FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 7 (AP)—Walter Manley, Bronx painter, testified for the defense today that Bruno Richard Hauptmann was in a Bronx bakery at about 7 o'clock the night the Lindbergh baby was kidnapped.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 7 (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's defense today pursued a hint of "framed" evidence with an expert who in the face of photographs and government reports, that three incriminating nail holes in the Lindbergh kidnap ladder were not in existence when he examined it.

This witness was Dr. E. M. Hudson, a New York physician and amateur fingerprint man. He clung to his testimony the famed "rail 16"—a part of the kidnap ladder which the state charges came from Hauptmann's attic and fitted here—had only one square nail hole when he saw it on March 13, 1932, thirteen days after baby Charles A. Lindbergh Jr. was kidnapped and slain.

The rail, in evidence, has four nail holes which state experts and police said fitted with nail holes in the joists of Hauptmann's attic.

Reputation Not Good.

The defense also sought to weaken the identification of Hauptmann as a man seen lurking near the Lindbergh home before the crime by calling William Whitehead to say that the reputation of his relative, William Whitehead, for veracity was "not good."

The two men do not spell their names the same way. Whitehead testified for the state, placing Hauptmann near the crime scene.

William Whitehead, another resident of the Sourland Hills, followed as to Whitehead's reputation for veracity, he said:

"Taint any good."

George E. Lenz also said "not good" as to Whitehead's veracity.

The state, in cross-examination of the three Sourland men, brought out that Whitehead had been in jail, that Lenz had trouble with Whitehead over a lumber bill, and that Diehl had signed a statement to the effect that he had not discussed Whitehead's reputation for veracity. Diehl explained he could not read the statement he signed.

Mrs. Augusta Hille, mother-in-law of Gerta Henkel who testified yesterday, said the dead Isador Fisch, who is accused by the defense as the receiver of the ransom money, borrowed $4,250 from her and never paid it back. Fisch died in Germany, Karl Henkel, Gerta's husband, testified he had known Fisch since 1932; also that he had never felt there was anything improper between Hauptmann and his wife, Gerta.

It had been testified Hauptmann frequently drank coffee with Mrs. Henkel at her home in the mornings while his own wife was visiting in Germany.

Fisch was a former business partner of Hauptmann's and it was from him, Hauptmann claimed, that $14,000 ransom money found in the Hauptmann garage came.

Uhlis Testifies.
Henry Uhlis, mutual friend of the two men, described by him as "Fisch's best friend," was on the stand just long enough to testify

Resolution To Probe A. T. And T. Authorized

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—A resolution authorizing an investigation of the American Telephone & Telegraph company by the federal communications commission was approved today by the house interstate commerce committee.

The measure, by Committee Chairman Rayburn (D., Texas), would direct the commission to look into reasons for what was termed the general failure to reduce telephone rates and charges during the years of declining service.

It also would investigate the effect of monopolistic control upon the reasonableness of telephone rates and charges, upon methods of competition with independent telephone companies and upon the character of service given.

While the resolution mentioned the A. T. & T. specifically, it would permit investigation of all other companies engaged in telephone communication in interstate commerce, including all companies related to any of them through holding concerns.

The resolution was drafted with a view to obtaining information to "aid in providing more effective rate regulation." Similar legislation is before the senate.

Youth Kills Employer And Takes Body Across Nation

Confesses Crime At End of 2,000- Mile Trip

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 7 (AP)—A transcontinental journey of death came to light here early today when Capt. Joseph Blake of the state highway patrol announced he had obtained a confession from Frank Frechette, 25, Kalamazoo, Mich., that he shot and killed Robert Brown, his employer, whose body was found in a motor car Frechette was driving.

Captain Blake, head of the highway patrol station on the Nevada-California border, where Frechette was arrested last night, said the suspected killer confessed that he killed Brown on January 29, while in Kalamazoo.

He said Frechette told him the body had been in a trunk on the motor car since that time, while he drove cautiously westward.

The police captain declared Frechette claimed he killed Brown because he discovered the man with "my girl."

Frechette was quoted by the officer as saying he lived at 325 Old Orchard St., Kalamazoo, and that the motor car he was driving belonged to Brown, 25-year-old Kalamazoo trucking operator.

The capture of Frechette came dramatically shortly before midnight. Captain Blake and two patrolmen acting on information relayed to them by Sacramento authorities.

Early last night Detective Sergeant Ralph Towers of Sacramento received a telegram from Sheriff Charles Struble of Kalamazoo, asking him to start a search for Frechette. The sheriff said he suspected the man of killing Brown and stealing the victim's automobile.

The sheriff related that a short time before Brown's father, Roy, had received a telegram signed "Robert" in which the sender asked that $50 be telegraphed to him in care of a Sacramento hotel.

The eastern officer suspected that Frechette was using Brown's name. Towers quickly notified Captain Blake and a watch was set up at the border station, where routine

Garza County's Sheriff Slays Federal Agent

Post Officer Claims That He Killed Narcotics Agent
In Self-Defense.

FORT WORTH, Feb. 7 (AP)—Spencer Stafford federal narcotic agent reported killed at Post today, had been stationed here for more than two years. His home formerly was in New York City. He left for West Texas early this week with a Narcotic Agent McCullough of Dallas, supposedly on a narcotic investigation. He has a wife here.

POST, Feb. 7 (AP)—Spencer Stafford, a federal narcotics agent, of Fort Worth was shot and killed here late this morning by Sheriff W. F. Cato of Garza county.

Sheriff Cato soon afterward said he had fired in self-defense, County Attorney H. G. Smith said.

The shooting occurred about 11:30 o'clock in front of Dr. L. W. Kitchen's veterinary hospital two blocks south of Main street.

Stafford and V. C. McCullough of Dallas, agents of the narcotics division of the treasury department, were in Post as investigators.

What precipitated the shooting was not determined immediately. Asked for a statement early this afternoon, Sheriff Cato said:

"You'll have to see my attorney." The sheriff had been informed that two men wearing guns were in the two rooms across from his office. He deputized Tom Morgan, a farmer, and the two went to the veterinary hospital in Cato's automobile, the radiator front of which bore a sheriff's emblem.

Stafford, who evidently died instantly, suffered five wounds. He was shot in the chest by only four bullets, from a pistol.

No others were wounded. Whether Stafford had drawn his gun was not determined immediately.

An unidentified woman was reported to have been accompanied by the two narcotics agents. Whether she was a figure in a large-scale drug traffic investigation that was under way undercover in this region was not determined.

After arriving at the veterinary hospital with his civilian deputy, Sheriff Cato went to the agent's automobile, parked nearby, supposedly to search it.

An inquest will be conducted this afternoon. Stafford was shot through the heart, twice in the chest, and once in the abdomen. His right hand and forearm were wounded, likely by one of the pellets that penetrated the chest. It hit glancingly and followed the ribs, and emerged from the back.

Boy of 6 Drinks Whiskey And Dies

TEXARKANA, Ark., Feb. 7 (AP)—The death of Charles Edward Ballard, six, who died from the effects of a cup of whiskey handed him by a man so that he might "get drunk and eat funny," will be probed by a grand jury next week.

District Attorney Elmer J. Lincoln set a thorough investigation of the child's death to be made. Officers hunted the man said to have given the child the whiskey at a party last Friday. He is charged with the boy's death.

Child's death said the child innocently drank the whiskey at a party attended by several grown persons. He was seized with convulsions and died within 48 hours.

"The whiskey made the boy's heart go crazy," said Dr. S. A. McCullough of New Boston, Texas.

HOUSE GROUP WOULD REPEAL BETTING BILL

COMMITTEE VOTES TO BAR HORSE RACING
IN TEXAS

AUSTIN, Feb. 7 (AP)—Legalized betting on horse races in Texas, less than two years old, would be repealed under a bill reported favorably last night by the house criminal jurisprudence committee. A well organized and militant majority blocked all efforts to delay a vote on the bill and it was sent to the floor by an overwhelming vote of 15 to 6. It marked the first victory in the drive that was started immediately after passage of the wagering law by the last legislature.

A crowd of more than 200 persons, proponents and opponents of repeal from all parts of the state sat through a surcharged hearing as the repeallists rode rough shod over a dogged minority.

Advocates of repeal asserted race track wagering had proved one of the most demoralizing influences in the state's history, that it was endangering legitimate business, increasing lawlessness, causing persons to use their money to gamble instead of paying their obligations and was causing untold misery and suffering.

Defenders of legalized wagering emphatically denied claims of repeal proponents as to effect of race track betting and asserted it had proven of inestimable benefit to business, to the state and to agriculture by accelerating the flow of currency and stimulating business in general by bringing thousands of dollars to Texas to invest in racing plants and to attend meets.

They also emphasized a contention that the state had pledged its faith to investors in race track equipment and that repeal would violate a sacred contract.

Voting in favor of repeal were: Reps. W. H. Adkins of Brady, John Atchison of Gainesville, Grover Burton of McKinney, C. D. Bourne Jr. of Clarksville, Wallace R. Broy-

Famous Painter Of Lincoln Dies

FRYEBURG, Me., Feb. 7 (AP)—Stephen A. Douglas Volk, 79, noted American portrait painter, died at his home here early today.

