

MORE WATER MEANS BETTER CROPS, MORE MONEY FOR COLLINGSWORTH

For the fourth week recently, The Wellington Leader has featured irrigation wells on the front page. And it's still news! The real story is that these wells have established there is water in irrigation quantities in three new areas of Collingsworth County. At left above is Ross Taylor of Dozier, driller, and C. W. Caison, owner of a well brought in at Rolla Saturday night. Previous wells in that area had been on the Ray Clubb farm and the

Much of Area Guar Can Be Salvaged, Growers Here Told

Optimism was sounded late last week for the guar crop in the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District after John Esser, manager of the guar plant for General

Mills, Inc., Kenedy, had inspected fields in the area.

The guar fields in the Salt Fork District are ready for combining right now, it was pointed out, and although the cotton harvest is in full swing, the guar bean harvest should be made as soon as possible to prevent any further damage from possible rain.

Not all of the crop can be sold for commercial processing due to blackening of the seed, but some of that not marketable will still be good to sell for seed. Much of that which goes in commercial channels will have to be cleaned prior to grading.

Mr. Esser and Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, visited approximately 20 fields in various parts of the district, and Mr. Esser then estimated that between 80 and 90 per cent of the bean production can be salvaged on the 8,000 to 10,000 acres planted.

This is not true for production in the area as a whole. The Vernon and Quanah sections, ordinarily heavy producers, are badly damaged, some of the crop beyond recovery for sale for commercial processing.

While Mr. Esser was cautious in his optimism, he did make this statement relative to the Salt Fork District crop:

"Judging from the condition of the fields at present, this county promises to offer the heaviest production of any county in the state."

General Mills, Inc., takes the entire marketable crop raised here through its agent, Singley Mill and Elevator.

"Wellington is relatively an exception in guar production, in that judging from the 20 fields visited northeast and southwest of town, at least 80 to 90 per cent of the bean production can be salvaged and probably in a majority of instances the combine run guar beans should be cleaned commercially prior to grading in order to obtain the best grading from the standpoint of quality," Mr. Esser said.

He strongly recommends that seed be cleaned.

"If beans are mouldy or black, we recommend that the farmer combine a little, say a pound and a half or two pounds, and take them to Singleys for a test."

There is a standard charge of 25¢ cwt for cleaning.

While it is difficult to estimate an average yield for the conservation area, it is estimated that

S. A. Koen, 61, Dies Monday Of Short Illness

S. A. Koen, 61, a resident of the county 45 years, and a widely known farmer living northwest of Wellington, died Tuesday, October 25, at 11:30 a. m., after a serious illness of about two weeks.

While some of his friends knew of his illness, many throughout the area were shocked at his passing.

A successful farmer of the area, Mr. Koen had devoted himself to his family, his neighbors and his friends, the Primitive Baptist, in which he had long been a leader.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at 2:30 in the First Baptist Church, with Elder Floyd Pittman of Vinson, Oklahoma, officiating.

Pall bearers were Buford Riley, Jack Colson, E. F. Bartlett, Dudley Phipps, Oral Bishop and J. I. Thomas.

Burial was in the West Wellington cemetery under the direction of the Kelo Funeral Home.

Sammie Albert Koen was born September 20, 1894, in Montague County, the son of the late Elder and Mrs. D. D. Koen. His father was a widely known as a minister of churches, and the family moved here in 1910.

Mr. Koen was married to Miss Mattie Miracle of Grandfield, Oklahoma, on May 4, 1920.

She survives him, as do three daughters, Mrs. Baker Scott of Tampa, Fla., Mrs. Gene Crutcher of Archer City; and Mrs. Harold Caldwell of Wellington. Other survivors are three sisters, Miss Ivy Koen of Wellington; Mrs. C. T. Burns of Alanreed; and Mrs. N. L. Martin of Shreveport, La.; and two brothers, W. R. Koen of Hale Center and M. G. Koen of Cathedral City, Calif. There are four grandchildren.

Four Tons of Millet Hay Per Acre

Harper Irrigated Combine Maize Produces in Recrod Quantity

John Harper has taken the first step that may put Wellington on the map as a production center of certified combine maize seed in the southwest.

With two plantings of cotton seed washed out on his farm three-quarters of a mile north of town this spring, Harper made his third planting of certified 7078 combine maize.

Passersby on highway 83 all summer watched a good crop of maize growing, but what they actually were seeing was a demonstration of irrigation farming vs. dryland farming, some of the work and care that goes into the production of any crop grown for seed production, and most of all, proof of what alfalfa can do for the land, for John Harper has been growing alfalfa 20 years.

