September Deer Hunts Will Be Held on Aransas Refuge

A special deer hunt will be held at Aransas National Wildlife Refuge this year the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, P.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, has announced.

The Sept. 1 through 30 early deer hunts will permit 1,800 gun hunters and an undetermined number of archers on the Refuge.

The special season on the Refuge was requested by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service at the Department's regulatory hearings held at Rockport on June 14. The Parks and Wildlife Commission, at their regular meeting in Austin on July 10 approved proclamations which made the early season possible.

Wildlife biologists said the hunt was necessary to remove surplus deer from the Refuge in order to maintain the quality of the deer herd as well as protect deer habitat from damage due to over population. The season, earlier than any other deer season in Texas, was requested by the Fish and Wildlife Service in order to reduce the deer herd before the historic arrival of the whooping crane.

Approximately 38,000 acres of prime deer habitat on the Refuge will be involved in the hunts. The Aransas Refuge, comprising some 47,000 acres, has an estimated population of 14,000 white-tailed deer or about one deer for every 3.3 acres which is comparable to some of the heavier populated areas of the state.

E. A. Walker, director of Wildlife Services of the Parks and Wildlife Department, said approximately 14,300 white-tailed deer have been trapped on the Refuge since 1938 and restocked in areas of the State where suitable habitat occurred and brood stocks were needed.

Archers will be permitted to take one deer, of either sex, from the Refuge from Sept. 1 through Sept. 8. No drawings will be held for the archery hunts—all the archer has to do is show at Refuge Headquarters with a valid 1968-1969 Texas hunting license and archery equipment which meets requirements of state law.

Two hundred gun hunters per two-day period will be allowed on the Refuge between Sept. 11 through Sept. 30 with a bag limit of two deer—one of which must be an antlerless deer. There will be no requirement that the antlerless deer must be taken first.

Hunters using firearms on the Refuge will be selected by a drawing which will be held Sept. 3 in the Austin office of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department under an inter-agency agreement. The drawing will be conducted by U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Each person whose name is drawn will be given a two-day hunt on the Refuge. Only those drawing out would be permitted to hunt and vacancies created by those not showing would not be filled.

Department authorities said the application cards are still being printed but will be ready to send out Tuesday, Aug. 6. Prospective hunters are also reminded that the 1968-1969 license number for each hunter must be on the card before the card is returned.

To be considered for the drawing, all applications must arrive at the Department prior to 5 p.m. Aug. 27, (Tuesday). Hunters using firearms on the Refuge will be selected by a drawing to be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 3 in the Austin offices of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The drawings will be conducted by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The time factor will play an important role in the drawing, officials said. First, the interested hunter must write a letter to the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in care of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, and ask for an application card.

The hunter then must fill out all pertinent blanks on the card which must include the Texas hunting license number for the 1968-1969 blanks on the card must include the Texas hunting license number for the 1968-1969 hunting season. However, the new license will not go on sale until Aug. 15 which means the hunter will have only 13 days to submit his application.

Department officials said ample notice would be given to hunters through mass communications media on the deadlines.

City Accident Rate Increases

Chief of Police Bob Hewes reports that even with the city accident rate increasing, the injury rate is decreasing. For the first seven months of 1968 there were 53 accidents compared with 49 for the same period in 1967.

Injuries have been cut in half this reporting period with only 11 injuries reported this year compared to 22 last year. Also reported was $6,105 increase in property damage with $23,270 this year and $17,160.00 last year.

The accident figures for July of this year are greatly reduced with three accidents, no injuries and $775 in property damage this year, and 11 accidents, four injuries and $4,475.00 in property damage in July of 1967.

Hewes reported that for the past two months of this year the accident rate has decended sharply and if the present trend continues he looks for a better accident record for 1968 than in 1967.

Most of the accidents reported were the failure of one or both of the drivers involved to be careful and obey the traffic laws. An increased watchfulness in observing the laws could sharply decrease accidents, Hewes stated.

No Beards or Mini-Miniskirts At Local Schools

There will be no girls wearing mini-miniskirts and no bearded boys with long sideburns at Rockport-Fulton Junior and Senior High School when classes begin this fall.