Famed for three portraits of Abraham Lincoln, Volk was working on a fourth when his health grew feeble recently.

The unidentified portrait would have portrayed an early scene in Volk's life, when his father, Leonard Volk, made a bust of the great emancipator. Lincoln posed with Douglas, then four years old, sitting on his lap.

Volk also was noted for portraits of King Albert of Belgium, David Lloyd George, war-time premier of Great Britain, and General John J. Pershing.

The late King Albert decorated the artist with the cross of Order of Leopold II.

A summer resident of Maine 40 years, Volk in recent years spent the winters here, too.

RAIN FORECAST FOR PANHANDLE; FOG IS GENERAL

Moisture Extends In All Directions At San Angelo

(By The Associated Press.)
Moisture needed to sustain the growth of winter crops was provided to some extent by slow rainfall over a large part of Texas last night.

Some points reported only drizzling rain and a few were limited to misty precipitation but much of the state had beneficial quantities of rain.

Fort Worth had 69 of an inch and it still was drizzling there. Dallas had 49 with continued showers. A slow rain was augmenting the 42 received at Corsicana. It was drizzling at Palestine. Longview likewise had a drizzle and Tyler reported a slow downpour which started before daylight.

Rain at Vernon totaled 77 of an inch. Paris had light rain yesterday and clouds overcast the sky today in that section.

San Angelo had 78 of an inch and it still was misting, with prospects of more moisture. Rain extended in all directions from San Angelo.

At Abilene the precipitation amounted to 1.15 inches. Skies were overcast and occasional showers added more today.

Senators Change Work-Relief Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The senate appropriations committee today further amended the administration $4,850,000 work-relief bill by requiring labor on all public projects to be paid "not less than the prevailing wage" of private industry in the locality. The amendment, offered by Senator McCarran (D., Nev.) and approved 12 to 8, was in direct conflict with administration plans to pay wages below those prevailing in private industry to avoid drawing workers away from private employment.

This defeat was offset in part, however, by restoration of one provision of the bill authorizing the president to acquire property by purchase or the power of eminent domain and to "improve, develop, grant, sell, lease (with or without the privilege of purchasing) or otherwise dispose of any such property or interest therein."

Chairman Glass (D., Vir.) explained this provision, restored at the request of Senator Norbeck (R., S. D.), was put back to permit the purchase or condemnation of certain western lands. Senator Carey (R., Wyo.) said the language was needed to carry forward the vast tree shelter belt program from the Canadian to the Mexican border.

HOUSE TURNS DOWN SENATE 'MONSTROSITY'

RANGERS INVESTIGATE
USE OF NARCOTICS
AT RACE TRACKS

AUSTIN, Feb. 7 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred revealed today he had ordered a sweeping investigation into operations at Texas race tracks of a ring, probably national in scope, purportedly "fixing" races through use of dope and narcotics.

The inquiry, Governor Allred said, has been quietly under way for a few days. He expressed the belief that certain former state employees might be involved.

The investigation was started after eight trainers at Alamogordo, San Antonio race course, were suspended for alleged improper practices.

The governor said that as far as he knew only one Texas track was involved at the present time but he asserted the inquiry would be pursued into operations at all tracks.

Allred Is Sure.

"There is no doubt from the investigation made so far that doping of horses is being done and that the gamblers are reaping a big profit from it," the governor said. "And I have the evidence to prove it."

"Incidentally the investigation will disclose some skulduggery in the changing of reports on chemical tests made on the horses. The reports on the tests in some cases were changed from 'positive' to 'negative'."

The investigation is being handled by the Texas rangers under Allred's personal supervision.

Governor Allred said he would send a special message to the legislature today recommending repeal of the law legalizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse races. A bill to repeal the bill was reported favorably last night by the house criminal jurisprudence committee.

Asked if the investigation involved any state employees, Governor Allred replied:

"There might be some former state employees involved. I hope none of those working for the state now will be implicated."

The governor said the inquiry disclosed that information on "doped" horses had been wired to all parts

Reeves And Drum, Pioneers, Die at Alanreed, Miami

Two long-time Panhandle residents left the ever-thinning ranks of pioneers yesterday afternoon and this morning with the deaths of Francis Marion Drum, 76, of Miami, and William "Uncle Billy" Reeves, 80, of Alanreed.

Mr. Drum was found dead in his bed this morning. He visited with friends downtown yesterday and complained of feeling unwell, but not ill. He moved to Miami in 1919 and entered the produce business. Mr. Drum moved to Hutchinson county in 1898 and went to work on the Turkey Track ranch. He came to the Panhandle in 1880.

Mr. Drum was a charter member of the Hutchinson county Masonic lodge and at the time of his death was a member of the Miami Masonic lodge. He was a member of the Baptist church.

Funeral service will be conducted Saturday afternoon but the time had not been set this afternoon. Mr. Drum is survived by his wife, three daughters, and two sons.

Gray county's second sheriff, "Uncle Billy" Reeves, died at his home in Alanreed yesterday afternoon. Funeral services were conducted this afternoon with many Pampa friends attending.

Mr. Reeves came to this section in 1890. He was one of the "fathers" of Alanreed. He came to Gray county to work on a ranch.

Mr. Reeves is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Charles McMurtry, and a son, Elmer.

SCOUTING APPROACHES BIRTHDAY

Pampa is a center of Scouting in more ways than are generally perceived. The headquarters is located here. But this would be of small moment if there were not many men interested in Scouting throughout the Adobe Walls council.

As the 25th birthday of Scouting arrives this week, the council as a whole views with pride and with deep appreciation the work of its Scouts and their leaders.

For, as February 8 comes around this year, we are once again reminded that the Boy Scouts are having a birthday, this time an officially important one, the twenty-fifth, which will usher in its Silver Anniversary year, celebrating a quarter century of Scouting, during which 6,530,330 boys and men have in all branches followed its happy, healthy, outdoor program and committed themselves to the great Oath and Law, which has been described as the finest code for conduct that has been proclaimed since the Sermon on the Mount. Congratulations to every Boy Scout of America! Congratulations to America that it has Boy Scouts!

Scouting was devised as a game and is played in that spirit, but underneath the game, permeating every aspect of it, are the intangible permanent values of character, of loyalty and good faith and courage and service in forgetfulness of self, in remembrance of the needs of others.

Take one Scout Law alone and see what it means to American life as a whole, where it is multiplied more than a thousand fold, as it annually is. "A Scout is clean. He keeps clean in body and thought, stands for clean speech, clean sport, clean habits and travels with a clean crowd." If this is part of a game, it is a game every American parent will covet for his son.

We listen to the Scout Oath, to which every Scout and Scouter throughout the country will re-subscribe on Friday evening, February 8.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—An epidemic of New Deal resignations, threatened or already submitted, has stirred up the latest backstage hubbub here.

All the king's horses and all the king's men have been used to keep the National Labor Relations Board from walking out in protest against its own futility and White House "interference."

The common background is the dispute between the automobile industry and organized labor, which dates back to the birth of NRA and Section 7-a, NIRA's collective bargaining clause. Here is the inside history:

The powerful automobile and steel men consistently have refused to have any truck with the A. F. of L. They have threatened to abandon their NRA code unless the administration continues to grant them large concessions in their relations with labor.

The NLRB decided privately last fall that enforcement of Section 7-a was non-existent in the automobile and steel fields, despite the theoretical functioning of Dr. Leo Wolman's automobile board, specially appointed by Roosevelt in the auto strike settlement last spring and the steel board.

Unanimously, NLRB, under Chairman Francis Biddle, decided to step into the automobile field and order its own elections to determine whether auto workers wanted a labor union or company union to represent them in collective bargaining. It was ready to act last December.

Auto union leaders were ready to repudiate the Wolman board and have no more to do with it. Such repudiation was a preliminary requisite to the NLRB intervention. But President Bill Green of the A. F. of L. delayed that action during a series of futile negotiations with Secretary Perkins and others.

Meanwhile, Wolman, who had said in April that his board had no power to call elections, suddenly announced elections. A. F. of L. leaders, caught off base, repudiated them and told union men not to vote.

The result, according to impartial insiders here, was the recent huge majorities of "no affiliation" ballots, as workers feared to identify themselves as union men by refusal to vote.

Meanwhile NLRB carefully set a precedent for intervention in automobiles and steel by taking jurisdiction in the Jennings case, over protest of newspaper publishers who insisted the Newspaper Industrial Board had the only jurisdiction.

Every insider knew NLRB was really gunning for the automobile magnates and seeking to assert itself as a "supreme court" on 7-a.

Roosevelt, fully aware of that, publicly told the board to lay off all cases from industries for which special labor boards had been created, as in automobiles and steel. But only after Donald Richberg had vainly sought to get NLRB voluntarily to make a similar declaration of its own.

For weeks the board had sought an interview with Roosevelt. The president's letter promptly inspired the two resignations, never announced, and prospect of a third. Assurances then began to pour into the NLRB from the White House, Miss Perkins, Richberg, and even administration leaders in Congress that board members should stay to help Congress formulate strong labor disputes legislation.

