhouse while he negotiated with her to star in "Stromboli."

The romance in "Intermezzo" began with the girl's adulation for the older man's genius. So it was with Ingrid, who fell for Rossellini the director before she ever met Roberto the lover.

Bergman, so the story goes, used to sit in a darkened theater enthralled by his movies. She even wrote him if he ever needed "a Swede, I'm available," and ended her fan letter with: "I love you."

Knows Good Thing

Part of Rossellini's genius is knowing a good thing when he sees it. He promptly came to Hollywood and signed Miss Bergman to a contract.

In "Intermezzo," the object of her affections already had a wife. So, in tthe earlier stages of the Bergman-Rossellini romance, did Roberto. He has since become legally single.

In the picture, Howard embarked on a concert tour and Miss Bergman went along to accompany him—not only on the piano.

In real life, Rossellini went back to Italy and Ingrid followed soon after. Some of the best scenes on "Stromboli," according to reports that trickled out from the lonely little island, were played when the cameras weren't even grinding.

Making Great Sacrifice

In the picture, the enamoured young girl dropped her own small career to be with her lover. In real life, Miss Bergman's making an even greater sacrifice. She has announced she never again will make a movie. All she wants, she says, is to live a life of privacy as Roberto's wife.

There the parallel ends. "Intermezzo" had an unhappy ending—if you were on Miss Bergman's side. Because Howard went back to his wife, leaving Ingrid with nothing but her memories and her piano.

Her present love story isn't finished yet, but Rossellini has vowed his love for the pink-cheeked beauty and his intention to marry her as soon as her husband will let her go.

There's another difference, too. In "Intermezzo" there weren't any rumors about the prospective patter of little feet. But there were censors in Hollywood then. There aren't in Rome.

Southern Rhodesia recently manufactured its first grain bag, exactly a year after building of the factory was started.

Greer Chosen As Principal

Naming of a principal and five teachers to the faculty of a new elementary school in southwest Lubbock highlighted a called meeting of the board of trustees of the Lubbock Independent School district Monday afternoon at the school district business office at 1007 Texas Avenue.

The school, which is located between Fortieth and Forty-second streets, Monroe and Jackson avenues on land recently purchased by the school board and the school business office, is to be ready for operation by Jan. 23. A temporary frame building is to be moved to the school grounds from the P. F. Brown school.

Greer Named Principal

M. R. Greer, who for the past several years has taught in the Roscoe Wilson elementary school, was named teaching principal of the new school.

Other teachers approved by the board of trustees for positions on the faculty of the school are: Mrs. Mary B. Creson, Mrs. Opal E. Robnett, Mrs. W. Kary Mathis, Mrs. Shirley J. Lightfoot, and Mrs. Bessie M. Powell.

Boundaries for the new school, as approved by the board, are as follows:

Beginning in the south at Taylor Ave north to Thirty-sixth, east on thirty-sixth to Polk Ave., north on Polk to Thirty-fourth, east on Thirty-fourth to Jefferson Ave., south on Jefferson to Thirty-seventh, east on Thirty-seventh to Adams Ave., south on Adams to Fortieth, and east on Fortieth to College Ave., and thence south.

Bus Change Planned

Supt. R. W. Matthews explained to board members that it would be necessary to change three buses now going to Overton elementary school, effective Monday, Jan. 23.

One of these buses is to be transferred to Central Ward and the other two to the new school (as yet unnamed) at Fortieth and Jackson. The change of students riding these three buses has become necessary because of the phenomenal growth in the enrollment at Overton during the past year and because of construction now underway in the immediate vicinity of the school which is expected to materially increase enrollment before the end of the second semester.

Matthews explained that the change of buses will mean that approximately 114 children now attending Overton school will go either to Central Ward or to the new school. After the change is made, anticipated enrollment at Overton will be 343, as contrasted with 457 at present. Enrollment at Central Ward will be increased from 270 to 327.

The bus carrying the largest average group, Bus No. 2, route 1A, Levelland road, is being transferred to Central Ward. This bus was assigned to Central Ward dur-

ENTRIES ARE CLOSED MONDAY

Fifty Entered In Lighting Contest

Entry lists closed as scheduled late Monday with exactly 50 contestants competing for the $100 cash prizes in the third annual Home Christmas Lighting contest sponsored by The Avalanche-Journal.

The entries include 12 each for the prizes offered for the most beautifully decorated exterior of home and most beautifully decorated doorway; 18 in the window contest and eight in the outdoor tree division.

The judges, all members of the Lubbock Garden club, said they hope to complete their inspections in time to announce their decisions on Christmas day.

Their identities will not be disclosed until after the awards are announced. They are to make their inspections during any night they may choose between now and Christmas. Decorations, therefore, should remain lighted until midnight each night.

The rule contests also require that they must remain in place until after Christmas and, preferably, until New Year's day.

The complete list of entries in each class follows with the prizes to be awarded in each. (The addresses have been arranged in consecutive order as a convenience to those who wish to inspect the ornaments).

Youth Gets Yuletide Break In Car Theft

EL PASO, Dec. 20. (U.P.)—Carl B. Fasbender, convicted of interstate transportation of a stolen automobile, was sure today that the yuletide spirit reigned.

The 18-year-old youth was found guilty in federal district court yesterday of driving the car from California to Texas.

But Fasbender told Judge R. E. Thomason he stole the car only to drive to Detroit, where his mother lives. He had been living with a stepmother in Los Angeles.

Thomason gave Fasbender a year-and-a-day sentence and said, "you ought to go home for Christmas." He then suspended the sentence.

A probation officer had been assigned to contact Detroit relatives of the youth. He had located an aunt who sent money to pay Fasbender's transportation home for a warm Christmas holiday.

Polio Invalid Kidnap Victim

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (AP) — Frightened but unharmed, a 42-year-old polio invalid was found last night seven hours after she was kidnaped accidentally.

Throughout an intensive, afternoon-long police hunt, she had sat alone and virtually helpless in the back seat of an abandoned stolen car.

She had been whisked away in the car about noon yesterday by a thief who evidently had not seen her, half-hidden by a pile of Christmas merchandise in the rear. She is only four feet, ten inches tall.

Car Was Abandoned

Police said the thief apparently abandoned the car after discovering his human cargo and becoming fearful of a kidnaping charge.

The woman, Esther Silverman, partially paralyzed and her speech impaired by an attack of polio in her childhood, was too upset to give details of her ordeal. She stammered repeatedly:

"Where's my sister?"

The sister, Jean Silverman, a door-to-door saleswoman, said she had left her crippled sister in the back seat of her sedan while she was making a call in Brooklyn. She had left the ignition key in the switch.

As she started back toward the car, she said, she saw a man jump into the front seat and speed away, apparently not knowing her sister was sitting amid the heaps of merchandise in the back.

Police found the car after dark about eight blocks from where it had been stolen. Nothing had been taken from the car.

Los Angeles Jail To Hold Prisoner Revue

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20. (AP)—An all-woman prisoner revue, the first in Los Angeles county jail history, is scheduled for Friday night.

The jailhouse jollities will feature Christmas carols, a pantomime written by an inmate, and assorted song and dance acts.

Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz had a preview yesterday and pronounced it a fine show.

"Good," said one of the girls, "How about our taking it on the road?"

THE QUESTION

Do you think that the new traffic lights recently installed in Lubbock have helped to relieve the traffic problem here?

THE ANSWERS

LEE WORKMAN, Cactus Courts, salesman for Colonial Circulation Co.: "After the people get used to them, I definitely do. The new lights are keeping the cars from lining up like they were, and they're taking care of the traffic jams during the rush hours."

HARVEY SPADER, Cactus Courts, salesman for Colonial Circulation Co.: "Oh, greatly. They will speed up traffic considerably after the people get used to them. I particularly like the left hand lanes. After the people realize that they have to turn left when they are in this lane, most of the traffic problems will be over."

BILLY GENE PEVEHOUSE, 1513 Ave. E, truck driver: "Yes, I think they have helped a lot. For one thing, cars won't always be pulling out in front of you now. It will save you a lot of time when you are going someplace, too."

C. R. CARPENTER, 2611 Twenty-Fourth, attorney: "If the people would obey the lights they certainly would, but so many people don't. They will help because they keep people wrom whipping from one lane to another and getting hit as they dodge back and forth."

The Philippines cut import taxes on dental equipment, to encourage installations.

HUNTER TOLBERT, 2119 Twenty-Seventh, corporation court clerk: "Actually I think that they have. They will do even more good than they are now when the people learn to abide by them."

SAMMIE WUNNEBURGER, 3008 N. Fifth, carpenter: "Yes, I think that they have helped greatly. For one thing, there are not so many cars crossing at one time now. They are keeping the cars from piling up, too. They will be much better after the people get used to them."

Engineers To Select Officers At Meeting

Officers will be elected at an organizational meeting of the South Plains sub-section of the Permian basin chapter of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Hilton hotel, it has been announced.

A committee of three was appointed in an initial meeting of the group Nov. 26 to draft by-laws and make nominations for officers. One nominee will be submitted at the Wednesday meeting for each of the offices of chairman, first vice-chairman, second vice-chairman, and secretary-treasurer.

E. B. Armstrong of Honolulu oil company, Paul Johnston of Texas Tech, and R. R. Shaffer, Stanolind oil and gas company, are included on the nominating committee. More than 50 oilmen attended the November meeting and a larger number is expected Wednesday night.

The new sub-section will probably alternate its monthly meetings between Lubbock, Brownfield and Levelland. A joint meeting with the Texas Tech student chapter has been tentatively set in Lubbock for Jan. 16.

Nearly 250,000 Christmas puddings, weighing 283 tons, recently reached London docks from Australia.