Combine maize is only part of the Harper story, for a small acreage of millet planted for hay has produced at the rate of four and a half tons per acre.

Mr. Harper planted the maize

Texas Electric Award

Harriett Lowry 2nd In State 4-H Contest

Harriett Lowry, a dainty 15-year-old Lutie miss, who can help build an electric fence or repair the family's electric refrigerator, has been named state second place individual winner in the Texas 4-H Electric Awards Program.

The honor was a surprise when it was announced by Miss Katherine Potter, county home demonstration agent, at the recent county Farm Bureau Meeting. Harriett received a check for $30.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lowry of Lutie.

The program is sponsored by the Electric Service Companies of Texas, including the West Texas Utilities Co. This is the second year Harriett has won an individual award, for she placed third in the state last year.

"I guess I like electric projects best because I like to do things out of doors," she said.

Harriett described her fence building.

"I helped Daddy build two, each one about three quarters of a mile long," she said, talking in terms of fastening insulators on posts and attaching wire to insulators. "It's real easy!" she declared gaily.

Electric, as it is referred to in 4-H work, has been Harriett's choice for one club project this year. She attended the District

Rockets Return To Home Field For McLean Game

The Wellington Skyrockets come up against another fine team Friday night, October 28, in the McLean Tigers, this time on Powell Field.

Coach John Hurley, who saw them play their first game against Shamrock, considered them impressive in their ball handling and movement then, although they were still young and rather green.

"I felt then they just needed three of four games under their belt to be a fine ball club," Hurley commented.

The Tigers have had some good games to their credit. Although they have been on the little end of most of the scores, each week the margin has narrowed down.

Coaches Hurley and Frank Lindsey, as well as the Rockets, consider that the Tigers have the type of ball club it will take to beat them.

McLean runs off the singel wing formation, and the coaches feel

Two More Buses Per Day Double Facilities Here

Bus facilities into and out of Wellington have been doubled by the addition of two buses daily. Wayne Peery, owner of the Cap Rock Bus Line, announced here this week.

One additional bus is operating each way, with a northbound bus now arriving at 7:25 p. m., and a southbound bus at 9:20 p. m. The other buses will continue arriving at the usual time, the north-bound bus at 8:10 p. m. and the south-bound bus at 9:20 a. m.

The local Cap Rock Office is located in the Hotel Wellington, with Mrs. Sam Hollingsworth in charge.

"We have added the extra bus each way in order to serve the people of Wellington and other towns better, at a busy time," Mr. Peery said, adding there will have to be more business if they are to continue for any length of time. Wellington people interested in better transportation can help tremendously by buying their long distance travel tickets and round trip tickets at the Wellington office instead of driving to Childress or Shamrock for them, it was pointed out.

Caprock now makes good connections with major lines going both east and west, as well as farther north and south.

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor:

I see where Mr. Adlai Stevenson, the regenerated candidate for President, says that Texas people cheated themselves by hollering to get their tidelands back after the Federal government had swiped same.

Seems that Mr. Stephenson figures the State would have got more money out of this property with the Federals in charge of it.

My practical neighbor questioned this point for three straight coffee breaks this morning. Claims he never heard of anybody getting rich by letting himself be pushed around.

Johnson Pontiac Introduces 1956 Series at Showing Friday

The new 1956 Pontiac models which go on display in dealers' showrooms Friday (October 21), introduce a General Motors "first", a completely new Hydra-Matic transmission. Called Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic by Pontiac engineers, the new transmission is designed to provide smoother, quieter shifting of gears.

The Pontiac Strato-Streak V-8 engine, introduced last year, is larger in 1956 with horsepower upped to 227 in the Star Chief and 205 in the 870 and 860 series. Fifteen new body styles, longer by 2.4 inches, include six "hardtop" Catalinas, three of them four-door and three two-door. "Hardtop" models are available in all three series, the Star Chief, 870 and 860.

There is a choice of 57 new colors in "Vogue" two-toning or solid colors. Interiors utilize new fabrics and leather in a wide range of colors.

"Pontiac is proud to be the first to introduce a big and vital General Motors first—Pontiac's new Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic transmission", R. M. Critchfield, General Motors Vice-President and General Manager of Pontiac Motor Division, said today. "In over two million test miles this revolutionary transmission system demonstrated smooth, effortless shifting. This new Strato-Flight Hydra-Matic transmission combined with Pontiac's more powerful V-8 engine will give Pontiac owners a new experience in positive efficient performance. There is no interruption in transmitting power to the rear wheels and gear action is barely noticeable. This positive action insures unhampered acceleration for quick, safe maneuvering.