The irony of the success of these assurances lies in the fact that Roosevelt doesn't want any new labor disputes legislation and probably will act to prevent it.

Styles in the auto industry change each year, but when it comes to the automobile code, the industry prefers to stick to the 1934 model.

Twenty million on relief leaves only one hundred million wondering where the next day's food expenses will come from.

The New Jersey judge who beat up a man for beating his wife and children probably didn't act legally, but he acted effectively.

Ivan Paderjaj must figure he'd rather plead guilty to bigamy than face any one of his wives.

Huey Long Taken For a Ride!

His charges of an attempt to assassinate him still echoing in the Senate chamber, Senator Huey Long of Louisiana was taken for a ride in Washington—time it would be possible to tell which course to take in regard to Mexico, and the people would know definitely how they stood on the question of war.

The noble attempt at self-government did not fare well. Governor Smith and his counsel disagreed on nearly every issue, and for a month organization of the army, as well as other matters, was practically paralyzed. Sam Houston could do nothing, for he and his men were subject to the will of "the governor and council." Although the council finally took action to depose Smith as governor, he continued to act in that capacity.

The commissioners in the United States heard with dismay of the actions of the political set-up in Texas. The people they had come to ask for aid and to whom they were to present their case were disgusted with the turn of events. It would be difficult for the representatives to speak highly of their government with such obstacles. Colonists were also discouraged over the quarrels and the unsettled conditions.

Two short months were to pass rapidly, then Texas was to strike for independence. This independence they were to achieve at San Jacinto and it is the Centennial of this event, which Texas is preparing to commemorate in 1936.

Court Dissolves Restraining Order

AUSTIN, Feb. 7. (AP)—The third court of civil appeals dissolved a temporary restraining order prohibiting the Texas railroad commission from interfering with the movement of approximately 100,000 barrels of fuel oil belonging to George Beal of Arp.

The court held that the restraining order, granted by District Judge C. A. Wheeler, had the effect of an injunction and should not have been issued without hearing.

The commission had asked that in event the court held a restraining order was not subject to appeal, it issued a writ to prohibit Judge Wheeler from entering any more such orders.

The court denied the motion for its original status except that Real. The decision returned the case to can get no injunctive relief without a hearing.

Contrary to the hibernating nature of bears, a big bruin known as "Honest John, the Killer" frequently is seen abroad in the mountains of Jackson county, North Carolina, during the worst blizzards of the winter.

TEXAS HISTORY Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

Governor Henry Smith, lieutenant governor James W. Robinson, and the council, composed of one representative from each municipality in Texas, and hundreds of loyal Texans were in Brazoria to give their United States commissioners a hearty send-off in December, 1835.

Three of their finest men were to be their representatives, going to ask for the cooperation of relatives and friends in whatever Texas decided to do in the forthcoming inevitable clash with Mexico. William H. Wharton, militant patriot who advocated immediate declaration of independence, Branch T. Archer, who had been president of the consultation held November 3, and Stephen F. Austin, whom some would have had as governor, were the commissioners. Austin had been nominated for the governorship, but it was decided that he could do more good for all if he were to go to the United States.

Although war had not been declared, preparations were made for proper defense. A group of 150 armed men, to be called "rangers" were to guard the frontier, and Sam Houston was appointed commander-in-chief of the army. The consultation at Washington on the Brazos had lasted for eleven days. While the delegates were there, they agreed that no further land titles should be issued, and that the Cherokee and other friendly Indians should have their titles secured. March 1, 1836, was set as the next date for a consultation. By that

HARVESTERS AND SANDIES WILL FIGHT IT OUT TONIGHT FOR LEAGUE LEAD

LUBBOCK WILL SEND STRONG TEAM FRIDAY

ATHLETIC RIVALRY OF 'BIG THREE' WILL BE RENEWED

Faced with the possibility of playing second fiddle in the Panhandle Class A basketball league, the Amarillo Sandies and the Lubbock Harvesters will meet tonight in a fighting mood. A typical Amarillo-Pampa athletic battle is assured.

Both basketball teams will be smarting from the stings of defeat. The Sandies, beaten on their own court Tuesday night by Plainview, will be in a mood to snatch the league lead from Pampa. The Harvesters will be yearning to avenge a humiliating defeat suffered at Amarillo several weeks ago.

Coach Odu Mitchell pronounced his cagers ready for the fray after a short practice session last night. The Harvesters didn't look any too good—only fair—but he believes they will regain themselves tonight. The boys know they were "off" and couldn't take it at Amarillo, and they are resolved to show the Sandies a thing or three.

Coach Mitchell's starting lineup will probably find Slick Green and Nash, forwards; J. R. Green, center; Dunaway and Scott, guards. Tom Rose, Hassell, Irving, Ayer, Hunter, will be on the sidelines ready to play if the first stringers fail to their jobs well.

Tomorrow night, another important game will be played. The Harvesters will entertain the Lubbock Westerners who gave the Sandies their only whipping of the season in the league. The Westerners beat the Amarilloans three points in a rough game at Lubbock. However, reports indicate that any game the Sandies play is likely to be rough. The ex-football stars have a reputation throughout the district for employing football tactics.

Preceding the Lubbock game tomorrow night, the midwests will play the White Deer Peewees. The high school band will furnish music both nights.

One can't pick the winner of tonight's or tomorrow night's game by scanning the dope sheet. Each of the "Big Three" has won three games and lost two. Pampa defeated the Westerners at Lubbock, but that's no sign the Harvesters will win here. The same goes for the Sandies.

In the Amarillo lineup tonight will be Bufkin, Slidger, Peterson, and Harlow, the boys who attacked in the Thanksgiving day game at Butler field.

Patty Berg In Quarter-Finals With Mrs. Zech

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7. (AP)—A Minneapolis girl who was four years old when Maureen Orcutt played in the 1923 National Open, was turning the spotlight today from the veteran in the feminine amateur golf tournament.

Patty Berg, able to whale a drive of 190 yards, was in the quarter-finals, with Mrs. Lillian Zech of Chicago as her opponent in the 18-hole match play.

Miss Berg swamped her third round opponent, Dorothy Gardner of Steubenville, Ohio, 8 and 6, while Miss Orcutt trimmed Mrs. Bea Gottlieb Martel of New York, 7 and 6.

Miss Orcutt matched strokes in the quarter-finals with Grace Amory of Palm Beach, who yesterday eliminated Mrs. Mae Lanterman of New York, 8 and 7; Mrs. Zech defeated Marion Glazer of New Haven, Conn., 6 and 3.

Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., faced Mrs. William Hockenjos, Jr., of Mount Arlington, N. J., who upset Kathryn Bragaw of Orange, N. J., 3 and 2 in the third round. Miss Bauer defeated Mrs. Ruth May of New York, 7 and 5.

In the other quarter-final match, Mrs. Joe Bydolek of Buffalo, who dislodged Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., 2 and 1, met Ella Mae Williams of Chicago. Miss Williams' third round victim was Mrs. Leon Solomon of Memphis, who lost 4 and 3.

This Joke Was Played On Paul—Not So Daffy

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 7. (AP)—This one on Paul Dean is going the rounds here: Daffy and his bride were dining in a restaurant. A tall, husky individual approached the party. "You look big and husky yourself. Did you ever play baseball?" "Oh, yes, I have played a little; I like the game." "What position do you play best?" "Oh, I enjoy pitching very much. I used to be pretty good at it, too." By this time, Paul, who entered the major leagues only last year, became somewhat suspicious. "Say," he declared abruptly, "what is your name, anyway?" "George Barnshaw," the big fel-

Officers Watch Texas Hospitals For R. Hamilton

DALLAS, Feb. 7. (AP)—Hospitals in Dallas and surrounding towns were watched closely today on the hope that Raymond Hamilton, fugitive condemned convict, might seek medical attention for wounds believed inflicted in a brush with officers here Monday night.

Every tip has been run down in an effort to apprehend the desperado, who with his brother, Floyd, miraculously fled an ambush at an apartment here.

A report that he had sought attention at a Dallas hospital was proved groundless early today by investigating officers.

Floyd, captured at Shreveport Tuesday and quickly returned here, remained silent about the shooting Monday night and insisted he was not one of two men who fled a volley of shots at the apartment.

The hunt for Raymond, fugitive from the electric chair, grew more intense with the federal government's refusal to "trade out" with the desperado. Floyd told officers yesterday Ray would surrender if officers would substitute a life term at Alcatraz prison for the death sentence awaiting him for the slaying of a prison guard, slain in a break from the Eastham state prison farm in January, 1934.

Amarillo Relief Cannery Closes

AMARILLO, Feb. 7. (AP)—After processing nearly 4,000,000 cans of beef, the Amarillo relief cannery has closed.

All of 800 Potter county relief clients who are working out their budgetary allowances in the cannery plant will be given jobs on other relief projects. A. A. Meredith, county relief administrator, said Thursday that the cannery was closed to provide places for women who had been working at the cannery, Meredith said.