O'Dwyer Weds Sloan Simpson In Simple Florida Ceremony

BY ROBERT VERMILLION
United Press Staff Writer

STUART, Fla., Dec. 20 — Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York wed fashion model Sloan Simpson today in a simple eight minute ceremony in a white-painted country church.

The December-June wedding between the graying 59-year-old mayor and his 33-year-old blue-eyed, brunette bride took place in tiny St. Joseph's church. It had been gaily festooned with lilies, gladioluses, chrysanthemums, poinsettias and palm fronds.

Cruise For Honeymoon

After the brief Roman Catholic marriage ceremony, officiated over by the local parish priest, Rev. Timothy Geary, O'Dwyer and his bride hurried five blocks to the municipal yacht basin and boarded the yacht Almar II for a seven-day cruise-honeymoon.

The bride wore a velvet-trimmed navy blue suit, a navy velvet beret, plain navy suede pumps, a simple strand of pearls and pearl earrings. The suit was designed by New York dressmaker Hattie Carnegie, who also made the wedding costume for Mrs. Carleton Hadley when she married Vice President Alben Barkley last Nov. 18 in another famous December-June wedding.

O'Dwyer, an Irish immigrant who rose to one of the highest public offices in the nation, wore a dark blue business suit, black shoes, a white shirt and gray tie. He was deeply tanned and looked in the best of health.

Word "Obey" Excluded

The plain gold wedding band used during the ceremony was chosen in New York several weeks ago by the bride.

The word "obey" was not included in the rites.

Tiny St. Joseph's, a frame building that once served as an army chapel, was filled to capacity by some 450 persons.

The scene was far different from the gigantic formal wedding the

Trainmen To Play Santa Claus To Three Little Girls Tonight

DONGOLA, Ill., Dec. 20 (U.P.)—Fast frieght No. 81, which usually roars through this southern Illinois village at a fast clip, will grind to a halt tonight for the first time in the memory of townspeople.

The Illinois Central train crew will make an unscheduled pre-Christmas stop to hand gifts to their little trackside pals—the Miller kids.

For four years, Vivian Miller, 12, and Gloria, 11, have waved greetings to the crew of No. 81 as it rolled past their home on its Memphis-to-St. Louis run.

Crewmen Wave Back

For four years, crewmen have waved back and the engineer has tooted the whistle in greeting.

Since she became old enough to toddle along with her sisters, Lorraine, 4, has waved to the trainmen, too.

Fund Is Collected

Brakeman R. J. Brennan of East St. Louis, Ill., and his co-workers look forward to the girls' greeting.

"Those kids really perk us up," he said. "They mean a lot to you when you've pulled out at 3 a. m. and feel sort of grumpy."

Brennan decided it was time to meet the girls personally. He took up a collection—$26—for them.

Tonight No. 81 will whist' usual, but it will stop. Brennan and the other crewmen will jump down and shake hands with Vivian, Gloria and little Lorraine while their schoolmates look on in envy.

The railroad men will hand the girls the $26. Then they'll climb aboard again and No. 81 — the Santa Claus special—will puff away.

Strike Of Newspaper Workers Of Arkansas Gazette To Continue

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Dec. 20. (AP)—The strike of more than half the editorial employes and some circulation workers at the Arkansas Gazette rolled on at a slow pace today.

No progress was seen in ending the dispute which started Saturday morning when 23 reporters and photographers walked off their jobs.

They were joined yesterday by the circulation workers, who also are members of the American Newspaper guild (CIO). The number of circulation men involved was not clear. The Gazette said seven district managers are on strike. The guild said there were more but it did not know the exact number.

The executive committee of the guild said it is standing firm on its demand for a voice in dismissal of employes. Management says it must have the final say so.

Circulation Disrupted

Publication of today's edition of the 131-year-old newspaper went off on schedule. The first edition was off the presses at 11 p. m. Monday.

Publisher Hugh B. Patterson said distribution of Monday's edition in greater Little Rock was disrupted by the walkout of the circulation men. He added, however, that circulation of the newspaper to out-of-town subscribers was not affected by the dispute.

Patterson said steps were being taken to prevent future tie ups. He did not elaborate.

Federal Conciliator Charles A. Wheeler of Little Rock said he plans to meet with both sides later this week in hopes of reopening negotiations.

Wild Chase Ends In Grabbing Auto Thief

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 20. (U.P.)—Several carloads of policemen and city detectives today engaged the driver of a stolen car in a winding chase over the San Antonio northside, often at a 90 mile an hour clip.

One prowl car "jumped" the stolen vehicle at 5:30 a. m. The circuitous chase ended about 45 minutes later, after several other police cars had joined in and "herded" the fleeing driver back toward the downtown district.

A police bullet punctured a rear tire of the stolen car and brought the chase to a sudden halt. The driver of the car, police said, identified himself as Orville D. Morris, 29, an oilfield worker at San Angelo, where the car was reported stolen yesterday.

The greatest number of earthquake shocks occur at night, with the maximum at midnight.

Tech Musical Organizations Give Combined Concert Here

A crowd of nearly 1,500 persons packed the Lubbock High school auditorium to capacity Monday night to hear the first combined concert of the musical organizations of Texas Technological college.

From the opening of the first curtain there was little doubt but that the audience was to hear one of the most outstanding musical programs ever presented in Lubbock or on the South Plains.

direction of Dr. Gene Hemmle, new head of the Tech music department.

With the Tech choir and Campusaries making their debuts under ment, two more organizations joined with the already well-known Men's Glee club and Tech Concert band to firmly establish the department as a leader in the field of music in West Texas.

Wide Variety Presented

Numbers ranging from negro spirituals and folk songs to Christmas carols and classical tunes were included on the hour and fifty minutes program.

The Men's Glee club, now in its third year under direction of Richard Richards, lived up to all expectations as it opened the night's presentation with three spirituals. Showing remarkable change of pitch, the group gave one of its most successful performances in its entire history.

Following the Glee club was the Tech choir, rendering its versions of such tunes as "Dry Bones" and "Set Down, Servant." Only rarely could even the trained ear have suspected the group had less than three months of preparation behind it.

All-Girl Chorus Included

The Campusaries, an all-girl chorus directed by Dr. Hemmle, was next on the program. Like the choir, it was organized only this fall, but it met with enthusiastic response from the large audience. Unusually pleasing versions of "Jesus, Jesus, Rest Your Head" and "Waken, Little Shepherd" marked the chorus as most promising.

Taking the stage for the second time, the choir rendered the Christmas portion of the night's presentation with such numbers as "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "Carols of the Bells," "Silent Night," and the Hallelujah chorus from "The Messiah." Although its version of the first number might have been given with a little too much gusto, the choir definitely showed it is to take its place high among the Tech musical organizations and gave evidence of the organizational leadership of its director.

After intermission, the 16-year-old Tech Concert band, under direction of Prof. D. O. Wiley, took the stage for the final portion of the program. Five numbers including the highly difficult Smyphony No. 6 in B Minor by Tchaikovsky were rendered by the group with its usual dexterity of movement and control of pitch.

Highlighting the entire program was the second Lubbock performance of "A Christmas Fantasy," an original arrangement by Robert Dorough and Pete Wiley, former Tech students. Combining all the old favorite carols into a highly pleasing medley, the Fantasy left the audience begging for an encore they did not get.

Individual standouts other than the directors included Norma Hammer on piano accompaniments, Paul Lovett doing sound effects for "Dry Bones," and "Christmas Fantasy" Claude Burrow on double bass with the Tech choir, Walter Buice and Roger Dods doing solo work on "Set Down, Servant" and "Mule Train" (given as an encore number by the choir), Al Stephens cracking the whip for the latter number, and Jean Gillum, Lamoyane Harrell and Mary Richardson doing solos for the Campusaries.

Joe Haddon, assistant director for the Concert band, took the stand to direct a special arrangement of short classics for band by James R. Gillette.

The concert, slated as an annual presentation by the Tech musicians, was the initial program in an expended music curricula which is aimed at building the music department to be one of the best in the Southwest.

Non-Union Workers Kept Out Of Plant

CARLSBAD, Dec. 20 (INS) — More than 125 pickets of the CIO International Mine, Mill and Smelter workers union today continued to bar non-union workers from entering the Potash company of America mine site at Carlsbad.

Company attorneys termed the action "a gross violation of the Taft-Hartley law." A complaint is already on file by the companies charging the union with illegal mass picketing.

The pickets carried signs reading, "Workers on strike. No scabs allowed. Local 415, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter workers."

Speech Recital Is Presented In City

About 30 people attended a private speech recital by Nita Tatum, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tatum of 2711 Twenty-fourth Monday night at the residence. The recital was presented by Mrs. Leo Healer, Lubbock speech teacher.

"The Littlest Angel" was the main recitation delivered. "Saturday's Orders," "Husbands" and "Grandma's Way" were also included on the program.

A Christmas motiff was featured in the decorations and refreshments.

Mr. Tatum is the president of the Lubbock School board.

Frenchmen In Treason Trial

WROCLAW, Poland, Dec. 20. (AP)—A French radio expert today was the fourth person to admit to a military court here that he had spied for France.

The Frenchman, Josef Feldeisen, 50, is one of six persons on trial for spying and giving state secrets to the French embassy in Warsaw. The trial climaxes a series of arrests and expulsions by both countries on charges of espionage. Four of the defendants are Frenchmen.

Others Plead Guilty

Three others have pleaded guilty since the trial opened last Friday. They are Yvonne Bassalaer, 29, former secretary of the French consulate in Wroclaw; Jan Kubisiak, 26, a Polish student who said Miss Bassalaer directed his spying, and Basil Brousikow, a former French messenger for the Wroclaw consulate.