"The longer and lower look of Pontiac's new body styles combine with big-car riding comfort in the new series," Critchfield pointed out. "The rich colors of Pontiac Vogue two-tones are picked up in the luxurious interiors. Exciting new fabrics are colorful with durability, cleanability and slideability."

Foremost among the mechanical improvements in the 1956 Pontiacs are the new Strato-Streak V-8 engines—bigger and sturdier than ever and upped in horsepower to 227 in the Star Chief series and 205 in the 870 and 860 series. The upsurge in horsepower comes from the increased displacement, higher compression ratios up to 8.9:1, and improved carburetion.

Pontiac offers three Strato-Streak body series in 1956. Longer by 2.4 inches overall, the 15 new body styles have a longer, lower silhouette.

Most luxurious of the three series, the Star Chief line consists of the custom Catalina two and four-door "hardtops", four-door sedan, and convertible, on a 124-inch wheelbase and the Safari Station Wagon on 122-inch wheelbase.

In Pontiac's middle-priced 870 series with 122-inch wheelbase are the Catalina two and four-door "hardtops", a four-door sedan, a two-door two-seat station wagon and four-door three-seat station wagon.

Comprising the low priced 860 series are the Catalina coupes and sedans, two and four-door sedans, two-door two-seat station wagons and four-door three-seat station wagons.

Newly designed for increased cargo space, the Pontiac two-seat station wagons have a folding seat with the back-rest and the cushion folding into the floor. In the three-seat wagons, both the back seat and center seat fold into the floor with a split seat arrangement on the middle seat so that one-third or two-thirds of the seat can remain in place for passengers.

Front-end styling is similar on all three series. A brilliant wrap-around bumper of sturdy, chrome-plated steel protects the entire front end of the car. The cleanly integrated front bumper and grille give the car a spirited, powerful look. Bomb type bumper guards and air-scoop cresscents above the headlamps add to the fleet appearance of the car. Tea headlamp visors match the color of the front fenders.

The Pontiac Silver Streaks are one of the most distinctive styling features in the automobile industry. They flow from the grille, back across the hood to the windshield and are depressed into the hood on each side of the new hood ornament. The slots between the Silver Streaks blend with the color of the hood.

Delegates to State Convention Named

Farm Bureau Members Approve 23 Resolutions in Meeting here

Delegates from the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau to the state convention in Fort Worth early next month were announced this week by local office, along with committees named by President Wallace O'Rear to serve during the coming year.

Delegates are Mr. O'Rear, John Coffee, W. R. Coleman, Bill Knoll, E. W. Anglin and Dudley Phipps. Alternates are Cecil Shanks, Ernest Tate, W. R. Breeding, Lewis Morris, Gus Gooch and Jim Jones.

Heading the membership committee is Mr. Gooch, while members are Mr. Knoll, Louis Patterson, Mr. Coffee, J. B. Wade, W. R. Breeding, L. A. Davis, Gilroy Rummel and Hubert Mauldin.

On the service committee are Jim Jones, Woodrow Wilson, Z. U. Neeley and Mr. Tate.

Auditing committee members are Mr. Coffee, chairman, Mr. Patterson and Mrs. Phipps.

Mr. Shanks has been named publicity chairman.

Members of the legislative and resolutions committee will be announced later, according to Ruel Alexander, service officer.

Given below are the resolutions passed at the annual meeting of the county unit October 15. All those pertaining to issues on a state or national level will be presented at the state convention.

Chairman of the resolutions committee was P. E. Starr, while the members were W. R. Breeding, and B. W. Beard.

The resolutions as they were passed are:

No. 1: that the final cotton acreage of 1954 be used as the key year for allotting future acreage on equal percentage basis per farm.

No. 2: That cotton be permitted to be planted in strips as narrow as two rows in and two rows out and be counted one-half cotton acres.

No. 3: That trends of policies in allocating cotton acreage which tend to favor new areas be discontinued.

No. 4: That State ad-valorem taxes not be used in developing water districts in the state of Texas, but rather to be financed by water users only.

No. 5: It has been called to our attention that our state has become a dumping ground for all types of eggs, therefore, we reaffirm the position of the Texas Farm Bureau concerning an egg grading law which reads as follows:

"We recommend that emphasis be placed on a labeling law rather than strict U. S. Consumer grades on cartoned eggs, with the quality and weight of the eggs to be declared on the label by the final packaging agent, along with his name and address."

We urge that more vigorous action be taken by the Texas Farm Bureau to secure this legislation.

Furthermore, we recommend that when this law is passed that it be amended to require that all eggs entering Texas from other states must be labeled as to quality, weight and size and that all cold storage eggs be so labeled.