The plant was opened December 15, 1933, and operated for about a month. It was reopened last June 18 and had been in almost continuous operation since.

Armadillo Caught In Blanco Canyon

LUBBOCK, Feb. 7. (AP)—An armadillo that had wandered from its native haunts to the top of the caprock was captured recently in Blanco canyon, south of Crosbyton, by W. Bogard, a Lubbock man who was driving in the canyon. The armored quadruped, a male apparently well along in years, was easily captured although Mr. Bogard said it resisted for a few minutes. Armadillos are not unknown in this section, Mr. Bogard said. The captive had a tail 15 to 18 inches long and a body probably as long. It weighed 14 to 15 pounds.

BROWN UNIVERSITY WELCOMED INTO EASTERN 'IVY LEAGUE'

Alibi Hit

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—The so-called "Ivy League" which is in the process of formation among a group of the older eastern universities now seems to have welcomed Brown into the fold and automatically assumed the proportions of a "big eight."

Brown not only is a natural rival of the most of the colleges involved, in football as well as other sports, but the Bruins can point with pride to an academic history dating back to 1764. This is short of the standards in longevity and tradition set by Harvard and Yale, founded in 1636 and 1701, respectively, but it comes pretty close to making Brown a charter member of the "Ivy League."

More significant, however, is the fact that the Brown football schedule for 1936 reveals relations with no less than five of the seven universities currently banded together in baseball, basketball and track athletics, while also working out plans for the formation of a football conference.

The Bruins are slated to play Harvard, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania, Yale and Columbia next year. It should be noted in particular that Brown has substituted Columbia for Colgate, a long-standing rival, on its 1936 slate and will meet the Lions in the season's climatic engagement.

Cornell—the "baby" of the proposed conference, having been founded only 70 years ago, and Princeton have cordial relations with Brown, even though neither is in position to schedule the Bruins regularly. The idea, however, is to isolate the conference or "Ivy League" from competition with other colleges. In fact, so far as football is concerned, four games within the group probably will be considered par for any season.

All other indications point to the rapid sealing of agreements calculated to bring about the new lineup of old eastern universities in football, not only as a natural development of the leagues already in operation in other sports but to standardize methods and practices in the gridiron game.

1,200 Communists Jailed In Paris

PARIS, Feb. 7. (AP)—Safely past the anniversary of "bloody Tuesday" with a potential riot averted through the arrest of 1,200 communists, Paris breathed a sigh of relief today.

Citizens who were burying their own wounds this time last year prepared to forget the sad day for another 12 months.

The communists, only group which attempted to revive the tragic incidents of a year ago yesterday, found hundreds of their comrades locked in cells waiting the decision of authorities on whether to undertake prosecutions.

A check of the day's casualties revealed that one civilian and five policemen were nursing slight injuries, compared with the 19 killed and more than 800 wounded in last year's street battles. Material damage was limited to splashes of red paint on statues and lamp posts in the Place de la Concorde which had been reduced to a shambles a year ago.

Those receiving the sweaters were Captain J. P. Meek, G. Robinson, J. Cook, Sims, Owens, Crump, Gudel, Dyson, Ridgway, Farmer, Bartram, Williams, Junior Sims, J. Sims, H. Sims, and Jeffus.

Saturday Night Game To Be On Borger's Floor

The Borger gymnasium has been repaired sufficiently to permit basketball games on the floor, and the Harvesters and Bulldogs will clash on it Saturday night, it was learned today.

The gym recently was swept by flames and damaged about $3,000. The floor was badly damaged but will not be replaced until after the basketball season. Borger defeated Gruver this week on the Borger court. The Bulldogs practiced in Panhandle's gym until temporary repairs were made. It has been reported here that the Pampa-Borger game would be played at Panhandle.

Borger, trailing in the Panhandle Class A Basketball league will exert a supreme effort to trounce the Harvesters. Borger has not lost a game in its own ball park and is not expected to. Lubbock and Plainview have been downed in the Borger gym, and by big scores. Pampa defeated Borger 23 to 20 on the local court.

Authorities in Jacksonville, Fla., have inaugurated a vigorous anti-pistol-carrying campaign as a means of combatting crime.

Sensational alibi testimony for Bruno Hauptmann by Elbert Carlstrom, 27, unemployed carpenter's helper, shown here in Flemington courthouse, drew a scorching attack from the prosecution, in an effort to break down his statement that he saw the prisoner in a Bronx bakery the night he was charged with being at the Lindbergh home.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Feb. 7. (AP)—Prepared for heavy going and high scores, the cream of American golfing talent brought out slickers and umbrellas today for the initial round of the sixth annual Agua Caliente golf tournament.

Despite yesterday's heavy downpour and the flying of storm warnings again today, officials decided that unless early morning floods set in the $5,000 sweepstakes event would open as scheduled.

Under prevailing conditions, with the fairways soggy and greens slow, the bettors, who stepped to the parimutuel windows to inaugurate wagering on a golf championship, were seeking out the mudders.

Denny Shute, former British open champion, who won the Los Angeles open several seasons ago in torrential rains, and Fred Morrison, victor here in 1932, when showers interrupted the proceedings, were the prime favorites.

Most of the more than 200 entrants went over the course yesterday, but they were not permitted to test their skill on the greens because of the soft condition of the putting surfaces.

OLD TRICK, NEW STYLE
COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—"Pretty White Snow" on the refrigeration pipes of the Baptist hospital looked so good to Woodrow Peterson, 17-year-old attendant, that he decided to taste it.

He placed his tongue on a pipe and it froze fast. The pipe was defrosted to free him.

Pioneers Club Is Organized In Hale

HALE CENTER, Feb. 7. (AP)—"To preserve the history of the section and to strengthen old friendships" was the announced purpose of the Hale County Pioneers club organized here recently.

Thirty-six early settlers, including Mrs. L. A. Knight, Plainview, a member of the fourth family to settle in the county, attended the organization meeting.

J. W. (Blue) Stevens of Hale Center was elected president, Mrs. J. E. Cox vice president, and Mrs. Hobby Thomas secretary.

Membership will be limited to heads of families who have been in the Hale Center community for 35 years, and their children. Most of those registered came to Hale county between 1889 and 1891.

Permanent headquarters were established here and plans were discussed for erection of a club house.

Hunting, Fishing Fees Required In Two House Bills

AUSTIN, Feb. 7. (AP)—Texas sportsmen were victors today in a preliminary skirmish in their long fight for universal hunting and fishing licensing to provide funds for a state conservation and propagation program.

Two bills were approved by the house game and fish committee after many speakers detailed the need for more revenue. Hunters would be taxed $2 annually and fresh water fishers $1.10. Persons under 17 years old and those who hunted or fished on property of their residence would be exempt.

William J. Tucker, secretary of the game, fish and oyster commission, predicted replacement of game by the program "would be worth many times over the $2 license fee" to sportsmen.

Opposition to the bill was predicated mainly upon the charge it would deny the privilege to poor people.

"Better to deprive a few people now," answered Tucker, "than in the future to have nothing at all to hunt."

Tucker termed unenforceable a suggestion of Representative Augustine Celaya of Brownsville to tax ammunition five cents a box, estimated to yield $600,000 annually, the same amount as universal hunting and fishing licenses.

FIRST BIRTHDAY OF GIRL SCOUT TROOP HONORED AT PARTY

MOTHERS ARE GUESTS AT A TEA PROGRAM

EVENT IS LARGEST IN TROOP HISTORY HERE

The largest crowd ever to attend a Girl Scout troop meeting here was present when troop five celebrated its first birthday yesterday with a party in high school cafeteria. Mothers of members were guests.

Organized in February, 1934, this troop now has 32 members. Mrs. C. Wilson served as captain until last September, and Mrs. R. A. Selby since then. During the year members have seen displays of handwork and other things of interest, studied Girl Scout history, hiked and swam, and gave several entertainments. A troop council has also been organized.

These facts were brought out when Martha Price spoke of organization and activities of the troop.

The program opened with singing The Star-Spangled Banner, led by Martha Price with Mary Lynn Schoolfield as pianist. Mattie Brown, program chairman, welcomed the mothers.

Mothers introduced the following mothers: Mmes. W. B. Price, W. Mullinax, R. B. Thompson, Willis, Osborne, H. B. Lovett, Roy Bourland, S. G. Surratt, L. L. McColin, C. P. Barker, Edgar Plank, Chandler, D. H. Coffey, Don Hurst.

Elizabeth Mullinax spoke of Girl Scout principles. The troop repeated the Girl Scout promise. A piano solo, In Arabia, by Johnson, was played by Peggy Stevens.

A candle lighting service was in charge of Mrs. Selby, who extended her welcome to the guests and asked their support in the scouting program. Greetings from Girl Scouts in 10 countries were read.

Visit New Lodge. Punch, cake, and candy were served, then the troop and guests went to Echo lodge, the new meeting place which members have just completed furnishing.

Girls of the troop planned the entire program and made all arrangements for entertaining, even to preparing the refreshments themselves.