Feldeisen pleaded guilty to "acts particularly dangerous during the reconstruction of Poland," but would not commit himself further under questioning by the prosecution.

Feldeisen testified Aymar De Brossin De Mere, a French embassy official, directed the group's spying activities. De Mere was ordered out of Poland last month.

Feldeisen said De Mere requested him to obtain information on Polish airfields, industrial plants and secret matters concerning Polish coal mines.

FUNERAL FOR FIRE VICTIM

JAYTON, Dec. 20 (Special) — Services were conducted at 4:30 p. m. Monday at the Robinson Funeral home here for Charlie Doyle Phillips, 7-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Phillips, who was burned to death earlier in the day when fire destroyed the family's three-room stucco house in east Jayton. Burial was held in the Jayton cemetery.

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Teresa Wright Derides Phony 'Pot-And-Pan' Film Publicity

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20 (NEA)—Hollywood publicity switched from glamor to pots and pans during the war. It was a patriotic gesture.

The war is over but Hollywood is still in the kitchen.

Johnson

It's a big mistake.

I'm fed up with movie glamor girls who pretend to be right at home in flowered aprons and who say they love the simple life of baking cakes and changing diapers.

It's a lot of baloney and I've found one movie doll who agrees with me—Teresa Wright. You'd expect Teresa, as the "girl next door" type, to love the simple life. Press agents have said so.

"Phony, phony," says Teresa.

She lives in a big home with a swimming pool and has plenty of servants, rest and money.

Teresa remembers cooking a meal once.

"It was several years ago," she said, "and there were a lot of loud complaints. I haven't been in the kitchen since. I have a nurse to take care of my children (Terry, 5, and Mary, 2) and sometimes I get a guilty complex because I don't see them as often as I should."

We were talking about Hollywood's retreat from glamor on the set of "The Men," Stanley Kramer's new movie in which Teresa co-stars with the Broadway import, Marion Brando.

She really stuck the spurs in Hollywood's "simple life."

I don't know any stars who do their own cooking or feed their children. They all have servants. Why, I know some people who never see their children except to pose with them for fan magazine photographs. You just can't keep house and raise children when you work. So why not stop kidding the public?

As Teresa sees it: "I think the stars should be themselves, admit their good fortune and fascinate people with the sparkling lives they are able to lead."

As I see it: Motion pictures enjoyed their greatest popularity when white bear-skin rugs and not pots and pans were in vogue. Glamor is box office. Pots and pans and flowered aprons are not.

Overdid It

Wonderful crack by Gene Fowler. Someone asked him why he looked so low. "I'm convalescing," Said Gene.

"From what?" he was asked.

"From youth," said Gene.

Humphrey Bogart is headed for television despite his fear: "I look bad enough in movies." An old 1934 film, "Midnight," in which Bogie plays a bit, has been sold to TV . . . Director Sammy Fuller is batting out a screenplay. "Night Edition," to co-star Vincent Price and Ellen Drew. . . . The Ida Lupino-Collier Young split looks permanent and I predict she'll file for divore after Jan. 1. But they'll continue as business partners in their new independent film venture.

You're always reading about actors being seen with unidentified gals in Hollywood night clubs and actresses being seen with unidentified fellows. Steve Allen just telephoned.

He says he spotted an unidentified fellow with an unidentified girl.

Local Color

There's a private chuckle for Hollywood in Fred Clark's role of a film studio boss in "Sunset Boulevard". He's constantly popping vitamins into his mouth.

Luxury note: Lana Turner just bought a new car with a silver paint job to match the new color of her hair.

Bonita Granville reports she has discovered the world's most effective press agent. Returning from Europe aboard the Queen Elizabeth after she and her hubby, Jack Wrather, discussed "Guilty of Treason" with the Pope, Bonita became acquainted with another passenger, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery. When newspapermen came aboard the liner at New York for pictures of Monty, the British general grabbed Bonita and Janis Paige in his arms with: "This picture needs some beauty." The photograph made front pages from Eastport to San Diego.

It took Bob Mitchum all morning to arrange it but the laughs were worth it.

Bob and Ava Gardner were doing a scene for "Carriage Entrance." One of Bob's lines was: "You are quite a woman."

After he said the line, the 50 men in the set crew ruined the take with a chorused: "Amen, brother."

Reason the road company of "South Pacific" will open in Los Angeles, instead of Chicago, was at the insistence of Janet Blair. Janet is anxious to show her ex-bosses at Columbia what a mistake they made when they sloughed her off in pictures and said she couldn't act.

RED CHINA RECOGNITION INVOLVED

Anti-Communist Bulwark For Asiatic Countries Is Revised

MANILA, Dec. 20 (AP)—Plans for a conference of southeast Asian nations in March are almost complete, informed sources said today. But it probably won't end up as the anti-Communist front it started out to be.

Sources close to President Elpidio Quirino said his original idea of a strong union to oppose the spread of Communism in Asia has been watered down considerably.

For this they cite two reasons: The Red military sweep in China and the probable recognition of the Chinese Communist regime by British commonwealth nations.

U. S. Unenthusiastic

Quirino and Chiang Kai-shek, the No. 1 man of Nationalist China, drafted the basic framework for an Asian union at a meeting in the Philippines last July.

Chiang later went to Korea to confer with President Syngman Rhee of the republic of South Korea, who had been an enthusiastic supporter of Quirino's original proposal.

The United States never warmed up to Quirino's suggestion that it be the keystone of a Pacific counterpart to the North Atlantic alliance.

The U. S. made it plain, however, that the Asian countries were free to go ahead on their own without American underwriting. Later, the U. S. issued a white paper on China, writing off the Chiang Kai-shek regime as a failure.

Proposal Revised

Quirino has been reported revising the complexion of his proposal. It was described as non-Communist instead of anti-Communist. Chiang and Nationalist China were quietly eased out of the picture.

Whether Chiang or the remnant Nationalist government will be invited to the meeting in the Philippines in March was not disclosed. The sources said Burmese recognition of the Chinese Red government would not bar Burma from attendance.

Indications point now to a working liaison between nations on the fringe of Red China rather than any strong stand which would alienate any south Asian nation.

It is no secret that Quirino acknowledges participation by such countries as India is necessary to the success of any southeast Asian bloc. Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru has repeatedly said India would not join any bloc for or against Communism.

Skeptical Lad Now Believer In Santa

MEDFORD, Mass., Dec. 20. (AP)—The voice of Santa Claus boomed from a rooftop.

"What do you mean I'm not real?"

A little tyke in the crowd gazing up at the spotlighted Santa winced.

He had been telling his little friends "he ain't real—all he does is stand there."

The voice called out again:

"Johnny Williams, why do you tell your little friends such things. Of course Santa is real and he'll come to visit good boys."

That was the clincher. Johnny Williams now is a firm believer.

The voice was that of Alderman George F. Callahan thrown from his living room through a loud speaker rigged to Santa.

"My biggest problem now," says Santa, "is getting the kids to go home to bed."

FIREMAN OVERCOME

ABILENE, Dec. 20. (AP)—One fireman was overcome by smoke yesterday fighting the fire that destroyed one warehouse and part of another at the South Texas Lumber company here.

Weldon Caffey was the fireman hospitalized.

MEET THE MANAGER—Walter Wright, owner and manager of Wright's Fabric shop, 1108-A Ave. K, was born Jan. 13, 1893 in Williamson county. His family lived in Stonewall county, then pioneered Dawson county in 1903. From 1907 to 1909 they lived on a ranch west of Seminole, and then they moved to New Mexico, where Mr. Wright punched cows in his boyhood and early manhood, near Hobbs and Lovington. He was agent of Continental Oil company at Carlsbad and Lovington for 15 years. In 1944 he came to Lubbock and established a grocery business, which he operated for two years. His first location when he established the fabric business was at 2142 Nineteenth, before he moved into the new Masonic building. Mr. and Mrs. Wright and one son, Kenneth, 18, a Texas Tech student, live at 2505 Twenty-fifth. An older son, Walter 11, is married and works at Hemphill-Wells company. Mr. Wright is a member of First Baptist church. (Staff Photo).

Santa Claus Visits Party House Today

Santa Claus' busy pre-Christmas schedule calls for him to visit the Party House with children of the Cerebral Palsy clinic today while his helper cares for the children in the downtown district.

Yesterday Santa visited the downtown area of Lubbock from 1 to 5 p.m. for confidential chats with children.

On the remaining days of the week, Santa will be present at various schools and communities in the city and will visit several Christmas trees.

"Uncle Dan" Vinson Just Santa Claus Without Whiskers

Children Of Prison Convicts To Have Happy Christmas Through Oklahoma Man's Kindness

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Dec. 20 (U.P.)—A Santa Claus without whiskers was hurrying today to put the Christmas spirit of good will into the hearts of a legion of forgotten men.

The requests he filled did not come from eager children. They were written by convicts who want their children's stockings filled on Christmas eve.

Their benefactor was "Uncle Dan" Vinson of Oklahoma City who is determined to find gifts for kids the regular Santa Claus forgets each year.

Writes Prison Wardens

"I don't buy things," he said. "I just find people who want to help those who are unfortunate. I have 25,000 or 35,000 volunteer helpers in Oklahoma."

This year, he is concentrating on helping the children of convicts. He wrote letters to prison wardens telling them his plans and explaining that he learned about convicts when he built roads with prison labor.

"Those men love their kids just like anybody else," he said.

Vinson has received letters from prisoners in almost every state. One came from a man who has been in prison seven years whose three children "think I'm out west on a ranch."