No. 6: That feed laws analysis be amended to show digestible percentage rather than crude percentage of composition. We further resolve that a necessary tax be levied on processed feeds to cover inspection and enforcement.

No. 7: That pickups having farm tags be used for family use.

No. 8: That speed limits for pickups be the same as for cars.

No. 9: That gasoline tax used for farm purposes be refunded.

No. 10: That the Commissioner of Education be elected by a majority vote of the people.

No. 11: That all farm organizations band together for the mutual aim of promoting the sale, marketing and distribution of all farm products.

No. 12: That the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau go on record as opposing federal aid to education, except National School lunch program and urge this be continued.

No. 13: That on Government loan cotton, an effort be made to provide market grades for light spot cotton.

No. 14: The Secretary of Agriculture is held responsible for the administration of the National farm program. He would carry out his responsibility more equitably and effectively if the law was changed to permit the farmers of each state to elect their state committeemen (ASC) rather than being appointed by the Secretary. We recommend that this be done.

No. 15: 45 of the 48 states have approved, by legislation, an exemption from the state gasoline tax for non-highway used gasoline as a major farm production supply item, this should also be applied to the present 2 cent federal gasoline tax and any future increase thereof. We urge that State and National farm organization to work to secure these refunds.

No. 16: Independent truckers assume the major burden of getting farm products and livestock to market. They are exempt from ICC regulations while hauling farm products, but are prohibited from carrying a return pay load of other than farm products without an ICC permit. There, the usual practice is to "trip lease" their truck to a regular truck common carrier and thus are able to carry a return pay load and take up some of the slack in the peak loads and seasonal movements of the common carriers. This "trip leasing" practice is a definite benefit to farmers and should be allowed to be continued without regulation by the ICC in so far as the independent trucker is concerned.

No. 17: Whereas there exists an organization known as "The United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization" which has as one of its purposes a world government, and the submission of all countries to this one world government, and whereas under such an organization the sovereignty of the United States of America would be lost.

Therefore be it resolved that the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau of Texas is directly opposed to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and its teachings.

No. 18: We reaffirm the position of the Texas Farm Bureau concerning peanuts which reads as follows:

Peanuts should not be removed from the list of basic crops. The oil stock peanut program should be opposed. Government grading of peanuts should be done in a manner fair and equitable to both the producer and the purchaser.

No. 19: We reaffirm the position of the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau against a sliding scale system of supports and urge that all basic crops be supported at 90 per cent of parity as long as acreage control is used to keep supply in line with need.

No. 20: We reaffirm the position of the Texas Farm Bureau concerning Foreign Trade which reads as follows: "We favor reciprocal trade agreements with foreign nations to dispose of our agricultural products."

"We favor acceptance of foreign currencies in payment of exports and that this money be used in purchasing strategic and other materials, and in meeting the obligations of the U. S. Government incurred by our Army, Navy and defense organizations overseas."

"We recommend that if and when the USA sends aid to foreign countries, that it be food and fiber. We urge the disposal of the CCC stocks through this aid when possible, and the enactment of legislation permitting such disposal where feasible."

No. 21: Whereas, when public Law No. 550 was passed, they put a clause in this law which pertains to a veteran taking on-the-farm training which causes his subsistence check to be cut every four months. The Korean veteran in our opinion is being discriminated against. He is not receiving near the subsistence as the World War II student did under Public Law No. 346 after paying out tuition from his check every month.

And whereas there are many men now being drafted into service and many volunteering and entering the army because they know they will be drafted if they do not volunteer we, the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau, go on record as recommending that these men now going into service, and as long as our country drafts men in to service, that they be allowed and have the same privileges as the veteran under Public Law No. 550.

Therefore, be it resolved that the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau does go on record as recommending that this law be changed so that the Public Law No. 550 student subsistence pay for on the farm training from the beginning of his entrance into school will remain the same throughout his three years of training or what ever length of training he is eligible for. This subsistence pay will consider his dependants as the law now provides and be made retroactive.

LAST STRAW DOESN'T SHOW—L. D. Wilson, shown reloading all this hay on his truck, thought he had found the last straw once the mess, caused by one broken bale, was cleared from this Topeka, Kan., street. He was wrong. Tiny Denise Dawson Knows Her Automobiles When She Sees Them

Cars, real ones, and not dolls are the chief interest of three-year-old Denise Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Dawson of Lakewood, California, her grandmother, Mrs. O. N. Hightower of Dodson, revealed this week.

Denise, who visited here earlier in the summer, can identify by name any make of car, both American and foreign, she has ever seen before, as well as the makes of most trucks. She also knows if they are a late or old model.