Margaret Price, a visitor, and Emma Dowell, a new member, were present with Byron Dodson, Dorothy Thomas, Frances Thompson, Wilma Wilks, Thelma Mae and Yelma Mae Osborne, Sara Frances Bourland, Carolyn Surratt, Marjorie McColin, Ann Buckler, Betty Plank, Helen Chandler, Margie Coffey, Jacqueline Hurst, Virginia Johnson, Heidi Schneider, Alice Marie McDonald, Bobby Lynn Robinson, Harriet Price, and those on program.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Newman of McLean and son spent the week-end with friends and relatives in Miami.

Mrs. L. G. Waggoner of Borger is a visitor in Miami this week.

An invitation has been extended to all Scout troops of the city, and members of the Rotary troop and troop four have announced plans to attend in a body.

Spanish Dances to Be Presented at WTSTC

CANYON, Feb. 7.—Old Spain and Latin America will be presented at Canyon on February 12 by Luisa Espinel, who will appear at a dance-recital at the West Texas State Teachers college.

Senorita Espinel comes under the auspices of the Spanish department of which Miss Mary E. Hudspeth is head. College and high school students are being issued a special invitation to attend the program. Spanish folk dances, given in authentic costumes, some identical with those worn at festivals by the former Queen of Spain, and all explained by Espinel, who is herself a native of Spain, are expected to bring the audience to a sympathetic understanding of the color and vivacity, hardship and courage which are characteristic of the Spanish people everywhere.

This is the first time the Canyon college has been able to invite high school Spanish students to hear and see a program to increase their interest in the language. Very low popular prices were made possible because Senorita Espinel had a free night while in northwest Texas.

HIGH SCHOOL P-T-A. An executive meeting of High School Parent-Teacher association officers is called by Mrs. J. B. Townsend, president for 3:45 tomorrow at the high school cafeteria. All board members are urged to attend.

Girl Writes of A Summer Trip To Scout Camp

Of particular interest this month, when Girl Scouts are celebrating the birthday of their organization, is a story of her stay in a Girl Scout camp last summer written by Frances Koonce, sixth grade pupil at Woodrow Wilson school, in an English assignment.

Her story follows: Last June I went to Camp Kiwanis near Amarillo. I was 11 years old. Camp leaders put Eleanor Ruth Gilman, Vera Evelyn Sackett, and me in the same cabin. We were called the Indians tribe number one.

We had special duties to do each day. On Sunday girls in cabin one had to be hoppers. We had to wait on tables and dressed. At 7:30 another bell would ring for breakfast. Everyone would go over the hill to the mess hall. That was the name of the dining room. After the breakfast we would do our duties. After that we had inspection.

When 12 o'clock came there was another gong. We all rushed in to dinner. After dinner were more duties. At 3 o'clock a whistle blew that meant to rest. Everyone was in bed. We awoke at 4 o'clock. Everyone rushed for the bath house. At 5 o'clock we had art or target practice. At 6 we went to supper. After our duties were finished we had campfire meeting.

At 8:30 we marched back to the cabins. At 9:30 we heard taps and went to sleep.

We started home Wednesday. We arrived in Pampa at 1 o'clock. It was a very happy time.

NEVER TOO LATE. PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mrs. Sophia Zove of Marianna has decided she wants to live her second century as an American citizen.

Although 102 years old, she applied for first naturalization papers today. "I'll take two years to get final papers."

"I'll be there to get them," she told admiring friends.

Mrs. Zove stated she was born December 10, 1832, in Nudloch, Austria, and came to the United States when 65.

Conduct Revival at Skellytown

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cockerell of Weatherford, pictured here, are conducting a revival at the Assembly of God church at Skellytown. Services began Sunday and are in progress daily. Plans are to continue the revival for three weeks. Meetings are in the church building three blocks west of the Skellytown postoffice. B. H. Givens, pastor, invites the public to attend.

Security Taxes Will Be Asked

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—President Roosevelt has informed congressional leaders, an authoritative source said today, that when the time is ripe he proposes to ask legislation permitting the United States to tax securities of type now tax-exempt.

The change would not apply to securities now outstanding, it was said, nor would it be suggested until the federal government, the 48 states and the thousands of other political subdivisions are out of the depression woods.

The treasury's position, as expressed before house committees last year by Secretary Morgenthau and still apparently unchanged, is that taxation of exempt securities is a good policy—"for the future."

One reason for delay, it was reported by a house member who preferred not to be quoted by name, was that the federal government itself must increase its debt over large borrowings in the next fiscal year.

TEXAS JUDGE DIES

LAWTON, Okla., Feb. 7. (AP)—Judge D. Moncrief, Sr., Comanche county's oldest public official, died here today at the age of 94. He had been justice of the peace here for more than a decade. His son, D. Moncrief, Jr., is chief of police. Born in Alabama in 1840, the elder Moncrief moved to Texas in 1860 and came to Lawton in pioneer days from Waco.

CENTRAL WMU CONTINUES ITS STUDY SERIES

MONTHLY REPORTS ARE MADE BY CIRCLE LEADERS

Central Baptist Missionary union continued a series of missionary lessons begun last week, when members met at the church yesterday. Anna Bagby circle was in charge, with Mrs. D. M. Scafe as leader.

Following last week's lesson on Lifting the Banner in the Holy Land, the subject was "Lifting the Banner in Our Own Land." After a hymn, My Faith Looks Up to Thee, Mrs. A. I. Edmondson discussed the devotional topic, Good Reports Through Faith.

The program follows: Prayer that we may make good reports of service because of faith, Mrs. G. C. Stark.

Song, America. Let Figures Talk, Mrs. Scafe. Enemies of the Banner, Mrs. J. B. Hilburn.

Prayer for home missions, Mrs. D. H. Coffey.

Banner Stries, Mrs. H. A. Overall. Best, Better, and the New Deal, Mrs. Stark.

Song, Stand Up for Jesus, Mrs. W. L. Lane. The Banner of the Cross, Mrs. H. C. Chandler.

A short business meeting followed the lesson, with circle reports made by chairmen. In addition to members, a visitor, Mrs. Blanche of Tulsa.

A tract of land in Chesterfield county, Virginia, once belonged to Hernando, the "Bermuda Hundred," as it is still known, was given to the men who bought the islands from Virginia.

Public Invited To Box Supper

No age limit is placed on attendance at the box supper to be sponsored by the young people's department of Presbyterian church tomorrow evening, but a price limit will be in effect at the auction of boxes.

Everyone is invited to the church annex at 7:30. A program and fellowship hour will precede the auction. Coffee will be served by the young people's class.

IS PRESIDENT GOING RIGHT? IS QUERY NOW

MORE RESIGNATIONS OF 'LEFTERS' ARE EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. (AP)—New deal gossip which teems in Washington during cocktail hours today "left wing" agricultural officials a mass of speculation as to where the lightning may strike next. More resignations from the AAA were believed to be expected.

"Is President Roosevelt going to the right?" was the question asked in circles which earlier in his administration interpreted the dropping out of such conservatives as Lewis W. Douglas, Dean Acheson and O. M. W. Sprague, as signaling a "left" tendency.

How the "dead cat" which put dynamic Hugh S. Johnson in retirement will react on Secretary Ickes, for whom some congressmen have been running, and Donald R. Richberg, whom labor union leaders call a "traitor," was another question often put—and as often unanswered.

President Roosevelt had nothing to say about any reports that the AAA shake-up and his letters to the American Federation of Labor rejecting its NRA and automobile code demands represented a swing toward conservative trends.

But that didn't stop some observers from wondering what Under Secretary Rexford Tugwell, presidential adviser, might do upon returning from Florida to find his close friend Jerome Frank out of the AAA thru a reorganization sanctioned by Secretary Wallace.

Tugwell, often designated the "No. 1 brain-truster" since Raymond Moley's retirement, has been in the background, comparatively, ever since his trip to Europe just before the November election.

Secretary Wallace said the personnel changes which took Frank out as the AAA general counsel along with four other officials were in the interests of the "greatest possible harmony." He added that Tugwell was not concerned in the changes since he had been concentrating on scientific work.

Vallee Does Not Know Extent Of Income, He Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—New verses of Rudy Vallee's marital blues awaited a supreme court hearing today.

Among them was one which the crooning orchestra leader said he himself did not know the extent of his income.

Others he had heard before—phonograph records, which he will offer in an effort to prove that his wife was not devoted and therefore should not be granted increased maintenance.

Counsel for Fay Webb Vallee, seeking more than the $100 a week provided in a separation agreement, demanded Tuesday to know how much her husband made in a year.

Vallee said he could not tell "within $100,000." Court was recessed until today to permit accountants to find the answer.

Justice Salvatore A. Cotillo has said that he is less interested in Vallee's income than he is in whether Mrs. Vallee had been "a dutiful wife." If she were, he said, $100 a week seemed inadequate.

TO NAVAL ACADEMY
MCKINNEY, Feb. 7. (AP)—William Lewis Thompson, son of Editor F. C. Thompson of McKinney, has been appointed by Congressman Sam Rayburn to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

He is a graduate of the local high school and a freshman this year at Rice Institute, Houston. He expects to enter Annapolis in June, or soon after finishing the year's work at Rice.