"I'd like to send them some western clothes for Christmas," the convict wrote. "I can't tell them where I am."

A rancher in western Oklahoma will fill the prisoner's request—and more.

"The kids will get their outfits, and when the man gets out of jail, he'll have a job on a ranch," Vinson said. Then after a few months he can go home and tell the truth."

Not all of Uncle Dan's requests come from convicts, however.

One woman asked for a house in California for "myself and my three children." Uncle Dan said he simply couldn't fill that request.

Vinson said he started helping others in 1944, when he went into semi-retirement on royalties from his asphalt business. He's carried on his Christmas hobby ever since.

One of the letters he received came from a man in the death row at an Oklahoma prison. Uncle Dan answered that one in person to assure the prisoner that his son would get the finest bike possible for Christmas.

"You don't know how much that means to me, Dan," the condemned man replied. "I've been thinking about his Christmas. I'm ready to go now."

FIVE MAJOR ISSUES OF FAIR DEAL AT STAKE

GOP And Democrats Marshalling Forces For Congressional Battle Over Truman Program

By FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20—Republican cries of "socialism" in Washington, while President Truman flexes his program at Key West, are heralding what may be the most interesting struggle in the new session of Congress.

The reconvening of Congress two weeks hence will signal the marshalling of forces for the conflict. The House and Senate face decisions on what Mr. Truman calls the "fair deal" and the opposition assails as the blueprint for a "welfare state" or "poor house state."

In Congress the issue is bound to be cut clear for the congressional elections next year and for the presidential campaign in 1952.

Five Issues Outstanding

The struggle—with the public a sideline spectator until balloting time rolls around—may be fought on at least five points. These sectors are Mr. Truman's proposals for:

1. A vast expansion of the federal social security program.
2. A federal plan of health insurance that the opposition dubs 'socialized medicine."
3. An expansion of the government's housing program.
4. A new farm program.
5. Federal aid to education.

Perhaps the biggest fight of all will settle on taxes, when Congress gets to considering how the government is going to pay for the things it is being called upon to do.

The administration opposition already is booming for slashes in spending, to thwart any tax boosts. There may be actual cuts in excises.

It is expected that Mr. Truman will start a new drive for his controversial domestic program in the State of Union message to Congress January 4 or 5. The program attained only limited objectives in the first session of the Democratic-controlled 81st Congress. Mr. Truman, ending his Florida vacation, returns to Washington today.

Defeats Considered

Defeat in Congress again faces the President on some major segments of his "fair deal." Aware of this, some of his closest followers already are talking of lifting the issues off Capitol Hill and putting them before the voters next November when all the 435 House seats and one-third of the 96 Senate seats are to be voted on.

Republicans are arriving early for the session and are issuing almost daily blasts at the "fair deal"—as leading to socialism. Meanwhile, Vice- President Barkley and others, in speeches over the country, are challenging the GOP to come up with something better than the "fair deal."

Social security—

Right here is where the President can hope for a solid victory. Claims of credit may be divided; many Republicans joined with Democrats in supporting the 1949 expansion of this government program, when it passed the House.

The House bill will come to a showdown in the Senate early in the session, and many schooled observers believe it will pass there.

More Workers Insured

This legislation would blanket 11,000,000 more working persons under old age insurance, for a total of 46,000,000; boost benefits 70 to 80 per cent; create a new insurance benefit for persons who become totally and permanently disabled; and increase payroll taxes more than 300 per cent in the next 20 years.

Health insurance—

This program appears doomed in the 81st Congress. Some lawmakers who follow Mr. Truman on other aspects of his program have balked at the idea of the government levying new payroll taxes to pay the doctor, hospital and drug bills of the citizens. However, legislation might emerge, designed to provide large government help for the schooling or more doctors and the building of more medical facilities.

Housing—

The first session of the 81st Congress earlier this year overrode opposition shouts of "socialism" and approved a multi-billion dollar bill for the construction of publicly-owned housing for low income people throughout the nation.

Mr. Truman, in the State of the Union message, may ask for another housing program — this time to aid middle-income families.

Farms Plan Debated

The President also is expected to ask for a continuation of rent control beyond the June 30 expiration. It is just about a toss-up now whether Congress will renew this law.

Farm—

Many Republicans feel that their greatest hope for the future lies with the farm vote. Mr. Truman got a huge number of ballots in the rural areas in 1948, in old Republican strongholds.

Since that time the administration has proposed the "Brannan plan" for agriculture. If adopted, it would let farm products sell for what the market would pay. Then the government would pay a subsidy to the farmers, to give them what it considered a fair income. Price supports now are maintained through government loans and purchases that keep price-depressing surpluses out of the markets.

Mr. Truman has bumped into real trouble here. Even the author of the new plan, Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, and Senator Anderson (D-NM), former agriculture secretary by Mr. Truman's appointment, are split on the proposition.

Education—

The states now finance education. The Senate has passed Mr. Truman's bill proposing a $300,000,000 federal appropriation to help the states. This is tied up tight in the House, in a religious controversy.

Taylor Surprised At Resignation Reports

ROME, Dec. 20 (AP)—Myron C. Taylor, special representative of President Truman, said today reports published in the United States that he would resign soon were a "surpise to me."

Taylor said he could not confirm or deny the resignation reports.

"All I can say is that it is a surprise to me," he told a reporter.

The New York Times in a Rome dispatch said Taylor was expected to resign on his return to the United States in a few weeks. It said Taylor is in poor health.

The Times reported Vatican circles said Taylor's resignation would have no political significance and should not be interpreted as reflecting a deterioration in diplomatic relations between the United States and the Vatican.

"THE tumult and the shouting dies." That unincorporated area lying along the Levelland highway west of the city and usually referred to as "Westchester," will not become a part of the City of Lubbock in time for noses to be counted in the 1950 census. Lubbock thus loses population credit for about 2,000 persons who, to all intents and purposes, are as much a part of the city as if they lived immediately adjacent to Broadway and Avenue J. "Westchester," on the other hand, loses —and perhaps for a long time to come — the numerous benefits which go hand-in-hand with being part of the city.

The decision of "Westchesterites" to remain out of the city was far from unanimous. It is doubtful if a majority of the people living there preferred to stay out. But even if they did, a great many wanted to come in if for no other reason than they felt a responsibility to the city where they make their living.

Commissioner John Spikes, who joined with Commissioner W. B. Price and Mayor W. H. Rodgers in declining to make "Westchester" a part of Lubbock, said that he believed "Westchesterites" might seek to come into the city "after the first of the year." If Mr. Spikes actually feels that way, his vote against including "Westchester" in incorporated Lubbock is difficult to understand. The Messrs. Rodgers, Price and Spikes have a leg to stand on only if their votes were based upon their belief that a majority in "Winchester" prefers to stay out of the city.

COMMISSIONER E. K. Hufstedler undoubtedly voiced the opinion of the majority of Lubbock citizens when he answered Commissioner Spikes' comment with the statement that he will demand a vote of the residents of Lubbock before he will vote to accept "Westchester" as a part of Lubbock.

He is right, too, in his guess that such a vote, if held any time soon, would find opposition preponderant. Lubbock citizens in all walks of life have been ired for months over the attitude of the more vocal group in "Westchester." It will require much time for that feeling to change.

At the moment, "Westchester" opponents of inclusion of their area in the City of Lubbock have won a victory. But over the long pull, they may find the victory to be a hollow one.

It is not beyond imagination that in the not-too-distant future they may want to get inside Lubbock; nor is it beyond the imagination that when that time comes a majority in Lubbock will decide they may best stew in their own juice.

The "Westchester" incident may very possibly, and quite logically, become an issue in the next city elections, scheduled for April.

It has all the ingredients for an explosive campaign.

NEWS NOTE: One of the best speeches we've heard in a long time is that of Dr. D. D. Jackson, of the Tech faculty, on the American System of Free Enterprise. Doctor Jackson, one of the city's abler speakers, draws on history, geography and sociology in making his points. It's a dandy.

GIFT HINTS: If you've got some guy you feel like you simply have to remember on Christmas —but whom you'd like best to forget—don't worry about what to buy him. Just get him a pair of bedroom slippers that are hard to put on and take off.

If there is anything worrisome to the average male it is a pair of slippers that he has to bend over and tug on, and then bend over to haul off. But if he has a pair he'll usually wear them, because most men have enough Scotch blood in 'em to decry waste.

So for that brother-in-law, or fellow worker, you'd like to make unhappy at Christmas time—and for a long period thereafter—bedroom slippers which don't slip easily off and on are the very thing.

If you've got some femme to take care of, and you're more interested in causing her trouble than joy, there's nothing like a doo-dad for her livingroom table, or "whatnot."

Go out to her home. Study the color scheme. Then go to town and get a piece of chinaware that isn't good for a darn thing—and in a color that will clash with furniture coverings, rugs and drapes.

The recipient of your gift won't throw it away, or even hide it. At least until she offers it as a bridge prize, she'll keep it around. Women are funny that way—and very easy to disconcert.

IF your niece, nephew, or friend's kid is between the ages of 6 and 26, give him, or her, a savings bond, with express instructions that it must be held until maturity. Give him, or her, a savings bond, that is, if you want to mix in a little disappointment with the kid's Joyous Yuletide.

If there's anything a kid doesn't want for Christmas it's a savings bond; or a checking account that can't be checked on for 10 years; or a share of stock in some company that can't be expected to pay dividends before 1960.

That's the sort of gift that fixes the Little People up—but good!

BY DREW PEARSON: TREASURY MEN FIND IT DIFFICULT TO CHECK CORPORATION BOOKS

Agents Stumbled On Fraud Case Against Oil Firm

(ED. NOTE — This is the third in Drew Pearson's series of columns on tax evasion — a question of importance to every taxpayer who has to pay more as a result of deficiencies by others).