"She spends hours in the front yard watching the cars go by," Mrs. Hightower said.

Denise's interest in cars surprised her parents, when at the age of a year and a half, she learned the name and make, of Mrs. Hightower's car. But they were most surprised when her interest became so keen.

Sometimes her precocious knowledge is a little embarrassing, as the time when the family had guests and little Denise said in her clear voice, "Daddy, they're in an old Buick."

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson have lived in California seven years. She is the former J'Nell Hightower. Mr. Dawson's father, Gene Dawson, lives at Bellflower, Calif.

Delores Ward Becomes Bride of Earl Patterson in Fort Worth Ceremony

Quiet but impressive rites spoken Friday, October 21, at one o'clock in the afternoon, united Miss Delores Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ward, and Earl Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Patterson of the Buck Creek community.

The wedding took place in the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, the Rev. and Mrs. John Henry Ward of Fort Worth. Rev. Ward officiating the double ring ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride chose a dress of iridescent gold-with-blue crystal acetate silk, designed with a fitted bodice and long waistline. Narrow binding of the material outlined the bodice panel, extending from the squared neckline to a point at the waist. The tiny sleeves were gathered up with tucks and accented with tiny bows, while the full gathered skirt was street length. She wore a rhinestone pen at the hipline, matching her rhinestone necklace and ear clips. The bride's white pillbox hat was outlined in leaves of the material, touched with iridescent sequins and accented with a nose veil. She wore short white gloves and carried a bouquet of white roses atop a white Bible.

Present for the ceremony were the bride's sister, Miss Vera Ward, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. John Henry Ward.

Following the ceremony, the couple left for a short wedding trip, and upon returning, they will establish their home at 604 9th street.

The bride, who grew up here, graduated from Wellington high school in 1954, after having been active in many school affairs. For the past year and a half, she has been with The Wellington Leader.

The groom, also reared here, attended Wellington schools and graduated from Quail high school in 1949. He served in the Marine Corps and is now engaged in farming in the Buck Creek community.

Mrs. John Coleman Directs Legion Auxiliary in Year's Activities

A membership drive and preparation for Poppy Day November 11 are two of the programs the Auxiliary of the American Legion is carrying out in the early part of its current year, under the direction of Mrs. John Coleman, president.

While the Auxiliary of the Legion is one of the most familiar of the women's service organizations, there are still many phases of its work and its aims which are not well known to the general public, Mrs. Coleman pointed out.

Helping her to carry out her program this week are Mrs. Herman Childress, vice president; Mrs. Riley Dunson, sergeant at arms; Mrs. Mae Hix, chaplain; and Mrs. John Bevers, poppy and finance chairman.

In explaining the functions of the organization, Mrs. Coleman said:

For every man in World War I who endured the dangers and hardships of camp, ship and battlefield, there was a woman serving at home to help make possible America's victory.

After the war had been won the men of the armed forces had banded together in The American Legion to carry forward their services to country and to prevent the security and freedom of America from being lost in the peace, it was only natural that the women of their families should desire to continue to serve with them. The result of this desire is the American Legion Auxiliary, the largest and most influential organization of women in the United States today.

The American Legion Auxiliary was formed for the purpose of aiding the American Legion in carrying out the great program of peacetime service to America to which the legion is dedicated. All of its activities are resigned to promote the work of the Legion and to help the Legion reach its objectives. Although often working independently on projects of pose that are apart from the aims of the Legion. It is in every sense an "Auxiliary" to The American Legion and its members serve side by side with the men of the Legion in a spirit of unselfish devotion to the well-being of the American republic.

One of the major activities of the Auxiliary is the great task of caring for the disablement veterans of the World War I and II, who are still hospitalized, and assisting thousands of their veterans to regain a place in civil life.

The Auxiliary is not a social organization but an organization of service to help the Veteran and his family who truly need help.

Zook Thomas and C. W. Caison Have Producers

Two Wells Introduce Irrigation In New Sections of Collingsworth County

Two more irrigation wells, both south of Salt Fork, have opened two new areas to irrigation in Collingsworth County.

Zook Thomas has brought in a well in the Lillie community northwest of Wellington that test pumped 762 gallons per minute over a 60 hour period.

Saturday night, C. W. Caison brought in a well on his farm at Rolla, southwest of town that pumped almost as much in an 18 hour test. Caison is one of the few farmers in the county with wells that has had previous experience with irrigation. He operated three 8-inch wells for a period of three years on his land at Hereford.