THEATER BALL WILL BE HELD ON THURSDAY

Those paying admission to the regular Thursday night dance at the new Pla-Mor dance palace this week will have the opportunity of attending a ball at the theater with little or no more expenditure.

The Pla-Mor management again has a tie-up with the theaters whereby 25-cent admission to the Pla-Mor dance, if paid before 9 o'clock, will be accepted as that much credit on a theater admission.

Chick Tackett and his popular orchestra will play for the dance. The Tackett organization has returned to the Pla-Mor after some time spent in other parts of the country where they played in several large dance palaces.

The orchestra, favorite of Pampa people, was brought back to Pampa by the popular request of those who heard them here in a previous engagement.

The dance Thursday night is in line with the plans of the Pla-Mor management to bring regularly to dancers of Pampa and this territory the most entertainment. You will enjoy the evening so you are urged to make plans now to attend.

The regular admission of 25 cents and 5 cents per dance will be charged. (Adv.)

Accuser

Chief witness against the man accused of kidnapping him, John LaMotte, wealthy London, Ont., brewer, is shown here entering the London courthouse, where David Meisner, of Cincinnati, is on trial. Meisner bases his defense on the alibi that he was in Covington, Ky., when the abduction took place last August.

The civic leader for decades a prominent figure in civic, Masonic and business circles, succumbed to a lingering illness at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Pauline W. Goldsmith.

Chamber Pledges To Give Support To Quitaque Park

QUITAQUE, Feb. 7 (AP)—Support of the West Texas chamber of commerce has been pledged to obtain a state park at Quitaque canyon and falls near here. D. A. Bandeen, manager of the regional chamber, wrote C. B. McDonald, secretary of the Quitaque Canyon Park association, that the WTCC would do anything it could to help the project.

"It appears to me that the association has a very logical location for a state park and a CCC camp," Bandeen wrote.

The promised site is 14 miles southwest of Quitaque at a place where the canyon cuts through the rugged foothills of the caprock. Roy E. Lane, chief architect for the state park board, visited the site several weeks ago and announced he was ready to recommend that it be accepted for a park as soon as a deed to 2,000 acres could be placed in escrow.

QUINT'S MOTHER IS SPARTAN IN CHICAGO NOISE

She Has Rebelled At Times At Ways Of Science

BY RUTH COWAN,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
CHICAGO, Feb. 7 (AP)—She is very different from what one might expect, this mother of quintuplets and five other children, 10 youngsters in all—and only 26 years old!

A simple country lass, Mrs. Olivia Dionne has come out of her Canadian north-woods in a plain home-made brown crepe dress to be housed in a regal suite in the Congress hotel where several presidents of the United States have stayed, rushed here and there, a famous personage with theatrical producers ringing her telephone.

Child-like is this woman, this world's most widely known mother of today, who has little to say and that in French only.

But very maternal is this mother who, although her intelligence makes her acquiescent to science, rebels now and then, it was learned through associates, at the ultra-sterilized 1935 way of raising babies as practiced in the skillful care of the quintuplets by Dr. Allen Dafoe and two nurses.

But she takes the spartan routine cheerfully, it was ascertained from Mrs. Joseph Rochoon of North Bay, Ontario, a cousin of her husband's and a member of the Dionne traveling party.

It was with spartan courage that the shy, diffident Callahan, Ontario mother, whose longest railroad trip was her honeymoon journey to Ottawa in 1925, faced the repeated glare of photographers flash-lights, the onslaught of reportorial questions, the awe-inspiring equipment of movie reels.

With quiet dignity she has adjusted herself to the almost constant hectic bustle about her. Her wide brown eyes at times mirror utter bewilderment amid chattering inquisitive strangers babbling at her in a tongue strange to her. Now and then she flashes an odd half-smile at her slim equally quiet husband.

On the program of the Dionne's few weeks in the United States, their first trip to this country—is a visit to a night club, and then, of course, appearances in the theatrical stages in Chicago and Detroit and probably other cities.

If Mrs. Josephine Sparks will call at the Pampa Daily News office, she will receive a free ticket to the La Nora theater to see Claudette Colbert and Warren William in, "Imitation of Life," Friday or Saturday.

Montana Rides Again

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS

SYNOPSIS: The emerald crown of Our Lady has been stolen by the governor of the province, and Brother Pascual has gone to the quiescent Mexican bandit, Mateo Rubiz, for help in recovering it. But Rubiz says that Montana, "El Keed" in Mexico, is the only man who could help him. Montana is about to marry the wealthy Ruth Lavery; he is also about to break his promise not to ride a wild mare on the Lavery ranch. Pascual and Rubiz start north to see him.

Newspaper Ads Recommended To Loan Companies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Newspaper advertising was recommended today to federal savings and loan associations as the best means of laying their plans before the public.

The home loan bank board's recommendation was accompanied by a series of advertisements prepared by expert advertising writers to aid associations which are not equipped to write and prepare advertisements.

The advertisements were paid for out of a sum of $50,000 authorized in the amended home loan act for "promoting, organizing and developing" savings and loan associations. The series of advertisements prepared by the board consists of 26 different advertisements, adapted for one and two column space.

"The advertisements have been approved by experienced savings and loan men," said a letter written to all associations by George Dock, Jr., public relations adviser for the board. "In writing them, we have also had the generous cooperation of two leading advertising agency executives. The advertisements are designed to stimulate the sale of shares, attract prospective borrowers and to create better public understanding of the associations as business assets to the community, as provided in section 6 of the home owners loan act."

Square Dealers Issue Statements

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 7 (AP)—While Huey Long's militia still ruled Baton Rouge under martial law, the militant Square Deal association issued a statement declaring that Long plans "to try to become president of the United States and make his dictatorship nationwide."

The Square Dealers, however, predicted that installed his dictatorship in Louisiana will be destroyed.

Long's court hearing in which he charged plots to "have him killed," was described as an "act of political showmanship."

He would have been dead a long time ago if the people whose constitutional and personal rights he is trampling had desired his life," the statement said.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT HELPING TO ARRANGE SCOUTS' JAMBOREE

With a gathering of 30,000 or more Boy Scouts and leaders, the greatest western world has ever witnessed, the First National Jamboree of the Boy Scouts of America will open in Washington, D. C., on Aug. 21, this year. This Jamboree was announced by President Roosevelt, one of the active leaders in the organization.

The Adobe Walls council will be well represented by men and boys. The Jamboree is the most important single event in the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America.

TCU President Asks Wastage Of Gas Be Stopped

AUSTIN, Feb. 7 (AP)—Quick, constitutional action to halt gas wastage resulting from stripping plant operations in the Panhandle was requested by persons appearing before the house committee on oil and gas in the second of a series of hearings.

Dr. E. M. Waits of Fort Worth, president of Texas Christian university, referred to conditions as "an unparalleled orgy of waste" and asked that the gas be conserved in the interest of "generations yet unborn." He expressed fear that unless something was done, the reserves would be exhausted in "five or ten years."

Dr. Waits pointed out that T. C. U. had an endowment of one half interest in 107,000 acres in the field. John E. Hill, Amarillo mortgage and real estate man, stated that people would not make investments and cities would not connect with Panhandle gas because they feared the supply would be exhausted in a short time.

Remote Control Couldn't Work In This Cage Battle

CLEBURNE, Feb. 7 (AP)—Consider the plight of Len Wiggins, who plays his basketball for the Rio Vista Independents.

The game with Geene, a visiting town team, had gotten down to the last ten seconds. Rio Vista was leading by a single point.

The floor had a strange appearance. It should have, for Wiggins was the only Rio Vista man on the floor. The Rio Vista squad of six had been cut to one man by banishment on fouls.

Wiggins tipped the ball from center and then raced to his other "positions." It was a little too much for Wiggins, however.

A Geene forward, aided by four passing mates, slipped in a field goal and Wiggins went down to defeat—by a lone point.

STATE FRAMED WOOD THEORY SAYS DEFENSE

REILLY DUE TO FINISH HIS EVIDENCE BY NOON TODAY

BY WILLIAM A. KINNEY.

COPYRIGHT, 1935, BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. FLEMINGTON, N. J., Feb. 7 (AP)—The celebrated Lindbergh kidnapping was back in its controversial place in the trial of Bruno Hauptmann today as the basis for a charge of "frame up" by defense attorneys against investigators in the case.

Dr. Erastus M. Hudson, amateur fingerprint expert who was called back to the witness stand today, told the jury he had noticed only one nailhole in the ladder upright which the state asserts was cut from a board in Hauptmann's attic.

His testimony was in opposition to that given by Arthur J. Koehler, federal wood expert, and other state witnesses, that the upright was pierced by four nailholes matching holes in the attic beams from which the board was reputedly cut.

"The nail holes, the extra ones," said Edward J. Reilly, chief defense counsel, "were deliberately placed in the board, more than likely by some investigating agent."

The defense regarded Hudson's testimony, both as to the nailholes and fingerprints on the ladder, as strengthening Hauptmann's fight against the charge of slaying the Lindbergh baby.