In restrained but unmistakable language, school authorities have issued the following edict regarding the appearance of boys and girls at school:

"Believing that students' attire and appearance should always compliment the learning situation, school officials have developed the following standards concerning the attire and appearance of students in grades seven through 12:

Girls: Proper dress for girls will be dresses, skirts, blouses and culottes. The suggested length of the dress or skirt is for the bottom of the hem to touch the top of the kneecap when the student stands erectly. Any dress or skirt that is more than three inches above the center of the kneecap when the student stands erectly is not acceptable.

"Attention is called to the fact that because of students' growth, a dress or skirt barely meeting the standards could become unacceptable in a short time. Sundresses or variations of sundresses are not acceptable.

"Boys: Hair of improper length and style, long sideburns and mustaches are not acceptable. All shirts cut on a dress shirt pattern or any other shirt of excessive length should be tucked in the trousers. Socks and belts must be worn.

Fathers, Sons Escape Drowning

Austin Zellers and his 13-year-old son and Dr. Richard McIntosh and his 14-year-old son are home in Weatherford, grateful that they are safe and sound after their fishing boat overturned in the bay near Sea Gun Sports Inn last week.

Their boat overturned last Wednesday night and it was early Thursday morning before all four were recovered. Dr. McIntosh and the two boys held onto the overturned boat and drifted for six hours before being washed ashore just north of the Sandollar Motel.

Zellers held on to a floating boat cushion and wound up finding safety on the unlighted platform of what is known as Cluster No. 5.

Dr. McIntosh and the boys were aided by M. W. Cochran and George Ayres and wrapped in blankets and served coffee by Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Ayres. Later, Ayres drove them to the Sea Gun.

Zellers was rescued by a U. S. Coast Guard boat given directions by Constable Buddy McLester.

Expanded Tourist Facilities Urged For Local Area

The long-range plan for this city recently prepared by Harland Bartholomew and Associates suggests extensive expansion of tourist facilities.

Major resort and tourist facilities are indicated on the plan and these are along the waterfront of the city and adjacent to the major intersections of a proposed channel system and major street system.

"Tourist resort facilities would require the establishment of a new zoning district which would accommodate this type of development," the report points out.

This district would permit motels, hotels and related tourist functions such as restaurants and service facilities. Apartments and trailer parks would also be found in this area.

The plan proposes a tourist resort area extending a distance of approximately five miles from the south channel to the central portion of Little Bay Cove. North of Fulton, a similar resort area is suggested in the plan.

Turning to what is called the "Central Area Plan," Bartholomew recommends four basic functioning areas in its comprehensive plan:

1) The resort and recreation complex from the Rockport Marina north into the park lands surrounding Little Bay.

2) The industrial area south of the marina which houses important industrial facilities including fish companies, marina service operations, boat storage and the manufacturing activities at Rockport Yacht and Supply Company, directly east of the main central business district.

3) The commercial core located on the existing business street with a concentration and redevelopment of much of the existing commercial areas.

4) The civic center to be developed in the blocks surrounding the Aransas County Courthouse.

Resort Facilities

The area surrounding the Rockport Marina, major new resort facilities are proposed.

Three large structures would be constructed at the north end of the marina with a convention center as the central feature. Flanking the convention center to the east and west, curving around the marina, would be elevated commercial buildings, housing stores and restaurants above ground level parking areas.

By establishing this center in a series of elevated structures, an extraordinary view of the bayfront could be obtained.

The convention center building on two levels would have a total floor space of approximately 100,000 square feet. Each of the elevated commercial buildings on either side of the convention center would have approximately 45,000 square feet for a total complex of convention and related retail areas amounting to approximately 200,000 square feet.

Parking areas surrounding this resort complex would accommodate 400 vehicles at ground level. Surrounding the marina would be a promenade featuring local plant materials; palm trees, oleander, hibiscus and the like. These would be placed to create both a functional and visual attraction in the heart of the city.

Related recreation areas surrounding Little Bay would include expansion of picnicking facilities adjacent to the convention center, near the water ski basin. On the beach side of the convention center, a new beach bathhouse would be built to serve bathers.

Industrial Area

Activities currently carried on in the industrial area adjacent to the business district would remain largely as they are today. These activities include dry boat slips and storage facilities for pleasure vessels, marine service activities, fishing companies and boat operations at Rockport Yacht and Supply Company.

The Bartholomew report uses, "These industrial uses, activities and facilities could be made more attractive with a new coat of paint, well located trees and plants, located where they do not interfere with industrial activities."