WASHINGTON—It is not often that treasury agents turn up a tax fraud case against a big corporation. This is partly because most big corporations have their books audited by reputable firms, but also because it is almost impossible for the T-men to scrutinize carefully the complicated books of the big corporations.

PEARSON

The internal revenue bureau is so understaffed — thanks largely to the recent GOP 80th Congress that it is impossible for its agents to take enough time to go through all corporate books.

Recently, however, treasury agents stumbled into what they considered an airtight tax fraud case against the Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation in Tulsa, Okla.

The case was considered so airtight that there was not the slightest doubt, they thought, about criminal prosecution. However, the wire-pullers got busy and the criminal aspects of the Mid-Continent case are now on ice.

The oil company will not have to pay a tax bill of $6,000,000 plus 50 per cent penalty, as recommended by the T-men. Instead, honest taxpayers will have to make up the difference.

The reason the treasury's case against Mid-Continent was considered so airtight was that a former accountant for the company had furnished the evidence for the government.

While working for the company, he had caught it making capital expenditures for plant extension during the war years and then charging them up as "repairs."

Though the lower offices of Mid-Continent showed the real nature of the improvements, these improvements were changed to read "repairs,' when the books went up to the top office. Repairs, of course, are tax deductible, while improvements are a capital investment and not deductible.

Receipts Not Destroyed

Mid-Continent officials gave careful instructions that the receipts and orders for the improvements be destroyed, but one of its bookkeepers just as carefully retained them and turned them over to the treasury. As a result the case was considered ironclad.

The agent who first handled the case was Frank W. Lohn, chief of intelligence for the Kansas City district. He recommended criminal prosecution and sent the case on to Mike Seltzer, chief of the penal division of the Kansas City office.

But while the case was still pending in Kansas City, Daniel Bolich, deputy commissioner of internal revenue in Washington, requested a conference at Oklahoma City. This was held, and Bolich, for reasons best known to himself, came all the way to Oklahoma from Washington to participate in the conference. Lohn and Seltzer, who also participated, informed him that the Mid-Continent case was fraud and should be prosecuted.

Despite this, Commissioner Bolich ordered the investigation stopped and had the case transferred to Washington.

When the case reached Washington, a conference was held in Bolich's office, at which general counsel Charles Oliphant was not represented. This is highly unusual. For, ordinarily, a criminal case must go to the chief counsel's office for disposal. It does not go to the office of a deputy commissioner.

However, Bolich ordered it to his office and although the general counsel was not represented, the defaulting oil company was represented by Benjamin Saunders of the law firm of Charley Hamel.

Hamel, former head of the board of tax appeals, and formerly in the internal revenue bureau, is a Republican who sometimes has been retained by leading Democrats suffering from tax troubles. It was Hamel who expertly handled the income-tax cases of boss Frank Hague of Jersey City and Mayor Ed Kelly of Chicago, both during the Hoover administration.

At this conference, Commissioner Bolich finally decided to let Mid-Continent off for $3,000,000—instead of $6,000,000 recommended by the T-men. He also decided against any appreciable fraud penalty.

Only after this was decided did Bolich send the case to general counsel Oliphant with instructions to close the penal side of the case—in other words, drop criminal prosecution.

Deputy Commissioner Bolich was former head of internal revenue intelligence in New York, at which time he was close to many Tammany leaders. He was sent to his present key spot in Washington by Joe Nunan, another Tammany man, who once served as commissioner of internal revenue. Since resigning, Nunan has been one of the most prosperous tax lawyers in the country.

MID-CONTINENT is headed by Jacob France, Republican committeeman from Maryland, and chairman of the Equitable Trust Co., of Baltimore, a director of Maryland Title Guarantee Co., and of the Commercial National bank of New York.

Mid-Continent's vice president and secretary is E. McClure Rouzer, who is France's law partner, and a director of various Maryland concerns. Other directors include Russell Faris, chairman of the Ward Baking Co., Maurice Newton, a partner of Hallgarten and Co., and a director of Adams Express, Anaconda Copper, Paramount Pictures, Gotham Hosiery and the Waldorf-Astoria; Otis McClintock, head of the First National Bank and Trust of Tulsa and director of the Frisco RR.

Mid-Continent owns or leases 65,427 acres of oil and gas leases in Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, Arkansas and New Mexico. In addition, the company leases 1,126,443 acres of undeveloped oil and gas land, owns 1,592 tank cars, and operates 1,436 miles of pipelines through its subsidiary, Mid-Continent Pipeline company.

The company also operates a refinery in west Tulsa, Okla., with a storage facility of 1,982,500 barrels. It also owns 18.95 per cent of the Great Lakes Pipeline company which supplies gasoline to Kansas City, Omaha, Des Moines, Minneapolis and Chicago.

BY WALTER WINCHELL

Damon Runyon Remembered As Great Reporter By Big City

He was born in Manhattan, Kansas, 1200 miles from where he died, but no one who ever lived ever loved so deeply the sprawling booming bawdiness of Manhattan Island. . . He was a country slicker who put the city slickers to shame. . . . He was never able to completely shake the dust of the Midwest from his heels—the earthiness of people was his weakness, just as it is so often theirs . . . And so he remained to the end an Achillies in tight shoes.

WINCHELL

He disagreed violently with the Barnum dictum, "Never give a sucker an even break," it being Damon's contention that "you can can give almost any sucker in the world an even break, and the odds are 30,000 to one he won't know what to do with it!" . . . He gave up drinking in 1910, but in 1940 he was still worrying about his "bad habits' . . . when a woman from Seattle wrote that when she had first seen him he was a small boy in short pants with garters above the knee, he brooded about it off and on for days . . . "And the worst part of it is," he told a pal morosely, discussing it, "that when she saw me I was smoking a cigarette."

In the Cub Room one night he bet Pat O'Brien that he would return after death . . . He liked O'Brien, who was one of the few actors that would stay up all night with him; once told him that if the life of Runyon was ever done on the screen, he wanted O'Brien to play it. "Not," he wrote, typically, in a memo still preserved, "that you have either the elegance or sagacity of Runyon, but you have a kinder face and a merrier heart, and it may be just as well if the world thinks I looked like you."

IT HAS been variously estimated that at the time of his death he had written between 70,000,000 and 80,000,000 published words; the pocket books of his stories have sold in the tens of millions, and ten of his fables have grossed better than $10,000,000 at the box-office, with only the usual required credit for the author. . . . But when the latest of them, "Johnny One-Eye," reaches the screen next month, Runyon's name will go up in taller lights on Broadway than that of the star—the selfsame O'Brien who holds his bet . . . Which should give Damon a chuckle . . . Because if there was anything he liked beter than tipping a headwaiter, it was topping a pal.

He was a newspaperman's newspaperman. . . . When he got his first New York job as a sportswriter on the American (at $50 a week) a friend told him he should have held out for more . . . "What are you talking about?" said Damon. "This is a managing editor's salary in the Midwest!"

He was a hot man on an assignment but always had time for the other fellow on the story . . . Even if they worked for the opposition he alternated between squaring unhappy reporters with their bosses and guiding their copy when they weren't sure it would please . . . He often quoted W. R. Hearst's well-known comment: "If a man can write sports, he can write anything," and somehow it seemed to give him solace when he had doubt about himself. But he never took it completely for granted and to the end worked as hard on any given assignment as if it were his first.

ON the Ruth Snyder-Judd Gray trial: "A chilly looking blonde, with frosty eyes and one of those marble, you-bet-you-will chins, and an inert, scare drunk fellow that you couldn't miss among any hundred men as a dead setup for a blonde, or the shell-game, or maybe a gold brick." His usual caution to cubs was: "Brevity: The story of creation is told in Genesis in 400 words; the Ten Commandments contain only 297 words; Lincoln's Gettysburg Address is but 266 words in length and the Declaration of Independence required only 1321 words to set up a new conception of freedoom."

He held his nightly (Hollywood) levees at Mike Lyman's restaurant on Vine St., a coast "Lindy's . . . He refused to be exposed to daylight or fresh air . . . His office shades were continually drawn, and on the set, even on some of the hottest days of Summer, he wore an angle-length suede coat to protect him against what he believed to the the treacheries of California's climate. The New York Times wrote editorially: "They will miss him from his favorite corner at Lindy's in the morning's gray hours when the street sweepers take over Times Square. They will speak of him for years to come in the night spots of Miami and in the gilded eating places in Saratoga, and his name will be legend. Where newspapern en foregather his name will be coupled with the highest praise the inkstained journalist can bestow —'He was a great reporter.'"

The Old Master

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

THE National Committee for Mental Hygiene announces that it is "impossible for married people to love one another 100 per cent all of the time."

If that is news it is only to the unmarried.

MILLETT

Any married couple could make a quick list of times when 100 per cent love is impossible.

As, for instance—

When He is making himself conspicuous by paying too much attention to a pretty girl at a party.

When she interrupts the story he is telling to say, "No, John, it wasn't on Tuesday, it was on Thursday. I remember distinctly because that is the day my cleaning woman comes."

When He is an hour late on a night when she has cooked a good dinner that isn't improved by being warmed over.

When She gets a laugh from the crowd by telling a story that makes him look silly.

THEY'RE STILL AT IT

WHEN He obliges her by guessing what her new hat cost—and guesses far below the actual figure.

When She reminds him how well the man she might have married is doing.

When He starts reminiscing with an old pal over the gay times they had before they were married.

When She is reminding him that he really shouldn't have another drink, or that he ought to let her drive home.

When He forgets their wedding a versary.