"Hauptmann will be virtually free at the conclusion of today's testimony," said Reilly.

"I have only ten witnesses left, and I expect that they will have finished their testimony by tomorrow, about noon."

Attorney General David T. Wilentz, however, held Koehler ready to attack the defense claim of deliberate attempts to "frame" Hauptmann.

To meet the accusation, the prosecution produced the report which Koehler submitted in March, 1933, a year and a half before Hauptmann was arrested. In it the wood expert noted the presence of four nail holes, and recorded the measurements of distances between them.

Meanwhile, the state made ready for the close of defense testimony, summoning rebuttal witnesses to court a day ahead of the closing time announced by Reilly.

Among the defense witnesses called today was Alfred Friedlander, who worked in a New York theater with Onandus Mochmuth, the octogenarian who identified Hauptmann as the motorist who skidded off a road near the Lindbergh estate the day of the kidnapping.

Friedlander's testimony was designed to show Mochmuth was not in possession of his full mental faculties as long ago as several years.

Kenedy Highway Bill Approved

AUSTIN, Feb. 7 (AP)—A bill designed to facilitate construction of highway 96 through Kenedy county held approval today of the senate committee on highways and motor traffic.

Senator Jim Neal of Miranda City said the purpose of the bill, although it altered a general law, was to enable the state highway commission to obtain a route for the disputed Kenedy county road.

It would empower the highway commission to condemn land for right-of-way purposes, an authority now held by county commissioners. It would also permit valuation by three disinterested citizens in event of adjoining counties in event of inability to obtain impartial citizens in the county of the highway.

A. G. WINN DIES

SWEETWATER, Feb. 7 (AP)—A. G. Winn, 49, prominent business man here and former Longview resident, died early today, as he slept, from a heart attack. He was head of a wholesale produce company with branches in Pecos, Big Spring, Lubbock and San Angelo, and owned ice plants in Lubbock and Littlefield. He was a member of Moslah Shrine Temple of Fort Worth.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Roosevelt leaders sought to rush in reinforcements today to prevent inurgents on a senate committee from slashing the $4,880,000 work and relief bill beyond recognition.

Beaten by a hair yesterday in their attempt to cut the bill down to a $2,880,000,000 "dole" measure, the insurgents of the appropriations committee were still in fighting mood today.

Their move yesterday had failed because the committee split evenly, 10 to 10. With the situation thus deadlocked, the administration leadership counted heavily on reinforcements to get the bill out intact.

Three democratic members of the committee, were due back in the city today before it took a final vote. Leaders believed two of these, Rydlands, Maryland, and McKellar, Tennessee, would support the administration. They are returning from a Philippine mission.

Senator Overton of Louisiana, who has been ill in Baltimore, was not counted for the bill as it stands, but administration leaders did not know definitely how he would vote.

So crucial was the situation considered that leaders called the whole senate into session for the purpose of swearing McKellar, who had not yet taken the oath. Previously they had planned to give the senate a day off because there is no legislation to consider.

Whatever the committee might do, democratic leaders expressed the belief that the senate as a whole would, in the last analysis, not stand for cutting the Roosevelt bill to pieces.

At the other side of the capital, Speaker Byrns predicted that the house would not agree to cut the bill down to $2,880,000,000 even if the senate should do so.

"It would destroy the entire purpose behind the program of doing away with the dole and replacing it with jobs," he declared.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 (AP)—President Roosevelt today declared the proposed cotton barter deal with Germany to be dead.

He explained at a press conference that Germany offered 25 per cent in cash and 75 per cent in goods for American cotton.

The question, he said, immediately arose, within the government and among United States merchants whether the 75 per cent in goods would not be material because of the anti-dumping clause.

Because of this deal was finally abandoned, he explained.

MEET TO IRON OUT DETAILS

William Harridge, president of the American League, concludes arrangements with William S. McLean, of Fisher Body, concerning the distribution of the new motion picture, "Play Ball," which has been produced by the league in cooperation with the automobile body building division of General Motors, and records the science of the game for the first time since its inception a century ago. Characterized as an "animated text book" by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, the film is being made available to business, social and educational institutions.

SAM LANGFORD IS NOW BLIND AND HELPLESS

BOSTON TAR BABY HAS SPENT ALL HIS THOUSANDS

NEW YORK, Feb. 7 (AP)—A squat, black man, wide of shoulder but fumbling his way, a cap drawn low over his sightless eyes, followed a plating friend into the sports department today. It was Sam Langford, the Boston tar baby, once as great a ring warrior as the heavyweights knew.

He came for a check for $25 a Baltimore admirer from the old days sent him, in care of the Associated Press, after learning that "Mighty Sam" was having a tough time of it blind and helpless, holding his Harlem lodgings and finding his pot chop.

"Mighty nice," said Sam. "Mighty nice. Ah still got friends."

That's the same amount Langford got for his first professional fight in Boston in 1901 when he knocked out Jack McKiverson. He fought them all after that, from lightweights up through the heavyweights. He never weighed more than 170 pounds. He lost a ten-round decision early in his career.

to Jack Johnson, knocked out Harry Wills a couple of times. He fought for seven years with one eye—and no one knew it—after Fred Fulton connected with a right to his temple in 1917.

He must have made hundreds of thousands. He got as high as $10,000 for flattening Ian Haig, champion of England, in London in 1909. He's 40 now, absolutely destitute, and a cataract has blinded the eye Fulton left him.

"First thing I learned," he said, "was you didn't break no knuckles hittin' 'em in the body. So I hit 'em there. They sure come down when you hit 'em right."

The toughest fight he ever had was the 14 battle with Wills. Wills in Los Angeles, when he was nailed with a right under the gun, was floored three times in the first round, three more in the second, again in the third, and came back to knock the "Black Menace" out in the 14th.

"Ah sure was glad to get rid of that man that night," he said.

CARL ESTES PRESIDES

DALLAS, Feb. 7 (AP)—Carl Estes, Longview publisher presiding over a state-wide oil meeting here this afternoon, said evidence of huge increases in tank shipments of crude oil and its products from East Texas to points outside the state would be laid before the meeting. He said this evidence was intended to show that quick passage of the Connally hot oil amendment was imperative "if we are to be saved from another flood of hot East Texas oil."

MERCAPTAN is the vilest smelling compound that man has ever invented. Some idea of the size of one two-billionth of a milligram can be gained when one considers that the amount picked up by the point of a needle would equal only about one milligram.

LONDON IS NOT AN EXCESSIVELY FOGGY CITY! BRITISH NOVELISTS HAVE CREATED THIS ILLUSION.

© 1935 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BRITISH meteorological office figures show that, in spite of the wide reputation of London's November fog, the average number of foggy November days, for years back, is five. Charles Dickens' "Bleak House" is typical of the novel that has helped to spread the gospel of London fog.

Panhandle Will Have Much Rain—3 Years Of It

Ample rains will fall in the Panhandle during the next three years. There will be unprecedented prosperity for the next five and one-half years.

A world war will sweep like a devastating conflagration over the civilized world in 1943.

Oh yeah?

Well, so said James M. Harvey, inspirational astrology lecturer, Uptown Lions club, Chicago, who addressed the local lions club today at its weekly luncheon meeting. He also explained the significance of the signs of the zodiac. He analyzed Pampa, saying:

"It is a city of activity that accomplishes its aims.

"It is idealistic and proud.

"It should be and is due to be the oil center of this part of the country."

Old-timers and new-comers agreed with him about Pampa, the prosperity and probably the war, but they pondered about the rain.

Mr. Harvey has made similar predictions in other Panhandle towns. Among the visitors present were Jack Bisco of Kansas City.

examinations of motorists entering the state are made for quarantine purposes.

About 11:15 p. m., a small sedan (1934 Pontiac) carrying a Michigan license, K-62448 swung into the station. Officer Frank Carson approached the machine. In it were Frechette, another man later identified as John Malcolm Rivas of Salt Lake City, a woman who gave the name of Mrs. Victor Messenger, Alameda, Calif., and her small daughter.

Captain Blake said Frechette later told him that Rivas, the woman and girl had joined him at Salt Lake City while hitch-hiking west and he did not believe they were connected with the case, although they were held with Frechette pending further investigation.

At first the man identified himself as Brown, Captain Blake said, and later denied he had anything to do with the killing. With the three officers firing questions at him, Frechette finally broke down and confessed, Blake said.

In a voice that broke at times, Frechette related, Captain Blake said, that he had been in the car with his "girl" January 29. The shooting followed.

Frightened by his act, Frechette was quoted as saying he took Brown's automobile stuffed the body into the trunk and fled westward, intending to go to San Francisco. "I ditch the automobile with the body in it" and take a boat to "China."

Brown was shot twice through the head. The body was in a fair state of preservation, with officers attributed to the cold weather.

As he finished his story Frechette said he was "glad it was all over."

Captain Blake said the fugitive admitted he was "on parole in Michigan for attempted murder" at the time he committed the crime.

Captain Blake quoted Frechette as saying Brown was killed after the latter had told of intimate relations with Frechette's "girl friend."