Parking facilities proposed adjacent to the commercial buildings on Austin Street should also be utilized by the industrial areas as an asset which could be more effectively used as an attraction in the resort area.

Commercial Facilities

Construction of commercial buildings along Austin Street from Market to Cornwall is essential if the central area is to maintain its position as the major commercial center in the city. To accomplish this, the plan proposes several major modifications in the general arrangement of streets and parking areas in the central city.

The Southern Pacific Railroad spur from Church Street to the bayfront would be abandoned and the right-of-way utilized for more productive purposes.

All east-west streets between Cornwall and Market with the exception of Wharf and Main would be abandoned, with the right-of-way returned to abutting property owners.

Wharf Street would remain as a major connection between Water Street and Church Street. Main Street would actually become a series of large parking lots with internal circulation provided along the existing street pavements.

Head-in parking provided on either side of Main Street would accommodate 40 cars in each block between Water and Church Streets. At all points where streets are abandoned, curb lines on Austin Street would be flared into the parking lane to allow street trees and plantings on the main business streets.

At all intersections, the same flaring out of the pavement into the parking lane would occur, enabling palm trees and other indigenous plant material to be placed directly along the right-of-way of the street. Major improvements in the visual appearance of the central area would result.

Existing commercial activities which now account for approximately 220,000 square feet of floor space would be expanded to approximately 570,000 square feet with the addition of 350,000 square feet of new commercial floor space.

These additions would occur in a series of redevelopment areas primarily located in the southern and central portions of the business area. Large new commercial facilities are indicated in the plan in the vicinity of the H.E.B. Family Center between Mimosa and Concho Streets.

The present city hall would be relocated into the civic center complex to the west and the nucleus of a small downtown (continued on page 8)

THE PLAGUE OF SNOOPERS

Privacy has always been expensive; but it is perhaps becoming impossible at any price.

Every bit as alarming as the electronic devices are the psychological tests said to be made by 60 per cent of all U. S. companies in investigating a job applicant. They subject him to grilling by a psychologist who may come up with a report that he is a homosexual or a wife-beater. They put him through a lie detector test that will force him to confess every petty misdemeanor he has ever committed. They send private eyes to ask his neighbors if he drinks too much or if his wife has a lover.

Not only applicants for executive posts but would-be milkmen or store clerks suffer these monstrous invasions of privacy. And landing the job gives a man no security from the snoopers. His office may be bugged, his phone tapped. Some of the devices in use can be concealed by a tie clasp or cufflink.

This dreadful plague of spying on private lives, which makes nonsense of the so-called rights of man, is spreading. In view of the fact that the government agencies themselves may be the biggest customers for lie detectors and bugging apparatus, the remedy is far from obvious.—Financial Post.

GOING BEYOND CENSUS PURPOSES

Congressman Jackson E. Betts is conducting a one-man campaign against the questionnaire proposed for the next census. By this time of the year in 1970, millions of other Americans may have joined forces with him. But by then, he may be too late. In a speech on the floor of the House and around the nation, Congressman Betts has pointed out that the Census Bureau proposes to invade the privacy of many Americans with mandatory questions on matters which really are no concern of the federal government.

As it stands now, the Bureau of the Census plans to mail to one-fourth of the U. S. households a questionnaire which asks detailed questions about a person's income, living expenses, housing, personal and family history and ownership of household appliances. Some of the questions were asked a limited number of Americans in 1960, but the 1970 tentative census form goes well beyond even that of 1960.

All questions on the census form are mandatory in accordance with federal law which provides that failure to answer can result in a $100 fine or 60 days in jail. What Rep. Betts proposes is that only the essential census questions—names, addresses, age, sex, race, head of household and visitors in the home at the time—be made mandatory and any others be asked on a voluntary basis. Betts says he sees no justification for the mandatory requirement that would force citizens to provide such information as:

Income, dollar by dollar, from all sources including public assistance, alimony, unemployment and disability insurance, pensions and investments. The value of property or amount of rent paid. Education, material, employment and military history. With whom bathroom and kitchen facilities are shared. A long list of household items including dishwasher, television, radios, automobiles and second home. Where each persons and his parents were born.

The purpose of the census is to count people. We hope the legislation by Betts and others to restrict the census questionnaire severely will gain the public support it needs to insure its passage. If it doesn't, many Americans will be in for a rude shock come spring of 1970. — Lawrenceville (Ga.) Gwynnett News.