The Thomas well was drilled by Carter Drilling Company to a depth of 140 feet, with water rising to within 50 feet of the top of the ground. The test pumping began at 8 a. m., Friday morning and continued until 9 a. m. Sunday, was resumed at 1:30 and continued until 11 p. m.

The water was struck in water sand and fine gravel, with 60 feet of water bearing formation. A six-inch pump is on the well now. Thomas drilled four test holes, located by city manager Bura Handley, and all appeared about equally good. Thomas drilled the well in the center of the area tested.

"It's the only place in the county we have run into where you can put the well where you want it," Elmer Carter declared.

Mrs. Caldwell On District Program

Mrs. Charles Caldwell, president of the Wellington Music Club, was on the program of the annual meeting of the 7th District of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs in Spur Friday, October 21.

She gave the response to the welcome address of Mayor Walter Gruben and later in the meeting reported the activities of the Wellington Club.

The well was gravel-packed with between 12 and 15 yards of gravel. Thomas and Carter explained in using this method, a 17 1/2 inch hole was dug and 12 inch casing used. Gravel was then poured around the outside of the casing to filter sand out of the water. The bottom 37 feet of pipe is perforated.

Thomas feels he can irrigate about a quarter section form the well, since it is sandy and won't require as much moisture as tighter land. He stopped in the discussion of his own plans to point out that sandy soil of his area must be built up, and irrigation will provide the moisture for those crops to build the soil. Next year he will irrigate cotton, alfalfa, sand love and blue panic grass. But this winter he will plant and irrigate Austrian winter peas in rye, irrigate them, plow them under and follow up with cotton.

The Caison well was drilled by Ross Taylor of Dozier, and water

Gulf's New Super-Refined GAS-OIL TEAM

...for more miles per gallon

Gulf No-Nox burns clean. Here's proof: Note the black deposit, on plate at left, caused by the "dirty-burning tail-end" of gasoline—the part which Gulf refines out in making new NO-NOX. But see how clean new NO-NOX leaves the plate at right.

Prove it in your own car. Now see for yourself how New Super-Refined Gulf NO-NOX can give you the best in motor performance and protection . . . plus more miles per gallon in the kind of short-trip, stop-and-go driving you do most.

...for more miles per quart

Gulfpride Select works clean. Here's why: Most conventional oils are refined only up to the stage shown in Graduate A. Gulfpride Select is further refined by the Alchor Process, removing up to 15% more of the carbon-formers shown in Graduate B. Graduate C contains the new super-refined oil.

Prove it in your own car. This new oil can give you more miles per quart because it has natural viscosity (body)—contains no artificial thickeners that break down in service. Use it with new NO-NOX to get thousands of extra miles of new-car performance and new-engine economy.

REMEMBER: No gasoline alone can give you today's finest performance. . . no oil alone can give you today's finest protection. Get the super-power Gas-Oil Team...

Editorial Comment — The Wellington Leader

Basis for Rejection

Whether the booklet prepared by Texas Legionnaires . . . in refutation of the Murphy Report on UNESCO . . . helped or not, the American Legion by overwhelming vote rejected the Murphy Report and called for abolishment of the United States National Commission for UNESCO in its Miami meeting last week.

Granted that the American Legion is slightly prejudiced for national survival—most members having fought on dangerous battle-field for same—you must admit that even if they believed in immediate world government, they would have the right to reject a plan for 6-volume world history planned by UNESCO.

There are two sound reasons for such rejection. The first is the set of authors chosen to write the history under the aegis of the UNESCO; the other is that Soviet Russia has agreed to help write the history. The stickler in that last sentence is that the FIRST time Russia and its Eastern European allies ever attended a meeting of the UNESCO was when the conference on writing a world history was held in 1954. They REQUESTED to be allowed to participate in the writing and the editing. One somehow never quite trusts these sudden about-faces of Russia. The question lingers: What do they expect to get out of this one, since they wouldn't cooperate in other projects?

As to the set of authors, chosen as leaders have been Julian Huxley, Bertrand, A. L. Kroeber and Ralph Turner.

Huxley has proudly admitted: "The history is not an exact science. No advance of natural science — has brought us to a stage at which God is no longer a useful hypothesis. A faint trace of God still broods over our world like a smile of a cosmic Cheshire cat. But the growth of knowledge will rub even that from the universe. I do not believe in the existence of a God or Gods. . . ."

Dr. Turner's teaching record includes some trouble at the University of Pittsburgh for participating in local Communist agitation. A former Yale honor student, W. P. Buckley, who knew the Yale professor well, describes Turner as " . . . a professional debunker, a dedicated iconoclast who has little mercy for God, or on those who believe in Him, and little respect for the values that most undergraduates have been brought up to respect. . . ."