Brown's purported admission was made nine days ago, Blake quoted Frechette as saying, while the pair were driving from Kalamazoo to Pontiac, Mich.

"I knocked him down," the asserted confession read. "He crawled to the car and reached in a pocket and grabbed that gun. He pointed it at me and I grabbed his hand."

"I don't know whether it was his finger or mine, but the gun fired twice.

"I put him in the trunk and I didn't know whether he was dead or alive. I knew if I was caught I'd spend the rest of my life in prison."

Blake said Frechette, a former convict once known as "the flying bandit," spent that night in Pontiac and the next in Kalamazoo where he went to a motion picture show. Then began the strange flight.

Frechette became known as "the flying bandit" seven years ago when he was convicted of slugging his flying instructor, Harry W. Anderson, with a hammer during a flight from Pontiac.

Blake said Frechette said he struck Anderson because Anderson had frozen onto the controls. Testimony at his trial said Frechette went through Anderson's and the plane's pockets for valuables after bringing the plane down on its nose. He was paroled from prison after serving the minimum of a six to 10-year sentence.

RAIN

Lubbock was overcast but had received only mist.

Rain failed to materialize in the Amarillo section, where the sun was shining brightly this morning. However, the weatherman forecast rain for this afternoon at Amarillo.

Houston had .50 of an inch during the last 24 hours.

Temperatures ranged high over the state, no point reporting a minimum below freezing. Amarillo had a low of 33 degrees.

A number of Pampans this morning wondered what had happened to the weather. They went into a huddle and decided to call M. K. Brown who informed them that Pampa was witnessing a "good ole' London fog, by jove."

The heavy fog was moisture-laden and driving was made dangerous in the early hours, not because of "littery roads but because of poor visibility. Wind shield wipers were in constant use and lights were necessary, although they would not pierce the fog and mist any great distance.

Four Witnesses Testify Against Virgil Stalcup

LUBBOCK, Feb. 7. (AP)—The prosecution presented four witnesses and the defense recalled a state witness in the trial of Virgil Stalcup, Texas-Oklahoma desperado for murdering Sheriff W. B. Arthur in Dickens county jail, in 1928.

Twelve state exhibits were introduced. F. B. Dillon, a deputy under Arthur, identified them.

They were a .38 calibre 'Spanish' type revolver that Dillon said Arthur wore the day he was killed, and these articles found later in the dead sheriff's car. A .45 calibre revolver, a leather brief case, handcuffs, a case containing them a lead chain, leg irons, a 'twister,' a chain used for handling prisoners, a sheriff's badge with Arthur's name on it, his daybook, and a purse for carrying citations.

Luther Hall, a prisoner in the jail the day of the escape-murder, was recalled by the defense and repeated that he to his knowledge did not know that there was a gun in the jail that day.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Feb. 7. (AP)—Quiet recoveries were the rule in today's stock market session. The rails led the mild rally, although most other sections of the list exhibited some improvement. A few soft spots, however, were in evidence. The close was fairly firm. Transfers approximated 550,000 shares.

Post Seeks Record In Strato Hop

Los Angeles to New York in seven hours, flying at an altitude of 30,000 feet! That is the sensational feat, cutting three hours from the present mark, which Wiley Post, one-eyed globe-trotting speed demon, hopes to accomplish, carrying a United States mail. The cabin of the streamlined Winnie Mae, top photo, in which he will make the attempt, has been made airtight to save oxygen in the stratosphere. The map shows the regular TWA mail route which Post will follow. The airman is shown below in his specially constructed suit of rubberized balloon silk, built to prevent possible bursting of heart, lungs, and other organs in the lowered pressure of the stratosphere.

les of Fruitvale, W. M. Craddock of Quitman, A. K. Daniel of Crockett, O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, Merrill H. Gibson of Longview, Herman Jones of Decatur, J. Carroll McConnell of Palo Pinto, Alfred Petch of Fredericksburg, Jesse Roach of Commerce, Charles D. Rutta of Columbus and William A. Schoffer of Temple.

Voting against the bill: Franklin Spears of San Antonio, Robert A. Luker of Proctor, Kenneth McCulla of Houston, C. M. McFarland of Wichita Falls, Fred Harris of Dallas, and R. H. Holland of Houston.

Holland, chairman of the committee, sought to postpone a decision until next week to permit further arguments by persons who had requested a hearing.

He put a motion to adjourn to a voice vote but repeal supporters demanded a record vote.

"It is the will of this committee that they want to vote on this bill tonight and it is your duty to put the motion to report the bill," Roach shouted.

Extreme confusion surrounded the committee table with members shouting "voice" and spectators rowding about and talking vociferously until Holland agreed to a roll call.

Governor James V. Allred, on whose demand advocacy of repeal was written into the state democratic platform, and former Governor James E. Ferguson, during the last administration of whose wife Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, the wagering law was enacted, were present.

Speakers in support of repeal included C. R. Pennington, secretary of the Retail Merchants' association of Abilene; K. H. Parker of Dallas, statistician; B. P. Panas of Houston and the Rev. W. R. White, president of the Ministers Alliance of Fort Worth.

Former Rep. T. H. McGregor of Austin, known as the "father" of pari-mutuel wagering in Texas, presented the principal case for the opponents. Elbert Hooper, former assistant attorney general, also protested repeal.

McGregor argued that repeal would ruin citizens who had invested $5,000,000 in racing plans, deprive the state of a million dollars annually in revenue, and throw thousands of persons out of employment.

McGregor pointed to the $132,642 received by the school fund from ace receipts, saying "what other industry in its first year contributed this much to the school children?"

He cited the purchase by the department of agriculture of jack and stallions to improve breeding of Texas farm animals as performed under "the only law ever passed that provided immediate benefit to the farmer." The number of breeders has increased from 13 to 116 since race betting was legalized, he asserted.

Pennington declared "every dollar wagered at the race track was taken from the wives and children of this state."

Panas said the Epsom Downs track at Houston was financed by New York racketeers.

Parker asserted track owners were taking out of circulation in a trade

Karl Henkel, husband of Gerta, was then sworn.

Q. How long do you know Isador Fisch?

A. Since 1926.

Q. How long do you know Hauptmann?

A. Since 1932.

Q. Where did you meet Fisch?

A. We had an apartment together in 1928. (With Fisch and Henry Uhlig.)

Q. You were married then and went to live with your wife?

A. Yes. Fisch and Uhlig stayed together.

Henkel said his wife met Hauptmann about eight days before he met him. Subsequently he said he and Hauptmann became very friendly.

Q. Did you know Hauptmann used to drop in and have coffee at your house in the morning?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you ever see anything improper?

A. No.

Q. Ever feel there was anything improper?

A. Never.

Witness, in cross-examination, brought from Henkel that he had introduced Hauptmann to Fisch in his own home.

Q. Did your wife bring Hauptmann to your home and introduce you?

A. No.

Uhlig, the mutual friend of Hauptmann and the deceased Fisch was called. He described himself as "Fisch's best friend."

He related briefly how he, Fisch and Henkel lived together when they came to this country.

Q. What business was he in?

A. Fur cutter.

Uhlig said Fisch also had been in the pie making business, and had operated as a fur trader.

Q. He paid your fare to Germany? A. With money I lent him to invest in his honey bakery.

Uhlig described Fisch's physical condition during the trip to Europe as "weak."

The German furrier coughed, he said, and retired early because of his condition.

The witness recalled there was no limit on the amount of American money a traveler could bring into Germany when he and Fisch arrived there in December, 1933. He explained, however, that to exchange dollars for marks, a traveler would have to go to a government bureau.

Uhlig described a traveling bag bought by Fisch.

Q. What did he have in it?

A. I don't know.

Really asked Uhlig to describe how Fisch asked when he was being examined by the immigration inspectors at Hamburg. Witness objected and was upheld.

Grandma Quizzes Convicts

GRANITE, Okla., Feb. 7. (AP)—Oklahoma's grandmother commission of charities and corrections today sifted reports of brutality at the state reformatory here after having professed amity toward the widow-warden of the institution, Mrs. George A. Waters.

"So far as I know, there has been no feud between Mrs. Waters and myself," Commissioner Mabel Bassett exclaimed, riding from her seat at a separate open hearing held at Mangum last night by the state board of affairs.

"I have been sent here by the governor," she continued. "This matter was brought up by the board of affairs and the governor. He directed me to make this investigation and I am here open-minded."

A declaration last week by George Matlag, a former prisoner, that his wrists were broken intentionally by a reformatory guard during his sentence, brought on three separate investigations.

Mrs. Bassett's was a closed hearing. L. M. Nichols, chairman of the state board of affairs, in addition to hearing the inmates, called the open meeting at Mangum last night so that residents of the district might voice their opinions and preferences.

The Oklahoma senate yesterday ordered a sweeping investigation not only at the Granite prison, but of the industrial schools for boys and girls as well. Governor Marland commissioned W. S. Key, warden of the state penitentiary at McAlester, to inspect the sub-prison at Stringtown.

Mrs. Bassett suspended her secret hearing last night to attend the Mangum meeting. She heard only praise for Mrs. Waters.