APE ART

The Albuquerque, N.M. zoo had a problem. It seems the price of gorillas was going up, so the zoo bought three at a bargain price of $1,500. The trouble was, the zoo didn't really have the funds on hand to pay for them.

What do you suppose they did? They gave paint brushes to the gorillas and put them to work on abstract art paintings. The resulting canvasses appealed to local critics and one has already been sold for $1,000 to an Albuquerque businessman. Presumably, if they can find enough impressionable citizens, they will be able to pay for themselves and might even make a profit.

This little story, it seems to us, is a revealing commentary on both the ingenuity and skill of the director of the Albuquerque Zoo and the gullibility of the art-buying public today.—Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader.

PIRATE BAND CAMP HELD

By Debbie Haigood
and
Kaye Lauer

The Fighting Pirate Band left the band hall July 28 for a week's stay at Schriener Institute at Kerrville.

After running out of gas and having a flat tire, the three buses and one car arrived nine hours later. Immediately after unloading, the band assembled in front of Delaney Hall, where instructions were given concerning their stay.

Monday morning, and each morning thereafter, started for the band at approximately 6 o'clock. The time for marching and concert practice was divided into morning and evening sessions.

The morning consisted of two hours and 15 minutes of marching and an hour and 30 minutes of concert practice, followed by lunch and an hour and 45 minutes rest period.

The afternoon began with another hour and 30 minutes of concert practice followed by an hour and 30 minutes of swimming and recreation.

After supper, marching was resumed for two hours. Then films of different marching bands were shown by Mark Lang.

Two members of the band had to be rushed to the hospital because of injuries.

Robbie Segler, one of the twirlers, fell while doing a leap and cracked a bone in her foot.

Debra Jordan also was injured, when she slipped on a wet floor and broke her wrist.

Thursday night the upper classmen formed a double line and initiated the freshmen. This consisted of the freshmen walking slowly down the line while being covered with shaving cream, toothpaste, and various other things.

Also during the week, various pranks were played on everyone from freshmen on up to band directors and sponsors, who gladly returned pranks of their own.

On Thursday afternoon the band members voted for the person they thought was most outstanding during the week at camp.

The awards were presented after the films that evening with the following results: Third runner up; Carlos Lopez; second runner up, Kenneth LeBlanc (drum major); and the winner was Freddy Jackson, who was presented with a crown and scepter. The flute section was recognized as the most outstanding in body and horn carriage.

Early Friday morning, a tired but happy band left Kerrville for home. The band arrived safely home at about 4:30 p.m.

On arriving home, the band was greeted by a host of parents and a surprise from Dan L. Oliver. The surprise was a new top step to the porch of the band hall, which was painted green and white with the Pirate emblem in the middle and the inscription, "R.F.S. Pirate Band."

The band would like to thank their directors, Robert Massey and J. D. Lankart; their sponsors, Mrs. Robert Massey, Mrs. J. D. Lankart, Mrs. Marion Jeffers, Mrs. Verne Porter, and Norman McLead especially the Band Boosters Club for making it all possible.

From time to time in the coming year the band will be having various fund raising projects. They hope that the public will do their part so that the band can return to camp next year.

Band rehearsals are being held daily since the return of the band from band camp. Monday through Friday, 8:30-10:00 a.m.; 6:30-8:30 p.m.

No night rehearsals on Wednesday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Watkins and son, Jay, have returned from Ore City, Texas where they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Prothro this summer.

HIGHWAY USE TAX DUE BY SEPT. 3, 1968 ON TRUCKS, BUSES

Highway vehicle owners or operators must pay by Sept. 3, 1968, the Federal Use Tax on motor vehicles used on the public highways, says the Internal Revenue Service. Ordinarily, the deadline for payment of these taxes is Aug. 31 of every year; however, since Aug. 31 falls on a Saturday this year, and because the following Monday is Labor Day the deadline is set back to Tuesday Sept. 3.

This tax applies to most trucks and buses in operation in July of this year and covers the tax year beginning July 1.

IRS Form 2290, used to file the truck and/or bus return, gives a handy computation schedule. Taxable vehicles range all the way from two-axled trucks to three or four-axled truck-tractor combinations. The Government advises all truck and bus owners to closely read Form 2290 and see if they must pay this tax.