Bertrand Russell always has been outspoken about his beliefs. The Legion booklet quotes these (but you can find better in any piece of Russell's writing you pick up!): "I say quite deliberately that the Christian religion, as organized in its churches, has been and still is the principal enemy of moral progress in the world. . . . My view is that the State and the Law should take no notice of sexual relations apart from children, and that no marriage ceremony should be valid unless accompanied by a medical certificate of the woman's pregnancy. . . . There is no hope in anything but the Sovieta Way."

"Now, a man's personal beliefs on God and marriage need not influence his scientific research, that is, if he is a nuclear physicist. But unfortunately historian from Herodotus to H. G. Wells has been able to escape his own personal 'frame of reference.' Off-hand we'd trust Arnold Toynbee to do a better job on world history single-handed than Huxley, Russell and Turner working together."

Skyrockets Win Fifth Conference Game Fri.

Wellington's embattled line and an alert backfield took advantage of the breaks to defeat a highly regarded Clarendon eleven on the Bronchos home field last Friday night by a score of 18 to 7. The victory elates the Rockets, who were rated in the second division at the beginning of the season, tied with Stinnett for first place in the District 1A race.

A hard charging Rocket line proved to be the main difference in the two hard-playing and well coached teams with Wellington showing an astonishing 230 net yards rushing to only 82 for the Bronchos. However, Clarendon was superior in the air, completing 7 passes for 117 yards, while the Rockets completed two for a total gain of only 12 yards. The two teams were even on first downs with each making 12.

The two teams fought through the first quarter without scoring. The Skyrockets first drive was started when McNabb recovered a Broncho fumble on Wellingtons own 40 yard line. Behind excellent blocking, the Rocket backs drove goalward and Don Crawford carried it across from the 3 yard line after the Rockets had advanced steadily down the field with Ford, Jameson, Crawford and Wilkins carrying. The try for conversion was not good as were none of the other tries for the extra point.

Crawford had a particularly good night, for he later intercepted a Broncho pass that halted a Clarendon drive which the Rockets turned into a touchdown drive. He and Ted Stansbury both play on defense and alternate in the fullback position on offense.

The second Skyrocket touchdown came a few minutes before the end of the first half. Well-ton gained possession after K. W. Warren recovered a Clarendon fumble, and Pat Wilkins handled the ball neatly as Jameson, Ford, and Stansbury did the running behind sharp blocking that resembled the Memphis game more than some that were played before the Clarendon game. Don Scott was particularly effective as he did the blocking on the series of belly plays which enabled Jameson to make sizeable yardage. In fact all of the Don's turned in a fine performance.

Wellington's third touchdown came about midway in the third period when McNabb recovered a Clarendon fumble on the Clarendon 20 yard line. Warner Ford set up the touchdown when he made one of his elusive runs for about 15 yards and later Stansbury carried it over straight through the line.

Clarendon struckback quickly in the same quarter with some very fine passing on the part of John Payne and scored from the three yard line with Robert Mills carrying it over for the touchdown.

The whole Wellington line was outstanding in this game, but R. W. Warren and Earnest McNabb were especially good on the defensive department.

This Friday the Rockets will meet McLean on Powell Field and after that they will go to Panhandle. The last two games against Lefors and Stinnett will be played in Wellington.

Commissioner Sets Out Requirements

Veterans Land Program Again In Operation After Oct. 31

Earl Rudder, Commissioner of the General Land office, announced from Austin that the veterans' land board would accept requests for application forms to purchase land through the veteran's land program beginning October 31, 1955, according to a release received by Paul Spilman, a member of the American Legion Veteran Land Board Committee, and 18th District American Legion Commander. Rudder stressed that all requests must be by mail. Requests received before October 31, 1955, will not be honored, and will be returned.

Rudder continued that the requests received the five-day period of the first week, beginning Monday, October 31, will be placed in a locker box, and then be drawn and numbered. A limited number will be mailed application forms immediately. The remainder will be notified of their relative position. After that first week, requests for application forms will be numbered consecutively as received.

Rudder cautioned veterans on the following matters: (1) Old application forms will not be honored since entirely new forms have been written under the amended veterans land act. These application forms can be obtained by written request to the Veterans' Land Board only.

(2) The Veterans should not send checks or cash with the request for application forms.

(3) The Veterans request must clearly set out his mailing address.

(4) The Veterans should have the tract selected which he wishes to purchase before requesting application forms, as veterans will have only 30 days from the date the forms are mailed from the Veterans' Land Board to complete and return them.