When He stretches out on the davenport after dinner while she washes the dishes and gets the children to bed.

It's times like these when love is something less than 100 per cent.

"Try And Stop Me"

A NEW high in mortification was scored at a local radio station by a young couple who was breaking in a new song-and-patter program. It was on a sustaining basis and there was no money for expensive guest stars, but the couple persuaded their good friends, the Andrews Sisters, to appear gratis one evening to help hypo the rating.

The Andrews Sisters were in the studio waiting to do one of their most popular specialties when a new efficiency expert of the station bustled in, took one look at the girls, and barked, "No guests are allowed in the broadcasting studio. You'll have to leave at once." The host explained desperately, "You don't understand, Mr. So-and-so. These are the Andrews Sisters!" "I don't care whose sisters they are," declared the expert. "Get 'em out of here." As an afterthought he called over his shoulder, "And fire Andrews, too."

Filmland Economy Fever Puts Stop To Free-Spending Habit

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 20—It was a beautifully typical Mexican village, from the pigs in the wallow to the flyblown cantina, to the mangy yellow curs in the dusty little street and the chili-draped bodeca. The Mexican fancy lady (played by a green-eyed Swede) even had a run in her sock.

RUARK

This was the set for a movie called "Death In A Side Street" with the oomphy James Mason and the equally oomphy Miss Marta Toren, the aforementioned Swede. It was located on the back lot of Universal-International studios at Culver City. In every detail it could have been located as easily outside Taxco or Acapulco in Mexico.

Hollywood's genius for duplication is nothing new, and each studio has a lot full of stock props—the penthouse, the western barroom, the ghost city, the Victorian mansion. But in most cases, when a script calls for an exotic background to fit its theme the company usually packs up and goes on location.

Thrift Is Necessary

This little Mexican village is a fine example of the new economy fever. Leonard Goldstein, the producer, went down to Mexico to dig up a likely site for his picture. He found it, close to Acapulco, and the company was set to move there for the shooting when Goldstein did some fast figgering.

When the addition and subtraction was over, he found he could rebuild the town, in every detail, in his own back yard for less than half the cost of maintaining his cast and technicians on location. Leonard got his artists and architects together, and instead of taking the picture to Mexico he took Mexico to the picture.

In many respects Hollywood is becoming as thrifty as any other business faced with drastic retrenchment in order to break even. Writers and actors work on a picture-to-picture basis, with relatively few signed to long contracts.

THE old lavish spending for hit books and plays is beginning to ease off. The studios no longer leap to sign authors of overnight sensations to long contracts, leaving them to snooze at high salaries for months before putting them to work. The original story, as opposed to the adapted book or play, is the basis for a heavy percentage of today's pictures. Twentieth Century-Fox, as I remember, produced about 90 per cent of last year's film crop on modestly priced orginal stories.

The old, stock formula of broad nepotism in the industry is fading somewhat, too. Economic press has convinced some of the moguls that a professional producer might be more desirable than Aunt Sophie's boy Herman, the one with the three arms.

Even the sons of the big guns have started to fall away from papa. Sam Goldwyn, jr., is working for Universal-International. Jack Warner, jr., is in the independent dodge with his father-in-law, Albert Rogell. Budd Schulberg, B.P.'s boy, is back east being a book-author.

Money Conscious

The old time lavish disregard for time and money is no more. The moody director who shoots the same scene 100 times for artistic perfection is rarely working today. The temperament-ridden star whose penchant for booze, babes or brooding holds up production, suddenly finds himself at liberty.

New York is loaded with old-time Hollywoodians attacking television as the result of being strictly from hunger back home. The talent search is for competent youngsters who do not come too steep on the salary scale, and who seem likely to be capable performers on a long-term basis.

A producer who can turn out a score of so-so pictures, on small budget, which make money, sits higher at Romanoff's than the composer of the artistic financial flop. Hollywood has finally hauled in its horns, and such words as stupendous and sensational have given way to the argot of cost-accounting.

FIREMAN DOUBLES UP

COFFEYVILLE, Kan. (U.P.)—F. R. Cooney is a fireman who turned in and answered the same alarm. Cooney found a cushion ablaze in his car parked half a block from the fire house. He ran to the station, turned in the alarm, then sprinted back with other firemen to put the fire out.

"Jane Russell's Popularity Acclaimed in the Old World."—Headline in London newspaper. It may now be said that Jane's popularity is also geographically duohemispherioal.

Today's Thought

Now, therefore, our God, we thank thee, and praise thy glorious name.—I Chronicles 29:13.

* * *

Do not fancy, as too many do, that thou canst praise God by singing hymns to Him in church once a week, and disobeying Him all the week long. He asks of thee works as well as words; and more. He asks of thee works first and words after.

—Charles Kingsley.

Today's Journal Editorial

WHO'S KIDDING WHOM?

The clap-trap emanating from Democratic high command headquarters about news stories linking Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower with the Presidential election in 1952 is nothing short of amusing. The truth is that Democrats, from Mr. Truman on down, don't want "Ike" in the picture and certainly not as GOP standard-bearer. They don't want him in national politics because, like everyone else, they know the general would get a lot of support—perhaps enough votes to unseat them.

Presidential Secretary Charles Ross' statement that "President Truman has no objection to anyone's running for President" is a laugh. It would be funnier if it didn't spotlight the fact that the some administration people, at least, have come to look upon the Presidency as something they own, lock, stock and barrel.

Nobody who can count to 10 will be fooled by any statements by Truman & Co. about Eisenhower as a Presidential possibility. They know, as everyone else does, that the general is a real threat to their seats on the gravy trai...

No Blessed Event Until February, Rita Says

Mrs. Aly Khan Tries To Calm Reporters On Expected Child

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Writer

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Dec. 20—Rita Hayworth looked a reporter straight in the eye today and said, "I don't expect to have a baby until February, and why everybody seems to think it's going to happen earlier beats me."

Miss Hayworth, who was married last May 27, has maintained all along that the birth would come in February, contrary to reports for the last two weks that her confinement was "imminent."

Champagne For All

The actress wife of Prince Aly Khan sat in her cream colored Cadillac convertible outside the Chateur Dorigny while her temperamental husband poured buckets of champagne for the newsmen he usually greets with dark scowls.

While toasts to her future son or daughter were filling the air, Miss Hayworth wrapped herself snugly in a dark mink coat and kidded the United Press correspondent about his vigil in the lobby of the Lausanne-Palace hotel, where the Khans live.

"Go home and see your family for Christmas,' she suggested. "Nothing is going to happen."

The movie star, who a few weeks ago was drawn and shaky to the extent that a miscarriage was feared, looked well enough today to go right before the Hollywood cameras again.

She smiled at a score of photographers who were given permission to take shots of her seated in the car beside Prince Aly, on condition that they would take no unauthorized photos.

Mayor Marries

couple originally had planned for Jan. 2 in St. Patrick's cathedral in New York. There some 5,000 persons could have crowded in to see the marriage.

O'Dwyer and Miss Simpson were forced to give up plans for the St. Patrick ceremony when he was hospitalized last month by virus pneumonia, exhaustion and heart strain.

Official Party Listed

He explained to reporters that by marrying now, during his Florida vacation, he would be ready to plunge into the business of his second term as mayor of the naton's largest city when he and his bride return to Gracie Mansion Dec. 28.

O'Dwyer's official party included only his executive secretary, his personal secretary, his bodyguard and two former New York officials, Benjamin Fielding, former license commissioner and Dr. Edward Bernecker, former commissioner of hospitals.

The bride was attended only by her matron of honor, Mrs. Bernecker. The mayor's only attendant was his best man, David Martin, manager of the New York Athletic club. The three ushers all were Stuart residents.

Among those who filled the tiny chapel were State Sen. Evans Crary of Stuart and State Rep. George Case, also of Stuart, local officials including Mayor Drew W. King, jr., and Stuart residents. Geary asked his 500-odd parishioners to wait until everyone else was seated before entering the chapel.

Ann Blyth Is Named As Queen For Event

HOUSTON, Dec. 20. (U.P.)—Ann Blyth, diminutive and demure screen star, will reign here as honorary queen Feb. 17 for the Houston mardi gras, sponsored by the University of St. Thomas.

The Rev. R. G. Miller, directing mardi gras festivities, said Miss Blyth would share the honor with a queen selected from the student body.

The university has extended an invitation to Bob Hope to be honorary king at the event.

Five Are Sentenced In District Court

Sentences totaling 40 years in the penitentiary, some of which will run concurrently, were pronounced against five defendants Monday afternoon by 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue.

James Ira Stevens, 18, was sentenced to three years for burglary; Ennis Wilson, jr., an 18-year-old negro, two years for car theft; Glenn William Thornton, 35, five years in each of two cases of forgery and one of car theft, to be served concurrently; A. J. Compton, 42, five years in each of two forgery cases and one of swindling by worthless check, to be served concurrently; and John H. Sweeney, a 26-year-old negro, five years for robbery. A robbery charge naming Fred Montoya was dismissed when the complaining witness failed to identify him.

Montoya pleaded guilty in the county court of Judge Walter Davies and was fined $100 and costs of court for illegally carrying a pistol. The offense date alleged was the same as that in the robbery indictment.

Three Latin-Americans charged with rape will be tried today. They are Luciano Gonzales and Fred Navarette, both 20, and Nasario Flores, 24, all of Lubbock. The death penalty will not be asked, by agreement of sides. The cases were consolidated under an order signed Monday by Judge Pardue.

Granbury Woman Is Killed In Mishap

GRANBURY, Dec. 20. (U.P.)—Mrs. Delphia Smith, 74, onetime postmistress of Granbury, was killed last night by an automobile which struck her as she walked along a highway at the city limits.