Besides the Sept. 3 filing date, truck and bus owners should also remember that any additional vehicles acquired after they have filed their 1968 return are subject to the highway use tax this year. In these cases a tax return must be filed by the last day of the month following the month the vehicles was put into operation.

Forms 2290, and a helpful booklet, Publication No. 349, are available free of charge at IRS offices.

Helpful Hints

By Danny Adams

WHAT, WHY, WHEN, WHERE are the fishing "W"s or perhaps we should say the fishing troubles. This week's column will be dedicated to the "whats" of fishing.

What to use, what not to use, what to do and what not to do are questions that have plagued fishermen since the invention of the rod and reel.

The question of what to use and what not to use has a simpler answer. Use the baits and lures that catch fish and do not use the ones that don't. However, this puts you into a new category which I will try to help you with.

The baits to use would be the natural bait which is available to the fish. This would be live shrimp. This bait is a natural food for fish. Live shrimp is good for clear water or muddy water, high or low tide or any other condition that you might be faced with. I personally prefer live shrimp for trout, dead shrimp for reds and drum and crabs for sheepshead.

The other type baits are used to a great extent are artificial baits. Please do not underestimate these baits because fish are caught on them.

Here again, certain colors are best for certain conditions. Here are a few tips which might help you catch a few more.

Use light colors such as white, yellow, pink and clear in good water or in the daytime. Use red, amber and the darker colors in muddy water but always remember, if they don't hit one color in about 15 minutes, switch to another color.

When using plastic worms I find it best to use two at one time. The best bet is to chase a white worm with a colored worm. Always keep an artificial bait moving. Do not let it stand dead in the water. Very few fish are caught on a still bait. This also holds true on live shrimp. Keep him moving.

A few of the people who were using the right bait, the right time and the right color this week are:

Tommy Conner from Austin caught a 7½ pound sheepshead using dead shrimp.

Bill Evans from San Antonio landed a 3½ pound redfish using dead shrimp.

G. O. Lenke and son Darrell from Victoria loaded up 45 trout and one flounder using artificial baits. They had one trout that tipped the scales at 5½ pounds. The colors were white and yellow this time.

Mrs. Julia Gammage from San Antonio finally wore down a 41 pound drum in 25 minutes. This fish was caught on dead shrimp.

These were just a few of the catches made at the Copano Causeway light pier, so come out and if you have any questions about fishing, just ask. The folks out there will be happy to give you any information they can about fishing.

Next week we will try to answer "WHY" fish act the way they do.

Here's the expert.

She's your telephone service representative. To many telephone users, she is the phone company.

She answers questions, provides personal number booklets, directories and duplicate bills. She helps you get new phones installed.

As a service representative, she has to be something of a lady executive, a bit of a diplomat and an expert in phone service.

And she is. She was hired from a select group of applicants and put through an extensive training program.

And she attends regular meetings to discuss customer service.

Next time you need help on a telephone problem, just call the telephone business office.

Your service representative will take it from there.

Comprehensive Plan Background

As a public service The Rockport Pilot will publish a series of articles on the comprehensive long-range plan which Harland Bartholomew and Associates are preparing for the city. This is the first of the series.

At the beginning of the firm's tentative report on the comprehensive plan is the following communication addressed to the City Council and the City Planning and Zoning Commission:

"In accordance with our agreement with the City of Rockport and the Texas Department of Health, we are pleased to submit the following draft report on the Comprehensive Plan.

"This report includes all major planning elements: economic base, population, land use, traffic and thoroughfares, the central area, public buildings, public utilities, parks and recreation, and regulatory measures.

"Instead of publishing this information in a series of draft reports, we have prepared 100 copies of the combined report. This will provide sufficient copies for review with citizens' advisory groups. After this report has been thoroughly evaluated at the local level, necessary modifications will be made, the capital budget and improvements program will be prepared, and the Preliminary Report will be submitted for review prior to final publication of the Comprehensive Plan.

"In the next few months the plan should be thoroughly reviewed and evaluated to determine how it will best serve the needs of the city. Significant proposals concerning storm drainage, recreation and zoning are directly related to the growing tourist-resort economy. The plan offers several bold steps which could lead to the development of a truly unique city.

"We gratefully acknowledge the assistance of all public officials, the staff of the city and the numerous private citizens who have assisted in the preparation of this report."