Rudder concluded his announcement saying, "This system which we will use is designed to eliminate accumulation of paper work, enable the veteran and seller to conduct their business promptly, and to secure efficient utilization of the Veterans' Land Board personnel."

explanation by saying that the principal products of the mills are guar gum and guar flour. This latter, made into a liquid solution, is used in many products, and it is the reaction of this guar solution on the other elements that gives it its value.

"Black seed—even plump black seed—result in a severely speckled product that is not salable, along with a lower viscosity of the end product in solution to the point where it is unacceptable to industries using the product," he said.

Mr. Esser urged the continued production of guar in the Salt Fork District.

"General Mills needs every pound of guar seed suitable for commercial processing," he declared.

"You will not only benefit from guar by the seed you sell, but will get even more benefit next year in the added fertility to your soil. In the fields we visited today, we found that where guar hits that old hard pan, it burrows through."

He stressed a conversation with one grower:

"Farmers shouldn't quit guar because we've had a bad season. After all, we don't quit cotton just because we've had a poor crop!"

ROCKET B TEAM LOSES HARD FOUGHT 18 TO 12 TO QUANAH

The Skyrocket B team lost a hard-fought game 18 to 12 to the Quanah B Indians Thursday, October 13, at Powell Field.

A few minutes later, Quanah scored, then Gibson ran over the second score from 20 yards out.

Quanah scored twice more, and the touchdown that spelled out their win came when a 15 yard penalty against the Wellington boys put them in scoring territory.

They Do It the Commercial Way

FFA Profits on Hogs In Face of Low Prices

By Don Wheeler

The Wellington F. F. A. has a hog project going on this year. The chapter sold their first bunch of hogs October 24, at the Wellington Livestock Commission. The hogs averaged 142 pounds. When the chapter purchased them and cost $22.72 each. When they sold them they brought 235 pounds and brought $34.08 each. They were bought September 8, 1955 and were sold October 24, 1955. This was $11.36 a head, more than cost. The hogs were fed about 350 pounds of grain and 50 pounds of supplement each.

Grain was bought off the farm at $1.35 a hundred, supplement was bought from Singleys Mill and Warricks Mill at commercial prices at $6.00 per hundred lbs. Making a total feed cost of about $6.88 per hog. This leaves a profit of about $5.68 a head.

They were sold for $14.50 per hundred pounds. This is low hog prices but they still had a profit of about $5.00 on sixteen head.

To finance this project money was borrowed from the Production Credit Association in Wellington. The success of this project is due to the fact that the boys only fed those hogs 51 days and got 93 pounds gain per hog. That is an average of 1.8 pounds a day and 1.5 pounds per day is considered excellent.

The boys received much benefit as well as profit. The importance of a balanced ration was clearly demonstrated and they had experience in financing as well as marketing. This is only the first phase of this project because they plan to continue even in the face of low hog prices.

Harper—

As the irrigated crop grew off, and its potential production for seed became apparent, the field was inspected twice by representatives of the State Department of Agriculture to assure its fitness and freedom from any sort of contamination.

The entire irrigated crop was contracted to Warrick Seed Store, which will clean and sack the seed and resell it to local farmers.

"The maize was grown on land that was in cotton last year," Harper said. "I had planted it in alfalfa in the fall of 1946, but a year or two back, it began to run out and I plowed it up in the spring of 1954 and planted cotton."

But there was still another field on the farm. Harper had a four acre tract of alfalfa which he plowed up this spring and planted to the same variety of maize. That tract produced 3,550 pounds of grain per acre. That's nearly 200 pounds of grain per acre lost through one year of cotton production.

Discussing his millet crop, Harper remarked, "I had more hay than I had a place to put it."

He had planted three acres to millet June 24 at the rate of 14 pounds per acre, and 56 days later he cut 8,890 pounds of hay per acre. Although good rains had fallen last spring, he had put 5 inches of water on the land before he planted the millet seed, then he watered it three times with an inch and a half watering. It was fertilized with 160 pounds of 12-24-12 per acre.

A small amount of the hay was sold at the rate of $25 per ton, about the same price alfalfa hay is bringing currently. The rest he put up for stock feed.

"Millet is good cattle feed but not as rich in protein as alfalfa," Harper explained.

With this remarkable success at growing certified maize seed, is John Harper going back into maize production next year?

"No sir!" he replies. "I've already got my irrigated land sowed to registered Buffalo alfalfa, one of the three improved varieties." Old alfalfa hand that he is, Harper will produce certified alfalfa seed, which in the improved varieties this year is bringing 45 cents per pound compared to 20 cents a pound for the common varieties.

The pioneer villages of Boston and Philadelphia both had printing presses before they were permitted in such English cities as Liverpool and Birmingham.