The driver of the car, a 17-year-old Tolar boy, told authorities he did not see the aged woman until the automobile was upon her. Before she moved here, Mrs. Smith lived at Hereford and had also served as postmistress there.

Vault Opened Near Office Of Sheriff

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 20. (U.P.)—Safecrackers opened the vault at the Ball & Ball Motor company last night and escaped with about $75 in cash.

Sheriff Otis Shaw was a little embarrassed by the event. It occurred across a street from his quarters in the jail—about 50 feet away from where the sheriff was spending the night.

New School

ing the 1948-49 school year, but was sent to Overton this past fall because cafeteria facilities were available there.

With the opening of the new cafeteria at Carroll Thompson Junior High and Central Ward anticipated soon after the opening of the second semester, bus students still will have hot lunches available in the cafeteria.

The other two buses involved in the change are Bus No. 23, which runs in the southwest part of the school district, and Bus No. 2, route 3. Both will carry students to the new school at Fortieth and Jackson.

Enrollment Takes Jump

When the M. C. Overton elementary school was opened in the fall of 1948 on half-day session at Roscoe Wilson school, only 194 students were enrolled. In January, when classes were transferred from Wilson to the new building, 208 students were enrolled. A total of 235 were listed last May. The remarkable increase in enrollment came this past September when enrollment reached 429. The only change in zone in the two years was moving the school boundary one block—from Tyler east to Harrison Ave.

In addition, only one sixth grade class is attending school at Overton, the other sixth graders in the Overton district attending classes at J. T. Hutchinson Junior High school.

The school board approved the change of buses as proposed by Matthews.

Textbook Committee Okayed

Other business occupying the attention of the board last night included approval of a textbook committee, election of several new teachers, acceptance of the resignation of one faculty member, and discussion of a proposed addition to the Roscoe Wilson elementary school.

Faculty members named to the textbook committee in addition to Supt. Matthews, were Miss Irene Armes, Miss Bessie Bullock, W. C. Watts, Miss Eddythe Walker, Mrs. Wesley B. Smith, and Mrs. Novella Dewhurst.

Election of th following new teachers was approved: Mrs. A. B. Hardin, Guadalupe school; and Mrs. Naomi R. Thompson, P. F. Brown school.

The resignation of Miss Barbara Ann Lunceford, a teacher in P. F. Brown school, was accepted.

No definite action was taken on a proposed addition to the Roscoe Wilson school.

School Calendar Extended

The board also approved the extension of the school calendar to have May 30, 1950 as the closing date of the 1949-50 school year instead of May 26 as originally planned.

At Monday's meeting, minutes were read on proceedings of an executive meeting of the school board several days ago. At that meeting, employment of an assistant business manager of the school district was authorized. The board also voted to extend the contract of Business Manager A. C. Jackson one year from the time of its expiration in July, 1950.

No action has thus far been taken on hiring an assistant business manager, it was said yesterday.

Those attending Monday's meeting were Clyde G. Tatum, president of the board, Glenn Woody, Don L. Jones, G. C. Dowell, Wm. H. Evans, Ruel Martin, Dr. M. M. Ewing, Supt. Matthews and A. C. Jackson.

Services Held For Accident Victims

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 20 (Special) — Unaware her parents and brother were killed in a traffic accident near Brownfield, little Nicolosa Miranda, 9, is seriously ill at Sanitorium, Texas.

The little girl has been under treatment at Sanitorium for tuberculosis. Saturday night, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Felipe Miranda, and brother, Nafario, 12, were killed near here while enroute to her bedside to take her home.

Graveside services for the three members of the family were held at 4 p. m. Monday at Brownfield cemetery.

Another son, Bertal, who was driving the car, was reported resting well today by attendants of the Treadway-Daniel hospital here. Walter Chandler, 52, of Brownfield, the driver of the truck, was uninjured.

Tech Holidays Will Start On Wednesday

Holidays for more than 5,800 Texas Tech students will begin after classes dismiss Wednesday, Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president said Monday.

Classes will not be resumed until 8 a.m. Jan. 3, he added, although staff offices will be closed only six days, except Sundays, during the Yuletide season.

All offices will be closed Thursday through Monday this week for Christmas and again Dec. 31 to Jan. 2 for New Year's. All other days administrative workers will work from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Students may begin leaving for home after their last class dismisses Wednesday, Dr. Jones said. Some subjects are taught until as late as 10 p.m.

"Santa Claus" Walks Off With Cash, Suit

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 20. (U.P.)—A jolly, 325-pound Santa Claus, hired for a touch of Christmas in photographer Harold M. Field's shop, dipped into a cash register and waddled off with $50, police reported today.

Officers said the larcenous Kris Kringle didn't even stop to take off Field's $135 fur-trimmed red suit yesterday.

Generally, it costs more to get an article from the factory into the hands of the consumer than it does to manufacture it. On the average, 60 per cent of the price paid to the retailer goes to cover the expenses of distribution.

WE'LL DO OUR BEST
...but some Christmas calls will be delayed

We'll do our best not to disappoint anyone who wants to make a long distance Christmas call. All available switchboards and circuits will be in use—and we've added a lot of new ones this year. Every operator who can help will be on the job.

But so many people will be saying Merry Christmas over long distance lines that circuits are sure to be crowded. You can help reduce delays two ways:

1. Please give the operator the out-of-town number you are calling, if you know it.
2. Please don't inquire about the progress of your call. It will be put through in turn and as promptly as possible. Calling back to ask about it may actually delay your call—as well as others that are waiting.

Thanks much for your cooperation. And if your call is delayed, thanks for your patience and understanding.

THIS YEAR YOU'LL HAVE TWO DAYS TO SAY MERRY CHRISTMAS
This year, Monday, December 26, will be an official holiday, too. If your Christmas call can be made then, it will go through faster. Holiday rates will be in effect all day.

THERE'LL BE NO MERRY CHRISTMAS

Village Stunned By Death Of Five In Family Comes To Aid

EMMETT, Mich., Dec. 20 (AP)—The gentle folk of this little village (pop. 229) lent a strong hand today to the bereaved Bethways.

Stunned yesterday by the tragic deaths of five children in a fire, citizens now came forth with help.

They knew there was nothing the could do to make a merry Christmas for Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bethway, the six surviving children and Grandma Louise Bethway, 80.

But the goal was to keep the remaining members of the family together and provide them a new home by Christmas day:

Awakened By Heat

Patrick McCabe, the village banker, is heading a fund-raising drive. One citizen, who asked anonymity, started it off with a gift of $100.

The plan is first to provide immediate shelter by renting a house and later to restore the farm home two miles west of here in southeastern Michigan.

The flash fire struck the Bethway home before dawn yesterday. Christmas gifts stored in the closets were destroyed.

So were all the other possessions, including the family's clothing and a new electric stove and refrigerator.

Bethway, 37, farmer and odd-jobs man, had provided comfortably for his family even though it was a big group.

Sleeping downstairs, the mother, Irene, 33, awakened from the heat of the blaze.

Two Jump From Window

The parents carried two small children to safety. The grandmother rescued another child but was critically burned.

Seared by flames, eight-year-old Joe and Mary Lou, 13, leaped from an upstairs window. They suffered critical burns.

Another daughter was away from home.

An overheated stove was the cause of the fire, the sheriff's office said.

The grandmother had built a roaring fire in the stove and then gone back to be. The fire was her morning chore.

"My mother-in-law always tended the stove in the morning," Mrs. Bethway said. "Sometimes she let it get pretty hot."

The house had been built 15 years ago to replace a homestead destroyed at that time by a fire.

10 Best Films Of Year Are Selected

NEW YORK, Dec. 20 (U.P.) — The National Board of review of motion pictures today named five American movies and five foreign films as the best 10 movies of 1949:

1. The Bicycle Thief, Italian.
2. The Quiet One, American.
3. Intruder in the Dust, American.
4. The Heiress, American.
5. Devil in the Flesh, French.
6. Quartet, British.
7. Germany Year Zero, Italian.
8. Home of the Brave, American.
9. Letter to Three Wives, American.
10. Fallan Idol, British.

One Injured In City Collision

One person was injured when an ambulance speeding to a false alarm wreck call collided with an automobile at the intersection of Broadway and Ave. G at 9:30 p.m. Monday.

The wreck came 45 minutes after the same ambulance had taken an injured person to the hospital from a two-car collision on East Broadway, on the east side of the canyon.

Miss Joyce Sandlin, 18, of 2414 Ninth street, received a broken collarbone when a Rix Funeral home ambulance collided with the left side of a 1941 Pontiac driven by J. M. Dwight, jr., 22, of 2007 Seventh street, a city fireman off-duty. Dwight was not injured, and Miss Sandlin was released after treatment.

Ambulance Driver Not Hurt

Whitney Rix Victory, 17, of 3024 Twenty-second street, driver of the ambulance was not injured.

In the first wreck—on East Broadway—Joe A. Melot, about 28, of 1101 East Sixteenth street, received a severe laceration of his lower lip and other lacerations and bruises.

Melot remained in Lubbock Memorial hospital last night, where attendants said his condition was "good" although he had lost a considerable amount of blood.

Hits Back Of Car

He was driving an old model Ford which collided with the rear of a 1938 Ford driven by John Harold McDonald, about 48, who lives two blocks north of the accident scene. McDonald was not injured.

McDonald told Texas Highway patrolmen that he was making a left hand turn when the accident occurred. Melot was thrown to the pavement. Officers reported that while waiting for an ambulance, Melot was all but run over by a motorcycle when its driver failed to obey warning flashlights being used to direct traffic.