Under "Introduction," the report states:

"The preparation, adoption and implementation of a comprehensive plan for the city of Rockport is a major local undertaking. Basic economic aspects of the Rockport area indicate a most favorable future growth potential. The ability of local residents to capitalize on the available potential will determine the extent of future growth.

"Recent expansion in the tourist resort economy offers a substantial prospect for future growth in the community. Rapid urbanization is already taking place. The undertaking of a comprehensive planning program recognizes the potential which exists and reflects local concern for the future.

"The plan is designed to accomplish fundamental goals and objectives which deal with the physical, economic and social changes which are anticipated. The comprehensive planning program is primarily concerned with the preparation of a series of interrelated plans which deal with the physical aspects of the future city.

"Features of the plan are: land use, highways and major streets, the central business district, community facilities such as schools and parks, public utilities such as water, sewer and drainage facilities, and control measures such as zoning and subdivision regulations.

"The land use plan provides a basic framework for the future city showing the optimum arrangement of residential, commercial, industrial and public and semi-public areas. Other elements of the comprehensive plan are related to land use and population density.

"In order to adequately accommodate anticipated future growth, the planning area includes much of the northern portions of Live Oak Peninsula.

"The need for city planning has developed in direct response to the rapid urbanization which occurred in recent years. One hundred years ago the nation was predominately rural, but gradually the American population became concentrated in urban centers.

"In recent years this process has been more rapid in Texas than in other states, and the state now has more designated metropolitan areas than any state in the union.

"Corpus Christi, as the metropolitan center in the Coastal Bend region, has increased from approximately 5,000 persons in 1890 to more than 200,000 persons in 1968.

"Rockport, on the edge of this rapidly growing metropolitan area, is the center of a major recreation area and can anticipate an increasingly larger share of growth attracted into the metropolitan area. It is the edges of these major metropolitan areas that are growing most rapidly.

"Cities grow through the actions of a great many individuals, businesses and public agencies. Each individual enterprise, however, is interrelated with the others being affected by what has been built in the past and having a direct effect upon things to be built in the future.

"Growth often brings overcrowded streets and public facilities, deterioration in older business and residential areas, and a haphazard and unattractive pattern of urban expansion.

"The blessings of urbanization can be mixed unless there is a plan to guide and direct growth. Symptoms of undesirable urban conditions are found in Rockport, even though it is a relatively small community.

"Much of the area surrounding the city was platted and sold in lots long before there was a need for them and this has retarded growth in these areas. Problem housing areas were created prior to the adoption of good standards for construction.

"Scenic areas more suited for park and recreational use have been lost to other uses. The central business district is both unattractive and inefficient. In many ways the city reflects earlier standards which are no longer adequate to meet the needs of local residents and which no longer will attract new people into the community.

"Rockport need not continue to grow in a casual and haphazard manner. It is within the power of the community to determine what its future will be. Toward this end, the city has formed a planning and zoning commission which has as one of its major responsibilities the administration of the subdivision and zoning control measures.

"With the adoption and the implementation of the comprehensive plan, the city, its elected public officials and its citizens have basic guidelines required to direct private and public development within the community and its surrounding area.

"The work of the Coastal Bend Regional Planning Commission in the preparation of a long-range plan for the 12-county region is of great value to the development of the Rockport Plan. The city plan is based upon, coordinated with, and in essence is a more detailed development of this regional plan."

cate that with the relocation of the public library, the courthouse would be able to expand to the west into the existing library building. The library, during the planning period, should be expanded to about four times its present size. The city hall is located on an extremely small site which could be better utilized for commercial purposes.

By 1990, with an estimated population of about 18,000 persons, the city hall should have a total floor space of approximately 10,000 square feet, according to the planning report.

In addition, the existing fire station would be better located on the major street system providing direct access to various portions of the community in times of need.

The plan proposes to leave the post office in its present location on Market Street where the existing structure may be expanded as needed to serve the community.

A civic center is proposed to accommodate anticipated growth and the new buildings which would be required to serve the needs of the community. The civic center complex is proposed to the west of the resort center in the six block area between Liberty and Cornwall Streets from Church to Magnolia.

The proposed civic center would be developed as an interior space surrounded by the major public buildings. This open space would include the existing right-of-way of Live Oak Street which would be terminated from Cornwall to Liberty Street.

In this open space, walkways, an open plaza and fountains or reflecting pools could be established to create an attractive setting for the civic center complex.

A new city hall is proposed immediately to the east of the courthouse. This new building with about 10,000 square feet of floor space, would face the plaza.

To the south, a new city-county library is proposed at the southern end of the plaza. The library would face Live Oak Street to the south and the open plaza to the north. On the corner of Cornwall and Church Streets a new fire station would be built to provide access directly onto the major street system.

Flanking parking facilities would be located on the outer edges of the civic center site. A total of 250 parking spaces adjacent to the library and fire station.

At the north end of the complex. A third church is proposed within this area with flanking parking facilities located to the north.

Live Oak Street from the north would terminate at Liberty Street with a visual easement into the central plaza of the civic center. Mimosa Street would be vacated in the central portion of the plaza with the streets ending in cul-de-sacs in front of the church sites.

The existing tennis courts on Magnolia Street would be expanded to the north, affording recreational opportunities as a part of the civic center complex.

The objective of the civic center plan is to establish a compact arrangement of public building and facilities which would afford the public on opportunity to gain access to the services of government and a single location.

Inter-relationships between the courthouse, city hall and library would provide additional functional advantages to the staff of the city and county. In addition, an attractive grouping of public buildings would be established as a productive part of the central portion of the city.

Growth anticipated in the county will necessitate that all public buildings be expanded during the planning period. Existing sites are too small and the concept of a civic center holds a significant number of advantages which would make such a complex a considerable asset to the community.

Civic Center

Existing public buildings include the Aransas County Courthouse, County Library and Jail located on a one-block site between Live Oak and Church Streets from Mimosa to Concho Street. The total complex of county buildings includes approximately 28,000 square feet.

In addition, the City Hall, located on a triangular tract at the intersection of Broadway and Austin Streets has a total floor space of approximately 3,500 square feet.

Across from the City Hall, the Woman's Club building next to the Chamber of Commerce has a total area of about 3,500 square feet. In the southern and central portions of the business district, the U. S. Post Office and Rockport Fire Department are located on small sites. The Post Office has 4,500 square feet of floor space and the fire station has 2,000 square feet.

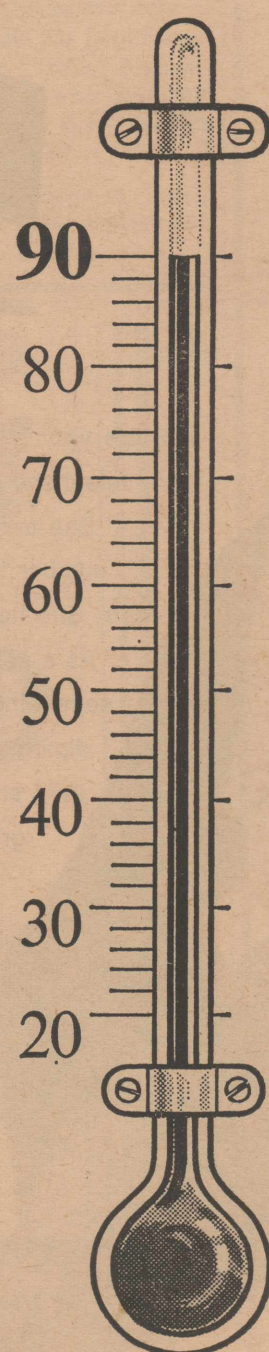

In evaluating these existing buildings to determine their ability to meet long-range needs of the community, deficiencies were identified in all buildings except the Courthouse. Long-range estimates of public building needs indi-

Two young women—Miss Grace Kerr of Glasgow, Scotland and Mrs. Mary Virginia Jacobs of Yoakum, Texas—who have been pen pals for 12 years, met for the first time a few days ago and vacationed this week at Palm Harbor, just south of here.

Mrs. Jacobs, 23, and Miss Kerr, 24, started their cross-Atlantic correspondence when Mrs. Jacobs was 11 and Miss Kerr was 12. The first letter actually was sent by Miss Kerr to Mrs. Jacobs' sister, whose name had been given to Miss Kerr in school as a prospective pen pal.

But as soon as Mrs. Jacobs' sister discovered that stamp collecting was Miss Kerr's main hobby, she asked Mary Virginia to take up the correspondence since Mary Virginia also was interested in stamp collecting.

At the start, the two pen pals wrote every two weeks but as the years rolled by they cut down their letter writing but even in recent years they wrote at least twice a year—at Christmas and during the summer.