Rix and McDonald Funeral home ambulances answered the first wreck call, with the Rix ambulance taking Melot to the hospital.

The second call, either a prank or the outgrowth of the first wreck, was answered by the Rix ambulance which collided with the car. After the ambulance-car wreck, a Sanders Funeral home ambulance took over the Rix call, but its driver reported he found no wreck on East Broadway. A McDonald Funeral home ambulance took Miss Sandlin to Lubbock Memorial hospital.

City Patrolmen A. E. Sherrell and Bob West said they gave a traffic summons to Dwight for failure to grant right of way to the ambulance.

The front of the ambulance was heavily damaged, while the right side of the car was smashed in by the impact of the collision. The ambulance was going east on Broadway— the car south on Ave. G.

"Ghost Host" Provides Yearly Birthday Dance For Youths Of Village In Maine

WEST MINOT, Me., Dec. 20 (AP)—Countryfolk will make merry tonight at the birthday ball of a man dead for 23 years.

The scene: West Minot's tiny grange hall. The program: modern dances and the old-fashioned square dances beloved by the "ghost host"—Jairus "Jerry" Hilborn.

Jerry would have been 98 today. Long a friend, counsellor and benefactor of the village youth he left a modern sum for a dance each year until he would have been 100.

He attached but one condition—at the height of the festivities there must be a moment of silence in tribute to Jerry. And should this silence be broken, the dances would end.

The money Jerry left doesn't meet all the expenses. But his white haired widow, Bertha, now 76, takes care of the balance. And should she die in the meantime, she has arranged for the dances to continue through 1951, as Jerry wished.

Infant Son Born To Alfred Vanderbilts

NEW YORK, Dec. 20. (AP)—A son and heir was born early today to the Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilts—the first male addition to the Vanderbilt clan in a number of years.

The wife of the millionaire sportsman gave birth shortly after midnight at Le Roy sanitarium.

The mother is the former Jeanne Murray, cousin of Mrs. Henry Ford, 2nd, and daughter of the late John F. Murray, stock exchange firm head.

The couple was married Oct. 13, 1945. They flew to Philadelphia to be married by a judge.

Alfred Vanderbilt and his brother, George, both have daughters but today's arrival is the first son for either.

Use Of Radios On Street Cars OK'd

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20 (AP) — Use of radios on Washington street cars and buses was approved today by the Public Utilities commission.

The commission ruled that the installation and use of radios in street cars and buses "is not inconsistent with public convenience, comfort and safety." Nor is radio reception an obstacle to safety of operations, it said.

Its decision followed recent public hearings at which some citizens groups demanded that the transit radios be banned on grounds they deprive riders of freedom to listen or not to listen, in violation of the first amendment of the constitution.

The commission held, however, that "such issues must rest upon a basis more tangible than impassioned pleas which express personal feelings."

It not only rejected opposition arguments, but said that "in fact, through the creation of better will among passengers, it (radio) tends to improve the conditions under which the public ride."

The commission said a poll conducted in October showed that 76.3 percent of those interviewed favored radios in buses and street cars, 13.9 percent said they didn't care; 3.2 said they didn't know and 6.6 percent opposed.

James I, first king of the United Kingdom, created the rank of king's counsel.

STALIN'S BIRTHDAY IS OCCASION

Two Leading Communists Of World Having Big Pow-Wow

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Two important, well-dressed men are now chatting in Moscow.

One of them, Joseph Stalin, the world's No. 1 Communist, is having a birthday, his 70th.

And the other, Chinese Mao Tze-Tung, the world's No. 2 Communist, traveled, he said, clear across Asia by train to help celebrate the birthday.

But it is reasonable to think that while they're sipping tea they are discussing something more important than blowing out candles on a cake.

It seems more than a coincidence that the Chinese began his journey just about the time his Communist followers had pretty nearly mopped up China.

Capitalism Loses Ground

In fact, while the non-Communist world is reflecting on the events of the first half of the 20th century, now coming to a close, the two men in Moscow may be laying plans that will shape the second half of the century.

For, if any one thing stands out in the past 50 years, it's this: The western capitalist world has lost ground tremendously to Communism and may lose a lot more in the next 50 years.

Indeed, as the second half of the century draws near, the most important questions the world faces are these:

How much more of the world will Communism gobble up? Where will it stop? Can it be stopped? Will the Communist states pull together or break up and quarrel among themselves? Will there be a war between the Communist and non-Communist worlds? Will capitalism win? Or, if Communism should be crushed, will capitalism remain or will it slowly change into socialism or something else?

If you just look at the number of people brought under Communism, then the last five years are more impressive than the previous 45 as this will show:

When this century began there wasn't one Communist government on the face of the earth. Communism then was only a theory. By 1917 the Communist had taken control of Russia.

Changes After War

And Russia remained the only Communist government until 1945, or the end of World War II. But then the picture began to change rapidly. Now under the thumb of Communism are: China, Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Soviet Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, North Korea and Eastern Germany.

The population of the world is about 2,264,000,000. Of that total one in every three—or about 777,000,000 people-is living under Communism.

It breaks down this way: Albania, 1 million; Bulgaria, 7 million; China, 462 million; Eastern Germany, 17 million; Hungary, 3 million; Rumania, 16 million; Russia, 211 million; Yugoslavia, 15 million, Czechoslovakia, 13 million, Poland, 24 million, North Korea, 9 million.

So, as the second half of the century opens, the first big question to be faced is this: where will Communism push next?

The western European countries, backed by the United States, stand as a bulwark, at least for the time being, against any Communist desire to move west to the Atlantic ocean.

Areas May Look Soft

And in China the Communist government of Mao Tze-Tung would seem to have its hands full for a while in straightening out affairs in China which it has just taken over.

But the southern fringe of Asia, not now Communist, may look like a reasonably soft touch to Stalin and Mao Tze-Tung for the next move.

Along the southern edge of Asia are four countries with a total population of around 461 million people: India, 400 million; French Indo-China, 27 million; Thailand, 17 million; Burma, 17 million.

With pressure from Communist China, and from Communists within those countries, the last three—Indo-China, Thailand, Burma—might seem good spots for a push. At least Stalin and Mao Tze-Tung will probably consider the problem while standing around the birthday cake.

India, with its vast population, may seem too big a nut to crack any time soon. But the point is:

Since Communists look ahead 50 years or 100 years or any number of years, the two well-dressed men in Moscow are probably having some very interesting talks which will affect all of us.

Aged Widow Freed After Being Jailed On Charge Of Theft

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 20 (INS) A dimunitive, 88-year-old pensioner who is nearly deaf and blind in one eye was freed from Oakland City prison today — four days after she had been jailed for stealing a half pound of butter.

The grandmotherly looking little widow, Mrs. Margie Wilson, was released on $200 bail put up by her middle-aged son, salesman Earl Russell.

She accepted her freedom reluctantly after having captured the sympathies of police, city officials and others who heard of her plight. Last night, tucked into bed in the jail, she refused to leave with her son saying she "was too warm and comfortable."

Russell tried to get her out after reading newspaper reports that she had been jailed.

A special officer said he saw the aged woman take the butter from a grocery store regrigerator and then squeeze through the turnstile at the cashier's desk without paying for it.

Woman Denies Charge

Mrs. Russell denied the charge and said:

"I never get anything for nothing. I didn't steal the butter."

The aged woman was ordered to appear for trial tomorrow when she will face a maximum sentence of $500 fine or six months in jail if she is found guilty of shoplifting.

Store officials said they reluctantly pressed the charge because "she refused to confess, otherwise we would have let her go."

Mrs. Russell said she is living on a $75 monthly pension from the federal government and that she came to Oakland from Kansas a month ago to be near her son for the holidays.

$185,000 Fire Razes Plant At San Marcos

SAN MARCOS, Dec. 20. (AP)—Fire yesterday destroyed the plant and machinery of the John Clark Industries near here. Damage was estimated at $185,000.

The fire was believed to have started when an oil line to one of the die-making machines in the plant broke and threw out a spray of oil. The splashing oil apparently ignited when it hit the pilot light on a furnace.

The plant made machine dies and household goods.

ADVICE OFF THE RECORD

SPOKANE, Wash. (UP)—Louis R. Greenlee was on his way home with a stack of phonograph records when he lost control of his car. Although the car was demolished, Greenlee suffered only slight bruises. Every record was smashed except one titled "I'll Never Slip Around Again."

Three Men Indicted For Strike Violence

HOUSTON, Dec. 20 (AP)—The Harris county grand jury has indicted three men on charges of violating the O'Daniel strike violence act.

Named in the indictments yesterday were Ruby Brett, 37; C. D. Montgomery, 33, and L. D. Springfield.

The action grew out of the two-month-old strike of drivers for Airways Limousine, Inc.

The company, which operates limousine service between downtown Houston and the municipal airport, began operating several weeks ago with non-union drivers.

Brett is charged with trying to keep a company employe from working. Montgomery and Springfield are charged with interfering with another employe, William E. Laseter.

Laseter suffered a brain concussion in a fight at the airport Dec. 5.

MINNESOTA GROWING

MINNEAPOLIS. (U.P.)—Minnesota state officials believe the state's population will be near 3,000,000 when the federal census starts next April. The population was estimated at 2,034,000 on July 1, 1948, a gain of 5.1 per cent since the last regular census in April of 1940.

San Antonio Begins Deportation Hearing

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 20 (AP)—A deportation hearing for Mr. and Mrs. John Butt Crewe of San Antonio opened today.

The hearing is to give the couple an opportunity to show why they should not be deported to Canada, the country whence they came in 1920.

They are accused of having been members of an organization that advocates overthrow of the government by force and violence.