As they got to know each other better through the mail, both girls often expressed a desire to meet someday, either in Scotland or the United States. Last November Miss Kerr wrote and said she had decided to fly to the United States.

Mrs. Jacobs and her husband made arrangements for Miss Kerr to fly from New York to San Antonio, where they met her. Since the girls had exchanged photos throughout the years, they knew each other instantly.

To entertain Miss Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Jacobs brought her to Rockport and also made plans to take her to HemisFair and the L.B.J. Ranch, AstroDome and Astroworld.

Miss Kerr, an accountant for a Glasgow engineering firm, brought with her the first letter she received from Mary Virginia Jacobs (then Mason) in September of 1956. Mrs. Jacobs and her husband hope to go to Scotland some day to visit Miss Kerr.

Miss Gloria Mareth of the main office of United Savings Association in Corpus Christi is helping out in the local office during the vacation period. She says, "I love Rockport and wish I could stay here."

NATURE TRAILS
 By
 CONNIE H. GARD

And now it's August. The famed south breeze is blowing each morning after 10 o'clock. That's when the state north of our coastline has gotten hot and it pulls the cool breeze in for us to enjoy.

The wet fall and spring have brought a rare display of the sacred lotus, famous in history, mythology, poetry and religion of Egypt. Out FM 881, just beyond the FM 1781 turn, on the right hand side of 881, is the spread of yellow blossoms.

It's the first time they have had moisture enough in 15 years to cause them the lotus, to germinate. They prefer artificial lakes, ponds and shallow muddy - bottomed bodies of water, not the bay.

Birds are starting to make the fall migration. Some will stop here for winter. Longbill curlews are building in number by the Woman's Club building and at the airport.

Scissortails will soon line the utility wires as they head south. Painted buntings won't be seen after August. Next spring I'll be looking for the first return in early April.

Roseate spoonbills are bringing the young white immature birds in from oyster reefs where they breed along the islands. The first return of the sparrow hawk and kingfisher birds will be this month.

Look, look, look!

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Caloway, Jr., and son Pat of Houston, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Caloway, Cr., at Copano Village.

Miss Carolyn Marie Woody Weds David Vavra, Saturday, In Dallas

Miss Carolyn Marie Woody became the bride of David Ralph Vavra in a Saturday afternoon ceremony in the Chapel of the Cross of Tyler Street Methodist Church in Dallas August 3 with Rev. Paul Morell officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Woody, Jr. of Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Vavra, of Fulton.

The altar of the chapel was decorated with spiral and cathedral candelabras using long white tapers and rounds of greenery.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a formal length empire waist gown with long sleeves of appliqued white Venice lace on silk or-gandy over white peau de soie. The skirt swept into a chapel train. Her finger tip three tiered veil fell from a cluster of silk organdy petals trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of Japheth orchids, white glameilla, and ivy.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Carol Davis, of Dallas. Bridesmaids were Miss Cindy Woody, sister of the bride and Miss Georgene Cowands, of Dallas. Flower girl was Miss Deborah Garrett of Dallas.

The bridesmaids wore formal length yellow nylon organza, similar to that of the bride, long sleeve and short trains in the back. They carried colonial garden arrangements using yellow, green and talisman colors.

Serving as best man was David Wilkins of Duncanville, Texas. Groomsmen were Leroy Vavra, brother of the groom of Fulton and Robert Oliver, of Dallas. Ring bearer was Mathew Swaney, of Dallas. Ushers were Phil Bell and Robert Oliver, of Dallas.

Danny McKee of Grand Saline, cousin of the groom sang and Miss Debbie Hoffmeister was the organist.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Woody chose a sheath dress of coral silk organza and lace over silk linen with a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother was attired in a two piece dress of toast colored daron and wore a corsage of white orchid.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Tyler Street Methodist Church Parlor. The bridal table was draped in organdy with a blue underskirt and pale blue over skirt. A silver punch service and silver candelabra enhanced the table. The tiered bridal cake had the traditional bride and groom figurine atop.

Serving in the house party were Miss Linda Barber, Miss Lynn Woody, cousin of the bride, Miss Becky Smith and Mrs. Eddie Elsborg of Dallas.

After a wedding trip to the HemisFair and various points on the Texas Coast, the couple will make their home at 3119 Pentagon Parkway in Dallas.

The bride is a graduate of
